Park rules coming

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — Some commuters interpret the name of Osius Park literally.

Allegations are they're using Osius' parking lot for car pooling.

"Four or five cars come in Saturday afternoon, go to Comerica Park for a ball game or a concert and have one driver instead of four," said Ted Kedzierski, mayor of Grosse Pointe Shores.

Further allegations cite non-Shores residents letting pets play in the municipal dog park behind city hall.

"The park is for residents first," said resident John Joseph.

His and another residents' complaints near the start of this month's city council meeting Tuesday, Oct. 20, prompted prom-

Theokas honored for service

GROSSE POINTE PARK — Gregory Theokas brought the gavel down Monday night on a long career of civic involvement as he presided over his final city council meeting and begins a well-deserved retirement.

His successor as Park mayor, Robert Denner, formally recognized Theokas' contributions to the Park the past 22 years, beginning with Theokas' relationship with former mayor Palmer Heenan.

"Folklore has it that you were instrumental in getting Palmer Heenan to run," Denner said. "The two of you made quite a team."

Denner spoke of Theokas' involvement with the Grosse Pointe Public Library and how his vision of a municipal campus spearheaded the drive to construct the Ewald branch next to Park city hall. Theokas was appointed to the library board in 1993 and was elected to city council in 1995. He was appointed mayor pro tem in 2003 and became mayor in March 2015.

Also recognizing Theokas' service was Wayne County Commissioner Tim Killeen, who presented him with an offi-

Heartfelt goodbyes in Shores

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — The more things change, the more Councilwoman Kay Felt's colleagues wish her term in office would stay the same.

They gave Felt reluctant farewells during her final council meeting Tuesday, Oct. 20, prior to retiring effective the Tuesday, Nov. 3 election.

"It's a sad day to see Kay at the last meeting," said Mayor Ted Kedzierski. "We've grown together. Kay, we're going to miss you."

Feelings go both ways.

"I thank all council members who are here, members of boards and committees I have been connected with — finance, elections, Ambassador Committee — for all their wonderful work," said Felt, first elected in 2011.

She gave particular credit to city administrators and employees.

"It has been wonderful to work with them and see the extremely good work they do," Felt said. "Thank you all for being so competent and, most especially, being such terrifically nice people."

Felt is a retired health care attorney and former member of the International Joint Commission Upper Great Lakes Study on lake levels.

She isn't seeking a third term due to health reasons.

"Kay, my utmost respect for the last four years," said Councilman Alexander Ajlouni. "You've brought a lot of integrity to this council."

"You've made a wonderful, positive impact on this city," said fellow finance committee member Councilman Robert Gesell.

Felt and her colleagues aren't shy to seek advice from municipal ises of corrective action by elected representatives and city administrators.

"Residents can rest assured that this is a very responsive body," said Councilman Dr. Alexander Ajlouni. "Issues with the park and dog park will be taken care of to, hopefully, everyone's satisfaction."

Worries are heightened by proposed construction at Osius Park of a second pavilion funded privately by the city foundation. The current pavilion is in high demand and is said to become overrun by nonresidents attending private functions, including company parties, hosted or authorized by Shores residents.

"We have to immediately put together clear rules and regulations applicable not only to the pavilion, but to the use of the park — and publish them — so the community knows what the rules are," said Councilman Robert Gesell.

"It is on our agenda," said Councilman Robert Barrette, chairman of the park and harbor committee.

Options include, but are not limited to:

- ◆ enforcement — making visitors show park pass upon each entry;
- ◆ logistics — redesigning the parking lot entrance; and
- ◆ technology — issuing residents-only electronic key fobs to open locked entry gates.

"The technology is there," Kedzierski said. "We should embrace it."

High volume

A total of 41,000 people entered Osius Park during the last two summers combined, according to Councilman Barrette, chairman of the parks and harbor committee.

Although the total includes repeated tallies of a single person making multiple visits, it seems bloated for a bedroom community where many of the 2,500 residents prefer the amenities of private clubs, including the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club next to the park.

"That's a tremendous number of people," Councilman Bruce Bisballe said of the attendance figure.

Suspensions are non-residents account for an undue percentage, enough to usurp parking spots and deck chairs.

Apparent misuse of the residents-only park system seems to peak Fridays through Sundays, according to Kedzierski, a proponent of providing more recreational opportunities for residents.

Unlike municipal parks operated by Grosse Pointe Farms, Park and Woods, the Shores lakeside Osius Park is designed for motorists to park their vehicles in the lot without first showing proof of residency.

"We've chosen at this point to prefer congeniality over security," said Councilman Bruce Bisballe of all residents-only recreational facilities. "At some point, it's going to be a trade-off to showing identification."

"I don't mean to sound like Big Brother, but maybe it's good to know who's going into the park," Kedzierski said.

"You're going to lose congeniality," Bisballe said. "That's the price you pay for privacy."

Safety first

Grosse Pointe Woods had its annual Fire Safety open house Sunday, Oct. 4, at city hall, in celebration of National Fire Safety Week, Oct. 4 to 10. Children and parents watched a smoke house demonstration, learned what to do in case of a fire and more. Children were able to sit in a police car or fire truck, get fingerprinted and have their photos taken for child safety IDs. Shores eyes second pavilion

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — Plans to build a second pavilion at Osius Park are delayed until rules are clarified about usage of the residents-only municipal parks system.

During the Tuesday, Oct. 20, Grosse Pointe Shores city council meeting, discussion about the open-air pavilion, a gift offered by the privately-funded Grosse Pointe Shores Foundation, shifted instead to updating guidelines about park access and management.

"We need to tighten our rules with respect to use of the park," said Mayor Ted Kedzierski.

The parks and harbor committee, normally dormant over winter, will meet to draft rules for entry to the parks and use of their features and amenities, according to committee chairman Councilman Robert Barrette.

"Hopefully, by April 1, we'll have something to give the council for approval," he said.

A proposed second pavilion, smaller than the current one, is among gifts to the city from members of the Improvement Foundation, a private fundraising group.

Its previous donations to the park include, but aren't limited to, a splash-pad and playscape.

Two residents at the council meeting complained about park overcrowding by non-residents and the need to maintain existing facilities before adding new ones.

"We're putting a pavilion in a place that's too small," said resident

Donna Zade. "We already have a pavilion. What is the point of building a second one?"

Priorities should be fixing crumbling tennis courts and a wrought iron gate, she said.

"Your voice is being heard," Barrette told residents. "We were working on some of this already."

The parks committee met the morning of the council session and welcomed the idea of another pavilion, according to Barrette.

"The committee approved it with one exception — location," he said. "This council has to make the final decision. Along with that, we reviewed a number of issues."

The committee's upcoming agenda includes reviewing the park master plan, studying prospective installation of an electronic card-swipe entry system at the park, improving the dog park and drafting pavilion operating guidelines.

Critics claim too many non-residents gained access to the park last summer, clogging the parking lot and usurping the pool deck and pavilion with private and corporate parties.

"We've heard the same stories about parties," Barrette said.

"The park is for residents and residents' guests," Kedzierski said.

More than 50 people signed up to reserve the pavilion this summer.

"Of that, 20 were family functions that I saw," Kedzierski said.

A card-swipe security system being considered for city hall costs $9,000, according to City Manager Mark Wollenweber.

cial proclamation from Wayne County and Grosse Pointe Public Library Board Member Robert Klacza, who recognized Theokas for his dedication to the library system.

An especially touching moment in the public recognition came when Councilman Jim Robson spoke of not only the mayor's dedication to the Park, but also that of his late wife, Justina, who passed away in 2010.

"Justina was a dedicated wife and mother who loved everything about Grosse Pointe Park," Robson said. He went on to talk about walks she would take through Patterson Park, oftentimes stopping by a red Japanese maple tree. In her memory, Robson told Theokas, the Park will be planting another Red Japanese Maple in front of the Theokas home.

"That is the kindest thing you could have done," Theokas said, visibly moved. "She was my partner who guided me through my life."

Theokas was given a plaque to mark the tree that, in honor of Justina Theokas' love of the French language, has on it a French expression that translates to, "I am the poet and you are the poetry."

Council members all expressed their appreciation to Theokas, with Laurie Arora noting Theokas had "some pretty big shoes to fill" when taking over from Heenan.

"Your leadership has been extraordinary," she said.

Dan Grano thanked Theokas for mentoring him and for keeping politics out of council business.

"You kept the council from becoming political," Grano said, "and just operated in the best interests of Grosse Pointe Park."

Theokas thanked the council and the residents.

He said to her, "Throughout the years, your leadership and support were always there."

Municipal Finance Director Rhonda Ricketts worked with Felt on the budget.

"Her help, knowledge and commitment to the city was greatly appreciated," Ricketts said.

A creative outlet

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

Molly Daudlin has been painting since she could hold a paintbrush. During summers off from St. Joan of Arc and Regina high schools, she took painting classes at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

When she went to Wayne State University, she majored in English, "but I took art every semester," she said. "I couldn't deny how much I loved art."

After graduation and getting a job in marketing, Daudlin decided she needed a creative outlet. In 2010, she started the blog "Molly Alone," which centered on fashion, design and art.

"I'd work on it every night for two or three hours," she said. "I loved it. I loved doing the research, loved creating a whole world focused on everything I love."

After two years online and a great response to the paintings she posted, the Grosse Pointe Woods resident was asked to do commissioned pieces, with which she's been busy since 2011. She continued making original pieces as well, which continued to gain attention, and in 2012 her work was featured at VillageFest.

"At the show, people were approaching me from local businesses ... wanting to see my work in their stores," she said. "I still had a full-time job, so it was hard to meet demands."

This summer, however, the 30-year-old worked on original pieces inspired by the deep green summer Michigan foliage.

"It's not really landscapes," she said. "It's focused on color, negative space, a more modern take on a classic subject. It ended up colorful and happy."

Her work is being featured at the new Detroit coffee shop, Coffee and (), at Chalmers and Jefferson.

"It stands out from other work that I see in Detroit," Daudlin said. "Other modern art out there is a little bit darker, more like street-art inspired. Mine is a little more vintage-inspired, mid-century. It's fun and modern."

"What I love about it is that it represents my personality," she continued. "It can easily be hung next to traditional art without overshadowing it, but it also brings a vintage feel."

Other than using art as a creative outlet, Daudlin said the goal of her work is to bring back the appreciation of craftsmanship and the work that goes into fine art, especially to the millennial generation.

"I make sure to keep my pricing affordable in order to appeal to a wider audience and keep the quality of my work high since, for most of my customers, this is their first experience with having a one-of-a-kind handmade piece of fine art in their homes," she said. "In this mass-produced world ... fine art has taken a backseat to big companies. I believe the heart and soul invested (in making art) gets transferred to people who own them. I think that's what revives your soul. It's important to me to support people that are being creative and using their hands instead of supporting the idea of buying mass produced."

Daudlin said she'd like to grow her original work business and so far has found success with her Etsy shop.

"I just launched a new series of original paintings on my Etsy shop ... and the first piece sold within the first 30 seconds of being up," she said.

Theft caught on camera

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — As squirrels do, a career criminal ran out on a limb too many times and fell into police custody.

"Often, people committing crimes develop patterns which help law enforcement solve the case," said Detective Lt. Scott Rohr of the Grosse Pointe Shores public safety department. "In this case, the victim was instrumental in helping because he had a (security) camera set up and happened to be there when (the suspect) came back."

Defendant David

Michael Hult, 47, Hazel Park, was arraigned in Shores municipal court in early October on three counts: breaking and entering, larceny from a building and being a habitual offender.

He's accused of driving a black GMC Sonoma pickup truck onto residential property on Deeplands mid-afternoon Sunday, Sept. 27, forcing open a storage shed and stealing lawn equipment and related items, from a $320 powered hedge trimmer to 2 1/2-gallon container of two-cycle fuel.

The items belonged to the groundskeeper. "The resident had an outdoor camera surveillance system," said Chief John Schulte. "The vehicle, with license plate and facial recognition of the driver, were obtained."

Investigators obtained a warrant to search Hult's residence. "Before we could execute the warrant, which was two or three days, the suspect returned for an additional call," Schulte said.

Hult reportedly drove away when confronted by the groundskeeper.

A Farms officer stopped him on Moross, where Shores officers took him into custody.

"In the truck was property obtained from the first larceny,"

Schulte said. "We obtained a confession."

Police recovered at least one stolen item at a pawn shop in the 32500 block of Gratiot in Roseville.

"He stated the remainder of the property was sold on the street," Rohr reported. "(He) admitted taking the property because he needed the money."

Shores Municipal Judge Matthew Rumora bound him over to Wayne County Circuit Court for arraignment last week.

Hult posted $1,000 bond paid by a third party, according to a Shores court administrator.

According to records compiled by the Michigan Department of Corrections, Hult served:

- ◆ two years incarceration starting in 2012 for unarmed robbery in Oakland County and
- ◆ three months this year in Macomb County for retail fraud.

He's listed on probation through most of November 2017.

Erratic

Reports of a man operating a 2001 Toyota erratically on eastbound Jefferson resulted in his arrest for drunken driving.

During a roadside investigation at 4:37 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 24, a City of Grosse Pointe public safety officer logged the suspect's .28 percent blood alcohol level, 3 1/2 times the state legal maximum to operate a motor vehicle.

Records show the man, 47, Detroit, also being arrested for drunken driving in 2012, police said.

Windows broken

Windows were broken overnight Thursday, Oct. 22, on the doors of two businesses in the 300 block of Fisher.

An employee or proprietor of each company reported the damage early Friday, Oct. 23.

In one, glass was broken near a door handle. In the other, glass was broken on a rear door.

There was no entry, evidence of burglary nor suspects.

Window dinged

Someone shot a BB pellet or comparable projectile at the window of an apartment in the 17600 block of Mack, mostly likely during the day Tuesday, Oct. 20, according to the tenant.

The resulting crack added to similar damage to the window occurring before the tenant moved in.

Bike taken

The victim of a mountain bike theft from behind a store in the 17000 block of Kercheval in the Village Monday, Oct. 19, reported the crime at 8:08 p.m. to a patrolman completing a nearby traffic stop.

The victim said the bike was locked when taken by an unknown white man wearing a gray hooded sweatshirt and black pants.

Police described the stolen bike as an older Trek model, blue with white stripes, headlight and red taillight.

A Farms man, 80, reported last week the theft of four checks used to fraudulently withdraw $49,073 from his bank account.

“(He) stated all the checks were forged,” said a public safety officer.

The victim named a suspect.

Bank officials also are conducting a separate investigation, according to police.

Zoned out

At 4:20 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20, police awakened a 24-year-old Dearborn man slumped behind the steering wheel of a gray 2012 Hyundai Sonata stationary with its engine running and in gear near the air pump of a service station at Mack and Moross.

Public Safety Reports

“He slurred, repeated questions after being answered,” swayed, twitched and complained that police “swooped in” on him, reported one of the officers on scene.

“(His) pupils were pinpoint and did not react to light,” said a patrolman.

A search of the vehicle turned up a briefcase containing five pills: a “zanny,” the man said, meaning Xanax; a muscle relaxer and three doses of hydrocodone, police said.

Officers arrested him for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of drugs.

They took him to a hospital for his blood to be drawn and analyzed at a crime lab for narcotics content.

Parcels pilfered

Two mail-order packages delivered to a house in the 100 block of Merriweather Thursday, Oct. 15, were stolen off the front porch before the owner returned home to take possession.

The shipping company logged the deliveries at 10:59 a.m. and 12:39 p.m., but the packages were gone by 3:30 p.m., the victim told police.

Missing are a package of pants and a Kindle Fire with case.

I.D. theft

A representative of LifeLock informed a Farms man last week that a $700 payday loan was issued in his name by a company in Batesland, S.D. population 113.

The man didn't apply for the loan, he told Farms police when filing a report of identity theft Tuesday, Oct. 20.

Theft on campus

A 16-year-old City of Grosse Pointe girl attending Grosse Pointe South High School reported her gold iPhone and emerald green Mophie case, combined value $250, stolen from her backpack near a school bathroom between 2:09 and 2:16 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 21.

Security cameras are being reviewed for evidence, according to a public safety officer.

Asks for it

A sudden lane change without signaling into the path of another motorist on eastbound Mack near Calvin resulted in the alleged offender, an 18-year-old Grosse Pointe Woods man, being arrested at 4:50 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 18, for possessing one gram of marijuana.

Parent trap

Police alerted Wayne County child care authorities about two drug-using parents and their urine-soaked toddler revealed during a traffic stop a few minutes shy of 3 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20, on northbound Moross at Kercheval.

Patrolman Paul Reygaert pulled over the driver, a 39-year-old Detroit man, for operating a 2002 Chevrolet Suburban with bright lights and illegally tinted windows.

The interior of the vehicle smelled of marijuana, which the driver and female passenger, 36, Warren, admitted smoking one to three hours prior.

“(She) informed (me) she was holding a small amount of marijuana in her bra,” Reygaert reported. “(She) voluntarily gave (it) to (me).”

On the rear bench seat lay their son, 3, unrestrained and partially covered by a blanket.

“(I) observed the child to appear exhausted, soaked in urine through his pants,” Reygaert added.

He arrested the father for violating three driving suspensions and on two misdemeanor traffic warrants from Roseville and Troy totaling $1,250 bond.

“(I) notified Child Protective Services of suspected abuse and neglect due to both parents admitting to being under the influence of illegal drugs, driving while under the influence of same and the condition of the child,” Reygaert said.

B&E

Officers from four departments searched the area of Stillmeadow Lane for a reported burglar Friday evening, Oct. 23, but didn't find anyone.

They tried to find an unknown man reported at 7:12 p.m. trying to slide open the rear glass door of a woman's house.

The woman described the man as black, in his early 20s with tight, short hair. He wore a dark hooded sweatshirt and lighter-colored sweatpants.

Mutual aid came from Grosse Pointe Farms and Woods, plus a St. Clair Shores K-9 team.

Grosse Pointe Shores Lt. William Nicholson tried to seal the area by stationing backup at the intersections of Lakeshore and Crestwood, Lakeshore and North Edgewood and Moorland and Van K, with additional units “roaming the area,” he reported.

“(The) K-9 began a track, but never got a scent beyond the immediate area of the yard of the house in question,” Nicholson added. “There was a set of tire prints on the grass, just off the driveway, which may or may not be involved.”

GROSSE POINTE NEWS MISSION STATEMENT

To provide the Grosse Pointes the most relevant, accurate and timely information in our print and online publications.

OUR VIEW

Drivers, treaters be on the lookout

A flood of ghosts and goblins will take to the streets Saturday night for Halloween. Drivers and trick-or-treaters need to exercise extra caution when making their way around the Pointes.

Children should cross at corners and use sidewalks or paths. Drivers and walkers should leave the cell phones alone and concentrate on staying safe with a high volume of traffic.

Trick or treating in the Village is 2:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30.

The annual event runs to 4 p.m.

Trick or treating in the Village is cosponsored by the Grosse Pointe City Downtown Development Association and the Grosse Pointe Parks and Recreation Department.

In addition to merchants handing out candy, Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library give away free books.

Halloween trick-or-treating in the City of Grosse Pointe is limited to 5:30 to 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 31.

There are no limits in Grosse Pointe Farms or Shores.

In both Grosse Pointe Woods and Grosse Pointe Park, the same hours apply for Saturday, 5:30 to 8 p.m.

Be safe and enjoy the night.

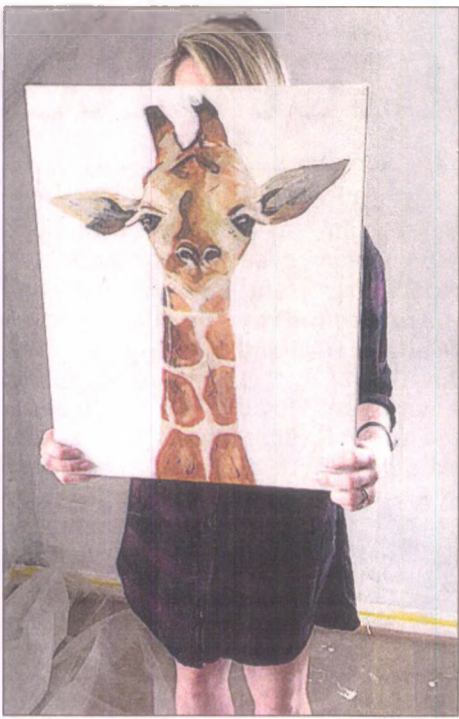

Election coverage

The Grosse Pointe News will go to press before final election results are available Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Preliminary results will be posted as soon as they're available at grossepointenews.com and then a follow-up with final results will be in the next edition of the Grosse Pointe News.

Fall back

At 2 a.m., Sunday, Nov. 1, the clocks will fall back one hour. Don't forget to adjust any clocks, watches, appliances and old-time VCRs. Unless you're in the majority of letting it blink all year.

LETTERS

The Grosse Pointe News welcomes your letters to the editor. All letters should be typed, double-spaced, signed and limited to 250 words. Longer letters may be edited for length and all letters may be edited for content. We reserve the right to refuse any letter. Include a daytime phone number for verification or questions. The deadline for letters is 3 p.m. Monday. Letters to the Editor can be e-mailed to jwarner@grossepointenews.com.

Falsehoods

This is a response to the recent letter which reported that 86 percent of Planned Parenthood revenues come from abortion. We respect everyone's right to choose "Choice" or "Pro-Life" and we respect people who choose not to support Planned Parenthood.

However, it seems that before you print a letter like this, you might do some basic fact checking. Abortion services and abortion revenue are a very small percentage of Planned Parenthood, both in Michigan and nationally.

These inflammatory distortions generate outrage (understandably so) and obscure the much larger mission, which is women's health, family planning, health screening, contraception, and serve the less fortunate men and women on a needs based pay scale.

We feel newspapers and mainstream media should be judicious even when reporting or printing a personal opinion which includes outrageous falsehoods.

ANNE & JOHN ROBERTS
Grosse Pointe Farms

Missed point

Last week's guest opinion writer asked readers to scrutinize stats without bias, claiming that skewed and lopsided statistics were used to make a case against Planned Parenthood; then the writer proceeded to contort statistics to serve his purpose. He acknowledges the morality and legality of the abortion issue is (sic) contentiously debated in our wonderful free-speech society. Indeed.

The guest opinion misses the point. People do not have an objection to centers providing health resources for women, especially for the needy and impoverished. The paid letter urged community support for the redirection of Holiday Mart funds to community health centers that provide for the health of the woman (mammograms, PAP tests, testing for HIV and STDs, and more). These centers not only provide for the health of the woman, but if she is pregnant, her growing child in utero as well.

Substantial and reasonable suspicion has been cast on Planned Parenthood about its abortion practices. Does it illegally sell aborted baby parts to medical labs? Is there a fear, as stated by one of its national directors, of fall-out from its practices which might result in negative newspaper headlines?

The bottom line: It is intellectually dishonest to claim there is no difference in the services offered by women's community health centers and Planned Parenthood. Given a choice, people of conscience do not support an organization that terminates the lives of the unborn and sells baby parts for profit, or even to cover costs. Fact checking does not change the essential difference noted in the paid letter: women's community health centers and Planned Parenthood are not equally worthy of funding.

Ask them

While plans are being finalized by city officials to build a multi-million dollar fresh water treatment plant, there has been virtually no public debate about the need for this project from the five candidates seeking a seat on the Park city council.

Park officials have repeatedly endorsed building a new plant on the auxiliary parking lot of Windmill Pointe Park and will soon unveil a $25,000 engineering study that will almost certainly say the project is feasible. They argue it would put a brake on escalating water bills for local residents and businesses by ending the Park's purchase of treated tap water from Detroit.

But the facts contradict that assessment.

For the past 11 years, the average percentage cost of Detroit tap water has accounted for only 15.5 percent of Park water bills. Compare that with the average cost of sewage disposal for the same time period (2004-2014) of 24.3 percent.

The remaining balance of our water bills, 60.2 percent, has nothing to do with what Detroit charges for its tap water. This figure represents all of the charges applied by Park officials, including operation and maintenance (11.8 percent), general administration (13.2 percent), depreciation (9.5 percent) and a whopping 25.6 percent for operating income, which includes paying off existing revenue bonds for the Park's storm sewer separation project.

There is no guarantee that water rates will go down or be less than Detroit's charge for fresh water, which city officials concede is of high quality. Instead, the Park council should plan to spend significant sums in the coming years for replacement of our aging water and sewer lines, most of which have exceeded their 60-year design life.

Before you vote on Nov. 3, ask council candidates why they think it's a good idea to segregate from the Park from the Detroit system, when, on average, water compromises only 15.5 percent of our total water bill. To request a copy of our charge, e-mail Lou.m@comcast.net.

Two officers continued canvassing the area "with nil result," Nicholson said.

Drunk

Police arrested a 20-year-old Harper Woods man on west-bound Vernier at Michaux Lane at 12:29 a.m. Monday, Oct. 19, for drunken driving.

He had a .195 percent blood alcohol level, reported a patrolman investigating him for speeding a 2001 Cadillac with a broken taillight.

A 60-year-old male passenger from Detroit took responsibility for an open container of liquor in the vehicle. Police cited him and drove him to a bus stop on Harper and Vernier.

A student at Parcels Middle School left her iPad with her lunch box near the door of the school during lunch recess Friday, Oct. 23. When she returned, her iPad was missing. Police will review school surveillance videos.

Lock your cars

At least two vehicles parked on Hampton were entered sometime overnight Wednesday, Oct. 21, and both were ransacked. One, a van, was found with both doors open and a smashed pumpkin on the front seat.

Bench damaged

The owner of a hair salon on Mack reported to police that sometime overnight Sunday, Oct. 25, an unknown individual vandalized a decorative bench in front of her salon.

Discourteous diners

An employee at a restaurant on Mack reported to police that at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20, four men, ages 18 to 20, came in and ordered food. When the food arrived, one of the customers told the waiter he didn't want it anymore and was not going to pay for it. The waiter offered the man a carryout container, but told the customer he still had to pay for the dinner. The other men ate their dinners. The men left the restaurant and while three of the four paid for their dinners, the fourth did not.

However, one of the customers paid with a credit card and that name was turned over to police. They continue to investigate.

Richard students design safety ads

Second-graders from Richard Elementary School created Halloween safety ads for this week's Grosse Pointe News. Representatives from the paper met with the students to teach them about the process, talk about their roles at the paper and to answer questions. Questions ranged from production to editorial to how newspapers are transported to subscribers' homes.

The students divided into groups to design and copy edit their ads. The ads provide safety tips for trick-or-treaters.

"Always have an adult with you when you go up to a house," advised William Murray.

"Stay with your family so you don't get lost," said Kate George.

Star students pack their weight in food

As part of the Kids Helping Kids program, Our Lady Star of the Sea fifth-graders visited Gleaners Community Food Bank Oct. 16. Along with teachers Lin Ascencio and Mary Lynn Neer, they toured the Detroit warehouse and worked together to pack 400 bags full of canned fruit, vegetables, tuna and rice to be distributed to needy children in southeast Michigan. Gleaners distributes those bags to hungry students on Fridays to help fill the gap between meals they receive at school.

"It was extremely eye-opening to hear how many families in metro Detroit don't have enough food to get through the weekend," said parent Maria Nederhood, who helped chaperone the trip. Overall, Star's fifth-grade students packed 2,000 pounds of food, which will become 1,700 meals.

"We weighed the entire fifth-grade class while we were there on a giant scale and they collectively weighed 1,900 pounds, so the kids packed 100 pounds more than their own weight," said Nederhood.

Belle Isle's native plants and the battle against invasives

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

In years past, Belle Isle was home to a nature center, where visitors walked wooded trails to catch a glimpse of wildlife habitats. The Detroit Zoo was housed on the island, too, before moving to Royal Oak in 1956. The Belle Isle Children's Zoo operated for a time, before closing in 2002 due to budget constraints.

These days the Belle Isle Nature Zoo operates at the former nature center and features a variety of critters, including toads, snakes, turtles, fish and salamander. It provides educational, recreational and environmental conservation opportunities for schools, families and community groups. A working beehive, bird observation window and deer encounter are among its offerings.

Outside of the building, the four-acre Nature Zoo site includes a forested wetland. Beyond that, the island is home to a bevy of wildlife and areas conservationists hope to restore to their natural states.

One such conservationist, Melvadean Pearson, has spent thousands of volunteer hours doing all she can to restore the island. Recently she helped design and cultivate the Rotary Nature Garden in front of the island's old police station. The garden includes fox sedge, sneezewood, purple dome aster and other flora natural to the island.

Pearson, who ran the island's stewardship program for six years and helped usher in the Belle Isle Conservancy, said hands of professionals It'll grow through the pavement. You want to stop it before it gets out of control."

Phragmites are cut back, then treated, then burned in the spring. "When it burns down, a week or two later, you see new stuff coming up," Pearson said. "You can't kill them in one season; you manage them."

Treating only happens, however, when there is money to do so.

"Even the DNR has budgets," she said. "They can't give all their budget to one thing."

Pearson, also a master gardener, learned about native species after two years in AmeriCorps with the Department of Agriculture. She said native plants have deep roots that hold them in place.

"There's a whole ecosystem that's important in order for us to be able to enjoy this land," she said. "That's why we built this (Rotary Nature Garden)."

Rotarians who commissioned the garden have plans to build it out around the former police station, but until restoration work is complete on the actual building, out-the island is loaded with invasive species, including phragmites, which grow along more than a third of the coastline. Consultants were brought in to treat it, she said, with water-safe chemicals so not to kill wildlife.

"What you see above ground is only 20 percent of the plant," she said. "You have to treat it so it does a systemic kill. You can't dig it out. Some have 8-foot-deep roots. The best is to put it in the

Progress report

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

The Alliance for the Great Lakes, Friends of the Detroit River and Belle Isle Nature Zoo recently hosted an update about ongoing and new restoration projects on Belle Isle.

The North Fishing Pier shoreline restoration, funded through the National Oceanic Atmospheric Administration's Marine Debris and Great Lakes Restoration programs, included the removal of marine debris in an area adjacent to the pier. The first phase of the project, completed June 2014, included the removal of concrete and the naturalization of 72 feet of shoreline. The second phase includes work on an additional 150 feet of shoreline and should be completed by next summer.

The alliance is working with Environmental Consulting and Technology on the project.

"Our other component is outreach," said Jamie Cross with Alliance for the Great Lakes. "Our goals are to improve the fishery habitat in the shallow waters and to inspire a culture of care in connection with the Great Lakes (through stewardship and education)."

Much work has been done through the alliance's Adopt-a-Beach program, which Cross manages. The program draws on help from volunteers, schools and the community at large.

side work can't be completed.

The building plans — to restore it to its original condition and use as the island's welcome center — also are on hold as the project requires $6 million of work.

For now, the plan is to eradicate the invasive species on the island: honeysuckle, common and glossy buckthorn, purple loosestrife, common reed, reed canary grass, privet and 10 other flora. A $471,000 grant from the Environmental Protection Agency helps.

"There are three or four spots of Japanese Knotweed that are pretty serious," Pearson said. "We walked the entire island and mapped where all the invasives are In three months this summer, 90 volunteer hours were spent in the forest. They should have more volunteers out here working."

Pearson said 3,000 volunteer hours were logged just cleaning up the site of the old police station, cutting trees and removing brush. A lot of help was received from school children, corporations and anyone who wanted to lend a hand.

Pearson said it's important for the island to keep flora native to the island. In the fall, birds eat native plants and the island supports two migratory flyways.

"All kinds of birds come through here," Pearson said. "It's a stopover. You want to promote that, so you want things that are native."

According to the Belle Isle Conservancy website, not only do invasive plants not provide proper nutrition to migratory birds, but they crowd out native plants nutritious for birds. Getting rid of invasive species is important to maintaining ecological balance.

Part of that balance is the island's 200-acre wet-mesic flatwoods forest, which grows in standing water. The trees are used to it, so they grow well, Pearson said. "You need to have some areas that are wet. You want to treasure what you've got going here. It can be something beautiful."

She said while it's important to take care of the area, some of it should be left untouched.

"It's good to have downed stuff — not 10 high, but it enriches the soil and it's part of the food chain. It's a natural area. It can't all look like a managed garden. You can't manage it. Why would you want to?"

The work, she said, cannot be done in a season. Skipping a year here and there due to lack of funding is not good.

That's why the call for volunteers is so important. Stewards are starting to clear up the trail through the forest, but since the stewardship division is not that big, they can't do much.

"It's best to come out to the stewardship days, the third Saturday of each month except December," Pearson said. "If people would come out and help on stewardship days, that's great."

Stewardship Saturdays are set 9 a.m. to noon Nov. 7 and Nov. 21. For information, call the Belle Isle Conservancy at (313) 331-7760.

The Belle Isle Nature Zoo hosts educational, recreational and environmental conservation opportunities for schools, families and community groups.

Conservationists hope Lake Okonoka, above, will see an improvement in water quality and wildlife habitats when it is connected with Blue Heron Lagoon.

"We're connecting people to our Great Lakes resources. We try to do that through place-based activities," Cross said. "A good way to do that is working with schools."

While ECT will remove the seawall and additional debris from the shoreline, volunteers through Adopt-a-Beach are involved in cleanup, too.

"We're trying to target where to work in the park instead of just the beach," Cross said, "because (the beach) is pretty clean these days."

Thanks to the help of 1,058 volunteers who worked 2,849 hours, Belle Isle is less 5,726 pounds of trash this year, including more than 10,850 cigarette butts, nearly 8,000 food wrappers and more than 7,100 plastic bags. Fifty-five percent of collected litter is food related, Cross said.

She also discussed a new monofilament fishing line recycling program, which has five bins around the island. The bins are filling up, she said.

"That's the good news. They're being used, but we're still working on making it a better program."

A second project discussed at the update meeting was the connection of Lake Okonoka to the Blue Heron Lagoon to improve the fishery habitat. The program, headed by the Friends of the Detroit River, includes a hydrologic assessment and pre-design of Belle Isle's interconnected lakes and canals and wet-mesic flatwoods forest. It also includes the design and engineering of improvements to the hydrologic function of Lake Okonoka by connecting it with Blue Heron Lagoon and the Detroit River, along with habitat enhancements along the island's south shore, adjacent to the South Fishing Pier.

The projects are funded from the Environmental Protection Agency's Great Lakes Restoration Initiative. Friends of the Detroit River has partnered with the Department of

Memories of Belle Isle

Belle Isle remains the jewel of my youth. It is the special destination of sun-kissed summer days and happy trips over the Douglas MacArthur Bridge with its unique lamp posts, that would later light our way off the island.

There were wonderful family picnics shared under a shady weeping willow tree near an interior canal, a place all our own. Memories abound of the many activities we enjoyed on Belle Isle. A visit to the children's zoo was a special highlight, since I wasn't able to visit the Detroit Zoo but once during my childhood. The aquarium gave me a view of the creatures of the deep. The conservatory introduced me to the beauty of many species of exotic flowers and the adjacent gardens provided an appreciation of landscape design and elegant ways of displaying local plants. Pony rides were a special treat my parents allowed my siblings and me to enjoy.

When night enveloped the island, my father would dim the car lights to parking lights only and drive through the interior forests on the island. He slowly drove along the winding roads in hopes of catching a glimpse of the docile deer that lived there.

Best of all, the last stop was always the James Scott Fountain. Our family enjoyed the whole experience of watching the colored lights dancing on the water spouts and feeling the cool spray of the water on a hot summer night. Dad and Mom delighted in lifting us up to stand at Mr. Scott's feet, as his bronze image sits in his chair across from the fountain. We always waited until the fountain lights went out and the water stopped flowing. Our day ended by waving and saying goodnight to the fountain.

During the winter months, ice-skating on the frozen canals was so much fun and it was definitely more expansive and adventure-filled than any outdoor skating rink could provide. Drinking a hot chocolate in the pavilion made the day or night complete.

As a teenager, my girlfriend, Carolyn, and I would walk a good five miles to the Belle Isle beach from our eastside homes. If we were lucky, we might find a ride home from people we knew. If not, the walk home was always full of chatter about our time at the beach.

These wonderful memories of Belle Isle have provided a brilliant recollection of childhood days. I also took my daughter as she was growing up to visit the Belle Isle Children's Zoo. This zoo was enlarged in the late 1980s to include many animals that were viewed from elevated walkways. This provided a special experience for her, because she could see the animals at a much closer distance than at the Detroit Zoo.

Belle Isle is a unique park that holds many special memories for me, my siblings and our children. The state of Michigan has done a great job of cleaning up the landscape and restoring the island to its former beauty for this and future generations of Detroiters and out-of-state visitors to enjoy for years to come.

Cheesecake fundraiser planned

Jane's Walk, a committee at St. Michael's Episcopal Church named in honor of the late Jane Bashara, created a labyrinth in the spring open to the public to walk on.

The committee, which does not receive funding from the church, is planning a cheesecake sale as a fundraiser to help finance maintenance and plantings for the labyrinth. Cheesecakes cost $14.50 each and $5 from each sale will benefit the committee. The cheesecakes are from the Cheesecake Shoppe in St. Clair Shores and are available in several flavors, including original, raspberry swirl, strawberry swirl, almond amaretto, fudge swirl, Oreo chocolate, caramel apple and pumpkin. Each one serves eight. Orders and cash-only payments may be brought to St. Michael's, 20475 Sunningdale, Grosse Pointe Woods, by Thursday, Nov. 6. Cheesecakes will be delivered to the church Sunday, Nov. 22, when they must be picked up. They will be delivered frozen and may be kept refrigerated up to five days or frozen up to two months. For more information, call (313) 884-4820.

Tea teaches etiquette, encourages imagination

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

In a world busy with appointments, after-school practices and electronic distractions, Ursula Torp decided an afternoon of old-fashioned tea would be a welcome change.

Her "Elegant Tea with Your Favorite Doll" takes place 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 7, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore, Grosse Pointe Farms. The event invites children ages 7 to 12 to bring their dolls and imaginations to tea.

"It's such a beautiful age when they're playing with their dolls," Torp said. "It's such a short moment in life when they're playing and being imaginative. This is an outlet for taking their doll out somewhere with them, too. So many girls have things that just sit. There are always so many distractions. It's just such a beautiful time in their life to embrace being a little girl with an imagination, being a mother to their doll."

Guests are invited to wear their finest and demonstrate manners during the event, which begins with crafts — items to make and take home for the dolls — as well as a photo area and shopping for doll-related items. High tea begins at 3 p.m.

"Parents can cherish watching the beautiful blend of children expressing their imagination while being young ladies and gentlemen," said Torp, an instructor of etiquette, modeling and talent. "All guests will enjoy flavorful tea and lovely little sandwiches and cookies at the gorgeous setting inside the Grosse Pointe War Memorial."

Torp will share the history of tea parties and tea etiquette, as well as teach the art of folding napkins in a couple different ways — a nice touch for the upcoming Thanksgiving holiday, she said.

Another craft follows the tea, making the event a mix of education and art, Torp said.

Cost for the event is $15 per person. To register, visit gpwarmemorial.org.

"I'm excited about how this is going to turn out," Torp said. "This was designed so Mom has special one-on-one time with her girls, too. Those moments are so important just to sit down and be together."

Roasted Tomato Soup

Saturday is Halloween. There will be no after-school rush to speed feed the little ones before they go begging for treats. Use the extra time to make a pot of tomato soup you can serve to your family as they bundle up for the chilly outdoors.

I had just enough tomatoes left from my third bushel from this fall's runs to Eastern Market. My freezer is stocked with slow-roasted tomato sauce to enjoy all winter long.

You will need a bit of time to prepare this delicious soup, but it will be so worth it.

Roasted Tomato Soup

6 lbs. tomatoes, any variety but cherry

1/2 head garlic
olive oil, salt and pepper
3 tablespoons olive oil
2 cups diced onion
2 bay leaves
2 cups chicken broth
2 tablespoons honey
salt and pepper to taste
1 cup whole milk (optional)

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. Half and quarter your tomatoes and place them skinside down on a greased baking sheet. The pan will be crowded. Brush the tomatoes with a bit of olive oil and sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Place the garlic in a piece of

ASK THE EXPERTS By Milissa Pierce and Beth Walsh-Sahutske

The college selection process

Q: My child just started high school. Is it too early to start talking about college?

A: Chances are you have been talking about college his whole life via favorite sports teams, family alma mater or some cool random mascot. That's great. Now is the time to explore beyond those familiar names to take a casual look at some other convenient colleges. Visit local colleges or some near vacation destinations and take a tour — even if he has no specific desire to attend this school. Students and parents alike can see what it is all about on the inside. Building a soft list of priorities and putting college into a bit more focus will help in the coming years.

Q: My daughter will be a junior in high school this year. We've talked about plans for college, but this is a pretty important year. How do we make the most of our time?

A: Junior year comes with a lot of built-in stress. The best approach is a good offense. Make a blueprint for the year, with academics as the most important aspect. Your daughter needs to continue focusing on doing her best in all of her classes. The high school may already have provided her with a timeline for college planning. If not, search "college planning timeline" and review different plans.

Once you find one (or some) you like, set your strategy. Together, plan from the start when she will take standardized tests like the SAT or ACT, which extracurricular activities or sports she will spend time with and when you can fit in college visits. Make sure to schedule time to meet with your high school counselor to discuss your foil and drizzle with olive oil. Wrap the garlic and place it in the oven along with the tray of tomatoes. Roast both for 1 1/2 hours. Remove from the oven and set aside.

In a large pot, heat 3 tablespoons of olive oil over medium heat. Add the onion and bay leaves and cook for 10 minutes or so, until the onions are translucent. To the pot add the tomatoes and the juices from the baking sheet. Squeeze the roasted garlic from the cloves and add to the pot along with 2 cups of chicken broth. Bring the mixture to a simmer. Cover and cook for 30 minutes or so. Discard the bay leaves, then puree the soup either using an emersion blender or, in batches, a food processor or blender. Return the pot to low heat. Stir the honey into the puréed soup. Taste and season with salt and pepper. For a slightly creamy texture, add 1 cup of whole milk or a bit of half & half or heavy cream.

I thought the soup was good before and after the addition of the milk.

To compliment my soup, I made a grilled cheese sandwich, then used cookie cutters to make a pumpkin and a bat from the sandwich — a little something fun for your trick-or-treaters.

You may also prepare the soup using three 28-ounce cans of roasted tomatoes. Add chopped fresh garlic with the onions to replace the roasted garlic. Just remember the canned tomatoes will have added salt, so make sure to taste before you season.

My roasted tomato soup is delicious. Stir in some fresh basil, parsley or thyme if you wish.

Mary Lois Addy-Sommer

Former Grosse Pointe Park resident Mary Lois "Sis" Addy-Sommer, 95, passed away peacefully Tuesday, Oct. 20, 2015, at home in Clinton Township surrounded by her family.

She was born May 10, 1920, in Howell, N.Y., to Dr. Frederick and Cornelia McCarty. Raised in Wellsville, N.Y., Mary Lois graduated from Marygrove College in 1941 with a degree in social work and married Robert Addy the same year. Robert died in 1983. In 1994, she married Rudolf Sommer.

Her family said Sis was a woman of dignity, honesty, compassion and integrity. Never one to complain, she took everything in stride. Her soft spoken and placid nature did not divulge her exceptional inner strength.

A longtime parishioner at St. Clare of Montefalco Catholic Church, Sis was an avid golfer, enjoyed playing bridge and served as a volunteer member of the Bon Secours Assistance League and the Christ Child Society.

A loving wife, mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, she is survived by her husband, Rudolf Sommer; children, Susan Trout (Harry), Cornelia "Dee" Steiman (H. Robert); Mary Lynn Miller, Charlene Addy and Robert Addy (Karey); grandchildren, Susan Quello Shadan (Farhad), John Trout, Gregory Miller, Keith Miller (Emily), Michelle Steiman, Melissa Lucassian (Rick), Jessie Addy, Monica Addy, Gary Lentz and seven great-grandchildren.

She was predeceased by her brother, Dr. Frederick McCarty and granddaughter, Marian Frame.

She will be missed deeply by family and friends.

A memorial service will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, at St. Clare of Montefalco Catholic Church, 1401 Whittier, Grosse Pointe Park.

Donations may be made to the Capuchin Soup Kitchen or Solanus Casey Center and mailed to 1820 Mt. Elliott, Detroit, MI 48207.

Good Gifts Fair set

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

For the fourth year, St. James Lutheran Church hosts its Good Gifts Fair, a unique artisan market, 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 8. The event gets bigger every year, according to Shelly Thorp, mission coordinator at St. James.

"We do it for the organizations involved," she said. "They will be able to get their message out and make a profit for the people they're representing."

What makes the Good Gifts Fair unique is each of the 17 vendors involved are from fair trade or not-for-profit organizations.

"One of our goals at St. James is to serve the community around us and we are doing just that by giving these organizations a place to further their missions," Thorp said. "Purchases made at the Good Gifts Fair actually make a difference in the lives of people all over the world, from as near as Detroit to as far away as Africa, Guatemala, Palestine and many other places. Some of the hand-crafted items for sale are made by artisans from developing nations and sold through charitable organizations such as Helping Hands Touching Hearts, Hope Endeavors, Pal Craftaid, Maya Works, Buy the Change and Ten Thousand Villages, to name a few. Other items are made by local people at risk and sold through charitable organizations such as Motown Soup, On The Rise Bakery, Donate Life Coalition of Michigan, Song and Spirit Institute for Peace and Cass Community Social Services. Some organizations such as Lutheran World Relief offer fair trade coffee and chocolates."

Items available at the fair include jewelry, wood carvings, hand-woven purses, African art, stained glass, scarves, throws, candles, food items, mosaic tiles, pottery and much more. One hundred percent of the proceeds benefit the charities involved.

"It actually costs us money," Thorp said, adding the church received a $500 grant from the Mt. Zion Lutheran Church Foundation to help host the fair.

"This is a unique ministry for St. James Church," Thorp said. "You can probably find a craft show in this area every weekend from now until Christmas, but you will never find one like the Good Gifts Fair at St. James."

St. James Lutheran Church is located at 170 McMillan, Grosse Pointe Farms, on the Hill. For more information, call (313) 884-0511.

Blue Devils, Knights win titles

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Back in August, head coach Francesco Cilano said to watch for his Grosse Pointe South boys' soccer team when the state playoffs approach.

Last weekend, host South followed Cilano's script to the nth degree after shutting out state power Warren DeLaSalle 1-0 in a Division 1 district championship game.

"We watched tape of the DeLaSalle/Lakeview game over and over again and came up with a game plan to limit their mid-fielders and the boys executed it," Cilano said.

The lone goal came with five seconds left in the first half when junior Oliver Livingston sent a missile past DeLaSalle's goalkeeper.

Meanwhile, the Pilots came inches from tying the game with 14:30 left when a shot hit the far inside part of the post and rolled a dozen feet along the goal line before junior goalkeeper Morgan Clevenger dove on the ball.

In the district semifinals, South blasted Roseville 7-0 as juniors Ryan Kotas and Evan Sutherland had two goals apiece to pace the offense.

Other goal scorers were senior captain Jackson Rosati, sophomore Conor Garvey and junior William Muawad.

Grosse Pointe South improved to 9-11-3 overall.

North results

Head coach Eric Vanston knew his Grosse Pointe North boys' soccer team was up against a state power in a Division 1 district semifinal game last week.

The Norsemen battled host Warren DeLaSalle in

With the loss, Grosse Pointe North finished its season 5-13 overall.

In the first round, North hosted Eastpointe East Detroit and advanced with an easy 8-0 victory.

The Norsemen had eight different goal scorers: Dylan Watts, Alex Kracht, Tom Fitzgerald, Jack Streberger, Kevin Topciu, Matt Hilu, Mikey Carron and Brandon Simone.

The University Liggett boys' soccer team won its third straight Division 4 district championship last weekend, blanking Sterling Heights Parkway Christian 8-0.

It was a 5-0 game at the half as the home team scored early and often to take command. The game was over by the eight-goal mercy rule with 5:50 left in the second half.

"We played very well this week and took care of business," head coach David Dwaihy said. "We have been working hard and I'm pleased with the boys."

Sophomore goalkeeper Anthony George posted another shutout and did not give up a goal in either district game. The defense played well, too.

Three players had two goals, senior Harrison Wujek and juniors Spero Kefalonitis and Christian deRuiter.

Senior Trevor Jones and junior J.J. Jerry had a goal apiece.

Skinny: The Blue Devils battle Macomb Area Conference Gold Division tri-champion Sterling Heights. The Blue Devils' defense has to play like it has throughout the regular season, outside of the games against Romeo and Dakota. The offense should be able to put points on the board.

Blue Devils lose

By Bob St. John

The game meant nothing in the scope of things as host Grosse Pointe South's football team dropped its regular season finale 38-7 to Macomb Dakota last weekend.

"They are a great football team and we had to play a perfect game to beat them, which we didn't," head coach Tim Brandon said.

After a defensive battle in the first quarter, the Cougars put their offensive in second gear and a short touchdown run put them on the board on the final play of the stanza.

They scored a questionable TD in the second quarter to take a 14-0 lead into the half.

Skinny: The Knights battle Catholic League CD Division foe Riverview Gabriel Richard, which runs a spread offense. Eliminating turnovers will be a key for the Knights, as will getting the offense to control the tempo and put touchdowns on the board.

Knights crunched

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The University Liggett football team concluded its regular season with a thud last weekend, losing 35-8 to Saginaw Nouvel Catholic.

Head coach Dan Cimini and his Knights were playing for possibly a home playoff game, but with the loss will be on the road for its Division 7 playoff opener this weekend.

"We played flat and didn't look good at all," Cimini said. "It was a tough game after the big win the week before. We played with no emotion, but I know the boys will be ready for our playoff game. We want to advance."

The host Knights took the opening possession and drove to the Panthers' 10-yard line. They couldn't punch it in for a score and a pass on a fake field goal attempt fell incomplete.

The Knights' defense held their own in the opening quarter, but Nouvel was able to get two touchdowns in the second quarter.

A 21-point third quarter put the game away and the Knights were able to avoid the shutout late in the fourth quarter when junior quarterback Connor McCarron hit senior wide receiver Nick Gawel with a 22-yard touchdown pass.

McCarron ran in the two-point conversion and that was it for the Knights' offense.

McCarron completed 10-of-20 passes for 109 yards with one touchdown and four interceptions.

Gawel and senior T.J. Jackson each had three receptions for 37 yards to lead the offensive charge.

Defensively, Jackson had an interception, while freshman Brady McCarron and sophomore Colin McMann recovered fumbles.

Liggett finished the regular season 6-3.

Norsemen beat SC, but miss playoffs

By Sam Meads
Special Writer

The Grosse Pointe North football team took care of business Friday night by defeating the St. Clair Saints 14-7 on the road.

This win made the Norsemen 5-4 and playoff eligible. However, it was not enough to put them into the playoffs due to not earning enough points.

North controlled the tempo of the game by exclusively running the football.

Sophomore quarterback Bjorn Bjornsson

only put it in the air seven times, completing 4-of-7, two of which went for touchdowns. He threw a 19-yard touchdown pass to senior Tristin Richardson on the first drive of the game.

Senior running back LaTorriss Greer stole the show again for the Norsemen, rushing for 298 yards for the second consecutive game.

Greer didn't reach the end zone, but every time the Norsemen needed a big play to keep a drive going, he came through.

"LaTorriss ran it well and Bjorn made some nice throws," head coach Frank Sumner said.

The Norsemen took a

7-0 lead into the locker room and didn't wait long in the second half to add to it. On the seventh play of the second half, Bjornsson aired a deep ball down the left side to junior Ryan Mazzola for a 54-yard touchdown.

The Saints were able to keep their next drive alive twice after a Saints punt hit a North blocker and was recovered by St. Clair at the North 49-yard line and a fake punt.

The Saints finished the 18-play drive with a quarterback sneak to cut North's lead to 14-7.

North had opportunities to put the game away, but was stopped at the Saints' 6-yard line.

The Cougars scored three more touchdowns in the third quarter to build a 35-0 lead.

They scored on the first drive of the second half and then scored on their next two possessions to blow the game open.

The Blue Devils scored on a 76-yard run by junior Jeff Moore, who finished with 106 yards rushing on nine attempts.

Grosse Pointe South finished the regular season 6-3 overall and up next is a Division 2 district semifinal playoff game at 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30, against Sterling Heights.

Ladies earn MLAC crown

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

University Liggett girls' cross country team is the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference champion for 2015 after winning the division meet last weekend.

The Knights finished with 38 points, just ahead of runner-up Ann Arbor Greenhills with 44.

Head coach Lindsey Bachman, who earned Coach of the Year honors, directed the team to a perfect finish to the season.

Her team was led by freshman Izzy Brusilow and sophomore Annelies

Ondersma, who finished seventh and eighth with times of 20:24.30 and 20:41.60, respectively.

The pack running paid off as the final three scorers were seniors Julia Zehetmair and Madison Jerome, and junior Maddie Wu. They placed 10th, 11th and 12th with times of 21:09.80, 21:15.90 and 21:30.50.

Also running for the girls were junior Sarah Galbenski, Lauren Porter, Lauren McKenzie, Alexis Jones, Kaelan Patel and Tatiyana Wallace.

The boys finished fifth with 143 points. Greenhills won with 36 points, followed by Plymouth Christian with 65, Lutheran Westland with 93 and Lutheran Northwest with 123.

Sophomore Michael Ellis led the team with a 15th place and a time of 18:16.1 and junior Nick Brusilow was 28th with a time of 18:31.7.

Freshman Billy Kopicki placed 31st with a time of 18:57.2 and sophomore Alex Johnson was 40th with a time of 19:28.0.

The Knights' final scorer was sophomore Andrew Loner, who was 47th with a time of 20:10.5.

Others were Tate Kuelling and Andrew Wu.

First round playoff tally

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The University Liggett girls' field hockey team enjoyed a relatively easy 6-0 win over West Bloomfield in the first round of last week's Michigan High School Field Hockey Association Division 2 playoffs.

The host Knights led 4-0 at the half and added two more second-half tallies to win and advance.

Seniors Megan DesMadryl and Molly Murphy had two goals apiece, while seniors Ellie Withers and Allison Stapleton each had one goal to lift the Knights.

Goalkeepers Haley Malewicz and Natalie AliAhmad each played a half and blanked West Bloomfield for a second time in a week.

Liggett improved to 13-3 overall.

host Norsemen lost 1-0, but rebounded two days later to bounce Dearborn 1-0 on a first-half goal by senior Lora Dobbs with senior Jen Kusch collecting an assist.

Dearborn had a tying goal with 11 minutes left in the first half, but the shot outside the box was not touched by another player and therefore was disallowed.

Goalkeeper Sophie O'Hara was solid in net as North improved to 6-7-2 overall.

South results

The Grosse Pointe South girls' field hockey team had a goal to get to the quarterfinal round of the Michigan High School Field Hockey Association Division 1 playoffs.

The Blue Devils, the No. 8 seed, hosted No. 9 seed Novi and lost 2-0.

Head coach Monica Dennis and her Blue Devils came into the playoffs with some momentum, having beat Academy of the Sacred Heart 4-1 and tying East Grand Rapids 1-1 the week before.

However, they couldn't get a shot by the Novi goalkeeper and ended their season 5-8-4 overall.

North results

The Grosse Pointe North girls' field hockey team played back-to-back games against Dearborn last week, including a Michigan High School Field Hockey Association Division 2 first-round playoff game.

NORTH & SOUTH

South girls win MAC title

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The Grosse Pointe South girls' cross country team finished a clean sweep of the Macomb Area Conference this season.

The Blue Devils won the first two jamboree meets and took first in last weekend's MAC Championship Meet.

South won with 78 points and Utica Eisenhower was a close second with 91.

Senior Anna Piccione led the way for South as its top six runners each earned All-League Honors (top 19). Piccione finished fourth overall with a near personal record time of 18:36.

Also earning All-League Honors were teammates Reanna Raymond, 19:23; Abby Hurst, 19:24; Katie Kuhr, 20:20; Natasha Boelstler, 20:43; and Abbey

Guevara, 20:59.

Maddie McDonnell also had a good time of 21:20 to place 24th.

The South boys finished a solid 10th of 30 teams at the MAC Division Championship Meet and sixth in the MAC Red.

Leading the way were All-Conference recipients Ethan Sloan, who had a personal-best time of 16:58, and Earl Allard, who had a time of 17:03.

North results

The Grosse Pointe North boys' cross country team finished fourth in last weekend's Macomb Area Conference Red Division Championship Meet.

Leading the way for the Norsemen, under head coach Diane Montgomery, was freshman William Hofmann, who was 25th with a time of 16:59.

Sophomore Mike Ciaravino was 45th with a time of 17:20 and the duo of senior Ryan Kolp and junior Ryan Race placed 50th and 52nd with times of 17:22 and 17:26, respectively.

Calvin Riley was 61st with a time of 17:40.

Grosse Pointe North's girls' squad was sixth in the Red Division with 123 points.

The Norsemen's top runners were sophomore Lauren Sickmiller, eighth with a time of 19:15; sophomore Kate Wozniak, 40th with a time of 21:07; freshman Michaela Cosgrove, 45th with a time of 21:11; and senior Katelyn Carney, 48th with a time of 21:16.

Next for North and South is a regional meet Saturday, Oct. 31.

NORTH, SOUTH & LIGGETT

A little good and bad

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe North girls' volleyball team played one of its best matches of the season last week, beating host Macomb Dakota 22-25, 25-19, 25-22, 25-23.

"Tonight was a memorable one at Dakota. We came out hungry, aggressive, and determined," head coach Chelsea Brozo said. "Our commitment showed point by point, never giving up even in game 4 after being behind at least 10 points.

"The girls turned the momentum of the gym, fans, and opponents."

The comeback started in game four with senior Lauren Lesha who started her serve 18-23.

Lesha served the 25th point with sophomore Meredith Kraus netting the kill.

Senior captain Erin Armbruster had five solo blocks, five assists and six kills, while senior captain Lucy Dodge had 20 defensive passes.

Junior libero Stephanie

Roy had 24 serve receptions and 19 digs, and junior Mackenzie Simon added nine kills.

Kraus finished with seven kills with three aces, and Lesha had 20 service points.

Grosse Pointe North improved to 4-5 in the Macomb Area Conference Red Division and 15-11-3 overall.

South results

Host Grosse Pointe South girls' volleyball team lost 20-25, 25-23, 25-18, 25-16 to Utica Eisenhower last week.

The Blue Devils clicked on all cylinders and won game one behind senior Kayli Johnson, juniors Lexi Kohut, Sarah Simmet, Kate Satterfield and Emma Andreason and sophomore Chandler Duff.

The Blue Devils couldn't keep the momentum and dropped the next three games.

Kohut led the way with 17 kills, while Duff had seven and Satterfield had five.

Defensively, Johnson, Simmet and sophomore

Lauren Toenjes played well.

Two nights later, South beat Chippewa Valley 25-23, 25-17, 25-23 to improve to 4-5 in the Macomb Area Conference White Division and 12-19 overall.

Liggett results

The University Liggett girls' volleyball team ran up against a red-hot Auburn Hills Oakland Christian squad last week.

The host Knights had no answers for the Lancers' high-powered duo of senior Camille Schomer and junior Alexandra Gudobba and in the end lost 25-17, 25-13, 25-14.

The Knights were led by hitters Emily Kanakry, Rebecca Lohman and Sara Anthony, and the defense of Teagan Cornell.

Earlier in the week, the Knights lost in five games to Taylor Baptist Park.

They won the first two games, but dropped the next three.

The Grosse Pointe South girls' swimming and diving team inched above the .500 mark this season at 5-4 last week, beating Birmingham Groves 112-71 and Warren Regina 122-58.

The visiting Blue Devils won eight events, including All-State senior Claire Young, who took the top spot in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:15.35 and 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:10.80.

She was also a member of the 200-yard individual medley relay which won with a time of 1:55.54. Other members were Renee Liu, Clarice Fisher and Sarah Cauvel.

In the 200-yard IM, Liu and Fisher placed second and third with times of 2:17.23 and 2:17.88 and Caroline Frederickson won the 50-yard freestyle at 25.76.

Rachel Rogers won the diving competition with 152.18 points and Sara Crader was third at 130.07 and it was the duo of Fisher and Abbey Schuetze who placed first and second in the 100-yard butterfly with times of 1:00.87 and 1:02.29, respectively.

Sarah McCabe and Frederickson took second and third in the 100-yard freestyle, turning in times of 57.62 and 57.84 and teammates Ava Boutrous and Brigit Jogan took first and second in the 500-yard freestyle, posting times of 5:22.21 and 5:35.54.

Putting a finishing touch on the victory were the trio of Liu, Cauvel and Jackie DeLoof, who took first, second and third in the 100-yard backstroke with times of 1:02.24, 1:04.33 and 1:04.96.

Against Regina, the 200-yard individual relay team of Cauvel, Fisher, Young and Liu won with a time of 1:58.57.

MCCabe, Schuetze and Roslyn Vern placed first, second and third in the 200-yard freestyle, turning in times of 2:06.87, 2:07.46 and 2:14.32 and it was Kathleen Vern and Olivia Frederickson taking second and third in the 200-yard IM with times of 2:32.35 and 2:36.05.

DeLoof, Caroline Frederickson and Jogan placed first, second and third in the 50-yard freestyle with times of 24.86, 25.38 and 26.69 and it was Crader taking first in diving with 154.29 points.

Liu won the 100-yard butterfly with a time of 1:03.78 and Caroline Frederickson followed with a first-place time of 55.70 in the 100-yard freestyle.

In the 500-yard freestyle, McCabe was first with a time of 5:38.29.

Crader took first in the 100-yard breaststroke with a time of 1:18.13.

The 400-yard freestyle relay, the foursome of Hadley Gordon, Lilly Hampton, Sarah Charbonneau and Nicole Sceglia took second with a time of 4:36.49.

Next for South is the Macomb Area Conference Red Division Meet Nov. 5-7.

After the bell rings

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Long gone are the days when children went home after school for milk and cookies and to play with friends in their neighborhoods.

Today's schools have become that community, providing after-school enrichment activities or a place to do homework and have a snack. Studies show after-school programs offer a range of benefits including improved school attendance, increased engagement in learning and better test scores and grades. After-school programs also keep children safe and support working families.

Extracurricular activities, including sports and clubs, have long been offered at the high school level, but are growing in popularity — and abundance — among elementary and middle school students. Kids Club, offered at all elementary schools in Grosse Pointe, provides a safe place for students to do their homework and enjoy social time with peers. Kids Club is run by teachers, often with the support of National Honor Society students from Grosse Pointe North and South high schools.

Several schools, including Kerby, Maire and Richard elementary schools, offer an exercise/running club called "Fish Flies" run by the PTO. Kerby has several other options as well, including a chess club run by a parent and a golf club operated by TGA, a school-based youth golf program. Maire offers Imagination Station, a free maker space for grades 3 through 5 sponsored by the Imagination Foundation.

"Our mission is to have a space for creative play and to share and connect with the other chapters," said second-grade teacher Sarah Neely, who leads the club. Recently the children participated in the global cardboard challenge, building structures and costumes out of cardboard. "We will be doing lots of other creative design and STEAM-like (science, technology, engineering, arts and math) projects throughout the year," Neely said.

The Grosse Pointe Academy has a host of offerings to suit a range of interests and ages. Enrollment is highest among the age 2 ½ to kindergarten set, according to Jennifer Kendall, assistant head of school for early school education and admissions. "We have found this year we have had everything sell out," Kendall said. "There is a lot of interest."

Among the most popular are arts and crafts and junior chefs.

"We had a waiting list on cooking club before school even began," Kendall said. Arts and crafts was full by the start of school. Both clubs are taught by assistants at the Early School.

Kendall said the clubs appeal to parents because they combine after school care with opportunities for children to be social and creative. "The children enjoy being here and want to stay longer after the school day and enjoy doing things a little different than what they've done during the school day."

Other options at the school include TGA golf, chess club, Detroit Children's Choir, GPA Gourmet for an older set of chefs, Blue Crew — popular among fourth and fifth graders who learn a variety of skills helping out with scoring and concessions at home sporting events — Catholic formation classes and forensics, a speech and debate club.

University Liggett School offers a range of after-school enrichment classes, each typically running six weeks. Fall classes include Young Engineer's Club for kindergarten and first grade, art exploration for grades 2 and 3, soccer for grade 4, choir for grades 3 through 5, Lego for kindergarten through 3, yoga for kindergarten through 5, golf for kindergarten through 5 and chess for grades 1 through 5.

In yoga, for example, instructor Heidi George teaches self-awareness and self-care through basic yoga tools such as breath work, postures, games and time-in.

"I call it 'time-in' rather than 'time-out,'" said George. "It's time to go inside and become aware of how you're being and how you'd like to be. We call it visualization too. It's a great tool for everyone, but kids are really open to it."

Students learn how to move gracefully, breathe smoothly and deeply and sustain their focus and concentration while developing strength, flexibility, balance, mental clarity and emotional stability.

The list of after-school activities at Our Lady Star of the Sea Catholic School is extensive. Students interested in the arts may choose choir, musical drama, talent show or painting classes, soon to be available in cooperation with The Rainy Day Art Company and The Artists' Lounge. Other options are the journalism/newspaper club, noncompetitive gymnastics and dance classes, cheerleading, forensics, student council and Lego club. Safety patrol and altar serving are available for students who seek community service opportunities.

Brownell Middle School has a variety of activities to help with the transition to high school, where participation in extracurricular activities is expected. Students may join jazz band, Zumba or art, book, drama, fashion or yearbook clubs, depending on age and interest. Students also may participate in STAND, or Students Taking a New Direction, which coordinates in-school and community service activities promoting student leadership and positive decision making.

"STAND students are 'upstanders,' not bystanders," said club advisor Susan Fell.
