Women of Pointe Churches To Hold World Prayer Day

Annual Observance to Be Held on February 13 in Grosse Pointe Methodist, with Members of Eight Protestant Congregations Participating

The World Day of Prayer Service will be held this year at the Grosse Pointe Methodist Church, 211 Moross Road, on Friday, February 13 at 1:30 p.m. The women of eight Protestant churches in the Grosse Pointe area will participate in the 1959 service written by Christian women of Egypt. The Theme, chosen from 9:38, "Lord I Believe" is a call to a deeper experience of Christianity in the lives of everyone.

Each year the service is prepared in a different country. Like the Australian women who planned the 1958 service, incorporating prayers handed down by the first Christians among the aborigines, Egyptian women this year drew on their own mature faith in fashioning petitions and an order of worship to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer. This is the basic purpose of World Day of Prayer, when offerings for missions at home and abroad will also be made.

Began in Islands
The World Day of Prayer chain begins on the Tonga Islands, with Queen Salote leading her subjects as dawn breaks over these tropic isles, and continues throughout the day in 154 countries on six continents until the sun sinks behind the Arctic horizon on ice-locked St. Lawrence Island in the Aleutians, the last supplications of the 24-hour unbroken cycle are murmured. Prayers will be voiced in more than 60 languages and 1,000 dialects.

Improvements Amounting To $298,000 Made Since Incorporation; Taxes Hiked

The Woods' lakefront park, located just over the boundary line in St. Clair Shores, has increased more than eight times in value over the original purchase price, according to a report presented to the Woods council on Monday, February 2, by City Comptroller Gerald J. Lonergan.

The 1959 assessed valuation of the property has also gone up, adding about $3,000 more to the assessed valuation for taxes to fill the coffers of St. Clair Shores, Mr. Lonergan stated.

The city comptroller said that last year the assessment was slightly more than $122,000, whereas for 1959 it is $125,989.

Land Cost $60,000

"A review of records of municipal improvements, subsequent to the incorporation of Grosse Pointe Woods as a city," Lonergan stated, "indicate that $298,000 in improvements have been installed at the lakefront park to date. The original land cost in 1948 was $60,000. No record of actual costs of improvements made prior to incorporation is available."

The present assessing practice of St. Clair Shores, Lonergan pointed out in the report, has established assessments at a level of 25 percent of actual values. Based on this formula, the actual value of the lakefront park facilities (land, buildings, etc.) has been estimated by the local assessor to be $603,900.

The city comptroller stated that upon receipt of notification of the increase in assessed valuation of the park by the St. Clair Shores assessor, he contacted the Assessor's Office for further information.

Assessment Explained

The following data was obtained from that office on Wednesday, January 28, as pertaining to the 1959 assessment:

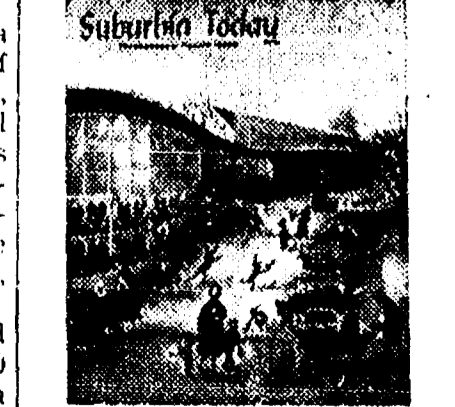

Pools, including filters, etc., 70,695 square feet, at 50 cents a square foot—$35,347; bathhouses, 4,750 square feet, at $1.87 a square foot—$8,892; fireplace at bathhouse (lump sum)—$150; covered terrace at the bathhouse, 583 square feet, at 60 cents a square foot—$349; and rest rooms, 364 square feet, at $1.97 a square foot—$717, making the total assessment of buildings and equipment, $44,512.

Contains 46 Acres

The total land area of the park, Lonergan said, is 46.212 acres, including about two acres of submerged land recently purchased from the State. Of this total number of acres, 10 acres were deducted for the Milk River, leaving a net assessable land area of 36.212 acres, at a rate of $2,250 an acre, for an assessment of $81,477, making the total computed assessment, $125,989.

Lonergan stated the reason for some of the increase in the assessed valuation is because of the submerged land, now officially owned by the Woods.

Representatives from the five Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods municipal governments and a large number of Grosse Pointe organizations, as well as residents interested in Civil Defense, attended the Public Rally on Wednesday, January 29, at the War Memorial Center, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Citizens Committee for Civil Defense, and 51 other groups which had given written authorization of their co-sponsorship.

The principal speakers, Ralph M. Sheehan, Civil Defense Director for the State of Michigan, and Major General Dougherty, Director for Wayne County and the City of Detroit, were introduced by Mark Beltaire, as was Peter McGillivrey, who acted as moderator of the question and answer panel.

Woods Okays Fire Aid Pact

The Woods council on Monday, February 2, became the last Pointe to approve the Mutual Fire Aid Pact, which is set up to benefit both the Pointes and Harper Woods.

The Harper Woods council, which also held a meeting Monday night, tabled the matter until next Monday, February 9, when its officials will hold a joint meeting with those of the Woods.

A source disclosed that the Harper Woods council expected a report from its fire chief, Russell Teets, at Monday's meeting, but the chief did not have it ready, which resulted in the postponement of any action on the pact.

The councils of the Park, City, Farms and Shores approved the pact at recent meetings, and authorized their mayors and city clerks to affix their signatures.

Woods Police Nab Teenage Car Thieves

Arrests Follow Foot Chase In Which Five Warning Shots Were Fired

Two young car thieves, both boys and both from Detroit, were arrested by Woods police on Wednesday, January 28, following a foot chase in which five warning shots were fired before the youths stopped.

The thieves, a 16-year-old and a 15-year-old, were turned over to Detroit authorities for stealing a car belonging to Carl Spitalo of 12092 Wayburn, Detroit. The car was recovered and returned to the owner.

Trapped By Turn

Patrolmen Jack Eberst and Jackson Patterson, according to a police report, were on routine scout car patrol on Mack avenue, when they observed a car coming out of the Woods Theater parking lot, and making an improper left turn onto Bournmouth. The 15-year-old was at the wheel. The policemen pulled alongside the car and motioned the youths to the curb, but their signals were ignored. Finally, the two boys were stopped in front of 1658 Bournmouth.

As Patrolmen Eberst and Patterson approached the car, the youths jumped out and ran between two houses, north towards Newcastle road, with the officers in pursuit shouting to them to stop.

Fires Warning Shot

When the youths ignored the commands to halt, Patrolman Eberst fired a warning shot into the air. The boys put on a burst of speed, climbed over a fence, and continued on the run, the two policemen still behind them. Eberst fired another shot into the air.

As Patrolmen Eberst and Patterson climbed the fence, Eberst tore one of his galoshes, and slipped and fell on the ice, but was not injured.

Still in hot pursuit, Eberst fired three more shots into the air, which finally brought the boys to a stop.

The juveniles were taken to the Woods police station, where they were questioned and held for Detroit police, after they confessed to taking the car.

INJURED IN FALL

Mrs. Dean Piasecki of 14959 Madelein, Detroit, while working in an office at 20225 Mack avenue, fell and broke her arm, and also suffered other injuries, according to a Woods police report, recorded on Tuesday, January 27. The woman was transported to St. John Hospital by police ambulance.

TIRE STOLEN

Paul Baennert of 1138 Nottingham told Park police on Tuesday, January 27, that while his car was parked in front of his house during the night, someone broke into the trunk and stole a spare tire.

Curious Callers Jam Fire, Police Telephone Lines

The Pointe Police and Fire Departments, in joint statements, urge Pointe residents to refrain making calls to their departments, following incidents such as that which happened on Tuesday, January 27.

At about 2:15 p.m. on that date, a jet plane from Selfridge Field crashed the sound barrier, causing a loud explosion, which shook homes and rattled windows throughout the area.

The departments' personnel said that their telephones were jammed with calls for more than an hour, from people seeking to find out the cause of the noise.

The City alone recorded at least 50 calls; and a Farms police sergeant, on desk duty, said that one woman called his station, and when he could not give her an answer, she hung up and then called the Fire Department. Many others called his department, too, the sergeant said.

The chiefs of the various departments stated that it is not that they are against the calls, but that the people, when jamming the phones, prevent emergency calls from coming through.

They said that it was fortunate, at the time, there were no fires, or any crimes committed, or other emergency matters that came up, which would require fire department or police department action.

figures. The number of tons of salt bought last winter was not given, but the amount spent was $3,946.29.

Woods—The cost of salt exceeds that of last year by a ratio of 3 to 1. From November to January 31, 915 tons of salt were bought, at $8.80 a ton, for a total of $8,111; whereas, last winter, it was 246 tons, at $8.80 a ton, for a total of $2,195.

Labor More Costly

A direct labor expense was not available, but the ratio of cost was set at about 3.7 to 1, due to the large amount of overtime, including double time for nights, holidays and week-ends.

Shores—Total cost to January 31 was figured at $1,112, including $953 for the cost of overtime pay and for salt. Last winter, the Village expended $1,779.

To date, the Shores purchased only 100 tons of salt, at a cost of $7.80 a ton; whereas, all of last winter, the same number of tons were used, at a cost of $8.80 a ton.

City—Expenditures to January 31 amounted to $4,350.86. Of this amount, $2,435.70 was for salt; $1,809.40 for labor, regular and overtime; and $105.76 other expenses.

The City had set aside about $3,000 for its snow removal program, and when this fund was depleted, other sources had to be tapped to meet costs. Last winter, the total spent was about $2,200.

Woods Presbyterian Church Discloses Expansion Plans

Plans to expand the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, at 19950 Mack Avenue, were approved by members attending the annual meeting last Friday, January 30.

The board of trustees were authorized to engage a fundraising organization for the purpose of conducting a building fund campaign as soon as deemed advisable. When funds are available, the trustees are authorized to proceed with the extension of the sanctuary at a cost up to $150,000.

The extension would move the front of the church approximately 40 feet toward Mack avenue. In addition to providing more seating capacity and a larger narthex, the redesigned exterior frontal area would change the appearance of the church, providing more symmetry and beauty.

The Rev. Andrew F. Rauth, minister of the church, explained to the congregation that the extension was necessary to accommodate the many new members who have joined the church in recent years and to provide room for future growth.

Mr. Rauth said the expansion program would be a fitting and significant highlight of the church's 20th anniversary which will be observed October 2, 1959.

Prior to approving the expansion plans, the members elected new officers, each of whom will serve for three years. The newly elected Elders are: Marshall F. Moser, Paul M. Nash, Earl H. Nelson, Gerald C. Schroeder and D. Dwight Struthers.

Named as Deacons are: Richard F. Fernstrum, Donald G. Neill, Earl L. Reavie, Karl H. Schlottig, Frederick C. Tew, and Jacob S. Ulmer.

Elected Trustees are: James G. Gilmour, Elvin L. Long and Bruce A. Stewart.

Two Burglaries Occur in City

Two instances of breaking and entering occurred in the City of Grosse Pointe last week. The first report came at 9:27 p.m. on Friday, January 30, when Officer Doug Allor reported he found the glass broken in the rear of Ann Louise Beauty Salon at 409 Fisher road, in a routine check-up.

Entry had been made into the building by jumping the inside door open. Mrs. Louise Armstrong, proprietress of the business concern, told police that an inventory revealed a pair of earrings and $50 was missing. The money was in a desk drawer, five rolls of quarters and $30 in miscellaneous cash.

At 2:25 on the morning Monday, February 2, the manager of the Standard Oil station at the corner of Mack and Rivard, Mr. Rowlette, phoned police that his place had been forcibly entered.

Rowlette said he had been working late on his books and had taken a "breakfast break" between 1:30 and 2:30 that morning. When he returned he found the glass broken over the lock of the front overhead door. He reported a loss of between $60 and $70, and an electric razor.

Investigations are pending in both cases.

Now that the Derby hat is here again the question arises, did the women set the derby hat trend originally? Shown above is an 1873 millinery advertisement from the unique collection of old prints gracing the walls of the famed Little Harry's restaurant, 2681 East Jefferson, which shows how nearly "derby" the Mesdames hats were. Below is shown a twosome of hats for the smart woman dresser, photographed through the courtesy of Jacobson's. The Derby (bowler to the English gentleman) is shown at the right. "It's in style," says Tom Flattery of Higgins and Frank who is one of Detroit's best known hat-makers. "But what came first, the ladies' or the gentlemen's derby has been lost in the flutter of years", Flattery added.

Her modern Derby differs little.

His '59 Derby is of usual lines.

Barr Elected UCS President

Andrew W. Barr, a resident of Grosse Pointe Farms at 125 Merriwerther road, was elected president of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit, it was announced by the organization's Board of Directors. Mr. Barr is Resident Senior Partner of Price-Waterhouse and Co.

Several other prominent Grosse Pointers were among those elected to UCS offices. Two who were newly elected to vice-presidential posts are R. T. Johnstone, 107 Meadowlane, and Paul R. Trigg, Jr., 77 Moross road.

Re-elected as vice-presidents were Mrs. Edwin O. Bodkin, 64 Muskoka road, and J. Arthur Mullen, 300 Washington road.

Another Grosse Pointe resident, William J. Thomas of 262 Stephens road, was re-elected as the organization's treasurer. Richard F. Huegli, UCS Managing Director, was appointed assistant secretary.

The new UCS president is a native Detroit and a graduate of Princeton University. Mr. Barr's varied community activities include being chairman of the Finance Committee of Harper Hospital, former president and currently a member of the Board of Trustees of Leader Dogs for the Blind, and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Merrill-Palmer School. Until recently, he was also a member of the Board of Trustees of Grosse Pointe University School.

In his new responsibility as President of the board of directors of United Community Services, Mr. Barr will lead the organization which annually budgets and allocates Torch Drive dollars to 123 health and welfare services in the metropolitan area and conducts community-wide social planning.

Mr. Barr is married and the father of three daughters and one son.

The older a person is, the slower he reads—a contract.

300 Students Participating In 11th Tuxis Club Show

Approximately 300 high school young people of the Grosse Pointe Community will participate in this year's Tuxis Club variety show, "Singin' n' Swingin'", which will be presented in the Parcels Junior High School auditorium, Mack and Eight Mile road, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 19, 20, and 21.

This year's show is the 11th consecutive annual production sponsored by the Tuxis Club of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. The three performances will begin at 8:15 p.m. and, as in past years, are expected to play to capacity audiences every evening.

The Tuxis Club is an organization for young people of high school age; its membership is open to individuals of all faiths. The group meets every Sunday evening at the church, 16 Lake Shore Drive, at 7:30, for a brief worship service and educational and entertaining programs of various kinds.

The Tuxis variety show is the outstanding event of the year. Its purpose is to give as many people as possible an opportunity to participate in a dramatic production. Proceeds from the show go into the Tuxis Club Benevolence Fund. The fund is used to make contributions to various charitable organizations.

The Tuxis show is under the direction of Mrs. Peggy Pulliam Denny. She is being assisted by Mrs. John H. Marshall and Mrs. Robert E. McLean. Mrs. McLean, who is doing the choreography, and Mrs. Denny are working with the Tuxis show for the first time this year. Mrs. Marshall has participated in the direction of the show for several years. Mrs. H. J. Siekmann is director of art work and has designed the scenery for several of the acts.

The mixed chorus is under the direction of Kris Dorjath, who is also a newcomer to the show's production staff. He is in his third year at Wayne State University, where he is studying music. He is director of the Grosse Pointe Junior League Chorus.

Opening this year's show will be a number featuring songs from "Guys and Dolls." As the mission girl, Karen Bryant will sing "I'll Know When My Love Comes Along" and Sheila Simon will sing "Take Back Your Mink!" The Crew Necks, who appeared in last year's show, will join in the "Guys and Dolls" number. They will sing "I've Got a Horse Right Here." The Crew Necks are composed of John Cook, Chuck Frew, Ernie Dossin, and Neal Delfs, accompanist.

Other features of the show are a solo by Dorothy Long, "If I Loved You," and a duet by Jan George and Bill Gleason, "I'll See You Again." The Choraleers, a group of 13 boys and girls, will sing two Negro spirituals, "Gonna Journey Away" and "Chillun Come on Home." They will also participate in the show's finale; appearing in formal dress they will sing "People Will Say We're in Love."

The show will include several comedy skits and a number of dance routines. Among the latter are "In the Mood," "Holiday Hoo," "Blues and You Gotta Have Heart," Dan Murphy and his popular band will appear again this year.

Tickets for the show may be obtained from any member of the Tuxis Club or by calling the church office, TU 5-3773. Student ticket chairmen are Dolly Beam and John Cook. Ticket prices are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students. Adults are encouraged to attend the Thursday and Friday night performances.

A certain amount of economy is all right, but a few people get too extravagant with the use of it.

The fellow who admits he is wrong has a good chance to learn to be more often right.

Michigan Alumni Plan Intern

Dr. James H. Teetzel, president of the University of Michigan Alumni Club of Grosse Pointe Township announces that interviews concerning second-semester aid for qualified students at the University from the Grosse Pointes, are now taking place.

Offers Boating Course

Wednesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, the Grosse Pointe War Veterans Post is offering a boating course for 10 weeks, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary's course is again offering a practical course in boating.

In addition to the texts as announced, Memorial activities will also be collected materials (charts, etc.) which formerly based as the course.

Consists of eight lessons, a review, and final examination which when successfully completed earns one a Seamanship Certificate from the United States Coast Guard.

Commanding officer Chuck Austerberry will introduce the course which will be supervised by his brother, Jerry Austerberry, training officer of the Flotilla. The course is limited to 100 enrollees.

Starting with a lesson in nautical terms and nomenclature, identification and knowledge of sailing craft will be taught by the flotilla's past C. O. Bill Noah, a well known yachtsman, veteran of many a Mackinac race and numerous ocean races to Bermuda and Havana.

Rules of the Road, the do's and don'ts of water traffic, will be taught by past Division Captain Al Gross, one of the founders of these public instruction courses which were started in the Detroit area six years ago.

Past Training officer of the Flotilla, Wendell Phillips, an active marine supplier, will instruct in boat handling. Former Navy Officer Paul LaFontaine will teach the intricacies of lines and seamen's knots. Fire prevention and fire fighting will be dramatically covered by Lt. Bob King of the Detroit Fire Dept. who has built his own 42-foot vessel which he and his wife use as their year-round home.

Dave Viger, who perhaps more than any one else in the Flotilla has had practical experience in extended cruises, will cover weather and many phases of seamanship such as maneuvering, mooring and dockage. Navigation—the reading of charts and compass and the plotting of courses to avoid hazards—will be taught by experienced navigator Bob Pott-berry.

Chief Swallow, colorful full-blooded Indian who serves as the Flotilla's Operations officer, will instruct in navigation aids—lights, markers buoys—and reveal what they mean.

Advance enrollment is advised as this course last year had to turn away many people. It is important as a safety must for every boat owner or prospective owner. Call in to TU 1-7511 and enroll now.

Best Wishes to a Gent

A most familiar figure has been missing from the local scene this past week. Mr. Grosse Pointe himself, Norbert Neff, manager of the City of Grosse Pointe, isn't feeling so hot and they have him bedded down in Bon Secours Hospital.

Norb is the kind of gentleman who is too much taken for granted. He gets around so much and does so many things for so many people that not much thought is given to his host of helpful activities, until suddenly he isn't there. Then there is a great big void.

The city manager doesn't confine his meanderings to his own municipality. He is the type who considers the whole Pointe just one big community and he wants to know what is going on in every section of it. He usually finds a way to lend help, with advice or material or physical assistance, wherever he goes.

So many of us have encountered trouble or faced problems which we have taken to Norb. Usually we are asking him to steer us to the right source for a solution. But we aren't in the least surprised when the call is answered with dispatch by a personal appearance of Mr. Neff. Things we expect will take days to get done, somehow are finished within hours and the annoyance has vanished under the expert handling of this super-efficient character.

Norb has been a victim of high blood pressure and hyper-tension for a long time. He doesn't talk about it much and it never seems to slow him down.

The doctor wants him to rest a little while. A hospital room can often be a lonely place, especially when one isn't feeling up to snuff. It just occurs to us that it would be mighty nice if just a few of those whom Norb has helped would drop him a card and tell him how grand it will be to see his smiling countenance around just as soon as possible.

A. PRYOR

"Build for yourself a strongbox, Fashion each part with care; When it's strong as your hand can make it, Put all your troubles in there; Hide there all thoughts of your failures, And each bitter cup that you quaff; Lock all your heartaches within it, 'Tben sit on the lid and laugh."

Children, Anyone?

A letter from the East containing the horrendous account of the activities of a pair of five-year-old twin boys. Our friend writes (in part) as follows:

"The twins and their family just moved across the street from us recently. They gave Bobby a bloody nose the first day they moved in! Believe it or not, here is a partial list of their episodes: 1. They broke into Sellers' greenhouse and rearranged all the potted plants. Next day they went back and used the paint can for a bathroom! 2. The following day they got some matches and candles and started a fire in the greenhouse. (This time their mother was told off . . . but quick!) 3. Next day, I heard the fire sirens in the neighborhood. Went to the window and saw black smoke pouring from the garage of the twins' house. Apparently the car was burned to pieces. We all went out to look as one fireman was almost overcome with smoke and when they dragged the car out of the garage by way of a rope tied to the police car . . . the police car had its clutch burned out and had to be towed away!"

"The following day they broke all the windows in the garage of the third house down the street that is in the process of being built. They also stole shovels and lanterns from the workmen. 4. They stole a can of blue paint from Harm's garage and painted the new steps Joe had just put in. They also painted the foundation of the house and a statue in the back yard. Then they stole two gallons of gasoline and dumped it on the back terrace.

"Next they stole a gallon of green paint and spread around about two quarts of it. The owner had to go to their house to retrieve what was left . . . so they got hold of some nails and after strewing them about . . . they stuck some through the screen door of the paint owner's house! 5. They also dug up some trees their father had planted the day before. Another day they dumped one of the neighbor's children out of his little fire truck, then kicked the truck and turned it upside down in a big puddle of water.

"The last episode has to do with their running around the neighborhood carrying knives and terrifying the kids. One of the fathers went to the house and told the parents off . . . adding: 'We don't carry knives in this neighborhood.' The twins' pop shrugged it off with 'Well, kids are kids, I always say.' Believe me, we keep everything locked up around here . . . but thank goodness, it won't be long before we move."

(As we've said . . . children, anyone???)

Confidential

A local woman we know slightly . . . who has so much money it pains us to think about it . . . received a letter recently, which she kindly turned over to us to have fun with. It is a long one, so we will just give a few highlights. It starts out: "Please keep this letter confidential." Then . . . "Dear Friend, This letter binds you to nothing. But it does bind me. It binds me to appoint you to fill an opening for which you were recently recommended. An opening worth many extra dollars a year to you.

"It binds me to do everything I can to see that you get this money. AND to buy you a brand new car (or $3,000.00 cash) according to our extra bonus plan.

"Simply mail the enclosed card, it still does not bind you to anything. Out of the millions of people in the United States, there are only a few to whom this unusual offer for advancement is presented. WHATEVER YOU DO, DON'T FAIL TO GET FULL DETAILS IMMEDIATELY!"

Short Shorts

"Our medicine cabinet is full of 'wonder drugs' . . . but all we do is wonder what they're for."

"A hospital is a place where if they find you asleep, they wake you up to give you a sleeping pill."

"Candidate for best TV quip of the year: Racket boss to hired gunman, 'We will give you ten thousand dollars for this job . . . TAX FREE.'"

Do It Yourself Dept.

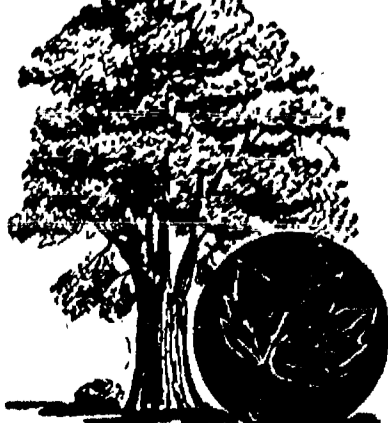

A lady of our acquaintance tells us she attended a dinner party recently in a G.P. home and happened to be standing with the hostess and another couple, when the maid-hired-for-the-evening sidled up to Madame and said (in an overheard-by-all whisper) 'Cook doesn't know what to do about the stove. The roast is almost finished but the stove went off.' Was the hostess ruffled? Not at all, at all. She merely said, 'Tell her to give it a good kick . . . that's what WE always do. Works like a charm!'"

What Goes On at Your Library

By Jean Taylor

"What do you feed a lady bug?" "What makes a star twinkle?" "What makes dark?" "What makes light?" These are typical of questions asked each day in the children's room of the library.

A child is naturally curious, and as soon as he is able to observe the world around him, he begins to ask questions. This sense of wonder is something to be nurtured, so that this interest in the earth and sky and sea will continue to grow.

Fortunately, authors and publishers are now coming to the aid of parents who are bombarded from sun-up to sun-down by small interrogators. No longer are books of science for graybeards only. Much excellent material is available for the youngest reader.

Margaret Williamson Peterson, an author and illustrator, who has the knack of making scientific facts exciting and interesting for the eight to ten-year-old, will speak at a meeting of the Friends of the Library, February 10, in the meeting room of the Central Library. Everyone in the community is invited.

Mrs. Peterson's earliest book, "The First Book of Bugs," was published about ten years ago, and is still in constant demand. The world of small things has a fascination for young children, and both youngsters and their parents will watch these tiny creatures with new eyes after reading it.

Her next book, "The First Book of Birds," is accurately and entertainingly written. The illustrations are colorful and graphic, and the book might well make of the reader a life-time bird watcher.

Mrs. Peterson's last book, "The First Book of Mammals," is a well-illustrated and excellent introduction to the mammal world. The information is well organized and simply told.

Among the many books of natural science on the library shelves, "Worlds of Nature," based on the Walt Disney motion picture series of True-Life Adventure, is enthusiastically read by boys and girls in the upper elementary and junior high schools. Both this book and the earlier one, "Vanishing Prairie," have fascinating colorful pictures to illustrate the text.

"The Golden Treasury of Natural History" by Bertha M. Parker is also illustrated in full color and gives concise and authoritative information on the prehistoric period on the earth through the beginning of life, as well as material on plant and animal life and the solar system.

The noted naturalist, Donald C. Peattie, has written an interesting and beautifully illustrated introduction to the natural world, "The Rainbow Book of Nature."

The natural phenomena of the sea and the life within it is nicely handled by James Fisher in "The Wonderful World of the Sea." To interpret the text this has many paintings, maps and diagrams in color.

On order for the juvenile collection is a special edition for young readers of Rachel Carson's classic "The Sea Around Us." Such adaptations are not always successful, but Anne Terry White has done an excellent job, condensing, omitting unnecessary details, giving a little more explanation here and there, and in all, making a book which readers will find interesting. Millicent Selsam has a number of nature books which children from grade up have loved. "With Seeds," "Exploring Animal Kingdom," "Leaves and Flowers," "Through the Jungle." If you have a book-aholic in your home there are any number of nature books of natural history which will be of interest and entertainment.

Library Offers Family Month

The Grosse Pointe Library's Family Month for February is scheduled for Friday evening, Feb. 6 at 7:30 o'clock. The program will be presented in the reading room at the Central Library at Kercheval and Fisher.

Featured on the program will be three color filmstrips: "MACKINAC BRIDGE," "PALLE ALONE IN THE WORLD," and "WYCK."

"MACKINAC BRIDGE" — A twenty film which not only shows a suspension bridge built, but highlights the historical events which preceded the Mackinac Project.

"PALLE ALONE IN THE WORLD" — The adventures of a small boy who dream he is all alone in Cooper's Creek. He drives a fire engine, a street car, buys candy, and finally flies plane to the moon.

"KLEE WYCK" — (in color). The story of Carr-Klee Wyck (one) to her Indian husband who found exciting matter in British Columbia. The information is well organized and simply told.

Dr. Cross Heads Staff at Cottage

Dr. Harold E. Cross has been elected president of the Medical Staff at Cottage Hospital according to a hospital announcement.

Dr. F. O. Lepley was elected vice-president, Dr. A. A. Farberman and Dr. W. V. Taylor were elected to the respective posts of secretary and treasurer.

In his report to the trustees at the annual meeting January 28, Dr. Cross listed the following accomplishments at Cottage Hospital during 1958:

'From my viewpoint on the improvements that have transpired in the past year at Cottage Hospital, we have seen: (1) the opening and the efficient operation of a new laboratory, (2) an emergency room which is gradually taking on the aspects of a well-organized service available to all, (3) this year has seen the opening of a third operating room for minor procedures. This in turn has provided us with two rooms available for major surgery at all times, (4) the installation of an efficient doctor's check-in service, (5) the addition of a modern operating table for which we are deeply indebted to the Women's Auxiliary, (6) around the clock coverage in anesthesia for both surgery and obstetrics.'

Boo-Boo Arouses Residents

Red-faced officials of the State Highway Department ordered speed limit signs taken down along Vernier road, from Mack avenue to Lake Shore road, and instructed that the original signs be reposted.

On Friday afternoon, January 30, residents along Vernier were dismayed to find workmen posting new signs which indicated that the speed limit along the road has been raised from 35 to 40 miles an hour.

The Woods and Shores police stations were bombarded with calls by protesting citizens.

On Monday, February 2, Woods Director of Public Safety Vern C. Bailey called the Detroit office of the State Highway Department to find out why the increase in the speed limit, especially without official notification. He was told that the signs had been posted in error.

'When I talked to the officials of the highway department,' Director Bailey said, 'I was informed that the personnel of the Wayne County Highway Department had become over enthusiastic, and put up the signs by mistake. The County is authorized to do this work for the State, and was only supposed to install 40-mile speed signs from Harper avenue to Mack, but the workers must have been engrossed in their work and put them up all along Vernier to Lake Shore.'

The director reported the installation error to the Woods council Monday evening, and

Skeleton Council Meets in Farms

The absence of Mayor William Connolly, Jr., and Councilmen Harry Bodman and William Kirby at Monday night's Farms Council meeting, reduced the group to the quorum minimum of four—which consisted of William Butler, Richard Maxon, Lawrence Buell and Edward Roney.

They covered the brief agenda in a couple hours, accepting a total of six reports, and the recommendation of Fire Chief William Mason for promoting a probationary fireman to full-term status inasmuch as he has fulfilled the requirements.

A petition by Henry E. Joy Jr. to move a house currently on his property at 274 Grosse Pointe boulevard to 74 Mapleton road, was accepted on condition that he comply with the City Ordinance and make the proper application for a permit.

Requests by the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church and Grosse Pointe Club to recover, by purchase from the State Conservation agency, submerged land in front of their respective properties were referred to the City Engineer and attorney who will, together, submit a report on the matter to the Council at their next meeting, for further consideration.

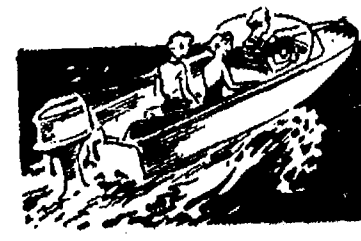

Library Friends To Hear Author

Margaret Williamson, whose books have entertained and instructed thousands of children in the past 10 years, will be the featured speaker at the next meeting of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Library, Tuesday, February 10, according to William L. Newnan, chairman of the Friends Program Committee.

Miss Williamson will talk on the preparation of children's books from the research and creative standpoint, a subject on which she is completely qualified, said Newnan. He reported that she not only writes, but also illustrates her stories.

Author of 'The First Book About Bugs,' 'The First Book About Birds' and 'The First Book About Mammals,' Miss Williamson has a remarkable flair for the essentials and for simplification of the complex, according to Lee J. Crooks, president of the Friends. Mr. Crooks stated that Miss Williamson's books are carried by the library here.

Rabaut Reveals Nominations

Congressman Louis C. Rabaut has announced his nominations to U.S. military schools for the classes entering in July of this year. The young Michigan men were selected as a result of averages received in the pre-entrance Civil Service examinations. Several Grosse Pointe boys are on the coveted list.

Named as a first alternate to the U.S. Military Academy is Robert Vincent McGrath, of 1236 Yorkshire road. Second alternate to the same institution is Daniel James Murphy, of 270 Williams road.

Richard Melvin Hulswit, who lives at 443 Roland, is first in line as principal selectee for the U.S. Air Force Academy. Named seventh alternate is Robert I. Allard, of 1244 1/2 Wayburn avenue.

The nominations to the U.S. Naval Academy, in Annapolis, include several Pointers. Richard A. Johnson, of 718 Berkshire road, was selected as second alternate and Richard M. Ortwein, of 498 Moran road, was named fourth alternate. Also named as fourth alternate was Michael P. Stough, of 800 Lorraine avenue.

Ahead of all the alternates is a Fisher road resident, William P. Dennes, named as principal choice. Bill graduated from Grosse Pointe High School last week. Also placed on the principal list were Willard E. L. Tayler, of 422 Moran road, and Michael Brady of 910 Lakepointe.

More alternates to Annapolis include John R. Sparks, who lives at 208 Lakeland avenue. He is a first alternate. Dominic J. Bologna, of 856 Balfour road, was named a third alternate and Joseph I. Donovan, of 561 Lakeland avenue, was chosen as a second alternate to Annapolis.

Pointers Leading Wayne Frosh

Two Pointe graduates of Austin High School are the leading scorers for the University of Detroit freshman basketball team.

Dave DeBusschere, 6-5 1/2 forward has scored 195 points in 10 games for an average of 19.5 points per game. His teammate, Ross Schoenherr, 6-4 forward, has piled up 112 points in 10 games for an 11.2 average.

DeBusschere has been the high scorer in five of the 10 games, and Schoenherr has taken the top honors in one. The team won eight games and lost two.

Battling Drivers Heard in Court

Two men who had no respect for the other's driving ability ended up with a ticket apiece for reckless driving. (City police agreed with them both). They also face possible complaints for assault and battery.

It all happened on Wednesday evening, January 28, when Peter J. McInnes and Pasquale Tocco were driving their respective cars along Mack avenue, approaching the intersection of University. According to both men's accounts, the one tried to edge the other over to the curb (depending on which story you're listening to!). Eventually, they both pulled over and piled out of their cars to have it out. McInnes, who lives at 4140 University, claims it was then that Tocco, who lives at 3485 Kensington, let him have it, in the jaw. McInnes says he didn't return the blow.

City police ticketed both men on the reckless driving charge, issuing a court date for February 10. McInnes says he will, in the meantime, file a separate charge against Tocco for assault and battery.

A rope of spider's silk one inch thick would hold up a weight equal to 74 tons. The rope would be three times as strong as a one-inch rope made of iron.

Chairman

JEANNE CHAFFEE, one of the Pointe's best known operators, has been named chairman of National Beauty Salon Week for the Metropolitan Detroit area, February 8 through 14, at which time the North America Beauty and Fashion convention will be held here. Headquarters will be at the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel.

Miss Chaffee, who is on the staff of Fashion Door Beauty Salon, 18546 Mack avenue in the Farms, is also heading a special group of 75 operators who are donating their time and talents to help patients in Receiving Hospital, the Wayne County Hospital at Eloise and several of the homes for the aged.

The week's activities also will include the selection of a queen and a hair-stylist fashion show with 15 models displaying hairdressing trends. The Book Casino will be the scene of this event, to which the public is invited.

Tickets will be available at the door on the evening of the event, Monday, February 9, from 5 to 8:30 o'clock.

The convention also plans special radio and television features.

9 Cases Heard In City Court

Judge Douglas L. Paterson heard a total of nine cases in City Municipal Court on Tuesday evening, January 27, five of which he dismissed because of a not guilty verdict or refusal of the complainant to sign, and one in which he suspended sentence after finding the defendant guilty. First on the docket was Anne B. Schuknecht, of 538 Washington road. Charged with not having her car under control, she was found not guilty.

Leona F. Brown, of 407 Neff road, had been ticketed for reckless driving but her complainant refused to sign as did the one in the case of Mercedes R. Boyd, who lives at 5931 Drexel and was also charged with reckless driving. Therefore, both cases were dismissed.

A $15 fine was meted out to Julia Easterbrook, of 55 Moorland, for entering an intersection without due caution.

Although Fred W. Wetling, of 22400 Pointe drive, in St. Clair Shores, pled guilty to a charge of "car not under control," and Judge Paterson found him to be guilty, the sentence was suspended.

John C. Orlando, of 19964 Helen, in Harper Woods, pled not guilty to a charge of not having his truck under control. The Judge disagreed with him, and fined him $10.

Richard Witford, of 388 Rivard boulevard, was exonerated of a car not under control charge.

A fine of $20 was given Joseph Cappell, 20230 Sunnyside, in St. Clair Shores. He pled not guilty to the charge of car not under control.

Anne E. Gust, of 55 Muskoka, stood mute to a charge of speeding 35 miles-an-hour in a 25 MPH zone. Judge Paterson found her not guilty.

Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, followed by the program of the day. The movie, "The Broken Mask" will be shown. At this time an ingathering of canned goods for the Goodwill Industries will be taken.

Group 5, the Business and Professional Women's Group, will meet at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of Tuesday, February 10. Molly McClure, a member of the Senior Hi Group of the Church, will talk on her experience at an Indian Mission work camp last summer.

Hit-Run Driver Fined in Court

Richard W. Dilloway of 1175 Bishop road, pled guilty to a hit-and-run traffic accident charge, when arraigned before Judge Grant E. Armstrong on Wednesday, January 28.

Judge Armstrong levied a fine of $25 against the motorist, and ordered his driver's license suspended for a period of 90 days.

Dilloway was accused of hitting a parked car, belonging to Jane G. Beers of 446 Kercheval, during the early morning hours of January 1. The woman's car was in front of 281 Moran, at the time, and received $45 damage.

At the scene of the hit and run, police picked up a sizeable piece of glass, and took it to the station to determine the type of car it came from. It had come from a Ford.

On January 2, Det. Sgts. Jack Paisley and George Van Tiem took the glass to a Ford dealer at Mack and Bishop, to find out what year model the piece came from.

In the repair garage, the officers noticed a 1953 Ford waiting for repairs, and also saw that the parking light glass was broken. The piece the detectives brought with them was a perfect fit for that missing from the light.

When Dilloway arrived to check on the repair progress on his automobile, he was handed a ticket for leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Center to Show Films of Russia

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial will present Dr. E. S. Smyd's color films of Russia in a premier showing free of charge to the public at the Center, Tuesday night, February 17, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Smyd's pictures are of professional calibre with accompanying appropriate Russian background music.

Prior to the showing of the film Dr. Smyd will talk briefly on his impression of Russia, from which he and his wife have but recently returned after a 2,500 mile trip overland through the Soviet Union. They found the people friendly and were unprepared for the vast amount of industrial development, but found the way of life unappealing to the American mind which insists on a certain amount of leisure, comfort and ample housing.

The films will take the viewer from Finland to Leningrad, where in addition to showing the parks, the Circus and the opera (complete with Krushev's party), there will be excellent shots of the shops with their merchandise and accompanying price tags and excellent pictures of the average citizen and his urban surroundings.

Via rail to Moscow, the pictures will give a good idea of Russian coaches and diners and the grazing country as

Window Frost Snags Driver

Paul R. Heymes, 23, of 1443 Lakeshore, drove himself into trouble on Monday, January 26, when he was arrested because of frosted car windows which obscured his vision while driving on Lake Shore road.

Heymes was traveling south on Lake Shore when he was observed by Shores Patrolman Joseph Vitale, who could hardly see the driver because of the frost on the windows.

The big trouble came when the officer, after stopping Heymes in front of 971 Lake Shore, asked to see the motorist's operator's license. Heymes could not produce one, and was taken to the police station.

At the station, an immediate teletype was sent to Lansing, which brought the answer that Heymes had a chauffeur's license, which was recently revoked.

Heymes was given a violation ticket for driving while his license was revoked, and was detained until a bond of $150 was posted for him, and then released.

The motorist is scheduled to appear before Shores Judge John Gillis on Monday, February 8.

Center Holding Mardi Gras Ball

A pre-valentine Mardi Gras Ball is being given by Grosse Pointe's young unmarried set tomorrow night, Friday, February 6, from 9 to 12 p.m., at the Memorial Center.

This is a last chance to have a gala party before Lent and the Center Club is looking forward to making the most of it. Bill Knicy's orchestra is playing throughout the evening and extra special refreshments will be served to stave off the rigors of the fasting season.

Though Grosse Pointe makes no claim to be New Orleans, every one will be given a mask when he enters the ballroom and the Mardi Gras theme will alternate with the Valentine motif in the decorations.

All young single adult Grosse Pointers and their guests are cordially invited to this dance and all Center Club functions. Dates are not necessary.

Center Holding Mardi Gras Ball

A pre-Valentine Mardi Gras Ball is being given by Grosse Pointe's young unmarried set tomorrow night, Friday, February 6, from 8 to 12 p.m., at the Memorial Center.

This is a last chance to have a gala party before Lent and the Center Club is looking forward to making the most of it. Bill Knicey's orchestra is playing throughout the evening and extra special refreshments will be served to stave off the rigors of the fasting season.

Though Grosse Pointe makes no claim to be New Orleans, every one will be given a mask when he enters the ballroom and the Mardi Gras theme will alternate with the Valentine motif in the decorations.

All young single adult Grosse Pointers and their guests are cordially invited to this dance and all Center Club functions. Dates are not necessary.

Weds Theodore Oldham in Chapel of the Great Commission in Berkeley, Calif., with The Rev. Erville Maynard Officiating on Saturday

The Rev. Erville Maynard flew to Berkeley, Calif., to officiate at the Saturday wedding of Alice Talbot McElvenny and Theodore Oldham in the Chapel of the Great Commission at the University of California.

The daughter of the Ralph T. McElvenny's, of Cloverly road, wore a princess gown of white peau de soie with a sabrina neckline and bracelet sleeves. The bodice of imported Chantilly lace was highlighted with seed pearls.

Her illusion fingertip veil was caught by an open shell of Chantilly lace accented with seed pearls; and she carried full blown white roses with stephanotis.

Sherry Dorsey, of Seattle, Wash., the bride's cousin, was maid of honor in a sapphire blue gown, fashioned with a sloop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The bridesmaids, dressed like the honor attendant, were Anna Pedersen and Margaret Oldham, sister of the bridegroom.

Groomsmen for Mr. Oldham, son of the Harry Oldhams, of Clarkburg, Calif., were Veal Gish, Bruce Oxley and Warren Merwin.

For her daughter's wedding and the dinner which followed at the Women's Athletic Club in Oakland Mrs. McElvenny wore navy blue peau de soie. Mrs. Oldham was in a soft green frock.

The newlyweds are both students at the University of California where they will continue their studies.

Dr. Turcotte Claims Bride

Mrs. Alan H. Holcombe and Dr. Vincent Joseph Turcotte, Jr., were married at a 12 o'clock noon ceremony in St. Mary's Chapel, Ann Arbor.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of champagne peau de soie with matching accessories. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. James Hilton, of Ionia, Mich.

Mrs. Jeremiah G. Turcotte, of Ann Arbor, was matron of honor.

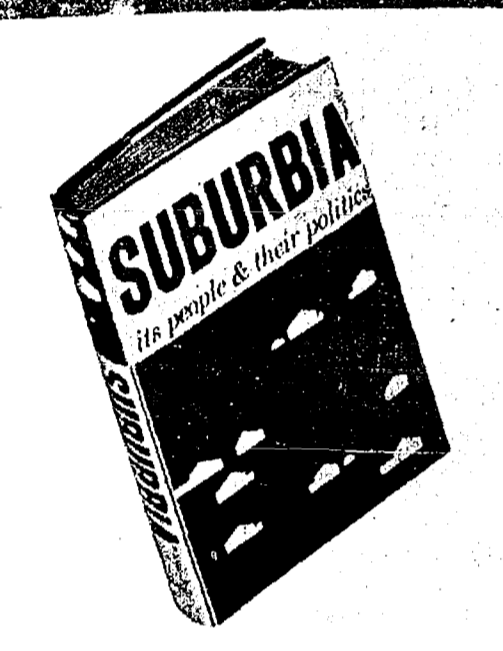

The bridegroom, son of Dr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Turcotte of Lakeland avenue, had his brother, Dr. Jeremiah G. Turcotte of Ann Arbor, as his best man.

Ushers were William Gouin, Dr. Gordon L. Hyde, of Ann Arbor, Stuart Meek and Dr. James M. Kennary, Jr.

SMALL TOWN TO SUBURBS TO WHAT?

ROBERT WOOD is Assistant Professor of Political Science and Director of the Field Study Program for Political Education at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and on January 13th he published a challenging study of present suburban operations which is called Suburbia: Its People and Their Politics (Houghton Mifflin).

Some people will agree with Mr. Wood in believing the time has come for a closer union of suburbs and central city. Many more people, the author himself says, will be firmly and articulately opposed. Since, pro or con, the question concerns 50,000,000 people, Suburbia Today asked to interview Mr. Wood.

He lives with his wife and two small daughters in Lincoln, Massachusetts, a suburb of Boston, twenty-five minutes' easy drive from his office at M.I.T. They have a Tech-Built prefabricated house where one big room takes up most of the ground floor—a restful room looking out through long windows on an unspoiled stretch of woods and field and a pond nine feet deep which is stocked with bass and which freezes over in winter to make a family skating rink.

The two Wood girls have two small boys their own age for neighbors. Now they take turns playing at each other's houses, later they will all go together to Lincoln's excellent grade school. Mr. Wood is a dedicated, hard-working professor and Mrs. Wood is an equally dedicated, equally hard-working wife and mother, and a very pretty one into the bargain; they lead a busy, fruitful life with congenial friends, young and old, in a neighborhood which promises to keep its fresh country charm for years to come, thanks to two-acre zoning. The prospect is ideal, but not to Mr. Wood. Like most commuters, he is keenly alive personally to all the attractions his suburb has, but looking at it professionally, as a political scientist, he sees clearly that it also has certain serious problems raised by its extraordinary (and typical) growth since the war.

"The movement of 9,000,000 Americans from cities to suburbs within ten years," he notes, "is the greatest migration in the shortest time in the nation's history."

From Grosse Pointe to Santa Monica commuters can supply their own facts and figures to bear out his general survey of just one vast current problem arising from the migration.

"By moving to the suburbs," he says, "more and more citizens declare their independence from rail and bus transportation. If the trend towards increased reliance on automobile transportation continues at anything like the rate of the past ten years, the present traffic jams, bottlenecks and tie-ups are only a mild portent of things to come. Left unbridled, the automobile may function not as a servant of the urban age but as its master, to dominate and frustrate modern life and ultimately to make it impossible. In 1959, according to some estimates, it takes longer to cross Manhattan Island by car than it did to make the journey by horse and buggy in 1890."

Viewed through professional eyes, as these observations show, there is more than appears on the pleasant surface of suburbia today. As a trained analyst, a special student of the "suburban explosion," and a technical advisor to many of the metropolitan areas, Mr. Wood of Lincoln, Massachusetts, does not con-

Center to Show Films of Russia

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial will present Dr. E. S. Smyd's color films of Russia in a premier showing free of charge to the public at the Center, Tuesday night, February 17, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Smyd's pictures are of professional calibre with accompanying appropriate Russian background music.

Prior to the showing of the film Dr. Smyd will talk briefly on his impression of Russia, from which he and his wife have but recently returned after a 2,500 mile trip overland through the Soviet Union. They found the people friendly and were unprepared for the vast amount of industrial development, but found the way of life unappealing to the American mind which insists on a certain amount of leisure, comfort and ample housing.

The films will take the viewer from Finland to Leningrad, where in addition to showing the parks, the Circus and the opera (complete with Kruschew's party), there will be excellent shots of the shops with their merchandise and accompanying excellent picture-erage citizen surroundings.

What is the trouble? "I believe," said Mr. Wood, "that the time has come, in many cases, to get back to the city. I'm not asking myself or my friends or anyone to move back to the city—our older friends occasionally do, of course, once their families are raised and married—what I am talking about is the need for a closer blending of urban and suburban.

"We need to take some responsibility, don't we, for the place where most of us earn our living? Here in Lincoln we are three thousand souls. There are still a few working farms in the neighborhood, and we have three gas stations and a general store and perhaps half-a-dozen other small businesses. Outside of these enterprises, the rest of us go to work in Cambridge and Boston. It seems to me that all of us who commute need to remember with some gratitude that the city is more than a market to sell our wares in. The city's great institutions are our institutions, our culture lives on the city's culture. Of course we have our local theatricals, maybe our local museums, best of all our local libraries, all valuable contributions to the life of our town. We are rewarded, twice over, for all the thought and money, all the hours and hours of Saturday and Sunday work we put into them. But let us not forget they are accessories, not substitutes, for the city's drama, the city's museums and libraries."

Case For Closer Union

In his own field of politics Mr. Wood believes there is now very often a need for closer union of the city and its surrounding suburbs. This is the moral of his book, developed against a carefully studied background of present suburban attitudes. He points to the towns around Boston, expanded two, three and four times over in the last ten years. The explosion has brought demands for schooling and fire and police protection, for roads and utilities on a scale never dreamt of in those towns before. But up to now the government struggling with these enormously complex and expensive demands has continued to be the simple popular authority of the small town.

In his plea for a new approach, Mr. Wood does not mince words. "The vision of community and local government is powerful," he says in his book. "A belief in small government and small society helps explain why the modern suburb exists in an age of bigness. Suburbanites' political action expresses the conviction that a man can beat city hall . . . that it is undemocratic to let the sheriff of the county judge 'run things around here.' So the suburbanite resists the lure of the larger, more efficient units even as he becomes bewildered by the number of public decisions he is called upon to make, secure in his conviction that his preference can make a difference in the way his government is run. But, in spite of superficial similarities, the suburbs of today are not the self-contained small towns of old. Two new questions in particular threaten their development—how can they secure for themselves an adequate water supply, and how can they provide adequate transportation facilities? The most earnest voter, moreover, is not able to give sensible decisions about water mains, fire engines, school curricula and zoning patterns. Under modern conditions the power of the expert is in the suburbanite pays for maintaining order in his town."

When suburban affairs call for experts instead of amateurs, the time has come, Mr. Wood believes, to pool resources and a regional attack on suburbs and their central city upon their common problems. In place of town governments developed in a bygone era he proposes metropolitan integration and informed support, through representative party organizations, of a modern urban-suburban system of government to provide systematic time supervision and criticism in suburban urban affairs.

Most Suburbs Opposed

He does not expect, however, to see any such come. There have been a few examples of integration as the pressures mounted: in Los Angeles, for instance, the surrounding suburbs, faced with present drought, found it more expedient to conspire with the central city, and with the central water supply, rather than continue to struggle with a vital problem they were not equipped to solve. In most cases Mr. Wood's studies indicate the suburbs will cling to their individuality and the romantic image of the small town and the grass system of government.

"It is too bad," he concludes calmly, "that it is little inclination to consider rationally the fits that a gargantuan metropolitan government and social order might offer. The American great cities and the American large society are all man-made."

He concedes that the suburban distrust of big government is understandable.

8 QUESTIONS TO ASK BEFORE YOU BUY A HOUSE

"Speak Up Before You Sign Up," Consulting
Advising Buyers On Soft Spots
And Hidden Hazards

BY ARTHUR TAUSCHER, Director, Home Inspection Co.
As Told To Rollie Hochstein

I'm not much on ghosts but I have worked with a lot of uneasy houses, haunted by mechanical and structural defects not obvious to the average buyer, but often disastrously expensive after the buyer becomes the owner.

A house is by far the biggest single purchase most people ever make. Yet the same family which buys food and cars with careful judgment is quite likely to buy a house without knowing the first thing about the quality of that house. Of course they like the neighborhood. The layout is fine. The rooms are adequate. They can meet the down payment and afford the basic upkeep. So they buy their house—newly built or re-sale—and, after they move in, comes the light.

The cellar floods. The power fails. Heating costs are way out-of-bounds. The water won't run. A new house is drafty. In an old house, the boiler conks out. Any one of these and other problems might come up and nobody is responsible but the unsuspecting—therefore unprotected—buyer. And if he's budgeting close to the bone, he's in no shape to pay for repairs.

Let The Buyer Beware
My business is checking the structure and mechanics of buildings for prospective buyers. One thing it has taught me: how "green" are most househunters.

For one quick example, take the woman who first put a sizeable deposit on a $40,000 house in Great Neck, then thought to call in my firm to inspect it. We found, among other things, a severe termite problem and had to report that getting rid of the bugs permanently would cost her around $10,000. She was upset, but she bought the house anyway—with a price reduction that would partly cover the job.

This woman was lucky—she could plan her expenses accurately and put aside either to cover them. But the average buyer doesn't know where to look or what to look for in judging how much he'll have to spend on his house once he's in it. Often the seller doesn't know either and the real estate agent knows only what the seller tells him. Though 93% of my clients go ahead and buy the houses we inspect for them, they buy with open eyes, protective contracts and often a price adjustment to compensate for the once-hidden expenses.

If you are—or ever will be—in the market for a house, it would be a good idea to take a look at these eight major problems that I've found most likely to be overlooked by the non-professional househunter:

Check Power And Wiring

1. Electricity. Your house should be powered with at least 100 amperes, 220/110 voltage and six available circuits. A newly built house will probably provide this minimum, but older houses rarely have enough electricity. Before washing machines, air-conditioners and electric stoves became common household fixtures, 110 voltage and 30 amps were enough to keep the lights on. One or two circuits were adequate. Unless an older house has been recently brought up to power standard, plan on bringing in additional power before you move in. Extension cords are never the answer; overloading your circuits raises chances for a short circuit and, consequently, fire. Don't give it the slightest chance. A dishwasher, an attic fan, an air-conditioner should operate on a single circuit apiece. Several appliances drawing less power can usually share one circuit. The conversion from 110 and 30 to 220/110 and 100 will cost between $150 and $200.

Another thing that a house thirty or more years old will need is complete rewiring—unless, of course, previous occupants have already replaced all wires. Insulation dries up, falls off, invites short circuits and fire. Rewiring an average house can cost from $400 to $800, depending on how much extra you have done. You may change from pull cords to while you're at it.

But DON'T do it just you're a licensed electrician favor of most "inside jobs," it comes to electricity. If a by unauthorized wiring, collecting insurance are done Better hire a pro, who files of Underwriters, gets you an inspection of his work and that guarantees coverage.

Termites In Seven

2. Termites. Seven out of either are or will be playing wood-eating insects. Brick is immune: we've found plenty brick" houses with termites the wooden sill and floor joists. It would take twenty years intensive termite action to start crumbling. But the more expensive to get Early extermination and recurrence costs several thousand dollars.

The only way to be safe from termites is to wood anywhere comes in contact with the soil. A pro-

Center Holding Mardi Gras Ball

A pre-Valentine Mardi Gras Ball is being given by Grosse Pointe's young unmarried set tomorrow night, Friday, February 6, from 9 to 12 p.m., at the Memorial Center.

This is a last chance to have a gala party before Lent and the Center Club is looking forward to making the most of it. Bill Knicey's orchestra is playing throughout the evening and extra special refreshments will be served to stave off the rigors of the fasting season.

Though Grosse Pointe makes no claim to be New Orleans, every one will be given a mask when he enters the ballroom and the Mardi Gras theme will alternate with the Valentine motif in the decorations.

All young single adult Grosse Pointers and their guests are cordially invited to this dance and all Center Club functions. Dates are not necessary.

Is Heating Adequate?

5. Heating. Whether the fuel is oil or gas, whether the heating agent is steam, hot air or hot water is not too important. It is most important that the system provide enough heat for your family's health and comfort. It's wise to insist that your contract for a new house guarantee you a heating performance of 80 degrees in bathrooms and 70 degrees in the rest of the house when outside temperatures is zero.

A split-level house ought to include two-zone heating: one thermostat on the living room level and another in the lower section, where the children usually have their playroom. Since hot air rises, bedrooms will be warm enough. But without its own regulator the lower level is likely to be dangerously at odds, temperature-wise, with the rest of the house. Two-zone heating is now required in all split-level houses financed by the F.H.A. Conventional mortgagors don't specify. A re-sale house is unlikely to offer this two-year-old innovation.

Most builders will charge extra for two-zone heating, but in any multi-level house—especially with a finished basement—I'd call it a worthwhile investment in good health. Installing a second zone in an older house would cost upwards of $300.

A much more expensive and a compulsory job in a house that's been around for twenty-five years or more is boiler replacement. Houses of this vintage are almost invariably steam-heated and the system depends upon a boiler with a normal life span of twenty-five years. Some will last ten or fifteen years longer, but generally you can expect to replace the original boiler within a few years after you move in. Since the job will cost from $800 to $1,000 and since you can't get along with a broken-down boiler, you'd best put money aside from the start.

6. Sewage disposal. I've found among my clients a great deal of prejudice against houses without regular "city" sewers. Though sewers are undoubtedly the most trouble-free system, lack of sewers is ordinarily a poor reason for vetoing a house you'd otherwise buy. Most houses drain their wastes into septic tanks and there's nothing wrong with septic tanks. They must be cleaned out every few years, but this is a minor job running about $25 to $40. Cesspool drainage needs no attention unless it gives you trouble—which isn't often. Sewer systems are largely limited to metropolitan areas and if yours is a house without a sewer connection in a sewer area, there is no need to connect unless your present system acts up. If this happens, it's advisable to connect rather than replace.

Here's the big hidden expense in waste disposal: if your entire neighborhood is converted to a sewer system, you may be heavily assessed. $500 is not an unheard-of figure. As with all assessments—for schools, paved streets, etc.—information is your protection. Look up the

The Day Is Coming When You'll Kiss Your Wife Good-bye And Whirl Away For The Office

BY JULES BER

Commuting's only drawback is commuting itself—the wasted hours waiting for and spent on trains and buses, the crawl on clogged highways. However, one day—perhaps by the early 1960's—commuters in suburbs and exurbs will be able to say goodbye to the 7:45, sleep forty-five minutes later, and board a jet helicopter which will get them closer to their offices in fifteen minutes than the train did in an hour. The trip will be comfortable, safe, and will cost only slightly more than it did by train.

Until now commuting by helicopter has seemed as far in the future and as impractical as automobiles did the day before Henry Ford began turning out Model T's. But break-throughs in jet engines for "choppers," enabling them to carry economical loads at a profit and standardization of equipment, promise that the first practical transport—a helicopter version of a DC-3—is on the way. The Federal government, which made possible America's airlines with its air-mail subsidies, recognized the value of the helicopter in speeding local and short-haul mail delivery ten years ago, and extended substantial subsidies to the nation's three major helicopter airlines. Further subsidies to purchase larger, more economical equipment, have now been granted and the Civil Aeronautics Administration has formed a joint industry-government committee to set the standards for the design and developments of heliports across the country. However, before we move into the full growth of the helicopter era, economic, legal and industry problems must be solved.

The Commuter's Ticket

Helicopters are costly; fares on them are high and will be high for some time to come. New ways, for instance, figures its fares at forty a seat mile compared to six cents a seat mile average airline. High fares, however, are a new form of transport. Airline fares in the and early 30's were beyond what most people could afford; now they are lower than most rail fares. The helicopter industry is growing faster than lines ever did. So with larger jet-powered heli-fares will steadily go down—while rail fares continually be going up owing to service shrink the busy executive helicopters already pay a hour trip in from the suburbs is flown in minutes, a thirty-seven-minute cab ride from LaGuardia Field to Manhattan is eleven minutes.

Center Holding Mardi Gras Ball

A pre-Valentine Mardi Gras Ball is being given by Grosse Pointe's young unmarried set tomorrow night, Friday, February 6, from 9 to 12 p.m., at the Memorial Center.

This is a last chance to have a gala party before Lent and the Center Club is looking forward to making the most of it. Bill Knicey's orchestra is playing throughout the evening and extra special refreshments will be served to stave off the rigors of the fasting season.

Though Grosse Pointe makes no claim to be New Orleans, every one will be given a mask when he enters the ballroom and the Mardi Gras theme will alternate with the Valentine motif in the decorations.

All young single adult Grosse Pointers and their guests are cordially invited to this dance and all Center Club functions. Dates are not necessary.

Weds Theodore Oldham in Chapel of the Great Commission in Berkeley, Calif., with The Rev. Erville Maynard Officiating on Saturday

The Rev. Erville Maynard flew to Berkeley, Calif., to officiate at the Saturday wedding of Alice Talbot McElvenny and Theodore Oldham in the Chapel of the Great Commission at the University of California.

The daughter of the Ralph T. McElvenny, of Cloverly road, wore a princess gown of white peau de soie with a sabrina neckline and bracelet sleeves. The bodice of imported Chantilly lace was highlighted with seed pearls.

Her illusion fingertip veil was caught by an open shell of Chantilly lace accented with seed pearls and she carried full blown white roses with stephanotis.

Sherry Persey, of Seattle, Wash., the bride's cousin, was maid of honor in a sapphire blue gown, fashioned with a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The bridesmaids, dressed like the honor attendant, were Anna Pedersen and Margaret Oldham, sister of the bridegroom.

Groomsmen for Mr. Oldham, son of the Harry Oldhams, of Clarkburg, Calif., were Veal Gish, Bruce Oxley and Warren Merwin.

For her daughter's wedding and the dinner which followed at the Women's Athletic Club in Oakland Mrs. McElvenny wore navy blue peau de soie. Mrs. Oldham was in a soft green frock.

The newlyweds are both students at the University of California where they will continue their studies.

Dr. Turcotte Claims Bride

Mrs. Alan R. Holcombe and Dr. Vincent Joseph Turcotte, Jr. were married at a 12 o'clock noon ceremony in St. Mary's Chapel, Ann Arbor.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of champagne peau de soie with matching accessories. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. James Hilton, of Ionia, Mich.

Mrs. Jeremiah G. Turcotte, of Ann Arbor, was matron of honor.

The bridegroom, son of Dr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Turcotte of Lakeland avenue, had his brother, Dr. Jeremiah G. Turcotte of Ann Arbor, as his best man.

Ushers were William Goun, Dr. Gordon L. Hyde, of Ann Arbor, Stuart Meek and Dr. James M. Kennary, Jr.

This new Sikorsky S-62 may soon be taking you to your office downtown. Equipped with a flying-boat type of hull, the versatile craft will be able to operate from water, land, ice, snow or dismal swamps.

Another type of helicopter that may some day replace railroad cars for commuting is this whirlybird "bus," made by the Kaman Aircraft Corporation. Rotary propeller is supplemented by two standard engines.

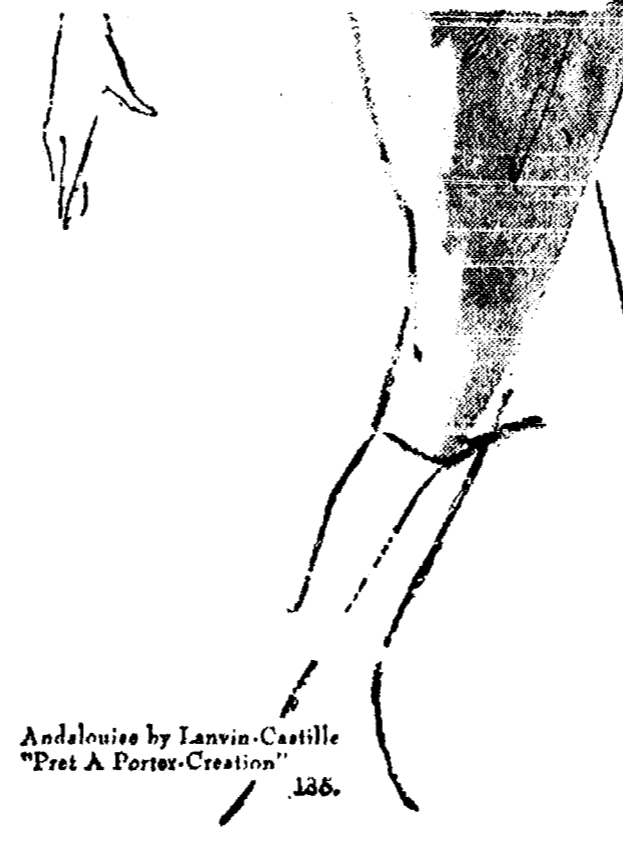

A supreme cargo carrier is the Vertol 107. Experts say the day will come when even mail going to another part of the city will be shipped by air.

in many U.S. cities, the helicopter, which needs no more than a landing pad 100 by 100 feet, is forced to operate out of full-sized airports, thereby hopelessly hampering its advantages. The laws of the states themselves are to blame: helicopters are forced to operate as fixed-wing "aircraft" under statutes written when there were no helicopters. In one large city, the city health officer is empowered to deny permission for the establishment of a heliport.

In countless other cities, the tricky legalisms of zoning codes backfire on the communities themselves by denying them the many emergency services and growth possibilities of the helicopter. But legislation is being revised in many areas, zoning laws are being updated, communities themselves taking a role in providing land for heliports. In fact, the demand for heliports has now resulted in the newly-formed Federal group to direct the design and development of heliports.

In every corner of the world, at all hours, helicopters are hard at work—acting as ambulances (several U.S. hospitals already have heliports), picking up downed fliers, patrolling power and oil lines, spraying and dusting crops, fighting forest fires, rounding up cattle, lifting heavy construction equipment, broadcasting traffic conditions, policing freeways, installing TV towers and church steeples, even towing ships.

The principle of the helicopter goes back as far as Archimedes, who wrote of vertical flight. And even before Archimedes, the famous Chinese top clearly demonstrated the principles of rotor flight. But despite countless attempts to put these into practice, the helicopter made little progress until wartime demands forced the military to embark on research and development programs. Although it was finally developed toward the close of World War II, it did not really come of age until Korea when it rescued thousands of fliers and wounded both from the sea and behind enemy lines and conclusively proved that it was more than a convenience—it was a twentieth-century necessity—one of the safest forms of transport ever invented.

A Parachute Built For Forty

Nothing demonstrates the safety of the helicopter more conclusively than the White House's purchase of two whirlybirds for the personal use of the President—to save him from the snarl—and dangers—of Washington traffic by flying him from the south lawn of the Executive Mansion to National Airport as well as on other short-distance hops. In the event of engine failure or an emergency, the helicopter's rotors spin free, gliding like a built-in automatic parachute. For additional safety, licensing requirements for helicopter pilots are rigid—tougher than those for regular aircraft—and pilots carry their own special form of insurance as well.

The Mass Production Era

The big jet-powered machines are now getting into production and the major companies are feverishly competing to turn out the first DC-3 of the helicopter era. Vertol's twin-turbine 107—Sikorsky's S-61—the British Bristol 192—and Sud Aviation's Project 3200—some of them shown on these pages—are in the forefront of the race. New York Airways has already ordered Vertol's 40-passenger 107 for delivery later this year.

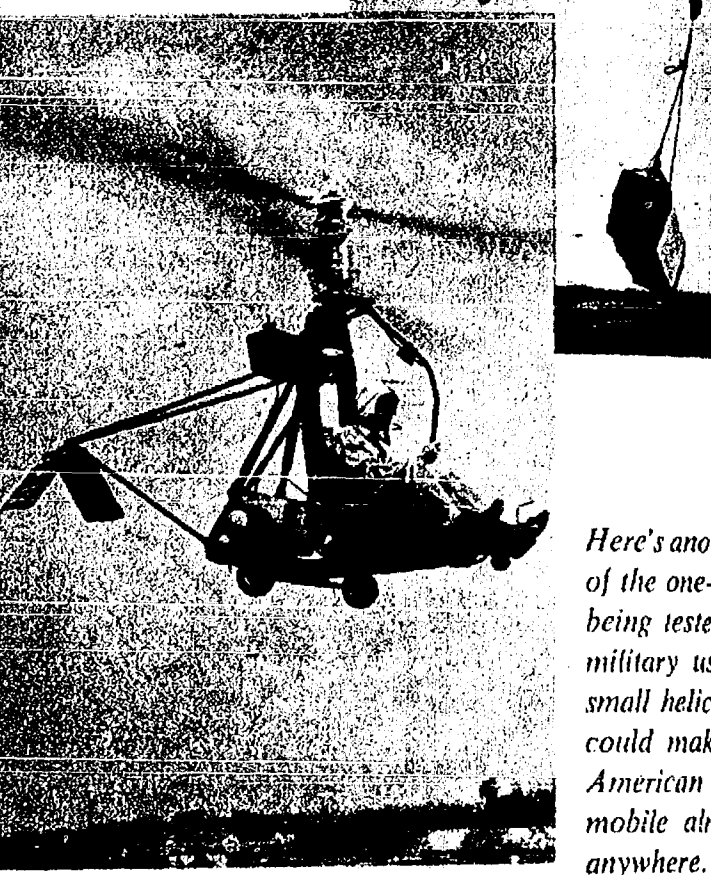

Radically new Vertical Take-off and Landing Aircraft (VTOL's) and tilt-wing convertiplanes—the leading competitor is the Fairey Rotodyne, made in this country by Kaman Aircraft—are also in the race. They have the helicopter's hovering and vertical take-off qualities, yet can also fly forward at speeds of more than 200 miles an hour—and so are able to compete with regular aircraft on longer hauls than helicopters.

The One-Man Putt-Putt

Many U.S. firms are turning out one-and-two-man egg beaters for the military—some of them fit into small packages and assemble quickly for use as open-seat assault helicopters. Others are closed-cabin jet-powered utility machines—and not built for comfort. In mass production some can be made for no more than the price of a good car and when military production is satisfied, it's possible they will be sold on the civilian market. However, the stringent rotor-pilot-licensing requirements (the CAA calls for roughly 25 hours at a cost of from 80 to 125 dollars an hour) will discourage all but the very well-heeled from parking their own little helicopter in the airport. Later, though, when manufacturing costs have come down (and brought down the rental costs for learning to fly), we may see thousands of helicopters heading for the beach on hot Sunday afternoons. The amateurs are already groaning about waiting for parking spaces at the airport and fighting for room in the jammed air lanes at 5,000 feet. There's an easy solution for the problem, however: take the family car (if you still have one) and head out to the beach on the empty highway. They'll still be jockeying for landing spots when you're already in the water.

Helicopters can make cargo pick-ups in almost any terrain, without loss of time and energy. The Korean War proved their versatility under adverse conditions.

Here's another of the one-seater being tested for military use. The small helicopter could make the American foot mobile almost anywhere.

Fishing's more fun when you fly! These two gentlemen have discovered early what many a sportsman will realize: You have time for a lot more fishing when you get there by "egg beater."

WHAT HAPPENED WHEN 893 "PROBLEM PATIENTS" USED THIS EASY-TO-FOLLOW NUTRITION PLAN

Here is part of Dr. Morrison's report on a controlled experiment recently conducted by one of America's great nutritionists. 893 men and women, in many kinds of poor health, had not responded to other treatment. They followed the same simple nutrition method you'll read about in this book. And then, as Dr. Morrison reports: "Gone was the weakness, the nervousness and many accompanying symptoms. Instead a sense of well-being, cheerfulness, a remarkable increase in physical and mental stamina was evident in a great majority of the cases. Physical movements became vigorous and youthful..."

What happened? These people simply received the CORRECT NOURISHMENT their bodies had craved for many years. See for yourself how to give YOUR Body the food that GUARDS your health, the food that BUILDS your health, the food that keeps your blood stream flowing clear.

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial will present Dr. E. S. Smyd's color films of Russia in a premier showing free of charge to the public at the Center, Tuesday night, February 17, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Smyd's pictures are of professional calibre with accompanying appropriate Russian background music.

Heymes was given a 10-day suspension of his license and was detained until a $150 was posted for his release.

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
1/4 to 1/2 cup apple butter
- Sift together the first four ingredients.
 - Cream butter until softened. Add sugar gradually, creaming until fluffy after each addition. Add egg and milk to creamed mixture; beat well.

 - Using a spatula, immediately and carefully remove cookies to cooling racks. Cool.
 - Using large cookies for bases of cookie towers, spoon 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon apple butter onto centers. Top with smaller-sized cookies. Spoon apple butter onto centers and top with smallest cookies.

Place a dot of jelly on center of each candy-sprinkled cookie; top with one whole blanched almond.
- VANILLA TEA ROUNDS
Follow recipe for Spicy Cinnamon Towers. Omit cinnamon. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla extract to butter and cream together. Cut out cookies with scalloped cookie cutters. Serve plain or sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. If desired, assemble into towers.
- BUTTER PECAN COOKIES
To Prepare: 25 MIN. To Bake: 10-12 MIN.

- 1/2 cup (about 6) egg whites, unbeaten
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 21 candied cherries, cut in halves

- Prepare (do not roll) the dough for Vanilla Tea Rounds. Set in refrigerator to chill.
- Put chopped coconut into a 2-qt. saucepan with egg whites, sugar, cornstarch, and almond extract. Mix thoroughly. (If mixture is too heavy, add a little more egg white.) Place over very low heat and stir constantly, being careful to keep temperature of mixture below 150°F. Remove from heat and cool to room temperature.
- Meanwhile, set out cookie sheets and a 2-in scalloped cookie cutter.
- Put the chilled dough for Vanilla Tea Rounds on a lightly floured surface and roll about 1/4-in. thick. Cut out cookies with lightly floured cutter. Transfer cookies to ungreased cookie sheets.
- When coconut mixture is cooled, force mixture through a pastry bag and No. 7 star tube to form a ring on scalloped cookie rounds. Place cherry-half in center of coconut ring on each cookie.
- Bake at 350°F 20 to 25 min., or until delicately browned. Remove with spatula to cooling racks.

About 3 1/2 doz. cookies

*Coconut may be finely chopped in an electric blender.

Follow recipe for Tropical Coconut Jewels. Omit the dough for Vanilla Tea Rounds. Cover cookie sheets with unglazed paper. Force coconut mixture through the pastry bag and tube, or drop by teaspoonfuls directly onto unglazed paper. Top each with a cherry half and bake as directed.

SOME PEOPLE LIKE HELIOTROPE CEILINGS

We say this: If a heliotrope ceiling is what you like, a heliotrope ceiling is what you'll have. For your home should express you, not your decorator. But we can show you how to co-ordinate what you have into a sparkling and exciting new interior. That's why so many people come to us with their decorating problems. Walter Welsh Looks Back On 18 Years As A School Bus Driver

"2-4-6-8 who do we appreciate? BUS MAN!"

My early morning drive to the first bus stop is a lonely one. Empty seats stretch out behind me, and I can hear only the creak of metal body over roar of motor as the sun begins to slant across the quiet roads.

But this peaceful solitude is short-lived. Children are my time clock, and I am heading into my regular school-day battle of survival.

At the first stop, small Henry is throwing a tantrum. I can't help sympathizing with him while his mother bestows persuading swats where they'll do the most good. Sometimes I am tempted to intercede for the kids, but I fare better when I remain neutral.

Bus-stop delinquents cause drivers' heads to become subjects for hair tonic ads. "Mary Lee will be out pretty quick, she's taking a bath," explains her playmate. And—"If my brother isn't here in five minutes, don't wait," puffs third-grader Howie as he scrambles aboard.

Horace Forgets His Glasses

Older brother Horace surprises me by beating the time limit, but then he's forgotten his eyeglasses.

Will Horace find his spectacles? Will his mother take her time—and mine—giving him a long-drawn-out lecture? This life is more laden with suspense than a TV serial.

Since my bus stops are gathering places for children, they are also magnets for dogs. Some of our four-legged friends merely greet the bus joyously, others squeeze in and wedge themselves under the seats. In fact, kids and dogs seem in cahoots to plague the schedule. I well remember one bright morning when I stopped to pick up six-year-old Westy. He was 'reluctant' and he had the cooperation of his dog, Prince. Boy and dog raced homeward, with mother and bus driver in pursuit. We found the boy entrenched at the top of the stairs, Prince standing guard. By the time Westy's mother had given first aid to my assaulted trouser legs, waiting passengers had scattered to the four winds.

It's hard to explain delays like this to a time-conscious principal!

Lawyer Without Fee

Keeping the peace becomes every school problem. We're lawyers (without fee) to continual arguments. Moments after we've tried to separate a pair of madly-in-love students they may punch each other in the nose, psychology to put them back on speaking terms have our crises, too. When one of the victims swallowed a pin, I called upon innocent to scare up a doctor. At the height of the the victim suddenly announced that it straight pin he'd swallowed, but a small fortunately closed.

"Stop. She's on the wrong bus!" is a firmward refrain. A pair of sad pleading firms the rumor. These lost ones are our passengers. I only wish they could tell us live.

Race Against Time

One afternoon, on the return trip, my mirror framed the desperate, tear-stained littlest kindergartner. I stopped the bus, to see what was wrong. "I want to go to room!" she wailed. In a matter of minutes at her stop. But when she refused to be toured to her front door. We won the race time—I think.

The noise that goes on in my bus eardrums. Occasionally the heavy bombardment tles down into explosions: "I don't like to school, I don't have a themostat." ... two guppies but they haven't laid any babies think they are both fathers." ... "My mother ried—is yours?"

If I can start them singing, everybody's Their vocal selections aren't exactly high instance:

"Glory, glory hallelujah!
Teacher hit me with a ruler.
I hit her on the bean
With a rotten tangerine
And we ain't gonna see her no more."

Center Holding Mardi Gras Ball

A pre-valentine Mardi Gras Ball is being given by Grosse Pointe's young unmarried set tomorrow night, Friday, February 6, from 9 to 12 p.m., at the Memorial Center.

This is a last chance to have a gala party before Lent and the Center Club is looking forward to making the most of it. Bill Knicey's orchestra is playing throughout the evening and extra special refreshments will be served to stave off the rigors of the fasting season.

Though Grosse Pointe makes no claim to be New Orleans, every one will be given a mask when he enters the ballroom and the Mardi Gras theme will alternate with the Valentine motif in the decorations.

All young single adult Grosse Pointers and their guests are cordially invited to this dance and all Center Club functions. Dates are not necessary.

The Rev. Erville Maynard flew to Berkeley, Calif., to officiate at the Saturday wedding of Alice Talbot McElvenny and Theodore Oldham in the Chapel of the Great Commission at the University of California.

The daughter of the Ralph T. McElvennys, of Cloverly road, wore a princess gown of white peau de soie with a sabrina neckline and bracelet sleeves. The bodice of imported Chantilly lace was highlighted with seed pearls.

Her illusion fingertip veil was caught by an open shell of Chantilly lace accented with seed pearls and she carried full blown white roses with stephanotis.

Sherry Dorsey, of Seattle, Wash., the bride's cousin, was maid of honor in a sapphire blue gown, fashioned with a sloop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The bridesmaids, dressed like the honor attendant, were Anna Pedersen and Margaret Oldham, sister of the bridegroom.

Groomsmen for Mr. Oldham, son of the Harry Oldhams, of Clarksburg, Calif., were Veart Gish, Bruce Oxley and Warren Merwin.

For her daughter's wedding and the dinner which followed at the Women's Athletic Club in Oakland Mrs. McElvenny wore navy blue peau de soie. Mrs. Oldham was in a soft green frock.

The newlyweds are both students at the University of California where they will continue their studies.

Dr. Turcotte Claims Bride

Never A Dull Moment

Part-time bachelor father gives me practice (no doubt) in blotting runny noses and stuck zippers. On occasion my duties are those of a moving man; last Christmas I carried trees, swags, wreaths, Santa Claus wrap-up-prop sleigh, shepherd staffs, Biblical scrolls, and on music days, the bus bristles with from piccolos to bass fiddles.

I could qualify as manager of any Lost department. I've rescued missing ski jackets, sweaters, galoshes, pens, coins, books, and turned the bus inside out one day, trying to find a bag which contained (said its loser) "a penny, an apple and bee's nest."

I have rewarded my labors with gifts ranging from Florida coconut to a piece of cooked ham and jewelry box. They confide in me, too.

My wife imparts the secret that his mother has her hair, and I'm not sure I didn't scoop up the news that Amanda's parents were having a new baby brother.

My wife—and show me—their troubles. A loose button, a bruise on the knee or poison ivy—she'll be up.

Proposals Of Marriage
I get marriage proposals. I can take such a ride when they're lisped through gaps in my teeth. But I left skid marks on the pavement when ten-year-old Geraldine proposed that I marry her mother!

My wife wonders if there is any future for me. But my passengers have a habit of re-faith by making me feel a valuable part of their lives.

My wife says: "Six-eight! I love you appreciate?"
"AN!"
I think to myself: "The world's waiting for me. If God can love 'em so can I."

BUCKWHEAT BREAKFAST

BY FRANK HERBERT

When The Sun Came Out, Everyone Had Met Everyone Else

IT ALL started as more or less of a joke, the summer when our suburban community—a part of Wellesley, Massachusetts—had just begun to build, and when all the new neighbors were neighbors only in the loosest sense of the word. We had all recently moved in from widely separated parts of the country, and we were closely following what seems to be a guiding rule of family behavior in the big new communities of today: Be polite to your neighbor—but keep to yourself.

If we were united at all, it was in the impersonal matters. For example, there was the great effort of Building a Front Lawn. All of us were trying desperately to do this, in spite of such obstacles as bicycles, birds, dogs, small boys, and a considerable lack of the good green thumb. We experimented recklessly with all kinds of seed, soil-builders, and fertilizers; it remained, however, for the Austins to come up with the strangest experiment of all. They planted their front lawn, not to grass, but to buckwheat!

Curiosity overcame reticence; questions were asked and the answer was brief and simple. "Just a starter," Bob Austin said. "It might condition the soil for a really good lawn later on. Anyway, we'll see how it turns out."

Came August, and if progress in the neighborly spirit was slow—for the invisible fences which surrounded each family remained standing; we were still the courteous strangers—at least progress with the buckwheat lawn was not. It was flourishing. It looked odd, but it was the showpiece of the community. One day a neighbor suggested to Bob Austin that it was introduce everyone, he had a community breakfast. Accordingly, early the next of the approximately fifty part of Wellesley received a Sunday morning pancake breakfast. "Bring your own appetites," it read. "We do have everything been arranged, with no hitches? Not until after the breakfast that we learned what had gone on scenes.

First of all, there had been of the stove. How to cook pancakes outdoors and in a was the problem. An outdoor seemed fine in theory, but impractical because of the finally got around the difficulty up an Army surplus griddle of portions, which he set up blocks over a charcoal fire.

Secondly, there had been Maple syrup? This was one Austin's closest friends were in the maple syrup business agreed to supply all the cakes could absorb. But harder: there had to be lots of ter costs were high. Shopping the market for a good price into one of his neighbors. All have it, he was a wholesaler dairy products; moreover, he to the breakfast. Result: a butter, enough and more for

Finally, there were the pancakes. For the famous lawn, from which everything turned out to be of no help wheat has to be milled into community contained no real it did, however, have a vice-a supermarket chain, which even better. He talked with the people and told them of the next day there was a promise flour we needed, gratis.

The big day came at last—came a heavy fog. Still, in weather, at the appointed hundred and fifty men, women, were gathered together in the yard, plates in hand and ready fast. Two chefs kept the line idly: one poured the batter, flipped the cakes. In the instant serving, a rule was established that no person could have more than two pancakes at a time—no limit to the number of

The breakfast was a huge success. The sun finally came out, and it did, everyone had eaten the most important of all, everyone everyone else.

That was in 1951. Now the breakfast has become a tradition in our community: it gets bigger with every year. New neighbors have been known about it before they move in. result of it, there are no strangers in the neighborhood today. As for Bob Austin, he had a lawn; the buckwheat lawn had gone. But everyone agreed "starter" it was a magnificent

E-x-p-a-n-d YOUR CLOSET SPACE

BY JOHN BRIMER

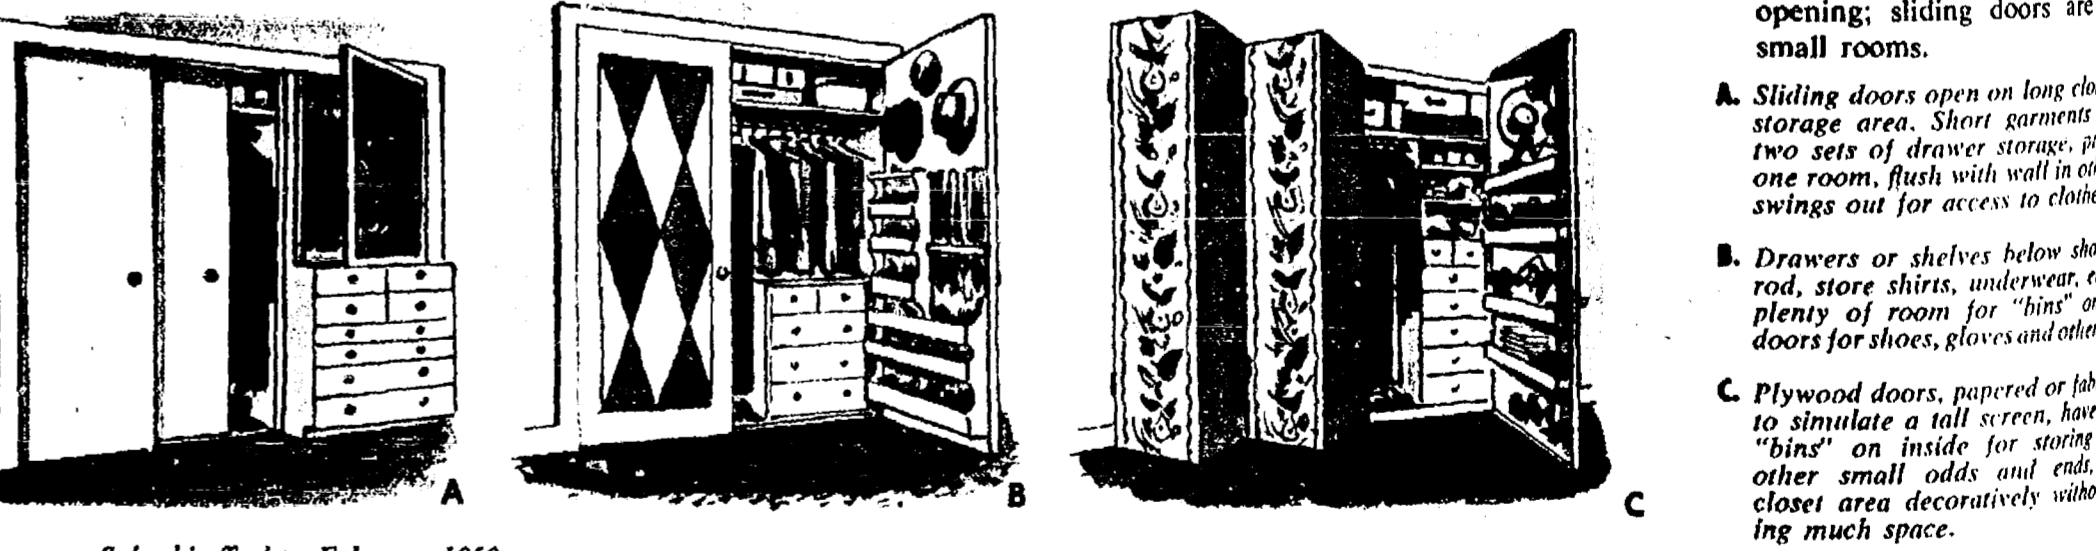

POSSIBLY your closets hold all the things you must keep in them but when you have to get something out in a hurry, do you get exasperated? If so, your storage space needs to be reorganized so that none is wasted because it is not available. This is true not only of older houses but also of many still being built today whose closets have only one narrow door, thus creating dead waste space on either side. By correcting this fault, you'll be able to store more in your closets—shirts, hats, shoes, blouses, belts, handbags, scarves, neckties—perhaps all of your clothes.

How can this be done? By merely removing the door and frame, cutting the opening wide enough to admit doors that are hinged or slide so that ALL the closet space can be reached. Usually you can expand your closet's usefulness without stealing an inch from the bedroom floor space, but if the closet is too shallow, or inadequate, consider expanding it into the room, incorporating a built-in chest of drawers so that little floor space is sacrificed to gain the necessary room. Most closet partitions are not load-bearing. (Check in your attic: If the partition runs parallel to the ceiling joists, it doesn't support the ceiling and may be cut without endangering the structure.) Call in a carpenter or builder to do it if you don't feel competent.

Most kinds of doors can be used—paneled, hollow-core flush, even shutter-doors which give ventilation and are decorative. Or you can build wood frames, covering them with plywood or hardboard and papering or painting them if you wish, or panel them in conventional or in Japanese shoji style.

Before starting to build inside the closet, take stock of all storage needs, then tailor the space to accommodate them. Divide the pole into long- and short-garment areas, building shelves below or above the pole for jackets, suits, etc. Make these and other shelves required adjustable by using metal ratchet shelf supports, so that when the need arises you can shift the shelves accordingly. "Bins" can be built on the inside of hinged doors to store shoes, gloves, scarves and other odds, thus using even more of the available space for storage and putting the clothing stored where it is most readily available.

To Enter A Flower Show

It's Easier Than You Think—Classes Are Open To All

Ever have a desire to show your "green thumb" by entering an African violet or brilliant rex local flower show? You can have any trouble at all. No matter how busy you are, it won't be hard to find time in which you can participate in the next six weeks.

Shows are held in Cleveland, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York, Philadelphia, and assorted cities, you can enter flower shows for three to four months. Gardeners enjoy visiting these shows, but are timid about displaying their own plants, even when they are prize-winning class. The mature horticulturists feel that they are only for the professional growers, and a select group of growers.

Not so. Actually, exhibiting at a flower show is open to all. Anyone who has an outstanding plant can exhibit simply and easily. Every flower show has a complete schedule of classes of flowers and plants, and arrangements. By writing to this committee you can receive an entry blank to select the exhibiting class you wish to compete in. In the entry blank, the exhibit is described on the entry blank, and classified by the committee.

When the entry blank is filled out, it is sent to the committee for inclusion in entering a flower show, it should be noted, there is no cost to the exhibitor.

After all entry blanks are on file and the flower show entry is closed, the committee notifies each exhibitor as to the date and time to bring in the exhibit. All amateur or first-time exhibitors are given a list of rules to follow and information on how each flower class will be judged. Also, the awards are stated in printed form so exhibitors will know what to expect should they win in their class.

Almost any thriving house plant, from an African violet in prolific bloom to a well-groomed ivy, can be a prize winner at a flower show. Flower show awards do not always go to exotic specimens. The type of plant is secondary to the culture it has received.

If this is the year you plan to enter a flower show for the first time, there are a few things that should be kept in mind while preparing the plant or plants for exhibition. It is not difficult to time the blooming of a plant (if it is the blooming variety) for a particular show.

For an early spring show, single out plants that will promise full and attractive bloom the week before the show begins. These plants should be favored by giving them choice locations in the house if they are indoor plants, and they should receive close attention.

Plant development should be watched carefully. Plants that advance too fast should be moved to a cooler room that also has the maximum safe amount of light. Plants that are not advancing fast enough should be moved to a warmer spot. Leaves that do not seem to be sufficiently firm can be brought around by providing more light, cooler temperature and less water. If deep leaf color begins to pale, the plant should be fed with a small amount of soluble, complete fertilizer dissolved in water.

The dark days of winter cut off much needed light, and minimum light, of course, can make a healthy plant appear dull. To make up for light deficiency, you can install incandescent or fluorescent lamps which are of real value in supplying extra light for healthy plant growth.

For both flowering and foliage plants, the size, color, and texture of leaves are important. It's a risk to submit a plant for exhibition with pale, thin or undernourished leaves. Also, leaves should be free of dirt and dust. Rather than use dust sprays, it is better to dust and polish foliage with a crumpled piece of dry tissue paper.

For the fragile, hairy leaves of an African violet or episcia, use a camel's-hair brush or a leaf from another plant. A few finishing touches, such as a clean pot and one that is proportionate in size to the plant, will help win additional points. To keep the plant fresh during the show, water it thoroughly and cover top soil with damp peat moss.

Major flower shows have three main types of exhibits: these are gardens of various sizes, plants, and flower arrangements. The last two classes are more practical for the exhibitor who is a beginner, and they offer the most opportunity and fun.

Center to Show Films of Russia

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial will present Dr. E. S. Smyd's color films of Russia in a premier showing free of charge to the public at the Center, Tuesday night, February 17, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Smyd's pictures are of professional calibre with accompanying appropriate Russian background music.

Prior to the showing of the film Dr. Smyd will talk briefly on his impression of Russia, from which he and his wife have but recently returned after a 2,500 mile trip overland through the Soviet Union. They found the people friendly and were unprepared for the vast amount of industrial development, but found the way of life unappealing to the American mind which insists on a certain amount of leisure, comfort and ample housing.

The films will take the viewer from Finland to Leningrad, where in addition to showing the parks, the Circus and the opera (complete with Krushchev's party), there are excellent shots of the city with their merchandise and accompanying price tags excellent pictures of the brave citizen and his surroundings.

Via rail to Moscow, the pictures will give a good idea of Russian coaches and of the grazing country

Window Frost Snags Driver

Paul R. Heymes, 23, of Lakeshore, drove himself into trouble on Monday, Jan. 26, when he was arrested because of frosted car windows which obscured his view while driving on Lake road.

Heymes was traveling on Lake Shore when he was observed by Shores E. man Joseph Vitale, who hardly see the driver because of the frost on the windows.

The big trouble came the officer, after stopping Heymes in front of 97th Shore, asked to see the driver's operator's license. He could not produce one and was taken to the police station.

At the station, an irate teletype was sent to the state, which brought the fact that Heymes had a chauffeur license, which was revoked.

Heymes was given a ticket for driving without a license and his license was revoked until a $150 was posted for him, then released.

The motorist is set to appear before Shore John Gillis on Monday, February 2.

A pre-Valentine Mardi Gras Ball is being given by Grosse Pointe's young unmarried set tomorrow night, Friday, February 6, from 9 to 12 p.m., at the Memorial Center.

This is a last chance to have a gala party before Lent and the Center Club is looking forward to making the most of it. Bill Knicely's orchestra is playing throughout the evening and extra special refreshments will be served to stave off the rigors of the fasting season.

Though Grosse Pointe makes no claim to be New Orleans, every one will be given a mask when he enters the ballroom and the Mardi Gras theme will alternate with the Valentine motif in the decorations.

All young single adult Grosse Pointers and their guests are cordially invited to this dance and all Center Club functions. Dates are not necessary.

The Rev. Erville Maynard flew to Berkeley, Calif., to officiate at the Saturday wedding of Alice Talbot McElvenny and Theodore Oldham in the Chapel of the Great Commission at the University of California.

The daughter of the Ralph T. McElvennys, of Cloverly road, wore a princess gown of white peau de soie with a sabrina neckline and bracelet sleeves. The bodice of imported Chantilly lace was highlighted with seed pearls.

Her illusion fingertip veil was caught by an open shell of Chantilly lace accented with seed pearls and she carried full blown white roses with stephanotis.

Sherry Dorsey, of Seattle, Wash., the bride's cousin, was maid of honor in a sapphire blue gown, fashioned with a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. The bridesmaids, dressed like the honor attendant, were Anna Pedersen and Margaret Oldham, sister of the bridegroom.

Groomsmen for Mr. Oldham, son of the Harry Oldhams, of Clarksburch, Calif., were Veal Gish, Bruce Oxley and Warren Merwin.

For her daughter's wedding and the dinner which followed at the Women's Athletic Club in Oakland Mrs. McElvenny wore navy blue peau de soie. Mrs. Oldham was in a soft green frock.

The newlyweds are both students at the University of California where they will continue their studies.

Dr. Turcotte Claims Bride

Mrs. Alan R. Holcombe and Dr. Vincent Joseph Turcotte, Jr., were married at a 12 o'clock noon ceremony in St. Mary's Chapel, Ann Arbor.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of champagne peau de soie with matching accessories. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. James Hilton, of Ionia, Mich.

Mrs. Jeremiah G. Turcotte, of Ann Arbor, was matron of honor.

The bridegroom, son of Dr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Turcotte of Lakeland avenue, had his brother, Dr. Jeremiah G. Turcotte of Ann Arbor, as his best man.

Ushers were William Gouin, Dr. Gordon L. Hyde, of Ann Arbor, Stuart Meek and Dr. James M. Kennary, Jr.

Fordson Hands Devils Defeat in Final Seconds

By Jack Ramsdell

Fordson, with a large, and shall we say lucky squad, managed to ease by the Grosse Pointe Blue Devil Cagers 46-45, last Friday, January 30. Their victory came with 15 seconds remaining in the hotly but cleanly contested game.

With the ball in Fordson's hands, Roger Oberg moved to his favorite corner, took a quick bounce pass from Bill Tyler, and to the horror of some 1,700 Grosse Pointe fans, arched a long jump shot, that swished the net for a Fordson one point victory.

In Fourth Place
This defeat was Grosse Pointe's third of the 1938-39 campaign and dropped them into fourth place in B.C.L. league play. Three days before the Fordson game, the Devils handed Port Huron a 59-54 setback. Coupled with their afore-mentioned loss, they now have an 8-3 overall season record.

Tomorrow night the Devils will move into Monroe, then next Tuesday, Wyandotte come into their own that the Grosse Pointe five.

"I don't know what we'll do without Emil (DeGrazia) and Roxy (Jewett)," a Fordson spokesman said before game time, "for they seemed to hold our team together." Little did they know that Bill Tyler and Roger Oberg, the graduated seniors' replacements, would come into their own that eventful night. They scored more than half their team's points, and assisted on all but three floor shots.

Bruzzese Starts Fast
Grosse Pointe captain Larry Bruzzese single-handedly pushed his squad into a 9-2 early lead by hitting on two long jump shots, a driving lay-up, and a foul shot.

Fordson, realizing the fact that they couldn't sit back and watch Bruzzese all night, quickly narrowed Grosse Pointe's lead to two points.

Bob Hunt, Devil guard, then dribbled in and around his man, to set Lars Anderson up for a bounce pass under the basket. Anderson then dropped the ball through the hoop. This performance made the Fordsonites a little wishy-washy and the Devils managed to pull ahead 22-14 before Fordson could get on their feet again.

Tyler's long set shot, Czapski's foul shot, and mammoth 6'6", 225 pound Dave Scott's two soft hooks closed the Devils' lead to one point.

Bruzzese's accurate shooting and Hunt's quick sharp passes helped their teammates outscore Fordson 11-4 in the remaining 4 minutes of the second period.

Held Big Lead
At the halfway mark, Grosse Pointe led 33-25 with Bruzzese having notched a spectacular 18 points.

In the third period, Dave Scott controlled both backboards, which enabled his mates to fire away more often. If they missed, Scott would merely tip the loose ball through the hoop or drop it in on a hook shot. The Tractors outscored the Devils 13-8 in this period and managed to move within 3 points, 41-38, of their opponents.

Play bogged down considerably in the opening minutes of the final stanza until Bob Hunt and Lars Anderson swished the nets on two consecutive jump shots. The Fordson band, that had played such tunes as "Sweet Georgia Brown" through the contest, suddenly stopped playing and all seemed lost for their beloved Tractors.

Devils Hit Slump
Three points separated the two ball clubs, with three minutes remaining. Then our Blue Devils seemed to collapse when Fordson's Tyler hit the mark on a 35-foot jump shot. The Devils then executed a would-be stall, hoping to eat up the remaining 34 seconds on the clock.

Tyler tied Bob Hunt up for what looked to be a jump ball but Fordson was given the ball out of bounds. The Tractors then called time out in order to plan their strategy with one point separating the clubs.

Tyler took the ball out of bounds, passed to Czapski, who passed back to Tyler. Then Tyler fed a bounce pass to Oberg in the corner, who in turn dropped in the winning basket, giving Fordson a one point victory.

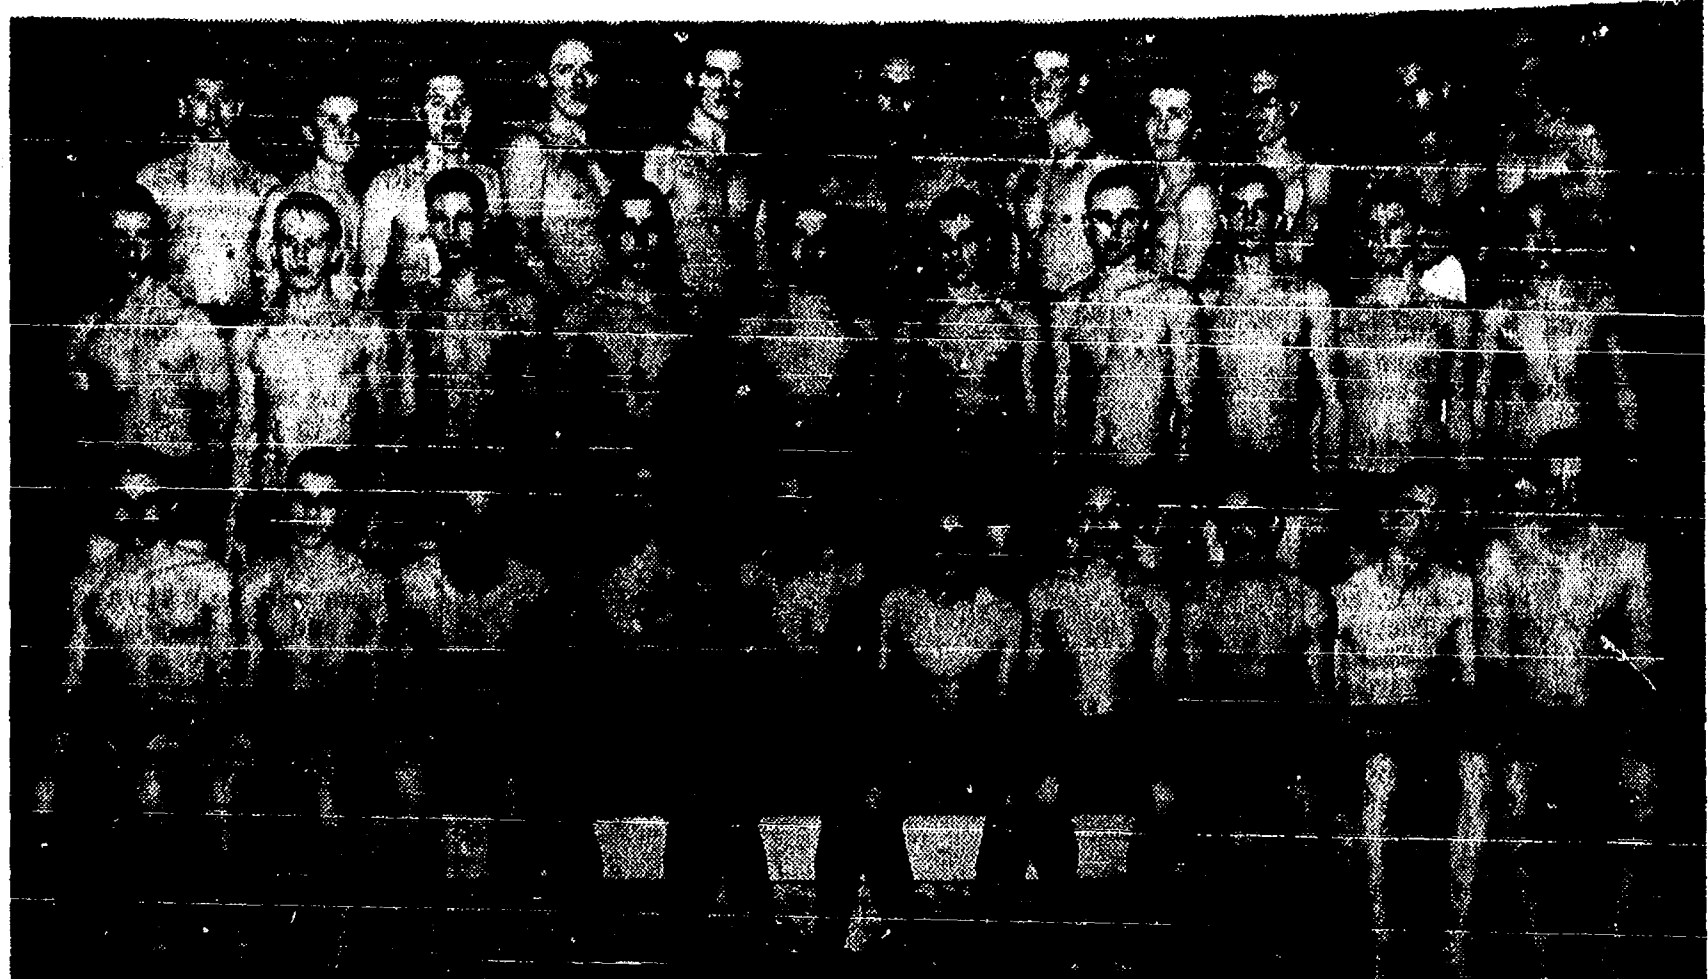

At game's end, Fordson coach Vanderhull commented gleefully "You've got to have luck to win in this business." After seeing this game, I'm inclined to agree with him.

Devil Reserve Swimmers Winning in First Season

Picture by Fred Runnells

Grosse Pointe High assembled its first reserve swimming team in history to compete in a regular schedule this year. The Devil neophytes, some getting their first taste of competition, are coming through in grand style and won their first two meets by lopsided scores. The team is under Coach Robert Kinnear who believes he has some lads that will be ready to step into Coach Paul Wheeler's varsity team at the start of the 1950-51 season. Shown from left to right, first row—LARRY COLEPEART, CHARLES WATTS, TOM TRETEART, JOHN DAVIS, DENNIS RUN-

Austin High Cagers Win Two More

St. Joseph's High and De La Salle were the victims of Austin's race toward repeating as champs of the Catholic League. Impressive Friar defense left St. Joe's behind, 76-35, on the De La Salle court. But on the home court the scoring went up for Austin, 77-50 over La Salle.

These games, played on January 27 and 30, left only one in the league season for Austin. The opponent, Salesian, has already lost to Austin.

St. Joe's couldn't stop the starting Friars who ran up a 42-15 halftime lead. The captain-forward pair of Tom Pine and Gary Ruperich looked ready for the tournaments, which begin February 15.

Bench Emptied
Every player saw action and all but one scored. But this second-half team did not let up on the Bluejays. They held the lead to win 58-35.

In their earlier meeting, the Pilots had held their own, but this time the Friars found the bucket early. In the first and second periods the Friars fell only points short of hitting double the opponents' score, 20-11 and 41-21.

Pine's High Game
Pine and Ruperich and center Dave Miller sparked a third quarter. At the close of this period Austin led 64-29. The entire team played again as the Friars won 77-50.

It was Pine's high game with 25 points on 11 goals and 3 free throws. Miller and Ruperich followed with 16 and 15.

St. Paul Lakers Conquer Servite and St. Stanislaus

By Fred Kotcher

The St. Paul Lakers re-moved the only threat to the sole possession of second place in the 1st Division East side, by defeating Servite in a game at Grosse Pointe High on Thursday, January 26.

The Lakers Five faltered in the first half, seeing only 17 points fall through the hoop, 3 of which came in the first quarter. Servite had the edge the whole first half, leading 12-3 and 20-17 at the end of the first two periods respectively.

The beginning of the second half brought about a little better result as the trailing Lakers held the Panthers to only 7 points on 2 field goals and 3 free shots, while collecting 12 points on 8 field goals from the floor.

The fourth quarter proved to be the deciding period as the Panthers came from behind and tied it up. From there on it was a see-saw battle, until Tom Kolojeski went to the line to shoot 3 free-throw, 2 for a personal and a technical which was added when a player disputed a call.

From then on the Lakers did most things right, giving their opponents only two points on a jump shot, while gathering in 5 more, on a nice shot from the floor and 3 more free throws. The final horn sounded and the scoreboard read 42 to 39 in favor of St. Paul.

The Lakers also traveled to St. Stanislaus on Tuesday, January 27, to meet the Broncos for the second time this year.

This time the action was not quite as torrid as that which was in store for them two days later. The Lakers took the lead and gave the Broncos little chance to catch up, the score at intermission being 30-23 in favor of the Lakers.

The second half rolled on easily for the Lakers as Coach Lauer substituted all 15, with the final gun bringing the final score to 64 to 42.

The Lakers have only one league game remaining. They will meet St. Ladislaus tomorrow night at Grosse Pointe High. In on-league games they play some of the top teams in other leagues.

Little Lakers Win Four Tilt

St. Paul's School sixth grade Little Lakers basketball team notched up another victory on Sunday, February 1, when it trounced St. Raymond, 41-11 on the St. Paul court.

This was the fourth straight win for the Little Lakers. Billy Bingham captured top scoring honors with 15, followed by Jim Turner with eight and Chris Ferry with six.

One of the toughest games of the season came on January 22, when the St. Paul youngsters beat St. Ignatius at De LaSalle. The final score was 20-10.

Devil Reserves Trounce Rivals

By Jack Ramsdell

Grosse Pointe's Reserve basketball squad rolled over Port Huron 43-33, January 24. Then the Blue Devil quintet knocked the Fordson Tractors down to size 43-38, last Friday, January 30.

At present the Blue Devils own a very respectable 9-2 season record, and a 4-2 record in B.C.L. action.

A long jump shot by Fordson's Bob Hanna, gave his alma mater a 15-14 lead with four minutes remaining in the first half. This was just the thing to light a fire under Coach Epperson's Grosse Pointe crew, as they in turn out scored Fordson 7-0 in the second period's final minutes.

Mike Miller, Larry Enghardt, and Lefty Stanley aided the Devils' cause by chalking up 14 of their team's 21 points in the first half. Their performances, however, were overshadowed by an up and coming Fordson sharpshooter, Bob Hamood, who hit for 11 of his team's 15 points.

Doug Aldinger and Miller highlighted play in the third period with their driving lay-ups through the porous zone defense of Fordson.

Fordson's only reliable marksman during the third period was Jack Hribar, who hit on three consecutive long jump shots. At the period's end, Grosse Pointe led 35-27.

Tight defensive play, and hacking fouls, (9 against Fordson), were predominant throughout the final stanza. The Tractors were able to outscore the Pointers 9-8. This nevertheless, was not enough, for Grosse Pointe led 43-38 as the final buzzer sounded.

Two Pointers Helping Wayne Fencing Team

Mike Bruce and Mike Keenan, Grosse Pointe residents, are returning lettermen and regulars on University of Detroit's fencing team.

Bruce, a junior, is number one man in the epee. He is the brother of John and Gerry Bruce, also former fencing letterman at Detroit. Gerry Bruce was head fencing coach and team captain when fencing returned as a varsity sport in 1947. He was team captain, coach, and All-American in 1948. Coach Dick Perry said, "Mike has the ability to follow in Gerry's foot steps as an All-American."

Keenan is number three man in the saber. The saber team is the most successful unit of the Titan fencing team.

On Feb. 23, 1945 the American flag was raised for the first time over Japanese fortified island of Iwo Jima, when members of the 28th Marines planted the Stars and Stripes on the highest point, Mount Suribachi.

Devil Tankers Beat Fordson Handily in Tractors' Pool

By Greg Taubeneck

Fordson High School was the scene of another Devil victory last Friday, as Coach Paul Wheeler and his swimmers trounced the Tractors for the second time this year, 63 to 29.

Starting it off were Grosse Pointe's Bill Pattee and Lauren Bowler, who slammed the 50-yard freestyle.

Then, before you could say swim-swam-swum, the Devils' Jim Carne and Chris Kimball slammed the 100-yard butterfly; Jerry McJil and Dick Mertz the 200-yard freestyle, and Mike Bremer and Bob Hill the 100 Yard Backstroke.

The 100-yard breaststroke saw Fordson take its first second place award of the meet, as the Tractors' Paiko was edged out by Grosse Pointe's Dick Law.

Aronson Pulls Surprise
A surprise came with the 100-yard freestyle. Grosse Pointe's Pete Aronson, who usually swims in the wake of teammate Mark Gregory, got down to business and beat Gregory, turning in the winning time of 56.0; but Gregory, not to be further outdone, took a second as the Devils slammed their fifth event of the day.

Fordson's diver Monthaven, one of the best in the area, took the diving event. Grosse Pointe's Tyler, a new face, led the second and third places. The 150-yard Medley saw the Devils' Judson splash to a time of 1:45.2, while George Mesel took third place award.

Set Pool Relay—Grosse Pointe's Steve Lay team of Bremer, Law, and Gregory, recently set a national mark in their event. Other records (this is a pool record), were swamped by the Fordson with the time of 1:41.1.

The only disappointing meet came when Pointe's Speed Relay composed of Bremer, Aronson, and Pattee, qualified for a tour.

Next week, the take on the varsity from Monroe High School. Monroe boasts the best that has beat the Devils years in league com-

St. Paul Swimming Team Stays in Undeclared Relay

By coming up with two spectacular clutch in the free style relay, the final event of the surprising St. Paul swimming team managed to main undefeated as they met DeLaSalle and last week.

On Thursday, January 29, the combination of Jerry Chouinard, George Shefferly, John Senese, and Fred Kotcher edged out a previously unbeaten De La Salle quartet to bring the Lakers a hard earned 33-33 tie before a home crowd at Grosse Pointe High's pool.

The next afternoon, Coach John Chase decided to stay with these same boys in the relay and they upset Salesian's best at the latter's home pool to pull out a 30-28 victory for the Lakers.

In both meets there were many exciting races leading up to the climax. Most outstanding in the De La Salle encounter was Captain Fred Kotcher's photo-finish win in the 40-yard free style.

Everyone is looking forward to the rematch of John Senese and Tony Ceresko of Salesian in the 200-yard free style on Thursday, February 19, at the Grosse Pointe High pool. These boys matched strokes for 10 tense lengths with Tony getting the nod in a very close race.

St. Paul's next home meet will be on Thursday, February 12, at 8 p.m., at Grosse Pointe High with Cathedral Central providing the opposition.

Boat Banter

By Fred Runnells

Dateline: Feb. 5—
Nassau, New Providence: Just about now the Hog Island light, at the entrance of the harbor at Nassau, is a welcome sight to many local yachtsmen who are participating in the annual Miami to Nassau race. It is too early to tell who was the winner as all of the fleet has not made port.

The Great Lakes was well represented by a host of sailors, mostly from the Detroit area, and Henry Burkard's famous cutter "Meteor III" is flying the colors of Bayview Yacht Club. Aboard the "Meteor" are skipper Burkard, Dave Sloss, Doug Wake, Howard Boston, Wilfred McGuire and Frank Hill. All are Bayview members except Wake; he is from Crescent Sail Yacht Club but was a regular member of the crew during the 1958 season when "Meteor" posted an all victorious DRYA season in winning the Mill Cross Memorial trophy, Cruising B and overall Cruising championships with a perfect score of 3,000 points.

Sailing his own yacht in the Southern Circuit races was a promise Henry made to himself two years ago when he sailed his first Nassau race as a crew. Hank plans some extensive Bahamas cruising following the Governor's Cup race on Saturday, February 7. His pretty blonde wife Millie is as excited as all get out about the cruise and if we don't miss our guess the couple will get in plenty of fishing too.

Carter Sales was once again aboard Jack Price's yawl "Comanche" and Pointer Jack Moran joined Doc Wilson, Johnny Kountz and Clarence "Moon" Baker in chartering a yacht for the race.

Pat Collins, of the Detroit Yacht Club, and winter resident of Fort Lauderdale, again was with Hugh Schaddelee in "Hilaria" out of Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Now that the race is over the round of parties will get underway. First there will be the Symonette party, which always has been a fabulous affair which we have enjoyed on many occasions under the

Pin League Led By Goebel Two

In three close games, Goebel Two managed to make a sweep of their match with Atwell to take sole ownership of first place in the Grosse Pointe Business Men's Bowling League.

Two other teams were four point winners and are tied for second place. G. P. Woods whipped Bruce Wigle and Beaconsfield Kercheval made a sweep of its games with Larry's.

High series for the night was a 634 by Dick Stehlin, but his Mack Prestwick team could only take one point from Barrett's.

John Gornick with a 248 game led the Cox and Baker quintet to three points over G. P. Pharmacy. Unfortunately this high score can not count for season records as Gornick is used only as a sixth man.

More three point winners were Adam Simms over Cramer and Maple Lanes over Belding.

Kennelly and Goebel One split their games two and two. Eighteen men rolled 23 double century scores: John Gornick 248, 200; Jack Baker 236; Henry Wilson 235; Mel Persky 230; Jim Westfall 226; Dick Stehlin 225, 209, 200; John MacDonald 223; Ernie Nierath 222; Norm Boorman 218; Sam Sarcona 215; Frank Fletcher 213; John Vance 213; Bruce Morris 211, 202; John Zamiska 208; George Sommersville 204, 201; Bob Kehrer 203; Don Bayhan 203; Bob Lieckfeldt 200.

TEAM STANDINGS: Goebel II 8, G.P. Woods 7, Beaconsfield-Kercheval 7, Goebel I 7, Barrett's 6, G. P. Pharmacy 5, Maple Lanes 4, Cramer 4, Cox and Baker 4, Larry's 4, Adam Simms 3, Kennelly 2, Mack-Prestwick 2, Atwell 1, Bruce Wigle 1, Belding 1

SEASON RECORDS: Team High Single: Goebel II 1070, Maple Lanes 1027, Team High Three: Goebel II 2827, Goebel I 2808, Ind. High Single: Hal Nierath 279, Harry Kudge 247, Ind. High Three: Ernie Nierath 675, Hal Nierath 641

Mrs. Bacon to Open Home For Court of Honor Dames: Mrs. Arthur Hamilton Bacon, treasurer of Michigan Society Dames of the Court of Honor, will open her home in Barrington road, Friday, February 13, for the midwinter luncheon-meeting of the society with luncheon set for 12:30 o'clock.

The state president, Mrs. Hugh W. Glover, of Midland, will act as co-hostess as well as presiding at a 12 o'clock board meeting and the business session at 1:30 o'clock.

Speaker of the day will be Franklin Bouwsma, executive secretary of the Detroit Educational Television Foundation, who will speak on "Television in Michigan Education."

A report will be given on the society's project, a student loan fund at Eastern Michigan College at Ypsilanti, for a student preparing to teach American History.

Among Grosse Pointe members who will attend are: Mrs. Richard W. Allen, of Cranford lane; Mrs. Glenn D. Curtis, of Rivard boulevard; Mrs. Lloyd DeWitt Smith, honorary state president, of Grand Marais boulevard; Mrs. Willard O. Wilson, of Bedford road, flag custodian; Mrs. Fred A. Jordan, of East Jefferson avenue, and others.

The Governor's cocktail party follows the next night at which time the Governor and his lady greet the sailors at the beautiful Governor's mansion that overlooks the Nassau harbor. Following the Governor's Cup race on Saturday, February 7, race officials of the Miami-Nassau race will stage the award dinner at the Nassau Yacht Club.

Then there will be the mad dash to get back to the ice and snow of Detroit and the shackles of the necessity of making a living. The luckier ones who have a bit more time will bask in the sun on Paradise Beach or enjoy the sport of haggling with the natives in the market place for souvenirs for those back home.

For most of us it's a drain on the pocketbook that cannot be afforded, but sailors being what they are, a different breed of cat, we scrape and save a few pennies just to make a boat race no matter where it is.

Ford, Offering Sport Car Show

Paced by a quartet of Italian models and an English car that will be making first appearances in the Midwest, the Henry Ford Museum's Eighth Annual "Sports Cars in Review" will open on Friday, February 6.

The show will include more than 50 sports models, all high performance vehicles designed for competitive driving, according to Alan R. Symonds, show chairman.

All major sports car manufacturers will be represented at the exhibit, only one of its kind devoted entirely to this type of vehicle.

The four Italian cars that will be premiered for the first time in the Midwest are the Fiat-Abarth-Zagato, the aluminum-bodied Ferrari Berlinetta, Maserati Gran Turismo and Maserati Gran Prix. The English Fearless Grand Turismo Coupe also is in this first-time category.

The fuel-injected Jaguar D that the late Mike Hawthorn and Ivor Bueb drove to victory in the 1955 LeMans, France, 24-hour race also will be in the show. Hawthorn, 29-year-old English champion who was killed January 22 in a highway accident after he earlier announced his retirement from racing, later drove the same car in the International Grand Prix at Sebring, Fla.

The Italian Ferrari 250 Testa Rossa in the show is a duplicate of the car that won the Sebring race last year.

Nearly half of the cars will be English, with the remainder Italian, German and United States models.

The development of sports cars will be traced through several famous models of other years. These include two English cars, a 1924 Vauxhall 30-98 all-aluminum Sports Tourer and a 1912 Rolls Royce Speedster known as the "London to Edinburgh" Silver Ghost, and an American-made 1908 Locomobile similar to the car that won the Vanderbilt Cup race a year earlier.

Ecclestone Heads Wayne Sail Club: Llywd Ecclestone, Jr., of Lincoln road, was elected commodore of the Wayne State University Sailing Club for 1959. His flag officers will be John Brooks, vice commodore, Sylvia Booker, secretary, and Rod Anderson, treasurer.

The Wayne sailing fleet will be increased to five with the purchase of two more fiber glass MIT dinghies which will be used in club racing and intercollegiate events starting early this spring.

Ecclestone, a 21-year-old senior who is slated to graduate in June, has wide experience in sailing and is the skipper of the beautiful Leki yawl "Bikini" which sails under the Bayview Yacht Club colors and is a top notch contender in weekly DRYA regattas on Lake St. Clair, in the Cruising B class.

Long distance racing is the young skipper's long suit and he has competed in both the Bayview and Chicago Mackinac races with "Bikini" the last four years. The latter two years Llywd was the youngest skipper in both events.

North Star Sail Club Plans Race: The North Star Sail Club will sponsor the first D N Class invitational race this Saturday and Sunday, February 6 and 7, on Lake St. Clair north of Crocker road at Jefferson avenue. Entrance to the lake will be through the Surf Bar parking lot.

This race will be an open event for all D N boats competing for the Surf Bar trophy.

Saturday will feature two races with starting time scheduled for 11 o'clock. On Sunday the only invitational race will begin at 1 o'clock followed by the club races and trophy presentations.

Progress is not a twentieth century phenomenon in the Pointe, for even in that Victorian decade between 1878 and '88 great changes occurred in the residential area along the lakeshore.

A newspaper of 1879 reports on "Suburban Villas, What Detroiters are doing in Respect to Them, A Charming Retreat from City Dust and Heat."

Ten years later much had happened to the Pointe, familiar landmarks such as Billel's hotel had disappeared. It stood on a slight elevation of the road before the lake avenue deepened. Who Billel was or what happened to his hotel is a mystery, but next to his hotel was the George Prentiss home, with extensive grounds bisected by a long driving path. Also on the property was what the article calls "a tenement house."

Then came the T. H. Hinchman and Joseph Berry homes, long landmarks and formerly described in detail in this column, but beyond the War Memorial was the "Old Schafer House," the last that stood on the lake bank. August Schafer was a well known architect who was killed superintending some improvements at the E. A. Brush house down the avenue. By 1878 the Schafer house was shuttered and untenanted although the owner was near neighbor Joseph Berry.

Just opposite the Schafer home was the cottage of a Mr. Bour, the charming flower gardens on the front lawn centered with a miniature model of an old castle on the Rhine, through whose doors and corridors growing plants sprouted.

Next came the old Ellair property just purchased by the Newberrys and McMillans, then the Brush home noted for being supplied throughout by gas.

Much further along was the modest and unpretentious edifice of the Catholic Church. On those days St. Paul's on the lakeshore as we know it, was a frame building surrounded by a cemetery, which has since been moved to Moross road. At the time of this article adjoining the church were 150 acres, "on which someday the owners, the Sisters of the Sacred Heart, intend to erect a convent."

The residences of Charles G. Moran and Louis Moran bordered the Stewart cottage next to the convent fields, and the Morans had an extensive fishery located opposite the houses.

Next came Van Damsen's rookery (and what could that have been?) than the Moran Cottage even in 1878 over 120 years old with another Moran as tenant.

The Protestant Church on the corner of Kerby was being remodeled in the summer of 1878. The C. E. Masons, surrounded by willows, was next door.

Some of the families to become regular residents were living in the Pointe then, such as the Brushes, Woodbridges, Weirs, Berrys, Lothrop's and of course, the Morans. But what has happened to those old names such as Prentiss, Schafer and Bour? The article, clipped by Cleveland Hunt, for his scrapbook, does not bear the paper's name, but it raises some interesting queries about the Pointe in 1878 before the great exodus of summer cottagers that we know began.

who, where and whatnot

by whoozit

If the house where you live is like the Robert Pauli Scherers' rambling glass and gray stone home at Lakeshore and Oxford road you built it because you prefer modern architecture, simple with curved lines, and want to bring the outdoors into your family's midst.

Mrs. Scherer disliked the traditional English home they lived in for many years in Palmer Woods and when she and her husband decided to build in the Pointe she wanted a home light, bright and contemporary.

Most striking feature of their house is the huge expanse of glass. From every room but the dining area a vast view of the lake across the snow swept lawn is possible.

Color is the keynote to the interior, from the vanilla ice cream carpeting to the ashes of roses walls. From the wide entrance hall banked with greens there is a long vista of the whole house. Along with the bright color notes curving lines keep the eye moving.

In the living room teal blue sofas pick up the color of the print splash curtains as do the cork chairs. Blond mahogany accented with rattan was the choice for the tables and chests which were designed in Craftsman Village in Florida.

In searching for a decorator the Scherers wanted a man who would give their home the feeling of a Southern beach home or Hawaiian lanai. Their choice was George LaMarche, interior designer for many Florida homes.

In the lanai off the living room the tropical atmosphere is most apparent, the colors green and coral, the furniture bamboo. The lanai (the Scherers prefer the word to Florida room) opens in the summer onto the patio. Plants bloom magnificently for Mrs. Scherer and the lanai is decked with tropical greens. In one corner stands a trailing star ivy, begun from two tiny blooms in her corsage at the wedding of daughter, Karla Scherer and Peter Fink.

When the Scherers moved into their glass split level all four children were living at home. Two daughters, Jo and Karla, one son, Bob, Jr., are married now and son John is at the University of Michigan. But their bedrooms are intact waiting for visits.

The ceiling in the living room is ten feet high, giving a studio effect, the bedroom wing is on the second story in one half of the house. A paneled library is adjoined by daughter Jo's blue bedroom and the master bedroom, done in charcoal, white and yellow. Each of the bedrooms has its own bath, the master bedroom with two lavatories and dressing room.

The designer himself painted the gay floral murals over the tubs in each bathroom.

On the second story, reached by an impressive hanging open stairway, is Karla's turquoise room, and the two boys' bedrooms, in masculine browns and deep blues and greens. A small luggage room has been made over into a pink and white nursery for the grandchildren.

Dominating the entrance hall is a Finnish chandelier, of mobile glass snowflakes. Down the curving

MRS. JOHN DENLER, OF PINE COURT

By Patricia Talbot

Mrs. John Denler's love of the theater began when she was Heather Stuart-McDonald and watched her first Christmas pantomime as a Scottish school girl. Now she's the star of the February 13 and 14 Ibex production of Moss Hart's "Light Up the Sky."

She has traveled across an ocean to become an American citizen and a Pointe wife and mother as well as an amateur actress. Her girlhood was spent in the idyllic Scottish village, Bridge of Allan, on the edge of the moors.

Her mother, who is visiting the Denlers now, still has the delightful brogue of the highlands but the charming Heather speaks with a British accent, trained in her preparatory school, Highgate, near London.

Quick Study The actress, who is a quick study of her Gertrude Lawrence-like part, can emote dramatically in the extravagant gestures of the theater. But at home she is a serene and competent, with a quick wit, and the delightful manners of the British trained. Her peaches and cream complexion, stately carriage and aristocratic features are a real asset when she appears behind the footlights.

She came to Detroit in 1939 to visit an aunt, the trip a present after graduation. She remained to marry John Denler (she was impressed with him because he treated her like a lady, not with the callow casualness of some of her first American beaux). She is now the mother of Jack and Bonnie and a confirmed Pointer.

Acting for the transplanted Scotswoman began a few years ago. This will be her second leading role. She also starred in the "Mousetrap" for Fine Arts a few seasons ago. In that Agatha Christie thriller her wardrobe was a little on the drab side. She is pleased that in "Light Up the Sky" her costumes will be floor sweeping tea gowns and chic dinner frocks.

After this production she will be cast in a complete switch, as an English butler skeleton in Theater Arts "Wizard of Oz."

Very versatile and energetic, she has to keep active. She can't sew a fine seam but dirt gardening is her specialty and any housework involving soap suds she can do. She's an ardent worker for Junior Goodwill and is a member of the kitchen corps in the Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. She welcomed her mother because now she can have an enthusiastic companion on her long walks. She loves to tramp up Lakeshore although it's far different than trudging across her native moors.

She hasn't been back to Scotland for many years, not since she attended her sister's wedding in their small country kirk, but she anticipates returning with her children.

Ardent Ibexer Mrs. Denler is an ardent Ibex member, probably because she enjoys the creative work possible through the club. She has been chairman of the arts and crafts and active in the world study and book groups as well as the theater. The proceeds from "Light Up the Sky" will be donated to the School for Exceptional Children, Inc., Grosse Pointe, which pleases her.

Children inspire her and she is thrilled at the freedom American youngsters have. Her Bonnie and Jack are fortunate to absorb much of the Scottish spirit from their mother. Bonnie can dance a fine Highland fling, taught by her mother, and treasures a bagpipe record her grandmother brought. Both the children know legends of Bonnie Prince Charlie and Rob Roy, thrill to the clan tradition. They enjoy watching their mother on stage, too, and are always in the dress rehearsal audience.

Empire Daughter Mrs. Denler is a member of the Daughters of the British Empire and keeps alive her interest in the old country while understanding and treasuring her new ties.

She has a real artistic flair but claims her husband has the genuine talent. He painstakingly fashions hand made chests and bric-a-brac for their early American home. Greatly prized is Mrs. Denler's brass collection. She has the real Scottish yearning for cleanliness and her colonial house is spotless, although she claims her mother believes the brass and silver have suffered while Mrs. Denler is rehearsing.

No stage fright bothers this actress, although her husband is a wreck on her opening nights. "Light Up the Sky's" audience will have a rare treat when Heather Denler appears behind the footlights in mid-February.

FISH CHOWDER NEW ENGLAND STYLE

Contributed by Mrs. Robert H. Snyder

3/4 lb. salt pork 5 medium onions 3 qts. milk 3 lbs. haddock fillet 5 medium potatoes Dice pork into one quarter inch cubes. Fry, and when liquid renders, add sliced onions and brown. Add milk and fish. Cook one hour without boiling (boiling curdles the chowder but does not impair the flavor). Peel and slice potatoes into half inch cubes and boil so that potatoes are cooked and ready to put into chowder when chowder is done. This makes five servings, if it is to be the main dish and each person has several bowls. It is even better the second day. Serve with pilot crackers.

The program will conclude with modeling of ski togs and equipment with Norm Archer and Jens Olsen commenting on the advantages of the different items. Margaret Rice will add some of her glamour wear to lend lustre to the occasion as will also the good looking models Muriel Gillette has lined up.

'Gold Cadillac' Opens on Pt

Seven Grosse Pointe residents have principal roles in "The Solid Gold Cadillac," which will be presented by the Grosse Pointe Community Theater Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe High School auditorium.

Mrs. Rickie Girodat, 1342 Revere, will be starred in the role of Laura Partridge, a sweet-mannered and timid lady who upsets a big corporation's annual stockholders' meeting by asking the company's officers some embarrassing questions.

The principal male role in the Howard Teichman-George S. Kaufman farce of big business and politics will be played by William Dennes, 202 Fisher road, as Ed McKeever, the former president of the corporation who has had to leave it, selling his stock at a $3,000,000 profit, in order to take a government post.

While Mrs. Girodat was featured in several GPCT productions last season, including "Man Who Came To Dinner," "Night Must Fall" and "Desperate Hours," Mr. Dennes will be making his GPCT debut in a role which parodies that of a well-known business-political figure. Two other Girodats have roles in "The Solid Gold Cadillac." Mrs. Girodat's Don, will be heard off-stage narrator, David H. The piece was not in the center, valued part of November.
