"The prank that stank" might be the best way to describe the vandalism that took place at South High School last week. Three high school senior boys painted the roof in a salute to their graduating class. The students were arrested by the Farms police and the school has confirmed it will press charges. Steam cleaners were called in to remove paint Friday, April 2. A story about the incident is on page 2A.

Tax appealers get lucky

By Susan McDonald

If you were one of the more than 250 homeowners who appealed their property tax assessments in Grosse Pointe City last month, there's an excellent chance you received some relief.

City Assessor Dennis Foran says the Board of Review decided to lower assessments for almost 70 percent of the complainants who went before them this year. The average was reduced by about $4,000, he said. In all the board managed to knock more than $1 million off the City's tax base during the five days of review.

WHILE THAT may sound like good news to homeowners, city officials don't view it in the same light. With tax man success stories spreading around town, the Board of Review is likely to be swamped again next year with appeals. And, what's more, many of the appeals appear to be based on solid ground.

That is why Foran and assessors from other Grosse Pointe cities plan to meet soon with Wayne County taxation officials to discuss the possibility of a complete, door-to-door re-assessment of property before next year's tax bills are sent out to homeowners.

"The equalization process, the application of factors year after year to property values, has just pushed some of them up too high," Foran explained. "It's obvious we do have some problems in certain areas, like Fisher Road for instance.

"We need to bring in proper relationships between neighborhoods, old and new homes, etc.," he said.

The City, which last reassessed in 1978, is not the only local community to experience such problems this spring. The Woods, Shores, Park and Farms were all swamped with appeals this year and granted significant relief to many homeowners. Assessors in all those cities, except the Farms, said they are also considering the massive job of a field reassessment next year.

In the Woods, which did its last reassessment in 1975, the Board of Review faced 500 appeals last month and reduced valuation on about 30 percent of those, according to Frederick Hornfisher, comptroller-assessor.

"I'm considering a reassessment," Hornfisher said this week. "But a lot will depend on the situation next spring. It's going to be an unusual year because, in my view, property values will be going down for the first time in my memory."

Shores Finance Officer Ellen West said officials there have been talking about a reassessment for several years. "We haven't done one for 10 years, so I guess we may be due." The township's Board of Review heard 108 appeals last month and granted reductions totalling $430,000 to 40 homeowners, she said.

THE PARK'S Assessor James Ellison said he's considering the door-to-door approach next year too. It's been 10 years since a reassessment was done, he said. His Board of Review is still hearing appeals this week and firm figures on reductions are not available. But he estimated that 30 to 40 percent of the complainants will see some relief.

Potholes filled with motherly love

By Tom Greenwood

While the road to Hell may be paved with good intentions, a portion of Lakeshore Road to Detroit has been partially re-paved by an action minded group of Grosse Pointe women with great intentions.

Taking matters into their own hands (and after receiving the permission and blessings of the Farms Police Department), 15 members of MAP (Mothers Against Potholes) invaded Lakeshore Road Wednesday March 31 and began professionally patching potholes.

Aided by Farms police and protected behind orange traffic cones, the parka and hockey helmet clad MAP members began pouring cold patching asphalt in every possible pothole they stumbled over or in.

According to Sue Kinnaird and Kitty Gushee, organizers of the event, the "band aid" approach was a protest against the "macho attitudes" struck by the Farms City Council and the Wayne County Road Commission over who's going to pay for leveling out Lakeshore.

"We've purchased four 50 pound bags of cold patch at a cost of $4.50 a bag," said Ms. Kinnaird. "It's easy to apply. If we can do it, why can't they?"

The entire application took about an hour, and stretched for about half a city block.

While they worked, the women swept up the road, picked up debris and waved at supporters who drove by honking their horns and shouting encouragement.

Ironically, while the women were doing their own patching, two orange trucks from the road commission were doing the same thing about 1,000 feet in front of the MAP demonstration.

"I'm sure their being here while we're working is just a coincidence," said Ms. Gushee, rolling her eyes skyward. "I wonder who tipped them off?"

Questioned by a reporter about the demonstration, the driver of the lead truck answered with a terse "no comment" and stared straight ahead at the road.

The men shoveling out the asphalt behind the truck were more cooperative.

"I can understand their frustration," said Ed, a husky man busy with his shovel. "We're frustrated too.

Hospital will buy Seven-Mack center

By Mike Andrzejczyk

St. John Hospital will exercise its option to buy the Seven-Mack Shopping Center over the next five years, director of development L. Michael Smith told the Woods council at its Monday, April 5, meeting. He said the hospital will operate the shopping center as it is now for the rest of the decade.

Smith told the council it was time to "begin and continue a dialogue between the hospital and the communities," in hopes of clearing up misunderstandings about the hospital's five year plan to buy the leases of the tenants and make improvements in appearance and signage at the shopping center.

The hospital signed a lease in March, 1979, with an option to buy the Seven-Mack area, Smith said. Its goal is to control the spread of blight in the area and to protect parking for the store patrons and hospital employees.

Present tenants have been told their "leases are sacred through 1987," he said. After that, leases will be reviewed on a yearly basis, not as a tool for hospital land acquisition, but because it is part of the hospital's plan of development for the rest of the decade, Smith insisted.

"WE SEE NO reason to use the land for construction of any type of health care facility," he said. "We realize the potential for further commercial development of the retail space, but we do not anticipate this occurring until after 1990."

The hospital will continue to make improvements at the shopping center, Smith told the council, by replacing the existing Seven-Mack neon sign and adding a new front to the vacant Wrigley building. The hospital has already improved security in the area, he said, and talked Arbor Drugs, which moved into the old Cunningham's building into making facade improvements on the Detroit side of the building, he added.

St. John would prefer not to use the Wrigley building for further commercial development, Smith said, because parking facilities could not take the added pressure of another business in the shopping center. Although no final plans for building use have been made, Smith said it may be used as finance and material office space to ease crowding in the hospital's facilities.

No patient care center will be put in the building, Smith stressed, and no additional staff would be added to man the offices if they went in. The move would be a relocation of staff now working in crowded facilities, he said.

Smith and the council agreed to establish meetings between the St. John planning staff and the Woods' Planning Commission to discuss the hospital's development plans and to keep open communication between the hospital and the city.

The hospital has not made any projections for development after 1990, Smith said.

"At least through this decade, perhaps we could lay to rest the rumor of hospital grand plans as they relate to the Seven-Mack Shopping Center," Smith concluded.

Woods Councilman Thomas Fahrner said he was "very happy (St. John) came out with their plans" for the area.

"I'm delighted that they are willing to sit down and talk about the Seven-Mack Shopping Center," he said.

Frederick Lovelace, another council member, shared Fahrner's opinion and said that many residents in the neighboring area (Bournemouin, Linville and Raymond Roads, in particular) have expressed concerns to him about St. John's plans for the shopping center.

"I feel much more comfortable after what I heard last night," Lovelace said on Tuesday, April 6. "There has been a fear that St. John was going to gobble up Seven-Mack and we were going to lose it from our tax base.

"Smith said they're not going to do that—at least not for 10 years and that's great. I'm very pleased to hear they're going to make some improvements in the store fronts there, as well," Lovelace said.

City offices close April 9

Municipal offices in the five Pointes will be closed all day Friday, April 9, in observance of Good Friday.

Rubbish pick-up schedules will be affected by the holiday in only two cities. In the Park regular Friday pick-ups will be done on Saturday, April 10, according to James Ellison. The Shores will conduct large item pick-ups today, April 8, instead of the normal Friday routine.

School board filing deadline is April 12

By Joanne Gouleche

Board of Education President Jon Gandelot may walk into the voting booth June 14 with only one challenger to his four-year seat.

Grosse Pointe Woods resident Robert Clark is Gandelot's sole contender so far in the 1982 Board of Education election. Persons seeking the $400 a year board position have less than one week until April 12 to file nominating petitions at administration offices, 389 St. Clair. Those petitions must contain the signatures of 20 registered voters in the Grosse Pointe public school system.

LAST JUNE'S board election followed a similar path when incumbent Catherine Brierly and contender Ernest Buechler were the only two names appearing on the ballot.

Gandelot last month announced his candidacy to seek re-election to the board seat he overwhelmingly won in 1978. The 36-year-old attorney said during his four-year tenure on the board, staff administrators have been reduced and school millage has been lowered and successfully renewed by voters again.

But challenges ahead in the next four years for the school board, Gandelot said, are "even greater than those we have faced and met in the past four." High on the 1982 campaign issues list are enrollment declines, school funding and staff salaries, Gandelot said.

"I intend to campaign in the same vigorous manner that I did four years ago, and to speak to the issues as I see them."

Gandelot, a Grosse Pointe Farms

resident, has served as board treasurer and vice-president. Last July, trustees re-elected him to a second term as president.

Contender Clark said his campaign strategy will be to convince Grosse Pointe voters of his desire to be a trustee "of the people." The 28-year-old North High School graduate points the finger at the current seven-member board for failing to effectively communicate its policies and decisions.

Clark vows to "make myself as visible as possible" if he gets the vote on June 14.

Clark has been active in politics since 1976, campaigning for Gov. Milliken and Sen. Robert Griffin. He said lack of funds forced him to drop out of the 1981 Woods council race.

The only sure issue to face voters June 14 is an advisory question asking taxpayers if they would support a $3.5 million bond issue for a new enclosed community swimming pool in the south end of the school district.

Last month the board unanimously approved the advisory question that also asks taxpayers if the board should conduct a $125,000 pool feasibility study.

Parents and group called Citizens for a Community Pool have been before the board since last March trying to convince trustees of the need for a new pool for South High School swimmers. The group claims South's 20-yard, four-lane pool is inadequate for competition.

Trustees have made it clear with parents that if the June 14 pool vote is positive, the pool project can still be turned down by the board.

We've worked on this road many times, but you can't repair Lakeshore with just two shovels.

"There used to be 40 men in our road repair crew, now we're down to just nine guys. We've got more trucks than we've got drivers."

"Yeah, we've also got more commissioners than drivers too," said another worker, who shall remain nameless. At this point, a load of MAP workers parked behind the slowly moving trucks and asked if the crew would accept a load of debris the women had collected.

Disarming them all with a big grin, the driver of the second truck lowered the back and the women began throwing their debris in the back.

Meanwhile, the tight lipped driver of the first truck came out and began gesturing at his workers, pointing heatedly at the women and reporters nearby. When a TV crew from Channel 4 pulled up, the road commission crew jumped in their trucks and drove off while MAP members ran after them still trying to throw debris into the back of the second dumpster.

Sporting a hockey helmet, Alexandra Mackey was one of several "Mothers Against Potholes" who last week began a cold patching potholes on Lakeshore Road. The women said they were protesting the "macho attitudes" of the Wayne County Road Commission and the Grosse Pointe Farms Council for delays in repairing the crater-torn road.

Easter comes with Bach, balloons

Easter festivities in Grosse Pointe this year will be highlighted by Bach concerts, pancake breakfasts and special communion observances marking the resurrection of Christ at local churches.

A special Easter highlight in Grosse Pointe each year is the annual Good Friday Tre Ore service sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Ministerial Association. The three-hour service beginning at noon at St. Clare of Montefalco Church, Mack and Outer Drive, will be led by clergy and representatives from several local churches. Seven 20-minute segments will focus on one of the seven last words of Jesus on the cross. The public is invited to attend.

Under the musical direction of Frederick DeHaven, Christ Church will present "The Bach B minor Mass" Good Friday, April 9, 7:30 p.m. at the church, 61 Grosse Pointe Boulevard. The evening will feature assistant concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, F. Gordon Peterson. Tickets at $5 and $3 may be purchased at the door.

"The Shroud of Turin: Is This the Photograph of Jesus Christ?" is the title of a Good Friday lecture at the Assumption Cultural Center, 21800 Marter Road. Lecturer the Rev. Francis L. Filas of Chicago's Loyola University will discuss evidence indicating the shroud was Jesus' burial cloth. The 7:30 p.m. lecture will be followed by audience questions.

Jay Maire, a fourth year seminarian from Concordia, will deliver a 7:30 p.m. Good Friday sermon at Christ the King Lutheran Church, 20338 Mack Avenue. A 1974 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, Maire will be ordained in the Lutheran ministry this spring.

On Holy Saturday, April 10, parishioners may have their food baskets blessed at Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic Church, 575 Ballantyne, at 1 p.m.

Easter Sunday will be extra special this year at Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, 17150 Maumee, when youngsters will prepare food to share with the congregation following the morning service. The youngsters will also release helium-filled balloons from the church's memorial gardens on Easter Sunday.

Easter pancake breakfasts are being planned at Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, 240 Chalfonte, Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church, 211 Moross, and at St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, 375 Lothrop. Check church offices for reservations.

Other Grosse Pointe churches are planning usual Good Friday and Easter Sunday services.

Students arrested for 'prank'

By Tom Greenwood
What started out as a "senior" prank backfired for three South High School students last week when they were arrested for malicious destruction of property and trespassing on school property by Farms police.

The three boys, (two are 18, one is 19) are accused of climbing onto the roof of the school Wednesday night, March 31, and drawing faces and writing obscenities with paint.

According to police reports, officers were sent to McKinley Road to check on a car parked in a driveway of a home across from the school. After tracing the license number, the officers searched the area, but couldn't find the owner of the car. As they were about to leave, the police said they heard muffled voices from the area of the school.

As they searched the grounds, two male students ran from around a corner of the building. The boys allegedly refused orders to halt and were chased down by Cpl. Cardella and Pl. Dan Jensen.

After the suspects were taken to the Farms police station, officers found four cans of purple, blue, green and white paint at the school. Corresponding smears of fresh paint were found on the clothing of the students.

According to their statements, the students said they drank a few beers and decided to pull a prank in honor of the graduating class at South High School.

After obtaining some paint, the boys said they used a gate propped against a wall to climb onto the roof of the school. The two arrested students also implicated a third friend who escaped when he saw the police approaching.

The third suspect was arrested the next day.

Benjamin Zenn, director of Support Services for the school system, confirmed that the school intends to prosecute the students.

"We have met with the parents of the boys and they have agreed to make full restitution," he said. "The expenses will be paid for at no cost to the citizens of our community. The roof has been steam cleaned, but we also intend to have that area inspected for further damages. We'll also inspect the area on the school grounds where the cherrypicker used to reach the roof was parked. If it's damaged, that too, will have to be paid for by the parents."

While Zenn was unable to as yet ascertain total damages to the school, a spokesman for the Acme Pressure Cleaners Company that removed the paint said the job would run "at least $1,500."

Zenn confirmed the students (unnamed because they have yet to face arraignment) have been suspended by the school until after Easter vacation. They will be charged with malicious destruction of property over $100, a felony which can carry at least a year in jail, and with trespassing on school property.

Police confirmed that one of the students has had a minor brush with the law in the past.

City salaries: Correction

Jewelry taken from store in smash and grab

An undetermined amount of jewelry was taken Sunday morning, April 4, in what police are calling a "smash and grab" breaking at Edmund T. Ahee Jr. Jewelry Co., 20139 Mack in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Woods officers were alerted to the robbery 4:15 that morning when an alarm sounded at the store, located two blocks north of the Woods municipal building and public safety offices.

Arriving at the store, officers discovered the glass on a lower portion of the eastside front door broken out with what police found later to be a brick.

Once inside, police found glass both inside and outside the jewelry store. In addition, three showcases located in the center of the store had been smashed into with bricks and pieces of concrete.

Although a complete inventory has not been finished, reports indicated that ladies' jewelry was missing from one display case, men's jewelry consisting of tie tacks, money clips and other items were taken from another case, and charms for bracelets were taken from a third.

"They didn't get much," proprietor Edmund Ahee Jr. said, adding it was the first robbery at the jewelry store. He said police had told him the robbers could not have been in the building for more than 30 seconds because of quick police response to the scene.

Police believe the getaway car was parked on the Oxford side of the building. Jewelry and footprints were found there, reports said.

Officers on the scene reported seeing no southbound traffic at the time of the incident. A car later identified as stolen by Detroit police was found in front of a Detroit home and released to Grosse Pointe Woods detectives for their investigation in connection with the breakin.

Circuit Court convicts Defer custodian

A Harper Woods man employed by Grosse Pointe public schools was convicted last week by a Wayne County Circuit Court jury for involuntary manslaughter in the death of a Detroit woman.

The man, Carl Suchoski, 51, was a custodian at Defer Elementary School in Grosse Pointe Park from July, 1979 up until the time Suchoski's car smashed into a Little Caesar's Restaurant, 22844 Harper, last June.

The incident resulted in the death of 39-year-old Carol Elbode who was dining at the restaurant with her family. Suchoski said his brakes failed, but police blood and breath tests showed Suchoski to be legally intoxicated.

Sentencing is scheduled for April 22. Suchoski could face a maximum sentence of 15 years.

Supervisory crew ratifies new contract

Grosse Pointe City Public Safety Supervisory Officers last month ratified a new contract granting sergeants and lieutenants a 15 percent pay increase over the next three years.

The contract gives officers 5, 4 and 6 percent pay increases during the first, second and third year of the contract respectively.

Supervisory officers ratified the agreement March 4. The Grosse Pointe City Council approved the agreement at its March 22 meeting.

Under the contract first year base pay is $26,050 for sergeants and $28,820 for lieutenants.

"The City gave us as much as they could considering the economic climate of today," said Sgt. John Drummond, union representative.

The supervisory officers had been negotiating since last April. The new contract is retroactive to July 1, 1981.

Supervisory officers will receive pension improvements, while the city won the right to change insurance carriers as long as benefits are comparable.

Thomas Kressbach, city manager, termed the new agreement "good" and added "it shows restraint recognizing current economic conditions."

"We tried to address the needs of public safety, in particular in the area of retirement benefits. Some supervisory personnel will be eligible for benefits in the next few years," Kressbach said.

Negotiations are still continuing between the city and public safety officers who have been working without a contract since last July. A meeting with a mediator is scheduled for April 9.

Attorney works for Brickley campaign

Grosse Pointe Woods attorney Jim Perry, 29, has been named Chairman of the Brickley for Governor Campaign for the Grosse Pointes, according to Keith Hartwell, campaign coordinator for the lieutenant governor.

Perry, an attorney with Cox and Booth is a 1970 graduate of Grosse Pointe University School and received a Bachelor's degree from University of Michigan. He received his law degree at Emory University. He is currently vice president of the Alumni Board of Governors at University Liggett School and worked on the Reagan-Bush 1980 campaign.

As local campaign chairman for Brickley Perry will coordinate organizational activities, literature distribution and visits by the candidate.

Video thieves hit Magnetic

Late-night thieves broke into Magnetic Sight and Sound, 17045 Kercheval, March 31, and took about $5,000 in video equipment and tapes, according to police.

The thieves apparently entered the business through a back door by removing a bolt, reports said.

Cable TV pays franchise fees

Franchise fee checks totaling $31,078 were recently presented to each of the five cities served by Grosse Pointe Cable TV, according to Michael Reynolds, vice-president and general manager.

The fees were computed on gross receipts, subject to franchise fees, from the period July 1, 1981 to Dec.

31, 1981. The fees paid to each city were: Grosse Pointe Woods, $12,248, Farms, $5,815, City, $2,963, Grosse Pointe Park, $5,389 and Harper Woods, $4,662. These fees, added to the previous amounts paid since Grosse Pointe Cable TV began operations, bring the total amount of franchise fees paid to date to $47,086.

Pianists compete next week

By Irene Moran

The second statewide piano competition sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival gets under way with preliminary auditions Friday, April 16, and the finals Sunday, April 18. Both are at 1 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Auditorium. Performance engagements and $2,000 in prizes from the Michigan Foundation for the Arts will be awarded.

During preliminaries, a panel of six will listen to 16 young Michigan entrants display their keyboard skills in both a baroque and a romantic work. Out of the 16 contestants, the judges will select five finalists who will then compete at the finals playing a classic, romantic and contemporary work and, at their option, a concerto.

"As in any competition -- win or lose -- there is always the reward of an added experience for further development," said competition director Alex Sucek. "We are pleased to welcome the young pianist, and we wish them all well."

As in any musical competition, the outstanding performances and atmosphere create much excitement. Contestants' parents, families, teachers and friends, as well as the general public are all welcome to attend both competition dates. A personal scoring sheet will be available. The jury will review the scores and in the event of a tie, the audience scores may serve as a tie-breaker.

The panel of jurors will be headed by internationally known concert pianists Ilse von Alpenheim and Mischa Kottler. Sitting with them will be Oakland University pianist Flavio Varani, Detroit-born pianist Cynthia Raim, Felix Resnick, Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra conductor, and Dr. David Daniels, conductor of the Warren Symphony Orchestra.

Admission to the preliminary auditions is $3 and $5 to the finals. For both days the admission is $6. Students age 18 and under may attend at half price. For advance ticket purchases contact the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236. Tickets will also be available at the competitions. For information call 881-7511.

The Piano Competition began when the Music Festival decided to give a young pianist a chance to perform in the festival. A Young Artist Debut Concert became part of the 1980 series and pianist Elizabeth Lesesne was featured. A full house gave her a standing ovation. It was a gratifying evening and the festival members were prompted to make it an annual event.

The Michigan Foundation for the Arts agreed to a $1,000 grant of prize money for the competition. With the support of patrons and a blue ribbon jury, and with the guidance of Detroit's pianist laureate Mischa Kottler, the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival Piano Competition was established last year as a statewide contest for pianists between the ages of 18 and 32.

Out of five finalists, Stephanie Leon was the winner of $1,000 in engagement fees, a piano recital at the 1981 Summer Music Festival for $750 and $250 for a May 16 concerto performance with the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra under conductor Felix Resnick. Second place winner Kenneth Keller received $250. The finalists were all promising young pianists and the jury agreed they merited more recognition. As a step in that direction, this year the Michigan Foundation grant was doubled to $2,000, making it possible for all five finalists to be award winners.

"The Piano Competition was created as a means of identifying Michigan's most talented pianists so that we could help them develop. Monetary help is important, but we also emphasize the importance of giving the contestant an opportunity to gain performance experience," said Sucek, who is also founder and artistic director of the Music Festival.

This year the Recital Award of $1,000 remains the same. A $650 Concerto Award will also be granted, along with a May 15, 1983, engagement with the Warren Symphony, with David Daniels conducting. Awards of $200 each will go to the remaining three finalists.

In an effort to gain more engagements for the five finalists, Michigan symphony orchestra conductors or representatives have been invited to participate in the competition by considering the contestants as possible soloists in their concert series.

The Piano Competition and Music Festival are cultural activities sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association. The Festival, now in its 25th season, opens at the War Memorial Center on July 7, with internationally known pianist Ruth Laredo. Pointer Mrs. Sterling S. Sanford is the Festival's general chairman.

Shores approves 1982-83 budget

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Village trustees in Grosse Pointe Shores adopted a tentative budget Tuesday, March 30, which projects a $62,000 deficit in the coming fiscal year. Amendments will be made to clear up the red ink, Village President Gerald Schroeder said.

The tentative budget was to be enacted before the end of the village's current fiscal year, March 31, under state law. Changes will most likely occur after the yearly village audit is performed and final spending figures for 1981-1982 are in, Schroeder said.

He added that the village doesn't budget deficits.

The budget projects $2.25 million in expenditures offset by $2.19 million in revenues, including property taxes. The $1.5 million in property tax revenues is based on the same dollar amount collected last year, with only new construction being added to the rolls, Village Manager Thomas Jeffers told the trustees.

That property tax figure is not certain, he added, since changes in assessments because of appeals have not been figured into the final amount.

The village has been conservative in estimating revenues for the coming fiscal year, Jeffers told the trustees.

Projections for the 1981-82 year could leave the city with a $54,000 surplus, Schroeder said. While the village had budgeted $2.08 million, revenues could reach $2.13 million, he said.

One reason for the projected surplus was "extremely good money management," Schroeder said, and investments that yielded higher returns because of current high interest rates.

State shared revenue payments for income tax and sales tax were also received, Jeffers told the trustees, which will bring the totals closer to the budgeted figures.

Employment decreases caused by attrition have cut expenditures for salaries, withholding taxes, benefits and workman's compensation payments, Schroeder said.

Other departments are running over budget, Schroeder pointed out. The village Water Department is running over budget because of a combination of shortfalls in water payments and increases for repairing of sewer lines.

In other budget matters, the trustees decided to apply $9,264 in federal revenue sharing funds to defray the cost of salaries in the Department of Public Safety.

The trustees also voted to send $62.32 to the Suburban Detroit Water Customers Association, making it the third Grosse Pointe community to join with more than 70 suburbs fighting 1976 water rate increases charged by the Detroit Metropolitan Water Board.

It was a small expense to keep the issue hot, Trustee Edmund Brady said.

The Woods and the Park also sent allocations based on two cents per capita to the Association.

Oklahoma City is not the only capital with the name of its state in its own name. But few citizens outside that state can think of the other capital city. It's Indianapolis.

A Farms police officer reported that his department later received a complaint from the crew chief charging MAP with "malicious destruction of county property." The charge was denied when a Farms officer on the scene said no destruction had taken place.

Farms police also denied they had received a tongue-in-cheek request from another group called PAP (Potholes Against Potholes) who volunteered to fill the potholes with marijuana. The group's supposed reasoning was that the burning pot would reduce itself to tars and resins, and thus seal the potholes.

While it remains to be seen whether the militant mood of MAP has made a dent in the Lakeshore problem, at least some concrete action will be taken by the Wayne County Road Commission.

Farms Chief of Police Robert Ferber announced Friday, April 2, that the road commission has agreed to install four signs on the north and south bound lanes of Lakeshore warning drivers of "rough pavement" ahead and urging them to obey an advisory speed limit of 25 mph. The current speed limit on Lakeshore is 35 mph.

Assessments

The Farms Assessor Carol Locke is the exception. He reassessed properties in 1979 and says by making adjustments every year he has managed to keep most values in line. His Board of Review granted adjustments to less than 90 or 300 appeals, averaging about $2,500 each, he said.

When cities don't reassess property they adjust its value annually in line with inflation by applying a factor, computed by the Wayne County Taxation Bureau.

Cities receive court study

By Mike Andrzejczyk

A preliminary draft of the Coopers & Lybrand study of the proposed 32-B District court for the Grosse Pointes was presented Thursday, April 1, to city managers from the five cities involved.

City officials refused requests by the News for copies of the study. They said it was a draft of the study presented to the managers for their corrections before being put in final form, and so not public record.

Coopers & Lybrand, a Detroit public accounting firm that performs audits for four of the five Pointes, was authorized in February by councils in four municipalities to look into the court and what it would mean to the area. Grosse Pointe Woods, which first turned down its $1,400 share of the expense, later reversed itself and approved the study March 1.

The study was to look into five specific areas, namely the background of the municipal and district courts, the financial aspects, including estimated revenues and expenses, facility needs, joint community operation and excerpts from state laws governing the courts and other appendices.

The study is still basically in the informational stage, City Manager Thomas Kressbach of Grosse Pointe City said. It will be the latter part of April before the managers will be ready to present the study to their council, he added.

Woods City Manager Chester Petersen, who did not attend discussions about the study, said it was his understanding corrections of the study would be done and returned to Coopers & Lybrand who in turn will make a final report back to the city managers. The next managers' meeting is scheduled for the third week in April.

Park City Manager John Crawford said the study would be presented to the Park Council at its April meeting. The councils involved will use the study to decide whether or not it is feasible to form a district court in the area. Enabling legislation written by Sen. John Kelly passed the state House and Senate in February, and was signed by the governor in March.

Councils have until May to pass consenting resolutions to be forwarded to the Secretary of State's Office so primary election procedures can be started. If one of the municipalities votes not to join the new court, the municipal court system will remain in effect. The Grosse Pointes and East Detroit are the only Michigan municipalities that still maintain municipal courts.

UF plans '83 capital campaign

The United Foundation Capital Fund Division has announced it is accepting applications from local charitable organizations to be considered for inclusion in a possible spring 1983 Capital Fund Campaign. Organizations have until April 12 to file an "Intent to File" form asking for consideration.

The Capital Campaign would help provide funds for new buildings, renovations and major items of capital equipment for nonprofit hospitals and community service organizations in the metropolitan Detroit area.

A final decision on the proposed drive will not be reached until late this year, according to Alan E. Schwartz, senior partner in the law firm Honigman, Miller, Schwartz and Cohn and UF board chairman.

"United Foundation leaders will appraise community needs, specific requests and the economic climate in the coming months," Schwartz said.

"The decision to proceed with a spring 1983 drive and the dollar goal for the campaign will be determined later this year based on the information compiled," he continued.

Those eligible for capital funds will include Torch Drive-supported charitable agencies, nonprofit hospitals and other health and community agencies that are qualified under Section 501(c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code and are located in the UF service and fund-raising area.

UF supported agencies will be informed by letter of their eligibility.

Prime Time
For Senior Citizens

By Marian Trainor

Winds may blow, temperatures may rise and fall like capricious balloons, a few snow flurries may be mixed in with the rain but spring is definitely here. The dirty gray piles of snow are finally gone. Crocuses, those hardy heralds of the glorious blooms to come, are up. There is softness in the breeze. The surface of the lake, gray and humped with jagged winter ice just a few weeks ago, is churning and stirring under a warmer sun. Soon it will be blue and sparkling and sailboats will be skimming over its azure blue surface. Everything in nature is experiencing a new surge of life.

The oldest tree is getting ready to leaf and cast its cooling shade over the landscape. Roses are getting ready to bud and old feathered friends are beginning to return and spike the air with chirps and trills.

Nature is not easily defeated. Each year it comes alive once again without concessions to age.

WE ARE creatures of nature, also, but somehow we let the years diminish our enjoyment of life. How many times we hear older people who, with some effort and determination could remain in the mainstream of life, hold back and say, "I'm too old."

In our particular climate there is some reason for curtailed activity in the winter months. Going places and doing things is not inviting when winter winds blow and streets and roads become treacherous with ice.

But in the spring when the world of nature is stirring and getting ready for a summer of "business as usual," it is time to break out of the winter doldrums and become part of the rejuvenation that spring can work in all who are willing to live as long as there is life to live.

The whole theory of not giving up on life because of years was well expressed by Thomas Jefferson in another context. Speaking of government, he suggested that ideally governments should undergo a fundamental change every 20 years. This could well be applied to our lives. We should expect to change with the years but we move forward with a different, slower beat. There's no reason to resist change. If we have successfully made it to our golden years (a triumph in itself), we should not be afraid of challenges. We owe ourselves the priority of putting quality living into the bonus years remaining.

There is so much available to us. We have more time to spend with our families and friends. We may have less income but with family obligations fulfilled, we are relieved of those expenditures. We need less.

MANY PEOPLE hold back because they are so influenced by our youth-oriented society. They have been led to believe that young is beautiful and when one reaches a certain age it is time to withdraw from society.

This is not true. Looking deeper we are reminded that the people who spin the earth on its axis in world affairs and governments, in business and in the arts are people well on in years. The magic of making life enjoyable is not in counting the years but in our perspective and our willingness to do something with them.

There are many examples of older citizens who have done just that. A stellar example is President Reagan. He is a paradigm of an older person who refuses to let age be a barrier to achievement.

For women, there is the distinguished lady Anna Rosenberg Hoffman who emulates those in the springtime of life though she is well past that season. She is a senior partner of a prosperous public relations and management consultant firm. She has been an advisor and confidante to mayors, governors and presidents. She is the only woman ever to serve this country as assistant secretary of defense.

Those who will receive certificates of recognition are 50 volunteers from Food and Friendship and 15 from Home Repair and Referral. Fifty volunteers from Star of the Sea parish who delivered hot meals to shut-ins will also be honored as well as people from the community who have helped on other projects.

Chairman of the event is Jan Coulter. Those who helped to plan the party are Julie Brinker, Helen Francis, Edith Miller and Helen Salbert.

Pauline Masak dies at 71

During the difficult depression and war years in Grosse Pointe there was one person who seemed to know just how to pull people out of their sadness. That person was Pauline Masak, who hired on in 1933 as the Neighborhood Club's recreation director.

"Pauline had a real knack for creating activities to lift people out of their troubles," said her long-time friend Nancy Mahoney. "When the club was serving as a USO during the war she organized dances. Then there were breakfasts for the boys going off to war."

"She had such enthusiasm and joy. Everybody who worked with her or for her or participated in any of her programs loved her."

Miss Masak, 71, died last Wednesday, March 31, at St. John Hospital. Funeral services were held Saturday, April 3, at Verheyden Funeral Home. Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

Miss Masak was fresh out of Michigan State Normal College, where she received a degree in physical education, when she was hired by the Neighborhood Club's director then, George Elworthy. The two of them built the club from its social service beginnings to the full range educational, recreational and entertainment center it is today.

"She was way before her time in some ways," said the club's current director John Bruce. "She started all our girls' programs — basketball, baseball, gymnastics — in the early 1960s."

"Pauline was a professional in the true sense of the word. Nobody ever saw the down side of her," Bruce said.

After Miss Masak's retirement in 1974, she continued to volunteer at the club, work for a local hospice and enjoy her personal favorite pastime — golf.

Memorial tributes are being collected at the Neighborhood Club to the Pauline Masak Memorial Fund.

Meeting clears way for Sunningdale sewer

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The stumbling-block, at least for a short time, appeared to be curbs when residents and Woods officials met Monday night, March 29, to discuss sewer, watermain and street replacements on Sunningdale Drive from Fairway to Sunningdale Park.

Councilmen, the directors of Public Safety and Public Works and city engineers Pate, Hirn and Bogue spent about an hour talking to 25 Sunningdale Drive residents, discussing how long the project will take and what residents will get out of it.

City engineers proposed replacing a shallow 24-inch sewer from Fairway to the old Milk River with a deeper, larger sewer. At the same time, a watermain will be replaced under the existing sidewalk, and a new street will be poured that will be one foot wider than the existing pavement.

The most efficient and economical way to replace the sewer will be to remove the existing trees and replace them with a better, hardier, though smaller type, engineers said. Otherwise, the contractor would have to tunnel through existing root structures to put in the sewer. The tunneling, Beautification Commission representative Barbara Hayes said, would shorten the life of the tree to about five or six years.

Residents along the sewer construction strip would have trees placed on their parkways 40 feet from center, or roughly two per lot, City Administrator Chester Petersen said. Even those lots with no existing trees would get one, he added.

The new combined sanitation and storm sewer will be about a foot larger in diameter than the existing line. Residents will have their home lines automatically picked up and attached to the new line, officials said.

The Woods council decided to put the sewer in on the residential side after Pate, Hirn and Bogue determined the right of way on the north side, owned by Lochmoor Country Club, would not be large enough to facilitate work. In addition, engineers pointed out that leads for the north-side sewer would have to be run under the pavement.

That would mean tearing up the street to replace the line if there was a break, city engineers said.

The five councilmen present at the hearing assured residents the country club would not be hooking into the new sewer to pump water from its golf course.

The residents were more interested in information than confrontation, however, and asked questions about financing of the project, parking for those displaced by the street repaving, and whether or not the new sewer would clear up the chronic street flooding problem in the area.

The city, they were told, had made plans for the street improvements in its Community Enrichment program for fiscal 1982-83. If money had to be borrowed by the end of the year from the improvement fund to balance the city's budget, the project may not be undertaken, city engineers said. The project would not involve a tax levy, residents were assured.

The street repaving would be done in sections, so that displaced residents whose driveways were torn up could park along the street, or along Sunningdale Park, Holiday or Fairway, Public Safety Director Jack Patterson said. As construction proceeded down the street, the new pavement would be opened to parking after it had been cured properly.

The size of the sewer and the new grades in the street will help get water off the street faster, engineers said. The present grades are pretty well gone because of shifts in the pavement, and water collects in places where the catch basins aren't located. The new grades, the engineers said, will facilitate the flow of water to the catch basins, and although the street is planned to be slightly lower than it is now, it will shed water better than it does now.

Basement flooding, however, is another story, engineers said. The new line may be able to carry storm water more efficiently, but residents with flooding problems will have to make separate arrangements for the lowering of their basement drains, city officials said.

Residents did request and receive assurance the new street will have vertical, or squared curbs, instead of the rolling slope curbs. Residents complained the rolling curbs were too easy to drive over, and told city officials about ruts cut along lawns by cars driving on the grass to avoid water in the street.

The squared curbs would be easier for cleaning and plowing, Public Works director Leonard Ocelnik said, and since they added no cost to the original estimates of the project, the council asked that all specifications of the project include the squared curbs.

The meeting was held basically to reach a consensus among residents and city officials, Petersen said, and before bids were sent out. Having decided the project was necessary, the residents were happy and the money was available, the council instructed Petersen to get to work with city engineers to prepare and advertise the projects.

The project probably won't begin until mid-May, city engineers said. After that, it may be mid-October before the last of the sod is laid, the last tree planted and the new sewers are ready to use.

St. John to replace heart equipment

St. John Hospital's request to replace 10-year old cardiac catheterization equipment was approved by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan's project review committee last month and was forwarded to the agency's executive committee for action at its March meeting.

The total capital cost for the project is just under $1 million, according to a press release from the health council.

St. John offers heart surgery and has reported that patients must wait from two days, in emergency cases, to five weeks, in non-emergencies, for the procedure, according to the council. Since its equipment was installed, there has been an 11 percent annual increase in its use, hospital officials say. More than 6,000 catheterizations have been performed.

The council is the federally-designated health system planning agency for Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties.

Experience Easter at St. Joan of Arc

St. Joan of Arc Church presented "An Easter Experience" Palm Sunday, April 4, at the church at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

The program is based on the book "His Last Days" by Dallas Holm about the last week of Jesus' life.

Senior scores on state level

Taking first place in the state DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) competition last weekend at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency was South senior Sue Leiter.

To win, Sue had to take three different tests: a choice test, a multiple choice test in which she placed first, and an oral test, in which she had to prepare a speech presenting a problem and its solution.

The top eight finalists in each category received medals and an invitation to attend the national competition to be held June 27 to July 1 in Chicago. Sue's category is general merchandising, master employe level.

Sue was also awarded a $200 scholarship, which she plans to use next year at Rhema Bible Training School in Oklahoma where she will study for the ministry.

Rotarians Remie Laenen and Thomas Youngblood, (far left and center), co-chairmen of the Auction Party held recently at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club presented a check for $30,000 to William Peters, chairman of the Grosse Pointe Rotary Foundation. New courses on schools' roster

The Department of Continuing Education of Grosse Pointe public schools will announce its spring/summer schedule in a flyer to all residences in the school district the week of April 5.

Those who do not receive a flyer may call the post office serving their home. Telephone number of the Fox Creek station is 226-6488, the Mack Avenue station is 228-6498.

The yellow flyer lists a total of 214 sections of classes to be offered beginning the week of April 19 in seven areas: Arts and Crafts; Careers and Vocations; Special Interest; Sports, Dance and Exercise; Cooking; Sewing; and Foreign Languages.

The spring/summer roster includes 66 new classes, including such seasonal topics as gardening, bicycling, canning, home improvement, small engine repair, camping, fishing and barbecue.

A new feature of the program is inclusion, for the first time, of classes to be offered in the early summer. Evening and Saturday classes will be held at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, 1100 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Shores.

A special feature of the spring/summer roster is a series of offerings for the community's aging population and for those concerned with the problems of the aging. A pre-retirement class, "Are You Planning for Your Retirement?" for those from age 30 on will begin on May 3. A new offering, "Successful Retirement Living," begins on May 5.

A new co-sponsor for the spring/summer term is the Northeast Guidance Center. Dr. Jonathan York, director, and other staff members, will instruct three single-session classes, "You and Your Aging Parent," "Senility — Myths and Realities" and "The Next Step: Volunteer to Employ."

Again in the spring/summer term the Continuing Education program includes a number of "one-night stands," single-session classes offered morning, afternoon, and evening covering a wide range of subjects. Although the majority of these are scheduled for the month of May, a number are available during the last two weeks in April and throughout the month of June.

A number of offerings are provided free of charge by the Department of Continuing Education. They include "Community Crime Prevention," co-sponsored with the Crime Prevention Bureau of the Detroit Police Department and Seniors Onward for Change.

Other no-fee classes are "Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation," co-sponsored with the Patient Education Department of St. John Hospital, and "Home Ownership in the Pointes," co-sponsored with the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange.

The Detroit Film Theater will show the 1981 film, "The Hungry i Reunion," in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium Friday, April 9. Show times will be at 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Tickets at $2 or $1.50 for senior citizens, and D.F.T.'s 10-ticket discount book may be purchased in advance through the museum ticket office or at the door.

Called "vivid and moving . . . mordantly funny" by the New York Times, the film of last year's reunion of stars who appeared at the San Francisco nightclub, the hungry i, includes performances by Mort Sahl, Jonathan Winters, the Kingston Trio, Professor Irwin Corey, and rare footage of comedian Lenny Bruce, among others.

Martin Scorsese's 1978 film "The Last Waltz" will be featured Saturday, April 10, with 7 and 9:30 p.m. showings in Dolby Stereo. The film includes a record of the 1976 farewell performance of The Band, with Joni Mitchell, Neil Young, Van Morrison, Bob Dylan and others.

Detroit Film Theater's tribute to Alfred Hitchcock will continue Sunday, April 11, with his 1943 work, "The Lifeboat." Based on an original story by John Steinbeck, the film vignettes the drama and conflict among shipwreck survivors Tallulah Bankhead, William Bendix, Walter Slezak and Hume Cronyn. There will be only one showing at 7 p.m.

Tuesday through Thursday, April 6, 7, and 8, and again Saturday, April 10, the Detroit Institute of Arts Afternoon Film Theater will feature the 1953 Japanese film "Muddy Waters," directed by Tadashi Imai. Tickets for the single 1 p.m. showing of the film in the museum recital hall will be available only at the door for $1.

Studying the lives of three women and their places in Japanese society between 1868 and 1912, the film underscores the frustrations under the oppression of feudal hierarchies.

For its cinematic excellence, "Muddy Waters" was voted "Best One" the Japanese equivalent of an Academy Award for the year.

This film is one of Afternoon Film Theater's current "Made in Japan" series which reflects the struggle of Japanese film makers to redefine their cultural identity following the Western influence of World War II's Occupational Forces.

For a detailed Afternoon Film Theater "Made in Japan" schedule, or to order tickets for weekend showings, call the museum ticket office at 832-2730.

MESC merges Job Service area offices

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) is separating its Job Service from its Unemployment Insurance functions within the City of Detroit and consolidating all Job Service activities into two offices, each serving a geographical section of the city and surrounding areas, MESC Director S. Martin Taylor announced today.

The reorganization, completed in March, results in two Job Service offices, one on the eastside of the city and one on the westside, and five unemployment claims offices.

The Eastside JS office, 4321 E. McNichols, opened on March 22 and serves the areas of Detroit and Highland Park east of Woodward Avenue as well as the cities of Hamtramck, Grosse Pointe Park, Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Woods, Grosse Pointe Shores, Harper Woods, and parts of Warren, St. Clair Shores and East Detroit south of Ten Mile Road.

Taylor said that the reorganization results from recent federal budget cuts which drastically reduced Job Service staff in Detroit.

"Within the last six months, we have lost 92 Job Service workers, leaving us with only 120 employment specialists to serve Detroit. Consequently, we're pulling together our remaining resources in Detroit so that we can continue serving job seekers and employers as efficiently as possible," Taylor said.

Suburban Detroit MESC offices and outstate MESC offices are not affected by this consolidation, he said.

In addition to separating Job Service and unemployment insurance operations in Detroit, allowing each operation to work without interruption from the other, the reorganization will provide some benefits to both job seekers and employers. The Job Service consolidation will eliminate duplicate registration of applicants at several offices, yet will give applicants access to job openings citywide.

UI claimants, required to register at JS, will not be inconvenienced by the changes nor will travel requirements be imposed upon them because of the separation. Two to three JS interviewers will remain in each UI claims office to register claimants for work and to perform eligibility review interviews, MESC said.

This reorganization does not effect those receiving Trade Readjustment Allowances (TRA). They should continue to report to UI branch offices for information on TRA funds for training, job search and relocation.

Both the Eastside and Westside Job Service offices will offer all of MESC's employment services, which include interviewing, job referral, counseling, testing and job bank, a computerized listing of jobs available statewide through Job Service.

Job Information Service, a self-help center of job finding tips, occupational information, local, state and federal civil service announcements, information about jobs in other states and labor market information will also be in the offices.

Employers can call Job Service for qualified workers to fill their job openings. Job Service will pre-screen the applicants and refer only those applicants who meet the employer's specifications. Employers can even arrange to interview job seekers in the MESC office to cut down on traffic and distractions in their own place of business. Job Service can also provide information on labor market data, bonding, applicant testing and hiring requirements for federal contractors.

Remaining Detroit MESC offices will distribute unemployment benefits. MESC offices at 4501 Michigan and 13501 Schaefer will serve the westside; MESC offices at 4729 Conner and 13303 E. McNichols, the eastside; and the office at 8600 Woodward, the mid-town area.

The MESC Day Labor office, 4629 Cass in Detroit, will not be affected by the change. MESC Domestic Placement office, formerly located at 10351 Woodward, closed in February, but its staff has been transferred to the two new Job Service locations where they will register domestic workers and provide domestic help to employers and homemakers.

Landmark Smoker Study:

Merit Earns Taste Trophy.

Rigorous smoker tests confirm MERIT as proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking.

Just released—the results of extensive new research conducted by MERIT.

The conclusion: In tests comparing taste and tar combined, MERIT is the clear choice over leading higher tar brands.

MERIT Remains Unbeaten.

In impartial new tests where brand identity was concealed, the overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Moreover, when tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Taste Turning Smokers To MERIT.

In a separate part of this study, smokers report that MERIT taste is a major factor in completing their successful switch from higher tar brands.

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers say MERIT is an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Potbellies vs. potholes

Perhaps those Grosse Pointe Farms women who patched some of the worst potholes on Lakeshore Drive last week have come up with an idea that could be converted into a permanent solution to the problem.

If the legal dispute between the Wayne County Road Commission and the Grosse Pointe Farms City Council over financing the repaving of Lakeshore cannot be resolved soon, the council might require all able-bodied Farms residents to contribute a number of hours or days a year to filling in the potholes on the heavily traveled drive.

Such a program would not only reduce the number of potholes on Lakeshore but it might also cut down on the number on potbellies in the Farms as well. We hastily add that we're referring here, not to the "Mothers Against Potholes," but to some of their husbands and some other portly males in the Farms.

There is precedent for such a program of work on the streets. In years past, farmers in rural townships often were required to contribute a certain number of days a year to the repair and maintenance of their township roads. If they didn't comply, they had no one to blame for their bad township roads but themselves. In fact, peer pressure from neighboring farmers was quite effective in persuading every farmer to do his work assignment on the township roads.

So the "Mothers Against Potholes" could have started something. It would be especially appropriate for the program to be started in the Farms since it was the early-day farmers who followed the township road work practice. Today the program could be broadened to include entire families and to welcome especially those approaching the potbelly stage.

The idea would not have to be limited to Grosse Pointe, of course. The Detroit Free Press estimated the other day that there might be more than 4,000,000 potholes in the state. That would be more than one for every family in the state. So instead of hiking the state gasoline tax to improve our highways, perhaps the Legislature could require every family to adopt and fill in at least one pothole.

And we know there are plenty of potbellies outside of Grosse Pointe that would benefit from the exercise.

The decennial dilemma

Redrawing of commissioner districts in Wayne County, the state's legislative districts and Michigan's congressional districts is still a matter of contention in the courts, the State Legislature or the Wayne County Apportionment Commission.

The Michigan Court of Appeals threw out the first plan for reducing the commissioner districts in Wayne County from 27 to 15. The Michigan Supreme Court struck down the state's system for remapping legislative districts on grounds it was unconstitutional. And the State Legislature still is battling over the reduction in congressional districts to the 18 now required by the 1980 census figures.

WITH MICHIGAN's primary election set for Aug. 3, all three reapportionments must be completed well before that date to give people time to file for office in their new districts. Wayne County Clerk James Killeen, who is chairman of the Wayne County Apportionment Commission, said absentee ballot applications must be ready by May 20 and preparations for the primary contests obviously will have to be completed well before that date.

So what's the problem in all three jurisdictions?

The problem is that political leaders, candidates and the parties are all jockeying for position to try to get the districts redrawn in such a way as to serve their own interests. Gerrymandering of districts is a time-honored custom—and is still known in Wayne County and the state generally in the modern era.

Yet different courts offer different interpretations of fair reapportionment plans. Thus the Michigan Court of Appeals gave the Wayne commission 12 days to modify its original plan or adopt a new one on the grounds that the original proposal was not a "good faith" effort to achieve districts of equal population. But the Michigan Supreme Court earlier had ruled that population equality should not be the major consideration in adopting apportionment plans for the Legislature. And the U.S. Supreme Court earlier has adopted some criteria of its own for reapportionment fairness.

Some citizens might ask what difference redistricting makes. Well, it can make a great deal of difference. In one proposed legislative redistricting, for example, the Grosse Pointes would have been divided among three separate House districts. It appeared to be a Democratic effort to dilute the Pointes' Republicanism and eliminate its representation in Lansing. In Illinois' recent primary, the first in the country this year, several incumbent congressmen were defeated because, they claimed, the Illinois Legislature had remade their districts to guarantee their defeat.

EVEN THE COURTS on occasion appear to have yielded to political pressure in remaking district lines or in accepting or rejecting proposed reapportionment plans. In a state with a long history of political contention over redistricting on the county, legislative and congressional levels, we cannot expect early solution to those problems. But citizens ought to examine closely the new districts to try to determine whose ox was gored, which political party was benefitted and who was responsible for the results.

What we all learn in the end is that it is much easier to talk about plans to implement the one-man, one-vote principle than it is to achieve it.

Buckling up to save lives

A narrow escape from serious injury in a freeway accident has convinced a Grosse Pointe lawyer that Michigan ought to have a law requiring motorists to buckle up their seat belts.

As we've said before, we, too, favor such legislation. This year it would appear to be a logical companion to the 1981 law that became effective April 1 and helps protect small children riding in moving vehicles in this state. But let's get back to our friend's experience.

Driving home from downtown on the freeway, he came up over a sharp rise to find traffic almost stopped immediately ahead of him in his left hand lane. Seeing the brake warning lights flash on the car right in front of him, he jammed on his brakes just in time to avoid running into it.

Before he could breathe a sigh of relief, however, his station wagon was rear-ended by the car following him. In the crash, the car that hit him was heavily damaged, our friend's station wagon was caved in and our friend shaken up. But he escaped serious injury, he believes, because he was wearing his seat belt. So he's a convert.

As we have said, just last week saw the effective date of the new Michigan law that requires parents to keep children under the age of 4 restrained while they are riding in moving vehicles. Children under the age of 1 must be placed in an approved infant car safety seat in either the front or back seat. Children between 1 and 4 must be in a car safety seat if riding in front or be protected by a seat belt if they ride in the rear.

While the law won't be enforced until May 1, drivers violating it will be subject to a $10 fine but no points will be added to a driver's record. The fine can be waived if the motorist shows evidence of having met the new safety requirements. Commercial vehicles and motorcycles are exempt and so are non-resident drivers, children being nursed and children with medical problems.

It was the Michigan Child Passenger Safety Association that lobbied the bill into law in 1981 as part of its effort to "create another educational tool with a little more force behind it than a billboard or poster." In 1980, a total of 810 children under 5 were killed in U.S. accidents involving cars in which they were riding—and 26 were in Michigan.

Now that Michigan requires this protection for youngsters riding in automobiles, it would seem sensible to require somewhat similar protection for adults. In fact, legislation to require motorists to buckle up their seat belts already is pending in Lansing but it is running into heavy weather from those who feel that attempts to enforce such a law would result in an invasion of privacy.

That could happen, of course, if law enforcement officers did not use a sensible approach. But in Canada, Sweden and a number of other foreign countries, similar legislation, after arousing a few protests at the start, appears to have been well accepted by the public. And there is evidence that the increased use of belts is saving lives and preventing injuries.

Automobiles manufactured for the American market already are required to provide seat belts or other restraints. The new legislation that is being proposed would simply require people to use them. And while some drivers insist they have the right not to hook up, which is true at the present time, they also may be unnecessarily endangering other passengers as well as other motorists when they don't.

The proposal calls for a trial period for the mandatory use of seat belts in Michigan. We think it's worth a trial as a logical follow-up to the legislation that now helps protect children under the age of 4 while they are riding in moving vehicles.

Here's another Lakeshore solution

To the Editor:

An attorney for Grosse Pointe Farms says it would not be fair for the city to use tax money to repair Lakeshore Road.

As a citizen of that city, I'd like to cast a vote for spending the money. Perhaps the city fathers could take the money they voted to spend to purchase and demolish Old Kerby School and use it on fixing up Lakeshore.

Many of my fellow citizens are unaware that upwards of $120,000 will be spent to create a parking lot which the city does not really need (they already have the use of the one which is there) on the site of the Old Kerby School behind the municipal building.

This expenditure is totally unnecessary and was made by the city so that no one else would get the property and create possible problems for the city. They claim they need additional parking spaces, although they contractually have use of almost the entire lot surrounding the school now.

If the city should be embarrassed and reluctant about any expenditure, it is this, which benefits so few, especially while so many are discomfited about the Lakeshore mess.

I don't really care who fixes it, and if it takes my tax dollars, let's do it. At least we'd see some results for our money.

Or, they could just close down Lakeshore, and turn it into a parking lot for city employees. Now, maybe that's a solution!

Assessments blamed on legislators

To the Editor:

The recent increase in assessed property valuation is both unfair and unjustified. The housing market is depressed, mortgage money is almost impossible to obtain, and few if any homes can be sold at the values established by the assessors.

Meanwhile, it means higher taxes for most home owners in the Pointes, and this places a specially severe burden on retirees and others on a fixed income.

A large number of these people are members of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP). I would like to urge each AARP member to write to his or her state representative and state senator and demand that assessed valuation be rolled back to 1981 levels, and to remind them that there is an election coming up this fall.

The state legislators are the ones who are responsible for this latest increase, betraying the public after talking about property tax relief last year.

Run dishonors Palm Sunday

To the Editor:

At the moment, I recall the story of a clergyman, who, one Sunday morning, golfed a "hole-in-one." His exultation was short-lived when suddenly he realized his dilemma. With whom, other than the devil, could he share his good fortune?

The "Fun Run" scheduled for the morning of Palm Sunday, one of the most holy days in all Christendom, took place. To the committee, the runners and to the winners we ask: "To whom, other than the devil, may they proudly proclaim their achievement?"

Such an event, albeit in the name of charity, casts a shadow of open disdain, discourtesy and dishonor on Him who on that day did make his triumphant entry into Jerusalem.

Pool deserves no vote June 4

To the Editor:

This is one more voice in the growing chorus of opposition to the Board of Education's spending in excess of $3.5 million of taxpayers' money for yet another swimming pool.

The number of retirees on fixed incomes in the Grosse Pointes is growing steadily every year. Property taxes are at record highs, and yes, there is unemployment in our community. It is unbelievable that the Board of Education would consider—even for one minute—this proposal as set forth by a group of spendthrifts who think nothing of wasting taxpayers' hard earned money on the duplication of existing facilities. Four outdoor and at least four indoor pools certainly should be enough for any community. Good grief! If more water is needed for swimming, there is always Lake St. Clair. With the number of really worthwhile projects that have been postponed or discarded for lack of funding, to saddle the community with this expense is nothing less than unconscionable.

There is only one way to stop such foolishness and that is to nip it in the bud with a re-sounding no vote on the June 4 ballot.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

"Many young musicians who have played with the Grosse Pointe Symphony have gone on to become professionals. I'm sure our orchestra was an excellent training ground for them." The speaker is Felix Resnick, a violinist with the Detroit Symphony and longtime conductor of the Grosse Pointe Symphony, the ensemble of top-ranking amateur musicians, many from The Pointe, who four times each season offer Symphony on Sunday Afternoons, featuring an outstanding guest artist at each concert, at a convenient time and place — 3:30 p.m., Parcels Auditorium — and at affordable prices.

"Also," adds Resnick, "I see a constant improvement and increase of interest among the group's veteran players. This symphony is definitely a cultural asset to the Grosse Pointe community as well as to the Greater Detroit area."

Through the years, the Pointe Symphony's concerts have provided a platform for many fine solo artists from The Pointe. The list includes pianist Ruth Burczyk, harpsichordist Alice Lungershausen, pianist Janet Crossen, contralto Johanna Gilbert, duo-pianists Janet Young and Virginia Shover and coloratura soprano Elizabeth Parcels, who made her New York debut last year and has sung several seasons at Germany's Wiesbaden Opera House.

Other notable Pointe Symphony guest soloists have been pianist James Tocco, a native of Detroit who travels 100,000 miles a year in pursuit of his career, South American pianist Flavio Varani, currently at Oakland University, clarinetist David Shifrin, Royal Oak violinists Ani and Ida Kavafian, who play nationally, and Detroit-born pianist Cynthia Raim, who has gained a reputation both in the United States and abroad and will tour Europe next year as a soloist with the New Orleans Symphony. Michigan Opera Theatre artists have sung with the Pointe Symphony. Many Detroit Symphony talents have been spotlighted on the Pointe Symphony concert stage, including first cello Italo Babini and concertmaster Gordon Staples.

The future looks equally bright. Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival award-winning pianist Stephanie Leon, of The Pointe's musically gifted Leon family, is scheduled to perform at the May 16 concert. The tradition of excellence continues in the 1982-83 season, which will feature pianist Ralph Votapek, first winner (in 1962) of the Van Cliburn competition, followed by Kathleen Segar, a Detroit Grand Opera Association scholarship winner who went on to become a first place winner this season in the Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions.

The other two Pointe Symphony soloists in 1982-83 will be the winner of this year's Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival piano competition at the War Memorial and Marcy Chanteaux, assistant first cellist with the Detroit Symphony.

A Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association, now headed by Mado Lie, was organized in 1965 to raise funds for the orchestra, to increase concert attendance and to promote community interest in classical music. "Swing into Spring" is the latest in this energetic group's series of efforts on behalf of their orchestra. Committee members for the party include Marjorie Fahim, Ruth Collins, Sandra Dretmann, Marilyn Coticchio, Ann La-

They're all set to Swing into Spring . . .

The Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association will "Swing into Spring" with a gala party, featuring high fashion, dinner and dancing, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club Sunday, April 25. Co-chairmen GEORGIA BALOG and MAUREEN ALLISON (standing, center, left and right) and honorary chairmen MR. and MRS. MAL SILLARS — he's the meteorologist at WDIV Channel 4 TV — promise a full and varied evening, leading off with a Saks Fifth Avenue-Fairlane designer fashion show during the 5:30 p.m. cocktail hour. A London broil dinner will be served at 7, after which there'll be dancing to the Big Band beat of a seven-piece orchestra led by CHET BOGAN (seated at the piano) from 8 to 11. "We're widely known for Dixieland," says

Chet, whose jazz nights at The Lido pack them in every Tuesday, "but for this party we're putting together a great repertoire of Big Band favorites: the sounds of Harry James, Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey and others. It's very danceable music — just try to stay off the floor!" Among the many prizes to be awarded during the evening are a $300 lady's watch and an exotic hybrid orchid display by Grosse Pointe Botanical Gardens. The serious purpose behind all this fun, food and fashion is additional financial support for the big classical music sound of Grosse Pointe's own symphony, which celebrates its 30th anniversary this fall. The party is open to the public. Tickets, at $37.50 per person general admission, $50 per person patron, are available at Village Records and Tapes on Kercheval Avenue. Reservation deadline is a week from Saturday, April 17. For a bit of background on the Pointe Symphony itself, and a bit more about the "Swing into Spring" night, check out this week's From Another Pointe of View.

Benson-McKee rites are read

Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore was the setting Saturday, January 30, for the noon wedding of Eula Marie McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw Conrad McKee, of Kenwood Court, and Michael James Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Benson, of Fraser.

The ceremony at which The Reverend Arthur E. Lovely, S.J., presided was followed by a reception at the Country Club of Detroit, after which the newlyweds left for a skiing vacation in northern Michigan. They are at home in Princeton, N.J.

The bride chose a traditional gown, styled with an Alencon lace bodice featuring a sweetheart neckline and Queen Anne collar. Appliqued motifs of matching lace accented her skirt and sleeves.

A Juliet cap held her cathedral length mantilla of handsewn Belgian lace, a family heirloom worn by her mother and aunt godmother, Mrs. Gerard Gunther Jr., who came from St. Louis Mo with Mr Gunther and Gerard Keane Gunther III, Peter White Gunther and John McNeerney Gunther, for the wedding.

The former Miss McKee carried the pearl prayerbook that had been carried at the wedding of her mother's godmother, Hazel Owens Beesch, with a corsage of white Sweetheart roses and baby's-breath.

She was attended by the bridegroom's sisters, Joan Marie, Michelle Diane and Diane Lyn Benson, in dresses of cornflower blue Qiana, styled with tulip hemlines and spaghetti-strapped bodices, and Eton jackets. Each carried a nosegay of baby blue daisies and white mums.

Best man was John McNeerney McKee, of Brevort, brother of the bride. Ushers were two other brothers of the bride, Maximilian Bradshaw McKee and Patrick Joseph McKee. Mrs. McKee selected an ensemble of pink silk shantung and a wrist corsage of white roses and baby mums for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother chose a long-sleeved, full-skirted, belted gown of periwinkle blue crotin and a corsage of mums and carnations.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. John McNeerney, of Toledo, O., wore a dress of re-embroidered, royal blue Alencon lace with a long-sleeved jacket. Both the bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. Michael Benson, of Mount Clemens, and Mrs. William Daniels, of East Detroit, attended the ceremony.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's godfather, Charles Louis Palms III, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and her maternal uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Norris James McNeerney, who came from Toledo with John Howard and Melissa Ann McNeerney, and Mr. and Mrs. John Peter McNeerney, who came from Fostoria, O., with Caroline Anne, John Peter and Timothy Harold McNeerney. Also on hand for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dimick, of Whitefish Bay, Wis.

Miss Chicoine wed in Pointe

A reception at the Grosse Pointe Club followed the early evening wedding of Carolyn Elizabeth Chicoine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Mason Chicoine Jr., of Stratton Place, and Michael John Zouras, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Zouras, of Redondo Beach, Calif.

The Reverend David B. Antonson presided at the 6 o'clock rites Saturday, December 5, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. The newlyweds returned from a Caribbean cruise to make their home in Albuquerque, N.M.

The bride's gown of ivory satin de lis featured a Queen Anne neckline, an Empire bodice appliqued with pearl re-embroidered Alencon lace and a skirt extending into a lace-edged, cathedral length train.

Her triple-tiered, cathedral length illusion veil fell from a Juliet cap of matching pearl-trimmed lace. White orchids and stephanotis formed her bouquet.

Her attendants, in floor length dresses of crimson taffeta and matching jackets, were honor maid Tracy Ann Barlow and bridesmaids Melissa R. DeWall, of Dayton, O., Jennifer C. Johnson, of Bloomington, Ind., and the bridegroom's sister, Sally Zouras, of Long Beach, Calif.

Luncheon will be followed by election of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Edgar Hahn and Mrs. M.L. Van Dagens will assist as co-hostesses.

Holt, of New York, educated at Yale and Fordham Universities, fellow of the American Society of Genealogists and a trustee of the Board of Certification of Genealogists, will provide "Some Approaches to Upstate New York Genealogical Research" at 10 a.m. Holt's articles have appeared in "The New York Genealogist and Biographical Record," "The Genealogist," "The American Genealogist" and other journals.

Children's colds bear watching

Most colds in the first year of life are relatively mild, with sniffles and sneezes plus some coughing the common signs. After the first year, however, the situation can shift.

Children over age one often start colds with a sudden high fever. Sometimes the fever lasts several days, even before the signs of a cold appear. Although this sudden fever may only be the sign that a cold is on the way, parents should contact the doctor just in case, a high fever can occasionally mean a more serious infection. It's better to check it out.

There are no known cures for most colds, but a child's doctor can help relieve some of the symptoms and help him/her breathe easier.

If a cold spreads deeper into the chest the infection can affect the bronchial tubes, the air passages of the lungs. A mild form of a lung disease called bronchitis can occur even without fever and constant coughing. But frequent coughing, with or without fever, demands a call to the doctor, who can administer medication to clear up the infection.

Be sure to call a doctor if your child has a fever that lasts more than two or three days, a severe headache, chest pains, hard coughing spells, earache or rusty-looking sputum. Sometimes what seems to be only a cold can be the beginning of a more serious condition.

More information about your child's lung health may be obtained by contacting the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, 961-1697.

Papillons interpret The Passion . . .

Les Papillons Liturgical Dancers will present a dance-drama of the interweaving patterns of events and emotions that led to the Crucifixion on Good Friday evening, tomorrow, April 9, at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church. "Passion Week Kaleidoscope" is a series of vignettes in fast sequence against a background of traditional music. The dancers, including EUNICE WHITAKER (left) and JENNY ESHLEMAN, pictured above illustrating a gesture in the dance rendition of Psalm 137 performed by the Papillons recently in the Woods Presbyterian chancel and videotaped for Cable Television, will recreate moments from the Conspiracy of the High Priests with Judas, the Last Supper, the Betrayal in the Garden and the Arrest and Trial, culminating in the Moment of Crucifixion.

All the dancers will dance several roles. Their frequent entrances and exits create the impression of many people rushing through a series of momentous events toward an inevitable conclusion. Eunice, the group's director and choreographer, will appear as Judas. Mary Lee Strother, Nancy Reed and Ellen Probert will dance the High Priests.

Molly Malecek will appear as Pontius Pilate, JoAnne Spencer as Barrabas. The Three Marys, Jenny Eshleman, Ellen Probert and Mary Lee Strother, will dance their grief as they observe the Crucifixion.

Nancy Reed will dance the role of Jesus - except for the last scene, when the part will be filled by Lizzie Bolden.

The only non-dance role, that of the Roman Centurion, will be played by actor Peter Nyboer, appearing with the Papillons as a special guest for this performance. Steve Honkanan will handle special lighting effects and audio. Russell Reed is the group's photographer.

Les Papillons will also perform at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church during the Easter season, presenting "The Twenty-Third Psalm" and "The Vine and the Branches" at both morning worship services April 18, the Sunday after Easter.

The Liturgical Dance troupe is sponsored by Woods Presbyterian and has appeared for the past three years in churches throughout the metropolitan Detroit area, presenting dramatic dance interpretations of episodes from the Life of Christ, psalms and hymns, dancing to the reading of Scripture as well as to music in worship services of many denominations.

Llywd Ecclestone (1901-1981). Professor Malcolm Johns will conduct.

The four soloists from the choir will be Carolyn Grimes Ish, soprano, Eleanor Felver, contralto, James Moore, tenor, and Davis Gloff, bass. The Reverend Ervin A. Pointe Artists Exhibit
 Pointe Studio Ten, organized in 1964, is a group of Grosse Pointe artists who have been meeting monthly through the years to critique each other's work and to exchange art ideas under the guidance of M. Stirling Allardice. An exhibit of their latest work opened with an afternoon reception last Sunday, April 4, at the Coach House Gallery on Van Dyke Place in Detroit, and will run there through April 30. Gallery hours are noon to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.

The Pointe Studio Ten artists are Marguerite Joseph, Zeena Carnaghi, Bette Prudden, Bayard Kurth, Chloe Boehm, Nancy Proffit, Carol Hackman, Mary Enzer, Edna Bakewicz, Dorothea Krieg — and, of course, Mickey Allardice. Members are well known locally. Several teach in the area and exhibit with such groups as the Grosse Pointe Artists Association, the Detroit Society of Women Painters and the Michigan Watercolor Society, as well as in national and international shows. Most have had previous group and one person shows and won a variety of awards. The group offers an interesting and varied collection of works in oils, acrylic, watercolor, pastel, batik and mixed media.

Sculptured Greenery Day
 The Grosse Pointe Garden Center is planning a late spring Sculptured Greenery Day for members, their guests, and anyone who is interested in the Art of Topiary. The program will begin at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, May 27, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, with a lecture by Lorna Catling and Suzy Rychener, from Vine Arts in Baltimore, Md., on the creation of indoor and outdoor topiary.

In the afternoon there will be a judged Bonsai Exhibit and a sale of 50 unusual plants, including more than 40 varieties of ornamental ivy. All this is free and offered as a gift to the community by the Garden Center . . . but there is even more for those who wish to shape their own whimsical greenery creatures. The first 50 persons who make prior reservations and order a wire frame in advance (various shapes, various prices) may participate in a workshop, starting at 1 p.m., and learn to do it themselves.

Between the morning lecture and the afternoon workshop there will be a subscription luncheon, at $5 per person, which also requires prior reservation. For more information, for reservations for the workshop and/or the luncheon, give the Garden Center a call, 881-4594, by April 29.

The Gift of Life
 Michael Angell, son of Betty R. Angell, of The Pointe, is one of two students attending South Dakota School of Mines and Technology credited with saving the life of an emphysema victim, Virginia Deyo, of Rapid City, who wrote to the college because "I think the good deed of these young men should be recognized."

Mrs. Deyo was attending an evening class last November when she suffered an emphysema attack. Michael, a senior in Chemistry, and Larry Frager, of Yankton, S.D., a freshman in Engineering, administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and CPR, and called an ambulance. Although Mrs. Deyo was hospitalized for 23 days, the quick action of the students kept her alive until the ambulance arrived.

Both young men had taken CPR classes. Mrs. Deyo is the 61st person Michael has aided. "We hear all about all the drug users and bad elements in our young people," Mrs. Deyo wrote, "but there is a large group of young, serious people who are preparing for the future, to be our leaders." She's grateful that, when she needed them, two young people with the knowledge and the quick responses necessary to assist her were there.

Understand and encourage your child's special gifts

How do you know if your child is gifted? What does it mean to be gifted? How can you best help your child develop his or her special gifts?

Here are some guidelines from Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, that may help you answer these questions.

Your child's giftedness may be expressed in many different ways. If you were told your child was highly gifted, what would you immediately think? That she would be able to read, write or do mathematics far ahead of most children her age? That he would have a special gift for drawing, acting or playing a musical instrument?

Most people have ideas of giftedness or creativity that are limited to these kinds of talents; in actual fact, areas of giftedness have no limits. Your child might be especially gifted in using his hands to make things. She could be particularly gifted in her ability to understand other people's feelings, or to remember things and events. Whatever skills a human being can possess are areas of potential creativity for your child.

Children may be highly gifted in one area and average or even below-average in another. There are some children who are smarter, more talented, better coordinated and generally more outstanding than most others in everything they try; these are the ones who are most likely to be noticed as "gifted." But even these children have areas in which they are not outstanding.

And there are many more children whose special gifts may go unnoticed because their talent lies in an unexpected area, or because they seem ordinary in other ways. It is your challenge, and your responsibility, to discover your child's special gifts and give him the chance to develop them.

Every child has the potential to be creative. Creativity is the way in which your child uses his special gifts to express what is unique about him. It is not something reserved only for certain people. Creativity is self-expression. It is a basic human need. People who have never developed their gifts so that they can express who they are can feel a sense of frustration and lack of fulfillment.

You can help your child develop her talents so that she can express them creatively. With opportunity and your encouragement, she will learn to express what she thinks and feels about life in her own special way. Your child's giftedness is part of her nature, but it requires nurturing in order to develop.

Your child will naturally be drawn to activities that give him a chance to develop the special gifts that are a part of his nature, but he needs encouragement and opportunity in order to develop his natural talents. For example: you might notice your child singing along whenever he hears music on the radio, on television or on records you play. Your encouragement, plus some records of his own — not just "children's" music, but a variety of selections of good music — might give him a chance to expand his interest and skill.

Your child needs to develop basic skills in an area before he can use those skills effectively. For example:

he needs to know how to cook before he can combine ingredients in new and interesting ways to invent his own recipes. To be creative, your child must first have "know-how." Then he will be able to use the basic tools and information in an exploratory way, playing around with what he knows in order to come up with a variety of unusual, interesting and unique combinations . . . and that's what creativity is.

Your child needs to use her gifts in order to develop them. How many times have you told your child to do something, then become impatient when she doesn't do it "correctly" right away? How often have you shown her how to use something — and ended up doing it yourself, while she simply watches?

It's easier to take over for your child than to let her do things herself, but it's important to take the time to let her try things until she can do them well. Learning perseverance is an important part of learning to use one's special gifts. It takes a while to learn a new skill. Your child needs the chance to practice it until she masters it.

She needs your support, encouragement and interest in her attempts, even when not completely successful, and your loving patience while she's learning. She needs to do in order to learn to do with skill and creativity.

Your child signals his areas of potential giftedness by how often and how long he is interested in an activity. He will naturally be attracted to certain activities and will want to engage in them whenever he gets the chance. For example: your child might especially enjoy pretending to be people he has seen on television, or in books you've read to him. Or he might be very interested in being with you when you're taking care of your plants or gardening. Whatever your child's interest is, you can best encourage it by:

- Noticing and commenting on his interest: "I see you like to be with me when I'm fixing something that's broken."
- Giving him the opportunity for involvement: "Would you like to try to fix this yourself?"

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month. For more information on the social and physical development of children from birth to six years old.

Offer Renewal Day for women

The Women's Association of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church's Day of Renewal, Part II, scheduled for Tuesday, April 13, at the church, will feature a variety of mini-seminars on such topics as "What You As A Woman Should Know About Money," presented by an investment broker, plus passive and active exercises for all ages and a facial make-over.

Theme of the program, which starts at 9:30 a.m., is "I Am Woman." A fashion show will be presented during lunch. Helen Huber, in charge of the menu, will show how she concocts the various dishes served. Reservations are requested.

Park Garden Club to meet

The Grosse Pointe Park Garden Club meets Monday, April 12, at the Fair Lake Lane home of Mrs. Hillaire Van Hollebeke who will be assisted by co-hostess Mrs. Kenneth Patton. Luncheon at noon will be followed by a business session and Mrs. Elijah Poxson's program on "Floral Paintings." The club recently welcomed two new members: Mrs. Richard Rohr and Mrs. Philip Binns.

Plan 'classy' Christ Church Seniors' day

Christ Church Seniors will have a classy time when they view — and, hopefully, ride in — one of Dick Williams' "Classic" Cars Thursday, April 22. Following lunch in the Church Undercroft, the group will carpool to the home of Mr. Williams, who has graciously offered to show his collection of favorite vintage cars.

Church Women to meet Tuesday

Mrs. Raymond Offerman, president, will conduct the business session when members of the Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Congregational and American Baptist Church gather next Tuesday, April 13, at 11:15 a.m. at the church for their regular monthly meeting.

Luncheon, to be served in the Social Hall by the Sarah Group, is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Program chairmen Mrs. Bernice Bates and Mrs. Howard Price have invited all interested women to display their crafts and handiwork. The Mesdames Bates and Price also promise a preview of some of the articles that will be for sale at the Women's Association's Christmas Mart next November.

The meeting and program are open to all women of the church. Luncheon reservations must be made by noon Monday, April 12, at the church office.

RUSSELL RUGGIERIO, son of MR. and MRS. FRED F. RUGGIERIO, of The Woods, was named to the Dean's List at St. Mary's College, for achieving a 3.25 average in his studies during the fall semester. Ruggiero, a graduate of Cold Spring Harbor High School, is a sophomore theology major at St. Mary's.

Rose Society meets April 14

Internationally renowned rose expert and consultant Walter LeMire, of Windsor, Canada, will be the featured speaker at the Wednesday, April 14, meeting of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society. He will discuss the planting, spraying, and fertilization of roses with simplicity in mind. He will reveal his secrets for getting plants to produce more roses.

LeMire believes one should ask oneself, "Why am I doing all this to my roses? Do they need all this care, worry and attention, or am I doing this work because someone told me to?" The speaker has been growing roses for the last 22 years. He has been a Consulting Rosarian for the last 17 years. He was an original member of the Canadian Rose Society Judging Committee, and in 1967 was appointed an International Rose Judge by the American Rose Society. He won his first ARS award that same year.

Since then, he has won Best Rose in Show at an ARS National Show and a Canadian Rose Society National Show, and Best Rose and Best Exhibit in the World Conference, an international show. LeMire has visited the major rose growers in England, Europe and the United States. He presently operates his own miniature rose nursery in Windsor, "Roses by Walter LeMire."

The Grosse Pointe Rose Society invites any community members who have been growing roses for years or who are relatively new to rose growing to attend next week's presentation on the simplicity of growing roses. The meeting begins promptly at 7:45 p.m. in the Exhibition Room of the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road. Refreshments will be served. Hostesses for the evening are Muriel Hughes, Lucille Bell and Liz Kuhlman.

During the social hour, an information table will feature spray equipment. Various types of sprayers will be available for examination, and experienced rosarians will be present to answer questions. Anyone interested in rose growing is welcome to attend.

Grand Marais Questers meet

Members and guests of the Grand Marais Chapter of Questers gather tomorrow, Friday, April 9, at 9:15 a.m. in the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road, where hostess Mrs. Stanley Smith, of Bournemouth Road, will chair a short business meeting including the annual election of chapter officers.

Mrs. Frank Welchenbach, of Nottingham Road, will illustrate her program on "Stained Glass Windows" with her own color slides, taken abroad and in the United States.

Set Salvation Army Auxiliary's meeting

A meeting of the Auxiliary to the Salvation Army has been scheduled for 11 a.m. Monday, April 12, at Salvation Army headquarters on North Main Street in Royal Oak. June Shada will present the program: "The Woman of Today - A Profile." Reservations may be made by contacting Enid Gee at 642-5145.

Prepare Hutzel party invitations . . .

Saturday, May 8, at the Detroit Golf Club. Proceeds from this year's party will go toward completion of a 140,000-square foot addition to the Detroit Medical Center facility. Tickets for the fund raiser are $150 per couple.

Soroptimists keeping busy

Soroptimist International of Grosse Pointe entertained prospective members on the last Sunday of March with a brunch in the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club's pink and green room. President Valerie Capper and Pat Olis, who chaired the day, welcomed the group. Harriet Helms' brief history of the organization was followed by Maxine Niemeyer's talk on past achievements and future ambitions.

The Grosse Pointe chapter of this international sisterhood recently celebrated its 25th anniversary. The chapter's charitable accomplishments, though generally unpublicized, have been many.

Easter special at Youtheatre

Detroit Youtheatre salutes spring with "Bunny Business" Saturday, April 10. Performances of this Wiggle Club show especially designed for families with younger children, ages three to eight, are scheduled at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium theater. Children younger than three will not be admitted to the theater.

"Bunny Business" features the Bob Brown Puppets, of Washington, D.C., plus Youtheatre's annual live, on-stage visit by the Easter Bunny's mother, Benjamin Bunny and Charlie Chicken.

Tickets at $2.50 for children and adults ($1.75 each in groups of 10 or more) may be purchased in advance through the museum's ticket office, 832-2730, or at the door.

WSU Faculty Wives Club is a 57-year-old organization, founded in 1925 to promote friendship among faculty wives and to stimulate the intellectual growth of members via exceptional speakers and challenging programs. In addition to giving service to the university and the community, the club supports a Scholarship Fund and a Loan Fund for WSU students.

Highlights of this year's annual meeting will be presentation of a $1000 check to the WSU School of Social Work for a project entitled "Oral History of Detroit's Women," directed by Professor A. Krasner. Video tape interviews of 12 contemporary Detroit women who have made pivotal contributions in the areas of community service, cultural development, business and labor, politics and women's rights will be made and placed in the School of Social Work's library.

Both Dr. Krasner and Professor Leon Chestang, dean of the school, will be present to receive the gift, made possible through the contributions of club members, on behalf of their students.

Mrs. Maurice H. Bernstein, of Birmingham, is chairman of the Ways and Means committee which researched the project. She was assisted by Mrs. Gordon H. Scott, also of Birmingham, and Mrs. Lawrence M. Weiner, of Bloomfield Hills.

Serving as vice-president of the WSU Faculty Wives in 1982-83 will be Mrs. Adnan Dajani, like Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Downing a resident of Grosse Pointe Park. Mrs. Eberhard Mammen, of The Woods, will be the club's treasurer.

Recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, will be Mrs. George E. Gullen Jr., of Rochester, and Mrs. Harry Lee Endsley, of Detroit.

Calling Catholic Detroit Women

The annual assembly of the Council of Catholic Women, Archdiocese of Detroit, opens at 8 a.m. Wednesday, April 21, with Archbishop Edmund C. Szoka main celebrant and homilist of a mass to be held at Saint Aloysius Church on Washington Boulevard in downtown Detroit.

Activities then move over to the Book Cadillac Hotel where the business of the day, including election of new officers, adoption of bylaws amendments and vital resolutions, will be conducted by Mary (Mrs. James) Meers, CCW/AD president.

Assembly theme this year is "Peace, God's Gift to Us." Subject of luncheon speaker June (Mrs. John) Shada will be "Inner Peace and The Woman." The day will close at 3 p.m. after the presentation of parish awards.

Husky sales in a "thin market."

Retailers will generate one trillion dollars in sales this year using newspapers as their basic advertising medium. Why? Because newspapers reach the very few consumers who are ready to buy...right now.

On any given day, only a very small percentage of all consumers are actively in the marketplace for any particular product. When's the last time you bought a refrigerator or a new pair of shoes or even a bar of soap?

And these relatively few consumers must be divided among all brands and all retail outlets which carry the item. The trillion dollar retail business resolves itself into a multitude of "thin markets."

To get a share of this "thin" business, retailers advertise consistently to stay top-of-mind with those customers who are ready to buy. They use newspapers because 7 out of 10 adults read a newspaper on the average day and newspapers ring the cash register.

We believe all advertisers can profit from the lessons learned by retailers. Don't limit newspapers to product introductions or coupons or special promotions. Use them day after day to reach your "thin market" and generate sales. Really, all advertising has only one goal...to move the merchandise.

For more information on how newspapers can help you move merchandise, contact Mac Morris, vice president, national sales, or Al Eisenpreis, vice president, retail marketing, at the Newspaper Advertising Bureau, 485 Lexington Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017, (212) 557-1800. Or call your local newspaper representative.

Pointer of Interest

By Janet Mueller

"I can't imagine ever saying no to The Auction." Carole Selmo is talking about THE Auction, Channel 56's television sell-a-thon, a parade of products and services, donated by area merchants, auctioned live on-the-air by local personalities, bid on by phone by home viewers. It's nine days of wild, wonderful fund-raising fun, and Carole's been involved in it since the early '70's, since David, 14 now and a freshman at Grosse Pointe North High, was in nursery school.

It was at a nursery school mothers' meeting that Carole first agreed to "do something" for Detroit's public television station. "One of the women asked if anyone was interested in answering phones for a Channel 56 pledge drive. I thought, 'Why not?' That was the first and last time I worked on a pledge drive."

But on hand during that pledge drive was Channel 56's Agnes Scott, and Agnes, not one to let an opportunity to pick up some new volunteers for 56 slip past, asked Carole's pledge drive phone bank corps if they'd be interested in working for the annual Auction. And Carole signed a slip of paper . . .

SHE WORKED her way up through the ranks. "For a couple of years, I was a go-getter." TV Auction go-getters do exactly what their name says they do: go out and get donations of fresh, high quality items, worth $50 or more, for the bidding tables. From Private Go-Getter Carole moved on to Captain Go-Getter, then to East Area Go-Getter Chairman, then to Chairman of All the Go-Getters. Then, having gotten as far as she could get as a go-getter, she was asked to be a General Auction Chairman. She turned that one down.

"The children were too little," she explains. "When I volunteer, I give a full effort — and I didn't think I could do that and still do what I should be doing for David and Kristina. The job (General Auction Chairman) was too big."

But she didn't turn down the Auction. "I went behind the scenes. That's where I've been for the past four years." For the first two of those years, Carole was co-chairman of general processing. "It was a lot of hours of 'blue jeans' work. Handling boxes, uncrating crates. All the merchandise to be auctioned off went to us first. We had to see that each item was properly tagged, to make sure the donor form was filled out properly. When a donation left us, it went to the warehouse — and the next time we saw it, so did the Auction viewers: when the donor form was being read on-the-air by the auctioneer."

Fortunately, happily, Carole and her general processing co-chairman worked together like paper and glue. "Neither of us had ever done this sort of thing before, but we knew each other from other Auctions. She'd been a go-getter." It was a typical Auction Friendship. "There are a lot of us, people from different sides of town who see each other once a year, who work together intimately, long hours, for six weeks or so, then don't see each other at all until the next Auction, when we're DELIGHTED to see each other, to catch up on what's been happening in each other's lives."

FOR THE PAST two years, Carole's been in charge of Gift Certificate processing. "I can still feel that I do a solid volunteer job for Channel 56 — but I can do it at home. Except during Auction Week, when I put myself into an office down at the 56 Studios and just hang on." That's pretty much what everyone does during Auction Week. "When you get close to the actual Auction, it gets crazy!"

Carole, originally from a different side of town, Birmingham, met Jim Selmo when they were both students at Western Michigan University. He's from the Upper Peninsula, Iron Mountain. "God's Country," he calls it, and means it, and loves it, but when it came time for college, Jim and his parents figured it wouldn't do Jim any harm to see a bit more country. So he came south. "If you'd gone to Northern (Mecca for most UP high school graduates), I would never have met you," Carole tells him.

Jim graduated a year before Carole, came to Grosse Pointe and started teaching. They were married after her graduation, in '64. And then, just before their second wedding anniversary, sary, they were in a severe auto accident. Carole came through without a scratch. Jim's spinal cord was severed.

"He's in a wheelchair, but not handicapped," Carole says. Jim teaches Math at North High School, plays a mean game of ping pong (the ping pong table is a new acquisition, and the whole family plays; David, with the adolescent's typical all-parents-are-over-the-hill attitude, is amazed that his father can beat him), and "could live in the basement with his workbench," according to Carole. It's more a workshop than a workbench.

SINCE THE KIDS have been old enough to stand, it's been, "Daddy can fix it." Daddy can — but every so often he wants a Big Project. Three summers ago, he made a wall bookcase unit for the upstairs den. Not the least part of that Big Project was getting the wood inside where Jim could work on it. He was dealing with big pieces of wood, and wood doesn't bend around sharp staircase corners. The wood went in through the basement windows, for varnishing, staining . . .

Jim and Carole enjoy bridge, and play regularly with a couples group. They're both avid readers. They agreed that their children should have a musical background, saw to it that David and Kristina had piano lessons. Neither "takes" now, but David plays trumpet at North High, Kristina clarinet at Parcels, where she is a seventh grader.

Last summer, the Selmos hitched up a trailer to the car and headed west, for a month's family vacation. They had a ball.

Carole taught Home Economics on the junior high level in Warren until David was born. She liked teaching, but has no burning desire to return to it. She's happy putting her Home Economics background to work at home. "I love to cook. I love to sew, but for the last several years I've had no time for really creative sewing. It seems that mending is always there first. I took a quilting class last fall — but I still haven't finished my quilt. And it's a small quilt! I hope I can get back to it after the spring."

SHE PLAYS TENNIS twice a week. In addition to Jim and David and Kristina, she's in charge of Daisy, a friendly basset hound who's been around about five years. "Every time the doorbell rings, Daisy thinks it's for her."

Carole Selmo has been active in the Grosse Pointe Faculty Wives since she was a new wife herself. She's a member of the Junior League of Detroit, set to serve as a Plant Pro in the Greenery at the Junior League's Showhouse this May. She's served on the Junior League's Finance Committee for the last few years. "I've learned a lot about how the League functions with its money; how the money comes in and how nicely it is used in the community."

There's a bit of re-structuring going on in the Finance Committee, designed to take the burden of full responsibility for financial details from the shoulders of the treasurer and assistant treasurer. "It was just too much," Carole explains. "I'm apprenticing now, and will be taking care of the ledgers."

But Carole's volunteer priority at the moment is the 14th Annual Auction on Channel 56, because it's coming up fast. The Auction opens a week from tomorrow, Friday, April 16, and will run through Saturday, April 24.

"The Auction was my first volunteer commitment," she says. "I've been through others — Brownies, United Foundation — and I'm still" with it. I cannot imagine not being involved in it. I find it very satisfying I feel, and I think all the Auction volunteers feel, that everything they do is needed; every little part serves an important function."

Carole's own part is hardly little. Last year, $250,000 worth of Gift Certificates were processed. That's approximately one-third of the total raised via the 1981 Auction.

Past Auctions have raised over $6 million for Channel 56, and the station hopes to surpass last year's $723,000 Auction proceeds. Carole thinks there's a good chance this will happen: "We are fortunate to live in Detroit, which has always been wonderful when it's been asked for help. Even when times are tough in Detroit, Detroiters come through."

To host Grand Marais group

Nell (Mrs. Don) Valley, of The Detroit Towers, will entertain members of the Grand Marais Branch of the National Farm and Garden Club this Monday, April 12, assisted by co-hostesses Marion (Mrs. Phillip) Skillman and Peggy (Mrs. William) Cole. The program will be a sale of books and plants furnished by club members.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth presenting, this week, accompaniments to last week's main course of a delicious SHRIMP DINNER.

GREEN RICE

- 1 cup thinly sliced green onion tops
- 1/2 cup diced green pepper
- 2 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1 cup uncooked brown rice
- 1/4 cup minced parsley
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- Dash cayenne
- 2-1/2 cups boiling hot chicken or vegetable broth

Cook onion tops and green pepper in oil until tender but not brown. Place rice in a lightly oiled two-quart baking dish. Add the green onion mixture, parsley, salt, cayenne and boiling broth. Stir, cover tightly and bake in preheated 350° oven for 1 hour, until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Check about 15 minutes before done and add additional boiling broth if rice is becoming too dry. Makes 6 servings. Calories about 165 per serving. Cholesterol 0.

GREEN GODDESS CUCUMBER SALAD

- 2 env. unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup cold water
- 1-1/2 cups low-calorie Green Goddess salad dressing
- 2 Tbsp. finely chopped green onions
- 1/8 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. dill weed
- 3 cups finely chopped cucumbers
- 1/2 cup chopped celery

In a medium saucepan, mix unflavored gelatin with cold water. Let stand 1 minute. Stir over medium heat until gelatin is completely dissolved, about 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir in dressing, onion, salt and dill weed. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold in cucumber and celery. Turn into a five-cup mold that has been lightly brushed with additional salad dressing. Chill until firm. Unmold to serve. Garnish with salad greens and cherry tomatoes. Makes 8 servings.

Calories about 92 per serving. Cholesterol — a trace.

MOCK HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

- 1/2 cup low-calorie mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup plain low-fat yogurt
- Dash cayenne pepper
- 1 tsp. lemon juice

Mix all ingredients together in the top of a double boiler; place over barely simmering water for about 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Taste; you may want to add a few more drops of lemon juice. Makes about 1 cup. Calories about 17 per tablespoon. Cholesterol — a trace.

FRESH FRUIT SAUCE

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 1/2 cup water
- 3 cups fresh fruit (strawberries, raspberries, peaches, apricots, or other fruits)
- (Frozen fruits are also an excellent choice)

If large fruits are used, chop them roughly. Bring cornstarch, sugar and water to a boil. Put in 1 cup of fruit. Bring to a boil again, then remove immediately from the heat and add remaining cups of fruit. Do not cook further. Last cups of fruit should remain uncooked. Spoon over cake or ice milk. Makes about 2-1/2 cups. Calories about 15 per tablespoon. Cholesterol 0.

Can North sandlot crew come through in 1982?

By Peggy O'Connor

Minus one pretty good left-hander named Babcock and sporting a lineup featuring everything from returning All-Leaguers to a freshman outfield prospect, North High's varsity baseball team begins its season at East Detroit this Saturday—intent on proving that the team which fell short of finishing "Number One in '81," isn't through in 1982.

The Norsemen had high hopes in 1981 as they set out to win back-to-back state baseball championships. For a while, it looked as though they might do it, as the team ran its unbeaten string to 44 games over two seasons. But North's dream of a second title died in the district finals against eventual state champion Bishop Gallagher, as Gallagher took a 2-0 win and North ended its season with a 28-1 record.

"I don't know if we can do as well as we did in 1981 . . . and I don't know if it matters if we do. We're starting out new this season, trying to continue a winning tradition," says North coach Frank Sumbera.

Fortunately for Sumbera, he'll have three returning All-Leaguers to help him continue that tradition. John Mueller will resume his spot at third base, and catcher Craig Stafford is back, as well. All-Leaguer John Menzo will play shortstop when he is not pitching.

When he is pitching, Menzo will team up with another junior righthander to form a duo which will serve, Sumbera says, "as my top two pitchers." The junior righthander? It's another Babcock—Dave.

The rest of the pitching staff consists of righthanders Bob Wujek, David Whitworth and Mike Hall, and lefty Dennis Cyr. Pitching and the experience the returning All-League players add will be his team's long suit, Sumbera says.

The big question mark for Sumbera is in the outfield, where inexperience might take its toll. Bob Henry, who played sparingly last season, has the most varsity experience. Sophomore Dave Waldeck, who hit .500 for North's JV team last season, will play centerfield for Sumbera. Sumbera says that Cyr or freshman Dan Kopitzke will fill the other outfield spot.

Junior Marty Mitchell, who at 6 foot 3 inches, 195 pounds is built like a classic first baseman, will play that position and could be a big offensive threat, Sumbera says. Mitchell had 21 hits in 60 at-bats for Dan Griesbaum's 17.5 JV squad last season, including a team-leading six home runs and 23 RBI.

"I expect Stafford, Menzo and Maeller, who will line up one-two-three in the batting order, to be my leading hitters," Sumbera says.

Sumbera also says he's pleased with the way his players are working this spring and despite what folks are saying about his team's chances, he's looking forward to getting the season underway.

"I might even be more excited this year than I was last season because everybody expected us to win last year. A lot of people are writing us off but I think we'll be very successful. The kids want to keep this thing going."

Keeping it going in the Bi-County might not be too tough, as the league race looks like it will be between Lakeview, Clintondale and North, Sumbera says. It won't be as easy for North if and when it gets to championship level play. For one, there's reigning champion Bishop Gallagher to contend with, not to mention a few other diamonds in the Class A rough.

"I tell you, Plymouth Canton . . . they lost to Gallagher last year. They've got everybody back and they'll be the team to beat," Sumbera says.

Judging from their motto, "we're not through in '82," Sumbera's boys sound like they want to be the team to do it.

Kiess is honored

That huge grin belongs to Bob Kiess, a recent Detroit Sports Broadcasters Association honoree. The DSBA awarded Kiess, of Fairway Drive, its 1982 Distinguished Service Award for his long and faithful service to the association and the community. Kiess was also honored for his representation of Detroit in the Boston Marathon. The 52-year-old public relations director at Maybury Medical Clinics of Detroit will run in his 15th Boston Marathon on April 19. Since running his first Boston Marathon in 1967, Kiess has run in a total of 30 marathons. He says satisfaction and the opportunity to be in Boston during Patriot's Day is what lures him to what he calls "the world's greatest marathon."

Talented South lacks experience

By Kevin Roberts
South High

Despite having only three players with varsity experience, South's varsity baseball team may be an exciting one—win, lose or draw.

The varsity Blue Devils feature a young team budding with talent, but plagued by inexperience. Coach Jon Rice feels this can be overcome.

"The players can overcome inexperience by playing with the ability they have," said Rice. "Their hard work in practice will pay off when the season starts."

"This team does everything well," Rice continued. "We can hit, field and throw the ball, but the major strengths of the team are its speed and enthusiasm."

The 1982 varsity consists of 18 players. The team has three catchers (Tom Gentile, Jim Arnold and Steve Carrier), six infielders (Dan Shine, Ben Rybicki, Mark Brooks, Rich Moellering, Paul Rentz and Tony Tocco) and three outfielders (Eric MacMichael, John O'Meara and Brian Rathsbury). MacMichael and Shine are the only players with varsity experience.

If there is a major question mark, it is the pitching staff. Jim Blondell, Bill Crow, Larry Law, Kurt Maunz, Todd Pierce, and Joe Yott will pitch and all will have a chance to start. The staff has only two seniors and Blondell is the only hurler who pitched regularly last year.

If the pitching staff can do its job and keep the games close, the Devils should have enough offensive power to score enough runs to win. If not, it may be a long season.

The 1982 varsity has speed, team spirit, youth and desire—the necessary components of a good team. With only six seniors, eight juniors, and four sophomores, experience and maturity may be a problem, but talent will not. The Blue Devils should be competitive and fun to watch.

South opens its season this Saturday, April 10, with a doubleheader against visiting De La Salle. Game time is 11 a.m.

When all was said and done, the run was fun

After weeks of controversy surrounding its existence and despite high winds and low temperatures, the first Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association's 3.1 Mile Fun Run was held April 4—and was a success, according to race officials.

More than 200 runners crossed the finish line in the event, race director Jeanne Bocci said. The awards ceremonies were completed by 12:55 p.m. and the race, which began at 11 a.m. to accommodate Palm Sunday churchgoers, did not disturb church services at all, said Dr. Robert Linthicum, of Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church.

"It was pretty successful . . . everybody seemed really pleased with the way it turned out," Bocci said. "For the first year and with the weather the way it was, things went pretty well."

Things went very well for Mike Blake, of the Farms and Emily Pryor, of Berkley, the first male and female finishers in the race. Blake turned in a time of 17:21 to lead the race and his 30-34 age group. Pryor's time as a member of the 25-29 women's age group was 21:03.

The top three finishers in each age category follow.

Women 14 and under: Patty Locher, (24:22); Susan Wilson, (25:40) and Casey Mader (25:48).

Women 15 to 19: Elizabeth Kane (24:27), Mary Jo Kalmar (24:59) and Darlene Leader (25:01).

Women 20 to 24: Patti Pope (22:43), Jane Rosasco (24:07) and Jennifer Groeh (25:31).

Women 25 to 29: Emily Pryor (21:03), Mary C. O'Donnell (23:49) and Peggy Kingston (26:25).

Women 30 to 34: Cathy Wise (23:07), Mary Kraft (24:11) and Eva Young (25:48).

Women 35 to 39: Sally Mader (21:04), Kathy Kirby (25:20) and Joan Nelson (25:22).

Batter up!

This unidentified South sandlot stalwart knows what time of year it is—it's baseball time. Although baseball season doesn't begin officially in the Pointe until this weekend, these South High diamond men got an early start by warming up in South's gym in mid-March.

UD team has North flavor

The University of Detroit varsity baseball squad has a definite Grosse Pointe North High School flavor to it with two North graduates listed on the 1982 roster.

Sophomore Bob Brown, a versatile player who bats and hits left, is in contention for the starting job in rightfield, U of D officials say. He was Athlete-of-the-Year at North in 1980, when he led the Norsemen to a Class A state championship.

He earned All-League, All-District,

All-Region and All-State baseball honors at North. Brown also was an All-League and All-Metro quarterback and an All-League and All-Suburban basketball choice as a prep star. He majors in liberal arts at U of D.

Junior Mark Ciavino entered U of D after two seasons at Macomb Community College. He should see action at both second and third base for the U of D Titans this season, according to the university. Ciavino was an All-State second baseman while at North.

Babcock sets sights on season

By Peggy O'Connor

When Bill Babcock got up at 7 a.m. each day this spring, the air around the Chicago White Sox' training camp in Sarasota, Fla., was already warm and humid—a lot warmer and more humid than the spring days Babcock has spent in Grosse Pointe.

"It was a real adjustment getting used to the heat down here," Babcock says. "The humidity was just killing me the first few days."

Each day, on those warm and humid mornings, Babcock would step out of the Americana Motel, hop into a team van and head over to the local International House of Pancakes for breakfast. Then it was on to the spring training complex for a day of baseball.

"We'd just sit around for an hour or so, but we'd have to be dressed and ready to go at 10 a.m. for a workout."

Spring training started March 13

for Babcock, and by April 1, each day was getting to be pretty much like the other. After a while, even something as exciting as a guy's first professional baseball spring training seems routine.

"If it was a day where we'd have a home game or I'd have to chart (log other pitchers' pitches) I wouldn't get back home until 4 in the afternoon. Otherwise I'd just do my throwing and running and get back at 12:30 or 1 p.m. The routine was pretty regular. . . I'd throw on Monday and have Tuesday off, throw batting practice on Wednesday and have Thursday and Friday off, then throw in a game on Saturday."

The baseball part of his routine was the easy part. . . the difficult task was finding something to occupy his time in between baseball games.

"When you don't have a car there's nothing you can do. You can stare at four walls or watch TV; if the big league club is at home you can go watch them play. . . but sometimes you don't even want to do that. Sometimes you're tired and hot after being out in the sun all day and all you want to do is go to bed."

That's the worst part of spring training. . . it's the best part of spring training, the baseball part, that Babcock looked forward to each day. Babcock talks about throwing but there's a lot more to baseball than just throwing — and that's what spring training is all about.

"When I first came down here I was worried about my control. I thought it would be shaky at first but I haven't walked anybody so far."

Mike Pazik, a lefthanded pitcher in the White Sox' Triple A level spent the spring working with Babcock and a couple of other minor league "A" level lefties. It was a real advantage for Babcock to have a lefthanded pitching coach.

"The coaches have told me they're pleased with my progress. They like to see a pitcher get into a jam and pitch himself out. I've been able to do that and they're pretty pleased."

BABCOCK'S first spring training has been devoted to learning the mechanics of pitching, so that pitching out of a jam becomes second nature. Learning how to throw a screwball or a split-fingered fastball or even a spitter will come later.

"The coaches work on perfecting the pitches you have. . . unless the pitches you have aren't doing the job. With me it's more working on my curve and changeup and perfecting the fastball."

"It's not them teaching you, so much. It's on-the-job learning. And you learn everyday. It really is an adjustment from high school baseball. I'm not only learning the pitches, but where to put them and when to throw them."

After three weeks of instruction in the hows and wheres and whens of baseball, Babcock left the heat and humidity of Sarasota on April 6. He and the other members of Chicago's high "A" club flew to Chicago, then bussed to the team's home town in Appleton, Wis.

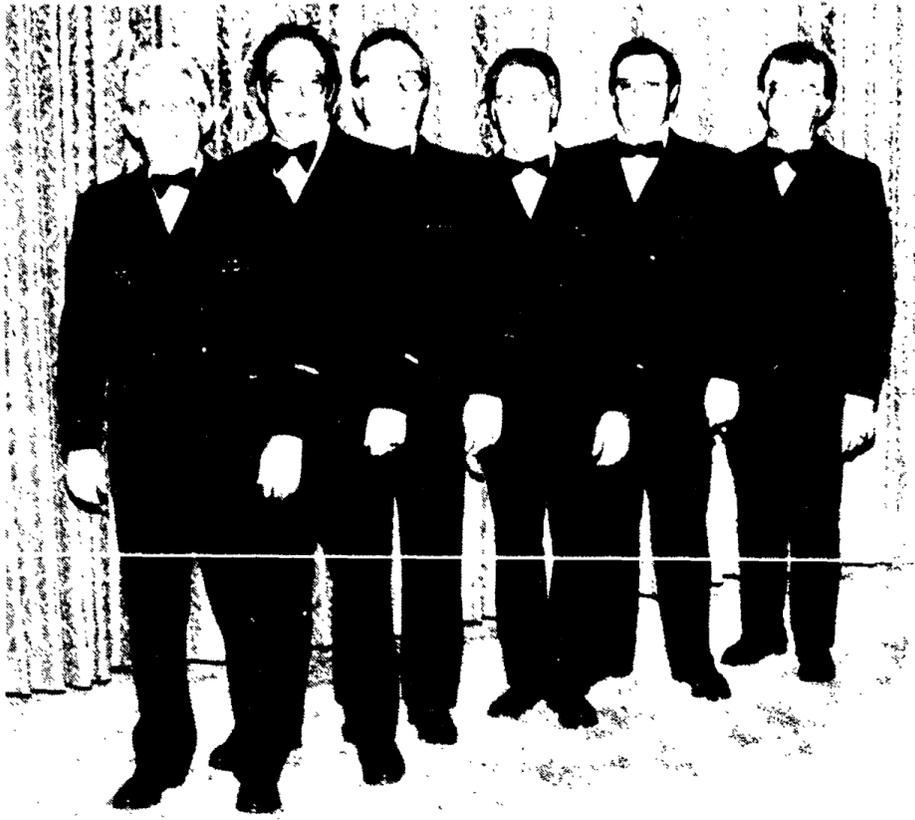

"I hope to pitch opening day. . . I've got the most innings in and I did pretty well in Florida. I'm kind of looking forward to opening day."

Babcock has every right to look forward to opening day—it's been a fast moving year for him, going from prep preprom to major league prospect. And with things moving as fast as they have, Babcock seems like he really wouldn't mind if they slowed down just a bit.

"I'D LOVE to pitch AA ball now but my age is going to hold me back. So I'll just concentrate on where I am now. I know I'll learn a lot with the coach down in 'A' ball. It doesn't matter to me as long as I move up one level each year."

The coaches have told Babcock they're pleased with his improvement, especially in the area of holding men on base. And with steady improvement, the hope of a quick promotion to the Sox AA level team at Glen's Falls might be a real one.

"I'd like to be in AA ball by the end of the year. I also hope to make the Midwest All-Star team and, hopefully, win the championship. . . we've talked about that as a team."

Power Squadron roles filled

Commander William G. Cole, Education Officer, Lt. Commander John Colombo, Administrative Officer, Lt. Commander Robert M. Smith, Secretary, and Lt. Commander John J. Dyle, Treasurer.

Islanders are Midget 'B' champs

For the second straight year, the Midget "B" boys' state ice hockey championship belongs to the Grosse Pointe Islanders.

Coached by Rick Carlson and assistant Jim Flannery, the Islanders went undefeated in the grueling, three day double-elimination state tournament in late March, beating Royal Oak, Fort Huron and Jackson in the quarter finals, and had one tie against a strong L'Anse team from the Upper Peninsula. The Islanders scored 32 goals during the tournament and allowed only 18.

Winning the state title was a fitting climax to an outstanding season in which the Islanders played a total of 51 games and recorded a winning 38-8-5 mark. Four of the losses came against strong Canadian competition from Toronto and Chatham. Included in the record was runner-up spot in the Sterling Heights Midget "A" Thanksgiving Tournament, first place in the St. Clair Shores Xmas Midget "B" Tournament and first place in the tough Metro East League, as well as the state title.

The Islanders were a successful blend of 15 young men from six different high schools.

Jim Aley—Alternate Capt.—Right Wing. A sophomore at University of Detroit High School, Aley was especially strong close-in and at muscling pucks out of the corner.

Mark Bierley—Right Wing Center. A sophomore at North High, he was one of the most improved players on the team.

Rob Bowen—Goalie. This U of D High junior was senior man in goalie tandem which frustrated opponents all season.

Craig Capps—Center. A sophomore at North High, Capps was the most improved player on the team. He became a potent goal scorer during state finals.

Bob Davenport — Left Wing. The Harper Woods High junior had a devastating slap shot which produced 34 goals, second highest on the team.

Garry Dennis — Defense. Though hampered by injuries part of season, this North High junior was a big factor in winning the district tournament.

Kevin Dundon — Team Captain. Right Wing. A junior at North High, he led the team in assists with 42 and added 18 goals for 60 points, second on the team. Dundon also killed penalties and led the power play.

Scott Geisler—Alternate Captain—Defense. The outstanding defenseman in the Metro East League, this Bishop Gallagher junior also scored 19 goals and had 28 assists and was the team's No. six scorer. He is also one of the state's top high school golfers.

Brad Heavner — Defenseman. A sophomore at North, Heavner was steady the whole season and a major reason the team reached the state finals.

Don McGlone—Goalie. This DeLaSalle sophomore was one of two reasons the goals against average was so low.

omore at South High, Murray was the smallest man on the team, but played a big part in the state district and final playoffs.

Todd Raleigh — Left Wing. This North High junior was the leading scorer with 42 goals and 19 assists.

Dave Sattler — Center. Another

North junior, Sattler is a strong skater who played his best in the state tournament.

Jim Trybus—Right Wing. A junior at North, he played every position on the team except goal and was the Islanders' "Mr. Hustle." Trybus led the team in game winning goals.

Sandlot benefit is May 6

With the baseball season rapidly approaching, adult and youth amateur teams are trying to scratch up money for balls, bats, uniforms and other player and team expenses. Once again, the Michigan Sandlotters, Benefit Game Committee, will sponsor its annual charity game on Thursday, May 6, between the Detroit Tigers and the Cincinnati Reds in Detroit.

All proceeds go to the benefit of amateur baseball. The game has been endorsed by the Michigan Recreation and Park Association, with interested teams, sponsors, coaches, parents and players being invited to participate. Tickets are being made available for re-sale at your local Recreation Department or the Michigan Recreation and Park Association, 2724 East Michigan Avenue, Suite 201, Lansing, 48912.

The Tiger organization has donated the proceeds from previous 13 games to the promotion of amateur baseball raising over $1.3 million. While charity exhibition games are held in most major league cities, the Sandlotters Benefit is the only one where all expenses are absorbed by the teams and 100 percent of the gate goes to the participants.

The May 6 game starts at 7 p.m. to permit fans, especially youth players, to attend from distances outside metropolitan Detroit. Many buses make the journey from out-state locations for this annual event.

Parcells cagers are Pointe champs

By C. J. Anderson

Parcells' seventh and eighth grade boys' basketball teams are the undisputed champs of Grosse Pointe. En route to their respective "championships," the eighth grade team, coached by Bill Taylor compiled a 10-2 record while the seventh grade team, coached by Alan Silverston, compiled a 9-3 record.

Both teams trounced Brownell and Pierce at home and away to clinch the Grosse Pointe Championship.

Craig Engel and Eric Walters led the eighth grade team in scoring while Bill Hoover provided the spark which ignited the offense. The only two losses by the team were at the hands of St. Clair Shores Kennedy and Jefferson Middle Schools. Reflecting on the season, coach Taylor stated: "It was exciting because of the way our teams blended their talents, improving their weaknesses and maximizing their strengths throughout the season. Their dedication, willingness to work, to share, and to support each other made this season a lot of fun and a tremendous success!"

Members of the eighth grade team were Bob Alcott, Brian Bergeron, Wayne Birth, Craig Engel, Steve Harthorne, Bill Hoover, Jeff Howell, Bryan Michael, Bill Miller, Steve Montle, Dave Neal, Joe Paluzzi, Dave Queller, John Russell, Kevin Tisdale, Sean Walker, Eric Walters and Tony Wiebelhaus.

The seventh grade team was led in scoring by Chris Dudeck and Louis Melhem and was characterized by a well balanced effort. Next year the seventh grade Panthers expect once again to reign as Grosse Pointe champions. In summarizing the season coach Silverston noted, "Our seventh graders were successful this year because they played as a well-balanced team rather than as 19 individuals."

Members of the seventh grade team were: Paul Altobelli, C. J. Anderson, Jeff Cornell, Chris Dudeck, Ken Gutow, Mike Hitch, David Justice, John Laskarides, Terry MacDougall, Mike Miller, Louis Melhem, Jay Messner, Anthony Meier, Robert Olds, Scott Reiter, Kevin Sheehy, John Vansyckle, Adrian Weyhing and Jamie Wheatley.

In recognition of their successful seasons, the teams were guests of the University of Michigan basketball team in late February.

Susan Fleming, of the Woods finished the 3.1 mile course in 23:28 to finish third in the women 23-34 division. Among women 45 and up, Margoe Fahim, of the Pointe turned in a 24:03 time and finished in third place.

The winners in the 200-runner field were Mike Burns, of Ann Arbor, (14:57) and Ella Willis, of Detroit, (18:09).

Talented South

Coach George Duditch commented, "If they play to potential, they'll have a good season. I believe that they'll be at least 500, but I'd like to see them go undefeated."

The only player returning from last year's JV squad is sophomore pitcher John Taverly. Of the 20 players on the team, all but three of four are sophomores.

Duditch named pitching as the team's strongest point and catching as its weakest. He says his strong players are Taverly and sophomore Hobey Echlin. "He's hitting real well"

Duditch says strong competition will come from East Detroit and crosstown rival Grosse Pointe North. "They have good coaching, a good summer program, and good turnouts for tryouts."

"I think it's a real good young team," Duditch said of his South squad. (By Dawn Lockniskar).

Pointes get share of 1981 gas tax money

The Grosse Pointes received almost $226,000 as their share of 1981 gas tax revenues for the fourth quarter last year, an increase of less than $6,000 from the fourth quarter of 1980.

Grosse Pointe City received $26,515 in the quarter, compared to $26,053 the year before. Grosse Pointe Farms, for the fourth quarter received $43,355, an $881 increase over 1980's fourth quarter. Grosse Pointe Park received $2,084 more the fourth quarter of 1981 than for the same period the year before. Grosse Pointe Shores received $14,608, compared to $14,318 for the same quarter of 1980. Grosse Pointe Woods received $78,659 as its share of the revenues for the 1981 fourth quarter, an increase of $1,698 from the same quarter in 1980.

The gas revenues, the main support for Michigan's highway and other transportation systems, declined by 5 percent in the last quarter of 1981 compared to the same period of the year before, the eighth consecutive quarter the revenues have decreased from the same reporting period the year before, the Michigan Department of Transportation announced recently.

According to the department, the 11-cent-a-gallon gas tax produced $102.72 million in the October to December reporting period, down $4.35 million from the year before for the same quarter. The number of gallons sold fell by 448.6 million to 933.79 million.

The five-cent-a-gallon diesel fuel tax yielded $3.5 million, $29,700 under the 1980 last quarter total. Revenue from special taxes on trucks of three axles or more, enacted to make up the six-cent difference between gas and diesel taxes, totalled $2.43 million, a drop of 4.7 percent, or $119,192 from 1980.

The increase was the result of conversion of the expiration date of licenses from March 31 of each year to the birthday of the driver, a spokesman for the MDT said.

All receipts, including interest earnings, go into the Michigan Transportation Fund. Deductions for collection costs by the departments of State and Treasury, and for various grants, left $147.49 million available to the agencies which operate state transportation programs. The total was up $3.24 million, or 2.3 percent from the last quarter of 1980.

The State Trunkline Fund for the construction and maintenance of the state highway system received $56.09 million as its 38.4 percent share of net receipts, an increase of $1.1 million. State financed public transportation and rail programs collected $12.1 million as their 8.3 percent portion, an increase of $253,197.

The 83 county road commissions collected $53.3 million as their 34.3 percent share, up by $1.1 million. Wayne County Road Commission took in $6.9 million in the last quarter of 1981, down from $7.02 million from the same period the year before.

The 532 incorporated cities and villages received $28.9 million as their 19 percent share, up by $700,000.

Together, the states, counties and municipalities maintain more than 117,000 miles of highways, roads and streets

Men arrested after drunken scuffle

Two men were arrested early Saturday morning, March 6, by Woods police in connection with a scuffle at a Hollywood Road home in which one officer was assaulted.

Police were called to the scene about 1 a.m. by a man who said there had been a fight at the home and one of the participants was still in the home and uncontrollable.

Police were met in the street by a Heather Lane resident who told them a Harper Woods man had assaulted two people in the home and then left on foot, walking west on Hollywood wearing no shirt.

Officers in the area spotted the man walking west on Ridgmont and stopped him. The man appeared to have been drinking, police said, and admitted to being in the fight. The officers then received a call from the unit at the Hollywood home calling for a back-up, and released him.

Officers at the home said they were questioning the person who reported the incident when another man who lived on Anita in the Woods came out of the home and stood on the porch screaming obscenities at the officers and interfering with the questioning, reports said. The man fell off the porch once, and appeared to have also been drinking, police said.

Officers entered the home followed by the Anita resident, and saw dirt from a flower pot on the floor of the living room, blood on the walls and broken furniture. One person in the home was bleeding from the nose and another was sitting on the floor dazed after having been struck in the head with a piece of furniture, reports said.

An ambulance was called to the scene to tend the injured.

Police were questioning the caller when the Anita man allegedly again began to interfere reports said. Police told the man to get his coat and leave, but he refused. When one officer tried to leave the kitchen and walk into the living room, the Anita man grabbed him by the arm and tried to pull him back into the kitchen, police said.

The officer shook him loose and told the man to keep his hands to himself, and again the man refused, allegedly pushing the officer in the back, reports indicate. The Anita man was then walked into the living room and was placed under arrest for assaulting an officer in the discharge of his duty.

While handcuffing the Anita man, one of the residents of the Hollywood home lunged toward officers, yelling that they weren't going to arrest his friend, police said.

Officers warned him away, but the man continued forward, yelling and waving his arms and was restrained by other officers. He was arrested for interfering with an officer during the commission of his duty.

Both men were arraigned later in the day in Municipal Court and pleaded innocent to charges against them. Both were released on $5,000 personal bond, with a stipulation that each had a 10 p.m. curfew, pending a March 17 hearing.

Police said both men appeared to have been drinking.

During a custodial search of the Hollywood resident, police found a bag of what they suspected to be marijuana and a small chrome pipe.

Police could not say what caused the fight.

When officer suffered a jammed thumb and injured his wrist during the incident, police said.

Pointer named to state board

Gov. William Milliken last week announced the appointment of Pointer Phyllis D. Harmon to the Michigan Board of Physical Therapy. The appointment is subject to Senate confirmation. Her term expires Dec. 31, 1985.

Mrs. Harmon, of Berkshire Road, will succeed Dr. Joseph R. Meerschardt of Southfield, who was not eligible for reappointment under the new Public Health Code.

Mrs. Harmon has been active in special education programs and the rights of the disabled, according to the governor's office. She will serve as the board's public member.

Also appointed to the board were Marjorie Becker, assistant dean of allied health education at University of Michigan Medical School, and Richard Shutes, a licensed physical therapist.

The decreases in gas revenues were offset by the 22.5 percent increase in weight taxes, or license fees, which generated $39.95 million in the fourth quarter of 1981. This one time in-

Bill Talbert knows how to help during a disaster.

Do you?

Bill is an auto mechanic. He's also a Red Cross Disaster service volunteer. Last year, Red Cross volunteers like Bill, responded to over 40,000 disaster situations requiring on-the-scene assistance. More than 136,000 families were helped.

"Fortunately, floods, hurricanes and tornadoes don't happen every day, but fires do," warns Bill. "And for a burned-out family that's a major disaster. We can help these people obtain the things they'll need to resume normal living."

Red Cross emergency disaster relief provides everything from food, clothing and a place to stay to first aid, counseling and communications.
