THE PROBLEM of the reunification of Germany has reached a deadlock. The top leaders of the Big Four powers tossed the issue to their respective foreign ministers and directed them to see what accord they could salvage out of the dispute. A solution could be reached within a few days or perhaps a few months. The proposal that the difficult problem be given to the ministers was made by British Prime Minister Anthony Eden. The West believes fast action is needed because a divided Germany is unstable and a menace to peace.

THE GOVERNMENT has indicted the UAW-CIO on charges of violating Federal Election Laws. A Federal Grand Jury found cause for a four-point indictment, which was returned before Judge Arthur A. Koscinski, and which accuses the union of ignoring the Federal Corrupt Practice Act in supporting Democratic candidates in the 1954 primary and general elections. The union immediately termed the indictment the result of political chicanery on the part of the Republicans. Conviction carries a $5,000 fine on each count.

NEW YORK had its first train robbery in 15 years. Two masked bandits, in a Wild West manner, held up a mail-and-freight train in midtown New York, after binding and gagging the messenger. The pair grabbed a canvas bag and escaped—with a quantity of worthless canceled checks for their pains.

City and railroad police, postal inspectors and FBI agents quickly launched a search for the bandits. The last train robbery occurred in August 1940. The bandits got nothing in that holdup.

RUSSIA WAS challenged by President Eisenhower to prove its sincere desire for peace by exchanging military secrets with the United States and to throw open the skies over both countries for unlimited aerial photography. The proposal came after the fifth session of the Big Four conference, and was a surprise to Russian Premier Bulganin and other Russian delegates. The Premier proposed shunting the President's challenge to the four ministers for consideration along with proposals made by Russia.

HAROLD E. TALBOT, Air Force Secretary, during a hastily summoned public hearing of the Senate Investigating Subcommittee, stated he is willing to quit a controversial business partnership, if it would help the Air Force and the Administration. The hearing was called when the Secretary demanded that a session be held to answer what he called "rumors" and "publicity" concerning his business connections.

He told the committee that it was a shocking thing to point a finger of suspicion at a man who doesn't deserve it.

ARGENTINA is still troubled. A terrorist time bomb was exploded in front of a Peronista political school, where the principles of President Juan Peron's dominant political party are taught. No one was hurt.

The downtown section of Buenos Aires was rocked by the explosion. Police are investigating every angle to determine the source of the bomb. The country was rocked by a brief revolution during June, which was quelled.

A solution to the unification of Germany problem is being sought by the ministers of Russia and the three Western powers. So far the ministers are deadlocked over the priorities to be assigned the unification and European security in future negotiations.

The deadlock developed after the four ministers worked through an entire day and part of the night in order to try to seek a formula which would satisfy the Russian and Western delegations to the summit conference.

The way was cleared by West German Parliament for the arming of 500,000 German soldiers in the Atlantic Alliance, when Chancellor (Continued on Page 6)

Little League to Play Local World Series

Little League champions from the Park, City, Farms and Woods will vie for the Roland Gray trophy in the Pointe's first annual "world series," which gets underway Monday, August 1, with the City and Farms squaring away at Neighborhood Club and the Woods and Parks teams meeting at Defer Field. Shown here admiring the 24-inch-high bronze trophy are those in charge of the Pointe-tournament (left to right): LARS ANDERSON, president of the Woods league and secretary of the tourney; JAMES DINGEMAN, head of the Farm league and associate director of the tournament; ELMER C. VAN TIEM, president of the Park's Little League and director of the tourney, and AL GHESQUIERE, vice-president of the City's league and co-treasurer of the tourney with Ted Grace, president of the City league. Pete Wemhoff, a director of the Park league, is publicity chairman of next week's tournament. Each player on the championship team will receive a miniature trophy.

To Cost Park $37,227 for Parking Lot

Contract Awarded for Improving Large Area at Foot of Alter Road by Lake

It will cost the Park $35,227.57 to completely develop a parking lot adjacent to its waterfront park. At a meeting held on Monday, July 25, the Park council approved the awarding of a contract for that amount, lowest of two, for the project.

Park City Manager Everett B. Lane disclosed that the bid did not include grading, seeding, etc. This he said will cost about $2,000 more.

Approved by Detroit
The city has already received a permit from Detroit to go ahead with the development. This was necessary because about two-thirds of the property is located in that city.

The Park purchased four vacant lots, after a great deal of bargaining with owners, for a sum of about $22,000. The last holdout owner, finally sold one of the desired lots several weeks ago.

Terraces Were Lanned
The lots were purchased, not only to provide off-street parking for users of the waterfront park, but also to prevent a contractor from building terraces on the property.

The lots are located at the foot of Alter road and front on Barrington road and Windmill Pointe drive.

Woods Babe Ruth All-Stars Win Two in State Tourney

The Grosse Pointe Woods Babe Ruth League All-Stars will move into the semi-finals of the state tournament this weekend with two victories under their belts.

The Woods team is scheduled to play the Upper Peninsula team of Bessemer at 4 p.m. Saturday at Southfield High School.

Champions of Little Leagues To Meet in All-Pointe World Series Starting Next Week

Neighborhood Club and the Defer Field to be Scenes of Opening Two Contests Scheduled for Monday Evening

Champs of the Pointe's four Little Baseball Leagues will vie for a huge team trophy and individual statuettes when they compete next week in the first annual "world series" for 9 to 12-year-olds in the community.

Child Loses Toe In Bike Accident

A four-year-old Farms boy suffered serious foot injuries on Thursday, July 21, when his foot caught in the wheel of a two-wheel bicycle.

A Farms police report disclosed that police were called to 114 Mapleton, where they found the right toes of Thomas Eagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eagan of the Mapleton address, caught in the spokes of his brother's bike.

The report further stated that little Tommy had been riding on the rear fender of a bike belonging to his brother, John. He was barefooted.

Somehow his right foot was snared in the spokes of the bike's rear wheel.

Farms Firemen Robert Sharp and Lou Sney were called and they freed the boy.

After his release, Tommy was rushed to Cottage Hospital, suffering from a severed little toe, just behind the first joint. The big toe was cut three quarters around and the second toe was cut on top.

Youth Must Face Federal Charge

The Farms Police Department was informed by the Detroit Federal Bureau of Investigation on Wednesday, July 20, that a 19-year-old Pointe boy had been arrested in connection with a theft of a car from the Farms municipal parking lot on March 25.

The FBI became interested in the case after the car was driven across the Ohio state line. The vehicle was recovered by Cincinnati police on April 6.

The car was left in the parking lot by Mrs. Frederick Kammer of 16761 E. Jefferson, who left the car keys in the ignition while she went shopping.

Arrested for the crime was Jerry Kozlowski of 1310 Bedford.

Rain Eases Pressure on Local Pumps

Total of .99 of an Inch Which Fell on Saturday and Sunday Cuts Consumption

The welcome rain which poured down on the Pointe area on Saturday, July 23, was officially measured at .99 of an inch, it was disclosed by the Farms' filtration plant records.

The amount of rain that fell covered a 24-hour period, from 3 p.m. Saturday to 3 p.m. Sunday. Although there is no breakdown of water pumped before or after the rain, the Farms pumping station's record shows that between 8 a.m. Saturday and 8 p.m. Sunday, the number of gallons registered approximately 7,166,250.

No residential home or business establishment made any complaints of flooded basements during the rain, except one business store in the City, but this was attributed to sewer pipe trouble on the property.

The committee also made an extensive post fire investigation. From this the members gave a detailed report of the spread of the fire, though they were careful (Continued on Page 2)

Third Infantile Case Reported

The third case of infantile paralysis of the season in the Grosse Pointe-Harper Woods Health District was reported during the weekend.

Dr. Thomas Davies, health commissioner, revealed the third victim is a 25-year-old pregnant mother, a resident of Grosse Pointe Woods. The other two cases are in the Park and the Farms respectively.

None of this year's three cases has been accompanied by paralysis and all the victims are reported to be doing well.

Last year at this time there had been a total of 12 cases reported. Seven of these were in Harper Woods, three in the Farms and two in the City.

Park Officials To Attend Parley

The Park council approved reservations at the Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island, for four Park officials who will attend the annual Michigan Municipal League conference, September 8 through 10.

Attending the conference will be Charles Heise, clerk-treasurer; Herbert Heger, head of the public service department; Robert Janes, comptroller; and Charles Ives, councilman.

Committee Reports Findings in Study Of Delbridge Fire

Eight-Point Program of Improvements for Better Fire Protection Recommended By Six-Man Body Making Probe

An eight point program of recommended improvements came out of the "Delbridge Fire Report" compiled by the Mayor's Committee of Grosse Pointe Farms.

They range from the immediate need of installing two-way radios in the Farms fire trucks to the long range necessity of establishing a five community fire department.

Criticisms Investigated
Most conclusively though, the extensive 21-page report serves to both verify and disprove numerous criticisms heard last March in the wake of the blaze at the Charles Delbridge home at Grosse Pointe boulevard and Hendrie lane.

The special fire probe board was appointed last May 2 by Mayor Connelly.

Those serving on it were: Miles O'Brien, Edward Hammond, Jr., and John H. French, citizens; and Councilmen William C. Butler, Edward C. Roney and William G. Kirby.

They were instructed to look into the fire, the fire department and "to make in writing a report which might embody any recommendations."

Wilford A. Lindberg of McKinley avenue, an expert on fires and fire-fighting techniques, and Thomas C. Tilley, Assistant City Attorney, were also asked to serve on the committee.

Two Probing Methods
Two methods of obtaining information were used, questioning and independent investigation.

Attorney Tilley carried on the interrogation of the some 15 witnesses asked to appear.

Lindberg was used in an advisory capacity. The report states that it questioned eight private citizens present at the fire, the household employees of the Delbridge residence, the City Manager of the Farms, the fire chief, the fire captain and lieutenant, plus members of the department.

The committee also made an extensive post fire investigation. From this the members gave a detailed report of the spread of the fire, though they were careful (Continued on Page 2)

Caught in Stolen Car Stealing Gas

A car thief who stole an auto from the lot of the Turner Buick distributorship at 15200 Kercheval Thursday evening, July 21, was picked up the same night by the Detroit police while trying to make good his get away.

Charles Jadanzik of 19689 Oakland, Detroit, was arrested in Detroit's Bethune precinct trying to siphon gas from a parked car. He was driving the Turner car at the time of the arrest.

Jadanzik, who was turned over to the Park police, said that he had to get gas for the stolen car. Subsequent investigation proved that Jadanzik, only 17 years old, had a previous record for a car theft as a juvenile.

He is presently on bond from Recorder's Court awaiting disposition of a similar charge in Detroit.

Woods Disposal Contract Headache to City Solons

The Sanitary committee of the Woods met on Friday, July 22, to review the possibility of renegotiating the city's garbage collecting contract, according to Woods City Administrator William Lange.

The session lasted about an hour and a half, the meeting ending by agreeing to hold another, tomorrow, July 29, when further discussions will be taken up.

Present at the meeting besides Mr. Lange, were Mayor Kenneth Koppin, George Heckendorn, committee chairman, and committee members: Elsie Friedrich, James McLeod and City Attorney Julius Berns, and a representative of the firm holding the contract for the pickup.

The City Administrator said that the contractor had informed the committee that he had purchased new equipment, although the recently signed contract did not call for this.

Mr. Lange took exception to the implication that the present garbage pickup contract was illegal.

He pointed out that the contract, signed on May 26, was negotiated in good faith. He said that on March 1, water meter readers, in reading the meters on their rounds, asked each household if they had or did not have garbage grinders or incinerators.

Cooperation Of Residents Imperative

All Sprinkling Must Be Banned Unless Citizens Pay Strict Attention to Rules

The Farms water shortage has become so acute, stricter water regulations were enacted by the Farms council on Monday, July 18. They become effective today, July 23.

The new water restriction going into effect, was enacted following recommendations made by Councilman Ed Roney.

The council was faced with two alternative solutions to the critical problem, ban all sprinkling, or level off the demand during peak periods.

Hose Users Get Break
The new regulations adopted Monday, were designed to give the householder who sprinkles with a water hose by hand, the best break, because he must be there to control the sprinkling.

Owners of underground sprinkling systems need not be on the spot to check, and besides, many of these systems have an automatic timer which turns the water on and off at a given time.

It is appropriate to review the present condition of the water problem in the Farms.

Exceeding Capacity
According to facts presented by Councilman Roney, the city's water plant has a maximum production capacity of eight million gallons a day. Demands, divided into peaks and valleys, range from an excessive high, of over 11 million gallons to a low of four million during night time, and less than six million during the day.

Roney stresses that this high rate is dangerously in excess of capacity, in that it lowers the pressure to the point of making inoperative some home utilities. This cannot be continued in view of a possible fire emergency or plant breakdown from overwork.

It was pointed out that the solution to the problem was a full or partial ban—which could cause water waste, promote cheating and satisfy no one, or level demand peaks and valleys to the point below production capacity on a round-the-clock basis.

Would Satisfy All
The latter would better utilize water capacity, can be enforced, and would be to the satisfaction of all.

After studying the recommendations, the Farms council approved the following new regulations, effective as of today: all on alternate days as at present, that is, odd numbered days and even on even numbered days.

Underground sprinkling systems only, from 12 midnight to 5:30 a.m.; no sprinkling, recovery period, 5:30 a.m. to 7 a.m.; hose sprinkling only, 7 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.; absolutely no sprinkling, daytime period, 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; hose sprinkling only, 9:30 p.m. to midnight.

A post card with the new regulations printed on it, along with a notice, were sent to every home in the Farms and the City and a part of the Shores, customers of the Farms. It also bears the motto of "Water for sprinkling; water for household use."

Only Lawns Affected
City Manager Harry Furton stated that regulations apply only to lawn sprinkling. Residents who have vegetable gardens and flowers, may sprinkle the base of their plants by hand, that is, apply water with a hose or some form of container. This does not mean, he said, that one is permitted to use any excessive amount.

Also not bound by the regulations, are residential swimming pools, which may be emptied and filled when needed, Mr. Furton added.

Attack Suffered By Heckendorn

Woods Councilman George Heckendorn suffered a serious heart attack Saturday, July 23, while at work in Detroit, and was rushed to St. John Hospital, where he was placed under an oxygen tent.

A call to his home, 1010 Roslyn road, brought assurance from Mrs. Heckendorn that her husband is doing well, but he will have to remain in the hospital for several more days.

Woods Disposal Contract

Each of the 1,998 were later sent postcards, concerning whether they now have or intend to install one or the other units. Only 700 answers were received. Mr. Lange said, stating that units are being planned for or have already been installed.

He said that of this number, none has said they needed the garbage pickup service, but at the time the contract was awarded, it was on the assumption that at least 1,200 homes will need the service. The cost was set at $13 for residential homes and $51 for business establishments, for a six months period, to be privately paid for by the residents and businessmen who have neither unit.

On July 1, Ordinance 110 took effect. It stipulated that public funds will no longer be used to pay for garbage pickups.

It was brought out at the last council meeting held on Monday, July 18, that prior to the meeting, only 132 homes and five business places had signed up for the private pickups.

Also at this meeting, members of the council rescinded and repealed Ordinance 132, which was adopted two weeks previously in order to amend certain provisions in 110, which would legalize the city's subsidizing payment of the garbage collection contract which was awarded to the lowest bidder along with the rubbish pickup contract, for about $84,000.

Mr. Lange pointed out that the rubbish and garbage pickups were awarded under one contract. Cost of the garbage collection alone was set at $28,000. Ordinance 132 was killed after a motion was made by Councilwoman Elsie Friedrich to reconsider the legislation, and after a group of citizens protested against it.

Mr. Lange said that the present contract is not illegal in the sense of the word, because members of the council had the interest of the people who did not have grinders or incinerators at heart, and therefore awarded and signed the present contract in good faith.

He added that of July 1, a count taken by water meter readers, showed that about 200 homes are still without either kind of unit.

He said that applications for permits to install one or the other units have been coming in steadily for several weeks and that in one particular day, 38 applications had been received.

What the outcome of the July 29 meeting will bring is yet to be seen.

Re-negotiation of the contract was authorized by members of the council in hopes that a solution can be reached between the city and the contractor.

Nab Bandits

had earned the money working up north.

They told the officers that this was their first such offense and that they had not used the guns in the robbery, but bought them with the stolen money.

"We were going to use them for range shooting and Dante (Ferrazza) was going to give one to his father," Anderson, spokesman for the two, said.

Both boys had juvenile records and had done 18 months for breaking and entering. It was at this time that the two became acquainted.

They told the police that they thought up the idea of the robbery on the "spur of the moment." "We needed some money to go south."

Ferrazza, who was employed as an assistant store manager in the Big Bear market chain, (he worked at the Livernois and Eight Mile stores), hit on the idea. He was familiar with the store layout.

Anderson Staged Robbery
Anderson admitted to being the one who went into the store and staged the main part of the robbery. He told both Benton Harbor and City police that he actually had nothing under the newspaper that was supposed to conceal a snub nosed revolver.

After the robbery, the two drove south. They spent five days in Georgia, visiting among other places, Atlanta. It was there they claimed they bought the guns.

From Georgia they drove back to Chicago to "visit some relatives." They were coming back to Detroit because they thought things had "cooled off."

Knew They Were Cooked
When arrested, "We knew we were dead pigeons when they looked in the trunk." They hoped to get off with a speeding ticket.

According to the St. Joseph and Benton Harbor police, they both were polite and quite cooperative. There was no report of resisting arrest.

They were arraigned in Justice Court on a charge of armed robbery Friday, July 22. They are being held in the Wayne County Jail.

Report on Delbridge Fire

to point out that this phase was largely guess work.

It was also asserted that the cause of the fire was not determined, nor the exact origin.

Psychological Factors
In reference to the charges of poor handling, late arrival and such, the report noted, "Several psychological factors affecting civilian accounts of the fire became apparent in the course of the investigation . . . intervals of time (were) greatly magnified (and) . . . that spectators will focus on the visible points of the most flame and to some extent be unaware of the fire fighting operation as a whole."

Categorically the proved claims were:

1. That there WAS definitely a shortage of fire-fighting manpower. "The Committee finds that the shortage of manpower was the principal cause of the loss."

Technical Criticized
2. THAT TO SOME DEGREE there WAS a deficiency in fire-fighting technique. (The report states that upon arrival, the booster lines, but not the larger one- and two-inch lines, were put into use. It is accepted fire fighting practice to hook up and have ready for use all existing lines. The one- and two-inch lines were not attached until approximately 15 minutes after arrival.)

3. That the delay in calling for help from outside communities DID further the fire loss.

The report proved these things true:
1. The fire department DID get to the fire in the shortest possible time.
2. The source of the fire WAS determined and gotten to in the shortest possible time.
3. The fire chief WAS on the scene in the shortest possible time. (On leave when the alarm came in, he was still on the scene in less than 15 minutes. It is thought his presence went un-noticed because he did not have on usual fire-fighting apparel.)
4. There WAS sufficient water pressure from the hydrant used.
5. The firemen DID heed the request of the owner to protect certain documents contained within the house.

From these lists of claims and disclaims came the eight recommended improvements. They are:

1. Install two way radios in the fire trucks.
2. All Farms firemen should attend the Detroit Fire School.
3. The present manpower of the department should be increased by three.
4. The operational procedures of the department should be improved.
5. The present oral agreements for community cooperation should be put on paper.
6. The Farms should enter into a stand-by agreement with Detroit.
7. Create a community squad truck to answer any calls in any of the five Pointes.
8. Create in the future a community fire department embodying all of the five Pointes.

Council to Discuss Report
Though no date was actually set, the Farms council as a committee of the whole will meet to discuss the report.

Copies of the report were handed out to the council for study at their July 18 meeting.

It takes two people to make a bargain, but only one gets it.
A man's temper takes over when he loses use of his reason.

Robert Stamper Taking Training at Air Base

SAMPSON AIR FORCE BASE, N. Y. — Airman Basic Robert Stamper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clevern M. Stamper, 683 University place, Grosse Pointe, Mich., is undergoing basic military training at Sampson. He enlisted March, 1955, and is a member of the 4288th flight here since the base's activation in December, 1950.

Newly-enlisted airmen arrive here from many sections of the United States to receive their initial Air Force indoctrination. They become members of a "flight," composed of 72 men — generally from the same region, and receive an intensified 11-week training course which deals with basic military techniques and principles.

Upon graduation they are assigned directly to an Air Force installation, or report to various Air Force Training Command schools for primary and advanced technical knowledge.

Sampson is one of three Air Force indoctrination centers. Others are located at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Texas, and Parks AFB, Pleasanton, Cal. More than 40 per cent of all Air Force enlistees receive their initial training at Sampson.

Four Hospitalized Briefly Following Crash in City

A three car pile up in front of the City's lakefront park hospitalized four early Sunday morning, July 24.

Rushed to Bon Secours Hospital for facial cuts and bruises were: Paul Schuster of 19637 Wexford, Detroit, driver of the errant car; passengers Sally Meyers of 4234 E. Outer Drive, Detroit, and Marlene Niemiec of 19849 Rogge, Detroit, and a passenger in another car involved, JoAnn Cox of 1217 Hart, Detroit.

A car driven by Maxwell Cox was stopped at the Lakeland light, headed west, when it was rammed from the rear by the car driven by Schuster. The impact knocked Cox's car across the street and into the path of oncoming traffic.

The third car involved was driven by Thomas Hogan of 83 Virginia Park, Detroit. The front of Cox's car hit the left rear fender of Hogan's.

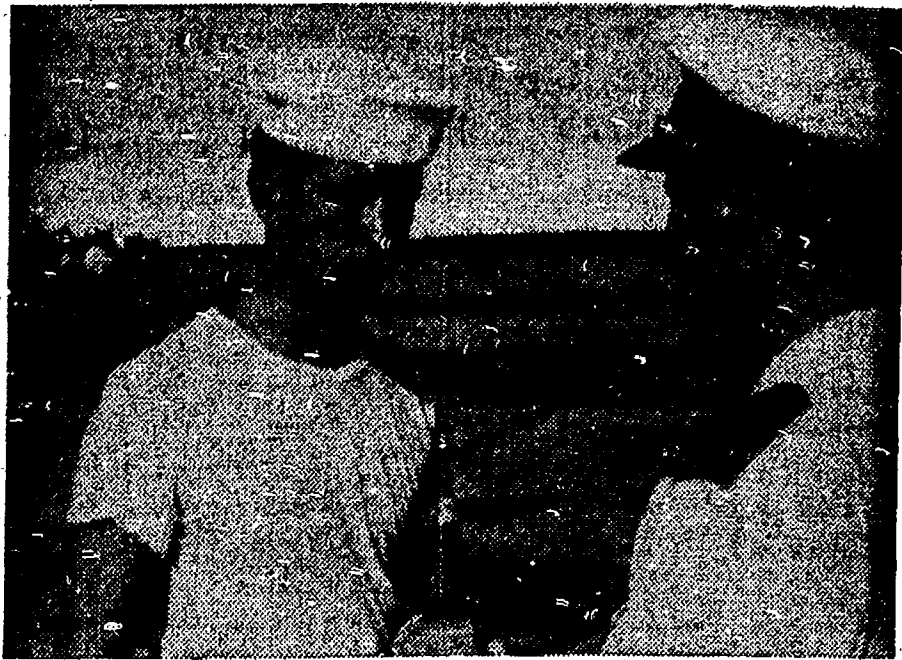

Except for Schuster, who suffered cuts about the face, none of the drivers was hurt. None of the injured was considered critical and all were released from Bon Secours later Sunday.

Schuster was ticketed for reckless driving causing an accident. No court date was set. The accident was the first of two to occur at the Lakeland light Sunday.

The second was not serious and no tickets were issued when the concerned parties agreed to settle the damage between them.

Charles Summons, traveling west on Jefferson, failed to see the light and plowed into the rear of the waiting car driven by Harvey Gardner of 4458 Beniteau, Detroit. Summons lives at 22140 Mauer, Detroit. There was little damage done to either car.

Wins Good Conduct Medal

CAVITE, Philippine Islands (FHTNC)—ROBERT E. KINVILLE, hospital corpsman second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kinville of 953 Westchester road, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., received a Good Conduct Medal in June at the Sangley Point Naval Station here. CAPT. F. F. GILL made the presentation. Kinville is attached to the Naval Hospital here. Before entering the service in September 1951, he attended Rogers City High School, Rogers City, Mich.

City Awaits Expert Advice On Two New Traffic Lights

The City of Grosse Pointe has had a good deal of comment on traffic and pedestrian conditions at two corners, the intersections of Rivard and Jefferson and Cadieux and Jefferson.

The pleas of concerned citizens, traffic engineers and public officials have produced action towards constructive measures.

At the present three things are being done. They are: A Wayne County Road Commission survey at the request of the City; a private traffic survey by the traffic engineering firm of Gundersen and Doebek at the request of the City Council; and legal advice, also at the request of the City Council on the rights of the City to put up a light on a county road.

Both corners are subject to heavy pedestrian traffic, the Cadieux corner for nurses, staff and visitors of Bon Secours Hospital, and the Rivard intersection for the Grosse Pointe Bank and the Pointe Unitarian Church.

Two years ago similar action resulted in the erection of a stop light at Lakeland in front of the City waterfront park. At that time, the surveys and reports vetoed lights at the respective corners now under question.

"It was felt that both and particularly the Rivard corner were too close to the Lakeland lights," City Clerk Norbert Neff said. "Now the City feels that lights are needed at at least one of the corners."

A letter read at the July meeting of the council from Frederick Brownell of 16943 Jefferson avenue stated the urgent need for a light at Cadieux. He cited numerous incidents of near traffic accidents.

At present between the easterly limits of the City and the westerly limits of the Park there are substantially five lights; a group

Theodore H. Hinchman, 11 To Move to East Lansing

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Hinchman, II, have just arrived from Kaiserslautern, Germany, with one-year-old Judy after a three-year stint in the service. They are staying in the Irvine lane home of Mr. Hinchman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Hinchman.

In the fall the younger Hinchman family will move to East Lansing, where Mr. Hinchman has registered at Michigan State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray W. Sales, III, (Anne Woodhouse), also recently returned to the Pointe after three years in the armed forces. They have been living with the John T. Woodhouses of Lake Shore road, but plan a move to Audubon road.

This is the age of substitutes, but so far none have been discovered for honesty.

It is more important to be consistent with the truth than it is to be consistent with your past. The quack doctor doesn't do much healing for others, but is very successful in healing himself.

Confectionery Store Robbed
The Pointe Confectionery, 17008 Mack avenue in the Park, was robbed sometime Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, July 21.

Entry was gained by sawing the padlock on the iron grate door in the rear of the shop. The inner door was not locked.

The store was completely ransacked and money was taken from the jukebox, cigaret machine and till. The exact amount of the money stolen was not determined.

The police have a number of good clues and an intensive investigation is being carried on.

There will be Bible stories, games, worship, songs and many other activities.

Youthful Liquor Thieves Nabbed

Some alert police work by Park Patrolmen Charles French and Lawrence Cools netted two young sneak thieves Thursday morning, July 21.

The squad car team was driving south on Grand Marais when they noticed two figures run from the residence at 725, jump into a car and take off.

They gave pursuit amid flying liquor bottles and apprehended a 16-year-old juvenile and 18-year-old Paul Lariviere of 243 Manistique, Detroit.

The boys had stolen bottles of liquor from the Von Lokeren home. They were friends of the family and had sneaked in through a door they knew to be open. The Von Lokerens were asleep at the time.

After first stealing a bottle of vodka and partly consuming it, they drove around the Pointe looking for parked cars from which to syphon gas.

At the time of the apprehension, they were exiting from a second theft of the Von Lokeren home. They had returned for more liquor.

When the police gave chase, they tried to ditch the evidence in the form of the vodka and an unopened bottle of Black and White scotch.

Upon questioning, they admitted to syphoning gas from cars parked on Korte and Barrington. The 16-year-old has a past record for breaking and entering. He was turned over to the Detroit Juvenile authorities to await disposition for the Pointe robbery.

Lariviere was turned over to the Wayward Minor Division of the Probate Court. He had no previous police record.

Both dispositions are only temporary. Upon police inquiry, the Von Lokerens said they were unaware of the happenings at the time of the enterings.

cellor Konrad Adenauer was given a vote of confidence by Bundesrat (upper house) which overwhelmingly passed two re-arrangement laws.

The two bills were sent to President Theodor Heuss for his signature. They permit recruitment of 6,000 volunteers for the first year and give a civilian committee veto power over the appointment of all senior military officers for the future armed forces.

Alberto Teissaire, vice president of Argentina, followed the lead of President Juan Peron and resigned as head of the powerful ruling Peronista Party. He explained his move as an attempt to bring about political peace to the nation. He said he will devote his full time to governmental affairs. A week ago, Peron resigned as "chief of the revolution to become president of all Argentina."

THE BIG FOUR powers ended their meeting Saturday night on a hopeful note. They reached an agreement on a long-range plan to ease the tension and improve confidence among nations. They called for a meeting of the United Nations subcommittee on August 24 to take up proposals made throughout the week-long conference in Geneva.

The also directed their respective foreign ministers to meet in Geneva sometime in October to work on plans for reuniting Germany and to formulate a plan to assure Europe there will be no more German holocaust.

TROOPS of Israel and Jordan engaged in a four-hour gun battle in the border area south of Lake Tiberias, it was disclosed by an Israeli military spokesman. He stated that Jordanian soldiers fired on an Israeli patrol in Israeli territory.

Meanwhile, in Cairo, Egypt paraded her growing military might and vowed war against neighboring Israel "if our frontier is violated." The warning was issued by Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, minister of war, during a speech which keynoted a huge military parade commemorating Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser's third year in power.

CORDELL HULL, former Secretary of State and "father" of the UN, died today at the age of 83. He was forced into retirement in 1944 because of ill health, and has failed steadily since the death of his wife on March 26, 1954. He served longer than any other American as secretary of state.

His achievements in Congress and in the Roosevelt Cabinet have few parallels. He was credited with having done more than any other man to create the UN. He had been in Bethesda Naval Hospital ever since he suffered a cerebral stroke last March.

He suggested the talks be conducted at a foreign ministers level within six months or less.

FRANCE is planning some form of self-rule for its protectorate, Morocco. The fate of its whole North African Empire is at stake. Last week, police and Arab mobs clashed, with fighting spreading from Casablanca to normally peaceful Marrakech.

Terrorist deaths, since the arrival of Gilbert Grandval, new French resident general, on July 7, are well past the 100 mark. He is said to be planning an important move toward Moroccan self-government. A group of 10 to 15 Frenchmen, top department heads, will form a cabinet to pick a cabinet composed of Moroccans, who will become their bosses.

SINGAPORE, Britain's crown colony, is demanding immediate self-government. Sir Robert Black, the British governor, told the assembly that its self-government resolution has assumed "a significance much more reaching than its original terms" and that he'll have to study it. Singapore began its move for independence two weeks ago. The crisis stems from a dispute between Black and Chief Minister David Marshall, whose Socialist Labor cabinet became the colony's first elected government in the April 2 election.

THE HOUSE overwhelmingly approved a compromise bill which would give the nation its first compulsory "home guard" units. The vote was 315 to 78. The measure, weaker than asked for by President Eisenhower, was sent to the Senate. It would force every man going into military service in the future to spend at least five years on active duty and in the combat-ready reserve. The Senate is expected to act on the bill by next Tuesday.

THE ISSUE of Air Secretary Talbot has been handed to Atty. Gen. Brownell, who was asked to rule on the private business interests of the secretary. John A. Plan Big Swimming Meets At New City Pier in August

The park guards and attendants are planning two big, special aquatic programs during the month of August at the city pier in Grosse Pointe. These programs will be open to boys and girls, men and women to participate, and to all to watch. These are destined to become annual programs judging from the interest already manifest. Similar programs have been held in previous years, but on a smaller scale. Now, with the added facilities in the park and the backing of the park committee under the leadership of Councilman Kenneth Bergmann, these events promise to take on new life and attract more participants than ever before.

Saturday, August 20
9 a.m. Grosse Pointe—Park Guards Swimming meet. The life guards from these parks are expected to compete in this annual event to be held this year at the G. P. City pier: Grosse Pointe Park, Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Woods, Grosse Pointe Shores, and City of Grosse Pointe. Spectators are welcome and should enjoy this meet with topnotch swimmers of the life guards.

10:30 a.m. City of Grosse Pointe Annual Swimming Meet and Water Carnival for boys, girls, and adults. There will be seven classifications for boys and men and seven for girls and women. Information blanks and registration forms are available at the checkroom in the park. Those interested as contestants may register without cost at the park on or before the deadline of Monday, August 15.

3 p.m. Long Distance Swimming, with proposed race from one park to another. Contestants will be accompanied by boats. Competition is open only to well-qualified swimmers who are in good condition. Particulars about this event may be had at the park checkroom. This event is open to all residents of the Pointes.

Saturday, August 27
All Day—Fishing Rodeo will be open to all residents of City of Grosse Pointe, with awards for those catching the most fish, the largest fish, etc.
5 p.m.—Prizes will be awarded for the two fishing contests:

Donald E. Dannecker Given GE Assignment

Living Rosary Set for Aug. 6

The fifth annual presentation of a Living Rosary in honor of Our Lady of Fatima will be held Saturday, August 6, at the Remick Band Shell on Belle Isle. The 8 p.m. faith gathering of Catholics from all over the metropolitan and suburban area will carry the hopes of a firm and sincere desire for a just and lasting peace to our war torn world. The services will be opened and closed with fitting selections played by the Belle Isle Concert Band under the direction of Leonard B. Smith. The Ave, Glorias, Salve Regina and the Litany will be sung by the Duns Scotus College choir. The program will be under the spiritual direction of the Rev. Father Francis F. Van Antwerp, pastor of St. Ambrose Church. The honor guard will be formed by the Galicia Caravan No. 77 Order of the Alhambra; the Honor Guard of the Detroit General Assembly Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus. "Our Lady of Fatima" will be sung by James V. Brennan, Sr., and accompanied by his daughter, Ann Brennan. There will be an organ recital, courtesy of the Detroit Federation of Musicians, from the carillon from 7 to 8 p.m. People who act without thinking generally start thinking when others begin to act.

Pick 'Gaslight' For Next Play

"Gaslight," that suspense-filled Victorian melodrama by Patrick Hamilton, will be presented by Simians on August 11, 12, and 13. The play, Simians' second production of the season, will be done in theater-in-the-round on the lawn of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center. "Gaslight" tells the story of a homicidal maniac who attempts to drive his wife insane. Winston Likert and Jane Slade play the maniac and his wife. Other members of the cast are, Dick Tobin (director), Judy Huntington, and Anne Rice. This play will be somewhat of a sequel to "Rope," a play by the same author which was presented by Simians last summer. The production will be in Victorian costume complete with antique properties and setting. Three dimensional sound and chocolate-colored lighting will also be featured to add to the aura of suspense.

State Has Single Poisonous Snake

Michigan has 17 kinds of snakes but only one is dangerous, according to Norman E. Hartweg, curator of reptiles and amphibians in The University of Michigan Museum of Zoology.

This one poisonous snake, a pit viper belonging to the rattlesnake family, is known as the massasauga. "It is smaller than most rattlesnakes, and its venom, compared with that of the diamond-back rattlesnake of the west and south, is comparatively weak," the herpetologist says.

Campers can take comfort from the professor's statement that he knows of no deaths due directly to the bite of the massasauga in Michigan. "I believe that any healthy adult will recover from the bite of this snake, but there is some doubt in my mind as to whether a really small child would recover without treatment."

He explains that in Michigan the massasauga lives in swampy areas but does spread from them into adjoining farm lands in the summer time. The young massasaugas are born alive and in broods they number from three to twelve with an average of about seven.

Professor Hartweg urges that adequate precautions be taken, even though the bite is rarely if ever fatal. "A person can become very sick and the bite is to be avoided if possible. There's no getting around the fact that in many places in Michigan the massasauga is quite numerous."

Here's some special advice for campers and bathers in areas in which the massasauga is known to occur: 1) avoid walking around at night bare-footed; 2) never pick up a log or turn over a stone; 3) avoid putting your hands into dark places where snakes might lurk. He explains that most bites occur on the limbs below the knee or below the elbow.

"First aid kits are inexpensive and one or more should be at the disposal of every camper," the U-M professor continues. "These consist of a suction apparatus, a tourniquet, razor blades and antiseptic. A complete set of instructions accompanies each kit." Getting to a doctor immediately, however, is best.

Assuming that you have been bitten by the massasauga, how do you identify him? The massasauga will usually rattle, as soon as he is aware of the person or an intruder. One mark of identification is the presence of a pit between the eye and the nostril. You can further know him by his rattles, or if these have been lost through an accident, the tip of his tail will be very blunt. He also will have a vertical pupil.

The professor further explains that the arrangement of tooth marks that remain on the flesh after the bite tells the story. "If you have been bitten by a harmless snake, there will be rows of tiny punctures. If you have been bitten by a poisonous snake, there will be a pair of punctures much larger than any others that may appear.

"If a doctor is not available, apply the suction cups and follow the kit instructions carefully."

Ford Experiments Reveal Seat Belts Reduce Injuries

Ford Motor Company has announced the automobile industry's most concerted research program in the pioneer development and testing of safety devices to reduce the number and severity of crash injuries.

Earle S. McPherson, vice president—engineering, said that evaluation studies and full-scale-car crash tests conducted by Ford Engineering Staff using life-like dummies to simulate human passengers have shown, among other things, the value of seat belts for automobiles.

He said that, as a result, the company has made seat belts available to dealers for installation as accessory equipment on Ford, Lincoln and Mercury cars and Ford trucks.

"Studies are continuing at the new Ford Research and Engineering Center on other energy-absorbing devices and engineering designs aimed at minimizing injuries caused by traffic accidents," Mr. McPherson said.

"These safety advancements also will be incorporated in Ford Motor Company products as fast as they can be proved effective."

The Ford, Lincoln and Mercury seat belts will meet strength requirements greater than those specified by the Civil Aeronautics Administration for aircraft seat belts, according to A. L. Haynes, assistant chief research engineer and head of the company's vehicle safety program.

"We know there is less chance of injury when the motorist is held in his seat, and furthermore when he is kept within the protective enclosure of the vehicle," he said.

"We also have learned that the driver who is restrained snugly behind the steering wheel by his seat belt is less likely to lose control of his car during a minor accident and as a result be injured in a secondary collision."

In addition, he said, the personal experience of those working on the company seat belts is that they increase the comfort of long-distance driving and reduce fatigue.

Mr. Haynes said tests have shown some seat belts on the market are improperly designed and constructed. Inadequate installations of this type could be harmful and worse than no belt at all, he said.

"The Ford seat belts will be adaptable to all Ford Motor Company cars from 1952 to the current models. Belt webbing will be made of a durable nylon-cotton combination about four inches wide. Buckles will clamp easily and can be adjusted or unfastened with one hand, leaving the other free for steering."

Mr. McPherson explained that an exhausting study of all available accident and crash injury data has been under way at Ford Engineering Staff for some time, including analysis of information compiled by such well-known investigating groups as the Crash Injury Research Group of Cornell Medical College, the Indiana State Police, the Air Force Aero-Medical Laboratory, Wayne University Medical School, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, the University of California, Los Angeles, and the National Safety Council.

"Available crash statistics, however, are not detailed enough for all our purposes," the engineering executive pointed out. "And we will need many more case studies and will continue to conduct full-scale crash tests with standard vehicles at our Dearborn Test Track."

The manikins used in the Ford crash tests are called anthropomorphic dummies. They have the same weights and dimensions of average motorists. Their skeletons are steel weldments; their skin and muscle, soft plastic. They can be adjusted so they will be relaxed or tense during impact.

The dummies record the force of the blows they receive in a crash by means of sensitive electronic attachments. With each collision, electronic signals are transmitted from the crash car to a nearby instrument van where receiving equipment records and tabulates these time and force messages.

In a typical crash test, Ford engineers tow the crash car into a heavy timber barrier or into another vehicle at a predetermined speed and direction. The towline is tripped just before the impact. The instrument van rides along beside the crash car, connected by a 20-foot length of electronic cable.

High-speed cameras at the scene reveal the movements of the dummies within the cars upon impact. The extent and nature of damage and positioning of the manikins after the crash disclose significant research data.

Correlated with the full-scale crashes are specialized laboratory impact tests. Technicians drop weighted metal balls on instrument panels in conducting these design studies. In other laboratory tests, seat belts are stretched to their breaking point to prove their strength and durability.

Fletcher N. Platt, company manager of traffic safety and highway improvement, said that developments, which will be announced later, are revolutionary in the industry and are based on an entirely new concept of auto-

To Demonstrate Sun-Powered Car

A "sun powered" model automobile, believed to be the first ever built, will be demonstrated at the General Motors Powerama in Chicago August 31-September 25, General Motors disclosed today.

The "sunmobile" will be part of a "Power for Progress" show presented several times daily at the spectacular Powerama, which will occupy a 1,000,000-square-foot area on Chicago's lakefront near Soldier Field.

GM will present the admission-free Powerama to dramatize the importance of Diesel and aircraft power in our modern economy. Huge earth mowers, dump trucks, oil drilling rigs, a cotton gin, a sawmill, a Navy submarine, Army tanks, airplanes, and scores of other exhibits will be on view—many in actual operation.

A highlight will be the introduction to the public of a revolutionary lightweight train designed and built by General Motors at the request of American railroad officials.

The 15-inch "sunmobile" has photoelectric cells which convert light into electric current. The current powers a tiny electric motor which propels the car. The photoelectric cells are made of selenium, an element which has the property of converting light into electric power. In the "Power for Progress" demonstration, light from electric lamps will simulate sunlight.

Demonstration of the "sunmobile" will give Powerama visitors a glimpse of a possible power source of the future. GM officials emphasized that solar power has no practical application in the automotive industry at present.

The "Power for Progress" show also will give visitors dramatic and easy-to-understand demonstrations of the fundamentals of Diesel and gas turbine engines. It will be presented by the staff of General Motors. Preview of Progress, a science show which has been seen by many school and civic club audiences throughout the nation.

"Power for Progress" show was designed especially for the Powerama. Several of its features, including the "sunmobile," will be shown there for the first time anywhere.

motive safety. "Although there are more vehicles in use today than ever before," Mr. Platt said, "the total fatality rate per mile of travel is lower than at any time since the automobile came into use."

"He noted that during the past 25 years, the fatality rate has dropped from 16 to less than 7 deaths per 100,000,000 miles. "We are hopeful that by improved design and new safety features we can reduce casualties on our highways, although human failure may continue to cause many accidents," he said. "We are most encouraged in our research by the growing interest of the general public in greater safety."

Let's Get to the Goal

As an actively interested member of the group of businesses in the Kercheval-on-the-Hill district in Grosse Pointe Farms, we have followed fairly closely the various phases of the program aimed at establishing more off-street parking space in that immediate locality.

The Farms purchased the large area in the rear of the establishments on the North side of Kercheval, obtained an added strip from the Richard School playground by buying it from the Board of Education, then created a special assessment district and attempted to make the property owners in the vicinity pay for a large portion of the costs of acquisition and improvements.

The property owners objected to this, on the grounds that unless the Farms would commit itself to a promise not to erect parking meters, the businessmen would be footing the bill for an income-producing investment on the part of the city. The merchants took the further stand that more parking space is needed in the area and until this is obtained the ultimate good to be derived by them from the parking lot will remain in doubt.

It should be understood that the property owners are perfectly willing (if and when they are assured of additional parking spaces to handle the potential needs of the district, and that the parking area won't be metered), to pay the assessment levied against them.

The issue has been taken to court, and so far the property owners have been the winners. The Farms has been restrained against collecting the assessment or attempting to charge interest on the amounts assessed.

Despite this apparent victory, the businessmen of the district are far from exultant. They still recognize the fact that the eventual full development of the district will tax the present parking facilities far beyond their capacity and that this could be very harmful to their individual enterprises.

We have only to look at Downtown Detroit with its over-congestion and the frantic efforts of afflicted merchants as demonstrated in their staging of DD Days with special inducements to lure shoppers to their doors, to understand what a lack of parking facilities can do to a shopping area.

Everyone loses in a situation such as this. The merchants lose customers, the customers lose the convenience, property values shrink and the city loses taxes. So also, does the Board of Education lose taxes, which affects the whole school system.

The Board of Education seems to hold the key to this whole problem, in that it owns the land which is sorely needed for additional parking space. It has attempted to bargain with the Farms officials, offering the needed parking space in return for the closing off of the northern end of McMillan road, from St. James Church to Ridge road.

If this swap were agreed upon, the school officials could unite the two now-divided portions of the Richard playground, have enough recreation area with the reclaimed section of closed McMillan to establish a baseball diamond, and still be able to give the Farms a good-sized chunk of the eastern end of the field for its parking needs.

Farms officialdom has battled this closing off of McMillan for a number of years now. It recently had a survey made by accredited traffic engineers, but even the members of the Farms council are now in disagreement over the findings of that survey, which indicate that the hired experts are against any such closing.

From where we sit it appears that all the attention is being focused on parking needs for shoppers and an easy flow of traffic for motorists, and too little thought is being given the necessity to provide sufficient recreational space for the growing community.

Already we are hearing complaints about the lack of ball diamonds to care for the ever-increasing number of teams in the Little and Babe Ruth Leagues for youngsters. These movements are brand new, but they have established themselves as completely worthwhile and deserving of whole-hearted support. We look forward confidently to a great growth in the number of players and a need for more playing fields.

The enrollment at the High School increases every year and the time is not far off when the Richard playground will undoubtedly have to take care of a portion of the athletic program of that institution.

We believe that if the closing of McMillan road will provide a more useful recreation area for the young of the present and future generations, that this constitutes a project even more important than providing easy access to already-overcrowded Kercheval avenue traffic.

The land which the School Board is willing to donate in exchange for the closing of McMillan would permit the opening of a new road from the alley north of Kercheval to Ridge road. This would also ease the traffic situation on the main thoroughfare.

We can't believe that the residents would object to such slight inconvenience as might be caused by not being able to use this single block of McMillan road.

The arguments have been going on for a long time and the progress towards a solution has been nil. We can't help feeling that the Farms would do well to accept the offer of the Board of Education. The parking problem would be vastly simplified, the recreational facilities would be amplified and we think the traffic situation would be improved.

Unintentional Boycott

Stopping in the florist's shop to buy a posy for our best girl, we made what we intended to be a pleasant overture to the proprietor. "Now that the debutante season is over, are you getting a well-earned rest?" we inquired. We were somewhat taken aback when the reply was a disgruntled "What debutante season?"

The next 10 minutes were spent listening to the laments of the gentleman whose business is selling flowers, and we were quite impressed. He and his fellow-florists have become the victims of the change in social customs that has produced the "Please Omit Flowers" notice in connection with such events, as debutante parties and funerals.

We hadn't thought much about it before . . . in fact had gone along quite willingly with the idea of sending a

Grosse Exaggerations

A. PRYOR

"I think, whatever mortals crave,
With impotent endeavor,
A wreath, a rank, a throne, a grave . . .
The world goes round forever;
I think that life is not too long,
And therefore I determine
That many people read a song,
Who will not read a sermon."
(Winthrop M. Pread)

A neighbor of ours who is one of the most charming women we know and one of the "vaguest" . . . had quite an experience last week. When it comes to being absent-minded . . . she puts all those old "professor" stories to shame! Any way . . . her husband told her he was going to buy a DeSoto . . . that he had found a good buy at a used-car lot. "FINE" . . . sez Madame listening with one ear. The following day he trekked out to the lot, bought the car and told her he would leave it for her in the driveway, while he took himself off to work.

Later in the day, she gathered her children together for a day at the beach . . . and they went in the new "used" car. Come time to go home, the kids scampered off to get in the car while mother picked up the beach junk. When she joined them they were all settled in the back seat of the car, and as she started to drive off, one of the youngsters said: "Mommy, look what I found back here on the floor." The child produced a woman's hat which very definitely did NOT belong to our little heroine. She thought vaguely about those stories of "The wife is always the last one to learn about it" things . . . and wondered just what she would say to her husband, if anything.

They arrived home . . . and later in the day, Madame had to do a small shopping errand, so back she went to the car. This time, she looked thoughtfully at it and found it was a Plymouth! Gathering her wits together she decided her husband HAD said he was getting a DeSoto. What to do NEXT? Finally she remembered the children had been playing with a lighter in the back seat on the way TO the beach. She looked in the back seat . . . NO LIGHTER. Then she hot-rodged it back to the beach and sure enough there were a man and his wife AND a policeman . . . looking for the lost Plymouth. Everything was straightened out in the end . . . and if the husband reads this . . . he will know for the first time how high his wife's eyebrows flew up when she saw that strange hat in the car. He had best be careful!!

And speaking of the beach . . . remember the good old days when you went to the beach for the day with a shoe box lunch, your bathing suits and a rubber cap? Maybe if you were lucky . . . grandma would let you take a small sand pail and shovel? Today, you couldn't possibly GO to a beach without a car and a large one at that. Have you ever watched a family with children stack a car for a day's swimming? We hope this list doesn't make you dizzy: Bathing suits, towels, caps, umbrellas, beach pads, insect lotion, suntan lotion, oil, comb, brush, lipstick, powder, cigarettes, lighter, insect bombs, portable grill, portable radio, portable record player, folding table, floating animals, lunch basket, books, deep sea mask, snorkle, fish spear, dark glasses, fins, air tubes, thermos, glasses, liquor, soft drinks, blanket, beach ball, sand pail and shovel, surfboard, rubber boat, rubber rings, beach coats, sun hats, sandals and a ukelele.

We think beaches ought to start installing cement roadways so cars can drive in to dump all the stuff . . . which six people couldn't possibly carry in one trip!

We LOVE this story . . . which you may have heard . . . but anyway . . . Two wealthy Texans go into a Cadillac showroom to buy a car. They look 'em all over and finally decide on a snazzy air-conditioned job. The spokesman of the two asks the price and when he is told it is $6,000.00 he reaches in his pocket and starts to peel off the thousand dollar bills. His companion stops him, saying: "Oh NO YOU DON'T PARDNER. I'LL take care of THIS . . . you paid for the lunch!"

We should like to thank "E Pluribus Sicem" for writing us and sending a very funny joke, also about a Texan. Enjoyed it NO end . . . but ye olde Editor thought it a little indelicate for Grosse Exaggerations . . . just in case the kindergarten set might sneak a peek at the paper. However, we hope he will continue to pass along any tid bit that can be used.

The following was sent to us from some publication . . . but maybe you missed it. A ten year old goes to visit her aunt in another city and before leaving home her mother instructed her very carefully in manners and deportment with a lot of please and thank-you businesses. She especially stressed that if the child had to leave the room to go to the bathroom . . . she should say she would like to powder her nose. After the visit was over . . . aunty dear commended her on her beautiful behavior, said she would like her back again next summer and added, "Maybe your little sister, Laurey, could come with you next time."

The child replied: "Oh, no, I don't think she had better. Laurey still powders her nose in bed!"

check to some charity in lieu of the usual floral offering. But we are now convinced that the spread of this practice constitutes a completely unintentional low blow.

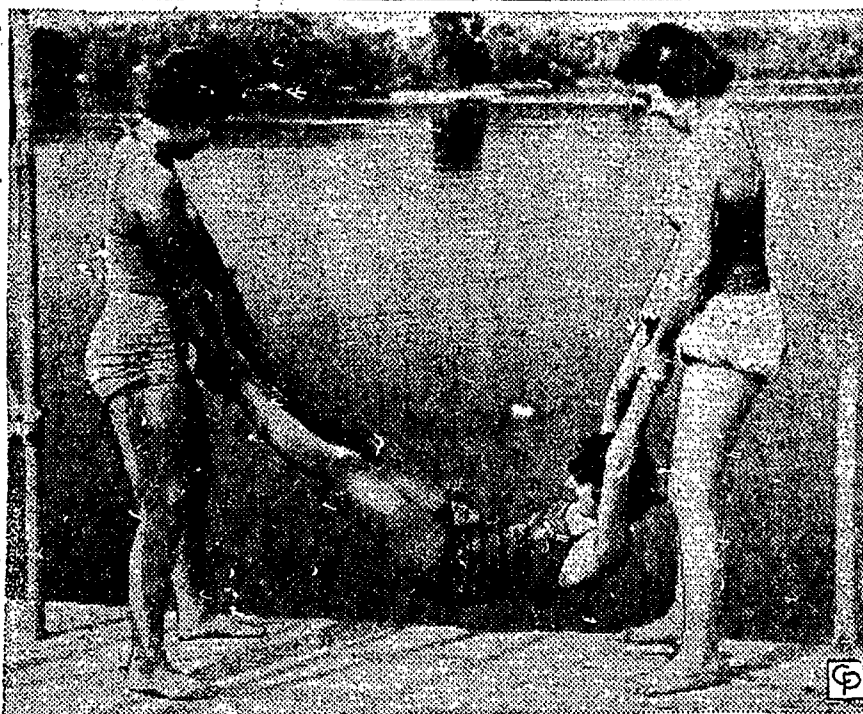

We don't know whether or not the appellation "society bud" had any original connection with the gesture of sending flowers for the debut, but in our day of social favoring the sweet young things being presented for appraisal were always seen in a setting of exquisite and costly horticultural splendor. Furnishing the orchids and gardenias and roses for such a display was a big item in the florist's business and one on which he counted heavily.

Funerals have always been tremendously important to the flower shop proprietor from the income standpoint, and the increasing popularity of the "Please Omit" request has been tough to take.

The business of raising, buying and selling flowers is as wide in scope as any other, and what hurts the florist also causes pain along the whole line of associated commerce. The contractor who built the shop, or the landlord who rents it, is affected by the success or failure of the florist. So are his employees, the utilities who furnish light and heat and refrigeration, the companies who sell the delivery trucks and flower pots and vases and cardboard boxes and wrapping paper and fertilizer and many other items used in transacting this business. So is the nurseryman who sells the plants and flowers and seeds, and all the others who supply the needs and wants of the florist and his family in their lives quite apart from the business itself.

It can be argued that the money donated to charity will also be as widely dispersed through the normal process of economics. The only point we are trying to make is that it hardly seems fair to put the finger on one particular classification of merchants. When carefully considered, such requests constitute what amounts to an unintentional boycott.

Safety hints from the Red Cross WATER is a good FRIEND but a deadly ENEMY

IF THIS "victim" of her friends' hilarity cannot swim, she may easily get into serious trouble after they toss her into the lake. Even good swimmers may become momentarily panicky or frightened at being plunged unexpectedly into deep water. A-Bomb Energy In Forest Fire

There's as much total energy released in 40 acres of burning brush as there is by exploding one medium A-bomb, according to Kenneth P. Davis, University of Michigan professor of forestry.

And if this doesn't give an idea of a forest fire's destructiveness, Professor Davis cites figures which say that 10 million acres a year catch fire, with yearly dollar losses running in the 100's of millions.

He points out that the U.S. as a whole spends some 70 million a year for forest-fire fighting and prevention, but there are still about 100 thousand fires each year. And, he emphasizes that "93 per cent of all forest fires are man-caused!"

Michigan's hazards of forest fires since this state has on record some of the most numerous and destructive in the nation's history, Professor Davis says. In 1930 there was a high of almost 5,000 fires; in 1925 some 800 thousand acres were burned over and in 1911 more than 3 million dollars was burned up. The entire face of the Upper Peninsula has been changed by fire, he states.

"But thanks to Michigan's Department of Conservation, which is one of the best in the country, these staggering losses in land and money have virtually been brought under control," Professor Davis declares.

Fire-fighting now is largely mechanized; power plows and tractors are equipped with power spray nozzles, two-way radios and walkie-talkies, and one tractor does the work of 50 men, he says. Airplanes supplement watch towers. But, he adds, it is up to all individuals to protect the forest lands by careful observance of conservation laws, and the Smoky Bear campaign of the Association of State Foresters and the U.S. Forest Service attempts to alert people to the dangers of forest fire.

"A lot of the problem in Michigan, however, is not in the tall timber lands, but in the urban fringe, the semi-forest, semi-residential areas, where grass, brush and miscellaneous wood fires spring up through carelessness and are more harmful than forest fires," he declares.

He points out that the U.S. has followed Europe in all other fields of forestry, but in fire control "as a science and an art" the U.S. is the world's acknowledged leader.

Professor Davis is author, with Keith Arnold of the U.S. Forest Service, of a book on "Forest Fire Control and Use" which now is in the writing stage. When it is published, he declares, it will be a first in its field—a full-sized book on the general subject of forest fire.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association is extremely grateful for the wonderful support received in the Center's 1955 Annual Family Participation Campaign. 2,375 families gave a total of $32,087.10.

In a very large measure the Association feels that the success of the Campaign was due to the wonderful cooperation and publicity of the Grosse Pointe News. The News staff spent much of the time and effort getting the names of givers into print, preparing interesting articles on the Center which were illustrated by eye catching pictures of activities and recording faithfully and accurately in headlines the progress of the drive.

Especially helpful were the excellent editorials urging all citizens to support this unique living Memorial to the degree that they could.

For this excellent assistance on its annual community project the War Memorial Association is deeply indebted to the Grosse Pointe News and is very grateful.

Sincerely,
JOHN W. LAKE

For Parents Of Adolescents

By Fred Kopp, R. Ph.

Development during the period of adolescence is rapid and the boy or girl needs ten or more hours sleep each night and often a nap during the day. Posture must be carefully watched. Youngsters who spring up in height quickly have a tendency to slouch and unless corrected may never develop good posture.

Parents of the adolescent are constantly faced with problems they are not certain how to solve. Here again your doctor can be of valuable assistance. He understands the physical and mental changes at this age. His counsel will prove most reassuring.

Society News Gathered From All of the Pointes

From Another Pointe of View

By Jane Schermerhorn

London, July 21—This column is being written as we climb 9000 feet into the sky over London . . . Such a crowded London this year and so busy during our brief stay what with Ascot Week, a garden party at Buckingham Palace, a cricket match at Sudbury Hill with feminine stage and screen stars the players, giving their all for charity PLUS the heat wave. Our English aircraft is truly plush with the zip of Elizabeth II in gold on a scarlet background, giving zip to the gray interior. And the London Airport makes Willow Run look very sick. It is vast, modern, comfortable and run with precision. Now we're passing the White Cliffs of Dover, drifting out over the English Channel, so there's time to chat.

Those English Pounds

What's doing in London at the moment? Well, the English are having to step briskly to get their afternoon tea because there are so many American tourists crowding restaurants and tea shops. We may smile at the hours they spend sipping that tea but who falls faster into the custom than Americans abroad—ah, those English pounds we'll all bring home. But service isn't up to that old English standard: Here, as at home, the domestic class is fading. Signs in shops even as glittery as Fortnum and Mason (a department store with ground floor and mezzanine devoted exclusively to foods and restaurants and where the clerks wear frock coats) proclaim need of help. There are fewer waiters to blaze the chafing dishes at the Savoy, "We are under-staffed" is the cry.

What's Iced Tea?

This Summer, we are accompanied by a very junior miss because of whom they may be serving iced tea in Europe next Summer. It's going to be a long haul, though, because the British are outraged at the thought of pouring their magic brew over chunks of ice . . . and the French "mai, non!" and get frantic when asked for our national Summer beverage. You'd think it was something explosive. Our miss still asks for her iced tea wherever we go and it's just possible the idea will catch on. We all wanted iced tea last week-end as the English thermometer pushed into high and humid eighties. We joined Pointers Leone and Frank Morris (home by now) in a visit to Madame Tussaud's famous wax works. Met the Pointers as we awaited our London plane in Paris and the well known Detroit political writers (Detroit Times) was recognized though he wore a Paris beret!

Nuptial Vows Spoken By Nena Cunningham

Dr. Frank Fitt Officiates at Ceremony in Memorial Church; Reception Follows at Country Club; Sea Island Honeymoon

A Country Club reception followed the 4 o'clock Saturday wedding of Nena Cunningham and William DuPont Dahling. Dr. Frank Fitt heard the exchange of vows in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Edelweiss buds were embroidered on the bride's gown of sun white Swiss organdy, which had a four tiered skirt. White hyacinth encircled her head to hold her short veil of white illusion, which was also dotted with Edelweiss buds. Phalaenopsis surrounded a white orchid to form her bridal bouquet.

The new Mrs. Dahling is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wallace Cunningham of Berkshire road. Her husband's parents are the Louis F. Dahlings of University place.

Rows of embroidery fashioned the frocks of the seven bridal attendants. The leafy vine design was embroidered in surf blue; cap sleeves and square necklines were trimmed in organdy and lace bands. Blue forget-me-nots trimmed their embroidered headbands, and they carried arrangements of white daisies, ivy and blue delphinium.

Honor maid Mary McKean carried ried yellow instead of white daisies. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Kenneth W. Cunningham Jr., Mrs. Charles E. Mosher, Mrs. Virgil J. Haggart Jr., Mrs. Theodore H. Fuger Jr., Sally Woodruff and Margaret Grace MacVean, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Best man was William S. Edwards. Kenneth W. Cunningham Jr. and William W. Cunningham, both brothers of the bride; Dr. Robert S. McGraw, Peter P. Thurber, Andrew G. Creamer and Roger W. Hull escorted guests to their places.

For their wedding trip to Sea Island, Ga., the bride carried a navy blue suit with red accessories.

Among the sailors' wives waiting on the island for word from the racers were Mrs. Wilfred V. Gmeiner, Mrs. Carter Sales, Mrs. Jack Boyle, Mrs. Charles Coe, Mrs. William Wagner and Mrs. Sydney Reynolds.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Teetzel selected a white silk dress with pale blue print, sequined white chapeau and blue accessories. Mrs. Rohr wore an aqua print dress and matching accessories. Both mothers pinned corsages of Amazon lilies to their handbags.

Luncheon Held By Review Club

French prints, striped awnings, geraniums and red-checked tablecloths were among the props which Mrs. Aaron E. Wilcox of Loraine avenue used Tuesday to create a "Cafe de la Paix" atmosphere for a Detroit Review Club benefit luncheon. The party was given in the Houston avenue home of Mrs. O. C. Stephan.

The basement floor of Mrs. Stephan's apartment building was transformed into a sidewalk art gallery with book and flower stalls forming the entrance to the "Cafe de Stephan." French travel posters donated by the French Consulate framed the white elephant booths.

Mrs. Wilcox, who handles the club's fund-raising projects, said a portion of the money raised this year will help to redecorate a special room for boy residents of the Salvation Army Children's Home. Last year the club put in a complete new room for girls at the same home.

Among Grosse Pointe members and guests attending were Mrs. Robert Sucek, Mrs. W. C. Oddy, Mrs. Henry Burkhardt, Mrs. Karl Swarz, Mrs. R. B. Koehler, Mrs. Arthur Steyer, Mrs. Lyndon Babcock, Mrs. Frank Lowmaster, Mrs. Theodore Trefzer, Mrs. A. Herba and Mrs. Edward French.

To Direct Community Club

The Board of Directors of the Grosse Pointe Woods Community Club announces the appointment of MISS VIRGINIA LEE CROWTHERS, left, from Detroit, to the position of Executive Director of the club. Miss Crowthers, most recently of Tau Beta Community House in Hamtramck, received her social work training at the University of Pittsburgh, where she was awarded the Master of Social Work degree. Pictured with her is MRS. T. K. JEFFERIS, president of the club's board of directors.

Previous to her social work training, Miss Crowthers was a teacher in the Mt. Lebanon, Pennsylvania school system, and an officer in the WAVES. As Director of South Area for the YWCA of Pittsburgh, Miss Crowthers was responsible for the directing, organizing and planning of services for suburban areas.

Miss Crowthers was recently honored by the Group Work Section of the National Association of Social Workers, the professional organization in this field, when she was elected section chairman for the Detroit chapter. Her appointment fills the vacancy recently created when Mrs. Jane Costabile accepted the position of executive secretary to the planning committee for group work and recreation with United Community Services. The Community Club is one of the Red Feather Services of United Community Services and is supported by the Torch Drive.

Pointer Takes Kentucky Bride

Miss Dorothy Louise Whitehead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Whitehead, and George William Weitzmann, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Weitzmann of Grosse Pointe, were married at 4:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, July 23, at the First Presbyterian Church of Danville, Ky.

The Rev. Bruce Compton, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladiolus and fern on either side of the altar with four large candelabra of lighted white wedding candles providing the illumination. The vows were pledged before a white archway entwined with greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of petal white chantilly lace and tulle. The fitted lace bodice was designed with a scooped low cut neckline outlined in seed pearls, and long lace sleeves ending in points over the wrist. The full tulle skirt featured occasional flower appliques of the re-embroidered lace and ended in a sweep train.

She wore a small taffeta headpiece caught to her hair in back with a single white rose to which was attached her fingertip veil of sheerest illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Miss Martha Whalin, Louisville, Ky., was the maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Misses Joy Wilson, Louisville; Doris Horn, Danville, and Mrs. James Gordon, Danville. They wore floor length gowns of white net over taffeta designed with fitted bodices and very full skirts. Their headpieces were of matching lace. Lace jackets and short white mitts completed the costume. They carried arm bouquets of variegated shasta daisies. Miss Peggy Whitehead was the flower girl. Crooner Crosby Entertains 75 Vagabonds at His Elko, Nev. Ranch; Group Returns With Host of Pleasant Memories

By Marilyn Zdrodowski Although the 75 girls on Chet Sampson's western tour haven't seen any rootin'-tootin' gun fights, they've seen plenty of cowboys and Indians as they tour 14 states.

The dudes got a taste of western life at the PX Ranch, Bing Crosby's 28,000-acreage near Elko, Nevada.

This visit is an annual affair. Each year the girls meet Mr. Crosby and his sons. The crooner tells about this visit in his autobiography, "Call Mr. Lucky."

This year Lenny was the only junior Crosby present. The twins are in the army in Germany, and Gary is in Hollywood doing a weekly radio show.

The group visited with Gary during their visit in the city of stars, and were guests on his show.

The girls camped in the special site set aside for the tour. They also had access to the Crosby house.

As is customary, the girls put on skits around the camp fire. New words were put to many familiar tunes. Group singing, chorus lines and comedy skits were among the favorite subjects. As an example, one group did "This Is Your Life, Lindsay Crosby," enacting all the parts of characters of their imagination.

After the skits were over, winners of a special election by the drivers were announced.

The most popular girl on the trip, "Miss Sleeping Bag," who received a calf skin rug from Mr. Crosby is Joyce Bushong. Her court, "The Three Zippers" are Mary Jo Giroux, Sue Evly and Kay Perring.

Emmy Lutton received the title of "Miss Sad Sack," the girl who is a shock in the morning, and shocking at night. Andy Buell was elected "Miss Feed Bag," the girl with the largest appetite.

"Miss Sparkplug of 1955," the girl whose sense of humor has added the most to the trip, is Sue Benson.

The girls were very impressed with Mr. Crosby. As one of the girls expressed it, "He was just like the man next door, so friendly and likeable."

From the 102nd Elko weather, the caravan proceeded to the Great Salt Lake. Although the chemical stench was disagreeable at first, as soon as the girls began bobbing around in the water, they loved it.

This visit was climaxed by a tour of the Mormon Temple grounds and a morning of shopping in Salt Lake City.

Three toots sounded, and the group proceeded to the Teton Mountain Range.

A choice of mountain climbing, hiking, horseback riding, swimming, loafing or a combination of all kept the girls busy.

Next stop, Yellowstone. Seeing the geysers, bubbling pools and mud pots, the Grand Canyon of Yellowstone, bears, and the lodges were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Now the girls have returned home, their five weeks of gallivanting have ended. The ex-vagabonds have seen the west in a never-to-be-forgotten way.

To Hold Dance At Park Beach

The Park's waterfront dance, staged annually at the municipal pier will be held this Saturday evening, from 8-11 p.m. on the tennis courts.

An affair that sprang a few years back from the oft-mentioned "Life Guard Parties," the dance has grown in both number and popularity. Last year over 200 danced to the music of Tommy Saunders.

"This year we expect to accommodate almost twice that many," said Park Superintendent Dave Beauvais.

The couples will dance to the music of Dave Riemer and his orchestra. Decorations will be on a patriotic theme with flags adorning the tennis court fences.

Swimming will stop at the usual 10 o'clock hour and the concession stand will stay open throughout the dance.

Dress will be casual, but the wearing of swimming suits and similar garb will not be allowed on the dance floor.

Fancy sometimes paints a friend — but never whitewashes him.

From Another Point of View

Madame Tussaud's

At Madame Tussaud's it was hot enough to melt the wondrous wax figures but we were faithful about "doing" all the great halls of exhibits, starting of course, with the Chamber of Horrors where the English, who have an insatiable appetite for all that pertains to crime (Sherlock Holmes, Scotland Yard, Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen, poisoned his wife with hydrogen and buried her body under the kitchen of their home, etc.) here have permanent reminder of not only gory tales with an English accent but also included are the grimest moments of history with torture weapons to boot. Funny trait in a people so nicely reserved. In the exhibit of the Royal Group, noticed that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor have been discreetly removed to a side niche of their own . . . and any Englishman who resents the American divorcee and what she did to English history has full revenge here. Wall's dress hangs like a sack on her waxen image.

The Painted Door

We didn't see a ranch house during our visit to London but we're loathe to report the active building program is producing modern apartment houses—perhaps these will prove a joy to the English, accustomed to having their plumbing and electricity threaded into Georgian, Victorian structures . . . but to the sentimental traveller, they jar the eye . . . Our guide was proud of the gaily painted front doors on the line of houses along Pimlico . . . "This is a new vogue," he explained, "and the cabbies love it. Before, we called this section 'cabbies' nightmare' because a-l-1 the houses looked alike." There was a redeeming touch to the modern structures—a building, though. Observed one was called Keats Court and beside it was Shelley Court.

London Briefs

London Briefs: When you come to London, you must pay a visit to the Wallace Collection, started by the third Marquis of Herford, continued by Sir Richard Wallace and bequeathed to the nation by Lady Wallace who also had a home "Bagatelle" beside the Champs Elysees in Paris. Two of the world's most exquisite portraits of children are here . . . Sir Joshua Reynolds' "The Strawberry Girl" and "Miss Bowles" . . . The Sevres collection is undeniably one of the greatest in the world and the antique clocks are out of Hans Christian Anderson. The three portraits of the belle of the theater and London in the Regency period . . . Mrs. Robinson . . . by Reynolds, Romney and Gainsborough also are here and deserve your attention. On our way to the Wallace Collection we passed the Tate Museum where a prominent Pointer has been given to exhibit his paintings next Summer . . . He hasn't invited us permission or we'd be bragging to you about it right this instant . . . Made Hyde Park this season and listened to the orators . . . Our favorite was a toothless waterfowl character called Mabel by the heckling crowds. . . . Mabel hates nicotine and verbally punished the London ladies who puffed away as they listened to her . . . She did, however, accept a box of Black Magic chocolates from a young man who transferred his pipe to the other hand to deliver them to her . . . But then, Black Magic chocolates are Mabel's favorites . . . could get tickets only to see "The Boy Friend" which here . . . and imagine the tiny English company is much jollier than the Broadway counterpart which is big and brassy . . . And now we're nearing Le Bourget . . . where Lindbergh made his victorious landing. . . . We can almost see our car down there . . . waiting for the next chapter to the French and Italian Rivieras . . . Will we see YOU there?

Pointe Yacht Club Set For Show Boat Party

Annual Commodore's Review to Precede Outdoor Dining, Dancing and Entertainment if Weatherman Cooperates

All that's needed now is a balmy summer evening on Saturday, July 30, to make Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's annual Commodore's Review and Show Boat Party a thrilling festivity. Toward that end, Charles E. Monahan and Charles J. Glasgow, the co-chairmen, are keeping pretty friendly with the weatherman—they want bright moonlight for the outdoor dining and dancing.

Traditionally, this big annual festival is slated for that midsummer Saturday nearest the full of the moon—and July 30 is only three days in advance of the next lunar peak.

The Commodore's Review will get under way at 6 p.m. when the GPYC cruiser fleet, flying full-dress flags, will sail out of the harbor, follow a course down to the Little Club and then return, to pass in formal review before the flagship with Commodore William O'Neill Kronner aboard. Each ship will salute the commodore. When the entire fleet has been reviewed, it will be led into the harbor by the flagship.

Immediately after the hour-long spectacle, the Show Boat Party will begin with cocktails on the lawn and porch, all to the music of Arthur Quatro's Orchestra. In the guise of an oldtime Mississippi showboat, a barge will be moored at the dock and here Captain Dave Farley and his Dixieland Orchestra will be stationed for later playing.

Dinner will be at 8 o'clock. There'll be an outdoor grill installed, and in this department swift service to the tables set up on the lawn.

Typical entertainment of the fabulous show boat days will be presented, and dancing will go on through the evening on the outdoor dance floor—all this if the weatherman comes through with a fine clear evening. Otherwise, the party will be moved into the clubhouse.

Among those with reservations (and more than 700 members and guests are coming) are Commodore and Mrs. Kronner, Vice Commodore and Mrs. Mervyn G. Gaskin, Rear Commodore and Mrs. Stark Hickey, the Manfred Burleighs, the John R. Wilts, the J. Earl Frasers, the Dwight M. Nelsons, the Roland P. Ewatts, the Charles A. J. Ketchers, the Joseph T. Wanamakers.

Others to head groups are the LeRoy Paynes and John Kennellys, the Glenn H. Friedts, the Harley F. Rileys, the Walter Probsts, the George W. Parkins, the A. D. Stuarts, the Albert James Herringtons, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kurtz, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. LeClerc, the L. George Hoopers and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hood, Jr.

Auxiliary of Legion To Hold Convention

The State Convention of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at the Statler Hotel, August 4 through 7.

Lainsion, national president from Council Bluffs, Iowa, who is on 100,000 mile tour of the nation. She will be honored at a reception in the Bagley Room on Thursday evening.

National vice-president of the Central States, Mrs. John Hunt from Port Sanilac, Mich., and national committee-woman, Mrs. John MacCauley, of Wyandotte, will greet the national president when she arrives at Willow Run Airport on August 4.

The Michigan Department will receive a National award for its outstanding Legislative program.

Mrs. W. Louis Boyington of the National Infantine Paralysis Foundation will present an award for the work done by auxiliary members in behalf of the foundation. The auxiliary conducts a vast program principal among which are rehabilitation program for veterans; the child welfare program; scholarships awarded annually to nurses; Americanism and community service programs; civil defense (six members from Michigan attended the Civil Defense Training at Olney, Md., this year); volunteer hospital workers (250 in Michigan attend to the wants of the hospitalized veterans).

Mann, Lesczynski Win Net Tournney

The doubles combination of Al Mann and Jim Lesczynski annexed the Park Tennis Tournney doubles crown with a 3-6, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Bill McHugh and Alex Plutynski Sunday, July 24.

Part of the combination will meet again for the singles championship Sunday, July 31. Mann gained the finals with an easy 6-1, 6-0 victory over Bill Pattyn last Sunday. McHugh, the other singles finalist, had a little tougher row to hoe in his semi-finals match, finally putting down Jim Lesczynski 6-4, 6-2.

The finals, scheduled for last week-end, were postponed when Mann injured his ankle.

In the doubles, Mann and Lesczynski's victory came after a shaky start. Played on the wind-swept lakefront courts, it was not until the second set that the winners settled down and seemed to adjust themselves to the playing conditions. From there on it was a coast.

The winning combination had no trouble getting into the finals. They won the right at a crack at the crown, with an easy 6-0, 6-1 victory over Frank Dillon and Bill Pattyn.

In the other bracket, though, things weren't so easy. The Grosse Pointe High School doubles team of Pete McGrath and Bob Bryant put up quite a battle before bowing to McHugh and Plutynski 3-6, 6-3, 7-5. They tried valiantly to keep their hopes alive in the third set, but the light went out when Bryant's serve was broken in the 10th game.

The doubles tournament drew 19 teams.

Notice of Hearing Zoning Board of Appeals

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Appeals will meet in the City Hall, 90 Kerby Road on at eight (8:00) o'clock in the evening to consider the appeal of the G. R. Holding Corporation from the denial of the Building Department to grant a permit to construct a car wash on a parcel of property measuring 100 feet along Mack Ave. and 129 feet along the alley, at the Northeast corner of Mack Ave. and Kerby Road.

The Building Department denied the application on the grounds that the proposed use did not conform to the general intent and purpose of Section 6.01(b) of the city's Zoning Ordinance. The applicant contends that the proposed use does not comply with the purpose and intent of the Zoning Ordinance, and bases his appeal on his ability to comply.

Hearing will be public and interested property owners or residents are invited.

SPORTS POINTES

by FRED RUNNELLS SPORTS EDITOR

Mallory Cup Quarter Finals To Be Sailed This Weekend

At long last plans for the running of the Mallory Cup quarter finals have been announced by race chairman Lynn Stedman Jr. and his co-chairman Paul Adam. According to Stedman the quarter finals will be sailed in Luder class 26-foot sloops provided by the Grosse Ile Y.C. and the Grosse Pointe Club and will be sailed on Lake Erie on July 30, 31 and August 1.

Six member clubs of the Detroit River Yachting Association have entered representatives in the six-race round robin series to vie for the honor of representing the DRYA in the semi-finals which will be sailed off Crescent Sail Y.C. on August 14 and 15.

Clubs already entered are: Grosse Pointe Y.C., Detroit Yacht Club, Edison Boat Club, Grosse Pointe (Little) Club, Grosse Ile Y.C. and the Crescent Sail Y.C.

Each of the six skippers and their crews will change boats after each race. The champion will be decided on total points scored in the series.

In order to protect the owners of the borrowed boats chairman Stedman has requested each skipper to post a $150 check along with his official entry which had to be in Stedman's hands no later than July 20. The reason for the individual bond is to insure the boats for the three days at $150.00 per boat.

The remaining $135.00 will be held to cover the cost of spinners that might be damaged. Spinners are not insurable while racing. If no spinners are damaged the $135.00 will be returned to the skippers. However, if a skipper does blow a spinner his $135.00 will be forfeited to cover the damage.

The winner of this series will automatically qualify as the Detroit River Yachting Association representative to sail against the champions of the Inter Lake Yachting Association, Lake Michigan Yachting Association and the Inland Yachting Association in the four race round robin semi-final series. The winner of this series will then qualify as the representative for Region 6, which covers the Great Lakes, to compete in the eight race round robin finals to be sailed off Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on September 6, 7, 8 and 9.

The winner of the finals will become the 1955 North American Senior Sailing Champion. Eugene Waiet, of Southern Y.C., New Orleans, won the title last year and in 1953. However, there is no guarantee that he will be sailing in the finals this year. The champion does not automatically qualify to defend his title. He must win his own quarter finals and semi-finals just like anyone else.

Pat Clancy, one of the old-time tobacco-chewing Star boat sailors and currently sailing the catboats for Edison Boat Club, will be at the helm for Edison. Pat is strictly a small boat sailor and knows the angle stickers, but prefers his way around bigger boats that fly head canvas. Of course Pat will not be required to set head canvas in the series; his crew will do that. Pat will just be expected to steer fast.

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club has a stellar entry in Carter Sales, who at the last minute switched his colors from Bayview to Grosse Pointe. Carter isn't choosy what size boat he sails and has even taken a crack at owning a power boat. That one was fast too. In the short space of approximately 10 years Carter has sailed Snipes, Luders, Racing-Cruising boats and currently owns a fast Raven sloop which he calls "Sea Sails II" and is co-owner of the red-hot 44-foot yawl "Querida." So far this year "Querida," under Sales' expert hand, has won five of six local races. The lone race he lost was in the Grosse Pointe regatta in July and that was by a mere 13 seconds on corrected time. He also won the Cruising B division in the 1955 Mills Trophy race last June.

It was not too many years ago that he chartered Ledge Mitchell's New York 32 sloop and won Cruising B honors in the Chicago-Mackinac race. So you see this Sales guy is no stranger to yachts of all sizes.

Henry Cawthra, 1953 International Lightning class champion and third-place winner in the 1954 Mallory Cup finals held last year in New Orleans, will represent Crescent Sail Y.C. At the beginning of this season Hank sold his Lightning "Broom" and currently is waiting for his new Lightning to be completed. In the meantime Henry has been keeping his hand in the sport by acting as skipper on borrowed boats. He doesn't have to look very far for a boat, for there are many skippers who would welcome the opportunity to watch this expert technician at work.

At the Grosse Pointe Club, better known around these parts as the Little Club, there is a host of capable skippers, men who could bring top honors to the club. At the entry deadline the Little Club announced Ledge Mitchell would carry their colors into the series. Ledge once owned the New York 32 sloop "Oubrette" and won the Cruising A River Championship one year. For the past couple of years he has been sailing his 26-foot Luder sloop "Alert" in local regattas and in the Lake St. Clair Luder fleet's Sunday series.

As of now he is in second place in the Sunday series behind Cliff Phalen, who recently left for a six-week Navy cruise on a destroyer. Phelan was the logical choice but was forced to forego the chance at the national sailing title because of the cruise. However, Mitchell will be one of the favorites in the forthcoming quarter-finals inasmuch as he is more familiar with the Luder sloop than his competitors.

Pete Pedersen of the Grosse Ile Yacht Club also will be one of the pre-race favorites. He also sails his own Luder and last year won the Inter Lakes Yachting Association championship at Put-in-Bay.

Dick Wozniak is another Luder sailor who must be regarded as a favorite. Dick will represent the Detroit Yacht Club. He will be the youngest competitor in the series but regardless of his tender age—he just voted a couple of years ago for the first time—he has proven he knows how to make a boat go fast. Currently he is the top boy in

This Saturday, July 30, will be the last swimming races for the month. The events begin at 10:45 a.m. and are open to any boys and girls of the City of Grosse Pointe.

Following the races Saturday, awards will be given to the high point winners for the month of July. Starting Saturday, August 6, there will be a series of new races for the month. These events will be held each Saturday, with awards for those achieving the most points for the month.

Swimming Classes
Boys and girls who wish free swimming lessons may enroll for the new classes that will start at the City of Grosse Pointe park next week. There will be instruction for those wishing to learn to swim, a Little League swimmers class, and for those who wish advanced instruction in swimming and diving in the advanced class. Each class will meet twice a week.

Enrollments will be taken at the check room in the park up through the first week of the series, after which no one will be permitted to enroll. These classes have been very popular and well attended during the month of July. New classes in life saving and instruction for adults in learning to swim will be continued, also. For particulars, interested persons are asked to inquire at the park check room or from one of the guards.

Farms to Stage Big Swim Meet
Grosse Pointe Farms youngsters will have a chance to test their swimming speed come Saturday, July 30. That's the date set by Director Ed Lauer for the annual swimming meet at the Farms pier.

Facilities have been greatly improved since last year and should provide the youngsters an excellent chance to break the records set then. In both the boys' and girls' divisions there will be 18 races in the program which will be climaxed by a 25-yard race for both mothers and fathers. There's only one catch to this, one the mother or father must be over 30 years old—and where will you find a gal admitting to 30 years old?

The program has been split into five divisions which were determined by age: First there will be the flyweights, (8 years and under), then the midjets, (10 and under), Juniors, (12 and under), Intermediate, (14 and under), and the Seniors, (15 and over).

Application blanks still may be obtained from the gateman, at the checkroom or at the Administration office on the grounds. The entire affair will be under the direction of Ed Lauer, and the close scrutiny of the capable life guards.

The local Luder class with his "Show Boat" in the chase for the DRYA river championship. Grosse Ile Yacht Club will be the rendezvous spot for the quarter finalists, and a hotter bunch of sailors you will never see assembled again for a series of this type. The champion, regardless of who wins, will be a worthy representative in the semi-finals in August.

LITTLE LEAGUE

PARK
The dog fight for first place continued in the park major leagues last week as the regular season comes to a close this evening at Defer field.

The Orioles with a highly rated team average of .294, held the upper hand going into the final week of action but the game set for this evening, (Thursday), may well be the game that decides the team that will face the Woods winner next Monday in the Pointe world series.

The contest tonight pits the Orioles against the White Sox in the season finale. Some startling pitching by the Orioles righthanders Tom Gutow and John Stanley sent the Orioles to the top of the league after they had been tied with the Sox and Senators.

Stanley hurled the Orioles over the Athletics 3-1 as he set the Athletics down on four scattered hits. Gutow then followed later in the week with a four-hitter, resulting in a 9-1 triumph over their chief rivals, the second place White Sox. The big righthander's bat also paced his victory as he drove the ball twice in two successive innings far over the left field fence to drive in five runs.

In one of the other games of the week the four-place Athletics dropped the Senators out of a tie for first place when they smacked out their first homer of the year for a 3-2 win. And it was a recent minor leaguer that poled out the blast, Dave Schumaker, a recruit from the Great Lakes Collegiate League team.

The final game of the week saw the usually weak hitting White Sox knock out 12 hits good for a 12-4 victory. Every player on the Sox, except for one, got into the slugfest, with Jack Galcalone swatting the longest one, a home run.

Louis Ewald was the winning pitcher, his fifth win against two losses, as he allowed only five hits, but he couldn't silence the bat of hard-hitting Dick Vore who got a single. Vore is leading the league with a .500 batting average.

Major League Standings As of July 24

Team	W	L
Orioles	10	6
White Sox	9	7
Senators	8	8
Athletics	5	11

Great Lakes, proving itself great in the clutch as it had to all year to stay in the first place position, came through again last week, as it battled in three runs in the bottom of the sixth after Fordham had tallied five in its top half of the inning. The final score read, 15-14.

Evansville, fighting all season to overtake Great Lakes, took another game last week but all it amounted to again was a first-place tie. Evansville defeated Harvard this time by a one run margin, 6-5.

Reveal Winners In Net Tourney

The Greater Detroit Novice Sectional tournament was concluded Saturday, July 23, on the courts of the Neighborhood Club, surpassing all other tourneys ever held with 207 entries.

In the Senior Men division Gordon Sacks defeated Jim McIntosh (6-2) (6-2) while Fran Kristufek won the Senior Girls division by downing Marion Detlinger (6-3) (6-4).

In the Junior boys, John Nicholson defeated Tony Fisher (6-3) (6-4). Fisher was the big surprise of the tourney being a relatively new player. He upset all the seeded players to go into the finals.

Diane Putnam was the Junior Girls winner when she outlasted Sue Dhoogie in a three setter (6-3) (0-6) (6-2).

All winners and runners-up will receive their awards when they go to compete in the finals at Palmer Park.

Ronnie Linclau brought prestige to the Neighborhood Club last week when he and Ralph McElvenny of the Country Club went into the doubles finals of the River Forest Tournament in Chicago.

In the singles Linclau reached the quarter finals before being defeated by Dave Harrington from Middletown, Ohio.

Mike Cavanaugh and Bill Hotchkiss, who also represented the club in their respective divisions, were defeated in the early rounds.

Fishing, Casting Contests Planned
Beginning Monday, August 1, and continuing until Friday, August 26, the guards at the City park will sponsor a fishing contest for residents.

Prizes will be given for the largest fish of different kinds caught during this time. Catches must be made from the park fishing area along the pier, not from boats.

All fish caught should be taken to the checkroom for measurement and weighing in order to count in the contest.

Species of fish for the contest will be registered at the check room as they are caught, and will include among others bass, pickerel, sheephead and perch.

There will be a special fish rodeo on Saturday, August 27, for all persons interested and prizes will be given for the most fish caught, the largest fish, etc. These contests will have prizes for both adult and children competition.

Plans are under way to provide an opportunity for children and adults interested in bait casting to indulge in this sport at the City pier. The guards have set aside a special area and are readying water targets for this sport, which will be available this week.

Children may avail themselves of the use of the equipment and area during the mornings and afternoons. Adults may participate any time and will have exclusive use of the area after 8 o'clock evenings.

Some of the local men have indicated they will give free instruction in the art of casting to those interested. For particulars, inquire at the park check room.

YOUNG CYCLIST INJURED
Farms police, when called to the Country Club of Detroit on Wednesday, July 20, took Danny De Vlieg, 13, of 308 Grosse Pointe boulevard to Cottage Hospital. The teenager had fallen from his bicycle, breaking his left arm and suffering bruises and cuts on both arms and legs.

credited with winning the game. The Woods team scored seven runs on seven hits to beat Kalamazoo. Lars Anderson pitched for the Woods.

Kalamazoo muffed its best chance in the sixth, when they loaded the bases but were able to score only one run. The Woods team cut down three runs at the plate—two of them on a fabulous double play.

Kalamazoo catcher Larry Bontrager hit to Tottie at third with the bases loaded and none out. Tottie threw to Kelly for a force-out at the plate. Kelly then threw to Cope to catch Bontrager at first, but the throw pulled Cope off the bag.

Smith was rounding third and heading for home, but Cope whipped the ball back to Kelly to complete the double play.

Lee Bontrager then singled to center, scoring Den Otter. Larry Bontrager tried to score from first when the relay was wild at the plate. But Kelly quickly retrieved the ball and tossed to Lars Anderson, covering at the plate, for the third out.

In the windup of the regular season play, the Tigers split their final pair of games but landed on top with a 7-3 record.

Grosse Pointe Bank's Newest Branch to Open August

The second branch of the Grosse Pointe Bank to be opened within a year will throw open its doors for business on Monday, August 1. Located in St. Clair avenue just south of Kercheval, in the busy "Village" shopping district, it is expected to be a particularly big boon to business there. Roy H. Jackson, who has been connected with the main office of the bank at E. Jefferson and Rivard for the last 15 years, will be the manager of the new branch.

Home Runs — Stanley, Indians 1; Frazier, Indians 1
In the game on July 18, the Indians uncovered a rather flashy little left-handed pitcher by the name of Steve Christian. With the aid of his home run hitting team mates, he brought his team from behind to whip the Red Sox 11 to 10.

CITY Major League
On July 18 the Cards beat the Braves 13 to 5. They started getting hits off Brink in the 5th, including a home run by Nichols. LaFond was the winning pitcher. It was the Cubs 20, Dodgers 15, on July 19. The Cubs had to come from behind to win this. They started Gathman and switched to Howard; Dodgers started Zinn, switched to Chouinard. Howard added another home run to his record.
On July 20 the Dodgers beat the Braves 3 to 1 in a nice pitcher's game with Grow the winner, Haller the loser. Four hits were charged to each, but the Dodger's took advantage of errors in the 3rd inning to make the difference.

There was a shutout on July 21 with the Cubs beating the Cards 8 to 0. Haglund found himself in trouble in the 3rd, when Howard took over to hold the Cards scoreless. Grace pitched for the losers.
With only two games left in the schedule the standings were as follows:

Cubs	W 10	L 7
Cards	9	8
Braves	8	9

The "big game" of this week took place between the Senators and the Giants who were tied for first place. Giant Manager Al Bolden started Mike Yarkin on the mound with Barry Trombly catching. Senator Manager Walt Scotten put in his "Speed-Ball Artist" John Fannon with Bill O'Neill catching.

Fannon's clever change of pace with almost perfect control of his speed ball completely tamed the eager Giants. Fannon not only shut-out the Giants but he permitted only one hit and one man to walk.
The only Giant hit was scored by "Skippy" Bolden who is continuing to maintain his batting average of .600. "Skippy" also pulled a special "unassisted" double play that won't be repeated again this season.
It went like this: Skippy speared a line drive that was hit to him at first base. He was ready to throw to second in order to get a double play because the Senator on second had started to run to third and it looked like an easy double play ball. But Skippy did not see anyone from his team near second base so he started to run to second base himself. In a mighty dash for second Skippy beat the Senator back to second base and scored a double play by himself both on first base and on second base.
The Senator hitting attack was spearheaded by Boyce Byrd and Bob Woleben. Woleben not only knocked in some extra runs but also did some real fancy base running. If Fannon keeps pitching the way he did against the Giants, Manager Scotten will be making plans to pin some bouquets on his league leading team. Final Score: Senators 9, Giants 0.

replaced by Ronald Burns who pitched an excellent game.

Robert Colegrove, Commissioner of the City's Little League for Minors, was the umpire in this game and did an outstanding job in calling some close plays. Acting Captain Cavallo of the Pointers took the first turn at bat and led his team mates by being the first man to score in the first inning to be followed by Mike Carrier, Bob Orr and John Mazer for a four run lead.

The Phillies struck right back and tied up the score in their half of the first inning. The Pointers finally pulled away with a three-run lead in the last inning, only to see the real hitting power of the Phillies swing into action and score four runs to win the ball game.

Final Score: Phillies 14, Pointers 13.

PILFERINGS Recent Quotes

Paul Martin, Canada's Minister of National Health and Welfare:

"One interesting thing I have learned about dieting—it opens up an immediate new field for conversation. I am now convinced that next to the weather, there is no more popular subject for long and lively discussions."

Beatrice O. Fisher, Brooklyn, N.Y.:
"The boy who will be elected President of the United States in the year 2000 is now a teen-ager. I often wonder where he is and what he is doing—and thinking."

Julie Harris, in an interview by Don Ross:
"I like the city if I can have a bit of green and a house around me."

Milwaukee Common Council President Milton J. McGuire:

"A few months ago some lady from Chicago wrote a letter to the Council requesting that a street be named honoring Liberace. The request was turned down. It was decided that if the committee named a street for Liberace, they would have to name a street for other celebrities such as Hildegarde, Pat O'Brien, Spencer Tracy, H. V. Kaltenborn, etc."

Norman Katkov, Little League umpire in Westport, Conn.:

"I'm a little league umpire and I'm scared. Part of my fright comes from the thought of any specific parent's reaction if I should call one against his heir. Part of my trepidation is the constant concern that I forget a rule. In Little League, managers come equipped with total recall. No small part of my worry is the certain knowledge of a certain hungry lady's disposition should the normal (hard) six-inning game go to seven, eight, nine innings or darkness."

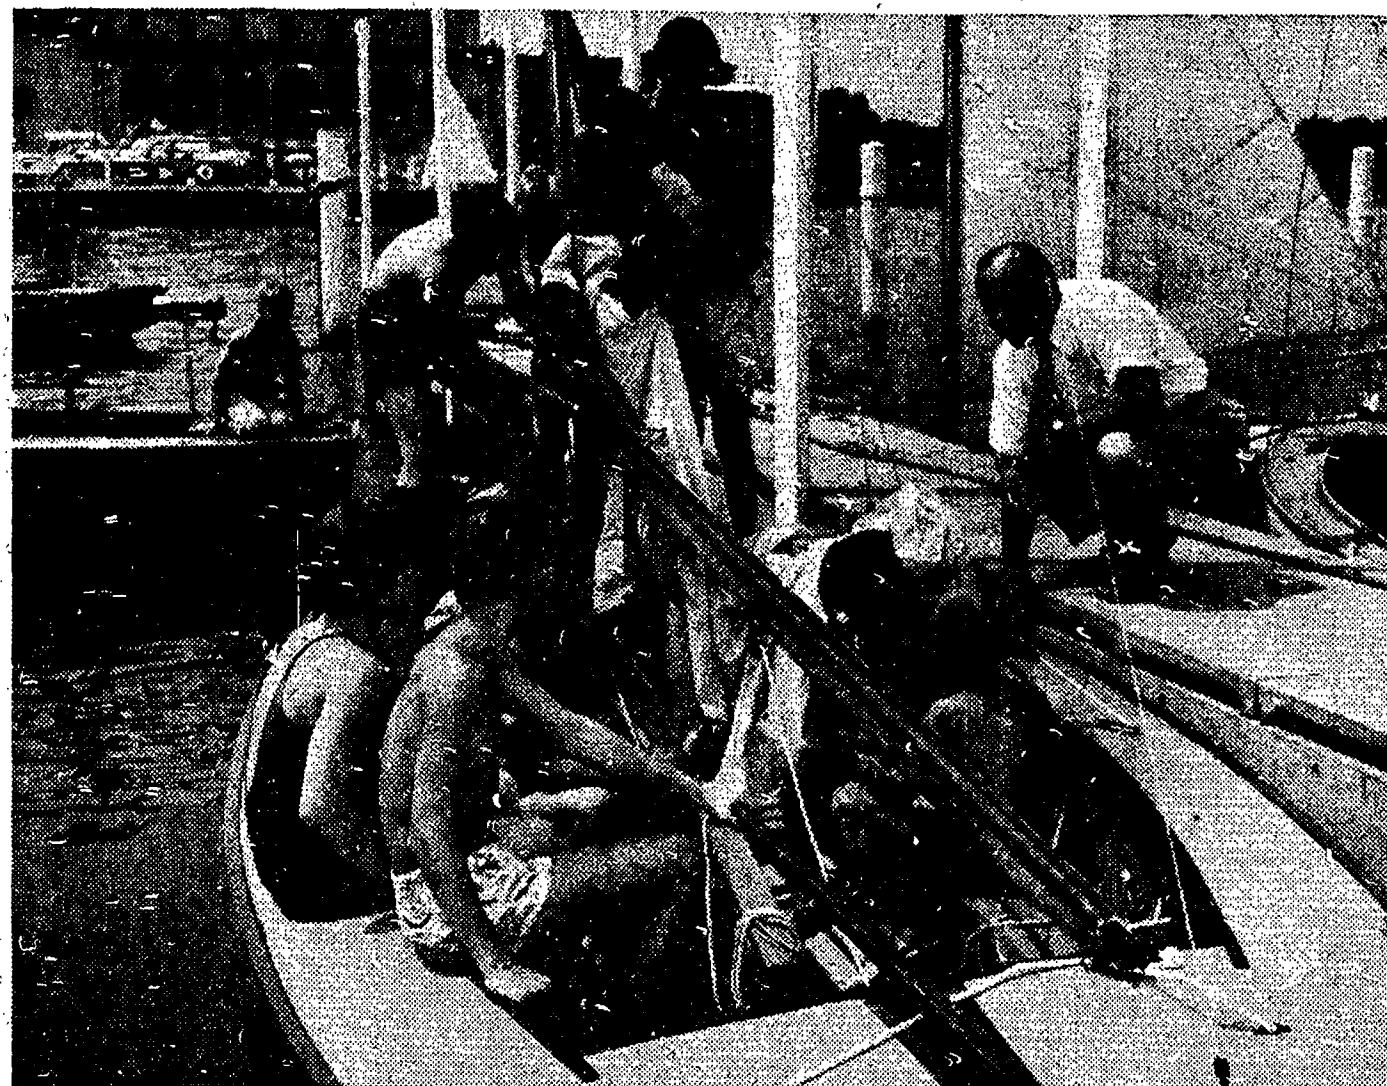

From Arthur O. Whitney's N. Y. Times' feature "Recent Rulings": California railroads may stop listing shipping prices for buffaloes . . . No one can carry "swords, staves, or bludgeons" within half a mile of polling booths in Montreal . . . In San Diego, Calif., firemen may wear long red underwear to bed, but not use electric blankets.

Pointer of Interest

GPCY COMMODORE WILLIAM O'NEILL KRONNER

Ask Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's Commodore William O'Neill Kronner what his greatest interest is and he'll study the question. Ask Mrs. Kronner and she'll promptly say, "His children first and then the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club." And she adds, with a chuckle, that the club probably is an awfully close second.

To Commodore Kronner the GPCY spells boys and girls to a very great extent. His devotion to his own children and grandchildren spreads an alert interest to every lad and lass.

When sports committee chairman Edward Schoenherr, at a recent meeting of GPCY juniors, presented the commodore as "the father of the new Youth Activities and Sailing Program," it seemed as if there must be more to that statement than met the ear.

A few minutes with the commodore and talk invariably turns to youth activities and effort for youth's well-being. The commodore makes clear his firm belief that provision of healthy outdoor activities for boys and girls is the very foundation for sound character building.

Program for Youth
His belief in this theory was clearly shown in the new expanded program introduced at the club this year; a broad program of all sorts of activities under the supervision of experts.

GPCY children from eight to 18 enjoy planned activities—inter-club parties; boys and girls swimming teams, sailing, basketball, volley ball, soft ball, badminton, shuffleboard. The program continues through August.

"For years around the club we've heard there weren't enough activities for juniors," the commodore continued, "that matter now has been taken in hand." He named William A. Ternes and Robert F. Weber to the project and they worked it out; they continue to supervise it and help with plans.

Activities Stressed
Give children a wholesome environment is the commodore's creed. His belief goes back at least to 1922 when the Isaac Walton League was battling to preserve St. Clair Flats for the people of the State. Attorney Kronner represented the league before the Legislature (and won the battle, too).

"They were conservationists who wanted to be sure the natural resources of woods and waters would be saved for all the boys of the future," he explained. "Their repeated argument was that the boy who has plenty of good activities in the open never appears before a criminal judge."

As you see, our Pointer is generally interested in youth. But that isn't all. He literally lives and breathes Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

In the recent riparian rights controversy between the state and those who developed property along Lake St. Clair, Commodore Kronner worked unstintingly to safeguard the club's property interests.

A bill eventually went through the Legislature but as a past commodore gratefully remarked, "It's providential we had a lawyer as commodore this year."

Mr. Lake Level
Matters involving lake waters have come into this attorney's work so often, a while back he was nicknamed, "Mr. Lake Level." At the time he was handling a case having to do with the cyclical high and low levels of the Great Lakes waters.

In his research, he made an interesting discovery (although in itself it wasn't pertinent to the case) that the lakes were at high level in the same years that general business was good, and their levels were low in those years when business was down. Out of this story came the nickname.

There's fun as well as work in his busy life (though how he squeezes so many things into a day—starting with early attendance at church—is a mystery.) A favorite pastime for both Kronners is bowling. He joined the club in 1944, and served as chairman in 1949 and served three years, spearheaded improvements in the alleys.

Elected a director for three years in 1950, he was re-elected for three years in 1953, elected secretary in '51, '52, and '53; vice-commodore and chairman of the House Committee in 1954 and a yacht club's highest honor, commodore in 1955.

A graduate of the University of Michigan in 1915, Mr. Kronner whose home town was Port Huron, decided to open his law office in Detroit.

Family Man
"Because I was courting Sophie she was teaching at Highland Park High School and Port Huron was too far away to get back and forth often," is the way he tells it.

Neighborhood Club News

This being the last of five fun-filled weeks at the Neighborhood Club day camp, many special events have been planned for Friday, July 29.

In the morning, the sports program will be the center of interest. The championship softball game will be played off between the two leading giant teams.

Following this the camp faculty, made up of senior and junior counselors, will play a two-inning softball exhibition game against the day camp all-stars. The three outstanding players from each of the four groups will meet the faculty in this exciting contest. Then all four groups will return to the gym for presentation of the awards.

Sportsmanship awards will be given to the most outstanding athletes among the giant and midget boys and girls. Awards will also be given for the best all-around day campers and emblems to those who have had a perfect attendance record during the camp season.

In the afternoon, four ponies will be at the camp to provide pony rides for all the campers. This will be followed by refreshments, and as the campers leave on the last day, they will take with them many happy memories of the five wonderful weeks spent at the Neighborhood Club day camp.

Commutes 168 Miles to Work

The giant Ford Motor Company Rouge plant in Dearborn, Mich., is the hub of a vast commuters' network.

The 37,000 men and women who work at the Rouge live in 167 different Michigan communities—some of them as far away as Iron Mountain, Calumet and Alpena.

Those living in the Upper Peninsula and in the far reaches of Lower Michigan don't commute regularly, of course. But the thousands of Ford employees who do travel daily between their homes and the Rouge live in 156 communities throughout southeastern Michigan.

Some of them travel out-sized distances to reach their jobs. Probably the champ among the long-distance commuters is Carl Johnson, a pipefitter who travels 168 miles daily from his home in Jonesville, Mich., and back again. Jonesville is 84 miles southwest of Dearborn in Hillsdale County.

What's more, Johnson's transportation arrangement is unusual. He drives his new Thunderbird one day, his 1955 Lincoln the next.

Another long-distance driver commutes daily between Jackson and Detroit, a one-way distance of 72 miles. Four make the round trip every day from Flint, which is 59 miles distant; two make the circuit daily from Port Huron, 57 miles away; one drives round-trip every day from Lapeer, 55 miles distant, and still another commutes daily between the Rouge and Imlay City, 50 miles away.

Of the total number of Rouge employees, 37,970 live in Detroit and another 9,718 in Dearborn. An additional 8,400 live within a radius of about 30 miles.

Other communities, and the number of workers they provide for the Rouge plant, include:

- Allen Park, 1,254; Ann Arbor, 94; Belleville, 268; Berkley, 132; Birmingham, 209; Farmington, 157; Flat Rock, 102; Garden City, 713; Hazel Park, 188; Inkster, 1,646; Melvindale, 620; Mt. Clemens, 75; Plymouth, 137; Romulus, 354; Royal Oak, 356; Wayne, 684; Wyandotte, 1,222; Ypsilanti, 191; Brighton, 23; Carleton, 59; Clawson, 44; East Detroit, 86; Grosse Ile, 53; Livonia, 514; Milan, 34; Milford, 50; Monroe, 48; Oak Park, 102; Pontiac, 369; St. Clair Shores, 60; and Trenton, 112.

Canada also contributes to the Rouge work force. Nineteen Windsor residents work at the Dearborn plant, along with two each from Riverside and Belle River, Ont., and one each from the Ontario villages of Ruthven, Yawkey and River Conard.
