With Quota 25 Percent Higher Than Last Year Contributions Fall $2,000 Short of Pace Set in Campaign a Year Ago

Twelve thousand follow-up letters were mailed this week to all Grosse Pointe homes which had not been heard from by last Friday in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's current 1960 Family Participation Campaign. Many Pointers have been vacationing, Easter was late and it is spring vacation time in the schools. For these reasons it is hoped the follow-up letters will be especially fruitful this year as reminders.

The letter appeal from John W. Paynter, War Memorial Association president, is attached to a postage-free remittance envelope which it is hoped every citizen will return with as generous a gift as he feels he is able to make and is de-served. The officer put out a radio call to Park police cars and to Detroit police, and within minutes, police from the two communities formed a cordon around the area, but Strachan escaped, it is believed, in a green and white 1958 Pontiac, license number GX9042.

Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers said that the gun and car belonged to an Oakland County deputy sheriff and were stolen hy Strachan when he escaped from jail there.

JUMPED HIGH FENCE

The chief said that Strachan escaped by jumping over a sixfoot fence between the Park Fire Station House and the city sewer pumping station. He apparently had the car parked nearby, which may account for his quick getaway.

This was born out shortly of ter Strachan's escape, when he was reported to have held up another cab in the Detroit's 15th Precinct, Connor Station.

On Thursday, April 14, Strachan systemed a cab in Hazel Park, and was driven to Lincoln and Pasadena, Highland Park, where he robbed the cab driver. This was his 21st holdup since his escape from Oakland County authorities.

HIS FAVORITE SPOT

Chief Louwers said that in December 1959, the wanted man hired a Park cab, and ordered the driver to take him to his favorite spot, Woodward and Davison, and then robbed him.

Strachan is described as being, white, 25 years old, 160 pounds, about five feet seven or eight inches tall, blond crewcut hair, and when last seen was wearing a gray visor cap, gray hipline jacket and gray

Self Discipline Needed at HS

The administration of Grosse Pointe High School is in favor of easing the present faculty supervision of students in the halls and cafeteria, according to Jerry M. Gerich, principal.

During discussions on this subject by the Executive Council of the high school, Mr. Gerich said that he thought that high school students did not have to be under constant supervision, and that they should be allowed to learn to conduct themselves properly without outside pressure "Small problems can create an undesirable atmosphere affecting the whole intellectual cliguilty of not having her car un- mate of a school," said Mr. Gerich. "The solution to these problems should come from within the students themselves.

The problems cited as examples were: inappropriate display of affection; loitering in the halls; and littering, in the cafeteria and study halls in particular. Lack of self-discipline and control are to blame for the pressure of these problems, the Council feels. And self discipline, which should be learned at home, should also be aided and improved by the school.

Self discipline is very necessary in order to do well in college and make the most of the education available there, according to Mr. Gerich, Self discipline learned and applied by the student, Mr. Gerich be-

The Student Association has undertaken, as their project, the campaign to make the students more aware of the problems mentioned above and of the need for improvement through self discipline.

We Should Be Grateful

The Grosse Pointe real estate brokers and the Property Owners' Association have been taking a bit of a verbal beating recently, and we think it's about time someone spoke up in their behalf. We don't want to get mixed up in any arguments over discrimination, particularly the racial angles to which many of the unfavorable comments have referred, but we would like to make some general observations concerning the services which these organizations have given the community.

The brokers are naturally interested in protecting property values in the Pointe. This is where they do the bulk of their business, and if values decline, their commissions will obviously shrink and their livelihoods be threatened. We also think they are more than a little motivated in their business transactions by a pride in their community. One cannot be a good salesman unless he is proud of his product.

The Property Owners' Association is supported by the memberships of many residents who share a similar pride in their own real estate and in their surroundings. We admire their interest in attempting to guard standards already achieved, or seeking to obtain an environment that has been part of dreams not yet come true.

We see these things in a far different light than that shed under the ugly appellation of racial prejudice. So many of us have relatives we would abhor as next door neighbors because we know it would put us in propinquity with ways of living to which we do not subscribe. Not only would they be poaching on us constantly, but they would not have the same interest in keeping up their properties in a manner which did credit to the neighborhood.

There was no hint of racial prejudice when a group of residents in the City of Grosse Pointe objected so strenuously to the expansion of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, (with accompanying parking lots), that the city council upheld their objections and turned down the building plans. No matter how any of us felt about this, the fact remained that these residents were zealously trying to guard their own property rights.

We remember the case where a Farms councilman tore down a new fence he had built, because some neighbors objected on the grounds that it deteriorated the aesthetic values of the area and was in violation of local

The Property Owners' Association and the real estate brokers have worked closely with the councils of all of the Pointe community to guard values and preserve the standards of which we are all so proud. Largely because of them, we who live here car of one of the most beautiful residential areas anywhere. We think they deserve our sincere thanks, and our support.

Krumgold, which received the Newbery medal, and "Nine Days to Christmas" by Marie Ets and Aurora Labastida, winner of the Caldecott award. The runners up for these, as might be expected, find a place on the list too. They were also touched on in an earlier column: "My Side of the Mountain," by Jean George, "America Is Born" by Gerald W. Among the thirty-five books honored we were pleased to find the "Adventures of Rinby Isabella Holt, our own Mrs. Haldeman Finnie. This is a rollicking tale of a most unthird grade class, "When we had finished, the children wanted me to begin all over

Two books of poetry have a place on this notable list: "You Come Too" by Robert Frost, is a collection of poems selected from his past writings. They have a wide range of age and taste and provide an excellent introduction to Frost for young people.

Another established poet, John Ciardi, is represented with his book "The Reason for the Pelican." This is a welcome departure from the average jingle which too often passes for children's verse.

Two delightful books which defy the labeling of readers' age interest are by the Czechoslovakian artist, M. Sasek, "This Is London" and "This Is Paris." A fine sense of design and the unusual use of color make these particular guide books a joy for the whole family. "This Is Rome" we understand is now in the making. Three fairy tale collections are found here. Two are retold by Virginia Haviland; "Favorite Fairy Tales Told in German by Grimm," and "Favorite Fairy Tales Told in England compiled by Jacobs." The third, we are particularly enthusiastic about-"Seven Tales by Hans Christian Andersen" translated by Eva Le Gallienne. This is illustrated by Maurice Sendak and the pictures are exquisite

Volkswagen Convertible

(an air-tight case for owning an open-air car)

The top of the Volkswagen Convertible is like no other. It is air-tight and water-tight because it overlaps the windshield frame. It has a real glass rear window and is completely lined and padded - no struts or crossbars show. The padding is an insulator, too -- the patter of rain is almost inaudible.

The VW Convertible shares every mechanical virtue of the sedans. The rear engine gives superb traction in any weather. And the engine is air-cooled. (No water to freeze or boil over. No anti-freeze.} Individual torsion-bar suspension gives you uncanny control over the roughest roads.

Driving the VW Convertible is fun. It floats from gear to gear. You can go 70 mph all day without strain, or buzz nimbly through stop-and-go traffic. (You get 32 mpg — regular gas, regular driving.) It is a good four feet shorter than conventional cars; you can park it where other cars can't fit.

The best way to get the feel of a Volkswagen Convertible is to slip behind the wheel and drive one. Never mind the weather. Come in and do it . . . this week.

The residents had complained that expressway traffic coming out of the Allard exit. increased the number of cars turning onto their street, thereby creating a hazard.

An initial complaint made by the people living in Allard. brought about an authorized traffic survey by Woods Director of Public Safety Vern Bailey and J. L. Wehmeyer of 19463 Lancashire, Detroit, Woods Traffic Consultant.

Bailey and Wehmeyer said that their survey showed that approximately 1,800 cars use Allard, daily, and although this number is slightly more than normal, it is not an unusual figure, and does not create a hazardous situation.

Tuesday, April 12, was one of the biggest days in the life of eight year old Robert Grippe, son of the Robert Grippes of 1652 Severn road. He became a citizen of the United States

Young Robert came to the Grippes from northern Italy four years ago next month. Though they have a daughter of their own, Angie, who is 17, the Grippes wanted to adopt another child.

They contacted the Catholic Charities (through whom the adoption was arranged) and became interested in getting a child from Europe. So in May, 1956, Robert, then age four, who spoke no English and only a four year old's amount of Italian, arrived at Willow Run Airport to meet his new

"I knew a few words in Italian," said Mrs. Grippe, "and t was enough to communicate. He picked up English very rapidly. In fact he doesn't even remember any of his original language now, which is unfortunate, really."

Robert, who is in second grade at Our Lady Queen of eace school, he will be nine on July 5. And he has become, as a result of his big moment a week ago, a "citizenship fan." His final adoption came through n February two years ago. His parents are very proud of the fact that he will make his first communion on May 1.

The usual questions asked of anyone applying for citizenship were waived in Robert's case, because of his age. "We all feel that his joining our family just had to be," said Mrs. Grippe; "why he even Mrs. Grippe; looks like us."

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS ABOUT BUILT-IN

ELECTRIC

Electric heat is an advanced and superior concept of home comfort. Here are some of the questions we've been asked about it.

WHAT DOES IT LOOK LIKE?

The four most widely used types are illustrated below. Because electric heat is built in, there is little interference with in walls or partitions.

Radiant panels go or on walls.

IS IT SAFE?

It's as safe and troublefree as electric light. Electric heat devices work very much like your toaster does. However, most of them operate at relatively low temperatureswithout glowing wires.

IS IT EFFICIENT? The heat produced by electric systems is usable heat; practically none of it is wasted within the heating equipment itself. Electric heat is just about as close to 100 percent efficiency as it's humanly possible to get.

IS IT EXPENSIVE TO INSTALL?

In general, the original cost of an electric heating system is less than that of any other type of quality equipment. Actual installed cost will vary according to type of heating unit used, home size, method of home construction and additional insulation requirements.

A good time to install electric heat is when building a new home. But it's also very economical to install it when home alterations or additions are being made. Wiring is no problem. It's figured as part of the job.

CAN I PUT IT IN JUST ONE ROOM?

Yes, and economically, too, as indicated above. Typical examples: when you're adding a new room, finishing an upstairs, closing in a porch or breezeway. Electric heat is especially valuable when the new living space is a long way from the central heating system, or when the central system is already working to capacity. Another good time to use electric heat is when you have a hard-to-heat area.

CAN I PUT IT IN THE WHOLE HOUSE?

Yes, you can switch the whole house over to electric heat. In this case, additional insulation will be required, plus storm sash and storm doors all around.

For greatest heating economy and summer comfort, regardless of type of heating system, good insulation pays off. Industryestablished standards for this area for insulation thickness is not less than 6" overhead; 35% in outside walls; 2" alongside and partially under concrete floor slabs. Floors above basements also need insulation.

WHAT DOES IT COST TO USE ELECTRIC HEAT?

Various factors, including family living habits, affect operating cost, so a hard-andfast answer is impossible. A rough rule of thumb is 256-286 per square foot of heated space, annually. But there's little need to guess. An electric heating contractor can calculate actual first cost and operating cost quickly and accurately. Electric heat will cost more. But the cost will probably not be as high as one would imagine. Like any quality product, you pay more for electric heat but you get more

In June 1959, Detroit Edison added a new, lower step to the residential electric rate. Now, kilowatt-hours of electricity over 750 per month cost 2¢ each, gross, instead of 2½¢—an 11 percent reduction.

DOES IT NEED MUCH SERVICING?

No. There are no moving parts in the electric heating systems discussed here except in the forced air units where fans or blowers are used. Fans are not high velocity, so they are long lasting also. An added advantage of electric heat, depending upon the type, is its completely silent, or very quiet, operation.

WHAT MAKES ELECTRIC HEAT BETTER?

FLEXIBILITY-Each room has its own thermostat. So each remains at the temperature you choose without affecting other areas. Temperatures can be raised or lowered in any room without overheating or chilling the rest of the house. Just a touch on the proper thermostat does it.

SPEED-When a thermostat is adjusted In the systems described here, the heat source is right in each unit—only inches away instead of many feet.

EVEN HEAT-There will be very little temperature difference between floor and ceiling. And, wherever possible, electric heat (except ceiling cable, of course) is installed in outside walls. Then there is a curtain of warm air between the cool wall and window surfaces and room occupants. This fends off chilling drafts.

CLEANLINESS-Nothing is burned to make smoke, soot or fumes. Air currents will carry only whatever dust may have been introduced by other means. Nor are large quantities of outside, potentially dusty air drawn into the house to support combustion. Result: walls, draperies, fur-niture and floor coverings stay clean longer.

ARE THERE OTHER TYPES OF ELECTRIC HEAT? Yes, the flexibility of electric heat makes it applicable to many basic systems. For example, there are electric warm air and wet heat systems.

WHERE CAN I SEE ELECTRIC HEAT?

And a feature of every Gold Medallion Home is its electric heating system. Watch for announcements of Gold Medallion

WHERE CAN I GET MORE INFORMATION?

There's free literature at your Edison office, or mail the coupon below. Another source, especially for a cost estimate. is the electric heating contractor who dis-

The contractor who displays the emblem has had special training which enables him to estimate your heating needs accurately. He has also pledged himself to meet industry standards of installation.

> 2. IS THERE ANYTHING GOOD IN OUR PRESENT CONSTITUTION?

Yes, there is much that is good. We can be glad that we have our Declaration of Rights, liberal provisions for elective franchise, the initiative, referendum and recall that give Michigan citizens a direct voice in government and the assurance of the right to decide every 16 years whether we wish to call a Constitutional Convention. These and other excellent provisions in our Constitution we would not wish to discard. A Constitutional Convention would be free to retain what is good and change that which needs revision.

Trie of Stars

True, it was a great team effort but out of it emerged a trio of stars in Terry "Steamboat" Donovan, Chuck "Slim" Clark and Mike "Mighty Mouse" Towson who was the high point individual winner with eleven points plus running on the winning 880 relay. Donovan had ten points plus being on the same relay team and Clark had cleven points. The latter two were the only double winners of the meet.

Towson, the smallest athlete in school, captured the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet 111/4 inches, placed second to Donovan in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Clark was the premier hurdler winning both the 120 high hurdles and 180 low hurdles. They amassed 36 of the Devils' 78 point total.

Pulls Biggest Surprise The biggest surprise of the meet came in the 880 yard run and was by far the most thrilling. Lanky Jerry Spiewak was figured to be a shoo-in based on the form he had been showing in practice. And for about 800 yards had the event sewed up. Mike Miller changed the picture in the final stretch run to the tape when he overhauled his teammate in the last 80 yards to win by a full second with a time of 2:06.5. Bruce Appel gave the Devils a slam in the event when he chugged in one and nine-tenths of a second behind the winner.

Early in the meet Coach MacAdam chewed his fingernails as the results were announced in the field events. The first finger was gnawed

The Flying Scot class has gradually been replacing the catboats at the DYC, Detroit Boat Club and at Edison Boat Club and will be used in the weekly Detroit River Yachting Association races in the team events. They also will be used to determine the club champions at these three clubs as well as the DRYA.

Actually the DYC season opener was scheduled for April 2 but a sudden breakup of the ice in Lake St. Clair caused the river to jam solid and force chairman John McHugh to postpone it for a week.

In the meantime, across the river at the Edison Boat Club, the first, until this year, to open the season, the Flying Scot fleet and the Club Sloop fleet were being launched. Edison opened its season Saturday, April 16, with three Flying Scot races and one Club Sloop race. The final "Scot" race saw the tailenders becalmed at the turning mark upriver and towed back to port.

"Moon" Baker and his boat partner Jerry Clements took off for Florida to pick up their new yacht "Touche II" at Mar, Fort Lauderdale. Baker figures about four weeks to make a leisurely trip back to Detroit in time for the opening Detroit Yacht Club Memorial Day regatta. If the weather is right Baker and company will stay "outside" all the way but will duck in the inland waterway if its looks too bad.

Averaging 1:204/5 minutes per mile the late Henry Ford drove a racing car to victory in October, 1901 on a mile course constructed on the marsh land of Grosse Pointe. It was this race which spurred him on to develop the car which was to make Detroit the motor capital of the world.

The Grosse Pointe race track was described by the Detroit Journal as "the most beautiful in the country," bordering the Detroit River. (This must have been the land we know as Windmill Pointe).

Races had been run in France for several years and the record winning race of Ford's car in Grosse Pointe made news around the world. The Detroit Driving Club held title to the racetrack and the race itself was sponsored by Daniel Campau, of the club, William Metzger, a bicycle and automobile salesman and Charles B. Shanks, sales manager for Alexander Winton, a car manufacturer, who raced against Ford with his own

In the early 1900's Ford spent a great deal of time building racing cars, and his first venture into manufacturing with the Detroit Automobile Co., was a failure while such men as Durant, Olds and Charles B. King were pioneering in auto building with more success.

Ford's race in 1901 against Winton before what the Detroit News called "the society folk" of Detroit and Cleveland was a big success. In the East the important citizens of Newport began to buy motors although they didn't always drive them themselves. Among the owners on were Vanderbilts, Whitneys, Morgans, Astors and Harrito May, loading puppets and working for a burglar alarm scenery in his station wagon company and Pat will study and Ford became known as a speed demon, known as the "most famous of American chauffeurs." When he first began to race he was afraid of the turns but he soon conquered this.

In 1902 Ford built the famous "999", a big red car which shot flames from its motor. It was so fast that Ford was afraid to drive it himself, and his associates Tom Cooper and H. C. Wills were unwilling to try. Ford persuaded Barney Oldfield, an old friend and former bicycle racing champion to drive the car.

The car was entered in a widely-publicized race at the road in the fall and they the Grosse Pointe track held in October, 1902. Oldfield are preparing another show, drove the car to victory, finishing a half mile in front of his closest competitor, Alexander Winton. The time was 5:28 and less than 1:06 a mile. Oldfield is reported to have said that this race launched him on his great career as a racer. He told Ford that each of them "made" the other, Ford by building the car, Oldfield by driving it. children in Notre Dame avenue.

This second racer brought Ford back to the commercial field. He found a backer, Alex Y. Malcomson. Within a month after the race in Grosse Pointe Ford and Malcomson entered into the negotiations which led to the founding of the Ford Motor Co.

The Grosse Pointe Community Theater, which will present its prize-winning "Death of a Salesman" in the Shubert Theater on May 13 has come across some set problems. When the show was produced in March the GPCT used furniture from the high school where the show was presented.

Now the production crew is scurrying about finding the rather ramshackle furnishings necessary . . . two chairs were bought from the Salvation Army as building fixtures because they were holding up a stack of mattresses . . . bunk beds were borrowed from the Players ... and the Dean Erskines are without their studio couch ... biggest find was Al Berteel's discovery of an old fashioned icebox in a downtown building about to go before the wrecking machines.
