The Civilians' Part

The term "total war" has been much bruited about the world since the last one but this is the first time the American people have even a faint inkling of what it all means. We used to think we did a pretty good job in the other war, with our four and one half million men in the army and navy, but we are fast learning now that our national effort then was hardly a full dress rehearsal for what we are going to face this time.

What makes the task more grim is that we are pitted against three powerful countries which have been acclimating their people to the atmosphere of total war for from one to three generations.

We had good advice on this subject in the beginning, when Washington himself said "In time of Peace prepare for War". Then we promptly forgot his counsel and have been forgetting it ever since until right after the guns are fired at us.

After all of the boys who are to do the fighting have marched away there will be more than ninety percent of the population left at home. If this is to be a total war, and it is going to be whether we like it or not, the one paramount question, overshadowing every other consideration of private or personal interest that will confront every man, woman and child, will be what they can do in the way of actual, worthwhile assistance to help the country win this war.

There are many ways, although listed under comparatively few but easily understood heads.

Total war can be summarized in four short words: Fight, Build, Pay and Save.

The First is the function of the young manhood of the Nation. They have responded magnificently and several millions are in intensive training for the task ahead.

The Second, judging from the mounting production figures, is hitting an effective war stride.

The Third is only partly well done and is still far short of the 10 percent of every individual income which is the immediate objective of the war bond and stamp drive.

The last, the special opportunity for the safe, stay-at-home group to serve the Nation is, to give it its honest rating, a failure. The trial balloon put up a year ago on aluminum was a flop; the recent rubber drive, under the auspices of a Presidential agent, was a sad result with its 450,000 tons collected against the Two million or Three million tons anticipated.

The Government is now asking, with all of the alarm it darts out into its appeal, for tin cans and all sorts of scrap metal, for fats and greases and for about every kind of material that can be habitually thrown away by this wasteful, profligate country.

Here in our rich Grosse Pointe community the City, so far as can be learned, is the only one of the five municipalities which have taken upon itself as a regular routine function the separation of the waste materials to expedite them on their way to war use.

With us there has been much discussion about civilian defense. This is proper enough in its way as the Government expects each town and city to devise its own defense against air attack as the problem would be too great for the Government to assume as its responsibility. Two or three sirens have been installed and there is talk of one or two larger ones. There will tell the people when to get out their lights and stay indoors and will summon to service a fine body of volunteer workers for emergency service, if and when war actually comes to our doors.

All of this however does not contribute a pennyweight towards winning the war.

If we get busy however at once and attend to the collection of every last scrap of metal, rubber, greases and whatnot that can be combed out of the community and make it available so that the Government can convert it quickly into the things we must fight with, we will be doing something that will be an immediate 100 per cent contribution to the prime objective.

This community and thousands of others like it throughout the land have got to think of this war more in terms of puncturing the other fellow's skin than of protecting their own.

This is the only way total wars are won.

Doubts

The American people are completely aware that the war is not going well, and they are voicing a discontent which will grow rapidly unless there is a definite major improvement soon on either the foreign or home fronts or both.

They have a great pride in the fine work of the Navy in the Coral sea and at Midway but at the same time see the enemy still coming on the other day the Japs had no apparent difficulty in planting new air fields in New Guinea directly menacing our whole Australian defense system.

The British seemed to have stopped the Germans for the time being, but in Egypt not Libya, and the Russians, who have been doing the only large scale fighting implied by modern war, are having a desperate time defending their oil fields. On all fronts we and our allies have been fighting desperately, and uniformly unsuccessfully, since we entered the war.

The people know all these things and have a right to talk about them. They are the ones who must do the fighting, they are dying and the paying.

They would probably view the foreign field with greater equanimity if they felt more assured as to the wisdom of the general war planning strategy practiced in Washington. They know now that the out and in maneuver on the question of the enemy's aggression was a mistake. Somebody was asleep in the vitally important matter attending to the reserves of rubber, aluminum, tin and the thousand and one items we are hearing about every day now.

When the menace to our shipping first appeared on our own seaboard six months ago we were told this would soon be brought under control, but, with the exception of a momentary lull in the last day or so, it has continued. The people of this country don't like the idea of meeting this situation by the crude method of merely bombing ships faster than the enemy can sink them. It's not the American way of doing things, and just now we're not even doing that.

This is our first front and the Germans have made it for us. We have got to win here or we can't win at all. The people know this too.

The overwhelming majority of the people, a majority that is growing daily, are insisting that there shall be no group or class warfare or favored classes of men. The idea that there shall be any cessation in production for personal advantages against the common safety, that the government shall yield to pressure groups of any description whatever is intolerable. Their presence in the war picture is as exasperating as that of saboteurs or spies.

A people who have with remarkable patriotic unanimity said Godspeed to millions of their sons who have marched away to fight, the supreme expression of service to the Nation, will not long tolerate any back stage action which signifies less than 100 per cent support for these sons.

There has been much talk of late about a supreme command for all the allied forces, land, sea and air; but this talk has not emanated from the White House.

On the contrary, Admiral Leahy, recently recalled as our Ambassador at Vichy, seems about to set up as a sort of glorified Adjutant General to the President who mayhap aspires to be the Commander in Chief, not only de jure, as he is, but that detail having been arranged for us a century and a half in advance by the constitution. The fact as well. If this suppositional situation should develop as fact it will bring misgivings to millions of persons whether the acknowledged genius of Mr. Roosevelt in the realm of practical politics is superior to that of the field of military strategy and tactics. The incident will at least contribute one more disturbing factor in the public's view of the conduct of the war.

The principle of "trial and error" with which the Chief Executive inaugurated his campaign and the economic reform in the beginning of his administration, would not be a satisfying formula for the prosecution of a desperate foreign war.

This is not the kind of war that can be "muddled through".

Rent Regulation

Placing a ceiling on articles of current production as a means of controlling runaway prices to head off the inflation that bears so heavily on the thought of the present moment may be justified as an emergency wartime measure.

It is diametrically opposed to the idea of free enterprise in a free land, one of the issues for which we and the other free peoples of the world are supposed to be fighting this war. However, this and other restrictive measures which will no doubt accompany the war effort will be borne cheerfully by the people as long as they are justly and impartially applied and obviously needed.

It is difficult to see, however, how the country's economic position is going to be improved by scaling down rents and wages and leases which antedate the present war boom era and where the present lessee is probably in a better position to pay than he has been in years.

It is easy to see how a universal application of this practice by the Government would work an insupportable hardship on thousands of landlords. The owner has leased his property under a contract which took into the reckoning the maintenance of the property, the taxes he had to pay, frequently preliminary alterations or repairs stipulated by the lease, and the period for which the lease ran. Oftentimes the reasonable return upon his investment was the last item in the arrangement he had the courage to examine.

The lessee entered into the deal with his eyes open. There was nothing compulsory about the transaction. He was buying food for a family. His chief concern was whether the property was suitable for his needs and his income justified paying the rent stipulated.

When Government steps in, in midterm of a contract, and upsets its provisions, invariably to favor the renter, there are no ameliorating conditions for the landlord. He knows there is not going to be any reduction in his taxes and that many articles and materials absolutely essential to the maintenance of the property will be unobtainable.

Setting aside a constitutional protection that has obtained since Uncle Dan'l. Webster argued effectively the inavailability of contract in the famous Dartmouth college case a hundred and twenty years ago might be tolerated as a war emergency measure if and when direct hardship can be proved to fall upon either party to the contract or when its continuation is obviously opposed to public policy or general welfare. The conditions always have been contempt for constitutional guarantees but the practice should not be unnecessarily encouraged.

In simple justice, only in such cases where the contract was entered into and tenanted primarily within these categories, should interference by the Government be exercised.

This war emergency, not to mention a thousand and one costly preceding experiments in the attempt of the present administration to establish a new social and economic order, has already introduced enough confusion in the world picture to set one Nation crazy. In the name of common sense let us not roll the troubled waters further.

A. FRYOR

On thy cold gray stones, Oh sea!
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that surge in me.

At the foot of thy purple OH wall!
But the slender crease of a day that is dead
Will never come back to me.

We hope that the first aid students in the new class to be started soon at the Neighborhood Club will turn in less frightening answers than the following, which were culled from a variety of school papers.

Question: What are Vitamins?
In Answer: Some vitamins prevent bent bent others prevent curly curly.

Q2 Answer: If you eat Vitamin A you are sure to have resistance to disease, metabolism and growth.

Q3 Answer: Lack of Vitamin A met as bad as lack of Vitamin B, which in turn will not have so many bad effects as will the lack of Vitamin C and so on down the alphabet.

Other answers to questions were: To stop blood from flowing from a wound in the leg, wrap the leg around the body above the heart.

To relieve a fainting person lay them on their back until consciousness returns.

Natural immunity is being able to catch a disease without the aid of a physician.

In case of asphyxiation apply artificial respiration until the patient is dead.

The following face powder ad, which we print here in part, we choose to put under the "War is h—" department.

"You never seemed to fuss—but you always looked so worried. Arrived sometime toward the end of the first half. The 'harp-liner' sounded like our car something that sounded like, 'Shoopee we're still late getting here.' We close to ignore the whole thing and whipped out our English edition of Lyrics, which we'd brought along to read in case things got dull. In a few moments, our heroine's face found the score board. 'Where,' she palled as she snatched the companion's knee, 'I told you we didn't miss anything—look, the score's 0-0 nothing to nothing.'

In our "social notes from all over" department, we have gathered the following information:

From Lake Montclair, for example, comes the very edifying report that—the Ladies Missionary Club of the E. B. Church held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Guy Droupe-assant. A pot luck dinner was served and the regular meeting followed. All the ladies reported a very nice time."

From West Belvidere, we are advised via the social column, that "A little son who has been named Tom Thumb, was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Thumbe. The young man weighs 8 1/2 pounds."

It is nice to know these little details and we think that the big town papers had better look to their laurels and forget all this nonsense about the war.

The Home Front in Michigan

There are bombs in your barn!
There are guns in your garage!

That old flatorn will make two steel helmets to protect the lives of two american soldiers—your boy and your boy's boy or it will make 30 hand grenades to halt the goose-stepping horde which would stampede freedom beneath its heels.

Of course, you can't beat a flatorn into helmets but it takes scrap to make steel. If we are to keep our steel mills going full blast this winter, we must increase the flow of scrap iron and steel by at least 6,000,000 tons.

Many counties and towns already have had special scrap collections but there still are untold tons of scrap in rural areas.

One state with a strong drive collected 44,000 tons of scrap metal. A month later, the campaign was repeated—and got 40,000 tons more.

That old plow will produce 100 armor-piercing 75-mm projectiles; or a set of golf clubs will make a machine gun.

A surgeon named Dr. McGee
Said—"I'll put a part of my foe,
In bonds for the Nation's
Vast war operations,
To keep this the Land of the Free!"

Buy War Stamps and Bonds
Every month we'll give away and Stamps!

U. S. Treasury Dept.

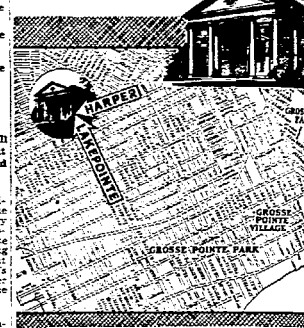

Why don't the government clean up the zinc graveyards, asks Tom the Doubter. Because every day old cars are being sold to governments for scrap. It is a continuing business and it is desirable to keep the establishments going as producers of scrap. The aim of the War Production Board is to keep the production going but to spend it up so that every graveyard will scrap each car every 60 days.

New Bullets From Old Metal
The National Salvage Program was launched by the WPB on July 15. More than 1200 steel and local salvage committees, already in existence, have thrown their united efforts into the program. The iron and steel industry contributed $1,500,000 for a national advertising campaign. Government producers and associated industries are spending another $500,000 to advertise waste materials salvage. The farm implement industry will sponsor "War Scrap" for more than 3 years. Every day for more than 3 years a billion of scrap from the farms.

Keep 'Em Fighting
If 15 million tons of scrap were collected from this war, this would provide the scrap necessary to make tanks as an equal part of the British tank production. The scrap necessary to make tanks as an equal part of the British tank production. The scrap necessary to make tanks as an equal part of the British tank production.

Program sponsored by the Board of Education. The tournament will be conducted by Lawrence Westerville, tennis coach at the high school.

It has been felt for sometime that the community of Grosse Pointe was ready for its own tournament. Although its area and population is small in comparison to many other communities that hold a closed tournament, the quality and quantity of tennis playing by its residents is surprisingly great.

In addition to the players who have moved into community and the tennis player from the parochial and private schools, the high school has produced a number of tennis players of no mean ability. In competition with players from other schools and communities, the local boys do well.

Others who have won their tennis laurels during the past few years are Bob Jeffers and William Dixon, former University of Michigan players; Semmer Vandylke and Stewart Smith, State Interscholastic doubles champions; "Mike" Ware, the Border Cities League singles champion for the last two years.

It is planned to have four classifications with a possibility of five, namely, men's singles and doubles, boy's singles, women's singles, and mixed doubles (providing enough entries are made). In this manner everyone should have a chance to meet someone of his or her ability. In keeping with the government's request for conservation of metals, no trophies will be awarded.

The Rules
1. All players must be residents of Grosse Pointe.
2. Players must sign up with Mr. Westerville mornings or evenings at the high school courts, or call Mr. Geary's office NI. 2000 Ext. 2. All entries close noon Thursday, Aug. 6. Play starts Monday, the 10th.

3. Any boy who is 17 years of age or under.
4. A boy 17 or under may enter either the boys singles or the men's singles but he may not enter both. However, if he does, he may also enter the men's doubles and the mixed doubles.
5. All matches will be two out of three sets.

6. Contestants must furnish their own tennis ball.
7. When signing, contestants are to state when they will be available for play, i. e., morning, afternoon or evenings.
8. All contestants are responsible for the arranging of their matches. Failure to appear for play will default the player. The tournament must be completed by Wednesday, August 19.

9. If contestants are unable to make satisfactory playing arrangements, a date and time will be set, or a default will be declared by the tournament sponsor. The decision to be based on the player's availability and the resultant effect on the progress of the tournament.
10. There will be no limit for those who wish to enter the women's singles or the mixed doubles.
11. Contestants ready to play a match may have preference on court usage.

Butler's Hobby May Help Men in the Armed Services

Almost nightly until sometimes two o'clock in the morning, Harry Wells burns in the home of Count Cyril Tolstoy 180 Lewiston road. There a slight, 45 year old colored butler, Harry Wells, works at an unusual hobby that every day his eyesight would sought to close in on him several years before.

Wells, who, many years before, 12 to 14 hours a day in the dark room of a commercial photography company. His first job was to see if he didn't get the proper amount of light every day his eyesight would be impaired.

Wells then became the butler of Mrs. Cameron Currie, the mother of Countess Tolstoy. Seeking an after hours hobby he read about another negro whose hobby of miniature steam cutting had received the attention of that paper.

The hobby appealed to Wells but instead of stone cutting he began wood cutting. His first undertaking was to make a large sized floor lamp, but from cedar and shingles. The undertaking took him more than a year but when he finished he had an unusual lamp whose base was made of light and dark cedar and whose shade was made in the form of a house. Wells confesses that the job was so difficult he almost gave up on making or shingles.

However since that time he has fashioned more than 1000 of these objects, all of them a credit to careful and accurate workmanship. There are more lamps, figurines, animals, and many objects of a religious nature.

Wells now has the idea that his hobby might help the soldiers and sailors of the U. S. armed forces. Yesterday George Elworthy, OGD coordinator for the area, was scheduled to look over the large collection and perhaps make arrangements with Wells to put it on display, the receipts to be turned over to service organizations.

Wells himself is trying to get into the army but he believed he might be turned down because of his poor eyesight. Wells is, and rightly so, very proud of his collection. When you praise any particular object of the display he beams and says very pointedly "Thank you very much." Then he beams a little more and fondly gazes again at the creation.

The Grosse Pointe office of the War Price and Rationing Board located at 19 Kercheval have been all set since Monday the 27th to give out application blanks for tires, reappapings, tubes, automobiles, typewriters and bicycles.

On the receipt of the application, properly made out, the Rationing Board either grants the right to purchase with a certificate or rejects it. The force at the office has been augmented by the addition of Miss Audrey Winfield, who is in charge of the Rationing Board office and who will be attached to the local office permanently.

Many persons have come into the News office inquiring as to the location of the Rationing Board which has remained unmarked by any identifying sign since its establishment, there being no money allocated for a sign or for office maintenance. The office is on the ground floor two doors north of the News office, right next to the Ford and Joy Theatre and is now indicated by a window sign which was furnished through the patriotic interest of J. Ruttschun, manager of a local food store.

File Landlord's Returns Here, Not in Washington
Area Rent Director Patrick McNamara requests that landlords should not send their registration statements to Washington, as many are now sent to "Registration statements," Mr. McNamara announces, "must be returned to the area rent office in the Detroit defense rental area, not the Office of Price Administration in Washington. Instructions on the forms clearly state that they are to be returned to the local area rent office. The Detroit office is located in the Penobscot Building.

Statements sent to Washington can only have to be sent back there, causing needless delay for landlords and tenants alike," Mr. McNamara states.

Are Mysterious Phone Calls Work of Fifth Columnists?

The question that is now agitating certain circles in the Pointe is whether the mysterious phone calls that have reached some homes are just the normal overtones of the war or whether they are the work of the early local manifestation of some more sinister and sinister effort to undermine our war effort in the Pointe.

The answer to keep track of the comings and goings of the local lines in security. The names of the telephone company to install a phone, gave radio code Fred Allen as a reference.

The singing artist at the High School concert a week from tonight will be a soldier, Private John Schlicking, a member of the 1488 Central Postal Directory, who has been in the army since induction immediately after the start of the war.

When he was taken into the army he was working for Warner Bros. and MGM on the West Coast and was also a member of the Los Angeles Opera company. He is a Bas Bortone and is expected to have a very fine voice.

Many Workers Needed to Handle Big Red Cross Project

Surgical Dressing Job To Begin Here Monday

Ability of Local Headquarters to Complete Assignment on Time Depends on Number of Volunteers

The Red Cross has received the new quota for surgical dressings and there is great activity at the various centers in preparation for the vast task that develops on the organization in meeting the new call which is by far the largest that has ever confronted it. Workers and many new enrollees for training are greatly needed.

At Station No. 1 at 337 Fisher road, work on dressings will start next Monday, August 3, and continue until the assignment is finished. Monday through Friday from 8:30 a. m. to 4 p. m.

To continue the work which will probably increase as the war progresses, larger number of volunteers for training are urgently needed. Those who are willing to enter training are asked to call Tuxedo 2-7869 at once for information. Classes will be conducted daily from 8 a. m. until 3 p. m. at the Fisher road station. The materials for the dressings are already here. The rapid completion of the assignment awaits only the appearance for an adequate corps of workers and of a most equal importance, a large number of women who will volunteer for early training and will fill the ranks of the skilled workers.

For the greater convenience of Red Cross workers and volunteers residing in other sections of the points new classes on the new dressings for beginners and the regular volunteers will be held at the Defer School at Kercheval and Nottingham on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 4 and 5 at 10 a. m.

All reservations for either day must be called in by August 2 to either Mrs. Carl McPhail, Tu. 2-3688, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Ni. 2-913 or Mrs. S. W. Hooking, Tu. 2-1471.

The Defer Unit will be open every Tuesday and Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Betsy Peabody was her sister's maid of honor, and she too wore a hooped-skirted frock of white and yellow dotted Swiss over a yellow tulle slip.

After the ceremony, a garden reception was held on the grounds.

The couple will make their home in Florida, where Lieut. Robinson is stationed, at the end of his leave.

STEALS LIGHT-
keep your lamps and fixtures clean
If someone were robbing your coalpile or rodent's nest, cabinet or steaming radiator, you'd take a great measure to stop the thief. But there's a culprit who may be stealing electricity right in your own home—and perhaps you aren't even aware of it. Don't let your lamps and fixtures cut prevent you from getting all the light you pay for. It can cut down the amount of light in your rooms, 10, 20, 30 per cent—equivalent to wasting that much electricity. And it's easy to overlook because the bulbs are usually hidden under lamp shades or in semi-enclosed lighting fixtures.
Lamp bulbs and reflector bowls should be checked frequently with a damp cloth. Lamp shades covered inside and out. Dark-colored shades soak up light and should be replaced with light shades or shades with white linings. This may give you as much as 50 per cent more light. Use the RIGHT SIZE BULBS in your lamps and fixtures—not too large, not too small. Too large a lamp may cause glare, too small a lamp may give inadequate light. Move your lamps closer to the point of use so that they shed their light more direct at your work. And finally, use adapter shades and linings to modernize your present equipment. They will help you get more light for the same amount of electricity, they cost little, and they are easily installed. They bring good lighting results while conserving material's—important in today's war economy. The Detroit Edison Company.

Kid - Bits

Biggest party the Pointe has seen for quite some time came off Friday night when the Red Nair's home on Rivard when at 8:00 o'clock, she decided to throw a hard-party, and called, and called, and called, and about 7:30 had 25 wittily, severely, crazily dressed kids there. Spaghetti was served in the red room and was too good, they say, to warrant having anything "hard-time" attached to it.

War Concert Will Be Held Here Tonight

The third of the series of Thursday night concerts on the Portico of the Grosse Pointe High school will start tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

The patriotic theme which will dominate tonight's concert will be War Stamp and Bond drive and its vital relationship to the financing of the war. The speaker who will treat the subject will be Frank S. Isbey, Michigan State Chairman of the War Stamp and Bond organization.

Mr. Isbey is undoubtedly one of the best informed men in the state on this subject and will give his audience many new angles on the Stamp and Bond campaign's relationship to the individual citizen and the country's needs.

The concert program which is rendered by the Michigan Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Walter Papp will be of the same high quality that has characterized the two previous evenings.

Music lovers have a treat awaiting them in the appearance of the soloist of the evening, Miss McClosky, has had her distinguished vocal artists of the country. Call Michigan Women For Defense Work

Government Warns if Women Avoid Industries Labor Must Be Imported; Housing Threatened; Post War Relief Intensified

The need for more women in war work has been brought to the attention of the Michigan Council of Defense by the Federal authorities in a setting which not only stresses the immediate need for such work in war industries and its relationship to the industrial situation in this state but suggests serious post war dislocations.

"Unless women can be recruited voluntarily to man the additional war machines in Michigan war plants," the three says, "one or more of these things may happen."

1. War contracts will have to be taken from Michigan and given to other areas.
2. Workers will have to be imported from other states.
3. Workers will have to be transferred from non-essential manufacturing employment to essential war work.

The Federal people seem to think the answer to these three probabilities rests directly with the women. Confessing that such a role is a radical departure for women from their accustomed place in the kitchen, nursery or with general home duties, it is imposed upon the women of Michigan by the dire necessities of war.

One of the unfortunate alternatives to the failure of the women to respond to this appeal would probably be the large scale importation of labor into Michigan which would dangerously overtax already crowded housing accommodations. This situation would reduce worker morale during the stress of war work and would open the gate to a serious post war relief load.

For the blind to mind there is no parades.

Congratulations To...

Looking at the Movies

By R. E. LUDWIG

The hit "Ship Ahoy" continues for a second week at the United Artists theater and moves again, that a jaunty and carefree musical, constructed with no matter how weak a story plot can become easily as big a drawing attraction as any of the greatest drama.

Two success factors are present in "Ship Ahoy". First, during war days, the film public generally reacts much more favorably to a frothy production than it does to a melodrama. Second, in "Ship Ahoy" are Red Skelton, Eleanor Powell, Deb Lahr, Tommy Dorsey and his band, and many others.

Skelton is present in one of the best roles in his career. His popularity is unusual, however, in that filmgoers are either rabid Skelton fans or very very hostile towards him. Luckily for Skelton, the majority are in the former classification.

Red first came to Detroit about two years ago while he was still a vaudeville holder and clown and had set to grab a Hollywood laurel. His appearance at the Michigan theater followed the recent so-called work of Bob Hope.

He loved on the stage with a refreshing line of patter and made critics admit that there was a newcomer that had something. The week was successful and Red left vaudeville shortly afterwards and headed west to the promised land.

His first starring vehicle was "Whisper in the Dark" and besides the current "Ship Ahoy" he has just finished the musical Broadway hit, "Panama Hattie", which will be released some time this fall.

We fall to see the appeal of steady longlegs Eleanor Powell. As a dancer she is 40, but as a romantic lead, well, she is 40 physically unfit.

The best film news in some time came out Monday, when it was announced that Mrs. Min-

Ladies Prefer - Marines

The Army and the Navy may claim their share of sweethearts, but lovely MAUREEN O'HARA prefers the Marines. You really can't help when she has a handsome "leatherneck" like JOHN PAYNE in the new 20th Century-Fox Technicolor action hit due Friday at the Vogue Theatre, "To the Shores of Tripoli."

Charles Laughton Coming to Punch

Presenting a colorful panorama of genuine South Sea life along with a delightful story and a group of brilliant screen characterizations, "The Turtles of Tahiti" will prove itself to be a top-notch film entertainment when it plays at the Punch and Judy Theatre this Friday and Saturday.

Charles Laughton has an ideal role as the lazy but likable Franz and Jon Hall and Peggy Drake do brilliantly in the romantic leads. Charles Vidor's direction of the film for RKO Radio film based on the Charles Nordhoff-James Normal Hall novel, "No More Gas" serves to make "The Turtles of Tahiti" a really notable piece of screen fare.

The smashing story of the U. S. Marine Corps and what it takes to turn out a fighting "leatherneck" has been brought to the screen in the Technicolor epic, "To the Shores of Tripoli," which comes to the Punch and Judy Theatre this Sunday through Thursday.

There is nothing more heretically traditional than the spirit of the Marines, and "To the Shores of Tripoli" shows us what makes them that way. Most of the action takes place at the San Diego Marine Base, and it is there that John Payne, a raw recruit, is turned into a first class fighting man by Sergeant Randolph Scott.

For romantic interest, which no marine would be without, Maureen O'Hara has been placed in the role of a lovely Navy nurse. Every American will want to see this stirring film. And after they see it, there will be many a better American for having done so! See "To the Shores of Tripoli!"

Labor Battalion Doing Great Job In Pointe Area

Victory Garden Council Meets to Discuss Group Activities of Group

A meeting was held on Monday afternoon, July 20 in the home of Mrs. J. Stewart Hudson at the Victory Garden Council to consider the growing activities of the Boys' Battalion in the Pointe communities. Those present were Vincent DePeters, chairman of the Council; Mrs. Phyllis Newberry, Mrs. Henry E. Candler, Mrs. John E. Redfield and Dr. Paul Escri, superintendent of the Grosse Pointe Schools.

The organization of boy workers, ranging in the age group of 12-18 years, was first conceived by its promoters as a means of providing wholesome character building employment for youngsters too young to be competitors of adult workers in war industries or any form of civil employment. It is stressed by the directors of the organization that these boys are not to be called for work of a description for which a family head or any able bodied adult is available. They cannot be regarded in any sense as factors in the labor market as normally understood.

It was decided to give the organization its fully descriptive name of Boys' Victory Garden Labor Battalion although the experience had shown that many residents of the Pointe are glad to call upon them for grass cutting and similar employment. It is stressed by the directors of the organization that these boys are not to be called for work of a description for which a family head or any able bodied adult is available. They cannot be regarded in any sense as factors in the labor market as normally understood.

The accumulation of a great fund of blood in this country at an early date is vitally necessary," Mr. Meredith said. "It offers an opportunity for those who have been regretting their inability to do more for their country in this way, to render a supreme service. It is in truth the literal giving of one's blood for their country and not to that impersonal thing as some might conceive a 'country', but to the very men and boys themselves who will be shedding theirs for our defense on the far flung battlefields of the world."

Blood Bank

That the residents of this area became aware of the situation. "Any normally healthy person between the ages of 21 and 60," Mr. Meredith said, "is qualified for blood donation." They may enroll at the American Red Cross Blood Bank at Cass and Alexander 8 p.m. Any information desired can be obtained by calling Temple 1-7423.

After enrolling the volunteer donor is subject to call. Only one pint of blood is taken by this method and no person will be accepted for a second donation less than once in eight weeks.

No Pain or Danger "There is absolutely no pain involved and no danger," Mr. Meredith said, "and the average person usually feels better after the donation than before. This is because most persons have more blood in their system than they need and are frequently benefited by the removal of a portion of it."

The entire time used in the donation is only 15 minutes from the moment of entrance at the Red Cross station until discharge. The actual time consumed in the extraction of the blood is only about 15 minutes. Two thirds of the time is consumed in resting a horn sandwich and in resting prior to discharge. Before the blood extraction the donor drinks a bit of orange juice which tends to equalize the removal of fluid from the system.

Few Hours Remains Blood "So rapidly do the compensating functions of nature work that in a very short time, reckoned only in hours, the donor has as much blood as formerly."

When the blood is removed it is subjected to a process which

Rutary's Prexy Gives Pep Talk To Service Club

The University of Detroit stadium has attracted many Pointers this week as guests, patriotically turned out for the Army War Show, the proceeds from which are being contributed to Army emergency relief.

Insists on Greater Activity for Good of Country and Community

The new president of the Grosse Pointe Rotary club, William J. Watkins, has been directing some pointed remarks to his membership regarding their activities for the community. As he expressed it, "We are supposed to be a service club, so let's go to it and be one."

Pursuant to the new sparkling stimulus of the new president, committees of the organization have been meeting for the past two weeks to study the opportunities for an enlarged service of the club to the Pointe area.

Out of a group of selectees of fifty old men drawn some months ago less than half remained after their physical examination and were inducted into service. These have been sponsored by the Rotary club and a special effort was made to maintain the organization to keep track of these young men and help them in any way possible.

In the case of Rotarians, former members of the club who get into war service, a systematic arrangement has been set up in the organization whereby home members will write to them in letters of encouragement.

Douglas MacKenzie, a Grosse Pointe senior, won the Detroit Public Parks junior singles tournament Sunday at the Belle Harbor club. To prove it let's look at the record.

Monday the Pointers, Robert and Tom Ireland, Jim Bailey, Bob Reese and Jim Donnelly, left for the Western National Tournament in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

All the boys are also on the Pointe High tennis team, which should be one of the State's outstanding squads next year.
