TWO RETIRED GM officials met tragedy, yesterday, in a duck blind on the north shore of Lake St. Clair. The two men, Harry Anderson and Harlow H. Curtice, were sitting side by side in the blind when a flock of ducks flew over. Curtice raised his gun to fire and at the same time, Anderson stood up. The charge from Curtice's shotgun struck Anderson in the head, killing him. Curtice, former GM president, and Anderson, former GM vice-president, had been close friends and had hunted together for years.

A FIRE in Mt. Clemens' Nunneley Shoe Store, yesterday, caused an estimated $500,000 worth of damage. The shoe store was completely destroyed and several other buildings on the block suffered extensive smoke damage. Firemen battled the blaze in 14 degree temperature that turned the water on their suits to ice. Six firemen were overcome by smoke, but there were no injuries. It took four hours to bring the fire under control.

MANY OF DETROIT'S radio stations and disc jockeys have denied the existence of "payola" on their shows, following an article in Life magazine by WXYZ's former DJ, Ed McKenzie. In the article, McKenzie described the role of "payola," saying some DJ's receive up to $100 a week to plug certain records. WWJ, WJR, WQTE and WCAR all rejected policies of no-payola.

NEWSCASTER JAC LeGOFF was fired by WJBK-TV, yesterday, after his Wednesday night 11 o'clock program on which he gave his opinions on the subject of payola. LeGoff, who is considered Detroit's best known newscaster, said the firing did not change his opinions. His 11 o'clock newscast has been the highest rated show on at that hour.

"Payola in one form or another is a part of American business. This is certainly not to say that I or the broadcast industry condones the practice, but I let him who is without sin cast the first stone," LeGoff said Wednesday night.

This statement was in answer to the many inquiries he had received as to why he had said nothing about the headline story on payola in earlier broadcasts. "The story I used Wednesday night expressed my own strong feelings in defense of the broadcast industry, of which I have been a part for many years. To express my own opinion was a violation of station editorial policy," LeGoff said.

TEN ITALIAN Renaissance masterpieces were found in the home of an Italian immigrant of three years ago who is working as a TV repairman in Beverly Hills, Calif. Experts said the paintings, which have been stored in the family's bedroom, are worth eight to ten million dollars. "We thought they were nice pictures, but of no great value," said Alfonso Follo.

FORD MOTOR CO. has ceased its production of the Edsel, which made its debut before the automotive industry just 26 months ago. In three model years, only a little over 100,000 cars were sold.

THE UNITED STEEL WORKERS International yesterday told the U. S. Government that it had better pile up as great a steel supply as possible for defense purposes. The announcement indicated that there was little hope of a settlement in the five month old steel strike before the end of the 80 day Taft Hartley injunction back to work period, January 26.

At that time, if there has been no settlement, the workers can walk out again. In a letter to Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller, Union counsel Arthur J. Goldberg said that the union wanted it made "perfectly plain that should the strike resume, any peril to the

Sunday Was A Busy Day On-The-Hill

The Kercheval avenue sunning center in the Farms was closed to traffic Sunday while nurserymen carried out one of the main stages in the beautification program jointly sponsored by businessmen of that district and the Farms City Council. Ten large maple trees were planted, each 25 years old. With existing trees there are now 15, spaced 100 feet apart, between McMillan road and Hall place. And, of course there is the granddaddy of them all, the huge elm which springs majestically out of the courtyard of the Grosse Pointe News building.

Damage Done To City Hall In G.P. Woods

New Municipal Building Under Construction Visited by Vandals; Council Chamber Smeared With Glue

Vandals broke into the Woods' new municipal building during the night of Monday, November 16, causing extensive damage to wood work and plaster of the council chambers.

Casper Salvaggio of 20605 Nine Mile road, St. Clair Shores, construction foreman, told police that an unknown person, or persons, entered the building through the circular wall on the west side of the edifice.

The vandals broke a half-gallon jug of glue and wiped the substance over the east side wall plaster.

The entrance door on the south wall was also smeared. Salvaggio said replacement and repair costs will amount to about $200.

Dr. Fitt to Talk To Churchmen

Dr. Frank Fitt, Pastor Emeritus of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, will be the principal speaker at the Men's Association monthly dinner meeting to be held on Wednesday, December 2 at 6:30 p.m. in the Church gymnasium.

Men wishing to make reservations should call the Church Office, TU. 5-3773, before noon on Tuesday, December 1.

Police and Firemen Turn Cowboys for Park Roundup

Police and firemen from Grosse Pointe Park suddenly found themselves playing cowboys last Friday when three Shetland show ponies led them a merry chase in the middle of East Jefferson avenue.

The three ponies, who had been quartered in the garage of the Bernie Falk's home on Maryland avenue, got loose in the midst of preparations that were being made to send them to Canada. The planned deportation doubtless had nothing to do with the sudden dash for freedom.

Any way, these three mares (a stallion was corralled in a separate stall and didn't get away) headed for the wide

Methodist Pastor Grateful For Council's Help During Church's Formative Years

Rev. Hugh C. White Cites Problems of Expansion and Accompanying Expense; Appreciates Patience in Parking Lot Project

Following the publication of the story last week by the Grosse Pointe News concerning the action of the Grosse Pointe Farms City Council in insisting that the Grosse Pointe Methodist Church comply with the paving requirement on its parking lot the Grosse Pointe News got in touch with the pastor.

The Rev. Hugh C. White was asked if he had anything further to say on the matter. The pastor issued the following statement and stressed that he wanted it understood that he appreciated the cooperation of the Grosse Pointe Farms City Council both in this instance and in times past.

Always Expanding "Since its beginning on September 9, 1945, the Grosse Pointe Methodist Church never has ceased to expand its membership and facilities. The first acquisition to the physical equipment of the church was a parcel of land 280 feet in frontage and 517 feet deep on Moross road. Two subsequent purchases have made the frontage on Moross road 394 feet with a uniform depth of 517 feet. This comprises an area of some 5.2 acres, one of the finest church sites in the Metropolitan area.

"Upon this land in the last eight years the congregation has erected the first and second units of a 14th century parish Gothic structure, and a 160 car parking lot complete with separate ingress and egress, one way drives, and a complete drainage system.

Appreciates Extension "The Grosse Pointe Methodist Church appreciates the

The stores are fully stocked with beautiful fashions, wondrous toys and gifts of every description. Everything from better parking to handsome packaging has been planned to make "Christmas Street" a happy place to shop at holiday time.

First Yule Tree Blaze Reported

Ernst Saraf of 2054 Vernier road used two buckets of water to douse a Christmas tree fire in his house on Tuesday, November 17.

The tree, which was artificial, was placed too close to an incinerator in the basement, causing heat to ignite it. A number of ornaments were also destroyed by the fire the total loss was about $20.

There was some smoke damage throughout the house and that of a neighbor's, Mrs. P. Czeka's 2052 Vernier. The building is a duplex.

School Board Shifts Meeting

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education will hold its regular December meeting on Monday, December 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Abandoned Home Takes New Insult From Vandals

Flames Sweep Through Attic of Torrey Home at 575 Lakeshore: 52 Firemen of Three Departments Fight Blaze

By Patricia Talbot

Fire added its havoc to decay and neglect last Thursday night when a blaze swept through the attic of the late Dr. and Mrs. Harry Norton Torrey's graystone Renaissance mansion at 575 Lakeshore.

Fifty-two firemen from Grosse Pointe Shores, Woods and Farms battled to save the house which would cost about $1,500,000 to build today. Fire and Police Chief Fred Duemling of the Shores complimented the firemen on their gallant efforts which confined the blaze to the upper floor.

Discarded by Police Police, who have been patrolling the grounds since spring when it was first occupied, discovered the fire at 6:45 p.m., after chasing several teen agers from the area. They have reported several burned out fires recently in the attic.

Flames shot 30 to 40 in the air from the blaze apparently set off by a match touched to some old movie film stored in the attic. Most of the furnishings and rare art treasures of the home had been removed but papers and books, with the film, were still stored in the attic.

A granddaughter of the late Mrs. Torrey, Mrs. Frank Peck, 113 Merriweather road, watched the fire. Her wedding reception held in the house in June, 1953, was the last big party in the old tradition given there.

Mrs. Torrey's daughter, Mrs. Clifford B. West, of Bloomfield hills, heiress to the estate with four grandchildren, is at the family winter home in Ossabaw, Ga.

Youth Guilty In Wrecking Farms Park

Given Two Years Probation And Ordered to Pay City for Damages

A 17-year-old Detroit youth who damaged the Farms Pier-Park last July following an 80-mile an hour police chase, was convicted of reckless driving by Farms Judge Grant E. Armstrong at a hearing held Wednesday evening, November 18.

The youth, Terrance J. Brandt of 4405 Lemay, was given two years probation and ordered to reimburse the Farms in the amount of $146 for the damage to the park.

Brandt had spent 30 days in the Detroit House of Correction, a sentence passed by a Detroit Traffic Judge, who also imposed a two years probation, with the stipulation that the youth pay for damages to the stolen car he was driving near the pier-park.

The teenager was convicted in Detroit about a week after he was arrested.

Brandt was driving in a car stolen from in front of 12400 Frankfort, Detroit. He was pursued by Detroit police at speeds up to 80 miles an hour south on Moross at 1:30 a.m.

At the foot of Moross, at Lake Shore road, Brandt lost control of the car he was driving, and smashed into the pier-park fence, skidded 118 feet, and smashed into a chase, Jr., of 28 Beverly road. The skidding car ripped out 46 feet of fence and all the bumps, tore out a wooden bumper and knocked down a tree before coming to a halt.

Brandt tried to escape by leaping into the bay and swimming toward the Crescent City Club but was captured by Sill Policemen Brain Martin and James Cronin, who were dispatched to the scene when the Farms called for assistance.

The officers saw Brandt leap into the water and were waiting for him when he reached the shore.

Burning Leaves Cause Accident

Heavy smoke from burning leaves was blamed by two driver involved in a truckup at Ridge and Moran roads on Sunday, November 22. Both were ticketed by Farms police.

Four persons were injured, and were taken to Cottage Hospital by firemen who were called to assist at the scene.

Kohl, 27, of 19295 Edgewood, Harper Woods, was driving west on Ridge and collided with a car driven by Patrick J. Hogan, 33, of 23641 Beverly, St. Clair Shores, who was traveling east on the road.

The motorists told police that the smoke from burning leaves was so thick they could not see each other and the collision resulted. They were ticketed for not having their cars under control.

Kohl suffered head injuries and lacerations about the face, and his wife, Maxine, 21, suffered head injuries.

Hogan emerged from the accident with several teeth missing and with head injuries. His brother, Matthew, 31, also had head injuries.

An accident report revealed that Kohl's car was $200, and to Hogan's, $350. Both cars had to be towed away.

Miniature Cars, Scooters Subject to Strict Laws

Parents who have purchased, or are contemplating the purchase of motored miniature cars and scooters for their children, are warned by the heads of the Pointe Police Departments not to permit the children to operate them on sidewalks or streets.

The chiefs point out that there is no law to prevent parents buying such cars or scooters for their children, but there is a State law which prohibits ANYONE from driving motor-operated vehicles, whether gas or electric, without a driver's license.

Several children throughout the Pointe, have been stopped by police, and taken home, where the children and their parents were warned about the law.

The chiefs said there is no law which prohibits these cars and scooters from being driven on private property, whether on family ground, or with the consent of other private property owners. Otherwise, youngsters are absolutely forbidden to drive on sidewalks or streets, or other public rights of way.

The five Pointe police chiefs felt that now is the time to issue this warning, since many parents are expected to buy the cars and scooters for their children for Christmas.

According to law, both parents and children can be prosecuted in court for any injuries resulting in court for any mishaps caused by children driving these vehicles.

St. Ambrose Grid Davids Slay Giants

Big Cooley High Team, Wearing Metro Crown, Downed by Pointe 11

By Fred Runnells

Probably the most memorable scriptural story is that of David, second king of the Israelites, his slingshot and Goliath, champion of the Philistines.

The story is history and not equal. That was the night little St. Ambrose, king of the Parochial schools, burned history into the 22nd annual Goodfellows football game when it slew Cooley, king of the Metropolitan Schools, 13-7, for the City Championship.

Outweighed nearly 25 pounds per man, St. Ambrose wasn't figured to offer much of a test for the bigger Cooley team. Hardly anyone gave St. Ambrose even an outside chance of emerging victorious. All the smart money rode on Cooley, which was figured to be at least two touchdowns better and a top-heavy favorite to walk off with the gold football trophy, emblematic of city titles. On paper the Cavaliers wouldn't have been blamed if they hadn't shown up at Briggs Stadium.

To Cooley's Sorrow

But show up they did, to Cooley's sorrow.

Paced by Junior Joe D'Angelo and big Mike Currie, the Cavaliers completely dominated the play. Doggedness, determination and desire comprised the Cavaliers' hallmark. They out-blocked, out-tackled and out-everythinged the big, placid Cardinal team.

Not one of the 30,000 plus crowd expected St. Ambrose to rip the Cooley line to shreds. But this is just what it did—the unexpected, it was through the Cardinal line that D'Angelo sliced into the hole made by Mike Currie in the right side of the Cooley line and scampered four yards for the first touchdown with 4:02 left in the second quarter. Manny Lamprides just missed running in for the extra point. The drive covered 80 yards.

It didn't take Cooley long to get riled up. On the second play after Ted Bytner kicked a 31-yard pass into the outstretched hands of Ken Barget on the Cavaliers' 35 and he recalled into paydirt, untouched. Bill Kelly put the Cardinals on in front, (Continued on Page 10)

Missing Woman Feared Dead

A woman who took up temporary residence in the Park, was reported missing from her mother's home since Wednesday, November 18.

Object of a search is Mrs. Mary Margaret Schellenberg, 39, who with her husband, Joseph, and daughter, Carol, has been living with Mrs. Schellenberg's mother, Mrs. Jennie Ellis of 1034 Wayburn.

At the last report on Tuesday, November 24, Park Det. Lt. Stanley Enders said that the missing woman had not yet been found.

The lieutenant said that the Schellenberg family told their home in Warren, Mich., last May, and moved in with Mrs. Ellis, until they purchased a home. They recently closed a deal on a house at 20201 McCormick avenue, Detroit.

Mrs. Schellenberg was missing on the November 18 date, which Lt. Enders said was the day she was to have gone to her new home to clean and prepare it for occupancy.

On the day she was reported missing, Park authorities received a call from the Detroit Police Harbormaster Division at Belle Isle, who disclosed that a car registered to the Schellenbergs was found on the Belle Isle bridge, at the fifth span, facing east.

On the assumption that Mrs. Schellenberg had jumped into the water, personnel of the Harbormaster have been dragging the Detroit River for her body. So far, their recovery attempts have been unsuccessful.

The husband of the missing woman said that she last saw his wife at 6:25 a.m., November 18, just before he left for work. Detroit police called the Park department at 7:20 a.m. when the car was found.

Modern submarines can travel the surface. They can fully submerge faster submerged than on the surface. They can fully submerge in less than one minute.

Vandals Blamed for Fire In Abandoned Mansion

(Continued from Page 1) Trying to sell the house. There is a possibility it will be torn down if no buyers are found. The Torrey home of 60 rooms was built in 1914 and for 45 years was the scene of elegant Detroit society gatherings. Mrs. Torrey's sister, Mrs. Joseph Schlotman, 500 Lakeshore road, was married from the house and lived there with her husband while their own huge Gothic house was being built.

1,200 at One-Party

During the post World War I era, hundreds were entertained in the paneled rooms and well-maintained grounds of the estate. Over 1,200 attended a medical convention party there in 1916; royalty and statesmen danced on the marble floors. Mrs. Torrey was the former Nell Ford, granddaughter of Capt. John B. Ford, founder of the first plate glass company of America.

A business failure at 70 he went on to recoup his fortunes and founded the Wyandott Chemical Company. Mrs. Torrey's sisters were Mrs. Schlotman, and Mrs. Elmer Speck, whose neighboring estate is now subdivided as Clairview road. Her brother, Emory "Pat" Ford, built a home next door to Mrs. Schlotman. That mansion is now gone, nothing left of his great estate but a derelict barn on the abandoned land.

Had Priceless Art

The Torreys filled their home with rare tapestries, paintings by Romney, Van Dyke and Greuze, carved mahogany furniture, velvets and brocades, priceless paneling. All these treasures are gone now, sold at auction last May.

Water drips forlornly on the ballroom floor, an abandoned white upright piano, still in tune, is surrounded by a burned mattress. Wind sweeps through the room from windows the firemen left open and from jagged holes in the roof. Old scrapbooks, family pictures, letters are mouldering from dampness. In the drawing room the brown velvet walls are beginning to peel a huge carved chest, too Victorian and cumbersome to be moved, bears a price tag, $225. The stuffing is showing on a tufted velvet couch in the great hallway, and sodden satin sofa pillows are soaking up water.

Grounds Now Overgrown

On the grounds of the five acre estate wasted trees bow before fall storms, grass and vines straggle over the once carefully tended terraces and stone walks, the boxwood hedges are unkempt, the pond where the Torrey children were once rowed by their nurse, is stagnant and afloat with leaves.

In 1932, this now silent, echoing house was aglitter, decked as the French Lido with balloons and flowers, and a ten piece orchestra played on the terrace when Eleanor Torrey, now Mrs. West, made her debut in a white satin and velvet gown. The great drawing room was the setting for a reception in 1933 for Mrs. William Torrey (nee Annette Baker), wife of Mrs. West's brother.

Died in Georgia

William Torrey died a few years ago in Georgia, leaving a son, William Torrey, Jr., who lives there, and a daughter, Mrs. Peck. Dr. Torrey, surgeon, yachtman, big game hunter, friend to President Herbert Hoover died in 1945. Mrs. Torrey, last winter.

Time has passed the great house by; vandals now roam the floors where society once dined and danced. Fire has wrought the final indignity, sealed the fate of another Lakeshore mansion, which will sink into the past, haunted by former splendor, surrendered to the remorseless march of residential progress.

Scooters

(Continued from Page 1) operator's licenses can be obtained for their children, a State Law specifies that a child must be at least 14 years old to obtain a license to operate a motor scooter, and at least 15 years old before getting a driver's license to operate a car. The latter only after undertaking a driver-training course, and this license is restricted.

Club to View Temple Movies

The Senior Men's Club of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial will have a special treat at their luncheon meeting at 12:30 Tuesday, December 8, when Wallace Temple will show his fine films of the by-ways of Europe and relate his experiences climbing the Matterhorn.

All senior men in Grosse Pointe are invited. Luncheon reservations should be sent in to President Edward Gehrig, VA 2-6614 by Friday, December 4.

Mr. Temple's film will start in the Azores and move to Portugal taking in besides Lisbon, sunny Estoril, the Portuguese Monte Carlo, Bucco the mountain hunting lodge of the Portuguese Kings, Sintra where the royal palace is located, the picturesque fishing village of Nazare and the seaside resort of Figuera do Foz.

In Spain, the movie will move from Madrid to Santander on the Bay of Biscay and the coastal resort of San Sebastian. In Pamplona the wild Festival of St. Fermin with the running of the bulls and week long featured bullfights will be shown. Moving across the Pyrenees, Mr. Temple will take his viewers through the Basque and Briton country. The Caves of Lascaux will be visited where recently were discovered excellent examples of the art work of Cro Magnon man. Then one travels vicariously through the champagne and chateau country stopping for a look and the famous bicycle race, La Tour de France.

From France and its cathedrals, the film moves to the Rhineland and the medieval towns of the Black Forest.

In Switzerland, comes the focal point of the film where Mr. Temple will pause to relate his dramatic experience in climbing the Matterhorn, an exceptional feat for a man over fifty without climbing experience. He made the climb in two days with two guides and a porter under adverse weather conditions.

After the tense experience at Zermatt Mr. Temple will resume his film travels to Lake Como, Rome, Venice, Florence, the Isle of Elba and finally back to Spain with stops at Majorca, the Costa Brava and Barcelona.

Muscular Dystrophy March Scheduled for Next Tuesday

Next Tuesday evening volunteers will march for Muscular Dystrophy throughout the five Grosse Pointes. Last year $265,000 was raised in the metropolitan area and this year MD workers hope to increase this contribution.

Mayor Louis Miriani has named November 15-December 15 as Muscular Dystrophy Month. The evening march will climax the campaign.

Mrs. Erwin Johnson and Mrs. John Fallick are co-chairmen for the drive in Grosse Pointe Farms; Mrs. John MacKay, chairman, Grosse Pointe Park; Mrs. H. M. Woodhouse, chairman, Grosse Pointe Shores; Mrs. R. H. Groschner, chairman, City of Grosse Pointe, and Mrs. Margaret Beel, chairman, Grosse Pointe Woods.

Seventy-five per cent of the contributions raised are used for research to find the cause and cure for this fatal disease. The MDA has financed a new $5,000,000 Institute for Muscle Disease in New York for research in muscle diseases which affect millions of Americans.

Public information and education also play an important role in the MDA program. Because Detroit has so generously supported this cause, a special summer day camp for children has been made possible. The local chapter has raised its fund raising from $70,000 in 1955 to $265,000 in 1958.

As additional income is raised the Patient Service program will be expanded to meet the ever growing needs. These services are available to all victims of MD regardless of the family's ability to pay.

Direct patient services include providing the necessary orthopedic equipment needed and occupational therapy treatments.

General chairman of the NDA drive in the metropolitan area is Mrs. Joseph Shoenith. Jerry Lewis is national chairman and Mrs. Lou Gehrig, whose famous husband, the baseball star, was a victim, is campaign chairman. Mrs. G. Mennen Williams is state chairman.

In the metropolitan area there are currently 300 cases of MD. Turn on your porchlights Tuesday evening to aid the volunteers raising funds for MD and give generously.

Car Hits High School Student

Farms police exonerated a motorist whose car struck a 15-year-old Grosse Pointe High School student on Friday, November 20, while the student was crossing Grosse Pointe boulevard, near McKinley place.

A police report, based on statements from witnesses, disclosed that the teenager, Penny Telep of 1114 Anita, was crossing from the north to the south curb, when she ran into a car driven by Donald Carrier, 18, of 336 Ridge road.

The witnesses said that the girl came out into the street too fast, and Carrier was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting her. She was knocked to the pavement.

Miss Telep was taken to Bon Secours Hospital by police for treatment of lacerations about the left temple, and then driven home.

Carrier was released after he and the witnesses made their statements.

Form good habits—the kind you rule, not those that rule you.

Scouts Prepared For 'Good Turn'

This Saturday, November 28, is "Good Turn Day" in Grosse Pointe and the entire Detroit area.

Good Turn Day is being conducted by the Detroit Area Boy Scout Council in conjunction with the Goodwill Industries.

The Boy Scouts will conduct a one day clothing drive this Saturday. A successful drive will insure the handicapped people who receive work, rehabilitation and vocational training through Goodwill, a backlog of material on which to work. Thus, layoffs of these people can be prevented throughout the entire year.

Scout troops will be assigned an area to cover and will use small trucks and wagons to take collected material to a centrally located corner. Residents are asked to place used but still useful clothing in a Good Turn bag (which were distributed by Scouts last weekend) and leave it in front of their homes before 10 a.m. A truck will collect the bags.

Scout leaders will be at the telephone board at Goodwill Industries to receive calls from any area where a truck breakdown or miscalculation might occur. All Pointers are urged to participate in this joint undertaking of their local scout troops and the Goodwill Industries.

Family to Give Talk on Eskimos

Eugene B. Power, founder of University Microfilm, Inc., and a regent of the University of Michigan, will, with his wife Sadie, and son, Philip, open the 1959-60 speaker's program of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Library at 8 p.m., Wednesday, December 2, at the Central Branch of the Grosse Pointe Library, 10 Kercheval. The Powers have returned recently from Baffin Island in the Arctic zone. This trip, ac-ording to William L. Newman, Program Director of the Friends, was no casual visit, but part of a long term program for the Powers. Mr. Power and his son organized Eskimo Art, Inc., back in 1953. This is a non-profit corporation created to promote and sell Eskimo art and handicraft. Money obtained from such sale goes to provide the Eskimos with a cash income.

Mr. Power and his family will discuss the Eskimos of Baffin Island and will illustrate their program with films. They will also display samples of Eskimo art.

According to Mr. Newman, Mr. Power's talents have taken him into many fields. He and University Microfilm received a write-up in the November 16 issue of Newsweek where it was explained that the work Mr. Power has done in micro-filming has made it possible to save for study thousands of books which every year go out of print.

Mr. Power has in addition organized Projected Books, Inc., a non-profit corporation to distribute books and entertainment material to the physically handicapped. He has also started a project to microfilm for libraries copies of all available English books printed in England before 1840.

Mr. Newman reports that Mrs. Power, who has two masters degrees from the University of Michigan, founded the Mental Hygiene Department of the University of Michigan Health Service and currently is with the department.

Son Philip Power is a senior at the University of Michigan and is Managing Editor of the student daily paper. All are welcome to attend the program. There is no charge.

Students Visit United Nations

Eleven Grosse Pointe High School boys and a sponsor were recent visitors to the United Nations in New York city.

Six members of the Blue Hi Y and their sponsor, William Schlegelmilch, and five members of the Gold Hi Y, which is sponsored by Dale Patterson, were gone from Sunday, November 15, until Thursday, November 19. They spent three days studying the UN and as a side-light did some sightseeing in New York.

The highlight of the trip, however, was a 25 minute audience with the President of the UN General Assembly, Don Victor Bellundi of Peru. Such interviews are seldom granted. Mr. Bellundi outlined his concept of the UN for the interested and impressed Pointers. The boys and Mr. Schlegelmilch also had a private talk with the section chief of the interpretation bureau, who explained the difficulty of translating speeches directly into a number of foreign languages. Another highlight was a dinner with the UN delegates in the delegates dining room.

The members of Blue Hi Y attending were: Holmes and Hamilton Brown, Bob Guenvel, John Morrison, Will Halbert and Steve Ernest. Representing Gold Hi Y were Dave Allison, Matt Houghton, Bill Allen, Kenneth Ashley and John Elling.

Will Halbert, president of Blue Hi Y, has been elected governor of the Detroit area Hi Y. In January, he will compete with boys representing other areas in the race for the Hi Y governorship of Michigan.

Introducing Pointe's Newest Teachers

One of the objects of interest in the striking entrance lobby of Monteith School is an ancient, but still functional spinning wheel. PRINCIPAL MARSHALL JAMESON (2nd from right) points out some of its salient features to his new teachers, MISS VIRGINIA

DOWNES and (from the left) WILLIAM RAUPAGH, Assistant Principal JACK DARVILL and GEORGE GOODWIN. All but Mr. Darvill are newcomers to the Grosse Pointe teaching staff this fall.

William Raupagh has resided in Grosse Pointe since 1931 and is a graduate of the High School. After graduation from Albion College he held a position in industry until the lure of the teaching profession caused him to enroll in the Wayne Intensive Teacher Training program in 1958. He did his practice teaching at Monteith and, when a vacancy developed this fall, accepted a 5th grade teaching position. Married, he has two sons, one at Albion and the other a sophomore at Grosse Pointe High School.

group at Monteith. Other than traveling, she lists her main interests as bridge and golf.

Mr. Darvill, also of New England origins, has been a member of the Grosse Pointe staff since 1953, teaching at Kerby and Monteith schools in the interim. He assumed the post of assistant principal at Monteith this fall with the transfer of Miss Marjorie Harper to a similar post at Defer School. The Darvills have two children, Tom, 4½ years old, and Nancy, ten months old. Mr. Darvill has degrees from Boston University and Harvard.

Making Christmas Shopping A Pleasant Chore

There's a touch of gracious hospitality being shown in all the stores in "The Village", Grosse Pointe's famed Christmas Street Shopping Center, these days. In fact hospitality is the Yuletide by-word. In many stores snacks and refreshments are served.

Teens to Dance At Star of Sea

The members of Star of the Sea Teen Club wish to express their gratitude to the parents who chaperoned on the hayride last week. Thanks again to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Addy; Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Addy; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schneider; Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Zoufal; and to Father Cullen.

To make your week-end more complete, join the teen club at the "Harvest Beat." Begins at 7:30 to 11, dress is casual (no bermudas). Dig deep in your pockets, members, for 50 cents, and 75 cents for your guests. See you at the dance in the church clubroom Saturday night, November 28.

Joint Church Services Set

The Grosse Pointe Methodist Church will be host to the annual Community Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 26, at 10:30 a.m.

The cooperative churches are the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, Grosse Pointe Baptist Church, Grosse Pointe Congregational Church, and Grace Church of Christ. The Rev. Mr. Robert Beck, of Grace Church of Christ, will be this year's speaker.

For more than a decade now these Pointe churches have cooperated in this community service which has become part of the spiritual tradition of Grosse Pointe.

populate the Pointe. And may all your Christmases be filled with good cheer!

Pointe Stores Full Of Delightful Gifts For the Small Fry

*'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the toy shop,
Not a creature was stirring, not even a top.
The toys had all vanished, the shelves were all bare,
But all Grosse Pointe children had had their share
Of the games and the dolls and the books and the toys,
'Cause Santa had visited all the good girls and boys.*
—By Sarah Evans

Well the shelves of all the toy stores in the Pointe may not be completely empty on Christmas Eve, but to wager a Maverick gun and holster set from Jacobson's against a Raggedy Ann doll from Himmelhoch's, most of the toys available will be under scores of Christmas trees.

If any of the elderly set around these parts, (and that includes anyone over 13), feels the urge to return to childhood this time of year, it would be understandable. Just try walking through the Peter Pan store, or Hamilton's Treasure Chest in the Village. It's a Winter Wonderland! And Young Clothes may have just that, but beware of the toy department there or you may come out with a Swiss music box for the eight-year-old lady of the house.

Depending on which time of day you choose to explore the various toy shops of Grosse Pointe, different sights will greet your eyes. In the morning, soon after the stores open, it is possible to roam at will, not bump into anyone, and feast eyes upon animals of all sizes, every genus and species, and all colors. Spotted dogs and Teddy bears that would take up half of a bunk bed, for instance, or tiny four inch high, (or long), replicas of real animals—from lions to alligators, and a calico dancing horse. Even Snoopy of Peanuts fame is available, as are Lucy, Charlie Brown and Schroeder.

Speaking of Schroeder, he will be celebrating "Beethoven's Birthday" with a new play piano, or maybe he'll try something new in the line of a toy saxophone, trumpet or even bongo drums. And "poor old Charlie Brown" might improve both his confidence and his athletic skill with a new football outfit or boxing gloves.

For the older kids, there are king sized toboggans, electric hockey, baseball and basketball games. And books from "Uncle Wiggley" and the Bobsey Twins" to "The Black Stallion" and "Nancy Drew." The "young mother" set can begin house-keeping now with ironing boards, (and irons), all of the modern appliances and even dainty china tea sets. And when they are through with the house cleaning, there's a doll that comes equipped with all sorts of injuries and ailments that needs to be nursed back to health.

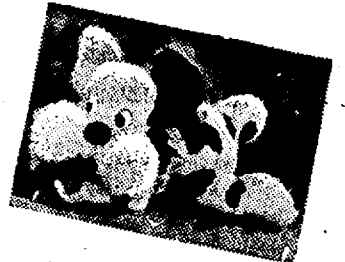

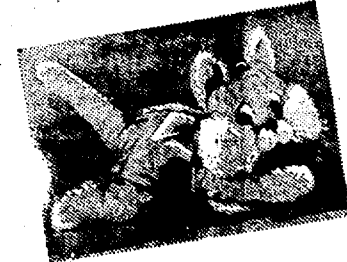

The soldiers of the future can practice now, not only with tanks and guns, but also with rocket launching sets. Look out Cape Canaveral! Or maybe build a turnpike or a skyscraper, or become the youngest chemist in the world.

If you should happen to visit the toylands when the kids themselves are there, it may be a bit noisy, but the noise is merely a conglomeration of jingles, rat-tat-tat, boom boom and ma ma, as little fingers pry and poke. And above that the delighted squeals and of course, "Mommie, can I have that."

It's a picnic all right. And it happens only at Christmas time. Toyland is queen and Santa Claus is king, and the children are their adoring subjects. So mufflers and warm caps off to the toy stores that

The kiddies will love to find cuddly, lovable stuffed toy under the Christmas tree.

The complete menagerie is here, at Fischer's . . . in a variety of sizes . . . including a large selection of imported animals, by Steiff. The kiddies will also thrill when a Hummel doll pops out of the Christmas stocking after Santa's visit.

Community Chorus Ready For Concert December 6

The seventh annual Christmas concert of Grosse Pointe Community Chorus will occur Sunday, December 6, at 3:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Parcels Jr. High School, Mack at Vernier.

The varied program will include some difficult numbers as well as old favorites, from selections of Handel's "Messiah" to a novelty version of "Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer."

One of the soloists, Patricia Nelson, is a 1944 graduate of Michigan State University with degrees in music and English. She then taught music in New York while pursuing private lessons and has been active in vocal music for years.

Another soloist this year is Audrey Morgan, who has the unusual record of commencing her singing in public at three years of age. She is office supervisor at Detroit's Eastern High School and has sung in trios, quartets and as soloist on many occasions.

The Chorus is directed by Donald W. Simmons, director of vocal music at Parcels Junior High School, and director of the Youth Choir at the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church. He has directed the Grosse Pointe Community Chorus for the past three years.

Accompanist for the Chorus is Mary Freda a senior in music education at Wayne State University and also accompanist for that school's Women's Glee Club. She studied with Margaret Mannebach, and is also a singer of considerable talent. Organist for the organization is Mr. Kenneth Cook, who is also organist for the Grosse Pointe Methodist Church, and a science teacher at Grosse Pointe High School.

CHRISTMAS STREET in The Village!
Opens Friday at 4 p.m.—Santa Will Light Tree

Once again Christmas creates an aura of enchantment and joy, as we see the Village's KERCHEVAL AVENUE transformed, as if by magic, into a winter wonderland scene... highlighted by those very special symbols of the Yuletide season.

Christmas Street (Kercheval Avenue in The Village) officially opens at four o'clock Friday afternoon, November 27 with an assist from Santa who will arrive at the same hour in an antique car. He will be greeted by city officials and will then light the Christmas Tree and pass out treats to the children.

Some of the stores where hospitality will be the byword throughout the Christmas season, will serve tea, coffee and cookies. Other stores will have gaily wrapped snacks on hand.

Above is the fantasy drawing of Christmas Street which the Grosse Pointe News published early in December of 1957. It was drawn by Detroit's artist Rachel. It shows the Pointe's great shopping center.

It is said that there's more hand-picked merchandise to be found here than anywhere west of New York. The Merchants know their Pointers and select only the textures and colors which are certain to please them, without materially adding to the cost.

G. P. U. S. News Notes

On Wednesday, November 18, the Proscenium Society of Grosse Pointe University School, with Peter Van Riper as MC presented a Talent Show to the students of the Upper School.

The show consisted of the following eight numbers:

- (1) Miss Anne Fenech's 8th grade French class (all girls) sang two French folk songs, Sur le Pont d'Avignon and Maudit Sois Tu, Carillonneur. Seven of the girls had attended a performance of the Little Singers of Paris (all boys) a few weeks before with Miss Fenech at the Ford Auditorium and had been so inspired by what they saw that they decided to enter the Talent Show and persuade their classmates to join them.
- (2) Danielle Harris, of the 9th grade, played a piano solo, St. Louis Blues. This was Danny's third straight Talent Show performance.
- (3) The 8th Grade Boys' Band did a comedy number, with Monty Georgeson as conductor and these performers as his players: Jim Jennings, Steve Fischer, Bill Semple, Nat Semple, and Dick Williams.
- (4) There was next a Senior dance skit in which three boys joined six of the girls to present a comedy dance number, in which the boys' skill as chorines compared quite favorably with the girls. These were the high-steppers in the line: Dick Baron, Irving Smokler, Jim Leisen, Julie Ferry, Sharon Sanders, Robyn Redfield, Sarah Strother, Carolyn Van Zile, and Gay Bacon.
- (5) Chip Munger, on the trombone, and Bob Love, on the cornet, played "Serenade" and "O Baby Mine." Mr. David Arner, of the Music Department, accompanied on the piano.
- (6) A dozen girls, billed as the "GPUS Babes", presented a kind of dance-surprise number, in which at first only six girls, seated, seemed to be doing a kind of improbable, double-jointed dance. Lo and behold, at the end of the number the legs were revealed to have belonged to six other girls all the time. The pretenders and dancers were these: Sharon Sanders, Julie Ferry, Carolyn Van Zile, Martha Menge, Sally Lewis, Anne Wood, Gay Bacon, Susan Ford, Paula Waterman, Nancy Webber, Jean Templeton, and Carolyn Nyman.
- (7) Darcy Chandler, Jean

New Cars Ride In Style

The shiny new '60 cars you've seen appearing in show rooms all over Michigan—know how they got there? 85% of the new automobiles the country over travel by motor carrier from factory to dealer—and this applies pretty well to Michigan . . . That's only part of the story of how much the automobile industry depends on trucks. The basic materials, the parts and accessories—everything that goes into the manufacture of automobiles—travels most if not all the way from source to destination by truck . . . So, you see, cars just couldn't be turned out in today's volume—or get to their destination as quickly—if it weren't for the direct, dock-to-door service truck transport provides.

Greek Pianist To Play Here

Gina Bachauer, eminent Greek pianist, will be featured soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra this Thursday at 8:30 o'clock and this Friday at 2 o'clock in Ford Auditorium. Paul Paray will conduct.
Mme. Bachauer will play the Rachmaninoff Concerto No. 3 in D minor on a program which will include excerpts from Berlioz' "Romeo and Juliet" and Szymanowski's Symphony No. 2 in B flat major.
A celebrity of stature in Europe for many years, Mme. Bachauer appeared first in the U.S. at Town Hall, New York City, in 1950. Playing to a nearly empty house that night she nevertheless found herself a celebrity in America the next morning solely from the next press notices.
Since then Mme. Bachauer has appeared with nearly every major orchestra here and in Europe and has become a prime favorite with American audiences. She studied with Alfred Cortot in Paris and later worked under the guidance of Sergei Rachmaninoff whose concerto he will play twice this week with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Templeton, and Joann Wolfe sang "I Talk to the Trees," from "Paint Your Wagon."
(8) Judy Tipton and Sue Sadler sang "My Funny Valentine."
The GPUS Junior Red Cross Council has engaged in a number of projects recently. Mrs. Lewis' Lower School girls collected Halloween candy for people who ordinarily might not have many "treats." The candy, packed and ready by Upper Schoolers Renee Bowdy and Peggy Carpenter, eventually went to the elderly and needy men at Mariners' Inn. The Council is also opening its campaign for food (flour, 5 lbs. of sugar, 3 lbs. of coffee, for example), to be given to needy families at Christmas time.
Council co-presidents Renee Bowdy and Ford Ballantyne are directing an ambitious service project from GPUS, which sees teams of five or more members of the 11th grade go out to the Dearborn Veterans Administration Hospital, each Saturday to serve as aides to the nurses and companions to the patients. They help the patients with their letter-writing, they read aloud to them, they deliver messages and perform miscellaneous tasks as the need arises.
Those who will be going every third Saturday are John Adair, Sandy Coe, Peter Grossi, Tom Henry, Jody Jennings, Jac Ritter, Noel Savignac, Paul Weiss, Jim Lauve, Marc Shaye, Connie Baum, Cathie Bicknell, Peggy Carpenter, Darcy Chandler, Lyn Leithausser, Susan Wise, and Joann Wolfe. Co-presidents Bowdy and Ballantyne, however, will alternate and go every other week.

Woods Approves 7 New Streets

The Woods Council has voted to accept the deeds of dedication that will allow seven streets to be laid on subdividers' land, immediately south of the Macomb county line, that is presently open acreage.

The matter was acted upon at the regular council meeting held Monday night, November 18. Deeds of dedication were accepted for Briarcliff road, Edmunton drive, Eight Mile road, Moorland drive, Morning-side, drive, River road and Wedgewood drive.

Raven Trophy Presented

At a special meeting of the Detroit Fleet of the Raven Class Corporation held at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club Wednesday evening, November 18th, the Flavell-Putnam trophy was presented by ERNEST C. PUTNAM right to STUART JAPINGA, local class chairman for the Raven Class. Mr. Putnam also presented the replica to the winner for this year's sailing. This award went to Mr. Boyd Benkert, skipper of "Thunderbolt", one of the hottest Ravens in the class.

The trophy was awarded each year from 1945 to 1949 to skippers of the Eight Meter boats, an active racing class in those days. Since the disappearance of the Eight Meter class as a racing group, the trophy has not been sailed for and has gathered dust in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club trophy cases.

Through the efforts of Gordon McCabe and Tom Jeffers, Mr. Putnam, living donor of the trophy, agreed that the deed of gift should be amended to provide that the trophy be again placed in competition.

The amended deed of gift provides that the Flavell-Putnam Trophy is to encourage sail yacht racing at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club; the trophy to be awarded each year to the Raven sail yacht that compiles the best score in the races sailed off Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

In this respect, it is interesting it is having a comeback at this club. The emergence of the Folk Boat Class at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club has been commented on in these pages in recent weeks. The Raven Class has, for the past four or five years, sailed two series off

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club in Lake St. Clair. Ravens hold a Spring series in May, prior to the regular DRYA regattas, and follow the closing of the regular regattas in the Fall with a Fall series, each comprising three races sailed on Gold Cup courses. These provide ideal racing for the light-displacement Raven boats.

Competition is always stiff in the Raven Class, and results for this cup were in doubt until the last race of the Fall series had been sailed.

In receiving the trophy for the year, Commodore Benkert said that he was especially gratified to have his name added to the list of winners, and that he thought it especially appropriate inasmuch as he had sailed and skippered on the Eight Meter boats that had won the trophy in former years.

Benkert Putnam

Mrs. Doris Long of 1024 Farmward road, complained to Farms police that while her car was parked in the Grosse Pointe High School lot, someone stole the vehicle's four hubcaps. They are valued at $20 each.

SPORTS POINTES

by FRED RUNNELLS SPORTS EDITOR

St. Ambrose Eleven Takes City Title from Favorites

Most teams facing the tremendous odds the Cavaliers did would have folded in the second half. But St. Ambrose is not "most teams" and it has proven all season they go best when the pressure is on.

Twice in the final drive it appeared Cooley had the Cavaliers stopped and their 7-6 margin protected. And three times Manny Lamprides called time out to get the fourth down play to keep the drive going.

The first time the drive stalled the Cavaliers needed four yards on the Cooley 36 for a first down.

Eludes Tough Trap
D'Angelo cracked over the hole opened by Mike Currie but appeared to be stopped cold after travelling two yards and short of the first down. Three big Cooley linemen had him encircled. Twisting and turning like a whirling dervish D'Angelo broke away and raced into the end zone with the winning score.

Cooley filled the air with footballs in an attempt to erase the deficit, but saw his State and City championship fade into the gloom of the far corners of the stadium when an errant aerial fell into a Cavalier's hands.

The entire gridiron was ringed with screaming spectators who counted off the last 18 seconds of the game as Lamprides smartly took a five yard delay of the game penalty and then crouched behind his center tolling off a long count as the clock ticked merrily away.

At the final gun it was a sea of humanity that rushed onto the field and engulfed the magnificent champions. Slowly the crowd began to move towards center field and leading it was Joe D'Angelo. Slowly the procession moved forward until D'Angelo reached the stands and climbed up on the rolled up field cover and kissed his mom.

This was truly a fitting climax to a great game which will go down in the annals of Good-fellow history as the greatest upset to date.

DeBusschere Lands Berth on U-D Five
Dave De Busschere, former Austin cage star, who led the Friars to the State Class A championship two years ago while winning All-Catholic, All-City, All-State and All-American honors, will be in the starting lineup when U of Detroit opens its season against Assumption University, December 1.

Friars Open On Saturday

The Austin Friars' five will be the first local basketball team to see action in the 1959-60 season when it travels to Chicago to meet Mendel on Saturday, November 28.

The Friars will be seeking revenge in this game as Mendel, which is a school twice as large as Austin, handed the Friars their first loss last year. Being a non-league contest, it didn't blemish the Friars' perfect 12-0 league mark which earned the fourth consecutive championship in the Central Division. Over the season the Friars posted an impressive 18-3 record.

Austin's other two losses came in post season play. Holy Redeemer tripped the Friars in the first round of the Catholic playoffs and East Detroit administered the third loss in the finals of the State Regional tournament at East Detroit gym.

Only three lettermen are returning to the Friar line up. They are headed by seniors co-captains Bill Fitzgerald (6-3 1/2), Bill Hodgman (5-11) and Paul Zosel (6-3). Non-lettering seniors returning are: Bob Brinkman (6-4), Tom Conrad (5-9), and Walt Connolly (5-10). The latter didn't play last year but is making a determined bid for a starting berth this season.

Rounding out the 14-man squad are all juniors, headed by Carl Sowerby (6-3), Joe Kramer (6-2), Jim Preble (5-10), Bob Hynous (5-11), Bill Coyro (5-7), Earl Meyers (5-7), Al Butler (5-7) and Jim McBride (5-10).

Coach Hollosy sees the biggest threat to the Friars title coming from Notre Dame, U of D and Catholic Central. Notre Dame will floor an all junior lineup which is long on experience, as most of the squad members have been playing varsity ball since their freshman year. U of D has two regulars returning plus the first three first line substitutes from the 1958-59 squad. Catholic Central has three of its regulars who were sophomores last year and has four juniors returning from last season.

The successful Austin coach, who brought the first State class A cage championship to this area, was reluctant to forecast the Friars' fortunes this early in the season. He felt the Friars may experience difficulty from the schedule which gives Austin the home court advantage in only one of the first six games. The first opportunity the homefolks will have to see the Friars will come on December 4 when the Friars open league play against Catholic Central.

Hollosy said "The way the schedule is set gives us a rough row to hoe as it puts us against the three strongest teams in the league in the first three league games and two of them will be on foreign courts. However, if we can manage to stay near the top until the half season point is reached the schedule will work to our advantage as five of the last seven games will be at home."

Knights' Team Question Mark

The GPUS Knight basketball team will be a big question mark as it swings into its 11-game schedule on Friday, December 4, when it entertains Huron at 7 p.m.

Seniors and the only two letter winners, Dick Baron (6-0) and Bruce Birgbauer (6-1) are the only two seasoned performers Coach Bellows can rely on at this stage of the season.

The squad will be primarily the reserve team from last year which includes Sandy Coe (6-0), Bob Love (5-7), Peter Monroe (5-10), Hery Parke (6-4) and John Adair (5-8).

Because of lack of size coach Bellows will install a revolving type of offense which will automatically eliminate the standard two forwards, two guards and one center system. The revolving offense depends upon speed which is something coach Bellows feels he has in his small squad. Shooting accuracy is something the Knights will not determine until they get into actual game conditions.

The Knights were extremely successful last year and posted a 12-1 overall record and captured the Maumee Valley Invitational tournament. The only game GPUS lost was to L'Anse-Cruze and that was by a mere two points.

Coach Bellows feels Detroit Country Day may be the toughest competition it will meet as it boasts an all veteran team. He continued "We may be able to handle them if a couple of last year's reserves come through as expected. Over the past four or five years we have managed to win the home series."

ESTIMATED FIRE LOSSES
Estimated fire losses in the United States during October amounted to $71,160,000, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has reported.

This loss represents a decrease of 3.0 percent from losses of $73,393,000 reported for October, 1958, and a decrease of 14.3 percent from losses of $83,027,000 for September, 1959. Losses for the first ten months of 1959 now total $872,047,000, a decrease of 14 percent from the first ten months of 1958, when they amounted to $884,204,000.

REAL PROGRESS
Some men are born great, but the man who rolls up his sleeves and wades into greatness commands the most respect.

ESTIMATED FIRE LOSSES
Awards were made to all members of the teams with special awards going to Bill Vanover, (Varsity) Sportsmanship; Jonathan Staryk, (Junior Varsity) Sportsmanship and to Louis and Rudy Palombi, (Junior Varsity) "Unsung Hero Awards".

The cheerleaders were presented trophies by Mrs. Howard Vormelker, chairman. Arrangements for the banquet were made by John V. Rini, Dr. Steven Staryk and David Padilla.

Basketball Coach Lauer Faces Big Job at St. Paul

Laker cage coach Eddie Lauer has his work cut out for him and he knows it. Returning to the cage wars at the little school on Grosse Pointe Boulevard are only two lettermen, senior Bob Bigham and junior Glen Cross.

This will be the nucleus around which Lauer will attempt to fashion a contender in the East Side First Division of the Parochial League.

As a start, Lauer has six foot three inch senior Ray Martin but he still must find two more starters and adequate reserve bench strength. He will seek to find these necessary ingredients from such hopefuls as Joe Ayrault, Mike Cantwell, Tim Labadie, Buddy Louwers, Tom Moxley, Ted Trotzer, Gary Schick, Jack Wachter, Ted Buda, John Alter, Jay Fisher, Butch Cobb, Ken Wutek, Joe Becker and Pat Currier.

Many of this contingent were standouts on St. Paul's grade school team and it will be a wide open battle for the remaining starting berths until the Lakers open the 1959-60 season against non-league Lakeshore on Tuesday, December 1.

St. Paul will open its quest for the East Side title against Pvt. John P. Huestis Takes Army Course

FORT BELVOIR, Va. (AHTNC)—Army Pvt. John P. Huestis, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Huestis, 905 Grand Marais, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., completed the eight-week water supply specialist course Nov. 6 at The Engineer School, Fort Belvoir, Va.

He was trained to analyze, treat and distribute water and to perform maintenance on water purification equipment. Huestis entered the Army last June and completed basic training at Fort Hood, Tex.

He is a 1956 graduate of Grosse Pointe High school and attended Detroit Institute of Technology.

Boat Banter

By Fred Runnells

Bayview Yacht Club sailors lost a good friend when Dr. Thomas Sage passed away Monday, November 23, after a long illness. Tom was a past commodore of Bayview and was instrumental in setting up an experimental "ham" radio hookup to cover the annual Mackinac race a few years back. Up until his illness he was active in club affairs and served on many committees.

The Detroit Cruising Club will hold its 14th annual Award Dinner, Tuesday, December 1, at the Detroit Yacht Club. Highlights of the evening will be numerous. First there will be the awarding of the perpetual season trophies for the three Cruising class and the Schooner-Ketch class. The election of officers for 1960 will follow.

Bayview past Commodore Lynn Stedman, Jr., is unopposed for commodore and will take over the gavel from Detroit Boat Club Commodore Kurt Keydel who will retire from office. Aaron Evans of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club and Grosse Pointe Club Commodore Horace "Bob" Ford are the candidates for vice commodore. Incumbent secretary - treasurer Avery Macklem (Mr. Cruising Club himself) is again unopposed for the job.

The meeting will reach its climax with the showing of the Fastnet race movies taken and narrated by the incomparable Alf Loomis, associate editor of Yachting magazine.

Grosse Pointe Club past commodore and current DRYA Commodore John Detwiler has set Friday, December 4, for the annual election meeting of the Detroit River Yachting Association to be held in the Sweepstakes Room at the Detroit Yacht Club at 8 p.m.

Election of officers for 1960 will follow the perpetual trophies awards for DRYA season championships in the various classes.

Unopposed for the commodore post will be Arthur Rautenberg of Crescent Sail Yacht Club, Robert Benkert of Bayview Yacht Club for vice commodore. Past commodores E. P. Robertson, of Edison Boat Club, and Ted Sedwick of the Detroit Boat Club are the candidates for rear commodore. These men

Center Offers Top Ski Movie

With the excitement of the skiing season just beginning and enthusiasm already reaching fever pitch, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial has booked Jim Farnsworth, nationally known "Screwball on Skis," to show his latest film "Of Skis I Sing" at the center.

Originally scheduled for the night of Monday, November 30, at 8:30 p.m. A quick advance sellout of tickets has made necessary a special repeat performance which has been set for the following night.

Tickets are now available for this additional showing and the Center urges all interested Grosse Pointers to pick up their tickets immediately.

"Of Skis I Sing" has a heavy accent on competitive skiing because of the forthcoming Olympics but it also includes photography of top flight recreational skiers because, as Jim says, "that is the kind of skier who comes to see the films."

Jim himself is such an avid skier that, of course, he chose a skier for his bride and last February was married at the base of the slopes of Aspen Highlands. The couple wore ski clothes and marched down an aisle of crossed ski poles. His best man was Stein Eriksen, Jim's closest skiing friend. Half an hour after the wedding Jim was out doing some recreational skiing.

As a ski photographer, Jim would rank No. 3 behind John Jay and Warren Miller. In the four years he has been showing ski movies, while he has inflicted no casualties on others he has been extremely reckless with his own safety. In fact there are some ski areas where there is a standing order not to sell a tow ticket to a certain young man when he shows up.

Jim happily skis backwards in front of the skier he is photographing with the result that he has broken some 17 pairs of skis and acquired numerous stitches upon his person.

"Of Skis I Sing" promises to show some of the most exciting skiing in the world covering areas from France, Switzerland, Austria to Squaw Valley in California. The film will show such fine skiers as Emile Allais, Karl Molitor, Stein Eriksen, Alf Engen, Peter Estlin, Royce Asher, and Junior Bounous, to name a few. With a fine musical score and Jim's interesting narration this promises to be an outstanding community offering.

Marines Launch Drive for Toys

Kick-off Time is here for the 1959 "Toys for Tots" campaign in the Greater Detroit area. Marine Corps Reservists will again sponsor the drive beginning November 27 and ending on December 12, Lieutenant Colonel Russell M. Paquette, Commanding Officer of the 5th Infantry Battalion, announced.

The purpose of this annual campaign is to spread the true spirit of Christmas to many little tots in the Greater Detroit Area.

Lt. Col. Paquette stated donations of new toys or toys in good condition are urgently needed. The Colonel regrets that lack of time and absence of repair facilities prevents the reconditioning of toys in poor condition. Toy drives by church, school or civic organizations would be most welcome and would receive the whole-hearted cooperation of the 5th Infantry Battalion.

The "Toys for Tots" is a nation-wide program originated by the Marine Corps Reserve that has become an annual event whereby thousands of toys are distributed. Last year over a million toys were passed out to needy tots. Each program sponsored by a Marine Corps Reserve unit is strictly local in scope and direction and all toys donated are distributed by a welfare agency in that general area.

Victor Riesel To Give Talk

Victor Riesel, blinded labor columnist, will be Detroit Town Hall's speaker Wednesday, December 2.

His subject, "Inside Labor," will be given at 11 a.m. in Ford Auditorium, followed by a luncheon in the auditorium reception hall.

Riesel's crusading column appears in 250 newspapers. (His local outlet is the Detroit Free Press). His fight for honest unionism began as a boy when his father, a garment workers local agent, died from wounds inflicted by thugs.

Young Riesel went to college at night and received a Master's degree.

Tickets for the lecture are available through Grinnell's, WO 2-1124, or at Ford Auditorium the morning of the lecture. Half-price student tickets may be obtained at the Town Hall office in the Kales Building.

Farms to Pay $12,824 in Bills

The Farms council on Monday, November 16, appropriated $12,824 to pay off bills and to take care of future bills for services and products rendered.

The council approved payment in the sum of $5,000 to Floris DeMuelenaere, for curb repair work throughout the city.

The city auditing firm of Ernst and Ernst was paid $2,850 for auditing the Farms' financial record for the year ending June 30, 1959.

On recommendation of City Manager Sidney DeBoer, a low bid of $1,285.20 was accepted from Henry Salvatore, for the prepared relaying of 140 feet of sewer on Charlevoix avenue and Merriweather road.

Acting on a recommendation made by City Clerk Dawson Nancy, the council agreed to expend $3,689 for two new voting machines, to expedite balloting at future elections.

The purchase of the machines was acted upon when the city clerk disclosed that during elections at three precincts, complaints have been received from persons who had to stand in line waiting their turn to vote.

Nacy told the council that one of the new machines will be placed in the old Kerby School, next to the Farms Municipal Building, and the other in the new Kerby School on Kerby road.

The spare machine stored in the Municipal office, will be placed in the Grosse Pointe High School.

The city clerk said that the three spots named are where voting congestions occur.

PARENTS Magazine Discusses
"blue denim"

Blue Denim—Explored with dignity and insight, the problem of decent young people whose early sex drives get them into trouble is forcefully brought home in this worthwhile film to both parents and older boys and girls. The impact of terror when the girl finds she is pregnant, and both she and the boy are afraid to tell their parents, is shared by the audience. Even mothers and fathers whose children are small will be able to see how mutual confidence and communication must be built up over the years. Carol Lynley as the girl and Brandon de Wilde as the boy are appealing and convincing, both in their startled awakening to love and the stunned realization of its aftermath. Moreover, they are held strictly responsible, even to their own part in the failure to bridge the gap of understanding with their parents. Everyone, in fact, is given fair but uncompromising treatment. A—Excellent.

Y—Excellent for mature young people. (20th C-Fox)

Let Us Be Thankful

America is once again celebrating one of its most important holidays, Thanksgiving. This traditional observance will be carried on as long as there exists an abiding faith in a Divine Providence.

It would be senseless to attempt to enumerate the blessings for which we can be thankful. The Pilgrims were happy to be alive, and to have brought in from their sparse fields sufficient sustenance to carry them through the winter ahead.

The tiny band of founding fathers and their families was poor in nearly every sense of the word. The boon of friendship was limited to the small number who had come over on the Mayflower.

But while they lived in fear, they were mightily rich in determination, in courage, in patience and in faith. The priceless gifts they bequeathed us out of their apparent poverty formed the very backbone of this nation.

Today, as we sit in the luxury of our modern homes, with thermostats to regulate our bodily comfort, with televisions and radios to entertain us, with all the miracles of modern science to make our daily living a continuing existence in ease and amazing independence and convenience, it is fitting that we take stock of our blessings and trace them back to their sources.

Let us be grateful that our forebears, both in this country and from the far corners of the earth, all of whom have given much to the development of this country, produced the giants of the following generations, the geniuses and the individualists who created all the empires of industry, of agriculture, of scientific achievement; and the more gentle souls who carried on and enhanced the teachings in medicine and surgery, culture, general education, social services, religion.

There should be a special satisfaction in the knowledge that we are in a position to share our great wealth with the whole world... and that we possess the intelligence and the compassion to do so.

There are many among us who do not attend church regularly, nor make other indication of subservience to the Power which has been such a contributing force in the great accomplishments in which we all take such pride.

This could put the lipstick industry out of business because, according to Revlon Co., no other colors are available for use in lipstick except those named in the proposed ban. AN AIR FORCE SPACEMAN dropped 14 miles from a balloon over the southern New Mexico desert, last Monday (November 16) to set a parachute jump record. Capt. Joseph W. He landed in perfect condition in a predetermined spot near the White Sands missile range near Alamogordo, N. M. SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 22 THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN has won its first "outright" Big Ten Football title since 1917 and will represent the conference in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. By eking out an 11 to 7 victory over an upset-bent Minnesota team, the Badgers clinched the bowl bid. Their competition in the run for the roses had been Northwestern, but Illinois took care of that with a 28 to 0 win over the Wildcats of Northwestern. For the first time in the history of the conference, a Big Ten champion is a "two time loser." Wisconsin has a record of 5 wins and 2 losses in conference play and a 7 and 2 overall record. In 1953, the Badgers went to the Rose Bowl after sharing the conference title with Purdue. They lost to Southern California, 7 to 0 in the Big Ten's only Rose Bowl defeat in 13 games. A DARING BANDIT held up the Woodward-Grand Boulevard branch of the Michigan Bank, Saturday, and got away with $1,735. In the process, he fired at the bank manager and wounded a Detroit policeman in the leg. Edward Zaleski, 34, was wounded when the bandit ambushed him from an alley behind the bank. The bandit then escaped through a used car lot. AN AIRLINER of the Ariana Airways of Afghanistan crashed shortly after taking off from Beirut Airport, Saturday. Twenty-three persons aboard the four engine plane are reported dead, two of them Americans. Three were injured. MONDAY, NOVEMBER 23 DETROIT'S NUMBER ONE dick jockey for teenagers, Tom Clay, was fired by radio station WJBK after admitting that he took payola. In a press conference yesterday afternoon, Clay revealed that he had taken payola to the amount of $6,000 in the last year and a half. "Nobody was wronged," Clay stated. "It was just business." I wanted to give my wife and family security," Clay's salary is said to have been $8,000 a year. Also on Sunday, Dale Young, the master of ceremonies on WJBK TV's Detroit Bandstand, gave the station his resignation. No other comment was given on Young's move, that the possibility of a position with another station in Detroit made it advisable not to make any statement at this time. Park Council Fills Posts

The Park council on Monday, November 23, approved appointments to the City Planning Commission and the Merit Board. Appointed to the Planning Commission, on recommendation of Mayor Kenneth Cunningham, was John M. McNaughton of 837 Edgemont, who succeeds the late Ward Detwiler of 1009 Three Mile drive, who died late last summer as a result of a broken neck from a dive while swimming. The term will expire on December 31, 1960. Two members of the Merit Board, nominated by Park municipal employees, were re-appointed. They are: J. W. Run-

THE CHICAGO BEARS came to town yesterday and picked up a 24 to 14 victory over the Lions. The Lions, who outplayed the Chicagoans in many departments, lost the magic touch inside of the 20 yard line and were behind 24 to 0 early in the fourth quarter. Jerry Reichow, Lion quarterback in the fourth quarter, pulled the team up by the bootstraps and they pushed across two touchdowns. But unlike the miracle Lions of 1957, they could not come all the way from behind to win. Fumbles, interceptions and costly penalties were the Lions' downfall all day.

THE UNITED STATES is planning to launch a moon-circling rocket on Thanksgiving Day, according to British scientists at Jodrell Bank, England. The British have announced their intentions of tracking the rocket on their giant radio telescope at Jodrell Bank.

STORIES have also mentioned that the U. S. will try to orbit the Sun somewhere near Christmas Day. The four day period starting Thanksgiving day is said to be quite favorable for launching the Moon rocket. If the firing is unsuccessful, there would have to be at least a month's delay. Reports said that the rocket in question, the giant Atlas-Able which is America's largest launching vehicle, is standing ready on its launching pad in Cape Canaveral, Fla.

A BIDDING WAR may be on between the old established National Football League and its potential rival the newly formed American Football League. The AFL held its first draft meeting Tuesday, each team drafting 33 college players. The NFL will hold its first draft sessions next Monday and is expected to draft many of the same players. The AFL owners said that they didn't expect a bidding war with the NFL except on a few of the very outstanding collegians.

DETROIT'S MAYOR Louis Miriani threw the switch at 5:15 p.m. yesterday and 18,000 multi-colored lights on 45 Christmas trees were ablaze. The colorful

So much to be thankful for...

Thanksgiving is traditionally a time when we pause and give thanks for the many blessings and advantages we in America enjoy. Among them is freedom of enterprise.

We reflected just the other day, while watching the huge electronic quotation board in our offices, that it—in a way—is emblematic of this freedom. Behind almost every company symbol on the board lies a story of personal initiative.

And—owned as they are by hundreds of thousands of people, these corporations reflect the privilege of every American to become a part of this enterprise that has made our country great. It is something reassuring to consider today as the big board is silent... while we pause to give thanks.

Center Holding College Dance

The annual College Reunion Dance at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial will be an important event on the calendar of all homecoming college students as well as those on local campuses.

Scheduled for Friday night, November 27, from 9 to 12 o'clock, this dance offers the Grosse Pointe college crowd an opportunity to come together again, renew acquaintances and compare notes on their progress and activities at different schools.

The orchestra for this occasion will be Roston Clark's, which many of this group will remember from numerous New Year's Eve dances at Grosse Pointe High School. Dress for the party will be informal and there will be impromptu entertainment at intermission time.

Punch and snacks will be served in the Center's main dining room and there will be candlelit tables set around both main and auxiliary dining rooms where groups may gather to express gemütlichkeit.

A committee of local college students headed by Connie Malcolmson and John Hartz has undertaken to see that word of this affair reaches as many Pointe Collegians as possible. Invitations have been sent to the students' Pointe residences where the parents have been asked to forward them. Also notices have been sent to those campuses sufficiently close to permit students to return for the Thanksgiving weekend.

A very fine evening is expected. While this is essentially a couples only dance, Pointers who have special guests for the holidays are urged to include their friends in the party.

Club Toasts Season At Thanksgiving Ball

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club Crowded Saturday for Festive Evening; Club Members Will Turn Out Again December 4 for Supper Club Party

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's gala Thanksgiving Ball last Saturday, has slipped shimmering into the past—now in its wake is news of a party just ahead. The coming fete is to be a "Supper Club" dinner dance Friday, December 4, with a sprightly floor show presenting Yonely, the international musical humorist, and singer Belinda Blanchard.

A huge cutout strutting turkey set the Thanksgiving theme at last Saturday's beautiful formal ball. Sir Gobbler had his place in the ballroom's great bay window, against a backdrop of golden brown satin. Lovely arrangements of flowers in the fall colors centered tables (dinner was served in the ballroom) and lighted tapers glowed softly.

The scene was kaleidoscopic with stunning gowns and men's formal black and white as couples danced blithely to music by Warner Ruhl and his "Miracles in Music" orchestra. A delightful feature was the singing by the Lutheran Choralists at 10:30 o'clock.

A large cocktail party given by Como, and Mrs. Robert F. Weber in their nearby home on Lake Shore road brought together GPYC directors and their wives and other friends, among them Tuesday bowling league members with whom the commodore and his lady later attended the ball.

In this group were the Rex Brophys, the junior Calvin

Gausses, the Charles Gausses, the Joseph Caskeys, Vernor Davises, Bill O. Brinks, Howard Shaws, E. M. Gregorjs Jr., Paul Morelands, Mrs. James P. Cleary and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fox.

With the Russell VanHoutens (she was in beige lace over peau de soie) were the Stark Hickeys (Mrs. Hickey, charming in a black crepe sheath with tricky cascading bands of the fabric, and a white mink shaped stole), Rear Como, and Mrs. John R. Will, the Cletus Wellings, Mrs. Ruth Fox and Richard Haynes.

The Rex Regans entertained at cocktails in their Whittier road home before their group went to the ball, Mrs. Regan wearing a ruby satin, short evening dress designed with bell skirt. Their guests were the Frank Fehrs, the John Murphys of Birmingham, the Ray Fishers and the Robert Rayls.

The Edward J. Schoenherrers were in a group with the Michael O'Donnells, the Jack Simmerers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Couzens Jr., the Charles A. J. Kitchers, the James Dinger

Red flannel nightshirts for the young set, Christmas shirts for children, pin cushions, Christmas stockings, all these new items plus the usual beautiful linens will be on sale.

Among the committee workers are Mrs. Harry Jones, Mrs. Truman Barber, Mrs. R. Jamison Williams, Mrs. Ross Wilkins, Mrs. Lloyd Marentette, Mrs. William Canfield, Mrs. John R. Decker and Mrs. Jack Fraser.

Volunteers offering their services include Mrs. Wendell C. Goddard, Mrs. Dan Hunter and Mrs. David Hinks.

There is a League for the Handicapped Shop in Birmingham and another at Headquarters, 1401 Ash street.

men and the Edward Roney Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Sturton (she was in a navy lace dinner dress) were cocktail hosts at their Lothrop road home before they and their guests went to the ball. With them were the James E. Gibsons, the Paul B. Browns of Bloomfield Hills and the Jack Monteiths of Birmingham, Dr. and Mrs. Edgar James' guests were Dr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Chaput and Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Squiers.

A group of GPYC's Friday mixed bowling league had a table together and a lot of fun—they were the Carl Berndts, Dr. and Mrs. Karl Weber, the Theodore Friedts, Dr. and Mrs. George Granger, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adam, the Leonard Wests and the Dan Holefacs.

The Lee Radkes entertained his brother and sister-in-law, the Donald Radkes (she was in a charming dress of green silk organza with fitted bodice and skirt pleated and swirled into a harem hem) and Dr. and Mrs. Edward Freimuth (she wore pretty, pretty red slippers with her white satin dress embroidered with tiny pearls and bugle beads). The hostess was in watermelon red satin with circular ballerina length skirt.

Mrs. Harry J. Chapman, in two-tone beige chiffon, and Mr. Chapman entertained the Phillip Flanderses and the Robert Tiermans. Another group having a wonderful time were the Robert B. Woods, the W. W. Woods, the Fred Somes Jr., the R. F. Kolowiches and the Edward Smiths. The John A. Botts' guests were Mr. and Mrs. Don R. DeLaRossa of Dearborn.

Movie Council Has Workshop

Continuing their policy of noting only the good movies offered by Grosse Pointe theaters and only the best programs on TV stations, the Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and Television Council members conducted a Workshop at their general meeting on Monday, November 16, in the Central Library.

Since the particular interest of the Council in rating TV shows centers on how they affect children and teen-agers, the members prefer not to publicize undesirable programs in their Television Bulletin soon to be distributed to schools, churches, and libraries in Grosse Pointe.

"Only shows which our members rate 'excellent' or 'good' for children, teen-agers, and family viewing appear on the Television Bulletin of the Council," states Mrs. Arthur Sherman, TV Council president.

"We hope to deter the young folks from watching the less good programs by ignoring them in our bulletin rather than 'pointing the finger.' To print titles of banned shows in the bulletin in order to criticize them might arouse the young folks' curiosity enough to take a look."

Some of the programs rated well in the voting of Council members were "Disneyland," "Mr. Wizard," "Lassie," "The Californians," "College Quiz-bowl," "High Road," and "Quick Draw McGraw."

The Vogue Theater received commendation from the Council members for their shows and good supervision of the audience at Saturday matinees. To complaints about questionable movies at local theaters, especially those shown week-end nights, and poor supervision at matinees, Mrs. Sherman replied that parents should write their comments to the managers of the offending theaters.

The wheel of fortune always loses its effectiveness when it turns a man's head.

Popular Singer to Open Club's Holiday Season on December 4; Joseph E. Bayne, Leo Fitzpatrick and David Gillis on Committee

Detroit Athletic Club's announcement letter to members that The Incomparable Hildegarde will star the club's December 4-12 holiday dinner-floor show was all in green and red print and decorative art, but not just to denote the coming Yuletide. Martin Freed will be at the piano. A top artist, Hildegarde has given command performances before royalty abroad and two presidents of the United States.

Senior Ladies To Have Party

The Senior Women's Club at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial is looking forward to enjoying a special Christmas program at the center, Wednesday afternoon, December 9, at 1:30 o'clock.

As has been the custom for the last several years, the Junior League Chorus will gather to present a program of Christmas music to the ladies. The Chorus which also rehearses weekly at the Center under the direction of Kris Dorjath of Wayne State University, has worked up an unusually fine program for this holiday season.

Singing for the Senior Women's Club at the Memorial is an important date in the Junior League Chorus's very full calendar of engagements. Under the presidency of Mrs. Hugo S. Higbie, the 30 member chorus composed of some of the busiest young women in Grosse Pointe, yearly at this time troops to hospitals, homes and literally hundreds of institutions to bring them joy at this season.

The Senior Ladies of the Memorial are themselves very busy people. When they assemble to enjoy this program provided by the Junior League Chorus they will bring with them gifts which a senior is contributing to child at Childrens Hospi. Many of these gifts represent hours of loving work and care on the part of the seniors. Mrs. Frederick E. Hibbard, president of the Senior Club, emphasizes, that this meeting on the 9th will be the social occasion of the holiday for the group. There will be a delicious tea served at 1:30 and following the program there will be card playing and Christmas greetings exchanged among members. Any senior women in Grosse Pointe are extended a cordial invitation to come to this special occasion and join in the regular monthly activities of the Senior Club.

AAUW Branch Hears Morgan

"For a woman to lose her feminine identity is tragic," said Owen Morgan, of the Merrill-Palmer School, in addressing the Grosse Pointe branch of the American Association of University Women at their monthly general meeting last Thursday in the War Memorial Center.

Morgan spoke with convincing authority on "Education for Women in Today's World." He is a Merrill-Palmer staff member in the Family Life and Parent Education Program. He previously taught in the Department of Family Relations and Children's Division at Oklahoma State University.

Morgan stressed the fact that education includes all experience in life. After getting the audience response to their ideas of the goal of education, the speaker said he saw it not as learning how to make a living, but "how to make a life." He believes "the purpose of knowledge is to promote human welfare, human fulfillment, and to improve the human situation." This idea would contrast sharply with that in Russia, or in Germany under Hitler, where human life is held subservient to the state.

Morgan thinks the human quest rightly should be for meaningfulness, fitting into the total scheme of things as a participant, a contributor. In his life work, Morgan said, "I see my mission to help people mean more to themselves and to each other."

In dealing with the concept of "humanness" he spoke of the need for "self-actualization." "Every human being needs to develop and maintain a sense of worth-whileness," he said, and again: "To be a person is most important of all—to have a center of gravity in yourself—to have a sense of 'selfness.'"

In order to be most effective as a wife or mother, you need to be self-sustaining. You do not have a give up the core of yourself.

We need also to have "closeness," a significant, purposeful relationship with other people. Marriages stand or fall "mostly because of the meanings people have for each other." When married partners lose this feeling of "nearness," which is the function of affection, the marriage fails.

Morgan is not so concerned with the rather popular notion that the husband is losing his masculinity by being drawn into the domestic situation too much—changing diapers, washing dishes. As an example of this type of thinking he cited the article in a popular magazine by the anthropologist, Margaret Mead: "Are You Making a Slave of Your Husband?"

He does think it important that husbands and wives keep ever in mind the polarity of male and female. A wife "should like her man as a man." The speaker quoted from Lawrence K. Frank's book, "How to be a Woman and Wife," in which the author pushes the point that the wife should be "endlessly intriguing" and show a "feminine responsiveness."

There is danger, Morgan feels, in wives becoming so absorbed in their own wifely and mother career that they lose interest in their husbands. It takes the "best" imaginative efforts of both partners to create a happy marriage. As a parting humorous shot the speaker told of the divorce being sought on grounds of incompatibility. He had lost his income—and she had lost her compatibility.

The Engineering Society of Detroit Junior Wives will meet December 2 at 8 o'clock in the Rackham Building to hear Paul DePatis speak on "Festive Holiday Decorations." Mrs. Eugene Hawley, of Grosse Pointe, will be hostess.

Her last appearance in Detroit was last season in the pre-Broadway opening of "The Warm Peninsula." Miss Harris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Harris of Ellair place.

Leon's New Beauty Salon Sure to Delight Clientele

Eight years ago, Leon opened his first beauty salon in Grosse Pointe. This week he is celebrating the grand opening of his new shop at 17888 Mack avenue, and his bywords are comfort and service.

"The ladies of Grosse Pointe deserve the best of treatment when they come to me to have their hair done," says Leon. "They come to enhance their beauty, and this is accomplished with the greatest facility when they are relaxed, and can enjoy just being here."

Not to be outdone by anyone when it comes to his own philosophy, Leon has created a shop that caters to milady, her whims, her moods and her vanity. When Mrs. X (or Mrs. Van Doe) arrives at Leon's, she finds that an attendant is waiting to park her car for her. She steps under a canopy, and into the alcove and thus into the sparkling white foyer. Directly in front of her is the drying area, which resembles a sunken garden. A half dozen steps lead from the main floor down to the coral carpet and the spacious chairs beneath the pink shaded driers.

But Mrs. Van Doe is not ready for this, yet. She is led into a small room where she dons a blue Japanese kimono and scuffles. The reason, a woman is more relaxed without high heels and her street clothes. She may then have a facial if she wishes.

Mrs. Van Doe then proceeds to the hair washing area. There, instead of the old chairs that produce cricks in the neck and the sensation that the back may never be straight again, are slightly angled couches on which one may recline in comfort. While the water, shampoo and attendant do their job, one can relax instead of squirm away from the porcelain clutch of the old style basins. And one can have a massage here too.

For those who do, (tint their hair that is), there are private booths. Though many women admit to the practice, there are just as many who don't. And at Leon's, "only your hairdresser will know."

The styling section has three dimensional mirrors so that the new hairdo can be viewed from all angles. And while in the drying section mentioned before, Mrs. Van Doe may find that painting, for which she has been searching, to hang above the mantelpiece. On three walls, in full view of the driers, and also scattered throughout the entire salon, are paintings by Grosse Pointe artists. Each work has the name of the artist and the price of the painting.

And there are other extras, too. The only scalp doctor available in a beauty salon in the state of Michigan will be on duty for those ladies with such a problem. Hi-fidelity music is piped throughout the shop. Coffee and even luncheon are available in the snack bar. And children may be deposited there while Mommie relaxes.

The salon is done in myriad colors, subtle and pleasing. The atmosphere does speak of comfort, relaxation and pleasure.

And when Mrs. Van Doe is ready to leave, her car will be brought to the door for her, so the rain or wind cannot spoil the new creation atop her head.

A trip to Leon's is not a weekly chore but a pleasure, sure to be a highlight in many a feminine Pointer's week.

Office Parties Frowned Upon

Employers were urged today to dry up the Christmas office party.

The request came from the National Safety Council, which blames the flowing bowl at the office party for getting the Christmas traffic toll off to a dizzy, dangerous start.

"Our surveys," said the Council, "show that a sizeable percentage of Christmas traffic accidents occur in the early part of the holiday period. Many of these can be traced back to the office party and its highball hilarity."

The Council emphasized it is not trying to dampen the traditional Christmas spirit.

"Just the opposite," it asserted. "We are trying to eliminate a definite source of highway accidents—accidents which can completely ruin Christmas for anyone they touch."

"You just can't have a merry Christmas if someone you love is hurt or killed."

The Council is asking its 8,000 business and industrial member concerns to take a new look at their office parties and either keep the cork in the bottle or eliminate the parties.

"Drinking and driving," it said, "are a lethal combination—not only at Christmas parties, but any time, anywhere."

"The most dangerous drink ever concocted is 'one for the road.'"

SAYS FINGERPRINTS PROVE PARENTHOOD—Prof. Sandor Okros, of Debrecen, Hungary, claims he has discovered a foolproof method for determining parenthood—fingerprints. He says his studies prove a child's fingerprints always bear marks corresponding to the characteristic pattern of both the mother's and father's fingerprints. Hungarian courts have been using his method to settle paternity cases. Below: Two men (left and third from left) are suspected of being the father of a child (right). The mother's prints are second from left. Close examination shows the father is the man whose prints are third from left.

SUING OVER TV QUIZ—Mrs. Lorna Hahn, Temple university teacher who lost to Teddy Nadler on the "$64,000 Challenge" TV quiz show, talks to her attorney, Yale Bernstein, in Philadelphia after announcing she will sue the show's producers and sponsors for $553,000. She charges that since rigging was disclosed, her reputation and professional standing have been damaged.

SEEKS MISSING PAGE—Sitting on a couch, Beverly Aadland, 17-year-old protege of the late Errol Flynn, tells New York newsmen she flew east to look for the missing fifth page of a handwritten will in which, she says, Flynn left one-third of his estate to her. Two Flynn "wills" were filed for probate in New York after the 50-year-old actor died in Canada.

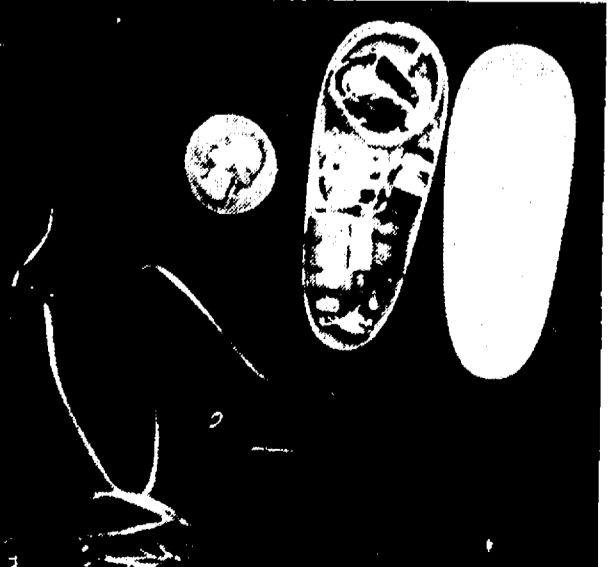

SEVEN KILLED—Two scenes of the wreck of an auto and three trucks on U. S. 30 near New Rochelle, Ill., show one of the trucks burning and flattened wreckage of the auto. Six persons were killed in the auto, and one truck driver.

ANALYZES CRANBERRIES—George Miller, chemist in the Seattle, Wash., office of the federal Pure Food and Drug Administration, analyzes some of the cranberries which Health Secretary Arthur S. Flemming announced have been found with a residue of aminotriazole, a weed killer. The chemical is known to produce cancer in the thyroid of rats. Flemming said the public would be "on the safe side" to shun cranberries till a decontaminating procedure is evolved.

SOUR NOTES—Mrs. June Crosby, 39, tearfully tells her side of the story about her fight with husband Bob in Beverly Hills, Calif., that he came home from a drinking spree, wanted to fight somebody, attacked her and that in the ensuing tussle he was stabbed twice with a letter opener. She says she suffered a broken rib. Crosby, 46, denies striking her, but both say the marriage of more than 20 years is over. They have four children.

RADIO IN ITS INNARDS—Meet Orbit, the 1 1/2-year-old beagle with radio (lower) in its innards, connected to its heart. Spacelabs, Inc., displayed the beagle and radio (shown beside a 25-cent piece for comparison) at the American Rocket society convention in Washington. Placing the radio inside the dog took an hour-long operation in Los Angeles, and next day the dog was up and frisking, and the radio was transmitting a cardiogram. Spacelabs offers the test for possible use in future space program work.

DON'T LIKE IKE?—Opinion on President Eisenhower's invoking of the Taft-Hartley injunction sending the Steelworkers back to work for 80 days is expressed by arm-bands worn by Steelworker John Pavelkey and Mrs. Martha Casper, wife of another Steelworker, at Wheeling Steel, Yorkville, O. The arm-bands carry the legend: "U.S.W. of A. Ike's Slave."

ADMITS SETTING 10 FIRES IN ONE DAY—James Enriquez, 15, is led from questioning by a detective in Chicago police headquarters, where he admitted setting as many as 10 fires in one day. He is being questioned about the "Our Lady of Angels" school fire which took 95 lives last Dec. 1.

It went in this way . . .

. . . And came out this way. LOW BRIDGE—Theodore Rockwell, 49, suffered only minor head injuries when this happened in St. Louis. The car's top was sheared off, but not his head, not quite.

SHARK BAIT—Lifeguard Duffe Fryling, 21, displays a bandaged arm and a now carefree smile in Malibu, Calif., after being a lesson to a school of sharks. He was hunting lobsters and almost became a meal himself when a shark got him by the arm. He pried loose and swam for his life as a whole school of lifeguard-eating sharks chased him to beach.

His horse was shot from under him at Gettysburg where he engaged Confederate Jeb Stuart's cavalry. He rode with Custer and was commander of the regiment which pursued and captured Jefferson Davis after Appomattox. He was one of Detroit's first Republicans, first supporters of the symphony and played with one of the city's first baseball teams.

General Luther Trowbridge was a lawyer. Many of Grosse Pointe's first land titles were drawn up by his firm. His descendants live here today. Yet it is his Civil War record which captures the fancy of this generation. He was fighting while many of his contemporaries were amassing the fortunes which built Grosse Pointe's summer colony.

Son of a well-to-do farmer, General Trowbridge was born in Troy, Mich., in 1836 and finished his education at Yale University. He studied in the Detroit law offices of Sidney D. Miller and was admitted to the bar in 1858. A year later he went into partnership with the Hon. Alexander W. Buel.

This partnership lasted until 1862, for that was the year Lincoln issued the call for 200,000 soldiers. General Trowbridge was offered the command of the Second Michigan Infantry but refused it because he felt he was not qualified. With many other professional men he trained under a West Point graduate and when issued a commission a major in the Fifth Michigan Cavalry he was ready.

His cavalry unit was posted to Washington and became part of the Michigan Brigade which fought so well at Gettysburg. It was on this field that he rode side by side with Custer, under grueling artillery fire. His horse was shot from under him by a cannonade from Stuart's men. "I only escaped capture through the bravery of my orderly, who dashed up with a second horse which I mounted, thus enabling me to escape." The orderly later received a field commission as captain.

After Gettysburg the major fell sick and was furloughed home for six weeks. He then went back as a colonel in the Tenth Michigan Cavalry to Kentucky and Tennessee. He was the only Union cavalry in that part of the country when Sherman left on his famous march to the sea through Georgia.

He was busy rebuilding fortifications and demolishing the Virginia and East Tennessee Railroad, a Confederate link with Lee's beleaguered forces in Virginia. After the surrender of General Joseph Johnston's forces he rode after Jefferson Davis. He became a Brigadier General in 1865 before he was mustered out.

The general returned to Detroit after a few years in Tennessee and established another law firm, became president of internal revenue, city comptroller and vice-president of a bank.

Teddy Roosevelt appointed him general appraiser of customs. He was active in the Republican party from the day he nailed the party flag to his house, the year John C. Fremont ran for president. He had married his former partner's daughter, Julia M. Buel, and the couple had seven children. The general supported the Philharmonic Society (first symphony) and played with the "Early Risers," one of the city's first baseball team (typical score, 53-36). He died in 1912, three years after his wife, and is buried in Elmwood cemetery.

A real member of Great Britain's Establishment, (which all the young men rail against), with American know-how is the Duke of Bedford. . . he charmed the guests at Sir James and Lady Easton's cocktail party, gave each guest a moment of his undivided attention. . . so pleased was he with Detroit's Art Institute he might loan them about $1,500,000 of his precious paintings now at Woburn Abbey, the ducal estate.

The art exhibit will have to be held sometime before March 1 for that's when Woburn Abbey is open to the public for a season which lasts until October 1. . . in Alvan Macaulay's spirit the Duke went for a quiet dinner at the Yondotega Club to discuss arrangements. . . the affable visitor went from Detroit to Dallas and will then go to Disneyland. . . he just might build a rival amusement arena in the 3,000 acres of the Woburn Abbey park. . . anything to pay off that $14,000,000 inheritance tax, of which he still has 2 million to go.

Holiday diners will see Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Merkels' magnificent all white home at its best. . . in the dining room is an unusual Russian metal candle-labra, which holds at least 20 tapers, reflecting from the huge mirrored table. . . which divides into smaller tables for more intimate parties.

Invitations to the Henry Ford's debut ball for daughter Charlotte December 21 at the Country Club went out the day after Armistice Day. . . nearly six weeks in advance, which should help millay select just the proper, elegant gown. . . most probably they are so early because so many Europeans will be here. . . the Fords expect 60 house guests for the debut.

Eleanor Hawkins, December 12 bride-to-be, will have an all pink kitchen. . . at a recent shower Mrs. William R. Hamilton cleverly arranged a tiny doll's house kitchen on top her package (a kitchen slate). . . the wee table held a Thanksgiving dinner including a turkey. . . at the same shower Eleanor received a pink electric fryer along with the more usual culinary hand-crafts in that pastel hue.

PILFERINGS

The harried husband was making out checks to pay the family bills when he got down to the last two. "Well, dear," he said to his wife, "we'll just have enough money to pay one or the other. It's a toss up between the doctor and the electric light company. Which shall it be?" "Pay the electric light company," she replied swiftly. "At least the doctor won't come around and shut off our blood."

MRS. THOMAS BURNS, OF RIVARD BOULEVARD

By Patricia Talbot

Thirty eight years have passed since the Irish rebellion for independence but to Mrs. Thomas Burns the conflict has the sharpness of today's news.

A real colleen, she was born in Belfast, and from her nursery days remembers that her father was always on the run from the British Black and Tans. He was DeValera's agent in Northern Ireland, devoted to the cause of Ireland's freedom. Now an American citizen she has never surrendered her bitterness over the treatment her family and friends received during the rebellion. Her own children, Maura, Maeve and Joan, typical teen agers, care little for their Irish heritage, are more interested in rock and roll television.

Bullets in the Mattress
Mrs. Burns is eight years old when her father was fighting for Ireland. She remembers midnight entries by the police searching for the fugitive, the tanks and searchlights patrolling the Belfast streets, and the night the machine guns raked their home. She found 22 bullets in the mattress the next morning. She helped her mother move ammunition from St. Mary's Hall before the British raided it. It took them five hours to wheel a baby carriage back and forth loaded with shells, grenades and guns.

Her father, before the troubles, had owned a bakery, which was confiscated by the government. He fled to America on a cattle boat and his family joined him in Detroit in 1922. Here they have been ever since. Mrs. Burns' three brothers fought in the second World War, their father only begrudging that they had to accept the British for allies.

Wants to Visit Belfast

Mrs. Burns is very proud of her family's strong stand. She would like to visit Ireland some day to see the scenes she remembers vividly. Her mother returned for a visit and found Belfast little changed. Mrs. Burns was educated at Marygrove College and is now president of the Alumnae Association. Before assuming her two year post she taught in St. Paul's and St. Ambrose Schools but finds her present volunteer job so demanding that she had to abandon teaching.

Alumnae President

The college is trying to raise $3,000,000 to complete the quadrangle and supply a new library and laboratory. The Alumnae Association has pledged half a million of this fund which must be raised in three years.

A fashion show in the spring is the Alumnae's major effort and is already taking up much of Mrs. Burns' time. There will be a Christmas tea at the college on December 13 to bring the alumnae together. About 850 students attend Marygrove, from all over the United States and as far away as India and the Philippines.

Collects Antiques

When Mrs. Burns is not working for Marygrove she hunts antiques, usually in Canada. She has quite a collection of silver, a Scottish silver epergne, two embossed spoons engraved with the initials of her father.

Old Club Names Board Members

A cocktail party and dinner topped the Old Club's 88th annual meeting Thursday at the DAC.

At the meeting, clemets elected Benson Ford, Cletus J. Welling and Joseph M. Dudge, to fill vacancies on the club's board of directors for three year terms.

Officers for the 1960 season will be announced at the first board meeting to be held later this month.

le, leek, rose and shamrock signifying the British Isles, among her other rare treasures.

The Burns own a cottage in Amherstburg and spend a great deal of time in Canada. Although she lives under the Union Jack in her standards, she has not lowered her standards. When the British national anthem is played she won't stand for the Queen.

Her loyalties and her deep sense of history were in conflict this summer when she had two guests from South Carolina. The ladies, who had been attending as alumnae council with Mrs. Burns at Mackinac, wanted to see the Queen, who was stopping in Windsor. Mrs. Burns kindly drove them into the city and waited by Riverside drive to hail Her Majesty as she drove by.

He Collects Clocks

Mrs. Burns shares her interest in old silver and china with her husband, who collects clocks. They have several old French clocks, in Sevres and ormolu, two Waterbury clocks and an unusual gold Viennese specimen with such a deep chime it hindered conversation and had to be turned off.

Mrs. Burns' mother brought with her from Ireland that country's famous linen and old china and crystal which her daughter will inherit along with her mother's memories of the Irish troubles. Mrs. Burns is proud of her American citizenship, deeply attached to her home town, her college and her family, but Ireland has a claim on this daughter which she will never abandon.

Hospital Guild Girls Gather

The Bon Secours Hospital Guild girls met for their semi-monthly meeting, Wednesday evening, November 18.

The group was honored by the presence of Mother Mary Nicolas, the province superior of the Sisters of Mercy of the Detroit province. She was accompanied by Sister Marie Bernard, director of the Mt. Carmel Mercy hospital school for medical librarians.

Mother Liborius, superintendent at Bon Secours, introduced Sister Marie Bernard as guest speaker of the evening. She spoke on the great need for trained medical record librarians and talked of the romance of travel available in this field, as well as the many opportunities for advancement.
