HEADLINES of the WEEK

Thursday, August 11
NEW YORK POLICE are sure they have arrested "Son of Sam," the .44 caliber killer who took six lives and injured seven in the past year. "We have him," First Deputy Police Commissioner James Taylor said about David Berkowitz, the suspected killer, who was arrested at his home in Yonkers at 9 p.m., yesterday. The police task force, centered in Queens where most of the murders occurred, received a tip from a witness that the killer had escaped in a yellow car. That car was spotted parked too close to a hydrant and the driver, Berkowitz, received a parking violation. Inside the car, the officer spotted a butt-end revolver, which turned out to be the .44 used in the most recent "Son of Sam" murder.

Friday, August 12
CUBAN PRESIDENT Fidel Castro and Sen. Frank Church announced yesterday that some 80 Americans, presently living in Cuba with their Cuban wives and children, will be permitted to move to the United States with their families. The agreement was announced after two days of intensive talks between the Idaho Democrat and Castro. The Americans involved have always been free to leave but their Cuban families have not.

Saturday, August 13
EDWARDS AIR FORCE Base was the scene yesterday of the unpowdered landing of the space shuttle Enterprise. Astronauts Fred Haise and Gordon Fullerton flew the delta-winged craft. The success of the flight is considered a key step toward America's next manned space flight in 1979. The 75-ton spaceplane popped smoothly off the back of the 747 carrier plane and glided at a high speed to a four and a half mile-long runway on a dry lake bed. The solo flight lasted five and a half minutes. Test manager Donald Slayton said, "We're very, very happy with the whole thing."

Sunday, August 14
CHIP CARTER, son of President Jimmy Carter, reportedly left the White House yesterday at the request of his father. Informal sources said Chip's exit was a result of Mr. Carter's disapproval of Chip's decision to separate from his wife, Carol. Young Carter has already quit his job with the Democratic National Committee and is returning to Plains, Ga., to "help out with the family's peanut business in a busy season," said Mary Hoyt, Rosalyn Carter's press secretary. Carol and their six-month-old son, James Earl Carter IV, will remain at the White House.

Monday, August 15
PRESIDENT CARTER announced yesterday that he would meet with the foreign ministers of Israel and the Arab states next month when they visit the United States for the United Nations General Assembly. The announcement came after Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance told the President the United States has pared differences between the Arabs and Israelis "down to the bedrock."

Tuesday, August 16
HENRY A. KISSINGER was briefed by President Jimmy Carter on the new Panama Canal agreement Monday, winning the former secretary of state's support for the pact and a tentative offer to testify in its favor before the Senate. Mr. Carter also spoke about the agreement with former President Gerald R. Ford in a telephone call Monday morning, but Mr. Carter's spokesman refused to say whether Mr. Ford offered his support.

The Grosse Pointe Rotary Club recently elected officers and directors for 1977-78 have dedicated themselves to this year's Rotary International theme, "Service to mankind." This theme is reflected in an important new project to determine areas of greatest need for service in Grosse Pointe. Kneeling, (from left to right), are MIN-ERT N. MDP Cases Lead YSD's July Report

Overall Case Load on Increase; Concern Expressed over Use of Marijuana

Malicious destruction of property was the category of highest incidence last month as 18 such cases were investigated by the Youth Service Division (YSD).

Overall, a total of 88 complaints were referred to the division with two proving to be unfounded. The actual case total for the year through July reaches 468 in comparison to 422 for the same period last year.

The MDP cases were higher than the June total when 12 were reported, while towering over last July's amount when only six were handled. However, despite the heavier reports last month, the total for the year to date is 58, two over the amount for the same period last year.

'Man's Best Friend' Poses Variety of Problems For Police Departments

Communities Receive Many Dog Related Complaints on Annual Basis; Officials Note Big Difficulty Lies with Owners

By Dave Robertson

Dogs were domesticated by man thousands of years ago. Despite their many years as "man's best friend," they pose a serious problem in an urban environment when not cared for properly. A residential area like The Pointe, with thousands of dogs, has more than its share of problems.

Runaway dogs cause many automobile accidents, tear up garbage and litter the environment and can inflict disease should they bite a human.

Barking dogs cause residents to lose valuable sleep and can cause friction among neighbors.

Dogs allowed to relieve themselves on sidewalks and lawns pose a health problem.

Concern for All
These are serious problems in the Pointes as elsewhere in the country. However, these can be minimized with proper owner responsibility.

In an effort to control dog problems in the area, three of the Pointes, The Woods, The Farms and The Park all have part- or full-time dog wardens.

Because of their different size and population, the five Pointe communities vary in the degree of such problems. However, the figures indi-

'Typical' Story Eyed By Schools

Board Learns of County
Cutoff of Monies
for Special Education

By Susan McDonald

"It's a typical Grosse Pointe story," sighed Board of Education President John Bruce last week. "We pump all our money into state and county programs and never get any of it back."

He was referring to the latest news from Wayne County: although Pointers contribute about $550,000 annually in taxes to the county special education fund, the school system will receive less than $170,000 in return this year.

The cutoff came as quite a surprise to Pointe school officials, who had expected about $450,000 this year, based on previous allocations. But, to make things even worse, they weren't informed of the reduction until early this spring, after the money had been spent on programs.

See No Change
The Wayne County special education fund helps finance The Pointe's $1.1 million program which provides special help for some 2,800 children, (almost one-quarter of the total enrollment), each year.

Although Trustee William Huettnerman and Superintendent Dr. William Coats attended a Wayne County School Board meeting recently to demand an accounting for the cutoff, they are not hopeful of any change in the allocation this year.

Wayne County raises the funds through a one-mill special education tax, approved by voters in 1974. But, county money or not, the programs will have to continue. That means, according to school officials, the funds will have to come out of local taxpayers' pockets.

"The Board can't abdicate its responsibility to these children and their special needs," said Pointe Director of Pupil Personnel Reginald Sienkiewicz. "The difference will have to be made up out of local revenue."

City Has Plans To Provide More Parking Spaces

Council Approves Trio of Resolutions to Purchase Land, to Lease Existing Space and to Expand Lot

By Susan McDonald

The City Council took action Monday, August 15, to relieve some of the perennial parking problems that plague several commercial and residential areas in the community. The council passed separate resolutions to purchase land for off-street parking, to lease existing parking spaces to Bon Secours Hospital and to approve a lot expansion behind a local church.

The City will pay $25,000 plus five percent annual interest over the next five years for land at 712 St. Clair avenue, adjacent to another city-owned property.

Eventually the area will be resurfaced for parking for visitors to Elworthy Field, the Neighborhood Club and residents of several nearby condominiums, according to City Manager Thomas Kressbach.

Alleviating Sores

Auto congestion in the area of Bon Secours Hospital has been a sore spot with employees, patients and especially local residents for the last few years.

The council hopes to alleviate that problem to some degree by leasing to the hospital about 50 lots behind the Kercheval shopping block which includes Hickey's, Damman's, the Camera Center and the Arrangement.

The hospital will pay $11 per month per space to The City, adding about $6,600 annually to the city coffers which maintain and improve municipal lots.

During the Christmas season, the leased spaces will be relocated to the Neff Park lot at the foot of Jefferson avenue, Mr. Kressbach said. He added the hospital may supply a shuttle service between its building in Cadieux road and the city lot.

The council also okayed an expansion of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church lot, 17150 Maumee avenue, that will add about 40 spaces in the back of the main building.

To Review Pact

Church spokesman, attorney Donald Young, said the expansion is necessary because of a city requirement for one parking space per every three seats in the church.

The expanded, 100-car lot will meet that requirement, according to Mr. Young.

But the Unitarian Church expansion also may eventually help relieve some of the congestion around Bon Secours, as the two institutions have an informal agreement to allow some hospital employees to use the church lot.

Mr. Young said he did not know what price the hospital pays for use of the church lot, and added that the agreement will be reviewed soon in light of the expansion.

Solons Act On Sewer, Water Plan

Council Also Okayes Obtaining Bids for Storm
Warning System

By Roger A. Waha

The Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, August 15, unanimously moved forward with a proposed city-wide comprehensive sewer-water main improvement program, plus a storm warning system for the community.

Wishing to give the sewer-water program a more penetrating look toward establishing priorities, the council referred the matter to the Committee of the Whole, (CW), for further study and scheduled a CW meeting for Monday, August 29, to consider a specific direction. It will be followed by a special council meeting.

As for the proposed storm warning system, the council authorized City Administrator Chester E. Petersen to prepare the necessary specifications and to solicit bids for the installation of such a system for the solons' consideration. Then, if all is acceptable, the city can apply for federal funds on a matching basis.

Number One on List

For the council, Mr. Petersen prepared information on the sewer-water main program, eyeing the installation of additional storm water relief sewers and the replacement of some sewer mains which would eliminate the necessity of homeowners maintaining individual basement sump pumps.

At the same time, Mr. Petersen said in a memo to the council that he attempted to list some "needed high priority water main construction projects, which, in our opinion, are not feasible to be financed out of the revenues received from the current water-sewer rates."

The estimates for both sewer and water main projects as presented to the solons include construction, engineering, inspection and contingency costs.

Total proposed sewer construction, including 13 items listed on a priority basis, reaches $1,980,300, while total proposed water main construction, incorporating nine items on a priority basis, comes to $1,020,500. The combined total of the proposed program reaches $3,000,800.

Numbers one and two, respectively, on the proposed sewer projects list, areas which Mr. Petersen said apparently suffer the most via heavy rains, include the

Urban Renewal Film to Be Aired

"The War Next Door," written and produced by Pointer Bill Pace and Harvey Kurek Ovshinsky and viewing an urban renewal project in Detroit, will be presented Saturday, August 20, at 7:30 p.m. on WXYZ-TV, Channel 7.

This half-hour special views life in the Jefferson-Chalmers community, a one-mile square area that has been the focus of a federally funded urban renewal project for the past seven years. According to a new release from WXYZ-TV, such questions as "What is it like to live smack in the middle of an urban renewal project in Detroit?" and "Where did $20 million go that was allocated for 'neighborhood development'?" will be viewed.

Mr. Pace recently produced "Walkin' Too Slow," a film about young runaways, which received international recognition at the Film and Television Festival of New York and the Ninth Annual Festival of the Americas in the Virgin Islands.

"The War Next Door" will be hosted by Jerry Stanecki, Channel 7's newshawk.

Group Plans Fund Raising Drive for Retarded Citizens

By Susan McDonald

The Neighborhood Club was first to respond to the call for help when county aid cutoffs threatened a summer program for The Pointe's retarded children.

Its $1,000 donation and commitment to administer the summer classes insured the continuation of therapy vital to the children's development.

But the club was just the first of several community groups that rallied to support the Grosse Pointe Assoc. for Retarded Citizens, (GPARC), when the financial squeeze hit.

Eventually the Knights of Columbus, Detroit Industrial School, Jaycees and Rotary Club raised enough money to substantially lower tuition rates for the program, making it possible for the majority of The Pointe's trainable mentally impaired citizens to participate.

So, while their children enjoyed trips to The Woods' Lake Front Park, field trips and classroom lessons, their parents were learning something, too.

They discovered that support in The Pointe for helping the retarded is far greater than they expected—and they plan to make good use of the lesson.

This fall, the GPARC will begin a new fund raising effort aimed at local businesses. Memberships will cost $25 per firm and will southwest area from Kingsville to Bournmouth at an estimated cost of $22,500 and the northeast area comprising Blairmoor court to Perrien place and Van K drive to the Milk River at an estimated cost of $456,000.

Other locations include the following: number three, Brys drive from Marter to Goethe, $185,800; number four, Hawthorne road from Marter to the east city limits, $287,800; number five, Sunningdale drive from the Milk River to Wedgewood, $160,700; and number six, Morningside drive from Lochmoor to Oxford, $75,700.

Meanwhile, South Oxford road from Holiday to Morningside at an estimated cost of $165,000 is tops on the proposed water projects list, while the second priority item is North Oxford road from Holiday to Morningside also at a cost of $165,000.

Further locations include the following: number three, Oxford road from Morningside to the east city limits, $25,000; number four, Helen avenue from Vernier to Oxford, $131,400; and number five, Helen from Vernier to Brys, $71,500.

In his memo, Mr. Petersen also presented three alternate methods of financing construction.

Of these, the pair which appear most viable at this time include a two-mill tax levy over a 10-year period or going the Chapter 20, State Drain Code, route.

It was said that the deadline has passed for the issuance of general obligation bonds by the city, (as approval would be needed from the state attorney general's office), so this avenue isn't applicable.

Mr. Petersen noted that the two-mill tax levy approach doesn't require a vote of the people as it would be the prerogative of the council to conduct an advisory vote on this matter at the November election.

"He said around $3,500,000 would be generated over a period of 10 years via this method with construction being scheduled on a pay-as-you-go basis, thus eliminating an approximate $3,000,000 in interest payments on a 20-25 year bond issue.

Under this approach, the council would have full authority over expenditures and contracting procedures as well as the duration of the special tax levy. Because of an increased tax effort, he said greater federal and state revenue sharing would result with this route being the better of the two.

A simple resolution from the council to the Wayne County Drain Commissioner would be needed with the Chapter 20, State Drain Code, method. Bonds for sewer construction only can be issued through the county, said Mr. Petersen.

The total bond issue would cost over $6,000,000, (principal plus interest), depending on the length of the bond issue but the council would lose control over expenditures, awarding of contracts and all jurisdiction over the sewer installations, he continued.

Storm Warning Plans
If the council decides to go the two-mill tax levy route, a decision would have to be made before Monday, September 12, so the advisory vote question would be on the November ballot.

In relation to this approach, it was noted that the council wouldn't have to consistently levy two mills year after year but could reduce the levy pending the receipt of federal monies.

On the storm warning system, two plans, A and B, were viewed by the solons. Under plan A, three sites for sirens were incorporated with potential site one being the Torrey Road Pumping Station, site two, Chene-Trombley Park, and site three, Ferry School.

Under plan B, recommended by Mr. Petersen, sirens would be installed on the south side of the Vernier road easement at Marter road, (one large pole-mounted, electric-powered siren), while the other would be located at the Torrey Road Pumping Station site, (a smaller siren.)

Yet another installation alternative was viewed. This was the possibility of having one large siren installed on the grounds of the Lochmoor Club. (This would entail approval from the club.)

In relation to this, Judge George N. Bashara Jr., club president, indicated if the city wished to pursue this route, he would cooperate by taking the matter to the board of directors.

Costs received from two manufacturers, according to Administrative Aide Gerard E. McNamara, for a network of three sirens greatly differed in price. Manufacturer A's estimated cost reached $22,962, while manufacturer B's estimate was $8,488.

Commenting upon this point, Mr. Petersen felt that manufacturer A's was higher because the one large siren proposed is an air operated mechanism which would require an air compressor, storage tank and housing.

As the council considers the number of sirens to be utilized and ensuing cost factors, members also will eye adequate warning coverage in relation to the entire community in accordance with federal guidelines for probable sound coverage of an area, said Mr. Petersen.

At the same time, he noted almost all manufacturers and officials dealing with storm warning systems agree that the location covered by a siren installation depends greatly upon the topography of the area, number of trees, the height of buildings and the height of a mounting pole or building for each siren.

In relation to emergencies, the council also unanimously approved the first reading of an ordinance amending the city code, adding a chapter entitled "Emergency Preparedness Policy and Organization."

This proposal defines the duties and responsibilities of the emergency services coordinator and other personnel; authorizes the use of the material resources and manpower of the city in emergency operations; and contains provisions toward preventing, minimizing and relieving damage to persons and property resulting from any form of disaster.

the Eastern Michigan and Bi-County Leagues without an interscholastic program in seventh and eighth grades.

Their proposal is in line with recommendations made last year by a Board-appointed Athletic Study Committee, headed by local pediatrician Dr. Thad Joos.

Board members may have been impressed with the presentation, but, as Trustee William Huettnerman noted, "The financial considerations are devastating."

Board President John Bruce assured the men their proposal will be taken into consideration as the 1977-78 budget is reviewed.

Mr. Suminski, an assistant high school principal in Lakeshore, said the program idea originated with a handful of little league parents.

"We were sitting around after a game talking about the fact that, for our sixth graders, this will be the last chance for them to compete until they get to high school. "All of us agreed that something should be done, so we thought we'd circulate the petitions and find out how many parents shared that thought."

He added that the men collected 300 names in just a few days at little league games and the lakefront park.

Mr. Lucas, athletic director to Warren Woods Schools, gathered all the cost estimates for the program, including funds for coaches, officials, first aid supplies, uniforms, equipment and transportation.

Their proposal includes five teams for middle school boys: football in the fall, two basketball teams in the winter, plus baseball and track in the spring.

For girls, the document proposes four teams, including two basketball groups in the fall, volleyball in the winter and softball in the spring.

After the first year of the program, the annual cost would decrease about 25 percent because uniforms and supplies last an average of three years, Mr. Lucas added.

The two men said they plan to attend Board budget review meetings this week to answer any further questions the trustees may have about their proposal.

'Typical'

timing in making the cut-back announcement. They were informed that the 1976-77 allocation would be reduced by some 57 percent in April, when most of the money had already been spent.

Prospects don't look any brighter for the next school year either. As the Board of Education reviews budget proposals this week for a final approval sometime in September, a similar reduction in county funds will be anticipated.

County officials say they had to cut funds to The Pointe, along with several other districts, because of their own rising costs.

"We have to first make sure that our own programs, (Wayne County's), are adequately funded," according to county public relations director Harry Salsinger, "and the local districts get what's left over."

"But we don't blame the Grosse Pointe officials for being upset at the timing of the announcement."

Trash Pickup Men Gripe Against Their 'Employers'

Your local rubbish pickup men are always glad to serve citizens and pick up their refuse, because taxpayers are entitled to the service.

Just as members of a city administration and its police and fire departments are public servants, so are personnel who work for the Department of Public Works.

Just as citizens give their public servants lots of "flack" when things do not go their way, Camiel Geldhof, an employee of The Park DPW, lists several ways to aggravate your local trash man:

1. Make sure you have sharp sticks, pieces or sheets of glass sticking out of your trash cans. This way these "servants" can either get stabbed or cut and maybe have an eye poked out.

2. Make sure to cram branches and rose bushes, et al, as hard as you can into containers. This is an easy way to have your trash cans bent or smashed, which so many citizens seem to think the pickup men love to do.

3. The same applies to leaves and grass clippings. Pack them in tight and stamp on them so that they will be hard to dump out. Don't think of the irritation you are causing the DPW workers, just think of the exercise you are getting.

4. Put all your trash out at the curb in paper bags, so that when it rains the bags will fall apart and you can call your city officials and complain over the mess the men made.

5. By all means, when your dog does its duty, don't put it in a bag—in a sturdy bag. Leave it loosely wrapped so the trash men will get it all over themselves.

6. Another good trick is to put concrete and bricks and other heavy objects at the bottom of containers, then put newspapers on top. This is a good way to give the workers hernias, ruptures and sore backs.

7. Whatever you do, never tie up your newspapers. Leave them loose so that they can be scattered all over the street, especially during a high wind.

8. Oh, yes. When there are large piles of snow, don't set your containers near the curb. It's better for the rubbish men to crawl over the top and pick the rubbish off the sidewalk, and perhaps break an arm or leg (or something), in the process.

9. Oh, this is a must! Do not slow down your car when you see men working on the streets behind the trucks, chipper machines or our sewers. It is better that you step on the gas and blow your horn and make the workers get out of the way.

10. Do not pound down or remove nails on old lumber you discard at the curb. It is better that the men step on them. Those workers need tetanus shots anyway.

11. Place your rubbish at the curb after your scheduled pickup time, after the trucks have gone by, then call the city administration and inform them that the DPW failed to "obtain" your rubbish.

12. When you bring out your cut brush, (tree limbs), don't lay them one way, (heavy ends out). Throw them in a messy pile—vines, picky rose branches, barberry bushes and all that stuff. This way it takes longer to pick up.

13. When it snows and the sidewalks need to be broomed or cleaned by jeeps, don't forget to leave your car blocking the sidewalk.

14. Oh, yes, something else! Throw all your loose garbage, (waste food), in lidless containers so that there will be lots of crawling maggots. Don't bother washing out these containers at least once a week. That's a very hard job.

15. One last thing! Don't ever call the DPW office or the city administration and tell them the many good deeds that the men do, such as helping old people to cross the street, starting stalled cars, aiding residents who lock themselves out of their houses and being all-around good samaritans without even being asked.

Call only when you feel you are not getting the full services you are entitled to for your tax dollars.

Always keep one thing in mind, Mr. Geldhof said—a public servant, including rubbish pickup men, are all taxpayers and have to take as much, if not more, abuse and insults from their fellow citizens and live in danger far more than most will ever realize.

Citizens Aid In GPF Arrest

A true example of citizen concern was shown by four Farms men Saturday, August 6.

At approximately 8:45 a.m. a man parked his 1973 automobile on the north side of Touraine road at Webster road. A resident on Touraine called Farms police regarding the parked car.

The driver of the car started jogging down Webster and turned onto Madison road.

A woman was riding her bike down Madison at that time. The man, still running, approached the woman from behind and allegedly grabbed her purse from the basket of her bike.

The suspect then continued to run down Madison, and the woman pursued him screaming for help.

Two male residents of Madison heard the screams, came out of their homes and ran after the suspect. At that time, 8:58 a.m., the wife of one of the men also called the police.

The suspect ran to Chalfonte avenue and encountered a car with two men inside. He continued running as the men in the car stopped and joined in the chase.

The man turned and ran toward Mack avenue on Cloverly. He was now being pursued by four men and the screaming victim. He cut across a lawn on Cloverly, jumped a fence and ran toward his car.

At that time, he was confronted by Officer F. J. Belanger, who was at the suspect's car. Officer Belanger had responded to the first call regarding the parked car on Touraine.

In the meantime Officer Gordon Evans and Cpl. Otto Glanert had answered the second call and were pursuing the suspect with the residents.

Through the cooperation of the citizens, Officer Belanger made the arrest and the suspect, James Ross, 24, of Detroit, was charged with larceny from a person, (a 10-year felony).

Ross was arraigned the same day before City Municipal Judge Stanley Kazul, in the absence of Farms Municipal Judge Robert Pytell. Bond, which was set at $2,500 or 10 percent, was posted by the suspect's family.

His examination was scheduled to be held yesterday, August 17.

Thieves Enter GPW Business

The Personal Touch, 19525 Mack avenue, was victimized by burglars according to a report received by Woods police early Sunday morning, August 14.

At this time, it's believed a variety of articles were taken but no specific inventory has been completed.

Included in the possible missing items category are three boxes of imported French vases and jewelry which were purchased from a dealer who had imported the goods from Cairo, Egypt. Officer Michael Makowski said a front door window was smashed enabling the culprits to gain entry.

A check of the interior revealed that a glass window display case had been ransacked, while a small cabinet containing a cash drawer had been opened. A magazine rack near the cabinet had been knocked over.

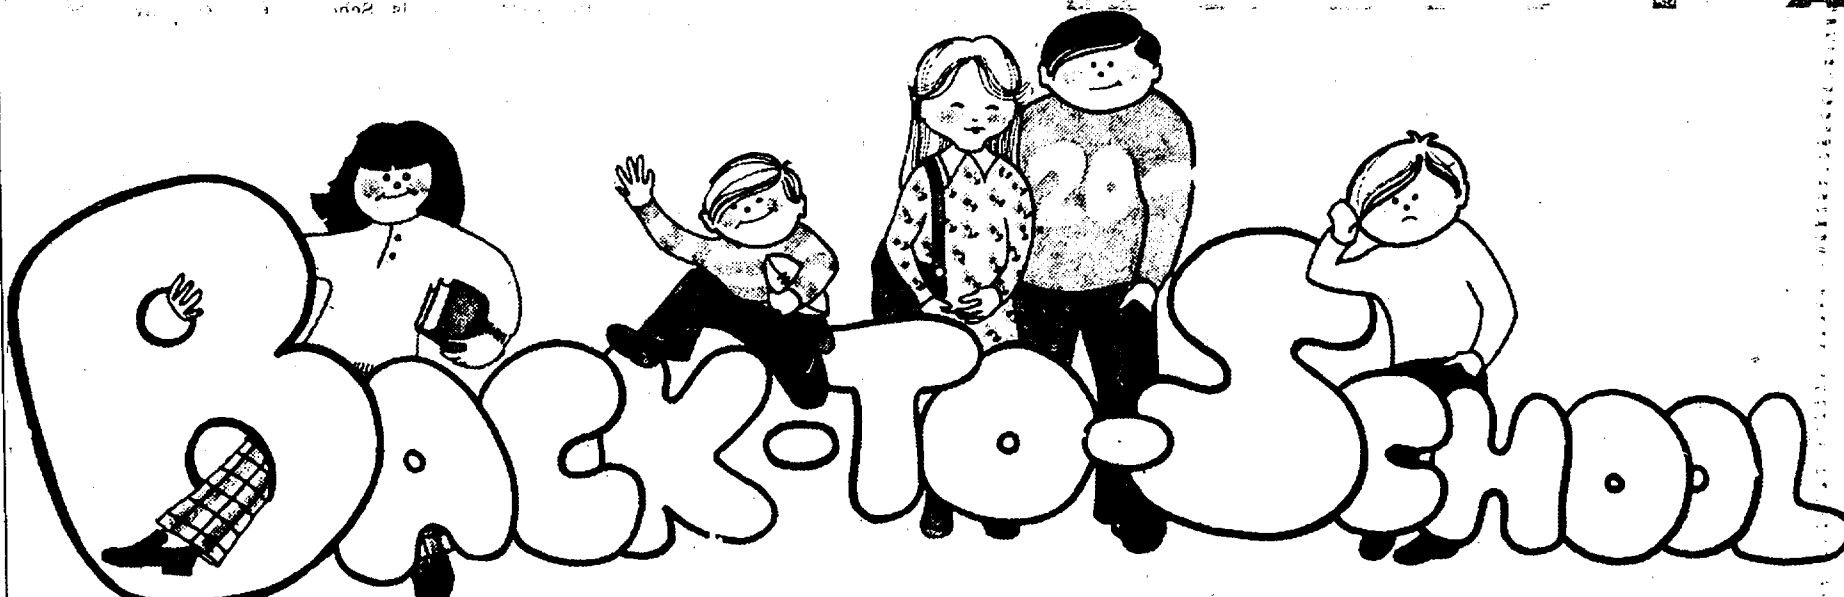

The burglars may have exited through the rear door which was found closed but unlocked, police added.

'Man's Best Friend,' Owners Cause Problems

of the regular police department.

Mr. Johnson feels there is a real need for a dog warden and that it lends a degree of specialization to the department. "When residents call the police," Mr. Johnson said, "they know someone whose business is handling animals will respond."

"A regular officer walks up to an animal and tries to get it in his car first thing. You first have to make friends with the animal."

He admitted, though, that his friendly approach didn't work the two times he was bitten.

Despite the 24 reported cases of dog bites this year, Mr. Johnson felt there isn't a great problem with them in The Woods. "In most cases the dog is a familiar pet and can be found and impounded for 10 days to check for rabies," he said.

Friendly Persuasion

Most dogs when chased will run right home, according to Mr. Johnson, "which makes my job easier."

A runaway dog, when found and returned to its owner, comes with a $5 ticket and a $3 per day impoundment fee if the dog was kept overnight.

Mr. Johnson gets few complaints about barking dogs, not because they don't occur, but because they usually happen after he goes home for the day.

Most barking problems occur in the late evening, in which case regular Woods officers respond. If the officers hear the dog barking, they ask the owners to bring the dog inside.

Mr. Johnson is very concerned with the traffic problem running and stray dogs present in The Woods. "Many times I've seen cars swerve every which way to avoid hitting a dog up on Mack. Not only can the dog get hurt or killed but people can as well," he said.

Disappointed in the negative and cartoon image most people show towards him, he said, "I don't even use a net to catch a dog. I try to use persuasiveness."

"The first thing people always ask," he said, "is do you kill 'em?"

Ultimately Destroyed

A captured dog that cannot be identified is taken to the Harvey Animal Hospital for four days. After that, the Humane Society keeps it another four days. If it cannot be placed in a new home it is destroyed. "The Humane Society destroys thousands a year," Mr. Johnson said.

As dog warden, Mr. Johnson had to kill two dogs in the line of duty.

One incident concerned a white German Shepherd he had been following on and off for six months. The dog had been tearing up garbage looking for food. Later the dog took to charging people. "The sad thing is that he belonged to someone," Mr. Johnson said. "He had a collar."

Woods Public Safety Director Henry Marchand cited the problem dog droppings pose in the community. He told of many complaints from businesses and citizens concerning dog droppings carelessly left by people walking their animals along Mack avenue.

"It's both a nuisance and a health hazard," Director Marchand said, "as well as a hindrance to business."

In The City, dog complaints are not a great problem, according to Lt. Robert VanTiem. The 96 dog complaints and eight dog bites so far this year is about average, compared with 181 complaints and 15 dog bites last year, he said.

Only Small Portion

"It's more of a nuisance," Lt. VanTiem said. "The police officer has to respond to the call."

For the first dog offense, the officer takes the dog back home, if it can be identified, and issues a warning. If the owner cannot be located, the dog is kept for seven days. Sometimes the animal has to be destroyed.

The Shores, like The City, lacks a dog warden, but according to Public Safety Director Joseph Vitale, dogs are not a serious problem in the community. "They don't affect our operations," Director Vitale said.

However the figures for 1977, 39 dog complaints overall, indicates a possible rise from the 1976 total of 63 dog complaints, if the pace is kept up.

According to Shores Officer Robert Bensinger, the reported figures are only a small portion of the problem. "We get numerous calls," he said, "but most dogs are gone on arrival. Only when we find the dog and take action are they reported."

Farms Chief of Police Robert K. Ferber estimates that 12 percent of the Farms' 11,701 population is comprised of dogs. Of those 1,400 dogs, The Farms dog warden and police responded to between 500 and 600 dog complaints a year.

The dog runs are time consuming when we have to dispatch an officer, scout car and lots of equipment just to catch a dog," he said. "It's very hard to catch a stray dog."

The Pointes seem to be a dumping ground for strays, Chief Ferber indicated, with hard economic times being one of the main reasons.

The Farms is unique in that it has a tranquilizing program for stray dogs.

With this program, The Farms is able to safely capture strays and running dogs without harm to the officer or the dog. They do this by shooting the animal with a tranquilizing drug, which soon renders it temporarily helpless.

The dog problem in The Park is down slightly from the 156 impoundments of strays and 20 dog bites reported in 1976, according to Chief of Police Henry O. Coonce.

The Park also has a dog warden, but like other communities, the police must respond when the warden is off duty.

However, the Park has a problem not shared by the other Pointes. Because of its proximity to Detroit, The Park has experienced an increase in dogs running in packs.

Cunning Creatures

These, according to Chief Coonce, are wild dogs who travel in groups looking for food. They frequently cross over from Detroit into The Park and raid garbage cans. "They're very wily and used to dog catchers," Chief Coonce said, "and we're less apt to be able to catch them."

Dogs, despite their reputation as "man's best friend," can be a problem. However, according to Pointe officials, the fault lies not so much with the dogs, but with their owners.

"Citizens expect attention from their city," Chief Coonce said, "and we have a program, but people need cooperation from their neighbors as well."

"I can't stress enough the importance of owner responsibility," Mr. Johnson said. "We've sent out flyers on the problem but the public isn't informed about the need for responsibility."

The number one need, according to Mr. Johnson, is to get the dog licensed. Otherwise, it can't be identified and returned to its owner. If the vet doesn't have room, it might be destroyed.

Another concern, expressed by Lt. VanTiem, was the lack of attention owners give to their dogs when they let them out. "People think they can let the dog out in the morning and hope it comes back 20 minutes later," Lt. VanTiem said.

Eyes Golden Rule

Consideration for your neighbor was stressed by Chief Ferber. "When away, don't leave your dog out barking. If need be, keep the dog inside, close the windows and turn on the air conditioner," he said.

All officials said attention to the ordinances would ensure a better relationship between dog, owner, neighbor and city.

Ordinances require the dog be confined or on a leash, that it be licensed and that it not relieve itself on sidewalks or the neighbor's lawn.

"In general," Chief Ferber said, "I would recommend citizens do unto others as they would have done unto them. It would make things much easier for the police, the people and the pets."

Guns Removed in Woods B-E
Four guns and some John F. Kennedy 50-cent pieces were taken from a Blairmoor road home, according to a report received by Woods police late Tuesday morning, August 9.
The resident, who was away at his cottage for the weekend, said he returned to discover that someone had entered his home through a second floor bedroom window.
Taken from a bedroom were three revolvers including one Colt 45, a blue automatic, with a four-inch barrel, one Colt 38 special six-shot, blue, and one Smith and Wesson 38, five-shot, blue, all valued at around $80. A Winchester, model 70, deer rifle, of unknown value, also was missing.
A stack of the Kennedy half dollars was removed from a jewelry box in another bedroom.
Officer Arthur Gekiere checked the outside of the home and said it appeared that the culprit climbed up some supports to the aluminum awning, moved along the awning to the garage roof and then went to the bedroom window.
The citizen's wife said she found the door to the green house, previously locked, to be open. The thief may have left through this door, police surmised.

Suspect Faces Pair of Charges

A 25-year-old Woods man was arraigned on Wednesday, August 3, on two separate charges of criminal sexual conduct, third degree, one stemming from an alleged incident in The Woods and the other in The Farms.

In each case, the suspect, Thomas Walter Bayer, entered a not guilty plea and bond was set in the amount of $20,000 or two sureties or 10 percent.

His examination on both Woods and Farms charges is scheduled for Wednesday, August 31, before Woods Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis in Detroit's Recorder's Court, and Bayer is currently held in the Wayne County Jail, police said.

Bayer is allegedly involved

'Westward Ho!' Cry 11 Scouts

"Westward Ho!" has been the chant of 11 Girl Scouts, members of Senior Troop 327 of North High School, who are camping until Tuesday, August 23, at the Girl Scout National Center West, Ten Sleep, Wyo.

The girls, who left Saturday, August 13, will participate in edible food hikes, brewing sagebrush tea, horseback riding along mountain trails, historical explorations and attend a rodeo.

Scouts who have learned to storm lash tents pitched with rocks instead of stakes are Connie Arnold, Carol Ann Hicks, Laura Johnston and Peggy O'Rourke, while Cindy Polittowicz, Phyllis Raymond and Suzanne Stahl have been planning simple menus to be cooked over charcoal at an altitude of 5,800 feet.

Lots of band-aids, and freeze dried foods have been purchased by Amy Bleich, Julianna Payne, Carole Ruwart and Mary Sanders for the backpacking trip they have planned.

Meanwhile, everyone is looking forward to exchanging "swaps" around the campfire with scouts from other states, plus receiving the special Wyoming Trek patch, worn only by those who have stayed at the center.

Plans also include a visit to Yellowstone National Park.

Advisors to the group are Mrs. Thomas Gallagher and Mrs. Robert Martin.

Vandals Cause Heavy Damage

A total of $1,153.51 in damages was the result of the action of vandals who shattered the windows of six businesses along Mack avenue, reported Woods Det. Thomas Podeszwick last week.

The incidents were discovered Sunday, August 7, around 1:30 a.m.

Det. Podeszwick said the investigation is continuing and, at this time, a potential suspect is being viewed.

The highest amount of damage, $401.81, was done at Hartley's Country Lane, 20614 Mack, where a 10- by 12-foot window was smashed, he said.

A six- by 10-foot window, believed broken by a rock, caused damages of $242.28 at Dante Coiffures, 19839 Mack, while a window broken at Gino Custom Tailoring, 20129 Mack, caused $250 in losses.

Other costs incurred by the businesses include Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co., 20087 Mack, where a door window was shattered, $114.42; Emil's Barber Shop, 19865 Mack, where a four- by four-foot window was smashed also via a rock, $95; and a doctor's office, 20045 Mack, where a small hole was discovered in a front window, $50.

in having sexual relations with a 14-year-old Farms girl at his Vernier road residence and subsequently at the girl's home this February.

Woods Det. Lt. Jack Patterson said warrants were issued by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office and "the next thing we knew, he was in the Virgin Islands."

Attempts to get him extradited failed as the prosecutor's office told the lieutenant that monies were not available.

Ultimately, police received information that the suspect had returned to the area, and Bayer was arrested at the Shorian Inn, St. Clair Shores, on the 3rd.

At that time, police said Bayer was registered under another name and Youth Service Division Dets. Wayne Baum, Patrick Fagan and John Albrecht, along with Lt. Patterson, Woods Det. Thomas Podeszwick and St. Clair Shores Officer Robert Williams went to the room and gained entry when the motel owner opened the door with a pass key.

Det. Podeszwick noted that one of three elements has to be present in a criminal sexual conduct, third degree case; all in relation to sexual penetration: the person involved must be between 13-15 years of age, force or coercion must take place or the victim as known to the actor is mentally/physically helpless.

Upon conviction, the defendant could receive up to 15 years in prison.

Det. Baum and Lt. Patterson have primarily been working on The Woods' case, while Det. Earl Field is handling The Farms' case.

Blood Drive Breaks Record

Bon Secours Hospital employees, during the recent annual employee blood drive, donated more blood than any other metropolitan hospital employee group in Detroit Red Cross history.

The annual drive, held Thursday, July 28, drew over one-fourth of the hospital staff. Both the percentage of employees involved and the quantity of blood donated surpassed the contributions from other metropolitan hospitals, according to a Bon Secours press release.

During the six-hour drive, 255 employees donated a total of 228 pints. Bon Secours peaked almost 80 pints over its Red Cross quota.

The percentage of Bon Secours employees involved far exceeds employee participation in other metropolitan hospitals. To accommodate the number of donors at Bon Secours, the Red Cross plans to extend the drive to last two days next year.

Blood donations are especially important during the summer season. Calls for blood increase because outdoor and vacation activities spawn more accidents.

Simultaneously, fewer people donate during the summer months. This drop in donations combines with the increased demand to produce an annual summer crisis in the blood supply.

Labor Day Note For Diabetics

Labor Day has often been a time for one last excursion before summer ends and the kids go back to school.

People with diabetes should not be discouraged from traveling, but there are certain steps they should take.

"Maintaining good control of your diabetes should be worth as much planning time as you spend studying maps and selecting your wardrobe," says Barbara Lofquist of the American Diabetes Assoc., Michigan Affiliate.

Miss Lofquist has written an article for traveling diabetics with hints about carrying medical supplies and diet planning.

To obtain a free copy, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with 25 cents to cover handling to the American Diabetes Assoc., Michigan Affiliate, 6131 West Outer drive, Detroit, 48235.

'Man's Best Friend,' Owners Cause Problems

of the regular police department.

Mr. Johnson feels there is a real need for a dog warden and that it lends a degree of specialization to the department. "When residents call the police," Mr. Johnson said, "they know someone whose business is handling animals will respond."

"A regular officer walks up to an animal and tries to get it in his car first thing. You first have to make friends with the animal."

He admitted, though, that his friendly approach didn't work the two times he was bitten.

Despite the 24 reported cases of dog bites this year, Mr. Johnson felt there isn't a great problem with them in The Woods. "In most cases the dog is a familiar pet and can be found and impounded for 10 days to check for rabies," he said.

Friendly Persuasion
Most dogs when chased will run right home, according to Mr. Johnson, "which makes my job easier."

A runaway dog, when found and returned to its owner, comes with a $5 ticket and a $3 per day impoundment fee if the dog was kept overnight.

Mr. Johnson gets few complaints about barking dogs, not because they don't occur, but because they usually happen after he goes home for the day.

Most barking problems occur in the late evening, in which case regular Woods officers respond. If the officers hear the dog barking, they ask the owners to bring the dog inside.

Mr. Johnson is very concerned with the traffic problem running and stray dogs present in The Woods. "Many times I've seen cars swerve every which way to avoid hitting a dog up on Mack. Not only can the dog get hurt or killed but people can as well," he said.

Disappointed in the negative and cartoon image most people show towards him, he said, "I don't even use a net to catch a dog. I try to use persuasiveness."

"The first thing people always ask," he said, "is do you kill 'em?"

Ultimately Destroyed
A captured dog that cannot be identified is taken to the Harvey Animal Hospital for four days. After that, the Humane Society keeps it another four days. If it cannot be placed in a new home it is destroyed. "The Humane Society destroys thousands a year," Mr. Johnson said.

As dog warden, Mr. Johnson had to kill two dogs in the line of duty.

One incident concerned a white German Shepherd he had been following on and off for six months. The dog had been tearing up garbage looking for food. Later the dog took to charging people. "The sad thing is that he belonged to someone," Mr. Johnson said. "He had a collar."

Woods Public Safety Director Henry Marchand cited the problem dog droppings pose in the community. He told of many complaints from businesses and citizens concerning dog droppings carelessly left by people walking their animals along Mack avenue.

"It's both a nuisance and a health hazard," Director Marchand said, "as well as a hindrance to business."

In The City, dog complaints are not a great problem, according to Lt. Robert VanTiem. The 96 dog complaints and eight dog bites so far this year is about average, compared with 181 complaints and 15 dog bites last year, he said.

Only Small Portion
"It's more of a nuisance," Lt. VanTiem said. "The police officer has to respond to the call."

For the first dog offense, the officer takes the dog back home, if it can be identified, and issues a warning. If the owner cannot be located, the dog is kept for seven days. Sometimes the animal has to be destroyed.

The Shores, like The City, lacks a dog warden, but according to Public Safety Director Joseph Vitale, dogs are not a serious problem in the community. "They don't affect our operations," Director Vitale said.

However the figures for 1977, 39 dog complaints overall, indicates a possible rise from the 1976 total of 63 dog complaints, if the pace is kept up.

According to Shores Officer Robert Bensinger, the reported figures are only a small portion of the problem. "We get numerous calls," he said, "but most dogs are gone on arrival. Only when we find the dog and take action are they reported."

Farms Chief of Police Robert K. Ferber estimates that 12 percent of the Farms' 11,701 population is comprised of dogs. Of those 1,400 dogs, The Farms dog warden and police responded to between 500 and 600 dog complaints a year.

"The dog runs are time consuming when we have to dispatch an officer, scout car and lots of equipment just to catch a dog," he said. "It's very hard to catch a stray dog."

The Pointes seem to be a dumping ground for strays, Chief Ferber indicated, with hard economic times being one of the main reasons.

The Farms is unique in that it has a tranquilizing program for stray dogs.

With this program, The Farms is able to safely capture strays and running dogs without harm to the officer or the dog. They do this by shooting the animal with a tranquilizing drug, which soon renders it temporarily helpless.

The dog problem in The Park is down slightly from the 156 impoundments of strays and 20 dog bites reported in 1976, according to Chief of Police Henry O. Coonce.

The Park also has a dog warden, but like other communities, the police must respond when the warden is off duty.

However, the Park has a problem not shared by the other Pointes. Because of its proximity to Detroit, The Park has experienced an increase in dogs running in packs.

Cunning Creatures

These, according to Chief Coonce, are wild dogs who travel in groups looking for food. They frequently cross over from Detroit into The Park and raid garbage cans.

"They're very wily and used to dog catchers," Chief Coonce said, "and we're less apt to be able to catch them."

Dogs, despite their reputation as "man's best friend," can be a problem. However, according to Pointe officials, the fault lies not so much with the dogs, but with their owners.

"Citizens expect attention from their city," Chief Coonce said, "and we have a program, but people need cooperation from their neighbors as well."

"I can't stress enough the importance of owner responsibility," Mr. Johnson said. "We've sent out flyers on the problem but the public isn't informed about the need for responsibility."

The number one need, according to Mr. Johnson, is to get the dog licensed. Otherwise, it can't be identified and returned to its owner. If the vet doesn't have room, it might be destroyed.

Another concern, expressed by Lt. VanTiem, was the lack of attention owners give to their dogs when they let them out. "People think they can let the dog out in the morning and hope it comes back 20 minutes later," Lt. VanTiem said.

Eyes Golden Rule

Consideration for your neighbor was stressed by Chief Ferber. "When away, don't leave your dog out barking. If need be, keep the dog inside, close the windows and turn on the air conditioner," he said.

All officials said attention to the ordinances would ensure a better relationship between dog, owner, neighbor and city.

Ordinances require the dog be confined or on a leash, that it be licensed and that it not relieve itself on sidewalks or the neighbor's lawn.

"In general," Chief Ferber said, "I would recommend citizens do unto others as they would have done unto them. It would make things much easier for the police, the people and the pets."

Guns Removed in Woods B-E

Four guns and some John F. Kennedy 50-cent pieces were taken from a Blairmoor road home, according to a report received by Woods police late Tuesday morning, August 9.

The resident, who was away at his cottage for the weekend, said he returned to discover that someone had entered his home through a second floor bedroom window.

Taken from a bedroom were three revolvers including one Colt 45, a blue automatic, with a four-inch barrel, one Colt 38 special six-shot, blue, and one Smith and Wesson 38, five-shot, blue, all valued at around $80. A Winchester, model 70, deer rifle, of unknown value, also was missing.

A stack of the Kennedy half dollars was removed from a jewelry box in another bedroom.

Officer Arthur Gekiere checked the outside of the home and said it appeared that the culprit climbed up some supports to the aluminum awning, moved along the awning to the garage roof and then went to the bedroom window.

The citizen's wife said she found the door to the green house, previously locked, to be open. The thief may have left through this door, police surmised.

Suspect Faces Pair of Charges

A 25-year-old Woods man was arraigned on Wednesday, August 3, on two separate charges of criminal sexual conduct, third degree, one stemming from an alleged incident in The Woods and the other in The Farms.

In each case, the suspect, Thomas Walter Bayer, entered a not guilty plea and bond was set in the amount of $20,000 or two sureties or 10 percent.

His examination on both Woods and Farms charges is scheduled for Wednesday, August 31, before Woods Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis in Detroit's Recorder's Court, and Bayer is currently held in the Wayne County Jail, police said.

Bayer is allegedly involved

'Westward Ho!' Cry 11 Scouts

"Westward Ho!" has been the chant of 11 Girl Scouts, members of Senior Troop 327 of North High School, who are camping until Tuesday, August 23, at the Girl Scout National Center West, Ten Sleep, Wyo.

The girls, who left Saturday, August 13, will participate in edible food hikes, brewing sagebrush tea, horseback riding along mountain trails, historical explorations and attend a rodeo.

Scouts who have learned to storm lash tents pitched with rocks instead of stakes are Connie Arnold, Carol Ann Hicks, Laura Johnston and Peggy O'Rourke, while Cindy Politowicz, Phyllis Raymond and Suzanne Stahl have been planning simple menus to be cooked over charcoal at an altitude of 8,800 feet.

Lots of band-aids and freeze dried foods have been purchased by Amy Bleich, Julianna Payne, Carole Ruwart and Mary Sanders for the backpacking trip they have planned.

Meanwhile, everyone is looking forward to exchanging "swaps" around the campfire with scouts from other states, plus receiving the special Wyoming Trek patch, worn only by those who have stayed at the center.

Plans also include a visit to Yellowstone National Park.

Advisors to the group are Mrs. Thomas Gallagher and Mrs. Robert Martin.

Vandals Cause Heavy Damage

A total of $1,153.51 in damages was the result of the action of vandals who shattered the windows of six businesses along Mack avenue, reported Woods Det. Thomas Podeszwick last week.

The incidents were discovered Sunday, August 7, around 1:30 a.m.

Det. Podeszwick said the investigation is continuing and, at this time, a potential suspect is being viewed.

The highest amount of damage, $401.81, was done at Hartley's Country Lane, 20614 Mack, where a 10- by 12-foot window was smashed, he said.

A six- by 10-foot window, believed broken by a rock, caused damages of $242.28 at Dante Colifures, 19839 Mack, while a window broken at Gino Custom Tailoring, 20120 Mack, caused $250 in losses.

Other costs incurred by the businesses include Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co., 20087 Mack, where a door window was shattered, $114.42; Emil's Barber Shop, 19865 Mack, where a four- by four-foot window was smashed also via a rock, $95; and a doctor's office, 20045 Mack, where a small hole was discovered in a front window, $50.

POINTNER PROMOTED
Ray Dallman, of Hampton road, was recently promoted to retail advertising manager of the "Detroit Free Press." Mr. Dallman has been advertising with the "Free Press" since 1974. Prior to that, he was an advertising salesman for the "Detroit News." He is a graduate of Northwood Institute, Midland, Mich.

in having sexual relations with a 14-year-old Farms girl at his Vernier road residence and subsequently at the girl's home this February.

Woods Det. Lt. Jack Patterson said warrants were issued by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office and "the next thing we knew, he was in the Virgin Islands."

Attempts to get him extradited failed as the prosecutor's office told the lieutenant that monies were not available.

Ultimately, police received information that the suspect had returned to the area, and Bayer was arrested at the Shorian Inn, St. Clair Shores, on the 3rd.

At that time, police said Bayer was registered under another name and Youth Service Division Dets. Wayne Baum, Patrick Fagan and John Albrecht, along with Lt. Patterson, Woods Det. Thomas Podeszwick and St. Clair Shores Officer Robert Williams went to the room and gained entry when the motel owner opened the door with a pass key.

Det. Podeszwick noted that one of three elements has to be present in a criminal sexual conduct, third degree case; all in relation to sexual penetration: the person involved must be between 13-15 years of age, force or coercion must take place or the victim as known to the actor is mentally/physically helpless.

Upon conviction, the defendant could receive up to 15 years in prison.

Det. Baum and Lt. Patterson have primarily been working on The Woods' case, while Det. Earl Field is handling The Farms' case.

Blood Drive Breaks Record

Bon Secours Hospital employees, during the recent annual employee blood drive, donated more blood than any other metropolitan hospital employee group in Detroit Red Cross history.

The annual drive, held Thursday, July 28, drew over one-fourth of the hospital staff. Both the percentage of employees involved and the quantity of blood donated surpassed the contributions from other metropolitan hospitals, according to a Bon Secours press release.

During the six-hour drive, 255 employees donated a total of 228 pints. Bon Secours peaked almost 80 pints over its Red Cross quota.

The percentage of Bon Secours employees involved far exceeds employee participation in other metropolitan hospitals. To accommodate the number of donors at Bon Secours, the Red Cross plans to extend the drive to last two days next year.

Blood donations are especially important during the summer season. Calls for blood increase because outdoor and vacation activities spawn more accidents.

Simultaneously, fewer people donate during the summer months. This drop in donations combines with the increased demand to produce an annual summer crisis in the blood supply.

Labor Day Note For Diabetics

Labor Day has often been a time for one last excursion before summer ends and the kids go back to school.

People with diabetes should not be discouraged from traveling, but there are certain steps they should take.

"Maintaining good control of your diabetes should be worth as much planning time as you spend studying maps and selecting your wardrobe," says Barbara Lofquist of the American Diabetes Assoc., Michigan Affiliate.

Miss Lofquist has written an article for traveling diabetics with hints about carrying medical supplies and diet planning.

To obtain a free copy, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with 25 cents to cover handling to the American Diabetes Assoc., Michigan Affiliate, 6131 West Outer drive, Detroit, 48235.

MDP Cases Lead List

ate destruction to dwellings under construction, reports the YSD.

"Due to lack of evidence and/or reliable information persons responsible for this type of offense are difficult to identify, and a large percentage of these cases must be suspended, unsolved," the division says.

"When an act of vengeance is revealed, the case usually can be cleared. But when young people are out looking for excitement, usually under the cover of darkness, they strike and get away before the damage is known."

"Dollar loss, aggravated by time and energy loss, for such disregard for property of others is enormous."

In other cases, larceny reports totaled 14, burglary, four, possession of stolen property, two, robbery, one, and unlawful taking and using, one. These involved 20 juvenile males and three juvenile females.

The unlawful taking and using case, in this instance, involved an inboard/outboard motor boat which was taken out numerous times while the owner was away.

Pot Abuse Persists

Violation of controlled substances totaled nine cases with six involving the use of marijuana. Three adult males, two juvenile males and two juvenile females were identified in the marijuana incidents.

"The abuse of marijuana is a persisting offense among young people, especially of high school age. During summer school session, (held at GPNH this year), YSD officers gave particular attention to the campus to detect users," notes the YSD.

Through this July, in comparison to the same period last year, the division has investigated 42 marijuana cases as against 32 incidents in 1976.

In other reports, runaways totaled six, involving three girls and three boys. All three girls voluntarily returned to their homes, one having been away for several weeks.

Two of the boys were apprehended and turned over to their parents. One reported runaway proved to be unfounded, the problem being lack of good communication between mother and son.

Two petitions were filed with Wayne County Juvenile Court with one, a joyriding case in The Farms, being denied.

Service Offenders

The division also notes a communication was received from Probate Court Judge James H. Lincoln, juvenile division, concerning four programs, (i.e., supportive agencies), available in Wayne County to service "status offenders."

These are home and school truants and disobedient children, with the object being to reduce reliance on the Wayne County Juvenile Home to house and detain children whose parent(s) refuse to take the child back into the home after his/her apprehension by police.

Use of these agencies is voluntary, for child and parent, says the YSD. They provide a temporary, supervised residence for the child, a period for "cooling off," plus counseling resources for child and parent(s) to resolve the family problem.

Such an agency near The Pointe area is the Detroit Transit Alternative, 10612 East Jefferson avenue.

Two others, Counterpoint and Status Offenders Alternative Program, are located in Inkster, while the other, Status Offenders Living Options, also is located in Detroit.

Proposal of Cul-De-Sacs Both Praised, Lambasted

By Wendy K. Settle

The Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. is still working on its cul-de-sac program. To date approximately 1,000 questionnaires have been passed out, door-to-door, by salesmen employed by the company.

Approximately 883 of the questionnaires, distributed in The Park, have received positive returns.

"The people really like the idea," said Conrad Sands, of the company. "We can't keep up with the requests from people on other blocks. They wonder when they'll be getting the questionnaires. We're working in not only The Park but in The Farms, City and Woods."

The Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice, opponent of the program, has been getting requests, too. "The people are wondering how it's going to be paid for," said Gail Wingard, director of the center.

"The real estate company thinks it can get federal funding, but they can't," Ms. Wingard stressed. "Robert Slone, Park city manager, checked into that. Grosse Pointe is too affluent, you can't get money for that particular program."

"Each cul-de-sac will cost between $3,000 to $15,000," Mr. Sands figured.

"There are a number of funding alternatives available. There would be no financial burden on the taxpayers," Mr. Sands said. "Maybe even the residents on the blocks involved would invest."

The cul-de-sac program is the idea of John E. Brink, of the company, which is coordinating the polling of questionnaires.

"I have a background in research," Ms. Wingard stated, "and I've never heard of a business doing its own poll on their idea. We, (the Inter-Faith Center), see no way they can keep it accurate."

"How do we know the results are true?" Ms. Wingard questioned. "An outside group is always used in polling, so there's no bias involved. I'm upset about the lack of controls; this thing just isn't objective."

In response, Mr. Sands said, "Getting the opinions of people is the point of the poll. The Inter-Faith Center doesn't like our approach because they think we're soliciting."

He added, "Of course we

Fund Raising Drive Set

help broaden the programs for retarded citizens here.

Ray Costan, whose 16-year-old daughter is retarded, will head the fund-raising drive, with the ultimate goal of establishing a community living center in The Pointe for retarded citizens.

"Just like everyone else, our kids need to feel they are a part of their community," Mr. Costan explained. "They can do it with a little help. If we open doors for them and provide the right environment, they can find fulfillment too."

The center would probably house eight to 16 retarded adults, who would be employed at the Eastern Unit of the Wayne County Assoc. for Retarded Citizens.

"What we're really trying to accomplish with the community living center is to give these people fulfillment in an environment to which they can relate," said Mr. Costan.

"Regardless of their IQ, these kids know where they do and don't fit in. We want to create a place just for them."

Mr. Costan hopes the new fund raising campaign will provide seed money for the center project. After that, he expects there might be some community opposition to the center, but that, he insists, can be overcome with education.

"We just have to take the mystery out of mental retardation, and the people will understand."

Licenses Offers New Statistics

Beginning last week, all Michigan drivers will be able to obtain special Medical Information and Medical Donor stickers, designed for attaching to the back of their driver licenses.

"These will enable drivers to carry crucial medical information where it is immediately available in case of an accident or emergency," said Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, whose office is issuing the new labels.

"Law enforcement officers, paramedics, ambulance crews and hospital personnel are all accustomed to checking driver licenses for basic information about persons involved in accidents or other emergencies," he said.

"The labels also include an 'anatomical gift' section, for persons wishing to donate eyes, kidneys, skin, bone marrow or other organs after death."

His office has added a box on the front of all new driver licenses, where drivers can indicate whether medical or organ donor information is included on the reverse side.

"From now on, all drivers will automatically receive the labels by mail, in the same envelope with their photo licenses," added Mr. Austin.

Drivers whose licenses will not expire for some time, may obtain labels at any Secretary of State branch office.

The new Medical Information and Organ Donor labels were provided by the State Legislature in Public Act 358 of 1976, the "Anatomical Donor" Law.

Single Parents Plan Activities

The Family Activities Committee of Pointe Chapter 192 of Parents Without Partners, (PWP), is winding up the summer with more events and help for people who must raise their children alone.

Cynthia Wheeler, committee director, has planned a bus trip to Cedar Point for Saturday, August 20.

Then Belle Isle will be the site for a canoe trip and picnic lunch on Saturday, August 27.

Further information on PWP and its events may be obtained by calling 882-7086.

Wine Lines

by John Lundberg

In La Vie de Boheme, it is said that the first duty of a wine is to be red. Some people add that the second duty is to be a Burgundy. Burgundy is powerful, full-tasting red or white wine, and this power gives it a regal quality that few other wines possess. Some think it is too powerful, that is, it is too heavy. Perhaps that accounts for why Burgundies are traditionally more popular in the northern countries of England, Holland and Belgium, than they are in warmer climates, where a heavy wine might be a bit much in the heat. Nonetheless, wherever it is served, it is respected as a wine that will bring magnificence and glory to any meal.

Indeed, the right wine from PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, corner of St. Clair, 885-0626 can enhance any meal whether it's a simple family dinner, an elegant company meal, or a romantic midnight supper. And we'll be happy to discuss the proper selection, preparation and serving of wine with you. Hours: 10-10 Mon.-Thurs.; 10-11 Fri., Sat.

WINE WISDOM:
A 9 ounce wine glass is good for serving red wines — it allows for good bouquet.

Board Recalls Five Teachers

The Board of Education last week called five teachers back to work, cutting the number of local instructors without jobs this September to just 27. The trustees had dismissed 46 teachers in April because of declining enrollment throughout the school system.

At its Monday, August 8, meeting, the Board approved the re-employment of Luanne Ahlbrand, who will teach math at South High School; Thomas Wolverson, a business education instructor at South; and elementary teachers, (still unassigned), Marilyn Dietz, Nancy Kline and Judy Morlan.

Unexpected early retirements and resignations made the openings available, according to a school spokesman.

The trustees recalled 10 laid-off teachers in June and added four more to the payroll the following month.

School administrators say the staff reduction was possible because of an anticipated enrollment drop of 405 students in 1977-78.

They are expecting 10,295 students to attend Pointe public schools this year—more than 20 percent less than at the beginning of this decade.

Teachers who resigned their posts this summer include Patricia Carrick, middle school language instructor; Richard Henn, South High math; Norma Priest, Mason Elementary School; William Raupagh, Monteith Elementary School; Betty Reehill, Monteith; and Sally VanDeventer, teacher consultant.

Mrs. Priest retired after 13 years with the system, Mr. Raupagh after 17 years and Miss Reehill after 17 years.

Named to Post At Saint John

George P. Caralis, of Bedford Road, has been appointed assistant administrator for operations at Saint John Hospital. He will be responsible for housekeeping, linen services and communications.

Mr. Caralis was graduated from Cass Tech High School, earned his BS Degree in Zoology from the University of Michigan, his MS in Biology from Wayne State University and his MBA from Michigan State University.

His working career evolved around Harper Hospital. He began while still in school working summers as an orderly and OR tech. From 1971-72, he was a Unit Manager.

From 1972 until he joined the administrative staff at Saint John, he handled the management of the housekeeping department as director of housekeeping services, Harper Hospital Division—Harper-Grace Hospital.

Those who are not afraid of failure seldom have to face it.

Traffic Study Plan Approved

fare is to move traffic effectively around or into and out of the central business districts or residential areas. In order to do this the roadways must be properly designed and operated.

This would cut traffic on adjacent roads that were not designed to handle high volumes of traffic.

The main point is to reduce commercial traffic on residential streets.

The fourth and last step is the comparison of the "Thoroughfare Plan" with the "Major Street Plan."

In this, the two plans will be analyzed, and a final plan presented stating what changes will be required.

Cites Problems

Mayor Pro Tem W. James Mast asked Dr. Datta, "We have a proposed plan for On-the-Hill expansion which involves the closing off of streets and cul-de-sacs; how will this effect your study?"

"If you close off the streets, it's going to hurt you more than help you," replied Dr. Datta.

Farms Police Chief Robert K. Ferber noted that the major traffic problems were on streets close to Mack avenue. Problems also are seen On-the-Hill, and on McKinley avenue and McMillan and Muir roads. Ridge road as a thoroughfare also was discussed.

During the study, Dr. Datta will be working closely with Chief Ferber and the police department. The council also will keep Dr. Datta informed as to where they feel major problems lie.

The study should be completed within six months. At that time Dr. Datta will address the council on his findings and their results.

Tennis School Aids Pointers

Five tennis enthusiasts from The Pointe recently attended the Ramey Tennis School held on the campus of Alma College for two weeks.

Those participating in the program, which includes at least five hours on court each day toward developing their game, included Cammie Dionne, of The Shores, Wendy Evans, of The Park, Suzy Hull, Kerry FitzSimons and counselor Betsy Laitner, all of The Farms.

The school is the mid-west's oldest and largest tennis camp operation located in six states and France. The intensive tennis instruction and training prepares adults and youth for competition play.

Mrs. William M. Ramey, director, reportedly visits the University Liggett School Fair every year to talk about the camp.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

We have received many calls this past week about our Community Development Program, most of them from people wondering when we are going to be surveying their block. Just wanted to let you know that we're working on it and making progress. So far we have received responses from over 800 people and over 97 percent favor the program. Some people are suggesting alternatives to the placement of the cul-de-sacs and that's good, it shows that the program is being thought about and talked about. As stated ours is a proposed program—subject to the approval of the city government and the homeowners. How many cul-de-sacs are finally built, where they're placed, and when will be your decision.

Growing Tips for Geranium

The geranium, (Pelargonium hortorum), has long been a favorite flowering plant for both indoors and out.

A native of South Africa, the geranium produces abundant, high quality flowers in red, pink or white—even under adverse conditions.

Michigan State University horticulturists give these tips on growing the geranium as an indoor plant:

Pot in a standard houseplant potting mix with provisions for good drainage. Place where it will be exposed to cool temperatures. It can withstand 40 to 50 degrees F at night.

Give it bright, diffused light or full sun, if possible. Drench the soil thoroughly, then allow it to dry before watering again.

Fertilize every month during the growing season with any standard houseplant fertilizer.

In the fall, reduce watering and stop fertilizing. Store pots and roots dry, or remove roots from the pot, shake off the soil and store bare roots in a dry, dark place free from frost or freezing temperatures.

Revive stored geraniums by resuming watering. Begin to fertilize when the first leaves are fully expanded.

Outdoors, the geranium should be grown in a good loamy soil. It needs good drainage and full sun. Water when the soil is dry and fertilize monthly.

Outdoor geraniums may be overwintered three ways: the entire plant dug from the garden and stored in a cool, moist area, (45 degrees F or lower, 80 percent relative humidity or higher); the entire plant dug and potted, cut back to six inches in height, placed in a sunny window and watered and fertilized as needed; three to four-inch cuttings taken and rooted in perlite, peat moss or sand, then transplanted into four-inch pots and grown as houseplants.

Woods Police Recover Boy

A 13-year-old Detroit boy, who was reported missing to Detroit's Fifth Precinct, was recovered, albeit worse for wear, by Woods police on Sunday evening, August 14, and returned to his parents.

While on patrol in the area of Bournmouth road and Leslie, Officer John DeLora was flagged down by a citizen. The resident said a boy, who may have been under the influence of some drug or may possibly be a mental, was running through the area.

Several citizens pointed west on Bournmouth indicating the boy had run in that direction. Moments later, Officer DeLora found the boy battling a large dog, who was tearing his clothing.

The officer and an unidentified citizen pulled the animal away and the boy was placed in the scout car and transported to the station. Officer DeLora noted the lad may have been either mentally retarded or suffering from the effects of some drug.

Lt. Bernard Kelly contacted Detroit police and learned that the boy had been reported missing. Detroit officers said they would contact his relatives and have them pick him up at The Woods.

Offer Tickets For Field Day

Free tickets for youngsters to attend the Grosse Pointe Metropolitan Club's Spirit 20 annual Field Day Saturday, August 27, are currently available at all Pointe police and fire departments, reported Park Assistant Fire Chief David Taylor.

Tickets also may be obtained at the Brownell School Field, 240 Chalfonte avenue, the day of the event, which will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Chief Taylor said children will be able to participate in a variety of activities including games, a moonwalk and the 40 and 8 train. Other goodies such as popcorn and cotton candy also will be available.

JOB CORPS HELPS

The Job Corps, administered by the U.S. Department of Labor, is designed to help disadvantaged young men and women, 16 through 21, prepare for jobs and responsible citizenship. Enrollees receive basic education, vocational training, counseling, health care and related services.

Woods Alters Print Checks

A procedure change in relation to fingerprinting for vendor applicants has been instituted in The Woods.

In the past, those applying for vendors' licenses were fingerprinted, but now this practice will be discontinued, although the public safety department will run a traffic background check via the LEIN, (Law Enforcement Information Network), machine, plus a name check.

Public Safety Director Henry Marchand indicated that the State Police appear to have discontinued the practice of obtaining a criminal background check by the processing of fingerprints for non-criminal applications.

He felt this was evidenced by the lengthy delay and in the final result, State Police submitted name check backgrounds only.

In view of this, and in accordance with city ordinance, fingerprints will now not be taken for such applicants. Noting that potential applicants will still be scrutinized via LEIN and name checks, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said State Police no longer run fingerprint checks in such situations and "there was no one else to turn to."

GP City Still Awaits Report

Although union attorneys expected an arbitrator's report on The City police-fire consolidation last week, as of the NEWS' press time, the document had not yet been completed.

Eugene Bolanowski, attorney for City firefighters said he doesn't know what the holdup is, and added "we should have had the report last week."

The report will settle a year-long contract dispute between firefighters and The City, and may also determine the future of the city's proposal to combine forces and, according to Council members, save $80,000 in personnel costs.

Brownell Sets Orientation

The counseling offices at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte avenue, will be open Tuesday through Thursday, August 30 through September 1, for new enrollments.

For an appointment, call 882-8940.

Prospective new students should be accompanied by a parent and bring with them a copy of their last report card. For students enrolling in Pointe Public Schools for the first time, a copy of their birth certificate should also be brought along.

An orientation program for all incoming seventh graders at Brownell as well as new eighth grade students has been scheduled for Wednesday, September 7, from 9:45 to 11:15 a.m. in the gymnasium.

At this time students will meet their homeroom teachers, counselors and administrators and tour the building guided by Brownell students.

Brownell School offices will be open every day from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. until school opens.

Parents who wish to discuss any aspects of the school program should call the school for an appointment.

MEXICO CELEBRATES ITS INDEPENDENCE

While Mexico's Independence Day is September 16, with fireworks erupting the night before, the celebration really seems to go on all month. The Patriotic Festivals begin September 1 with speeches, parades and flags snapping. Places like Acapulco are apt to be jammed. The evening of September 15 rivals New Year's Eve throughout the Republic with night clubs and restaurants packed and plazas crowded with folks making merry.

Hill Merchants View Parking

By Wendy K. Settle
Parking was the major problem discussed at the meeting of the Hill Merchants' Assoc. Thursday, August 11.
Ed Kiska, president of the association and owner of Kiska Jewelers, is concerned about the situation.
It seems that there are a limited number of parking spaces left for shoppers on Kercheval after some employees take the spaces early in the morning.
The reason for this is twofold. First, some employees park on the street because they don't want to walk the distance from the back lots to their stores and, second, there are few, if any, parking spots left in the back lots by the time they come to work.
"The customers don't have any place to park for an hour or so," Mr. Kiska said, "as the employees in the area take all the spaces."
Margaret Rice, of Margaret Rice, Inc., said, "Every other customer complains about the parking."
An employee of Margaret Rice explained the problem by saying "I've worked here 21 years and it's getting worse. It's the kids from the school, they park at the 10 hour meters, so the employees have no alternative than to park on the street. I've noticed this because during school holidays, there are meters available."
On Kercheval at McMillan, there is a closed and boarded up gas station. Many employees on-the-Hill use the station as a free parking lot. The corner is presently up for sale. The asking price is $175,000.
Farms Police Chief Robert K. Ferber said, "We haven't received any complaints from the owners of the corner concerning people parking there. Until we do, the parkers won't be ticketed."
The Farms has no plans for using the corner for a parking lot or anything else. City Clerk Richard Solak revealed, "Nothing official has been talked about. The price they're asking, we just can't afford."
Parking problems on-the-Hill are an ongoing concern. One facet of the presently discussed Hill expansion plan is designed to eliminate such parking problems.

Pearls have long been valued as a fashion accessory, representing all that is chic, elegant and sophisticated. In the 17th century the Dutch painter Jer Vermeer adorned plain women with pearl and rendered the ordinary beautiful. One of Glenn Miller's most popular big band songs was "String of Pearls," which commemorated the first string of pearls he gave his wife; and in the early 1960's Jacqueline Kennedy made the pearl choker fashionable. Pearls have never gone out of style, but they are no longer confined to the basic black or evening wear.

Do not risk losing precious stones from your jewelry because of worn or loose mountings. Bring your jewelry in to us at VALENTE JEWELRY, 16601 East Warren at Kensington, Detroit, 881-4800, where we will have your stones checked and cleaned. While you are here, feel free to browse through our large selection of pearls, diamonds, watches, earrings, etc. Our desire is that your visit with us will be a friendly, relaxing and enjoyable experience.

GEM FACTS:
Pearls can be worn with anything and everything about the neck in long ropes and worn with as many strands as desired.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats,
Superintendent of Schools

Alma Fleming, chairperson of the English Department at South High School, concludes the statement she began last week by presenting her comments and suggestions for improving instruction in writing for high school students:

"Now to answer the question—How would I improve the Grosse Pointe High School writing program?"

"First, I would be careful not to upset the exceptionally fine English program existing in Grosse Pointe," she said.

"South High School's North Central Evaluation in October 1976 attests to the quality of this program. We offer many kinds of classes in the high schools for our more than 5,000 students of differing abilities and interests.

"We have many talented hard-working English teachers who teach English well. We have many talented and hard-working students who achieve well. We have a community whose value patterns support fine language skill. We see results in the successes our students enjoy in college and career.

"This success pattern I would not want to disturb.

"On the other hand, we could improve our writing program. To improve the teaching of writing in the high school and to this end I have several suggestions:

"1. The single, most effective way to improve the writing training of our students is to cut the English teacher's work load by lowering class size so that no English class is over 25 students and most writing classes are close to 20.

"The teacher then has time to assign sufficient writing, to which he can respond quickly and personally. He has time to help students individually as well. Ideally students should write and have papers returned once a week. Even with lay reader help, this goal is impossible with the present class load.

"2. We need to make sure that students continue to acquire basic spelling, punctuation, sentence and paragraph skills before they come to the high school program. High school teachers can then advance students in more sophisticated skills.

"3. Any teachers teaching English who are not able to teach writing well should receive help. Special required in-service curriculum workshops could update teacher skills, particularly for teachers who did not major in English but who are teaching it, and for those who have not taken writing courses.

"4. Parents and administrators need to commend and to support teachers who teach writing well. Such comment should be specific and should refer to exact skills and exact lessons. Parents and administrators need also to make negative comments, but such comments should be specific and should reach the specific teacher involved.

"5. It follows logically that the high schools could establish closer communication between parents and English teachers so that parents know what is going on in the teaching of writing, students know their parents are informed and parents can be knowledgeable in their support of the lessons.

"6. Finally, we in the profession should see that the stress on writing skills that has been happening recently in the Grosse Pointe Schools continues, strengthens and receives focus. In the high schools this has meant new writing units in ninth grade and new content in the new required Writing Workshop for all 10th graders.

"As I conclude this article, the dominant thought in my mind is that despite areas we can improve, the schools in this community have great strength and quality.

"As a long time educator, I know that this quality is in reality a reflection of the people who make up the community itself. As one of the North Central Evaluators said, 'The people in Grosse Pointe support their schools with more than money, they care.'

"It takes this kind of support to do the things that we need to do here to improve the writing program."

With this column we conclude our current investigation of the instruction of English at the high school level.

Once again I wish to thank those on the staff who were so helpful in sharing their thoughts with readers of this column: Robert Welch, director of Secondary Education; Roger McCaig, director of Research and Development; Robert Reimer, chairperson of the English Department at North High; and Mrs. Fleming, chairperson of the English Department at South High.

I also wish to thank readers of this column for their responses to a number of the ideas presented in the series of columns.

Beware of The Pest Mosquito

Mosquitoes can be nasty pests at this time of year in more ways than one.

Not only are their bites itching nuisances but bites from certain mosquitoes may cause outbreaks of a serious disease, reports the Wayne County Health Department in a news release.

In 1975 there were 36 reported cases of St. Louis Encephalitis throughout Wayne County. Last year, there were six cases of this mosquito-transmitted disease in Michigan.

Dr. Perry Stearns, Wayne County health director, said that there is no evidence so far this year of a St. Louis Encephalitis outbreak.

The health department's bird surveillance program is trying to determine if the virus that causes this disease is in the blood of local birds. The disease is passed back and forth between mosquito and bird and is transmitted to man by the bite of the mosquito.

While only two birds out of nearly 4,000 tested this year in Michigan show evidence of some virus activity, health officials are uncertain if the virus is left over from last year or whether a new disease cycle has begun.

All citizens can help reduce the number of mosquitoes and the possibility of diseases. Since mosquitoes require water for hatching of eggs, residents can help themselves and their neighbors by eliminating water-holding containers or ponded water on their property.

Specific suggestions from the health department for reducing mosquito breeding in the neighborhood include the following:

Keep water changed daily in wading pools. Swimming pools unused for several days should still be filtered and disinfected daily. Keep water changed weekly in bird baths. Fill in low areas of yards that cause water ponding.

Discard any items such as old tires that hold water. Check house rain gutters and downspouts for clogging or holding water. Keep drainage ditches in front of property clean. Ornamental ponds should either be stocked with fish or drained and cleaned weekly.

What Goes On at Your Library

By William T. Peters,
Director of Public Libraries

Armand Hammer is not a baking soda, at least not the Armand Hammer Bob Considine writes about in his book, THE REMARKABLE LIFE OF DR. ARMAND HAMMER, (Harper and Row, 1975).

Dr. Hammer was graduated from Columbia's College of Physicians and Surgeons in June 1921, but never practiced medicine. It seems while attending classes on a rather irregular basis he was building up an almost bankrupt pharmaceutical house established by his father into a multimillion dollar operation that he then sold to his employees for $2 million.

At age 23, and already a millionaire, this grandson of a Russian Jew made his first trip to Russia. He took along with him a World War I surplus field hospital, supplies, instruments and an ambulance as a gift to the Russian people.

Dr. Hammer had the Midas touch and within a decade had set up trade exchanges and factories which made millions for him, and probably saved the Russian economy. His deep friendship for Russia and his economic ties continues even today where he is often referred to as the "Russian Connection."

Mr. Considine writes of Dr. Hammer's association with Occidental Petroleum Corp., and with some of his lesser known exploits into other fields—cattle breeding, whiskey distilling, power politics and the arts. Interesting reading about a man who always knew where he was going.

A man also with a purpose and a fierce determination to succeed is Jesse Jackson. Following the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr., the Rev. Jackson of Chicago gradually assumed more and more of a leadership role in the black civil rights movement.

Barbara A. Reynolds, a journalist, radio commentator and editor, is an ideal biographer for Rev. Jackson. In her book, JESSE JACKSON, THE MAN, THE MOVEMENT, THE MYTH, (Nelson Hall, 1975), she details the activities of this very articulate man whose very presence draws crowds.

Who is the most powerful black man in America? It could be Rev. Jackson. Fascinating reading about a part of American social history that should not be ignored.

The lives of the four Reuther brothers—Walter, Roy, Ted and Victor—is another of the great American success stories.

Victor G. Reuther, THE BROTHERS REUTHER AND THE STORY OF THE UAW, (Houghton Mifflin, 1976), is a long, 522-page account. A great many books and articles have been written about this unusual family, so little new information is contained in the biography. However, it does have a personal touch that readers may find appealing.

Forty years of labor history especially as it relates to Detroit and the automobile industry is revealed in a factual, easy to read style by one who was there.

George Bernard Shaw acclaimed him as "the one genius created by the cinema." W. C. Fields called him, "a goddam ballet dancer." Westbrook Pegler denounced him with these harsh words, "He is an alien guilty of a degree of moral turpitude which disqualifies him from citizenship." He said of himself, "I am a citizen of the world."

He may have been all of these things, for Charles Chaplin, one of the funniest men who ever lived, was a controversial figure.

Denis Gifford, a British script writer and film historian, traces Mr. Chaplin's career in his book, CHAPLIN, (Doubleday, 1975).

Mr. Gifford's biography contains over 100 illustrations. Also included are invaluable and specially compiled catalogues of Mr. Chaplin's work, not only in films, but also in the recording studio. There are definitive listings of all Chaplin films, books, music and records.

Our menu has been around for a long time here at LAMBARD'S RESTAURANT, 17125 E. Warren at Cadieux, Detroit, TU 5-9100. Our family has been in the restaurant business for over 100 years and is still going strong. We are best known for our famous pizzas and Italian dishes. Always added several new tasty items to our menu, such as baby spare ribs and crab legs. Our sea food is flown in fresh every day — not frozen.

A nice idea for the traveling gourmet is menu collecting. Many restaurants have souvenir menus that they give patrons on leaving the restaurant; others may have a small charge for taking the menu home. Having collected menus from favorite restaurants or places that are of sentimental value to you, frame and decorate your kitchen walls with them. They provide an interesting memoir to your travels, a good conversation piece, and an unusual, attractive decoration for the kitchen.

If you do not want to display them in your kitchen it is also nice to have a scrap-book with all your favorites.

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

Once upon a time — in 1949, to be exact — Connie (Mrs. Claude A.) Greiner and Wilma (Mrs. Chilton I.) Drysdale, president and co-president of the Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League, decided to raise a bit of money for Bon Secours.

Together, they chaired a donation tea at Alger House. It was a $5,000 success for the hospital.

Flush with their initial triumph, Connie and Wilma determined to move on to bigger things.

For May 23, 1950, the dynamic duo planned a "Father of the Bride" movie premier benefit at the Woods Theatre. The idea was to raise funds for the addition then being built at Bon Secours.

That addition would make a better Bon Secours, and a better Bon Secours would benefit the entire Pointe community, and since the entire Pointe community was, therefore, involved in the Bon Secours building project... Connie and Wilma invited the entire community to their party!

Just about everybody came. The Mesdames Greiner and Drysdale did their project up brown, complete to patrons and a program fat with ads.

The result? The Bon Secours nuns received a

Open Old World Market August 25

Pointers Serve on Benefit Preview Committee for Four-Day Fair Involving Members of Detroit's Ethnic Communities

The sounds of music and dancing feet, the smells and tastes of foreign cuisine, the sights of artisans at work and a feeling of warm camaraderie — all will be part of Old World Market: Summer '77.

The Market, co-sponsored by the International Visitors Council of Metropolitan Detroit and the International Institute, opens at the Birmingham Ice Sports Arena with a 6 to 10 o'clock, $10-per-person benefit preview next Thursday, August 25.

Among preview committee members are Pointers Mr. and Mrs. Charles Endicott, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schoen, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vance, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. G. Mennen Williams.

Among those assigned to booths is Edith Hakken, of Loraine road, whose province is the African exhibit.

The Market will be open to the public Friday and Saturday, August 26 and 27, from noon to 10 o'clock, and Sunday, August 28, from noon to 6 o'clock. General admission is $2. Admission for children under 16 is $1.

"Attending the Old World Market," says Ruth Africh, chairwoman, "is a unique way to learn more about the customs of Detroit's many ethnic groups."

Members of more than 40 nationality groups and organizations will demonstrate crafts, sell examples of their native cuisine and give musical and ethnic dance performances throughout the four-day fair.

"The biergarten will feature German knackwurst and lager beer. A German band, the Melodias, will play for dancing."

Almost 10,000 persons attended the Market during its premier appearance in Birmingham last summer.

Among this year's attractions will be French regional dolls, Egyptian leather and jewelry, Jamaican straw baskets, Estonian wood-burning, Korean calligraphy, Norwegian porcelain and Japanese doll making.

Arabian, Serbian, Norwegian, Ukrainian, Vietnamese, Bulgarian and Mediterranean food will be available.

Other nationalities represented include Greek, Indian, Polish, Swedish, African, Italian and Mexican.

In addition to Mrs. Africh, the Old World Market advisory committee includes Frank Angelo and Mrs. C. Allen Harlan.

The fair raises funds to carry on the work of participating groups and its two sponsoring organizations. The International Visitors Council helps to greet and guide important foreign visitors to the Detroit area. The International Institute works at helping immigrants adjust to their new surroundings.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Institute, TRinity 1-8600, or the Council, 961-9393.

James Turner Takes a Bride

Suzanne Aldrich Simonds and James Poole Turner exchanged marriage vows Saturday, August 6, in Christ Church Cranbrook. The Reverend Lewis Towler officiated at the 6 o'clock rites which were followed by a reception in the Detroit Golf Club.

The newlyweds will be at home in Royal Oak following a vacation trip to Hilton Head Island, S.C.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Dwight Simonds, of West Bloomfield, selected a gown of Qiana jersey. It featured a soft, flowing skirt and chapel length, Watteau train.

Beaded lace motifs embroidered on English net accented her Empire bodice, mandarin collar and the cuffs of her long sleeves. Her mantilla of imported silk illusion was edged with matching lace motifs.

She carried an arrangement of stephanotis with trailing ivy and greens.

Attendants, in identical gowns of dusty rose jersey featuring pale rose piping outlining their Empire waists and Queen Anne necklines, and soft, A-line skirts, were maid of honor Helen Diana Simonds, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids Arlene Schaefer, of Birmingham, Cathy Fraval, of Boston, Mass., Penny Gear, of Point St. Lucie, Fla., Patsy Turner, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Chandler Simonds, Jr., of Lawrenceville, N.J., sister-in-law of the bride.

They carried arrangements of daisy mums, greens and ivy.

Serving as his brother's best man was David Turner, of Dearborn. Ushering were Pointers John Hoben, Christopher Terry and John McClellan, Chandler Simonds, Jr., and Roger Bonahoom, of Royal Oak.

The bride's mother pinned

a gardenia to her silver gray knit. The bridegroom's mother chose a three-piece, floor length dress of beige peau de soie.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Robert A. Smart, of St. Clair Shores, formerly of Washington road, and the late David C. Turner.

Sun and Skin May Not Mix

Skin cancer, caused mostly by overexposure to the sun, is increasing steadily, dermatologists report. The number of new cases each year is estimated to be three to six times more than estimated a few years back.

The American Cancer Society reports that between 300,000 and 600,000 cases of skin cancer are diagnosed each year, and that about 5,000 people die of the disease annually.

These figures contrast sharply with the 110,000 estimate of a few years ago. The higher numbers do reflect more accurate reporting, but a number of skin specialists say the disease itself is also on the rise.

The harmful rays of the sun not only can cause cancer but may also lead to premature "aging" of the skin by destroying its elasticity and leaving it dried out and wrinkled," says Dr. Martin Tessler, dermatologist and a volunteer with the American Cancer Society.

Fortunately, most cases are easily curable if they are diagnosed and treated in

Fall Fashion Forecast

Pointers can get a head start on fall fashion trends via the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center's first fund-raiser of the season: a presentation of the Albert Nipon Collection and Continental Breakfast Friday, August 26, starting at 9 in the morning at Jacobson's in-the-Village. Discussing plans for the program with CAROLYN BARNHART, (right), Jacobson's fashion coordinator, is CAROLE (Mrs. Jere) BERKEY, who is chairing the event for the Assistance League and who has tickets available at $5 per person. Mrs. Berkey's telephone number is 499-3870. Tickets also will be available at the door—as long as they last. Helping coordinate everything is Judith Lee Sieber, Assistance League president.

time. Most of the deaths result from the rarer, melanoma form of skin cancer, although common types of the disease can become serious if they are left untreated.

Staying out of the sun during the hotter, midday hours will go a long way toward preventing sun damage, because dangerous ultraviolet rays are strongest when the least amount of atmosphere filters them.

Most of the harmful radiation is emitted between 10 in the morning and 2 in the afternoon.

If you have to be out in strong sunlight, applying a sun-screen preparation instead of the conventional suntan lotion will considerably reduce harmful rays.

The best sunscreens are those containing para-aminobenzoic acid — PABA — or benzophenone. There are also many effective sunscreens sold by commercial cosmetic firms, adds Dr. Tessler.

Fred Graczyk and Greg Landry, co-chairmen of the American Cancer Society's annual educational and fund-raising Crusade, point out that only a doctor can tell if a skin condition is cancerous or likely to become cancerous. But anyone who has a sore that doesn't heal or a mole that undergoes an unusual change in color or size should get a medical check-up promptly.

They add that everyone can help fight cancer by having a check-up and donating to the 1977 Crusade.

Betrothed

The engagement of CECILIA LESLIE and Franklyn Davis Kimball has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leslie, of Merriweather road. A fall wedding is planned.

Although most of the enrollment is comprised of intermediate and high school students, classes range from elementary to college level.

Keep Summer Picnics Safe

The preparation and transportation of food in hot weather requires special attention, so Detroit Health Department director Dr. William Cleton offers suggestions, in the best interest of fun and good health, for safe summer picnics.

Always keep food either hot or cold—nothing in between. Throw food away if in doubt.

Food left outside for a length of time before being eaten is subject to poisoning; deadly organisms multiply with amazing speed on unprotected foods with no effect on taste, smell or appearance. Most food requires refrigeration between 40 and 50 degrees or colder.

Food poisoning can be serious, sometimes leading to death. The symptoms of the most common type of food poisoning, (staph), appear within two to four hours after eating, in the form of cramps, nausea and vomiting.

Diarrhea, vomiting, chills and fever indicate Salmonella-type food poisoning. Symptoms appear 12 to 24 hours after eating.

Some guidelines to follow in preparation of food include using care and cleanliness, remembering to wash hands and use absolutely clean utensils and dishes and leaving foods that are "poor travelers" (cream-filled pastries and cakes, seafood, creamed mixtures and mixed salads), at home.

Salad ingredients and sandwich spreads should be carried in separate containers to the picnic site, then mixed together just before serving.

Safe foods to take on a picnic include fresh fruits, cheese, peanut butter, jam or jelly sandwiches and canned foods.

If food is prepared the night before, make sure there is enough room in the refrigerator to store it. Food shouldn't be left at room temperature.

Perishable foods should not be placed in the car while the family drives miles to a picnic site, and the picnic lunch should be eaten as soon after arrival at the picnic site as possible.

Calvary Hosts Summer Fair

A summer fair featuring original art by well-known Detroit-area artists is scheduled for this Saturday, August 20, at Detroit's Calvary Senior Center.

The fair, to benefit the center's program for the aged, will run from 10 to 5 o'clock on the grounds and in the meeting hall of Calvary in Gateshead street near Mack avenue.

Paintings, jewelry, pottery, photo prints, macrame, stained glass, needlecraft, weaving, candles and plants will be for sale. Many of the artists displaying their work appear in local juried shows.

Banjo and piano entertainment by Cliff and Hazel Agnew also will be part of the day's activities. Lemonade and baked goods will be available in outdoor booths.

"We're inviting everyone on the city's northeast side and in eastside suburbs to see our center, meet the people involved—and just have a good time," says Mary Jane Cory, center director.

Volunteers from 30 north-east and eastside Lutheran churches are involved in the summer fair.

Calvary Senior Center, a unit of Lutheran Social Services of Michigan, is open for coffee, cards, conversation and a needleworking class from 10 to 5 o'clock Tuesday and Thursdays.

The center also offers a minor home repair program for those over 62 in the Denby-Finney area. The program is funded through the Detroit-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging.

'Root' Vignettes Are on Display

Pointers have played a part in putting together "International Vignettes," a unique exhibit that brings into focus slices of life central to the cultural heritage of people from five countries: China, Turkey, Poland, Finland and France.

The vignettes, featuring personal heirlooms from private homes, are on display through Friday, September 2, in Detroit Bank & Trust's main office exhibit area in downtown Detroit.

The French vignette, depicting an Alsatian family preparing dinner in the warmth of their kitchen, was created by the French Women's Benevolent Club under president Georgette Stewart, a Pointer.

The Friends of Polish Art provided items for a showcase of the continuity of art forms found in Poland, centered around a costumed manikin dressed as a young woman from the Krakow region. Pointer Hania Chrypski coordinated the project.

The Chinese vignette recreates the classic lifestyle of an early 19th century Chinese gentleman. The Turkish vignette depicts a bride's welcome into her husband's home.

The Finnish vignette focuses on homely crafts, with special emphasis on weaving.

The vignettes, developed for the bank by the International Institute's Hall of Nations committee, may be viewed free of charge between 9 and 5 o'clock Monday through Friday.

An Historic Pointe Day

Mrs. Wilber M. Brucker's Vendome road home was the setting yesterday, Wednesday, August 17, for a Summer Garden Fiesta which included the hostess' showing of personal letters, pictures, mementos and artifacts of her late husband, a former Governor of Michigan and Secretary of the Army.

Soon, these historic items will be transferred to Arlington, Va., for the dedication of the Wilber M. Brucker Wing at Fort Myers.

The party, which included luncheon, was the 1977 membership drive and fund-raising event of The School of Government, founded by Mrs. Brucker in 1940. Some 100 guests, friends, members and new members of the School attended.

To date, the School has close to 40 new membership applications, many from Pointers, including Mrs. Charles Fisher, Mrs. A. S. Bush, Mrs. Robert Frenzel, Mrs. Alfred Reuther, Mrs. Clifford Loranger, Mrs. Robert Kozmarek, Mrs. Arthur Rolf, Mrs. Bert Chaterson, Mrs. C. F. Sultman and Mrs. John L. Jacobi.

Mrs. Cass Sherman is the School of Government's ways and means chairman. Mrs. John T. McMuller is current president.

Congregational Co-op Plans Its Year

SIMS, vice-president, MRS. DOUGLAS DOLD, treasurer, MRS. EDWARD DOWLING, secretary, and MRS. ROBERT SCHMELZ, president. Fall enrollment information may be obtained by calling 885-8552.

Change Pattern When Mowing

For a neat, healthy lawn, change your pattern each time you mow.

Turfgrass specialists at Michigan State University explain that varying the mowing pattern distributes traffic and wear more uniformly over the lawn.

It makes high and low spots less obvious, and prevents lawn mower tracks from becoming marked.

The easiest way to avoid following the same path each time you mow is to mow across the path you followed last time.

Mow lengthwise one time, diagonally the next, then crosswise — or follow a circular pattern, starting at the edge and working toward the center.

Whenever possible, make turns on sidewalks or driveways rather than on the edge of the lawn.

If you must turn on the grass, make a wide, sweeping turn rather than a rapid, spinning one. Quick turns on the turf can lead to bruising, tearing and eventual thinning of the turf.

To keep your lawn healthy, keep your mower sharp and properly adjusted. Dull blades tear rather than cut grass blades. This may result in browning of the lawn and increase susceptibility to disease.

Garden Talks for Pointe Trio

A trio of Pointers — Mrs. Frederick J. Schumann, president of the Detroit Garden Center, Miss Agnes Crow, second vice-president and chairman of finance, and Mrs. William H. Coddington, executive secretary — represented the Detroit Garden Center at the fifth annual National Civic Garden Center Symposium, held August 3 through 6 in Oglebay Park, Wheeling, W. Va.

Objective of the National Civic Garden Centers organization is to promote the development of civic garden centers and their advancement as educational institutions and as cultural centers, and to encourage and promote the interest of the individual in gardens, gardening, civic beautification and all related environmental endeavors.

New Hilberry Season Is Set

Hilberry Theatre's 1977-78 repertory season of seven productions will include works by Shakespeare, Moliere and Shaw, Arthur Miller and Robert Bolt, and the production of a new play, according to an announcement by Leonard Leone, director of the WSU theatre.

The Hilberry is dark this summer to allow redecorating and renovation and reorganization of the training program prior to the arrival of the 1977-78 repertory company in September.

The theatre reopens October 7 with "You Never Can Tell," directed by Robert Emmett McGill. The Shaw comedy had a limited six-week run this past spring, playing to capacity or near-capacity houses, and will continue in the 1977-78 repertory through December.

The new season will be formally introduced to the theatre's contributing Sponsors November 11 at the President's Preview of Moliere's "School for Wives," directed by Robert T. Hazard.

Cottage Seeks Sunday Help

Adult volunteers, men and women, who will work for a few hours one or two Sundays a month are needed at Cottage Hospital, says Margaret Hutchings, Cottage's director of volunteers.

Information about the volunteer work may be obtained from Mrs. Hutchings by calling her at 884-8600, Extension 315.

Shakespeare will be represented in the season by revivals of "Romeo and Juliet," directed by Richard Spear, first performing October 21, and "A Midsummer Night's Dream," directed by Robert Emmett McGill, joining the repertory March 3.

Coming from the modern theatre will be "A View from the Bridge," fifth Arthur Miller presentation at the Hilberry, to be presented with Miller's short mood piece "A Memory of Two Mondays," (beginning December 9), and "Vivat! Vivat Regina!," Robert Bolt's version of the power struggle between Mary Stuart and Queen Elizabeth, directed by Robert T. Hazard, (starting January 27).

Announcement of the final production, to be added April 14, will be made later, to allow for the possibility of producing a new script or a play not yet released at this time. This production will be directed by Richard Spear.

FIRST OFFERING

4 Bedroom Semi Ranch on court-like street in the Woods. 2 Full baths, lovely family room, central air. In Star of Sea parish and ideally located for elementary, junior high or University-Liggett. Immaculate condition.

BUILT WHEN

Living, dining rooms, kitchens, bedrooms had to be large! — when a 5th bedroom and bath on the 3rd floor was in vogue. 2 baths on 2nd floor and 1st floor lav was expected, the family room was known as a "sun room" and a 72 x 170 lot was not unusual. BUILT WHEN? — AROUND 1928 and still in FINE CONDITION!

VISUALIZE

How lovely this 4 bedroom 2½ bath home in the Farms could be when completed to your liking. Brand new, near Lake Shore, a larger home with library, family room, circular foyer and stairway.

Love Feminine Fashions... fine imported fabrics? You'll love seeing the entire Richilene collection presented by Ilene Pacum, whose name combines with her husband's name, Richard to form (that's right) Richilene. She will be at Walton-Pierce, Somerset Mall store Tuesday and Wednesday, August 30 and 31. The beautiful day, cocktail and evening dresses will be informally modeled 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. The collection will not be shown in Grosse Pointe... but, of course, there are many in stock styles in both stores. Right now the new arrivals from other designers show the blouson for evening and day. American beauty jersey is fashioned with a long pleated skirt and an attached blouson top with a rounded gathered neckline and long puff sleeves. In the separates group a breeze-light gray plaid blouson, too, is meant to top solid gray slacks which also pairs with a shorter length blazer. This fall, togetherness means a combination of different textures and patterns with the color the coordinating base. For example Mort Schrader combines a wineberry plaid one button blazer, paisley blouse with distinctive tucking and a slightly flared tweed skirt. The shorter jacket is an important one this fall. We like the gray herringbone jaunty jacket with black braid that goes with an eased skirt with braid and a gray and red plaid scarf.

By Janet Mueller

Consensus is general. "I'll miss the young people," says Gail Wog. "I'll really miss the daily associations with the kids," says Kay Sheedy. "What will I miss? The kids—and the association with some of the nice staff I have worked with all over the system: I substituted for many years, you know," says Lois Blackburn.

Here's Evelyn Toll speaking. "I hate to leave the staff and students at Brownell—it became my home away from home—but there are so many things to look forward to."

Consensus on Grosse Pointe's second point is general, too. Gail is looking forward to having time to carry through projects in a normal amount of time. Like many busy people, Miss Wog would sometimes start something for her private edification, then have to drop it when something else came up... and her private projects tended to stretch on, and on...

A Chance to Sleep Lois relishes the thought of "not having to get out in the morning and be someplace RIGHT NOW!" For Kay, retirement heaven is "sleeping in — and NO papers."

Evelyn will love waking up next winter on a dark morning... and turning over and closing her eyes. "I'm looking forward to sleeping in on ice-cold mornings — or going south."

Mrs. Toll is taking early retirement after 24 years of service in Grosse Pointe, 19 of them at Brownell. She came to teach at Pierce Junior High in 1953 and switched to Brownell when it opened.

Her background is Pennsylvania Dutch, (her family came to the United States before it was the United States, in 1723), and she was born in Albion, Ind., but she grew up in Canada.

Educated in Canada "My father transferred to Ford Motor of Canada when I was six years old, so I went all through the Canadian school system. My mother still lives in Windsor."

She was graduated from Walkerville College, Institute in Walkerville, Ont., and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Toronto, where her undergraduate majors were Household Arts, Science and English.

Armed with that B.A., she traveled through Michigan for the A&P Tea Company and helped start Woman's Day Magazine, which began as a four-page mimeo sheet of recipes — many of them Evelyn's originals.

Then she became Mrs. Benson Toll, and then came the children, Henry Benson, Jon Robert and Barbara Lynn, and then came a Girl Scout chairmanship, and presidency of the Ives PTA. An interest in children and education led to a desire for a teaching certificate and later to a Masters degree from Wayne State University. Evelyn has credits from the University of Michigan.

"I did my student teaching under Claudia Greenhoe at Pierce School, and then was hired to teach Homemaking at Pierce." They Love to Travel Mr. Toll retired two years ago from the J. L. Hudson Company. He and Evelyn love to travel. They've visited England, Scotland, Holland, Germany, Italy, Austria, Switzerland, Spain, Hawaii and the Bahamas, and this fall, when the school bells ring but not for Evelyn, they'll be off to the Orient.

"We will have time to enjoy our children, (all three are teachers), their spouses and our five lovely grandchildren, and for our hobbies: bowling, gardening, traveling, crafts, card playing, entertaining, reading." They'll be staying on in St. Clair Shores. "I'm not going to leave my garden and my house," Evelyn says firmly. They'll share kitchen responsibilities. They have ever since Mr. Toll retired, and his wife taught him how to cook.

And what that proves is that Benson Toll is very much with it: these days, the household arts are unisex activities. When Evelyn started as a teacher, no boy in his right mind would have been caught dead in a Homemaking class. Boys Want to Cook Last year, 24 out of her 28 Teen Cooking students were boys. Evelyn has noticed a change in student attitudes since the turbulent 60's. "My seventh grade girls are polite, interested, eager..." Gail Wog agrees. "I'm finding the youngsters a bit more serious, more courteous, better-behaved, more interested in learning."

Miss Wog has seen other changes in the school system over the years. "Of course, the growth: when I came, there was one junior high school. There were not very many elementary schools. I knew most of the elementary school teachers. We all rode the bus together in the mornings."

She foresees another change. "I've been listening to the projected numbers, (of school children), for 1985. It sounds like 1545." Gail, born in Redwood County, Minn., was graduated from Mankato High School in Mankato, Minn., and from Mankato State Teachers College. Her undergraduate major was Geography, her minors Social Science and Music.

Has Masters Degree She earned her Masters degree at the University of Wisconsin, and also has credits from Michigan and Wayne State Universities, the University of Michigan, and the University of Washington.

She came to Grosse Pointe in 1945 as a Social Studies teacher, after service as a Social Studies teacher in Fairbairn, Minn. She became a counselor at Parcels in 1952.

She's staying on in her St. Clair Shores apartment. "The first thing I plan to do is get re-acquainted with Detroit," Gail wants to visit the Detroit Institute of Arts "when it's not busy." She wants to "see some of those lovely churches." And she most definitely wants to re-familiarize herself with the waterfront, to check out the ships from all over the world that stop at/pass through Detroit.

"There used to be the loveliest loading dock for Detroit News print," Gail's been a counselor for years now, but the Geography major/Social Studies teacher still feels the romance of ports and cargos.

Books, Bridge, Cooking She's looking forward to time for reading, playing bridge and cooking. She has a few mini-trips scheduled for the coming year, to Dallas, Minnesota and California, but nothing major. The world will have to wait until after Retirement Year One. "Then I'll decide."

Lois Blackburn has no definite future plans either. She knows she'll be staying on in Rivard boulevard: Grosse Pointe is, after all, home.

Lois, born in Zanesville, O., is a Grosse Pointe High School graduate. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Denison University, and has studied at Oakland and Wayne State Universities.

She began substitute teaching in The Pointe in 1935. She has had many full-time substitute assignments. She's retiring as a third grade teacher at Richard.

Lois was involved in Scouting for many years, and has served as a Red Cross volunteer. She and her husband, the late Paul Blackburn, had four children, two sons and two daughters, all married now and scattered, in Indiana, Ohio and out Ann Arbor way. One daughter lives in The Pointe.

Mrs. Blackburn is a grandmother eight times over. Hello, World! Kay Sheedy is moving on. For Miss Sheedy, Business Education Department chairman at Grosse Pointe South High School until this June, that's nothing new.

Kay's never been one to sit by the fire and spin. She's a round-the-world traveler, likely to turn up anywhere and everywhere, from Europe to Mexico, Scandinavia to the Middle East.

Sabbatical leave for half of the 1967-68 year found her visiting vocational and technical secondary schools in Australia, New Zealand, Israel, Lebanon, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium and England.

That same year, she participated in a Retail Training Program conducted by Lazarus Department Store and Ohio State University.

She'd love to return to Africa, "under different circumstances than the present," and to Upper Norway, and she's never really seen enough of South America. The Galapagos and Easter Island are two "musts" on her list of still-to-come destinations.

Back to Ohio Kay's leaving her apartment in Rivard boulevard and returning to Ohio, where her parents still live. She was born in Knox County, O., graduated from Centerville (O.) High School and received her Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio University in Athens. History was her undergraduate major.

She also attended Ohio Wesleyan University as an undergraduate, and has a Master of Arts from Ohio State University.

Short and to The Pointe

Grosse Pointe South High School graduate KRISTINE CARPENTER, daughter of ANNE CARPENTER, of Lincoln road, has received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Interior Design and Home Economics from Adrian College, where she was a Chi Omega social sorority officer, Home Economics Club member, Panhellenic Council representative for four years and a Sigma Alpha Kappa fraternity "little sister." At South High, she was involved in the school's cooperative program at Teetzel Company. Her Adrian studies included an internship at J. L. Hudson's Design Studio in Toledo and an independent project in which she decorated portions of an Adrian home constructed by area vocational-technical center students.

Navy Lieutenant PAUL R. GIFT, whose wife POLLY is the daughter of Pointers MR. and MRS. DANIEL W. McKINLEY, was promoted to his present rank while serving with Patrol Squadron Four, Naval Air Station, Barbers Point, Hawaii.

Attending active duty training with the Air National Guard at Phelps Collins Air National Guard Base in Alpena was Staff Sergeant MYRON E. RANNEY, of South Renaud road. He is a Communications Center Specialist for the 127th Communications Flight.

History major HUGH JOHN HALE, II, of Sunningdale drive, has received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Blackburn College, Carlinville, Ill.

MR. and MRS. GARY CUNNINGHAM, of Somerset road, announce the birth of a daughter, SARAH EMILY, May 11. Mrs. Cunningham is the former SHEILA RAPPAN, daughter of MR. and MRS. WILLIAM W. RAPPAN, of Madison road. Paternal grandparents are MR. and MRS. BRUCE CUNNINGHAM, of Fisher road. Sarah has a big sister, HEATHER.

MR. and MRS. ROBERT L. HYNOS, JR., of Meadow lane, announce the birth of a son, EMMETT SCOTT, July 18. Mrs. Hynos is the former ELIZABETH CLUGSTON, daughter of MR. and MRS. DUDLEY NELSON CLUGSTON, of Adamant, Australia. Paternal grandparents are MR. and MRS. ROBERT L. HYNOS, of Mount Clemens.

Airman MICHAEL J. HEYME, an Austin Catholic Prep School graduate who attended Wayne State University, son of MR. and MRS. JAMES D. HEYME, of Balfour

Kay left Wooster, O., where she'd been teaching business subjects, in 1953, to come to Grosse Pointe as a teacher of Business Education.

Now she's going back, to Westerville, just north of Columbus. She's been asked to assist the local historical society. "I'll be sort of a secretary... We're setting up a little museum, so I'll really be busy!"

Has Other Interests It's unlikely she'll stay still enough to let the dust settle. "I love history, and I like gardening, and reading—and I'm a very poor card player, but I love it: I'm going to try again."

Through the years, Kay has been active in Delta Kappa Gamma honorary society for women educators, and has enjoyed her membership in the Grosse Pointe Sororist Club.

At one point, she and Gail Wog were out to make a million as fellow members of an Investment Club. They never did become independently wealthy, but they learned... and when the time is lost in came, they hadn't cash.

Like Gail and Evelyn, Kay's come to the conclusion that the bad years were the 60's. She's found her 70's students progressively more cooperative.

She's enjoyed Grosse Pointe, and she knows she'll miss the area, "but I'm going to one much like it: a small, college town—Westerville is the home of Otterbein College — where the living is very relaxed, the pace leisurely."

And if things become TOO relaxed, Kay can always shake the dust of Ohio from her feet and head for Tierra del Fuego.

Current president of the Assistance League is Jeanne (Mrs. Philip J.) Meathe, who is VERY proud of her 250 volunteer members who have pledged themselves to raise $300,000 for Bon Secours during a five-year period.

Ready now for a little more "once upon a time?" It was shortly after the turn of the century—in 1909, to be exact—that Mother Urban brought her little band of Bon Secours Sisters from Boston to Detroit.

They came to nurse the sick and aged. They went forth to provide care in private homes, whenever and wherever needed.

They established their general hospital in Grosse Pointe in 1945. They built it in Cadieux road, on a five-acre site, as a 35-bed facility.

Today, in 1977, Bon Secours is in the process of completing building expansion that will make it a 320-bed hospital, and will enable the Sisters to further carry on the vow of their profession: "To Serve to the Best of My Ability the Sick to Whom I Shall be Sent."

The Assistance League is helping, substantially. Last year, the League donated $50,000, realized through projects involving cultural community activities, to the Bon Secours Building Fund.

Fall Art Festival

The evening of September 10 is taken, with the Bon Secours benefit at Jacobson's, but why not plan to make a day of it, and spend the day at the 18th Annual Grosse Pointe Fall Art Festival?

It opens at 10 in the morning on the beautiful lawn of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. It closes at 5 o'clock. That leaves two whole hours to rest and dress for Kasper...

The festival is co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Artists Association and the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

One hundred and eighty local and outstate artists and craftsmen will be exhibiting. There'll be prizes and demonstrations. Light lunches will be available.

The Carillon will be peeling forth from neighboring Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, where visitors will be welcome in the tower to watch the musicians.
