Congratulations to Boy Scout Leader David A. Steel, of Lincoln Road, who is about to receive the Silver Beaver Award, the highest recognition available in the Boy Scouts, for distinguished service to youth in the Detroit Area Council.

Steele, who was a Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer as a youth, also achieved the rank of Eagle Scout and currently serves as Scoutmaster of Troop 96, chartered to Grosse Pointe Memorial Presbyterian Church, and is also chairman of the Lakeshore District.

Steele will receive his award on Thursday, Oct. 27, at the recognition meeting and reception of the Lakeshore District in St. John Hospital's auditorium.

Another bowl of red

It'll be winner take all this Sunday in Tropico Gold Mine, Calif., (just outside Los Angeles), when Farms resident Jeanne Lackey puts her "Lackey's Award Winning Chili" recipe on the line in the Old Milwaukee Beer-International Chili Society World Championship Chili Cookoff.

Ms. Lackey won the right to compete by winning the Michigan cookoff earlier this week. This year's championship marks the 17th annual quest for the best bowl of chili in the world and $25,000 in prize money to go with it.

According to the rules, each contestant will cook a minimum of one gallon of their best brew, which will be sampled and taste-tested by a panel of judges. Among this year's celebrity judges are Ernest Borgnine, Robert Mitchum, William Conrad (the battery man) and George Gobel.

Sponsor of this year's contest is Old Milwaukee, which is brewed by our own Stroh's Brewery. Maybe there's a song in there somewhere. Something like "Chili and Beer."

More on the contest later.

Looks like this week's column is going to be carrying a lot of names. First on our list is Joe Shock, 32, of St. Clair Shores, who was chosen as uh, "Michigan's Hunkiest Hunk," by the Detroit News.

A hunk, for those of you not in the know, is the kind of man who stops women dead in their tracks. It's not just good looks that count, but a combination of clothes, physical attractiveness, charisma, zest and that something extra that makes women gather in groups and whisper when somebody special walks by.

According to the News, and his wife Dottie, Joe Shock (what a great name for a hunk!) was nominated three times for the honor; by his wife, his sister Anne and the hairdressers at the Darling Beauty Salon.

You know what's the best thing about Joe making it as number one? He's originally from Grosse Pointe, having grown up on Three Mile Drive with his family, and is a graduate of South High School.

As for vital statistics, he's a 5'-11", 166 pound father of two and works for the family firm, Shock Brothers Tree Service. Wife Dottie says he's a pretty down to earth guy who's taking the sudden fame in stride, even though the phone has been ringing off the hook.

According to reports, and the photo in the News, Joe looks somewhat like Tom Selleck, Michael Landon and/or a young Burt Reynolds.

City says no, for now, to merchants' tavern bid

By Harriet Nolan

The Grosse Pointe City Council will not issue any tavern licenses this year, but will instead study the liquor issue for a year before putting it to a vote in November, 1984.

The move, led by councilman James Curran and unanimously approved at the Monday, Oct. 17 meeting, was an obvious disappointment to the audience filled with village merchants who voiced support for approval as quickly as possible.

"Over 90 percent of village merchants are in favor of putting a (citizen referendum) on the November 1983 ballot," said Andrew Moquin, owner of the Merry Mouse.

Jacobson's general manager, Clarence Wascher, urged the council to make an early decision: "it's the only way we're going to make it," (stay in business.) Vito DePlama said he didn't know how much lónger he could "hang on" without offering beer and wine as an enticement for more people to patronize his Clairpointe Restaurant.

Moquin, Wascher, DePalma and Steve Scandalis, owner of the Rams Horn, have hired former Grosse Pointe City Mayor John King to represent them in securing tavern licenses.

However, council noted that future concerns must be studied and answered before any licenses are approved.

Issues include the control the City loses once any license is issued. Problems could occur if the Liquor Control Commission decides to automatically upgrade the licenses from tavern to a Class C (bar) license. Council members also cited potential misuse of a license which, when sold to the highest bidder, may result in a business detrimental to the City.

Also, business hours would be regulated by the Liquor Control Commission and could run to 2 a.m. like other bars.

All these problems could occur because once a license is issued, the holder has a vested interest in the community, has rights and answers to the Liquor Control Commission, not the City, according to City attorney Richard Hinks.

Councilmembers also raised the question that if a tavern license generates revenue, could a Class C license generate more business?

Councilmen John Youngblood and Jeanette Duffield said they had recently been approached by outsiders who expressed interest and surprise in discovering that licenses were available in the City.

"Perhaps a world-famous restaurant would like to come here," said Ms. Duffield.

Lessons from the master

Portrait artists from all over the state and country converged on the Grosse Pointe Academy this last week to attend a portraiture workshop conducted by Daniel E. Greene, one of America's leading portrait artists.

Greene's work is represented in more than 200 public and private collections, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art. His list of portrait subjects includes leaders of American industry, banking education and government.

The workshop began Sunday evening, Oct. 9, with a demonstration on the professional techniques of painting a portrait in oils. A similar demonstration was given the following Tuesday evening on painting a portrait in pastel. Models were provided for all sessions, which were open to the public for a $15 fee.

Greene was born in Ohio and studied at the Art Students League where he was the recipient of both the Thekla M. Bernays and Helen Herzberger Scholarships. In 1967, he was elected to the National Academy of Design and began teaching as well as serving on the council.

Committee will wait on recall

By Susan McDonald

Leaders of the Committee for Neighborhood Schools said this week that the group will probably wait until after the Board of Education's scheduled Nov. 14 vote on school reorganization to begin action on a recall.

Attorney David Easlick, who has been active with the committee, acknowledged there's "a split" among members regarding which route to take in light of Supt. Kenneth Brummel's latest plan to close only Barnes Elementary School next fall. His recommendation also includes moving approximately 45 students from the Defer to Trombly attendance area and transferring sixth graders to the middle school.

The committee has threatened to recall any school board member who votes in favor of closing a school and said it may seek a court injunction to halt school closings. Easlick said the issue would be further discussed at a committee meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at Barnes School (after the News went to press).

Among scheduled speakers at the Barnes meeting were William Brownscombe, co-chairman of the committee and William Coats, former superintendent of Grosse Pointe schools. Coats resigned almost three years ago to take a teaching position at University of Michigan school of education and

In LA or at home, fitness comes first

By Tom Greenwood

Staying healthy has opened a lot of doors for David Shelley. Shelley, 24, recently moved back to Grosse Pointe after working for four years in California as a personal fitness coach to TV and movie stars such as David Keith, Lee Remick, Brock Peters and Dennis Cole.

Along the way he had a lot of fun, met some health club rip off artists, did bit parts in TV shows and MTV, chauffeured rock star Steven Stills around and went to the movies with an Arab prince.

Shelley left for California after attending Grand Valley State College where he majored in physical fitness education. With $50 in his pocket and the name of a connection in a popular Los Angeles spa in his hand, Shelley headed west.

"I worked very hard in that club, putting in lots of overtime and sometimes working 80 hours a week," said Shelley, dark haired and muscular. "I was doing my best, but the club owners weren't. They both had cocaine habits running into thousands of dollars a day. I left when I saw the way things were heading. I couldn't recommend someone spend $400 a year on a membership when I knew the club might be closed down soon."

Eventually, the club owners lost all 12 of their spas and were arrested by the police.

After he left, Shelley obtained work as an instructor at a popular spa called the "Sports Connection." Through these clubs Shelley became involved in private coaching, with his first client being actor Dennis Cole, of Detroit.

Cole, a frequent guest on the "Love Boat" and "Fantasy Island," was also married to "Charlies Angels" star Jacklyn Smith. Shelley helped him get in condi-

Farms bedroom invaded by robbery suspects

By Mike Andrzejczyk

A string of eight armed robberies that began at 7:30 Friday night, Oct. 14, at an East Detroit fast-food restaurant, ended two hours later in the front yard of a Lexington Road home after a high speed chase and shot fired.

According to police in three cities, as many as five people, two adults and three juveniles, may have been involved in eight different robberies at gunpoint in East Detroit, Detroit, Warren, Harper Woods and Grosse Pointe Woods.

East Detroit police said the first robbery took place about 7:38 that night at a Burger King restaurant at East Eight Mile Road and Gratiot. Detectives said two youths confronted a couple com-

Incumbent mayor faces challenge

By Harriet Nolan

Two Grosse Pointe Park residents are vying for the mayoral chair which will be decided when citizens go to the polls on Nov. 8.

Seeking a second term of office is Mayor Douglas Graham, 59, a Republican and Pointe resident for 44 years. Graham received his law degree from the University of Michigan and is senior partner and administrator of his law firm Butzel, Keidan, Simon, Myers and Graham. A member of city council for 16 years, Graham has served on various study committees, was the Park's representative to the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), was involved in the development of cable television, and study and planning for a district court for the Grosse Pointes.

He also served as chairperson within the council on matters such as insurance, finance, review and revision of city ordinances, and two years ago was elected Mayor Pro Tem by the city council. In past years, Graham has served as president, trustee and elder of St. James Lutheran Church. He is currently president of the Munderich Ministerial Scholarship Foundation that makes scholarship grants to Lutheran ministerial students all over the country.

Challenger Palmer Heenan, 62, received his law degree from the University of Michigan law school after graduating from Princeton University with honors. A Park resident for 42 years, Heenan has been an attorney in private practice for 30 years. He is senior vice-president of Detroit Mortgage and Realty Company which specializes in property management and mortgage financing, and also holds directorships on several other corporations.

Heenan is no newcomer to politics having been a member of the Michigan Republican State Committee from 1957-1961 and from 1979-1983. He was a member of the 14th District Republican Committee from 1961-1977 and a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1968 and 1980, and Michigan Chairman, Reception Committee for Ronald Reagan in 1980. Heenan is an elder at Knox Presbyterian Church.

In later issues, the Grosse Pointe News will highlight the candidates involved in other Pointe city elections.

Palmer Heenan

By Harriet Nolan

"I want to be mayor of Grosse Pointe Park so people can wake up at 2 a.m. and know what the mayor really thinks," says challenger Palmer Heenan. Heenan thinks the No. 1 priority is public safety and that councilman Anthony Spada is the "Paul Revere of the zoning ordinance issue."

Firmly ensconced at the Country Club of Detroit, after declining an invitation to meet with reporters at the Grosse Pointe News office, Heenan criticized council, its

Douglas Graham

By Harriet Nolan

It's cut and dry as far as Grosse Pointe Park Mayor Douglas Graham is concerned. He's proud of his 16-year record on the Park council including the last two years as mayor. He likes the job and has no intention of letting go of the reins.

"Running the city is like running a business," says Graham. "There are lots of challenges and the opportunity to improve what has been done before."

War Memorial board asks schools not to compete

By Susan McDonald

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Board of Directors recently sent a strongly-worded resolution to the Board of Education opposing the use of any school building for community centers, which might compete with the War Memorial.

Creation of a community center has been among several possible uses for empty school buildings considered by a committee studying ways to use excess space caused by the system's drastic enrollment decline. Supt. Kenneth Brummel last week proposed closing Barnes Elementary School, on Morningside Drive, where enrollment is less than 200 students, because of a greater than 40 percent drop in the number of children in classrooms system-wide. The school board is scheduled to vote on the recommendation Nov. 14.

The War Memorial's resolution notes that "some of the suggestions which have been submitted to the Excess Space Committee suggest that certain school buildings and facilities (which are supported by public tax funds) should be used for the purpose of establishing and maintaining community centers and continuing education programs which may compete directly and be in conflict with similar facilities and programs which are operated and maintained by the War Memorial" which receives no tax support.

The resolution continues to express the War Memorial board's "grave concern and opposition to the use of any tax supported buildings or facilities for purposes of a community nature which would compete and be in conflict with similar non-tax supported facilities and programs which are offered and maintained by the War Memorial."

The resolution was unanimously approved by the War Memorial board, according to the center's executive director Mark Weber.

The War Memorial, at its recent annual meeting, also elected two new members to its board of directors, Edward T. Gushee and Richard Hugeli. The two join current board members Mrs. Walter B. Fisher, John E. Park, James T. Schrage, Mrs. John S. Snyder, Mrs. David Stafseth, Alexander Suczek, John P. Worcester and honorary member Mrs. Alger Shelden.

The center's officers also were re-elected for another term of office. They are President Frederick Ollison, III, First Vice-President William Monahan, Second Vice-President Mrs. Bruce K. Bockstanz, Treasurer Robert Boomer, Secretary William G. Butler and Assistant Secretary Earl L. Heenan, Jr., Assistant treasurer is Mrs. Warren Watkins.

GP Cable gets new manager

Grosse Pointe Cable Inc.'s new general manager Gerald DeGrazio said he's excited to be working in a community with as solid a cable system as the Pointes.

DeGrazio, 32, started managing the system Oct. 1. Before coming to Group W, Grosse Pointe Cable's parent company, he worked in telecommunications in Dearborn, helping in the administration of that city's cable franchise agreement. He was also active in data transmission and telephone communications in Dearborn, he said.

Graduating in 1972 from the University of Michigan with a Bachelor of Arts degree in economics, DeGrazio continued his education at the University of Detroit, where he earned a Master's degree in business administration. DeGrazio, his wife Mary Katherine and son Nicholas live in Dearborn.

A member of the Dearborn Rotary Club, DeGrazio said he hopes to transfer membership to the Grosse Pointe chapter. In addition, he has accepted a position on the board of the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association of Mack Avenue.

"I really can't say at the present time" what changes he might make at the system, DeGrazio said. "One of the reasons I was so excited about taking the position was because the five cities we serve make up a very solid cable system base."

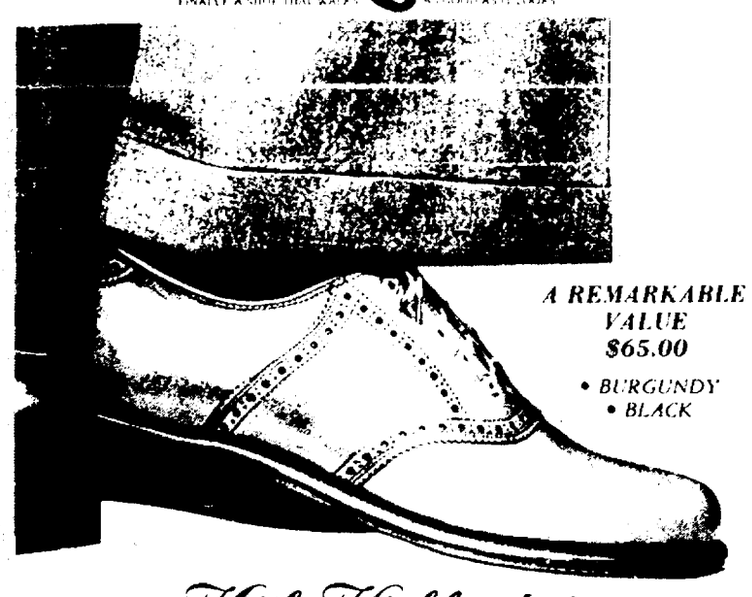

Parkinson support group forms

The Eastside Parkinson Patient Support Group, led by Dr. Raymond B. Bauer, Grosse Pointe neurologist, meets on the last Thursday of each month from 10 to 11:30 a.m., at the Whittier Towers, 415 Burns Drive.

Dr. Bauer works in the department of neurology at Wayne State University and Harper Hospital and is president of the newly-formed Michigan Parkinson Foundation.

At the Oct. 27, meeting, another Grosse Pointer, Marjorie Jouppi of the staff of Bon Secours Hospital and a member of the Michigan Parkinson Foundation's Board of Directors, will discuss "Food for Thought; Thoughts for Food."

Parkinson patients and their families are welcome to join the Whitter Towers Group.

Park man stands mute on charges of mail fraud

By Mike Andrzejczyk

A 37-year-old Grosse Pointe Park man stood mute at his arraignment on mail fraud charges before federal Magistrate Barbara Hackett last Monday afternoon in U.S. District Court.

A plea of innocent was entered on behalf of Eric Smedes, of Somerset, in connection with the charges. A trial date before U.S. District Judge Horace Gilmore is yet to be set.

Smedes was alleged to have committed 46 counts of mail fraud in a federal grand jury indictment handed down earlier this month. The charges stem from a supposed scheme to defraud Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan out of more than $150,000, according to the indictment.

Smedes allegedly altered billings to the Blues while employed at National Bio-Analytical Clinical Laboratories, a Farmington Hills medical laboratory that performed various blood tests, a Blues spokesman said.

According to the indictment, Smedes allegedly altered the records of the billings from September to November, 1981, to create duplicate case numbers and billings which were submitted to Blue Cross for payment, the indictment said. The Blues paid in excess of $150,000 for the billings, according to the indictment.

Blue Cross received information about the alleged double billings from an outside informant, a company spokesman said. After conducting its own internal investigation, the matter was turned over to the FBI and the Postal Service, the spokesman added.

The company spokesman was reluctant to give details about how the billings were supposed to have been altered, saying the method allegedly used could be duplicated by another computer programmer.

According to the grand jury indictment, Smedes allegedly was to have altered from the case numbers of services and subtracted three months from the billing date to create duplicate and fictitious billings. The laboratory transcribed its billing onto a diskette which was sent to another company which transferred the information onto magnetic tape for submission to Blue Cross for payment, the indictment said.

Because the Postal Service was supposedly used for some of the transactions, the charges of mail fraud were brought, the Blue Cross spokesman said. The indictment listed 46 separate counts of mail fraud which Smedes was allegeded to have committed.

According to the U.S. Attorneys Office, the maximum penalty for mail fraud is five years in prison and a fine of $1,000.

$225,000 of stock stolen in the Woods

Woods police said it would have been just another auto theft, except for one thing; $225,000 worth of common stock certificates in the trunk of the car.

A 76-year old former resident of the Pointes told police she stopped at Farmer Jack, 20382 Mack in the Woods, about 3:15 p.m. When she came out about 15 minutes later, her 1982 yellow Cadillac four-door was missing.

A witness said she saw a white male, about 25, get into the car and pull out of the parking lot, squealing the tires, reports said.

According to police, the woman had stopped at a local bank and cleaned out her safe deposit box to move the contents to a bank closer to her home. In the trunk of the car were $225,000 worth of common stock certificates from a variety of companies, including American Telephone and Telegraph, DuPont, National Brands, Mobil Oil, United States Steel, Niagra, Mohawk Power and Exxon, reports said.

Also in the trunk of the car were a new white touch-tone telephone and a checkbook from the First National Bank of Arizona, reports said.

Park homes hit by robberies

Grosse Pointe Park was hit by five burglaries between October 14 and 16, according to police reports.

A home on Yorkshire had porch furniture valued at $1,000 stolen while two residences on Whittier were robbed. In one instance, a bike was stolen from a garage while forcible entry through a rear door netted a television, china and collectables. On Devonshire, a home that reportedly had been shown to prospective customers by several realtors was missing stereo equipment and jewelry. There had been no sign of forced entry. Stolen property reported from a garage on Bedford was discovered in a yard on Courville. Taken from the Bedford garage was a bike and a lawn mower. However the robber, finding his cache too big for his muscles had to make a decision regarding what he could do without, until the next time.

Polly Moran was the humorist who said beer did not make her fat, but made her lean. Against bars, posts, tables.

Traffic Award goes to Park

The American Automobile Association (AAA) presented Grosse Pointe Park with the 1982 Pedestrian Achievement Award on Wednesday, Sept. 21 for not having any pedestrian fatalities in 14 years.

"Out of 60 Michigan cities that applied, the Park was one of only five that qualified for this high honor," said Robert DeCorte, traffic engineer for AAA.

The award was accepted by Mayor Douglas Graham.

Organ concert marks an anniversary

A Sunday, Oct. 23 concert by Welsh organist Huw Lewis will help celebrate the 25th anniversary of First English Evangelical Lutheran Church's three manual Moeller organ in its sanctuary in the church.

The concert will also be given in memory of the late James Hunt, who was director of music at First English Lutheran Church for 15 years and supervised the design, building and installation of the organ.

Lewis, originally from Wales, immigrated to the United States to become a graduate student at the University of Michigan after obtaining his formal education in Great Britain.

He teaches organ at Marygrove College and is also associated with the music faculty at Wayne State University. He is music director of St. John Episcopal Church and the Detroit Bach Society and has served as the dean of the Detroit Chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

Lewis was awarded the Limpus Prize for the highest scores upon being granted the degrees of the Royal College of Organists and was unanimously granted the first prize in the National Organ Playing Competition held annually in Fort Wayne, Ind.

There is no admission to the concert, but donations will be accepted. Following the program, a reception will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Call the church office at 884-5040 during business hours for more information. First English Evangelical Lutheran Church is located at 800 Vernier Road.

Memorial juniors raise $1,000

Skateboarding their way through the streets of Grosse Pointe during the recent CROP walk were Dave Evans, Jamie Antonson and John Shea, while Lisa Young, Lisa LoCicero, Becky Fordree and Jeanne Young roller skated their way to the finish. On foot were Pam King, Macaire McNamee, John Mozena, Tracy Tompkins, Melissa Berry, Amy Santillo, Deanna Butler, Jay Simpson, Leslie Wininger and Sarah Dentel. They are all members of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church's Life group which raised $1,033 to help feed the hungry. John Shea not only led the LIFE (Living In Fellowship Evermore) group to the finish line, but he also led the group in pledges, bringing in $83.50. Second place for dollars raised went to John Mozena, who brought in $70. Melissa Berry collected $64.50 and Macaire McNamee $62.50. CROP raised over $18,000 in the Oct. 2 Grosse Pointe Walk to feed the hungry. The LIFE group meets for social and service projects every Sunday evening, usually from 6:30 to 8 p.m., at the church, 16 Lakeshore Road. This Sunday, Oct. 16, the group will go canoeing at Proud Lake. All interested junior high students are welcome to participate. For more information call director of Christian Education, Mary Anne Evans at 882-5330.

Cinema League goes to England

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "Merrie Olde England," a color slide show by Kenneth Kettlewell, when it meets in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, on Monday evening, Oct. 24, at 8 p.m.

Dr. Kettlewell is the pastor of Detroit's historic First Presbyterian Church. He and Mrs. Kettlewell have traveled extensively and the color slide program is complete with commentary and music.

Beautiful flower gardens are photographed in the month of May and there are views of the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace, and the lovely Kew Gardens.

A visit is made to picturesque Yorkshire, the hilly Cotswolds, and Canterbury, rich in medieval historical association, with its famous cathedral.

The old town of Coventry is photographed, and there are views of William Shakespeare's Stratford-upon-Avon.

The Cinema League, a War Memorial sponsored group, welcomes new members, with annual dues at $8. All programs are open to the public, but this year a $1 admission will be charged for non-members for each performance.

Seniors to hear public safety talk

Grosse Pointe Woods Public Safety Director Jack Patterson will speak today to Grosse Pointe Woods senior citizens at their regular 3:30 p.m. meeting at North High School.

The seniors are also planning a Thanksgiving Luncheon for Nov. 17, at noon, at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church. Dues-paying members should make reservations by Nov. 7 by calling Pearl Halbert at 881-9681 or Mary Fitzpatrick, at 884-4473.

All Woods senior citizens are invited to join the group, which meets the first and third Thursdays of each month in the North cafeteria. For more information, call Virginia Helmanski, at 886-4240.

Apple stolen at North High

Four pieces of computer equipment valued at $3,000 were stolen from Industrial Arts Center at North High School last week.

Taken were an Apple II-E computer, one Apple III monitor, one disc drive and one Epson printer. The equipment was marked with three-inch high black letters, "Grosse Pointe North H.S.," school officials told police.

The system was taken from the Industrial Arts office area, which is usually left unlocked, according to Woods police reports. Detectives believe a person hid himself in the building until the continuing education classes were finished, then took the equipment out of the building through an outside court next to the athletic field. The day janitor found an empty box of discs in the area, reports said.

There were no signs of forced entry to the building, reports said.

Travel time at Neighborhood Club

The popular series of travel programs, free to senior citizens, is once again being presented every Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 p.m., from late September until June 1984, by the World History and Travel Group of the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo.

Oct. 26 brings Amos Slater and the Canadian Rockies and Southern Alaska by bus and ferry, featuring Banff and Jasper Provincial Parks in Canada, Mt. McKinley National Park, Glacier Bay National Monument and historic "boom towns."

On Nov. 2, Rip and Fern Zwickey will present their "West African Adventure," with tours of Chad and eight other emerging African countries. On Nov. 9, Mary Ellen Tappan will present "In Search of the Baroque" throughout Bavaria and Austria. On Nov. 16, Rip and Fern Zwickey will present their "East African Adventure" with visits to the Rift Valley and its alkaline lakes, Kilamanjaro, Victoria Falls and the magnificent wildlife of the area.

Programs for Nov. 23 and Nov. 30 are to be announced. On Dec. 7, Rip and Fern Zwickey will present "Adventures in the Bering Sea, the Aleutians and the Pribilof Islands."

The assembly room A-C in the one floor Senior Citizen building has been reserved for these programs.

The Chemical People

Can TV break drug abuse 'wall of denial'?

Grosse Pointe's Substance Abuse Community Council (SAC2), is joining a nation-wide campaign to combat school-age drug and alcohol abuse that will combine the power of television and people meeting at the community level.

The campaign will be launched Nov. 2, on public television stations across the country, including WTVS/Channel 56 in Detroit. "The Chemical People" is a two-part special that will air Wednesdays, Nov. 2 and 9, at 8 p.m. It will be followed on Nov. 2, by a locally-produced program of which SAC2 members will be a part; and on Nov. 9 by a town meeting sponsored by SAC2.

Interested members of the community are invited to join SAC2 in the courtroom of Grosse Pointe Woods, on Mack Avenue, at 7:30 p.m. to watch the second half of the program on a big screen and join a panel discussion following the show.

The PBS special "Chemical People" was produced by WQED in Pittsburgh and is hosted by First Lady Nancy Reagan along with Michael Landon, Rita Moreno, Bruce Weitz, Willie Stargell and Bill Bixby.

The first program (Nov. 2) is designed to inform and motivate people. Called "The Chemical Society," the program presents an overview of the widespread use of drugs and alcohol by young people and outlines what may be a major setback to fighting the problem, the "wall of denial" created by parents and communities.

The local follow-up program Nov. 2 will attempt to bring a Detroit perspective to the problem.

The second program, "Community Answers," (Nov. 9) shows how communities work to prevent young people from being tempted by chemicals and is designed as a catalyst for the community panel discussions following.

In addition to SAC2, many other community agencies and professional groups are involved in the project including New Detroit, the Northeast Guidance Center, Common Ground, the Junior League of Birmingham, the Michigan PTA and local school districts and health departments.

Grosse Pointe representatives to the WTVS/Channel 56 "The Chemical People" Community Outreach Steering Committee Greg and Chris Dodds of the Substance Abuse Community Council (SAC²) with Ricki Wertz (center), national community outreach coordinator for the public television project designed to encourage community involvement in the fight against school-age substance abuse. "The Chemical People" airs Wednesdays, Nov. 2 and 9, at 8 p.m.

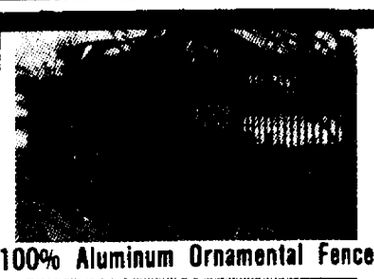

Calvary day care open house Oct. 23

Calvary Adult Day Care Center, in conjunction with Lutheran Social Services of Michigan and Bon Secours Hospital, will conduct an open house from 2 to 4 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 23, at the center, located at 4950 Gateshead at Mack, near Moross Road.

At that time, the center will explain its services offering a program of health, nursing, nutritional and social services for the older person who needs some supervised care but is not ready for a nursing home.

Calvary Adult Day Care Center helps the older adult stay independent as long as possible, offering the services of a physician, registered nurse, registered occupational therapist and a social worker.

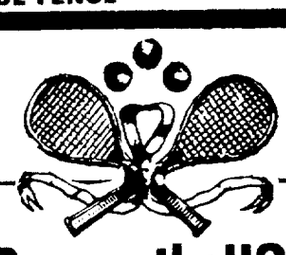

A fee is charged based on a person's ability to pay. Adult Day Care is not covered by Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Medicaid or Medicare. It is open Monday through Friday, except holidays from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

For Park mayor . . .

In a classic confrontation between the "ins" and the "outs," two candidates for mayor of Grosse Pointe Park are waging an unusually hard-fought battle to win the unpaid job in the Nov. 8 election.

As in most local contests, the issues involve matters of strong interest to the local residents. They include the possible closing of schools, a new zoning ordinance, the condition of streets and roads, the care of trees and public parks, and the issue of crime and public safety in the Park.

Yet the overriding issue probably is that of leadership. Overall, Mayor Douglas Graham defends his record of 16 years of service — 14 as a member of the council and two as mayor and is running on what he regards as his record of service and leadership. Challenger Palmer Heenan, on the other hand, contends that Graham has not been an effective leader, and that his own business experience, in particular, would make him a more effective and more responsive mayor.

EVEN AFTER interviewing both candidates at length, the Grosse Pointe News finds it difficult to detect major differences between the two men. On the school closing issue, for example, both candidates are opposed to the closing of any elementary schools in the Park. Heenan contends that Graham came late with his opposition and appears to be on both sides of the issue because three members of the school board serve on his campaign committee. Graham responds that he respects the three for their overall talents but has tried to influence them to his way of thinking on the closing issue.

On the zoning issue, Heenan contends that the Park council favored a new ordinace that would have permitted high-rise, high-density housing developments in the Park and that it was only after ad hoc committees had expressed opposition that revisions were made in the draft to limit development chiefly to two-family dwellings.

On the same issue, the mayor contends that some people, including his opponent, have been using a scare tactic by charging that the council favored multiple high-rise developments in the Park. Graham says that such a charge is untrue and that the ordinance will not provide for any multiple dwelling units except where they now can be developed. He added that the current ordinance is weak and the council has been trying to tighten it up to prevent increased density in the residential areas of the Park.

On the issue of public safety, Heenan says that people have shown great concern about safety and want increased police presence to deter crime. He contends the police are not well trained and that improvement in law enforcement is needed. He said Graham recommended two years ago that consolidation of police and fire departments should be studied but that the mayor hadn't done anything about the issue since then. Heenan himself is not yet ready to recommend consolidation but says he has a strong inclination to adopt it unless further study proves it impractical.

THE MAYOR DEFENDS the service of both the police and fire departments but says, on the issue of consolidation, it's a mixed bag. He said he would continue to study the experience the other Pointes, and especially that of the City of Grosse Pointe which already has consolidated its departments into a public safety department. He says, however, he hasn't heard much demand for unification from Park citizens.

Overall, on police protection, the mayor points out the police patrol the streets but that the Park government can't afford to have policemen on every street at all times. He says the neighborhood watch system has been effective in teaching citizens to call police at the first sign of any possible illegal activity in the community. He says the Park police have responded promptly and that the Park has good cooperation from the rest of the Pointes and from Detroit on police and fire protection problems.

On the repair and maintenance of roads and streets, Heenan points out the Park, unlike the other Pointe communities, had to borrow $1 million from the state to meet the Park's needs, and that it had failed to get a $1 million federal grant it had sought. His contention is that the Park has failed to maintain its streets and roads as well as it should have and even the $1 million in borrowed funds will enable the Park to repair only some of its streets.

Graham responds that everyone knows the roads and streets need to be repaired, that the Park's streets are the oldest in the Pointes and therefore in greater need of repair, and that a committee has been appointed to make recommendations to the council on the use of the $1 million in funds for road repair being borrowed from the state. He pointed out that the Park has had an ongoing program but that cutbacks in state aid from gasoline and weight taxes have reduced its revenue.

In addition, the mayor points out, the Park has used $100,000 from the state aid fund to remove trees on road-related city property, as it is authorized to do, and that severe winters in recent years, although not in 1983, had been responsible for heavy damage to city streets.

The mayor contends he has been able to call on many highly qualified residents of the Park to help the council study community problems. He cites the parks and recreation committee that offered help on the problems of the public parks as an excellent example and the beautification committee that is working on the problems caused by the loss and replacement of elms as another example.

Yet on these and other problems, Heenan contends that ad hoc committees had to be organized by groups of concerned citizens in order to get the council and the mayor to respond to community wishes. He says that as mayor he would be more responsive than the current mayor. And he adds that with his experience in business he could direct the Park more efficiently and that his experience in Republican politics has shown his ability to get along with people.

So which candidate is better qualified to serve as mayor?

IN GENERAL, challengers have to prove that they are better qualified, will do a better job and be more responsive to public needs in order to convince the public they should replace incumbents. Sometimes they are able to do so. Perhaps Heenan will persuade voters in the Park that he is the better man for the job. But while both are excellent candidates — a statement not popular with either side — the News is not convinced that Mayor Graham should be replaced.

Unforeseen events in the weeks remaining before the election might require a re-evaluation but at this writing the News believes the mayor's experience in office gives him the edge over his challenger, able as Palmer Heenan has proved to be in business and in Republican politics.

Justification for reorganization

Grosse Pointe residents would do well to read in full the excellent statement by Supt. Kenneth Brummel published in last week's issue of the Grosse Pointe News because it provides the school administration's rationale for recommending the closing of Barnes elementary school and the shift of sixth graders into the middle schools in the Pointes.

The statement also provides a gentle answer to the critics who claim the school administration and the school board have been trying to rush through a reorganization plan without adequate study and without adequate opportunity for community input. Brummel cites facts that support a contrary view.

The superintendent made it clear the school board and administration had been concerned about the declining enrollment even before appointment of the Citizens Advisory Steering Committee that studied the problem for a year before making its recommendations last January.

HE ALSO EMPHASIZED that the administration, in drafting its first reorganization plan last April, based its action on the recommendations of the study committee. He reminded his readers that the board, after a series of public hearings in addition to its regular monthly meetings, agreed not to take final action until citizens and community groups had the opportunity to respond and were given an Aug. 1 date to do so.

As the superintendent said, the board met Aug. 4 nd 5 to study the responses and make revisions in the original reorganization plan. The second plan calling for the closing of four buildings and the transfer of all sixth grade students to the middle schools was presented at a board meeting Aug. 8.

Once again the board sought to address the community's questions and concern at three additional public hearings as well as at regular board meetings in September and October, the superintendent said. And as a result of those hearings and further citizen input, the superintendent once again modified the closing plan so that it called only for the closing of Barnes and the shift of the sixth grades to the middle schools.

The Brummel statement provided additional reasons for the moving of the sixth graders to middle schools, including the fact that the overwhelming majority of middle schools in Michigan favor the sixth through eighth grade alignment pattern.

As for the rationale for closing Barnes, Brummel went back to the Citizens Advisory Committee recommendation which said in part: "It is the conclusion of the committee based on its recommendations and findings relating to quality education and educational opportunity that elementary enrollment districts be redistricted and/or consolidated. This may result in one or more elementary schools not being used for elementary education."

The same committee report, Brummel reminded citizens in his statement, had pointed to significant advantages in having multiple sections per grade and had concluded that "it is desirable to have a minimum of two sections per grads wherever possible."

The superintendent also pointed out that the board is concerned about the demand on the part of the community to be more "fiscally responsible." And then he added: "While the saving from the closing of any one building is not significant in and of itself, it is true that saving can be realized and reinvested in the program, thus helping to improve the quality of education in the community."

Overall, the superintendent's statement offers a good history of the development of the school closing concept and the efforts by the school administration and the board to satisfy community opinion as well as educational needs. It is also an excellent rebuttal to those who joined the battle late and now complain because they didn't have time to express their opinions. It is a statement that is worth reading and rereading.

Committee's survey techniques questioned

To the Editor:

Having just received the flyer from the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools entitled "Taxation Without Representation," I feel compelled to comment on the statistical basis of the majority of the flyer's argument.

To equate the methodology of the committee's survey with the sampling techniques utilized by the Gallup Poll is to ignore basic statistical methodology. A door-to-door survey of over 7,000 homes — while impressive in the time, organization and commitment which it required — is not statistically more valid than a Gallup Poll of 1,400 people. The difference lies in the sampling technique used. Gallup employs sophisticated random sampling procedures to insure the representativeness of the sample as a reflection of the population as a whole. All the committee's survey should logically claim is that, of the houses visited, a certain number of households were opposed to the closing of schools and another number would support recall of those board members who vote in favor of a school closing plan. To infer from the committee's survey the same percentage of opinion in the Grosse Pointe community as a whole is statistically invalid.

On the other hand, the mention of the Detroit Free Press survey is more valid, since that survey presumably did employ accepted sampling techniques.

In relation to the polling technique mentioned by the committee, the methodology of the door-to-door surveyors was not as standardized as suggested by the committee. The woman who came to my door did not harass me, but she engaged me in conversation regarding the school situation and offered her opinions, rather than asking me the simple questions outlined in the flyer. To avoid skewing results, survey techniques must avoid the possibility of prejudice regarding survey responses.

The committee's flyer disturbs me in its lack of care with these issues. I am not suggesting that public opinion is not against the closing of schools. I am suggesting that the use of this survey, as a rational evidence, should be viewed with skepticism, as the survey — as a polling device — is not valid (as it purports to be as valid, or more valid than the Gallup Poll). Does this reflect the committee's tone of emotionalism and unwillingness to accept any sort of compromise which was so evident at the Oct. 10 school board meeting?

I think so. While I may not be in agreement with the superintendent's plan, I do not accept the opinion of those who accuse the superintendent or the board of dealing in bad faith on this very complicated issue. While the political process does provide the mechanism of recall, to threaten board members with that action is not in the best interest of our community, or school system or our children.

Are we so opposed to any change in Grosse Pointe that we can't discuss it politely and reasonably? The difference between the latest plan is significant: the political process has worked to effect that much compromise.

Further lobbying should focus on the issues, avoid emotional scare tactics and faulty reasoning and allow all voices to be heard. I trust that the November board meeting will not include shouting, booing, heckling and other forms of rude behavior.

Brummel should be commended

To the Editor:

I attended the school board meeting on Monday, Oct. 10, during which Dr. Kenneth Brummel presented to the board the final administration plan for reorganization of the school system.

Dr. Brummel is to be commended for his courage and professional approach to the obvious declining enrollment problem. The final plan appears to be a moderate and sound response to the issue and the community at large. Dr. Brummel would be remiss in his duty if he permitted the vocal minority of some elementary parents to deter him from implementing a necessary and long overdue reorganization.

I am saddened and dismayed by the tactics used by this misguided, new generation of rebellious parents. Threats of recall, administration dismissals and lower property values are out of order. Can this be Grosse Pointe? The pep rally scene on the Parcells lawn was, to quote Robert Bennett of WDIV TV4, reminiscent of a "high school pep rally."

I hope that the elementary school Parent-Teacher Organizations will begin again to concentrate their energies and funds toward the support of the school system and administration. I was not happy to discover that a percentage, however small, of my membership dues was used for the support of divisive and negative rhetoric. This use of my funds for lobbying against the school administration is repugnant to me and in effect gives my stamp of approval to activities of which I do not approve. This was done without my prior knowledge or vote.

I hope also that the silent majority of the entire Grosse Pointe community will prevail and calmly take us all out of the "arena" and get us back in the classroom to attend to important curriculum improvements at all levels. Grosse Pointe must react positively to changing times or we will be devoured by bitterness and divisiveness.

The man in the middle

County Commissioner John Hertel, whose 1st District includes the Pointes, must begin to feel like the woman who is often a bridesmaid but never a bride. Last week he was deprived of his current ambition to be director of the State Agriculture Department on a three-to-two vote by the state Commission of Agriculture. Instead, the commission's Republican majority selected Paul Kindinger, now assistant director of Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service, as the agriculture director.

HERTEL ALREADY has served as a state senator, where he chaired the Senate Agriculture Committee, and as a county commissioner. But he also made the finals in the selection process last year as a possible choice for lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket with Gov. James Blanchard; was strongly considered for the vacany in the office of county sheriff, and was encouraged to file for county executive before William Lucas got into the contest. He obviously has many friends in high places in Michigan's Democratic Party.

Those comments are not meant as disparagement. Hertel is a bright, able young man who some day could be governor. He comes from a family that knows its way around Democratic politics and performs well in political life. One brother, Dennis, is the 14th District congressman and a second, Curtis, is in the state House of Representatives from the 12th District.

In the flap over the choice of a new director of agriculture, Hertel appears to have been caught in the middle. The Democratic governor earlier had made it clear he wanted his own man in the job. Under pressure, the commission accepted the resignation of Dean Pridgeon, the holdover from the Milliken administration, action taken presumably to clear the way for the appointment of the governor's choice, Hertel.

Then the Republicans who will retain a majority on the commission until Jan. 1 apparently changed their minds. Instead of accepting the governor's recommendation, they chose Kindinger after rejecting Hertel's nomination. The governor promptly accused the Republican Party of having pressured the commission to pass over his man. And that's where the matter rests — except that Hertel still may get the job once the Democrats regain the majority on the commission Jan. 1.

It may well be true that Republicans pressured their own members on the Agriculture Commission. But the GOP members' earlier had been pressured by the governor and so the latest action proves that both sides can and will play the political pressure game. But what the ruckus also proves is that commissions such as the one that chooses the agriculture director cannot be insulated from politics. The governor obviously could have handled the whole affair with more finesse, but a good case can be made for the argument the governor is entitled to have his own man in the office. After all, agriculture is the second most important industry in Michigan.

IN THE MEANTIME, however, the political wrangle may have damaged the man in the middle, John Hertel, although he still may get the job the governor wants him to have once the Democrats assume control of the Agriculture Commission on Jan. 1.

Brummel trying to save face

To the Editor:

As I was listening to Supt. Kenneth Brummel's recommendations at the Oct. 10 school board meeting I despaired. Closing one of the most successful elementary schools (Barnes) which serves the largest geographic area is ludicrous.

Based on objective test scores, Barnes has been consistently in the top three schools in recent years, so quality of education is not the issue. Financial savings will be so minimal, that no tax benefit is foreseen even by the board. Property values will certainly decline according to most real estate experts, and since a large geographic area will be left without a neighborhood elementary school, little children will have to walk long distances, up to 2.5 miles, and often through busy intersections.

Moving the sixth grade into middle school is also of questionable benefit. Many educators and behavorial scientists believe that the sixth graders, mostly 11-year-olds, are not emotionally ready for the turbulent middle school environment. We tried that approach before and failed. We should not ignore history otherwise we will be condemned to repeat it.

Furthermore, such a reorganization will further weaken our remaining elementary schools which would become highly susceptible to future closings. Dr. Brummel's recommendations are deleterious to the preservation of Grosse Pointe community, regardless whether you are a 5-year-old kindergartner ready to face the challenges of the future or a 75-year-old senior citizen who looks with satisfaction at the past achievements and feels secure about the stability of the neighborhood for years to come.

The eternal optimist in me however sees a faint ray of hope in all this. Perhaps Dr. Brummel's recommendation is a blessing in disguise. It certainly has increased community awareness and united the people in the Grosse Pointes like no other issue ever has. Perhaps Grosse Pointe residents will have to thank the superintendent for coming up with such a poorly thought-out and an obviously face-saving plan that the knowledgeable prudent board members will have no difficulty in rejecting it outright.

Buses are a 'must'

To the Editor:

This is another opinion on the reorganizations of the Grosse Pointe public school system.

According to everything I have read in your newspaper and according to everyone I have discussed this topic with, I have not heard of someone suggesting the use of school buses to transport children to their "new" schools if certain schools are to be closed.

Surely, the school board and Supt. Kenneth Brummel don't expect elementary school students and middle school students to walk as far as four and a half miles to school in order to "save" expenses at the expense of our children.

Even though my two daughters will not be affected by the reorganization (they will both be in high school in 1984), I am not in favor of changing the present system of public education in Grosse Pointe. Smaller classrooms are more condusive to learning.

But if a change is necessary, then for goodness sake, provide school buses and expect children to stay for lunch.

It's time for legal action

To the Editor:

Since I am chairman of The Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools, my backing comes from not only Maire school (where the Committee originated), but also from many senior citizens, realtors, homeowners and each elementary school in the Grosse Pointe community.

You have said (Joan) Hanpeter to so many parents at Maire "You will like what you hear Monday night." Well, our answer is, "we don't."

What you did Oct. 10 is "put off" elementary school closings for perhaps a little while — but indeed, they are coming.

Let us talk about what you are actually doing. In plans number "one" and "two" we posed the question, "who asked you to close our schools in the first place?" And now in plan number "three," we are asking you, "who is actually complaining about our sixth grade program?" Please talk to your teachers and administrators (and I mean "all" of them) and parents.

It is a "numbers game" you are playing. When "numbers" are down in the elementary schools (although not drastically), and you take them down even more with plan number "three" — we are all reduced and all vulnerable to closure within a short period of time!

We are not willing to say, "well, here we go again (with the) same school board, same superintendent and same issue, just a short delay in schedule."

No, this cannot be. Too many people are out here saying "we can't communicate," "they don't hear us," "don't they see that they can't correct a Middle School problem at the expense of the Elemenary Schools?"

The word coming to us is, "Now it is time to take legal action!" and until Oct. 10 the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools has said, "let's make the community and the school board aware of the short-comings of this proposal first." Well, the community has listened and responded, but the superintendent and board have not.

So, now we are saying, we have tried and we can't try any harder. It is time for legal action and I think that is sad.

Dr. Brummel, we are not saying no plan, we are saying, no elementary plan!

Who remembers old city bar?

To the Editor:

Recent news stories regarding liquor licenses in the City of Grosse Pointe claim there was never a licensed bar in the Village.

I lived on Neff Road near St. Paul from 1921 until I married in 1947. My mother remained there until her death in 1971. I also graduated from Grosse Pointe High School in January of 1936.

If my memory has not failed me, I recall a bar on Kercheval between St. Clair and Neff about a lot or so east of where Hickey's now stands. I believe the year or years somewhere between 1938 and 1939, or even as early as 1937.

It was a one story, cement block bungalow, like several on Maumee also between St. Clair and Neff Roads that housed city offices and police departments.

Isn't there someone out there who also remembers?

Kudos for job well done!

To the Editor:

Let's give thanks to the Grosse Pointe Woods public works director for the beautiful care given to Mack Avenue, Vernier Road and all of the Woods.

He doesn't just cut the lawns, but edges and trims.

Maybe Leonard O'Celnik could teach some of his style to the keepers of Lakeshore Road.

To the Editor:

I was glad to see that something was finally being done to help spruce up the Mack Avenue area of Grosse Pointe. It's about time.

I would like to compliment the city on setting up an organized solution to the problem. Pointe Plaza is certainly an improvement over the old Seven Mile and Mack Center. The grass, trees and flowers make it look like a part of Grosse Pointe instead of the inner city. Now we can drive down Mack and actually see across the street because the boulevard has been mowed.

Nice job, Grosse Pointe. Now all we have to do is keep it this way.

A good pick for Agriculture

By William R. Bryant, Jr.
State Representative

I applaud the State Agriculture Commission's selection last Thursday of Paul Kindinger as the new director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The choice was made by the commission in the face of insistence by Governor Blanchard that local former State Sen. John Hertel be awarded the post.

The selection of Kindinger as the new director to replace Dean Pridgeon is a victory for Michigan agriculture. It also is encouraging for all citizens of Michigan to know that the Agriculture Commission, so far, is still struggling to remain above crass partisan politics. The members of the Commission based their choice on what is best for Michigan agriculture, not what Governor Blanchard wanted.

Governor Blanchard had recently forced former Agriculture Director Dean Pridgeon to resign, and had adamantly demanded that the commission replace him with Hertel.

Kindinger is a former deputy director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and was former Director of Marketing and International Trade for the department. He is currently deputy director of the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University. Kindinger also holds a doctorate in agricultural economics.

With the credentials of Kindinger, Michigan agriculture would be in good hands. As Michigan's second largest industry, agriculture has a need for and a right to expertise and objectivity.

The reason for having a commission select the director is to try to assure needed expertise in anyone chosen to be director. While Hertel has some background helpful to appreciating the needs of the agriculture community, it is clear the Governor did not make his recommendation based on expertise.

It remains to be seen whether or not the Governor will have his way next year when commission vacancies will give him control of the commission.

At that point, the commission may dump Kindinger and install Hertel. I hope not.

The Governor told me last year after his election that he wanted to get control of the bureaucracy. When he said it, it made sense. How he has gone about it since then looks more like wanting to do favors for friends than wanting good government.

Chain saw man has his say

To the Editor:

On Aug. 25, began a barrage of news blurbs; on Sept. 1, Sept. 15, Sept. 22 and Oct. 6, the ongoing saga of "Hagar the Hazardous" continues to surface.

Overwhelming numbers of people — young and old — accept and approve of my meager efforts to contribute one last "Hurrah" for the mighty elm tree that once flourished and abounded in your area.

I am trying to do something positive with the elm once it has died, other than destruction of a once magnificent species by just turning it into firewood.

Most of my efforts have brought joy and laughter and amusement and sometime ease the pain of the loss, because the people who chose to have something resurrected from the stump have made a statement, a memorial to the tree. They still have the tree, or some of it, just in a different form.

Someone great once said "you can't please all the people all the time." And there are probably some people in your area who might take offense to my rendition of art. To those people, I thank you for living in a country that allows that while you and I might not agree, we both have the right to freedom of speech and opinion.

To the vast majority who get a little chuckle and a wee bit of enjoyment from my efforts, I humbly thank you.

New office aids Viet Nam vets

The Michigan Viet Nam Veterans Leadership Program (VVLP) has announced the opening of their office, and the beginning of a program of service to the estimated 100,000 Viet Nam veterans in the tri-county area.

Goals of the program are to improve the image of the Viet Nam veteran, and establish a network of veterans to assist other Viet Nam vets who are experiencing difficulties.

The VVLP has also announced it will not try to duplicate services already provided for by the Veterans Administration or veteran services organizations but rather will complement these programs and work to make the entire range of services as cohesive and effective as possible.

All Viet Nam veterans who can help or need help should call 332-8317. The office is located at 111 N. Saginaw, Suite D, Pontiac, Mich.

Schools don't need more money

To the Editor:

The school administration was telling the public that taxes would not be raised. After assuring the concerned taxpayers of no raise in taxes, the school board again has raised them.

School taxes should not be raised nearly 10 percent for no apparent reason. With declining enrollment, fewer teachers and possible school closings, there is no need for more money.

For good education, students need more encouragement from teachers and their parents, not a better looking school.

For Park mayor . . .

In a classic confrontation between the "ins" and the "outs," two candidates for mayor of Grosse Pointe Park are waging an unusually hard-fought battle to win the unpaid job in the Nov. 8 election.

As in most local contests, the issues involve matters of strong interest to the local residents. They include the possible closing of schools, a new zoning ordinance, the condition of streets and roads, the care of trees and public parks, and the issue of crime and public safety in the Park.

Yet the overriding issue probably is that of leadership. Overall, Mayor Douglas Graham defends his record of 16 years of service — 14 as a member of the council and two as mayor — and is running on what he regards as his record of service and leadership. Challenger Palmer Heenan, on the other hand, contends that Graham has not been an effective leader, and that his own business experience, in particular, would make him a more effective and more responsive mayor.

EVEN AFTER interviewing both candidates at length, the Grosse Pointe News finds it difficult to detect major differences between the two men. On the school closing issue, for example, both candidates are opposed to the closing of any elementary schools in the Park. Heenan contends that Graham came late with his opposition and appears to be on both sides of the issue because three members of the school board serve on his campaign committee. Graham responds that he respects the three for their overall talents but has tried to influence them to his way of thinking on the closing issue.

On the zoning issue, Heenan contends that the Park council favored a new ordinace that would have permitted high-rise, high-density housing developments in the Park and that it was only after ad hoc committees had expressed opposition that revisions were made in the draft to limit development chiefly to two-family dwellings.

On the same issue, the mayor contends that some people, including his opponent, have been using a scare tactic by charging that the council favored multiple high-rise developments in the Park. Graham says that such a charge is untrue and that the ordinance will not provide for any multiple dwelling units except where they now can be developed. He added that the current ordinance is weak and the council has been trying to tighten it up to prevent increased density in the residential areas of the Park.

On the issue of public safety, Heenan says that people have shown great concern about safety and want increased police presence to deter crime. He contends the police are not well trained and that improvement in law enforcement is needed. He said Graham recommended two years ago that consolidation of police and fire departments should be studied but that the mayor hadn't done anything about the issue since then. Heenan himself is not yet ready to recommend consolidation but says he has a strong inclination to adopt it unless further study proves it impractical.

THE MAYOR DEFENDS the service of both the police and fire departments but says, on the issue of consolidation, it's a mixed bag. He said he would continue to study the experience the other Pointes, and especially that of the City of Grosse Pointe which already has consolidated its departments into a public safety department. He says, however, he hasn't heard much demand for unification from Park citizens.

Overall, on police protection, the mayor points out the police patrol the streets but that the Park government can't afford to have policemen on every street at all times. He says the neighborhood watch system has been effective in teaching citizens to call police at the first sign of any possible illegal activity in the community. He says the Park police have responded promptly and that the Park has good cooperation from the rest of the Pointes and from Detroit on police and fire protection problems.

On the repair and maintenance of roads and streets, Heenan points out the Park, unlike the other Pointe communities, had to borrow $1 million from the state to meet the Park's needs, and that it had failed to get a $1 million federal grant it had sought. His contention is that the Park has failed to maintain its streets and roads as well as it should have and even the $1 million in borrowed funds will enable the Park to repair only some of its streets.

Graham responds that everyone knows the roads and streets need to be repaired, that the Park's streets are the oldest in the Pointes and therefore in greater need of repair, and that a committee has been appointed to make recommendations to the council on the use of the $1 million in funds for road repair being borrowed from the state. He pointed out that the Park has had an ongoing program but that cutbacks in state aid from gasoline and weight taxes have reduced its revenue.

In addition, the mayor points out, the Park has used $100,000 from the state aid fund to remove trees on road-related city property, as it is authorized to do, and that severe winters in recent years, although not in 1983, had been responsible for heavy damage to city streets.

The mayor contends he has been able to call on many highly qualified residents of the Park to help the council study community problems. He cites the parks and recreation committee that offered help on the problems of the public parks as an excellent example and the beautification committee that is working on the problems caused by the loss and replacement of elms as another example.

Yet on these and other problems, Heenan contends that ad hoc committees had to be organized by groups of concerned citizens in order to get the council and the mayor to respond to community wishes. He says that as mayor he would be more responsive than the current mayor. And he adds that with his experience in business he could direct the Park more efficiently and that his experience in Republican politics has shown his ability to get along with people.

So which candidate is better qualified to serve as mayor?

IN GENERAL, challengers have to prove that they are better qualified, will do a better job and be more responsive to public needs in order to convince the public they should replace incumbents. Sometimes they are able to do so. Perhaps Heenan will persuade voters in the Park that he is the better man for the job. But while both are excellent candidates — a statement not popular with either side — the News is not convinced that Mayor Graham should be replaced.

Unforeseen events in the weeks remaining before the election might require a re-evaluation but at this writing the News believes the mayor's experience in office gives him the edge over his challenger, able as Palmer Heenan has proved to be in business and in Republican politics.

Justification for reorganization

Grosse Pointe residents would do well to read in full the excellent statement by Supt. Kenneth Brummel published in last week's issue of the Grosse Pointe News because it provides the school administration's rationale for recommending the closing of Barnes elementary school and the shift of sixth graders into the middle schools in the Pointes.

The statement also provides a gentle answer to the critics who claim the school administration and the school board have been trying to rush through a reorganization plan without adequate study and without adequate opportunity for community input. Brummel cites facts that support a contrary view.

The superintendent made it clear the school board and administration had been concerned about the declining enrollment even before appointment of the Citizens Advisory Steering Committee that studied the problem for a year before making its recommendations last January.

HE ALSO EMPHASIZED that the administration, in drafting its first reorganization plan last April, based its action on the recommendations of the study committee. He reminded his readers that the board, after a series of public hearings in addition to its regular monthly meetings, agreed not to take final action until citizens and community groups had the opportunity to respond and were given an Aug. 1 date to do so.

As the superintendent said, the board met Aug. 4 nd 5 to study the responses and make revisions in the original reorganization plan. The second plan calling for the closing of four buildings and the transfer of all sixth grade students to the middle schools was presented at a board meeting Aug. 8.

Once again the board sought to address the community's questions and concern at three additional public hearings as well as at regular board meetings in September and October, the superintendent said. And as a result of those hearings and further citizen input, the superintendent once again modified the closing plan so that it called only for the closing of Barnes and the shift of the sixth grades to the middle schools.

The Brummel statement provided additional reasons for the moving of the sixth graders to middle schools, including the fact that the overwhelming majority of middle schools in Michigan favor the sixth through eighth grade alignment pattern.

As for the rationale for closing Barnes, Brummel went back to the Citizens Advisory Committee recommendation which said in part: "It is the conclusion of the committee based on its recommendations and findings relating to quality education and educational opportunity that elementary enrollment districts be redistricted and/or consolidated. This may result in one or more elementary schools not being used for elementary education."

The same committee report, Brummel reminded citizens in his statement, had pointed to significant advantages in having multiple sections per grade and had concluded that "it is desirable to have a minimum of two sections per grads wherever possible."

The superintendent also pointed out that the board is concerned about the demand on the part of the community to be more "fiscally responsible." And then he added: "While the saving from the closing of any one building is not significant in and of itself, it is true that saving can be realized and reinvested in the program, thus helping to improve the quality of education in the community."

Overall, the superintendent's statement offers a good history of the development of the school closing concept and the efforts by the school administration and the board to satisfy community opinion as well as educational needs. It is also an excellent rebuttal to those who joined the battle late and now complain because they didn't have time to express their opinions. It is a statement that is worth reading and rereading.

Committee's survey techniques questioned

To the Editor:

Having just received the flyer from the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools entitled "Taxation Without Representation," I feel compelled to comment on the statistical basis of the majority of the flyer's argument.

To equate the methodology of the committee's survey with the sampling techniques utilized by the Gallup Poll is to ignore basic statistical methodology. A door-to-door survey of over 7,000 homes — while impressive in the time, organization and commitment which it required — is not statistically more valid than a Gallup Poll of 1,400 people. The difference lies in the sampling technique used. Gallup employs sophisticated random sampling procedures to insure the representativeness of the sample as a reflection of the population as a whole. All the committee's survey should logically claim is that, of the houses visited, a certain number of households were opposed to the closing of schools and another number would support recall of those board members who vote in favor of a school closing plan. To infer from the committee's survey the same percentage of opinion in the Grosse Pointe community as a whole is statistically invalid.

On the other hand, the mention of the Detroit Free Press survey is more valid, since that survey presumably did employ accepted sampling techniques.

In relation to the polling technique mentioned by the committee, the methodology of the door-to-door surveyors was not as standardized as suggested by the committee. The woman who came to my door did not harass me, but she engaged me in conversation regarding the school situation and offered her opinions, rather than asking me the simple questions outlined in the flyer. To avoid skewing results, survey techniques must avoid the possibility of prejudice regarding survey responses.

The committee's flyer disturbs me in its lack of care with these issues. I am not suggesting that public opinion is not against the closing of schools. I am suggesting that the use of this survey, as a rational evidence, should be viewed with skepticism, as the survey — as a polling device — is not valid (as it purports to be as valid, or more valid than the Gallup Poll). Does this reflect the committee's tone of emotionalism and unwillingness to accept any sort of compromise which was so evident at the Oct. 10 school board meeting?

I think so. While I may not be in agreement with the superintendent's plan, I do not accept the opinion of those who accuse the superintendent or the board of dealing in bad faith on this very complicated issue. While the political process does provide the mechanism of recall, to threaten board members with that action is not in the best interest of our community, or school system or our children.

Are we so opposed to any change in Grosse Pointe that we can't discuss it politely and reasonably? The difference between the latest plan is significant: the political process has worked to effect that much compromise.

Further lobbying should focus on the issues, avoid emotional scare tactics and faulty reasoning and allow all voices to be heard. I trust that the November board meeting will not include shouting, booing, heckling and other forms of rude behavior.

Brummel should be commended

To the Editor:

I attended the school board meeting on Monday, Oct. 10, during which Dr. Kenneth Brummel presented to the board the final administration plan for reorganization of the school system.

Dr. Brummel is to be commended for his courage and professional approach to the obvious declining enrollment problem. The final plan appears to be a moderate and sound response to the issue and the community at large. Dr. Brummel would be remiss in his duty if he permitted the vocal minority of some elementary parents to deter him from implementing a necessary and long overdue reorganization.

I am saddened and dismayed by the tactics used by this misguided, new generation of rebellious parents. Threats of recall, administration dismissals and lower property values are out of order. Can this be Grosse Pointe? The pep rally scene on the Parcells lawn was, to quote Robert Bennett of WDIV TV4, reminiscent of a "high school pep rally."

I hope that the elementary school Parent-Teacher Organizations will begin again to concentrate their energies and funds toward the support of the school system and administration. I was not happy to discover that a percentage, however small, of my membership dues was used for the support of divisive and negative rhetoric. This use of my funds for lobbying against the school administration is repugnant to me and in effect gives my stamp of approval to activities of which I do not approve. This was done without my prior knowledge or vote.

I hope also that the silent majority of the entire Grosse Pointe community will prevail and calmly take us all out of the "arena" and get us back in the classroom to attend to important curriculum improvements at all levels. Grosse Pointe must react positively to changing times or we will be devoured by bitterness and divisiveness.

The man in the middle

County Commissioner John Hertel, whose 1st District includes the Pointes, must begin to feel like the woman who is often a bridesmaid but never a bride. Last week he was deprived of his current ambition to be director of the State Agriculture Department on a three-to-two vote by the state Commission of Agriculture. Instead, the commission's Republican majority selected Paul Kindinger, now assistant director of Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service, as the agriculture director.

HERTEL ALREADY has served as a state senator, where he chaired the Senate Agriculture Committee, and as a county commissioner. But he also made the finals in the selection process last year as a possible choice for lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket with Gov. James Blanchard; was strongly considered for the vacany in the office of county sheriff, and was encouraged to file for county executive before William Lucas got into the contest. He obviously has many friends in high places in Michigan's Democratic Party.

Those comments are not meant as disparagement. Hertel is a bright, able young man who some day could be governor. He comes from a family that knows its way around Democratic politics and performs well in political life. One brother, Dennis, is the 14th District congressman and a second, Curtis, is in the state House of Representatives from the 12th District.

In the flap over the choice of a new director of agriculture, Hertel appears to have been caught in the middle. The Democratic governor earlier had made it clear he wanted his own man in the job. Under pressure, the commission accepted the resignation of Dean Pridgeon, the holdover from the Milliken administration, action taken presumably to clear the way for the appointment of the governor's choice, Hertel.

Then the Republicans who will retain a majority on the commission until Jan. 1 apparently changed their minds. Instead of accepting the governor's recommendation, they chose Kindinger after rejecting Hertel's nomination. The governor promptly accused the Republican Party of having pressured the commission to pass over his man. And that's where the matter rests — except that Hertel still may get the job once the Democrats regain the majority on the commission Jan. 1.

It may well be true that Republicans pressured their own members on the Agriculture Commission. But the GOP members' earlier had been pressured by the governor and so the latest action proves that both sides can and will play the political pressure game. But what the ruckus also proves is that commissions such as the one that chooses the agriculture director cannot be insulated from politics. The governor obviously could have handled the whole affair with more finesse, but a good case can be made for the argument the governor is entitled to have his own man in the office. After all, agriculture is the second most important industry in Michigan.

IN THE MEANTIME, however, the political wrangle may have damaged the man in the middle, John Hertel, although he still may get the job the governor wants him to have once the Democrats assume control of the Agriculture Commission on Jan. 1.

Brummel trying to save face

To the Editor:

As I was listening to Supt. Kenneth Brummel's recommendations at the Oct. 10 school board meeting I despaired. Closing one of the most successful elementary schools (Barnes) which serves the largest geographic area is ludicrous.

Based on objective test scores, Barnes has been consistently in the top three schools in recent years, so quality of education is not the issue. Financial savings will be so minimal, that no tax benefit is foreseen even by the board. Property values will certainly decline according to most real estate experts, and since a large geographic area will be left without a neighborhood elementary school, little children will have to walk long distances, up to 2.5 miles, and often through busy intersections.

Moving the sixth grade into middle school is also of questionable benefit. Many educators and behavorial scientists believe that the sixth graders, mostly 11-year-olds, are not emotionally ready for the turbulent middle school environment. We tried that approach before and failed. We should not ignore history otherwise we will be condemned to repeat it.

Furthermore, such a reorganization will further weaken our remaining elementary schools which would become highly susceptible to future closings. Dr. Brummel's recommendations are deleterious to the preservation of Grosse Pointe community, regardless whether you are a 5-year-old kindergartner ready to face the challenges of the future or a 75-year-old senior citizen who looks with satisfaction at the past achievements and feels secure about the stability of the neighborhood for years to come.

The eternal optimist in me however sees a faint ray of hope in all this. Perhaps Dr. Brummel's recommendation is a blessing in disguise. It certainly has increased community awareness and united the people in the Grosse Pointes like no other issue ever has. Perhaps Grosse Pointe residents will have to thank the superintendent for coming up with such a poorly thought-out and an obviously face-saving plan that the knowledgeable prudent board members will have no difficulty in rejecting it outright.

Buses are a 'must'

To the Editor:

This is another opinion on the reorganizations of the Grosse Pointe public school system.

According to everything I have read in your newspaper and according to everyone I have discussed this topic with, I have not heard of someone suggesting the use of school buses to transport children to their "new" schools if certain schools are to be closed.

Surely, the school board and Supt. Kenneth Brummel don't expect elementary school students and middle school students to walk as far as four and a half miles to school in order to "save" expenses at the expense of our children.

Even though my two daughters will not be affected by the reorganization (they will both be in high school in 1984), I am not in favor of changing the present system of public education in Grosse Pointe. Smaller classrooms are more condusive to learning.

But if a change is necessary, then for goodness sake, provide school buses and expect children to stay for lunch.

It's time for legal action

To the Editor:

Since I am chairman of The Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools, my backing comes from not only Maire school (where the Committee originated), but also from many senior citizens, realtors, homeowners and each elementary school in the Grosse Pointe community.

You have said (Joan) Hanpeter to so many parents at Maire "You will like what you hear Monday night." Well, our answer is, "we don't."

What you did Oct. 10 is "put off" elementary school closings for perhaps a little while — but indeed, they are coming.

Let us talk about what you are actually doing. In plans number "one" and "two" we posed the question, "who asked you to close our schools in the first place?" And now in plan number "three," we are asking you, "who is actually complaining about our sixth grade program?" Please talk to your teachers and administrators (and I mean "all" of them) and parents.

It is a "numbers game" you are playing. When "numbers" are down in the elementary schools (although not drastically), and you take them down even more with plan number "three" — we are all reduced and all vulnerable to closure within a short period of time!

We are not willing to say, "well, here we go again (with the) same school board, same superintendent and same issue, just a short delay in schedule."

No, this cannot be. Too many people are out here saying "we can't communicate," "they don't hear us," "don't they see that they can't correct a Middle School problem at the expense of the Elemenary Schools?"

The word coming to us is, "Now it is time to take legal action!" and until Oct. 10 the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools has said, "let's make the community and the school board aware of the short-comings of this proposal first." Well, the community has listened and responded, but the superintendent and board have not.

So, now we are saying, we have tried and we can't try any harder. It is time for legal action and I think that is sad.

Dr. Brummel, we are not saying no plan, we are saying, no elementary plan!

Who remembers old city bar?

To the Editor:

Recent news stories regarding liquor licenses in the City of Grosse Pointe claim there was never a licensed bar in the Village.

I lived on Neff Road near St. Paul from 1921 until I married in 1947. My mother remained there until her death in 1971. I also graduated from Grosse Pointe High School in January of 1936.

If my memory has not failed me, I recall a bar on Kercheval between St. Clair and Neff about a lot or so east of where Hickey's now stands. I believe the year or years somewhere between 1938 and 1939, or even as early as 1937.

It was a one story, cement block bungalow, like several on Maumee also between St. Clair and Neff Roads that housed city offices and police departments.

Isn't there someone out there who also remembers?

Kudos for job well done!

To the Editor:

Let's give thanks to the Grosse Pointe Woods public works director for the beautiful care given to Mack Avenue, Vernier Road and all of the Woods.

He doesn't just cut the lawns, but edges and trims.

Maybe Leonard O'Celnik could teach some of his style to the keepers of Lakeshore Road.

To the Editor:

I was glad to see that something was finally being done to help spruce up the Mack Avenue area of Grosse Pointe. It's about time.

I would like to compliment the city on setting up an organized solution to the problem. Pointe Plaza is certainly an improvement over the old Seven Mile and Mack Center. The grass, trees and flowers make it look like a part of Grosse Pointe instead of the inner city. Now we can drive down Mack and actually see across the street because the boulevard has been mowed.

Nice job, Grosse Pointe. Now all we have to do is keep it this way.

A good pick for Agriculture

By William R. Bryant, Jr.
State Representative

I applaud the State Agriculture Commission's selection last Thursday of Paul Kindinger as the new director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The choice was made by the commission in the face of insistence by Governor Blanchard that local former State Sen. John Hertel be awarded the post.

The selection of Kindinger as the new director to replace Dean Pridgeon is a victory for Michigan agriculture. It also is encouraging for all citizens of Michigan to know that the Agriculture Commission, so far, is still struggling to remain above crass partisan politics. The members of the Commission based their choice on what is best for Michigan agriculture, not what Governor Blanchard wanted.

Governor Blanchard had recently forced former Agriculture Director Dean Pridgeon to resign, and had adamantly demanded that the commission replace him with Hertel.

Kindinger is a former deputy director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and was former Director of Marketing and International Trade for the department. He is currently deputy director of the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University. Kindinger also holds a doctorate in agricultural economics.

With the credentials of Kindinger, Michigan agriculture would be in good hands. As Michigan's second largest industry, agriculture has a need for and a right to expertise and objectivity.

The reason for having a commission select the director is to try to assure needed expertise in anyone chosen to be director. While Hertel has some background helpful to appreciating the needs of the agriculture community, it is clear the Governor did not make his recommendation based on expertise.

It remains to be seen whether or not the Governor will have his way next year when commission vacancies will give him control of the commission.

At that point, the commission may dump Kindinger and install Hertel. I hope not.

The Governor told me last year after his election that he wanted to get control of the bureaucracy. When he said it, it made sense. How he has gone about it since then looks more like wanting to do favors for friends than wanting good government.

Chain saw man has his say

To the Editor:

On Aug. 25, began a barrage of news blurbs; on Sept. 1, Sept. 15, Sept. 22 and Oct. 6, the ongoing saga of "Hagar the Hazardous" continues to surface.

Overwhelming numbers of people — young and old — accept and approve of my meager efforts to contribute one last "Hurrah" for the mighty elm tree that once flourished and abounded in your area.

I am trying to do something positive with the elm once it has died, other than destruction of a once magnificent species by just turning it into firewood.

Most of my efforts have brought joy and laughter and amusement and sometime ease the pain of the loss, because the people who chose to have something resurrected from the stump have made a statement, a memorial to the tree. They still have the tree, or some of it, just in a different form.

Someone great once said "you can't please all the people all the time." And there are probably some people in your area who might take offense to my rendition of art. To those people, I thank you for living in a country that allows that while you and I might not agree, we both have the right to freedom of speech and opinion.

To the vast majority who get a little chuckle and a wee bit of enjoyment from my efforts, I humbly thank you.

Chain saw man

To the Editor:

The school administration was telling the public that taxes would not be raised. After assuring the concerned taxpayers of no raise in taxes, the school board again has raised them.

School taxes should not be raised nearly 10 percent for no apparent reason. With declining enrollment, fewer teachers and possible school closings, there is no need for more money.

For good education, students need more encouragement from teachers and their parents, not a better looking school.

New office aids Viet Nam vets

The Michigan Viet Nam Veterans Leadership Program (VVLP) has announced the opening of their office, and the beginning of a program of service to the estimated 100,000 Viet Nam veterans in the tri-county area.

Goals of the program are to improve the image of the Viet Nam veteran, and establish a network of veterans to assist other Viet Nam vets who are experiencing difficulties.

The VVLP has also announced it will not try to duplicate services already provided for by the Veterans Administration or veteran services organizations but rather will complement these programs and work to make the entire range of services as cohesive and effective as possible.

All Viet Nam veterans who can help or need help should call 332-8317. The office is located at 111 N. Saginaw, Suite D, Pontiac, Mich.

Heather wins opera role

Fifteen-year-old Heather Cross, of Grosse Pointe Farms, will play the role of "Fredrika" in the Michigan Opera Theater's 1983-84 Season of Excellence production of "A Little Night Music." The Tony award-winning musical by Stephan Sondheim features vocalist Cleo Laine and her husband John Dankworth as musical director, and opens Nov. 18 for 15 performances through Dec. 3.

A 10th grader at South High School, Heather was anchorwoman for "Kidsworld Magazine," a WJBK-TV2 weekly children's program. She has been an active member of the Grosse Pointe Children's Theater since 1974, appearing in many productions. Heather has also appeared in industrial films for Chrysler and SEMTA, and in a commercial for Elias Brothers Restaurants. She will play the role of Fredrika, the daughter of Desiree Armfeldt, played by Cleo Laine.

The 1983-84 Season of Excellence began Oct. 14 with Verdi's "La Traviata." This will be followed by Gounod's "Faust" starring Wilhelmenia Fernandez on Nov. 4, and Donizetti's "Anna Bolena" starring Joan Sutherland June 6. Tickets can be purchased at the Music Hall Box Office or at all CTC outlets, or charged by phone at 963-7680.

Carol Boivin, an agent at the Dely Travel Service, will present a 20-minute film about travel preparation Thursday evening, Oct. 20, starting at 7:30 p.m. in the Exhibition Room of the Grosse Pointe Central Library.

Reservation information, itineraries, efficient baggage-packing, etc., will be discussed followed by a question and answer period. There is no charge.

Library group to discuss humanities

The Grosse Pointe Park Library will be the site for group discussions on the humanities which began Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 2:30 p.m. Study materials used will be those designed and provided free by the National Council on Aging, whose programs, led by Outreach Librarian Helen Leonard, have been featured in the Neighborhood Club, Food and Friendship, and other sites.

The topic for the first program was "Americans and the Land" and included readings from William Bradford, Walt Whitman, Emily Dickinson and others.

The group will be limited to 10 and meetings will be held on the second and fourth Wednesdays. Call Mrs. Leonard at 343-2316 or Mrs. Huxley at 343-2071 for reservations and information.

School volunteers receive awards

The Board of Education handed out several dozen Volunteer Awards last week to men and women who work free-of-charge in the public schools and libraries to improve programs for students.

The awards program, founded in 1974, has honored 687 persons to date. It is an effort by the board to publicly thank the volunteers in the school system.

Among last week's award recipients were Lonnie Acord, Carl Anderson, Oran Anderson, Gayle Arnold, Sue Askew, Loretta Bartel, Mary Bauer, Dan Beck, Nola Bell, Joanne Boesiger, Wendy Brockie, Carol Brophy, Sharon Chouinard, Shirley Christ, Arlene Connell, Jeanne Coyle, Jean Cugliari, Ed Davey, Diane Dawson, Dick DeRonne, Katie Domzalski, Sue Ellison, Carol Farrelly, Joseph Fromm, Thomas Gebeck, Sally Giacobbe, Virginia Gray, James Greenfield, Elza Gross and Edward Gushee. More are Theodore Hadgis, Betty Hase, Elizabeth Hathaway, Edward Haug, Deborah Holliday, Brenda Holmes, Leonard Hooper, Janet Hopper, Norm Houtekier, Nadine Hunt, Howard Hush, Pat Jeffs, William Jennings, Mary Jungwirth, Bernie Kilcline, Mary Klobuchar, Elaine Kulinski, Marcia Leadbetter, Monica Locke, Hanna Mammen, Michele Marrs, Judith Mathews, Agatha McCormick, Nancy Meagher, Karen Millikin, Mary Mitchell, Valerie Moran, Sue Moxley, Dale Nevison and Suzanne Nicholson.

Other recipients are Camille Peterson, Al Rader, Jacqueline Rentenbach, Pat Reynolds, Kathleen Roberts, Nancy Schmelz, Anne Schultz, Veronica Smith, Elaine Spina, Frank Stellingwerf, Nancy Stevens, Joan Stewart, Marilyn Testa, Louise TeWalt, Harry Thomalla, Martie Thomalla, Rosemary Touscany, Mitzi VanLanduyt, Marilyn Wagter, Mary Walter, Donna Waterston, Sue Weidinger, Bernard Wetering, Judy Wheatley, Pamela Wilson, Edward Wolf, Dennis Woods, Nancy Zultowski and Judy Zrimec.

The board also issued awards to members of its Citizens Advisory Committee studying the impact of declining enrollment, including Jan Arndt, Jeffery Barry, Frances Bassett, David Boyle, Sharon Carlsen, Henry Clay, Joann Cullen, Edward Deeb, Theresa Domienick, Mary Ellen Floer, Dick Gross, Edward Haug, Diane Hunsinger, Howard Hush, Jerry Keith, Lynne Kogel and John Lambka.

More committee members were Carl Lord, Alice Metry, Katharine Mullaney, Bill O'Keefe, Frances Schonenberg, Barbara Shapiro, Tom Sine, Lois Smith, Anthony Stocki, Suzanne Suski, Ron Thomas, Jim Waterston, Charles Weidig, Joyce Williams, Thomas Youngblood and Ruth Zinn.

St. Paul's sets pumpkin sale

The Teacher-Parent Guild of St. Paul's School will hold its annual pumpkin sale this weekend.

Four tons of pumpkins and fresh cider and doughnuts will be on sale directly behind St. Paul Church, 157 Lakeshore Road.

The hours of the sale are Saturday, Oct. 22, from 5 to 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 23 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Testing insight is offered

"Test Scores: What They Don't Tell About Your Child's Ability to Read" will be Craig Roney's topic Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 8 p.m. at the War Memorial.

Roney, a professor of Education at Wayne State University's Children's Literature Center, will discuss the uses and abuses of test scores in our school reading programs, the confusion they often cause parents, and frequently, the disservice they do to children.

Roney believes test scores can be misleading in determining a child's true literacy rate and can mask his or her attitude toward literature. Whether the test scores are above or below "average," their results can open the door for limited interpretation and consequently be harmful to the student's future reading habits.

Following Roney's candid appraisal of what tests can and cannot do, he will give examples of how to make reading more enjoyable.

The lecture fee is $8. Tickets may be purchased at the center's office.

PTO offering cider, pumpkins at Monteith

The Monteith PTO will conduct a pumpkin and cider sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 23 in the Monteith School parking lot.

The PTO will offer apple cider, caramel apples and three sizes of pumpkins.

St. Clare gets new principal

By Melissa Petersmarck
St. Clare School

This year when St. Clare School started a new year, it started with a new principal, Sister Anne Rutledge, O.P.

Sister Anne grew up in Pittsburgh, Pa., with three sisters and one brother. One of her sisters, Sister Mary Rutledge, O.P., is presently teaching at St. Clare.

St. Clare's new principal attended St. Lawrence O'Toole in Pittsburgh for grade school and high school and Ohio Dominican for her Bachelor's degree and Duquesne University for her Master's degree. She has taught fourth through eighth grade and has been a principal at two other schools.

Sister Anne says she cares deeply for students and wants to help them. She has added a guidance counselor to the faculty to help the students, especially those in junior high.

Vicki Wolber, an eighth grader, said Sister Anne is "considerate and she watches out for the children." Derek Schafran, another eighth grader noted that "she wants to get to know you, not just be your principal."

100 colleges come to North

Coordinating plans for College Night 1983 are (left to right) Paul Jablonski and Thomas Neil, North High counselors; Phyllis Osler, College Night chairman; and Florence Miller, assistant principal at North. All area high school students, especially juniors and seniors and their parents, are invited to attend College Night, Wednesday, Oct. 26, and meet representatives of more than 100 different colleges and universities. The administrations, counselors and parent groups of North and South High Schools are sponsoring the event, which begins at 7:30 p.m. at North High School.

Young writers win awards

South High Seniors Elizabeth Dobie and John Bruch were recently cited for outstanding performance in writing. The National Council of Teachers of English has named them winners of the 1983 NCTE Achievement Award in Writing. The NCTE writing contest is held annually beginning in February.

More than 7,000 students were nominated last February by their English teachers for the award. Each nominee submitted a sample of his best writing and an impromptu essay. These compositions were evaluated by state judging teams of both high school and college teachers. The 850 finalists selected each year represent high schools in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and American schools abroad. The number of possible winners for each state is keyed to state population.

The council recommends those cited for college scholarships in 1984, if they need such assistance. Names of the students are sent to admissions officers and English department chairpersons at U.S. two- and four-year colleges and universities.

The National Council of Teachers of English is a professional organization of individual and institutional members at all levels of instruction. Its goal is to increase the effectiveness of the teaching of English language and literature in the nation's schools and colleges.

Monteith balloon launch is Thursday

For four years now Monteith students, faculty and parents have gathered on the playground holding hundreds of helium and message filled balloons anxiously awaiting the signal from Principal Joan Kubista to launch them.

In previous years balloons have been found as far away as Nova Scotia. During this past summer Monteith was still receiving letters from people who found balloons from last year's launch.

This year's launch is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 27.

The excitement that vibrates throughout the gathering is electrifying and the sight is spectacular as the sky becomes alive with color. The event stimulates wonderful stories in creative writing back in the classroom. The kids' desire to study geographical locations is enhanced, and sometimes the event even produces pen pals.

Shutterbugs meet

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will host the Greater Detroit Camera Club print competition at its next meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Refreshments will be served and visitors are welcome to join the group at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte.

ULS debaters get Bowl invitation

The University Liggett School varsity debate team has been invited to debate at the Junior Orange Bowl festivities week in December. The nation's top teams will compete for college scholarships.

In league debate action this week, the ULS novice team placed first with Jack and Julie Ferris on the affirmative and David Chilingirian and Pam Colby on the negative. Chilingirian and debater Delphine Davison received speaker awards.

Varsity debaters Norman Issa, Mike Brozowski, John Hadjisky and Charles Colby took a second place in the top division.

New beat for SH band

Bif Ream
South High

Marching off to a different beat are South's marching band and flag carriers.

The band this year is trying a new style called corps marching instead of high step. Corps marching requires the band to move and play at the same time, a more difficult style demanding much practice. Dedication is one of the key elements involved in marching band. Sophomore Carin Seyler said, "It takes a lot of hard work and dedication."

Every morning from 7:30 to 8, South's marching band is out on the field football practicing its new look. "The school doesn't know how hard we work," Beth Prost, a junior, said.

South's marching band, however, has been struggling for the past couple years to stay alive. The number of musicians and interest have dropped in the past few years. Unlike other schools, South doesn't require band members to participate in marching band.

Rob Maniscalo, the new director this year, sent flyers to all students involved in the music program to spark interest in marching band. Since then, the band's membership jumped from 22 to 57.

Maniscalo said that not requiring band students to play in marching band helped weed out those who don't want to be there and who would have a negative effect on the band.

Starting this year, marching band members receive credit towards graduation for their efforts, not a grade on their report cards. Maniscalo said he doesn't feel the credit drew the numbers. Rather, it is the positive attitude that's been instilled this year.

All the band members seem to have the same reason for joining. "The group of kids are great and we have a lot of fun at the game," Seyler said.

Without the support and the half-time show the band performs, there wouldn't be as much enthusiasm as there is now. "I think it's good because it encourages the crowd to get going," Diane Knaus said.

Distinguished staff honored

The Grosse Pointe public school system announced its first annual Distinguished Staff Award winners last month at an all-staff meeting. The awards, which were created at the suggestion of the staff will be presented each year "in recognition of exceptional effort and dedication to the schools and students of this community." Pictured above are the first recipients of the award, (from left to right) — Bill Taylor, Brownell; Supt. Kenneth Brummel; Donna Marrs, Defer; Bea McKheen, Parcells; Russ Jones, administration building; Bill Hoover, South High.

Read what you write at the War Memorial

An introduction to handwriting analysis will be presented Wednesday, Oct. 26, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the War Memorial. Jacqueline Haskin, a certified handwriting analyst, will present the workshop.

Each participant will have a chance to analyze their own handwriting. Out of the 150 plus characteristics that can be gleaned from people's handwriting, Ms. Haskin will focus on the basic seven.

It is stressed that participants will not become experts in two hours, but will be given an informative introduction to handwriting analysis presented in an educational manner.

Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at the center's front office.

Douglas will speak at Unitarian Church

Walter E. Douglas, president of New Detroit, Inc., will be the guest speaker Sunday, Oct. 23, at 11 a.m. at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church.

The Unitarian-Universalist denomination is holding a congregation-wide World Day Celebration. Douglas will talk about the joining of the city and the suburbs. Children in the religious education classes will also give a short presentation of ethnic dances and song.

The Unitarian Church is located at 17150 Maumee. The public is invited.

Pointers join Torch Drive

Seven Grosse Pointe residents have accepted leadership positions in the United Foundation 1983 Torch Drive, Thomas Russell, chairman and chief executive officer of Federal-Mogul and general chairman of this year's fund-raising campaign announced recently.

Accepting positions are Don Becker, president of the Detroit Free Press, pacesetter group one chairman; Michael Brennan, president and medical director of the Torch Drive-supported Michigan Cancer Foundation, serving as health and community agencies group chairman; Jonathan Walton, executive vice-president and head of the trust division of the National Bank of Detroit, as pacesetter group three chairman; and David Williams, senior vice-president and chief operating officer of the Budd Company, as this year's pacesetter group five chairman.

Other accepting positions are Robert Gillooly of the Farms, national advertising manager of the Ford Division at Ford Motor Co., serving as magazine advertising chairman; William McPherson of the Woods, print production manager of the Ford Division at Ford Motor Co., serving as magazine advertising chairman; William McPherson of the Woods, print production manager for Young & Rubicam, Inc., as chairman for print production; and James Ramsey of the Farms, senior vice-president and executive creative director for McCann-Erickson, as creative director.

The pacesetter groups, headed by Becker. Walton and Williams, encourage tri-county organizations to conduct early employee campaign drives to set the pace for a successful Torch Drive this fall.

The health and community agencies group, chaired by Brennan, is part of the chapter campaigns unit which raises more than 97 percent of the Torch Drive total.

As chairman for the magazine advertising group, Gillooly is responsible for securing commitments for space in local magazines and in regional editions of national publications.

McPherson, heading the print production group, is responsible for the production of printed promotional materials. This includes ads, posters, billboards and award certificates.

The reporting phase of the 35th annual Torch Drive will run from Oct. 17 through Nov. 10.

Woods traffic war

Ticket fines are reduced

A district court judge and a municipal judge have fired what might be the last shot in the traffic sign war between St. Clair Shores and Grosse Pointe Woods.

Judge William A. Crouchman of the 40th District Court in St. Clair Shores recently sent letters to people who had requested court dates to argue their $40 fines for illegal right turns, saying the fine would be reduced to $10 should they claim responsibility.

St. Clair Shores police wrote a large number of tickets for illegal right turns onto Mack Avenue from Edmunton shortly after posting a sign prohibiting such turns. Crouchman said part of the reason for reducing the fines was the speed with which the signs were posted and their questionable public safety benefits.

St. Clair Shores' signs went up in response to the Woods changing of traffic patterns in its northwest end. Brys, Roslyn, Hampton and Ridgemont were made one-way westbound from Mack to Helen, which became one-way southbound.

The signs were posted in the Woods in response to residents' complaints of heavy traffic exiting from Old Eight Mile Road into the area. After a month of charges and counter-charges and two stormy public hearings, the Woods council voted to remove all the signs except the ones on Brys, leaving it one-way westbound.

The judge added that the fine of $40 for the illegal turn "was a little stiff for the offense." The city could not simply ignore the tickets, so the fine was lowered to $10, the state fine for the offense, Crouchman said.

When asked if the lowering of the fines was the last shot in the traffic war, Crouchman said, "I would like to think it is, but I doubt it."

Woods Municipal Judge Patricia Schneider said she is also changing the fines on tickets that come before her. Instead of the $40, offenders will be asked to pay $10 in court costs, she said.

"I don't think I can dismiss them . . . (but) I do think that a lot of people had a lot of trouble working their way through the situation," Judge Schneider said, adding the offenders were "victims of a circumstance."

Other victims of circumstance in the traffic war are those who paid their tickets.

Clown around this Halloween

The Grosse Pointe Clown Corps will get into the spirit of the season with appearances at the Grosse Pointe Jaycees Haunted House on Kercheval and a benefit peanut sale for the Jaycees juvenile diabetes charity.

The Clown Corps will be at the Kercheval Haunted House Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 22 and 23. The Jaycees will open the house at noon those days and it will stay open until 11 p.m. Pumpkins will also be sold in front of the location to benefit local charities.

The Corps will hold a peanut sale Saturday, Oct. 29, at J.C. Penney in the Pointe Plaza. Corps president Arthur Kuehnel pointed out the peanuts make nutritious and safe Halloween treats. Funds from the sale, endorsed by the Michigan Jaycees, will go to benefit juvenile diabetes research.

The Clown Corps will also hold a new member registration to fill its ranks Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the Woods public safety building, 20025 Mack. Children in grades one through 12 are eligible as well as adults. For more information, call Kuehnel at 881-8186.

Woods PSO union, city head to arbitration

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Grosse Pointe Woods and its public safety officers are headed for arbitration to settle a salary dispute for this the last year of a three-year contract.

Both sides are scheduled to meet in mid-December with Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) arbitrator Dawson Lewis in a pre-hearing conference, city officials said.

The city signed a three-year contract with the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Association in May, 1982, which was retroactive to June, 1981. The contract granted officers a 9 percent salary increase over the first two years with a negotiable in the third.

Earlier this year, the union asked to open the bargaining. Since then, the two sides have been writing new chapters to the long-standing dispute between the 30 public safety officers, detectives and corporals and the city.

The May, 1892, agreement was signed after more than a year of negotiations, complaints by the union to MERC about unfair bargaining by the city, and the final intervention of a mediator.

The third-year salary negotiations also employed a mediator to try and bring the two sides together, but the attempt failed, union officials said.

Under the present contract, officers received a 5 percent increase in fiscal year 1981-82. The base salary increased to $25,200 for a public safety officer and $26,900 for a corporal. In fiscal 1982-83, the base salary increased 4 percent, to $26,200 for public safety officers and $28,000 for corporals.

Cost-of-living increases were capped at $1,200 for the life of the contract. Changes in the supplemental annuity payments the city offers over and above the regular pension increased from $250 to $270.

The present expires June 30, 1984. Negotiations for the new contract are scheduled to open this February.

AARP will meet

Grosse Pointe chapter No. 2151 of the American Association of Retired Persons, AARP, will meet Monday, Oct. 24, at 1 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road.

The speaker will be Don Teeple, U.S. Border Patrol agent, who will talk about "Duties, Authorities and Task Force Operations of the U.S. Border Patrol."

A social hour and card playing follows the meeting.

Mrs. Milton R. Reed, program chairman, arranges for the group's speakers whose subjects have varied widely but are of special interest to retirees. She appreciates suggestions from members for knowledgeable and entertaining speakers.

Cottage offers 'kiddie' tours

Cottage Hospital's Volunteer Services department is again taking reservations for nursery and elementary grade school groups wishing to tour the hospital.

The tours are conducted only on Fridays. Youngsters from nursery school through second grade receive the "Introduction to the Hospital for Very Small People," which features a slide program, wheelchair ride and a "hands on" explanation of such things as a stethoscope and an x-ray.

Older children receive a limited tour of several non-patient areas of the hospital, including the x-ray and nuclear medicine sections and are introduced to information about hospital careers.

There is no charge for the tour, but advance reservations must be made by calling Margaret Hutchings, director of Volunteer Services at 884-8600, extension 2455, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Distinguished staff honored

The Grosse Pointe public school system announced its first annual Distinguished Staff Award winners last month at an all-staff meeting. The awards, which were created at the suggestion of the staff will be presented each year "in recognition of exceptional effort and dedication to the schools and students of this community." Pictured above are the first recipients of the award, (from left to right) — Bill Taylor, Brownell; Supt. Kenneth Brummel; Donna Marrs, Defer; Bea McKheen, Parcells; Russ Jones, administration building; Bill Hoover, South High.

Read what you write at the War Memorial

An introduction to handwriting analysis will be presented Wednesday, Oct. 26, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the War Memorial. Jacqueline Haskin, a certified handwriting analyst, will present the workshop.

Each participant will have a chance to analyze their own handwriting. Out of the 150 plus characteristics that can be gleaned from people's handwriting, Ms. Haskin will focus on the basic seven.

It is stressed that participants will not become experts in two hours, but will be given an informative introduction to handwriting analysis presented in an educational manner.

Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at the center's front office.

Douglas will speak at Unitarian Church

Walter E. Douglas, president of New Detroit, Inc., will be the guest speaker Sunday, Oct. 23, at 11 a.m. at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church.

The Unitarian-Universalist denomination is holding a congregation-wide World Day Celebration. Douglas will talk about the joining of the city and the suburbs. Children in the religious education classes will also give a short presentation of ethnic dances and song.

The Unitarian Church is located at 17150 Maumee. The public is invited.

Pointers join Torch Drive

Seven Grosse Pointe residents have accepted leadership positions in the United Foundation 1983 Torch Drive, Thomas Russell, chairman and chief executive officer of Federal-Mogul and general chairman of this year's fund-raising campaign announced recently.

Accepting positions are Don Becker, president of the Detroit Free Press, pacesetter group one chairman; Michael Brennan, president and medical director of the Torch Drive-supported Michigan Cancer Foundation, serving as health and community agencies group chairman; Jonathan Walton, executive vice-president and head of the trust division of the National Bank of Detroit, as pacesetter group three chairman; and David Williams, senior vice-president and chief operating officer of the Budd Company, as this year's pacesetter group five chairman.

Other accepting positions are Robert Gillooly of the Farms, national advertising manager of the Ford Division at Ford Motor Co., serving as magazine advertising chairman; William McPherson of the Woods, print production manager of the Ford Division at Ford Motor Co., serving as magazine advertising chairman; William McPherson of the Woods, print production manager for Young & Rubicam, Inc., as chairman for print production; and James Ramsey of the Farms, senior vice-president and executive creative director for McCann-Erickson, as creative director.

The pacesetter groups, headed by Becker. Walton and Williams, encourage tri-county organizations to conduct early employee campaign drives to set the pace for a successful Torch Drive this fall.

The health and community agencies group, chaired by Brennan, is part of the chapter campaigns unit which raises more than 97 percent of the Torch Drive total.

As chairman for the magazine advertising group, Gillooly is responsible for securing commitments for space in local magazines and in regional editions of national publications.

McPherson, heading the print production group, is responsible for the production of printed promotional materials. This includes ads, posters, billboards and award certificates.

The reporting phase of the 35th annual Torch Drive will run from Oct. 17 through Nov. 10.

Woods traffic war

Ticket fines are reduced

A district court judge and a municipal judge have fired what might be the last shot in the traffic sign war between St. Clair Shores and Grosse Pointe Woods.

Judge William A. Crouchman of the 40th District Court in St. Clair Shores recently sent letters to people who had requested court dates to argue their $40 fines for illegal right turns, saying the fine would be reduced to $10 should they claim responsibility.

St. Clair Shores police wrote a large number of tickets for illegal right turns onto Mack Avenue from Edmunton shortly after posting a sign prohibiting such turns. Crouchman said part of the reason for reducing the fines was the speed with which the signs were posted and their questionable public safety benefits.

St. Clair Shores' signs went up in response to the Woods changing of traffic patterns in its northwest end. Brys, Roslyn, Hampton and Ridgemont were made one-way westbound from Mack to Helen, which became one-way southbound.

The signs were posted in the Woods in response to residents' complaints of heavy traffic exiting from Old Eight Mile Road into the area. After a month of charges and counter-charges and two stormy public hearings, the Woods council voted to remove all the signs except the ones on Brys, leaving it one-way westbound.

The judge added that the fine of $40 for the illegal turn "was a little stiff for the offense." The city could not simply ignore the tickets, so the fine was lowered to $10, the state fine for the offense, Crouchman said.

When asked if the lowering of the fines was the last shot in the traffic war, Crouchman said, "I would like to think it is, but I doubt it."

Woods Municipal Judge Patricia Schneider said she is also changing the fines on tickets that come before her. Instead of the $40, offenders will be asked to pay $10 in court costs, she said.

"I don't think I can dismiss them . . . (but) I do think that a lot of people had a lot of trouble working their way through the situation," Judge Schneider said, adding the offenders were "victims of a circumstance."

Other victims of circumstance in the traffic war are those who paid their tickets.

Clown around this Halloween

The Grosse Pointe Clown Corps will get into the spirit of the season with appearances at the Grosse Pointe Jaycees Haunted House on Kercheval and a benefit peanut sale for the Jaycees juvenile diabetes charity.

The Clown Corps will be at the Kercheval Haunted House Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 22 and 23. The Jaycees will open the house at noon those days and it will stay open until 11 p.m. Pumpkins will also be sold in front of the location to benefit local charities.

The Corps will hold a peanut sale Saturday, Oct. 29, at J.C. Penney in the Pointe Plaza. Corps president Arthur Kuehnel pointed out the peanuts make nutritious and safe Halloween treats. Funds from the sale, endorsed by the Michigan Jaycees, will go to benefit juvenile diabetes research.

The Clown Corps will also hold a new member registration to fill its ranks Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the Woods public safety building, 20025 Mack. Children in grades one through 12 are eligible as well as adults. For more information, call Kuehnel at 881-8186.

Woods PSO union, city head to arbitration

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Grosse Pointe Woods and its public safety officers are headed for arbitration to settle a salary dispute for this the last year of a three-year contract.

Both sides are scheduled to meet in mid-December with Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) arbitrator Dawson Lewis in a pre-hearing conference, city officials said.

The city signed a three-year contract with the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Association in May, 1982, which was retroactive to June, 1981. The contract granted officers a 9 percent salary increase over the first two years with a negotiable in the third.

Earlier this year, the union asked to open the bargaining. Since then, the two sides have been writing new chapters to the long-standing dispute between the 30 public safety officers, detectives and corporals and the city.

The May, 1892, agreement was signed after more than a year of negotiations, complaints by the union to MERC about unfair bargaining by the city, and the final intervention of a mediator.

The third-year salary negotiations also employed a mediator to try and bring the two sides together, but the attempt failed, union officials said.

Under the present contract, officers received a 5 percent increase in fiscal year 1981-82. The base salary increased to $25,200 for a public safety officer and $26,900 for a corporal. In fiscal 1982-83, the base salary increased 4 percent, to $26,200 for public safety officers and $28,000 for corporals.

Cost-of-living increases were capped at $1,200 for the life of the contract. Changes in the supplemental annuity payments the city offers over and above the regular pension increased from $250 to $270.

The present expires June 30, 1984. Negotiations for the new contract are scheduled to open this February.

AARP will meet

Grosse Pointe chapter No. 2151 of the American Association of Retired Persons, AARP, will meet Monday, Oct. 24, at 1 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road.

The speaker will be Don Teeple, U.S. Border Patrol agent, who will talk about "Duties, Authorities and Task Force Operations of the U.S. Border Patrol."

A social hour and card playing follows the meeting.

Mrs. Milton R. Reed, program chairman, arranges for the group's speakers whose subjects have varied widely but are of special interest to retirees. She appreciates suggestions from members for knowledgeable and entertaining speakers.

Businessmen see Woods' plans for Mack

By Mike Andrzejczyk

North Mack businessmen got the "soft sell" from city officials last Monday night at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club when the last wraps were taken off the city's master storefront design plan.

Businesspeople present, about 30, raised only one real objection to the plan. The city would have to begin solving the parking problem before the storefront design could do what city officials claim it can do; turn North Mack into a preferred shopping area, some businessmen said.

For three months last year, the question of rezoning more than 40 residential lots on the north end for parking was as emotionally charged as the current school closing issue. The city stopped work on the storefront design plan for a year while it worked on the parking solution, city officials said.

While some officials conceded the number of lots proposed was excessive, others said it was necessary to solve not only the immediate problem, but to insure there was a place for future parking if it ever proved necessary.

The original draft of the parking proposal only considered six lots in strategic areas along the strip, officials said. Four of the residents were willing to sell out and the other two homes were then up for sale. The proposal would have alleviated the immediate problem and given assurances to residents that they would be relocated in the city if they wished without an increase in taxes, officials added.

Officials said there are no plans to do anything about the parking right away. The city may have to drop its "grandiose" dreams of a parking zone and simply work to redistribute the spaces available, one councilman said.

The problem with the parking in the area is one of location, architect David Schervish said. While there are a number of parking spots available in some areas, there aren't enough in areas with high volumes of customers, he said. The city has to find a way to put the parking where the businesses are, he added.

Selling the parking proposal to residents should be based on value, one businessman said. A healthy business area brings people into the area. "You tell me that someone driving by and driving down one of those streets and wanting to buy in the area isn't going to help property values," he said.

Generally, business and professional people seemed pleased with the presentation of the design plan. Only one property owner was seen talking heatedly to a planning commission member, but he didn't voice his objections openly

The plan, two years in the making, is designed to develop a character for the area, Administrative Aide Gerard McNamara said. "The area used to be downtown Grosse Pointe Woods. It was the heart of the city, the old Lochmoor village, 50 years ago and it's still going," he said. "It could become another preferred shopping area, another Maple-Woodward in Birmingham, another Village. It has that potential."

The plan developed by the architectural firm Schervish, Vogel, Merz and Cardoza, uses universal architectural principles to develop the area's character into a marketable product, Schervish said. "These principals are universal since the Greeks built the Parthenon and the Egyptians built the Pyramids. You have to work with your design principles."

The ideas of scale, continuity and variety are applied to the store-fronts to put together a feeling of intimacy and continuity, Schervish said. Using point buildings, or those of significant size or architectural style, as focal points for the blocks and designing the rest of the block so the two blend together is the basis for the proposal, he noted.

"Success of the program is only good if there's participation," Schervish said. The city wasn't trying to "force anything down your throats," he added, pointing out the guidelines were not hard and fast. It was the "spirit of the design" that needs to be followed, he said.

The city also drummed up a little business for a Community Development Block Grant program with funds that have to be spent by the end of the year. Business and professional people willing to make a commitment to renovate their store-fronts can have the architectural fees picked up by the city, McNamara told the audience.

Schervish will prepare working drawings for the necessary work to the store-front at no cost to the businessman. The drawings will include meetings between the businessman and the architect to develop the plans and cost estimates of the work, McNamara said.

The businessman would then submit the plans for approval by the planning commission after signing on a contractor and getting the building permit for the work, McNamara added. The whole process, because of the city's commitment to the program, should take about 60 days, Schervish said.

Average costs for the work run from between $5,000 and $10,000, Schervish said. Restoring some of the point buildings to period look could cost more, while present colonial buildings in the area could cost less, he noted.

One property owner, after considering the costs of the renovation, and balancing them against benefits from depreciation and tax benefits, found the renovations could pay for themselves in five years, Schervish said.

The Community Development Block Grant Advisory Commission was to meet Wednesday night, Oct. 19, to take up questions of incentives for businessmen to help them pay for the renovations, chairman Al Adams said. The meeting was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the city council chambers.

Theologian focuses on health care issue

Balancing the personal needs and rights of patients against high technology, cost-containment and legal concerns is one of the important tasks facing today's health care professionals, according to Reverend Richard A. McCormick, keynote speaker last month at Bon Secours Hospital's Conference on Bioethical Issues.

Father McCormick, a moral theologian, discussed in vitro fertilization, surrogate parenting, life-sustaining measures and other topics that pose ethical questions for those who care for the sick and dying.

Bon Secours Hospital medical and pastoral care staffs, nurses, area clergy and other employes attended Mr. McCormick's day-long program titled "Christian Ethics in a Pluralistic Society" held in the hospital's Science Hall.

Father McCormick is currently the Rose F. Kennedy Professor of Christian Ethics of the Kennedy Institute for the Study of Reproduction and Bioethics at Georgetown University, Washington, D.C.

He was named an honorary Director of Divinity at the Jesuit School of Theology, Berkely, California last year.

We are sorry to announce that Dr. Brummel, Mrs. Joan Hanpeter and the other members of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education seem to be flunking their American Government class this year.

While they profess to have keen insights regarding the educational and social needs of the community they've been elected to serve, they tend to speak in generalities about how closing schools will make kids smarter.

We assumed that the passage of the millage in March, 1983, was a vote of confidence that we liked the way our schools were operating. Apparently, not so.

The school closing Proposal, however, has triggered a number of community-wide meetings of homeowners, parents, senior citizens and members of the educational and business community. The conclusion: the Board is totally out of touch with the community on this issue.

So how do you get the message across to the Board? First we tried rhetoric. But anyone attending any of the school hearings soon realized this was hopeless. So we decided to go to the people in order to prove our point: that this issue had such far-reaching social, educational and cultural implications . . . it would require much more thoughtful study before it got community-wide approval.

We took it upon ourselves to conduct an Opinion Survey. Here was our methodology. We went door to door in all five of the Grosse Pointes. We asked the question (1) "Do you agree that all current Grosse Pointe Elementary Schools should remain open?" If the answer was 'no,' we merely thanked the homeowner for the time and made a notation of the address. If the answer was 'yes,' the homeowner was asked for their signature and asked some other opinions including (2) If the consolidation goes through would you consider a private school? and (3) Would you consider a recall if the Proposal goes through? Here are the facts: As of Friday, October 8th, we had signatures of over 6,525 homeowners. The results:
DO YOU WANT ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS OPEN — YES 93%

Another sidelight of our survey was the strong support received from retirees. They represented about 25% of our sampling. Their primary concern was the deterioration of quality of life and property values if neighborhood schools were closed. The results:
DO YOU WANT NEIGHBORHOOD SCHOOLS OPEN — YES 89%

A word on opinion polls. When Gallup does a poll, they consider a sampling of 1400 adults adequate in order to predict a trend or public sentiment. Most national markets or political organizations would consider the results of a phone sampling of 500 adults sufficient for their needs. As further evidence that our Opinion Survey reflects the mood of the community, we submit the results of the Detroit Free Press survey published Thursday, October 6th. It showed that two out of every three Grosse Pointers surveyed . . .
do not want schools closed.

The results of our Opinion Poll will be presented to the Board for their study. But we must say, we find it ironic that concerned citizens must spend their time . . . and their money . . . in order to provide information which the School Board should have obtained in the first place.

In closing, we think that we've come a long way from our forefathers . . . who demonstrated their anger at being taxed . . . but not represented . . . by dumping the Crown's tea into Boston Harbor. But we are still motivated by the same basic tenet: if you are going to tax us, you will, indeed, represent us.

Marian Trainor

The older, the wiser. It is generally accepted that older people by reason of their years have experienced much and have learned from those experiences.

What is not conceded is that younger people can benefit from the mistakes and accomplishments of their elders. Except in very old cultures where elderly people are revered for their wisdom and their opinions are valued, it is not often that a child, much less a grandchild, will ask grandma or grandpa to direct their affairs. Different times, different places and different customs make the lessons learned by older people obsolete.

Never mind that there are some situations which never change and some problems that remain constant. It is their life and they will learn by their own experiences, thank you. What is acceptable is financial aid, whether it be for higher education, an apartment, a trip, clothes or any other item that contributes to independent problem-solving.

Most parents understand. They are not so far removed from this convoluted thinking themselves.

It is a little more difficult for grandparents. They grew up in an era when advice was freely given by parents, teachers, religious instructors, aunts and uncles, ad infinitum. If the family dog could have talked, he would have had his say, too. What's more, that advice was accepted graciously. Young people respected their elders then. They still do, but not for the same reason.

You still can be set apart and revered because of your age and that's exactly what will happen, you will be set apart.

If you want to make contact, if you want young people to come to you because they enjoy your company and not out of duty, you can't set yourself up as being a fountain of wisdom. You may well be, but let your family find it out for themselves.

Don't erect barriers that discourage communication and friendship. Don't insist that your way is the only way. If someone differs with you, don't be cranky about it but recognize their right as their own person to make their own decision. If your advice is sought, give it but don't get upset if it is not followed. Above all, don't try to forge chains of bondage with gifts of money, cars, houses or loans. If you have the means and it gives you pleasure and if the gifts are willingly accepted that's wonderful. Don't forget to see your tax person about deductions for gifts. But don't ever give with one hand and slap with another. All you need to destroy the good feeling of giving and receiving is to say just once, "after all I've done for you."

It may be true that there are older people who feel they have earned the right to be as difficult as they please. They have had enough of pleasing others over a long period of years. Now it is their turn for others to please them. There is truth to the sentiment. Unfortunately as long as we share this planet with others, we are going to have to bend and try to get along with others. This holds true for impersonal associations, and is more necessary in our close relationships with our family. The stakes are much higher. We are not only seeking friendship but companionship and love.

If we accept the premise that it is better to be part of a family rather than head of it and it is worth any endeavor to achieve that end, then there are measures we must take. We have already accepted the fact that being dictatorial, overbearing and generally hard to get along with is not acceptable behavior.

There are more positive methods. We should be courteous, not formally so but graciously. We listen without interrupting to give our opinion. We refrain from telling our confidant that such a move as the one they are planning is unbelievably stupid. We gently guide but never ride roughshod.

All of our behavior modification need not be directed towards pleasing others, although it will ultimately have that effect.

For instance, if we have been neglecting our health, we should have a medical checkup. A sick, whining person is not one that is often sought out.

And then there's the matter of personal appearance. If we have been clinging to vintage basics because we don't go out much anyway, than it's time to look around for some newer styles. There's nothing as rejuvenating as a new outfit and hairdo.

And then there are the intangibles, such as charm, that mysterious attribute that no seductive perfume can match. It is hard to define, but certain ingredients can be identified such as gentle manners, a pleasant modulated voice, a regal bearing.

Kindness, cheerfulness, charity, tolerance, are important traits also. They should not be hard to cultivate. After years of living, there should be no urge to hurt, to take a hard line. It's time to soften and be mellow.

Add to this inventory of what it takes to be a super senior citizen, one more item. Be an interesting person. It's great to recount stories of your past experiences, problems, successes, travels, etc. Your audience will enjoy hearing about them. Listening to an older person recount family history gives younger members a sense of continuity and permanence. But don't overdo it. Even a good story wears thin with repetition. Enlarge your repertoire. Read newspapers and magazines. Know what's going on. When conversations turn to world happenings, local doings, social problems, you have something to contribute.

You might even want to take a course in a subject you always wanted to know more about. You can handle it. Age puts limits on the body but not on the mind. Intelligence does not deteriorate with age. Learning is a natural and continuing function that can be a lifetime activity.

In a book, "The Lively Mind," Jules Z. Willing gives some tips on maintaining and increasing mental vitality. A former personnel director for a large corporation, Willing stresses two words; reflexiveness and response-ability.

Reflexiveness is the ability to observe and think about our thoughts — "the skill of communicating with ourselves."

Response-ability relates to responding to our thoughts in meaningful ways. Some suggestions he makes to maintain and increase mental vitality include keeping a journal in which we record thoughts and opinions; creative reading, which involves finding books on favorite subjects; clipping newspaper articles that capture your interest, corresponding with others who share your interests and sharing your thought in group discussions.

Learning can be a lifelong adventure. There is strong evidence that using the mind preserves it.

Another suggestion for keeping the mind sharp and active comes from Doctors Robert O. Ruhling of the University of Utah and Robert E. Dustman of the Veterans Administration Hospital at Salt Lake City.

They found that progressive walking — starting slow and increasing speed over a few months — improves reaction time and that short-term memory of older persons comes from a decrease in physical activity over many years.

Performing services for others can be a way of enlarging our outlook and making ourselves more interesting.

For instance, you could volunteer to be a docent at the Detroit Institute of Art. To begin with you may not know a Rembrandt from a Matisse, but after you have undergone training at the Institute you will have added to your repetoire of interesting subjects for discussion. And when you talk people will listen, for anyone who can discuss art with knowledge and appreciation can't help but be impressive.

After your training you can opt to take visitors on tours of the museum or to take slides of schools and talk to the students about them. This latter activity keeps you in touch with youth and it is satisfying to introduce what could be a lifetime interest to a young mind.

The appreciation and preservation of arts and artifacts has taken on a new focus this past year. If you decide that this is an activity you might enjoy, you will be in on an important movement.

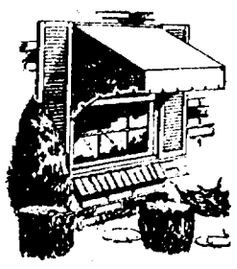

Last fall a two-day conference was held in California. It was organized by the Smithsonian Institution in cooperation with the National Institute on Aging (NIA); the National Council on Aging (NCOA) and the Health Services Research and Development Center of John Hopkins University. The purpose was to stimulate contributors to the broad range of activities offered at museums as well as parks, zoos and other cultural recreational centers.

Conference speakers Dr. Robert N. Butler, head of geriatrics at Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York City, urged an active relationship between museums and older people. "This must go beyond the contribution older people can make as docents," he said. "I'd like to see them play a gadfly role in stimulating museums to include life reviews and oral histories."

It is believed that this program gives the participant an opportunity not only to learn about museums and collections but gives them the immediate satisfaction of transmitting knowledge to others. It is a learn as you earn activity. You learn about our cultural heritage but you also earn respect for yourself and from others because of your knowledge.

Physicians join staff at hospital

Seven physicians last month were appointed to the Bon Secours Hospital medical staff by the Board of Trustees.

They are: Julian J. Nussbaum, an opthalmologist at Henry Ford Hospital;, Andrew I. Dzul, otolaryngologist, whose office is at 19501 East Eight Mile Road in St. Clair Shores: David Stephen Harnade and Mark Zwiren, both radiologists at Bon Secours. More are Paul Christopher Nehra, obstetrician/gynecologist of 145 Rochdale, Rochester; Patrick Leo Murphy, opthalmologist, of 3535 West 13 Mile Road, Suite 507, Royal Oak; and Robert A. Fishman, otolaryngologist, of 19401 East Eight Mile Road in St. Clair Shores.

Schultes join Founders group

The Founders Society Junior Council of the Detroit Institute of Arts recently elected Mr. and Mrs. John C. Schultes, of Cloverly Road, to its board of directors.

Mr. Schultes is an attorney in private practice and Mrs. Schultes is on the treasurer's staff at General Motors.

Buyers of new cars keep them an average of six years each. Used cars, five years.

Ten candidates file for City election

Grosse Pointe City Mayor Lorenzo D. Browning will run unopposed for election to his seat this November while five candidates battle for three council positions and four attorneys for the city's municipal judgeship.

Browning, of Lakeland, who was appointed mayor in August after David Robb resigned from the post, was the only mayoral candidate to meet the city's Saturday, Oct. 15, deadline for filing petitions for office.

Three incumbent council members met the deadline and will run for re-election including Arthur S. Fetters, Jr., of Lincoln Road, Jeanette H. Duffield, of Rivard, and John F. Youngblood, of Lakeland, who was appointed to the council last month to fill the seat vacated when Browning moved up to mayor.

Newcomers seeking council seats are Thomas J. Guthat, of Rivard, and Thomas O'Rourke, of Lincoln. O'Rourke's name was also placed in nomination last month when the council selected a replacement for Browning, but the appointment went to Youngblood with a unanimous vote of the council.

In an unusually heavy race to fill the $4,250 a year, part-time municipal judge seat, incumbent Stan Kazul, of Washington Road, will face three opponents. They include George Coticchio, of Lakeland, who has sought the position in past elections, Matthew Rumora, of Fisher Road, and Stephen Kinsley, of Washington Road.

The municipal election will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Committee

to work for a group lobbying in support of a "voucher system" of education in Michigan.

Judy Brownscombe, committee co-chairman, said Supt. Brummel's revised recommendation, calling for closing only one school rather than the four he earlier proposed, has mollified some of the opposition. "But I say, think about what happens next. Which school will be next?"

Mrs. Brownscombe said the committee, made up of parents and other residents who opposed school closings, has spent about $3,000 on advertisements, printing and other expenses. Donations to the cause are still coming in, she said.

School board member Roger Mourad's announcement last week that he does not support any plans to close schools was encouraging to the committee, Mrs. Brownscombe said.

Mourad said this week that he would rather wait until there is a good financial reason to close schools, such as failure of a millage request at the polls. "If we were running in the red, it would be a totally different question," Mourad said. "But now I am persuaded that the public doesn't want this."

Mourad added that the schools are now at 75 percent capacity, "and that's not all that bad, if you compare it to businesses." The school system's enrollment has dropped from a peak of 13,500 to about 7,500 this year.

Ball rolling for SHS 10-year reunion

Planning has begun for the 10-year reunion of the South High School class of 1974. Anyone who is a graduate or anyone who knows a forwarding address for a 1974 graduate is asked to contact the following: Andrea (Roumell) Dickson before 5 p.m. at 962-8255; Kim (Kotowski) Tocco at 792-5608 or Lisa Osetek after 6 p.m. at 882-0399.

Center to offer nutrition workshop

A "Family Nutrition Workshop," which will include a gourmet vegetarian luncheon, will be held Thursday, Oct. 27, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the War Memorial.

The workshop aims at providing the necessary skills to plan nutritious meals for all family members. The topics that will be discussed include vitamins, minerals, fat, low fat and low salt menus and vegetarian nutrition.

The instructor will be Allison Boomer, a professional nutritionists with a Master's degree in public health.

The workshop, including lunch, is $40, and class size is limited. Call 881-7511 for information and registration.

An estimated 400 to 500 persons showed up last Sunday afternoon to help dedicate the opening of the new Farms Lakefront Recreation building at the Pier Park. City administrators as well as all members of the Farms City Council were on hand as Mayor James Dingeman cut the ribbon opening the new facility replacing the old boat house, constructed at the park sometime around World War I. The new recreation building was made possible through a bequest from the estate of the late Benjamin H. Long and through private contributions received by the Grosse Pointe Farms Foundation. Items sealed in a copper box contained within the cornerstone of the building included a list of council members, list of foundation board of trustees, list of contributors to the foundation, list of direct contributors to the recreation building, papers from the bequest of Benjamin Long, Farms Foundation articles of incorporation, minutes of pertinent council meetings pertaining to the recreation building, a listing of architect, construction manager and sub-contractors; a copy of the building plans; a copy of administration members names; photographs of the old boathouse and construction of the recreation building and editions of the Pointer and the Grosse Pointe News containing stories about the recreation building.

Police chase ends up in a Farms bedroom

ing out of the restaurant and stole their car at gunpoint.

East Detroit detectives theorize the two juveniles then picked up two or three other people. According to Woods police, the car full of youths could be involved in four armed robberies in Detroit two in Harper Woods, one in Warren and one in Grosse Pointe Woods.

All the robberies followed the same pattern, police said. The group would pull up in the stolen car, a 1982 blue Oldsmobile Cutlass Cierra, accost their victims and rob them at gunpoint and drive away.

Two such robberies took place in Harper Woods, police said. In one case, a woman was attacked on Huntington in that city by the group who took her purse, reports said.

A few minutes later, an 18-year-old Woods resident was driving on Eastborne near Prestwick when he saw an 1982 Oldsmobile Cutlass Cierra coming down the street. He pulled over to the curb to let the car pass, reports said.

When he did, four youths jumped out of the Oldsmobile and ran up to his car. One of the thieves pushed a nickel-plated revolver to the left side of the youth's head and told him to "give me it all," reports said.

The youth pulled at least $100 in cash from a pants pocket and handed it over, reports said. The man with the gun struck the Woods youth in the head with his fist and told him he wanted all the money. The youth pulled out $2 more from another pocket and handed it over, saying they had all the money, reports said.

The four then got back in their car and drove away.

Meanwhile, Harper Woods police, monitoring East Detroit police broadcasts, warned area stations to be on the lookout for the Oldsmobile, Woods detective Robert Kwiatkowski, on patrol on Huntington, spotted the vehicle and called the station.

The driver of the vehicle apparently spotted Kwiatkowski, because the Oldsmobile took a turn onto southbound Holiday from Huntington and accelerated to a high rate of speed. An object, later identified as the purse of a Harper Woods woman previously robbed, was thrown from the window, reports said.

Woods and Farms police took up the chase, travelling at high speeds through back streets in both cities. The Oldsmobile finally took a southbound turn onto Lexington, followed closely by a Woods unit.

The Woods officer rammed the Oldsmobile, forcing it to leave the road. The driver of the Oldsmobile regained control of the car after travelling across a couple front lawns. Another scout car headed the Oldsmobile off at the Lexington curve.

The Oldsmobile struck the right front fender of the scout car and careened onto the front lawn, through landscaping and a berm and into the master bedroom of a Lexington home.

The homeowner said the family was away at the time and no one in the house was injured.

Three of the occupants of the car suffered injuries. They were taken to St. John Hospital for treatment of a broken leg in one case, a gash to the forehead in another, and complaints of stomach pains in a third, Woods police said.

After the car came to a halt, three of the four occupants jumped out, reports said. Police ordered them to stop and a warning shot was fired into the ground, reports said. One of the occupants of the Oldsmobile turned toward officers and raised a hand gun as if to fire and drew fire from Woods police. No one was hit, detectives said.

Radio broadcasts between the Farms, City and Woods police brought about the apprehension of two of the car's occupants who had fled the scene. One was arrested by Farms and Woods police walking south on Chalfonte near Moross. A second was arrested at about 2 a.m. in front of St. John Hospital.

Taken into custody were three juveniles, aged 15 and 16, and Darin Tidwell, 18, of Detroit. Tidwell was arraigned Saturday afternoon by Judge Patricia Schnieder on charges of armed robbery. Bail was set at $50,000 cash and a preliminary examination of the complaint was scheduled for yesterday in Woods municipal court.

East Detroit and Grosse Pointe Woods police officials praised Kiwatkowski for his efforts in spotting the vehicle.

Mayor says experience counts

sue, which he says isn't an issue at all. It's a fact that they needed repair. Graham feels he made good use of some of the Park's talent by asking residents who are civil engineers, financiers and bonding attorneys to evaluate the street repair program that finally secured the $1 million dollar bond issue from the state of Michigan.

The road problem didn't happen in the last two years, according to Graham. It happened through a long period of harsh winters on old roads, a severe economy that caused a cutback in the gas and weight tax, and the added cost to repair and remove elm trees which is also road related.

"In hindsight, maybe we should have been setting aside funds on an annual basis, but this only came into view the last two or three years," says Graham. "The bond issue put out by the state was intended to reduce state-wide the badly damaged streets."

Public safety is definitely an issue, but Graham feels part of the responsibility lay with citizens who should call police when anything looks out of place.

"People don't want to get involved," says Graham. "But police patrol the streets actively and cars usually respond within minutes when called."

He doesn't think citizens will see a total combining of police and fire departments throughout the Pointes.

"You're putting together different talents and you still end up with policemen and firemen," notes Graham.

"In the short run, you can't lay them off and you pay more in salary. As it is now, anytime Grosse Pointe City has a fire, Park fire trucks go on the first alarm," he adds.

As it stands now, he would like to study the issue and take a wait-and-see attitude of how the City handles it.

On the volatile zoning ordinance issue, Graham says he's worked hard to replace the present "archaic ordinance." He voiced disapproval of councilman Anthony Spada who "scared the hell out of most western Parkers by saying council members wanted to encourage multiple high-rise dwellings."

"Current zoning ordinances are so bad that they could put multiple dwellings in extreme density," says Graham. "The ordinance needs to be replaced and tightened to protect us from increasing density to the area."

As far as lending support to current contenders for council seats, Graham supports councilman John Prost for reelection and also feels that challenger David Gaskin would make a capable councilmember.

"We can find all kinds of talent within our city and I plan to tap them in my second term," says Graham.

Octoberfest in Park

Festivities will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Windmill Pointe Park Bath House.

Tickets are $7.50 per person. For information, call 331-4503.

From Grosse Pointe to Los Angeles, Shelley puts fitness first

From those workouts with Cole, and with further contacts through roommate and actor Ned Bellamy, Shelley found himself working with Lee Remick, Brock Peters ("One Life to Live"), Red Shakleford, ("Knot's Landing"); Betsy Russel, ("Private School"), Leslie Uggams and others.

Of all the actors he's met, the nicest by far seemed to be David Keith, ("An Officer and a Gentleman") and Cole. "Extremely nice, down to earth people," said Shelley. "When Cole was in Michigan not too long ago, he called up my parents and talked for an hour telling them how I was doing. His mother lives very close to Grosse Pointe."

Shelley found that the secret to working with movie and TV people was short, intense workouts maximizing output and effort and minimizing time. "They're often on very tight schedules and don't have time for lengthy workouts," said Shelley. "The idea was to schedule them on a shuttle basis. In at 9, out by 9:30. During that half hour we'd really work out, often getting in as much effort as a more leisurely hour and a half at a gym."

Oh yeah, about the bit TV parts and the Arab sheik. Shelley appeared on "Simon and Simon" when the TV crew was in production at an LA college shooting scenes at a track.

"The stars of the series were supposed to be talking while a third guy was running hurdles in the background," said Shelley, with a smile. "Except the guy they'd hired for the hurdles kept tripping and falling on his face. I was just a bystander, but I knew I could do it better. I told the crew chief and they had me fill in. Having won a letter in track at South High School made it a lot easier."

The MTV shot came about when the rock music program came to a health spa to shoot a number and Shelley was busy working out. He was seen exercising in the number and did some dancing with the star of the number, singing her hit "So Many Men, So Little Time."

Finally, the night at the movies with an Arab prince came about when an employe of the prince asked Dave to stand in line at a movie theater and purchase tickets for the potentate who hated standing in line for anything.

"I was there about an hour," said Shelley. "The line was next to a Mexican restaurant, so I ordered some margaritas and drank them from a paper cup. Once inside I saved six seats, bought them some popcorn and had it all waiting when they breezed into the theater.

"They paid me $60 and I got to watch the movie. You couldn't make a steady living at it but it was interesting."

At the moment Shelley teaches aerobics at night in a number of clubs around Grosse Pointe, is teaching weight lighting at South High after school (free to the school system) and coaches those wanting to shape up in private lessons.

A challenge from Heenan

leadership and the lack of sophistication of Park police in thwarting the crime that is crossing the Detroit border and invading the Park in a recent interview.

"I believe that police need to be more visible to deter crime," says Heenan. "Some firemen aren't fully occupied during the day and we should get them out of the fire station, trained and into the streets."

Heenan stopped short of endorsing combining the fire and police departments, but said other communities and unions have accepted it, and the possibility would be studied if he is elected.

Heenan feels there has been lack of leadership and business expertise shown by the council comprised of doctors, lawyers, salesmen, bookkeepers and housewives.

However, he credits councilman Anthony Spada with saving the Park from multiple residential zoning ordinances which "scared the people half to death."

He also feels that council candidate Vernon Ausherman, who Heenan says he recruited, would be qualified to help analyze the budget, and he endorses Spada, who is also running for reelection to council.

Heenan compares running a city to operating a big business and feels that managing his hospitality, restaurant and hotel businesses with more than 300 employees qualifies him for the job.

"I know how to speak to people, organize, budget and achieve objectives," says Heenan. "The city is now being run by ad-hoc committee that isn't responsible to the people."

He cites an example of poor follow-up by council when the street millage was allowed to die at the polls last August because nobody bothered to campaign for its passage and says depending on money from the federal government to pave roads is like depending on a weak reed.

"Somebody goofed in not reserving money for an on-going road program," says Heenan. "We have a tax rate in the range of $16 per thousand and we had to borrow money which will only fix seven of the 15 roads rated in poor condition."

(The tax rate is $16.75 per thousand. Also, city officials say 13 roads will be paved this year.)

He vows to take care of the roads.

"If other communities can do it, I'll find the money," says Heenan who wants to initiate "some kind of zero-based budgeting" as well.

He questioned current Mayor Douglas Graham's true preoccupation with trees since he allowed the city to sell the park-like plot of land across from municipal hall over the objections of some members of the community.

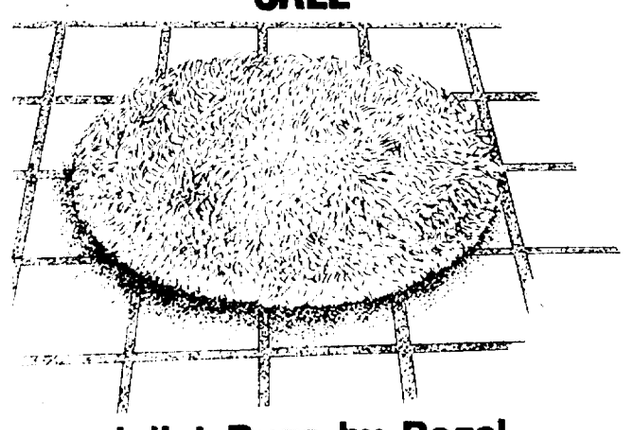

Heenan said he was the initiator of the "Park Page," a political magazine that began publication last spring opposing present council, but that he is no longer associated with it.

When asked why he wants to be mayor after living in the fast-lane of Michigan Republican politics, Heenan said that all of his friends have been districted out and are now gone because of the reapportionment that broke up the 14th district.

"Besides, in the past it was a matter of moving lots of delegates and having lots of contacts," says Heenan.

"I'm tired of being ad-hoc, I can represent the people myself. I am strong," he added.

Scores help students learn from standard tests

Students taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) on Oct. 22, will be able to "learn from their own mistakes" by using information in their score report provided by the College Board, according to Neil Curtis, director of the testing program for both North and South High Schools.

"After taking the PSAT/NMSQT, all students receive a Report of Student Answers which includes the correct answers and their own responses and scores," said Curtis. "They also receive their own test booklets so that they can review the actual questions, see which ones they got wrong, and try to figure out the correct answer and why they may have missed it."

This process can help students learn from their own mistakes by encouraging them to understand the reasoning involved in finding the right answer, an ability which will be useful for future school work. Looking at the kinds of mistakes made on the test can help students identify areas in which they may be weak and need more work.

Before taking the PSAT/NMSQT, students receive a Student Bulletin containing a complete practice test with an answer key and scoring instructions. After the test, they receive a booklet, About Your PSAT/NMSQT Scores, that helps them to interpret their test results and to plan for college.

Other services that enable counselors and other school personnel to better understand and interpret the test results to students and parents include school summaries of students answers, profiles of the academic characteristics and career interests of students taking the test, and a special publication for use with students as part of a general guidance program.

The PSAT/NMSQT is co-sponsored by the College Board and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. Since 1959, more than 26 million students have taken the test, which measures verbal and mathematecal abilities.

By taking the test, students discover how they rank among juniors (or sophomores or seniors) taking the test across the country. It also provides a preview of the College Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), taken by many college-bound students. The PSAT/NMSQT is also the qualifying test for students wishing to participate in competitions of the national Merit Scholarship Corporation.

All aboard for Air Force museum

The Detroit-based Bluewater Michigan Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society is sponsoring an unusual one-day train excursion known as the "Dayton Flyer" on Saturday, Oct. 22.

Highlighting this fall color trip will be a three-hour visit to the U.S. Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton, Ohio.

Founded in 1923, today the museum is the world's oldest and largest such institution devoted to military aviation history with more than 160 air and space craft on display.

These include a 1909 Wright Brothers' "Flyer," World War I fabric covered bi-planes such as the SPAD VII, the type flown by American Ace Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, and a British Sopwith Camel. Many of these airplanes are maintained in flying condition.

Metal bi-planes and fixed landing-gear mono-planes from the 1920-1940 era provide visitors with an insight into the rapid development of aviation when compared to such World War II exhibits as the Boeing B-17 "Flying Fortress" and Curtiss P-40 in "Flying Tiger" colors.

The Air Force Museum is a moving story of aviation history up to the latest jet aircraft, many types of which are still in operational service, such as the Lockheed U-2 "spy-plane" and the Boeing B-52 "Strato-Fortress." More than a million visitors come each year to the musuem and its gift shop and book store, which offer may unusual things to buy and hard-to-find books on aviation.

The "Dayton Flyer" excursion train is also historic. This will probably be the last run for the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, SEMTA, diesel locomotives and coaches built in the 1950's, since this agency is abandoning commuter-rail service.

Part of the "Dayton Flyer's" route will be over the well-known Detroit, Toledo & Ironton, "Henry Ford's railroad," which hasn't seen through passenger train service since 1934.

Paul A. Corrin, Sr., Bluewater Michigan Chapter president, has announced the final schedule to be: departure from Pontiac, Michigan at 6:45 a.m., Birmingham at 7:05 a.m. Royal Oak at 7:20 a.m. and Flat Rock's DT&I yard at 9 a.m. Arrival in Dayton is 2 p.m.

The "Dayton Flyer" will include a refreshment car selling sandwiches, soft drinks and railroad souvenirs and a dining car. Adult tickets are $39.50; children $34.50 and a box lunch is also available for $4.50. Tickets and box lunches must be ordered in advance.

To order tickets and box lunches by mail, send a self-addressed stamped envelope along with your order specifying your desired boarding point and whether smoking or non-smoking accommodations are desired along with a check to the Bluewater Michigan Chapter, P.O. Box 296A, Royal Oak, Mich., 48058; 399-7963.

Tickets are also on sale at the following hobby shops: Train Center of Birmingham, 1880 S. Woodward near 14 Mile and Joe's Hobby Centers: 7845 Wyoming in Dearborn; 17900 E. 10 Mile in East Detroit and 35203 Grand River in Farmington. For more information, telephone 676-1619, 541-5935 or 264-3111.

Mr. Dennison joins staff at Christ Church

Christ Church of Grosse Pointe has announced that the Reverend Bryant W. Dennison, Jr. will become an associate on the staff as of Thursday, Dec. 1.

Mr. Dennison is currently the rector of Holy Family, in Midland. Previously he served churches in Saginaw and Akron. He is a graduate of Oberlin College and the Episcopal Divinity School in Cambridge, Mass. and was ordained a deacon in 1971 and a priest in 1972.

At Christ Church he will share in the general ministry of the parish but will have particular responsibility for pastoral care.

Reverend Dennison and his wife Joyce will live in the Park.

Cider mills open now

Hay-rides, carmel-dipped apples, fresh cider and a pick of pumpkins and apples await visitors to the 120 cider mills listed on the Auto Club's of Michigan's 1983 guide. The mills range from a 150-year-old antique pressing mill with an operating wheel to modern streamlined facilites.

Some offer candle making demonstrations, children's playground equipment and small working trains for tours.

The Michigan Apple Committee predicts that 18 million bushels of apples will be plucked from Michigan orchards this fall. The total is down 22 percent from last year's 23 million bushels, due to a mild winter, a heavy snow the first day of spring, a freeze in May and less rain this summer.

A gallon of cider this fall should be priced from $1.50 to $3.50; a dozen donuts from $1.50 to $3.20, the Auto Club predicts.

Some mills allow customers to bring their own jugs which can save up to 50 cents per gallon, and allow custom pressing for those who bring their own apples.

While most mills allow customers to view pressing operations and many give tours or demonstrations, visitors interested in watching should call ahead for pressing times and dates.

Peace celebrates an anniversary

Peace Lutheran Church, on East Warren Avenue, at Balfour, will observe the 500th anniversary of the birth of Martin Luther with two special events.

On Sunday, Oct. 23, at 11 a.m., the church will celebrate using Luther's Choral Worship Service. Preacher for the day will be Dr. Frederick Niedner, professor of theology at Valparaiso University.

A Luther Hymn Festival, including choral music by choirs and congregation, will be held at Peace on Oct. 30, at 3:30 p.m. Erwin J. Aufdemberge, minister of music, will direct the festival and will play the church's three manual Casavant organ.

Fireside chat set by local Bahais

The topic for this week's Baha'i fireside will deal with the Covenant between God and mankind.

Featured speaker will be Kathryn Wilson. The fireside will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 1390 Whittier in Grosse Pointe Park. There will be an informal discussion following a short presentation.

Refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

Brownell's head joins committee

Bill Christofferson, principal of Brownell Middle School, was recently appointed a member of the Michigan Association of Secondary school principal's curriculum committee.

Among the issues the committee is dealing with is "A Nation at Risk," a report concerning nationwide status of high school programs and the preliminary report of the Michigan Commission on High Schools jointly developed by the Michigan Department of Education and MASSP.

Oxford program is for adolescents

The board of trustees and staff members of The Oxford Institute invite the public to attend the opening of its new Outpatient Adolescent Treatment Program on Thursday, Oct. 27, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., at the facility located at 825 West Drahner Road, in Oxford.

The Oxford Institute is a 60-bed residential and outpatient facility dedicated to the treatment of alcoholism and chemical dependency. Its Outpatient Adolescent Treatment Program is specifically designed to treat adolescents who are experiencing difficulty with alcohol or chemicals. Following assessment, the adolescent and parents begin the intensive outpatient program. Parents play an active role in the treatment process. The Institute is an affiliate of St. John Hospital.

For further information, call 628-0500.

Dinner-dance for heart patients

St. John Hospital's Second Chance Heartline Unit, Inc., is holding its annual awards night and dinner dance on Saturday, Nov. 5, at the Chateau Rouge, 22425 Harper, St. Clair Shores. Doors open at 6:45 p.m. and dinner is at 7:45.

Second Chance is a group of individuals who donate their time to allay the fears of pre- and post-operative patients at St. John Hospital. They visit patients and answer any of their non-medical questions. Membership is open to any cardiovascular patient and their spouse.

This year's guests of honor will be Sister Verenice McQuade, vice-president of Patient and Community Services at St. John; Sister Eleanor Pelzer, chaplain; and Frank Nicholson, past president of Second Chance. Each will be presented with a plaque for the dedication they have shown to the organization.

Tickets are $15 per person and include dinner, beverages, and dancing. For further information and to purchase tickets, contact Joan Chenowith, at St. John, 343-3300, or Russ Santoro, president of Second Chance, at 771-4314.

The Junior Group, an auxiliary to League for the Handicapped-Goodwill Industries, is celebrating its Golden Anniversary this year, and for 35 of those 50 years the Group's major fund raiser has been a spectacular Antiques Show and Sale. It's become an autumn season "event," something for all of us to look forward to, a project with a reputation for fulfilling all its promises.

This year is no exception. The 36th Annual Junior Goodwill Antiques Show and Sale debuts at Fairlane Manor in Dearborn Thursday, Nov. 3, with an invitational 7 to 10 p.m. wine and music preview. It will be open to the public Friday and Saturday, Nov. 4 and 5, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 6, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission donation is $3.50. Ticket information may be obtained by calling 652-0230 or 547-1538.

Over 50 outstanding dealers from far and wide (undoubtedly the farthest and widest away is Gerald Casimir, of London, England) will be exhibiting 18th and 19th century American and English furniture, primitives, toys, jewelry, oil paintings, quilts, clocks, pewter, tin, silver, glass, crystal, et al. Antiques, collectibles and items of quality gathered by Goodwill during the year will be available in Goodwill's own booth.

There'll be a Country Store, stocking unusual items and unique Christmas gifts, baked goods and the homemade jams, jellies, pickles and salad dressings for which the Juniors are famous. The Candy Cane Cafe will feature light lunches and dinners, coffee and desserts, all prepared by Junior Group members. American Country Crafts demonstrations will include lace making, stenciling, weaving, spinning, quilting and basket weaving.

Special features of this year's show are antique appraisals by David Stalker of Stalker and Boos from 1 to 3 p.m. Friday, Nov. 4, and cocktails and music on Saturday evening, Nov. 5. As always, all show proceeds are used to meet the vocational and rehabilitation needs of disabled individuals who are seeking to become self-supporting, contributing members of the community, and to purchase equipment for sheltered workshops and capital improvements to League-Goodwill building facilities.

In the past 50 years, the Junior Group, with excellent support from the community, has raised and contributed almost $2 million to Goodwill Industries and its successor, League-Goodwill. When Grosse Pointe's Jean Taylor Bodkin founded the Juniors in 1933, not even she dreamed they'd be able to make THAT Golden Anniversary statement!

Silver Anniversary Mart

The Holiday Mart to benefit the Planned Parenthood League, celebrating its Silver Anniversary this year, features 22 specialty stores from all over the country at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial today, Thursday, Oct. 20, through Saturday, Oct. 21. Thursday and Friday shopping hours are 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Saturday hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Light lunches are available. There is a general admission fee of $2.

The British Have Arrived!

This fall's Ethnic Enrichment Experience at the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit focuses on the culture and customs of England through Jan. 12, 1984, and features six showcases of English artifacts created by Nora Ashmore, of Lakepointe Avenue, regent of Grosse Pointe's Vincent Massey Chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire.

The program, sponsored by the International Institute and the DBE, introduces students in grades two through five to England Past and Present through active participation in story telling, games, crafts and folk dance. It's held on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at 10 a.m. for groups of 10 to 40 in the Institute's Hall of Nations where, in addition to Nora's showcases, there's a Pictographic Communication Exhibit of more than 250 nonverbal marks, signs and symbols of universal meaning.

During their 90-minute English experience, boys and girls hear Canterbury Tales, learn to dance a hornpipe, do a cobweb card craft, play red rover, beans and barley, hopscotch, oats and animals, and try an English treat. Christmas customs of England will be featured during the month of December.

"British culture has influenced American culture since our country was young," notes Mary Ball, the Institute's executive director. "Like all cultural influences, study of English customs will help students understand American cultural diversity." The Ethnic Enrichment Experience includes a teacher's guide to help prepare the class before coming to the Institute. Admission to the program is 75 cents per child. There is no charge for adults, and one adult for every 10 children should accompany the group.

Reservations are necessary, and should be made at least two weeks in advance by contacting Pamela Stotz at 871-8600. An ethnic lunch can be provided at an additional cost, or space can be provided for brown bag lunches.

A evening to remember . . .

Saturday, Oct. 29, will be an evening to remember, if the Friends of Bon Secours Hospital have their way. That's the date when guests may dance to the Glenn Miller Orchestra, enjoy cocktails and dinner and join in honoring a group of physicians who have served Bon Secours and the community for more than 30 years.

Vincent B. Adams, M.D., James J. Aiuto, M.D., Robert J. Griffin, M.D., Marrion U. Scott, M.D., and Gordon Simpson, M.D., are the physicians to be honored at the black tie event at the Detroit Athletic Club next Saturday evening. Mrs. Hans Gehrke Jr., founder of the Friends of Bon Secours Hospital, will also be recognized for her achievements.

Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m.; dinner at 8:30 p.m. Reservations are limited.

Proceeds from the evening will be directed toward the purchase of Digital Subtraction Angiography equipment, which revolutionizes the medical evaluation of blood vessel diseases. It will cost Bon Secours Hospital $325,000 to acquire this new, high technology equipment.

'A Winter Fashion Palette' . . .

Pewabic hosts 'Colored Clay'

The Colored Clay National Invitational, an exhibit on tour from the Appalachian Center for Crafts in Smithville, Tenn., and, most recently, Pinch Pottery in Northampton, Mass., opens at 76-year-old Pewabic Pottery, located on East Jefferson Avenue across from Detroit's Waterworks Park, on Friday, Oct. 21, and will run there through Thursday, Nov. 17.

Viewing hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and by appointment.

The exhibit illustrates a range of techniques (neriage, nerikomi, millefiori and inlay) by 33 ceramists from 15 states who have made stained clay their hallmark. Rather than treating only the surfaces with color, they add traditional glaze colorants directly to the clay. Many of their pieces are left unglazed, or simply coated with a clear formula.

This process has a long history, but has just recently become widely known and used by contemporary clay artists; Colored Clay is the first exhibition of its kind.

With the efforts of those fine Friends of Bon Secours Hospital, Oct. 29 should indeed be an evening to remember.

'Our Best to You' . . .

Mixing up one of the favorite recipes of 200 Michigan families and the most popular recipes from 25 of the state's best restaurants, including Grosse Pointe's Old Place, Golden Lion, Bronze Door and Anton's, featured in "Our Best to You," the Michigan Cancer Foundation's new cookbook, are MARILYN WEIDENBACH, of Fraser (left), and Pointer DOROTHY STEIGER, who chaired the project and reports that family recipes contributed by MCF volunteers are "home tested over the generations and voted best by hungry children, parents and guests." The restaurant selections are in the "most ordered" category, she adds. "We looked for the 'yummy' quotient. We aimed to please, not dazzle." The 225-page cookbook, a "first" for the MCF, is priced at $6.95, with all proceeds benefiting MCF's regional service centers. It may be obtained through any of the foundation's 6,000 volunteers, at MCF headquarters on East Warren Avenue in Detroit's University/Cultural Center or at any MCF regional center.

AAUW serves literary buffs

The Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women has three study groups to interest literary buffs this year. One is Contemporary Literature, which focuses on outstanding writers of other countries as well as such English language works as "Kane and Abel," "Mists of Avalon" and "Homesick."

Frances Richardson, who chairs this group which meets every fourth Tuesday evening of the month, describes it as for women who wish to "share the best thinking of contemporary writers."

The Book Discussion Group meets the third Tuesday evening of each month, and will review "The Doll Maker," Harriet Arnow's story of the migration of a southern family to Detroit after World War II, in October. November's meeting will focus on Honore De Balzac's "Pere Goriot," the tale of an old man in 19th century Paris who sacrifices everything in order that his family may live a better life.

This group starts off the new year with Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales: The Marriage Trilogy" in January and Toffler's "Third Wave," a sociological commentary on the mechanization of civilization, in February. March will feature Virginia Woolf's "A Room of One's Own." Ayn Rand's "Anthem" will be discussed in April, Stendhal's "The Scarlet and The Black" in May.

Book Discussion meetings are "lively and opinionated, with all points of view expressed," says Patricia Barolo, the group's chairperson.

The third group, Current Books or What Is America Reading?, reviewed Peter Ustinov's autobiography "Dear Me" and his newest work, "My Russia," this month. Other books to be covered during the year include "Growing Up" and "White Mischief" in November and "The Last Lion" in December.

This group of 15-20 members meets the second Monday of the month at 1 p.m. The reviews follow dessert. One of the co-chairpersons is Charlotte Collins.

Pointer ROBERT VERSICAL is among 134 Grand Valley State College of Arts and Sciences students named to the Dean's List for the 1983 winter semester.

A masked ball dance for dance

You can join the Harbinger dancers, the Paul Taylor dancers and friends of dance in Detroit at Harbinger's "Dance for Dance" benefit Wednesday, Oct. 26, at Cheeks on West Eight Mile Road. Party theme is a Halloween Masked Ball. Costumes are optional; masks will be provided for all.

Highlight of the evening will be an auction of fantasy masks, designed by local notables and modeled by Harbinger dancers.

Chairing the event, which begins at 8:30 p.m. and will feature prizes, a gift boutique, a cash bar and — of course! — lots of dancing, are Dotti Doerer, Eleanor Lakin, Mrs. Frank Marra and Ralph A. Graham.

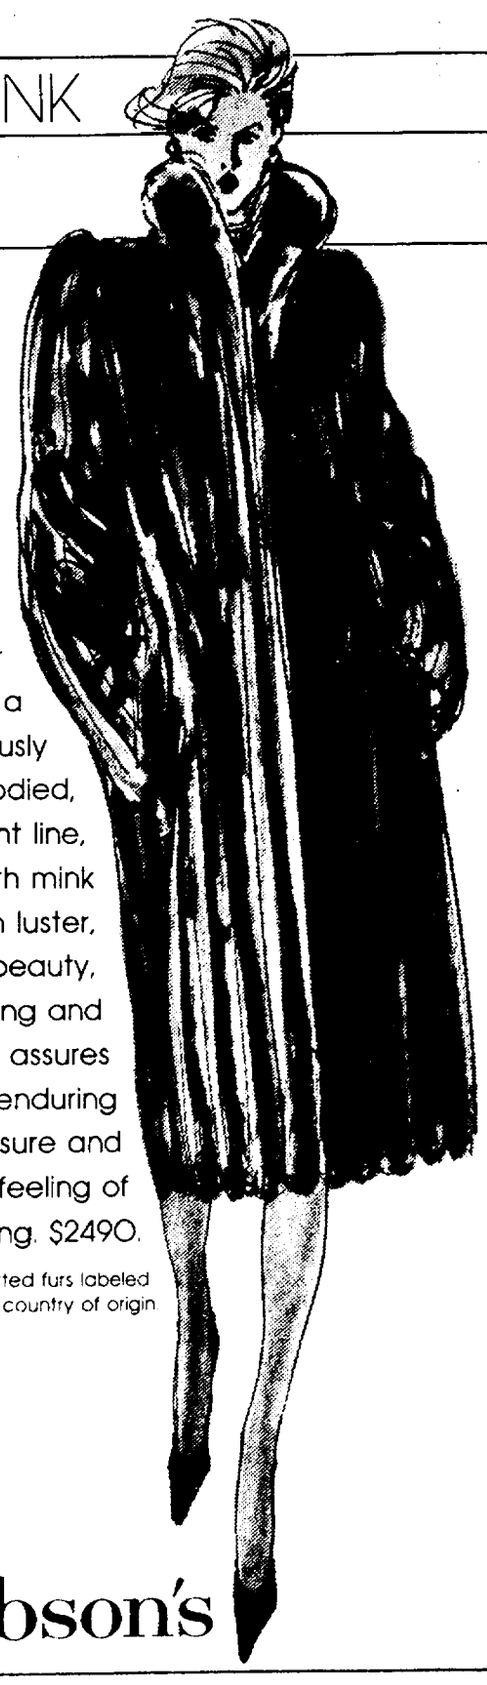

Tickets, at a tax deductible $20, may be purchased in advance (contact Harbinger, 477-7014) or at the door. As a special attraction, members of the Paul Taylor Dance Company will attend as Harbinger's guests; anyone holding a ticket stub for that company's opening night performance at Music Hall is welcome to attend "Dance for Dance" at half-price.

St. Jude Singles set Halloween dance

Saturday, Oct. 29 is the date for the St. Jude Singles Club annual Halloween Dance, from 9 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at the school gym, 15889 East Seven Mile.

Fee for the dance is $4 for members, $5 for non-members and includes beer, pop and snacks. Costumes are optional.

The Community LINC

During this time of steady inflation there are still a few opportunities to beat the high cost of having a good time. The best of this season is the Art and Hors d'oeuvres Fall Benefit for Operation LINC (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community).

Beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 12, at the home of Erv Steiner, volunteers and their guests will enjoy fine food, spirits and the works of many excellent artists. The $10 per person fee enables donors to spend a November evening in the company of friends surrounded by the beauty of fine art. The funds raised will be used by LINC to help in continuing to serve the community.

While guests enjoy the hors d'oeuvres, they may browse among a variety of art media including portraits, watercolors, pen and ink drawings, house portraits, bronze sculpture, glass pottery, marine and architectural paintings and photography. Both local and non-local artists will be on hand to answer questions about their work which will be for sale that same evening. Some of the artists will be Jerry Crowley, Joyce Elliston, Dori Krusz, Gene Pluhar, Bette Prudden, Carol Sinclair, Julie Strabel, Jack Summers and Al Young. Additional artists are being invited and will expand the variety of art selection.

Everyone is invited for this worthwhile and affordable event. For reservations, call Barb Earl at 886-0634. LINC's last Art and Hors d'oeuvres Benefit was a great success and you can help make this one even better.

In addition to the preparation for the Benefit, LINC volunteers and staff have been busy meeting the challenges of the daily needs of the community. Occassionally a miracle occurs and a donation and a need in the community which relate to each other, come into the office almost simultaneously. Following are a few examples of these events.

Project Start-Focus is a community based corrections agency for developmentally disabled ex-offenders. The Project staff called on Sept. 30, requesting pool cue sticks, balls and a rack. On Oct. 4, a donor called with a complete set-up including a slate table and billiard balls.

Out-Wayne County Head Start provides a comprehensive pre-kindergarten experience for children ages 3 to 5 from low income families and those having handicapping conditions. They also service the needs of the families of the children enrolled. On Oct. 3, they requested an electric stove and on Oct. 5, an electric stove was donated. Normally, electric stoves are hard to place because they require electrical wiring which most recipients can't afford to have installed.

Fran Mumma, LINC's Office Coordinator, reported that Chuck Johnson of PACT (Parents And Children Together) asked her if she was a mind reader when she called to see if they could use any draperies and rods. They had discussed a need for those exact items that morning at their staff meeting. Fran noted that this is not the first occassion that this has happened with an organization. PACT is a program involving intervention in low-income families with children who are being replaced in their homes after a period of foster care placement and children whose placement might be imminent. The purpose is to prevent serious problems in the family by using students with a specialty in child development as home counselors who serve as role models.

An interesting placement last month was that of 46 Executone telephones with Metropolitan Detroit Youth Foundation. This is a Torch Drive service agency whose program is designed to give training to young people in clerical and leadership skills to enhance job opportunities. They also have a program to encourage students to remain in school.

The telephones will help in training youth in proper telephone etiquette which is an important aspect of a job search. However, Harry Douglas, Job Developer at the Foundation, called with a problem concerning the cost of installing the phones. LINC needs someone to donate funds or the expertise to get the phones properly installed. If you can help please call the LINC office at 331-6700. Donations of clothing are also needed by this Foundation and are used to help the students present an appropriate appearance which is so vital in obtaining employment.

A Halloween party on Oct. 31, for children ages 7 to 14 is being planned by the Parkside Center (connected with the Department of Parks and Recreation) at 12705 Frankfort. Frank Toomey, Director of the Center, is requesting favors and wrapped, packaged candy for 300-400 children. Because of the potential mess, he does not want any pumpkins. If you can donate favors or treats, please call the LINC office at 331-6700.

LINC column space is provided each month by the Grosse Pointe News as a community service. We are a non-profit, volunteer organization which helps numerous Wayne County agencies and depends on your support.

To volunter or donate usable items, please call us at 331-6700.

Motor City ABWA dines out Oct. 26

The Motor City Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will gather for its monthly dinner meeting this Wednesday, Oct. 26, at the University Club on Jefferson Avenue in Detroit.

The evening's guest speaker will be Ms. Helen Walker, from the Michigan Bell Telephone Company. Ms. Mavourneen Ross, owner of Ashmar Consultants, is the meeting's vocational speaker.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m.; dinner at 6:30 p.m. Reservations must be made by calling Ms. Louise Buck at 399-1590.

Tuesday Musicale opens year

Celebrating almost 100 years in music, the Tuesday Musicale of Detroit will present the first of its season's concerts in the Detroit Institute of Arts Lecture Hall at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 1.

Pianists Linette Popoff, Eleanor Peets and Mary Behnan, contralto Lynn Toth and harpist Patricia Terry Ross will perform in this opening concert. Music Federation Day will also be observed; chairman of the day will be Carol Garvelink and general program chairman is Catherine Goodsell.

The second program is scheduled for Nov. 15 and will feature pianists Ruch Burczyk, Martha Welton, Doris Eubank and Fontaine Laing, soprano Carol Garvelink and flutist Lana Ordman. Jean Ground will serve as chairman of the day.

Works to be performed include Bach, Bizet, Ravel, Enesco and Mendelssohn, as well as Bartok, Handel, Scarlatti, Chopin and Salsedo.

Following both concerts, a mini reception will be held in the foyer to enable guests to greet the artists.

Mary Pardee is the current Tuesday Musicale president.

Toastmistresses attend meetings

Mid-Century Toastmistress Club will attend the Council Four Great Lakes meeting at St. Andrew's Hall Saturday, Oct. 22, in Bricktown, then travel to Windsor Monday night, Oct. 24, for a dinner meeting with the Gateway Toastmistress Club of Windsor.

The organization meets at 9:30 a.m. the first and third Tuesday of the month at the Central Library. Meetings are open to all women interested in developing communication skills. For more information, call 884-4473.

Women's Connection topic: power

The Women's Connection of Grosse Pointe will present Dr. Sallyann Poinsette, Ph.D., Thursday, Oct. 27, at University Liggett School in a discussion titled "Power — Finders Keepers, Users Leaders."

Reservations for the 6:30 p.m. dinner (optional) may be made by calling Bonnie Gibson at 881-0610. Dr. Poinsette's program begins at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Poinsette will address the question of power. She will explain the use and abuse of power, discuss the many myths concerning power and define the differences between personal and organizational power and identify the strategies for each.

Fair in Grace United's future

Grace United Church, located on Kercheval Avenue at Lakepointe, will hold its annual fall fair Friday, Oct. 21, with lunch and dinner served from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mrs. Florence Gottler is in charge of the project. Jewelry, crafts and attic treasures will be featured, along with a variety of homemade goodies: cakes, breads, pies and jellies.

Grand Marais Questers travel

A visit to the Clarkston Mills Mall is on the agenda Friday, Oct. 21, for the Grand Marais Chapter of Questers. Mr. Sadow, owner of Sadow's Auction Gallery, will present a short program on some of his outstanding works of art. Luncheon at the "Cookery" will follow.

Grand Marais members will gather at 9:30 a.m. in the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church parking lot. Chalfonte Avenue and Lothrop Road.

ALICE MORAND JOHNSTON (second from right) is pictured as she dedicates Hutzel Hospital's new Intensive Care Unit in honor of her late husband, William E. Johnston, M.D., philanthropist and civic fund raiser who headed the Department of Surgery at Woman's Hospital (now Hutzel in the Detroit Medical Center) from 1932 to 1952. Among those present at the dedication ceremonies in late September were (from left) FRANK P. IACOBELL, of North Rosedale Court, president, Hutzel Corporation of Michigan, GERHARD C. ENDLER, M.D., of Blairmoor Court, Hutzel Chief of Staff, and MRS. JOHN N. FAILING, of Cloverly Road, a hospital trustee.

La Traviata on film

East side audiences will be treated to the spectacular film version of Giuseppe Verdi's opera "La Traviata," when the film opens tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 21, at 8:15 p.m., at the Esquire Theatre.

The film will be presented in conjunction with a gala red carpet benefit sponsored by the Friends of FLEC and the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association.

"Inspired," probably best describes this latest effort of director Franco Zeffirelli, who admits this production is the realization of a dream which haunted him for two decades. The casting of Teresa Stratas, whom Zeffirelli considers the most expressive singing actress today, with the superb talents of Placido Domingo as Alfredo and Cornell MacNeil as Germont, brings to the screen an enchanting experience.

The score for the opera was recorded in New York by the Metropolitan Orchestra and Chorus under the direction of James Levine. Ekaterina Maximova and her husband Vladimir Vasiliev, from the Bolshoi in Moscow, choreographed the film's ballet scene. Gianni Quaranta designed the sets and Piero Tosi, the costumes.

The movie medium makes for a more spectacular La Traviata than possible with an onstage performance. Using flashback techniques, Zeffirelli performs sheer wizardry in contrasting the two Violettas, one dying and the other, a glamorous radiant hostess enjoying life with a passion.

Fall craft classes underway at DGC

A Wednesday series of fall craft classes running from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. is underway at the Detroit Garden Center, located in historic Moross House on East Jefferson Avenue near Riopelle. Registration fee for each is $5 ($3 for DGC members). Registration information may be obtained by calling 259-6363.

Participants are asked to bring brown bag lunches. Coffee and tea will be furnished.

The series opened Sept. 21 with "Baubles and Beads, Lavender and Silk." Joan Sankovich presented a program on how to create ornaments of the type that adorned Queen Victoria's Christmas tree. Materials fee was $7.50.

Betty Haynes led the Sept. 28 Candlewicking workshop. This form of embroidery, using cotton wicking, is a revival of an old Colonial craft.

Leona Lienau showed Oct. 5 class participants how to fashion a Sweet Gum Ball Wreath, suitable for year-round use with the addition of appropriate decorations, from the woody, spiny balls of the sweet gum tree. Materials fee was $5.

Julie Robinson's Oct. 12 Basket Making class fashioned a napkin basket, using splint and reed construction. Materials fee was $10.

Maggie Dull and Ruth McKinnon joined forces to present an Herb Wreath workshop Oct. 19. Participants dried material to construct a large, fragrant herbal wreath that may be used year-round.

Lucille Stoeck's Oct. 26 Soft Sculpture class will focus on how to create soft, little people from hosiery, fashioning a little old lady pincushion. Materials fee is $5.

The series concludes Nov. 16 with "Decorating with Greens for the Holidays," Sue Abbott, instructor. Participants will make a fresh greens centerpiece that will last through the holidays. Materials fee information may be obtained by calling the DGC.

Sally Reindel wed in June

Sally Louise Reindel wore her mother's wedding gown of bouquet taffeta appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace at the early summer ceremony in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, at which she became the bride of Jeffery Harrison Stallings. Her court train was touched with lace, as was her full length veil. She carried a cascade of white lilies and stephanotis.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Lucinda Buell Reindel, of Neff Road, and George J. Reindell III, of St. Clair Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. James Stallings, of Cincinnati, Ohio, are the bridegroom's parents.

The 5:30 o'clock ceremony Friday, June 3, The Reverend Jeffrey Dugan presiding, was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. The newlyweds vacationed on Eleuthera in The Bahamas. They are at home in St. Petersburg, Fla.

The former Miss Reindel was attended by a sister, Susan Buell Reindel, as honor maid, and by bridesmaids Patricia Rentz, Lori Wood and two University of Michigan classmates, Susan Fox, of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Marc Schaffer, of Camarillo, Calif. Their dresses featured floor length skirts of lime green linen and scallop-necked, cap-sleeved bodices of off-white eyelet, with cummerbunds of lavender satin. Each carried a Colonial bouquet.

David Stallings acted as best man for his brother. Guests were seated by George J. Reindel IV, brother of the bride, Craig Piper, of Ann Arbor, Charles Bell, of Jackson, and Mr. Schaffer.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom both selected cocktail length dresses, the former's of pale lilac chiffon, with a small ruffle at neck and wrists, the latter's a three-quarter sleeved gown of peacock blue silk.

Special guests included the bride's grandparents, Daniel H. Buell, of Winter Park, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Gadd, of Greensburg, Pa., and George Reindel Jr., of Detroit, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John A. McCormick, of Detroit.

More were the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. George Jeffers, of Harrisburg, Pa., his brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth McIntyre, of Tucson, Ariz., his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Reindel (the name is really a coincidence, as the William Reindels are not related to the bride's family), of Woodcliff Lake, N.J., and a cousin, Mrs. William Schmitt, and her daughter, Peggy, of Cincinnati.

Star of Sea rites for Amy Sutton

Our Lady Star of the Sea Church was the setting Saturday, July 23, for the 5:30 o'clock wedding of Amy Lane Sutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Sutton Jr., of Sunningdale Drive, and Michael Edward Adelson, son of Mildred Adelson, of White Plains, N.Y., and Leo Adelson, of East Lansing.

After a dinner reception at the Detroit Golf Club, the newlyweds left for a 10-day vacation in Acapulco, Mexico. They are at home in East Windsor, N.J.

Honor maid Lisa Nixon and bridesmaids Lesley Hutcheon, Lisa Thomas, Mary Povlitz and Sue Metzger, all of The Pointe, wore dresses of pink taffeta. They carried nosegays of carnations, Sweetheart roses and orchids in shades of pink, and tucked pink carnations in their hair.

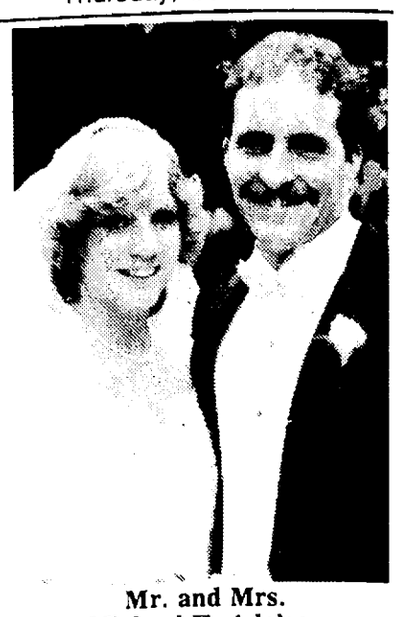

Flower girl Wendy Adelson, the bridegroom's sister, in a long, pink organdy dress, carried a basket of pink flowers.

Best man was John Hubert Clough, of Saginaw. The bride's brothers, Clyde J. Sutton III and Barry Sutton, and James Houthoofd, of Mount Clemens, and Jeffery Mitchner, of East Lansing, ushered.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom both selected floor length dresses of chiffon, the former's deep pink in color, the latter's pink, white and gold-striped. Their corsages were orchids.

The former Miss Sutton, a Grosse Pointe North High School graduate, attended Michigan State University and is now majoring in Accounting at Rutgers University. The bridegroom, a graduate of East Lansing High School and Michigan State University, is employed by Revlon Corporation in New Jersey.

Gather Garden Club Council

The Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council will meet this Tuesday, Oct. 25 at 9:30 a.m. in the Grosse Pointe Public Library's main branch on Fisher Road. All garden club presidents and representatives are invited to attend.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Joseph Nerone, a recent recipient of an environmental scholarship to Higgins Lake. These scholarships are available each summer through the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan and the Michigan Division of Farm and Garden. Those interested in such scholarships are also welcome to attend this meeting.

Huth-Mascarin vows exchanged

Hilton Head, S.C., was the vacation destination of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hunter Huth following their marriage Saturday, July 9, at St. Paul's-on-the-Lake Church. The 2 o'clock ceremony at which Father Ron Alder presided was followed by an afternoon reception at the bride's parents' home and an evening reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The newlyweds will make their home in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Mrs. Huth, the former Catherine Ann Mascarin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Telesforo Mascarin, of Webber Place, chose a long white satin gown with a drop waist and scoop neck. The bodice of the gown was beaded with Alencon lace; the sleeves with re-appliqued lace. Scalloped, beaded Alencon lace bordered the cathedral length train and accented the bride's Juliet cap which held her three-tiered, cathedral length, illusion veil.

Honor matron Debbie Musselman, of Denver, Colo., a sister of the bride, honor maid Susan Mascarin, another sister, and bridesmaids Camille Huth, of Pittsburgh, Pa., a sister of the bridegroom, Kim Gryka, Elizabeth Harvey and Janice Whipple, were dressed identically in long, blue taffeta skirts tied at the waist with yellow satin ribbons, and short sleeved white linen blouses. Each carried an arrangement of long-stemmed daisies.

Henry Huth came from Chicago, Ill., to act as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Huth, of Elkhart, Ind. Ushers included another brother, Zachary Huth, of Elkhart, Drew Mascarin, a brother of the bride, Tim Nolan, Tom Dietch, of Tampa, Fla., and John Banks, of Elkhart.

Mrs. Paul H. Huth

Lutheran High North to feature antiques

Thirty-five metropolitan area dealers will be exhibiting in "Christmas in the Country," the eighth annual autumn antique show and sale at Lutheran High North, located on 24 Mile Road in Mount Clemens, running from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22, and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 23.

Luncheon and dinner will be served Saturday, dinner on Sunday. Additional attractions include food and craft booths, demonstrations and a Sunday afternoon talk by Cloan Smith on "Decorating Your Home with Antiques." Admission donation is $1.

Genealogical night in St. Clair Shores

Anna Frances Houston, of the Elizabeth Bienaime Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will talk about the DAR's organization, purposes, research facilities and membership requirements at a free, open-to-the-public meeting of the St. Clair Shores Genealogy Group next Thursday, Oct. 27, at 7 p.m. at the St. Clair Shores Public Library, corner of 11 Mile Road and Jefferson Avenue.

Reservations are not necessary. Genealogical charts and booklets are on sale before and after the monthly group meetings, and advice for beginners is readily available.

Kelley comes to Woman's Club

The Grosse Pointe Woman's Club members and guests will meet Wednesday, Oct. 26, in the Crystal Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial at 12:30 p.m. to hear the afternoon's speaker, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley. He will be introduced by the president, Mrs. Milan J. Alexander.

Kelley was appointed Attorney General on Jan. 2, 1962, elected to a full term in November of that year, and has been re-elected six times since then. He was the first state Attorney General to create a Consumer Protection Division and an Organized Crime Division. Both set the pattern for similar divisions in other states. His Medicaid Fraud Unit is recognized as one of the best and most successful in the country.

Kelley was one of Michigan's first public officials to urge tighter controls over lobbyists. In a series of important opinions, he also helped pave the way for Michigan's open meeting and freedom of information act. Kelley also has issued many historical legal opinions, and has received wide recognition for "calling them as he sees them." He is the only Michigan Attorney General to be elected President of the National Association of Attorneys General.

Kelley has received numerous public awards, including "First Amendment Award" from the Associated Press, the Great Citizens Award from the Michigan Association of the Professions and the President's Award of the Michigan Society of Planning Officials, in appreciation of outstanding contributions to the preservations of our environment. In 1983, he was selected as Man of the Year by the Police Officers Association of Michigan for outstanding service.

Flowers in autumn tones will beautify the tea table. The ladies who will pour are the Mesdames Lampton Cardwell, Joseph Michalak and Jack Thorpe.

Mrs. Raymond Duffy will act as hostess of the day. She will be assisted by the Mesdames Gordon Cameron, Russell Cushing, Philip Davis, Lee Garrett, Archie Jones, J. Rae LeRoy, Joseph Miriani, Elliott Shumaker and Robert Smith.

Howe Military School cadets honored during the school's annual awards ceremony included Cadet THOMAS W. GRIERSON, son of MR. and MRS. WILLIAM O. GRIERSON, of The Woods; and Cadet EDWARD D. STAIR, son of MR. and MRS. E. DOUGLAS STAIR, of The Park. Grierson received a medal for the outstanding thespian; Stair earned the Father Jennings medal for All Points Championship.

Mothers of Twins set clothing sale

The Eastern Bi-County Mothers of Twins Club will conduct its fall clothing and equipment sale this Saturday, Oct. 22, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., at St. Peter's School on Anita in Harper Woods, just east of Eastland Center, off Vernier Road.

Clothing in infants' through teens' sizes will be offered, along with children's furnishings and equipment, toys, and maternity wear.

The sponsoring organization was founded in August, 1981, to serve the needs of area multiple-birth mothers, by encouraging friendship and mutual support among mothers of twins or triplets. The club provides a forum for the exchange of ideas and experiences in raising multiple-birth children, and offers assistance in resolving the special problems that may arise because of the unique relationship between twins, and between twins and their siblings.

The group offers a clothing and equipment exchange at its monthly meetings, along with speakers, programs and outing scheduled throughout the year. It is a member club of the Michigan Organization of Mothers of Twins Clubs, and is open to any mother of multiple-birth children. Inquiries from expectant mothers of twins and triplets are also welcome.

Ever since the presidency of Mrs. Lory Bachrach, it has been traditional each year for the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe to send a high school student to France for summer study, round trip air fare included. Dr. Antoine Nahoum, who received an Alliance award in his youth, is usually chairman of the scholarship project.

The winner of the 1983 scholarship competition, Charles Raffoul, whose French teachers are Richard McMullen and Evo Alberti, made his trip to Paris this summer. "I enjoyed my time this summer studying at the Alliance Francaise in Paris," Raffoul said. "The students there have such diverse backgrounds . . . it's great to learn to communicate with everyone in the French language."

The $7.50 donation for "Le Bingo,' includes the social hour and one bingo card. Cash prizes will be awarded following each game. There will also be a raffle held in connection with the fund raiser. Prizes include a color television, microwave oven and a basket of assorted French wines.

Josephine Wunsch to lead workshops

Park resident Josephine Wunsch will conduct sessions at the 22nd Annual Writer's Conference co-sponsored by the Oakland University Division of Continuing Education and Detroit Women Writers tomorrow and Saturday, Oct. 21 and 22, on Oakland's Rochester campus. Mary T. VandenBussche

June wedding plans are made

The engagement of Mary Therese VandenBussche and James Nelson Clor has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert VandenBussche, of Holiday Road. A late June wedding is planned.

The bride holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Dietetics from Mercy College. She is a member of the American Dietetic Association.

Mr. Clor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Clor, of Wilmington, Dela., holds a Bachelor of Science degree in management from the University of Detroit, where he was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

JULIUS J. HUEBNER Jr., M.D., son of MR. and MRS. JULIUS J. HUEBNER, of Lakeland Avenue, was among June graduates of the University of Michigan School of Medicine.

Michelle Anne Mourad

Winter wedding date is set

The engagement of Michelle Anne Mourad and David Paul DeFour has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger P. Mourad, of Shelden Road, who hosted a dinner at their home in July to celebrate the announcement.

Miss Mourad was graduated from Grosse Pointe North High School and the University of Michigan. She is a registered nurse, employed in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at St. John Hospital.

Mr. DeFour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. DeFour, of Detroit, is an alumnus of Notre Dame High School, Washtenaw Community College and Northern Michigan University. He is a registered respiratory therapist at St. John Hospital.

The pair plan a mid-January wedding.

Rosin-Harvey troth is told

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Harvey, of Lansing, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ruth, to Richard Russell Rosin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rosin, of Lakeshore Lane. The wedding is planned for next August.

Miss Harvey, a J.W. Sexton High School graduate, is a student at the University of Michigan. Her fiance, a graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, holds Bachelors and Masters degrees from the University of Michigan.

Spring wedding vows are made

St. Clare of Montefalco Church was the setting Saturday, May 7, for the wedding of Mavourneen Mary O'Donoghue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. O'Donoghue, of Bedford Road, and Daniel Aloysius Currie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Currie Jr., of Drexel Hill, Pa.

Father William McGuire, of Villanova University officiated at the 1 o'clock ceremony wtich was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. The newlyweds vacationed in Toronto and are at home in Carolina Beach, N.C.

The bride's white satin gown featured a white lace bodice inset and collar and was trimmed with satin covered buttons, lace and pearls. Tiny pearls covered the cap which held her matching lace veil. She carried a bouquet of pink and white silk flowers.

Honor maid Deidre Fahey O'Donoghue, of Chicago, Ill., a sister of the bride, and bridesmaids Anne Nurrie, of Drexel Hill, a sister of the bridegroom, and Donna Biette, of Wilmington, N.C., wore dusty rose satin dresses and carried bouquets of light and dark pink silk flowers.

Best man was Michael Clabbers, of Langehorn, Pa. Ushers included the bride's brother, Dennis O'Donoghue and the bridegroom's brother, John F. Currie III, of Bryn Mawr, Pa.

The mother of the bride pinned a corsage of pink and white rosebud silk flowers to her beige lace dress. The bridegroom's mother chose an aqua silk gown; her silk flower corsage was fashioned of aqua and white rosebuds.

The newlyweds are employed as chemical engineers for DuPont in Wilmington, N.C.

French toasts for the Johns

Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm Johns, of Rivard Boulevard, were greeted by 36 admiring colleagues, students and friends at an intimate dinner at Le Cafe Francais on the last Wednesday in September. It was a surprise party, planned to celebrate the musical gifts Professor and Mrs. Johns have given to the metropolitan Detroit community.

Dr. Johns marked his 50th anniversary as a church musician and organist on Oct. 1 — the day before he and Marian celebrated their 41st wedding anniversary.

The guests all contributed to the Endowment Fund for the Malcolm and Marian Johns Scholarship Chairs in the Choir at Old Christ Church, Detroit. The five-course French dinner was, of course, accompanied by much conversation and many appropriate toasts.

Send more than Greetings at Christmas!

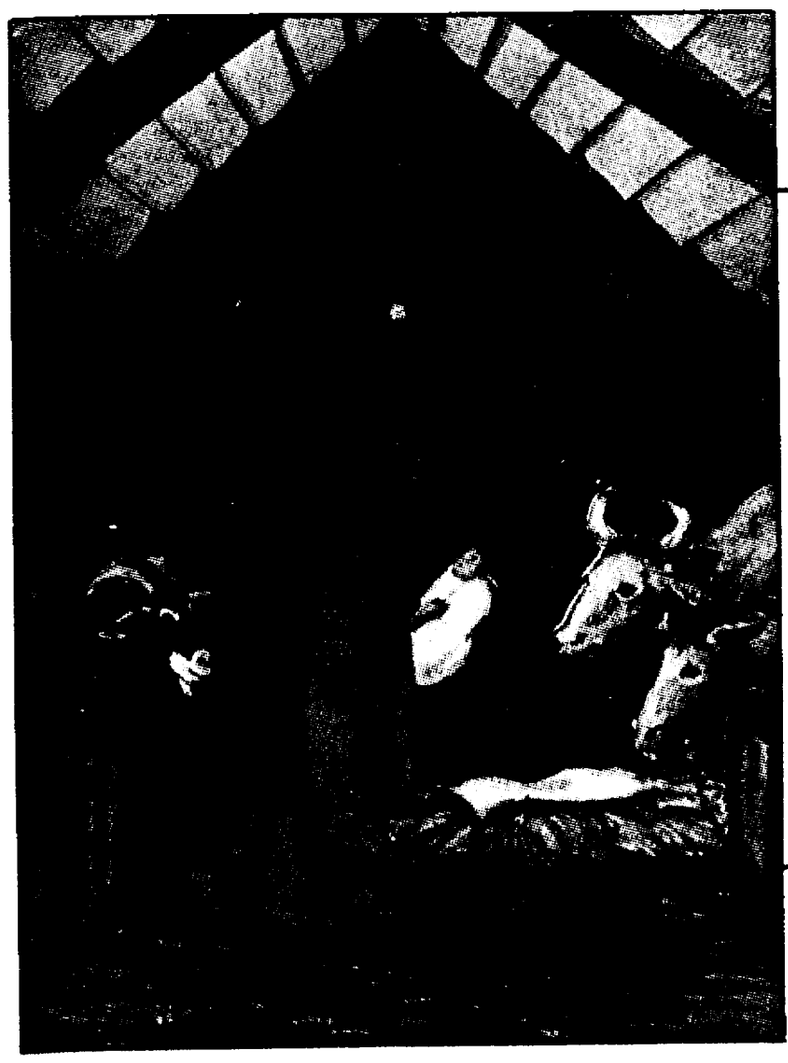

St. Jude Hospital

St. Jude Research Hospital has three different cards for this season. At right is the etching of St. Jude, which sell for $4.50 per 10 cards. Prices for the other cards are $5.50 and $6.50 for a package of 10. For more information, call ALSAC at 843-5880 or write ALSAC, Greater Detroit chapter, 9339 West Fort Street, Detroit 48209.

American Cancer Society

The American Cancer Society offers 12 different card selections this year, ranging from traditional to religious and contemporary themes. Prices range from $7.50 to $12 for a box of 25 and imprinting is available. An illustrated brochure and order form is available by calling the society at 557-5353.

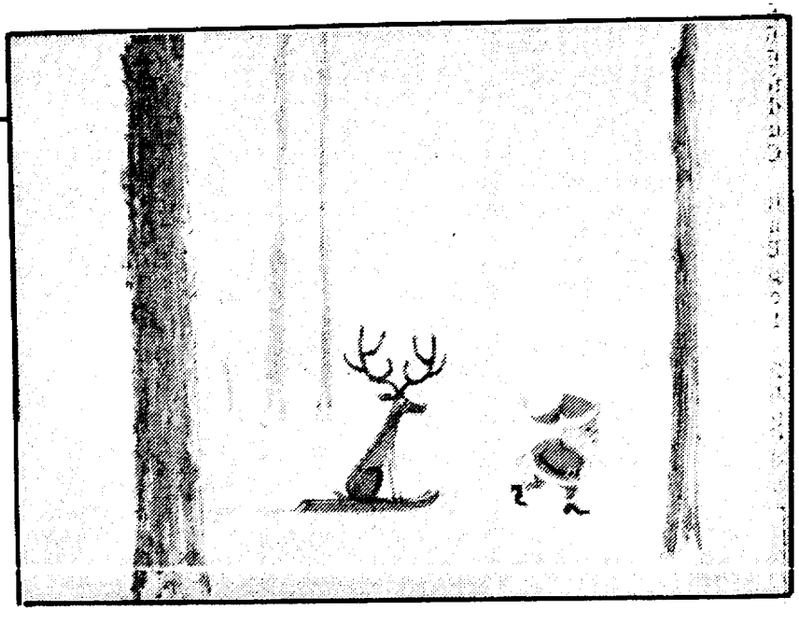

Exceptional Children

A traditional Madonna and child is the Christmas card this year from the Foundation for Exceptional Children. Cards are $6.25 per 25-count package. To order, call the Foundation between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. at 885-8600 weekdays, for an order and imprint form.

American Lung Association

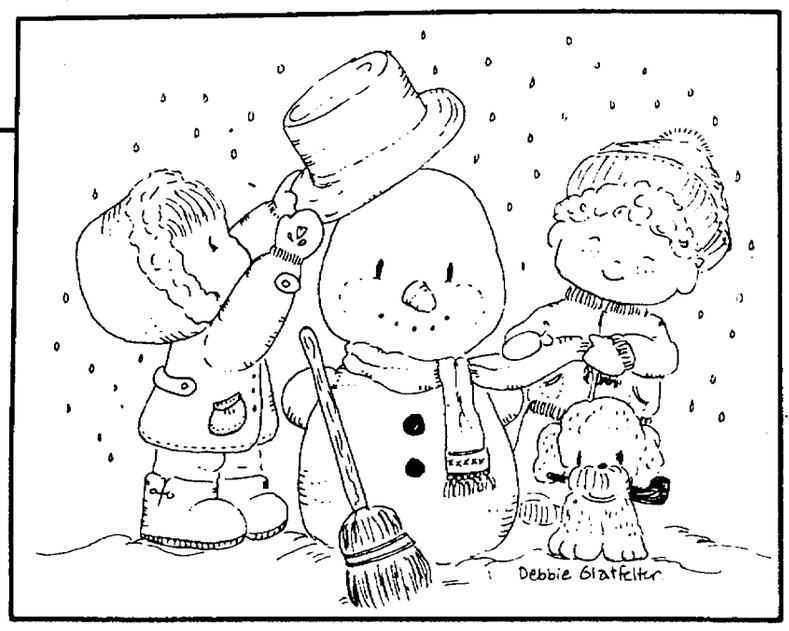

Ten different cards are available this season from The American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan. Prices range from $8 to $16 with imprinting available. Deadline for ordering is Dec. 9. For a brochure and order form, call ALASEM at 961-1697 or write the association at 28 West Adams, Detroit 48226.

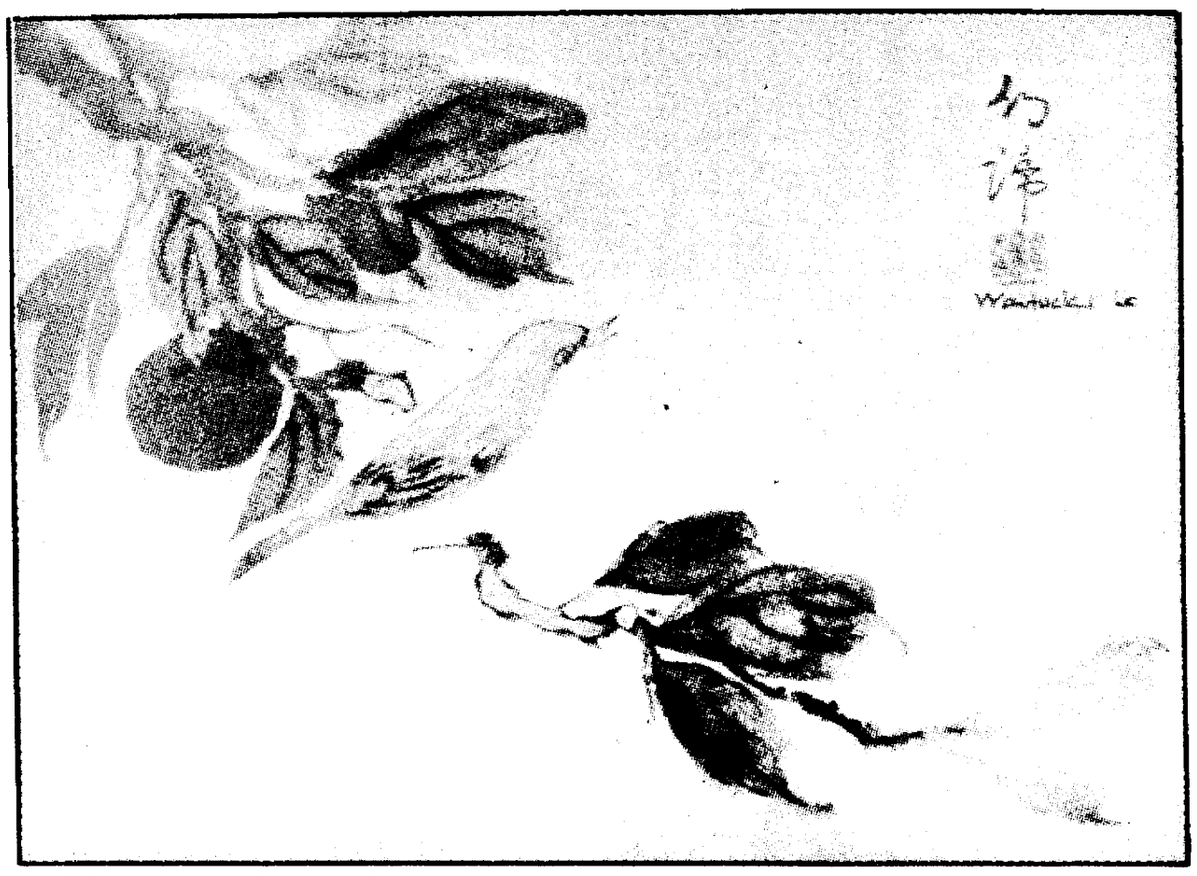

Arthritis Foundation

Madonna and Child, left, by artist Sandro Botticelli, (1445-1510), is one of six patterns offered by the Arthritis Foundation. Traditional and contemporary styles are also available. Prices per box of 25 run from $8.25 to $13.25. For an ordering brochure, write the foundation at 23400 Michigan Avenue, Suite 605, Dearborn 48124, or call 561-9096.

Reye's Syndrome

Reye's Syndrome Association is offering two cards this season. At right is a return pattern from two years ago. The other is a pen-and-ink with religious theme. Both are available in 20 count packages by calling 1-546-6425, or writing the foundation at P.O. Box 1323, Berkley Mi, 48207-0323.

Myasthenia Gravis Association

The above is one of three cards offered by the Myasthenia Gravis Association this year. Others include Mary and Child and Winter Scene. For samples of the cards, contact the Association at 6131 West Outer Drive, Detroit 48235, or call 342-5939. Cards are priced at $8 for a package of 25.

Pointer of Interest

By Peggy O'Connor

George Coury, first vice-president of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Society, did what any average, red-blooded, American boy would do: he gave up a two-year "career" on the violin to play baseball.

He was pretty good at baseball; if it hadn't been for Coury's astigmatism problem, the Boston Red Sox would have drafted him as a catcher from American Legion baseball. Coury's wife, Lily, claims he played baseball right up until his retirement in 1980. But the violin was another story, Coury says. He quit that for good.

"I really don't think I'll be taking up the violin again," Coury laughs. "I hear so many good violinists, that would just discourage me."

George Coury has indeed heard many a good violinist, because music is a third in his heart only to wife Lily and grown children Chris and Melissa, and sports. "I have always loved music, been involved in it. Lily and I attend Ruth Kaiser-Scherer's 'Meet the Masters' lectures in the main library.

"I enjoy classical music, by far. It gives you much satisfaction and unlike athletics, music never lets you down."

And George Coury, Lily says, has never let music down. Particularly now, in his role of first vice-president and top program advertising salesman of the G.P. Symphony Society. "He comes from a very musical family," Lily says, "and he's always made a lot of people conscious of listening to good music."

GEORGE COURY comes from more than a musical family; he comes from an active one, as well. Born on the east side, he attended the Old Trombly School on East Jefferson and finished his high school studies at Grosse Pointe High in 1934. ("He was a Mothers' Club Scholarship recipient," Lily tells visitors proudly.)

After majoring in accounting and business administration at Wayne State University, Coury worked for various local firms as an accountant, finished a stint in the United States Army by retiring as a Lieutenant Colonel in U.S. Military Intelligence and finally retired in 1980 from his position of weapons systems manager with the Defense Department.

For a time, he operated the Coury-family owned Island Park Hotel on LaBelle Avenue in Highland Park and also served for 17 years as church-school superintendent of the St. George Eastern Orthodox Church in Detroit. He also was active in the present Trombly School's PTA and Boy Scout programs.

GEORGE COURY, OF PEMBERTON ROAD, FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE GROSSE POINTE SYMPHONY SOCIETY.

Through it all, his two main loves, sports and music, have continued to thrive. Coury often ventures over to Grosse Pointe Community Rink to watch the kids play hockey and takes in many of the Little Caesars Midget team games his son coaches. And then there's the music.

"The Grosse Pointe Symphony program keeps me pretty busy for a couple of months out of the year, although I also belong to the Cinema League and the Senior Men's Club. And there was that trip to Lebanon I took last year, my first overseas trip . . ."

Coury actually got involved with the G.P. Symphony through Lily Coury. "It was accidental, really. Lily has always been a devotee of music and she acquired more interest because of her involvement with the Symphony Women's Association and the Detroit Symphony. And I acquired more interest because of her.

"A neighbor recommended me for the Symphony Society Board and I just moved up from there," Coury says.

AS FIRST vice-president under G.P. Symphony Society Board president Russell Nahat (who also plays in the orchestra), Coury is responsible for plenty — just as the Board itself is. The Board handles selection of guest artists for concerts, concert publicity, and advertising and most importantly, encourages ticket sales. That's where Coury comes in.

"Parcells is a big auditorium. We usually get around 500 for a G.P. Symphony concert . . . that's great, but we'd really like to fill the place. I'd especially like to see some of the younger people there.

"I feel we offer an outstanding community orchestra. Our programs are truly professional, even though the makeup is largely community-oriented. The soloists are varied . . . there's something for everyone. And how can you beat meeting the artists at a post-concert reception?," Coury says.

Coming from a man who has been involved in as much as George Coury has, that's not a bad recommendation.

The Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra, Felix Resnick, conductor, will open its 1983-84 season Nov. 6, with a 3:30 p.m. performance by pianist Jonathan Shames, a finalist in the Moscow Piano Competition. Clarinetist Brian Schweickhardt will perform Feb. 12, 1984; violinist Suzanne Lai Leon, March 25; and Grosse Pointe Piano Competition winner Leszek Andrzej Bartkiewicz, May 6. All performances begin at 3:30 p.m. Sundays in Parcells School Auditorium and are followed by a reception.

Membership in the G.P. Symphony Society is $500 for benefactor, $100 for sponsor, $50 for patron, $40 for sustaining, $16 for active and $6 for student. Single concert prices are $5 for adults, $2 for students. Tickets are available at the door or may be obtained by calling 886-6244.

Get your Girl Scout calendar

Michigan Metro Girl Scouts are taking orders now for 1984 wall calendars and pocket planners. The annual Girl Scout Calendar Sale runs Nov. 11 to 20, and the council's 26,500 scouts hope to sell 310,000 calendars this year, breaking last year's record sale of 296,000.

The wall calendar and pocket planner are priced at $1.25 each. Both feature a full square of writing space for each day of the week plus plenty of space for recording business appointments, school assignments and social engagements. The calendars and pocket planners make ideal Christmas gifts. Proceeds from their annual sale help to finance troop activities and service projects.

Among Pointe volunteers assisting with the sale are Park resident Peg Lewis, area manager in charge of 18 neighborhoods, and neighborhood managers Joyce Payne, of The Woods, and Marygrace Britt, of The City.

Safest Halloween fun for the young

Pre-schoolers through 11-year-olds can enjoy the fun of Halloween in a safe environment this year via a 6 to 7:30 p.m. Halloween party at the Macomb YWCA, located on Stephens in East Detroit, on Halloween night: Monday, Oct. 31. There will be costume competition, games and a bag of treats for each child. YWCA members may attend for $3, non-members for $5, but registration is limited and should be made in advance by calling 772-4435.

Convene School of Government

The School of Government, founded in 1943 by the late Mrs. Wilbur Brucker, whose husband served as Governor of Michigan and Secretary of the Army under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is celebrating its 43rd anniversary with Mrs. Harry Taylor as its new president.

The organization, formed to inform its membership on important and current issues in economics, the science of government and social and cultural changes taking place on state and national levels, meets the fourth Wednesday of each month. Meetings are open to the public.

Over 70 members and friends of the School heard Eric J. Schneidwind, chairman of Michigan's Public Service Commission, speak on Sept. 28 at the Detroit Athletic Club.

Annette Miller, member of the State Board of Education, will discuss "The Perils Facing Public Education" at a meeting next Wednesday, Oct. 26, at Plum Hollow Golf Club. Guests are welcome at the luncheon program. Further information may be obtained by calling 824-7467.

Christ Church Seniors to meet

Christ Church Seniors and their guests will cross the border to visit Amherstburg, Ontario, next Thursday, Oct. 27. The seniors will spend the day visiting the town's historic buildings, then gather for lunch at the Navy Yard restaurant.

Interested seniors should contact the church office at 885-4841 by this Monday, Oct. 24, to make car pool arrangements.

Macomb spotlight on arts and crafts

More than 90 southeastern Michigan artisans will display and sell their work Friday, Oct. 21, from noon to 8 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 22, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Saint Issac Jogues Church Hall, located in St. Clair Shores at 10 Mile Road, just west of Harper. Admission is 25 cents at the door.

The Saint Isaac Jogues Woman's Club is hosting this largest arts and crafts show in Macomb County for Right to Life-Lifespan, Inc. Items for holiday and year-round giving will be featured, including numbered Collectors Plates in limited editions, quilted pieces, dolls, aprons, macrame and woodcrafts. There will be refreshments, a bake sale and special raffles.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a BEVY of BEAN DISHES.

BEAN MEDLEY

1/2 lb. wax beans, cooked, drained
1 lb. green beans, cooked, drained
1 cup chopped onions
1/2 large sweet red pepper, finely chopped
2 Tbsp. margarine
1/2 tsp. Spike seasoning salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
2 Tbsp. parsley, chopped (opt.)

Prepare beans, set aside, keep warm. Melt margarine in skillet; saute onion and red pepper until crisp-tender, 8 to 10 minutes. Add beans and seasonings. Blend gently. Pour into serving dish, garnish with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

GREEN BEANS WITH MUSTARD SAUCE

2 pkgs. frozen green beans
2 Tbsp. prepared mustard
1/2 tsp. paprika
1/4 tsp. garlic salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
2 Tbsp. margarine

Cook beans according to package directions. In a small saucepan, combine the rest of the ingredients. Heat slowly; when hot, pour over freshly-drained, hot green beans. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Calories per serving about 55. Cholesterol 0.

SPANISH GREEN BEANS

3 Tbsp. margarine
1 Tbsp. whole wheat flour
1-1/2 cups tomato juice
4 cups cooked green beans, drained
1 cup grated low-calorie Cheddar cheese
1 onion, minced
1 green pepper, finely chopped
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 cup whole wheat bread crumbs

Melt 2 Tbsp. margarine in skillet and stir in the flour. Gradually blend in the tomato juice. Bring to a boil, stirring, and cook until thickened. Combine beans, cheese, onion, green pepper, salt and pepper and mix well. Pour into an oiled baking dish. Cover with the tomato juice mixture. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and dot with 1 Tbsp. margarine. Bake in a preheated 275° oven for about 45 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Calories per serving about 108. Cholesterol about 14 mgs.

GREEN BEANS WITH SHALLOTS

2 lbs. green beans
2 Tbsp. margarine
2 Tbsp. minced shallots
Salt and freshly ground pepper

Steam or boil beans briefly until crisp-tender. Drain well and set aside. Melt margarine in skillet over medium heat. Add shallots and saute until golden. Add beans, salt and pepper and toss lightly until heated through. Makes 8 servings.

Calories per serving 59. Cholesterol 0.

BASQUE-GREEN BEANS

1 lb. fresh green beans
2 Tbsp. vegetable oil
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 large onion, chopped
1 lb. tomatoes, peeled, coarsely chopped
1/4 tsp. salt
Black pepper to taste
1/8 to 1/4 tsp. oregano

Cut green beans in 1-inch pieces; bring to boil in lightly salted water for about 5 minutes; drain; set aside.

In large kettle, saute garlic and onion until the onion is translucent. Add the chopped tomatoes with all their juice; simmer for a few minutes. Add green beans to tomato sauce (there should be just enough liquid to almost cover the beans). Add more water if necessary. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Stir in oregano and salt with pepper to taste. Cook the beans a few minutes longer before serving to 6.

Calories per serving about 79. Cholesterol 0.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Just wondering . . .

• Now that Little Caesar's pizza King Mike Ilitch owns the Detroit Red Wings and Domino's pizza magnate Tom Monaghan has purchased the Detroit Tigers, I'd like to see the Park's Mama Rosa's Pizzeria buy the Detroit Lions.

On second thought, forget it. I don't think the Park council would let the Lions play in Mama Rosa's parking lot.

• If they did buy the Lions, Mama Rosa's could rename the team the "Pontiac Pizza Men." That ought to keep State Sen. Basil Brown happy . . . and keep him from trying to introduce legislation prohibiting sports and entertainment ventures from using the names of cities they don't play in, in particular the Lions. That's what he's been doing, according to published reports.

Except that they'd have to be called the Park Pizza Men and knowing the Lions, they'd take 40 minutes to complete a play and instead of losing the ball, they'd forget the address or something like that.

• I don't know about you, but I'm sure glad the World Series is over. After an exciting pennant race, the 10-game playoff-World Series combination was really anticlimactic (spell that B-O-R-I-N-G). The biggest challenge of the World Series was not whether Baltimore pitching would stop the Phillies, or whether the ancient Phillies' arteries would stop hardening long enough for the event . . . but whether America could stay awake long enough for the thing to be completed.

• Speaking of baseball, I'm sure glad the Detroit Tigers put on that season-ending stretch drive, just in time to sweep three games from Baltimore and cement their hold on second place (not to mention tighten their grip on around $3,000 per man, Detroit's share of World Series receipts for finishing in second place.)

• Still speaking of baseball, I'd like to see Bill Lajoie, the Tigers' new general manager, try to pull a fast one over on the Kansas City Royals and trade Kirk Gibson, Aurelio Lopez, Dave Rozema, Lynn Jones and Tom Brookens to K.C. for George Brett and Dan Quisenberry. I think the Royals would go for it. (Sure, and my grandmother plays middle linebacker for the Dallas Cowboys).

• That reminds me: Why are football fans forced to watch the Cowboys week in and week out on television? It's getting a little boring, watching all that winning, all that coming from behind with one second left kind of stuff, all that perfect execution of beautifully-designed football plays. You call that football?

• Notice how nobody makes a big deal about the Detroit Lions' poor attendance so far this year when they couldn't stop talking about how lousy the Tiger attendance was early this season?

• And I don't know whether to feel glad or sad when Lions' fans give a standing ovation to an incompletion like they did in last Sunday's win over Chicago. Lion quarterback Eric Hipple handed off to fullback James Jones, who tossed the ball back to Hipple — who just barely missed hitting wide receiver Leonard Thompson with a long touchdown pass. A nice change of pace, yes, but it's kind of scary that local football fans are so deprived that a missed pass is a thrill. What's next: fans chanting "recover that fumble!"?

ULS wins tennis, soccer titles

Seven Class C-D high schools competed in Birmingham at the Michigan High School Athletic Association Girls' Regional Tennis Tournament, Oct. 14, and University Liggett School, with 21 points, emerged as the winning team.

On a day better designed for either iceboating or dogsledding, the Lady Knights managed to defeat wild and blustery winds, freezing cold air and their opponents, to advance to the state championship on Oct. 21 at Eastern Michigan University.

Detroit Country Day School was the site of the regional tournament, and the host Yellow Jackets of DCDS finished in the runner-up position. The Lady Knights won all seven flights in the tournament, and were again led by their five fabulous shotmaking seniors. "Our seniors have done an exceptional job all season long," commented coach George "Rev." Andrews. "They are a talented group of players, and a wonderful bunch to coach."

No. 1 singles standout Paula "Mighty" Mighion used her Martina Navratilova-like forehand to extinguish her opponent in the finals, 6-4, 6-4. Leslie "Tex" Mackey at No. 2 singles, raised her season's record to 15-3 by dispatching her DCDS opponent, 6-1, 6-2, in the final round.

Captain Windy "Snow" White and her partner, Maria "Flashdance" Rodriguez, toppled their DCDS opposition in the No. 1 doubles finals, 6-2, 6-2. The No. 2 doubles team of seniors Laurie "Golden" Evans and Jenny "Vicks Vapo" Peck erased their Almont opponents in the finals, 6-2, 6-0.

Other winners for ULS included Charu Nautiyal and Amina Ali at No. 3 and 4 singles, and Paula Rodriguez and Marie Ali, No. 3 doubles.

ULS' Johannes Homan moves in for a score against Lutheran Northwest. Watching the action is John Birgbauer, of ULS.

"We are very much looking foward to competing for the state championship at Eastern Michigan University. This is something we point towards all season long, and I know our players will give their finest effort and play to the best of their ability," Andrews said.

Golfers qualify

The University Liggett School linksters completed last week on a high note by shooting a team score of 323 in a Class "C" regional match. The score allows ULS to advance to the state Class "C" tournament to be held at Portland Country Club in Portland, Michigan, this Saturday, Oct. 22. The team was led by Jim Valice's (78), followed by Dain French (80) and John MacLeod (81).

Coach Butler expressed special pleasure with two juniors who had identical scores of 84. "Both Sean Thomas and Peter Dahling proved that one can start off badly and still turn around and have a good score. Pete and Sean were each 10 or 11 over at the end of nine holes, and proceeded to play three over for the final nine."

Kickers win league

The ULS varsity soccer team tied Southfield Christian School, 1-1, last week, and achieved a tie for the championship of the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference. Going into the game both schools were undefeated in league play.

In the second minute of play, SCS shocked the Knights with a goal but ULS dominated the play through most of the game, only to be frustrated again and again by Southfield Christian's excellent goalie. With 1:47 to go in the game, midfielder Robby Wood blasted a shot through a crowd of players to tie the score, and give the Knights one-half of the MIAC Championship.

Fifteen hours later, on Saturday, Oct. 15, the Knights defeated Lutheran High North, 2-1, in a first round game of the state tournament. Lutheran North played an aggressive game, constantly beating ULS to the ball and putting pressure on the defense. The Knights scored first, as Jim Lambrecht tallied on a rebound shot from Walter Connolly.

With 10 minutes remaining in the second half, North tied the game with a free kick from the 18-yard line. ULS secured the 2-1 victory as right wing Walter Connolly put a loose ball in the net following a throw in by Harold Colby.

Coach David Backhurst commented after the game, "The team was very sluggish today because we'd just been through a very emotional game the night before at Southfield Christian. But our fullbacks Dan Bowen, Kirk Haggarty, Harold Colby, Jamie McMillan, Steve Vreeken, and our keeper Jeff Lucas, played very well."

Cagers split

The ULS girls' basketball team broke its losing streak Oct. 14, beating Oakland Christian, 38-28. Center Sam DeSmet was the high scorer with a total of 25 points.

St. Clare 6-0; in playoffs

Unbeaten in six games, St. Clare of Montefalco's football team takes on Center Line St. Clement at 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22, at Center Line Memorial Field, in the first round of the CYO playoffs.

Coach Tim Gonyeau's Falcons closed their regular season last Sunday with a 32-12 non-league triumph over Royal Oak St. Mary.

Fullback Doug Lucas went 42 yards for St. Clare's first tally, then booted the first of four conversion kicks to make it 8-0. St. Mary was forced to punt following the kickoff, and Rodger Hunwick returned the punt 39 yards to the visitors' 18. A Hunwick to Mike Calcaterra pass took the ball to the St. Mary 3. Hunwick sneaked in on the next play, and Lucas' kick made it 16-0.

In the second quarter, St. Mary picked off a Hunwick pass at the 10, but was unable to move the ball and had to punt. Hunwick returned it 38 yards to paydirt this time. Lucas' conversion attempt was successful, and St. Clare held a 24-0 lead at the intermission.

St. Mary got on the board in the third quarter on a 41-yard sprint. A nine-yard pass early in the fourth quarter climaxed a 71-yard drive, and the Royal Oakers had cut the Falcons' lead to 24-12.

St. Clare came right back, scoring on the second play after the kickoff on a 48-yard jaunt by tailback Mike Paull. Lucas' kick made the final 32-12.

Lucas and Peter Astfalk collected six tackles each, while Hunwick and Lucas each registered an interception. Pat O'Brien blocked a punt, and Mike Henry and Gil Waitkus registered sacks.

Falcon spikers take tourney

St. Clare's varsity volleyball team defended its championship title for the fifth straight season at the annual Bishop Gallagher tournament Oct. 15. St. Clare has now won the Detroit tournament every year since its inception in 1979.

The tournament wins upped St. Clare's record to 20-0 and capped a week which saw the Falcons win their seventh consecutive east-side divisional title with a double win over Warren St. Anne and East Detroit St. Veronica.

Key play by Chris Schulte, Paul Hines, Rosanne Salomone, Megan Keller, Cece Rettig and Theresa Vitale was instrumental in the victories.

St. Clare has completed its regular season and will be a strong contender for the Metro Detroit City Championship title. Playoffs begin this Saturday, Oct. 22, for all league champs; St. Clare will host the east-side playoffs beginning at 10 a.m.

Devils on top in EML

They did it! The Blue Devil varsity football team is finally on top of the heap in the EML after beating the only other previously unbeaten league team L'Anse Creuse North, 16-6, last weekend.

Paul Hawk opened up the game on the first play with a 52-yard run down to the Crusader 15. Four plays later, Brian Rathsburg sprinted into the end zone and the Devils led, 6-0.

After a South fumble on the 20-yard line, the Crusaders tied the game on a one-yard run. But, a penalty nullified the score and South got the ball on its 10-yard line. On the ensuing drive, Hawk was injured and disaster struck when quarterback John Williamson dropped the snap from center. L'Anse Creuse recovered it on its 10-yard line. The Crusaders then marched 90 yards down the field in 16 plays, capped off by a two-yard dive by Jim Wedding with one minute left in the half. The extra point was missed and the score was tied at 6-6 at the half.

The Crusaders got the second half started with a 55-yard drive that ended in a missed 40-yard field goal. The Devils then took control with Hawk back in the game. South drove 40 yards in six plays before Hawk scored the winning touchdown on a 15-yard run. Dale Graham hit the extra point and South led for good 13-6.

In the fourth quarter, Graham put the last points on the board with a 27-yard field goal, set up by Rick Waugaman interception.

The Devils, who now have a perfect 6-0 record, will take on another EML opponent, Port Huron, this Saturday, Oct. 22, at home. Game time is 1 p.m.

Frosh tie one

Brian Stratton scored touchdowns on runs of 23, 74, and 45 yards as the freshmen tied Anchor Bay 28-28. Stratton also scored two, two-point conversions. Dave Arnold added the other South touchdown with his three-yard run. The freshmen now sport a 2-2-1 record and will play L'Anse Creuse North at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 26.

Cagers sweep

Last week was the first time this year that all three of South's girls basketball teams won a game.

The varsity team began the week losing to Anchor Bay, 68-61. Two days later, the team broke its 10-game losing streak by beating Port Huron Northern 50-38.

The JV team has a week similar to the varsity's. On Tuesday, the team lost to Anchor Bay, 44-40 then later downed Port Huron Northern, 43-24. Betsey Meagher led the team with 10 points, while Mary Ann Montagne had eight. The varsity and JV teams will take on L'Anse Creuse North at home today, Oct. 20. The JV will play at 6 p.m. and the varsity team will take to the floor at 7:45 p.m.

Chris Corno led the freshmen as they raised their record to 6-1 by beating both of their opponents last week. Early in the week, the team destroyed Anchor Bay, 43-27, as Corno had 14 points and 11 rebounds, and three assists. Cindy Tewes had 12 points, Marcia Wright had seven points, Stephanie Purdy contributed four points and 14 rebounds, and Sue Griffin had four points.

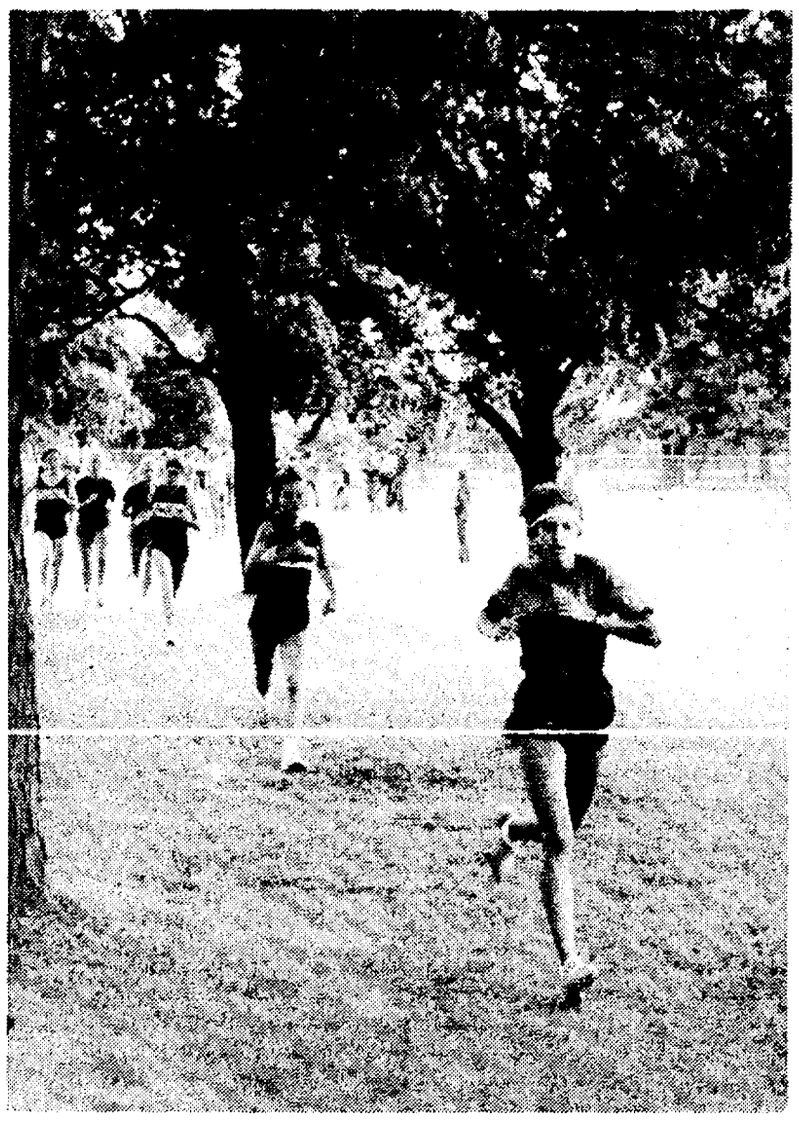

Later in the week, the freshmen beat L'Anse Creuse North, 28-17. Cindy Tewes scored eight points and Erin Barthle had seven. "I am very pleased with the play of the girls," commented coach Al Devine. "This was our fifth straight win and we're getting better and better." The girls will play Chippewa Valley today, Oct. 20, at home. The game will begin at 4 p.m.

Swimmers dominate

The girls' swim team remained unbeaten in the EML when it crushed Roseville, 136-70, last week. Kristen Campbell and Marsha Miller finished one-two in diving and Nancy Vetterello swam well, as did diver Sue Benoit in her first diving appearance. The swimmers take on Mt. Clemens home at 4:30 p.m. today, Oct. 20.

Golfers win EML

The golf team ended its regular season with a 203-220 win over Anchor Bay. Freshmen Scott Stafford was the low medalist with a school record-tying 34 for nine holes. Later in the week, the Devils hosted the EML tournament, where they finished tied for first with Port Huron Northern. Jud Kotas was the low medalist for South. On Oct. 14, South finished in eighth place at the Regionals as Kotas was the low medalist out of 120 golfers which qualified him for the state tournament. The golfers finished the season with an 11-3 overall record and a second place finish in the EML, at 7-3.

Record-setter Nancy Solterisch

Soccer team falls

Nick Simopoulos led the Blue Devils with a hat trick against Fraser as South began last week with a 3-2 victory. Later in the week, the Devils lost to Eisenhower as Simopoulos scored South's only goal. On Oct. 14, the team lost to Grosse Pointe North's 3-1. Again it was Simopoulos with the Devils' only goal. The 2-1 week left South with a 4-8-1 record.

A cross country sweep

Nancy Solterisch has emerged as South's top female runner this year, as she led the team to a second place finish in the Center Line Classic. Solterisch set a school record with an 18:57 in the 5000 meter run, breaking the previous record set in the 1980 by Jane Wilson. Other medal winners were Solterisch (overall winner), Renuka Uthappa, Julie Cunningham, Toby Ott, Karen Campbell, Danielle Varga and Heather Kolodziej.

South's girls' also ran against L'Anse Creuse North and won, 16-47. The win boosted their overall record to 5-1 while their league record increased to 2-0. The team's next contest is today, Oct. 20, at 4 p.m. home against Mt. Clemens.

The boys' cross country team beat L'Anse Creuse North last week, 26-31, the clinch the EML title. Jon Roberts was the top runner for South. The team will run against Mt. Clemens today, Oct. 20, at 4 p.m.

G.P. Mustangs at 7-0 mark

The Grosse Pointe Mustangs girls' under 12 travel team ran its record to 7-0 on the season with three recent victories.

The Mustangs beat the Fraseretts, 4-2, Sept. 23, as Leslie Braithwaite and Christy Mack (three) scored the Pointe goals. Beth Bonanni and Sarah Haggarty played well on offense; Jane Rice, Kathy Foley and Kerri Kelly were outstanding on defense.

Against the S.U.S.A. Jets at Barnes Field Sept. 30, the Mustangs used goals by Braithwaite, Mack (two) Vicky Spicer and Beth Bonanni (two each), and Erin McHugh, Katie Kolp and Jennifer Galvin to take a 10-0 win. Amy Case joined Katie Page, Rice and Kelly in playing well on defense. Kolp, Haggarty and Michelle Kovalcik also played well.

The Mustangs won their seventh straight Oct. 7, beating the Express, 7-0. Spicer had a hat trick and Braithwaite and Mack each added a pair of goals. Rice, Kelly, Page, McHugh, Spicer and Nancy Alcott alternated on defense. Kovalcik again played well in goal.

Stanton speaks to Beavers

Roger Stanton, editor and publisher of Football News, will speak to the Detroit Athletic Club Beavers at their luncheon at noon today, Thursday, Oct. 20. His topic will be "What's Up with the Detroit Lions?"

Stanton will analyze the current Detroit Lions team and the 20 years of ownership under William Clay Ford. He will also project the future for the Lions.

The grownup alligator has but one natural enemy, besides man. That fish known as the alligator gar is said to be able to kill an alligator with one bite.

Forty-four percent of the divorced mothers with custody of the children are granted support payments, but it's paid regularly to less than half of these.

Any 27-year-old man who is 5-feet-7-inches tall and weighs 133 pounds might take note that he is exactly typical of the average winner of the Boston Marathon.

If your run of luck is precisely average at the dice table, where you bet $100 a game, you can expect to lose $1,500 in a six-hour session. So say the statisticians.

Barons rip Roseville

The freshman, JV and varsity Red Baron squads took three games from their Roseville counterparts at Bronco field in Roseville last weekend.

In the freshman game, Roseville marched 70 yards after the opening kickoff to take a 7-0 lead. The Red Barons wasted little time getting that one back when Brandon Cromar passed to Rob Khoenle for a 57-yard touchdown on the Pointe's first offensive play; the extra point tied the game at 7-7.

The contest settled down as Tom Dinverno, Mark Cepedes, Mike Koenigbauer and Jim Kutcher led the defense. On the next Baron possession, Cepedes dove into the endzone, capping a 40-yard drive. Pat Hayes, Rob Robertson, Tom Waitkus and Tom Davis played important roles in the drive that put the Barons up, 14-7.

Roseville began another drive and on a fourth down pass play, Paul Straske made a brilliant defensive play to stop the drive. The Barons mounted their final drive and scored on a keeper around left end by Cromar to run the score to 20-7. Roseville added another touchdown late in the game as a Bronco runner just got past a diving Kenny Barfield at the 10 to score. The Barons stopped another Bronco drive and went home with the 20-14 victory.

The JV game started in much the same way as the freshman contest as the Barons took the opening kickoff, drove the ball and took a 7-0 lead on Chris Stebbins' five-yard run and Jason DeYonker's extra point.

Roseville couldn't move the ball thanks to a key Jason Bedsworth tackle on a fourth down play and the Barons took a 7-0 lead into the second quarter. After Roseville closed that gap to 7-6, DeYonker gathered the ball in at his 30, found some room up the middle and took the kickoff 70 yards for a touchdown. The extra point gave Grosse Pointe a 14-6 lead and from then on, the Barons played well on defense thanks to Rob Rinaldi, Pat Palus, Cam Pyle, Dave Trent and Brendan Henry. Steve Horn sacked the Bronco quarterback to stop a drive.

The Broncos recovered a Baron fumble and scored from the 25, but the two-point conversion was no good and the Barons took a 14-12 victory.

The varsity Red Barons bounced back from their well-played 14-12 loss to the highly favored Denby Bulldogs to earn their most convincing win of the year, a 32-0 whitewash of Roseville.

Chris Meathe started the romp when he forced a fumble early in the game and Rich Regalado picked up where he left off the week before when he broke off a 40-yard dash in the first series. The Barons scored on a sneak play by Scott Smith and led, 7-0.

The Barons shut down Roseville all day as Pat Hogan, Jason Bliss, Mike Montagne, Darin Hopp, Lance Harding, Terry Elsey, Jay Binder and Joe Mancusco controlled the defensive game.

Regalado scored four touchdowns, including one on a 55-yard run. In all he racked up over 200 yards rushing — including 100 yards in just two carries. John Lanza, Rob Hutton, Andy Shaffer, Mark Ebner, Matt McAllister and Dom Martilotti also played well.

The Red Barons will play at noon Sunday, Oct. 30, at Shelby.

South wins regional title

Coach Stephanie Prychitko's South girls' tennis team swept every flight in last week's regional tennis playoff, earning a regional championship and the right to play for the state title in Midland this weekend.

"Everybody won and everybody played well," Prychitko said after the playoffs.

Madeleine Willard topped Gina Romeo of Regina, 6-0, 6-2, to take the No. 1 singles title. Other singles winners were Courtenay Kotas, who topped North's Kathy Caruso, 6-1, 6-2; Mary Wachter, who beat North's Lisa Thomas, 6-1, 6-0; and Noel Berry, who edged Andrea Thomas, 6-3, 6-0.

In the doubles, Stephanie Schulte and Lil Petersen beat North's Amelia Dugan and Mary Garcia, 6-1, 6-4, to capture the top doubles flight. Other doubles winners were Amy Leverenz and Laura Gushee, topping Ashere and Nicholson; and Michelle Coddens and Katy Turner teaming up against Ariani and Labadie, 6-3, 6-4.

South edged Elizabeth Manjlovich's North team, 28 points to 20 points.

"I think the girls have done very well. When we get into the states, we've got the depth where it's important, through all seven flights. Hopefully, we'll do as well in Midland as I think we can do," Prychitko said.

South will be competing for its eighth consecutive girls' Class A tennis title this weekend.

Sports Week

• Grosse Pointe football fans are faring better this year, thanks to South and North. North is 5-1 and South is 6-0 and counting and now, everybody is beginning to "discover" Blue Devil back Paul Hawk. Hawk's been a key figure in South's success for three seasons now, but since South has won 15 consecutive regular season games, all of a sudden the ground-gaining senior is famous.

• No matter what happens in the state tournament, girls' tennis in Grosse Pointe has been aptly represented this season by North, South, University Liggett School and Our Lady Star of the Sea varsity squads. Star won its league title and North, South and ULS have been ranked in the top 10 of their classes since early in the season.

• Favorite football play of the season: Made by tiny ULS cornerback Oscar Alcantara in the Knights' opening game loss to Carsonville-Port Sanilac. A Port Sanilac receiver had caught a pass and was streaking toward the goal line when, from out of nowhere, came Alcantara. He put a hit on the Port Sanilac player the guy can probably still feel, then jumped up, pumped his fist, shook a finger in the face of the still-reclining player, and dashed back to the huddle, grinning all the way.

• Favorite football telecast of the season (excluding Dallas Cowboy games): The Sept. 24 telecast of the South High-East Detroit game by Grosse Pointe Cable TV. It wasn't a bad effort by play-by-play man Tim Saunders and color commentator Chris Walsh. Saunders has a great play-by-play voice; and Walsh, a South senior offensive lineman who was injured and sat out the game in the broadcast booth, was terrific. Walsh was professional, informative, didn't talk too much, knew the players and the plays and threw in some real color, just like a color man is supposed to do. Not a bad debut for a 17 year-old sportscaster . . . and not a bad job all around by G.P. Cable.

• One more thing: now that the much-ballyhooed, long-awaited varsity hockey program has come to Grosse Pointe, will the program maintain the high level of interest and fan support . . . even if the teams don't get off to a winning start? I think so, but . . . I was just wondering.

She doesn't just talk to the animals . . . she listens

By Peggy O'Connor

Linda Robinson can sex a bird, spot a tumor in a dog and do a pregnancy test on a thoroughbred race horse with her portable animal ultrasound equipment. And best of all, she makes house calls.

Robinson, of Allard Avenue, is an animal ultrasound consultant. She provides a mobile service to veterinarians, traveling to different clinics and stables throughout Michigan — wherever the vet needs her.

She trained under Dr. Rantanen at Washington State University, where the animal ultrasound procedure has been in use for some time. It is also popular in states like Kentucky and Ohio, where large race horse breeding farms exist. Robinson has been offering her ultrasound consultations since February, depending upon word-of-mouth advertising for her clientele.

"Since ultrasound is a relatively new technique, people are skeptical. Once I prove I am able to help a veterinarian reach a diagnosis with the procedure, I think that attitude will change," Robinson says.

Robinson's problem is that many area vets don't think they need her help to help reach a diagnosis. Dr. Robert Schirmer, chairman of the Michigan State University Small Animal Clinic, says he thinks he knows why some vets may be wary of Robinson's services.

"I don't think there's an objection to the use of ultrasound. It does have a relatively specific application — we've had some very good results particularly in heart and vascular application. So from a technical standpoint, I can see no problem. It might be that some veterinarians are reluctant to have someone making a diagnosis who is not a qualified veterinarian," Schirmer says.

"There are no credentials, no certification, no 'operating license' or testing procedures in veterinary ultrasound, like that given to technical specialists in human ultrasound. That may be why some veterinarians are so antsy about it," Dr. Schirmer says.

ROBINSON CONFIRMS that ultrasound technicians do not have to be certified and agrees that that, along with a general lack of knowledge about what she offers, may contribute to her slow start in the business. She is prepared, however, to struggle with what she considers a very worthwhile procedure.

Robinson spent several weeks studying at Washington State and in Kentucky learning the physics of ultrasound and how to read and perform scans. She is currently continuing her studies of animal anatomy and physiology at Macomb County Community College.

The ultrasound equipment is very expensive and being a "mobile" service means Robinson is "on the road" more often than she is not. Those problems are not insurmountable for the 1974 South High graduate who owns a dog, a cat, two horses and who has been interested in veterinary medicine all her life.

"It's always excited me and being a horse owner myself I know that when a horse has a problem, you have to go through a long process to find out what is wrong . . . and most of that is guesswork," Robinson says.

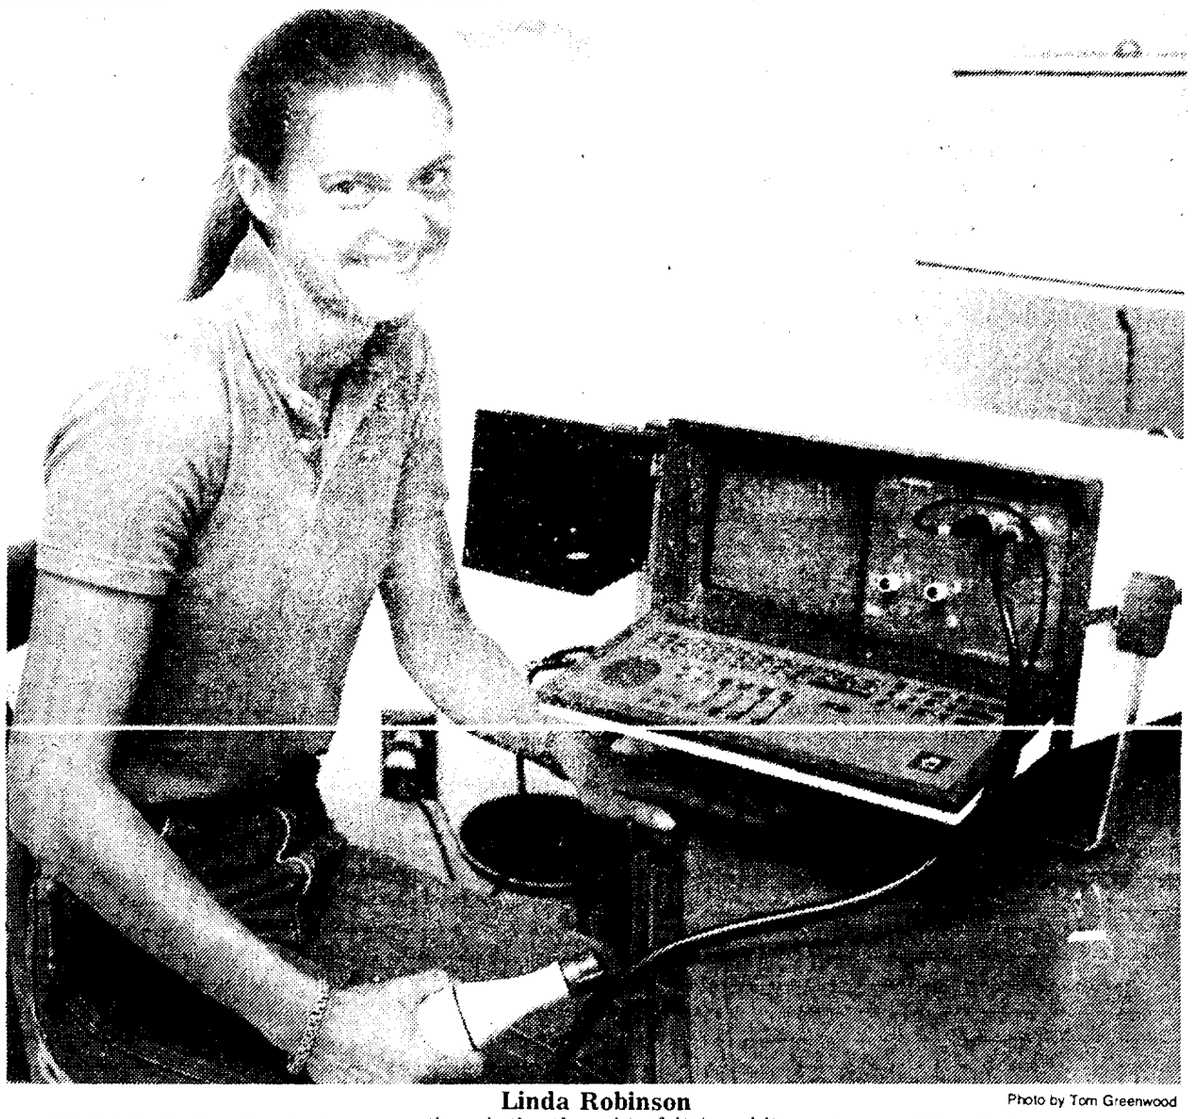

"Ultrasound is a non-invasive procedure and with it, you can reach a diagnosis more quickly than through many conventional procedures. That's what I like about it."

The animal ultrasound machine Robinson uses is practically the same as those used in human medicine; the only real difference is that Robinson's machine is portable. The procedure is also the same, since all ultrasound goes by the physical laws of sound transference, Robinson says.

A transducer is applied to the surface of the animal's skin, and it picks up the sound waves traveling through the body. The waves echo back, the machine produces an image which is a reproduction of the sound waves and that image appears on the machine's screen. "With this procedure, I can detect a tumor, its size and location and report my findings to a vet. This saves the vet from having to make an invasive procedure or going on radiograph scans," Robinson says.

"I simply take the scan, read it, and report my findings to the vet. The diagnosis is completely up to him," she adds.

Despite the long hours, the miles traveled and the difficulties being accepted by Michigan veterinarians, Robinson thinks the ultrasound consultations offered by her company, Sound Imaging Company, are well worth the effort.

Linda Robinson

"I think that animal ultrasound is very important, especially for race horses. With the procedure, we're capable of finding out much more about things like bowed tendons, and how much damage is involved. It really takes the guesswork out of exams."

Robinson says she works on animals large and small . . . and she hasn't ruled out working with zoo animals even though the thought of it is a bit frightening.

"Working with zoos would be great for business. Dr. Rantanen did a lot of it at Washington State, especially pregnancy scans on snow leopards. But you really have to know your anatomy so you can work quickly . . . anesthetized animals don't always stay under as long as you'd like them to," she laughs. "But I'm willing to try anything if they need me."

In the meantime, she's keeping up her anatomy studies, practicing on her own animals, traveling to wherever vets need her, "having a lot of fun," and hoping that unconvinced vets might catch on to what she's discovered.

Norsemen win

If the saying that defense wins big games is true, then North's varsity football team is in good shape. Getting back on the right track, North (5-1) recorded its third shutout of the season when it defeated Lakeview, 41-0, last week.

It seemed fitting that the game was North's annual homecoming, as the Norsemen celebrated all afternoon. There was one exception to the joyous festivities as Fred Schultz, North's big fullback/linebacker went down with a leg injury. The Norsemen face the possibility of being without Schultz for all, or part, of the remainder of the season.

On the bright side, Coach Sumbera's squad played as well as it has all season. Said the coach himself, "We played real well . . . I'm very pleased. It was just an excellent game."

The offense struck quickly and often; the first score came on a seven-yard run by Will Secor. Quarterback Chris Bingman, who had a great game completing 11 of 14 for 204 yards, then came back with touchdown passes of 31 and two yards to John Matouk and Chip Moore, respectively. A three-yard run by George Kasza and a Joe Weidenbach to Chris Piche touchdown pass completed the impressive offensive show.

The defense applied pressure all day and came up with five interceptions. The first interception gave North six points as Schultz scored on a 38-yard interception return. Tim Monahan also picked off two other Huskie passes. Geoff Tischbein turned in an exceptional game as did George Kasza who replaced Schultz.

North will travel next to Waterford to take on a very strong Waterford Kettering team in a game. Coach Sumbera considers as North's toughest of the year.

The JV gridders pulled out a 6-5 victory over Lakeview as North scored the winning touchdown on a one-yard run by Greg Guest with 12 seconds left in the game. The score capped a 20-play, 77-yard drive in which quarterback Craig Como completed five of six passes.

The freshmen topped Lakeview, 37-16. Bill Smith accounted for two touchdowns, one on a 79-yard punt return.

That WAS Susan Smiley . . .

Pointe soccer fans who attended the exhibition game between the rock group Def Leppard and the Detroit Express Aug. 31 at Cobo Arena probably thought they saw a familiar face during the half-time show.

Those people who embarrased themselves by yelling "Hey, I know that soccer ball!" are henceforth vindicated. Because portraying Suzi Soccer Ball during the half-time show which featured the Casali Dance Group of St. Clair Shores, was Susan Smiley, of the Park.

Harriers perfect

One of the better kept secrets at North is the girls' cross country team. It just keeps rolling along, chalking up win after win. The girls' record stands at 9-0 after a perfect 15-50 pounding of Brablec, which clinched the Bi-County dual meet championship.

Bigger things are in store for this team with the annual Bi-County league meet this week, followed by the regional and state tournaments. North has set a goal to win the regionals and place in the state's top 10.

This Norseman team appears to be capable of such accomplishments. Consistency is the name of the game for North. Runners like Stacie Williams, Christy Fournier, and Patty Loeher offer North solid and dependable runners. The team's top four runners are almost always among the top finishers.

A tough, hard schedule which Coach Charles Buhagiar refers to as ". . . no cake-walk," will benefit North in these tight competitions. The team has already gone against top ranked opponents and they've competed in five invitationals.

The boys' cross country team, led by Steve Navarre, defeated Brablec, 19-44. Their league record now stands at 5-1 while overall they have improved to 4-3. Pete Strek took fifth and Joe Carroll took seventh as North finished fourth in the Oxford Invitational.

Kickers win title

Congratulations are in order for North's varsity soccer team as coach Guido Regelbrugge's crew defeated South, 3-1, and won the league championship outright. Marc Tirikian scored all three of North's goals in the win.

The first place finish had to be sweet for the team, beset by injuries all season long. The young squad worked hard all year and managed to overcome injuries and inexperience. Their league record was 12-1.

South got back at North in the JV game as it handed the Norsemen a 3-1 setback. Said Coach Ray Tirikian, "I thought we played well . . . our boys tried hard." Dan Spitz got North's goal. The loss dropped the JV mark to 7-3, 4-2 in league action.

Netters are second

The varsity girls' tennis team finished second in the regionals last week. The finish was good enough to earn the girls a trip to Midland where they will compete this weekend for the state championship. Receiving All - Bi-County honors were Lisa McCormick, Cathy Caruso, Lisa Thomas, Andrea Thomas, Mary Garcia and Amelia Dugan. The team is 10-3 and ranked sixth.

Cagers win

Dawn Cartwright had 12 points, Celeste Sartor had 15 rebounds, and Paula Harms had 11 rebounds as North's varsity girls' basketball team defeated Clintondale' 38-33.

Grosse Pointe Blue Devils are runners-up

The Grosse Pointe Squirt AA Blue Devils earned runner-up honors in the Fraser Early Bird Tournament last month, winning two and tying one game before facing a tough, undefeated Chicago Jets squad and losing, 7-6.

The Blue Devils scored the first goal of the championship game when Scott Dockett tallied. The Jets tied things up, then scored with less than one minute to play in the third period to take a 2-1 lead. Dockett tied it up in the second period, after an outstanding defensive effort by Jay Auld and Chris Butcher, Timmy McConnell and Mike Johnson drew assists.

Sixteen seconds later Jonny Ugval scored for the Devils, John Ferguson and Johnson assisting. Donny DeSeranno took a great pass from Dockett and whipped it past the Chicago goalie before the Jets scored with less than two minutes left in the period. With 1:11 remaining, Johnson drew the goalie out and passed to Chad Ackerman to give the Devils a 5-3 lead.

Opening the third period, Chicago got one past the Blue Devils' outstanding goalie, Tripp Tracy. The Devils tied the game, then got the win and the championship with a goal with just three minutes to go.

On Sept. 22, the Blue Devils took on the Swift Warren Blues Squirt AA team at Fraser Arena in a very exciting game that very well could have gone either way, and tied 2-2.

In the first period with some great defensive help from Jay Auld, Peter Bourke, Chris Butcher and Ryan Redd, the Warren Blues were kept scoreless with 2:27 remaining in the first period. Warren Blues' Steve Morrow put one in the net to score the first goal of the game. With only 43 seconds left in the first period and on a great pass from Donny DeSeranno, Chad Ackerman shot a hot one past Warren's goalie to tie the game.

Early in the second period, Warren slipped one in on the Grosse Pointe goalie to take the lead. With some fine goaltending by Grosse Pointe goalies and great forechecking by Pointe forwards Tim McConnell, Chad Ackerman, John Ferguson, Jonny Ugval and Scott Dockett, the Warren Blues were put on hold.

In the third period both teams played aggressive and defensive hockey. With 2:17 remaining in the game, Donny DeSeranno, took a fantastic pass from Mike Johnson, and deked Warren's goalie to tie the game.

In their next contest, against Toronto, the Devils scored four goals in the first, three in the second period and four in the third period. They only allowed Toronto one goal late in the third period to achieve an 11-1 victory. Dockett, with sharp defensive and backchecking help from his teammates, scored five goals in the game, with Timmy McConnell scoring the first goal and with assists on four more goals.

It was a 6-0 victory for the Blazing Blues over the Fraser Huskies on Sept. 24. In the first period the tough Devils' goalie Mike Janish held back a persistent attack by the Fraser offense.

With 5:09 left in the first period, DeSeranno, with an assist from Johnson, put one in the net to score for the Blues. Auld and Ryan Redd skated down the ice passing the puck back and forth between them, then passed to DeSeranno who slapped in his second goal. Ugval, with assists by DeSeranno and Ferguson, swiftly motored the puck into the net for the third goal.

In the second period the Huskies held the Blazing Blues back with great goaltending by Jason Acton. Late in the second period, Ackerman, with an assist from Dockett, lifted one in the net to make it 4-0. Minutes later Ugval stickhandled around the offense and passed to DeSeranno who notched the Devils' fifth goal.

Near the end of the third period Ferguson stole the puck away from Fraser, and skated it down the ice, gave the puck to DeSeranno who scored the sixth goal.

Bantam house

The Red Wings took the opening game of the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association's Bantam House league play, beating the Blues, 2-0.

Strong defensive play marked the first period and it wasn't until midway through the second period before the Wings' Michael Crane took advantage of a loose puck in front of the Blues net and shot it past goalie Clay Chapman. Four minutes later Bill Gryzenia and John Giacobbe set up Crane for his second goal.

The Wings' goalie Mike Semack held off the Blues throughout the game, shutting down a two-man breakaway and two power plays during the third period.

The GPHA Bantams are playing a combined schedule this season with St. Clair Shores.

Ski Prix benefit set

Soon the Olympic flame will burn again in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia and the U.S. Ski Team may well be the strongest American Olympic contingent in history.

The U.S. will enter this Olympic year with one of the strongest veteran alpine ski teams ever assembled by any nation while at the same time promoting an ever increasing number of younger racers who have indicated their ability to be world-class competitors.

The U.S. has three World Champions on the team and the women's team is rated the best female ski team in the world. It has been a long, severe and hard struggle for all those athletes and now they need not only our moral but financial support to "Bring Home The Gold" from Sarajevo.

The "Ski Prix 84" committee, a Saturday, Oct. 22 Olympic team benefit, is chaired this year by Mr. and Mrs. John Krsul.

This year two members of the Olympic team will attend the dinner dance and live auction. Holly Flanders, a seven-year veteran of the Alpine National Team, was the 1982 World Cup downhill runner-up, and placed 13th in the pre-Olympics in Sarajevo. Michigan's own Mark Konopacke, of Iron Mountain, a second-year member of the Nordic jumping team, will also be on hand for the festivities.

On Oct. 15, the team was luckless in a 32-46 loss to Kingswood. Coach Mary McAfee's team is now 4-7. They travel to Lutheran Northwest for a 4:30 p.m. game Friday, Oct. 21.

Harriers on streak

The ULS cross country team enjoyed its most successful week of the season by beating three of the four teams that it faced, Springfield Christian, 23-30; Bethesda, 27-28; and South Lake, 15-50. ULS' only loss was to Oakland Christian, 35-21.

Pacing the Knights was Kurt Schneider who finished first against three of the schools, and second against one team. Also contributing to the success of the team were Bill Louth, John Steinhauer, and Chris McCabe. The harriers' record is now 6-11.

ULS will host the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference Cross Country Championship Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 5 p.m.

Kickers win

On Oct. 6, the University Liggett Middle School junior varsity team registered its second victory of the season by pounding Inter-City Baptist, 10-0.

Tristan Guevara led the assault with four goals. Bucky Drewek contributed two goals and two assists; Bob Scoville two goals and an assist, and Andy Joel chipped in with three assists. John Bellamy and Brendan Dundas scored one goal each.

Coach Chuck Wright's team travels to Inter-City Baptist on Thursday, Oct. 20. They hope to improve on their 2-1-1 record.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, you makes me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal, You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me, and you who are in all instances of my life with Me, I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen.

Than You for your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this prayer as soon as your favor have been granted. I.S.
