Anonymously yours

A crying towel in the form of a newsletter dubbed "The Park Page" found its way to the door steps of many Park residents last week.

In a five paragraph preamble, the "P-P" launched a few unguided missiles at the Park Council, variously calling it a "self-directed and stubborn Force," "self-will run riot" and "alarmingly indifferent" towards its constituency.

The local news media (guess who?) was described as being "more concerned with the Pointes' image than in the faithful reporting of all the news."

Another statement declared ominously: "The clear and present danger to their community has been blunted by the Media and the Council." At least Media was capitalized.

The preamble promised to print "Letters to the Editor" from any registered Park voter "provided, of course, that it is clear concise, in good taste and signed. (Anonymous letters will receive the summary treatment they deserve)."

Hear, hear. The only problem is where to send the letters? The "P-P" carries no mailing address and no listing of editors or writers. In other words, it's anonymous.

Future issues promise coverage of red-hot stories such as: selection of a new police chief; abuses of closed (executive session) council meetings; bankruptcy, barratry or boondoggle in the contract breaches concerning the Jefferson Avenue Greenbelt; the unparalleled resistance to the establishment of a district court in the Park and impending massive taxpayer assessments to cover a "minor miscalculation" in the Park's insurance coverage.

Well, I for one can't wait for future issues. I'd also like to welcome the "P-P" to the media conspiracy, and offer a few tips.

First, sign your editorials and news stories. It has a tendency to make you more believable to the readers.

Second, put down a mailing address. Makes it easier for those tasteful letters to the editor to pour in.

Here's a bit of actual dialog overheard between two older ladies sipping white wine recently at the Irish Coffee House on Mack Avenue.

"My, isn't this the place that has that Pattie Melt I love so much?"

"I really don't know her, dear. This is my first time here."

Correction

Dr. Emil Siccoretti, referred to in a Feb. 24 story on enrollment decline as superintendent of East Detroit public schools, is executive director of education for the school district.

Because of a proof-reading error, two sentences in the article titled "Woods offers elm spraying" were garbled. They should have read: Experts say trimming out infected tree branches as soon as they are noticed may be the most essential step in preventing the spread of the disease. Infected branches give off an odor that attracts more beetles, which then spread the disease throughout the tree.

Millage proposals barely squeak by voters

By Joanne Gouteche

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education scored no great victory in Monday's millage election as voters renewed the school tax levy by a slim 225 votes.

Unofficial results showed the school proposition passed by 3,903 to 3,678 votes. By a 51 percent margin, voters approved 25.35 mills to operate the school system for the next three years.

By a slightly wider margin, 61 percent, voters renewed 1.30 mills to run the libraries until 1986. Total levy for the school system is 35.30 mills when added to a county allocation of 8.65 mills.

School officials said Monday's election went smoothly, except for confusion on the part of some residents about where to cast their ballots. Grosse Pointe Park city officials said they received at least a dozen calls from confused voters. A school spokesman blamed some of the mix-up on wrong information given out at municipal offices. He added school election workers also misdirected a few voters.

VOTERS IN the Mason, Montclair and Barnes precincts voted down the school proposal, along with absentee voters, by a vote of 147 to 276. Residents in all three of those districts, approved the library millage, however. The school millage lost by only six votes in the Mason district, by three votes in the Montclair district and by 44 votes in the Barnes precinct, where traditionally there are more students enrolled in parochial and private schools.

Although there wasn't any organized opposition to the millage proposals, Board of Education members said they saw a strong message in the results.

"I think the school board has its job cut out," said board trustee Joan Hanpeter. "There is a message from the community that they want us to be careful with our expenses. The board has a responsibility to explain itself more clearly to the community."

"I wouldn't call it (the election) a great victory. If anyone thinks so, they have their head in the sand. We barely squeaked by," Mrs. Hanpeter said.

Board member Jon Gandelot agreed Monday's voters passed along a message to trustees.

"I don't know if it represents a backlash on the part of some voters on taxes or if they are sick of a governor promising jobs, jobs, jobs when he's saying taxes, taxes, taxes."

"But it is an indication to us (trustees) that we should look at the budget and decide whether or not we can continue spending the way we have been. It's clear we have to pull in our belts," Gandelot said.

Hinting at upcoming teacher negotiations this summer, board member Ronald Dalby said trustees will have to make some hard decisions.

"(The election) sent a strong message to the board, to administrators and to teachers that what we have been doing is a course of action that has to change," Dalby said.

"The message in the community is that there has to be some changes."

Monday's election vote, by precinct, follows:

• Trombly — 269-191 schools; 307-152 libraries.

• Defer — 355-271 schools; 425-197 libraries.

• Maire — 372-288 schools; 429-230 libraries.

• Richard — 604-524 schools; 772-347 libraries.

• Kerby — 367-358 schools; 454-276 libraries.

• Ferry — 483-476 schools; 548-406 libraries.

• Mason — 312-318 schools; 367-259 libraries.

• Montclair — 486-489 schools; 569-398 libraries.

• Poupard — 211-146 schools; 209-146 libraries.

• Barnes — 297-341 schools; 354-282 libraries.

Billy's day

Billy Statts drew claps and cheers from his fellow fourth graders when he walked down the hall of Kerby School Monday. The 11-year-old, born in Seoul, Korea, became a U.S. citizen that morning and then was shuttled up to Lansing with his cub scout troop to see his new government in action. Mr. and Mrs. John R. Statts (with Billy at right), adopted the child called Kim Yong Ho when he was 8 years old. He has a sister, Elizabeth, 12, and says his favorite subject at Kerby is math.

Do not call Sonia Horodysky a hustler. She doesn't like it, plus she doesn't deserve it. She is a billiards player, and a very good one at that.

Proof was provided recently when she took first place in the women's category of the Association of College Unions International Tournament held last month in Toledo, Ohio.

Representing Wayne State University, Sonia, 20, of Saddle Lane, went undefeated against opponents from seven other colleges. To qualify for the tournament, she came out on top in a double elimination tournament at WSU, and accompanied the top male player in Toledo. He was eliminated before the semi-finals.

"HE REALLY shouldn't feel too badly about it," said Sonia. "The competition in the men's category is a lot stiffer and more competitive than in the women's. It has to be. More men play pool than women."

An added factor might be Sonia's use of psychology on her opponents. A psychology major at WSU, she freely admits trying to "psych" opponents with an air of confidence bordering on cockiness.

"I try to look confident all the time," said Sonia. "I keep a sort of half smile on my face, and never show fear. Even when I go for an impossible shot, I try to act confidently. It makes them nervous."

Ms. Horodysky originally started playing pool at a girlfriend's home.

Later, she played at WSU's union, but admits to just "screwing" around at it.

"Then a friend of mine, Ed Pierce, came over and started giving me some pointers," said Sonia. "He, in turn, introduced me to Tim Bussey, who eventually became my coach. He changed everything about my game, turning it around completely. He's been my coach now for about a year."

DESPITE A busy schedule at college, Sonia manages to practice about five hours a week. She prefers playing against men, feeling it keeps her game sharper.

"Men are much more competitive than women," said Sonia. "They're very aggressive and take the game more seriously."

They keep you on your toes. You feel very embarrassed after making a stupid move against them. Because they're more competitive, I become competitive. It helps when I go up against other women. I don't relax and let up on them. I learned that from the men."

Sonia found some of those competitive lessons hard to come by, at first. Pool has always been considered a "man's sport" and she found willing male partners a rarity.

"I began to notice that they'd only play me if there wasn't another guy handy," said Sonia, with a smile. "It took a while to be considered an equal, but there's no problem now."

She admits there are times men become a bit upset when she whips them at "their" sport.

"Oh yeah, it happens," she said with a laugh. "There was one guy who used to beat me regularly. After I started taking the game

So far Sonia Horodysky is batting .1000. But her game is billiards and not baseball. Sonia, 20, of Saddle Lane, recently captured first place in the Association of College Unions International Pool Tournament held in Toledo. Not bad, considering it was the first tournament she's ever entered. A psychology major at Wayne State University, Sonia hopes to capture the upcoming National Pool Tournament for college students scheduled for next month in Minneapolis.

Kennel is in, Dalby out of race

Board of Education President Dorothy Kennel, a retired Grosse Pointe kindergarten teacher completing her first term on the board, announced this week she would seek re-election in June.

Mrs. Kennel, of the Park, declared her candidacy on millage election day, March 7, before the vote had been tabulated. Her decision leaves one open spot on the board, vacated by one-term trustee Ronald Dalby, who has decided not to seek re-election.

In making her announcement, Mrs. Kennel said her biggest contribution to the board in the last four years was her role as chairman of the search committee which chose Dr. Kenneth Brummel as superintendent of Grosse Pointe schools two years ago.

One other person, Herbert Reeves, a Detroit public school purchasing agent, has publicly declared himself a candidate in the June election. Reeves lives in the Mason Elementary School district of Grosse Pointe Woods and has tied his campaign to the issue of school closings, which the board plans to act on this spring.

Shores home values up

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Property values on homes in the Shores increased slightly this year after the village completed a door-to-door reassessment. Preliminary figures show total residential property values in the village increased about $860,000, the only Grosse Pointe to record a jump this year.

In Grosse Pointe Township, the Wayne County part of the village, total residential property value rose from $110,137,700 to $110,877,080. In Lake Township, residential property assessments rose from $6,185,782 last year to $6,312,110. Total residential proerty in the village increased to $117,189,190 this year from $116,323,482 last year, an increase of about 0.74 percent.

Village officials pointed out last year's figures are totals after the Board of Review hearings. This year's Board of Review will be held Monday, March 14, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The board also met Tuesday, March 8.

Candidates have until 4 p.m. on April 11, to file petitions to run in the race. They may be picked up at central offices, 389 St. Clair Avenue, in the City.

City crime rate jumped 6 percent

By Michael Raveane

The overall crime rate for Grosse Pointe City in 1982 went up by 6 percent over the figure for the year before, according to the police department's annual crime report that was submitted to the city council on Tuesday, March 22.

Total crimes for the year numbered 567, compared to the 533 crimes reported in 1981, according to the report.

Although the total crime rate increased last year, the number of burglaries and robberies declined. There were 42 burglaries in 1982 compared to 55 in 1981, a decrease of 24 percent. Four robberies were reported in 1982 as opposed to nine in 1981, down by 44 percent.

For the 42 burglaries, the department reported nine arrests. Two arrests were made for the four reported robberies.

There were 17 auto thefts reported both years. Three arrests were made.

Crimes involving fraud experienced the largest percentage increase with 24 cases reported in 1982 compared to seven in 1981, up by 242 percent. Police made 15 arrests.

Larcenies over $200 were up by 60 percent for the year. There were 75 cases reported in 1982 and 47 in 1981. Larcenies under $20 decreased by 17 percent. There were 119 reported in 1982, down from 144 in 1981. Fifty arrests were made.

In other crime areas, drunkenness and other disorderly conduct went up from 23 in 1981 to 57 in 1982, an increase of 148 percent. There were 105 cases of vandalism with 21 arrests made. Sixteen of those arrested for vandalism were minors.

There were no murders or cases of rape reported for the year.

Grosse Pointe Woods' annual crime report submitted to council in January, showed a 6.7 percent decrease in serious crimes in 1982 compared to 1981. The number of rapes, assaults, burglaries, larcenies, and arson declined in the Woods, while the number of robberies and auto thefts increased. Serious crime in the Shores also declined, according to a January report submitted to the council. According to a February report submitted to the Farms council, serious crimes in that city rose by 5.6 percent.

St. Paul Lutheran will hold concert

The Detroit Lutheran Singers will present a concert of sacred choral music on Sunday, March 13, at 3:30 p.m. at St. Paul Lutheran Church in the Farms.

The program will feature selections from Bach's "Mass in B minor" and choral arrangements by Brahms, Handel, Schelle, Vaughn Williams, Randall Thompson and others. The Singers will be directed by Eric Freudigman and accompanied by organist Kenneth Sweetman, who will present an organ prelude to the concert.

seriously, I started winning for a change. One day I topped him in 14 straight games. He ended up getting very upset. We haven't spoken much lately."

SONIA ALSO dislikes cute references to a "hustler" image. "I really dislike those remarks," she said flatly. "I'm not a hustler. I don't play for money or in bars. The whole hustler image gives a bad connotation to pool playing.

To me it's a great sport. Nothing more."

Sonia's next competition will be this April in the national tournament in Minneapolis, Minn. She'll represent her region against 15 other competitors from other colleges.

"I'm really very, very nervous about the whole contest," she said. "There's sure to be some very stiff competition there. All I can do is my best."

Sonia intends to receive her Ph.D. on psychology and open a clinic someday. In the meantime, she'd like to see more women become interested in billiards.

"It's always been considered a man's sport, but it really shouldn't be," she said. "It's a game of skill, dexterity and angles. It should appeal to women too. It doesn't require great upper body strength or quickness. All that's really needed is an eye for angles and lots of practice. The sport needs more women."

sistant treasurer-assessor Ellen West said. When the adjustments have been made, the 1983 figure should be close to last year's, she added.

The Shores was the only Grosse Pointe to show an increase in total assessments this year. The City reported a 2.8 percent decline, the Farms a 5.6 percent drop, the Park a 3.6 percent decline and the Woods a 4 percent decline.

THE SHORES was also the only Pointe to use a 24-month instead of a 12-month sales study to compute its assessments. Ms. West said that if the village had used the 12-month study, the assessments would have been higher.

The primary criteria for the reassessment was the age, size and quality of construction, Ms. West said. Only one assessor was used to help insure uniformity of judgement, she added.

For the last week or so, village officials have been meeting with residents and explaining the reassessment. Adjustments have also been made during informal meetings between the village assessor and residents if the assessment was incorrect, Ms. West said.

Although many assessments decreased, some homeowners saw increases because of the changing housing market, she said. Older homes, which were not big on the market a couple of years ago, have begun to sell again and that has boosted assessments.

"YOU'LL FIND that property in Grosse Pointe Shores has held its value," Ms. West said. "By the time we're through, it will probably be the same."

The door-to-door inspection of property gives the village a base of information from which to prepare its assessments, she said. The use of state multiplying factors over a number of years have distorted the property values.

Residents have complained the reassessment was a "sleight of hand" aimed at increasing taxes. Recent sales and the 24-month sales study support the village's figures, Ms. West said.

Supermarket says it will stay

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Farmer Jack's corporate spokesmen have assured Woods officials the company will stay in the city after construction of a larger store about two miles away in St. Clair Shores.

Woods City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen last week said company officials told him the Woods store will stay at its Mack location and possibly expand in the future.

Both the Woods and St. Clair Shores have spent time and money to find ways for the supermarket chain to either build or expand facilities in their cities.

The St. Clair Shores City Council recently agreed with a developer to build a 40,000 square foot supermarket on a 170,000 square foot site the city is beginning to clear along Nine Mile Road near Mack, Planning Director Harold Schwartenburg said.

The city, using Housing and Urban Development money and condemnation procedures, acquired the site on Nine Mile near Mack which contained several businesses and nine private homes. The city is still negotiating with four of the homeowners whose properties were condemned, he said.

THE DEVELOPER will buy the property from the city at $1.65 per square foot, or about $280,000, and could begin breaking ground for the new store as early as this summer, and occupying it next November, he added.

"In our initial design concepts, we felt the area could accommodate a commercial establishment of between 35,000 and 45,000 square feet," Schwartenburg said. The city advertised the land for plans from developers and selected Farmer Jack's proposal because the store could draw an estimated 12,000 people a week to the area, he said.

Besides the property tax revenue from the store, which received no tax break to locate to the city, Schwartenburg said, the city will find the rest of its Nine Mile Mack shopping area helped by the increased traffic from the supermarket.

St. Clair Shores has been looking for ways to revitalize the shopping area, troubled by old buildings, deficient parking and declining customer traffic, the planning director said.

Last year, the Woods spent $14,000 on a three-part land-use study. Farmer Jack's portion studied the use of property from Lochmoor Boulevard to Parcels Middle School.

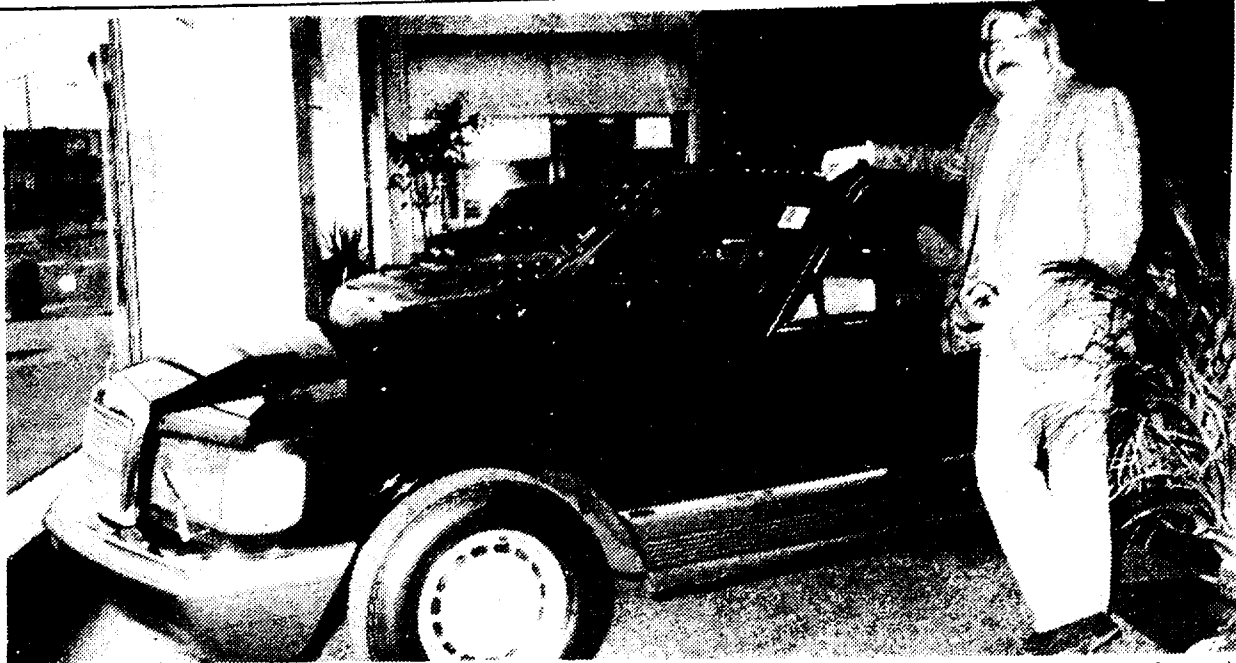

The completed study was recently discussed by the Woods CDBG Citizen's Advisory Commission and sent on to the Joint Planning Commission-Council Committee for its review.

Using Community Development Block Grant funds, the Woods commissioned the study to find ways for the store to expand, Petersen said. One of the proposals was the reconfiguration and possible consolidation of the adjoining business and church lots to bring them all to the same elevations. The plan would allow the store to expand to 40,000 square feet, he said.

Petersen pointed out that according to a resident survey completed last year by Nordhaus Research, Inc., the store is used by almost 80 percent of the city's residents.

According to the study, 89 percent of the senior citizens said they shopped there. Nordhaus also said that three-quarters of those residents who shopped at the store favored expansion, while 55 percent of those who did not shop there also favored expansion.

In addition, the study said 64 percent of those wanting expansion would favor acquisition of additional land to meet the expansion needs.

are a sound investment, he said.

Powell told of a man who brought in a 1981 Cadillac to use as a trade-in on a 1973 Mercedes. The Mercedes sold new for $11,600, and the price tag now is $17,000. The Cadillac listed new at $21,000, but resold 18 months later at $10,500, he added.

The cars on the showroom floor range from a Mercedes 500 SEL, priced at $60,000, to a Volkswagen Rabbit at about a sixth of that price. Included in the showroom is a Jensen Interceptor, a Dino Ferrari, and a Mercedes 500 SL priced at $55,000.

"WE DON'T PUT anything on the floor that isn't all there," he said. With each car they buy they get a complete service record and service history. If they can't get it, the car goes out the back door to another dealer who puts it on his floor, Powell said.

For both men, the shop is a thing they enjoy. Watching the two look over cars that were coming in and being prepared for either the showroom or wholesale, they smile, laugh and touch the cars with something near reverence.

For them, it's a business that combines love and money. Davis, a manufacturing representative of 32 years for companies that make measuring equipment, said it's not only a chance to see some of the finest machines made, but also a chance to add something to the Kercheval business area.

"I grew up here and walked to school down Kercheval to John H. Pierce School," he said. "I remember the quality of stores that were here, and I want to bring some of that back. This is the kind of renaissance going on here."

DON'T LOOK for balloons, signs and end-of-model-year sales at the store. Davis says he is appealing to the intellect of the buyer, not emotion. While there is an allure to the cars, salesmen don't play on it, he said. The cars, because of their quality and value, will sell themselves without a circus around them.

The business is doing well, both say. After a month in business they have already made repeat sales, without advertising or referrals. The clientele is there, and the cars they offer are the best previously-owned vehicles they can find.

"You only get one shot," Powell said. "If you wait for the word of mouth, you won't do any better than that."

"Anything you love, you get good at," he added. "It's just fun."

Woods rejects summer tax plan

Citing the cost of preparing duplicate rolls and tax bills, the Woods council decided Monday night, Feb. 28, to reject the Wayne County Intermediate School district's request to collect its taxes in the summer.

The Woods decision makes rejection of summer taxation by the school district unanimous among the four of the five Pointes that collect the money. The City, Park and Farms have already rejected the request. Grosse Pointe Shores does not collect taxes for the intermediate school district.

In a letter to the council, City Comptroller-Assessor Frederick Hornfisher said the change in collection dates would "involve prohibitive costs in as much as separate tax rolls would be necessary and would not be feasible to permit any other tax to appear on our city tax bill."

Under state law, school districts can ask for a summer rather than winter collection date. The Grosse Pointe Public School system considered a summer tax collection last year, but rejected the idea after opposition from taxpayers.

Urgh! returns

A film showcase of today's rock 'n' roll groups will be presented by the Classic Film Theater at the Punch & Judy on Friday, March 11, and Saturday, March 12.

The film, "Urgh! a Music War," features the Go-Gos, Devo and the Alley Cats in footage from New York, Los Angeles, London and Paris.

The show starts at midnight on both days.

Budget expert speaks for CRC

Dr. Doug Roberts

Dr. Doug Roberts will speak at the Tuesday, March 15, meeting of the Concerned Republican Committee (CRC). He is the deputy director of the Department of Management and Budget of the state of Michigan. His responsibilities include coordinating all activities surrounding the planning and presentation of Governor Blanchard's budget.

He will speak on the current budget crisis in the state and what can and needs to be done to resolve it. He will answer questions relative to the income tax increase, the proposed sales tax increase and the future economic growth of this state.

"The CRC is very pleased that he agreed to come from Lansing for this occasion," said Joan Woodhouse, president of the CRC. There is no admission charge for the event at University Liggett School, 1045 Cook Road, Grosse Pointe Woods, at 7:30 p.m.

Park seeks Mack fix-up funds

Grosse Pointe Park is seeking $99,000 from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development to make improvements on Mack Avenue and help senior citizens make minor home repairs.

The funds come from the federal government's Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program, administered through Wayne County. An application for the money was approved and forwarded to the county by the city's CDBG advisory board after a public hearing on Tuesday, Feb. 22.

The city's 1983 basic CDBG grant of $99,000 will be split between two on-going programs, according to the application. About $10,000 will go to SOC (Services for Older Citizens) to make minor repairs in the homes of elderly persons in the community.

The remaining funds are earmarked for further improvements to sidewalks, parking lots and light systems in a five-block area of Mack Avenue on the city's far west side.

The CDBG advisory board also plans to apply for funds to make housing rehabilitation loans to citizens later this year. A city spokesman said the CDBG budget for housing has not yet been allocated by the federal department and applications from local units of government will not be accepted for several months.

Members of the 14-man advisory board present for the February public hearing were Chairman George Helm, Mark Valente, Jr., Robert Laitner, Patrick Mann, Francis McCarroll, Rachel Webers and ex-officio members Douglas Graham, mayor, and John Crawford, city manager.

Chorus performs sacred music

The Seminex Chorus of Christ Seminary-Seminex will present a concert of sacred music at 9:30 and 11 a.m. on Sunday, March 13, at St. James Lutheran Church, 170 McMillan in the Farms.

The theme "You Are God, We Praise You" is based on the opening line of the Christian Church's hymn of thanksgiving, Te Deum laudamus. The program will include the canticle by Benjamin Britten, the "Te Deum in C," and works by Handel, Bach, Hassler, Gibbons and Goss.

In addition, a newly composed work, written especially for the chorus will be performed.

The 35-member chorus, under the direction of professor Mark

Bangert, is on its annual tour and will perform in other Midwest cities. For this concert, Bishop Harold Hecht of the English Synod of the Association of Evangelical Lutheran Churches will be homilist.

The services are open to the public. Free will offerings will be received.

Wagner plays organ at St. Paul

A program of organ music spanning four centuries will be presented Sunday, March 13, at 4 p.m. at St. Paul Church, 157 Lakeshore Road in the Farms.

Organist David Wagner, afternoon host at classical music station WQRS-FM, will play selections from Bach, deGrigny, and the Symphony No. 1 for Organ by Louis Verne. Wagner will be joined for the second half of the program by trumpeter Bill Beger. The two will play the Sonata in D Major for trumpet and organ by Purcell, as well as selections from Jeremiah Clarke and the Prayer of St. Francis.

A graduate of both Wayne State and University of Michigan, Wagner holds a Doctor of Musical Arts from the University of Michigan. He served as a Teaching Fellow at the university and was an assistant professor of music at Macomb County Community College. He has been organist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Tickets are $5, $3 for students and senior citizens. A wine and cheese reception follows the concert. For tickets or more information, call the church at 885-8855.

LD parents meet March 15

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of the Michigan Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities will meet on Tuesday, March 15, 7:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Central Library, 10 Kercheval.

The topic will be "The IEP — Individualized Education Plan." All Certified Learning Disabled students, along with other certified handicapped students, have an annual IEP meeting between May and June to determine the student's program for the following year and include long and short-term goals.

Meetings generally include the parent, the teacher, a building administrator and a representative from the Special Education Department. Parents of learning disabled children are invited to attend.

Travelogue visits Ireland, Wales

The senior travel group of the Grosse Pointe Neighborhood Club will feature speaker Mary Ellen Tappan on March 16 at 1:30 p.m. Ms. Tappan will show her slides on "The Two Irelands and a Touch of Wales."

In Ireland, viewers will visit the Cliffs of Moher; the stark, wild and cruel Connemara; and the thatched-hut villages of Donegal. After crossing the border into Northern Ireland, viewers will explore Londonderry and the Glens of Antrim.

Back in the Republic of Ireland, the kingly Hill of Tara, Dublin's fair city with its famous Georgian doors, and the picturesque beauty of Glendalough will be featured.

In Wales, viewers will see the great medieval castles of Beaumaris, Conway and Caernarvon along with the charm of Bettws-y-Coed and the colorful Welsh resort of Tenby.

The travelogue will wind down with visits to Ireland's Blarney Castle, Bantry Bay and a tour around the famed Ring of Kerry.

Senior citizens are welcome to attend weekly free travel programs at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesdays.

DYR names three Pointers to board

The Detroit Young Republicans (DYR) appointed three Pointers to its 1983 board of directors.

The new board, named by DYR President Joanne Locricchio, will include Maryellen Coseglia and Linda Eugenio, both of the Park, and Bryan Sunisloe of the Woods.

Also on the board are Harriet Nolan, Nancy Omilian, Lowell Slater, and Judy Zielinski all of Detroit; Judy Fleming, Peter Howard, Linda Mannina and Julie Morang, all from St. Clair Shores; Marty Martin of Harper Woods; Bill Nierman of Livonia; Jeanne Runstadler of Mt. Clemens; and Ann Marie Swiderski of Grosse Ile.

All board members will serve one-year terms.

"A boor" used to be nothing more than a farmer with no allusion at all to tiresome stupidity. Incidentally, if that farmer lived on the next property, he was said to be "neigh," which gave us "neighbor."

John Lake, retired director of the War Memorial, is among the local notables who have recorded some of their memories on tape stored at the Central Library.

Old memories are captured on tape

If you are interested in hearing first hand accounts of lake picnics, church suppers, box socials and buggy rides of days gone by, listening to the Grosse Pointe Public Library's oral history cassettes may be a place to begin your journey into the past.

The collection, housed in the audio-visual room at the library's Central branch, includes the reminiscences of former Grosse Pointe War Memorial director John Lake, who recalls the history of the center, along with its architectural aspects and its various programs over the years.

The cassette collection, which numbers more than 60, also includes reminiscences of Dr. Alfred Whittaker, Natalie Brys Post, Helen Newberry Joy and Margaret and Fred Renaud. Visitors to the library also can listen to Hawkins Ferry on local architecture, William Clay Ford on professional football and Theos Anderson on the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

Local oral historian Patricia Pilling of Wayne State University has trained Helen Leonard, outreach librarian, and others in the library community on the art of interviewing senior citizens and others with memories of yesterday.

"There is such a wealth of tradition and expertise in this community," Mrs. Leonard said. "I am thrilled to have the opportunity to record some of it."

Those interested in contributing to the cassette library should call Mrs. Leonard at 343-2316. Cassettes are not available for circulation, but can be heard at the public library's Central branch.

Single parents meet March 11

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of Parents Without Partners will meet on Friday, March 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road.

Coffee and conversation will be followed by orientation for new members, and the general meeting and speaker are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. An afterglow follows at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 10 Mile Road and Little Mack, at 10 p.m.

Parents Without Partners, Inc. an international organization celebrates its 26th birthday on March 21. Through the educational and other assistance programs offered through PWP, single parents and their children often achieve a happier home environment and find mutual concerns and answers to their problems, according to the group.

The Grosse Pointe Chapter 192 of PWP has elected the following new officers for the coming year: President, George Seeley; first Vice-President, Milt Meininger; second Vice-President, Violet Fontaine; Treasurer, Elfreda Haba; Recording Secretary, Karen Webb.

McBride joins boating board

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has appointed Frank McBride, Jr. of Grosse Pointe to the department's Waterways Commission.

The commissioners handle the acquisition, engineering, building, maintenance and operation of the state's harbors and public access sites.

McBride, an insurance executive, has served as chairman of the Port Huron - Mackinac Race and the Gold Cup race. He is a past commodore of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, former president of the War Memorial and reports on boating and outdoor activities regularly for WJR.

Library hosts film series

The Grosse Pointe Central Library has begun a series of free films on Friday afternoons in the library's Exhibition Room.

The March film lineup includes "The Sting" on March 11; "Annie" on March 18; and "Casablanca" on March 25.

The library will show these films in April: "Chariots of Fire" on April 8; "Going My Way" on April 15; "The Sunshine Boys" on April 22; and "That's Entertainment" on April 29.

On May 6, the library will feature "Heaven Can Wait."

Mums the topic for men gardeners

The fundamentals of growing beautiful mums will be the subject of the March meeting of the Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe. Paul E. Machuga, nationally known grower, exhibitor and judge, is the speaker.

The speaker is a director of the Detroit and National Chrysanthemum Societies. He is a Permanent Master Judge for the National and serves as an instructor for the local judging school.

The program will cover all the practical phases of growing healthy and beautiful mums.

The meeting is scheduled for Thursday, March 17, in the Central Library at 7:30 p.m.

Hospital makes three promotions

Bon Secours Hospital's buildings and grounds department has been reorganized into two separate divisions resulting in three promotions, the hospital announced this week.

Thomas Kwiatkowski has been promoted from power plant leader to assistant director of buildings and grounds, power plant. Kwiatkowski joined Bon Secours Hospital in 1977.

Donald Piller has been promoted from assistant director, buildings and grounds, environmental service division, to director of environmental services. Piller joined Bon Secours Hospital in 1981.

Hubert Weot was promoted from assistant director of buildings and grounds to director of that reorganized department. Weot has been with Bon Secours Hospital's buildings and grounds department since 1956.

The building and grounds department is responsible for hospital maintenance, heating and cooling, landscaping, and other services. The environmental services department is responsible for housekeeping and security. The department was reorganized to better meet the needs of patients and employees, the hospital said.

DBC dinner-dance celebrates St. Pat's

Members of the Detroit Boat Club will celebrate St. Patrick's Day on Saturday, March 12, with a dinner-dance featuring corned beef and cabbage, mulligan stew and entertainment by a cartoonist, Art Quatro's band and the Prentiss Prancers with bagpipes.

Pointers Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. McCafferty are chairmen of the event, with assistance from Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Enstrom and Ruth Gibson.

Gallagher sets foreign fair on March 16

Bishop Gallagher High School in Harper Woods will host its annual Foreign Language Fair at the school on Wednesday, March 16, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The event will feature creative works of Gallagher students and include students modeling costumes depicting some aspect of French, Spanish, or Italian culture and history. A tri-lingual talent show and ethnic foods also are on the agenda that evening.

Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

U. S. Grant didn't invite his mother to his presidential inauguration. No room for her in her ceremony, he said. She never visited the White House.

Fifty persons attend school closing hearing

By Joanne Gouleche

A public hearing on the future of the Grosse Pointe public school system, expected to draw a full house at South High School last week, only attracted the attention of about 50 interested residents.

Those who did attend the meeting still had only one question on their minds: Are schools going to close in Grosse Pointe?

MODERATOR OF the evening, Supt. Dr. Kenneth Brummel, told residents he was "frankly disappointed" about a similar meeting at Parcels school last year where parents made it clear they want all schools to remain open in Grosse Pointe.

"It would be far more helpful if questions of maintaining quality education in Grosse Pointe were the focus of this discussion," Brummel said.

During his introductory remarks, Dr. Brummel said his staff is confident in an enrollment projection of about 6,000 students in the next five years. That adds up to about a 500 to 600 pupil loss in the elementary schools, a 500 loss in the middle schools and between a 700 to 800 student decline in the high schools.

A classroom count last fall showed 7,805 students in the public schools, down 54 percent from the district's peak year of 13,337 students in 1971.

Dr. Brummel said he has asked his staff to look at a K-5, 6-8 and 9-12 organizational structure in the schools, a plan recommended by the citizen committee studying enrollment decline in Grosse Pointe. The superintendent added he also has asked for a study of K-8 and 9-12 plans along with a K-6 and 7-12 organization.

The current school organizational structure is broken down to K-6, 7-8 and 9-12, a plan criticized for its lack of program continuity and time to establish peer relationships, according to the citizen committee.

Dr. Brummel said although the 1986-87 school year is the target date for a possible school closing, it could very well be put into action as early as 1984.

When it came time for the public to speak, a Grosse Pointe Park resident suggested two outgoing school board members abstain from voting on any administrative recommendations concerning the school closing issue.

Another Grosse Pointe Woods resident said she worried how her children will get to a neighboring school if the current building where her children attend is recommended to shut down.

"This is not the 1960s with two-car families. This is the 1980s where people are struggling," she said.

WHILE ANOTHER Woods mother reminded the audience it will only mean a savings of about $1.35 on each $10,000 in state equalized valuation of property if an elementary school closed, on the other side of the issue, a Grosse Pointe City man pointed out maybe it's time the community face a school closing.

"Brick and mortar don't make quality education. Teachers do," he said.

Last week's public meeting is one of several sessions this spring designed to give residents a chance to speak out on the school closing issue, according to school officials.

Below is a breakdown of those meetings before the Board of Education's final vote on June 13:

- March 14 - School board reviews five-year enrollment projection.
- April 4 - Trustees review space availability.
- April 11 - Trustees receive tentative administrative recommendations.
- April 13 - Administrative Council discusses tentative recommendations.

HOW TO MAKE A TAX DEDUCTIBLE CONTRIBUTION TO YOURSELF.

Open a Standard Federal IRA plan.

Every working person with earned income from performing personal services is now eligible for an Individual Retirement Account. Contributions to this account are TAX DEDUCTIBLE each year and earnings are also TAX DEFERRED until retirement (age 59½). A working person may contribute up to a maximum of $2,000.00 per year. A husband and wife who are both working may EACH contribute up to a maximum amount of $2,000.00 (total $4,000.00). A working person with a non-working spouse may contribute up to $2,250.00 per year.

You actually save money two ways:

1. Tax Deduction

A $2,000 annual contribution to your IRA can mean real savings right NOW.

For example, even though an actual cash contribution has been made in the amount of $2,000, it will cost the tax payer (in the 40% tax bracket) only $1,200 in actual dollars because of the $800 tax savings incurred.

| TAX BRACKET                         | 20%     | 30%     | 40%     | 50%     |
|-------------------------------------|---------|---------|---------|---------|
| IRA ANNUAL CONTRIBUTION             | $2,000 | $2,000 | $2,000 | $2,000 |
| ANNUAL TAX SAVINGS                  | $ 400  | $ 600  | $ 800  | $1,000 |
| YOUR ACTUAL YEARLY NET CONTRIBUTION | $1,600 | $1,400 | $1,200 | $1,000 |

2. Tax Deferral

A $2,000 annual contribution to your IRA also means tax-deferred savings until retirement when tax brackets are usually lower. Here's what you'll earn with our 1½-year fixed rate certificate at 9.25% if reinvested at the same annual interest rate.

| YEARS OF CONTRIBUTION         | 10          | 20           | 30           | 40           |

Many other savings plans are also available for IRA.

Call or visit us today to learn how Standard Federal Savings can help you save TWICE for retirement.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts, and withdrawals from your IRA prior to age 59½ may result in tax penalties. When you withdraw the money in your IRA Account at retirement after age 59½, your withdrawals will be taxed as ordinary income at a time when your tax rate is likely to be lower.

IRA Accounts are insured separately to $100,000 by the FSLIC.

Exchange names officers

United Foundation appoints Burns

New director of the United Foundation's Advance Gifts Unit is Grosse Pointe Park resident Lawrence J. Burns. Burns has served as UF's commercial unit director. Burns will oversee fund-raising in the areas of foundations, special gifts, attorneys and CPAs.

Joanné Gouletche

New owner at Union Street

A request to transfer the Class C liquor license at Union Street Bar from old owners to Grosse Pointe City resident Dennis M. Egan was okayed by Park police and the city council last week.

The transfer now awaits approval from the state Liquor Control Commission.

Egan, 38, has indicated he plans to maintain the bar in its present style. It is located at 15021 Mack Avenue. He told police he will probably keep the same employees and projects no major changes, but hopes for an older crowd as customers.

The license is being transferred from Radke Enterprises, Inc., to Egan's company, Demco, Inc.

Expectant mothers who aren't married are twice as likely statistically as those married to go into premature labor, and the labor of those unmarried women tends to be shorter.

Park protests aid cuts

February has come and gone and local units of government still have not received state revenue sharing payments owed to them by Michigan. In response, the Park City Council last week formally objected to the delays and demanded the state pay interest on the money.

Park Clerk-Comptroller Nunzio Ortisi says the state is almost $300,000 behind on payments of sales, income and Small Business Taxes to the Park. The city has received only half of the funds it budgeted for in fiscal 1982-83 and it's beginning to hurt, Ortisi said.

"It's not just that the payments are late and we're missing out on the interest we'd normally be earning on the money. The payments are being cut at the same time with all these Executive Orders from the governor," Ortisi said.

Gov. Blanchard has delayed making the payments to cities while he tries to win support in the Legislature for an income tax increase to balance the state budget.

The resolution, approved by the council at its Feb. 28 meeting, said the city "strongly objects to the numerous delays in receipt of constitutionally mandated Revenue Sharing Funds (and) ... urges specific legislation to charge the state of Michigan interest at the prevailing borrowing rate for the period of time for which Revenue Sharing Funds are withheld past the due date."

The resolution states the funds are mandated by the constitution, but that issue is currently subject of litigation by Oakland County, City Attorney Herold "Mac" Deason said.

A copy of the council resolutions was forwarded to the city's two legislators, Rep. William R. Bryant, Jr., (R-Grosse Pointe) and Sen. John Kelly (D-Detroit).

Nursing center wins state o.k.

The state Department of Public Health last month approved a proposal by the Sisters of Bon Secours to establish a 200-bed Nursing care center in St. Clair Shores that will become the second largest non-government employer in the city, according to David Benfer, chief executive of the hospital.

The center is expected to cost about $8.5 million, a spokesman said.

The center is scheduled to open next fall at the corner of Lakeland and Jefferson, providing nursing, dietetics, pharmacy, social service, physical, occupational and speech therapy services. Short and long term patients will be accepted, according to the hospital.

Construction of the center will be financed by Economic Development Corporation tax exempt bonds, the hospital said.

Benfer said the hospital's goal in establishing the center is to limit elderly individuals' need for hospitalization and control hospital costs.

ARE YOU LOSING MONEY BY INVESTING IT THE WRONG WAY?

Just because you're earning interest on your money, doesn't mean you're earning the most interest you can. Because now there are a lot of investment options that can make your money work harder. Of course, with so many to choose from, it's tough to know which one is best for you.

WHAT DO YOU WANT FROM YOUR MONEY?

Everyone has different needs and wants. If you would like to earn high interest and still have access to your funds for example, there's MANUFUND. Our insured money market account. And NOW INTEREST CHECKING, a high interest account with checkbook convenience. Still you might have some money you can afford to put away for a while and not touch. So you might want our 6-month or 30-month MONEY MARKET ACCOUNT. Both guarantee a high fixed rate of interest for the term of your investment. But these are just a few of the investment plans we offer, that make your money work harder.

WE CAN TELL YOU WHAT'S RIGHT FOR YOU...RIGHT NOW.

At Manufacturers we can take the confusion out of choosing the right investment plan by giving you just what you want ... Straight talk and simple answers. We'll explain everything you need to know so it all makes sense. And can even help tailor an investment plan to meet your needs and wants. So when you come to Manufacturers, you'll be saving money, not losing it. And you'll have it invested the right way.

THAT'S MY BANK.

Admiring two cartoons donated by Free Press cartoonist Guidon are Bob Karle and Suzan Panos, co-chairpersons for the third annual Auction Unlimited sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice on Saturday evening, March 12. The auction will begin at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres in historic St. Andrews Hall, 431 East Congress, in Bricktown. At 8 p.m., the live auction will commence in the Grand Ballroom with auctioneers from Stalker and Boos presiding. Items to be auctioned off include hot air balloon rides, a party at the Strohhaus, a Commodore 64 MicroComputer, catered dinner parties in Mexican, Szechuan or Italian cuisine, a week for six at Myrtle Beach, S.C. and much more. A donation of $10 per person includes hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, auction and original Coney Island hotdogs. There will also be a 50-50 raffle held that evening. Call 882-6464 for tickets or review catalog. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Capitol bishop will visit church

The Right Reverend John T. Walker, Bishop of Washington, D.C., Episcopal diocese and dean of the Washington Cathedral, will bring greetings from the cathedral at the service of the Evening Song, Sunday, March 13, at 4:30 p.m. at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

The choir of Men and Boys will perform during the service, which will be followed by a performance of the cantata "Rejoice in the Lamb" by Benjamin Britten. The choir of Men and Girls will sing this performance.

Riding Hood at War Memorial

The August Puppet Theater will present "Little Red Riding Hood" at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, March 19, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Admission is $1.50 a person.

The show, performed by Ann Mesritz, follows the original Grimms' story of a young girl who is eaten by a wolf while visiting her sick grandmother. In this show, Riding Hood is a mischievous redhead and the wolf is a charming Frenchman sporting a beret and scarf.

As in the original, the woodcutter appears to save Red and her grandmother from the wolf's orgy.

Ms. Mesritz, a former Farms resident, will appear as Annabelle the Clown to introduce the show and will conclude it with a look behind the scenes as she answers the audience's questions.

Currently living in Alexandria, Va., Ms. Mesritz grew up in the Farms. She is a former trial lawyer who left her government job in November, 1981, to join a small puppet company which toured parts of the Midwest and East performing "The Nutcracker" during the Christmas season.

Since then, she established her own puppet company, the August Puppet Theater, and performs one-woman shows, entertains as Annabelle the Clown, and makes and sells her own puppets.

Tickets may be purchased at the Memorial War from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Stress is stressed at Cottage Hospital

"Speaking of Stress," a seminar on stress and how it affects people physically, will be the subject of a program at 7 p.m. tonight, March 10, in Boardrooms A and B of Cottage Hospital.

Dr. Kenneth Schooff, psychiatrist, and Patricia West, will provide clues to identifying personal stress triggers and methods for coping with daily stress will be discussed.

They will also offer tips on accepting stress and utilizing it to one's advantage.

Call the Cottage Hospital Education department at 884-8600, ext. 2390, for reservations and information.

Council approves elm spraying

The Grosse Pointe City Council last month awarded a contract to Shock Brothers, Inc. of Warren to spray public elm trees as part of the city's Dutch Elm Disease program.

Shock's bid of $7.80 per public tree was approved by the council, along with a bid of $16 by the Davey Tree Expert Co. of Troy to spray private trees in the city.

The City requires property owners to spray private elms, and residents may contract with the City's bidder or select their own contractor.

Residents should contact the city hall at 885-3800 for more information.

Order deadline for spraying is March 15

Woods residents who wish to spray their private or city-owned elms may use a group discount spraying program offered by the Woods Tree Commission.

The deadline for the spraying program has been extended to March 15. Spraying will be done through Davey Tree Co. and Shock Tree Service. Order forms are available at City Hall or the police desk after hours.

Tree commission chairman Barbara Hayes said the city has yet to decide whether to spray trees on city property this year. The city may instead plan a program of faster removal, based on findings in the Woods and the Midwest that spraying results in no significant reduction in tree losses to disease, she added.

Parcells pancake supper March 16

The 13th annual pancake supper at Parcells school is set for Thursday, March 17, from 5 to 7 p.m. A $2.50 ticket includes all the pancakes you can eat, fresh sausage and a beverage.

During the evening, parents are invited to tour classrooms and listen to Dr. Roger McCaig, public schools' director of research and development, speak on middle school writing levels and English composition requirements in Room 125.

Tickets can be purchased from any Parcells student or at the door.

Park protests aid cuts

February has come and gone and local units of government still have not received state revenue sharing payments owed to them by Michigan. In response, the Park City Council last week formally objected to the delays and demanded the state pay interest on the money.

Park Clerk-Comptroller Nunzio Ortisi says the state is almost $300,000 behind on payments of sales, income and Small Business Taxes to the Park. The city has received only half of the funds it budgeted for in fiscal 1982-83 and it's beginning to hurt, Ortisi said.

"It's not just that the payments are late and we're missing out on the interest we'd normally be earning on the money. The payments are being cut at the same time with all these Executive Orders from the governor," Ortisi said.

Gov. Blanchard has delayed making the payments to cities while he tries to win support in the Legislature for an income tax increase to balance the state budget.

The resolution, approved by the council at its Feb. 28 meeting, said the city "strongly objects to the numerous delays in receipt of constitutionally mandated Revenue Sharing Funds (and) ... urges specific legislation to charge the state of Michigan interest at the prevailing borrowing rate for the period of time for which Revenue Sharing Funds are withheld past the due date."

The resolution states the funds are mandated by the constitution, but that issue is currently subject of litigation by Oakland County, City Attorney Herold "Mac" Deason said.

A copy of the council resolutions was forwarded to the city's two legislators, Rep. William R. Bryant, Jr., (R-Grosse Pointe) and Sen. John Kelly (D-Detroit).

Nursing center wins state o.k.

The state Department of Public Health last month approved a proposal by the Sisters of Bon Secours to establish a 200-bed Nursing care center in St. Clair Shores that will become the second largest non-government employer in the city, according to David Benfer, chief executive of the hospital.

The center is expected to cost about $8.5 million, a spokesman said.

The center is scheduled to open next fall at the corner of Lakeland and Jefferson, providing nursing, dietetics, pharmacy, social service, physical, occupational and speech therapy services. Short and long term patients will be accepted, according to the hospital.

Construction of the center will be financed by Economic Development Corporation tax exempt bonds, the hospital said.

Benfer said the hospital's goal in establishing the center is to limit elderly individuals' need for hospitalization and control hospital costs.

ARE YOU LOSING MONEY BY INVESTING IT THE WRONG WAY?

Just because you're earning interest on your money, doesn't mean you're earning the most interest you can. Because now there are a lot of investment options that can make your money work harder. Of course, with so many to choose from, it's tough to know which one is best for you.

WHAT DO YOU WANT FROM YOUR MONEY?

Everyone has different needs and wants. If you would like to earn high interest and still have access to your funds for example, there's MANUFUND. Our insured money market account. And NOW INTEREST CHECKING, a high interest account with checkbook convenience. Still you might have some money you can afford to put away for a while and not touch. So you might want our 6-month or 30-month MONEY MARKET ACCOUNT. Both guarantee a high fixed rate of interest for the term of your investment. But these are just a few of the investment plans we offer, that make your money work harder.

WE CAN TELL YOU WHAT'S RIGHT FOR YOU...RIGHT NOW.

At Manufacturers we can take the confusion out of choosing the right investment plan by giving you just what you want...Straight talk and simple answers. We'll explain everything you need to know so it all makes sense. And can even help tailor an investment plan to meet your needs and wants. So when you come to Manufacturers, you'll be saving money, not losing it. And you'll have it invested the right way.

Going once, going twice . . .

Admiring two cartoons donated by Free Press cartoonist Guidon are Bob Karle and Suzan Panos, co-chairpersons for the third annual Auction Unlimited sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice on Saturday evening, March 12. The auction will begin at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres in historic St. Andrews Hall, 431 East Congress, in Bricktown. At 8 p.m., the live auction will commence in the Grand Ballroom with auctioneers from Stalker and Boos presiding. Items to be auctioned off include hot air balloon rides, a party at the Strohhaus, a Commodore 64 MicroComputer, catered dinner parties in Mexican, Szechuan or Italian cuisine, a week for six at Myrtle Beach, S.C. and much more. A donation of $10 per person includes hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, auction and original Coney Island hotdogs. There will also be a 50-50 raffle held that evening. Call 882-6464 for tickets or review catalog. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Capitol bishop will visit church

The Right Reverend John T. Walker, Bishop of Washington, D.C., Episcopal diocese and dean of the Washington Cathedral, will bring greetings from the cathedral at the service of the Evening Song, Sunday, March 13, at 4:30 p.m. at Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

The choir of Men and Boys will perform during the service, which will be followed by a performance of the cantata "Rejoice in the Lamb" by Benjamin Britten. The choir of Men and Girls will sing this performance.

Riding Hood at War Memorial

The August Puppet Theater will present "Little Red Riding Hood" at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, March 19, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Admission is $1.50 a person.

The show, performed by Ann Mesritz, follows the original Grimms' story of a young girl who is eaten by a wolf while visiting her sick grandmother. In this show, Riding Hood is a mischievous redhead and the wolf is a charming Frenchman sporting a beret and scarf.

As in the original, the woodcutter appears to save Red and her grandmother from the wolf's orgy.

Ms. Mesritz, a former Farms resident, will appear as Annabelle the Clown to introduce the show and will conclude it with a look behind the scenes as she answers the audience's questions.

Currently living in Alexandria, Va., Ms. Mesritz grew up in the Farms. She is a former trial lawyer who left her government job in November, 1981, to join a small puppet company which toured parts of the Midwest and East performing "The Nutcracker" during the Christmas season.

Since then, she established her own puppet company, the August Puppet Theater, and performs one-woman shows, entertains as Annabelle the Clown, and makes and sells her own puppets.

Tickets may be purchased at the Memorial War from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Stress is stressed at Cottage Hospital

"Speaking of Stress," a seminar on stress and how it affects people physically, will be the subject of a program at 7 p.m. tonight, March 10, in Boardrooms A and B of Cottage Hospital.

Dr. Kenneth Schooff, psychiatrist, and Patricia West, will provide clues to identifying personal stress triggers and methods for coping with daily stress will be discussed.

They will also offer tips on accepting stress and utilizing it to one's advantage.

Call the Cottage Hospital Education department at 884-8600, ext. 2390, for reservations and information.

Council approves elm spraying

The Grosse Pointe City Council last month awarded a contract to Shock Brothers, Inc. of Warren to spray public elm trees as part of the city's Dutch Elm Disease program.

Shock's bid of $7.80 per public tree was approved by the council, along with a bid of $16 by the Davey Tree Expert Co. of Troy to spray private trees in the city.

The City requires property owners to spray private elms, and residents may contract with the City's bidder or select their own contractor.

Residents should contact the city hall at 885-5800 for more information.

Order deadline for spraying is March 15

Woods residents who wish to spray their private or city-owned elms may use a group discount spraying program offered by the Woods Tree Commission.

The deadline for the spraying program has been extended to March 15. Spraying will be done through Davey Tree Co. and Shock Tree Service. Order forms are available at City Hall or the police desk after hours.

Tree commission chairman Barbara Hayes said the city has yet to decide whether to spray trees on city property this year. The city may instead plan a program of faster removal, based on findings in the Woods and the Midwest that spraying results in no significant reduction in tree losses to disease, she added.

It can't happen here — Rickel

An official at Grosse Pointe Cable, Inc., which serves Harper Woods and Grosse Pointe Park, City, Farms and Woods, said there are safeguards in his organization that would prevent the kind of controversy that has erupted in neighboring St. Clair Shores over the cable system's decision to drop Home Box Office. As reported recently in the News, the St. Clair and Grosse Pointe Shores company, Cox Cable, has been slapped with a $1 million class action lawsuit over its decision to drop the popular HBO service. The company replaced HBO last year with a movie service which it partially owns. The lawsuit, filed by angry subscribers including Leon Sehoyan, claims the company violated its franchise agreement by dropping the service without customers' consent.

John Rickel, president of Grosse Pointe Cable, Inc., said any decision to change programming on his system would have to be approved by a five-man board of directors. That board includes three representatives of the War Memorial, part-owner of the company, one representative of the five cities covered by the franchise, and one representative of Group W Cable, a subsidiary of Westinghouse which operates the system. "Group W is only the operator of our system, not full owner," Rickel said. "It couldn't make such a change without approval of the board."

He's a humanitarian

The Reverend Roy Hutcheon, right, accepts The Chapel of Four Chaplains Humanitarian Medallion award from Reverend Frederick Hoffman. The award is given in recognition of services rendered by the recipient to persons regardless of race or religious affiliation. Reverend Hutcheon, of Grosse Pointe Congregational and American Baptist Church, in Grosse Pointe Farms, started his ministry in 1953. Other recipients of the Medallion have been Bob Hope, James Michener and former Secretary of State Alexander Haig.

County should close hospital, Hertel says

By Mike Andrzejczyk
Wayne County should get out of the hospital business by either turning Wayne County General hospital over to a private firm or seeking concessions from workers to cut the costs of operating the facility, 1st District commissioner John Hertel said.

County Executive William Lucas is currently negotiating with workers at the hospital to seek concessions, Lucas' secretary Bill Johnson said. If the concessions are large enough, the facility could remain in the county's hands, he added.

HERTEL, HOWEVER, said last week he thought the concessions would not be large enough to cut the hospital's deficit, which, depending on who reports it, is either $5 million or $11.3 million.

According to the Wayne County Reorganization Commission, the hospital ended fiscal 1982 with an $11.3 million deficit. A report from the hospital, however, puts the deficit at $5 million.

"That isn't much of an argument for maintaining the hospital, saying the deficit is only $5 million instead of $11 million," Hertel said. Turning the hospital over to a private business would force the facility to become more cost-effective or stop operating, he added.

Hertel pointed to figures compiled by the reorganization commission which compared the hospital's operating statistics with three other area hospitals.

According to the commission, the county hospital has an average 63 percent occupancy but pays the highest average wage and has the highest total operating cost for each occupied bed.

Wayne County General has 1,127 full-time personnel, with an average wage of $24,506 and an operating cost per patient day of $643, the commission said.

HOWEVER, figures supplied by Board of Commissioners assistant public information director Harry Stearnes showed that while the average wage was correct, the cost per occupied bed and cost for patient day were lower than the reorganization commission reported.

According to the figures supplied by Stearnes, the hospital is certified for 340 beds, but is only staffed for 230. With an average occupancy of 213 patients, the hospital has a 93 percent occupancy rate. The full-time employees per occupied bed is four, while the reorganization commission reported the figure of 5.3. Stearnes says the hospital also spends $560 a patient day, while the reorganization commission reported $643.

But Hertel says the question is not the size of the deficit, but the lack of services offered by the hospital in his area. According to hospital figures, only 23 people from the Grosse Pointe area used the facility in its last fiscal year. From his whole district which covers northeast Detroit, Harper Woods and the Pointes, only 636 people used the county hospital, less than four-tenths of a percent of the total 150,460 people treated by the hospital last year.

While the area around the Westland hospital uses it more often, they are still paying too much for their services, Hertel said. In Grosse Pointe, residents are "paying too much for something they're not getting," he said.

Hertel called the staffing at the hospital way out of line with private facilities, adding the waste at the facility was "a more glaring example than the Road Commission. There, it's at the top levels. Here, (at the hospital) it's across the board."

ONE OF THE criteria for turning the facility over to a private firm would be a contract clause protecting the care of indigents, Hertel said. The cost of paying for indigent health care is not anywhere near the cost of operating the hospital, he added.

Hertel said that because the commission doesn't have the same mailing rights as state senators or representatives, the only way for commissioners to really get the views of their constituents is by them contacting the county commission offices. Hertel's office number is 224-0920.

In other business, Hertel said the commission should get a chance to grant final approval of a new reorganization plan for the county later this month. The plan, although okayed tentatively at the committee level, has not yet come before the full commission for its approval.

Along with the plan, budget figures for the cost of implementing it will be sent to the commission, Johnson said. The commission could have the dollar amount of the reorganization by this week.

HERTEL SAID he was predisposed to approving the plan, though he would like to see some cost figures first.

While the Board agrees with Lucas on reorganization, it filed suit recently in Wayne County Circuit Court to clarify the appointment procedures in the charter.

The dispute, Hertel said, is over who has the power to appoint commissioners to boards and commissions. The charter leaves the question unanswered, so the commission has gone to court to have the question settled once and for all, he said.

GP's Greatest to return

Grosse Pointe's Greatest Garage Sale will be back for an encore after an extremely successful debut last year.

An estimated 10,000 people were in attendance over the Memorial Day weekend last spring to buy white elephants, used and new discount clothing, bargain specials from local merchants, arts and crafts items, and everything else usually found at a neighborhood garage sale. Organizers expect double that number to attend this year.

The sale will be held Sunday and Monday, May 29 and 30, in the Carriage House garage behind Jacobson's in the Village. The sale is sponsored by the Village Association to help underwrite the costs of its annual Santa Claus parade. Revenues come from space rental to the vendors, who set up shop in the parking garage for the two days of the sale. Each selling space is approximately nine by 18 feet, the size of a single parking space in the garage.

Already signed up for this year's sale are a variety of crafts, including brasswork, stained glass, carved jewelry boxes, bread art, macrame, quilts and dried flowers. Also expected are furniture and antique dealers, and artists and artisans from many different disciplines. The backbone of the sale, however, is the local citizen or non-profit group emptying basements and garages to realize profits from no-longer-needed household items.

As was the case last year, hot dogs, soft drinks, coffee and doughnuts, and popcorn will be available. The food booths will be run by local service organizations.

The charge for the two days (11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday and Monday) is $50 plus $10 refundable cleanup deposit. Those wishing to participate are asked to call 885-1900, and a member of the Village Association will return the call.

Monsignor Francis X. Canfield

Service marks church unity

Grosse Pointe area Christians from St. Paul Catholic, St. Paul Lutheran and Christ Church Episcopal will celebrate Christian unity at a special service Wednesday evening, March 16, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul Lutheran, Lotthrop Road at Chalfonte.

Area residents are invited to attend the service as well as a lasagna dinner served by the St. Paul youth group in the fellowship hall beginning at 6 p.m.

Featured speaker will be Monsignor Francis X. Canfield, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic since 1971. His sermon, "Let Me Tell You a Story," explores the early traces of Christian unity in the Detroit community.

Lenten service at St. James

St. James Lutheran Church will present its fourth and final Lenten Vesper meditation Wednesday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the church, 170 McMillan. The theme for the meditation is what people have time for.

Congregation members Al Moebus, Mike Mullinger and Ron Wortman will portray the thieves and the soldier who were present at the crucifixion of Jesus.

A Lenten supper prepared by the Junior J's will be served at 6:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall. Reservations must be made with Ruth Dicey, 884-1547 or the church office, 884-0511, by Monday, March 14.

Pointers named to GOP posts

Five Pointers were elected to positions on the committees of the 14th Congressional District Republicans at the state Republican convention held Feb. 18, in Detroit.

Elected to lead the district's Republicans are Terrance Gilseman of Warren, chairman; Prudence Cole of the Farms, vice-chairman; Shirley Wohlfield of Detroit, secretary; and James Miller, of the Woods, treasurer.

Elected members on the district committee from Wayne County are Eldon Andrews, the Farms; Joseph DeSchryver, Detroit; Eleanor Grady, Detroit; Eleanor Hausner, Hamtramck; George Heitmanis, Harper Woods; David Ruthenburg, Detroit; and Gerald Webster, the Farms.

Webster was also elected to the Republican State Central Committee along with Beatrice Woods of Hamtramck.

Luedtke report

Woods needs tight controls on Mack

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Woods should develop and enforce a long-term policy for its Mack business strip from the municipal offices to Bournemouth Road, according to a study sent last month to the city's Planning Commission.

The analysis of businesses between Bournemouth and the municipal offices was presented by Gerald Luedtke, who has worked with the city studying the area around Farmer Jack's and the Seven-Mack Center.

Although the strip has evolved into a viable business strip without undue government regulation, Luedtke said the city should take more control over the development of the south Mack corridor to deal with changes in retail marketing patterns, business mix, demographics and the age of the buildings.

Because of these changes, there is concern about the future economic viability and quality as well as the physical appearance in the area, Luedtke said. Changes in business mix could mean changes in clientele and customers, while the age of the buildings means added attention to the building maintenance and design, he added.

Luedtke outlined five alternatives the city could take. The first was a continuation of their present development patterns for the area. The city could also try for a transition to a predominantly office retail or service district, he said.

The city could also convert the area into a medium density residential area, Luedtke said. The city could provide a large number of multiple dwellings for older residents, but would also run up against businesses that have made substantial investments in the block from Bournemouth to Littlestone, he said, adding the city should consider it only if it seems the most appropriate use for the area.

The transition to a single predominant use along the strip would alleviate some of the problems to the zoning ordinance and continued enforcement for several years. Right now, the 165 businesses in the area are of different types, including office, retail, service and gas stations. Because there are so many different uses, the corridor has a disorganized, discontinuous appearance, he noted.

Changing the development patterns with zoning regulation could easily become unwieldy. To be successful, the city would have to apply the rules over many years, constantly monitor the area and be able to change quickly to meet changing market and economic conditions, something that could be difficult if there are changes in administration personnel or if the rules are too rigid, Luedtke said.

A fourth choice for the city is the development of a concentrated office district. Offices tend to stabilize a business strip because they are usually well maintained, unobtrusive, and have a low turn-over of tenants, Luedtke said.

The city could revise its zoning regulations and set up a restricted office district near Allard, Littlestone and Stanhope, because there are a large number of offices already there, Luedtke said. It would be difficult to achieve, however, since the city would have to phase out other uses over a number of years, he warned. City officials may be pressured into allowing other uses during the transition period unless a major office development encompassing the entire designated area were to occur, he concluded.

The city's fifth choice is controlling the type of businesses along the strip, Luedtke said. By modifying an existing ordinance which regulates numbers and types of businesses along the area, he added.

Using an intensity classification, the city could split its current commercial business classification into low intensity and office, medium and high intensity, and rezoned areas to meet the different needs of each classification.

The office and low intensity businesses, which generate little traffic, noise and parking problems, could be in the center of the city, Luedtke said. Low intensity shops could be limited to art galleries, personal service shops and similar uses that complement the residential areas.

Medium intensity businesses, such as furniture, clothing and stationery shops, generate moderate traffic and could be situated farther out from the city center, Luedtke said.

High intensity businesses should be located near major intersections, like Moross and Vernier roads. Since they generate high volumes of traffic, locating them at the ends of the city would keep traffic away from the city center, minimizing noise and other problems, Luedtke said.

Each of the alternatives has problems, Luedtke pointed out. The city should decide which plans best suit the business and residential areas and implement them after lengthy discussions between the city, businesses and residents to insure the plan meets with general acceptance. Then, the Woods can begin preparing ordinances and regulations that best serve the commercial strip, he added.

St. Paul science winners named

St. Paul school recently announced winners of its annual science fair last month.

In preparation for the fair, students studied the universe, measuring plant growth, researching the human senses and investigating other phenomena around them. Awards were given to individual projects in each grade.

Under the category of life science, the following students won top honors: Dawn Gallagher, Susan Stedem, Beth Blake and Mike Vazquez, eighth grade; Katie Kennedy, Matt Gianni, Joe Helmski and Heidi Hallman, seventh grade; Jenny Kazul, Maureen Yap, Jenny Youngblood, Arthur Helbig and Kristen Youngblood, sixth grade; Brendan Henry, Kelli Wyllie, Jennifer Choike, Jennifer Galvin, Amy Wagner and Ritchie Adrian, fifth grade; Kathy Nault, Justin Hynous, Anne Farrar and Donny DeSeranno, fourth grade.

The following students received honors for physical science projects: Charlotte Kazul, Kevin English and David Kosky, eighth grade; Maureen Herman, Theresa Molloy and Sam Steinhebel, seventh grade; Greg Stevens, Adam Prokop and Alexis Di-Natale, sixth grade; Beth Bonanni, James Combs, Jay Bonahoom and Chris Steinhebel, fifth grade; Paul Deller, Jason Bedsworth, Emily Prokop, Chad Hawkins and Christina Bernudez, fourth grade.

Top math and computer entrants include Katie Bowen and Torrey Ollison, eighth grade; and Andrea Gagnon, seventh grade.

Under the category of earth and space science, the following students received top honors: David Pollett, Ray Echlin and Peter Droste, eighth grade; Michelle Nault, Claire Bonahoom and Karen Molitor, seventh grade; Jeremy Bricker, Ann McDonald, Tim Guthat and Shana Huntington, sixth grade; Chris McCormick, David Asker, Robert Petz, Joseph Grady and Tiffany Shea, fifth grade; Dan Yap, Michael Kirchner, Jenny Robson and Dino Ricci, fourth grade.

Seventh grader Maureen Herman was honored with an award for overall excellence in the junior high category. Overall excellence in the intermediate grades went to sixth grader Jeremy Bricker.

Forum focuses on drug abuse

Students at North High School recently participated in a three-day presentation on alcohol/substance abuse. More than 350 freshmen attended the sessions each day in conjunction with their physical education classes.

Tom Teetaert, physical education department head at North, invited community consultants to aid in the planning of the program. Chris Dodd and Pat Manthe, community leaders, met for several sessions with school leaders to plan the presentations. The school staff was represented by Florence Miller, assistant principal; Tom Neil and Neil Curtis, school counselors; Lydia De-meulemeester, school social worker; and Teetaert.

Ted Lindsey, former Red Wings hockey player, and Greg Dodd, a local businessman, spoke to the students on the first day about leading a disciplined life without reliance on alcohol and other drugs. On the second day, the film "The Comebacker, The Bob Welch Story" was shown; it concerns the Dodger pitcher who turned his life around by accepting treatment for his problem with alcohol.

Jeff Jay, a graduate of South High School, also spoke to the groups about his experiences and the benefits of a drug-free life. Students had the opportunity to talk to Jay about their concerns.

On the final day, students participated in small-groups discussions dealing with alternatives to substance abuse.

Computer fair set at Monteith

The Grosse Pointe public schools, along with local parochial and private schools, will participate in a community computer fair Saturday, March 12, at Monteith Elementary School, 1245 Cook Road, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The fair will feature exhibits by Artistic Touch, Computerland, Computer Mart, Lyceum, Haney's, Microcraft and Practical and demonstrations by students using computer equipment.

The public is invited to attend.

Students learn self-esteem

Second graders at Trombly school recently learned to develop a positive self-esteem and recognize the importance of other individuals through a presentation of "The Green Circle Program" at the school.

The Green Circle Program, a 25-year-old project conceived in Philadelphia and now taught in more than 40 states and 18 countries, seeks to teach young children the benefit of respecting the similarities and difference between people.

Trombly parent Jackie Retenbach asked children to identify those persons important in their world, but also reminded students it's important to include in their circle of friends persons who might be different than themselves, including individuals who are handicapped or who may be of a different race.

Sitting around in a small circle, the children watched as Mrs. Retenbach placed a single figure in a small green circle. "Who is the most important person in the world?" she asked the children. "God," "Mom" and "Dad" were among the answers, but the "green circle" soon expanded to include family, friends and persons who were different than themselves.

Prime Time

For Senior Citizens

Marian Trainor

Someone once said: "Everyone wishes to live a long life. Nobody wishes to be old."

But aging is inevitable. It begins at birth. Actually the aging process is faster in the young than in those who are older. The aging process slows as the years progress.

A clinical pathologist once tried to recall from his experience any patient for whom the burden of years had become excessively heavy and who had died solely for this reason.

The nearest person he could recall was a man of 94 whose life had just seemed to fade away. An autopsy later showed that the man had died of a lobar pneumonia of four days standing. The pneumonia, not just those 94 years, had killed the man.

Ninety-four years is not as uncommon as it once was. We have gone beyond the biblical promise of three score years and 10. True it took a long time for the average to creep up to the biblical right. Back in the Iron Age of Britain, life expectancy was a brief 18 years. Two thousand years ago it was 22. During the Middle Ages it advanced to 33; in 1789 to 35; in 1836 to 40; in 1900 to 49 and in 1947 to 66. In 1961 it had reached 70. Recent figures show that if one survives until 65 there is a good chance of at least 12 years more for males and 16 for females. It is more than likely that the authentic limit for mankind is 115 years. So far only two people have reached that age. However let it be noted that centenarians are almost common.

If the prospect of a long life is really cheering, then the news that man in comparison with other species is a long-lived animal, beat only by the tortoise, will be welcome. There could be a lesson there. Whoever heard of a tortoise frantically racing about? Let the hare work under pressure. The tortoise wins moving at a slow pace.

Beyond the obvious causes that can cut off the added years that modern science has granted us, what can an individual do to guarantee a long life span free of disease?

Sleep, exercise, immediate attention to any signs of physical distress (this means not home remedies but consultation with a physician) and involvement in some form of social activity are all important in minimizing the limitations that the aging process can inflict.

As important as these considerations are, there remain yet another — good nutrition.

Too many older people fall into the habit of simple meals that are easy to fix but lack of vitamins and minerals that are needed to sustain good health.

Good nutrition is the cornerstone of preventive medicine. Adequate diet through the years, is an effective means of maintaining health and vigor and minimizing degenerative changes that occur as one grows older.

True, there are some conditions over which individuals have little control, such as air pollution and chemical additives in food, but nutrition is one life control factor over which they can exercise choice.

For instance, while older people are more sedentary and require fewer calories, these calories must be of the highest nutritional quality. Studies have shown that as people age they experience a loss in lean body mass. This loss is usually accompanied by an increase in fat tissue. A good diet will preserve lean body mass and optimum health.

Another factor to consider are the degenerative changes that come with loss of muscle mass (with loss of motor function) and a loss in bone tissues resulting in fragile, easily fractured bones. It is believed that this age-related decrease in muscle fiber can be stabilized by eating more foods with protein and amino acids.

There are still many unanswered questions concerning the effectiveness of protein in the diet as a means of warding off disorders that accompany the aging process but the prospect that protein could be a possible answer makes it worth while including in a meal.

We do know that protein in the diet is important as people grow older and the efficiency of their kidneys decreases. High quality protein and amino acids can moderate this change.

Gastrointestinal maladies, the most common being constipation, can be relieved by the injection of high-fiber food.

There are other foods that are important in the diet also, such as fruit, vegetables and whole grains, requirements that have been brought to our attention all of our lives. These are facts that we know about what constitutes a good diet.

But there is still need for research in areas such as what kind of a diet should be followed after an acute illness or ongoing chronic illness.

There is need for services that focus on the sociological factors that affect eating habits. Changes in lifestyle among older people often adversely affect their diet. Lower income, the trauma caused by death of a spouse, the fear, if one lives in a high crime area, of going shopping for food, can cause loss of appetite and result in undernourishment. A study done by the National Council On Aging substantiates this need. Its finding showed that work in this area has too frequently been based on cost of services against the benefits. The study applauded services such as home-delivered and group meal programs but concluded that more could be done in the area of preventive health services.

Pre-retirement nutritional counseling, health screening programs and industrial health services were among those cited. It also pointed out a need to evaluate nutrition services in institutions that care for older people. Another suggestion was made that would establish nutritional rehabilitation models to show the importance of good nutrition on patients, mentally and physically.

Everyone eats to survive. We might as well eat not only to survive but to live out our lives in good health and well-being.

ULS receives music honors

University Liggett Upper School students competed in the District Solo and Ensemble Festival for the Michigan Schools Band and Orchestra Association on Feb. 12 at L'Anse Creuse High School. Those who received a superior rating received commemorative medals.

ULS students receiving superior ratings were Barry Hamilton,

Delphine Davison, Carol Ling, David Butzu, Phil McCormick, Anita Gugala, David Wu, William Louth, Ahunna Nwosu, Monique Wise, Evelyn Bittner, Gillian Darlow and Jeff Sweet.

More than 2,000 students competed for medals as well as the judges' written comments. Those with superior ratings will compete in the spring at the state festival.

Physician named to new post

Dr. Ralph D. Cushing, has been appointed to the new position of epidemiologist at Bon Secours Hospital, where he also is director of the internal medicine residency program, the hospital announced this week.

As hospital epidemiologist, Dr. Cushing will be concerned with the incidence, distribution and control of infectious diseases, in addition to establishing epidemiological standards and directing surveys of patients, employees, the environment, and hospital procedures to determine their potential for the transmission of infections, the hospital said.

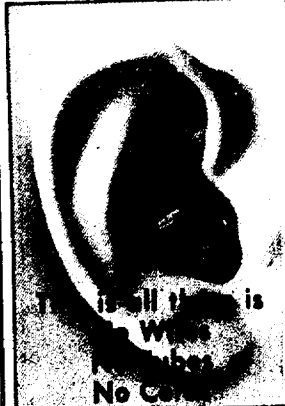

Dr. Cushing teaches and supervises internal medicine residents at the hospital and at Detroit Receiving Hospital where he is chief of Infectious Diseases. He is the former chief of the Division of General Medicine at Wayne State University.

The author of numerous papers on infectious disease and other topics, Dr. Cushing's work has been presented at medical conferences and has appeared in several medical journals. He is certified by the American Board of Infectious Diseases and the American Board of Internal Medicine.

"We are extremely fortunate to have an individual with Dr. Cushing's background accept this responsibility on behalf of Bon Secours Hospital," said David Benfer, hospital executive director.

One View from the Capitol

Don't tax now, cut later

By William R. Bryant, Jr.
State Representative

Some errant observers grossly misinterpret my attitude and generally the Republican attitude toward solving the state's financial problems. The thrust, when it comes from Democrats or some special interests, is that Republicans have made no proposals, yet they will not co-operate, for partisan reasons, in the Democrats' tax increasing endeavors.

Such statements presume that a tax increase is all that's needed. In fact, a revenue increase is but one part of a solution and its size and scope cannot be considered until other facts are known.

THE FIRST element to problem solving is to identify the problem. This the governor and legislative leadership have not been able to do — unless simply saying, "we don't have enough money" is enough. In fact, for their own reasons, the Democrats have chosen not to try to come to agreement at this point. We have tried, in good faith, and will continue to try. It is unfortunate, but it was their choice to go it alone with Democratic votes in the House.

In truth, it does seem that the governor's idea of a "total solution" is one which means that state government will never again worry about not having enough money. It's not what the people have in mind and it's not acceptable to Republicans.

No government ever has enough money. After it has met all the legitimate critical, essential needs it can ascertain, it begins to search out less than essential needs and it gets a lot of help from special interests in finding them. It starts seeing wants as needs. Eventually, it is trying to meet all needs and wants and some things are being done that no one ever said were needed or wanted.

REPUBLICANS WILL opt every time to keep government lean and hungry because they know the alternative is a government that is fat and yet still hungry.

Republicans do have a proposal to resolve our current dilemma, but it's not to give government a blank check. The Republican proposal requires deciding exactly how much government we should have and then decide what's needed to pay for it. This is a step-by-step exercise that should proceed along these lines:

1. What is the fiscal 1982-83 deficit? Since no one can know until the year is over, the answer is of necessity a combination of expertise and compromise. We know it's somewhere between $650 million and $900 million, but it's time to agree on a reasonable figure and resolve to treat a problem of that magnitude. My own conclusion is that the deficit is $800 million.

2. How much of this can be realistically handled with spending cuts? Republicans know that the commitment to eliminate or reduce any government programs weakens as soon as revenue to find them materializes. Therefore, it is dangerous to talk about any new revenue figure until agreement on spending reductions is achieved. We believe the governor should present his executive order immediately.

3. How much does the governor propose to spend in fiscal year 1984, and on what? It takes a lot of time and effort to work out spending and taxing plans which are in balance, but it's all for naught if we're immediately presented with a "business as usual" budget for next year. The governor's announced intention to produce a continuation budget, but only after he has won a tax increase, is not satisfactory. The time to change government's size and structure is when the budget is adopted. The mid-year cutbacks we must achieve in the next few weeks should set the stage for genuine modifications in 1983-84. We cannot separate the two. There are some critical needs that may require additional revenue next year. For example, tuition rates at our major universities have gotten unfairly high. We also want to see the governor support three things we feel are of great importance to long range efficiency. These are sunset legislation with termination dates, an outside commission to study the future of our higher education institutions and another on mental health institutions.

4. What are the needs to regain a decent fiscal situation where we will not be the lowest credit rated state, so we can stop violating accepted accounting principles and so we can have the cash flow necessary to pay obligations in a timely manner? The size of the problem is another $800 million but we have already dedicated 10 cents of cigarette tax to resolving the problem. I believe we should accelerate resolution by providing at least $300 million from a temporary income tax increase for that purpose.

5. How much new revenue do we need? If we have agreed on the size of this year's gap, solved as much as reasonably possible by spending cuts, and agreed on next year's needs, and the need to regain a sound fiscal situation, we can then address tax increases.

6. How long is the new revenue going to be needed? Michigan does not need a permanent increase in its income tax rate to solve today's problems. It does need a temporary increase, but only for so long as it takes to bring government needs back into line with people's ability and reluctant desire to pay.

If and when the governor and the Democratic majority leader of the Legislature agree to a total examination of these problems, they will find ample Republican support. If they continue to subscribe to the "tax now, cut later and trust me in the meantime" philosophy set forth so far, they will have charted a course taking them ever farther from the people. And the new governor will have a bad start indeed.

County General closing would save no money

To the Editor:

Once again I must call your attention to inaccurate editorial digressing. Your "State of the County" bit is running about 45 days behind time.

You and Louis Cook, Detroit Free Press, solidly support County Executive William Lucas' grand plan to close Wayne County General Hospital to save $13 million. You both waffle on how to care for the $13 to $16 million in indigent care costs.

Lucas based his costs on the hospital's accredited 340 beds. He didn't mention the county is only funding 240 beds with a 93 percent usage. The hospital loses approximately $5 million a year. By increasing bed usage, the cost of indigent care decreases.

The doctors, when they incorporated two years ago, began bringing in paying customers, cutting the hospital's losses from $11 million to $5 million. Without the hospital's operation, the total cost of indigent care will be paid right off the top by the county, providing the poor and uninsured can find a hospital to accept them.

Right now there are about 150,000 indigent patients being aided at the hospital. Where will these people be cared for? Who will pay the bill? How does Lucas plan to save $13 million when these non-paying patients will cost $13 to $16 million.

School worker morale is low

To the Editor:

The community is being censored by the governing body of the local educational system. This letter is an attempt to responsibly communicate the truth regarding the morale and motivation of an important labor unit within that system.

The Grosse Pointe community and its school system have generally had one of the finest reputations in the state and the nation. The overall quality and character of this institution is based on a sturdy foundation of honesty, excellent standards and personnel of the highest caliber. These impeccable qualities did not become hallmarks of this community in a fortnight and they shall continue to remain strong despite attempts by the current Board of Education to weaken them.

The members of the school system who work behind the scenes, the plant and cafeteria workers, have little inherent motivation in their jobs, which society has labeled perfunctory in nature. The pride of being associated with the Grosse Pointe community is being neutralized by the school board when it refuses to offer any extrinsic motivation to the plant and cafeteria workers. Morale declines without motivation.

How can the school board claim to be searching for solutions to declining morale when the source of this group's enervation is the board's denial of reward based motivation?

It's a disgrace that the caretakers of this community's most visible asset have been demoralized by the very people who exercise a decisive role in influencing the actions of this community.

March 3 cartoon in bad taste

To the Editor:

I deeply resent your cartoon of March 3 in which you depict the archbishop pointing a crucifix at the face of Sr. Agnes Mary Mansour while pulling her away from her title of Director of Social Services.

If you wish to grossly characterize, you might have shown her thumbing her nose at the church and the archbishop, or stepping on dead babies while hanging on to her title of social services director.

A warning from the voters

Grosse Pointe voters delivered a warning to the Board of Education in Monday's millage renewal election even though they approved the proposal to authorize a levy of up to 25.35 mills a year for the general operation of the school system for the next three years.

THE WARNING CAME in the form of a strong opposition vote that reduced the big traditional victory margins in the Pointes to only 225 votes out of 7,581 cast. The 3,903 to 3,678 vote meant the millage was approved by just 51 percent of the people voting in the election. In fact, the millage actually was defeated at precincts in the Mason, Monteith and Barnes schools, as well as by the absentee voters.

As the Grosse Pointe News pointed out prior to the election, the volume of telephone calls and mail to the newspaper expressing outright opposition to the millage vote or at least some dissatisfaction with the board's policies had indicated a substantial segment of the district was unhappy. The vote proved that indication was soundly based.

This newspaper supported the renewal but said before the election that the board has been slow to act on the school closing issue in view of the continuing decline in school enrollment. That was also the tenor of much of the critical mail and many phone calls received by the Grosse Pointe News from upset voters.

It is true, as school officials emphasized, that the levy of 25.35 mills approved on Monday was slightly less than 26.55 mills in effect since 1976. But many citizens found themselves paying higher taxes year after year because rising property assessments more than offset the lower rates. In fact, assessed valuation in the school district has more than doubled in the past decade.

Many citizens felt that the board and school administration had ignored the fact that the recession had arrived in a good many Pointe homes, even if it had not reduced them to the poverty common in big cities such as Detroit. These citizens felt that the board should have done more to reduce costs and they centered their attention on an easy target: the board's failure to close a single school building even though school population this year is only slightly more than half of what it was in 1972.

From the vote on the extension of the library level, it was clear that the opponents focused their attention on the school levy renewal. The library levy, of course, is authorized at a 1.30 mill level for the next three years, as contrasted with 1.43 for the previous three. But the vote in favor of the library levy renewal was 4,624 to 2,941, which meant support by more than 61 percent of the voters, as contrasted with support of only just over 51 percent for the school levy renewal.

It is true, as school officials have emphasized, that inflation continues to boost the cost of supplies as well as pay for the services of school employees, including teachers. But the school administrators and parents who have opposed proposals to close the schools as well as those to trim the staff have jeopardized the wider support the schools need from older citizens and others who do not have children in the schools.

NOW THAT THE warning has been issued, we are confident that the school administration and the board will review their efforts to curtail expenses and come up with some new savings. Otherwise, the revolt that expressed itself at the polls Monday could be revived at the time of the annual school election in June.

In common with most people and interests in the Pointes, the Grosse Pointe News believes the public school system has built an impressive record over the years and should be strengthened as the community moves into the middle and late 1980s. But the times also demand a stronger concentration on curtailing costs and expenses wherever possible, including the closing of schools as warranted.

The certainty of taxes

Now that the House of Representatives has passed the 38 percent increase in the state's 4.6 percent personal income tax, the battleground moves to the Senate where the fight is expected to be even tougher for the governor and his Democratic colleagues than it was in the House.

In fact, with only a two-vote margin over the Republicans, Senate Democratic leaders have conceded privately that the tax package will have to be substantially modified before it arrives on the governor's desk.

AS PASSED BY the House, the legislation was in about the same form as described in last week's Grosse Pointe News. Accepting the recommendation of their leadership and their senior Republican on the House Tax Committee, Rep. William Bryant Jr. of Grosse Pointe, the full complement of 47 Republicans voted against the proposal and the Democrats had to keep most of their people in line to win a 59 to 51 victory.

The key arguments about the bill still are the "permanence" of the tax hikes which the GOP objects to in view of the tie to the unemployment rate in Michigan; the size of the proposed tax increases which the GOP thinks are excessive, and the amount of the recommended cuts in the state spending which the Republicans believe should be higher than the $250 million recommended by the governor.

At least two Democrats in the Senate already have said they would vote against the House bill, an attitude that strengthens the belief modifications will have to be made before the measure can get through the Senate. In addition, Senate Republicans are taking just as tough a line against the bill as their House colleagues did. So without modifications, where will Gov. Blanchard get the votes for passage of his tax legislation?

IF THE COMPROMISE measure finally calls for bigger budget cuts than proposed by the governor, reduces the tax rates in the Democratic tax bill and even eliminates the "permanence" of the legislation, the Republicans can claim major success in their efforts to make major input into the tax package. But, unfortunately, even a majority of Republicans agree that some tax increases will be required, if only on a temporary basis, and they will be retroactive to Jan. 1.

As Ben Franklin said almost 200 years ago, "Our Constitution is in actual operation; everything appears that it will last; but in this world nothing is certain but death and taxes."

Nostalgia? It's still thievery

Henry Ford II is understandably "fed up" with souvenir hunters who have been looting his empty Grosse Pointe Farms mansion on Lakeshore Road and we agree that people who have been illegally "scavenging" the property ought to be prosecuted.

Ford himself has decided not to press criminal charges against the souvenir hunter who took several items from the mansion last week but that should not justify any new depredations against the property. The next offender may well have to bear the full brunt of the laws against trespassing and thievery, even if he contends he was motivated by nothing more than nostalgia.

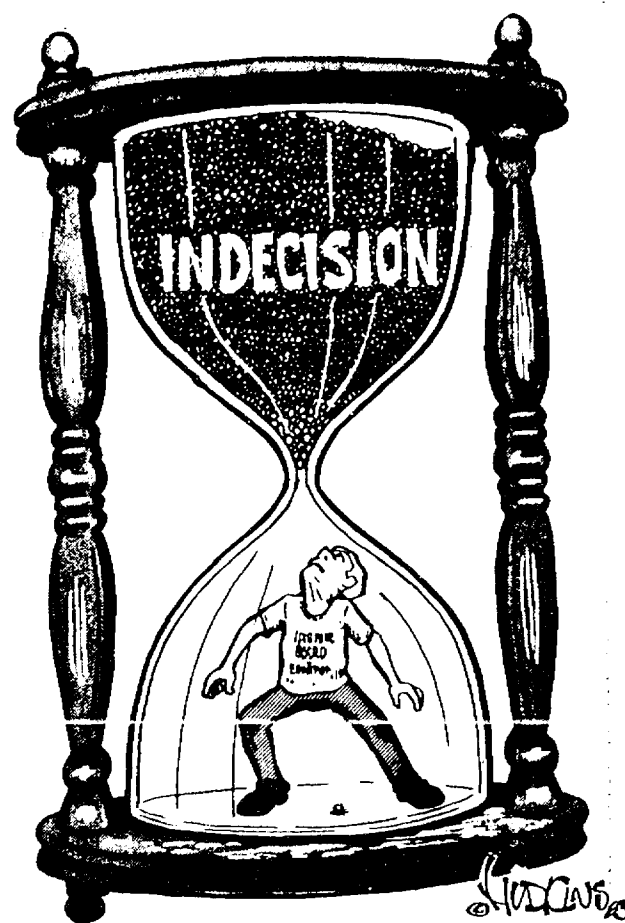

For Grosse Pointe Farms neighbors and other Grosse Pointe residents, of course, the problem presumably will cease this spring when the Ford home is torn down and construction is started on the luxury "cluster housing" units now scheduled to be built on the estate. Work is scheduled to start soon and it is obvious that the sooner the better because as each day goes by the estate becomes more of an eyesore and the building more of an attraction to souvenir hunters.

NOBODY DEFENDS those who have been taking property without authorization from the 76-room mansion. But it is true that some furnishings were taken from the house, and trees and shrubs were removed from the grounds by people authorized by Ford to do so. That may have encouraged some unthinking souvenir hunters to think they had a right to do likewise.

However, as Ford says, "We've got to have law and order." Private property that is vacant deserves the same protection as any other property, occupied or not. True, this puts an additional burden on the Grosse Pointe Farms Police Department, which makes regular runs through the property because Ford no longer maintains the full-time protective services he had in effect when he resided on Lakeshore.

AS GROSSE POINTE changes, many residents feel a nostalgia about the past. Many of us are sad when we see those magnificent mansions hammered down, even when they make way for well-designed developments of the kind Ford and his company are proposing. But nostalgia cannot be confused with thievery, which is what souvenir hunters commit when they pilfer a "memento" from an empty house to help remind them of how things used to be in the Pointes.

Are the Blues returning to redlining?

To the Editor:

The manner in which Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan sometimes operates is confusing and frustrating. As a retiree covered by Blue Cross/Blue Shield and a representative of many other subscriber retirees, I must point out that many of us contributed into Blue Cross/Blue Shield for years without anywhere near the amount we paid in premiums.

It is now my understanding that Blue Cross/Blue Shield is instituting procedures that will use "age and "geographic location" as factors that set policy rates. This procedure is most unfair and these factors smack of age discrimination and a return to the "redlining" insurance practice that we found so despicable in the past.

Retirees are beginning to question whether Blue Cross/Blue Shield should continue to enjoy the special tax-exempt status afforded it under Michigan law. This legislative advantage was only granted so that Blue Cross/Blue Shield could provide affordable health care coverage. With this introduction of "age" and "geography" as factors in their rate-setting, it seems the company is now more concerned with turning a profit and can be reincorporated as such.

This company claims to care about cost containment. Why doesn't Blue Cross/Blue Shield advocate that its subscribers ask for "participating providers?" The concept of "participating providers" is one reason the company was given special tax status to begin with. Yet it does not even promote this particular way in which the individual subscriber can cut down on the cost of health care.

It seems that if Blue Cross/Blue Shield really cared about cost containment, let alone its subscribers, it would encourage consumer education on ways we can all cut health care costs.

It makes much more sense to me to educate current subscribers than to discriminate against the past subscribers who have paid premiums for several decades.

Non-decisions cost money

To the Editor:

I enjoyed reading about someone else's problems (for a change) in your story about school closings (Feb. 24). You should know that because we failed to close schools in a timely manner, in addition to other non-decisions, our district almost went bankrupt in 1978.

Since 1978 we have closed five schools, over 30 percent of our facilities, and we now have balanced our budget each year since 1978. Our schools are full and nobody appears to have really suffered because of a loss of brick and mortar.

Good luck to you. The first one's always the toughest.

Applause goes to jazz band

To the Editor:

My wife and I attended the recent Commodore's Ball for the Grosse Pointe Boat Club at the War Memorial. After enjoying a meal and program we realized the very best was saved for last.

Our community possesses an excellent group of disciplined and entertaining musicians known as the South Jazz and Dance Band. Our compliments to this fine organization and the musicians who have truly captured the spirit as well as the sounds of the Big Band era.

It was obvious that a little something extra had been achieved under the direction of leader Ralph Miller. It seemed to me that a note of appreciation and a thank you from some well entertained people was certainly in order.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

For a week each May, Detroit area residents are presented the ultimate in operatic productions by New York's acclaimed Metropolitan Opera Company — yet many would-be opera enthusiasts don't get all they should, or want, to get out of the Met Week performances, due to their lack of background or knowledge of opera.

It's not that they're unwilling to enjoy and participate in Met Week excitement. It's not that they don't participate, to the best of their ability. It's that they know they could enjoy more, if only they knew more . . . and if you've ever been in that position, you're aware that it can be pretty darn frustrating.

Not to worry: this season, the Detroit Grand Opera Association, sponsor of Detroit's Metropolitan Opera Week, is providing a special opera education opportunity, Metropolitan Opera '83 courses, offered in three metropolitan area locales INCLUDING our own Grosse Pointe War Memorial, open to all, novice to seasoned devotees, who are interested in broadening their operatic awareness. The six-week series will cover the historical background, plot and musical highlights of each of the 1983 Met Week productions.

Instructor is Dr. Jack C. DuBois, of Three Mile Drive, whom you knew as author and host of the Sunday afternoon "Detroit Opera House" series on WDET-FM. DuBois has taught at Macomb and Oakland Community Colleges and the University Center for Adult Education; currently, he's teaching at Wayne State University.

His Metropolitan Opera '83 course will run on Wednesdays, April 13 to May 18, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. He'll be teaching it on Mondays, April 11 to May 16, at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, and on Tuesdays, April 12 to May 17, at Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield. The Monday and Tuesday classes will also run from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

And if, by chance, you sign up for the series in The Pointe on Wednesdays, and find you can't make it to the War Memorial on a particular Wednesday evening, you're welcome to substitute a Dearborn Monday session or a Southfield Tuesday one for that week's Wednesday class.

Course fee is $35. Checks should be made payable to the Detroit Grand Opera Association and mailed to Metropolitan Opera '83, DGOA, 500 Temple Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48201. Desired course location should be indicated on each check.

A word to the wise: since Metropolitan Opera '83 enrollment is limited, it behooves you to get your reservation checks in the mail VERY SOON. If you feel you need more information, the DGOA's office number is 832-5200.

Money matters in focus today

Investment opportunities and personal financial management are the topics of a seminar especially for women to be presented by Comerica Banks at 7 p.m. this evening, Thursday, March 10, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

A team of personal financial banking consultants will discuss new investment options available, including high interest savings accounts, discount brokerage service, personal asset management and trust services, personal loans, new mortgage instruments and income tax management services.

All participants will receive a free copy of the book "Getting Rich — The Indispensable Guide" by Diane Ackerman. A reception with refreshments will conclude the program.

Reservations and/or further information may be obtained by calling Comerica Bank-Detroit, 222-5585. There is a $5 registration fee.

Busy night ahead for Sigma Kappas

The Fabric Works on Notre Dame Avenue, behind the Merry Mouse in The Village, will be the gathering place for Grosse Pointe Alumnae of Sigma Kappa promptly at 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday, March 16. Wendy Burns, owner of the shop, will demonstrate trapunto and offer new ideas for the use of fabrics as decoration.

Following Wendy's presentation, members will adjourn to the Neff Road home of Eileen (Mrs. John M.) Church for dessert and a short business meeting, during which nominations for 1983-84 vice-president, corresponding secretary and recording secretary will be accepted.

Heidi Hartwig (Mrs. John H. Jr.) Denler and Carole Peters (Mrs. A.W.) Lombardini have completed the first year of their two-year terms as president and treasurer, respectively.

Sigma Kappas in the area who would like to come to the March meeting or who desire additional information about the Grosse Pointe Alumnae are invited to contact Eileen, the hostess, 885-1046, co-hostess Carole Lombardini, 881-2818, or Julie Bartlett, 881-8027. Reservation deadline is this Sunday, March 13.

Phase I topic is very sincere

Jerry Pelton, founder and publisher of "Sincere Singles," a monthly booklet featuring self-descriptive profiles of eligible singles throughout the metropolitan Detroit area, will address Phase I, the group of single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, at 7:45 p.m. this Sunday, March 13.

All who attend will receive a free copy of Pelton's publication. If there is enough snow, Sunday will find Phase I members cross-country skiing in the afternoon, starting at 1:30 p.m., at the St. Clair Shores Golf Course, where equipment may be rented. There is a nominal track charge of $2.50 for St. Clair Shores residents, $3.50 for non-residents. Further information may be obtained by calling 294-1591.

East Kappa Deltas to look at books

The East Alumnae Association of Kappa Delta meets tonight, Thursday, March 10, at 7:45 p.m. in the Lincoln Road home of Mrs. Jack D. Rowe, where Kris Johnson, from the Grosse Pointe Central Library, will review a selection of books following the serving of dessert.

New Kappa Delta alumnae and alumnae new to the area are most welcome to join the group. Further information about the meeting and/or the organization may be obtained by contacting Amy Rowe, 884-7664.

Woman's Club March Guest is Edgar Jr.

The Grosse Pointe Woman's Club's meeting Wednesday, March 16, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial will feature Edgar A. Guest Jr. as guest speaker. He will be introduced by Mrs. Milan J. Alexander, vice-president and program chairman.

The warm, friendly voice of Bud Guest was heard throughout the Midwest for 36 years over WJR in Detroit. "On the Sunny Side of the Street" brightened the mornings of thousands of listeners as they drove to work or enjoyed a second cup of coffee after getting the rest of the family out of the house.

His program dealt with a wide range of subjects — but always in a light-hearted manner, for Bud enjoys laughing and hearing other people laugh. He is able to do both as he relates his Sunny Side anecdotes at banquets and other special occasions.

Friends of Vision help DIO . . .

JACQUELINE FORISH (standing) was joined by CLARE BRISTOL and FRIEDA MOEHN (seated, left and right) at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology's Friends of Vision during which a check for $3,000, to be used to further the DIO's teaching and research programs, was presented to Dr. PHILIP HESSBURG. New Friends of Vision officers, who assumed their duties Jan. 1, are Margot Surridge, president, Mary Ann Bodendistel, vice-president, Marie Miller, treasurer, Mabel Bristol and Joan Dennehey, corresponding and recording secretaries, respectively. Committee chairpersons are Sharon Gasiewicz, membership, Mabel Bristol, low vision, Mary Walter, publicity, and Frieda Moehn, hostess. Historian is Betty Breidenbach. The Friends' next regular meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, March 15, at the Bronze Door. Cocktail service begins at 11:15 a.m. Luncheon will be served an hour later. Catherine Gee will address the group, speaking on meeting the needs of the newly visually handicapped. Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Forish at 774-5047.

Sunday benefit party planned

A benefit party for the Occupational Evaluation Center of St. Clair Shores, a non-profit facility, founded in 1977 by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Amato, of Oxford Road, which provides training for handicapped adults, has been scheduled for this Sunday, March 13, from noon to 4 p.m. at Telly's Place on Mack Avenue in The Woods.

Lisa Allen, popular local vocalist, will sing at the "Spring Thing." Tickets are available at Mr. A's and Telly's Place on Mack Avenue in The Woods, at Ernie's Party Store on Harper in St. Clair Shores, or by contacting the center, 773-6565, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays.

The facility serves the handicapped in a variety of ways, providing, in addition to training, vocational testing to aid people in finding the work for which they are best suited.

Grand Marais Questers meet

The Grand Marais Chapter of Questers meets tomorrow, Friday, March 11, at the Pointe home of Mrs. William T. Krebs where the nominating committee will present the slate of officers for the coming year.

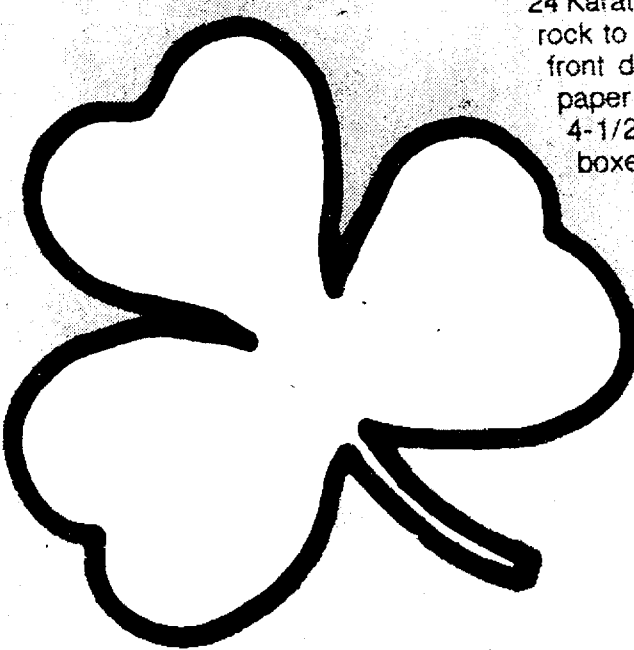

After a short business session, conducted by President Mrs. John N. Makara, Mrs. Daniel Brown will look at American Fairs and Expositions — and Their Mementos. Members are asked to bring personal "treasures" from fairs of the past to highlight Mrs. Brown's program.

St. Pat's card party at St. Joseph Home

The Saint Joseph Carmelite Guild of Saint Joseph Home for the Aged will sponsor a Saint Patrick's Day luncheon and card party next Tuesday, March 15, at 12:30 p.m. at the Home, located on Cadieux Road in Detroit. Donation is $4. Reservations may be made by calling 882-3800.

Phi Mus to gather for Founders' Day

Detroit area Phi Mus will celebrate the founding of their social sorority, as the national organization reaches its 130th birthday this month, with a luncheon and ceremony Sunday, March 20. Time and place information may be obtained by calling 363-3505.

24 Karat gold plate shamrock to hang inside your front door or use as a paper weight. 4-1/2" x 4-1/2" attractively gift boxed. $17.50.

May the road rise to meet you,
May the wind be always at your back,
May the sun shine warm upon your face,
The rain fall soft upon your fields and,
Until we meet again,
May God hold you in the palm of His Hand.

Linda Lough

Patricia McSorley

Diviney-Lough betrothal told

The engagement of Linda Louise Lough and Michael Anthony Diviney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Diviney, of Mount Clemens, has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lough, who moved recently to Howell after many years' residence in The Farms. An October wedding is planned.

Miss Lough, a Grosse Pointe South High School alumna, attended Central Michigan University. Her fiancé, a graduate of Mount Clemens High School, attended General Motors Institute and is an apprentice die designer with Fisher Body Division of General Motors. He is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Miss McSorley will be a bride

Mid-August wedding plans are being made by Patricia E. McSorley and Michael Canelas whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McSorley, of Kerby Road.

The bride-elect, a Grosse Pointe South High School alumna who received her Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree from Nazareth College, is working at Marquette General Hospital in Marquette. She is a member of the Michigan Nurse's Association.

Mr. Canelas, son of Inez Diane Alexander, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Fernando Canelas, of Bolivia, S.A., attended Chico State University and is now a student at Northern Michigan University. He is affiliated with Tau Gamma Theta.

Mr. Genematas to take a bride

Dr. and Mrs. Richard C. Hespen, of Dearborn, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Catherine, to Nicholas Genematas, son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Genematas, of Woodland Shores Drive. A September wedding is planned.

Miss Hespen, a Dearborn High School alumna, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Albion College, where she is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Her fiancé, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumnus, received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics and History from Albion College. His fraternity is Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Reed S. Wilson weds in Hawaii

Marcia Diane Malabon, daughter of the Amado Malabons, of Paia, Maui, Hawaii, and Reed Sutherland Wilson, son of the Frederick M. Wilsons, of Rivard Boulevard, were married Friday, January 21, at an 11:30 o'clock ceremony in Wailuku, Hawaii. The newlyweds vacationed in Honolulu and are making their home on Maui, in Kula.

Shelley Eschenburg

July wedding date is made

Late July wedding plans are being made by Shelley Ann Eschenburg and Charles Thomas Murphy whose engagement was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald F. Eschenburg, at a cocktail party at their Bedford Road home for family and friends over the Christmas holidays.

The bride-elect and her fiancé, son of Margaret M. Murphy, of Moross Road, and the late Gerald N. Murphy, are both Grosse Pointe South High School graduates.

Miss Eschenburg is attending Richland College, Dallas, Tex. Mr. Murphy attended Ferris State College.

Pamela Adams to be a bride

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley B. Adams, of Wellington, West Palm Beach, Fla., former residents of Barclay Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Pamela Lee Anne, to Daniel Mitchell Wynne, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Wynne, of Tarboro, N.C.

Miss Adams, a Grosse Pointe North High School graduate, was employed at Lochmoor Club before moving to Florida four years ago. She attended Palm Beach Junior College and is now employed by the Pratt-Whitney Division of United Technologies in West Palm Beach, in the Finance Department. Her fiancé, educated in Pahokee and West Palm Beach, served four years with the United States Army Rangers, stationed for most of that time in Germany. He is the owner of Wynne Electronics, a commercial electronics firm in North Palm Beach.

The wedding is planned for early June, at the Adams home on Lake Wellington. It will be a garden ceremony and a family reunion: the first time in several years that all five Adams children will be together with their parents.

Longley-Perkins rites are slated

The engagement of Candace Marion Perkins and William Henderson Longley has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson Prehn, of Pelham Manor, N.Y. The wedding is planned for late April.

The bride-elect, an alumna of St. Margaret's School, Waterbury, Conn., and Pine Manor Junior College, holds a Masters degree from the University of Arizona. She made her debut at the International Garden Club and was presented at the Westchester Cotillion.

She is presently associated with Kass-ahell in Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. Longley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Longley, of Charlevoix Avenue, is an alumnus of Detroit County Day, De Veaux School, Niagara Falls, N.Y., Hillsdale College and the University of Arizona.

He is group advertising director for Esquire Magazine, operating out of Los Angeles.

Greenfield Village open all winter

Visitors to Greenfield Village may stroll on their own throughout the grounds this winter, look into more than 18 historic structures and listen to explanatory tapes, visit a half-dozen operating early industries and take a guided walking tour of a dozen key buildings.

The two-hour guided tour, Living and Working in America, looks at some of the exciting changes that occurred in America in the 18th and 19th centuries, how they affected almost every aspect of people's daily lives then and how they shape our lives today.

Improvements and inventions as they affected the home are emphasized in the tour's visits to a 17th century Cotswold cottage from England and an early 18th century Saltbox house from Connecticut, both from times that required self-sufficiency. Visitors then stop at Noah Webster's house, the Sarah Jordan Boarding House, the Ford Homestead and the Wright Brothers Home, each offering insights into the ways daily life changed in the 19th century.

Visitors can also discover social changes and changes at the workplace through visits to the Scotch Settlement School, Logan County Courthouse, Menlo Park Laboratory, Elias A. Brown General Store and Wright Cycle Shop. The tour concludes at the Eagle Tavern, where warming drinks typical of the 1850s are available in the Tap Room.

Greenfield Village is open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily.

Admission to the Village is $8 for adults and $4 for children six to 12. Senior citizen admission is $7. Children under six are admitted free.

Short and to the Pointe

S. GARY SPICER SR., of The Farms, has been elected to serve on the Board of Trustees of Adrian College. Spicer is senior partner in the law firm of Spicer and Littman. He graduated from Adrian College in 1964 and holds a master of business administration degree from Wayne State University and a law degree from the Detroit College of Law.

Among physicians participating in the late March course "Oral Cavity Carcinoma" to be sponsored by the Wayne State University department of otolaryngology are PHILIP BINNS, M.D., and HENRY VANDERBERG, M.D., both of The Pointe.

Pointe residents recently re-elected to the Michigan Cancer Foundation's Board of Trustees include JOHN T. CLADWELL, WILLIAM E. GILES, Judge RAY REYNOLDS GRAVES, RICHARD F. HUEGLI, ROBERT M. O'BRYAN, M.D., and RICHARD R. ROYER, M.D.

Newly elected senators of the Western Student Association, the student government of Western Michigan University, includes ANNITA THEODOROU, of The Pointe, and WILLIAM J. ROSS, of Aline Drive, senators at large.

KAROLYN BRESER, of Three Mile Drive, an Interlochen Arts Academy senior alto, participated in February's Great American Choral Festival state competition.

Miss Arlington to wed in June

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Vincent, of Lakeshore Road, announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy June Arlington, to John DeGrandis III, son of Mr. and Mrs. John DeGrandis Jr., of Fair Haven, at a Christmas holiday open house. A June wedding is planned.

Miss Arlington, an alumna of Grosse Pointe South High School, expects to receive her Bachelor of Science degree in Telecommunications from Eastern Michigan University in April. Her fiancé, who holds a Bachelors degree from Eastern Michigan, is now working toward a Masters degree in Remote Sensing.

Potluck & program for Alpha Mu DKG

Terry Navarro speaks vows

Dr. Robert Linthicum presided at the wedding of Terry Winslow Navarro and Marco William Massa Saturday, August 28, in the garden at the Stephens Road home of her mother, Mrs. Albert Navarro, where a reception followed the 5 o'clock ceremony.

The newlyweds vacationed in Hawaii and are at home in Garden Grove, Calif.

The bride, who is also the daughter of the late Mr. Navarro, wore a gown of silken organza, featuring an off-the-shoulder, draped bodice of yellow organza and Venise lace and a cathedral skirt multi-banded in yellow organza bias strips and trimmed with white Venise lace appliques.

She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, stephanotis and baby's-breath.

Lynn Ryan Navarro, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Jennifer Hoben, Sarah Fisher and Margaret Taylor, in Grecian style dresses of pale yellow crepe de chine, carried arrangements of yellow roses and daisies.

Mark A. Bouchillon served as best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mildred Massa, of Las Vegas, Nev., and Francis Albert Massa, of Long Beach, Long Island, N.Y.

Ushers were Charles Trent Navarro, brother of the bride, and Michael McBroom.

Mrs. Navarro chose a Lily Pulitzer green and yellow print, trimmed with white lace, for her daughter's wedding.

GROSSE POINTE NEWS

Book Review Group to meet

Mrs. Ray H. Kiely will review a new biography, "Luther: A Life" by John M. Todd, at the Book Review Group of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Women's Association meeting next Tuesday, March 15, at 1 p.m., following a noon luncheon at the church.

This year marks the 500th anniversary of Martin Luther's death. All are welcome at both the luncheon and the review, but reservations should be made in advance by calling 882-5330.

Detroit Genealogists to look at Ireland

Richard M. Doherty will report on his 1982 visit to Ireland for genealogical research, sharing "Ireland: What He Learned" at a Detroit Society for Genealogical Research meeting Saturday, March 12, at 2 p.m. in the Explorers Room of the Detroit Public Library on Woodward Avenue, opposite the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Society members will be available during the morning in the Burton Historical Collection to provide help with individual problems. Forms used for genealogical research and books sponsored by the society will be available both before and after the meeting, which is free and open to the public.

Mr. Schatzberg weds in west

Jane Marie Courtney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Courtney, of Scottsdale, Ariz., and San Juan Capistrano, Calif., was married Friday, January 14, in Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church, Scottsdale, to Jeffrey Wayne Schatzberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don G. Schatzberg, of Fairford Road.

The Reverend William Fitzpatrick officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Scottsdale Hilton. The newlyweds have returned from a cruise to Ensenada in Baja California to make their home in Scottsdale.

The bride, a senior at Arizona State University, was given in marriage by her brother, Thomas Courtney, of Jackson Hole, Wyo. She wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory peau de soie and an Alencon lace hat, accented with flowers and trimmed with fingertip veiling. White roses and stephanotis formed her bouquet.

She was attended by her sister, Patrice Courtney, of Scottsdale.

as maid of honor, and by bridesmaids Deborah Felice, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Sally Rider, of Tucson, Ariz. Flower girls were Corinne Courtney and Carly Felice.

The bridegroom, a graduate of the University of Iowa, associated with Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company in Phoenix, asked Kevin McNulty, of Detroit, to act as best man. Ushering were Peter Joos, of Grosse Pointe, and William Hanson, of Chicago.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ehnis, and their son, Benjamin, of Lansing, and the bride's sisters, Colleen Courtney, of San Juan Capistrano, and Mary Courtney, of Rock Springs, Wyo.

More from Michigan, were the Richard Molitors and Mrs. Theodore de Groot, of Mount Clemens, the William Kimmons, of Bloomfield Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Karle, of St. Clair Shores, the Anthony Muers and the Joseph Strobls, of Detroit, the Victor

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Schatzberg

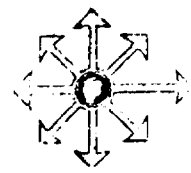

Kotwickis, of Union Lake, Mrs. William Bedard, of Grosse Pointe, and Mrs. Herbert Schatzberg, of Warren.

Still others were Mr. and Mrs. George Kronberg, of Northbrook, Ill. Kenneth Thomas, of Costa Mesa, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. William Robb, of Jackson Hole.

Short and to the Pointe

JERRY LEE, R.N., of The Farms, director of the ombudsman at the Harper Hospital division of Harper-Grace Hospitals, was recently appointed to the board of directors of the YWCA of Detroit's Interim House, an emergency shelter and alcoholism treatment program.

DOUGLAS D. KUHN, son of MR. and MRS. DONALD W. KUHN, of Harvard Road, was named to the Dean's List for the fall term at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., where he is a junior.

Course offered in Landscape Design Study

District I, Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, Inc., will sponsor a three-day Landscape Design Study Course at Mercy Conference Center in Farmington Hills Tuesday, April 19, through Thursday, April 21: first of a four-course series to be held six months apart.

The courses are designed for all those interested in enlarging their knowledge of landscape design, use of plant materials, ecology, land utilization and planning, and developing a greater overall appreciation and understanding of their surroundings.

Each course consists of 11 hours of lectures, a study manual, reading assignment and optional exam. Syllabus books will be mailed upon receipt of registration, due by Monday, April 11. Fee is $36 for the first two days, plus $2 for the examination (if desired), to be given on the third day.

Further information may be obtained by contacting registrar Elizabeth Kuhlman, representing the Junior League Gardeners, at 884-6715.

Help at hand for overeaters

Overeaters Anonymous meets Friday mornings, at 9:30 a.m., at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church on Maumee Avenue, between Neff Road and St. Clair Avenue. The meetings are open to the public.

Silver Oaks ABWA plans fashion event

Silver Oaks Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association presents "Fashion Blooms," a luncheon, style show and boutique table fair, Saturday, March 12, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Proceeds will go to ABWA's scholarship fund.

Donation for the event, which starts at 11:30 a.m., is $11 per person. Clothes will be by Pointe Fashions of Grosse Pointe Park, make-up by Mary Kay Cosmetics. Tickets may be obtained by contacting Russelle Dellafano, 286-9484 or 286-9197, or Patricia Chechowski, 225-8611 or 280-1078.

Elizabeth Cass DAR theme is education

Mrs. Howard Reed was assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. Edgar Hallead and Mrs. Franklin Kocher when she opened her McKinley Avenue home to members of the Elizabeth Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, last Monday, March 7.

Education was the meeting's theme. William Peters, director of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries, addressed the group, speaking on library services. The day's agenda included a message from the DAR's President-General and a national defense report.

Cooperative Nursery to host Open House

Interested mothers and their children are invited to observe a typical three-year-old session at the Grosse Pointe Cooperative Nursery, Inc., located in the basement rooms of the Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church on Moross Road, next Tuesday, March 15, from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Grosse Pointe Co-op three-year-olds meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 11 a.m. The four-year-old class meets Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, also from 9 to 11 a.m.

A cooperative nursery is rooted in the need of young children for a good group experience and their parents' belief that it makes good sense to share in that experience. Teacher Pam Barthel is assisted by parents who rotate working days.

The children participate in large and small group activities and free-time play to promote positive social experiences. They are given opportunities to do craft projects, paint at easels, use dress-up clothes, riding toys, indoor gym equipment, puppets, puzzles and blocks.

Facilities include a housekeeping area, workbench, water and sand tables, singing, poetry, games and field trips are featured.

Grosse Pointe Cooperative Nursery is now accepting registrations for children who will be three or four years old by Dec. 1, 1983. Further information on the school or the open house may be obtained by contacting Cindy Thill at 882-9832.

Women's Network to hear Ms. Prince

"You Can't Take It With You, But Why Leave It to Uncle Sam?" is the title of the talk attorney Patricia Lynn Prince will give to members of the Michigan Professional Women's Network on Monday, March 14, at a regularly scheduled MPWN dinner meeting at 6 p.m. at Somerset Inn, Troy.

Ms. Prince, an expert in the areas of estate and tax planning, will address the topics of pre- and post-nuptial agreements, wills, revocable living trusts and "Q-Tip" trusts.

She is an alumna of Wayne State University Law School and was graduated magna cum laude with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Oakland University in 1975. Now an associate with Rubenstein, Isaacs, Lax and Boardman in Southfield, she has, in the last two years, authored "Income Shifting Value Shifting," a regional professional publication for the Michigan Institute of Continuing Legal Education's Fifth Annual Federal and Michigan Tax Institute.

Meetings of MPWN, a two-year-old, non-profit organization designed to help career women succeed in business, industry and educational fields, are open to everyone. Reservations for Ms. Prince's program may be obtained by calling 355-5580.

Greet Gardening Angel Monday

"Gardening Angel" Angie Rutledge will give the program for members of the Grand Marais Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association when they meet Monday, March 14, for a noon luncheon at Olive Meikle's Muskoka Road home. Co-hostesses are Ester Nagle and Margaret Young.

Marguerite earns GP ABWA honors

Marguerite Lynch, active in fund raising and a bookkeeper for Ford and Earl Design, has been elected Woman of the Year by the Grosse Pointe Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association and is eligible to compete for 1983 Top Ten Business Women of ABWA designation.

Marguerite, an ABWA member since 1963, has held various offices within the organization over the years and has chaired committees on both the local and national levels. Announcement of the national award recipients will be made at ABWA's national convention, to be held Oct. 26 to 30 in Las Vegas, Nev.

Ms. Lynch was vocational speaker at the Pointe ABWA's regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 16, at Eastside Charley's. Guest speaker, following dinner, was Amelia McCoy, vice-president and secretary of First Fidelity Title.

The chapter has scheduled its spring Membership Event for Wednesday, March 16, at Eastside Charley's. Reservations for the "finger food and fun" session are needed. Further information may be obtained by contacting Suzanne Kiester after 6 p.m. at 371-5223, or Gertrude Johnson at 839-1758.

Set Salvation Army Auxiliary's meeting

Reservations for the Auxiliary to the Salvation Army's meeting next Monday, March 14, at 11 a.m. at Salvation Army headquarters on North Main Street in Royal Oak may be made by calling Mrs. Milton Schimpke, M17-2323.

Mrs. Quentin Hamilton will present the program: a two-projector, two-screen slide show on the Passion Play of Oberammergau.

Rummage sale date is April 21

Plans for a rummage sale to be held Thursday, April 21, in the Grosse Pointe Congregational-American Baptist Church Social Hall were discussed by members of the Church Women's Association at a recent luncheon in the Audubon Road home of Mrs. Bernice Bates.

Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Benjamin Prescott will co-chair the project, with Mrs. Prescott also acting as financial chairman. Mrs. Richard Allor and Mrs. Herbert Kohls will be in charge of the culinary department. Mrs. Donald Cook is doing publicity.

Chairmen who have volunteered to be responsible for specific facets of the sale include Mrs. John Denler, Mrs. Steven Christian, Mrs. Ralph Bressler, Mrs. Howard Price, Mrs. Ervin Meyers, Mrs. George Polen, Mrs. Richard Hile, Mrs. Richard Tapper, Mrs. Frank Standish, Mrs. Clifford Kuhl, Monte Edelin and Vern Morris.

Doors will open at 9 a.m. and close at 3 p.m. Such items as women's, men's, infant's and children's clothing, shoes, toys, attic treasures, jewelry, furniture, appliances and linens will be offered, along with the Lathrop Shoppe featuring all-new stock.

Spring card fantasy Motor City ABWA hosts spring event

The Regina High School Mothers' Guild will present a spring fantasy card part tonight, Thursday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the gym at the high school, located on Kelly Road in Harper Woods. Admission donation is $3. Prizes, favors and refreshments will be featured.

Further information and/or tickets may be obtained by contacting Nancy Lawicki, 774-9799, Joanne Mualem, 886-9059, or the school, 526-0220.

The Motor City Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association presents its annual Spring Enrollment Tea this Sunday, March 13, at 3 p.m. at the Friendship Baptist Church on Beaubien in Detroit.

The theme, "Lucky Spring," focuses on the business woman's vision of making her own good fortune and having the confidence and courage to succeed. Reservations are necessary. Lois Buck may be contacted at 399-1590 for further information.

Pre-Natal Fitness program is offered

A non-vigorous Pre-Natal Fitness program begins Monday, March 14, and will run for seven weeks at the Lakeshore Family YMCA, located on East Jefferson Avenue in St. Clair Shores.

Classes meet twice a week. Students have a choice of day or evening sessions. Written approval from a doctor is necessary to participate in the program. Registration may be made and fee information obtained by calling 778-5611.

Antique show to aid museum

The Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts will host benefit events in conjunction with the mid-March Old Inn Antique Show at Dearborn Inn, including a gala show preview Thursday evening, March 17, open to all interested patrons and offered with two donation options: cocktails, buffet dinner and preview at $50 per person; champagne reception and preview at $25 per person.

A brunch and lecture by Ernest DuMouchelle on "The Ins and Outs of Collecting Today" will be featured Saturday, March 19, at 10:30 a.m. The $18 per person donation includes Saturday's admission to the show, which has received national acclaim for excellence in its American and English formal period and country furniture and decorative art objects.

Additional information and reservations may be obtained by contacting the Founders Society Development Office, 833-1925. All proceeds from both events will benefit the Founders Society.

From Another Pointe Of View

Christ Child Mini-Mart

Bread dough Easter figures, Ukrainian and ceramic Easter eggs, herb and grapevine wreaths, blooming plants and silk flower arrangements, wicker baskets, painted sweatshirts and aprons, jewelry, collectibles, a gourmet booth. All these await shoppers at the admission-free Christ Child Society Mini-Mart, to run from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesday, March 23, at the Detroit Golf Club.

And smart shoppers will plan to make a day of it, staying on at the DGC for luncheon at 1 p.m. and a warm weather fashion show by B. Siegel. The planning involves getting in a $16 per person luncheon donation in advance, by next Wednesday, March 16. The easy way to find out how to do this is to call Christ Child House, 584-6077, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Proceeds from the annual Mini-Mart and luncheon benefit the young residents of Christ Child House, a shelter for temporarily homeless children, located on Joy Road in Detroit. Among those serving on the '83 Mini-Mart committee are a trio of Pointers: Marion Mayday, Pat Alandt and Camilla Duffy.

June World Tour in The Pointe

Last summer's International House Tour sponsored by the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit was a smashing success, and we're delighted to report there's another International House Tour on this summer's agenda. So circle Sunday, June 12, on your calendar right now. Look forward to visiting five gracious Grosse Pointe homes, to viewing a variety of exotic performances, to observing ethnic cooking demonstrations and sampling the sort of food a Yankee mother never dreamed of making.

It's a grand way to spend a summer Sunday afternoon, as anyone who participated in the First International House Tour will tell you. It's also a bargain, at $5 donation per tour ticket, with proceeds going to support the International Institute's educational and cultural programs and services to new Americans and foreign speaking people.

The number to call for more information on International Institute activities, including a mid-April International Folk Festival at Northland Center that sounds VERY interesting, is 871-8600.

Sorority House Tour in Ann Arbor

Speaking of House Tours... for the first time, on Sunday, March 20, from noon to 3 p.m., the general public will have an opportunity to take guided tours of 16 sorority houses on the University of Michigan's Ann Arbor campus.

Sororities have provided a comfortable atmosphere for studying and socializing on-campus at the U. of M. since the early 1900s. They are currently homes for over 1,000 university women. The changing history of the 20th century is reflected in many additions and modifications to these houses constructed when hand-carved moldings, stained glass and detailed paneling were not unthinkable luxuries.

Passes for the tours at $2 for adults, $1 for students and senior citizens may be obtained from the U. of M. Panhellenic Association (663-4505) or any sorority house. Maps come with the passes. All proceeds will be donated to the Michigan Lupus Foundation. Lupus is an inflammatory disorder which most commonly affects young females, attacking one of several organ systems, primarily the skin, joints, kidneys, heart and lungs.

An Achieving Cinderella

Former Michigan Supreme Court Chief Justice Mary Stallings Coleman will be the honored guest at this year's Cinderella Ball, to be held Saturday, March 19, at the Westin Hotel. The fund raiser, presented annually since 1947 by the Women's Committee of the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, originally honored a young, recovered victim of tuberculosis as Cinderella of the evening.

More recently, the black tie party has featured different themes, ranging from A Midsummer Night's Dream to a Winter Palace Ball. This year, the Women's Committee has revived the Cinderella theme but added a new dimension to its meaning, and will honor as Cinderella a Michigan woman who has demonstrated notable achievement in her field.

Tickets for the ball, at $67.50 per person, may be obtained by calling the American Lung Association, 961-1697. Reservation deadline is next Tuesday, March 15. Proceeds support the Lung Association's free community services, including a camp for children with asthma, monthly support programs at 13 sites for victims of chronic lung disease, breathing assistance equipment loans and smoking education programs.

Preschool session at Macomb YWCA

The Macomb YWCA's seven-week Kiddie Kampus session running from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Mondays and Wednesdays at the East Detroit Community Center on Nine Mile Road, between Gratiot and Kelly, begins the week of March 14.

The program offers children aged three to five an opportunity to engage in creative play, group activities and sharing experiences. Instructor is Gail Taylor, a Michigan Certified Kindergarten Teacher.

Fee schedules and further information may be obtained by calling 772-4435.

Among Albion College students named to the 1983 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" is JOSEPH G. QUINN, son of MR. and MRS. WILLIAM J. QUINN, of Berkshire Road. A 1979 graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School, Quinn is an Albion College senior majoring in economics.

2,000 REFERRALS!

That's our goal for 1983! We've come close to this goal in 1981 and in 1982 and we know we'll exceed it in 1983. We believe that the success of our referral/relocation department is due to our aggressive efforts in increasing corporate relocation business, our association with the national Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service and our commitment to reward quality sales associates with additional business.

Schweitzer Real Estate/Better Homes and Gardens has been increasing their efforts to work with more corporations in assisting them with their transferring employees.

We are looking for experienced sales associates to be added to our list of qualified referral specialists. If you would like to find out more, call Vice President, Dennis Andrus at 886-4200.

Pointer of Interest

By Janet Mueller

Last summer, Rose Ruble was working as a nurse at The Whittier. This spring, she's an employee at Olde & Company's downtown office on Griswold Street, studying for her stock market license while working full-time for the discount brokerage firm.

For a Registered Nurse who'd worked at, and enjoyed, her profession ever since she graduated from nursing school in Pittsburgh, Pa., that's quite a career change. Why make it?

"In the last three years, illness and death have sort of permeated my life," Rose explains. "First my husband died suddenly, of a heart attack. A year later, my father had a heart attack. Last year, my brother underwent surgery so he could breathe."

"Seven years ago, my sister underwent cancer surgery. . . I think I simply reached a stage where I wanted nothing more to do with sickness."

She'd always been interested in the stock market. She'd belonged to a Wayne State University Faculty Wives Investment Club for seven or eight years. She'd been contemplating a change of professions for some time, had submitted her resume to Olde a year-and-a-half ago. Last September, when the discount brokers decided to give her a try, Rose didn't hesitate. She quit her job at The Whittier and began her job with Olde three days later.

SHE COULDN'T HAVE picked a better time to learn the brokerage business. "The stock market has been busier since last August than it has been in its whole history," Rose says. "Remember, a few years back, when so many women were going into Real Estate? Now they're going into brokerage houses. Women who used to be school teachers are going into brokerage houses."

"It's a wide-open field. It's exciting."

Rose describes discount brokers as the "no-frills" of the business. "I compare using a discount broker to flying to Florida Super-Saver versus First Class. Everybody on the plane gets there, but the coach passengers get there less expensively. Basically, we take and execute orders. We provide no counseling."

"We're not for everyone: some people need counseling, and we tell them if we think they should have a full-service broker."

Rose is originally from Uniontown, Pa., south of Pittsburgh. She worked in Pittsburgh, at Saint John Hospital, after graduation from nursing school. "Then my roommate and I decided to head west, to California. We stopped in Detroit because we had college friends here."

It's been a long stop. Rose's roommate ended up getting married; two months later Rose, working at Harper Hospital and living at Harper's Nurse's Residence, met Dr. Paul Ruble. That their paths should cross at all was unlikely, for Rose was working the 3 to 11 p.m. shift and doctors usually make their rounds earlier in the day. But one of Dr. Ruble's patients had had a coronary, and the doctor dropped by after-hours to see the patient, and there was Rose.

FOUR CHILDREN CAME with Rose's new husband. Mary, the youngest, is 25 now, a chemist with Nuclear Dynamics, married to an epidemiologist with the Michigan Cancer Foundation. Mary and her husband live in Ann Arbor.

John, a Michigan State University graduate, is a packaging engineer with Wheaton Industries in New Jersey. "He's the only one who had to leave the state to find a job," says Rose.

The two oldest, Paul Jr., in his last year in Medical School at Wayne State University, and Jim, an account executive with Ross

ROSE RUBLE, OF EAST JEFFERSON AVENUE

Roy, are still at home — a fact for which Rose is very grateful. "With my schedule, working full-time and studying in my spare time, virtually the only social life I have had recently has been with my family and close friends."

"The kids have really kept me together these past months. They have a great sense of humor; they're always fun to be around."

Two "great cats," Samantha and Simba, also share the house on East Jefferson Avenue with Rose. Actually, they're her sister's cats — but Rose's sister's husband was one of the air traffic controllers who lost his job in the fallout from the recent strike. He headed south to find work. Rose's sister naturally went with him. Rose said she'd keep the cats, for the duration. It looks like the duration will be permanent.

After her husband, an oncologist, Vice-Chief of Medicine at Harper Hospital, died in 1979, Rose established the Paul Ruble Memorial Fund at Harper. The money goes to Harper's Oncology Division. Rose served as president of the Harper Hospital Auxiliary from 1976 to 1979 and remains active in it: currently, she and Patricia Kenney are co-chairing the reception following Ruth Burczyk's Auxiliary-sponsored benefit recital for Harper-Grace Hospital's Radiation Oncology Center.

THE CONCERT IS SET for tomorrow, Friday, March 11, at 8 p.m. at Orchestra Hall. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 822-7141 or 886-4115 or the Orchestra Hall box office, 833-3700.

Rose remains a member of both the Wayne County Medical Society Auxiliary and the Detroit Rehabilitation Institute Auxiliary, "although I really don't do anything for either of them now except pay my dues," and of the WSU Faculty Wives Club. She did the Faculty Wives yearbook last year and will do it again this year.

She is president of the Friends of the Wayne State University School of Medicine, who are currently collecting hardcovers and paperbacks for their Used Book Sale in April. Proceeds go to the Shifman Medical Library.

"We take all kinds of books. We welcome donations. Anyone who has any books to contribute can contact Joan Baer at 646-7617, or the Medical Library; the person to talk to there would be Bart Bryan."

Rose's volunteer work is now, of necessity, curtailed and confined to weekends and evenings. "The job is the focus of my life." Last year, she was asked by a friend in charge of volunteers for the corporate boxes to work at the Detroit Grand Prix. Rose had a ball, but somehow she doesn't see herself as a Grand Prix volunteer this year. No time.

But since the Grand Prix, she's had friends who take her to sport car races. Other friends have hockey tickets and see to it that Rose gets to a game every so often. "And that's about it for recreation — oh, I did go to the Super Bowl this year. It was a two-day get-away; I had friends in California who invited me. The funny thing is: when the Super Bowl was here, I didn't go."

AS AN R.N., ROSE ran the nursing gamut, hospital to private duty to office manager for her husband. She did the non-medical research for the syndicated column "To Your Good Health" after Dr. Ruble took over writing it for the Detroit News.

She'd worked in virtually every nursing field except geriatrics when she took her last nursing job, at The Whittier. "I'm very glad I did that," she says. "I really enjoyed it. I was there just one year, but it was a wonderful year. The elderly have a strong sense of humor. They can be very witty — and they have experienced the world."

As a nurse, her hours were flexible. She worked in uniform. "I've had to learn to do laundry more than once a week. I've had to learn to schedule myself: to make a point of getting to the dry cleaners, to the bank. . . The first months I worked at Olde, I bounced three checks. I'd never bounced one before in my life. It wasn't that I didn't have the money; it was that I just couldn't seem to get to the bank to deposit it."

When, after three months, she'd received no Visa or MasterCard charge statement, she wrote and asked it there were something wrong with the mails. Before, she'd always received a monthly bill. The fact was, there was nothing to bill Rose FOR. She hadn't had time to go to the stores.

She'd adjusted to the life of a woman bound to regular business hours, but some things have had to go. "I feel I've neglected my physical self. I haven't been exercising, and I've gained about 10 pounds. I'd like to get back to playing tennis. I play golf during the summers; perhaps I should say I played golf: I don't know if I'll have the time for it this summer."

She can't say she doesn't miss nursing. She does say she's going to give her new career a good try, one full year.

"Right now, probably the hardest thing is finding time to study." But whenever Rose is tempted to feel hounded by a lack of time she looks around her, at women her own age who, maintaining a similar work/study schedule, also operate as single parents of young children, driving them to Little League games, going to PTA meetings. "Those are the women," says Rose, "who have earned their ticket to heaven."

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, more wonderful Lenten FISH DISHES.

The cardinal rule to remember in seafood cookery is: the fresher the better. Care must be taken not to obliterate the delicate flavors of these wonderful fresh foods by overseasoning or overcooking. Remember, too, that the cost per pound of flesh from most fish is no more, and often less, than that of many cuts of meat; figuring cost per serving, fish makes an astonishingly thrifty gourmet meal.

FLORENTINE FILLETS

- 1 can (4 oz.) mushrooms, stems and pieces
- 1/2 cup chopped onions
- 2 Tbsp. margarine
- 2 Tbsp. dry vermouth
- 1 cup saltines, crushed
- 1/4 tsp. white pepper
- 1/8 tsp. sage
- 1/8 tsp. mace
- 2 Tbsp. mushroom juice
- 4 sole or flounder fillets
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen, chopped spinach, thawed and drained
- 4 tps. lemon juice
- 4 tomatoes
- Italian dressing

About 40 minutes before serving, preheat oven to 425°.

Make stuffing by draining mushrooms, reserving juice. In 1 Tbsp. margarine, saute mushrooms and onions in skillet for several minutes, add vermouth and continue to cook until onions are golden. Remove from heat. Add 1 cup crushed saltines, 1/4 tsp. white pepper, 1/8 tsp. sage, 1/8 tsp. mace and 2 Tbsp. mushroom juice.

Sprinkle fish fillets very lightly with salt. Spread with drained spinach, sprinkle with 4 tps. lemon juice, spread with stuffing. Roll up each fillet from short side; secure with picks. Arrange side by side, in 12x8x2-inch baking dish. Brush lightly with 1 Tbsp. margarine.

Cut tops from 4 tomatoes, place in pan, brush with Italian dressing. Bake fillets and tomatoes 25 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when pricked with a fork. Remove picks. Makes four servings. Calories about 260 per serving. Cholesterol about 70 mgs.

OVEN-FRIED FISH

- Over-frying is a great calorie saver, and gives a tantalizing flavor to this fish entree,
- 1-pound block frozen sole, perch or flounder fillets
- 1/4 cup Egg Beaters, well beaten
- Dash of salt and pepper
- 2 Tbsp. flour
- 1/2 cup unseasoned dry bread crumbs
- 1 Tbsp. vegetable oil

Remove fish from freezer and let thaw 10 minutes. Heat oven to 500°. Cut fish crosswise into 4 pieces. Place the well beaten Egg Beaters in a pie plate or shallow bowl; add salt and pepper. Coat fish with flour, shaking off excess. Dip fish in egg mixture to cover, then roll in bread crumbs to coat. Put fish on a rack placed over a baking pan; drizzle oil on top of each piece. Bake 15 to 20 minutes, until fish is golden-brown on the outside and opaque in the center. Makes 4 servings.

Calories about 164 per serving. Cholesterol about 60 mgs.

BASQUE STYLE COD

- 1 1-lb. block frozen cod fillets
- TOMATO SAUCE:
- 1 1/2 tsp. vegetable oil
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 1/2 tsp. minced, peeled garlic
- 2 medium-sized ripe tomatoes, chopped (about 2 cups)
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/8 tsp. crushed red pepper flakes
- 3 large pimiento-stuffed green olives, sliced very thin

Remove cod from package and let stand at room temperature while tomato sauce is being prepared. In a medium-sized skillet, heat oil over moderate heat. Add onion and garlic and cook 2 to 3 minutes, stirring frequently until onion is translucent — but not brown. Add tomatoes, salt and red peppers. Simmer 5 minutes, stirring frequently until sauce is thickened. Cut frozen cod lengthwise into 2 pieces, then into 1-inch cubes. Add cod to skillet; cover and simmer 10 minutes. Turn fish over. Add sliced olives; cover and continue to simmer 5 to 10 minutes more, or until fish flakes easily. Makes 4 servings. Calories about 121 per serving. Cholesterol about 50 mgs.

Artists Market show is golden

The Collectors Show, an exhibition of work shown during the 50 years the Detroit Artists Market has been in existence as a downtown Detroit gallery, opens tomorrow, Friday, March 11, with a 5 to 7:30 p.m. reception.

Over 150 artists will be represented in the exhibit, which provides a unique opportunity to combine artist recognition with an expression of appreciation to Market supporters by showcasing selected works borrowed from their collections.

Among the artists whose work was shown early in the Market's existence are John Carroll, Charles Culver, Peter Gilleran, John Foster, Wallace Mitchell, Peggy and Walter Midener, Fred Papsdorf, Constance Richardson, Sarkis Sarkisian and Zubel Kachadoorian.

More recent exhibitors include Jorg Erickson, Naomi Dickerson, Barbara Greene, Richard Jerzy and Lester Johnson.

Complementing the Collectors Show, the Upper Gallery at the Market on Randolph Street will feature a show of work by current Detroit area artists, juried by Dennis Nawrocki, Art History instructor in the Detroit Institute of Arts' Education Department.

The Collectors Show will run at the Artists Market through April 8. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

FIT FOR A QUEEN!

Here old Wacky went and hunted down a vast selection of unusual, exciting, antiques, gifts, and collectibles that is truly majestic, and he finds out Liz isn't even going to stop by. The Crazy Man would have sworn a possible visit to the Colonial Shop was the reason her Majesty carried a purse. Wacky knows the Queen couldn't have passed up many assorted pieces of Noritake pink azelia, a German figural porcelain compote, several pieces of blue on white Wedgwood Queens ware, a mother of Pearl satin glass vase, a bunch more English bone china cups and saucers, some silver plate serving pieces, a wind up Victrola, a cut glass mustard pot, two Murano glass animals, a Seth Thomas chiming mantle clock, a Victorian settee, a discontinued Royal Doulton figurine, a Fenton stretch glass candy dish, some Vernon kilns souvenir plates, a ladies compact commemorating the Coronation of Edward the VIII, a wooden coffee grinder, a Royal Albert cream and sugar decorated with shamrocks and much, much more. Treat yourself Royally, visit the Colonial Shop, 25701 Jefferson, near 10 Mile. Monday through Saturday 11 to 6, 772-0430. Personal checks, Master Charge and Visa are welcomed, and don't forget, we buy and appraise too!
