Additional honors

Just a little postscript to a story I wrote last week concerning Farms Police Sgt. Joseph Miller, who's retiring from the force after 35 years of service to the community.

Sgt. Miller is now Lt. Miller, thanks to an honorary promotion by the Farms City Council. Lt. Miller also received a beautiful proclamation from the council, thanking him for his years of service and professionalism.

He's now officially an officer, but he was always a gentleman.

Bad ad

Do we make mistakes here at the Grosse Pointe News? Yes, we do. And can we laugh at ourselves? Yes, we can.

If you'd like a little snicker, take a look at page 8C of last week's edition. There in the articles wanted column is the following ad: "Buying buns, swords, anything military."

I get the feeling the ad should have said guns instead of buns.

But you never know. Everyone has heard of the "guns or butter" theory of economics. Just what do you think they put that butter on?

High times

Tony Babcock of Lakeshore Road was one busy lady earlier this month when Detroit was host to the first Bahamas Grand Prix Air Race.

Tony, who's chairman of the Michigan Chapter of the 99's, an international organization of women pilots, was coordinator of gas, food and timing of the event as competitors roared into City Airport Aug. 4.

Detroit was the first mandatory stop and the second checkpoint of the international cross country race beginning in Chicago and traveling through eight American cities, including Rochester, N.Y.; Washington, D.C.; Fayetteville, N.C.; Atlanta; Jacksonville, Fla.; Miami and finally Freeport, Bahamas.

Cash prizes in the race total $15,000, with $7,000 awarded to the winner.

What's your sign, baby?

It's that time again, gang. That's right. The results of the Fifth Annual Cute Baby Contest, sponsored by the Harper Woods Jaycees in support of the Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) organization.

The five winning cuties are: Brian Stopinski — first place; Brian Lapinski — second place; Chelsea Roberts — third place; Rory Hunter — fourth place; and Miranda Waldorf — fifth place.

There were a total of 33 entrants in the contest and the event raised $435 for SIDS.

Hey, Grosse Pointe service clubs — how about a Grosse Pointe cute baby contest?

No, I will not be a judge. I believe a person should have been a cute baby to judge one.

Team work

We can all give a tip of the hat and a nod of thanks and appreciation to the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. Clare of Montefalco Church for adding a bit of beauty to our lives.

In early spring, Doug Smith of Verheyden's and Father Burkhardt of St. Clare discussed the possibility of making the small

Plan to subdivide lakefront estate approved

By Pat Paholsky

Another one of Grosse Pointe's mansions will be torn down for a subdivision. The Grosse Pointe City Council approved plans Monday night to develop the 7.63-acre Dodge/Ranger estate which adjoins the Rose Terrace subdivision.

The developers, The Blake Company which is based in Grosse Pointe Woods, submitted a preliminary plan of 19 lots and requested three variances to the ordinance. City planner Brandon Rogers, however, recommended the elimination of one lake front lot — from four to three — which also eliminated the necessity for two variances.

The council was unanimous in its agreement with Rogers' recommendation. A drawing of both plans is on page 15A.

"This is Grosse Pointe's last subdivision and I think we should do it well," Rogers said. "I think it has to be done better than Rose Terrace."

He then recommended three lakefront lots, rather than the proposed four, giving each lot 120 to 127 feet width. That would be in keeping with the average width of 125 feet of all existing lakefront lots in the area instead of the 94 feet proposed, he said.

Also the Blake proposal would result in the smallest lakefront lot sizes in the city, Rogers added.

He said the modification would make it possible to reserve an open space at the end of the subdivision boulevard for a view of the lake which would be blocked by a house under the Blake proposal.

"I do feel that to provide for four standard lots on the lake is unwise and will tend to block off the lake for residents of the rest of the subdivision," Rogers wrote in an Aug. 14 memo to City Manager Thomas Kressbach.

Hudson Meade and Charles McCafferty who both spoke for The Blake Company, objected to the elimination of a lakefront lot. "It's very important economically," McCafferty said.

However, following a motion to deny the Blake plan, Mead asked the council to approve Rogers' plan of 18 lots. "We would like to get things going," he said.

The council then approved the 18-lot development and also granted a variance to the ordinance that requires a 75-foot setback. The developers were granted a 50-foot setback waiver for the three lakefront properties.

The public hearing brought little response from the approximately 25 residents who attended. Only one resident, Jim Grenda, who lives on Washington, spoke for preservation.

"Fifty years from now, what are we going to have — 50-foot square colonials? I know it's a difficult problem, but before it's all gone, maybe you should stop and consider. As a citizen, I would request that you delay ruling on this. Perhaps something innovative could be done," Grenda said.

Robert Curran, who lives next door to the property, said that as a contractor, he knows it would take three-quarters of a million dollars to renovate the house. "It's almost impossible to fix the house," he said.

Another resident expressed concern over the potential traffic problems and requested a traffic light.

The caretaker of the property said it could cost $3,000 "in the bad months" to heat the house to 64 degrees and $2,500 "in the decent months." He said it was estimated eight years ago that it would cost $1 million to bring the house up to code.

Besides the house, three other buildings on the property — a carriage house, pool house and boat house — are scheduled for demolition. The developers said they would retain the stone balustrade and wall in the garden area because of its "significant architectural merit which could not be reproduced today."

Eight Mile bridge study is criticized

By Elsa Frohman

Most of the people who spoke at the Aug. 15 public hearing on the proposed widening of the Eight Mile Bridge over I-94 were against the project. The majority of the capacity crowd which turned out for the Michigan Department of Transportation hearing were Grosse Pointe Woods residents, opposed to the widening of the bridge on the grounds that it would increase traffic on Woods residential streets.

Several local politicians representing St. Clair Shores and Harper Woods spoke in favor of the project, but they were vastly outnumbered by the people who criticized the MDOT's environmental assessment of the project and the traffic studies the project is based on.

Sen. Gilbert DiNello, (D-East Detroit), supported the bridge widening, but was surprised when an alternate proposal — offered facetiously — drew a round of applause.

"From my own personal point of view," DiNello said, "I have a problem with the westbound traffic on the bridge." He explained that he frequently uses the bridge when on his way to visit his mother in St. Clair Shores. "One and a half years ago I contacted the MDOT and asked them to do a study of the I-94 overpass. They found a problem and came to the conclusion that something had to be done. Nobody has shown me where traffic would be increased (if the bridge is widened). But if that is the concern (of the people opposing the project) a more drastic measure would be to close off the entire bridge."

The idea of closing the bridge drew enthusiastic applause.

"That's not my recommendation," DiNello said hastily.

Philip Chisholm, MDOT public hearings officer, explained that the problem to be solved by widening the bridge was two-fold. First, westbound traffic on the bridge is being delayed by people making left turns off the bridge onto the I-94 service drive. Since the bridge is only two lanes, the left turners often cause traffic to back up onto Harper during peak hours. Chisholm said.

The second part of the problem is traffic exiting the freeway. The signal at the top of the exit ramp causes traffic to back up onto I-94 during peak hours. Also, the 20 percent of the exiting drivers who are making left turns onto the bridge are further congesting the intersection.

The MDOT's plan to relieve the congestion is to make the exit ramp two lanes, and to widen the bridge to four lanes.

Rep. John Maynard, (D-St. Clair Shores), supported the project.

"I do support widening the bridge and the exit lanes," Maynard said. "I would like to see that $637,000 spent here in Macomb County. I see the bridge as an improvement. Any problems in local traffic will gradually solve themselves. If people want to live in the country, they should move there. If they live in the city, people are going to drive down their street. People who want to isolate themselves are not very realistic. If you want to be alone, Harper Woods, Grosse Pointe Woods and St. Clair Shores are not the places to live."

Ted Bidigare, a Woods councilman, pointed out that the root of the problem is the Vernier and Harper intersection — which should have been the location of the off-ramp.

"One alternate would be to relocate the off-ramp," Bidigare said. "You could also consider putting a No Left Turn sign at the end of the bridge."

Bidigare said the reason so many cars were cutting through the Woods residential streets to reach Mack Avenue was to avoid the Vernier and Harper intersection.

"The Vernier and Harper intersection is a major cause of traffic problems in the entire area. To say there will be only minimal effects (of widening the bridge) is absurd. It will take cooperation to resolve this extremely important decision."

Mayor James Haley of Harper Woods supporting the bridge project.

"We continue to lend our full support to this project," Haley said.

"We have not come to this conclusion lightly. We studied and weighed the contents of the first and final drafts of the environmental assessment prepared for this project and we find no material faults with them. As well, we are aware of the long-standing traffic congestion problem at this interchange."

Haley argued that the traffic problems on the Grosse Pointe Woods streets would exist with or without the bridge project.

"Further, these problems will continue to exist until such time as a comprehensive approach is taken to address the traffic situation in this area," Haley said.

Seat belt usage increasing, police say

By Tom Greenwood

Although the state's mandatory seat belt law has only been in effect since July 1, reports from both local and state police agencies show that more Michigan residents are complying with the statute.

Calls to all Grosse Pointe police departments revealed police writing few tickets for the law, which requires all drivers and front-seat passengers to buckle up their seat belts.

"We don't have any figures yet available on the number of tickets or verbal warnings given," said Farms Police Chief Robert K. Ferber. "but people seem to be complying, and that's good."

Park Police Chief Richard Caretti and City Director of Public Safety Bruce Kennedy both praised the law and admitted that they're both wearing their seat belts for the first time.

"With police work you're in and out of your car constantly," Kennedy said. "But now I wear them all the time. It's become an automatic thing. The reports from my men seem to indicate that our residents are complying. Overall our citizens are pretty law-abiding people."

In the Woods, the city council earlier this month passed a local seat belt ordinance paralleling the state's law, including a fine of $10. The fine will increase to $25 on Jan. 1, 1986, as will Michigan's.

"I think we're the first of the Pointes to pass an ordinance of this type," said Woods Administrator-Clerk Chester Peterson. "We have several others we've adopted before on a local level that are similar to this in intent. Drunk driving and drinking age restrictions come to mind.

"Quite frankly, we passed the ordinance so we can collect the fines instead of the state. We're the ones doing the enforcing, so why should the state receive all the money?"

A check of the other cities revealed that none has passed a similar ordinance, but instead rely on automatic local applications of Michigan's Uniform Traffic Code.

In Lansing, Judy McNitt, department analyst for the Traffic Service Division of the Michigan State Police, reported that information on the newly enforced law is still being compiled. "We really don't have any hard and true statistics yet from the enforcement of the law since we always wait 90 days after an earlier accident to compile fatality statistics," she said. "However, during the first 30 days the statute was in effect, members of the Michigan State Police wrote 1,763 tickets for violating the ordinance and gave out an additional 2,993 verbal warnings."

McNitt said the use of seat belts has gone up steadily since 1981, when slightly more than 11 percent of those involved in a traffic accident wore them.

The state's mandatory child restraint law went into effect in April 1982 and the use of belts rose to 15 percent. In 1983, the figures rose to 18.2 percent.

"In 1984, we believe our data will show belt usage to be up between 20 to 22 percent," McNitt said. "For 1985 it's still too early to tell, but there's every assumption that the figures will really go up because of the new law."

"We recorded 175 deaths from all types of accidents in July 1984. Of those 175, 106 were car accidents. Of those 106, only six were wearing their seat belts. One hundred chose not to buckle up."

McNitt cautioned that the figures for July 1984 were abnormally high and were up for all categories across the board. "So far for July 1985, we've had 126 persons die from all types of accidents across the state. Sixty-eight of those deaths were vehicle occupants. Of that number, 18 were wearing their seat belts," she said. "People are being misled by that last figure. They look at 1984 and 1985 seat belt usage and see more deaths to people wearing seat belts. They decide they must

Yes, Virginia, there are Pointe Dems

By Nancy Parmenter

They're very up-front about it. Their own newsletter wryly concedes their scarcity: "Yes, there are enough Democrats in Grosse Pointe to have a club."

"Yeah, there's a few," said Democratic Club board member Nancy Resowski. But club members are the butt of lots of kidding.

Actually, the club has a mailing list of more than 400 names and can muster a turnout of 100 for a meeting with a speaker, according to outgoing club President Bruce Sanders. The Grosse Pointes' Republican solidarity may be only a facade.

"One-quarter to one-third of Grosse Pointe residents vote Democrat," Sanders said. "It depends on the election and the candidate. Richard Austin, for instance, got a lot of Grosse Pointe votes. We peak at about one-third."

"It's a much larger membership than I expected," said incoming President Kel Smyth, who was elected "when he wasn't looking." Smyth has been active in Democratic politics since the 1972 McGovern campaign and works now for Sen. Carl Levin.

"After all, all the Pointes are represented by Democratic congressmen and they have a Democratic state senator," Smyth said. "Of course, those people weren't elected because of the votes in the Pointes."

Smyth plans some active political organizing. The Park is particularly ripe for it, he said. "We want to let people know there are Democrats out there."

Some Pointers know there are Democrats out there and don't like it a bit. A Levin lawn sign in the Farms was shredded and replaced five times. But Smyth laughed it off and said he had seen "plenty of good Democratic neighborhoods where signs get trashed."

Sanders, a political science professor at Macomb Community College, said many of the Pointe Democratic club members have a knowledge of politics in a professional way. "We have more impact than our numbers would indicate."

"We aren't a typical political club," Sanders said. "We see our role as informative rather than campaigning for particular candidates. We aren't a political action group."

Some members recently participated in a Fairness Commission hearing sponsored by the national Democratic Party. The commission was established to consider changes in presidential nominating rules and was intended as an opportunity for grassroots participation.

Nancy Resowski, who edits a Gary Hart newsletter in addition to her club activities, attended to tell the commission how unfair the closed caucus system is.

"I'd prefer to return to a primary, or at least establish some guidelines for the caucus," she said. "The rules in Michigan varied from one site to another. Some allowed electioneering, some ballot boxes were labeled with the candidate's name. And in Texas, for instance, people had to vote once in the morning for delegates and again in the evening for the candidate. The rules need to be uniform."

The group is not consistently active, according to Sanders. It "resurrects itself" during election years, when there are meetings, speakers and frequent newsletters. Plans now are for a more active role and new directions. As Smyth said, "We're going to find out if traditional organizing methods work in the Pointes."

Women's right to vote commemorated Aug. 26

"Struggle and Celebration" is this year's theme for the 12th Annual Women's Equality Day celebration. The event commemorates the ratification Aug. 26, 1920 of the 19th Constitutional Amendment granting women the right to vote.

Women's Equality Day will be held Monday, Aug. 26, at the downtown YWCA, 2230 Witherell. The events for the day include workshops addressing current issues, a noontime rally at Grand Circus Park and an elaborate historical exhibit featuring "outstanding accomplishments of women."

Detroit Councilwoman Erma

Henderson will be the luncheon keynote speaker. Henderson will report on the historic U.N. Conference on the Decade of Women in Nairobi, Kenya.

Admission to the program rally and workshops is free. Lunch is $5, and child care is available with advance registration.

Karen Johnson Moore, assistant director of the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice, is publicity chairperson and one of the co-chairs of this year's event.

As a community service the Inter-Faith Center is providing luncheon registration. For more information, call the Center at 882-6464.

Forceful entry nets computer, TV

An unknown person entered a house on McMillan in the Farms during the afternoon of Aug. 10 and took a Commodore computer with its viewing screen and a small color television set. The residents were not home at the time.

When the homeowner returned home, she discovered that someone had entered the rear porch through an unlocked door. According to Farms police reports, the intruder then pried at the inner house door around the doorknob and apparently kicked the door in. The door jamb was pushed in and the dead-bolt was still in the locked position.

The burglar then searched the entire house, including the basement, and ransacked the three upstairs bedrooms, the report stated. The thief apparently left by the same door, as all the house doors remained locked.

Police continue to investigate the incident.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan 1982, that on August 29, 1985, at 8:00 o'clock p.m. at a special session, the Board of Education of The Grosse Pointe Public School System will hold a public hearing at the Administration Building, 389 St. Clair Avenue, Grosse Pointe, Michigan 48230 (313) 343-2010 on the levy of a proposed millage rate of 32.1889 for operating purposes.

The present voted millage of the school district of 34.3000 mills for the General and Library Funds has been reduced by the "Headlee Amendment" to 34.2220. The Board of Education has complete authority to establish that 32.1889 mills be levied in 1985 for the General and Library Funds from the present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed rate for the General and Library Funds would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1985 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan in 1985 in the amount of $678,221, or an increase of 2.0% (The increase will be $639,518, or 1.8% for General, Library and Debt Funds.)

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the school district.

The purpose of this hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the millage levy. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve any portion of the proposed millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Board of education sets seven goals for system in coming year

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The school system now has seven goals for the coming school year. The board of education made it official Monday night with approval of a document submitted by Superintendent John Whritner that spells out what is involved to meet each of the proposals.

- The goals include:
- Passage of a millage in 1986
 - Developing ways to tell the system's story
 - Developing a new staff evaluation and supervision plan
 - Organizing a plan for staff development
 - Developing an improved curriculum development process and structure
 - Setting a five-year facility plan for the school system
 - Developing a substance abuse support system for students.

The millage election next year is necessary to maintain school system programs, according to Whritner's information to the board. By the end of September, the board should decide the timing of the election, issues to be placed on the ballot and the number of years of the millage proposal.

The board can extend the millage for up to 10 years, according to Whritner.

Also by the end of September, Deputy Superintendent Joseph Spagnoli will have organized a task force, provided it with support needs and offer advice to it while keeping the board informed of progress, according to the document.

The task force should be representative of the community to better develop the strategy for the millage passage and be able to carry out that strategy and evaluate its success afterward, according to the document.

The task force members are to have strategy ready by November for the yet-to-be determined millage election.

Spagnoli helped organize the 1984 opposition to Proposal C for the school system. The United States Postal Service in May asked the Committee Opposing Proposal C—chaired by newly elected school board trustee Carl Anderson—to pay more than $670 to the postal service for use of the wrong class mailing permit.

Whritner will oversee development and implementation of a plan for community and staff awareness of accomplishments of the school system.

The task of developing the plan to tell the system's story includes conducting a survey of areas of concern among the community and possibly the staff. From that, a public relations campaign will be developed to tell the community and selected audience about the accomplishments of the school system.

Building administrators will be responsible for reporting the activities being conducted in their schools while conducting their own public relations activities as well. The survey is to be conducted by the end of October, with the public relations plan in place by the end of the next month and implementation to be in place throughout the year.

To develop its new staff evaluation and supervision plan, a task force on teacher evaluation/supervision will be formed, with a yet-to-be-named chairman to organize the meetings, determine activities of the committee for completion of the plan.

The task force will study current research on effective teaching and plans for the evaluation and supervision process, develop guidelines to be included in any plan for Grosse Pointe, and finally develop a revised plan for supervision.

An administrative evaluation plan will be put together by Whritner working with a representative group of administrators.

While the task force will have until next September to complete its staff evaluation and supervision program, the administrators will have the administrative evaluation process in place by the end of October, according to the goal outline.

A person yet to be named will head the staff development program by either forming a task force or using an advisory committee. The plan is meant to identify needs and offer suggestions for improving staff in all school departments. The plan will highlight what can be done during existing schedules with in-house talent and outside experts.

A survey of staff needs will be conducted as part of the goal program and information on staff at other school systems will be collected. A long-term plan for in-service is to be developed and a staff plan is to be organized for the 1986-87 school year.

Curriculum development and review as a goal grew from meetings with staff in April and May when those attending were invited to list the strengths and weaknesses of the school system, according to the goal outline. The staff listed the need to promote greater involvement in decision-making in curriculum development as the most important topic.

During the final weeks of the past school year, Spagnoli, Roger McCaig and Robert Welch met with high school and middle school teachers to discuss and identify issues.

Spagnoli will coordinate the development of the process that will include teachers and administrators in the curriculum development process. Administrators and teachers will also take part in the process, which includes presentation of the structure and process to the entire professional staff and selecting committee representatives for various committees that will work on the development side of the plan.

The plan is to be implemented in either the spring or fall next year, according to the goal outline.

The board hopes to have its five-year facility plan in place by February, next year and have a curriculum plan in 1986-87, according to the goal outline. The five-year facility plan will be headed by Whritner, with the curriculum plan to be put together by Spagnoli, using either the board as a committee of the whole for discussions or developing advisory committees. The two may also do the work on their own while establishing committees as they are needed.

The plan will be developed after consideration of projected enrollments to 1991-92, after which facility needs will be developed and criteria established for continued use of school buildings. Plans for facilities will be prepared and include a timeline for school closing if it should become necessary.

The school system's elementary population has stabilized, so future drops will come at the secondary school level. By 1992, decreases should have worked their way through the system, leaving a stable population.

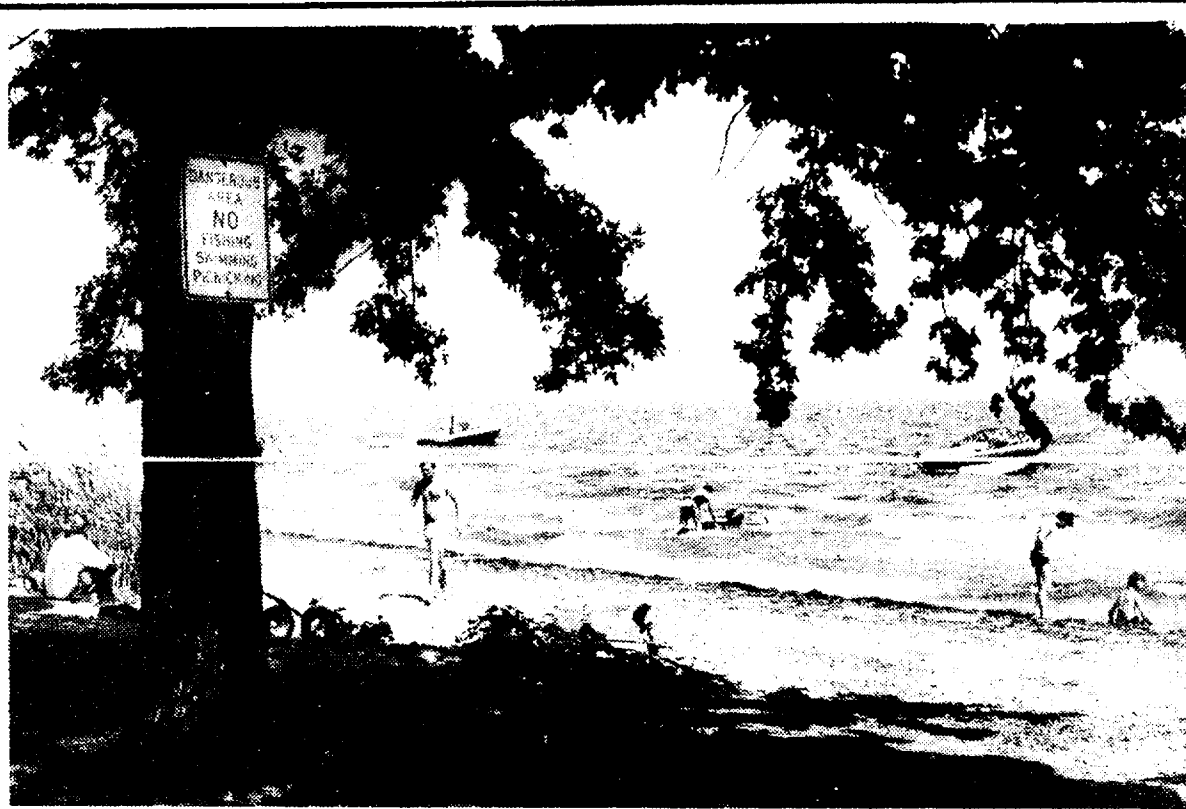

The system has a chance to decide what it would like to look like at the beginning of the 1990s and into the coming century, according to the goal outline.

By January, the school system hopes to have developed an overall plan for staff information and support for students in need of substance abuse help and a three-year plan to tackle chemical dependency, according to the outline.

Dr. Spagnoli will direct a professional staff person to do legwork for an advisory committee which will provide guidelines for the project. A plan is to be developed for staff information during the next two years in cooperation with the task force working on staff development. The committee will also put together a long-range plan for curriculum changes and a way to fight chemical dependency while developing a student assistance program.

The staff information program is to be in place by the end of October, while the overall plan should be ready by January. That may be delayed if additional work is required, according to the outline.

Appointee confirmed on second try

By Pat Paholsky

A Park resident whose appointment to the Planning Commission spawned a protest from some council members last month was narrowly confirmed the second time around Aug. 12. The vote was 4-3.

The first time Robert Klacza's name was proposed July 8 by Mayor Palmer Heenan, some of the council members objected to the manner in which the appointment was made. They felt Heenan should have first informed Sybrant Schaafsma that he was not recommending him for reappointment to the commission. The council members said they did not object to Klacza's appointment, but they felt it was a discourtesy to Schaafsma. The motion to appoint Klacza was withdrawn and Heenan agreed to notify Schaafsma.

At the Aug. 12 meeting when Heenan again proposed to appoint Klacza, Councilman Mark Valente objected. He asked Klacza for his views on street closings.

"It needs to have some additional investigation," Klacza said. "It's hard to say at this point."

Valente said he had been invited to a meeting earlier in the year with Klacza, James Robson and Patrick DeLaere in which they proposed to close every street at Mack Avenue. Klacza said he was not the originator of the proposal.

Councilwoman Carroll Evola said she too had met with Klacza, Robson and Don Hermann in which the discussion centered around closing all the streets at Mack Avenue.

"It seems to me that since the Planning Commission is going to look at potential closings, it's incumbent upon us as a council to maintain an openness," Valente said.

"The Planning Commission is about 100 percent against street closings and we should listen to all viewpoints," Heenan said.

Voting to confirm Klacza were David Gaskin, Pat Forster, Vern Ausherman and Heenan. John Prost and Evola joined Valente voting against the appointments.

School board sets date for hearing on taxes

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Board of Education will hold a Truth in Taxation public hearing Thursday, Aug. 29, at 8 p.m. in the administration building on St. Clair.

The school board killed an effort by some trustees to establish a tax rate at the Aug. 12 meeting. Under the law, the board could have either set the rate at the same level or below last year's without holding a public hearing first.

The effort was killed by a tabling motion made by trustee Carl Anderson. In the roll call vote on the motion, trustees Joan Hanpeter, Dorothy Kennel, Carol Marr and Anderson voted to table the action. Board Vice President Vincent Lo Cicero presiding over the meeting in President Jon Gandelot's absence, and trustee Fred Adams voted against the tabling motion.

The tabling isn't the end of hopes for no tax increase, LoCicero said. Other board members felt it more proper to hold the hearing, he said.

Adams said he voted against the tabling motion because he is opposed to a tax increase for the coming school year.

"I think we are in a position this year not to have to go to the taxpayers (for an increase)," Adams said. "I do not wish to raise the taxes this year."

In formulating the 1985-86 fiscal year budget, the administration forecast a 1.8 percent tax increase. But, because the system is now carrying a fund equity in excess of $3 million, trustees have contemplated raiding the fund to eliminate the need for any increase.

LoCicero said there was no request for a specific tax rate to be established at the Aug. 12 meeting.

Under Michigan law, a public hearing is required prior to approval of any portion of the millage rate when an increase is proposed. The only actions the board could have taken had it decided to establish a rate would have been to hold the line or decrease the tax rate for the coming year.

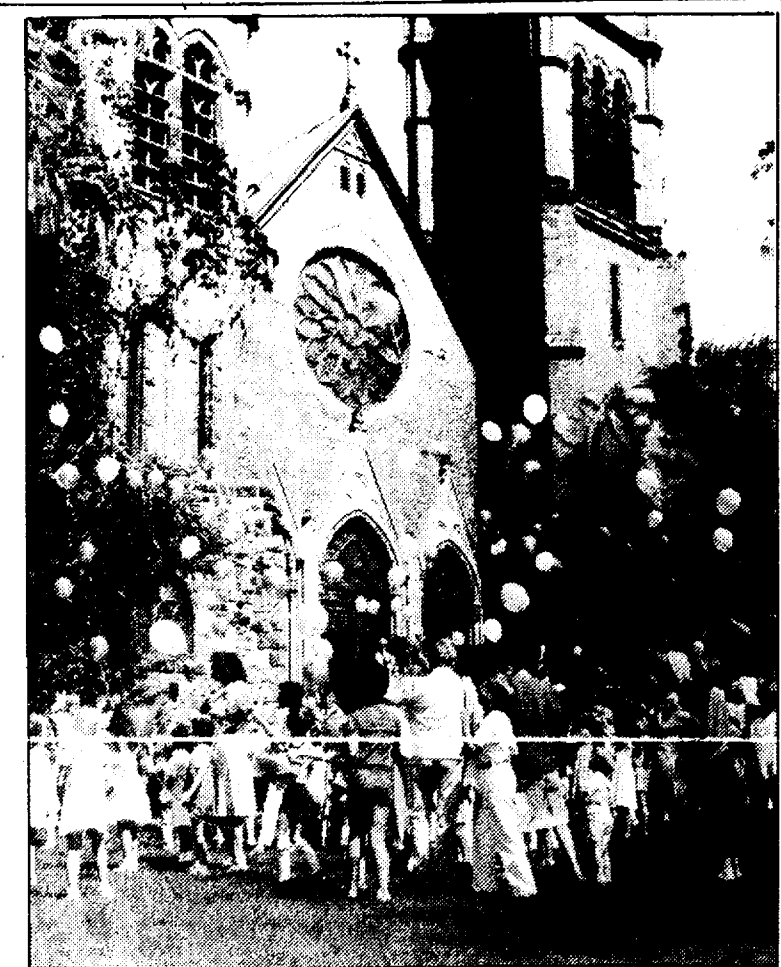

There seems to be board support for no tax increase this year, Lo Cicero said. "As far as I know, I believe everyone on the board believes there will be no tax increase this year," he added.

The administration forecasts an ending fund equity for the coming school year at $2.8 million. Were the board to decide to use more of the fund to eliminate any tax increase, the fund equity is still estimated to end the fiscal year at $2.1 million.

The school board has, over the years, tried to keep the fund equity at about $1.5 million, LoCicero said. The $2.1 million total will be sufficient to cover any type of expense without putting the school system in any financial danger, he added.

Asked if the no-tax-hike may be part of the system's millage election strategy, LoCicero said he wasn't thinking about the need to go before the voters this spring for a millage. "Whatever's going to happen with the millage for the coming spring isn't on my mind right now," he added.

After the public hearing, the board waits until the first meeting in September before setting the tax rate for the year. The board will meet Monday, Sept. 9, at 8 p.m. at Parcels Middle School, Mack and Vernier in the Woods.

Balloons away

The air was warm, the sky was blue and St. Paul's Catholic Church was the place to be last Friday morning as hundreds of brightly colored balloons were released to the heavens. The occasion was the end of the church's summer Bible school for children and a balloon launch seemed the perfect way to mark the festivities. When last seen, the balloons were majestically floating toward Detroit for a rendezvous with the RenCen.

Enrollment is limited, so early registration is advised.

Symphony auditions
The Lake St. Clair Symphony Orchestra, (formerly the St. Clair Shores Symphony Orchestra), under the direction of Michael Krajewski and Charles Greenwell, announce auditions for the 1985-86 season.
Auditions will be held Tuesday, Sept. 3, and Sunday, Sept. 8, in the Chamber of Commerce building, 27601 Jefferson, St. Clair Shores.
For an appointment or information, call the symphony office at 776-1012.

Coast Guard Academy seeks cadets

The United States Coast Guard Academy is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, Class of 1990. Applications are being accepted for both men and women.

Appointments as Coast Guard Cadets are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas. Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to Dec. 15, 1985.

Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT) prior to or including the Dec. 14, 1985 administration for the ACT, and the Dec. 7, 1985 administration for the SAT.

The competition for appointment as cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs and/or part-time employment.

Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and applied science fields.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from a prior marriage, and must have reached the age of 17 but not 22 by July 1, 1986.

All applicants must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1985. Regulations stipulate that all applicants must have completed three units in English, and three in mathematics to include algebra and plane or coordinate geometry and their equivalents, and must fulfill basic physical requirements. Coast Guard Cadets obtain an undergraduate education at no personal expense. In addition, they receive pay and allowances for living expenses.

Graduates are awarded a bachelor of science degree and are commissioned as ensigns in the United States Coast Guard. Selected officers may pursue further postgraduate education and specialized training at civilian and military graduate or professional schools, in such fields as aviation, business administration, electronics, engineering, law and oceanography.

The Coast Guard performs essential humanitarian missions vital to the safety and saving of lives at sea. Under the Department of Transportation, the Coast Guard establishes and coordinates search and rescue operations by ship and plane, maintains advanced electronic and other aids to navigation scattered around the globe, operates the icebreakers which clear the way for all polar expeditions, and enforces marine law and all aspects of merchant marine safety. In addition, the Coast Guard has responsibility for boating safety and marine environmental protection.

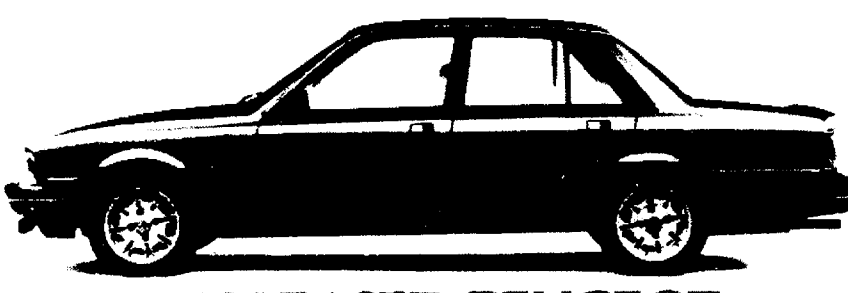

For further information write: Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn. 06320 or call (203) 444-8501.

PEUGEOT PROUDLY UNVEILS A NEW CAR.

THE LEASED PEUGEOT.
FROM $225 A MONTH*
Never before has Peugeot offered a leasing program quite like this. Depending upon which vehicle you lease, your monthly payments will be anywhere from as little as $225 a month for the stylish 505GL to $297 for the high-performance Turbogas (pictured above). The programs 60-month, closed-end lease is so easy, you don't even have to put up a down payment.
Even more remarkable, we'll give you a 3-year/36,000-mile scheduled maintenance program free of charge, when you lease before August 31, 1985. In other words, during that time, you won't have to lay out any money on routine maintenance. And that's on top of our 3-year/36,000-mile, 5-year/50,000-mile powertrain limited warranty that already comes with your Peugeot.
*Our new lease program works like this: the lease payments are based on manufacturer's suggested retail price, which includes freight and handling fees. Taxes, registration fees and optional accessories are payable upon termination of the lease. Total lease payments for 505 Turbogas $17,820; 505 STI Sedan $17,280; 505 S Sedan $15,900; 505 GL Sedan $11,500, plus 1¢ per mile over 25,000 miles. A $200 charge and any applicable fees and taxes are payable upon termination of the lease. Purchase prices upon scheduled termination of the lease are: 505 Turbogas $7500, 505 STI Sedan $5711, 505 S Sedan $5770, 505 GL Sedan $2842, plus any applicable fees and taxes. This offer expires September 30, 1985.

Good news for the Hill

It is encouraging that at long last the way seems to have been cleared for the start of construction on the long-awaited office-retail building and parking structure on the Hill in the Farms.

A host of obstacles, ranging from financing difficulties to bureaucratic red tape, has delayed final approval of the project which has been discussed since the 1970s. Now the approval by the Farms council means that developer Peter Bologna and Standard Federal officials, who are his partners in the proposed office complex, should be able to go ahead with construction in the near future.

The agreement with the Farms council means that the project can get started even before Cottage Hospital receives the state-required permission to build a parking garage that is part of the overall plan. The agreement temporarily waives requirements in the parking ordinance because of the availability of parking space in the municipal lot adjacent to the project. Eventually, however, it is expected that if Cottage fails to construct the garage, someone else will do so to guarantee sufficient parking at the site and to satisfy city zoning requirements.

To outsiders, the delays in the project have appeared interminable but in a complicated matter involving several private businesses as well as state and local public officials, it is not unusual to run into obstacles of the kind that have plagued these structures. Interests other than those of the developers always have to be considered by the public agencies involved, although they sometimes can raise unnecessary obstacles because of the time and red tape required for approval at various levels of government.

If and when the project now goes ahead as contemplated, it should provide additional services to the people of the Pointes because it will house drive-in bank, retail space on the first floor and offices above the first floor and when completed, parking spaces for at least 370 cars.

Other businesses on the Hill also should benefit from the increased number of people who will be attracted to the area. And plans for the project call for a more attractive vista for motorists entering the shopping area from the northeast on Kercheval than the abandoned Amoico service station now offers on the site.

As we said at the start, it is encouraging that plans for the project are moving forward. But in view of the many delays and postponements over the years, we're awaiting the actual start of construction before congratulating all parties concerned for getting the new project under way and providing additional services for the people of the Pointes.

Stability in the Pointes

In common with most urban areas in the Detroit metropolitan area, the Grosse Pointe community has continued to lose population since 1980 and, according to the July 1, 1984 Census Bureau estimate, now has a total of 49,259 residents. That compares with 49,997 in 1982 and 51,911 in 1980. As recently as 1960, the Pointes' population exceeded 60,000.

What has happened in a general way is that the population in the Pointes is aging. That means a lower percentage of the population than in the past is of school age and a higher proportion is 65 years and over. So while the number of total households actually has increased slightly, the number of persons per household continues to decline.

It is the aging factor that also accounts for the decline in school population which has raised the question of closing some elementary schools. While there has been some evidence in recent years of an increasing number of younger families moving into the Pointes, the shift has not yet been sufficient to boost the population for the Pointes as a whole.

In the City and the Park, however, slight gains in overall population were estimated as of July 1, 1984. In the City, the figure rose from 5,579 in 1982 to 5,785 in 1984 and in the Park it went up from 13,058 in 1982 to 13,811 in 1984. In the Woods, the estimate went down from 18,219 in 1982 to 17,328 in 1984; in the Farms the estimate declined from 10,254 to 9,607, and in the Shores it dropped from 2,887 to 2,272.

The small overall decline in the Pointe community and, in fact, the actual increase in the estimates for two of the Pointe communities in the last two years might indicate that the overall population is leveling off. In the previous two years, from 1980 to 1982, decreases were recorded for all five Pointes.

Most residents of the Pointes realistically do not see major change in the future. Homes have been built on most of the available lots, although some of the old estates are still being developed or are still available for home construction. There appears to be little likelihood of any large increase or decrease in the Pointes' population — and we suspect most residents approve of that prospect. Stability, after all, is an important factor in the quality of life equation.

The funding of WCCC

Unless he was misquoted, the new president-designate of Wayne County Community College is getting himself in trouble even before he officially takes office.

In an interview in the Detroit News, Ronald Temple, a University of Cincinnati administrator who has been picked as WCCC's next president, said he would seek approval of a new county-wide tax to ensure long-range stability for the college. And then he added, according to the News interview:

"The institution's base of financial support needs to be broadened. It can't continually rely on the state to bail it out of budgetary crises. Somewhere down the road we must go to the public for a tax levy. That will be the ultimate test of the public's acceptance of what we plan to do."

These comments would indicate that the new president does not know that the county already imposes a tax of $1.02 per $1,000 valuation on property to help support the community college. It is true that the tax was imposed by the Legislature and not in a referendum. But county residents already are directly supporting the college through a tax levy and ought to be given credit for doing so.

For example, a Grosse Pointe resident whose home carried a state equalized value of $82,714 last year paid a tax of $84.37 to help finance the community college. That is a substantial contribution for a college that has been in as much trouble as WCCC has been in recent years.

To his credit, Temple also said in the interview that there are administrative lines of authority that "don't make sense" and that cause him to "wonder who's in charge and who's accountable." The college has been criticized in the past for its administrative failures and mismanagement that led the Legislature to designate the state superintendent of public instruction as a monitor of the college operations. The new president recognizes these problems.

But Temple's emphasis on building the college from 30,000 to 40,000 students and on seeking greater funding appears to be putting the cart before the horse. He and his administration ought to make sure the college has cleaned up its past mistakes before looking for new worlds to conquer. Making better use of current resources ought to have a higher priority than obtaining additional funding.

With a recently reorganized board and a new president soon to be in place, the college ought to be better prepared for the future than it was when administrative and faculty turmoil led to a decline in student numbers and quality of education. But many county residents would be cool to requests for expansion and additional funding until and unless the new administration provides evidence of budgetary efficiency and improvement in its educational programs. Such reforms would provide a solid foundation for future growth.

This is a wearisome nostrum

To the Editor:

Like Paul Revere galloping "through every Middlesex village and farm," a couple of your recent letter-writers have, in effect, been crying out, "The Russians are coming!" "The Red Menace!" "Soviet agents!" Let us greet such hokey with the yawn it so richly deserves.

This is a wearisome nostrum, a political patent medicine of the kind that's been peddled for generations by the right wing. Dr. Sam Johnson called "patriotism" the last resort of a scoundrel. A modern wag has called it the first resort.

Since my long-ago high-school days, I've heard this sort of "out-side-agitation" talk trumpeted by reactionary people in a way that the "conservatives" of South Africa are using it right now to prop up their crumbling system of apartheid. This beer is stale.

In any event, belatedly and quite by accident, I hit upon the following two paragraphs which appeared on the Op Ed page of The New York Times (June 18, 1985). The writer is Abraham Brumberg, a former editor of "Problems of Communism," a publication of the State Department, not of Tass or Izvestia. I think what they say will be of interest to your readers:

"Joseph McCarthy fomented and thrived on a climate of hysteria in which dissent came perilously close to being identified with treason, and rational discussion of Communism was virtually impossible. The net effect of Ronald Reagan's anti-Sandinista crusade is likely to be exactly the same. In an atmosphere of extravagant mendacity and pressure to 'fall into line,' it becomes increasingly difficult to arrive at an objective assessment of what is happening in Nicaragua or to discuss what the United States should do about it.

"The blame for this baleful state of affairs lies not only with the President, but also with those — whether Republicans or Democrats, conservatives or liberals — who now so fear being branded 'soft' or 'naive' about Communism. It is they, after all, who permit his contempt for truth, to go unchallenged, they who are allowing us to drift ever further from a realistic foreign policy. The four destructive and insane years of McCarthyism provide a lesson that no one truly interested in 'a peaceful solution in Central America' can afford to ignore."

The words of the young crusaders outside the Woods Theater on the night of July 12 are still very much worth repeating: "Affirm Life. Stop the War Machine."

Three Mile Drive

Good samaritan

To the Editor:

Last Monday morning when leaving the office of my physician on Mack Avenue, I discovered that I had locked my automobile without first removing the keys and locked myself out of the car. The keys were in and I was out.

Suddenly, a gracious young lady pulled out from the curb in a red Pontiac, stopped and seeing my dilemma, asked if I needed some help. Like manna from heaven, she drove me to my home where I got another set of keys. This solved my problem and I am grateful to her.

I am certain if more of us would react to other's troubles, what a beautiful world it would be for all of us to live in.

Fall community education classes to begin

The fall program of non-credit classes for adults scheduled by the Department of Community Education of the Grosse Pointe public school system lists a total of 89 new offerings for the term beginning Sept. 9.

An alphabetical listing of the new-for-fall classes contains two in the "Adventure in Understanding Art" series taught by art historian June Nelson. They are "Masterpieces of American Painting 1760-1910" and "An Introduction to Sculpture."

Also new are "Amazon Adventure" and "Antique Restoration."

A series of four sessions conducted by Pamela Collier, M.D., under the heading "Ask the Doctor — Women's Issues" covers these topics: "Vaginitis," "Menopause: Myth and Reality," "Premenstrual Syndrome" and "Is It the Blues? Or Depression?"

Astronomy offerings include four classes. They are "Introduction to Amateur Astronomy," "The Solar System, Part I," "The Solar System, Part II" and "The Sun and Stellar Evolution." Topic of the popular weekly public star programs is "Strangers Around the Sun."

Other new-for-fall classes for adults include "Baskets Galore," "Beer and Home Brewing" and "Beginning Theory and Sightreading for Vocalists."

During the fall, Charity Sucek, Grosse Pointe's master cooking teacher, will teach 10 new classes. They are "A Sampler of French Regional Cooking," "Alsace-Lorraine," "Puff Pastry," "Basics of Breads," "Herbs and Spices," "The Secrets of Sauces," "Highlights of Spanish Cuisine," "A Holiday Dinner," "More About Fish," "Tips on Cooking with Wine" and "Highlights of French Classical Cuisine."

Other new-for-fall classes are "Chorale for Adults," "Color and Wardrobe Workshop," "Computers: Integrated Software," "Computers: An Intensive Hands-On Introduction," "Cross Stitch Tree Top Angel," "Custom Fishing Rod Building," and "The Emerging Shape of Tax Reform."

Still more new offerings for adults are "Endangered Species of the World," "Evaluating Tax Shelters," "Eyebrow Analysis and Shaping," "Fats and Your Life," "Financial Planning for Retirement" and "Fly Tying."

Community Education will also offer "Folk Art Dolls (And Quilts)," "Folded Star in Hoop," "Get Acquainted with Metric Measure," "Good Eye Health Awareness," "Grosse Pointe: What's In A Name?" "H.A.P.P.I. Hour Party (Highway Accident Prevention Program Information)" "Hazardous Christmas Ornament."

Also scheduled for fall are "In Search of Excellence," "Kids and Nutrition," "Lords of the Air, Souls of the Dinosaur," "Make Your Holiday Dinner Easier!" and "Marketing: An Introduction."

Music lovers will be interested in the new Michigan Opera Theatre lecture series devoted to three upcoming productions: "Gianni Schicchi and I Pagliacci," "Martha" and "West Side Story."

Also "Miniature Painting," "Morning Stretch," "New Chocolate Desserts," "Organize Your Goals," "Origami," "Personal Interior Design: Part I," "Personal Interior Design: Part II," "Positive Self: A Support Group for Compulsive Eaters," "Precision Patchwork," "Priscilla Mouse," "Reclaim Your Body: An Empowerment Workshop for Women" and "Resume the Interview: Success or Stress."

And "Sachet Workshop," "Stays and Spring Rolls," "Sculpture: An Introduction," "Sharpen Your Personal Skills," "So Now You Own a Food Processor: For Men Only!" and "Southeast Asia!"

Others are "Suicide Prevention," "Tae Kwan Do," "Tour of Dynamic Detroit," "Trends in Interior Design" and "The Voice and How It Works."

And "Vegetarian Cooking III," "West African Adventure," "Yoga Retreat" and "You and the Stock Market."

Full details of the fall classes will be contained in the Community Education flyer due out Sept. 1. Call 343-2178 for information.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marian Trainor

In 1977, a group of residents from the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods area met to personalize services to older citizens.

An intensive survey had shown that the population was growing older and that they had needs that were not being met. They found also, that the population 65 years or older had increased from 12 percent to 14 percent in 1976.

The survey also showed that the supposition that all who live in the five Pointes and Harper Woods are wealthy is not true. Many live on fixed incomes rapidly eroded by inflation. Some lived in large homes which were bought when they were raising families and were not too costly to maintain.

Many were not poor enough to be eligible for government assistance, but not wealthy enough to live comfortably.

Calling themselves SOC (Citizens Onward for Change), the group incorporated. With that status the organization became eligible to receive funds from concerned individuals, corporations and foundations.

With that beginning and with hard work, dedication and planning, the group went to work to make sure that any older person living in the area could get all the help possible with their problems.

Today, they offer such services as Senior Citizen Information Center. It is often called the nerve center of SOC, because this program serves as a link between older residents and services available throughout the metropolitan area. Although it is not a crisis intervention center, it is a clearing house where callers can be put in touch with organizations that can help them.

Last year SOC responded to 2,500 requests for services, including home health care, financial problems, transportation and housing needs.

Food and Friendship is another SOC achievement. A nutritious lunch is served to participants 60 years of age or older five days a week at Ferry Elementary School. Educational and recreational programs follow the luncheon for those who wish to participate.

Every month a calendar of events is mailed out listing what is featured on particular days. There's bingo, cards, exercise programs, crafts and often an informative lecture on a pertinent health topic by an expert in the field.

To serve the ill or handicapped, there is a Meals-At-Home Program. Every noon, five days a week, volunteers deliver meals to these shut-ins. Often this is the only personal contact the seniors have all day.

Minor Home Repairs is another service. It provides handyman services such as raking leaves, installing and removing storm windows and making minor electrical and plumbing repairs for low- and middle-income residents over 60.

An Escort Service that provides transportation for older citizens who are not able to drive or to use buses or taxis is still another offering. With three days notice, arrangements can be made for volunteers to take seniors for necessary shopping, medical and other appointments. Rebate and Tax Service is provided by trained volunteers who assist older residents with the preparation of home heating rebates, property tax rebates.

In addition to these fixed services, the Senior Information Exchange mails out a monthly newsletter containing helpful hints, such as where to get a free pamphlet on how to make your home secure, where to seek help to fill out a Medicare form, how to get information on securing a portable unit for your telephone which allows you to send an instant alert to Henry Ford Hospital in case of emergency.

SOC has come a long way in seven years. Many of the original members who helped to get the organization started are still working to implement and enlarge the program. Among them are Bert and Helen Francis who will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary this month. Bert was the first director and president of the group. He is also on the board of directors of AARP, a member of the nutrition site committee of Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church; the City Commission of Grosse Pointe Woods and the Board of Education on Aging.

"When Seniors have a problem in Grosse Pointe," Bert proudly announces, "they call Bert Francis."

Another member of the original group, who still works to make SOC the success that it is, is Helen Salbert. She goes every day to help with the Food and Friendship program. Helen contributes more than time and work. Her outgoing personality and enthusiasm is contagious. It is likely that she brightens the day of every one of the 240 people who come to share lunch and stay on for whatever activity interests them.

Helen is the perfect example of the busy person who is always ready to take on more work. Beside SOC and her work with the Neighborhood Club, she helps the Ferry school children in the Nature Center there.

This is no ordinary Nature Center. Maintained by the students, it boasts a vegetable garden, a plot of wild flowers, a section of dye plants (plants which can be utilized to dye materials), a sand garden and its very own woods.

Add to this a family of young ducks that arrived last year and rated a police escort to take them back to the pond, just like the ducks in Robert McCloskey's children story, "Make Way For Ducklings."

This year the children will raise rabbits and don't be surprised if something creative doesn't come out of that project — perhaps a new story about Peter Rabbit?

For those who have not visited the center, there are volunteers who will show you around.

Because both the offices and the activities of SOC are housed at Ferry School, it is only natural that such giving people as members of SOC would volunteer their time to help the children. One of the areas is working with students on a one-to-one basis who need just a little extra help with their studies.

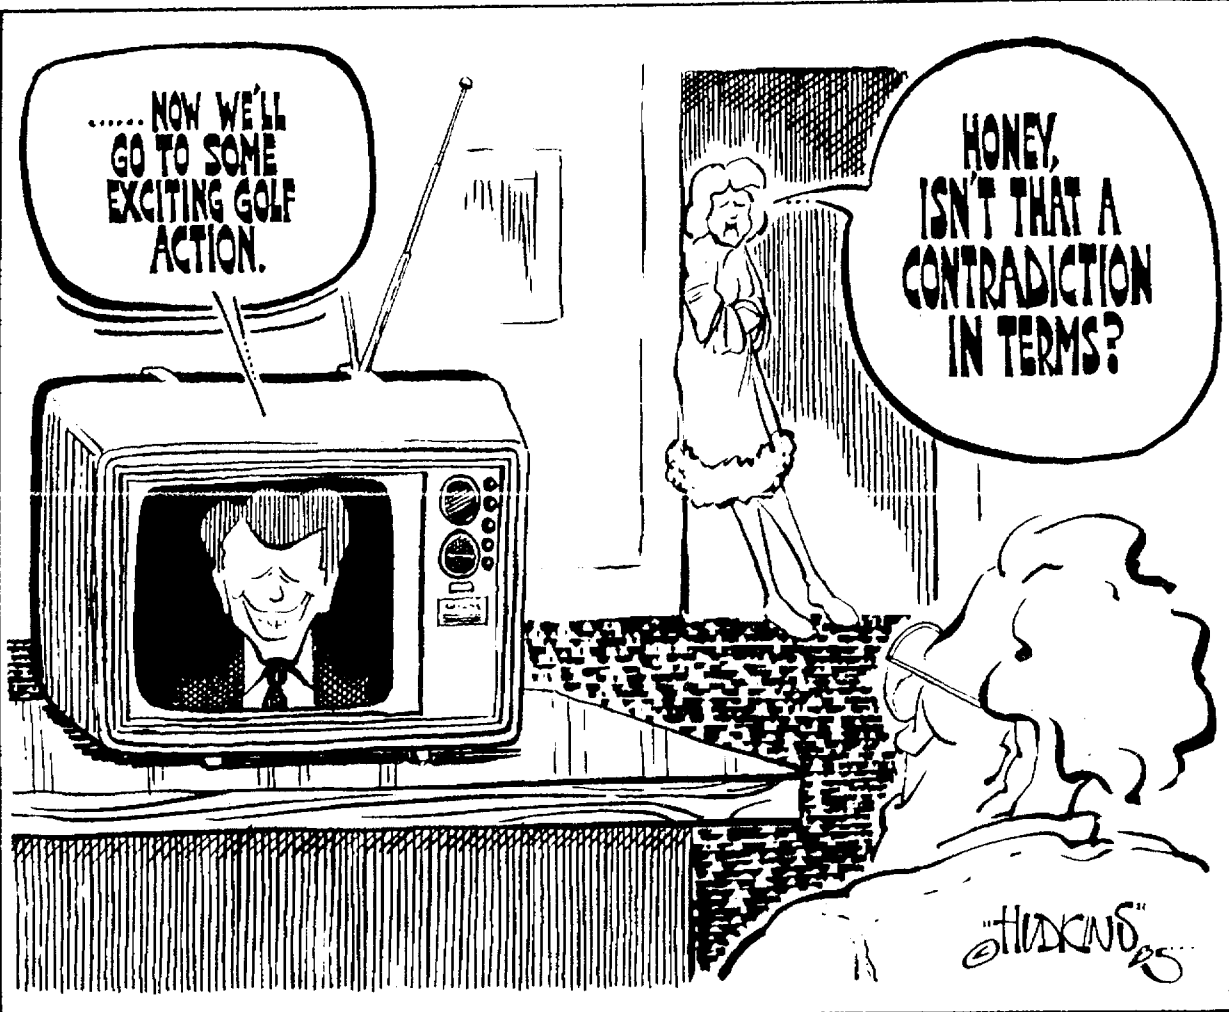

Much has been accomplished by SOC since they first organized just eight years ago. At that time all they had was a dream and determination. Now they are a full-fledged service organization reaching out to all who need help.

The goals they set then have been reached, but they still push on toward new ones, such as increased opportunities for work, both paid and volunteer, more health and social counseling and additional educational offerings.

It is organizations such as SOC that add to the good life in the Pointes and Harper Woods.

Inquiries about SOC and the services it offers can be made by calling 882-9600.

If you started reading one book a week at age 22, by the time you've reached the end of your expected longevity, you'll have read 2,600 volumes.

I say

There are fewer Grosse Pointers these days. But the news isn't all bad. The Pointers who are left have more money than they did two years ago.

According to the U.S. Bureau of the Census, there are 738 fewer people living in the Grosse Pointes than there were in 1982. That figure is compiled from population losses in the Shores, Woods and Farms and slight gains in the City and Park. The largest loss was in the Farms which lost 647 people or about 6 percent of its population.

The good news is that per capita income rose throughout the Pointes. The best place to live (if you intend to have a high income) is the Shores; with an average income of $28,935 per person. The Farms is next with a per capita income of $25,870. The City has an average income per person of $19,272. The Woods comes in second to last with $16,906 and the Park brings up the rear with $15,751. Park residents shouldn't feel too bad, however. The per capita income for the entire Detroit metropolitan area is $8,475 — just a little more than half the per capita income in the Park.

The Census Bureau is a veritable bottomless pit of detailed information on people, where they live, how much money they have and what they spend it on. All those monthly and quarterly unemployment statistics you were probably crediting to the Michigan Employment Security Commission actually come from the Bureau of Census. Far from just doing a head count every 10 years and resting in between — you can go to bed tonight secure that the Census Bureau is on the job, counting everything they can get their hands on.

The Bureau of Census counts more than people. It compiles detailed economic and demographic statistics that are then used throughout government and private industry.

For example, the Bureau publishes a list of all Michigan communities of more than 2,500 people ranked by volume of retail sales. Of the list of 214 communities, Grosse Pointe Shores ranks 213th. According to the official statistics, the only place where fewer retail goods were sold was apparently a town called Wolverine Lake — where nothing was sold.

The list says that there were $1.2 million in retail sales in the Shores in 1982. My question is, where? I don't know of a single retail establishment in Grosse Pointe Shores. Is someone selling hand-knit pot-holders from their home?

If your car breaks down — you'll be best off if you're in the Woods or the Park. There are four auto repair shops each in the Woods and the Park and only three in the rest of the Pointes put together. If you're in trouble with the law, the Woods is the place to be. There are nine lawyers' offices in the Woods.

Money disappears

A religion teacher in the Farms had $40 stolen from the wallet in her purse during Bible class Aug. 16. She told police she had laid the purse on a shelf in the library, where she was teaching a class of 6 to 11-year-olds. Although she never left the room, the money was missing at the end of the class, according to police reports.

compared to nine in the rest of the Pointes together.

Pointers are getting to be an older group of people. In the last 10 years the number of teenagers in the Farms dropped by 25.7 percent. The number of people between the ages of 25 and 34 rose by 38.2 percent and the number of people over 65, rose by 2.2 percent. The number of men over 18 in the Farms grew by .3 percent in the last 10 years, while the number of women over 18 shrank by 5 percent. However there are still 819 more women than men.

By Elsa Frohman

The ratios of men to women are perplexing. According to the census statistics, there are 997 unmarried men over the age of 15 and 855 unmarried women over 15. It would seem there are more then enough eligible bachelors to go around — yet the women are still complaining that it's hard to find a date on Saturday night. Of course, if most of the men are 15 years and one month, and most of the women are 35, it could still be a problem.

Farms residents are a well-educated lot. Fifty-one percent of all Farms residents over the age of 25 have at least four years of college. That's compared to only 14 percent of the general population throughout the Detroit area who have college degrees.

The average house in the Farms is worth $91,600, compared to $41,200 10 years ago.

Poverty is going out of fashion in the Farms. There are 32.2 percent fewer people below the poverty level than there were 10 years ago. The greatest gains were made by senior citizens. In 1970, 20 percent of those over 65 were living below the poverty level. Today, only 3.2 percent of Farms senior citizens are below the poverty level.

If you still haven't overdosed on numerical trivia — consider the 3,791 households in the Farms, or the 2,722 married couples. For even more esoteric information, consider the 202 people in the Farms who take public transportation to work.

You don't compile those kinds of statistics without asking a lot of questions. According to a representative of the Detroit office of the census bureau, the question people most resent answering is the one about how many bathrooms they have in their houses. Because almost everyone has at least one bathroom these days, and because people just don't seem to like to answer that question, in 1990 it will probably be dropped from the questionnaire. In its place will be question about how many VCRs you own.

The ultimate question has yet to be composed. I wonder how long it will before they start asking how many single women of the age of 25 have VCRs in the bathrooms?

There's something you can always count on from Michigan Bell:

Good service from good people.

If working for Michigan Bell for 29 years has taught me anything, it's that customer service comes first. And lately, since so much has changed in the telephone industry, Michigan Bell is naturally concerned that you are given every opportunity to learn about what's going on. That's where I come in. I'm Reginald H. Gibbs, and part of my job as a Michigan Bell Corporate Affairs Manager involves making sure Michigan Bell customers know how and where to get answers to phone service questions.

One good place to call is the Let's Talk Center. It's staffed by Michigan Bell people specially trained to answer almost any general question about phone service. The toll-free number for the Center is 1 800 555-5000.

And for specific problems, there are Michigan Bell people to call. For example, if you have a repair problem with your residence phone service, you should call 221-2121; if the problem is with business phone service, the number is 221-3131; if the problem is with a public telephone, call 221-5151.

Another convenient source of information that shouldn't be overlooked is the Customer Guide section in the front of your Michigan Bell White Pages telephone directory. It's full of phone numbers and helpful information on who to call for what. One of the numbers you'll find there is also on your monthly phone bill. It's the number of your Michigan Bell business office. That's where you get in touch with a service representative who can help you with specific questions about your phone service, or your bill.

I hope you'll find these suggestions helpful in knowing how and where to get answers. Even though I can't answer your questions on an individual basis, if you belong to a community or service group in the area and would like me to come out and address your group, please let me know. The number to call to schedule a talk is (313) 252-3880.

After all, helping people learn about their phone service is what I, and a lot of other Michigan Bell people, do every day.

Disabled vets eligible for special plates

Special blue and white license plates for disabled veterans are on sale, according to Secretary of State Richard Austin.

According to Austin, the plates are authorized under a law signed into effect in July of this year. To be eligible to buy the special plate, veterans must show proof of honorable discharge and proof from the military or Veterans Administration of a service-connected total or permanent disability for compensation or retirement.

Applications may be obtained from any Secretary of State branch office and should be sent to: Michigan Department of State, Special Registrations Unit, Lansing, Michigan 48918. The $5 fee should be enclosed. Further instructions will be given at the branch office.

The blue plates carry white letters "DV" followed by a combination of four letters and numbers. The words "Disabled Veteran" appear on the bottom. Plates expire on the owner's birthday.

Austin said an estimated 4,200 individual veterans may be eligible. Only one plate per veteran will be issued.

Reading Club celebration

Every Buck Rogers fan has heard of Ming the Merciless. Well, now meet Ming the Magnificent. MM (as he's known to his friends) was on hand last week at Central Library to befriend and bedazzle dozens of children who participated in the library's Buccaneers and Books summer reading program. Many of the kids come dressed in costume and more than a few walked away with prizes for reading more than 10 books during the summer. A $50 gift certificate was won by Meghan White for coming closest to guessing the number of sea shells in an aquarium at the library. The correct amount was 3,329 shells and Meghan guessed 3,323.

Thieves hit home for $3,200 loss

A Woods resident reported a break-in at his Stanhope Road home sometime during the night of Aug. 12-13. According to reports, the victim came home and found the side door of the house, located in the 2000 block, pried open. Police say approximately $3,200 in valuables were taken, including two Sony TV's, a Panasonic VCR, a Sony AM-FM clock radio, gold bracelets and earrings and a pearl ring and earrings.

Police believe the thief used a screw-driver to pry the door open.

Vandals break window at St. Paul's school

An unidentified person apparently threw a rock through a 16-inch-wide, five-foot-high window in a classroom at St. Paul's Catholic school Aug. 12. A rock was found inside the room. Farms police said it is unlikely that anyone could gain entry to the building through such a narrow window. They have classified the incident as malicious destruction of property and have no suspects at this time.

School board pays bonuses

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education approved payment Aug. 12 of the last round of performance bonuses for its administrators, totaling this year $16,500.

The 1984-85 bonuses are $250 to $1,000, based on an appraisal process that began last fall with the formulation of tasks and goals for each administrator and concluding in June with final evaluations, according to the school system.

This is the last year the bonuses will be paid. The school system will develop a merit pay performance system based on criteria agreed upon by board and administration officials as part of the district's administrative pay plan enacted recently, according to Superintendent John Whritner.

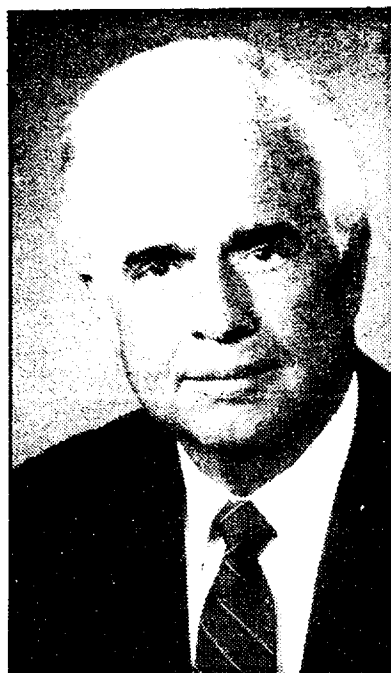

The board also approved pay hikes for its non-contract employees.

The administration called for a 5 percent increase for almost all categories of non-contract employees, including lunchroom workers, lay readers, writing aides, community education employees, latch key supervisors, accompanists, summer employees, paraprofessionals and a variety of substitute employees.

The only group receiving a large increase was substitute librarians, who received a 6 percent hike in an attempt to bring pay for that group closer to that of substitute librarians at other public libraries. Whritner told the board. Substitute public librarians are required to have a masters of library science degree, he added.

Enrollment open at nursery school

The Grosse Pointe Cooperative Nursery School is now enrolling three- and four-year-old students for the 1985 fall semester. Located on the lower level of the Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church, 211 Moross, the co-op has been serving pre-schoolers and their parents for more than 30 years.

Parents work at the nursery school on a rotating schedule, assisting a teacher with a background in early childhood education. The co-op experience gives children an opportunity to share crafts, growth, creativity and fun with both peers and parents.

Classes meet from 9 a.m.-11 a.m. The three-year-old group meets on Tuesday and Thursday. The four-year-old group meets on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Orientation sessions begin Sept. 4, and classes begin the week of Sept. 8.

For further information, call Adrienne Murphy at 882-7430.

Choose more All-Bran, less Brie

By Nancy Parmenter

The nurse is often the first line of communication with a hospitalized patient and his family. The nurse is the person the patient sees most, may confide in and ask for advice.

In the changing world of cancer prevention, nurses need up-to-the-minute information to pass on to their patients. On Sept. 14, a nursing continuing education program to alert health care professionals to the latest and best cancer information will be held in downtown Detroit at the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Allison Boomer, of the Farms, a registered dietician and health educator for the Foundation, is the coordinator of the program.

"Prevention is a fairly new idea," Boomer said. "We're about 10 years behind heart disease. The general population now realizes the risks with heart disease. With cancer, it's recognized that tobacco is a risk factor affecting the lungs and esophageal tract. The dietary risks are less known."

Nurses attending the conference will learn about educational resources and strategies for implementing prevention methods in their work setting. The conference is designed to increase their understanding of the scientific research on cancer prevention. Among the risks to be discussed are tobacco and alcohol, sunlight, X-rays and estrogen, and occupational hazards. The role of nutrition in cancer prevention is Boomer's field.

"The average consumer is bombarded with too much information on nutrition," she said. "He can't filter out what's accurate. The nurse is in such close contact with patients. She plays an educational role."

Allison Boomer

What the nurse will be telling us, according to the latest wisdom in cancer prevention, is that 30 to 70 percent of all cancers are due to diet. A massive public information campaign is aimed at reducing cancer mortality by half by the year 2000, Boomer said.

Read food labels, Boomer advised. Reduce fat, increase fiber, eat a variety of foods. Make sure you get plenty of vitamins and minerals, especially vitamins A and C.

"I'm not talking here about megadoses," Boomer said. "It's always preferable to have your nutrients from food. Under certain circumstances, people with digestion-absorption problems, for instance, vitamin pills are good. But if you take megadoses, you are doing yourself a disservice. It's expensive and it can do harm."

The average American obtains 40 percent of his calories through fat. Boomer said the new guidelines indicate that 30 percent would be preferable.

Current fiber intake averages 10 to 20 grams in the average diet, where the guidelines recommend 25 grams. Boomer conceded that 25 is "quite a bit. How many bowls of cereal can you eat?"

But if you make sure to avoid processed foods where possible and eat whole grain breads and cereals, two slices of bread, a bowl of cereal, a serving of dried beans, fresh fruit and "a good healthy salad" spread over three meals, you would account for about 20 grams of fiber, Boomer said.

Smoked and pickled foods and charcoal-broiling are to be avoided. "Smoking is almost creating a combustion similar to tars in cigarettes," Boomer said. "The Japanese have the highest incidence of stomach cancer because of (high intake of) salt-cured and pickled foods. We're talking about moderation."

Alcohol has been implicated in esophageal cancer, she said. Moderate drinking, two or fewer drinks per day, is probably all right, but the guidelines do not allow for multiple cocktails before dinner every day.

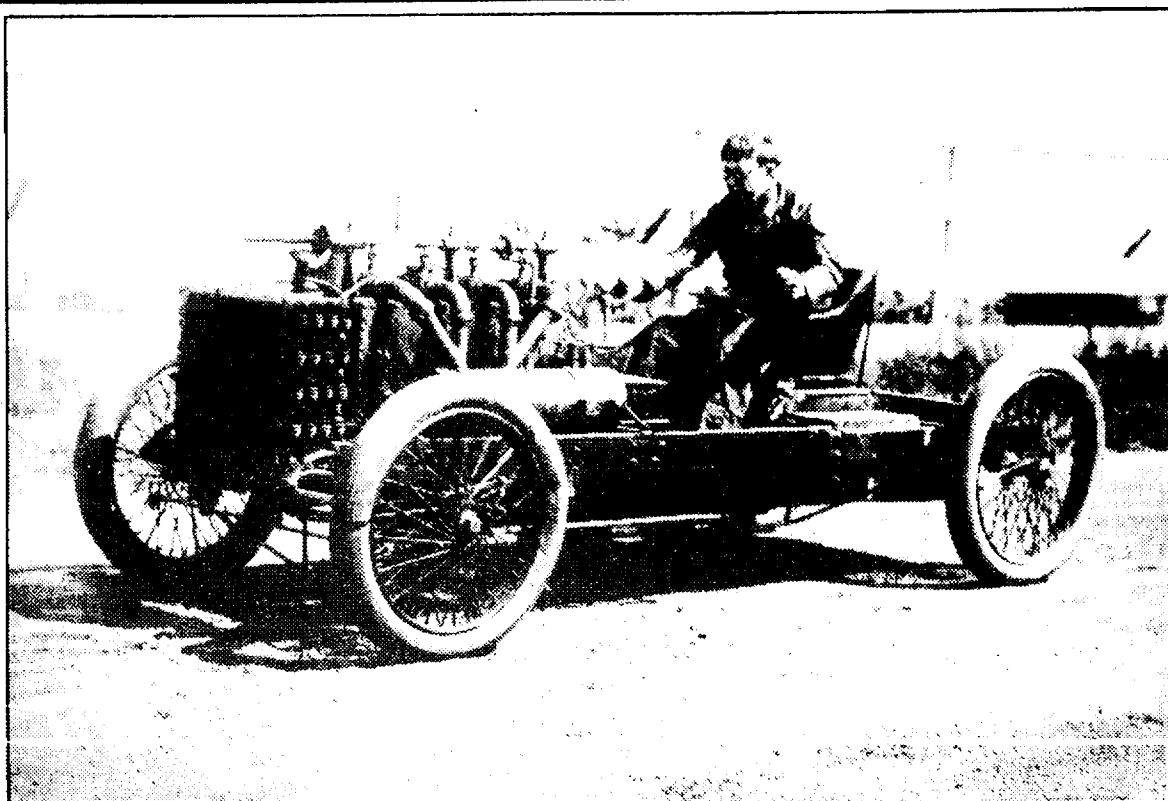

Boomer said she is surprised at how many people continue to drink too much even when so much is known about the negative effects of alcohol. "You'd think that people in their 30s who grew up with health-consciousness would be more astute," she said. "Health is the most important thing you have."

Although the public has been concerned for several years about food additives, preservatives and colorings, Boomer said that is less of a problem than thought. "The general public is oriented in the wrong direction if they concentrate on food additives. Being overweight is worse for you than having a diet soda."

A National Institutes of Health publication couches the dietary dilemma in "choose more-choose less" terms. Choose more fish, chicken, water-packed tuna; choose less rib roast, corned beef, sausage and marbled meat. Choose more lentil or pea soup, three-bean salad, farmer cheese, ice milk; choose less peanut butter, olives, Brie, sour cream. Choose more apples; choose fewer avocados.

People wanting to obtain the booklet, which contains calorie charts, menus, ratings of fat and fiber content of various foods and advice on cooking methods, may write to the Cancer Information Service, Comprehensive Cancer Center of Metropolitan Detroit, 110 E. Warren, Detroit, MI 48021, or call 1-800-4-CANCER. The booklet is free.

Health professionals wanting to attend the conference may call 494-9416 for further information.

It was 1902

... when the legendary Barney Oldfield came to Detroit to race one of Henry Ford's 999 models around the Grosse Pointe track. The next year, with a 999, he became the first man to go a mile a minute. Businesses get robbed

Two Kercheval businesses were hit with smash-and-grab robberies last week in the Park.

The first occurred at Pointe Fashions and was reported to police at 3:21 a.m. According to reports, the thieves broke the window from the front door and took ladies wool suits and designer blouses before fleeing. No estimate of loss was given.

Two days later, thieves smashed in the front window of Corky's Surf Snob and Bop at 1:36 a.m. and grabbed a couple of loads of clothes, including, jeans, jackets, coats and other articles, according to reports.

No loss estimate was given.

Snow emergency plan nixed by Farms

The Farms city council Aug. 12 considered and rejected a plan to create snow emergency routes on a trial basis this winter, deciding to stick with the plan now in effect.

A memorandum from Police Chief Robert Ferber detailed the requirements and expense of establishing a network of nine streets designed for snow emergencies. He estimated the cost of purchasing and erecting signs at $18,077.72. A lower figure of $9,654.82 would apply if only five high-priority streets were involved in the program.

"I have been requested to prepare a program to prohibit parking during snow emergencies on designated routes, this I have done, and I have found it to be lacking in benefit when compared to its cost," Ferber stated in the memo.

"I don't think the problem is as big as we thought it was," he told the council Aug. 12. "What we've been doing works well. We have a system to ticket and impound cars during snow emergency."

Currently, all residents are supposed to remove their cars from the streets when a snow emergency is declared. Ferber estimated compliance at about 80 percent. Of the cars remaining on the streets, only about 10 or 15 stay there long enough to receive 48-hour parking tickets and a second 48-hour violation, for which they are fined and towed, Ferber said.

Council members reacted negatively to the anticipated expense. There was general agreement that residents' voluntary compliance with the present program is good.

All about ACT

As the new school year begins, more than one million high school juniors and seniors across the nation are preparing to participate in the ACT Assessment Program.

The ACT Assessment, which consists of four academic tests that measure educational development and a detailed questionnaire that collects information relevant to educational and career planning, is recommended or required by more than 2,700 postsecondary institutions and scholarship programs.

School guidance counselors recommend that students participate in the ACT Assessment Program during the junior year or early in the senior year, so their results will be available in time for use in planning for post-secondary education and careers.

Students can obtain registration packets that contain all the information necessary to register and prepare for the assessment from their high school guidance offices. The basic registration fee is $10. Late registration will be accepted for an additional $10 late handling fee. For 1985-86, ACT has established this test date schedule:

Test dates	Registration deadlines	Late registration deadlines
Oct. 26, 1985	Sept. 27, 1985	Oct. 15, 1985
Dec. 14, 1985	Nov. 15, 1985	Dec. 3, 1985
Feb. 8, 1986	Jan. 10, 1986	Jan. 28, 1986
April 12, 1986	March 14, 1986	April 1, 1986
June 14, 1986	May 16, 1986	June 3, 1986

It takes about three hours to complete the four ACT examinations in English, math, social studies and natural sciences. A sample copy of a full-length test is available in every high school. Students who would like to have copies of additional tests may obtain them at cost from ACT.

The ACT Assessment also includes a two-part questionnaire that students complete at home when they register. The questionnaire focuses on the student's interests, academic and nonacademic accomplishments, and vocational and educational plans and needs.

Colleges use information from the ACT Assessment Program for academic advising, admissions counseling, course sectioning and placement, student services and institutional research. ACT Assessment reports are sent to students, their high school counselors, and only those institutions and agencies specifically designated by the student.

THE CHIROPRACTIC DIFFERENCE

David Jantz, D.C.
 The chiropractic approach is to establish and maintain optimal physiological activity by correction abnormal structural relationships. Chiropractic is a structural approach — whereas Medicine uses a chemical approach — drugs.

Today's Doctor of Chiropractic must attend six to eight years of college which includes a two-year internship program. Although comparable to a medical education, a chiropractic education is distinctively different in that chiropractic approaches health from a wholistic natural health care perspective.

A chiropractic doctor emphasizes proper joint motion and function of all joints of the body. He is concerned with optimal nutrition, injury-free exercise, stress management, and the prevention of disease.

Overeaters Anonymous

This year marks the silver anniversary of Overeaters Anonymous, a fellowship of men and women who share the common problem of compulsive overeating and help each other to arrest the problem a day at a time.

OA is based on the Alcoholics Anonymous Twelve Step Program. The first Overeaters Anonymous meeting was held Jan. 19, 1960 with two members in attendance. Since that day OA has grown into a worldwide fellowship with some 100,000 members in 6,500 groups in 39 countries throughout the world. There are approximately 60 meetings held weekly in the Detroit area.

The OA Greater Detroit Office is located at 23150 Woodward Ave., and is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. The telephone number is 541-1133.

Showing how it's done, John Maxwell, from the left, of Bonanza Restaurants, Mike Marontate, chief barker of Variety Club of Detroit and a Shores resident, and George Williams, vice president and general manager of WKBD-TV Channel 50 and a City resident, deposit the first cans toward a one-million-can goal for the Cans for Kids campaign.

Donate empty cans for kids

Cans for Kids is a new fundraising effort of the Variety Club of Detroit to benefit the Variety Club Electronic Limb Research Center at the Detroit Institute for Children.

Throughout the month of August, Michigan beverage consumers will be asked, via public service announcements produced by WKBD-TV Channel 50, to donate their empty 10-cent deposit beverage cans at any Bonanza Restaurant statewide.

Proceeds of this campaign will go toward providing lifelike myoelectric prosthesis hands and arms to children who have such a need.

"With the outstanding cooperation we've received from WKBD-TV 50, Bonanza Restaurants, Coca-Cola and Pepsi-Cola (container donations), LaGrasso Produce (can pick-up), Vigliotti Realty (can warehousing), and Gannett Outdoor (media support), we have an excellent chance of reaching our first year goal of one million cans," said Mike Marontate, chief barker of Variety Club of Detroit. "Cans for Kids offers an excellent opportunity for people to support a worthwhile cause without taking one penny out of their pockets."

For further information, call Pat Morgan at 259-7400.

Roelina Reif

Memorial services for Mrs. Reif, 68, of the Pointe, St. Clair, and Palm Beach, will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 7, at St. James Lutheran Church, McMillan Road near Kercheval.

She died Aug. 19 at St. John Hospital.

Born in Detroit, she was a member of St. James Lutheran Church, Grosse Pointe, and Faith Lutheran Church, Palm Beach.

Mrs. Reif is survived by her husband, Lawrence Albert; two daughters, Nancy Spragg and Janet Poser; a son, Fred John; two sisters; one brother; and seven grandchildren.

Volunteers needed for health care

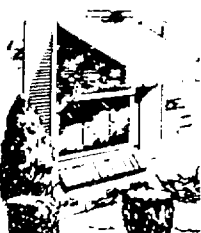

St. Clair Ambulatory Care Corporation's Home Health Care Services is seeking volunteers to offer their services for its Home Care Volunteer Program.

The services include helping the frail elderly in friendly visiting, companionship and errand-running. Volunteers will be reimbursed for mileage.

To prepare volunteers, a nine-hour training program will be held Sept. 25, 26, and 27, at St. John Hospital. This program will focus on effective listening, communication, social activities and basic body mechanics.

Anyone interested should call Deanna McGraw at 343-3738.

Zero deficit in 6 years possible, Levin says

By Nancy Parmenter

A group of Macomb County Democrats was treated Thursday to Sen. Carl Levin's recipe for deficit reduction, garnished with some thoughts on defense spending and free trade.

"If we don't address the deficit, all of us will be impacted by an inflation that will roar right back here," Levin told his audience. "The deficit will sink us all if we don't address it."

Levin charged the Congress with cowardice in its stand on the deficit. The budget recently passed in Washington made some "painful cuts," but failed to touch revenues at all, he said.

"Everybody's afraid to touch revenues. The House has refused to do anything unless the president is on board. It's a political who-goes-first. I think they're both wrong on this," he said.

The senator said he believes the public would accept and support additional revenues if they are not in the form of a general tax increase, if spending is also cut, and if the Congressional backing for the revenue hikes is bipartisan.

"The public wants Congress to act," he said. "They don't want partisanship. Action would raise their view of the Congress from D-minus to at least C-plus."

Levin said the deficit, which now approaches $200 billion, could be reduced to zero within six years. To accomplish this, he recommended several measures:

Continue the tobacco tax. The current tax of 16 cents per pack is to be cut in half on Sept. 30.

"I'll bet a third of you here smoke," he said to the audience. "But I'll also bet that you didn't know the tobacco tax is going down. And I'll bet you don't care. The smokers I know are saying, 'don't make it easier for me to smoke!'. If anything had majority support, it would be an existing tax on tobacco." Nevertheless, he said, his legislation to that effect failed by four votes.

Instate a minimum tax. According to Levin's figures, 3 percent of the individuals who earn more than $50,000 shelter it so effectively that they owe no taxes. Two percent of corporations also pay no tax. Levin proposed a minimum tax of 10 percent in such cases.

"I believe that everybody who had a good year last year should pay some taxes," he said. According to his figures, such a tax would amount to $10 billion a year.

Index taxes every other year instead of annually. Indexing to inflation to avoid bracket creep is "fine and it's the right thing to do, but there's nothing divinely ordained that the indexing should occur every 365 days," he said. He estimated that less-frequent indexing would net the government an additional $4 or $5 billion per year.

Impose a surcharge on imported oil, to be phased out if oil prices rise. A surcharge of $2.50 a barrel would cost an additional nickel at the pump, add revenue to government coffers and encourage domestic production at the same time, Levin said. He called the idea "not popular, but tolerable."

On the subject of defense, Levin, a member of the Senate Armed Services committee, spoke against waste, which he said is the product of a lack of competition over the years. "We're at the mercy of the winning bidder," he said. "Without a free market, price becomes an abstraction."

But improvements in military procurement are taking place, he said. The Congress gave the administration less than it wanted for defense, and some real cuts have been made in the so-called "Star Wars" system and the MX program. Other cuts were "phantom cuts," amounting to readjustments and movements of funds from one program to another. Congress is encouraging a freer market in defense contracts and the Pentagon is starting to purchase directly from subcontractors, which he said would produce a savings.

It was when Levin spoke of free trade that his audience was clearly with him. "Other countries look at us as if we're fools," he said to applause. "What is particularly galling is that we send goods to countries that discriminate against our goods. How can we justify standing here letting goods flood our shores from countries that won't let our goods in?"

Japan is the worst offender, "but by no means the only one," Levin said. "You can't sell pound one of American rice in Japan." The protected Japanese market subsidizes rice farmers to the tune of $1,400 a ton, while good-quality American rice is available at $400 a ton, but can't get past Japanese trade restrictions.

Both Reagan and Carter have favored free trade, but "free trade is an illusion," Levin said. "The reality is that other governments are partners and protectors of their industries. We are seeing the gradual erosion of our industrial base abroad. There is no way to compete with 20-cent-an-hour labor."

American lack of productivity is no longer a problem, Levin said. U.S. industry produces competitively, but cannot compete in the cost of labor. "We're not protecting a non-productive economy," he said. "We are trying to protect a way of life."

Farms buys DPW equipment

The Farms city council moved Aug. 12 to purchase some of the equipment budgeted for this year.

The low bid of $24,474 from Capitol Equipment for two John Deere sidewalk tractors was accepted. Once the vehicles have been painted and fitted with brooms and plows, the cost will come close to the $34,000 budgeted, city manager Andrew Bremer said.

The council received only one bid for a Cushman refuse vehicle. Industrial Vehicle Sales submitted a bid of $7,024, which was accepted. The city had budgeted $8,000 for the item.

Raccoon pack roams Shores

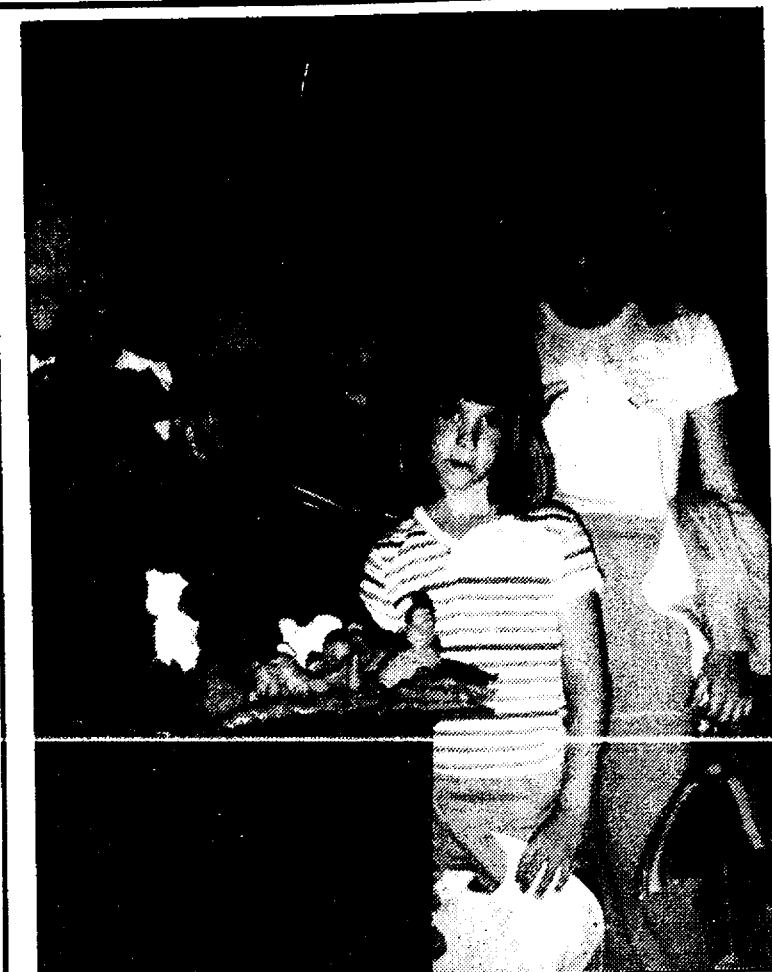

That posse of tiny masked bandits sighted in the still of the night near Hawthorne and Morningside in the Shores recently turned out to be a pack of eight or 10 raccoons.

Residents have had their fill of the masked critters, who hang out in garages, eat the cat's food and tip over garbage cans. One neighbor bought a live trap and succeeded in capturing one of the big raccoons, but, according to police reports, while she and a neighbor stood beside the trap discussing their next move, the animal wrenched the welds loose and escaped. Shores police learned from the DNR that the animals must be live-trapped, as hunting season does not open until October. The department is now considering buying some traps.

New foundation gives $157,300

The Community Foundation for Southeastern Michigan, incorporated in June 1984, recently announced grants of $157,300 to local cultural, educational, health and human service programs. The Family Life Education Council of Grosse Pointe (FLEC) was given $5,000 for education and alcoholism

Noah's ark

One of the activities of the Grosse Pointe United Methodist vacation church school held during July was to build a cardboard ark and fill it with clay animals. Gathered around the ark are Lisa Pierantoni in the front, Nathan Pierantoni and Heather Rupprecht in the middle, and Ben Harwood and Ross Durkin in the back. Besides building the ark, the 30 children and 10 leaders visited the Belle Isle zoo, painted murals, made mobiles and designed cards for shut-ins.

Be a clown

Remember seeing the Grosse Pointe Clown Corps at last week's Fishing Rodeo?

The group will hold a new member registration Thursday, Aug. 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room in the basement of the Woods public safety building.

Children in elementary through high school and adults from the Pointes, Harper Woods and Macomb Counties communities are welcome to become members. For more information, call group chairman Arthur Kuehnle at 881-8188.

Other events at which the corps will appear are the Jaycees car wash Saturday, Aug. 24 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the parking lot of Standard Federal Savings, 19700 Mack in the Woods and the Grosse Pointe Metropolitan Club's 44th Annual Field Day Saturday, Aug. 31.

Eight Mile Bridge . . .

pointe development expressed concern that future increases in traffic might lead the MDOT to extend Eight Mile Road to Mack Avenue — through the Shorepointe development.

Tom Sullivan of Grosse Pointe Woods criticized the MDOT's environmental assessment and suggested the problem could be solved by rerouting traffic to Vernier.

"I would suspect that this report is a justification for the project," Sullivan said. He pointed to a finding in the report that predicts a 30 percent increase in traffic using the off-ramp, but 5 percent decrease in cars turning left onto the bridge.

"That is beyond my comprehension," Sullivan said.

He argued that making the bridge wider will increase the number of people who turn left onto the bridge.

"People are going to do the easiest thing," he said. "Anything that eases the traffic flow will increase the traffic. This study is completely false. I am opposed to a document like this being used to justify a finding of no impact."

Sullivan argued that the only long-term solution to the problem would be a complete restructuring of the Eight Mile and Vernier Road interchange, to route traffic around in a circle — as it is at the Nine Mile and 10 Mile interchanges.

Several people suggested that a less expensive solution to the problem would be to prohibit left turns off the bridge and off the off-ramp. Thus, westbound traffic on the bridge would not be held up by left-turners, and freeway exiting traffic would be forced to continue on to Vernier before turning east.

Chisholm closed the hearing by reminding the audience that the record of the hearing would be held open until Aug. 30 for additional written comments.

not work. That's a false assumption. "We've investigated the accidents where people died wearing the belts. In every case the accidents were so bad that nothing would have saved the victims. The cars were either destroyed or flattened like a pancake. Also, as more people wear belts, more deaths will be reported with people wearing the belts. It's a hard concept to get across. They didn't die because of the belts, but because the accident was so bad, nothing would have saved them.

"The bottom line is that seat belts save lives," McNitt said. "The tough part is getting people to wear them. Our officers get awfully tired of having to pick up pieces of people who could have lived if they'd been wearing the belts."

"Buckling up won't give people immortality but it will give them a fighting chance."

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA — An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe — it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers Extraordinary Guarantee

You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

Best of all, ordering Amitol is simple, fast, and reliable! Simply call Dyna Labs Toll Free: (1-800-441-5454) Ext. 911, and order with your credit card. If you don't have a credit card Dyna Labs will also accept C.O.D. orders right over the phone! All orders are shipped immediately by UPS, which means no delay and no orders lost in the mail!

$19.95—30 day supply, or $35.95—60 day supply. Operators are standing by and will be glad to take your order. You can order 24 hrs. a day, 7 days a week! Please don't wait to call. You really do deserve to be thin!

This is the preliminary plan to subdivide the Dodge/Ranger estate approved by the Grosse Pointe City Council Monday night. The drawing shows two plans: The one with the heavier lines and larger numbers was recommended by city planner Brandon Rogers, who attached an overlay over the original proposal. The preliminary plan submitted by the developer, The Blake Company, provides for 19 lots, while Rogers recommended 18. The council agreed with Rogers.

YFU seeks volunteers

Youth for Understanding, a non-profit, high school exchange student program, is seeking volunteers who would place and monitor teen-agers from 25 different countries, in American host families.

YFU provides professional training in skills that are transferrable to job resumes and in some cases, to college credits. Expenses are reimbursed on a monthly basis.

Persons who are interested can call 1-800-872-0200, or write: Youth for Understanding, 6264 Dixie Highway, Bridgeport, Mich. 48722.

The Sundown Sailors

Grosse Pointe's own mini-Mackinac race gets under way every Tuesday evening from Windmill Pointe Park. Fair weather or foul, any of the 130 boats registered with the Grosse Pointe Sail Club gather from all over the lake to race the sun down. In good spirits, casual crews of boat friends ready their craft for the jostling start under the scrutiny of clock-keeping observers. Signal flags and cannons signal the beginning of the race. The lights of the freighters are just beginning to wink as the first to finish cuts through the dusk in this twilight water ballet.

An unusually strong current, coupled with a lack of wind, drive the boats into each other as they jockey for a starting position.

Photos and text by Elizabeth Carpenter

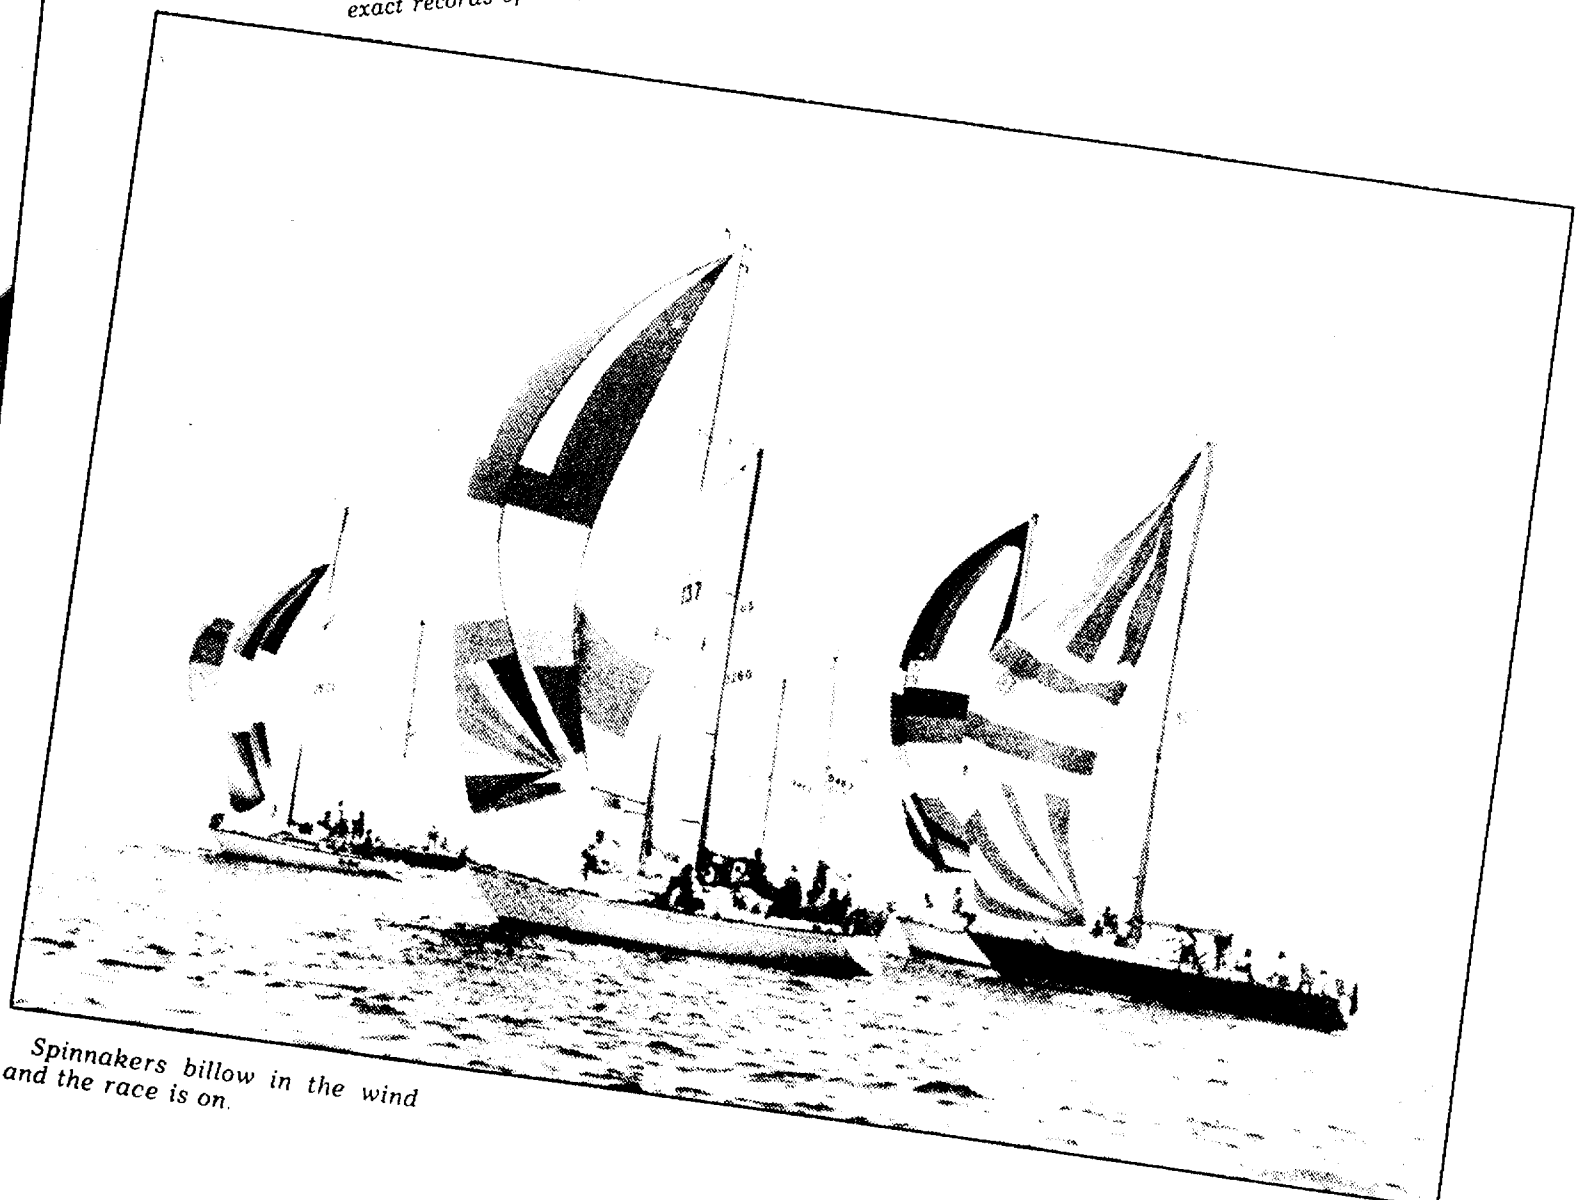

Jon Clark and William Sheoris designate the Kuckla's course for the race.

Judges Barbara Olson, Fay Fitzgerald and Lorrie Bell diligently monitor the races and keep exact records of every boat's performance.

Crew member Keith Todoroff casts off.

Spinnakers billow in the wind and the race is on.

Furnished rooms for Friend of the Court

Detroit Junior League programs help people

Thanks to the Detroit Junior League, the Wayne County Friend of the Court has two newly furnished rooms for family visitation and counseling. One is a children's playroom at the Friend's Westland Annex; the other is a visitation room at the agency's downtown office.

The rooms were furnished as a Community Assistance Award project. The Community Assistance Award program provides grants of up to $1,000 to meet emergency needs in the community. In the four years the Detroit Junior League has operated the program, 50 awards totaling about $35,000 have been granted.

"This was an unusual project for us," said Junior League Community Assistance Coordinator Joan S. Gehrke. "We usually look for projects that provide a volunteer opportunity as well as a need for funds."

Community Assistance Awards are evaluated on the basis of whether the request represents a critical need, whether it will provide an opportunity for volunteers to reach out into the community and whether it conforms to the Junior League philosophy, Gehrke explained.

While few volunteers were needed for the Friend of the Court project, there was a critical need. Gerhard Ritsema, who is in charge of the activities at the Friend of the Court which use the rooms, explained that while the Friend of the Court is funded by the state of Michigan, the agency's priorities would have ruled out spending any money on furnishing the rooms.

The Junior League determined that the visitation room project conformed to the League's policy of promoting family life. The project was undertaken by the 1983 provisional class of the League. The provisional class is made up of new members in training.

Ritsema explained the rooms are used for a wide variety of activities, from counseling and mediation, to drawing blood samples in paternity cases. The rooms provide an informal family setting that helps to reduce tension between clients who are often meeting for the first time after a court-enforced separation.

"We use it (the visitation room downtown) for our counseling and mediation activities," Ritsema said. "It is a setting where visitation can be arranged, particularly if the child is uncomfortable with the parent."

The Friend of the Court has traditionally been thought of as little more than the agency that collects support payments and forwards them. However, the Wayne County office is attempting to expand its duties into more human areas.

Ritsema explained that when children have been separated from their parents, as in divorce and some abuse cases, re-introducing the family can be a tension-laden experience. The visitation room provides a neutral, non-institutional atmosphere for the process.

The playroom at the Westland Annex has a similar function. It is used as a waiting room for children while their parents are counseled.

While the visitation room project was unusual in that it didn't require a large number of volunteers, it was also unusual in that it didn't require much money. The provisional class volunteers solicited donations rather than buying new furniture for the rooms.

"We only spent $35 to $50," said Mary F. Lamparter, a former member of the provisional class that furnished the room. Lamparter is now an active member of the League. "Ninety-five percent of the room is donated. We bought a toy box and some hooks. It was mostly leg work. But that's part of the volunteer effort. We earn money and turn it back to the community."

"I can go to the room and feel right at home," another member said humorously, referring to her own donations of furniture.

While the project was undertaken in 1983, there was a delay before the room could be put together because the Friend of the Court was delayed in moving into its own offices. Most Junior League projects are carried out in a single year, but in this case, the project couldn't be completed until this year — allowing the group to add a television to the furnishings.

Any given agency can apply for a Community Assistance Award once every two years. Because of the delay, the Friend of the Court was able to apply for a second grant of $250 for the television.

"The television isn't just a babysitter," said Elena Kerasiotis, an employee of the Friend of the Court who is also an active member of the Junior League. "We hope it can be used for educational purposes as well."

The Friend of the Court plans to get a video tape player that can be used with the television to play pre-recorded programs available for helping parents and children cope with the difficult situations that come with divorce and separation.

The Detroit Junior League has more than 1,000 members — the majority of whom are Grosse Pointers. The group has its offices on the second floor of the carriage house at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

— Weddings —

Brown-Jellison

Marriage vows were spoken June 22 in Star of the Sea Church, Squantum, Mass., by Grant Langdon Brown and Robin Lynn Jellison. Grant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W.L. Brown of Grosse Pointe Park. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jellison of Squantum. An outdoor reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony with music for dancing provided by a quartet from the New England Conservatory of Music.

The bride chose a sheer cream-colored, ankle-length gown with handmade lace at the neck and hem. Mrs. Steven Cousteau, her sister, served as matron of honor. Grant asked his sister, Heather Langdon Brown of New York City and Berkeley, Calif. to be his attendant. They chose pastel gowns in pink and blue.

The mother of the bride wore a long blue gown. The bridegroom's mother wore a white chiffon dress with pastel flowers scattered throughout.

Guests were seated by Steven Cousteau, the bride's brothers Mark and Richard Jellison and the bridegroom's brothers, Cameron and Douglas Brown.

The bridegroom's parents gave a rehearsal dinner the night before the wedding in old Boston at the restored "Mama Maria Ristorante."

The bridegroom attended Grosse Pointe Schools and graduated from Buxton School and Clark University. He is executive chef at the Leathercoat Restaurant in The Plains, Va.

The couple honeymooned in France where they investigated three and four-star restaurants and vacationed along the Cote d'Azur.

The bride has just completed the five-year Physical Therapy course at Northeastern University, Boston. She interned at a Washington hospital as part of her training and expects to be employed near their home in The Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Edewaard

Feringa-Edewaard

Nancy Lee Feringa, daughter of Mrs. Margaret V. Feringa of Grosse Pointe Farms and Dr. Philip J. Feringa of St. Clair Shores, and Michael James Edewaard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Edewaard of Holland, Mich., were married on June 22 at Bethany Christian Reformed Church in Holland.

Rev. Duane Vander Brug officiated at the 11:30 a.m. ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club.

The matron of honor was Lisa Feringa Khoury, sister of the bride, Detroit. Bridesmaids were Alexis Feringa, sister of the bride, Grosse Pointe Farms; Nancy Edewaard, sister of the groom, Grand Rapids; Gwen Petroelje, friend of the bride, Holland.

The best man was Dave Petroelje, friend of the groom, Holland. Ushers were Bob Edewaard, brother of the groom, and Terry Edewaard, brother of the groom, both of Holland; and Craig Feringa, brother of the bride, Grosse Pointe Park.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder dress with puff sleeves and a chapel-length train. She wore a veil edged in tatted lace made by her grandmother. She carried white orchids and stephanotis.

The bridesmaids wore floor-length dresses of periwinkle blue polished cotton with puff sleeves. They carried white orchids, stephanotis and periwinkles.

The mother of the bride wore a pale pink chiffon dress and wore a corsage of white orchids. The mother of the groom wore a dress of magenta floral silk and also wore a corsage of white orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School and Calvin College. She is a teacher in Holland.

The groom is a graduate of Holland Christian High School and attended Calvin College and Western Michigan University. He is the president of Modern Homes Building Co.

The couple honeymooned with a Lake Michigan cruise on the family yacht. They will live in Holland, Mich.

Langs-Murphy

Priscilla Grace Langs, daughter of Richard and Beverly Langs of Grosse Pointe Woods, and Thomas Heyden Murphy, son of Elise and the late John Murphy of Harper Woods, were married on Aug. 10.

Dr. Louis J. Prues, II, officiated at the 1 p.m. ceremony at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church which was followed by a reception at the Gowan Golf Club.

The matron of honor was Laura Tom. The best man was David Wier. Douglas R. Langs, brother of the bride, served as usher.

The bride wore a cocktail-length off-white dress of lace with a hat covered with lace and seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses, baby's breath and white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Michigan. The groom is a Wayne State University graduate.

— Engaged —

Graham-Heimler

Mrs. Richard Jack Graham and the late Richard Jack Graham formerly of Grosse Pointe Woods, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marna Carol, to Charles Heimler III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heimler II, of Thousand Oaks, Calif.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School and has a degree in photography from the California College of Arts and Crafts. She is an assistant editor for the San Francisco Bay Guardian.

The bridegroom-elect is a graduate of the University of California,

San Diego, and is an English teacher at the University of Santa Clara, as well as a writer for the San Francisco Bay Guardian.

Kettler-Craig

Christine R. Kettler of Harper Woods and David G. Craig of Grosse Pointe Woods announce their engagement. Kettler is the daughter of Donald Przytulski of Roseville and Shirley Borwning of Mt. Clemens. Craig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David S. Craig of St. Clair Shores.

An October 1985 wedding is planned.

Art classes scheduled in Birmingham

Another semester will soon be underway at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association with registration beginning Aug. 26 for the general public. Registration will continue until classes start Sept. 18. The three month term will run to Dec. 14.

Classes will consist of a variety of art media; art history; calligraphy, commercial art, design, drawing, fibers, enameling and cloisonne, glass, painting, pottery and sculpture. Classes in stained glass have returned this fall and will include instruction in the rudiments of stained glass plus an optional field trip to view area churches.

For those who cannot commit to a full term of classes, there will be a variety of workshops offered. These will include enameling, steel sculpture, wood blocking printing, acrylic painting techniques, and a lecture called 'The Art of Collage' as preparation to the Michigan Fine Arts Competition which will be juried by Romare Beardon.

For a free brochure, call 644-0866. The BBAA is located at 1515 S. Cranbrook Rd., Evergreen and 14 Mile Rd., Birmingham, and is open to everyone. Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Local women in fundraiser

Co-chairmen of the Symphony-ASID Showhouse are still tallying up the results of the successful fundraiser for the Detroit Symphony. Mrs. Leon V. Peterson, Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. Douglas Cale, Birmingham, thought they would have final results soon after the Showhouse closed in June.

"Money is still coming in from ticket sales, so we are still counting," said Peterson.

Planning for the third Showhouse sponsored by the Detroit Symphony volunteer organizations began almost a year and a half before its Preview Opening on May 11. Co-Chairmen Peterson and Cale formed a committee of 50 to organize the project.

"Jo Kessler, Women's Association president, was especially helpful in the early stages when she worked on the contracts with the builder and the interior designers," said Peterson.

"As the Showhouse neared completion, we enlisted more volunteers. We needed 25 guides at the Showhouse each day to show the more than 9,000 visitors around. The guides put in over 3,000 hours at the Showhouse, so we estimate almost 5,000 volunteer hours were given to the project," Peterson continued.

"Hopefully, we will have the final figures on the Showhouse soon, and we will make a report at the next board meeting of the Women's Association," Peterson concluded.

The next meeting of the Board of Directors of the Women's Association was to be held Tuesday, Aug. 13, at the Renaissance Club by Mrs. Charles Kessler, Huntington Woods, who has been re-elected to a second term as president of the association.

Officers serving with Kessler on the 1985-86 board are: Mrs. Berj H. Haidostian, Birmingham, first vice president; Mrs. Charles M. Endicott, Grosse Pointe, Mrs. Kim E. Lie, Grosse Pointe, Mrs. John E. Young, Jr., Grosse Pointe, vice presidents; Mrs. Samuel Carman, Bloomfield Hills, recording secretary; Mrs. John Bielawski, Dearborn Heights, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Ellwyn A. Gilbert, Grosse Pointe, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Richard F. Krandle, Farmington Hills, treasurer; and Mrs. William Warner, Bloomfield Hills, assistant treasurer.

Additional directors serving on the board are: Mrs. George J. Bedrosian, Dearborn Heights; Mrs. George P. Benjamin, Detroit; Mrs. Eugene Blanchard, Livonia; Mrs. Ramon von Drehe, Franklin; and Katherine Wasserfallen, Southfield.

Kessler has appointed chairmen for Symphony activities for the fall season.

Chairmen for the fall activities are: Mrs. George P. Benjamin, Detroit, orchestra picnic; Mrs. Kenneth G. Hanson, Birmingham, new member tea; Rita Jacobs, Birmingham, holiday party; and Mrs. Frank Germack, Jr., opening night party.

DG officers elected

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of Delta Gamma Sorority celebrated Founders Day in April at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

Elected officers for 1985-86 include: president, Ann Baxter of Grosse Pointe Park; vice president, Priscilla Martysz of the Park; recording secretary, Grace McGill of Grosse Pointe Shores; corresponding secretary, Joann Brown of Wet Bloomfield; treasurer, Margit Jackson of Grosse Pointe Farms; public relations, Mary Anne McMullin of Grosse Pointe Woods; Panhellenic delegate, Barbara Trost, the Woods; city sponsorship chairperson, Judy Walker of the Park; special projects chairperson, Melissa Maghielse of Grosse Pointe City.

The annual fall brunch will be held in September and all Delta Gammas are invited and welcome to attend.

Enjoy salmon and tuna for good sources of dietary iron

Iron is an essential mineral in the diet of adult women. A deficiency of iron leads to anemia. The following is a selection of recipes from the low-calorie, low-cholesterol and pennywise kitchens of Thrya Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring foods rich in iron.

Patio Apple Salmon Salad

Ideal for lunch or a light supper. A tangy mustard-flavored vinaigrette dressing contributes to this salad's appeal.

1 can (7 3/4 oz.) salmon, drained
2 apples
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/3 cup chopped walnuts
1 Tbsp. sugar
1/2 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. salt
Fresh ground black pepper
3 Tbsp. tarragon vinegar
1/4 cup oil
Lettuce cups

Break salmon into chunks with fork. Core and dice one apple, but do not peel. Combine salmon, apple, celery, green pepper, onion and walnuts. Combine remaining ingredients except lettuce and pour over salad. Toss lightly to mix. Spoon onto four lettuce-lined plates. Slice remaining apple into wedges; dip in lemon juice to prevent darkening. Garnish with apple wedges.

Especially good accompaniments are warm hot grain rolls and buttered asparagus spears. Makes four servings.

Mediterranean Baked Fish

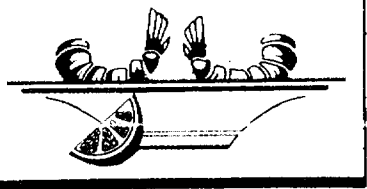

1 4-pound fish
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. salt
Freshly ground pepper
1/2 cup vegetable oil
6 medium tomatoes, sliced, divided
2 red Spanish onions, divided
5 lemon slices
6 black olives, pitted and halved
1 tsp. chopped parsley
1/2 cup white wine

Rub fish cavity well with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Rub an ovenware baking pan with oil and cover with a layer of half of the onions and tomatoes. Lay fish on this bed, skin side down, and top with remaining tomatoes and onions. Add lemon, olives and parsley. Pour remaining oil and wine around fish.

Bake in a 350-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with fork. Serve in baking dish. Serves eight.

Elegant Eating

Fish Loaf Piquante

1/2 Tbsp. unflavored gelatin

1/4 cup cold water
1/4 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tsp. mustard
2 egg whites, slightly beaten
3/4 cup skim milk
1 1/2 Tbsp. unsalted margarine
4 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup lettuce
1 cup flaked salmon

Soften gelatin in cold water for about five minutes. Combine seasonings, and skim milk in top of double boiler and cook over hot water six to eight minutes or thickened. Add melted margarine, lemon juice and gelatin stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Fold in salmon. Turn into well oiled loaf pan. Chill until cold. Serve with yogurt cucumber sauce. Makes four servings.

Yogurt Cucumber Sauce

3 Tbsp. grated cucumber
1/4 tsp. dill weed
3/4 cups fresh plain low fat yogurt
1/2 tsp. dill weed

Peel and seed cucumbers. Grate the cucumber flesh and drain well. Combine the cucumber, yogurt and dill weed. Makes one cup.

Green Bean Tuna Savory

A delicious quickie especially when served over toasted split corn bread squares.

1/4 cup onions, chopped
1/2 cup celery, chopped
1 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 Tbsp. margarine
2 Tbsp. flour
1/2 tsp. dill weed
1 can (16 oz.) cut green beans
1 cup evaporated skimmed milk
1 can (7 oz.) tuna, flaked
2 Tbsp. chopped pimento

Saute onion, celery and mushrooms in margarine until tender. Spread in a 1 1/2 quart casserole.

In same saucepan stir together flour, pepper, dill weed, and liquid from green beans. Stir in evaporated skim milk; heat until thick.

Layer tuna over onion mixture. Top with beans. Pour sauce over all. Bake in 350° oven for 15 or 20 minutes or just until heated through. Serve hot garnished bits of diced pimento sprinkled over the top. Makes four servings.

Calories per serving about 183. Cholesterol about 29 mgs.

Salmon Souffle

1/4 cup unsalted margarine
1/3 cup unsifted flour
1/4 tsp. salt
2 cups skim milk
4 eggs, separated
1 pound pink or red salmon

Melt margarine in top of double boiler, blend in flour, stir in salt and milk and cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until sauce boils and thickens. Beat egg yolks until light. Stir in a little of the hot sauce and pour back into the remainder of the sauce. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, for two minutes. Remove from heat. Drain salmon, discard skin and bones, save juice, then flake fish. Mix fish and juice with sauce. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold lightly but thoroughly into the fish mixture. Pour into a well oiled six cup souffle dish and bake in a moderately slow oven (325°) one hour. Serve immediately. Makes five servings.

Calories about 315 per serving. Cholesterol about 236 mgs.

The community LINC

Volunteer luncheon scheduled

The approach of fall quickens the daily pace of living and the need for volunteer action by the people of LINC.

Numerous area agencies rely on LINC (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community) to help provide the donated items that make life more bearable for the needy, the desperate, the ill, and the very old and very young persons they serve.

With the new season comes the necessity for veteran and new LINC volunteers to meet, organize and plan for the increased volunteer commitment of LINC's 1985-86 year.

The first major general membership meeting and volunteer luncheon will be held Thursday, Sept. 12, beginning at 9:15 a.m. at the home of Chris Litka, LINC president. Ideas for new fund raising projects will be the primary topics of discussion at the meeting.

As described by Litka, unique and effective ways to meet LINC's financial needs are becoming critical as human need increases in the financially strapped areas in and around Wayne County.

"We very much need input from all our volunteers," said Litka, "to find the best ways possible to raise money to make our operation successful."

"Because we must depend entirely on private funding and individual donation to keep us solvent and effective, we must have a number of fund raising activities each year and we need our finest volunteer ideas and efforts to succeed," she said.

Another important project on the program agenda will be the new LINC volunteer booklet, to be published at the end of September. The booklet will contain a roster of members, a suggested orientation program, bylaws, the history of LINC, descriptions of board positions, a list of board members and volunteer opportunities.

One of the objectives of the meeting is to ensure that all volunteers are included in the booklet roster.

Current and prospective volunteers are encouraged to make reservations by calling Sara Gagen at 885-7701 or Janine Pack at 885-2213.

Babysitting services the day of the luncheon are available at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church and may also be reserved by calling Gagen or Pack.

Another exciting event coming up for LINC this fall is participation in the East Warren Avenue Parade on Sept. 22.

LINC volunteers and officers will march down the parade route on East Warren Avenue and take part in post-parade festivities to be held at Balduck Park.

"This is a great way for LINC to help make area citizens aware of our contribution to the community," said Litka. "Since our office is located at 17800 East Warren Avenue, we are part of the street's economic life. We want people to know we are there and that we need and want their interest to help us continue to aid residents in that section of Detroit as well as the rest of our area."

As fall leaf clean-up approaches, LINC is also offering high-quality, 2-mil trash bags for sale as an on-going fundraiser. The cost is $12 for a box of 100, available from any LINC volunteer or by calling the LINC office.

Operation LINC is a non-profit, volunteer organization which helps numerous area social service agencies and depends on your support. To volunteer or donate usable items, please call us at 331-6700. Our office hours are 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, throughout the year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Palazzolo

Palazzolos mark golden anniversary

The children of John and Jennie Palazzolo of Grosse Pointe Park honored their parents on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary on June 30.

The Palazzolo's children are: Josephine Palermino and her husband, Joseph, of Rockville, Md.; Michael Palazzolo and his wife, Eleanor, of St. Clair Shores; John R. Palazzolo and his wife, Sandra, of Sterling Heights; Jeanne Kavanagh and her husband, Patrick, of Grosse Pointe Woods; and Donald Palazzolo and his wife, Rosemary, of San Diego, Calif. The couple have 10 grandchildren.

The celebration began with a limousine sent to the couple's home in the morning. The couple were taken to Holy Family Church, where they were married in 1935. A mass was celebrated by Fr. Edward Perrone, a member of the family. Two grandsons, Timmy and Tommu Kavanagh, were altar boys and the couple's son, John, played guitar during the service.

A dinner reception for 150 guests was held at the Barton House in St. Clair Shores.

The couple received a papal blessing from Pope John Paul II and a congratulatory message from Ronald Reagan, president of the United States.

Park Mayor P.T. Heenan sent a proclamation honoring the couple for their 33 years as residents.

Discipline is more than punishment

Discipline is something that concerns everyone who cares for children.

Discipline is more than punishment for misbehavior, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter. Discipline is also the means through which adults teach children good conduct now and for the future. Every mistake a child makes is an opportunity for learning.

Children need to know right from wrong and how to stand up for their rights, needs, and convictions without interfering with the rights of others. They need to learn inner controls rather than rely on someone else to tell them how to behave. Here are some tips to help adults provide children this kind of discipline.

- Teach by example. Try to act in ways you'd be proud to see the child copy, now and when she's grown. For instance, if a child hears you tell a lie to others, she will learn to tell lies even if you punish her for lying to you.

- Try to be fair in your discipline. Give the child a fair hearing and make the punishment fit the crime. For example, if a child breaks one of her own toys, the loss of the toy is punishment enough. She doesn't need a spanking or to be told she's careless or clumsy. If you point out that this is why you sometimes remind her to be careful, she'll learn the lesson more readily than if you make her feel bad.

- Next time you reprimand or punish a child, think about how you would feel if you were in her shoes. Would you feel hurt, misunderstood, or angry if someone treated you the way you are treating her?

- When a child makes a mistake, let her know you don't like what she did without making her feel she's a bad person for doing it. For example, if she hits her baby brother, explain that you won't allow her to hit him even though you understand how mad she gets when he takes her toys or interrupts her games. Listen to her side of the story and try to work out a solution together.

- Let your child know you appreciate her doing things that are important to you. For example, thank her for helping you keep the house neat by picking up her toys.

- Pay more attention to the things your child does well than to her mistakes. Children tend to repeat behaviors that get the most attention. For example, the more you ask a child to stop playing with her food, the more she may do it. Try ignoring it instead. Then, when you notice her eating neatly, compliment her. It won't take long before you see a change.

- Let the child know what you expect of her. Try to keep your expectations fair, reasonable, and sensible. If she knows what you expect, it will be easier for her to please you and avoid your disapproval.

Berries are ripening early

The biggest news in the August food outlook here in Michigan is that fruit crops are fully two weeks ahead of a normal season, according to the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

Blueberries started in June this year with the supply peak for the Blue Crop variety occurring during the final two weeks in July. The Jersey variety will provide consumers with a second marketing peak during the first two weeks in August.

The Michigan blueberry crop is forecast at 48 million pounds compared to the 1984 crop of 46 million pounds. Berries are running medium size this year — a nice change from the smaller blueberries of the last two years.

The 1985 state peach production is forecast at 55 million pounds — a 10 million pound increase over that of last season. The overall national peach crop is off the 1984 figure by 18 percent. All varieties of peaches are also two weeks in advance. This puts the popular locally grown Red Haven variety in produce markets by Aug. 1.

Development of most vegetable crops is slightly ahead of normal. The recent rains have proved especially beneficial for vegetable crops. Once home-grown tomatoes became more widely available this month, a full line of home-grown vegetables will be coming from Michigan fields.

Look for egg prices to stay at or near current price levels during August.

Broiler production rates have been running four to six percent above those of last year. As long as feed prices remain low, the costs of production will be attractive enough for producers to maintain higher output.

Beef and pork prices have been moving up a bit lately, but several factors are working against a strong rise.

Chamber group moves to WSU

The Detroit Contemporary Chamber Ensemble has been named a professional ensemble-in-residence at Wayne State University in cooperation with the Michigan Council for the Arts beginning in September of this year.

The group will move its base of operations from the Detroit Institute of Arts' Recital Hall to the Community Arts Auditorium on the WSU campus.

According to Peter J. Schoenbach, chairman of WSU's music department, "The DCCE has proven itself to be an exceptional first class performing organization in the city. Its concerts of 20th century music will add a new dimension to the music performing activities at WSU."

The ensemble under the direction of Music Director and Conductor Barrett Kalellis, is comprised of some of the finest classical musicians in the Detroit and Ann Arbor vicinity.

Formed in 1983, the DCCE has presented two full seasons of series concerts at the Detroit Institute of Arts. During this time, the group has gained much popular and critical notice, including nationwide exposure in prestigious journals such as "Musical America" and "Chamber Music America."

In addition, the DCCE has been successful in having world-famous composers like Gunther Schuler, Lukas Foss, and Alan Hovhanness come to Detroit to hear their works performed by the ensemble. In April of this year, a DCCE performance was broadcast coast-to-coast over the widely syndicated radio program "Lincoln's Music in America."

J. Drake and Nancy (Wood) Ambrosino of Grosse Pointe are the parents of a son, Coert Logan, born July 19. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Wood of Grosse Pointe Farms. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Ambrosino, Kettering, Ohio.

"We look forward to our new association with the students and faculty of Wayne State," said Kalellis. "We think that at Wayne State there will be even greater opportunities for us to add to the musical life of the university community and also to the city as a whole."

The DCCE residency at the university will include not only series concerts being given in the Community Arts Auditorium, but also the possibilities for master classes and open rehearsals for students.

Further information about the DCCE residency and a season flyer can be obtained by contacting the music department at WSU or by calling 577-1795.

League President Mary Kathryn DuCharme describes the typical Junior League member as a woman who has a career and a family, but still wants to set aside time for volunteer work.

"They want to do something for the community," she said. "They want to leave things better than they found them. They are women who want to continue their personal growth."

The Junior League is made up of women between the ages of 22 and 45. At age 45 an active member becomes a supporting member — but can still participate in the organization.

According to DuCharme 60 percent of the Junior League's members have careers. The median age for members is between 27 and 34. The main thrust of Junior League activities is volunteer work. Members are required to work a minimum of 72 hours a year on a Junior League project.

The majority of the Junior League funds come from sales of the Junior League Cookbook and proceeds of the Showhouse, a home decorating showcase, held every other year.

Currently, the Junior League has seven projects underway in the Detroit area. Representing a total commitment of $170,000, the projects range from alcohol and drug education to the Riverfront Artists in Residence Project to the Hospice Video Project to tutoring elementary school students in reading, writing, math and enrichment subjects.

"We are a group of professional volunteers," DuCharme said. "The Junior League has supported the city through thick and thin."

Fashion show benefits hospital

Dressed in the latest fall fashions, some of the areas noted media personalities will have the opportunity to feel the mystique of being a runway model for the day Monday, Aug. 19, at Crash Landing Two. Jack McCarthy, Colleen Burcar, Sybil Little, Carol T. Marcia Biggs, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Sanders and Glen Pierson are featured guest models for "Autumn Expressions" Fashion Show. Women's fashions courtesy of Marie Dion of Grosse Pointe. Chelsea Clothiers will provide the latest in menswear. The extravaganza is a fund-raiser for Children's Hospital of Michigan. The evening begins with a delicious buffet dinner at the Crash Landing Two, located at 36434 Groesbeck Highway (between 15 and 16 Mile Roads) in Clinton Township. The show begins at 9 p.m. There will be door prizes and entertainment. Also on hand will be a number of National Hockey League Players and members of the Red Wing Alumni Association including: Johnny Wilson, Alex Delvecchio, Gerry Able, Joe Klukay, and many, many more. Tickets are $25 per person and can be purchased by calling 751-4444 or 632-7501. "Autumn Expressions" is sponsored by the "Christmas is Love Committee."

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Pugliesi of Grosse Pointe Shores; and Mary Jo Yaklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yaklin of Grosse Pointe Woods. The girls were recipients of the Webster Merit Scholarships to Albion. Other Star graduates attending Albion are Theresa Schnitzer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Michael Schnitzer of the Woods, and Francine Paglia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Paglia of the Shores.

Meredith Van Eck: Volunteering for love of the hospital family feeling

Meredith Van Eck of Grosse Pointe Park gives 30 hours a week to Saratoga Hospital as a volunteer.

"That hospital is so wonderful," she explained. "Everyone is so friendly. There is a family atmosphere."

Meredith, who has been volunteering at the hospital since 1982 is one of the original group of 22 people who established the volunteer program at Saratoga.

"Meredith is by far the most caring person I've ever met," said Jan Hertel, volunteer coordinator at the hospital. "She is the greatest moral builder. She is excellent at cart.

Later, Meredith started riding in the hospital's transportation van. The van is provided as a service to patients who need help getting to and from the hospital. Meredith helped patients get in and out of the van and provided companionship for the ride.

Meredith's fellow volunteers describe her as a constant "pick-me-up" for the patients she comes in contact with.

"Meredith is the friendliest person I know," said Carol Kelly, a Red Cross volunteer at the hospital. "She's always happy. If you feel down, go talk to Meredith. You'll feel better."

Meredith's next project was the organization of the Stroke Club. The club provides opportunities for stroke victims to socialize with people with similar experiences, as well as an opportunity to go places and do things that might be difficult otherwise.

"We've gone on outings to Toronto and Sarnia and last year we went downtown to the fireworks."

The group received complementary tickets to view the fireworks display from Cobo Hall and took 32 stroke patients to the event. The stroke group presents special transportation and logistics problems because of the differing handicaps of its members.

"We have some in wheelchairs. Others walk with walkers or canes," Meredith said.

The Stroke Club has members ranging in age from 40 to 80.

"It helps them to be with people who have the same problems," Meredith said. "It gives them an incentive to improve. They help each other."

Meredith said she finds great rewards in working with the stroke patients.

"They work wonders," she said. "I was taking one lady for therapy and at first all she could say was, 'no, no, no.' But just six or eight months later she was saying words. They find out they can do a lot of activities. We help them get back to normal."

Meredith said she thoroughly enjoys her volunteer work. "I look forward to going there every day."

Pointer of Interest

getting people's minds off themselves."

Saratoga is a small hospital located on Gratiot on the eastside. The 203-bed facility had no volunteer organization until three years ago when Hertel brought together the first group.

Meredith's husband, Jim, is a registered nurse at the hospital. The Van Eck family has a tradition of association with Saratoga — as Jim's father was a doctor practicing there.

"They were going to open a gift shop," Meredith said. "Because of my background in retailing, I thought I might try it."

Meredith help organize and set up the gift shop displays and helped train new volunteers in the shop. She was instrumental in getting the gift cart service for Saratoga patients started. Working with Ray Bedard, another volunteer, she selected the items to be sold on the Meredith Van Eck does an average of 30 hours per week of volunteer work at Saratoga Hospital.

Though her husband works at the hospital, they don't get all that many chances to see each other. Meredith explained that Jim has been working and going to school — leaving time for meeting at dinner and little else.

Jim's education is taking Meredith away from the hospital. The couple will be making a temporary move to Flint so Jim can attend anesthesiologist school. However, Meredith said they intend to return to the Pointes and Saratoga Hospital after the two-year course is completed.

"I'm going to keep in contact with the Stroke Club," she said. "I'll be going along on the trip to Sarnia this fall. I'm also going to help out in the gift shop at Christmas."

In Flint, Meredith believes she may start volunteering again at the hospital where Jim is taking his training.

"Who knows what I'll do next. I hear that hospital has two gift shops."

Cabaret concerts set

The Detroit Concert Band will open its 1985-86 season of cabaret style concerts on Sept. 18. The concerts will be held at the Detroit Light Guard Armory. They will be held monthly on Wednesday evenings.

The 1985-86 season is dedicated to the musical entertainment tradition of John Phillip Sousa. They will feature soloists, Sousa marches, sing-alongs, Broadway show tunes and other musical spectaculars.

All seats are reserved. For reservations or more information, call 886-0394.

Leonard B. Smith is the conductor of the Detroit Concert Band. The organization has its headquarters on Mack Ave., in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Classic car show planned this weekend

The 1985 Detroit Classic Car Show and Swap Meet will be held on the parade grounds of Historic Fort Wayne on Sunday, Aug. 25 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Hundreds of classic automobiles are expected to be on display. In addition, collectors will have an opportunity to buy and swap classic automobiles, automobile parts, and accessories.

General admission to the Car Show and Swap Meet is $2. Registration for classic automobiles is $5 and includes all passengers. Children under 12 are free when accompanied by an adult. Spaces for vendors and exhibitors are available at $10 each.

Historic Fort Wayne is located at 6325 W. Jefferson at the foot of Livernois, just off the I-75 Freeway. Ample, free parking is available. For more information, please call 833-9707.

WAN night planned

The Detroit Boat Club will hold its final WAN night on Wednesday, Aug. 28. The theme of the evening will be Roman Holiday. The event will feature an Italian menu. Entertainment will be provided by the Italian Folk Youth Ensemble and a juggler and acrobat.

WAN stands for Wednesday Adult Night and is a long standing tradition for the Detroit Boat Club. The event is dedicated to freeing adults from the cares of child watching.

Tennis tournament to benefit hospital

The Tennis and Crumpets Men's and Women's Doubles Tennis Tournament will be held on Sept. 7. The tournament benefits Children's Hospital of Michigan.

The women's competition will be held at the Neighborhood Club courts from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Each player is guaranteed three rounds of play. They will be pro-set games. For more information call Fay Robb, 884-2014, or Lucy Gorski, 881-4448.

The men's competition will be held at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The format for play will be the same guaranteed three rounds of pro-set play as for the women's competition. For more information, call Doug Graham, 882-0422.

The entry fee for both men and women is $15 per person and includes balls, lunch and prizes.

Artist Market plans your lucky day

Although the Detroit Artists Market has been closed for the summer, the staff and volunteers have been hard at work over the past several weeks planning this year's Party-In-The-Park, which takes place on Friday, Sept. 13. To the Detroit Artists Market, this traditionally superstitious day is one of good luck, for not only does the Party-In-The-Park herald the opening of the new autumn season, but it celebrates the beginning of a new year of great art exhibits, the Detroit art community, and the city itself.

The Party-In-The-Park will take place from 6 to 11 p.m. under a huge tent in Harmonie Park. In keeping with the Friday the 13th good luck theme, the setting will include a light-hearted glimpse at the supernatural. Cracked mirrors, crescent moons, zodiac signs, magic charms and even garlic-roping will create the mood, and palm readers, crystal ball gazers, astrologists and a wizard or two will foretell your good fortune.

As always, the Party-In-The-Park will have plenty to eat and drink, and along with the merriment and entertainment, will give Detroiters a great opportunity to preview the Detroit Artists Market's fall art exhibit.

Admission to the Detroit Artists Market's Fifth Annual Party-In-The-Park on Sept. 13 is by reservation, which can be made by calling 962-0337. Tickets are $25 per person. Downtown Detroit's Harmonie Park is located one block southwest of Madison on Grand River.

Women accountants to meet Aug. 27

Alexander Zekem will speak on "Power and Economic Forecasting" at the next meeting of the American Society of Women Accountants, to be held at the Machus Sly Fox Restaurant, 725 Hunter Blvd. (north of 14 Mile Road) in Birmingham, on Tuesday, Aug. 27, at 6:30 p.m.

Zekem has been with Detroit Edison since 1977. Prior to his current position in rate research, he was involved in forecasting and information systems.

All women interested in the field of accounting are welcome to attend. For more information, call Mitzi Richardson on 649-0910, Ex. 368.

Wine and cheese reception set

The Detroit Legal Secretaries Association will hold a complimentary wine and cheese reception on Monday, Aug. 26, from 5 to 8 p.m., in the offices of Pepper, Hamilton & Scheetz, Tower 100 Renaissance Center, Suite 3600, Detroit.

Attorneys and their legal support personnel who are interested in learning more about the programs and benefits of the Detroit Legal Secretaries Association are urged to attend. Members of the association will be on hand to elaborate on how your support personnel can enhance your practice of law through membership in the Detroit Legal Secretaries Association.

Please make reservations by contacting Marilyn Estes, PLS, at 963-8142, ext. 7270 by Aug. 22.

Miniature muster set

Thousands of Toy Soldiers will muster at Historic Fort Wayne for the 9th annual Military Miniature Muster and Toy Soldier Show on Aug. 24 and 25 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. Admission to Historic Fort Wayne and the miniature muster will be free.

Children from six to 60 will enjoy the two-day event which will feature military miniatures from all periods of history, demonstrations on casting and painting, as well as tips on collecting and displaying figures.

The Michigan Society of Figure Collectors will sponsor the show which will be held in the Visitor Center at Historic Fort Wayne. Historic Fort Wayne is located at 6325 W. Jefferson at the foot of Livernois, off the I-75 Freeway. Ample free parking is available. For additional information, please call 297-9360.

St. John Guild plans golf outing

The St. John Hospital Guild will hold its 11th annual Golf Outing on Monday, Sept. 16, at Hillcrest Country Club in Mt. Clemens.

The event will include a hot buffet lunch with an open bar, beer and soft drinks on the course, and hot and cold hors d'oeuvres before dinner at 7:30 p.m.

There will be many prizes awarded, both to golfers and those who chose to come to the dinner only.

The cost for golfers is $95. The cost for the dinner only is $45. For more information, call 343-3674.

FALL PROFILES '85

Thursday, August 22, 1985

Grosse Pointe News

Fashion for Fall '85 is full of surprises

In a season which has witnessed a renewed emphasis on elegance, with sleek lines, narrower silhouettes and precision tailoring, there's also a tendency to styles that are fun to wear, with bright colors, boxy jackets and short, revealing skirts.

Many of fall's newest styles display a fondness for femininity, subtly expressed through ladylike detailing, form-flattering shapes and, for night, more baubles, bangles and beads than we've seen in the past few seasons combined.

Designers emphasizing the menswear look — so popular recently — are distinctly in the minority, but they are there, and they are influential.

But, for Fall '85, it's menswear with a difference. Rugged tweeds are paired with lacy blouses and jewel tone velvets.

Trousers are tapered, ending not in cuffs but in narrow ankles and, sometimes, stirrups. Leather is the newest favorite fabric, and it proves its versatility, worn with cashmere or velvet, silk, tweed or lace.

With the bevy of shorter, slimmer skirts that are making news for fall, it's refreshing to see that certain designers have maintained that big is beautiful.

Thus, sometimes almost side by side on the runway, designers showed a contrast of silhouettes — the longer, fuller, boxier jacket with broad shoulders worn over a narrow, knee-skimming skirt and the lush, luxurious longer skirt — sometimes full and feminine, sometimes sleek and sporty, sometimes elegantly wrapped — allowing glimpses of a well-turned ankle.

This elongated skirt calls for a narrower, more fitted jacket, cropped to emphasize the skirt's fullness, or longer and tailored like the classic riding jacket.

Among the other surprises — asymmetry, in the closure of a jacket or blouse, for a look that is tailored and geometric.

Geometry provides another angle on fall's fashions, with sweaters sporting both intricate texturing and bold patterning in bright colors reminiscent of abstract art, for a harmony of shades and shapes that's pleasing and invigorating to eye and mind.

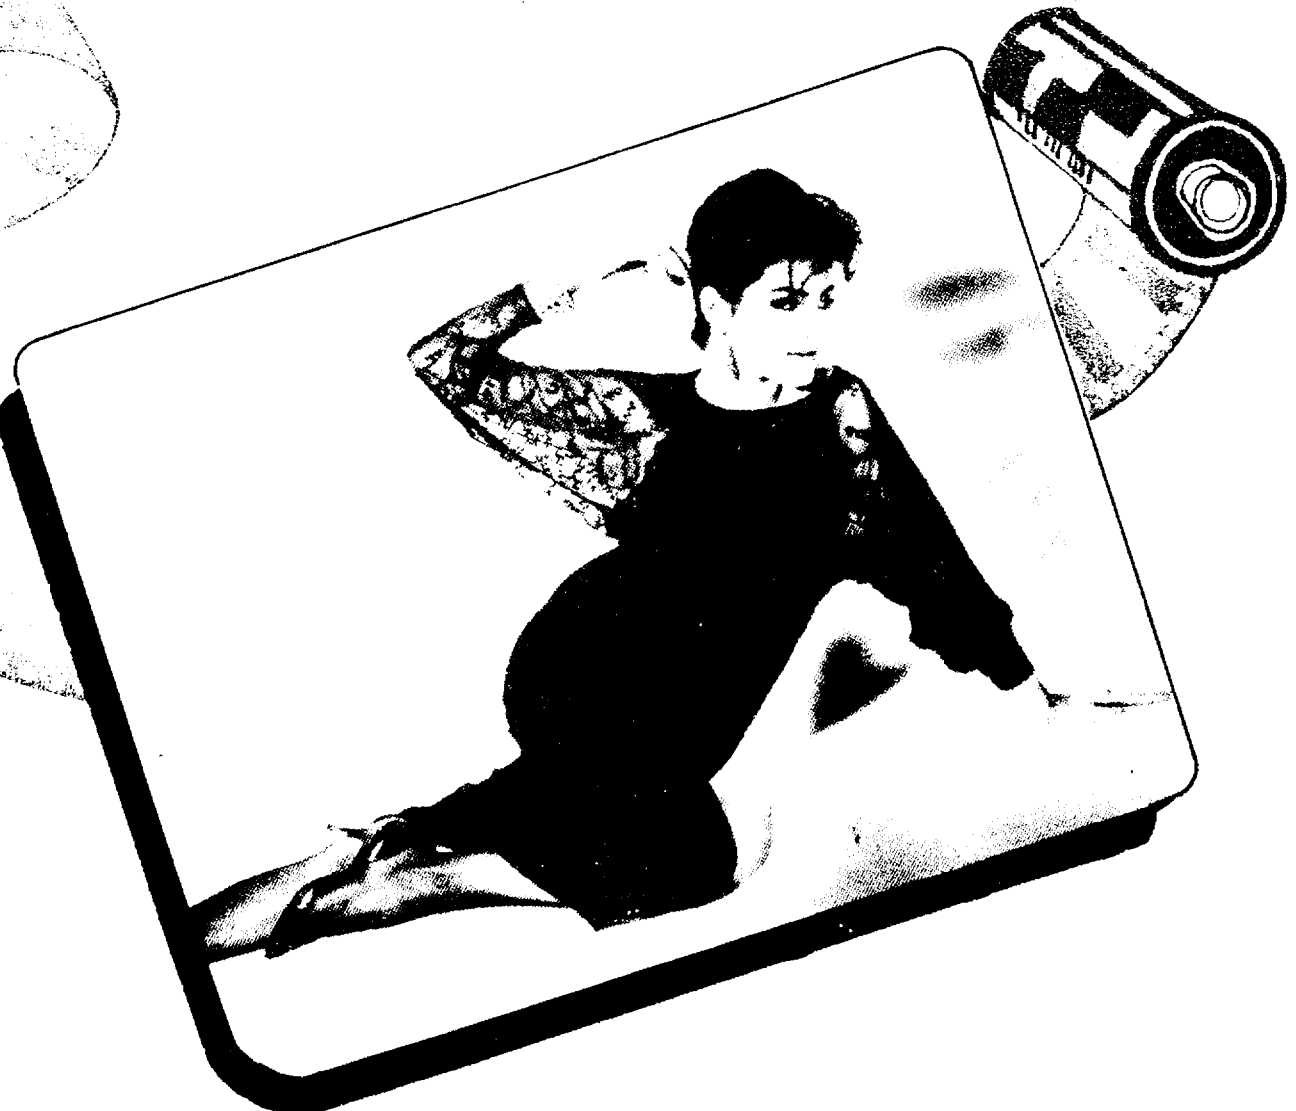

It is this area, knitwear, that seems to encourage designers to let themselves go, creating witty motifs that flatter the feminine figure and exercise the intellect.

Among the standouts for fall — nostalgic tapestry knit sweaters that evoke images of an English garden, or an English drawing room, full of chintz and antiques; lean sweater dresses which serve as canvases for reinterpreted Art Nouveau, as the fine pen-strokes of Aubrey Beardsley find themselves translated into the realm of knitwear; heraldic designs which, bold and geometric, hard back in time.

Evening wear for Fall '85 is extravagant . . . and then some! Elaborate beading, lengths of luxurious fabric and plenty of glitz combine in opulent flights of fancy, the stuff of which masterpieces are made.

Look, too, for the "little black dress," which reaches new heights of subtlety and elegance in innumerable variations — with a style to suit every woman.

This updated classic epitomizes the fall fashion season — a masterful blending of freedom and restraint, which is what fashion for Fall '85 is all about!

Say it with Style

Jonathan Martin stylishly slips between summer and fall fashion with this exciting two-piece knit sweater vest and matching skirt. Dramatic geometric patterns in stripes of green, black, blue and purple.

Fall's varied proportions

QUILTED SATIN seven-eighths coats are worn here over narrow knee-length skirts with front slits, and quilted jackets in different lengths, which help to vary the proportions. Turbans and silk scarves tied at the neck complete this look for Oscar de la Renta for Fall '85.

Genesis Salon Offers Total Health and Beauty Care

If you're looking for a special gift for a special person — or a special treat for yourself — something individual, personal, yet affordable, a trip to the new Genesis health and beauty center in St. Clair Shores may just be the answer.

Genesis, which opens in September, offers the latest in total health and beauty care for women, men, and children.

"We're here for those who have chosen to maximize their physical attributes, their bodies, their faces, their skin, and hair," says Genesis president Marilyn K. Hoffman.

Hoffman has owned and managed the Head West Salon in St. Clair Shores for the past five years. At the urging of many of her customers, she decided to move from the predominantly hair care salon business to a new kind of "total person" salon that embraces a holistic approach to health and beauty care.

Extensive remodeling of the building at 22006 Greater Mack is almost complete.

A full line of holistic skin care products is available once the Genesis staff has analyzed your skin type and needs. "We stress individualized programs. We will develop color and contour charts for your skin and start you on a daily regimen for healthier, more beautiful skin," she says.

Genesis' hair care program offers permanents, design styling, and European coloring with multi-level highlighting, conditioning, moisturizing, and steam heated oil treatments.

While having their hair done, Hoffman says, patrons may also enjoy a manicure and pedicure. "We have nail wrapping and mending with silk or linen, French dips and acrylics in all colors, and nail art including color design and jewelry application."

A relaxing hand-and-arm, foot-and-ankle massage is part of every manicure and pedicure, she says.

Genesis offers the well-known "Bodyton" treatment which relieves body system toxins while helping to minimize size and get rid of unwanted inches, instantly, without the use of steam or body wraps.

"I know it sounds too good to be true," says Hoffman, "but it really works."

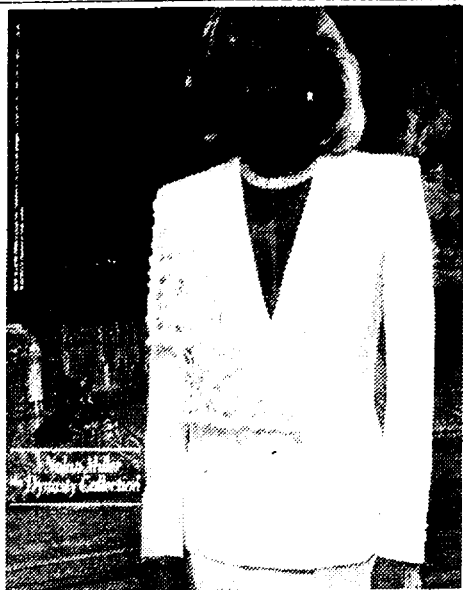

A full body and deep muscle massage, given by trained masseurs, also works, she says. "It relieves tension while improving circulation. It's better than Valium; some people even fall asleep on the table."

Aerobics sessions are offered daily to help improve circulation, stamina, and body tone. Body care technicians at Genesis will help patrons pinpoint their problem areas, and provide advice on sensible eating habits and nutrition.

Genesis' licensed make-up artists use an array of cosmetics to achieve special looks for evening, daytime, and in office lighting. Lessons and workshops are available for groups or on an individual basis.

"For special occasions when you'll be in front of a camera... weddings, proms, parties, graduation," Hoffman says, "we can make you 'picture perfect' with professionally applied photographic make-up."

An important aspect of the service Genesis offers is the educational development it offers its clients.

The best of the Dynasty Collections in suits and dresses are available in fabrics like crepe, silks, wool, gabardines and fur accessories. The collection is available at La Strega Boutique in Grosse Pointe.

We're looking forward to an exciting season... Skirts are coming in long — although they are being worn any length to suit individual taste. Cotton sweaters are a must in any wardrobe, and are an extremely practical investment as they can be worn year around. Sandy Rusch Ensley Avenue.

Looking backward

VISIONS OF YESTERDAY — Cesarani's nostalgic separates have contemporary appeal. Here, jewel-tone tartan pleated skirt is full and easy, buttoned on one side. It's worn with an elongated shaker knit vest with deep V neck, and oxford cloth shirt that ties neatly at the neck. For Fall '85.

DRAMATIC DAZZLERS — Australian lead crystal set in luminous platinum tone metal creates this striking necklace and earring set from Yves St. Laurent, reports the Jewelry Industry Council. The necklace intertwines crystal baguettes in a graceful pattern picked up in the pagoda-shaped drop earrings.

The Dutch Masters

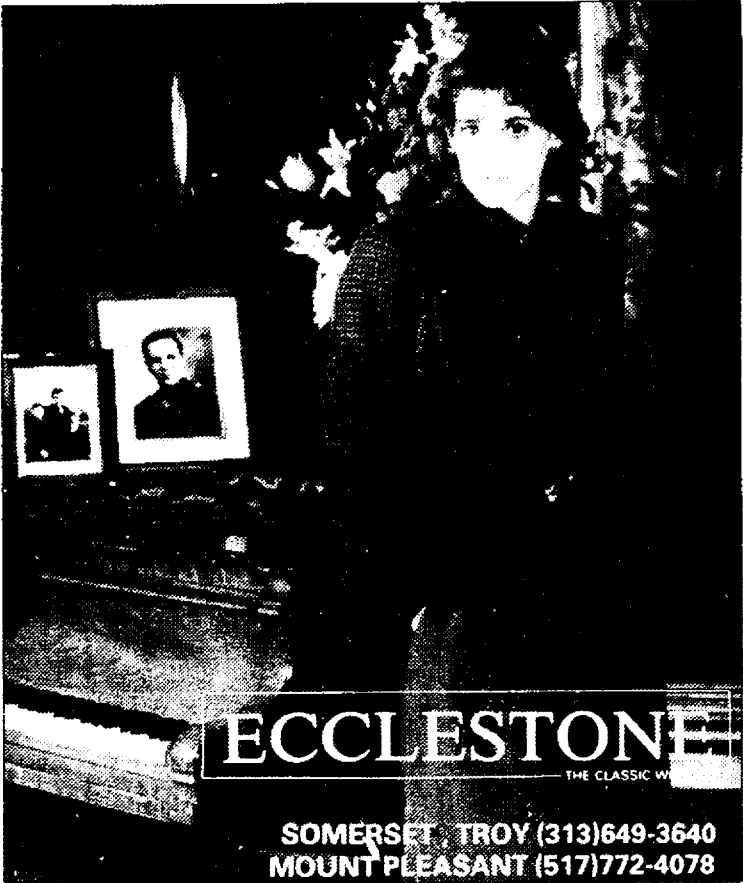

The newest version of the Leonard collection is this flower print which takes a step into the rich tradition of Flemish painting.

Fashion eyewear for '85 is dynamic and exciting — bold new shapes, bright new colors — styles to fit every personality. "People today are more style conscious than ever before. It's evidenced in their choice of glasses. And, rather than buying just one pair, they want several pair, each to fit a particular occasion," says Sharon Dowdy, owner/manager of Unique Optique, 20339 Mack, Grosse Pte. Woods. Seeing the need for a more personalized approach to fitting and selecting glasses and for offering a large selection of designer frames, Ms. Dowdy opened her own optical boutique eight months ago, after working a number of years for other opticians. "Our specialty is assisting the customer in selecting the eyewear that's just right for the individual. Glasses that make you feel your very best in any situation," added Ms. Dowdy. Her expertise is in coordinating colors, shapes and style when fitting eyewear. "When selecting the right pair of glasses, we consider your facial shape, eye and hair color, and skin tone. Then we will assist you in choosing the style, color of the frames and lens tint that is best for you. And, your eyewear can be matched to your favorite wardrobe colors," commented Ms. Dowdy.

Besides an outstanding selection of designer frames for men and women — Silhouette, Pierre Cardin, LogoSophia Loren and more — jewelry is available for coordination with eyewear.

When you look good you feel good!

Lamia Salon points out that women who have learned to look their best acquire a new sense of self worth.

Skillfully styled hair and proper cosmetics can dramatically highlight face shape, improve the look of skin and add definition to eyes and mouth.

Hair trends for Fall '85 are easily adapted to most everyone because they're unstructured with an emphasis on wispieness — cropped short at the nape and sides, full on top. The look is soft and sexy.

It's becoming a man's world . . .

There's a significant shift in the way men feel about hair care with a strong influx of texture and color. Subtle highlights can make a dramatic difference.

— John Lamia

YOU CAN'T BUY A DIAMOND'S BLESSING

If you've ever wondered why a gift of diamonds seems so precious, the Jewelry Industry Council thinks you'll be interested in this ancient Hindu legend.

It was believed that a diamond's magical powers, such as endowing its wearer with strength, courage and clear judgment (to name but three), were lost when the stone was acquired with money. Only when the diamond was received as a gift would its multiple powers manifest themselves.

Apparently the spirit dwelling in the stone was offended at being bought or sold and would leave the gem, thereby robbing it of its special powers.

FIVE CENTURIES OF LOVE AND DIAMONDS

Once upon a time, a handsome prince set out on a journey across Europe to woo the princess of his dreams. But before he departed he chose the diamond to seal his love; he had a gold ring set with diamonds and carved with his and his beloved's initials.

This romantic gesture was made over 500 years ago: the prince was Maximilian of Austria, and his intended, the lovely Mary of Burgundy.

The diamonds worked their special magic on Mary and the young couple shared a tender love that lasted throughout their lives.

DIAMOND IN ROUGH NOT EASY TO FIND

The search for a diamond in the rough has always had great allure, but the elusive gem is oh so hard to spot.

That's because the rough diamond, often irregular in shape and covered with a dark, greasy coating, is as unlike the beautiful polished gem as you could possibly imagine.

It's the diamond cutter who brings out the gem's unsurpassed fiery brilliance, says the Jewelry Industry Council. With hand and eye he precisely places and proportions each of a full-cut diamond's 58 facets.

Every sparkling diamond is truly a small wonder!

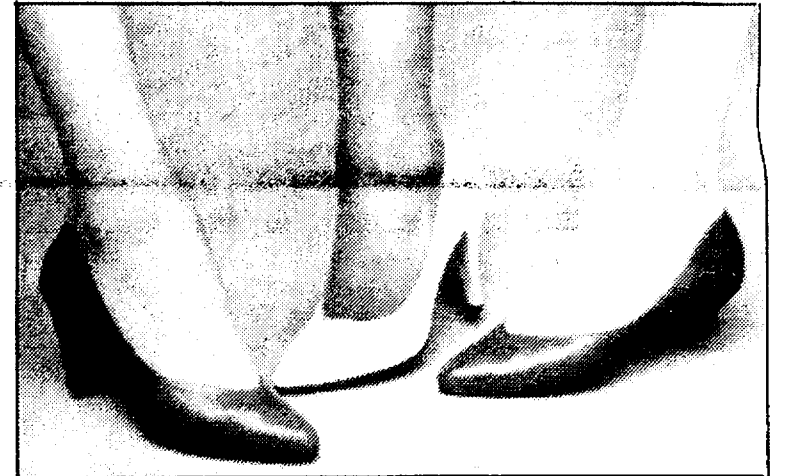

The classic pump, plain or fancy, provides fashion flattery for feet

The big news in women's footwear for fall is the pump. Plain or fancy, low or high, pumps are making an exciting fashion statement this season.

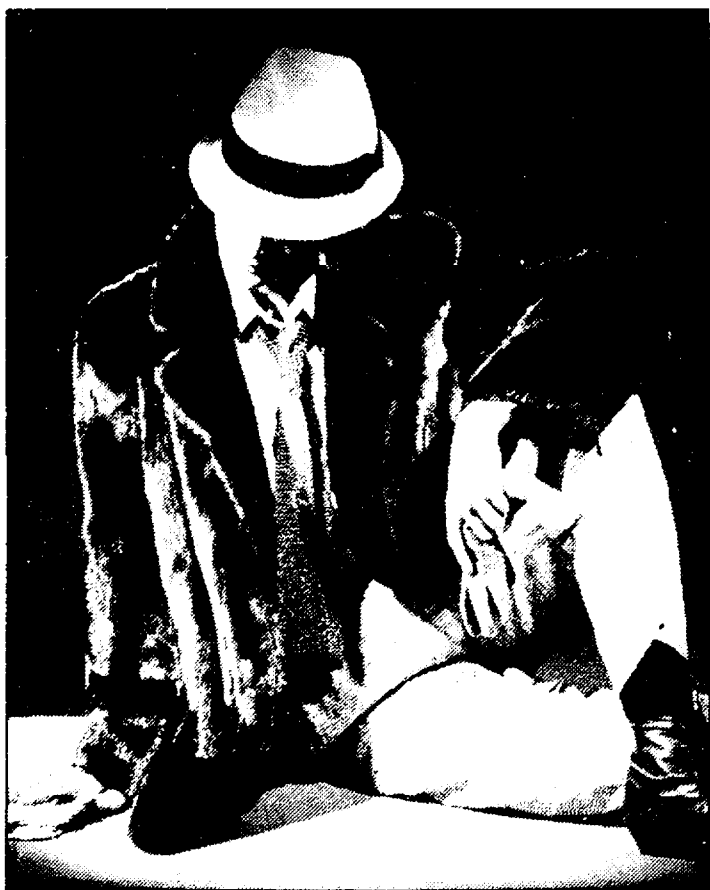

While the basic closed-in shoe remains forever in vogue, various design treatments and stylings are now popular.

Interesting features

For trendier tastes, lace is being shown, often over metallic textures for a new look. In evening wear, rhinestones and glitter remain popular.

BEAUTY MOVES FORWARD FOR FALL '85

Options — the key word to beauty this season that could make changing to a new beauty regimen irresistible. At the Glemby at Hudson's Beauty Salon at Eastland, a new Beauty Center offers every beauty option available, including hair, skin and nail care services, a massage and tanning facility.

While women continue to visit salons for hair care needs, a growing number are taking advantage of other salon services. They rely on professionals when looking good is important but time is at a premium.

This fall, at the Beauty Center, nail care techniques show a squarer nail shape that is achieved with a manicure or the addition of nail tips or sculpted nails. Facials range from one and one-half hour indulgences to half hour pick-me-ups. And cosmetics are applied in matte finishes accented with brilliant, gem stone colors.

Hair design from the Hudson's Beauty Salon shows a renewed interest in length, volume and shiny colors. Hair moves forward, towards the face, for a soft and feminine appearance.

Because relaxation is important to feeling beautiful, a massage is considered as private time a woman can use to unwind. Or, why not relax and keep a summer tan glowing at the same time in a tanning bed?

Fall 1985 beauty options from the Glemby Beauty Center and Salon at Hudson's offer sensational choices that are easy to achieve and fun to choose from!

Campus casuals — collegiate to campy

TODAY'S COED has many different choices to select from for her back to school wardrobe. On the left, her selection may be this season's All-American Collegiate look complete with varsity sweater, plaid cuffed trousers and penny loafers. Add a school-boy tie, red and white striped skirt and school pin for the total preppy look. On the right is the other side of back to school dressing — the '80s Kool Look. Striped pants, layered menswear shirts and flat low hoots add up to '80s Chic that is so right this fall.

Tommy Hilfiger, hot new menswear designer

TO THE BABY BOOM GENERATION there's nothing new about wearing an Oxford shirt with jeans or khakis on the weekend. But Tommy Hilfiger takes that Oxford, adds touches like an embroidered insignia, and a foulard print lining, liberating a classic. Hilfiger's second menswear collection for Murjani is full of smart investment classics — well cut khakis, five pocket jeans (also with foulard print lining), denim jackets with red cord collars. With 10 years of retailing and marketing, four years of designing and two design awards, Hilfiger understands retail. Recognizing what is new and Americanizing it is just part of Hilfiger's philosophy. It's a formula that has led to his success as a top designer. According to Hilfiger, his collection is designed for the "contemporary, upwardly mobile male customer — those men in their mid 20s to 30s who have grown up with an emphasis on self and style." Hilfiger, who has designed women's and junior sportswear under other labels, has also opened his first menswear retail store this summer on fashionable Columbus Avenue in New York City. His collection is available in many fine leading retail outlets.

Campus beat . . .

Students choose clothes that are fun, easy to wear

Today's college students are no dummies. According to The 501 Report, a recent poll conducted by Levi Strauss & Co., they select their campus wardrobe by following the ABC's of smart dressing. Accessorize for fun, bring Basic Blue jeans and make sure clothes are, above all else, Comfortable. The poll, which was conducted among 6,500 undergraduate students at 18 colleges and universities nationwide, revealed that most students are wearing easy-care fashion basics that can be personalized with unconventional accessories.

Punk is out, preppy is in
According to the survey, the preppies outnumber the punks three to one on campus. When asked to describe the fashion "look" at their school, 31 percent said "preppy;" 17 percent said "earthy;" 11 percent said "high-fashion;" 11 percent said "athletic;" 10 percent said "punk;" and 17 percent said "other."

Students were also asked to select fashion items that are currently "hot" or will be by fall. Their selections included:

- Levi's 501 jeans. Blue jeans are still a favorite, and the basic, five-pocket style is really "in." Two-thirds of the students said they wear blue jeans 75-100 percent of the time.

Most (31 percent) cited the classic Levi's 501 jeans as their favorite. "They're good because they're 'jeans jeans,'" said a junior majoring in film at New York University. "Faddish styles look dated so quickly."

- Oversized shirts, sweaters and sweatshirts. Students like the look of a big sweater over their jeans; almost half said oversized tops are "hot" fashion items.

A student at the University of Rochester explained that comfort is the main reason. "Loose-fitting clothing lets you keep your mind on your studies and off what you're wearing."

- Jeans jackets. Fifty-nine percent of the students like to wear their denim from head to toe. A female student at Whitworth College in Washington said students there decorate Levi's jackets with buttons depicting favorite rock bands, old TV shows and assorted "hip" phrases.

- Sunglasses. From California to New York, shades are in. "They make you look cool," said a Vanderbilt sophomore. "And you can look at people without them knowing."

Styles range from the classic aviator style to brightly colored frames that hang around the neck on string "leashes."

- Thrift store clothing. Struggling students are known for their ability to stretch a little money a long way. They've parlayed this knack into a fashion craze: Vintage dressing.

Students comb thrift stores for apparel and accessories that are offbeat and inexpensive. Bowling shirts, men's suit jackets, skinny ties and antique jewelry are among the more popular finds.

Fall forecast

According to students, looks to watch for next fall include:

- The silhouette of a big shirt over Levi's 501 jeans. The two apparel items most often predicted to be fall fashion sensations were big shirts and five-pocket, button-fly jeans. Students say they'll wear the shirts untucked.

- Bright colors. The array of bright, splashy shades that was seen last spring will resurface in the fall, according to 20 percent of the students.

- Mixed patterns. A quarter of the students say the fashion-conscious will mix plaids, paisleys and stripes with a tongue-in-cheek attitude that shows they don't take themselves too seriously.

CAMPUS CLASSICS — a recent survey of 6,500 college students revealed that basics will be big on campus this fall. The classic Levi's 501 jeans are the favorite of one-third of the students polled and are often paired with a big shirt and a jeans jacket.

Topping it off

THE CLASSIC TOPCOAT, as interpreted by Pierre Cardin for Fall '85, boasts soft construction, padded raglan shoulder and stand-up collar. Shown here in two-tone brushed gray tweed.

MEN'S SHIRTS: BEYOND BASIC WHITE THERE'S A WORLD OF COLOR AND PATTERN

The days when men wore just white shirts are over. And, men as well as women couldn't be happier. Now that shirts in colors as appealing as blue, pink, green, yellow and coral not to mention bold stripes, woven tattersalls and snappy checks, are acceptable in the corporate world, men have begun to "loosen" up about fashion and, consequently, are enjoying it more.

Dress For Yourself

Every time a new fashion trend hits the market place you can rest assured that it is the direct result of a successful new movie or television series that has captured the public's eye. If the media offering is successful, then why shouldn't the fashion concept work? Or so some people would like to think.

When native Detroit Tom Selleck exposed his macho chest from beneath the collar of his brightly flowered Hawaiian shirt, women everywhere (including a few in Grosse Pointe) took notice, and so did the manufacturers who pushed the style that Don Ho loved and appreciated so well back into full production and popularity.

Who ever thought a guy like Jack Nicholson would appear looking like a regular on the old T.V. show "Route 66", wearing thick black framed Ray-Ban sunglasses on the cover of the National Enquirer? Ok, forget Jack and that off-beat gossip paper. What about Madonna? A young mother was recently observed at a local shopping mall with hand-cuffs on her baby's stroller.

There is no doubt that the media has an affect on the way we dress. So if dressing this way makes you feel good, then do it! If you dress good, you feel good about the way you look, and no one knows better than the person who buttons his own shirt or ties his own shoes.

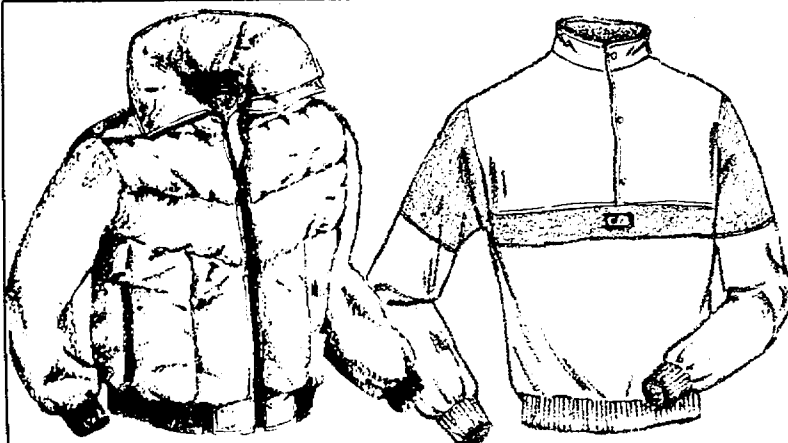

So where did the surf look that was so hot this past summer come from? No one was seen dressed in long, baggy, Hawaiian looking swimwear on any T.V. sit-com. Yet this past summer and the summer of '86, it will invade our parks and beaches. And the youth will enjoy it, and why shouldn't they? It's fun and colorful and a lot more acceptable than leather and chains.

It would appear that sometimes just plain comfort and enjoyment prevail over the trends that we are often expected to wear. As well as surf wear let us not forget the trends in clothing that are coming back this fall and winter. Madras plaids and paislies will be the hot patterns that will keep you warm this Michigan cold season. The only difference in these prints and the ones you wore in college are the colors; the new patterns include colors such as purple and other colors not usually associated with paisley and plaid.

These styles are just a few that are surfacing in the Grosse Pointe area at a new store called Corky's Surf Snob and Bop on Kercheval in the Park.

The store caters to the person who wants to dress in comfort and originality.

The concept of "comfort fun" is Corky's theme. And the image portrayed is dressing for yourself, so be yourself and have fun in the meantime!

CB Sports original premise of designing, manufacturing, and selling high quality functional skiwear is still the cornerstone of the company. Pictured is a ski jacket and a fall outer shell jacket. These garments are available at Metro Ski & Sports, Grosse Pointe.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Letter in a bottle

Dear Fred.

Nice to hear from you again. How's the beach-combing? I noticed this time you used a deposit bottle at least. Thanks.

Yes, things have changed since you last wrote. For one thing, I've been handling the sports duties here at the paper for the last month.

Okay, stop it. I can hear you snickering right now. What sports do I know anything about besides fishing and snipe-hunting? Well, funny you should mention it, but I've picked up a lot of sailing lately.

We've had a lot of sailing out here lately, Fred. There was the Mackinac to Port Huron classic, the week before was a doublehanded race from Port Huron to Rogers City; there have been Cal 20 championships; USYRU Junior Semifinals; and Snipe U.S. Nationals out on the lake in the past few.

Okay, so I've had to pull out the Coast Guard book to find out what jibing and tacking mean or how to spell spinnaker. But at least I found out what singlehanded and doublehanded races are. No, it's got nothing to do with one hand tied behind your back, either.

Sailing Weekly?

Face it, Fred, when you live next to a lake with umpteen yacht clubs and marinas and whatever, there's a lot of sailing. But hey, we've had other things happen out here, too.

Look at all the local teams that made the baseball playoffs this year, Fred.

There was the Park and the Farms-City Little League All-Stars heading off the district tournaments; there was the Woods-Shores and Park Babe Ruth All-Stars, who both came down to the wire before heading home from their tournaments for the summer; and there was the Utica TSI team, that with the help of three local players, went on to a title in their division. Have we got baseball, Fred.

Besides, that, there's swimming, tennis, running and a couple of others things nobody has bothered to call in to tell us about happening out here all the time, Fred.

And people have been great about calling things in, too, Fred. I used to dread doing sports, but everybody this time — all the coaches and parents and players — all seem to know I'm a little out of my league back here and they've been kind enough to call in all the results.

The last couple of times have been a little different to say the least. There was always somebody who called in to ask me why I hated this sport, this team, this child or this country. I'm finally brave enough to start my car myself, thank you. You can never tell about rabid sports parents.

But I could really enjoy this. People have been kind in calling in about things, understanding when they don't get in right away, and don't call when I make mistakes.

Mistakes? Me?

Boy, I've made some winners. Like all the misspellings in the names of the Park Babe Ruth team two weeks ago. Or Katlin Murray.

What do you mean, who's Katlin Murray, Fred. She's one of the sailors from Grosse Pointe Yacht Club who sailed in the USYRU junior semis a couple weeks back. Well, someone sent in the results, and someone from GPYC followed up with a call and asked me to read the release.

Well, they pointed out the mistake in Katlin's name. The release had her as Kathy, her mother's name. So I changed it but the correction wasn't made before the article appeared.

Back to the grind

But I've had fun, too, Fred. I had a lot of fun writing about the family who was looking for a free boat, talking with sailors about doublehanded races and even doing my first-ever-and-probably-the-last-in-this-lifetime sports column.

You see, Fred, Peggy O'Connor — the real sports editor — comes back tomorrow. I'll move back to my old desk, my old typewriter and end up doing stories about things like taxes, kids illegally attending local schools, cable company buy-outs, computer systems and lawsuits. You know, the usual.

But I'll be glad to see Peggy come back, Fred. She knows her stuff. I guess I should start cleaning off my desk, fix her stapler and put a new ribbon in her typewriter.

Anyway, Fred, it's been good to hear from you. Next time, empty the bottle before you put the letter in.

Mike

Runners schedule events

The Metro-Macomb runners have many running events coming up over the next four months. The group conducts events year-round and most are held at Metropolitan Beach Metropark. The runs are open to men, women and children of all ages.

Trophies are awarded to all participants. The $7 fee covers the cost of the award as well as the cost of a sweat shirt or sweat pants or long sleeve shirt.

For more information about the group's coming runs, call 792-4563 between 6 and 10 p.m.

Local sailors finish near top in Nationals

Heavy weather delayed and dampened some of the races last week but couldn't keep a local pair from taking a fifth place finish in the U.S. National Snipe championships hosted by Crescent Sail Yacht Club.

Fred and Jan Rozelle captained and crewed their Snipe to a first place finish in Friday's final race of the Heinzerling and Wells series, beating 31 other Snipes over the fixed finish mark. The pair, one of a dozen Crescent Sail Snipe teams, finished the highest of the six local boats competing in the weeklong regatta.

The U.S. Nationals started Monday, with the 74-boat field split into two fleets that raced separately until Friday's finals.

Making the Heinzerling and Wells finish list were John and Ann Walton, 23rd, and Henry File and Sally Savage, 28. Other local teams competing in the Nationals were Leigh Savage and Stacia Orr; Wade and Liza Edwards; and Colt Weatherston and Eric Deeds.

Finishing order in the Crosby series was S. Rosenberg, first; M. Reynolds, second; D. Lewek, third; D. Mitchell, fourth; and E. Adams, fifth.

Finishing order for the Heinzerling and Wells series is S. Rosenberg, first; J. Franco, second; S. Callison, third; R. Wood, fourth; and the Rozelles, fifth.

Weather played a rough tune Wednesday and Thursday for sailors. Thunderstorms that ripped through the area Wednesday delayed the first race and cancelled the second that day. Thursday's three races all took place in the rain. Friday, although rainless, left sailors with light air on which to run the final race of the championships, in the Midwest for the first time in five years and at Crescent for the first time in at least 20.

Regatta chairman for the eight-day regatta was Leigh Savage. The nationals were preceded Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 10 and 11, with the running of five races for the U.S. Junior National championships.

The more than 200 people from across the country that came to Crescent for the championships were treated to a pretty successful regatta, according to yacht club officials. Besides the hot competition on the Olympic triangle courses set up on the other side of the shipping channel in Michigan and Canadian waters, there were social events scheduled throughout the week at the various local and Detroit landmarks.

The presentation of the Junior National trophies took place at Bayview Yacht Club at the foot of Clairpointe on the Detroit River. Monday night saw a casino and pizza party at the Crescent clubhouse. Tuesday night, it was off to Brownies, with Wednesday's festivities taking place at Jacoby's in Greektown. Thursday, despite the wet, was the barbecued chicken dinner at Crescent, followed by Friday night's award presentation and cocktails at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The Snipe, designed and named by Rudder magazine editor Bill Crosby in 1931, is one of the largest sailing classes in existence.

The boats are just under 16 feet long, with a regulation 128 feet of main sail and a two-person crew. The class has a very flexible crew weight and is a very traditional form of two-person racing.

While the boat isn't the fastest design afloat, it does offer sailors a chance to experience all aspects of sailing. The center-board hull design is stable in winds of 5 to 25 knots, with racing not allowed in sustained winds over 25 knots.

The Snipe was named after a sea bird and plans for the first boats of wooden construction appeared in 1931 in Rudder.

A local pair of sailors placed in the top five during the U.S. Snipe Nationals held last week.

Governor's Cup Run is Sunday

For one low price, running enthusiasts can participate in the third annual "Governor's Cup Run" and spend the remainder of the day enjoying the Michigan State Fair.

A $10 registration fee includes race credentials, a Governor's Cup Run T-shirt, free parking pass and free admission to the Fair on Sunday, Aug. 25, for the runner and one adult guest. Children 11 and under are free.

Admission to the fair is normally $4 for adults and parking $3 during the 11-day event, which runs Aug. 23 through Labor Day this year.

A fast, flat certified course has been mapped out through scenic Palmer Woods, near the State Fairgrounds and the large expected turn-out will create plenty of excitement for the runner and spectator alike.

Individual overall winners in the male, female and handicapped divisions will receive a large, silver trophy cup from Governor James Blanchard or his representative at a media ceremony at the fair during the week following the run.

Second through fifth place male, female and handicapped five-mile run winners will also receive trophies, with medals awarded to the top 200 men and top 100 women finishers. The first place male and female finishers in the "Fun Run" will receive trophies.

Late entries at $10 are permitted until 8:30 a.m. on race day.

For an entry form, call 540-5400, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Great Lakes wins Scherer Trophy

Lancelot Lie, sailing his last race as a junior, captured the J. Otto Scherer Memorial Trophy for the Great Lake Yacht Club in a closely contested three-race series held at Crescent Sail Yacht Club Sunday, August 18. Crewing for Lie was his sister, Tamara Lie, a newcomer to the junior sailing circuit.

The Lie team overcame stiff and determined opposition from Bayview Yacht Club's two entrants, finally sealing their win with a solid first place finish in the storm-delayed last race of the series.

At the conclusion of the morning's contests, the top three contenders were separated by a mere 1/4 point. The noon break found the Lies and the Bayview entry, skippered by Andrew Dan Baas, in a tie for first with a first and a fourth place finish each. Bayview's other entry, sailed by Paul Hulsey, was third at this point with second and third place finishes.

Severe thunderstorms then threatened to scrub the final race of the series and leave final results in doubt. Skies cleared sufficiently to allow the crucial third race, and the Lies clinched their victory.

Bayview's Paul Hulsey and his crew, Parcival Lie, took runner-up spot in the last heat to move them into second place in the final standings. Andrew Dan Baas and his crew, Stuart Gooden, also of Bayview, finished third overall.

Roger Eger and Merritt Palm of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club took fourth.

Fifth place went to Crescent Sail Yacht Club's Suzanne Scoville and her crew, Nate Peterson. Crescent Sail's Chris Rupp-Matt Janke team finished sixth.

Seventh place went to Danielle De Luca and Carrie Donaldson of the Great Lakes Yacht Club.

Flying Junior sloops were used in the series, an annual event for area junior sailors. Competitors must be under 19 to race.

Past Commodore Herbert Mainwaring chaired the race committee consisting of Past Commodore Gene Bertlesen, Past Commodore William Herbert, William Sadler, Edwin Boothroyd, Bernard Tonowski, and Marie Mainwaring.

Angels take district tennis title

An east side tennis team captured its district title and will compete in the state championships in Lansing this month.

"Angyal's Angels," named for tennis coach Ken Angyal of Grosse Pointe Park, won a July 25 play-off in Rochester Hills for the Southeast Michigan championship of the Women's 3.5 USTA/Volvo tennis circuit.

The eight regular team members and six alternates were undefeated in their first season of competition, which ran from June 6 to July 25. They will compete in Lansing against the three other district championship teams from Michigan for the right to proceed to the midwest finals in Kalamazoo over Labor Day weekend.

The winner of that five-state play-off goes to the national finals in Las Vegas in September.

USTA/Volvo is a national amateur tennis league sponsored by the United States Tennis Association and the Volvo of America automobile company. Each meet includes three matches of doubles and two matches of singles, played by eight different people. The winner of the meet is the team that wins at least three of the five individual matches.

Angyal's Angels were recruited and organized in April by team captain Jennifer Holmes, of Grosse Pointe Woods.

Team member include Holmes, Cheryl Wheeler of the Shores, Vida

Keyes of the Woods, Jane Porath of Sterling Heights, Nancy Kojawski of the Park, Susan Lubzik of St. Clair Shores, Annie Villaruel of Detroit, Agnes Villaruel of Windsor, Ontario, Canada, Teri Spytman of Dearborn, Jan Rudzinski of Sterling Heights, Michele Mandell of Southfield, Linda Okun of Southfield, Alice Williams of Birmingham, and Shirley Moulton of Grosse Pointe.

Wimbledon sends teams

Wimbledon Raquet Club in St. Clair Shores had five United States Tennis Association rated teams going to the state finals in Lansing this recently. If they win in Lansing, they go on to the Westerns in Kalamazoo at the end of this month.

The teams include:

Women's 3.5 team: captain Jennifer Holmes, Vida Keys, Nancy Kujawski, Sue Lubzik, Jane Porath, Teri Spytman, Cindy Wheeler, Annie Villaruel. Subs: Linda Okean, Shirley Moulton, Jan Rudzinski, Agnes Villaruel, and Alice Williams.

Men's 3.5 team: captain Chuck Reader, Gil Finger, Bill Gillis, Jim Hogan, Bob Jones, Paul Nelson, Leo Nichols, Bob Sattler, Jerry Shulec, James Weisbeski.

Men's 4.0 team: captain Pete Devine, Herman Bliss, Bob Bridge, Bob Henze, Bill Gustine, Mark Kujawski, Kevin Lane, Victor Lisabeth, Rainer Schmidt and Steve Thompson.

Men's 4.5 team: captain John DeMoss, Gene Arnold, Lee Gaskins, Frank Holecsek, Curt Leibbrand, Fraser McSkimming, John Parrish, Jim Pollum, Kumar Sarcar, Jay Shaheen, John Sych.

Women's 5.0 team: captain Isabelle Owens, MaryAnn Hodges, Lucy Goraski, Margaret Mayer, Phyllis Mazure, Mary McTaggart, Barb Lynch, Fay Robb, Jan Unckrich, Angela Walker, Kathy Van DeWage.

Trout streams highlighted

A guide to more than 50 of Michigan's best trout streams have been published by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC).

"Trout Streams of Michigan," which is expected to become a standard reference for beginning and experienced anglers alike, describes in detail the characteristics of more than 50 streams in all parts of the state.

Included are the profiles of the Au Sable, Manistee, Pere Marquette, and Two Hearted rivers.

Reports include how to fish these waters, species found in the various waters, habitat, natural foods present, stream access, stream bottom types, tributaries, historical data, topography, and other information of interest to fishermen.

The publication contains a foreword by John D. Voelker of Ishpeming, trout fisherman and author, under the pen name of Robert Traver, of such books as "Trout Madness," "Trout Magic," "Anatomy of a Fisherman," and "Anatomy of a Murder."

Originally published in two separate volumes, "Trout Streams of Michigan" combines all of the chapters of both volumes and contains several new chapters dealing with various aspects of trout fishing.

Janet D. Mehl, editor of Cast magazine and former copy editor of Sports Afield, is the principal author of "Trout Streams." She grew up in northern Michigan, where she acquired a first-hand knowledge of many of the streams she describes in this book.

Copies of "Trout Streams of Michigan" are available for $9.50 each, postage and tax included. Orders may be placed by writing MUCC, Box 30235, Lansing, 48909.

MUCC is a nonprofit corporation. All proceeds from the sale of "Trout Streams" will be used to further the organization's conservation efforts in the Great Lakes area.

Farms ends year with fast race

Good northerly winds held to provide a fast race for the concluding race in the Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club Thursday Summer Series last week.

The series, which consists of seven races held off the Farms Pier in June and August, attracted 62 boats this year, a record entry for the six years the series has been held.

The races are held on a 4.5 mile triangular course between the Farms Pier and the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and were organized this year into six fleets.

The series provides an excellent opportunity for novice skippers and crews to gain racing experience and for experienced crews to practice, especially in the early season.

Following the last race, the series awards were presented by co-chairmen Gary Dysert and Rick Fisher. The outstanding performance this year was by Gene Bertelsen, racing his Cal 20 Sirius, in which he won all seven races. This was the only pennant that was certain before the last race. All other results were decided by the last race.

The series results were:

PHRF-A: Wind Walker, W. Strigley; Kahuna, J. Tepel; PEF, P. Franks.

PHRF-B: Calisto, Birmingham/Kressback; Son Set, H. Gorenflo; Gusto, A. Spindler.

PHRF-C: Sirius, G. Bertelsen; Halycon, W. Maxon; Leeway, W. Lee.

JAM A: Trobad, H. McNaughton; Adrenalin, J. Schulte; Passat, D. Marble.

JAM B: Csendes, R. Jacksy; Entropy, R. Rask; Joi De Vivre, T. Palmer.

JAM C: Houyhnham, G. Schumacher; Windspiel, J. Sauer; After You, R. Fries.

Bayview hosts championships for Tartan 10s

For the first time ever, Michigan and the Bayview Yacht Club is hosting the North American Championship Regatta for Tartan 10s in lower Lake St. Clair this week.

The regatta, comprised of six short- and long-distance races, will determine the best North American Crew among Tartan 10 owners. Eighteen crews from Illinois, Ohio and Michigan are registered to compete.

Lake St. Clair sailors will see the likes of Dick Stearns, an Olympic sailor of the 50s; Larry Kline, a Michigan sailor who made the finals in the last Olympic tryout; and Mark Wurtzback, last year's Tartan 10 winning skipper.

One local boat competing is Tar Baby, skippered by Don Lang of Harper Woods out of Lake Shore Sail Club. Another is Nikki II, dual skippered by Ken Gimpert and Doug Schneibner.

The Tartan 10 is a 10 meter boat manufactured just outside Cleveland, Ohio. It is a very light-hulled boat — 7,500 pounds — which has captured the interest of sailors because it is designed specifically for racing, with no cabin top and almost all rigging designed for control from the cockpit.

The Michigan fleet is an active,

Men can also participate in a special mile which features a $3 entry fee and no t-shirt, free zoo parking and admission and medals to the first 50 finishers.

Profits from the race will be donated to the Detroit Zoological Society.

Utica TSI is the champion of the National Amateur Baseball Foundation senior division for players 18 and under. The team, which finished off its season with a 8-3 win over Long Island, N.Y., includes former Norsemen Dave Kopitzke, Mark Bilkovic and Dave Waldeck.

Utica wins NABF title

Former Norseman Dan Kopitzke hurled the final three innings in relief as Utica TSI captured the National Amateur Baseball Federation Senior (18 and under) World Series by defeating Long Island, N.Y. 8-3 at Youngstown, Ohio.

Utica was undefeated in the double-elimination tournament as the team beat Melrose Park, Ill., 9-7; Louisville, Ky., 9-2; Long Island, N.Y., 9-7; and Cincinnati, Ohio, 15-2 in preliminary games.

In the title match, Utica raced out to a fast 4-0 lead in the first inning, but Long Island chipped away to trail 4-3 after four innings. In the fifth, Utica starting pitcher Larry Wendt was replaced by Kopitzke, who shut out the Islanders the rest of the way.

All-Tournament honors went to Kopitzke and to designated hitter Mark Bilkovic, another North High alumnus. Left fielder Dave Waldeck, who was unable to make the trip to Youngstown, was replaced by Pat Saam of Sterling Heights. Saam smacked nine hits in 14 at-bats and was named tournament Most Valuable Player. Shortstop Doug Kaiser and second baseman Pat Riker were also selected at the All-Tournament Team, as was pitcher Dave Gardella.

Utica finished its season with a 35-7 overall record. After tearing through the Macomb League with an 18-4 mark, Utica went 5-0 in league playoffs and 5-1 in the NABF regionals at Northville before heading for the World Series.

This talented squad from the east area also includes Kevin Ritter, Darren White, Mike Ericson, Jeff Vergolini, Dennis D'Agnes, Al Schoenberg, Ken Stack, Chris Stout, Mark Quaglia and Gardella.

Utica TSI has been coached by Dick Schoenberg and Ken Stack. Industrialist Ron Smith, a graduate of Grosse Pointe High, has been a sponsor.

'Year of the Dragon' fails to evoke sympathy, understanding

By Chris Dellas

American films have had a fascination lately with the prospects of winning the Vietnam War. Since the politicians and the generals failed, American film directors have taken it upon themselves to create heroes capable of defeating the Asian enemy.

Michael Cimino, director of "The Deer Hunter," is now offering theater-goers a new Vietnam vet hero in his most recent release, "Year Of The Dragon."

The only difference between this hero and those Men Of Action like Sylvester Stallone and Chuck Norris is that this time around he is a tough cop named Stanley White who decides his war is not back in Vietnam, but in New York's Chinatown.

White (played by Mickey Rourke who was excellent in "Diner") is assigned to Chinatown to clean up the mess being caused by Chinese youth gangs. His qualifications for the job are the facts that he is New York's most decorated cop and an ex-Marine who has seen his share of battle.

White sees the youth gang problem as mere fodder compared to the organized crime being conducted by the older, established criminals of the Chinese Mafia. He openly wages war on the upper echelon of the underworld who have had a "working arrangement" with city police and local government up until his arrival.

This makes White an enemy of everyone and a friend to no one. As one of his superiors tells him, "Nobody likes you, Stanley."

And that is one of the main problems with "Year Of The Dragon." White is a racist, foul-mouthed, egocentric character who cares about no one or nothing except beating the Chinese.

He neglects his wife and takes up with a beautiful Chinese reporter named Arlene (played by Tracy Tzu, a wonderful fashion model, but an inept actress), in part to use her to expose the leaders of the underworld via the mass media.

But their relationship, in fact nothing Stanley White does, is believable. He hurls racial epithets at Arlene and treats her with no respect, and yet just doesn't project enough of any admirable qualities to make us believe she would put up with him for a minute.

Early in the film, it seems as if Cimino's goal was that we shouldn't like Stanley White and all the hatred and anger that he stands for. That would have been fine. But towards the end of the film, he attempts to expose White's soul and show us a pathetic character who is only a victim of a screwed-up system.

By then it's too late. Cimino's timing is way off with his leading character and the result is we not only refuse to sympathize with him, but we don't understand any motives for his actions either.

There are, however, saving graces to the movie that keep it from being a total zero. The cinematography at times is splendid. The streets of Chinatown at night are painted as dark and sinister places of neon and wet concrete.

The soundtrack by David Mansfield is a treat also, juxtaposing haunting Oriental music with hard-hitting synthesizers to coincide with the violent scenes. (And parents, be forewarned: This film is loaded with graphic violence and grisly murders.)

Another plus is John Lone as the overly ambitious underworld leader Joey Thai. Lone does an admirable job with the script he has to work with. Watch for him as an Oscar contender in a film with a stronger script.

Overall though, it's impossible to accept the film's inconsistencies and overt racism ("Year Of The Dragon" is currently being protested by Chinese Americans in New York, where 300 people demonstrated in front of a theatre showing it. Their claim that the film might distort public perceptions of Chinese-Americans may be accurate.)

It was surprising to see a film by a man who treated the American aftermath of Vietnam with such tenderness and class with "The Deer Hunter" turn around and treat the same subject matter with such insensitivity and gutter intellect.

Don't be fooled by the slick commercials; instead of paying to see "Year Of The Dragon," wait for a television rerun of "The Deer Hunter."

'Fright Night' could be next classic horror film

By Marian Trainor

Move over, George Hamilton. There's a new vampire in town — Jerry Danbridge (Chris Sarandon). He's handsome, suave, sexy, magnetic and oh so contemporary! He's definitely no refugee count from some distant past, but a swinging, seductive hunk who can lure the most sophisticated disco patron from under the flashing neon lights and away from the beat and bounce to his lair. Even his choice of address where he parks his coffin is right. You know, choose an old house in a not-so-fancy neighborhood and do it over.

Danbridge is no run-of-the-mill vampire either. Just as he is bigger than life as a laid-back charmer, so is he the ultimate as a vampire.

He is the Superman of the vampire set and he is apparently invincible. Holy water, crosses and strings of garlic, once guaranteed to stop the vampires dead in their tracks, have no effect on our man Jerry.

So what's a poor boy like Charlie Brewster (William Ragsdale) to do? Charlie, spying out of his bedroom window, sees Danbridge, fangs and all, putting the bite of death on one of his comely visitors he has brought home for supposed fun and frolic. Not only does Charlie see Danbridge at work, but catches him as he and his roommate carry the body out in a plastic bag.

No one believes Charlie, not his mother, his girlfriend or the police. They believe that Charlie is probably a victim of a popular late night horror movie feature, hosted by aging Peter Vincent (Roddy McDowell).

If this isn't enough to frustrate Charlie, he knows Danbridge has caught him watching him and has put him on his hit list. In fact, Danbridge pays a call on Charlie and roughs him up to emphasize his intent.

Charlie is the epitome of a scared but resolute teenager. He quivers at the sight of Danbridge but remains resolute.

Driven to desperation, Charlie and his friends, who still don't believe him but decide to humor him, enlist the help of Peter Vincent whose catch line is that he is tops when it comes to killing off vampires.

Peter is dubious of Charlie's story but is persuaded to pay a call on Danbridge. He is almost convinced that Danbridge is the genial, charming person he appears to be when something happens to convince him otherwise.

From then on, it's all fast-track, as Peter and the young people try to outwit what certainly has to be the most mesmerizing and intelligent vampire ever to rise from a casket.

The audience barely has time to catch its breath from one hair-raising incident before it is plunged into another. The pitch and pace is furious. There is terrifying suspense and fantastic special effects.

"Fright Night" is stylish, gory and in its excesses, humorous.

If you really want to have fun, go with a group to see the film. You'll have a great time screaming together.

Leave the kiddies at home unless you want to stay up all night ministering to their nightmares.

"Fright Night" could easily become a classic of its genre, a film that horror fans will put on their preferred list.

Historical museum films for September

The Detroit Historical Museum has scheduled weekend movies of historical interest.

They will be shown every Saturday and Sunday in the Casino Theater, located in the "Streets of Old Detroit." The movies will be shown between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. and are free.

Sept. 7, 8 — American Music: From Folk to Jazz.

Sept. 14, 15 — Discovering Jazz and Discovering American Folk Music.

Sept. 21, 22 — Black Music in America: From Then Till Now.

Sept. 28, 29 — African Music — Old and New and Afro-American Music — Its Heritage.

The museum, located at 5401 Woodward in Detroit's University Cultural Center, is open to the public Wednesday through Sunday 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is by voluntary donation and free guarded parking is available. For further information or a free calendar of events, call 833-1805.

Japanese first-run at DIA this weekend

"The Makioka Sisters," a 1983 Japanese film with English subtitles, directed by Kon Ichikawa, will be shown in a first-run engagement by the Detroit Institute of Arts' Detroit Film Theatre. Showings will be on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 23 and 24, at 7 and 9:30 p.m., and on Sunday, Aug. 25, at 4 and 7 p.m., in the museum auditorium.

Tickets at $2.50, and DFT's season discount coupon books at $17.50 for 10 admissions valid for up to one year from date of purchase, are available in advance at the Art Institute ticket office and at the door. For information and Detroit Film Theatre's new weekend movie schedule through mid-December, call the Art Institute ticket office at 832-2730, during regular business hours.

Called by The Los Angeles Times "a beautifully punctuated, subtly sensual film, as gorgeous to behold as are its accomplished stars," "The Makioka Sisters" follows the paths of four daughters of an aristocratic Osaka family in 1938 who set out on a new and far different way of life.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who show me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this prayer as soon as your favor has been granted. Thank you for favors received. S.A.M.

JAGUAR

JAGUAR

THE BEST JAGUAR EVER BUILT:

Breeding tells. While trends in automotive design come and go, the 1985 Jaguar XJ6 remains defiantly true to its heritage: lithe, graceful and utterly distinctive.

It is the nature of automotive styling to be transient. And it is the nature of Jaguar to create cars of classic grace: cars whose beauty endures long after the fads are forgotten. Such a car is the Series III. Combining beauty of form with quick response and notable luxury, the XJ6 rewards its driver in many ways. Come in and experience the pleasures that have been bred into the best Jaguar ever built.
