Fish Rodeo

(Continued from Page 1) youngsters put on their feed-bags and devoured hot-dogs and pop. In fact all of the refreshments were cleaned out completely, marking another first in Rodeo history. Having eaten everything in sight the kids turned to the prize table and cleaned that off. Thirty seconds after the last youngster had collected her prize the rains cut loose and everyone scattered for home, the long morning at an end.

As usual in these community events, their success is dependent upon the generous donation of time and goodies by individuals and businesses. In addition all of the service clubs were donors as well as many private friends.

Special thanks are due Ilene Putnam, Harold Doubles, Babe Parsons, Lloyd Jones, Lon Backman, Mr. and Mrs. Verhaeghe, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lineman, Jesse Lowther, Harold Messacer, Tony Delsner, Joe Miller, and Dick Elsworth who helped make the Rodeo run smoothly. American Legion Post 303 and its women's Auxiliary aided by Bob Sharpe served the refreshments and a good time was had by all.

Dog School

The purpose of the training is to develop your dog into an easily controlled companion. Only those willing to follow instructions and practice at least 15 minutes every day, should enroll in the class. The owner's meeting will demonstrate what can be accomplished with hard work and enthusiasm on the part of the owner. The training technique of making the dog want to work for his owner, rather than force training, is used.

Conditions of acceptance in the classes are: (1) The dog must be at least six months old; (2) The class is primarily for adults; however, boys and girls, 12 years or older, may be accepted; (3) Parents of junior handlers must take an active interest in their efforts and should accompany them; (4) All class members must be residents of the Grosse Pointe School District; (5) The head instructor reserves the right to decide if a student is capable of handling his dog.

Applications for enrollment may be made by calling the Department of Community Services, Tuxedo 5-3808 or Tuxedo 5-0271. Due to the popularity of these classes, owners will be assigned for training in the order in which they apply.

Public Schools Opened

Addition Not Finished Returning pupils found everything ship-shape and ready for another year of study when classes resumed this morning. Only the six-room addition at Ferry School was not ready for use. Its completion is anticipated early this fall. Older buildings and equipment gleamed with new paint, varnish and wax, however, and the grounds and playgrounds gave evidence of the fine care and improvement given them during the summer maintenance program.

Several new plans of instruction are being tried as a part of the constant effort to increase and improve the opportunities for students. One of the more interesting of these is the use of programmed instructional materials, sometimes called teaching machines, in two of the beginning algebra sections at the high school. Teachers are watching closely to see if the extremely small steps in the highly organized written program will prove more helpful when undertaken by each pupil moving at his own learning pace than in the traditional approach that has been used in classroom groups for many years.

More Opportunities

Additional opportunities have also been developed for many of the students in honors classes. In physics the students will be using a special textbook that was especially written for high school honors classes by the renowned California physicist, Prof. Harvey White. Many grown-ups recognize him for his work on the Continental classroom program which was available on local TV a few years ago.

Honors students in high school geometry are also adding some of the newer mathematical materials which have only recently been made available to the textbook publishers. Most of the new material being used in Grosse Pointe was developed by Prof. Charles Brumfiel of the University of Michigan. Some similar materials will also be used in the accelerated sections.

Golf Ball Chaser Struck By Car

A 14-year-old Woods boy escaped injury on September 4 when he darted into the traffic lane on Vernier road to chase a golf ball which had been hit over the fence of the Lochmoor Country Club and out into the street.

Woods Police said William Schohl, of 1490 Anita avenue, was struck by a slow moving car driven by Allie Neal Blalock 14107 Rochell, Detroit, traveling eastward. Schohl suffered bruises on his left forearm, but refused medical attention, Police said.

No tickets were issued and the boy was taken home to his parents.

AUTO RAMS GATE

An automobile belonging to Michael Lodney, 1581 Sunningdale, rolled down the drive and into the gate of Lochmoor Country Club on August 30. Damages of $25 resulted.

Plan Discussion Of Great Books

The 5th-year Great Books discussion group will meet for the first fall discussion on September 20 in the Friends' Room of the Central Library.

The group meets twice monthly and welcomes new participants. Leader is Mrs. Henry C. Maskey.

The first night's readings will be from plays by Euripides.

RUNS INTO TREE

Michael S. David, of 1419 Grayton, was ticketed by City police for reckless driving on September 5 when he ran into a tree at Rivard and Chalfonte.

Escaped Criminal Shot

Watts escaped August 23 from Buncomb Prison, Raleigh, N.C., where he was serving seven to ten years for another breaking and entering.

Watts has admitted to I. Arnold Hough that he has served time in state prisons on three separate occasions. He has been charged with burglary, auto theft, felonious assault, and attempted rape.

Praise Patrolman Police Chief Arthur Louwers said, "The police action of Patr. Bobby McAllister in deserving of commendation. His keen observance of the description and information supplied by the initial responding officers, Patr. Siusser and Conover, and his subsequent arresting action involving a cagey, elusive criminal, is a tribute to Patr. McAllister's ability and courage."

FLOWER URNS STOLEN

Mrs. John Webster, 47 Pine court, called Farms police on Monday, August 28, and said that a pair of antique iron flower urns, cast iron painted black approximately 12-inches high, were stolen from her front porch. The theft occurred sometime between 7 p.m. the evening before and 7 a.m. that day. The urns were evaluated at $30

Lunch Time . . . business as usual

The continuing fast pace of the business world today makes it difficult for many businessmen to call their brokers during normal business hours, so they frequently must wait until the lunch hour to call. We at Manley, Bennett are aware of this fact, and that's why we always have a staff of competent personnel on duty during the normal luncheon period.

As you know, the exchanges continue to operate during the lunch hour, and often important news develops during this period. It has always been our goal to give all investors the most up-to-date information and most convenient personal service . . . so at Manley, Bennett the lunch hour means business as usual.

Safe Boating Class Formed

U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 12-12 is presenting a ten week course in basic seamanship and safe boating at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center beginning Tuesday, September 12, when enrollment will take place at 7 p.m. Weekly Tuesday classes thereafter will begin at 7:30. The course ends November 14, when all who successfully pass the examination, will be given certificates from the United States Coast Guard. From nautical knots and boat nomenclature to proper power boat operation including maneuvering, docking and safety each lesson will be taught by a qualified seaman. There is no charge for the instructions, but there is a materials fee of $5.00 for adults or $2.50 for minors. All classes will take place in the War Memorial with groups small enough for everyone to receive attention and learn. The course is co-sponsored by the Memorial Association as a community service.

Reckless Driver To Face Court

Farms police arrested a Pointe youth for going through a red light early Friday morning, September 1. He will also have to answer to charges of reckless driving when he appears in court on Wednesday, September 13.

At 2 a.m. Friday Farms officers noticed a '58 Chevy going west on Grosse Pointe boulevard at a high rate of speed, through the light at Fisher and north on Lincoln. The police were about to chase the speeding car but were stopped first by a 1959 Ford driven by Charles Lafond, 18, of 407 University. Passengers in his car were Ken McDonald, 18, of 873 Lakeland court, and Russell Van Houten, of 27 Harbor Hill.

They stated that the driver of the Chevy, John H. Webster, 20, of 47 Pine court, had cut them off the road and yelled at them. At one time Webster came head on at them.

Police picked up Webster at home. He stated that he had gone through the light and was ticketed and ordered to appear in court on September 13.

The three boys in the second car signed a reckless driving complaint and will testify against Webster at the court date in September.

Richard School Windows Broken

Young boys broke several windows in Richard School in what appeared to be an attempted breaking and entering last week.

On Monday, August 28, Farms police were summoned to the school. There they were told that two young boys had attempted to enter the school through the gymnasium windows which they had access to by climbing onto the roof of the power house.

Lucien G. Jacobs, of 186 Muir, who was parked in his car on McMillan near the school drive, showed officers where the youths had broken two 20-inch by 12-inch window panes and removed the glass. He described the boys as 14 or 15 years old and wearing dark clothes.

The next day two juveniles admitted to breaking the windows. They described their actions and claimed that they had absolutely no intention of breaking into the building. Both said they saw that the putty was loose and wondered if they could remove the glass in one piece.

Their parents paid for the $15 damage done.

Pleasure mad people are mad because they find no pleasure.

Introducing Pointe's Newest Teachers

PRINCIPAL JOHN HAMMEL of Poupard School (right) and his assistant, JACK McMAHON, welcomed three new members to their staff this week. From the left are SALLY HOPKINS, who will teach French at Poupard and Monteith; CHARLES STEWART, 6th grade teacher; and MARLYN ZDRODOWSKI, 5th grade instructor. Among the many items of information to be shared with newcomers, Principal Hammel put stress upon some of the new text books and resource materials he had available for their use and help.

Candidate Finds Pals Don't Vote

Rockwell T. Gust, Jr., Republican Con Con candidate, announced Tuesday that volunteer workers were compiling lists of non-voters in Grosse Pointe.

"We have finished tabulating the names for the Farms, Park and Shores," Gust said. "I was astonished to discover how many personal friends and supposedly public-spirited citizens have neglected to vote regularly."

Gust explained that his campaign committee has been examining precinct records in the five Grosse Pointes. "We consider that a voter who goes to the polls in 3 out of 4 elections can be counted upon to vote in the special Constitutional Convention election September 12."

Rocky Gust and his running mate, William E. Cudlip, appealed by mail to the 10,000 "regular voters" of Grosse Pointe before the July primary. "Although encouraged by the overwhelming primary results," Gust said, "I was disheartened to read the names of usual voters who had not bothered in July. I trust that they will re-instate themselves September 12."

Interested citizens who wish to read the records compiled by Gust's committee may see them at Republican Headquarters.

To Honor Wolf At State Fair

Irvin G. Wolf, 1012 N. Brys, Grosse Pointe Woods, and principal of Denby High School since 1933, will be honored for outstanding contributions in the field of Education at the Teacher's Day Luncheon on Saturday, September 9, at the 112th annual Michigan State Fair.

Mr. Wolf is one of more than 50 teachers, educators and school administrators who will receive plaques at the luncheon which is the highspot of the annual day for teachers at the Fair.

All teachers will be admitted free upon presentation of proper credentials, reports State Fair General Manager Walter Goodman.

Mr. Wolf, a native of Detroit, received a bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University in 1928 and holds a Master's degree from Wayne State University.

He started his teaching career at Eastern High School in 1928 and then transferred to Denby High School in 1933.

CAR FIRE DOUSED

A fire in the back seat of a car driven by Lawrence Morton Calcaterra, 66 Fairford road, was extinguished in minutes by Shores Police on August 30. Police said Calcaterra came into the station to inform officers of the blaze and it was put out with a water can off the Shores service truck.

Pointe Theater Meets Sept. 11

The Grosse Pointe Community Theater announces the date of its first meeting, September 11, Monday, in the Library of the War Memorial and its schedule of plays for the 1961-1962 season.

Following a short business meeting, headed by Dick Bauhof of Rivard boulevard, refreshments will be served and then old time silent movies, featuring Buster Keaton and Charlie Chaplin will be run, accompanied by appropriate music and an added surprise. Then excerpts from the season's plays will give the audience a taste of the good fare in store.

Starting the season this early November will be "Mister Roberts," by Thomas Heffen and Joshua Logan, to be directed by George Wilson of Lancaster avenue. Casting for "Mr. Roberts" will start Sunday, September 10, at 2:30, rooms "D" and "E" in the War Memorial, and also September 13, Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. and the following Sunday, the 17th, again at 2:30, in the same rooms. Nineteen men and one woman of production are early February and the director will be Dean Erskine of St. Clair Shores, who has won two Grosse Pointe Community Theater Best Director awards.

Third offering will be that hilarious favorite "Arsenic and Old Lace," by Joseph Kesselring, scheduled for early April, with Mrs. Roger Shepard of Van Antwerp avenue directing.

She also won two second prizes in buffet scarfs cutwork and lunch cloth embroidery.

Sally W. Anderson of 130 Kenwood road, won first prize in Crewel embroidery.

Beatrice Becker of 1201 Nottingham road won fourth prize in quilts-patchwork.

Louise Edwards of 866 Nottingham road won fourth prize in socks-christmas stocking.

Flower Fixing Class Offered

Lecturer and demonstrator, Mrs. Richard T. Gerathy will present a Fall flower arranging class at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, Thursdays, beginning September 21st, from 1 to 3:30 in the afternoons. The 10 two and a half hour lessons are limited to a group no larger than 15.

This is a wonderful time of year to study flower arranging as the late summer annuals are still in bloom and the chrysanthemum season is just around the corner.

In addition to floral arrangements, Mrs. Gerathy will teach and demonstrate dry arrangements, as well as wall and hanging arrangements. The latter part of the course will be devoted to the making of unique and unusual Christmas decorations which will be ready in fine time for the holiday season.

Mrs. Gerathy is an accredited flower judge, has studied her art at Wayne and Michigan State and is in demand as a lecturer and demonstrator of flower arrangements all over the area. Particularly, her ideas are those that the average homeowner can learn to execute and do not involve costly materials.

To enroll, call the Center, TU 1-7511.

Women's Club Slates Events

The Grosse Pointe Woman's Club under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Marvin Price, is ready to resume activities for the 1961-62 season. Meetings are held the third Wednesday of each month at the War Memorial Center.

Mrs. Robert Whiteley, vice-president and program chairman, announces the following programs for the monthly meetings:

At the opening meeting September 20, Mrs. T. W. Huebenthal will present Brigadier General S.L.A. Marshall who will talk on "Any Hope for the Congo?" General Marshall has recently returned from a tour of the Congo.

October 4 is the date of the annual fund raising bridge party to be held at Hudson's Eastland Auditorium. Mrs. Arthur Wible is chairman of this affair; Mrs. Bernard Chick is in charge of tickets.

At the October meeting Mrs. Kennard Jones will introduce the Honorable Norman Dencker, Consul of the Federated Republic of Germany, who will discuss "The Political and Economic State of West Germany."

An evening meeting with husbands will be held on November 15, at 8:00 p.m. Mrs. J. W. Harrison will introduce Mr. Lee Smits who will describe a "Police Beat."

To put the group in the Christmas Spirit on December 15, Mrs. John G. Scales will present the Grosse Pointe High School Choraleers.

On January 17, "Mother's Album will be the subject of a talk by Mr. Charles Park. Mrs. Edward V. Luss will introduce Mr. Park.

Mrs. Edward D. Trowbridge, chairman for the February 21 meeting, will introduce Mrs. Henry Zdrodowski and Mrs. George C. Wedge who will show movies and describe the activities of the Michigan League for Crippled Children.

Mrs. Warren C. Dilloway will present the Salem Lutheran Memorial Bell Choir on March 21, for the annual President's Day Program. This is a special affair honoring the past presidents of the Club and visiting presidents of other Federated Clubs in the area.

April 18 Mr. Frederic S. Piggins will give "A Lawyer's View of the trial of Christ." Mrs. William Nixon will introduce Mr. Piggins.

"New Books to Read" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Arnold Goldsmith on May 16. Mrs. J. H. Perry is chairman of this meeting.

The annual luncheon and card party bringing the year's activities to a close, is scheduled for June 6, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, Mrs. Arthur Wible will be chairman of this event.

The Grosse Pointe Woman's Club has many and varied activities. The Bridge Group under the leadership of Mrs. John Crane meets the first Wednesday of the month; the Garden Group with Mrs. J. E. Hallenbeck, Service Chairman, supervises the making of dolls for the Gray Ladies Service of the Red Cross. This group meets twice a month. Mrs. Victor Craig is in charge of the Blood Bank Unit.

The officers of the Club are: Mrs. Marvin Price, president; Mrs. Robert Whiteley, first vice-president; Mrs. Fred W. Adams, second vice-president; Mrs. Pierre Palmentier, recording secretary; Mrs. Edward Piusula, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clifford Cardwell, treasurer.

Thieves Known In Oil Thefts

Park Police expect to apprehend persons responsible for two thefts of oil from the Gulf Gas Station, 15400 East Jefferson, according to Chief Arthur E. Louwers.

Chief Louwers said the persons responsible for the thefts are known by Park Police and arrests will be made this week.

The complaints were made by Robert McLellan, owner of the station, on two separate occasions. The first was on August 12 when 44 quarts of oil were stolen, and the second was on August 29, reporting the larceny of 25 quarts of oil.

Russell Barnes to Give Foreign Policy Course

Russell Barnes, Foreign News Analyst for the Detroit News, will be conducting a six-week course in "Current Developments in U.S. Foreign Policy" at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Wednesday evenings, beginning September 20 from 8 to 10 o'clock. The course has been set for the evening so that men as well as women may attend.

This unusual opportunity to keep abreast of the current world crisis with one of the nation's true experts is made possible through the cooperation of the Adult Division of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University, The Community Services of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education and the Memorial Association.

The cost for this series of lecture-discussions is a nominal

BE SURE TO Vote Tuesday, September 12th
 ... for the Election of Delegates to the Constitutional Convention
 Just prior to elections it has been an historic practice, albeit a somewhat tragic one, for public officials to urge the citizenry to exercise their civic duty by casting their ballots at the polls.
 Why this "prodding of the public" seems to be necessary is academically a mystery but, factually speaking, it probably will always have to be done.
 On Tuesday, September 12th, a singularly significant election will be in held in our State.
 You will have the opportunity to vote for your representatives to Michigan's Constitutional Convention which will convene in early October. It is the first such convention since 1908.
 The deliberations and actions of this body will affect you and your children for many years to come.
 Accept, if you will, this plea from us for you to vote on Tuesday, September 12th, for the Constitutional Convention candidates of your choice.

Pointe Branch of AAUW Doesn't Loaf in Summer

Summer time may be the traditionally lazy time but not so this year for a goodly number of Grosse Pointe branch of the American Association of University Women. All the 276 members were mobilized in the campaign to promote the candidacy of Margaret Hahn for Con-Con until election day, July 25.

Mrs. Kenneth Cook, recording secretary, sent out cards from Colorado. Another member with small children, when asked to address cards, said she was leaving on her vacation that day but would be glad to address them en route in the car. Mrs. Alfred Taylor, AAUW corresponding secretary and her husband served as timers and area meeting chairmen at the big Con-Con rally at the high school.

Mrs. Raymond Wertz who originally proposed drafting Margaret as the AAUW candidate was the busy campaign manager, obtaining endorsers and arranging the "coffee" given by members and friends of AAUW. She also took time out to appear on a ten-minute radio interview on the Lee Murray program to tell of the Grosse Pointe branch of AAUW program.

Mrs. Frank Thompson sent out a letter to all members galvanizing every member into last minute action. Others who worked long and hard on the campaign were Mrs. Edward Gehrig, Mrs. Wallace Temple, Mrs. Alfred Conkey, Mrs. Harold W. Merrill, Mrs. Donald Irwin, Mrs. Allan Neef, Mrs. Edgar R. Cooper, Mrs. James Graves, Mrs. Daniel L. Wells, campaign publicity chairman.

Special tribute should be paid to the members for holding large, successful coffees in their homes inviting neighbors and friends to hear the candidate speak. These were Mrs. William Innes, Mrs. Richard Mertz, Miss Harriet Helms, Mrs. Edward Gehrig, Mrs. Edward R. Bunn, Mrs. Urban Borech, Mrs. Alfred E. Taylor, Mrs. Ivan Kirilin in conjunction with Mrs. F. Parker Colby, Mrs. John R. Pear, Mrs. Allan Neef, Mrs. James Graves, Mrs. Ralph A. Kimble, Mrs. Celia Turrell with Miss Louise Rau, Mrs. M. L. Vagens with Mrs. Alfred Conkey.

The candidate herself was a veritable dynamo who met every engagement in the busy schedule with serenity and spoke with conviction and eloquence.

The only election post-mortem that AAUW members indulged in was unanimous agreement that for its first essay in the political arena to come in second in a field of nine is commendable. This showed that seasoned men politicians should never underestimate the power of a woman, with a body of educated women behind her.

As Dorothy Bersey, program chairman, wrote from Port Austin where she was living on her moored boat, "I eagerly read the election results and when I saw Margaret's name in second place I said 'not bad for the first attempt.' It was a great effort."

Gershwin may have believed his own words when he wrote "Summer time and livin' is easy," but this doesn't ring true the lives of some AAUW members. For the past eight summers Mrs. Watson Ford, retiring international relations chairman, has been Michigan's chief hostess for foreign students on scholarships who travel around the United States usually before returning to their native countries. The Quaker organization, SERVAS, an organization for world travel exchange enlisted her in 1953 and she has done such an outstanding job on their behalf that each year she is asked to continue.

Other AAUW members who have responded to Julie's request for housing and feeding the guests during their Detroit visits have been Mrs. Wallace Temple, Mrs. Ben Beyer, Mrs. Hubert Goebel, and Mrs. Katherine Kerr.

Mrs. Ford continues her painting classes under Emil Weddige at the War Memorial Center where she is also currently serving on the Board of Directors.

Mrs. Ford continues her painting classes under Emil Weddige at the War Memorial Center. Her landscapes and still life in the June exhibition won acclaim. She is also currently serving on the Board of Directors of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Another AAUW summer worker was Mrs. Daniel W. Hembel, who has been helping to write and direct Air Borne T. V. lesson programs for the Detroit Board of Education. Winters she teaches German at the Edmonton school but this summer she was known officially as "assistant to the on-camera teacher" when the programs were being taped for the school year.

Mrs. Hembel's name in the AAUW roster does not carry after it lightly the three degrees of A.B., B.S., and M.A. She has been past president of the Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and T. V. Council, women's church group director, and she and her husband have for years cooperated in Boy Scout leadership.

The most recent high honor bestowed on Mrs. John R. Pear was her election as a Fellow in the International Institute of Arts and Letters. This is world recognition of her tireless efforts on behalf of the Arts, particularly painting. It is not generally known that Lillian's M. A. thesis for the Univ. of Michigan is on file in the leading art galleries and universities in the U. S., England, and the Continent. The title is "Photography and French Impressionism in the 19th Century."

Mrs. Frederick J. Schumann will continue next year as president of the board of directors of the large Metropolitan Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Edgar Hahn will also be on this board.

Mrs. Donald Worley, long identified with Theatre Arts and Fine Arts, was elected to the board of directors of the Fine Arts Society in the spring election. Betsy is known in the Grosse Pointe branch AAUW for the many clever original skits and plays she has written, directed and taken leads in for AAUW Christmas programs to the delight of members and their husbands.

Mrs. Arthur Bersey was re-elected treasurer for College Women's Volunteer Service in which she has been active for 15 years. Among the more interesting facets of this work was five years' chairmanship of Hermann Kiefer Hospital's patients' radio station, W.H.K.S. College Women's Volunteer Service does a day a week programming for this, writing their own scripts and acting as disc jockeys. She also taught oil painting to the League for the Handicapped in their work shop.

Attention is directed to all women college graduates in the Grosse Pointe area, whether AAUW members or not, to the many opportunities for volunteer social service in C. W. V. S. Headquarters are at the Merrill Palmer School, to which inquiries may be directed. The AAUW delegate is appointed each year.

Jean Currie Speaks Vows

Jean Anne Currie, daughter of the Clifford G. Curries, of Bedford road, was married Saturday in Grosse Pointe Congregational Church to Eric Richard Bischoff, son of the Eric E. Bischoffs, of Lockport, Ill.

The bride wore a princess styled white bouquet taffeta gown accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace. A cap of pearls held her short veil of illusion and she carried sweetheart roses with baby orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Marilyn Baldwin, of Sun Valley, Calif., was maid of honor in sapphire blue satin and carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli. Dressed like the maid of honor were the bridesmaids Martha Michaels, of Muncie, Ind., and Susan Aljets.

John Sanders, of Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., was best man and the ushers were George C. Hook II, of Chicago, Ill., and David P. Bischoff, brother of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding and reception at the church Mrs. Currie wore a dusty rose satin sheath. Mrs. Bischoff wore a sage green lace gown.

After a trip to northern Minnesota, the newlyweds will live in St. Louis, where they will attend Washington University.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George J. Brown, 702 Birch Lane, Grosse Pointe Woods, on Thursday, September 14, at 8 p.m. Women in the community are invited to attend.

Scouts Ride In Fair Parade

Sixteen Senior Girl Scouts on horseback and eight in a horse-drawn surrey made history in the Michigan State Fair Parade, last Thursday, August 31, at 7:30 p.m.

The Scouts representing the only two mounted Girl Scout troops in the Metropolitan Detroit Council, are members of Troops 1427 and 821 of Grosse Pointe District. Their appearance in the State Fair Parade is the first of a mounted Girl Scout group in a Detroit area parade.

Riders, as well as Scouts in the surrey, were att red in outfits designed by the troop for the occasion.

The Scouts were under the direction of Mrs. Earl A. Wade, one of the leaders of the mounted troops. Mrs. Wade will be among those riding the surrey in the parade.

The committee in charge of the parade included Mrs. John Malcolm, Mrs. Ernest Chien, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Fred Bohl, Mrs. George Crockett, Mrs. John Mitschall and Mrs. LaVerne Biasell.

The girls riding included Janet Louise Britton, Ruth Chien, Charlotte Kasper, Sandra Krawchuck, Lee Malcolm, Rosemary Nyman, Shirley Stoetzer, Judy Trowbridge, Laura Zolad, Ann Biasell, Bonnie Breitbacher and Beverly Fullerton.

To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brunswick Rains, of Vernier road, announced the engagement of their daughter, CECILY ALICE, to Harold George Bay, Jr., Sunday at a cocktail party in their summer home in Oakwood Park, Canada.

The bride-elect is an alumna of Smith College and is teaching at Grosse Pointe University School.

Mr. Bay, son of the senior Bays, of North Renaud road, is an alumnus of the University of Michigan.

They plan a December wedding.

Robert Brown Claims Bride

On Saturday, August 12, at the Calvin Presbyterian Church Martha Louise Krupp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Krupp, of Detroit, became the bride of Robert W. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Brown, of Roslyn road.

The bride wore a bouffant gown of white peau de soie trimmed with Alencon lace, with chapel train and finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses and orchids.

The bridesmaids, Joan Morse, Barbara Trevillian and Nancy Lalic, wore short full-skirted gowns of mint green silk organza and carried yellow daisies.

The best man was Guenter Odainsky, Mr. Brown's roommate at General Motors Institute, where he is a student.

Ushers were Charles Gray, of Detroit, and Lowell H. Fisher, Jr., of West Chester, Pa.

A reception was held in the church parlors, after which the newly-weds left for a honeymoon in Northern Michigan. They will reside in Detroit.

PARKED CAR RIFLED Judy DeKeyser, of 916 University, called city police to report that she parked her car on Monday, August 28, at the Neighborhood Club parking lot at 9 a.m. and upon her return at noon she found her car doors open and the car rifled. Nothing was taken.

Be Sure to Vote Tuesday

A most important election is scheduled for next Tuesday, September 12, when the voters of Michigan will elect 144 delegates to the state's Constitutional Convention. It is of the utmost necessity that the best qualified candidates be selected to carry out this assignment of re-writing the Michigan Constitution. The job will keep them occupied for many months. Their deliberations will be concerned with every conceivable aspect of our future lives.

The Con-Con issues have been given massive publicity in the press and over radio and television for a long, long time. There are still many who haven't the faintest idea of the complexities of such a task, but all have been given ample opportunity to become informed on the subject.

At this late date, it must suffice to reiterate that the most important thing now is to pick the candidates who can best accomplish the task ahead. Since 1912 the Civic Searchlight has provided the voters with factual and impartial information about candidates before every election. Since the primaries on July 25 the committee of Civic Searchlight has re-evaluated those candidates who were nominated, and has submitted its report with biographical sketches and recommendations.

We here in the Pointe will vote for two candidates, one from the First Senatorial District and one from the Thirteenth Legislative District. The nominees are Rockwell T. Gust, Jr., of Muskoka road, Republican, and Louis Rabaut of Three Mile drive, Democrat; and William B. Cudlip of Lakeshore road, Republican, and Phillip F. Koerner of Washington road, Democrat. The Civic Searchlight lists Gust and Cudlip as the preferred candidates and Rabaut and Koerner as qualified candidates.

We'll stick with the choices of the Searchlight and heartily endorse Mr. Gust and Mr. Cudlip.

We call attention to the large advertisement appearing on Page 7. To our knowledge this is the first time the top elected officials of the five Pointe municipalities have felt obliged upon to band together in a common plea to get out the vote. Read the advertisement, then get to the polls Tuesday and cast your ballot.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:
 I appreciate your notice of our effort to preserve our home—even in another location and robbed of its long heritage... but please, please don't put alien words in my mouth. I could never admit our wiring in the log cabin unit is standard. It is above code in every respect, as it was entirely new in 1946-47 years. The foundations beams and joists are ready for another century or four more moves.

An architect seeing it for the first time inside, even in its tenant-scarred state, said he was completely unprepared for its winsomeness. "I was totally surprised by the magnificent workmanship and the unbelievable space there." The fact that it was being forced out of its natural location, he said, made him almost ill... "as if I'd been kicked in the stomach."

You say some Grosse Pointe Shores people are trying to save it? I wonder who these vague people might be? When the village told everyone there would be no cost to the taxpayers for whatever improvement in the future, they relaxed completely and had no interest in legal or civil or human progress connected with the matter.

Why are some drugs like "ecstasy sauce?"

By Fred Koop, R. Ph.
 If you read "Lil' Abner" you may recall how the Gourmet's Club plotted to make "Ecstasy Sauce" from the Yokums' pet pig, Salomey. Recipe: Boil down one ham-mus alabamus (Salomey) until just one single, solitary delicious drop remains—and that is "Ecstasy Sauce." In terms of food, this is humorously ridiculous, but it's actually routine in the making of drugs. Often hundreds of pounds of raw materials must be processed and re-processed to obtain one tiny pinch of the active medication. Which helps explain why modern drugs are so potent, and why we pharmacists dispense them only when your physician writes a prescription.

This is the 57th of a series of Editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each week.

We, of course, are still trying to effect the correct redtape approaches to the preservation of the building... and have just received a list of what might be called objections. The actual building code will be consulted and measured by. I have never said I would not conform. According to my own deductions from the basic code which is now being adopted by some, we are way ahead of the usual demands. If there were any real hazardous or unsafe or un-coded condition to object to I would be the first to correct it.

V. L. Y. A. C. Parker

League to See African Films

Color movies taken in Africa will be featured at the first fall meeting of the Grosse Pointe Cinema League next Thursday evening, September 14, at 8 o'clock at the War Memorial Center.

These outstanding movies were taken by Rip Zwickey, Cinema Club member, on a trip he and Mrs. Zwickey took through Southern and Central Africa recently. The pictures include many unusual shots of native life in Africa.

This meeting is open to the public without charge. The Cinema League, which is sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, welcomes as members anyone who is interested in any of the various phases of amateur cinematography.

Car Leaves Trail Along Lakeshore

Shores Police were unable to locate an unknown driver who apparently lost control of his car on September 2 and failed to report damages he caused.

By checking the tire tracks, Police determined that the car jumped the curb at 906 Lake Shore during the early morning hours and scraped a pole, knocking down the wire guard.

The car then continued across the grass to 910 Lake Shore, where it knocked down a mail box. From there, the car crossed Lake Shore and went up onto an island where it struck a tree.

What Goes On at Your Library

by Jean Taylor

A quick glance over the books recently arrived in our processing department shows no particular literary trend but rather a variety of reading interests.

In this group we found two first person stories which should have a wide appeal. COMBAT CAMERAMAN by Joswick Keating is a modest autobiography which tells the story of the Air Force's First Combat Camera Unit, of which the author was the technical sergeant. It includes many notable photographs, but the text stands on its own merits as an absorbing testimonial to human courage and devotion to duty.

In SING AS WE GO Gracie Fields, the warm-hearted idol of the English music hall, tells her own story from her early life in Rochdale, Lancashire, when money and work were scarce, to her rise as an international favorite. Much of the credit, according to Gracie, goes to "mamma" who determined that her family would go "oop in 't'world, not down."

Lionel Trilling has said of Ernest Hemingway that he, "More than any other writer of our time has been under glass."

Certainly his work has been analyzed, dissected, summed up and criticized as have few authors of his generation. Leo Lania tells the story of this remarkable man, in photographs which show graphically the various stages of his interesting and distinguished career. The title is HEMINGWAY: A PICTORIAL BIOGRAPHY.

John F. Leeming has written a slight but entertaining novel of Italy toward the end of World War II, IT ALWAYS RAINS IN ROME. A village priest, a communist partisan, a fascist mayor and a well-meaning "Americano" are among the colorful assortment of characters. To destroy or not to destroy a fourteenth century bridge is the problem which is resolved in this light-hearted comedy.

There's seldom a batch of new books without a cookbook or two. In the present lot there is Poppy Cannon's EATING EUROPEAN—ABROAD AND AT HOME. This has been called a travel book about food as well as a cook book about travel. Recipes from thirteen countries are interspersed with interesting sidelights which will add zest to your gastronomic tour.

Another book for the gourmet is COOKING WITH SPIRITS by Ruth Vendley Neumann. Ingredients of these recipes include various wines, liqueurs and other alcoholic beverages.

A TALENT FOR LOVING by Richard Condon has been called the western to end all westerns. A sophisticated tale, this spoof should find favor with Mr. Condon's followers.

OLD HOUSE OF FEAR by Russell Kirk is this author's first novel, an eerie mystery laid in the Hebrides, a part of the world well-known to the writer. A native of our state, Mr. Kirk lives in Meecosta, Michigan. Four of his earlier books, all of which deal with conservatism in America, are in the library's collection.

For the antique collector there is a new Baedeker HITTING THE ANTIQUES TRAIL by Ann Kilborn Cole. In the introduction the author writes: "I have written this book as a sort of survey for the uninitiated."

Held 12 Hours For No License

Ronney Kinney, of 4818 Algonquin, Detroit, was detained for 12 hours by Woods Police on September 1 on charges of driving on a suspended operators license. He was released when he posted cash bond of $150 to assure his appearance in court. Woods patrolmen Donald Sabel and Gaylor Golding said they observed Kinney at 11:30 p.m. leaving the intersection of Helen and Ridgeway at a high rate of speed and heading without lights toward Mack avenue. The officers stopped Kinney and learned that his drivers license had been suspended. He was taken to the station. Halting speech is the tell-tale result of a lame excuse.

From Another Pointe of View

By Patricia Talbot

With the first tangle of fall in the air, and Labor Day behind us, matrons about town are anticipating the season of fashion shows before buying their autumn wardrobes.

Lochmoor will open its club season of fashion shows, luncheons and bridge this Wednesday with Mrs. William C. Beckenhauer Jr., and Mrs. John J. Galvin hostesses for the afternoon.

"A Vintage Year for Fashion," the theme, the decor will feature clusters of fresh grapes in a vineyard scene. The two hostesses are fashioning 100 miniature three dimensional topiary trees to be used as center pieces on grape colored cloths. King sized trees will flank the club entrance and a garden sculpture of a small boy holding a grape-filled basket will be arranged against one wall with mantel arrangements of grapes and sparkling bottles of wine.

Among those with reservations for this festivity are Mrs. Sidney Harvey, Mrs. Lance Skinner, Mrs. John Demorest, Mrs. Henry Weidler, Mrs. Harry Rife and Mrs. Edward L. Weber.

Reunion In Aspen

Three former GPUS classmates had a late summer reunion in Aspen, Colo., recently. Susan Sadler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harrison Sadler, of Rivard boulevard, and Mary Buttrick, daughter of the Theodore R. Buttricks, Jr., of University place, traveled to Aspen to spend some time with Judy Tipton.

Judy's father, Albert Tipton, is first flutist with the Detroit Symphony, and her mother is a concert pianist. Every summer the Tiptons vacation in Aspen where a giant musical festival is held. The three girls, who were June graduates, will be separated this month when college doors open. Susan will be a student at Mt. Vernon Junior College; Judy will attend the U. of M., and Mary is entered in Colby Junior College.

From California to Classes

Former Pointers, the Christian Kleins, have come all the way from Santa Barbara, Calif., to enroll their daughter, Karen, in Grosse Pointe High School.

The Kleins, who used to live in Hillcrest road, have rented a house in Hawthorne road for the winter. They have been the temporary guests of the Al Bradleys of Fisher road, while all these arrangements were being made.

Labor Day brought another guest to the Bradleys door. He is Abel Aquirre, of Lima, Peru, and he will be here several weeks until he enters college.

Transform Garage

An old patchwork quilt and lots of paint are being used these weeks by members of the circle of Our Lady Star of the Sea Altar Society to transform a South Oxford road garage into a New England antique shop.

The garage belongs to Mrs. W. J. Collins, circle chairman, and the chairmen of the project are Mrs. Thomas McMahon and Mrs. Runar Anderson, also South Oxford road residents. The ladies are transforming the garage into a showcase for the Wedgwood china, pressed glass, white ironstone and old silver which they have collected for the sale.

The proceeds from the sale September 14 from 10 to 4 o'clock at 1111 South Oxford road will augment the

Roxanne Ranney Weds Mr. Nicely

Pair Exchange Vows Friday in Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church; After Trip to Northern Michigan Newlyweds Will Live in Kalamazoo

Roxanne Ranney, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dan E. Ranney, of North Renaud road, was married Friday in Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church to Robert Arnold Nicely, son of the Ralph Nicelys, of Bear Lake, Mich.

For the rites the bride wore a gown of white tulle with a Chantilly lace bodice designed with a square scalloped neckline and a basque waist. A crown of orange blossoms and seed pearls caught her illusion veil and she carried white roses and ivy.

Cheryl Blatt was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Robyn Ranney, Pamela Major and Riley Dixon. The honor attendant was in an American Beauty silk sheath with an overskirt and the bridesmaids in similar frocks in rose. They carried variegated carnations.

John Swander was best man and the ushers were Ron Apostle, Doug Yardley and Dan Karstofsky.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception at the Village Manor Mrs. Ranney wore a blue silk jacket dress and Mrs. Nicely was in beige lace over green silk with taupe accessories.

When the couple left for Northern Michigan the bride was wearing a green wool suit with matching accessories. They will live in Kalamazoo.

Nancy Wemhoff Marries Mr. Cadec

Pair Speak Vows Saturday in St. Clare of Montefalco Church; After Trip to Mackinac Island Newlyweds Will Make Their Home in Evanston, Ill.

Nancy Anne Wemhoff, daughter of the Pete Wemhoffs, of Kensington Road, became the bride of Frederick F. Cadec, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cadec, of Fairview Park, O., at a Saturday Nuptial High Mass in St. Clare of Montefalco Church.

For the rites the bride chose a gown of silk organza, portrait neckline bordered with applied flowers of peau d'ange lace, basque bodice, and a bouffant skirt, accented with a diagonal bow at the waistline in back, which extended into a billowy chapel train.

A princess crown of seed pearls held her elbow length veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of miniature white mums and ivy.

Wearing a dress of rose peau de soie, fashioned with a bateau neckline, fitted bodice and a bell skirt was the maid of honor, Jo Anne Roehrig. Her matching veil was topped by a single silk rose.

Identically gowned were the bridesmaid, Rita West, and junior bridesmaids, Pamela Cadec, sister of the bridegroom, and Patricia Dunlap, cousin of the bride. They carried a cascade of rubrum lilies.

Richard E. Coone, of Cleveland, O., was best man for the bridegroom. Ushering were Daniel M. Wemhoff, brother of the bride, Richard W. Kennedy, and Joseph J. Boehm, Jr. also of Cleveland.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception and breakfast at the Detroit Athletic Club, Mrs. Wemhoff wore a beige Alencon lace sheath over pink satin and matching accessories with cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Cadec was in pale green draped silk, champagne accessories and cymbidium orchids.

The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Luther B. Martin, formerly of Grosse Pointe, was here from Connecticut. Mrs. Stephen Jambor, the bridegroom's grandmother from Cleveland was also here for the wedding.

When the newlyweds left for Mackinac Island, the bride was wearing a silk and wool blue suit, blue accessories and a white velvet pillbox hat.

The couple will live in Evanston, Illinois, where Mr. Cadec will complete his graduate studies at Northwestern University where he was awarded an Institute Fellowship.

Newlyweds Off for Japan

Tokyo-bound are recently married Lieutenant and Mrs. Donald Hudenburg, who were Pointe visitors this month.

Mrs. Hudenburg was formerly Miss Ann Cyr, daughter of the Violette Cyrs of Portland, Maine, and Lieutenant Hudenburg, United States Air Force, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudenburg of Notre Dame avenue.

They were married on July 8 at Andrews Air Force Base Chapel, Washington, D.C., with a reception following at Andrews Officers Club.

The senior Hudenburgs, with their daughter, Miss Margaret, honored the newly-married couple at a reception in their home on August 19, to introduce the bride to their Grosse Pointe friends. Lieutenant Hudenburg is now beginning a tour of duty in Tokyo.

Iroquois Christ Lutheran Church was the setting for the Saturday marriage of Joanne Marie Ortwein and William Osborne Grierson.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ortwein of Moran road, and the bridegroom is the son of the Joseph Griersons, of Detroit.

The bride chose a gown of white tissue taffeta, with a lace bodice embroidered in seed pearls, with lace repeated in the full skirt which fell into a chapel train.

She wore an illusion veil held by a cluster of frosted for-get-me-nots, and carried a cascade of white roses, orchid, and stephanotis.

Mrs. Kenneth Venderbush, of Wisconsin, was the matron of honor and the bridesmaids were JoAnn Grierson, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. John Prost, Mrs. Frank McBride and MaryJo Furth, of Ann Arbor.

Their gowns were sea-green taffeta and they wore matching feather circlets, and carried small cascades of Elegans carnations.

Robert Grierson, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and the ushers were John Prost, Robert Jones, Martin Belser, and Richard Ortwein, brother of the bride.

A reception at the Detroit Yacht Club followed the ceremony after which the young couple left for a Canadian honeymoon. They will live in St. Clair Shores.

The bride's mother wore beige lace with seal brown accessories. Mrs. Grierson was in royal blue lace over light blue. Both mothers wore orchids.

Third Christmas Mart

For the third year Planned Parenthood League, Inc., will raise funds to support its 11 clinics with a fabulous Christmas Mart, inviting 19 of the country's finest specialty shops to show wares at the Veteran's Memorial Building November 8 and 9.

During the past year the League, which is the only organization offering a positive approach to family problems and providing information for voluntary family planning, has added three new clinics. During 1960 these clinics served 6,684 women, the majority without fee.

Funds are needed from the Christmas Mart to expand these educational services. The Mart will feature the wares of fine stores from all over the country and on both days luncheon will be served. Wednesday evening dinner also will be featured of the Mart which will be open until 10 o'clock that evening.

Mrs. Joseph B. Schlotman, honorary chairman, Mrs. Nelson Holland, chairman; Mrs. John B. Ford, Jr., vice chairman; Mrs. James H. Carmel, Mrs. Clifford B. West, Mrs. Wardrop and Mrs. Stanley Winkelman co-chairmen are some of the directors of the Mart.

Others on the committee include Mrs. William O. Earl, Mrs. Robert K. Rigger, Mrs. Harry W. Kerr, Mrs. William P. Harris III, Mrs. Wyman D. Barrett, Jr., Mrs. Walter A. Crow, Mrs. Ross Wilkins, Mrs. Walter B. Ford II, Mrs. William C. Tost, Mrs. Robert H. Kanzler, Mrs. Lowrey Kammer, Mrs. James I. McClintock, Mrs. Clayton C. Purdy, Mrs. Ehan C. Prewitt, Mrs. Theodore R. Buttrick, Mrs. Frank D. Cotter, Mrs. John A. Hermann, Mrs. Joseph L. Hudson, Jr. and Mrs. John L. Kenower.

New Sigma Gammas

This Thursday Sigma Gamma will hold its annual fall meeting at the Detroit Orthopedic Clinic. On the agenda is a talk on speech correction by Miss Peters, of the Clinic staff, and a United Foundations film about clinic services. New Junior members will be initiated.

They include Susan Bejin, Mary Burke, Mary Sinclair Day, Stephanie Fischer, Jane Johnson, Francis Huntington Kerr, Elizabeth Kross, Chris Metzger, Patty Moran, Montie Newcomb, Beth Nicholson, Gilda Radner, Lynn Schemm, Cecily Smith and Marcia Lockwood Whitney, all of the Pointe.

Wehrmeister-Menke Vows Solemnized

Pair Wed August 19 in Maranatha Baptist Church with Reception in Church Parlours; Bride Wears White Silk Organza Appliqued with Flowers

In Maranatha Baptist Church on August 19, Kathy Lou Menke, daughter of the Carl L. Menkes, of Lochmoor boulevard, became the bride of Philip Wehrmeister, son of Mrs. Raymond Wehrmeister, of Detroit and the late Mr. Wehrmeister.

For the rites the bride wore a gown of white silk organza sheath with a green organza sash with a tunic skirt and matching accessories. Mrs. Wehrmeister was in pink organza. Both mothers pinned rose buds to their bags. A dinner in the church parlours followed the ceremony.

Bock-Cooper Troth Revealed

Dr. and Mrs. James B. Cooper of Westchester road announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Virginia, to Neil Richard Bock, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Bock of Roslyn road. The wedding will take place in February.

PREJUDICES

The man who professes tolerance should practice it — too many still do a lot of name-calling.

Judy Lynne Wunderlich was maid of honor and Mrs. Henry Richter, and Barbara Hunter were bridesmaids. They wore wood violet silk organza frocks with a single cabbage rose in their hair. They carried white roses and ivy.

Heather Richter was flower girl in a white organza frock sashed in wood violet.

Dale Doecker was best man and the ushers were Mitchell Wehrmeister, Richard Talbot, Larry Cross and Henry Richter. Steven Richter was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Menke wore a sea mist

Mrs. Philip Wehrmeister

KATHY LOU MENKE, daughter of the Carl L. Menkes, of Lochmoor boulevard, was married August 19 to Mr. Wehrmeister in Maranatha Baptist Church. He is the son of Mrs. Raymond Wehrmeister, of Detroit, and the late Mr. Wehrmeister.

Mrs. Leonard G. Grant

BEVERLY ANN McKINNON, daughter of the A. H. McKinnons, of Bournemouth road, was married August 26 in Our Lady Queen of Peace Church to Mr. Grant, son of Mrs. Anthony W. Grant, of Detroit, and the late Mr. Grant.

Beverly McKinnon Marries Mr. Grant

Couple Repeat Vows August 26 In Our Lady Queen of Peace Church; After Trip to Northern Michigan Pair Will Make Home in Detroit

Beverly Ann McKinnon, daughter of the A. H. McKinnons, of Bournemouth road, was married August 26 in Our Lady Queen of Peace Church to Leonard G. Grant, son of Mrs. Anthony W. Grant, of Detroit and the late Mr. Grant.

The bride wore a silk organza frock accented with Alencon lace. A crown of rhinestones and pearls caught her bouffant veil. She carried white orchids and stephantois.

Diane LeBeau was maid of honor and Gail McKinnon, Barbara Freeman, Kathleen Bowles and Helen Vandermillere were bridesmaids. They were gowned in peacock blue silk organza with matching veils and carried yellow mums. Sidney Haddad was best man. Garry McKinnon, Harry Freeman, Stanley Bydlos and Gary Flynn were ushers.

Following a trip to Northern Michigan the newlyweds will live in Carlisle drive.

TREE TRIMMER FALLS

Angus Morrison, 60, of 4144 Maryland, while in the upper part of a tree he was trimming on 745 Bedford, slipped from the ladder and found himself hanging from one of the tree branches. He hung onto the tree as long as he could and finally fell to the ground. Park police took him to Bon Secours Hospital.

John Rickels Entertain House Guests on Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Rickel, of Stonehurst road, entertained a group of 16 at Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's "Boat Hop" party on Saturday, August 26.

The inspection visits to boats in GPYC's harbor, and the outdoor buffet dinner and dancing took place after the men of the group had a couple of hours of sailing on Lake St. Clair aboard the Rickel sailboat, "Selene."

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Montgomery, the Henry Schaffhausers, the John F. Longes, the Conrad Freimanns, the Jason Newells, the hosts' son and daughter, John M. and Alice Rickel, and their house guests, Antoinette and Bert Koels, of Great Neck, Long Island, N.Y.

Cancer Group Needs Helpers

Any Pointe women who can manage a few spare hours either Monday or Tuesday of any week are urged to volunteer their time at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial either with the Cancer group on Mondays between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. or with the Service Guild For Cottage Hospital on Tuesdays between the same hours.

The Cancer Center at the War Memorial gives out raw materials to the many groups within the area making pads as well as making pads themselves. It also acts as a collection depot for finished pads. Patients in the area in need of pads are serviced from the Memorial too. Mrs. Charles Miller of Roslyn road is chairman of the Cancer Center.

The Service Guild for Children's Hospital works the year round making much needed supplies for the hospital, everything from simple bandages to bronchoscopes. This is the only group authorized to make supplies out of the hospital.

Volunteers for both groups often bring their lunches to the Center, brew coffee or tea in the basement kitchen, have a pleasant break, and work through the afternoon. Work is done in the Center's pleasant recreation room.

Symphony Sets Supper Date

Invitations are in the mail from the Musical Excursions committee of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra to a gala black tie "Evening With Karl Haas" program and supper September 22, at 8 p.m., in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The event, chaired by Mrs. Winifred S. Jewell Jr., will serve to announce the second series of lecture-luncheons sponsored by the association to create new interest in fine music. Mr. Haas and Malcolm Johns will alternate as speakers.

The popular series will be presented in the Women's City Club this season the Wednesdays of Oct. 11, Nov. 15, Jan. 17, Feb. 14, Mar. 14 and April 11.

Subscribers will be offered such tempting subjects of the day as "The Art Song," "Plots to Listen By," "Snapely Music," "On Stage with the King of Instruments," "The Symphonic Poem" and "Classical Combo."

Mrs. Jewell's committee includes Mesdames James E. Atkinson, Philip C. Baker, W. Terrence Bannan, J. Bertram Bell, J. Leslie Berry, Charles L. Jacobson, William E. Johnston, James E. Lofstrom, Taylor H. Seeber, William A. Ternes, Foster K. Winter and Miss Isabelle H. Hoersch.

Echlin-Roney Rites Read at St. Paul's

Reception at Country Club Follows Saturday Ceremony; Newlyweds Will Live in Pointe After Trip To Tides Inn, Irvington, Va.

Elizabeth Hay Roney, daughter of the John Kingsley Roneys, of Moran road, was married Saturday in St. Paul's on the lakeshore to Lewis Henry Echlin III, son of the junior Echlins, of Moran road.

The bride wore a gown of candlelight barrathca with Belgian lace applied in a yoke effect on the bodice. Cut out petals of the lace formed a cap which caught her illusion veil and she carried Eucharis lilies and stephanotis with ivy.

Kingsley Roney was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Thomas W. Bookmyer, the bride's sister; Patricia Roney, another sister; Georgeanne Echlin and Mary Echlin, the bridegroom's sisters.

They wore full length gowns of heavenly blue peau de soie with flowered taffeta floating panels and head bands of rubrum petals and ivy. Their bouquets were of rubrum lilies and ivy.

Harry T. Echlin was his brother's best man. Ushering were Thomas W. Bookmyer, Howard E. O'Leary, Jr., Vincent E. Buttery, Jr., and William Scott.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception at the Country Club Mrs. Roney chose a pink peau de soie stiffened sheath and matching hat. Mrs. Echlin was in bone white shantung and Mrs. Charles F. Freiburger, the bride's grandmother wore a rosy beige lace sheath.

After a trip to the Tides Inn, Irvington, Va., the newlyweds will live in Muir road.

Judith Jablonski Speaks Nuptial Vows

Weds Wayne F. Hebert, Saturday in St. Paul's on the Lakeshore; After Trip to Northern Michigan Newlyweds Will Make Home in Kensington Road

In St. Paul's on the lakeshore Saturday Judith Ann Jablonski, daughter of the Joseph C. Jablonskis, of Kerby road, was married to Wayne F. Hebert, son of Mrs. William Wybo, of Loraine road and Frederick Hebert, of Detroit.

For the rites the bride chose a white peau de soie gown fashioned with a scalloped neckline accented with Alencon lace. More of the lace was applied on the sides of the skirt which fell into a chapel train.

A crown of seed pearls caught her illusion veil and she carried stephanotis and lilies.

Carol Jablonski was her sister's maid of honor in an emerald green taffeta sheath with a matching overskirt and a crown with tulle veiling. She carried light bronze Fugi mums. Dressed like the honor attendant were the bridesmaids Mrs. Beverly J. Mackey, sister of the bridegroom; Mary Lou Crowther and Barbara Fiori.

Rene Mackey in white nylon applied with lace butterflies was the flower girl.

James Lenigan was best man and the ushers were Robert Jablonski, Leroy Piemont and Jerry Sommer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Jablonski wore a beige sheath of peau de soie with brown accessories. Mrs. Wybo was in a toast sheath with a jacket and matching accessories.

When the couple left for Northern Michigan the bride was wearing a brown tweed suit with matching accessories. They will make their home in Kensington road.

Tea to Benefit Jesuits Sept. 19

Mrs. Thomas K. Fisher, of Kenwood road, will give a benefit tea in her home on Tuesday, September 19, for the Saints Peter and Paul Unit of the Jesuit Seminary Association. Donations from the tea will go toward establishing a memorial and scholarship purse in honor of the Reverend James A. Meskell, S. J., former director of the unit who died March 31 of this year.

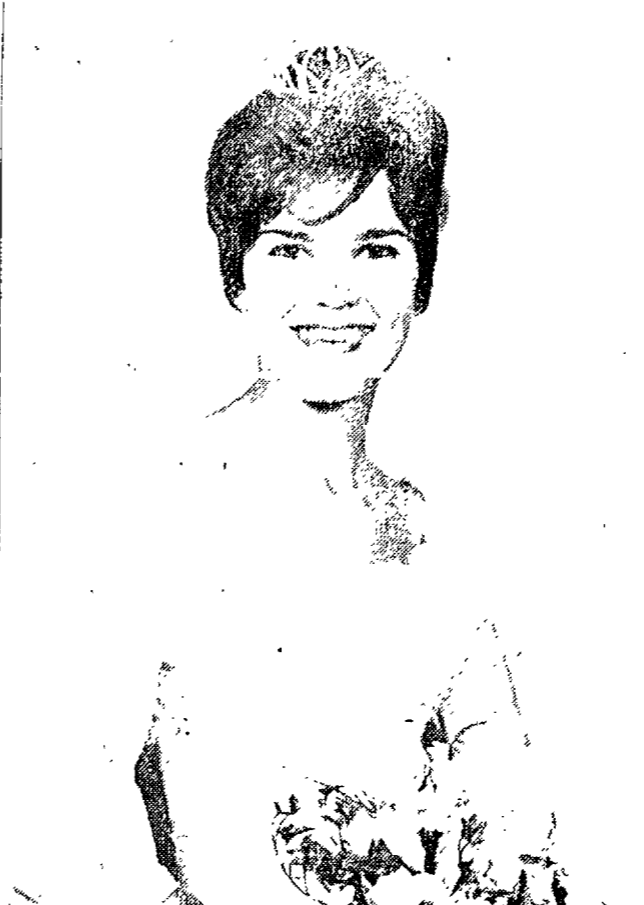

Father Meskell, a Golden Jubilarian in the Society of Jesus, spent over a quarter of a century serving as an assistant pastor of St. Peter and Paul Church on East Jefferson Avenue at St. Antoine in Detroit.

Under his guidance, the unit has made substantial contributions toward the support of young Jesuits in their long years of studies.

Assisting Mrs. Charles A. J. Kotcher, chairman of this event, will be Mrs. Thomas T. Petzold, Mrs. John C. Cook, Mrs. John M. Murphy, Mrs. Bernard J. Meldrum, Mrs. William J. Quinn, Mrs. Joseph F. Verhelle, Mrs. Frank J. Jenney and Mrs. J. Burns Cody.

UMMM, BOY, THAT TASTES GOOD—A young lion at Brookfield Children's Zoo in Chicago leaves no doubt that he is enjoying an ice cream cone fed to him by Marylee Mendius as the temperature reached the middle 90s.

FIRST FULL MEAL IN 10 WEEKS—Rescued after being lost in the wilds south of the Arctic Circle, William C. Waters, 42-year-old tourist from Erlanger, Ky., enjoys his first full meal in 10 weeks at a hospital in Fairbanks, Alaska. Nurse's aide Johanna Clayton is pouring coffee for Waters, who lost 100 of his 190 pounds while surviving on wild cranberries and raspberries.

BAD CHECKERED CAREER—Winford Poston, 42, gestures under questioning in Columbia, S.C., admitting passing 2,000 bad checks totaling $75,000 in the past two decades. He said he was wanted in 18 places in Virginia and the Carolinas.

GERMAN ARMY 'INVADES' WALES—In Wales under a NATO training plan, three members of the West German army's 84th Panzer Battalion walk arm in arm with Pembroke, Wales, girls. Protest demonstrations had been expected when an advance guard of 40 of 400 Germans arrived.

HARD AGROUND FREIGHTER BURNS—Hard aground near Palos Verdes, Calif., since March 13, the Greek freighter Dominator is in flames, believed started by a torch being used by the salvage crew cutting the ship up for scrap. Ten thousand tons of wheat were removed when all efforts to free the vessel failed.

GOULART SUPPORTER ARRESTED—Henrique Texeira Lott, retired Brazilian marshal, musters a wan smile in Rio de Janeiro as army leaders place him under arrest at his home for an inflammatory statement. Lott is a supporter of Vice President Joao Goulart, and the army doesn't want him to assume presidency vacated by Janio Quadros. (Radiophoto)

Step, Step, Together Step . . . page 7

ANYBODY CAN LEARN TO DANCE, says Amy Vanderbilt. She didn't know a cha cha from a waltz till, after years of "sitting this one out," she determined to learn, and now she steps right along with the best of them. How did she do it? This month she explains and adds a dozen valuable pointers for others who have more than one left foot.

Ouch, Ouch, "Say Uncle" . . . page 10

Eric Nicol and Peter Whalley are two bright, new, and brash talents from Canada who have just written a hilarious history of the United States for people who are not going back to school. Here is a sampling of Mr. Whalley's cartoon low-down on what was obviously left out of authorized versions of the lives of Lincoln and Ponce De Leon and the Pilgrims and other Founding Fathers.

A Den Mother's Lament . . . page 14

There are 310,298 Den Mothers in this country. They are dedicated, hard-working women, but sometimes even their best efforts fall on the deaf ears of boys who are bored, tired, restless, and just plain not interested in repeating the same handicrafts that took up a lot of their time during the school day. Out of harried experience, one thoughtful mother tells how she would improve Cub Scouting.

Par Excellence . . . page 18

World Champion Louise Suggs (twice winner of the U. S. Women's Open) believes that short-course or par-three golf will become the nation's top sports attraction some day. She reports the story of this new sports boom to date, with notes on its great appeal for older people, for beginners, for mixed games, or for any good golfer with limited time.

It's the first day of school, so, while the eager scholars are debarking from busses and cars, says our famous cover artist, Mrs. Suzanne Gold (room 1-C), is waiting with everything ready on her desk—dictionary, calendar, globe, ruler, pen, ink, paper, and the pretty flowers one early arrival brought her.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

HERE ARE A COUPLE of firsthand reports on the activities of brand-new five-year-old scholars: the first, from Elsa Badger, is about little Martha Drummond, of Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, who was looking forward to her first day in school. When the great morning came, she bounced out of bed, got ready, and thoroughly enjoyed being taken there with all the responsibility of being left alone and of taking the school bus home by herself. The next morning, when her mother went to wake her up, Martha protested, "What? Again?"

The other story comes from Mrs. Hy Rosenthal, in Millburn, New Jersey. It's about a five-year-old boy who had just started school. Every day, when he returned from the morning kindergarten session, his mother would ask him what he had made in school. One day the little fellow, in answer to the standard query, just looked up at her and said, "I made two new friends, Mommy."

America is still the land of unlimited opportunity for those who know where to look for it. Take the young man Mrs. Irene Rawson of Normandy, Missouri, told us about. He found out that there was a city law which prohibits dogs from the beaches, so he went into the business of taking dogs swimming. Three times a week he makes his rounds, picks up his charges, and takes them to a sheltered breakwater where they can swim, romp, and exercise to their hearts' content. The dogs love it, their owners are delighted, and the entrepreneur is making a neat profit running his own unusual business.

Imagine the plight of maintenance man James Graves, who was faced with the monumental task of removing 100,000 flowers that had been specially put in as decorations during the grand opening of a shopping center near Oak Grove, Oregon, a few weeks back. The flowers were still fresh enough, but there were so many of them to dispose of. Well, canny Jim, remembering his Tom Sawyer, went out and got the biggest, flattest box he could find. He began to put the flowers out on the box, and in a few minutes a crowd of shoppers had gathered. One lady asked Jim what was going to happen to the flowers, and he graciously replied that they could all help themselves. Soon, everyone who passed by was going home with armfuls of lovely blooms, and Jim went ahead with the rest of his cleaning job, free of at least one big, beautiful headache.

Forrest and Bernice Miller, who own a lodge and restaurant in Poncha Springs, Colorado, have their own novel way of contributing to charity. On Sundays, customers are invited to write the name and address of the church of their choice on the back of their dinner check, and the Millers then forward 10% of the tab.

The Rev. Floyd Fortin, pastor of St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church in Hugo, Minnesota, believes horseback riding is better exercise and a better answer to juvenile delinquency than hot-rodding. Father Fortin encourages the parish's youngsters to use the riding rink he has set up on church grounds and to look after the horses that are kept in the parish's barn. Each year they put on a horse show that has now become one of Minnesota's biggest exhibitions—this year's drew nearly 4,000 people. Many children in the parish have their own horses, and, Father Fortin says, "a boy or girl who rides, grooms, and cares for a horse won't be a juvenile delinquent."

Mrs. Fred H. Baker, of Clawson, Michigan, charmed us with her tale of the couple who arrived on these shores from Europe a few years ago and came to settle in her town. They wanted to become Americans, so they studied our language and customs and history.

until they felt qualified to take the examinations. Finally, years after they began, they became citizens of the United States. The husband got the news first and rushed into the kitchen to tell his wife the long-awaited news. "Anna, Anna," he shouted, "at last we're Americans." "Fine," she said. "Now you wash the dishes."

A notice posted in the woods near Bluff Park, Alabama, accurately warns, "One Tree Makes A Million Matches But One Match Can Destroy A Million Trees."

Jean E. Laird, of Oak Lawn, Illinois, says that the hit of a recent school science fair was the rocks and minerals exhibit of Miss Mary Frances Bradley, age 12. It was beautifully displayed, with bits of hornblende, amethyst, jasper, and other lovely stones tastefully surrounding the central attraction: a plain piece of gravel, labeled "Rock from Elvis Presley's Driveway."

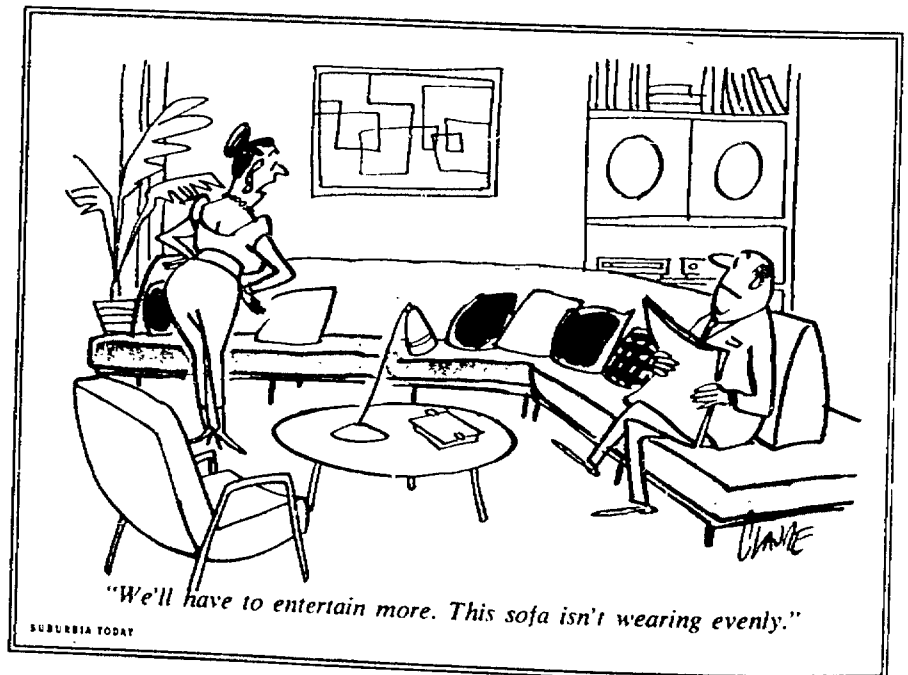

Richard Soliday, 12, who lives near Choc-taw, Oklahoma, will never use a vacuum cleaner in the bird cage again. All he wanted to do was make his parakeet Tweedy Pie more comfortable in an extra-clean cage, when—swoosh, Tweedy Pie suddenly disappeared. It took an emergency operation with a sharp knife to get the birdy out of the sweeper bag. There's a happy ending, though, you will be pleased to learn. The only casualties: one vacuum bag and one set of tail feathers.

Here's what makes Kelvinator

Your best buy in "No-Frost" Freezers

1 FREEZES FASTER!

Fresh foods freeze quickly in Kelvinator, reaching zero-zone temperatures in exceptionally fast time.

2 NO "HOT" SPOTS!

Kelvinator maintains zero-zone temperatures throughout—without the "hot" spots that cause frozen foods to deteriorate more rapidly.

3 SAFE DOOR STORAGE!

Kelvinator even maintains zero-zone temperatures in the door, allowing you to store frozen foods there for the maximum safe storage period.

4 REAL OPERATING ECONOMY!

With all its superior performance, Kelvinator costs less to operate than other "No-Frost" Freezers.

And Kelvinator Gives You Conveniences You Won't Find On Many Makes!

INTERIOR FLOODLIGHT helps you locate foods quickly.

SAFETY SIGNAL LIGHT glows constantly . . . goes out only if power fails or temperature approaches unsafe level.

BUILT-IN DOOR LOCK assures protection for your frozen food investment.

FLUSH HINGES allow door to open within cabinet width . . . let you place freezer against cabinets or in corner.

ADJUSTABLE SHELF may be raised or lowered to accommodate bulky items. All shelves are removable.

ROLL-OUT BASKET stores odd-shaped packages easily.

JUICE CAN SHELVES provide convenient in-the-door storage for frozen juices.

ROOMY DOOR SHELVES provide "book-shelf" convenience for smaller frozen food packages.

Never Needs Defrosting!

Here's the "No-Frost" freezer that provides true zero-zone protection for all your frozen foods . . . and uses less electricity while it's doing it!

What is Kelvinator's secret?

The answer is its simpler "No-Frost" system. Instead of using electric heating elements or other expensive devices, Kelvinator simply reverses its refrigeration system periodically . . . banishing frost forever from shelves, packages and walls!

Trust your frozen foods to the most trusted name. Kelvinator is the oldest and largest manufacturer of low temperature cabinets for frozen foods and ice cream.

Here's Why Kelvinator Brings You So Much Value!

Kelvinator doesn't waste money making costly annual model changes—mere "change for change's sake." Instead, Kelvinator concentrates on making appliances more useful, more dependable and more economical to operate. Just as soon as improvements are tested and approved, they are introduced. Because of this policy of Constant Basic Improvement, you are always sure of the newest with Kelvinator.

SWAP YOUR CRABGRASS FOR A GOOD LAWN

Here's how:

1. Blast crabgrass now. Fill the Scotts Spreader with clean, granular Clout®, set the dial and walk. Clout quickly dooms even toughest crabgrass — yet it lets good grass grow unharmed. Leave the dead crabgrass plants right where they are. They'll disintegrate soon enough. Meanwhile, they make an ideal seed bed.

2. Seed one week later. Sow all-perennial, 99.91% weed-free Scotts seed at the economy spreader rate — for the most good grass per dollar. Choose the Scotts blend that gives the kind of lawn that's right for you. Family® is the most popular. It thrives in sun or shade, takes good wear with only moderate care.

3. Feed the same day. Give new and established grass the balanced diet it needs to thrive. A Scotts Spreader application of protein-building Turf Builder® promotes stronger rooting and thicker, healthier growth. Turf Builder is clean, odorless, non-burning. For best results, apply the same day, immediately before or after seeding.

Follow this simple three-step program and Scotts guarantees your results — a good lawn this very fall or your money back!

Anyone Can Learn To

—I Did!

BY AMY VANDERBILT

The noted author and etiquette authority tells how she finally learned and adds some invaluable tips

AS A CHILD I was the little, chubby girl with stringy blonde hair they put in the last row of the ballet class. The fifth position never meant a thing to me until—I hate to say how many years later—I learned of its relation to the break in the rhumba.

Not that I didn't have dancing lessons. I was literally dragged there, and then dragged around by my partners. Although I had the theory of the dance well-drummed into me throughout my pre-teens and late teens, I could just never learn to coordinate. The waltz made me dizzy, the fox trot was a shambles. When Latin dancing took over, I couldn't even understand the beat. When my eldest son began to jitterbug, he tried to teach me the rudiments, and we both collapsed with laughter. I was worse than square, I was hopeless, but you should see me now. I became a good dancer when I was 45 years old.

I laid the foundation, I think, for my successful dancing when I decided to take some routine psychological tests to see if there was any ascertainable reason for my lack of coordination. The tests showed almost immediately that I was born left-handed.

DURING MY childhood it was fashionable to switch left-handed children to right-handedness on the ground that it is a right-handed world and that one shouldn't be too different from other people. The nice man who gave me the test asked me if I had trouble in kindergarten with pegboards, basketwork, beadwork, and so forth. I explained that this was another desperate period in my life. He laughed and said it was a wonder I got into the fifth grade because, before that time, so much depends on dexterity.

I was told that I could be retrained in matters like learning to do arithmetic (I can't), learning to play the piano (the hours I spent fruitlessly at this!), and in other things, but that it was rather pointless. There were things, however, that I could learn, like dancing, through patient teaching and, in the case of dancing, by literally being dragged through the steps over and over again until they made a pattern, I gather, on the left side of my brain, which is the side for me that acts. It was explained to me why, if the teacher said, "You put your left foot here and your right foot there," it made absolutely no sense whatsoever.

I struggled along with my form of dancing for many years, but when Latin dancing actually began to take over, I just sat down.

Then, five years ago, I met a strong-minded man who wouldn't let me say no when the Latin music started. He was Captain Frederico Gladulich, then commanding officer of the S.S. Nassau. He and I used to dance together a lot, and like most Italians he was an excellent dancer. When I tried to sit down as the rhumba started, he held me in a firm clutch, but strong-minded as he was, he finally had to give up. "Well," he said quite flatly, "you're going to Nassau. While you are there, why don't you take Latin dancing lessons at the Emerald Beach? Who's going to know the difference? You could learn."

These mildly encouraging words sped me to the private dance studio of the resident instructor at the hotel. My approach was strange. I said, "I can't do any of the Latin dances. I don't understand the beat. I am very awkward at anything like this, but if you are willing, I will try." I wish I could remember the name of that kind man.

He promptly gave up trying to show me that you put this foot here and the other one there. He was tall and strong and he did drag me through the steps, over and over and over again. At night, when the dancing started in earnest at the hotel, he would dance dutifully with me and his other pupils. Every time I had to go on the dance floor with him I suffered more than I did in infant dancing class. I realize now how much he must have suffered, too.

I was in Nassau two weeks that time, and on my return on the S.S. Nassau I was a relative surprise and delight to Captain Gladulich, and at least I understood the box step in the rhumba, although I had not at this point even heard of Cuban rhythm, an undulation difficult to describe in print but an integral part of a flashy rhumba. I can do it now.

WHEN I GOT HOME, I was sufficiently encouraged to continue my dancing lessons. I knew it was useless to join a class where I would have to dance with a variety of partners, some of them probably even worse than I. Instead, I had two lessons a week at home with a cheerful young man who had graduated from being an instructor at Arthur Murray's to the job of selling advertising for our local newspaper. My lessons kept his car in gas. Slowly, under his expert administration, my ego began to bloom. I guess it is perfectly clear by now, learning to dance—really learning to dance—did all kinds of wonderful things for me.

Learn To Dance

For one thing, it gave me a form of exercise I really enjoyed (calisthenics bore me and I'm not very good at them), and of course it widened my social horizon. I began to attract good dancers because, as one of them said, "You make a man look good on the dance floor." These good dancers were not necessarily men I would have found fascinating during my mainly intellectual years. I remember the thé dansant where I had a terrific time with a man well over 70 and, it seemed to me, seven feet tall. He knew every step of the tango ever invented. Men thirty years younger sat listlessly on the side lines and watched us.

Also, I had found something I could do better than my children—that is, in a physical way. My activities have inspired the younger ones to look at their dancing classes as pleasure instead of torture. They want to be able to beat me at my own footwork. My eldest boy, addicted to the curious shuffle of his generation, has even willingly taken a couple of tango lessons, and he sometimes brings a young thing to view his mother at her dancing lessons.

MAYBE I should no longer call them lessons because I am pretty satisfied with the steps I know, and if I progress much further I will soon narrow the field of my partners. One with whom I used to go dancing in the old days of my two left feet said to me after I had had about a year of lessons, "You're no fun for me to dance with any more: You've been taking dancing lessons."

I've become a kind of dancing snob. But I must admit that I still don't know what I am doing with my feet, and I am completely unsuccessful in trying to teach anyone else even a rudimentary dance step. I can, however, not only give hope to others who imagine they can't dance, but I can give some pointers I had to absorb myself.

These are all for the girls:

1. Take your dancing lessons, if possible, in something that will give you complete freedom. Tights and leotard, shorts and ballet slippers (or certainly shoes of some kind that will be completely comfortable). Dancing instructors prefer shoes with a slight heel, but they will put up with ballet slippers, and I do think that they give a beginner more confidence. Barring leotards or shorts, a full skirt of some kind is far better than a tight skirt for lessons.

2. Be particularly conscious when you are being propelled backwards to keep your feet together. One famous New York dancing teacher used to tell his little girl pupils that they shouldn't dance backward with their feet apart, for they then looked like a horse being backed into a stall. Keep your ankles together.

3. Don't be a drag on your partner. Each partner should be able to dance as if independent of the other. In other words, it's a fallacy that you need to have a "strong lead" or a "good dancer" in order to dance well. When you really know what you are doing, a partner with fairly modest ability won't bother you.

4. Never try to lead. If you get stuck with an impossible dancer, relax and try to follow what he is doing. If you really can't, plead thirst or a headache and sit down.

5. Never suggest a step to a man with whom you are dancing or try to show him a new step on the dance floor, even if he asks you to. Any such requested instructions should be strictly private. The man should always be in charge on the floor.

6. Don't be so overcome with delight when you are asked to dance that you barge ahead of your partner.

FREE: Olympia Type Style and Color Selector Guide

Olympia

Properly, the man is supposed to lead the way through crowded tables and so forth to the dance floor, then turn and take his partner in his arms. If there is plenty of room for the approach, then walk side by side with him. Remember, at the end of the dance when he thanks you (and I hope he does), to say something pleasant in return, even if it is a lie.

7. Don't slump on the dance floor or assume what used to be called the debutante slouch. Keep to your own center of gravity and lean your body slightly forward, never dragging on your partner. You take guidance from him by sensing the movement that his body will take through the light pressure of your hand against his shoulder blade. Don't drape your arm around his neck or in any other esoteric position.

8. Forget what you learned in ballet dancing class as a child. Most social dancing is not done on the toes or even on the ball of the foot. There is a lot of "flat foot" in Latin dancing, and when you are danced backwards you are often right on your heels.

9. Especially in the Latin dances, dance with a restrained body. The movement should come from the hips down. Shoulder shaking is strictly for the gypsies.

10. Your hands are a very important part of your dancing. In the breaks in the Latin dancing hold your hands as if you were inspecting your rings—avoid the look of the claw.

11. Watch your head. Its proper movement can help to balance your body in intricate steps. The general rule is to look in the direction of the step you are about to take. Don't feel you must keep up a constant chatter with your partner. You'll dance better if you keep your gaze, when he is holding you in a close position, just past his right ear instead of full in his face.

12. And finally, relax. If you misstep — and even the best dancers do — it is easy to cover up if you are relaxed.

Once you have learned to dance more or less to your own, and other people's satisfaction, practice your dancing as much as possible. Inspire other people to learn to dance, too. If you form a little dance group of your own, you can bring new fun into life.

Dancing — and especially Latin dancing — is an activity that you can easily keep up, with great benefits physically and psychologically. Busy as I am, I find time for it. I have even added square dancing to my repertoire this past summer — and that is exercise!

Table Scraps Can Short-Change Your Dog

Do right by the dog
you love...balance
each meal with
GRO-PUP Ribbon

When you feed your dog table scraps, you can never be sure he's getting all the nutrients he needs. And yet, to stay fit and strong, he should have a well-balanced diet every day.

That's why thoughtful families are adding Gro-Pup Ribbon to every scrap meal they feed. Gro-Pup is an unusual kind of dog food. It contains an extra bonus of vital protein, important vitamins and minerals—far in excess of the minimum levels set by the National Research Council.

Even when fed with large amounts of "unbalanced" leftovers, the high nutrient level of Gro-Pup can safeguard against improper diet. When you feed Gro-Pup every day, you can enjoy the confidence that your dog is getting an abundance of the essentials he needs for a long and healthy life.

Why don't you start tomorrow?

Tips on WOOD FINISHING

Floors never need rescrapping

When you put the finish in the wood—not just on it—your floors will last a lifetime. Minwax goes deep into the wood . . . leaves no brittle surface to scratch or mar. You have a choice of Natural Minwax or a wide range of color tones. Maintain with liquid wax and you never have to refinish your floors.

Today's trend is to paneling

Easy-to-use Minwax brings out wood's natural beauty. Simply apply Minwax Wood Finish to the panel after sanding it thoroughly. Then add a light touch of Minwax Finishing Wax. The result is a rich, hand-rubbed look. For authentic Colonial effects, try Cherry, Ipswich or Puritan Pine. Modern effects include Driftwood, Straw or Spruce Gray.

Unfinished furniture

Minwax imparts a rich, warm glow to unfinished furniture . . . cabinets . . . new shelves and wood trim. Choose wood with uniform grain and sand silk-smooth. Finish as above in your choice of Minwax quick-drying colors.

For over 50 years Minwax Wood Finishes have been the standard of quality with architects, custom builders and antique dealers. Also economical and easy to use are Minwax Finishing Wax, liquid or paste, and that wonderful new repair stick for surface scratches — Blend-Fil.

If you drink
Cointreau
you'll be arrested!

True. That exquisite orange flavor is arresting. Delectably different. By itself, after dinner (tonight!). In highballs. In the tastiest of cocktails, the Side Car. P.S.—Cointreau Liqueur and its 19 companion cordials are magical in the kitchen, too, in main dishes and desserts.

Banana Meringue au Cointreau:

Split 6 bananas lengthwise. Macerate for 1 hour in mixture of 2 oz. Cointreau Liqueur and 2 oz. brandy. Draw off liquid and saute bananas in butter for 10 minutes on slow fire. Twenty minutes before serving, prepare meringue: Beat 5 egg whites, gradually adding 10 tablespoons of sugar. Pour half of maceration juice over bananas. Add another 1 oz. brandy. Set aflame. Cover bananas with meringue. Place in hot oven to brown lightly. For other interesting food and drink recipes, write for your free copy of "Gourmet's Guide" to Dept. 5.

Try Armenian Meat Balls with Chapatties and thick sour cream to give a Near Eastern flavor to your next party.

ARMENIAN MEAT BALLS

The Near East, noted for its fine lamb dishes, provided the inspiration for these flavorful meat balls, prepared with American products.

TO PREPARE: 40 MIN.

TO COOK: 30 MIN.

- 1 lb. ground lamb
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/8 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 cup small soft bread cubes (about 2 slices)
- 1 cup chopped parsley
- 1/3 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
- 1/4 cup shredded Parmesan cheese

GOOD FOR FREEZING

1. Lightly mix lamb and egg together in a bowl. Blend in a mixture of next three ingredients. Add cheese, bread cubes, parsley, and onion; toss lightly to blend. Shape into 18 2-in. balls.
2. In a skillet, heat butter; add meat balls and brown evenly on all sides, turning gently.
3. Remove balls to a shallow 1-qt. baking dish; pour tomato sauce over meat balls and top evenly with the shredded Parmesan cheese.
4. Cover dish and set in a 350° F oven for 20 min.; remove cover and cook an additional 10 min. Sprinkle with additional Parmesan cheese before serving, if desired. 6 servings

ONION SOUP LES HALLES

In this quickly prepared version of the onion soup made famous by Les Halles, the huge Paris market, canned vegetable juices and consommé are substituted for the long-cooking meat and vegetable stock used in the traditional recipe.

FOOD RECIPE

TO PREPARE AND COOK: 20 MIN.

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 large onions, coarsely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/8 teaspoon thyme
- 1 large sprig parsley, snipped
- 2 teaspoons tarragon vinegar
- 1 can (about 1 1/2 cups) condensed beef consommé
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 12-oz. can (about 1 1/2 cups) cocktail vegetable juices
- Buttered toast rounds
- Shredded Parmesan cheese

1. Heat butter in saucepan; add onion and garlic and cook about 5 min.
2. Stir in next eight ingredients. Simmer about 10 min.
3. Serve piping hot, floating a buttered toast round, topped with shredded Parmesan cheese, in each bowl of soup. About 1 qt. soup

ZUCCHINI IN SALSA VERDE

A Tuscany contribution is this deep-fried zucchini, marinated in a subtle sauce and served at room temperature as a meat accompaniment.

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN.

TO DEEP FRY: 2-3 MIN.

(allow time for zucchini to marinate)

- Hydrogenated vegetable shortening, lard, or cooking oil for deep frying
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- 1 clove garlic, crushed in a garlic press or minced
- 2 anchovy fillets, finely chopped
- Few grains black pepper
- 4 zucchini squash, washed and thinly sliced

1. Start heating the fat to 365°F.
2. Meanwhile, blend together the next six ingredients in a small bowl and set mixture aside.
3. Coat zucchini slices lightly with flour. Fry in hot fat, turning frequently, until lightly browned, 2 to 3 min. Remove with a slotted spoon and drain on absorbent paper. Sprinkle lightly with salt.

4. Put zucchini into a bowl; pour the sauce over it and toss lightly to coat well. Cover and set aside at least an hour before serving. 4 servings

CHAPATTIES

This is an interesting version of the unleavened breads so prevalent in the Middle East.

TO PREPARE: 15 MIN.

TO BAKE: 3-4 MIN.

(allow time for dough to rest)

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup whole wheat flour
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1/2 cup water

1. Sift the flour and salt together into a bowl; blend in whole-wheat flour.

THE DIN OF

A Den Mother "sounds off" and tells what she thinks should be done to improve Cub Scouting

BY MARTHA HUTCHISON

"DO THESE kids act that way at home?"

"What am I accomplishing?"

"I don't know whether to take tranquilizers or feed them to the Cubs!"

You're reading (word for word) just a few of the comments I have listened to from other harassed Cub Scout Den Mothers over the years. Much of the work they do—and it's hard work—seems to them to be a waste of time and effort. And, I must admit, most of the time I have shared their frustrations.

This is the way it usually goes. Six or eight gold-trimmed, blue suits assemble for a Den meeting. In each suit is housed a boy who has sat in school long enough that day, pasted, cut and squooshed clay enough; studied about Canada or Alexander Graham Bell or pioneers enough.

Now he figures he has earned his medal for the day and is entitled to act like a growing child who has much unfinished business of his own invention left over from yesterday. The "club is met," however—and the Den Mother is obliged to make it work. Dependent upon the personalities of the group, or the mood at the time, she may exhaust every persuasion she knows but with little success.

Here is one experience I remember vividly. The subject for that month was Alaska, and the whole idea was to carve an object out of soap that was at least vaguely connected with that locale. My little Cubs had been delighted with the suggestion that they carve sleds, sled dogs, igloos, whales, or a number of other simple objects, but the minute they felt that soap give easily under their touch, destruction rather than creation took over.

Visualize these fellows flaying chips of soap like hungry termites! Fortunately, I had given each boy a tin for scraps which kept fifty-percent of the shavings off the floor, but such butchering at a bar of soap has seldom been seen, even back when Grandma shaved her washday supply.

While this was going on, the air was shaking with the volume of unleashed running and jumping still held insecurely under those Cub uniforms!

Cub Scouts aren't really villains and varmints. Under other circumstances these are the same boys who get into a few scrapes here and there, are active, noisy, interesting, and normal children. They're the same kids that visit and play with my offspring and yours all the time. They come in a number of flavors of dispositions and interests, but almost all are quite acceptable in homes—one at a time or six at a time—until

by Mrs. Dan Gerber,
Mother of 5

Many a new mother is apt to worry about whether her baby gets enough sleep. Strangely enough, most babies get the amount of sleep they need. Reassuring to remember that sleep patterns vary, just as all baby behavior patterns do. A high-voltage baby tends to sleep less than a take-things-as-they-come baby, but there is no evidence that a wide-awaker does not thrive as well as a sleepyhead.

Night owls or sleepyheads have a tendency to eat with special relish when menus feature Gerber Strained Foods. And small wonder! They're "custom" cooked for babies. Flavors are delightfully natural, the texture ever so nice to the tongue. And they're mildly seasoned the way they should be for a young baby. All are prepared by specialists who are wise in the ways of infant nutrition.

Baby will snooze more happily if he's comfortable. Night togs should be loose and nonrestricting. Check to make sure there's at least 2 fingers of space between baby and his diaper.

Fun and games plus mild exercise, to keep baby reasonably active during waking hours, usually help baby sleep longer and more soundly. Peace and quiet just before bedtime has a lulling effect.

Convenience for you . . . nourishment for baby. Now, all Gerber Strained Foods come in Wide-Top® jars with Quick-Twist* caps and Shop-Easy labels. A quick ¼ turn and baby's food is ready to spoon out easily . . . right down to the bottom of the jar. Another quick ¼ turn recaps the jar to refrigerate any unused portion. New labels speed shopping time because the variety names are right at the top. *T.M., GPC

Important: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods: cereals, strained and junior, to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

THE DIN OF THE DEN

they're draped in blue and gold. With this camouflage, I find, you often can't recognize the same child at all.

The problems that Den Mothers endure are caused by two things. We're cramming "another helping" into days already crowded by school, and the Cubs are telling us quite clearly that they're bored. Secondly, they are still too young to be interested in such "organized club work." You'll notice that any back-yard club they set up themselves is very elementary.

They may have a few rules, but mainly it's a place to sit and visit or hide from the rest of the world.

Why are we so deaf to the message the Cubs are sending us? They aren't benefiting from this "grand experience" we're providing for them. Their behavior clearly proves that remedies are necessary to make Cub Scouting the worthwhile venture it was intended to be.

Put away the crayons and paste, I say. Hold gatherings less often during the school year. And please! Let's cut out the feeble schemes to earn badges and all the book-keeping about who "earned" what. If they enjoy being classified as "Bobcats" and "Lions," why not do it simply on the basis of attendance?

Stop imposing on already full school days—Den meetings should be held during summer months only. A weekly meeting with more distant friends might be good diversion then. Without the limitation of school hours, a variety of interesting activities becomes possible.

Most boys, says Mrs. Hutchison, are as naturally good-natured and well-behaved as these shown with her here, but boredom can convert any active Den into a group of restless, uninterested Cubs.

Add to this the Cub Scout Oath, two announcements, a salute to the Flag, and light refreshment.

There'll be no need for the clever little games and pleas for "Quiet" while the adults attempt to enforce the format of a young businessmen's meeting in defiance of scuffling feet and scraping chairs.

I'm sure that Scouting councils will be more than happy to help pull together a program that is better adjusted to the needs and interests of the boys. After all, that's what they're there for, isn't it?

The kids would still have their eye-catching uniforms to wear; they'd still be part of the gang. The gang would now be honestly accomplishing something. Benefits to the Cubs would be real, not just fancied. They might even look forward to becoming Boy Scouts!

As it stands, we've been trying to fit Scouting to Cubs. The trousers are not only too long, they are too big around to take in a few seams successfully. Let's use the shears and cut a whole new pattern—Cub size!

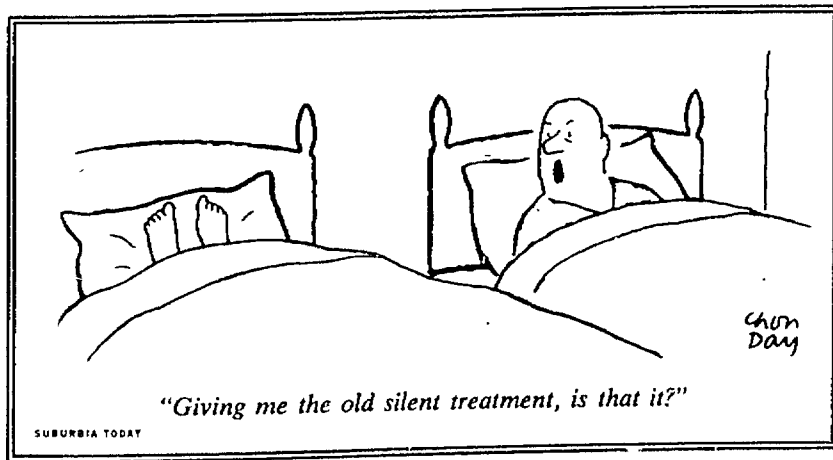

The Den could "go places and see things"—visit the local print shop or the zoo. There are numerous places with appeal for boys from eight to eleven years. Many are close to home, and most businesses are more than willing to cooperate with small groups "on tour." Paste on their fingers may be old hat, but a printing press is absolutely fascinating!

Eight or nine such weekly jaunts, one lunch-time "cook out," or a nature walk investigating the flora, fauna, and snails in a nearby creek would easily fill the number of summer Den meetings with pleasures and knowledge.

Schedule only the monthly Pack meetings for the year-round. Invite an adult who can capture Cub imagination with information about life aboard ships; forestry; newspaper reporting; a sharpshooter to emphasize gun safety; a veterinarian. The high-school coach will be full of tips for budding athletes; a tree surgeon could amaze them with the ailments of trees.

Allow fifteen or twenty minutes with another five if there are lots of questions.

Which came first, Gordon's or the Martini?

When Alexander Gordon introduced his gin to London in 1769, the martini had not yet been invented. So when the martini finally did arrive—around 1850—it had ready access to Gordon's remarkable dryness and flavour, and the martini's success was thus assured. Tonight, when you ask for a Gordon's martini, you'll be glad to know the gin harks back to Alexander Gordon's original formula. Why should we tamper with a good thing, especially when it's the world's biggest seller.

NEWS! The

It's respectable...it's here to

TODAY THERE ARE four times as many short courses round the country as we had in 1955, and Gene Sarazen is predicting that in fifteen years they'll outnumber the long. If they had been promoted twenty-five years ago in his heyday, he says, par-three golf would now be the nation's number-one sport.

With the term "par-three," which came into use about ten years ago, short-course golf took on its fully developed character: nine or eighteen complete holes, each of them short enough for a possible score of three (on or near the green in one, down in two more). Except in scale, the short courses are similar to the layouts of their conventional relatives in all details of tees, greens, fairways, and hazards—including, sometimes, such trimmings as a clubhouse and elaborate service facilities.

As of now, over-all lengths vary widely from course to course, but a growing number of purists insist that the real par-three will call for the use of every club in the bag and will run to enough length to accommodate some long wood shots.

In any case, from under 600 to over 2700 yards is the present eighteen-hole length range, with individual hole length limited only by the USGA rule which sets 250 yards as the maximum yardage allowed. In practice, it may all work in much the same way as it does at the Oak Lawn Golf Center outside Chicago.

THIS PAR-THREE COURSE, like many of the other 374 spread across the country, functions as part of a community center, which has added to its attractions by including the course. It spreads altogether over seventeen acres, with nine holes as follows:

- |              |              |              |
|--------------|--------------|--------------|
| 1. 110 yards | 4. 205 yards | 7. 170 yards |
| 2. 185 yards | 5. 125 yards | 8. 230 yards |
| 3. 140 yards | 6. 150 yards | 9. 160 yards |

The Oak Lawn player can not only get a challenging round on such a course for the moderate fee of, say, 75 cents, but for a little extra outlay he can also sharpen up on the driving range or practice green, while a nongolfing companion, in the meantime, can find diversion on the Tom Thumb course unless he wants to rent some sticks and balls and give the real game a try.

Par-Three Golf Course

stay...and more people play the short courses every year

Today many beginners edge into the game the par-three way, where before they might have quailed at the expense and all the paraphernalia that are required for sampling regular golf.

Setups, of course, vary throughout the country. Many of the most beautiful par-threes, as in Florida and Texas, are run as adjuncts to hotels. California, which tops all other States with a total of 76 par-threes, leans to swimming pools and restaurants as extras. Some establishments night-light their courses for more hours of play, some provide children's play areas—supervised.

Whether all this is really "golf" is no longer a serious question. Bobby Jones boosted par-three into permanent standing by staging a warm-up round on his new nine hole "Little Masters" before the start of the 1960 Masters Tournament at the Augusta National Country Club in Georgia. The event, won by Sam Snead with a 23, not only delighted the spectators but dramatized the possibilities of par-three golf as a supplement to regular golf.

At the new Merrywood Country Club in Smithtown, Long Island, Club officers and the Club professional are happily forecasting the benefits to come from the 18-hole short course they are building. It will provide a quick and stimulating substitute for many players, who for some reason are unable to go a regulation course round—the five-thirty player, for instance, or the lady whose time is limited, or the older player. Beginners, they say, will start with more assurance there; it will drain traffic from the large course. The short course will tend to equalize the game between men and women (with the premium on accuracy), and it may give rise to a new kind of tournament featuring men, women, and teen-agers as the contestants.

Golf planners tell us that, with our present golf boom and rising population figures, by the year 2000 there will be a demand for ten times the golf facilities we have today. This is a strenuous outlook, and the par-threes figure prominently in some strenuous advance planning, which has to take into account the realities of the population explosion, overcrowding, the dwindling of available land, and rising costs. On economic grounds alone, the par-threes are bound to prosper.

Besides, they're lots of fun. Golf, everybody?

Flowers By The Spadeful

From now on, in full bloom, chrysanthemums transplant happily

BY JOHN BRIMER

DO YOU NEED FLOWERS to fill a bare spot in your border, something that will give you bushels of bloom right up to winter's first cold breath?

Chrysanthemums are your answer—they can be transplanted successfully and easily when they're in full bloom, and they will hardly know they've been moved, provided you follow a few simple rules. Here is the procedure:

If you have chrysanthemums growing in your garden already, water them thoroughly a day or two before lifting. Late-afternoon transplanting will give them the benefit of the night's coolness for recovery, but it is perfectly possible to transplant them at any hour. Gently tie the stems together to prevent breakage when you are digging and transporting them; an old stocking or other soft cloth is ideal for this. Insert a spade on all four sides of the plant at least six inches out from the stems and six inches or more deep, then lift out a good, deep spadeful of soil and roots. If you have soaked the soil deeply, the soil ball won't break up as you tote the plant to a new home. Dig a hole deep enough to contain the soil ball comfortably, and stir the soil at the bottom, mixing in well a handful of complete plant food, or compost if you have it.

Water well, and when it has soaked in put the root ball in place, fill around it with soil, and tamp lightly. Water again, then fill up even with the soil and soak the plant well. Untie the stems, and there you are. If the weather is hot and dry at transplanting, it may be well to shade your flowers for a day or two with a carton which is open on two sides for ventilation, thus allowing them to settle into their new home without undue strain. Keep watering two or three times a week unless you have enough rain to take care of the plant's needs.

Now is a good time, too, to get chrysanthemums from nurseries, for you can tell exactly what you are getting in height, color, and blossom size. They may be in pots or tin containers, or the nursery may have them balled and tied in burlap. Any way is good, provided the burlapped ones are freshly dug. I've used all three methods and never had a failure, probably because chrysanthemums are surprisingly tough for plants which seem so delicate.

When you get the flowers from a nursery, planting procedure is much the same as that outlined above. Soak the soil in the container well to insure that the soil adheres around the roots in a ball. Next, turn the pot upside down, holding the plant with one hand while striking the edge of the pot lightly on a wall or fence to loosen the root ball. It will then slip out easily and into its hole in the bed.

Tin containers should be slit in two or three places down to the base so that the sides can be bent outward, thus freeing the root ball. Be careful of the containers' edges! Burlapped root balls can be planted intact, the top of the burlap being untied then and buried alongside the roots, where it will disintegrate. In all cases, soak the plants well and shade if the weather is hot and dry, then water afterwards.

As chrysanthemums come into bloom, visit public gardens and nurseries to make notes of those you particularly fancy. Then you can order them in the spring and have a better idea of what you are getting. Many people order plants in the spring and plant them in pots, which are sunk into the ground in some part of the property where they keep on growing until time to use them in the fall. Then they may be brought in their pots onto the terrace or taken into the house in full, long-lasting bloom or replanted where you need them as outlined above.

However you use them, you can be sure of bushels of bloom all autumn.

INVEST • RETIRE - LIVE - IN BOOMING HAWAII!

Beautiful Hawaii! Land of swaying palms and hula girls, tropical vegetation and ideal year-round climate. Our newest state, Hawaii, also offers one of the best real estate investment opportunities available today. You can get in on the land boom in Hawaii by buying a homesite in the Black Sand Beach Subdivision.

The Greatest Land Boom in Our Nation's History!

Right now is the golden opportunity to own a big, beautiful homesite in the Black Sand Beach Subdivision in Hawaii. This investment opportunity in Hawaiian real estate is unique because of the tremendous growth since statehood and the increasing popularity of Hawaii as a tourist attraction and retirement haven.

There is a scarcity of land as only a small percentage is available for private ownership. The tremendous future predicted for Hawaii and the ideal year-around climate . . . temperature varies between 70.3° in January to 75° in August in the Black Sand Beach Resort Area . . . have already interested thousands of wise mainland investors into purchasing homesites in Hawaii.

Here is Why YOU Should Invest in Hawaii Now!

Through peace and war . . . through depression and prosperity . . . the history of land in Hawaii has been that of a steady increase in land value and price over the years, making it a gilt-edged investment. People who acquired land in Hawaii some years ago are now wealthy because of this steady increase in land values.

And if you have ever dreamed of an Island Paradise . . . a place of your own where you could "get away from it all" . . . you will want to own land in the Black Sand Beach Subdivision. Hawaii is the Land of Opportunity, a place to live and raise a family under ideal conditions; perfect climate; wonderful people and a bright future.

Hawaii's facilities for the sports-loving are unlimited. Within a short distance from the Black Sand Beach Subdivision are golf courses, tennis courts, bowling alleys, big game hunting reserves, skeet shoots, spectator sports stadia for baseball, football, basketball and polo, and the Blue Pacific for fishing, swimming, sailing, water-skiing, etc. And up in the mountain areas there is skiing.

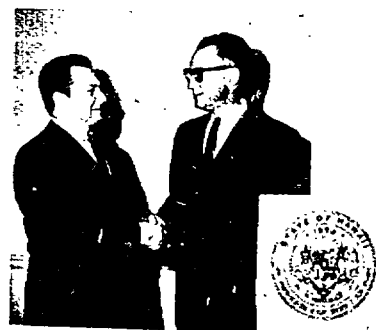

Now you can own a homesite in the Black Sand Beach Resort Area for just $10.00 down, $20.00 per month; total purchase price is only $1495.00. All homesites have road frontage, taxes less than $2.00 per year and there are no assessments. This beautiful area is AA, considered the finest land available in Hawaii.

You receive a deed and title insurance policy at no additional cost. Your property is sold on a six-month, money-back guarantee. You can lease out your homesite, build on it, or hold it as an investment for your future. It is located just a short distance from the world-famous Black Sand Beach of Kalapana in the heart of the Kalapana Resort Region. Also, you are less than twenty minutes away by paved highway from the largest city on the Island of Hawaii. Many of these homesites have a view of the Pacific Ocean.

Stir in butter and water to make a stiff dough; cover and allow to rest 1 hr.

2. Turn dough onto a lightly floured surface and knead until elastic. Break off into 1-in. balls and roll out into very thin rounds. (It will be necessary to exert great pressure to roll thin.)

3. Bake on a hot, lightly buttered griddle over low heat, turning frequently, until lightly browned, about 3 to 4 min.

4. To serve, accompany with thick sour cream or butter. 16 chapatties

SILLS' LAT (Herring Salad)

A smörgåsbord always includes herring if the true Scandinavian spirit of the occasion is observed.

TO ASSEMBLE: 25 min.

(allow time to prepare herring, meat, eggs, and vegetables)

- 1 lb. salt herring fillets
- 1/2 lb. veal, cut in 1/2-in. cubes
- 1 lb. medium-sized beets, cooked and peeled
- 2 small potatoes, cooked, peeled, diced, and chilled
- 2 medium-sized onions, finely chopped
- 1 large apple, washed and diced
- 1 1/2 tablespoons white vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Few grains pepper
- 1 cup chilled whipping cream, whipped
- 3 hard-cooked eggs (2 eggs, yolks and whites finely chopped separately; 1 egg, cut in slices crosswise)

1. Put herring into a large bowl, add 2 qts. cold water, and soak 3 hrs.
2. Put veal into a saucepan with 3 cups water. Simmer about 1 hr., or until meat is tender. Drain and chill.
3. Cut beets into 1/4-in. thick slices; cut slices into strips, 1/4 in. wide. Chill.
4. Drain the herring, dry on absorbent paper, and cut into 1/2- to 3/4-in. pieces. Combine herring, veal, potatoes, onion, and apple in a large bowl. Add a mixture of the white vinegar, sugar, salt, and pepper; toss lightly to coat evenly.
5. Turn the whipped cream over the herring mixture and toss lightly until thoroughly mixed. Add the beets and toss, being careful not to break the strips. Turn into a serving bowl and chill thoroughly. (If desired, the salad may be packed lightly into a 2-qt. mold.)

6. When ready to serve, spoon the chopped egg white around the edge of the salad, the chopped egg yolk over center. Arrange the hard-cooked egg slices in a circle between the chopped egg white and yolk. Complete the garnish with sprigs of parsley. Place a cruet of white vinegar, colored with beet juice, and a cruet of cream on the table so that each person may sour the salad to his own taste.

10 to 12 servings

HAITIAN ICE CREAM

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN.

TO FREEZE: ABOUT 4 HRS.

- 2 cups milk
- 2 sq. (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 2 cups cream
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract

GOOD FOR FREEZING

1. Put milk and chocolate into top of double boiler and heat over simmering water until milk is scalded and chocolate is melted.
2. Mix together sugar, flour, salt, and cloves; add gradually to milk mixture, blending well.
3. Continue stirring and cook over direct heat 5 min. Remove from heat and vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons of the hot mixture into the egg yolks; immediately stir into hot mixture. Cook over simmering water 10 min., stirring constantly, until mixture coats a silver spoon. Remove from heat; cool. Stir in cream and vanilla extract.
4. Pour mixture into refrigerator trays and freeze until mixture becomes mushy. Turn into a chilled bowl and beat with rotary beater until smooth and creamy. Return mixture to trays and freeze until firm, about 4 hrs.

About 1 1/2 qts. ice cream

Dieting can be fun—and satisfying. Here's how to eat-and-stay-thin and enjoy your meals.
