Dog owners seek their place in the Park

By Kathy Ryan
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE PARK — If it's true every dog has its day, the canine residents of Grosse Pointe Park will have theirs come Wednesday, Sept. 9, when their owners meet with the Parks and Recreation Commission to discuss creating a dog park. The meeting is set for 7 p.m. at the Lavins Activity Center at Windmill Pointe Park and all dog owners are urged to attend.

The idea of a dog park has been discussed for the past few years as other Pointes have set aside greenspace for such a purpose. The Farms, the Woods and the Shores have parks, as do St. Clair Shores and Detroit.

"It's time we have one, too," said Park resident Mike Bannon, speaking on behalf of his Bernese mountain dog, Snickers, and several other two- and four-legged Park residents. In October 2014, Bannon met with recreation director Terry Solomon, and in February, made a formal presentation to the parks and recreation commission.

Bannon said commission members, while receptive to the idea of a dog park, questioned if there was enough interest by residents. When there was no official city response to Bannon's presentation, Bannon set about to ensure the commission and other city officials know there is wide-spread community support.

Pavilion proposal in Shores

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — A pavilion, not a recreation center, is being considered for construction at Osius Park.

An open-air pavilion, not an enclosed building with year-round facilities, is proposed by members of the Grosse Pointe Shores Improvement Foundation for a location to be determined at the municipal lake-side park, according to municipal officials.

The foundation is a private fundraising group. Its previous donations to the park include, but aren't limited to, a splashpad and playscape.

City Manager Mark Wollenweber anticipates foundation members will discuss the

Bashara appeal hearing set

DETROIT — Former Grosse Pointe Park resident Bob Bashara has filed a motion requesting a new trial for the 2012 murder of his wife, Jane.

A hearing on the motion is set for Tuesday, Sept. 15, in front of Judge Vonda Evans in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Bashara, 58, was convicted of the murder and four other charges in December 2014 and is serving a sentence of life in prison without parole.

According to the motion filed by his court-appointed appellate attorney Ronald Ambrose, Bashara alleges he received inadequate counsel during the GROSSE POINTE WOODS — The investigation continues into a brazen armed robbery that took place at 2:05 p.m. Monday, Aug. 31, at Little Tony's restaurant on Mack.

According to police, a woman was sitting alone on the front patio when she was approached by a lone male. He pulled a gun from his pocket and demanded her purse. She handed over the bag and was not injured.

The suspect fled on foot, going north on Mack.

Officers from several departments responded, including the K-9 unit. A

Pointers hired for Children's Hospital foundations spots

Children's Hospital of Michigan Foundation has hired two new officers and promoted four staff members. Lynn Kaiafas-Chasiotis of Grosse Pointe Shores has been hired as special events and corporate giving officer. She most recently served as corporate and foundation relations manager for Detroit Public Television/PBS, where she cultivated gifts and sponsorships for local programs and fundraising events. Her professional experience includes positions as a Detroit account manager for CBS Radio and project manager for the 2004 International Summer Olympics. Kaiafas-Chasiotis received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from New York University and a Master of Business Administration degree from the Grand Ecole of Business and Management in Tours, France.

Anna Marzolf, a City of Grosse Pointe resident, has been hired as the foundation relations and grants officer. Before joining the foundation, she was the grant and communication manager for the Cope Family Center in California. Marzolf previously served as the membership and development coordinator for the Charles M. Schulz Museum and Research Center in California and as project coordinator for Aqua Clara International in Holland.

She graduated from Hope College and received a Master of Public and Nonprofit Administration degree from Grand Valley State University.

The foundation also promoted Gayle Berner of Canton, from executive assistant to program officer; David Coulter of Ferndale, from program officer to senior program officer; Liz Garpiel of Troy, from administrative assistant to executive assistant; Oresha Greenidge of Wayne, from operations manager to operations director; and Therese Quattrociocchi-Longe of Birmingham, from director of corporate and foundation giving to senior program and grants officer.

Salon Tresor owner Vicki Siewert received a surprise call when Dancing with the Stars professional Derek Hough and his sister Julianne were in town to perform at the Fox Theatre. Siewert was asked to come to the Fox and give a haircut to the TV star.

Adcraft selects new board members

Other board members include Brian Bos, Vicki

Carlini, Ron Frederick, Casey Hurbis, Andy Prakken, and Anthony Winters.

The new board members began serving their two-year terms July 1.

Styling with the stars

By Monica Sabella

Just before close Saturday, July 18, Salon Tresor owner and stylist Vicki Siewert received a call from a manager of "Dancing with the Stars" pro Derek Hough. He and his sister, Julianne, were in town for a performance at the Fox Theatre. The manager apologized for the short notice, but asked if someone could come to the theater to give Hough a quick haircut before the show.

Siewert agreed and was shown to the dressing room upon arrival.

"It happened so fast, I really wasn't nervous," she said.

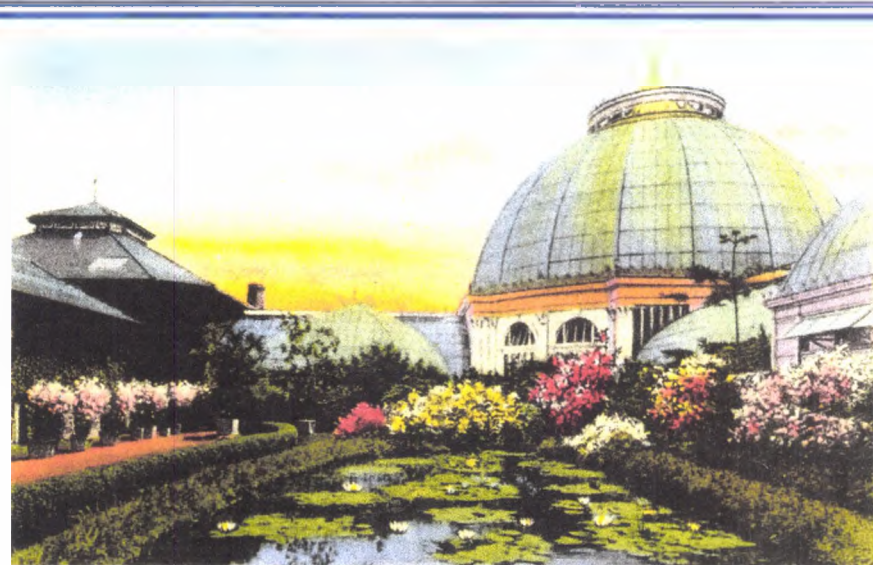

Hough's parents and a few others were there before Hough came into the room and sat down.

"I've been doing this for many years. I just zeroed in on his head and kept telling myself, it's just a guy's haircut," Siewert said, adding Hough and his family were very friendly. "It was a fun experience."

Siewert's client, Theresa Welc, a backstage manager at the Fox, recommended Salon Tresor in Grosse Pointe Woods for the cut. Siewert said she was glad to have been contacted. She's done hair for fashion shows in the past, but none of her work has reached this caliber before.

"It was a really nice thing," she said. "Hopefully, they will call us in the future."

Voters to govern charter amendments

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE — The November ballot won't be such a lonely place due to the addition of two municipal proposals needing voter action. Both amend the City of Grosse Pointe charter and add small measures of variety to a ballot of unchallenged races for mayor, city council and municipal judge. "I describe them as good government-type proposals," said Peter Dame, manager. "They're related to city commissions." One amendment changes the composition of the three-person

Board of Review, which hears appeals of initial property tax assessments by the city assessor. The assessor currently serves on the board. Voters are asked to replace the assessor with a citizen. The switch increases the board's independence and avoids an appearance of conflict of interest. "If you have the assessor on the board, one of its three members already has an opinion about what is being reviewed," Dame said. The second amendment concerns the Election Commission, a three-person group chosen by the mayor that appoints election personnel and reviews ballots. The commission currently consists of the city clerk and two members of the city council. Voters are asked to change the composition by replacing the council members with the city attorney and finance director, while the clerk remains. "Both proposals would make the composition of these committees consistent with state policy," Dame said. The items appear as questions on the ballot Tuesday, Nov. 3. Wording is in up-or-down fashion: ♦ vote "yes" to support change;

♦ vote "no" not to. "We were able to consult the state attorney general's office with regard to the (ballot) language," said Charles Kennedy III, city attorney. A united city council approved the wording during a special meeting Monday, Aug. 3. The otherwise unscheduled session met a deadline Tuesday, Aug. 11, to submit proposals to Wayne Council officials for inclusion on the November ballot. The deadline was impossible to make if the matter were considered at this month's regular meeting, 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 17, according to city officials.

Mayor takes it one term at a time

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE — Incremental change is key to controlled, continued improvement of the city, according to Dale Scrace, almost certain to win a seventh two-year term as mayor in the Tuesday, Nov. 3, election. He's uncontested for the second consecutive time. So are three incumbent City of Grosse Pointe council members and the municipal judge. "That is reflective of people thinking we're doing a good job," Scrace said. "The citizens are attentive. We're seamless and open and try to over-communicate on all issues." Expect more of the same, he said. "We'll continue that mandate from the citizens," Scrace said. "We've gotten a lot done and have a lot more to do." Among accomplishments, he cited the city surviving the recession, during which housing values plummeted, causing comparable cuts in property tax revenue. "We are on the road to recovery, albeit slower than the downfall," Scrace said. "But, things are positive. The work we've done this year on infrastructure — sewers and water main replacement — is outstanding." Voters endorsed the mayor and city council's recommendation last year to support a supplemental, 15-year millage for road repairs. Another positive sign is high attendance at Neff municipal park, Scrace added. The marina is full. Also, the downtown Village commercial district is filling with retailers and restaurants.

"The Mack streetscape wrapped up last year and Fisher Road is next," Scrace said. "We just approved site plans for the expansion of Farms Market, a roughly $10 million project." A medical office building is approved for construction on the Cadieux side of Beaumont Hospital, Grosse Pointe's square-block campus, rezoned as a hospital district for greater oversight. "All of this is done incrementally — from one end to the other, Cadieux to Fisher — all across the city," Scrace said.

Sometimes a smile is all they need

They're the first people one sees upon arrival and the last when one departs. Beaumont Hospital volunteers number around 320 at the Grosse Pointe location. Once a month for the last three years, an award has been given to acknowledge their tireless efforts. Staff members nominate volunteers and explain why they feel the individual deserves the award. The award is called Saluting Our Stars. August's honoree was Molly Brooks, a Grosse Pointe Farms resident. Brooks joined the team of volunteers in January as a patient volunteer escort, primarily discharging patients and assisting them with wheelchairs, as well as training new volunteers. She said she always liked the medical field and worked as a medical aid at Cottage Hospital during her years at Grosse Pointe South High School. "When you watch her interact with people, it's really natural — like she was made to do this kind of work," Director of Volunteer Services Betsy Schulte said. Brooks' services were noticed by an older patient and his caretaker who visited weekly for wound care treatments. The patient was a retired physician; his caregiver, Theresa L., filled out the Saluting Our Stars form that brought Brooks' services to the director's attention. According to the nomination, the caregiver wrote her patient was always excited to have Brooks there to help him. "What can I say about Molly? She is perfectly wonderful," the nomination reads. "(The patient) calls out to her as we round into the driveway for a wheelchair." Brooks was at first reluctant to accept the award, but eventually was persuaded to accept the prize on behalf of the other volunteers. "Most volunteers are humble," explained Schulte. "The only reason Molly would do it was because it represented the whole program." However, Schulte said the SOS award is small compared to the work volunteers perform for patients every day. "You really can't run a hospital without volunteers," she said. According to Brooks, volunteering provides its own rewards. She said she loves the relationships she forms with patients and always tries to ease anxiety visitors may experience. Brooks described her duties in a few words, "Just get them to a place with a smile." Added Schulte, "It's sometimes all they need."

With that in mind, he established a website, gppdog-park.org, outlining the benefits of dog parks and urging residents to e-mail city officials and attend the parks and recreation commission meeting Sept. 9. Among the benefits Bannon cites is the opportunity for dogs to socialize and exercise while promoting social interaction among dog owners. Dog parks, Bannon also said, are something prospective home buyers look for and with three other Pointes having off-leash areas, it puts the Park at a disadvantage. Bannon said there are currently two prospective sites for a park: Patterson Park and Marks Park, located on Jefferson across from the city hall complex. Bannon spoke with Grosse Pointe Farms officials, noting they were extremely helpful and incorporated their ideas in the plans he submitted in February to the recreation commission. While Bannon's plans focus on the benefits of a park, he also cited problems the Farms found with its park and solutions, including dealing with unruly dogs and the inevitable "clean up" problems dogs naturally create. He also emphasized the success of the Farms park, noting the number of passes issued jumped from 100 the first year to 350 this year. Farms residents pay a $15 fee per year for the park. An ad hoc social committee sponsored a potluck supper Sept. 2 at the park. That's the sense of community Bannon hopes to create. "Dog parks are common and successful," he said. "There are so many good things in the Park, let's add one more."

pavilion at their September meeting. "It's a takeoff on the current pavilion, but on a smaller scale, half the size," said Councilman Robert Barrette Jr., chairman of the parks and harbor committee. "This would be another pavilion." "If this goes forward, we haven't decided where to put it," Wollenweber said. "The park and harbor committee will be involved in the location." The park is getting a lot of good use this summer — attendance totaled 34,000 in June and July — and the pavilion is in perpetual demand. On April 1, the first day of the year the pavilion can be reserved, residents line up outside city offices, according to Wollenweber. "This is not an April Fools joke," he said. "There is a lineup starting at 7 or 7:15 a.m. to book the pavilion." Shared harbor Wollenweber anticipates representatives of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club will speak at the 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20, city council meeting about redesigning their harbor.

three-month trial. He also cited a biased media and that Joe Gentz, the handyman who said he killed Jane Bashara at the behest of her husband, did not testify at Bashara's trial.

Gentz strangled Jane Bashara Jan. 24, 2012, in the garage of her Grosse Pointe Park home. Her body was discovered the next morning in the backseat of her SUV found abandoned in an alley in Detroit. After being charged with his wife's murder in May 2013, Bashara was represented by a series of attorneys. Among other claims in the appeal, Bashara alleges his extra-marital affairs and involvement in an alternative sexual lifestyle involving bondage, discipline and sado-masochism, should not have been introduced into evidence. Prosecutors said it was Bashara's desire to marry a mistress and participate freely in that alternative lifestyle that drove him to kill his wife. In December 2014, following the trial, a Wayne County jury agreed, finding Bashara guilty of first-degree murder, conspiracy to commit first-degree murder, solicitation of murder, witness intimidation and obstruction of justice. He is serving his sentence at the Oak Correctional Facility in Manistee. Ambrose did not respond to a request for comment.

Lakeshore and Vernier to get a new look

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — An unsightly utility pole that blocks sight lines of motorists at the intersection of Lakeshore and Vernier is coming down when the corner is reconstructed before winter. Also, a cut-through in the Lakeshore median between Vernier and the entrance to Osius Park is being relocated farther north from the intersection to reduce the odds of traffic wrecks. “It probably won’t be done until Thanksgiving,” said Mark Wollenweber, Grosse Pointe Shores manager. “We’ve given the go-ahead to contractors. The big delay is the length of time it takes to deliver the poles.” Most of the project is paid by a $600,000 grant from the county and state transportation department, Wollenweber added. The Shores’ share is “miniscule,” he said. Municipal employees, not contractors, will reconfigure the cut-through. “We’re going to do that after construction,” Wollenweber said. The new intersection and cut-through are designed to increase safety for drivers making U-turns from southbound to northbound Lakeshore. The current turnaround is too close to the intersection, according to Wollenweber. “The traffic lights will be synchronized,” he said. “Now, if you enter the turnaround to go north, the light going south may have already changed to red, but the light going north hasn’t changed yet. “So, if you pull out — because you can’t see well with the pole — you have to almost pull into northbound traffic.” The light is still green for northbound traffic. “You might get hit,” Wollenweber said. Other changes bring sidewalks and pedestrian signals to current standards. A concurrent project is installing a security camera at the intersection.

Grant robs Peter to pay Paul

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — A state road grant isn’t as good as it seems. The $29,000 grant comes to Grosse Pointe Shores from the Michigan Department of Transportation. “I had an e-mail from MDOT (July 17) that additional funds will be available for road repairs in 2016,” said Brett Smith, director of public works. But the grant is subtracted from money the city should get anyway, according to Mark Wollenweber, city manager. “The bad news it’s coming from state shared revenue,” he said. “So, it’s just taken out of one pocket and put in another.” The one-time grant comes in four payments, Wollenweber added. Smith doesn’t count on it. “I’ll let you know when the check arrives,” he said.

Windfall traffic stop

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — A man caught driving an SUV on Lakeshore containing drugs, weapons and bundles of cash may fund officers from the department that arrested him last week during a routine traffic stop. “All that property is not ours yet, but we’re going after it,” said John Schulte, Grosse Pointe Shores public safety director. Law enforcement agencies can seize assets related to drug offenses. “It is possible this cash and vehicle could be property of Grosse Pointe Shores,” Schulte said. “The weapons were seized because of the narcotics felony. Those are ours.” In what Schulte described as “an unusually productive” traffic investigation starting at 1:28 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 13, on northbound Lakeshore at Vernier, police tailed a 28-year-old Grosse Pointe Park man in a black 2008 GMC Tahoe. They stopped him on Jefferson and Doremus in St. Clair Shores. The Tahoe’s windows were illegally tinted and the license plate was registered to a suspended driver matching the suspect’s physical description, according to reports. Officers searching the vehicle said they found:

- ◆ hundreds of loose narcotic prescription pills,
- ◆ $22,632 in cash,
- ◆ a sniper rifle worth approximately $8,000,
- ◆ nearly 200 rounds of ammunition,
- ◆ 18 spent cartridges,
- ◆ two fixed-blade knives and
- ◆ one pair of shooting glasses.

Officers took him in custody for violating the suspension. A municipal court administrator said he’s charged with:

- ◆ possession of a non-narcotic controlled substance, a felony;
- ◆ felony firearm possession;
- ◆ driving while license suspended and
- ◆ not having proof of auto insurance.

Some $15,000 of the cash was in three bundles of $5,000, police said.

“He stated he was moving, so had contractors at home and didn’t want to leave the money around the new home because of all the people in and out,” reported officer Tony Spina. “He also indicated he pays his employees cash (and) always carries about $3,000 on him as habit.” Investigators don’t believe him. “Some of his statements were inconsistent,” said Lt. Detective Scott Rohr. Rohr can’t discuss the suspect’s criminal history or affiliations, if any, “prior to prosecution,” he said. Suspects can retrieve seized property by paying 10 percent of its value within 20 days, according to Rohr. “If the subject wants the cash and vehicle back, he will post a bond with us,” Schulte said. “The Wayne County prosecutor will schedule a hearing separate from his criminal hearing.”

GROSSE POINTE NEWS MISSION STATEMENT

To provide the Grosse Pointes the most relevant, accurate and timely information in our print and online publications.

OUR VIEW

It's time for the Park to join Nixle

It's long overdue for Grosse Pointe Park's public safety department to aggressively use the Nixle alert system, just as the other Pointes have been doing for several years.

The Nixle system provides notification via the Internet to residents about public safety concerns occurring in the community, from road closures to power outages to home invasions.

Created in 2007, Nixle is used by more than 8,000 public agencies throughout the country to keep residents informed and to encourage them to be aware of events within their community.

Residents simply sign up for the alerts on their computers or smart phones. There is no charge to residents. Nixle has been shown to be an effective tool in keeping residents connected and informed.

Yet, for reasons that are not clear, Chief David Hiller refuses to allow his department to use this very effective tool for anything more serious than fire hydrant flushing.

Chief, it's time. And to the mayor and city council, it's time to follow through with this.

It's 2015 and the vast majority of residents are connected to a device that allows Internet access. Getting official information on a crime or hazardous situation is much better than leaving residents to glean bits and pieces from Facebook or chance encounters with a neighbor over the back fence. It's been a reliable resource for residents of the other Pointes.

Park residents brought their request for an active Nixle system to a recent city council meeting, but unfortunately, Chief Hiller wasn't in attendance. It wasn't the first time residents have requested the Park utilize the system. Mayor Greg Theokas and the council listened to the concerns and we hope they will follow through. It's time to supply this effective tool to residents.

There is no reason not to.

Sign of support

The robbery outlined in a story on page 1A of this week's paper shows cowardly criminals will do anything, anywhere, to rattle the security of the Pointes. We applaud those who visited the business that night and the next day to show your support. Skip Fincham and Bruce Smith showed their leadership by talking to supporters on Tuesday. Kudos to them.

The only thing better than taking to the open waters off Farms Pier Park, or any of the Pointes' parks, is returning home after a great day on the water. These paddlers were part of a Michigan relay fundraiser group which left Pier Park and finished their mission at Belle Isle.

Comfort

My family has lived in the Pointes 62 years, 39 of which have been in the Farms. Over the years we have been indebted to you for your swift response, efficient and courteous management of numerous urgencies.

Sustained success is coupled with preparation for the severest exigencies. This takes dedicated time; time is life, and should not be wasted. The specific requirements for a task can be cut back but not added without waste of time. There is nothing more lethal as a "good" excuse. Failure is failure and requires an explanation, an apology.

There is no such thing as absolute security, but your department gives the Farms community justifiable comfort by your presence. Few of us citizens engage in activities where, on a daily basis, we put our personal safety at risk as do you. In these unsettled times, an ominous nihilism abounds making your job more demanding. The community realizes this and should cooperate with you in any way it can.

Thank you

The family of Paige Stalker and members of Save our Children's Future would like to thank the Grosse Pointe communities for their thoughtfulness and support during the past months. The outpouring of assistance and encouragement have helped us as we move forward.

A recent incident of a person removing the ribbons from trees was very disturbing. But within 24 hours, it was so gratifying to find not only were new ribbons put back up but that more members of the community put up additional ribbons. When we drive or walk through the neighborhood, it is comforting to see the ribbons and know people are aware and care about what happened to Paige, the safety of our children and in coming together as neighbors. By this time we had hoped there would have been a resolution to the case and the ribbons could come down, but unfortunately this has not happened.

The foundation is moving forward with the ideas for the safety education of our children and for the plans for a memorial park as part of the Detroit/Grosse Pointe Park development agreement.

We would welcome assistance on both the education and park committees.

Master gardeners, planners, educators, all are welcome to come together to make our children and neighborhoods safe.

Sell it

If the Calder mobile owned by the library is actually worth $10 million, I would urge them to sell it now. It is not the mission of libraries to be collectors of art works and this particular piece should be considered a very excellent investment which it is time to cash in on. This would go a long way in financing some of the renovations the library has been hankering to do for a long time.

GUEST OPINION By Gary C. Niehaus, PhD

Re-aligning the arrows of a great school district

This is a great school district.

And we can do better together. Coming in with a fresh perspective, I can tell you I've seen best practices in place. I've already been to impressive performing arts concerts which show a commitment to well-rounded education. I've met the new teacher hires. I've even started to witness the growth of this year's professional development plan, with instructional rounds built into the process. I've heard from families that love their schools. And I have a solid team at the administration building to support our schools as we work together.

This year, as I outlined in my interview, we'll be working on four key areas:

- ◆ Special Education
- ◆ Technology
- ◆ North-South
- ◆ Enrollment

We can do even better together in meeting the needs of our students with special needs. This will mean more co-taught classes, more targeted professional development, a commitment to the Response to Intervention process, and inclusion as appropriate for individual students, using the least restrictive environment. Progress has been made in this area and we are united in this effort.

Technology changes teaching and learning. We must be providing more digital content. We must explore what we can do using a Bring Your Own Device model with the infrastructure to support it. That infrastructure is the backbone of any technology plan. It's critical and we are slowly working through our buildings to ensure it is in place for our Future Ready Initiative. To be ready for colleges and careers, our students must be technologically literate. Google docs are not just for fun, but are the beginning of student portfolios. Online resources with digital content save money. They are part of the blended learning needed for college. We want students college- and career ready with digital skills.

Since Proposal A passed in the mid-'90s, our budget as a school system is largely based on the number of students in our seats. Enrollment is down here, and across Michigan. We must do more to market our schools. We must compete. To do that, we all have to tell our story. I invite you in to our schools. Attend our games, plays, concerts, art fairs. Come to the Open House 1 to 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 15, and walk our hallways with student tour guides.

Explore our expanding tuition-based preschool options that will open next fall. Celebrate our excellence. When you talk about any of our schools, you hurt or help your own property values. If there's a problem, tell me so we can fix it.

One of the big themes I've heard is the North vs. South debate. We are rivals on the field, not in the classroom and not in the community. At the North-South tailgate from 5 to 7 p.m., Friday, Sept. 25, at North High School, you'll learn about ways we're working to bring both ends of the community together. We have two great high schools that share the same curriculum, the same caliber of staff and we want to become #OneGP strong.

Gary C. Niehaus is the superintendent of the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

Evaporated

A dehumidifier is believed stolen from the basement of a vacant house for sale in the 800 block of Washington.

The homeowner, a Grosse Pointe Farms man, reported the theft shortly before 9 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 26.

“(He) states he comes over about once a day to empty the dehumidifier tank,” said a City of Grosse Pointe public safety officer. “(He) discovered the lock box that usually hangs on the front door to be missing.”

Decked

Police impounded a gray 2006 Pontiac G6 belonging to a Detroit man, 30, cited for possession of marijuana at about 3 p.m. Monday, Aug. 24, on the upper parking deck of Beaumont Hospital, Grosse Pointe.

The man reportedly surrendered four small bags of marijuana from the car’s center console prior to being cited for possession of a controlled substance.

He and a 39-year-old female passenger from Detroit were allowed to leave the area, according to the investigating officer.

Trio caught

A 39-year-old man allegedly interrupted three 15-year-old Detroit males breaking into a silver 2015 Dodge Journey parked in the 400 block of Calvin shortly before 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 29.

Two of the teens, believed standing sentry in the roadway, and the third inside the vehicle, ran away across Mack into Detroit and through a parking lot.

A Farms patrolman caught them near the intersection of Lafontaine and Frankfort.

“The witness confirmed all three subjects were the subjects he had seen,” said another officer.

Police arrested the teen seen inside the Journey. After booking, they released him to his father.

The owner of the vehicle said nothing appeared stolen.

Public Safety Reports

Bike gone

An 18-year-old male from Grosse Pointe Farms told police his unlocked Schwinn mountain bike was stolen between 4 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 27, and 3 p.m. the next day from racks at the Central Branch public library on the corner of Kercheval and Fisher.

The bike is black and blue with bent handlebars.

Phone recovered

Police helped a 17-year-old female alleged larceny victim recover her stolen $300 iPhone 6 and capture the 15-year-old Detroit male accused of taking it during the Grosse Pointe South High School Blue Devils’ inaugural football game of the season. The home game was Thursday evening, Aug. 27, against Detroit’s Mumford Mustangs.

A patrolman monitoring Fisher as the crowd exited campus reported the girl running on the sidewalk shouting, “Help, he just stole my phone.”

The officer, victim and 14-year-old male witness from Grosse Pointe Park reportedly confronted the suspect near where he admitted tossing the phone among bushes in the 300 block of Fisher, according to police.

The phone’s white $60 Chatterbox case remains missing.

“(He) indicated he put it in the bushes with the phone,” said the officer.

The victim, of Grosse Pointe Farms, said she lost the phone during the game. The suspect reportedly described picking it up near restrooms at the athletic field.

Bag of pot

During curbside questioning on westbound Mack near East Warren at 8:33 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 27, a 20-year-old male motorist from Warren handed police a plastic bag containing 5 grams of marijuana, according to an officer.

A patrolman pulled the motorist over for operating a red 2005 Hyundai without headlights nearly a half hour after sunset.

Police cited him for possession of marijuana and operating a motor vehicle with defective equipment.

Jewelry gone

A man and wife living in the 200 block of McKinley returned home Wednesday, Aug. 26, from being away three days to discover jewelry missing from storage cases.

They think their daughter’s 28-year-old boyfriend and temporary house guest took the valuables, according to a public safety officer investigating the alleged larceny.

“The (father) never gave permission for the suspect to be in his home and had no knowledge he would be in his house,” said the officer.

Missing are:

◆ gold and diamond earrings,

◆ a gold pendant with diamonds,

◆ a diamond pendant in gold setting and

◆ a combination engagement and wedding ring with platinum band and diamond surrounded by rubies.

“The victim stated the ring and one of the necklaces had belonged to his late mother,” said a public safety officer.

There may be more jewelry missing.

“(The victim) advised that his wife would be able to add to the list,” said the officer. “(He said) the jewelry had been appraised and possibly photographed, but was unaware of the location of those documents.”

Phone taken

Someone stole a $500 iPhone and green case from an unlocked locker in the girls’ locker room of Grosse Pointe South High School between 2 and 3 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 19, the owner, a 14-year-old Grosse Pointe Park girl, told police.

Domestic violence

A 53-year-old Redford Township man was arrested last week for felony aggravated assault against his 87-year-old stepfather, a resident of Grosse Pointe Shores, according to police.

The arrest resulted from a domestic violence investigation at the victim’s house on Willison.

Police on scene at 4:34 a.m. Friday, Aug. 28, reported the victim’s right hand bleeding from being beaten with an aluminum cane.

The victim and his wife were sleeping when the son barged in yelling and “carrying on” about icy hot cream and wouldn’t leave, they reportedly told police.

Grosse Pointe Woods medics tended the father.

Drunken speeding

A Detroit man, 42, registered a .18 percent blood alcohol level prior to his arrest for drunken driving on northbound Lakeshore near Fontana Lane shortly after 3 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 26.

A patrolman pulled him over for speeding a 2005 Chrysler 300 15 mph over the limit on southbound Vernier prior to weaving along Lakeshore.

Lakeside lookout

A 27-year-old St. Clair Shores man drew attention by parking a 2005 Chrysler 300 on the lakeside grass of northbound Lakeshore near Fontana during the evening of Tuesday, Aug. 25.

At 9:36 p.m., a public safety officer asked him why he and a male passenger parked on the grass.

“The driver stated he parked there so they could look at the water and Canada,” reported the officer.

The driver, smelling of alcohol, failed a field sobriety test, registered a .131 blood alcohol level and was arrested for drunken driving, according to police.

Patrolmen settle contract in Shores

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — Municipal labor negotiations are finished for three years. The latest and last contract up for renewal, with public safety officers, was settled this month. Mark Wollenweber, manager of Grosse Pointe Shores, said terms equal those for public safety command officers, approved last month as a precedent for patrol officers, public works and non-union employees. Terms are:

- ◆ 1 percent signing bonus,
- ◆ 2 percent raise July 1, 2016, and
- ◆ 3 percent raises in both of the following two years.

The main difference is a change in pension and Social Security costs about $40,000 in the city's favor, Wollenweber said. "This settles all our contracts for the next three years," he said. "Everything rolls over every two years," said Councilman Bruce Bisballe, chairman of the finance committee. "We're only going to talk about money once every three years, so everything's uniform (and) easier."

"It gives us certainty for the three-year budget because we know what its going to cost us," said Mayor Ted Kedzierski. Shores officers have an advocate in the executive ranks. "I thank the council for its compensation to these officers," Chief John Schulte told the city council Tuesday, Aug. 18. "They work hard every day and provide police, fire and paramedic services for this community."

perimeter was established, but the suspect escaped. Police were able to download videos from surveillance cameras. The suspect is described as a black male, late 20s to early 30s, 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighing about 160 pounds. He was wearing an oversized white T-shirt, long black shorts and black athletic shoes. Tuesday afternoon, several Woods residents gathered at Little Tony's to show their support for the victim and Little Tony's, a Woods institution in business 45 years. "This is the first incident of its kind that we have had," said owner Carol Alfonsi. "We certainly appreciate everyone's support." Woods City Administrator Skip Fincham and Public Safety Director Bruce Smith spoke with several residents who came by and described the police response to the incident and encouraged residents to be involved and aware of what is happening in their community. Fincham encouraged them to call him personally with any concerns. He said the city would update residents of any information in the case through the Nixle system. Woods resident Kathryn Sharp had sent out a notice via social media inviting residents to come by Little Tony's. "We're all mothers and we're all concerned about what is happening," she said. Good advice at the time

A 34-year-old Warren resident would have done well to listen to her friends during a traffic stop at 1 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 30. According to police, the woman was a passenger in a car being driven erratically by a 39-year-old Warren resident. Police stopped the car and while the driver complied with the officer's requests, his passenger became disorderly. Both the driver and another passenger attempted to get her to calm down, but the woman's bad behavior escalated. She got out of the car, hurled racial slurs at a man walking by, opened the passenger door of a police car after she was told not to and grabbed an officer's handcuffs. After police placed her in the backseat of a police car, she proceeded to call Harper Woods police, which resulted in her cellphone being confiscated. She has been charged with disorderly conduct, with a pending charge of resisting arrest. Police say the driver of the car was cooperative, as was the other passenger.

Car fire

A 49-year-old Woods resident and his passenger were on their way to pick up dinner at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 21, when they heard a loud popping sound coming from their 2012 Chrysler 300, then saw smoke coming from the engine with flames soon following. The occupants of the car escaped, but the fire destroyed the engine and front passenger seats of the car. The driver told police that "a while back" he had a certified technician install a nitrous oxide system in the car's trunk. It was operated by a toggle switch on the dash. He said he uses the system for passing on the freeway. Police removed an intact 25-pound nitrous oxide canister from the trunk before the car was towed. Police don't believe any criminal activity is involved. — Kathy Ryan

Celebrating 150

Special events planned at Memorial Church

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

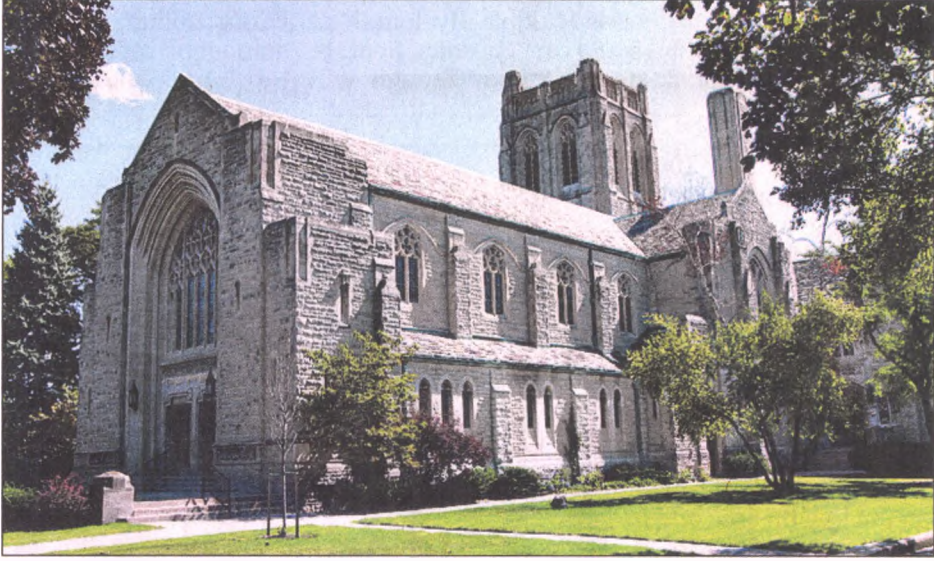

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church has not only made its mark on parishioners in the Pointes since 1865, but also has touched the lives of people around the world.

Through various ministries and outreach programs, Memorial has extended its faith message to thousands, many of whom will join the church in celebrating its 150th anniversary.

Memorial was originally located at Kerby and Lakeshore and was called the Grosse Pointe Protestant Society. By 1892, it was already looking for a new home. Land was donated and the Little Ivy Covered Church was built in 1894. In 1920, it was renamed Grosse Pointe Presbyterian Church.

Five years later, with the dedication of another new church, it was renamed again: Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

"The current sanctuary was given as a memorial in the 1920s by the Newberry family, in loving memory of John Stroughton Newberry and Helen Handy Newberry by their sons, Truman and John," church historian Hank Ackerman said. "The sanctuary was constructed in 1926-27 when the bell tower was put up."

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church as it stands today.

In 1927, the present sanctuary was dedicated, built on the site of the Little Ivy Covered Church, which had been torn down.

In the early 1960s, an expansion of the building included the conversion of a gymnasium into a chapel and a fellowship hall, as well as an additional 27 classrooms and meeting rooms.

At the height of its membership, during the latter days of the ministry of Dr. Frank Fitt, Memorial had some 3,000 members.

Today, Memorial's membership numbers around 1,250, hailing from more than a dozen communities in and around Detroit. As of October 2014, 149 of its members have been members for more than 50 years, 15 of those for 70 years or more.

"The church really touches thousands of people," Ackerman said. "The Rev. Peter Henry said earlier this year about 40,000 people came through the buildings during the past year. In some weeks, more than 2,000 people were in and out."

Memorial, which is on the National Registry of Historic Places, has been dubbed "a light by the lakeshore," and it's never been busier.

"The buildings now are the center of activity for many organizations aside from the church groups that populate it seven days a week," Ackerman said. "Among those are the award-winning Troop 96 of Boy Scouts of America, the Men's Ecumenical Breakfast, the Judson Center for exceptional youth, the program for toddlers called Mornings at Memorial, Alcoholics

Anonymous, Pilgrims of Ibillin, senior yoga and occasional concerts by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. The music program brings renowned musicians and groups to Memorial in regular programs open to the public."

Church members also are active outside Memorial's walls, recently participating with members from other Grosse Pointe congregations in a "Blitz Build" with Habitat for Humanity that included the construction of five homes for lower-income Detroit families.

"Dozens of members of the various churches, and often led by Memorial leaders, have been involved in building 117 homes largely in east Detroit during the last 25 years," Ackerman said.

Memorial celebrates its 150th anniversary Saturday, Sept. 12, with an all-congregation barbecue from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m., including food, entertainment and more.

The celebration continues Sunday, Sept. 13, with the recognition of its founding at 9 a.m. at its original location at Kerby and Lakeshore. Then, the congregation will walk from the original site to the existing building,

Bringing back the bells

The carillon at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church soon will ring at full force once again.

The bells were removed last spring and have been cleaned, retuned and replaced, according to church historian Hank Ackerman.

The bell tower was erected with the main sanctuary in 1926 and originally housed eight bells. In 1951, a larger array of bells was installed, bringing the total number of bells to 47.

The week of Aug. 24, 48 bells were installed in the bell tower.

"The additional one brings the array up to providing four octaves of music," Ackerman said. "The new bell was given the name, The

The newly installed carillon is capable of playing 97 percent of the carillon music now written, according to Rick Watson, of Meeks and Watson, Co., who engineered the bell tower's upgrade.

"The array is the second largest of carillons in Michigan," Ackerman said. "Kirk in the Hills in Bloomfield Hills has the largest with 77 bells in

The columbarium, originally created in 1975 with 288 niches, doubled in size in 1999. Its latest expansion adds another 200 niches, most of which can accommodate two urns. In addition, there is a memorial garden where ashes may be scattered to the ground around a large rock, Ackerman said.

"Dozens of former church associates, including the two previous pastors — the Rev. Bill Yeager and the Rev. Dr. V. Bruce Rigdon — and a number of former ecumenical ministers will attend as Senior Pastor Peter Henry addresses the celebration," Ackerman said.

Yeager served as interim senior pastor

Henry began his ministry at Memorial in 2007 and has continued to lead the church's involvement in the Detroit area and in mission projects abroad, as well as bringing in ministers of many faiths from five continents through Memorial's Ecumenical Minister Program, which began in 1971. It provides a several-week stay for a distinguished minister, ecumenical leader or priest and their families annually.

The terrace also includes a children's vegetable garden, which yields food for local soup kitchens.

"As part of its 2013-15 capital campaign, it also wanted to increase the outreach of funds for the church to be involved in dozens of efforts in Detroit and elsewhere to enhance the message of the church," Ackerman said.

the country." Dozens of workers were in the building not only to construct the steel frame for the bell array and lift the bells by a 100-foot crane into the tower, but others also worked on reinstalling the stained-glass windows and increasing the number of niches in the church's columbarium, now landscaped into Memorial's churchfront on Lakeshore Drive.

"It's a remarkable thing for a church to have a carillon of any size," Director of Music Programs Jim Biery said. "It's a significant instrument, but we've had problems for some time."

The oldest bells were from the '20s and the others from the '50s and they never quite harmonized, he explained.

"We're excited. It's a real blessing to us," Biery said of the upgrade. "These will be good to go for another hundred years."

Added Webb, who has played the carillon since 1981: "The bells going up is music to my ears."

Mental Health First Aid training benefits

The Family Center
ASK THE EXPERTS articles

Q: Can you tell me about the Mental Health First Aid training sessions that will be offered through the Family Center this fall? Who should attend and what can we expect if we do?

A: Just like First Aid and CPR training provide lay people with skills to help someone experiencing a physical health crisis, Mental Health First Aid is a course designed for lay people to provide the skills needed to reach out to a person experiencing a mental health crisis.

I've heard of many situations in which someone is experiencing a mental health crisis and the people around them do not intervene because they don't know what to do and are afraid of making the situation worse by "saying the wrong thing."

This course does not train participants to diagnose or provide counseling or therapy. Instead, the program offers concrete tools and answers key questions like "what do I do?" and "where can someone find help?"

This 8-hour training will occur in two 4-hour sessions Tuesdays, Sept. 29 and Oct. 6. You must attend both sessions. Attendees choose either the core Mental

The sessions are limited to 35 registered participants, so register early. You can register online at familycenterweb.org or by calling (313) 432-3832. Trainings starting

Historical Society getting a makeover

By Monica Sabella
Editorial Intern

The Grosse Pointe Historical Society, located on Kercheval in Grosse Pointe Farms, is due for a modern makeover.

During the years, donations, contributions and loans have covered the desks and filled the files of its resource center until walking through the building has proven challenging for visitors.

"It's a collection of 'put it wherever you find a corner,'" laughed Helga Liedtke, administrator for the society.

Until recently, volunteers conducting research were situated near the entrance at desks, with the library and three large file cabinets positioned in the far back of the building. When visitors came in during business hours, the front of the resource center would become congested.

Administrators at the center said it was difficult for visitors to feel comfortable in such an environment.

According to Liedtke, the new arrangement will not make people feel like they are walking into someone's work space, like before.

The society currently is working on boxing up the library. Movers will rearrange the files and other pieces of furniture. The reorganized resource center should reopen Sunday, Sept. 13.

Then the center will allow visitors to talk directly with Liedtke and Isabelle Donnelly, director of education, while researchers are able to continue their work without interruption.

"It's a clean up. The front will be quieter and a little more conducive to visitors," Liedtke said.

These preparations precede other changes that will affect the historical society's schedule. In addition to the Provencal-Weir House, the resource center will be open the second Saturday of each month from 1 to 4 p.m.

"I hope more people will come in," Liedtke said. "It will be a little more inviting, but the same service as always."

A LA ANNIE By Annie Rouleau-Scheriff

Marinated skirt steak

Labor Day 2015. The latest it can possibly be this Sept. 7. It feels as though we're getting an extra week of summer. Enjoy the day with a special meal. I'm serving marinated skirt steak this Monday. Four simple ingredients, one great flavor.

4-Ingredient Steak Marinade

For 2 pounds of steak

- 1 large sweet onion, sliced thin
- 1 large or 2 small oranges, sliced thin
- 1 can beer
- 1/3 cup soy sauce

Lay half of the onion and orange slices in the bottom of a plastic dish that has a tight-fitting lid. Place the steak over the onions and orange and top with the remaining onion and orange slices. Combine the beer and the soy sauce and pour over everything. Cover tightly and chill in the refrigerator over night. Turn the container upside down and back once or twice to evenly marinate the steak. You may also use heavy gallon freezer bags; that's my preference. Throw some crushed garlic cloves in if you wish.

Remove the dish from the refrigerator about a half hour or so before grilling. While the meat is resting, place some of the marinade in a sauce pan and bring it to a boil. Lower to a simmer and allow the liquid to reduce a bit. Set aside.

Grill your steak to your liking, giving it an occasional brush of the cooked marinade. The sauce will be salty so use it sparingly.

I grilled the onions and orange slices alongside my skirt steak. Both were a perfect garnish.

I plan to pair my skirt steak with green goddess coleslaw and roasted potato salad. I plan to enjoy myself this Labor Day 2015. Go out and grab some steaks and you do the same.

St. Paul hosts rummage sale

St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, 375 Lothrop, Grosse Pointe Farms, hosts the eastside's largest rummage sale from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 18, and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 19.

The rummage sale offers something for everyone, including books, furniture, toys, holiday items, office supplies, household items, small appliances, sporting goods, baby items, electronics and more. Clothing for all ages costs $6 per bag. There's also a boutique filled with new, collectible and name-brand items at bargain prices. Friday offers the best selection, but items are half off Saturday.

St. Paul is accepting donations 9 a.m. to noon Monday to Friday until Sunday, Sept. 13. Items must be clean, wearable and usable. Donations should be boxed and bagged by category; for example, kitchen, clothing, holiday, toys, etc.

St. Paul uses the funds raised to assist organizations in need, including ministries in Southeast Michigan, the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America World Outreach program, Salvation Army, Lutheran Social Services of Michigan and the Full Circle Foundation, whose mission is to support activities that foster self-worth and independence in persons with disabilities.

A variety of items are being collected for St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church's annual rummage sale.

Eastside Dermatology

The most important person for ensuring early skin cancer detection is you!

By Lisa A. Manz-Dulac, MD

An important part of managing skin cancer is detection. And the most important person for ensuring early detection is you.

A skin self-exam is used to identify suspicious growths that may be cancer or moles or lesions that may develop into skin cancer. Dermatologists recommend that you should examine your skin once every month, looking for abnormal growths or any change in the color, shape, size or appearance of a mole or for any lesions that do not heal.

Start your skin self-exam by standing in front of a full-length mirror. Examine your body front and back, and then examine your right and left sides with your arms raised.

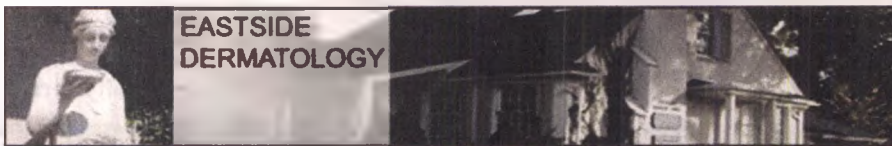

Next, bend your elbows and look carefully at your forearms, the back of your upper arms, and your palms. Look at your feet, the soles of your feet, and the spaces between your toes.

Finally, using a hand mirror, look at the back of your legs and the back of your neck and scalp. Part your hair to look at your scalp. Also use the mirror to examine your back, buttocks, and genital area.

It has been my experience that patients are almost always right when they suspect that a spot is abnormal. So, if you find a suspicious skin growth during your self-exam, you should always plan to follow up your concerns with your dermatologist.

To learn more about self-exams, contact your dermatologist, or call us at Eastside Dermatology, Dr. Lisa Manz-Dulac and Associates.

Eastside Dermatology has offices in New Baltimore and Grosse Pointe. You can reach them at (313) 884-3380 or (586) 716-1291.

Robert Orrin Bowland

Robert Orrin "Bob" Bowland, 67, passed away Thursday, Aug. 20, 2015, after a long and courageous battle with multiple myeloma.

Bob is survived by his wife, Donna Hammond Bowland, of 45 years; daughter, Kelly; son, Robert Andrew "Andy"; daughter-in-law, Elizabeth Bowland and grandchildren, Connor, Oliver and Silas Bowland.

Bob grew up in southern California, moving to Texas to attend college at Texas Christian University, where he was active in Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He met Donna at TCU and they married soon after graduation. Bob's career with Chrysler Corp. took him all over the world, calling Grosse Pointe home for 24 years.

Bob loved sailing, spending many happy hours on his own boats and crewing on Easterly (J/36), including several Mackinac races. He was Commodore of Crescent Sail Yacht Club in Grosse Pointe Farms where he was particularly active in the junior sailing program.

Bob had many hobbies throughout his life. He learned to scuba dive in high school, starting a business with a friend cleaning the hull of boats while they were still in the water. He was a sail plane pilot, after which he transitioned to remote control planes and sailboats. He also was a gearhead who enjoyed all cars. He restored a 1947 MG-TC, a Willys MB Jeep, and more recently, a 1983 Porsche 911SC Cabriolet.

Bob and Donna returned to Texas in 2009. Bob loved all animals, wild or domestic. Supporting the adoption of animals was a passion and he adopted retired greyhounds and parrots. His family said once, while on a work trip, he found a young garter snake, passing it through the airport X-ray so he could hand-carry it home to his kids. Another time he found a drowning bunny, scooped it out of the water and gave it mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until it recovered.

According to his family, Bob was a gifted public speaker and joke-teller. So compelling were his stories, he could sell you the shirt off your own back. His sense of humor infused his personality, always with a good story, a joke and a smile to share.

A funeral service was held Aug. 27 in Texas.

Donations may be made to the Multiple Myeloma Research Foundation at themmr.org or Greyhound Rescue at greyrescue.com/.

Duncan Angus MacEachern

Duncan Angus MacEachern passed away suddenly but peacefully Saturday, Aug. 22, 2015, after spending a beautiful Saturday morning at his beloved home in Judique, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, Canada. He spent his final day laughing and visiting with friends. He was 89.

Mr. MacEachern is survived by his children, Robert Gregory (Susan), Douglas (Kimberly), Leonard (Theresa), John Vincent (Nicole), Kenneth Allen (Judy), Michael David, Duncan Gerard (Margaret) and Lloyd Donald (Mary); 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

He also is survived by his dear friend, companion and love of the last 20 years of his life, Carole Levens of Gulfport, Fla.

He was predeceased by his wife of 40 years, Elizabeth Gillis MacEachern, the beloved mother of his eight sons.

Duncan was born April 8, 1926, in Judique, to Donald and Anne (nee MacLellan) MacEachern. His father passed away when Duncan was a young boy, leaving his mother with 10 children to raise on her own. As a result, she was forced to send Duncan, her youngest child, to be raised by an aunt and uncle, Mary and Robert Blondell, in Grosse Pointe.

Duncan attended St. Paul on the Lake Catholic School until 1944, when at age 17, he joined the U.S. Navy to fight for his adopted country in World War II. Injuries sustained in the Battle of Okinawa would linger with him the rest of his life.

After the war, Duncan returned to Grosse Pointe. The Detroit-Windsor area by then had become a magnet for Scottish-Canadians from Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, among them Betty Gillis, whom he married Nov. 21, 1948, in Detroit.

A year later, Duncan took a position as a police officer in the City of Grosse Pointe. He and Betty bought a house on St. Clair Avenue where they raised their family and entertained many friends and relatives, including uncounted expatriot Cape Bretoners.

Duncan's career spanned 38 years with the Grosse Pointe public-safety force, retiring as a lieutenant and shift commander in 1986. In addition to his police work, Duncan worked countless side jobs to keep his active boys in ice skates, cleats and shoes.

Duncan loved building things and in his "retirement" pursued an education in construction crafts. After a time as a real estate investor in Detroit providing housing options for people in need, Duncan returned to his roots.

He acquired the family farm and purchased a nearby plot of land in Judique on a bluff above the Intervale River. There, he and Carole built an enormous log home using timber from the MacEachern farm. It became the "Inn on the Intervale" and grew to include an adjacent apartment building and a barn. Every summer, after winters in Florida, Duncan and Carole would return "down home."

His family said Duncan was indomitable of spirit and will and faced the challenges of life with gusto and a determined curiosity to learn and discover new things. Intelligent, engaging and fiercely proud of his family, he lived the fullest of lives. His sons and their families are deeply grateful to Carole Levens for providing him with the joy and peace that enveloped the later years of his life. He will be deeply missed.

Visitation will be from 2 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 25, at the Judique Fire House, 30 River Denys Road, Judique, Nova Scotia, Canada.

A memorial Mass will be celebrated at 11 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 26, at St. Andrews Catholic Parish, Highway 19, Judique.

PASTOR'S CORNER

By Jason Coplen

The myth of anonymity

On Aug. 18, hackers revealed data from accounts on ashleymadison.com. With the tagline, "Life is Short. Have an Affair," the website was used by millions of married people worldwide to facilitate marital infidelity. It didn't take long for media outlets to inundate us with disgraced politicians, reality television personalities, celebrities and even vloggers who had accounts on the site.

I imagine none of these people caught up in this scandal ever thought what they were doing would end up on the Yahoo! home page. Most likely, some married person quietly typed in their information late at night, trying to keep their actions a secret. They certainly didn't think anyone was watching. They bought into the lie they could be anonymous, that no one would know what they were doing.

We live in a time when it is almost impossible to be anonymous. There is always a paper trail. We have an online footprint that allows people to track our actions. We might think no one is watching, but what building does not have security cameras these days?

Anonymity is a myth. What we do when we think we are anonymous won't remain hidden forever. In Luke, Jesus said "all that is secret will eventually be brought into the open and everything that is concealed will be brought to light and made known to all." That verse scares me and it should scare you. ALL that is secret? Surely not (this)? The passage is clear: ALL. Everything. Those things we think we are hiding, brought into the open.

This can be a paralyzing realization until we understand these hidden things are the very things Jesus died for. Despite these things, he loved me enough to give his life for me. When I look again to his death and sacrifice, the fear passes away and is replaced by love and deep gratitude for what he has done.

Will everything be brought into the open? Absolutely. But those things will pale in comparison to the love and grace and mercy of God made real in Jesus Christ. His love overwhelms anything we might be hiding. To him, we are not anonymous, but we are known fully. And despite what he knows about us, Jesus has given his life for those who trust in him. That gives me confidence, not fear. It gives me joy, not anxiety. And it helps me to live each day to its fullest.

Stop trying to be anonymous and instead live to know God and be known by him. Being anonymous is a myth anyways. Just ask Ashley Madison.

Coplen is the associate pastor at Crosspointe Christian Church, Grosse Pointe Woods.

Staying healthy this summer

The rain showers of the summer may have dimmed some days, but the sunshine still is pushing through. While hotter days are anticipated moving forward, one should adopt healthy behaviors during the summer months.

Beaumont encourages the community to follow American Cancer Society recommendations to help prevent some forms of breast, colorectal, prostate and skin cancer: Stay hydrated by drinking plenty of water; eat healthy by including five to seven servings of fruits and vegetables in your daily diet; be active by exercising, riding a bike, walking, jogging or swimming at least 30 minutes each day; wear an SPF 30 or higher sunscreen to protect your skin from the sun; and avoiding direct sunlight from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., when the sun is the most intense.

Beaumont is a National Cancer Institute-designated Community Oncology Research Program. It works with the NCI to find the best ways to prevent, fight and treat cancer through clinical research and to provide the community with dignity, compassion and excellence in research.

McCarron throws for four TDs

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Junior quarterback Connor McCarron threw for 370 yards and four touchdowns to lead the host University Liggett football team to a 44-12 season-opening win over Detroit Edison High School last week.

"The guys played a little nervous in the first few minutes and Connor (McCarron) didn't look like himself early, but everyone got it together and played well in the final three quarters," head coach Dan Cimini said. "Once Connor found his rhythm, he was unstoppable."

"The guys played well on both sides of the ball today."

The Knights got the ball rolling late in the first quarter when McCarron, on a fourth-and-one play, threw a 41-yard touchdown pass to senior Tommy Jackson. The extra point was short, but the home team had a 6-0 lead.

McCarron and Jackson combined for touchdown No. 2 early in the second quarter and the quarterback made it three TD passes midway through the second quarter when he connected with junior Tre Caine from 36 yards out.

This time, the Knights converted the two-point conversion and it was 20-6 with 3:44 left before the half.

Caine ran back an interception 20 yards on the ensuing possession and sophomore Noah Miller caught the two-point conversion to give the Knights a 28-6 lead.

Edison scored with 1:36 left in the second quarter, but the offense went to work and put one more TD on the board when McCarron found Jackson open for a 22-yard strike.

The conversion was missed, but the Knights had a 34-12 halftime lead.

In the fourth quarter, McCarron kicked a field goal and ran in a short run to complete the scoring.

McCarron was 15-of-30 for the 370 yards and totaled five touchdowns. Jackson had 140 yards receiving and three touchdowns, while senior Nick Gawel had 145 yards receiving and caught one two-point conversion.

Caine also had 69 receiving yards and one TD and leading the defense was freshman Brady McCarron with 15 tackles, eight solo and seven assists.

Liggett is 1-0 and travels to Keyworth Stadium in Hamtramck for a game against Detroit Allen Academy Thursday, Sept. 3.

"We get some players back (Matt Gushee, Dylan Paulsell and Will Morrison) who will help us," Cimini said. "We will get back to work and prepare for Allen Academy. This was a nice way to start the season. Working as a team is what we need to do to achieve our goals."

Blue Devils outlast Mumford in opener

By Sam Meads
Special Writer

"A win is a win," is a way Grosse Pointe South's football team could look at its season opening 7-0 win over visiting Detroit Mumford last week.

In a game where both teams struggled to move the football, only accounting for 11 first downs and 160 total yards between the two, either team should be happy to have a "W" in the win column.

"There were some first game jitters, but overall our kids played their hearts out," head coach Tim Brandon said.

and that ultimately played a huge factor in getting the win.

The lone score came on an interception return by senior David Burnett with 32 seconds remaining.

Burnett had two interceptions on the night and senior Andrew Trost had the other.

Trost was the Blue Devils' leading receiver with three catches for 18 yards and also had the longest run of the night for 25 yards.

Norsemen drop opener to Hartland

By Bob St. John

A 99-yard interception return for a touchdown by junior LaTorris Greer gave the host Grosse Pointe North football team a brief 6-0 lead in its season opener last week against Hartland.

In the end, the Norsemen fell short 34-12 to open the season 0-1.

"We kind of shot ourselves in the foot in the first half with a couple of fumbles and a bad snap," head coach Frank Sumbera said. "We couldn't get rolling for some reason."

Hartland scored the next four touchdowns to build a 28-6 halftime lead. The home team was able to get a second touchdown in the second half when junior Jared Jordan scored on a short run.

Another positive was the play of sophomore quarterback Bjorn Bjornsson.

"B.B. wasn't rattled and completed about half of his throws," Sumbera said. "He did a good job and he will get better."

North was playing on its newly refurbished turf and gets a full week of practice before hosting Roseville, a 47-0 winner over Eastpointe East

Detroit, in its Macomb Area Conference Blue Division opener at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 3.

"We had only a day or two of practice on our new turf before the game, so it will be nice to get on the field for a full week before hosting a good Roseville team," Sumbera said. "It will be a tough game."

GROSSE POINTE SOUTH

Girls, boys excel

The Grosse Pointe South girls' cross country squad opened the 2015 season racing to victory at the 14-team St. Clair/Marine City Invitational.

All seven of South's varsity runners placed in the top 14 in the 89-runner field. South senior Anna Piccione led from start to finish through the 5,000 meter course at East China Park.

Piccione's winning time of 19:20 was only 12 seconds off the meet record set by Leah O'Connor in 2008 (19:04).

"The course at East China Park is tough — trails, hills, open fields — Anna set a great tone for our team," head coach Steve Zaranek said.

South's next four runners all came in within 8 seconds of each other with sophomore Abby Hurst placing 3rd at 20:55, senior Maddie McDonnell 4th at 21:01, senior Natasha Boelstler 5th at 21:002 and junior Reanna Raymond 7th at 21:03.

"Our main goal was to stick together. Help each other. Push each other," Zaranek said. "Our varsity girls followed this goal very well."

Also earning top 15 medal positions were junior Katie Kuhr (11th at 22:04) and sophomore Leah MacDay (14th at 22:25).

The boys finished second behind St. Clair. They finished with 94 points and the top six runners each finished with a solid time.

Running for the Blue Devils were Earl Allard, sixth with a time of 17:46; Matt Wholihan, 16th with a time of 18:28; Griffin Murray, 21st with a time of 18:55; Ethan Sloan, 27th with a time of 19:08; Justin Vorhees, 28th with a time of 19:09; Kurt Huebner, 33rd with a time of 19:42; and Cole Teranus, 36th with a time of 19:45.

GROSSE POINTE NORTH

Scarfone at the helm

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The new head coach of Grosse Pointe North girls' swimming and diving team is Alison Scarfone.

She takes over for Mike O'Connor, who died earlier in the year.

She grew up in Grosse Pointe and swam for USS Swimming Pointe Aquatics since she was 8 and Lochmoor Country Club in the summers through age 18.

She attended Grosse Pointe North and swam for O'Connor both at Pointe Aquatics and at North. She also swam for Kevin Hafner at Lochmoor Club.

"I decided to play Division 1 softball in college for the University of Detroit Mercy on a full ride academic scholarship," Scarfone said. "I taught swim lessons at the Grosse Pointe Pier Park when I was 16 and I started coaching swimming when I was 19 at the Grosse Pointe Farms Pier Park and coached until I was 21 there."

O'Connor asked her to coach with him at North that fall at age 21 and she coached as his assistant for 10 years.

"I was asked on several occasions to coach with the Gators USS swim program and Pointe Aquatics," she said. "I have a special heart for high school swimming. I am going on my 11th season at North High School and first as head coach."

"Mike was a mentor and friend of mine. He saw the passion that I have for helping others reach their goals, my positive spirit and motivating energy."

"After Mike passed and I visited him in the hospital, an important realization came to mind: A life dedicated to helping others is a life well lived."

"Through the summer of grieving, I realized that the kids deserved a sense of consistency and positivity that I knew I could continue to bring as head coach of the program. The swimmers and divers at North are an amazing group of kids and they deserve a great season after suffering the loss of a great coach and swimming legend in our community."

"We have an outstanding group of girls and boys at Grosse Pointe North. I apprenticed under a coach who has had several swimmers become college athletes, All-Americans and even an Olympian gold medalist and world record holder."

"My main goals this year are to make sure that these kids improve in their swimming abilities and train very hard, while continuing to instill in these swimmers and divers a deep sense of compassion for others, commitment, leadership and sportsmanship. I have extremely helpful and supportive swimming and diving parents," she said.

"There has been an outpouring of people from the swimming community helping this program: Tom Mulhern (diving coach for 20 years), Fred Michalik (volunteer coach and two granddaughters on the team), Tim DeCoste (volunteer coach), Nick Valice (assistant coach) and Kevin Hafner and Tony Rennpage, some of Mike's closest friends have been helping the program in such a positive way along with Mike O'Connor Jr. and Maureen O'Connor."

"The Pointe Aquatics community along with Kate Murray, Laura Huff, Teresa Bennett, Brian Shelson and the rest of the administration and athletic staff at North High School have been extremely supportive as well."

Her first meet is Thursday, Sept. 3.

Norsemen off to nice start

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The Grosse Pointe North girls' cross country team ran in its annual Alumni Run Aug 20.

"This is our first trial race where we challenge any and all alumni of North to race us, boy or girl," head coach Scott Cooper said. "We had a good number of alumni show up for the challenge, but we defeated them 28-31. It was close this year since we allowed the boys to run against us as well."

"Liggett also comes to this race and we defeated their girls 24-35. Liggett's team has improved year after year and has turned into a great rival."

Top runners for the Norsemen were Lauren Sickmiller, Michaela Cosgrove, Alaina Streberger, Katelyn Carney, Rachel Sexton, Kate Wozniak and Chloe Bigwood.

"Our team should be greatly improved over last year's team now that our young runners are now veterans and ready to step it up," Cooper said. "Along with some new young blood on the team, we should see a lot of success this season."

In other recent competition, North ran against

Warren Mott, coached by Cooper's fellow teammate from North in the early 80s, Mark Urquhart.

North won 19-44, improving to 1-0 overall as its top runners were Sickmiller, Cosgrove, Streberger, Carney, Wozniak, Erinne Lubienski and Rachel Sexton.

"Erinne was the one difference in this race from the last bumping into the top 7," Cooper said. "Lubienski is our goal queen, always working on her goals, figuring out what she needs to do, helping others decipher their goals, and leading others in achieving those goals. She is often used as an example of what to do."

"We are going to have a nice group of varsity runners fighting it out for those top spots all season. This makes for some great, healthy competition."

RIVALS

Kotas' goal is enough

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe North and host Grosse Pointe South boys' soccer teams played another nail-biter last weekend.

Both teams had great chances to score, especially in the final 10 minutes of the second half.

However, it was South's Ryan Kotas who scored the lone goal early in the first half of a 1-0 win in the rivalry game against North.

"It was an entertaining game and our boys played very well," South head coach Francesco Cilano said. "Both of us had good chances to score and I wish we could have scored another one to give us a little breathing room, but in the end it is all good."

"We gave it our best shot and just came up a goal short," North head coach Eric Vanston said. "We really pushed hard in the final 10 minutes and had some great shots on goal, but their goalie came up with the saves."

Cilano has only a few seniors, led by captains Jackson Rosati, who was another top player in the game, Garrett Weidig and Zach Stanczyk. The other seniors are Seth Carolan, Ben Matheson and George Stanton.

Kotas leads the junior class. He is joined by Clevenger, Oliver Livingston, Evan Sutherland, William Mouwad and Nick Etsios.

The sophomores are Joey Erickson, Conor Garvey, Anthony Frasier and Sebastian Simon, and the freshman on the varsity are Griffin Clevenger, Matt Moran and Humza Mohsin.

It was also the Macomb Area Conference White Division opener for both teams.

Grosse Pointe South is 1-0 in the division and 2-2 overall; Grosse Pointe North is 0-1 and 0-3.

Liggett results

The University Liggett boys' soccer team had a tough season opener last week against one of the best in Division 4, Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

"Most of our schedule is going to be against good teams like Inter-City, so I guess we will get a test right off the bat," head coach David Dwaihy said.

The host Knights played well, but lost 2-1 with junior Christian deRuiter scoring.

Liggett is 0-1 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.

The Blue Devils lost to both foes, but they used the talented competition to earn their first win of the season, 8-0 over Grosse Ile.

In the victory, Patrick Willard won 6-3, 6-1 at No. 1 singles, while Michael Willard won 6-1, 7-5 at No. 2 singles.

NORTH, SOUTH & LIGGETT

Teams net victories

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The University Liggett girls' field hockey team opened its season last week with a 2-1 win over host Warren Regina.

In spite of the slow grass field, the Knights used its speed and versatility to retain possession throughout most of the game.

In the opening half, junior Emma St. John scored off a penalty corner and senior Allison Stapleton had the assist.

The Knights made it 2-0 at the 21:40 mark of the second half when senior Megan DesMadryl tallied with freshman Kate Birgbauer assisting.

"The entire team played solid and Alexis Kmak and Ellie Withers had a yeoman's game in midfield as playmakers," head coach Jayant Trewn said.

Trewn added his players need to improve their penalty corners as they converted only 1-of-9 against the Saddlelites. He wants that percentage up near 33 percent.

Liggett is 1-0 in the Michigan High School Field Hockey Association Division 2 standings.

North results

The Grosse Pointe North girls' field hockey team put one in the win column Monday evening, beating Wixom St. Catherine 3-0.

"Our chemistry was great today," assistant coach Shelby Stone said. "We connected on a lot of passes, which set up the girls for some nice shots in the circle. The girls played a great game."

The host Norsemen scored late in the first half when junior Rachel Mourad tallied with only 1:01 left.

Junior goalie Sophie O'Hara made a couple of nice saves to keep it a 1-0 game and the margin went to two goals when junior Casey Hedman scored with 12:31 left in the second half.

With only 2:16 left, senior Jennifer Kusch sent a perfect pass to senior Audrey Ajlouni, who buried the shot to complete the scoring.

Last week, North lost 6-0 to Saline, which is one of the top teams in the Michigan High School Field Hockey Division 2 standings.

Grosse Pointe North improved to 1-2 in the MHSFHA Division 2 standings.

South results

Grosse Pointe South girls' field hockey team dominated visiting Ann Arbor Greenhills, winning 6-0 last week.

It was 5-0 at the half and the Blue Devils added another goal in the second half to win their first game of the season.

Goals were scored by Hannah Voytowich, from Carson Dennis and Julia

Gough; Allyson Hartz, from Dennis and Alyssa Czech; Hartz unassisted; Dennis, from Hartz and Gough; Hartz, from Halle Mogk and Dennis; and Voytowich unassisted.

"It was great to get our first win, especially on our home field," head coach Monica Dennis said. "We need to continue to improve our individual stick skills and to move the ball around the field."

South opened its season with a 3-3 tie with Dearborn.

Czech, from Dennis and Gough; Claire Yeamans, from Voytowich; and Hartz, from Dennis, scored the goals.

"For our first game of the year, it was nice to score some goals," Dennis said. "Some goal-keeping errors caused Dearborn to come back for the tie. We will continue to work hard and improve."

The Blue Devils also played on the road against Farmington Hills Mercy and lost 2-0.

"This was a tough game played on grass," Dennis said. "We had many opportunities but were unable to capitalize on any of them, which was unfortunate since we dominated most of the game."

Grosse Pointe South is 1-1 in MHSFHA Division 1 standings and 1-1-1 overall.

Beaumont student volunteers shine

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Volunteering at a hospital is a popular activity among college-bound students with an eye toward medical school.

Michael Sacchetti, a 2015 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School bound for the University of Michigan, has taken volunteering to a new level.

“Michael is off the charts,” said Betsy Schulte, director of volunteer services at Beaumont Hospital, Grosse Pointe. Describing him as “a self starter” and “a sponge,” she said he has taken the opportunity “and run with it.”

This summer marked Sacchetti’s second as a student volunteer at Beaumont. His performance the previous summer earned him the distinction of being the only high school student among six top students selected for Schulte’s pilot physician-shadowing program; the rest are in college. Over the summer he shadowed doctors in cardiology, infectious disease, obstetrics and gynecology, plastic surgery and the emergency and operating rooms.

“Every doctor I’ve shadowed has sat down with me to talk about med school applications and their own path to becoming a doctor,” Sacchetti said.

The shadowing was in addition to his primary volunteer role as operating room liaison between medical staff and patients’ families. He would visit families in the waiting room to update them on surgeries. In the process, he said, “you see the worried look on their faces go away.”

According to Derek Foreman, administrative nurse manager of the OR, the advantage of having a volunteer like Sacchetti is two-fold: it provides an opportunity for volunteers and it serves a need for families.

“The benefit to us is the communication with our families,” Foreman said. “It’s a valuable service and we’ve been very happy with it.”

Student volunteer Michael Sacchetti, center, spent time in the OR under the guidance of administrative nurse manager Derek Foreman and OR nurse educator Ruth Pinto-Cieslak.

“We want our students to feel engaged and valued, but also be useful,” Schulte agreed.

For Sacchetti, the benefit is exposure. “I get not only to help people, but learn about all the programs and what I want to pursue in school,” Sacchetti said. “I get to see it first. Most students don’t have that opportunity. You can picture it and understand it. It’s different from book learning.”

Ruth Pinto-Cieslak, OR nurse educator, worked with Schulte to design the physician-shadowing program. Both Pinto-Cieslak and Schulte hope to expand it to a year-long, multipurpose program.

“Ruth is the driving force behind it,” Schulte said. “I look to her for her guidance. She takes ownership of students and finds out what their interests are and where they would like to take their careers.”

The presence of student volunteers in 20 different departments at the hospital, from the front desk to the ER, along with the physician-shadowing program, give Beaumont the atmosphere of a teaching hospital.

One strong supporter of the physician-shadowing program and mentor to Sacchetti is Dr. Nicholas Gilpin.

“Dr. Gilpin tells me all the time, ‘I love to teach and they love to learn,’” said Schulte. “More doctors are willing to take on student volunteers because they are seeing the impact they are having.”

From Sacchetti’s standpoint, having exposure to the everyday aspect of the hospital has reinforced his desire to pursue medicine as a career.

“I’ve always been interested in medicine since I was a little boy,” Sacchetti said. “What got me motivated to volunteer was helping people. Helping people is the best medicine of all.”

Going above and beyond

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Many student volunteers at Beaumont Hospital, Grosse Pointe are not pursuing careers in medicine, according to Betsy Schulte, director of volunteer services. Madeline Burgoyne, a 2015 graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School, is one of those volunteers. Her interest in math and science has led her to pursue nuclear engineering and physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

While at Beaumont, Burgoyne volunteered at the front desk, the human resources department and physical therapy department at the Neighborhood Club, learning “valuable skills that are applicable to whatever I do.” In the human resources department, for example, she had her own office and was given specific tasks to complete, such as conducting phone interviews

“It felt like a real job,” Burgoyne said. “Working (at Beaumont) has taught me how to conduct myself professionally.” She also grew comfortable working around adults. “They don’t treat you like a kid,” she said.

According to Schulte, Burgoyne clocked nearly 400 hours during two summers and the course of the school year. “She has done way more than the required amount. She has gone above and beyond,” Schulte said.

Burgoyne’s advice to high school students looking to volunteer is not to worry about finding time if it’s something that truly interests you.

“I found time for it. I wanted to make time for it,” Burgoyne said. Even though her high school schedule, which included rigorous academics, diving, jazz band and orchestra, occupied her from morning to night, Burgoyne was committed to finding time to volunteer. Schulte, too, was willing to work with Burgoyne to accommodate her academic and extracurricular commitments.

“You get a volunteer like Maddie with her sunshine personality, you learn to work with her schedule. You have to be flexible.”

Schulte said the door is always open for Burgoyne to return to Beaumont during holiday breaks or summers. “She can always come back,” Schulte said. “There’s always a place for her.”

Reading program hits the fast track

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Steve Tattum, founder of the Fundamental Applications of Successful Teaching reading program, has become a familiar sight to teachers in Grosse Pointe who aim to unlock a love of literacy within their students. He was back in town this summer to conduct a F.A.S.T. training workshop for reading specialists and classroom teachers in the district.

Anne Marie MacGillis, based at Mason Elementary School, and Kathleen McClanaghan, based at Maire Elementary School, are uniquely qualified to attest to the program's success. Not only are they among 10 elementary reading specialists in the district, but they represent two decades of combined experience and serve as F.A.S.T. reading program co-chairs.

"Parents are thanking me," McClanaghan said. "Their child is feeling successful; they can read. They're excited about reading."

Implemented in 2007-08, F.A.S.T. has been used by approximately 1,300 elementary students in 10 elementary schools. To date, more than 130 teachers have taken the beginner and/or advanced level of the F.A.S.T. workshop, with founder Tattum conducting the training.

According to McClanaghan and MacGillis, many students "graduate" from the program and go on to be successful in the classroom. Moreover, there is no stigma to the program. While it provides support to struggling readers, it is known as a "Reading Club" and students are members of the general education population.

The program "changes the way you look at everything," MacGillis said. "I don't know how you could go through the training and not apply it. For one-third of kids, reading isn't intuitive and this is a really great way to reach those kids."

Prior to the implementation of F.A.S.T., the school district used an eclectic approach to reading instruction. Each elementary school had a reading specialist who provided intervention strategies and in-service training for the staff. Selecting appropriate programs and texts for the students was the responsibility of the reading specialist within a particular school. Intervention programs included Orton-Gillingham, Discover and Intense Phonics, Lindamood-Bell, Guided Reading, Project Read, Whole Language, Soar to Success and Early Success.

The question was raised: what would happen if the district elementary schools consolidated reading intervention strategies into one unified approach?

F.A.S.T. was chosen due to its comprehensive and integrated reading analysis system. District members believed the program supported instruction of the five critical areas of reading identified by the National Reading Panel in 2000 — phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary and text comprehension. According to the Michigan Reading Association, the F.A.S.T. program uses a multisensory approach to phonics instruction with a specific focus on kinesthetic activity where children manipulate letters and sounds on a magnetic board. F.A.S.T. lessons include sound syllable word drills of a particular letter-sound relationship. The drills are rehearsed and then students practice the concepts independently.

A grant from the Grosse Pointe Foundation for Public Education has covered implementation, materials and training. McClanaghan, for example, has gone through the training at least four times, including this summer.

"The most effective staff development is when it's ongoing," she said. "This is part of what makes it so effective."

Children are assessed in the fall and throughout the school year. Some reading issues can be addressed by classroom teachers trained in F.A.S.T., while others require extra support from the reading specialists. Either way the program gives specialists and classroom teachers "a common language," according to McClanaghan.

The goal when the program first began was to recapture "the lost learners." Now, with intervention strategies in place since 2007-08, teachers are able to identify and help struggling readers before any learning is lost.

MacGillis and McClanaghan look forward to starting another school year with the continuation of this program.

"We are fortunate to have the support of the district, the teachers, the administration and the foundation," said McClanaghan.

One reader's story

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Nine years ago, J.T. Mestdagh was "a fifth grader reading at no level," in his terms. "The word 'the' was hard for me. I was concerned because I couldn't read the word 'Men' to go to the men's room. My grandfather used to say it was like I was living in a foreign country."

Then Steve Tattum, founder of the F.A.S.T. reading program, came into town and changed Mestdagh's life. His mother, Kris Mestdagh, who had heard about F.A.S.T. from a friend, took him to attend a workshop late one night after school.

"We sat down and went through the classic flip cards," Mestdagh said. Mestdagh was familiar with those cards, having encountered similar cards from multiple reading programs. "He then put the cards away and said, 'Don't worry, you'll never have to see those cards again.'" Tattum pulled out the magnetic board and went on to complete a full lesson with Mestdagh.

"Leaving that night I felt as if I could read," Mestdagh said. "I was really excited and energetic about it. For my mom, seeing me sitting in the back seat of the car reading street signs was very exciting."

Mestdagh continued to see Tattum and work with him on the F.A.S.T. program for the next five days. After Tattum returned to the Denver Academy in Denver, Colo., Mestdagh's parents found a F.A.S.T. tutor for him on the other side of town. This involved a lot of commuting time and became increasingly problematic with his school schedule. By Christmas break of that year, Mestdagh moved with his mother to Denver for the remainder of the school year.

J.T. Mestdagh, a college sophomore who discovered F.A.S.T. when he was a fifth grader, helped founder Steve Tattum demonstrate the use of the magnetic board during a workshop for Grosse Pointe teachers at the end of June.

Upon returning to Grosse Pointe, he worked with a F.A.S.T.-trained tutor at home for three years, completing all of his studies using F.A.S.T. techniques. By the time he reached high school age, he was able to successfully attend University Liggett School in Grosse Pointe Woods, with the help of some teachers trained in F.A.S.T. He is currently a sophomore at his first-choice college, High Point University in North Carolina.

"The (F.A.S.T.) program has been one of the reasons for my success at school," Mestdagh said. "It's been a helpful tool for me to get through classes and enjoy my time here."

Mestdagh shows his appreciation by giving back to the program. "Steve has been coming to town for seven years now and J.T. has been committed to attending every training," Kris Mestdagh said.

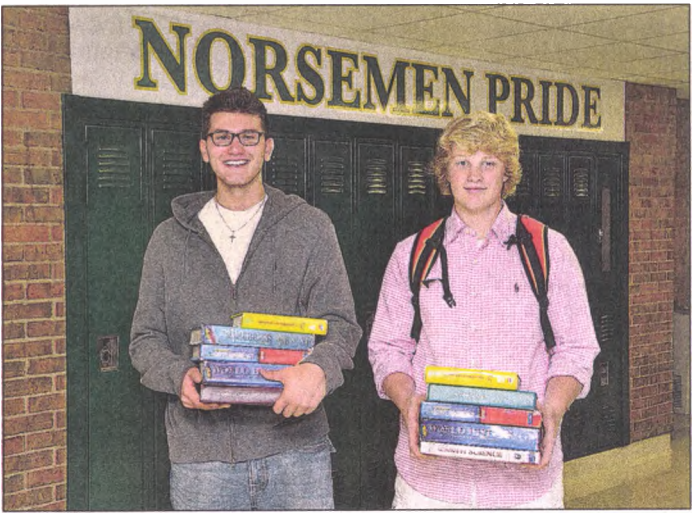

In addition to helping Tattum demonstrate F.A.S.T. techniques on the magnetic board, "J.T. tells his story so that teachers understand what other families and students are going through."
