Area Greets Service Men On Furlough

More than half a hundred members now in the regular services of the country returned home this week on furloughs to be with their families and friends. Many of the young Pointes are being given ten-day furloughs as reward for their work in the recent war effort in which almost all members of the United States participating in camps in Michigan, Little Rock, Texas, Florida, California, Texas, Louisiana, North Carolina and other states the men returned home. According to the local council, the men have remained personnel will be on a 10 days' furlough, half of them of the camp at one time.

The news realizes that many of the young men will need transportation back to the army and it urges all citizens to help them in the motor trips in the days to give the boys a lift. Some of the local loads have so far included: Mrs. Edith G. Bob, Prof. Hank and Mrs. Kline, Tom Gillis, James Beck, Breeding, and Mrs. Frances Brown, John ...

Plan To Beautify Woods Approved By Commission

Association Sponsors Idea of Planting More Than 200 Large Elm Trees Along Four Streets in Village

Having obtained the approval of the Grosse Pointe Woods village commission, the Grosse Woods Association announced this week plans for planting more than 200 trees along four streets in the village.

At an expense of about $430 to each acre, the plan is to plant large elm trees every 40 feet on Fleetwood, Lancaster, Country Club, and Lochester boulevards.

The organization's plan is to beautify Grosse Pointe Woods in the association's own district. William Gray, a member of the Grosse Woods Association, announced that other organizations and residents in Grosse Pointe Woods should subscribe to the additional tree campaign. Residents wishing the elm trees planted on their property at the expense of $430 should contact the Grosse Woods Association. Requests must be made before October 20. Plants will be gone about November 10.

Pointe Loses John B. Ford

Industrialist and Philanthropist Buried in Woodland Cemetery

John B. Ford, noted industrialist and social leader was buried Friday in Woodland Cemetery following funeral services held in his home at 217 Touraine road.

Mr. Ford, who was 75 years old, died Wednesday of a heart attack after a three week illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Ford was the grandson of Capt. John Baptiste Ford, founder of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Works Co., and the Detroit Symphony Company. For nearly 50 years he was president of the Michigan Alkali Company. He was also a director of the Libby Owens Ford Company.

Among his philanthropies were the construction of the Wyandotte General Hospital and the gift of large tracts to the Community Fund and the Detroit Symphony Society. He was a member of the Detroit Country Club, Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, and New York Yacht Club.

Surviving in his wife Helen Sloan's two sons, John B. Ford, Jr. and Frederick S. Ford.

Governor Honors Local Resident

Count Alfred Nieszchorski, of Naylor road has been appointed by Governor Murray D. Van Wageningen as a delegate to the 21st Rivers and Harbors Congress to be held in Miami, Fla., November 13 and 14.

The congress will consider a program of river and harbor development, flood control, marshes, and inland navigation, with special attention to the urgent necessities of national defense.

Count Nieszchorski has always been interested in nautical matters. Educated in the German Naval Academy in Danzig, he was second in command during the first World War of the German raider "Deutschland Wilhelm." He has written a book about his adventures during this period.

He was one of the founders in 1919 of the Polish-American Steamship Line. He is an American citizen and has been a candidate both for Congress and the state legislature. He has been a strong advocate of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway.

250 High School Students Cheer Burlesque Queens

The chorus waltzes and comedienne of the burlesque theater played to a more enthusiastic audience than they did last Saturday night. The reason—more than 250 Grosse Pointe youths attended what they called "Grosse Pointe Night" at the theatre.

Amazed spectators outside the theatre saw a line up more than a block long of kids in saddle shoes at the entrance of Security, the use of screwdrivers, Dixie Sullivan, "the strawberries" bunch, and "the waltzers" and reveal-

News Obtains Latest List Of Inductees

October 28 to Be Next Date on Men From This Area Will Be Drawn

The Grosse Pointe News obtained exclusively late Wednesday the list of names of men most likely to be included in the next group of 100 men to be drawn from the Draft Board 57.

Although the list cannot be considered official because last minute enlistments and appeals may alter the status of several of the drafted men, the News was assured that most of the men will be sent on October 28.

Those scheduled for induction are: Hugh Laing, William Moore, D. P. Hanson, William J. Robert, Paul Ernest Mowen, George Vendrick, Earl Taylor, Albert Workman, Neal A. Kilzert, Harold McCormick, Stanley Gray, C. H. Matson, Louis Renaud, H. L. Engh, H. A. Lathrop, W. L. Heitman, Edward A. Prefitt, Robert Marvin, Charles Reindinger and William Mastromanno.

'Nicest Customer' Robs Two Stores

He was "one of the nicest customers ever" according to workers in the Bundles For Britain, Inc. store in the Punch and build-up.

But he walked off with two pocketbooks, owned by Mrs. Benjamin Patrick of Vendome road and Mrs. Henry McKimley, Detroit, respectively. The women reported the loss to much the loss of the money which makes them mad, but the inconvenience of being used, the radio, compact, lighters and the other things women always carry in their purses. They had been hoping the thief would return them after extracting the money, but they were disappointed when they might be returned to their owners.

The "nicest customer" was reportedly very interested in the socks and woolen goods the store has for sale. When the sales woman turned his back he evidently became more interested in the purses which were lying about.

He was arrested after a three week illness of pneumonia.

City Police Pistol Takes Second In Matches

A Grosse Pointe City police two-man revolver team won second prize in its class at the annual Michigan police shooting match held last week in East Lansing.

Competing from Grosse Pointe City was Chief Thomas Trombly and officers Clarence Blinn, Andrew Mieschen, and Arthur Witeknek won second place in Class D, a division composed of officers from a department with less than 21 men.

ROTARIANS HEAR BAKER

E. A. McFall, head of the public relations department of the Industrial National Bank, was the speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting in the Whittier Monday afternoon. His subject was "How Is Your Scene Home?"

Death Claims Two Elderly Residents of Pointe City

Death claimed two elderly residents of Grosse Pointe City last Saturday.

Mrs. Mary DeLude, 61, of 408 Cedarwood road died in the Bon Secours home following a liver ailment. Burial was Wednesday in the Holy Cross Cemetery.

Guiseppa Giorno, 71, of 759 Washington road died earlier in the day also after a long illness. Burial was Tuesday in the Mt Olivet cemetery.

Symphonists Dispute Settle Season Starts Tonight

Detroit's symphony season will get under way tonight, as originally planned, despite all the threats that have occurred during the week.

Everything has been ironed-out according to a statement from the symphony headquarters, and tonight's concert will be conducted by Leopold Stokowski.

Stokowski Temple by Bruno Walter will be given its first performance in his hotel room writing his memoirs while the orchestra members attempt to cope with the problems of a highly complex technological world.

Grosse Pointe Townships Tax Rate Will Be $16.89, or Cent Less Than In 1940

Assessed Valuation in Township Shows Increase of $2,100,000

The Grosse Pointe Township tax rate for 1941, inclusive of the assessments of the school board, county, and township, will be $16.89 per $1,000 assessed valuation—a reduction of one cent over last year's rate. It was announced Wednesday by Norbert Denik, township supervisor.

The reduction is probably the result of general saving this year of election cuts in the township. The township assessed valuation of one cent over last year's tax rate, it was announced Wednesday by Norbert Denik, township supervisor.

The general assessed valuation of real estate and personal property in the Township increased more than $2,100,000 over last year's. This year because all the equipment and supplies have been taken from the township.

Valuation Increases

The general assessed valuation of real estate and personal property in the Township increased more than $2,100,000 over last year's. This year because all the equipment and supplies have been taken from the township.

11 Candidates Seek 11 Jobs On City Ballot

All candidates who filed nominating petitions for office in the November 4 election in Grosse Pointe City will be unopposed for their posts. It was revealed this week by Murray H. Ferry, city clerk.

Eleven offices were up for election and eleven men made application for them. Ten incumbents and one new man will be officially elected in November.

Edward Spittler, present Commissioner, did not file for reelection but John H. Mack, of Lochland road, filed a petition which will be elected for a term of four years. The remaining three commissioners will serve for two years.

The incumbents who filed were: Donald P. Rumney, mayor; Norbert Denik, commissioner; G. O. Gaudet, treasurer; Neil Bell, assessor; Chester F. Carpenter, Dr. Hugh H. M. Ferry, Dr. W. Walter C. Hartling, Ralph B. Netting, Cornwallis; Charles H. Locke, constable.

The voting booths will be in the fire hall on Manumee, between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock.

All people wishing to vote must be a resident of the state for more than 6 months and a resident of the district for 20 days. Citizens who wish to vote must either have voted in Grosse Pointe City in the last two years or register in the clerk's office before Saturday, October 25.

Arthur Johnson Made Park Sollen

Arthur P. Johnson, 653 Tremont road, was appointed Commissioner of Public Health in Grosse Pointe City last Monday.

Johnson was appointed by the decision of the board of commissioners in that village Monday afternoon.

Mr. Johnson was sworn into office at the meeting. He will take the post vacated by Commissioner Charles E. Frick who has been appointed Commissioner of Public Works, the former office of Selective Service Army, which he resigned his position two weeks ago.

James F. O'Hara Scheduled to Be Inducted Into Army

James F. O'Hara of 854 Rivard boulevard son, son of Chester P. O'Hara, special prosecutor for the gambling-graft grand jury investigation, will be inducted into the Selective Service Army this morning, his downtown draft board announced last week.

O'Hara hopes to serve with the U. S. Army in the division. He served six months last year as a clerk with the grand jury and will be sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation after his term of service with the Army is completed.

O'Hara was graduated from Hillside College in 1939 and was a member of the Delta Psi Delta fraternity while there. He is 34 years old.

Rep Women to Hear of Conditions in England

The Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe will hold its first fall meeting in the Neighborhood Club at 230 L'Anjou next Monday afternoon, October 20.

Capt. Don Leonard, Defense Counsel for the State of Michigan, will address the group on the subject of "Preparing For Civilian Defense."

Captain Leonard was a member of the committee of five which was formed by the government to study conditions in England.

Youngster Falls 30 Feet and Isn't Even Injured

Four-year-old Tommy Campbell of 183 Lakeview was one of the luckiest little boys in Grosse Pointe this week.

Thursday Tommy was playing on the top of an upstairs window pushed the screen out and then probably looked out to see where he fell.

Plop! Tommy fell 30 feet. He was rushed to the Grosse Pointe Cottage hospital where a check-up revealed by it all.

Legion Women Will Install New Officers

In observance of Navy Day, Ragan-Lide Auxiliary No. 13 of the American Legion is having a Veterans Day Luncheon Program Monday, October 30 at 12:15 o'clock, which will be held in the commercial divestment of the Legion building which will precede the installation of officers for the year.

Mrs. Fred T. Murphy, Ragan-Lide's president, announced, will preside at the luncheon.

Immediately following the luncheon, officers of Ragan-Lide Auxiliary will be installed by Bragady Unit Installation Committee for the year are: President, Mrs. Donald Melville; 1st Vice Pres. Mrs. Ward H. Becker; 2nd Vice Pres. Mrs. Gordon MacEdward; Recording Secretary, Archibald MacFarlan; Treasurer, Mrs. Alton T. Roberts; Corp. Secs. Mrs. Alfred Whittaker; Chaplain, Mrs. Alvin W. Hangerford; Historian, Mrs. Wm. Sheppard; Sergeant-at-Arms, Mrs. Paul Lipkowski; Executive Committee: Mrs. F. Marian Barker, Mrs. H. Aarons and Mrs. O. O. Rex.

Special Column For Service Men

Believing that a column devoted to the boys from Grosse Pointe area who are serving Uncle Sam in the country's armed forces, would be of great interest not only to those in the service but to their parents and friends here, the News will give a vote space to such a column, whenever materials furnished.

Approved and studied by Ward S. Van Deusen, Commissioner of Public Safety, and Byron J. Rockwood, vice manager, the Kelly law will be put into operation October 27.

Constant Fined; Appeals Decision

Gus Constant, who was fined $55 Friday for violation of a Grosse Pointe Park restaurant ordinance, has had his appeal to the Wayne County Circuit court, it was learned this week.

Constant's case may be the first imposed by the court, but was released on a $300 bond pending a decision by the appeal court. The case may be heard in two or three weeks.

Republican Women to Hear of Conditions in England

The Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe will hold its first fall meeting in the Neighborhood Club at 230 L'Anjou next Monday afternoon, October 20.

Capt. Don Leonard, Defense Counsel for the State of Michigan, will address the group on the subject of "Preparing For Civilian Defense."

Captain Leonard was a member of the committee of five which was formed by the government to study conditions in England.

Schools Aid Stamp Sale

Total of $1,184.35 Sold in Local Institutions in First Month of Drive

Sale of defense saving stamps in seven elementary schools and two junior high schools and one senior high school, netted over $1,184.35 in the first month of the campaign.

Due to unusual heavy back to school expenses, the sale did not get under way until about mid-September.

Programs and radio sets are being given to stimulate the sale of stamps. Posters conceived in the art departments, picture the need of defense saving.

The Board of Education, at its regular meeting, voted to purchase an additional $100,000.00 in Defense Bonds, bringing the total sale to $50,000.00 for the Building and Site Sinking Fund.

Maximum Benefits Sought From New School Building

This objective is further defined by breaking it down into three divisions. First, the group hopes to use the shops as laboratories for exploring occupational possibilities.

The second objective is to provide some specific vocational training which will be determined after a careful survey of occupational possibilities in this region for which high school vocational training will be youth.

The third objective is to relate technology to college preparatory work. The group emphasizes the fact that this planning has to do only with the industrial arts complex and does not apply particularly to the commercial divestment of the fine arts division which will also be housed in the new building.

A Glowing Tribute

Every man running for office in the elections to be conducted in the City of Grosse Pointe November 4, is assured of victory. Of the 11 seeking positions, 10 are incumbents. One new candidate for council is taking the place of a present member whose business will not allow him to run for public office again at this time.

Undoubtedly this situation constitutes a glowing tribute to the men who have been carrying on the government in the city. That the voters are satisfied with the administration is amply demonstrated.

Many of these men serve without pay, and the fact that they are willing to continue to do so for the benefit of the community in such a satisfactory manner is something for which the city should be thankful.

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

Believe it or not, we got a fan letter last week. The dear anonymous writer queries, "Why is your column getting shorter and shorter?" We take splendid pleasure in answering that it's because our editors are getting longer and longer. We manage to get a paragraph in sledgehammer but we can't keep it there. We're as surprised as anyone to find most of our brain children on the cutting room floor.

We know it's rude to snare up on town cars and peer into the plush part to see who rides in such elegant style, but we can't help it. After all a girl has to have some vice besides drinking Coca-Cola. So, yesterday, spotting one parked for a red light, we crept up alongside it, but before we got into peeping position, we saw a lovely, youthful, and beautiful pale blonde burst into the window. We watched, fascinated, while the hand tossed away a wad of gum that would have choked Man of War.

A woman who moved here with her family a couple of years ago, tells of an experience she had at one of the local food shops during a time when she was an important member. Someone had told her about the place and finding she liked it, she continued doing her marketing there. As is the custom in close-knit towns, the owner of the store got to know her and they passed the usual pleasantries each morning when she came to do her shopping. Time elapsed and instead of tripping to the market, every day, she'd go about once a week. On one of her weekly visits to the shop after she hadn't seen the neighborly owner for quite some time, she was busy mulling over a stack of canned goods, when the little man walked up to her, looked her over and said chirpily, "Well, well, Mrs. Blank, we're doing very well aren't we?"

The death of Helen Morgan will strike a sad note in the neighborhood, for she was well liked by her fellow workers. We remember that years ago she was chosen as a show girl for the Ziegfeld Follies, but after re-examining a review, she was "let out" because she couldn't walk in time with the music! About a year later, she got a job singing two songs in "Americana." It was there that Ziegfeld "discovered" her and offered her an important part in the show. She first went to his office and found that he wanted her to play in his greatest of his shows, she said, "Mr. Ziegfeld, you once read me out of the chorus here and you can't like me." "You're right, Flo, you're very lucky. If I hadn't you'd probably still be there, and you're too good for the chorus."

We like W. C. Field's philosophy on love. To wit: For a man to hold a woman's love, he must be all things to her: husband, father, brother, lawyer, Cassanova, banker, boy scout and bartender. To wit: we think it depends upon the woman. All he'd have to be for us, for example, would be Lawrence Olivier.

A very socially prominent matriarch from this town, happened to attend a night club in New York recently, where she was royally flattered but it big enough to laugh about it was on an inn on the Boston Post Road, in New York. Every other hasty boater in the place was doing his act, that his jokes were "sooo old!" The comedian stopped in the middle of a sentence, turned to our heroine and said, "Lady, from where I stand, you don't look so young yourself."

Signs of the Times: Earl Carroll's famous sign over the stage door, "Beneath these portals pass the most beautiful girls in the world" is done much more intelligently by Mert Wetheimer who owns the "dunking" emporium in Palm Beach. Over his entrance door is the sign, "Beneath these portals the most beautiful girls in the world pass out." Another favorite of ours is the one over an inn on the Boston Post Road, in New York. Every other hasty boater in the place was doing his act, that his jokes were "sooo old!" The comedian stopped in the middle of a sentence, turned to our heroine and said, "Lady, from where I stand, you don't look so young yourself."

One of our fanciest duck-shooting gangs read a clipping over somebody's shoulder, telling about being given in the men's grill on such and such a day, on how to use a "duck call" for all things. He asked where the duck-calling came to be conceived and the man told him it would take place at a Detroit department store. On the appointed day, our hero, armed with his whistle and a cheerful outlook, arrived at the store and found himself going from floor to floor inquiring about the men's grill complete with duck calls. Nobody knew what he was talking about. He left dejectedly and telephoned the man of the clipping—only to find that the fellow had been misinformed. The clerk was at a store in Chicago. The whole thing reminds us of how amazingly dumb minded people become at this time of the year. Wonder if anyone ever shoots as many ducks as they shoot off conversation about it in every drawing room?

Mystery of the week: A few weeks ago, a woman golfer was holding forth or rather driving forth on the practice tee at a local golf course while her small daughter looked on. On the adjacent tee, a nice looking young man was practicing away like a mad thing and soon the little girl got into conversation with him. By the time they had finished, everyone was smiling at everyone else, the young man exchanged a few pleasant remarks with the mother; and the milk of human kindness was in all directions. About a week later, shopping tour, when she happened to pass a place where some comment to have a look. Suddenly one of the workmen looked at her and yelled, "Hi there!"

Uh-huh, it was practicing golfer from the next tee. She still hasn't been able to find out who he is or how he got on the golf course—nor does anyone else seem to know. Anyway, since you're breathless for the climax of the story, when the woman recognizes her son just like the Arabs and silently stole away, hoping that none of her fine friends there witnessed the incident. All of which gives us a great big pain in our gizzard.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

BY WILLIAM RITT

WE'RE surprised that no college football coach has come out with a new "V" formation. It should insure victory, shouldn't it?

A big eastern school asks its students, because of its shortage, to put up their motor cars. But not against telephone poles and lamp posts as has too often been the custom.

New York Cavalcade

By LOUIS SOBOL

James Finney Baxter, 3rd, president of Williams College and famous as a Naval historian, has been feuding with the Administration in Washington, chiefly because his faculty has been asked to furnish executives on the new defense committee. Sterning in Washington recently to protest, the able educator found himself confronting his college—a full-fledged member of Bill Donovan's committee. Now he spends from Monday to Friday in the capital, planes back to Williamstown, Mass., and runs his college until Monday morning, when he flies back to Washington.

Said staunch Republican James Finney Baxter: "That's the trouble with these New Dealers—they're so confounded persuasive!"

And now for just one practical joke, typical for which Hugh Tracy is noted. One election day when the tabs had headlines which read: Landslide; Lehman Out; Walker Out.

They bought about twenty-five copies and put them away for future use. Two years later on a New Year's eve, he dragged them out of a clothing store, assembled two dozen of his happy-minded friends handed each a copy—and then led them down to the Times Square station where they piled into subway trains.

Standing or sitting, pretending not to know each other, the reverends of the meeting, assembled that that the front pages with the Election Headlines could be seen by their passengers. There was bewilderment, confusion, wild disbelief, and to be discerned on the faces of those outside the party. Some I suspect, made vows never to drink again.

Rebuke: George Jean Nathan confesses that what occasionally makes him obnoxious to friends is his habit of correcting them on grammatical flaws. He recalls when he and H. L. Mencken were co-editors, he often shoved proofs back across the desk to the Baltimore Grouch, pointing out word errors in spelling—and frequently some slight slip-up in grammar. Finally, one day, Mencken said waspishly: "George—please remember this. There are 8,000 college professors who can write much better English than you or I—who were never heard of!"

Petty Pointes

We've just heard of a kid who earned his first dollar peddling papers for the News last week peddling the Western Union strike. A great deal was added to our pride in the youngsters of America when we learned that this 12-year-old, tired and wet after tramping miles through the rain, had arrived home, showing off his soggy jacket and tossed the crumpled bill to his mother with the remark:—"Keep it for me 'til Monday Morn. I'm going to buy defense stamps with it!"

Whose butler was at a local meat counter the other day trying to coax the butcher to sell him an eleven pound roast of beef for the same cost as about a seven pound one, so that his mistress wouldn't fire him for the meat expenditure, as she had apparently threatened to do for her. The price of meat has gone up, or, doesn't she know?

Among things that flew into one ear and didn't fly into the other this week, is the following tale, supposedly true and first hand, gleaned from a fellow laborer who knows we love good stories.

The subject was one of that large company of European noblemen who had married into the ranks of American wealth—sold his title. His wife, more than a bit fed up with his pranks, had cut down on his bank account long since and his debts had mounted to a pretty staggering peak.

One day there appeared at the door of his New York home the head of a tailoring establishment with whom he had been heavily indebted for a long period. It seems the tailor wanted to collect on his bill.

Count... was so outraged at the idea of a mere tailor having the audacity to come on his home to collect a bill that he splintered and fumed for a good five minutes. After he had gathered himself together a bit he explained to the good man just why he hadn't been paying the bill.

The count's system of meeting the demands of his creditors, he explained more or less patiently, was very simple. Shortly after the first of each month, when all of his bills had been placed in them in a hat. Then he stirred them... around and round. After they were well stirred he pulled one out of the hat. THAT one, he paid. The rest he threw into the fire.

"And NOW," finished his explanation... "because you come here... to my home... in no other about such a trifling... now, no more do you go in the hat!"

Monroe Defeats Local High Gridders 13-0 While St. Ambrose Stages Upset Beating St. Benedict

The Blue Devils of Grosse Pointe High School lost their fourth straight game of the current football season here Saturday by going down to a 13 to 0 defeat at the hands of Monroe High School gridders.

It was also the fourth game in a row in which the Pointers have failed to score, although in Saturday's game, as was the case in the royal Oak game a week ago, Coach Frank Banach's lads came about as close to scoring as they possibly could.

The Blue Devils carried the ball late in the first half from their own 35-yard line to the Monroe 6-yard line before a fumble on a reverse behind the line was recovered by Monroe.

Glenn Metzker scored the first touchdown for Monroe on an end around average late in the second half. The final Monroe touchdown came late in the second half.

St. Ambrose Provides Big Upset With Its Victory

St. Ambrose of Grosse Pointe provided the year's biggest upset Sunday by defeating a previously undefeated St. Benedict's squad 13 to 7 on the Grosse Pointe High school field.

The game marked the first victory of the season for St. Ambrose in the East Side First Division Catholic league. The Cavaliers came from behind in the second half to score two touchdowns.

Bob Mutowski of St. Benedict's put his team in the lead early in the first period when he ran 25 yards for the score. His run however ended the scoring for St. Benedict.

Riley Intercepts Pass

Late in the third period Bill Riley intercepted a pass and ran 48 yards to the St. Benedict 5-yard line. A play later he intercepted the ball over for the tying score.

Paul Wark's interception late in the game Riley set back the end for 12 yards and a touchdown.

Paul Wark's interception late in the game Riley set back the end for 12 yards and a touchdown.

Tennis Stars Taste Glory While Losing

Local Duo Conquered in Finals of City Tourney by Top-Ranking Stars

There is no disgrace in defeat for Grosse Pointe High school's tennis squad.

Sunday afternoon the Blue Devils' two doubles teams of Douglas MacKenzie and Mike Ware went down to defeat in the finals of the Detroit Invitational Doubles Tournament held on the Detroit Tennis Club courts.

Bus Ware's and MacKenzie's defeat was at the hands of players rated in high school competition as one of the finest. If not the finest, net duo's in Michigan.

The Grosse Pointe players lost 6-0, to Fred Kovalecki and Harry W. Tezak, well known Hamtramck High school stars. It was the tenth straight net tie for Hamtramck's net team which is coached by Mr. Jean Hoste.

Grosse Pointe and Hamtramck were the survivors of the 42 net teams to enter the Detroit Tennis Club's Invitational doubles tournament Friday.

On Saturday the Blue Devils' squad defeated a strong Northwestern High school duo, Jerry Curman and Ted Murray, 6-1, 6-4. The Blue Devils are coached by Lawrence Westvline.

Sally Ann Pfeffer To Be Bride Oct. 25

Airline Stewardess Picks Flier Husband

Daughter of Park Commissioner and Russell Kirbert of Cincinnati to Marry in St. Clair Rectory

Announcement has been made of plans for the marriage of Sally Ann Pfeffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pfeffer of Grand Marais, to Russell A. Kirbert, son of Mrs. W. R. Kirbert of Cincinnati, October 25, in the St. Clair Rectory. Sally Pfeffer, whose father is a university of Ohio where he graduated with an engineering degree. Mrs. A. M. Thomson of Evanston, Illinois will be maid of honor. Edward Hurley will be the best man. A reception for the immediate family will be held following the marriage in the Lochmoor club.

The couple will probably live in Detroit after a honeymoon trip to the Northwest.

Jane Lenore Fast Weds Bruce King

Jane Lenore Fast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Fast of Bedford road, spoke her marriage vows to Bruce Adams King, Jr., son of Bruce A. King of Moline, Ill., and the late Mrs. King on Monday evening in the Grosse Pointe Memorial church at 8:30 o'clock. The Rev. Frank Pitt officiated.

Mrs. J. Alfred Grow, Jr., was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mary King, sister of the bridegroom and Lea Vallade, Elizabeth Henkel and Elizabeth, Elizabeth Henkel was unable to be a bridesmaid because of illness. Joanne, sister of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid.

Reinhardt King was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Emory Douglas, George Fast, Jerry Stoetzer and Frederick Johnson.

A reception followed the ceremony in the Detroit Athletic Club. The young couple left afterwards for a trip through the Smokies and after November 1 Mr. and Mrs. King will be at home in Norfolk, Va.

Silhouettes

Her twinkling gray eyes betray a fine sense of humor. Her generosity and friendly opinion find expression in everything she does.

At present her time is divided between knitting and doing other work for the Red Cross and the War Relief society and her duties as president of the Grosse Pointe High School's Mothers club.

She frankly admits crossword puzzles are her weakness and sometimes works on many of these in one day. If ever the opportunity had presented itself in the past, she is sure she would have made music her hobby. She listens and attends operas and symphonies as much as possible. Her favorite is the Wagnerian opera, "Tristan & Isolde." The thrill of a football game in her estimation surpasses any other sport, with baseball a close second.

Living in "black and white," she finds the richness and freshness of these neutral colors for her wardrobe more to her liking than bright and varying hues.

Her greatest dislike is to be kept waiting when a definite hour for an appointment has been agreed upon.

The mother of two children, her daughter is now enrolled in her first year at the University of Michigan. Her friends call her... Helen Her name is... Mrs. John S. Heil.

Camp Fire Girls Donate Garments

Mrs. Phelps Newberry of Cloverly road, president of the Detroit Needlework Guild, accepted a total of more than 5,000 garments from Camp Fire Girls of district 9, (including about five states), in the Pageant of Service staged last week at the Camp Fire Girls National Council convention in the Hotel Statler.

The Guild operates on a plan to collect annually a stock of brand new garments to meet the needs of homes, hospitals and other charities to which it contributes yearly. Men, women and children belong to the national guild, which imposes a requirement of but two new articles or some money donation yearly in exchange for membership.

The Camp Fire Girls have been affiliated with the Needlework Guild and in that time made over 1,000,000 garments in 88 cities and towns last year, the girls of them sent in a total of 49,904 articles. California leads in the list. Next comes Colorado, then Michigan.

Two Meetings Scheduled By Woods Garden Group

The Woods Garden Group on Oct. 7, in the home of W. H. McMillan of Hartwood road and the topic for the evening was "The Art of the Garden." The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. H. W. ... "Bulls for Fall Planning" was the subject.

by George W. Stark

Re-issued at $1.00

A GREAT BOOK to read as you follow this popular author's new book, "Detroit: City of Destiny" in The Detroit News. In Old Detroit was originally issued at $2.00 per copy. Order this and other books published by Arnold-Powers, Inc., on the coupon provided for your convenience below. Quantities are limited.

1. WHO, ME?... By Chris Sinsbaugh
The story of the giant motor industry, full of personal reminiscences and little known facts about the man who has made it great. Only Mr. Sinsbaugh, the first automotive editor in the country, is qualified to write such a book, for he has known intimately the men who have made automotive history when they were still in their "boyie days."
Over 16 pages of Index, 52 Chapters, 44 pages in historical automotive pictures, many published for the first time, 377 pages.
Limited signed edition, $7.50. Regular edition, $2.75.

2. SPEEDBOAT KINGS... By J. Leo Barrett
Over a quarter-century of thrilling speedboat history written by the secretary of the Yachtman's Association of America. Speedboat Kings is complete from the modest beginning of power racing to the colossal spectacles of the Harmsworth Trophy races here and abroad. Full of incidents about people you know: Gar Wood, Kaye Don, Betty Cartstar, Sir Malcolm Campbell, Sir Henry Segrave, Count Theo Zeiss, and dozens more. 16 full pages of illustrations. 162 pages.
Limited signed edition, $3.50. Regular edition, $2.00.

3. IN OLD DETROIT... By George W. Stark
Lush history and amusing anecdotes about the Motor City in its heyday. Little known incidents about Henry Ford, Dava Buick, Fielding Yost, Mary Boland, Lord Ashburton, and many more. You don't know and understand Detroit today if you don't know its amazing background. Over 69 illustrations. 192 pages. Re-issued at $1.00.

4. FLOWER and TABLE ARRANGEMENTS
By Esther Longyear Murphy
One of the first books ever published on the subject, and still recognized as the best and most beautifully printed of its kind. A collection of wildflowers by Mrs. Dexter M. Ferry, Jr. A very beautiful book, fit to fascinate any lover of flowers and to delight and inspire any devotee of the art of using them for indoor decoration. — New York Times. Illustrated. 112 pages. $4.50

5. LETTERS TO A PAGAN... By Lelandia Meacham
A collection of unpublished letters of America's most exotic and misunderstood writers. First and only edition. Limited to 550 numbered copies. A distinct collector's item. Illustrated. 124 pages.

This particular bunch of letters has a peculiar appeal. They show the writer at his best. Without the intimacy that one expects from letters, here we find Helen the great stylist and unbelieveably magnificent player with words. He really is! If these letters should be classed with the great love letters of a literary genius, I don't know. Such a statement should be left to future generations.—American Book Collector. $6.00

6. WALKING IN THE CLOUDS... By Elmer C. Adams
A thrilling, philosophical record of a two-week hiking expedition in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park section of the Appalachian Trail. Also contains hotel facts on planning and equipping for a hiking trip. With picture map. 88 pages. $3.25

7. THE HOUSE THAT LOVES BUILT... By Anne Campbell
A collection of over a hundred poems by America's best loved woman poet. Her poems, which appear daily in the Detroit News, are syndicated in over four newspapers in the country. A fine gift book. 112 pages.

1. WHO, ME?... By Chris Sinsbaugh
The story of the giant motor industry, full of personal reminiscences and little known facts about the man who has made it great. Only Mr. Sinsbaugh, the first automotive editor in the country, is qualified to write such a book, for he has known intimately the men who have made automotive history when they were still in their "boyie days."
Over 16 pages of Index, 52 Chapters, 44 pages in historical automotive pictures, many published for the first time, 377 pages.
Limited signed edition, $7.50. Regular edition, $2.75.

2. SPEEDBOAT KINGS... By J. Leo Barrett
Over a quarter-century of thrilling speedboat history written by the secretary of the Yachtman's Association of America. Speedboat Kings is complete from the modest beginning of power racing to the colossal spectacles of the Harmsworth Trophy races here and abroad. Full of incidents about people you know: Gar Wood, Kaye Don, Betty Cartstar, Sir Malcolm Campbell, Sir Henry Segrave, Count Theo Zeiss, and dozens more. 16 full pages of illustrations. 162 pages.
Limited signed edition, $3.50. Regular edition, $2.00.

3. IN OLD DETROIT... By George W. Stark
Lush history and amusing anecdotes about the Motor City in its heyday. Little known incidents about Henry Ford, Dava Buick, Fielding Yost, Mary Boland, Lord Ashburton, and many more. You don't know and understand Detroit today if you don't know its amazing background. Over 69 illustrations. 192 pages. Re-issued at $1.00.

4. FLOWER and TABLE ARRANGEMENTS
By Esther Longyear Murphy
One of the first books ever published on the subject, and still recognized as the best and most beautifully printed of its kind. A collection of wildflowers by Mrs. Dexter M. Ferry, Jr. A very beautiful book, fit to fascinate any lover of flowers and to delight and inspire any devotee of the art of using them for indoor decoration. — New York Times. Illustrated. 112 pages. $4.50

5. LETTERS TO A PAGAN... By Lelandia Meacham
A collection of unpublished letters of America's most exotic and misunderstood writers. First and only edition. Limited to 550 numbered copies. A distinct collector's item. Illustrated. 124 pages.

This particular bunch of letters has a peculiar appeal. They show the writer at his best. Without the intimacy that one expects from letters, here we find Helen the great stylist and unbelieveably magnificent player with words. He really is! If these letters should be classed with the great love letters of a literary genius, I don't know. Such a statement should be left to future generations.—American Book Collector. $6.00

6. WALKING IN THE CLOUDS... By Elmer C. Adams
A thrilling, philosophical record of a two-week hiking expedition in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park section of the Appalachian Trail. Also contains hotel facts on planning and equipping for a hiking trip. With picture map. 88 pages. $3.25

7. THE HOUSE THAT LOVES BUILT... By Anne Campbell
A collection of over a hundred poems by America's best loved woman poet. Her poems, which appear daily in the Detroit News, are syndicated in over four newspapers in the country. A fine gift book. 112 pages.
Limited signed edition, $2.75. Regular edition, $1.25.

Gable, Russell Well Supported In New Picture

Clark Gable and Rosalind Russell are noted for their portrayals of widely diversified oriental characters, and with them in "They Met in Bombay" coming Friday to the Albee Theatre.

The trio comprises Peter Lorre, Keye Luke and Sen Yung. Lorre's stellar "Mr. Moto" characterizations was in one of the once phenomenally successful series of detective dramas brought to the screen following his spectacular reign in a popular magazine. In

"They Met in Bombay," he portrays a sinister Chinese, a sea captain on whose ship Gable and Miss Russell take refuge in fleeing from Bombay, India.

Luke came into prominence in the original "Charlie Chan" film series, when the late Warner Oland portrayed the title character. Sen Yung succeeded him when, after Oland's death, the series was re-shaped. More recently Sen Yung drew critical praise for his portrayal of a bespectacled Chinese lawyer in "The Letter."

In "They Met in Bombay," Luke portrays a Chinese detective sandwiching the performance between his starring film role at another studio as "James Wong, Detective," Sen Yung is Gable's and Miss Russell's houseboy in Hong Kong, to which they flee from Bombay.

The trio merge their talents artfully into the Far Eastern background of the romantic melodrama in which Gable and Miss Russell portray a pair of international crooks.

EDGAR FIELDING DOWN of Ferrisburgh, district governor of Rotary, will address Grosse Pointe Rotarians at their meeting in the Whittier Monday afternoon. He will meet with the officers, directors and committee chairman at 11:15 o'clock, prior to the luncheon.

"Clash By Night" Coming To Wilson

Billy Rose, often referred to as "America's No. 1 showman," will present the pre-Broadway premiere of "Clash By Night," a new play by Clifford Odets, at the Wilson Theater on Monday night, October 27. "Clash By Night" will remain at the Wilson for a week.

The star in this vigorous new story of modern American life, Mr. Rose has engaged Tallulah Bankhead, considered by many critics this country's most powerful dramatic actress. Miss Bankhead, who has not been seen in Detroit in several seasons, will be supported by a cast featuring Joseph Schildkraut, famous player of romantic roles; Lee J. Cobb, distinguished character actor, and Katherine Locke, lovely ingenue remembered as the heroine of "Having Wonderful Time" and as Ophelia in Maurice Evans' "Hamlet."

The cast also includes John Hamilton, Robert Ryan, Seth Arnold and Art Smith. Leo Starnberg, who staged the Pulitzer Prize play, "Men in White," has directed "Clash By Night," and Boris Aaronson has designed the settings.

Miss Bankhead, who, for the past two seasons, has delighted New York and a number of other cities in "The Little Foxes," has found in "Clash By Night" a worthy vehicle for her dynamic and glamorous personality and outstanding talents.

Mr. Odets, who is the author of "Golden Boy," "Awake and Sing!" and other notable dramatic works, has written a gripping play of character in which a passionate love theme dominates a casual in the case of Mr. Odets, his dialogue is marked by a fascinating mixture of bite, humor and irrepressible tenderness.

"Clash By Night" is the occasion for the return to the spoken drama of Mr. Schildkraut, who has been featured in films for the last six years.

Mrs. Carley Hostess To St. Patrick's Guild

Mrs. Bernard Carley of Fleetwood drive entertained the members and friends of the St. Patrick's Guild of St. Joseph's parish at a card party in her home last week. The proceeds from the party defrayed the expenses of the quilt made by the members of the Guild, which will be given away at the next mass dance to be held in the Parish hall on October 19.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Fick, Mrs. Hagen and Miss Alice Hill.

They Finally Got Together

JAMES CAGNEY AND BETTE DAVIS are the exciting star combination in the picture, "The Bride Came C.O.D.," which will be shown on the screens of both the Vogue and Punch and Judy theaters within the week.

They Don't Seem to Hurt Much

JOHN HOWARD, ANNE GWYNNE AND LEO CARILLO in "Tight Shoes," Damon Runyon's famed story, which comes to the Esquire Friday along with "One Night in Lisbon."

Royale Offers Harvest Revue

It's all out for fun at Club Royale this week, where the "Harvest Moon" revue brings in a show which adds laurels even to Club Royale's already excellent reputation for offering fine entertainment.

Genial Peter Higgins, whose jovial clowning and fine tenor voice set the pace for the fun, is held over for still a fourth week. The dancing Gussells, Marzya and Rene, are graceful in their ballroom routines, but score especially with their novelty French can-can and a clever old dance.

Charming Marilyn Stuart, the "Ballet" girl of billboard fame, has a new number, "The Soft Shoe" which is a welcome novelty in the offering of Jimmy Fox, who adds impressions of former soft-shoe stars to his original work, and the Kurtz Marionettes are as popular as ever.

with Mr. Beans mastering the ceremonies and Augusta Wind doing the famous "Blow-up."

The Trif-Kretlow girls are tall and good-looking, with smart production routines, and Dick Werthington directs proceedings. Pamela Britton sings with Don McGraw's orchestra.

"Sarah Is So Sensible"

By Marian Eddy Standish

CHAPTER SEVEN

Mary was later than usual when she went to work the next day. Her head ached from a restless night and the tears she had shed over Jimmie's treatment of her at the party the night before had left blue shadows under her eyes. As she paused before entering the modest dressing room, she could hear them talking—Fanny—they would laugh and talk together when she wasn't there, but just as soon as she entered the room as though she had never been there. She had to give up trying to break it. She put out her hand where her eyes had of her own name made her pause. "Princess Mary is late today," said one voice.

"Yes," answered another. "Don't expect too much from Royalty. Who has seen Sonia lately? Poor kid—she was terribly discouraged when I met her last week. She just burns me up. Here this debutante—who doesn't need a job at all, turns Sonia out of one. Poor Sonia who hasn't a cent and doesn't know how she's going to eat."

Mary opened the door and closing it again stood with her back against the door. Her fact was white with shock.

"I overheard you," she said tensely.

"I don't care if you did," said Priscilla. "I have been tempted to tell you who I thought you were. Ever since I saw Sonia last week. She was thin and looked sick and her Mother did the very nasty job of taking her job away from her."

"But I DIDN'T take her job," said Mary. "I was merely asked to come. He said he had a vacancy."

"See her," said Annette. "We let Sonia off without any warning, when you said you'd come. And as for why he wanted you—of course it was because of your friends. It's not fair."

"Oh, how dare Mary! but another girl took up the ball."

"Look here," she said. "We leave her out—out—out—out—out—out. We take a crowd of boys home—probably standing up all the time. When we get home we have to cook our own dinners or help to cook them. After that we have our meeting and our washing to do. You step into the limousine that calls for you and are driven home. Your dinner is cooked and served to you—your bed is turned down and your breakfast ready for you in the morning. It's unfair competition in every way. You can look and feel for—she that we can—can—can—social contacts to bring us here. We have lost the friends like you that are making us so popular. It is my wonder that looking such competition as she we used to make to you in redistribution of wealth?"

"I—didn't know—" was all Mary could say.

"The Buyer came in to give them dresses for the day—she said she didn't know where she moved to after her mother died. Perhaps the lady in number 60 might be able to tell her. She was a friend of Sonia's."

Mary climbed the five flights of stairs and rang the doorbell of Clara's apartment.

Clara, Joe and Mike were at supper. Clara opened the door and standing there. Mary spoke first, inebriatedly, eagerly.

"I came to give Sonia's address," she said. "The girls told me that you had moved but they thought you would know where she was."

Mike—a big, clean-cut, roughly dressed man looked up sharply when he heard Sonia's name.

"I'm sorry," said Clara. "Sonia didn't give us her address. In fact we have been trying to find her. Who did you want to know?"

"I've GOT to find her," said Mary earnestly. "I did something beautiful to her and I simply must make it right."

The two men were listening. Mary could see their intent faces—Joe's just interested, Mike's more than interested—indignant, and jealous.

"Do you want to come in and tell me about it," asked Clara something honest in the girl's manner touched her. She lost her shyness and her awe of Mary's obviously expensive clothes.

"I'm please," said Mary and went in. "You are eating," she pointed, "please don't stop, just let me tell you everything while you have your dinner."

"It's supper," corrected Clara, then with a grave smile, she said, "Won't you have some of the st. . . with us? The boys say it is good."

"I would love it," said Mary and so Clara got another plate. Mike pulled up another chair and in a minute Mary was eating lamb stew as if she had lived there all her life.

Troop 74 Stages Board of Review

Troop 74, Boy Scouts of America, with Charles Lord as its scoutmaster, conducted its first board of review Monday night in the Gabriel Richard school. Parents, friends, members of the Alger Post V.F.W. auxiliary and of the Grosse Pointe Sports Club were guests at the event.

Ten Get Badges

Ten members of the troop were awarded second class scout badges after a demonstration of tests. These ten were William Boates, Fred Curtis, James Kennedy, Robert King, William Lord Thomas, Megargie, David Penman, Robert Stanly, Charles Swenson and Robert Troop.

J. J. Carlo, instructor of the troop's Sharpshooters' patrol, explained the purposes and aims of the National Rifle association following which a sharpshooting patrol with the Junior N.R.A. was presented to the patrol by Mr. C. Thomas, president of the Grosse Pointe Sports Club of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., which is doing its best in participating in the "Safety through Knowledge" policy endorsed by the N.R.A. Mr. Thomas expressed his belief that trained voluntary marksmen would make more careful adult shooters.

Medals Are Presented

Mrs. Ruth Slater, president of the Alger Post Auxiliary V.F.W. No. 929 and Mrs. Oral Melbury, its Boy Activities chairman then presented ten Marksmen medals to eight members. Marksmen medals to five and "Marksmen First Class" medals to two of a Patrol. The Ladies of the Alger Library are graciously sponsoring these awards.

References were expressed by Scoutmaster Lord for the inability of Chief Inhabiter of Grosse Pointe Shores to attend. He was to have received the thanks of the troop for his cooperation with their work and also to have given an address.

Women to Hold Meeting

The Greater for the evening will be Dr. Lewis Karpman, professor from the University of Michigan who will speak on "Old Days, Old Times" and will also display some of his collection. The discussion will be centered especially on Michigan.

Elizabeth Knaut, former official in the Propaganda Ministry of the Third Reich, keeper of Hitler's personal archives in her thrilling lecture will tell the Detroit Town Hall, at the Cameo Theatre, next Friday afternoon at 11 o'clock "What Hitler Plans For America."

Miss Knaut left Germany in 1933 a political refugee coming to America to secure property left her in the method of escaping from Hitler and Nazism. Her town property in Berlin and country estate were confiscated, the price of her pass port. Miss Knaut joined the Nazi party in 1932, her party came into power in 1933. Dr. Goebbels gave her charge of the private archives of Hitler and the confidential documents relating to the Volkish, the League of Nations and various pacts and treaties. She was one of 7, out of 700 employees who had access to the confidential papers.
