My confession

Such glee in Grosse Pointe. Some of you were kind enough to call last week and point out that I'd caught my tongue in my typewriter. I made a big mistake on the front page and it was a beaut!

In a story I wrote called "Crime up—Kelly down," I told the tale of Senator John Kelly's woes, namely how his car had been stolen in downtown Detroit while he, the wife and kiddies were at his office.

I went on and on how the thieves had stripped the car, taken a stroller, two car seats and the Kelly kids' favorite blanket. I mean it was a great story, except I got the wrong Kellys.

Senator Kelly's office called up and good-naturedly said it was the wrong family. Senator Kelly's wife's name is Toni, not Michelle, the kids' names were wrong and he never owned a Buick. Other than that, the story was fine.

Senator Kelly's neighbors called and said it was a funny article and "Ho-ho Greenwood, aren't you the big dummy." Yes, I are.

Now comes the explainin'. About a year ago I wrote about another Grosse Pointe Kelly family that had just been blessed with a baby boy. I wrote how the grandfather, living in Hawaii, kept sending toys to the newest Kelly and was addressing them to "Senator Kelly", his new grandson, with the idea that the boy might someday really be a senator.

The post office received the packages, and seeing "Senator Kelly" on the address, sent them to the real grown-up senator's office. Our Senator Kelly would open up this package from Hawaii, look at the teddy bear, or whatever was inside, and couldn't figure out what was going on.

Finally, the two families got together, it was all straightened out and I was called upon to write the merry tale. Are you with me so far?

So last week, Mrs. Michelle Kelly, (no relation to the real Sen. Kelly), called me up to fill me in on the latest doings, namely that their car had been stolen in Detroit.

I, vaguely remembering the story I wrote a year earlier, thought it was the wife of our elected official. In other words, I assumed. Remember in high school when the teacher wrote, "When you assume, you make an ass of u and me?" Well, your teacher was right.

Okay, apologies all around. Luckily, Senator Kelly has a good sense of humor or he'd be writing the column this week.

Lordy, I hate it when I'm fallible.

The doggie derby

It's almost that time again, folks. That's right, the end of the month will see Rosey's Second Annual Grand Mutt Derby at the Michigan State Fair Coliseum.

The derby is in memory of Rosey, Charley Manos' loveable mutt who got more ink in Charley's Detroit News column than Michael Jackson. Set for Sunday, April 28, and sponsored by the Detroit News, in cooperation with the Friends of the Michigan State Fair, the event is a fun-filled caper for all types of dogs as all breeds and sizes run for the roses, as well as cash, glory, ribbons and trophies.

After registering at noon, each dog will compete in a 60-yard race in one of three height classifications. A champion will be determined in each division and will win $50 — although what a dog would do with $50 is beyond me.

Then the three grand winners will race for the Grand Mutt (Continued on Page 10A)

Celebrating

... 45 years is St. James Lutheran Church on McMillan near Kercheval in the Farms. The congregation began as a mission in 1940 with the Rev. Henry Burandt officiating. The Rev. George Kurz was the first pastor and he remained until his retirement in 1980. Services for the fledgling congregation were held in the Punch and Judy Theatre for eight years until Dec. 5, 1948 when the present church was dedicated.

Bishop Harold Hecht will speak at the 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. services Sunday, April 28. He is the bishop of the English Synod of the Association of Evangelical Churches.

The current pastors are the Rev. George Schelter and the Rev. Robert Rimbo.

Jacobson's to serve beer, wine

City approves first liquor license bid

By Pat Paholsky

After 65 years of prohibiting the sale of liquor by the glass in its restaurants, the city of Grosse Pointe is going wet. The council approved Jacobson's request for a tavern license Monday night.

The application will be sent to the state Liquor Control Commission which will conduct its own investigation. This step in the process takes from three to four months, according to City Manager Thomas Kressbach.

The thorough investigation conducted by the local police department, however, may help speed up the process. Public Safety Director Bruce Kennedy said.

After final approval, a Jacobson official said the store's restaurant would be ready to begin serving within 30 to 90 days.

According to those timetables, the earliest that patrons could order a glass of beer or wine would be about mid-August, with the latest date sometime in November.

It was in November last year that voters approved ending the ban against the sale of alcoholic beverages in restaurants. The city was the only one in the Pointes that was dry.

In his presentation for Jacobson's, Robert Moles, vice president of operations, said, "We will not have a bar as such. (Beer and wine) will be served by our wait-staff, not by a bartender."

He also said the restaurant's hours would correspond with the store's hours. "We do not intend to keep the restaurant open beyond 8 p.m.," he said.

City planner Brandon Rogers said the store is at least 900 feet from the nearest school, Maire, and 1,900 feet from the nearest

Cooking American

Charity Suczek will give a talk and demonstration on the joys of cooking American with fresh herbs, fruits and vegetables at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 25 at the Central Library, 10 Kercheval.

She will stress the nutritional aspects of the American style. The presentation is free and open to the public.

District's top educator talks about his new job

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Dr. John Whritner spent part of Friday settling into his new office at 389 St. Clair, an office that's been vacant since last July.

Whritner, 49, began his tenure as Grosse Pointe school superintendent Monday night by officiating at the regular board of education meeting. He becomes the fifth man to head the school district since 1981.

The superintendent of East Lyme, Conn. schools for 13 years, Whritner has an additional 14 years experience as teacher, principal and assistant superintendent in White Plains, N.Y. He holds a bachelor's degree in elementary education from New Platz State Teachers College in New York and a master's degree in elementary school administration and doctorate in school systems from Columbia University.

Named to the post in December, Whritner has visited the area several times in the last few months to prepare himself for the position. He took time out from unloading boxes and hanging pictures to talk about education, its problems and the changes that have been made in recent years.

Education is a people business and Grosse Pointe has done well by hiring good people to run the system, he said. "This is a district with a lot of resources and, more of the system.

From those impressions, he will try to build a consensus from which to formulate goals and begin the work of meeting with the school board and the rest of the administration to reach those goals, Whritner said.

The timing of his arrival is good, he feels. The balance of this school year will allow him to observe the system up and running.

"The budget is being developed for next year, so I will be getting in on the tail end of that, but there will be time and opportunity to get out and do things as well," Whritner said. "Joe Spagnoli (deputy superintendent) has done a good job keeping the system running and he will continue to handle a lot of the day-in, day-out activities."

Although he will be dealing with a budget almost four times that of East Lyme, there are some significant differences in the two systems, Whritner said. East Lyme had one-third the physical plant that Grosse Pointe has, but was forced to operate a busing system, he said, adding one of his going-away presents was a toy school bus that sits on one of the shelves in his new office. "They thought I'd get lonely if I didn't see a school bus for awhile," he said.

One large part of the local budget is salaries. Whritner said 70 percent of the local budget is tied into salaries. It doesn't mean salaries are too high, but reflects what the market will bear for teacher wages and may help draw people into a profession that will soon suffer shortages and qualified teachers.

For all the predictions of the death of public education, the system will remain alive and well for years to come, Whritner said. "I have been in this business for a long time and that talk has been around for a long time," he added.

There was a time when many districts were having hard times. "We bought a package in terms of some of the things we stopped doing and some of the things that we started doing."

"It wasn't just the schools. It was a societal factor that was taking hold. We are an image of society in many ways," Whritner continued. "But as you look at things that have happened, the pendulum has begun to swing back and we have come to our senses to a certain extent."

Schools continue to put out a good product, evidenced in part by rising national SAT scores. But districts like Grosse Pointe and other top systems across the nation were the ones holding up the average while many large urban systems

"(If the nation is going to remain competitive in a very fast-changing world, the educational system is going to have to be top-notch. If that education system fails, the nation is going to fail."

began to slide, Whritner said.

There are ways to evaluate performance of a superintendent using the available resources of the system, according to him. The district maintains its own research and development department. The problem is more of dealing with the perceptions, he added.

"When you're dealing with the ninetieth percentile, the ability to pull up scores is extremely limited," Whritner said. "When you're in an urban setting and you see a 10 percent jump in test scores, you know that something has happened and you have had a hand in it. In Grosse Pointe, you just can't see that kind of a jump."

There are some programs that are difficult to evaluate, like the art and music programs. It's difficult to measure success in those programs, Whritner said. The ways to tell the programs are (Continued on Page 10A)

Barriers hinder crime

By Harriet Nolan

Grosse Pointe Farms had six cases of smash-and-grab robberies this year. In all but two instances, the targets were clothing stores.

"Not a whole lot of thought goes into this type of crime," says Farms Detective Mark Brecht. "While the thieves make a lot of noise, the idea is to get in quick and out."

He notes that national crime statistics indicate it takes about four minutes to complete a smash-and-grab theft.

"But in these cases it's not even that long," he says. "They grab an armful of clothes, a car is waiting and they're gone."

He recommends keeping higher priced merchandise out of sight. Typically that's exactly what merchants keep on display in their store windows.

"If you want it, don't flaunt it really applies in these cases," says Brecht.

For merchants who don't want to go to the trouble of removing merchandise from the front of the store each evening, Farms Lt. Earl Field suggests alternating the hanger openings on a rack, thereby making it impossible for someone to scoop up an armful of clothes easily.

Since most of these robberies occur late at night or early in the morning, Brecht says businesses should take precautions and put up barriers to make a building more difficult to enter.

This includes adding more exterior lighting so the thief can't use darkness as a cover.

The next step would be to reinforce windows using a stronger material, such as acrylic, which Brecht says is 10 times stronger than ordinary glass.

Alarm systems available include those that go off when someone steps on a mat, breaks the magnetic tape or interrupts a single light beam. Alarm systems, when activated, can emit several types of alarms and can also automatically telephone-dial to an alarm company.

Also merchandise can be marked with an ultra-violet light. It won't damage the material but can assist identification later if it's suspected to be stolen.

"The best gauge to use is to ask yourself what do you have to protect," recommends Brecht. "If it's a lot, then spend a percentage of what it's worth to protect it, otherwise do the basics."

It comes down to minimizing risks. Do you want to run the risk of being robbed and having merchandise stolen?" he asks.

Farms police have three officers trained in crime prevention who will come to a home or business and do a security survey, according to Brecht. Plus the department has dozens of publications that address all sorts of protection.

To apply for the free survey, a person must make a request in writing and mail it to the Farms Crime Prevention Bureau, says Brecht.

Grosse Pointe Park fire officials are still investigating a two-alarm fire that occurred April 4 at this two-family flat on Beaconsfield. No injuries were reported from the extremely smoky fire which officials believe started in the basement. Firefighters from both the Park and City rescued one person, a dog and two cats from the building, which received extensive water and smoke damage. City Public Safety Officer Don Boyer, far left, and Park fireman Joseph Blak look on as Ed Behrend of the City Public Safety Department releases one of the cats trapped in the home.

Crusade against cancer

More than 410 volunteers will be going door to door throughout the Grosse Pointe area from April 27 to May 6, according to the community chairpersons of the American Cancer Society's Residential Crusade. Coordinating the event here will be Donna Weinle of Grosse Pointe, Theresa Thomson of Grosse Pointe Park and Elizabeth Shammus of Grosse Pointe Woods.

April is Cancer Control Month when volunteers call on their neighbors and friends, giving them life-saving information about cancer. Last year 7,180 pieces of educational literature was distributed in the Grosse Pointe area and more than $15,368 was raised during the Residential Drive.

For 1985, the education focus is cancer of the colon and rectum. According to the American Cancer Society, colorectal cancer is one of the most curable forms of cancer and also one of the most misunderstood. Most people believe that it is an uncommon type of cancer; in fact, about 134,000 cases will be diagnosed in the United States this year.

Approximately 1,225 of these cases will be in Wayne County. The American Cancer Society reports that almost three out of four colorectal patients can be saved if the disease is found early and treated promptly.

The educational material the volunteers will be giving describes three standard diagnostic techniques for early detection of colorectal cancer in persons who are without symptoms; 1) digital rectal exam, 2) testing for hidden blood in the stool and 3) proctosigmoidoscopy.

A special chocolate chip cookie recipe featuring high fiber and low fat content has been printed on a recipe card and will be distributed during the neighborhood drive.

A possible link between diet and cancer of the breast, prostate and colon has been suggested by recent studies. Evidence points to a lessening of fiber in the diet and lowering the intake of fatty foods.

Information on cancer detection and prevention, including the following brochures, "Colorectal Cancer — Go for Early Detection," "Nutrition, Common Sense and Cancer" and cancer's seven warning signals "Listen To Your Body" are available from the local Wayne County office of the American Cancer Society, 6227 N. Inkster Road, Garden City, 48135 phone number 425-6830.

The American Cancer Society's Residential Crusade, scheduled to be held from April 27 to May 6, is being coordinated in Grosse Pointe by, from left, Elizabeth Shammus of the Woods, Theresa Thomson of the Park and Donna Weinle of the City.

Golf benefit to aid hospital

More than 100 prizes will be offered at the Second Annual Bon Secours Hospital Invitational Golf Benefit on Monday, June 10, at the Lochmoor Club in Grosse Pointe Woods. Proceeds from the event will support the hospital's Health and Fitness Center in St. Clair Shores.

The benefit includes 18 holes of golf, continental breakfast, luncheon, cocktails, dinner and a chance to win one of at least 10 major door prizes or one of more than 100 gifts to be given away.

Tickets for the entire day are available for a $200 donation. An $85 donation is requested for those who only want to attend the evening cocktail hour, dinner and be eligible for door prizes. All donations are tax-deductible as allowed by law.

There is a choice of two fields of play at 8 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. Both are shotgun starts. An afternoon fashion show from Miner's of Grosse Pointe will follow the morning round of golf.

Hole-in-one prizes include $10,000 cash (split between the winner and Bon Secours) four automobiles, a Rolex watch, and woman's fur coat. Other prizes will be awarded for the shot falling closest to the pin and straightest drive. These contests will have separate competitions for men and women golfers.

Corporate or business sponsorships are available for a $500 donation. This includes placement of the donor's corporate or business name on the tee, recognition in the program, and one evening dinner ticket.

The steering committee includes W. George Kramer Jr., general chairman, Kenneth Adler, co-chairman, and Sister Patricia A. Eck, C.B.S., acting executive director, Bon Secours Hospital. For more information, call Jamie Spriet at 882-1126.

Historical group seeks volunteers for spring project

The Grosse Pointe Historical Society is planning a photographic survey of older buildings in the area and is looking for volunteers to help with the project.

Beginning in Grosse Pointe City, volunteers will photograph and survey on Saturday, April 27, and Saturday, May 4, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Rain date is May 11.

Persons interested in the community's architectural and historical heritage are invited to help with the project. Volunteers who like research, taking photographs and photoprocessing are especially welcome.

A training session will be held Thursday, April 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the society's headquarters in Monteth School.

Persons interested in helping or who have information regarding older homes (pre-1940) are asked to call the society at 884-7010.

Drivers training offered at YMCA

Drivers training for teens, 15 through 18, will be held at the Lakeshore Family YMCA, located on Jefferson near Nine Mile Road in St. Clair Shores.

Classes will be both in the classroom and behind-the-wheel training. They will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. The next session begins April 23.

Call 778-5811 for additional information. Instruction is supplied by the Accurate Driving School, Inc. Pre-registration is necessary.

The Pirates Cove, a thoroughly captivating little hide-away where some of the east side's nicest people serve some of anywhere's best pasta and pizza in an atmosphere that is quiet, relaxed, intimate, and especially friendly.

Marked with an "X" on the map, "Pirate's Cove" lies tucked, on Mack (just north of Cadieux) next to Joe Ricci's AMC Select Used Cars and kiddie-corner to Soro's Realty. Follow Notre Dame Street across to Blue Hill and you have it.

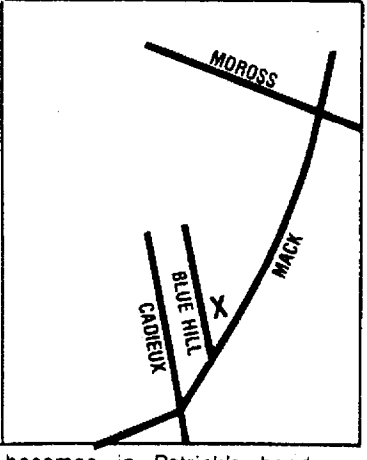

Or, rather, it will have you — the Italian eating is that good. Try the Italian Tortelaci, made from homemade egg noodles filled with a mixture of ricotta cheese and the right touch of spinach, and topped with perfectly seasoned and meaty-good meat sauce. Or spend an afternoon or evening savoring the Fettuccine ala Bolognese or the homemade egg noodles garnished with the butter sauce of Fettuccine Alfredo. The spaghetti, mostaccioli and meat filled ravioli are all superb with made-at-home meat sauce. The gnocchi (homemade potato dumplings and meat sauce) will leave you happy, warm and full.

The Pirate's Cove plunder of delicious dishes also includes the rich pizzas taken from a raid on Chicago — pizza made and served right in the pan — as well as owner, Patrick Dougherty's 10 years of experience gained at Buddy's Restaurant in Detroit. Made from scratch with farm fresh ingredients and incredibly light and fluffy regular or special whole wheat dough, a pizza at the Cove, becomes in Patrick's hands, a delightfully chewy experience — one best undertaken with a group of good friends.

Aided by co-owner, Dorothy Gibbons who worked at Joe Muer's for 10 years — Dorothy makes her own wonderful quiche, and every Sunday, Patrick, along with his wife, Shirley, will create such extra specials as cordon bleu, stuffed steak and bracioloni.

At the Pirate's Cove, the bar is small, but very precocious offering the right wines, imported beers, and all the coffee and ice cream drinks one can conjure up. The earth tones, browns and oranges, blend well with the easy going mix of old friends and patrons and the music, soft and subtle, seems almost choreographed to the Cove's understated ambience. Hours are from 11-11 Monday-Thursday, 11-12 Friday-Saturday, and from 4-10 on Sunday.

Park council, crime targeted

By Tom Greenwood

The "cabbage patch kids" of Grosse Pointe Park are getting feisty.

More than 100 residents of the "patch," described by residents as an area within the Jefferson to Mack, Wayburn to Beaconsfield boundaries, filled Grace United Church of Christ Monday evening to hear the newly formed North-west Park Association (NPA) discuss ways to combat crime and shake the Park council out of what many feel is an uncaring attitude about their neighborhoods.

The second meeting of the NPA was chaired by John Ryan, of Lakepointe Road, and co-chaired by Nadine Owens, of Wayburn. Despite Ryan's efforts to limit the meeting to discussions of ways of combating crime, aroused residents may have witnessed the beginning of a political power base which may use voting muscle to prod the council into paying more attention to the four long blocks that front Detroit.

Both Ryan and Mrs. Owens praised the Park police, but said crime was a real problem "because the police can't be everywhere." Among the topics up for discussion before the audience was researching the possibility of establishing a Park branch of the Guardian Angels, citizens band radio patrols of the neighborhoods and the establishment of a Neighborhood Watch program.

The NPA also voted to establish a $10 per family, per year dues system for association members.

Speaking before the audience, Owens was heavily critical of the Park council and City Manager John Crawford, saying the city paid too much attention to its tree program, but not enough to crime prevention.

"I mailed a letter to Crawford 10 days ago asking that the NPA be allowed to use the council chambers for our meeting tonight and never received any reply," Owens said. "And at the last meeting the council established a tree program stretching 'til 1995, but they have no long-term program for crime."

"I live on Wayburn and we've been hit time and time again. I suggest we print up stickers for our windows saying 'Dear Thieves, we are cleaned out. There's nothing left. We suggest you travel further into the Park and hit homes on Bishop, Whittier and Audubon. They have lots of nice stuff.'"

A caustic suggestion by one audience member to provide car pools for the thieves drew laughter and applause.

"We don't vote and the council knows it," Ryan said, citing voting statistics for that section of the Park dating back to 1977. "Only 25 to 30 percent of us vote regularly. If you don't vote, you don't have a voice. We can put people on that council and in the mayor's chair."

Among suggestions from the audience were increased police patrols, including foot patrols if possible, more concern for neighbors' property and increased calls to the police over anything that is in the least suspicious.

One woman spoke out against the establishment of public safety, (the combining of both the police and fire departments), saying it was too costly, time-consuming and allowed criminals more chances to strike when policemen were called away to fight fires.

But much of the meeting was given to citizens venting their anger against the Park council.

"We're the cabbage patch," said one man. "We're Grosse Pointers, but we're not Grosse Pointers. We're second-class citizens and the council doesn't know anything about us."

"We feel like we're second class citizens," added Bill Farrant. "We're blue collar and they think we're backward. We're alienated and fed up with being ignored."

After the meeting, Ryan said that no members of the council, including City Manager Crawford, lived within the boundaries of the cabbage patch, although Councilman Vern Ausherman, who attended the meeting, along with council members Mark Valente and Carol Evola, lists a Lakepointe address.

Questioned afterwards, Valente said the meeting was "very interesting." "They apparently have a groundswell of support," Valente said. "They've got some good ideas, although I think they should establish their goals more. The council is trying to do the best it can. We're going to be getting more patrol cars on the street by putting one officer, instead of two, in a car. This should help the situation."

Mrs. Evola disagreed that the council treats certain parts of the Park differently than others. "I don't agree that there's a difference," she said. "I have many friends who live in the cabbage patch. That's why I'm here tonight. I don't consider that there's two different parts of the Park. We're all neighbors."

"I'm also upset over the negative remarks about our tree program. The implication is we didn't become concerned about crime until two weeks ago and that's not fair."

As the church emptied, Owens said 52 persons had signed up to join the NPA at their first meeting April 1, but estimated their ranks had swelled considerably Monday night as residents lined up to add their names to the NPA's membership roster.

"The other program is also based on visibility," he said. "I want to introduce a service cycle, a cross between a motorcycle and a scooter."

Crawford said he plans to start with one in the summer when the weather permits.

Acting police chief says:

Put crime rate in perspective

By Pat Paholsky

The statistics show a 74 percent increase in burglaries in the Park last year, up from 84 in 1983 and 146 in 1984. But those statistics should be put in their proper context, acting police chief Lt. Tom Martin said.

"1983 was well below average," he said, adding that the 1984 figure is closer to the average for a five-year period.

Burglaries — forced, unlawful or attempted — were recorded at 135 for 1980; 160 for 1981; 124 for 1982; 84 for 1983; and 146 for 1984.

Martin had no explanation for the drop in 1983, other than saying that certain criminal elements might have been concentrating on other cities.

"It looks like a terrible jump," he said, "but 1983 was well below average."

His recommendation to combat crime is for residents to become concerned neighbors.

"If you give us a call, we're happy to check," he said.

Talk by some residents of setting up a local chapter of Guardian Angels doesn't bother Martin.

"As far as the Guardian Angels are concerned, they've been looking for publicity and I don't think they've done much more than seek publicity. They make a big show and then they're never heard of again. If someone wants to walk the streets, they're welcome to do so."

Martin said a group from the Guardian Angels approached the city about 1½ years ago. "They wanted to walk the streets and we said, 'Fine,' and we never heard from them again."

City Manager John Crawford said he has three programs planned. One, an apprehension program in which detectives are in unmarked cars, was implemented during March, according to Martin.

"We have men in trouble areas where there are certain crimes, such as car thefts, B and Es and robberies," Crawford said.

"The other problem is visibility and we have two separate programs. We will increase the number of patrols by using one man to a car."

As soon as the scheduling is worked out, Crawford said that policy will be established.

Shores crime decreased in '84

By Harriet Nolan

Grosse Pointe Shores recorded an across-the-board decrease in major crimes in 1984 over 1983, according to the annual crime report.

Automobile thefts dropped from four in 1983 to three last year while there were five burglaries in 1984 compared to seven in 1983. Larcenies remained the same for both years with 30 cases.

"We're a very safe community," said Joseph Vitale, Public Safety director. "I credit the decrease in crime to strong citizen cooperation and alert patrol officers."

Vitale noted that the concept of neighborhood watch dates back to colonial times when people, lacking organized protection, had to watch out for each other. He said Shores residents are encouraged to do the same and to call police whenever they see an unknown person acting suspiciously.

"We'd rather investigate and find nothing wrong than run the risk of having a report made too late," he said.

Also, the village mails safety tips to residents and broadcasts safety bulletins on Channel 36, he added.

Bicycle thefts dropped from six in 1983 to one in 1984. Vitale credits that to officers routinely checking resident's houses.

"If we see a garage door open and there are valuables inside, we tell the owner to close it," he said. "That's one of the advantages of living in a small community."

He noted that the department's LEIN system is a great aid to officers patrolling the streets. When a motorist is stopped for a traffic violation, a computer check can be run on the person. Often he said, it's discovered they are wanted by another department on an outstanding warrant.

The Shores recorded one fatality, the result of a drunk driving accident, he said.

Shores police logged 178,274 miles of patrol duty in city cars in 1984.

Richard plans flower sale

Richard Elementary School in the Farms will hold its annual PTO Flower Sale Friday, May 17.

This year's sale offers a variety of bedding plants, hanging baskets and statuary. Cement planters and statues and most of the hanging baskets are available by pre-sale only. Samples of the statuary are on display in the first floor showcase at Richard.

Among the varieties which are available on the pre-sale order form are impatiens, begonias, snapdragons, red and blue salvia, zinnias, asters, dahlias, petunias, verbenas, geraniums and New Guinea impatiens.

Pre-sale order forms are available at the Richard School office at 176 McKinley, anytime during school hours, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., or by calling the school office at 343-2281.

Order deadline is May 1 with flower pick-up at the school from 3 to 6 p.m. Friday, May 17. The sale will be open to the public from 5-8 p.m. the same day.

Profits from the sale will be used for additional educational equipment for Richard School.

Call the Richard office for more information.

School board sets gift employee policy

The Defer Science Center will have a teacher to help there once a week, but it will be a person hired by the district. The money donated by the Defer PTO will also be used to pay the person's salary and withholding taxes and other "take-outs," according to the school administration.

The Board of Education Monday night approved the Defer PTO's gift of $800 to pay for a teacher to help in the science center once a week, but added some requirements to the gift to bring the hiring of employees with gifts under the same procedures that prevail throughout the rest of the district, according to Deputy Superintendent Joseph Spagnoli.

The board last month put off acceptance of the gift while questions about the district's liability were answered. Using a legal opinion rendered in 1981, the administration decided that people hired with gift money from PTOs were indeed employees of the district, and their salaries subject to withholding taxes and retirement contributions.

The district has allowed PTOs at Kerby and Defer to pay for an instructional assistant to help with science programs at the schools. About half the Defer gift is left, because the person was employed as a science teacher before the board was asked to approve the gift. Dr. Spagnoli said.

The Defer program was suspended pending board action. The Kerby program was held in abeyance until the board set the procedures, while a pilot program at Trombly, where the consultant is paid as an outside contractor, remains unaffected.

Under the board's decision, a PTO may still make a gift for the hiring of a consultant or instructor. The donation should not specify a person and posting of the opening will be handled through the system's personnel office. If the PTO has a specific person in mind, that person will be able to apply through the school system for the opening, Spagnoli said.

The gift will also include withholding taxes and retirement contributions that will have to be made on the employee's salary, he said.

The changes in the hiring procedures bring the employees hired with PTO gifts into conformance with hiring procedures followed by the rest of the district, Spagnoli said.

Woods mayor goes to Washington

Woods Mayor George S. Freeman recently attended a National League of Cities meeting in Washington, D.C.

The 4,000 city officials attending the conference were told that major urban programs, already cut in half from their 1979 funding levels, could lose another $20 billion if Congress accepts the cuts proposed by the administration.

The conference included a full day of workshop sessions on major urban issues currently before Congress. The briefings focused on the most important concerns surrounding each issue, how Congress is likely to approach them, and what kinds of facts and information might affect those deliberations.

Crime down in City in '84

By Tom Greenwood

With the exception of auto thefts, overall crime in Grosse Pointe City fell by 11 percent in 1984, according to Director of Public Safety Bruce Kennedy's annual crime report.

The 20-page summation, which also includes a breakdown on the fire department and includes a record of in-service training during 1984, was presented to City Manager Thomas Kressbach on March 4.

Kennedy said there was a 14 percent decline in Part I (more serious) crimes in 1984, with 275 crimes reported last year as compared to 321 crimes in 1983.

Categorically, Kennedy said the percentage breakdown was as follows: breaking and enterings declined by 18 percent, with 16 burglaries in 1983 and 13 in 1984; armed robberies decreased from five in 1983 to two in 1984, for a 60 percent decline; and larcenies fell by 17 percent, with 262 reported in 1983 and 216 listed in 1984.

There were 20 auto thefts in 1984, up from 14 in 1983 — representing a 30 percent increase. There were also eight attempted auto thefts last year. City police say that while the numerical increase in car thefts is small, they are concerned by the rise which reflects a national trend in auto theft.

The report also said there was a seven percent decrease in Part II (less serious) crimes last year, with 232 minor offenses reported compared to 249 in 1983.

In his report, Kennedy said there were no reports of murder, forcible rape, rape attempts, arson, other vehicle theft, kidnapping, weapons violations, gambling, drunkenness, violation of liquor laws or vagrancy.

The city issued 68 permits to purchase weapons, recorded 66 guns and issued 22 concealed weapons permits. The city also issued 9,576 violations during the year with 8,642 of them for parking meter violations.

The report said the public safety department also received 406 false alarms during 1984, which officials say is about average for the past three years. Authorities say they're receiving more false alarms each year as the number of private homes with burglar alarms installed increased.

District will expand its center program

The special education department of Grosse Pointe public schools hopes to expand its Trainable Mentally Impaired center program to include five local students who are currently classified as severely handicapped and severely mentally impaired.

Three students from Grosse Pointe and two from Harper Woods currently attend center programs at Moses Field near Belle Isle and Helen Field in northeast Detroit.

The five students, ages 16 to 21, will have a separate classroom, teacher and curriculum from other students in the TMI program. Their addition to the center program is allowed under the programs guidelines, Director of Special Education Claire Hunt said.

The county intermediate school district has helped set up regional programs to which school districts can send children with special needs. Curriculum at the center programs is tailored to the students' disability.

Grosse Pointe's TMI center program currently has about 35 students enrolled.

Although the district may not save any money by adding the five students to the center program, it will be bringing the students back to their own community for their education, Dr. Hunt said.

Annual transportation costs for sending the three Grosse Pointe students to the center programs at Moses and Helen fields was $70,000, Dr. Hunt said. The need for specially equipped vans has forced up the cost, she added.

Parents have been anxious to have their children remain in the community for their education, Dr. Hunt said. Center programs can't inspire the same sense of community that going to school in one's neighborhood does, she added.

In addition, the students in the center program will be in a regular school building and not segregated, Dr. Hunt said. "It's important to have role models," she added.

Parents of the five students will remain eligible for state aid made available in 1984 to parents with children suffering certain disabilities to help offset increased medical expenses and other costs.

Grosse Pointe has operated its TMI center program for about 12 years. It is currently located at Poupard Elementary School.

Erma Henderson to speak at LWV annual meeting

Erma Henderson, president of the Detroit Common Council will be the featured speaker at the annual meeting of the League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe.

Schools plan $15.5 million tax note sale

The school district will sell between $15 million and $16 million worth of tax anticipation notes this year.

Trustees Monday night approved a resolution authorizing the sale of notes, which are sold yearly to finance the district's operation in the first half of its coming school year.

The range of borrowing was established to give the district some flexibility in determining the amount to be borrowed, should circumstances change, up to the sale date of the bonds, school officials said.

The district expects to sell $15.5 million, the same amount as last year, Director of Business Affairs Christian Fenton said.

The notes will be dated July 1 and will mature April 1 next year. The interest rate for the notes is not to exceed 18 percent, according to the notice of sale.

To pay off the notes, the district is required to set up a separate deposit account with a portion of tax dollars collected beginning in December. Starting next March 1, all taxes collected are to be set aside for payment of the notes until the principal and interest are covered the sale notice said.

The total issue is paid off in early April of the year after the notes are issued, Fenton said.

State law allows a school district to borrow through tax anticipation notes, up to 50 percent of its current fiscal year's operating tax levy. This fiscal year, the district's tax budget for operating expenses is $34 million.

The district will set the date for acceptance of bids and sale of the notes.

Mermer is Alumnus of Year

Noel F. Mermer was presented with the Alumnus of the Year award at the 53rd Annual Slide Rule Dinner held recently by the University of Detroit College of Engineering and Science.

He was given the award for his contributions to the field of engineering. A 1962 chemical engineering graduate of U of D, Mermer directed the planning, permitting, engineering and establishment of the nation's first commercial synthetic fuel plant, Great Plains, in western North Dakota. The $2.1 billion project is now beginning production.

Mermer, chairman and chief executive officer of the Venture Management Co., a newly formed subsidiary of American Natural Resources, is a Woods resident. He is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

A tribute for service

Serving on the Grosse Pointe school board, like other public service in the community, takes a lot of time, thought and effort which explains why the people of the Pointes owe a debt of gratitude to those willing to serve. This spring the community owes a special thank you to Catherine Brierly who is stepping down from the board after six years of competent and conscientious service.

As she points out in her interview with the Grosse Pointe News, Mrs. Brierly found the last two years especially trying because of the frequent changes in the administration. She not only participated in the hiring of two superintendents but worked with two other acting heads who served briefly until the new men arrived. Such frequent changes required the board to become more active in running the school system than it normally is in its policy-determining role. Fortunately, Dr. John Whritner, the new superintendent, is now in place and should relieve the board of those extra duties.

Another major development that has an important impact on the board has been the decline in enrollment that required closing one elementary school and juggling enrollment in other schools. Those changes prompted the controversy that led to an unsuccessful attempt to recall Mrs. Brierly and two other board members last June. The strong feelings aroused in that campaign now seem to be abating, although they could be revived in the June election campaign.

Other factors of current concern to parents, teachers, other residents and the school board include curriculum changes, the seven-day period day, the budget and the school tax rate. In such matters, the board often is subjected to criticism because the community is not of a single mind. In Mrs. Brierly's view, the board must often make decisions that are difficult and unpopular, but it tries to see the consequences of its decisions on the entire community and on the educational benefits to young people. By and large, the board has followed that course and has won community support.

With Mrs. Brierly stepping down, contests have developed for the two seats to be filled in June. Dr. Ernest Buechler, the second incumbent, has filed for re-election and three other candidates have also decided to make the race. They are Carl D. Anderson, Carol Marr and Cynthia Pangborn. As in the past, this newspaper will seek to interview the candidates at length and report their views in both the news and editorial columns in coming weeks.

Competition usually arouses more interest and more discussion of school affairs and helps inform the voters before they go to the polls. The four candidates share credit for creating the competition and will deserve even more commendation if they conduct vigorous campaigns explaining how they stand on school issues.

Correcting the correction

To the Editor:

If at first you don't succeed — while the world won't come to an end, and Mrs. Frederick M. Alger Jr., is enjoying this whole thing immensely, your attempt in the April 4 edition to correct your previous error as to her identity is equally erroneous.

You are right on one thing: Russell Alger Jr. built the house which is now owned by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association. Russell A. Alger Jr. died in 1930.

He had a brother and three sisters. The brother was Frederick M. Alger. He died in 1934.

Whether you have Kay Alger as the wife of Russell or of Frederick, she would have to be over 100 years old.

What you meant to say is that "in fact," Mrs. Alger is the widow of Frederick M. Alger Jr., whom some of your readers will remember as the former Michigan Secretary of State and ambassador to Belgium.

Incidentally, Fred's mother, who, after the death of his father married Dr. Fred T. Murphy, was a member of the first Liquor Control Commission established after Prohibition. Both she and her first husband had been active participants in the successful attempt to repeal Prohibition. Both would feel that the greater control the issuing of a Class C license to the War Memorial would bring over its present use by the individual groups who apply for and receive a 24-hour license would be a welcome thing.

Gambling on Belle Isle? No!

The early reaction to the plan for a $400 million casino gambling-resort hotel development on Belle Isle is decidedly cool, especially among public officials and the general public. That reflects this newspaper's opinion as well.

Even Mayor Coleman Young, who favors casino gambling downtown, has criticized the Belle Isle site and was quoted as saying "I can tell you right now that under no circumstances would I close Belle Isle down for anything." Several members of the Detroit City Council also expressed outright opposition or strong reservations about the plan.

The mayor is still planning the appointment of a commission to look into casino gambling somewhere in Detroit and collect information about the effects of such installations. At the moment he objects to the current project because it would ban private cars and limit access to parts of the city-owned island.

Even though the development would require only about 200 acres of the 984-acre island, it would create an atmosphere far different from the current one that stresses fishing, boating and other recreational and family activities. Putting a gambling resort into such a setting would obviously change the character of the entire park and in effect make the island a center for activities that are not regarded as family-related even by the project's promoters.

Even worse, legalized gambling in such cities as Las Vegas and Atlantic City has attracted criminal elements and increased crime despite the control efforts of law enforcement officials. A recent application for a casino license in Atlantic City was rejected because of the applicant's association with "an adviser to an agent of the highest councils of organized crime in the United States," as he was portrayed by law enforcement officials and the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Investigations.

Official approval would be required from both the state and the city, but in the past neither has looked favorably on casino gambling in Detroit. Bills to legalize casino gambling have died in committee in the Legislature at least four times and Detroit voters decisively rejected casino gambling in referendums in 1976 and 1981. Legislation to authorize casino gambling in downtown Detroit is still in committee in the Legislature.

Gambling often is described as a regressive tax which tends to hit poor people harder than those who can afford to lose their money. Even if the new development catered chiefly to outsiders, it no doubt would increase gambling among Michigan residents, including those who can't afford to risk the money but still hope to strike it rich at the gaming tables. To that extent, casino gambling could reduce the buying power of many local people, lessen their ability to meet their own needs and thereby trim the volume of sales by many legitimate businesses.

True, Michigan already has a state lottery, gambling at the race tracks and legalized bingo. But the proposed development on Belle Isle would simply increase gambling and have other detrimental side effects that make it objectionable to many residents in the suburbs as well as in the city of Detroit. Detroit and Michigan do need more jobs and more developments to create economic activity, but further expansion of gambling is not the way to go.

More tinkering with taxes

The state's political leaders in Lansing are still tinkering with the state's tax system apparently in an effort to come up with a painless method of extracting taxes from the public. There is no such method, of course, but support appears to be growing for an increase in the sales tax and a cut in property taxes. Presumably the sales tax is regarded as less painful than either the income tax or real estate taxes. Tax cuts, of course, reduce the level of pain for everyone.

The Democrats who control the House are talking about a package that would halve the portion of the residential property tax that supports the public schools, equalize education spending statewide and increase the state's 4 percent sales tax to 6 percent. The proposal, if passed by two-thirds of each house, would be put on the November 1986 ballot.

Early reaction of Republican leaders was supportive. Senate Majority Leader John Engler said a sales tax increase and a property tax cut is a package worth considering. House Minority Leader Michael Busch said the proposal "makes a lot of sense," but pointed out a similar measure was defeated in a 1981 referendum.

But Gov. James Blanchard said he would not support the proposal advanced by House Democrats, and his spokesman said the governor is concentrating his attention on cutting property taxes and closing loopholes, not raising other taxes. Once burned by the 1983 controversial 38 percent increase in the state income tax rate, the governor obviously now is twice shy of any new boost that might create another controversy as he prepares to run for re-election next year.

Instead, the governor is talking about using the tax amnesty plan originally proposed by Rep. William Bryant Jr. of Grosse Pointe to offset the revenue loss expected from another cut in the state income tax rates. The Republican-dominated Senate already has passed a rollback to 4.6 percent effective Jan. 1, 1986, but the governor is unlikely to buy that date. The rate, now 5.35 percent, will dip to 5.1 percent later this year but without new legislation would remain there until Oct. 1, 1987, when it would return to 4.6 percent. The betting still is that a compromise will cut the rate early next year — or at least before the November 1986 election.

For those who are delinquent in their taxes, the amnesty program would be a boon and ease their pain in becoming current on their tax payments. Illinois and Massachusetts had excellent revenue results from adopting such a plan and estimates of the revenues in Michigan from a one-shot amnesty range from $30 million to upwards of $100 million. Windfall revenues in such amounts would serve to ease the pain of other taxpayers as well as the penalties of delinquents qualified to participate.

All of these maneuvers, however, constitute a kind of tinkering with the state's tax system that will not answer all of the questions and criticisms of the various rates and kinds of taxes currently in effect. An overall study ought to be made over a period of time with legislative experts joining those from the state administration and business and industry in rewriting the state's laws to make them more consistent and fairer to individual taxpayers and, at the same time, improve the state's business climate so that Michigan can compete effectively against neighboring states and other states that rely heavily on manufacturing. Such long-term solutions are difficult for legislative bodies to achieve, however.

So in the meantime the state will have to limp along as best it can with Band-aids applied to the most serious tax problems called to public attention by those in a position to be heard.

Decision by council hasty

To the Editor:

Members of the Grosse Pointe Park Council have voted to discontinue spraying for Dutch elm disease in the Park.

Woods police are superb

To the Editor:

Occasionally a special need reminds us of the superb services we might otherwise take for granted. Recently, I called the Grosse Pointe Woods police for an ambulance for a member of my family. Their response was instant and very professional, just as it had been when we needed their services two years ago.

One of these officers, Jack Harwood, has gone out of his way on many occasions in the past to be kind to our family. The little things and big things are appreciated very much. Thanks to Jack and his fellow officers.

Thanks, too, to the officers of the Farms who on other occasions have responded immediately when needed.

We are extremely lucky to have these fine people available and we should not forget it.

Charles D. Todd III
Grosse Pointe Farms

Grosse Pointe City and Farms should be warned that the devastating elm beetle will be flying free in the Park, and on the prevailing winds, will be carrying the disease to the others Pointes as well.

Citizens everywhere in the Pointes may have to increase their efforts to preserve and protect their trees, because of this hasty 4-3 decision by the Park.

Park firefighters great

To Park Fire Chief Costa:

This letter is written to the firemen of your department, their names not known to me, who handled a call at 1096 Beaconsfield, April 4. They should be commended for their thoughtful and selfless consideration concerning the matter.

They returned to the building three times in order to save the life of my pet cat and a neighbor's pet which sometimes are very large, and about the prohibitive cost of insurance coverage, when it is available at all.

Why not keep things as they are now, with the host having to get a special liquor license for his own party or reception, thereby leaving the War Memorial free of all moral or financial responsibility? Do we really want to open a Pandora's box and let out the possibilities of lawsuits and dreadful publicity?

The building is being used to capacity. Everyone enjoys the low-key, genteel atmosphere, part of which I feel results from the lack of pressure to be drinking alcohol at every function we attend in life. What's wrong with wine and punch in the old-fashioned wedding tradition?

I know the council of Grosse Pointe Farms is considering these things and hope it will make one of its usual fine decisions.

For the past two weeks, we have been taking testimony in the House Taxation Committee on revenue and expenditure projections as well as general economic forecasts. All of this is background information to expose committee members to the various versions of the future before we consider the accelerated rollback of the income tax.

We will break for a week-long spring recess. The different versions of fact are in. Now we must sift and analyze and come to a judgment.

Air passengers have rights too

By Elizabeth Hanford Dole
Secretary of Transportation

When you're traveling, there is nothing more annoying than being "bumped" off an oversold airplane, or finding out that your luggage has been lost. Sometimes these problems can't be avoided, but all airline passengers should know they have important consumer rights that the Department of Transportation (DOT) will help to enforce.

The Transportation Department took on this new consumer protection role on Jan. 1, 1985, when airline deregulation laws closed down the Civil Aeronautics Board. Deregulation removed many government controls from the domestic air industry and made the airlines more competitive, but it did not eliminate the protections afforded passengers. Indeed, President Reagan last fall signed legislation preserving important airline consumer programs and transferring them to DOT.

Air travelers can be assured that their rights and protections will be maintained under the new system. Consumer rights are a top priority of the Department of Transportation.

If you have a problem on a flight, you should first try to work it out directly with the airline. If you are unable to resolve the difficulty, you can call the DOT Office of Community and Consumer Affairs at 202-755-2220 or write: Office of Community and Consumer Affairs, U.S. Department of Transportation, Room 10405, 400 7th Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590.

DOT cannot act as your legal counsel. But we can advise you on what steps to take, and, where appropriate, we can contact the airline to help protect your rights.

Still, the best protection against potential problems is to know the rules before you fly. These are some of the major points:

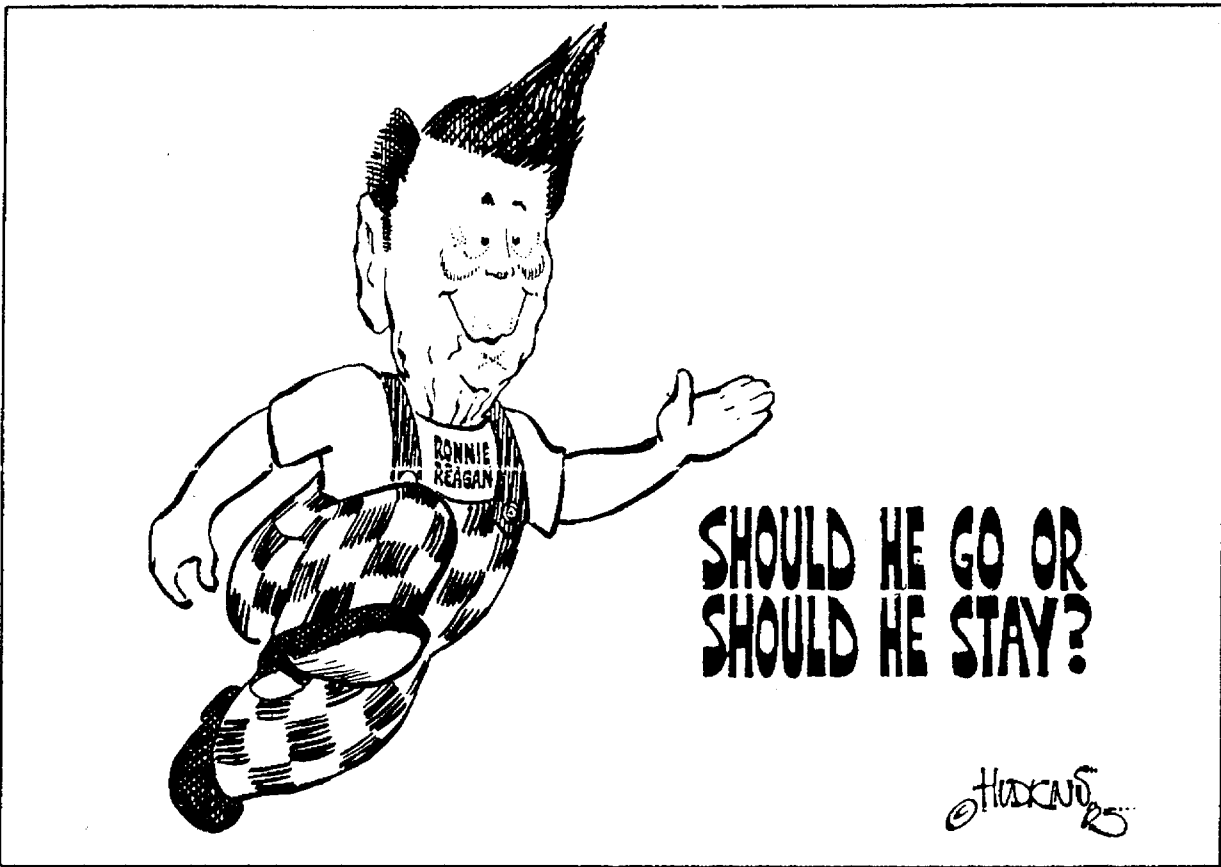

Bumping: If an airline has overbooked a domestic flight, it will sometimes have to "bump" a few ticketed passengers. Before anyone meeting check-in requirements can be bumped, however, an airline must first seek volunteers, offering them incentives to give up their seats. If passengers are bumped involuntarily, the airline may still avoid paying cash compensation if it is able to place them on a flight to the same destination that arrives within an hour of the original flight. If that one-hour deadline is not met, the airline usually must compensate bumped passengers with cash — up to $400 depending upon the length of delay and price of the ticket — in addition to the already-purchased ticket. These rules don't apply to flights coming into the U.S. or on flights between foreign cities.

Smoking: Smoking is completely banned on U.S. commercial aircraft having fewer than 30 seats. On larger aircraft, the airline must provide a no-smoking section and expand that section to accommodate all who meet the airline's check-in requirement and wish to be seated there. No cigar or pipe smoking is allowed on any commercial flight. Smoking is also prohibited when the plane is on the ground or when its ventilation system is not fully functional.

Baggage Liability: On domestic flights, airlines cannot limit their liability to less than $1,250 per passenger for lost, damaged or delayed baggage. Usually passengers must still prove the amount of their loss with receipts, and airlines are allowed to take depreciation into account in determining the value of lost items. There are different rules for foreign travel, since international baggage liability, set by treaty, is based on weight at a rate of $9.07 per pound.

Charters: Airline charter tour operators must deposit all passengers' money in an escrow account, not to be used until the charter trips have been completed. Tour operators must also post a $200,000 bond for most charter programs. These rules are designed to protect the funds paid in advance by charter passengers, but unfortunately, some operators may not follow all the rules. To protect yourself, make sure that your money is placed in an escrow account specifically set up for your flight.

One view of the Capitol

There are many elements to consider. The basic and difficult question of projecting state revenue, even assuming a continued strong economy is the latest difficult question.

Other issues are the effect of possible federal budget cuts, effect of the lifting of the Japanese imported car quota, effect of a major effort by General Motors to reduce its property tax costs and whether the state will have a tax penalty amnesty program.

We must also consider the effect of a new U.S. Supreme Court decision which probably makes our system of taxing foreign or out-of-state insurance companies illegal.

With huge federal deficits and balance of payments problems, we will also consider the fragile future of what is generally considered a very robust economic recovery. Although economists are nearly unanimous in predicting continued growth in the economy, it must be recognized that their views are contingent on continued heavy foreign investment. Without such investment, federal borrowing would dry up available capital. Higher interest rates and inflation would result.

What effect, if any, will there be on investor attitude of the closing of Ohio thrift institutions? Will Consumers Power survive or does the governor intend to appoint a Public Service Commission that will send Consumers' into bankruptcy as the governor's mentor, Attorney General Frank Kelley, has suggested should happen? Will seemingly mounting international hunger and war in Africa, the Near East, Afghanistan and elsewhere trigger any change in the U.S. economy? In particular, with a lessening of the oil glut, what will be the effect if the Iran-Iraq war continues to escalate?

It is fascinating. And it certainly does remind us that we live in a global community and a world economy.

Mack store robbed

Crickets Corner, a resale clothing store for children on Mack Avenue, was robbed Thursday, April 11.

Police answering the call at 9:40 p.m. found the front door glass broken and clothing on the floor. A car jack they believe was used to smash the glass was found inside the store.

Carol Sadler, manager of Crickets, said racks of boys' secondhand clothes and new Polly Flanders dresses were part of the merchandise stolen.

Farms Lt. Earl Field said merchants can help to slow down thieves who specialize in smash and grab robberies.

One method is to keep merchandise away from the windows, a prime target area. Also, by alternating hangers on racks in opposite directions, thieves can't lift merchandise by the armful, he added.

You would think that, given four months, I would be able to come up with a wonderful topic for discussion this week, right?

Well, forget it. By the time you read this, I will be gone.

You can add either "fishing" or "to sleep" to that sentence because, courtesy of a journalistic time warp, I'm on vacation.

By the time this newspaper hits the newsstand, I will be sitting with my father in our new boat in the middle of Lake St. Clair chasing after walleyes. I'll be thinking of this place, though.

I really need this vacation. Little things keep telling me that slowly and surely my brains are becoming Silly Putty.

My desk looks like the season's first tornado touched down on it, but I don't care. I snap at people on the telephone and mutter 13-letter hyphenated obscenities under my breath. I don't care.

The Big Boss came in Tuesday and saw my unwashed, unshaven and untied... Well, okay, I may be losing it, but I'm not making any reservation for a rubber room at the Happy Palace yet.

What really irks me is that the quality of my work falls off.

Like the other day, The Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association of Mack Avenue called and asked me to lunch at the Lochmoor Club where it was kicking off its Mack Avenue USA fireworks fundraising.

Well, I forgot to write down the time of the luncheon and scheduled right over it. Then I went and made a mistake in the article that Robbie Currie, co-chair of the event, furnished. Then, I tried to make it sound like it was her fault that I couldn't read.

I say

Mike Andrzejczyk

Well, Mrs. Currie, I'm sorry. That article should have said that Dr. Michael Lahey, Louis Segel and Gus Russo are major contributors to this year's program.

Another example; I was proof-reading the paper Tuesday night, April 9, and I missed the mistake in the headline: "Park ends spraying Dutch for elm disease" on Page 15A.

Now, you all know that it should have read "Park ends spraying for Dutch elm disease." I swear to you that's what I read.

That doesn't eliminate the mental picture of the Dutch family somewhere in the Park expressing their thanks for not having to go through that awful spraying again this year.

Don't get me wrong. I like people calling me and saying I made a mistake. My job is to make each article as accurate a portrayal of its subject as possible.

Making mistakes

Lately, I've been cringing when the phone rings. I can still take the corrections and still keep from blowing a gasket when someone criticizes the style or tone of an article. I remind myself that people who call in these things are demanding a higher quality of reporting than I am giving them and through their goading, hope to see my standards rise.

Last Monday's school board meeting was a different case.

During the special school board meeting that night, Deputy Superintendent Joseph Spagnoli took this newspaper to task for printing a letter from two residents titled "Proposed endangers special ed program."

The letter was about a rumor, a baseless rumor at that, Dr. Spagnoli said. We should check these things out, he added.

Oddly enough, I did check the letter out because it sounded like a good story. I talked with the director of special education and was told the proposal was quickly discarded and was not going to occur.

I called the letter-writers and told them what I had found out and asked them if they would like to withdraw their letter. They said to go ahead and run the letter.

That may have been a reflection on me. My credibility could be so low that I could scream "fire" in a gas station and get only yawns. It could also reflect the administration's credibility.

Dr. Spagnoli did make a good suggestion though. Check out the things you hear with people at the board offices or school board members, or even your local weekly newspaper. We are representatives of the public's right to know and all the rules and regulations that get us into meetings and files are meant for everybody.

Were the letter's contention to have been proven true, you can bet you would have seen it in the news columns. As it went, the next week we printed a letter from Dr. Claire Hunt, director of special education services rebutting the first letter.

Now everybody who reads those pages has heard both sides of the story.

Those letter columns are open to all the community, official and resident alike. It is an opportunity for readers to comment, complain or castigate anyone and everyone. If you don't agree with something we say, write a letter to the editor. If you sign it and don't scribble it in green crayon on a brown paper bag, we'll read it.

Now, I may have misinterpreted Dr. Spagnoli's comments as a dig at this paper instead of a general statement about the administration's willingness to answer all questions put to it by the community it serves.

But, hey, I'm the one who needs the vacation, remember?

Learn a language

The University of Detroit's Division of Continuing Professional Education is now registering its intensive evening foreign language classes in Arabic, French, German, Italian, Japanese and Spanish. Twelve-week classes at several levels will begin the week of May 13.

Using the "Dartmouth-Rassias" intensive method, these classes provide rapid acquisition of fluency, with their emphasis on speaking skills. The method, pioneered by Professor John Rassias, and as highlighted on nationwide television, allows the student to learn effortlessly and quickly in a dynamic and animated classroom atmosphere.

The individualized practice, with instant corrections, enables each student to respond orally in the target language an average of one hundred times per evening class.

Classes will be held at the McNichols Campus.

For information, call 927-1025.

Fathers make room for daughters at the office

By Harriet Nolan

"It's probably been the most rewarding experience I've ever gotten myself into," says Amy Owens, of J.D. Owens Advertising & Public Relations on the Hill.

"He's gone beyond the parent-that my father and many of his business friends, by and large male, were willing to share their knowledge."

One of five children, all college-educated and pursuing careers that include being a financial

"The older man/younger female partnership has its advantages," she says. "It brings two perspectives, making it easier to relate to count executive, office manager and janitor rolled into one, she realizes his past experience as director of public relations for Ross Roy Advertising gives him leeway in subtle areas, such as a dress code which doesn't include her.

"My father can walk into a board meeting dressed as casual as he likes," she says. "I have to wear a suit, pumps and be very well-groomed or I would get passed right over."

"On the average, people in this business are older than me and I'm more critical of myself, not so much because my father expects it, but I know how good he is in this industry. I'm a reflection of my father by following in his career," she adds.

Being the second oldest in the family of seven and the only girl hasn't proved a hindrance of Pamela Thomas, whose father founded Ahee Jewelers 37 years ago in Detroit.

Working in the Woods store since she turned 16, she remembers her father always gave her as much encouragement as he gave her brothers.

However, it wasn't until one of her brothers asked her to make a drawing of a piece of jewelry for a customer that Mrs. Thomas began to put her art education to work for the family.

Recently returned to work, she expects that the majority of Ahee's jewelry will have been created by her in a short while.

"After all," she says, "most of the fine jewelry designers are women."

Laura McMahon's first decision after passing the bar exam, was to join her father's St. Clair Shores law firm, where each currently maintains separate clients.

She, too, credits her parents for encouraging her endeavors and also for financing the education she says her father had to struggle to attain for himself.

"One of the best things about working with parents is that they can teach things no one else wants to talk about," she explains. "In law school they never tell you how to settle a case or manipulate people's egos."

"Working with my father I can let my hair down and ask him the things other attorneys assume you know," she adds.

Working for a parent has other advantages, such as having control over who gets hired and what kind of work the practice accepts, according to Ms. McMahon.

"But it's important to remember we're all individuals even though we're working for parents," she emphasizes. "Each person has his or her own style and values."

"I want to be respected for my style and approach to the legal profession just as my dad wants people to recognize his abilities," she adds.

child role," says Margaret Loomis, of Robert Loomis & Associates in the Village. "We work together as business associates."

Taking the path sons have chosen for decades, these daughters have decided to follow in their father's footsteps.

Ms. Loomis, an honors graduate of Wayne State University, is now a partner in the insurance and financial planning business her father invited her to join almost seven years ago.

"She's never felt her sex or age was a drawback in establishing credibility in an area that deals primarily with older clients."

"You have to be knowledgeable and it's a continuing education process," she says. "I was fortunate analyst and veterinarian and working in the retail and restaurant industry. Ms. Loomis credits both of her parents for their children's successes.

"They encouraged us to do whatever we wanted, to do the best we could," she says. "There was never the attitude that I couldn't do something because I was a woman."

She finds it a challenge to match clients' needs with the correct product and says it's hard to discriminate against someone like herself who's paid a commission on the basis of performance. Also, it has helped being in a small firm instead of a large one where the child of the owner is looked upon with envy and suspicion.

"My father is a concept and global person and I'm a detail person. He understands the product and I make sure it complies with all laws and regulations."

"But you still have to have a sense of humor in a family business," she adds.

Amy Owens, armed with a bachelor's degree in business administration, joined a travel agency before taking her father's offer to join his recently formed public relations agency.

"I hesitated for about six months because I was afraid it would ruin our relationship," says Ms. Owens. "But we get along better now than before."

South senior wins four-year scholarship

A Grosse Pointe South student was among the winners of 1,450 corporate-sponsored four-year merit scholarships announced last week by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the annual competition.

The awards given to outstanding high school seniors are funded by U.S. corporations, company foundations, professional association, unions and trusts.

William Colwell of Lakepointe was the winner of the William R. Barrett Sr. Merit Scholarship funded by Inmont Corp. The company supports scholarships for children of its employees. Inmont is the world's largest producer of printing inks and coatings and also manufactures products for the publishing, packaging, automotive, construction, footwear and textile industries.

Colwell plans to go into physics and space technology, according to the NMSC. He was a Michigan Math Competition finalist for two years. The district's top astronomy award winner, Colwell was also a school representative to the city-wide Computer Bowl, co-founder and vice president of the Computer Club, president of the Games Club for four years, member of the church youth group for four years, part of summer work missions for three years and a member of the youth planning committee for two years.

NMSC chooses recipients based on academic and extracurricular accomplishments, without regard for financial need, which is not a factor in the selection of winners.

The total value of these corporate-sponsored merit scholarships, which are renewable for up to four college years, is nearly $8 million. Each winner will receive between $2,000 and $8,000, or more, for undergraduate study at the U.S. college or university of choice.

William Colwell

Recipients have indicated plans to enroll next fall in about 120 public and 150 private institutions of higher education and to pursue college majors that lead to a wide variety of careers. Over half the merit scholars are tentatively planning careers in science or technology.

The 1985 competition began with more than one million of the nation's high school juniors taking the 1983 PSAT/NMSQT, in more than 18,000 public and independent secondary schools. Last fall, some 15,000 participants, the top scorers in each of the 50 states, were announced as semifinalists.

To ensure representation of outstanding young people from all parts of the nation, an allocation of semifinalists was established for every state and included about half of one percent of each state's graduating seniors. Semifinalists then had to meet a number of rigorous requirements in order to advance to finalist standing and be considered for merit scholarships.

Winners of two other types of merit scholarships will be named this spring, bringing the 1985 total to more than 5,700 academic champions who will receive awards worth over $20 million. On April 24, NMSC will publicize the names of 1,800 winners of National Merit $2,000 Scholarships, the single-payment awards that every finalist has a chance to win and that are distributed on a state representational basis. The third announcement, on May 8, will name about 2,450 winners of four-year merit scholarships sponsored by colleges and universities for students who will attend their institutions.

Oratorical winners

Winners of the local level of the Optimists International Oratorical Contest are Erik Garr of South High and Kathy Elibri of Our Lady Star of the Sea. Mike Martin, president of the Lakeshore Optimists, is in the center. The contest, open to all high school students under 16, had as its theme this year, "To work only for the best and to expect only the best." The students, who each received a plaque and a medallion, will go on to the district competition that will be held at Lawrence Institute of Technology this month.

Student wins trophy in JA contest

Wendy Willett, a sophomore at University Liggett School, received a trophy as runner-up in the Best Salesperson Contest for Junior Achievement of southeastern Michigan held at Ford Co. headquarters.

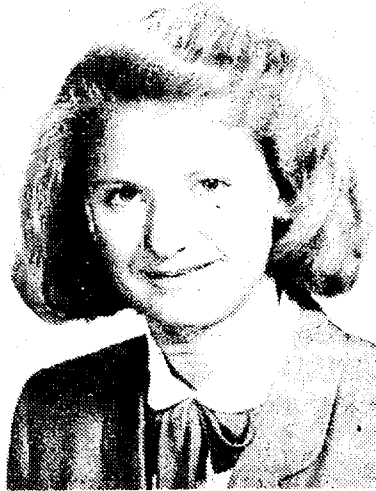

She sold a Kodak camera to Gary Cudberry, host of PM Magazine, in the finals before an audience of 400 guests and JA board members. She was also a finalist in the Outstanding Businesswoman Contest for the second consecutive year.

Wendy also addressed the Harper Woods Rotary Club last month, speaking on "Benefits of Junior Achievement — for the Achiever and for the Community." And she received a letter of recommendation and a leather briefcase for her accomplishments from her JA company's sponsor, Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

She is president of Pointe Business Associates, one of two JA companies in Grosse Pointe this year. She will attend the national convention for JA at Indiana University in August.

Wendy is the daughter of Barbara and G. Howard Willett of Grosse Pointe Shores.

PROM NIGHT

THE BEST NIGHT OF YOUR LIFE

We know you're going to celebrate. But we want you to use some sense too. WDIV and WTVS want you and your parents to join in our Project Graduation effort. Simply sign the pledge and return it to your school. If enough of your classmates sign (50%), your school will make the WDIV Honor Roll and get a special on-air mention. We may even put your prom on TV.

Project Graduation Pledge

I promise to do my part to have a safe prom/graduation season.

I will not drink and drive.

I will not drive with someone who has been drinking.

If I need a ride, I will call home for one.

I promise to offer a ride to my child if he/she should need it...no questions asked. Further, I agree to supervise parties held in my home and to not serve alcoholic beverages to minors.

FACTS OF LAW

by Ellen C. Wallaert

The U.S. Supreme Court says drivers may refuse to have their drivers licenses include a photograph, even where a state law would require it, if it is contrary to a bona fide religious belief.

When a homicide is committed in the heat of passion — such as in extreme anger or rage — the criminal charge is normally reduced from murder to manslaughter.

A license to peddle is granted only to the peddler and is not transferable to someone else.

A Federal Appeals Court has ruled that funds in joint bank accounts cannot be seized by the Internal Revenue Service to pay tax owed by one of the accountholders, until the other accountholder is allowed to show what portion of the account he or she owns.

"Life represents the efforts of men to organize society; government, the efforts of selfishness to overthrow liberty."

—Henry Ward Beecher, American clergyman/author

Top educator discusses job working are the students' work in them and what's coming out in the way of career choices and products, he added.

An administrator may sometimes put in twice the amount of work in poorer systems to see any change, but when change comes, he knows he has had a hand in bringing it about, Whritner said.

Test scores are only a small part of the way to evaluate a system, he said. "It's kind of ironic that the president will take credit for a turn-around in American education because SAT scores have gone up a couple of points," he added. "I would have to say the federal picture has done nothing to reverse the scores. Certainly 'A Nation At Risk' heightened an interest in education and has actually gotten more people interested in the subject of education.

"The changes that take place take place in the trenches," he added. "That's in individual classrooms across the country." Without the motivation and efforts of individual teachers, no amount of national reports will make a difference in public education, he added.

The federal report, 'A Nation At Risk,' did a number of good things for education. It was put on the front pages of the nation's newspapers and got people interested in their schools across the nation, he said.

Derby Championship and $100 in cash and other goodies, including a steak dinner. The winning dog will no doubt take the leftovers home in a people bag.

All proceeds go to the Michigan Humane Society's Rosey Rescue League's fleet of specially equipped vans to aid injured and helpless animals. A $5 registration fee guarantees entry of dog and owner. General admission is $2 at the door with kids under 12 admitted free when accompanied by a parent.

For more information, call the Humane Society's hot "dog" line at 872-3400.

Charley will be on hand to cheer on the winners, so do it for Charley, do it for Rosey, do it for Fido, but mostly do it for the glory.

Only in America

In case you're stuck as to where you'd like to spend eternity, the Celestis Group of Melbourne, Fla. has announced the recent appointment of the R.G. and G.R. Harris Funeral Homes as an official agency of Celestis, the group commissioned to shoot our mortal remains into space for burial.

This is how it works. Upon receipt of cremated remains from special appointed funeral parlors, Celestis' laboratories will further reduce the remains, then seal the ashes in a golden capsule plated with special metal and engraved with an inscription and symbol of choice, which in my case would probably be an I.O.U.

The capsules will then be placed in a spacecraft and launched into orbit 1,900 miles over the earth. At that altitude, the satellite would circle the earth every two hours and forty minutes. Orbital lifetime of the spacecraft is estimated at about 63,000,000 years. A long time to be going in circles.

Celestis says succeeding launches will offer the option of reaching escape velocity, leaving the earth's gravity entirely and going on an eternity-long voyage through space.

The first launch is planned for early 1987 and reservations are being accepted now.

Pow! To the moon, Alice.

NECK PAIN

The cervical spine or neck is a frequent site of pain and discomfort. The cause of the pain is usually due to improper joint movement (subluxation) in the cervical spine. The neck has 7 vertebrae (bones) which support the head, allow us to move our heads in all directions, and also protect the spinal cord and nerves which pass out between the bones. Warning signals of neck trouble may begin with inability to turn the head easily in all directions of movement. (An example would be difficulty in backing your car out of the driveway.) When the condition advances other symptoms can occur. Common symptoms are headaches (including migraines), nausea, muscle spasm, stiffness, dizzy spells, loss of balance, pain or numbness in the arms and hands. Chiropractic corrects these problems by restoring normal movement to the spine.

Brought to you as a community service by Dr. David Jantz. If you have any further questions call or write the clinic, Grosse Pointe Woods Chiropractic Clinic, 20217 Mack, G.P.W., phone 881-7677. All insurances accepted.

Exchange Club schedules bowling benefit

The Exchange Club of Grosse Pointe/St. Clair Shores will sponsor its third annual Bowlathon on Saturday, May 11, from 7 p.m. until midnight at the Grosse Pointe Woods Bowling Center.

The Bowlathon is open to any team of four or five that would like to participate. Bowlers are not charged for their three games of bowling, however, they are asked to circulate pledge sheets to their friends and neighbors requesting that they pledge a certain amount for each pin that they knock down in their three-game series.

Once the score has been determined, the bowlers then collect the funds that were pledged and turn the proceeds over to the Exchange Club of Grosse Pointe/St. Clair Shores. The money is collected with emphasis on the prevention of child abuse.

Bowlathon Chairman Ralph

Dufour said, "This is our third annual bowlathon and the event has been growing each year. Last year over 100 bowlers participated and the amount raised was well over $5,000. This year, we would like to double the number of bowlers and the amount raised over that of last year."

Regular league bowlers are also being asked to participate prior to the May 11 date. They may bowl as individuals, or as a team on their regular league bowling night. Pledges would be obtained before they bowl and the funds would be collected on completion of their three-game series.

Individuals who would like to participate on May 11 or during their regular league bowling, may contact Dufour at 881-8970 to obtain pledge sheets, available bowling times and further information. All pledges are tax deductible and receipts will be given.

The local Exchange Club chapter is part of the National Exchange Club, which consists of local clubs throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. Each club serves the communities by helping those who are less fortunate than others with main emphasis on the prevention of child abuse, crime prevention and American citizenship.

The local club holds breakfast meetings each Tuesday morning at 7:30 at Gilbert's Restaurant on Harper Ave. in St. Clair Shores. Club members hear a guest speaker concerning topics of interest in the community.

For more information about the club, or for membership information, call Mike Reynolds at 271-5080.

The winning poster

Variety of cooking classes offered

The spring and summer roster of non-credit classes for adults scheduled by the Department of Community Education of the Grosse Pointe Public School System includes 29 offerings in cooking.

Some classes began April 15 and others will start in June and July.

Heading the list are five single-session classes by Grosse Pointe's own Charity Sucek, who will present Spring and Summer Soups, The Perfect Leg of Lamb, A Spring Dinner Menu, The Easy Art of Aspics and A Cold Buffet.

Inga Calloway of Party Fare Planner has scheduled a number of special offerings, including Cookie Favorites for Summer Time, Fruit Tarts — German Style, Literary Desserts, Meringues, and Quick Breads and Muffins.

Retired school principal Richard Kay will repeat his successful class in Wok Cooking and will add one in Dim-Sum Cooking.

Pat Pompi of All Natural Cuisine has nine single-session classes and one of three weeks' duration — Vegetarian Cuisine I. Her other classes are Cold Soups for Summer, Cooking and Baking with Tofu, Elegant Chicken for Thrifty Gourmets, Naturally Good Desserts, Pasta Pronto, Spinach Pie, Vegetarian Cuisine II, Recipe Makeovers and Salad Meals for Summer.

Local cookbook author Dona Reynolds will present Make Bread in Your Food Processor, and will repeat her popular So Now You Own a Food Processor.

New-for-spring are two offerings by Teri Paradiso. Plan a Seafood Dinner and Tex-Mex Cooking, both single-session classes.

Tad Robinson, chef at Ruby's, will repeat his successful winter demonstration class with Signature Items from Ruby's Cuisine.

Other classes offered for the spring and summer term include the popular Chinese Cooking — Beginning and Vincent McCallum's Basic Microwave Cooking.

Full information on the cooking classes and other offerings of the Department of Community Education is contained in the flyer mailed to all residences in the school district.

Call 343-2178 for information on space availability.

Sound Health Advice from your Family Doctor

Saint John Hospital

Q: I am considering joining a health spa to begin an exercise program to lose weight. As a 30-year-old woman, is there any general advice you can give me?

A: The benefits from exercise are both psychological and physiological. On the personal side the person who is exercising regularly feels good, is more relaxed and, therefore, less irritable, is stronger and less tired all the time, is more in shape and vital and thus more self-confident and attractive.

As to the physiological benefits, the more physically active you are, the lower the risk of heart attack, which is the number-one fatal disease in the U.S. Exercise has been shown to be beneficial in treating diabetes, losing weight, retaining bone strength and even effective in mild depression.

Before undertaking an exercise program, you should decide what you want to gain from an exercise program and which exercises would be best for you.

If you want to strengthen your heart as a deterrent to heart attack, aerobic exercise is an answer. Aerobic exercise involves continuously moving a major part of your muscles. Examples are bicycling, swimming, running in place and jumping rope. The exercise to be effective, must be done 20 minutes, three times a week.

Anyone more than 35 years old and considering an aerobic exercise should consult his or her family doctor. Should you have any chronic condition, see your physician first.

For all ages, walking can be beneficial for weight control. A person who walks a mile will use approximately the same number of calories as the person who runs a mile. Whatever the exercise, here are some general rules:

- Start slowly
- Work up gradually
- Learn the proper techniques and use the proper equipment
- Warm-up before the exercise and cool-down afterwards.

This column is a service provided in the public interest by St. John Hospital. Questions should be sent to Christopher Goldsby, M.D., 22151 Moross, Suite 334, Detroit, Mich. 48236.

Information nights on European, China

A special student tour of Europe this summer has been arranged by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Adults are also welcome to join the tour.

The 16-day trip, which begins July 15, will cover eight countries. The cost of $1,468 for students in grades 11 through college, and $1,507 for adults, includes round trip overseas airfare, two meals a day, escorts and guides, all land transportation, sightseeing and entrance fees, and superior tourist class hotels with private baths throughout.

A no-obligation information night will be held at the Center Monday, April 22, at 7:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, April 23, also at 7:30 p.m., there will be another information night on the Center's special China Explorer's Cruise which leaves Sept. 19.

The M/S Pearl of Scandinavia will be the travelers' home away from home, a vessel able to go in and around China as few travelers have had the opportunity to do. Dalian, Tianjin, Beijing (Peking),

Mr. Quatman was born in Toledo and he is a graduate of the University of Toledo. He received seminary training at Trinity Lutheran Seminary in Columbus and has spent the past four years serving Peace Lutheran Church in Albert, Kansas.

He, his wife Cindy and their two sons live in the Woods.

the Imperial Palace, the Great Wall and Ming Tombs will be featured on this 16-day odyssey.

Prices vary according to cabin selection, from $4,560 to $8,770.

OPEN MONDAY-SATURDAY 8-6, FRIDAY 8-8

Richard: The Hill's neighborhood school

By Mike Andrzejczyk

It's Monday morning, the first day of school at Pere Gabriel Richard Elementary School after the week-long Easter vacation.

Children walk into the building and out of weather made for vacation: blue skies, sunshine, light breeze and 60-degree temperatures. This Monday morning, like every Monday morning since the beginning of the second semester, students start their day with an assembly.

They file into the gymnasium, class by class, and sit on the wooden floor, facing the podium. They chatter among themselves until Principal Jack McMahon steps to the podium. The 270 or so students quiet down and listen to the morning's announcements.

Assemblies are only part of what is new at Richard, according to McMahon. The school is the fourth oldest in the system and will celebrate 55 years of education when classes begin in September.

This is McMahon's first year at Richard after spending 16 years at Barnes School. Just about half the staff at the building is new this year, the first for the K-5 organization of the system, he adds.

There is a new layout for the school grounds this year. Early in the school year, the Farms finished its work on the pedestrian mall and parking lot that links the upper and lower Hill districts.

The school received a newly paved staff parking lot and a new playground on the Ridge side of the building, McMahon says. The Richard PTO is donating funds to put in play-scape equipment at the site, McMahon adds.

There is a strong sense of community among Richard parents, McMahon says. The school tries to foster that by co-operating with the Farms city fathers in various ways. The school took part in last year's choir sing at the pedestrian mall and will take part in the upcoming dedication ceremonies as well, he adds.

The school's service district is relatively small, McMahon says. There are 276 students in the school. The size and compactness of the district has fostered a closeness among the parents, who are very active and interested in the workings of the school, he adds.

The assemblies help foster some of that spirit. The students conclude by singing the school song, but begin each assembly with the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of "America."

This Monday, McMahon tells the students that they are nearing the end of the school year and adds a soft warning that they should think of the school year as a race and these last two months "as the most important part of that race." Although the weather is getting nicer, it's no time to begin slacking off of school duties, he adds.

Other announcements include some for staff as well as students. There will be no staff meeting Tuesday, McMahon says. He adds there are three possible language arts assignments the staff may consider for students.

The custodial staff spent the vacation cleaning the building and grounds and students might consider writing notes of thanks to them, McMahon says. One of the buildings' teachers is suffering from a bad knee and is out of school, so students might like to write to him, he adds.

Also, new Superintendent Dr. John Whritner is coming to visit the school Thursday, so students might like to send notes to Whritner about themselves, he adds.

The three birthdays for the week are announced and they are brought to the front, where the rest of the children and staff sing "Happy Birthday." The week's menu is read off, along with other information the students and staff might like to know about this week.

There is one negative note to the assembly. McMahon says there was some vandalism at the school over the weekend; some broken windows on the Kercheval side of the school. This is the first act of vandalism at the school since he began as principal.

McMahon points out, and, although none of the students in the auditorium are involved, any of them who might have information about the broken windows should stop by his office during the day, he says.

The assemblies are part of McMahon's management style. He dislikes making announcement over the public address system, which he likens to the voice of Big Brother. He prefers to be face to face with both staff and students, he adds.

"Because of our size, we can afford . . . to be more personal and see the children face-to-face," McMahon says. "It becomes more meaningful for them and helps to develop a sense of pride in the community and the area."

Parents at the school are appreciative of the staff and have even taught lunch-hour classes at the school this year, McMahon says. The five, six-week programs this year include drama, newspaper, computers, Spanish and table games. The offerings are optional, but students have responded very favorably to the programs by enrolling in large numbers, he adds.

Because of the small size of the school, it is more like a small town than a school, McMahon says. Like the district's other schools, "children don't grow up unnoticed here," he adds. "When a child seems to be going wrong, everybody in a small town will help the child out. It's the same way here."

The small town atmosphere has its advantages. McMahon and the staff know all their charges by name. Things happen like two students working on a kite, unfurling the 30-foot tail down the first-floor hall. Or two 60-year-old men from California who went to school at Richard and remember the fish tank in their classroom and who brought their wives to the school to show them the tank in the first-grade class.

The school is like a well-kept old home and uses its ambience to its advantage, McMahon says. The tiled fireplaces in some of the rooms, the bas-relief books carved over the doors to classrooms and the mullioned windows on the first-grade classroom are combined with the new decor of the vocal music room and library. Like an old home, the staff is a little cramped but compensated by the feel of the building.

Size hasn't limited the school's ability to do its job, though. There are two sections of grades allowing for some varying of instruction, McMahon says. Children are grouped at different ability levels for reading, writing, spelling and math to challenge them, he says. Other classes have a range of ability levels to expose students to the differences, he adds.

Besides the regular classes, the school has a morning and afternoon kindergarten program and a half-day developmental kindergarten program. Like other district schools, there is a High Ability program, with exceptional students grouped by grade in special classes that are meant to challenge them, McMahon says.

McMahon is fiercely proud of the students and staff at Richard. It is the "neighborhood school of the Hill," he jokes, located right in the middle of everything. That situation has posed some traffic problems for the school, but also gives it two playgrounds; one on the Ridge side of the school and the Clarence Messner Memorial Field across McMillan.

Messner is a familiar name at the school. He served as principal there for 32 years, McMahon says. Other principals at the school include Ted Jacobs and Richard Kay, both now retired from the system; Jay Flowers, now at Maire School; and Dr. Claire Hunt, now director of special education services. A photograph of McMahon and the four former principals hangs in the main hall.

McMahon says he came to the school at "a wonderful time. I loved Barnes School; I was there for 16 years. But professionally, this was a good move for me."

"Half the staff here is like me. We're new to the school this year," he adds. "They're all highly motivated. A lot of things have happened here at Richard in the last year."

At Kelly Health Care, we know how difficult it is for some people to ask for help.

They don't want to be a bother. They don't want to worry anyone.

That's why we developed our in-home Assisted Living™ programs. Through these programs, qualified professionals provide household, personal and specialized help. And whether it's to lend a hand or hold one, they can be there—from four to 24 hours a day.

Every homemaker, home health aide, companion, live-in, LPN and RN on staff is bonded and insured, and matched to fit the personalities of the clients they serve.

All cases are monitored and supervised by Kelly's specially trained registered nurse. And Kelly will check insurance, then handle claims and forms. Our bills list and explain services in an easy-to-read format. But our clients pay only if they're satisfied with the service they receive.

If you or someone you love could use a helping hand at home, call Kelly Health Care at 884-3001 for more information.

It could make life easier for everyone. All you have to do is ask.

Nursing changes with times

By Harriet Nolan
Next month nurses will celebrate Michigan Nurse Week by focusing on "Bridges for the Future." Great strides have been made in the past several years to change the image of a nurse from a not-so-glorified go-to for a vital part of a health care team that gives a patient care on a 24-hour basis.

"When I started 30 years ago, the biggest role of a nurse was that of a custodian keeping the patient area and doctor's equipment clean," says Sonda Seely, R.N., at Cottage Hospital.

"Now we're making our own assessments, diagnoses and teaching. We know basically what doctors are looking for and what to report to them. It's now a team effort," adds the oncology floor supervisor.

Mrs. Seely says one of the major duties of a nurse is to coordinate the patient's different hospital treatment. "If you have a good nurse, she is going to understand what is needed when the patient goes to X-ray and make sure that department has the necessary data."

Not only do nurses educate the patient on what to expect while he's in the hospital, notes Mrs. Seely, but they often translate a doctor's remark in layman terms.

"When a doctor gives a patient an explanation, we're often the ones who clarify what he means," she says. "We're the teacher."

As coordinator of the hospital's hospice program, Mrs. Seely knows that nurses also give support before, during and after a patient's death by teaching volunteers how to assess problems and then by teaching the families how to diagnose and monitor the situation throughout the day while the patient is at home.

The patient education coordinator at Cottage, Susan Connell Becker, R.N., points out that nurses also work with other ancillary services, such as the staff of the dietary and social work departments. "We're actively involved in discharge planning and planning home health care services," she adds.

Nurses bridge the gap between technology and humanity, she notes, by explaining to patients hospital equipment and procedures before an operation or test.

"They even explain the noise the equipment makes to avoid needless worry," she adds.

Laura Majewski, R.N., head nurse at Bon Secours Hospital, says the role of health care is changing and that nurses need to stay on top of the changes, particularly in areas of outpatient surgery, home care nursing and geriatric nursing care.

She has served as a representative on the board of the Detroit District Michigan Nurses Association and notes that nurses are taking a more active role at the legislative level.

They've already taken an active part in the support of seat belt legislation and opposed the use of allowing nurses aides to distribute medication in nursing homes, according to Mrs. Majewski.

"We also screen and support candidates who support nursing issues," she adds.

Friends of Library donates $11,000 for books, plantings

The Board of Education Monday night accepted gifts totalling $11,000 from the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Library.

The funds will be used to purchase $10,000 worth of books and pay for two landscaping projects at the Central Library.

The larger of the two landscaping projects would be the planting of 21 trees along the chain link fence separating the South High School playground and the Central Library grounds north of the entrance from Kercheval.

The Juniper Ketelerei trees would be planted eight feet apart on the high school side of the fence, far enough away so not to impinge on the fence, but close enough to limit intrusion on the playground, David King, assistant director of support services and personnel, told the board.

The Buildings and Grounds committee of the Friends of the Library approved the project in February and will proceed once the school gives its approval, committee chairman Frank Welcenbach said in a letter to South Assistant Principal Bernard LeMieux.

Bids for the project are about $930 for material and labor, school officials said. Maintenance of the plantings would become the responsibility of the school district.

The second project would involve planting seven Potentilla hedge brushes in the grass triangle to the left of the Kercheval driveway entrance along the north side of the library.

The hedge plants would be planted three feet apart parallel to the fence and driveway. The remaining spaces would be used for future plantings.

Exercise for mothers

New and expectant mothers can get into shape with two exercise programs at the Bon Secours Hospital Health and Fitness Center in St. Clair Shores.

"Keeping Mama Fit" for new mothers is offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays, 10:30 a.m. to noon for 10 weeks starting May 7.

"Exercise for Two" for expectant mothers also starts on May 7, 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. It meets Tuesdays and Thursdays for 10 weeks.

The fee for each class is $65. Babysitting is available. Physician's consent is necessary to take either program.

The Bon Secours Hospital Health and Fitness Center is at 22300 Bon Brae, at Jefferson, between 10 and 11 Mile roads. For more information, call 779-7041.

Voice lessons offered

Doris Pagel, a graduate of Juilliard, will offer voice instruction for all ages, levels and interests at the War Memorial starting the week of April 22.

For adults, there will be evening classes for beginning, advanced and special voice students, the latter class focusing on concert repertoire. An opera workshop will meet on Saturday afternoons.

A class for children up to 12 years old will meet on Saturday mornings, and teens will be taught on Mondays in the late afternoon.

Clown corps meets

The Grosse Pointe Clown Corps will hold a new member registration Wednesday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the Grosse Pointe Woods public safety building, adjacent to City Hall at 20025 Mack.

First-graders through high-school-age students as well as adults from Macomb County, Harper Woods and Grosse Pointe are eligible for membership.

The Clown corps will also hold a candy sale in front of J.C. Penney in Pointe Plaza Saturday, April 27.

For more information about registration or the sale, call corps chairman Arthur Kuehnelt at 881-8186.

Famine relief fundraiser

About 86 Campbell-Ewald advertising agency employees raised more than $16,000 in the first Swim-for-Starvation swimathon. Proceeds were given to the Catholic Relief Services for use in African famine relief. Peter A. Dow, president of Campbell-Ewald and a Farms resident, is shown with the event's coordinators, in the center, Marylisa Germain, a 1978 graduate of North High, and Marcy Lichterman. Angelina Pace, at the right, of Catholic Relief Services, is shown accepting the check. The amount was triple the original goal of $5,000. Other Campbell-Ewald employees who participated were Dale McAfee and Rob Mothershead, both of the Park, and Sue Chisholm, Connie Corrigan and Pat Andrewes, all of the Woods.

Bishop to speak Sunday

The Right Rev. Bennett Sims, former bishop of Atlanta and now director of the Institute for Servant Leadership at Emory University, will preach at Christ Church Grosse Pointe at the 9:15 a.m. and 11:15 a.m. services on Sunday, April 21.

He was bishop of Atlanta (the Episcopal Church) from 1972 until his retirement in late 1983 to undertake the formation of this new institute. The institute functions as an educational ministry to executive men and women in business, industry, public service, education, the professions and the churches.

Bishop Sims was educated at Baker University, Princeton Theological Seminary, Virginia Theological Seminary, Harvard Divinity School, and the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C. He was a line officer on destroyers in World War II and served as rector of three parishes of the Episcopal church. He is the author of two books, "Invitation to Hope" and "Purple Ink," and was visiting professor of theology at Chandler School of Theology, Emory University during his ministry as Bishop of Atlanta.

Harper offers 'I Can Cope'

"I Can Cope," the American Cancer Society's education program for cancer patients and their families, will be offered at the Harper Hospital Care Center on Tuesday, April 30, at 6:30 p.m. The program will continue thereafter each Tuesday for eight weeks. For further information, call 494-8444.

The classes give participants an opportunity to share their concerns with others having the same experience. Information will be offered by health care professionals in the field of cancer management such as a physician, clinical nurse specialist, social worker, dietitian, physical therapist and lawyer.

Registration for this free course is limited.

Bishop Gallagher plans 5-year reunion

All members of Bishop Gallagher High School's class of 1980 are invited to attend a five-year reunion at Revere Hall in St. Clair Shores June 23. The festivities will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Any member of the class who has not yet received an invitation should call either Kerry Cox at 771-7193 or Lisa Cook at 777-1125.

Correction

In last week's article, "EPA plans inspection of schools," the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration's current standard for asbestos exposure for workers was not completely reported.

The current standard is two fibers per cubic centimeter of air based on exposure during an eight-hour day.

Two-piano concert

An evening of music for two pianos will be presented at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, Tuesday, April 23, at 8 p.m., by Doris Eubank of Grosse Pointe Park and Fontaine Laing of Novi.

They appear frequently in chamber music recitals which include yearly programs for the Grosse Pointe Chamber Players and an annual two-piano concert at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford house. Mrs. Laing is the founder of a series of chamber recitals in Novi. Both pianists teach privately and at the Detroit Community Music School, and are active in the Tuesday Musicales of Detroit. Mrs. Eubank is the director of music at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church.

The program includes a tribute to Bach and Handel, music by Mozart and Casadesus, and Polovetsian Dances by Alexander Borodin. A reception will follow the concert.

Admission is $6.50 and reservations may be made by calling 885-7624.

Child views death

Bon Secours Hospital will present a free family health forum Wednesday, April 24, 7 p.m., at Dominican High School, Whittier, west of I-94. It will be held in the library.

The presentation will be "A Child Views Death" by Melinda Karam, M.D., who will discuss how children of various ages view death and how to recognize children's expression of grief.

Since seating is limited, reservations are recommended. Call Bon Secours Hospital at 343-1668 to make reservations.

H.M.S. Pinafore

... is now being performed in dinner theater format Friday and Saturday evenings at the Golden Lion Restaurant, 22380 Moross across from St. John Hospital. Grosse Pointe residents in the cast are Robert McKenna as Sir Joseph and Judith Gieseking as one of his "sisters, cousins, aunts." Tom McCarter, not shown, is also in the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta. For reservations, call 885-2420.

Book sale

Friends of the Library at Harper Woods Library, 19601 Harper, will sponsor the third annual book sale Saturday, April 20, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Books will be priced at $1 hardcover, 25 cents for records and paperbacks, and magazines at 10 cents or three for 25 cents.

Star wars talk

The Physicians for Social Responsibility, Detroit chapter, will sponsor a talk by John C. Robert, dean and professor of law at Wayne State University, Thursday, April 25, at 8 p.m. It will be held at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road.

Roberts, whose talk will be "Star Wars: The Impact on Prospects for Arms Control," was general counsel to the Committee on Armed Services of the U.S. Senate from 1977 to 1980 and he had a major role in legal and policy work on SALT II.

Admission is free. For more information, call 577-3188.

Meditation lecture

The Center for Jung Studies of Detroit will sponsor a lecture, "Meditation: Its Meaning and Its Value," on Sunday, April 21, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Miller Hall, Christ Church, Grosse Pointe Farms. Adelaide Klingbeil-Wilson, M.S.W., counselor in human relations, will focus her presentation on meditation as a means of discovering one's own source, and she will lead the group in developing techniques that will be useful in their discovery. There will be gentle yoga, relaxation and an emphasis on the role proper breathing plays in determining our moods, health, and general wellbeing. Participants are asked to dress comfortably for this informal experience.

Admission is free to members and is $3.50 for non-members. Membership is open to all interested persons. For further information call Naomi Bowerman, registrar, at 885-8792.

Parkinson group

The Northeast Parkinson Support Group will meet on Wednesday, April 24, at 2 p.m. at Calvary Senior Center, 4950 Gateshead, three blocks south of Seven Mile and just west of Mack.

The speaker will be Lyle Ward, director of social work at Cottage Hospital.

All Parkinson patients are invited, and a family member or friend will also be welcome. For further information, call Walter Nugent at 886-0815 or the Michigan Parkinson Foundation at 494-8916.

For homeowners

The four-week series, "Home Ownership in the Pointes," will again be offered on Thursdays from April 25 through May 16. Meetings will be held in the Brownell School cafeteria, 260 Chalfonte, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange and the Continuing Education Division of the Grosse Pointe schools, topics will cover home repairs, real estate law, the basics of buying and selling a house and a past and future look at Grosse Pointe.

The series is free. For reservations, call 881-8900.

Sicily

The Italian American Cultural Society will present "Sicily — Yesterday and Today," in the main hall and library of the center, 28111 Imperial Drive, Warren. The exhibit will remain open for one week, April 21-27.

The public is welcome and admission is free. For more information, call 751-2855.

Chamber music

The Chamber Music Players of Grosse Pointe will perform Sunday, April 21, at 2:30 p.m. in the War Memorial's Fries Ballroom.

The program will include vocal selections by Puccini, Massenet, Mendelssohn and Rachmaninoff, violin and piano sonatas by Grieg and Prokofien and woodwind ensembles by Saint-Saens and Ravel.

Member artists include soprano Dorothy Ignasiak, violinists Gerda Bielitz and Lucille Zocharski, and pianist Lillian Freeland, Virginia Shover, Bettejane Crossen and Sister Rose Carmel Burgess.

Appearing as guest artists will be the members of the Detroit Woodwind Quintet.

Admission is $3 at the door. Members are admitted free. Refreshments will be served after the concert.

Fiddler on the Roof

Eight places remain the War Memorial bus that will be taking off to the True Grist Dinner Theatre Wednesday, May 1, where day-trippers will see the matinee performance of "Fiddler on the Roof."

A buffet lunch at the historic site in Homer, down by the old mill stream, is included in the $33 cost. The bus will leave at 10 a.m. and return at 6 p.m.

For additional information, call the War Memorial at 881-7511.

Art auction

The annual Art/Antique Auction at the Cranbrook Academy of Art will be held Saturday, April 27, beginning at 7 p.m.

Items may be seen during a champagne preview at the museum Wednesday, April 24, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Admission of $10 includes a catalog. All auction and sale pieces may be seen April 25 and 26 between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. in the museum. There is no admission charge at these times.

For ticket information, call 646-8432 or 645-3309.

Genealogical group

The program at the Tuesday, April 23 meeting of the Genealogical Society of Flemish Americans will feature Carol Ring from the Burton Collection at the Detroit Public Library. Her subject will be "Organizing Your Files."

The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Taillieu Residence, 18740 13 Mile Road, behind St. Athanasius Church.

There is no charge and the public is invited. For more information, call 776-9579.

Glee club concert

The 50 voices of the Wayne State University Men's Glee Club will present a concert Sunday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Drive in the Farms.

This benefit concert will support their world tour this summer in celebration of Dr. Harry Langford's 40th year of conducting the glee club.

The glee club was twice named the finest male chorus in the world by winning the coveted first prize Llangollen Medal at the International Musical Eisteddfod in Wales. This summer they will again compete for first prize.

Only two male choruses have ever won the Llangollen Medal: the Wayne State University Men's Glee Club and the University of Michigan Men's Glee Club. Both clubs are competing this year.

Tickets for the concert are adults $5, senior citizens, $3, students $1. This concert is co-sponsored by WQRS-FM 105.

Dream workshop

The Center for Jung Studies of Detroit will sponsor a workshop, "Understanding Dreams," on Friday, April 19, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., and all day Saturday, April 20, from 10 to 5 p.m. at Miller Hall, Christ Church, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Nancy Pilzner-Dougherty, M.S.W., will lead the workshop. She will introduce participants to the various ways that the unconscious speaks to them in their dreams. Participants are encouraged to bring a dream that they would like to explore, but it is not required.

Tuition for non-members. Membership is open to all interested persons.

To pre-register or for further information, call Naomi Bowerman, registrar, at 885-8792.

Lake St. Clair forum

"Lake St. Clair: Changes and Challenges" is the title of a public environmental forum to be sponsored by the East Michigan Environmental Action Council. The forum is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 22, at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road.

A panel discussion addressing several lake issues will take place, followed by further discussion with the audience. Panel members include Peggy Johnson, executive secretary of the Clinton River Watershed Council; Mike Braidwood, chairman of the Lake St. Clair Advisory Committee; Elizabeth Harris, staff attorney for EMEAC; Macomb Council Public Works Commissioner Tom Weisn.

The forum is a service provided to the public free of charge. All are welcome. For more information, call the EMEAC office at 258-5188.

Divorce program

Dan Guyer, M.D., psychiatrist, will explore the realities of divorce in the program, "The Fallout of Divorce," on Wednesday, April 24, at Cottage Hospital. The two-hour program begins at 7 p.m. in the boardrooms on the lower level of the hospital, 159 Kercheval Ave.

Dr. Guyer's talk will focus on exploring the transition of divorce and its impact on the individuals, their children, extended family and all areas of their lives. He will explore conflicts involving child custody, self-image issues that both contribute to and result from divorce, and the long-term tug-of-war that can involve children and financial arrangements.

For free reservations, call 884-8600, ext. 2390.

Be happy, healthy

The Junior League of Detroit will present a workshop, "Creative Approaches to a Healthy, Happy Lifestyle," on Tuesday, April 30, at 7:15 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road.

The workshop, open to the community, will help participants learn to deal with stress and tension in a positive, useful way.

Psychologist Brian G. Dates, the workshop leader, will highlight how the use of humor and play can be positive forces in our lives. He'll discuss how to recognize and cope effectively with stressful life events and he will help participants to manage diet and exercise for a positive effect.

The program is part of a continuing series of Human Resource Development workshops sponsored by the League. For reservations, call 881-0040 by April 22. There is no admission fee.

GP Singles

William X. Kienzie, former Detroit priest and author of "Sudden Death" and other mysteries, will be the featured speaker Friday, April 19, when the Grosse Pointe Singles meet at 7 p.m. in the library room of the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road.

All single adults of the area are invited to attend the meeting and also the dance which begins at 9:30 at the Gabriel Richard Knights of Columbus Hall at 18000 East Warren. Live music will be furnished by the Kathy Thompson Trio.

Other activities for later this month include a buffet dinner and a meeting of the Widowed Persons group. For information, call 882-0316 or 445-1286.

A native Detroit, she was predeceased by her husband, Herman, and is survived by two daughters, Virginia Brennan and Jo Ann Stamper; 12 grandchildren; and one brother. She was also predeceased by a daughter, Betty Collett.

Interment was at Woodlawn Cemetery.

Working women

About 48.5 million women 16 years of age and over were working or looking for work in 1983. Ten years earlier (1973), about 34.8 million women were in the civilian labor force. Women accounted for more than three-fifths of the increase in civilian labor force in the past decade — about 13.7 million women compared with 8.4 million men, according to "20 Facts on Women Workers," published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor. Women accounted for nearly 44 percent of all persons in the civilian labor force in 1983. Nearly half (49 percent) of all black workers were women; 43 percent of all white workers were women; and 40 percent of all Hispanic workers were women, according to "20 Facts on Women Workers," published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

A gala preview party on Saturday, May 11, will introduce the 1985 Detroit Symphony Orchestra/American Society of Interior Design Showhouse, located in Echo Park, in Bloomfield Hills . . . and, knowing that that's terra incognita to most Pointe residents (west of Woodward might as well be Mars), we're telling you the quickest, easiest way to get there from here:

Take I-94 north to the Reuther Expressway. Take the Reuther crossdown, to I-75. Take I-75 north to the Square Lake Road exit. Bear left; take Square Lake Road to Telegraph. Go south on Telegraph to Long Lake Road. Turn right on Long Lake; go to the first light (about a block); turn left. Once you're past the high school, keep an eye out on your right for the Echo Park sign. Turn right into Echo Park — and you're on Copperwood Drive. Follow Copperwood, bearing right, until you come to No. 1244. That's the Showhouse.

It's a Normandy-inspired home situated on a sloping, heavily-wooded lot, containing between 6,000 and 7,000 square feet of living space on three levels, with extensive decking and windows. It's being decorated in jewel tones — sapphire, ruby, topaz and emerald, on a background of greys — by 16 ASID design studios.

The foyer is a two-story terrace opening to natural wood floors, with a large, wooden staircase. The first floor features a library, "great room," family room, kitchen and dining room. The four upstairs bedrooms reflect a variety of decors: a master bedroom/sitting room/dressing room area; a Collector's Room; a young lady's bedroom; an English guest room. The lower level contains a second "great room," an exercise/video room and a spa.

The Showhouse will be open for public tours May 15 through June 9. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays, noon to 6 p.m. Sundays, 6 to 9 p.m. Thursday evenings, and Wednesday evenings by reservation only. The Showhouse will be closed on Mondays.

Tickets are $3.50 each for groups of 20 or more, $4 advance sale (through May 14), $5 at the door and $8 for a special guided tour by Michigan Chapter ASID members Wednesday evenings. General admission tickets may be obtained by sending a check, payable to Detroit Symphony ASID Showhouse, to 24248 Hampton Hill, Novi, Mich. 48050. Boosters plan another dinner dance benefit for the NMI

Five-year-old Carey Larabee, this year's Inspiration Child chosen by the NeuroMuscular Institute Boosters for Crippled Children, is bright, dedicated — and determined to walk. Although he has multi-handicaps, he is determined to go through whatever is necessary to put him on his feet.

In fact, after his last operation late in 1984, his first words to his mother were: "When can I be operated on again? I know I can't walk until I go through many operations!"

That maturity and determination will be cited Saturday, May 4, when Carey is honored at the eighth annual NMI Boosters Dinner Dance at the Detroit Golf Club. Funds raised via this year's party will assist the Ed Turner Toy Lending Library for multihandicapped children, founded by the present president of the NMI Boosters.

Toy Lending Libraries for multihandicapped children have been functioning in Great Britain and Canada as well as in the western United States, but the concept is new to this part of the country.

It was Turner who interested other local businessmen, members of the NMI Boosters, in starting a non-profit company to make the high-priced "toys." The NMI is now swamped with calls and letters from others interested in starting similar Toy Lending Libraries. Because multihandicapped children cannot use ordinary toys, which are not geared toward helping them, a dedicated NMI Boosters group devotes itself to coming up with money and ideas for toys which can be utilized or modified for use by children with problems.

Last year's NMI Inspiration Child, for instance, a very bright boy, was unable to talk. His "toy" (actually, much more than that), a computer-type writing machine, took written words and returned them via a voice, in the boy's own words. Expensive? Yes. Worth the expense? The NMI Boosters certainly think so.

Normally, he has a very sunny disposition . . . but Carey Larabee, 5, this year's NeuroMuscular Institute Boosters' Inspiration Child, had just learned that his favorite team, the Tigers (of course!), will be playing ball May 4, the night of his party — and not only will his friend Sparky Anderson and several other Tiger friends NOT be dropping by to say hello to Carey during the NMI Boosters Dinner Dance — Carey won't even be able to watch them on TV! There are compensations, such as getting to wear one's first tuxedo, but STILL . . .! And to top it all off, grown-ups like Dr. Maurice Castle (left), NMI Medical Director, and Grosse Pointe's Lou Wilcox (right), NMI Booster, think Carey's discomfiture is funny! Just goes to show what THEY know . . .

The Boosters have spent considerable money during the past year to upgrade switches and apply scientific methods to help the multihandicapped learn through fun-toys. Funds raised via the May 4 dinner dance will go toward augmenting toys that have been modified or invented to help multihandicapped children have fun while learning.

Many of these children are unable to function normally, but they are often very bright: determined to compensate for their physical drawbacks by being good students.

Dr. Maurice Castle, Chief Orthopaedic Surgeon at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital, is Medical Director of the NMI, based at Mt. Carmel as is the Ed Turner Toy Lending Library. Dr. Castle has dedicated his Wednesdays and any other time he can spare from his busy schedule to the NMI since he first conceived of it more than 17 years ago. His wife, Helen, is a dedicated NMI Booster, chairman of the dinner dance fund-raiser for the eighth year in a row.

Each year, the former Inspiration Children and their parents are invited back to the dinner dance. The children range in age from Carey's 5 to twin teenagers to a college student, the first NMI Miss Inspiration, whose parents had practically given up hopes of her ever walking. Then they heard of the NeuroMuscular Institute.

When the young woman appeared as the first Miss Inspiration, she had finished high school, was teaching handicapped children in a special school and was looking forward to a college education that would equip her to help others as she had been helped. She was driving her own car, babysitting to earn extra money and was overheard asking Dr. Castle if there was any chance of her being able to

Newcomers on-the-move

"April Gardens — Gourmet Delights" is the theme for Grosse Pointe Newcomers annual progressive dinner party, to be held this year on Saturday, Apr. 20. The evening begins with champagne and hors d'oeuvres, followed by dinner featuring an entree of Chicken Cordon Bleu, followed by dessert.

Each course will be served in different members' homes, and all party-goers will rendezvous at the Windmill Pointe Park for an after-glow.

Planning for this very popular moveable feast, limited to 80 couples, was done by chairmen Dave and Anne Stockman with assistance from committee members Phil and Charlotte Adamaszek, Peter and Frieja Current, Rob and Trisha Fishman, Mike and Pat Micallef and Dick and Merrie Lynn Ruzzin.

Couples new to the area and interested in Newcomers are invited to contact the club's membership chairmen at 823-4379 or 886-2966 for further information on the organization.

Borrego-Ruiz vows spoken

Mexico City's San Ignacio de Loyola Church was the setting for the wedding of Monica Ruiz and J. Carlos Borrego, M.D., who vacationed in Puerto Rico after the Saturday, November 24, ceremony followed by a reception at the I.S.S.F.A.M. Club. They are at home in Royal Oak.

The Reverend F. Jorge Armora, H.S., presided at the 8 o'clock rites for which the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juan M. Ruiz, of Mexico City, chose a satin Empire gown styled with an antique lace bodice.

She wore her great-grandmother's lace mantilla with a silk flower headpiece matching the flowers of her bouquet.

Honor attendant Gloria Borrego, the bridegroom's aunt, and bridesmaids Paula and Georgette Borrego, the bridegroom's sisters, Annelore A. Staines and Elena M. Zapata, cousin of the bride, wore Empire gowns of silk taffeta in varying shades of pink.

Dr. Borrego, son of Mrs. Georgette Borrego, of Whittier Road, and the late Jose Borrego, M.D., asked his brother, Ricardo D. Borrego, M.D., to act as best man. Ushers were Gerardo, Juan and Eduardo Ruiz, brothers of the bride, and Fernando Borrego, brother of the bridegroom.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Carlos Borrego

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom both selected sequined gowns, the former's rose in color, the latter's mauve, for the evening ceremony. When the newlyweds arrived in Detroit in December after their wedding trip, the bridegroom's mother gave a reception at Lochmoor Club to introduce them to area friends.

Among the Borrego family's many Pointe friends who traveled to Mexico for the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. Julian Alvarez, Dr. and Mrs. James Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seltzer, Don Jensen and his daughter Joy, Benny Galbo, Robert Boylen and Anne Marie Pendlino.

Spaghetti date at the church

The Women of St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, Chalfonte Avenue at Lothrop Road, will entertain fathers, grandfathers and children of the congregation at a spaghetti dinner next Wednesday, Apr. 24, at 6 p.m. at the church. The St. Paul Children's Choir, under the direction of Sue Kvale, will perform during the evening.

Committee chairpersons for the event are Linda VonGuten and Dorothy Chauvin, table setting; Carol Gutmann and Mildred Koepplin, serving and clearing; Sue Askew, meal planning and preparation; Helen Fick and Sue Kvale, program and entertainment; and Bev Henry, reservations and publicity.

Kathleen Martin

Miss Martin to say vows

The engagement of Kathleen Valerie Martin and Dr. Joseph Kucera has been announced by her parents, Mrs. Mary Vetting, of Charlevoix, and Roy C. Martin, of Hillcrest Road. An August wedding is planned.

Miss Martin attended Grosse Pointe South High School and was graduated from Charlevoix High School. She holds a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree from Michigan State University, where she affiliated with the Xi Gamma Chapter of Chi Omega.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kucera, of LaGrange, Ill., received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Illinois and his M.D. from the University of the East in The Philippines.

He completed his residency in Urology at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago and is currently in private practice in Chicago.

Gerontology focus for Sigma Kappas

The Grosse Pointe Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Kappa sorority gathered Wednesday, Apr. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Grayton Road home of Mary Margaret Johnson (Mrs. Thomas) Peters, who was assisted by co-hostess Helen St. John.

A slate of officers for 1985-86, headed by Geraldine "Gerry" Matthews as president and Joanne Asbury (Mrs. Mark) Davidson as vice-president, was elected. Helen St. John will serve as secretary, Delores Parham (Mrs. Don) Littlefield as treasurer. Nominations for various committee chairpersons were accepted.

The election was followed by a program on gerontology, with emphasis on Alzheimer's Disease. Gerontology is Sigma Kappa's national philanthropy. The sorority has started the Frances "Speed" Baker Alzheimer's Fund, named in honor of the woman who was, for many years, editor of Sigma Kappa's national magazine, The Triangle, and is now afflicted with Alzheimer's Disease.

Offer opera radio preview

The Detroit Grand Opera Association is offering a series of Metropolitan Opera Previews, sponsored by the Detroit offices of Merrill Lynch & Company, on radio station WQRS Timeless FM/105 at 9 p.m. on five consecutive Sunday evenings starting this Sunday, Apr. 21, and continuing through May 19.

Each of the first four programs will concentrate on highlights and excerpts from one or more of the seven Detroit Met Week productions, with interviews and background material on the operas and artists.

The series closes on the final

Sunday with the Ninth Annual WQRS/Metropolitan Opera Gala: a pre-opening night opera party on the air, with more excerpts, interviews, guests and last-minute information on casts and tickets. Producer and host will be Carl Grapentine of the WQRS morning show.

"Lohengrin" and "Hansel and Gretel" will be spotlighted on this Sunday's show, "Eugene Onegin" and "La Boheme" on the following Sunday, Apr. 28. "Cosi Fan Tutte" is the subject of the first program in May. "Simon Boccanegra" and "Rigoletto" will be the focus of the Sunday, May 12, program.

Chrysanthemum Society to meet

Dr. Dean M. Krauskopf, Horticulture Agent, Wayne County, will speak on the various insecticides used in gardening at the Greater Detroit Chrysanthemum Society's meeting this Sunday, Apr. 21, at 2 p.m. in the Community Room of the Tel-Twelve Mall.

He also promises a question-and-answer period on anything relating to gardening. Catalogues for the selection of mum plants at the society's annual plant sale, scheduled for June 1 and 2, will also be available at Sunday's meeting, which is free and open to the public.

Mrs. John P. Reuter

Rites are read in The Pointe

A reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club followed the Saturday, February 2, wedding of Lexa Ann Cruickshank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Cruickshank, of Lincoln Road, and John Patterson Reuter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reuter, of Towanda, Pa.

The Reverend David Antonson presided at the 4:30 o'clock rites in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Readers during the ceremony were the bridegroom's sister and brother-in-law, Maggie and Larry Huber. Jim Cruickshank, the bride's brother, played the bagpipes to usher the bridal party to dinner.

The former Miss Cruickshank selected a wedding gown of antique white satin, styled with a re-embroidered lace bodice, long, tapered sleeves and a cathedral train. She carried a cascade of Stephanotis, white freesia and English ivy.

Honor maid Anne Walker Duvall, of New York City, the bridegroom's cousin, and bridesmaids Laurie Cruickshank Szymanski and Carol Cruickshank Guido, the bride's sisters, in floor length dresses of emerald green iridescent taffeta, styled with long, tailored sleeves and velvet bodices, carried sheaths of calla lilies accented with heather.

Dr. Mark Collins Reuter, of Bethlehem, Pa., acted as best man for his brother. Ushering were Donald G. Reuter, of Wyomissing, Pa., another brother, and Joel B. Morley, of Fairfax, Va., their cousin.

The newlyweds vacationed in London, England. They are at home in McLean, Va.

Mrs. Michael J. Madison

Madison-Thill vows are said

At home in The Park are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Joseph Madison, who vacationed in New England following their autumn wedding in Saint Clare of Montefalco Church. The 11 o'clock ceremony Saturday, September 29, at which Father John Molnar, O.S.A., presided was followed by a reception at Lochmoor Club.

The bride, the former Susan Jean Thill, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald A. Thill, of Sheldon Road, wore an off-the-shoulder gown of white brocade, styled with a drop waist and chapel length train, and a fingertip veil, with a pouff, falling from a Juliet cap of white brocade petals. White Sweetheart roses, baby's-breath and ivy formed her bouquet.

Honor attendant Mary Katherine Evancho and bridesmaids Mary Elizabeth Hughes and Margaret Thill Hughes, sisters of the bride, and Mary Katherine Madison, the bridegroom's sister, wore tea length skirts of rose moire and white blouses with embroidered yokes. They carried bouquets of pink Sweetheart roses and baby's-breath.

John Henry Madison acted as his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert T. Madison, of Buckingham Road. Ushers were Thomas Charles Madison, Norbert Thomas Madison Jr. and Mark Francis Madison, brothers of the bridegroom, and James Gerard Hodgkinson.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom both selected cocktail length dresses, the former's pastel pink in color, the latter's dusty rose, and orchid corsages.

Pair planning summer rites

Plans for an early summer wedding in Denver, Colo., are being made by Melinda Anne Rodgers, daughter of Mrs. John L. Hewgill, of Denver, and Dr. Porter R. Rodgers Jr., of Searcy, Ark., and John Manning Couzens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Couzens Jr., of The Farms.

Miss Rodgers, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Anschutz, of Denver, and the late Dr. and Mrs. Porter R. Rodgers, of Searcy, is an alumna of Kent Denver Country Day School. She attended the University of St. Andrews, St. Andrews, Scotland, and the American School of Classical Studies, Athens, Greece, and was graduated from the University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kans.

She was a 1978 Central City Flower Girl and 1978 Denver Symphony Debutante. She is a member of the Junior League of Washington, D.C., and is associated with Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner & Smith in Washington.

Her fiancé, grandson of Mrs. Gerard R. Slattery, of The Farms, and the late Frank Couzens, Mayor of Detroit, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ulrich, of Grosse Pointe, was graduated from University Liggett School and Villanova University. He is an accountant with Price Waterhouse in Washington, D.C.

Wedding season at the Log House

A display of several period wedding dresses and wedding portraits is featured at the Selinsky-Green Log House, located on 11 Mile Road just east of Jefferson Avenue, behind the St. Clair Shores Public Library, through June.

The dresses, dating from 1888 to 1912, include the traditional white gowns and the more practical ones made of colored materials and subsequently used for special occasions for years after the wedding.

The Log House, a restored 1870 farmhouse, is open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays. There is no admission charge. In addition to the special wedding exhibit, there are many hands-on activities for visitors.

Further information on the Log House may be obtained by calling the St. Clair Shores Public Library, 771-9020.

Two Arabian Nights' dates for Fine Arts

An original musical fantasy by Evelyn Bogan will be presented by Fine Arts Society of Detroit at the Players Playhouse on East Jefferson Avenue tomorrow night, Friday, Apr. 19, and Saturday night, Apr. 20. It's "Arabian Nights," a humorous showcase for Fine Arts' singing and dancing talents, and will be performed cabaret style for Fine Arts' members and their guests to the music of Chet Bogan and his Wolverine Jazz Band.

Featured performers are Art Gohle, narrator; Mike Traicoff, sultan; Aaron Drucker, visier; and Bill Rohloff, Chandu the Magician. Other stars include Mildred Avedisian, appearing as Tanura; Pete Rettig, the Sheik of Araby; Dotti Howe, Perrina; and Pat and Sterling Seaton, the Caliph and Calipha.

More are Mel Stander and Audrey Jennings, Sharif and Sheba; Alma Troniano (the Wolverine Jazz Band's "Dixiebell"), Jasmine; Ed Hoot, Price Yusef; Irene Gracey, Serena; Bud Pearse, the Sheik of Zanzibar; and the Leader of the Band, Chet Bogan, as Abdulla.

The chorus is comprised of Sue Davis, Peg Jordan, Charlie Truscon, Haig Avedisian, Evelyn Bogan, Al Berteel, Richard Webb,

Alice Truscon, Wally Troniano, Bill Ludwig, Paul Gracey and Del Artz. Other singers and dancers are Joe Lackey, Sally Jay, Don Kuhn, Deanna Traicoff, Carole Drucker and Tom Peters.

Bogan is director. Alice Truscon is producer. Del Artz is assistant producer. Stage design is by Bill Avetelli, Wally Troniano and Evelyn Bogan. Performances both evenings will end with a midnight supper and dancing to the music of the Bogan band.

Final event of the season for the Fine Arts Society of Detroit, completing its 79th year of continuous arts-related activities, will be the annual meeting dinner-dance at the Country Club of Detroit.

Fine Arts' 1984-85 officers are Dr. Stephen Shrader, president; Roger Mecum and Mrs. Francis Brossy, first and second vice-presidents, respectively; Paul M. Koch, secretary; and Mrs. William Ludwig, treasurer. Other board members are Robert F. Weber, Mrs. Roy Adelberg, Michael G. Traicoff and William B. Lafer.

MOT seeking young artists as apprentices

Michigan Opera Theatre is now accepting applications for its fall 1985 Young Artists Apprentice Program, in the areas of vocal performance, coaching and accompanying, stage direction, production/music administration, stage management, wigs/make-up and costuming.

Candidates, chosen through a national selection process, should submit a current resume, photograph and two letters of recommendation by May 1 to MOT, Production Office, 350 Madison Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48226. They will be notified about audition times and locations by mid-May.

MOT's Young Artists Apprentice Program, now in its seventh season, is a nationally recognized training program designed to provide direct participation for individuals pursuing careers in opera and musical theater. It runs eight-to-twelve weeks annually during the company's fall season.

Apprentices in voice performance are given comprimario roles as they are available, and cover major roles in addition to participating in the chorus of main stage productions. They are offered classes in acting, movement, make-up and diction, individual coaching and master classes with nationally and internationally-known conductors, directors and singers.

Production apprentices benefit by gaining practical experience in a professional situation through working directly with MOT's production staff.

Michigan Opera Theatre will present its 1985-86 15th anniversary season in its new location at Detroit's Fisher Theatre. The fall repertoire includes the double bill "Gianni Schicchi" and "I Pagliacci," followed by Flotow's "Martha" and "West Side Story." In the spring of '86, the company will return to the Masonic Temple Auditorium for a grand opera production of "Turandot."

Further information on the Young Artists Apprentice Program may be obtained by calling 963-3717.

Bonsai study club will meet Monday

Bonsai Kenkyu Kai of Macomb study club will meet at a new location, the Kellwood Elementary School Administration Building on Stephens in East Detroit, between Kelly Road and the I-94 Freeway, on Monday, Apr. 22, at 7:30 p.m. for a program emphasizing cascade styling and fertilizer and water scheduling. Visitors are welcome. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Barbara Forgiel, secretary, at 574-9662.

Operation LINC

A LINC riddle: Do you know how many Easter baskets it takes to fill up three vans and a station wagon? LINC (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community) volunteers discovered the answer when they picked up 1,140 filled baskets donated by the Michigan Candy Association on Apr. 1.

Within two days, all of the baskets had found homes at agencies in the metropolitan area; altogether, 10 agencies shared in the holiday surprise. They were the Children's Center of Wayne County, Interim House, Teenage Parent Alternative School, Black Family Development, Nurturing Infants and Families Together, Jefferson House, Sobriety House, People in Faith United and two Detroit education and service programs.

The staff at Jefferson House, a substance abuse rehabilitation program, distributed baskets to men in the program who are fathers, to help make their children's Easter a little nicer.

The Michigan Candy Association is a charitable organization comprised of manufacturers and distributors of candy and gum products throughout the state. It was established approximately 25 years ago, according to member Carol Murdock, and assembles and donates Christmas stockings and Easter baskets to be distributed to needy youngsters on holidays which might otherwise be extremely bleak for many of them.

The association also printed fliers and distributed them to schools during the Halloween candy scare, to alert parents about safety precautions and reassure the community about the candy and gum manufacturers' concern and action regarding the problem.

LINC volunteers enjoy solving riddles such as the amount of vehicles required to transport hundreds of items that will make someone else's day brighter. Please let us solve a riddle for you by donating to LINC. Among our recent acquisitions were approximately 200 pairs of new children's and adult's shoes; they have gone to such organizations as NIF-T (Nurturing Infants and Families Together), Connor House and a school for the emotionally disabled.

As Operation LINC expands its territories and organizes its new offices, volunteers are reaching out to the community to try to educate other organizations and individuals about the sharing concept that is LINC. Recent activities included a showing of the LINC Slide Presentation by Erica Lindow, in charge of future planning, to the Rotary Club on Apr. 1, and an address to the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association by Martha Brosky, who will be LINC's first vice-president next year.

Fran Mumma, LINC office coordinator, and Erica Lindow will represent LINC a week from tomorrow, Friday, Apr. 26, at the Wayne-Metro Community Service Agency Volunteer Luncheon at the Highland Park Community High School.

LINC is also well-represented on the 1985-86 board of the Volunteer Network, by members Gabriele Pluhar, past-president, Linda Schneider and Pat Lowry. All of these outreach volunteers are ambassadors for LINC and its cause. Any organization interested in viewing the LINC Slide Presentation or learning more about Operation LINC is invited to call the LINC office, 822-6100.

Enthusiasm has been at an all-time high as volunteer activity has increased during the first three weeks in LINC's new building. Today, LINC is holding the official opening of its new offices at 17800 East Warren Avenue. Members will be treated to coffee and sweet rolls along with a tour of the facility. Anyone who would like to join in the fun and service that represents LINC is invited to contact a volunteer at the office.

Finally: Don't forget the LINC Annual Flower and Rummage Sale, to be held Saturday, May 11, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Assumption Greek Orthodox Church and Cultural Center, 21800 Marter Road in St. Clair Shores. Among the sale items are collectible glassware, jewelry, baskets and decorative household accessories.

Flowers which will be available include geraniums, impatiens, mums, gloxinia, tinted mums and 10-inch hanging baskets of such varieties as Fushia, New Guinea Impatiens, Ivy Geraniums and Double Impatiens. Advance orders will be accepted through Apr. 30. Order forms can be obtained at the LINC office.

Come to the sale to get a unique Mother's Day gift, a bit of spring ... and to support LINC. Also available that day will be the high-quality, 2 mil trash bags sold as an on-going LINC fund-raiser. Cost is $12 for a box of 100. Why not stock up for your spring yard and house cleaning? And don't forget to donate your own new and/or good used items to LINC.

LINC column space is provided each month by the Grosse Pointe NEWS as a community service. Operation LINC needs your generous contributions and your time. We are a non-profit, volunteer organization which helps numerous social service agencies and depends on your support. To volunteer or to donate usable items, please call us at 822-6100. Our office hours are 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday throughout the year.

Phase I has meeting date

Bill Sharp, director of Marketing at Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts, will address Phase I, the single, young adults, ages 25 to 40, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, this Sunday, Apr. 21, at 7:45 p.m.

He will give a slide presentation. Prior to the meeting, at 6 p.m., Phase I volunteers are invited to gather in the church office to label, stuff and sort envelopes for the May Phase I newsletter.

The group's social activities this month include a party at Juke Box Saturday Night this Saturday, Apr. 20. Phase I carpools will leave from the K Mart parking lot at the northeast corner of Frazho Road and Gratiot promptly at 8 p.m.

April sessions at Assumption

April sessions at Assumption Cultural Center, located on Marter Road, include two programs next Tuesday, Apr. 23: a Fresh Flower Arranging class and "Be A Better Sitter," helpful hints for young sitters, from properly advertising sitter services to proper care for a child.

Dale Bottorff, Connor Park designer, will conduct the flower arranging workshop. It's a two-session class running on Tuesdays, Apr. 23 and 30, from 7 to 9 p.m., and each participant is requested to bring a sharp knife to the first class. Fee is $12, plus supplies.

"Be A Better Sitter" also runs for two sessions on Tuesdays, Apr. 23 and 30, from 4 to 5:30 p.m. First aid tips, checks lists and the "do's and don'ts" of babysitting will be covered. At the conclusion of the second session (both must be attended), participants will be issued a certificate. Fee is $10, covering both programs.

"Low-Sodium/Low-Cholesterol Diets Can Be Tasty," covering which foods to avoid to help prevent hypertension and heart disease and how to meet special dietary needs, will run from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Apr. 24. Fee is $4. Participants should bring their recipes to the workshop for modification.

Registration for these classes may be made and further information obtained by calling Assumption, 779-6111.

Slate Detroit Rose Society's meeting

The Detroit Rose Society meets tomorrow, Friday, Apr. 19, at the Oak Park Community Center at 7:45 p.m. for a program on planting and pruning roses presented by Dr. Dean Krauskopf, Wayne County Extension Service Horticultural Agent: a preview of the planting and pruning demonstration to be held the following day, Saturday, Apr. 20, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Wayne County Extension Service Gardens on Venoy Road in Wayne. The public is welcome at both admission-free events.

Art on Pointe reprise

We don't know about you, but COURTNEY KASTNER can hardly wait to have her face painted again, at this year's "Art on The Pointe," the juried art fair — and much more! — presented by the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center on the grounds of the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House. One hundred and fifty artists and artisans will be featured at the second annual event, running from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, June 14, and Saturday, June 15. There'll be refreshments, entertainment and aerobic exercise demonstrations, among other things ... about which we'll tell you more later in the spring ... For now: mark your calendars, and be advised that admission to "Art on The Pointe" remains a very reasonable $1 suggested donation to support the Guidance Center's mental health care programs.

Church groups meet April 23

The Women's Association for the Grosse Pointe Congregational-American Baptist Church has scheduled group meetings for next Tuesday, Apr. 23.

Lydia Group gathers at the church at 9:30 a.m. for coffee and a surprise program. Co-hostesses are Mrs. Joseph Burns and Mrs. Walter Kurtz. Naomi Group, with Mrs. Myron Mountz and Mrs. Mark Loush as co-hostesses, will also meet at the church, at 11 a.m. for a "Remembering Mother" program.

Mrs. Louis Charvat will open her River Road home at noon to Mary Group members. The program, "Tapestry Restoration at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial," will be given by Mrs. Leonard Slowin. Co-hostesses are Mrs.

Wayne Wiseman and Mrs. Alfred Tapert.

Rachel Group will meet at 7:30 p.m. at Nancy Waugaman's Ridge Road home. Mrs. Joseph Etschman will talk about the years she spent in Egypt. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Alan Wright and Mrs. Edward Price.

Kolping will hold Sunday card party

The doors of Kolping Center, located on Jefferson Avenue in St. Clair Shores, open at 2 p.m. Sunday, Apr. 21, for a card party. Donation is $4, including luncheon and a chance to take home a prize. Accepting reservations are Lynne Rheker, 757-1251, and Marilyn Lajun, 294-5982.

The Detroit Symphony League and the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra are the two volunteer groups coordinating all activities during the public tour period. They promise performances by talented young musicians in a "great room" music area, and an opportunity to purchase items with a musical theme as well as crafts by local artists in a Showhouse Boutique.

The Greenery will offer spring flowers ready for planting, indoor tropical plants, hanging baskets and outdoor garden statuary. Lunches and snacks will be available in the Showhouse Gourmet Cafe. Sounds like great fun, doesn't it? ... and it's a great way to support the Detroit Symphony. Now that you know exactly how to get there, quickly and easily — go!

Meanwhile, Back in The Pointe

We're sure we DON'T have to tell you how to get to "The Village" (unless, that is, you just moved into Grosse Pointe yesterday), where the final program in a series of five Detroit Symphony Previews, sponsored by the Detroit Symphony League and Village Records and Tapes, will take place next Wednesday, Apr. 24, at 8 p.m.

Nancy Malitz, music critic for the Detroit News, will discuss an upcoming DSO concert featuring works by Brahms, Mozart and Shostakovich. The series, produced in cooperation with WQRS-FM and Music Center USA, has increased in popularity with each program. It offers a unique opportunity to find out more about the music performed by the Detroit Symphony as guest lecturers, all experts in the musical field, delve into the performances and personalities being featured this symphony season, in a manner designed to interest an audience of all ages and all levels of musical knowledge.

All Symphony Preview programs are open to the public, and all begin at 8 p.m. — but, as we've noted, the series has become very popular, and seating is limited ... so plan to arrive early. For further information, give Village Records and Tapes a call at 886-6039.

Marygrove President's Council Dinner

Emmet and Fran Tracy, of Provençal Road, are chairpersons of the 1984-85 Marygrove College President's Council which will hold its annual Recognition Dinner tomorrow, Friday, Apr. 19, at the Detroit Athletic Club. Among the special honorees at this year's black tie gala are two Pointers: Walter B. Connolly, of The Farms, and Norbert Madison, of The Park.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Tracy and Mr. and Mrs. Madison, Pointe members of the President's Council for the independent Catholic college located in northwest Detroit are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gargaro Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. George Morris Jr. Performers from Marygrove's recent "Pirates of Penzance" production will provide the post-dinner entertainment.

Quilts from the Heart at Assumption

If quilting is your thing, you'll want to check out "Quilts from the Heart," the Quilt Guild of Metropolitan Detroit's exhibition and sale running from 1 to 7 p.m. Friday, Apr. 26, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Apr. 27, at Assumption Cultural Center on Marter Road.

Admission to the exhibit, which features a special juried division for miniature quilts, doll quilts and wall hangings, is $2. Luncheon will be available. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Jean Forton at 775-7472.

Carey is NMI's 'Inspiration'

ski? His answer was a resounding "Yes!"

This year's Inspiration Child was born premature, on Dec. 22, 1979. Carey weighed in at 2 lbs. 11 oz. and had his first surgery, to repair a hole in his heart, when he was two months old.

At six months he had hernia surgery. At one year, he came to Dr. Castle and the NMI; at that point in time, Carey was only able to sit alone for a few seconds. He's been receiving physical and occupational therapy at Mt. Carmel and through the Dearborn Schools ever since, presently attends Dearborn's Lowrey School — and is looking forward to his first tuxedo, so he will make Dr. Castle and the NMI proud of him at the party.

Carey is very intelligent, with language development far greater than that of the average child his age. At present he is in a wheelchair, but via braces and future operations he expects to be a "walker."

The dinner dance will also introduce the NMI Boosters' 1985 Humanitarian Award recipient, Captain John Lavrakas, USN, Ret., winner of 11 Battle Stars while on duty during World War II, former administrator of all construction contracts for the Ford Motor Company, actively involved in Little League Baseball and the Sea Cadet Program ... and, of course, the NMI Boosters. Both he and Mrs. Lavrakas are staunch Booster supporters.

Grosse Pointe Boosters include the Leo Howes, the Emil Grobs, the Louis J. Perrones, the Ralph Ladds and Mrs. Aaron E. Wilcox whose grandson, Bob Dieters, is flying in from New York to escort her to the party. Mrs. William E. Johnston is among other East Side Boosters.

Master of ceremonies will be James Kruse.

The black tie optional fund-raiser begins at 7 p.m. with cocktails. Dancing will be to the music of Ponchito and his orchestra. Donation is $75 per person, tax deductible. Reservations may be made by mailing checks, payable to the NMI Boosters, to NMI Headquarters c/o Kathy Parker Willetts at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital, 6071 West Outer Drive, Detroit, Mich. 48235. Donations from those unable to attend the party are most welcome.

Kathy, NMI coordinator, may be reached at 927-7012 for further information.

Short and to The Pointe

Julie Richardson, of The Park, was among six Wayne State University College of Pharmacy and Allied Health Professions students who were finalists in a Patient Counseling Competition sponsored by the WSU Student American Pharmaceutical Association.

Jenny West, daughter of Pointers Douglas and Ann West, was named to the fall honor roll at the Stoneleigh-Burnham School, where she is a sophomore.

Scott Tisdale, son of Linda and Brad Tisdale, of The Woods, has been selected for early admittance to the University of Michigan Dental School. Scott, a 1982 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, is in his junior year at the University of Michigan. He will enter dental school this summer and will not be required to complete his senior year of undergraduate studies.

Among students named to the Dean's List for the fall semester, 1984-85 at Western Michigan University are Beth N. Gadsen, of Edmondton Drive, and Claudia D. Edwards, of Pear Tree Lane.

Army Pfc. Donald J. Walsh, son of John J. and Marjorie E. Walsh, of Emory Court East, participated in the presidential inauguration ceremonies. A 1983 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, Walsh is a military police specialist with the XVIII Airborne Corps, Fort Bragg, N.C.

Jennifer Owen, of Grosse Pointe, was initiated into Kappa Delta Sorority's Gamma Nu chapter of Miami University of Ohio on Feb. 9.

Last Saturday at Four music

The final concert in the current "Saturdays at Four" chamber music series will be held this Saturday, Apr. 20, at 4 p.m. in Madame Cadillac Hall on Marygrove College's northwest Detroit campus, and will feature the international award-winning Marygrove Chamber Singers, under the direction of James Turner, with soloists Caroline Rogers, soprano, Michael Stockdale, guitar, and Huw Lewis, harpsichord.

The program includes Bach's Italian Concerto, Renaissance and Contemporary madrigals and Ravel's Scheherazade. General admission tickets at $6 ($3 for students and senior citizens), including a wine and hors d'oeuvres meet-the-artists afterglow reception, may be purchased at the door. Further information can be obtained by contacting the Marygrove Music Department's Sue Ann Vanderbeck at 862-8000, Extension 316.

Pap, breast tests slated

Breast exams are scheduled for Monday, Apr. 22, and pap tests will be conducted the following Monday, Apr. 29, at the Michigan Cancer Foundation's East Regional Service Center, 13 Mile at Hayes Road in Warren.

Both tests are conducted by specially-trained nurses. The pap test fee is $8. The breast exam costs $15. Appointments may be made and further information obtained by calling the center, which serves people in Eastern Wayne and Macomb counties, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The center's telephone number is 294-4430.

Genealogy Group to meet April 25

Edward A. Thomas, Registrar of Vital Records for the City of Detroit, will give a presentation on Birth and Death Records, particularly those maintained by Detroit, at this month's meeting of the St. Clair Shores Genealogy Group on Thursday, Apr. 25, at 7 p.m. at the St. Clair Shores Public Library, 11 Mile Road and Jefferson Avenue.

The Genealogy Group's meetings are free and open to all interested persons. Genealogical charts are available at the meetings. Further information may be obtained by calling the St. Clair Shores Public Library, 771-9020.

To bow in May at Hillcrest Country Club

The United Christian Lebanese Association will stage its 10th annual Debutante Presentation Ball on Saturday, May 4, at Hillcrest Country Club, and among this year's debts are two young ladies whose families live in The Woods: LUANNE JEAN BECKER (left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Becker, and LINDA NIHEIM (right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Niheim. Honorary chairperson of the dinner dance sponsored by the UCLA Scholarship Committee, currently supporting university studies of 23 Michigan area students, is His Excellency Mr. Narat El-Assad, Consul General of Lebanon. General chairperson is James Tamer. Pre-party activities included a tea at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club honoring the debts and their mothers, given by chairpersons Helen Beshara, Ida Johns and Josephine Saigh, of The Park. Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Housey and Mr. and Mrs. John Frances chaired the event at which the debts honored senior citizens at St. Maron's Social Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Tamer and Vicki George will host an evening reception at Hillcrest honoring the debts and their escorts. Reservations for the ball, which begins at 6 p.m. with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres, the presentation and dinner following, may be made by calling Hillcrest, 777-5777. Tickets are $35 per person, tax deductible. Music for the evening will be by the Jerry Ross V & 11.

Call for Met Week tickets

Box office phone lines for direct telephone purchase of Metropolitan Opera Week in Detroit tickets are now open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. The box office telephone number is 833-7777. Remaining tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis with the use of MasterCard or VISA.

Met Week, sponsored by the Detroit Grand Opera Association, runs May 20 through 25. All performances will be at the Masonic Auditorium. Tickets range in price from $11 to $44; availability varies depending on the popularity of the opera. When an opera is sold out, a limited number of standing room places and obstructed view seats will be sold for $4 each.

General information on Met Week performances and activities may be obtained by calling the DGOA office, 832-5200. Operas to be presented by the Met in Detroit this spring are "Lohengrin," "Eugene Onegin," "La Boheme," "Simon Boccanegra," "Cosi Fan Tutte," "Hansel and Gretel" and "Rigoletto."

Metropolitan Rose Society to prune

The Metropolitan Rose Society will welcome visitors between 1 and 4 p.m. this Sunday, Apr. 28, at the Pointe garden of Ellen Quinlan, 378 Fisher Road, the Dearborn Heights garden of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wild, 24108 Richardson, the Mount Clemens garden of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bessy, 36512 Oakshire, and the Warren garden of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lang, 11404 Alger.

Consulting Rosarians will conduct a pruning demonstration at each garden. Visitors are encouraged to bring their own pruning shears to practice the correct way to prune rose bushes initially, to ensure a long and beautiful growing season. Further information may be obtained by calling 792-2670 or 526-8655.

Easter theme for Suburbia

Suburbia Garden Club's April meeting at the Handy Road home of Mrs. Raymond Duffy featured an Easter luncheon decor in shades of lilac, pink and purple. The dining room centerpiece was a large, handmade basket filled with hand-decorated animal and bird cookies and painted Easter eggs, all made by Mrs. Duffy's children and grandchildren.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Richard N. Henritze, Mrs. Diamond Phillips and Mrs. Ruth Zimmerman. The program, a slide lecture on the influence of Moorish Architecture in Europe through the centuries, was presented by Betty Seydler.

Ama Deus Circle plans card party

Ama Deus Circle 616, Daughters of Isabella, has scheduled its next card party for Sunday, Apr. 28, at 1 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall on East Warren Avenue. Chairpersons Catherine and Geraldine Plotzke, 881-7765, and Jane Boyle, 882-2868, are taking reservations.

Heady topic for Pear Tree

The Pear Tree Chapter of Quarters gathers this morning, Thursday, Apr. 18, at 10 a.m. in the Torrey Road home of Mrs. George Francis for an antique hat demonstration, "Off the Top of Our Heads," presented by Mrs. Kenneth Harle. A brief business meeting will follow the program.

Trowel, Error Club to meet

The Trowel and Error Garden Club of Grosse Pointe will meet next Thursday, Apr. 25, at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Taylor who will be assisted by co-hostess Mrs. A.J. VanTiem. Vicki Haydon will present a program on Bonsai.

Village Garden Club convenes

The program for the Village Garden Club's meeting Friday, Apr. 26, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, will be on Ikebana. Mrs. David Rieser is the hostess.

April banquet for secretaries

In celebration of Secretaries Week, Apr. 22 through 28, the Detroit Chapter and the Greater International Metropolitan Area Council of Professional Secretaries International is sponsoring a first-time Professional Secretaries Day Banquet on Secretaries Day, Wednesday, Apr. 24, at the Michigan Inn.

Special tribute will be paid to each area chapter's 1985 Secretary of the Year, selected by a panel of judges representing business, education and industry. Keynote speaker will be Lieutenant Governor Martha W. Griffiths, with PSC representative Marcia Owen, international director, Northeast District.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Reservations and ticket information may be obtained by calling Jan Tillman at 614-9200 or 355-1261.

Dessert/card party at Saint Matthew

Admission to the St. Matthew Women's Guild dessert/card party Sunday, Apr. 21, at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of St. Matthew Church, Harper and Whittier, Detroit, is $3. Prizes will be featured. Reservations may be made by calling 885-1455, 527-7944 or 884-2534.

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA — An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers Extraordinary Guarantee

You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

$19.95—30 day supply, or $35.95—60 day supply. Order immediately by sending a check or money order to DYNA LABS, 270 No. Canon Dr., Ste. 1255 (Dept. U-21) Beverly Hills, CA, 90210. (Enclose your return address). Credit card holders can order by simply dialing toll free: (1-800-367-2400) 24 hrs a day, 7 days a week. Either way your order will be promptly sent. Please don't wait. You really do deserve to be thin.

JOAN WOODHOUSE (left) and GAIL KAES, of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Council of Sponsors, are busy making final arrangements for the War Memorial's Book & Author Luncheon on Wednesday, May 1. The day begins with a noon luncheon featuring Crab Louis and Chocolate Derby Pie, after which WJR Executive Producer Hal Youngblood will moderate a four-author panel discussion. The authors are French banker Baron Guy de Rothschild, who will discuss his autobiography "The Whims of Fortune;" Jay McInerney, whose first novel "Bright Lights, Big City" hit the best-seller list; Carol Hill, whose "The Eleven Million Mile High Dancer" is a science fiction tale about a female astronaut; and Joseph Amiel, who wrote "Birthright," the story of a father-daughter struggle set in 1945. Tickets are $12.50 per person or $6.50 for the program only, which begins at 1 p.m. Luncheon reservations must be made at least three days in advance. Further information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

North, South High fashion benefit dates

Grosse Pointe North and South High School parents and friends will welcome spring at a pair of benefit fashion show luncheons. The first, "Springfest '85," is the annual event sponsored by the Grosse Pointe South High School Mothers' Club. It's set for next Thursday, Apr. 25, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, and will feature fashions from Jacobson's this year.

A week later, on Wednesday, May 1, Assumption Cultural Center will be the setting for the Grosse Pointe North Parent Club's spring luncheon benefit, featuring fashions from Walton-Pierce, Grosse Pointe, modeled by professionals.

The "Springfest" fashion models will be South High parents, faculty and students, along with some of their younger brothers and sisters. Mother's Club models are Susan Wheeler, Marnie Reynolds, Bunny Denler, Bobbie LoCicero, Judy Bartsch and Bev Leinweber. They'll be joined by South Dads' Club member Jim Kolp. Representing South's faculty will be Dr. Joseph Spagnoli, now School Superintendent (he wouldn't miss his annual modeling assignment!), Bernard Le Mieux and Charles Hollosy.

South High student models, who are also on the Miss J Board, will be Gail Stonish, Martha Keane, Cary Columbo, Ann Hoey, Julie Golobic and Michelle Gryzenia. Jerry Finazzo, Rick Whitney, Mike Seward and Anthony Eugenio have also agreed to model. The younger brother and sister models are Tim, Matt and Ben Reynolds, Robin Wheeler and Joan Leinweber.

A special "Springfest" feature will be a group of South High Home Economics students — Claudine Bradley, Katherine Boettcher, Barbara Denler, Kelli Kline, Laura Plankner, Barbara Addy and Kristy Beers — modeling the results of their designing and dressmaking skills.

Both fashion benefits begin at 11:30 a.m., and proceeds from both will support the academic enrichment and scholarship programs of their respective schools. "Springfest" tickets may be obtained by sending a check ($12 per ticket) to the Grosse Pointe South Mothers' Club, 161 Vendome Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Ticket donation for the North High benefit is $15 per person, including free babysitting. Reservation information may be obtained by contacting Carolyn Mermer at 886-1523 or Stephanie Daskas at 881-6428. Tickets also are available at the Grosse Pointe North office and Assumption Center.

A raffle is being held in conjunction with each party. North High raffle prizes include a Toronto Weekend and an overnight mini-vacation at the Westin Hotel.

- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 2 cups boiling chicken stock or bouillon
- 1/4 cup toasted, slivered almonds

Saute onions in melted margarine in two-quart saucepan. Combine kasha, egg, salt and pepper with onion mixture and stir 1 to 2 minutes, until kasha is dry. Add chicken stock and cook, covered, over low heat until kasha is cooked. Toss with the almonds. Delicious used as a bed or surrounding broiled chicken. Makes 6 servings.

WILD, WILD RICE

- 3 cups quick brown rice
- 2 Tbsp. margarine
- 2 Tbsp. white cooking wine
- 1 tsp. basil
- 1 cup fresh mushrooms, finely chopped
- 1/3 cup raw organic sesame seeds
- 1 cup raw organic sunflower seeds

Prepare rice according to package directions. Melt margarine in small skillet; add wine, basil and fresh mushrooms and saute lightly. Combine mushroom mixture, including pan juices, and seeds with rice in saucepan. Toss together; cover and steam 5 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

MUSHROOM WHEAT PILAF

- 1/4 cup margarine
- 2 cups bulgur
- 1 Tbsp. minced onion
- 4 cups chicken broth
- 1/2 tsp. marjoram
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- Freshly ground pepper
- 1/2 tsp. rubbed sage
- 1 cup fresh mushrooms, sauteed in margarine

Melt 3 Tbsp. of the margarine in a large skillet. Add bulgur and onion. Cook slowly until wheat and onion are lightly browned, stirring often to prevent sticking. Add broth, marjoram, salt and pepper and sage. Cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes, until wheat is tender. Turn into lightly oiled baking dish and top with mushrooms which have been sauteed in the remaining Tbsp. of margarine. Bake in preheated 325° oven 15 to 20 minutes, or until heated through. Makes 8 servings.

GOLDEN OATS 'n HERBS

- 1 1/2 cups oats (quick or old-fashioned uncooked)
- 1 egg, beaten
- 4 Tbsp. unsalted margarine, melted
- 3/4 cup chicken or beef broth
- 2 Tbsp. parsley flakes
- 1/2 tsp. oregano
- 1/2 tsp. basil
- 1/4 tsp. salt

Combine oats and egg in medium-sized bowl; mix until oats are thoroughly coated. Add oat mixture to melted margarine in 10-inch skillet. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, 3 to 5 minutes, or until oats are dry, separated and lightly browned. Add remaining ingredients. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, 2 to 3 minutes, or until liquid evaporates. Serve as an accompaniment in place of rice or pasta. Makes 4 servings.

PEAS AND RICE

- 2 cups water
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes
- 1 cup brown rice
- 1 pkg. frozen peas (10-oz.)

Place water in saucepan and add bouillon cubes. Bring to boiling over high heat; add rice; boil for 3 minutes. Place rice mixture in casserole and bake in a preheated 350° oven 40 minutes. Add peas, which have been defrosted sufficiently to break apart easily, to rice; stir to blend. Return to oven and cook, covered, 25 minutes, or until rice is tender. Makes 6 servings.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

The rest of the world may have been concerned with Hearn vs. Hagler in Las Vegas last Monday, but I thought the real story of the day was Grosse Pointe's main event between L'Anse Creuse North softball star Chris Harms and South's own gem, Lynn Vismara.

Harms is recognized by many as Michigan's best high school softball pitcher. And Vismara has drawn accolades from players and coaches who have faced her in her own pitching career. She's had excellent success at South, despite playing all last season with injuries and, for much of her high school years, in the shadow of Harms.

L'Anse Creuse North — South High softball games are usually close, exciting match-ups. Last year against LCN, the eventual state runner-up, Vismara lost a pair of tough ones, 2-1 and 3-1, to Harms.

"As good as they are, L'Anse Creuse North recognizes that there are other teams that can challenge them. We have a kind of mutual respect for each other," says South softball coach John Bruce.

Bruce has been trying to get me to watch Vismara pitch against Harms since last season. I'd seen Vismara pitch and I'd seen Harms pitch . . . but never against each other. So, on Monday, I forgot all about Hearn vs. Hagler and headed out to watch Harms vs. Vismara.

First inning: Somebody tell me what happened. I strolled over to Messner Field where South usually plays and when I'd decided that neither Harms nor Vismara was around and that the two teams in action there looked suspiciously like the JV squads, I strolled over to South . . . just in time to miss the first inning.

Third inning: Why doesn't L'Anse Creuse North wear baseball caps? No caps and they look like a semi-pro women's team, kind of scary. Harms looks different, too; not like the power pitcher I've watched before.

Fourth inning: Harms is really rattled. South got to her for three runs in the fourth and she isn't getting the ball where she wants it.

Fifth inning: LCN and South both go down in order. South coach Bruce keeps telling the girls on the bench to keep their heads in the game. It's hard, though, when you've got 72 degrees, lots of people out to watch and a 6-1 lead over the defending league champs.

Sixth inning: Why does it seem like Harms is working when she's out on the mound? Her concentration level looks phenomenal. Vismara trots out to the mound to start the inning and she's got a big grin on her face. She gets two outs in a hurry but a short throw on a groundout pulls Ann Schwarz off the bag. Vismara walks the next batter and serves up a two-run double as LCN cuts the lead to 6-3. Bruce tells her to forget about it and pitch her game. She gets the last out of the inning and walks off the mound . . . grinning.

Bottom of the sixth: People driving by in cars slow down and ask the score. For a girls' softball game this is unheard of, I tell myself. So is beating LCN by six runs, but South begins to do that.

After a walk and a single, Kris Coddens doubles down the line in right field for a 7-3 lead and Bev Zuelch — who already holds a South High mark for triples — hits a two-run, three-bagger to ice the game for South. Bruce doesn't have to worry anymore about the girls having their heads in the game. They are in. Boy are they in.

Seventh inning: "They only play seven innings, right?," asks a spectator. "Right, so we only need three outs," his friend responds. South gets those outs. After Vismara strikes out the leadoff hitter, LCN threatens again by putting two runners on base. But Vismara has forgotten about earlier innings and previous comebacks, just as Bruce told her to do. She bears down and gets LCN on a couple of bounceouts. And after one game, South's softball Blue Devils are leading the league.

What does it mean to Vismara, who after the game is still grinning?

"It means a lot. We've been excited about this game, waiting to play it, for a long time."

And Harms?

She may not have been at her best, but Vismara says that may be the last time that'll happen this season.

"We know what they can do. And they'll just keep improving as the season goes on. But we're a good team, too, and I think they know that," Vismara said.

Those two good teams and a pair of Michigan's best high school softball pitchers will go at it again on May 1. I may even catch the first inning of that one.

Neighborhood Club Fitness Center opens

Finding physical fitness — without the frills

By Peggy O'Connor

The first thing a visitor to the Neighborhood Club's new Fitness Center will notice is that there's no juice bar. Don't bother looking for locker rooms, showers or saunas, either. The accouterments of the big, flashy — and expensive — health clubs just aren't there.

What the Club's modest little Fitness Center DOES offer is a no-nonsense place to go for residents who are interested in improving their health and fitness levels and/or increasing strength and endurance. The Fitness Center — with its exercise bikes, 600 pounds of standard and Olympic free weights, weight benches, step/squat stand, E-Z Curl bars, jogging trampoline and dumbbells — may not be the kind of place folks see movie stars working out at on TV commercials, but it does have one big advantage: it can be pretty much what its clientele wants it to be.

"I think that in the Pointes it does have a growth potential because Grosse Pointe doesn't really have similar facilities. And since the Club is a center for sports activities, we can sort of be the beginning of what might turn out to be a fine fitness facility," said Dan Wyers, a program director at the Neighborhood Club.

Wyers mentioned his plans for the Fitness Center when he interviewed for his position at the Club last August. He says he was encouraged to go ahead with the idea and after the Club matched the donations solicited by Wyers, the Fitness Center was a reality by February.

Right now, the Fitness Center is being used only sporadically and mainly by high school students. But it is open to the public between 6 and 9 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The hours and a lot more about the Fitness Center are very much subject to change, Wyers said.

"We know that we're not as aesthetically as pleasing as some of these other clubs. And because we're not a fancy facility, we can't attract many of the groups we'd like to have. But we're more than willing to work with any group, to use their input and their energies to work toward getting the money for more equipment."

"This thing can go pretty much the way people want to take it. I foresee a lot of people using it on a full-time basis . . . but that's still a long way off," Wyers said.

"If it really gets going, we'd certainly have to expand to meet the need."

Membership is limited to residents of the Grosse Pointe School District area. A Neighborhood Club membership is required ($12 individual/$25 family per year) and the yearly Fitness Club fee is $20, plus $1 per visit.

It's a low-cost fitness facility for those persons who need low-motivation to follow a fitness program. The center isn't capable of handling those in need of advanced assistance, such as cardiac-rehabilitation patients.

"This thing can go pretty much the way people want to take it. I foresee a lot of people using it . . ."

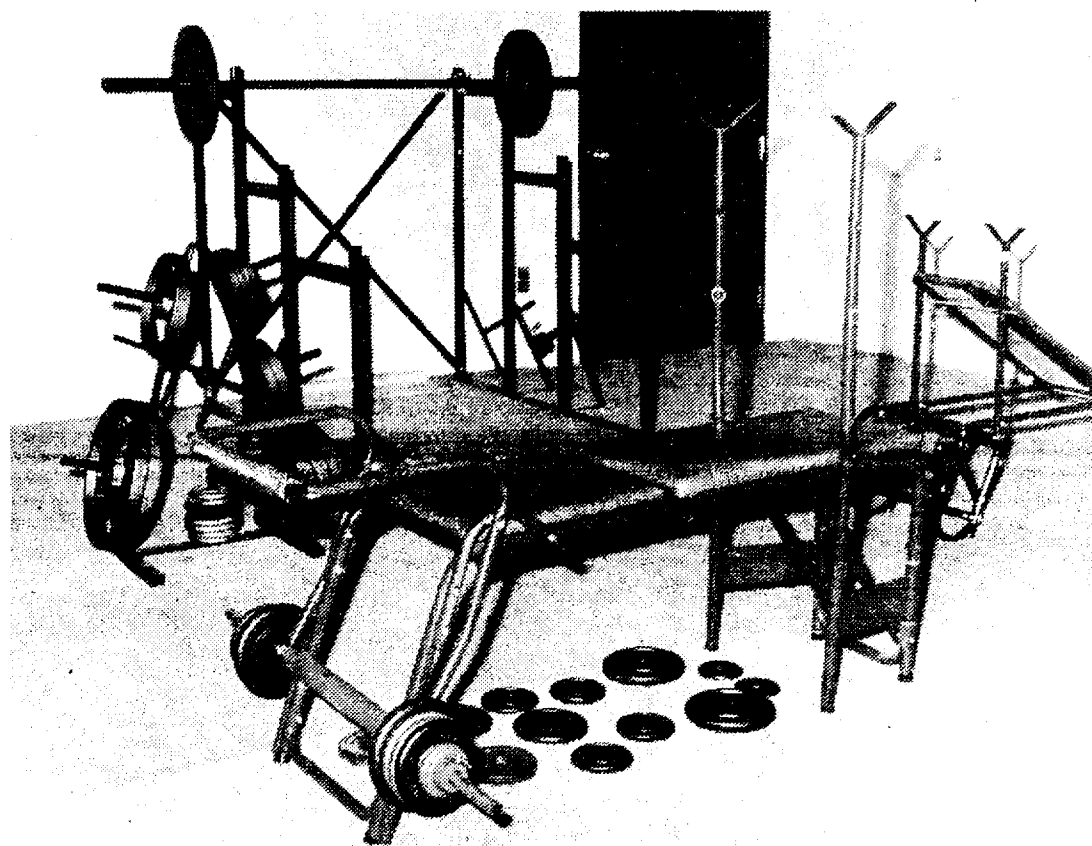

—Dan Wyers

"It's not just limited to strength and weight training. We want those who just want to increase their activity a little by using the cycles and the dumbbells, to feel they can use our program, too," he said. "We're very much interested in helping set up individual programs for people, giving them the personal attention they might not get in a bigger place."

Wyers has developed a wellness, fitness and weight training questionnaire which he said he would like to mail to various Grosse Pointe groups to help gauge the area of interest.

"Right now, the Fitness Center has started kind of slowly. But we're hoping that people will learn more about us and about what we have to offer," he added.

The Neighborhood Club will host an open house from 6 to 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Fitness Center in the lower level of the Club on Waterloo Avenue in the City. Wyers will be there to conduct tours and says that visitors are welcome to come prepared to exercise and try out the equipment. Refreshments will be available. Further information on the evening or on the Fitness Center, may be obtained by calling 885-4600.

ULS netters win Kalamazoo invitational

ULS will hold its annual Tournament of Champions this Friday and Saturday. Admission is free; play begins at 3:30 p.m. Friday and continues all day Saturday at ULS.

The University Liggett School Knights traveled to Kalamazoo April 12 to participate in the Kalamazoo Central Invitational Tennis Tournament, winning the event for the second year in a row and the third time in four years. ULS finished with 40 points, followed by East Grand Rapids with 34, Kalamazoo Central with 12 and Three Rivers with 5.

The Knights placed all four singles players and three doubles teams in the finals. Flight winners for ULS were Kirk Haggarty at No. 2 singles; Mike Fozo at No. 4 singles; John Birgbauer and Scott Watson at No. 1 doubles; and Ashu Nautiyal and Tony Malcolm at No. 2 doubles. Individual runners-up were Marc Hunt at No. 1 singles;

David Barlow at No. 3 singles; and Andrew MacLeod and Frank Karabetsos at No. 3 doubles.

On April 11, ULS lost to Redford Catholic Central, 8-0, as CC, the pre-season No. 1 pick in Class A, completely dominated the match. "We knew they were strong . . . to win just one set was a surprise," said coach Bob Wood. Birgbauer and Watson won the second set of their No. 1 doubles match.

ULS will host its annual Tournament of Champions this weekend, April 19 and 20. Play on the Cook Road courts will begin Friday at 3:30 p.m. and continue on Saturday from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Admission is free for spectators to watch two days of top-notch high school tennis.

JV netters win

The ULS JV tennis team opened its season with a resounding 7-0 victory over out-manned Woodhaven. The match, played in cool and extremely windy conditions, was never close as Coach Chuck Wright's Knights dominated play in all flights.

At No. 1 doubles, John Shandle and David Kim struggled in the opening set, winning 7-5, and then coasted to a 6-1 second set to win. Other doubles victors were Peter Sripinyo and Mike Africa at No. 2 doubles and Ted Evans and Gordie Maitland at No. 3 doubles. Singles winners were Jeff Buhl, Robert Niccolini, Bill Reuther and Michael Baks.

The Knights' next home contest is April 23 at 4 p.m. against Cranbrook.

Scrappy effort

The ULS boys' varsity lacrosse team opened its 1985 season Tuesday, April 9, with a 2-1 loss to Cranbrook.

Pointers play for S.C.S. ickers

A trio of Grosse Pointe hockey players — John Hogan, John Hirschfield and Mike Brykalski — played for the St. Clair Shores Junior C Falcons who finished second in the Junior C Nationals in Manchester, N.H. last month.

The Falcons were sponsored by the Falcon Hockey Club, which was founded and is sponsored by Shores resident Maurice Hogan.

The team compiled a 46-19-4 record overall this season and played well in the nationals before losing to the host-city Manchester Flames, 7-3, in the finals. In all, eight teams qualified for the nationals, with the Falcons representing Michigan after winning the Michigan Junior C championship.

The Falcons lost the opening round game, 8-5, to Manchester, before coming back to beat the Alaska All-Stars, 8-5; topping the Buffalo Eagles, 5-4; and defeating the Pittsburgh Junior Penguins, 6-4, in the semifinals.

Wingers Hogan and Hirschfield, and center Mike Brykalski, all 17, played well for the national runners-up this season, club officials say.

Club sponsors Slimnastics

The Neighborhood Club will sponsor Aerobic Slimnastics by Kathy White at the Club, beginning the week of April 22. Classes for ladies as well as a co-ed Aerobic Calisthenics class will be offered.

Aerobic Slimnastics for women of all fitness levels meet twice per week for eight weeks at $40. Morning workouts (babysitting available) are at 9:05 and 10:15 a.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. Evening classes meet at 7 p.m. Tuesdays/Thursdays.

The co-ed Aerobics Calisthenics class is offered at the Club at 8:10 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday for couples wishing to work out together. The cost of the eight-week class is $60 per couple or $40 per person.

Registration will be taken at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo, between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Further information may be obtained by calling the office at 885-4600.

YMCA offers spring sports

Swimming, gymnastics, aerobic and exercise classes are among the many activities available at the Lakeshore Family YMCA this spring. Registration is April 23 - 24 for members and April 25 for non-members; classes begin the week of April 29.

A variety of pre-school gym and creative play-time classes are offered for young children; fencing, karate, break dancing and body toning are offered for adults.

The Lakeshore Family YMCA has a state licensed Child Care Center for children 2½ to 6. The YMCA is located on Jefferson near Nine Mile in St. Clair Shores. Call 778-5811 for more information.

View unique Detroit autos

"Made in Detroit: Unique Automobiles," an exhibit of 10 cars from the Automotive Collection of the Detroit Historical Museum, opened Wednesday, Mar. 6, at the museum, located on Woodward Avenue at Kirby in Detroit's University/Cultural Center.

The show, which features automobiles which are unusual in style or engineering and spans the years Detroit reigned supreme in the automotive world, is a one-of-a-kind first collective display.

The cars include the 1908-12 Bauto-go, 1914 Scripps-Booth Cy-clear, 1915 Scripps-Booth, 1924 Cadillac Special Roadster, 1934 Chrysler Air-flow, 1935 Stout Scarab, 1946 Stout Scarab, 1954 Pontiac Bonneville Showcar, 1964 Chrysler Turbine and 1966 Ford Cougar II.

Photographs of other unusual made-in-Detroit automobiles are also featured in the exhibit, which is open during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. Admission is by voluntary donation. Further information may be obtained by calling 833-1805.

LIT, WKBD plan 10K benefit

The Student Chapter of the American Institute of Architects at the Lawrence Institute of Technology and WKBD, TV 50, will sponsor the sixth annual Arch-50 10 Kilometer Run and 3K walk beginning at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, April 27, at the Lawrence Tech campus in Southfield.

Proceeds from the event will benefit the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan.

Registration is $7 (through Friday, April 19) and may be obtained by mailing a check to LIT College Relations Office, 21000 West 10 Mile Road, Southfield, MI, 48075-1058. Regular registration is from 8 to 9:30 a.m. on race day at the main entrance to LIT Architecture Bldg., and is $8 or $6 students or seniors.

Further information may be obtained by calling the LIT College Relations Office at 356-6067.

Calling all softball teams

Detroit College of Business in Dearborn is seeking teams for both its men's and women's Saturday open softball leagues.

Former North High All-State pitcher and all-conference football linebacker Dave Babcock is expected to contend strongly for the Western Michigan University varsity baseball team's starting rotation. The 6-1, 200-pound sophomore greatly improved in fall practice, WMU coaches say. He had a 6-3 record as a North junior and was 8-1 in 1983 when the Norsemen ranked No. 3 in Michigan and won the region. Babcock is a communications major.

Woods resident John Briski led his Washington University in St. Louis men's golf team in average after one match and two invitational. Briski, a junior, fired a 127 for 28 holes in the Knox College Invitational on April 6 and was leading medalist with an 81 average as of April 11.

Some familiar names dot the Kalamazoo College spring sports roster this season. Peter Wack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wack, of Rivard Blvd., is playing on the Hornets' men's tennis team, ranked No. 1 in the country in Division III and aiming for its 27th consecutive MIAA title. And three Pointers — Marlene Preisz, Mary Rosasco and Val Stone — are members of the Kalamazoo women's soccer team which is playing its last spring season and will switch to a fall schedule next year. Marlene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josef Preisz, of Hunt Club Drive; Mary, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rosasco, of Yorkshire Rd., and Val, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Stone, of Stevens Rd.

Shawn Whelan, a 1984 graduate of South High, is playing men's lacrosse at Mount Union College this year. He's the son of the John Whelans, of Wayburn Avenue, and is a freshman business administration major at Mount Union, Alliance, Ohio.

Recently ending their seasons on the Hamilton College men's varsity swim team were junior Mark Mullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullen, of Grand Marais Blvd., and freshman Jack Nelson, son of Mrs. Betty M. Nelson, of Kerby Rd. Hamilton finished at 11-1 and was sixth in the 17-team New York State Championships. Nelson earned All-American honors with a 16:25.11 finish in the 1,650-yard freestyle in the nationals, good for 12th place. "Nelson pushed himself in practice all season preparing for the nationals," said coach Dave Thompson. "And it paid off."

Do you like to leave your own tip in a restaurant, or would you prefer that the house simply add a 15-percent service charge onto the check? When pollsters asked, they learned the majority of people wanted to handle that tipping themselves.

Yale sophomore Meghan McMahon, 19, of Whittier Rd., recently returned from a successful week of spring competition with a 7-1 singles record, running her season record to 21-3. Meghan's brother, Cullen McMahon, 9, defeated Albin Polonyi, of Leawood, Kans., 6-0, 6-4, to win the 10 and under boys' tennis championship on April 14 in the Score Easter Bowl at the Midwest Racquet Club in Chicago.

Meghan's Yale team traveled to the west coast over Easter vacation, playing a series of California and western universities. After the trip, she defeated Emily Schuette, of Princeton, 5-7, 6-4, 7-6, in three and one-half hours in the first regular season match. Then on April 12, Yale journeyed to New York where Meghan defeated Cornell's top player on Friday and Syracuse's No. 1 player on Saturday. Meghan McMahon holds the top singles position on Yale's varsity roster for the second straight year; she was voted the Lisa Rosenblum award last year as the player who contributed most to Yale women's tennis.

The tournament won by Cullen McMahon, a fourth grader at Trombly, attracted the best 10 and under boys and girls in the western section of the USTA.

Cottage runners will go for the medals

Over 400 runners, walkers, and racewalkers are expected to compete for 82 medals in the fifth annual Cottage Hospital "We're Up for Health" FUN RUN/WALK on Sunday, May 5.

The FUN RUN/WALK is presented by the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary as a benefit to the hospital and is sponsored by The Meade Group which includes Meade Leasing, Pointe Dodge, Pointe Chrysler-Plymouth, and Pointe Advertising.

Medals will be given to runners for first through third place, male and female, in the following age divisions: 14 years and under, 15-19, 20-24, 40-44, 45-49, 50-54, 55-59, 60 and over. Awards for the most heavily entered age division — 25-29, 30-34, and 35-39 — will be given for first through fifth place, male and female.

The first six male and first six female walkers to cross the finish line will receive medals, as will the first and second place, male and female, racewalkers.

The awards will be presented in a ceremony in the South High School Gymnasium immediately following the race. And, all FUN RUN/WALK entrants are eligible for a raffle. Race numbers will be drawn to determine the winners of several prizes. Participants must be present at the ceremony to win a raffle prize.

Runners start the 5 kilometer (3.1 mile) race at 1 p.m. Walkers and racewalkers begin at 1:01 p.m. There will be walk and racewalk judges on the course.

Entry forms are available at the Cottage Hospital information desk; 159 Kercheval Avenue; The Meade Group affiliates including Meade Leasing, 130 Kercheval Avenue; Total Runner, 20641 Mack Avenue; Grosse Pointe Woods; Grosse Pointe Public Libraries; and other area businesses.

Completed entry forms and the $7 pre-registration fee may be mailed to the hospital through May 1.

Participants who have registered by mail can pick up their race packets (including race number, pins, T-shirt, and certificate of participation) in the school gym from 11 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. on Sunday, May 5.

For more information on the fifth annual Cottage Hospital "We're Up for Health" FUN RUN/WALK on Sunday, May 5, call the Cottage Hospital Public Relations department at 884-8600, extension 2456.

Josette Hosking and Nanette Quinones, co-chairpersons of the Cottage Hospital FUN RUN/WALK, admire one of the medals to be awarded in the race, set for Sunday, May 5. The run is presented by the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary and sponsored by The Meade Group.

North High

Grosse Pointe North's varsity baseball team spent its Easter vacation playing three doubleheaders. North (4-2) swept the first doubleheader from Sterling Heights, 13-3 and 5-4, then split doubleheaders with Sterling Heights and Fraser, winning 10-6 and 2-1, and losing 11-8 and 3-2.

In the first game versus Sterling Heights on April 9, North came out swinging, tallying 12 hits and ripping four home runs. Hitting two run shots for the Norsemen were Frank Vento, Brian Ulatowski and Steve Pochmara; Dennis D'Agnes hit a solo shot. On the mound, Dan Kopitzke pitched a complete game, striking out nine batters and allowing only three hits.

In the second game, which was postponed because of darkness, D'Agnes recorded the win with a three-hit and seven strikeout performance. The Norsemen, who combined for 11 hits, trailed by two runs entering the seventh inning. Kopitzke doubled, knocking in two runs to knot the score at 4-4. Ulatowski, batting .571 with two home runs and 10 RBI, followed with a single scoring Kopitzke from second for the game-winner.

In the second doubleheader versus Sterling Heights, Joe Weidenbach picked up his first win of the season, pitching five innings before being relieved by Bill Miller. Offensively, North got its punch from Ulatowski, who went 3-for-3 with a two-run homer, and sophomore Pat Kilcline, who knocked in four of his five RBI with a grand slam.

In the nightcap, North lost its first game of the year by letting the game slip away in the last inning. Kilcline, who took the pitching loss for North, remained hot at the plate, getting three hits and two RBI while Ulatowski added three hits.

On Saturday, April 10, the Norsemen traveled to Fraser for yet another doubleheader. In the first game, Kopitzke captured his second win of the young season, allowing only five hits while striking out eight. North was led offensively by Ulatowski and Kilcline who each had an RBI.

The final game of the Easter schedule saw the Norsemen "blow many opportunities," according to Coach Frank Sumner, and the fact that North out-hit its opponents 11-4 supports that view. Weidenbach, who pitched well for North, took the loss, evening his record at 1-1. Offensively, Kilcline had three hits while Ulatowski and Tim Rice had two apiece.

North's next game is Friday, April 19, at home, against Rochester. Game time is 3 p.m.

JV splits

North's JV baseball team opened its 1985 season against Sterling Heights, winning the first game of a doubleheader 7-2 but dropping the second, 10-4.

In the first game, North cruised to a 7-2 victory behind a fine pitching performance from Rob Marshall who struck out seven while allowing only three hits. Offensively, the Norsemen were led by Mike Miller's three hits and three RBI and Jack Williams' two hits and two RBI.

In the nightcap, Mike Gates took the loss, pitching 3 1/3 innings before being relieved by Steve Nieman. Nick Mancini was the bright spot for North, collecting two hits and one RBI.

North's next game is Friday, April 19, versus Brabec, at Ghesquire Park. Game time is 4 p.m.

SPORTS CHIROPRACTIC

TO THE RESCUE!

Dr. James F. Kennedy, D.C.

Each year some 17 million people suffer from some sort of sports related pain. It's no wonder, with 500 muscles and 206 bones, not to mention joints, ligaments and tendons all getting into the physical stress act. Generally, the best advice would be not to over do any activity, never ignore pain and don't take up an activity without seeing your Chiropractic Doctor first. An existing condition could become a chronic condition if not developed into something much worse. Call Dr. Kennedy to day for your appointment. Most insurance companies cover chiropractic care. 21421 Harper (Just North of Light House St. Clair Shores, phone 772-1360)

ULS wins tourney

"Although most of our players are new to the game, they put forth a scrappy defensive effort," said Coach Bob Evett.

Cranbrook scored first, midway through the opening quarter. The Knights came back to tie the game on a goal by Brian Curtiss, assisted by Chris Joel. Cranbrook scored the winning goal in the third period during an extra-man situation, following a ULS penalty. Goalie Mike Gouda played well, Evett said.

This week presents a tough challenge, as the Knights play their home opener April 20, at 1 p.m. against perennial athletic power DeLaSalle.

Personal bests bring smiles

In a competitive sense, the ULS girls' varsity track and field team lost a heartbreaker when it dropped its season opener to Kingswood, 65-63, April 11. Why, then, were so many of the girls smiling?

Prior to the meet, coaches Cathy Schmidt and Sue Frederick had asked team members to set personal goals. For 21 of the 33 trackies, it was the first meet ever and therefore, for some girls, a personal victory simply to survive a case of nerves and get through the races or field events. Impressively, ULS recorded 23 personal bests.

High scorer for ULS was sophomore Lydia Alexander, who tallied 11 points in the 100 hurdles, long jump and high jump. Junior Charu Nautiyal picked up 10 1/4 points in the 800 meters, 1600 meters and 3200 meter relay. Co-captain Judy Go notched 9 points in the 100 hurdles, 300 hurdles and high jump.

Freshman Miriam Mueller took second place in both the 400 meters and 200 meters for 6 points.

ULS won both the shotput and high jump with fine performances from seniors Rebecca Boone and Ahunna Nwosu. After trailing the two leading Kingswood runners for seven laps, freshman newcomer Laura Rizzo kicked an exciting last 200 meters to secure second place for ULS, and to add to her 4 1/2 points.

Others who scored for ULS were Catrin Winter, Nora Staebler, Carolyn Seydel, Scarlet Parris, Dianne Bullock, Sophia Park and Wendy Willett.

Coaches Schmidt and Frederick were very pleased with the girls' performances, and praised their personal determination and accomplishments. "They were great!" said Schmidt. "We're a young team. We're gaining experience and we're improving. What more could one ask?"

The Lady Knights host Bethesda on April 19 and travel to Ann Arbor for the Greenhills Tournament on April 20.

16—PETS FOR SALE

ADORABLE, healthy kittens want loving home. Evenings and weekends 885-1537.

FREE, ONE year old white Pomeranian. Good natured and loves children. 772-7197.

BOUVIER A.K.C. 9 months, male, housebroken, very gentle. $175. 526-8077.

AS SEEN ON P.M. MAGAZINE These beautiful animals are now ready to be placed for adoption and are guaranteed to steal your heart away. Please give them a chance in your home.

We have 3 gracious, beautiful spayed Afghans, A.K.C. registered, all housebroken. They will need fenced yards because they love to run.

How about a beautiful, sensitive young German Shepherd, large, neutered, and also housebroken. He loves children and is very playful! He would make a great house dog.

Need someone to cuddle and watch T.V. with? We have just the answer — a Yorkie that loves to be held and watch T.V., also "talks and scolds" constantly accept when he's eating! He definitely will intimidate you if you let him.

If you like "shy" then you will want our 4 year old Sheltie, or perhaps our Sheltie mix, or how about a very stately Airedale called "Rosie."

And our Piece d'Resistance is a gorgeous Bouvier mix, she is our magnificent TRIPOD, (3 legs), but don't tell her she doesn't even notice!

As you have probably noticed our list is long. We have several other dogs available for adoption and probably more coming in. We will not let them be destroyed. Also, 3 lovely kittens strictly indoor pets. Neutered and some front declawed, all under 3 years of age.

If you have a place in your heart and home please call us soon.
