AFTER HOURS of speculation, the official radio for the Dominican Republic confirmed reports that Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo was assassinated Tuesday night. The announcement said that the dictator for 31 years was slain while strolling with a strong force of bodyguards on the Avenue George Washington, a seafont boulevard. A later broadcast said that a group rather than a single man was responsible for the attack, but said that further details would be withheld until an investigation was completed.

IN PARIS, President Kennedy assured French President Charles deGaulle that United States troops would meet any threat to Europe's safety with "whatever response is needed." The two leaders announced that they had come to complete agreement on the West Berlin issue, indicating a tough U. S. position when Mr. Kennedy meets Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev later this week. While her husband was discussing affairs of state, the glamorous Mrs. Kennedy made a hit with Parisians who turned out in droves wherever she went.

FAST-MOVING thunderstorms moved through Detroit yesterday, bringing heavy rain, high winds, and hail to the area. The storm struck shortly after 4 p.m., washing out a Tiger baseball game with Kansas City, and bringing traffic on all expressways to a halt within minutes. The Weather Bureau issued a tornado warning for the area south of Detroit. Three hours later, when an all-clear was posted, the storms had subsided and no injuries had been reported.

FORMER President Eisenhower told Republicans in Washington that a balanced budget is nothing to scoff at and said Democratic proposals indicate a reckless spending spree which worries millions of Americans. In his first speech since he left the White House on January 20, Mr. Eisenhower declared that "government by big brother" was not the way to further domestic problems in the nation.

He said that all Americans must stand behind the President's attempts to deal with foreign leaders, but said the Republicans are ready to "consult and advise" and expect to be informed ahead of important events and not merely consulted for their approval afterwards.

IF FIDEL CASTRO really wants 500 agricultural tractors in exchange for 1,214 prisoners, he must deliver a firm commitment by noon Wednesday, members of Tractors for Freedom, Inc. said by telegram yesterday. The Cuban Premier was informed that the first 100 tractors would be sent to Cuba within two weeks of Castro's acceptance. Meanwhile the U.S. tractor group hired a New York public relations firm to make the swap more attractive to critics who have charged that the tractors are nothing but blackmail payments to Castro.

A FEDERAL JUDGE in Montgomery, Alabama, issued a series of sweeping decrees to effect a cooling off period in racial tensions which have occurred since the onslaught of the Freedom Riders. Charging that the Freedom Riders were "non-bona-fide" interstate travelers, he admonished them to halt their organized challenge in Alabama and threatened to imprison Negro and white leaders alike if there is further trouble. He also put Montgomery police under no-bus-violence injunctions and left in effect a restraining order prohibiting the Ku Klux Klan and three individuals from further violence.

Sunday, June 4
A BILL which would have overturned the controversial Rule 9 issued by the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission was vetoed yesterday.

Second Robbery of Park Store Unlucky for Trio

Their first breaking and entering of a Park grocery store was so profitable that three young burglars returned with the intention of looting the place again—and were caught.

Michael A. Schmidt, 17, of 865 Barrington; Timothy Rogop, 19, of 6203 Iowa, Detroit; and Russell Gragg, 22, of 1254 Lakewood, Detroit, were arrested within a period of 16 hours after they broke into the Fairfax Market, 899 Beaconsfield on Saturday, June 3.

Woods Officials, Residents In Hassle Over Construction Of School on Church Land

City Says Building Conforms to Local Specifications and Objectors Would Have to Go to Court to Get Possible Recourse

Eleven Woods residents who have complained to the Council that construction of a girls' high school on the property of Our Lady Star of the Sea Church is in violation of zoning ordinances, were told by Woods Attorney Julius L. Berns on June 5 that the building conforms to lawful specifications and the only remaining recourse is in the courts.

In the City's view, the only remaining question is whether a contemplated driveway and fence on Morningdew drive would constitute a hazard to public safety. The Council asked Director of Public Safety Verne Bailey to investigate the problem thoroughly before any

3 Cars Figure In City Crash

Joseph Christopher Andreini, of 31925 Courtland, St. Clair Shores, was issued a ticket for reckless driving on May 31 following a three-car collision on Jefferson at Notre Dame.

City Police said Andreini failed to stop for traffic in front of 10720 East Jefferson, striking a car driven by William Roland, 2289 Nine Mile drive, which was stopped for the excess traffic.

The Roland car was pushed into a third vehicle driven by Doris June Pentz, of Roseville, which was also stopped.

Thieves Invade Bar in Farms

The New Brick Inn, 18696 Mack avenue, was forcibly entered by burglars who escaped with money and liquor on Monday, May 29, according to information released by Farms police.

The burglary was discovered by Walter S. Potruski of 4702 Larkins avenue, Detroit, when he opened for business Monday morning. He called police.

Farms Det. Sgts. Jack Paisley and George Van Tiem said that entrance was gained by using a pry bar to force open the front door.

GPHS Gives Diplomas to 700 June 15

Traditional Graduation Exercises Start at 8:15; Honors to be Awarded to Leaders

Commencement exercises for the class of '61 of Grosse Pointe High School will begin at 8:15 o'clock on Thursday, June 15. The audience will witness the procession of more than 700 graduating seniors marching to the traditional strains of "Pomp and Circumstance."

The concert orchestra under the direction of Richard H. Snook will play both "Pomp and Circumstance" and "The Star Spangled Banner." Dale Anderson, class president, will give the invocation.

"Responsibility" will be the topic of the speeches by the three senior class speakers. Wayne Wilner will speak on responsibility to one's self, Jan Conway on responsibility to others, and Sharon Sweeney on responsibility to society.

To Award Honors
Jerry J. Gerich, principal, will award honors such as scholarships, the Bausch and Lomb award, and the Rotary awards. Citizenship recognition will be given to 37 outstanding seniors.

The 5 percent of the graduates who lead the class in scholastic standing will be announced as winners of inscribed dictionaries given by the Mothers' Club.

Mr. Gerich will present the class to Dr. James W. Bushong, superintendent of schools. As each senior's name is read by his counselor, he will walk across the stage and receive his diploma from Dr. Bushong. The seniors will be seated alphabetically according to counselors.

Last Time Together
The graduates accompanied by the concert orchestra will join together for the last time in singing the "Alma Mater." Dale Anderson will give the benediction and the class will march out to "Pomp and Circumstance."

Immediately following graduation, the Mothers' Club will hold a party for the graduates at Lochmoor Club.

Many Scholarships Won by Students Of GPHS '61 Class

Expect Some 500 Members of Graduates This Month To be Accepted by Colleges Scattered All Over the Country

Despite the increasing difficulty of gaining admission to the Nation's colleges, 66 members of the 1961 class at Grosse Pointe High School have already received acceptances to 43 out-of-state institutions and 395 students have been approved for admission to colleges in the state. Many of these students have qualified for scholarship aid.

High School college enrollment counselors state that 344 of the students planning to remain in Michigan will study in public colleges and universities. The other 50 will study in private schools. Of these students, 109 received acceptances from more than one Michigan institution.

Other students who have not yet decided which colleges they wish to attend will probably bring the number of 1961 graduates entering institutions of higher learning in the fall to considerably higher than the 503 whose plans are determined, according to school officials. It is usual for two-thirds or three-fourths of a Grosse Pointe graduating class to enter college. This year there are more than 700 graduating seniors and the percentage will probably be somewhat higher than usual.

Hold Honors Assembly
At an honors assembly held in the High School last week, it was revealed that 34 scholarships have been offered by 19 institutions to members of the 1961 class. This is a partial listing which does not include scholarships offered by local groups and organizations.

One student, Wayne Wilner, was offered scholarships by four leading universities including California Institute of Technology, Michigan, MIT, and Brown. Wayne is reported to have decided to attend MIT.

Other students who have been offered more than one scholarship are Larry Engelhart, Harvard and Stanford; Dave Veendael, Brown and Western Michigan; Paul Papich, the University of Michigan and Wayne; and William Walker, Michigan State and Michigan Tech.

Reed College offered a scholarship to Jan Conway which she will accept although she also has been accepted for admission by Radcliffe, Richard Mann, recipient of a National Merit Scholarship, has also received the offer of a scholarship from Yale.

Nine 'M' Scholarships
The University of Michigan has announced Regents-Alumni scholarships to a total of nine.

Besides Paul Papich and Wayne Wilner (mentioned above), Marilyn Chasteen, Gary Chernay, Burke Posse, Joyce Hancock, James Taugner, Donald Vroom and William Weber have been offered these awards.

Michigan State has offered five of the 1961 class scholarship aid. Donna Addy, Susan Darling, Mary Power and Margaret Thomas have been selected to receive awards in addition to William Walker.

Other scholarship awards have been offered to the following students: Nancy Goeman, Hope; Mary Short, Miami (Ohio).

Vandals Damage Golfing Green

Vandals damaged the greens of Lochmoor Club, 1018 Sunningdale, on Tuesday, May 30, according to information given Woods police by Mert Ney, groundskeeper.

The groundskeeper said that the vandals entered the grounds during the night, removed hole flags from the greens and placed them in the sand traps. Six flags, worth six dollars each, were missing. Also, he stated, one rake was broken and three others stolen. They are valued at $4.75 apiece.

Besides this, Ney told investigating officers, Greens 5 and 15 were gouged severely; and Greens 3, 4 and 11, received minor damage. Total cost to repair these greens, he said, was $50.

The Park and Woods were among five Michigan cities in the Group Nine Class (10,000 to 25,000 population), who will receive special recognition for No Traffic Deaths and Progressive Accident Prevention Program activities; and the only two of the five who will receive a Certificate of Achievement for School Traffic Safety Education.

A total of 48 states, 1,259 U. S. cities; two metropolitan counties; Toronto, Canada and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico reported to the National Safety Council in the 1960 Annual Inventory of Traffic Safety Activities.

Unlucky Trio

(Continued from Page 1) Henry Coonce and Patrolman Henry Wilson arrived, too late to apprehend the criminals. They and off-duty Patrolman George Blair had surrounded the building, but Schmidt, Rogap and Gragg had already escaped.

French and Coonce continued to investigate, and talked to a man in the area, who gave a description of one of the burglars. The officers put "two-and-two together" and after checking the neighborhood, went to Schmidt's home and arrested him and took him to the station.

Under questioning, Schmidt admitted breaking into the store Saturday night, and on May 13, and implicated Rogap and Gragg.

French and Coonce put in a call to Detroit's McClellan Station, Fifth Precinct, and two detectives were sent to assist them in the arrest of Gragg.

The Park and Detroit policemen went to Gragg's home, and when knocking on the door produced no results, the officers forced the door open with their shoulders. Gragg, who was hiding in his room, was forcibly put under arrest. He was locked up at McClellan Station.

In the meantime, Detroit's Davison Station, Eleventh Precinct officers, who had been asked to pick up Rogap, went to his home and took him in custody. Rogap offered no resistance.

Gragg and Rogap were later picked up by Park officers for arraignment in Judge Belanger's court.

Chief Louwers said that there was no doubt that the three arrested men were involved in the May 13 burglary. Even if they had not confessed, fingerprints left at the scene, were proved to be theirs.

"The two officers who conducted the investigation that led to the arrest of Schmidt, Rogap and Gragg, are to be commended for the excellence of the total investigation," Chief Louwers said. "In the overall evaluation, this was a splendid police action."

He said that Schmidt, Rogap and Gragg, in a signed statement, disclosed that they had intended to go to the Cosmos residence on June 3, with the intention of burglarizing it. Because of the success of the first market burglary, they were under the impression the store owners might have taken home the day's receipts.

The trio went to the home, but changed their minds when they saw lights on in the house, and went to the store to commit their ill-fated second crime.

Woods Officials, Residents in Hassle

(Continued from Page 1) to issue such an order and no action was taken on the letter. Started Last October Construction of the building in question on Church-owned land at Fairford road and Morningside drive was undertaken in October, 1960. No complaints by residents were recorded until the early part of April, 1961, when an unidentified resident called Earl Wakely, of the Department of Building Inspection, on the telephone complaining that "the High School was being built right on top of her property."

On April 18, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Gilstorf and Mrs. W. E. Grace conferred with Woods officials complaining that the building was being erected too close to their property and did not conform with zoning laws in their district.

A petition signed by 11 residents of Thorn Tree road was submitted to Mrs. Little on April 19. The petitioners claimed that the building caused depreciation of their property values and asked for a reduction of their assessed valuation.

Make Further Request The residents further requested that the Church be prohibited from encroaching on the 20-foot area between the school and the property lines with a driveway and asked that the Church be required to erect a fence to insure the privacy of the residents. Church officials have agreed to construct a fence.

Several meetings followed between the City Council, Planning Commission, church officials, and complaining residents. The planning commission which had approved the building plans claimed that it had no further jurisdiction and declined to act on the petition. The Woods Board of Review claimed the tax request was submitted too late for consideration.

Residents stated that the Planning Commission had incorrectly interpreted the zoning ordinance and in particular a section which is unclear in its application to residential buildings and uses requiring Planning Commission approval, such as the High School. The residents said that there should be a 35-foot clearance instead of the 20 feet which was approved by the planning body.

Cite Similar Case

City official pointed out that a convent which has been in existence for more than 20 years on the same land is 21 feet away from abutting property and that no complaints were issued by residents. The zoning ordinance, they said, must be interpreted strictly to protect the property owner, in this case, the Church. They held, and Attorney Berns concurred, that the Church has undertaken its plans lawfully and in good faith and that no further action can be taken by Woods governing officials.

Farms Names
Bike Winners

Farms Patrolman Joseph Miller, school safety officer, announced the names of winners of bicycles in the Farms Bicycle Safety Inspection Contest which closed on Wednesday, May 31.

Winners of bikes, are: Michael Dulka, Kerby School; Stephanie Smith, Richard School; and Blair Berendsohn, Sacred Heart Convent.

Officer Miller said that since the bicycle inspection was conducted jointly at St. Paul and Sacred Heart Convent, a second prize, a transistor radio, was awarded to second place winner, Moagan Keane, St. Paul School.

Other prizes were awarded to 11 other winners in each school, consisting of bicycle lights, horns, plastic auto model kits and streamers, the patrolman said.

The bikes and the auto model kits were donated by two civic-minded Farms citizens who wish to remain anonymous. The balance of the prizes were purchased by the Farms, it was said.

Patrolman Miller said that a total of 897 students had their bikes inspected during the three weeks the program was in progress.

DAVID INGRUM, LINDA CROCKATT, ELIZABETH JEFFERIS, KAREN CALLAWAY, TERRI ATKIN, LINDA VORHEES and HENRY HOMBURGER.

The fourth annual Honors Assembly at Parcels Junior High School, to be held on the morning of June 8, will pay tribute to the ninth grade students who have outstanding academic records.

The speaker for this special occasion will be Franklin Dougherty, Trustee of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education. In his talk to the entire student body he will re-emphasize the importance to this nation of academic excellence, and the need for each student to make the best use of his own talents.

As the special guests of honor the parents of the outstanding students, will watch with pride. Vincent Peterson, the Principal of Parcels, will introduce each student and Mrs. Dougherty will present the special certificates of commendation for academic achievement.

There are 47 students who have maintained an honor point average above 3.0. Seventeen per cent of the ninth grade class have met the specifications set by the Faculty Committee on Academic Honors which is under the direction of Miss Bernice Moore.

The committee requires a high cumulative achievement for at least two years at Parcels, to be maintained at an equally high level during the final semester of school work. When this annual program was established it was hoped that the recognition of academic work of a high caliber would serve as a two-fold incentive: for the honored students to continue their fine work, and for the students of seventh and eighth grade to strive a bit harder for higher goals.

This year the first group of students so honored at Parcels graduate from Grosse Pointe High School. A special study of their high school records indicates that high success in junior high school is a fine prognosticator of success in high school. Those who acquire good work habits and good attitudes toward school at the junior high level generally are able to carry the most challenging high school courses with high achievement.

This year's top students includes eleven who have cumulative academic averages at the high honor roll level, 3.5 to 4.0. These top scholars are Linda Vorhees, Terri Atkin, Elisabeth Jefferis, Dana Harlan, Kay Fuller, Karen Callaway, Henry Homburger, Suzanne Chase, Sally Boesen, Linda Crockatt, and David Ingrum.

There are 36 other students who will receive honorable mention certificates for their 3.0 to 3.4 records.

Pointe University School's Graduation Set for June 14

A distinguished senior class will be graduated from Grosse Pointe University School on Wednesday, June 14, at 8 p.m. The scene will be a newly landscaped area at the Provencal road side of the Upper School building.

Guests will enter through the Edsel Ford gym and the handsome new Glancy Court to reach this first outdoor commencement in the history of the school. "Outdoor," at least, is the hope: if it rains, the ceremonies will take place in the school auditorium.

Of the class and its performance over the years Headmaster John Chandler, Jr., had some very complimentary things to say in his message in the Pericon, the school yearbook.

"More of you," he tells the departing seniors, "have been longer in the school than any previous class and thus I know you better. Ten of you have been with me for twelve years, and seven of the ten had a year of two in Nursery and Kindergarten before I arrived. With Dirk and Lucia, (the class's two American Field Service students from abroad), you number forty-nine and thus qualify as the largest of the seven classes which Grosse Pointe University School has graduated.

"Statistically you are the brightest, too. With an average I.Q. of 124 and median scores on the S.A.T.'s of 596 verbal and 582 mathematical, you surpass by a bit your predecessors of 1960. No class has ever worked harder or more thoughtfully. Each of you in his own way has contributed to the forging of a class record of service to the school as well as of academic performance of which you all can be proud."

The commencement speaker will be Ronald Beasley, headmaster of Mary Institute, St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Beasley was born and educated in England, and his formal education included the Royal Military College at Sandhurst. He was graduated from Cambridge and later did a year's graduate work at Oxford.

Mr. Beasley came to the United States in 1923 and taught English and History at the Hill School, Pottstown, Pennsylvania. In 1928 he joined the faculty at Groton School, Groton, Massachusetts, as Head of the History Department and served in this capacity until the fall of 1949, when he went to Mary Institute as Headmaster.

During the summers of World War II, he was an instructor in Modern European History at Johns Hopkins University.

In June 1959 Washington University awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

FORD PRODUCTION
 Ford Motor Company produced 210,866 passenger cars and trucks during May, including 147,024 Ford, 10,362 Mercury, 20,123 Comet and 2,080 Lincoln cars. May production exceeded May, 1960, output by 10,828 units. Falcon production reached a new monthly high of 58,054 since its introduction in 1959, topping the previous high of 47,279 units set last September. The company also made 20,123 Comet cars in May.

MATTER OF OPINION
 Most youngsters are just as enthusiastic about the summer vacation as their mothers aren't.

Accident Victim Now Recovering

A 19-year-old St. Clair Shores girl who was critically injured in a May 13 Lake Shore road traffic accident in which her two companions were killed, was taken off the critical list and is reported recovering, according to information received from Shores Police Chief Fred Duemling.

Chief Duemling, who has been in constant contact with Bon Secours Hospital, said that hospital officials informed him that Miss Marilyn Martin of 22407 St. Joan, who had not been expected to live, is in a body cast, and resting as well as can be expected.

She suffered multiple fractures, including a broken jaw, and internal injuries, when the car she was in crashed into a tree on Lake Shore, and killed her friends who were in the front seat.

Killed were Donnie L. D. Duke, 23, of 2623 Fairview; and Eugene Nelson, 20, of 3575 Ly-making the curve near 1010 Lake Shore, still at high speed, when he lost control and crashed into a tree east of the roadway.

Skid marks were measured at 219 feet, ending at the point of impact.

Witnesses to the accident told Shores police that they did not see Miss Martin in the front seat with the two youths, which led to the belief that the girl was sleeping on the rear seat.

The chief said that this apparently was the reason the girl was not killed, although nearly so.

Duke, Nelson and Miss Martin were returning from a party late in the morning of May 13, the chief said. Although there was a case of beer in their car, there was nothing to substantiate that the occupants were intoxicated.

Duke, according to the witnesses, was traveling south on Lake Shore at a speed of 65 miles an hour or more, and was making the curve near 1010 Lake Shore, still at high speed, when he lost control and crashed into a tree east of the roadway.

Skid marks were measured at 219 feet, ending at the point of impact.

Hathaway's Aertex
 —"the world's coolest shirt"

HATHAWAY imports Aertex from England. Remarkable stuff. It has an uncanny way of never sticking to your body—no matter how hot the pace.

And every Aertex shirt contains a million tiny windows for ventilation. Your body can breathe through them. Your skin can tan through them. Yet you cannot see through them. Whether you lob, paddle, or putt this summer, you will thank your lucky stars for Aertex.

We have these all-cotton pullovers in a number of sportsmanlike colors. The tailoring is in the great Hathaway tradition: neatly cuffed sleeves and extra-long tails.

Many, many colors to choose from.

Conduct Honors Assembly At Brownell Junior High

Ninety-four students of the first class to complete three years at Brownell Junior High School were honored at the schools annual Honors Assembly on Tuesday morning, June 6.

These boys and girls were among 269 seventh, eighth, and ninth graders who were named by the Brownell faculty as having done outstanding work in the classroom or school activities during the past year.

Names of all these students were printed in a special program bearing the school's seal (designed two years ago by student Bob Wells), and distributed to the entire student body at the assembly.

A surprise awaited some of these honored ninth graders, however, for 22 of them, who were cited for three or more honors, were called to the stage by Charles Saltzer, principal, and each was awarded a certificate and pin. These students included: Judy Altman, Penny Bedwell, Anne Boynton, Cheryl Burns, Lorie Cook, Mike Daher and Kathy Dickson.

Others were Debbie Ferry, Dennis Grafflin, Richard Grenzke, William Hermann, Terry Kasiborski, John Kohring, and Tom Krauss.

Sue Lehr, Charles Nicholl, Margaret Oyaas, Robert Schmelz, Barton Stuck, Greg Theokas, and Mary Trigg completed the list.

A second part of the assembly program which made it "special" was the appearance of an old Grosse Pointe friend, Dr. H. M. Dickey, former assistant superintendent of schools here, and now superintendent of the Birmingham schools.

Dr. Dickey spoke to the student body about the premium the modern world places on achievement, whether in the academic field or community service. He urged his audience to continue to do the best work of which they are capable, and extended his congratulations to the honors students especially. The assembly concluded with the singing of "America" led by John Tausley.

Pvt. Gary E. Chapman Trains at Fort Knox

Fort Knox, Kentucky—Private Gary E. Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Chapman, 70 Lakeshore Lane, Grosse Pointe, Mich., is currently undergoing basic training with the Third Training Regiment, (BCT), here at the United States Army Training Center, Armor (US-ATCA).

During this eight-week course, Pvt. Chapman will be trained in the basic arts required of a soldier in the Modern Army. Upon completion of the eight-week course ending July 1, he will receive an additional eight weeks advanced individual training. The regiment is commanded by Colonel Henry Frankel.

A 1959 graduate of Grosse Pointe High School, Pvt. Chapman is assigned to "A" Company, 8th Battalion, here at the Third Regiment.

Award

George Bell, National Aeronautic Association; Sandra Boyle, nursing scholarship to Harper Hospital; William Briscoe, Purdue; Karen Peltier, Wayne State; Dale Anderson, Williams; and Allen Gilliard, Yale.

Class Widely Split

Some of the other well-known colleges which have opened their doors for graduates (number approved for admission in parentheses if more than one) of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools are: Amherst (2), Briarcliff, Brown (3), Bucknell (2), Colorado (3), Cornell, Dartmouth, Duke (4), Goucher, Harvard, Heidelberg, Lawrence, Northwestern, Princeton (2), Radcliffe (2), Simmons (2), Smith, Swarthmore (1 on waiting list), Trinity, Tufts, Tulane, Vassar, University of Virginia (2), Wellesley, Wesleyan (2), Williams (2), and Yale (4). The number accepted by Yale represents the highest number accorded a Michigan high school this year.

Still other admissions have been gained in Bennett College, Davidson, Hamilton, Haverford, Hobart, Mount Holyoke, Ohio Wesleyan, Rochester, Rockford, and Sweet Briar.

Information concerning college performance has recently been compiled for members of the 1960 graduating class who were recommended by Grosse Pointe High School and enrolled in college.

At the University of Michigan, these students have a composite point average for all courses taken during the first semester of 1.442, or about midway between a "B" and a "C." Their high school average was 2.212 or about a "B+."

Record Is Creditable

When compared with previous graduating classes the 1960 class record is creditable. The 1959 graduates left high school with a 2.11 average and averaged 1.34 the next fall at Michigan. The 1950 class, or a decade earlier, averaged 1.98 here and 1.14 in Ann Arbor. Ten years earlier, or 1940, saw a high school average of 2.05 result in a 1.51 HPA at the university. The earliest records available show the 1932 class averaging 2.00 (or exactly B) in high school and 1.43 at the University of Michigan.

Records of those who attend other institutions show a comparable consistency. One hundred forty-three students enrolling in three Michigan universities last fall with the recommendation of the high school principal had a high school honor point average of 2.065. In their first term in college they averaged 1.445. In 1950 the ex-act same number averaged 1.85 in high school and 1.20 in col-lege. The 1940 group of 80 stu-dents averaged 1.87 here and 1.36 away.

33 Policemen End Training

Thirty-three police officers from the Pointe and surrounding area, including four from Sandwich Township, Ont., Canada, successfully completed all, or part, of their required basic recruit training, according to Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers.

The chief, instructor of the police training school held in the Park Municipal Building, disclosed on Thursday, June 1, that besides the officers of Sandwich Township, there were policemen from the Park, City, Farms, St. Clair Shores, East Detroit, Roseville, Warren, Harper Woods and the Wayne County Sheriff's Office.

The recruit training is co-sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Southeastern Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, and comprises three 40-hour sessions, for a total of 120 hours, which all participating student officers must complete before they are awarded graduating certificates.

Chief Louwers disclosed that the latest 40-hour session was begun on March 17, and ended on May 19. The final examination papers were individually checked by the chief.

Successfully completing their 120 hours, and eligible for certificates are the following officers: Park—Robert E. Saiford and Richard Conover; St. Clair Shores—John H. Yoe and Fred Juergens; East Detroit—Erms D'Olivio; and Wayne County Deputy Sheriff Edward Szymanski.

Still to complete their full training are these officers: Park—Collin LaLonde, Henry A. Wilson, Ralph K. Moore and Walter D. Paton; City—Donald Fritz and William Waldeck; Farms—Ronald Wooten.

St. Clair Shores—Richard Pope, Edward Thomas and Thomas Livernois; East Detroit—Lynn C. Cole, Larry Hitchcock, Richard Heins, Fred Dirian, Frank Rager and Jerold Johnston, Roseville—Timothy T. Doty, and J. Oddy McDonough.

Warren—Lawrence Kessler, James Schorsch and Frederick Lewis; Sandwich Township—George P. Steene, Don B. Fuller, Marvin E. Wood and Howard J. Duffy; and Harper Woods—Thomas Lauderback and Douglas Garascia.

Two Roseville Patrolmen, William J. Johnson and Leroy Moldenhaller, have yet to submit their first note book compilation.

Reports and grades of each of the officers were sent to their respective chiefs, with the following note from Chief Louwers: "They have been faced with a challenging program and they have successfully met the challenge. They are to be commended for their work."

Similar police training programs such as are held in the Park, are also held in Royal Oak and Lincoln Park, attended by policemen in those areas.

Opera Boosters Hold Elections

All officers and directors of the Detroit Grand Opera Association were re-elected at the annual meeting Friday, June 2, at the Detroit Athletic Club, Frank W. Donovan, who continues as president, officially announced the retirement of Mrs. Henry Ford II as general chairman of the Metropolitan Opera Season, sparked by the Association.

Mrs. George W. Romney, co-chairman of the 1961 season, will serve as general chairman in 1962, and a new co-chairman to assist her will be announced shortly.

Mrs. Ford, who received a standing tribute from the directors present, expressed her thanks for the privilege of serving Detroit and Michigan in their enjoyment of the Metropolitan Opera. Donovan expressed gratitude that Mrs. Ford's support and interest would always be available to opera activities.

Donovan reported that the Association's share of opera receipts approximately equalled its expenses. Contributions enabled the Association to add a modest amount to a reserve fund for future operations and contingencies. The Detroit Museum of Art Founders Society will receive more than $31,000 from the opening night benefit performance and program receipts.

"It is indicative of the growing acceptance of opera in Michigan that this year's seven performances averaged better than $33,000 each, while last year the average for five performances was $31,000," Donovan said. "That result was achieved at no advance in ticket prices."

The Association expressed regret at the many disappointments experienced by ticket applicants for the season just completed.

"We cannot make available more seats than there are, but we will explain clearly the priorities and procedures we follow in filling ticket orders," Donovan stated. "We plan to announce next year's opera repertory within a short time, notify our guarantors and others on the preferred list to place their orders and make a deposit at once and then we will bill them in February. In that way all the priorities will be taken care of long in advance and we can concentrate later on the regular mail orders and public sale and keep confusion to a minimum."

Besides Donovan the re-elected officers of the Association are: Mayor Louis C. Miriam, honorary chairman; Raymond T.

Board of Review May Be Enlarged

A proposed Woods charter amendment which would increase the three-man Board of Review to five members will be submitted to electors in the Woods on September 12 at the State special election on constitutional convention.

The action was approved by unanimous vote of the Woods Council on Monday and if accepted by the voters will be effective on January 1, 1962.

The proposed amendment provides that the two incumbents on the Board of Review whose terms expire in January, 1963, and January, 1964, shall remain on the enlarged board. The three vacancies which will then remain will be filled by the City Council with terms expiring in January, 1963, January, 1964, and January, 1965.

Thereafter, appointments shall be made by the Council for three-year terms on the Board of Review. A chairman will act as clerk, but will have no vote on Board action.

The Woods Council will annually fix the compensation for Board members. At present, they are paid $20 a day and meet twice a year.

The proposed charter amendment provides that members of the Board of Review may not be city officers or employees or nominees or candidates for any elective city office. The filing of a nomination petition for elective office would constitute a resignation from the Board. The Woods Board of Review is the final recourse at the local level for citizens to be heard on tax adjustments.

M. Bernice Zilly

My Philosophy of Education

The prime purposes of Education are: to teach the processes of reading, writing and figuring; to train the intellect to interpret facts through acquiring knowledge of the past history and experiences of the human race; to stress the God-given freedoms and the heritage with which our country is blessed; and to promote the idea that each individual must assume his responsibility to protect these freedoms.

I believe that the family is the basic unit of society. The prime responsibility of educating the children remains with the parents. In this modern society parents delegate some of that responsibility to the schools. There should be full cooperation between the family and the schools. All taxpayers of a Community are responsible for the kind of education we offer to our children—our future leaders—that is why I believe it is my responsibility to offer to represent you—all the citizens of Grosse Pointe on the Board of Education.

New Bank Branch True Colonial

Even the exterior props were strictly authentic Early American when Manufacturers National Bank opened its beautiful new office at Mack and Lochmoor Monday. Miss Cynthia Blane, one of the many hostesses on hand, rode with Arthur J. Fushman, bank president. Norman Kopperschmidt, manager of the branch, stands by.

The new Grosse Pointe Woods office of Manufacturers National Bank was officially dedicated Monday, June 5, in brief ceremonies at the new location, 20200 Mack avenue.

An audience of residents and civic leaders from the area stood at attention while representatives of Boy Scout Troop No. 194 conducted a flag raising ceremony opening the program.

Norma Kopperschmidt, manager of the new office, served as master of ceremonies and introduced Arthur J. Fushman, president of Manufacturers National Bank, who spoke briefly. Kenneth Koppin, mayor of Grosse Pointe Woods, assisted by Paul Rowe, a former mayor, of the Woods, cut the ribbon opening the new office.

The new building replaces a smaller facility across the street which had housed the bank since 1952.

Monday's ceremony launched a week-long observance that will see all visitors treated with refreshments and souvenirs of the opening.

The new office combines the most modern banking facilities with authentic Early American architecture and harmonizing interior furnishings.

All visitors will be welcomed by a doorman and hostess garbed in traditional Early American dress. An actual demonstration at the bank will show visitors the manner in which homemakers of the Revolutionary War period used a spinning wheel to prepare yarn from wool to make clothing, rugs, and other household items.

In addition to the modern banking equipment, the office features customer drive-ins which include three drive-in windows, eight teller windows and four times the number of safe deposit box facilities available in the former office. Ample off-street parking is another important improvement in the new location.

Five Boys Admit Stealing Cars

Farms police filed charges in Wayne County Juvenile Court against five boys accused of stealing a car from the parking lot of St. Paul Catholic Church in Lake Shore road on Sunday, June 4.

The car, a 1961 Pontiac, is owned by Joseph M. Scanlan, 36, of 309 Merriweather, and was left in the lot by Mrs. Scanlan while she attended Sunday morning services in the church.

Early Sunday evening, a Roslyn road resident called Woods police to report five suspicious boys, who had parked a new car near his house, and after getting out of the vehicle, appeared to be wiping off fingerprints from the car. Patrolman Edward Geathes (Continued on Page 24)

New! A way to get more roses, bigger blooms

The simple (and surprising) secret of more roses is—more leaves!

To keep insects and disease from taking their heavy toll, Scotts has developed a remarkable single control for all common rose enemies. It is called HAZE.

To achieve complete HAZE protection on the tops and undersides of every leaf, Scotts has developed a revolutionary new applicator, called the ZEPHYR. It wafts an enveloping dry mist of HAZE upward, depositing an invisible film on the leaves.

State Penalizes Pointe Drivers

The operator's licenses of two Pointe motorists were revoked and the license of another was temporarily suspended, according to information received from the Secretary of State's Office in Lansing.

The weekly report listing revocations and suspensions of licenses of State drivers was dated May 26, and was released by Secretary of State James M. Hare.

The license of John M. Finlayson of 529 St. Clair avenue was revoked on May 22; and that of James C. Candless of 694 Lincoln road, on May 24. The reasons given in both cases were that each failed to appear for re-examination because of unsatisfactory driving records.

A one-month suspension of driving privileges was levied against Francis P. O'Linn of 1120 Devonshire, whose license was taken away from May 13 to June 12.

Ford to Restore R. E. Lee Shrine

One of the nation's most important historical shrines will be restored with a $370,000 gift from the Ford Motor Company Fund. It was announced today.

Henry Ford II, president of the Fund, said the contribution will be made to Washington and Lee University for restoration of the famous Lee Chapel on the school's campus at Lexington, Va. The chapel recently was designated by the U. S. Department of Interior as a National Historic Landmark.

Mr. Ford said the gift would help preserve one of the South's most prized landmarks, and is regarded by the Fund as a contribution to the Civil War Centennial observance now in progress throughout the United States.

"Our trustees believe it to be most important to maintain the Lee Chapel as a priceless spiritual and historic possession for the South and for the nation," he said.

Dr. Fred C. Cole, president of Washington and Lee University, said:

"Washington and Lee is indeed grateful to the Ford Motor Company Fund for enabling this university to continue to fulfill its trust to preserve and maintain such a place of historical value and charm. Because the University's first commitment is to education, it would be most difficult in the near future to provide sufficient funds from normal endowment resources for the restoration of the chapel.

"I know everyone interested in the heritage of this country is also grateful that the Ford Motor Company Fund will support this important undertaking in such generous fashion. This gift will certainly rank as one of the most important and timely ever received by Washington and Lee University."

Allen W. Merrell, of Vendome road, Grosse Pointe, vice-president of the Ford Motor Company Fund, presented to Washington and Lee University the first payment of the $370,000 contribution on June 2, during the school's commencement exercises.

Mr. Merrell said that while the Fund's trustees found many compelling reasons for approving the grant to restore the chapel, "perhaps the most compelling reason was the character of the man who had the chapel built."

"General Robert E. Lee is loved and respected by all Americans," Mr. Merrell said. "His dedication to the education of youth after he had suffered the sorrow and agony of military defeat catches up and exemplifies the American ideal of responsible citizenship.

"His courage, his integrity

BINOCULARS FOUND
George McHough of 907 Fisher, found a pair of binoculars at the Shores' George Osius Park on Tuesday, and turned them over to Shores police. Chief Fred Duemling said that the owner can have the binoculars, which were in a leather case, if he can prove ownership. The Shores police station is at 795 Lake Shore road.

several of Lee. Adjacent to the museum is Lee's office, unchanged from the time of his death in Lexington October 12, 1870. The general and members of his family are buried in the chapel.

Over the years, the building has deteriorated. Wooden trusses supporting the slate roof have sagged and side walls bulge. Utilities need modernizing and extensive other work and repairs are needed.

The Ford Motor Company Fund is a non-profit corporation operated for scientific, charitable and education purposes, and is financed by contributions from Ford Motor Company.

Most Important Election

An election of the utmost importance will be held in the Pointe next Monday, June 12. Two trustees will be selected to serve on the Board of Education, out of a field of five candidates. No office in the community carries a greater responsibility.

Thanks to the calibre of men and women who have served on the School Board throughout the years, our public educational system has been developed into one of the finest in the country. The trustees pick the administrators and oversee the selection of all the teachers and other members of the great staff which make up such a system. Their decisions and actions dictate in a very great measure what kind of preparation for the future is being afforded the very great majority of our young. From kindergarten to college, these future citizens are directly under the influence of our educational leaders.

As we see it, three of the five candidates are especially qualified to fill the positions they seek. But only two can be elected.

Robert F. Weber, the only incumbent running, certainly deserves to be reelected. He has served on the Board for seven years, is the present president and has been for the last three years, and he has also served as treasurer for two years. His activities in other fields of service have been monumental. He is a past president of both the Vernier and Parcels Schools P.T.A.s, has been a member of the Detroit Boy Scout Council, is a trustee of the Friends of the Library and just retired as a trustee of the Foundation for Exceptional Children. He has been president of Goodwill Industries for 11 years and still holds that post. He has been a moving figure in Kiwanis and is a Finance Committee member of the Diocese of Michigan (Episcopal). He has also been a trustee of the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores. His vast experience in so many fields, and particularly in his relations with youngsters and educational work should not be overlooked by the voters.

The two others in the field who are particularly capable of filling the other vacancy on the Board, in our estimation, are Edward J. Pongracz and B. Courtney Rankin. We believe the electors could not go wrong in casting a ballot for either of these two.

Mr. Pongracz has already served on the Board of Education and was its vice-president. He was also on the Building Committee for Brownell Junior High School and on the Committee for Insurance Revision. This experience is most valuable, as it takes some time for a new trustee of the Board of Education to become schooled in the many complexities of running the system. He was also president of both the Maire and Pierce Junior High School P.T.A.s. He is a former vice-president of the Grosse Pointe High School Dads' Club and has worked on the Boy Scout Jubilee Committee and on the Community Halloween parties for a number of years. A charter member of the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club and committee member of that organization's Foundation, he was also vice-chairman of the original War Memorial Association. Chairman of the Grosse Pointe City Park Improvement Committee, he is also a member of that city's Board of Review.

Mr. Rankin was educated in the Boston Public School System, and at Yale, Harvard and Oxford Universities. He also has been most active with the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts, and is an Executive Board member of the Detroit Area Council for his 12th year. He is a member of the American, Detroit and Michigan Bar Associations and has served on various committees and sections of those bodies. He recently completed eight years as an Executive Committee Member of the National Yale Alumni Board. He has had much experience in interviewing students seeking admission to college and has been active in the Kerby School P.T.A.

The voters are indeed fortunate to have candidates with such qualifications who are both willing and anxious to serve the community in such an important way. The successful school trustee must be a dedicated person, and we believe these men are dedicated, to not only maintain but constantly improve the system which has thus far been so satisfactorily developed as to achieve a national reputation.

Some 35,000 voters are qualified to go to the polls next Monday. We hope the great majority will exercise this great privilege and cast their ballots for the candidates of their choice.

What's New on THE HILL...

By Roberta

THE REASONS we like summer: more ice cream . . . skirts glowing in the breeze . . . red roses . . . pink geraniums . . . AND besides all this the heat is on. All at once, we are ready . . . really ready for new things and new ideas. Anyway it's a great time not only to cultivate flowers . . . but to discover all that's different. The stores on the hill are ready for this summer season . . . they are brimming over with new season wonders.

oOo

FOR EXAMPLE, Virginia Williams is showing peacock blue tall stemmed goblets of hand-blown glass suitable for flower and candle arrangements. Priced inexpensively, they would make perfect shower gifts. Depending upon the height they are tagged at three dollars and fifty cents, four fifty, and five fifty.

oOo

THEN, IF YOU'RE MAD about the smells of summer . . . the kinds that float a whole garden across the lawn on a summer night . . . you'll be made about Christian Dior's, "Diorissimo". It's light, it's delicate. A two ounce bottle of this summertime eau de cologne is now on sale at Trail Pharmacy for two dollars and a half.

oOo

AND, JUST IN TIME FOR the heat wave are toddlers and three to six wash and wear sunsuits at Young Clothes. Boy's sunsuits gaily trimmed with sail boats . . . ballons and elephants are just two dollars and twenty-five cents . . . toddler sizes and two to four. Blue and pink checks decorate the bloomer sun suits with cropped top for girls. Some are pin dotted and trimmed with delicious strawberries. Good enough to eat! Toddlers and 3 to 6x. 3.50 and 4.50.

oOo

THE CAP AND GOWN CROWD would love any one of these: For girls; scented drawer liners at 3.50 and 4.00; 5.00 and 6.00; extra luscious sachets all beautifully boxed for less. Scented satin and lace covered hangers at four dollars each; white and gold albums to hold photos and clippings (allow a few days for personalizing) for five dollars and fifty cents. For guys . . . wastebaskets trimmed with college seals for three fifty; individual leather rulers with brass edge for cutting at one dollar and fifty cents . . . luggage tags . . . roomy Dunhill wallets with extra space for cards, pictures and identifications from 6.50; business record files, handsomely designed, 7.00 . . . picnic outing kits for ten dollars . . . last but not least drip dry hangers, that inflate, for ne greenback plus twenty cents. ALL THIS and more at The League Shop.

oOo

DEBS love the white and gold albums for photographs and clippings . . . personalized . . . at The League Shop.

oOo

LET'S GO to the GPUS CARNIVAL on Cook Road this Friday and Saturday, June 9 and 10!

oOo

APPOINTMENTS OF MERIT: Surprising . . . delightful . . . the super collection of lamps. Carton after carton is being unpacked this week at The Dants. One to suit your decor is here. This collection is most unusual because it includes cottage and porch styles. Let's go.

oOo

IMAGINATION can give a home delight. It can please YOU as much as it does your neighbor. Wm. Denler and Co., interior decorators, put forms and colors and textures together in new ways . . . make a humdrum room into one that glows. Their studio contains an extensive wallpaper and fabric department. All stimulating . . . all wonderful.

oOo

ANTHONY . . . a marvelous pick-up hair treatment before hair set or during a perm. Takes only a minute . . . but lasts for days . . . five dollars . . . shampoo and set, four dollars. Permanents twenty-five to fifty dollars. Appointments: TU 5-9955.

oOo

The motorist who uses his brains and brakes saves lots of aches.

"A Second Thought On First Aid"

By Fred Kopp, R. Ph.
We're constantly amazed at the number of children who cut, scrape and bruise themselves within sight (and sound) of our pharmacy. We do a big business in anti-septics, bandages, and other first-aid items. Same everywhere, probably. But sometimes we wonder if people don't depend too much on first aid — neglect proper medical attention. If there's the slightest question in your mind following what appears to be minor injuries, see your physician. First aid has definite limitations. You can only be sure of proper medical care by seeing your doctor. A prompt visit can save a half dozen later.

Grosse Pointe rocketed to the top at midyear, however, by taking first in swimming and second in basketball. At the halfway mark the standings were Grosse Pointe, 75 points; Fordson, 65; Wyandotte, 55; Highland Park, 45; and Monroe, 37 1/2.

Soccer Neophytes Snatch Moral Victory in Big Test

By Tom Leonard Soccer is not a sport that can be learned in a short time. To master the game, years of unrelenting practice backed up by a genuine love of the sport are required. This fact makes the result of a recent soccer contest between the Grosse Pointe "Selects" and West Side Saturnia truly remarkable. The Pointe boys came from the Grosse Pointe Soccer League, an organization formed this spring by 50 Grosse Pointe High School boys to promote soccer in this area. The league, which is made up of 4 teams, plays a regular schedule of games at the Grosse Pointe Lake Front Park.

teams testing the other, each waiting for a break. Grosse Pointe held a slight edge in play at this point, just missing on several scoring opportunities. Later in the first half Jim Cruickshank, Grosse Pointe's outside left angled a long forward pass to his teammate Jon Gandelot. Jon received the pass and skirted between two Saturnia defensemen to go in alone on the goal, however his shot to the upper right hand corner sailed wide. It looked as if the game might remain a scoreless tie as both teams concentrated on defensive tactics. However, Tony Ellis, the English born inside right for Grosse Pointe, sent his team into the lead as he took a pass from Dick Swingle and raced down the field to beat the Saturnia goalie with a low shot to the left corner of the cage. Saturnia answered back minutes later, however, and the score at the end of the half was 1-1. In the second half the teams settled down to wait for the other to make a mistake. Saturnia's chance almost came as Gord Kiernan, the Grosse Pointe goalie, was trapped out of position on a corner shot. The shot was saved by Steve Christian who moved quickly into the goal to save what looked like a sure goal. Grosse Pointe carried the play down to Saturnia's goal several times but each time its shots were turned away. It looked as though Saturnia had the game won when, with little time remaining, a Saturnia forward went in all alone on the Grosse Pointe goalie, but Kiernan dove across the net to save what would have been the winning goal. The game ended in a 1-1 tie. Considering the difference in player experience, however, it can only be counted as a 1-1 "victory" for Grosse Pointe.

Little League Results

CITY The Braves strengthened their hold on first place in the Grosse Pointe City Little League last week by defeating the Dodgers 14 to 4 on May 30 and by downing the Cardinals 6 to 1 on June 2. In the Memorial Day game, the Braves scored in every inning except the first, to give John Walsh his first pitching victory of the season, 14 to 4. In winning, Walsh allowed nine hits, but struck out 10 Dodger batters and issued no walks. The Braves put the game on ice in the third inning by scoring seven runs on four hits and three walks. In the meantime, the Cubs were shut out by the Cardinals in the second Memorial Day game 3 to 0, behind Todd Pike, who pitched a no-hit game. Only two Cub batters reached first base. Kevin Dreon on an error in the third and Jim Bavinger who walked in the sixth. In winning, Pike struck out 13 Cub batters. The Cards scored one run in the first inning on singles by Pat Elwart and Dean Hoskins; one run in the second inning on two walks and a single by Chuck Silery; and one in the third on a double by Fritz Kramer, who scored on a single by Mathew Devine. Kevin Dreon, who pitched the final two innings for the Cubs, allowed only one batter to reach first base, when he walked Dean Hoskins. The Braves won their fourth game of the season by defeating the Cardinals 6 to 1 on June 3 behind excellent pitching by Russ Knowles who struck out 14 Cardinal batters, a record for City Little League this season. Knowles held the Cards to one hit, a home run by Todd Pike, his second of the season, in the fourth inning. In the second game of the Saturday double header, the Cubs subdued the Dodgers 9 to 4 by scoring in every inning but the fifth. Singles by Mike Kerwin and John Ballantyne plus a walk to Dreon scored two runs in the first inning. In the second, a double by Brian Hickey and singles by Tom Rose and Mark Mathews and three walks produced four runs. The Cubs tallied again in the third when Hickey, who had singled, scored on Kerwin's double. In the fourth, Bobby Vance and Rose scored on a single by Dreon and walks to Hickey and Jim Montgomery. In the City Minor League, one of the tightest seasons on record seems to be developing, although anything can happen in this league. After two games, each team has won one and lost one. Indians trounced the White Sox, 17 to 0, and the Senators, who have yet to be beaten on Saturday but can't win during the week, beat the Orioles, 8 to 5. In the National League, the Dodgers and Cardinals kept stride with two victories each, but the Red Legs, who had started out strongly, lost both of their games. The Dodgers beat the Giants, 11 to 3, and edged out the Red Legs, 7 to 5, in a game in which Dave Schnur contributed his first home run to the winners' cause. The Cardinals had a tougher time in besting the Pirates and Cardinals, each of whom was beaten by a 5 to 4 score. The Pirates beat the Red Legs, 12 to 11, with Bill Williams homering for the winners and Ron Foster and Tom Blake for the losers, and the Braves beat the Giants, 11 to 3. In the Collegiate Leagues, besides the no-hit performance, Michigan State trounced Purdue, 15 to 6, in the American division, and Illinois beat Indiana, 24 to 14, in the National division. Michigan and Illinois remained at the top of the American and National divisions, respectively, with undefeated records. MAJORS W L B Braves 4 1 Cards 2 3 Cubs 2 3 Dodgers 2 3 Minors Giants 1 1 Grosse Pointers 1 1 Phillies 1 1 Senators 1 1 PARK The surprising Athletics, doormats of the American League last year, appeared to have locked up the first half season title in their division of the Grosse Pointe Park Little League with the Cardinals and Dodgers, facing a showdown in the National League. The Athletics, holding a 6 and 2 record, are favored to win their remaining two games before the halfway point, which would give them the undisputed title. The Dodgers and Cardinals, with one defeat each, face each other in a game which is expected to determine the first half winner. For the week ending June 3, the spotlight shifted to the Collegiate Leagues, where Bob Nemece and Tom Ferrell, Minnesota pitchers, collaborated in the first no-hit game of the season to defeat Northwestern 19 to 5. In American League play, the Athletics and Yankees won two games each, while the Orioles and White Sox continued their slide, losing two each. The best game of the week probably was the pitching duel between Charles Worthman, of the Yankees, and Paul Fitzsimons, of the Orioles, which the Yankees won by a 2 to 0 count on long home runs in the first and sixth innings by Phil Connor. The Yankees also chalked up a come-from-behind 15 to 14 win over the White Sox in a ragged game. The Athletics' two victories were scored at the expense of the Senators, 12 to 5, with Brian Manogian homering for the losers, and the Indians, 4 to 3, who had the tying run on third with nobody out in the last inning. GPHS Tennis Team Takes Second in State Tourney

By Ed Chielens The powerful Blue Devil netmen swept three league meets before invading the courts at Kalamazoo College on Friday and Saturday to take second place in the state tournament. The Devils had qualified two singles players and two doubles teams in the regionals the week before at Grosse Pointe. These players amassed 7 1/2 points, putting them behind first-place Hamtramck, which had 8 1/2 points. Tim McCormick, singles player and regional winner from Grosse Pointe, lost his second match to Bill Dixon of Ann Arbor. Tim won the first set 7-5, but lost the next two 3-6 and 1-6. Dixon went to take the runner-up spot in the tournament. Against Royal Oak, McCormick won his match 6-1 and 6-0. Ron Burns shut out his opponent 6-0 and 6-0. Rick Brydges had to go three sets to win his match 4-6, 6-2 and 6-1. Doubles Teams Hot All three doubles teams took their matches two sets, Russell and Wayne Winer led the attack with a 6-0, 6-0 match. The lineup was juggled in the Highland Park meet, as well as the Royal Oak meet. Everyone took his match in this meet two sets except Mike Lynch, who pulled out a victory 2-6, 6-1 and 8-6. The Devils are undefeated in any meet this year. They still have two meets to make up. They are against Highland Park and Monroe, and had been postponed because of bad weather.

High School Hopes to Get Hollosy for Cage Coach

By Bill Bullard Basketball Coach John Thursby has retired after two years as varsity coach. Mr. Thursby decided to give up coaching when he found that he didn't have enough time during the basketball season to attend adequately to his duties as a counselor. His teams won 23 games and lost six in the two regular seasons. His Devils tied Highland Park for the Border Cities League title in 1959-'60 and finished second to the Parkers last season. Mr. Thursby previously served as reserve football and basketball coach. Football and basketball have both had a part in his career. At Purdue University he lettered three seasons in football and played freshman basketball. He was head football and basketball coach at West Branch High School, in northern Michigan, for a two-year period ending in 1947. From 1947-1953, he was the head football coach at Bay City High School. He coached at St. Ambrose before coming to Grosse Pointe High School in 1955. Chuck Hollosy, basketball coach at Austin Catholic Preparatory School for the past nine years, has resigned and may soon be offered the post vacated by Mr. Thursby. Contrary to a story by Hal Schram in last Wednesday's Detroit Free Press, Mr. Hollosy has not yet been hired for such a position. The story's source, "a staff member at Grosse Pointe High, who wished to remain anonymous," had inaccurate information, according to Principal Jerry J. Gerich. Mr. Gerich said he has had several interviews with Mr. Hollosy, but that no job has been offered to him. "We would like to have him on the staff," said Mr. Gerich. But he pointed out that before Mr. Hollosy can be appointed basketball coach he must be in a teaching position at Grosse Pointe High School. The problem of finding a teaching opening for Mr. Hollosy to fill must be settled before he can be considered for a coaching post. Every applicant for a teaching position in the Grosse Pointe school system also has to be approved by Dr. James W. Bushong, superintendent of schools, and the Board of Education.

Blue Devil Nine Closes Season With 5-5 Record

In a hectic ten-day period, Grosse Pointe's baseballers won four and lost one game to end the '61 season with a 5-5 record. Two weeks ago, the Devils out-batted Wyandotte 9-3 with pitcher Ken MacDonald only allowing six hits. Two days later, with only one more hit than the opposition, Grosse Pointe led 10-7. Hurler Dave Kirsten was the Devils' only pitcher while Highland Park tried three different pitchers unsuccessfully. The following day, the Devils left their home field to victoriously face the Parkers a second time. The Parkers never seemed to run out of pitchers as they used to new ones who allowed nine hits to Bill Walker's four. The final score was 16-2 with Jack Chown and Dave Lubek each making two hits in two trips to the bat. A week ago it was Monroe's turn to be beaten and the final score was 6-0. Lou Ewald allowed only three hits while Monroe's pitcher left eight slip through. Each walked four players. Returning home, the Devils ended the season with a 5-3 loss to Royal Oak; Ken MacDonald was the losing pitcher. Disturbed with this year's record, Coach Ed Wernet is looking forward to a strong infield and a good pitching staff next year. Diego 7-0 accounted for win number 3. John Fraick was the winning pitcher in victory number 4 as he hit 4 for 4 to help defeat Portland 11-5. Pitching has been a key factor in Hollywood's four wins. Jeff Hadden has won 3 games and Steve Maxon pitched an outstanding 2 hitter to beat Portland 10-2. Seattle won their first victory of this new season by defeating Denver 10-5. Munson was credited with the win as he allowed 5 hits and struck out 9 batters. In a continuation of the game between the Tigers and the Red Legs started May 24th, the Red Legs showed their strength by halloping the Tigers 21 to 13 behind the pitching of Sam Cracchiolo. The Red Legs also got a fine pitching performance from Hank Homberger in their game against the Braves, a game in which Hank faced only 30 men and struck out 8. The Indiana, who completed their protested game with the White Sox, showed real power by winning 14 to 4. Mike Johnson, 13 years old, showed he is ready for Babe Ruth competition by winning his game against the Cardinals to a tune of 6 to 4. Babe Ruth League

PARK, CITY, FARMS The Phillies and the Dodgers are staging a torrid race in the National League as the season approaches the half-way mark. Both teams have identical records, six wins and one loss. In the American League the Cleveland Indians have now established a margin over their challengers by winning 3 games this week and also have a 6-1 record. They established their position Sunday in a crucial victory over their chief competitor, the Boston Red Sox. Earlier in the week Cleveland downed the Braves by a score of 7-0. Pisula pitched a no-hitter in the process. Losing was the receiver. The Indians also topped the Yankees in a postponed game by a score of 9-6 with Firth getting credit for the win. The victory over the Red Sox which gave the Indians undisputed leadership in their league was accomplished by a score of 5-4. Pisula pitched and shut the Sox out after giving up all 4 runs in the first inning. The Sox hit him hard at that time, Schmatz and Reed rapping four-baggers and Jerges contributing a double. However, thereafter Pisula held them hitless and unless while his teammates overcame the deficit. Martin's double with the bases loaded drove in three runs in a big third inning. National League action saw the Phillies continue their winning ways to hold onto a share of the league lead. On Memorial Day they met and defeated a tenacious Tiger team by the score of 11-6. Cimini pitched for the victors. Foucher's homer was a big blow. He also had two other hits while Kennedy contributed three more. Hagman tripled for the Phillies while Fram had two extra-base hits for the Tigers. On Friday, the Phillies won a close contest from the Braves by a 5-4 count, scoring the winning run in the 7th inning. Brammer pitched and got the win. Cimini doubled and was out trying for three. He singled in the winning run with the bases loaded in the last inning. The Dodgers won three games during the week to pull up even with the Phillies. On Memorial Day they topped the Yankees 9-0. Yeckley pitched and Trombly received in this victory. The team hit solidly in downing the New York Club. In addition to topping the Giants 10-5 earlier in the week the Dodgers routed the Cards last Saturday. In this latter victory they piled up a 14-1 margin. Hall homered for the Dodgers in the Giants game, a blow that Brady of the Giants matched. Zakem and Hall shared the mound duties for the Dodgers. The Giants picked up their second victory of the season by defeating the Chicago White Sox in extra innings by a score of 19-18. Spreckell was the winning pitcher and the decisive blow was a home run by Brady in the bottom of the 9th with a mate on board to overcome a lead the Sox had acquired in their half of the inning. Luzi also homered for the Giants. Boston won two victories during the week in addition to losing to the Indians. On May 29 the Red Sox topped the Tigers 4-3 in a tight contest. Bache homered in the sixth inning to break a 3-3 tie. Critchfield pitched and hit well enough to win, getting three hits. On Memorial Day Schmatz shut out the Cardinals 4-0, allowing only three hits. He struck out nine including the entire side in the third inning after the bases were loaded with Cards. Critchfield stole home for Boston and Schmatz hit a two-bagger. A late but incomplete report indicates the White Sox defeated the Yankees last Saturday.

Troop 96 Holds Court of Honor

Grosse Pointe Troop 96 ushered in its 25th year of scouting at a spring Court of Honor held Monday night, June 5, in the Grosse Pointe High School Auditorium. Fred Honart, Neighborhood Commissioner for the Greater Detroit Area Boy Scout Council, presented the Troop's 25th consecutive annual charter to Walter Pflaumer, Institutional Representative, at colorful ceremonies participated in by some 50 scouts and members of their families. The Court of Honor, consisting of Tad Walsh, chairman, Dr. Kennard Jones, Robert Kenyon and Jack Mills, awarded the advanced rank of Star Scout to Rick Mills, Lee Nyboer, Jeff Pflaumer and Terry Fflaumer. First Class badges were awarded to Bob Bunn, Bill Chouge, Jeff Cornelius, Steve Dykstra, Bob France, Jim Laird, Jim Pattee, John Schuler and Peter Solenberger. Twenty-two scouts received 39 Merit Badges for a wide range of activities which, according to Walter E. Pattee, Fathers Committee Chairman, assures a continuation of the Troop's front-rank record in Merit Badge achievements among Detroit area scout units. A high point of the evening was the presentation of the Ben R. Marsh cup to Eagle Scout Bob Kenyon. The cup is given annually to the member of the Troop who is adjudged to have made the most outstanding contribution in participation and accomplishments during the year. The presentation was made by Scoutmaster Hal Cornelius and Assistant Scoutmasters James Beyster, Ed Bunn and Robert Choupe. Chairman Pattee announced that the Fathers Committee for the 1961-62 scouting year will be headed by Dr. Kennard Jones, as chairman, and Robert W. Kellogg, Jr., as secretary-treasurer.

Sails and Skis

By Frank McBride

The sailing season got underway this past week in a big way, but it did so with anything but a bang. The Detroit Yacht Club Memorial Day Regatta which officially opened the season was a drifter, the likes which are not normally seen until late in August. The Race Committee started the first four classes and had to call an hour postponement while the boats that had started drifted back and forth across the line.

A slight breeze came up and the fleet of 117 boats managed to beat their way to the first mark. The second leg was a reach, with very fluky air. The boats that stayed offshore on the third leg picked up a breeze and had a beat to the finish line.

The Dean of the Great Lake Skippers, Clare Jacobs, turned in an excellent performance with FALCON II. Displaying the skill of a master he placed first in Cruising "A" and third overall.

Llywd Ecclestone, the youngest skipper with the youngest crew in age but not experience, managed to show the old timers how it was done by piloting his yawl BIKINI across the finish line second both in Cruising "B" and overall.

FLEETWOOD, the mighty looking black yawl owned by Bill Hanson and under charter this season to a syndicate composed of Bayview Comm. Mike Tapert, Bill Miller, Stan Davis and Clay Dettmers, showed much of her old ability by placing first both in Cruising "B" and overall. It was this type of ghosting in light air that brought this black beauty so much fame in Lake Michigan.

Tom Hanson's DAUNTLESS, led the Cruising "C" fleet across the line in a finish between the Pilot Class Sloops that was so close less than one minute elapsed between the first three boats.

Saturday the St. Clair Yacht Club Thames River Regatta had the appearance of a fast race at the start, but it turned into a drifter at the first mark.

HANS WARNEKE'S GREAT LAKES and Hans Hatschek's TAMARA led the Cruising "A" boats on the first leg. Comm. Bob Ford's FANTASY was out in front of the Cruising "B" boats. BIKINI and VASHTI crossed the starting line ahead of the gun and had to return for a restart. The breeze went flat at the first mark and from there on it was anybody's race as the winds turned to whiffs of air from all quarters. BIKINI and TAMARA managed to find their own private shafts of air and left the rest of the fleet behind.

It appeared at first that Hans Hatschek, formerly of Detroit but now of Greensboro, N.C., had brought his big 52 ft. sloop TAMARA to victory in Cruising "A." Final calculations placed Clare Jacobs' FALCON II in first place on corrected time of 1 second over TAMARA. Cruising "B" and overall honors went to BIKINI. Cruising "C" was captured by Tom Hanson's DAUNTLESS II.

This was the second season that Clare Jacobs and Tom Hanson won the first two races in their respective classes.

On Saturday Bayview Yacht Club will sponsor their Annual Spring Regatta. The boats will sail the standard DRYA course with the warning gun scheduled for 10:30.

Sunday the people of Detroit will be treated to a sailing event which has been run only three times in the past ten years, when the Detroit News sponsors the Civic Center Regatta. The race will start and finish in front of the Veterans Memorial Building and will afford everyone an unusual opportunity to watch the boats in action which are normally only white dots on the horizon in Lake St. Clair. The regatta will start at 1. There are two courses, 7 and 9 miles, between the lower end of Belle Isle and the Ambassador Bridge.

School Custodians Make Inspection Tour

As part of their in-service training program, the custodial and maintenance staff of The Grosse Pointe Public School System periodically visits other institutions to learn new methods and ideas. Pictured are 42 boarding a bus last Saturday to visit and inspect the new Ferndale High School, a $7 million structure recently put into operation. Ferndale personal gave them a guided tour and opportunities to ask questions about the operation of the school. The Grosse Pointe employees have visited the Ann Arbor and Birmingham high schools and General Motors Technical Center in recent years for similar reasons. Other in-service training includes workshops and courses in heating and ventilating, housekeeping, pool operation, and many more. Some of these are conducted by teachers from the Michigan Colleges and universities.

47 Get Letters In Spring Sports

Letters in spring sports were awarded to 47 boys last week at Grosse Pointe High School. In track, the following members of the state regional's championship team were honored: Jerry Brennan, Barry Brink, Jim Carney, Charlie Clark, Ross Kogel, Chuck Kuechenmeister, Dave Matthews, Rick Maylock, Brian Mumaw, Bill Penz, Bill Ramsey, Tom Raven, Steve Schreifer, Milt Secon, Gary Spade, Tom Spiewak, Rikk Stocking, George Thomas, and Bill Wernet.

Assistant Coach James Curlett said, "It's the best team we've had in a long time. We must've broken 10 high school records. I wish they were all coming back."

Letter winners of America's favorite sport are: Al Andrews, Paul Boesen, Jack Chown, Larry Critchfield, Lou Ewald, Jeff Karr, Gordon Kiernan, Jim Kolp, Larry Link, Marc Lonesk, Ken MacDonald, Ken Stanley, Tom Thompson, Dave Vennadaal, and Bill Walker.

Coaches Ed Wernet and Ernest Bauer expressed disappointment with the team's record. "Most of the players were seniors who were on the team last year. With this practice behind them, they only needed a little concentration to be the Border Cities League champs," said Coach Wernet. "The team's potential was as good as any of the other teams in the league."

Devil Trackmen Attack Records

Grosse Pointe trackmen won their second straight Border Cities League championship by defeating Highland Park 90½-18½ on their home track Tuesday, May 23.

Records in five events were broken or tied as the Devils coasted to their fifth league win without a loss. George Thomas set a new varsity and track record in the half mile run with a time of 2:01.3.

Steve Schreifer tied both the track record in the 100-yard dash and the varsity record in the 220-yard dash. His time of 10.1 seconds in the 100 tied Jim Reindel's 1951 performance. Bob Ractzel's 1953 record in the 220 was equaled by Schreifer with a time of 22.2 seconds.

The mile relay team (Brian Mumaw, Chuck Kuechenmeister, George Thomas, and Tom Raven) set a new track record of 3:33.4. This broke the track record set earlier in the season by another Devil foursome by 7.7 of a second. Ross Kogel ran the 180-yard low hurdles in 20.2 seconds to tie the track record set last season by Leon Prentiss of Pontiac Central.

The Devils won all 11 individual events, both relays, and took all three places in four events.

GPYC Names Swim Team

Jim Cleary was elected captain of boys and Kathy Cross was elected captain of girls last Saturday, June 3, when Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's aquatic-minded lads and lassies gathered at a noontime wienner roast and business session to organize their 1961 swimming team.

"The day was bright, the outdoor swimming pool was most inviting, and a number of boys and girls could hardly wait for election returns to be announced, they were so eager to get into the pool.

Steering the meeting, always a serious inaugural of the swim season, were GPYC sports committee members including Vice Chairman Howard Shaw, Jack Gehlert, Arthur Rohde, James Barnes, George Brooks, Edward J. Schoenert, Dr. Harold E. Cross, Emmett Paddon, John F. De Hayes, who was delayed by business until quite late for the session, Past Como, William A. Ternes, who is trophy chairman, Swim Coach Bill Reaume, and his new assistant coach, Bob Hillcock.

Nearly 60 boys and girls turned out for the meeting, ranging in age from 8 years and under up to 16 years.

Bob Wood Wins Tennis Crown

Bob Wood, sophomore at St. Lawrence University from Grosse Pointe, won the Atlantic Coast NCAA College Division Tennis Championship at Cortland State, Cortland, New York.

Wood was seeded No. 1 in the two-day festival featuring four of the East's top small college teams.

St. Lawrence, the pre-tourney favorites after winning eight straight matches during the season without a loss, easily defeated Lycoming, Cortland State and Union for the championship.

Wood, his powerful strokes sharp and accurate, played through his opponents with finesse before meeting his own teammate and SLU captain John Gornell for the title. Gornell, a junior No. 2 man on the SLU varsity, and Wood's mate in doubles, won the first set, however, Wood stormed back to win the next two.

The two Saints swept through the doubles competition with little trouble, winning in set straight to gain the crown.

Wood wrenched his back during the singles but did not let the injury conquer his game. After the completion of the singles, he was treated by the tourney medical staff before starting the doubles.

The Michigan stroker won eight straight matches in quick sets during the season. His teamwork with Gornell in regular season doubles was also untouchable.

Bob Wood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wood, 240 Touraine, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan.

GPUS News Notes

May is a busy, speedy month in the life of any school, and so it has been these last few weeks at Grosse Pointe University School.

There was the Father-Daughter Banquet, then G.P.U.S. Day with the crowning of the May queen (Nancy Webber), all sorts of athletic contests (but more were scheduled than played this rainy spring!), College Entrance Examination Boards for 11th graders, the Girls' Athletic Banquet, the Lower School Night of Music, and finally Athletic Awards day for boys and Ring Day for girls.

Accompanying all those events, too, was a very regular and demanding pace of study and preparation for the final examinations in the first week of June. Shortly after that will come success, but even then students will begin to make decisions as to which books they will be tackling to satisfy the requirements for summer reading, with examinations on work covered in the first week of school in the fall.

Two G.P.U.S. students have been named prize winners in this year's National French Contest sponsored by the American Association of the Teachers of French. In the most advanced division, Mary Catherine Bicknell tied for second place and will receive a bronze medal presented by the French government. In the third year division, David Hughes will receive a second prize, a bronze medal also presented by the French government. Both are students of Mrs. Edward T. Lynch, chairman of the French Department.

Six students presented a musical program at G.P.U.S. during help period on May 22, with Jeanne Worley announcing the numbers. They included a "Sonata for Two Flutes," by Boismartier, with Hilda Jongkind and Ford Ballantyne as performers, then "Menuet de l'Arlesienne," by Bizet, with Hilda Jongkind, flutist, accompanied by Sandy Georson at the piano. Dick Konigen played a Bach piano prelude. Jim Jennings, piano, and Ford Ballantyne, flute, played Bach's Sonata in A Minor. Jim Jennings, piano, played Bach's two-part Invention, and John Siegmund played his own composition, "Caprice for Violin."

Friends of G.P.U.S. are asked to note again the dates of this year's Carnival, Friday and Saturday, June 9 and 10, with the midway promising to be more spectacular than ever. Senior Class Day for Upper School students will be Tuesday, June 13, at 9 a.m. Commencement will be held at the school itself for the first time this year and, because of limited space, by invitation. The date will be June 14, at 8 p.m., with proceedings outdoors unless rain forces them into the school auditorium.

Speaker of the evening will be Ronald Beasley, headmaster of Mary Institute, St. Louis, Mo.

Marc Shaye gave an assembly program last week describing his experiences last summer in Sweden while a member of the Experiment in International Living. He illustrated his talk with accompanying slides. Recent chapels have been given by Cathie Bicknell and Olin

Gormley-Lemhagen Vows Exchanged

Papal Blessing Read at Saturday Rites in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church; After Trip to Sea Island, Ga., Couple Will Live in Livonia

Nancy Marie Lemhagen, daughter of the James Victor Lemhagens, of Oxford road, was married Saturday in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church to John Robert Gormley, son of the John Paul Gormleys, of Birmingham. A Papal blessing was read at the rites.

For her wedding the bride wore a cameo ivory peau de soie gown designed with an empire bodice and petal scalloped neckline accented with pearls and iridescent paillettes. A cascade of the jeweled lace formed a circular train.

A crown of orange blossoms caught her ivory illusion veil and she carried her grandmother's prayer book with callilies.

Barbara Lemhagen was her sister's maid of honor in white mousseline de soie over porcelain pink taffeta with a matching Florentine court cap. She carried ivy and miniature pink glamellas with her prayer book.

Dressed like the honor maid were the attendants Ruth Ann Schachern and Marilyn Fiori. Kathleen Hamby, the bride's cousin, was a junior attendant in white organza over pink taffeta.

Edward Gormley was his brother's best man and seating the guests were John Patrick Keenan, of Rochester, N. Y.; Raymond Ebbing, Jerry Holz, of Chicago, and Charles Pardon.

For her daughter's wedding and a breakfast reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club Mrs. Lemhagen wore a petal pink linen sheath with Amazon lilies. Mrs. Gormley was in a cornflower blue suit with a matching hat and cymbidium orchids.

When the newlyweds return from the Cloister in Sea Island, Ga., they will live in Livonia.

If some folks were compelled to pay as they go they would stay.

DAC Sponsors English Dinner

Detroit Athletic Club members are still exclaiming over the wonderful evening last Wednesday, May 31, when they joined for "A Night in Merrie England." The jolly affair was the last in the club's series of International Dinners for this season.

Everyone seemed to find the English atmosphere delightful and the various dishes delicious. There were such delectables as beef and kidney stew, mutton, Dover sole, bubble and squeak, and many others. For those who never had sampled "black velvet," this cocktail combination of stout and champagne was surprising and also enjoyable.

In DAC's second floor corridors leading to dining rooms, wall tables brought reminiscences of the changing of the guard with their two-foot-high statues of red-tuniced, black-fur-hatted grenadiers. On each table, both in corridors and dining room, were bowls of red and white carnations, centered with little British flags. At the main dining room door were life size cut-outs of guardsmen, again striking the vivid red and black notes.

Travel posters of the British Isles decked the walls; travel folders were at each table place.

Song sheets with the complete words of many English songs were at each place too, and the fun of community singing of "A Little Bit of Luck," "London Bridge Is Falling Down" and others inspired contagious fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Thoma, who had flown home from London only days before, were there with the Tim G. Meulenbergs, and it was a sort of reunion after the Thomas' six weeks in Europe. In another foursome were the R. C. Somerville of the Pointe and the Verne Snyders of Dearborn.

With the Thornton Waterfalls were the John Fallings Jr. and the James Lafers, while the Carroll Boutells and the George Frischkorns were with the H. John Hagens, The Robert A. Kuhns and David Roneys were together.

The Kendrick Browns and their party found the English atmosphere quite lovely. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Boales, the Walter F. Rockwells, John D. Benfields, and the Dwight Nelsons. Dr. and Mrs. William P. Chester were guests of Dr. and Mrs. William L. Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Squire entertained the Edwin Randalls and the George Molsters; Dr. and Mrs. James R. Marshall were hosts to their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. James R. Marshall II. Another foursome enjoying dancing to the Trudeau band and the community singing were the Carl A. Noltes and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin P. Williams.

Beachcombers Gala At GPYC June 17

Palm Trees and Barbeque Pits Will Set the Scene for Buffet and Dance; Vocalist Janie Palmer Will Entertain; This Thursday Movie Night

Grosse Pointe Yacht Club will have the ideal summer festivity for members and their guests June 17. It's to be a Beachcombers' Party, staged out-of-doors on the club's spacious lawns bordering the harbor waters.

An exotic scene will feature palm trees arranged on the lawn's walks in a tree-lined boulevard effect. Barbeque frames will be set up outdoors for the barbecuing of spareribs and chicken. Spacious buffet tables will have an array of other delicious foods to make dinner a something-to-remember. Tables set on the lawn will be covered with checked cloths and decked with hurricane lamps.

Entertainment chairman Harford Kerbaw and his committee have many other exciting facets in mind, such as the South Seas note in buffet table decorations — draped fishnets, and exotic leaves and shells.

Dancing to the music of Bert Djerkiss and his six-piece band will be under the stars too, and there'll be entertainment by Vocalist Janie Palmer.

Dress is to be informal; bright-hued paper leis as favors will be in beachcomber tradition; doubtless there'll be a bit of visiting back and forth between lawns and some of the cruisers at their harbor berths.

All that's wanted is a starlit, cloudless night, but in case of inclement conditions, the party will be moved indoors.

Chairman Kerbaw's committee aides include Tom Fox, John Graffius, Don McPhail, James Quello, and Art Stringari.

In the meantime, on this Thursday, June 8, GPYC will present its movie of the week, "Beyond the Andes," immediately after buffet dinner, and Friday, the 9th, is the special "Thrifty Cafe Rive Gauche" in the main dining room, presenting delicious dishes reflecting the French mood.

League Adopts Con-Con Program

At the final session of its biennial state convention at Kellogg Center, East Lansing on May 18th, the League of Women Voters of Michigan adopted a twelve point platform on Constitutional revision.

Over 200 delegates, representing 3600 members in 33 local League through the state, approved a program calling for these constitutional provisions:

1. A bill of rights.
2. Initiative and referendum.
3. A merit system for government personnel.
4. Equal employment opportunity, irrespective of marital status, sex, creed, race or national origin.
5. Fewer elective administrative officials — appointive superintendent of public instruction and highway commissioner.
6. Longer terms for state elective officials—4 year terms for governor, lt. governor, and state senators.
7. An auditor appointed by and responsible to the legislature.
8. Opportunity for periodic constitutional revision.
9. Simple majority vote to call a constitutional convention.
10. Non-partisan election of constitutional delegates.
11. Retention in the main by the legislature of power to levy state taxes and allocate funds. Authority for local units to levy taxes in addition to the property tax. Uniform property assessment throughout the state.
12. Periodic reapportionment of both houses of the legislature clearly enforceable. One house apportioned on a straight population basis without moiety. Districting of cities.

These provisions are included under the broad League program objective that the constitution be a basic framework for state government, free of statutory detail. According to Mrs. Thomas Snelham of Birmingham, newly elected state president, the League stands on constitutional revision are the culmination of over twenty-five years of intensive study of our state government. "The League is a grass roots organization," said Mrs. Snelham, "and the Con-Con program adopted is the result of recommendations from all our state Leagues, after they conducted their own membership censuses."

The Michigan League also adopted a program calling for study and support of those state governmental measures which will allow flexible solutions to metropolitan area problems.

Heading the delegation from Grosse Pointe to the conference was Mrs. Leonard Slowin, president. Other local members participating were: Mrs. H. Ross Hume, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. J. Robert Jessup, Mrs. Douglas Graham, Mrs. Kenneth Eckert, Mrs. Carl J. Fischer Jr., Mrs. Hiles McKee, Mrs. Edward Cox, Mrs. Harlan L. Hagman, Mrs. Tom Baab, Mrs. D. Charles

PLEASANT EATING

Happy talk at mealtime is more important than strict, clean-plate rules. Home economists at Michigan State University say sound eating habits are established gradually by example and with knowledge of good nutrition. Parents are reminded that children will not eat every recommended item every day, especially when they are tired, out-of-sorts or excited.

Center Offering Bridge Lessons

Both beginning and refresher bridge lessons start at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center this week. Beginners class is from 8 to 10 o'clock on Tuesday nights and the refresher course is held at the same time on Thursday nights.

The fee for both beginners and refresher students is $8 for the series of eight two hour weekly lessons.

The bridge sessions are held in the newly lighted library of the Center with three-way ventilation guaranteeing comfort from the lake breezes in the high ceilinged room.

A special rate of $13 for two is given to married couples desiring to enroll. No special age group is sought and it is not necessary to have a foursome or even a partner. Mrs. Kiley will arrange for this.

Expect 18,000 Square Dancers

Among Grosse Pointe square dancers none are busier these days than Grosse Pointe Woods Mayor Ken Koppin and his wife Vivian as they prepare for the Tenth Annual National Square Dance Convention, to be held in Detroit's Cobo Hall on June 29 and 30, and July 1.

As vice-chairmen for the event, they will help to host the nearly 18,000 square dance enthusiasts who are expected to attend the gigantic three-day dance festival. Already more than 12,000 have registered, representing 42 states and five Canadian provinces, as well as Spain, Mexico, and Saudi Arabia!

The 1961 Convention—awarded to Detroit at the Denver Convention in 1959 in competition with five other major cities, including Las Vegas and Miami Beach—represents the results of more than two years of intensive effort by local and state square dancers to bring the National Convention to this area. It is estimated that the Convention will bring a revenue of nearly a million and a half dollars into Metropolitan Detroit.

Although the three day program, running from 10 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. daily, is intended primarily for square dancers, Mayor Koppin pointed out that a limited number of spectator tickets are available for the Cobo Hall Arena each evening, entitling non-dancers to witness and enjoy the colorful, exciting spectacles and exhibitions which will feature the evening programs. Tickets for this part of the program are available through local square dancers, including the Koppins.

Other Grosse Pointe area dancers heading committees for the big convention include Charles and Jessie Gosson, of 591 Lake Shore lane; Bill and Gladys Mitchener, of 1989 Hampten road; and John and Ruth Elling, of 1448 Vernier road.

Given Surprise Birthday Party

When Mrs. Roland A. Bengel of Kenwood court gave a birthday party for her husband at the DAC May 25, she guarded her planning so skillfully that Mr. Bengel was literally shocked with surprise.

The party-giver maneuvered the birthday-celebrating man into DAC's main dining room and he suspected nothing until they reached a long table where their close friends already were seated. He had expected to dine in a foursome with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. House.

It was a wonderful evening of dining and dancing to music by Georges Trudeau and his orchestra and there was a birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. House were among the guests, the others being Dr. and Mrs. J. Wilfred Harrison, Dr. and Mrs. Fred B. Watts, the W. Tom Zurschmiedes, the Frederic B. Besimers, Mrs. Fred H. Robinson, and the Frederick Raeders of Bloomfield Hills.

Austin Mothers Hold Election

Rev. Francis McDonnell, O.S.A., the Moderator of the Club and the following officers and committee chairman will assist Mrs. McCarthy:

Vice-president, Mrs. Roderick McKnight; recording secretary, Mrs. Bruno Balducci; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Leo Marx; treasurer, Mrs. Edward A. Healey.

Committee Chairmen: membership, Mrs. Don F. Berschback; program, Mrs. William H. Edwards; chapel, Mrs. Edwin Secord; publicity, Mrs. William B. Fitzgerald; annual dues, Mrs. James R. Cannon; hospitality, Mrs. Peter Wayne; registration, Mrs. Cyril H. Defever.

Plan family meals for the calorie-watcher, then let others add calories in extra foods. Home economists at Michigan State University recommend this idea rather than depriving overweight members of some rich, favorite food. After-school snacks, for instance, provide additional calories for school youngsters.

Car Thefts

(Continued from Page 10) received a radio message to go to the scene, but when he arrived, the boys were gone. The officer cruised the area and saw three boys walking east on Brys drive, and when they could not account for their presence in the neighborhood, the officer took them into custody.

The boys were taken to the stolen car, and were identified by the resident. The other boys were picked up later.

Involved were four 15-year-olds and a 14-year-old. The latter, questioned by Patrolman Everett Plumb, admitted stealing the Scanlan automobile. The other confessed that they knew the car had been stolen.

The 14-year-old also confessed that he had stolen a car from "some lot," about 9:30 a.m. Sunday, prior to taking Scanlan's vehicle. He said he returned the car to the same lot. It had not been reported stolen, police said.

One 15-year-old told Plumb that he had stolen a 1956 Valiant from somewhere along Mack avenue on May 27. This car had been recovered by Woods authorities the following day and returned to the owner.

The same boy also admitted stealing a bicycle from the St. Joan of Arc School lot in St. Clair Shores. This information was relayed to St. Clair Shores police, who placed a hold order on the boy. The bike had since been returned to the owner.

Farms Police Sgt. Alfred Martin and Patrolman Harold Beupre arrived at the Woods station and took all five boys in custody and took them to the Farms station, where the 14-year-old repeated his confession regarding the Scanlan car, to Det. Sgt. Jack Paisley.

Paisley said he had filed charges against all the boys, the 14-year-old for the theft and the others because they knew the car was stolen.

Cub Pack 481 Has Ceremony

Twelve Cub Scouts from the Cub Pack sponsored by the Kerby School P-T-A "graduated" from Cub Scouting at an impressive Webelos ceremony which highlighted the final regular monthly meeting of the pack at the school on Monday, May 29.

The boys, members of the Webelos Den, were directed in their Cubbing activities during the past year by Den Father and Mother James and Lucy Kasl. Webelos is the last of four stages in Cubbing.

Officiating at the ceremony were Cubmaster Dr. David Barker and Assistant Cub Master Paul Duika, who played the part of Akela, the mythical Indian leader of all Cub Scouts. The Webelos Den consists of the following: Brian Bedwell, Geoffrey Bellows, David Fromm, Bruce J. Kasl, Don F. Maccani, Michael Linse, Don F. Maccani, Mark Oldani, Mark A. Rentenbach, Bradley Smith, Erwin Steiner, III, and Glen Wicke.

Another feature of the 90-minute meeting was the presentation of the Pack Charter by Courtney Rankin, institutional representative of the Pack. He also presented a Boys Life award, the God and Country Award and an advancement award to the Pack.

What Goes On at Your Library

by Jean Taylor

Looking for a new book on your hobby? Here are a few from which you may choose.

For the Hostess With the Mostest
Menus for Entertaining by Juliette Elkon and Elaine Ross provides original ideas which will give the ambitious cook a high culinary rating with "les girls."

Potluck Party Recipes by Thora H. Campbell will appeal to the more casual hostess. This gives 200 suggestions for casseroles, salads and desserts, and — boon to the harassed housewife — many of these can be prepared early and kept in the refrigerator or freezer.

The "Chicago Home Economist in Business" have published Easy-On-The-Cook Book. The recipes, contributed by home economists in food companies, trade associations, restaurants and other professional food organizations, include outdoor dishes and quantity cooking for 50.

With the wide variety of electrical equipment which the modern kitchen boasts, Poppy Cannon has made a real contribution with her Electrical Epicure's Cook Book. A good portion of the text discusses the potentials of blenders, roasters, mixers, slicers, broilers, skillets, etc. (all electric) — what they will and will not do. The balance of the book is recipes which lend themselves to such equipment.

For the Golfer
We recommend Sam Snead on Golf. This is a useful work-book for the indefatigable player by "the greatest natural golfer" in the history of the game.

For the Serious Horseman
William Steinkraus, Captain of the U.S. Olympic Equestrian team, has some excellent advice in his book Riding and Jumping. This is not for the novice.

For the Angler
Dr. James R. Westman has written Why Fish Bite and Why They Don't, a book which gives helpful information on the why, when, how and where of fishing.

For the Able Seaman
The Science of Sailing by William Robinson gives tips for the sail boat racer and is aimed towards eliminating the details that can lose a race. Knowledgeable sailors will find this useful.

The magazine, Sports Illustrated, has published The Book of Small Boat Sailing, also a helpful handbook.

For the Flower Grower
Jean Hersey's Carefree Gardening has practical suggestions which cover many phases of this popular pastime.

With an increasing number of amateur gardeners interested in blue ribbons, Roses: Growing for Exhibiting by Harold W. Allen should prove a useful book. There is excellent advice on planting and cultivating roses!

as well as on the selection with rose shows in mind, transporting and displaying.

For the Shutter Bug
Mirror With a Memory by Charles M. Daugherty is a stimulating little book emphasizing creativeness and artistry in photography.

Photography for Everyone by Fritz Henle stresses pictorial effects and how to achieve them, rather than the technical aspects of photography.

The World of Werner Bischof: a photographer's odyssey with text by Manuel Gasser is an album of dramatic art photographs taken by the late Werner Bischof, who did both free-lance photography and assignments for illustrated magazines, in various parts of the world.

TV VARIETY
People swallow a lot of dope these days — luckily, most of it is not the narcotic variety.

Be Sure Pools Are Kept Safe

Swimming and wading pools should have special attention to make them safe for use by children or adults, Dr. Joseph G. Molner, City-County Health Commissioner, states. Certain important precautions are needed to keep them from becoming accident hazards or to prevent them from becoming a means for spreading infection.

Sanitary regulations, in effect for many years, make it mandatory for public swimming pools in Detroit to have the water treated by controlled filtration and also to have it chlorinated or otherwise properly disinfected. The water in these public pools is kept in satisfactory condition by being recirculated, filtered and chlorinated continuously while in use. Personal cleanliness is required of the users of public pools. Sanitation and operation are checked frequently by the Department of Health.

Dr. Molner says proper care of private swimming pools require measures quite like those practiced at public pools which are carefully engineered, operated and supervised to keep health and accident hazards at a minimum. Family swimming pools should be equipped with a filter and a pump which have enough capacity to recirculate the water every 12 hours. In addition water should be disinfected with chlorine or some other suitable chemical. A fenced-in area or yard is a must for safety around every swimming pool.

Usually it is impractical to provide similar equipment for a wading pool. The best compromise which will reduce the chance of infection is to change the water often enough to keep it clean in appearance and to add chlorine or other disinfectant before and during use.

In hot weather a shower spray with a hose helps to keep children cool and this water is always fresh.

The following hints on the care of the small pools should be followed in order to reduce the chance of accidents or the spread of infection.

- 1. Keep in mind that the person maintaining the pool has a legal liability as well as moral responsibility for its condition and safety.
2. Do not permit too many people in the pool.
3. The use of the pool should be restricted, if possible, to members of one family. If playmates are allowed to share it, make certain that they are in good health.
4. Any pool over two feet deep is a potential drowning hazard and should be maintained only in a completely fenced area.
5. Make sure that water in the pool is clean. Dirt in the water prevents disinfectants from reaching the bacteria to destroy them.
6. Metal and glass objects, soap, foodstuffs, pets, leaves or grass trimmings tend to cause accident hazards or to use up the disinfectant and should be kept out of the pool.
7. Rinsing the feet before entering the pool is a valuable precaution.
8. Avoid submerging the end of the hose in the pool water. Unless hose has approved vacuum breaker, it may contaminate the city water in your house. Prospective pool owners may receive additional information by calling the Detroit or Wayne County Department of Health.

(Continued from Page 1) day by Governor Swainson. The rule which will now remain in effect prohibits State-licensed real estate brokers and salesmen from discriminating against persons because of their race or religion. Swainson said the rule does not alter the right of a person to sell his property to whomever he pleases, but removes State sanction for licensed brokers to use their licenses to discriminate against their fellow citizens.

THE UNITED STATES asked the Organization of American States (OAS) to send a fact-finding team to the Dominican Republic to investigate reports of possible communist interference. Meanwhile U. S. Navy and Marine units were on the alert along the Atlantic seaboard in case American lives were endangered in the internal disturbances of that nation. According to latest reports, the 5,200 Americans in the island were still unharmed.

NO ULTIMATUMS were reported to have taken place during the two-day conversations between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev but some observers said both men appeared glum at the conclusion of the talks which ended in hard controversy. Khrushchev described the conference as a "good beginning" and the two men achieved limited agreement on Laos. The leaders remained in sharp disagreement over all questions concerning Germany and Berlin, on the control of nuclear testing, and on the Khrushchev doctrine of what he regards as just wars of "national liberation."

A STUDY of the secret and unorthodox activities of the Central Intelligence Agency is expected to result in recommendations to President Kennedy that the CIA continue both its intelligence functions and its undercover operations a broad without substantial change. The report has been prepared by General Maxwell D. Taylor, a former Army chief of staff, with the help of Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy. After the failure of the Cuban invasion, many critics had charged that no single agency could collect and evaluate intelligence and conduct secret operations as well.

Tuesday, June 6 GORDON WATSON was acquitted yesterday on charges of murder and conspiracy in the death of Parvin (Bill) Lassiter. The same charges remained standing against the victim's widow, Mrs. Nelle Lassiter, who was removed as a defendant in the trial when she collapsed midway in the hearings. Court officials doubt that Mrs. Lassiter will be tried upon her recovery as even the assistant prosecutor admitted that the case against her "was not as strong" as the one against Watson. Three men are now serving life sentences in Jackson prison for committing the crime in April, 1959.

A LANSING STUDENT at Michigan State University was acclaimed the smartest student in the history of the University. A 14-STORY addition to Detroit's City-County building was proposed yesterday by the agency which operates the building. The present structure was completed in 1955.

When the POINTE was growing up...

When Henry W. Rickel arrived from Germany aboard a sailing schooner in 1850 he had one quarter to his name, and he failed to hold on to that until he docked in New York. He gave his last cent to the ferryman who rowed him from Castle Garden to the dock.

But Henry Rickel was just 17 years of age and had known hardships in Cassel, Germany where he grew up. He was determined to seek his fortune in the mid-west and by stages worked his way to Detroit.

In Erie, Pa., his first stop, he sawed wood for the locomotives, worked on steamboats and farmed. He arrived in Detroit in 1854 and held several unimportant jobs until the first shots of the Civil War were fired.

One of the city's most popular hotel proprietors, a Colonel Mauch, rushed off to the first battle of Bull Run and left Henry in charge of the hotel which he managed with great success while the colonel fought with the Union Army.

After the war he decided to go into the grocery business and again succeeded until he was able to buy the Mueller malt house in 1876. This was the real beginning of his fortune as the Rickel malt house became one of the finest in the mid-west. With beer the stable drink for a nickel a glass at the corner saloon in the nineties, malt was always in demand. Today the Rickel malt house is still located on Adelaide street although the malt master founder died in 1910.

He left a large family to attend the malt business and to the vast real estate holdings he had gathered. In 1859 Henry had married Martha Immel, of Sandusky, O., and the couple had six children who survived them. One daughter, Elsie, married George Osius and came to live in the Pointe before the Shores was formed. Her husband was active in Shores municipal affairs for 25 years. Two other daughters, Anna and Martha, married and moved away from Detroit as did one son, Shiloh, named for the great Civil War battle.

Son Armin remained to run the real estate holdings and today he and his wife, the former Lorone Brass live in Tonnancour place, for many years before this living in Edgemont park.

The Armin Rickels have four daughters, two living in Grosse Pointe. Lorone is married to William Porter, Gloria to Leander - McCormick - Goodhart. Another daughter, Jean, is the wife of Bently Handwork, of Toledo.

Mrs. John R. McKinley was congratulating herself last week on her success as a dog breeder. She has raised ten English setter puppies in her Colonial road home and was ready to sell them. A couple arrived to buy one of the puppies and she became very teary over the idea of losing him, gave the new owners a long list of instructions and quizzed them as to the type of home they would be offering her pet.

When they left with the setter Mr. McKinley asked how much she had charged for the thoroughbred. Agast she realized in her concern for the dog's future she had forgotten to collect the check. She has no idea who the couple were or where they live. She's taking quite a bit of kidding about her abilities as a businesswoman.

Arthur Neff has great talent with spring flowers. Not only does he grow lovely lilacs, tulips and daffodils but he has a deft hand with arrangements. He often gives a bowl of his attractively arranged blooms to his neighbors.

The Vince Butterlys have just returned to the Pointe, and a lovely home in Park lane, after a few years in Gates Mills, O. Delighted to be back, they do miss their renovated castle (a la Jean Kerr) in that suburb.

Mrs. Phelps Newberry wears a stunning white sweater shopping on the hill. The cardigan is embroidered with red flowers and inside each bloom are the initials of her grandchildren.

There's a new spring sport on the Richard school playground which is an intricate game played alone with a tennis ball, and fittingly enough called "Russian hand-ball."

PILFERINGS

It was ladies' day at the businessmen's club and one unfortunate member found himself seated next to a very talkative woman.

"I'm going to look to you for a lot of stimulating conversation," she gushed, "because you businessmen have so much to talk about. By the way, what is your business? I'm sure you must be full of your subject."

Came the reply, "I'm a prune packer."

A young wife who went to visit her mother for a week left several notes about the house for her husband. One in the coffee can reminded him of her love, and another on the TV set asked him to do some errands—but the one he found among his white shirts brought him up short. It read: "Where do you think you're going that you need a white shirt?"

Reflecting the changing times in Castro's Cuba was a Nativity scene displayed during the Christmas season in Havana. While a peasant couple watched over the newborn babe in the manger, Fidel Castro and two of his aides were depicted as the Three Wise Men. Overlooking the scene was Cuba's national hero, Jose Marti, with a star twinkling in his forehead, while a huge banner proclaimed Merry Agarian Reform Christmas and Happy New Year of Education 1961.

Pointer of Interest

PETER MONROE, JUDY TIPTON AND TERRY SEYLER, OF GROSSE-POINTE UNIVERSITY SCHOOL

By Patricia Talbot

With final examinations behind them, Commencement yet to come and the assurance that they have been accepted by the colleges of their choice, this trio, Judy Tipton, Peter Monroe and Terry Seyler will be able to pitch in this Thursday and really get the Grosse Pointe University School Carnival ready to open tomorrow.

These three seniors are the student co-chairmen for this annual fund raising effort at GPUS and quite an effort it is with the proceeds of the Carnival netting a good $20,000 for the scholarship fund.

Organizing and scheduling student volunteers is their big job and they find that most of the unpopulous hours left over will find them assuming this responsibility. All three feel that this is small thanks for the advantages GPUS has given them.

Jensen, a graduate of the University of Toledo in physiology and bio-chemistry, and formerly an industrial hygienist, is in the "Human Factor Engineering Section" of Ford Motor Company. He will discuss insecticides from the standpoint of dangers to human and animal life, and precautions which should be taken in their use.

T. A. DeMaire, vice-president and program chairman of the club, will introduce the speaker. All male gardeners in the area are invited to attend.

Tiptons, of Roosevelt place, believes GPUS developed her self confidence, gave her some identity. Before entering the school in the tenth grade she had been a pupil at a succession of different institutions, her father's job as a symphony flutist demanding several moves.

Judy can play the flute, but prefers the guitar and much prefers the paint brush to either musical instrument. She will major in English and art at the University of Michigan.

Fellow students, Peter and Terry, insist that the tall blond-haired beauty has real talent. This summer Judy will accompany her parents and brother to Aspen, Colo., where she hopes to find a temporary job and also reap the benefits of living in the midst of a summer culture center. She is co-president of the student council, sings in the Glee Club and has quite a flair for the dramatic.

Peter Is Tennis Star

Peter Monroe, son of the C. Allison Monroes, of Ridge road, will be taking his tennis racket to Williams College in the fall. A real tennis star, he won the state class C and D singles championship for the third consecutive year in Kalamazoo on Saturday. Peter has no intention of becoming a "tennis bum," will study political science and engineering.

Good grades are no problem to Peter, who is president of the GPUS cum laude society, and also co-president of the student council. This past spring he played tennis in Florida, is anticipating playing tournaments in the East this summer. A few summers ago he was assistant to the pro, Tobey Hansen, at the Country Club, where he will be burning up the courts after commencement.

Terry to Be Architect

Star defensive football player Terry Seyler, son of the Francis W. Seylers, of Deeplands road, is determined to be an architect because "I like to do things on my own and not be tied down to company executives." Terry has been accepted at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute where he will enter next fall after a summer spent selling bread boards and canoeing with some GPUS classmates.

mates. He likes the rugged life and the camping trip will have great appeal to the football, basketball and baseball player.

This Thursday the trio will be managing their student corps on the GPUS football field, supplying workers for the cook tents and arranging white elephants which they have painstakingly collected for the past few weeks. "Only seniors can count money but most of the upperclassmen will be working in some carnival booth for at least a two hour stint," assure the master minding trio.

Commencement June 14

This extra burden of working coming before graduation doesn't faze them as they considered last fall's United Foundation drive far more difficult. During this week before commencement they will be enjoying their final hours as seniors and attending parties culminating in the Senior Prom June 14 at the Country Club.

Each of them feels that GPUS has given them the best of educations and fitted them to assume their college and community responsibilities. Before they go out eagerly into the world which they welcome they are more than willing to do this last big job for their school. On Friday and Saturday the Grosse Pointe University School Carnival will be going full tilt with rides and booths thronging with customers. Somewhere in the crowd which makes this all possible — parents, alumni, students and teachers, will be Judy, Terry and Peter happily working for the school which is so soon to become their alma mater.

Christian Brothers' Aides Plan Pot Luck on June 14

The Christian Brothers Auxiliary will close their meeting for the summer months on June 14 with a pot luck lunch at the De La Salle High School.

Following the lunch a meeting will be held to attend to all unfinished business.

The Auxiliary will resume its activities on September 24 with a tea to welcome all new Freshmen Mothers.

Farms to Debate Wage Increase

The possibility of including a Blue Cross-Blue Shield rate increase as part of a wage hike for Farms employees, was discussed at the Farms council meeting on Monday, June 5.

The council will debate a general wage increase for full-time employees sometime this month, according to official sources.

At a meeting held on May 15, City Clerk Dawson Nacy informed the council that the Blue Cross-Blue Shield premium rates will be raised as of June 1, from $7.22 a month to $8.61. He asked the council for approval to increase the payment by the city.

The city is paying the premium for its employees only, based on the cost of semi-private Plan "B." The employees pay the balance of the total cost to have their families covered by the hospitalization.

At the May 15 meeting, the council talked of providing similar coverage for the city employees with another company, at a possible savings to the city. The matter was deferred to Monday night's session.

Mayor William Connolly and Councilman Ledyard Mitchell were requested to discuss the matter with insurance agents of their acquaintance, and submit a report and recommendation to the council on June 5.

Mitchell presented the report at Monday's meeting, and recommended that the Farms still retain Blue Cross-Blue Shield because of the benefits received.

It was pointed out by Nacy that the Farms already paid the premium for May and June, and he asked if the city should continue the payment, with the new rate.

This brought up the matter of the proposed wage increase. It was discussed whether the employee should pay the increase, or whether the city should do so, or whether the rate increase should be made part of the wage hike, in the form of a fringe benefit.

It was disclosed that City Manager Sidney DeBoer will prepare and present to the council, proposed wage increases for all of the employees of the city, for discussion when the council meets as a council-as-a-whole sometime this month.

How is Middleburg, Virginia, making out, now that that young couple with their two children have been spending their spare time there for six months? Fitzhugh Turner, publisher of the local paper, finds, this month, that it hasn't made much difference at all—which is exactly what both the Kennedys and the townspeople were hoping would happen.

The Pleasures Of Wodehouse . . . page 12

Pelham Grenville Wodehouse, eighty years of age, grand old man of humorous letters, creator of Jeeves, and author of almost a hundred books that have delighted and enlightened three generations of people all over the world, has, in his own words, slowed down a little. "What do you do for fun in the suburb of Remsenburg, New York?" we asked him. His reply will both charm and amuse you.

Not By Bread Alone . . . page 14

We honor big biceps and small starlets and best-dressed women, but there are very few honors for our teachers, the people who make literate human beings out of our children, says noted attorney Morris Ernst. It's because, he adds, most attempts to tell a teacher that he's appreciated are called "apple-polishing." Mr. Ernst proposed that annual awards be set up in colleges through which a grateful student body can say "Thank you" to outstanding members of the faculty.

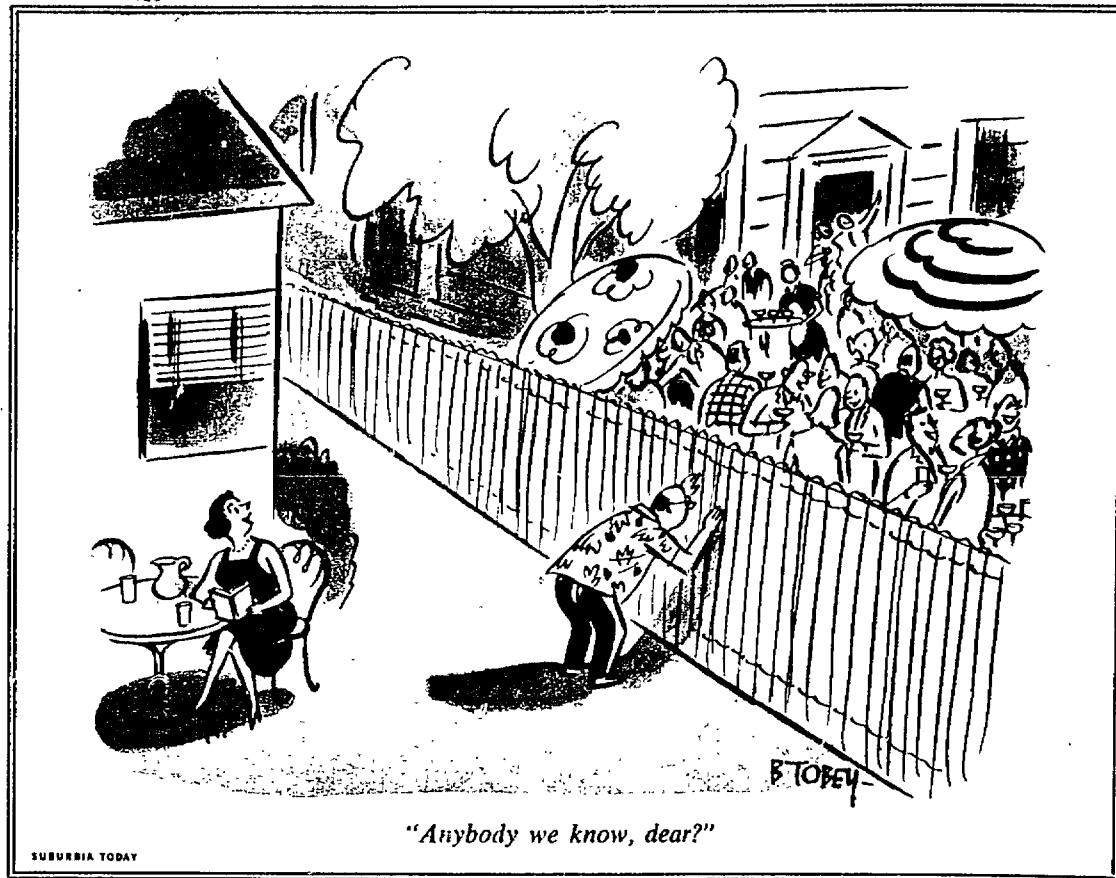

Anchors In The Way . . . page 24

With pleasure-boating the gigantic participation sport that it has become in the past few years, our waterways are becoming almost as jammed and hazardous as our highways are during peak commuting hours. Many areas are waking up to the fact that some regulations are necessary governing licensing, hot-rodding-on-the-waves, and proper policing of the waters. Here is what is being done to see that boating remains both safe and pleasurable.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

THANKS FOR THE TIP, Mrs. Victor Lehner, of Glenview, Illinois, who says that sometimes you're very lucky if you have ants in your plants. One warm day, when Mrs. Lehner was showing off her lush garden to a friend, she noticed that her peonies were overrun with ants. She dashed into the house for the spray gun but was stopped just in time by her friend, who warned that the plants would never bloom if the ants were destroyed. Ants, she explained, eat the waxy covering on the pecny buds. This turned out to be the best advice Mrs. Lehner ever took because now, she tells us, her peonies are the pride of the whole neighborhood. So, if you have peonies and you see the buds covered with ants, leave the hard-working creatures alone. They're doing you a big favor.

An eight-year-old friend named Billy, reports Mrs. Max Kloeris, of Fenton, Missouri, wrote the following essay on geese: "Geese is a low, heavy-set bird which is mostly meat and feathers. His head sits on one end and he sits on the other. Some geese, when they get big, has curls on their tails and is called ganders. Ganders don't have to sit and hatch but just eat and loaf and go in swimming. If I was a geese, I'd rather be a gander."

Mr. E. H. Pope of Irondequoit, New York, is now driving his summer cars. He has put his winter cars in storage. Mr. Pope maintains this fleet, it seems, because he doesn't want to subject the summer cars to the wear of salt spread on the streets during the cold weather. There are six cars in all—three Rolls-Royces and, says Mr. Pope . . . three other cars.

Some librarians can handle anything. For instance, the man who went into the Westport, Connecticut, library with a bagful of snakes, looking for a handbook on their care, was quickly directed to Raymond Ditmars' "The Snake Book," and then briskly shown the door.

When the five-year-old grandson of Mrs. Glenn Nelson's friend was asked to say grace, the Kirkland, Washington, boy thought a moment and then slowly intoned: "God bless the food Mommy cooks and makes us eat."

The man who forecasts the weather for the Maple Heights and Gates Mills and Chagrin Falls, Ohio, area is called Charles Sprinkle.

Mrs. Saul Leabman, of Hyde Park, Massachusetts, has one room in her house called the "Pity Room." That, says Mrs. Leabman, is because it's the room where she keeps "all those things which it is a pity to throw away."

When Judge George T. Martin patiently inquired of the Romulus Township, Michigan, resident why he was weaving back and forth in front of the local beauty shop at 2:45 in the A.M., the militant citizen replied that he and his wife had had an argument about her going to the salon too often. "So," he told the judge, "I went for a few drinks to cool off. Next thing I knew, I was picketing the shop while waiting for her to come out." Fine: $15.00. Sentence: Go home and arbitrate the matter with your wife.

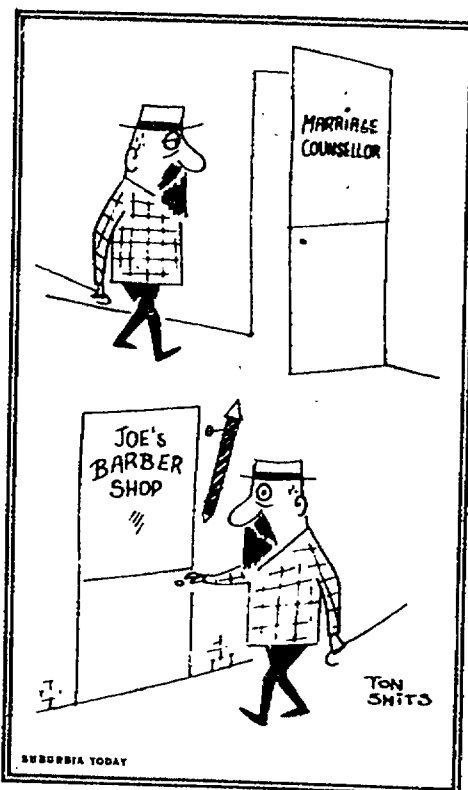

The Motor Corps Service of Long Island Jewish Hospital, in New Hyde Park, New York, is a pretty fancy title for a pretty wonderful group of women who contribute their cars and a lot of their time getting disabled people back and forth for treatment. These chauffeurs travel as much as 30 miles to pick up their charges, take them to the clinic, wait for them, and then bring them home again. The ladies collectively make an average of 60 calls a month, and their helping hand-at-the-wheel is the pride of the hospital's out-patient department.

A little Indian boy at the Cerebral Palsy Institute in Norman, Oklahoma, was overheard protesting to his playmates that he was sick and tired of being the Indian, and couldn't he be the cowboy for a change?

The ladies of the St. Matthews, Kentucky, Episcopal Church believe that charity begins where it is needed. One of their projects is collecting clothing for needy children in Louisville, a few miles from their parish. Since many of the needy live in the center of the city, they have set up a shop (the "clothes closet") in the basement of centrally located St. Luke's Evangelical and Reformed Church, open each Thursday from 10 A.M. till 1:30 P.M., from which clothing, bedding, and blankets are made easily available to nearby families who need them.

A sign at a railroad grade crossing near Wheat Ridge, Colorado, reads: "It takes a train only 14 seconds to pass this crossing—whether your car is on it or not."

Jesse Cornish, a man who believes in following his dream, has left Garden City, Minnesota, and is now in the heart of darkest Africa . . . looking for the place where old elephants go to die. Although most people think this elephants' graveyard is a myth or legend or part of the plot of an old Tarzan movie, Mr. Cornish thinks it's really there, and he has gone to find it. The venture has a practical side, too, since, as Mr. Cornish says, "whoever finds that graveyard can lay claim to perhaps a million tons of ivory—a million tons at $8,000 a ton."

We hope the next time the auxiliary of the Abington, Pennsylvania, Fire Company holds a dinner, they put enough food aside for the volunteers. At the last spread, after a record 1293 roast-beef suppers were served, it was discovered that there wasn't anything left over to feed the hard-working—and hungry—workers.

They now have machines, out in San Diego County, California, that do all the work involved in getting report cards ready and out to the students. The machines do everything but take the exams—they sort the cards, type the student's name and address on four separate cards, record the grade on the report card, put it in an envelope, address it to his parents, and stamp it. Out of 70,000 cards that went out last term, only one mistake was made. A straight-A student got a card that had a string of F's on it. He reported the error immediately—but nobody's heard a word from the failing fellow who got a straight-A report card.

"It looks like my husband isn't going to come home from Irving (Texas)," said the lady to the judge. "How long has he been gone?" asked Judge Hoyet Armstrong. "Forty years," came the plaintive reply. Divorce granted.

IT WAS JUST BEFORE the inauguration that the Kennedys leased their Middleburg estate, "Glen Ora," and Middleburg, when the word was out, went quietly mad. Some of its millionaires—and the neighborhood is reputed to have more millionaires per acre than Wall Street—worried that their quiet life might be interrupted. Because Jacqueline Kennedy is fond of riding, fox hunters worried that tourists might throng the back roads, frightening not only foxes but hounds and horses, ruining the sport. Plain citizens, proud of their town and its reputation for hospitality, worried that lack of overnight accom-

WIDE WORLD

WHY DO SOME FAMILIES SEEM TO GET MORE OUT OF LIFE?

Some families glow with the pure enjoyment of life. Everyone who knows them is warmed by their vitality and friendliness. For such a family, life is good and fun and exciting.

And every day, their lives grow more interesting . . . more productive . . . more meaningful.

Typically, both parents and children take a deep interest in each other and the ever-changing world around them. They work together as a team, sharing interests and opinions to strengthen the bonds of understanding and respect that help build a happy home.

This kind of family usually owns Encyclopaedia Britannica. And their set is continually in use. As in so many lively families, "looking it up in Britannica" has become a familiar habit at homework time, during family discussions, and whenever complete, authoritative information is needed on almost every conceivable topic. They have learned to rely on Britannica for background data on current events, politics, religion and history, for help with hobbies, and for educational, enjoyable reading at any time.

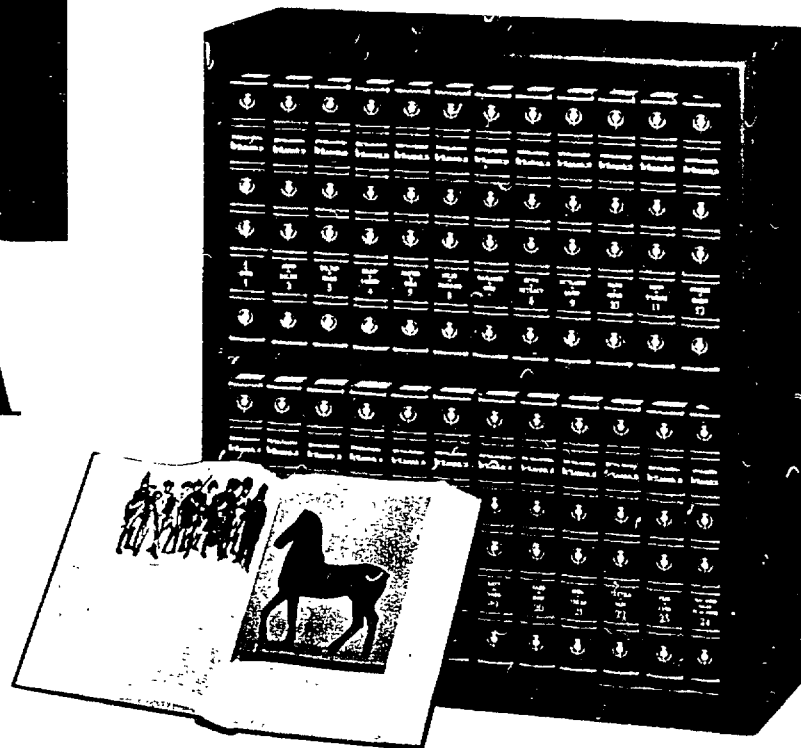

Where you find a family that enjoys life, you'll usually find the Britannica helping parents and children fulfill their desires for knowledge, self-improvement, and a better way of life.

modations might give Middleburg a bad name, and they cocked horrified eyes at reports from Gettysburg, where, it was said, hamburger joints, souvenir stands, and honky-tonk growth mushroomed in the wake of President Eisenhower's arrival.

There was, in sum, quite a flurry. Then helicopters brought the Kennedys from the White House for that first weekend, the press descended in droves, telephone and communications men arrived in squads, and the whole town jumped.

WOULD THIS CONTINUE? Not so, said President Kennedy. And through his press secretary, Pierre Salinger, he laid down the rules. Except for that first weekend, no press conferences at Middleburg, no news breaks from there, no Presidential opinions or decisions announced there. Glen Ora was to be strictly for seclusion and rest.

So far, at least, the rules have been observed. And nothing much has happened to Middleburg. The button Mr. Kennedy may someday have to push is with him at Glen Ora as it is wherever he goes; his Army communications men can put him on the phone to anyone he wants to call, anywhere in the world. Beyond this, the Secret Service men and a few standby reporters and photographers, the arrival of the President of the United States has made little difference thus far to a town long famous for its brilliant hospitality and its horses, and long ago accustomed to visiting celebrities.

President Kennedy's attitude pleases Middleburg people for the most part, and Middleburg's attitude presumably pleases the Kennedys, who want to be just another local family when they're at Glen Ora.

Time

BY P.G. WODEHOUSE

Wooster will be 80 "any moment now"—but it's just as good

I DON'T KNOW HOW it is with others, but as regards myself I find that in the matter of recreation one tends to slow up a little when one reaches the age of eighty, as I shall be doing any moment now. We octogenarians, when we get a bit of leisure, don't go in much for climbing trees or motor racing; we tend to light our pipes and relax over a book. Our pleasures, in other words, are mainly mental. To take an instance at random—me—my idea of a good time is to settle down with a couple of Perry Mason paperbacks or to watch "Love of Life" (a daytime serial which nobody ought to miss) on the television set.

Having been born an Englishman, though now an American and a red-blooded one at that, I used, when I was younger, to play cricket and, until a stiff index finger made me give it up, golf, and in my very early days, when I was a clerk in the London office of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, I did a lot of running. It was impressed on me by the authorities that if I got to the office late three mornings in a month I would forfeit my Christmas bonus, and one of the great sights in the City of London in the years 1901-1902 was me rounding into the straight with my coattails flying and my feet going pitter-pitter pat and just making it across the threshold plasticine and wanted me to finger out a model of the Pentagon, you would be met with a firm nolle prosequi. "Not in the mood," I would say.

"Our pleasures, in other words, are mainly mental."

Probably because they are always writing or thinking of what they are going to write next, few authors have hobbies. Henry James hadn't. Kipling hadn't. And, as far as I know, the literary artists who write "George Loves Mabel" or "Castro Ought To Have His Head Examined" in pencil on the posters in the subway haven't. Somerset Maugham plays bridge, and so do I when I can get a four, but as a rule what an author does in his spare time is sit and think . . . or, at any rate, sit. This is what I do myself, except when I lie at full length.

But even an octogenarian must have exercise, and here I am fortunately situated. In Remsenburg, Long Island, where I have been living since I became officially senile, we enjoy a number of amenities such as fresh air, fresh eggs, and an attractive waterfront on Moriches Bay, but we have not kept up with the march of progress so far as to have letter carriers. Mail has to be fetched from the post office, and I walk there every day to get it, accompanied by Poona, my cat, and Bill, my foxhound, who generally packs up after the first furlong or so. Someone tells me that this is always the way with foxhounds. They have to do so much bustling about in their younger days that when they come to riper years their inclination is just to lie around in the sun. Bill's age, when he came to us as a stray, must have been at least seven, so his days of activity are long behind him, and it is rare for him to stay the course. But Poona and I are made of sterner stuff, and we trudge the two miles there and the two miles back singing a gypsy song.

Also I still do my setting-up exercises before breakfast, as I have done since 1919 without missing a day, though it is an open secret that I now find a difficulty in touching my toes, and I catch—or try to catch—Poona each night. We let her out at about ten p.m. for a breath of air, and once out she hears the call of the wild and decides that being at large is a good thing and ought to be pushed along.

And I have the job of catching her.

When you are eighty you have passed your peak as a cat catcher. There was a time—say between 1904 and 1910—when it would have been child's play for me to outstrip the fleetest cat, but now the joints have stiffened a trifle, and I am less of a force. The spirit is willing, but the flesh doesn't seem to move as it did. The thing usually ends in a bitter "All right, stay out, you cad" from me and a quiet smile from Poona.

And then the reproachful mew outside my bedroom window as the clocks are striking five. And if I leave the fly-screen open so that she can come through the window, she jumps on the bed and bites my toes. There seems no way of beating the game.

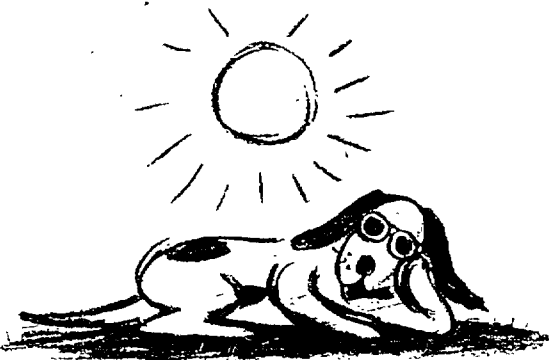

Still, things have brightened a good deal lately owing to Poona having been bitten in the foot by another cat, no doubt in some night-club brawl, and being able to operate only on three legs. One more such episode, and the thing, as I see it, will be in the bag. I may not be the sprinter I once was, but I feel confident of being able to overtake a cat walking on two hind legs.

Meanwhile, the exercise is doing me all the good in the world, for apart from the running there is the falling. Owing to the activities of the hurricanes which enliven life on Long Island many of the trees chez Wodehouse are shored up with wire ropes, and any doctor will tell you there is nothing better for the liver than to trip over a wire rope when going all out after a receding cat and come down like a sack of coals.

It amuses the cat, too.

"The exercise is doing all the good in the world."

"Bill generally packs up after the first furlong."

while thousands cheered. It kept me in fine condition and gave me a rare appetite for the roll and butter and cup of coffee, which were all I could afford for lunch in those days.

I have never had anything in the nature of a hobby. When my day's work is done, I do not breathe a sigh of relief and say "And now for an invigorating bit of fret-sawing," nor do I model things in plasticine. No particular reason. It is just that these hobbies do not appeal to me. If you were to come to me and say, "Hello, there, Wodehouse, sawn any good fret lately?" I would shake my head. And if you brought me a blob of

How About Honors

PHOTOGRAPH BY CARL BAKER

LAST SPRING at my alma mater, Williams College, I started an Educational Experiment (since I started it, I get to put it in capital letters). It's on a modest scale, certainly, but an Educational Experiment all the same. But before I tell you what I did, let me tell you why I did it.

It's beginning to seem that you don't really have to be a clotpoll to win honor in America these days, but it doesn't hurt any. We salute athletes of remarkable agility and starlets of improbable dimensions. Dress well, swing a 40-ounce bat effectively, have more than two children at any one time, marry frequently, drive an automobile very fast—do any of these things in the America of 1961, and riches and acclaim are yours. In New York we have a Miss Subway; all you have to do to be that is ride underground and smile. (We even have a lady tenement owner whom the press has dubbed affectionately, "Queen of the Slumlords.") In short, for a nation that did away with patents of nobility right in its Constitution, we manage to have quite a mixed bag of royalty running around.

But, not to put too fine a point on it, our present nobility is hardly an aristocracy of the intellect. We fix our avid attention on the 42-inch chest and give short shrift to those classroom magicians who can bring a whole five-foot shelf to life. And one day I began to wonder why, if we'll take a young college sophomore with good synapses and call him an all-American, we won't pay any attention to the professor of American literature who might just make a human being of him.

Now beyond any question, the first place we've got to start honoring our teachers is right in their honoraria. We pay our high-school teachers $5,110 on the national average; our college teachers $6,810, and tell them, "Turn my boy into an educated man so he can earn $25,000 a year selling insurance" (or practicing law). Surely a lot of our teacher troubles in this country will disappear when we stop demanding that our best men and women sacrifice earning potentials of thousands of dollars for the privilege of trying to educate our offspring.

Yet teachers, even more than most people, can't live by bread alone. And oddly enough, in our system, it's remarkably difficult to tell a good teacher he's good. We fix his salary on the basis of training and tenure; certainly there's no dollar differential between the competent and the incompetent teacher unless the latter is so abysmally bad as to manage, against all likelihood, to get himself fired.

The student should be the main source of a good teacher's satisfaction. Yet student respect and acclaim, which the good teacher values beyond emeralds, is immensely difficult to express. Should a youngster put a bold face on it and actually tell a prof he likes and admires him, he's liable to the accusation of what we once called "apple-polishing." (Some of my younger friends tell me they've invented a few less sanitary terms since I was in school a half-century back).

For example, I ran across a survey this spring in which almost three quarters of the 3,000 students—age 8-18—who were polled say they prefer tough teachers. Once again our youngsters demonstrate far more good sense than we give them credit for.

Yet I wonder how many of these boys and girls, who talked so freely to a magazine interviewer, ever managed to make their views known to their teachers.

This is roughly the train of thought that led me to go into competition with the Ford Foundation—on a somewhat smaller scale—as an educational pioneer.

RECENTLY I turned over to the student body at Williams three hundred dollars. Each year for three years (subject to extension) they were to select a teacher outstanding for his influence and his inspiration. To him they would give a hundred dollars worth of books of his choice—the only restriction being that the books be outside his own field. I slipped in that proviso simply in the hope of breaking down some of education's compartmentalization.

I'd like to see professors of engineering reading "Dr. Zhivago" and instructors in Elizabethan literature meeting John Maynard Keynes. The conscientious law professor will keep up with the Harvard Law Review whether or not anybody gives him a drawing account on a bookstore; I hoped to inflict Carl Sandburg and Thomas Mann on him.

It hasn't worked quite that way at Williams; the students decided on a modification. They donate the hundred dollars worth of books, in the name of the honored professor, to their college library. No doubt this is an equally worthy plan, although in giving the books directly to the teacher, I had no idea of insulting him with charity—I just wanted him to read the books.

But however it's handled, it seems to me that a teacher-award plan, at a nominal cost, gives students a chance to tell a good professor he's good, to honor him in the coin of his calling, books—and, incidentally, to let the whole academic community in on the important secret that our boys and girls don't want snap courses, that if a teacher hopes to earn respect and admiration in his life's chosen work, he's going to have to teach.

THAT'S WHY I thought other parents and alumni of other colleges and even high schools might be interested in my Educational Experiment. So I wrote to Matthew Nimetz, the young honor student at Williams who helped me set up the award program. How, I asked, are we doing? Here are some of the things he told me:

The award is presented by the school's two highest honor societies, Phi Beta Kappa and Gargoyle, to avoid any hint of a "popularity contest." It is given as "an articulation of student gratitude for the effort and accomplishment of

bringing up baby

Hints collected
by Mrs. Dan Gerber,
Mother of 5

Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue. Some mothers apply this charming wedding custom to baby's layette. Nice sentiment for a new baby.

Many a new mother is overwhelmed by the magnitude of being a mother, and often worries unduly about her ability to handle baby. Best advice I know is to read authoritative articles on baby care... heed your doctor and trust your mother instinct. Be surprised how much it will teach and tell you. It's most reliable.

Watching baby's diet is one of your doctor's (and your) primary concerns. When he gives you the go-ahead on cereal, you'll want to try Gerber Cereal Quads—the variety package containing small-size boxes of Rice Cereal, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and High Protein Cereal. Each one has a bland but distinctive flavor—all four have a smooth-to-the-tongue, easy-to-swallow texture. Most important, they're enriched with blood-building iron, important B-vitamins and bone-building calcium.

Night-feedings simplified. You can take the grope and fumble out of night feedings if you lay out robe, slippers, diaper etc., in advance.

Luminous paint on hall and kitchen light switches will save many a stumble in the dark.

Vitamin viewpoint. Baby's vitamin drops are best put in baby's mouth by dropper. If you put them in his formula and he doesn't finish it, precious drops will be wasted.

Another vitamin viewpoint. Vitamin C, so important for sound gums and body tissues, is usually recommended early in the new baby's diet. Gerber Strained Orange Juice is an excellent source of vitamin C. Made of tree-ripened fruit, specially selected for mildness, it's ever so delicate—the way it should be for a new baby. Other good starting juices: Gerber Apple Juice and Orange-Apple.

Here at Gerber we carefully prepare over 100 cereals, strained and junior foods to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

"Babies are our business...
our only business!"

SOUFFLE MONT BLANC

4 Zesty Italian Dressings no one can buy

... fresh recipes made with this GOOD SEASONS MIX

Good Seasons Italian Dressing. So unusually savory, robust with garlic—flecked with onion and sweet red peppers! Takes just seconds to mix. Easy directions are on the Good Seasons envelope. You combine your favorite oil, Good Seasons envelope. The water, or a vinegar and a little water with the Mix. You can use many substitutes—see the recipes below for suggestions.

Italian Tomato Dressing. When making your Good Seasons dressing, substitute one tablespoon of tomato paste for one tablespoon of the water. Adds a spicy, fragrant taste, typically Italian. Try it in a salad of lettuce and spinach with tomato wedges dipped in grated Parmesan cheese. This is a guest-dazzler.

Italian Wine-Mushroom Dressing. Really great with green salads. Use white or red wine instead of water in the dressing. Empty a drained 3 1/2 oz. can of mushroom stems and pieces into a small bowl and cover with dressing. At salad time, toss the marinated mushrooms, mixed greens, and some more dressing, all together.

Italian Blue Cheese Dressing. Make the Good Seasons dressing, then add 3 tablespoons of crumbled blue cheese. Shake well. A natural blend of flavors. Gives you two favorite dressings in one.

Get the new decorative Good Seasons cruet, with measurements marked, where you buy the 8 Mixes: Italian, Classic, Cheese-Garlic, Onion, Bleu Cheese, Exotic Herbs, Garlic, Old Fashion French.

A TRADITION OF LUXURY

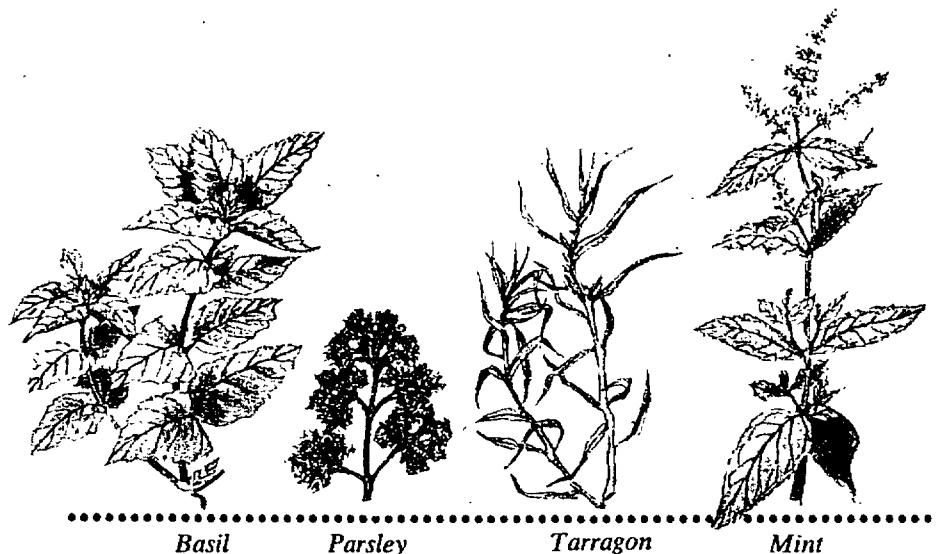

The 7 Magic

Planted in a big-as-a-minute bed, they will

IT TAKES hardly any space at all beside the kitchen door to grow sufficient herbs to supply your table all summer and to provide enough for winter use, too. One herb garden which we saw last summer in Ann Arbor, Michigan, was only three feet by five feet; yet the grower reported that she not only had plenty for fresh use but that by periodic harvesting, drying and/or freezing, she obtained enough for winter seasonings, as well. Many people start herb growing on too large a scale, she feels, but a minimum-sized bed like hers will almost take care of itself. There was even room to tuck in a couple of pots of colorful begonias and gloxinias, not to mention a short row or two of salad lettuces, reseeded as often as harvested.

The seven herbs we suggest here are by no means all you may want to grow—they are offered as a good starter for a basic herb garden, in case you have no favorites of your own.

Few herbs are fussy about soils or location, but as with most plants, they'll do best in full sun in rich, well-drained soils. Mint and tarragon will tolerate a fair amount of shade, and some others will do well in partly shaded spots if they have sun for several hours a day. All may be grown BASIL is a spreading annual 2 feet or more tall. Leaves add a beautiful flavor to tomatoes.

PARSLEY, the "witches' herb," is an important source of vitamins and an addition to all main courses.

TARRAGON is a bushy perennial 1½ to 2 feet in height. Buy plants to start it easily. It's a delight in eggs, fish, meats, poultry, salads, sauces, and soups.

MINT, best known as a julep ingredient, has many other uses. It is superb with lamb, and used fresh, or in mint syrup, it adds piquancy to desserts or ice cream. Grow it in a separate bed or sink a large flue tile in the bed to contain its invasive roots. You may want to collect mints—peppermint, curly mint, spearmint, applemint, orangemint, or American applemint (often called pineapple mint) which has a white-striped leaf.

DILL, cut up fine, is delicious in mayonnaise, and fish and fresh dill were made for each other.

CHIVES pep up appetizers, salads, dressings, eggs, soups, sauces, and cheeses. They may be chopped and frozen successfully.

BORAGE has an interesting cucumber-like flavor, but its heavenly blue star-flowers alone would make it worth growing.

Once you have found how useful and downright wonderful herbs are, you'll never be without a little back-door bed. Early this fall you can pot up your parsley and chives and tarragon and grow them on a sunny window sill for fresh herbs all winter, and you can dry and freeze a plentiful supply of the others—all from the 3 X 5 bed!

ILLUSTRATED BY GRAMBS MILLER

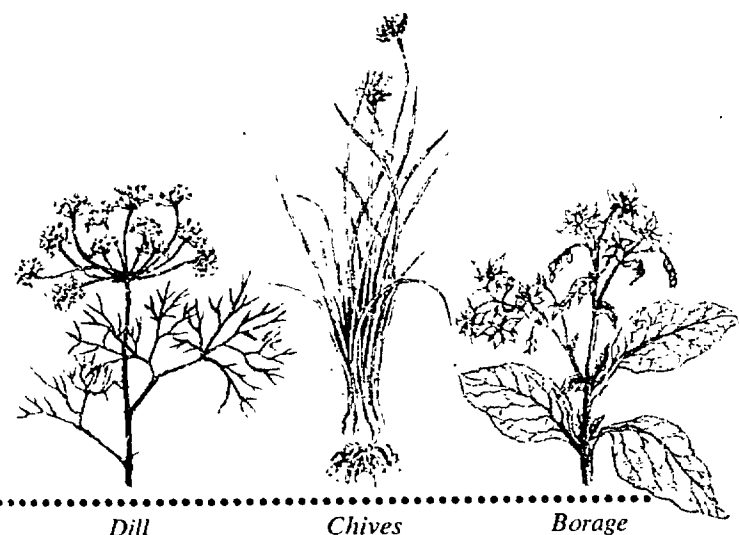

Herbs

BY JOHN BRIMER

bewitch your cooking all summer

from seed, although mints and tarragon are best bought as plants from a grower and set out in early spring to allow roots to mature in the first season. Give tarragon a leaf mulch in winter in the far north to insure its survival. Sow seeds out of doors as soon as the soil is warm enough for other seeds. Soaking parsley seeds in warm water for a day before sowing will hasten germination.

Harvesting herbs is best done while the leaves and tips are young and succulent. For freezing, cut and wash, then follow the usual procedure (blanching, dipping in ice water, draining) and then place in plastic freezer bags and seal. Many cooks make up combinations to use in stews or salad dressings, putting enough for one use in each bag. Then it is a simple matter to open the bag after defrosting and there you are, with just the right amount for your dish. Others prefer to store the herbs in larger quantities, using a few as needed.

■ UNUSUAL SUBURBAN HOME ■

Built on a hillside, the house looks over a man-made pond stocked with bass for occasional quiet fishing.

Above—The owners, and a view of the dining area where two sofas and a bar make a pleasant gathering spot before or after dinner.

A HOUSE FOR GOOD LIVING

Inside and out, it reflects the owners' interests in music, art, and nature

BEFORE GROUND was broken for this unusual house in Gates Mills, Ohio, the architect, Robert Little, spent more than a year consulting with his clients, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griesinger. He walked and ate and talked with them, saw how they liked to live, and studied their hobbies and activities, and then the plans were drawn. Built in a U-shape, the house centers on a large living room where the Griesingers enjoy their considerable art collection and often have informal chamber music concerts. (Mr. Griesinger plays the clarinet in the Cleveland Philharmonic Orchestra.)

On musical evenings the hall and dining area, which look down on the living room, turn into comfortable galleries.

The Griesingers like the feeling of a "country kitchen," so dining room and kitchen are separated only by the center fireplace, which lends warmth for pre-dinner conversation as well as pleasant charcoal-cooking aromas. The dining area looks out through an expanse of large sliding windows to the pond, and from their glass-walled living room they have a wide view of the lovely Chagrin Valley.

In this house, where so much attention is given to individual interests and activities, each child has a room of his own, Mr. Griesinger has an informal study, Mrs. Griesinger has her own sewing area, and all have a screened geodesic-domed gazebo beside the pond for reading and thinking.

"The key to the success of a house," says Robert Little, "is what happens to the people inside."

Tips on WOOD FINISHING

Floors never need rescrapping
When you put the finish in the wood—not just on it—your floors will last a lifetime. Minwax goes deep into the wood... leaves no brittle surface to scratch or mar. You have a choice of Natural Minwax or a wide range of color tones. Maintain with liquid wax and you never have to refinish your floors.

Today's trend is to paneling

Easy-to-use Minwax brings out wood's natural beauty. Simply apply Minwax Wood Finish to the panel after sanding it thoroughly. Then add a light touch of Minwax Finishing Wax. The result is a rich, hand-rubbed look. For authentic Colonial effects, try Cherry, Ipswich or Puritan Pine. Modern effects include Driftwood, Siraw or Spruce Gray.

Unfinished furniture

Minwax imparts a rich, warm glow to unfinished furniture... new shelves and wood trim. Choose wood with uniform grain and sand silk-smooth. Finish as above in your choice of Minwax quick-drying colors.

For over 50 years Minwax Wood Finishes have been the standard of quality with architects, custom builders and antique dealers. Also economical and easy to use are Minwax Finishing Wax, liquid or paste, and that wonderful new repair stick for surface scratches—Blend-Fil.

Boating Must Be SAFE to Be Fun

BY ALFRED BALK

From the Golden Gate to Long Island Sound, boatmen are working to protect the 40,000,000 people who will be on the water this summer

I NEVER REALIZED what was happening on our waterways until I went out on a sunlit lake last summer to introduce my six-year-old daughter Cindy to the gentle art of fishing. We had just anchored our rowboat in a glass-smooth cove a few hundred yards offshore and dropped our lines, when we heard the snort and snarl of speedboats. Twin-engine outboards as powerful as autos roared full throttle among the small fishing boats. Water "hot-rudders," some towing water skiers, whipped the lake's surface so that our little craft rocked wildly. I rowed to shore in frustrated rage, and took Cindy home in tears.

"Does it have to be that way?" she asked later.

Millions have asked the same question. With boating's boom to the top of family participation sports in the last decade—40 million Americans, or nearly one of every five, now belong to families with boats—our lakes and shores as idyllic settings for peaceful fun and relaxation seem lost with the past. Worse, accidents have shot upward: boating now stands ninth nationally as a cause of fatal mishaps. In 1960, on some holidays in some areas the water claimed more victims than highways—Memorial Day weekend in Connecticut, for example, and July Fourth in New York. And the number of boats is expected to double in the next decade.

Yet despite the chaos and congestion on many waterways, this year there seems real hope, not only for safety and sanity but for peaceful, even pleasant, coexistence of all who would enjoy the water. Where laws lack teeth or where official action has lagged, many communities themselves have taken a stand to crack down on waterway killing and maiming.

Take Hennepin County, Minn., where 72 lakes attract hordes of boaters every holiday or weekend. Six years ago, when the boat population was only half what it is today, seven persons were drowned in boating accidents on Lake Minnetonka alone. Long-time resident Dr. A. E. Allen, a boating enthusiast, was appalled. "If something isn't done, and done soon," he said, "nobody will be safe on our lake, residents or visitors." That winter he got in touch with property owners, mayors of 15 lake villages, and Sheriff Ed Ryan. Together they knit a village association and voluntary water patrol.

One official, a village attorney, drafted new water-safety and antinuisance ordinances. Another, a police chief, screened and trained volunteer patrolmen. Each town appropriated $100 for expenses. By summer 30 men, deputized as sheriff's patrolmen and using their own boats, fanned out across the lake in shifts, explaining the laws to newcomers, curbing "hot-rudders" (first with warnings, then arrests), and assisting boatmen, swimmers, or skiers in distress. That was in 1955. Since then only six persons have drowned on the lake—one less than in the single year before the patrol.

Oakland County, Mich., with 427 lakes inside its borders and the entire Detroit metropolitan area within easy driving distance, felt the water-recreation explosion early. Cars were lined up for six blocks near boat-launching sites. In one season the county had 27 drownings.

Cottage-owner associations decided in 1958 that action was overdue and approached Sheriff Frank Irons. "I can't get funds," he said. "But if we can get volunteers, I'll screen out the half-interested, and we'll train the others."

Now Oakland County has one of the nation's finest water patrols.

As in similar groups, from Maricopa County, Ariz., to Hamilton, Mass., the men donate time, money, and the use of their boats. They meet weekly for training in law, boatmanship, safety, and public relations. Oakland businessmen have provided bonding fees, an ambulance, a mobile disaster-unit trailer, two-way radios, even 22 new-model boats and outboard engines at factory cost. And thanks to a recently adopted Michigan law, the state matches funds that counties earmark for boating law enforcement, enriching Irons' waterways budget by $5000 a year.

THE RESULT? In spite of lake traffic so heavy, as one resident says, "you can walk across without getting a foot wet," Oakland, last summer, had no boating fatalities and three-fourths fewer complaints of recklessness or unsafe operation than before. Patrolmen rescued more than a dozen persons in danger of drowning. They issued 1000 warning tickets (one-fourth the number required the first year). Sixty arrests were made—for cases so flagrant that every one was upheld in court.

Wisconsin, with its huge small-boat and tourist population, now takes to the air with planes to enforce safety. When Conservation Department warden-pilots spot an accident or violation, they radio a boat- and trailer-equipped warden on the ground, take photos for evidence, and circle until their colleague arrives. Using loudspeakers, the pilots also warn of dangerous conditions or emphasize safety procedures for boaters below. "Once you've heard that voice from the sky," says Chief Warden George Hadland, "you never forget it."

Such local efforts to control the waterways were given support by a 1958 Federal boating law, the Bonner Act. It called for state or Federal numbering of most craft (so reckless operators for the first time can be identified), nationwide reporting of all accidents, and personal liability for reckless or negligent operation. Four-fifths of our states have implemented this with their own laws. In six you can now be sentenced specifically for waterway homicide and manslaughter. In 24 states, if you're reckless, you're liable even for damages resulting from your craft's wake.

BUT SAFE BOATING requires more than legal protection against recklessness. Half of all boating deaths, statistics show, are due to incompetence. In one state on one holiday, for example, deaths resulted from standing in a fishing boat, towing a water skier without a companion as observer, starting an outboard with the gears engaged, cramming ten persons into an 11-foot boat, and a collision while cruising at night with no one at the wheel. All occurred in good weather and calm water.

Nowhere in the country is a driver's license or even a nautical knowledge test required of pleasure boaters. As of this spring only two states, Nebraska and New York, specifically ruled child boaters off the waters, New York including the requirement of a training course before youngsters ten to 14 can go boating alone. Only one-tenth of all boaters, one authority estimated, ever have taken any approved training.

The U.S. Power Squadrons and U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, however, are increasing their coverage—175,000 boaters took this voluntary training last year. Coast Guard stations in Boston, Chicago, San Francisco, Miami, and elsewhere have telecast a series on good boatmanship. And boating clubs in hundreds of localities have sponsored free schools and dock-side question-answer sessions.

BOATING

river towboat co-sponsored by the Cincinnati Outboard Runabout Assn., helped reduce boating deaths from 14 to none on a stretch of the Ohio River. At Mamaroneck, N.Y., on Long Island Sound, teen-agers under yacht club sponsorship formed a better-boatmanship group. Now Harbor Patrolman Jack Colety, who once considered the youths "trouble with a big 'T,'" says they're among the area's best boaters.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS, Boy and Girl Scouts and similar organizations have begun teaching motorboating in water-safety classes. The National Education Assn. now has a nationwide Outdoor Education Project to assist in introducing such courses. "We've made only a start," says Dr. Julian W. Smith, the project's director. "But many communities are coming to realize a safe-boating course soon will be as vital as driver training."

Even if boating can be made safe, the problem of sheer congestion remains. Millions want to swim, others to fish, still others to sail, cruise or skin-dive. Water skiers alone numbered two million at last count. Meanwhile, millions more prefer to feel the peaceful spell of a river or lake from shore. How can such varying interests be accommodated?

The Chain of Lakes, an area of 11 lakes and the scenic Fox River, 45 miles northwest of Chicago, offers one answer. It long has been a favorite fishing and water playground for millions, but recently as many as 30,000 boats have crowded in on a single weekend. Congestion has been so heavy that water skiers became entangled in fishing lines. Seven years ago a voluntary water patrol, financed by money from an annual benefit dance, was formed. This cut boating fatalities to zero in 1960 but made no dent in the conflict-laden traffic problem.

Last year residents took their dilemma to Fred Parker, State Supervisor of Boat Registration and Safety. "Let's hold an open meeting so everyone can talk it over," Parker suggested. There already were swimming zones on the lakes. At the meeting, Parker suggested that fishermen, also, be moved out of high-speed traffic.

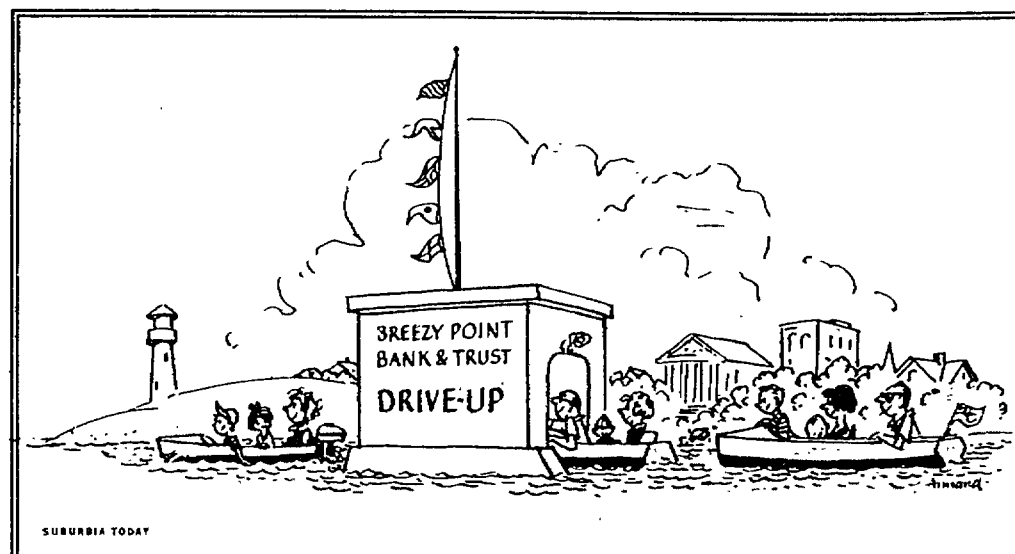

Parker toured the area, exploring every channel, interviewing sportsmen, fish biologists, resort and cottage owners. By Memorial Day he had 16 zones buoyed off for fishing, still on-limits to all boats but only at "no-wake" speeds. Less than five percent of the lakes' total surface, these zones eliminated a long-standing conflict of interests and at the same time, by keeping high-speed craft from churning up underwater growth, they preserve fish feeding grounds for the future.

FOR SIMILAR REASONS, Yellowstone National Park this year has banned powerboats from portions of Yellowstone and Shoshone Lakes. States such as Iowa, Indiana, and Pennsylvania now prohibit motorboating on small lakes or impose such stringent speed and horsepower restrictions that noise and waves from high-speed boating are eliminated. In many localities powerboating is illegal during certain nighttime hours. Others confine activities such as water-skiing and high-horsepower boating to specific periods of the day.

"With 300,000 new boats arriving on the waterways each year," says Parker, "some kind of activity regulation probably must come to every locality."

Water recreation is among the finest the outdoors offers. But, as Joseph Prendergast, executive director of the National Recreation Assn., says: "To be fun it must be safe. It will be—if we all join together to make it so."

For practical pointers on what to do in an emergency on the water, see next page.

LIFE PRESERVERS BY WILBUR CROSS

BOTH the American Red Cross and the U.S. Coast Guard emphasize the point that most accidents on waterways are set up before the boat has left the dock. The three most common reasons for tragedy:

1) OVERCROWDING. No boat at any time should have the gunwales less than six inches above the surface of the water. Last summer, five teen-age boys and two girls crowded into a small outboard, with waves lapping at the gunwales, to cross a narrow section of the Ohio River. The boat swamped. Even though it floated, two boys and a girl were swept to their deaths.

2) IGNORING LIFE PRESERVERS. No nonswimmer should ever embark in a small boat without wearing a life jacket of an approved type. And no one, good swimmer or not, should venture far from shore without one. Two years ago, when three 14-year-old boys were tossed into Lake Huron after their speedboat hit a log and sank, they survived until rescued by tying kapok cushions together, and hanging on.

3) CHANGING POSITIONS NEED-LESSLY. Determine where everyone will sit before casting off from the dock. "One of the chief causes of drowning accidents from rowboats and canoes," warns the Red Cross, "involves exchanging positions by the occupants."

But an emergency can strike even the most careful boatman. Anyone who uses small boats should memorize the simple techniques of self-rescue.

When a boat swamps or capsizes, even though no more than 200 or 300 feet from shore, stick with it. The Coast Guard reports that 90 percent of the people lost trying to swim to shore after an accident could have been saved had they clung to the boat. Last August a 16-foot skiff was swamped with three men and a 14-year-old boy aboard, when struck by a squall off Cape Cod. The three men, all good swimmers, struck out for shore 500 feet away. A short time later, a fishing boat rescued the boy from the water-filled, but still floating, hull. The men, unaware of a dangerous rip tide between the boat and the land, became exhausted and drowned.

A swamped boat (or a capsized one that can be righted) will float indefinitely, buoyant enough to support the heads and shoulders of all occupants above the water. Hold one gunwale a few inches under water, enough so everyone can swim cautiously into the boat. Once inside, all can sit in a semifloating position, legs widespread. And once balanced, you can move the boat towards shore by paddling with the hands. A strong swimmer can help by holding the stern and kicking rhythmically.

If your craft cannot be righted, stick with it anyway. If you are in a spot where help seems unlikely, "swim" the boat towards safety, pausing frequently to hold onto the hull and rest. Fatigue is the greatest enemy in these situations, like the case of the father who lost his eight-year-old son when their rowboat tipped over in Chesapeake Bay. ("Finally my boy just slipped out of my arms and was gone. I couldn't hold him any longer.")

As soon as possible after a capsizing, with all occupants clinging to both sides, collect everything that will serve as makeshift "rope": neckties, belts, handkerchiefs, strips of cloth. When strung over the upturned bottom of the boat, these will be handgrips (each line running from a person on the starboard side to one on the port side). Loops tied around the wrist may save a person even after he has lapsed into unconsciousness.

SUPPOSE the worst happens — you lose the boat and have no life jacket. "Conserve your strength," says the Red Cross, pointing out that you may have a makeshift life preserver handy. When a 56-year-old man was thrown from his sailboat on a Vermont lake, he put his white shirt on backward, buttoned the collar, billowed the wet fabric with air, tucked the tail firmly into his shorts, and floated on his back until he was rescued.

A woman's slip, tied or knotted at the waist, or a silk scarf with the four corners drawn together, will hold enough air to support an adult. Even an oar helps, or a section of floor board. Containers with corks or screw caps (like a one-gallon bottle) can be emptied and wedged into your upper clothing to provide buoyancy. Even a blown-up paper bag will help for ten minutes or so, if held gently.

Above all, don't panic. Remember the Maine farm boy who fell from a freighter in mid-Atlantic some years ago. He had never swum a stroke in his life. But by keeping his head and imitating the paddling motions he had seen his dogs perform, he stayed afloat for two and one half hours—until his ship returned.

the entire faculty"—a bit of phrasing which has my full professional admiration.

"What it did, and I hope will continue to do to a larger degree," Matthew writes, "is make the student leaders, both academic and otherwise, think about the elements of greatness in teaching. Then it has an effect upon the faculty by letting them know what we think the standard of excellence is... it binds the student body closer to the faculty in a responsible sense."

WORTH accomplishing, wouldn't you agree? And all for a few dollars which might be subscribed by well-wishers or even drawn from an existing miscellaneous fund—with no adjustment of the county tax base. It sounds as if my experiment may just be working.

Too, beyond all this, a system of teacher awards might even give rise to a few more salty insights on teaching techniques like this one delivered by Professor Emeritus Richard Newhall when he received the first annual Faculty Book Award at Williams College in May:

"I let the students talk, but I kept the initiative. I didn't leave them completely free to give voice to anything they wanted to say; in my opinion students shouldn't run the class. You know, students don't usually know what they're talking about; one opinion is not as good as another."

To one aging lawyer, in these halcyon times of life-adjustment-and-damn-the-spelling, that paragraph is worth a hundred dollars any day.

You'll feel better about smoking with the taste of Kent!

KENT with the
"Micronite" Filter
REFINES away harsh flavor...
REFINES away hot taste
makes the taste of a cigarette mild!

Kent's famous "Micronite" Filter is made of pure all-vegetable filter fibers by Kent's "Jet-Blooming" process!

ALL THESE FIBERS ARE COMPRESSED INTO THE FILTER!

Kent has become the favorite of millions, with the richest, finest-quality tobaccos and the famous "Micronite" Filter.

An important step in making the "Micronite" Filter is Kent's "Jet-Blooming" Process. Specially designed machines separate the soft fluffy material by tremendous air-pressure . . . then compress the fibers into the familiar filter shape, in an intricate network of tiny channels which refine smoking flavor.

The result is the famous "Micronite" Filter—with a free and easy draw that brings through the true tobacco taste from Kent's blend of the world's finest tobaccos. That's why you'll feel better about smoking, with the taste of Kent.
