PRESIDENT EISENHOWER, declaring the time is ripe, called for a Big Four foreign ministers' conference, once the German rearmament treaty is ratified. He said if this type of conference produces any kind of a result, then a chiefs-of-state meeting might follow.

He said he would make a lot of concessions to get the exploratory talks going. In London, Britain reminded France that she has only to ratify the Paris treaty to return Germany to clear a Big Four Conference with Russia.

Friday, March 25

RUSSIA ANNOUNCED that it is willing to cut conventional armaments by half if the West would drop its plan to re-arm West Germany. It reversed its policy of demanding simultaneous destruction of atomic and hydrogen stockpiles along with cuts in guns and armies, but added a provision aimed at the Paris treaty.

The Soviet plan would base disarmament quotas on the level of January 1, 1955. France is still debating the arming of 500,000 German soldiers to be at the disposal of the Western Alliance.

Saturday, March 26

DETROIT POLICE sent a nationwide teletype alarm saying Barbara Gaca, 7, "is presumed to have been kidnapped." Meantime, nearly 1,000 Boy Scouts and 700 policemen continued a methodical hunt for the missing child. A total of $1,500 has been posted and $2,500 more may be added for information leading to Barbara's discovery. She disappeared at 8 a.m. last Thursday on her way to Assumption Gracioso School, Gratiot and Maple Ridge.

Sunday, March 27

THE FRENCH SENATE early today ratified the treaty which will arm West Germany. The decision had been stalled by France for four years. The official vote was 184 to 110.

The treaty was one of four which had been approved by the French National Assembly. The pact makes West Germany and Italy members of the seven-nation Western European Union. Other members of the alliance are Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Monday, March 28

TWELVE CONVICTS of the Nebraska Penitentiary, in Lincoln, Neb., captured two guards and are holding them as hostages in the disciplinary building of the prison. Eighty guards and 55 state policemen were at the prison as Gov. Victor Anderson and other officials waited for the prisoners' demands.

There was no rioting and the heavy guard staff was keeping the other prisoners quiet. The Governor said the state will not make the first move.

Tuesday, March 29

KONRAD ADENAUER, Chancellor of West Germany, was jubilant over French approval of West German rearmament. He said it removed the last obstacle from his cherished goal of an armed alliance with the Western world.

Wednesday, March 30

JOSE RAMON GUIZADO, impeached president of Panama, was found guilty of being an accessory in the assassination of his predecessor, President Jose Antonio Remon. He was found guilty by the National Assembly, and sentenced to six years and eight months in prison.

In addition, the assembly stripped him of his rank of president and banned him from taking any office during the term of his imprisonment. The verdict of guilty was reached after 14½ hours of deliberation.

Report Gifts For Hospital Hit $327,305

Campaign Leaders Confident Of Reaching Goal Of $450,000 for Bon Secours

With a report of $327,305 already raised, the Bon Secours Hospital Completion Fund Campaign swung into the final phase of its Memorial Gifts program at a key meeting of Committee leaders and volunteer workers Thursday night.

Reports were made by the chairmen of the Business, Clubs and Organizations, Church and Community Committees.

Enthusiastic Meeting
Enthusiasm of the assembly was heightened by Lou Maxon, Associate General Chairman, who outlined the outstanding work of the hospital and paid glowing tribute to the Nursing Sisters who staff it. Since an almost miraculous recovery of his daughter, severely injured in an auto accident in 1951, Mr. Maxon has been a close friend of Bon Secours Hospital. He expressed his thanks to the splendid cooperation of all the volunteer workers and urged their continued efforts toward the $450,000 needed.

See Success in Sight
Frank Alter, acting Memorial Chairman, and Joseph Verhelde, Community Chairman, presented a financial analysis of the drive's progress, and the potential as proven by splendid community acceptance thus far.

Commendation was given the Women's Guild and Assistance League whose members have been generously volunteering many hours to "behind the scenes" clerical details as well as subscribing funds to the drive.

New Subdivision in Woods Must Await Bigger Sewers

More than 100 persons attended the public hearing, pertaining to the Woods subdivision ban, which was held in the auditorium of the Parcels Junior High School on Wednesday, March 23.

At the hearing besides members of the Woods council, were Edwin Pate, Woods City Engineer; Wayne County Drain Commissioner Christopher Mülle and a representative from the State Health Department.

After more than three hours of discussion, it ended with the ban on the subdivisions being upheld by the State Health Department, which through its representative, Donald Pierce, revealed that there will be no further approvals on developments until the bonds are sold and contracts let for the multi-million dollar joint sewer which will serve both the Woods and Harper Woods.

Pierce pointed out that any fur-

Clean-Up Campaign Begins At Big Luncheon Meeting In War Memorial Center

Robert C. McCoy, Head of Detroit's Drive, Gives Principal Speech as Many Organizations Are Represented

The widespread interest in the 1955 Grosse Pointe Clean-Up Campaign was well demonstrated this past Tuesday, by the splendid turnout for the Award Luncheon held at the War Memorial Center.

For five years the spring Clean-Up Drive has been sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council. This year in response to the general feeling that Clean-Up should be a year round project, the Council has been joined in its efforts by the Grosse Pointe Business Men's Association, the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Brokers' Association and the Grosse Pointe Property Owners' Association. From this augmented backing and stimulus has stemmed the decision to enter the National "Cleanest City Contest."

Winner Given Award
The award for the winner of the "Name the Campaign" contest was presented to Mrs. Franklin Greenwood for her title "Scrubaroo" and suitable recognition was made of Mrs. Kenneth McColl and Mrs. Donald Sullivan, who received honorable mention. The judges for the contest were Miss Jean Taylor, Mrs. H. Ray Will and Raymond Lynch.

The speaker of the meeting was Robert C. McCoy, recently appointed General Chairman of Detroit's 1955 Clean-Up-Fix-Up-Fix-It Campaign. In an effort to improve Detroit's standing in the National Cleanest City Contest, Mr. McCoy recently visited the National Bureau in Washington which conducts the annual campaign, for aid in planning the Detroit Campaign.

Both Can Win
In speaking to the Grosse Pointe group, Mr. McCoy expressed the feeling that Grosse Pointe and Detroit can both win in the contest, as they belong to different population categories, but that it is up to individuals—more organizations, more people participating.

He felt that a short fast drive should be used to demonstrate the values of a clean city—be it large or small—and serve as a kick-off for a year-round program.

In Mr. McCoy's opinion, two goals were of paramount importance. First "to educate and inspire a community to recognize and to achieve for its members and their families, the values of a clean home, in a clean neighborhood, in a clean city."

Secondly, for the community to be better educated in Neighborhood Conservation and Improved Housing.

Has Varied Background
Mr. McCoy is Industrial and Public Relations Manager of Wolverine Tube. He received his B.A. in Psychology and Sociology from Albion College, and his (Continued on Page 2)

Park Police Nab Young Car Thief

Juvenile Captured After Shot-Punctured Chase and Struggle

A 14-year-old boy, who stole a car so that he could have transportation to school, was apprehended by Park police on Wednesday, March 23, after running through a red light in front of the Park Municipal Building.

Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers revealed that on the Wednesday date, Patrolman Henry Coonce, while waiting for a traffic light change as he was leaving the station, noticed a car going through the red light, and took after it.

Pulling alongside the other car, the officer motioned the youthful looking driver to the curb. The operator of the vehicle moved toward the curb at Jefferson and Beaconsfield, then suddenly swerved his car south onto Beaconsfield, and while the car was still in motion, leaped out.

The driverless car smashed into another which was parked and belonging to Omer L. Denomme of 967 Washington.

Meanwhile, the pursuer and the pursued, both on foot, ran down Beaconsfield. Coonce fired two warning shots over the youth's head. The boy ran between houses at 833 Nottingham and hid in a garage.

Patrolmen Gordon Duncan and Arthur Conlan were sent to the scene to aid the other officer.

More Shots Fired
The boy was flushed from the garage and ran south in the alley. Conlan apprehended the lad. (Continued on Page 2)

Police Arrest Purse Snatchers

Two juveniles, both boys, will be filed on in Juvenile Court on the charge of purse snatching, according to Farms Det. Harold Beaupre.

Det. Beaupre disclosed that the two boys, one 16 years old and the other 15, were apprehended at LaBelle, between Mack and Bournmouth, by Farms Patrolmen Francois Belanger and William Elworthy, on Thursday, March 24, after one of them snatched a coin purse from the hands of Mrs. Elvera Degén, of 482 Allard.

She was about to enter a store at Mason and Mack, when the incident occurred.

When caught, the boys were in a car stolen from Adam-Simms' used car lot at 14550 Gratiot, Detroit.

Town Hall Meeting Gives Opportunity To Meet Candidates

All Grosse Pointers are invited to the Town Hall Meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center on Lake Shore road. Come one, come all, to meet your local council candidates and learn first-hand about your community government!

Nominees whose names will appear on the April 4 ballot for Grosse Pointe Park, Farms and Woods will be present at the assembly. Invitations have also been extended to councilmen of Grosse Pointe City and Shores, where elections will not take place until later this year.

Town Crier Engaged
An old time Town Crier in the person of Dave Laffrey, Grosse Pointe High School student, will "cry" news of the meeting through the streets today in true pioneer style and the red and gold Detroit Edison capolope will do some spirited tooting to advise citizenry of the event.

Members of the Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters, sponsors of Town Hall, will act as hostesses and introduce the candidates.

Mrs. Leonard Slowin of 1124 Nottingham will be hostess for Park residents. Mrs. Willis Bugbee of 36 Beacon Hill will serve for the Farms and Mrs. Richard Sowden of 1850 Hunt Club drive will be moderator for the Woods. It is hoped that the informal atmosphere of the meeting will bring about a lively public discussion of community problems.

On hand to discuss state and county issues on the ballot will be Co-chairmen Mrs. Richmond Roberts and Mrs. Charles Scott.

Doctors Petition Against Fluorine

A petition urging Governor G. Mennen Williams to direct the State Health Department to refrain from "reckless promotional activities" for the fluoridation of water, has been signed by a large number of medical doctors and dentists.

The Committee Against Fluoridation, which initiated the petition, reported at the beginning of the week 72 signatures that have been obtained, many of them from recognized leaders in their professional fields.

The petition cites the "contradictory and unconvincing evidence" which has been submitted in the arguments for and against fluoridation, and wants the state health authorities to hold their fire until they can furnish "incontrovertible proof" of the good to be gained by fluoridation.

Reference is also made to the vast difference in tolerance to drugs possessed by different persons, and it is pointed out that fluorine treatment can be obtained economically from a dentist, and that no one has the right to force the treatment through water on everyone.

DRIVER POSTS BOND
Alois Tanghe, 61, of 19200 Colinson East, Detroit, was placed under $100 cash bond pending a court date set for April 13. He was arrested on Sunday, March 27, by Park police after being apprehended at Mack and Audubon, for driving while intoxicated.

City Attorney Edward Wright presented an opinion in that the session can be held, even though it is election day.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m.

Fluoridation Is Big Issue In GP Farms

Three Pointes Will Ballot For Local Officials and All For State and County

Voters throughout the Pointe communities will have an opportunity to prove their rights to citizenship by appearing at the polls on Monday, April 4, to vote for the candidates of their choice for state, county and local offices.

Two of the Pointes will concern themselves only with state and county offices, the Shores and the City.

The Shores will hold its local election on May 17, and the City will not have to worry about its election until November.

Fluoridation on Ballot

In the Farms, the fluoridation issue has been placed on the ballot, but only in an advisory capacity. Whether a majority of voters do or do not approve continuation of fluoridation of the city water, the city council will have the final say.

There will be four council seats open in that community; three of them for four-year terms and one for two years. Seeking these offices will be William G. Kirby, the only incumbent; William G. Butler, Harry A. Carson, George S. Lang, Edward C. Roney, Jr., and Elaine W. Sempliner.

Three Park Vacancies

Three incumbent councilmen and one newcomer are seeking the three vacant council seats in the Park. The incumbents are, Robert E. McKean, Kenneth W. Cunningham, and William C. Oddy. The newcomer is Homer J. Cudia. The terms are for four years.

Park Mayor Homer Fritsch is unopposed for the two-year term of mayor.

In the Woods, Mayor Waid H. McKnight will oppose Kenneth H. Koppin for the office of mayor. The term is for one year.

Asking the voters to let them keep their councilman seats are incumbents, George W. Heckenroth, Elsie Friedrich and Rex H. Johnston. Bidding for the first time are James T. Bowling and Kenerly G. Jones. Woods councilmen are elected for two years.

State and County Battles

Other offices voters will be asked to fill are: one State Superintendent of Public Instruction, state-wide election; and Wayne County will vote for two candidates to the State Board of Education; two to the University of Michigan Board of Regents; one Wayne County Auditor; two State Supreme Court Justices; and two to the Circuit Court.

Everyone who is qualified to do so, is urged to make his vote count in Monday's election.

Furton Named Farms Manager

At a special meeting held on Monday, March 28, the Farms Council, following Mayor William Connolly's recommendation, appointed City Clerk Harry A. Furton, as the city's first city manager.

An ordinance establishing a council-city manager form of government was enacted at a meeting held on Monday, April 21, and will become effective 20 days from that date.

Mr. Furton has been with the Farms government since 1936, at which time he was elected to the Farms council, resigning shortly thereafter, at the request of the council, to take over the community's financial management.

He was born in New Baltimore, Mich., on September 1, 1902, the son of Clement Furton and Amelia Marsack. The family moved to the Farms in 1907 and have lived here continuously since.

He received his education from parochial and public schools and holds a degree in business administration.

He married the former Marie Goosen, a Pointe girl, in 1928. They have five children, Sister Joyce Marie, O.P., Adrian Dominican, H. Dennis, who is with the U.S. Army Security Agency; C. Kenneth, a 1955 graduate of St. Paul High and a member of the Naval Reserves; Joyce Ann, a seventh grader at St. Paul; and Linda Mary, who is five years old.

 after firing two shots over his head.

Conlan and Duncan were required to use force to subdue the boy, who, although only 14 years of age, was six-feet-one-inch tall and weighed about 180. He could have easily been mistaken for an adult.

Taken to the station where he was questioned by Park Det. Lt. Stanley Enders and the capturing officers, the boy stated he had stolen the car from in front of 2199 Cadillac, Detroit, on Tuesday, March 22.

He said he used the car to go to and from school in Detroit and at the time he was captured was on his way to East Detroit for his regular music lesson.

Turned Over to Authorities
 He was turned over to Detroit authorities after being issued a ticket for running a red light, reckless driving and driving without a license.

Chief Louwers commended the officers for the manner in which they carried out the capture of the boy. He said the boy could have been mistaken for an adult and might have been a criminal wanted for other crimes. He might have been shot while being chased or resisting arrest, he added.

The boy has no police record.

Mulle stressed that there are still legal angles to be solved, after which six months will be required to draw up plans and have them approved.

Then he said, it will take three months to sell the necessary bonds; nine months before construction can begin and a full year before construction can be completed.

The public hearing was brought about when the Coe and Asselin Company, builders, sought to have the Woods lift its subdivision building ban, so that the firm can go ahead with its construction of a 70-home development.

The Woods council turned down the request at a recent meeting, because the State recommended the suspension of building until better sewer facilities are constructed.

The construction firm, prior to the hearing, had threatened court action.

The outcome of the hearing appears to have settled the issue.

To Sing Mozart Requiem April 3

Mozart's celebrated "Requiem Mass" in D Minor will be given a special performance by the Christ Church Festival Chorus at Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe boulevard., at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Palm Sunday, April 3.

Written at the close of Mozart's life, the Requiem was commissioned by an anonymous Count who desired to pass it off as his own composition. As the work progressed, Mozart's health failed and he became convinced that he was writing the Requiem for his own burial service.

But he died without having completed the score and was given only a third class funeral without music. He was buried in an unidentified pauper's grave.

However, Mozart gave one of his pupils explicit instructions for filling in the musical score from his sketches so that the version we possess is complete and is wholly worthy of Mozart's name.

The Christ Church Festival Chorus is a community group of young singers who are devoted to bringing to the people of Grosse Pointe religious choral works of the great masters. In the last four years, they have presented the famous Manzoni Requiem of Verdi, the Grand Mass in C Minor by Mozart, the Messiah by Handel, the German Requiem by Brahms, and the Magnificat in D by Bach.

The soloists for the Mozart Requiem will be Martha Gard, soprano; Marian Jewell, alto; Charles Grinyer, tenor; and Donald Bliss, baritone. The performance is under the direction of Robert Hawksley, F.A.G.O., organist and choirmaster of Christ Church.

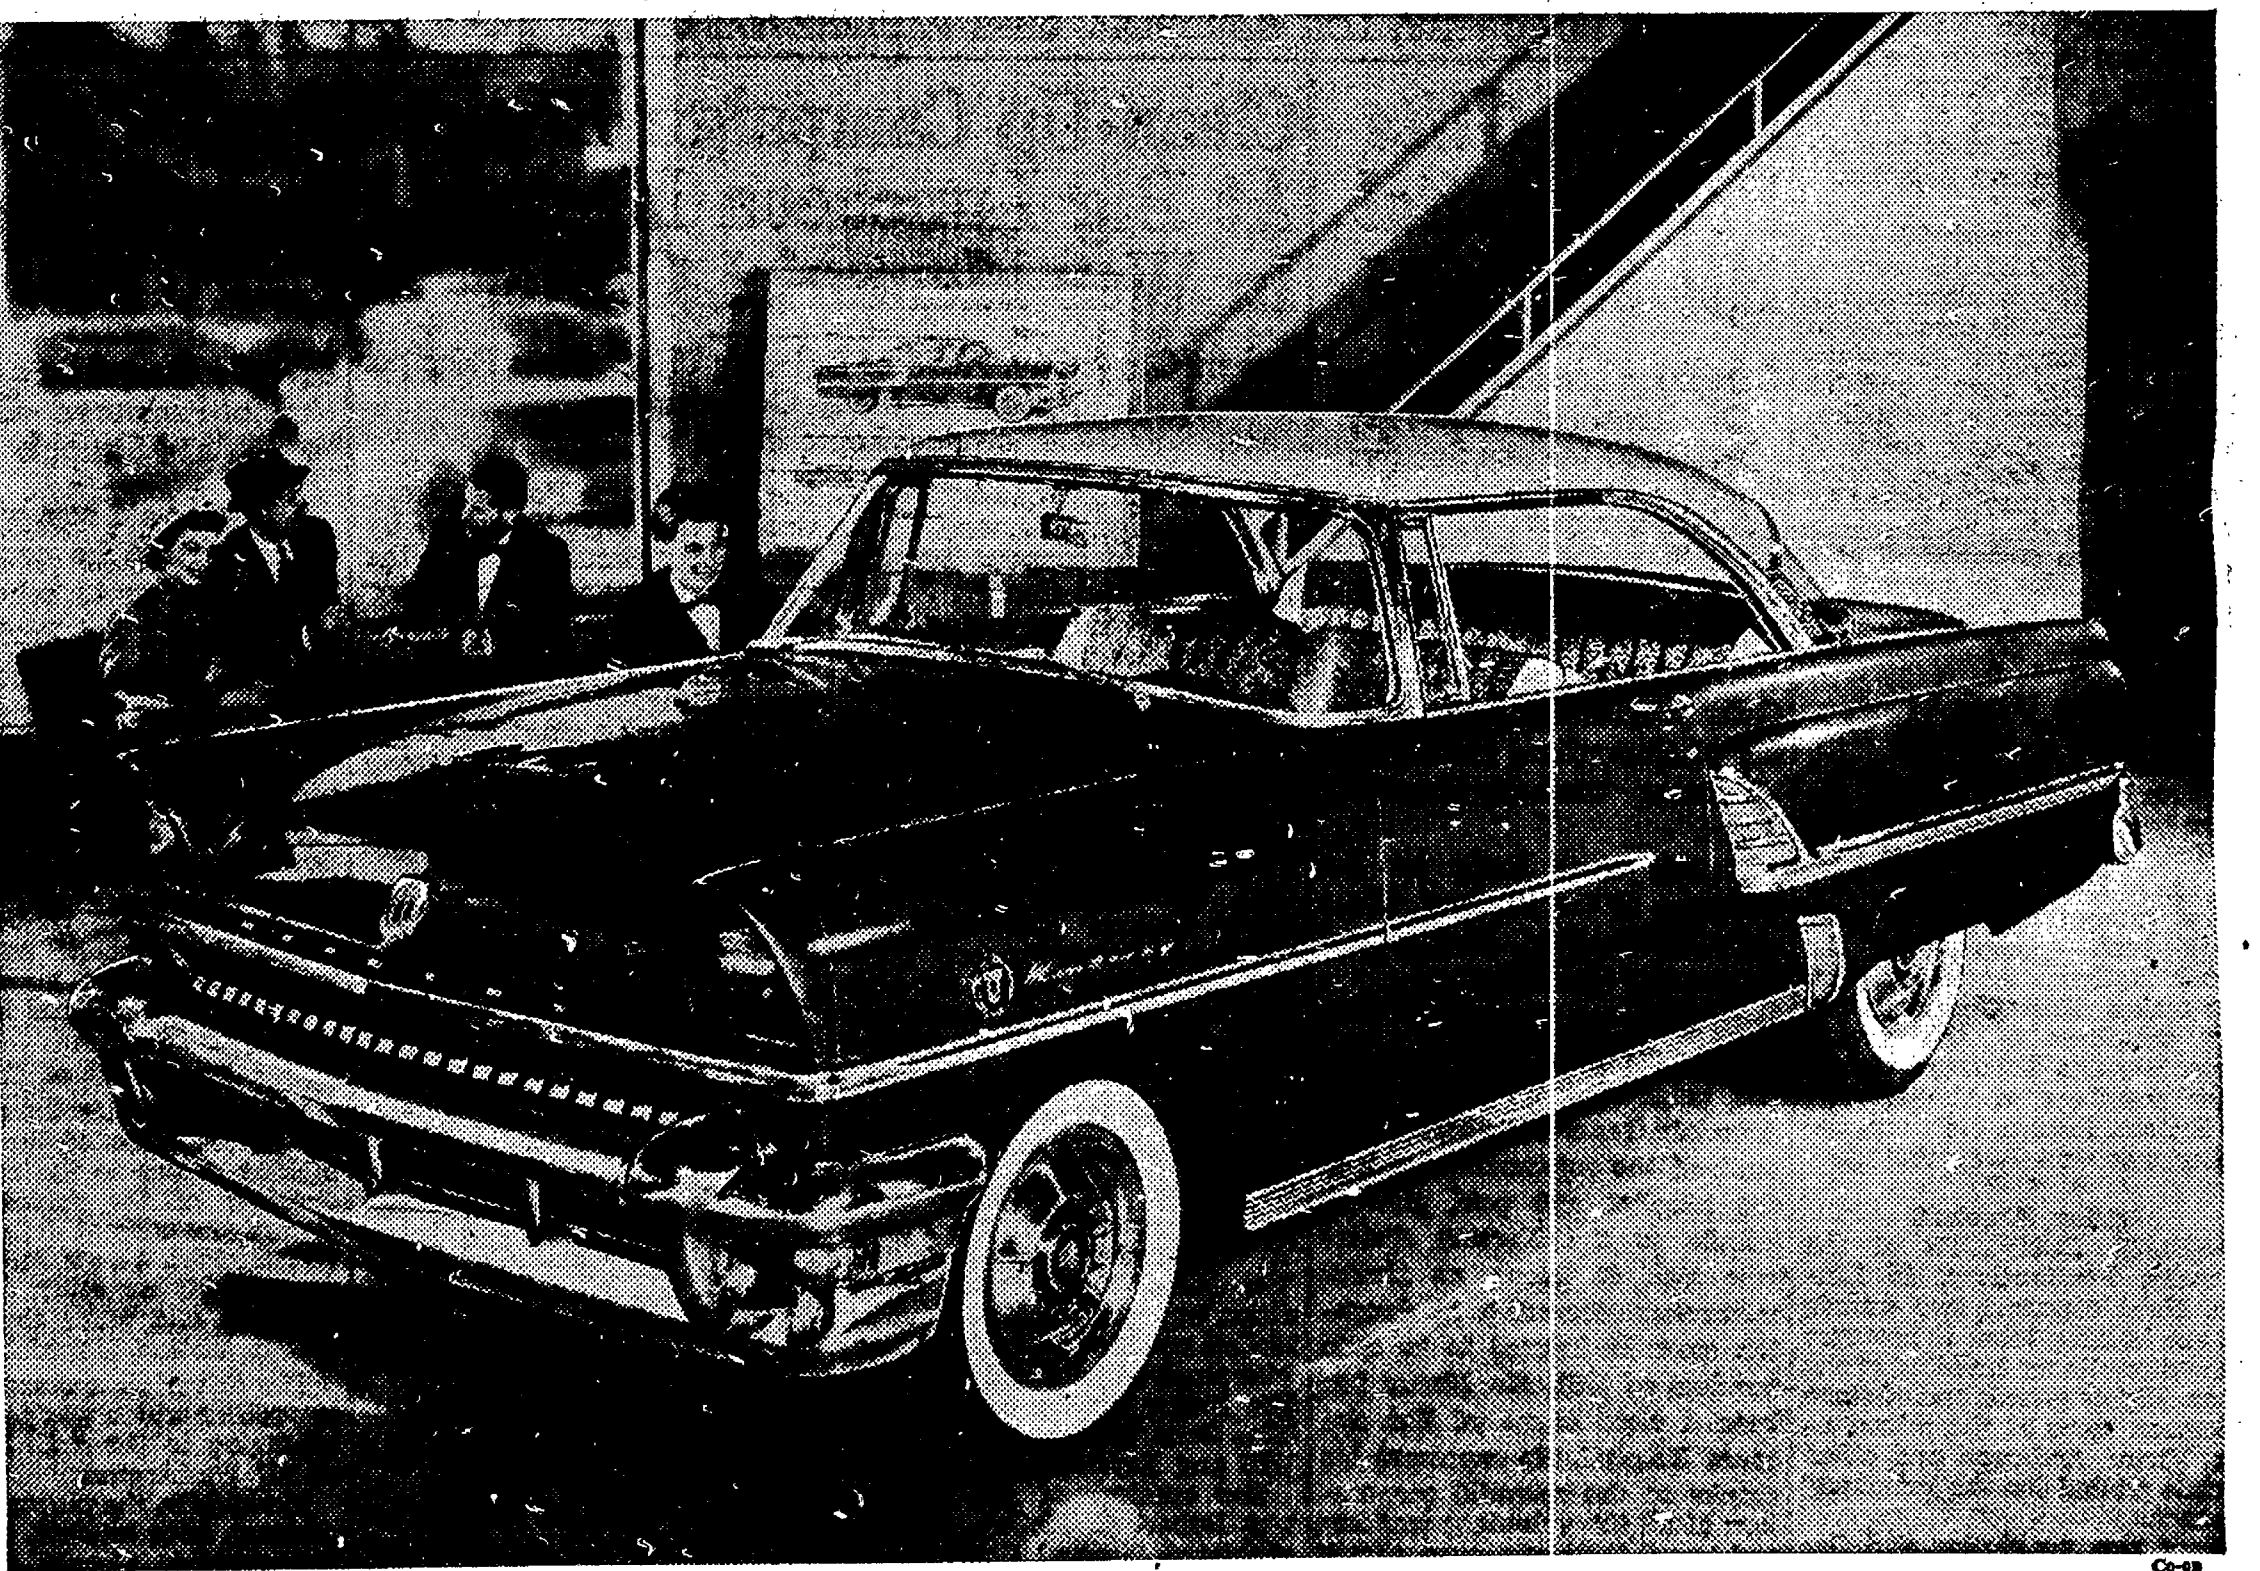

The full choral group consists of 38 men and women. Most of these singers are from Grosse Pointe.

Admission to this Palm Sunday concert is open to all and limited only by the capacity of beautiful Christ Church. There will be no reserved seats.

Rabaut Offers Food Stamp Plan

Congressman Louis C. Rabaut (D. Mich.) has introduced a bill that would authorize the Secretary of Agriculture to institute a plan to distribute to needy persons in the United States through a food stamp system a portion of the surpluses of food commodities acquired by the Government by reason of its price-support program.
 The bill would make it non-mandatory on the State or local welfare agencies to participate in the program. Essentially most welfare programs are state administered and regulated and this bill seeks to corroborate with the existing state provisions and to further extend assistance to those unable to qualify under present local regulations.
 This bill would enable those peoples under existing welfare programs to receive these surplus commodities through their local retail outlets, thus eliminating the hardships under the present program of distribution.
 Mr. Rabaut introduced this legislation when the problems facing Detroit's Food Industry Committee were brought to his attention.

Work Simplification Class Being Offered Homemakers

Free classes in work-simplification techniques, to teach homemakers in Grosse Pointe to do their daily housework simpler and easier with less strain on their hearts, will be offered at the Department of Community Service, 43 Grosse Pointe boulevard, starting Tuesday, May 3.
 The series will be sponsored by the Michigan Heart Association in cooperation with the Neighborhood Club, according to E. A. Irvin, M. D., Grosse Pointe Park, president-elect of the association. The course is available to every homemaker although heart patients will be given first listing.
 The announcement is of special importance to all women who are incapacitated or disabled by heart disease.
 "Most people can enjoy the luxury of extra time and energy that results from finding better and easier ways of doing things," Dr. Irvin stated. "But for the homemaker with heart disease, the work-simplification classes, which are free community services of the Michigan Heart Association, are designed to fill the doctor's prescription of "take it easy" by showing the homemaker how to save as much as 75% of her walking, 75% of her movements and 60% of her reaching. This tremendous saving of time and energy means lessening the strain placed on the heart by reducing the physical effort expended by the homemaker."
 Mrs. Frances G. Sanderson, Chairman of Wayne University Home Economics Department, conducts the classes. She emphasized that the classes are designed to benefit any economic level and that it is not necessary to remodel a home in order to conserve the homemaker's time and energy.
 "Any homemaker can learn to

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The American Dental Association tells the dentist to be interested in the general health of his patients as well as the dental health.

The addition of fluorides to the water is supposed to benefit the teeth of children up to age 14. This group comprises about 12 per cent of our people. What about the other 88 per cent?

Harmful effects are already being reported and 500 cities, representing 35 million people, have voted down or thrown out fluoridation. Since the promoters of the fluorine idea have done practically no research or exhaustive study on age groups, other than elementary school children, the cumulative effects are unknown. Even in the child group tooth mottling appears with the so-called safe concentration.

I have found a great number of my fellow-dentists in full accord with the report of the Congressional Committee investigating fluoridation. They state, "A sufficient number of unanswered questions concerning the safety of the program exists and it is preferable to err on the side of caution."

Sincerely,
DR. W. F. STREIT.

Dear Editor:

It might be of interest to the readers of these columns that Dr. Frank Wertheimer, who has cast so many aspersions against the opponents of fluoridation in this newspaper, was one of the participants of the top secret conference of health officials in Washington, D.C., June 8-9, 1951. At this meeting these officials were indoctrinated regarding the methods to be used to put fluoridation over on the American people.

The shocking account of this meeting, as recorded in the minutes, excerpts of which have become a part of the Hearings of H.R. 2341 in the House of Representatives May 25-27, 1954 (pp. 177-185) should be read by every American citizen. This document is available from the United States Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., or the Detroit Reference Library. Yours very sincerely, Esther Eddelen.

Dear Mr. Eger:
As a mother of small children, a dietitian, and a citizen of Grosse Pointe Farms I oppose fluoridation for several reasons.

I will admit that I favored fluoridation several years ago when I first read the literature presented by the U. S. Public Health Service. However, this past year I have delved deeply into the subject, not merely reading the so-called anti-fluoridation literature which some claim quotes authorities out of context, but I have looked up the original documents as well. And the more I read the more convinced I become that fluorine in the amounts of 1 p.p.m. is a potential danger to the health of our community.

Mrs. Stearns last week stated that mottling of enamel cannot be caused by water fluoridation in such a percentage as we have here in Grosse Pointe. I know that other factors can cause mottling, such as malnutrition or high fevers during the formative period. However, cases of dental fluorosis have shown up here, in children who have always eaten well-balanced diets and were free from any childhood diseases accompanied by fever. The proponents of fluoridation admit that there will be "mild" mottling in 10-12% of the children at 1 p.p.m. The Drs. Smith who originally discovered that fluorine causes mottled teeth have said that there is mottling in some naturally fluoridated areas at 5-7 p.p.m. "In Florence Arizona 94% of the school children had mottled teeth (1.3 p.p.m.) and in Casa Grande (Ariz.) almost half of the children drinking their city water naturally containing only slightly less than 1 part per million of fluorine had mottled teeth. In both Florence and Casa Grande the advantage in dental caries protection gained by the presence of fluorine in the water supply was offset by disfiguring appearance of mottling of the enamel."

Mr. Wayne Donaldson, Dr. Straith, Dr. Wertheimer and others all state what great quantities of fluoridated water we would have to drink to become fatally poisoned, but none mention any possible chronic fluorine poisoning. Yet many studies have shown that fluorine is a slow, accumulative poison. It is retained in the body in varying degrees depending both on the individual tolerance and the amount consumed.

Recent radio active tracer studies were reported in the Dec. 1954 issue of the Journal of Dental Research and corroborated the statement of Dr. Charles A. Brusch, Director of the Cambridge Medical Center in testimony last May before Congressional committees. He said, "Sodium fluoride is a highly toxic protoplasmic poison, 15 times stronger than arsenic, having radio-active properties. The smaller the dose, the greater the activity. It is unscientific and impractical to prescribe a toxic substance for the duration of our life, as an experiment, whether we need it or not, against our will."

Mr. Wayne Donaldson, quoting from A.A.A.S. monograph on Feb. 10 stated in the G.P. News that the optimal dose of fluorine is about 1 milligram per day, but didn't explain for the lay public that that amount means just over 1 quart of water a day if we consider water alone. However, some foods are already high in fluorides and foods cooked in fluoridated water may contain 2 to 4 p.p.m. How can we control the amount of fluorine each individual will consume a day? Much easier to control would be fluorides in salt, bone meal tablets, or pills to add to an exact amount of milk or water, if desired.

People who drink plenty of milk and are well-nourished will not be harmed by artificial fluoridation as much as those whose calcium intake is low, since the excess calcium can combine with the fluorine and render it harmless. Sodium fluoride causes precipitation of calcium and thus eventually robs the bones and teeth of this vital element. Leading nutritionists such as J. S. McLester and E. V. McCollum do not consider fluorine as an essential trace element of the body, although proponents would have you believe that fluorine is necessary for formation of good teeth.

Already cases of fluorosis, chronic fluorine poisoning among adults and mottled teeth in children, have begun to show up in various cities where artificial fluoridation has been introduced, including Grosse Pointe Farms, City and Shores. Possibly these cases are people who have a history of allergy and a low tolerance for drugs, but according to some doctors this is just a forerunner of what will happen to entire segments of the population 10, 20 or 30 years from now as the unexcreted fluorine accumulates in our systems.

Why should some of the citizens be forced to suffer pain and disfigurement for the questionable benefit to the teeth of children up to 12 years of age? Experiments have shown that the children could derive an equal amount of benefit by using good oral hygiene — brushing teeth regularly, eating a well-balanced nutritious diet and cutting down on sweets and soft drinks.

Also, those parents who are sold on the advantages of fluorine may allow their children to have it applied topically to newly erupted teeth as is being made available in the schools for a nominal $5.00 in grades 2, 5 and 8.

As a good American citizen, I am against fluoridation, this involuntary mass medication which violates our basic Constitutional rights. Even prisoners can decide if they wish to serve as human guinea pigs!

Some proponents compare fluoridation with chlorination, (to purify our drinking water), vaccination, or the use of antibiotics. If dental caries were contagious, we might possibly decide that it was necessary to fluoridate the water, even though it harmed some of the people. However, since there is no public health epidemic problem involved, the question should go back to the individual families—each with a right to decide in what form if any they wish to take fluorides. (Continued on Page 6)

Letters

"What is one man's meat is another man's poison."
MRS. FLOYD W. DARGEL,
445 McKinley, Grosse Pointe Farms
TU 5-7820.

To the Editor:

Let's take a sane look at this fluoridation problem. We all want our children to have better teeth. We are now adding sodium silico fluoride at the rate of 1 pp per million to our water supply to achieve this result.

But how can we tell—who can say how much or how little of this substance any individual child takes into his system? It is common knowledge that some children habitually drink many times as much water as others. Other children drink little water as they get their liquids from milk and fruit juices.

Fluorides can be administered in several ways individually and inexpensively to those children whose parents wish them to have it. If it is given by tablets, drops or local application to the teeth we have an accurate control over the amount each child receives.

We also have a choice as to whether we want our children to have fluorides or not as we now have a choice about iodine. Iodine is not forced on us—why can't we have the same free choice as to fluorides?

Let's take sodium silico fluoride out of our drinking water and return it to the druggists' shelves. This is Poison—it needs the protection of the prescription slip or the hands of a competent dentist.

Lee J. Grylls.

To the Editor:

I am very interested in the fight against fluoridation. As a citizen of Grosse Pointe City, I feel my hands are tied and that I have no legal means of being heard.

However, may I urge all Grosse Pointe Farms citizens to vote "No" at their polls on April 4. In my opinion there are too many unanswered questions concerning the safety of this program.

The U.S. P.H. has spread much propaganda concerning the safety of this project in Grand Rapids, but has relied upon Vital Statistics to try and impress us. Where is its proof concerning the health of the adults, aged, and chronically ill? The picture of reduction in dental decay is fine and dandy, but what about an entire population's health. It admits Sodium Fluoride is rat poison, but in the next breath says, in small doses it won't harm you. The workers at your water plant admit they are unable to keep the amount of sodium silico fluoride stable, that it fluctuates from day to day, sometimes going over the optimum of 1 part per million. They have never taken an analysis at the tap end. I think your citizens should demand this!

Yours truly,
Mrs. Sue Schopmeier,
598 University.

To the Editor:

As residents of Grosse Pointe City we receive our water from Grosse Pointe Farms, and we are consequently very much interested in, although we cannot vote on it, the question of fluoridation. It is our belief that fluoridation of the water supply of these two communities is a bad thing for the following reasons:

1. To look no further afield than your own columns, there is a strong divergence of opinion among qualified medical men as to the effect of fluorine on the general health of the adult population, coupled with complete agreement that the only ones who benefit at all are young children.

2. There has already appeared in Grosse Pointe Farms more than one case of definite fluorine poisoning.

3. Since medical opinion is divided, and since fluorine poisoning has occurred here already, we do not believe that any government unit has the right to subject all its citizens to what is, after all, an experimental test.

4. Moreover, even if all the population but one were immune to the effects of fluorine, we do not believe the council has the right to force that one to suffer for the sake of children's teeth, especially since the teeth of those young children can be taken care of by painting them individually with fluorine.

5. Finally, as staunch believers in a limited, representative form of government, we believe that the condition of one's teeth is one's own responsibility. We have three small children of our own and we regard it as our responsibility to take care of them, not anyone else's.

For these reasons we are against fluoridation of the water supply, and hope and believe the voters of Grosse Pointe Farms will turn it down in the election on Monday, April 4.

Very sincerely,
Richard Durant,
Rosemary Durant,
425 Lincoln Road.

To the Editor:

What is happening to our freedom that we are not allowed to decide for ourselves whether or not we wish to use a certain drug?

I am referring of course to the very controversial subject of "Fluoridation."

Here-to-fore our laws have permitted each individual to choose for himself or herself what form of medical treatment he prefers. He is not compelled to have "shots" or any form of vaccination if he does not want to have them. When the theory was advanced that iodine was necessary to prevent certain diseases iodized salt was provided, but he can take it or leave it as he chooses.

I hesitate to think what our diet will be in the future if this practice is allowed to continue. In which of our foods will the next so-called preventative drugs be placed?

Every one of us is very much concerned about the health and welfare of all, however some take a different viewpoint from others as to what is necessary for the attainment and protection of our health and welfare.

I have deep regard for the medical profession and know they are doing a great work but I feel that in this instance they are overstepping their authority, especially when there seems to be a wide difference of opinion within their own ranks.

I appreciate the generosity of our Council in allowing this subject to be voted upon and I hope they will weigh the issue very carefully before making their decision as to whether to continue the use of fluoridation.

Our very freedom is at stake.
Sincerely yours,
Mrs. H. J. C.

To the Editor:

On Monday, April 4, we in Grosse Pointe Farms are to have an opportunity to express ourselves on continued fluoridation of our water.

The announced purpose of fluoridation is to prevent decay in teeth of children under seven. There is some evidence that it may reduce or postpone decay in children's teeth; but it is ineffective against pyorrhea which causes more trouble than decay.

Moreover, many authorities believe that PREVENTION of decay at all ages is best accomplished by a good, well balanced diet, with limited amounts of candies, syrups, soft drinks, and other devitalized foods.

Some physicians believe that fluorines accumulate in the system, tending to cause diseases such as cancer, polio, and heart and blood diseases, as well as softening of the bones and loss of muscular control.

Parents who want fluorine treatments for their children's teeth may obtain them through their dentists. But why should our drinking water be fluoridated for all, leaving no one a CHOICE?

In my opinion, the burden of proof is upon those favoring fluoridation to prove (1) its value is reducing decay, not merely postponing it; and (2) lack of harmful effects on children and adults.

Respectfully,
George M. Zimmerman,
468 Cloverly Road.

Cinema League Meets April 7

Outstanding movies taken by members will be featured at the Grosse Pointe Cinema League's meeting next Thursday evening, April 7, at 8 o'clock at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center.

High point of the evening's program will be a movie done by Alfred Raur, illustrating how sound can be added to a home movie by synchronizing a tape recording of music and commentary with the film.

Other movies to be shown were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Palmentier and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palmer. This will also be the Cinema League's first annual meeting and officers will be elected for the following year.

Mr. Palmentier will lead a general discussion of techniques involved in amateur photography following the movies.

The Cinema League, which is sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, is open to the public. Anyone interested in any of the various phases of amateur movie photography is urged to attend. For further information call the Center.

Two Pointe Soldiers Now at Fort Carson

Pvt. Richard Meulebrouck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Meulebrouck of 887 Washington road, and Pvt. Walter V. Bernard, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter V. Bernard of Devonshire road, have arrived at mile-high Fort Carson, Col., at the foot of Pike's Peak.

Both have been assigned to Company A of the 12th Combat Engineer Battalion. They will undergo eight weeks of basic combat training.

Fort Carson, named after the illustrious Indian fighter, Kit Carson, is located five miles south of the resort city of Colorado Springs at the foothills of the Rocky Mountains. It became a major Army installation in 1942, and a permanent post last August. The variability of nearby terrain, ranging from flat prairies to 14,000-foot mountains, coupled with a moderate year-round climate, makes Carson especially well suited to a diversified training program.

Fort Carson has the distinction of being the only military installation in the United States for training Army scout and sentry dogs. It also is the home of the only remaining Army mules, and headquarters for the renowned Mountain and Cold Weather Training Command—a small group of veteran Army mountaineers. Both Fort Carson and the 8th Division are commanded by Maj. Gen. John G. Van Houten.

Library Receives Additions To Big Collection of Films

The Grösse Pointe Public Library announce some outstanding additions to its film collection for the month of April.

In line with the Library's policy of obtaining for each of the winter months a number of films to supplement its permanent collection, the April additions are chosen to give a variety of new subjects for the home film-shower and the program planner.

The films are circulated from the Central Library at Kercheval and Fisher. No charges are made for their use, but the borrower is responsible for providing his own projector and operator.

The titles being added for April are:

HILL TOWNS OF GUATEMALA. 10 minutes, color, sound. Depicts life in the Indian villages clustering around Lake Atitlan in Guatemala. Shows the natives going about their tasks of rope weaving and marketing. Calls attention to the unusual costumes of the Indians who continue to live and dress much as they have for many centuries.

MAPLE SUGAR TIME. 9 minutes, sound, color. Shows that sugaring, although not a large industry, is a definite part of the work and social life of the Quebec farming family. Pictures a Quebec farmer and his sugar bush and the old-time ways of gathering and processing the maple sap.

THE SEASONS. 20 minutes, sound, color. An outstanding presentation of the changes in nature over the four seasons. By depicting with discrimination and photographic skill of a high order the signs of the earth's changes, the film calls attention to the ever-changing beauties to be observed around us. The substitution of a musical score for narration removes any distraction from concentration on the photographic beauty of the film.

SONG OF SIAM. 11 minutes, sound, color. Shows the influence of western civilization on an ancient Siamese habits and customs. Includes Bangkok's dancers and native musicians, scenes of the people and their customs, and a boxing match.

TRAPPERS OF THE SEA. 13 minutes, sound, color. Shows how, when spring comes to the Atlantic seacoast. Nova Scotia's fishing villages get ready for the lobster season, the success of which determines their prosperity. Illustrates baiting and laying traps, hauling in the catch, and marketing the lobster.

VALLEY OF 10,000 SMOKES. 11 minutes, sound, black and white.

Father Hubbard, the famous "glacier priest," makes an expedition to explore a region in Alaska where volcanoes give off gas vapors resembling smoke. He finds that the heat of the region is gradually decreasing, indicating that the region is recovering from the effects of the volcanic activity.

A film on the famous MUSICAL RIDE OF THE ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE will be available for the first part of the month, through April 15 only.

Graduates With Honors

After being graduated with honors from the Public Information School at Fort Slocum, N. Y., 2ND LT. FORD C. SLATER (right) is awarded his diploma by COLONEL C. E. He was graduated from Michigan State College in March of 1954.

Ceremony Held For Eagle Scouts

Several Explorers from the area served by this paper, who achieved their Eagle Scout rating (or Explorer Silver Award) during 1954, participated in the Council's Second Annual Eagle Scout Recognition Ceremony on Monday evening (February 28) at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel.

Guest speaker at the dinner was Dr. J. O. Christianson, superintendent of the University of Minnesota School of Agriculture at St. Paul. Dr. Christianson's appearance was made possible by the General Motors Corporation for whom he is frequently engaged to address important audiences, including large civic organizations, business groups, educational and professional societies.

Eagle Scout Recognition Day is planned by the Detroit Area Scout Council as a practical method of allowing each new Eagle an inside view of the career or profession the Explorer plans to follow after graduation from school.

Each new Eagle was questioned on his life's ambition and an outstanding business or professional man was secured to serve as sponsor for the occasion. A would-be-research chemist was assigned to Dr. Leon Sweet, vice-president in charge of research for Park-Davis. A budding law enforcement officer was paired up with special agent Fred MacIntire, head of the Detroit Office of the F.B.I. More than one-third of the questionnaires indicated an interest in engineering, research and allied fields.

Fifteen new Eagles chose careers in medicine and were assigned to outstanding doctors in various Detroit hospitals. Eight selected dentistry; and many other occupations and professions were represented. Only one Eagle chose job brokerage (his Dad's profession), and he spent the day visiting with Frank N. Isbey at the Detroit Produce Terminal, one of the largest in the world.

Eagle Recognition Ceremony General Chairman Ray R. Eppert, executive vice-president of Burroughs Corporation, was astounded to learn that only three Eagles, less than 2%, were interested in salesmanship.

Invited to See Atomic Blast

John J. McMahon has been invited by the Michigan Civil Defense Agency to participate in the first Civil Defense Field Exercise ever to be conducted during an atomic explosion.

The Field Exercise, to be held during the spring atomic test series at the ABC Nevada Test Site, is intended to provide first-hand experience to civil defense personnel who will do the actual work in a disaster caused by nuclear attack.

Mr. McMahon, who resides with his family at 439 Moross road, has served as Area Chief of the Warden Service since the inauguration of the Civil Defense program in Michigan and in addition, serves on the Advisory Council for State Registered Architects, Engineers and Surveyors.

McMahon will be one of the specialists working in the burst area contaminated with radioactivity, amid structures which have been exposed to atomic blast.

Other participants will include doctors, police officers, sanitary engineers, clergymen, wardens, first-aid specialists and structural engineers, emergency mass feeding experts, and radiological defense workers. A special committee of State and city civil defense directors helped the Federal Civil Defense Administration design the field exercises.

The code name "Operation Cue" has been given to the civil defense phase of the atomic test. "Operation Cue" is primarily intended to give scientists information they need on the behavior of nuclear devices, but it is also expected to produce information needed for better civil defense planning and organization.

The test will include study of the effects of nuclear explosion on homes, commercial buildings, shelters, food, communications equipment, gas and electric utilities, storage equipment for documents and other records, civil defense emergency vehicles, trailer-coach mobile homes, and radio-logical defense instruments.

Government agencies such as the Department of Agriculture, Housing and Home Finance Administration, U. S. Forest Service, Public Buildings Service, U. S. Bureau of Standards, Federal Housing Administration and Food and Drug Administration, and many of the country's leading industrial firms and associations are also participating in "Operation Cue" under civil defense auspices to test the effects of nuclear explosions on a wide variety of materials and products. About 1,000 observers will witness the "Operation Cue" test blast. They include Federal, State and local civil defense officials, and representatives from Government, industry and all public information media.

Over 100 children in the three choirs will also present a choral program of sacred music before the pageant begins, under the direction of Miss Ruth Burkholder, Director of Music. Society News Gathered From All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

By Jane Schermerhorn

Now if our crystal ball were only working better we should be able to give you a complete account of the wedding in Paris Wednesday when Annette Shelden, daughter of Mrs. Serge Daniloff, of Paris and Grosse Pointe, and the late Henry D. Shelden, became the bride of Jere Hutchins Dykema. They were married at the American Church and the ceremony was followed by a reception at the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Daniloff. We do know that Annette wore a waltz length gown of pure white peau de soie, the fitted bodice designed with off-the-shoulder effect and that the lovely lace, drifting over the gown, was bought in Paris after the bride arrived there last Monday. Her bridal veil was also Parisian. Mrs. Ward A. Detwiler, of the Pointe, and her son and daughter-in-law, the Peter M. Detwilers of London, were hoping to fly across the channel to attend the wedding, rounding out the list of Pointers who were to include Hilary Micou; the bride's cousins, Francis D. and Alger Shelden Jr.; Jere's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond K. Dykema; Annette's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Lovell of Birmingham; and her brother, Henry D. Shelden, who gave her in marriage. After a wedding trip through Southwest Europe, the Dykemas will come back to Grosse Pointe and live on Ridgeman road.

A Chance to Help

Mrs. Edwin O. Bodkin has a problem and it would be wonderful if "Another Pointe of View" could help her solve it. As you know her long list of civic and service interests includes entertainment for the boys at the Anti-Aircraft Installations. The other day the lads at a particular base made one of their very few requests. They'd like some dancing lessons. Not Veloz and Yolanda routines but some down-to-earth ballroom a.b.c.'s. Now there MUST be some post debs in the Pointe whose dancing mileage would make them good teachers. The U.S.O. stages a dance once each month at the base when there would be plenty of dancing partners. Wanted are just one or two nimble misses up there in front to walk through steps for them. When we think of that long line of beauties who performed so gracefully in the Junior League Follies we are confident that at least two of them will call Mrs. Bodkin at her home on Muskoka road (early in the morning, preferably) and volunteer to do this tiny bit for the lads.

Duane Lawson Howes Will Live in Lansing

Their Marriage Solemnized Saturday in Grosse Pointe Congregational Church; Bride was Grace Eleanor Frizzell, Daughter of Walter R. Frizzells

One of Spring's early weddings was that at which Grace Eleanor Frizzell became the bride of Duane Lawson Howes last Saturday evening.

The ceremony took place in Grosse Pointe Congregational Church and was followed by a reception in the church parlours given by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Frizzell, of McMillan road.

Mr. Howes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Howes of Howell, Mich.

Grace spoke her vows in a gown of white antique taffeta, designed on Princess lines and distinguished by seed pearl embroidery on the bateau neckline.

The great skirt swept into slight train and her lovely veil of French silk illusion was held in place by a small hat of the same antique ivory as her gown.

The bride accented her white wedding robes with a bouquet of palest pink roses.

As her sister's only attendant, Mary Elizabeth Frizzell, was dressed in pink crystaletta. The opera length frock had sculptured bodice, cap sleeves and a full skirt. A band of pink straw was worn on her head and she carried an arrangement of deep red roses.

Robert Taylor came from Lansing to serve as Mr. Howes' best man.

The ushers were Don Quick, of Manistique, and Paul Beach, of Saginaw.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Frizzell was gowned in rose beige silk, fashioned with flared skirt. Soft blue and pink beading detail trimmed the gown and her chapeau was contrived of pink straw cloth.

A costume of mauve crystaletta with a small matching hat was worn by the mother of the bridegroom.

Both Mrs. Frizzell and Mrs. Howes pinned white camellias to their handbags.

The bride's table, at the reception, was covered with a sentimental and beautiful cloth, hand-crocheted in the pin wheel pattern. It was made by Mrs. Frizzell's mother, Mrs. George Mehrling, of Arlington, Va. and was presented to her on her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Another silver anniversary gift was used on this table, a silver candelabra holding ivory tapers. The white wedding cake was square and rose three tiers.

Mrs. Mehrling arrived from Virginia for her granddaughters' wedding and also her grandmother, Mrs. William Frizzell was here from Hyattsville, Md.

Presiding at the coffee table were four of the bride's friends, Jenny Lind Davis, who is spending her spring vacation from Principia College in the Pointe; Carol Fredericks, Mrs. Elmer Meyer of Madison, Wisc. (the former Nancy Ramsey of Grosse Pointe); and Janice Gelhaar.

When the young Howes left for a brief wedding trip, the bride donned a gray checked suit. They plan a longer trip in Northern Michigan this summer.

They will make their home in Lansing.

Oscar Keller Family Vacationing in Florida

Vacationing in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the Oscar Kellers and their daughter Virginia of Bedford road, were guests recently of the Howard Snures of Detroit on board their yacht How-n-Hel.

Mr. and Mrs. Keller will return home April 1.

Juniors Enter Flower Show

The Pointe's adult gardeners had better look to their laurels for they might be in for some spotlight competition from juniors who are beginning to exercise green thumbs.

At the first Junior Section to be included in 26 years in Michigan Horticultural Society's Flower Show, being held all this week at Michigan State Fair Grounds, a large number of Pointe juniors have arrangements.

Credit for this enthusiasm is shared by a group of Pointe mothers, Scout and Brownie leaders, and by Vincent R. Depetris and Louis Charvat, whose gifts of planting materials and help were given generously.

There were workshops at several schools when pupils were shown how to arrange dish gardens for the flower show.

Teaching these were Mrs. Robert M. Rodger, Mrs. Robert Wood, Mrs. Don R. Flintermann, Mrs. Robert Betsing and Mrs. Arthur Holler.

Mrs. Ford Ballantyne, Jr., judged exhibits made by 10 and 12 year olds at Grosse Pointe University School and Mrs. Charles Gorey did yeoman's service rounding up materials for the youngsters.

If you visit the Michigan Horticultural Show between now and closing day (Saturday) you will find the arrangements by:

Marcia MacDonald, Tina Gram, Lynn Gorey, Anne Wood, Carol Johnson, Martha Howbert, Mary Barr, Joan Upham, Nanette Gould, Patty Walbridge, Pauline Lord, all from GPUS;

Rosemary Nyman, Barbara Campbell, Corinne Beavais, Marcia Hollar, Dorothy Chylinski, Emily Florlund, Cheryl Salomon, Martha and Ruth Herdegan, all from Monteith.

Carol Rodger from Ferry; Rory Nelson from Liggett; Genevieve Lynch from St. Paul's; and from Vernier: Leslie Beckenhauer, Carol Wood, Suzanne Linda Foster, Patricia Mary Foster, Meredith Ann Horsch, Claudia Ridout and Carol Klopser.

Entries in the Junior Section were so high that those exhibiting had to pass a preliminary judging.

The motif was continued with a miniature oasis at each of the dinner tables, tiny palm trees and tents completing the scenes.

To the famous Harmonie cuisine, the chef even added Arabian sweets to keep in the spirit of the gay evening. After the program, members and their guests returned to American style dancing till the wee small hours.

Pointer Ernest W. Nigg was chairman of the successful party. He and Mrs. Niggs were hosts to eight guests at the event.

With Mr. and Mrs. Buchhorn, of Pemberton road, was their niece, Vera Mueller, and her friend, Joan Petrov, of Plymouth.

over this paragraph. We've just been having fun reading John Mulford's travel diary (compiled while he and Mrs. Mulford were on their recent Central America and Mexico junket); at least it was fun until the noted Pointe gourmet elaborated on a luncheon he e-n-j-o-y-ed in Mexico City. Worms and unborn goat. To his estimable list of interests, Mr. Mulford now adds volcano watching. This could become as popular as bird watching, and if it reached the proportions of the latter in England (where Spring's first pipit brings a rush of long, ecstatic letters from bird-watchers to the London Times) we shouldn't want to be around. At San Salvador, the Mulfords were welcomed by a plume of smoke shooting up from the volcano Izalco. Also in San Salvador, Mr. Mulford was enchanted by the home of one of their hosts where the tiled floors permitted the family motor car to be driven right into the living room.

Volcano-Watchers

One evening during this part of their travels, the Mulfords drove to a place where they could watch Izalco at night which, says the volcano-watcher, is "the time to see them." Well, let's use his words: "Izalco literally bathes itself in fire. Great streams of white, red hot lava come pouring down and the red glow over the top is fascinating. It is like a huge display of fireworks. Each eruption starts with a red bulge in the air, then puff! out comes a display of sparkling particles thrown hundreds of feet, sometimes thousands of feet, into the air. While still hot, these rocks fall back on the mountain, and roll down the side. On one side, it seemed there was a hole in the rim where more or less continuous streams of white hot lava pour out. It looked like a lighted funicular running up the side of the mountain. Izalco is 6000 feet high, and it is a grand and exciting display."

The Sleep of the Just Another afternoon, the Pointers drove to Quetzaltenango where a jeep attempted to take them up to the volcano Santiaguito. Its best view is obtained by peering at it from atop an inactive volcano, Santa Maria, 11,000 feet in the air. But the jeep driver wasn't able to navigate the steep grade and that mission had to be abandoned. Although several slight earthquakes shook countries where the Mulfords traveled, Mr. Mulford is sad that in Antigua he slept through not only an earthquake but at the same time missed the volcano Fuego's active spell when it spit fire. You can see what it would take to keep Mr. Mulford local to the Pointe all through the season!

Spring Cleaning Adds to Safety

Make your spring cleaning pay extra dividends in health and safety by checking up on some of the potential health hazards in and around your home, the Michigan Department of Health urged today.

For one thing, the health department said, be sure to clean your medicine cabinet. Over the past five years, accidental poisoning cost Michigan 230 lives.

Other hazards on the health department's list include "slidy" scatter rugs; cleaning solvent within the reach of children; frayed wires which might cause a fire, brooms or mops stored on the stairway; garden and yard tools stored close to children's play areas; or a rubbish heap which might be a spawning ground for rats, mice, and other vermin, as well as mosquitoes and flies.

Audience Thrills To Dragonette

By Marge Addams

Jessica Dragonette has for years pleased the public with her recitals, concerts and radio. Her voice with its sweetness has been enjoyed by millions.

Last week she came as an entertainer on the Grosse Pointe Celebrity Series of the Assistance League of Bon Secours Hospital. This time, not to sing, but to lecture.

Seldom has an audience been favored with such a program as was delivered by this gentle, refined, cultured artist.

For one hour, Miss Dragonette stood before the microphone and in sweetly modulated tones, talked of art, poetry, and music as mediums of adding happiness and enjoyment to our lives.

In eloquence she quoted Shakespeare, Keats, Biblical history, a poem in French, and combined them in a way that impressed the audience with the beauty and charm to be found in the pursuit of culture and satisfaction to be gained.

The recital of the 23rd psalm was followed by a dialogue from "Alice in Wonderland." Then she repeated, in verse, a commercial she had used during her N.B.C. radio days.

Extolling the importance of the music's old masters, Miss Dragonette emphasized the inspiration they bring.

Reflecting the guidance and teaching of her devoted instructors and Nuns during her early life sheltered convents, emerges this character of rare qualities which command love and respect and inspire in us a desire to emulate her example and explore the "Lovelier Things of Life."

In her published book "Faith is a Song" she evaluates culture to be combined with faith, more of which we all need for spiritual peace. So inspiring was her program that it produced an awed audience as would a sincere benediction.

I felt privileged to be present.

THE FORMS of stainless steel table settings are delicate and graceful. Their great structural strength gives more than a lifetime of satisfaction. The fact that these pieces are less expensive than sterling and resist acids makes them superior. The rhythmic shapes of Shadowpoint, Form, Milano and Ingeg interpret contemporary style with classic elegance. These table settings along with the strong light-body of Royal Berlin Porcelain chinaware, and the serving accessories that make your serving such a pleasure are now on display at Gillis Modern Home Furnishings, 403 Fisher Road.

TO MISS Teen-Ager. Good looking girls do vary. Some have blue eyes... some brown... but there is one standard ingredient... a good-looking figure. That is why you can pick up your "CALORIE COUNTER" beginning today at Florence Riley's, 371 Fisher Rd. Even if you don't have to reduce this information helps to make for a good complexion, sparkling eyes and glossy hair. It's free. And when you see her window especially designed for the young miss you will be aware of the airy delight of wearing the right bra and the right light cotton or nylon girdle. Briefs, in all colors and even plaids are displayed. And gals, bras are from one dollar and fifty cents. See you there!

WHAT IS newer than Spring? A glorious, soft, fragrant and shining new hair styling. That means a Helen Curtis cold wave permanent... just loaded with Lanolin... the better to lock-in curls. Love the guarantee... softness... resilience... brushability and beauty. Delight in the appeal and sophistication of a new hair shaping from anyone of the experience staff members at the Ann-Louise Beauty Salon, 405 Fisher Rd.

THAT LOVABLE breed. The men. This a new service for them. This is for the guy who shares his name, his pay-check, and home with us... in fact, this is even for the guy who won't. And because this is almost the time of the red-buds, the dogwoods and apple blossoms, it's also time to have his shirts done immaculately. Have them finished at Mondry's Cleaners. Either drop off the bundle at 369 Fisher Rd. or call TU 5-4800 for a pick-up. You won't be sorry.

SWAGGER sticks are so smart... so fashionable. And those are the special adjectives we think of when we think of Sam the Barber, over at 395 Fisher Rd. Each man or boy will love that trim look the staff always gives to each male... so smart... so fashionable... a haircut from Sam's.

A RABBIT is a sure sign of Spring... and almost as sure is a hat. It should be light in color... fabric... mood. Here at the Clothes Line you will find head clips and hats as gay as a spring song. White sweet pea caps... one called "Chef Salad"... raspberries with blossoms... a tailored white grograin ribbon clip... red, navy or white straw combinations that sure have an eye for your Easter suit... and let's not forget the sky blue bloud of a hat fetchingly trimmed with soft chiffon. Along with the straight forward little hats you will find some choice of wide brimmed hats so right at the wedding or reception. These precious head clips run from four to ten dollars. And remember the Clothes Line always features gloves by Kislav in doeskin or cotton... these in short, medium or long lengths. 397 Fisher Rd.

FOR gourmets... for connoisseurs... chicken casseroles. There is Parisienne sauteed with butter, truffles and champagne, there is Alsacienne sauteed with butter... port wine and truffles... Normade casserole is cream and mushrooms; Provencale is mixed with Bergundy and cognac. Here at Farms Market you will always find the unusual like Fie Gras in Pate de Fois supreme. An unusually good Easter remembrance could be their famous Blue Tin box of imported wafers, chocolates and a mixture of several fine biscuits... or a smaller tin of almost confectionary called Petits Fours. Four deliveries daily. 351 Fisher Rd. TU. 2-5100. P. S. Here's a brilliant idea for all creamed dishes such as poultry, eggs, mushrooms, vegetables, fish, newburgs... use Noodle Nests. They just have to be warmed. Ummmmmmmm good.

WANT a lot for your Spring fashion dollar? Look to these lined shirts fashioned of silk and rayon for five ninety-five. Look to a fully fashioned mazel orlon cardigan for nine ninety-five or a pullover for seven ninety-five. See them in the windows of 343 Fisher Rd. TU. 1-0595. Yarncraft.

Interesting Films Offered By Library on Movie Night

Another in the series of popular Family Film programs is scheduled for this Friday, April 1, by the Grosse Pointe Public Library. The hour-long program will begin at 8 o'clock in the upstairs meeting room of the Central Library at Kercheval and Fisher. No tickets or reservations are required and upwards of 100 seats are available for interested adults or school children accompanied by a parent or responsible adult. Encouraged by the reception accorded this initial venture into public film showings, the library is extending the series into May, with the final program for the season planned for the first Friday evening of that month. The April 1 program will include three items of wide appeal. The feature film, CORAL WONDERLAND, takes the viewer on a tour of the Great Barrier Reef of Australia. Showing microscopic views of the coral polyp which is responsible for the formation of this famous natural phenomenon, the film, by underwater photography, gives the viewer an acquaintance with the many forms of sea life with which it abounds. Octopi, starfish, sea anemone, hermit crab are shown, while one sequence follows a giant turtle crab inland where she digs a nest in which to lay her eggs. The life cycle of the hermit crab is completed by showing the baby turtles emerging from the egg and going back toward the sea. Photographed in color, CORAL WONDERLAND affords an opportunity both to broaden one's knowledge of the earth's wonders and to view some pictures of outstanding beauty and scientific interest. Memories of the participation of Michigan State College in the 1955-54 Rose Bowl game will be revived by the film OVERLAND WITH THE SPARTAN BAND. A photographic diary of the participation of the college band in the football classic, the film pre-

New Year's day game, half-time activities, and some of the post-game celebrating. The final item on the program will be a children's short. Residents and patrons of the library are cordially invited to come and enjoy the program this Friday at 8 o'clock.

Red Cross Jrs. Set New Record

By CYNTHIA DARRAGH
GPHS Journalism Student

A record collection of $1070 was made March 17 by the Junior Red Cross Chapter of Grosse Pointe High School in its annual March Drive.

Placing first was the 11B home-room of Miss Margaret Mastee. Along with first honors, the home room will receive the trophy offered the winners in this drive.

The gold cup will be awarded yearly. This is the second year. Last year it was won for the first time by Mr. Ralph Deal's home-room.

From the total collection, $15 will go to enroll every Grosse Pointe High School student as a member of Junior Red Cross.

The balance will be divided between the National Children's Fund and the local Service Fund. The Tower, the Grosse Pointe

High School paper, received a letter from Mrs. Alice M. Sheaffer, co-ordinator of Junior Red Cross in the Grosse Pointe Schools. The letter said: "I would like to congratulate you all on the drive for funds to support the National Children's Fund and the Service Fund of the American Junior Red Cross. It was an unselfish service to the boys and girls who are less fortunate than you.

"My sincere thanks to Joyce Bushong, President of the Junior Red Cross Council, Cynthia Lister, Chairman of the Drive and Miss Rachel Fundingsland, Teacher-Sponsor for Junior Red Cross, for their fine leadership. I am proud of the Grosse Pointe High School students—not only for their success in the drive but for all the very fine contributions they have made to many institutions."

Three persons were injured and $3,062 in damages were the result of 20 traffic accidents during the month of February, a monthly report from Farms Police Chief Walter R. Hoyt showed.

The report also revealed that $639 in fines for various violations were collected for the month.

There were two break-ins and enterings resulting in losses totaling $879.34; six simple larcenies, with a loss of $85.00, of which $55 was recovered. No grand larcenies were reported.

Four cases of destruction of property, in which $85 in damages was known, were disclosed by the department.

The police handled three juvenile traffic cases, in which two of the juveniles' operator licenses were suspended.

The department answered a total of 114 complaints; 138 police calls; issued 170 operator's licenses, 11 chauffeur's licenses, and 12 duplicate licenses.

Policemen found 15 business doors open. They were no auto thefts, holdups, suicides or reports of missing persons.

Eleven persons were arrested, eight adults and three juveniles.

Chief Hoyt reported that several officers of his department are attending the Southeastern Police Chiefs' Training School, being held in the Park. Two of the officers are completing their last 30 hours; three, their second 30 and two the first 30 hours.

Farms Fire Chief Newport Retires; Mason Promoted

The retirement of Farms Fire Chief William H. Newport, will become effective on July 1, but he leaves the department tomorrow, April 1, because of accumulated leave days coming to him.

At a special meeting held on Monday, March 28, members of the Farms council were informed of the pending retirement and acted immediately to appoint a successor.

Picked to succeed the retiring chief was Senior Lieutenant M. William Mason, who has been with the fire department since June 4, 1928.

Before coming to the fire department, Chief Newport served in the U. S. Army and had a short period with the Michigan State Police.

He was made fire captain in 1923, and appointed to the position of chief in January, 1951, succeeding Chief George F. Dansbury.

He is married and lives with his wife, Violet, and four children at 2080 Hampton road.

The new chief lives at 455 Belanger with his wife, Grace, and four children, two of whom are away at different colleges; William is a junior at Michigan State Normal, and Nancy is a freshman at Siena Heights, Adrian. Peggy is a freshman at St. Paul High, and Carole is a fourth grader at St. Paul.

Lt. Mason has been active in the Metropolitan Club of Grosse Pointe. In 1952 and 1953, he was elected for two successive terms. His father was police chief in the Farms for several years after 1915.

Captain Joseph Barton of 190 Lakeview, will retain his present rank.

After accepting the retirement of Chief Newport and approving the appointment of Lt. Mason as his successor, members of the council, approved the promotion of three others to higher rank to fill existing vacancies.

Advanced to senior lieutenant was Lt. Raymond Snay of 373 Belanger.

The promotion of Lt. Snay, created a second vacancy, the first caused by the recent retirement of Lt. Fred Goosen.

Elevated to the rank of lieutenants to close this gap, were: to first lieutenant, Henry E. Allard of 22428 California, St. Clair Shores; and second lieutenant, Edwin C. Fraser of 33439 Dunbar, Cramer, Mich. Each was promoted from the rank of private and have 26 and 25 years of service, respectively.

Lucien M. Snep of 2207 Philip, Detroit, became the fire department's newest recruit, filling a vacancy in the private rank.

He formerly worked for the Detroit Edison company, is married and the father of two children.

Leaders Needed By Girl Scouts

Interested mothers are urgently needed as Den Leaders for prospective Girl Scout troops at the new Torrey Woods School, Scout Leader Mrs. O. P. Beauvais disclosed.

The school, to open in September, must have the troops formed beforehand to enable them to coordinate their activities with those of the school, Mrs. Beauvais said.

"The call is going out now because the only leadership courses this spring will start on April 14 at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church," Mrs. Beauvais explained.

Stressing the importance scouting can have in proper child development, Mrs. Beauvais urged that all those who could give their time and would be interested, contact her at TU 4-1109.

"Scouting is an easy and rewarding pastime. The classes are interesting and informative and will not take up much of the leaders' time," Mrs. Beauvais stated.

Park Awards Two Contracts

The council approved payment of $2,900 to an excavating company to remove 96 pilings and 450 cubic feet of broken concrete from the west side of the new dock in the Municipal Park.

The city will pay $1,817.34 for six new hydrants, parts and fittings. These will be stored for replacements and for emergencies.

No Election Is Unimportant

Monday is another Election Day. In the minds of far too many, this is classified as a small and unimportant election, and unfortunately, too many of these who think in small proportions, will stay away from the polls.

No election is so small or unimportant that it does not deserve the active participation of every qualified elector. The right to cast a ballot is one of the greatest privileges we have been granted, and the failure to take advantage of such an opportunity connotes a sad lack of appreciation of one of the choicest possessions of citizenship.

Here in the Pointe, three of our municipalities will be voting to fill vacancies on their councils, and two of them to also elect mayors. Is this unimportant? Four of the Pointes have outgrown the status of the village, and their gain in stature has been accompanied by an ever-increasing recognition of greater responsibilities to the residents and a growing complexity in municipal problems.

To solve these problems we must seek the greatest talent available to serve in official capacities. We have been fortunate, for the most part, here in the Pointe community, in that we generally have running for office, a number of residents who possess the necessary talents for the job at hand. For us not to make the choice by casting our votes is an insult which the candidates do not deserve.

Our councilmen and mayors either serve without any pay whatsoever, or for a stipend far below the earning abilities of any normally intelligent person. They are called upon to spend untold hours of their own time, which they would far rather spend in leisure, trying to solve our problems. The least they might expect from us is that we show our appreciation of their sacrifices by devoting half an hour of our time to get to the polls and drop a ballot in a box.

Monday's election will also give us an opportunity to vote for candidates for important county and state offices. These too, merit our closest scrutiny. The kind of job the elected officials do, could and most probably will affect the lives of all of us.

A special issue which has aroused a great deal of controversy, will be on a special ballot for voters in Grosse Pointe Farms. This has to do with the matter of adding fluorine to the water supply, a project which was approved and put into use three years ago.

There are several unusual aspects to this vote on the fluoridation issue. In the first place, the result of the balloting will not be binding on the Farms council. The councilmen will view the vote from an advisory standpoint and then will act or sit tight as they see fit.

In the second place, the Farms supplies water to all of the City of Grosse Pointe and to a portion of Grosse Pointe Shores. The City and Farms recently concluded an agreement which will tie the two together for water usage for at least the next 20 years. The City will take whatever kind of water the Farms sends its way, but the voters of the City were given no chance to vote on the fluoridation issue, as has been suggested several times in this paper. We think the City and the Shores should both have added a ballot on this special issue, so the Farms could have had a better sampling of opinions from users of its water.

This paper has also made an honest effort to give its readers both sides of the fluoridation fight. Literally hundreds of column inches have been devoted in recent weeks to the publication of the views of both opponents and proponents. In addition, we have read reams and reams of literature and propaganda published by both factions.

And now, on the eve of the election, we find ourselves right back where we were when we first started delving into the controversy. We do not question the integrity of those who support fluoridation, nor do we suspect any ulterior motives behind their fight to continue the project.

We are not convinced, nor even slightly scared by the dire prophecies of death by poison promulgated by the relentless opponents of the additive.

Neither team has turned in a sensationally creditable job in this argument, to our way of thinking. There has been a great deal of shouting, backed up with confusing statistics that too often could not be substantiated.

One of the most disturbing aspects of the battle has been the split between the doctors and dentists themselves. And far too many of the professional men have been complete mug-wumps and refused to take either side in the argument. If this issue is as great as both sides would have us believe, it would seem it is great enough to merit a thorough study and a candid opinion on the part of each and every medical and dental doctor.

We should hate ourselves if we thought we were depriving a single child of the chance to avoid a single cavity. But we read that the fluorine treatment can be obtained in a dental chair, or taken through an additive to salt, or by some other equally economical and effective method.

We should hate ourselves just as much, or maybe more, if we thought we were contributing to the mental anguish of many adults who, admittedly can get no good from the fluorine treatment, but might be driving themselves whacky worrying over its evil effects on their quite necessary organs.

We shall settle our own confusing dilemma by voting against fluorine, and let the teeth fall where they may.

Grosse-Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"Seldom do I think of you but when I do, I never cry . . . as I used to.

Rarely do I dream of you but when I do, I never wake as I used to.

My memory is dimmed and my eyes are dry And sleep is nothing more than a sigh."

(June Saunders)

At a female Kaffe Klatch the other day, we "girls" got to reminiscing about one thing and another, so naturally we got to illnesses. The one thing upon which we agreed is that any time you develop something you never heard of before . . . like ferinstance the Doctor will say, "Aha, you have a fine case of pictorbypachahy" . . . within the next week you will run into at least three people who have had it or know someone who has. That led us into topics of coincidences . . . and it was amazing that each of us knew at some time, someone who always found something "foreign" in his or her food.

Our tale was very much like the others. To wit . . . we had a girlhood chum who never ate a meal or drank a drink outside her own home that didn't contain either a hair, or a fly, a piece of ground glass or an underwear button. She was always the one who had the thumb print on her butter patty or a lemon pit in her chocolate soda. It fascinated us.

And that led to another gimmick in which WE are the star above all others. Our pet category is the one in which you have all the newspapers and magazines stacked away in piles for reference . . . all, that is . . . except the one you are looking for at the moment. Just last week someone asked us about an article in Life that appeared within the last two months. We blithely offered to look it up and went through our LIVES of the past SIX months. Every danged one was there except the one our friend wanted.

The other day we carefully laid aside two daily papers for future clipping. When we looked for them two weeks back. All were happily intact except the two we wanted. There are people like that . . . maybe it's the gremlins.

We had intended writing this week about Jessica Dragonette, who appeared here last week at the Esquire theatre, but elsewhere in the Grosse Pointe News is an article written by one of the women who attended the lecture, that is so GOOD . . . it would be redundant to try to add anything to it. Suffice it to say that Pryor found Miss Dragonette as attractive and sweet and charming as she was when we met her years ago . . . and that is saying a lot in this day and age! Come back soon, Jessica . . . and the next time, delight us with your renowned singing voice as well as your magical speaking voice.

Maybe you have seen a pamphlet tossed around last week regarding the April 4 election and signed by a group of Republicans. If you haven't seen it, you haven't missed anything, but if you have seen it . . . your eyebrows must have flown up to HERE! The idea they suggest is that unless Republicans are elected to the Board of Regents, the State Board of Agriculture, and the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, all aich is going to break loose in the public schools!

Well, Pryor is no expert but no matter what the outcome of the election, the Republicans will still retain at the very least, 6 out of 8 seats on the Board of Regents and 4 out of 8 seats on the Agriculture Board. THIS is going to ruin the schools? How scared can you BE of two teeny-weency Democrats on each board? Gee Whiz.

A woman called us last week and said, "You must be related to Bill Kennedy, you mention him so often in your column." Sorry, Madame, but we are not. We don't even know the lad . . . just a violent fan. The only relation we talk about is our dear late grandma. But to get back to our non-related Kennedy . . . we note with glee that "Unchained Love" from the movie he distinguished himself in . . . has broken all records for being the number one tune in Michigan. And that reminds us . . . although we love disc jockeys, they sure play the new tunes into the ground. It amazes us that ANYONE would bother to buy the records because you can go from one station to the other as fast as you can cross the room to turn the dial . . . and always the same stuff. It becomes a pleasure and relief when something like "Tea for Two" sneaks in by mistake. Let's not overdo it, kids!

Last Tuesday night, we took "five" to brew a little hot punch to sip while "Stop the Music" was on. By the time we got back, the program had been on for ten minutes and in our absence, someone had guessed the mystery tune of the previous week. Since we had predicted what it would be, we were naturally frantic to know if we were right. Nothing can be more frustrating . . . like missing a train . . . so we telephoned the t-v station to make inquiries. The little man who answered the phone said he knew nothing about it but would "ask around." Within seconds he came back with: "Sorry, lady, but none of the guys around here look at the program." We know just how it is. Neither our family nor our friends ever read this column.

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

Guest Columnist: Betty Seifert
"Have you the U.S. Children's Bureau publication on infant care?"

"My daughter plans to be a nurse, and we want information on the duties, salary, and required education."

"I'm writing my term paper on the guaranteed annual wage. Do you have any information besides magazines?"

These queries can all be answered by use of the vertical file, an important service of any information besides magazines.

The vertical file houses pamphlets, clippings, and pictures. This material includes primarily that information that is not available in books; either because it is of such current nature that no book has yet been published, or because the subject lends itself to being written in pamphlet form.

Another type of material is that of a local nature. Reports of governmental departments or organizations and information vital to Grosse Pointe, Detroit, or Michigan are found in the file.

The library uses as a basis for its choice of material "Selected Lists of Government Publications" which notes interesting U.S. government materials, and the "Vertical File Index" which is published monthly and lists by subject and title, inexpensive pamphlet material from sources throughout the country.

Pamphlets on careers are an important part of the vertical file. The Grosse Pointe Central Library has just received many additional monographs on careers published by the Institute for Research of Chicago. These include new editions of career pamphlets, and also material on occupations we did not have previously.

The picture collection is a special part of the vertical file. Listed by artists, the collection has excellent colored reproductions of each artist's work.

On display at the Central Library are many "How-to-do-it" pamphlets taken from the vertical file. These include the Better Home and Gardens "Do-it-yourself Ideas for Attics" and "Do-it-yourself Ideas for Base-

Do You Have Chloasma?

By Fred M. Kopp, R. Ph.

Chloasma is commonly referred to as liver spots. Although the liver is not responsible for the condition, medical science has never determined exactly what causes the appearance of these brown spots which usually come with middle age.

Liver spots appear more often in women than in men, and more in dark-complexioned persons than in blondes. Outside of the effect they have on appearance, these spots are apparently harmless. Don't consider treating them in any manner unless you consult a doctor; you may harm your skin.

The trusted pharmacist is always ready to compound your medical needs quickly and courteously. This is the 57th of a series of Editorial Advertisements appearing in this paper each week. Copyright

A TAX-LESS WAY TO PROVIDE ESTATE CLEARANCE FUNDS

Let's assume your attorney told you that your estate would need $65,000.00 for last expenses, administration costs, Federal Estate Taxes and Michigan Inheritance Taxes.

The new Revenue Code can work wonders for you. Your wife or children can take out $65,000.00 of insurance on your life, pay for it with money provided by you—and at your death the $65,000.00 does not come into your estate at all. The funds are provided on a tax-free basis, and without legal or probate court expenses.

The annual deposits required to provide this fund at age 40 are only 2.2%; at age 50, only 3.39% per year.

If the law had not been changed and the $65,000.00 of insurance were taxable in your estate at only 30%, your heirs would have only $45,500.00 left after taxes.

A valuable booklet, "YOUR INSURANCE AND THE NEW TAX LAW," will be mailed free, at your request.

The Fathers' Committee presented the Scoutmaster, Mr. Glaser, with gifts

Complete Cast For New Play
Barely catching their breath after two runs of "Gramercy Ghost", the Grosse Pointe Community Theater members are turning to rehearsals of "Time Out For Ginger", by Ronald Alexander, to be presented April 22, 23 and 24, at Cannon Memorial Center.
Casting completed, Director Evelyn Greathouse, 10445 Cadieux, has planned rehearsal dates two and three times a week until production nights.
Taking part in the play are: Robert Potthoff, 1307 Somerset, as "Mr. Wilson", the high school principal; Tom Wells, 96 Handy road, as "Tommy"; Clyde Adler, who directed "Gramercy Ghost", as the father, "Howard Carol"; Lynne Girard, 14610 Mayfield, in the role of his wife, "Agnes Carol"; Dick Robbins, 874 Loraine, as the bank president boss, "Ed Hoffman"; Jean Standish, 331 Moross road, as "Liz", faithful family retainer. Also—Cynthia Darragh, 1314 Bedford, as "Joan", eldest of the three teen-age daughters; and Jean Hawkins, 20036 Damman, Harper Woods, is cast as "Jean", the second daughter.
This will be the first time this highly praised play has been presented to neighborhood audiences at popular prices on the east side.

Exchange Club Lists Events
At the regular weekly meeting of the Grosse Pointe Exchange Club on Tuesday, April 5, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, Lloyd Beemer, test manager of the Detroit branch of Parke, Davis & Co., will be the guest speaker.
The subject of Mr. Beemer's talk will be "Live Longer and Like It" which consists of a review of the accomplishments of medical and pharmaceutical research and their contribution to health with a brief historical background of present day antibiotic therapy and chemotherapy, as well as newer developments in the study of Geriatrics. Charles R. Chandler is program chairman.
The Exchange Club Model Aviation Club, the Stardusters of Grosse Pointe, held their third model airplane meet in the Parcels Junior high school gym on Saturday, March 26. John Tappert is club president and Adolph Linelau, the group advisor.
Additional contests of this type will be held in preparation for a community model aviation meet which will be followed by a state and a national meet, all under the sponsorship of the Exchange Clubs. The local contest is open to any Grosse Pointer who wishes to enter. Please contact Mr. Linolau, TU. 1-3402.

Chrysler Shifts Affect Pointers

Two prominent Grosse Pointers have joined Chrysler Division of Chrysler Corporation.

They are Clare E. Briggs who will be assistant to the president in charge of sales and Ledyard Mitchell, Jr. who will hold the position of director of forward planning. Both appointments were announced by Grosse Pointer E. C. Quinn, president of Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

"Mr. Briggs, in his new position, will be responsible for formulating sales policies and will be charged with development of the Chrysler and Imperial sales organizations so we can continue to increase Chrysler's share of the automobile market," Mr. Quinn said.

"With his outstanding automotive sales background, he will provide professional assistance at the retail level to our dealer body and so enable them to handle the increased volume of cars which this division will produce upon completion of our new plant. This plant will increase our production potential 40 per cent.

"Mr. Mitchell, who has been with Chrysler Corporation since 1935, will be responsible for directing operations necessary for the coordination of Chrysler Division's long-range forward planning.

"In his new key position he will be aided by his 20 years of experience with Chrysler Corporation in many different phases of automobile manufacturing."

Mr. Briggs comes to Chrysler Division from Studebaker-Packard Corporation. Recently he had been appointed vice-president of the corporation after having served as vice-president in charge of sales of Packard Division, a post he held since December, 1953.

A veteran of the automobile business, Mr. Briggs entered the industry in 1924 with Graham, Paige as a cost clerk. He rose through the accounting section to become general factory auditor in 1928. In 1927 he joined the Detroit factory branch as a retail salesman and a few months later was appointed a district manager.

In the next few years he served as business management manager and manager of branches. In 1937 he was made assistant general sales manager, a post which he held until 1939 when he joined Packard as regional manager at New York City.

In 1944 he became assistant general sales manager of Packard and in 1951 was appointed general sales manager.

Mr. Briggs, who was born in Port Huron, Michigan in 1901, graduated from the Detroit Institute of Technology in 1927 with a B.S. degree in business administration and marketing.

Mr. Briggs' home is at 623 Westchester, Grosse Pointe.

Mr. Mitchell received his B.A. degree from Yale University in 1935. Upon graduating from Yale he joined the Chrysler Corporation in the engineering department, later receiving his M.M.E. degree from the Chrysler Institute of Engineering.

Mr. Mitchell was transferred to the general production manager's staff in 1937. He moved to the master mechanic's staff at the Tank Arsenal in 1940, becoming planning superintendent of the DeSoto-Warren Avenue plant a year later.

Mr. Mitchell makes his home at 61 Kenwood road, Grosse Pointe Farms.

FAME DROPPING: Sonja Henie letting St. Patrick go to her head with her tress dress of green tans and twenties. (Now there's a sensible hat) . . . Danny Kaye assembling four bellhops at his Sherry Netherlands suite to test new material on them. Tipped each $5 after the show . . . The D & D of Windsor writing the Waldorf to please have their Towers apartment ready next week. They telegraphed collect . . . Sammy Davis, Jr., getting his Senior membership in show biz via his headline spot at the Copacabana with the entire run sold out before it opens . . . Doris Day over-nighting her enroute to Europe . . . Henry, very Fondia his pretty Hedy Lamarrvelous shining from the next table . . . Ann Sheridan telling admirers she'll return to the movies-any pay day now. (About time.)

We drove Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer to Grand Central Station. Kissing her goodbye he dashed for the train, ran a hundred yards just missing it as it pulled out. As he returned Rosie tried to comfort him. "Did you miss your train, darling?" "No," snarled her husband, "I didn't like the looks of it so I chased it out of the station."

Ed Furdon claims he'll wed Linda Christian as soon as he gets the divorce. His wife vows she won't give him . . . And Ty Power's middle name, ironically is Edmund . . . Marion Brando gives gal pals plaster of paris busts of himself . . . James Dean, new screen sensation (East of Eden), got his fine dramatic training on radio and TV. He was a stand-in for contestants on Beat The Clock. He took custard pies in the face to see if it was advisable to fling them at guests . . . Question: Why did Shelley Winters give up cigarettes? Answer: For cigars . . . Your copy of the Reader's Digest will definitely carry 32 pages of color ads, soon. They went 33 years without them.

Hollywood is very confusing. Twentieth Century Fox is making Sheree North a star. They're teaching her how to talk, walk, and sending her to dramatic school. They're giving her a wig and caps for her teeth. Her shape is being remodeled via steam, diet, and massage. From where we sit she contributes nothing. This is a star? . . . Linda Christian who flunked her last citizenship test will try again in May . . . Bway angels are doing fine, according to Variety, which notes that plays have made a million more this year than last . . . Paul Douglas has 140 suits (at $225 a clip).

We chatted with one of Brando's dates, and leave it to you whether or not he's a character. It went like this. She arrives at the apartment. He opens the door. Greets her warmly. Excuses himself. She sits down to wait till he's ready. Suddenly a form clad in long red underwear flashes through the room. She gapes, gasps and waits till Brando re-appears a short while later. He is dressed for the evening. They go to theater, clubs, etc., and never is one single word mentioned by him about the long red underwear affair. It was Marlon himself in the longies, proving that truth is much stranger than fiction.

The inventory list at Universal International lists "Francis" (the mule, you TV fan) as a "prop" . . . Tony Curtis told us he's dying for a crack at the title role in "The Rocky Graziano Story." He'll be your children's Gable . . . The May 2nd issue of Life has 7 pages of color pix of "Oklahoma." Most of them blown up out of the actual movie reels . . . And this week's Look cover story on Ed Sullivan couldn't happen to a nicer guy . . . Everyone thinks a certain H'wood father is the greatest because he keeps bailing Junior out of one jam after another. The truth is that he's being blackmailed by his own son who has the actor's old Communist Party card and threatens to send it to the papers if poppa doesn't keep paying through the nose.

Starting April 1st this column runs daily in the New York Morning Telegraph . . . Life magazine doesn't own a single typewriter, chair or desk in any of their offices throughout the world. Boss man Henry Luce confides, "We rent everything, including brains." . . . Swipes the cottons from every hotel he stops at . . . Have you noticed Hollywood's trend toward more subtly shaped sex appeal in a Grace Kelly and Audrey Hepburn? . . . Then there's the local model who wears low cut gowns to show that her heart's in the right place.

Adults Offered New Art Class

A new class in art is being offered by the Department of Community Services of the Grosse Pointe Public School System. Registrants for this class should have had some previous training.

Ivan Galantic, in the Art Department at Marygrove College for the past two years, will be the instructor.

Mr. Galantic came to the United States from Europe in 1951, bringing with him a varied background and rich European training. He studied in Yugoslavia, Florence and Rome, and was graduated from the Academy of Fine Arts in Rome. In 1949 he was awarded a UNESCO Fellowship. After his graduation, he taught college level art in Rome for three years.

He was chosen to participate in the program for Radio Rome. Since these programs are designed for educational purposes, and cover the Yugoslavia Artistic and Cultural events in Italy, such an appointment carried with it high honor and prestige. During this period, Mr. Galantic had exhibitions in Rome, Venice, Milan, Florence and Barcelona.

Shortly after his arrival in this country, Mr. Galantic was commissioned to do a large mural at St. Cyril and Methodius in Manhattan. From New York he came directly to Detroit, and is teaching Oil painting, Fint Arts, and Commercial Art at Marygrove College. In 1954 he had a one-man exhibition at the International Institute, participated in the Michigan Artists Exhibition at the Art Institute, and served on the jury for the Michigan Water Color Exhibition.

Art students interested in enrolling for Mr. Galantic's class may make reservations by calling the Department of Community Services at TUxedo 5-3808 or TUxedo 5-0271.

Adult Education Sponsors Class

A new class, "Parenthood in a Free Nation," will begin on April 15 at old Country Day School (43 Grosse Pointe boulevard) under sponsorship of the Adult Education program.

Mrs. Helen Sherman, co-author with Marjorie Coe of the recently published "The Challenge of Being a Woman," will be instructor.

The class will continue once a week, through June 3, on Friday mornings from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock.

A nursery will be available for young children of those attending the classes.

Pointers interested in enrolling may receive further details by calling Mrs. Robert Pogue at TU 4-3912.

MONTEITH SCHOOL
Clowns, elephants, and lions were parading around in Monteith Hall recently when Mrs. Irene Zuk's kindergartners put on Circus Programs for their parents. The morning group performed on March 14 and the afternoon class entertained on March 15.

While their classmates sang circus songs, the elephants, lions, and kangaroo, performed in the "Main Ring". Trapeze artists, tight-rope walkers, circus ponies, and bareback riders were also featured. The programs closed with all children imitating "Funny Foot, the Clown." Seventy parents and friends came to enjoy the fun.

KERBY SCHOOL
by Dr. Custer Homeier

Kerby students have had quite a number of enjoyable and informative experiences during the past several months, including an educational field trip, excursions to the Shrine Circus and Golden Gloves Finals, an assembly pertaining to far-off Greenland, and the unique experience of moving into two new school rooms.

Mrs. Brenda Harris' fourth grade class, as an outgrowth of their interest and work in publishing a class newspaper, made an educational tour of the Detroit News. The class members were invited to see a TV program being produced. They also visited the press rooms, photographic laboratories, morgue, and library. Room Mothers, Mrs. James Sagal and Mrs. George Hagan accompanied the class on this educationally rewarding field trip.

Mr. Cecil Houghton, traveler and lecturer, appeared at an assembly early in February and gave an illustrated talk about his life with the Eskimos of Greenland. Mr. Houghton lived with the Eskimos for six years and had a wealth of information to share with the students.

The Grosse Pointe Farms Police Department, through the cooperation of Safety Officer, Joseph Miller, made arrangements for members of the Girl's Service Squad, Library Club and Book Store Club to visit the Shrine Circus on Wednesday afternoon, February 9.

A total of 78 fifth and sixth grade girls enjoyed this trip which was given to them in appreciation for the multitude of services which they render the school. Miss Betty Frountelzer, Girls' Service Squad sponsor, Mr. Ronald Fremlin, staff member, and Mrs. Edwin Evenden, a Kerby Room Mother accompanied the girls to and from the Coliseum.

The Farms Police Department, in addition to sponsoring the Shrine Circus excursion for the Girl's Service Squad, made it possible for 68 members of the Kerby Safety Patrol to attend the Golden Gloves Finals, Friday evening, February 18 at the University of Detroit Stadium. Officers Joseph Miller, William Elworthy, and Marvin Weaver of the Farms Police Department accompanied the boys on this trip.

The students in Miss Jayne Meier's fourth grade class and Miss Anne Wallace's fifth and sixth grade classes had the novel experience of moving into two brand new classrooms which were recently completed. These new rooms, which have been tastefully decorated and furnished, are a source of joy not only to the students but to their deeply appreciative teachers.

RICHARD SCHOOL
No matter what the ground hog said, about how the month of March comes in, it is a month of busy activities at the Richard School. The children are to be engaged in their regular classroom work foremost, but in addition there are plays and song-fests. Some of the groups will be taking field trips. Parents and teachers, through the PTA, too, will be busy people.

The PTA just had its third meeting of the year. About 200 patrons came out to see just how important the whole scouting movement is to a community. Some 50 youth, in age range all the way from the little Indian Guides to the Explorers, demonstrated some phase of scouting. The Richard PTA supports the scouts to the tune of $100 annually.

The PTA board met and made plans for the coming events. Present at the board meeting were: Ebert Warren, Thomas Tingley, Mrs. Martha Thorne, Mrs. Mary Bristol, Mrs. Mary Adams, Mrs. Eleanor Leutywyler, Mrs. Sylvia, Mrs. Katherine Bunn, Mrs. Jennie Dombrowski, Miss Ruth Bockes, Miss Lillian Koby and Clarence Messner.

The next meeting of the PTA will have as its subject "Twenty-five Years of Education in the USA". The date is Thursday, March 24. An open house, social and room visiting event is being planned for Wednesday, April 20. The final meeting for the school year will be held on Wednesday, May 18. It is to be a music festival under the direction of Mrs. Patricia Birch, the music teacher.

In the course of the school year each classroom usually gives a dramatic performance, to which the parents are invited. When Miss Rosalie Tombs' class presented "Buried Treasure." Coming is a program by William Hoover's class, the subject taken from "Magnet." Vocal groups, the band and string sections, have been presented in very nice music programs, directed by Mrs. Birch.

Better spring weather also means that the children and their teachers become interested in field trips. These are taken out into the community so the kiddies can learn how the business and cultural world operates.

Some are taken to nearby parks for nature study. Some are just for fun. Miss Ruth Bockes has just taken the girls of the Service Squad to the Shrine Circus. Shortly, William Maben takes the Safety Patrol to the Ford plant. Service Club trips are sponsored by the Metropolitan Club and are accompanied by members of the Grosse Pointe police force.

When the school day is over, teachers continue their efforts in education. Five are taking a course in the Teaching of Elementary Science offered by the University of Michigan.

They are: Mrs. Jennie Dombrowski, Mrs. Leatrice Petree, Miss Lillian Goodwyn, William Hoover and Clarence Messner. Miss Elsemna Nault is taking Mental Health. Miss Lillian Koby is doing counseling. Mrs. Dorothy Hyne is taking Education. William Maben is doing Educational Research.

Babe Ruth Loop Sets Tryouts

Opening tryouts for the newly formed Grosse Pointe Woods Babe Ruth Baseball League will be held at Parcels Field on Saturday, April 23, with additional tryouts scheduled for April 30 and May 7.

President Vince Buttery expects more than 90 boys in action on the initial tryout day for the managers to have a look see at the up and coming material.

An eight week schedule is being drawn up for the season, which will start May 21. Final plans for the season will be made at a meeting of fathers before the tryouts take place. This date will be announced later.

There will definitely be six and possibly eight teams organized and all players will be properly uniformed in the same manner as the Little Leaguers are.

Carl Wheeler, selection committee chairman, is still accepting and anyone interested in filing an application should contact him at TU. 4-3735.

Membership chairman Thomas F. Cram is still looking for more playing candidates between the ages of 13 and 15. Diamond hopefuls may sign up at the Woods or Shores police stations. Applications are available at Notre Dame Grosse Pointe, Austin, St. Paul High School, Parcels Junior High and Grosse Pointe University School.

Some men have little spare time because they lose so much of it.

New York Philharmonic To Be Heard April 18

This season will launch the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Dimitri Mitropoulos, on its first cross-country tour in 34 years, the first concert of the tour to be presented in Masonic Auditorium Monday, April 18.

"The history of the Philharmonic is the history of music in America." This often quoted phrase epitomizes the orchestra's years of magnificent and uninterrupted music-making since its first concert December 7, 1842.

America's oldest orchestra, the Philharmonic started in the early days of the young republic. At a time when Tchaikovsky was only two, Brahms nine, Wagner 29 and Mendelssohn 33, the Philharmonic played its first program. There were 63 members in the organization when it was founded; today there are 104 regular playing members of the orchestra.

As the Philharmonic pioneered and moulded this country's cultural life, it grew and prospered, the inspiration of newer symphonic groups in other communities. In 1922 it settled down at Carnegie Hall, its concert home ever since. In 1923, soon after Toscanini began his memorable decade with the orchestra, the Philharmonic merged with the 50-year-old New York Symphony which had risen to fame under the direction of Walter Damrosch.

A clear conscience keeps a man cool when he's under fire.

Speeding Drivers Target of Drive

A stepped-up program to alert drivers to the dangers of speeding is now underway in Detroit.

With police testing electrical speed-timing devices and high-speed interceptor cars for expressway chases and using all available motorcycles and precinct scout cars in a determined effort to cut the toll caused by speeding, the Traffic Safety Association has erected more than 1,300 posters in Detroit and the metropolitan area warning motorists of the speeding problem.

The poster shows a picture of a motorcycle officer and carries the message "Watch That Speeding." It will be used throughout the state. While it has been used before, safety officials consider it the most effective poster on the speeding problem yet produced.

The "poster" motorcycle officer is Inspector William Polkington. The picture was taken several years ago when Polkington was a patrolman. Now in charge of the Motor Traffic Bureau, he is conducting the police test with speed-timing devices.

"Our use of the Speed Watch has been solely educational so far," he said. "We have stopped more than 50 speeders with the instrument and the reaction of all has been uniformly good. We did not issue tickets to them, but explained why they were stopped and, if they were interested, how the device worked. It's been amazing to our officers how interested these drivers were in the operation of the instrument. After watching it operate, they agreed that the device, not only was extremely accurate, but was also a good way to stop speeders."

Polkington said that the speed timers are not being used promiscuously, but are assigned to those streets where speed has been a contributing factor in fatal and injury accidents and also in areas where neighborhood groups have complained to the police about speeding drivers.

"Our accident experience shows that when the weather improves, too many drivers increase their speed. Our motorcycle officers have been told to stop that speeding before it can get out of hand," he said.

Speed has become Detroit's greatest traffic killer. In the first two months this year, speeding drivers were responsible for six traffic deaths. In 1952, speed caused 27 deaths; in 1953, it was responsible for 37, and last year for 57 deaths, more than a 100 per cent increase in two years.

World Badminton Champion To Give Exhibition Sunday

The "Tilden" of the badminton courts, Eddie Choong, will put on an exhibition at the Grosse Pointe High School on Sunday, April 3, at 3 p.m.

Deemed as "the greatest exponent of court technique" the lithe, 5' 4" Malayan will stage exhibition matches with several mid-west and Canadian champs.

He will also demonstrate and explain some of the peculiar shots that brought him into the sporting world limelight last year when he annexed the international championship at Niagara Falls.

Troups 600,000 Miles
All-England champ before he won the world title, the amazing Choong won over 160 matches in Europe and Asia before he ventured State side. Having barnstormed over 600,000 miles displaying his unique talents, his efforts have had a good deal to do with the greatly increased interest in the highly competitive game of badminton.

Relying mostly on speed and cat-like reflexes, Choong has amazed audiences all over the U.S. with his ability to execute seemingly impossible shots with grace and precision.

Sponsored by the Michigan Badminton League, the exhibition will be open to the public free of charge, though donations will be accepted.

"The object of the tour is to raise money for the American Thomas Cup Team to enable it to compete in the international matches in Malaya this spring," said Hans Rogind, spokesman for the MBA.

"All interested in badminton in the Pointe area are urged to attend, particularly the high school students," Rogind went on to say.

Choong will be on hand after the exhibition to talk with local enthusiasts and answer any questions.

WAYNE CHOIR TO SING

Wayne University's 60-voice concert choir, under the direction of Harold Tallman, will present its annual spring concert, Wednesday, April 6, at 8:15 p.m. in the large auditorium, Detroit Institute of Arts.

Track Call Heard by 76

Seventy-six hopeful candidates answered Coach Howard MacAdam's call for spring track practice at Grosse Pointe High School, but due to inclement weather the squad has been limited to nothing more than limbering up exercises indoors.

A check of the returning lettermen, Dennis McGinty, Dave Whittingham, Tom Demerest, Joe Braden and Keith Berry plus Tom Barry, who missed all of the 1954 campaign due to a kidney infection, shows the Blue Devils appear to have the nucleus of a team which will see its first action on Friday, April 15, against Mount Clemens on the local cinderpath.

Has Knee Injury
Of the returning veterans Tom Demerest is the biggest question mark because of a knee injury suffered in football last fall. The injury has not been responding to treatment as rapidly as MacAdam would like. Last year Demerest was one of the outstanding hurdle stars in the Border Cities League. The second question mark is Tom Barry who has not seen action for over a year. In his sophomore year Barry was an excellent half miler and his return to form could give the Devils a terrific boost in this event.

The weakest spot in the Devils makeup is the sprint events. From the 76 candidates Coach MacAdam is hopeful of finding three or four boys who can fill the gap.

Fair in Half Mile
Dennis McGinty and Dave Whittingham give the Pointers a better than fair one-two punch in the half mile but from there on the field is wide open, especially in the 220 and 440 events where there are no veterans back.

In the field events Joe Braden and Keith Berry are the returning lettermen who are slated for starting berths in the initial meet. Cliff Jenkins is the only returning letterman in the high jump. Coach MacAdam, starting his fifth year as track coach during which time his teams have won the Regional title twice, in 1952 and 1953 and finished second last season, figures this year's squad, by comparison, should be one of his strongest aggregations.

St. Peter Church Plans Palm Sunday Bake Sale

WAC-VETS to Elect At April 12 Meeting

New officers will be elected at the next meeting of the Detroit Chapter of the Wac-Vets Association in Room 619 Veterans Memorial Building on April 12 at 7:30 p.m.

All veterans of the Women's Army Corps are invited to attend this meeting when plans will be discussed for the coming National Convention to be held in Detroit this summer.

"Dad" Butler 85 Years Young

MICHAEL "DAD" BUTLER, better known as the Dean of Sports, celebrated his 85th birthday last Friday, March 25, at his Grosse Pointe home at 954 Berkshire. Many cards, telegrams and congratulatory telephone calls from illustrious figures in the world of sports made "Dad's" birthday a memorable one. "Dad" has been associated with champions he developed over the years and he was Knute Rockne's first coach when he coached the Junior track team of the Chicago Athletic Club where he was director of athletics.

Devil Netters Looking Good

Coach Bud Kurvink isn't saying so but it looks very much as if his 1955 Blue Devil tennis team is the favorite to cop the Border Cities League title for the second year in succession.

With the opening match against Cranbrook, the only team to blemish the Pointers' winning season last year, just two weeks away Coach Kurvink is in the fortunate position of having five real good singles players in Bill Connolly, Bill Hotchkiss, Bill Leonard, Bill Bryant and Tom Watson to draw from.

Anyone Could Be Tops
Anyone of the five could get the number one singles spot. Bolstering this quintet are Ed Pongracz and Ricky Champion a tenth grader. In easier matches both may get a chance at singles play.

However, both have the inside track for a doubles berth but will have to fight it out with Pete McGrath, Esthan Pawsat, Tom White, Ron Rolley, Ken McDonald, Ronnie Bergbauer and Pete Smith, all of whom are determined to gain a spot on the Devils' squad.

Wyandotte Strong
Wyandotte appears to be the strongest league contender the Devils will have to meet as they try to duplicate their unbeaten league record of last year.

The opening match has particular significance for the Devils. Last year Cranbrook tripped the Devils 4-3 in the opener and then bowled 4-3 to the Devils in the return match on the local courts. The Devils hope to avoid a repetition of last year's opener.

Eightieth Birthday Takes Ecclestones to Florida

Mr. and Mrs. E. Llywd Ecclestone, of Lincoln road, are to return from Palm Beach this weekend. They went down to Florida 10 days ago especially to celebrate the eightieth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Ecclestone's father, William R. Strickland. Mr. Strickland has a winter home at Melbourne, Fla.

The real rainy days of life are those which come in old age when nothing was laid up for the future.

Blue Devils Look Strong Defensively on Ball Field

Grosse Pointe, defending Border Cities League baseball champion, is chafing at the bit waiting for the weather to break and allow start of practice under Coach Ed Wernet, who will be starting his third year as baseball coach.

Basically the Blue Devils are the same as last year with one exception, pitching. That is Wernet's primary concern at this stage. The loss of Bob Sealby, the Devil's number one moundman on last year's championship club, will be sorely felt. Sealby won 5 of the Devil 7 victories.

Won First Crown
The other two wins were shared by Bill Ross and Ken Steil to give the Pointers a 7 and 3 league record and its first BCL title in the school's history. The Devils also had two victories over Hazel Park and East Detroit, but these were not counted in the season record because they were unscheduled games.

The best prospect Coach Wernet has at this writing is Bob Marcereau, who played in the Fireman's League last year on the team that won the division title. Bob pitched in a game his team played in at Briggs Stadium. Dumas Good Prospect Dick Dumas, a 10th grader, appears to be a good prospect and gained valuable experience last season when he played with the Class D Federation Baseball champions.

Defensively the Devils will be strong with Tom Follis at first base, Jim McMillan at second, Bill Dow at short and Sam Mocerri at third. Don Eugenio, Grosse Pointe's All State halfback can be used at two positions, in the out field or behind the plate. Nick Genova, who played guard on the Pointers' State Championship football team, is slated for a try out behind the plate and if he makes the grade Eugenio will go the outfield. The other two outfield positions are wide open with Paul Christo, who saw some ac-

HOW TO PROFIT THROUGH TAX EXEMPTION

With today's high tax levels, investors in medium and high tax brackets are turning to tax-free Municipal Bonds for income that they can keep.

If you have a taxable income of $10,000 or more, you may be well repaid by investigating the advantages of tax-exempt State and Municipal Bonds. For instance, if you file a single return on a taxable income of $14,000, you would have to receive a dividend return of 7.45% on a taxable security in order to equal the yield from a 3.50% tax-free Bond. It's something to think about!

Our New Booklet, "How To Profit Through Tax-Exemption" explains in plain language your need for tax exemption, tells how much these high-grade investments can be worth to you. There's no obligation. Send for copy today, or phone.

Pointe Hurler Wins for MSC

Mike Wallace, of 1332 Bedford, former Grosse Pointe sandlot baseball player earned his collegiate spurs recently when he pitched the touring Michigan State Spartans to an 11 to 5 win over Fort Jackson in the second game of a double header at Fort Jackson, South Carolina. An eight-run rally in the sixth inning gave Wallace the victory. The Spartans dropped the first game.

LITTLE LEAGUE FARMS

Grosse Pointe Farms Little League officials have set the wheels in motion to register all boys between the ages of 9 and 12 years old interested in playing ball.

On April 14 and 15 at the Richard School in the Playground on the third floor, men will be present to take registrations and also answer any questions about the Little League. The time for registering is between 7 and 9 p.m.

HARPER WOODS
At the Harper Woods Little League weekly meeting on Wednesday, March 23, held at Beacon School, Gene Carter was elected president; Tom Measel, vice-president; Bernie Pierson, secretary, and Richard Krause, treasurer.

In order that they may instruct scorers for the coming season, Pierson and Van Treska volunteered to attend a class on official scoring.

Currently the league's biggest problem is obtaining sponsors, which the league must have before the league can progress beyond the meeting stage.

Harper Woods is following the same pattern the Grosse Pointe Woods Little League did last year in its first year of operation when they accepted donations from residents of the community and in turn made the donors associate members of the league.

Anyone interested in making a contribution should contact James Haviland, 18752 Roscomont; Fay Raepke, 20501 Woodmont; Bernard Lequire, 18988 Kenosha; Gene Carter, 18961 Woodcrest; William Kohler, 18706 Woodland; Van Treska, 20488 Washtenaw; Joseph Serafino, 20421 Washtenaw; Maurice Braeker, 18952 Woodland; or George Wilson, 21137 Lancaster.

The date for registering will be set at the next meeting of the Board of Directors and any resident of Harper Woods is invited to attend on March 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the Beacon School.

Southeastern Woman's Club to Meet April 4

The Southeastern Woman's Club will meet in the parlors of St. James Presbyterian Church at 12:30 p.m. on Monday, April 4.

Following a dessert-lunch, served by Mrs. Watson Ford and committee, there will be a talk by Earl Tinsman, courtesy of the Sister Kenny Foundation.

Boat Banter

By Fred Rummels

The cup of kindness runneth over, last Friday night, March 25, when the sailing club delegates got together for their annual spring DRYA meeting to confirm the 1955 racing schedule.

Oh, it was such a nice meeting—no wrangling and Commodore Murray Knapp, who flew up from his winter home in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, especially for the session was like a kindly old sea captain steering his ship through the placid waters of Lake St. Clair. Only once did the nap on the back of his gray noggin ruffle, and then only after listening to following reports from party loving Lou McAllister, the delegate from the south, south Grosse Ile that is.

There wasn't the slightest murmur as Vice Commodore Bruce Tappan chalked the 1955 schedule on the blackboard and when he was all finished the delegates confirmed it with a unanimous vote.

Warren Jones, representing the Lightning Fleet, and Leo Wubbe, of the Thistle Fleet, tried to stir up some trouble when they both insisted the Lightnings and Thistles get in each other's way during a race. Jones said "Obviously the Lightnings are faster and should start ahead of the Thistles." Wubbe wouldn't stand still for that and insisted "The Lightnings are slow boats to China and should be the last to start."

But that's as far as the argument went. Commodore Knapp suggested they both retire from the microphone and wait until they can get out on the lake and prove their points, conclusively. Pat Collins, skipper of the New York 32 Vitesse muttered "If they aren't satisfied let 'em race on Sunday and they can have the whole lake." Hmmm—Pat might have a point there.

There were a few new additions to the '55 schedule that didn't appear last year. First there was St. Clair Yacht Club's new Long Distance race on June 4 and on June 15-16-17 the 30 Square Meters will race for the new Milt Cross Sr. Trophy in a four race series.

Two National, one design, championship series stood out like a sore thumb. The Detroit Raven fleet will play host to the Raven Nationals to be sailed at Put-In Bay August 26, 27 and 28 and the Detroit Thistles and Bayview Yacht Club will host the Thistle Nationals on August 23, 24 and 25.

The Barthel Series will be sailed on Lake St. Clair on September 3-4-5, but so far nothing has been done to further this series. Bayview's Past Commodore Bill Nagel said "The Pilot Association doesn't want it."

Guess that leaves it up for grabs. The Mollory Cup, (National Senior Sailing Championship), had a prominent spot on the schedule with the local eliminations listed for July 30, the semi-finals on August 15 and 16 and the finals at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on September 6-7-8-9. George Cossaboom is responsible for getting the Mollory Cup finals here. He represented the DRYA and the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club at the annual NAYRU meeting in New York last January and got the green light.

Nils Lucander, local boy boat broker, inferred the Olympic trials may be sailed on Lake Erie this summer and that interest is booming in this recently introduced 55 meter class here and throughout the East.

The reason for the interest is because the Olympic committee has dropped the six meter class from the program. The Olympic sailing program will be sailed on Port Phillip Bay, Australia. And that's the reason Lake Erie might be chosen for the trials because its water and weather conditions are similar to Port Phillip Bay. Put-In Bay would be the logical spot according to Lucander.

The expected came to pass when the Toledo Yacht Club delegate informed the group that his club was going back to the original date for its Mills Trophy race and assured one and all "There will never be a repeat performance of last summer" when Toledo tried to take over the Detroit Boat Club's regatta date on the schedule. This news was greeted with thunderous applause.

The Junior Sailing program committee recommended that each club select a Junior Program chairman and the DRYA select a Junior Program committee to act as a clearing house to obtain berths on yachts for regattas in the area for those youngsters interested in the sport; that the DRYA provide ribbons to be awarded to the Juniors who sail on winning yachts, instead of trophies; that all clubs with Junior programs hold separate regattas and invite the Juniors of other clubs to compete; that the DRYA Junior committee have the authority to select the winning club for the Commodore Jack Sutton Trophy which would free the parent DRYA body from the task.

It was suggested that the 1954 class champions be eligible to compete in the quarter final elimination Mollory Cup to pick the DRYA representative for the District eliminations. The alternate suggestion was to allow the high point-skipper, in each one design class, in the first six regattas of the season to sail in the eliminations. These suggestions were offered to the Mollory Cup committee as food for thought when they get together to formulate the final plans for choosing the skippers for the quarter finals.

Yes, sir, it was one of the smoothest meetings in memory and further proved the annual January "Gripe Meeting," started by past DRYA Commodore Frank Martin last year, is the proper oil for troubled waters.

The Detroit Raven Fleet held its spring meeting at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on Friday, March 25, under the guidance of Fleet Captain Gordon McCabe. Jim Mason was appointed fleet measurer, Carter Sales, race chairman and Steve Bohn is, believe it or not, the fleet psychiatrist.

Pin Lead Taken By Motor City

The Motor City keglers came through in a "blue chip" match with Boutin's and vaulted into sole possession of first place in the Grosse Pointe Businessmen's Bowling League last Thursday, March 24.

Motor City and Boutin's were tied for the lead going into last Thursday's match in which Motor City captured three of four points and took a two point lead in the standings.

Miller climbed into third place with a three point victory over the Welcome keglers while Barrett's and Bruce Wigie jumped into a three-way tie for fourth place with Kennelly with four point wins.

With four weeks remaining of the 1954-55 season only six points separate the first six teams.

Norm Boardman took individual scoring honors of the night when he fired games of 219, 231 and 241 for a 691 series to miss by one pin of tying the season high three game series held by Bernard.

warnings about the water crises," said Alfred Pelham, Wayne County Budget Director, "will halt growth throughout the entire area of Wayne County, and hit the City of Detroit perhaps hardest of all. Industries already located here, which are planning to expand, will be forced into other parts of the country. Residential developments now being planned and financed cannot be built. This will greatly lower our tax base, throw an additional burden on the Detroit property owner, and reduce his likelihood of continuous employment."

Edward Connor, Detroit City Councilman and Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, told the Committee that "in the view of all authorities who have compiled studies on the water crisis, it is an immediate and serious threat to Detroit's future. He revealed that the Citizens' Research Council is drafting a study which definitely warns builders and city officials to stop water service to additional users in western and southwestern Wayne County, because of the fire danger or threatened interruptions to Detroit's own supply.

These, said the Committee, are the very areas where the largest growth is expected. In view of the present inadequacy of pumping capacity and over-extended supply lines, additional service must be suspended until improvements are completed.

Part of the projected plan is a new Lake Erie inlet and pumping station, to be erected well below the pollution area, probably near Monroe. Other plans for immediate relief include a suburban pumping station in the southwestern county area to relieve the strain on present Detroit pumping stations, and hundreds of miles of new mains throughout the metropolitan service area.

"Immediate help can be given," said Raymond Hodgson, of the National Bank of Detroit, chairman of the Water for Wayne County Committee, "at the polls on April 4th, by widespread public support of the so-called Wayne County Capital Improvements Project—the first three propositions on the ballot. The Project contains a $26 million item for the first phase of construction, and funds to complete the engineering studies on the whole program."

"The Wayne County Water System," said Budget Director

Pelham, "will cost the taxpayer nothing, in the long run. It is set up as a pay-as-you-go plan for the next two years, with a bond issue to follow. But the bonds will be self-liquidating out of revenue, and will retire in 25 years."

"It's simply a question of what would happen in your house if the water were shut off," Mr. Hodgson explained. "It's not good sense to wait until what happens. The water crisis must be solved. One way to help with that is a favorable vote on the capital improvements program on April 4th."

PILFERINGS

The Snooty Set is telling the gag about the mink be-draped woman running into a neighbor in the lobby of the Fontainebleau down Miami Beach way. "Where are you living?" she asked. "We're at the Roney-Plaza," the second woman replied graciously. "Tsk, Tsk," said the first one, "did your husband lose his job?"

Did you hear about the Texas rancher who married the girl next door? She lived twenty miles away.

A young woman and her little son boarded a bus in the Grand Circus Park area of downtown Detroit on a recent afternoon.

The boy, a youngster of about three or four, immediately found a seat and began looking through an open window. The bus, being stopped, allowed him ample time to study the busy people on the downtown sidewalks. He evidently must have experienced a certain fascination while watching them, for he suddenly shouted to the passersby: "Hello, people!"

Upon hearing this, his mother gently turned him from the window and said in a soft voice, "Shhh! Don't rub it in!"

They say that once George Bernard Shaw sent two tickets for the opening night of one of his plays to Winston Churchill. "Here's a ticket for you," wrote Shaw, "and another for a friend—if you have one."

Churchill wrote back, thanking Shaw for his kindness but said, "I'd rather have the tickets for the second night—if there is one."

The medical officer was testing the water supply. "What precaution do you take against infection?" he asked the sergeant in charge.

"We boil it first, sir," the sergeant answered.

"Good!"

"Then we filter it."

"Excellent!"

"And then," said the sergeant, "just for safety's sake, we drink beer."

We are now three days into Spring.

Heard about the timid youth who was advised by a friend to take a most masterful approach to women?

Fired with this advice the young lover went over to his girl's house, threw open the door and said, "Tonight I want some old-fashioned love."

And the girl said, "Okay—I'll call grandma."

Pointers of Interest

MR. AND MRS WILLIAM T. HUNT OF MOROSS ROAD

By Jane Schermerhorn

Spend five minutes with Pointer William T. Hunt and you'll come to the same conclusion as we did . . . there simply haven't been any dull moments in his life.

Mr. Hunt returned from a trip around the world in late January, traveling on a Marketing Mission for the U.S. Department of Commerce and concentrating on the International Trade Fair at Bangkok, Thailand.

Our Pointer of Interest has been associated with the Department of Commerce for the past ten years and is manager of the Michigan Field Office at Detroit.

But you could start back in Arkansas (he was born in Clarksville) or Oklahoma (where he was raised) to begin this unfolding of a busy and fascinating life.

As a lad out of high school, Mr. Hunt traveled to Washington D.C. to serve as doorkeeper in the U.S. House of Representatives, studying after hours at George Washington University. That's a step up from page boy, you know, and even today there's a note of superiority in the former doorkeeper's voice when he explains, "the page boys wear short pants and the doorkeeper dress in long pants."

A Boy's Heroes In this post, it was the lad's responsibility to admit the right persons through the doors of the House, to see that the visitor's gallery maintained proper respect and attention, and to know each of the 435 members of Congress by sight.

Heroes included Jim Mann and Joe Cannon of Illinois; Nick Longworth who married Princess Alice; Champ Clark of Missouri, Speaker of the House.

World War I intervened in this period of his life and Mr. Hunt enlisted for service serving two years with our forces in France.

When peace returned, it wasn't long before he had been appointed American vice consul at Barbados, British West Indies where he spent three years.

International Courtship During that time a young American girl, traveling around the world with her family, called at the Embassy at Barbados. She later was to become Mrs. Hunt. The vital statistics are: they met in the West Indies, he proposed in Naples, and she finally called her acceptance from Boston when she returned to the United States.

(Being a traveler, herself, Mrs. Hunt knew whereof she was writing as she composed the shopping list which went into Mr. Hunt's wallet when he set out on his journeys last November.)

His years in private business all were building toward this most important post of his career, that of manager of the Michigan Field Office for the U. S. D. of C.

Now, he must be an expert on all manner of business, domestic and foreign, and the fact that his office is run with practically no red tape (the most unusual information is at the fingertips of an efficient staff and can be produced for the enquirer in a matter of minutes) proves he is a good business man, himself.

U. S. Becomes Active Our government has become more and more aware of the way Russia has used international trade fairs as excellent platforms of propaganda.

For some unknown reason, the United States had been "conspicuous by its absence" at these gatherings of world-wide interest. But using the success of the U.S. participation at the Bangkok fair as an example (our exhibits won first prize), President Eisenhower in his January 1955 message on Foreign Policy urged the Congress to back a program for taking Mr. Hunt next to Calcutta where he saw the sacred cows wandering in the streets, Indians burning their dead in the Burning Ghats.

He was interested to learn that India has inaugurated a national savings plan selling its people government bonds (some for as low as one dollar) so that each will have a stake in the government. India by the same token, is securing more capital for national development.

He was in New Delhi for Christmas, a little surprised to find Christmas carols being sung in his hotel lobby, Christmas decorations everywhere; a little lonesome so far from home.

He attended Christmas dinner at our Embassy and in the evening was the guest of a wonderful Indian family at the Roshanara Club.

Just by chance he had wandered into the lobby that earlier evening to listen to the carols, and a man and his wife (Indian) invited him to spend Christmas Eve at their home and to go to church with them.

Camels and Shepherds On to Karachi (where he observed modern automobiles waiting alongside camel-drawn wagons at traffic intersections); to Istanbul, with its marvelous harbor; to Athens, for New Year's Day when the King and Queen of Greece were in colorful parade to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier—here the Acropolis;

At Salonia, Mr. Hunt noticed that as his plane landed, the sheep herded on the grass between the runways and their shepherds, didn't even look up to see the twentieth century mode of transportation!

In Rome, between business calls, he hurried to admire that most modern railroad station in the world. There was a call at Naples, grown since Mr. Hunt saw it last twenty years ago.

Next Nice and Barcelona, here some of the streets so winding and quaint could easily be the same today as they were when Columbus was asking Isabelle to finance his expedition.

The hotels of Madrid are wonderful, our traveler tells us, and then he flew on to Paris.

That light came into his eyes, the kind Paris always inspires and he simply said, "Well, Paris. There was the opera, the Tuileries, that walk from Place de la Concorde up the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe . . . What can you say about Paris?"

In London he was with old friends who took him to Eton and on a visit to Windsor Castle and finally he arrived New York and home.

Mother's Son He managed to get all the items on Mrs. Hunt's shopping list: the hammered brass tray inlaid in silver, from Damascus; silk place mats and napkins, silver jewelry set in onyx, and bronze flatware from Bangkok; a banquet cloth from Spain; a nest of carved walnut tables from Kashmir; an alligator handbag found at a taxidermist's in Bangkok; slippers from India and Japan; a black velvet gown embroidered in thread of silver from China; and Paris perfume.

Home, now, the traveler looks back on his travels, and believes anew that, left to the peoples of the world, there would never be wars. Friendly interest in this country, kindness to its citizens wherever he went impressed Mr. Hunt.

Now, he and Mrs. Hunt are hoping that they can make a pleasure trip around the world on their own; maybe next Fall or Summer 1956.

If it's up to Mr. Hunt, they'll make 'em too! You see he's really his mother's son. Mama, Mrs. Mattie Rose Hunt of Tulsa, pays a flying visit to the Grosse Pointe, Hunts every two years. She loves to fly. Made her first trip nine years ago. She's eighty nine.
