

Projects at Neff Park Approved

(Continued from Page 1) The park improvement project which was approved by the voters in November, but that it now seemed possible that construction would not be completed by this summer.

Await Bond Approval
It is not known when the State Municipal Finance Commission will approve the bond issue so that bonds can be sold. Savage said that work cannot be undertaken until the cash is available and that the Finance Commission is behind schedule.

The Councilmen agreed that work should not be started in the Park unless it appears that the swimming pool and bathhouse can be completed before the park opens. The presence of large machines and a torn-up park during the summer when it is in use would endanger persons using the area, it was felt.

During the past year, 17,900 crime examinations were performed in the toxicology section of the state health department's division of laboratories. Examinations were made on specimens relating to alcoholic intoxication, paternity disputes, narcotic violations, suspected fatal poisonings, arson, sabotage, identification of hair, stains, tool marks and other clues found at crime scenes.

Await Trial

(Continued from Page 1) The police car for about 10 minutes at Mack and Bournemouth, until the couple emerged from the store and went to a car parked in front of the establishment. The woman was carrying a large, light colored purse, which she had when she entered the place.

After getting into the car, the patrolman said, the couple turned around and drove in the direction of St. Clair Shores. Prietz dropped Harvey off, and followed the Stevens car, in the meantime, Harvey checked the clothing rack and found the blue ski pants missing, and called the information to the Woods police station. The information in turn was given to Prietz over the radio.

While following the suspects' car, Prietz said, he saw the woman assume a kneeling position on the front seat, and lay a pair of ski pants on the back seat. At about this time, the officer said, Mrs. Stevens noticed Prietz, who was about 10 feet behind their car.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens were stopped at Mack and Alger, in St. Clair Shores, and the officer walked over to their car. He said he saw several pieces of new clothing, some of them still with price tags attached, on the back seat. The clothing included the telltale ski pants.

Store employees identified three pairs of ski pants, including the blue one, and two pairs of After Ski boots, as items taken from their store.

O'Dell and Tobian said that other items found in the Stevens' car, were drills, sweaters, steak knives, Corning ware equipment, pillow slips, bed sheets, table cloths, trousers, gloves and other goods.

The sports store manager said that the ski pants taken from the establishment were worth $37.50 each, and the boots, $5 a pair.

The detectives did not reveal from what stores the other items had been taken, but did state they are still checking with other police departments to determine if they had received reports of shoplifting in their communities.

O'Dell and Tobian said that Mr. and Mrs. Stevens claimed that the pillow slips and bed sheets were their personal property, given to them when they were married about three months ago.

The couple sought to have the items returned, but the detectives informed them the disputed goods were being held as evidence.

Park's 1960 Police Report

(Continued from Page 1) Chief Louwers stated, was 5,137. Police officers assisted 156 persons; took 59 persons to hospitals in patrol cars; took care of 111 non-vehicular accidents, taking 111 injured persons to hospitals; answered 102 prowler calls, of which 85 were unfounded.

The department also investigated five sudden deaths; four attempted suicides, investigated two insanity cases resulting in two commitments, received 46 reports of missing persons, recovering all of them, made 65 fugitive arrests, handled 281 bank details for municipal officials, and conducted 3,698 non-criminal investigations.

Also handled 365 reports of missing persons, reported 18 street lights out, gave eight special escorts, checked 175 business places nightly, and 377 doors associated to these places, of which 140 doors were found open during the year; watched 1,066 homes during the year while owners were absent from the city, and found 59 doors of homes open.

Under the report on impounded cars, the chief stated that 11 were because drivers were driving under the influence of alcohol, 32 were for accidents, 11 for reckless driving, two for minors under age, five for parking over the 48-hour ordinance limit, 11 were stolen and recovered; and 99 were miscellaneous.

Police scout cars traveled a total of 221,652 miles, consuming 221,270 gallons of gasoline; the department's motorcycle was driven 6,529 miles, using 196 gallons of gasoline.

Besides the chief, the department personnel includes one uniform lieutenant, two detective lieutenants, one uniform sergeant, four corporals, 20 patrolmen, one cadet, one court clerk and one deputy court clerk, one typist, six part-time school guards and one part-time dog warden.

Chief Louwers stated that the authorized number of personnel of the department is the same as in 1959, with the recruiting program replacing six of the personnel who retired or resigned during 1960.

The chief ended his report with a word of thanks to Stone, Mayor Kenneth Cunningham, the city council, and to the members of his department, and personnel of other city departments for the splendid cooperation and support rendered during 1960.

Balance

One of Cadillac's greatest attributes is its innate balance. Under any driving condition, the car's poise is a constant source of satisfaction. Threading your way through traffic or leisurely cruising along back roads, your Cadillac rides you smoothly and steadily—so that road irregularities are almost imperceptible. Balance is the key to its precise and effortless control, as well—to the wondrous silence of its great engine. Your Cadillac dealer will be happy to let you prove with a ride these, and the many other virtues of the Cadillac for 1961.

Mother, Children Grateful For New Lease on Life

Shores Police Chief Fred Duemling is the "Valentine" of two little girls, who, with their mother, were destitute and alone just about a year ago. The chief received a valentine, and a picture of the two cute little girls, Adele, now 8 years old, and Carmen, now 7, all the way from San Jose Calif. Chief Duemling also has a letter from the girls' mother, Dolores Zamojcin, 32, on Tuesday, February 7, telling him that she and her children are happy in their new home in San Jose.

Mrs. Zamojcin has been keeping up a correspondence with the chief, letting him know of the progress she has been making, and the good fortune that has befallen her and the girls. The chief keeps all the letters and pictures in a separate file in his desk, and as often as possible, answers the letters he receives.

Adele and Carmen sent Chief Duemling a little valentine, with their pictures. The valentine reads "You'd Make a Heavenly Valentine." When the chief read this message, a big smile appeared on his face and his eyes glistened.

The chief said that Mrs. Zamojcin had been working in a town in Pennsylvania, and after several months, found employment in Youngstown, O., and now, is employed as a housekeeper in San Jose. The girls are healthy and happy and attending school there.

NEWS readers may remember the Zamojcins, when on December 10, 1959, Mrs. Zamojcin was arrested in the Shores and charged with speeding on Lake Shore road.

The arresting officer, Chester Painter, became suspicious when he noticed the two girls and the back seat of the woman's car loaded with goods. He took the family to the station, where their plight was disclosed.

It was found that the mother and daughters had been living on and off in their car for more than five months. The last home they had was in Harper Woods, where they were evicted for nonpayment of rent. The landlord was holding their winter clothing as collateral.

It was also brought out at the station, that the family had not eaten in more than 24 hours.

Then things started to happen. Sgt. and Mrs. Earl Wakeley took the Zamojcins to their apartment above the police station, and fed them, and Patrolman and Mrs. Melvin Yacks, in another apartment, gave them a place to sleep for the night.

The following day, Chief Duemling, a member of the Grosse Pointe Crisis Club, called club officials, who lost no time talking to Mrs. Zamojcin and finding out her problems.

Mrs. Zamojcin told club officials that her husband had divorced her, and left her and her children without funds. She and her children had just been evicted from her home in Harper Woods, from where she had come when she was stopped for speeding.

School Office Workers Attend Classes

Office workers of The Grosse Pointe Public School System recently had a "double feature" in the in-service training program now being conducted for them. ROBERT ORR, Director of the Grosse Pointe Public Libraries, reviewed a number of current books the school secretaries and clerks might find enjoyable and profitable. MISS HELEN MUTTON, High School English teacher, (seated at right) also conducted a brief class session on the topic "How Is Your English." She gave the ladies an opportunity to brush up on the correct usage of English in writing and speaking. This school employees' in-service class is part of a 7-week series arranged and conducted by the public school system. Speakers from office supply firms, college speech departments and other areas of interest to office personnel have been scheduled. The final session, March 20, will be a fashion show presented by Jacobson's.

Trombly PTA Meets Feb. 27

The Trombly School PTA meets in the school auditorium at 8:15 p.m. on Monday, February 27. Miss Anne Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jorgenson are panel guests speaking about their exchange teaching experiences in Liverpool, England during the 1959-1960 school year.

Educational opportunity, subjects taught, marks, grades, and examinations, discipline, parent relations to the school, community life, and the "What I Want to Be When I Grow Up" attitude of the students are among the interesting aspects of the English schools that the panelists will discuss.

The Jorgensons made their Liverpool sojourn a family affair. Mrs. Jorgenson brings the parent point of experience-view and those of her children in the school and community.

Miss Wallace and Mr. Jorgenson are members of the professional staff of the Grosse Pointe Public School System. Miss Wallace teaches Grade 5 at Trombly School. Mr. Jorgenson, Junior High Art Department Head, teaches at Pierce Junior High. Concerns for children are world-wide. The panel brings the PTA a real opportunity to reflect about concerns for children in a wider setting. Parents are again cordially

Telephone lines

AN ENCOURAGING WORD for parents whose teenagers seem to talk on the phone for hours: child psychologists say they're only trying to banish moods of dejection and raise their spirits. Adolescents, it seems, are particularly vulnerable to dejection. And telephoning is one way they avoid feeling "down." Perhaps the best psychology for parents is to get their teenagers an extension phone of their own—it costs just a few cents a day. Or, better yet, a separate line. It can raise the spirits of the whole household!

A VERSATILE LITTLE INVENTION called the thermistor (short for thermal resistor) has proved a boon to your telephone service. This supersensitive device—no bigger than a tiny bead—keeps telephone voice transmission at uniform volume. Volume can vary with temperature, and thermistors, reacting to heat and cold, keep the voice level constant. Developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories, millions of them today are hard at work in your nation-wide telephone network. Tiny and efficient, thermistors are another example of how your Telephone Company is constantly working to help keep down the cost of your ever-improving telephone service.

A NEW HOME TELEPHONE service is now available from Michigan Bell. It's called Home Interphone. Here are some of the wonderful things you can do with it • talk by phone from room to room; the person you call can answer "hands free" • answer the door from any phone (via a microphone-speaker by the door) • "hold" and transfer incoming calls to another telephone in the house by using the telephone to page the person being called. Home Interphone is a new Bell Telephone product that makes your telephone service more useful and convenient than ever.

The Crisis Club, comprised of Pointe businessmen dedicated to helping those in dire need, went to the Harper Woods house, paid the back rent, and retrieved the family's clothing.

The club also found out that Mrs. Zamojcin owed back rent for an apartment in Detroit, and went there to talk to the manager of the building. Arrangements were made to pay the back rent, and to have the family move back in. The club paid all back bills for light and fuel and stocked the place with food.

The family's plight was televised and newspapers wrote their story. This brought offers of help from all over the Detroit area. The Zamojcins learned the world and its people were really not all cruel.

Now Mrs. Zamojcin and Adele and Carmen are happy, and so is Chief Duemling, and so is everyone else whose heart went out to this mother and her little girls.

The man who insists on speaking his mind has nothing left but his thoughts.

Groat Honored By Radio Hams

Theodore C. Groat, W8ONA, 1337 Harvard road, has been awarded membership in the DX Century Club, exclusive society of amateur radio operators who have made two-way short-wave radio contacts with at least 100 countries and colonies of the world.

Using the call letters W8ONA, assigned by the Federal Communications Commission, he talks regularly from the instrument-packed room of his home with "ham" associates all over the earth—a fraternity of 250,000 friendly, interesting men and women.

After chatting on the air most amateurs follow up their radio contacts with colorful personal postcards, called QSLs after the international signal referring to acknowledgement of receipt. In addition to the friendliness of the QSL, these cards are required as evidence of achievement by an amateur seeking membership in the Century Club.

Tens of thousands of American hams have contacted the "easy" countries where there are a large number of amateurs, such as Canada, Germany or Australia. But the ones like Thailand, Uzbek, Tibet and the Sultanate of Oman are another matter, requiring a high degree of proficiency in long-distance communications. A thorough knowledge of the behavior of radio waves in the ionosphere is but one requisite. Underlying all the apparent fun an amateur has, then, is a basic self-training in radio operating under difficult conditions.

The American Radio Relay League, national amateur society, sponsors the DXCC award for precisely that reason—proficiency in radio operating which becomes a special asset during natural disasters such as floods or tornadoes, and during war time when the armed forces must have large numbers of trained commentators in a hurry.

Three Pointers Taken Off Road

The driving privileges of three Pointe motorists were suspended by the Michigan Department of State, according to the latest report submitted by James M. Hare, Secretary of State.

The report, dated February 10, disclosed that the driver's license of John R. Price of 2197 Ridgmont, was taken away for a period of seven months, from February 1 to August 1, because of an unsatisfactory driving record.

Unsatisfactory driving records were also given as the reasons for the suspension of the driver's license of David M. Trentacoste of 1956 Fairway drive, from February 3 to May 3; and that of John H. Webster of 47 Pine court, from January 19 to July 18.

Hare revealed that during the week of February 5, the driver's licenses of 410 Michigan motorists were suspended and those of 222 were revoked by the State Department in Lansing.

Two of the exhibit rooms on the Memorial's second floor have been taken over and will be open to visitors continuously from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily except Sundays when the hours are from 12 noon to 5 p.m. The Grosse Pointe public and their guests are cordially invited to view this exhibit free of charge. It is presented jointly by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association and the Detroit Adventure Series.

Grosse Pointers who were guests at Mr. Midener's recent exhibit at the Huntington Woods Center were so impressed that they felt it must be brought to Grosse Pointe and they made the necessary arrangements to do so.

Walter Midener was born and received his early education in Germany where it was not until his teens that he became interested in art when a teacher gave him some clay to model to keep him quiet in class. His first young effort was a sculpture of Frederick the Great, seated on a drum.

Mr. Midener confesses seeing his works in retrospect over the past ten years is a rather frightening experience. All viewers, however, agree that the Midener show is outstanding.

Says Midener of his work, "The forms of my sculpture are in general suggested by the human body. Through them, I try to express my reactions to the emotions that motivate man—his hopes and his fears, his joy and tenderness. I feel this is important in a civilization which in so many aspects has become so vastly dehumanized."

The natural movement expressed in Walter Midener's statues is a far cry from the inanimate objects sometimes

Also receiving a suspended sentence was Ronald James Carpenter, 1073 Lakepointe, who was found guilty of not having his car under control.

Five drivers were found not guilty of charges of not having their cars under control and causing accidents. Dismissed were Julie V. Pointers Accept Jobs for UCS

Lars V. Anderson of Fairholme road has been named chairman of United Community Services' Central Budget Committee, it was announced by the organization's president, Januarius A. Mullen.

They also recommend an annual allocation for each of the 123 local Torch services.

Willard E. Slater of S. Renaud road, a partner in the accounting firm of Ernst & Ernst, has been named vice-chairman.

In addition to Anderson's and Slater's appointments to the overall Central Budget Committee which coordinates all UCS budgeting efforts, three other Grosse Pointers were appointed to direct individual budget panels assigned to confer directly with agencies prior to final decisions on annual appropriations.

They are: Frank Couzens, Jr., of Lothrop road as budget chairman on institutional care for children; LeRoy E. Cowles of McKinley place—family counseling services; and William D. Hall of North Oxford road — counseling and foster home care for children.

Richard P.T.A. To Discuss TV

Advantages and disadvantages of Educational TV will be presented by recognized authorities on both sides of the issue, along with tape recorded opinions and free audience participation, at Richard School's P.T.A. meeting Thursday, March 2, at 8 p.m.

A country-wide experiment in classroom television has been quietly going on for the past several years, some in Grosse Pointe, more in Detroit.

In Thursday night's meeting, the audience will hear Mrs. Kathleen Lardie, director of Radio-Television for the Detroit Public Schools, present the "Pro" side of the question. Mrs. Lardie, as executive producer of Detroit's Television Teaching Project, was quoted in November's Reader's Digest on the subject.

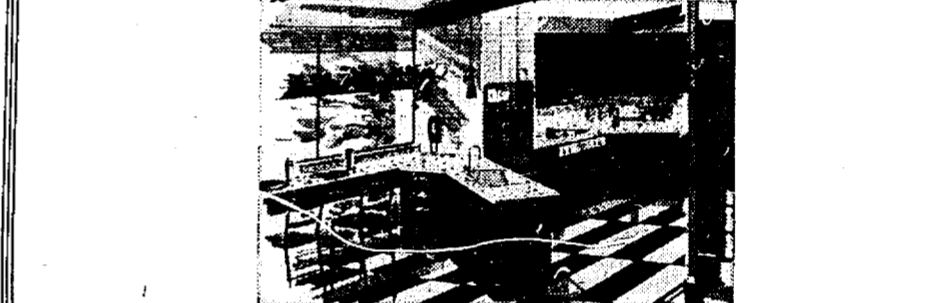

For audience evaluation, the "Con" side of the issue will be presented by a representative from the Education Aids Department of the Grosse Pointe School System.

Following the "pseudo-debate" taped records of pro-con discussions on the somewhat controversial subject will be presented and the members of the P.T.A. organization and audience will be asked to enter a question-answer period with the speakers of the evening.

Happy Ending to Feud?

A happy solution to an unhappy situation that has existed in the City of Grosse Pointe for some time, may be found if negotiations now underway can be carried to a successful conclusion.

Most of the readers of this paper are familiar with the struggle the church has been carrying on to enlarge its facilities at East Jefferson and Rivard. The church acquired the old Carter property some years ago and has used the former mansion for its religious services and other activities.

After this was publicized a number of residents in the neighborhood organized an opposition movement and convinced the City that it should reverse its decision. While the arguments were going on, the church acquired additional property for more parking lots.

Now Mayor Alonzo C. Allen of the City has come up with a proposal that may happily terminate the confusion and disperse the bitterness. For some years it has become increasingly evident that the City must have larger municipal offices and increased space for its police and fire facilities.

The City owns considerable land in the rear of the police and fire headquarters on the north side of Maumee avenue, as well as the large tract on the other side of the street that is the site of the two small buildings and the municipal garage.

Mr. Allen's proposal is that the church and the City swap these two properties, after an impartial appraisal is made and adjustment reached over comparative values. The City could then build its new municipal offices adjoining the police-fire headquarters and construct a new garage on the rear of this site on the northerly side of Maumee.

The plan seems to make all kinds of sense and provide both interested parties with distinct advantages. The church would get out of the congested traffic area in East Jefferson avenue and the City could be in a position to control the development of that area into a new section of fine homes in a highly desirable lakeside location.

Attorneys for the church and the City have been instructed to go ahead with negotiations. There are complications, such as the church needing its present headquarters while a new one is being constructed, and the City having to have municipal offices while erecting its new building.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mr. Edgar: We were so delighted with the excellent picture taken by your staff of our Chilean Relief program last fall that we have used it as the cover picture for our enrollment of schools in March. Enclosed is a copy.

To the Editor: The needless cruelty and pain inflicted on millions of our meat animals in many slaughterhouses in Michigan can be avoided if Grosse Pointe humanitarians will make their voices heard right now in Lansing, with letters and wires.

Ryan, and your State Representative, Robert Waldron to push this bill. Senator Ray Dzendzel, who introduced the bill, would probably appreciate a note of thanks too.

a dog, but why are people allowed to be so cruel as to allow dogs to bark so that it would lead to such extreme action? I would appreciate, as I am sure others would, an article in sympathy with neighbors of dog owners with a few suggestions as to how they can make life a little more pleasant for those who do not have dogs, just children.

What Goes On at Your Library

by Jean Taylor

If you are growing weary of the records in your home collection, and would like to hear something different occasionally, don't forget recordings may be borrowed from your library for a rental of six cents a day.

This record collection was begun some twenty years ago when few libraries gave this service. Since that time it has grown to include a sizable collection in the branch libraries as well.

Aside from the basic classical selections which make up the greater part of this record library, you will find here most of the well-known musicals, My Fair Lady, The Music Man, Flower Drum Song, The Sound of Music et al.

A few years ago a record collection for children was placed in each of the three libraries also. This, too, has been added to recently. A special collection of records for children, however, in no way prejudices the enjoyment by children of many records in the adult collection.

Eugene Ormandy has listed several selections which he believes will give pleasure to young listeners as well as to their elders. Among these are four symphonies: Haydn: Symphony #94, in G major (The Surprise); Beethoven: Symphony #5 in C minor, Opus 67; Prokofiev: Classical Symphony in D major, Opus 25; and Tchaikovsky: Symphony #4 in F minor, Opus 36.

Mr. Ormandy also mentions that musical pieces with a story have an appeal for children. Tili Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks - Strauss; Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra - Britten (in the children's collection), and Prokofiev's Peter and the Wolf, which is found in both the adult and children's collection, fall in this category.

Among the operas which may find favor with young people, Mr. Ormandy cites Humperdinck's Hansel and Gretel, Bizet's Carmen, Verdi's Aida, all of which are available in the adult collection, and Menotti's Amahl and the Night Visitors which is included in the library's records for children.

The records in the children's department circulate free of charge on an adult card only.

Could You Guess What's Good About A Headache?

By FRED KOPP, R.Ph.

If you happen to have one right now, probably all you need is an aspirin. But the fact is: a headache sometimes is a signal. It may be telling you something is wrong... perhaps something quite remote from the pain.

Before the climax of ticket selling for the May 22-27 dates of the New York Metropolitan Opera here, Mrs. Henry Ford will take a vacation in Europe, stopping enroute in Nassau.

When she returns she will make several television and radio appearances to promote the Met tour. Mrs. James B. Webber, Jr. is off for a vacation in Florida, but when she returns she will bid all her east side area chairmen to a progress report luncheon at her home.

Mrs. Ford is general chairman of the Met's week stay here at the Masonic Temple, as she has been for two previous seasons, and Mrs. Webber is one of her ticket chairmen.

Don Thurber and David Rust, also on the Opera committee, are lining up bus service from the Pointe clubs for a quick trip to Masonic Temple after dinner, for opera nights.

Mrs. Lowrey Kammer has a skiing date, too, in Aspen, Colo.

Center Starts Puppet Group

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial Puppeteers will make their debut at the Center Saturday, March 4, when Robert Rathbun, art instructor at Pierce Junior High School and president of the Detroit Puppeteers Guild, organizes a puppetry group which will meet at the Center, Saturday mornings, from 10 to 11:30 o'clock.

Boys and girls ages 8-14 are welcome in this group. They will learn how to make, manipulate, voice characterize and adapt scripts for hand, rod and shadow puppets and they will produce several actual puppet shows.

The materials used to make the different types of puppets will be interesting. Styrofoam, or gauze over papier mache will be adapted for the heads. Soft maple will be carved for the hands of the rod puppets and colored plastics will be assembled against white backgrounds for the shadow puppets. The stuffed hand puppets or moppets are a whole specialized technique in themselves.

Robert Rathbun, the young man in charge of the puppeteers who will choose the stories they will adapt into scripts and who will teach the difficult but fun methods of voice characterization, is a true expert in the field. He was educated at the College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, Cal., and subsequently taught puppetry and special art classes at the Children's Museum in Denver, Colo. Six years of junior college art teaching followed in Iowa and he has taught art in the public schools of Grosse Pointe for three years.

Prior to becoming the president of the Detroit Puppeteers' Guild he served as their program chairman. Just recently he has been invited to produce a puppet show for the National Canadian Art Educator Association at their convention next fall.

All interested in joining the Puppeteers are asked to call the Center (TU 1-7511) for further details. The cost is $12 for the season plus a $2.50 fee to cover materials used.

Legion Women Ask Law Change

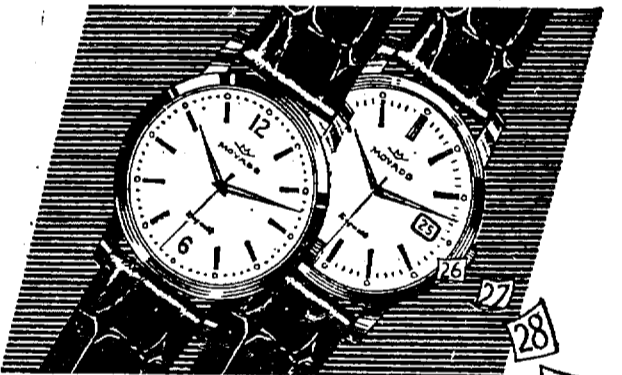

Dissatisfaction of veterans and their families with the new veterans' pension law which went into effect last year has resulted in an American Legion and Auxiliary request for revision of the law, according to Mrs. Sharpe, Legislative chairman of the Grosse Pointe Unit No. 303.

The law provides pensions for veterans disabled from non-service-connected causes and for widows of deceased veterans. "Experience with the new law has shown that it does not fulfill the hopes of the Legion and Auxiliary for adequate protection for the nation's disabled and aging war veterans," Mrs. Theresea Sharpe said. "In fact, certain features of the new law tend to reduce pensions to the status of a public welfare program. For a veteran to qualify for the higher pension rates provided by the new law, his other income must be so low that he is practically a pauper."

"The Legion and Auxiliary are asking that pension rates and income limitations be revised to make them more equitable and realistic. We also want Congress to repeal the provision that requires veterans to count part of their wives' income as their own for rating purposes, and the provision for reduction of pensions during period of hospital care."

The Auxiliary is also joining the Legion in requesting Congress to enact legislation to provide that "a veteran who has reached the age of 65 years shall be deemed to be permanently and totally disabled for pension purposes."

Miss Morrow Weds Michael W. Parres

Pair Speak Vows February 11 in St. John's Church, East Lansing; Students at Michigan State University, They Will Live There

Their college sorority, Gamma Phi Beta, and fraternity Delta Tau Delta combined to give the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Michael William Parres a wedding reception after the February 11 rites in St. John Church, East Lansing.

The bride is the former Barbara Rose Morrow, daughter of the John R. Morrrows, of Ridgemoor road and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Murray H. Parres, of Mt. Clemens.

Her ivory bouquet taffeta gown was designed with a coachman bodice and envelope skirt with Swiss lace edging the waistline. A Brussels lace veil was caught by a seed pearl crown and she carried white roses with her prayer book.

Sandra McAdam was maid of honor and the attendant was Christine Morrow, the bride's sister. They wore American Beauty silk gowns with Dior hair bows and carried pink and white carnations.

Richard Parres was his brother's best man and the ushers were Lawrence St. Aubin and William Weber.

A family breakfast followed the ceremony. The couple, both students at Michigan State University, will make their home in East Lansing.

NOT TOO DEEP

Shallow drawers or pull-out trays are ideal for storing linens. Home economists at Michigan State University find linens wrinkle less and are easier to locate when stored in shallow units than when piled in deep drawers.

Nearly 43,500 Michigan children received topical fluoride applications for the prevention of tooth decay during 1960, according to the Michigan Department of Health. The number of treatments totalled 173,308, the largest ever given.

Voters' League Issues Booklet

"New among publications of the League of Women Voters is 'Hard Choices', a slim, paper-covered volume giving information about our domestic economy and its relationship to the economies of the rest of the world," announced Mrs. Leonard Slowin, president of the League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe, this week.

The publication marks an extension of the series of booklets published by the League over the past many years and the new pamphlet is the most recent of a series of four analyzing foreign policy.

Published in December, 1960, "Hard Choices" has been written for the League member and any other citizen. It derives its title from the recognition that ahead of the United States lie many difficult decisions in the areas of both domestic and foreign economy.

The authors say—"Since our domestic and foreign economic objectives are not basically in conflict, but are in fact mutually indispensable, our course is clear. We must accept wholeheartedly our commitment to world economic development and attempt to resolve the conflicts which make it difficult to fulfill this commitment.

"In order to understand the nature of the conflicts, it is necessary to understand the capabilities of the developed and the less-developed countries of the world. We must have a realistic picture of the challenge of world development, and we must know what the necessary choices are. Then and only then can sound decisions be made and hard choices faced with intelligence and courage."

In five chapters are discussed three problem areas chosen by the League for emphasis: financing economic development adequately and effectively, balancing the imbalance of payments, and promoting U.S. private investment in the developing countries.

To assist groups interested in using "Hard Choices" as a guide for study, discussion questions are provided. The booklet may be purchased for 50c at the Book Shelf on the Hill, or copies may be ordered by calling the League Publications Chairman, Mrs. Edward Cox, TU 2-5808. It may also be purchased at League unit or general meetings.

Mrs. Michael W. Parres

BARBARA ROSE MORROW, daughter of the John R. Morrrows, of Ridgemoor road, was married February 11 in St. John Church, East Lansing to Mr. Parres, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray H. Parres, of Mt. Clemens.

AAUW Groups Plan Meetings

How important is the Foreign Service and how does it complement and aid our military service? And did you know that diplomats of other countries, such as Great Britain and France, receive higher salaries than those of the United States, especially when it comes to entertaining expenses?

These points and many others, ably presented by a man with 20 years' experience in the Foreign Service, will be covered by Miss Louise Itau on Monday afternoon, February 27, when she reviews the book, "Diplomat," by Charles W. Thayer. This is the regular meeting of the Book group of the American Association of University Women, to be held at the home of Mrs. Edgar Hahn, with Mrs. M. L. Van Dagens as co-hostess.

On Tuesday evening, February 28, the Contemporary Literature group will meet at the home of Mrs. E. Dawson Fisher, with Mrs. Edgar B. Cooper as co-hostess. "The Leopard" by Giuseppe di Lampedusa will be reviewed by Mrs. Robert Bridge. This outstanding, current best-seller explores the dissolution of an aristocratic Sicilian family.

Moving on into March, the Creative Writing group will hold its meeting on the afternoon of March 1 at the home of Mrs. Burke Arehart. Mrs. Allen Brunson will discuss "Agents and Frauds" — the fraudulent practices used by some agencies on amateur writers. There will also be reading and criticism of manuscripts.

On March 2, the International Relations group will meet in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. John R. Pear, with Mrs. Edgar Hahn as co-hostess. A program on Russia will be presented by Mrs. Ritter Newell and Mrs. Rupert Benson.

An evening of ceramics is on the agenda of the Studio Arts group, which will meet on March 6 at the home of Mrs. Ralph A. Kimble.

SOUND CONDITIONING

Carpeting, draperies and upholstered furniture help to absorb sound, suggest home economists at Michigan State University. In a room with hard-surface flooring and large picture windows, the ceiling can be "carpeted" with sound-absorbing materials to reduce the clutter and spread of sound.

Golden Wedding For Van Eyndes

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Eynde, of Ridgemoor road, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on February 25.

Famed Antique Show Opening on March 3

The Redford-Detroit Antique Show will be held March 3-4-5, at the Carpenter's Auditorium, 22521 Grand River Avenue. Hours will be 12 noon to 10 p.m. daily. Of course, the articles exhibited and offered for sale are old, but so is the show itself. This showing is its 46th and it is recognized as the oldest show in the state.

The show features outstanding dealers with large displays that have been popular with Detroit area collectors. These exhibits consist of furniture, European chinaware and porcelain, Early American glass and "Art" glass of the Victorian period. Primitives of wood, brass, copper, pewter and tin will be shown. Also on exhibit are stamps, coins, dolls, guns, iron toys and many others. These interesting old, unusual and often rare articles make up a most fascinating show.

Items of French enamel, oriental objects and many other objects of art make up the displays. Collectors of tin find rare items. There is the opportunity to examine magazines and books dealing with antiques.

FORWARD PROGRESS
Enthusiasm is the best seasoning—those with no pep are seldom worth their salt.

Take time off occasionally from worrying about the faults of others and try to eliminate a few faults of your own.

To Those Who Reside in Grosse Pointe:

For the past 36 years I have lived in Grosse Pointe. Nine of these years have been spent by me in the building business. The success of this business has been largely due to the many referrals by associations I have in this area.

Recently I made the decision to supplement my construction business by SELLING REAL ESTATE through the firm of TOLES REAL ESTATE, 74 Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms.

With the combined facilities of the Richard M. Kimbrough Company and Toles Real Estate, I believe we have something incomparable in the Grosse Pointe real estate field. We will be able to give "on-the-spot" estimates for alterations and additions to the prospective buyer, and further, to follow through with firm prices to do the job.

A buyer's market exists today. New methods and superior selling are in demand. We are equipped with these qualifications.

Let me list and sell your home.

Sincerely,
Richard M. Kimbrough

Reorganize Housekeeping

Life among the time and labor saving machinery in the home is more complicated than grandma ever dreamed it would be.

True, the potential for work-saving exists in the modern home, but the homemaker must still do a bit of managing of time, energy, money and space. The most difficult items to stretch are cash and closet space, but time and energy can be conserved.

Most women could be better home managers than they are. "Running a home is a lot like running a business, with the homemaker as the chief executive," says Lillian Gilbreth, efficiency engineer and mother of twelve children. (Remember Cheaper by the Dozen?)

Mrs. Gilbreth says "Creative home management is making the best use of what you have to get what you want." Decide first what you want, individually and as a family. Establish your goals, short term and long term. Talk it over with the family. Then use what you have—time, energy, money and space—to reach your goals.

To make the best use of your time, make a list of the things you want to accomplish. Divide the jobs into "gotta," "oughta," and "hope to" lists. Have a positive attitude about interruptions. They add spark and variety to our lives. Wouldn't life be dull if we could plan every minute of the day, and not have any interruptions! Accept the happy fact that the job of homemaking is never really done.

To conserve your energy, ask yourself, "Is this job necessary?" Do you dry the dishes with a cloth, or do you let them air dry, the more sanitary way? Do you iron the sheets, towels and socks, or do you consider this a waste of time? Are your homemaking standards too high, are they high enough?

Most husbands need a cheerful, well groomed wife more than they need a perfectly kept house. A clever homemaker knows the difference between the time when she should dust the living room furniture, and when she should merely pull the shades.

"How Does A Young Wife Manage" is the name of a Michigan State University booklet designed to help homemakers develop positive attitudes toward home making. To receive your free copy, write to Rosella Bannister, Cooperative Extension Service, Box 552, Wayne, Michigan.

In order to stay on the square a man has to be careful with whom he makes the rounds.

Church Groups Plan Meetings

The newly formed Women of St. James Lutheran Church will meet on Monday, February 27, in the homes of members. The program chairmen will present the topic for the day, "The Christian Woman and Her Bible", and in particular will discuss the women of the Bible for which each group was named.

Plans will also be made to carry out the service projects which have been assigned to each group.

The morning group, Rebecca, will meet at the home of Mrs. T. G. Dahlen, 253 McMillan Rd. at 9:30 o'clock.

The afternoon groups will meet at 1 o'clock in the following homes: Esther, Mrs. Lawrence Reif, 11 Fairlake Lane; Lydia, Mrs. Richard Shannon, 237 McMillan; Martha, Mrs. Marshall Noecker, 109 Handy Place; Mary, Mrs. Harry Taylor, 266 McKinley; Miriam, Mrs. Harold Meinke, 40 Fair Acres drive; and Ruth, Mrs. David Demers, 521 Hawthorne.

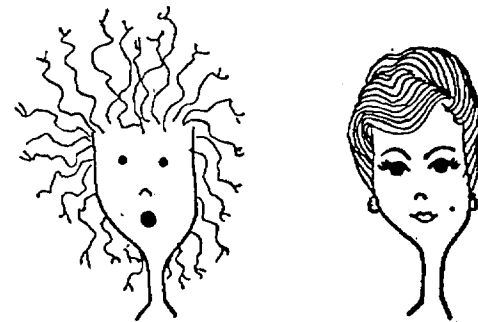

The evening groups will meet at 8 o'clock in the following homes: Debora, Mrs. Marvin Asmus Jr., 638 Peach Tree Lane; DORCAS; Mrs. Barney Tyler, 570 Alter road; Elizabeth, Mrs. Rudolph Anderson, 2119 Hampton; Hanna, Mrs. Harry Parker, 4240 Bishop; and Sarah, Mrs. Gordon Faust, 373 McMillan.

gheritta Loud (Mrs. Stirling), who has taught the children's art program at the center for the past several seasons and who instructs in the Adult Education Department of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

The new class is open to children for $18 plus a $2.25 charge for materials. The class is limited to 15 members and advance enrollment (TU. 1-7511) is requested.

Mrs. Loud, who majored in art at Sarah Lawrence and did her work at Corcoran Galleries, Washington, D. C. before instructing at the National Cathedral School, is a firm believer in "Art for fun." She allows the young people to give their imaginations full reign and invites them to select from a wide variety of unusual materials, the media they wish to work with.

This may be anything from magazine clippings for a collage to coats of hangers and bits of crumpled paper or a mobile. Whatever they do, however, the young people receive firm guidance in the principles of line and color.

G. P. U. S. News Notes

A "must" for friends of Grosse Pointe University School comes next Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock on WWJ - TV, Channel 4, when G.P.U.S. will engage Kingswood in the Detroit News-sponsored "Quiz Em" program. That's the current events quiz based on the news of the week and participated in each Sunday by two high schools of similar size and type. Participants from the University School are Betty Carpenter, Darcy Chandler, John Buell, John Fisher and Marc Shuyl. Faculty sponsor for the group is Mrs. Patricia Ashurkoff.

"Must number two" comes on the following Friday or Saturday, March 3 or 4, at 8:15 p.m., when the Proscenium Society will present "Annie Get Your Gun." This is the G.P.U.S. Winter Show, the school's major dramatic offering, and the members of the cast are hoping that they will be performing before a full house both nights.

Miscellaneous G.P.U.S. items: The American Field Service Club at G.P.U.S. presented a dance last Saturday night, February 18, at the Edsel Ford gym. Mrs. Kay Welchenbach is the club's sponsor. On the same evening Mr. Donald Roberts was overseeing a party for his 7th grade boys at the Field House. Other hosts for the event were Miss Anne Fenech and Mr. and Mrs. John N. McNaughton. The regular placement and scholarship examinations for entrance in September will be held at 9 a.m., Saturday, April 8, at G.P.U.S. Headmaster John Chandler, Jr., has announced that the Baldrige Developmental Reading Program will be offered again this summer to upper school students. The intensive reading course is designed to help students improve silent reading ability and reading comprehension. In addition also to the regular summer session intended primarily for students who must make up a deficiency or wish to improve performance in a particular subject there will also be offered an entirely new series of courses geared to the interests of the students who would like to devote some of the vacation to broadening his cultural horizons. Present plans include such courses as art, music, history, creative writing, conversational French, and perhaps others. The unusual aspect of this program lies in the fact that the courses carry no credit, nor will marks be given. Likewise it will be a five-days-a-week arrangement for five weeks, one or two hours per day, as opposed to the six-days-a-week and usually four-hours-a-day program of the regular summer school, which, as always, will run for its traditional seven weeks...

A fur trader who would never renounce his allegiance to the British crown was probably the most important man in Detroit from 1790-1802.

His name was John Askin and his descendants are among the Pointe's most prominent residents. Edwin Askin Skae has in his home John Askin's will, written in 1784 in his fine Spencerian hand and witnessed by Commodore Alexander Grant, the Pointe's first mansion builder, William Robertson, and notary public T. Williams.

It is a remarkably short document for a man who at one time cornered 5,000,000 acres of land here and in Ohio.

"In the name of God Amen, I John Askin, of Detroit, merchant, do make and declare this my last will and testament in manner following: First I resign my soul into the hands of Almighty God, hoping and believing a remission of my sins by the merits and mediation of Jesus Christ; And my body I commit to the earth to be buried at the discretion of my executrix, hereinafter named: And my worthy estate I give and devise as follows:

"All my real and personal Estate whatsoever and wheresoever and of that nature, kind and Quality soever the same may be (after payment of my Just debts and funeral expenses) I do give, devise and bequeath unto my loving wife Archange Askin, her executors-administrators and assigns: to and for her and their own use and benefit Absolutely.

"And I do hereby institute and appoint my said wife, Archange Askin, sole Executrix of this my last will and testament."

That was about it, except for the statements of the witnesses. No mention was made of his three offspring by his Indian wife, or his children by Archange.

John Askin, of Scotch descent, was born in Tyrone County, Ireland, and came to his country in 1758 when he was 19. He enlisted in the British Army which was then fighting the Seven Year's War. His friend-to-be Commodore Grant, was having the same experience. In 1761 he was in the mercantile business in the east which did not prove too successful a venture. Finally he came to Mackinac as assistant commissary to the garrison. While he was pursuing his duties he dabbled in Indian trade, was owner of several Great Lakes vessels and ran a farm. He became friends with Col. Arent Schuyler De Peyster, who later became commandant of Detroit.

Askin turned up in Detroit in 1780 and lived here until 1802 when he moved to Canada across from Belle Isle. He refused to renounce his allegiance to the British crown and unlike his friend Grant could not live in Detroit. He was a great real estate entrepreneur as well as an Indian trader and a man whose opinion in Detroit affairs was respected by three governments, French, British and American.

His Indian wife bore him three children, two girls and John Askin, Jr., who led the Indian forces which captured Mackinac in 1812, and was instrumental in seeing that the garrison was not slaughtered. In 1772 he married Archange Barthe, whose mother was a Campau. All of his sons by her served in the British Army during the war of 1812 but his son-in-law, husband of Adelaide Askin, Elijah Brush, fought with the Americans. Her dowry was the huge Brush farm, which became valuable Detroit property.

Askin was in constant touch with his friend Grant, who lived in his castle in Moran road. Grant died two years before his friend and they are both buried in Canada.

When Mrs. George M. Fern lived in Japan several years ago she took lessons in the very difficult Japanese ink brush painting technique. This is the delicate writing which decorates Oriental screens and scrolls. Japanese study the art for about six years but Mrs. Fern became quite proficient in six months.

Plastic rain hats are a dime a dozen, but Mrs. Carlton R. Mabley has an innovation on the standard variety. Her scarf is made of thin aluminum foil and her grandson says when she ties it on she looks just like a birthday cake.

The Grosse Pointe Community Theater is about to lose one of its most attractive leading men. Carter Mullaly, who starred in "John Loves Mary", is about to move back to the land of the stars. A former bit player in Hollywood, Mr. M. has lived here for some few seasons in Cadieux road. He and his wife have now bought a house in Costa Mesa, Calif.

Thirteen-year-old Linda Walker, daughter of the Arthur Walkers, of Lincoln road, has written a poem on safety which is bringing her national recognition. Business concerns have picked it up as a slogan.

And speaking of poetry, Pat Moran, high school senior, has just received a thank you from Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the poem she wrote in honor of the former president.

Pam Hodges can't wait for the week-ends. Although she can't keep her new horse, Ginger, in the back yard of her South Oxford road home as she would like to do she visits her every Saturday in the Utica stables which are the horse's permanent home. Pam has become quite a rider, can even take Ginger over the jumps.

Pointer of Interest

GARY OSIUS, OF RIDGEMONT ROAD

By PATRICIA TALBOT

When lean, intense and quiet Gary Osius sits down at his trap drums for an hour's practice after school he sheds that shy personality and becomes a real "music man."

But fan that he is of jazz and classical music Gary sees little music in his professional future. A practical senior high student he will enter the University of Michigan next fall and study engineering.

Registration day at the U of M is far away and his main concern right now is the May contest for state high school bands. As president of the Grosse Pointe High School Band and Orchestra he hopes the 84 piece group will place as well as they did last year, which was right at the top.

Rehearses Every Day

His band duties take a great deal of time. Gary used to play basketball, he has the slender build and height for it, but this semester it's all music. The band is busy even after football season, last week played for the gathering of principals in Cobo Hall. There are sectional rehearsals every day at 7:30 before school, several meetings a month, and get-togethers in the band room during school free periods. Then there are daily rehearsals. Gary scurries about planning and arranging all the band details and confers with faculty advisor Richard Snook on future programs.

Week-end Orchestra

On week-ends Gary plays with a small band of school-mates for private parties. He has played for the Allen Merrells, the Allan Sheldens and the Lester Ruwes. This is his favorite way of adding to his spending money. In summer he really buckles down to a man sized job.

He constructs stereos and hi-fis, has made his own and several others. This requires a good knowledge of electronics and Gary is an expert. He is taking several science courses at school to prepare him for engineering at college. Last summer he interrupted his hi-fi work to go to Interlochen. This was a high point in his musical life and he wishes he could repeat his visit to the popular Michigan music center. He won a scholarship to Interlochen through his work with the high school band.

Gary's talent for music was first recognized in grade school. He took percussion instrument training at Kerby in the fifth grade and then continued at Pierce. There is no musical talent in the Osius family on his side that he knows of although he does have an uncle who plays. His younger brother, Tim, couldn't care less about music.

Can Repair TV Too

When he studies it is to the accompaniment of records. Gary has about 100 in his collection. Like most real musicians he doesn't care for rock and roll, prefers light classical pieces, and conservative jazz. George Shearing is one of his favorites. He believes rock and roll has had it with most musicians although the general dancing teen age public like it. With his trap drums and his hi-fi Gary doesn't spend much time on television, but when the family set blacks out he can fix it. Anything electrical is his meat.

Quite a serious and reticent young man Gary finds the band a great way to make friends, establish his personality. He leaves one of those busy week-end nights free for dating and dancing. Versatile on the drums he can play any percussion instrument including the xylophones.

Next season when the Michigan marching band auditions for members, Gary will be in the parade trying out for a position. His ambition is to play with the U of M band, keep up his musical interests, contract for some engagements with the small orchestra he plays with and still make a cracker jack electronics engineer.

Noted Violinist To Be Soloist

Violinist Charles Treger who will appear as soloist with the Grosse Pointe Symphony in April, is now touring as soloist with the Chicago Little Symphony through nineteen states and cities in Canada and Mexico. The local performance will be his first after the conclusion of the ten-week tour.

For the young artist, the Grosse Pointe performance will actually be a homecoming as he received his pre-professional training here which resulted in his contract as a first violinist in the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at age sixteen. After his resignation following three seasons, he moved to New York City.

His positions since, have been numerous; and included that of violin soloist with the United States Navy Orchestra and Band in Washington, D. C. His first solo performance in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church in 1946, at age eleven, however, remains as the real incentive for his remarkable career.
