

Nedzi's Retirement Spurs Lawmakers' Bid for Congress

By Gregory Jakub

Last week's surprise announcement that Rep. Lucien Nedzi will not seek an 11th term in Congress has set the stage for a "knock down, drag out battle" to fill his seat, according to State Sen. John Kelly, one of the several local politicians who may set their sights on Washington.

Nedzi, a Democrat from Detroit, will complete his 19th consecutive year in Congress this fall and will retire to possibly practice law in the Washington, D.C. area.

Nedzi represents the 14th Congressional district which encompasses all the Pointes, Harper Woods, East Detroit, Warren, Centerline, Detroit's northeast side, and Hamtramck. The job is a two-year stint that pays $57,500 yearly plus expenses.

Sen. John Kelly, a Democrat from Detroit and one of those named as a possible candidate for Nedzi's seat, predicted a heated battle for the position because it is a "once in a lifetime chance" for the Republicans to gain a seat in the House and they will "snap at it."

However, Republican State Rep. William Bryant said there is "no way" he will compete for the position since he plans to seek re-election in the fall. Bryant would have to forfeit his present seat to run for Congress while Kelly would not.

"I don't think I'm the best candidate to win a general (election)," Bryant said. He added that a suitable candidate should have greater contact with ethnic groups and strong pro-labor leanings.

"I don't view it as an advantage to be from a heavily represented Grosse Pointe part of the district," said Bryant who represents the 13th House district including the Pointes and Harper Woods.

Kelly left few doubts about his designs on the seat when he told the Detroit News last week that he

Kelly, Fitzgerald and Hertel May Join Race

(Kelly) was the "prime candidate" for the seat.

Kelly later explained that what he meant was that a Congressman "needs a broader view of the issues than a lot of the single issue candidates have." He said that compared to the other legislators from this area, he has more background in foreign and military affairs and economic development which he said is the prime issue facing Congress.

Kelly said he is weighing all the personal and political factors involved in seeking Nedzi's seat and would have an official decision in about three weeks.

Also considering joining the race is State Rep. Dennis Hertel who said that either he or his brother, Sen. John Hertel, would seek nomination for Nedzi's post in the August 5 primary.

Dennis Hertel said that whether or not he runs for Congress there are on-going issues like district court re-organization and the Cottage Hospital controversy that need attention as well as federal issues that cut across boundaries like taxes and national defense.

When asked how he might act as a Congressman to influence such issues Hertel said, "It's usually pretty clear what the right thing is."

Hertel said he would know this week if he will run for Congress. John Hertel could not be reached for comment.

Another possible candidate is Wayne County Commissioner Erv Steiner who last week was chosen by the state Republican Party as the most likely among a field of 12 to win Nedzi's seat in a general election. Also, he decided last week to seek re-election in the fall.

Steiner said he was flattered but not excited by the vote of confidence from his party. He said being a Congressman means spending 10 months a year away from his family, home, and supporters in Grosse Pointe. "I'm not sure I'm ready for that," Steiner said.

Steiner said he wouldn't run unless he felt he could really accomplish something in Congress and unless he had the overwhelming financial support from the national Republican party. He said one estimate put the cost of running for Nedzi's seat at a quarter million dollars.

"It's up to the national party if they want the seat bad enough," Steiner said adding that Nedzi's seat is a swing seat.

"I'd like to see what your readers think (about his possible candidacy)," Steiner said.

Another possible candidate is unsuccessful 1978 gubernatorial candidate and former state majority leader William Fitzgerald, now in private law practice.

Fitzgerald, a Democrat, said he is inclined not to be a candidate but is "keeping the door open."

"I don't suffer from acute Potomac fever," Fitzgerald said adding that commitments to his law partners and many other commitments could prevent him from entering the race.

But he said he has the greatest name recognition of all the potential candidates and would have no problem gaining momentum even if he entered the race later than others.

His political experience coupled with his name would make him a "pretty strong candidate," Fitzgerald said.

Another possible candidate is Sen. Gilbert DiNello, a Democrat from East Detroit who said he was "definitely in the running as far as con-

Students Run the Show At First Drama Festival

By Dean Brierly

University Liggett won top awards, but everyone came out a winner last Saturday in the area's first festival of high school drama. Sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Theatre organization, the event was held in the War Memorial Fries Auditorium.

Liggett won the awards for best actor and best set. South took the best directing award. The other participating school was Our Lady Star of the Sea. Winning students received Tony-type trophies and $200 cash awards for each of the three winners went to the schools' drama departments.

Publicity director George Hunt termed the festival "very exciting" and said it had fulfilled all the objectives set up for it.

The first of these was to interest young people in the theatre. Hunt said if this interest can be developed at an early age, the students will be encouraged to continue in theatre as they get older.

The second purpose of the festival was to fulfill G. P. Theatre's role as a community organization. Hunt saw it as a way for the residents of Grosse Pointe to see what high school students are capable of. He also saw it as a way to involve both public and private schools.

"Plus it's a lot of fun," he added.

The students were in charge of all aspects of the productions. These included setting up and tearing down the sets, lighting arrangements, rehearsals and, most importantly, directing.

Ted Parr, a sophomore at South, won an award for directing the play The Curate/Shakespeare, "As You Like It," by Don Nigro. Parr was pleased with the award, but didn't look on the festival from a competitive point of view.

"It was more of an experience and a chance for students to direct a play, something they don't often get a chance to do in regular high school productions."

Charles C. Gifford III, drama instructor at Liggett, concurred.

"It's a first," he said. "It's pretty forward type of thinking for students to have the opportunity to direct a show. This provided a real forum for them. It's very valuable and I'll urge my successor to continue on with it."

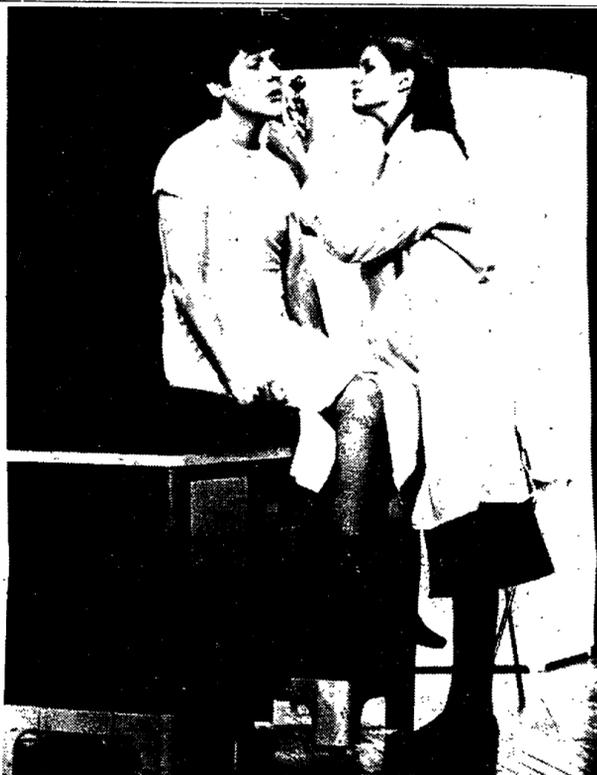

Best actor award went to Liggett's Tom Stanczyk for his portrayal of a middle-aged man taking an examination to enter the armed services in Terrence McNally's play "Next."

Judging the performances were two members of Detroit university theatre departments, Dr. Arthur J. Beer of the University of Detroit, director and actor with The Theatre Company, and Dr. Anthony Schmitt of Wayne State, director of the Hilberry Theatre, determined who the awards went to.

Hunt said G. P. Theatre wanted the festival to be competitive to help motivate the students and said the judges were "marvelous."

He stated that the judging was totally professional, as the judges involved have done this before at professional and college levels. Hunt added that Beer and Schmitt "left good comments for the kids to work

14-Year-Old Testifies At Coin & Stamps Exam

Three Grosse Pointe juveniles testified in City Municipal Court

last week that they sold stolen coins and jewelry to a local coin and stamp dealer.

The youths were called to testify at the preliminary exam of three employees of Coins & Stamps, 17658 Mack, who are charged with two counts of receiving and concealing stolen coins and jewelry over $100. The men also are charged with one count of conspiracy.

Richard Spieske and William Stockwell, both 33, and Don Fryer, 55, will face a pre-trial hearing in Wayne County Circuit Court later this month on the charges.

The juveniles stated they went to Coins & Stamps to "get rid of" the coins and jewelry they stole from Grosse Pointe homes in March.

Park May Face Tax Increase

By Joanne Gouleche

Park city administrators are blaming inflation and a hefty hike in property assessments for the 26 percent tax increase that residents will likely face next year.

That was the word from City Manager John Crawford last week when he unveiled his proposed $4.2 million budget to the council.

The 1980-81 document to take effect this July 1 is up $586,000 over last year's $3.6 million budget, but Crawford told the council the budget contains no "luxuries" and described it as "very tight."

The city manager was criticized by some council members, however, for raising taxes significantly in a recessionary year.

The proposed budget rolls back the general operating mill rate from 18.39 to 17.50 mills according to the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment. But a 0.90 levy for debt service and a new 1.5 mill tax for rubbish pickup pushes the total tax levy to 19.90 as compared to the 1979-80 tax levy of 19.50 mills.

When the new mill rate is applied to a whopping 24 percent increase in State Equalized Valuations (SEV) in Grosse Pointe Park, it dramatically hikes up tax bills for residents, Crawford said.

Last year, the SEV increased only 10 percent in the Park.

If the council adopts the proposed budget, residents with an assessed valuation of $25,000 can expect to pay $177.78 more in property taxes next year.

Councilman Roger McNeill said that increase will be a little hard for some residents to swallow.

"It looks like we're big spenders again," McNeill said. "How can you raise taxes 26 percent in a recessionary year? We've got to make sure residents get back the money they've spent in taxes."

Faced with 200 and 300 percent increases on some fixed expenses, Crawford said the proposed budget was drawn up "very carefully."

"The budget does not allow for new services or replacement of unserviceable equipment," Crawford said. "Actually, we really didn't accomplish anything when you look closely at the budget."

Nearly one-half of the budget increase or $260,000 is earmarked for wages and fringe benefits for policemen and firefighters. Another $81,400 for fixed expenses, $189,000 for capital improvements and $55,000 for street resurfacing make up the $586,000 increase.

The city manager said the one way to trim expenditures would be to cut back on capital improvements and street resurfacing. The council also could elect, Crawford said, to charge for tennis court lighting and to increase fines on parking tickets.

"The council is here to decide the priorities of the city," City Clerk-Comptroller Nunzio Ortisi said.

Verdonckt Hints at Resignation

By Joanne Gouleche

Grosse Pointe Park Councilman George Verdonckt said this week he will "graciously bow out" from his responsibilities on the council if he is absent from any future meetings.

Verdonckt made the remark in light of recent inquiry by his colleagues of why the veteran council member has missed six out of the last nine regular meetings.

"If I am hindering the council I would like you to take action," Verdonckt told the council Monday.

"I'm finding it more difficult to fly in for these meetings, and I cannot fulfill my obligations like I used to."

Verdonckt, 60, is a sales representative with Caravan Products, a bakery supply firm in New Jersey. The councilman said his job takes him

Library goes on line with FLIRT

Ink pads and stamps, long lines at the check-out counter and, eventually, even the old card catalogues are on their way out of Grosse Pointe libraries.

On the way in is new computer technology that is speeding up check-out, inventory and book searches at all three local library branches.

The new computer system went "on line" late last month. Manufactured by Computerized Library Services Inc., the system communicates in a language called FLIRT. It will save time and money on circulation, collection and cataloging of books.

The $160,000 system was purchased with funds donated to the library by the estate of the late John J. O'Brien. The library staff began the enormous job of logging information and learning how to operate the system almost a year ago.

The new system works much like computers found in many grocery stores these days. A "light pen" reads bar codes on books, patron cards and return slips.

One terminal sends information to other terminals at three library branches to keep them up-to-date on what books have been taken off the shelves or returned by customers.

Information is stored and processed in a central computer on the second floor of the central library on Kercheval. That machine can locate books, print up overdue and reserve notices, run bibliographic searches and churn out a variety of daily circulation statistics.

A simplified version of the terminal now in use may eventually be made available to customers, according to central library Director Gerda Bielitz.

"Right now, we're basically using the system as a circulation tool. But as the technology develops within the next five years or so, we plan to include terminals for patrons to use as well," Bielitz said.

Instead of tediously flipping through cards in a catalogue, patrons will be able to call entire subject and author indexes onto terminal screens in a matter of seconds. The library will be able to free up space by eliminating long rows of bulky card catalogues.

Grosse Pointe libraries are among only three systems in the Detroit area that are making use of the new technology, according to Bielitz. While library schools are now beginning to train students on computers, most local staff members had no such background, and a major training program was necessary, she said.

"It was hard to learn, but fun," she added. "We spent a long time thinking of the first book to enter into the system and then came up with a great title—'Future Shock' by Alvin Toffler."

Race for School Board Campaigning in the Pointe

By Susan McDonald

A stable of "majestic and spirited" champions will prance into the ring at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club this Sunday to entertain Grosse Pointers at $25 a family.

The champions will be horses, fine Arabians representing the best "bloodlines of the middle east." But all the action will not be inside the ring. The event is a political one, geared to help support the campaigns of three candidates for the board of education.

Candidates Bill Hueltman, Joan Hanpeter and David Mikesell have arranged the Arabian extravaganza to fund their Committee for Excellence in Education.

Those three represent half the list of candidates in the June 9 school election. While the others, Cathy Brierly, Roger Mourad and Marie DuCoin, won't be ringside Sunday, they have plenty to say about the event — some of it not too kind.

Horse show aside, it is the fact that a "slate" has been formed by the three that has caused most concern in the campaign. While other independent candidates grumble about it privately, only Mourad will speak for the record.

"I just don't like the idea of a slate," Mourad said. "It tends to generate a pledge among those supporting one another that they are going to vote and examine issues together once they're on the board."

"We need seven independent people examining issues, not just four," he said.

Hueltman, one of the horse show sponsors, defends the joint effort as simply a cost-cutting measure.

"All three of us have separate campaign organizations going, and we'll all deal with separate issues. The committee (for excellence in education) was formed just to handle fund-

Lawmakers Look to Washington

He said he has had some urgings from supporters to go for the seat but has to determine whether he has the financial support to do it.

Warren Mayor Ted Bates also said he is still considering whether or not to declare candidacy.

Between attending President Carter's signing of the Volkswagen bill, making the dedication speech at the third Library of Congress building, and attending the dedication of the nuclear submarine "Michigan" in Connecticut, Nedzi could not be reached by telephone for comment last week.

His long-time aid, Jim Pyrrros, said that Nedzi had a "cordial relationship" with the Republican Grosse Pointes and usually took between 30 and 40 percent of the Pointe vote.

Grosse Pointe Park Mayor Matthew Patterson has known Nedzi for 16 years and said he's done so many things for the Pointes that he couldn't point to one as outstanding. Patterson said Nedzi "fights for his constituency," "does everything with his heart," and is "one of the finest politicians I have met."

When asked what issues or accomplishments Nedzi may have influenced for the Pointes during his 19 years in Washington, Pyrrros said Nedzi's greatest accomplishment was being a "damned good representative and an honest public figure."

He added that most of Nedzi's accomplishments related to public works which are something that the Pointes are not interested in.

Pyrrros said he doesn't expect Nedzi to endorse any of the potential candidates.

Three Arraigned in Gold Theft Ring

A gold ring, three silver dollars and a gold watch chain were entered in as evidence at the trio's April 23 exam.

William Williams of Charterhouse & Co. jewelers testified that he saw the gold ring when he visited Coins & Stamps in mid-March, shortly before the employees were arrested on the charges.

Williams stated that the defendant Stockwell asked him if the ring was a diamond. The jeweler said he recognized the ring because he sold it to its original owner.

One of the juveniles, a 14-year-old Park youth, later identified the ring as the one he took to Coins & Stamps. The youth said Spieske gave him $16 for the ring after examining it.

Another youth testified that he accompanied a friend to the coin dealer to sell the three silver dollars. The youth said Spieske gave him $87 for the coins.

When the two youths went to a local hair salon to sell the watch chain, they were arrested by Farms police, after the owner became suspicious of the pair.

Farms Det. Sam Cardella testified that he called Coins & Stamps the same day a McKinley road resident reported a man's gold watch and several silver and gold coins missing from his home.

Cardella said he had a "hunch" that the watch chain and coins may show up at Coins & Stamps and so he alerted defendant Fryer about the stolen items.

City Detective Sgt. John Drummond stated he went to Coins & Stamps along with the three juveniles on April 1 in an "attempt to get the diamond ring back."

Drummond said that after Stockwell brought out a "junk box" from the backroom one of the juveniles identified a gold ring in the box as the one he sold earlier to the coin and stamp dealers.

Municipal Judge Stan Kazul said there was a "sufficient amount of evidence to show there was an implied agreement between all three defendants to conspire, combine and confederate on the charges."

Spieske, Stockwell and Fryer were released on a $1,000 personal bond. If convicted on all three counts, they could face a maximum sentence of 10 years and a fine of $12,500.

Six Campaign for School Board

The six candidates will compete for three seats on the board. Incumbent Hanpeter, Mikesell, Mourad and DuCoin are going for two, four-year positions. Brierly and Huetteman will square off to fill a single, one-year seat.

The predominant issues, right now at least, are as varied as the candidates themselves.

DuCoin, 40, of Hollywood road, said, she hasn't really begun campaigning yet because she's busy chairing the North High School Geranium Sale, a fund-raiser for the parent club. She said she's concerned about the elementary English program and the lack of a textbook for the curriculum.

Hanpeter, 50, of Berkshire road, is an eight-year veteran of the school board and she thinks her experience is important to fend off attempts by numerous groups to usurp location boards' control over education. Specifically, she cites threats from the teachers' union, Local 1, the desegregation case in the courts and various legislative issues.

Mikesell, 42, of Lakeland avenue, is banking on his special expertise as a labor relations attorney to win him votes. "People have responded to that in a positive way," he said. "They see it's important for the school board and teachers to have a sound, cordial relationship that's handled in a businesslike way."

Mourad, 48, of Sheldon road, identifies problems in the middle schools as the prime issue. The concerns he hears from citizens are "symptoms" of deficiency that should be dealt with by the board, he said. "Why do so many parents complain their children aren't challenged enough? Why does there seem to be such a gap between middle school and high school?"

Running for the one-year term:

Brierly, 42, of Hawthorne road, is stressing her "independence" in her campaign for the board, in reaction to the member of the "slate" opposing her. She also points out her long commitment to the school system in a variety of volunteer roles.

Huetteman, 47, of Sunningdale, is taking a strong stand on taxes. "I'm a financial conservative. There is a lot of money there to be managed, and it should be managed carefully," he said. He believes there is room for more tax cuts than have been projected by school administrators, and said he would urge a tax decrease if elected to the board for a third term.

The election is scheduled for Monday, June 9.

Three Arrested At Jewel Store

Police may have thwarted a planned hold up of a Grosse Pointe Woods jewelry store Wednesday, April 23, when they arrested three suspects in the store, one of whom was carrying a loaded revolver and a knife.

Police arrived at Koueiter Jewelers, 21019 Mack at about 12:15 p.m. to answer a call that two males and a female were acting suspiciously in the store.

Five officers eventually arrived at the scene. Two entered the store to check out the subjects and one noticed a bulge under the leather coat of one of the men. The officer drew his gun and ordered the three suspects to put their hands in the air.

While searching them, the officer found a loaded .32 caliber revolver and a long, white handled knife on one suspect. All three were arrested. Police later arrested a fourth suspect who was observed earlier near the store. The arrested all lived in Detroit.

Learn to Cope To Live Longer

Changing your attitude could lengthen your life, according to Detroit psychologist Dr. James Papsdorf.

Thought coping, as Dr. Papsdorf, associate professor at the University of Michigan, calls it, is a way to change the "must" and "shoulds" of life. It involves a reorganization of priorities to better deal with stressful situations.

"Despite the fact that we blame much of our stress and tension on such environmental factors as spouse, job and economy," said Dr. Papsdorf, "a large proportion of our stress is a consequence of the way in which we view the world."

Speaking at the 123rd Annual Session of the Michigan Dental Association in Detroit last month, Dr. Papsdorf explained that seeing life with a 'must' and 'should' attitude can cause high levels of anxiety and strong stress reactions when those musts and shoulds aren't reached.

Strong stress reactions can cause a greater risk of cardiovascular disease and effects on fine motor skills.

"Coping with stress involves attitude change procedures as a life space decision," said Dr. Papsdorf. "The way a person views the entire life must be reassessed."

"Those individuals with a Type A personality — a tendency toward competitive achievement and rapid self-pacing — are most likely to suffer from stress," he said.

Dr. Papsdorf explained that many dentists possess a Type A personality and because of the high level of competition in dental school, most dentists have been subjected to stress for a long time.

"Many occupations have high stress levels — policemen, physicians, firemen — and the dentist is no exception," he said.

Indications of stress include tenseness, cold hands, slight memory lapses and difficulty sleeping. Heavy alcohol intake and excessive cigarette smoking may also be problems said Dr. Papsdorf.

"These symptoms should not be ignored," he explained. "Recognition of the problem is the first step in coping with stress."

Dr. Papsdorf spoke at the 123rd Annual Session of the Michigan Dental Association held April 28 to 29, at the Detroit Plaza Hotel.

More than 7,000 dentists, auxiliaries and guests attended the program which featured scientific sessions, clinics and social events.

North Wins Two Chemistry Awards

Each year the Detroit Section of the American Chemical Society recognizes about 20 high school students with their "Outstanding Achievement in Chemistry Award." This year two students from North High School were among those recognized with the honor.

The North students are Kenneth Deman and Gregory Prokopowicz.

The award program was held at the Ford Motor Company World Headquarters. The main speaker was Mr. Joseph M. Colucci head of the Fuels and Lubricants Department of the General Motors Research Laboratory. Mr. Colucci spoke on "Future Automotive Fuels" and considered current sources as well as present research efforts in automotive fuel development. He is one of the leading authorities in this increasingly critical area.

Purse Thieves Hit the Park

A 16-year-old Detroit youth was arrested by Park police last week shortly after he snatched the purse of a 49-year-old woman near Jefferson and Westchester.

Pat Goush told police she was walking on Jefferson toward a bus stop about 8 a.m. on April 23 when a black youth with a silver-colored jacket came up behind her and knocked her to the ground.

The youth fled with the purse, containing $200 and some jewelry, from Jefferson to Westchester.

Police later apprehended the youth in the area after a citizen, who witnessed the assault, called police and gave them a description of the thug.

Police said they found the woman's wallet on the juvenile, who was turned over to authorities at the Detroit Youth Home.

A 52-year-old Park woman suffered bruises to the head after a young black man approached her on Pemberton last week and grabbed her purse.

The woman said the man got out of an older model light-blue car and approached her to ask for some directions about 8:30 a.m., April 24. When she couldn't offer any help, the man circled around her and knocked her down.

Police said the man took the purse and jumped into his car and fled.

The woman said her purse contained only 30 cents.

Police have no suspects in the incident.

Shores Clerk Makes Bid For Council

The deadline for filing is May 12. Shores village clerk Edmund M. Brady Jr. recently announced he will run for one of the three available trustee seats in the upcoming May 20 election.

Brady, a practicing attorney, will be running against incumbents Carl E. Hedeon, C. Bradford Lundy Jr. and C. F. Ogden, Village president Gerald C. Schroeder and trustees Hedeon and Lundy have already filed their petitions for re-election.

The city council's clerk for the past six years, Brady said he decided to try for a trustee seat after a number of Shores' residents approached him and encouraged him to run.

Brady claims to have a good working knowledge of the council from working with it for so long and says he is familiar with the problems facing the community. These consist mainly in keeping the Shores in good shape through tough economic times, he said.

"I want to keep the community running as smoothly as in the past. I think a new face every once in a while isn't a bad thing," he said. Brady is quick to point out that his decision to run isn't meant as a criticism of the present council members.

"This is just something I'm very concerned with and interested in. I think my talents can be used much better in a trustee capacity than in my present position," he added.

Rummage Sale to Help Build Home for Retarded

The Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Citizens will hold its fifth annual Rummage and Bake Sale on Saturday, May 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Eastern Unit Workshop, 9200 Conner, north of Harper.

Proceeds will be used for the Workshop and the group home fund.

Donations may be brought to the workshop or, if pickup is desired, call 884-6585 in Grosse Pointe Farms, 886-6036 in the Woods, 372-9440 in Harper Woods, and 839-3144 at the Eastern Unit Workshop. The proportion of Americans 65 and older classified as poverty stricken was about 36 percent in 1960. By 1978 that ratio had dropped to 14 percent. Higher Social Security benefits played a part in the improvement.

Conference on Family Topics

"Before God and These Witnesses..." is the title of a conference on marriage and the family to be held Saturday, May 17 at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods. Dr. Louis H. Evans, Jr. will keynote the conference. He is an expert on marriage and the family and has been pastor of The National Presbyterian Church of Washington, D.C. since 1973. He and his wife, the former movie star Colleen Townsend, co-authored, "My Lover, My Friend," in 1975.

The conference begins at 9:30 a.m. with Dr. Evans' keynote address "The Government Basis for Marriage." He will also be leading two workshops — "Biblical and Contemporary Marriage Roles" and "Activities for the Family—Times to be Together."

A total of eight workshops are offered highlighting marriage and all phases of family living with workshop leaders from our community. Mrs. Dorothy Mongoven, marriage counselor and teacher and a member of the Woods Church staff, will lead workshops on "Helping People to Cope with Changes in Marriages" and "Communication Between Parents and Teens."

Two members of the staff of the Northeast Guidance Center, Karen Keeler and Joyce McCendon will team up to conduct morning and afternoon workshops on "Single Parent Households" and "Choosing to be Single or Married." A morning workshop, "Adult Children and Aged Parents: How to Cope" will be led by Diane Heavner of the Woods Church Congregation; and in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tenbusch, leaders of "Marriage Encounter" workshops will lead a workshop on "Maintaining Joy in Marriage."

A Special Sunday for St. James

St. James Lutheran Church in Grosse Pointe Farms, will celebrate its 40th anniversary at 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services on Sunday, May 4. The occasion will serve also as a celebration of the 40th anniversary of the ordination of Pastor George E. Kurz, who has served its entire ministry as pastor of St. James. The Rev. Dr. Harold L. Hecht, President of the English Synod of the Association of Evangelical Lutheran Churches (AELC), will preach the sermon.

On April 30, 1940, St. James Lutheran Church of Grosse Pointe organized as a congregation of seven voting members, 14 communicants, and five Sunday School students. Two months later, on June 30, the congregation organized and installed George E. Kurz as pastor.

Worship services were held at the Grosse Pointe High School, (now South High), through December 1940.

At the end of the 1940 charter year St. James Lutheran Church numbered 59 charter members. Eleven of those still remain with the congregation: Marvin Asmus, Jr., of Peach Tree Lane; Walter Faust of Lakepointe road; Mildred Fuchs of Moross road; Herbert Groening of Merriweather road; Eunice and George Kurz of Audubon road; Edna and Ernest Moeller, Sr., of Neff road; Viola Neeb of McMillan road; and Mildred and Harold Rieth of McMillan road.

For the following eight years, worship and Sunday School were conducted at the Punch and Judy Theater on Kercheval avenue. During the time from 1940-1948, members opened their homes for choir rehearsals, youth meetings, Bible classes, voter's meetings and every other type of church function.

St. James Lutheran Church dedicated its present worship facility on December 5, 1948. Education and administrative wings were added on June 5, 1955.

As a result of the growing controversy in the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod in the early 1970's, St. James congregation joined the English Synod of the AELC on November 8, 1976. The leadership of Pastor Kurz was instrumental in the years preceding this decision as he encouraged the congregation to remain open, informed, and committed to the Gospel of Jesus Christ as the unifier of the church.

Pastor Kurz, a native of Detroit, was ordained and installed as Pastor of St. James the year following his graduation from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, Mo. St. James has been the first and only congregation of his ministry. During his 40 years there, Pastor Kurz has been an active counselor and his efforts in the areas of education and spiritual growth have led him to conduct "Schools of Prayer" with congregation members and to publish "I Believe," a manual for the religious instruction of children and adults.

Pastor Kurz was married to Eunice H. Tong on December 27, 1940. She has been his partner in marriage and ministry, assisting her husband with personal and telephone visits to people in need of care and support. The Kurz have two children, Kathryn and James, both living in Seattle, Wash., with families of their own.

At the time of the 40th anniversary, St. James Lutheran Church numbers 766 communicant members. Sacred acts performed by the pastors during the congregation's 40-year history include 748 baptisms, 1,175 confirmations, 407 weddings and 307 burials. Two sons of the congregation, Robert L. Langbauer and James C. Couser, have entered the ministry. Currently the congregation is engaged in carrying on the mission of the church as part of a group of Detroit area English Synod churches which support Pastor Marcus Felde as Missionary for the Gutnius Lutheran Church in Papua, New Guinea.

The current professional staff of St. James includes, in addition to Pastor Kurz, Associate Pastor George M. Schelter, Deaconess Brenda Kasten and Director of Music Herman A. Clein.

Enjoy Vienna at May 3rd Ball

The gaiety and graciousness of Vienna in the 1890's will come alive on Saturday, May 3, at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road. That's the date of the Center's 21st semi-annual Viennese evening when 150 couples can dance to the sparkling waltzes, polkas and two-steps of the era of Johann Strauss and join in the lilting songs of the city of wine, women and song.

Music for the ball is provided by a 15-piece Johann Strauss Salon orchestra similar to the group that plays regularly at the Kur Salon in Vienna today.

The interlude of Viennese songs during intermission is led by Grosse Pointers Alex and Maribel Sucek. Calling on Alex's Viennese background, the Suceks render these traditional ballads of Vienna in authentic arrangements for voice, guitar and accordion, arrangements that are published and sold only in Vienna.

Like the Suceks, many regulars at the ball from all over the Detroit area have personal links to the era in Vienna that the ball recalls. Patrons who have attended before already know that they make an important contribution to the atmosphere. To enhance it, formal dress and long gowns are encouraged, though not required.

The orchestra will begin to play for dancing in the Crystal Ballroom at 9 p.m. Sparkling refreshments will be available. Tickets are now on sale at the Center at $8.50. For tickets, table reservations and further information, please call the Center at 881-7511.

Farms, Shores Settle Employe Contracts

The city councils of the Farms and Shores formally approved contract agreements with their public safety officers at their respective meetings on April 21.

The Shores officers received a two percent raise effective 1979 and will get a two and a half percent increase for 1980-81. These raises are in addition to cost of living roll-ins added four times each year, according to Shores counsel William W. Killebrew.

Killebrew says wages for the public safety officers are adjusted quarterly according to the cost of living index. He says the council found the formula it was using did not truly reflect the actual cost of living due to spiraling inflation — hence the raises.

Another benefit the officers received was a provision for those with less than 15 years of service to get an additional furlough day and those with more than 15 years to receive two.

Armand D. Bove, attorney for the Shores Police Officers Association, was pleased with the results of the negotiations.

"We started out a little higher, but got what we wanted, which was basically the cost of living provision.

This was our main concern and we did in fact maintain it."

Bove stated that the Village was very reasonable in the negotiation process, saying, "They understood our position and we understood theirs."

The Shores is still involved in negotiations with the command officers, whose main concern is with retirement pay based on cost of living fluctuations. Killebrew says the city is looking for some type of formula which it can reasonably meet.

In the Farms, public safety officers received wage increases of 7 percent effective 1979, 9 percent for 1980 and 8 percent for 1981.

Lieutenant Charles L. Backman, who took part in the negotiations, says the Farms officers are basically satisfied with what they got. Non-union personnel also got a wage increase of 9 percent effective July 1, 1980. In addition, a total of 1 percent of all administrative salaries will be set aside for bonuses as individual performances merit.

Still in the negotiating stage is health insurance premiums for command officers who retire before the mandatory retirement age of 55.

Grosse Pointe Doctor Honored at Wayne State

Grosse Pointe Farms physician Nelson M. Taylor will receive the Distinguished Alumni Service Award from Wayne State University's School of Medicine during the school's 1980 Medical Alumni Reunion Day May 14.

A 1930 WSU Medical School graduate, Dr. Taylor will be recognized for his years of service in medical education, hospital work and private practice. A clinical professor of internal medicine at Wayne State, he is consulting chief and chief, respectively, of Bon Secours and St. John Hospital's Endocrinology Services.

Dr. Taylor, who maintains a private practice in Grosse Pointe, is also a specialist in thyroid function and directed the Thyroid Services at Detroit General Hospital from 1947 to 1971.

In addition, his professional activities include visits to countries such as Afghanistan, Indonesia and Guatemala to volunteer his teaching and medical expertise where the need was greatest.

A member of the Wayne County and Michigan State Medical Societies and the American Thyroid Association, Dr. Taylor and his wife live in the Farms.

The WSU Distinguished Alumni Service Awards are presented each year to graduates of the school who bring honor to themselves and their alma mater through their accomplishments in medicine and service to their communities.

Also receiving this year's award at the reunion held at Southfield's Michigan Inn will be Robert Friedlander, M.D., a 1956 graduate of Wayne State.

Church Begins Fund Drive

Mark Robinson and Father Donald Walker of St. Philip Neri Parish, Detroit, are coordinating the Archdiocesan Development Fund (ADF) for local Roman Catholic Parishes, which are located in the Detroit-Grosse Pointe Vicariate of the Archdiocese of Detroit.

The ADF provides for works of religion, education and charity in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, Leapeer and St. Clair Counties. The 1980 ADF is now underway and has a minimum goal of $2.5 million.

The minimum combined goals for parishes in the Detroit-Grosse Pointe Vicariate total $241,704.

NHS Registers Young Voters

The staff of Grosse Pointe North High School is continuing to help the new voters in the school. Mrs. Barbara Martin, office receptionist, registered students for the May 20 primary as part of the school's efforts to assist the young people in their role as aware citizens.

Sixteen students from local municipalities joined the 50 students previously registered through the school. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Florence Miller, assistant principal, have been duly sworn, by all of the communities involved, to serve as registrars for elections.

Park Councilman May 'Bow Out'

 around the country to 22 states and keeps him on the road most of the time.

Although he enjoys his job, Verdonck said sometimes he doesn't come home for three weeks at a time.

"If I feel I am going to miss two more meetings, I'll just pack it up and graciously bow out," Verdonck said.

Last month Councilman Douglas Graham said he would not excuse Verdonck's absences until he knows why the councilman has missed two-thirds of the regular meetings since the November election. According to the Park charter, if a councilman misses four consecutive meetings, he risks removal from office. All absences must be excused by the council.

Graham commended Verdonck's 14-year record on the council, but said the councilman owes it to the community "to level if you're going to make it to future meetings."

"We should be able to know if your job is going to keep you from the council meetings," Graham said. Verdonck later said that Caravan has approached him with a franchise offer, and he will know more about his future on the council after meeting with company officials in two weeks.

"I don't feel that I am the bad guy in this, but I do feel bad about leaving the council. It wasn't my intent when I ran for office," Verdonck said.

The councilman said he won't run for office again.

High School Drama Fest

 on. They were very gracious and helpful."

Carolyn Kaump, coordinator of the festival, was appointed to find the judges, set up the rules and regulations, find rehearsal space and send letters of invitation to the schools.

She said chances are good for a repeat performances next year and added the festival may even be expanded, with some neighboring east side schools being invited as well.

The rules of the festival were simple. Performances had to be limited to a maximum of one hour and a minimum of 40 minutes. 10 minutes was allowed for setting up and tearing down of sets.

Everyone seemed pleased with the way things went Saturday, and Gifford expressed pleasure that a cultural exchange between the schools had taken place. He said the festival was a chance for students to see what others in their peer group were doing at the other schools.

Hunt said about 200 people showed up for the performances, which ran from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. He said the quality of the plays was high and that the students involved were very enthusiastic.

"The kids were on the edge of their chairs," he said. "I'm sure we'll do it again next year."

Park Taxes

 Ortisi did indicate that city department heads have been cautioned about possible cutbacks.

The city expects to receive $736,900 from state shared revenues, but Crawford said that amount is questionable until the 1980 census figures for the Park are counted.

The council is expected to schedule a public hearing on the budget when it meets to review the document 7 p.m. tonight at Park municipal offices, 15115 Jefferson avenue.

Chorale Earns High Scores

By Tim O'Neill
 This year proved busy and rewarding for the South High Chorale when it finished well in the state competition last month at Albion College.

Competing with 15 other schools, the Chorale received the highest ranking of all the schools, but lost out to the Marquette Redmen.

Singing groups can have up to 16 members, and are ranked from 0-100 by five judges. The highest and lowest scores are thrown out, and the last three scores are averaged.

The Chorale's highest grade was a 98, and it received a low grade of 78.

Though the Chorale has 20 members, only 16 could compete in the finals. However all members attended. They are Sue Brandt, Marcia Couger, Lesa Edlund, Jeff Eisenbrey, Charlie Fox, Terry Gibney, Jim Gibson, Dennis Guevara, John Hoeting, Mike Jehley, Monica Mann, Kathy Prost, Tim Reinman, Mary Shober, Jeff Smudsky, Jim Stevenson, Brian Sullivan, Laura Stanczyk and Diana Weinle. Their accompanist is Tracy McCabe.

Ethnic Moms To Get Awards

We all have a mamusia, mutti or mama mia we know, love and want to tell the world about. On May 17 The International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit will sponsor the first annual Ethnic Mother of the Year Award to honor metropolitan area ethnic mothers who are considered outstanding by the ethnic communities nominating them.

An honoree will be selected from each of the ethnic groups represented in the nomination process and will be honored at a special ceremony at 11 a.m. in front of The International Institute, 111 E. Kirby, in Detroit's Cultural Center.

It will be part of the day long open house of the Cultural Center, May Art Odyssey.

Mrs. Valerie Komives of Bloomfield Hills, longtime teacher and administrator of the English as a Second Language program for Detroit Public Schools, will be chairperson of the event.

"The International Institute is taking this opportunity to honor ethnic mothers who take pride in their own ethnic heritage and instill that sense of pride in the future generation," said International Institute Executive Director, Mary Ball.

Any mother in the Detroit Metropolitan area is eligible to become a nominee, and anyone is eligible to nominate a candidate. In one parent families in which the mother is absent, the father may be nominated. Nominees may include stepmothers, godmothers and surrogate mothers.

"The award is designed to focus on the importance of a desire for service, a pride in one's background and a respect for other customs and languages all of which add to the richness of our common American Heritage," said Mrs. Komives.

A 200 to 500 word essay signed by the nominator, (an individual or organization) will serve to outline the activities in which the nominee instills ethnic pride, serves her community and encourages interest in an understanding of other ethnic groups.

Letters of endorsement will be accepted, and information should be current and specific. Nomination essays should be in the hands of the EMY Chairperson by May 7. To receive a copy of the competition rules and nominating form call 871-8600.

Accidents

Accidents are the largest single cause of death between the ages of one and 15, claiming more victims than the six leading fatal diseases combined. That is the somber fact related by Dr. Jay M. Arena, noted Duke University Medical Center pediatrician. "This year," Dr. Arena warns, "4,000 children under four years of age will be killed by accidents in their homes and one child in every three will be injured seriously enough to require medical attention."

Wine Lines

by John Lundberg

Rosés and white wines are excellent choices for picnics or outdoor dinners. California vintners in recent years, have developed an extensive line of rosés. There are now several excellent, dry or fruity selections from which to choose. There is an endless selection of white wines for summer or any time. Sometimes, chilling of whites can be a problem on outdoor occasions, but most newer lightweight ice chests are sufficient for keeping the wine at a pleasant cold temperature. If more convenient, consider decanting into a thermos.

Whether for picnics, barbecues, regular meals or special dinners or banquets, PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair, Detroit, offers the selections of distinctive and tasteful wines, beers and liquors along with related delicacies that will enhance every moment. The beverage of your choice can be a crowning touch to the success of any meal. Make a wise choice. Make your choice PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE. Open 10-10 Mon.-Thurs., 10-11 Fri. & Sat., noon-6 Sun. Local Teens Find Help in Job Search

By Tim O'Neill
Students at Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods schools may find getting a job this summer a little easier, thanks to a federal grant through the Office of Manpower.

Wayne County was supplied with the money to start a job placement program, and now this year the Grosse Pointes were able to start a similar program at Grosse Pointe North, South, and Harper Woods High.

Leading the program is Jane Warner, job planning advisor, assisted by secretary Roberta Watt. Together they travel through the three schools five days a week. They live at Harper Woods on Mondays; at North on Tuesdays and Wednesdays; at South Thursdays and Fridays. They work four hours a day at each school.

The program is set up to help refer students to jobs they are interested in, and to help them get an interview and started.

The students first have to fill out a form that asks what kind of job they have held in the past and what type of job they are interested in for the future. The forms also ask what classes the students have taken in school, so that they can see what special training the students have.

The next step is a questionnaire that is sent to a former teacher or employer of the student, so that the job placement office can see how the student is rated in working habits and reliability. This information is kept confidential.

The student comes to the job placement office at the school to fill in a practice job application, and to learn how a real job interview is conducted.

Finally, the student is referred in a job, and once the student has a referral, it is up to the student to get the job. Later on, the job placement office checks to see how the student is doing at the job.

The program has worked out very well since its start on March 24 of this year, according to Ms. Warner.

"I am very happy with the way the students have handled themselves with the job keeping interview appointments, and showing a lot of responsibility," she said.

Ms. Warner also noted "the job market is very tough this summer, and many businesses will hire part time help instead of full time."

This job reference program is not the same as Co-Op because it merely helps students find jobs. Once they have them, it is up to the individual to keep it. The program does not deal in job training, except for the help with the interview.

"I believe strongly in Co-Op, but this is a program that is needed. This program can be very rewarding," Ms. Warner said.

The students have come to the referral office simply because they heard about it by word of mouth, and so have the employers. Ms. Warner has been able to meet the needs of both, but the program will not really start advertising for students until there are jobs to fill.

The perfect function of the job placement office would be to have a job for every student and a student for every job, Ms. Warner said.

"The more students we can place in a job, the better for both the student and the program. The community, the schools, and the students have all come through very well."

Summer Jobs Can Be Costly

The State Labor Department warns youths looking for summer jobs to be wary of employers that abuse summertime employment.

The Labor Department's Wage Hour Division, which is responsible for monitoring violations of the wage hour law, says the majority of state employers follow regulations, but those few that don't create problems.

The Division suggests that youths looking for summer jobs should know the "costs" of their summer job, or they can end the summer with a deficit.

Youths should be particularly careful of jobs that send them away from home, according to the Division, because these are the kinds of jobs where most often you can end up with a deficit at the end of the summer.

The ad reading, "Walter, waitress wanted, spend summer in beautiful surroundings, play free tennis, and have access to pool," sometimes means that you'll also be doing the gardening, be required to play tennis with guests and wait on pool-side customers.

The jobs look glamorous now, but a lot of youths are disappointed each summer when in the middle of that great summer job they have to write home for money.

Youths should watch out for a job that requires what is commonly called a pre-employment agreement. By signing such an agreement they may be signing away some of their rights.

An employer cannot ask youth to place a work bond or surety—any kind of cash deposit that can be forfeited for failing to work the agreed time.

The Wage Hour Division considers this buying a job and it occurs mostly in resort areas where employers try to guarantee that an employee will stay through the end of the season, usually the Labor Day weekend. The practice is illegal.

Youths also should avoid employers wanting them to be their "own company" or independent contractor by declaring that they are conducting business under an assumed name. This is a common guise to avoid paying overtime, it is illegal.

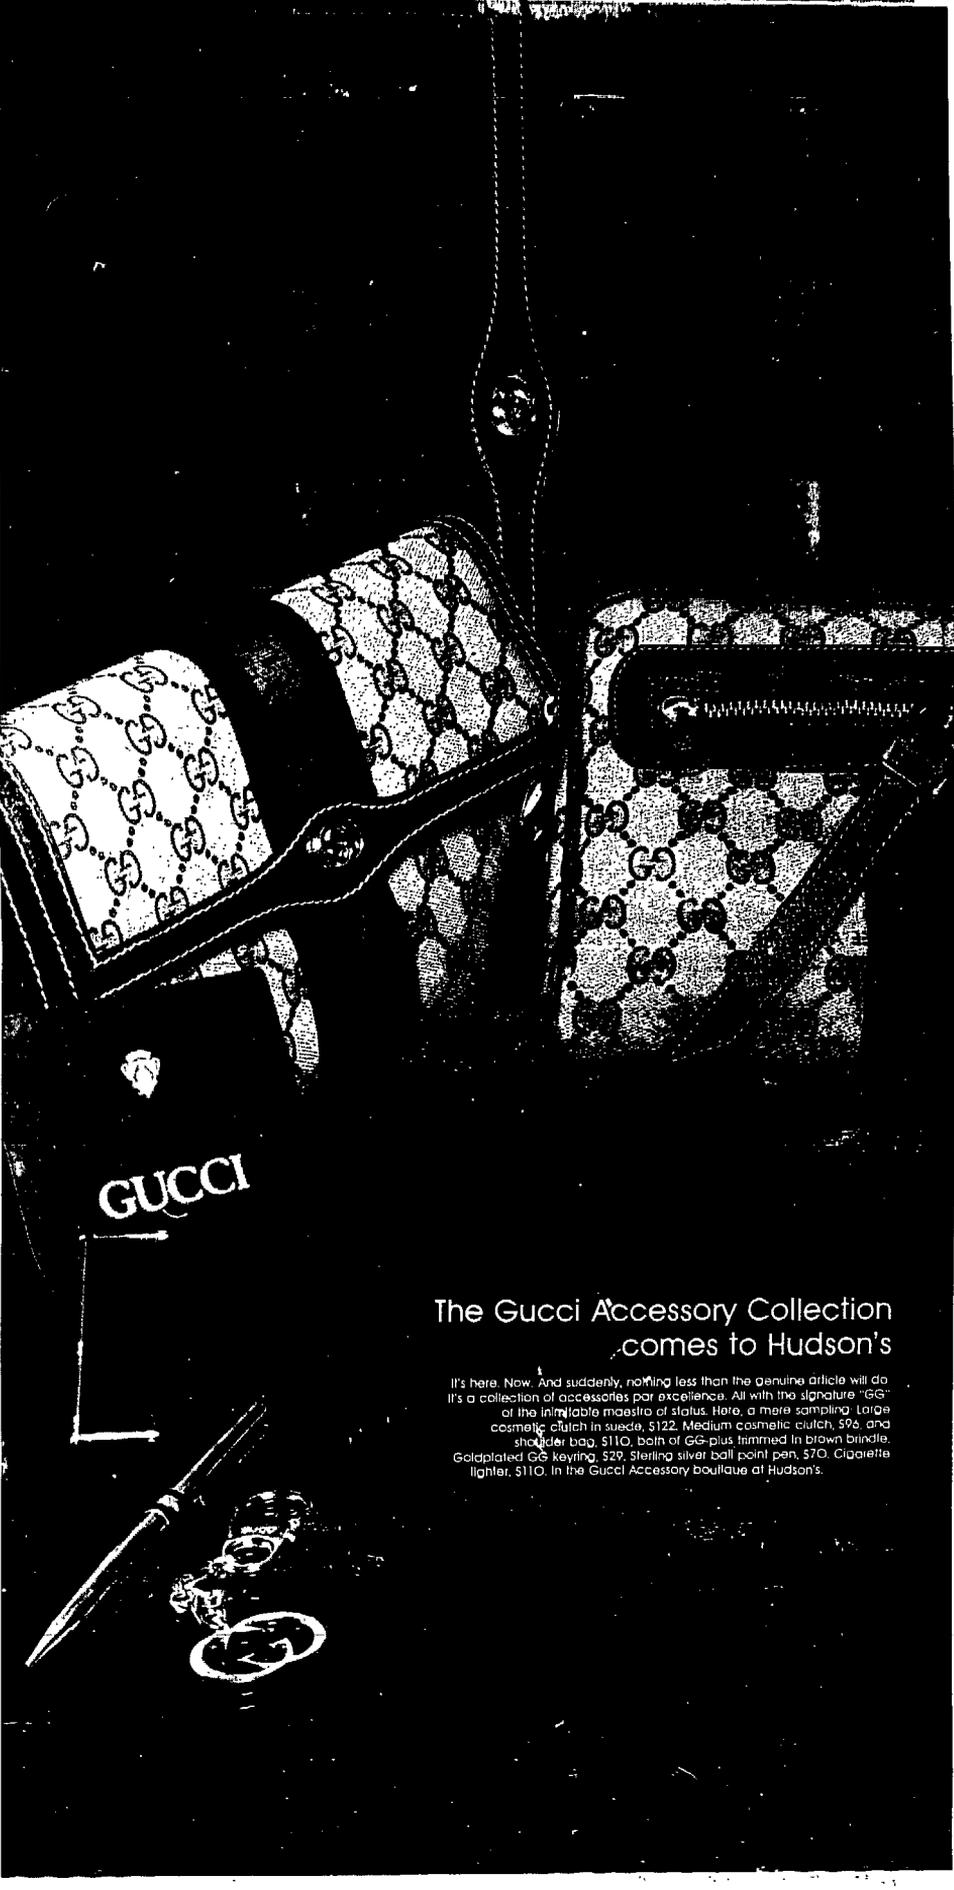

Employers in Michigan are required to pay minimum wage of $3.10 an hour and overtime at the rate of one-and-one-half for hours in excess of 40.

Minimum wage is required for anyone 18 and older and also for youths 16 and 17 that are working in establishments that sell alcoholic beverages.

Another problem area is deductions from employees checks. They should be watched carefully. State law limits the deductions that can be made from an employee's check to 25 percent of the state's minimum wage.

That includes meals, lodging and tips. Some employers have been known to quote federal law which takes the limit to 50 percent. In this instance state law supersedes the federal law.

The Wage Hour Division has run across employers firing waiters and waitresses for having a button missing. That is illegal.

Diesel Exhaust Can Do Harm
 Soaring prices and gas shortages are causing car manufacturers to consider diesel engines as a way to improve fuel economy. Now there's growing concern about the hazards of diesel exhaust according to the American Lung Association.
 All combustion processes, including gas combustion in conventional engines, produce some soot particles. But the diesel engine produces especially large quantities. The tiny particles of soot — called particulate — contain several compounds known to cause cancer. The particles can penetrate deep into the lungs and increase susceptibility to bronchitis, pneumonia and emphysema.
 Unlike gasoline, diesel fuel is sprayed directly into the combustion chamber in liquid state. Droplets of diesel fuel form in the chamber and they begin to burn from the outside in. Fuel at the center of each droplet is not completely burned. This results in soot formation.
 According to experts, even a properly turned and operated diesel engine produces about 30 to 100 times as much soot per mile as a comparable gasoline engine. More than 90 percent of these particles are small enough to travel into the small airways of the lungs.
 All the compounds in diesel soot have not even been identified yet, but some tests have shown the soot can cause mutations in bacteria, which is a measure of cancer-causing properties.
 Controlling diesel exhaust is extremely complicated, but, says the American Lung Association, your lungs need protection against more soot in the air.
 To join the fight against air pollution and lung disease, contact the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan — the Christmas Seal people. It's a matter of life and death.

U.S. Should Ease Up On Energy Controls

Former Chrysler Corporation vice-president Sydney L. Terry told an audience at the Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe last month that energy control by government regulation has failed and warned that the situation is getting worse.

Terry, a Farms resident, said, "Government got into the business of regulating energy 26 years ago and has the situation so messed up today that no one seems to know how to get out of it and few can agree on what to do next."

In keeping with the title of his talk, "Our Energy Fiasco-Made by Americans for Americans," Terry added that if government interference continues, America will face an energy shortage, not because of enough energy, but "because we won't have enough refining facilities built to convert the energy available into a form in which we can use it." The speaker reiterated that Washington must get out of the business of fixing energy prices, allocating supplies, and holding up the building of energy-producing facilities, with endless regulations.

Terry, as vice-president-public responsibility and consumer affairs, was Chrysler's primary executive spokesman on energy and the environment, safety and consumer affairs. He serves as board member and treasurer of the Engineering Society of Detroit, and trustee board member of Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Program to Help Teens With Chronic Illness

Having a chronic illness can be difficult, but especially when it comes during the teen years. The years between 13 and 20 are usually the healthiest of our lives.

A teen with a chronic illness very often will unconsciously deny its existence. They very often refuse medication and do not wholly cooperate with their treatment. At a time when they are becoming independent and responsible for themselves, a chronic illness can seem like a dirty trick, which if ignored may go away.

For this reason the Harper Woods/Grosse Pointe chapter of the Michigan Lupus Foundation will sponsor a series of three discussion groups for teens with any chronic illness. The sessions will be held at the state Lupus Foundation office at 22201 Mack in St. Clair Shores on May 12, 19 and 28. Conducting the series will be Sean Hogan, formerly with Center Point Crisis Center.

The same chapter of the Michigan Lupus Foundation will also sponsor an educational program on May 6 at the Harper Woods Community Center.

Following a slide presentation entitled "Lupus and You" at 7 p.m. rheumatologist Dr. Allen Morton will speak on the different types of treatment for Lupus. A question and answer period will end the program.

There is no charge for either of the programs and anyone interested in attending may call 775-8310 or 884-8828 for further information.

School Census Begins May 1

Census takers from the Grosse Pointe School System will begin their house-to-house canvassing of the entire school district area on Thursday, May 1.

The school census tallies the number of school age children and is completely separate from the federal government census.

Census takers, known as enumerators, will be gathering information in May and early June and will carry identification cards signed by Benjamin Zenn, director of the school system's support system. The school census information is used as an aid in planning activities to better serve community residents.

Navy, Mr. Sims has been employed by several area architectural firms. He opened his private practice in Ann Arbor in 1965, and moved the firm to Detroit in 1968. In 1976, he assumed his current position.

A native Detroit, Mr. Sims received his Bachelor's degree in Architecture from the University of Michigan, and later a Master's degree in Architecture with emphasis in design.

St. Clare Sings For the Year Of the Family

Students at St. Clare de Montefalco School — over 600 strong — raised their voices in celebration of "The Family of Man" at their annual spring concert, held April 30 and May 1.

Highlighting the school's celebration of "The Year of the Family," the concert featured music from nine nations chosen because they are part of the ethnic heritage of the St. Clare family: the U.S., Spain, Mexico, Poland, Ireland, Italy, France and Belgium.

Students in grades one through eight sang and danced to all kinds of music from national anthems and folk melodies to compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Bizet, Verdi and Franck.

Marilyn Schorer, St. Clare vocal instructor, directed the program. Physical education instructor, Patricia Quayhachx, directed the dance sequences and Augustine Tedesco and her art education students created the international sets.

Parents were an important part of the St. Clare spring concert. Mrs. Michael Sullivan coordinated the parent committee. Mrs. Michael Duncan and Mrs. Gary Slusser were in charge of programs and Mrs. Harry Teyssier supervised costuming.

Grade mothers were Mrs. Charles Ebner, Mrs. John Cicala, Mrs. Patrick McKeever, Mrs. Louis Dobbs, Mrs. Jack Cole, Mrs. Robert LaMaigre, Mrs. Gregory Kronk, Mrs. Raymond DeRyck and Mrs. Robert Murphy.

Time invested making friends is the best form of security.

Scouts Hold Genius Night, Plan Derby

At their most recent monthly meeting, the Cub Scouts of Pack 39 held "Genius Night," an opportunity for the Scouts to show their creative skills.

At an earlier meeting each cub was given a bag of miscellaneous articles such as paper clips, drinking straws, plastic coffee cups, plastic stirrers, bottle caps and tin cans. The cubs were told to make anything they desire, using most if not all of the items in the bag. The competition resulted in an interesting display of unique "works of art" including a variety of robots, space stations, hot rods, garbage trucks, etc.

Winners were: Andy Young (overall winner) of Webelos who created "Space Lab," Craig Lison of Den One who made "Farm Scene or Tractor," Bill Rakwell of Den Two who made "Marian on the Moon," Zachary Roberts of Den Three who created "Alien Space Probe" and Kevin Moore of Den Four whose work was titled "The Sreak."

Other awards at the meeting included one to Cub Scout Richard Martin who received his Bear Badge.

George Dakmak, pack leader, proudly announced the very successful results of the pre-Easter candy sales. Over $2,800 in candy was sold by the cubs during the sale, which was coordinated by Loretta Hall. Special awards were presented by Mr. Dakmak to the following top cub salesmen: Robert Grant, John Lamb, Jim Guillaumin, Joey Posch, Craig Lison, Robert Hall, Billy Rockwell, John Dakmak, Peter Fazzia, Chris Johnstone, Michael Sonoterra, Marco Morreale and Scott Ficarra.

The money earned as a result of the sale will be used to finance various pack activities.

The meeting ended with the cubs taking practice runs on the Pinewood Derby track. The formal competition for the Derby will take place at the next pack meeting on May 5.

ther the advancement of equality and justice under the law, Hoppe said.

Hoppe said "more than 300 people visited the 'Ask the Lawyer' program last year at the Renaissance Center.

This year's "Ask the Lawyer" will be held on the street level of the 200 Tower, across from the Findahl Art galleries. The 200 Tower is accessible from East Jefferson avenue.

Honored for Cancer Program

Jack Caldwell, president and general manager of WTVS-TV, Channel 56 in Detroit, was presented with a plaque from the Michigan Cancer Foundation recently in recognition of the station's week of special programming on cancer.

E. Dawson Fisher, vice-president for community relations at the Michigan Cancer Foundation, praised the "outstanding contribution of Mr. Caldwell and Channel 56 in developing public awareness of the many facets of the cancer problem."

The Metropolitan Detroit Cancer Control Program, a federally co-sponsored effort of local cancer control services, and Channel 56 worked together on special programming the week surrounding the broadcast of "Joan Robinson: One Woman's Story."

Shown nationally on PBS stations in January, "Joan Robinson" chronicled the last 22 months in the life of a woman who died from ovarian cancer in Boston in 1975. The documentary raised a number of issues, including advances in cancer treatment, home care for the terminally ill, psycho-social effects of cancer on the patient and the family, pain management and local support services.

To give viewers more information on these topics, Channel 56 devoted 7½ broadcast hours to cancer-related topics.

Guests on the local programs included Grosse Pointe Park resident Dr. Michael J. Brennan, president of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, and Christine Herbes, co-producer of the film.

In addition, doctors, nurses and social workers who work with cancer patients were recruited to answer the more than 7,000 calls that came in to special phone lines at the station during the programs.

One of every five children in the U.S. is overweight.

South Sets Blood Drive

By Lara Measelle

Holding the high school record for the Southeastern Michigan blood donor turnout, the Grosse Pointe South National Honor Society will sponsor its second blood drive of the year May 9.

The expected number of donors is in the area of 200 students, all ranging from 17 to 18 years old. Seventeen-year-old students are required to have parent signatures on their donor cards.

The drive will begin at 8 a.m. and conclude at 2 p.m. The Red Cross has supplied a limited number of volunteers; therefore, students from South will be working shifts. The donation of blood takes from 30 to 45 minutes. Only students and teachers from South will be allowed to give.

The blood drive program at South has increased over the past years. The Red Cross's major donors had been auto factory workers and with the present situation of the factory layoffs, the Red Cross depends greatly upon high schools such as South.

Mrs. Vorita McClure, sponsor of the NHS and in charge of the blood drive, commented that since the program has become more popular at South, and an abundance of students are donating during various hours of the day, the attendance will be tracked a new way, on computer terminals. This will hopefully save time and be more efficient when cases such as the drive come up.

Center Slates Fund Raisers

Grosse Pointe War Memorial's 1980 Family Participation Campaign to help meet the demands of the budget for the 1980 fiscal year is $11,000 short of the necessary goal of $160,000 hopefully to be received by Memorial Day, May 26. Some 400 givers of record still have to be heard from and the Center hopes that other citizens and new residents will respond to the appeal also.

A volunteer telephone committee of the Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe is reminding and getting commitments from givers of record.

The Center hopes that the free concert by the Grunyns who performed for a capacity audience Tuesday night will inspire further gifts.

Should the goal not be reached by Memorial Day, four fund-raising events have been scheduled under the heading "Fun For Funds". These include the movie showing of Egypt by Dr. and Mrs. Volhrad VonBerg on Monday, June 9 at 8:30 p.m., a Dixieland outdoor jazz concert with Chet Bogan Monday, July 16 at 8:30 p.m., a summer supper and barbershop concert postponed from June 27, to Friday evening, July 18, and a benefit bridge and fashion show Wednesday, August 6 at 11:00 a.m.

$160,000 is just ¼ of the estimated expenses of the Center for the ensuing year. The rest it is hoped will come from income from a small invested endowment and fees for classes, programs and services which fees only cover the cost of the activity, not the maintenance of the donated buildings and grounds.

Shutterbugs Meet May 6

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club welcomes visitors to its next meeting Tuesday, May 6, at 7:45 p.m. at Brownell School, 260 Chalfonte avenue. The group will see a nature print and slide competition.

Star Honors 26 Students

By Cathy Pieronek
Twenty-six students from Our Lady Star of the Sea High School were inducted into the National Honor Society on April 25.

The inductees, who are sophomores, juniors or seniors, are students who excel in the areas of character, scholarship, leadership and service.

The ceremony included showing a baby picture of the inductee to the audience while a senior member of the NHS made a short speech detailing the person's involvement at Star. The inductee's name was announced, and she went up to the stage to receive from NHS officers her official NHS pin and membership card, and a long-stemmed yellow rose — the official flower of the NHS. She then took her place with the current NHS members on stage.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the inductees and their parents were honored at a reception sponsored by the NHS.

The afternoon celebration was coordinated by NHS officers—President Diane Alessi, Vice-President Annemarie Monahan, Secretary Donna Alessi, and Treasurer Cathy Pieronek—and their moderator, Sr. Adele Karwacki, O.P.

Gas Pumps to Show Totals

Effective June 20, gasoline pumps in Michigan will be required to register total cost of any purchase, according to Dean Pridgeon, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Pridgeon said station operators have a choice of modifying their current pumps to register $1 or more per gallon, or converting to the metric "liter" system.

A 180-day emergency regulation allowing sale of gasoline by the half-gallon price was initiated in June, 1979, then extended in December for an additional 180 days to allow additional time for stations to convert to one of the new systems.

"Contrary to rumors circulating throughout the petroleum industry, there can be no additional extension. By law, an emergency regulation can be extended only once," Pridgeon said.

Customers purchasing gasoline from pumps that have been converted to liters can compare prices by multiplying the liter price by 3.785 to determine cost per gallon.

A table showing conversion of liters to gallons, can be obtained from MDA's Food Inspection division, Box 30017, Lansing 48909.

A Message to NEW VOTERS

Here Kitty, Kitty

Students at Defer School in the Park saw a special show last Friday when they were visited by Tom-Tom, the cougar that stars in Ford Motor Company's "Cat Leaps Ahead" commercials.

The cat showed his celebrity form by posing with second grader Catherine Garrett, Owner and trainer Bob Steele of West Palm Beach, Florida said he and the cougar are contracted by Ford to do dealer promotions but often make the rounds of local schools.

The 130-pound cougar isn't Ford's only feline salescat. Steele also brought along a 13-month-old lynx which will be used to promote Ford's new car of the same name.

18-Year-Olds Can Register To Vote at South High School

By Patty Gibney

South Students who are 18 years old can register to vote at their convenience in the school, thanks to the "Jackie Vaughn Bill."

The bill, signed by Governor Milliken last year, states, "The clerk of each township, city, and village located within a school district shall appoint, with the concurrence of a top administrator of each school, as an assistant, at least one high school staff person or social studies instructor in each school that chooses to participate in voter registration."

South High recently deputized Esther Chase and Sandy Morehead, both secretaries in South's main office, as voter registrars.

In the past, people have been able to register only with the city or township clerk, in the city or township in which they live. People may still register at those locations.

Students may register any time after their 18th birthday; however, only those registering before April 20, will be able to vote in the May primaries.

Resnick Honored for 20 Years of Leadership

Conductor Felix Resnick was honored Sunday, April 27, by the Grosse Pointe Symphony Society, the Grosse Pointe Women's Association and official representatives of the various Grosse Pointe communities for his 20-year leadership of the area's fine classical orchestra.

Arrangements for the celebration, a complete surprise to Mr. Resnick, were accomplished by a planning committee which included Symphony Society directors Gerald L. Stoetzer, president, Mrs. Robert L. Kaiser, Paul J. Kelley and Mrs. John E. Young, Jr., plus Mrs. Michel A. Skaff, Women's Association president, and Pam Ford, orchestra representative.

After intermission at the Pointe Symphony's Sunday afternoon concert, with cellist Paul Olefsky as featured soloist, Mr. Stoetzer presented Mr. Resnick with a commemorative gift clock suitably inscribed "in appreciation for twenty years service as conductor." Congratulatory proclamations then were read by Grosse Pointe Park Mayor Matthew Patterson, Woods Mayor George S. Freeman, Shores Village President Gerald C. Schroeder and Councilman Jack M. Cudlip, representing Grosse Pointe Farms.

To round out the day's festivities, the boards of directors of the Symphony Society and the Women's Association hosted a buffet dinner for orchestra members with Mr. Resnick as guest of honor, in the spacious Windmill Pointe residence of Dr. and Mrs. Kim K. Lie.

Also invited to the gala were community officials, Ralph Guthrie, executive director of the Detroit Symphony, Mr. Olefsky, the past-presidents of both the Symphony Society and the Women's Association and founding members of the orchestra.

The gourmet array of homemade salads, casseroles and pastries in the Lie dining room was largely prepared with a Masters degree in music. He later studied conducting at New York's Juilliard School of Music. He is a member of the Arts Committee for New Detroit, Inc., and conductor of the West Bloomfield Symphony as well as Grosse Pointe's, and was honored by his alma mater in 1976 with the first annual Wayne State University Arts Achievement Award.

Mrs. Resnick, an active member of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association and an officer of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony, and the couple's son, Joseph, who played percussion during the Sunday concert, were also proud participants in the 20th anniversary festivities.

pared in the kitchens of board members of the sponsoring organizations. Mrs. Young coordinated the party, with the assistance of Mrs. Kaiser and Mrs. Arnold W. Lungershausen.

"After enjoying the support and friendship of the people of Grosse Pointe these many years," said Mr. Resnick, "it was a special pleasure on the occasion of my 20th anniversary with the orchestra to participate in the ceremonies at the concert and to meet later at the home of the Lies and share our common affection for music together."

Mr. Resnick, who has been a violinist with the Detroit Symphony since 1943, is a Wayne State University graduate with a Masters degree in music. He later studied conducting at New York's Juilliard School of Music. He is a member of the Arts Committee for New Detroit, Inc., and conductor of the West Bloomfield Symphony as well as Grosse Pointe's, and was honored by his alma mater in 1976 with the first annual Wayne State University Arts Achievement Award.

Mrs. Resnick, an active member of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association and an officer of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony, and the couple's son, Joseph, who played percussion during the Sunday concert, were also proud participants in the 20th anniversary festivities.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats, Superintendent of Schools

In last week's column I summarized some of the different ways used by school systems to identify talented and gifted students. This column will briefly explain how such students are identified in The Grosse Pointe Public School System.

At the elementary level we offer a Program for talented and gifted (TAG). The TAG Program is an outgrowth of the Skills/Talent Program, which was initiated in 1974 to meet the needs of students with exceptional abilities. There are two aspects to the program. One is designed to meet the special needs of highly motivated students who are talented in an area of school learning. Another aspect is designed to serve the needs of intellectually gifted students.

Students who are above average achievers in their basic studies and who show a high degree of interest and motivation are defined as talented and accepted into the program.

The intellectually gifted are defined as those who have special abilities in abstract reasoning and other higher forms of thought such as extrapolation, generalization, analysis, synthesis, evaluation, and divergent thinking.

Several indicators are used to identify gifted students.

High achievement in daily work, high I.Q. score, and high motivation are among those traits used by the TAG teacher to place students in the program. In addition, a locally prepared test on logical thinking skills is given to students believed to be gifted.

Successfully meeting any one criterion is an indication of giftedness. The more criteria students meet, the greater the likelihood that they have exceptional ability and will succeed in activities designed for the gifted.

At the middle and high school levels several opportunities are available for talented and gifted students. These take the form of advanced courses, participation in special activities, and independent study programs. Criteria for participation in these opportunities is dependent upon the nature of the class, activity, or program.

As we learn more about the talented and gifted and build upon our experiences, our definition will change as will our programs and methods of dealing with these students. We are striving to maximize opportunities for gifted students and to assist them in reaching their full potential.

Editor's Note: This column is one of a series about talented and gifted students.

May Day Is The Day of Grace

Selecting flowers for today's luncheon marking the 40th anniversary of the Grace Hospital Auxiliary are, (left to right), MRS. BERNARD YOUNG, the auxiliary's current president, MRS. L. MURRAY THOMAS, who is chairing the celebration, and MRS. KIM K. LIE, who is opening her Windmill Pointe drive home for the party. Mrs. Thomas is immediate past-president of the more-than-300-member group, which includes 33 men who were admitted to membership last year when the auxiliary dropped the word "women's" from its name. Entertainment at today's luncheon will feature the Tower Belles, nine students from Grosse Pointe South High School.

The auxiliary provides many services for the hospital. Members operate a gift shop and a gift cart that visits patients' rooms, and a staff lounge for friends and relatives of patients who are undergoing surgery. In addition, the auxiliary sponsors an annual fashion show, boutique and bake sale. Last year, the group donated a record amount—more than $46,000—to the hospital. Auxiliary-raised funds have gone in recent years to equip a cardiac care center and to furnish and redecorate the surgical lounges, the chapel and a playground. The group has purchased medical equipment for Grace, including a cardiac stress diagnostic unit and heart monitors, and donates money every year for nursing education.

Mid-May Garden Tour Is Planned

Eight Stops Are Offered This Year; Tickets May Be Obtained in Advance at Grosse Pointe War Memorial

Rain or shine on May 16 and 17, Friday and Saturday, from 1 to 5 o'clock both days, the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council's annual Tour of Grosse Pointe Gardens will go on . . . and rain or shine, the gardens are something to see.

As always, they promise a beautiful display of flowering trees and shrubs. There are small pools and fountains, "low maintenance" gardens and both formal and informal garden designs, featuring wildflowers, statuary, and much more.

Included on this year's tour are the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elkins in Westchester road and of Mr. and Mrs. Rene DeSeranno in Whittier road, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Gardens in Lakeshore road, the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Harland in Radnor circle and of Mr. and Mrs. Alvan Macauley, Jr., in Hendrie lane.

Also featured are the gardens of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Sultzman and of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Farley, both in Vendome road, (that means one-stop parking to tour two gardens), and that of Mrs. Charles H. Hodges, Jr., in Ridge road.

Tickets to tour all eight gardens are $3 each, and can be purchased at any of the eight gardens during the tour or in advance at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Further information may be obtained by calling 885-4511, Valley 2-0641, 331-1146 or 886-9327.

Approximately 140 garden club members are cooperating to make this year's tour a success. The majority will be acting as hostesses in the various gardens; Mrs. Donald Sweeney and Mrs. Elijah Poisson are in charge of coordinating this phase of the project.

Assisting Mrs. Diamond Phillips, general tour chairman, are Mrs. Jay Jodway and Mrs. Bert Lindzay.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. James Gram, garden procurement, Mrs. Richard Hendritz and Mrs. Jodway, brochures, Mrs. Frank Dettmer and Mrs. John Malcolm, tickets, Mrs. Henry Ledyard, treasurer, Mrs. A. J. VanTiem, refreshments, and Mrs. Alexander Blair, name tags.

Richard Etches, of the London Brass Rubbing Centre, is bringing this aristocratic assembly to Christ Church, where we'll all have the chance to try our hands at the 13th century art of brass rubbing.

Paper, waxes and instruction will be provided. (Continued on Page 18)

Reservations for tickets, at $12 per person, must be made before next Thursday, May 8, by calling Mrs. Joseph Shaheen, 882-0710.

Grosse Pointe's Mrs. William P. Chester is president of the Stapleton Friends.

Florence Neyer, of Detroit, is this year's benefit chairman.

Committee members include Mrs. Charles T. Fisher, Mrs. Harry J. Mack, Mary Marshall, Mrs. Fred Schreiber, Mrs. Robert Thibodeau and Rachel Ryan, all of The Pointe.

More are Mrs. Richard Mrowczvnski, of Lathrup Village, Bloomfield Hills residents Mrs. Joseph F. Flaherty, Mrs. Aloysius F. Power and Mrs. Thomas A.

Murphy and Mrs. Jerry T. Flanigan, of Birmingham.

Stapleton Center, located at Agnes and Parkview avenues on Detroit's East Side, provides gracious living for 62 retirees. It features a "campus concept" which permits community living while still maintaining individual independence.

There are 50 studio and 10 one-bedroom apartments at Stapleton. A beautifully landscaped courtyard, centered with a memorial fountain, gazebo and comfortable garden furniture, provides an ideal spot for residents to rest and reminisce.

Proceeds from the Friends' annual luncheon and fashion show benefit provide monthly birthday parties for the residents and Christmas and other holiday celebrations, plus many "extras" not included in the center's budget.

Amateur Night for Harbinger

A "Celebrity Pas de Deux" benefit for the Harbinger Dance Company begins with cocktails at 7:30 o'clock and buffet dinner at 8:30 Saturday, May 17, at the Rooster-tail.

Then there'll be entertainment as celebrity couples, including Shirley Eder and Judge Peter Spivak and Tom and Diane Schoenith, perform a pas de deux choreographed by Lisa Nowak, Harbinger's artistic director.

The couples will be "rehearsed" by a Harbinger member. In addition, Ms. Nowak will choreograph a pas de deux for the company, to be premiered at the party which is open to the public at $50 per person, ($36 tax deductible).

After that, everyone attending will be able to dance to music by the Limitless Space Disco.

The idea is to get to know Harbinger, Michigan's first professional dance company, an honor company in the National Association for Regional Ballet, before Harbinger's performances at the Music Hall Wednesday and Friday, May 21 and 23.

Further information may be obtained by calling 883-1996.

Harbinger, which has the support of the Michigan Council for the Arts, has performed for 10 years in Detroit and has toured throughout Michigan and the mid-west.

Its repertory includes a full production of Carmina Burana as well as dramatic semi-classical, jazz and abstract ballets.

An Idyll at Ford House For Detroit Review Club

Round tables covered with pale yellow cloths and centered with bowls of forsythia gave a spring-like appearance to the Gallery of the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House when more than 80 members and guests of the Detroit Review Club gathered there for DRC's traditional April annual meeting and New Members Luncheon.

Mrs. Harry Graham was chairman of the day which celebrated the end of the club's 88th year. Annual reports were read in the Dining Room, famous for its dark, 18th century paneling taken from the Treaty House Room at Clock House, Uppminster, England.

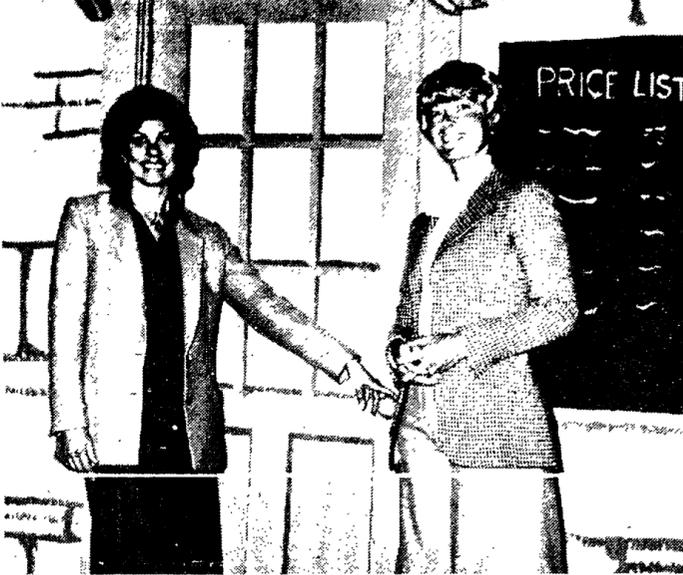

The early portion of the meeting which began at 10:30 in the morning, was conducted by Mrs. Robert Keften, of Wicks lane, DRC's retiring president, who introduced Mrs. James Mullaney, 1980-81 president, and the new slate of officers and directors, all of whom are Pointers or near Grosse Pointe residents.

They include Mrs. Harry Graham and Mrs. Donald Goodrow, first and second vice-presidents, respectively, Mrs. Francis J. Robinson and Mrs. Marvin Beaupre, recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, and Mrs. Frederic Beddow, treasurer. Directors are Mrs. Keften, Mrs. Bert Greiner and Mrs. James Stuart, Jr.

The group gathered, after the annual reports, in the Drawing Room, where French Impressionist paintings com-

After luncheon in the Gallery, Mrs. Alyne Litchfield, membership chairman, introduced 15 new members. They received pink carnations, the club's flower.

on the building of the House and the contents of Eleanor Clay Ford's will, which stipulated that her home be used for the benefit of the public and established a trust for its maintenance.

Many women in the audience had met and admired Eleanor Clay Ford, or worked with her on the many cultural and charitable organizations she assisted.

Mr. Alandt told of the trips to Europe both Edsel and Eleanor Ford had made: to the Cotswolds houses in Worcestershire, England. They selected Albert Kahn to translate their wishes for their home into reality.

Mr. Alandt invited the group to visit the rooms on the first floor, noting that he thought they would be particularly interested in Edsel Ford's Study, which has been left intact, as he knew it.

The ladies were very interested... and to a woman, they voted their day at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House a delightful way to end their club's 88th year.

Mrs. Lloyd Patterson, program chairman, made the arrangements for the day. She asked Mrs. Keften to introduce the speaker, Paul D. Alandt, (Benson Ford's son-in-law), after the introduction of new members and the president's annual report.

Elizabeth Cass DAR Will Meet for Lunch

A luncheon meeting has been scheduled by Elizabeth Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for Monday, May 5, at noon in the Cloverly road home of Mrs. Robert Becker who will be assisted by Mrs. Marvin Putnam.

Mrs. Cornelius Egan, state chairman of the DAR Museum and Friends of the Museum, will make a presentation, "Do You Know?" and the Mesdames Becker and Putnam will report on the DAR's 89th Continental Congress, held April 17 through 21 in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Becker and Mrs. Putnam were among 4,000 convention delegates, representatives from every state in the union, who gathered to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Constitution Hall and the 75th anniversary of Memorial Continental Hall and to elect new national officers.

They returned to The Pointe tired and footsore... but re-inspired by their fellow delegates' dedication to the DAR ideals of History, Education and Patriotism.

Ruth Is the Essence of Today's Volunteer

Grosse Pointe's Ruth Glancy, who has been a volunteer professional serving the metropolitan community for about 15 years, feels strongly about the volunteer force in today's society.

"There is no question that a great many organizations would not exist without the support of volunteers in the communities. Volunteering, more and more, is becoming a supportive vehicle for the arts, education, health and welfare fields.

"Lifestyles would be radically different if not for volunteer programs," she says, adding that today's volunteer work force is at an all-time high in terms of numbers.

Mrs. Glancy is chairperson for the Michigan Cancer Foundation's fourth annual Volunteer Recognition Dinner, set for this evening, Thursday, May 1, at the Detroit Plaza Hotel.

More than 1,000 volunteers and guests will gather in tribute to the foundation's 7,290 volunteer workers, the largest volunteer corps serving any health agency in metro Detroit.

The dinner will feature Jimmy Launce, of WJR, as master of ceremonies, and Helen Thomas, United Press International White House Bureau Chief, as speaker. Twenty-eight volunteer honorees will receive special recognition for their contribution of 30 years or more service to the foundation.

Last year, MCF volunteers served 10,000 people in the four-county area, staffing the foundation's 14 community offices, driving patients to therapy treatments, distributing educational literature and aiding in screening and detection clinics.

Collectively, they contributed 213,000 hours and 428,000 miles. In 1979, their services were valued at more than $800,000.

Mrs. Glancy began her volunteer career with the Michigan Cancer Foundation in 1963, shortly after graduation from the University of Michigan. She directed cancer incidence surveys. She has since held many key positions in Detroit area organizations.

Currently, she is a vice-president of United Foundation and a trustee on the boards of Michigan Cancer Foundation, Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts, New Detroit, Inc., Harper-Grace Hospital and University Liggett School.

She is also a member of the Women's Committee of the Detroit Institute of Arts and a former president of the Junior League of Detroit, Police Athletic League, Women for the United Foundation and the Detroit Orthopaedic Clinic.

"In my activities, I have attempted to strike a balance among health and welfare needs, education and the arts. Each has a place," she observes.

"The last 15 years have been a time of great self-fulfillment. I had always anticipated having a career, but 15 years ago there were few opportunities in this city for women."

Mrs. Glancy points out that the volunteer work force has reflected many of the changes that have occurred

No special talent or experience is required to produce an attractive, colorful and original wall hanging or conversation piece.

Reservations ARE required though, for any one of four "sittings" at 10 in the morning, 1 and 3 in the afternoon and 7:30 in the evening.

The Brass Rubbing Day is a project of the National Cathedral Association. Donation for it is $10, and there'll be an additional charge for materials which range from $1 to $9 depending on the choice of model.

Reservations may be made by check, payable to the National Cathedral Association and sent to Mrs. A. J. Ricca, 529 Middlesex boulevard, Grosse Pointe Park, Michigan 48230.

Each "sitting" will take about one-and-a-half hours, during which Mr. Etches will give a short talk on the history of the models and the present day Washington Cathedral.

Rubbers will select their material, color and model, be it a knight, lady or small animal, when they arrive, and they'll be given a hanger, so they can proudly exhibit their creation at home, when they leave.

Up, Up and Away

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of Questers No. 147 gathers a week from tomorrow, Friday, May 9, at 10 in the morning in the Balfour road home of Mrs. Bert Lindzey for a very special program, "The Wild Blue Yonder," inspired by hostess Thelma Lindzey's interest in flying and Old Things.

The specific Old Thing that served as Thelma's impetus for this May meeting is the Tin Goose, an exciting, old Ford tri-motor plane that got its name because it "waddled" down the runway like a mother goose with three noisy engines making aeronautical honks.

Once upon a time, Thelma the Aviatix had a one-third interest in a Tin Goose. She has been a member, since 1942, of the 99's, a group of women pilots which originated 50 years ago. Amelia Earhart was the 99's first president.

Thelma has invited fellow pilot Lillian Lee (Mrs. William R.) Snyder, vice-president of the Detroit Airport Advisory Commission, to talk to the Questers.

Lillian will focus on women in aviation and some of their old machines—and when you stop to consider what those women went up in 'way back when, you've got to admit they had heart!

She'll discuss the versatility of women in aviation, from the private pilot for pleasure to the "Million Dollar Club" saleswomen to the president of Beech Aircraft.

Thelma will conduct a short "show and tell"

"The volunteer work force has adapted to social change; for example, more and more volunteers are men instead of women. But more important is the fact that the volunteer worker has gained new status with the public at large and with employers, who recognize volunteer experience as legitimate work experience.

"There are more leadership opportunities for volunteers. Employers are providing more meaningful work experiences, and are even organizing training programs for volunteers.

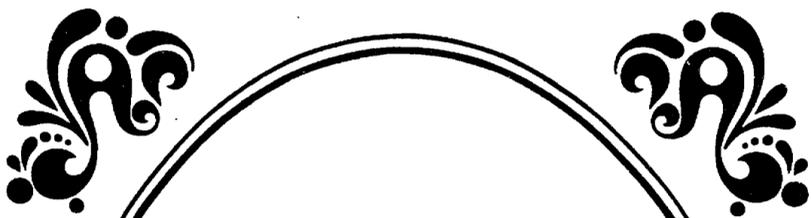

"There is a tremendous opportunity as a volunteer to impact lifestyles, the community and society as a whole. A volunteer position offers some a chance for flexibility in their lives to respond to needs as they arise in their communities. For others, it is simply a chance for camaraderie."

Wasting time studying?

You probably are, whether you know it or not. If you read every word in your textbook; if, after you've finished reading, you remember only a fraction of what you read; if you forget the meaning of new words even after you've looked them up two or three times; then you are wasting time when you study. Lots of it.

But suppose the time you spent studying were twice as productive as it is now? Suppose you could learn and remember twice as much? Then you'd have a choice: (1) spend the same amount of time studying and get better grades; or (2) spend less time studying, get the same grades, and have more time for leisure activities. There's even a third choice. Because you find your study time more profitable, you might discover you like it and actually do more of it! It has happened.

These choices can be yours. The first step is to attend a free Learning Dynamics class. You'll learn there how you can markedly improve your ability to read, memorize, and improve your vocabulary. And you can do it all during only two weekends. Choose a class from the schedule below, and drop in. No reservation necessary. P.S. Each registrant receives a free copy of "How to Take An Exam."

You Can Learn to Be Healthy

People can teach themselves to be sick or healthy, says a Michigan State University professor of Family

Medicine. And how they see themselves and the world helps determine the nature and frequency of their illnesses.

"There are 'painful' people," explains Dr. Robert C. Ward, D.O., "who have been taught to be sick. They have a strong belief in 'powerful others' whom they can turn their lives over to and who will take care of them.

Ward told an audience during Farmers' Week at MSU that people can change the way their bodies handle illness by having a good way of thinking about things.

"An increase in stress can actually change the cellular chemistry of your body," Ward said. "Controlling stress by good mental health and coping techniques will help your survival."

Ward said that too often people and their physicians don't understand the complexities of stress and only make the problem worse by reinforcing "negative behavior" that doesn't help a person learn to cope.

He sees physicians as largely ill-prepared to treat stress in their patients. Physicians can't really be blamed for this, he adds, because they're merely responding to social expectations, to patients who expect a tranquilizer prescription and a medical answer to an often psychological problem.

People need to recognize that stress is natural and that no one can expect always to be happy and comfortable, Ward said. Coping with stress is a continuous process.

According to Ward, a good copper can be characterized as independent and self-reliant, cooperative but not passively compliant, insistent on better communication and better treatment if he/she is feeling neglected and able to shift from one strategy to another if one doesn't work.

Schedule Civic Orchestra's Concert Date

The Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra will perform at Orchestra Hall Monday, May 5, at 8 in the evening, with Michael Krajewski, DSO conductor fellow, on the podium for the first work on the program, and Kenneth Jean, the DSO's assistant conductor, directing the last three works.

Fifteen-year-old Claire Chan, the Civic Orchestra's associate concertmaster, will be the soloist in Wieniawski's Violin Concerto No. 2, and Martha Miller, co-principal flutist, will be featured in Debussy's Prelude to The Afternoon of a Faun.

The concert will open with the Overture to Verdi's "Nabucco" and close with Stravinsky's Firebird Suite. Tickets are available at $4 from the Orchestra Hall box office, 833-3700. Group discounts are available.

The Civic Orchestra is a professional training orchestra sponsored by the DSO, with major assistance from the J.L. Hudson Company.

Claire Chan, in her second year at Birmingham's Groves High School, began her musical training with piano lessons from her mother at age seven, switching to violin three years later at the Detroit Community Music

School. She is currently a pupil of DSO violinist James Waring.

During a visit to Mainland

China with her family this past summer, she performed publicly and in private recital in Peking.

SPAIN

WHERE MORE EUROPEANS VACATION THAN ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE WORLD.

Historically, few countries come close to what Spain offers the tourist. From the plain of La Mancha, where Don Quixote lived, to Seville and Granada, with their classic Moorish palaces. From the statue of Columbus overlooking the harbor at Barcelona, to the magnificent paintings in the Prado. From the Court of Lions in the Alhambra of Granada, to the marbled columns of the Mosque of Cordoba, the Moorish culture is outstanding.

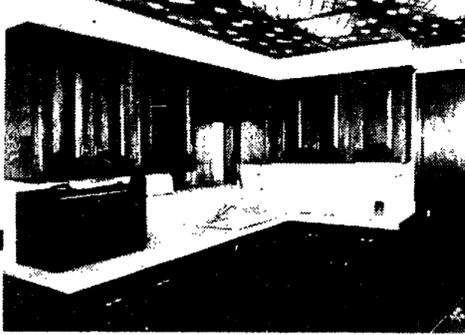

And best of all, for a country this rich, the prices aren't. Today, Spain is still one of the few remaining bargains in the world. Listen to the Europeans. Call Travelworld's Mack Avenue office at 882-8190 or stop in at 21127 Mack, North of Vernier.

Heritage Fair Set for May 7

Members of the Historic Memorials Society will present their annual Heritage Day Fair next Wednesday, May 7, from 10 in the morning to 3 in the afternoon at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

It will feature booths selling antiques, attic treasures, homemade delicacies and baked goods, boutique and miscellaneous items, books and jewelry.

The society was one of the first groups founded to preserve and maintain America's heritage for future generations. Its first project was Mount Vernon; when that was completed, the group continued to raise money for other projects, holding its benefits in February, in honor of George Washington — until the local group decided, in view of the uncertain February weather in Michigan, to switch to a spring benefit date.

Among the projects and institutions to which local society-raised funds have gone in the past are the Children's Dossin and Detroit Historical Museums, Old Mariners Church, Fort Wayne, the Burton Historical Collection at the Detroit Main Library and the American Legion Endowment Fund.

F.O.B. Detroit Display Opens

Freight on Board — Detroit is the way that much of America's automotive output is billed, and is symbolic of the importance of the automobile industry in our area. It is also the title of the latest exhibit at the Detroit Historical Museum.

The exhibit features an extensive photographic history of the United Automobile Workers union, together with a dozen historically significant cars from the museum's extensive collection plus several on loan from private collectors.

The most interesting is the "Bi-Auto-Go," the world's first two-wheeled automobile. This car, designed by James Scripps Booth and constructed at the family estate, Cranbrook, was completed in 1912.

In addition to its massive size and motorcycle configuration, the car boasts one of the first American V-8 engines and a number of other novel engineering features.

Also on display is Henry Leland's personal 1905 Cadillac coupe — the first enclosed Cadillac. Leland was the founder of the Cadillac Motor Car Company. Included also are a 1934 Chrysler Airflow, a 1942 Packard and a 1963 Mustang prototype.

The photographic history of the United Automobile Workers was compiled by David Elsil and Donald Stillman and appears through the cooperation of the UAW.

F.O.B. Detroit: Automobiles and the People Who Make Them opened in the museum's Dodge Hall on Friday, April 25.

The Detroit Historical Museum is located in Woodward avenue at Kirby street, in the Detroit Cultural Center. Museum hours are 1 to 9 o'clock Wednesday, 1 to 5 o'clock Sunday and 9:30 to 5 o'clock Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The museum is closed Monday.

Beaded Lace Accents Bride's White Qiana Gown; Newlyweds Vacation in San Francisco, Are at Home in New England

A reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial followed the autumn wedding of Susan Joyce Reinhard and David Pope Thomson in Saint Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Reinhard, of Lexington road, and Mrs. Douglas G. Thomson, Jr., of Tenafly, N.J., are the bridegroom's parents.

Bride-Elect

July wedding plans are being made by GERILYN KODAN and Dr. Robert Dillon whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kodan, of Fairford road.

Dr. Kodan, a graduate of Our Lady Star of the Sea High School, received her Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from Michigan State University.

Dr. Dillon, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dillon, of Troy, was graduated from Ferris State University. He also holds a degree in Veterinary Medicine from Michigan State University.

The newlyweds vacationed in San Francisco, Calif., and are at home in Woburn, Mass.

The Reverend Kenneth Lentz officiated at the 6:30 o'clock service Saturday evening, October 6, for which the bride chose an Empire-waisted gown of white Qiana.

Beaded Alencon lace accented her bodice and high neckline. Her skirt fell into an Elizabethan, chapel length train.

A Juliet cap of beaded lace held her double, fingertip length, illusion mantilla,

Mrs. David Thomson

Marriage vows were spoken at an evening ceremony Saturday, October 6, in Saint Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church by SUSAN JOYCE REINHARD, daughter of the John H. Reinhard, of Lexington road, and Mr. Thomson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas G. Thomson, Jr., of Tenafly, N.J. outlined in matching lace, and she carried an inlaid ivory Bible, gift of her aunt, Mrs. Eugene Azzam, with an arrangement of pink rosebuds, stephanotis, ivy and a phalaenopsis orchid.

She was attended by Elizabeth Parrett, of St. Joseph, a sorority sister, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jill Wilson, of Milford, another sorority sister, Christine Peleman, Patricia Russell, of Metuchen, N.J., the bridegroom's sister, and two cousins of the bride, Jennifer and Christine Azzam, both of Cockeysville, Md.

Their floor length dresses, bright rose in color, were gathered at the waist and side-stitch. They carried Colonial bouquets of daisies, carnations and baby's-breath and wore matching flowers in their hair.

Gregory Boll, of Northville, was best man for his fraternity brother. Guests were seated by two brothers of the bridegroom, Williams C. Thomson, of Tenafly, and Douglas G. Thomson, III, of Closter, N.J., and two brothers of the bride, John H. Reinhard, Jr., and Mark A. Reinhard.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of rose crepe de chine. The bridegroom's mother selected a long gown of aqua chiffon. White phalaenopsis orchids formed both mothers' corsages.

Will Wed

Mrs. Sutton Sarvis, of Grand Marais boulevard, and John H. Sarvis, of Hillcrest road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter KATHERINE ANNE SARVIS to Gordon Robert Chretien, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Chretien, of Southgate. An early August wedding is planned.

The bride-elect was graduated from Grosse Pointe South High School and received her Bachelor of Social Work degree, with a Family and Children Services specialty, from Eastern Michigan University this year.

Her fiancée, a Southgate High School alumnus, attended Eastern Michigan University until he was drafted by the Detroit Tigers in June, 1979. He is presently with the Tigers farm team in Montgomery, Ala.

Clarey-Fabick Troth Is Told

Mr. and Mrs. James Fabick, of Kensington road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mari, to Kevin Clarey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clarey, of South Palm Beach, Fla. An October wedding is planned.

Miss Fabick, who was graduated from Grosse Pointe South High School and studied Liberal Arts at Macomb Community College, is currently a dental assistant.

Her fiancée, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumnus who studied Business Administration at Macomb Community College, is a sales representative for Superior Tea & Coffee Company.

Symphony Ticket Sales Soar

Detroit Symphony Orchestra ticket sales have been soaring, with soldout houses a common occurrence and both season and single ticket sales setting records.

Overall, the orchestra has experienced a 27 percent increase in ticket sales over the same period last season.

According to Steve Haviaras, Audience Development manager, "139,206 seats are held by Detroit area residents on a regular basis for the DSO's 1979-80 concert series, versus 133,174 for the 1978-79 season."

"This increase of 6,032 translates into an 11 percent increase over last season, or 21,511 subscribers this season versus 19,764 subscribers last season.

At this point, the DSO has realized an approximate $88,000 increase in season ticket revenue this season as compared to last.

Single ticket sales have averaged a 16 percent increase over last season. Through the 1979 Christmas Festival, 37,000 single tickets had been sold versus 31,863 for the same period last season. The average number of single tickets sold per concert this season has been 458.

Averaging all concert series, the DSO is currently performing to 85 percent capacity audiences, and it is estimated that over a quarter million people will see the Detroit Symphony during the winter season in Ford Auditorium alone.

The DSO sold over 13,000 seats to the International Brahms Festival.

Patrons wishing to attend events even though a sell-out is indicated should always check with the DSO box office to see if tickets have been turned in. Ticket information may be obtained by phoning 962-5524.

Help at Hand For Overeaters

Overeaters Anonymous meets Friday mornings, at 9:30 o'clock, at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church in Maumee avenue, between Neff road and St. Clair avenue. The meetings are open to the public.

Camp Cavell to Start Year

The largest girl's camp in Michigan, Metropolitan Detroit YWCA's Camp Cavell, is taking reservations for its 67th season which opens June 30. Cavell is located near Lexington. Up to 195 campers aged seven to 15 will attend each of three two-week sessions.

Cavell has 1,400 feet of Lake Huron beach for waterfront activities, horseback riding. (English Style), has traditionally been a popular sport. Nearly 90 percent of the campers sign up each session for this $20 extra charge feature.

Other sports offered are archery, tennis, gymnastics, fencing and canoeing.

Carol Kubiak, widely experienced in the fields of health, physical education and camping, is Cavell's administrator. "Learning, discovering, experiencing, teaching and sharing are really where camping begins," she explains.

Group activities include overnight camp-outs and hikes, nature study, dance, aquatics, the performing arts, song fests around the campfires and spontaneous projects worked out with counselors.

A special emphasis will be placed on the Performing Arts this camp session. The unit is designed to offer a wide range of specialized activity in the area of music, dance and drama throughout the summer.

"Leadership is the most important quality of a YWCA camp" notes Miss Kubiak.

Roger R. Mourad, member of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

ICEA Slates Summer Convention in Detroit

Twenty years have passed since the founders of International Childbirth Education Association laid the groundwork for an interdisciplinary organization of volunteers whose motto is "Freedom of Choice Through Knowledge of Alternatives" and whose goal is family-centered maternity care.

Registration materials are available through Marian Donohoe, convention coordinator, 1907 Hunter's Trace, Jeffersonville, Indiana 47130.

Over those years, strides have been made toward total family involvement in the maternity care system. Accepted scientific research now supports the importance of family bonding at birth.

Organizing Finances Now Can Reduce Taxes Later

Just because April 15 has passed by doesn't mean you should file that 1979 federal income tax return away yet. It can be used to save money on next year's taxes.

tax planning is impossible. What are personal financial goals? They are knowing exactly how much you spend and earn and having a good idea of those future money uses.

ants advises to keep up-to-date on finances since a good deal of your spending has tax ramifications. To start with, bills, receipts, appraisals and cancelled checks should be kept in a simple, easy to find and orderly system. Set up a record book with current totals broken down into the categories on your federal tax return.

Begin now, the CPAs say, by filling out Form 1040 with your 1980 anticipated income, deductions, exemptions and credits. Tax rates for 1980 will probably be unchanged, so figure out what your tax bill is likely to be.

To reduce taxes try lumping every available deduction into this year, or deferring as much of your income as possible until future years, then try doing it with both. While it might make next year's tax bill correspondingly higher, you will have had the use of the money in the meantime.

For instance, by lumping deductions into alternate years, you might be able to get $4,000 of deductions in odd years and $2,000 in even years. This way, you itemize the deductions in the odd years and deduct the zero bracket amount ($3,400 for a joint return) in even years.

Give some thought about deductions first. If you need a car in the future, buy it in the year when a substantial sales tax deduction will do the most good. To add to the usual medical deductions, perhaps you can prepay 1981 medical expenses for an elderly parent in a nursing home.

While planning for deductible contributions, remember that a $1,000 contribution lowers your tax burden by $500 if you are in the 50 percent marginal tax bracket. If you donate appreciated property your contribution may cost even less, so ask your tax advisor whether it is better to sell the property and contribute the proceeds to charity or to give the property itself as a donation.

The "points" paid on a secured mortgage or home improvement loan are deductible in the year paid. If planning to buy a home this year, you may want to pay this amount by separate check rather than having the bank withhold it from the loan proceeds.

Do you have to pay an estimated state income tax? Try paying the final installment in December instead of January, so it will be deductible on the 1980 federal income tax return. This also can apply to accelerated payment of accrued property taxes, although you cannot deduct tax payments made to a mortgage company and held in escrow (until they are paid to the taxing authority).

The CPAs suggest looking for possible deductions in all plans during the year. Can you possibly combine a vacation with a tax deductible business or house-hunting trip? Will you change jobs this year? Do you plan to support a foreign student in your home? You may be able to claim expenses of up to $50 a month as charitable contributions. If deductions will not be substantial this year, consider postponing payment of some bills, until next year when the deductions will mean bigger tax savings.

Look also at the exemptions for the coming year. Are you supporting a parent who does not qualify as a dependent because he earns more than $1,000 from interest or dividends? Maybe that parent will consider transferring his funds into tax-exempt bonds, so you can claim him or her as a dependent. If you have a multiple support agreement with other members of your family and alternate the exemption for a parent each year, plan ahead of time as to who would most benefit by the exemption this year.

What about credits for child care, energy-saving home improvements and political contributions? Like deductions, credits can be added up. Credits are subtracted directly from your tax bill while deductions reduce the total income before the tax is figured. Thus, credits mean more money in your pocket.

It's been estimated three out of four families pay more federal income tax than necessary, so it pays to plan ahead for your tax bill. To keep your tax picture in your favor, the CPAs say, keep your current financial situation in mind.

Good Start for North JV

By Wright Wilson Through eight games, the junior varsity team at North High got off to a good start, winning five and losing three.

To open its season, North swept a doubleheader from cross-town rival South High. John Menzo, Dave Babcock, Glenn Parker, Craig Stafford, Bob Wujek, and Dave Wittwer shared the pitching duties as the Norsemen took both games by the scores of 3-0 and 5-2.

North then split a twinbill with East Detroit. North used offensive power and fine baserunning in beating the Shamrocks, 8-7. Stafford, Menzo, and Burke Huey each had two RBIs. The second game saw North receive its first loss, 3-1.

Menzo and Wittwer both had fine outings on the mound when the Norsemen defeated Detroit DeLaSalle 8-1. Stafford collected two hits, two stolen bases and scored three runs. Huey and Chris Flood knocked in two runs each.

Sun Dresses . . . moonlight too. Walton-Pierce has a selection of delightful sundresses that double as summer party dresses. For day or a barbecue party, wear a two piece dress styled with a deep round neckline and ruffle sleeves. The skirt is gathered. The print is red and gold cowboy boots on navy. For evening, wear the gold belt . . . for day you could sash your waist with red or navy. Red and deep bright blue widely stripes a two piece dress with a tiered, flared skirt that has a wide red sash. The top is cut to show off your flattering tan. We like the abstract print dress that combines suns on green, moon and dancers on black and green cacti on red. This striking dress by Jack Fuller is lined in red. Jack Fuller's yellow and black plaid sundress, lined with black, trimmed with black lace and accented with a filmy black flower is meant for moonlighting. Sun dress styles also come with jackets that make them so versatile. Our favorite black sundress with purple, red, green, yellow and blue bands at the waist has a smart jacket to cover up for day and traveling. There are so many pretty party dresses this season. Masandra for Steve Laurence picked a delicate pink seersucker and styled it with short puffed sleeves with white cuffs. A fresh white Peter Pan collar is set off with a big pink bow. The waist is slicked with a white patent belt. Pink, peach, lilac cloud blues, creamy whites and soft aquas are favored for summer parties. You'll find these feminine colors in very feminine dresses at Walton-Pierce. For those of you who wear a size four and want to steal the scene, there is a short red chiffon dress with bare shoulders, gathered bodice and a skirt that is layers of puffs.

Pointer of Interest

By Peggy O'Connor

A week from Sunday, Janet Wheatley, the NEWS' classified advertising supervisor, and her mother, Mrs. John McCreddie, will celebrate Mothers' Day for the second time this year. They got the jump on the rest of us when they celebrated the traditional English "Mothering Sunday" in March.

Actually, no real celebration is planned. Janet says they just make note of the day, since they already had their Mother's Day.

Unlike our Mothers' Day, a latecomer as far as holidays go, Mothering Sunday is a time-worn tradition in England. It dates back to the days when families sent their daughters to work as servant girls in the homes of the wealthy.

"It's always the fourth Sunday in Lent," Mrs. McCreddie says. "It's an old tradition they've brought to the fore; it was always a holiday for the servant girls."

Take The Cake
"They'd carry home a rich cake for their mothers—the ingredients for the cake were always supplied by the house. It might be the only time they saw their mothers that year."

Also unlike the American custom of Mothers' Day is the English tradition of honoring mothers by celebrating Mothering Sunday in church. "To celebrate, there is a service in the parish church," Mrs. McCreddie says. "The children go down and bring back some flowers for their mothers."

"Janet was with me this year . . . my child went and got some flowers for me," she laughs. "Yes," adds Janet, "I went with all the little ones."

The tradition of Mothering Sunday is just one of the many things Mrs. McCreddie recalls about her life in England. She has lived most of her 87 years there, except for occasional trips to the United States to see her daughter, Janet, and her granddaughter, Amanda Wheatley.

"I've been close to home all my life and my husband wasn't in good health, so I haven't traveled much," she says.

Up In The Air
When she arrived in the United States in March, it marked her sixth trip here, the first of which didn't come until she was almost 70. In fact, her first airplane trip was a trans-Atlantic flight to the United States, following the death of her husband in 1962.

"I was 69 when I first came to the U.S., so I wasn't particularly young when I came, was I? I was frightened to death of flying that first time, but it doesn't trouble me any longer," Mrs. McCreddie says.

"It's hard to imagine anything troubling Mrs. McCreddie, a tiny woman with smiling blue eyes and a friendly face. She obviously enjoys life and takes it at an easy pace.

Born in Reading in the south of England, she comes from a family of three sisters and one brother. "My father was from an Irish family, so I've some of the old country in me."

In the days when she was a young child, girls were not expected to go very far in school. Mrs. McCreddie went to an independent school in Reading. There was a small fee to pay to attend, but it was a good school, she says.

"We learned the basics and they even taught us a few French words—in case we ever went to France."

Changing Times
"It might seem odd today, but we looked in amazement at the first English girl who went into banking. Women then got married or stayed at home."

In 1915, when she was 22, she married John McCreddie. McCreddie was a career soldier and went with the Cameronians during World War I.

Since her marriage, Mrs. McCreddie has lived for 45 years in West Yorkshire, less a brief period of five years when she lived in London. "I like Yorkshire and Yorkshire people. West Yorkshire people are very much down to earth — blunt, but very kind. When they get to know you, they'll do anything for you. I have two friends who have helped me very much."

From the description of her town, Pool-in-Wharfedale, one can see how Mrs. McCreddie might find such fast friends. The tiny village in which she lives has two churches, two antique shops and two pubs. There are also three small shops and a petrol station—whose services Mrs. McCreddie doesn't need.

"I've never driven," she says. "I can't even ride a bicycle—I'd end up in the hedge."

River View
Mrs. McCreddie lives in a flat and from her window, she can see the River Wharfe. "I look at the river every day. It's right outside my window, so I have a beautiful view."

The town nearest Mrs. McCreddie's little flat is Otley. Otley has one of the oldest markets in England and received its charter in the early 900's. She says that she doesn't venture into Otley alone and doesn't walk into her own village often, either.

"I don't walk into the village because the streets are narrow and we get these big containers (trucks). When one of them passes by, you feel as though you might be pulled underneath!"

"So my doctor told me not to walk, it's too dangerous," she says.

But Mrs. McCreddie has done her share of walking. After all, there wasn't much in the way of entertainment—or a way to get to the entertainment—when she was a young girl. So when there was some event in the area, she and her family would walk long distances.

"When I was 16, we left Reading and walked about three miles to Aldershot, which was a town created by the army—for the army. We went to the parade on Sunday to watch the guardsmen and various regiments' march."

"You never saw anything like it—it made your stomach jump."

Only Way to Go
As for walking, Mrs. McCreddie says, "We always walked, one didn't have cars."

The people of her village didn't have cars, but automobiles did exist and Mrs. McCreddie recalls the first time she laid eyes on one.

"I saw a car for the first time when they ran car rides for a shilling a ride, so people could have a chance to ride in a motorcar. I remember that they had a man with a red flag walking in front."

"Cars were dangerous beings, you know," she laughs.

Mrs. McCreddie also remembers seeing an airplane for the first time and watching the soldiers march off to the Boer War. "We saw them go off to war, wearing their scarlet coats. This was before they changed to khaki so they would blend in with the terrain."

She says that she and other children wore pins on their blouses that featured the face of their "favorite" general.

"It seems unusual, but I've lived through six reigns," Mrs. McCreddie says. Her life has spanned the reigns of Queen Victoria, Edward VII, George V, Edward VIII, George VI and Queen Elizabeth. In fact, Mrs. McCreddie remembers the funeral of Queen Victoria. "All the shops were draped in purple and all the populace wore black."

And, having lived through so much, seeing so much, she is certainly qualified to comment on all the changes she's observed.

"More Stress"
"Life has changed so much; there's so much more stress today. Life was easier then. We didn't know as much and we were happier not knowing."

Mrs. McCreddie, for all of the changes she has seen, seems to be just as happy today. At 87, she can be content and live pleasantly, despite the world's many changes. And it appears that she does just that.

"Well, I don't rise until 10, seeing that I have nothing to do, and I go to bed at 10 in the evening. I have a small flat and I care for it, and I also sew and read."

"I really don't watch TV because I don't like it," she says. "I like the movies and the news, but not much else because so much of TV is nonsense."

Her routine isn't too different here, but she has gotten around to some sightseeing during her six visits to the United States. "We've been out west and to Williamsburg," she says.

"We watched the sun rise over the Grand Canyon at 4 o'clock one morning. My granddaughter wanted to hurry, so we stood there in our dressing gowns watching the sun come up."

And, Mrs. McCreddie says, the people she has met in the United States are special, too.

"People here are very kind, very welcoming. They have been exceptionally good to me—and they love my accent!"

"Of course, I don't think I have an accent."

She is a delight. It's no surprise that her family would like her to stay on with them permanently. But Mrs. McCreddie doesn't believe that she will stay.

"I really don't miss my home, it's much nicer to live as one of a family. My granddaughter would like me to stay here, but I don't think I will," she says.

"My place is in England . . . so I'll go back and I don't think I'll ever come again. Of course, I said that the last time and here I am again!"

As she sits knitting, it's hard not to reach out and say, "Don't go home!" But, then she says, in a cheerful voice:

"I look the picture of a grandmother sitting here knitting, don't I? I like something in my hands. I used to do embroidery, but I've been very lazy for the last year or two."

No, not lazy . . . witty, sweet and wise. Janet Wheatley knows just what she's doing when she celebrates Mothers' Day twice this year.

On The Wings of Song

"I didn't get a chance to give a party for them this time," said Margaret Diamond, "but I certainly hope to entertain for Barbara when she comes back to sing 'Die Fledermaus' for Michigan Opera Theatre."

It's not that Margaret and Jim didn't WANT to entertain for their houseguests, David and Barbara Benders, who came to town to perform at the Detroit Athletic Club—it's that the rest of the local world loves the Benders, too.

Grosse Pointe fell in love with David and Barbara last year, when they appeared at the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival. The affair was continued in mid-April at the DAC, and after the applause died down there—it took a long, long time—it was off to Gwen and John Griffin's home in Lakeshore road for an after-hours impromptu.

Then on Sunday afternoon, Ginny and Bob Thibodeau and their daughter, Bernadette, in town for a week's break in her teaching schedule in White Plains, N.Y., welcomed David and Barbara and David's mother, Eleanor Woodhull, of Denver, Colo., at cocktails. That party ended with a visit to Ginny's studio at the Grosse Pointe Academy Artists C mplex.

And then the weekend was over, and it was back to Bronxville, N.Y., for the Benders. All we can say, with Margaret and Jim Diamond, is: next time, stay longer!

"My life has been tremendously enriched, and my horizons broadened by volunteerism," she says. "I enjoy working with others to make things happen."

"That is the whole purpose behind tonight's dinner: to promote the fellowship of the volunteer group at the foundation and to show how important the volunteer is in today's world."

The Michigan Cancer Foundation's current volunteer corps is the offspring of a 1939 group of women who called themselves the Women's Field Army. They helped raise funds for cancer research and conducted educational campaigns on the importance of early detection of cancer.

The dinner also will feature a tribute to the Foundation's volunteers by Dr. Michael J. Brennan, president and medical director of the MCF. Jack Qualey and his orchestra will provide music for after dinner dancing.

In 1967 he became an American citizen.

That same year he won first prize in the San Francisco Symphony auditions, and in 1970 he received a silver medal at the Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow. He was the only contestant to give special recitals in Moscow and Leningrad immediately following the competition.

Gutierrez has since appeared with most of the major orchestras in the United States. His acclaimed tours of Europe, South America, Israel and the USSR have brought immediate return invitations. He is a Juilliard graduate, with several recordings to his credit.

Sports Week at North

Streak Over For North

By Wright Wilson

At a meet that defined the term "down to the wire," Lakeview's boys' track team nipped North, 67-65; breaking the win streak of 95 consecutive meets amassed by the Norsemen since 1969.

Anyone could have predicted the close meet to end up within five points; and everyone who waited into the dark of night to see the final results saw more than just an ordinary track meet.

The meet was close all the way. Lakeview started with victories in the high jump and long jump from Bob Finazzo; but North weightmen John Bogdziewicz, John Caputo, Jerry Bockstanz, and Dave McCarron swept the shot put and discus events.

After the five field events, North held a 26-19 advantage.

Brian Vier won the first of two hurdle events for North in the 120 highs, but Steve Corbett led a sweep for the Huskies in the 100-yard dash. At this point, North led 32-31.

A Norsemen trio of Jim Schmidt, John Roscoulet, and Mark Rolain went 1-2-3 in the mile run, enlarging North's lead to ten points. This was the biggest lead of the day for either team.

However, Lakeview outscored North 18-1 in the three events that followed (two relays and the 440-yard dash). Vier then captured the 330 low hurdles, but Lakeview still led by a 53-47 count.

Next, the two teams traded scoring bursts. John Bucacink and Roscoulet outkicked Lakeview's Jim Corbit in the half mile for an 8-1 advantage; but the Huskies regained the points when Finazzo and Corbett finished 1-2 in the 220-yard dash.

In an unusually exciting two mile race, Schmidt won his second event of the night while leading North to a sweep of the event. This set the stage for the finish: North led 65-62, and the winner of the mile relay would take the meet.

Chuck Roehl led off the relay for North, and held a two-yard lead as he passed the baton to Dave Trask. Trask held off an attempted burst by Lakeview's Steve Lach, and the two came to the baton exchange neck-and-neck.

Jerry Miller outdueled Corbit on the third leg, and handed the baton to Bucacink one second before Lakeview's exchange. Bucacink ran against Lakeview's Corbett (who had earlier won the quarter mile with an excellent time of :51.8) for all the marbles.

Corbett had made up the difference by the start of the backstretch, and the two raced stride-for-stride going into the final curve. At this point, Corbett pulled ahead, and barely held on for the Lakeview victory.

Lakeview's team ran 3:37.29 to North's 3:37.37. Both anchor legs had sterling times, as Corbett was clocked in :49 and Bucacink in 50 seconds on the Lakeview cinder track.

The entire Huskies squad mobbed Corbett as the Norsemen offered their congratulations. North's fans realized that the eleven-year streak was ruined in the course of eight one-hundredths of a second.

"You can't pin the loss on anyone from North — Lakeview won the meet on talent," commented North coach Das Campbell. "Both teams are so close that you could match us up any day of the week and the results could go either way."

Lakeview, at 1-0 in the league and 2-0 overall, is almost insured of a league championship. The Norsemen are 1-1 in the Bi-County, and received the first loss in four outings this season.

Last Saturday, North scored in ten of 14 events to place fourth at the Central Michigan University Relays. Vier set a school and meet record in the 300 meter low hurdles with a time of :38.4. Besides Vier's first place, North took four third places, four fourths, and three fifths to end up with 38 points, clearly North's best showing in an invitational this year.

This week, North is slated for dual meets with Clintondale and Roseville Bralier, and the team hopes to extend a new winning streak to two.

North Girls 'Solid' Team

"A pretty solid, experienced team" is how coach Bill Taylor describes his softball team at Grosse Pointe North. Ten of 14 girls on the team, including four seniors, all have one or more seasons' experience of playing at the

Last week's play saw Team 1 defeat Team 6, 6-4. Bob Rogers scored four goals. Jim Wieme and Meaghan O'Toole also scored for the winners. Chip Molitor scored a hat trick and Cindy Winiarski tallied for Team 6.

In the second game, Team 3 beat Team 2 in a tight game, 3-2. John Hogan scored two goals and Mike Brykalski scored the winning goal with just seven seconds left in the final period. Firoz Ghandi and Steve Landlois scored for Team 2.

In the final game, Team 4 beat Team 7 by a score of 4-3. John Hirschfield scored the winning goal, his third of the game, while teammate Brady O'Toole added to the score. Steve Zink scored two goals and Jason Bessert tallied to round out the scoring for Team 7.

In other results: Team 3 continued to play in winning style by defeating Team 5, 8-3. Mike Brykalski scored three goals, Eric Kratochwill, Andy Gesell, Jim Aley, Dan Calcaterra and John Hogan also scored. Mike Hozdish, Liz Wrobel and Mark Reith scored for Team 5.

Team 7 defeated Team 1, 6-3. Tom Gebeck and Mark Moore scored two goals each and Greg Henchel and Bob Wyrod tallied one a piece. Mary Trybus scored her first goal of the season, with Jason Bessert and Bob Rogers also scoring for Team 1.

Team 6 and 2 played to a 3-3 tie. Steve Reumanapp scored twice and Steve Francis once for Team 2 while Cindy Winiarski, Rockne Egnatios and Brady O'Toone tallied for Team 6.

Team 3 is presently leading the league with a record of 4-0.

South Wins In Baseball

By John Schultz

Great pitching and timely hitting paid off this week as South's varsity baseball team opened its league season with three wins.

Dave Spencer and Chris Ellis turned in superb mound performances as South defeated Roseville and Port Huron by scores of 2-1, and Spencer teamed with Sean Drummy to turn back L'Anse Creuse North, 7-6.

Spencer got help from Ted Formanczyk's three hits against Roseville, but he helped his own cause by ripping a home run against L.C. North, picking up the win in a thrilling eleven-inning contest.

Also finding home runs in the game were Formanczyk and Steve Maul. John DeBoer scored the winning run for the Blue Devils, racing home from second on a sacrifice bunt.

Ellis hurled a four hitter against Port Huron, while striking out five batters. Jeff Parthum's homer in the fifth inning won it for the Devils.

South had gotten off to a slow start this season, sporting a 1-5 record in non-league play. The sandlotters lost to Notre Dame, dropped a pair of games to North, the number one ranked team in the state, and split a doubleheader with DeLaSalle.

The Devils had an important game against Sterling Heights Stevenson on Monday (after press time) and will face East Detroit and Mt. Clemens at home this week.

This week will prove to be a strong test for the Devils, as Ellis states, "If we can do well this week, we will be in excellent shape for a league title."

Tennis Team Wins Four

By Mark Clark

South High's tennis team rolled through their second week of play winning all four matches, including a 6-1 victory over rival North, to boost their record to 6-0. South also placed in the top six at the Ann Arbor Huron Invitational Saturday.

Stomping one of their tougher opponents North, the Blue Devils lost only one match. Scoring wins were Joe Murray 6-0, 6-0, in number one singles, Bill Kohr in number three singles, 7-5, 6-4, and number four singles, Karl Tewes, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Winning were Al Hackman and Mike McBrearty number one doubles 6-1, 6-0; brothers Matt and Steve Kornmeier, number two doubles, 6-2, 6-2; and number three doubles, Todd Ciavola and Todd Pierce, 6-4, 6-2.

South also downed three league opponents last week, clobbering Port Huron on Monday, 6-1, Sterling Heights on Wednesday, 7-0, and Mt. Clemens on Friday, 6-1.

Winners against Port Huron in two, three and four singles were Todd Simonds, Kohr and Tewes. In double, it was McBrearty and Hackman, the Kornmeier brothers, and Ciavola and Pierce, gaining victories.

Sweeping Sterling Heights, Bob Wagner and Steve Kosmos competed in their first match of the year, taking number three doubles 6-0, 6-0.

South made Mt. Clemens its fourth victim of the week, scoring victories in all but number two doubles, where Steve and Matt Kornmeier lost a tough match in three sets, 6-2, 1-6, 4-6.

Finishing up a long week of tennis, the Blue Devils placed in the top six at the Ann Arbor Huron Invitational with 13 points.

"I'm sure we were either fifth or sixth," stated coach Donald Zysk as the final results had yet to be tabulated. Scoring three points, but losing in the championship finals were Matt and Steve Kornmeier in the number two doubles. Scoring two points for the Devils and winning in the consolation finals were number one singles, Murray; number three singles, Simonds, number four singles Tewes, and in number one doubles, Hackman and McBrearty.

"I was satisfied with our performances. Our doubles teams did well in stiff competition," praised Zysk.

South will have played East Detroit, Monday and Port Huron Northern on Wednesday (after press time), and will play next Monday at L'Anse Creuse North, and at home next week against Port Huron and Sterling Heights.

Improvements in attitudes and abilities surfaced as South's boys' track defeated East Detroit on April 24, 71-61. The Devils outscored the Shamrocks taking seven first, 10 second and six third place finishes.

Junior Bill Peattie was high team scorer as he doubled in the mile and 880 yard run. Peattie took first for a 4:47.0 mile and a 2:08.8 880 run.

John Platt followed Peattie's mile, taking second with 4:51.7. Jason Pallas took third in the 880 yard run with a 2:09.8.

Tom Gaitley's shot throw of 48.6 and Mike Arbaugh's high jump of 5'8" were the only firsts taken in field competition.

Dave Caputo took first in the 330 low hurdles with 40.6 and earned a second in long jump with 18'4 1/2". Teammate Jamie Keogh jumped 17' 10 1/2" for a third.

Brian Barlow took two seconds in discus and shot put. His throws of 14'6" and 44'6" recognized him as a "Horse of the Meet", as the strongest field competitor on the team.

Drew Frakes and Bill Waugaman took second and third place in pole vault. Frakes vaulted 9'6", as Waugaman went out at that height.

Sweeping second and third places in the 100 yard dash were Aaron Friedman and Pat Boll at 10.6 and 10.8.

Jim Weitzmann, Pete Grifo and Tom Wilson dominated the 440 yard dash, as they took the top three positions. Weitzmann's first time of 54.6 was followed by Grifo's close 54.7.

In the two mile run, Joe Benoit took second with 10:47.7 and Bruce Collinson took third with 10:51.0.

South's JV Takes Two

By Tom Kisskalt

South's JV baseball team went to battle last week and came out victorious as it won two of three games, all of which were one-run decisions.

Roseville nipped South 3-2 on Monday, despite a combined two hitter by pitchers Kip Sale and Joe Yott, to take the first round of the scheduled three game battle.

The second game was a slugfest. Leading by six runs going into the final inning, the Blue Devils blew it and needed a pair of base hits in the bottom of the seventh to knock off Port Huron, 15-14.

The third contest was the deciding game and the toughest. It took the Blue Devils an extra inning this time, but they salvaged the win, 4-3, in eight innings over L'Anse Creuse North.

The Blue Devils, who lost their first two games to cross-town rival, North High are now 2-1 in the Eastern Michigan League (EML) and 2-3 overall.

Several walks given up by Sale and a two run bunt enabled Roseville to overcome the powerful pitching displayed by Sale and Yott. Sale and Yott allowed only two hits between them.

Salé had a few problems in the first inning as he walked Roseville's first run in.

South scored two runs in the top half of the fifth inning. Rob Kourter reached (Continued on Page 32)

The Knights won all three relays and eight of the thirteen events. Sophomore Jerry Steketeo won the long jump, 200-meter dash, and anchored the 400-meter relay team. Junior Tony Alcantara won the pole vault, was second in the 100-meter dash and was the opening leg of the 400-meter relay team.

Other ULS first place finishes were recorded by Warren Hardy in the discus, Timo Elio in the shot put, Peter Muz in the 1600-meter run, Dave Peltan in the 400-meter run, and the team of Alcantara, Steketeo, Steve Jackson, and Robert Green, in the 400-meter relay.

Freshman Jim Wood won the 800-meter run, and also ran a leg of the winning 1600-meter relay with teammates Peltan, Muz, and Bob Fenton. The winning ULS 800-meter relay was the team of Erich Avedisian, John Cannon, Bill Hoey, and Rex Roy.

Thursday, April 24, saw the young team play host to Oakland Christian on a cold, rainy afternoon. ULS won 71-60 despite trailing Oakland Christian after 11 of the 17 events.

Outstanding performances were given by Steketeo, winning the 100-meter, 200-meter, and 400-meter relay and Alcantara, placing in the 100-meter, 200-meter, winning the pole vault, and 400-meter relay.

Senior Bill Mackey won the discus and placed second in the shot put.

Another solid effort came from Jackson, who placed second in the high jump, third in the 100-meter, and on his leg of the 400-meter relay. Elio also excelled, winning in the high hurdles, and placing in the discus.

Freshman Jim Wood won in the 800, and ran as a member of the winning 1600-meter relay team with Bob Fenton, Dave Peltan and Jeff Peters. Dave Van Elslander put the icing on the cake by winning the 3200-meter run and securing the victory.

ULS Netters Ranked No. 1

The 1980 ULS tennis team has high hopes of continuing the school's great tennis tradition. During the past two years the school has been ranked as the No. 1 tennis power of all high schools in Michigan. This year, University Liggett is currently ranked No. 1 in their class and fourth overall.

Despite an early season loss to Cranbrook and second place finish to Ann Arbor Huron in the University Liggett Tournament of Champions, ULS looks forward to regaining the No. 1 overall ranking and the possibility of winning their ninth consecutive state tennis championship.

Members of this year's Varsity team include: Kris Robbins, Drew Mascarin, Gar Knight, Susie Mascarin, Todd McCoy, Mike Ottaway, John Oxtaway, John Ekelman, Jamie Todd, John Polizzi, Biff Fisher, Rusty McNair, and David Parker.

This weekend, Friday and Saturday, May 2 and 3, ULS will host its 14th annual Class A invitational. Participating schools include Grosse Pointe North, Grosse Pointe South, Dearborn, Edsel Ford, South Lake, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Lapeer West, and ULS. Play begins at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, May 2 and 9 a.m. on Saturday, May 3. Consolation finals are scheduled at approximately 1 p.m. with the Championship finals to follow. There is no admission to the event.

Hall of Fame Honors for Tennis, Squash Champ Reindel

By Peggy O'Connor

In an age when amateur sports are threatened by politics and a lack of monetary support, the success stories in this area of sport are welcome and refreshing tributes to those who persevere.

John Reindel, who was inducted last week into the Michigan Amateur Sports Hall of Fame, agrees that recognition is due for those who have put so much time into amateur sports.

"It's a good thing to give recognition to those who were active in the organization of amateur sports."

"Fred Matthal, for one, did a tremendous job in the administrative work needed to set up amateur programs."

Reindel also cites a participant in his own sport, tennis, as a prime mover in the organization of youth tennis.

"Jean Hoxie got these underprivileged kids interested in playing tennis. She persuaded merchants to help support the youth programs."

"I admire any group that can encourage kids to play—not just for physical fitness—but for the obvious social advantages. These kids need to have something to do with their time."

Reindel ought to know about the advantages of playing tennis. A native Detroit, he comes from a family of tennis players. He and his older brothers, Ira and George, each were Detroit city tennis championship winners.

Young John also followed his older brothers to the University of Michigan, where he received his Bachelors degree. He went on to law school, but instead of practicing law, went into business. He retired last fall as vice chairman of the board of the Sheller-Globe Corporation.

While he was at the University of Michigan, Reindel achieved varsity letters for three years. After his college days, his list of tennis championships began to grow.

In addition to his city singles championships in 1935, Reindel won the city doubles titles between 1933 and 1941. He was the Western Ontario singles, doubles and mixed doubles champion in 1936 and the Northern Ontario singles and doubles winner between 1938 and 1940.

Reindel also was a member of the Detroit team which won the Interlake Competition several times in matches with teams from Toronto, Buffalo, Toledo and Cleveland.

Tennis wasn't Reindel's only game. In squash, he reigned as Michigan state champion in 1937, 1938 and 1942, as Western Champion in 1940 and as Western Veterans winner in 1956.

He was a member of the U.S. Team Squash Championship team from Detroit in 1942 and 1946 and a member of that team as runners-up in 1941. He participated in National Squash Championships with a Detroit team from 1934 through 1947.

Reindel did participate in senior squash, but those activities were ended when he ruptured his achilles tendon while playing. Although he no longer plays competitively, Reindel stresses the importance of playing and practicing to those who do compete.

"I played every day, several hours per day, to keep in shape. The idea of being fit is most important."

Reindel feels that keeping in shape and practicing is the best road to take for a championship, especially for those athletes who live in cold weather areas.

"It's unfortunate that we don't have the climate that the players in California and Texas have. We don't have the number of players as a result. The players we have are doing a good job."

Coming from an athlete with an impressive record as John Reindel's, such praise is something any amateur athlete can be proud of.

Swim Club Places

The Grosse Pointe Masters Swim Club returned from the 7th Annual State Masters Swim Championships with a fifth place finish. A record field of 232 entrants on 22 teams from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and Canada competed in the event.

In the 19-24 age group, Hank Kuhlman placed fifth in the 100 freestyle. The 25-29 age group's Tom Ireland placed first in both the 100 freestyle and the 50 backstroke.

In the 40-44 age group, Jerry Radloff took top honors in the 100 butterfly, second in the 50 freestyle and 50 butterfly and third in the 100 freestyle and individual medley.

Tom Ketzler captured two firsts in the 50 and 100 backstroke and second in the 200 backstroke.

Rounding out the team effort was Art Johnson in the 50-54 age group with his three firsts in the 50, 100 and 200 backstroke, second in the 1650 yard freestyle and third in the 200 freestyle.

The team is coached by Tim Kennedy, who looks forward to continued success next season.

The swim club is recruiting members and invites swimmers from the ages of 19 to 80 and over. Organized practice sessions are held 2 to 3 times per week at North High School.

Interested swimmers should contact the swim club at 343-2000.

Ruth League Season Opens

By Al Hillenbrand

The Babe Ruth League of Grosse Pointe Farms-City will open its 1980 season on Saturday, May 3.

The American League opens its schedule at Kerby Field at 10 a.m. with the Tigers playing the Red Sox, followed at 1 p.m. with the Indians against the White Sox. The Yankees have a bye for Saturday.

The All American League begins its schedule at Elworthy Field on Saturday, May 3, at 10 a.m. with the Twins facing the Angels followed at 1 p.m. by the Brewers playing the Red Legs. The Rangers have a bye for Saturday.

The players, managers, and coaches look forward to a successful season.

base on an error and went to third on a Dan Shine hit. With runners on second and third, Tom Gentile got a base hit, enabling Koueiter to score and Shine to move to third. Shine scored moments later on a Fred Chave sacrifice fly, giving South a 2-1 lead.

Roseville scored two more runs in the sixth after Yott had given up a walk and hit. The next batter bunted, and after all the confusion was over, the two runners had scored, giving Roseville the victory. Yott was tagged with the loss.

South increased its lead to three, five and finally six, only to see Port Huron score six runs in the seventh and wipe away the deficit.

Port Huron hit Mike Palazzolo hard, but he got some hitting from his teammates in the last half of the seventh to record the victory.

Mike Hartman reached first on a Port Huron error. He stole second and reached third on a Brian Dalby grounder. Hartman crossed the plate with the winning run on a double by Jim Blondell.

Mike Fellows and Yott pitched in the victory over L'Anse Creuse North. Yott got the win after losing earlier in the week.

The two teams battled throughout the game, but the Blue Devils took advantage of a throwing error to win the game.

Eric MacMichael led the eighth inning with a single and then stole second. Yott hit a grounder to third, but the third baseman overthrew to first and MacMichael crossed the plate with the winning run.

The Blue Devils will host Mt. Clemens this week and Roseville next Wednesday, May 7. They will play at Port Huron Northern on Monday, May 1. All games start at 4 p.m.

Second Place For Amy Schatz

Park gymnast Amy Schatz' score of 32.30 was enough for a second place all-around finish in the Junior division at the Eighth National Modern Rhythmic Gymnastics Competition.

Selina Woolery, of Los Angeles, Calif., captured first place honors in the Junior division with her score of 33.30. The all-around third place finisher was Holly Eitelman, of Tulsa, Okla., with a score of 32.00.

CBS Sports Spectacular taped two 20-minute segments of the competition held April 25, 26 and 27, at Cobo Hall and will show these segments on Saturday, May 31 and Sunday, June 1.

Amy Schatz participated in a special exhibition performance that will be featured on the program.

Amy's next competition is tentatively scheduled to be in the Renaissance Cup in the fall.

The first locomotive to be fueled with oil instead of coal ran from Corsicana to Hillsboro, Texas, in 1900 on the Cotton Belt R.R.

North

Two players, senior Teresa Mazzei and sophomore Peggy Cadieux, were named to last year's All-Bi-County second team. (Mazzei plays third base and Cadieux is a pitcher.)

In addition, Sue Shanley, Laura Maslar, and Andrea Evanski (all juniors), made Honorable Mention All-Bi-County in 1979. Maureen Toomey, at first base; Liz Krynski, playing both third and outfield; and outfielder Denise Gray are the other seniors that will be playing for North again this season.

Besides the experience, Coach Taylor points to the team's offensive power as its strongest point. "We should score a lot of runs," remarked Taylor. "Also, the girls have the willingness and ability to play more than one position, giving us a well-balanced defense."

Anticipating a good season, Mr. Taylor hopes the team can "improve their record to .750." He stated that many of this year's team played last season, when the team had a final mark of 10-11, for just under .500.

However, Coach Taylor and the team are not without competition from the rest of the Bi-County League. He commented, "We could take first, but we could also finish fifth with the same kind of season. The Bi-County is one of the toughest softball leagues around, but we're going out to win."

The Norsemen can expect the toughest games from Fraser (the champions last year), Clintondale, and South Lake.

Before opening their league schedule, North played two games. The season opener saw North defeat cross-town rival South High, 5-1. Cadieux pitched a 4-hitter, and aided her own cause with two hits for two RBIs. Shanley also knocked in two runs, and Evanski scored three times.

The Lady Norsemen didn't fare as well in the second game. A seventh-inning rally by Bishop Gallagher was enough to defeat North, 13-12. Cadieux hit a 3-run home run, and Shanley had three hits in a losing cause.

LOCALS STAR

Local participants in sports at Kenyon College this year include Merrill Robinson, of the Farms, a University Liggett School graduate who is a member of the Kenyon women's track program; and Drew Peterson, of the Park, a graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School, who earned a letter and an award for sportsmanship as a member of the Kenyon basketball team.

League Action In the Farms

By Jerry Henry

In Grosse Pointe Farms' majors action, the Reds jumped on the Indians for an easy victory, 16-8. Four of the Reds' runs came on a first inning grand slam home run by Will Fitzsimons. Kevin Mihalik had three hits for the Indians.

The Tigers edged the Pirates, 11-8, behind the outstanding hitting of Tim Fellows, Geoff Breiden and Tom Fellows. Tiger Ricky Jungwirth struck out 10, allowing only six hits. Ryan Hoeh had two hits for the Pirates.

The Phils, behind the strong pitching of Robbie Wood, defeated the Yankees, 17-10. Yankee player Paul Gryzenia made two run-saving catches in centerfield.

Park League Begins Play

By Joy Williams

The Park Little League kicked off its 1980 season on Saturday, April 26, with a parade and a full schedule of opening-day games.

Rich Cordova led the Giants to a 22-5 victory over the Indians, as he hit four home runs in four official times at bat and drove in a total of nine runs.

In a pitchers' duel, Pirates Mike Congdon and David Feys combined for a no-hit victory over the Dodgers, 3-0. Dodger pitcher Bruce Benoit struck out 14 batters in six innings. Congdon and Feys each struck out seven batters in three innings. Pirate doubles were hit by Feys and Mike Rogers.

The Orioles defeated the Yankees 12-9, in spite of a home run by Yankee Jerry Holley. Tom MacMillan, Tim Overbey and Mike Grill hit doubles for the Orioles.

The White Sox downed the Red Sox 4-0, on the one-hit pitching of Albert Shaheen. The only hit against Shaheen was a double by Dan Gibney of the Red Sox.

The Red Legs beat the Cardinals 6-1, in spite of an unassisted double play by Cardinal shortstop Steve Addy. Addy caught a pop-up and was able to tag out the baserunner attempting to reach second.

Park Minors

In minor league action, Chris Sherwood of Michigan drove in the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning, which enabled Michigan to score a come-from-behind victory over Minnesota, 15-14.

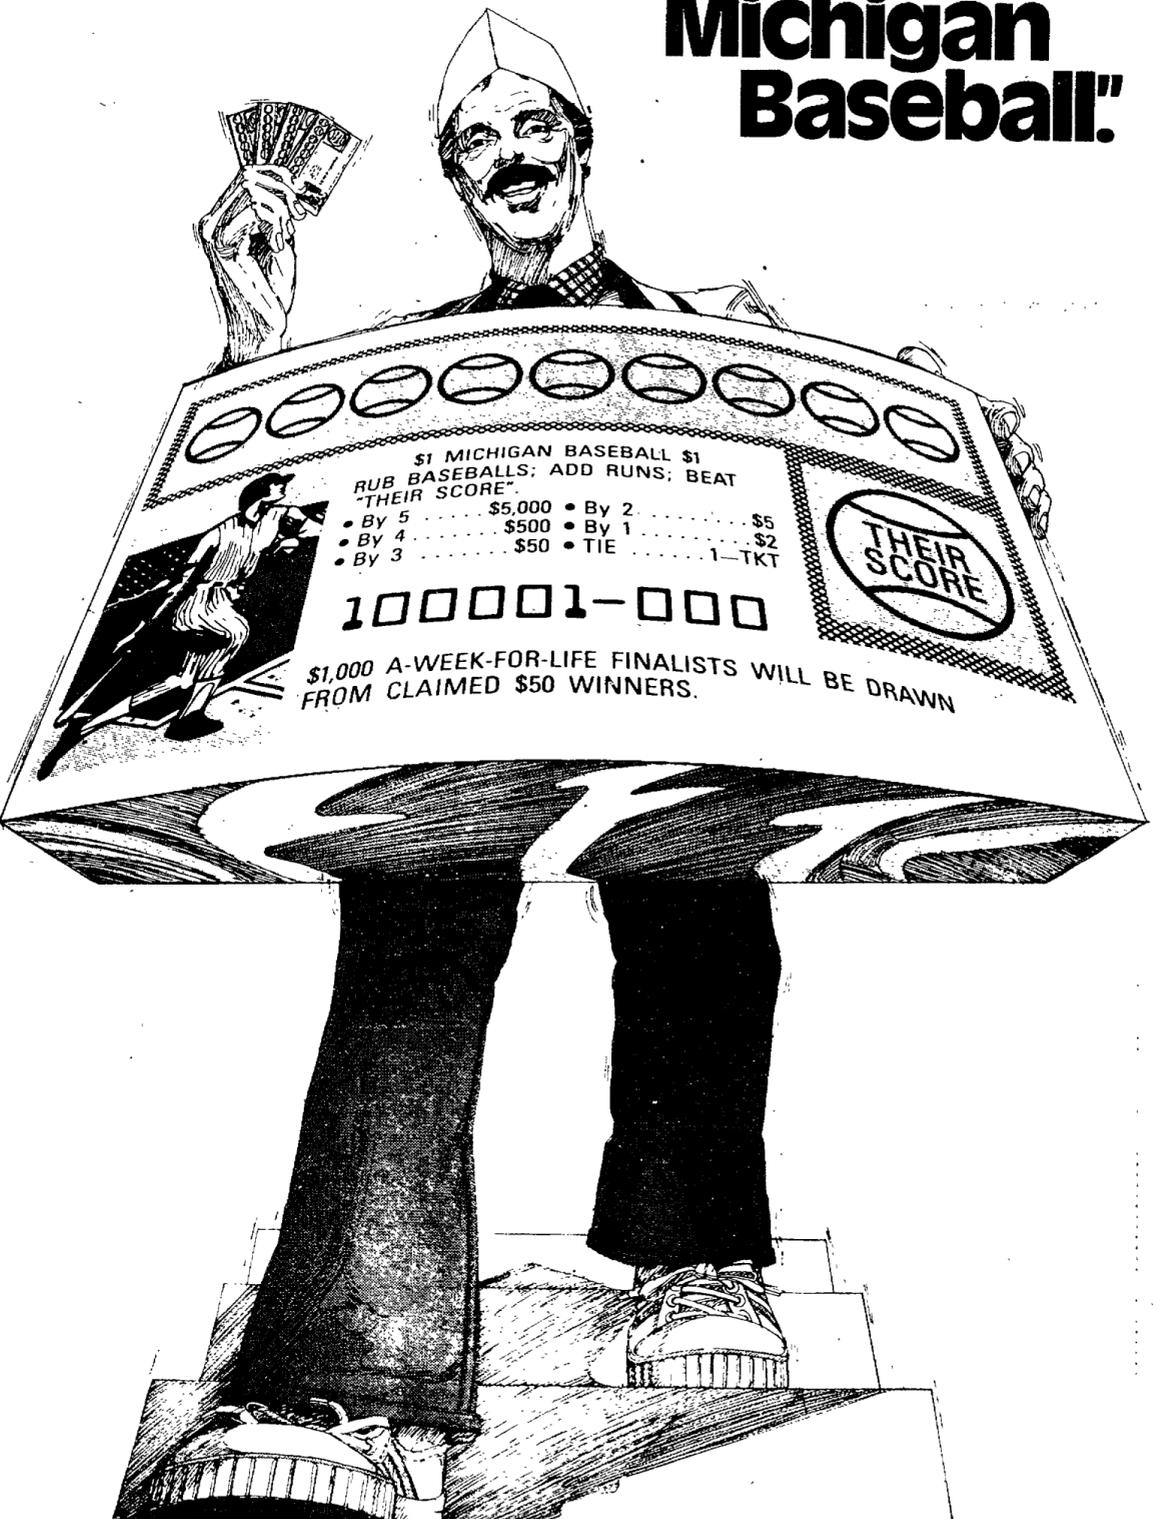

Michigan doubles were hit by Clint Henderson, Jamie Antonson, Bret Henderson, and Joey Tedesco. Matt Montagne tripled and Bill Potts, Ted McDermott, Paul Blum and Peter James doubled for Minnesota.

After Jason Whelan, Ethan Dettmer and Mike Coffey scored for Indiana at the top of the first inning, Wisconsin had to wait until the bottom of the sixth to drive in Kim Darke, David Kosmas and Rick Darke. Jon DeWitt's home run provided Wisconsin with the difference in the ball game, as they downed Indiana 4-3.

Two-run homers by Jeff Lass and Greg Petrilli enabled Ohio State to defeat Purdue, 10-7.

Michigan State downed Illinois 14-4 on the strength of a grand-slam home run by Tom Wood and doubles by Wood and Gordon Markle. Steve Berg doubled for Illinois.

Smithsonian Restores, Shows Depression Art

By Margery Byers
Smithsonian News Service

Some were packaged by the pound and sold as junk. Some were purchased as scrap paper for prison inmates or abandoned in wastebaskets and trash piles. But other paintings, murals, drawings and sculptures produced under government sponsorship during the New Deal have somehow survived decades of neglect to resurface and win new interest.

By March of 1933, 14 million people were out of work. Banks closed, factories were shut down and one-time members of the middle class sold apples on street corners.

At a time of bread lines and soup kitchens, art was a luxury. Artist O. Louis Guglielmi later wrote: "The artist, a highly sensitive person, found himself helplessly a part of a devastated world. Faced with the horror of the realities of the day, he could no longer justify the shaky theory of individualism."

The new President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, declared a New Deal to defeat the Great Depression and to provide jobs for the unemployed. Despite protests from some who considered art frivolous, sculptors, painters and printmakers were included in various projects, such as the WPA. "They have to eat, just like other people," said Harry Hopkins, FDR's aide.

They didn't eat particularly well. They were paid as little as $25 a month. Often they had to pool their funds to rent communal lofts where they lived and worked.

But they did produce — everything from drawings to bronzes, tens of thousands of works produced under the WPA programs were hung on the walls of hospitals, schools, colleges, libraries, armories, courthouses, even prisons. Murals and sculptures commissioned by the Treasury Department decorated federal buildings.

Many of the artists subsisting in the cold lofts on their meager WPA allotments echoed the nation's sense of despair and disillusionment in their works. Others reflected a more secure past by celebrating rural America and the American traditions.

Some works had a short life. A WPA administrator in New York City burned hundreds of drawings and paintings in an incinerator because he considered them not only trash but subversive as well. They dealt with social justice and the unionization of labor, favorite topics among some of the artists of the period.

But other paintings and prints were saved — some at the last minute, others almost by accident. One group was sold for heating pipe insulation, but the contractor discovered that, when heated, oil paint drips.

A New York restorer and framemaker heard about the contractor's dilemma and paid $5 each for more than 300 paintings. Among them were works by artists later to become distinguished abstract expressionists — those of Mark Rothko, Jackson Pollock and Adolph Gottlieb.

Much of the work in preserving and restoring the New Deal art of the '30s has been carried out by the Smithsonian's National Collection of Fine Arts in Washington. The effort began more than a decade ago with a phone call to the museum, then in the process of re-formation, from someone at the United States Department of Labor offering "old paintings." The works were stacked in offices and back corridors.

The Smithsonian museum arranged for the transfer of these paintings, and they became the nucleus of its extensive collection of more than 1,500 examples of Depression art. Because the aid programs were under the direction of the Treasury Department or the WPA, the majority of these works were "rescued" by the General Services Administration and given to the National Collection.

Many were unvarnished and covered with dirt, grime and grease. Restoring them to exhibition quality required both hard work and unusual cleaning processes, since many were done with inferior paints.

Many of these paintings were shown recently in a special NECA exhibition, "After the Crash," timed to the 50th anniversary of the 1929 stock market collapse. A selection is always on view in a permanent gallery.

Some of the WPA artists are now only obscure footnotes in art history. One artist had such an amusing patter as he worked beside colleagues in a jointly rented loft in New York that they urged him to go on stage—his name was Zero Mostel.

Some artists such as, Ben Shahn and Arshile Gorky, were well known even then.

Others developed into leaders of the post-war renaissance of American art. Among them were not only Pollock, Rothko and Gottlieb but also Louise Nevelson, David Smith, Alexander Calder, Isamu Noguchi and Milton Avery.

In 1972, the GSA, custodian of the government's warehouses, presented the National Collection with four paintings by now preeminent artists that had been lost for nearly 40 years — two by Stuart Davis and one each by Joseph Stella and Loren MacIver.

As they became more successful, some artists often obscured their association with federal arts projects, perhaps embarrassed to have created art for hospitals, post offices and welfare institutions. Peter Hurd felt differently, and in later years he helped to restore an outdoor fresco he had created in Alamogordo, N.M.

The WPA and Treasury programs provided a bare livelihood while preserving the skills of artists whose creativity would not have survived without help. Many artists would have starved or given up. For them, it also was important to be recognized as useful members of society.

"Even though artists were existing on minimal salaries, many had a chance to devote themselves wholly to art in a way never possible before," said Joshua C. Taylor, director of the National Collection. "Furthermore, they found themselves associating with a much wider segment of the public, facing issues that had not earlier intruded into art's charmed circle. There developed a consciousness of the place of art and the artist that was to change irrevocably the course of art in the country. The visibility of post-World War II art sprang from the experiences of the 1930s."

Norsemen Rated No. 1

By Wright Wilson

According to the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association poll, the varsity baseball team at North High is rated number one in the state. So far, the team has been deserving of the honor by posting a 7-0 record.

North opened its season by sweeping nonleague doubleheaders against East Detroit, South High, and Detroit Osborn. Last week, the Norsemen beat Lakeview in their first Bi-County League matchup.

Against East Detroit, junior Bill Babcock pitched a 2-1/2 shut-out, and Tom Shook threw a 3-hitter in the nightcap as North downed the Shamrocks, 5-0 and 3-1.

Rainouts caused the South doubleheader to be played on two successive days, but that failed to hamper the Norsemen power. In the first contest, Bob Brown and Shook collected three hits each, while Babcock allowed only four Blue Devil hits. Shook and Mike Seagram combined for 7 RBIs as North plastered South, 13-1.

The next day, North was again victorious by a 3-0 score. Shook had a no-hitter until the last inning, but settled for a one-hit shutout. Junior John Clem contributed two hits including a run-scoring double.

Detroit Osborn came the closest to beating the Norsemen, as North squeezed out a 4-3 win in the bottom of the eighth inning. Brown's bases-loaded single won it for the Northern squad. Winning pitcher Karl Kurtz struck out 11 Osborn batters for his first win of the year.

In the nightcap, North displayed awesome power by turning the game into a home-run derby. Seagram hit two homers, and Brown, John Vens, and Dave Monark had one each as the final score ended up 15-3. Junior John Hackett chalked up the win from the mound.

Most recently, Shook pitched a no-hit game against Lakeview to open the Bi-County League slate. It was Shook's third straight win, and North's seventh without a loss. North scored six runs as Matt Costello hit a two-run homer and an RBI double. Seagram had three hits, and Al Lucido chipped in with two more.

This week's schedule marked the Norsemen for three more league games. North took on Roseville Brablec and Lakeshore on Monday and Wednesday (after press time).
