Thursday, February 11
PRESIDENT EISENHOWER declared his policy is to keep the United States out of the Indochina conflict and any other war in the world. However, he pointed out that every step this country takes in helping France to fight the Red Vietnamese forces in Indochina, is being done to help this country from becoming too deeply involved.

He conceded that there is some risk in everything that can be done in international affairs, but stressed that every move authorized is aimed at preventing war.

SYNGMAN RHEE, president of South Korea, stated that he wasn't bluffing when he announced that he is determined to reopen the war against Chinese Reds occupying North Korea, and that he will do this even without United States help if necessary.

He criticized American policy as "mistaken" in discussing peace with the Chinese and said that unification through political conference was ridiculous. He is convinced that Communist China has not lost its ambition for the whole of Korea, and that it will reopen the war as soon as it is ready. Rhee did not state when he will make his move.

RUSSIA'S OFFER of a 50-year collective security, provided the United States forces were expelled from Europe, was turned down by Britain and France. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov proposed to the Berlin conference the sponsoring of a 32-nation, all-European military bloc with the United States excluded.

His proposal called for a Europe united under the Kremlin's domination with a 32-nation mutual assistance and non-aggression treaty as its foundation. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said this would leave West Germany and West Europe open to external aggression.

MURRAY D. VAN WAGONER, former governor of Michigan, resigned under fire from the Mackinac Bridge Authority, after arousing the ire of Gov. Williams and Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the authority.

Van Wagoner's resignation came a few hours after he registered as a paid lobbyist for the Stifel-Nicolaus and Company, a bonding house in Chicago and a member of the financial syndicate which recently placed the $95,000,000 Mackinac Straits Bridge issue. He said that he never thought anyone would see anything wrong, as members of other State boards are registered as lobbyists.

THE THREE WESTERN foreign ministers have hopes of arranging negotiations with Red China on Far Eastern problems. The announcement was made after another day of hard, secret bargaining with Russia's V. M. Molotov.

Among the things already under discussion, is the question of an Austrian independence treaty. Molotov had not given a "yes" or "no" regarding the settling of the Korean War and then of the Communist action against France in Indochina, which they hoped will be settled before the conference convenes on Far East problems.

DIPLOMATIC SOURCES revealed that South Korean President Syngman Rhee has made an offer of sending one or two ROK divisions to Indochina, to help the French fight the Reds. Gen. John Hull, to whom Rhee personally made the offer, denied that two divisions have been mentioned, but refused to comment about one division.

There was no official confirmation of the Rhee report from either Washington or Seoul, where possibility of such action was discounted. The French Embassy said it knew nothing of the offer, which if made will be rejected, for fear Red China may intervene in the Indochinese war.

Call Meeting To Discuss Incinerator

Woods Promises to Keep Residents Fully Informed
On All Developments
Of Project

In order to clarify certain matters regarding the proposed Woods-owned incinerator, to be located on Marter road near the Girard Drain, City Administrator Ray MacArthur and several members of the Woods council have invited Aline drive residents to a special meeting to be held on Friday, February 26.

"About 25 or 30 of the residents living on Aline drive have expressed interest in the incinerator project," stated Mr. MacArthur, "and have asked for a meeting so that they can have the subject made clear to them."

Will Disclose Plans
He disclosed that from time to time, as plans for the incinerator take form, Woods residents will be notified, and that explanation sessions and other means of notification will be made to keep the public posted on any progress.

He denied that his office has refused to discuss the proposed project with any Woods residents, as was charged by several individuals.

In Initial Stage
He pointed out that the incinerator project is still in its initial stage, and as the plans unfold, the public as a whole, will be fully informed, either through his office, or by the council.

Plans for DUS-CDS School Win Honors for Architects

Plans for the new Detroit University-Grosse Pointe Country Day School now under construction in Cook road, have won national honors for the architectural firm of Lineweber, Yamasaki and Hellmuth.

A bronze plaque, the School Executives Award, was presented to the firm Saturday at the annual convention of the National Association of School Executives, in Atlantic City, N.J.

Minoru Yamasaki was present to receive the plaque, which is engraved "Winner of the 1953 Competition for Better School Design." There were 38 states represented in the competition.

Joseph Lineweber, a resident of Rivard boulevard, said Tuesday that the new school is expected to be ready for occupancy by the opening of the fall school

Tuxis Club's Variety Show Expected to Attract 2,000 To Present Chorus of 100

Sixth Annual Event For Organization's Benevolence Fund
To Be Given In Parcels School February 25 and 27

On Thursday and Saturday evenings, February 25 and 27, the Tuxis Club's annual variety show will be presented at 8:15 p.m. in the Parcels School auditorium at Mack avenue and Vernier road. This will be the sixth year that 200 of Grosse Pointe's young people will have their opportunity to perform before 2,000 residents.

When the series was begun, it was the intention of the Rev. Paul Ketchum, director of the Tuxis Club at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, and of Chet Sampson, the director of the six shows, to give all local young people the opportunity, during their high school years, to gain experience on a stage.

Audience Enthusiastic
Past audiences have been enthusiastic over the shows. The emphasis this year will be upon music and dancing. Tom Saunderson's Orchestra has worked hard on the special numbers. They will be featured in such music as "String of Pearls," "St. Louis Blues Parade," "Jumpin' at the Woodside," and others.

Ten groups of girls have worked up dance routines, making the largest number ever to be presented in a Tuxis show. The settings necessary for these dances are keeping many students busy painting backdrops. The scenes are for such dances as "The Creep," "Bellbottom Blues," "Hot Toddy," "Mississippi Mud," and "Lullaby of Broadway." One production number is an Italian street scene, featuring dancers, a chorus, and specialties.

Chorus of 100 Voices
Bill Carrothers, director of the vocal music, reports that he has a chorus of 100 voices as well as quartets and octets to perform on such numbers as "Istanbul," "Winter Wonderland," "Shrimp Boats," etc.

Among the comedy routines will be one entitled "There's No Business Like the Pushcart Business."

Tickets for the show may be purchased at the door or from Tuxis Club members. The Thursday performance is intended principally for adults. All proceeds will go into the Tuxis Club's Benevolence Fund.

Purse Snatcher Grabs Thin Air

Mrs. Georgena Heinrich of the Protestant Children's Home, 900 Cook road, informed Woods police on Sunday, February 14, that a young boy attempted to snatch her purse.

She stated that she was walking east on Cook road, near East Kings court, when a young boy approached and while passing made a grab for her purse. Failing to take it away from her, she said, the boy fled, running west on Cook road to Blossom lane, southward, and then she lost sight of him.

A 14-year-old suspect was picked up and taken to the Home for possible identification by Mrs. Heinrich. He was released when she said he was not the culprit.

Burglaries Confessed to By Teenagers

Cash, Camera and Rifle
Stolen on Several Visits to Ruel Residence in Shores

With the arrest of two teenagers, Shores police cleared up a breaking and entering case which occurred last December 8, and other thefts from the same house.

According to Shores Police Chief Fred Duemling, two Detroit youths, Milton L. De Marco of 1221 Engle, and Neil Cherry, 17, of 1539 Fairview, were taken into custody on Monday, February 8, and formally charged with forcibly entering the home of William Ruel, 485 Lake Shore road, on the December date, and taking about $30.

The burglary was reported by Ruel and Police Sgt. George La Forest and Patrolman Charles Wenrich were assigned to investigate. They found that entry was gained by breaking the rear door window leading to the kitchen.

On February 8, Mrs. Ruel called police and complained of mysterious phone calls, and asked that her house be watched as no one would be home that night.

Nab Four Youths
Patrolmen William Welas and Melvin Yacks, while checking the house, noticed a car driving into the driveway without lights. They stopped the car and took its occupants, three teenagers, whose names were not given because they are innocent parties, and De Marco to the station.

De Marco, when questioned, confessed to the December burglary, and said that Cherry was his accomplice. Both suspects also admitted they previously took a camera and a .22 caliber rifle from the Ruel residence. These were recovered by the police.

Warrants were obtained against the two from the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office on the date of their arrest.

They were placed under $500 bond each, following an examination before Shores Judge George Gillis, and released until their trial.

48 Sheets Stolen At Country Club

Forty-eight bed sheets were stolen from its linen room, the Country Club of Detroit informed Farms police on Friday, February 12.

The theft, the management told investigating officers, occurred the previous day, February 11. The sheets were taken from the basement linen room. Total value of the loss amounted to about $89. Entry was gained through an opening used for refrigeration motors.

Students' Parents Hold High Opinion Of Pointe Schools

Opinion Pole Conducted by Survey Research Center of University of Michigan Produces Interesting and Favorable Answers

Parents of Grosse Pointe public school children hold a highly favorable opinion of the district's school system, according to the findings of an opinion pole conducted by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan.

Results of the pole were presented last Thursday evening at a meeting at the Board of Education building, by Dr. Charles F. Cannell of the Survey Research Center.

Trustworthy Survey
Dr. Cannell described the Grosse Pointe survey as more trustworthy than most opinion poles, because it was based on a complete list of all parents of all children in the schools.

From this listing the persons to be interviewed were chosen by a strict "random sampling" method. Every eighteenth name was chosen, thus giving every parent an equal chance of being interviewed.

Subject to a statistically established margin of error of from five to seven percent, the results may be regarded as a highly reliable cross section of the opinion of all parents in the community, Dr. Cannell declared.

The Findings Listed
The findings of the survey show:

1. Ninety-two percent of the parents believe that their children are enthusiastic about school and react favorably to it.
2. Eighty-six percent of the parents feel that the schools are doing an excellent job of helping children to get along well with other people and to become useful members of society. This area of training for citizenship led all others in the approval of the parents.

3. Sixty-eight percent of the parents of elementary school children are well satisfied with the teaching of the fundamentals, such as reading, writing, spelling, and arithmetic.

4. Sixty-eight percent of the parents of elementary school children believe the schools are giving their children a good grounding for high school. Sixty-three percent of the parents of high school students feel that the high school is giving their children a good grounding for college or whatever else they may be expected to do after high school.

5. Sixty-seven percent of the parents believe that their children are learning better than they did in school, and they attribute this to materials, conditions and the way things are taught.

6. Seventy percent feel that their children get enough personal attention from the teachers. Of those who feel otherwise, few blamed the teachers or principal—most blamed the fact of too-large classes.

7. Concerning the social program of the school, there is less agreement among parents, although the majority are satisfied with the number of social activities.

8. Parents are more critical of discipline in the schools than of any other point touched upon by the survey. Fifty-five percent gave unqualified approval of the school's handling of discipline, but one-fourth of those interviewed felt the need for improvement. A larger percent of fathers than of mothers is pleased with discipline in the schools.

9. Eighty percent of the parents interviewed are well satisfied.

Zoning Law Amended By City Solons

Council Votes to Restrict
Class C Licenses in District
C to Three Now Existing

At a public hearing held in the Parcels Junior High School auditorium on Monday, February 15, not a single voice was raised for or against a proposed amendment to the Woods' Zoning Ordinance 88.

With the calling of the hearing, Mayor Paul Rowe announced that those present would be given an opportunity to speak for or against the proposed change, but no one accepted the invitation.

Vote Is Unanimous
After waiting a reasonable time, the Woods council then voted unanimously to adopt the amendment, which, in effect, limits Class C liquor licenses in District C to the three places now in operation.

The change puts teeth into a present ordinance which was okayed by a majority of Woods voters in 1952. However, the validity of the ordinance will be tested in Circuit Court.

A husband-wife owner of a Woods restaurant, at a previous meeting, served the mayor, councilman, City Administrator Ray MacArthur, and the Liquor Control Commission, with writs requiring them to show cause why their license application should not be approved.

Berns Handling Case
Woods City Attorney Jules Berns is handling the case for the city.

The restaurant owners are seeking one of four new liquor licenses which the LCC has made available for the Woods.

They presented their petition to the council last month, but following a heated debate at a public hearing, their request was denied.

David E. Burgess New Councilman

David E. Burgess of 641 Washington road, took his oath of office on Monday, February 15, as the City's newest councilman. The oath was administered by Grosse Pointe City Clerk Norbert Neff.

Mr. Burgess filled a vacancy created by Fred W. Parker, Jr., who was elected mayor of the City at the last election. He was appointed to fill the council seat until the expiration of the term in November, 1955.

During the recent world conflict, the new councilman was resident agent in Haekensack, N. J., for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He held this position from 1941 until he resigned five years later to return to live in the Pointe.

Mr. Burgess, who received his law degree from the University of Detroit Law School in 1939, is practicing law with the firm of Goddard, McClintock, Fulton and Donovan.

He has been admitted to practice law before the U. S. Supreme Court, and was accorded this honor through an introduction by Michigan's senior senator, Homer Ferguson. He is also a member of the Michigan Bar Association.

He is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, a member of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, a member of Detroit Lodge No. 2, F.&M., King Cyrus Chapter No. 133, R.A.M.; and the Detroit Commandery No. 1.

Following his resignation as an FBI agent, he and his wife, Marie, and their family, moved to the Woods, where they lived for one year, and then came to live in the City, where they have been living since 1949.

The couple have five children, David, 13; Susan, 10; twins, Martha and Mary, 5; and Charles, who is one year old.

HURT IN FALL ON ICE
City police took Bob Yeager, 17, to his home on Thursday, February 11, when he injured himself. He had fallen on the ice and injured his back.

STRICKEN IN SCHOOL
Sally Stewart, 15, was turned over to Woods police to be taken home when she became ill at Grosse Pointe High School on Thursday, February 11. Farms police picked her up from the school. She lives at 2074 Brys drive.

200 Attend Center Town Hall Meeting

Experts and Representatives of All Pointes Discuss Chief
Problems of Area

Some 200 residents attended a Town Hall meeting, sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Grosse Park, and held in the War Memorial Center on Wednesday night, February 10. Representatives of all five Pointe municipalities were present to discuss affairs of their communities and to answer questions.

Dr. Louis L. Friedland, associate professor of public administration and government, of Wayne University, was moderator. Mrs. T. R. Sprague, of the league, acted as mistress of ceremonies and introduced the various speakers.

Paul M. Reid, planning analyst of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission, one of the chief speakers, told the past the Pointe area plays in the development of the whole metropolitan district. He said the Pointes have three courses they can follow in future development of this fast-growing area—1. Independent political action such as is taken now in every possible case; 2. Cooperative action, with the establishment of authorities to handle problems which must be considered jointly; and 3. Consolidation of the Pointes into one municipality.

A number of problems which

Old Landmark Vanishes in City

A landmark in the City was recently torn down to make room for a new two-story building.

The landmark, which until lately, housed Jack Simpson's Shoe Repair shop, 17018 Kercheval, was erected in 1914, and was originally used as a grocery store. At the time, it was owned by the late Henry O'Hooghe.

The building was the first business edifice to be erected on Kercheval just east of Detroit; in the then Village of Grosse Pointe. The modern building which will take its place, will have a full basement and will be two stories high. Building will be started this spring.

Mr. Neff revealed that the first business building in Grosse Pointe is now the site of the parking lot of Best and Company. It was a sort of general store, built in 1907 and used until 1910 or 1912. It was torn down about 20 years ago.

The Kercheval business store was the magnet which drew other businesses to the present Village Shopping Center, Mr. Neff pointed out.

Woods Charter Amendment Plan Approved by Governor

A proposed amendment to the Woods City Charter was approved by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, the Woods council was informed on Monday, February 15.

The amendment, which will deprive the Woods council of the power to repeal or amend any ordinance approved by the people of the city at an election, was voted to be placed on the ballot for the April 5 election, by the members of the council.

If passed, the change will take away, once and for all, the council's power to repeal or amend any ordinance six months after it has been approved by the voters.

The amendment was proposed by Councilman Waid McKnight, following a stormy hearing in which two restaurant owners sought to obtain a liquor license, permitting them to serve liquor by the glass to their customers, along with food.

The resulting protests by Woods citizens, prompted McKnight to recommend the proposed change, which when agreed upon by other members of the council, was sent to the Governor for his approval on January 4.

Parents Hold High Opinion of Pointe Public Schools

 fed with the way school finances are administered. They feel that the schools are well equipped and the money is spent wisely. Almost half of them (46 percent), however, think that the Grosse Pointe public schools need more money.

 10. Almost half of those interviewed (44 percent) find the schools overcrowded.
 Gratifying to Board
 Concerning the findings of the survey Dr. James W. Bushong, Superintendent of Schools, commented:

"Naturally the results of this survey are gratifying to me and to the members of the Board of Education. We are happy that it indicates that the people of Grosse Pointe are pleased with the type of education their children are getting. However, the great value of this report comes from the fact that it shows certain specific areas where improvement can and should be made. In our constant effort to keep improving our educational program, these points will receive the immediate attention of the Board and the professional staff."

Paper Wanted Check
 The survey was initiated by the staff of the Board of Education publication, "Education in Our Town," in an effort to obtain an objective check of the paper's usefulness to the community. When the problem was taken up with the Department of Journalism of the University of Michigan, a class of graduate students in a seminar studying survey methods under Dr. Cannell volunteered to conduct a pole here to determine the reaction of parents to the schools and to "Education in Our Town."

A lengthy questionnaire was prepared, and a committee of more than 38 mothers, many of them P.T.A. members, was organized to act as interviewers. These volunteer workers were "briefed" in a training session by Dr. Cannell before they set out to call at the homes of 280 mothers and fathers, whose names were drawn from the enrollment lists.

240 Interviews Completed
 They were able to obtain completed interviews with 240 of the 280 assigned individuals. This number was regarded as highly satisfactory by Dr. Cannell.

"Any professional group that can get an 85 percent response in a survey is very happy with itself," he said.
 Dr. Cannell emphasized the fact that in survey work it is not the total number of interviews that is significant but the method of selection of those interviewed. The Survey Research Center has based reports of the opinion of the entire nation on 1500 interviews, he said, and the largest number of interviews ever taken by anyone for a nation-wide pole is 3,500.

"The Grosse Pointe survey is a better survey than any Gallup pole you ever saw," he summarized.

Accuracy Cited
 The variation in the final tabulations was further cited as evidence of the survey's accuracy. Although responses were uniformly more favorable than criticism, the percentage of agreement ranged from a bare majority to above 90 percent on different items.

Concerning "Education in Our Town" the results of the survey were also favorable. The established method of relying on children to take the paper home is a fairly adequate system of circulation, since three-fourths of the parents interviewed reported that they usually receive it. Of this group 88 percent said that they read it rather thoroughly.

Most Parents Read It
 The publication apparently is given attention by nearly two-thirds of all parents of school children. This is regarded as an unusually high percentage for an infrequent, free-of-charge publication.

Ninety percent of the people think that it is the duty of the Board of Education to try to inform them about the schools, and 79 percent think that "Education in Our Town" needs to be published. They are pleased with the quality of the paper's editing and praise the competence of the editorial staff. Three-quarters of the people want controversial subjects discussed in the paper before decisions about them are made by the Board of Education.

"Education in Our Town" is a four-page leaflet which appears five times each school year. It was established in the fall of 1948. The most recent issue was sent home from the schools yesterday. Available to All
 Any citizen desiring a copy may have his name placed on the mailing list by notifying any member of the school staff.

 Copies of the entire report made by the Survey Research Center of the "Education in Our Town" survey have been given to the school staff members and P.T.A. representatives for further study. They may be obtained by interested persons at the Board of Education offices, 389 St. Clair avenue.

Members of the school staff who serve on the editorial board of "Education in Our Town" are Miss Doris K. Trutt, Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, Mr. Charles Jorgensen, Miss Marjorie Harger, and Mrs. Jennie Dombroski. Mrs. Donald Foster serves as a parent advisor.

Many Mothers Helped
 Among the mothers who assisted with the interviewing for the survey were: Mrs. Fred Adams; Mrs. Richard Bruneau; Mrs. D. H. Butler; Mrs. Daniel Chieger; Mrs. G. Gordon Cook; Mrs. Michael S. David; Mrs. Philip B. Day, Jr.; Mrs. I. W. Mrs. Karl W. Firth; Mrs. D. C. Foster; Mrs. George C. Fredrickson; Mrs. W. H. Granse; Mrs. John B. Gray; Mrs. Emil Grundner; Mr. R. C. Hagland; Mrs. F. B. Others included: Mrs. L. F. Hope; Mrs. Glen Howell; Mrs. R. B. Hunter; Mrs. Lee E. Joslyn; Mrs. Paul Keller; Mrs. R. J. Ladd; Mrs. A. P. Leele; Mrs. Lewis M. Leisinger; Mrs. Miles F. WOODS APPROVES BID should be handled jointly were discussed, such as water supply, regulations, garbage and rubbish disposal, transportation and drainage.
 The Woods council approved a bid of $1,602 on Monday, February 15, the lowest of three, to have the wiring done in the new Municipal garage. Marder road and the Girard drain.

Cite Chief Problems
 Representatives of the various Pointes were asked to state the biggest problems with which their municipalities are faced. Rex Johnston, Woods councilman cited sewers and rubbish and garbage disposal.

Harry Furton, City Clerk of the Farms, said new parking plans are receiving the greatest amount of study in his city. He said there are many problems which in his opinion should be tackled jointly by all the Pointes and cited the success of the joint police radio system.

Everitt Lane, manager of the Park, cited the proposed new marina adjacent to the beach park, as one of that city's biggest projects, and said much study is also being given to boosting storm water pumping capacity. Thomas Jefferis, superintendent of the Shores, said work on a master plan and completion of the village's new sewer system are the two chief activities there.

Morgan There for City
 Sidney Morgan, former councilman of the City of Grosse Pointe, cited parking and rubbish disposal as the main problems there and spoke of the development of the recreational facilities, which is now being undertaken.

When asked for their opinions of the gathering, the Pointe representatives all praised the League of Women Voters for taking the initiative in such a program. Mr. Lane and Mr. Johnston felt that such meetings keep the people informed, but expressed the opinion that they should be for individual municipalities rather than for the whole group.

Mr. Furton said that if more people could be attracted to this type of meeting, they would have an opportunity to find out the opinions of those managing their municipality. He also said that in such a community as the Pointe, he feels it is absolutely necessary for all of them to administer their affairs with a thought to the welfare of the others. Cooperative action is needed for efficiency and fairness to all residents of the Pointe area, he believes.

POLICE HELP ILL STUDENT
 Carole Stoneking, 16, of 747 Barrington, was too ill to remain in class at Grosse Pointe High School on Thursday, February 11.

SPARE TIRE EXPLODES
 Woods police, sent to 1604 Dorthen, to investigate an "explosion," spoke to Fred Ospedale, who stated that while he was eating, he heard an explosion at the rear of his car. Investigation disclosed that a tire in the trunk of Ospedale's car blew up.

Report Shows Local Gains In Residential Buildings

A report of residential building in the Detroit Region, submitted by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission, revealed that the Pointe communities and Harper Woods gained an over-all total of 1,077 new homes during 1953.

The biggest gain in the Pointe was shown by the Woods, which acquired 305 new dwellings, followed by the Farms, with 147; the Park, with 82; the City, 33; and the Shores with 17.

Harper Woods showed the largest number of all, leading with 493 homes.

According to the report, the Detroit Region showed a 22.8 per cent gain during 1953, over that of 1952. In 1953, permits were issued for 33,582 dwelling units as against a total of 27,339 in 1952.

T. Ledyard Blakeman, executive director of the planning agency, disclosed that permits were issued for 29,287 single-family units; 520 units in two-family structures; and 3,775 units in building with three or more family accommodations, most of which were in Detroit itself.

Within the space of four years, residential dwelling permits totaled 133,051 in the Detroit Region alone. This record indicates that 78 per cent of the new homes being erected in the region are located in the suburbs and outlying sections of the area, 22 per cent of which is being constructed in Detroit.

Building permits granted in Wayne County reached 12,374 dwelling units during 1953. This constitutes a gain of 2,160 over the previous year, or an increase of 21.1 per cent.

As in the past, permits for single-family dwellings predominated, numbering 12,144. There were 58 two-family units permits and 18 for structures to house three or more families each, totaling 113 family units.

Since 1950, the out-County units of government have issued permits for a total of 49,864 dwelling units, constituting about 37 per cent of the total each year, in the Detroit Region.

Gridiron Greats Attend Cub Scout Dinner

When the St. Paul Cub Scouts held their Father and Son dinner on February 9, much of the attention centered about GEORGE WILSON, left, assistant coach of the Detroit Lions, and BOB SMITH, halfback of the world championship team. Note the slick haircombs on the youngsters scrambling for autographs.

5-Year-Old Hurt In Park Accidents

A small boy, visiting his grandparents in the Park, was seriously injured by an auto on Wednesday, February 10, and rushed to Bon Secours Hospital.

A Park police accident report disclosed that Jeffrey H. Cornelius, 5, of 1932 Allard, was struck by a car driven by Erlene A. Sprung, 27, of 3630 Beaconsfield, Detroit, a Cottage Hospital nurse.

The boy was taken to the hospital suffering from compound fractures of both legs, a skull fracture and internal injuries.

In a written statement to police, the woman claimed that she was traveling west on Charlevoix, between 25 to 30 miles an hour, and had crossed the intersection at Charlevoix and Harvard, when the boy jumped from the curb into the path of her car. She said she could not see the boy because of the late afternoon sun glare, but when she did, it was too late.

Three young witnesses, Connie and Paul Frantis, 10, and 7 respectively, of 1437 Harvard, and Beverly Butler, 10, of 1354 Audubon, stated that Jeffrey was about 18 inches from the curb at the crosswalk when he was struck.

The driver of the car, after making a report to Park police, was taken to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office to make a statement and then released pending the outcome of the accident.

Congressman Rabaut Urges Allegiance Pledge Change

Congressman Louis C. Rabaut (D., Mich.) has renewed his plea to Congress for passage of a resolution he introduced last year to amend the pledge of allegiance to the flag to include the words "under God."

The Detroit Congressman pointed out that President Eisenhower, seated in Abraham Lincoln's new in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church in Washington, at which Lincoln worshipped, heard the Rev. George M. Docherty urge an amendment of the pledge to include the identical phrase, in a Lincoln Day sermon, February 7. The phrase, "under God" was used by Lincoln in the Gettysburg address.

Rep. Rabaut's remarks follow: Mr. Speaker, in the first session of this Congress, on April 20, 1953, I introduced in the House, Joint Resolution 249, to amend the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

That resolution would insert in the pledge the words, "under God," so that the pledge would then read: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

I have been most pleased to note in the press a report of the sermon of the Rev. George M. Docherty at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, the church at which Abraham Lincoln worshipped. The sermon was delivered on February 7 with President and Mrs. Eisenhower seated in Lincoln's pew.

Lincoln in his Gettysburg address used the words "under God" and Doctor Docherty seized the opportunity to urge the phrase be added to the pledge. Without these words, he said, the pledge ignores a definite factor in the American way of life and that factor is belief in God. Without that phrase, the pledge could be the pledge of any Republic.

Relating how his children once described "with strange solemnity the ritual of the salute to the flag," he added: "I could hear little Muscovites repeat a similar pledge to their hammer and sickle flag with equal solemnity." For Russia, he pointed out, also claims to be a republic, indivisible, with justice and liberty.

Doctor Docherty and I are not of the same Christian denomination, but I may say that in this matter he has hit the nail right on the head. You may argue from dawn to dusk about differing political, economic and social systems, but the fundamental issue which is the unbridgeable gap between America and Communist Russia is belief in Almighty God.

From the root of atheism stems the evil weed of Communism and its branches of materialism and political dictatorship. Unless we are willing to affirm our belief in the existence of God and His Creator-creature relation to man, we drop man himself to the significance of a grain of sand and open the flood gates to tyranny and oppression.

An "atheistic American," as Doctor Docherty points out "is a contradiction in terms."

This country was founded on theistic beliefs, on belief in the worthwhileness of the individual

Driver Absolved In Bus Accident

Farms firemen were called upon to remove James Davis, 30, of 4810 Detroit, to Bon Secours Hospital on Friday, February 12, when a Lake Shore Lines bus ran over his foot.

According to a statement given to Farms police by the bus driver, John F. Madden of 9410 Manistique, Detroit, Davis was picked up at Russell and E. Jefferson, in an intoxicated condition.

Davis asked that he be let off at Kercheval and Country Club drive, then fell asleep. Arriving at the man's destination, Madden awakened him and assisted him from the coach.

As he was driving away, Madden informed police, traveling about seven feet, he heard a bump, and stopping his bus, got out to investigate. He found Davis flat on his face, unconscious, in a position indicating the bus had gone over his leg.

The bus driver hurried to a nearby home and called police. Passengers aboard the bus collaborated Madden's statement, and he was absolved of any blame.

Three Injured As Cars Tangle

Albert Hoekstra, Jr., 26, of 28242 Roseland, Roseville, was ticketed by Park police on Saturday, February 13, for not having his car under control and causing an accident. He will appear in court on March 3.

A police accident report revealed that Hoekstra, who had been drinking, was traveling east on Mack avenue and had failed to stop for a red light at the intersection of Mack and Whittier, and as a result, struck a car driven by Marie Consiglio, 25, of 4345 Maryland, which in turn struck one driven by Sigfried Rist of 13053 Sarsfield, East Detroit.

The woman and her sister, Angela, a passenger in her car and Hoekstra were taken to Bon Secours Hospital for treatment of injuries received in the crash. Hoekstra was treated for a cut in the mouth and a bump on the head. The Consiglio sisters were both treated for lacerations of right and left legs below the knees.

The driver of the third car was not injured.

World Politics Discussion Group Forming at Library

How much freedom can a democracy afford? Can we defeat unacceptable ideologies without resorting to methods we despise? Does a worthy end in international affairs justify harsh means? These and other equally basic questions will be discussed in the World Politics group starting next Monday evening at the Central Library at Kercheval and Fisher.

The group, to meet for two hour sessions on ten successive Mondays, is under the local sponsorship of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library. The materials and national direction of the course are under the auspices of the American Foundation for Political Education.

The Foundation, whose activities are financed partly by participants' fees but largely by a grant from the Fund for Adult Education, was the result of a group of business and professional men deciding to make a positive move against what they believe to be one of the weak points of our American democracy—the lag in political thinking of many otherwise highly literate adults. It has thus set up a program not designed primarily to convey information but instead geared to emphasize critical reading, reflection, and stimulating exchange of opinion.

Each of the weekly sessions is based on a group of readings totaling about 60 pages. Each weekly quota includes a number of pertinent selections from political leaders whose views—whether tasteful or distasteful—represent one stand on a basic question of national or international policy. The two discussion leaders do not promote their own views; rather they attempt to facilitate a joint inquiry from which each individual will draw his own conclusions.

Among the Pointers who have participated in past World Politics groups are: Mr. and Mrs. Wald McKnight, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Rankin, Rev. William Shoberg, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Kellogg, Miss Helen Nurnberger, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tilley, Mrs. Fred T. Murphy, Roger McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lucas, Miss Leona Weiler, Mr. and Mrs. Kneeland Welch, Mrs. William T. Krebs, George Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parcells, Jr., Harry Elkins, James Everett, and C. W. Hooper.

The fee for the course, $12.00, includes a set of readings which the participant retains; couples are given a special rate of $18.00 for which they share one set of books. A brochure describing the objectives, methods, and content of World Politics is available at any one of the three Grosse Pointe libraries, with further information available from Mr. Jones or Miss Preuthon at the Central Library.

Advance reservations may be made with them or at the first session on Monday, February 22, at 8 p.m. in the Friends Room of the Central Library.

Donald D. Ellis, Battery Commander and Lt. Robert C. Hill, Executive Officer and M/Sgt. Winnie I. McCarthy, Battery First Sergeant.

The party enjoyed luncheon in the mess hall and then toured the Site, inspecting living quarters, PX facilities, command post and orderly room.

While on site, General Lewis pinned the Silver Leaves of Lt. Colonel O'Connell who received notification of the promotion while the inspecting party was dining in the Battery D Mess Hall.

Student Drivers' Training Course Pays Off In Safety

By Bill Grasse
Journalism Student

Less than 4 percent of the students who have taken Grosse Pointe High School Drivers' Training course have had accidents or moving violations of any kind! This is in sharp contrast to the 25 percent violation record of Grosse Pointe teenagers who have not had the training.

Of the 105 who have passed this course in the last two years only five have been involved in a moving violation of any kind, whereas 243 violations were recorded against the approximate 1,000 drivers in the 14-18 year age bracket within the Pointe, in 1953 alone, according to police records.

The 18-year olds were the heaviest offenders within this latter group, very few violations being charged to those with restricted licenses.

"We bring the Police Traffic School to our students in the classroom," said Mr. Ray Watling, who has charge of the school's Drivers' Training Program.

Mr. Watling said that above all else, his students desired to learn to drive. He declares that they will work hard if they are given the proper equipment and situation with which to practice.

"Dual control and the calmness of the instructor, plus the realization of the student that a mistake won't mean an accident are important factors in the success of this program," said Mr. Watling.

Thirty Grosse Pointe students are signed up for this course this semester, and there is a waiting list of others who desire to enroll.

Mr. Watling stated that the big question facing the school now is how the facilities can be expanded so more students can get the benefits of the Drivers' Training.

When the Drivers' Training students were asked to write an essay on "What Drivers' Training Has Done for Me," the great majority of them stated that every student should be required to take the course before he is issued a license.

"Skill of driving is not a big job, but the right attitude is important," Mr. Watling stressed. "I believe most of my students have developed that attitude."

Protestant Home Children Circus-Bound

Protestant Home children, all 64 of them, eagerly awaited the bus that took them to see the Shrine Circus at the Michigan Fair Grounds on Saturday, February 13. The Home obtained the general admission tickets, and the Grosse Pointe American Legion, Post 303, sponsor of the outing, furnished transportation and paid the difference for reserve circus seats to assure the children a good view. Van Steen's Market donated all the refreshments.

Rewards Given Safety Patrols

A day at the circus was the reward given to 150 Safety Patrol Girls from the Richard Kerby, Country Day and Maire Schools on Thursday, February 11, for service and attention to duty.

The group was under the leadership of City Patrolman Julius Deraedt, and Farms Patrolmen Joseph Miller and William Elworthy, safety officers of their respective communities, and several teachers from the schools.

Tickets to the affair were donated by Tracy Motor Sales, and transportation was furnished by the Grosse Pointe Lions Club. Two buses were used.

Not to be left out, 135 Safety Patrol boys from the Richard Kerby, St. Paul and Maire Schools, will attend the final Golden Gloves tournament at the U. of D. Field House tonight, February 18. Arrangements for this event were made by Officers Miller and Deraedt.

Tickets were donated by Frank Connelly of the CYO, and bus transportation will be furnished by the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club.

The boys will meet at their respective schools and then will converge on Maire School at 8:45 p.m.

The tournament will commence at 8 p.m. and end at 10:45 p.m.

Red Cross Drive Opens March 1

The 1954 Red Cross campaign for Detroit and Wayne county will start Monday, March 1, with workers' luncheon in the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel and will continue through March 31.

Raymond T. Ferring, chairman of Detroit Chapter, has appointed Lansing M. Pittman of 953 Three Mile drive, general chairman of the campaign, with Lem W. Bowen and F. Sibley Moore, both Pointers, as vice-

LANSING M. PITTMAN chairman. Mrs. Sherman J. Fitzsimons, Jr., of 66 Stephens road, is chairman of special gifts and Mrs. Harold B. Collins of Harper Woods will head the general solicitation division.

Solicitation throughout the city and county will be under the direct supervision of more than a score of area chairmen, with many years' service at Red Cross volunteers to their credit.

Campaign headquarters will be in the Red Cross Building, 153 Elizabeth East, Detroit.

The campaign ties in with the national appeal of the American Red Cross for a goal this year of $85,000,000 and 30,000,000 new adult members. More than 3,700 Red Cross chapters throughout the land will participate.

Detroit Chapter, which receives the major part of its funds through the United Foundation, still needs approximately $150,000 to complete its budget of $1,831,000 for the fiscal year 1953-54.

Mr. Pittman, this year's campaign chairman, is a vice-chairman of the chapter and a member of the executive committee.

The March Campaign covers those people who did not contribute to the Red Cross at their place of employment through the United Foundation. House-to-house solicitation by the United Foundation does not include the Red Cross.

The following appointments have been made: Mrs. Frank W. Donovan, chairman, Grosse Pointe City; Mrs. Adam Kiiskalt, chairman, and Mrs. Albert Klieck, assistant chairman, Grosse Pointe Farms; Mrs. Paul Jerome, chairman, Grosse Pointe Park; Mrs. P. C. Beatty, chairman, Grosse Pointe Woods and Shores; Mrs. John Barlow and Mrs. King Clifford, co-chairmen, Harper Woods.

All chairmen are in need of volunteers to help complete the solicitation. Persons interested in helping can reach them through the Red Cross, Woodward 1-3900, Extension 270.

MSC Players Plan Presentation For Elementary School Children

Grosse Pointe elementary school children will have the opportunity of viewing one of the most elaborate productions of Grimm's famous fairy tale "Rumpelstiltskin" which has ever been produced in the metropolitan area, when the Michigan State Players return to Pierce Auditorium on Saturday, March 13.

The American Association of University Women is sponsoring the production. As has been the custom in the past there will be two performances, one at 10:30 in the morning and one at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Costume, stage and lighting crews of the Michigan State Speech Department have been working furiously for the past eight weeks to create the many magical stage effects included in the play. A large cast of 30 students including Peggy Fisher of Grosse Pointe Farms, as well as many Detroiters, will enact the famous fairy tale characters.

Every effort to produce the play with absolute authenticity has been put forth by the college staff which is conceded to be one of the most capable Children's Theater departments in the United States. Both Michigan State and the Grosse Pointe Branch of the A.A.U.W. are recognized members of the Children's Theater Conference, a national organization devoted to promoting the finest in juvenile entertainment at low costs.

For the convenience of the parents, tickets will be available at all Parent Teacher Association, Cub Scout, and Brownie meetings held before the performance. They are also on sale at Fromm's Hardware, Punch and Judy Toyland and the Harkness Pharmacy on Mack avenue. "Rumpelstiltskin" is the third such production which the Children's Theater committee of the A.A.U.W. has brought to the Pointe in the last year and promises to produce as much entertainment as its predecessors, "Heidi" and "Mr. Dooley Jr."

Even though money will not make you happy, it is a fact that you can be just as unhappy without it.

Society News Gathered From All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

By Jane Schermerhorn

FEBRUARY FACTS AND FANCIES—There were just a few minutes left before Cecil Beaton, photographer-extra ordinary, author, artist, would be up on his feet at the Country Club, ready to answer questions tossed by the ladies who had heard him earlier at Detroit Town Hall . . . And in those few minutes we coaxed him to comment on some of his companions at the speakers' table . . . those close enough so our little game wouldn't be known to all and therefore make them self-conscious . . . Immediately across the table sat the highly decorative Mrs. Oscar Olson . . . "A very modern beauty" decided Mr. Beaton, "I like the fresh, scrubbed look of her face. Her full brows, and the way she's put on her lip rouge are typical of today's beauty. Very nice and again, very modern. The kind of face you wouldn't have seen ten years ago." . . . His glance slid down to the end of the table to Mrs. Alfred J. Mayer, Jr., who was elegant, indeed, in a black crepe frock with tiny jeweled turn-down collar. Said Mr. Beaton: "See the lovely warm flush at the low sides of her face. You know, the Queen Mother has that same warm coloring, flushing at just the same place. The color rises on her lower face as she enters a room. It's very lovely and to me it always marks a person well worth knowing, a person who cares intensely for others' happiness." For the beauty, Mary Morgan, who introduced him at the theater and again at the Standing Room Only Country Club luncheon, he voted for her round, witty and searching blue eyes. "But she has a beauty very difficult to photograph," he informed. And that was interesting, since just the week before we had heard a friend remonstrating with the CKLW charmer that a photograph, which advertises her weekly fashioncasting stint at the Sheraton-Cadillac, doesn't at all do her justice.

Lands In a Holly Bush

Then he was standing at the mike, graciously answering questions with such ease we were left with nothing to do but believe one-half the story he told us. All his life, he's had two great intimations: public speaking and bicycle riding. He had led us to believe that his heart froze when he was asked to address the village idiots by a speech as simple as, "The vegetable show is opened." He speaks with all the charm and brilliance of his countrymen. As for bicycle riding, he didn't even attempt it until he was twenty years old. "I decided I could master two wheels and a steering gadget, got on it, and drove smack into a holly bush." He's never tried since.

Mr. Beatons Meets Mme. Addams

Mr. Beaton met the Pointe's Marge Addams and loved her as we all do . . . She's definitely one of our "worth knowing" gran' dames whose fame has been carried coast to coast by celebrities who've visited our hamlet as well as by her many, many friends . . . Even the English poise of Mr. Beaton must have been a little shaken to hear her demand, after luncheon, "How do you like my hat?" It was easy to say he did, for it was a confection of hyacinth pink and thread of silver. "I

Troy, N. Y. to Be Home While Bridegroom Completes Service with U.S. Coast Guard; Bride Was Lenore Smith Before Marriage Friday in Church of The Messiah

While the bridegroom serves with the U. S. Coast Guard, the newly-married Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Abner Wadsworth will make their home in Troy, N. Y.

Their marriage took place last Friday afternoon at a fashionable ceremony in the Church of the Messiah and was followed by a reception at the Detroit Boat Club.

The bride is the former Lenore Elizabeth Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn H. Smith of Seminole avenue and Mrs. Wadsworth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee Wadsworth of Cloverly road.

Lenore wore a picture bridal gown of white Chantilly lace over tulle, the slim, molded bodice distinguished by low, scalloped neckline which was filled in with silk illusion to form high round pearl strand collar.

Pleated tulle fell in panels in the full skirt and the bride's tiny lace Juliet held the fingertip length veil. Clusters of orange blossoms finished the back of the bridal cap.

She carried white spray orchids with lilacs of the valley and ivy. A quartet of attendants wore opera length blue silk organza over tulle. The classic frocks and scoop necklines applied in deep blue velvet roses and these were repeated in the full skirts.

All wore matching velvet headbands and carried deep pink carnations and eucalyptus foliage.

Donna Louise Smith was her sister's maid of honor.

The bridesmaids were Joan Hadley, Joan Fitzsimons and Edith Werbach.

Harold L. Wadsworth served his son as best man and the groomsmen included the bridegroom's cousins, Edwin W. Baker, Jr., and Henry M. Woodhouse; Raymond R. White and Richard L. Arnold.

Mrs. Smith was gowned in pale blue peau de soie with which she chose a small pink chapeau and corsage of pink spray orchids.

Mrs. Wadsworth wore for the wedding, charcoal gray lace with small toque of turquoise feathers. Her flowers were gray spray orchids.

The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Richard H. Macaulay, wore a gown of cocoa taffeta with matching hat.

Pictured in action is the Chuck Wagon Committee for the big event to be held in Kerby School from 2 to 8 p.m. on February 27. Left to right are: MRS. ELMER W. RUPP, MRS. ROBERT C. MARSH, MRS. GEORGE J. BROWN, MRS. ALBERT COOPER, kneeling; MRS. OMER STOTTS and MRS. FRANK COOPER.

The Kerby Karnival plans are accelerating like a hot-rod. The midway is off to the races! The Chuck Wagon committee, Mrs. Albert Cooper, chairman, is all organized to serve all kinds of appetize destroyers as well as a hearty dinner.

No less active are the booths along the Midway. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Briscoe have dreamed up a Rooti-Kazooti room where darts and bean bags will fly. Mr.

Morgan Johnson is out to exterminate the Schmoos with guns and other missiles.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Carlston are in charge of the Flying Saucers, while Mr. and Mrs. David Williams will Pop-the-Monkey.

Farther up the line, in Mrs. Nelson's room, the Charles Wrights, III, have created a huge target of Bozo the Klown. The Kerby Kongo Kritters, under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Collins, will be in Mr. Parmenter's room, and next door will be the Pirate's Den where those who miss will have to walk the plank.

Charles Markley is going to run the S. S. Kerby Company dime store; the Warren Humes and the Robert Murphys have charge of the Treasure Chest; Mrs. Thomas Baldwin is filling the shelves of the Kandy Korner; Mrs. William Fleck and Mrs. Richard Semmler are asking for baked goods for their Dutch Oven; and Ken Power has set up a complete Kangaroo Court, including the Kriminal Klunk.

Bucking Broncos, Fish ponds, cartoon, balloons, a puppet show and a terrifying spook house will add more fun to what should be a Big Day at Kerby School on February 27.

Fashion Show Benefit For Detroit Symphony

Friends of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will travel down to the Grand Ballroom of Hotel Statler on Monday and Tuesday (March 8 and 9) to attend an exciting Spring fashion show and tea being sponsored by the Women's Association of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Proceeds will benefit the maintenance fund of the Orchestra. Madelyn Coe, popular fashion commentator, will be on the platform to point up the parade of new costumes and Detroit's top models will appear on the theatre-in-the-round stage.

This dramatic technique of staging, with circular ramp leading to an elevated area in the center of the ballroom, gives excellent view to every member of the audience.

Mrs. Sidney F. Chapin is chairman of the fashion show and tea. Assisting her will be Mrs. Cecil Akroyd, Mrs. W. Terrance Bannan, Mrs. A. E. Carle, Mrs. Philip D. Dexter, Mrs. Harold L. Frank, Mrs. Gordon C. Henderson, Mrs. William E. Johnston and Mrs. Alexander Neilson.

AAUW to Hear Award Winner

"Fellowships"—a magic word in A.A.U.W. vocabulary, became a reality to Grosse Pointe members last year, when the branch, in addition to its annual contribution to the national fellowship program, gave its first $500 Name Grant, the "Grosse Pointe Michigan International Study Grant." This year, if all goes well, plans will be made for a second gift, this one to be a fellowship for the use of an American woman to continue studying in her particular field, either in this country or abroad.

The fellowship program originated in 1890, and at the close of World War II, A.A.U.W., while continuing with fellowships, decided to develop International Study Grants to help women of sister countries whose education had been tragically interrupted. Since 1929 there have been awarded 425 fellowships and 287 international study grants.

like it!" was his enthusiastic appraisal. "And I," said Madame Addams, "like yours." With that she was off in an awaiting limousine . . . on her way to take someone else by surprise. Of course Mardge Addams is the lady's pen name and the only other hint we'll give you is that you're apt to find her presiding at a canasta supper in her Pointe home. Hers is a fashionably round supper table, of sparkling appointments, and she likes to cover it with unusual antique gold brocade cloth, the chafing dish before her as she serves both food and elegant repartee. JUST the kind of gal Beaton loves to study, too.

A Bow to Mr. Lomax

The dazzling young figure skater, Barbara Ann Scott, and her fellow-author, Michael Kirby, in the foreword of their new book, "Skating for Beginners" have acknowledged indebtedness to the Pointe's Allen M. Lomax, vice-president of the U. S. Figure Skating Association. Mr. and Mrs. Lomax have known the lovely Barbara since she was a child of ten. At that time they lived in Philadelphia. Their unforgettable memories include a memorial program on the day of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's funeral, when Barbara Ann paid him tribute as she skated to Ave Maria. We understand that at least half the new book's art (and the entire back jacket) features members of the Detroit Skating Club and you must know that Celia and Allen Lomax are practically Mr. and Mrs. Detroit Skating Club so deep has been their devotion to the club over on Seven Mile road . . . and so persistently have they worked toward a "someday" skating club for Pointe enthusiasts. They were in Lansing last weekend for the Mid-Western Skating Championships but think they'll have to forego the Nationals this year. They are being held in Los Angeles.

Dimples

The Arnold C. Grahams, of Maumee avenue, have sent home ecstatic notes from their most recent vacation spot, the Danieli in Venice. The former Jane McClure is keeping a journal on all the fun she and her husband are having on the business-pleasure junket on the continent. Fellow passenger on the trip over was Archduke Franz Joseph who was returning to Spain after an absence of fourteen years. The Grahams have been in Paris, Frankfurt, Brussels and Amsterdam, loving every minute of it all . . . At a Pointe cocktail party we heard an amusing exchange between the young lady who accepted one of those filter-type cigarettes from her escort. "But you know what they cause," he said as he lit her cigarette. "What!" she shrieked, doubtless thinking of all those harrowing tales of tobacco she'd been reading. "Dimples," said the young man. Watch yourself smoke one sometime and you'll agree.

Health Council Views Movies

A program designed to acquaint members with the extensive motion picture film service of the Public Library was presented at the February meeting of the Mothers' Health Council of Grosse Pointe.

It was the first Council meeting to be held in the comfortable, modern projection room of the Central Library. George F. Jones, film counsellor of the Library, projected two films for the group and spoke about the Library's services in this field. He was introduced by Dr. Mary Stelhorn, program chairman. Mr. Jones said the Library now has a good list of non-commercial films, all of which are available to individuals and groups in Grosse Pointe for the asking. They are 16 mm., sound films and anyone who owns or can borrow a sound projector may use them. Many of the titles are of interest to children, and others are in the fields of literature, music and art; there also are animal studies and others covering a wide range of interests.

Some of the films are owned by the Library, bought through gifts from the Friends of the Library and the Grosse Pointe Motion Picture Council. The permanent collection is supplemented by 10 or 12 new titles each month which are obtained by rental, and through a loan arrangement with the Film Council of America, an organization devoted to furthering the use of the best non-commercial films.

Grosse Pointe is among a limited number of cities to which the Film Council films are available. Previews of the new films are held each month in the Library, and everyone is welcome. By reviewing these films, parents may know what is going on in the non-commercial film field and, through their comments, may promote the making of better films. This is important, Mr. Jones feels, because of the widespread use of such films on TV.

The films shown to the Mothers' Health Council members had been selected because they dealt with problems of parents and children. They were produced by the Encyclopedia Britannica film section.

They were "Date Etiquette," a motion picture describing the proper way for teen-agers to behave when making and enjoying their first dates; and "Individual Differences," concerning the problems of teacher-pupil relationships.

Many of the mothers praised the Library's summer program of film showings for children, which helped provide entertainment during the no-school months. This program, started last summer, will be resumed this summer, Mr. Jones said.

Little League Makes Big Hit

Little League baseball, which made such a sensationally successful debut in Grosse Pointe Farms last year, has developed a greatly-expanded program for 1954.

There will be two "major" leagues instead of one, and probably eight minor league clubs to develop the younger players. Two fields will be used for the games, the one at Kerby and Chalonte, on which the sport made its bow, and another on the Kercheval end of the high school athletic field.

The original "American" League will continue in operation with the same four clubs, Tigers, Indians, Red Sox and Yankees. Player rosters in this league will be substantially the same as last year, minus the boys who have passed the age limit of 12 years.

The second league also will have four clubs, to be named Reds, Phillies, Pirates and Giants, respectively. The new league will be governed by exactly the same eligibility rules as prevailed in the original circuit and it is expected to be able to recruit rosters of comparable talent.

In the American League, the sponsors and managers will be as follows: Indians, Tracy Motor Sales, sponsor; Hank Reynolds, manager. Tigers, Cox and Baker, sponsor; Karl von Schwarz, manager. Yankees, Boutique of Furs by Roberts, sponsor; Minard Mumaw, manager. Red Sox, Sweeney and Moore, Inc., sponsor; Don McConachie, manager.

Of the sponsors named, only Sweeney and Moore, Inc., is new. The National League sponsors and managers are: Giants, The Dants, sponsor; Ed Sullivan, manager. Reds, Clyde E. Hornung, Inc., sponsor; Buck Fisher, manager. Phillies, Hamlin's, Inc., sponsor; Joe Cox, manager. Pirates, Young Clothes, Inc., sponsor; Bill Biscoe, manager.

The player agents, who handle the distribution of material, will be Frank Boyer and Walter Connolly, one of whom will be assigned to each league.

Just which field will be assigned to the respective leagues has not been determined, but both places are readily accessible from all parts of the Farms.

The schedules will be substantially the same as used by the American League last season, with twilight games starting around 6 o'clock, and possibly some Saturday afternoon double headers in the early part of the season.

The schedule probably will open late in May and will run until about August 1. Because games are played in the early evening, there is no interference with school work, either in attendance or opportunity to prepare home work during the comparatively short time that schools are open after the season starts.

Six innings will constitute a regulation game but in the event of a tie, extra innings will be played until a decision is reached or darkness prevents further action. Fifteen men will constitute the squad of a major league team while the minor leagues will handle the overflow in whatever number it may be. Professional umpires will officiate at all games and the regulation Little League ball, a full-sized hard ball, will be used.

The distance between bases and the pitching distance have been shortened for Little League games as an offset to the relatively small size of the players. Base-runners are required to hold their bases until a pitched ball has passed the batter. Otherwise, everything is just about the same as in adult hardball games.

All local games will be played under national rules. The age limit for either major or minor league enrollment is from nine through twelve years, with a proviso that no boy who will reach his 13th birthday before August 1 of any season can participate that year.

It is expected that attendance will be greatly increased over last year as more and more Pointers become acquainted with this interesting and exciting sport. No admission is charged but a collection is taken up to help pay expenses. Contributions are entirely voluntary and are acceptable in any amount.

This expansion of Little League baseball in the Farms is in line with the tremendous growth of the sport on a world-wide scale. It is expected that more than half a million boys will be enrolled this year. The Little League is a national organization with headquarters in Williamsport, Penna., and an executive staff headed by Peter J. McGovern, a former Detroitier, appointed by the United States Rubber Company, which is the leading national sponsor of the sport.

In this community, Little League baseball has received the whole-hearted support of parents, who see in it not only a sport that provides fun for players and spectators alike, but also a great contribution to the morale of the adolescent group. It has been hailed as one of the most important sociological movements of our times and one of the most potent in combating juvenile delinquency. Its proponents point out that it serves the useful purpose of directing youthful energy into proper channels, instead of trying to curb it, and that its keen, fair competition helps to prepare boys to meet the problems that will come to them in later life. Among other things, it gives the boy a foundation for the discipline that he will encounter if called into the military service.

That it has a beneficial effect on parents and other adult spectators cannot be denied. It builds civic pride and neighborliness. It might be said that many spectators at last season's games discovered for the first time what a lot of nice people there are in their communities.

The quality of play seen last year was amazingly high in view of the limited experience of most of the players. It is bound to be considerably better this year, for boys develop athletically at an amazing rate at this age, when given the

Than when I was a boy."
(Thomas Hood)

We ran into quite a knotty problem this week in the shape of trying to get rid of an over-stuffed chair! If you think this a simple matter, just try it. Getting at our spring cleaning a little earlier than usual, (due to looking at the lady magazines that are now showing what we will wear in August, we came upon this not-too-bad chair that merely looks "tired." We figured it would make a nice comfortable niche for someone who needed an easy chair and couldn't afford to buy one.

Sooooooo, we called the Salvation Army. Sorry, they couldn't accept overstuffed furniture. Then we called the Goodwill. Same answer. We made inquiries among our neighbors . . . but no one wanted the easy chair! We finally called the local pickers-uppers of garbage, pieces of fallen timber and old tree stumps . . . but they do NOT pick up overstuffed chairs. We toyed with station-wagoning it down to the lake in the dead of night and tossing it in the drink . . . but feared we might be spotted and someone would call the gendarmes to look into a murder.

At long last, we followed the example of a man we knew who tried for weeks to shed an old moth-eaten bear rug about the size of an elephant laid out flat. No one wanted the dang thing and the guy was going nuts . . . so he had it wrapped and crated and shipped it to a man he'd never liked, who lived in another City! He put a fictitious name and address on the outside of the package and didn't care what happened to it. At least it was off his hands. That is what we did with the chair, but it cost us more to do it than the cost of the new chair we bought . . . NOT an overstuffed one, however!

We understand this same sort of thing goes on with discarded mattresses also. No institution is allowed to take them and it is against the law to sell one. Just what one is supposed to do with a mattress they have used for 50 years and would like to replace, is not known. Of course we might write to the Bureau of Old Mattresses in Washington . . . or maybe Louie Rebaut could tell us?

Our other problem of the week was the business of trying to buy a bottle of cleansing oil via the telephone. Without mentioning the name of the product or the shop we called, we should like to relate this fascinating incident. Having the kind of face that doesn't take easily to soap and water, (without leaving us looking like a partially scaled fish), we were happy to come upon "Schmaltz" soap . . . supposedly good for everyone's skin.

After having used it for a week with not too much success, we were told by a beauty in our midst that we should not use the soap without first cleansing our face with Schmaltz oil. Since there is only one place in town where it can be bought, we quickly telephoned our wants to the store in question.

We asked for the cosmetic department and were soon connected with same. A dulcet voiced woman took our order and said: "Are you out of any of the other Schmaltz products?" We allowed as how we didn't use any of the others and could we PLEASE just have a bottle of the cleansing oil to go with the soap. The cosmetic character told us to hold the line (which we did for ten minutes) then she came back to ask our name and address. This we gave her . . . and we were then informed that they had no record of our using Schmaltz products.

To make matters easier for both of us, we told her an old aunt had GIVEN us a bar of Schmaltz soap for Christmas and all we wanted was a bottle of oil to go with it. Again we were asked to hold the line. In a few minutes our store heroine was back with the following statement: "We will be glad to take care of you and send the oil . . . but in the future ask for Miss McGillicutty. I will be in charge of you from now on."

Nothing could have pleased us more. Now we can relax in the happy knowledge that someone is in charge of us. Think how few people in this world have such a privilege. No matter what happens in our hectic life . . . we can sit back with the comfortable feeling that "Miss McGillicutty is in charge."

benefit of proper instruction and inspirational leadership.

The influence of Little League baseball is bound to be felt beneficially throughout the whole structure of the game as time goes on. Many big-leaguers of the future will get their start in this group at a much younger age than they could receive careful supervision and expert instruction anywhere else. The importance of such training is emphasized by the present scarcity of star talent in the majors, as is evidenced by the tremendous spread between pennant-winners and tail-enders in almost every season—55 games between Brooklyn and Pittsburgh in the National League last year, and 46½ games between the Yankees and St. Louis in the American.

Among other advantages, a boy with the potential to make good in organized baseball will be able to enter the professional ranks younger with Little League experience than he would be able to without it. Eventually a higher quality of play in the majors may be expected when boys are able to begin their preparation at the age of nine years.

The officers of the governing group of Little League baseball in Grosse Pointe Farms are the following: President, Howarth W. Gnaui; Vice-President, Robert C. Chope; Secretary, Robert A. Ayrault; Treasurer, Remington J. Purdy; committee chairmen, Herbert N. Bumpus, sponsorship; Dr. Robert G. Swanson, manager procurement; Edward C. Stanley, minor leagues; Reuben M. Waterman, finance; James H. Dingeman, rules; Leo H. Luke, umpires; J. Burgess Book III, player agents; Don W. Miller, equipment; William G. Butler, field procurement and maintenance.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The local chapter of the League of Women Voters should be complimented for bringing together at a meeting at the War Memorial Center on February 10, civic minded persons interested in the future development of the Pointe communities.

The individuals, who responded in the capacity of leadership for the meeting, should likewise be thanked, namely: representatives of the municipal governments of the five Pointes; officials of the school system; and interested citizens.

All of us want a fine community in which to live and bring up our children. We desire attractive and beautifully landscaped homes. We want efficient schools, adequate and beautiful parks and recreation areas, good shopping centers, safe highways, and the churches of our several faiths. We will do everything in our power to pay for such institutions and services.

We need to plan for them though, not just for the immediate present, but for the long time ahead. We cannot do this job alone. All of the Pointes, yes, and the areas many miles from us, are vitally connected in this planning.

The official representative from the Metropolitan Area Planning Group at the meeting showed most objectively and dramatically what is happening to the people of the whole area including at least eight counties. There has been going on for some time now a mushroom growth of business, industry and home construction way out beyond the limits of the county of Wayne.

The kinds of homes, water and sewage systems, parks and boulevards miles away from us, affect us right here greatly. Already, it is reported that a number of the outlying areas are inadequately supplied with pure drinking water. Their sewage systems cannot carry the new loads being placed upon them. If pollution continues on the Detroit river and Lake St. Clair, the city of Detroit and other communities may have to put their pipe lines way up to Lake Huron to bring us clean water.

How fortunate are we that many years ago a few people with foresight saw the need for the great and wonderful Huron-Clinton Parkway system. Far-reaching plans for this project were made early and important pieces of property acquired. It won't be long when the river valleys of the Huron and Clinton will have a series of excellent roadways, parks and picnic grounds, nature trails and trail-side museums, and swimming beaches.

The League of Women Voters of the Pointes is spearheading a most crucial program of action when it gets people together to talk about the future of our fine and wholesome area. More power to them.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

First-rate recent fiction in quantity is difficult to come by, it seems to us. Perhaps it is just that spring's in the air and the author, to hold our attention, must be a paragon of all literary virtues.

Esther Forbes is such a one. Her recent novel, RAINBOW ON THE ROAD is the story of an itinerant peddler . . . told through the eyes of a young boy who goes with him on his rounds. The place is New England and the time the early 19th century. The story itself is not too important, but Miss Forbes recreates the period and locality in crisp, vividly written prose, that is a delight to read.

If you remember with pleasure, as we do, THE FRIENDLY PERUSAION by Jessamyn West, episodes in the life of a Quaker family some 60 years ago, you will enjoy this author's newly created heroine, CRESS DELAHANTY. Again the style is episodic as you follow this enchanting teen-ager through her adolescent years. There is tenderness, gaiety, wisdom and understanding here.

You'll find light-hearted whimsy with a matter-of-fact touch that makes it all seem very plausible in MRS. SEARWOOD'S SECRET WEAPON by Leonard Wibberley. Mrs. Searwood is a middle-aged English widow in World War II who is aided and abetted in some amazing situations by White Feather, the three hundred year old ghost of an American Indian. Fun, if you like fantasy.

For Thirkell fans there is JUTLAND COTTAGE. "Once more it is time for Thirkell readers and Thirkell characters to gather in Barsetshire for their annual reunion. This year the atmosphere is, if anything, more favorable to middleaged romance than ever. The people are comfortably and amusingly their familiar British selves."

Of recent non-fiction THE AMBASSADOR'S REPORT by Chester Bowles should have, and we hope will have, a large audience. Mr. Bowles, returning to this country early this year, had spent a little better than two years in India and Nepal. His message is an urgent one. He believes such policies as Point 4 will definitely more than merely theorizing about American democracy, "if India can bring land and bread and hope to her people, it will expose the communist myth more than anything we can possibly do. It will strengthen immeasurably the hands of democratic leaders all over Asia. But if India fails, it will have a profound effect upon the future of every American and indeed of the world."

The consensus is that this book does for Asia what Theodore White's FIRE IN THE ASHES did for Europe.

The fraternity of armchair mountaineers is constantly growing. All Annapurna readers will welcome THE CONQUEST OF EVEREST by Sir John Hunt, the

Stolen Gun Gets Boy Into Trouble

Wilfred J. Teno, 17, of 22469 Daniels, St. Clair Shores, was assessed costs of $10, ordered to pay $15 to the Wayne County Probation Department and placed on six months' probation by Shores Judge Victor DeBaekoe on Wednesday, February 10. He was found guilty of receiving stolen property.

Teno was apprehended on February 2, by Shores police, for speeding on Lake Shore road. His suspicious actions led police to search his car and person. They found a loaded pistol in his hip pocket.

Questioned at the Shores police station, the youth confessed he purchased the gun from a St. Clair Shores juvenile, who when arrested, admitted taking the gun from a car he had stolen in Warren Township.

Shores Police Chief Fred Duemling brought charges of receiving stolen property against Teno, rather than the more serious charge of carrying concealed weapons, because the boy had no previous record.

The juvenile was turned over to Warren Township authorities for disposition of his case.

Based on questionnaires partially tabulated through Tuesday, February 16, Mechanical Engineering led the vocation choice of Detroit's Eagle Scouts. Musical Course Proves Success

By Bill Grange
Journalism Student

"The response during the first week has been highly favorable," commented Mr. Ralph N. Deal, of Grosse Pointe High School, speaking of the newly created music literature class for ninth graders.

It is the first time in history that a music class of this type has been introduced on ninth grade level. The course, which meets five days a week and gives five hours credit, is made up of a select group of 35 ninth graders.

During the first few weeks the class will discuss the basic elements of music. "These will be brought to the students by means of popular and classical recordings," Mr. Deal explained.

The next step will be a study of program music, and the course will conclude with a study of the forms of music.

"This class will acquaint the students with the great works of the great composers," Mr. Deal stated. "No technical knowledge is necessary to enroll, but an ear for music and a desire to learn are desirable.

"The purpose of the course is to acquaint the growing adolescent with good symphonic music," Mr. Deal concluded.

Rabaut Battles Home Sale Tax

Congressman Louis C. Rabaut, Democrat from the 14th District of Michigan, has introduced a bill in the House to make tax free the gain on the sale of a personal residence.

Present law imposes a tax on the profit from such a sale unless within a year thereafter the taxpayer buys a home and the purchase consumes the entire profit on the sale of the old one. Rabaut's bill provides that the gain on the sale will not be recognized for income tax purposes if the home is held for five years.

Congressman Rabaut issued the following statement in connection with the bill:

"This bill is intended to correct a situation which now places an unjustifiable financial burden on the mothers and fathers of our population. The home-buying experience of most American families usually follows this pattern:

"The young married couple rents an apartment. Then, as children come along and they need more space, they purchase a small home. As the children move on to high school and college age, more livable space is required and the family moves again to a larger home. This is the general pattern.

"The whole panorama of family life unfolds within these walls. This home is the scene of birthday parties, graduations, courships, weddings, and when these events are but memories, the old home has served its purpose for this family.

"Now the parents have completed the life-long task of rearing the family and they desire to take a smaller home or move to an apartment. Then it is that the full force of the present unjust state of the law is felt. Uncle Sam stops in with a whopping tax bill on the total profit realized from the sale of the former residence.

"This is the treatment the government affords to parents who, in the rearing of their families, have played a tremendously important part in the progress and the economy of the nation, and at a time in their lives which inevitably comes to most of us, when they want to retire to a smaller home or apartment to enjoy their just reward of peace and rest.

"Such a state of the law penalizes these parents for the fulfillment of their family obligations; in effect that law punishes them after they have sent forth from the old home the families of the future, the bedrock strength of America.

"This situation demands correction, and I hope the principles of my bill will be approved by the Ways and Means Committee."

Six Cases Heard In Uvick's Court

Six persons appeared before City Judge Joseph P. Uvick on Tuesday, February 9, to answer charges of traffic violations.

Cyril A. Dyer of 324 McMillan, was found guilty of not having his car under control and causing an accident. He was given the alternative of paying a fine of $25 or serving 10 days in jail. He paid the fine.

Cyril Peleman of 1459 Lakepointe, for not having his car under control, was sentenced to pay $5 or serve five days. He paid the money.

Mary L. Hooper of 2110 Park, Detroit, charged with failing to stop at a stop street and causing an accident, was found guilty and given a choice of paying $15 or 10 days. The fine was paid.

Myrtle E. DeBord of 24801 Chicago, Dearborn, paid a fine of $15 rather than spend five days in jail. She was found guilty of reckless driving.

Merle J. Thomas of 22604 Alger, St. Clair Shores, did not relish the thought of five days in jail, so he paid a fine of $15 for not having his car under control.

William Longland of 11310 Roxbury, Detroit, was found guilty of not having his vehicle under control and paid a fine of $15. The alternative was five days in jail.

is medicine destroying itself?

THINGS DRAMATIC capture the imagination, sometimes to the point of distorting the perspective. This is as true in medicine as in other fields. The sensational results with sulfa drugs and penicillin are examples.

Less dramatic, but responsible for saving uncounted lives, are the broader public health measures. Sewage disposal, swamp clearance, and water, milk, and food inspection are but a few of these triumphs.

The physician and the pharmacist have always been leaders in the field of preventive medicine. This fact led James Brice to observe, "Medicine is the only profession that labors incessantly to destroy the reason for its own existence."

The fight, however, is far from won. Diagnosis and treatment of disease are still the primary functions of the physician. The filling of prescriptions is our responsibility as pharmacists.

East Side Cage Crown Won By Fabulous Flyers

The St. Paul Flyers tucked away another basketball championship last Sunday, February 14, when they squeezed past St. Florian in a 45 to 43 hair raising thriller before a capacity bipartisan crowd in the Servite gymnasium to win the Big 12 Conference title.

The victory marked the end of a pressurized league campaign which saw St. Paul and St. Florian, locked in an unprecedented five-way first place tie early in the season and in a two-way deadlock for the balance of the season.

Play-off Necessary
Last Sunday's play-off game became necessary when St. Paul humiliated St. Martin 57 to 18 and St. Florian edged St. Thomas by a narrow margin on Friday, February 12.

Big Jim Ayrault turned in one of the most thrilling individual performances in St. Paul history when he practically carried the Flyers to victory with a 26 point production. Ayrault gave St. Paul control of both back boards throughout most of the contest and had the fans screaming their lungs out from the very outset of the first period and left them limp in their seats at the final whistle. One pretty little St. Paul cheerleader succumbed to her emotions and fainted as the game ended.

Monahan Scores Clincher
Despite Ayrault's magnificent performance, which will go down in St. Paul history along with other Flyer greats, it took Teddy Monahan's layup shot in the last five seconds of play to give the Pointe team the crown. Monahan was almost beaten to a pulp with congratulatory backslaps by his joyous teammates at the conclusion of the contest.

Fordson, defending State Class A swimming champions, tripped up Coach Frank Bannach's Blue Devils for the second time this season last Friday, February 12, 49 to 35, but they had to post two new national marks in the 50-yard freestyle and the Medley relay to do it in their own pool.

Huge Kent Gest set the fans abuzzing in the very first event when he splashed his way to a new national mark in the 50 yard free style being clocked at 23.2 which was two tenths of a second better than the national mark established in 1950 by Ron Gora who was then performing for Lane Tech High in Chicago. His teammate Boguski finished second ahead of Grosse Pointe's Stu Smith to give the Tractors an 8 to one lead which they never relinquished.

Slam Breast Stroke
Tom Kwansay and Sotiroff slammed the 100 yard breast stroke with Norris taking third to give the Pointers a mere two points for the first two events.

The Blue Devils broke into the win column when Walt Eversman broke the Tractor monopoly by winning the 200 yard free style. Don Adamski, the Devils star backstroke kept his winning streak alive in the 100 yard backstroke event, but failed to break the Fordson pool record. Don's teammates agreed Don was pressing too hard which explained why he failed to add the Fordson pool record for the distance to his long list of pool records around the Border Cities League.

Smith Wins 100
Stuart Smith, smarting from his loss in the opening event, came back strong to capture the 100 yard free style event and his teammate "Wart" Bayne made third to make the score read 27 to 18 in favor of Fordson.

Peabody gave the Pointers another point when he placed third in diving.

Walt Eversman became the only double winner of the meet when he won the 150 yard individual medley. Eversman's victory seemed to anger the Tractors and Gest, Bill Butzlaff and Kwansay proceeded to crack the national standard of 1:19.9 in the 150 yard medley relay set by a trio from Portland, Me., in 1950, by six tenths of a second.

Pointers Win Relay
Anderson, Norris, Whittingham and Bayne climaxed the meet with a victory in the 200 yard speed relay.

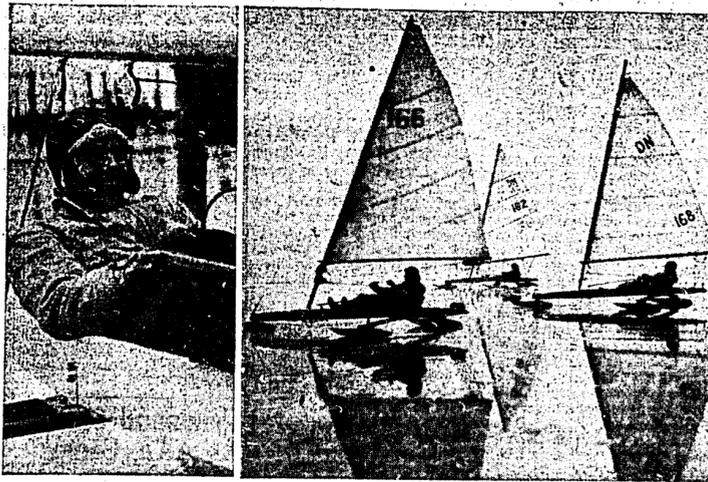

Inasmuch as three watches were employed in the two events in which the national marks were broken it is almost a certainty the new standards will be accepted by the United States prep officials.

The victory enabled the Tractors to keep their league record spotless, which stands at six wins in as many starts and established Fordson as a top heavy favorite to repeat as BCL champions again this year. Fordson's overall season record has only been marred by two tie meets.

Midget League Rule Changes Seen As Harmful to Sport

Post 303 continued to lead the Neighborhood Club Midget Basketball League when it scored the first shutout of the season, turning back an outmanned Optimist quintet, 40 to 0, in the first game on Monday, February 15. Dave Ayrault, brother of the St. Paul Flyers' star center, paced the winners with 18 points.

In the second game Exchange moved up to fifth place in the standings by downing VFW, 220 to 10. Jim Howard led Exchange to victory with 16 points while Tom Standifer paced the losers with 8.

In games played on Monday, February 9, second place Metropolitan Club whacked Exchange 26 to 3, with Larry Bruzese getting 13 for the winners. Don Carrier scored all of the losers' points.

The second game saw the Lions hang on to third place with a 19 to 9 win over the Optimists. Tom Pine paced the winners with 13 and Grant Kurtz and Tom Gutow led the losers with 4 points each.

In the Giant League the league-leading Celtics scored a pair of victories, subduing the Eagles in a hard fought game, 47 to 40, on Tuesday, February 9. The Celtics humiliated the Lakers, 95 to 14, on Monday, February 15, in a game that should have been stopped at the end of the first quarter when the Celtics held a 40 to 3 margin.

We saw this game and were disgusted over the mismatching of the two teams. We remember when we sat in on the first meeting with Will Desrocher when the Midget League was first formed last year. At that meeting it was agreed the League should be formed to give the little guys a chance to learn and play basic basketball under direct supervision in an organized league.

The 1952-53 season was perfect in almost every respect and drew high praise from every corner of the community. However, at the pre-season meeting this year league officials weren't satisfied with the success they enjoyed in the Midget League last season and changed a couple of rules regarding the selection of players for the eight teams.

This year it was decided to one or two teams in the leagues have all the best players those teams dominate the race for the titles and in most cases when they bump into a weak team they take great delight in seeing how badly they can humiliate their opponent.

THIS IS NOT AND WAS NOT the reason the Leagues were formed. They were formed to TEACH BASIC BASKETBALL TO THE YOUNGSTERS and GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP. For a coach to allow his players to run up lopsided victories over a weaker foe proves HE IS NOT THE MAN FOR THE JOB OF HANDLING YOUNGSTERS. He does not have one's speak of sportsmanship in his makeup and therefore CANNOT TEACH the small fry SPORTSMANSHIP regardless of how good he is in teaching fundamental basketball.

Let's forget the big scores and go back to teaching the kids basic basketball like we did in the first year of Midget League.

Underdog Blue Devils Hand Defeat to Fordson Tractors

An underdog Grosse Pointe High basketball team came through in grand style last Friday, February 13, to upset Fordson, 47 to 42, and move into a two-way tie for second place with the Tractors in the Border Cities League race.

The victory was a measure of revenge for the beating the Tractors handed the Blue Devils on the former's court earlier in the season. However, it must be pointed out that the Tractors were minus their star, Jerry Callaway, who made the difference in the first meeting of these two teams.

Take Early Lead
Paced by Dick Spindle, Johnny Russell and Johnny Taylor, the Blue Devils moved out in front early in the contest to hold a 10 to 6 margin going into the second quarter.

Little Art Wible provided the spark in the second stanza and the Pointers vaulted into a commanding 20 to 9 lead as the teams left the court at halftime. The Pointers threw up an almost impregnable defense which limited the Tractors to a mere 3 points for the duration of the second quarter.

Coming back in the third quarter the Tractors, behind the sharpshooting Gary Wolters, who collected 20 points in the last two periods to become the game's leading scorer with 21 points, vainly tried to close the gap and get back in the ball game. But Spindle and company managed to weather the storm to hold a 10 point, 42 to 32, margin going into the last period.

At this point center Tom Barry came into his own after replacing Taylor. Barry, a product of the Grosse Pointe Inter-Church Basketball League, personally kept the Pointers out in front with timely baskets as the time expired. Barry notched 8 points in the last quarter, which enabled him to take runner-up scoring honors with 13 points.

This was the last home game for the Blue Devils until they meet Highland Park in the final league game of the season on March 5. In the meantime the Devils will travel to Monroe next Friday, February 19, to meet the Trojans; to Ferndale for a non-league game on Tuesday, February 23 and Wyandotte on February 26.

Chance To Be Second
If the Pointers can get past their next two league opponents and Fordson happens to falter along the league trail the Blue Devils have an excellent chance to take second place behind Highland Park, which is currently leading the league with a perfect record.

We pointed out at the beginning of the season, Highland Park should win the BCL crown for the fourth consecutive year and that the rest of the league would battle for second place. That is just what is happening. The race for second place is between Grosse Pointe, Fordson and Royal Oak.

However, the Blue Devil lads believe they can hand Highland Park its first defeat when they get them on their own tiny floor on the 26th. Miracles have happened before, so why not to Grosse Pointe?

Ice Boat Racing Prizes Awarded

Elmer "The Great" Millenbach and Bill Sarns walked off with the Gar Wood and the Scripps Trophies, respectively, last week end, February 13, 14, at the Detroit Ice Yacht Club weekly regatta. Millenbach captured the final race of the three race series for the Gar Wood trophy to score 28 points. His victory in the final race coupled with a first and second on Saturday, edged Wally Cross, who finished with 23 points on a third and two second. John Jacobs had a pair of fourth places and a first for 21 points to take third place in the eight boat fleet that started on Saturday. Jack Moran was unable to start the last race because he wrecked his boat following the second race on Saturday when he and Jimmy May swapped boats for a little "brush match." May clobbered into a chunk of ice and piled up Moran's boat. It will be out of commission for the balance of the season. Running in conjunction with the Gar Wood Trophy series was the Scripps Trophy three race series for DN 80 skippers. This was the first time the Gar Wood trophy had been sailed for

Boat Banter

By Fred Rummels

While stopping around on the water-covered ice last weekend watching the Scripps and Gar Wood Trophy ice boat races, we bumped into Jo Soden, secretary of the Detroit Ice Yacht Club. Jo was as happy as all get out as she told us of her election as secretary of the International Skeeter Association. This is the first time a woman has ever held an elected job in the ISA. All this took place a couple of weeks ago when the Anchor-Bay Ice Yacht Club was host to the Internationals. At that time an old Star boat friend of ours, Bill Parks, was elected president of the ISA and Harvey Bongard of Toronto became vice-president at the annual meeting. The 1955 ISA site was announced at that time. It will be held at Madison, Wis., with the Four Lakes Ice Yacht Club as host. Commodore Glenn Groesbeck of the host club automatically becomes the commodore of the 1955 ISA. The North Star Sail Yacht Club will have a banner weekend, weather permitting, February 20, 21, when it plays host to more than forty DN 80 skippers for the annual DN 80 Ice Yacht Racing Association's regatta. Bill Sporer, of North Star is chairman and Bill tells us he expects upwards of 80 boats if the weather is right. It will be a five race series with three races being sailed on Saturday starting at 1 p.m. The first race on Sunday will get underway at 10:30 a.m. Sporer appears to offer the best chance North Star will have to take the title. Bill is currently leading in the North Star weekly series with 241.75 points. Past commodore Paul Koller is running in second place with 197 points and Commodore Fred Kugel is third with 185 points. The season championship is decided on 80 percent of the races sailed during the season. There must be at least 12 races sailed to constitute a season. Those Escapade boys are doing all right down South, aren't they? According to the paper, Eskle was first to finish in the Miami-Nassau race but got knocked down to fourth in Class A and sixth overall. However, Wendell and his lads bounced back in the Governor's race for the Nassau Cup and took it handily in somewhat heavy going. Boy, we're sure in for lots of ear bending when those guys get back. Apparently this isn't the year for the Sloss family to go South. First of all, Dave hurt his back skiing and it was doubtful if he would be able to join the Escapade crew for the Nassau race. But he painfully did. Then, as if this wasn't enough, wife Marion broke her ankle in two places the day before she was to take off for Florida and join Dave. The "Deacon" flew back right after the Miami-Nassau race finished. Did you see where the State Senate passed a bill increasing the penalty for violations on the

St. Paul Panthers Win Loop Crown

St. Paul's undefeated Panther quintet clinched the Junior Division crown in the Grosse Pointe Inter-Church Basketball League last Saturday, February 13, in the Grosse Pointe High gym, with an impressive 31 to 10 victory over the Christ Church Lions. The victory was the sixth consecutive time the Panthers had turned back their opponents in as many starts. With only three weeks remaining in the regular schedule the Panthers could still win the crown, even if they dropped their remaining games. Cavanaugh was the big gun in the Panthers' important title-clinching game with 10 points which was good for high point honors.

DEATH TOLLS IDENTICAL

Michigan traffic deaths in December of 1953 totalled 178, or exactly the same number as in December of 1952, according to the monthly statistical report compiled by the State Police. There were 5,145 persons injured, an increase of only 20. Accidents totalled 18,749, a gain of eight per cent over 17,408.

CAMERAS CATCH PICTORIAL NEWS OF INTEREST FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

RIGHT ON THE TARGET—Lovely Val Phillips gets a close look at her archery target as she tries her skill with bow and arrow at a practice range in Miami Beach. Val is right on target when it comes to scoring points for beauty.

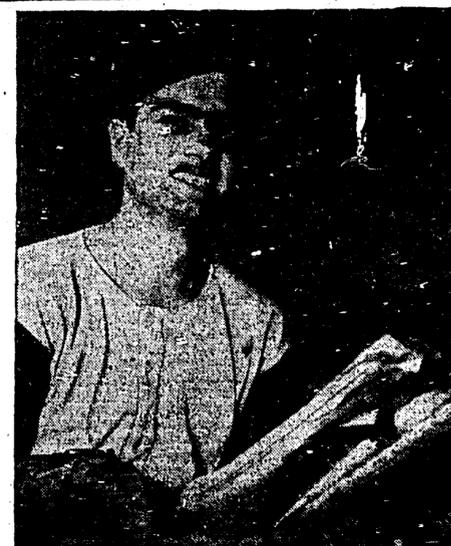

TOE HOLD ON THE HEART—We knew this was bound to come as a switch from the usual Valentine gift. They are heart-shaped slippers, designed by Elna Necchi, and they are easy to make and fun to give or wear. Anyway, she'll get a kick out of them!

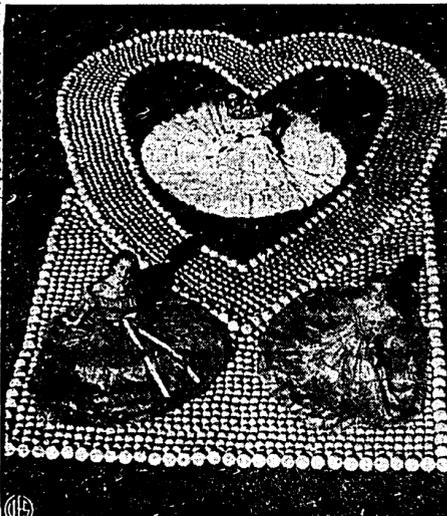

TAKEN ABACK—Coming events cast their shadows before them as designer Pierre Clarence unveils this provocative tidbit from his top-secret Paris spring collection. Indicating that the Paris product will be bizarre as usual, Clarence creates a back-interest topper of salt-and-pepper tweed. The front is brief and boxy, with the fabric drawn back into two buttoned flaps.

"LOOK! I'M CLEAN!"—It's bustles and bows these days for the tottering tots. Here's one baby who's not too big for her britches because fancy pants are the fashion find of the year for the youngest set. The nylon Handi Panties by Alexis are plastic lined.

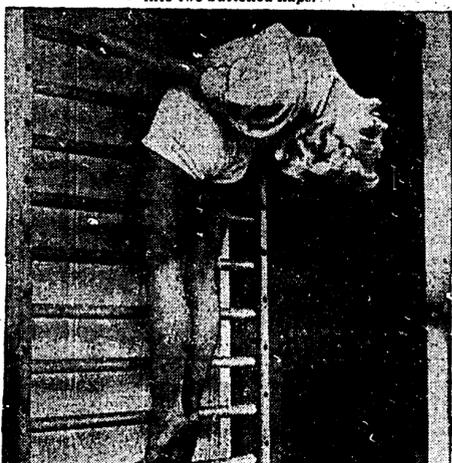

BONUS BOY—Joe Amalfitano, 20, former parochial school baseball star, was signed as a bonus player by the New York Giants and will report to their spring training camp at Phoenix, Ariz. Scout Walter Reuther, who spotted the boy, said he was the first bonus player he had recommended in 18 years. Infielder Amalfitano is regarded as one of the most-promising young baseball players to come out of Southern California in a decade. A junior at Loyola University, the right-handed hitter weighs 175 pounds and stands five feet, 11 inches.

VALENTINE OF VITAMINS—Evelyn Ay, Miss America of 1954, sits in this lovely Florida Valentine of oranges and grapefruit, and Southern Beauties in their crinolines add a lacy touch to the romantic picture.

CLUBBING AGAIN—Porfirio Rubirosa and his wife, the former Babs Hutton, wearing an Indian sari evening gown, arrive for a whirl at the Club du Moulin Rouge in Palm Beach. This is reportedly the first time the two have put in an appearance at a night spot since their widely publicized New York marriage.

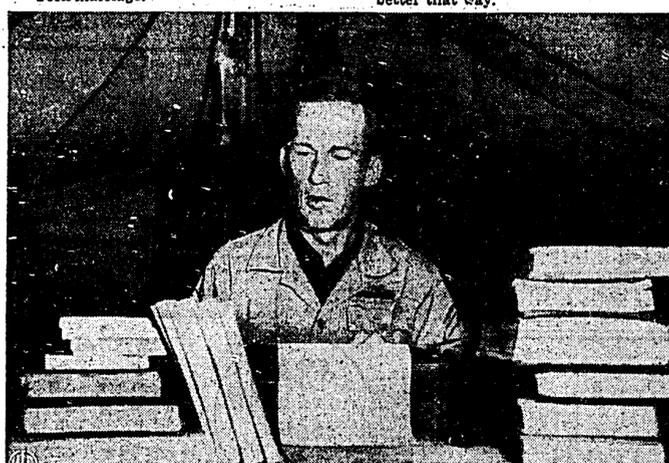

LOOKS IMPOSSIBLE, BUT NICE—If this trick looks impossible... you're right! Shapely Reita Green, who has been voted "Miss Push Up of 1954," is actually standing on the bars and leaning backward. We just turned the picture upside down because we thought the dancing star looked better that way.

BRIDGE OF ICE—A policeman directs traffic across the frozen Zuider Zee between Monnikendam and the Isle of Marken in The Netherlands. Ships usually ply the route, but now that the ice forms a solid roadway, cars and trucks are making the most of the opportunity to carry materials and supplies from the mainland to the island.

Indicating that the Paris product will be bizarre as usual, Clarence creates a back-interest topper of salt-and-pepper tweed. DISTANT BATTLE—With a brand-new Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Nebraska after his name, M/Sgt. John P. Virbila of Oakville, Conn., burns the midnight oil in a tent at First Marine Division headquarters in Korea as he begins work for his master's degree. Turning to the battle of the textbooks each night, when the day's duties are done, the 33-year-old Leatherneck hasn't allowed active Marine service to interfere with his education. He was graduated, in absentia, in January.

JUNIOR FROGMAN—Five-year-old Eric Six of Monte Carlo, shown at left as he looks on land, spends much of his time exploring the floor of the Mediterranean Ocean. Thought to be the world's youngest underwater explorer, Eric thinks nothing of going down 40 feet or more to get a glimpse of ocean life. At right, Eric in his frogman's outfit-breathing mask, compressed air cylinder, and flippers—swims along the sea bed examining coral formations.

"IT'S EITHER HIM OR ME"—Two-year-old Billy Clarke of New York may like cats, but this one seems a little bigger than king size to him, so he climbs into the ocelot's cage for protection. The giant cat took part in the Empire Cat Club's 37th Annual Championship Show in New York.

WAITING FOR NO. 25—Sisters Marie Berthe (left) and Jeannine Cyr (right) feed a hungry flock of siblings while their mother, in a city hospital, adds a baby girl to the brood, her 25th child. "We'll be ready to accept more," Mrs. Marie Cyr said. The mother who claims there's always room for one more lives at Ledges, N. B., just across the border from Fort Kent, Maine. There has been no multiple births. Eighteen of the children are still living, all but one at home. Mrs. Cyr, a woman of about 180 pounds, was married at 17 and is now 42. Her husband, Helodore, is 47.

MANNA FROM HEAVEN—City youngsters, living in a children's home on the Isle of Juist in the North Sea, wildly cheer the arrival of food packages delivered by a single-engine Danish plane from the mainland. Although the island's 2,000 inhabitants are not starving, they are threatened with hunger as the food supply drops. Low water and ice-clogged channels have made shipping impossible. At last report, officials were planning a sled lift to the isolated island via the frozen shallows.

Intermediates celebrated the last week of the school term with a roller skating party at Fairview Gardens. More than 200 girls and leaders developed sore muscles that night but are glad to go again. Mrs. William T. Shealy, chairman, takes a bowl

Every troop in Grosse Pointe is making and filling kits for Korea, the cloth drawing bags which contain toilet articles and sewing equipment so sorely needed in that war-torn country. We should have a small mountain of these when they are all brought in on April 20 to the regular Leaders' meeting. There will be labels to sew inside the bags; contact the Program Chair-

This is the season when so many Girl Scouts suddenly begin to shine and sparkle, to walk and stand "tall," to brush their clothes as well as their teeth, to shine their notoriously dirty saddle shoes and make a ceremony of face washing. It is Mary Morgan time again in Grosse Pointe when 160 Girl Scouts are meeting with Mary Morgan every Monday night during February at the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church for a Good Grooming Workshop.

Mary Morgan is Beauty Consultant with CKLW and is here for the third time to help the girls with their grooming problems. Mrs. William T. Shealy and Mrs. Nelson McLaughlin have made the arrangements for the Workshop.

The second term of the swimming program is in full swing with new instructors, Mr. George Wibby of the American Red Cross assisted by Mr. William Herrick. To say "the joint is jumping" would be to put it too mildly since the High pool is a very busy place on Tuesday nights.

It was with regret that we learned that due to the pressure of business our former instructor, Mr. William Reaume, would not be able to continue after several successful seasons. The following girls owe their progress to the expert tutelage of Mr. Reaume: 10 completed Beginner requirements at the close of the first term; 23 finished Intermediate; Girl Scout Swimmer badges will now grace the sashes of Kathy O'Neill, Diane LePia, Josephine Lentine, Elizabeth Adams, Nancy Drennan, Sue Harper, Harriet Howe, Jana Keller, Sara Lewis, Jeanne Montpetit, Joyce Reuter, Susan Roehl, Karen Sanders, Gretchen Schuur, Hilary Stack, Janice Taube, Roselyn Ternullo, Elizabeth Morrison, Coleen Neil and Karen Warmbold.

Five girls completed the Junior Life Saving: Mary Kotcher, Cynthia Gleason, Mary Hunter, Diane May and Louise Vincent.

The swimming program is carried on under the direction of Mrs. Mitchel Andrews.

Eighteen of our Seniors took off right after exams for two days of tobogganing at Camp Metamora. They learned that the rain chant done with lemmi sticks will bring a good snowfall in cold weather, making the hills just right for sliding.

Gals who planned and participated were Frances Babcock, Betty Brownson, Suzie Newton, Penny Nickels, Cora Palmer, Judy Rowe, Carol Sue West, Pat Lindow, Peggy Sims, Karen Roeglin, Carolyn Alexander, Nancy Streeter, Gloria Cashin, Jane Pressel, Leona Collins, Chloe Irvin, Doris Dadson and Jane Quilter. They were accompanied by Mrs. Lyndon Babcock, Mrs. Leslie Pressel and Mrs. Edward H. Kay.

Troop 898 of Maire School has been very busy this season working on the Service Project. They have made hundreds of "bed bags" for Michigan Memorial Hospital, also tray covers and favors.

January 23 they attended a fencing exhibition at Bela de Tuscan's studio on East Jefferson, and had a wonderful time.

January 26 they enjoyed tobogganing and skating at Canyon Park.

They are all busy working on their merit badges with the help of their Leader, Mrs. Marlon Henderson.

The girls are: Alexa Adams, Carol Carbone, Doreen Crothers, Penny Distin, Mary Beth Kendall, Dorothy Hyne, Nina Henderson, Sara Lewis, Suzanne L'Heureux, Susan Orr, Sheri Peacock, Marjorie Shea, Stephanie Sumner, Allison Taylor, Karen Taylor, Marilyn Taylor, Leanne Trebilcock, Karen Warmbold.

February 2 they participated with all Scouts and Brownies of Maire School in "Scout Night" for the PTA.

Brownie Troops in each neighborhood will get together on an afternoon to celebrate Girl Scout Birthdays, present their World Friendship Fund pennies and turn in the Juliette Low Reports.

Several of these neighborhood rallies are being held on Thursday, March 11; in some instances the mothers of the girls are invited to attend; in some, just the Brownies with their leaders will meet together in a simple observance.

Mrs. Walter Allen, Brownie Advisor, has been working with Neighborhood Chairmen in most cases to help organize and plan these rallies.

Ferry Gives Talk On Library Art

On Sunday afternoon, at an informal meeting at the Central Library, Hawkins Ferry talked on modern art—specifically, the art objects in the library, and generally the trends in art expression of our day.

The Central Library as it is today—furnishings, equipment and embellishments—represents the ideas of the architect, Marcel Breuer, said Mr. Ferry. To give his audience an idea of the qualifications of Mr. Breuer, the speaker sketched Mr. Breuer's background, training and accomplishments.

His work in a carpenter shop of Bauhaus gave him an understanding of materials which led him to originate new forms in furniture. The charging desk, the record player and several other pieces were specially designed by Breuer for the library.

Mr. Ferry gave a short description of the Aubusson tapestry from the Vasily Kandinsky painting, giving the artist's philosophy of expression through abstraction.

David Hare, young American sculptor, was chosen to do the statue which the architect felt was needed for the exterior of the building. He was asked to submit three ideas, all along the general idea of man's aspirations, as expressed by the legend of Icarus. Instead, he submitted three full-sized statues, from which one was selected.

The statue on the library represents Icarus plummeting down from the skies to his watery grave in the Mediterranean.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Ferry showed photographs of the Hare sculpture, the mural which is to be installed on the west wall of the Adult Room.

The group then moved downstairs to view the Calder mobile, the tapestry and the statue and Mr. Ferry answered questions from several of the audience.

Social Committee for the afternoon were Mrs. Thomas Tilley, Mrs. B. Courtney Rankin, Mrs. Rose Sanders, and Miss Marie Louise Anderson. Mrs. Charles A. Parcels, Jr. is chairman of the Friends Social Committee.

The meeting was chairmanned by Palmer Heenan.

News Notes from D.U.S.

The big news of last week involving the Detroit University School actually, took place at Grosse Pointe Country Day School where the 20th annual Hobby Show was held.

This was the 11th time that D.U.S. had joined hands with Country Day School to present the show. All 20 of the presentations have been under the supervision of Mrs. Marie Granger, the show's original sponsor. Mr. Andrew M. Cole of the D.U.S. faculty has assisted her since his school has been a participant in the event.

The special importance of this year's show lay in the fact that it represented a farewell to Country Day, since next year's hobby show will be displayed at Grosse Pointe University School (as the combined schools will be called) on Cook road.

The high point of the day was the presentation to Mrs. Granger of a handsomely bound collection of letters from students of the past and present, colleagues, trustees, and the headmaster. The letters were of a congratulatory or reminiscent nature and pointed with pride to the fact that under Mrs. Granger's direction the Hobby Show has grown to be a major school activity. When it began there was only a handful of exhibitors; now there is a yearly average of around eighty.

Over the years more than 1600 exhibits of an educational or recreational nature have been presented and always well received by all observers.

Important student aides in this year's Hobby Show were co-chairmen Jean Cudlip of C.D.S. and Philip Van Zandt of D.U.S. On their committees were Ann

Wood, Darcy Chandler, Gay Bacon, Pixie Goodenough, Margaret Hakken, Mary McArthur, Susie Pressel, Vickie Vidal, Tex Alexander, Noel Savignac, William Edgar, Morrill Dunn, Nicky Stroh, Charles Lord, John Finlayson, and Jack Hoey.

On the parents' Committee were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. George Jerome, and Mr. Robert Edgar.

Winners were as follows: INTERMEDIATE DIVISION: 1st, Emmitta Lyford, postcards; 2nd, Joan Upham, shells; 3rd, Ford Ballantyne, electricity. Honorable Mention: Happy Endicott, ceramics.

SENIOR DIVISION: 1st, Barbara Shover, handicraft; 2nd, Mike Huntington, gas airplanes; 3rd, Peter Hutchinson and Ralph McElvenny, ham radio. Honorable Mention: Peter Dodenhoff, match collection; Tom Bambas, sculpture.

St. Paul Seniors Trounce Juniors at Basketball

The St. Paul Seniors trounced all over the ever-fighting St. Paul Junior team by the score of 60 to 10 in the Girls' Basketball League at the Neighborhood Club on Thursday, February 11.

Carol Doren led the Seniors in high scoring, while little Joan Hinz racked up 8 of the 10 points for the Juniors. The Seniors committed 5 fouls and the Juniors had 11.

The 8 o'clock contest proved to be a real battle between the league-leading East Side Sport team and the Metropolitan Club, with East Side coming out on top, 46 to 32.

Carole Kirovac led East Side in high scoring honors with Suzanne "Peppy" Peplinski runner-up. JoAnne Hargis and Katy Karas shared Metro's scoring honors. The half time score was 21 to 17 favoring East Side. Referee Laurie Kaltz called 10 fouls on East Side and 6 on Metro.

The St. Paul Varsity drew a bye.

This evening, Thursday, February 18, the mighty East Side Sport team will get a rest while the Metropolitan Club will play the St. Paul Juniors at 7 o'clock; and the St. Paul Seniors and Varsity will battle at 8.

"I WAS DESPERATE"

"I was desperate," said Mrs. Owens. "My husband had business troubles. He would come home worried and tense, and we'd quarrel.

In the middle of his worries he died of heart failure. Then the business crashed. I saved only my clothes and a few possessions. I needed a job and had no training.

I often cried myself to sleep, thinking how I had failed my husband. If I had cheered and helped him, he might be alive, and might have saved his business. I felt guilty, miserable, and desperate.

Then a woman from the church came to visit me. She read to me from the Bible. She said God might have a purpose in making me poor. She told me of God's forgiveness, prayed with me, and took me to church. There I learned to trust God.

Through the church I got a job in child placement work. I work hard, but I'm useful and happy.

"I found the answer for my needs through the Church."

Why don't you try the Church, too?

Bosco Continues Bowling Spree

Members of the Army only three months, Johnny Bosco, 23 year old Grosse Pointe bowler, rolled a 289 game and a 742 series on Thursday, February 4, to establish two all time records for the Grosse Pointe Business Mens League at Motor City Recreation.

On the following Thursday, Johnny started with a spare in his third game and continued to strike out for eleven in a row to give him a 290 and a 701 series.

This is unusual in this league because it is a 775 to 825 handicap league, the oldest sanctioned league in Grosse Pointe. He has maintained a 200 or better average, having a 205 average before he rolled his 289 game. He bowls with his father Chris and brother Al on the Testa team and the three have been the most powerful combination in the league.

Despite this unusual effort, Testa lost three points to Kennedy. Last point winners last week were Bankes-Lightbourne over Vermeulen and Pete Moors over Kemps Norman and Art Young's tangled in a close battle when they rolled 2723 and 2713 respectively and split on points.

Other high scores were: Sarkison 223-614, Ruth 204-610, Janison 608, Carroll 602, Grabowski 601, Claramitaro 235, Ford 230 and Callahan 227.

Pointe Invited To Antique Show

Antiques, from dolls to heirloom furniture, will be shown in the second annual Antique Show being staged by All Saints Episcopal Church of Pontiac, West Pike and Williams street, Feb. 23, 24 and 25.

Each day of the show, which is being held in Stevens Hall of the church, the doors will open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Funds raised at the show will be used for the building debt incurred by the All Saints Church in 1948 and also for newly-organized chapels in nearby towns.

Lunch and tea will be served each day of the Antique Show and Mrs. Stanley Warner is this year's chairman, assisted by Mrs. Maxwell Shadley and all members of All Saints Guild II.

Eighteen Ohio and Michigan exhibitors are bringing collections which will include antique jewelry, silver, brass, copper, china, lamps, quilts, braided rugs, hand printed fabrics, hand woven linens, hand colored bird and flower engravings, and old fashioned farm pantry and primitive furniture and accessories.

All Saints members are always eager visitors to Pointe antique shows and again invite our residents to be their guests.

Local Florists to Give Speeches at Convention

DePetris will speak on "Here's How We Handle the Holiday Hustle," and Paselk on "Have You Seen This?"

More than 1,500 florists from Michigan and the mid-west are expected to attend the convention. Ten nationally famous floral designers have been booked for the Design School, including Frank Lang, of Honolulu, and Alma Lou Pratt, of Hamilton, Ont.

 man, Charles White, was found bleeding from 70 stab wounds, received in a brawl. He was discovered in a hallway of a house in New York, and died a few hours later on a hospital operating table. White's testimony in 1948 helped the Government to deport J. Peters, the mysterious "big boss" of the Communist underground.

Added to this, Russia insisted that the troublesome Trieste problem be included in the Berlin poster. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles denounced the Russian tactics and stated it left him "with a cold chill."

HOPE WAS abandoned by the Western diplomats regarding the Austrian treaty. At the Big Four conference, the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France, were expected to give the Soviet Union a final proposal that Russian troops remain in Austria until the peace treaty has been worked out and signed.

Added to this, Russia insisted that the troublesome Trieste problem be included in the Berlin poster. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles denounced the Russian tactics and stated it left him "with a cold chill."

THE NATION'S highest defense planners reportedly intend to ask Congress to okay plans to give short-of-combat aid to French forces in Indochina. The plans are expected to be presented at a secret session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by acting Secretary of State Smith and Adm. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. A French request for staff speed-up is also to be considered at the session.

Sunday, February 14
 RUSSIA is about to purge another of its "trusted officials," the Kremlin announced "shortcomings and mistakes" of the Premier of Kazakh and launched a campaign to "speedily liquidate" Communist errors in that Central Asian republic of the Soviet Union.

Moscow bared its troubles in a broadcast over the official government radio at Alma Ata. Severely criticized was Premier V. B. Taybekov, and his two Communist Party secretaries, recently purged.

THE WESTERN ALLIES stunned Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, by consenting to accept all of Russia's changes to the last five articles blocking acceptance of the Austrian peace treaty. The maneuver, proposed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, caught Molotov flat-footed.

The Russian was surprised and apparently dismayed, and insisted that the articles be turned over to the foreign ministers' deputies. The West agreed to the changes after they had been approved by Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl.

THE U. S. AIR FORCE in Japan admitted it was flying stepped up aid to the French forces in Indochina, but refused to comment to what extent. An official informant stated that an airlift was expanded after Air Force technicians were stationed at bases in Indochina to service American planes.

Meanwhile, loyal inhabitants of Luang Prabang, royal Lantian capital, were digging trenches and making bunkers to help ward off the Communist threat to the city.

Monday, February 15
 RUSSIA CHOSE to break off the Big Four parley in Berlin rather than agree to Austrian independence. The West, through United States Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, challenged Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to either sign the Austrian treaty or call off further talks.

Dulles offered to accept five Russian revisions in the treaty to bring about a settlement, but Molotov changed his mind. He insisted that his newest plan, that of entrenching the Russian Army in Austria indefinitely, be accepted. After 23 days of negotiations, the conference has produced nothing but words.

OWNERS OF A gasoline station in Milwaukee were sorry to see one of their customers leaving. After filling the tank, the attendant, instead of replacing the hose in its proper place, left it looped around the rear bumper of the car. As the car owner drove away, dragging the hose, the gas pump was pulled down, gasoline gushed up, and sparks caused by the metal pump scraping against the concrete driveway ignited the gasoline and started a $500 fire.

FRENCH UNION paratroopers made a daring night drop deep in Red territory and engaged the Communist army threatening the royal capital, Luang Prabang. While this was going on, Red troops sliced across the Mekong River to threaten the capital of the rear.

The Communists making this attack were described as guerrillas. The French troops made their jump from American-made C-47 transports. United States-made Bear-cat fighters and B-26 attack bombers supported the paratroopers.

 PRESIDENT EISENHOWER proposes that Charles A. Lindbergh's reserve commission be restored and that he be promoted to brigadier general. Retired General George Kenney, Lindbergh's boss during part of World War II, said the proposal was highly deserved and a long time coming.

The flier, himself, had nothing to say. The Air Force stated that he had not sought the appointment, but had been consulted about it and had agreed to accept it if tendered. Lindbergh resigned his reserve commission as a colonel in the Army in 1941, when he became disturbed over President Roosevelt's questioning his loyalty to his country.

GOV. WILLIAMS assailed the Republicans for having missed the "point to guarantee honest elections in the new election bill, because, as he said, they are playing politics. Without saying he would veto the bill, the governor, said he was completely opposed to it because it does not guarantee honest elections.

He disclosed that he referred to boards and recount outfits would be bipartisan. The present law requires boards to be bipartisan, but the Democrats contend the law is not generally observed.

THE THREE DETROIT policemen charged with looting a home in tornado-devastated Flint on June 9, 1953, were fined $100 and $50 costs each, and were placed on probation for 60 days until the fines and costs are paid.

They were found guilty by Circuit Judge Stephan J. Roth, of larceny from a dwelling. He berated the ex-policemen for violating the trust placed in them by the people.

Wednesday, February 17
 AFTER SIX HOURS and 40 minutes of deliberation, a jury found all six Michigan Communist leaders guilty of violating the Smith Act by teaching and advocating overthrow of the United States government by force.

The defendants heard the verdict of the jury without a flicker of emotion. It is presumed that they will fight the case to the United States Supreme Court. They will be sentenced Friday, and can hear a penalty of five years in prison or $10,000 fine each.

ONE OF THE HEAVIEST February rainstorms in history, closed schools in Michigan, mired cars in muddy subdivision roads, and knocked out power lines. The rain and freak lightning storms caused the collapse of a factory roof in Jackson, and flooded the plant's main building and offices to a depth of two inches. To add variety to the weather, wet-snow fell in the Saginaw-Bay City area and north of Grand Rapids, causing roads to be extremely slippery.

AUSTRIA FORMALLY rejected a Russian plan for peace treaty changes which would keep foreign troops on Austrian soil indefinitely. Austrian Foreign Minister Figl, supported by the Western Foreign ministers, told Russia's Molotov that his country would not accept further modification of the treaty draft.

Figl was instructed by his Vienna Government to say Austria was prepared to adopt a neutral course if given a treaty, but not to accept the retention of foreign troops.

Pointer of Interest

MRS. BERNARDINE SIMONDS McEVROY

by Ann Schrage

Ever since the Christians emerged from the catacombs they have been decorating their churches for the glory of God and the edification of their fellow believers. Our Pointer of Interest, Bernardine Simonds McEvoy, has done that for the Christ Episcopal Church Chapel in Flint. She painted and presented to the church a triptych mural, which was dedicated on January 31.

Bernardine has been painting since her youth and began to seriously study art during World War II, first in Epston, then in Detroit under Sarkis. She exhibited in Alger House of the Detroit Art Institute, which is now the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center. Later she studied at the University of Michigan, where she had works shown in the Rackham Galleries and the Lydia Mendelsohn Theatre. She studied under Gordon McAdow and at present has several paintings in the Flint Art Institute.

Required Much Research The triptych in the chapel represents many, many hours of research, both technical and Biblical, and this she did "in between" taking care of her two small children, Seth and Bebe, aged five and three years, respectively. Following the research were long hours of painting in the spring and summer. Some of the hours were spent in her studio at home with Seth and Bebe playing artist beside her, and later working at the church, with a sitter to take care of the children. Bernardine said she had to work from the floor, lettering the words of the parable: "He Who Hath Ears Let Him Hear."

The mural might be called her most colossal work, as the three panels in it measure 12 x 15 feet, and cover one end of the chapel. The wall was first painted with gesso which is the background for the colorful triptych. We learned that Bernardine's husband, John, along with other young vestrymen of the church, helped to lay this background.

Used Primitive Style The painting is done in a modern primitive style in brilliant variations of primary colors. The sand tones besides the blues of the Sea of Galilee in the bright sunshine are a setting for the people of Biblical times, with skin tones of their Caucasian features ranging from a golden brown to ebony, and their robes are of every hue.

The top of the mural illustrates the parable of the tares and the wheat. The central panel shows Christ in a pure white robe, preaching from the prow of a boat, with scarlet-orange on the blues of the water. On the left panel, the expressions and the attitudes of the 12 apostles gives them their identity, while the right panel gives a colorful group of men, women and children in different poses of attention and inattention. Of her painting Bernardine says: "I have always been influenced by Eastern Art, and used to spend a lot of time studying the costumes and colors from the public libraries and art museums. If the work lacks detail, it is because I want to simplify and make our Lord's parables visual in a modern primitive style."

Pi Kappa Psi Has Birthday

Grape Pruning Time is Here

The practice of cutting or trimming existing growth on woody plants for the benefit of that left on the tree, shrub or vine, is done mostly to promote flower and fruit production, or to make the plant more shapely.

The objective of pruning, which in horticultural parlance means to cut or trim, is manifold. With young fruit trees, it is done to shape the tree according to one's desires. The same holds true for shade trees.

If you want a tree to grow up and shade the roof of your house leave the terminal branches alone. Cut out only bad cross branches and the low hanging ones. If you want a low spreading tree so that you can reach the fruits or flowers, cut out those strong growing leaders and force out the lateral branches.

There is a strong tendency among most trees and shrubs to grow from the ends of the leaders and the buds at the base to remain dormant. To force these shrubs to grow thick and bushy, cut back the leaders about one-third and force out the basal branches.

Every horticulturist and gardener in the country will tell you not to prune early flowering shrubs at this time of year but late gardeners, especially the ladies, are going to be forcing Forsythia and French Pussy Willow, etc.

When you go out to cut those branches for forcing, just step back and take a look at your shrub and cut to shape it up. Take what you want then go back and finish the job after it is through blooming, and you haven't hurt your shrub.

February is probably the best time of the whole year to trim Grape Vines and Berry Bushes. Remember, grapes produce fruits on the wood that will grow this year. Leave about four laterals with three to four buds on each lateral.

With Raspberries and Blackberries, just cut out the old canes that bore fruits last year and cut the new canes back to a height of about four feet, leaving about four canes to a bush.

If you have any special problems there are plenty of good gardeners here in the Pointe that will be glad to help you.

Course on Investments To Be Given In Library

How and when to invest in stocks and bonds, will be the subject of a course offered by Corporate Enterprises, Incorporated, commencing February 23, at the Grosse Pointe Public Library, at 7:30 p.m.

Pointe Counter Points

by Roberta Isley

A bevy of models will be on hand February 18, 19, and 20 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. showing Ben Reig's newest collection of suits and dresses. One will be a dreamy dance dress of floating chiffon . . . pink. The underbodice is crepe . . . and the wide, beaded cummerbund, in a contrasting color, gives the dress a special personality. You'll look . . . and look again . . . at a afternoon print of imported black silk shantung . . . with roses tossed on. You'll see an all wool imported worsted gray suit . . . the skirt a slender shaft . . . the jacket tipped with a black velvet collar . . . animated with a filmy, white, chiffon scarf. We'd like to go on . . . but it's better that you see this informal showing yourself at Jacobson's, in better dresses.

We know your problem. Blinkety-blank. You have a room . . . a very special room . . . but something must be done about it. And that is where the Custom-Shop of Jacobson's Home Decorative comes in. The new Peg Riley imported linen fabrics can make a room look casual, provincial or traditional. See how dramatically the solid colors match the predominant color in the patterned designs. Take a green and gold pattern . . . then choose a solid, maybe antique satin, in the same gold for a slip cover. Or take one in which the delicate pink shades blend into a deep rose and match the deep rose in a solid. A stunning combination. It's in the custom shop they fashion draperies . . . slipcovers . . . bedspreads. If you have a window problem, take it to Jacobson's Home Decorative Shop. They know how to make a French window more French . . . a modern window more modern. P.S. New casement sbeers are in, too.

Wonderous things happened at the Michigan Unit of the National Hairdressers Association contest a few days ago. Barton, and Mary Jane came back to the Pointe with trophies for their fine hair stylings. They are on the staff at Louis', in the village, and Louis is as proud as punch. They cater to continental coiffures as well as the more accepted conservative ones that are softer . . . slightly longer . . . more studied. V-e-r-y amicable under the new Spring straws.

Do you know someone who has a flair for interior decorating . . . a taste for a touch of modern? Then we're suggesting a nest of three stacking stools. They're fashioned of sleek, bleached plywood with sleek, polished, brown metal legs that are rubber tipped. Made in Denmark, they are handsome additions to the living room, den, outdoor patio, dining area or office. The same goes for that brand new trend evident in lamp-designing in Gillis Modern Home Furnishings. However, the prices aren't sleek 'n snooty. Both the stools and lamps are scaled right with modern or traditional. 403 Fisher Road.

So many children have defective feet because of short shoes. People will tell you that price is important, but it isn't the fit is . . . the fit is . . . (Horning's feel strongly about this.) A long tall gal doesn't choose the same kind of monogramming that a short chubby gal would choose. And if you want to animate your spring suit blouse or sweater with a monogram it just can't be done hit or miss over the counter. The art work is important in monogramming. The charm and delicacy reflected in the paintings of Watteau and Renoir is captured in new hat fashions. The size . . . runs the gamut from miniature to mammoth. The general trend is toward more hat . . . but with less awkward bulk. The pose . . . continuous forward and very much "on the level". As to media . . . the new hats are made costly of finely sewn braids of the Milan family . . . and it's the body straws that we'd like to talk about. Some of the straws in this collection are smooth and shiny.
