Name claim to fame

It's pretty easy for the Beck family, of the Woods, to remember birthdays among their clan. It looks like everybody, with the exception of Marshall Beck, was born on a holiday.

Marshall's wife Raeywen, (that's New Year spelled backwards) was born — you guessed it, on New Year's Day.

Raeywen's sister, Chris Carole, was born on Christmas. Mr. and Mrs. Beck's son Garet was born on Valentine's Day and daughter Alexandra Caitlin checked in this month on Easter.

Halloween is still up for grabs.

More names

Others names in the news. John Serwach, editor-in-chief of the North Pointe at North High School, was one of 13 Detroit area students chosen to participate in the first high school press conference via satellite.

The conference was held at Channel 4's studios on April 18 and was moderated by Free Press TV critic Mike Duffy and Marc Gunther of the Detroit News.

The student reporters were selected by their principals and the show made its debut Friday, April 19.

Chrissy Bageris, of the Woods, feels pretty lucky. She was one of only 14 viewers chosen to visit the studios of 20th Century Fox and to tour the set of "Dynasty."

Chrissy was a winner of the national sweepstakes contest which allowed her, a guest, her mother Jayne, and fellow winners to visit La-La land for four days.

The contest was created to promote the new fragrance, "Forever Krystle," by the Charles of the Ritz Group. The fragrance is "the first ever inspired by a television romance." Heavy sigh.

Super chef

Ten thousand "attaboys" to Sparky Herbert Chef William Wolf, who captured the Best Whole Buffet Award, along with teammates Joseph Decker, Brian Polcyn and Edward Janos, at the recently held 12th Annual Hospitality Industry Culinary Art Salon at Cobo Hall.

Professional chefs and apprentices from the Great Lakes area displayed more than 100 platters and buffets of their finest cold food, hot food and pastries.

Wolf and the boys were entered in the Independent Restaurant Team category and won with an entry of "An American Buffet."

Oh yes, Wolf also won in the Best Individual Piece with his "Southern Plantation Picnic Platter."

Bye, bye, bowling?

A letter to the editor was deflected to my desk this week. It read: To the editor — you might like to check out the impending sale of the Grosse Pointe Woods Bowling Alley to Red Lobster. I personally decry the loss of Grosse Pointe's only public recreational facility. A disgusted bowler.

Dear Disgusted Bowler — I called the bowling alley this week for a little enlightenment and was informed by owner Jack Degriek that "as of this moment the alley has not been sold. If they match my price, it'll be sold. Everything has a price."

After urging me to be careful about what I wrote, Mr. Degriek then told me to delete an earlier comment that he would neither "confirm nor deny that Red Lobster had showed any interest."

Sorry. If something is off the record, you mention it before you make any statements.

Local mass inoculation remembered

Discovery of vaccine altered history

By Pat Paholsky

It was 30 years ago — April 25, 1955 — when nearly 3,000 children in the Grosse Pointe schools were inoculated with the Salk vaccine. It was the beginning of the end of a dreaded disease that put parents of small children in a panic every year when September approached.

Polio or infantile paralysis and the iron lung were ominous words that gripped a nation, closing schools whenever an outbreak was believed imminent. When a case was reported in a community, parents anxiously looked for fatigue, headache, fever or vomiting in their children, all common childhood afflictions that concern parents today, but do not create the terror that was present back then.

So when the Salk anti-polio vaccine was pronounced safe and effective April 12, 1955, the local medical community, two weeks later, moved to protect the children in the Grosse Pointe school district.

Some 25 doctors and 50 nurses, assisted by 100 mothers, volunteered their services and vaccinated

2,952 first- and second-graders in the public, parochial and private schools in one day. The police departments of the five Pointes and Harper Woods conducted a shuttle service from Bon Secours Hospital to the various schools.

In those days before disposable needles, the hospital volunteered to sterilize the equipment necessary for the injections. And the police officers were kept busy transporting needles and syringes back and forth so the mass inoculation program could continue without interruption.

The program was reported to be a great success, according to the April 28, 1955 Grosse Pointe News. The article reported that one little boy took one look at the goings-on and ran home before he had his shot. He was brought back to the school by his mother, "in time to receive the last shot available."

The program was organized by the Mothers Health Education Council, now known as the Grosse Pointe Health Education Council. Mrs. J. Cullen Kennedy, who chaired the program, lined up the 100 mothers who were assigned to the various schools.

One of the children who received the vaccine was Bruce Kefgen, now assistant to the superintendent. "My memory of it is only that it hurt," he said.

Frank Welcenbach, who retired from the school system in 1975, remembers the day with remarkable clarity. He was principal of Trombly School then and he said:

"We set up a clinic in what was the lunch room, room 120 at the far end of the north hall. We had a long table down the middle of the room and there were two doctors and four nurses at the far end of the table.

"There were seats for the kids to sit while waiting and they came down one class at a time. It took about a half-day and it was well organized and well handled.

"The teachers and parents did a great job. There was tremendous concern and response from our medical community."

Welcenbach said he recalls a series of school closings over the years prior to 1955.

"September was a bad, bad month for contagion and three different years, the opening of school was delayed almost two weeks because of the fear of a polio outbreak," he said. "It was the way we coped with the problem at the time."

Near the end of summer, parents kept their children out of the water.

"They thought the virus was water-borne and they cautioned people about swimming that time of the year," Welcenbach said.

He recalls only one casualty at Trombly the day of the mass inoculation. "One girl passed out. Boom. When she saw the needle, just boom."

She was put on a cot and when she came to, the doctor, "using his best bedside manner," vaccinated her, he said.

The viral disease, which attacks the central nervous system, sometimes results in paralysis. It is still found in all parts of the world, but is more prevalent in the temperate zones.

While poliomyelitis affects persons of any age — Franklin Delano Roosevelt was 39 when he contracted the disease — the greatest incident occurs in children 5 to 10 years old.

The March of Dimes, formerly known as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, was founded in 1938 by President Roosevelt to unify the fight against the disease. The research, made possible through the fundraising, led to the development of a successful vaccine by Jonas Edward Salk in 1954.

After the introduction of the vaccine, cases of the disease that resulted in paralysis declined nationwide from 18,308 reported in 1954 to 61 in 1964. David Foust, statistician at the Detroit Health Department, said there were no cases, paralytic or otherwise, reported in Wayne County for 1984.

They'll be shooting historic buildings

This Saturday, April 27, and next, May 4, the Grosse Pointe Historical Society will conduct a photographic survey of homes in Grosse Pointe City.

Working in teams, volunteers will photograph and record information of homes and buildings, focusing on structures erected before World War II. The teams will work from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., going block by block.

Each team will consist of a photographer and recorder. The photos will be reviewed and evaluated. Persons interested in research will be able to work with city records to identify age, architect and dates of the buildings, along with other facts, such as major additions.

To prepare a format for the survey, Cioconda McMillan and Audrey Platt have met with Brian Conway, architectural coordinator, Michigan History Division, Department of State. The historical society is conducting the survey because members feel it is important to document the community's architectural and historical resources.

The project has received approval from Mayor Lorenzo Browning, the city council and the police department.

Volunteers are still needed. interested persons can call Gioconda McMillan at 886-9766. If it rains, the survey will be taken May 11. Also residents who have information pertaining to the history of their house are invited to share it with the society by calling 884-7010.

Walking for hunger

About 800 people participated in the CROP Walk for Hunger Sunday which began about 2 p.m. at St. Paul's gym, above. This was the fifth year the walk was sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Ministerial Association. CROP is the community hunger appeal of Church World Service. Among the first finishers of the 10-mile walk, at the left, are Ron Schnering of Warren on roller skates and Pam Kielbowicz of the Woods, holding on to Max and Fergus, who also participated in the event.

War Memorial's liquor license request to be heard in June by Farms council

By Harriet Nolan

The Farms City Council has set June 17 as the tentative date to hear the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's request for a Class C liquor license.

"I think council is now trying to explore the issue," City Clerk Richard Solak said. "There are a lot of legal questions that have to be answered."

The War Memorial Association, a non-profit group, filed its request in February with the state Liquor Control Commission for a license to sell beer, wine and liquor by the glass.

The commission has forwarded the request to the Farms where council must review and approve the petition before the state conducts its investigation.

Council members discussed the anticipated petition briefly at its April 15 meeting and what action could be taken. One of the suggestions included asking residents their opinion in the form of a referendum.

Two years ago, Grosse Pointe City, which voted in 1934 to continue the ban on alcohol after Prohibition ended, found itself in a similar situation when local merchants wanted to sell alcoholic beverages by the glass. After studying the issue for more than a year, the council decided to let its residents make the choice.

A referendum vote held last November indicated the majority of those who went to the polls were not only in favor of being able to buy beer and wine by the glass, but also liquor. The council is now in the process of reviewing applicants for its four available licenses.

Farms councilwoman Nancy J. Waugaman, in referring to that neighboring community's approach, noted that a referendum didn't solve anything.

"They got a consensus and now they're back to square one with applicants and still have to choose," she said.

Farms Mayor James H. Dingeman felt it wasn't necessary to poll citizens.

"I think council has all it needs with which to come to grips with the issue and make an intelligent decision," he said. "I don't really feel it's advisable to incur costs of having it submitted as a referendum."

The association has said a license would enable the center to better control the use of alcoholic beverages at functions. Some of the activities include weddings and receptions sponsored by independent groups.

Early in April, citizens opposing the request, city officials and other residents met with association officers at its board of directors meeting.

Paul Marco, a lawyer and resident who opposes the license request, was previously quoted as saying the argument by the association that a license would give the group greater control over in-house activities only pointed to a weak administration.

"I'm not impressed because you're describing a management problem here," he said.

According to City Clerk Solak, there are also three other applicants vying for the three available licenses the Farms could issue this year.

He said the city had been allowed eight licenses based on the 1970 census. Due to a drop in population according to the 1980 census, however, the number of licenses allowed, if not already issued, will drop to seven.

"Council hopes both parties will come to some type of a resolution before the hearing date," Solak added.

School board candidates discuss goals, backgrounds

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The school system has to improve its communication with the community, take a hard look at its math and science programs and develop criteria to deal with declining enrollment in the area's public schools, according to candidates for the school board.

In a segment of "Education in Our Town" hosted by Bruce Kefgen on Grosse Pointe Cable Channel 19 tonight at 6:30 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday at the same time, the four candidates, Carl D. Anderson, Dr. Ernest Buechler, Carol Marr and Cynthia Pangborn, talked about their qualifications and goals should they be elected to the school board June 10.

Two seats are open this year, with only incumbent Buechler seeking re-election.

All four candidates said in the half-hour program they have backgrounds in education. Anderson, a special needs teacher in St. Clair Shores, has been an active volunteer in local schools and has also served on the Governor's Education Summit Task Force and the Grosse Pointe Excess Space Committee. He added he has a "genuine willingness to serve Grosse Pointe schools."

Mrs. Marr was a teacher for five years before leaving to start her family, she said in the program. Her work with a child care board administered to 75 children and had 20 staff members. She said it gave her valuable experience with finance and state regulations from the Department of Social Services, "which the local district will soon have need of in its latchkey program."

Mrs. Pangborn is a former instrumental and vocal music instructor and has also worked with students with special needs. An active volunteer in the system and a former "Picture Lady," Mrs. Pangborn said her volunteer work has qualified her "to be a positive candidate for the school board."

Buechler, besides his four years of service on the board, is principal at Wayne Elementary School on Detroit's east side. Ruechler said he is an independent thinker who was forced in 1983 to vote to close his neighborhood school, Barnes. It is a decision he said he didn't regret making, although he was forced to fight off a recall attempt with two other board candidates for voting to close the school.

While only four candidates filed for the openings on the school board, it shouldn't be considered a sign of apathy on the part of the community, the candidates said during the program. The small number may be an indication the community is satisfied with the job the board is doing, Buechler said.

They agreed that interest in education and the board's activities have grown in the past two years. Mrs. Pangborn and Mrs. Marr said the community is talking about what is going on in the school and they are showing an increased interest in what's happening at the board level.

The community should take every opportunity it has to get to know the board candidates and

Four writers to speak at book, author lunch

The Council of Sponsors will present a Book & Author Luncheon at the War Memorial Wednesday, May 1. After a noon luncheon that will feature Crab Louie on half an avocado and chocolate derby pie for dessert, four authors will speak about their current releases.

Baron Guy de Rothschild, banker and head of the French branch of the Rothschild family, will discuss his autobiography, "The Whims of Fortune." His memoirs detail the philanthropy, philanderings and astonishing luxury of a gilded dynasty.

The story takes him from the glitz and glitter of New York City to a clearer understanding of himself and his priorities, thus filling the gaping emptiness. Raymond Carver describes the book as "a rambunctious, deadly funny novel that goes right for the mark — the human heart."

Carol Hill, who penned the science fiction romance, "The Eleven Million Mile High Dancer," will also be on hand. The New York Times Book Review described her as being "an intense fantasist, a gentle humorist, a sexy feminist, a dogged idealist, a passionate environmentalist, and a good, last-paced story-teller." The book's protagonist is Amanda, a super-smart astronaut.

The fourth author at the event will be Joseph Amiel. His novel, "Birthright," takes readers from the country manors of England to the gleaming boardrooms of Wall Street, from the elegant slopes of St. Moritz to the desert kibbutzim of Israel. The story sweeps through continents, races across generations, and slashes through the secrets, the tragedies, and the treacheries of the super-rich.

WJR Executive Producer Hal Youngblood will moderate the panel of authors.

Tickets are $12.50 each, or $6.50 for the program only at 1 p.m. Reservations may be made in person or by sending a check, made out to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to 32 Lakeshore Drive, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236. Luncheon reservations must be made at least three days in advance.

Council of Sponsors board members Gail Kaess and Joan Woodhouse are co-chairing the event. Additional information may be obtained by calling the War Memorial at 881-7511.

Guy de Rothschild

The book is a witty and sparkling account of what it was like to grow up in one of the oldest, richest and most talked-about families in history. There is a bit of everything in it: luxury, heroism and love, horseracing and financial dealings, French politics and Jewish issues, all told by Baron Guy himself, who now lives in New York City.

Jay McInerney, whose newly released first novel, "Bright Lights, Big City," a paperback, has already hit the best seller list. The story is about a young man who seems, at least on the surface, to have everything. Upon closer examination, however, his life is

Junior Leaguers to attend international conference

Mary G. Ollison, president, Mary Kay DuCharme, executive vice president, and Ann Hoag will represent the Junior League of Detroit at the 63rd Annual Convention of the Association of Junior Leagues, Inc. May 2-5 at the Westin Hotel in the Renaissance Center. The Conference will focus on "Women Today — Risks and Opportunities."

More than 800 delegates, representing 160,000 women volunteers from leagues in 261 communities in the United States, Canada, Mexico and United Kingdom will participate.

The conference will focus on four major areas of concern: women and health, economics, family and leadership.

Charlayne Hunter-Gault, correspondent, The MacNeil/Lehrer News Hour, will be the keynote speaker.

The program will also include panel discussions and issues sessions led by prominent experts from government, labor, other major social welfare agencies, the media, and the medical community. Among the topics to be addressed are: child care, family violence, intergenerational programs, single parent support systems, substance abuse, women in prisons, health advocacy, pay equity, social security, rural opportunities, displaced homemakers, women's networks, media perceptions of women, pornography, and quality of life for aging women.

Because the Association and its member Leagues have become increasingly active in the public policy arena, many of the subjects under discussion will be considered from the standpoint of League volunteers acting as advocates as well as service providers.

All Junior Leagues are united in a common purpose: to promote voluntarism, to develop the potential of members for voluntary participation in community affairs, and to demonstrate the effectiveness of trained volunteers.

Self-help offered for arthritis

Cottage Hospital will host a six-week Arthritis Self-Help Course Tuesdays, beginning April 30, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., in Boardroom B on the lower level of the hospital.

Sponsored by the Michigan Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, the course is designed to encourage patients to take an active part in their arthritis care, emphasizing proper use of medication, exercise and relaxation, nutrition, joint protection and evaluation of non-traditional arthritis treatment.

The fee, $15, includes "The Arthritis Helpbook." A physician consent form is required for registration and the class is limited to 20 people. To register, call the Arthritis Foundation at 561-9096.

YOU CAN "CHARGE IT"

Quacks take more than just money

By Tom Greenwood

There's an old saying that "you can't get something for nothing." But those intent on health fraud learned long ago that you can give nothing for something.

That "something" is money thrown away yearly to the tune of $10 billion spent on quack medicine. Those were the depressing figures offered by health care experts at the "Quack Attack" sponsored by the Regional Health Fraud Awareness Conference at Cobo Hall last week.

"P.T. Barnum was wrong," said Stephen D. Lokken, of the U.S. Postal Inspection Service. "There is more than one sucker born every minute. Suckers are born every second and quacks everywhere know this."

Lokken explained that postal inspectors are heavily involved with fraud investigation, as well as other duties including pornography, bombs, mail theft and mail damage. "Anything that goes through the mails comes under our jurisdiction," he said.

"The problem with mail fraud, especially involving health products, is that once the person is put out of business, they can move elsewhere, change their company name and start all over again. Then we begin again."

Lokken displayed some of the items his department has investigated, including a bust developer guaranteed to add inches to a woman's figure "before her very eyes." The item consisted of two pieces of pink plastic connected at the top by a spring.

"You push the spring apart like this to 'develop' yourself," Lokken said. "This was advertised in a national woman's magazine. The ad cost $13,000. It also appeared in 12 other magazines. The company made $4 million at $10 apiece for this trash."

"These are 'slim skins,'" he continued, holding up a pair of plastic shorts with a hose attached. "You wear the shorts and attach the hose to your vacuum cleaner. It's supposed to suck the pounds away."

Other quack items included super grapefruit pills that earned its company $800,000 in one month, a baldness cure that gathered in $2 million in six months, a slimming tonic that was poured into the bath water to "melt pounds away."

"The manufacturer told its purchasers to lay 15 minutes on one side, then the other," Lokken said. "They warned users to be precise in their timing or they'd come out lopsided if they stayed on one side too long."

Lokken said the Post Office uses any number of weapons at its disposal to shut down mail fraud, including mail fraud statutes, temporary restraining orders, consent agreements, civil false representation orders and cooperation with other governmental agencies.

Margot L. Ott, of the Arthritis Foundation, was also a speaker and estimated there was a $25 fraud to $1 legitimate ratio in unproven arthritis cures.

"There is no cure for arthritis," she told the audience. "I know because I've suffered with it for over 20 years. I've tried many of the cures myself, including drinking orange juice and cod liver oil, apple cider vinegar and wearing copper bracelets. Nothing works."

"We don't know how it starts or why. It's been found in babies three weeks old and in the fossilized remains of dinosaurs. Good nutrition, medical care and limited exercise, such as swimming, can help. We estimate $1 billion a year is spent on cures for arthritis. Believe me, when a cure is found, the Arthritis Foundation will shout it from the rooftops."

Ms. Ott urged arthritis sufferers to consult with their doctors and with the Arthritis Foundation for free information on their disability.

"The solution to quackery is to contact the health agency working to find a cure for your health problem," she said. "Get their advice and information."

Other speakers were from the American Cancer Society, Federal Trade Commission, Better Business Bureau, Michigan Attorney General's office and the Food and Drug Administration.

"One-quarter of each dollar in America is spent on something that the Food and Drug Administration comes in contact with," said Arthur Auer of the FDA. "That includes medicines, drugs, food and food additives. We investigate 20,000 new drugs each and every year, and yet our budget is one-half that of the Detroit Board of Education and we have only 800 agents for the entire country, compared with 2,000 persons in the Secret Service. Medical quackery robs us all because it preys on our vanities and fears."

The Better Business Bureau and the Harvard Medical School Health Letter offered the following tips on avoiding health care fraud:

Beware of quick and easy cures offering fast-working, prompt, painless cures in the comfort of your own home. Scientific breakthroughs -- the result of new discoveries -- especially in European clinics. Be wary if the secret formula can only be purchased from their company. Others are: natural ingredients, such as, "It really works" from people you can't contact such as "F.W. — Dallas, Tx."

Other tipoffs include words such as miracle, cure, or breakthrough. Also beware of substances that are offered only through the mail or door-to-door and those which the effectiveness covers a variety of conditions.

The conference urged those who believe they have been victimized by medical quackery to contact their physician, county medical society, local or state health department, state attorney general or the Better Business Bureau.

Remember, said Postal Inspector Lokken, "You can only get what you pay for."

Horses, too, favor their right hooves over their left and vice versa. Most run naturally with the left hoof foremost, making most southpaws, as it were.

Stroke victims learn to hear, speak with home therapy

By Harriet Nolan

One out of every 10 persons in the country has a communication disorder, according to statistics from the Visiting Nurse Association of Metropolitan Detroit.

Whether it is a problem with speech, language or hearing, the Speech-Language Pathology Department of the VNA treats the person in his own environment, the home.

"We treat the infant and the old," says Melanie Mendell, speech pathologist. "We deal mainly with the elderly and the crux of our referrals are geriatric stroke patients."

"Many have difficulty understanding and expressing language," she adds. "Their speech may not be as clear as it should be. Some might have cognitive deficiencies, attentional loss, problems solving daily activities and memory difficulty."

Mrs. Mendell says stroke patients can either regain almost all of their former abilities or be left severely impaired. Recovery depends on the patient's age, medical background, motivation and family follow-through with treatment.

One such patient is Dr. Carlisle Rueger of the Farms. The 79-year-old retired dentist suffered his first stroke six years ago. But it was a stroke episode last fall that left him with aphasia, says Mrs. Mendell.

"Dr. Rueger had difficulty understanding words," she said. "He could repeat them but they didn't make much sense to him. Therefore he couldn't express himself."

Difficulty hearing made therapy harder because when he said the wrong word, he couldn't hear to have it corrected.

To retrieve the language he'd lost due to the stroke, exercises were set up to discover how much damage the stroke inflicted. For example, he was asked if winter was colder than summer to determine if he knew the difference between basic words.

Mrs. Mendell would come to the Rueger home about twice a week for half-hour sessions. When she left, his wife, Neva, and other family members, following her instructions, continued his therapy.

"It was a slow tedious process," recalls Mrs. Rueger, proudly displaying a chart that indicated that her husband, within an eight-month period, improved an average of 50 percent in areas of understanding the meanings of words, reading, speech and writing.

Mrs. Rueger calls Mrs. Mendell an angel with boundless patience and says her husband has made such gains that he's earned the nickname "miracle man."

While hearing loss contributed to Dr. Rueger's recovery, Mrs. Mendell points out that is one of the most common problems among the elderly.

Almost one-half of all those who need help are over 65 years old and this translates to one out of every four senior citizens, while about three million people between 5 and 21 years old also have speech and language problems.

Articulation disorders, such as difficulty with the way sounds are formed and strung together constitute the most numerous of all speech disorders, she says. Stuttering affects more than one million Americans, half of whom are children.

Speech pathologists work with infants who have pre-speech and feeding difficulty, says Mrs. Mendell who adds, "All this means is that the same muscle used for chewing and eating are the muscles that eventually move our tongue to cause sounds is weak."

"An infant who has a weakness in the oral muscle and isn't progressing as far as feeding may be nine months old and not be able to take a spoon. The cause-effect is they aren't going to be producing speech."

"We work with feeding techniques, muscle stimulation, exercises and increase those abilities at the same time. The result gives the baby a start. Otherwise it would be delayed as far as speech and language development," she adds.

Speech therapists also help people suffering from closed head injuries, such as those who were in a car accident where the brain has bounced against the skull, explains Mrs. Mendell.

"Therapy can mean the difference between not needing 24-hour care and supervision to being able to participate in a safe environment. Most people with communicative disorders can be helped."

Top young soprano to perform here

Margaret Rees

Soprano Margaret Rees, who was named the International Young Singer of the Year in July 1983 at the International Musical Eisteddfod in Wales, Great Britain, will be the guest soloist at the Grosse Pointe Symphony concert on Sunday, May 5, at 3:30 p.m., in Parcels Auditorium, Mack at Vernier.

She will be heard in selections from Mozart, Handel, Massenet, Donizetti and Strauss, under the baton of Felix Resnick. A chorus of 30 voices from North High, under the direction of Ben Walker, choral director at the school, will join her in Mozart's "Laudate Dominum."

A meet the artist reception will follow the concert. Tickets at $6 for adults and $2.50 for students are available at the door or by calling 886-6244.

They'll offer 'a clear view' of unsighted

They got together — those who can see and those who can't — about a year ago and began planning a program that promises to be an unforgettable evening. The program, "A Clear View," will be presented at the War Memorial Thursday, May 9, from 7 to 10 p.m.

The cabaret-style event will see tables set up in the Fries ballroom, with refreshments provided. The evening, sponsored by the Friends of Vision and the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology, is free.

Planned as a community event to foster greater understanding between the sighted and the visually impaired, the program will present the needs of unsighted people in a light-hearted manner.

There will be a skit called, "The Groping Groupies," according to one of the organizers, Jane Stone. And there will be music provided by contralto Johanna Gilbert and pianists Virginia Shover and Josephine Brummel.

Mistress of ceremonies will be Margaret Smith, author and an instructor and counselor at Detroit Receiving Hospital's Visually Handicapped Services.

Among the guest speakers will be Philip C. Hessburg, M.D., president and medical director of the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology. An author and inventor, Dr. Hessburg, a Grosse Pointe resident, will speak from medical viewpoint.

The topic of a speech by Mary Evelyn Self, who chairs the Tribute Fund Council, United Community Services, will be "A sighted person views the visually impaired." Mrs. Self, who has a long record of community service, has lived in Grosse Pointe for more than 30 years. One of her four children is an ophthalmologist.

Peter Hewitt, a rehabilitation counselor for the Michigan Commission for the Blind, was a Highland Park police officer for 17 years when he lost his sight at age 46. His talk, "An unsighted view from the mountain and still climbing," will reflect his accomplishments since then.

Hewitt, who is described as a tall, vital man with two children and 1½ grandchildren, earned bachelor's and master's degrees in vocational rehabilitation counseling at Wayne State University. He has also had special training in youth counseling and sexual dysfunctions of the disabled and has studied at the Helen Keller Center for the University of Southern Illinois.

Lisa Waddell, a 21-year-old Grosse Pointe resident and a diabetic, lost her sight three years ago. Her talk will be "I can open doors for you. Can you open them for me?"

When her current training at the Michigan Rehabilitation Center in Kalamazoo is completed, she plans to enter college.

"One of the things we are most interested in is helping people realize that blind people have a problem, but they're also the same people we knew before," Mrs. Stone said. "There's very much they can contribute.

"They're a fun group. They're an alive group. Peter Hewitt is one of the most upbeat people you will ever meet."

Mrs. Stone said that "the evening is not just for the impaired, it's for the lay person to overcome any stereotypes they may have."

She said this is the first time, to her knowledge, that an effort such as this has been attempted.

"This is a people program. We hope it will be fun and that it will have an impact," she said.

There is no admission charge for the program, but reservations are required. Call 824-4710 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. by May 2.

Can you tell how many of these women are blind? Would you be surprised to learn that they all are with the exception of the second woman on the right? They are members of the Friends of Vision support group and they are, from left, Kay Gee of the Park, Jodine Conover and Mildred Liebald, both of Harper Woods, Nora Scheicher of the Woods, Jane Stone and Dorothy Sutter, both of the Farms. Holding low-vision aids, they are searching for "A Clear View," which is the theme of a program to promote understanding between the sighted and the visually impaired. It will be presented May 9 at the War Memorial and the public is invited to the free event.

"Demanding, But Worth It!"

"I work hard, harder than my friends at other schools. This is demanding, but worth it!" This comment is typical of students' feelings about University Liggett Middle School. For sixth, seventh and eighth graders at the Briarcliff Road campus, standards are high, and opportunities for enrichment abound.

Class schedules typically include six major academic courses. In addition to English and Language Arts classes, sixth graders take a year-long Reading and Study Skills course. Latin and French are offered at beginning and advanced levels. Math advancement, including Algebra II, is open to qualified students. The U.L.S. grammar program, based on a text written by the staff, is renowned for teaching students the structure of the English language.

Drama, Art and Music are especially strong programs that benefit from superb instruction, excellent facilities, and frequent display of talents and products.

Time, effort, diligence, attention to detail, organization — all are needed by our students. Is it worth it?

Nursing workshop offered

Saint John Hospital's Department of Nursing Education will present a seminar and workshop on nursing standards Tuesday, May 7, at the War Memorial. The program is intended for nurses in administration, education, quality assurance and all nursing personnel interested in the process for developing nursing standards.

Elizabeth J. Mason, PhD, RN, director of the Graduate Program in Nursing Administration and Education at the University of Pittsburgh School of Nursing will address the day-long seminar. Dr. Mason is the author of "How to Write Meaningful Nursing Standards" and numerous articles and papers. She has been a nursing standards consultant for the last 12 years. Topics to be discussed include standards of care related to nursing practice, a review of writing process and outcome standards and ways to design efficient and effective plans for writing standards. Dr. Mason will also be available to critique previously developed standards.

Tuition is $55 which includes handouts, parking, refreshments and a luncheon. Registration deadline is today, April 25, and a $10 fee will be charged for cancellations made up until the day of the seminar.

For further information, call Ms. Jones at 343-3380.

Wanted: an urban policy

The flight from Detroit continues, the U.S. Census Bureau tells us. Detroit lost another 4.4 percent of its population in the last two years and that drop left the city with a population of only slightly more than 1,000,000. At its peak, Detroit counted a population of 1,849,568 back in 1950.

Detroit is not the only big city losing population, of course. Many of the nation's largest cities share Detroit's problem. Such areas are becoming more and more the residence of the poor, the underprivileged and the aged. That, in turn, means that the costs of services rise even as the population declines. It costs more for fire protection for older buildings. It costs more for police protection in areas of heavy unemployment. Social services are more expensive in the inner cities. And there are fewer job opportunities because business and industry have joined the flight to the suburbs.

The figures point up the current controversy over whether Detroit is spending enough of its limited funds to help redevelop the neighborhoods. Mayor Coleman Young insists that the downtown area must be improved — and so it must — but that leaves little or no funds for neighborhood resuscitation — which is also needed if the population exodus is to be checked.

The population figures are important to the city's revenues because federal aid is based on population as well as other factors. The city already is expecting a substantial cut in federal aid from $34 million in 1985 to about $21 million in 1986 even though the city's budget is up from $1.56 billion in 1985 to $1.65 billion in 1986. While the city complains about the undercount of its population, its past protests over a failure to count all of the city's residents have resulted in only nominal increases over the original estimates. So there is little likelihood of any large increase in the new population figures.

Nor is the federal aid picture likely to improve. On the very day the new population estimates were published, Budget Director David Stockman was warning Mayor Young and other big city mayors faced with the loss of federal revenue-sharing that their only alternatives were to raise taxes or cut pay and services to their people. Clearly the federal government is reducing its responsibility for the big cities and leaving it up to their officials to sink or swim on their own.

Even federal transit aid to big cities is being sharply cut back. Stockman claims the Miami's Metrorail system is "a lemon" that illustrated why Washington no longer should subsidize construction of local mass transit systems. And few people in Michigan are likely to endorse the kind of spending that has resulted in vast overruns for the construction of the People Mover in Detroit. Even fewer will agree with Mayor Young that the solution to that problem is to give the city administration greater control over SEMTA, the Southeastern Michigan Transit Authority that has been directing the construction of the People Mover and administering state and federal transit subsidies in the metro region. The city administration's record hardly recommends it as a SEMTA successor.

There are a few bright spots on the horizon. The area's economy still is expanding. Michigan's population has resumed its upward climb despite Detroit's losses. And with the revival of the economy and the hike in the state income tax rate last year, Michigan's tax collection rose almost 23 percent in the fiscal year ending last Sept. 30. That revenue rise has already resulted in one rollback in the state income tax rate, with another promised for November and a third expected early in 1986 when the rate probably will return to the old 4.6 percent figure.

It may be possible, as Stockman says, for people in Detroit to pay higher taxes. But it is difficult to impose further burdens on a highly taxed population whose own economic future is so bleak. It also may be possible to cut pay and services in Detroit but it is our understanding that the Young administration already has done well in controlling the costs of municipal services.

Perhaps what is needed for Detroit and other urban centers is a closer relationship between the federal, state and city governments that could develop viable plans to revive the big cities. Such plans still would require some federal help which can be justified because Washington built the freeways that led to the flight from the cities and because poverty and aging and unemployment are national problems, not just local ones. Whether that view ever would become acceptable to the Reagan administration is doubtful, but it is difficult to see a real Detroit renaissance without better cooperation among the three levels of government and the development of a national urban policy.

Nursing has come a long way

To the Editor:

In response to your article "Nursing Changes With Times," I would like to suggest the author could go even further in describing the role of the professional nurse in 1985. In addition to assessing and diagnosing health care problems, the nurse can initiate health care provision and promotion activities. The professional nurse can independently as well as interdependently determine the informational and educational needs of clients and their families and act to meet these needs.

Many professional nurses are certified or licensed to practice autonomously; in many areas of this country today, professional nurses are co-practitioners with family physicians. In addition, the professional nurse understands the need for ongoing research and initiated and/or participates in research activities. As you can see, I agree with the author that the nursing profession has come a long way, but I feel the "Bridges for the Future" are comprehensive health care for clients and their families, advanced education and research.

Group home council explains goals

The Group Home Advisory Council of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods was formed in 1982 to promote the establishment of residential group homes for developmentally disabled adults, to assist toward harmonious integration of group homes into these communities and to educate the community about developmental disabilities and community placement.

In the next few weeks, the Grosse Pointe News will publish a series of short articles prepared by this group, dealing with the needs and goals of the developmentally disabled and focusing on the 25 mentally retarded Grosse Pointe citizens who want to live independently in a group home setting.

Lois is in her early 20s, lives with her parents and attends special education classes operated by the Grosse Pointe schools. She enjoys bowling and Girl Scouts as well as participating in a baseball league sponsored by the Neighborhood Club. At home she thrives on being as independent as possible and likes to hook rugs, help clean and ride her bike.

Bob is already 30 years old and yearns for "his own apartment" like his brother and sisters. Although he likes to shop in the Village and go to the Woods Theatre, he is lonely and would like to have the companionship of other young people in a group home. Since he's lived with his family in Grosse Pointe for most of his life, he knows where the park and library are and can get there on his own. He doesn't want to leave the town he loves.

Community living for mentally retarded adults like Lois and Bob (not their real names) is based on the fact that the developmentally disabled are a part of society and should be allowed to experience the regular circumstances and way of life of the rest of us.

What do we mean by "developmentally disabled"? Simply, it is an impairment of intellectual functioning or the ability of an individual to meet the standards of personal independence and social responsibility of his age and cultural group. The impairment originated before age 18, has continued and is expected to continue indefinitely.

Mental retardation, cerebral palsy, autism and epilepsy are all developmental disabilities. A mentally retarded person from childhood develops consistently at a below-average intellectual rate, experiences unusual difficulty in learning and may need assistance in daily living skills.

Three percent of the U.S. population has mental retardation to some degree — that's approximately 6.6 million people. More than 278,000 live in Michigan.

The mentally retarded are the largest group with developmental disabilities seeking group home placement. Mentally retarded people have feelings, frustrations, abilities, goals and a need to be accepted just like the rest of us. We are all in a constant state of flux and growth; we just differ in our rate and style.

It has been shown that mentally retarded individuals learn and grow at a more rapid rate when they are given the opportunity to live in a home-like setting and interact naturally with others in their community. For many, this home-like setting consists of living in a private house with five other people with similar disabilities. They, in fact, form a "family" of their own.

This is what Lois and Bob want to do, along with about 25 others in Grosse Pointe. Right now they have nowhere to go.

Next week: A look at the mentally retarded in institutions.

Looking into the future

Farms resident Thompson Stock, 86, inspects a Burroughs B 25 microcomputer at the recent grand opening of the Computing/Executive Education Center at the University of Michigan School of Business Administration. Car thefts mar record

A review of the annual crime reports of the five Grosse Pointe communities, recently covered in separate news stories in the Grosse Pointe News, reinforces our opinion that most Pointers are law-abiding citizens, but there has been a serious increase in motor vehicle thefts in recent years.

Overall, the reports show that 268 cars were reported stolen in the Pointes in 1984 as compared with 179 in 1983. The figures illustrate the fact that the Pointes have not escaped the rising epidemic of auto thefts that has plagued all parts of the nation and other areas of Michigan.

Four of the five Pointes showed auto vehicle theft increases. The Park reported the largest numerical increase, from 97 to 148; the Farms had the highest percentage increase, with a rise from 51 to 78; the City's figures rose from 14 to 20, and the Woods' thefts went up from 13 to 19. The Shores reported only three motor vehicle thefts in 1984 and but four in 1983.

In the Farms, Police Chief Robert K. Ferber said that for the second straight year, motor vehicle thefts showed the largest increase in major crime in his city. Ferber advised residents that crime prevention actions such as parking vehicles in locked garages, not leaving vehicles unattended, parking in lighted areas and other common-sense precautions will help fight auto theft, but he also called for anti-theft security systems to be built into cars by the American manufacturers.

With respect to all major crimes — a category that includes criminal homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny, motor vehicle theft and arson — the Farms showed a 4.4 percent decrease, the Park a rise of 6 percent, the Woods an increase of about 8.5 percent and City a decline of 14 percent. The Shores, which uses a different reporting system, indicated its crimes were about the same in 1984 as in 1983.

Most of the Pointes reported declines in robberies and larcenies, although burglaries did increase last year in three of the five Pointes. In all of the Pointes, there were three rapes and a single criminal homicide in 1984. Those are low figures, but there are still too many such crimes here and elsewhere.

In comparison, Michigan's larger cities — those with more than 100,000 population — showed increases last year not only in motor vehicle thefts but in forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault and arson, and declines in burglary and larceny, according to a Detroit News tabulation last Sunday.

Several factors contribute to the low crime rates in the Pointes. One is that it is a stable community. Another is that most citizens are law-abiding and, in fact, many if not most of the crimes here are committed by people from outside the Pointes. Another is the voluntary watch programs that help protect people and property in some areas. And another — perhaps the major factor — is the efficiency and competency of the Pointe police forces whose officers keep a close eye on what is happening here.

Community organizations no doubt help focus attention on crime prevention and detection, too. The newly formed Northwest Park Association, for example, complained that the Park council had not been paying sufficient attention to the so-called "cabbage patch." But the council already is in general agreement on putting more patrol cars on the streets to alleviate the problem.

Several reports called attention to specific problems. In the Woods, the report expressed concern about an increase of 11 cases, or 30 percent, in the number of narcotic offenses. While the rise could be attributed either to better arrest procedures or a larger number of young people using drugs, the police department contends it is "on top" of the situation and working with the school system to improve control measures. Most of the cases arose not from hard drugs but from marijuana use.

And in the Farms, Chief Ferber blamed lenient treatment of criminals by the state's criminal justice system for some of the increase in crime. As an example, he cited what happened to two individuals responsible for 28 burglaries in the Farms last year. They were sentenced to five to 10 years in Jackson prison but both were released after a 45-day procession period — and subsequently were arrested by other police departments for burglary and possession of stolen property. The chief makes a good point. Police cannot be blamed for crime committed by repeaters released by the courts, whatever the reasons.

It is true that the proximity of Detroit contributes to crime problems in the Pointes and that crime tends to follow the population flight from the inner city. Yet whatever the source, most of the crime in the Pointes is still in the form of crimes against property and comparatively few are crimes against the person. But crime prevention, like crime detection, requires the cooperation of alert citizens and alert police, and that is especially true in the case of motor vehicle thefts.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marian Trainor

Now that older is younger, those who reach the age of 65 have a whole new set of options to consider.

Not so long ago, age 65 and retirement were synonymous. One day you were an active and valued member of an organization. Twenty-four hours later and a day older, you were out the door. Never mind that you didn't feel any different physically or mentally. You were 65 and you were 'old.'

To add insult to injury, you were stereotyped as old by your family as well. Attitudes changed and you got the feeling that, you had not only been retired from work but from life as well. You felt as though you had been placed in custodial care. Those around you began to urge you to take life easy. They planned your day. They decided what you should eat and when.

Some retirees welcomed the release from work and responsibility. They were glad to sit back and let the world roll by.

Others fretted and fumed. They missed the patterned day of going to work in the morning and returning home at night. Then there were those who filled their time with hobbies cultivated over a lifetime.

How the time table has changed. Sixty-five is no longer regarded as being 'old' in the sense that it once was. We have added a new dimension to life's span. What was once old is now middle-age, (age 50 to 60). What was once old is now young-old (ages 65 to 75). And what was once elderly is now old (75 and older). I suppose a centenarian could be considered elderly. Actually 75 to 90 is put into that category.

This phenomenon of the growth of the older population is one of the most significant trends of the 20th and 21st centuries. In just 20 years, the 65-plus grew twice as fast as the rest of the population. By 2010, one-third will be over 55. The fastest growing segment of the population is 75-plus. Four generations of families are increasingly common as people live longer.

The lengthened life span has a significance to all segments of society which provide services. Advertisers are beginning to realize that "over 65" is a big market for products. Unlike the 'teen' market that flourished in the '50s, they have money to spend — their own.

They don't have to get it from their parents. We hear a great deal of comment about retirees who have little spendable income. This is true of those who live on Social Security but we are told also that most 'young-old' are on a par financially with their younger compatriots, largely because they have incomes from private pensions and investments.

Politicians should be particularly aware of the power of this increasingly important segment of voters. Sixty-five percent of all persons age 55 to 74 vote as compared to 52 percent of the 35 to 44 age group.

Charitable institutions owe persons age 65 and older a vote of thanks. Thirty-six percent in this age group devote time to charitable and voluntary organizations.

Educators need to recognize their importance also. They are eager and willing to learn new skills.

Witness the success of Elderhostel, an organization that has set up a series of educational programs on campuses across the country and abroad to provide an opportunity to travel and to have an educational experience.

Nor does this age group shy away from what might be thought of as primarily of interest to those who are born into it — computers. Older adults are entering the computer market. In their book, "Computers for Kids Over Sixty," authors Greg Kearsley and Mary Furlong write that "teaching seniors to be computer-literate was not significantly different than teaching any other age group about computers." They found that older adults were more interested in learning programming, word processing and budgeting. Their interest in the educational aspects of the computers fits with the national trend. A year ago; ninety percent of all software was aimed at entertainment; now fifty percent is education or home-productivity oriented.

In Menlo Park, Calif., more than 100 members of the Little House Senior Adults Community Center take computer classes. They use the computer to pursue their interest in graphics, finances, stocks and real estate.

Pioneering is not easy and that is exactly what this newly created young-old group must do. This opportunity to partake of life on an active basis is a welcome gift. It is also a challenge. The idea of older people moving into areas formerly considered to be open only to younger groups takes some getting used to. But it is happening. Hardly a day goes by that a newspaper or magazine doesn't chronicle the achievements of older persons distinguishing themselves in competitive sports or making it big as entrepreneurs. What it takes is confidence, enthusiasm and dedication.

Ordinarily, the over-60 group would not be interested in a book titled, "Go For It," by Dr. Irene C. Kassorla, a psychologist and family therapist who was voted one of the world's 10 most influential women by the University of California Panhellenic Council. The very title suggests that here is a book that would be of primary interest to readers starting out on their career. This is not so.

In her book, Dr. Kassorla discusses problems and situations that could occur at any age. She does so in a warm, friendly manner that inspires confidence in her methods. Each chapter ends with two succinctly capsulized columns that provides the reader with what makes a loser versus what makes a winner.

Ironically one of the biggest problems the young-old face is one shared by people of all ages — lack of confidence. While this is true, this attitude of self-defeat is probably more prevalent among older people. It is not surprising. For generations they have been indoctrinated with the notion that their time has past and what they do, think or say is of little consequence because they are out of touch. It is important that such inhibitions be shed if this new young-old group is to leave behind a legacy of a new lease on life to those who follow them into this realm of extended recognition of people who matter.

Dr. Kassorla can help. "You have come to a crossroad," she tells us. "You can choose between two equally compelling directions. You can choose the familiar, comfortable road or the unfamiliar which is most productive and challenging. She warns that walking the new road and trying new things will be frightening at first but gradually it, too, will become familiar and along the way you will develop new interests and skills that will make life more rewarding.

If Dr. Kassorla's book has a basic theme; it is to live positively and joyfully. "I believe that a healthy way to get your revenge with death is to truly experience every sweet moment of your life now," she writes.

For the 'young old' this is good advice. You have the time. Have the courage to do all the things you have been afraid to try.

You may not be one with the Pepsi generation, but your induction into the Geritol group has been postponed.

Meet writers at South May 1

Residents are invited to attend a Writer's Seminar Program Wednesday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m. at Grosse Pointe South High's auditorium.

The program will feature local and regional writers who will discuss their individual writing and experiences in today's viable communications market.

Following the presentation the audience will be invited to meet the writers informally at a reception in Cleminson Hall. The writers will have their published work on display. Autographed copies will be available for purchase.

The writers featured will be Jim DeWitt, former Michigan Council of Teachers of English president and poet; Jack Driscoll, former director at Interlochen Arts Academy and freelance writer and poet; Robert Lacey, author of "The Aristocrats;" Marianne Shock, romance novelist and author of "Queen's Defense" and "Worthy Opponent;" Patrick Wright, author of "On A Clear Day You Can See General Motors;" and two journalists from the Detroit Free Press.

The program is part of a three-day seminar for South students which feature presentations and workshops where the writers do readings, discuss the writing process, editing and revision and publication routings with the students.

It is sponsored by the English Department of South High under the leadership of Alma Fleming and faculty member Eva Koch. The program is funded by the Grosse Pointe South Mothers' Club.

Alzheimer workshop

The University of Michigan Institute of Gerontology, the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging and Northeast Guidance Center have scheduled a two-day workshop on "Helping Families Help Relatives with Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders." It will be held Thursday and Friday, May 2 and 3, at McGregor Memorial Conference Center, Wayne State University, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

Home care responsibilities can be made less stressful when an understanding of difficult behaviors is present. Being able to communicate effectively and create a supportive environment for the Alzheimer patient helps families cope and survive.

Registration for the workshop, which includes luncheon on both days, $48. Checks may be made payable to Northeast Guidance Center. For reservations or further information, call or write: K. Thistlethwaite, Northeast Guidance Center, 13340 E. Warren, Detroit 48215. 824-8000, ext. 285.

That trademark "Ex-Lax" was supposed to be an acronym for "excellent laxative." The makers originally wanted to call it "Bo-Bo," but another laxative manufacturer already owned that name.

I say The Friday morning invasion

More than almost anything, I love to eat. There are very few things that keep me from eating and one I can think of off hand is being in an intensive care unit. I wasn't eating last week and when Saturday night rolled around, I was ready for intensive care.

Johanna Gilbert, who has an interview show on local cable TV, decided to feature the members of our newsroom on her program. She told us she would come down and tape the show Friday, so we had all week to fret about it. Boy, did I fret.

Just because we work in one part of the media does not mean we are comfortable in dealing with another part. Besides, print journalists generally distrust broadcast journalists who do little more than look good while reading headlines and calling it news. We research and sweat over an in-depth story and then read the latest survey that says that most people get their news from TV.

And those cameras are so intrusive. Who can ignore a technician with a mini-cam mounted on his shoulder, beaming that camera with its bright lights right on you? Do you ever watch people at events that are being recorded by TV stations? The camera is pointed at them, the heat of the lights is causing them to perspire and yet they pretend it's not there.

I've done it many times, hoping my cool casualness will get my face flashed across thousands of sets on the news that night. TV has a strange seductive power when it can cause one to want to be a part of it and at the same time promote disdain.

So all week I worried about the interview Friday. And I worried about Saturday when I was scheduled to conduct a workshop for student journalists and then give a speech at the luncheon. The preparation for these worrisome events took up so much energy, it created another major worry — how could I get a paper out under these conditions?

The real kicker was that Mike Andrzejczyk, the workhorse of the newsroom, was on vacation. I thought about canceling the front page, but I didn't think the boss would go for it.

Friday came and everyone in the building knew something was up — all of the interviewees were dressed up good enough for an afternoon wedding. The comments were funny: I can't get over how nice you look. That can be translated to: If I didn't see it with my own eyes, I wouldn't have believed it.

Johanna arrived on time and her cameraman Richard came shortly after. My stomach shriveled up and the terror remained until she moved on to another person. Johanna, who projects a wonderful warmth, tried to put everyone at ease and she succeeded with everyone but me.

The next day, in my talk to the student journalists, I told them the best thing I did when I got out of school was to accept a job with a PR firm, because that experience decided me to never work in public relations.

And so the Friday experience too has decided me that newspapering is what I'm most comfortable with. The eye of the camera is too unrelenting. It takes a special person to be natural under a spotlight and it ain't me. Rut what the heck. Guess I'll survive.

National Volunteer Week salutes America's

Pauline Cleminson

Pauline Cleminson

If you look closely at Pauline Cleminson's lapel, you'll see a small gold pin with the initials GP. Inside the P is a small red heart. "Marge Nixon, volunteer coordinator for the Grosse Pointe school system, gave me this pin," Mrs. Cleminson said. "She said the initials don't stand for Grosse Pointe, but for Grand Person." That makes me feel good.

Grand person is just what the students at Trombly Elementary School feel about Mrs. Cleminson, who volunteers her time as a teacher's aide two days a week.

A former teacher herself, Mrs. Cleminson works under the direction of Elsie Onychuk, helping all the children in the class whenever or however needed.

"I work Tuesday and Thursday mornings," Mrs. Cleminson said, "and I just love it. I worked as a volunteer at Cottage Hospital for 11 years, then volunteered 400 hours of my time helping set up the South High School library. Then Marge discovered me and asked if I'd like to work in the schools. Trombly is a lovely place with a terrific principal, Sheila Joyce. She's new to the job but has wonderful ideas and dedication."

Mrs. Cleminson, who started at Trombly last September, helps the students with math, penmanship, spelling and research for papers they may be writing.

"When I first started, they didn't know who I was, just that an 'old lady' was coming," Mrs. Cleminson said. "And let's face it, a lot of them don't have much contact with old ladies. Many of their grandparents are still on the younger side. I get notes, poems, Christmas and Easter cards from them, even from the toughest little boys.

"Would I volunteer again next year? Mercy, yes, if they'll have me. I've only been helping out since September, but I'm not looking forward to school letting out in June. It's going to be a lonely summer."

Ann Young and Sarah Wikency

Sarah Wikency and Ann Young

Volunteers come in all ages. Over at the Family Life Education Center (FLEC), Sarah Wikency, 17, and Ann Young, 16, keep busy one night a week answering the calls that pour into the center's Phone-Friends program.

"Basically, Phone-Friend is a service offered to latchkey children," said Ann, a junior at Our Lady Star of the Sea High School. "It's the type of situation where both parents work and the child, or children, are alone at home. They call if they're scared, lonely or sometimes bored."

"A lot of time we get prank calls," added Sarah, also a junior at Star of the Sea. "You learn to tell the difference after a while. We can't give the kids advice or tell them what to do. We're not trained for that. All we can do is listen and ask questions. Sometimes they ask us to help with their homework."

Both students have been manning the phones at FLEC since the beginning of the school year. Their volunteer work started out as part of the requirement for passing a religion course at their school. But it soon became more important than merely a passing grade.

"I'm happy to say that I enjoy what I'm doing over at FLEC," said Ann. "It's a good place to work. We answer the phones from 3 to 5 p.m. when kids start to get out of school. It's a good atmosphere to work in. Everyone is very friendly and the attitude is casual."

"Both Ann and I intend to work at FLEC through the summer, after school lets out," Sarah said. "We hope to possibly take part in their Safe-Rides program or in the medical clinic. But only after a lot more training. You can't just walk in and act like you know what you're doing."

Both students agreed their parents were happy with their volunteer work at FLEC. "Both Sarah and I feel we're doing something important when we help somebody, no matter how small the problem," said Ann. "As an added bonus, Sarah and I have become closer friends. We've known each other for a while, but now we're really buddies."

Werner Lueckhoff

Werner Lueckhoff

For Werner "Luke" Lueckhoff, the dream came true in 1979. That was the year his Woods-Shores Little League team made it to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

"It was the thrill of a lifetime," said Lueckhoff, sitting in a den decorated with plaques and trophies. "What an honor. To be one of the top four teams in the U.S. and one of the top eight in the world. I'll never forget it."

Unfortunately, the Grosse Pointe entry was eliminated in the first round, losing a close game to a California team that lost in the finals to Taiwan.

Lueckhoff became involved with Little League in 1958 when his oldest son, then 11, joined a local team. Lueckhoff attended a few practices, just to see what it was all about, and began helping the coach. Then he was elected to the board of governors and became president of the Woods-Shores Little League in 1966.

Lueckhoff estimates the league serves perhaps 500 players a season, each season for the past 30 years. Three of the league's participants have gone into the major leagues.

"I'm still involved in coaching, although my youngest boy last played about 10 years ago," Lueckhoff said. "And I don't get paid a red cent for it. I do it because I love it. Parents call here and get mad because their child didn't make the cut-off date, or they think he or she's not being played enough. I've gotten lots of irate phone calls over the years and it can drive you right up the wall. Everyone involved with Little League is strictly a volunteer. We're not paid by the parks and recreation department, the school board or the Neighborhood Club. The only involvement we have with the cities is that they provide us with ball diamonds."

Lueckhoff is pretty proud of his involvement with the Woods-Shores Little League. They've been in the state tournament six times, winning three state titles, runner-up twice and blown out once.

"They even named a baseball diamond for me over at Ghesquire Park," Lueckhoff said. "It makes you feel pretty special when they do something like that for you."

(and Grosse Pointe's) eager helping hands

Jackie Rentenbach

You might say Jackie Rentenbach is a "volunteer's volunteer." The mother of three young children, Jackie devotes four days a week to the following activities: teaching Sunday school; serving as den mother to Brownie Troop 972; participating in the Green Circle, a human relations program that helps children learn that differences in people are all right; and BABES, an alcohol and drug abuse prevention program that is presented with a series of puppet shows promoting self-esteem, understanding feelings and developing effective coping skills for daily living.

Whew! Oh yes, husband Paul also volunteers his time as a Cub Scout leader.

"Well, I've been active with the Brownies for about a year now," Mrs. Rentenbach said. "There are 14 little girls in my group, all of them in the first, second or third grades. It's very rewarding. I feel like I'm developing a relationship with the kids. You try to teach them good citizenship and help them become an asset to themselves and the community."

Overall, she has been doing volunteer work in various groups for about 10 years. A former school teacher, she quit to devote time to her young family.

"It was kind of a tough situation," she said. "I have an educational background. I like to help people. And yet at the same time with the era of women's liberation, we feel that we want to fulfill ourselves as people."

"Again there's a conflict because children really need their mothers during their early, formative years. Volunteer work allows me to be with my children and yet still leaves me something for myself."

"I find it very fulfilling."

Jack McCarthy

Jack McCarthy is a draftee, and he's proud and happy to serve. McCarthy, a semi-retired insurance salesman, serves one day a week as patient representative at St. John Hospital.

Shuttling between two nursing stations, McCarthy is one of a group of 10 patient reps who visits the patients in their rooms and listens to any complaints or compliments they might have.

"It can include anything and everything," McCarthy said. "Housekeeping, nursing, doctors, administration and the food services. We also look for compliments, too, so we know what not to change. Any reports we receive, we write up, then pass on to the head of the department."

McCarthy found himself with time on his hands once he cut back on his insurance business, and let himself be volunteered to work at St. John's by his friends, who also did volunteer work. That was four years ago and McCarthy looks forward to his once-a-week hospital duties.

"I like the work, but it can sometimes be a bit frustrating," McCarthy said. "Some of the patient complaints are innate to their particular situations, and there's not much we can do to help."

"The most common complaints and compliments we receive here concern nursing care, and to tell the truth, 90 percent of the complaints just aren't valid. The nurses here are hard-working and wonderful. Of the other 10 percent, well, much of it isn't relevant. Some people would complain if they were in heaven."

"McCarthy's volunteer day usually begins at about 9:30 a.m. and can last until 4 p.m. Much of it depends on the number of patients he can see during an average visit.

He is sometimes responsible for the representative rights of up to 70 patients, although on an average day he will visit perhaps 45.

"Of the remainder, some are in therapy, others are sleeping or being visited by their friends or relatives," McCarthy said. "So I'll try and catch up with them the next time around."

Moonyeen Fitch

Over at Christ Church on Grosse Pointe Boulevard, they believe that when a job absolutely has to get done, the person to call upon is the one with the busiest schedule.

In most cases, the person called upon is Moonyeen Fitch. The Fitch family has been heavily involved at the church for years, with much of Moonyeen's time devoted to the church choir.

"Basically, I've been involved with the choir for 20 years now," said Mrs. Fitch. "My husband sang in it, as well as four of my children. I serve as the liaison between the choirmaster and the parents."

She makes it all sound a lot easier than it really is. She also takes care of the choir's vestments, designs costumes for the church operettas, drives the kids in the choir everywhere and also finds time to raise money for the choir via the church's one big fundraiser for the year.

Oh yes, she's also a registered nurse, mother and wife and serves on the Episcopal Church Womens Board.

"Well, I guess I do it because I love it," Mrs. Fitch said. "Maybe it goes back to my nursing background. I like helping people. I always have."

Ella C. Lewis

Ella C. Lewis may be president of the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary, but that doesn't prevent her from working as hard as the rest of the volunteers in the hospital.

"I work in the nuclear medicine department," Mrs. Lewis said. "I help the patients into their wheelchairs, then take them down for their treatments. I then help the patients up onto the table."

"I've even learned how to develop film. Although the first time I went into the darkroom by myself, I was scared to death!"

Mrs. Lewis worked as a school administrator in Detroit before she retired, then spent another three years as a special instructor at Michigan State University.

"I was up in Lansing, and really enjoyed what I was doing, but when they had a financial crunch, I was let go," she said. "I wanted to do something, so I gave Cottage a call. They saw where my background strengths were and wanted me for their education programs, but I said 'no, no, no. Enough is enough.' I wanted to help patients directly."

She's been volunteering her time on Mondays for five years now and looks forward to her duties.

"I gain so much from my volunteer work," said Mrs. Lewis. "I just want to help people. I get so many compliments on the work we do here at Cottage."

"You know, there are times I find myself driving to Cottage on a windy, icy, frigid Monday morning and I think to myself that if I was getting paid for this, I probably wouldn't have come to work today."

"But I don't get paid and there's nothing else I enjoy more than helping our patients."

Cinema League

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "Let's Go to Hawaii!", a 16mm movie by two of its founders, Pierre and Elfrieda Palmentier, when it meets in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium Monday, April 29, at 8 p.m.

The movie shows magnificent tropical scenery, exotic flowers and historical sites on the magical islands of Maui, Kauai, Oahu and the big island of Hawaii.

On Maui, once the favorite resort of Hawaiian kings, is the restored village of Lahaina, the Williamsburg of Hawaii, where as many as 500 whaling ships once rode at anchor in the harbor.

At Oahu, once the common meeting ground of the ancient kings, there are emotional views of the sunken battleship "Arizona" visible beneath the waters of Pearl Harbor, with 1,102 men still entombed, and the National Cemetery of the Pacific with the graves of 27,000 dead of World War II.

The beautiful Japanese Byodo-In Temple is filmed, and there are views of Waikiki's famous beaches, luxurious hotels and fine restaurants.

The public is invited. Admission is $1 for non-Cinema League members.

Grief support

"New Beginnings: Coming to Grips with Grief" continues to meet in support groups on alternate Wednesdays at the War Memorial. New members are welcome anytime, regardless of when their loss occurred.

People suffering from the loss of a spouse, either through death or divorce, will meet May 1, 15 and 29. Those suffering from the death of a child, parent, sibling or friend will meet on May 8 and 22. Both groups meet from 7 to 9 p.m.

The cost is $2 per session and there is no need to pre-register.

Fools in concert

The Fountain Square Fools will perform at St. Ambrose Church in the Park Friday, April 26, at 7:30 p.m. The Fools, a professional theater company from Cincinnati, are actors, mimes, musicians and dancers who dramatize biblical stories and religious themes for audiences of all ages.

They will also conduct two workshops at Shrine High School in Royal Oak April 27.

Donation for the concert is $2 at the door. For more information regarding the workshops and concert, call Gesu Church at 862-5400.

Art glass festival

An Art Glass Festival will be held at First English Lutheran Church, Vernier and Wedgewood, on Sunday, April 28 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The public is invited to walk through the church and have the art glass windows depicting various aspects of Biblical events and religious symbolism interpreted. There is no admission.

There are more than 50 windows of art glass, each with a distinctive message. It is a medium of art long used in churches and the windows at First English are among the finest in the Grosse Pointe area.

All of the glass was designed and produced by the Willet Art Glass Studio of Philadelphia. The windows have been installed over a 25-year period and were recently completed in January with a series on the family.

Members of the congregation will be available to interpret the windows. The experience is similar to visiting an art museum. Carl Lindeman will also be present to explain the composition of the windows.

Flute and strings

The Lyric Chamber Ensemble will present its "Flute and Strings" concert Sunday, April 28, at 3:30 p.m. in The Edsel & Eleanor Ford House at 1100 Lakeshore Road.

Tickets are $8 for adults and $6 for students and senior citizens. To order call 357-1111 anytime or buy tickets at the door.

Dr. Larry Power

Food and fitness

Dr. Larry Power will discuss the relationship between food and fitness and how it affects a person's well-being Friday, April 26, at the War Memorial. His talk, which begins at 7:30 p.m., will be followed by a light buffet of nutritious snacks.

Admission to this Council of Sponsors program, chaired by Mary-Louise Selover, is $5 in advance and $6 at the door.

Dr. Power is director of the Metabolic Center in Southfield and has appeared on numerous local and national talk shows. A faculty member of the Wayne State University School of Medicine, his specialty is endocrinology and metabolism.

For more information, call 881-7511.

Owls, eagles

The Grosse Pointe Audubon Society, a chapter of Michigan Audubon, will meet Monday, April 29, at 7:30 p.m. at the Moran Road home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gram.

Bob Whiling, executive director, will speak and show a film on young owls, and Mrs. George Salbert will present a slide show on eagles.

Visitors are welcome and should call 886-7439 for more information.

Spring exhibition

The Grosse Pointe Artists Association will sponsor its 47th Annual Spring Exhibition Saturday, May 4. The all-member juried exhibit will be held in the art wing of the War Memorial and begins with a reception at 6 p.m.

Categories include paintings, sculpture, drawings and mixed media. It may be viewed the evening of May 4 or from May 6 through 10.

Admission is free to all residents and their friends.

Three-day trip

Anyone who would like to get away to a resort for a while, but can't afford too much time away, can still join the War Memorial's three-day/two-night jaunt to French Lick Springs in southern Indiana.

The trip is scheduled for June 17-19, and includes roundtrip deluxe motorcoach, accommodations, most meals, all hotel taxes and tips, baggage handling, visits to the House of Clocks Museum and Kimball Piano Factory, a mini-train and survey ride and use of the resort's numerous recreational facilities.

For a brochure, call the War Memorial at 881-7511.

Fitness classes

Three fitness classes will begin the week of May 6 at the War Memorial.

Feeling Fit, for beginning exercisers, will meet with Super Shape instructor Teri Hearn on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5:45 to 6:45 p.m. starting May 6. This choreographed workout stresses safe exercise habits under professional supervision. The cost is $48 for eight weeks (16 sessions).

Pre-Natal Exercise for pregnant women will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m. under the directions of fitness expert Mary-Louise Selover. Participants who have not been exercising previously should start after their third month. A doctor's permission is required. Costs vary according to number of sessions, so registrants should call the Center for prices.

Golden Lotus instructor Betty Locke will meet to teach Yoga on Thursdays, beginning May 9, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Yoga postures are said to revitalize internal organs, awaken and purify energy centers, develop stamina, flexibility and body-mind feedback. The cost is $30 for eight weeks.

For more information, call 881-7511.

Basket workshop

Mary Herbert will offer a Melon/Egg Basket workshop at the War Memorial on Saturday, May 4, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

"If at the end of the workshop, a student can't bring him or herself to use the basket for shopping, it can always be used as a decorative piece of art," Mrs. Herbert says.

She will teach basic theories, allowing students to make other kinds of baskets in the future. Returning students will be pleased with the larger variety of materials that will be available, such as grape vines and sea grass.

The cost of this all-day workshop is $25, plus a nominal supply fee, and students are reminded to bring a sack lunch. A supply list will be furnished at the time of registration.

Hosts musical workshop

The Grosse Pointe Community Chorus, pictured above, hosted seven choruses at the annual workshop March 10. Held at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, the other participants were Fraser, New Haven, Troy, St. Clair Shores, Utica, Romeo and Madison Heights. Each chorus sang two numbers and then more than 300 voices joined in four-part harmony.

Volunteers to attend hospice symposium

Three volunteers from Bon Secours, Cottage and Saint John hospitals will attend a national hospice symposium Friday, April 26, at the Southfield Hilton in Southfield.

Volunteers Eleanor Tammela, Margaret Thompson and Diane Levick are sponsored by the Community Hospice Education Committee (CHEC) in recognition of the important contributions volunteers make in the delivery of hospice care to terminally ill patients.

CHEC was established in 1982 as a Junior League of Detroit project in cooperation with Bon Secours, Cottage and Saint John. The committee's goals are to promote greater understanding of the hospice concept and to increase the awareness of its availability in the community.

The symposium, which runs from Thursday, April 25, through Saturday, April 27, is jointly presented by Hospice of Southeastern Michigan, Georgetown University and the Michigan Hospice Organization and is open to all interested persons at a nominal charge.

In addition to the variety of lectures and workshops offered to conference participants, two free programs are planned. The public is invited to attend Thursday evening's lecture titled "Hospice and the Community" and Friday evening's program, "A Celebration of Volunteers," commemorating this week's observance of National Volunteer Week. Both programs begin at 7 p.m.

Keynote speaker for the symposium is Eric Wilkes, M.D., professor of Community Medicine, University of Sheffield, England, and medical director of St. Luke's Nursing Home Hospice in England. Inquiries about CHEC may be directed to the Community Hospice Education Committee, 159 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe Farms 48236, 884-8600 ext. 2464.

For further information about the symposium, call 539-9209 during business hours.

Health council develops self-exam program for boys

The Health Education Council will implement a pilot program this spring to teach the proper self-exam procedure for early detection of testicular cancer.

The program, under the guidance and supervision of Douglas Dascenzo, R.N., B.S.N. at St. John Hospital, will be presented to tenth grade boys at both South and North high schools.

The American Cancer Society reports that cancer of the testes — the male reproductive glands — is one of the most common cancers in men 15 to 34 years of age. It accounts for 12 percent of all cancer deaths in this group.

If discovered in the early stages, testicular cancer can be treated promptly and effectively. The best hope for early detection of testicular cancer is a simple three-minute monthly self-examination. A 16mm film describing the proper self-exam method has been purchased by the Council which will be shown to the students participating in the program.

Kolping Society seeks new members

The Catholic Kolping Society of America will hold a get-acquainted open house and membership drive on Sunday, May 5, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Kolping Center, 24409 Jefferson and 9 1/2 Mile Road in St. Clair Shores.

Founded in 1849, the Kolping Society is a multi-religious group open to everyone; and is devoted to personal development of the individual through educational, charitable, social and religious activities.

It numbers 300,000 members worldwide in 26 countries.

Brys Drive records breaking, entering

A Brys Drive resident complained to the Woods police that her home was broken into over the weekend. The resident, who lives in the 2000 block of Brys, found her house had been entered when she returned home early Sunday morning, April 21.

Responding police found the thieves had ripped open a screen door in the back of the home and then opened a glass panel door which police say was unlocked.

The resident said she always locked the door upon leaving, but police said the door could be easily opened when the lock was engaged.

The thieves used a pillowcase to escape with a maroon jewelry box that contained three gold chains valued at $600; 15 gold charms valued at $250; and gold rectangular earrings worth $100.

Police also found a clock that was kept in the living room in a pillowcase the thieves had left behind. A jar filled with loose change was emptied onto a bed.

Police believe the thieves may have been frightened off by a light timer or a ringing phone.

South to perform at Orchestra Hall

Grosse Pointe South High School's Music Department will present its ninth annual Spring Concert at Detroit's Orchestra Hall on Saturday, May 4, at 8 p.m.

The Symphony Orchestra will begin the program with Mozart's 11 Seraglio Overture, followed by Vivaldi's Autumn from The Seasons, and Finale from Symphony No. 4 by Tchaikovsky.

The Concert Choir will sing several selections including Hallelujah by Beethoven, Gloria by Vivaldi, and Neighbors Chorus by Offenbach.

Following intermission, the Symphonic Band will perform The Gallant Boulevardier by Cacavas, Kaddish by McBeth, Carmina Burana by Orff, and Shoutin' Liza Trombone by Fillmore.

Tickets may be purchased at the door, or in advance by calling 343-2140. Price for adults is $4, and senior citizens and students, $2.

CITY OF Grosse Pointe Farms MICHIGAN SUMMARY OF THE MINUTES APRIL 15, 1985

The Meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m.

Present on Roll Call: Mayor James H. Dingeman, Councilmen Joseph L. Fromm, Bruce M. Rockwell, Nancy J. Waugaman, Harry T. Echlin, Gail Kaess and Mary Anne Ghesquiere.

Those Absent Were: None.

Also Present: Mrs. Kathleen Galfagher Lewis, Counsel, Messrs., Andrew Bremer, Jr., City Manager and Richard G. Solak, City Clerk.

Mayor Dingeman presided at the Meeting.

The Minutes of the Regular Meeting which was held on March 18, 1985, were approved as submitted.

The Council adopted a resolution setting a Budget Study Session for Monday, April 29, 1985, at 7:00 p.m. and further scheduled a Public Hearing to consider the formal adoption of the General Fund Budget for Fiscal Year 1985-1986 for Monday, May 20, 1985 at 8:00 p.m.

The Council approved the request from University-Liggett School to use two tennis courts at the Farms' Pier Park on school days from 3:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., until May 20, 1985, subject to certain conditions.

The Council confirmed the emergency repair of a sewer blockage on Lakeshore Road by Salvatore Contracting Co., in an amount not to exceed $11,000.00.

The Council approved the continuation of services of Mr. Richard Graves, to operate the concession stand at the Farms' Pier Park, for a 2 year period, in accordance with the established contract, it being the determination of the Council that it would not be in the best interest of the City to solicit other bids.

The Council approved the bid of Robertson Bros., Service Co., Inc., to resurface the pools at the Farms' Pier Park at a cost of $36,242.00.

The Council approved the Statement of Attorney's Fees from the law firm of Dickinson, Wright, Moon, VanDusen & Freeman, Counsellors at Law, in the total amount of $10,832.94, for services rendered on behalf of the City.

The Council adopted a resolution honoring Miss Frances E. French on her retirement from the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

The Council adopted a resolution approving the recommended projects for inclusion within the 1985-1986 Community Development Block Grant Program, as follows:

Spot Demolition	$33,107
Economic Develop.	$40,000
Minor Home Repair	$ 8,500
Administration	$ 7,000

The Council approved the maintenance of the Mack Avenue and Lakeshore Road medians by the City's Department of Public Works to supplement the mowing done by Wayne County.

The Council approved the Preliminary Plat Approval for Subdivision of Platting of Lots 1 & 2 on Forsyth Lane subject to certain conditions

The Council scheduled a Public Hearing for Monday, May 6, 1985 at 8:00 p.m. to consider the formal adoption of the proposed amendment to the Residential Air Conditioning and Heat Pump Unit Ordinance.

Upon proper motion made, supported and carried, the Meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

Volunteers honored

Ferry Elementary School honored its parent and senior volunteers at an Appreciation Coffee April 22.

More than 125 volunteers who helped with various projects at Ferry during the year were invited and each was presented with a red, white and blue ribbon to be worn during National Volunteer Week, April 22-28.

During the coffee, Ferry's recipients of the new Parent Volunteer Pin from the Grosse Pointe Public School System were announced. The pins, which depict a child and an adult holding hands, are being presented for the first time this year to a limited number of parents who have volunteered on a continuing basis.

Receiving pins were Cindy Hahn, Carol Marks, JoAnn Enekes, Gloria Konsler, Karen McLeod, Judy Holden, Joan Lentine, Helen Finkelmann, Kathy Burlingame, Sandy Jorgensen, Linda Lloyd, Linda Redmond, Suzanne Roland, Sue Vallan and Rob Reuther.

Senior citizens who volunteered during the year at Ferry were also honored. They are Mary Bartone, Lucille Bartz, Gladys DeWaele, Florence Heath, Helene Hughes, Fernanda Hart, Helen Salbert and Frank Swetter.

Jill Snyder, from Grosse Pointe North, was presented with a certificate for her work in Mrs. Tenkel's first grade class throughout the year.

A week for volunteers

Bruce Kefgen, assistant to the superintendent, and Marge Nixon filter through the 2,500 ribbons that Grosse Pointe public schools will bestow on the system's volunteers during National Volunteer Week April 22-28. Schools throughout the system have scheduled ceremonies to thank those who donate their time and effort to supplement the education system. Mrs. Nixon is coordinator of volunteers for the school system.

Pierce to present concert

Pierce Middle School will hold its annual Spring Concert Thursday, May 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The school orchestra, including 6th-graders, and the choir will perform. The new school superintendent, Dr. John A. Whitner, will speak during a brief business meeting preceding the concert.

The school orchestra will present Accent on Strings, March for Young People, by Shostakovich, Swinging Strings, Syncopated Clock, by Anderson, and Eine Kleine Nachtmusik, by Mozart. The school choir will perform Rhythm of life, Bach-A-Rock, Music for Me, Music for You, and Song Inside Me. There will also be a selection by a small vocal ensemble.

Refreshments will be served in the school gymnasium immediately following the concert, according to the Pierce PTO.

Free enterprise is symposium focus at South

Grosse Pointe South High's second annual Economic Symposium will focus on the American free enterprise system and will be held at the school Thursday, May 2. Approximately 250 11th- and 12th-grade students will attend.

Students will view a film, "Kingdom of Mocha" which illustrates the free enterprise system, before breaking into smaller group sessions.

Sessions will be presented by the Hon. William R. Bryant Jr., who will speak on "Private Enterprise and Public Concern;" Dick Tem-kin, assistant district director of the U.S. Small Business Administration, who will speak on "Small Business and the Free Enterprise System;" Steve Waite, a Comerica-Detroit economist who will share "The Economist's View of the Free Enterprise System;" and Leo Van-hooten, union member, with Doug Selke, representing management, from the acclaimed General Motors Pontiac Fiero Plan, sharing their points of view on "The Changing Roles of Unions and Management."

The symposium is offered as part of the Enrichment Program sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Mothers' Club and is in cooperation with the Social Studies Department of South High.

Court decision won't hamper police duties

By Harriet Nolan

The recent Supreme Court decision which puts new restrictions on the amount of deadly force police can use to apprehend escaping felons shouldn't hinder officers, according to Elliott Hall, chief assistant prosecuting attorney for Wayne County.

"I'm not dissatisfied with the Tennessee vs. Garner decision and don't feel it will hamper law enforcement at all," he says. "The Supreme Court has announced that human life is more important and officers can't kill to protect property unless they're in fear of their own safety."

He says that now when an arrest is made, police will have to make a judgment based on the facts apparent to them at the time.

"It's obvious that if the person isn't armed, deadly force is not to be used," says Hall. "But if a robbery is taking place and officers come upon the scene, they can use whatever force is necessary to prevent escape."

In the Farms and the Shores, police say they're waiting for more guidelines from the prosecutor's office on the recent decision.

Shores Public Safety Director Joseph Vitale, noting his department already has a more restrictive policy for shooting felons than the state law, says, "I think the courts are bending over backward to help the criminals and are generally jeopardizing the safety of the public who keeps wondering why we can't cut crime."

Vitale says his department's policy hasn't hindered police effectiveness, and deadly force is only used as a last resort.

"I don't believe it's necessary for lesser non-violent type felonies, such as a car theft, purse snatchings (unless an assault is involved) or bad check passers," he says.

"If it's murder, or arson, or rape, I don't think the person should be allowed to escape to continue to endanger the public," he adds.

Farms Detective Mark Brecht says his department's orders state that deadly force can be used for violent crimes, such as murder, rape, robbery, felonious breaking and entering, and felonious assault which might lead to serious bodily harm or death.

Deadly force, as defined, can only be used after an officer has exhausted all other physical means of effecting an arrest, to defend himself or another person against death or bodily harm, he adds.

But Brecht notes that over the last dozen years, police training has increased and officers now know whenever they fire their guns they will have to face the consequences.

"With civil liability being what it is, an officer who uses a gun indiscriminately faces very strong sanctions civilly, if not criminal," he says.

"Personally, our department conducts an investigation on every shooting," he adds. "What the courts are telling us now is: don't believe we have the wisdom to use proper discretion when pulling our weapons."

Artist returns for reunion

Rudolf Stussi, a Toronto artist, will return to Grosse Pointe for his 20th University Liggett School reunion and two exhibitions of his work.

Stussi, who was born in Zurich, Switzerland, spent a number of years living here where he attended U.S. The reunion will be held May 3-4.

As part of an alumni art show at U.S., several of his paintings will be on exhibit.

Also Jacobson's will mount a major show of his work in its Grosse Pointe furniture galleries. The public is invited to meet the artist Thursday, May 2, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Jacobson's.

After leaving U.S., Stussi returned to Switzerland where he graduated from Swiss Lyceum, Zurich. He earned degrees in English and journalism at Carleton University in Ottawa, Canada, and studied painting at the Ontario College of Art, from which he also graduated.

Stussi has specialized in portrait painting, but his subject matter also includes landscapes and architecture. In addition to painting, he has worked on museum design projects, art-related biographical writing and some teaching.

GP High reunion

The Class of 1960, Grosse Pointe High School, will hold a 25th reunion June 22 at the Michigan Inn in Southfield.

Call Judy Cooper at 885-3505 for information.

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results!

And who can disagree? Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers

Extraordinary Guarantee
You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol if available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

$19.95 30 day supply, or $35.95 60 day supply. Order immediately by sending a check or money order to DYNALABS, 270 No. Canon Dr., Sre, 1255 (Dept. U21) Beverly Hills, CA, 90210. (Enclose your return address). Credit card holders can order by simply dialing toll free: (1-800-367-2400) 24 hrs a day, 7 days a week. Either way your order will be promptly sent. Please don't wait. You really do deserve to be thin.

CITY OF Grosse Pointe Park MICHIGAN ORDINANCE NO. 112

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 7-6(a) OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE PARK TO REQUIRE THAT A NEW CERTIFICATE OF OCCUPANCY BE OBTAINED WHEN OCCUPANCY CHANGES MORE THAN TWO YEARS AFTER THE PREVIOUS ISSUANCE OF A CERTIFICATE OF OCCUPANCY.

THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE PARK ORDAINS:

1. That section 7-6(a) of the Grosse Pointe Park City Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 7-6. Same. Additions.

"Sections PM 803.1, PM 803.2, PM 803.3 and PM 803.4 are added to the Basic Property Maintenance Code, 1981, (as adopted in section 7-1) as follows:

"(a) Section PM 803.1. Certificate of Occupancy. Conformance with Minimum Standards. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to heretofore occupy, or for any owner or agent thereof, to permit the occupation of, any dwelling or structure or part thereof, for any purpose, unless a certificate of occupancy has been issued by the building department, with respect to such dwelling or structure, under a date which is not more than two (2) years prior to the date of such occupation. The certificate of occupancy shall state that the building department has inspected the dwelling or structure and that said department has determined that the dwelling or structure may be occupied. The certificate of occupancy shall bear this legend in capital letters of boldface type:

"THIS CERTIFICATE DOES NOT CONSTITUTE ANY REPRESENTATION OR WARRANTY AS TO THE CONDITION OF THE DWELLING OR OTHER STRUCTURES ON SAID PREMISES DESCRIBED HEREIN (OR ANY ASPECT OF SUCH CONDITION), AND INTERESTED PERSONS ARE ADVISED AND ENCOURAGED TO MAKE THEIR OWN INSPECTION OF THE PREMISES IN ORDER TO DETERMINE THE CONDITION THEREOF."

2. This ordinance shall take effect on May 9, 1985.

School board candidates discuss goals

open up lines of communication to staff and community, Mrs. Marr said.

While the board needs to continually review what it is doing in all areas, the board should consider adding a media specialist to the school libraries who is trained and is conversant with computers, Anderson said.

Technology is making the computer a necessary tool and the school district has to address the need for computer education, Mrs. Pangborn said. More computers need to be made available at the schools for students to use and learn on, she added.

The candidates said their goals for the system included establishing of criteria to deal with declining enrollment, cost projections over the next five and 10 years, a commitment to better rapport and communication between the board and the community it serves, and a spreading out of quality programs across schools to achieve an equality of excellence.

Trustees are setters of policy, whose main duty is to hire the best people to run the system, the candidates said during the interview. Buechler noted that circumstances during the last school year have forced the board to take a more active role in the day-to-day work of the system, but a board's primary function is the formation of policies.

Mrs. Pangborn and Mrs. Marr said the community has to get out and get interested in the schools. All candidates said the appearance on cable television was an excellent opportunity for the area's voters to get to know what they stood for and what the issues in the coming election would be.

Strickland is top pianist at GP festival contest

David Strickland of Monroe won top honors in the 5th Annual Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival Piano Competition held at the War Memorial April 14.

He was one of three pianists who competed in the finals. The competition began with 29 entrants.

His program in the preliminary auditions was the Bach Prelude and Fugue in A Minor transcribed by Franz Liszt and Chopin's Etude No. 1 and Nocturne No. 18. In conclusion of the auditions were Laurel Brettell and Christopher Grasso. Both are students at the University of Michigan School of Music.

Among his awards is the Pro Musica award in Monroe, the Monroe County Fine Arts scholarship and a merit scholarship from Weyerhaeuser.

Jurors were Fedora Horowitz, Detroit concert pianist, Flavio Varani, artist in residence at Oakland University and concert pianist, Felix Hesnick, music director of the Grosse Pointe Symphony and member of the Detroit Symphony, and Mischa Kottler, Detroit's pianist laureate.

Manager of the competition is Alexander Suczek, founder of the Music Festival. Since Strickland is Kottler's student at Wayne, Kottler disqualified himself from the judging.

Suczek presented $200, which was contributed by private donors in Grosse Pointe, to each finalist.

As the competition winner, Strickland will receive the Michigan Foundation for the Arts award of $1,000 and he will perform at the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival July 15. He will also perform a concerto with the Grosse Pointe Symphony in the spring of 1986 and receive an additional award of $250 at that time.

The competition and Summer Music Festival are cultural events sponsored and presented by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association.

The event is made possible by a grant from the Michigan Foundation for the Arts and is open to young artists who have lived or studied in Michigan.

David Strickland

the finals, he played Beethoven Sonata No. 1, "The Wallenstein," Prokofiev Sonata No. 7 and Concerto No. 1 in F Minor by Rachmaninoff.

Strickland is currently working toward a bachelor's degree in piano performance at Wayne State University. He has studied since 1978 with Mischa Kottler.

Formerly the music director of the Prince Street Players at the Detroit Institute of Arts, Strickland has soloed on WSU's European tours, at "Nitecap with Mozart" and at the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Bartok Festival.

Register ORVs

Michigan residents who plan to take advantage of the more than 2,000 miles of the state's off-road vehicle trails this spring should be aware that as of April 30, the prior three-year registration expires and must be renewed to avoid penalties.

The cost for the three-year registration is $9 (or $3 per year) and the money is earmarked for new trail development and young people's safety classes. In addition, registration helps with theft protection and vehicle identification.

To register, mail the form received in the mail with a check for $9. New owners must take proof of ownership and proof of paid sales tax to the nearest Secretary of State office for the transaction.

Star of Sea, South High compete in state contest

Two local schools will have teams competing in the Michigan Science Olympiad Tournament Saturday, April 27, at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

The teams, from Our Lady Star of the Sea Junior High School and Grosse Pointe South High, will be among 100 teams from all parts of the state competing in 24 events such as rocketry, bridge building, anatomy and science bowl. Each team consists of 15 students.

The local teams qualified at the Wayne County Regional Science Olympiad Tournament held at the University of Michigan in Dearborn March 30.

Winners of the state tournament will then compete in the national contest May 17-18 at Michigan State University.

CHEERFUL.

That one word certainly describes Sylvia Kennedy, a coach operator out of the Wayne terminal. In fact, during her ten years of service at SEMTA, being cheerful has been just part of the job.

It isn't something you can teach. Although, in all honesty, Sylvia's cheerfulness does seem to rub off on many of her passengers and on the SEMTA people she works with every day. How does she keep so cheerful? "I just try to keep happy thoughts," says Sylvia. "But there are a lot of cheerful people here at SEMTA. We're just trying to spread it around a little bit."

Cheerful. That's Sylvia Kennedy. But she also brings other outstanding qualities to the job — just like all SEMTA people who make SEMTA the bus system that works. They're simply doing their best to be the best. As for Sylvia, she's just doing it very cheerfully.

Marijuana talk offered at Brighton
"What a Family Should Know About Marijuana" is the topic of Brighton Hospital's May 7 Community Education Program.
The free program begins at 6 p.m. with a lecture by a member of the hospital's counseling staff who works with patients who are dependent on alcohol and marijuana. Afterwards the counselor will answer questions from the audience and discuss how family members can obtain help for a loved one who is chemically dependent and for themselves.
The hospital is located on East Grand River, near exit 151 of the I-96 freeway. For more information, call 227-1211, ext. 276.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

Marnie Fessenden Ritter is coming back to town, for a May 7 through 14 series of classes at The Needle's Pointe Ltd. on Fisher Road. You remember Marnie: teacher, lecturer, judge and designer of the art form known as embroidery. While she owned her own studio in The Pointe from 1973 to 1980, Marnie taught here — and traveled across the United States and Mexico to teach for guilds and in seminars sponsored by the Embroiderers Guild of America, National Standards Council, The American Needlepoint Guild, Elsa Williams School of Needleart, The Valentine Assembly, Callaway Gardens and private needlework shops.

Her embroidery techniques include silk and metal thread, pulled thread, multi-fiber multi-technique embroidery, needlelace, needleweaving, crewel embroidery, canvas embroidery and all phases of counted thread work. Her forte is to continuously discover new and innovative ways to combine these techniques.

Each year, the spring issue of "Needlepoint News" features a story on one of Marnie's design adaptations. She has published articles in many needlework periodicals and created Group Correspondence Courses for the Embroiderers Guild of America and the American Needlepoint Guild.

She has served on the board of directors of the National Standards Council and was chairman of their "Storeroom" for four years. The Denver Art Museum's textile collection is a source for some of her adaptations, under the direction of Imelda DeGraw, textile curator, for designs knitted and sold through the museum's shop.

Marnie continues to travel and teach on a limited basis, in order to encourage the exploration of The Art Form of Embroidery for beginning as well as advanced needle-artists. She's delighted to be returning to The Pointe, looking forward to meeting old students/friends and making new ones. A display of her class pieces is on view now at The Needle's Pointe. Drop in and see what the "Marnie's coming back to town!" shouting is all about . . . or call 882-9110 for further information.

Ikebana Expert to Speak Here

Toshi Shimura, past-president of Ikebana International, is coming to town tomorrow, Friday Apr. 26, to give a lecture and demonstration at a joint meeting of three local garden clubs. The Pointe Garden Club, La Societe des Jardiniers and The Village Garden Club are co-sponsoring the presentation, which will follow a noon luncheon at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

Arrangements for this Very Special Day were made by Mrs. L. Gaylord Hulbert and Mrs. Robert G. Russell, representing the Pointe Garden Club, Mrs. Alexander Blain of the Jardiniers and Mrs. Marshall N. Noecker and Mrs. David V. Rieser of The Village Garden Club, assisted by committee members Mrs. Charles P. Lamb, Mrs. Clarence Maguire, Mrs. James L. Schueler, Mrs. John Stephens, Mrs. Robert C. Winter and Mrs. Manfred Whittingham.

Christ Church Choirs to Sing

The Men and Boys Choir of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, under the direction of D. Frederic DeHaven, and the Folk Choir of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, led by The Reverend Gregory Sammons, are going to town (Detroit) to participate in the third annual Cathedral Chapter Gaia Musicale at the Cathedral Church of St. Paul on Sunday, May 5, at 4 p.m.

The program will show how instrumental and choral music through the ages has become so much a part of church worship. Chamber music organ selections from the baroque and modern eras, men and boys choirs and spiritual singing will be featured. Concert tickets, a $6, may be purchased at the door. Proceeds will be directed to the Cathedral Chapter's Diocesan Building Endowment Fund.

'Clock Wise Cuisine' Update

Sales of "Clock Wise Cuisine," the Junior League of Detroit's new cookbook, are heading toward 10,000, as the word spreads that this is one of the neatest, most practical, most original cookbooks to come out in a long, long time. It's the cookbook that combines a theory of fun food management with the preparation of quality cuisine. Each recipe is timed, to coincide with the preparer's life style.

Here's how the system works: you choose a food category, check your available time, and select a "Quality Quickie" if you have no more than one hour to spend in toto in the kitchen, a "Terrifically Timed" if you want to prepare something special and have slightly more than an hour in which to do it, a "Delectable Delight" that needs no more than two hours of kitchen time . . . or, when you decide to throw away the clock and CREATE, a "Fantastic Feast" that's worth every bit of the considerable time you've decided, happily, to spend on it.

Special "Clock Wise Cuisine" features include an extensive herb and spice section, a list of food processing and microwave shortcuts and comprehensive substitution and equivalent tables. With Mother's Day coming up and The Wedding Season on the horizon, it's a grand gift idea at $13.95 per copy (plus tax, in Michigan), especially when you consider that all proceeds from cookbook sales are returned to the Metropolitan Detroit Community through the Junior League's projects and programs.

Information on how to order "Clock Wise Cuisine" copies can be obtained by contacting the Junior League office, 881-0040. You can even arrange to have them sent out gift-wrapped, at a small additional charge.

The Stars Are Coming!

A Shower of Stars will fall on Detroit Thursday evening, May 9, when the Michigan Cancer Foundation presents "A Tribute to Karen and Norman Fell" in the Westin Hotel's Renaissance Ballroom. Norman Fell is the veteran actor best-known for his role as Stanley Hoper in the television series "Three's Company" and "The Ropers." Karen, a

One hundred magic years for Musicale

by Ted Seemeyer

Two prominent, talented Grosse Pointe matrons are enthusiastically involved in the forthcoming 100th year celebration of Tuesday Musicale of Detroit. They are Mrs. Burl Eddy Taylor Jr., of Ridge Road, an exceptionally fine pianist, and Mrs. Eliwyn A. Gilbert, well-known contralto.

The centennial event, featuring internationally-acclaimed violinists Ani Kavafian and Ida Kavafian, former Tuesday Musicale Student League members, in their first Duo Recital Artist Concert in Michigan, will take place next Tuesday evening, Apr. 30, at 8 p.m. at the Kackham Auditorium.

Doreen Taylor, born in Chile, daughter of the late Harry L. Wessel who was Chilean Ambassador to Denmark, has been a devoted Tuesday Musicale member for many years. She is chairing the post-performance champagne reception, with assistance from co-chairman Johanna Gilbert.

Reception hostesses will be some of the Musicale's recent past-presidents, among them Mrs. Arnold W. Lungershausen, Mrs. B.H. Larsson, Mrs. Harry W. Taylor, Mrs. Kenneth S. Person, Mrs. Douglas P. MacIntosh, Mrs. Eugene T. Ignasiak and Mrs. Russell H. Skitch. Ten members of the Student League will usher.

Centennial Concert ticket categories are Centennial Benefactor ($1,000, including up to 50 reserved section tickets and the reception); Centennial Patron ($100, including four reserved section tickets and the reception); Patron ($25, covering one reserved section ticket and the reception); General Admission and Reception ($15); General Admission/Concert Only ($10); and Student General Admission/Concert Only ($5).

Reservation information can be obtained by calling 884-4931, 882-0734 or 885-6074.

Audition winners in violin. They will repeat the program of their first duo concert, in New York's Carnegie Hall in November of 1983, for Tuesday Musicale's Centennial.

Ani is a winner of the Avery Fisher Prize and the Young Concert Artists' Philip M. Fawcett String Prize. Ida's awards include first prize in the International Viana de Motta Competition and the Young Concert Artists' Michaels Award. Both have recorded separately. They have appeared on the same stages in solo performances with numerous world class orchestras, but rarely together in concert — so Tuesday's performance should be a real treat.

The New York Times has described Ani as "a virtuoso whose affinity for her instrument and its literature seems so complete as to make them inseparable." The Los Angeles Times has said of her sister, Ida, "One takes no risk in declaring her a Major Violinist."

Jonathan Feldman will be their piano accompanist here, as he was at Carnegie Hall, in the following program: Mozart's Duo for Violin and Viola in B-flat Major K 424; Moszkowski's Suite for Two Violins and Piano in G Minor, Op. 71; Takemitsu's Rocking Mirror Day-break (a Michigan premiere — the young women commissioned it, and it is dedicated to them); Prokofiev's Sonata for Two Violins, Op. 56; and Sarasate's Navarra (Danza Espagnole) for Two Violins, Op. 33.

Tuesday Musicale's current president, Mrs. Clark E. Pardee Jr. soprano, notes that "the avowed purpose of Tuesday Musicale is to develop the musical talent of its members and to stimulate musical interest in the Greater Detroit Metropolitan Area, and to introduce fine young artists.

"We are happy," she adds, "to have these two violinists return to the Detroit scene to share their great accomplishments which we have helped to bring about."

Centennial Celebration coordinator Mrs. Berj H. Haidostian, pianist, recently received a letter from the Kavafian sisters. "Who would have thought that the two little members of Tuesday Musicale's Student League from 20 years ago

Some of the items in their early Book of Rules were:

- Three Black Ball shall exclude an applicant.

- Every Active member, not prepared to take part in the program, is expected to pay a fine of 25 cents.

- Any member coming after the appointed time for beginning shall be fined 10 cents.

Finally, in 1885, the Tuesday Musicale was formally organized, with professional musicians, instrumentalists and singers of recognized merit, also admitted to membership. The Musicale's membership roster listed many members of Old Detroit Society, in three categories: Active, Associate, (listeners) and Choral.

Star performers among the Musicale's own early group included Hannah Hammond Gray, pianist, Mrs. Trowbridge, violinist, pianist and organist, and Miss Frances Sibley, violinist. Besides their own performances, the club began to sponsor concerts by visiting artists, in the Church of Our Father at Bagley and Park where the former Tuller Hotel stands.

It was a day in which mutton-chop whiskers were the piece de resistance in gentlemen's elegance, the bustle the height of fashion for ladies. The telephone was a dubious, new-fangled gadget on the wall that one cranked to ring, the motor car was still a fantastic vision and a "stubborn, honest man," a Democrat by the name of Stephen Grover Cleveland, resided in the White House for two terms: 1885-89 and 1893-97.

The heads of the Tuesday Musicale were first designated as chairmen. They were Clara Trowbridge Smith, 1885-87, Susan D. Biddle, 1887-88, Nellie Whiting, 1888-89, Susan Biddle again, 1890-92, and Mary Andrus Delano, 1892-94. Upon corporation, the Musicale's chairman became a president, with Mrs. Delano, the club's last chairman, serving as its first president, 1894-95. She was followed by Mrs. William J. Chittenden, who served as president from 1895 to 1900.

The Musicale's first printed program was issued during the 1887-88 season, on May 6. The Tuesday Musicale emblem headed a program for the first time on Oct. 21, 1890. Music by harp, mandolin and organ was programmed during the 1890-91 season. One of the stellar events sponsored by Tuesday Musicale was a Jan. 12, 1892 Tuesday afternoon performance at the Detroit Opera House; it featured the 32-year-old Polish pianist Ignace Jar, Paderewski.

Tuesday Musicale was incorporated on Oct. 22, 1895 as the result of a decision to present a regular series of Artist Concerts. In 1901, the Musicale sponsored a 23-year-old Russian pianist with the unusual name of Ossip Salomonowitsch Gabrilowitsch in his first concert in Detroit, his second in the United States; his first had been the previous evening in Philadelphia with the Philadelphia Orchestra, under Leopold Stokowski.

Gabrilowitsch later married Clara Clemens, concert singer and daughter of "Mark Twain." When the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's first conductor, Weston Gales, resigned in 1917, the choice of a successor narrowed down to two: the well-known Victor Herbert and Gabrilowitsch. Jerome H. Remick, president of the DSO at that time, favored the one with the longer name. Gabrilowitsch served as the DSO's conductor from 1918 to 1930.

During the Silver Anniversary Year of 1910, on Jan. 4 at "10:30 o'clock precisely," according to the notice, the Musicale's Third Morning Concert at the residence of Mrs. Frederick K. Stearns at the corner of Jefferson and Parker featured the talents of Miss Jennie M. Stoddard, Mrs. Winifred Scripps Ellis and Mrs. Mark B. Stevens.

Through the years, Mrs. Henry Bourne Joy opened her Albert Kahn-designed Lakeshore Road home to many of Tuesday Musicale's Musicale was instrumental in the founding of the National Federation of Music Clubs in 1910 and the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs in 1911. She was a member of the Student League membership, founded by Harriet Story Macfarlane in 1911, encouraged and stimulated serious students, ages 13 to 21, of higher-than-average performing abilities. Endowed memberships in the league were established in 1913 and awarded to competitive examination winners.

The Detroit Symphony Society had its inception in the East Jefferson Avenue home of Frances Wythes Sibley, a Tuesday Musicale member. The majority of the committee that sponsored the DSO's first concert, under Weston Gales at the Detroit Opera House on Campus Martius at 4 p.m. on Nov. 19, 1914, consisted of Tuesday Musicale officers and members.

Tuesday Musicale sponsored the Minneapolis Orchestra in the Detroit area's first orchestral concert for children, also in 1914. In 1921, at the suggestion of Mrs. George Perry Palmer, the Prize Competition for Detroit Composers was inaugurated. Among contemporary members of the Tuesday Musicale Composers Group is Pointer Mrs. John Wilbert Nelson, who composed her "Tranquillo Nobilementee Simplicite" while boating down a river in Finland.

The Winifred Scripps Ellis Scholarship was offered for the first time to a member of the Student League in 1927.

Three of the Musicale's 1885 founders, Miss Elizabeth Stridiron, Mrs. Herman Dey and Mrs. James Coslette Smith, were present at a Golden Jubilee banquet program of speakers, recital by a young violinist and dance in 1935 at the Hotel Statler. Mrs. Frank Wellington Coolidge, president, called the group to order and presented charter member Mrs. Henry Bourne Joy with a scroll naming her a life-member of the organization.

Denver home fir Campbells

Maura Lynn Reardon and Duncan MacColl Campbell exchanged marriage vows Saturday, March 2, in the Basilica of the Immaculate Conception, Denver, Colo. The Reverend Robert Fisher presided at the 2:30 o'clock ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Denver Athletic Club.

The bride, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Michael P. Reardon, of Denver, wore the dress of candlelight peau de soie, fashioned with a cathedral train, designed for her mother. The Belgian lace accenting dress and veil came from her maternal grandmother's wedding gown.

The former Miss Reardon carried a cascade of stephanotis, ivy and Sweetheart roses. She was attended by her sister, Michaela Reardon, as honor maid, and by bridesmaids Janelle Collins, of Wheatridge, Colo., KieAnn Ellington, of Littleton, Colo., Sabrina Curries, of Glendale, Ariz., Maureen Ruddy, of Nashville, Tenn., and Kathryn Warnement, of Lakewood, Colo.

The wore tea length dresses of pale blue satin and carried bouquets of carnations, with white spider chrysanthemums.

Dwight Douglas Campbell acted as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Campbell Jr., of The Farms, Ushering were Douglas Campbell III, of Darien, Conn., another brother, John Sherman Campbell, of Arlington, Tex., their cousin, Brian Reardon, the bride's brother, David Renville Townsend, a former Pointe resident who now makes his home in St. Louis, Mo., David Parker, of Denver, Kenneth Stess and Maximilian Fallner, both of Boulder, Colo., and Michael Houlehan, of Los Angeles, Calif.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom both selected tea length dresses, the former's of red silk, the latter's of green silk crepe.

The newlyweds vacationed in the California Wine Country. They are at home in Denver.

The new Mrs. Campbell attended Trinity University, San Antonio, Tex., and was graduated from Hillsdale College. She is Communications director for the Shavano Institute, Golden, Colo., and served as Youth director for the 1984 Reagan-Bush Campaign in Colorado.

Her forefathers homesteaded in downtown Denver, across the street from where the Capitol is now located. Her father, graduated in the first class from the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, is president of Cottrells, one of Denver's oldest business establishments. Her mother was appointed by President Reagan in the DACOWITS Military Commission for Women. Her grandfather was a prominent Denver businessman and attorney, specializing in mining law.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., and Colorado University, coordinated the 1984 Re-election Campaign of Senator William Armstrong for Denver County, and is a member of the Republican Steering Committee for Denver County.

His father is president of Camrose Chemicals. His paternal antecedents were early settlers in the Michigan Territory; they helped found the University of Michigan and the state's judicial system and made many of Michigan's early land and geological surveys.

His mother's forefathers were prominent Rhode Island residents and textile manufacturers, direct descendants of Sir James and Sir Peter Coats who developed their "cottage" weaving business into the manufacture of thread in Paisley, Scotland. The J. and P. Coats Thread Company was both the beginning of the Industrial Revolution's largest manufacturing operation during its early years.

Hayes-Baer troth is told

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Baer Jr., of Bloomfield Hills, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Ann Marie, to Mark Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil B. Hayes, of Kerby Road. A September wedding is planned.

Miss Baer, an alumna of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, Bloomfield Hills, holds a Bachelors degree in Economics from the University of Michigan, where she is affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority. She is an account executive for AT&T Information Systems.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Bishop Gallagher High School and the University of Michigan School of Business, is a sales representative for Xerox Learning Systems.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Klingbeil

Vows spoken in December

Grace Episcopal Church, Traverse City, founded in 1866, built with post and beam construction, was the setting Saturday, December 29, for the wedding of Carol Murray Grishaw and Frederick Taylor Klingbeil.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eugene Grishaw, of Traverse City and Nokomis, Fla., wore an heirloom gown of ivory satin, styled with a Chantilly lace yoke, its Edwardian lines accented with applique detailing, its gored skirt flaring into a circular train cascading from a soft, shirred bustle.

A queen's coronet of pleated satin twisted with strands of seed pearls held her veil. She was attended by her sister, Jane Grishaw, of East Lansing, as honor maid, and by bridesmaids Lynn Brown, of Traverse City, and Penne Milliken, of Palo Alto, Calif., in tea length dresses, sapphire blue in color, carrying arrangements of rubrum lilies, pink miniature carnations and ivy.

William H. Klingbeil Jr., of Davison, acted as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Hayward Klingbeil, of Hawthorne Road, Peter F. Murphy, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Edward Shaw, of Chicago, David Watkins, of Brevard, N.C., and Ben Warren, of San Francisco, ushered.

The 11:30 o'clock ceremony in the quaint, frame church, The Reverend Thomas Stoll presiding, was followed by a reception and sit-down luncheon at Bowers Harbor Inn. After a vacation at Toronto and Niagara-on-the-Lake, the newlyweds are at home in Ann Arbor.

The new Mrs. Klingbeil teaches Pediatric Nursing at the University of Michigan School of Nursing. Her husband, presently employed by the Detroit Council of the Boy Scouts of America, will be entering medical school in September.

See Precious Legacy at DIA

"The Precious Legacy: Judaic Treasures from the Czechoslovak State Collections" is on view now through Sunday, May 5, in its exclusive midwest appearance at the Detroit Institute of Arts, where its presentation is made possible by the museum's Founders Society with the assistance of the Jewish Welfare Federation of Detroit through the United Jewish Charities.

Admission is by timed ticket only, with entry every half-hour Tuesday through Sunday between 9:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Visitors may remain in the exhibition as long as they wish, until 5:30 p.m.

Special extended evening hours are in effect on Wednesdays and Thursdays, from 4:30 to 8 p.m., with the exhibition remaining open until 9:30 p.m., for a $1 surcharge on daytime ticket prices.

Tickets are available only from the DIA Exhibition Ticket Office at $3.25 for adults, $2.25 for seniors and students with ID. The exhibit is free to Founders Society members and children under 12 accompanied by an adult. As usual, there is no admission charge to the museum.

"The Precious Legacy" was organized by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service following 15 years of negotiations with the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic. It is a monumental exhibition: a treasure of Jewish culture and religious objects drawn from one of the largest and most significant collections of Judaica in the world and representing the oldest continuous Jewish community in Europe.

Christ Church ECW Special Projects Fund benefit slated

Reservations are being accepted now for a very special spring luncheon and fashion show on Wednesday, May 22, at the Country Club of Detroit. It's a benefit for the Special Projects Fund of the Episcopal Churchwomen of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, which, over the past five years, has contributed more than $46,000 to a variety of organizations.

Christ Church ECW Special Projects Fund funds have gone to People in Faith United (PIFU) and the Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice, to Camps Hollow and Happy Holiday, to the Family Life Education Council (FLEC) and Services for Older Citizens (SOC).

They have helped fight Alzheimer's Disease. They have supported the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan School of Theology, the National Cathedral Association, St. Christopher's, Mariners' Inn, Crossroads, various other Episcopal charities and Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, itself.

The mid-May benefit will feature fashions from Jacobson's modeled by Christ Church members Karen Knudson, Carol Cove, Edie Jacques, Carrie Jacques, Nancy Gard, Julie Henkel, Ben Daume, Cal Wor-

Table centerpieces will be hand-made silk floral arrangements individually created and contributed by Design Detroit Interiors, located on Kercheval Avenue in Grosse Pointe. They will be for sale, with net proceeds going to the ECW.

Benefit tickets are $25 per person, tax deductible. Reservations chairman Jeanne Smith may be reached at 885-2592. Valet parking will be available. Inside the club, the Bill Gaff Trio will provide background music.

The fun begins at 11:30 a.m., with a hospitality hour. Luncheon will be served at noon, and the fashion show, with commentary by Jacobson's Judy Simonds, a member of the Christ Church congregation, will follow.

Committee members in addition to those previously mentioned include Pat Worrell, Rosalie Moore and Aileen Kurtz, in charge of publicity, and Gail Weber, club liaison. Betsy Boynton is general chairman. Julie Sutton is in charge of models and posters. Pat Hawkins is the current Christ Church ECW president.

Mutter makes a DSO debut

Anne-Sophie Mutter joins conductor Gunther Herbig and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in concerts Thursday, Apr. 25, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, Apr. 27, at 8:30 p.m. in Ford Auditorium, and Friday, Apr. 26, at 8 p.m. in Orchestra Hall.

She will perform the Mozart Violin Concerto No. 5 in A Major in her DSO debut. The concerts open with Brahms' Tragic Overture and will conclude with Shostakovich' Symphony No. 5.

Mutter, a native of West Germany, began her professional career in 1977 with her Berlin Philharmonic debut at age 14 under Herbert von Karajan. Since then, she has performed with leading orchestras throughout the world.

Tickets for the concerts, ranging in price from $10 to $19 for the Ford Auditorium program, and $10 to $25 for the program at Orchestra Hall, are available at the Ford Auditorium box office, 567-1400, Hudson's and CTC/Ticket World outlets.

Tickets for the Orchestra Hall concert are also available at the Orchestra Hall box office, 833-3700. Discounts for groups of 10 or more are available by calling 446-0909.

To tour Polish sites in Detroit

Art of Poland Associates will celebrate the Centennial of the Detroit Institute of Arts and Polish Constitution Day (May 3, 1791) with a 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Tour of Polish Historical Sites in Detroit on Saturday, May 4.

The guided bus tour departs from the Detroit Science Center parking lot, passing the DIA, the Nicolaus Copernicus monument and the Detroit Public Library, with its extensive resources on Polish history and genealogy, en route to the oldest Polish churches on the East Side of Detroit: St. Josephat, Sweetest Heart of Mary, St. Hyacinth (wherea Polish luncheon will be served) and St. Stanislaus. Elmwood Cemetery will also be visited.

Upon return to the University/Cultural Center, tour participants may visit the DIA's Polish Art Gallery. Tickets for the day, at $15 general admission (including lunch), $14 for Founders Society members, senior citizens and students with ID, $12.50 for Art of Poland Associates members, may be reserved by calling 352-1968 or 886-7425.

Sigma Alpha Iota concert is May 5

The Pontchartrain Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota international music fraternity for women will present an Artist's Recital on Sunday, May 5, at 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, featuring nine Fraternity members performing works of Liszt, Chopin, Holst, Mozart, Verdi, Puccini, Debussy and Kabalevsky.

Grosse Pointers Doris Pagel and Agnes Ricard, active members of Tuesday Musicales of Detroit and the Four Octave Club, will sing duets from "Madame Butterfly" and "The Marriage of Figaro." Bettejane Crossen, a former Pointer now residing in Ann Arbor, will play Chopin's Ballade, Op. 52. Mrs. Crossen, also an active member of Tuesday Musicales and the Four Octave Club, presented a solo program in Grosse Pointe in early March.

Another active Tuesday Musicales performer, Elsie Watson, will play Debussy's "Deux Arabesques." Elaine Verseyer, pianist, of The Shores, Norma Franek and Lucia Kaperzinski, duo pianists, of Royal Oak, Eileen Brown, pianist, and Elizabeth Roberts, voice, of East Detroit, will also perform.

Both the annual recital concert and the afterglow following it are open to the public.

Bazaar at School for Deaf April 30

Doors open at 10:30 a.m. next Tuesday, Apr. 30, on the Lutheran Ladies' Auxiliary for the Deaf spring bazaar in the gym of the Lutheran School for the Deaf, located on East Nevada in Detroit. A noon luncheon will be served.

Handmade items, baked goods, new and used jewelry, greeting cards, houseplants, attic treasures and mystery packages will be among items offered at this largest fund-raising activity of the auxiliary's year. Proceeds help raise the auxiliary's annual commitment of $6,000 for School for the Deaf scholarships.

DSO features Cho-Liang Lin

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra begins its May concerts with violin soloist Cho-Liang Lin and Music Director Gunther Herbig in concerts at Ford Auditorium next Thursday, May 2, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, May 4, at 8:30 p.m. Works by Barber, Bruch and Schubert are scheduled for performance. Tickets, ranging in price from $10 to $19, are available at the Ford Auditorium box office, 567-1400, Hudson's and CTC/Ticket World outlets. Information on discount rates for groups of 10 or more may be obtained by calling 446-9909.

Luncheon meeting for Josiah Harmar

The General Josiah Harmar Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet for luncheon at noon next Saturday, Apr. 27, in the Detroit home of Mrs. Walton M. Chalmers who will be assisted by Mrs. Ruth Banks Clarke and Mrs. Douglas Collins. Mrs. Harry Young, of Fruitport, just back from the National Society DAR's 94th Continental Congress in Washington, D.C., will speak on "Continental Congress: The Integrity of Principle." Mrs. Jack Blom, Josiah Harmar's regent and its delegate to the congress, and Mrs. John S. Buchanan, alternate delegate, will also present reports.

International honorees

A special patron reception at 6:30 p.m. this Sunday, Apr. 28, at Northland Center, prior to the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit's 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. International Dance Festival, will honor several metropolitan area couples for their dedication to ethnicity and international understanding. Among the honorees are Grosse Pointe's DR. and MRS. KIM K. LIE, who support numerous non-profit organizations and are active in many cultural activities. Both Kim and Mado serve on Michigan Opera Theatre's board of trustees. Mado is a past Heart of Gold recipient for her volunteer work. Her current commitments include the presidencies of the Children's Hospital of Michigan Auxiliary and the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe. Tickets to the reception are $30, including admission to the Dance Festival following; proceeds will help support the International Institute's newest project, "The Ethnic Connection," a network of assistance for isolated foreign-born senior citizens. Tickets to the festival only are $12.50, including wine, food, entertainment and valet parking. Pointers serving on the festival patron committee are Mr. and Mrs. Bogdan Baynert, Frederick Currier, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Germack Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Kappaz and Mrs. and Mrs. William J. Targett. Additional information may be obtained by calling 871-8600 during business hours.

Fort Pontchartrain DAR meets at DBC

Mrs. Bernard L. Seitz, regent, will preside at a noon luncheon meeting of the Fort Pontchartrain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on Friday, Apr. 26, at the Detroit Boat Club.

The program will feature reports on the DAR Continental Congress, held in mid-April in Washington, D.C., and annual reports by chapter officers and committee chairmen. An 11 a.m. board meeting will precede the luncheon for which Mrs. Seitz and Mrs. Leonard Jensen are accepting reservations.

Attending from the Pointe area will be the Mesdames Robert Brines, Gordon N. Cameron, Robert Callaway, Paul Honderick, George F. Killen, Edwin Langtry, Frank S. McKinnon, Frederick McNamara, Charles Ross, Frederick Sehelter and Joseph Thomas, Mrs. Seitz and Mrs. Jensen.

Methodist Church to host May sale

A rummage sale will run from 8:30 to 11 a.m. ONLY next Thursday, May 2, at Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church, located on Moross Road in The Farms.

Ginger Hawkins, daughter of Mrs. Mabel Hawkins, of Beaconsfield Avenue, received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Music Education from Hope College in December.

Take a Tulip Festival trip

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial's annual Tulip Festival trip to Holland, Mich., is scheduled for Thursday, May 16, via bus departing from the War Memorial at 7:30 a.m. and returning at 11 p.m.

In order to take in different events, the War Memorial purposefully did not schedule this year's trip for opening day. Participants in the '85 Tulip Festival tour will view the Children's Costume Parade from reserved bleacher seats.

For the festival, each Holland District school is given a special theme (cheeses, flowers, costumes, e.g.) — then it's up to the children and their teachers to creatively interpret that theme for the parade.

The tour will also visit Dutch Village, which authentically recreates a small Dutch town and lifestyle of 100 years ago via canals, gardens, craft shops and costumed dancers who perform the klompen in wooden shoes. After a leisurely picnic lunch it's on to the Tulip Lanes, eight miles of blooming color, and Tulip Time Market, where local craftsmen demonstrate and display their art.

Dinner will be served at Point

West Restaurant on Lake Macatawa before the travelers board their bays for the trip back to The Pointe.

Cost is $60 per person, including transportation, all activities, a box lunch and dinner. Travelers should wear comfortable shoes and bring their cameras. Advance reservations are suggested, as the Tulip Time tour is VERY popular, and reservations are limited.

Further information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Metropolitan Rose Society will meet

Frank Von Koss will present a slide program on old-fashioned and shrub roses which bloom only in the spring, usually in June (hence, long before the hybrid tea roses of today became popular, June was known as "The Month of Roses"), at the Metropolitan Rose Society's meeting Sunday, May 5, at 2 p.m. at Olivet Evangelical Church, located on Van Dyke near East Outer Drive.

A question-and-answer period will follow his presentation, which is free and open to the public.

Pointe setting for MOVA Conference

See 'Crucifer' at Bonstelle

"The Crucifer of Blood," Paul Giovanni's new Sherlock Holmes mystery, opens at Wayne State University's Bonstelle Theatre Friday, Apr. 26, and will run there through May 5. Performances are at 8 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, at 2 p.m. on Sundays. The cast includes Woods resident Jeffrey Hedeon.

Tickets and schedule information may be obtained by calling the WSU Theatres box office, 577-2960. Group sales information is available at 577-3010.

A lace-y day for Fox Creek

Mrs. Arthur Batten will be hostess for the Fox Creek Chapter of Questers' meeting next Thursday, May 2, at her home on Hillcrest Lane. Co-hostess for the 12:30 p.m. gathering is Mrs. Richard Noyes. Ellen Probert will present the program, on "Lace."

Final concert for the Civic

Sixteen-year-old cellist Brinton Smith, a senior at Arizona State University (in 1979, he received nationwide attention as the youngest student ever admitted to Arizona State), will solo with the Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra in its final concert of the season this Sunday, Apr. 28, at 3:30 p.m. in Ford Auditorium.

Conductors will be Michael Krajewski and Joseph Striplin, Civic Orchestra music director and associate conductor, respectively. Works by Wagner, Schickel, Tchaikovsky, Colgrass and Borodin will be performed.

Lakeside Palette Club slates show

Lakeside Palette Club will present its 38th annual art exhibit Apr. 26 through 28, Friday through Sunday, at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena. The show will be open to the public from 6 to 9 p.m. Friday, from noon to 9 p.m. Saturday, when prizes and awards will be presented at 8 p.m., during an artists' reception, and from noon to 7 p.m. Sunday.

Co-chairmen of the exhibit are Cassie Bobowski and Lily Marcaccio. The show will be juried by Elizabeth Dulmage. Lakeside din will be performed. Tickets at $4 general admission, $3 for students and senior citizens, are available at the Ford Auditorium box office, 567-1400, Hudson's and CTC/Ticket World outlets.

Membership in the Civic Orchestra, founded in 1983 to provide advanced training for career-oriented musicians, is open to any musician who is seriously interested in receiving professional career training. Special emphasis is placed on discovering and developing the talents of minority musicians.

Palette Club, founded Feb. 3, 1947, by 10 artists, now has a membership of more than 100.

The club's purpose has always been to foster community interest, knowledge and appreciation of arts and cultural heritage, its objective to encourage members to paint and study together and to stimulate and promote interest in creative art. Its programs feature demonstrations of painting techniques by known artists, lectures and critiques of members' work.

Dance Slimnastics series starts April 29

Dance Slimnastics Ltd., a non-profit aerobic fitness club, offers area residents the opportunity to shape up for spring in a seven-week series of aerobic dance classes scheduled to begin the week of Apr. 29.

Sitter service is available for classes meeting Mondays and Wednesdays at 9:30 a.m. and Mondays and Thursdays at 4 p.m. at Christ the King Lutheran Church, located on Mack Avenue, and Tuesdays and Fridays at 9:30 a.m. at First Lutheran Church, Detroit.

Classes will also meet at 6:45 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Christ the King and on Mondays and Wednesdays at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church. An Easy Fit class meets Mondays and Wednesdays at 7 p.m. at the JFK Library in Harper Woods.

The "New Attitude" spring session gives fitness-minded individuals the chance to work out aerobically as many times per week as desired, for, under the club's unique Free Class Option, members can attend class as many times per week as they wish. The class fee covers the cost of two one-hour sessions per week, plus an unlimited number of additional sessions at no extra cost.

No previous dance or athletic experience is necessary. A non-competitive spirit prevails, with members encouraged to exercise and dance at levels they find comfortable. Each class begins with a series of calisthenic floorwork routines done to upbeat music. These toning exercises concentrate on the waist, hips and thighs and are followed by easily-learned dance routines set to a variety of musical tempos, ending with cool-down exercises. Class tapes are available for rental, allowing students additional workouts at their convenience.

Further information on the Dance Slimnastics program may be obtained by calling 886 7534 or 885-0515.

Magic years for Musicale

play for the Tuesday Musicale's Pearl Anniversary Frolic on Apr. 2, 1946 at The Players Playhouse on East Jefferson Avenue. One of its scenes depicted the living room in the Luther Trowbridge home on a September afternoon in 1885, with 12 Student League members enacting the parts of the founders. That same year, the Tuesday Musicale's Artist Concert featured the Detroit debut of Chilean pianist Claudio Arrau.

In 1948, Tuesday Musicale organized the Detroit Women's Symphony Orchestra, which gave its debut performance on May 7 in the Rackham Auditorium with Musicale Active member Gizi Szanto as soloist, Victor Kolar conducting.

The roster of famous artists who have appeared for Tuesday Musicale over the past 100 years ranges from Madame Schumann-Heinck to Joseph and Hosine Lhevinne, from Fritz Kreisler to Ruth Laredo. The Musicale has traveled through the gears from members' homes to churches and hotels to its present home, the Detroit Institute of Arts, now celebrating its own 100th anniversary.

Tuesday Musicale presents its members in 10 morning recitals each season in the DIA's Lecture Hall. Additional activities and projects include the Annual Artist Concert, the Annual Gladys Simmons Piano Master Class, the Student Internationally-acclaimed violinists Ani Kavafian and Ida Kavafian, former members of the Tuesday Musicale Student League, are returning to Detroit to perform the Musicale's Centennial Concert.

League, a Choral Ensemble which has performed a number of operas, and regional workshops for Active and Associate members.

The Musicale contributes to music scholarship funds at Wayne State University, the Detroit Community Music School and Oakland University, as well as Student League scholarships. Its major philanthropy is two $1,000 awards to the University of Michigan School of Music. It also supports the DSO, Michigan Opera Theatre, Orchestra Hall, the Meadow Brook Music Series and various other area musical organizations.

Members also volunteer their services to perform music in hospitals and nursing homes.

Pointers currently serving as Tuesday Musicale officers are Mrs. George Peterson, second vice-president, and Mrs. Philip Dexter, editor of "Keynotes." Long-time Pointer resident Mrs. Robert J. Crossen, who moved recently to Ann Arbor, is the Musicale's treasurer. Among those serving on the board of directors are Pointers Mrs. John F. Dolan and Mrs. Robert Shover.

Proceeds from the Centennial Concert will be used for archival and historical research on Tuesday Musicale and its role in the promotion of music on the local, state and national levels.

'Happy Days' for Phase I

Remember the "mashed potato," "the pony," "the twist" — all those dances and all that music of the '50s and '60s? Disc jockey Jim Segadi will spin the records as members of Phase I, the single, young adults, ages 25 to 40, who gather regularly for Sunday evening programs at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, revive an era at their "Happy Days" dance this Sunday, Apr. 28, at 7:45 p.m. Admission is $3 for all Phase I dance nights.

Other upcoming Phase I activities include a Volleyball and Game Night tomorrow, Friday, Apr. 26, at 7:30 p.m. at the church. Non-athletes are invited to bring their favorite card or board games. Play ends about 10 p.m.; snack time at a nearby spot will complete the evening.

Plan Scandinavian Symphony concert

The Scandinavian Symphony Orchestra, Douglas Morrison conducting, will present an all-orchestral program Saturday, Apr. 27, at 8 p.m. in the Southfield High School Auditorium on Lahser Road.

Featured will be Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5 in E minor, Rimsky-Korsakov's Russian Easter Overture, Borodin's "Steppe of Central Asia" and Glinka's "Russian and Ludmilla" Overture, plus the Scandinavian Symphony's traditional Flag Ceremony: a presentation of the flags and national anthems of the Scandinavian countries.

Tickets at $5 per person ($4.50 for senior citizens; $2.50 for children under 12) will be available at the door or may be reserved in advance by calling 535-1330, 645-0379 or 261-7184.

Progressive Artists convene April 24

Madaline Long gave a watercolor demonstration at the Progressive Artists' Club meeting last Wednesday, Apr. 24, at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Non-members were welcome, for a $1 donation.

Short and to the Pointe

1974 Grosse Pointe South High School graduate Myra Wilson Cehula participated in the Iditarod Trail Sled Dog Race from Anchorage to Nome, Alaska, recently. She received her Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from Michigan State University in 1981 and was one of two vets who volunteered their services maintaining health care checks for dogs in the 1,177-mile race. She works at the College Village Animal Clinic in Anchorage and is married to fellow South High and MSU graduate Jim Cehula.

Garnet Palmer, of The Farms, has been initiated into the University of Southern Mississippi chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta, a national scholastic honorary society for freshmen.

Gretchen Nitzsche, daughter of Arthur and Mary Jo Nitzsche, of Lakeland Avenue, was initiated into the Beta Tau chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta national fraternity for women at Denison University on March 9.

Terri Lynn Yeomans, daughter of Robert and Sandra Yeomans, of Hunt Club Drive, was named to the President's List for the winter term at Northwood Institute, where she is a sophomore majoring in computer science. Terri, a 1983 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, earned a 4.0 average.

Phil Leon, of Lakeshore Road, and teammates Jim Becker and Judy Tucker, of New York, N.Y., and Joan Remy, of Southfield, tied for fourth place in a one-day regional Swiss Teams competition in the American Contract Bridge League's 1985 Spring North American Championship tournament in Montreal, Quebec.

John T. McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. McLean, of Kensington Avenue, was named to the Dean's List for the fall semester at Berklee College of Music, where he is a professional music major.

Own a piece of The Hall

A limited edition of 100 plaster reliefs by Oscar Graves, commemorating the restoration of Orchestra Hall's exterior, has been issued. The reliefs measuring 37½ by 24½ inches, each signed and numbered by the artist, are handmade from molds used during the actual restoration process and depict the ancient deity associated with the arts.

They are offered for $100 each, representing a tax-deductible contribution to Orchestra Hall, and may be reserved by calling 833-3362 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Orchestra Hall was saved from demolition in 1970, by a group known as Save Orchestra Hall, and Graves, an architectural sculpture expert trained at the Cranbrook Academy of Fine Arts, was engaged to restore the intricate plaster reliefs and sculpture which bore the brunt of the hall's deterioration.

A team of experts had said the work couldn't be done. Graves proved the experts wrong; his beautifully detailed repaired or reproduced decorative plaster work is now the visual highlight of the acoustically-perfect concert hall.

Herb Symposium set for late April

The Southern Michigan Unit of The Herb Society of America's Second Herb Symposium will run from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Apr. 27, at the Wayne County Extension and Educational Center on Venoy Road in Wayne. Cost for the day, including luncheon, is $25. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 879-1942.

Keynote speaker will be Rosemary Foster Loudon who, with her mother Gertrude B. Foster, co-authored the best-selling "Parks Success with Herbs" which many growers consider THE reference tool for growing and using herbs. A unique feature of this book is photographs of both seedlings and mature plants for identification.

Mrs. Loudon, who contributed the garden planning and culinary portions of the book, is culinary editor of "The Herb Grower Magazine" and has been published in "Flower and Garden" and "Taste" magazines. She will give two lectures: Advanced Herb Garden Design and Cooking with Herbs — A Different Approach.

Other symposium speakers will be Dr. James R. Wells, botanist at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, who will speak on "The History and Uses of Herbariums" and Judy Cornellier, lecturer and teacher of herbal crafts, whose topic is "The Victorian Woman's Herbs: Her Influence, Our Heritage."

Southern Michigan became the 13th unit of The Herb Society of America in March of 1969 and donated the culinary portion of the National Herb Garden located in the National Arboretum, Washington, D.C. It planned, planted and maintains the formal kitchen and herb gardens at Cranbrook.

This 50-member group, dedicated to the society's national theme of growing herbs "for use and delight," also supports a scholarship fund and a speakers bureau as well as the symposium, an annual event which brings nationally-known herb experts to the area to share information with interested persons in southeastern Michigan.

Pointer of Interest

by Janet Mueller

"She's the flower lady," says Marilyn Gushee, nodding toward her good friend Liz Kuhlman. "I do all the other parts." Their project is Art and Flowers: A Festival of Spring, which will bloom throughout the Detroit Institute of Arts May 7 through 10 as part — a big part! — of the museum's Centennial Celebration.

Marilyn is general chairman of Art and Flowers. Liz is garden club coordinator and guest lecturer chairman. They've been working together at the DIA for five or six years now, ever since Marilyn was asked to be decorations chairman for the museum's Volunteer Committee. She agreed . . . and immediately thought, "I have to have help" — and immediately thought of Liz.

Liz is into flowers, active on the board of the Federated Gardens Clubs of Michigan, Eastern Area Chairman of the Federated Clubs' District One.

"Each year," says Marilyn, "the Volunteer Committee sponsors a trip." The year before Marilyn became decorations chairman, the DIA's Volunteers traveled to Boston where Art in Bloom filled the museum with living beauty, complementing the beauty of the works of art displayed there.

Art in Bloom was a major project. Marilyn and Liz were neophytes at decorating the DIA. "We can't do something like that," they said. "It's too BIG!" But a few years later, when plans for the DIA's '85 Centennial were beginning to be made, when the Mesdames Gushee and Kuhlman were veteran DIA decorators, when Marilyn was asked to represent the Volunteer Committee on the museum's Centennial Committee, she remembered Boston's Art in Bloom.

AND SHE THOUGHT: wouldn't an Art and Flowers Festival be a wonderful DIA Centennial project? And she thought: given enough cooperation, and enough time, we could bring it off. And she thought: in order to bring it off, we have to involve as many groups and individuals as we can. And she set out to do just that.

The Volunteer Committee invited other volunteer organizations within the tri-county area to a "What Do You Think of an Art and Flowers Festival?" meeting. The one thing all the other volunteer organizations agreed on was that it was a wonderful idea.

"Then we went to the museum's Women's Committee and Activities Committee." They, too, thought it was a wonderful idea. "Then we went to the Federated Garden Clubs." Asking: could their members create flower arrangements to complement 50 of the Masterworks selected from "100 Masterworks from the Permanent Collections of Liz Kuhlman (left) and Marilyn Gushee invite everyone to come down to the Detroit Institute of Arts May 5 through 10 for "Art and Flowers: A Festival of Spring," a celebration of the museum's Centennial Year.

The Detroit Institute of Arts, a DIA Centennial presentation?

And, as Detroit had no major flower show, could a Standard Flower Show be held at the same time?

Thus the inception of Art and Flowers, the first joint project of the DIA's Volunteer, Women's and Activities Committees, with a combined membership of 600, in conjunction with the 7,000 members of 250 affiliates of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan. More than 10,000 visitors are expected to view the exhibit during the festival.

All proceeds from Art and Flowers will benefit the programming and operations of the museum's Founders Society, with particular emphasis on special exhibitions, conservation services and the DIA's Education and Publication Departments. But Marilyn and Liz emphasize that the primary purpose of the festival is not fund-raising.

"WE WANT TO GET people down to the museum. We want to attract people who have never visited the DIA before. We want to show them what they've been missing, to get them into the HABIT of going . . ."

So, although daily packages including lectures and demonstrations with national horticulture experts, a luncheon and fashion show by Jacobson's, are offered by reservation at $25 per day May 8, 9 and 10, Marilyn and Liz emphasize that the festival itself is free.

Throughout the three-day period, the public is invited to tour the arrangements and Masterworks, the Standard Flower Show and a variety of special exhibits, including "A World of Geraniums," "Bonsai," "Live Michigan Wildflowers," and "Orchids Around the World," plus the Michigan Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association's spring planting and spring garden display at the museum's Farnsworth entrance.

Trained docents will lead free Flower Walks during the festival. Also free is the Celebrity Invitational Flower Show in the museum's Great Hall. More than 90 leading Michigan personalities representing the worlds of business, politics, media, art and sports, from General Motors Chairman Roger Smith to singer Aretha Franklin to Tigers owner Tom Monaghan, are participating.

All Standard Flower Shows are composed of three divisions: Design, Horticulture and Educational Exhibits. The Design Division includes arrangements of cut flowers and other plant material displayed in niches or on pedestals and tables. Art and Flowers' Design Division has 10 separate classes, each of which includes four entries, selected for their relativity to the museum setting. Only members of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan may enter this division.

BUT THE PUBLIC is welcome and ENCOURAGED to enter specimen blooms, cut foliage, container-grown plants, even fruits and vegetables in the Horticulture Division. Classes in this division range from Flowering Branches to African Violets. All entries must have been grown by the exhibitor. Information on how to enter Art and Flowers' Horticulture Division may be obtained by calling 833-7969.

Judging for awards in the Design and Horticulture Divisions, based on a point scoring system established by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, will take place Wednesday morning, May 8. The Educational Exhibits, which may be as extensive or simple as the sponsoring organization desires but must in some way enlighten the public on an aspect of plant care, conservation, preservation of endangered species, et al., are not judged.

The prizes in the Art and Flowers' raffle (minimum value per prize: $400) will be on display in the museum's South Court during the festival. Why a raffle? "We had to raise money to put on the festival," Liz and Marilyn explain. The official festival poster, Rubrum Lilies, selected from more than 150 entries by Michigan artists in a contest sponsored by the Automobile Club of Michigan, will be available in the museum's Sales and Rental Gallery for $10 unframed, $60 signed and framed.

The poster contest finalist entries comprise a traveling show which is now touring the tri-county area to promote Art and Flowers.

The festival officially begins Tuesday, May 7, with a 6 to 9 p.m. preview party. Tickets, at $30 per person, include cocktails in the museum's galleries, a buffet supper, tours of the floral masterpieces, special exhibits, music, informal modeling by Jacobson's and a chance to rub shoulders with some of the celebrities who have created their own arrangements for Art and Flowers.

And with Marilyn Gushee and Liz Kuhlman, who can hardly wait to see the project they planted more than two years ago, tended, watered and nurtured, burst into bloom. "We're putting together an excellent program book. We have bus groups coming in from as far away as Muskegon. We think — we know! — Art and Flowers will be something very special."

So special that you'll be especially sorry if you miss it. So take Marilyn's and Liz's and my advice — and go!

Information on Art and Flowers Preview Party tickets can be obtained by calling the Founders Society Development Department, 833-7969.

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial is sponsoring a special Art and Flowers day trip on Thursday, May 9. The bus will leave the War Memorial at 9:30 a.m., returning at 2:30 p.m. Cost is $15 per person, including transportation, lunch at the Scarab Club and a guided tour of the floral exhibitions. Reservations may be made by calling 881-7511.

Young Edison at Youtheatre

New York's Theatreworks U.S.A. presentation of "Young Tom Edison" will be featured at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Detroit Youtheatre performances in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium this Saturday, Apr. 27.

General admission tickets for the hour-long shows, designed for families with young people 5 years

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — collection of Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth, concentrating, this week, on SEEDS and GRAINS.

Researchers have discovered that edible seeds, including corn, rice, beans and peanuts, contain substances called protease inhibitors which actually stop tumors from forming or delay development. Seeds and grains also help you lose weight by keeping your body from absorbing calories in the protein you eat. Their complex carbohydrate helps maintain a normal blood sugar level.

SWEET-SOUR PORK

314 lb. lean boneless pork shoulder or loin
1 can (15½ oz.) pineapple slices in juice
¼ cup brown sugar, packed
2 Tbsp. cornstarch
Pinch of salt
¼ cup vinegar
2 Tbsp. vegetable oil
1 green pepper, cut into long

12 green onions, cut in 1-inch slices
1/3 cup mixed sweet pickles, sliced

3 cups hot, cooked rice
Cut and assemble all ingredients before starting to cook. Cut pork in 1/8-inch-wide strips across the grain. Drain pineapple, reserving juice; add enough water to make 1 cup. Cut pineapple slices in eighths. Combine brown sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add reserved pineapple juice and vinegar; stir to blend.

Heat electric wok to 375°. Add oil and heat. Add pork strips; cook and stir 3 minutes. Add green pepper; cook and stir 1 minute. Add onions; cook and stir 2 minutes. Stir in reserved pineapple juice mixture. Cook and stir until mixture bubbles and thickens, about 2 minutes. Add pineapple and pickles. Reduce heat to 250°. Cover and simmer 3 minutes, or until vegetables are heated through and green pepper and onions are tender-crisp. Serve over hot, cooked rice to 4.

Calories per serving without rice about 350.
Cholesterol about 53 mgs.

ARGENTINIAN BEEF SAUTE

1 lb. lean ground beef
1½ cups chopped onions
1 large green pepper, coarsely diced
3 large cloves garlic, crushed
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. basil
1/4 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. oregano
1/8 tsp. red pepper flakes
118 tsp. pepper
2 Tbsp. chopped parsley
1 can (8 oz.) red kidney beans, drained (reserve liquid)
1 can (8 oz.) golden hominy, drained
2 Tbsp. minced parsley (optional)

Brown beef in large, heavy skillet or Dutch oven, over medium heat, stirring to break up. Add onions, green peppers and garlic. Saute, stirring occasionally, just until vegetables are tender. Stir in salt, basil, sugar, oregano, red pepper, pepper, chopped parsley, beans and hominy. Simmer uncovered, gradually adding about 1/4 cup reserved bean liquid and stirring occasionally, for 10 minutes, or until flavors are well blended. Garnish with minced parsley or parsley sprigs. Makes 4 servings.

Calories per serving about 270.
Cholesterol about 70 mgs.

CREAMY PEANUT DIP

1 cup thick yogurt
1/2 cup creamy peanut butter
2 tsp. lemon juice
114 cup chopped peanuts
Blend yogurt into peanut butter; add lemon juice and mix until smooth. Stir in peanuts. Chill. Serve in crystal bowl surrounded by apple and pear slices, pineapple spears, mandarin orange sections and wedges of bananas. Makes 1½ cups. Calories per tsp. about 20.
Cholesterol — trace.

of age and older (children younger than 5 will not be admitted to the auditorium), are $3 for children and adults. $2 each in groups of 10 or more.

They may be purchased in advance through the museum's ticket office, 832-2730 during regular business hours, and at the door.

What do I do when I can't think of anything to write?

Sometimes I sit in front of the typewriter and cry. Other times, I just wait around until all the garbage that's been collecting in my brain cells comes flowing out. (Hmmm. Sounds more like a job for the Wayne County Department of Sanitation. And once and a while, I call up coaches like Guido Regelbrugge, Bob Wood, Tim Zimmerman or Frank Sumner, and ask a couple of questions and let them write my column for me.

Mostly, I just talk to myself. . .

What's the most embarrassing thing you've seen lately?

The Detroit Red Wings' miserable performance in the NHL playoffs, for one. Yes, I actually sat through one televised game and it was bad enough without what happened when the Wings showed a promotion for the intermission activity. During a break in the action, the screen flashed a notice of a special hockey feature done by former Red Wing scoring great Mickey Redmond, who was the first Wing to score 50 or more goals in a season. Only the promo spelled Redmond's name as "Micky Redman." How quickly they forget.

Wonder what Gordy How would think of that?

Very funny. But not as funny as an article I read in the April 8 issue of "The Sporting News." It was about the New York Yankees and was headlined "Are the Yanks Back?" After I read the article about how good the Yankees are going to be this year, I looked at the daily newspaper and saw that the Yanks had lost their first three games, 9-2, 14-5, and 6-4.

They should have had the headline read "Are the Yanks Back Again!"

Quite the comedian this week, I see. Any particular reason for all this levity?

No, it's just spring and even if you aren't the most brilliant conversationalist in the world, it's nice to have somebody to talk to.

Thanks. I think. Know what else I read lately? Sports Illustrated's baseball issue. The experts at SI picked the Detroit Tigers to finish second overall in baseball, behind the Toronto Blue Jays. The reason they picked Toronto wasn't because Toronto had improved its bullpen or because Detroit gave up Howard Johnson and Ruppert Jones.

Nooooo. SI says Detroit won't repeat as World Series winner because, they say, champions seldom repeat in sports these days. In other words, teams are just supposed to spend years and megabucks to build a good ballclub, go out and win one championship, and then forget about repeating because it just "isn't done."

Makes sense to me. Especially when you consider that Sports Illustrated knows a lot about what it takes NOT to be So. 1.

Nice touch. You couldn't get a job washing windows at Sports Illustrated. So what qualifies you as a critic?

Easy. I know I could come up with a better reason for why the Tigers wouldn't repeat as world champions, even if I had to talk to myself to do it. If I was making picks, that is. But I'm not. This team is spooky. Take one of their early wins over Cleveland. Granted, Cleveland would have a rough time staying with the JV squads at North and South, but heating them by coming back from two-run deficits — four times — and winning on a walked-in run in the 10th. I kept thinking I'd seen Rod Serling standing over by the Tiger dugout.

Seen any other good baseball lately?

In person, you mean? Well, my first journey to Tiger Stadium this season wasn't too nice. The Tigers lost, 9-2, and I spent the first three innings watching stadium ushers act like stormtroopers. While upper deck fans were chanting obscenely and tossing bottles at players, the ushers in my lower deck section were taking immediate action . . . on the people who were — horrors! — sitting in the wrong seats. They yelled, screamed, moved people bodily out of seats (the ushers, that is) and in general, made watching the game unbearable. The message I got: Tiger Stadium is a fine meeting place for card-carrying psychos bearing bottles, but don't you DARE sit in the wrong seat.

How about the high school game then?

Now you're talking (or I am. I forget which.) South was 7-1 at press time and North looked good beating Bishop Gallagher last Saturday. They play each other in a doubleheader this Saturday in what should be a great match-up. And there won't be any misguided ushers around, either.

Speaking of misguided, how long has it been since you've heard from the rahit "you-hate-us-and-like-(fill in blank)-school-better" factions?

A while, but I know they're out there because I can hear them hyperventilating. Just wait. That North-South baseball game is this weekend, the South-North tracksters meet April 27, the Norsemen-Blue Devils soccer match is May 14 and the girls who go to school on Fisher Road meet the girls who go to school (Continued on Page 3C)

After seven years, St. Clare is still on track

By Peggy O'Connor

They come in all shapes and sizes. Some run fast and jump high and others are just beginning to learn what track and field is all about. But the 125 kids who don the black and white track uniforms of St. Clare of Montefalco School have one thing in common: they're each part of one of the most successful track programs in C.Y.O. history.

St. Clare athletic director and track coach Steve Zaranek got the school's first track team together in 1978. Thirty-live kids participated in the program that year and by 1980, the number was up to 100 — in a C.Y.O. where the average team size is 20. Along the way, St. Clare teams have put together a seven-year winning streak. The boys' team has won three C.Y.O. city titles and finished second in the past five seasons and the girls have set an all-time C.Y.O. all-sports record by winning five consecutive city championships.

What makes St. Clare so successful isn't just numbers. The name of the game for St. Clare is organization.

"That's one of the keys to our success. You can't have that many kids participating and not have some kind of structure," says Zaranek. He relies on seven assistants, including four South High students and coaches Tom Ossy, Chris Pellerito and Ferd Keller, to help support that structure.

"Everybody has their assignments and they have the experience to plan the workouts. I'm just there to supervise. I trust their judgement. We are very organized and the kids always know what they're supposed to do and how they're supposed to do it."

Yet St. Clare's program is not so structured that the kids aren't able to have fun. The atmosphere at last Sunday's season-opening dual meet with St. Ambrose was less like a track meet and more like a family picnic. Parents watched from the stands at South High, taking pictures and movies of their kids in action. And the kids who weren't competing were cheering their teammates on.

"Well, we like for them to be a little more involved in the meet than they were last Sunday. That was our first meet. But really, we emphasize the fun aspect of the sport. We don't have workouts as such, but teaching sessions where we make it a point to teach the kids so they'll know why we tell them to do certain things," Zaranek says.

Not every St. Clare track team member is a gifted and talented as say, eighth grader Chris May, who is expected to place highly in the finals this season. Or sprinters Mike Pole, Louis Dobbs, Cece Rettig, and Tracey and Stacey McQuerry. Or distance runners Jeff Whitty and John Finucane. But they're all treated as though they were.

"We want the sport to be special for all the kids who participate. The kids are all told that no team member is to be made fun of, that everyone is to keep in mind that others are to be encouraged.

"We ask the seventh and eighth graders to talk to the younger kids . . . it means a lot to the kids."

What's even more special about St. Clare's measure of success in track and field is that the interest has stayed the same while the school's overall enrollment has declined. The school has approxithis and they know that they are getting the mechanics, the basics, of the sport," Zaranek says.

"In the beginning, the practices are geared for fun. By the time the kids hit seventh grade, they transfer into more intensive workouts, they have goals they know they must shoot for and coaches they know will help them do it."

Zaranek says that he isn't naive enough to believe that strong coaching and organization is what draws St. Clare kids to the program. "A lot is the social aspect. The kids see that half their class is involved and they want to be involved too."

It helps that most of St. Clare's kids are athletes who are each involved in as many as three of the 20 other sports the school offers. "The kids get involved early and they stay involved. We keep an eye on them to make sure that its not too much involvement."

Indeed, for a school where winning has become such a tradition, a strong sense of competitiveness is curiously lacking.

"The kids don't think about the other teams. The kids push each other and the competition comes from within. We don't go into a meet with a 'plan of attack' or anything like that. We have so much depth that it really isn't necessary. Our goal, of course, is to win the

"We want the sport to be special for the kids" — St. Clare athletic director and coach Steve Zaranek.

Winning week in ULS track, lacrosse

It was a big week for the University Liggett School girls' varsity track and field team, as it racked up five wins and 54 personal best performances.

On April 16, ULS beat Riverside High, 82-45. High scorer was freshman standout Miriam Mueller, who took first in the 200 meters and 400 meters, and anchored both the 800 meter and 1600 meter relay teams. Fifteen Lady Knights scored points, including Nora Staebler, who won the discus; co-captain Paula Rodriguez, who took both the 800 meters and 1600 meters; Carol Ling, winner of the 300 meter hurdles; and Lydia Alexander, victorious in the 100 meter hurdles. Barb Herzig led the way in personal bests, topping her own previous performances in each event she entered (shot, discus, long jump).

Alexander was again impressive in ULS' April 19 win over Bethesda Christian and Plymouth Christian, 90-62-7. Alexander scored 16 1/2 points by taking first place in high jump, long jump and 100 meter hurdles, and leading off for the 400 meter relay team. Other event winners were Rebecca Boone, with an excellent personal-best performance in discus, and co-captain Judy Go, 300 meter hurdles. Coaches Sue Frederick and Cathy Schmidt felt that the win came from team effort, enthusiasm and depth in all events.

ULS traveled to Ann Arbor last Saturday for a win over both perennial track power Greenhills, and Kingswood, which had beaten ULS

April 11. The final score was ULS, 83; Greenhills, 52; Kingswood, 28. Aspecial factor in the win was field events and hurdles, as ULS captured 52 of the 65 possible points.

"We spend half of each practice doing field events," said Schmidt. "We have girls with all sorts of athletic abilities out here. This is a track AND field team, and we're proud of that!" Individual winners were Alexander thigh jump, long jump, 100 hurdles, Catrin Winter (shotput), Liz Hader (discus) and Rodriguez (800 meters).

ULS brings its 5-1 record up against tough competition this Friday when it hosts Michigan Independent Athletic Conference track power Southfield Christian.

Baseball split

The baseball Knights won their first game of the season April 16, downing Oakland Christian, 6-2, before falling to Lutheran Northwest, 6-3.

Juniors Brian David and Joe Jurewicz pitched in the opener. David, starting as a pitcher for the first time, went five innings, fanned seven, walked three, and allowed four hits. Jurewicz posted two strikeouts in two no-hit innings of relief. On offense, senior Harold Colby and sophomore Mike Isip led the attack with two hits apiece. Chris Tincu, Jeff Sweet, Wally Butzu, and David hit singles.

At Lutheran Northwest, errors on ground balls were the problem. Isip pitched well enough to win, but miscues with two outs opened the door for Lutheran Northwest in the first and third innings. Again Jurewicz pitched well in relief, throwing two shut-out innings.

Lutheran Northwest also came up with some excellent pitching. Joe Ademek, who went the distance, struck out seven Knights, and allowed only three singles; one each to Colby, Isip, and senior Ben Pugliesi.

The Knights next game is 4:30 p.m. April 26 at home against Southfield Christian.

Lacrosse blowout

The University Liggett School boys' varsity lacrosse team played its home opener last Saturday against DeLaSalle before a large and enthusiastic crowd.

The Knights opened the scoring just five seconds into the game as Ed Brady whistled a shot past the right side of the DeLaSalle goalie. ULS never trailed, posting a 5-0 halftime lead on the way to a 10-1 victory.

Outstanding performances on offense came from Mark Blake, Jamie McMillan and Larry Scoville. Defensively, Ian Jones and Tom Giftos each turned in a superior effort.

"This was a great team victory! For the first time this year, we exhibited the intensity required to play good lacrosse. I also have a great deal of respect for DeLaSalle's athletic program; they really have a fine group of athletes," said coach Bob Evett.

The Knights will play at home again at 4 p.m. today, hosting Catholic Central.

Tough week for tennis

The ULS boys' varsity tennis team lost to Birmingham Seaholm, 6-2, last week. Individual winners for ULS were Ashu Naytiyal at No. 4 singles, and John Birgbauer and Scott Watson at No. 1 doubles. On April 18, lost to Knights Ann Arbor Huron. David Barlow was ULS' only winner at No. 3 singles.

Last weekend, April 19-20, the Knights finished in third place in their annual Tournament of Champions. East Grand Rapids won with 32 points, followed by Ann Arbor Huron with 29 points, ULS with 21 points and Forest Hills Central with 16 points. Birgbauer and Watson at No. 1 doubles were the only flight winners for ULS.

In the weekly rankings released by the Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Association ULS is ranked third in Class C-D.

This weekend, April 26-27, the Knights travel to East Grand Rapids to participate in an eight-team invitational. This invitational will feature five teams ranked in the top 10 for all classes.

The ULS JV netmen pushed their record to 2-1 by splitting contests with Class A schools Seaholm and Ann Arbor Huron last week. After clipping Seaholm, 4-3, on April 16, the Knights came up short against Huron, 5-3.

The Seaholm match was particularly close. Five of the seven matches went three sets. In singles, Robert Niccolini and John Shanle won at No. 1 and No. 3. Gordie Maitland and Ted Evans lost at No. 1 doubles, 6-7, 6-2, 6-3. At No. 2, Jeff Buhl and Steve Eberhardt played a strong third set, winning 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, while Michael Baks and Varick Foster eeked out a 4-6, 6-3, 7-5 victory at No. 3.

Huron's doubles teams were too strong for ULS. David Kim and John Shanle each won their singles match, but the Knights could win only one of the four doubles matches. Peter Sripinyo and Mike Africa registered a 7-6, 7-6 No. 4 doubles victory.

The JV Knights travel to Ann Arbor on Friday to meet Gabriel Richard.

SH girls open EML track year

South High's girls' track team opened league competition with a 103-25 win over East Detroit last week. South also took firsts in all three distance relays in last Saturday's Port Huron Northern Husky Relays, placing fourth in the 20-team field. South had opened its season with an 81-47 win over Regina April 2.

Against East Detroit, South completely dominated, taking firsts in 12 of the 15 events. The girls took most of the second and third place spots and captured all four relays. Several freshmen turned in fine performances, including Micha Song in the 1600, Reba Uthappa in the 400, Rebecca Wasinger in the 800, Raquel Chapin in the 200, Megan Smucker in the 3200 and Mimi Spencer in the high jump. Other freshman point scorers were Erin Bryan in the long jump, Danielle DeLuca and Nancy Kos-tecke in the shot put, Dunrie Greiling in the discus and Carrie Donaldson in the 3200 relay.

South also dominated the distance relays at Port Huron Northern. Junior Nancy Solterisch anchored each winning relay, which included runners Ellen Mayer, Kelly Riehl, Toby Ott, Heather Kolodziej and senior Renuka Uthappa.

Also placing for South were Kerry Bruce, Katie Ament, Julie Boyt, Erin Kershaw, Jen Meehan, Wendy Berger, Adele DiNatale, Nicole Dupont, Lucia Bridenstine and Kristen Schmidt. South earned 34 points in Regina in the season opener, South runners took 10 of 12 event, but the team managed only one first place in the four field events. Kershaw took a first in the 100 hurdles and DiNatale was first in the 300 hurdles. Bruce won the 100 meter dash and combined with Kershaw, Boyt and Anne Moellering to win the 400 meter relay.

In the distance events, Solterisch was a double winner in the 1600 and 3200 meter runs; senior Barb Giroux was second in both events. Song won the 800 meter run and Renuka Uthappa provided an exciting finish in winning the 400 meter dash.

South's 3200 relay team, which won all but one race last year, started this season off right with a 17-second margin of victory over Regina. Relay members are Uthappa, Song and juniors Ott and Kolodziej. Others placing in track events were Mayer, Dupont, Riehl, Kristen Wenzler and Reba Uthappa.

In the field, South finished one-two in the long jump behind the fine performances of Bridenstine and Boyt. Spencer and Theresa Schulte combined for a two-three finish in the high jump.

South competes against North High at North today, April 25, at 4 p.m.

Ohio State University senior Cathy Brown, of the Woods, increased her team-leading record to 13-6 with a straight-sets win at No. 4 singles in the OSU women's tennis team victory over St. Cloud State, 8-1. The Buckeyes had an 8-8 record (3-1 in the Big Ten) on April 18; they will play at home April 25-28.

The Farms' Scott Wright, 21, is the 1985 National Collegiate Driving Champion. Wright, a Western Michigan University senior, was among 80 college students who competed for the honor in the National Collegiate Driving Championship finals sponsored by the Dodge division of Chrysler Corporation at Daytona International Speedway. The first place title carries prize scholarship money of $5,000 and a year's use of a Dodge Daytona Turbo, the officials sports car of the 1985 program. Wright's time in the event, which is not a race but a skill test which is intended to bring students messages about the importance of developing safe driving habits, was 61.291. He is the son of Allen and Emma Wright, of the Farms.

season, Carol von Stade, Renee McDuffee and Melissa Loving finished two points behind in league totals, but won the playoffs. University Liggett School English teacher and girls' tennis coach von Stade, of the Park, played No. 1 singles; McDuffee, also of the Park, an attorney, was at No. 2 singles; and No. 3 singles player was Loving, a First Federal Savings and Loan management trainee whose father lives in the Woods. Wimbledon's winning team received its award plaques at the Birmingham Athletic Club on March 29.

D. Jeffrey Pressler, 30, of Country Club Drive, won a Michigan state-sanctioned racquetball championship, men's novice division, at the Mount Clemens Racquetball Club last weekend. The championship was also sanctioned by the Racquetball Association of Michigan and the American Amateur Racquetball Association.

Pointer John Briski continues to lead his Washington University in St. Louis men's golf team in average after one match and two invitational—Briski has won one medal this spring and has an 81.5 average.

South High graduate Dina Dajani is playing varsity softball for The College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio, this spring. Dajani, a junior international relations major at Wooster, is the Scotties' shortstop. Wooster is a charter member of the first-year North Coast Athletic Conference. Dajani is the daughter of Adnan and Vesta Dajani, of Kensington Rd.

Baseball Blue Devils face tests

By Slu Whitney
South High

After a tough, 5-4, opening game loss to DeLaSalle, the South High Blue Devils have won seven straight games and sport a 7-1 mark overall (4-0 in the Eastern Michigan League).

"After our first game (a heart-breaker in which South led, 4-0 after five innings, we've really gotten it together — offensively and defensively," says coach Dan Griesbaum. "We've only made one error in our last three games . . . the defense has been great."

The Devils took a defensive test Wednesday when Port Huron Northern, a big favorite to take the EML crown, was at South for a 4 p.m. matchup that will likely be crucial to the final standings. Northern, which returns three All-EML players, was 6-0 before it lost its EML opener to East Detroit, which South beat by scores of 6-0 and 12-1. "I couldn't believe that Northern's loss!" said Griesbaum.

Northern is just one of four contests in what Griesbaum called a "very big week." The Devils beat Mount Clemens on Monday and have another EML game at Roseville on Friday. Then this weekend, South travels to North for a doubleheader. When you put it all together, it adds up to a big test for a young and inexperienced pitching staff.

As far as hitting goes, South's production has thus far been a team effort, but there are a few standouts. Eugene Eugenio is batting .444 and has compiled three doubles and six RBI. Rob Wood is hitting at a .412 clip and has crossed the plate 13 times — a team high. Rick Waugaman is hitting .353 with two home runs, nine RBI and nine stolen bases. His prowess at the plate and in the field, coupled with his speed on the bases, should be a valuable asset during this crucial week. Hico Cordova is tied with Waugaman for the RBI lead with nine.

In the Devils' EML opener on April 13, South ran over L'Anse Creuse North, stealing 11 bases in 12 attempts and ending up with a 10-3 win. The Devils are 31-for-33 in stolen base attempts this season (Griesbaum's goal was 100 for the season). Mike Hennessey, Cordova and Wood each had two RBI against LCN. Hick Leonard picked up the win on the mound for South and Joliet took his second non-league victory in the 12-4 nightcap.

Leonard, a junior who is beginning to shape up as the ace of South's pitching corps, also notched wins in the second game with DeLaSalle and in last Thursday's home win over Anchor Bay. Leonard went the first four innings of the Devils' 14-5 thumping of DeLaSalle. Cordova helped out with three RBI in that one and Tom Fellows added a home run and two RBI. Against Anchor Bay, Leonard gave up a two-run first inning homer to Tars' third baseman Mike Perkins before settling down and holding them to just two hits, while striking out eight. He ran his record to 3-0, including an ERA of 1.65 and 15 strikeouts.

Eugenio was 3-for-3 and Jason Colegrove hit a solo homer in that game.

AGAINST EAST DETROIT on April 19, Cordova and Jerry Joliet had little trouble, each throwing one-hitters. Waugaman belted a three-run homer in South's five-run first inning. Cordova is 1-0 with an ERA of 0.95 and leads the team in strikeouts with 16.

Joliet only needed to throw five innings to gain the win in the second game, thanks to Devil hitters who provided an offensive threat which resulted in the invoking of the game-ending mercy rule. South scored eight runs in the first inning as Wood had four RBI and Mike MacMichael was 3-for-4.

The only bad news Griesbaum has had is that of an injury to Hennessey — a sprained ankle which will keep him out of action for two-three weeks. "He was 6-for-11 at the time. It's hard to replace those kind of stats, but we're getting a lot of contribution from everybody. That's the nice thing about all this," Griesbaum says.

Whether things stay nice for the Devils will depend on the outcome of this week's tough games. "If we can come out with three league wins, we can put a lot of pressure on the other teams, because we're the only undefeated team in the EML right now," he added.

South kickers dominate

For the South girls' varsity soccer team the name of the game last week was "frustration." South dominated both Fordson and Detroit Country Day School, but were frustrated from scoring on both games, coming out of it with a 1-0 win over Fordson and a 0-0 tie with DCDS.

Claire Busse scored for South midway through the second half against Fordson. South's offense dominated, but was held off the board by a fast Fordson defense, which, although South was in the Fordson zone for much of the afternoon, prevented them from getting many good shots.

Fordson had only one legitimate shot on goal, and that was due mainly to the strength of the South offense.

Busse played an outstanding game and Kim Wood played a strong first half, too. Sarah Dow was outstanding in the second half, as were fullback Helen Markus, and Sue Storen, June Langs and Becky Steffes.

The real star of South's game against DCDS was goalie Gretchen Treiber. South's defense was challenged in the first half, when DCDS played "with the wind" on a blustery afternoon. Wood and Colleen Claire Busse takes a shot off her left foot against Fordson. South beat Fordson last week, 1-0. Also in the thick of the action was South's Kim Wood.

Murphy played well.

In the second half, South had the wind and spent almost the entire time in the DCDS zone, but couldn't score on Treiber, who is a former Pointe resident. She made strong saves against Sarah Dow, Suzanne Saad and Busse. The best save was on a line drive from Wood which Treiber knocked over the crossbar.

The game's best defensive play came in the second half when Helen Markus stopped a shot on a breakaway. Renee Stoyka had a strong second half. Marcia Wright and the South defense haven't been scoring touch early against Lahser, as Johnston's cross from right wing deflected off a Lahser defender and into the net in the first half. Rose Ann MacConnachie took a solid shot from outside the 18 which went into the upper right corner of the net and Johnston scored on a breakaway to end the first half.

Patty Molloy's crosses to the center of the field gave Beth Edwards the opportunity to score. South's final goal, Lahser added a goal in the closing moments of the contest.

The JV next game is at 5:30 p.m. April 25 at home against Andover

North looks for consistency on baseball diamond

By Bill Hoover
North High

North's varsity baseball team, still struggling for consistency, lost two out of four games last week. On April 19, North fell to Rochester 7-3 in the first game of the doubleheader and the second game was suspended after five innings due to darkness with the score tied 6-6. Then on April 20, North split a doubleheader with No. 2-ranked Bishop Gallagher, winning the first game, 6-3, and losing the second, 11-6.

Dan Kopitzke suffered his first loss of the season against Rochester although he gave up no earned runs. Craig Engel, making his first appearance of the season, came on to relieve Kopitzke in the third inning. "Engel threw well," said Coach Frank Sumner. He struck out four men while allowing two hits and two earned runs. At the plate, the Norsemen were led by Joe Weidenbach, who had three hits, including a double and a home run; and by Steve Pochmara, who had two hits.

In the second game, Craig Como made his pitching debut, striking out eight men, walking four and allowing four hits and five earned runs. Offensively, Ken Straske had three hits, including a triple; Tim Rice batted in four runs; and Frank Vento added three hits.

North's 6-3 victory over Bishop Gallagher was assured by home runs from Weidenbach and Brian Ulatowski. Dennis D'Agnes pitched the complete game, striking out five men and walking four.

North's inability to play consistently, especially in a doubleheader, was evident again as the team allowed seven errors while losing the nightcap to BG. Weidenbach, Straske and Bill Miller pitched for North, with Straske taking the loss. The sole bright spot for North was Ulatowski's three-run homer.

North's next game is at home against L'Anse Creuse April 26. Game time is 4 p.m.

North's JV baseball team had a busy week — playing five games, including two doubleheaders. On April 15, the team split with Notre Dame, losing 10-5 and winning, 7-2. On April 18, North played a doubleheader with Bishop Gallagher, winning the first game 5-3 and then dropping the second game, 8-0. North closed the week with a victory over Roseville Brablec on April 19, 13-2.

In the first game against Notre Dame, North pitcher Mike Gates was rocked, allowing six runs in the first inning before settling down to pitch a strong game. At the plate North was led by Mike Miller who had a grand slam nullified because a base runner missed a base and by Rob Marshall who was 2-for-4 at the plate.

In the second game, Ed Wood's outstanding catch in centerfield, saved a home run. Fine performances were also turned in by Rick Regalado (five-hitter). He struck out six and had three RBI; Nick Mancini had two RBI.

Marshall raised his record to 3-0 with the victory in the first game against Bishop Gallagher. Gates was hot from the plate, going 2-for-3 with two RBI.

Seven errors and eight walks in the second game allowed Bishop Gallagher to trounce North, 8-0. Chuck Thomas was the bright spot

North's Si-County opener versus Brablec was a pleasant one in which Wood struck out nine, allowing only three hits. Thomas, Miller and Regalado each had three RBI. Marshall and C.J. Anderson each went 3-for-3 while Gates had three hits and scored three runs.

The JV's next game is April 26, at 4 p.m. at L'Anse Creuse.

came from three runs down to tie the game in the fourth inning but were unable to rally again. Celeste Sartor had three hits and Linda Kayos, two.

In the second game, North was unable to come back after allowing six first-inning runs to drop its second game in a row. But the Lady Norsemen got back on the track in the Bishop Gallagher game to even their record at 2-2 behind a fine pitching effort from Paula Harms who allowed only two hits. Offensively, North scored at least one run in each of the first five innings, led by Rayos' double and her two runs scored.

North's next game is at 4 p.m. April 26, at home, versus L'Anse Creuse.

Kickers are perfect

North's girls' varsity soccer team stayed perfect with wins over Garden City, 9-0, and Edsel Ford, 4-0, last week.

Against Garden City, Shannon Armstrong led North with four goals and two assists. Stephanie Schaefer added two goals and Amelia Dugan, Beth Eleczko, and Stephanie Smith each added a goal.

Against Edsel Ford, North was led again by Armstrong who scored two goals. Bridget Briery and Sue Regalado each had a goal.

North's next game is at Novi and at 4 p.m. today.

North's track teams beat Lakrview, 106-20 and 77-60; the tennis squad took 4-1 and 4-3 victories.

Sports Week

on Vernier Road in softball on May 18. So I figure I should have my first spring skirmish with the radical factions sometime this month.

I must say that you're awfully blase' about it. How come?

Well, I came to the conclusion that I'm as fair as possible to all the teams within our coverage area and that Abraham Lincoln didn't know the half of it with his "you can't please all the people . . ." speech. I know that there are certain North vs. South people that you can't ever please. And after a long time of wandering around the stadiums and arenas making sure I didn't sit on North's or South's side too long, and being certain that I wrote exactly the same number of words for South as I did for North, I decided to just relax, cover the teams to the best of my ability, continue to be as fair as possible and just enjoy my job.

Nicely put. Except for one thing.

Which is?

Who's going to listen to you? You talk to yourself too much.

CHIROPRACTIC

TO THE RESCUE!

Dr. James F. Kennedy, D.C.

Each year some 17 million people suffer from some sort of sports related pain. It's no wonder, with 500 muscles and 206 bones, not to mention joints, ligaments and tendons all getting into the physical stress act. Generally, the best advice would be not to over do any activity, never ignore pain and don't take up an activity without seeing your Chiropractic Doctor first. An existing condition you're unaware of could develop into something much worse. Call Dr. Kennedy today for your appointment. Most insurance companies cover chiropractic care. 21321 Harper (Just North of Eight Mile) St. Clair Shores, phone 772-1360

16-PETS
FOR SALE*AS SEEN ON
P.M. MAGAZINE

These beautiful animals are now ready to be placed for adoption and are guaranteed to steal your heart away. Please give them a chance in your home.

We have 3 gracious, beautiful spayed Afghans, A.K.C.-registered, all housebroken. They will need fenced yards because they love to run.

How about a beautiful, sensitive young German Shepherd, large, neutered, and also housebroken. He loves children and is very playful. He would make a great house dog.

Need someone to cuddle and watch T.V. with? We have just the answer — a Yorkie that loves to be held and watch T.V., also "talks and scolds" constantly accept when he's eating. He definitely will intimidate you if you let him.

If you like "shy" then you will want our 4 year old Sheltie, or perhaps our Sheltie mix, or how about a very stately Airedale called "Rosie."

And our Piece d'Resistance is a gorgeous Bouvier mix, she is our magnificent TRI-POD, (3 legs), but don't tell her she doesn't even notice!

As you have probably noticed our list is long. We have several other dogs available for adoption and probably more coming in. We will not let them be destroyed. Also, 3 lovely kittens strictly indoor pets. Neutered and some front declawed, all under 3 years of age.

If you have a place in your heart and home please call us soon.

NOW AVAILABLE FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

Vanden Plas
From a heritage of coachbuilders to kings and the sporting aristocracy of Europe comes the most exclusive Jaguar sedan you can own.

Frankly created for the few, the Vanden Plas is a limited edition based on the classic Jaguar XJ6 Series II sedan. It shares the XJ6's superb racebred double overhead cam six-cylinder 3.6 liter V-6 equipment, its uncanny smoothness and silence in motion.

Inside, however, the Vanden Plas is unique even among Jaguar's 100 series, you with soft leather exotic burled walnut panels and individually contoured front and rear seats. Custom throw rugs have been fitted into passenger footwells. Twin swivel-based reading lamps illuminate rear passenger seats. On the outside, special striping and a discreet Vanden Plas badge identify this as the most exclusive edition of the best Jaguar ever built. Come in today, and indulge yourself in Vanden Plas.
