We make mistakes

When the press makes mistakes, everybody knows about it. The following actual headlines, stories and quotes actually turned up in print and I'm glad I didn't write them.

They're from a book, "Press Follies"—a collection of classic blunders, boners, goofs, gaffes, pomposities and pretensions from the world of journalism, as compiled by Robert Goraliski.

Rise and fall of assessments

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Homeowners in the Woods, Shores and Park will see lower property assessments this year, while assessments will rise slightly in the City and remain essentially the same in the Farms, according to local assessors.

Based on 24-month sales studies from each community, the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation has developed equalization factors that show assessments falling by 3.4 percent in the Park, about 1 percent in the Woods and .5 percent in the Shores.

Grosse Pointe City assessments will rise about 1 percent, based on the tentative factors.

Adjustments are being made in the Farms to keep the city's equalization factor "essentially the same as last year," according to assessor Carrol Lock. Some homeowners may see increases this year, he added.

The county's equalization factors are based on home sales in 1982 and 1983. Some communities in the county will use a 12-month study covering 1984, but local communities are using the 24-month figures.

Lowered assessments mean lowered property values, but could also mean lowered property tax bills for homeowners, if school and municipalities don't adjust their tax rates during their upcoming budget deliberations.

In the Park, the amount of the decline may be smaller after the board of review meets next month, according to public service director James Ellison. Final equalization factors won't be determined until after the boards review protested assessments and make adjustments, he added.

How to go about appealing your property tax assessment is on Page 15A.

Countywide, cities with heavy industries, such as those downriver, showed falling property values, while western communities held their own or showed higher values, according to taxation bureau director George McEachran.

Twelve-month sales studies for 1984 show property values throughout the county have bottomed out and are again on the rise, McEachran said. Also, the value of large homes — hit early in the recession with declining values — are making a comeback, evidenced by increasing values in areas like Grosse Ile, he added.

By law, a home and property can't be assessed at more than half its market value. Each year, the county computes for each of its communities a ratio of sales prices to assessed values using sale studies from the communities.

Homes selling at more than half the assessment result in factors more than 1; homes selling at less than twice assessed value mean less than 1.

Last year's assessments are then multiplied by the state equalization factor to determine the new assessments, which are used on the summer and winter tax bills to cover the millage levied by municipalities. 30,000 stamps later . . .

Business was pretty much back to normal for clerks Carole Lombardini, center, and Rose Hillgendorf, far right, last week after customers earlier swamped their tiny post office for thousands of 22 cent stamps.

Crowds get their 2 cents' worth

By Tom Greenwood

There was a stampede in Grosse Pointe last week, but it didn't involve cattle. Hundreds of persons lined up to buy thousands of two and twenty-two cent stamps when they went on sale last Tuesday.

In the small postal station located in the Book Village, clerks did their best to handle the crush.

"The line on Tuesday went out to the back door, and by noon we were rationing our supply of stamps," Rose Hillgendorf said. "We went through 30,000 two-cent stamps in two days. It sure was a lot of fun, ha-ha."

Carole Lombardini said the rationing was necessary to assure stamps for everyone. "People were standing in line for up to half an hour to buy the two-centers or the twenty-two-centers. You had to actually push yourself through the crowd."

"Some people got angry, but mostly they were out-of-towners and not our regular customers," she added. "One woman said she'd been to five different post offices trying to buy all the stamps she needed. She was in a frazzle by the time she got here."

Last Friday, those patronizing the little post station nestled in the back of the Book Village weren't very happy about the postal increase.

"I think it's just terrible and I don't like it," complained Helen Boley, of the Park. "Everything keeps going up but the mail service is terrible. Our magazines look like they went through a saw mill, but they keep raising the prices."

Farms resident Jean Droste was only slightly less upset. "I think it's too bad everything has to rise," she said. "I mean, how long ago was it we were paying only five cents for a stamp? I forgot about the increase and mailed five letters with just twenty cents on them. Will they get through? Three of them were bills."

Over at the Mack Avenue post office, acting manager Ed Koski said business last week was "terrific."

"We were wall-to-wall people here," Koski said. "They were packed in from the moment we opened 'til we closed. That's a lot of business. Our clerks were worn out from trying to handle that many people and still keep them happy."

Koski estimates his station went through nearly 300,000 stamps in one day.

"That's a tremendous amount of stamps," he said. "It almost seems like people were over-reacting. It's good for business, but really now! I don't seem to recall this kind of a rush when we had our last increase three years ago. It's hard to believe there are that many people out there stockpiling twenty-cent stamps."

Both Koski and the postal clerks in the Village reported that business was back to normal by the end of the week.

Enrollment drops less than public sector

Private schools reach out for students

By Mike Andrzejczyk

University Liggett School last month ran a series of four newspaper advertisements highlighting its program, including the availability of financial aid, sports programs and curriculum in elementary and high schools.

As the number of school-age children drops, non-public schools find themselves expanding the area from which they draw students. Unlike their public counterparts, the only boundary on non-public schools is the distance parents feel comfortable sending their child to school.

The technique appears to have been successful, because the total enrollment for the area's 14 non-public schools is within 1 percent of last year's.

This year, 7,141 students were enrolled at independent and parochial schools in Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods, according to principals and admissions directors. That's 52 students fewer than last year, a drop of about .7 percent.

Of the total, 2,919 students attended non-public K-8 programs this year, compared to 2,945 last year. Six non-public high schools have 4,222 students this year, compared to 4,239 last year.

By comparison, local public schools lost 3 percent of their population. Grosse Pointe public schools have 4,178 students in K-8 programs and 3,131 in the high schools. Last year, 4,358 students attended K-8 public school programs and 3,156 attended high school.

Selling points to get students into elementary and preschool programs at the eight K-8 schools in the area include smaller class sizes than public schools, allowing for greater attention by teachers, and the teaching of morals and values in independent schools and religion in parochial schools.

At Grosse Pointe Academy, students are exposed to a program that is "Catholic in tradition and Christian in philosophy," according to admissions director Molly McDermott. The school teaches morals, values, Bible history and religions of the world while stressing a Christian atmosphere in the classrooms, she added.

Although parents look at the moral side of the curriculum, another important point is class size and curriculum, Ms. McDermott said. Some second-grade classes have 11 students, while middle school classrooms may have as few as eight, so each student gets much more attention from instructors, she said. Public schools average 20 to 28 students in classrooms.

The school also offers a very strong English program and French is offered from early school through middle school. The science program includes instruction by a naturalist for early grade school students while seventh-graders get physical science instruction and eighth-graders learn chemistry, Ms. McDermott said.

The school draws students from outside Grosse Pointe and tries to maintain a mixture from all races, creeds and socio-economic levels, she added.

To bring in students, the school goes out and sells its program, Ms. McDermott said. The best boosters for the school are happy parents and students "that we turn out who are prepared to go to school anywhere," she added.

Grosse Pointe public schools "are one of our strongest competitors," Ms. McDermott added.

"When there's a strong public school system in the area, the need for an alternative to that system isn't as great," according to Peggy Maycock in University Liggett School's admission office. "But (Continued on Page 16A)

Bishop McGehee to begin Christ Church Lenten series

The Right Rev. H. Coleman McGehee, Episcopal bishop of Michigan, will recount his spiritual journey from an apathetic posture in the back pew to a public, prophetic ministry at Christ Church Tuesday, March 5, at 7:30 p.m.

A graduate of the University of Richmond Law School, Mr. McGehee left the position of assistant attorney general of Virginia to attend the Virginia Theological Seminary in 1954. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1957 and consecrated bishop coadjutor for the diocese of Michigan in 1971. He became the eighth bishop of Michigan in 1973.

In addition to his other duties, Bishop McGehee serves as president of the Michigan Coalition for Human Rights. A simple supper will precede his address.

On subsequent Tuesdays in Lent, March 12, 19 and 24, supper will be followed by a choice of two adult classes. One, led by the Rev. Edward A.M. Cobden, Jr. and the Rev. Gregory P. Sammons, "Over the Rainbow," focuses on an understanding of ourselves as people of God through the story of Noah's Ark. The other, "Under the Rainbow," led by the Rev. Bryant W.

The Right Rev. McGehee

Dennison Jr. and Matthew Smith, focuses on an understanding of ourselves as people of God by explaining and mapping values, behaviors and relationships.

Young people's confirmation classes and a children's program will also be offered. The public is welcome. Call the church office, 885-4841, for reservations.

Fifer to speak at Bon Secours

William R. Fifer, M.D.

Lecturer and author William R. Fifer, M.D., F.A.C.P., will speak at a special educational conference for the medical staff at Bon Secours Hospital on Tuesday, March 5. His topic will be "Quality Oriented Problem Control (The System) — How to Assure Accreditation by Assuring Quality Assurance."

He is a consultant to hospitals and professional associations. He is board certified in internal medicine and devoted 15 years to a multi-specialty group practice before returning to the University of Minnesota to pursue a second career in health services research.

His bibliography contains nearly 100 publications. As an entertaining as well as informative speaker, he keeps a busy schedule of about 150 presentations each year.

U.S., Soviet series to begin March 5

The War Memorial's Council of Sponsors will present a lecture series on the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. beginning Tuesday, March 5, at 8 p.m.

U-M history professor William Rosenberg, director of the Center for Russian and Eastern European studies, will present "Bolshevik Visions and Soviet Realities: The Legacies of 1917." His address will include a discussion of Russia's cultural past and its impact on present outlooks and behavior.

Professor Rosenberg has written numerous articles and books on Russia, including "Russian Liberals and the Bolshevik Coup" for the Journal of Modern History, and the books "A.I. Denikin and the Anti-Bolshevik Movement in South Russia," and "Liberals in the Russian Revolution."

He has lectured at schools including the University of Toronto, Oberlin College, Stanford, University of California, Columbia, Princeton, and at Maison des Sciences de l'Homme in Paris. In addition to English, he is fluent in Russian, French and German.

The following Tuesday, March 12, U-M associate professor of Russian Studies, Alexander Yanov, will lecture on "Russia as the Sick Man of Europe." The final lecture of the series, March 19, will be on "The Soviet Union and Arms Control." U-M professor of political science, William Zimmerman, will be the speaker.

The cost of the series, chaired by Audrey Platt, is $16 for all three lectures, or $5.50 each. For additional information, call 881-7511.

Interview workshop

A workshop to learn how to make a good impression and keep it during a job interview will be held Saturday, March 9, from noon to 2 p.m. at Marygrove College, 8425 W. McNichols at Wyoming.

Topics include types of interviews, steps to research the company before an interview, psychology of interviews, and a review of the common and tricky questions.

Cost is $20. For more information, call 862-8000, ext. 240.

Skomski elected to GOP committee

Anthony (Tony) J. Skomski, of Cloverly Road, was elected a member of the executive committee of the Republican 14th Congressional District at the GOP convention Feb. 15-16, in Grand Rapids.

Skomski, a former school teacher in five districts and owner of a local accounting business, said there are still too many liberals in the Republican Party.

"They're dying a hard death," he added.

Older Americans invited to seminar

The Michigan Association of Retired School Personnel announces a specially designed government studies program in Washington, D.C., for older Americans sponsored by the Close Up Foundation.

Persons aged 50 or over living in Michigan are encouraged to participate in a series of week-long seminars in the nation's Capitol during the weeks of June 2-8, Sept. 8-14, Sept. 29-Oct. 5, and Oct. 6-12. These adults will participate in several discussion groups to share their views with others from across the country.

As part of the program they will meet with members of Congress, journalists, lobbyists, bureaucrats and experts on foreign and domestic issues. There will be opportunities, also, for a cultural tour of the city — visiting monuments, neighborhoods, museums; and for such social activities as attending a live theater performance and dining at various Washington restaurants.

All individuals in the program will have the opportunity to participate in a nationally televised program telecast over the Cable-Satellite Public Affairs Network (C-SPAN).

The cost for each participant is $650, including lodging in a first-class hotel and meals, plus $210 for air transportation from a pre-determined departure point. The Close Up Foundation awards a limited amount of fellowship funds for those with a low-to-moderate income, administered through several organizations such as the Michigan Association of Retired School Personnel (MARSP).

Any older American who might be interested in attending this intensive study of government in Washington, D.C., on the dates indicated should request detailed information from Irving W. Burt, President, MARSP, 401 South Washington Square, Lansing, Mich. 48933.

These donors are a 'special breed'

By Pat Paholsky

Twenty-two Grosse Pointers participate in the American Red Cross pheresis program, and according to the medical director, they are a "special breed."

Donald Stevenson, who lives in the Farms, became a donor when a close friend developed leukemia. His friend, who "had everything to live for," died, but Stevenson continued donating his blood by way of a time-consuming, highly specialized procedure. Over the past two years, he's chalked up 25 trips to the Red Cross headquarters.

Hazen VanVliet, a Woods resident, saw an appeal for type O negative blood in his company newsletter in December 1978. An employee with leukemia was in need of blood donations and VanVliet responded to the appeal. The young man subsequently died and VanVliet said "it hit home." He has continued as a pheresis donor, tallying 33 donations to date.

Pheresis (pronounced fer-ee-sis) is a Greek word that means removal. In this case, a component of the blood, either plasma, platelets or white cells, is removed by a highly automated machine. The donor, with an incoming needle in one arm and an outgoing needle in the other arm, is hooked to the machine known as a cell-separator.

By centrifugal force, the components of the blood are separated.

Hazen VanVliet

What is needed is removed and the rest is returned to the donor's blood system.

Dr. Shobha Shah, medical director, Southeastern Michigan Region Blood Services, said this sophisticated procedure allows from five to 15 pints of the donor's blood to pass through the machine. The actual amount of whole blood removed from the donor, however, amounts to about one-half pint.

The process takes from 90 minutes to 2½ hours, depending on what is removed. The donor reclines in a chair, similar to a dentist's chair, and can watch TV, listen to the radio or dose.

"It does not cause any health disadvantage or harm to the donor," Dr. Shah said, adding that the patient has an obvious advantage of receiving components from one donor rather than multiple donors, which increases the likelihood of complications.

Unlike whole blood, which can sit on the shelf for 35 days, "these products must be used within 24 hours," Dr. Shah said. "Most of the pheresis gets sent out within four to five hours of collection."

And it's generally an emergency situation; someone is waiting for the special transfusion.

"Many critically ill patients depend on these special donors and this unique type of blood donation," Dr. Shah said.

Stevenson, who is the district manager of the Circulation Department of the Detroit News, said, "I get called approximately once a month. I always try to respond because there's a dire need for donors and it's certainly more than a worthwhile cause, because leukemia each year claims victims and will continue to do so until they find a cure for it."

"All you need is a little time," he added. "It's not a structured thing, it's when they need you."

Stevenson said he feels no discomfort during the procedure except for an "illusion of coldness." The best part, he says, is the cookies and orange juice afterward.

VanVliet, whose background is in chemical engineering, is a research program administrator for Detroit Edison. He said the worst part of the process is getting his finger pricked for a blood test that is made each time he is a donor.

His participation in the pheresis program spans six years and VanVliet says the procedure today has improved so much, "you can fall asleep" while donating. He doesn't, however, "I rest and relax and think of lovely things."

He has high praise for the nurses and doctors in the program.

"They are all registered nurses who have gone through special training and there's an R.N. on duty at all times for each donor," he said. "There's always a doctor on duty, a hematologist. I feel real comfortable, because I know I'm being taken care of properly."

There is even parking reserved for pheresis donors. The headquarters at 100 Mack Ave. is one of only two Red Cross facilities that has the program. The other is in Lansing. The Mack office services the Southeastern Michigan region, which includes Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties.

Dr. Shah said the Red Cross began the program on Thanksgiving Day, 1975. And the need for donors grows each year. Last year the Mack office recorded 1,544 donations.

Besides leukemia patients, others who benefit from pheresis donations are children who are born with protein deficiencies and persons with aplastic anemia. The special transfusions are also given to some cancer patients to counteract one of the side effects of chemotherapy.

For more information, call the Red Cross Pheresis Recruitment office at 494-2787 or 494-2788.

Flaunt it!

No, it's not Prince or Boy George. Nor is it "Mince" or "Oh Boy George." These two stunning beauties are ULS seniors Howard Fauntroy, left, and Jeff Lamsbrecht, who really got into Senior Androgenous Day at school last week. They say the Marine Corps builds men, and over at University Liggett, they build seniors with a strange sense of humor — but good taste in clothes.

Nothing to it, donor Henry Plegge seems to be saying to pheresis nurse Gail Williams.

Company will push premium packages

Grosse Pointe Cable will increase rates

Grosse Pointe Cable will increase its rates — effective April 1 — for basic services, optional premium services, additional outlets, remote control use and basic installation, according to Mike DuFour, general manager.

As of April 1, the basic service charge will increase about 8 percent, from $8.60 to $9.30 a month. Three percent of that increase will be used to cover increased license fees charged by satellite services, DuFour said. Satellite services include Music Television, Entertainment Sports Network and others included in the basic package.

Optional premium services, additional outlets and remote control devices will cost $1 more beginning in April. Basic installation will increase to $17.25.

One-fifth of the company's customers won't be affected by the increases in pay or basic service rates because they subscribe to "recommended entertainment packages" which are already discounted, Du-

Four said. The company hopes to double the number of subscribers to the special packages, he added.

The company isn't sure how much the rate increases will generate, DuFour said. The total will depend on how many people decide to take the special entertainment packages, he added.

The company last raised its rates 16 months ago and doesn't plan another increase for at least a year, according to DuFour. The increase is within the amount allowed by the franchise agreement between the company and Harper Woods, Grosse Pointe Woods, Farms, City and Park, he added.

Grosse Pointe Cable is in good financial shape, DuFour said, but added the company's penetration was slightly below the national average.

The company also will add two new services to its basic cable selection. In the next few weeks, The Nashville Network, featuring country music and entertainment 24 hours a day, and M-Star, educational programs for grade and high school students, will come on-line.

Customers will receive a letter from the company in their March billing that will tell them the benefits of moving into a special entertainment package. The company will allow customers to change their service free of charge from March 1 to April 15, according to DuFour.

Hard winter costs cities

While they are still putting together the final figures, it looks like the Winter of '85 put a dent in some municipal budgets, according to officials.

While it was able to fall back on some reserves from last year's relatively light winter, the Shores has spent between $3,000 and $4,000 on salt this year and $9,000 overall to keep the village's streets clear, according to Superintendent Michael Kenyon.

It appears the village may go over budget on some of its street funds, he added. Besides municipal dollars, funds come from state shared revenues for gas and weight taxes and registration fees.

As of the end of January, the Woods had put 813 tons of salt on 1,657 miles of street for the winter. City workers had also plowed 1,657 miles of street, according to the city's monthly report.

That's just about 31 times over the city's 54 miles of major and local streets.

Because of its storage capabilities, the city was able to use salt reserves from last year until this month, when it was forced to buy salt, according to City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen.

Although final figures won't be ready until mid-March, "it doesn't look to me like we will be under budget this year," he said. The amount of man-hours needed to keep streets plowed and salted as well as the purchase of salt this month will probably put the city over its winter street budget, he added.

The performance of the Wayne County Office of Public Service's roads division — formerly the Road Commission — was much improved this year over last, Petersen said. In past years, the city had to call for street service, but didn't need to do so this year, he said, adding the reorganized department's work "was a great improvement over last year."

Grosse Pointe City has spent less than budgeted on salt this year, but labor and other costs will probably put it over budget, according to City Comptroller Dennis Foran.

The City budgeted $15,530 for salt this year and has spent $15,000 so far, Foran said. Another good storm and the municipality will have overspent its salt budget, he added.

Because it has no year-round storage, the City has no reserves from last year to fall back on. Rock salt currently sells for about $17.79 a ton, Foran added.

The City sets its winter budget by allowing for the heavy years. The Woods uses a five-year average, while Shores officials estimate trends based on the last two years' expenditures.

In the Park, just about $14,000 has been spent on the 795 tons of salt put on city streets, officials said. Last year, the city bought 732 tons for a little more than $12,600.

No estimates were available for whether the city remained under its winter street cleaning budget.

Check health insurance now

By Harriet Nolan

The time to read the fine print on a health insurance policy isn't when you're on your way to the hospital, cautions Irene Meindt.

And she ought to know. In the 15 years as patient insurance advisor at Cottage Hospital, she's seen countless numbers of people who compounded a hospital stay with additional worry over how the bills would be paid.

She says questions about benefits have been on the rise since the late '70s when many people, laid-off from work, found they had to shop for their own health insurance.

Also, as the senior citizen population grows, so does the demand for individual and supplemental plans.

To help the community, she conducted a session geared to answer many of these problems and says to her surprise, more than 45 people of all ages attended.

First of all, she suggests people talk to their own agents to determine if their health-care needs are adequate.

"A long time ago there weren't that many companies to choose from," she says. "Now with Aetna, HAP, Prudential and Medicare, patients are confused and frightened."

Areas of concern should include checking the pre-existing clause segment which, for example, might declare ineligible any condition that could be proved to have existed two years before the policy was written.

This wouldn't affect a pregnancy or treatment for pneumonia, but could cause a problem for someone suffering with gallstones which could be traced back two years.

She suggests it's easier to pay a little extra to have the waiting period shortened, perhaps as low as $20 to $40.

Also, fixed-dollar amount clauses which put a ceiling on the amount of money paid for hospital care could cause a strain on personal finances.

All of these problems can be solved by having the policy altered, she says.

She notes that her information is geared to individual subscribed policies, not company policies which she says aren't negotiable. A supplemental policy, if needed, can be purchased from various companies.

"Insurance companies will bend over backwards to accommodate subscribers," she says. "Talk to your agent."

Q: My son who is a freshman at Michigan State University returned home this past weekend and informed us he had been told at the student health center that he had "mono." What is "mono" and what can he do for this problem?

Q: "Mono" or mononucleosis is one of many viruses that students in college encounter. Your son is in the age group where "mono" is very common. Other names for this virus are "glandular fever" or "the kissing disease." "Mono" is known as the kissing disease because it is generally spread by mouth-to-mouth contact.

Some of the symptoms of mono are extreme fatigue, puffy eyes, headaches, sore throat and enlarged lymph nodes.

A blood test is the best method to determine if a person has mono. Your family physician can order this test if it has not been done and examine your son. When a person has mono, the white blood cells called lymphocytes increase in number and thus a blood count can be helpful as well.

Although mono is not life-threatening, more serious complications can follow if the condition is not arrested. Some examples are strep throat, jaundice, meningitis, encephalitis and anemia.

Rest and more rest is the prime cure for mono. One or two weeks of complete bed rest usually are followed by several months of limited activity.

GP Symphony to feature Russian program

The Grosse Pointe Symphony is going Russian for a good part of its

Sunday, March 10 concert to be played at 3:30 p.m. in Parcels Auditorium, Mack at Vernier, Grosse Pointe Woods, under the baton of Felix Resnick.

Guest soloist will be pianist Edward Zilberkant, 19, who was born in Volograd, USSR, and is now a naturalized citizen of the United States. Currently a student at the University of Michigan, he was the 1984 winner of the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival at the War Memorial.

In the early '70s he was invited to perform on Russian TV and was also the youngest contestant in an international piano competition in Santander, Spain. Since coming to this country, he has performed more than 20 times with the Atlanta Symphony, also with the Atlanta Symphony Pops and the University Symphony Orchestra at Interlochen National Music Camp.

For nine years he gave annual solo recitals in Atlanta, many of which were broadcast on public radio; he also soloed at the University of Michigan and in Birmingham, Ala. In 1982 he won the Concerto Competition at Interlochen.

The March 10 program will open with the Russian Easter Overture by Rimsky-Korsakov, the son of an aristocratic family, who was born near Novgorod, Russia, and who developed into one of his country's most distinguished composers and teachers.

Tickets are $6 for adults and $2.50 for students, available at the door or call 886-6244.

Optimists seek to honor excellence in education

The Lakeshore Optimist Club of Grosse Pointe is soliciting nominations from the five Pointes and Harper Woods for a candidate to receive the Excellence in Education award.

The award will go to someone in the community who has made significant contributions to excellence within the educational system, whether it is a teacher, administrator, public official or citizen acting in a lay capacity.

This is the first time that the award will be presented and the Optimists plan to make it an annual event.

The selection committee will evaluate the nominations by achievement, involvement and commitment to excellence in the educational system.

Nominations should be sent to Robert Keller, Lakeshore Optimist Club of Grosse Pointe, 32 Lakeshore Drive, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236. Deadline for nominations is March 27.

Poster contest exhibit

The Founders Society of the Detroit Institute of Arts recently sponsored a poster contest to represent the DIA's promotion, "Arts and Flowers: A Festival of Spring."

More than 200 entries by artists were submitted and a jury of 10 selected 55 semi-finalists. The semi-finalists were then juried to 21 finalists. Rita Skoczen won the contest with her painting of an arrangement of rubrum lilies in soft tones.

The framed posters for the 21 finalists will be exhibited at Jacobson's Home and Apparel Store from March 2 through 14. On Saturday, March 2, from noon to 4 p.m., there will be a tea reception with the artist.

The horizontal poster measures approximately 22 inches by 28 inches and will be available unframed for $10 at Jacobson's. A signed and framed poster is $60, also available at Jacobson's. Proceeds go to the Founder's Society. The poster is a limited edition of 2,500 and there will only be 100 pieces signed.

Artist association

The Grosse Pointe Artists Association will take applications for membership through Saturday, March 9. Interested artists should contact any association member or Carol Sinclair at 886-8468 for more information.

Membership is attained after jury acceptance of artists' work. The spring adjudication will be held Saturday, March 11.

Besides meetings, demonstrations and critiques, the group also sponsors the annual September War Memorial Art Show and co-sponsors with the Village Merchants Association the Annual Village Art Fair on Kercheval in June.

Bryant for governor?

Bill Bryant for governor?
Stranger things have happened. But it does appear that the Grosse Pointe man who has been the 13th District representative in the state Legislature for 15 years is seriously considering a race for the Republican nomination for governor.

In a telephone interview with the Grosse Pointe News, Bryant confirmed reports published in both Detroit daily newspapers that he is among the potential GOP candidates for governor. He explained his thinking this way:

"I want to take a peek in the window and see what the possibilities are. I don't want to think in later years that I never had looked at the possibilities of running for governor. I first began thinking about it when I saw no one under consideration that I felt I could support."

Bryant, now in his eighth term, told the News he "probably" would seek another term in the House if he decided against running for governor. Bryant was one of six Republicans on a list of potential candidates for state executive compiled by George Weeks, Detroit News political writer, at the recent Republican state convention.

The others were Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, Michigan Congressman Guy Vander Jagt, Senate Majority Leader John Engler, former State Supreme Court Justice Thomas Brennan and Oakland County Executive Dan Murphy. That list didn't include William Lucas, the Wayne County executive who is considering a switch to the GOP and a race for governor.

Bryant may not be as well known statewide as some of the other potential candidates, but he has a solid GOP record. He is regarded as a moderate, has served as the House Republican leader, and in 1984 was recognized by Republicans nationally as an "Outstanding Legislator of the Year." His expertise in taxes would be an important asset in a gubernatorial contest because of the controversies over when to cut the state income tax and whether to rebate the state's surplus to the people.

The Grosse Pointe man also has come up with several recent legislative proposals indicating he has broader interests than those of the 13th District. He is the originator of the Bryant tax referendum amendment which would assure the right of referendum by petition on all tax law changes and has also proposed a three-month tax amnesty for Michigan residents who are delinquent on their taxes.

Under his tax amnesty plan, introduced in the Legislature last week, individuals and businesses could repay without penalties the taxes they owed. The point is, according to Bryant, that many people now afraid to come forward to pay up because of the penalties involved would be encouraged to settle their tax accounts. This is an appropriate time, in his view, because people with delinquencies going back to the recession, might have the funds needed to pay up, now that the economy is rebounding.

Bryant's investigations showed that similar tax amnesty programs in Massachusetts and Illinois had netted those states $65 million and $150 million respectively, leading him to believe Michigan could collect $100 million to $120 million in a similar one-time amnesty deal. The funds could also be used for a one-shot purpose, such as building the new prisons Michigan needs.

The Grosse Pointe legislator's tax referendum amendment provides a special, assured referendum petition right on any tax law, while permitting the tax to continue until it is rejected by the voters. If sufficient names were signed to petitions, the issue would be put on the ballot at a special election held within 75 days or at the general election if one is scheduled within 60 to 90 days.

Bryant explains that his amendment would provide a right not now available on all tax laws. That is because the Legislature often puts appropriations into tax increase legislation which makes the laws immune from referendum. Under Bryant's amendment, appropriations acts would be immune from referendum only when appropriation is the primary subject of such acts.

On two other controversial issues, Bryant offered explanations of his positions that set at rest speculation he was "positioning himself" on those issues for a statewide race. He did not vote on the controversial mandatory seat-belt bill because he was in Washington discussing with that state's legislators the Michigan small business tax, which is a form of the value-added tax under consideration in Washington. He voted in favor of the ban on state-financed Medicaid abortions, taking the same position he had earlier after he learned that more than half of the state's reported abortions were Medicaid-financed.

Bryant now is circulating petitions to put his proposed amendment on the ballot in 1986 but for his friends in Grosse Pointe a more immediate question is whether the Grosse Pointe legislator really will decide to run for governor. It would be a big gamble because it would be "up or out" for Bryant. He could not seek re-election as a state representative if he entered the race for governor.

In his home community, Bryant obviously would win strong support, although the Pointes would feel his loss from the Legislature where he has represented them well. But if he could wage a successful campaign for governor, Grosse Pointe's loss would be Michigan's gain.

Buckle up by July 1

Under pressure from their constituents as well as powerful other interests, Michigan legislators last week finally passed the mandatory seat belt law. That means that starting July 1, Michigan drivers and front-seat passengers will be subject to a $10 fine if the police or highway patrolmen pull them over and find they are not wearing their seat belts.

Michigan thus becomes the fourth state to enact a mandatory seat belt law, following New York, New Jersey and Illinois in that order. As the home of the auto industry, Michigan should have been the first, but it is appropriate that it now becomes one of the leaders in this new effort on behalf of saving the lives and money of those who travel our highways.

At least two auto insurance companies have announced they will reduce their rates 20 percent as a result of the passage. Experience in other countries that have enacted such legislation indicates that there is a substantial saving in lives and in injuries when a greater proportion of the population wears seat belts. That is the reason the Michigan State Medical Society joined other state organizations in backing the legislation.

But the savings go beyond those reductions in auto deaths and injuries. A study at the University of Michigan cited during last year's debate on the issue said Michigan citizens could save $200 million a year in direct and indirect costs by passage of mandatory seat belt legislation. The study cited not only the savings in lives and reduction of injuries but also the reduction in damage to public and private property and lower police and emergency aid expenditures.

The federal government's threat to require air bags in cars unless states with two-thirds of the nation's population enact seat belt laws no doubt helped persuade legislators to pass the bill. But from the comments afterward, it appears that the strongest pressure came from people who themselves had experienced the benefits of seat belts. They cited their own escapes from death or serious injury to prove that buckling up pays important dividends.

True, there are still those who insist they won't use seat belts because of their contention such legislation is an infringement on their constitutional rights. But in the interests of society in general, the state already requires licensing of both cars and drivers as well as many traffic regulations that limit an individual driver's freedom but help protect the public at large. Those who adopt such a libertarian view still have a choice. They can walk or take a bus if they don't want to buckle up.

Enforcement of the new law will begin on July 1, but it would be a good idea for all of us to get accustomed to buckling up before that date. The life we save may be our own.

defended. They are seen even by Shakespeare as evidence of bad weather, although he also could write "chaste as the icicle" that "hangs on Dian's temple" and hanging "like an icicle on a Dutchman's beard." But icicles clearly are not the stuff from which great poems are made.

So in practical terms the Chinese year of the Ox makes more sense. It is, the Chinese say, a period of productivity, a time to cultivate practical pursuits and to carry past projects to fruition, a time when life turns mild and benefits befall the industrious and the oppressed.

So down with the Year of the Icicle and up with the Year of the Ox.

The Year of the Icicle

1985 may be the Year of the Ox, as the Chinese say, but in Michigan it started out as the Year of the Icicle.

Seldom have as many homes in the Pointes been decorated with these graceful trimmings of winter as they have been this winter. True, many icicles dripped to death during last weekend's February thaw. And many residents were happy to see them go, especially after viewing the damage from ice-filled gutters that forced melting snow back up under the shingles and into inside walls.

But don't blame the backup on icicles. They were not the cause, just the result of a hard winter. Despite their beauty, icicles are not often

Is this adequate fire protection?

To the Editor:

The time has come to make the citizens of Grosse Pointe Park aware of errors by the city officials that could directly affect the safety and well-being of not only the citizens of Grosse Pointe Park, but the firefighters, too. On two occasions in the last few months, there have been violations of the minimum safety manning in the fire department of five men on duty. These violations left the city with a fire department that was understaffed to safely and efficiently handle E.M.S. and fire calls.

On both occasions officials were made aware of the violations and possible consequences by firefighter officials; but on each occasion the firefighters' complaints were ignored. These violations occurred when city officials chose to take fire and E.M.S. equipment to repair shops not only outside city limits, but outside the area the fire department responds to in an extra-alarm situation. These officials chose to send the equipment with people who were on duty and reduce minimum safety manning of the fire department, rather than pay an off-duty man two hours overtime to do the job.

This shows a higher regard for the almighty dollar than the safety and well-being of the citizens and firefighters. The feeling here is that the city chose to ignore the violations because of the fire department's opposition to consolidation of police and fire or P.S.O. and also that citizens would never know the difference.

Twice in the last 10 years, the city has tried to have the minimum manpower on duty reduced below five men. On both occasions not only was the five-man minimum upheld, but in one instance the feeling was the department might be undermanned with five. Both these decisions were made by a neutral arbitrator in legal proceedings.

The fact remains that the city chooses to blatantly ignore what has been deemed legally the minimum safety manning on duty in the fire department. The sad reality is the people of Grosse Pointe Park are assuming they have adequate fire protection, when on at least two instances they did not. The fire department has traditionally been put in the spotlight as being the bad guys in contract negotiations, because we stand for what we believe to be in the best interest of the fire department, and the welfare of the citizens of Grosse Pointe Park.

The people of Grosse Pointe Park can decide for themselves who is the bad guy and who is truly concerned with the city's welfare.

To the Editor:

Don't the Grosse Pointe Farms police have anything better to do with their Sunday mornings than to chase runners off of Grosse Pointe Boulevard?

I was told to get out of the street and run on one foot of packed-down, rutted ice and I was told to do this for my safety. I am not going to risk the possibility of twisting an ankle or foot or knee when the street is relatively clear and dry. Most of the time I was running as close to the curb as I would in the summer and at certain points, no further out in the street than a parked car would be.

Winter running is hard enough without the contributory negligence of the police and other motorists who deliberately try to challenge runners out of the street. Let's show a little consideration for each other. Give us runners a break.

Dog brightens patient's stay

To the Editor:

My stay at Bon Secours Hospital was wonderful. They have a fantastic nursing crew and my doctor was wonderful, surgeon was tops, and it was made even more pleasant by an episode that took place every day across the street from my third floor window, which faced Maumee.

I would glance over and watch the brown dog (don't know his name). He would lie on the porch, walk around, doze, because he had time. At exactly 5:45 he stationed himself at the corner, sat down in the snow and ice and waited, turning his head at every car. Finally the car came, turned into the drive and he ran toward it, barking. Then he would go into the house and in another half-hour would come out again and wait for the second car. He greeted them with a bark and went into the house, and I had to wait until morning for another amusing day.

"Yellow House," I hope you know what a faithful friend you have!

Jogging in the street?

Editor's note: As an addendum to this letter, a Farms resident came to the newspaper office last Thursday to relate two incidents and to ask if we could appeal to joggers not to run in streets. The woman, who said she has been driving for 62 years and has never had an accident, said she nearly hit two joggers in separate incidents on the same night. The joggers were running in the street, it was shortly after dusk, and they were both wearing gray-colored clothing, making it difficult to see them.

The driver said she didn't see either until it was almost too late, forcing her to either hit the runner or swerve to the left and hit an oncoming car head on. Fortunately, she said that in both instances, there were no cars coming in the other direction, but the incidents gave her a bad fright. Both occurred on Grosse Pointe Boulevard between Moross and Fisher.

Farms Police Chief Robert Ferber said the city has an ordinance prohibiting jogging on the roadway, however, there was a court ruling that said the road could be used if the sidewalk was impassable. Ferber said that joggers who run in the streets are engaging in an "extremely dangerous and extremely inconsiderate" practice. He asks them to put themselves in the motorist's place, who must bear the onus — and the guilt — if their car hits one of them. "Stay out of the roadway for your own protection," Ferber said, adding that his department will issue $25 tickets to joggers who run in the street.

Pavilion adds beauty to area

To the Editor:
I disagree with the commentary in the Grosse Pointe News Feb. 21 wherein Mr. Shafadeh is supercritical of the pavilion on the Hill.

Overeaters Anonymous

Overeaters Anonymous is a fellowship of men and women who share a desire to stop compulsive eating. Anyone who is interested is welcome to attend a meeting. There are no dues or fees.

Patterned after the 12-step program of Alcoholics Anonymous, the group believes that compulsive overeating is a disease that can never be cured, however, recovery is possible on a daily basis.

Meetings in the area are held at Salem Memorial Lutheran Church, 21230 Moross, on Mondays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 to 11 a.m.; and at St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, 350 Lothrop at Chalfonte on Tuesdays from 10 to 11 a.m.

For more information, call 885-6593.

He sees the structure of the pavilion as a cage-like thing. I see it as an interesting pagoda and I drive past the area most every day. I may never sit on those benches, but I do like having them there. The view of South High may not be so great, but I think the tapestry of students is.

I realize I am not an authority in this field, but I do believe it adds some tangible beauty to the area.

It's a good thing we don't all have the same taste — some people would look at the Taj Mahal and say: "Too much marble."

I do appreciate all the planning, time and effort that went into this project and I think it enhances the area!

Students who walk should be considered

To the Editor:

I am writing concerning the decision that was made by the Grosse Pointe school board not to close on days of subzero temperatures. On a recent morning the temperature was well below zero with a wind chill factor of -60. Every other school district in the surrounding area was closed except for Grosse Pointe Schools. I feel that more consideration should have been given to the students who must walk to school.

It is not true as Superintendent

Spagnoli has stated, that most students are driven. Many students must walk because of both parents working. Others must wait outside of school for long periods before school officially opens. The students' health is in danger on these unusually cold days.

In the future, guidelines should be drawn up to determine at what temperature and what conditions schools should be closed.

School property discussed

Editor's note: This is the fifth in a series of articles emanating from a two-hour taped interview between Woods resident Joseph Callahan and school board President Joan Hanpeter.

Q: Touching on Barnes again, what's the long-term outlook?

A: There have been people interested in purchasing the property. Personally, I think there might be some validity in selling it. However, if these people are right who say we're going to have a baby boom and our schools are going to fill up again, we could never buy any property back. Once we lose it, we could never buy it back. I think we're going to have to reassess that and ask, "Do we want to keep this property or do we want to dispose of it?"

Q: But aren't there a lot of negative population trends for Michigan, suburban Detroit and the Grosse Pointes?

A: Sure.

Q: What about the property that the school system owns and has leased out?

A: We have three or four pieces of property that we have leased out. We leased the parking lot behind Kroger's in the Village to the city of Grosse Pointe. And every time I get a parking ticket there it makes me mad. (Laughing).

We also do that in a trade-off for South High which has a very limited athletic field and has to use Elworthy Field which is another piece of property which is owned by the school system. That whole block across from the Neighborhood Club on Charlevoix is on a long-term lease to the city of Grosse Pointe. In return they keep it up and they put in tennis courts and tot lots. They maintain that property and we use it for some of our athletic programs.

There is also a little piece of property up on the Hill which is a merchants parking lot that the school system owns and leases to the city of Grosse Pointe Farms. Right now we're in the process of looking at all those leased properties to be sure we're getting adequate revenue from them.

Speaking of leased properties, I think that one of the things that has worked out very well is the current arrangement with the city of Grosse Pointe Farms. If you remember last spring, that was a very hot issue as to whether we were getting enough value for that piece of property. And from the comments I hear now, they're very pleased with the way it looks and the improvements both to the site and the city along Kercheval there in terms of our school playgrounds. It's a very good situation.

Q: Those must be very valuable pieces of property. Why were those acquired?

A: They go a long way back. I was on the board seven or eight years even before I knew we owned Kroger's parking lot. (She then explained some of the history of these lots.)

Q: You mentioned the possibility of the school system losing taxes because Grosse Pointe Park might give a tax incentive to the Detroit Ophthalmological Institute. A lot of things appear to be negatively impacting Grosse Pointe taxpayers.

A: Sure. This is why we have to try to be astute. One of the things it's hardest to tell the taxpayers is probably one of the most important things to know — how we manage the money after we collect the taxes and how we invest that revenue and keep the float as low as possible to keep the money invested as wisely as we can. We borrow at as low a rate as we can and we invest it. Our tax rating and our bond rating are so important to our school system. That's why we were so concerned about Proposal C. It would have had a very bad impact on our bond rating and would probably have cost us a lot of money, because we would have had to borrow money at a much higher rate.

Now, if we had summer tax collections — which has been an issue from time to time — we wouldn't

I say

The quality of life

How do you tell someone you love that their days are numbered? Especially when the only language they speak is based on the sound of a gentle voice and the stroke of the hand.

It's Sniffle, my tortoise shell cat, that's sick. Feline leukemia is the culprit that caused me to take her to the vet when her 15-pound fighting winter weight plummeted within days, allowing her red collar, complete with two bells to warn birds of her approach, dangled precariously from her bony neck.

The disease is a cancer of the blood that also suppresses the immune system, making the cat a prime target for all types of illnesses. Death is almost certain within three years from the time the feline is infected.

The vet says she won't ever feel pain, but she'll slowly degenerate or succumb to a minor problem, such as a cold or infection. A vaccine has just been invented, but for her it came too late.

When he told me she could be gone within three months, I remembered what happened when I heard that exact statement before. Then my pet dog was gone in two days instead.

This time I wasn't taking any chances. I decided immediately I'd love her to death first.

I went out and bought all her favorite food, the wet, sticky, smelly kind I can't stand to scoop, but her nose seems to detect from the farthest corner of the house.

She no longer has to fight me for my pillow; it's hers. In return she doesn't make a fuss when I stuff her full of antibiotics and vitamins.

At first glance, she looks like a little street fighter, her face divided into two parts by splashes of orange and black.

But in fact, she's a lover.

Three weeks have passed since the bad news and she's started to preen again. A good sign, says the vet. Daily brushing has helped restore her stately arrogance she'd lost for a while.

This weekend she played with Punkin, my sheltie, and like old-times bounded up and down stairs in games of riotous chase. Yesterday she demonstrated her burst of health and the cancer's remission by greeting me from the top of the fireplace mantle.

In the past these off-limit areas would have been dissuaded with stern warnings which only meant after that I'd hear her paws hit the floor before mine did.

This time I didn't say a word. Instead I grabbed the camera to capture this sassy-faced cat in action.

She's starting to put on weight again and I wonder how long it will last before she slips away for good. A time when all the love in the world won't make a bit of difference.

In the meantime, as far as I'm concerned, the world is hers to enjoy. Until I'm faced with the words of my vet: "When the quality of life goes, you might want to have her put to sleep."

How to complain in Braille

The Michigan Consumers Council, in cooperation with the Michigan Commission for the Blind, has published a Braille edition of the council's "How To Complain" brochure. The brochure is also available in Spanish and in large print for the visually impaired.

"How To Complain" outlines the procedures that consumers are advised to use to resolve complaints against businesses. Among the strategies covered in the brochure are reminders to consumers to determine exactly what solution they are seeking and to gather all relevant documents together before approaching the business.

The idea for preparing a Braille brochure was raised in May 1984. Upon contacting representatives at the Michigan Commission for the Blind, it was discovered that many visually handicapped individuals have consumer complaints, but are not sure how these complaints are best resolved.

Individual copies are available by contacting the Michigan Consumers Council, 414 Hollister Building, Lansing, Mich. 48933; telephone, 517-373-0947. Multiple copies are being distributed by the Michigan Commission for the Blind, Leonard Plaza, 309 N. Washington, P.O. Box 30015, Lansing, Mich. 48909; telephone, 517-373-2062.

The Michigan Consumers Council is a state governmental agency that provides consumer information and referral services to all Michigan residents while serving as a legislative advocate for consumer needs. The council also publishes a variety of other consumer information on landlord/tenant issues, property tax appeals, small claims court procedures and numerous other topics.

Monteith's Jeane Zech will retire She gives her students the gift of music

By Mike Andrzejczyk
After almost 23 years of teaching, Jeane Zech says it's time to move on to other things.

"When I came to Grosse Pointe, I told myself I would teach for just five years. Then when that was up, I told myself just five more," she said as she unpacked T-shirts for the elementary schools honor choir. "It's been 18 years now and I think it's time I went on to something else."

Mrs. Zech started teaching in Grosse Pointe schools in 1967 after 4½ years in Detroit's system. Since then, she's worked at Monteith, Ferry, Richard and Trombley elementary schools, Brownell Middle and North High School.

Because she lives near Monteith, Mrs. Zech said she has more time after school to prepare for the next day or work with children. It has also allowed her to work the elementary school honor choir that was formed his year.

Eight students from the nine buildings were chosen by their music teachers to be a part of the group, which performed last week in Choirs in Review at North. The students had been meeting for 45 minutes after school since January to prepare their selections, which included a medley of songs from "The Sound of Music."

"It has been fun for me to go in there after school and work with all those good singers," Mrs. Zech said, adding she hoped something would go wrong during the performance. The mistakes make each performance individual and are learning experiences for the performers, she noted, adding that how they handled the problems would be a test of her teaching ability.

The honor choir replaces the separate elementary school choirs which operated until last school year. It was Mrs. Zech who helped start the separate choir system, beginning with Ferry school in her early years with the district.

Not having a choir to work with at the school has been "distressing," she said. "I think it's important for students to have a purely vocal music experience."

Primarily a voice instructor, Mrs. Zech is a graduate of Westminster College in New Wilmington, Pa. She taught for a year before her marriage to Chalmers Zech. She didn't return to the classroom until the youngest of their three children entered school.

"I felt that teaching was a good way to stay in music and also give some of my knowledge while I raised my family," Mrs. Zech said. "To me, music is a gift. To be able to perform is a frightening responsibility."

As a professional singer, she performed with church choirs, Mrs. Zech said. "Liturgical music was a way to express thanksgiving."

She plans to continue with music after retirement from teaching. "Maybe I'll get my voice back into shape," she added.

She has enjoyed her years of teaching, she said. "If I hadn't, I would have been out of it years ago," she added, saying part of teaching is varying the program yearly to keep yourself interested and add to the students' experience.

Students' experiences outside the classroom has changed some things inside the classroom, Mrs. Zech said. Because the music they hear outside the classroom has become more sophisticated, students are able to handle more complex rhythms during class, she added.

Sometimes, theory doesn't fit practice, Mrs. Zech said. During the teaching methods class, she said she was told never to repeat exercises to keep the class moving along. But children want to take turns at playing instruments or beating out rhythms, so some things just have to be repeated, she added.

The most important thing a parent can teach a young child is how to make a rhythm, Mrs. Zech said. "The biggest thing is to teach the children how to keep a beat because it's something that's useful throughout their lives."

In a tribute read by board President Joan Hanpeter, the Grosse Pointe board of education thanked Mrs. Zech for "18 years of dedicated service to the children of our community. In that time she has given the gift of music to thousands of youngsters while inspiring all of us to a greater appreciation of arts education... We thank (Mrs. Zech) for her years of professionalism and service to us and wish her all the best in her retirement."

WSU to sponsor forum on parenting

Wayne State University will hold a public forum on "Parenting and the Law: Issues & Answers," Tuesday, March 5, from noon to 2 p.m. at the Hilberry C in the Student Center Building on campus.

The forum will be an opportunity for students, staff and faculty to listen to and participate in a discussion on the legal aspects of single parenting, family role conflict, child care, joint custody and divorce.

WSU panelists will include: Maria Alfars, assistant general counsel; J. Ross Eshleman, professor of sociology; Dorothy Kispert, professor and director of Parents & Children Together; and Fredrica Lombard, professor of family law.

The forum is sponsored by the Commission on the Status of Women.

have to borrow. But we don't have summer tax collection. It's a savings that goes into the pockets of the taxpayers, but it means we have to borrow money to operate each year.

Q: But I get tax bills twice a year?
A: Right. But when you pay in June you're not paying school taxes. In December you pay all your school taxes. Our fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30. So in order to operate the first half of the school year, we have to borrow about $14 or $15 million to operate for the first six months until our taxes come in.

Q: You had a couple of other thoughts?
A: There's a couple of points I want to make about the middle schools that I didn't make before. One is that the board had proposed that we close Pierce as a middle school and put those students in Brownell. That was one of the four schools to be closed in game plan number two.

We did that on the basis that we were going to ask for special consideration to transport some of the students from way down near Windmill Pointe. We hoped that the state would agree that we could transport just those students to Brownell at the school system's expense.

The state turned us down. They told us if we transported any students, we would also have to transport the private and parochial students to the nearest private or parochial school. And we thought we just can't get into all that.

The other point we have to make, particularly in the case of Brownell and Parcels, is that those are really two fine facilities, which the taxpayers have paid for and built. I certainly think you should use your best facilities.

We also have to consider the location. Probably one of our poorest facilities is Defer, but for a number of years it has been our largest in terms of enrollment. It's an old building; it's three levels; it's not easily accessible. But as long as the enrollment stays up, we pretty much have to keep it in service.

Vaccine protects cats from leukemia

Feline leukemia virus infection is one of the leading causes of death in cats, according to the Southeast Michigan Veterinary Association.

A new vaccine developed at the Ohio State University College of Veterinary Medicine will protect cats from this potentially fatal disease that inflicts millions of cats each year. The vaccine is now available to cat owners in the Detroit-metropolitan area.

According to Rob Lerner, D.V.M., the vaccine will protect cats from becoming infected with the virus. However, the vaccine will not rid already-infected cats of the virus.

The presence of feline leukemia virus weakens the animal's immune system and reduces its ability to ward off other diseases.

Since the infection is highly contagious, the association recommends that cat owners have their pets tested periodically for the virus. A small blood sample is required to detect actively infected animals. If the test proves positive, the animal should be isolated and then re-tested.

Outdoor cats in crowded, multiple-cat households run a higher risk of contracting the virus than the single household pet. The virus may be transmitted through mutual grooming, sneezing, sharing of a feeding bowl and litter pans.

Some cats exposed to the virus under natural conditions rid themselves of it through their natural defense system, and are thereafter resistant to infection.

For cats that do become persistently infected, however, the outlook is poor. Life expectancy of an infected animal is about three years.

Symptoms of the virus include lack of pink or red color in the gums, loss of weight, recurring chronic illness and "fading kitten syndrome," a time during which the kitten becomes progressively weaker and depressed. However, Lerner notes that by the time symptoms of the disease are evident, the cat has been infected for several weeks or months.

Drunk drivers, beware!
Farms police are on alert

By Harriet Nolan

Last Friday, a Farms resident driving on McMillan Road veered across the center lane and plowed into a parked car, demolishing both cars. Injuries — 50 stitches to close up a gaping forehead wound, part of an ear missing, shoulder and eye injuries — while gruesome, weren't serious.

A description of the man's condition, according to the Farms police report, indicated he staggered and was unable to recite the alphabet, given as part of the sobriety test. He also refused a blood test to determine if he was drunk.

According to law, a breath test which registers from .05 to .09 is considered impaired. To be classified as drunk, it must read .10 and above.

But being labeled drunk is a misnomer, says Robert K. Ferber, Farms police chief. It isn't always falling-down drunk. It's operating while under the influence and that can be a lot less than the extreme, he said.

"They're not bad people, they're just people who make the serious mistake of drinking and driving," he adds.

Farms police, along with the state, are taking a hard stance on drunk drivers and is cracking down on citizens. Last year, the Farms led the Pointes in the number of OUILs, operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, with 205 arrests.

The Park followed with 70 arrests, Woods, 60, Shores, 21 and the City with five arrests, according to its officers.

The increase in the Farms is due to the fact that one of its officers was killed in 1976 by a hit-and-run drunk driver, and its department was the first in the area to get the breathalyzer and other portable testing equipment which can measure the amount of alcohol in a person's bloodstream.

Ferber also credits younger officers working the night shift with the majority of arrests, the result of techniques learned at Michigan State Police training sessions.

He profiles the typical offender as being between 17 and 65 years old. Men make up 75 percent of the violators.

"Ten percent are repeaters," says Ferber. "In one three-month period, we arrested a resident, who is an attorney, three times."

Lt. Thomas Garvale, of the Michigan State Police Traffic Service Division, agrees with Ferber's profile and notes that the largest number of drivers killed are between 25 to 34 years old.

He says that in 1983, 12,882 people were arrested in Wayne County and expects that 1984 totals, when completed, will increase by about 20 percent. Two hundred twenty-six people were killed in 1983 and 220 died in 1984.

"Apparently people don't believe that alcohol kills," says Garvale. "Because even with the increase of those arrested, we're not seeing a corresponding decrease in the numbers killed on highways."

He cautions that the best defense is using seat belts and says that of 130 people killed last year, who had belts available, only three were wearing them. "More times than not it's the person they hit or the passenger who dies."

"But the enforcement for drunk driving has to come from the community. If they want their agency to work on burglaries, that's where they'll spend more of their time versus fatalities."

"People themselves dictate what is and isn't important," he adds.

Seniors can earn more in '85

Social Security beneficiaries who work will be able to earn more in 1985 without affecting their Social Security checks.

The limit on how much beneficiaries may earn increases from $6,960 to $7,320 for people 65 and over; and from $5,160 to $5,400 for people under age 65. People age 70 and over during the entire year are not subject to the earnings limit, according to Verlyn J. Rebelein, district manager of the Social Security office located at 17420 Mack Ave.

The earning test increases each year with increases in national wage levels. Although one of the most controversial aspects of the Social Security program, it has always been part of the law. It measures the extent of income lost to an individual and his or her family due to retirement, disability or death and thus the amount of benefits payable for a year.

Earnings over the limit reduce the Social Security benefit $1 for each $2 in excess earnings. Under the new limits, a person 65 and over receiving the maximum benefit payable may earn up to $24,528 before all benefits would be reduced, Rebelein said.

Samaritan Health Center's PROFESSIONAL OFFICE BUILDING

Leases are now being accepted for a Professional Office Building on Samaritan Health Center's all new 31-acre, 375-bed "Conner Campus."

The $86 million Health Center, which opened in October of 1984, furnishes comprehensive health care services to Detroit's East Side and beyond. Its "POB" will occupy a two-acre site, and the size will be determined by demand, so now is the time to take advantage of this new business opportunity (later may be too late).

A pharmacy, optical shop, and other health-related enterprises are "in the works." Leasing rates and/or quotes and space planning will be available.

GP Theatre presents 'The Butler Did It'

The comedy thriller, "The Butler Did It," will be performed March 6 through 10 and March 12 through 16 at the Fries Auditorium of the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road. Curtain time is 8 p.m. except Sunday when it is 7 p.m.

In the cast are Dave Keena, Trudi Burnash, Ellen Landers, Patrick Boll, Bill Williamson and Jack Petz. Director is Jesse Villegas. Marge Chesnick is the producer and Geoff Proven is the stage manager.

Technical director is Tom Gallagher, set design by Jesse Villegas and Gallagher, costumes by Eleanor Tuttle, lights by Kevin Asmus, makeup by Sue Petz, props by Nell LePla and Sally LePla, set dressing by Dorothy Kotcher and sound by Francis Dall'Acqua.

Tickets are $5.50. Information and reservations can be made by calling the Grosse Pointe Theatre box office at 881-4004.

Theater-goers can dine in the Crystal Ballroom of the War Memorial before performances. Buffet tickets are available through the War Memorial up until three days in advance of each performance at $9.50 each, tax and tip included. Call the center at 881-7511 for more information.

In a scene from the Grosse Pointe Theatre's production of "The Butler Did It," Dave Keena, Ellen Landers and Patrick Boll know Trudi Burnash was poisoned, but apparently when she was pretending, the real symptoms hadn't appeared yet.

Is your home making you sick?

Making homes airtight for winter has become increasingly popular since the continuing escalation of fuel costs. So the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan asks: Is your home making you sick?

Most people are unaware that sealing their homes "keeps out" the cold but also "keeps in" the pollutants. Researchers have found that air pollution can be greater inside than outside the home.

1. See that your gas range is fitted with a hood fan that vents pollutants to the outside. If that's not possible, keep a window open and use an exhaust fan while cooking.
2. Never use a gas oven to heat your home.
3. If the tip of your gas range burner flame is yellow or orange instead of blue, have the range adjusted.
4. Have your gas or oil company regularly inspect your furnace, gas water heater and gas clothes dryer.
5. If possible, convert your gas appliances from pilot light to spark ignition.

6. Make sure stoves and heaters are vented to the outside and are crack-free.

7. If you use a kerosene heater, burn a low-sulfur fuel, fill the heater outside and keep it clean and properly adjusted.

8. Never use a kerosene heater in a closed room or overnight or where there are people with breathing difficulties, the very young or the elderly.

9. Never use a kerosene heater that is unvented.

10. Kick the cigarette habit. Refuse to allow smoking in your home. At the very least, reduce cigarette smoking by using an air cleaner or by opening a window and using an exhaust fan. Note, however, that many of the inexpensive "desk top" cleaners are relatively ineffective in removing gases and small particles.

11. Don't use a microwave oven if the door does not close tightly.

12. Never leave a car or lawn mower engine running in an attached shed or garage.

13. Read all the print on the container and follow the directions carefully when using aerosols and other household and personal care products. Be sure to have adequate ventilation for the product you are using.

14. Never cook with charcoal inside your home.

15. Open the fireplace damper before lighting a fire and keep it open until the ashes are cool.

16. Reduce formaldehyde by increasing ventilation, by using an appropriate air cleaner or heat exchanger, or by covering sources of formaldehyde with appropriate coatings and sealers.

17. Cover exposed asbestos in plastic and/or duct tape to provide an airtight seal rather than remove it.

18. If asbestos in the home is flaking be sure to use a professional to solve the problem.

19. Clean air conditioners, air ducts, humidifiers, dehumidifiers, heat exchangers and microwave ovens regularly.

20. Check with your state or local health or environmental protection department or with the geology department of a nearby university to determine if there are sources of high radon levels in your area.

The Seine

Kathleen Dusek, artist and film maker, will present "Paris and the Seine" at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 14, at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts. The film depicts the blend of romance and industry along France's historic waterway. Tickets at $4 for adults and $3 for students and senior citizens are available at the box office or can be reserved on credit card by calling 286-2222 during the week.

From the heart

The Second Chance Heartline Unit, a group of individuals who have had heart surgery, presented a check for $9,000 to St. John Hospital for angioplasty equipment, which is used to relieve obstructions in coronary arteries. The group provides emotional support to others undergoing surgery and also raises funds for cardiology work done at the hospital. Pictured among some of the equipment are, from left, Farms resident Patricia Ott, administrative director, Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory; Shores resident Kyung-Soo Kim, M.D. cardiologist; Russ Santoro, president, Second Chance Heartline Unit; Marvin Ninneman, second vice president, SCHU; and Farms resident Vlado Kozul, M.D., director, Cardiovascular Disease and Catheterization Laboratory.

Stop smoking clinic

Saint John Hospital's Patient Education Center will offer a stop smoking clinic from Monday, March 18, through Friday, March 22. The five-day withdrawal program, coordinated by oncologist Dr. John H. Burrows, will be held in the hospital auditorium from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Each session will feature various medical physicians who will provide information and technique training for successful smoking withdrawal. Literature will be distributed and films presented to encourage knowledge and positive actions to quit smoking.

Early registration is requested and will not be accepted at the door. The fee is $20. Call 343-3870 to register. The hospital is located at 22101 Moross just west of Mack.

Snowmobile deaths up

There have been eight snowmobile-related deaths this winter season, according to Secretary of State Richard Austin. One recent weekend recorded three deaths.

Austin, chairman of the state Safety Commission, said that with the exception of restrictions for operators under 16, no license and no training or testing are required by law to operate snowmobiles. For this reason, operators must train themselves.

At the same time, they are exposed to more risks than other motorized vehicles. Falling through ice and being struck by motor vehicles are the leading causes of snowmobile deaths and injuries. Turning over and striking trees and buried obstacles are another major cause of deaths and injuries. Reducing speed helps reduce this type of accident, Austin said.

Tax tips

Q: I live in Atlanta, and in 1981 I had to travel to Baltimore for two weeks of medical tests and treatments. I deducted the cost of my motel room, because $28 a day beats $100 a day for a hospital room. IRS checked my return and disallowed the deduction. I need to go again next year. Has there been any change in the tax law that would now let me deduct the cost of the motel room while I'm there getting medical attention?

A: Yes. Beginning in 1984, medical expenses include lodging up to a limit of $50 per day. However, the cost of meals while there is not deductible.

Q: About four years ago I paid $10,000 for a building lot. Last year I sold it to my mother for $7,000. Do I have a capital loss or an ordinary loss?

A: For tax purposes you do not have a loss at all — at least you cannot deduct it. Losses on sales to related persons are not deductible.

GP Singles

The Grosse Pointe Singles will meet Friday, March 1, at 7 p.m. in the library at the War Memorial. Guest speaker will be Marilyn Morgan, staff member of the War Memorial. Her topic will be "The History of the Alger House."

The wine and cheese party will be held Sunday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. There will also be information at the meeting about the dinner dance March 23 at the Detroit Yacht Club and the newly formed Widowed Group which is scheduled to meet Sunday, March 31.

All of these events as well as the post-meeting afterglow and Wednesday night dances are open to single men and women in the area. For more information, call 882-0316 or 885-2232.

Noye's Fludde

Performances of "Noye's Fludde" (Noah's Flood), written about extensively in last week's issue, will take place Friday and Saturday, March 1 and 2 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, March 3, at 5 p.m. at Christ Church on Grosse Pointe Boulevard.

Ticket information is available by calling the church office at 885-4841.

Camera club

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet Tuesday, March 5, at 7:45 p.m. at the Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte, in the Farms.

Along with the monochrome print and pictorial slide competition, a mini-program will be announced.

Millionaire's party

The Parents Club of Notre Dame High School will present its annual Millionaire's Party Saturday, March 2, from 7:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. The event will be held in the Notre Dame cafe, located at 20254 Kelly Road in Harper Woods.

Donation of $5 includes $3 in chips. There is free parking. For more information, call the school at 371-8965.

Cinema League

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "South Asian Odyssey," a 16mm movie by Leo Tallieu, in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Drive, Monday, March 4, at 8 p.m.

In the Philippines, a visit is made to Manila and the island of Luzon. In Sri Lanka there is footage of Colombo and Kandy's Temple of the Tooth. There is also an interesting sequence of Batik being made. Featured in Malaysia are the island of Penang with its snake temple and Kuala Lumpur. Bangkok, Thailand is photographed with its exotic temples and the Royal Palace. There are movies of Thai boxing and colorful folk dancing.

The public is invited. Admission is $1 for non-members.

Community Events

Cape Cod trip

The War Memorial will sponsor a week-long trip to Cape Cod, May 26 through June 1, that will include such attractions as a whale watch cruise, a lobster clambake and visits to Hyannis, Provincetown, Sandwich and Newport.

A no-obligation informational meeting on the trip itinerary will be held Wednesday, March 6, at 7:30 p.m.

Other trip features include a turn-of-the-century train ride aboard the Cape Cod & Hyannis Railroad, visits to Chatham, Wellfleet, and tours of the Heritage Plantation, the John F. Kennedy Memorial and St. Francis Xavier Church.

The cost of $589 per person, based on double occupancy, includes deluxe motorcoach transportation, accommodations, a pool party, and a welcome cocktail party.

Anyone who is unable to attend the informational meeting can call the War Memorial at 881-7511 for more information.

Mothers' Club

Grosse Pointe Woods Municipal Judge Patricia Schneider will speak Monday, March 4, at the 12:45 p.m. meeting of the Grosse Pointe Mothers' Club in South high school's Cleminson Hall.

The judge will share her views about teenage concerns as she experiences them in the courtroom, and will also talk about the effect of amendments to the state drunk driving law.

The public is invited to attend. A short business meeting will be conducted by club president Pat Jeffs to discuss plans for the Spring Fest Luncheon and Fashion show, to be presented by event chairman Judith Mathews.

Music series

Onita Sanders, harpist and soprano, will appear at St. Mary's College, located at Commerce and Orchard Lake roads, Sunday, March 3, at 3:30 p.m. Her appearance is in conjunction with the Music at the Galleria series sponsored by the school and the Friends of Polish Art.

Miss Sanders has performed throughout the United States at festivals and in operas and has numerous recordings to her credit.

Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for senior citizens and students. For more information, call 682-1885.

The Wiz

Bishop Gallagher High School will stage the musical, "The Wiz," Friday and Saturday, March 1 and 2, and the following weekend, March 8 and 9, at Lakeview High School in St. Clair Shores.

All performances will begin at 8 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door of the auditorium and also in the school library during school hours.

The auditorium is located on 11 Mile Road between Harper and Little Mack. Lighted parking is available.

China cruise

Back from looking over the facilities aboard the M/S Pearl of Scandinavia is Woods resident Judi Orhan, center, who will be the tour escort for the War Memorial's China Explorer's Cruise this fall. She is shown with Captain Steffen Justesen and Barbara Jacobsen of Pearl Cruise headquarters. Early reservations are suggested. More information about the Sept. 19 to Oct. 6 cruise may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Finance classes

The War Memorial will offer three courses focusing on personal finances beginning Thursday, March 7, when Shirley Schlee, CPA, presents "Tax Tips to Save Money."

The evening will provide information on the Tax Reform Act of 1984, and ways to take full advantage of tax credits and deductions. The session, which will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., costs $5.

"Planning For Your Child's Education," will meet on Tuesday, March 12, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Investment adviser Sandra G. Yelensky will discuss trusts, gifts, and investments. The cost is $5.

"Using Your Business as a Tax Shelter" will also be offered by Ms. Yelensky on two consecutive Tuesday evenings, March 26 and April 2. Students will explore various options, including family employment, deferred compensation, use of professional advisers and other corporate benefits. Both sessions will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The cost is $10.

Difficult people

A workshop, "Successful Interactions, Dealing with Difficult People," will be offered twice at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore. There will be an evening session Monday, March 11, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and a morning session Tuesday, March 12, from 9 to 11 a.m. The workshop is sponsored by the Junior League of Detroit.

Chris Evans, a counselor in private practice and a self-employed trainer specializing in interpersonal communications, stress management and career/life planning, will lead the workshop.

The fee is $4 for materials and reservations are required by March 7. Make checks payable to Junior League of Detroit, Inc. and mail to Human Resource Development, Junior League of Detroit, 32 Lakeshore Drive, Grosse Pointe Farms 48236.

Alcoholism program

Brighton Hospital's Community Education Program on chemical dependency will continue on Tuesday, March 5, with a discussion of how alcoholism affects family members.

The free program begins at 6 p.m. with a filmed lecture by the Rev. Joseph Martin. A trained counselor will answer questions afterward from the audience and discuss how family members can obtain help for a loved one who is alcoholic and for themselves.

The Community Education Program is held on the first Tuesday evening of each month and is currently concentrating on providing family members with basic information about alcoholism and substance abuse.

Brighton Hospital is located on East Grand River, near Exit 151 of the I-96 freeway. For more information, call 227-1211, ext. 276.

VA facts

Q - How may a veteran be released from personal liability on his GI loan when he sells his home?

A - If the loan is paid in full in the sales transaction, the veteran is automatically released. If the purchaser assumes the loan, the veteran must contact the Veterans Administration to obtain a release from the liability-indebtedness agreement he signed at loan origination. If the purchaser is acceptable to VA from a credit and income standpoint and assumes liability to repay the loan and to indemnify VA, the veteran-seller may be released. Veterans are urged to contact VA for instructions before any sale is closed.

Q - Can a veteran draw Veterans Administration compensation even though his or her disabilities are service-connected but rated as non-compensable?

A - Yes. When a veteran has two or more non-compensable service-connected disabilities that are permanent and clearly interfere with normal employability, a 10 percent rating may be assigned.

North to host band festival

The Grosse Pointe North Bands and Orchestra will host the Michigan School Band and Orchestra District 16 Festival Saturday, March 9. The festival will be held in the Community Performing Arts Center at North High from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. It is open to the public at no charge.

District 16 includes schools in Macomb and St. Clair counties, eastern Oakland County, the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods.

Expert adjudicators will judge each performing group in a half-hour concert performance, followed by a sight-reading test in another room. Fourteen high school bands will perform at North, while three additional sections of the festival will be held at other District 16 high schools.

Grosse Pointe North Symphony Band, hosts for the day, will perform first on the program, at 8 a.m. The band will be conducted by North Instrumental Music Director Nathan Judson, who will also be host chairperson for the local festival section.

For more information, call 343-2240 or 343-2187.

Forensics students take 13 awards

Thirteen Our Lady Star of the Sea high school students won honors at the Detroit Catholic Forensics League Tournament Saturday, Feb. 9, at Mercy High School.

In Original Oratory, Michelle Noran and Kathryn Elbri tied for first place, and Mo Petersmark placed first in Impromptu. In Declaration, Helen Bellanca won first place and Sue Quinlan, third. Cheryl Casquejo was awarded third place for Dramatic Interpretation.

In Radio News, Maricelle Casquejo placed third and Whitney Saval fifth. Jane Sullivan placed fifth in Extemporaneous Speaking. Cathy Cavanaugh also won fifth place in Serious Interpretation.

In Storytelling, Beth Nelson won fifth place while Colleen Weir placed fifth in Humorous Interpretation. Sandy Nowak was sixth in the category of Oral Interpretation.

ULS Romeo, Juliet is set in future

Shakespeare's classic story of the star-crossed lovers in "Romeo and Juliet" will be set in the future in The Player's spring production at University Liggett School this weekend. Director Phill Moss has chosen to use the Bard's original lines, but has included a futuristic setting and costumes that will alter the overall effect of the production.

Performances will be held at the Main Auditorium of the Cook Road Campus at the following times: Friday, March 1, 7:30 p.m.; Saturday, March 2, 8 p.m.; and Sunday, March 3, 2 p.m.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1.25 for students. For more information, call 884-4444.

Nursery school opens enrollment

Thirty members of the Assumption Nursery School learned a little more about the development of their charges during a recent presentation by Sally Keller, consultant for Children's Information and Assessment Services affiliated with the Gesell Institute.

Assumption School, located at 22150 Marter Road, will add two new rooms to its program and is now enrolling students for the fall. For more information, call 772-4477.

Is this lion looking for lunch?

You may rest assured this gentleman has the full attention of his young Richard School audience. Actually, he's no gentleman at all, but a not-so-scary lion on the rampage from George Bernard Shaw's short story "Androcles and the Lion." The story, based on an Aesop's Fable, was acted out by Anje Rozecki (pictured here as the lion), Diane Haddock and Rennie Kaufman of the Metropolitan Youth Theatre, at the school recently and served the students a message about friendship, loyalty and trust.

North bands to play festival preview

Grosse Pointe North Bands and Orchestra will present a preview of their District Festival performance on Thursday, March 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Performing Arts Center at North High School.

Conductor Nathan Judson will lead his student musicians in the music of Purcell, Rimsky-Korsakov, Saint-Saens, Sousa and Alfred Reed.

North students will host the District Band Festival on Saturday, March 9, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with the North Symphony Band leading off at 8 a.m. Fourteen other high school bands, including Grosse Pointe South, will also play.

Four adjudicators will rate them on tone, intonation, rhythm, technique and musicianship. First division winners will be eligible for the state festival April 27.

Parcells will be the orchestra site on March 16. North's orchestra will play there at 1:30 p.m. Orchestras from South High School, Brownell, Parcells and Pierce Middle schools will also perform at Parcells. Both events are open to the public at no charge.

Anything boys can do...

The computer team of Regina High School was the first all-girl team to compete in the finals at the University of Detroit Computer Bowl VIII last month. Some 60 schools began in the preliminaries and Regina was one of 17 teams that participated in the finals. Shown are, from left, Tina Babusci of East Detroit, Luanne Becker of Grosse Pointe Woods, Diane Harvey of East Detroit and Nancy Vandermeij of Detroit.

North performers do well at festival

North High students, performing solo and in ensembles, earned 13 Division I ratings at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association District 16 Festival Feb. 9 at the Chippewa Valley High School in Mount Clemens.

Nearly 6,000 students from the district, which includes Macomb and St. Clair counties, portions of Oakland County and Harper Woods and Grosse Pointe, performed for adjudicators to earn ratings of I to IV, with I the highest.

Students who earned I ratings included Lisa Inoue, cello; Mary Kuszynski, viola; Larry David, trumpet; George Deeb, clarinet; Jean Werthman, piano; Helen Mihelic, piano; Jill Dornbrock, flute; Andrea Geibel, violin; and Kurt Zimmermann, violin.

Ensembles earning top ratings were Inoue and Zimmermann, string duet; Irene Pugel and Geibel, violin duet; Tammy Donahue and Deeb, clarinet duet; Shaina Tanner and Krystin Dohn, flute duet.

Earning Division II ratings at the festival were Emily Kolinski, cello; Tanner, flute; Fran Obeid, piano; Marlissa Miller, violin; Tricia Maslowski, clarinet; and Erik Kuszynski, horn.

Ensembles taking Division II ratings were Tom Pugel and Brian Carrick, trumpet duet; Shannon Andrewes and Laura Strong, trumpet duet; and a brass quintet of Larry David and Strong, trumpet, Kuszynski, horn, and Jeff Fleming and George Nichols, trombone.

ULS schedules admission testing

Admission testing will be held at University Liggett School, on Saturday, March 2, for Lower, Middle and Upper schools.

Testing is one of four steps in the admissions process and the results help to suggest whether the student would be able to succeed at ULS. Other steps include a personal interview and tour of the facilities, a review of the applicant's school records and teacher recommendations and a completed application form.

So that attendance at University Liggett School need not be decided solely by family finances, the school provides financial assistance for students of demonstrated need and special merit. Approximately one of every five students receives some financial aid. Students interested in making application for financial aid should apply for admission early.

For further information about the school, or its testing procedure, call Ethel Burwell, admissions coordinator, at 884-4444.

values more than offsets a 3 percent increase last year. The City increase offsets the .8 percent decline recorded last year.

Woods homeowners saw their property values increase by 2.2

percent in 1984 and values in the Farms increased by about 4.6 percent last year. This is the second year of falling values in the Shores. Last year, values declined 1.7 percent.

How to appeal

So your property assessment went up and you don't think it should have. What should you do next?

Get ready to go before your local board of review.

Boards will meet March 12 and 26 in the Woods, Park and Farms; March 5 and 11 in the Shores; and March 18 and 19 in the City. Call your local city hall for hours the board will meet.

Appointments will be taken in the Shores and City. Complaints of assessments should be made in writing after inspecting the assessment roll in the City's municipal building at 17147 Maumee from 9 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. next Monday through Friday. Appointments will be taken in the Shores starting today. All other bodies operate on a first-come, first-served basis.

If there's a big difference between this year's and last year's assessment, call your local assessor first. There may be a mistake that can be cleared up without going before the board of review.

Last year, assessors gave some advice for people going before the board of review.

• Be prepared. Get a list of five to 10 homes you think are comparable to yours in age, size and location. Go to the local city hall and ask to see the field sheets or field cards for the addresses you've noted, and check the assessments for them. If they're consistently lower than yours, you've got a case.

• Be organized. Go before the board with pictures of the comparable homes, a picture of yours and the assessments for all of them. You don't need any more than 10 to prove your case, so don't do statistical surveys of all homes the size and age of yours in the community.

• Be brief. Don't bother complaining about taxes because the board of review is usually made up of other members of your community who pay the same taxes you do.

• Be patient. If your board operates first come, first served, you may be in for a few minutes wait, depending on the number of appeals.

Other things you may want to bring with you are things the assessor is unaware of that affect the value of the home. These include severe structural damage caused by settling or fire. Don't tell the board your house needs to be painted, therefore it's not worth much.

If you're selling your home and the assessed value is more than twice the price you expect to receive, bring in the ads listing the sales price or copies of bids consistently under twice the assessed value.

If you bought your home in the last year and your assessment is more than half the sales price, bring in documentation of the price you paid.

You can also call your local bank or real estate agent to see if either will do an appraisal of your home. That information is useful during the review hearing.

Clark receives printing award

Thomas A. Clark, who lives in the Woods, was awarded National Printing Week's Ben Franklin Award at the Detroit Aircraft Club's monthly luncheon held last month at the Michigan Inn in Southfield.

Employed at the Service Engraving Co., Detroit, for 46 years, Clark, a camera expert, was selected for the honor on the basis of his contribution toward professional excellence and for his 15 years of teaching this craft to aspiring apprentices at the Graphic Arts Institute.

As recipient of this third annual Ben Franklin award, Clark is the first bench tradesman to receive this honor within the graphic arts industry which encompasses all professionals involved in newspapers, advertising agencies, magazines, periodicals, etc.

Clark, 70, is a member of the Graphic Communications International Union, Detroit/Toledo Local 289. He is also serving a second consecutive term as secretary of the Detroit Litho Club.

A member of the Grosse Pointe Woods Lions Club for the past 30 years, Clark served three years as president and secretary of the organization. He and his wife Carolyn have two sons, Thomas Jr., 32, and James, 29, both residents of California.

Two homes robbed

Grosse Pointe Farms police report two homes were robbed last weekend. A video recording system and jewelry valued at more than $7,000 was taken from a home in the 100 block of Beaupre on Feb. 22, police said.

The residents theorize someone entered between 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Entry was gained when the rear porch door leading to the inside of the house was kicked in, according to the police report.

A home in the 300 block of Balanger was robbed of stereo equipment, cash, jewelry and a coin collection on Feb. 24, said police, by thieves who entered through the side door.

Traffic safety

Michigan residents who have questions about traffic safety can call a toll-free number operated by the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning. The number is 1-800-852-0851.

Residents can get answers to questions about child car seats, safety belts, drunk driving, school bus safety and other traffic safety issues. The line will be operated 24 hours a day. Questions will be recorded on an answering machine and processed at the beginning of each business day.

Non-public schools reach out for students

when there aren't strong public schools, there needs to be an alternative available to parents."

ULS is geared to the average and above-average student and offers college preparatory programs, Ms. Maycock said. "Frankly, because we're college-prep, we don't offer some things that public schools do," such as vocational education programs, she added.

Although the school doesn't have a particular religious affiliation, it prides itself in educating "caring community people who are going to become good, caring citizens," Ms. Maycock said. "Our children should learn the value of working for our community" and to do this, the school offers a variety of volunteer opportunities for students to take part in, she added.

The school has always served the metropolitan Detroit area and is spending more time, energy and money to get its message out to communities throughout southeastern Michigan, Ms. Maycock said. Students do transfer from public school to ULS, usually at grades six and nine, she said.

The school also offers a pre-kindergarten program, in which 69 students are currently enrolled, Ms. Maycock said. Some of those students may go on to public schools, but better than 60 percent of them will enroll in ULS classes.

The student population at the school has remained steady over the last 15 years, according to ad-bench." From an AP Indiana State radio wire.

Introduction to a mid-newscast commercial. "More on that coming back. I'll be up in a moment," Robert MacNeil-NBC news.

HOW'S THIS FOR A CLARIFICATION? "Clarification. An article yesterday about new laws in the area reported that Maryland had raised its minimum drinking age to 20 effective July 1. While that is technically correct, the law in question was passed in 1982 and raised the minimum age to 21. But it phased in the increase over a three-year period, so that no one already eligible to drink was affected. The same rule still applies: To drink legally in Maryland one must have been born before July 1, 1964." The Washington Post.

As for the Grosse Pointe News, we've had our share of dumb headlines. We're not in the book but three I can remember are: "No talks are held" and "Students visit big gravel pit," and "Dutch elm disease ravishes Grosse Pointe."

And now, if you can stand it, here's my favorite headline on the morning of the Illinois-Ohio State football game when Illinois would be playing without the services of its star running back, Frosty Peters:

"Illini face Bucks with Frosty Peters Out" — The Daily Illini, Champaign, Ill.

Sort of says it all, doesn't it?

missions coordinator Ethel Burwell. There were 880 students enrolled in the school's lower, middle and upper school in 1970, and there are 879 this year, she said.

Because the school feels strongly about maintaining a mix of socioeconomic classes, it has increasingly become a metropolitan area school, Ms. Burwell said. "Increasingly, we've reached outside of the Grosse Pointe area" and now the school has students enrolled from nearby communities as well as Port Huron, Rochester and Dearborn, she added.

Besides smaller class sizes, non-public elementary schools offer a variety of programs. St. Peter has a Montessori program for its students.

Other K-8 schools have relatively steady enrollments, administrators said. Grosse Pointe Christian Day School has 81 students this year, up from 69 last year. Our Lady Star of the Sea grade school has 401 students in K-8 programs this year, 21 more than last. Grosse Pointe Academy has 275 this year, compared to 273 last year and St. Paul has 438 students, four more than last year.

St. Ambrose School has 18 fewer students this year than last, according to officials there. This year, there are 250 students in the pre-school through eighth grade classes, compared to 268 last year. Liggett also lost students this year, with 494 in K-8 programs, compared to 520 last year. St. Peter also lost students, with 420 attending the programs this year, compared to 435 last year.

St. Clare of Montefalco lost six students this year from last, when 566 attended the program, officials there said. However, there were 60 students who enrolled in kindergarten, while 82 graduated from the eighth grade, meaning the school should have lost 22 students. The school picked up those students at different grade levels and has a waiting list of students who can't yet be enrolled, school officials said.

Non-public high schools, like non-public grade schools, have also held on to enrollment. Our Lady Star of the Sea and Regina High School, both all-girl schools, report increased enrollment this year over last, while ULS and Notre Dame and say they have fewer students this year in the 9-12 programs they offer. Bishop Gallagher and Lutheran High East each said enrollment was very close to last year's.

Religion in the classroom and curriculum is one of the reasons parents send their children to schools like Bishop Gallagher, Star of the Sea, Regina, Lutheran East and Notre Dame.

"We can, by law, pray in the classrooms and public schools can't. I'm not making any value judgments, just stating the facts," Lutheran East principal Dave Eiferi said.

"Parents want Jesus Christ in the classroom, in the discipline policies and the decisions that are made here," he added.

Bishop Gallagher's Brother Glen

Neiner agreed, saying his school offers a program comparable to public high schools. The difference is the Catholic learning environment with the Catholic value system, he added.

Gallagher has expanded the number of parishes it serves, Neiner said. Originally, the school accepted students from three parishes but demographic changes demanded the school open its enrollment in the 1970s. Now the school accepts students from about 60 parishes in the tri-county area, he added.

Non-public high schools also offer strong academic programs, according to William Raymond at Notre Dame. Ninety percent or so of the students there go on to higher education, and last year, $460,000 worth of scholarships were made available to the school's 224 graduates, he added.

The school offers a seven-period day, with some Saturday offerings. There are pre-med programs available for talented juniors through two local hospitals, which provide lecturers to supplement the school's instructors, Raymond said.

Just about 80 percent of the students at Notre Dame come from non-public grade schools.

The school relies not only on its present students but its alumni, Raymond said. Students go out and tell the tale of the school while alumni send their children to Notre Dame, creating a family business atmosphere, he added.

Raymond concedes his students are coming to school from farther away than in the past.

Just about half the students at the school come from Wayne County, with the rest from Macomb and beyond, he said. Only 20 to 25 of the students enrolled there come from Harper Woods, where the school's located, and could attend the public high school.

Non-public schools don't see themselves competing with public schools for students. Parochial and independent schools offer parents a choice other than public schools and it is parental choice that maintains the two systems, Neiner said.

Eiferi agreed competition isn't really the way to describe the roles of public and non-public school. "We are basically a Christian school and I think we're a better choice."

Animals go to school

It was pretty much of a standoff in a staring contest that three-year-old Susan Ponton and her mother Terry had with a big tom turkey at Mairie School last week. The turkey, along with other farm animals including a milk cow, pigs, goats, ducks, geese and sheep visited the school to give students a hands-on learning experience with animals they seldom see. Was it a hit? Just ask Tony Cimini, 7, and Allen Mederos, 7, below, what they thought of it. Smiles that big just don't lie.

Music for a While

To celebrate its 10th year, Music For A While, the chamber concert series at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, will present a special concert on Sunday, March 17 at 3 p.m. Tickets, at $7.50 including reception, are available by calling 884-7815. Seating is limited to 160.

The afternoon will feature music for oboe and piano and piano duet. Oboist is Nancy Ambrose, with Virginia Shover, pianist. Muriel Hoptman and Alice Ellison will present several original works for four hands at one keyboard.

Selections will include music by Bach, Poulenc, Ravel and Lalliet for oboe and piano, and piano duets by Rachmaninoff, Gilber, Barber and Agay.

Early reservations are encouraged because seating is limited.

Opera series

Mercy College of Detroit will continue its 1985 Performing Arts Series with "Gems from Opera and Operetta" Tuesday, March 12, at 8 p.m. The program will feature solo and ensemble numbers from 10 different operas, operettas and Broadway musicals.

Tickets are $5; students and seniors, $2. For more information, call 592-6224.

WHO CARES ABOUT VIETNAM VETS?

WE DO. Are you one of the 9 million American men and women who served in the military during the Vietnam era? If so, you may share a feeling common to many vets—that the country you so loyally served has forgotten you since your return.

Today, you can do something to change this by joining the Vietnam Veterans of America, the largest national service organization devoted exclusively to meeting the needs and guaranteeing the rights of Vietnam-era veterans.

Established in 1978, VVA has grown to more than 145 chapters throughout the country, actively working in areas such as employment, federal benefit claims, Agent Orange treatment legislation, mental health care and assistance to the disabled.

VVA needs increased membership in order to broaden its objectives and strengthen its impact on the lives of Vietnam-era veterans everywhere. Please join us.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

We know it's still a 'ways away . . . but the time to order your tickets for the Detroit Grand Opera Association's 1985 pre-Met Week opera lecture series, which begins in early April, is early March — and March begins tomorrow!

And there's not a better way to make sure you REALLY enjoy this spring's DGOA-sponsored Metropolitan Opera tour performances (May 20-25 at Detroit's Masonic Temple Auditorium) than to sign up for this six-session series designed to broaden your background and knowledge of the historical period, plot and musical highlights of each of the '85 Met Week productions.

Course instructor is a Pointe resident, Wayne State University's Dr. Jack D. DuBois, familiar to area music lovers for his various lecture series, former producer and host of WDET's Detroit Opera House program.

As in past years, he'll give the pre-Met Week opera lectures at three different metropolitan area locations, one of which is our own Grosse Pointe War Memorial. He'll be holding forth there on Mondays, Apr. 8, 15, 22 and 29 and May 6 and 13, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays, starting Apr. 9, he'll repeat the program for Oakland County area residents, speaking from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Southfield, at Lawrence Institute of Technology's Architecture Building.

And on Wednesdays, starting Apr. 10, he'll give it a final go for Dearborn area residents, at the University of Michigan-Dearborn Extension's Classroom-Office Building, also from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

There's a very practical reason for holding all three series concurrently. Suppose you sign up for the series in your particular area, and something comes up, and you have to miss a particular Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday program. Not to worry: you can pick it up at one of the other locations on a more convenient night.

Fee is $35 for all six sessions. Checks should be made payable to the Detroit Grand Opera Association and mailed to Opera Lectures, Detroit Grand Opera Association, 500 Temple Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48201. It is VERY IMPORTANT to indicate your course location on the check.

Anything more you want to know about the pre-Met Week Opera lectures? The DGOA's office number is 832-5200. Don't put off calling too long: this series has always been very popular, and enrollment is limited.

Despite the weather, the show went on, and the Garden Club of Michigan's Valentine's Day display at Jacobson's Store for the Home was a beautiful, blooming success, as was the Sponsors Preview on the slippery, snowy evening before the flower show formally opened to the public. Pictured above with her Best of Show Jade Tree is Margaret Gram, wearing a sweater and a smile, two things very much in evidence at the Sponsors Preview. For a while there, the show's organizers were definitely NOT smiling: the Garden Club of Michigan, a member (one of the founding members) of the Garden Club of America, had arranged for GCA judges from other cities within this three-state GCA zone to come in to judge the show — but there was virtually NO going or coming as the snow came down, and came down . . . so, at 10 p.m. on the evening before the Sponsors Preview evening, the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan's Millie Machuga got a call — "What are you doing tomorrow?" — and Millie, at the last minute, arranged for Federated Garden Clubs judges Margaret Heftler, Nancy Passfield and Myrtle Palmer to work with two GCA student judges who HAD made it to The Pointe. And the show went on. And, despite the weather, the Sponsors Preview drew a grand crowd, Garden Club of Michigan husbands and wives, mothers and daughters (the Garden Club of Michigan has several mother/daughter combinations, among them Thumper Haggarty and Alice Wardwell, Bliss Clark and Elsie Caulkins and "the two Ginnys," Lambrecht and McMillan), who slid and skidded their way to The Village. "It's like disaster parties," Bliss exclaimed. "Everybody came!" And everybody had a grand time.

Home in South for Schadlers

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Alan Schadler, who vacationed in The Bahamas following their Saturday, January 19, wedding in First Presbyterian Church, Concord, N.C., are at home in Charlotte, N.C., where she works at the Episcopal Child Care Center and he is employed by the North Carolina National Bank.

Mrs. Schadler is the former Lillian Morris Crosland, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David Bailey Crosland, of Concord. Mr. Schadler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Schadler, of Blairmoor Court.

The 3 o'clock rites at which The Reverend James B. Holderness presided were followed by a reception at Concord's Cabarrus Country Club. The bride wore a white organza gown featuring a scoop neckline, fitted, elbow length sleeves and a fitted bodice of embroidered organza. Embroidered organza panels accented her full skirt, which ended in a chapel train.

She chose a chapel length, illusion veil, accented with pearl clusters and held by a wreath of silk orange blossoms, and carried a cascade of white and Stirling Silver roses, stephanotis and English ivy.

The bride's sisters, Mrs. Nathan Ernest Winslow, of Scotland Neck, N.C., and Miriam Frances Crosland, of Concord, were matron and maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Nancy Carol Cockran, Cynthia Rose Clyburn and Juanita Lee Kee, all of Concord.

Their tea length dresses of aubergine satin were styled with crystal-pleated, off-the-shoulder bodices, natural waistlines and full, gathered skirts accented with a satin bow at the side. Each carried a bouquet of white roses, gypsophila and English ivy.

David Joseph Schadler came from Hinsdale, Ill., to act as best man for his brother. Guests were seated by the bride's brother, David Bailey Crosland III, and brother-in-law, Mr. Winslow, and by Mark Alan Marshall, of Kalamazoo, Eric Ozar, of Southfield, and Peter Long and Mark Dixon Dodd, both of Charlotte.

The mother of the bride wore a cocktail length dress of mauve chiffon, featuring a full skirt and white lace jabot, and a wrist corsage of Stirling Silver roses.

Scalloping edged the cocktail length hem and long sleeves of the bridegroom's mother's grey lace jacket dress, which featured a peplum. She pinned her corsage of Stirling Silver roses to a grey evening bag.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Terepin, of Warren, Mr. and Mrs. William Radoye and Ann Radoye, of Williamsburg, Va., and Mrs. David Joseph Schadler and Mrs. Mark Alan Marshall, who accompanied their husbands.

Julie Meier to be bride

August wedding plans are being made by Julie Ellen Meier and Thomas Murray Peck. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Page, of Dean Lane, and John L. Meier, of Naples, Fla. Mr. Peck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Murray Peck, of Syracuse, N.Y.

Miss Meier, a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate, holds an Associates degree in Computers from Kalamazoo Valley Community College and a Bachelor of Science degree in Fashion Merchandising from Western Michigan University, where she affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority.

Her fiancé was graduated from Christian Brothers Academy in Syracuse. He holds an Associates degree in Automotive Technology from the State University of New York and a Bachelor of Science de-

Fall wedding date is made

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Harrison, of University Place, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Helen, to David Stewart McIntyre, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McIntyre, of Kercheval Avenue.

Pair exchange vows Jan. 26

The 1 o'clock ceremony Saturday, January 26, in Grace Reformed Church, Holland, Mich., at which Ginger Lucille Hawkins and Duane Allen Vanden Brink exchanged marriage vows was followed by a reception at the church.

Presiding at the rites were The Reverend Folkert Faber and The Reverend Larry Hawkins, of Lakepointe Avenue, father of the bride. She is also the daughter of Mrs. Mabel Hawkins, of Beaconsfield Avenue.

Soloist Susannah Kist sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Gift of Love." Organist was Paul E. Ter Beek. Both are friends of the bridal couple.

The former Miss Hawkins selected a traditional wedding gown, long-sleeved, ivory in color and styled with an embroidered lace yoke and a chapel length train. Chantilly lace edged her fingertip veil, which fell from a small cap studded with tiny pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, freesia and pale blue-tipped white miniature carnations.

Honor attendant Cathleen Cox, of Portage, bridesmaid Deborah Brower, of Holland, and the bride's personal attendant, her sister Bonnie Hawkins, in floor length dresses of pale blue taffeta, styled with elbow length, puffed sleeves, carried navy-tipped white miniature carnations and white roses.

Flower girl Rosalie Rypma, the bridegroom's niece, wore a long gown styled with short, puffed sleeves, ivory in color and sashed in pale blue. She carried a bouquet of white roses and daisies.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Vanden Brink, of Holland, asked Kevin Walker, of Holland, to act as best man. Ushers were Darwin and Doug Vanden Brink, brothers of the bridegroom, and Harlan Rypma, their brother-in-law.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom both selected street length, long-sleeved dresses, the former's royal blue in color, the latter's royal blue and taupe. Each wore a corsage of yellow roses and white miniature carnations.

The newlyweds vacationed in Frankenmuth and are at home in Holland.

Dr. and Mrs.
Joseph F. Przeslawski

Vows spoken in The Pointe

A reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club followed the wedding of Patricia Gail Blinkhorn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David H. Blinkhorn, of North Brys Drive, and Dr. Joseph Francis Przeslawski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Przeslawski, of Van Antwerp Road, Harper Woods.

Presiding at the 5:30 o'clock ceremony Saturday, July 21, in Saint Michael's Episcopal Church on Sunningdale Park was The Reverend Robert E. Neily.

The bride's gown of lace and chiffon over taffeta featured a beaded lace bodice and long, lace sleeves. Her lace-hemmed veil fell from a headpiece of beaded lace, and she carried a cascade of white roses, orchids, daisies and stephanotis.

Honor matron Patricia Ford Ruggiero, of Colorado Springs, Colo., and bridesmaids Cynthia Barkhouse, of Windsor, Nova Scotia, Canada, cousin of the bride, and Julie Johnson Joachim wore long dresses of white chiffon over orchid Qiana, styled with ruffled hems and ruffled, off-the-shoulder bodices.

Orchid satin ribbon tied their bouquets of lavender orchids and stephanotis. They wore matching flowers in their hair.

Best man was Henry Blind. The bride's brother, David Blinkhorn, and the bridegroom's brother, John Przeslawski, seated the guests.

The mother of the bride wore a formal length, spaghetti-strapped gown of orchid Qiana. The bridegroom's mother also chose a formal length gown, lavender in color, its sleeveless bodice covered with a chiffon jacket clasped with rhinestones at a banded neck. Each mother wore an orchid corsage.

The newlyweds vacationed in Hawaii. They are at home in Warren.

Ready for 56 Auction action

JO CURRAN, of The Woods, Travel Board chairman for the 17th annual Channel 56 Auction airing Apr. 12 through 20 on WTVS/Detroit, and "Illinois Smith," also known as WOMC's TOM RYAN, this year's Official Auction Host, are ready for the Auction action, looking for lots of vacation packages and weekenders that make the Travel Board such a popular feature of the annual fund raiser for Detroit's public television station. "We also need volunteers from the Grosse Pointe area to help canvass are merchants for donations to the Auction," says Jo, herself a three-year 56 Auction volunteer veteran. "I can refer people who want to be donation Go-Getters to area chairman Audrey Platt." To donate or volunteer, call Auction Central, 873-7200. Jo and her husband George have three grown children. Her hobbies include swimming, scuba diving and skiing — and considering the footgear she favors, one can't help but think she'd REALLY enjoy a Himalayan trek!

GP Alliance offers France to a student

The inscription on its letterhead reads: "a non-profit, non-political American organization for the purpose of increasing contacts and understanding between Americans and France" — and in keeping with this purpose, the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe has once again firmed up plans for its Annual Scholarship Competition for high school students proficient in French.

The winner receives round-trip air fare to Paris and a summer month's study at the Alliance Francaise there, while boarding with a selected Parisian family. The second place winner will enjoy a week in Quebec City, Canada, including round-trip transportation and hotel accommodations.

Additionally and traditionally, all students who participate in the competition (except for the two top winners) are eligible for a drawing. Prize is a weekend in Montreal, Canada.

The written examination will be held Saturday, Mar. 9, under the supervision of long-time Pointe Alliance scholarship chairman Dr. Antoine Nahoum, at the Pointe home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Wilkinson. High school juniors and seniors who are studying French and are student members of the Alliance, or whose families belong, are eligible to enter.

Any student who has lived after the age of 6 in France or in a country where French is a principal language, or who lives in a home where French is the family language, is not eligible to compete.

The Pointe Alliance's current

Pointe Branch to participate in AAUW Week celebrations

The Grosse Pointe AAUW joins branches coast to coast in celebration of Mar. 3-9 as American Association of University Women Week, saluting AAUW's commitment to issues concerning the home, the community, the nation and the world.

"Honor Your Heritage; Invest in Your Future" has been chosen as theme for the week, which recognizes the past contributions and continuing relevance of America's oldest and largest national organization for women.

Of special significance are AAUW accomplishments in the field of education: the efforts of its members to open the doors of higher education to women, to provide scholarships and fellowships for advanced study, to improve the quality of all education. And not to be overlooked is AAUW support of programs to prevent juvenile delinquency, to develop day care centers and to improve mental health.

The Grosse Pointe Branch, which started in 1944 with 30 charter members, has grown to include approximately 450 women, full-time and part-time careerists, homemakers, professional women, artists, busy volunteers, full-time and part-time students. Their common denominator is a baccalaureate or higher degree from an AAUW-approved college or university.

In addition to looking backward to yesterday's growth and accom-

Shores Garden Club to meet

Co-hostesses Mrs. Arthur Colton and Mrs. Anthony Vinci will assist Mrs. Richard M. Blatchford when she welcomes members of the Grosse Pointe Shores Garden Club to her Briarcliff Place home at noon tomorrow, Friday, Mar. 1. Following luncheon and a business meeting, Elizabeth Kuhlman will report on the Grosse Pointe Shores Civic Improvement Association.

school liaison chairman Richard McMullan, a teacher of French at De La Salle Collegiate, has distributed literature on scholarship rules and deadlines to the French Departments of area high schools. Dr. Nahoum will judge the examinations with the assistance of Alliance members Pierre Augier and Danielle deFauw, both of whom were born in France.

Plan Genealogical Society's meeting

Genealogical Research in Fort Wayne, Ind., will be the topic of Michael S. Clegg, director of the Genealogical Department of the Allen County Public Library, at the Detroit Society for Genealogical Research's free, open-to-the-public meeting Saturday, Mar. 9, in the Detroit Public Library on Woodward Avenue, opposite the Detroit public program is scheduled for Thursday evening, Mar. 7, in the Grosse Pointe Central Library, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road.

As a grand finale to AAUW Week, the Grosse Pointe Branch will hold its annual meeting and luncheon on Saturday, Mar. 9, at noon in the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House. Guest speaker will be British historian and writer Robert Lacey, author of "Majesty" (a best-selling biography of Queen Elizabeth II), "Princess" (about the current Princess of Wales) and "Kingdom: Arabia and the House of Sa'ud." He has chosen "Royal

The Pointe AAUW's current "Pens for Peace" project, an essay writing contest for seventh and eighth grade students in the Grosse Pointe School District, emphasizes worldwide concern for peaceful solutions to potentially volatile problems, and the student's personal need to think clearly and express his/her opinions in a direct and competent manner.

Deadline for this contest, made possible by an Issue Implementation Grant from the Educational Foundation of the AAUW, is Mar. 15, 1985.

Grosse Pointe AAUW's 18 study groups, which consider many cultural, academic and societal subjects in a casual format, provide members an opportunity for life-long learning, whatever their age or interests. An on-going series by the local branch's Legislative Committee focuses on the changing economic status of women, and continues to be of special interest to both AAUW members and people from the community.

The series' next open-to-the-Griffiths to speak to widows' group

Lieutenant Governor Martha Griffiths will speak on "The Woman's Role in 1985 Politics" at a 7 p.m. meeting of the Widow's Organization on Wednesday, Mar. 13, in the Henry Ford Centennial Library, Dearborn. She will also report on how the state can help ease the plight of the "needy" widow.

Additionally, the program will feature Dearborn Heights District Judge Leo Foran, speaking on legal problems encountered by widows, and will conclude with a talk by a Blue Cross representative, on health insurance and hospitalization.

Plans are being completed for the Widows' Organization's sixth anniversary party. It's set for Wednesday, Apr. 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the Dearborn Civic Center. Further information on these events and/or the organization may be obtained by calling 582-3792.

His program begins at 2 p.m. and will cover basic research and available resources in Fort Wayne, one of the stops on the early explorers' routes into the interior of continental America. Genealogical publications and supplies will be sold after the meeting.

Families" as his subject for the day.

"Aristocrats," Lacey's latest book to be accepted for publication, will come out in the United States next fall, and the author will be host and guide on a BBC television series with the same title. Part I will be shown locally beginning Wednesday, Mar. 6.

Lacey now lives in Grosse Pointe, while researching a projected book on the Ford family.

Information on AAUW/GP membership may be obtained by calling 886-3597.

Venture Club plans a party

Looking for a cure for cabin fever? The Venture Club of Grosse Pointe, an organization for young business and professional women, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Soroptimists, invites you to its first annual "Hangin' in 'til Spring" fling this Saturday, Mar. 2.

The party, featuring dance music by the Urbations, begins at 8 p.m. at a downtown Detroit private club. Beer, wine and snacks are included in the ticket cost of $12 by advance sale, $13 the day of the event. Proceeds will be donated to the Michigan Lupus Foundation, a non-profit charitable organization.

Reservations may be made by sending checks, payable to Venture Club of Grosse Pointe, to 2174 Van Antwerp, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich. 48236. The numbers to call for more information are 882-5644 or 882-8576.

chestra Hall Ball, doesn't it? This year's black tie gala, scheduled for Tuesday, Mar. 12, is a tribute to George and Ira Gershwin and takes its theme from their classic American opera "Porgy and Bess." A special guest of honor will be the legendary Cab Calloway, whose involvement with Orchestra Hall dates back to the days when, as the Paradise Theater, it was one of America's premier jazz concert showcases.

Calloway's most recent appearance at the Hall was as a featured artist in the "Return to Paradise" concert series in November of 1978. He'll receive a Distinguished Service Award at the Porgy and Bess Ball.

A second award will be presented to Grosse Pointe's Alice Kales Hartwick who, in addition to being a major contributor to the arts community in general, was one of the first to recognize and support efforts to save and restore Orchestra Hall, scheduled for demolition in 1970, and continues to be a major benefactor in that cause.

Mitch Miller, honored at last year's Orchestra Hall Ball, is returning as conductor of volunteer musicians from the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Gail Nelson, who appeared in the recent Broadway revival of "Porgy and Bess," will be featured soloist in a short recital featuring original Gershwin scores.

The ball, major annual fund-raising event for Orchestra Hall, begins at 6 p.m. with a cocktail reception and concludes with dancing until the last couple is too tired to dance another dance. Sounds like a super way to support the renaissance of one of Detroit's acoustic and architectural treasures, doesn't it?

Anything more you want to know about the Porgy and Bess Ball? For additional information or to receive an invitation (tickets are $125 per person), call 833-3362 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Artrain's Music of Art

Artrain's Music of Art exhibition, marking the centenary anniversaries of Bach, Handel and Scarlatti, previews in Detroit next week, Mar. 4-9, before traveling on to communities throughout the state in the next three months.

It's a thematic show, focusing on the influence of music upon visual art, and features Baroque musical instruments and paintings, sculpture and other media illustrating a wide range of art styles. A specially produced audio-visual program introduces visitors to the musical and artistic styles of the Baroque Era.

Artrain's three gallery cars, studio car featuring live demonstrations and caboose will be on the tracks just east of downtown's Renaissance Center. There is no admission fee for The Music of Art, although donations are requested to help defray tour costs.

Anything more you want to know about Music of Art? The number to call for details on Artrain's tour sites and exhibition hours is 871-2910. Take our world for it: it's well worth a visit.

Tau Beta Honors its Own

A very surprised Mrs. Frederick S. Ford very graciously accepted the Eloise Jenks Webber Award, in recognition of her many years of service to Tau Beta Association, from Mrs. George Haggarty, Tau Beta's outgoing president, at the association's annual meeting, held early in the year at the Country Club of Detroit.

Despite the cold, Tau Betans turned out in record numbers for the luncheon gathering. The agenda included introduction of new senior members Mrs. Douglas Blatt, Mrs. Virginia Carlin, Mrs. Desmond Davies, Miss Carolyn Elvidge, Miss Katherine Endicott, Mrs. William Finkenstaedt Jr., Mrs. Edwin Fisher, Mrs. Richard Grow, Mrs. John Jagger, Mrs. Peter Kross, Mrs. John Mabley, Mrs. Richard Platt, Mrs. James Sanford, Mrs. John Scherer and Mrs. Christopher Terry.

Speaker was Bob Trutner, the Tau Beta Camp director. He illustrated his comments with slides taken during the Michigan affiliate of the American Diabetes Association's session at the camp, located in Columbiaville, Mich. which last summer hosted more than 400 diabetic children.

Mrs. Julius Huebner, incoming Tau Beta president, was introduced, along with her new board members. Mrs. W. Gerald Warren is association vice-president. Mrs. Francis Brossy III is camp vice-president. Association and camp treasurers, respectively, are Mrs. William Gilbride and Mrs. Edwin MacKethan III. Corresponding and recording secretaries, respectively, are Mrs. Edward McDermott and Mrs. Henry Earle III.

Other members of the board are Mrs. Charles Whitney, Miss Bethine Whitney, Mrs. Craig Curtiss, Mrs. Robert Peabody, Mrs. Robert Ollison, Mrs. Eugene Gargaro, Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Charles Endicott, Mrs. William Lafer, Mrs. Donald Chamberlin, Mrs. Robert Lambrecht, Mrs. Gordon Riggs, Mrs. Charles VanDusen II, Mrs. William Zoufal and Mrs. John Ottaway Jr.

Artists Market takes a 'look'

Eleven area artists (six women, five men; eight painters, three sculptors) are featured in an exhibition "The Look of Things: Realism in Detroit" running now through Friday, Mar. 15, at the Detroit Artists Market on Randolph Street in Harmonie Park.

The show was juried by Robert Wilbert, of the Wayne State University Art Department. Exhibiting artists will discuss their work, inspiration and "way of looking" on Wednesday, Mar. 6, at a 7 p.m. panel presentation moderated by Tom Parish, himself a realist.

Reservations for the presentation, which is open to the public, may be made by calling 962-0337. It will be held in the Artists Market's Main Gallery.

Running concurrently with "The Look of Things," in the Upper Gallery, is an all-media show of work by local artists, selected by Richard Rilaits, juror, and the Market's Jury Committee.

ALCW has full schedule

The American Lutheran Church Women Board of St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church meets the first Wednesday morning of each month at the church, Chalfonte Avenue and Lothrop Road.

The board consists of Sue Askew, president; Helen Fick, vice-president; Mildred Koeplin, secretary; Beverly Henry, treasurer; Carol Gutman, stewardship chairperson; and Linda Von Gunten, education chairperson.

The St. Paul Evangelical ALCW has three circles which meet each month. Naomi Circle, led by Dorothy Chauvin, met Tuesday, Feb. 19, at 12:30 p.m. at the church.

Phase I seeks to assert self

Bonnie Firley, an instructor and program coordinator of Adults and Professionals in Continuing Education at Macomb Community College, will tell members of Phase I, the single, young adults, ages 25 to 40, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, "How to Be More Assertive in Talking — and Also in Relationships" this Sunday, Mar. 3, at 7:45 p.m.

Phase I also has a social/sports activity scheduled for tomorrow, Friday, Mar. 1, when bowling at Harbor Lanes, Jefferson Avenue near 10 Mile Road, begins promptly at 9:15 p.m. A late-night snack will follow the games.

Schedule ABWA 'Shower of Spring'

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will hold its first annual fund-raising social event on Saturday, Mar. 9, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Donation for "Shower of Spring," a luncheon and fashion show presented by Betty Magee of Hudson's Eastland, is $15 per person.

Reservations must be made by next Monday, Mar. 4. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Dian Wollesen at 886-5074.

ABWA, founded in 1949, now has a membership of more than 110,000 women employed in all aspects and on all levels of business throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. The association is dedicated to the professional, educational, cultural and social advancement of women.

Last year, ABWA chapters awarded more than $2.5 million in scholarships to woman students.

PEO to mark Founders' Day

PEO Sisterhood will celebrate its 116th Founders' Day Luncheon on Saturday, Mar. 2, at the North Congregational Church, Civic Center Drive in Southfield. The event is sponsored by the Detroit Reciprocity, which represents chapters in the Greater Detroit area.

A receiving line of state officers and past-presidents will form at 11:30 a.m. Luncheon will be served at noon. The afternoon guest speaker is Gwen Frostic. Lucille Ladouceur, chairman of Reciprocity, is planning the luncheon, with assistance from Ruth Econ and Chapter AE, responsible for this year's Founders' Day program.

PEO is a philanthropic and educational organization dedicated to bringing increased opportunities for higher education to women. It was founded as a college sorority on the campus of Iowa Wesleyan College on Jan. 21, 1869, when seven young woman students pledged themselves to charitable and educational purposes.

Today, PEO groups can be found on college campuses, in retirement and resort areas and in foreign countries. There are over 5,085 chapters, with approximately 219,000 active members, in all 50 states and six Canadian provinces. Michigan has a membership of 5,000 in 132 chapters.

The Sisterhood owns Cottey College, a two-year college for women in Nevada, Mo. It sponsors International Peace Scholarships for foreign women to pursue graduate studies in the United States and Canada, then return to their home-lands to serve their own people.

PEO's Educational Fund is a revolving loan which has provided more than $8,000 to over 16,000 women needing financial aid for post-high school education. Recipients need not necessarily be members of the Sisterhood.

PEO's newest project is the Program for Continuing Education, established in 1973 to provide grants to mature women seeking to continue their education. Applicants are recommended and sponsored by local PEO chapters.

Take a day to view art

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial is sponsoring a fully-guided day trip to the Detroit Institute of Arts on Tuesday, Mar. 12, to see "Primitivism in 20th Century Art," an exhibit of nearly 200 tribal objects and 100 modern works on national tour.

A bus will leave the War Memorial at 9:30 a.m., returning at 2 p.m., allowing plenty of time to view the critically-acclaimed show which presents selected pairings of modern and tribal works of art in order to demonstrate their common denominators and illustrate how modern artists understood and appreciated the works of tribal people.

Art by Picasso, Klee, Miro, Gauguin, Pollack, Moore, Ernst and Matisse is included in the exhibit which takes a familiar masterpiece and details, with actual examples, the various styles of African art to which it would appear to be indebted. Masks and paintings, hung on adjacent walls, can be studied line for line.

Primitive pieces from ethnographic museums and private collections have been juxtaposed with modern works that have been directly or indirectly influenced by them.

Cost of the day trip is $14.50 per person, including transportation, admission to the Primitivism exhibit and lunch in the DIA's private dining room. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Print program for Fox Creek

Mrs. Charles Lawler will serve as co-hostess when Mrs. Eugene Jackson opens her East Jefferson Avenue home to members of the Fox Creek Chapter of Quakers at 12:30 p.m. next Thursday, Mar. 7. Guest speaker Wanda Lee will show her collection of Currier & Ives.

Fashion Fantasy prizes

DSO dates for Kremer

The virtuoso violin highlights Detroit Symphony Orchestra performances when Gidon Kremer plays Paganini's music tonight, Thursday, Feb. 28, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, Mar. 2, at 8:30 p.m. in Ford Auditorium, with Paavo Berglund, guest conductor, on the podium for his second week of concerts.

Tickets, ranging in price from $10 to $19, are available at the Ford Auditorium box office, 567-1400, Hudson's and CTC/Ticket World outlets. Discounts are available for groups of 10 or more by calling 446-0909.

Kremer, born in Latvia and educated at the Moscow Conservatory, has won prizes in both the Queen Elisabeth Competition in Brussels and the Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow, and has received the Grand Prix du Disque and the Deutsche Schallplattenpreis for excellence in recordings.

His repertoire encompasses all the standard works as well as

Woods Garden Club to meet

Members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Garden Club will bring sandwiches to the Hampton Road home of Dona Ireland, who will be assisted by co-hostess Marge Carlson, at noon next Tuesday, Mar. 5.

Dona, historian for the club during all its 40 years of existence, will present the program. She promises a display of arrangements members have made during the past 40 years: some for nursing homes, some for showers, some for their own personal enjoyment.

Fashions featured by Macomb PSI

The Macomb Chapter of Professional Secretaries International will present a spring fashion review, featuring clothes and models from Hudson's Oakland Mall, on Wednesday, Mar. 27, at Penna's of Sterling Heights.

Cost for the evening, which begins with cash bar cocktails at 5:30 p.m., is $18 per person. Reservation information may be obtained by contacting Arlene Washburn at 247-1414, Barbara Walter at 727-2583 or Arlene Maberry at 689-1335 after 6 p.m.

Spring Dance Slimnastics sessions set

The Dance Slimnastics Ltd. aerobic fitness organization begins a new series of spring aerobic dance classes in the Pointe area the week of Mar. 4. The new session, "Team Work," will run for eight weeks.

Sitter service is available for classes meeting at Christ the King Lutheran Church on Mondays and Wednesdays at 9:30 a.m. and Mondays and Thursdays at 4 p.m., and at First Lutheran Church, Detroit, on Tuesdays and Fridays at 9:30 a.m.

Christ the King will host evening classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:45 p.m. Evening classes will also meet at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, on Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:45 p.m., and at the JFK Library in Harper Woods, on Mondays and Wednesdays at 7 p.m.

Students need no previous dance or athletic experience to enjoy a Dance Slimnastics session. The routines are preceded by a series of floorwork exercises designed for concentrated toning of waist, hips and thighs. Persons of all ages are welcome.

Under the club's unique free class option, members have the opportunity to work out aerobically, losing inches, toning muscles and improving the heart and lung system, as many times per week as desired. The class fee covers the cost of two one-hour sessions per week; extra workouts are available at no extra cost.

Dance Slimnastics' "Recruit A Rookie" feature enables eligible students to earn a discount on future class fees by sponsoring new students.

Further information on the Dance Slimnastics program may be obtained by calling 886-7534 or 882-6634.

Church Circles meet Tuesday

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Women's Association Circles meet next Tuesday, Mar. 5, at 9:15 or 9:30 a.m., 1, 7:30 or 7:45 p.m., according to their regular time schedules.

Serving as hostesses are Joyce Edwards, in her Chalfonte Avenue home, Anne Bleich, in her Hawthorne Road home, Trudy Carey, in her Cadieux Road home, Irene Burchard, in her South Rosedale Court home, Hazel Bramley and Merle Cole, in their Lothrop Road home, and Janet Miller, in the church lounge.

Refreshments and fellowship precede Bible study at these monthly circle meetings. Visitors are welcome. Further information may be obtained by calling Pauline Dykstra, circles coordinator, at 882-5330.

Bridge Group meets Mar. 6

All members of the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club who enjoy bridge are invited to attend a meeting of the Woman's Club's Bridge Group next Wednesday, Mar. 6, at noon in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Alger House. Mrs. William Hayduk, bridge chairman, will accept reservations until noon Saturday, Mar. 2.

Time to select chrysanthemums

The Greater Detroit Chrysanthemum Society has begun preparations for its 25th Annual Chrysanthemum Plant Sale, scheduled for the first weekend in June, and has compiled a list of more than 108 chrysanthemum varieties.

Included are the popular ornamental cushion, football and giant early mums — and a new, tall, light bronze garden mum named "Tiger." Plants are rooted and grown by the nation's best growers, then shipped to the local society which pots and plants them for the annual sale.

Copies of the 1985 Chrysanthemum Catalogue may be obtained by sending a 22-cent stamp to Edwin M. Slesak, plant sale chairman, 33451 Rayburn Avenue, Livonia, Mich. 48154.

Short and to the Point.

Marine Pvt. Andrew R. Clay, son of Henry A. and Christine B. Clay, of Lothrop Road, has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego. He is a 1984 graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School.

Paul Eaves, of Aline Drive, recently was awarded a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering from Lawrence Institute of Technology. Eaves is the son of the late Ralph and Janet Eaves.

various contemporary violin pieces by Henze, Stockhausen, Schnittke and Pert. Tonight and Saturday, he will play Paganini's Violin Concerto No. 4 in D Minor: a work written in 1829 but hoarded by the composer during his lifetime, so that only he could perform it.

These concerts mark its first DSO performances. Kremer last appeared with the Detroit Symphony in November of 1980.

Also on the program are two orchestral works: Mozart's Symphony No. 33 in B-flat Major, K. 319, written in 1779, during an unhappy time when Mozart reluctantly returned to the employ of Archbishop Hieronymus Colloredo in Salzburg, and Symphony No. 4 (The Inextinguishable), by Danish composer Carl Nielsen.

The latter work was begun in 1915, when World War I affected the creative impulse of many artists. Its title came from Nielsen's own optimistic comment that "Music is life, and, like life, inextinguishable."

The Mozart symphony was last performed at DSO subscription concerts in 1963, with Eugene Jochum conducting. The DSO's most recent performance of the Nielsen symphony was led by Sixten Ehrling in 1973.

Children of Mary now on Retreat

The Reverend Anthony M. Tocco, of St. Margaret's Parish, is giving a three-day Retreat at the Grosse Pointe Academy for members of the Children of Mary, Academy Alumni and their friends. The program began yesterday, Wednesday, Feb. 27, and concludes tomorrow, Friday, Mar. 1. Participants bring a sandwich and a Bible to each session.

The Children of Mary and Alumnae of the Sacred Heart recently heard Sister Cora McLaughlin, RSCJ, give a report, with slides, on Early Influences in the Life of Janet Erskine Stuart, RSCJ, Sixth Superior General of the Society of the Sacred Heart.

Approximately 60 persons attended the Friday, Feb. 1, presentation, which featured readings from Mother Stuart's writings.

Sister McLaughlin has traveled extensively in Europe, researching the lives of her order's founders, St. Madeleine Sophie Barat, and Blessed Philippine Duchesne, RSCJ, who brought the order to America in 1818. Sister McLaughlin has given previous slide presentations on both women to the Children of Mary and alumnae.

An Important Statement from Borland-Johnston Associates of Earl Keim Realty

A STANDARD OF PRINCIPLES PERTAINING TO THE TRANSACTION OF REAL ESTATE

Borland-Johnston Associates of Earl Keim is the new name of a highly respected Grosse Pointe Real Estate company which has been in business in our community for many years. We believe that with the change, it is appropriate to inform you of our commitment to serve you as dedicated, professional and career-committed Realtors.

Helping You to Sell Your House

We take our fiduciary responsibility to you, the Seller, very seriously. This firm and the lister of your home will listen carefully to your reasons for selling, prepare a market appraisal and counsel you on pricing. We will design a marketing plan utilizing proven and sophisticated marketing procedures. We belong to both the Grosse Pointe and Macomb Multi-list systems, and these together with local newspapers and other specialized media guarantee your house the widest exposure to qualified prospects. Working closely with other Grosse Pointe real estate companies, we make sure they are thoroughly familiar with the merits of your house and assist them in showing it. We believe that signs and Sunday open houses contribute greatly to the quick sale of most houses, and with appropriate exceptions, we will usually recommend these important components of your market plan. Your agent will check with our referral services for transferring executives and other qualified buyers. Your agent will also help you to handle the requirements of the Certificate of Occupancy ordinance and work with municipal authorities on your behalf. Whether you are still in your house or have already moved, your agent will stay in touch with you regularly to keep you informed of the activity and progress toward a sale. If your house is vacant, we will check it carefully on a regular basis. When your house is sold, we will handle all of the details of preparing accurate closing documents and reviewing them with you or your attorney prior to the closing date. It will be our goal to sell your house QUICKLY, for the HIGHEST POSSIBLE PRICE, and WITHOUT INCONVENIENCE for you.

Helping You Buy a New Home

Whether you need a larger home or a smaller one; whether you are currently living here or being transferred to the area, we will listen carefully to your requirements and review all homes available on the market. Your agent will check the new listings on our computer first thing every morning and immediately notify you of new listings on the market which would be of interest to you. Your agent will personally show you every home you wish to see, and counsel you on price, condition of the property, location and recent comparable sales. We will negotiate with the sellers and their agent to acquire the house for you at the fairest price possible. You will be provided with all of the information you require to make the RIGHT decision. This may be one of the most important financial decisions you will ever make, and NO ONE WILL PRESSURE YOU IN ANY WAY — THE DECISION WILL BE YOURS.

Ethics

Borland-Johnston Associates will at all times conduct its business with integrity. All of our agents will observe the Standards of Ethics and Procedures as set down by the National Association of Realtors as well as everyday business ethics. We believe that honesty is not only the best policy, but is also good business.

Referral Services

Borland-Johnston Associates belongs to two referral services which regularly refer transferring executives to us to help them locate new houses for their families. These services greatly expand the potential market for your home.

Other Services

We are a full service company; able to direct buyers to the best financing through a computer link to New York and provide detailed information on time sharing or purchase of properties in the finest resort areas.

It is not possible in this limited space to discuss all of the services you may require or we wish to perform. Whatever you need in real estate services, whenever you need it, you need us. Please call any time. We have 27 highly experienced, career-committed agents working from two conveniently located offices ready to serve you.

professor of Library Science; and Dr. Harlan L. Hagman, of The Park, former professor of Higher Education.

Mr. and Frank Billner, of Brys Drive, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at a party in their honor at the German American Cultural Center on March 2. The Billners, Pointe residents for 43 years, were married March 5, 1935.

Among Northwood Institute students named to the Dean's List for the fall term are Pointers Jody A. Long, Dawn B. Rogers, and Terri L. Yeomans, of Harper Woods. Students so honored earned at least a 3.0 grade point average.

Knighthood is in flower in Michigan

Alex Manoogian, chairman of the board, Masco Corporation, Sister Verence McQuade, S.S.J., former Superior General of the Order of the Sisters of Saint Joseph and vice-president, Saint John Hospital, and David B. Hermelin, partner in the insurance firm of Hermelin, Colburn, Colburn, Blumberg and Steinberg, Troy, will be honored as the 31st annual recipients of Knights of Charity awards at a black tie-preferred dinner this Saturday, Mar. 2, at 7 p.m. in the Westin Hotel's Columbus Ballroom.

Grosse Pointe is "home ground" for two of this noble trio, and the NEWS is their hometown newspaper . . . so, though we have no wish to slight Mr. Hermelin, a Birmingham resident — maybe his hometown newspaper could spotlight him as "Eccentric of the Week?" — we're concentrating in this article on our Knight and Lady of Charity. Herewith some background information on Grosse Pointe's about-to-be Knight:

ALEX MANOOGIAN was born in West Turkey, in Smyrna, and came to the United States in 1920. He settled first in Bridgeport, Conn., working in a number of small stores and a screw machine business, then moved to Detroit to be near the Canadian border, hoping to find an easier route to bring his family into the States.

In 1929, with two partners, he formed Masco Screw Products Company, servicing the automobile manufacturers. Masco weathered the stock market crash, the Depression and a 1937 fire. Its turning point came in 1954, when Mr. Manoogian received a contract to manufacture machined parts for a new faucet: the single-handed type, which didn't work.

He first secured the sales rights, then re-designed the faucet. It's today's Delta Faucet, which exceeded $200 million in sales in 1983 alone. Today, Masco has nearly 12,000 employees in more than 100 manufacturing facilities in 11 countries.

Mr. Manoogian was elected president of the central board of directors of the American General Benevolent Union in 1953, life president in 1970. Under his direction, the Union has become the largest philanthropic organization in the world assisting Armenians of the Diaspora.

The Knight of Charity '85-designate's many philanthropic, community, social and business achievements have brought him numerous awards and accolades. He has donated over $30 million to various charitable organizations and has turned over funds to numerous colleges. He has contributed generously to hospitals, libraries and museums, has established a home for the aged in Livonia and has built a seminary in Jerusalem and a religious museum in Armenia.

He's a Pointe resident now, having turned his former Detroit home over to the City of Detroit. The Manoogian Mansion is now the official residence of the Mayors of Detroit.

He's married to the former Marie Tatian, awarded the title of Lady of Charity in 1979. Nice to know as a Knight in his own right he'll no longer have the feeling he ought to bow when he enters her presence. (Actually, he never did feel any such thing; theirs has always been a marriage of equals.) The Manoogians, married in 1931, have two children: Richard and Louise Simone.

THE KNIGHTS of Charity awards, begun in 1954, are presented by the PIME Missionaries to selected individuals who exemplify the philosophy of "Union in Family Life with Person-to-Person Charity" and who, through deed and example, serve as role models of moral integrity.

The PIME (Pontifical Institute for Foreign Missions) Religious Order, founded in 1850 by Pope Pius IX as an international community of priests and brothers, was invited to the United States in 1950 by the late Cardinal Mooney of Detroit. Proceeds from the annual awards dinner help educate and support young men who will devote their entire lives to serving in the most remote Third World areas, helping people to conquer conditions of poverty, sickness, illiteracy and despair.

Responses to a Knights and Ladies of Charity roll call would come from all sorts of people, in all walks of life. Pat O'Brien, Danny Thomas and Perry Como are Knights. So are Roger Smith, Lee Iacocca, Stanley Kresge, Thomas Murphy, Stanley Winkelman, John Riccardo, The Reverend Malcolm Carron, S.J., Jules Schubert and Paul Zuckerman.

Alex Manoogian and Sister Verence McQuade, S.S.J. will be honored this Saturday, their names added to the Knights and Ladies of Charity roster at the PIME Missionaries' annual Knight of Charity Award Dinner.

Peggy Winkelman, like Marie Manoogian, is a Lady by virtue of her own reputation and accomplishments. Grosse Pointe's Fran Tracy is also on the Ladies of Charity roster; her husband, Emmet, though acknowledged by all to be a Noble Soul, has not been formally dubbed a Knight.

On Saturday, the Ladies of Charity welcome a new member to their very exclusive club. Herewith some background information on the latest addition to the Ladies' List:

SISTER VERENCE McQuade began her career as a parochial school teacher. Today, as vice-president of Saint John Hospital, she serves as the hospital's administrative officer, responsible for Saint John's admitting, medical social services and volunteer departments.

She is also director of Saint John's Fontbonne Auxiliary and Men's Guild, and the Department of Religion.

During her six-year term as Superior General of the Sisters of Saint Joseph, Sister Verence also served as chairman of the board of trustees of Saint John and five other hospitals owned by the order, and Nazareth College. In addition, she was the administrator for Saint Joseph Hospital in Flint.

She's a native Detroit, a graduate of St. Henry High School, Lincoln Park, received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Nazareth College and her Masters degree in Hospital Administration from St. Louis University and is a Fellow in the American College of Hospital Administrators.

Sister Verence is a member of the Catholic Hospital and Michigan Hospital Associations. She currently serves on the boards of St. Clair Health Services, St. Clair Ambulatory Care, the Oxford Institute for the Rehabilitation of Alcoholics, Affiliated Health Service, and the Sisters of Saint Joseph Health System.

She's a member of the Economic Club of Detroit, the Women's Economic Club, the Michigan Catholic Hospital Association, the American Hospital Association and the Detroit Historical Society.

If she looks familiar (take another look at her picture), it's because you've seen her around. Nobody knows exactly where Verence gets all her energy — could it be she has a pipeline to you know Whom? — but the fact is: she's got it! She's ubiquitous, indefatigable and curious. Excellent traits in an administrator, not to mention a Lady.

NEAL SHINE, Detroit Free Press' senior managing editor, will serve as master of ceremonies at the 1985 Knight of Charity Award Dinner. Honorary chairmen are James Blanchard, Coleman Young, Donald Riegle Jr., Carl Levin, Damon Keith, Max Fisher, Roger Smith, The Most Reverend Edmund Szoka and Paul Zuckerman. Ladies co-chairpersons are Hazel (Mrs. Jerry) Flanagan, Betty (Mrs. Robert) Gerisch, Alice (Mrs. William) Johnston and June (Mrs. Robert) Roselle. Co-chairmen are Kenneth Adler, Thomas Angott, Walter Douglas and David Pollack. General chairman is Frank Stella.

Information on tickets for the evening, at $125 per person, may be obtained by contacting the PIME Mission Office, 791-2100.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — collection of Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth focusing, this week, on FOODS RICH IN VITAMIN E.

Vitamin E is a potent antioxidant. It inhibits growth of cancer cells and neutralizes nitrosamine, a cancer-causing chemical. It speeds wound healing, fights heart disease and helps deliver oxygen to the body cells. It's a great vitamin for people who want extra protection from pollution.

Good sources of Vitamin E include vegetable oils, eggs, cabbage, spinach, asparagus, broccoli, brown rice, wheat, oats, wheat germ oil, cottonseed oil and nuts.

TUNA TIMBALES

1/8 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. paprika
3/4 cup quick oats
2 egg yolks, beaten
3/4 cup skim milk
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 cans (7-oz.) tuna packed in water, drained and flaked
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Mix together dry ingredients. Add egg yolks, milk, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice and tuna; mix well. Carefully fold in egg whites. Place in six well-greased five-ounce custard cups or muffin tins. Bake in preheated, slow oven (325°) 40 to 45 minutes. Unmold timbales and serve hot with Deviled Egg Sauce. Sprinkle lightly with capers which have been rinsed in very cold water and thoroughly drained. Makes 6 servings.
Calories per serving about 162.
Cholesterol about 125 mgs.

SPINACH-MUSHROOM SALAD

1/4 tsp. salt
1 Tbsp. chili sauce
1/2 tsp. sugar
1/8 tsp. dry mustard
1/8 tsp. pepper
1 clove garlic, crushed
3 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 Tbsp. water
5 Tbsp. peanut oil
1/4 cup chopped onion
8 cups (10-oz. pkg.) torn, fresh spinach
2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms or
2 cups sliced radishes
Combine salt, chili sauce, sugar, dry mustard, pepper, garlic, lemon juice, water, oil and onion in a jar. Cover tightly and shake until thoroughly blended. Chill.
Just before serving, combine spinach and mushrooms or radishes in a large salad bowl. Pour on dressing and toss. Makes 8 servings.
Calories per serving about 27.
Cholesterol 0.

HADDOCK ALMONDINE

3 Tbsp. unsalted margarine, divided
1/4 cup sliced almonds
1 1/2 lbs. haddock fillets
1/2 tsp. basil
Freshly grated pepper
Paprika
In a saucepan, melt 1 Tbsp. margarine. Add sliced almonds and stir over medium heat 2 minutes. Set aside.
Place fillets on broiler rack, skin side down. Brush with remaining margarine. Sprinkle with basil, pepper and paprika. Broil 2 inches from heat source for 9 minutes. Sprinkle almonds on top and continue to broil until done, about 2 minutes. Garnish with lemon and parsley. Makes 5 servings.
Calories per serving about 206.
Cholesterol about 64 mgs.

CABBAGE SALAD*

4 cups finely shredded cabbage
1 cup celery, diced
1/4 cup parsley, minced
1/2 cup yogurt
Dash white pepper
1 Tbsp. onion, minced
1 1/2 tsp. dill seed
1/4 tsp. salt
2 tsp. lemon juice
Green pepper, rings, sliced thin
Combine all ingredients, except the green pepper, in order given. Toss lightly; garnish with thinly sliced pepper rings. Makes 8 servings.
Calories per serving about 27.
Cholesterol — trace.
*Please don't pass up the dill seed in this very low-calorie recipe . . . throughout the ages in Europe, dill seed has been venerated not only for its flavor but for its digestive properties.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Bringing out the best

It's playoff time.

What do the TV sports guys say — "there's no tomorrow?" Call it what you will, playoff time in Grosse Pointe usually boils down to one thing: excitement.

There's something different about playoffs, especially in high school sports. The uniforms seem cleaner, the warm-ups more brisk, the crowds bigger and noisier. That's the way it is right now for Grosse Pointe teams, as well as those in Howell, St. Clair Shores, Trenton, Fraser, Mount Clemens and the hundreds of other Michigan cities where winter sports season playoffs are underway or just around the corner.

Playoff time is, to paraphrase a famous beer company's commercial, time to "bring out the best."

In Grosse Pointe, that holds true for the hockey, basketball, wrestling, volleyball and swim teams which are already involved in "playoff" action. The hockey teams didn't fare too well; North, South and ULS faced three of the state's top-ranked teams in Trenton, Gabriel Richard and Fraser. But at least our boys brought out the best in those three squads. ULS lost to Richard, 10-0 and South was drubbed by a very big, very tough Trenton team. (Those Trenton guys look like one big, walking bruise with their rough checking and those midnight blue and yellow uniforms).

Anyway, with the tournament action still to come in wrestling, swimming, basketball and volleyball, Grosse Pointe — which never fails to pull at least one upset per year and has placed either a team or an athlete in the state finals in each of the last six seasons — still has plenty of time to "bring out the best."

It's already happening . . .

Our Lady Star of the Sea's volleyball team breezed through the season undefeated before Pontiac Catholic lowered the boom in the Catholic League playoffs. But were the Tunas down? No way, Josey. They stormed back to win last weekend's Cardinal Mooney Tournament, play a pre-district game tonight and have drawn a bead on the state finals. Never underestimate a Tuna with fire in her eyes.

Or take North's wrestling squad: The Norsemen suffered through a dismal regular season, providing coach Larry Aceto's prediction that his inexperienced squad would have a tough year. But when those dual meets were out of the way, North came on, finishing second in Bi-County and grabbing second in the districts and third in the regionals — the highest ever for North matmen.

Who can explain it? And anyway, why would you want to? It's more fun to sit back and just watch it happen. Don't forget, we've still got two pretty good basketball teams (10-8 North and 15-3 South) and a top-ranked swim squad (No. 6 South) set to bring out their best.

Unsung heroes . . .

Before I forget, I want to bring up the subject of "unsung heroes." No, not the kind they talk about on the game of the week ("You know, Biff, he's really the most underrated, unsung player in this league," the jocks on TV say. Which usually means he's the only guy in the league who doesn't make $3 million per hour and have his picture on Wheaties' boxes.)

The kind I'm talking about are the ones right here in Grosse Pointe, the behind-the-scenes sports "heroes" who don't get the attention they deserve. For example . . .

The wrestling statisticians at North High. Coach Aceto came to rely on his stat girls this season almost as much as he depended upon matman Dave Fleming to get a win in every match. "They do a great job. They are very proficient and they don't get much glory . . . but their work is important," he says.

The stat girls who show up at every meet, record everything that moves and break it down into workable categories are Kristen Seagram, Francine Ferris, Amy Walker, Marlisa Miller, Jeni Burkli, Renee Nylan, Sue Dawson, Nancy Fobare and Leslie Seagram.

Help me out. Let me know about the other "unsung, underrated" sports heroes we've got in Grosse Pointe and I'll print their names and their accomplishments.

Might as well bring out all of our best, right?

Park sets Ruth League sign-up

Registration for the Grosse Pointe Park Babe Ruth League — for boys 13 through 15 — is planned for March 12 and 13, from 7 to 9 p.m., at Pierce Middle School (back entrance).

Registration fee is $50, payable at the time of registration. All boys registering for the first time should also bring a birth certificate. To be eligible to participate, boys must have been born between Aug. 1, 1969, and July 31, 1972.

Last season was the most successful in the 30-year history of the league, according to league president John Bruce. Ninety boys played on the four major and two minor league teams. For the first time, inter-league play with the other Pointe leagues was incorporated into the schedule.

In addition, Park All-Star teams captured district championships in both the 13- and 14 to 15-year-old tournaments.

Further information may be obtained on registration nights or by calling 822-5997.

St. Clare spring sports registration

St. Clare parish students interested in joining track, baseball or softball must register at the St. Clare gym on Tuesday, March 5 or Thursday, March 7, from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Track is open to all boys and girls in fourth through eighth grades. No tryouts are involved. Baseball and softball are open to sixth through eighth graders who must try out. Practices begin in mid-March. Details will be distributed at registration.

Fees are payable at registration and include a $40 initial family fee or a $10 fee if a student participated in a fall or winter sport at St. Clare.

Hockey 'power' ends Pointe playoff hopes

The scoreboard at the end of the South High-Trenton regional hockey game on Monday night should have told the story of Trenton's dominance in Michigan high school hockey: 9-0. If it didn't, the shots-on-goal totals sure did. The Trojans outshot the Blue Devils, 53-10, in eliminating South from the state playoffs.

Trenton came into the game with a 19-3-1 record and a No. 1 ranking in the state; South sported a 10-12 mark after pre-season ratings had picked the Devils to finish as high as third in the state polls.

Monday night's contest was all Trenton. The Trojans took a 1-0 lead three and one-half minutes into the period and although that was the only score of the stanza, they threatened several times. South goalie Bill Tecos made several excellent saves and had the Trenton fans voicing their displeasure over his puck freezing tactics. The strategy seemed to work, since South held the Trojans to just one goal despite being outshot 14-5 in the period.

South seemed to come out a bit stronger in the early moments of the second period, as first Keith Kovalcik then Phil Pitters broke free in front of the net but failed to get shots off. But a holding penalty to South's George Krappmann changed that little bit of momentum back to Trenton. On the power play, the Trojans' Darryl Sattler got his first of two goals, and Trenton followed with two more quick goals — for a total of three goals in just 24 seconds.

South's checking broke down and Trenton added two more goals in the period. Tecos seemed to tire under the burden of 24 shots in the second period alone; he also injured his right leg late in the period and was replaced with junior goalie Pete Muer.

Kovalcik played an excellent game for the Devils, killing penalties and stopping several good Trenton rushes. The Trojans added three more goals in the third period when it appeared that a very tired South team was just trying to skate with the much bigger, quicker Trenton team.

Trenton has been picked by most to win the state Class A title and midway through the game with South, Trenton fans were chanting "We want Fraser, we want Fraser," to members of the Fraser hockey team who were seated in the stands on the opposite side of the ice. Fraser, the 1983 Class A skate champ, was scheduled to face North High on Tuesday evening.

For South, the loss to Trenton was the second straight year in which the tough downriver squad put an end to South's playoff hopes. In the Devils' inaugural season of 1983-84, Trenton took a 5-1 victory in the quarterfinal round after South had won the regional championship by beating Fraser in overtime, 4-3.

"All I can say is I think we played extremely well . . . considering who we were up against," South coach Tim Zimmerman said. "Out of their nine goals, we only gave them three. The other goals they got they deserved. Trenton is just awesome."

And Tecos, he said, was unbelievable. "He played with a leg he injured a few weeks ago. And when I went out there he was just in incredible pain and all he could say was 'Sorry, coach. I tried.' Amazing!"

"I'm pleased with the team. They didn't quit."

North High also felt the punch of a top-ranked team, losing to Fraser, 7-3, late Tuesday night.

The Norsemen played an inspired hockey game, despite their underdog status, controlling the first period and taking a 2-0 lead on goals Rob Koehler and Kevin Tisdale on great set-ups from Pete Guzzardo, Joe Cueter and Dave Johnston.

Fraser stormed back with four second period goals and three in the third period. North had several excellent chances, but failed to capitalize. Russell added a third period goal from Joe Henchel and Johnston.

Like South, North never quit, skating with and often better than Fraser. The Ramblers will go on in regional play this week while North ends the season with a 9-14 mark.

Wood takes hockey career step at a time

By Peggy O'Connor

When you've been named to three high school All-State teams before you're a junior in high school, you begin to look for new worlds to conquer. For a talented athlete like Grosse Pointe's Rob Wood, that new world happens to be junior hockey.

Wood, 17, was named to the All-State Class D and B soccer teams as a freshman and sophomore, respectively, and last season, became the first sophomore in the 15-year history of the Michigan Metro High School Hockey League (MMHSHL) to be named to the All-Star team. He earned second team All-State honors in hockey for Class B-C-D. And now the South High 11th-grader is pursuing his favorite sport — hockey — as a member of the North American Hockey League's Fraser Hylanders.

Rob was named Junior B "Player of the Week" for his five goals and four assists in three games the week of Feb. 5 through 12. So far this season, he has scored 23 goals and had 27 assists for 50 points in league play.

Rob just missed making the St. Clair Shores Junior A team this past fall (he was the last cut) and has set his sights on Junior A hockey next season and on a college hockey career after that.

High school hockey had ceased to be a challenge for him after the 1983-84 season. That's when he centered the No. 1 line for the University Liggett School Knights, leading ULS and the eastern division of the MMHSHL in scoring with 24 goals and 38 assists in 25 games.

"When I was trying out for Junior A, I knew it would be tough. And since I almost made the Junior A team this year, I think my chances are good to make it next year. That's what they tell me, anyway," Rob says.

"I had to adjust to Junior B play. In junior hockey, you have to pass the puck. You can't hold on to it like in high school hockey . . . if you do, you're gonna get killed."

"I've improved so much in my play this year. I think it was good for me to have this year of Junior B," Rob says.

Rob says he knows he'll have to work on at least one aspect of his game: shooting the puck.

"I'm 5-9, 165 pounds and the smallest kid on the team. My slap shot is fine, but with my size, I have to learn to be more accurate with my wrist shot. I'm working on it."

Rob is recognized in the league for his speed and excellent puck control. What Junior B hockey fans might not know about him is his all-around athletic prowess.

As a freshman, he became the third male in the 107-year history of

Rob Wood

ULS to earn three varsity letters as a freshman, lettering in soccer, hockey and baseball. That might have been a four-letter sweep, had Rob elected to play with ULS's state championship tennis team. That same year, he received All-League Honorable Mention in hockey and baseball in addition to his All-League and All-State honors in soccer.

Last year, Rob was center half-back for ULS's varsity soccer squad and finished as second leading scorer, again earning All-

League and All-State Class B, Honorable Mention status. And this past spring, Rob played tennis for his father, ULS athletic director and boys' tennis coach Bob Wood. He teamed up with George Haggarty to play No. 2 doubles, leading the squad with a 30-3 record and winning the regional and state titles at that flight.

What it comes down to for Rob Wood is that he loves to play — and just happens to be very, very good at it, although he blushes at that suggestion. He transferred to South High this year because he felt that the change would help.

"I like the extra competition a bigger high school offers," he says.

He'll be getting it, too, as a member of the South High School varsity baseball team this spring. When baseball season starts, Rob will still be playing hockey when the Hylanders go to the nationals in St. Louis.

"It's a rough schedule. Sometimes it seems like all I do is go to school, come home and sleep and then go play hockey. But it's what I want to do," Rob says.

It won't get any easier next season in Junior A. The Junior A St. Clair Shores Falcons play a schedule that takes them to Minnesota, Chicago, Buffalo and Ohio.

If he makes it to Junior A, Rob hopes to try out for the U.S. Junior National Team which trains in Colorado Springs, Colo., and travels to Europe for the World Championships. And after that, Rob hopes, will come a career in college hockey.

"I'd like to get a scholarship and play in the CCHA . . . but right now I'm taking things a step at a time."

The 'What If?' Series aired

What if the Cubs had played the Tigers in the '84 World Series? And what if the decisive game was the seventh, with Chicago taking on Detroit at Tiger Stadium?

Fans can find out by tuning into WJR Radio, at 2:30 p.m. March 3 for the play-by-play action in this computer-created "What If World Series" game, with all the excited sounds of a packed stadium as Tiger pitcher Jack Morris takes the mound in the first inning.

Veteran Tiger broadcaster Ernie Harwell, along with Chicago's Harry Caray and Jack Buck, call the plays and chart the action, from inning to inning and on through to the final score.

The game was created on an Apple computer by inputting all the statistics from both teams' 1984 season records. As the data is processed, the computer comes up with trends and patterns on which the script is eventually based.

WJR will repeat the broadcast Monday night, March 4, at 7 p.m.

School's out and injuries healed as Babcock looks at '85

By Judson Branam
MSU student

Pitching professionally in the summer and attending college in the winter has had its drawbacks, but 1981 North High graduate Bill Babcock says his decision to turn professional after high school was a good one.

Babcock, 22, turned down scholarship offers from several major colleges to sign a professional contract with the American League's Chicago White Sox in July, 1981. He now pitches for the Glen Falls (N.Y.) Sox, Chicago's AA level farm team where last season, the 6-1, 185-pound lefthander fashioned a 10-2 record and a 1.89 ERA.

Babcock recalls that signing his contract was made easier by the White Sox' offer of $1,000 per term toward his college education. That offer was guaranteed, regardless of any future injuries to Babcock, a two-time All-State selection for North who was named an All-American as a senior.

"The offer was there for pro ball and they said they'd pay for the majority of my schooling, so (I decided) why not pursue the career of my choice?" Babcock says. "It doesn't matter to me whether the Sox or the University of Miami pays for my school."

Babcock has been attending Michigan State University during the off-season, majoring in physical education and minoring in history. He says he intends to "teach and coach baseball" after his playing career ends.

Since Babcock plays with the White Sox through the spring and summer and has attended Instructional League each fall, he has been able to attend MSU for only one term each year.

"I'm on the 12-year plan now," Babcock jokes, referring to MSU's trimester system which requires at least 12 terms of full-time attendance to graduate. "But if I can stay healthy for the entire year and pitch a lot of innings, hopefully I can avoid the Instructional League and make the fall term next year," he adds.

BABCOCK IS A first-term sophomore with a 2.9 grade point average; he's in his fourth term at MSU. He says that the adjustment from professional athlete to student is "not that big a deal, since I started right after high school."

"If you apply yourself and learn how to budget your time, anyone can do it."

One thing Babcock says he misses is the thrill of pitching for his collegiate baseball team.

"From what I've seen (of college baseball), I miss representing my school, because that makes a person proud," Babcock says. "But I made my decision and I've got to be happy with that."

Babcock says he signed with the White Sox for an initial salary of $600 per month, plus the tuition guarantee. Minor league ballplayers are paid from April 1 until the end of August unless their teams qualify for post-season play-offs. Last year, Babcock's salary was $1,200 per month plus a bonus for 90 days consecutive service, a standard incentive at the AA level.

Babcock says the advantage of pro ball over the college game is that it has offered him a better chance to realize a lifelong dream of reaching the major leagues. According to Babcock, the higher level of play in AA ball has forced him to improve more than he would have in college.

"I wouldn't think they (college teams) could play at the same level," he says. "They might have one or two pitchers who could keep them in a game but over the long haul, they wouldn't be able to compete. Every player at the AA level was a star in college."

The White Sox' administrative assistant for baseball operations,

Steve Naworyta, says Babcock has made excellent progress since signing with the Sox. He says Babcock has learned to use a wider variety of pitches rather than just trying to throw the ball past hitters and that he now has better control and is able to pinpoint their location.

Most importantly, Naworyta adds, Babcock has learned to "think" more on the mound and has become a pitcher, not just a thrower. He says the main obstacle to Babcock's path to the majors has been injuries, which will cause his return to AA ball this season.

"Bill is rated highly in our minor league system and he has the ability to be a big leaguer," Naworyta says. "He has a good arm, a good fastball, and we think a lot of him." "The only problem has been the few minor injuries to his arm which sometimes sets a person back. We're more likely to watch him through this season than to move him up. But if he comes along, there always a place for promotion," Naworyta adds.

Among Babcock's ailments were a pulled muscle in the rotator cuff of his shoulder that sidelined him in 1982, surgery to remove bone chips from his elbow before last season and tendinitis in the rotator cuff at the end of last year. Babcock says his arm "feels great" now with a fastball clocked "in the high 80s consistently."

Babcock says his goal this year is to "pitch a whole season and stay healthy. I want to go out there and win every start." He refuses to set a timetable for his promotion to the major leagues.

"I know of too many guys who spent seven or eight years in AA ball before they made the majors."

"I'm gonna play until they tell me I can't play anymore," Babcock says. "I mean, how many people get a chance to play major league baseball?"

Mixed doubles benefits FLEC

Tobey Hansen, Isabelle Owens, Doug Graham, Lucy Gorski, Jeff Hodges, Paul Riechert and Denny Cavanaugh are just some of the east side pros and amateur players who will contend for the $3,000 purse at the 1985 Western Open Indoor Mixed Doubles Tennis Championship March 6 through 10 at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, 655 Cook Road. This year's Open will benefit the Family Life Education Council (FLEC).

There are already over 30 teams entered in the only United States Tennis Association-sanctioned mixed doubles tournament in the Midwest. It is also sanctioned by the Western Tennis Association.

Defending champions (for the last two years) pro Phil Norville, Franklin Racket Club, and Colinne Bartell, from Ohio, will attempt to retain their title for the third straight year. Runner-up for 1983 and 1984, William Godfrey, from Ann Arbor, will play with previous teammate Christine Gilles' sister, Wendy, this year.

Teams entered include Tobey Hansen, former CCD and GPHC Pro returning from California, with Laura Hackman, a graduate of South High. GPHC Pro Isabelle Owens will play with Doug Graham who is the recent Art Van Pro-Am Doubles champion. Other Grosse Pointe players are J. Hodges with L. Gorski, D. Cavanaugh with Betty Fesko, Patrick Shields with Paula Riechert, and Lochmoor pro Marc Gelina playing with Kathy Goodrich.

An opening night party will feature a special exhibition match on March 6 from 6 to 8 p.m. The match will be between Murphy Jensen, USTA No. 1 in 16 and under doubles, indoor and clay courts, playing Swedish Pro Ola Malmqvist, 1983 NCAA doubles champion. Jensen won the 16 and under doubles in the 1984 Orange Bowl International Championship held in December at Flamingo Park, Fla. He and partner Al Parker beat the top French team in the final match.

Following their exhibition, guests will have the chance to take part in a drawing to play doubles with these two stars that night. Tickets for the opening night party and exhibition are $10 per person.

Qualifying matches begin Wednesday, March 6 at 8:30 p.m. and continue Thursday and Friday evenings from 6 to 10:30 p.m.; tickets are $4 each night. Championship play starts March 9 at 9:30 a.m. and continues through the day; tickets are $5 until 5 p.m. and $6 for evening matches.

The semifinals will be held Sunday March 10 at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. followed by the final match at 3:30 p.m.; tickets are $7 for the day.

Food and beverages will be available throughout the tournament and a special buffet will be offered Saturday night, by reservation.

For reservations and information call the GPHC 884-9090.

North cagers just miss No. 1 spot

By Bill Hoover
North High

North's varsity basketball team bounced back from a 63-61 heart-breaker to the Clintondale Dragons on Feb. 18 to defeat the Lakeview Huskies 72-63 last Friday.

North, which handed Clintondale its only loss in the Bi-County, came out playing well. Rob Skuras scored nine first-quarter points and North led, 19-8.

Clintondale opened the second quarter with a full-court press, forcing North into tough shots and causing several turnovers. The Norsemen settled down, built a lead, and finished the half up seven, 29-22.

With the score 45-38 and 2:09 left in the third quarter, North's Jon Palazzo and a Clintondale player got tied up for a jump-ball. Palazzo was pushed to the floor and tempers flared. Strong words changed to pushes and then punches, emptying both benches and stirring the crowd. When the fight ended, the officials took the Clintondale players to the locker room and then, the North players. After discussion with both teams, play resumed with no ejections. The remainder of the quarter was scoreless. Ending the fourth quarter, North held a 45-38 lead.

The Dragons opened the fourth quarter pressing half-court. With both crowds screaming, Clintondale began marching back. At 6:10 North called a time-out, with only a 45-43 lead. When play resumed, Reggie Banks scored four points within 17 seconds to put the Dragons up by two. After Dan Kopitzke tied the score at 47 on a lay-up, Clintondale was fouled, made one free throw then scored again, to lead by three. The Norsemen lost the ball and fouled Banks, preventing the dunk. After Banks made one free throw, putting Clintondale up by four, North came back behind the offensive brilliance of Art "The Wizard" Szymanski who tied the score at 57-57 with 1:16 left.

In the three-minute overtime, Clintondale scored first, North tied it. The Dragons inbounded the ball and with four seconds left, Banks let it fly from 17 feet. The ball bounced high off the rim, then straight through, allowing the Dragons to win and take control of the Bi-County lead.

Szymanski led North with 27 points and seven rebounds. Kevin Weidinger added 15 points and seven rebounds, Skuras scored 13 points and 11 rebounds; Dan Kopitzke finished with six points and seven assists.

On Feb. 22, the Norsemen traveled to Lakeview to take on the Huskies. And after three close quarters, North rode a seven point surge to a 72-63 victory, their ninth in 11 league games.

North was led by Kopitzke's 17 points. Skuras added 16 points and Szymanski finished with 14.

North's next game is Friday, March 1, at home versus L'Anse Creuse. Tip-off is at 7:30 p.m.

League meet for swim team

The Norsemen tankers are set for the Bi-County League Championship to be held on Feb. 28 and March 1.

Last week started with a dual meet at No. 1-Ann Arbor Pioneer. The green and gold could capture only two events while losing 101-69. Dave Chadwell took the 50 freestyle and Mike Reynolds won the diving.

North then finished sixth in the 12-team Brighton Invitational.

The Norsemen placing in the top 12 were medley relay Greg Cooksey, Brad Cooksey, Mike Woods, Dave Chadwell, eighth; Jeff Figley, 10th, 200 yard freestyle; Jeff Williams, 12th, 200 yard IM; Mike Woods, fifth, 50 freestyle; Dave Chadwell, sixth, 100 backstroke; Greg Cooksey, eighth, 500 freestyle; Jeff Williams, 12th, 400 freestyle; relay Chadwell, John Cobau, Figley, Scott Tenkel 10th; and 100 breaststroke, Mike Woods, fifth.

Reynolds provided the highlights of the meet for the Norsemen by winning the diving competition.

Spikers win

North's varsity volleyball team won the Bi-County tournament held at North and featuring South Lake, Clintondale, Brablec, L'Anse Creuse and Lakeview in a two-game round robin match. North beat South Lake, 15-1, 15-2, and defeated Clintondale, 15-10, 15-12, behind the excellent spiking and serving of Celeste Sartor.

The girls also beat Lakeview, 15-12, 15-14, behind the fine play of Dawn Cartwright and Virginia Sanders, and were unbeaten after trouncing Clintondale, 15-4, 15-5. The Norsemen beat Brablec, 15-6, 15-7, but lost one to L'Anse Creuse, 7-15, after taking a 15-3 victory. (Contributed by Brooke Bessert).

G.P. swimmers shine in state tourney

Several Grosse Pointe swimmers turned in excellent performances when 467 swimmers and divers from around the state gathered for the Michigan Middle School Statewide Championships at Brighton High School Feb. 15.

Competition was held in two categories: sixth grade and seventh-eighth grades. The format was the same as a high school swim meet, with each swimmer limited to two individual events.

Representing Parcels School was Katie Young, who won the 50 freestyle (25.80) and the 50 fly (28.20). Parcels' Nora Brooks finished second to Young in the 50 free (27.50). Eight other swimmers represented the Grosse Pointe Middle Schools, among the 40 middle and junior high

Girls' softball returns to Club

The Neighborhood Club will offer its softball league for girls again this spring. All interested girls in grades two through eight, are required to register at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo, by Feb. 28.

Games are scheduled after school and evenings, Monday through Friday, beginning April 29 and running through June 21.

The league fee is $25 and includes a uniform shirt and hat. For more information, call 885-4600.

school participating in the event.

Leah Puidokas was second in the 200 free (2:13.1), first in the 100 free (1:00.9); Geryl Bucci was third in the 200 free (2:14.3), and third in the 100 breaststroke (1:20.8). Finishing 12th in the 50 free was Anna Francis (30.2); she was seventh in the 50 fly (32.8). Heidi Mader finished second in the 50 fly (28.9) and second in the 100 back (1:06.4).

Paul Wilson was Grosse Pointe's only male swimmer; he took a pair of second place finishes in the 100 individual medley (1:03.1) and 100 back (1:01.3).

The meet featured sixth graders in competition for the first time and three Grosse Pointe youngsters made the most of it. Wendy Mader finished first in the (28.4) and second in the 100 free (1:04.4). Karen Ellis was first in the 50 fly (31.3) and second in the 100-back (1:14.8). Karen Dundon was Grosse Pointe's second double winner with a first in the 100 IM (1:11.2) and a first place in the 100 back (1:12.2) — barely touching Ellis out.

Grosse Pointe girls won 14 of 28 individual medals (gold, silver and bronze) and clearly dominated the event, despite the absence of team awards categories.

Get ready for basketball March Madness

Photos by Bill Hoover

Among the participants in "March Madness," the upcoming state high school basketball playoffs, are district 16 players Al Ament and Sean Bruce from South High, with their coach George Petrouleas, (above) and North's Kevin Weidinger and Art Szymanski (below).

By Bill Hoover

With spring just around the corner, many eastsiders are making the mistake of getting ready for baseball season — just when the best of high school basketball is about to begin. March Madness is the term used by Highland Park basketball coach Darrell Pursiful to describe the atmosphere created by the Michigan's high school basketball tournament which decides who really is No. 1.

The first round of the tournament is the districts and eastside fans can see five teams from this area compete for the District 16 title at North High in March 4, 6 and 8: Detroit Finney, Detroit Southeastern, Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher, North and South.

This year's District 16 competition is the best that it has been in years.

ULS cagers reach .500

The University Liggett School varsity basketball team continued its recent exceptional play, winning two of three games and raising its overall record to 9-9.

ULS traveled to Ohio to participate in the Maumee Valley Tournament Feb. 15. In the first game, the Knights encountered Ann Arbor Greenhills, a familiar opponent. ULS has previously lost twice to Greenhills, the first time by 29 points, the second by 16. However, as Coach Tony Gallaher commented, ULS "is a vastly improved team."

The Knights did not show this improvement at first, as sloppy play allowed Greenhills to lead 25-19 at the half. ULS shook off its lethargy and finally began to rebound in the second half. Their command of the boards, combined with an amazing 75 percent shooting percentage, spurred the Knights to a 60-52 victory, their fifth in a row. Harold Colby led the Knights with 25 points, while Brian David added 17.

The next day, ULS was paired with host Maumee Valley. Poor shooting and early foul trouble hindered ULS's efforts, as did ineffective rebounding. Maumee had a 15-point lead at the half and never relinquished it. Senior captain Colby again led ULS, scoring 11 points in the 79-34 loss.

On Feb. 22, ULS traveled to Huron Valley Lutheran, whom the Knights had defeated by four on January 15. ULS started out sluggishly, but still managed to pick up a 10-point lead after two quarters. They continued to play below their ability in the second half, as Huron Valley fought back to within three, but fought the challenge and held on for a 47-40 win. Colby again led the way with 24 points and 12 rebounds. The victory left the Knights with a 7-4 record in the MIAC.

ULS next plays at Southfield

Christian at 7:30 p.m. on March 1. (By John Travis).

JV drops one

The ULS JV basketball team lost its only game of the week on Feb. 22, 60-44, to Huron Valley Lutheran. The loss put the team's record at 7-9 with four games remaining in the season.

The JV Knights showed the rustiness of a two-week layoff as they dropped behind, 19-2, at the end of the first quarter. But the team put on a good spurt to close the gap to five points in the middle of the second quarter. After a time out, Huron Valley regrouped and methodically raised its lead to double figures.

Kevin Darby once again paced the ULS scoring attack with 20 points. On Friday, March 1, ULS travels to Southfield Christian for a Michigan Independent Athletic Conference contest at 6 p.m.

Spikers takes two

ULS's varsity volleyball team assured itself at least a second place finish in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference by defeating a strong Huron Valley Lutheran team 15-2, 15-7, 15-6, 15-5.

Gerri Ocampo led the team with four "kill" spikes. Cindy Paul served 10 straight points.

On Feb. 20, ULS took on cross-town rival Academy of Sacred Heart (ASH) in a best-of-five volleyball match. In one of their strongest performances of the year, Coach Shelley Owens' Knights overwhelmed ASH 15-4, 15-9, 15-10. Simone Early and Gillian Darlow had seven and six kill spikes respectively, with Ocampo and Barb Roman combining for seven more. Kathy Bianchi and Paul kept the offense moving by executing 33 successful sets between them.

The Jungaleers from Detroit Southeastern, currently 7-9, are defending their district crown for the third straight year. Coach Ernie Scott, who is in his 14th year at Southeastern, led his team to a fourth-place finish in the Public School Leagues' (PSL) East division.

Southeastern is led by 6-0, 160-pound senior Darren Brown who is averaging 25.4 points and 9.5 assists per game and 6-5, 180-pound junior Melvin Thomas who is averaging 17.5 points and 10.5 rebounds per game.

The Highlanders from Detroit Finney, currently 10-5, are enjoying one of their better seasons. Second-year coach Herb Bockner led his Highlanders to a second-place finish in the PSL East division.

Finney is led by 6-9, 205-pound Daryl Spinks who averages 19 points, 14 rebounds, and four blocked shots; and 6-3, 185-pound Dennis Ross, averaging 19 points a game.

The Lancers from Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher are currently 5-11. They have struggled this season, finishing fifth in the Catholic League Central division. BG is coached by Ron Biotti, in his seventh year.

On the court, the Lancers are led by 6-1, 165-pound senior Dave Per-alta who is averaging 18 points per game and 6-2, 165-pound senior Terrance Ellis, averaging 10 points a game.

The 10-8 Norsemen from North High are looking for their first district championship in six years. Second-year coach George Olman guided his Norsemen to a second-place finish in the Bi-County League.

Leading the Norsemen on the court are 6-3½, 165-pound senior Art Szymanski who is averaging 22 points a game and 6-5, 195-pound senior Kevin Weidinger, averaging 16 points and 10 rebounds.

The South Blue Devils are 15-3 and have played well all season with wins over Highland Park and Mount Clemens. They finished second in the EML.

Leading South are 6-6, 200-pound senior Al Ament who is averaging 21 points, nine rebounds and three blocked shots per game and 5-11, 140-pound sophomore Sean Bruce, averaging nine points and six assists a game.

The first game will be played at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, March 4. On Wednesday, March 6, two games will be played — the first at 6 p.m. and the second at 7:45 p.m. The championship will be played on Friday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m. Admission to each evening contest is $2.

GPD Squirts in playoffs

The GPD Squirt Minor team lost to the Toledo Invaders, 2-1, in the Little Caesar's League Squirt AA playoffs. The loss evened GPD's post-season record at 1-1.

Toledo combined speed and aggressive play to control the first period, outshooting GPD, 12-3. GPD goalie Mark Tapp held Toledo to one goal. GPD's Brandon Stinnett nearly tied the score, but his shot hit the crossbar.

GPD came back to take away the momentum in the second period, tying the score at 4:15 when Mike Klobuchar scored on a high shot from the blue line. Kevin Brennan drew an assist. Toledo regained the lead and got the winning goal one minute later when Monosmith scored from Persin and Crandall.

Third period action was intense, with GPD outshooting Toledo, 4-2, but not able to score. Despite the loss, GPD coaches credited the team with an excellent performance. In three regular season contests between the teams, GPD lost two and tied one against the regular season champions.

GPD began the playoffs with a 3-1 win over Computware's Squirt Minors. The win gave GPD the edge in the season series between the two teams.

Computware opened the scoring midway through the first period, but GPD got it back on the power play at 3:04 of the second period. Klobuchar converted passes from defenseman Joey Provenzano and Brennan.

GPD's Lanny Tracy scored the winner at 8:31 of the period when he took a pass in the crease and popped one past the surprised Computware goalie. Jason Benedict and Marcel Chagnon drew assists.

Goalie Mark Tapp turned back several good Computware scoring threats and after Computware pulled its goalie for an extra attacker in the final minute of the game, Klobuchar netted his second goal.

Center Ice in the GPHA

Mite Division

MAJOR MAGICS-RANGERS
The Magics started the playoffs with a 2-0 win. Nate Cook and Brian Holiday scored and George Andary drew an assist. Behi Rabanni got the shutout in the nets for the Magics.

MAJOR MAGICS-GPD
The Magics beat GPD, 1-0, in one of the division's best games this season. Cook's unassisted goal in the first nine seconds was the only score as each team displayed fine passing and excellent play. Rabanni played well in the nets for the Magics, as did Collins for GPD.

SEALS-PENGUINS
Goaltender Chuckie Schervish was unbeatable in the Seals' 2-0 win over the Penguins. Schervish got his fifth shutout of the season. Joey Lucido and Timmy Kimmel scored for the Seals; Lucido also drew an assist. Peter Brown, Danny Magdowski, Joey Berger, David Ferguson, Mike Weyhing and goaltender Kenny McIntyre played well for their teams.

SEALS-RED WINGS
The Seals topped the Wings, 3-2, in their first playoff game. Berger, Ben Demski and Timmy Kimmel scored for the Seals; Billy Crandall got the Wings' goals. Geoff Kimmel, David Gakstatter and Brian Brown drew assists. Schervish (Seals) and Ryan Meier (Red Wings) played well in the nets. Peter Blake, Matt Debski, Robert King, Stephen Owens, David Pulis and George Massu performed well for their teams.

PENGUINS-FLYERS
The Penguins opened the playoffs with a come-from-behind win over the Flyers, 3-1. The Flyers led, 1-0, late in the third period on M. Elich's goal, when McIntyre scored his first career goal from Billy Faber. Justin Braun got the game-winner at 1:52 on a pretty pass from George Christensen, then scored again into an empty net from Christensen. Goaltenders Romine and Kallas played well. Penguins Ferguson, Campbell, Penczak and Kerwin played well, as did Flyers Pierce, Dunlap, Klein and Taylor.

GPD-SEALS
GPD got its eighth win of the second half, beating the Seals, 4-0. Alex Bieri, Val Covacha (two) and M.J. Morris were the goal scorers; Paul Huebner and Covacha earned assists. Goaltender Jamie Bufalino turned in a good game, getting support from defensemen Jeff Hueber, Scott Johns and Gordie Todd.

GPD-MAJOR MAGICS
GPD beat the Magics, 3-1, to run its second half mark to 9-1-1. Todd, Bieri and Bufalino scored GPD goals; Paul Huebner (two), Chris Coates and Terry Brennan drew assists. Rabanni scored for the Major Magics from Baskel.

GPD-RANGERS
GPD sewed up the second half championship with a hard-fought, 2-2 tie with the Rangers. GPD came from behind for the tie. Coates scored both goals on assists from Paul Huebner (two) and Todd. Hendrie scored for the Rangers from Belanger and Descamps. Each team played well on defense. The tie gave GPD, coached by Tom Brennan and Mark Kossarek, a 9-1-2 record in the second half.

GPD-FLYERS
GPD opened the playoffs with a 4-0 win over the Flyers. Tim Miller, Paul Huebner, Todd and Bieri scored for GPD; Blair Ridder and Coates (two) drew assists. Mike Collins played well in goal for GPD, supported by the strong defensive work of Tim Tracy, Ridder and Mark Best.

Squirt Division

FLYERS-SABRES
The Flyers edged the Sabres, 3-2, in this fast-paced game. Everett Covacha opened the scoring for the Flyers from Mike Owens before Mike Gandelot tied it on passes from Jason Chevalier and Mike Ugval. Steve Wesley's goal from Bill Cass gave the Sabres the lead. Kris Hoglund tied it for the Flyers from Gary Olson and Matt Spicer scored the game-winner, breaking in alone with a nice feed from Robby Wiczorkowski. Goaltenders Tom Best and Gabe Eriksen played well.

RED WINGS-SABRES
The Sabres played well, but lost to the Wings, 3-1. Jay Berger opened the scoring for the Wings, from Kip Gotfredson and Teddy Hanawalt. Gotfredson added a goal from Berger and Alex Olmstead. Wesley scored for the Sabres from Bill Cass. Olmstead added the final Red Wing goal in the third period. Nate Eriksen (Wings) and his brother Gabe (Sabres) played well in goal.

RED WINGS-MICMAC
The Red Wings ventured out to In-kster on a foggy night, playing the Mic-Macs to a 3-3 come-from-behind tie. Berger (two) scored from Olmstead (two) and Gotfredson and Gary Corona. Olmstead added a goal from Berger.

Pee Wee Division

BLACK HAWKS-CRANBROOK
The Blackhawks outscored Cranbrook in a rematch last week, 10-9. Peter Masouras and Gabe Benvenuto scored to give the Hawks a 2-0 lead, before Cranbrook tied it up. The teams traded sets of goals before Scott Soule (three goals) scored the game-winner with seven seconds left. Other goal scorers were McCracken (two) Dan Grundman, Benvenuto, Jeff Antonenko. Earning assists were McCracken, Josh Ferry, Zack Van Aken, Masouras (three), Grundman, Renato Roxas (three) and Benvenuto. Soule gained the hat trick and Masouras was named playmaker for his three assists. Greg Semack, substituting in goal for the first time this year, played well.

BLACK HAWKS-STERLING HEIGHTS
The Hawks played Sterling Heights to a 1-1 tie. After a scoreless first period which featured excellent chances by both teams, Sterling Heights took a 1-0 lead in the second. But the Hawks tightened up on defense and they got the tying goal in the third period when Benvenuto sent a pass to an unguarded Soule, who tied the game with 1:35 left.

WHO CARES ABOUT VIETNAM VETS?

WE DO. Are you one of the 9 million American men and women who served in the military during the Vietnam era? If so, you may share a feeling common to many vets—that the country you so loyally served has forgotten you since your return.

Today, you can do something to change this by joining the Vietnam Veterans of America, the largest national service organization devoted exclusively to meeting the needs and guaranteeing the rights of Vietnam-era veterans.

Established in 1978, VVA has grown to more than 145 chapters throughout the country, actively working in areas such as employment, federal benefit claims, Agent Orange treatment legislation, mental health care and assistance to the disabled.

VVA needs increased membership in order to broaden its objectives and strengthen its impact on the lives of Vietnam-era veterans everywhere. Please join us.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who show me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen.

Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones and for favors received. W.P.A.

THE BEST JAGUARS EVER BUILT:
There is no formula for the creation of a classic. Yet, for more than 50 years Jaguar has given the world classic after classic.

Here are two of the finest Jaguars ever built: the magnificent Series III sedan and the awesome V-12 powered S-type GT. Both share the inimitable Jaguar qualities of graceful design, quick response and agile hand.

JAGUAR

and pinion steering, racebred four-wheel independent suspension and decisive four wheel power disc brakes. Inside Jaguars provide a level of luxury and quiet seldom, if ever, equalled in a high performance motor-car. Test drive them today.
