Well, it's time to clean up my desk again. I'm up to my beard in odds 'n' ends, so I'd better clear this mess up.

Way to go to St. John Hospital nurse Pat Gottschalk, of the Cardiac Rehabilitation Unit, who put years of training and experience into play recently when she saved the life of one of her patients through CPR.

According to a press release I received, Ms. Gottschalk was exercising with her class of cardiac patients in something called cardioaerobics, which involves walking, bicycling and other appropriate exercises, when a patient's heart stopped beating.

Ms. Gottschalk took immediate action, aided by exercise leader Bernie Samet, and tried to revitalize the victim. He was transported to St. John's by an EMS unit with Gottschalk continuing CPR all the way. The victim, a St. Clair Shores resident, stabilized and remained hospitalized for 14 days.

Again, way to go, Pat!

Now, for all you would-be Christie Brinkleys out there, Eastland Center has announced it will hold an open audition for fashion runway models on Saturday, May 18, at 7 p.m. in the Grand Court.

According to Eastland, the modeling will only be part time and they're suggesting that women be no shorter than 5 feet, 6 inches in stocking feet and no taller than 5 feet, 9 inches and wear a size 6 to 8 dress.

Male models should wear a 40 or 42 jacket and should stand 5 feet, 11 inches or taller and weigh between 160 and 185 pounds.

For more information, call Carol Witzke, Eastland's marketing director, at 371-1501, or Eric Peard at the Mannequin Model Agency at 772-1940.

Congratulations to Pointer E. James McEntee, who, according to the Bureau of the State Lottery, recently won $5,000 in the Michigan Lottery instant game "Michigan Fortune."

According to the press release I received, McEntee purchased his winning ticket at the Spirits of Grosse Pointe and had previously won a lottery prize of $500.

James, James, give me a call. What's your system?

Clues, motive sought in arson deaths

Two Farms officers stand guard over the home in which two died last week.

By Tom Greenwood

Aided by the state police and an arson specialist from the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the Farms police are still trying to develop leads in the arson deaths of two residents last week.

"Right now we're still trying to develop a motive and a suspect or suspects in the fire deaths," said Farms Detective Sgt. George VanTiem.

"We're looking at anything and everything at this moment, every aspect of the fire, including the backgrounds of anyone connected with it."

Killed in the three-alarm fire that officials believe was deliberately set Wednesday morning, May 8, were William O'Brien and his wife Mary Jane. They were 67.

A field investigator for the state Fire Marshal's office determined last Thursday that the fire had been started almost simultaneously in the family room and breakfast nook of the Lakeshore Road home.

Police are also stymied in their efforts to determine a motive for the fire. "Murder-suicide is one of the possibilities, but it really doesn't seem to be heading that way," said VanTiem. "We've also been unable to determine if the house was burglarized before the fire. Nothing seems to be missing, although the debris makes a thorough search very difficult."

VanTiem also said the combination burglar-fire alarm system in the house, which was installed in 1969, was being checked to determine if it was in good working order.

The system, which is connected to the Farms police department through telephone lines, was apparently not turned on the night of the fire and a check of the police log showed no call received from the home that night.

Farms Fire Chief Sam Candela said his department had received perhaps a dozen false alarms from the home since the system was installed, but that they were "nothing out of the ordinary" and were usually caused by heavy electrical storms.

According to police reports, the first person to discover the fire shortly before 3 a.m. was Dan Scherer, of Lakecrest Road, who told police he was returning from a local restaurant when he saw the smoke and observed a glow behind the windows of the home.

Reportedly, Scherer had a neighboring home call in the fire, then attempted to rouse the O'Briens, breaking down the front door of the home. He was driven back by the intense heat and smoke of the blaze.

About this time Scherer was joined by Farms officers Sgt. Sam Cardella, Philip Miglio and Jack Patterson. Scherer reportedly climbed the roof of the home and broke two windows, trying to rouse the residents and was again defeated by the flames. Scherer reportedly cut himself in his efforts and later received stitches to close his wounds.

The Farms fire department arrived in less than five minutes, according to reports, and immediately called in a second and third alarm, including all off-duty personnel. There were approximately 30 firefighters at the home.

At 4:25 a.m. Chief Candela said two bodies were discovered in the upper east end of the home. "We had conducted a thorough room-by-room search of the home earlier and didn't find anyone," he said.

"The reason we didn't see them at first is because they were both covered by a large amount of debris. We were also hampered by the extremely dense smoke."

Police cordoned off the site.

Mr. O'Brien was discovered in his bedroom while Mrs. O'Brien was sitting against a wall at the top of the stairs. Both reportedly died of smoke inhalation.

Reports say there were hand marks on the blackened wall of the bedroom near the two alarm switches, indicating someone had tried to activate the system. A phone on a bedstand near the bed was still in its cradle. A watch found on Mrs. O'Brien had stopped at 3:01 a.m., its crystal melted.

Both bodies were badly burned. Identification of Mrs. O'Brien was made through dental records.

"We received the call at 2:57 a.m. and were there almost immediately," Candela said. "The fire was under control, but not out, by 4 a.m. I released the bodies to the medical examiner's office at 5 a.m. and the extra men were sent home. Our on-duty crew stayed to fight any remaining hot spots."

Toxicology reports from the medical examiner's office and the results of tests from the Michigan State Police crime lab were due back to the Farms department on Tuesday, after press time.

Services for the O'Briens were held on Friday, May 10, at St. Paul's Catholic Church.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien are survived by three daughters, Maureen Doyle, Kathleen Fox and Margaret O'Brien; and five grandchildren. Both Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien were born in Chicago. They were interred at Calvary Cemetery, Chicago.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Ind. 46556, or to Guest House, 1601 Joslyn Road, Lake Orion, Mich. 48035.

Board makes special ed changes

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Board of Education Monday night approved the establishment of a classroom for severely multiply impaired and severely mentally impaired students and an elementary resource room for educable mentally impaired and visually impaired students.

The changes will allow the district to serve its children locally, instead of transporting them to other programs in other cities, according to Special Education Department Director Claire Hunt.

Three Grosse Pointe students now attend center programs at Moses and Helen Field schools in Detroit for the severely mentally and multiply impaired. Two students from Harper Woods also attend the same programs.

A classroom to accommodate the students is planned for Brownell Middle School, where the trainable mentally impaired center program is expected to move next school year.

The severely impaired students will come under the trainable mentally impaired umbrella for classification purposes and would be almost fully reimbursable through the center program, Dr. Hunt said. Full services of an occupational therapist, physical therapist and speech therapist would be offered and be reimbursed through county funds, she added.

A modified summer program for the severely impaired would be held in cooperation with Harper Woods, Dr. Hunt said.

While it will cost about $10,000 to start the severely impaired student summer program, the costs will be recouped in two ways, Dr. Hunt told the board. Harper Woods will be asked to pay two-fifths of the costs because of its enrolled students, she said. Also, transportation costs for sending children to other center programs will be cut substantially, saving the district the rest of the start-up cost.

The educable impaired and visually impaired students will be assigned to regular classrooms when possible and would also attend the elementary resource room for more academic work at their level, Dr. Hunt said.

Studies show that "mainstreaming" educable impaired students improves their learning. While they may not learn as quickly as other students in a regular classroom, they learn far more than those not mainstreamed, Dr. Hunt added.

All the students are of elementary school age and will attend classes in an elementary school to be announced later, Dr. Hunt said.

The four educable impaired students and two visually impaired students will share the elementary resource classroom. The visually impaired students now attend a program at Marquette School in Detroit.

The cost of the program is estimated at $25,800, covering the employment of a teacher-consultant with specialization in both educable mentally impaired and visually impaired special education, a part-time aide and supplies, including Braille machines.

Aging meeting is Monday

The Detroit Area Agency on Aging will hold its annual meeting Monday, May 20, in recognition of Older Americans Month (May). The location will be St. Paul's Cathedral, 4800 Woodward and Hancock from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

Guest speaker is Joe Forbes, newly appointed director of the Governor's Office for Job Training and former state representative from Oak Park who was majority leader of Michigan House of Representatives for 14 years.

"Help Yourself to Independence" is the theme for this year's Older Americans Month. The theme and the activities planned for the month of May are designed to focus public awareness on the needs of older Americans, their abilities, and the rich potential for using their diverse talents to enrich our functioning as a society.

Older Americans Month was first designated as a national observance in 1963, (it was then called Senior Citizens Month) but as early as 1950 some states had chosen May as the month recognizing older people through special tribute from governors and local officials.

In addition to the champion players, the Family Life Education Council was among the winners after the 1985 Western Open Indoor Mixed Doubles Championship. FLEC received $2,100 from the event.

The tournament, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club for the benefit of FLEC, had 33 teams entered this year from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and Ontario. The winners, Harry Fritz and Karen Dewis, both from Ontario, defeated Rod Schroeder and Katrina Adams from Chicago in the final match, 6-3, 6-4.

A strong local contender was Lochmoor Club's pro Marc Gelina and his partner, Cathy Goodrich. They were defeated in the quarter finals by the winners in a three-set match, 7-5, 3-6 and 6-2.

Schools get clean bill of health from EPA

By Mike Andrzejczyk

An Environmental Protection Agency inspector has told Grosse Pointe public school officials that they are in compliance with the federal agency's asbestos-containing material reporting procedures, according to school officials.

The inspector visited the central offices and three schools Thursday, May 9. A written report of the findings should be completed within 60 days, according to EPA representatives in Chicago.

The inspection was prompted by complaints from a group of parents that the district wasn't in compliance with the government standards for reporting and the district had not identified all the asbestos-containing materials in the local schools.

The inspector checked central office records for asbestos studies and work before selecting Monteith Elementary, Brownell Middle and North High schools to tour. Assistant Director of Support Services David King said.

The schools were selected because of the presence of asbestos now or at one time, King said. Monteith has a sprayed-on asbestos-containing substance on the ceilings in the building. Brownell's pool at one time had friable asbestos near it which was removed and North High had asbestos present in the fan rooms but was removed King said.

During his tour, the inspector found no friable material, although some pipe wrappings in the boiler rooms of the buildings were noticed to have small cracks, King said. The cracks occur on the asbestos-containing pipe insulation because of varying temperatures during the seasons of boiler operation, and are reported to the central office and repaired, he added.

At each of the schools, the inspector checked to make sure the district had met the reporting and posting standards, King said. Information about asbestos-containing materials is to be available on request in the office of each building. Also, notice of the presence of the material must be posted in at least three places; the office, teachers' lounge and custodial offices, King said.

The inspector also checked each area reported to have contained asbestos in the three buildings, King said. The inspector even attempted to flake the ceiling tiles at Monteith, but was unable to get past the coats of paint, he added.

The district is in full compliance with standards and has gone beyond the requirements in many cases in handling its asbestos concerns, King said he was told by the EPA inspector.

Certain types of asbestos are believed to cause cancer and other illnesses. Debate continues over the dangers of asbestos contained in pipe wrapping and insulation in buildings.

The EPA in 1982 published rules on how school systems should identify and notify staff and parents of the presence of asbestos-containing materials in buildings. The federal agency has warned or fined 25 districts throughout the state for not complying with its standards.

The EPA standards cover reporting. Because its toxicity remains in question, the EPA only requires school systems to report the presence of asbestos and doesn't require removal.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration has set an exposure standard for workers in industry of two fibers per cubic centimeter of air based on exposure during an eight hour workday. The EPA has set no level of exposure that is considered safe.

Recently, the EPA has backed down on its position on removal of the materials. In some cases, removal can cause more problems because fibers are released into the air.

To combat friable asbestos, or dried, brittle material that becomes airborne, districts may choose to encapsulate by covering the material with gauze and paste. They may also enclose the material by putting a physical barrier between it and the air. Removal of material can be an expensive proposition. Two local removal projects cost the district more than $100,000.

Optimists get Lucas — the day after

The first appearance Wayne County Executive William Lucas made after his announcement last week that he was switching to the Republican Party was at a breakfast the following morning at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Lucas was the keynote speaker at an awards breakfast sponsored by the Lakeshore Optimists. The club honored two young men for their involvement in a purse-snatching that occurred in December.

Lucas, who has been a New York City police officer, a special agent for the FBI and sheriff of Wayne County, said, "When I think about law and respect, I think about the involvement of citizens. There is no doubt in my mind that we in law enforcement could not protect the public. The only way we will be successful is to involve more and more of our people."

"In the places where there is a high crime rate, the only way to lower it is when you form citizens' patrols, when you get people co-operating more with the police. When you participate by informing, being heard, by testifying, you make a commitment."

Keith Forgue of Detroit and Craig Feringa of Grosse Pointe Park were the recipients of the Respect for Law awards. Nominated by Harper Woods Police Chief Gary Ford, they helped apprehend two juveniles who grabbed a woman's purse in the parking lot of Farmer Jack's at Harper near 7 Mile.

Forgue, who was working at the store, and Feringa worked independently to catch the would-be thieves. Feringa credited his wife Susan with helping by driving during the chase and following her husband by car when he jumped out to pursue the suspects on foot.

"I'm proud of you young people who get involved," Lucas told the pair.

The Optimists also presented Lucas with a framed picture of him in a track uniform taken during his college years. The picture was signed by the members of the club.

Roney pulls out of election

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Village trustee Robert Roney announced this week he will not seek re-election to the Shores council May 21 and will leave office after serving one, two-year term.

The three remaining candidates on the ballot, incumbents Daniel

Training offered for older worker

Employers are recognizing that persons age 55 years of age and older are reliable, viable and effective employees. In response to a need for trained individuals in the banking industry, Walter P. Reuther Senior Centers, Inc. has developed a seven-week training program.

This Special Job Training Partnership Act training program, funded through the Michigan Office on Services to the Aging, the Governors Office for Job Training and the Michigan Department of Labor will train persons 55 years of age and older for positions in financial institutions, such as bank tellers.

Individuals interested in participating in this program should call 961-4870 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

'Red Hot' auditions

Auditions for "Last of the Red Hot Lovers," to be performed at the Heidelberg Dinner Theatre in Mount Clemens, will be held Thursday, May 23, at 7:30 p.m. The theatre is located at 43785 Gratiot.

There are roles for one male and three females. For more information, call Roger McElveen at 521-8510 mornings.

Discrimination

The Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended, prohibits discrimination on the basis of age against any person between the ages of 40 and 70. There is no upper age limit with respect to employment in the federal government. The law applies to all public employers, private employers of 20 or more employees, employment agencies serving covered employers, and labor unions of more than 25 members, according to "A Working Woman's Guide to Her Job Rights," published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Employers may not fail or refuse to hire, discharge or otherwise discriminate against an individual with respect to compensation or terms of conditions of employment because of age. Employment agencies may not fail or refuse to refer an individual because of age, and labor unions may not exclude or expel a person because of age, or otherwise discriminate regarding terms or conditions of employment, according to "A Working Woman's Guide to Her Job Rights," published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Beck and Elizabeth Kuhlman and newcomer John Huettner III, are assured spots on the village board. The Shores annually elects three trustees. Biennial elections are held for village president and clerk.

Roney, 51, was unable to be reached for comment on his decision. In his two years as a trustee, he has advocated evening meetings, a number of which have been held, and has put his architectural expertise to work during zoning board of appeals hearings and the village office renovation.

Roney, the first new face on the council since 1980 when Patricia Galvin won a seat on the council, defeated Frank Colombo, a 16-year incumbent in the May 1983 election.

His election to the village council continued the family tradition of service to the area. Political service in his family goes back three generations and includes a state senator, township trustee and treasurer and district water commissioner.

Huettner will continue his family's tradition of service to the village. His father was a trustee for more than 20 years and village president for 14 as well as heading the planning commission and the police and fire committee.

"Our family ate, drank and slept the village's advantages and problems," Huettner said, adding his reason for running for office was his love of the Shores.

"The love I have for the Shores will give me the extra time (for trustee duties) to help keep the Shores the way it is, and always has been," he said.

A lifelong Shores resident, Huettner lives on North Duval, is married and has two children.

Returning to the village board after 14 years of service, Beck has been or now serves on the Parks and Harbor, Public Works and Public Relations committees and the Planning and Municipal Building, Permits and Zoning commissions.

Mrs. Kuhlman will bring eight years of experience back to the council table. An advanced master gardener who regularly volunteers for the Macomb County Cooperative Extension, Mrs. Kuhlman has served on the Planning, Public Relations and Finance commissions. She used her landscaping expertise to help in the planning of the tree movement during the renovation of the village offices.

Polls open at 7 a.m. Tuesday, May 21, and remain open until 8 p.m.

Those who can't see help those who can

By Pat Paholsky

The Friends of Vision put on a program at the War Memorial last week that had not been tried before and filled the Fries Ballroom.

The organizers were not sure whether their efforts to educate the public on blindness would draw an audience. But draw it did. More than 250 people — sighted and unsighted — sat at tables set cabaret-style and listened to speakers talk about blindness.

The program, "A Clear View," mixed serious talk with music and humor.

Marlene Ricca, president of the Friends of Vision of the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology, said members were in a state of euphoria over the turnout. The program had been in the planning for nearly a year.

"We felt we wanted to educate the public that blind people are not different," she said.

In her welcoming address, Mrs. Ricca talked about the efforts of the group with the talking newspaper, tape recordings of the Grosse Pointe News that are distributed to the visually impaired in the area.

She said the support group which meets twice a month at the Neighborhood Club is being copied in other cities in the United States.

"I cannot say who has benefited more, the visually impaired or the sighted," she said. "It's this clear view that we want to share with you tonight."

The mistress of ceremonies, Margaret Smith, kept the program moving with witty remarks. The author of "If Blindness Strikes: Don't Strike Out," she is also an instructor and counselor for the visually impaired at Detroit Receiving Hospital and the University Health Club.

Dr. Philip Hessburg, ophthalmologist and medical director of the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology, spoke of the various causes of visual impairment and said, "As ophthalmologists and physicians, we have handled blindness badly. The Friends of Vision has always been my dream. Now it's a reality."

Jane Stone, one of the sighted speakers and a member of the group, said she had become involved when her married son learned he was losing his sight.

"Be empathetic not sympathetic," she said. "They are blind, not dumb, and speaking of that, don't shout. When you meet a visually impaired person, give your name and approach them from the front."

She added that "blindness can be a burden to everyone, but a load is lighter when it's shared."

In a skit, four women who are visually impaired related true-to-life embarrassing incidents that occurred to them. Calling themselves the Groping Groupies, Joleen Conover, Mildred Liebold, Nora Schleicher and Dorothy Sutter had the audience laughing at their experiences.

Mrs. Sutter told of an incident while on a trip to Hawaii, when she mistakenly ate a small orchid that had been placed atop her food. Mrs. Schleicher told about the time she was shopping in a supermarket with her neighbor who wasn't sure how to lead her around. "You go ahead, honey, and I'll follow you," she said, and heard, in return, a man's voice saying, "I think she's trying to pick me up."

They talked about going into men's restrooms and other incidents. Their message at the end: "We are coping with our groping."

Other speakers included Peter Hewitt, who after 17 years as a police officer in Highland Park, lost his sight and his hearing.

"I started life all over again at 46," he said, going on to earn bachelor's and master's degrees at Wayne State University. Hewitt is a rehabilitation counselor at the Michigan Commission for the Blind.

Lisa Waddell, a 21-year-old resident of Grosse Pointe, lost her sight 1½ years ago due to complications from diabetes.

"We are the same people," she said. "We may need a little more time, a little more patience. The important thing is to treat the person the same."

Musical entertainment was provided by Johanna Gilbert accompanied by Josephine Brummel. Later in the evening, pianist Virginia Shover performed.

Where's the fair?

It was mime time in the Pointe last week as three white-faced performers delighted the youngsters above, from left, John and Mary Kay Schoenith, and Stephanie LaFond and Patrick Kirchner, on a bench outside the Grosse Pointe News. The group was there to publicize the Children's Book Fair held through this Saturday at the Community Arts Auditorium at Wayne State University. Authors and illustrators will be on hand to talk to the children. Other features include book exhibits, balloons, music, puppets, mimes and various celebrities. Call the Book Fair Hotline at 577-2403 for more information. The mimes in the photos are Connie Greba, Milt Hathaway and a reclining Fred Fletcher.

Concert to benefit European tour

Four classical musicians will gather at the War Memorial at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 21, for a concert to raise funds for a tour of Europe. The concert will benefit the Bethesda Choir and Orchestra, which toured England in 1976 and was so well received, they have been invited back by various churches and community gatherings.

The musicians to be featured are Michael Stockdale, guitar; Jennifer Evenson, flute; Frances Brockington, soprano; and David Butzu, piano. There will also be a showing of art works by Sharon Thiemann.

Pastors of the Bethesda Missionary Temple, located on Van Dyke in Detroit are the Revs. James Lee Beall and Harry M. Beall, both residents of Grosse Pointe. The church numbers more than 5,000 members.

Tickets for the concert are $10 at the door.

Thousands of Children Disappear Each Year . . . We Want Them to be Found!

Children's Identification Day
Saturday, May 18th
11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

In light of growing public concern regarding the increase in the kidnapping of children, we would like to offer our services in creating another identifying tool to help find lost children.

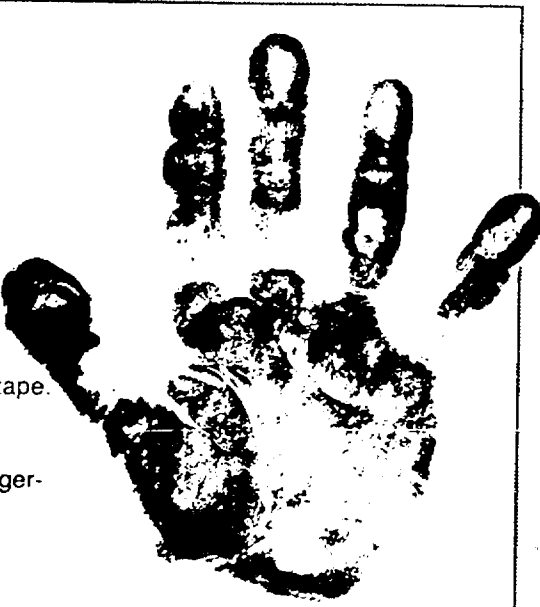

Have your child (ages 0-17) recorded live on video cassette. This provides a true picture of your child for your records. A video cassette will illustrate your child's voice, looks, characteristics and mannerisms. You can have the tape updated as often as you would like (no charge). Updating will show your child as he or she grows.

Just bring in a blank VHS video tape. All the children from one family can be put on one video tape. A crime prevention officer will also be available for fingerprinting your child, if you so desire.

A parent must accompany a child for video taping and fingerprinting.

This program will be conducted in cooperation with the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center.

The newest Republican

As a Democrat, William Lucas was the top vote-getter of his party in the Grosse Pointes in the last two elections, with approximately 45 percent of the voters in this Republican stronghold supporting him for sheriff in 1980 and for county executive in 1982. The assumption is that he will do even better in the Pointes if he runs for governor on the GOP ticket in 1986.

But how will he do elsewhere running as a Republican? Nobody really knows although the Detroit Free Press Soundoff, a non-scientific reader-opinion poll, showed that 56 percent of the respondents think Lucas could not defeat incumbent James Blanchard in a contest for governor. That poll does not reflect a cross-section of opinion, however, and it may or may not reflect the public's actual view of Lucas' chances.

Whatever happens, the move by Lucas into the Republican ranks is an encouraging one for the two-party system in the United States. Blacks for too long have been taken for granted by the Democrats, just as they earlier had been taken for granted by the party of Lincoln. With Lucas switching to the Republicans and with other blacks indicating their intention to become more independent of the Democrats, perhaps American politics finally can become colorblind.

In his speech announcing his party switch, Lucas sounded familiar Republican themes: opportunity to achieve the American dream, belief in the importance and dignity of each individual, and support for the free enterprise system and the open and free society that give the individual the opportunity to achieve his own dreams. Lucas and his wife joined the GOP, he said, to be builders of a better community, a better state and a better nation.

But Lucas also criticized the Democrats for changing into a party "controlled by narrow special interests serving only to achieve their own personal goals" and "nominating candidates who would do their bidding without regard for the citizens they are sworn to represent." He claimed he had been accused of not being a good Democrat because he had "exercised fiscal responsibility," because he had "refused to give special interests full sway to run this county" and because he had "refused to appoint the nominees of special interests to positions they believe belong to them by right."

Lucas did not name the special interests but certainly one is the labor union leadership that opposed the new county executive at almost every turn because he sought to revise labor contracts and require county pay scales to reflect prevailing market rates. Labor unions still exercise strong influence in Wayne County and no doubt will be a major hurdle if and when Lucas seeks higher office.

While blacks can hardly be identified as a special interest, the question of whether many blacks will desert the Democratic Party to vote for Lucas is an interesting and provocative one. They already are quite a few blacks in the Republican Party but they still constitute a small minority. Nobody really knows how large that minority would grow to be in the event Lucas were nominated by the GOP to run against the Democratic incumbent for governor.

Yet Lucas does have a powerful and widespread appeal to all citizens, based on his two-year record as county executive of the third largest county in the United States. Once known for its chaotic and costly government, Wayne County has achieved an outstanding record under the county charter and under Lucas who was elected as the county's chief executive officer. Blacks and whites alike are interested in obtaining efficient, effective and responsible government, and Lucas' achievements offer hope he could make the same kind of a record on the state level that he already has written in Wayne County.

Whether he will be able to meet the challenges of a statewide campaign is still not certain, of course. But his entrance into the GOP is a hopeful sign for state politics and it is also a warning to the Democrats that they cannot be satisfied with a politics-as-usual approach. The public demands more than that these days. It wants economy in government, control over taxes and efficient service. Lucas appears to be responsive to the public's demands. But he also insists he will be sensitive to the needs of the poor, the weak and the elderly.

Whatever the result, Lucas' switch ought to invigorate the 1986 campaign, especially if he goes ahead with his avowed intention to seek the governorship.

More belt-tightening?

The end of the federal revenue sharing, just voted by the U.S. Senate but still subject to House action, would cost Michigan's counties and municipalities almost $200 million a year, including an estimated $222,000 in funds for the Grosse Pointes.

Nobody claims that the loss of federal aid would be a great blow to the Pointe governments, although they can all use the money. If any government could be self-supporting without federal and state aid, the municipalities of the Pointes could be. But even in the Pointes, the loss of federal funds would affect spending for police and public safety, street lighting, public works and capital improvements. In some cases, new revenue sources would be sought. In others, proposed spending would be eliminated.

However, in many areas, including Detroit and Wayne County, elimination of federal revenue sharing would be a serious blow. Detroit gets the single largest grant in the state, $35 million, while Wayne County receives more than $13 million. The county would be required to cut back on its police and firemen and other services to the public.

If the House follows the Senate in ending revenue sharing, the cities, townships, villages and counties in Michigan would face the choice of raising property taxes to offset the losses, cutting spending or persuading the state Legislature to replace the federal funds. None of the alternatives is pleasant and none is necessarily possible to achieve, except the elimination of programs and positions now supported by revenue sharing. So if the ending of revenue sharing is approved, local officials will face some tough decisions.

One ray of hope for the beleaguered municipalities is the proposal advanced to some Midwest congressmen for a gradual phasing out of the program over several years rather than killing it all at once. Rep. Carl Pursell, Plymouth Republican and member of the House Appropriations Committee, was quoted by The Detroit News as being sympathetic to that approach because it would avoid the immediate impact of a direct cutoff.

Overall, it would require an average increase of 2 mills in the property tax to raise the funds now being received in Michigan from the revenue-sharing program. With the public already complaining bitterly about property taxes, it is unlikely that many communities would be able to boost taxes that much even to retain important services now provided by federal funds.

So the prospect is for further tightening of belts by county and local government officials in Michigan and other states if revenue sharing finally comes to an end. It would mean a further reduction in government services to the public, which appears to be one of the aims of the Reagan administration, not only on the federal level but on the local level as well.

Board ignoring downward trend

To the Editor:

In your April 18th edition you carried an attractively laid-out half-page story on the Richard School which I found interesting and informative. My compliments to Mike Andrzejczyk.

However, the story somewhat misinformed readers on one point and then completely ignored just about the strangest and most important fact about the Richard Elementary School.

This fact is that it's more than half-empty. It was designed for an enrollment of 500 children. And according to the official G.P. School System report, it contains only 246 children in the 1984-85 school year. Thus, there are 254 vacant seats in this school this year and the trend is continuing downward.

The story reported variously that the school had 270 and 276 students. Richard School, like many other Grosse Pointe Schools and like the entire school system, is only educating about half the students it was designed for.

Yes, the system is reducing its staff of teachers by 23 next year. This is very unfortunate, but a necessary start toward making this system efficient.

I hope Dr. John Whritner, the new superintendent, takes note of this situation. A great many taxpayers in the Grosse Pointes are seething about it. And it's apparent that the current school board — despite a 2-1 vote for economy in last year's recall election and despite a strong signal by their approval for Proposition C in the later election — has selected to ignore this matter, except for the small staff cut.

Disgusted amusement

To the Editor:

It is interesting to note that most people cannot make a reply to something with which they disagree without personally attacking the author (in this case, myself), as much as, if not more than, the actual content of the offending piece of writing ("Open letter to President Reagan," May 2).

According to Mr. Corless, I waste my talents on worthless endeavors, and am a representative of inaccurate and sensationalist journalism. And according to Mr. Pardon, I am confused, misinformed and ignorant, and I live in a fantasy world, lack knowledge, make ludicrous claims and false accusations, look only for scapegoats for this country's problems, ignore "the facts" in favor of unthinking, emotional outbursts, delude myself, understand nothing about Nicaragua, and have little or no grasp of "the facts" and reality.

Editor's note: The most recent census of the building taken April 4, 1985, puts the student enrollment of the school at 276, and includes 10 children in the developmental kindergarten program, according to board officials.

I am sure that my reaction of disgusted amusement is not the one which Mr. Pardon and Mr. Corless had intended for me to have. But then I guess I'm just too stupid, ignorant and deluded to know to react otherwise.

Zounds! Red Baron is back

To the Editor:

Oh no! As the warm weather approaches, so brings the emergence once again of the "Red Baron" on the Grosse Pointe horizon.

I am referring to the tree-top pilot who dips, dives and circles our neighborhood with the speed and sound of a Kamikaze pilot on his final mission.

Every Sunday morning around 7 a.m., we are rudely awakened by the drone of his engine, zooming overhead. Talk about disturbing the peace!

On the one morning when our entire family can sleep in, this Sunday diver is waking us up and all of our children for the day.

Certainly we cannot be the only family in the Vernier Lakeshore area that is experiencing this nuisance.

Hopefully courtesy will prevail and this annoying Ace will get a muffler for his airplane or fly his sunrise mission elsewhere.

Cheap shot

To the Editor:

Forget about politics for the moment and whether that 16-year-old high school student who wrote a letter in your May 2 issue critical of Ronald Reagan was right or wrong, but I must say that Mr. Lee M. Corless was certainly guilty of a very cheap shot when he suggested that the young man may not have written the letter himself. "If indeed he wrote without assistance" were Corless's words. What a low blow that was!

Coast Guard hearing is tomorrow

By Dennis M. Hertel
U.S. Representative

As many of you know, the U.S. Coast Guard announced several weeks ago that it plans to cut 150 full-time positions and $5 million in operating expenses for search and rescue operations in the Great Lakes. From a total of 49 Coast Guard stations currently patrolling the Great Lakes region, 10 stations are scheduled to be closed while three additional stations are slated for substantial cutbacks. Michigan alone would lose five stations and have one additional station's services reduced. Among the stations to be closed are the St. Clair Shores and Harsens Island stations located on Lake St. Clair.

I know that you are keenly aware of the ramifications of this proposal. If these stations are closed, there is no way that local government can fill the void that will be created — even now they use subcontractors to provide current county services related to the lakes.

I have been impressed with the outpouring of interest on this issue. Thousands of residents have signed petitions opposing the cuts while many others have contacted my office directly. Thanks to your interest, Congressman Bob Davis (R-Gaylord) and I have been successful in persuading our colleagues on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee — which oversees the operation of the Coast Guard — to hold a public hearing in the Detroit area. The hearing will be held:

1 p.m. - Friday, May 17
13th Floor Auditorium
City County Building
Two Woodward Ave. (at Jefferson)
Detroit - downtown

I urge all interested citizens to attend. Because the amount of time available to actually hear testimony is very limited, citizens who attend will be able to observe the hearing, but will not be permitted to speak. We have asked representatives of government and organizations involved in this issue to briefly address the committee on behalf of their members. Additional information can be presented to the committee "for the record" through my office prior to the hearing.

As a resident of the Great Lake State, I am acutely aware of our interest in boating and other water related activities. There is no doubt that, with the longest freshwater coastline and the greatest number of pleasure boats per capita in the U.S., we have come to rely upon the services which the Coast Guard stations provide. Emergency rescues, water safety enforcement and the preservation of our lakes are important to all of us.

Originally, this proposal was advanced as a method to help balance the federal budget — something we all agree needs to be done. Further investigation, however, has revealed that while the Coast Guard cuts $5 million from its Great Lakes appropriations, it will be increasing its overall expenditures in the Gulf of Mexico. According to the administration, this increase is necessary to strengthen our drug interdiction efforts in that area. In reality, the cuts we will experience are not cuts, but a shift in spending priorities. Our sacrifice in the Great Lakes area will result in no savings in the federal budget.

This is one of many tough decisions which I and my colleagues will face in the next few months. I appreciate your interest and opinions on such matters both now and in the future. Your input helps to make our representative government work as it should.

Council seeks to correct myths

Editor's note: The Group Home Advisory Council of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods was formed in 1982 to promote the establishment of residential group homes for developmentally disabled adults. Their goal is to assist toward integration of group homes into communities. The council has prepared a series of articles which the Grosse Pointe News is publishing. This is the last of four articles.

In last week's article, common community fears about placement of mentally impaired adults in group homes were discussed. The Group Home Advisory Council is concerned that people's fears are based on inaccurate information and myths.

There are dozens of families in the Grosse Pointe/Harper Woods area who have raised their mentally retarded family member at home, encouraging growth and development and accommodation to a disability. Now these families seek an age-appropriate living environment where developmentally disabled adults can live with their peers, go to work or sheltered workshops and enjoy a sense of productivity and accomplishment.

Lois, Bob, Lori, George and the other young adults profiled in this series want to be seen as "people" first; people who, disabled or not, are part of a world that includes families, jobs, churches, schools, divorce, unemployment and crime.

Life for all of us is a mixed bag of happiness and hardship, the good with the not-so-wonderful. A community seldom offers an ideal environment for everyone, but if we work together we can afford opportunities for every citizen to grow, make friends, learn, produce.

How can we reach out towards those who are developmentally disabled?

1) Local business people can provide work opportunities by hiring developmentally disabled workers. Gainful employment offers impaired adults a sense of accomplishment and studies support the competency and reliability of these employees. Many job activities can be effectively completed by mentally impaired persons who only ask to be given a chance.

2) The cities of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods can welcome the disabled by including barrier-free physical environments such as cut-out curbs, telephone booths low enough to be used by someone in a wheelchair and ramps on public buildings, as well as lavatories for the handicapped.

3) What about taking a personal stand to support community living for all citizens? When a group home opens, let the residents get to know you. A simple gesture like a smile can close any gap in communication.

4) Offer to join other interested citizens to provide sensitive, common-sense monitoring of the group home.

5) Act as an advocate for and friend to a resident of a group home whose family members are no longer living.

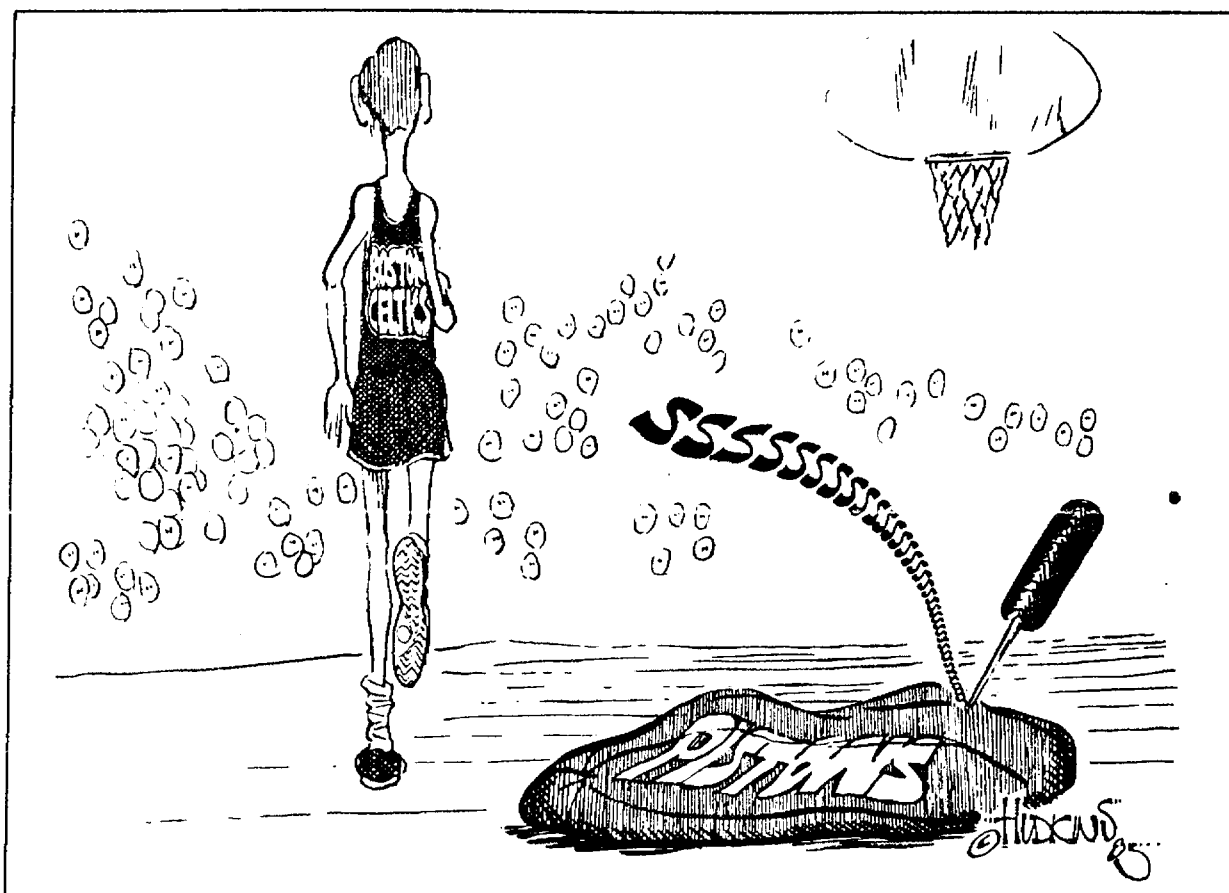

6) Learn more about the developmentally disabled so that you can eradicate the prejudices of those around you.

The way a society chooses to approach its developmentally disabled citizens reflects that society's values and attitudes about being less than perfect. We all have disabilities of one sort or another (do you wear glasses, are you a slow reader) but we're used to them. "Acceptance of people with disabilities will become so commonplace that we will only wonder why it took so long to come about," Robert Perske, "New Life in the Neighborhood."

The Group Home Advisory Council of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods welcomes interested citizens of these communities to join us. Meetings are held at the Central Library once a month and the council is now actively seeking new members for the 1985-86 term.

For further information, call 343-0403 or 881-6318. Much of the content for this series was developed from the Step One materials, a community outreach program designed by Jeff and Barbara Muller of MDM Co. This resource is available through the Advisory Council. The book, "New Life in the Neighborhood" by Robert Perske can be ordered from local bookstores.

I say

There is a little driving called for in this job, from office to appointment, police station to public safety department and pillar to post.

One of the consolations is Grosse Pointe is an idyllic place to drive through.

Take Monday morning. There was a turquoise sky over the lake and not a wisp of a cloud up there. I was out on Lakeshore about 9:30 heading from the Woods to the Park, the way I do every Monday and Friday, give or take a couple.

I put the car on automatic pilot, and took some time out to think about things. Besides the usual things, like what I should have done this weekend, when am I going to plant the vegetable garden and what kind of wax I'm going to use on the boat, I had some substantive thoughts.

Like the possible four meetings out of five nights this week I attended. Monday was the regular school board meeting and, budget season being upon us, Tuesday, Wednesday and maybe Thursday were meetings on the school budget.

That brought to mind something board Vice President Jon Gandelot said at the May 6 conference meeting of the school board.

He had brought his children with him that night, and one of the other board members asked if it was some kind of punishment for them to bring them along.

"They begged to be beaten, but I brought them here," Gandelot laughed.

Board meetings aren't usually that bad. There are a number of parents who regularly attend the special and regular meetings of the board and they don't appear to be much the worse for wear.

The hard thing is, I've had to juggle my schedule around a little to make the budget meetings. Tuesday night was the Grosse Pointe Business and Professional Association of Mack Avenue meeting, which I also wanted to attend. This close to the Fourth of July, there should have been a great deal of talk about the fireworks from Mack Avenue USA chairman Kathy Forster and Robbie Curry that night.

The nice thing about driving during work is you get a chance to think about the things you're going to be doing during the day, instead of worrying about getting in on time, the way rush-hour goes.

Between planning the day's phone calls, there's usually an odd thought that floats in here and there. One I had a couple weeks ago on much the same day as Monday was about one of my college professors at Wayne, Phillip Traci.

Mr. Traci was a Shakespeare scholar and often participated in the Shakespeare Trials, which attempted to prove that the Bard shouldn't be as immortal as he is because he stole his ideas from everyone else. In fact, some claim, others did his writing for him.

Odds and ends

I was a junior, working nights as a janitor when I took Mr. Traci's Representative English Authors of the 17th Century. I had read some Shakespeare in high school and even some Milton, but Mr. Traci opened up another literary world.

There was Volpone, Donne's holy sonnets, Andrew Marvel and what has to be my favorite poem, "To his Coy Mistress" with the opening line "Had we but world enough and time."

Time ran out on Phil Traci about two years ago. He was found dead in his home, a murder victim.

I still remember Mr. Traci when I pull out my Norton's Anthology and pore over Donne or chuckle through the Canterbury Tales.

As all good things must, my drive-time usually ends with me cruising the back lot on the Hill, trying to find that jammed meter so I don't have to dump change in it. Meter 221 was famous up here for a while. It was stuck on four hours for what must have been three months. They fixed it though.

I feel kind of guilty in a way. When a meter steals my money, I'm on the phone in a flash, but when I get a little free time off the city, I look the other way. Well, I'll think about that next week when I drive past the lake. I hope it's a sunny day.

Rotary offers scholarships

The Rotary Clubs of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods seek young men and women candidates who live in the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods for study abroad in 1986-1987.

In 1984, more than 1,200 persons worldwide received educational scholarships from the Rotary Foundation. Awards included round-trip transportation, educational and living expenses for one academic year, and funds for limited educational travel during the award year.

The Foundation's educational awards include:

Graduate scholarships for those who have a bachelor's degree or equivalent and are between the ages of 18 and 30.

Undergraduate scholarships for those with a minimum of two years of university level work who are between the ages of 18 and 24; must not be married.

Vocational scholarships for those with a secondary education who have at least two years working experience, are between the ages of 21 and 50, and are not qualified for undergraduate or graduate scholarships.

Scholarships for teachers of the handicapped who have been engaged as full-time teachers of the handicapped for at least two years and are between the ages of 21 and 50.

Journalism scholarships for those with a secondary education who are between the ages of 21 and 50 and have completed two years of full-time employment as professional journalists.

In 1947, Rotary Foundation started its program of sending young adults abroad to contribute to international understanding as "ambassadors of goodwill." Since that time, the Foundation has awarded more than $100 million for its various programs, and almost 20,000 young men and women have gone to countries other than their own for a year of study.

Because Rotary Scholars will speak to Rotary clubs and other groups in their study and home countries, applicants are evaluated on both their ambassadorial and scholarship potential. Each scholarship recipient is assigned a sponsoring and host Rotarian counselor who provides orientation, advice, and assistance in preparing for and accomplishing a successful study year in a foreign country.

Further information about the awards, preliminary and regular applications, is available from John R. Cobau (for Grosse Pointe residents), who may be contacted at 885-1650 during the day or at 881-1467 in the evening, and from Ronald H. Greve (for Harper Woods residents), who may be reached at 777-0202 during the day or at 884-8790 in the evening.

The preliminary application should be completed as soon as possible. Several interviews may be necessary. The completed application must be received by either man not later than Tuesday, Oct. 1

Neighborhood Club opens teen center

The Neighborhood Club invites high school students from the community to come to the center for an alternative Saturday night out.

The club, at 17150 Waterloo, will be open from 8 to 11 p.m. Saturday, May 18, June 1 and 8. For $1, students can use the new fitness center, enjoy a VHS movie, listen or dance to music, or play cards, computer games, air hockey, ping pong and billiards. Pizza and pop are also available.

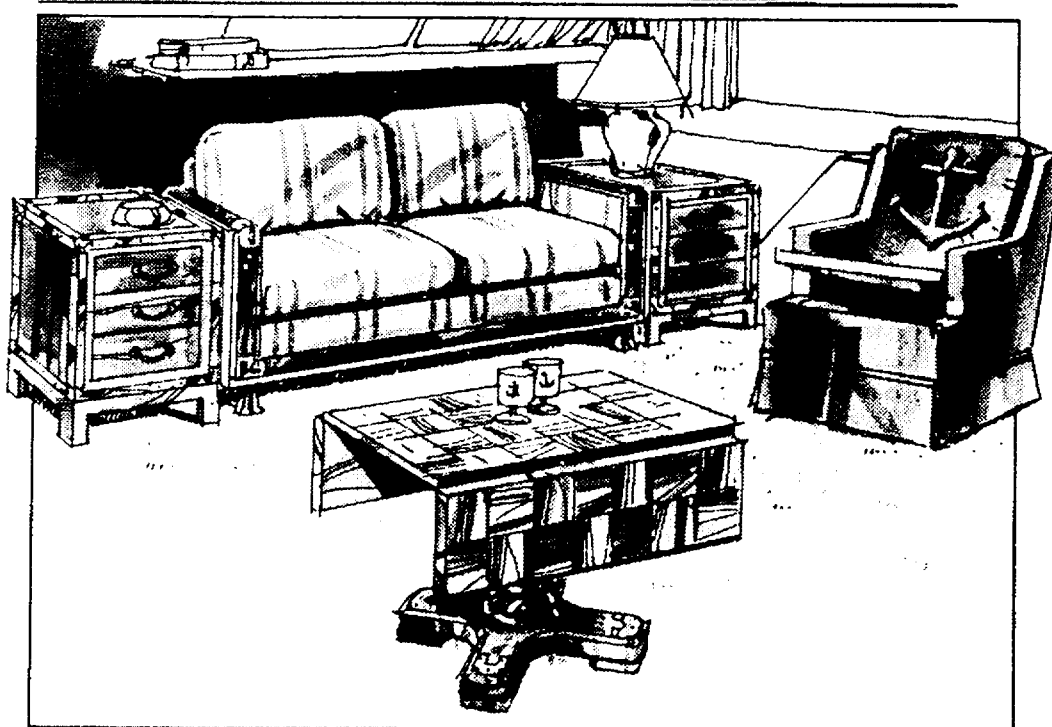

The center would like to feature live music for its June dates. If you know someone or you would like an opportunity to perform, call 885-4600 with your suggestions.

The Teen Center is for high school students of Grosse Pointe and is furnished for their enjoyment. The center needs participation and ideas if it is to remain open for the rest of the summer to offer alternatives to the normal Saturday night out.

Students are top priority at Pierce

By Tom Greenwood

Named after John D. Pierce, Michigan's and the nation's first state school superintendent, Pierce Middle School is in its 46th year of serving the community.

Built in 1939 as a WPA project, Pierce is marked by high ceilings, cool marble hallways and a dedicated staff that believes in providing the best education possible for its 480 students, according to Principal Don Bassett.

"We've got 38 full- and part-time staffers here at Pierce and they're a very professional and hard-working bunch," Bassett said. "They're what you would call traditionalists. If they have to come in early or work late to do their best for the children then that's what they do. That sort of enthusiasm rubs off on the newer teachers. They're totally committed. The kids come first."

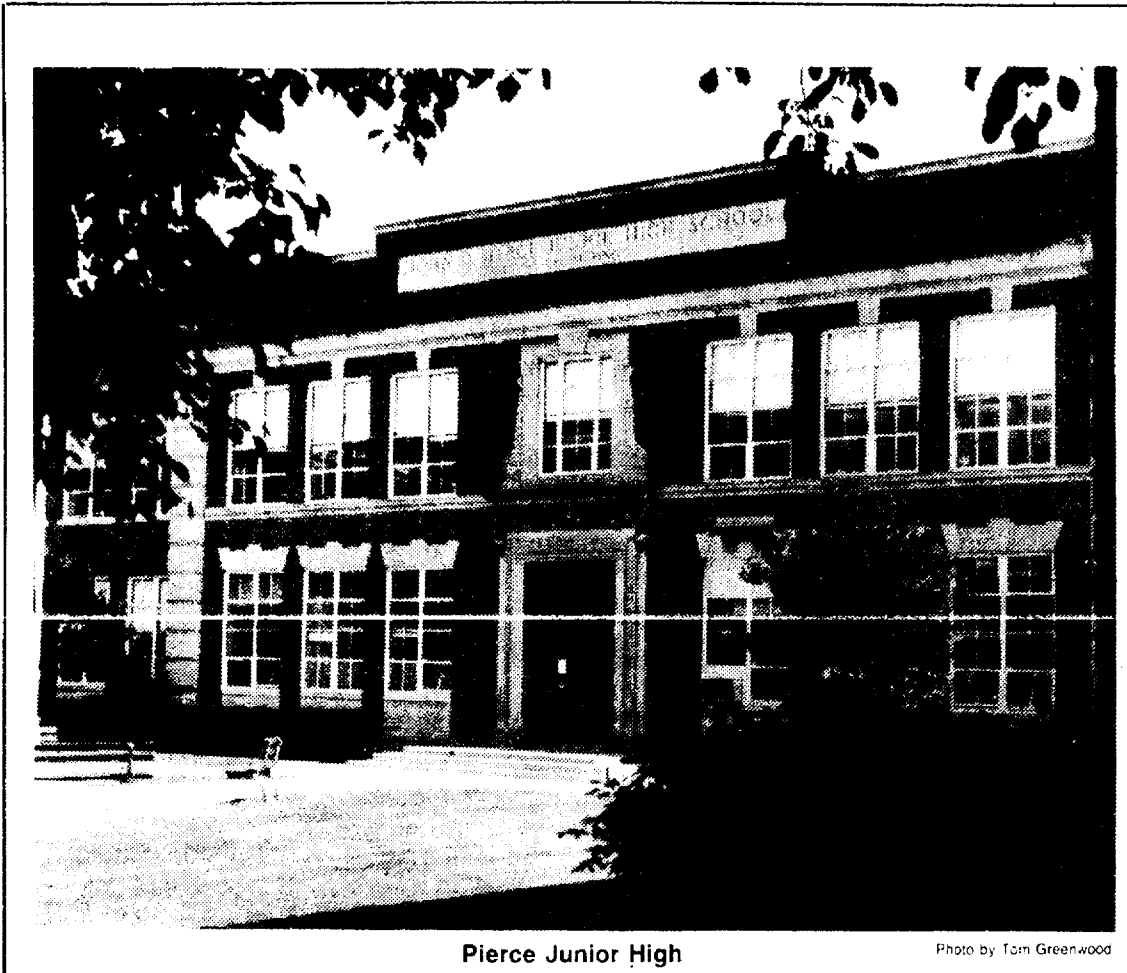

The first year the school was in existence, it held 755 students, according to school board records. Today it holds nearly 500, made up of sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

"We have fewer students now, but that doesn't mean we're carrying a lot of empty rooms," Bassett said. "We have rooms devoted to concepts that weren't in existence 40 years ago. We have conference rooms, science labs and computer rooms as well."

While Pierce has a successful athletic tradition, Bassett also points with pride to the academic accomplishments of Pierce students.

"We try to get the kids involved in as many academic endeavors as we can," he said. "We've instituted journalism, computer, drama and computers clubs, to name a few. We get the students involved in activities that get recognition back to the children. In a recently held Olympics of the Mind, our students took first place in the regional competition and tied for second in the state."

"Another group won a special award for costuming and decorations and during the recently held Free Press Writing Awards, 27 percent of the awards went to Grosse Pointe middle school students — many of them from Pierce."

Pierce Junior High

"And give me one more chance to brag," added Bassett. "Pierce students won one third of the first place writing awards in this year's Martin Luther King essay writing contest sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice. We encourage our students to compete in these types of contests."

On a walking tour of the school, Bassett pointed with pride to a well-stocked library popular with the students.

"We're physically connected with a branch of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, but we don't really patronize it all that much," Bassett said. "This library is exceptionally suited to our students. It's utilized a great deal, especially now that we've added two micro computers."

Like many schools, Pierce has added a number of computer courses so students will be adept in dealing with what is becoming an everyday part of American life.

"We currently have 21 computers and we're expecting 12 more next year," Bassett said. "Computers are one of the biggest needs of our students."

Pierce also boasts a swimming pool, added to the building 25 years ago, and a 900-seat auditorium.

"Both are used extensively by the community," Bassett said. "Community groups and elementary schools have used the pool in the past and at the moment the auditorium is being utilized by a local church for a play. We've also got a band concert booked here in the near future."

Striding through the hallways, Bassett pointed out a number of glass cabinets filled with student awards.

"We've won a lot and it all goes back to the enthusiasm of the staff," he said. "For instance, here in the metal shop, the students learned to design their own cars. They started with styrofoam models, then transferred their plans into metal. Then the instructor organized a raceway here in the hall, sort of like a soap box derby. The students saw their own creations zooming down the hallway. It was fun and they learned at the same time."

Farther on, Bassett stopped before a classroom bustling with activity.

"This is Fran Lamb's social studies class," said Bassett. "He's currently involved in teaching his class about the stock market and its impact on society. But rather than talk about it, he's got them involved. They're told how it works, then each student is 'given' $10,000 to invest."

"They study the market reports, then buy and sell whatever looks good. I don't understand the market that well, but some of the students are making money. One student made $3,000 in just a few weeks. To them, the concept suddenly becomes exciting."

Back in the office, Bassett pulls out a cabinet drawer and runs his hand over a thick row of documents.

"We're fortunate in that we're one of the few schools in the Pointe that has a complete history of our building and staff," he said. "It's a year-by-year description of Pierce from the first day it opened. We've even got the original specifications for the building."

"This is a good staff and good school serving a good community."

You get the feeling that if John Pierce could return for a visit, he might be pretty proud of the school that bears his name.

Health council screens for scoliosis

The Health Education Council of Grosse Pointe, Inc., has completed its Scoliosis Screening Program for the school year 1984-85 with the screening of students at Pierce Middle School April 24 and 25.

Scoliosis is the lateral curvature of the spine affecting approximately 10 percent of American adolescents. The prime time for scoliosis to appear is between the ages of 10 and 15.

In 1982 a pilot program was implemented in the middle schools. In 1983 the program was offered to all

Grosse Pointe public and private schools, grades seven and eight. The Easter Seal Society recommends that girls in the fifth and sixth grades be screened also.

This program is a coalition of the Easter Seal Society, Grosse Pointe School System nurses and volunteers from the Health Education Council. With parental permission, sixth through eighth grade students are screened by trained volunteers. Students are first shown a movie about scoliosis and are given an opportunity to ask questions. Parents are informed about the program by way of a letter. If needed, parents are notified in writing if the volunteer or nurse detects a problem.

Parents should be aware that the purpose of the program is to alert them early to a potential problem so that proper treatment may be sought as soon as possible. Early detection is the key to prevent progressive deformity.

Volunteers from each school are trained in the fall at a workshop conducted by the Easter Seal Society and Henry Ford Hospital Clinic Coordinator Bettye A. Wright, P.A., and committee members from the Health Education Council.

Volunteers are shown the movie and instructed in the technique. An orthopaedic surgeon presents a slide presentation and further explanation of scoliosis. Volunteers are also given the opportunity to practice the technique with student volunteers from a science class.

The workshop for the next school year will be held Oct. 2 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Parcels.

Health Education Council committee members this year include Jan Dahl, chairman; Sharon Chouinard and Karen Marshall, co-chairmen; and Lucy Smith, registered physical therapist, adviser.

The next meeting of the Health Education Council will be Monday, May 20, at 1 p.m. at the Central Library. The program will be the installation of officers for the school year 1985-86. Visitors are

Pointe Electronics boosts fireworks

Parcells Middle School's playfield will be alive with the sounds of music Sunday, June 30, because of the donation of sound equipment by Pointe Electronics.

The equipment will be used by the St. Clair Shores Symphony Orchestra, which will perform a dusk-to-full dark concert before the beginning of the Mack Avenue USA fireworks display that night in honor of the Fourth of July.

Sloane Barbour, owner of the 25-year-old business, is a longtime Pointe resident who has fond memories of fireworks displays he attended as a child, according to event co-chair Kathy Forster. When he realized the plight of the Mack Avenue USA committee, Barbour volunteered to donate his audio services and sound equipment so those gathered at Parcells could more fully enjoy the music before the fireworks display.

Mrs. Forster and co-chair Robbie Currie said Barbour's pledge of support was crucial to the success of the festivities. "To date, voluntary contributions toward Mack Avenue USA amount to just over half of the budgeted $15,000," Mrs. Currie said.

The committee has just six weeks left before the fireworks, Mrs. Forster said. The Grosse

Pointe Business and Professional Association of Mack Avenue, which sponsors Mack Avenue USA, was to hear a presentation by Mr. Forster and Mrs. Forster at the association's dinner meeting May

FRUGAL.

That one word certainly describes Nick Coluccelli, in stock and parts at the Wayne terminal. In fact, during his eleven years of service at SEMTA, being frugal has been just part of the job.

Nick is very aware that money he spends on new parts is the taxpayers' hard-earned money. But he's also aware that the safety of the driver and the passengers comes first. "I'm not going to buy a part just because it's cheap or because someone recommends it," says Nick. "It's simply a matter of finding the right part at the right price."

Frugal. That's Nick Coluccelli. But he also brings other outstanding qualities to the job — just like all SEMTA people who make SEMTA the bus system that works. They're simply doing their best to be the best. As for Nick, it just means doing it very frugally.

Book, author luncheon draws 225

By Pat Paholsky

A Book and Author Luncheon held at the War Memorial, featuring three writers, brought about 225 people to the Fries Ballroom on a recent May afternoon.

One of the writers, a man whose family has influenced European politics for nearly two centuries, was the Baron Guy de Rothschild. Prior to the luncheon, he sat on a sofa in the predominantly blue Lake Room and said one could never have enough emotional security.

The baron spoke about his mother whom he described as "very loving, very strict."

"The father is an example," he said. "The father might help you professionally, but what you are is developed by the mother."

At the luncheon, he told the audience that he wrote his memoirs, "The Whims of Fortune," because "when I gave up active management, I had simply more time."

The 76-year-old man said his son described it as two books, "the first and last." In the book, he relates his early years growing up in the family chateau in France before the war. Then when the Nazis invaded France, he joined the Free French movement.

"Two of my greatest experiences was being greeted (after the war) as if I were a hero and then (re)building a business worthy of my ancestors," he said.

Joseph Amiel, the author of "Birthright," said he finished the outline of a screenplay of the book which will be seen as a mini-series on ABC-TV next year.

The story, ironically based on a family banking dynasty reminiscent of the Rothschilds, is the story of a struggle between a father and daughter.

Amiel said he's always been a story-teller and that writing is a compulsion. He completed law school at his father's insistence and is a member of the New York Bar Association, but he doesn't practice. He did admit, however, that his training gives him an edge when his lawyer negotiates contracts with a publishing company or network.

The three authors who spoke at a Book and Author Luncheon held recently at the War Memorial are, from left, Joseph Amiel, Carol Hill and Baron Guy de Rothschild.

He said creative writing is a talent that cannot be taught.

"You can be taught to write better, to improve on a sense of imagination, but at the bottom, writing takes a talent and driving commitment, a need," he said. "It's a lot easier to jump off a 60-foot tower into a pool of water."

Amiel told the audience that the book, his second, came about "because I was thinking of women and women's opportunities. Banking was virtually a men's club and it occurred to me that it might be fascinating to write about a woman in that area. And I said what if the great banker in this family is a woman and feels like an outsider because she was adopted. The question of identity fascinates me."

The book by Carol Hill, "The Eleven Million Mile High Dancer," is described as a science fiction romance.

"It demonstrates that you can be a feminist and still love men," she said. "It's also a rip-snorting adventure."

She said that the heroine of the book, astronaut Amanda Jaworski, finds a way to make the world think differently.

"The message is if we have not found a way, we should," she said, using the threat of nuclear war as an example. "The time is ripe now."

Before turning over the program to Hal Youngblood, executive producer at WJR, who moderated the panel, Mark Weber, executive director of the War Memorial, said he hoped to introduce a book at the next authors luncheon.

"I'm thinking of writing about the ins and outs of applying for a liquor license," he joked, referring to the controversy created by the Center's decision to seek a license.

The event was presented by the Council of Sponsors and was co-chaired by Gail Kaess and Joan Woodhouse.

Salvation Army to honor leaders

The Detroit Advisory Board of The Salvation Army will hold its Annual Civic Dinner at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, May 23, in the Columbus ballroom of the Westin Hotel, Renaissance Center.

Lewis A. Rockwell, attorney and former chairman of the advisory board, will receive the bronze William Booth statue in honor of his outstanding leadership and work on the numerous programs of The Salvation Army.

William Lucas, Wayne County executive, has been selected by the board to receive the 1985 "Citizen of the Year" award for his dedicated service to Wayne County.

Behind the scenes at the War Memorial

Activities

Nancy Solak

Public relations

It's a busy little office called The Loft, so named because it's situated between the first and second floor. It overlooks the art wing and is a bit off the beaten track and that's just the way Nancy Solak likes it.

Ms. Solak, who's been a part of the War Memorial staff for five years, is the public relations coordinator for the Center.

"I arrange for photo sessions, put together press releases, handle much of the graphics for our flyers and produce anything else that might end up in the hands of the public," said Ms. Solak.

"I love working here because the job is part time only, which leaves me with a lot of flexibility with my family. Dr. Weber is very open-minded to suggestions and is a good listener. That's a big help to the staff here at the Center."

Ms. Solak estimates she works 15 to 20 hours per week at the War Memorial, which usually includes an all-day session on Saturday.

"I get lots of work done then," she said with a smile. "One tricky situation is the classes that are held here in the art wing. Sometimes they involve nude models at the bottom of my stairway here, but I just put a hand over my eyes and go right to work. That's probably the best way to handle the situation."

Anyplace as large as the War Memorial always seems to have somebody like Marilyn Morgan — a person you'd swear you saw in two parts of the building at the same time.

As activities coordinator for the Center, she can often be found in her office overlooking the front of the War Memorial. Music from a singing class down the hall drifts in the room as Mrs. Morgan answers yet another telephone call — this time assuring a frantic mother that her daughter's wedding reception will go off without a hitch.

"We handle a lot of wedding receptions," said Mrs. Morgan, "probably about 100 a year. We'll also stage weddings here at the War Memorial as well, but only if the bride or groom or their parents are Grosse Pointe residents, plus somebody has to be a veteran, because after all this is a veteran's organization."

Mrs. Morgan schedules all events at the Center not sponsored by the War Memorial, including anniversaries, parties, seminars, lectures, Grosse Pointe Theatre and Grosse Pointe Children's Theatre.

"I also draw up all the contracts, floor plans for various functions and help coordinate things with the kitchen," said Mrs. Morgan.

She started working at the War Memorial 14 years ago, just filling in for two weeks on a "part-time" basis.

"At least that's how it started," she said. "The next thing you know here I am. I've been in this position for just over a year and I have done a number of other jobs here at the Center. I work here at least five days a week, sometimes more. I'm usually in early and out late."

Among the biggest jobs she's undertaken for the War Memorial was a farewell to Rose Terrace, when the Center held a fundraising picnic supper on the grounds of the old Dodge estate shortly before it was demolished.

"We had over 1,000 people attend, and it was a lot of work and a lot of fun," she said. "We had to load buses over at the Farms parking lot behind Kercheval and bring them over. There was no running water because it had been turned off on the grounds. But everything really went well."

"It was a fantastic success."

Marilyn Morgan

Programming

Nearly anytime visitors walk through the doors of the War Memorial, they see a sign that says "This month's youth dance is completely sold out."

Two people responsible for the popularity of the dances, and a host of other War Memorial-sponsored events are Wanda Gierlach, travel coordinator, and Jan Arndt, program director.

"We also put out the calendar of events that are printed by the Center," said Mrs. Arndt. "We're very lucky in that our work is tangible. When we see that fully completed calendar, we've got something we can pick up and say, 'We did this.'"

Both women work in a spacious office on the second floor of the War Memorial, with a view overlooking the lake. Between them they schedule trips, youth activities, classes, lectures, seminars and special events, such as the popular fireworks held last summer.

"Our yearly trip to Stratford in Canada has proven to be very, very popular," said Mrs. Gierlach. "Another trip we recently took our patrons to was the True Grist Theater in Homer, Mich. We're also planning a trip to Holly to look at all the historic homes."

Each woman works five days a week at the Center.

"We've got a pretty full slate coming up for this summer," said Mrs. Arndt. "It includes a children's fun day, youth day trips, a day for patrons to show their dogs and a trip to the Waterford Oakes water slide. Join us."

Jan Arndt and Wanda Gierlach

Ed Acx

Maintenance

The elbow grease that has helped the War Memorial acquire its spit-and-polish image over the years is supplied by an 11-man maintenance crew headed by LeVonne Lough.

"Maintenance is split up into an eight-man maintenance squad, which includes a night crew, and a three-man housekeeping staff," said Ed Acx, who works days at the Center.

"We do all your basic maintenance here at the War Memorial — carpentry, plumbing, electrical. We also set up rooms for various functions, and operate the audio-visual equipment. We set up the PAs, screens and slide projectors. If any of the maintenance really gets tricky, we'll call in an outside specialist."

The crew also does a limited amount of groundwork, cutting the grass, trimming hedges and shoveling snow off the front courtyard and the walkway of the Fries Gardens.

"The gardens themselves are taken care of by a landscaping company," Acx said. "We also look after the parking lot, but there's not too much to do there. We repaint the parking stalls and repair the cement blocks. We don't do any repaving. That would be contracted out."

There are also duties at the War Memorial that don't really fall within the job description of the maintenance crew, but they have to be done anyway.

After setting up a podium in the Fries Auditorium, Acx gets a call to return to the reception area. Once there, he helps an elderly woman back her car out of a constricted parking lot.

"We also have to keep chasing people off the seawall during the summer," Acx said. "June, July and August are our busiest seasons, both for wedding receptions and for swimmers. They like to dive off the air conditioner out by the lake. It's just one of those things."

Ruth Gelb, in the foreground, and Marge Hildendorf

Reception desk

If any one spot in the War Memorial could be described as the nerve center, it would be the reception desk situated just off the main entrance.

Receptionists Marge Hildendorf and Ruth Gelb do more than answer phones. They pull double and triple duty as ticket-sellers, receptionists, switchboard operators, greeters and information booth for the War Memorial, and indeed, much of Grosse Pointe.

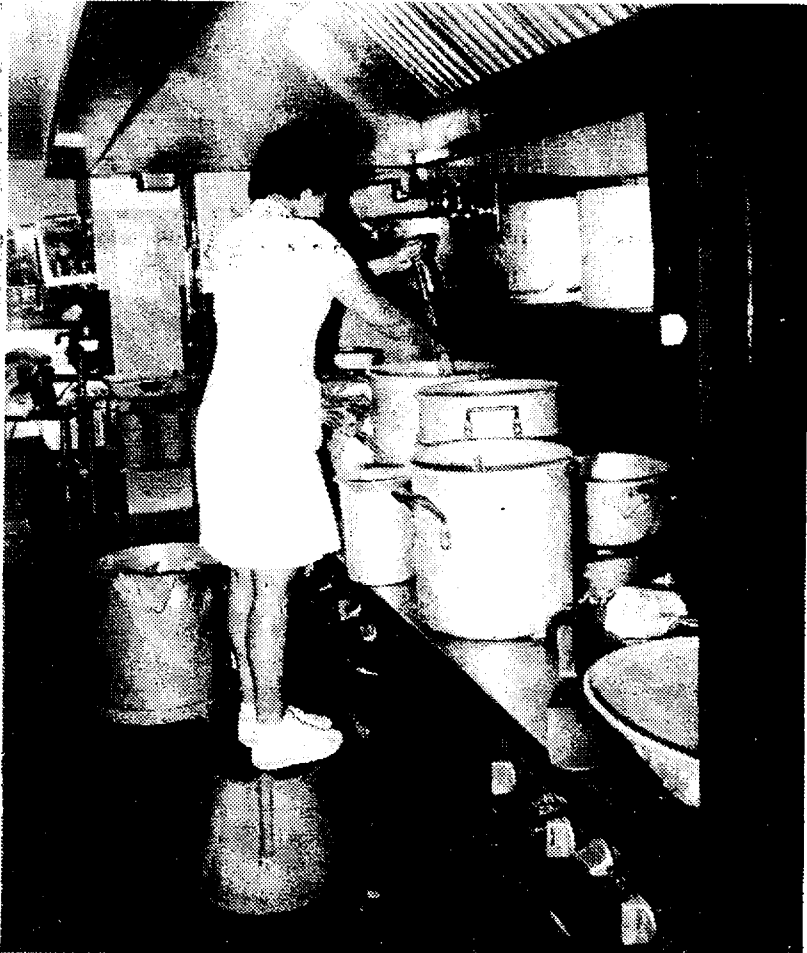

"There's no Chamber of Commerce in Grosse Pointe, so we end up sort of operating as a clearing house for the city," Mrs. Hildendorf said. "People call up and want to know what's going on in the Pointe, where do we get tickets to this and that? You name it, we do it."

The women also run the mimeograph machine, turning out tickets for War Memorial-sponsored functions.

"We keep the mail straight for many of the clubs that meet here, and there are quite a few," said Mrs. Gelb, supervisor of the reception desk. "Some of the clubs include the chess and bridge club, Senior Ladies Club, Optimists, Alliance de Francaise and the Ski Club. We have lots of youth activities at the War Memorial. Our junior high dances are always sold out and the Ski-Hi club is most popular in the winter."

"Everybody seems to pass through out little area," Mrs. Hildendorf said, reaching for one of the constantly ringing phones. "When the Senior Men's Club meets, they all pass through with a smile and a wave. Do you know what it's like saying 'good morning' 200 times?"

With a little help from a step stool, chief cook Barbara Monahan keeps things stirred up.

Kitchen

Things can get hectic when 350 people drop by for lunch. The scene in one of the War Memorial's two kitchens is organized chaos as Mary Lou Osetek oversees preparations to feed members of the South High School Mothers Club.

"Today we'll be preparing 160 pounds of chicken breasts, four cases of mixed vegetables, gallons of hot coffee and ice cream pie for dessert — all of which is made on the premises," Mrs. Osetek said. "But believe it or not, this isn't the biggest group we've ever served. Once we served 400 for the Senior Men's Club dinner. We also serve weekly lunches to the Kiwanis, Rotary and Optimist Clubs that meet here at the Center."

Spring is the busiest season for the kitchen staff. The average workday begins at 8 a.m., which only gives the cooks four hours to prepare that day's lunches. A luncheon as large as the one being prepared for Mothers Club begins the day before.

"Then sometimes on the weekend, we'll have to prepare food for six different wedding receptions," she said. "We work a 60-hour week during our busy season."

Mrs. Osetek oversees a staff of 45 that includes three full-time cooks and dishwashers. The waitresses work part time and Mrs. Osetek cross trains many of the staff to assume more than one position in the kitchen.

"When things get really busy, I'll sometimes have one of the dishwashers peel potatoes instead of just standing around," she said. "Everybody helps everyone else here. That's the only way to survive."

Mrs. Osetek, who's been with the War Memorial for nearly four years, remembers a seven-course meal sponsored by the Belgian Consulate as one of the Center's biggest challenges.

"Two Belgian chefs were flown in and they brought much of their own food with them," she said. "We even had the War Memorial's maintenance crew in here peeling potatoes and making salad. To top it off, the chefs didn't speak English and we didn't speak Flemish. Everything turned out all right though. It was a fabulous dinner."

This year's homes represent a cross-section of Detroit's rich and diverse architecture constructed during the 1904-1924 period by many of Detroit's finest architects, including Louis Kemper, George Mason and Albert Kahn. To add to the nostalgic atmosphere, keystone cops and antique cars will circulate on the picturesque streets.

The $26-per-person cost includes transportation, guided tour and lunch at the Royal Eagle Restaurant. Tourists will return to the Center at 3:30 p.m. To reserve space send a check, along with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore, Grosse Pointe Farms, MI 48236.

Gun shop robbed

A thief or thieves used a heavy chunk of concrete to smash the front window of the Grosse Pointe Gun Shop and took nine long guns valued at more than $3,500, according to Woods police.

Officers arrived at the store at about 3 a.m. Wednesday, May 8, to find the front window broken and a 25- to 30-pound chunk of concrete lying about nine feet inside the store.

Taken in the robbery were seven shotguns, one air rifle and a muzzleloader. Woods detectives said. The weapons were valued at $3,539, detectives said.

It appears the thieves threw the concrete through the window, ran in and grabbed the first weapons off the nearest display rack, police said. In their haste, the thieves dropped three shotguns, leaving one lying near the counter of the store, one just inside the building and one just outside the building's smashed front window, reports said.

Learning about drug abuse

Talking during a break in the chemical dependency education program are, from left, Superintendent John Whritner, North Assistant Principal Tom Teetart, workshop instructor Sis Winger and Board of Education Vice President John Gandelot. The four-day, 32-hour program was attended by teachers, administrators and board members and was developed by Fairlane Health Services, Inc. At the Monday, May 6, school board meeting, Gandelot said he was surprised by the extent of drug and substance abuse and would spend the final year of his current term on the board drawing more attention to the problem.

Decision may be near on new South principal

By Mike Andrzejczyk
The district may be able to appoint the principal of Grosse Pointe South High School by early June if everything goes well, according to Superintendent John Whritner.

The position will be vacated at the end of this school year with the retirement of Frances French, the district's first woman high school principal.

Whritner, Deputy Superintendent Joseph Spagnoli and Personnel Director Ronald Tonks meet Friday to discuss and narrow the field of 60 applicants for the position, advertised as having a salary and fringe benefits in the "$50,000-plus" range, with a two-year contract and provisions for annual appraisal and renewal also offered.

Just how long the interviewing will take depends on the number of candidates the three finally select as the best potential principals, Whritner said.

The candidates will then face a screening committee made up of staff, students, administrators and parents as well as interviews with the director of secondary curriculum and other administrators as well, he added.

If all goes well, the district should be ready to appoint a new principal by early next month. If not, an appointment should be made by the end of June, Whritner said.

The district began accepting applications for the position after Miss French announced her retirement in February. Spagnoli was formerly principal at South before his appointment as interim and later deputy superintendent.

A pamphlet advertising the position said the district is looking to select "an administrator with strong leadership (who) will guide Grosse Pointe South High School through a critical period for public education and maintain its tradition of excellence."

Among the qualifications the district is looking for are a dynamic leader with excellent human relations skills, strong academic background, commitment to excellence in all areas of education, knowledge and experience in all areas of education, knowledge and experience concerning current secondary education issues, the ability to work effectively with faculty, support staff, board, community and students, and knowledge in personnel and financial management.

Candidates for the position should be notified of their status soon, according to the brochure.

James G. Ellison of Roslyn Road is shown with fragments of a ceramic jar, 2,500 years old, that was discovered by him and five other students on an archaeological field trip in Illinois.

Resident helps discover oldest pottery in Midwest

James G. Ellison of the Woods is one of six students who discovered a 2,500-year-old ceramic jar while on an archaeological field trip at Western Illinois University. The jar was located near the Mississippi River, south of Warsaw in Hancock County, Ill.

The pottery type, known as Marion Thick, is the oldest pottery in the Midwest. After restoration, the vessel will be about two feet high and have a capacity of four to five gallons, according to Lawrence Conrad, director of the WIU Archaeological Research Laboratory.

"The finding of a single fragment of this pottery is noteworthy, but in this case, we have approximately 20 pounds of it, allowing us to reconstruct what is by far the largest vessel of that age from the Midwest and also the most complete Marion Thick vessel of any size yet discovered," Conrad said.

Take precautions during electric storms, AAA warns

While it may seem that the chances of being struck by lightning are remote, betting those odds in an electric storm can be fatal, warns AAA Michigan.

The average lightning bolt, a high voltage electrical discharge in the air, may contain a few million to 100 million volts. Translated into kilowatts, a one-hour storm could produce enough electricity to light a home for one year. Michigan annually averages 30 thunderstorms of approximately one hour duration each.

In Michigan, there have been approximately 70 deaths and 450 injuries in the last 30 years resulting from lightning storms. Only eight states had higher death totals.

"We all need to be more careful when it comes to taking precautions during heavy thunderstorms, especially persons engaged in outdoor activities," according to Bob Cullen, AAA Michigan's home safety and security program manager.

To avoid the chances of getting hit by lightning, AAA Michigan suggests checking the latest weather report before participating in outdoor activities and seeking shelter inside a home or building if severe thunderstorm conditions arise.

"Persons in an open area who are unable to seek shelter when a severe storm develops should keep low to the ground in a ditch or ravine and avoid trees since they could become natural lightning rods," Cullen said.

Ball fields and golf courses generally account for half of all lightning fatalities and injuries in the United States. Golfers should not handle their clubs during a storm since metal attracts lightning. Individuals in a boat who are unable to get to shore should stay as low as possible, hug their knees and protect their heads.

As part of a family safety plan, children should be instructed on where to seek shelter when they are playing outside and a storm hits.

Persons should avoid using the telephone and all electrical appliances during a lightning storm. If lightning strikes telephone or power lines outside, it can go through the wiring inside the house and electrocute someone using a telephone or electrical appliance.

"Not only can lightning be deadly, but often it can cause extensive property damage and start fires," Cullen said. "It is wise to consider lightning protection for the home."

A home can be protected from lightning by installing a lightning rod on the roof. While the rod is designed to intercept all or some of the electrical charge and carry it safely to the ground, one rod provides only a 12-foot circle of protection.

Lightning can invade a house through many different avenues like water pipes, television antennae and power lines, and homeowners should check outside electrical outlets to make sure they are capped. They also should trim trees regularly, ground all antennae and satellite wires and inform the utility companies of any sagging power or telephone lines.

"If a tree is hit by lightning near a house or anywhere near power lines, it is important to keep away and make sure children avoid any lightning-struck trees and fallen power lines," Cullen said.

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA — An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers

Extraordinary Guarantee

You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that? It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

$19.95 30 day supply, or $35.95

60 day supply. Order immediately by sending a check or money order to DYNALABS, 270 N. Canon Dr., Ste. 1255 (Dept. 1-21) Beverly Hills, CA, 90210. (Enclose your return address). Credit card holders can order by simply dialing toll free: (1-800-367-2400) 24 hrs a day, 7 days a week. Either way your order will be promptly sent. Please don't wait. Top chemistry student North senior Randy Kuntzman, second from right, can consider himself one of the best 200 chemistry students in the nation, after his work in the 1985 International Chemistry Olympiad national competition. With Kuntzman are, from left, science department head Gordon Morlan, North Principal John Kastran and science instructor Peter Moskaluk. Kuntzman's achievements on the two Olympiad tests qualified him for nomination to the International competition. The program is sponsored by the American Chemical Society.

Veterans Administration answers questions

Q: Are lenders required to notify the VA if a veteran defaults on a VA guaranteed loan?
A: Yes. Notice must be forwarded to the VA within 45 days after a debtor is in default for a period of 60 days from the date of the first uncured default.

Nothing new about the widespread notion that a plant's growth is influenced by music. None other than Charles Darwin himself experimented with the idea. He played a bassoon to his mimosa plant. The mimosa paid no attention. Darwin gave up.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marian Trainor

As cottages go, it wouldn't have won any awards in House Beautiful. It had roughed-in walls, bare wooden floors and shutters in place of windows. Painted white, it held a respectable place among its more pretentious neighbors that aspired to be summer homes.

For us who had gone from beach to beach each summer trying to rent a cottage to escape the city's heat and the confines of a backyard for the children, it was a jewel without price.

Here was our very own place where we could go and spend not just two weeks, but a whole summer. Only someone who has rented a cottage for two weeks and had it rain and become unseasonably cool can appreciate the relief, the luxury and the joy of never having to face the disappointment of two previous weeks release from work being ruined by unpredictable weather.

There's not much you can do but sit inside and watch the sky for a break in the clouds. In the meantime, the dampness seeps through the walls and misery sets in.

To break the tension, you go for a ride but that doesn't help much either. Children tired of trying to amuse themselves sitting in a cottage don't find it much fun trying to amuse themselves sitting in a car. There are only so many cows you can count in the field. And there's not enough traffic on the road to count license plates. A stop for ice cream helps, but after that it's all downhill. After several disagreements over whether or not the proper clues were given on "My Father Owns" it's back to the cottage and bed. It's times like these that one can understand why the sun god was worshipped. Our last prayer at night was for a sunny day tomorrow.

All this could be endured if we knew we could outlast the bad weather. And now we could. No more tears on the last day because the sun had finally come out, but too late for us when our time was up and we had to head back for the city. We were here to stay. We had a place of our own.

It is a wonderful spot for kids. The beach in front is sandy and wide enough to build sand castles or a fort, get buried in the sand, lie on the beach and get a suntan, sit on a chair and look out over the lake, build a bonfire, launch a boat.

Out back the yard is green and big enough for a game of catch or badminton. You can hang clothes to bleach in the sun and absorb the sweetness of the lake-rinsed air.

Across the road is where adventure begins. There is a swamp, not a smelly, "glubby" one, but a natural preserve where frogs and turtles and water animals live. Wildflowers line the banks and birds swoop in and out of the rushes. Against all admonitions that the swamp is off limits, because no one knows its depth or how shifty its bottom, children love to explore its banks trying to capture a giant turtle or a cache of frogs.

With the lake at the front door and the swamp at the back, the cottage was beautifully located for enjoying the wonders of lake living.

Not that children gave much thought to the aesthetic beauty of the spot, although subconsciously they probably did.

The adults who lived there and those who visited had a difficult time deciding which was the most impressive: the sun rising in a rosy glow over the swamplands or setting in gentle surrender over the rippling lake, waiting to receive it at a horizon blazing with the final splendor of the setting sun.

The beauty of nature and its power to renew the spirit, this was the priceless gift that came with being a cottage owner. Each day brought new discoveries.

Because of this, the cottage became more than a structure. It became a friend that provided an opportunity to breathe clean air, to watch and ponder nature's changes and exchange the noise and dust of the city for the lull of waves swishing on the shore and the staccato sounds of birds and insects in the soft quiet of night.

But most of all, the cottage is remembered for its nurturing. Free to run and swim and play in the summer sun, the children grew strong and sturdy as their suntanned bodies absorbed the rays.

Freed of restrictions not to go near the street because of traffic, not to run on the neighbor's grass, not to be noisy because the people next door liked it quiet, their spirit soared like birds freed from a cage.

Beyond all this are treasured memories of life as it was lived there.

Just thinking of them fills the soul with warmth, as we remember nights spent around the fireplace with the doors and shutters bolted against the fury of a storm. As we listened to the wind whistle, the waves pound on the beach and the eerie sound of the fog horn, we felt a special communion as we gathered close to the fire, safe and secure in this cottage that held us so snug within its walls.

And then there were the star-lit nights with a waxen moon shining down in silver splendor on dark velvet waters that barely stirred in a breeze as gentle and soothing as a mother's kiss. Those were the nights when we gathered on the beach and built a giant bonfire and watched it burn down to glowing coals, just right to roast hot dogs and marshmallows. Surely there was no more perfect place in the whole world than here where love and serenity and peace settled over us at this moment in time.

There are other memories that somehow fit only into that setting. Babies were a welcome joy in our family. It so happened that the first year we acquired our cottage, we were also blessed with a new baby boy. The other children had come late to what it meant to have your own playground at your back door, but he would grow up with it. The mind's eye is filled with pictures of him sleeping in a net-covered bassinet under a tree with the sun to warm him and the waves to lull him to sleep; sitting in a playpen watching the leaves moving in the breezes, running with arms outstretched into the lapping waters. His growing years were enhanced by what he came to know and enjoy at the lake.

He was one, but each child has his or her own place in a gallery of memories that were made possible by our summers together there.

No family escapes sadness and loss and the album of recollection, incomplete as it is, would be more so if it did not record those.

Members of families grow, and as each one leaves there are the mixed emotions of pride and joy in them as fine men and women who have fulfilled all your hopes and the pain of loss as the family circle grows smaller. That is sadness but there is also the pain of other losses.

We will forever remember a son posed on the beach, the wind ruffling his hair, a grin on his sun-lit face, his whole body expressing the joy of life. We remember him on his wedding day, his happiness in having found just the right girl, his joy in his children. He had all he needed to make his life complete, but that life was taken from him.

And the father of the family. No one will ever visit the lake without remembering him. He loved it from the minute he saw it. He wanted it for his children, but he also wanted it for himself. And there was nothing wrong with that. He worked hard. And with a family to raise, it was not easy to acquire the money to buy it. But he did and he was proud of it.

No one enjoyed it more than he. He would sit on the beach in the sun for hours, looking out over the water, unwinding from the stresses of a demanding position.

In the last days of his life, when he had a difficult time getting around, he would ask to be driven there where he would sit and look out over the water. Perhaps he was sorting out events in his life, a life that in spite of the important people and places he was associated with in his work, placed his family first.

And so the end of an era came. The father was gone. The children who had once romped through the cottage and later taken on the duties of maintenance were gone and occupied with their own lives. And the cottage that had once known so much life began to die. Left to the mercies of the elements, it began to disintegrate until, finally, the end seemed imminent. The call went out. Surely those who once loved it would rescue it.

But was it possible or would it be a futile effort? Life and people change. One likes to think that nature does not. Geology proves otherwise and points to the mountains and lakes that have been created out of the shifting depths of the earth. As one looks at the lake and sees how much of the beach it has claimed, there is a real problem that it is close enough to topple any structure in a storm.

And the swamp — that too has risen to a point where the cottage now sits on what could be almost termed a sandbar.

Yet one cannot face the prospect of a bulldozer ramming down what was a house that held so many happy memories. It would be symbolic I suppose, of life crumbling under the onslaught of age.

And so we will try to save it. And if we fail, we will sit on the beach as one visits a gravesite, to mourn for what once was, and look out over the lake for answers.

North High conference brings school boards together

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Administrators, superintendents and school board members from Macomb and Wayne counties met at North High School April 20 for a bi-county conference sponsored by the Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods school boards.

About 75 people representing 23 of the counties' school boards attended the conference, according to Harper Woods Board of Education President Arlene Kangas. Invitations were extended to all the counties' 58 member boards of the Association of School Boards, she added.

The conference has a dual purpose, according to Mrs. Kangas. It was a chance for representatives from the various school boards to meet and get to know each other. There were also workshops that addressed issues of common interest, she said.

Workshops included information on how to work together for state legislation, kindergarten alternatives, a review of a survey performed by the Macomb Intermediate School district, a discussion of exemplary schools, how to market public schools and how to get a district's message out through the media.

South Assistant Principal Bernard LeMieux made a presentation on exemplary schools and components of leadership, discussing South's receiving national honors. Representatives from Grosse Pointe also talked about the district's all-day kindergarten.

Taking part in the workshop on the media were Robert Musial, Detroit Free Press staff writer, Neila Pomerantz, Macomb Daily staff writer, and Mort Crim, anchorman for WDIV-TV news.

Mrs. Kangas said she and Grosse Pointe Board of Education President Joan Hanpeter began planning the joint conference in February. The idea came from a conversation between the two, Mrs. Kangas said.

"Joan and I were talking and we felt there was a real need for our districts to get to know the Macomb County school districts because of the way we are located," she said. "We can learn from each other."

Participants and speakers take a break during the joint county school board conference April 20. Toth and WDIV anchorman Mort Crim.

Evaluations filled out by attendees gave the conference favorable marks, Mrs. Kangas said. It was suggested the joint conference be held yearly and that Oakland County be added, she said.

Harper Woods school Superintendent Arthur C. Toth said he thought the conference was well worth the time and effort to plan it because of the quality of information that was disseminated.

"Using information from the workshop on the media, Toth said he has sent out letters to a number of news organizations looking to gain some recognition for the activities going on at the schools.

The conference gave the representatives from the school districts a chance to talk about mutual problems, like finances, declining enrollment and the possibility of a critical shortage of qualified teachers, Toth said.

Legislation that has passed the state House and is headed for Senate approval will change some of the requirements and financing of teachers' pensions and retirements and could by 1988 create a critical shortage of qualified teachers for the state, Toth said.

The bill, which will cover all full-time teachers, will allow retirement after 30 years of teaching with compensation to be paid based on a five-year average salary, according to the state Department of Education.

Other provisions of the legislation include extension of death benefits of retirees to include families and pre-fund the system's health insurance fund. The legislation also aids part-time employees by counting their service toward pension benefits, according to the education department.

No estimates have been made of the number of teachers eligible to retire should the legislation become law, the department said.

Harper Woods public schools have experienced a turn-around in the decline of enrollment, Toth said. The district is forecasting a 7 percent increase in the number of students in its lower elementary grades and looks forward to more years of more children as more young families have moved into the community.

Grosse Pointe Superintendent John Whritner called the conference outstanding, with a variety of good speakers, dialogue and an opportunity to learn more about the area.

Dr. Whritner had an opportunity to meet superintendents from several other districts as well as take part in workshops covering a number of different topics and issues.

While the Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods districts are part of the Wayne association of school boards, their geographic location gives them more in common with the southern Macomb school districts, Whritner said.

Although no new joint programs were launched at the conference, the two sponsoring districts have programs with each other as well as other districts. Harper Woods and Grosse Pointe have a program for time-shared enrollment at the high schools, while Harper Woods works closely with South Lake schools in St. Clair Shores in vocational education programs.

Scholarship winner

North principal John Kastran, left, congratulates senior David DiPasquale for his winning an Alvin M. Bentley scholarship. The scholarship will allow DiPasquale to participate in a weeklong conference on political science to be held at Albion College.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

It was originally the home of Cyrenius Adelbert Newcomb, born in Cortland, N.Y., in 1837, and his family. C.A. Newcomb came to Detroit in 1868. He formed a partnership with Charles Endicott, creating the Newcomb-Endicott Department Store, largest retail store in Detroit. Three generations of Newcombs worked in Newcomb-Endicott until it was sold to J.L. Hudson in 1927.

Newcomb's estate in Bloomfield Hills was eventually purchased by a private Michigan corporation for the purpose of operating the Echo Park Day Camp and School. The name "Echo Park" was chosen because the land drops 95 feet in elevation across the property, creating an echo, which led early settlers to call the area an "echo park."

The Newcomb home was converted into a school building in 1960, but the increasing value of the 80 heavily wooded acres of the former Newcomb estate finally led the school to sell for the purpose of creating a residential area offering unique and unobstructed views from individual sites.

Oakland County has designated Echo Road, which leads into the area, a Natural Beauty Road. Extreme care has been taken to protect and enhance the lush vegetation and dramatic topographical features of the Echo Park land. A special feature of the development is a residentially-owned 30-acre nature preserve which includes two small lakes, two islands with nature trails and open areas for cross-country skiing.

Grosse Pointers will be visiting Echo Park in large number during the next few weeks, for the 1985 Detroit Symphony/American Society of Interior Design Showhouse, "a jewel of a home" decorated in jewel tones by 16 ASID design studios, opened yesterday. Tours of the house at 1244 Copperwood Drive (west of Telegraph Road, between Lone Pine and Long Lake Roads), situated on the approximate location of the original Newcomb home, continue through June 9.

The Showhouse, its activities coordinated by the Detroit Symphony League and the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, is a project to raise funds for the symphony.

It's open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays, from noon to 6 p.m. Sundays and from 6 to 9 p.m. Thursday evenings. Admission is $5 at the door. Luncheon is available in the Gourmet Cafe. Gifts are available at the Showhouse Boutique, flowers and plants in the Showhouse Greenery. Information on Wednesday evening guided tours by ASID members, at $8 per person by reservation only, may be obtained by calling 851-7695.

Concert benefits Mu Phi Epsilon fund

A special concert performance of Grosse Pointe's "First Lady of the Piano," Ruth Burezyk, to benefit the Music Scholarship Fund of the Detroit Alumni Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, an international music fraternity, is set for this Sunday, May 19, at 4 p.m. in the lounge of

On an international level, Mu Phi Epsilon, of which Mrs. Burezyk is a member, sponsors young artists concert tours, a musicological research contest, an original competition contest, an artist-in-residence program at Brevard Music Center, N.C., and Gad's Hill Music Settlement School in Chicago. 'The Club' ends Theatre Arts' season

The Theatre Arts Club will close its 1984-85 season with a presentation of "The Club," at 8 p.m. Friday, May 17, at the Players Playhouse. Theatre Arts says "The Club" is such a special musical comedy, members don't want to give the story away by explaining the plot.

They do say that Theatre Arts president Margaret Lindner and Sharon Conti are sharing director honors and that guest pianist Sally Murray has been assisted during rehearsals by Jean Ground and Rita Stormes. Filling the roles in the traditional "all male" cast are Cindy Pangborn, Nancy Mizer, Cleo Russell, Sharon Conti, Karen Quarnstrom and Irene Gracey. Barbara Braden and Julia Keim are holding book.

On the backstage crew under the guidance of producer Maggie Johnson are Mary Blain, Sally Jay and Irene Blatchford on properties; Polly Weckler, Marie Berteel and Maria Parquette on costumes; Julia Keim, Yolanda Turner and Amy Adam on makeup; and Ruth Doll on lighting.

The Tuesday and Thursday dress rehearsal hostesses are Genevieve Gray, Helen Cope, Elizabeth Wright, Marian Skillman, Dorothy Allison, Ella Lewis, Mary Krueger, Lois Martin, Gay Healy, Mary Lou Miller, Jean Dickinson and Trudy Schmidt.

Before the curtain goes up tomorrow evening, Maralyn Domzalski will be in the lobby offering chances on a bottle of Mouton Rothschild, to be presented at the Afterglow Reception which is being catered by John Messina Gourmet Creations. The afterglow arrangements have been made by Rita Stormes.

Jane Combrinck-Graham, Rosemary Hastings and Gail Weber will be in the lobby greeting patrons and as in all Theatre Arts shows, the Choral Ensemble will open the evening by singing the official song, composed by Audrey Jennings. In the chorus this time are Dorothy Allison, Johanna Gilbert, Dorothy Ignaziak, Peg Jordan, Pearl Linder, Alice Truscon and Rita Stormes.

Native Son Succeeds

He was a "Pointer of Interest" way back when, before he graduated from Grosse Pointe North High School in the second class after North High opened. He wrote the school's alma mater. And now David Gregory is back in his native state, associate professor and chairman of Dance at the University of Michigan where he earned his Bachelor of Music and Master of Music in Composition degrees. U. of M. is lucky to have him.

For David is definitely a success in his chosen field, a composer who has worked intensively with dancers and choreographers throughout his professional career, from early days as staff musician with Martha Graham, Alvin Ailey, the Dance Theatre of Harlem and Morelli Ballet to music director of the August 1983 International Dance Course for Professional Choreographers and Composers directed by Alvin Nikolais in England.

His most recent credits are commissions from choreographer Nikolais to compose the scores for two new Nikolais works. "Graphs" premiered last summer at the American Dance Festival and toured in Spain and France with the Nikolais Dance Theatre. "Video Game" received its world premiere at the Olympic Arts Festival in Los Angeles.

David's been a success as a teacher, too: composer/pianist in Dance at CCNY and Eastern Michigan University, senior lecturer and artist-in-residence at the South Australian College of Advanced Education, music director of the Department of Dance at Arizona State University. He's a specialist in the use of computers in the Fine Arts, and as such has served as consultant at the Universities of Texas, Illinois and Colorado, Spelman College and Arizona State.

He's received a grant from the vice-president for Research to establish a Computer Dance Lab in the U. of M.'s Dance Department. He believes in Dance as a collaborative effort: "Choreographers working with Composers working with Designers working with Writers working with Artists working with Choreographers. The richer the collaboration, the more significant the impact on the future of dance."

Native Daughter's on her Way

Contratulations to 16-year-old Bridget McKeever, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McKeever, of Devonshire Road, winner of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs' $300 piano scholarship. Sixteen pianists participated in the statewide competition, held at Albion College on the last Saturday in April.

In addition to receiving the scholarship, the University Liggett School 11th grader was featured as soloist at the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs' state convention in Grand Rapids last Thursday. She's receiving training commensurate with her talent from Grosse Pointe's "Mrs. Music," Ruth Burczyk, who presented the Musical Interlude at Hammell Music's reception last Tuesday for Dale Nyboer, executive director of the Young Keyboard Artists Association International Piano Competition and Festival, to be held in Ann Arbor in mid-June.

And Congratulations to . . .

. . . Grosse Pointe's Mark C. Stevens, who'll receive the Detroit Historical Society Guild's Patriotic Award during a champagne reception following the Detroit Historical Society's 63rd annual meeting Wednesday evening, June 5, in the Detroit Historical Museum's Streets of Old Detroit.

The award is the latest in a long line of well-deserved acknowledgements of the accomplishments of this Native Son.

Beverly Beltaire is Woman of the Year

The Women's Committee of the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM) will honor Pointer Beverly Beltaire as Michigan's "Woman of the Year" at its annual Cinderella Ball, the nation's oldest ongoing charity ball, this Saturday, May 18.

Mrs. Beltaire, president of PR Associates and past chairman of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, has maintained her role as a prominent community leader and area resident with an unbridled enthusiasm for the future of Detroit.

As the first woman ever to be elected to chair the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce (1982 and 1983), Beltaire was recognized by her peers for her leadership and dedication to Detroit and Detroit's business community. She helped introduce the Leadership Detroit concept, a program which seeks promising under-40 executives from the corporate/civil structure and brings them together in a year-long program to learn the inter-relationships required for community success.

In addition to her professional and Chamber activities, Beltaire is a board member of the Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau and serves on many committees for the United Foundation. Beltaire is also board member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Inc., Greater Michigan Foundation, Hutzel Hospital, the Governor's Commission on the Future of Higher Education, and vice chairman of Michigan Development Foundation.

She is also a member of the special events advisory committee of the Detroit Institute of Arts Founders Society and a charter member and former board member of the Archives of American Art. She has served as a director of the Adcraft Club of Detroit, was selected Detroit's 1978 Advertising Woman of the Year and was also named Women in Communications Headliner of the Year by the Detroit Chapter in 1982.

While a student at Wayne State University, she started as a reporter on the Detroit Free Press and was quickly attracted to the advertising side of the business. She went on to manage three weekly newspapers, was originator and producer of "Detroit Deadline," which introduced a magazine news concept to audiences of WXYZ-TV.

Beverly Beltaire

published Detroit Skyline magazine, and then became a principal in an advertising agency. She formed PR Associates in 1963.

With a mix of major corporate, industrial, commercial and consumer-oriented accounts, the agency has grown to rank among the nation's top 30 on the basis of annual billing. Her personal participation on all accounts has helped bring the agency numerous honors, including the highest award of the Public Relations Society of America (PRSA), the Silver Anvil.

A member of PRSA, Mrs. Beltaire has served as vice chairman and headed numerous committees of its National Counselors Academy.

Brush up your Shakespeare

The War Memorial will be the site of Dr. John P. Cutts' six-week lecture series on this season's performances at the Stratford Festival. The series begins Thursday, May 23, from 1 to 2 p.m. Cost is $30.

The first session will be a preparation for the study of Shakespeare; subsequent talks will focus on "Twelfth Night," "Measure for Measure," "King Lear," "She Stoops to Conquer," and Sophocles' "Antigone."

In addition to the War Memorial's day trip to Stratford on June 26 for "Pirates of Penzance," the Center has already made reservations for Sept. 14 and 15 when "Twelfth Night" and "She Stoops to Conquer," will be seen. Further information on the class or either of the trips to Stratford may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Newcomers — as they 'were'

The Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club will host a "Come as You Were" party at 7:30 p.m. this Saturday, May 18 at Windmill Pointe Park. The evening will feature music of the 50s, 60s and 70s, with WKSG-FM deejay Lance Howard spinning the discs. Members are asked to dress as they did in their high school days. Beer, wine and Mr. C's pizza will be served.

Planning the party are chairmen

Dave and Ruthanne Johnston and their committee, including Bill and Kim Hubbard, Don and Annrenee Jones, Mike Moran and Jan Elston, Bruce and Betsy Olson, Lee and Ann Schmidt, and Dick and Mary Urisko.

Couples new to the area and interested in Newcomers are invited to contact the club's membership chairmen at 823-4379 or 886-2966 for further information.

Jardineres meet today

La Societe des Jardineres will meet at noon today, May 16, at the Shore Club for a luncheon given by Marie-Therese Levin and Lauree Rea. There will be a "Treasures and Trinkets" sale.

On April 26, La Societe des Jardineres held a luncheon at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club with the Grosse Pointe Garden Club and the Village Garden Club. The program, "Japanese Flower Arranging," featured Ms. Toshi demonstrating the "how-to" of eight different flower arrangements.

La Societe des Jardineres also helped out as hostesses at the Detroit Institute of Arts' 100th birthday celebration last month.

Josiah Harmar DAR to gather

The members of the General Josiah Harmar Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will travel to the Algonac home of Mrs. Earl Robier this Saturday, May 18, to hold the biennial installation of their newly elected officers. Miss Dorothy Keister and Mrs. Paul Decker, both of Marine City, will assist Mrs. Robier.

The new officers are Mrs. John S.

Buchanan, of Redford, regent; Mrs. Stuart Pilcher, of Birmingham, vice regent; Miss Frances Bidwell, of Detroit, chaplain; Miss Mildred Skaglin, of Milford, recording secretary; Mrs. D.E. Leiprandt, of Detroit, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Sarah M. Davis, of Lakeville, treasurer.

Members are reminded to bring in their written annual reports.

March nuptials for Miss Goin

A Victorian, trimmed with antique white satin, studded with pearls at the bodice, neckline and long sleeves, was Marguerite Ann Goin's choice for her early spring wedding to Jeffrey Scott Henry. The gown featured a full length train.

Her shoulder length veil, edged in lace, fell from a ring of flowers. She carried an arrangement of white, pink and burgundy roses, accented with baby's-breath and off-white satin ribbon.

The Reverend Phillip Wahl presided at the 5 o'clock ceremony Saturday, March 23, in Saint Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church. A reception followed at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, after which the newlyweds left to vacation in Las Vegas, Nev. They are making their home in the Grosse Pointe area.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel J. Chaen, of Lakepointe Avenue, was attended by honor maid Kimberly Ann Lasher and bridesmaids Cindy and Kathy Henry, the bridegroom's sisters, and Cindy Hasper.

The spaghetti-strapped bodices of their full-skirted, floor length dresses of burgundy taffeta were covered with short jackets styled with high, ruffled collars and short, full sleeves. Baby's-breath and pink lace ribbon accented their bouquets of pink and burgundy roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey S. Henry

The bridegroom, son of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Henry, of Aline Drive, asked Gary Raymond Patrosso to act as best man. Brady Rooney, Tom Ritter, Charles Gable, Rodney Goin and Paul Henry, the bridegroom's brother, seated the guests.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom both selected street length dresses, the former's dark lilac in color, the latter's dusty rose. Burgundy and white roses formed each mother's corsage.

Batra-Spencer vows spoken

The Reverend John Corrado, of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, presided at the Saturday, May 11, wedding of Priscilla Anne Spencer and Rajeev Batra. Setting for the 11 o'clock ceremony, followed by a luncheon reception, was the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Spencer, of Mount Vernon Road, wore a waltz length gown styled with a pearl-studded bodice. She carried a cascade of white freesia, baby blue iris, stephanotis and white Sweetheart roses, and placed a matching floral piece in her hair.

She was attended by her sister, Julie Peterson, of Portage. Hiten Manseta, of New York City, acted as best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Ram Prakash Batra, of Chandigarh, India. Dr. Batra is a retired Brigadier General in the Indian Army.

Ushers were Sunil Dewan, of Trotwood, Ohio, and the bride's brothers, Dr. William Spencer, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Peter Spencer, of Grayling.

The newlyweds, vacationing in Hawaii, will make their home in New York City where she is director of the Center for Professional Development at Hunter College and a doctoral candidate in Education at Teacher's College at Columbia University.

The bridegroom, who received his Ph.D. in Business from Stanford University, is an assistant professor in Marketing at Columbia University Graduate School of Business.

wedding is planned.

Miss Krebs is also a John Carroll University graduate; he is currently territory sales manager for Coca Cola U.S.A., based in Lansing.

Bolton-Krebs rites planned

Mr. and Mrs. William Krebs, of Glenshaw, Pa., are announcing the engagement of their daughter Mariann, to William Bolton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Bolton, of North Oxford Road. A mid-July

'Music of Art' comes to town

The birthdays of three famous Baroque era composers have inspired Artrain's current exhibition, "The Music of Art," stopping in Detroit Monday, May 20 through Sunday, May 26.

Artrain's thematic show focuses on the influence of music upon visual art. The exhibition features Baroque musical instruments and paintings, sculptures and other media illustrating a wide range of art styles.

Artrain will be open for tours from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays and noon to 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The museum will be located in downtown Detroit at the former SEMTA train depot between Franklin and St. Antoine Streets, just east of the Renaissance Center. Suggested donations for "The Music of Art," are $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Upon entering Artrain, a specially produced audio-visual program will introduce visitors to the musical and artistic styles of the Baroque era. The remainder of the exhibition features a variety of Baroque musical instruments, crafted in modern times according to centuries-old traditions. In addition, there is a diverse collection of paintings, sculptures and other media forms from various art periods illustrating the impact music has historically made on the visual arts.

The nation's only traveling art museum housed in railcars, Artrain was formed in 1971 as a means of taking art to the people. Since then nearly two million visitors, in more than 300 communities in Michigan and 25 other states, have toured the train.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white taffeta, accented with Venetian lace. She carried a bouquet of white and red silk roses and holly and wore the wedding veil which belonged to the bridegroom's mother. The bride's grandmother, Irene Sutton, had reworked the veil's netting and lace; she also loaned her pearl necklace to her granddaughter for the occasion.

The new Mrs. Thaens was attended by maid of honor Meighan Sutton, her sister, and bridesmaids Lisa Sutton Becker, another sister, from Laramie, Wyo., Gayle Pavlik, a cousin of the bridegroom, Kathy Grady and Patricia Thaens, the bridegroom's sister-in-law. They wore white long sleeved blouses with their tea length green velvet skirts and carried bouquets of red silk roses and holly.

Met tickets are on sale

The Metropolitan Opera Week Box Office at Masonic Temple is now open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday for over-the-counter sale of Met Week (May 20-25) tickets. It will also be open one hour prior to all Met Opera performances at Masonic Auditorium during Met Week, and through the first intermission.

The office can be reached via Masonic's green-canopied Temple Avenue entrance. Met Week box office phone lines continue to be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday; the number to call for ordering tickets with MasterCard or VISA is 833-7777.

Tickets range in price from $11 to $44. Availability varies according to the performance.

Met Week in Detroit opens Monday, May 20, with a 7 p.m. performance of Wagner's "Lohengrin" in German, and closes Saturday, May 25, with a 1:30 p.m. matinee of Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel" in English and an 8 p.m. performance of Verdi's "Rigoletto" in Italian.

The operas to be presented Tuesday through Friday at 8 p.m. are Tchaikovsky's "Eugene Onegin" in Russian (May 21), Puccini's "La Boheme" in Italian (May 22), Verdi's "Simon Boccanegra" in Italian (May 23) and Mozart's "Così Fan Tutte" in Italian (May 24).

Met Week Detroit's last

The Detroit Grand Opera Association, local sponsor of Detroit's annual appearances by New York's Metropolitan Opera Company, has announced that this spring's Metropolitan Opera Week will be the last to be presented by the D.G.O.A. in Detroit. John B. Ford III, D.G.O.A. President and General Manager, made the announcement last week at a press conference held at The Detroit Club following a meeting of the Association's Board of Trustees.

According to Ford, the decision not to sign the Metropolitan Opera's 1986 contract and end the D.G.O.A.'s sponsorship of the Metropolitan's yearly Detroit visits was effected by the vote of the Association's Board of Trustees. "To be sure, this was a most difficult decision to reach, one that has been preceded by many months of deliberation and discussion with Met administrators, other tour city representatives, and local corporate officials," Ford said.

"The uncertainty of the future of the Metropolitan's annual tour has been common knowledge for the past several years. The continually escalating costs of touring the complete company with seven different operas, all mounted on a grand scale, have proved to be prohibitive for the Detroit market and perhaps for other tour cities as well. In fact, this season's spring tour has already been pared down to six weeks from its former long-standing eight-week run. Dallas and Memphis are no longer included on the circuit; furthermore, the Met's spring schedule at Washington, D.C.'s Kennedy Center has been reduced from two weeks to one," he added.

In late February, Ford sent a letter outlining the Association's funding needs to all of its contributors in hopes of securing the necessary supplementary income. During the same time, the Association's officers were pursuing major area corporations with a detailed proposal that requested a firm $200,000 commitment if the D.G.O.A. were to continue its Met Week sponsorship. The emphasis of the D.G.O.A.'s approach was on "major funding avenues of fresh support." In a race for time, Ford persuaded Met Board President-Elect Bruce Crawford to extend the earlier April 15 contract deadline date to mid-May.

"The search for a major sponsor ultimately proved to be a fruitless one. Repeatedly, we were told that the extraordinary costs to fund the Met's one week of performances were unwarranted. Most companies seemed to feel that support of that magnitude belonged here at home, not to an outside arts organization with no local ties. For a while, one firm which wishes to remain anonymous seemed to be a likely prospect, but obviously this source didn't come through," Ford said.

The Detroit Grand Opera Association has existed for over 40 years for the purpose of presenting area opera-goers with the highest quality opera performances available. This year marks the 27th consecutive season that the Association has sponsored Metropolitan Opera Week in Detroit. Prior to the Met's Detroit appearances, D.G.O.A. presented the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Company, and before that, the New York City Center Opera.

"On behalf of the Association's Board of Trustees, I invite all area music lovers, including those who have never witnessed a Metropolitan Opera production, to experience the excitement and spectacle first hand in the upcoming finale week of Met performances," Ford added.

"I also wish to thank our many individual and corporate contributors for their generosity throughout the Detroit Grand Opera Association's history in Detroit and especially during the Metropolitan Opera's tenure here. In particular, Merrill Lynch is to be commended for its generous support toward the Met's tour during recent years."

May flea market date for children

What a flea market needs is stuff to market... so the Junior Members of the Children's Museum Friends have sent out a call for children's books, toys, games, wearable clothing and collectibles (stamps, coins, buttons, etc.) to sell Saturday, May 18, at a 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. flea market at the museum, located on East Kirby Street in Detroit's University/Cultural Center.

Proceeds will help create a Discovery Room, displaying treasures a child can touch and play with, at the museum. Donation information can be obtained by calling 494-1210. The fourth annual Children's Flea Market is being held in connection with the Children's Book Fair of Metropolitan Detroit.

Group VI's Derby Day party is best ever

The weather cooperated, the turnout was excellent and partygoers at the 12th annual Derby Day party sponsored by Group VI of the Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League got into the spirit of the day, deciding to "spend a buck" and (in honor of the winning horse) make the hospital benefit the most successful ever.

Mrs. Thomas P. Sullivan, whose Harvard Road home was the scene of the Derby party, telephoned early in the day from Denver (where she and her husband were attending son Patrick's graduation from Regis College) to check on the weather. The weather was perfect and guests were able to circulate through the downstairs room and out onto the terrace in the May sunshine.

Chairman of the event was Mrs. John L. King, who was assisted by Mrs. E. James Howard and Group Captain Mrs. Patrick J. Crowley. (It was an example of perfect on-the-job training as each Group VI member is able to move smoothly into the niche she occupied previously and the effort becomes a "piece of cake.")

Overseeing the bars were Mrs. Daniel A. LaFerte, Mrs. Charles M. Bayer, Mrs. John B. Hastings, Mrs. John S. Leonard II and Mrs. William A. Young. Greeting guests at the door and helping distribute name tags were Mrs. J. Addison Bartush, Miss Marilyn Meier, Mrs. Edward J. Shumaker and Mrs. Theodore J. Sweeney.

Helping provide edible refreshments were Mrs. Leo A. Marx, Mrs. Robert G. Frear, Mrs. William H. Griffith, Mrs. Leo Kulka Jr., Mrs. Robert L. Rouseau and Mrs. Richard A. Schrage. Other hostesses were Mrs. James E. Coyle, Mrs. Raymond Crachiolo and Mrs. Henry Roesch.

Inactive Group VI'ers always lend a helping hand and this Derby party was no exception. They included Mrs. Guy B. Willets, Mrs. Frederick K. Cody, Mrs. William E. Carroll, Mrs. Charles T. Fisher Jr., Mrs. Thomas J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Don T. Galvin Jr., Mrs. Harry J. Mack and Mrs. John H. Mueller.

Memories of 12 Kentucky Derby Day parties were revived at a Wrap-Up party at the Bartush home on Lakeshore Road, Thursday, May 9.

Pointe Book Club to meet

The Pointe Book Club's monthly meeting will be this coming Monday, May 20, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Carey. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Robert Palmer and Mrs. Richard Mertz. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Wilber Brucker Jr. will review "The Never Ending Story," by Michael Ende.

903 RIVARD — OPEN SUNDAY 2-5
Enjoy a newer three bedroom Colonial with central air and hardwood floors. See Henri Et-tedgui on Sunday.

In June, 1984, a monthly loan payment of $600 would have obtained a loan of $48,500 on a fixed rate loan (30 years at 14.5%) or a loan of $57,000 on an Adjustable Rate Mortgage (30 years at 12.25%).

In May, 1985, at this very moment, you may use the same $600 monthly loan payment to obtain a fixed rate loan of $54,200 (30 years at 13%) or a loan of $70,000 on an Adjustable Rate Mortgage (30 years at 9.875%).

Look at the difference. At this time, we can borrow $13,000 more for the same monthly payment as was available one year ago.

Call today and one of our Real Estate Professionals will be glad to discuss how beneficial today's financing is for you.

Art on Pointe back in June at Ford House

Art on the Pointe, the second annual juried art fair sponsored by the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center on the grounds of the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House on the shores of Lake St. Clair, will feature 150 artists and artisans displaying and selling their wares from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, June 14, and Saturday, June 15.

The four children of Edsel and Eleanor Ford grew up in this 90-acre, park-like setting, in a Cotswold Manor designed by Albert Kahn and built in 1927. Guided tours of the house will be available during Art on the Pointe, for the usual fee.

Admission to the fair is a $1 donation to support the Northeast Guidance Center's mental health care programs. Parking is free. Shuttle vans will be available for those who choose to ride or are handicapped — but the walk from the gatehouse on a winding path, past the children's playhouse and lagoon toward the main house, through colorful booth displays, is a treat in itself.

Refreshments, from hot dogs and snacks to gourmet deli selections, will be available, served under striped tent canopies. Beer and wine will be dispensed in a cafe setting under the trees.

New this year is a package for groups of 10 or more offering brunch, luncheon or high tea in the "Apple Court" patio near the lake. Mary Berschback, group chairwoman, may be reached at 881-9408 for details and reservations.

An invitation-only Auction Night inside the Ford House Friday, June 14, will feature fancy refreshments, music and dancing, presentation of awards to six outstanding Art on the Pointe artists and a chance to bid on art objects and services. Co-chairwomen Cheryl Waldeck, 885-3815, and Mary Shammass have Auction Night details.

A variety of special events and entertainment will be on-going throughout the fair's two days. Strolling musicians and folk singers, Sweet Adeline woman barbershop quartets and the "Just Friends" barbershop quartet will provide background harmonies. There'll be a Grosse Pointe Children's Theatre performance and aerobic/exercise demonstrations.

The Lahser High School Mime Troupe will be at Art on the Pointe, along with a caricature artist and Calico & Family Clowns who specialize in face painting, balloon animals and magic.

As for the art: it will range from watercolor and oil paintings to pottery, from photography to hand-carved jewelry, from pen and ink sketches to etchings to fiber arts. And more.

Ellen Cooke, co-manager with Sandi Seale of the 'Apple Court' patio tearoom to be open Friday, June 14, and Saturday, June 15, on the grounds of the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House during 'Art on the Pointe,' strikes a pose in preparation for her culinary art assignment.

Jurors will be Mary M. Dennison, the Detroit Artists Market's artist director, Kathy Dombach, past-president of the Michigan Potters Association, and Jim Gilbert, Pontiac Art Center exhibition director, who teaches at Cranbrook Academy of Art and Oakland University.

General chairpersons of Art on the Pointe '85 are Beth Moran, who is also, with Kathy Heitman, artists chairperson, and Betty Loeher. Their organization, the Assistance League to the NEGC, was established in 1964, organized by Barbara (Mrs. Webster B.) Knight and Betty Glancy (now Mrs. B. Courtney Rankin) and other prominent members of the community to raise funds and volunteer direct services to the Guidance Center, which sees clients on an ability-to-pay basis.

Membership in the Assistance League, open to men as well as women, currently stands at more than 200. Since its inception, the league has raised over $1/2 million and contributes yearly almost 3,000 hours in varied skills in direct services, ranging from tutoring to secretarial assistance.

Art on the Pointe, in its second year, is the event created by the Assistance League to raise funds and to increase public awareness of the need for emotional and mental health, and for the Northeast Guidance Center, a professionally-staffed comprehensive mental health care facility serving northeast Detroit, Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — collection of Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth continuing, this week a series on BROCCOLI dishes.

* * *
Broccoli is a good source of iron, and ranks first in concentration of 10 major vitamins and minerals. Select dark green stalks, with no yellowing or wilted leaves.

BROCCOLI ORIENTAL STYLE

- 1/2 bunch (1 lb.) broccoli
- 2 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1 small clove garlic, halved
- 1 medium sweet pepper, sliced thin
- 3 green onions with tops, sliced
- 2-3 Tbsp. soy sauce
- Dash pepper
- 2 Tbsp. toasted sesame seeds

Wash and trim broccoli. Cut off florets; slice stems in thin diagonal slices. Heat oil in skillet or wok. Add garlic and saute 1 to 2 minutes. Discard garlic. Add broccoli stems to skillet and saute and stir over high heat 2 to 3 minutes. Cover and cook 1 to 2 minutes. Add broccoli florets, pepper and onions. Saute until florets are wilted. Add soy sauce and fresh ground pepper. Sprinkle with sesame seeds. Makes 4 servings.

Calories per serving about 102. Cholesterol 0.

BEEF WITH BROCCOLI AND MUSHROOMS

- 1/3 cup soy sauce
- 2 Tbsp. cider vinegar
- 3/4 tsp. granulated sugar
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tsp. cornstarch
- 3 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 2 cloves garlic, halved
- 3/4 lb. flank steak or top round steak, cut in 1/8-inch diagonal slices
- 1 1/2 cups sweet onion, sliced
- 1 1/2 cups peeled broccoli stems, cut in 1/8-inch diagonal slices
- 2 1/2 cups broccoli florets
- 1/4 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced

Mix soy sauce, vinegar and sugar in a small bowl. In another bowl mix bouillon cube, water and cornstarch. Assemble remaining ingredients.

In wok or large, heavy skillet, heat 1 1/2 Tbsp. of the oil. Add garlic and cook a few seconds to season oil. Add meat and stir-fry 2 minutes, until slices are lightly browned but slightly pink in the center. Remove meat and any pan juices to a bowl; discard garlic and wipe out wok.

Add 1 Tbsp. of the remaining oil to wok and, when hot, add onion and broccoli stems; stir-fry 2 minutes until crisp-tender. Add remaining 1/2 Tbsp. oil around edge of wok and add broccoli florets and mushrooms. Stir-fry 2 minutes; pour in meat and juices from bowl, then the soy-vinegar mixture. Stir, cover, and cook 2 minutes. Stir cornstarch mixture (make sure bouillon cube is dissolved) and pour into wok. Cook, stirring constantly, 2 to 3 minutes, until thickened. Makes 4 servings.

Calories per serving about 294. Cholesterol about 53 mgs.

SUBSTITUTE: 2 packages frozen broccoli florets and 4-oz. can mushrooms may be substituted for the fresh vegetables.

BAKED BROCCOLI CONTINENTAL

- 2 lbs. fresh broccoli, cleaned, crisp-cooked and drained
- 10 large ripe olives, sliced
- 1/4 cup pimiento strips
- 1/3 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/4 cup dry Italian-flavored bread crumbs
- 3 Tbsp. unsalted margarine, melted
- 1 Tbsp. lemon juice

Arrange broccoli, sliced olives and pimiento strips in 2-quart, shallow 12x8-inch baking dish.

Combine grated cheese and bread crumbs. Combine melted margarine and lemon juice. Sprinkle casserole with bread crumb mixture, then sprinkle with the margarine and lemon juice. Bake in preheated 350° oven, uncovered, for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Calories per serving about 133. Cholesterol about 21 mgs.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

I had my first sailing lesson last week. I'm not sure, but I think it might be my last.

It's not that I learned everything I need to know about sails, strategy, tacking, making holes and all that other swabby stuff; it's just that in two hours out on Lake St. Clair last Friday night, I found out the main thing that makes a sailor a sailor.

You've got to love it.

In the five years I've covered sports in Grosse Pointe, local sailors never even gave me a tumble when it came to asking extra passengers onto their boats. Then last week, no fewer than six invitations came my way, from folks wanting me to ride on a committee boat to five racers begging me to help them out in the first race of the two-day one design race sponsored by the NA-40 Association.

(Actually, begging isn't quite the right word. I probably would have helped them out a lot more by staying as far away from Lake St. Clair as I could. But I couldn't pass up such generous invitations. Lord knows when I would ever have another.)

News photographer Tom Greenwood and I met Tartan-10 skipper Steve Thomas at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club at 6 p.m. sharp on Friday. Tom would be taking pictures and I would, well, I'd be along for the ride. Thomas promised us we wouldn't be in the way. Of course we wouldn't, I assured myself. What's two more passengers on a 33-foot sailboat? No problem.

When we got to the boat, a nifty little craft called "Wind Sprint," I found out what two more passengers mean on a 33-footer. It means fold up your legs and get ready for major muscle spasms, O'Connor. You are now on a sailboat.

The three of us joined the boat's co-owner, Ron Chapman, (who would be at the helm) for the 7-nautical-mile race that evening) and the veteran crew of Jim Ricketts, Tim Porter and Dave Paschke. I'm not sure Paschke and Porter even shave yet, but like the others they are certainly not strangers to sailing.

Tom and I were, however, and the widest eyes on the boat belonged to us when we cruised out of the harbor and sailed out to the starting line. "Are we supposed to be leaning over this far?" Greenwood asked when the crew tacked and the starboard side became the high side. "Sure," I said, an old salt by this time. "I've seen pictures."

The race consisted of a windward-leeward-windward course, which I discovered meant that on the windward legs of the race, we had to jump from one side of the boat to the other a lot when the tack called for weight to be on the high side. (I also found out that as a sailor, I make terrific ballast.)

Sailing also means staying clear of sailors who know what they're doing when you haven't the foggiest notion of what you're doing. I managed to do that most of the time in last Friday's race, except when Wind Sprint was entering the turn at the first marker. I didn't move a muscle, thinking all the while that I was doing the right thing. Except that I was sitting near what must have been the most important piece of gear on the boat because Ricketts, Porter and Thomas all converged upon me. I got all tangled up in the lines and after all three had politely screamed "Excuse me!" I got the message.

This was about the same time that Wind Sprint and another Tartan-10 got very, very close to one another. While the crew talked about the possibility of a protest, Tom and I were struggling to keep the contents of our stomachs intact and trying vainly to recall the words to "Nearer My God, To Thee."

The rest of the trip, I spent standing on the top step of the stairs (or whatever sailors call them) leading below. I tried to be helpful and call out the wind speed, speed of the boat and direction (after Thomas and Ricketts took the time out to explain it to me) and discovered that such a task is what I was best suited for.

Don't get me wrong. I loved being out on the water in the sun and wind. I can see why this area's folks are so in love with sailing. There's something almost magical about how the wind can move a couple of tons of boat through the water so perfectly (although I'm told that it isn't always so perfect). And how could I deny the charm of sailing after watching sailors giving each other high fives in the GPYC harbor?

But it's a lot of work. Thomas, Chapman, Ricketts, Porter and Paschke never stopped working. You always have to be thinking, reacting to the wind one step ahead, knowing what's coming. I'm not sure I have it in me to get that much into sailing. But it was fun to watch people who do.

Not that they don't have fun, too. On the leeward leg of the race, Thomas says, is when they get to rest for a while, break out the food and drink, tell stories. The ones they told last Friday (one hilarious tale, unprintable in a family newspaper, about how another Tartan-10 got its name and one about a Mackinac Race Porter and Paschke participated in).

It seems that a fellow crew member in that race woke up at 3 a.m. during the race, saw a

North wins title

Bring on the states — North High's girls' varsity soccer team has beaten its toughest opponent of the year for the league championship and the Norsemen are ready for regional competition.

North defeated South, 3-0, at Brownell Field on Tuesday afternoon. Guido Regelbrugge's team used goals by All-Stater Amelia Dugan (two) and by Shannon Armstrong to get by South, which went into the game with a 7-0-1 league mark (8-1-1 overall). South had lost a tough state playoff game, 1-0, to University Liggett School on Monday.

"I said before the season that the league title would go to South or North and that's what happened. It was a good game, but now we turn our thoughts to our next opponent, Chippewa Valley. And we have to play better to win that one,"

Regelbrugge said.

"It was a good game between two good teams," said South head coach John Case.

South's defense of Helen Markus and June Langs and Jennifer Smith played well, as did North's defense of Wendy Clagett, Wendy Blashill and Bridget Brierly. And both goaltenders made several fine saves, especially on Claire Busse and Kim Wood from South and on Dugan and Cindy Bowman from North. Little Renee Stoyka put on quite a show for South as she played in high gear for most of the game.

"It's celebration time for us," Regelbrugge said. "It's the first time we've gone through the league unbeaten and untied." North finished the regular season at 11-1.

Historic tennis club on its way back

Fire destroyed the 73-year-old Indian Village Tennis Club last November, but construction on a new clubhouse for one of the nation's oldest tennis clubs operating on an original site is progressing well. The cornerstone-laying ceremony took place April 25 at the IVTC, located at 1502 Parker Avenue between Agnes and St. Paul on Detroit's east side.

The 233-member club was founded April 25, 1912. During the past 73 years, many of the major mid-western male and female tennis champions have been members or guests of this historical club. The new 4,250 square foot clubhouse and porch has a target completion date of May 18, in time for that day's annual Prospective Member Reception.

IVTC Vice President Harry Constant, of the Park, complimented club members for their spirit of volunteerism. "Two outstanding traditions make Indian Village Tennis Club unique. First, members do 90 percent of the work with out pay. Second, everyone, no matter how talented, plays tennis with fellow members automatically without grumbling. Playing in cliques is not permitted."

According to the IVTC, funds for the new facilities have been raised through member donations and a member bond issue; insurance disbursements were not sufficient to cover the new construction and furnishings. Part of the current building program includes a new sprinkling system for the clay courts.

Club officers include president Jack Dillon, of Bloomfield Hills; vice president Constant, who is also a member of the Building Committee; treasurer and Building Committee member Al Jacoby, of the Park; and secretary Dr. Roy Cumming, of Detroit. Jacoby chaired the recent cornerstone-laying ceremony, with help from Connie Westcott, of Grosse Pointe, and William N. Brown, of Detroit, refreshments; and Tom Pride, of Southfield, and Nancy Schmidt, of Utica, publicity.

Upcoming events include the opening party on Saturday, May 18; Bourbon and Blends No. 1 on May 27; First Wednesday Night Dinner, June 5; TGIF No. 1 (Grand Prix Party) June 21; Bourbon and Blends No. 2, July 4; TGIF No. 2, July 12; TGIF No. 3, July 26; Fun Night No. 1, Aug. 9; TGIF No. 4, Aug. 23; Bourbon and Blends No. 3, Sept. 2; Fun Night No. 2, Sept. 13; Last Wednesday Night Dinner (Awards Night) Sept. 25; Champagne Breakfast, Oct. 6; and the Presidents' Ball, Oct. 26.

South track team stays in race

The South High girls' track team remains in contention for first place in the Eastern Michigan League with one meet remaining. South is 5-1 in the EML and 6-2 overall. Leading the way to that record have been South's distance runners. In eight dual meets this season, the distance runners have outscored opponents, 228-20.

Leading that crew is All-State junior Nancy Solterisch. She is undefeated in dual meet competition in both the 1600 and 3200 runs and her times in those events, 5:20 and 11:34, rank among the area's best. Right behind Solterisch are senior Barb Giroux and freshman Ellen Mayer, both under 12:00 in the 3200 run.

South's distance 3200 relay team of Giroux, Mayer, Kelly Riehl and Renuka Uthappa are the top-seeded team (9:51.5) in this Saturday's state regional track meet hosted by South.

South's record-holder Katie Ament continues to shine in the discus with several 100-plus foot throws over the past two weeks. And South's sprinters continue to improve, with the 800 meter relay team racing to a 1:52.3 finish to help South edge out Port Huron Northern last week, 68-60. The time compiled by Julie Boyt, Jen Meehan, Erin Kershaw and Kerry Bruce is a two-year best for South.

In addition, Kershaw has combined with Karin Seylor and freshman Wendy Berger to give South its best trio of hurdlers ever.

Also making big contributions to the varsity's success are freshman Reba Uthappa in the 400, sophomore Lucia Bridenstone in the long jump, freshman Mimi Spencer in the high jump and freshman Micha Song in the distance events.

The state regionals at South this Saturday, May 18, begin with qualifying heats in the morning. All race finals begin at 1:30 p.m. South will compete in the EML championship meet on May 21 at Port Huron Northern.

Family fun run

The Lakeshore Family YMCA will hold its fourth annual Family Fun Run and Open House, Saturday, June 1, at 9 a.m. Participants may walk or run one or three miles (wagons and strollers are welcome).

Registration is $6 for non-members, $5 for members before May 20; after May 20, fees are $6 and $7. Those who register at the "Y" before May 20 get a Fun Run T-shirt. There will be a free stretching clinic prior to the run; balloons and refreshments will also be available.

Another big week for North High batters

By Bill Hoover
and Brooke Bessert
North High

North High's varsity baseball team finished another successful week, defeating L'Anse Creuse, 14-8, on May 8 and taking two from Clintondale on May 10, 10-4 and 8-4.

The L'Anse Creuse game, never a close one, saw the Norsemen hold leads of 7-0 and 14-3. Craig Engel, who struck out only two batters, "did a good job keeping the ball down," according to Coach Frank Sumner. L'Anse Creuse hit 14 ground balls. Engel pitched five innings and earned the win before being relieved by Bill Miller and Ken Straske.

Offensively, Brian Ulatowski and Dan Kopitzke each had two hits and two-run homers. Dennis D'Agnes, despite getting only one hit, was credited with four RBI after walking twice with the bases loaded.

Kopitzke struck out seven and pitched five innings to record the victory in the first game against Clintondale. Pat Kilcline, who pitched the last two innings for North, had what Sumner called the "key hit" when he singled in two runs in the second inning. Another offensive boost came in the fourth inning when Kopitzke and Ulatowski hit back-to-back home runs.

In the nightcap, "base running helped us get going," commented Coach Sumner, who saw his Norsemen steal 10 bases. North batters added 10 hits.

Kopitzke went 2-for-2 with one RBI; Matt Mourad was 2-for-2 with a double and an RBI, and Mike Farley also had two hits and an RBI. The big blast came from Joe Weidenbach who homered in the third. Kilcline, Craig Como and Weidenbach split the pitching duties; Kilcline got the win.

North's next game is at 4 p.m. Friday, May 17, at Brabec.

North's JV baseball team defeated L'Anse Creuse North 12-3, and L'Anse Creuse, 12-3, last week.

Against L'Anse Creuse North, Ed Wood struck out six and earned the win, and Joe Craparotta went 2-for-3 with two home runs and five RBI. Rob Marshall and Steve Nieman each hit a home run and collected two hits apiece.

In the L'Anse Creuse game, Jack Williams was the winning pitcher; he struck out eight and walked three. Mike Miller led North with three RBI while Mike Gates and C.J. Anderson each added two RBI.

North's next contest, at 4 p.m. Friday, May 17, is a doubleheader at home against DeLaSalle.

Kickers going strong

North's varsity and JV soccer teams beat Andover and Country Day by the identical 10-0 scores last week.

The varsity team has a 10-1 record. Varsity scorers for the Lady Norsemen included Shannon Armstrong (three), Amelia Dugan, Bridget Briery, and Sue Regalado (two each) and Cindy Bowman.

On May 9, the varsity beat Woods Tower in the first game of the state tournament, 5-1. Leading scorer was Bridget Briery (two). Armstrong, Dugan and Bowman each added one goal.

The varsity team's next game is Friday, May 17.

A softball win

North's varsity girls' softball team beat L'Anse Creuse, 16-1. North scored three runs in the first inning and six more in the second. The Lady Norsemen are currently in second place in the Bi-county with a 5-1 record.

Julie Cook led North with two triples, a single and seven RBI. Linda Rayos had three hits for North and scored three runs. Senior pitcher Paula Harms pitched her second no-hitter of 1985, striking out four in the shortened five-inning game.

The next matchup for the Lady Norsemen is at 4 p.m. Friday, May 17, at Brabec.

Tracksters win

North's girls' track team met Clintondale on May 7, winning 94.5-33.5. North's girls won all four relays and swept all three places in the half mile, the one mile, and the two mile plus the 300 hurdles to run their record to 6-0. Kelly Fournier and Barb Labadie each won two events.

North remained undefeated, beating South Lake, 115-13, and taking first and second in every running event. Coaches' commendations went to Sue Roland and Kelly Fournier, both with two firsts, and to Jill Dornbrock, with three firsts.

The Lady Norsemen compete at 10 a.m. this Saturday, May 18, at South High in the regionals.

Boys split

North's boys' track team had a busy week beginning with an appearance at the Port Huron Northern Invitational on May 4. Individually, Brian Bergeron placed first in discus (142 feet, 6 inches) and sixth in shot put (47 feet, 2 1/2 inches).

Baik Hur took seventh in 110 high hurdles (16.4) and Mike Wujek was eighth in long jump (19 feet, 6 inches). Tom Rice took eighth in the 3200 meter run.

On May 7, the boys' track team lost to Clintondale, 68-69. Highlights included Wujek's first in both high jump (5 feet, 10 inches) and long jump (20 feet, 2 3/4 inches). Bergeron also placed first in shot put (48 feet, 3 1/4 inches), and Adrian Weyhing was a double winner in the mile (4:49) and the two mile (10:38).

The Norsemen's week ended on a high note when they beat South Lake, 108-28. Outstanding first place performances were turned in by Wujek in the 100 meter (11.4), Tom Augustus in the 200 meter (25.07), and Larry David in the 400 meter (55.6).

The boys compete in regionals at South High this Saturday.

Busy lacrosse week

The ULS varsity girls' lacrosse team was busy last week. The girls beat Academy of the Sacred Heart, 9-5, on goals by Shelby Meade, Andra Hirt, Susan Georgi, Amy Ottaway, Angela Navarro and Becky Ingall. Then on May 9, ULS traveled to Kingswood for a rematch for their previous tie, winning 8-7.

At halftime, Liggett found itself down 6-1, but came back to win after some encouraging words from Coach Melinda Reuter and teammates. Goals were scored by Hirt (two), Georgi (two), Ottaway (three), and Ingall (one). Last Saturday, Kingswood hosted the annual playday; inviting ULS, Laurel and Hathaway Brown. ULS lost to Laurel, 8-6. Goals were scored by Leah Evanski, Hirt, Navarro and Kara Van Dellen.

Hathaway Brown also beat ULS, 11-9. Goalie Barry Hamilton faced 41 shots on goal, saving 73 percent of them. The goals were scored by Ottaway (three), Katherine Bianchi, Hirt, Georgi (two each) and Fay Howenstein.

ULS's last game of the season is May 21 at Academy of the Sacred Heart at 4 p.m. (By Amy Ottaway).

Tracksters second

The ULS boys' track team placed second out of three teams in a meet held May 7. Southfield Christian was first and Lutheran Northwest, third.

For ULS, Blasko Ristic placed first in the 110 meter high hurdles, Bob Williams won the 300 meter low hurdles and Bob Tumacder placed first in the pole vault. ULS also finished first in the 800 meter relay; the members of the team being Tumacder, Mark Kozlowski, Howard Fauntroy and Jack Ferris.

ULS was second in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference championship meet last Saturday. Members of the ULS team who earned All-Conference honors were: Ferris (he set a conference record in the pole vault by clearing 11 feet, 8 inches); Tumacder (pole vault), Ristic (110 high hurdles, 300 low hurdles), Steve Schmidt (110 high hurdles), Chip Davis (400 meter dash), and Williams (300 meter low hurdles).

The Knights will compete in the Class C State regional track meet at Napoleon High School in Napoleon this Saturday, May 18.

Girls win again

The ULS girls' varsity track and field team picked up two more victories last week, running their record to 13-1.

On May 7, the Lady Knights defeated Southfield Christian and Lutheran Northwest High School, 78 1/2-48-33 1/2. Samantha DeSmet was high scorer for ULS, picking up wins in both the high jump and long jump. Other first places were taken by Lydia Alexander (100 meter hurdles), Liz Hader (discus) and Laura Rizzo (3200 meters).

The ULS 3200 meter relay team of Kavita Sood, Carolyn Seydel, Lisa Beizai and Scarlet Parris captured an uncontested first place, while the 1600 meter relay team of Charu Nautiyal, Sophia Park, Judy Go and Miriam Mueller took a win over a tough Southfield Christian team.

Coaches Cathy Schmidt, Sue Frederick and Josh Schmidt praised the 16 personal best performances of Carol Ling, Vera Samudrala, Pam Hickey, Phan Lam, Danne Bullock, Wendy Willett, Catrin Winter, Nautiyal, Beizai, Rizzo, Parris, Hader and DeSmet. "It's incredible that the girls are still trying so hard and doing so well," said Frederick.

The final score was Bethesda Christian 103 1/2, ULS 66, Southfield Christian 38 1/2, Lutheran Northwest 28, Plymouth Christian 8. Five Lady Knights were named to the All-Conference team: Alexander (100 hurdles), DeSmet (high jump), Rebecca Boone (shot put), Judy Go (300 hurdles) and Nora Staebler (discus).

PARK YANKEES-FARMS-CITY TIGERS

Jason Bedsworth and Matt Recht pitched the Yankees to a 5-4 win. Recht tripled and scored the winning run on Josh Christ's single. Richard Nelson displayed some smart baserunning and Dan Minadeo. Kyle Hove, Peter Griem and George Petersmarck were outstanding on defense. Petersmarck had pitched a complete game, 2-1 win over the Farms-City Phils earlier in the week.

PARK CARDS-FARMS-CITY DODGERS

A pair of two-run homers from Jim Pote and Bill Saylor and Lance DeBets' solo shot led the Cards to a 16-4 win. DeBets pitched well and got help from relievers Pote and Danny Paul. First-year player Paul also made the catch of the day to end a Dodger rally. Dan Commer, Don DeSeranno, Ed Dorda, Chris Holley, Brandon Lulis, Pat O'Donoghue and Ryan McCartney played well.

PARK ORIOLES-FARMS-CITY TIGERS

Tim Gramling pitched a complete game and had three hits in leading the Orioles to a 6-4 win. Matt Jacklyn, Kelly Graves and Aaron McNally had clutch hits. Mike Spanich, Jay Michael, Brian Forester, Jason Bailey, Matt Bentley, Darren Havern and catcher Scott Lupo played heads-up defense.

CARDS-ORIOLES

DeBets pitched the Cards to a win over the Orioles. Saylor's three hits led a Card offense which included safeties from DeSeranno, Commer, O'Donoghue, Dorda, Holley, Paul, McCartney and Pote. Pote also pitched in relief. Commer, Paul and Lulis played well on defense. John Haise's three-run homer led the Oriole attack, which included Spanich's 3-for-3 day. Gramling, Jacklyn and Graves each had doubles. Lupo, Michael, Bailey, Bentley and Havern also played well.

PARK WHITE SOX-CITY-FARMS INDIANS

The Sox and Indians played to a 17-17 tie. Jason Benavidez hit two home runs and Josh Cummings. Fred Turner, John Roberts, Peter Moran and Dan Cummings also had hits. Josh Cummings' steal of home in the Sox' last at-bat tied the game which was called after regulation due to darkness. Mike Riley, Jim Campagna, Andy Bramlage and Tim Nolan played well for the Sox.

MSU-NOTRE DAME

MSU used a six-run sixth inning, sparked by the hitting of Breen Schoenherr and Fritz Coyro with two RBI each, to beat a determined Notre Dame team, 7-3. Coyro was the winner for MSU. Pat Jarvis and Tom Rajt split the mound chores for Notre Dame. Pat Jarvis and Brian Urso combined for a double play. Urso also had two triples for Notre Dame.

Babe Ruth League

Farms, Park teams open season

The Park's Babe Ruth Major League season got under way last weekend with the Padres defeating the champion Dodgers, 7-5. Eric Nord collected three hits and three RBI to pace the winners. Karl Striebel added two hits, including a triple, and drove in one run.

Winning pitcher George Ayrault went the route, yielding seven hits and two earned runs while striking out eight. The Dodgers' Dave Salakowski fanned nine batters and chipped in with two hits and two RBI. Eric Zihlman tripled and drove in one run for the Dodgers.

The Phillies were 10-5 winners over the Braves in their opener. Winner Pat DeLaere gave up four hits and one walk while striking out 12. Rob Feola, Mike Montagne and Mike O'Leary each tripled for the winners and Chris Markus drove in four runs. Joe Tedesco had two hits for the Braves.

Tracksters unbeaten; Falcons seek title

The St. Clare track team, attempting to complete its seventh straight undefeated season, is on the right track after winning its first four meets. And the Falcon boys' baseball team will face St. Jude in a showdown for first place this Saturday.

The Falcon tracksters defeated St. Ambrose, 82-9; St. Paul, 68-23; St. Veronica, 78-12; and last week, topped St. Matthew, 70-21. Eighth grade standout Chris May is undefeated this season, taking three first place finishes for St. Clare in every meet. Other top Falcon sprinters are John Williams, Mike Pote, Anthony Slusser, Dane Lupp, Chris Gramling, John Arendt and Louis Dobbs.

The St. Clare distance team has been led by Keith Mitchell, Jeff Whitty and John Finucane.

The Falcon girls' team, which will go after an unprecedented sixth consecutive Metro-Detroit city title, has been led by sprinters Tara Lulis, Cece Rettig, Stacy McQuerry, Kathleen Monaghan, Megan Lahey and eight grade sensation Tracy McQuerry. McQuerry has established new St. Clare records in the 100 meter dash (12.4) and 200 meter dash (26.3). These times are also well under all-time CYO records.

Contributing for the girls in the distance races are seventh graders Jennifer Temple, Beth Hoy and Christy Wronkowski.

The Falcons compete this Sunday against St. Joan at 5 p.m. at North High. On May 23, the junior varsity (fourth-fifth-sixth grades) will defend its championships title for the third time in as many years when St. Paul and St. Clare host the CYO junior varsity championships at South High at 5 p.m.

St. Clare will host the CYO track

Tennis pros to be tested at Lochmoor

Lochmoor Country Club in Grosse Pointe hosted an unusual test for an unusual set of participants on May 11. The participants were professionals — tennis teaching professionals.

The day-long test is the United States Professional Tennis Association's USPTA membership certification test. This exam, for tennis instructors interested in joining USPTA, involves a comprehensive testing procedure which includes a four-hour written exam and an on-court teaching test.

The written portion contains sections that test a professional's knowledge of business and management practices, teaching principles, tennis history, rules and court maintenance.

The on-court exam tests, among other things, a professional's proficiency at conducting private and group lessons, stroke execution and grip analysis.

According to USPTA Executive Director Tim Heckler, many professionals, confronted with the pressures of an increasingly competitive tennis industry, are viewing professional certification as a business necessity.

For more information on USPTA certification, contact USPTA's Membership Department at (813) 973-3777.

and field championship meet at South High on Sunday, June 2.

After beating Queen of Peace, 8-5, on May 11, the Falcon baseball team dropped a 7-5 decision to St. Matthew on May 12. The team's record is 6-2, good for a first-place tie with St. Jude. The teams will meet on May 18 at Heilmann Field to determine the league champion.

The 1985 Falcons have been led by hitters Gil Waitkus (.636), Chris May (.438), Lou Dobbs (.400), Mike Pote (.333), Shannon Nowicki (.316) and Mike Montagne (.313). Sean Moran and Dobbs have been the pitching aces for St. Clare, with help from Gary Brozo and Rob Whitty. Kevin Van Gorder has been solid at three base, as has left-fielder John Ciccala.

John Colby, Clay Cote, Ted Goolsby and John Finucane led a very strong Falcon bench.

Rescue diving accident victims properly

Swimming and diving accidents that produce spinal cord injuries will claim hundreds of victims this summer and improper rescue attempts will produce additional disabling spinal cord damage and paralysis in many of the accidents, says Saul Weingarden, M.D., chief of the spinal cord injury specialty unit at the Rehabilitation Institute, Detroit.

Diving accidents produce most of the spinal cord injuries and Dr. Weingarden says that the tip-off to such an injury is the victim floating to the water surface and remaining face down in a "dead man's float."

When a serious neurological injury is suspected, he adds, follow these rescue steps:

- Turn the victim over in the water as a unit, using the "log roll" technique
- Support the victim's head in the water. Keep the face above the water and the head aligned with the body and the chin aligned with the breastbone.

- Give CPR if necessary. Use the jaw thrust, not the head-tilt method.
- Stay in the water with the victim. Do not attempt to remove the victim from the water.

shadow and started screaming "Freighter, freighter!" His fellow crewmen were aroused to find out that the freighter turned out to be a tree looming over the boat which had come a bit too close to shore.

Friday's trip was all of that ... work, laughter, planning strategy and keeping heads "in the race." When we stepped off Wind Sprint at 9:30 p.m., we left Thomas and the rest securing the boat until next day's races, wiping down the deck where an errant can of Tab had left its mark (I swear it wasn't mine) and planning to meet as early as possible for the morning's race.

Like I said, You've got to love it.

There are 3 other very sweet cats, all abandoned and looking out of their cages hoping so much for good homes (5 month old grey/white female, grey Tabby male, neutered and declawed, young black and white male, neutered and declawed).
