Al Green's On-The-Hill restaurant at 123 Kercheval avenue has been picked for top honors in the cocktail lounge class of the 1961 Institutions Interiors Award Program sponsored by Institutions magazine. Mr. and Mrs. Green and Walter B. Ford, head of W. B. Ford Design Associates, went to New York recently to receive the award.

Kennedy Brushes Off Park

(Continued from Page 1) and Park Police Chief Arthur Louwers and other Park officials. Cunningham's letter came close to suggesting that either an apology, or some advice on how to improve local police enforcement and the control of alleged criminal elements would be appropriate from Attorney General Kennedy.

The attorney general's letter made no distinction as to which Pointe he was referring to in his reply, which reads, verbatim:

"The matter relating to Grosse Pointe raised by the David Brinkley program are for the people and officials of Grosse Pointe to deal with. 'I would say that I am not aware of any instance where the police or officials of Grosse Pointe have not cooperated with the Department of Justice.'"

Cunningham stated that the short reply at least recognized the Park police were doing their duty, and could not prosecute perpetrators of the filmed incident because television personnel did not sign complaints.

"Other than that, the attorney general's letter evades the issues and certainly gives us little help. In effect, he tells us to do the best we can without bothering him. 'Frankly, I don't believe he has lived up to his responsibility as a national law enforcement official who should be willing to assist any unit of government willing to ask his help,' the mayor stated.

"Nor does he seem to realize the seriousness of his position or the effect it can have on such a thing as a television program. His note certainly isn't proportionate to the harm done my city's reputation. The program is now being shown overseas," the mayor said.

The mayor disclosed that although his three-page typewritten letter was sent to Kennedy by registered mail on October 27, it was not until Wednesday, that he received a reply, and a few days before that, a receipt of delivery of the letter.

Cunningham said that he will discuss his letter to Kennedy, the attorney general's reply and possible further action with members of the city council.

However, on Wednesday, some parts of the mayor's letter were released by the Attorney General in Washington. One part gave Cunningham's opinion of the Brinkley show on behalf of the Park:

"We feel that this program was unfair, scurrilous, and close to libelous in its implications of what the public officials of the City of Grosse Pointe Park do, or do not do."

On Monday, November 27, following a closed door discussion of the television incident and the letter from Kennedy, Mayor Cunningham and the members of the council unanimously agreed to let the entire unpleasant event drop, in hopes that they will be forgotten in time.

Prolonging the issue will serve no good purpose, the council stated.

The Council then voted on McLeod's original motion to deny the zoning ordinance amendment. The motion was passed by a majority vote, 5 to 2.

How They Voted

Councilmen Martin W. Chamberlain, David H. Fairless, Frederick M. Maddock, Kenneth R. McLeod and Mayor Kenneth H. Koppin supported McLeod's motion.

Councilmen Benjamin W. Pinkos and Marvin R. Boutin were the dissenting voters, Pinkos because he wanted more time to study the problem. Boutin stated that he had yet to find anyone who could give a reasonable alternative use for the property, a use which would

Radio for More Help

At the scene, the officers sent a radioed request to the Woods and Farms police stations for assistance, and emergency vehicles from these departments were sent to the accident area.

The Shores officers said that the car with the youths was traveling south on Lake Shore at a high rate of speed. At 881 Lake Shore, the vehicle went out of control and traveled 245 feet across the curb between the roadway and the sidewalk and smashed into the tree, demolishing the car.

Belmore and Suit were taken to St. John Hospital by Woods Sgt. Roland Symons and Patrolmen Everett Plumb and Edward Geatches; and Farms Firemen George Green and Lou Sney transported Davey and Champine to Cottage Hospital in the Farms emergency ambulance; and Lewis and Tucker were taken to Bon Secours Hospital by the Shores police.

Turned Away at Party

Following the accident, Shores police received information from St. Clair Shores authorities that Tucker, Belmore, Davey and Suit tried to crash a party at the home of George Galloway, 22321 Blackburn, St. Clair Shores. The boys were ordered away and left in a 1954 two-door Ford.

According to the information, the boys had been at the party earlier and had become intoxicated. They left and later returned.

Only two of the youths were able to give statements to Shores police, who questioned them at the hospital.

Champine said that he was picked up by Tucker at 9 p.m. Saturday at Ridge and Mack. In the car at the time, with Tucker, were Belmore, Davey and Suit. The group went to several eating places in St. Clair Shores, and then went to the Galloway party, where they met Lewis, who was with Champine's sister, Sally.

Sister Taken Home

Sally was taken home in Tucker's car. All the boys went for the ride. After dropping the girl off at her home, the boys returned to the Galloway party at about 10:45 p.m., but were refused admittance because of the alleged intoxication, Champine said.

An unidentified father of one of the young people at the party became angry with Belmore, following an argument, and struck him twice across the face. Belmore collapsed to the floor unconscious. Champine said.

Champine said that Belmore, who had a heart condition, was placed in Tucker's automobile to be taken to the hospital. The stricken youth was put in the center of the front seat. The other boys got into the car.

Told to Slow Down

At the curve at 1100 Lake Shore, Tucker was cautioned about speeding. He was traveling between 55 and 60 miles an hour, Champine said. Tucker slowed down to make the slight curve at 984 Lake Shore, and then again picked up speed.

Champine said he was sitting in the back seat just behind Tucker. He did not know anything after that until he found himself in the hospital, the youth said.

Davey gave police almost the same story, but denied that he had been drinking.

Radio Listener Complains Of Traffic Signal Static

Mrs. John Longe, 814 Lakeland, would like to listen to the radio in peace. The Longe home backs up to the end of Goethe, and there is a blinker light at University and Goethe to discourage cars from continuing on into the Longe backyard.

Unfortunately, every time the blinker blinks, all the radios in Mrs. Longe's home suffer from electrical static.

Mrs. Longe called City police on Monday, November 20, to complain about the static, and the police informed the Signal Department. Mr. Carrier of the Signal Department said that he would check to see if the situation could be rectified.

Mrs. Longe called again on Wednesday, November 22; her radios still buzzed whenever the blinker blinked, and she was getting a bit annoyed about the whole situation.

She was informed that the Signal Department had checked the blinker after her first complaint, but would check again on Friday, November 24.

Vandals Work On Parked Cars

Two reports of vandalism, both in approximately the same vicinity, were registered with City police during Thanksgiving week.

Bruce Kirk, 619 Notre Dame, called the City police station on Wednesday, November 22, to request that officers check his car, a '60 white Cadillac, parked in garage #50 in the terrace garage.

Someone had tampered with the car while it was in the garage, breaking the glass in both tail lights and bending the windshield wiper. A screw was also discovered to be out of the front light.

Kirk stated that he thinks the culprits may be young boys, as this sort of thing happens in the terrace garage about every 60 days.

Officers were notified to keep a special watch in the area.

The next day, Thanksgiving, Daniel J. Murphy, Jr., 634 Cadieux, reported two slash marks in the roof of his '61 Volkswagen.

Murphy had parked his car in the alley parking area for the terraces about 12:30 a.m.; when he returned to it at noon on Thursday, he found the roof damaged. The cuts did not go all the way through the roof.

Police are investigating both incidents.

3 Cases Heard In City Court

Three cases came before Judge Douglas L. Paterson at Grosse Pointe City Justice Court on Tuesday, November 14.

Roger Frederick LeSuer, 5744 Holcomb, Detroit, charged with reckless driving, was found guilty. He was fined $20 or five days in jail, and was placed on a year's probation, subject to two conditions: no drinking and no driving.

Crystal Barrett Connolly, 376 Neff, also charged with reckless driving, was found guilty of interfering with moving traffic. Her sentence was suspended.

The charge of reckless driving against Leona Elizabeth Beemer, 1006 Wayburn, was dismissed.

Phony Check Artist Caught

Peter Amato, 35, no address, arrested by Detroit detectives of the Bad Check Squad, admitted passing two checks in the Woods, clearing the cases from the books.

Woods police were notified on Tuesday, November 21, by Detroit authorities that Amato was taken into custody on Thursday, November 9, and under questioning, admitted passing bad checks at two Woods supermarkets.

Amato confessed to passing a check in the amount of $45 on September 16, at the Wrigley Supermarket, Mack near Moross; and a check in the amount of $40 at the Food Fair Supermarket, Mack and Lochmoor, also on September 16.

Both checks were signed with a forged name of Dominick Morabito, and drawn on the Detroit Bank and Trust Company.

Woods authorities said they will compile their complaint with that of Detroit police who are holding Amato on several charges of passing the phony papers in their city.

After World War I, he worked as a reporter, editorial writer and editor for the El Paso, Texas, Herald. In 1927, he came to Detroit to begin work for the Detroit News, where he presently serves as military analyst and editorial writer.

During the second World War, his military assignments included Consultant to the Secretary of War and Chief of Orientation. He also established the Army News Service, wrote the U.S. policy on Americans of Japanese blood and developed plans for indoctrination of enemy prisoners of war. He participated in the invasions of the Gilberts and the Marshalls in the Pacific and the battles in Normandy, Brittany, the Ardennes, Holland, the Ruhr and East Germany in the European theater.

He also was appointed Chief Historian for the European Theater and, in 1945, became official historian for the Armies of Occupation.

He returned to civilian life in 1946, but in two years was recalled to write the initial staff studies for NATO. Later, he served in Korea, the Sinai Peninsula and Lebanon. In 1960, he retired from the Army as a Brigadier General.

His medals and decorations include the Legion of Merit and the Bronze Star with Cluster. In addition, he has received decorations from the governments of France, Belgium, Italy and Ethiopia. Woods Realty Office Robbed

The thief who broke into a Woods real estate office during the morning of Wednesday, November 22, has a small amount of change for pocket money and enough postage stamps to keep himself supplied for a long time.

Police said that the burglar broke into the H. M. Seldon Realty branch office, 18530 Mack avenue, sometime between the hours of 9 p. m. on Tuesday, November 21, and 8:45 a. m. on Wednesday, at which time the burglary was discovered by a company salesman, Lawrence Schmidt of 375 Fisher road.

Entrance into the building was gained by jimmying the rear door, police said. The thief, or thieves, ransacked 12 desks in the office, three of which were locked and were forced open with a jimmy bar.

Missing from the office, were five rolls of four-cent postage stamps, valued at $80; a roll of stamps, about half used, value, $10; and six dollars in change from a petty cash box in a desk in front of the building.

Schmidt told police that he arrived for work about 8:45 a. m. and tried to enter the building through the rear door with a key, but it appeared jammed. He entered through the front door and went to the rear to check the back door and discovered that it had been forced and the lock sprung.

John P. Weber of 3992 Beaconsfield, Detroit branch manager, told police that Harvey Hickey of 3547 Belvidere, Detroit, another salesman, had closed the office at 9 p. m. the previous evening and everything was in order at the time.

Woman Rescued From Park Fire

A Park woman, overcome by smoke when her second floor home caught fire Tuesday morning, November 28, was taken to Bon Secours Hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation.

Park Fire Chief George deCausin said that the fire heavily damaged the home of Mary Asselin, 40, of 1324 Lakepointe. Firemen had to carry her down a ladder when flames barred the exits. She was transported to the hospital by police ambulance.

The chief said that the woman suffered singed eyelashes and eye brows, besides the smoke inhalation. Otherwise, she was not hurt.

The fire was started by the woman who fell asleep on the living room couch while smoking a cigaret. The entire living room and its contents, with the exception of a television set were destroyed, the chief said. Smoke and heat damage throughout the upper flat was extensive, he added.

Firefighters were telephoned the alarm by an unknown caller at 11:11 a.m. All equipment was rushed to the Lakepointe address, and the fire was brought under control and extinguished within minutes. Firemen and equipment returned to the station by 11:30 a.m., Chief deCausin said.

The building, converted into an income, is owned by Otto Ghanert of the same address, who lives in the downstairs section of the house.

There was no smoke or water damage to this part of the building, the chief said.

Thief Ransacks Doctors' Suites

A thief broke into Dr. H. C. Allison's office, 383 Fisher road, late last Saturday night, apparently in search of ready cash.

City police officers Duncan MacEachern and Virgil G. Beaupre reported the breaking and entering early on the morning of Sunday, November 26. The burglar gained entrance to the doctor's office by breaking the glass above the lock on the rear door.

After ransacking Dr. Allison's office in search of money, the thief entered the front vestibule of the building, which houses several other offices. He proceeded to remove the glass from three doors just above their locks, and reached in, unlocking the doors.

He then ransacked the offices of Dr. Ross Scharfenberg, the building's owner; Dr. Frank Parcels; and John T. Hoag, whose real estate office is located in the building.

Desks and drawers were forced open with a 3/4-inch pry bar, and the offices were left in general disarray.

According to City Police Chief Thomas V. Trombly, the burglar was apparently in search of cash and nothing else. He escaped with about $10, leaving radios and other valuable articles behind.

The matter is under investigation.

Pvt. Robert T. Bruton Gets Commendation

Pvt. Robert T. Bruton, of 280 Stephens road, recently received a letter of appreciation for his five-week tour of duty in the Pentagon, Washington, D. C.

Bruton, 24-year-old University of Michigan graduate, recently completed a six months tour of duty with the Army. His duty included basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.; and 11 weeks at Military Intelligence School, Fort Meade, Maryland. Bruton is presently attached to the 300th Military Police Prisoner of War Command, Dearborn, Michigan.

Bruton handled information on foreign nationals in the Pentagon.

Col. C. A. Reinhard, acting chief of the collection division in Washington, cited Bruton for his "excellent contributions in carrying out his assignment with the Exploitation Branch."

Bruton is an IBM programmer with the Ternstedt Division of General Motors.

Commanded by Brigadier General Richard T. Henshaw, Jr., the 300th MP POW Comd. is the only unit of its type in the Army.

It was originally developed because of the need shown in World War II and the Korean conflict for a trained organization to take charge of prisoners of war from the battle area, transport and process them, and supervise their confinement.

Mrs. Loraine Lieder is not completely new to the Grosse Pointe Public School System having served as a substitute teacher during the past year or so. However, she is now a regular member of the staff although only teaching a morning kindergarten section at Richard. A Canadian by birth, she completed high school in Detroit and took her degree from Eastern Michigan.

She taught in the Detroit Schools for a number of years prior to coming to Grosse Pointe. Community interests such as Cub Scouting, The Torch Drive, and church activities take much of her time. Two sons, 10 and 6, attended Ferry School. Spare moments sometimes find her studying on the electronic organ. Mr. Lieder is in the insurance business.

Belleville, Michigan is Mrs. Annamae Martin's home and where she was educated. College training was accomplished at Albion and Wayne State where she earned her B.A. An interesting experience occurred when she was selected to participarticipate in a Political Youth Conference, sponsored by the French Government, in Bougie, Algeria. Mrs. Martin previously taught in Detroit and, most recently, in the Lincoln, Mass., schools. Husband, George, practices law in Detroit. Travel, sewing and art are prime interests.

Reports Missing Jewelry Pieces

James Finerty of 900 North Oxford, called Woods police on Tuesday, November 21, to report a valuable watch and ring missing from his home.

Finerty told police that on Friday night, November 17, before retiring, he put his watch and ring on the bedroom dresser. The next morning when he got up, he discovered the items missing, and made an unsuccessful search of the house.

Investigating officers could find no evidence that the house had been forcibly entered.

Finerty said that the watch is of white gold with an expansion band and is valued at $175; the ring had a large emerald cut diamond on a gold mount and is valued at $3,500.

Police are still investigating.

Goodfellows

During the past years, the Lions inaugurated a new progressive step in community service. Scholarships are awarded annually to two graduates of any high schools situated within the limits of the Pointe communities.

The basis for the selection of successful applicants for these scholarships is based on their need of financial assistance; their scholastic record; extra-curricular achievement, and qualities of leadership; their soundness of character, and their promise of college success and future civic usefulness. All school graduates in the Pointe have been invited to engage in the competition for these scholarships.

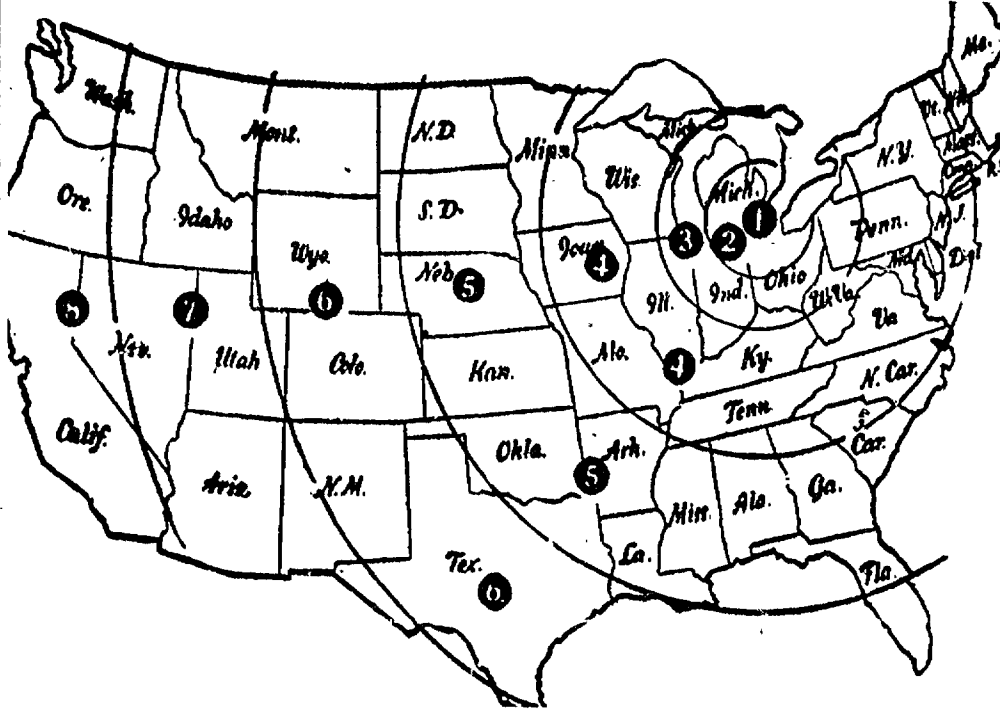

However, in no sense should the altruistic aims of the Club be viewed in the light of a giveaway gesture. It is operated much the same way as any healthy business. A sensible and reasonable restraint of the purse strings is exercised by George Elworthy, Pointe Welfare Director.

Expenditures and advance of funds is authorized by the club after careful consideration of recommendations made by Mr. Elworthy, and only after diligent investigation by him.

MISSIS $350 BRACELET

Fred W. Pearce of 396 Chalfonte avenue, informed Farms police on Tuesday, November 21, that a gold charm bracelet, valued at $350, was missing from his home. He said the bracelet was last seen in a jewelry box on August 15. One charm bore the name "Leslie," and the others were in assorted forms including a bicycle and dog.

Rotunda Offers Yule Fantasy

Ford Motor Company's ninth annual Christmas Fantasy opens to the public Saturday, November 25, at the Ford Rotunda in Dearborn.

As ever, the feature attraction for children is Santa Claus and his collection of toys and gifts.

Santa's North Pole castle is displayed this year in a "Night Before Christmas" motif. In keeping with the theme, Santa's helpers are seen working busily to prepare for his annual Christmas Eve trip. Nearby, Santa's cooks are making cakes, cookies and candy. Youngsters will find Santa inside the castle gate, guarded by wooden soldiers, and may give him their Christmas requests and receive a Christmas coloring book.

From the land of fairy tales, Wee Willie Winkie and Humpty Dumpty perform their traditional roles. A circus theme, complete with animals, wagons, and clown band, also is featured.

The central religious theme of the Fantasy—one of the nation's best-known holiday presentations—is a life-size Nativity scene in the Rotunda center court. Represented in the tableau are figures of Mary and Joseph, the Christ child, the Wise Men and their camels, and shepherds and their sheep.

The background motif for the Nativity scene is a full-size reproduction of a church organ, with organ music adding a touch of realism.

Another Fantasy highlight—a live, 33-foot-tall Christmas tree—glitters with 15,000 colored lights. Near the Christmas tree are more than 2,000 dolls dressed by members of the Ford Girls Club for distribution by the Goodfellows to underprivileged children. As usual, cartoons are shown in the Rotunda auditorium.

Rotunda hours for the Christmas Fantasy are 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily. The special exhibition will end at 3 p.m. Sunday, December 24, when the Rotunda will close for the Christmas holiday.

He was issued a ticket for speeding and another for not having his operator's license on his person. He posted a bond of $100 pending an appearance before Judge C. Joseph Belanger on December 13.

Two motorists were ticketed by Farms police on Tuesday, November 21, following a collision at Ridge and Moran.

Police said that Mrs. Marguerite K. Davis, 81, of 45 Beverly, was traveling north on Moran, and failed to heed a stop sign at Ridge and struck a car driven by Douglas A. Harris, 16, of 2627 Lyeaste, Detroit, who was heading west on Ridge.

Both drivers were taken to Bon Secours Hospital by Farms firemen for X-rays, when they complained of bodily pains. A passenger in Harris' car, John Corcoran of 2587 Ashland, Detroit, was not injured.

Mrs. Davis was issued a violation ticket for not stopping for a stop sign, and causing an accident, and Harris was given a ticket for not having his car under control.

Big Fall Rain Causes Floods

Rain and wind caused streets to flood and tree limbs to fall in the City of Grosse Pointe on Thursday, November 16.

At 10:30 a.m. Officer Donald F. Fritz reported the intersections of Goethe and Lincoln and Goethe and Washington flooded over the curb line. Later in the same morning, water and bubbles were reported coming to the surface in the street in front of 319 Lakeland.

The Highway Department was notified in both instances, and streets were clear by the early afternoon.

After the rain, the wind began to blow, and by 1:47 p.m. a large tree limb was reported down in front of 507 Rivard. At about the same time, Mrs. V. H. Condon, 701 Lincoln, called the City police station to report that upon returning home she found both rear patio doors wide open.

Officers Edward H. Behrend and Donald F. Fritz investigated, they determined the wind had blown the doors open.

Early in the evening, the owner of the rented home at 285 Rivard reported a tree limb down on his garage. In falling, the limb had pulled an electric wire from the garage. The investigating officers notified the Detroit Edison Company.

Driver to Face Pair of Charges

John Labute, 17, of 22000 Stephens, St. Clair Shores, posted a bond of $50 with Woods police on Wednesday, November 22, to make sure he appears in court on two traffic violation charges.

Labute was issued two tickets, one for not having his car under control and causing an accident and another for leaving the scene of an accident.

The youth was driving east on Hunt Club drive and failed to stop for the stop sign at Helen. He ran into the left side of a car driven by Donald Smith, 18, of 2161 Hampton, who was traveling north on Helen.

When Smith went to a nearby house to call police, Labute drove away, according to information given to Patrolman Jack Patterson. Smith said that Labute talked to him at the scene, but did not identify himself.

Patterson took the necessary information later while cruising on Mack, he drove into the Woods theater parking lot and saw a car that answered the description of that driven by the hit-and-run motorist. The officer found Labute eating in a restaurant next to the theater and took him in custody.

Labute was taken to the police station where he was given the two violation tickets, and posted the bond. He will appear before Woods Judge Don Goodrow on December 9.

Illinois Rector To Talk Here

"Are We Sure What the Church Is Really For?" is the provocative topic to be dealt with by the Reverend George F. Tittmann when he speaks at Christ Episcopal Church on Monday evening, December 4, and Tuesday morning, December 5. Mr. Tittmann is Rector of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest, Ill.

Author, lecturer, theologian, Mr. Tittmann will meet "the problems that bother modern people the most" with classical Christian answers.

In his book, "What Manner of Love?" he treats the Bible as a history of man under covenant with the loving God, and shows that only as man is in accord with this divine love can he fulfill a fruitful destiny. His method is to illustrate Biblical passages with down-to-earth experiences.

Mr. Tittmann was educated in St. Louis, at Harvard, and at the Virginia Theological Seminary. After a curacy at St. Michael and St. George in St. Louis, he served as Rector at St. Mary's, Arlington, Va. For four years he served as chaplain in the Navy. He is a devotee of the theater, and in the presentation of his material shows both dramatic and poetical gifts. He is editor of the "Overseas Mission Review."

Mr. Tittmann's "Christian Underthoughts" will keynote the discussion throughout the month of December in the weekly study seminars. Beside Stephen Bayne's "Christian Living", Mr. Tittmann suggests corollary reading in "The Suburban Captivity of the Churches," "God and History in the Old Testament," "God's Kingdom and Ours," and "Christianity and Modern Man."

Democratic Club To Meet Friday

The Grosse Pointe Democratic Club will hold an open meeting at the War Memorial on Friday, December 1, at 8 p.m. Democratic candidates for the 14th District Congressional seat vacated by the death of Louis Rabaut will speak on three topics of particular interest to 14th District voters.

They will discuss the extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act, how Michigan, and specifically Detroit, would benefit from passage of the Federal Aid to Education Bill, and what is being done at present to increase job opportunities in the 14th District.

Candidates appearing include: State Senator Harold M. Ryan; Louis Rabaut, son of the late representative; Martin W. Baginski, Probate Court director; Harold McLaughlin, president of the 21st Ward Democratic Club; Marvin Taormina, District Chairman of the 14th District; and Rolland O'Hare, president of the American Civil Liberties Union of Michigan.

The public is cordially invited to meet the candidates and hear the issues discussed.

Get rid of the past—build a future out of its lessons.

Center Offering Travel Movies

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial's "Meet the Travelers" series on Tuesday evening, December 5, at 8 o'clock will feature A. Griswold Herreshoff's color films of adventure by ship in the out of the way islands and lands "underneath the Equator" and also Leon Seyohan's underwater pictures filmed off Bermuda and the Bahamas.

The underwater sequences will show unusual pictures of the creatures of the deep and the interesting plants, contours, and debris of the ocean floor. Into this dim world enter men equipped with oxygen tanks, cameras and flippers.

Herreshoff's pictures will include the excitement of skirting a hurricane and arriving at the Mauritiu Islands in the Indian Ocean in time to give aid to the suffering population in the form of clothing and ship's blankets. French War Ships had things under control but the disaster was very real.

Another incident that provided thrills and some unusual pictures was an encounter with a stubborn and grumpy giraffe in Mozambique.

These adventure films are offered free of charge to the Grosse Pointe public.

Bal Moderne Slated For Saturday Night

Designers Create Ball Gowns for Magnificent Party This Saturday Evening in the Detroit Institute of Arts; Louis Armstrong to Entertain

The Futurist Exhibit which the Friends of Modern Art have brought to the Detroit Institute of Arts has inspired top couturiers to design ball gowns for Saturday evening's Bal Moderne at the Museum.

Philip Hulitar, Count Sarmi and Norman Norell are among the top fashion designers who have created gowns for Bal committee members. Mrs. F. Llywd Ecclestone is chairman of the Bal with Mrs. Semon Knudsen, co-chairman.

Hulitar used the Balla painting, "Girl Running on a Balcony," as the motif for Mrs. Allan Shelden III's boat-necked, full skirted turquoise and gold brocade gown.

Mrs. Roy D. Chapin, Jr.'s dramatic orange and gold brocade gown was inspired by Balla's "Mercury Passing Before the Sun" and designed by Count Sarmi.

Mrs. Joseph A. Vance, Jr., has a Sarmi-created gown of emerald chiffon, Grecian draped, which was created from Severini's "The Armoured Train."

The Bal itself, which will pay for the Futurist Exhibit at the Institute scheduled to remain through December 10, will be preceded by a sumptuous dinner.

About 200 couples will be served cocktails and canapes in the Rivera Court where the huge murals will be draped in white cloth. Boxwood hedges topped with papier mache white doves will ring the room, which will be lighted with 12-branch candleabra.

Dinner will be served at tables for 10 in the Great Hall. The tables will be covered with celadon green cloths topped with silver lame. The "Four Seasons" theme will be carried out in the flowers and centerpieces, which will be translucent cherubs lighted from within with amethyst, amber, sky blue and jade bulbs.

The menu is French beginning with Beluga caviar, smoked salmon, assorted cheeses, oysters Rockefeller, frog legs, shrimp, lobster Cardinale and crabmeat a la Newburg.

The first course will be California fruit cocktail in Jamaica rum. Then hot tomato bouillon laced with sour cream will be followed by Chateaubriand with sauce Robert Escoffier, Parisienne potatoes with parsley butter, spinach souffle, buttered cauliflower buds, glazed petite Belgian carrots, Italian green beans, and Kentucky Bibb lettuce with French endive in caper dressing vinaigrette.

Wines will be served with all courses and champagne served with dessert which will be a frozen coconut and pistachio nut bombe.

Following coffee and liquors the guests will dance to the music of Louis Armstrong in the Rivera Court.

Theater Casts Wolfe Play

The Grosse Pointe Community Theater goes into its final casting for its second major production, "Look Homeward, Angel," tonight. The play, adapted by Ketti Frings from a Pulitzer Prize winning novel by Thomas Wolfe, will be under the direction of Dean Erskine.

It is scheduled for February 2 and 3 at the Grosse Pointe High School Auditorium. Mr. Erskine is the GPCT's four-time annual award winner for best director.

Set in a boarding house, the play involves finely drawn characters in a tangle of emotions and explosive drama, sprinkled with wit. Ten men and nine women are required, ranging from age 17 to 60, from the sweetly innocent to the blatantly coarse.

Anyone interested is welcome to attend this evening at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Board Room, starting at 7:30. For information regarding membership in the Grosse Pointe Community Theatre, call Mrs. Donald White, TU 2-5725.

Roeckelein-Jackson Vows Exchanged

Newlyweds Will Make Home in Washington After Rites Friday in Christ Church; Bride Wears Ivory Peau de Soie and Brussels Lace

There was a distinct Elizabethan flavor to Linda Jackson's wedding Friday in Christ Church when she spoke her vows to Richard William Roeckelein.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gaylord W. Gillis, Jr., of Merriweather road and the late Richard Webber Jackson.

For the rites she wore an ivory peau de soie gown with an arrangement of tucks across the bodice and a rounded neckline. Her white satin cap was styled in the Elizabethan manner with a dangling pearl; falling from a point in the center of her forehead. The heirloom Brussels lace veil belonged to her aunt, Mrs. Kenneth Warren. She carried a bouquet of Eucharist lilies.

Astrid Delafield was honor attendant and the bridesmaids were Mrs. John Anderson, Bonnie Gillis, Nancy Fiske and Jane Evans.

They wore long Elizabethan gold brocade gowns and caps styled like that of the bride.

Richard W. Jackson, Jr., was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of the William Roeckeleins, of Syracuse, N. Y. A few years ago Mr. Roeckelein was organist for Christ Church.

Ushering were Alex Sucek,

Edgar Billups, Robert Beebe, Henry Luttinger and Carl Stout. A reception followed the ceremony at the Little Club. The couple will make their home in Washington, D. C.

Bridge Group Having Party

The Christmas Party to be enjoyed by the Bridge Group of the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club, will be held Wednesday, December 6, at the War Memorial Center.

The chairman Mrs. John Crane and co-chairman Mrs. Thomas Pearsall with their committee Mrs. Anthony Colett, Mrs. Victor Craig and Mrs. Arthur Peacock have been working hard on the unusual decorations for this gala affair.

The tea table centerpiece arranged by Mrs. Colett is to be given to the member with the highest score during the afternoon.

A buffet luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock and for those with only bridge in mind the play will start at 12:45. For reservations call TU 1-4837 or TU 1-6047.

St. Paul Ladies Set Yule Party

The Women of St. Paul Lutheran Church, Chalfonte and Lothrop, will find both spiritual and practical inspiration for the Christmas season at their general meeting and Christmas party on the evening of Tuesday, December 5, starting at 7:45.

Spiritual inspiration will be experienced at the more formal part of the meeting in the church nave, where they will start the festivities with the singing of Christmas carols and devotions. More practical stimulation will come when they view an elaborate display of table settings in the Christmas motif, in Fellowship Hall, by the Charles W. Warren Co., jewelers who are noted for their lovely arrangements and centerpieces.

Upon arrival at the church the ladies will learn to which circles they have been assigned for the 1962 season, and will sit together in their new groups for the candlelight ceremonies. One ceremony will be the installation of the new officers for 1962.

They are: president, Mrs. Ernest W. Deiss; vice-president, Mrs. James Herscher; secretary, Mrs. Howard Lavenberg; treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Dahl; education secretary, Mrs. Clifton Myll; and stewardship secretary, Mrs. Prosper DeCoster. Mrs. John Meindt will be installed as general devotions chairman.

After the formal meeting the ladies will adjourn to their new Fellowship Hall, where a handsomely appointed tea table will await them, with a generous choice of favorite home-baked Christmas cookies and tea or coffee. The ladies will then be free to view the Warren displays. Mrs. J. Herring, of Warren's, will comment on the settings, and answer any questions the ladies may have concerning them.

The refreshments have been planned by Mrs. Guy Ropp and Mrs. Willard Hosking. Mrs. Russell Stewart and Mrs. Bernard Schenk are in charge of the tea table. Visitors are always welcome at St. Paul's.

HENK VANLUNENBURG, sophomore son of MR. and MRS. H. A. VANLUNENBURG, of University place, will accompany the Alma College A Cappella Choir Tour to the Detroit area this Saturday and Sunday, December 2 and 3.

Mrs. Richard Roeckelein

In Christ Church Friday, LINDA JACKSON, daughter of Mrs. Gaylord W. Gillis, Jr., of Merriweather road, and the late Richard Webber Jackson, became the bride of Mr. Roeckelein. He is the son of the William Roeckeleins, of Syracuse, N.Y.

The Director of Admissions at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont, has notified PRUDENCE B. FREY of her acceptance to the college under their Early Decision Plan.

City Club Sets Holiday Dates

Christmas starts early at the Women's City Club.

Santa Claus came and left right after the Christmas Fair. But the tall Christmas tree, hung with jewel-like ornaments, tied with ribbons will remain all through the season, the gift of a friendly neighbor downtown.

Right up 'till the Calendar says Dec. 25, "Merry Christmas" (Club closed)-bringing a smile to all concerned with the distaff side, who served 800 Thanksgiving dinners, festivities are planned for every age and interest in the membership of more than 6000 women. Traditionally, members spend Christmas Day with family and friends (often enjoying the delectable food they had ordered from the Club kitchens).

On December 6, several days before the hanging of the greens, the Dolphins will have their Christmas Party Day at noon and the Business and Professional Group will have a good old-fashioned Christmas Dinner in the evening.

Scott Morrison, pianist and harpsichordist, will be guest artist on the Celebrity Series at 11 a.m. December 8, with luncheon following.

The following Saturday, December 9, the Juniors will get together at the Saturday Night Smorgasbord.

Bright and early Sunday, December 10, the Flower and Garden Committee (thirty top arrangers augmented by their husbands, who will help, too, and enjoy the Brunch served then at noon) will arrive to put up decorations all over the clubhouse in the theme "We Wish You A Merry Christmas".

Mrs. William J. Boustead and Mrs. William B. Keast, co-chairmen of the group, have been meeting for weeks with their follow-workers to plan something special for every room.

The Social Affairs Committee, headed by Mrs. Frederick Weyher, will give the traditional Christmas Tea (for members only) on Wednesday, December 13, from 2:30 until 5 o'clock. Mrs. Max E. Faulkner, tea chairman, has asked present and past presidents to alternate at the tea table, while board members and the Social Affairs Committee will be hostesses. Mrs. Max Rugg is co-chairman of arrangements for the party.

Aside from private luncheons and dinners and the regularly scheduled meetings of the Executive Committee, Finance Committee and Board of Directors December 14, 19 and 21, respectively, (never interrupted even during the hustle and bustle of Christmas preparations) the week of Christmas is fairly free from Club events.

Undaunted and always rested enough for a party, the day after Christmas, the Emblem

Gas Company to Give Yule Decor Program

"Christmas Decorations", a lecture and demonstration by Mrs. Gerald Gerathy, will be presented at the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company's Hospitality House, 16906 Kercheval avenue in The Village, on Wednesday, December 6, at 8 p. m.

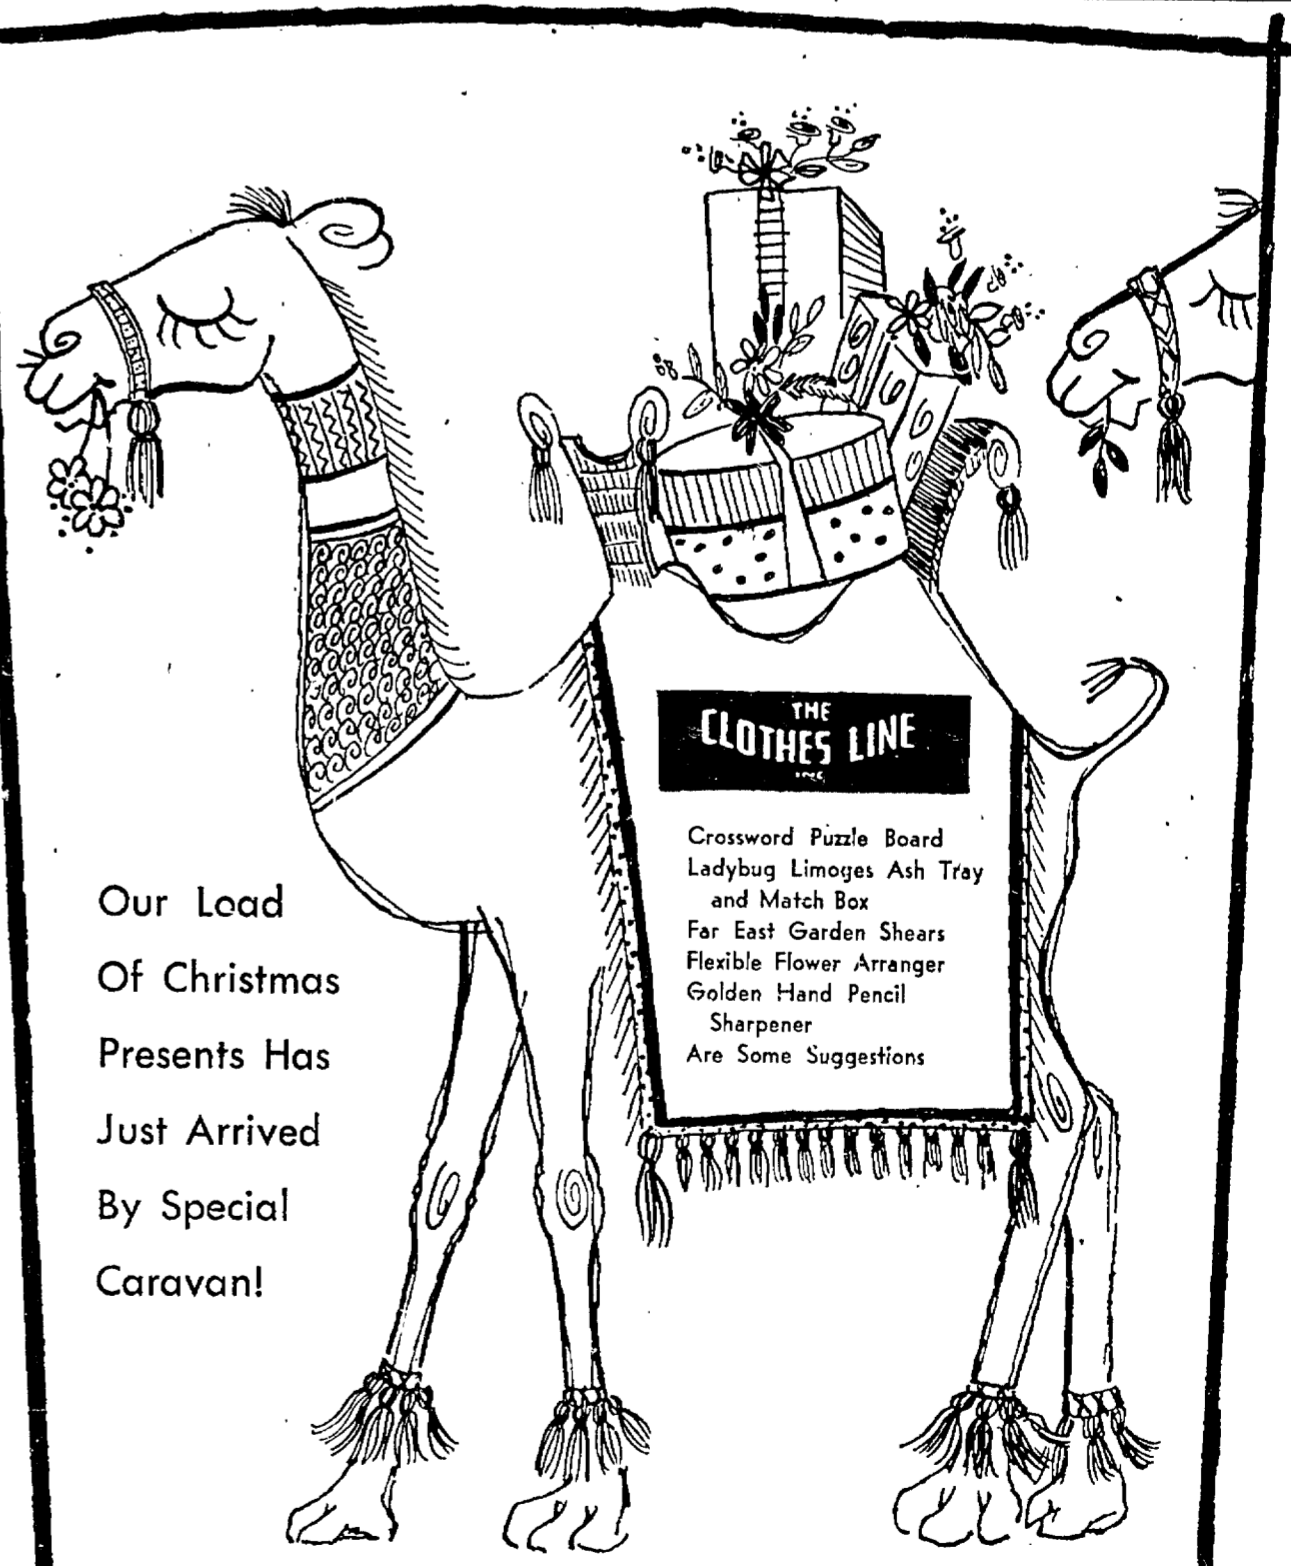

Tickets for the program, sponsored by the Detroit Jaycee Auxiliary, are $1 each. For further information call Lyn Houtman, LA 6-9638, or Dolores Dacl, LA 6-2083.

Club will have a frolic for teens in the evening, from 8:30 until 11:30 p.m.

A color and sound film showing masterpieces of art entitled "The Coming of Christ" will follow the Mother and Daughter Luncheon, Wednesday, December 27. Mrs. Joseph A. Miriani and her daughter, Mrs. Harry Kirk Denler, are co-chairmen of plans.

"Bumbles", a holiday play from Vanguard Playhouse, will be entertainment at the Happy Holidays Party, December 28, at 1 p.m. for children, planned by Mary Ball of the Program Committee. This event is as much fun for proud mothers and grandmothers as it is for the youngsters!

Smorgasbord dinners will be resumed in January, but the dining room will serve the regular menu Saturdays, December 23 and 30.

Busy Season Ahead At War Memorial

Pointe's Busiest Hostess Undaunted by Need to Serve 1,000 Guests Within Next Few Weeks; Recipes Disclosed

By Betty Collins

Grosse Pointe's busiest hostess is eagerly looking forward to entertaining more than 1,000 people at the varied festivities to be held at the War Memorial during the holiday season. She is undismayed by the fact that she will be called upon to serve refreshments and meals several times a day nearly every day for three weeks.

As she has for the past 12 years, Mrs. Anne McGinty, catering manager, will use her special talent to assure that all visitors to the War Memorial will be as graciously and tastefully entertained as they would be in any of the Pointe's loveliest homes.

Several of Mrs. McGinty's favorite recipes have become traditional at the War Memorial and guests look forward to having them served year after year. Among these are the Wassail Bowl, Christmas fruit cake, and roast cornish game hen on wild rice. Local hostesses who plan to entertain during the holidays are invited to try them.

Wassail Bowl
4 gallons apple cider
Juice and pulp of 32 oranges
Juice and pulp of 16 lemons
4 quarts sugar
2 teaspoons ground nutmeg
2 teaspoons ground cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
32 sticks of cinnamon

Mix above ingredients together and boil for about an hour. Strain and let stand overnight.

Boil again for one hour and add one gallon of cider. Strain and keep hot. Serve with slices of raw apple in bowl. Yield 8 gallons.

Christmas Fruit Cake

This recipe makes 120 two-ounce slices of cake. Six loaf pans are required.
1 pint butter
1 pint sugar
16 egg yolks, well beaten
1 pint sherry
3-1/4 quarts of vanilla wafer crumbs
1-1/2 quarts of raisins
1-1/2 pints shredded coconut
3 quarts diced fruit cake mixture
2-1/2 cups flour
16 egg whites, stiffly beaten
3-1/4 quarts of pecan pieces

Cream butter and sugar thoroughly. Stir in egg yolks and sherry. Mix in vanilla wafer crumbs. Coat fruit mixture well with flour and add to mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Mix in pecans by hand. Line loaf pans with aluminum foil. Put 1-1/2 quarts of mixture into each pan, pat down evenly. Bake over

Hartwig-Nemer Rites Revealed

In a double ring ceremony at St. James Lutheran Church last Wednesday Charlotte Nemer, of Muir road, became the bride of Alfred N. Hartwig, also of Muir road.

The bride wore a short white crepe dress and a white hat trimmed with pearls and crystals.

Mrs. Edward B. Blumke, of Roseville, was her sister's attendant and Benjamin Melachlin was best man.

A family reception was held at Stouffer's Eastland. The couple will live in Muir road.

A pan of water at 300 degrees F., 1-1/2 to 2 hours.

Roast Cornish Game Hen on Wild Rice

4 Cornish game hens, 16 ounces each

1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup sherry
1 cup water
3 tablespoons sour cream
1 teaspoon chives, finely chopped
1 pint wild rice
2 quarts of hot water
1/4 cup butter

Brush hens with bacon fat. Place in roasting pan and bake in a moderately hot oven, 350 degrees F., 25 minutes. Sprinkle with onion. Bake 30 minutes more or until done. Combine flour, sherry, and water with hen drippings. Simmer 5 minutes. Stir in sour cream and chives. Wash rice. Drain. Cook in hot water for 30 minutes or until fluffy. Stir in butter. Place 1/2 cup rice on serving plate. Top with cornish hen. Pour gravy over hen at table. Serves 16.

What appears to be a golden opportunity often turns out to be nothing but a mirage — it just won't stand the acid test.

English Holiday Feast Planned

Because the British are so particularly adept at staging Christmas and because so many meaningful Christmas Traditions in the spirit of Dickens have come from the English, the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association is planning a gala holiday banquet and entertainment billed as "An Evening in Great Britain" for Wednesday evening, December 13 at 7 o'clock.

The evening will be greeted at the door by a very correct and imposing London band.

The first course and savory Yorkshire pudding topped with flaming English plum puddings. Following dinner, bagpipers will herald the entrance of kilted dancers over the traditional Sword Dance over crossed blades and the Highland fling. These will be followed by a singer of English and Scottish best-loved ballads.

Beautiful color films of the British Isles will follow to complete a thoroughly delightful evening.

Susan MacDonald Says Wedding Vows

Weds Ralph Garlick Saturday in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church; After Reception at War Memorial Newlyweds Leave for Chicago

Susan Alane MacDonald, daughter of Mrs. Robert Duncan MacDonald, of Fleetwood drive, and the late Dr. MacDonald, was married Saturday in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church to Ralph Watkins Garlick, son of Mrs. Richard Garlick, of Bloomfield.

She wore her sister's wedding gown of Alencon lace over satin fashioned with a rounded neckline, long sleeves and a bouffant skirt with a deep inset of lace.

An ivory satin rose over a cap of lace caught her double-iered veil of French illusion and she carried butterfly orchids with stephanotis and ivy.

Her sister, Mrs. John M. Delaney, was matron of honor and another sister, Judith MacDonald, was maid of honor. They wore gowns of gold velvet with tiny velvet veiled halos. Bridesmaids Kathryn MacDonald and Helen Garlick wore brown velvet.

Richard Garlick was his brother's best man. Ushering were David VanEvery, Gregory Bevis and Ross Coutts, all of Birmingham. The bride's brother-in-law, John M. Delaney, escorted her to the altar. The Delaneys arrived from Tripoli last week to attend the wedding.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception at the War Memorial Mrs. MacDonald wore a silver and gold brocade gown and brown orchids. Mrs. Garlick was in taupe chiffon with a brown orchid. When the newlyweds return from a trip to Chicago they will make their home in Lakeshore Village.

Church Holding Supper Dec. 12

A candlelight supper will be held in the Social Hall of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church on Tuesday, December 12, at 8:30 o'clock. This is to be a combined meeting of their Women's Association and Men's Club, and all of the members of the church, and any of their friends, are invited.

Reservations must be made with the church office no later than Sunday, December 10.

Mrs. Richard Johnson, president of the Women's Association, and Mr. William Warden, president of the Men's Club, are urging all their members to attend. A beautifully appropriate Christmas musical program has been arranged by Mrs. Frank Taugner, program chairman of the Women's Association, and will follow the dinner hour.

"The Story of the First Christmas" will be narrated by Mrs. George Williams, and the Junior Choir of the Church, under the direction of Mrs. Albert Schlorff assisted by Mrs. Homer Howes, will provide the musical accompaniment. Louise Preston of the Junior Choir will sing the solo: "Away in the Manger".

Violin solos will be presented by Mr. James Taugner who will play "Oh Holy Night" and the Hayden Concerto in C Major. Mrs. Wayne Smith will sing the solo "Birthday of a King" accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Parshall.

Members of Group 1, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Claude Carver, and Group 4, under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. J. Mestrovic, will assist Mrs. Wray Donaldson, the Women's Association Culinary chairman, in preparing and serving the dinner.

A committee under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Barkley, will make special decorations which will be hung on walls of the dining room, and some will be for sale.

Mrs. Ralph W. Garlick

In Grosse Pointe Memorial Park Church Saturday, SUSAN ALANE MACDONALD, daughter of Mrs. Robert Duncan MacDonald, of Fleetwood drive, and the late Dr. MacDonald, was married to Mr. Garlick, of Bloomfield.

DAR to Hear Wilber Brucker

Two metropolitan chapters, Daughters of the American Revolution, have received invitations, through their National Defense chairmen, to join Elizabeth Cass Chapter at the City Club on Monday, December 4, when former governor of Michigan and ex-secretary of the army Wilber M. Brucker will speak.

Mr. Brucker's subject "National Defense" covers a field in which the DAR is vitally interested. Time is allocated at each meeting for information on topical subjects pertaining to National Defense. These may be based on patriotic, historical or educational facts which promote or enlighten public opinion on local, national or international levels.

Mr. Brucker is well qualified to speak on his subject. He served with the National Guard on the Mexican border in 1915 and as a member of the Rainbow Division he saw action in Europe and was awarded the Silver Star in World War I.

Before appointment by President Eisenhower as Secretary of the Army he was general counsel to the Department of Defense. In 1960 he received the Special Freedom's Foundation Award at Valley Forge.

He is active in Michigan and Federal Bar Associations and at present shares a law office with his son in Detroit.

Today we live in an age of bluff—and most of the people who keep up a front are behind.

Methodists Plan Yule Program

The traditional Christmas luncheon of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Grosse Pointe Methodist Church will be held on Tuesday, December 5, at the church. An outstanding program will follow the luncheon, which this year will begin with a wassail bowl in the church parlor at 12:15 p.m.

A buffet luncheon will be served, and is being prepared by the Ruth, Esther, Naomi and Susannah Wesley Circles of the WSCS. The members in charge are Mrs. Robert W. Reas, Mrs. James Hagen, Mrs. Wendell Nichols, Mrs. B. Beaufait, Mrs. Arthur Watts, Mrs. Clarence Slocum, and Mrs. Leo Luke.

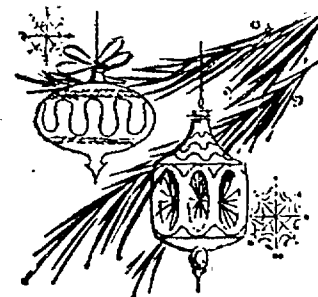

The theme of the program is "Jesus Christ, The Light of the World" and it is being given under the direction of Mrs.

William Bokram and Mrs. C. E. Blanchard. The differing ways that a family observes Christmas in England, Holland, Mexico and Sweden will be shown, with the return to Christmas and what it should mean to us in the United States.

Participants are Mrs. Donald Bentzen, Mrs. Guy Juenemann, Mrs. Richard Folden, and Mrs. John Rupp. The music will be provided by the soloist, Mrs. Ralph Rupp, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Shover.

Luncheon tickets may be purchased in advance by contacting Mrs. William Sloan, TU 2-0365. Reservations may also be made by calling Mrs. Sloan, or Mrs. T. A. Sparsholt, TU 1-4111, or Mrs. Albert J. Monro, TU 4-7053.

Inside The Mothers' Club

Many items of business especially that of program were discussed and acted upon by the Mothers' Club Board which met on November 6 at the High School. Eighteen members were present.

The Board is happy to announce that Dr. James Bushong has accepted the speaker's role for the Parents' Program Night on January 18. He will describe his findings on education from his recent Russian tour.

The president, Mrs. Albert D. Law, reported on her attendance at many meetings and on the decoration committee for the annual Christmas Tea which met at her home to work on decorations. The Christmas Tea will be on December 5.

Mrs. Arthur Sherman, corresponding secretary, had a busy month mailing schedules to all parents for Back-to-School Night, mailings rosters to churches and charter members.

Faculty advisor, Mrs. F. Flom, and faculty representative, Mrs. B. McCure, commented on their trip to the University of Michigan campus to visit former students of Grosse Pointe High School. "Our students at Ann Arbor are doing well. They seem to be happy and well adjusted," they said.

The students contributed $481.00 to the United Foundation and Mrs. G. Schroeder, historian, said that the coins were counted at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association and they also contributed the cashiers check to the United Foundation.

About 30 mothers of transfer students attended a dessert and coffee at Mrs. J. Frey's home and had a chance to become acquainted with each other and with the activities of the Mothers' Club.

Mrs. Gordon Cook, Membership Chairman, said that nearly 900 mothers had joined the organization and that she expected to enroll many more at the Back-to-School Night.

The program chairman, Mrs. Louis Carbone reported on Dr. Bushong's acceptance to be speaker for the big Parents Night in January. For the spring luncheon meeting at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, Mrs. Carbone announced that a fashion show by Furs by Robert will be the program.

Mrs. R. Herdgen had just recovered from serving refreshments for the 10th Grade Parents Night and she was holding her breath for her committee to serve approximately 2,000 parents who were expected November 7th at the Back-to-School Night.

The play tickets for "Ask Any Girl" were going well according to a report by Mrs. J. Bockstanz. The proceeds from the opening night performance are a major addition to the Scholarship Fund. The Pointe Players' productions are of the highest calibre and Mrs. Lav urges all who want an evening of excellent entertainment to attend.

Bus chaperones chairman, Mrs. M. Edelen, reported that during the football season, 15 buses were used for the four away games and a total of 33 chaperones helped on them. Buses will be provided for the basketball games.

Two reports from special committee chairmen were given: 1. A complete report on the step by step planning and ordering of the food for the Halloween party by Mrs. D. Vandebunte. 2. By Mrs. R. Wambold, details on the 10th Grade Party. There was discussion about the best kind of entertainment for parties such as these. Some suggested that a disc jockey program is better than an orchestra.

Board of Education representative, Mrs. W. McLaughlin, gave a resume of the Superintendent's last report. Of interest to the Mothers' Club was that the enrollment of the high school is 2,308; that there were eight National Merit Scholarship semi-finalists; that the summer school reading and study skills courses are well worthwhile; that the revised schedule for the high school is working well and that the library plans are being formulated.

MODERNIZED
In early days the effort to keep straight was a moral struggle—today it is a diet.

Cookies 'N' Bows

Crisp cereal cookies tied with red bows make gay decorations for Christmas trees. Children, especially, enjoy a cookie trimmed tree. Wrap the cookies in saran if they are to be on the tree for a long time. The ingredient use of the corn flakes in this recipe makes the cookies unusually crisp and crunchy. Breakfast cereals make contributions of protein, B vitamins, and minerals when used in cooking.

Corn Flakes Christmas Tree Cookies

1 1/2 cups butter or margarine	1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups brown sugar	2 cups corn flakes, finely crushed
3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder	Ornamental icing
1 teaspoon salt	Decorating candies and colored sugars
1/4 cup milk	Narrow ribbon
1 egg, beaten

Cream butter or margarine and sugar together well. Sift together the flour, baking powder, add salt. Combine milk, egg, and vanilla. Add flour mixture and liquids alternately to creamed butter or margarine and sugar. Mix well. Stir in corn flakes. Roll 1/4 of the dough at a time to 1/8-inch thickness on a lightly floured pastry cloth or board. Cut with floured Christmas cookies cutters. Place 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Use a toothpick or skewer to make a hole through cookie dough 1/4 inch from top and in center of cookie. Bake in moderate oven (350°F) 10 minutes, or until done. Remove from cookie sheet and cool thoroughly on a flat surface. Decorate tops of cookies with ornamental icing and appropriate decorating candies and colored sugars. Cut ribbon into 8-inch lengths. Thread ribbon through hole in top of cookie and tie to Christmas tree. Yield: 4 1/2 to 5 dozen cookies.

Council Rates TV Programs

"The Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and TV Council is one of only three in this country which combines both fields of entertainment in its study," said president Mrs. Robert Snow as she opened the Council's fall TV workshop on Monday, November 23, at the Main Library.

Delegates from 33 Grosse Pointe schools, churches and other organizations met in groups to assess the television programs they had been assigned to observe for the past two weeks.

"For our opinions of TV programs offered during the hours when children are watching we rely on our own Council members. For movies, however, we need help. Certainly, mothers who must be doing the family ironing while watching "Doctor Kildare" or "Ozzie and Harriet" can scarcely find time to see all the films. So, necessarily, we must offer a composite opinion on motion pictures from our three sources: the Legion of Decency, the Green Sheet which is a film estimate board of many organizations, and the Parents' Magazine's Family Movie Guide."

to tell what the film is attempting and how successful it is in accomplishing its purpose. In other words, we try to answer the question—if the reader likes this type of film, will he like this particular film. Regarding our ratings, the adult rating is based on entertainment value and artistry. Since we are not backed by a religious organization, it would be presumptuous of us to make moral judgments for adults. It is our job, however, to make moral judgments for young people and children."

Among the TV programs rated best for children and youth by the workshop meeting were: "Let's Look," "Sea Hunt," "Shari Lewis," "Realm of the Wild," "1, 2, 3—Go!" and "Meet the Press." No cartoons or movies are rated since these offerings are too variable to make an opinion.

Legion Auxiliary to Meet At Mrs. Auch's Monday

Ragan-Lide Unit, American Legion Auxiliary, will meet at the home of Mrs. Fred J. Auch in Buckingham road on Monday, December 4.

U. of D. Women's Guild To Have Holiday Tea

The University of Detroit Women's Guild will meet December 12 at 1:30 o'clock in the Student Union Building.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Edward Lovejoy, S.J., who will talk on "Christmas in the Holy Lands." There will be community singing and tea served under the direction of Mrs. Harry Brickley.

AAUW to Hear Con-Con Report

Progress on Con-Con and a book review meeting are highlights of two sessions next week for the Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The Legislative Program Group will feature several reports on the progress of the Constitutional Convention at Lansing. This AAUW meeting will be held on Thursday, November 30 at 9:45 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Taylor Seeber, 213 Merriweather road.

AAUW has campaigned for constitutional revision for 15 years and the group is carefully keeping track of what's happening at Lansing. Reports will be given on progress to date, followed by discussion.

Aim of the group is to keep its members and friends so well informed about Con-Con that they can cast intelligent votes when the revision will be presented at the polls for acceptance or rejection.

Also, meeting next week will be the Book Group of AAUW who will be hosted by Mrs. Wallace A. Temple at her home on 184 Fisher on Monday, November 27, at 1 p.m. Mrs. Paul Hykes will review "Times Three" by Phillis McGinley. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Cyril J. Barrett.

DYC to Award Swim Trophy

The Detroit Yacht Club Seagulls, (the distaff side swimming group), will have its annual luncheon meeting December 5, in the main dining room at 12 noon.

Seated at the head table with president Mrs. Donald Burgess, will be the new club's commodore Paul Roth, commodore C. Joseph Belanger, commodore Alfred F. Steiner, Stan Bryda, DYC's swimming coach and members of the board.

Commodore Roth will present the Holiday Trophy to the member having the highest number of pool merits for the current year.

There'll be a special table for the December birthday members.

How to Make Decorations

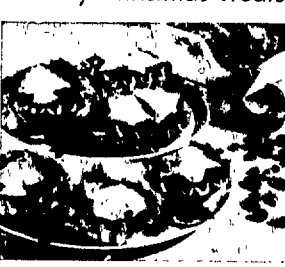

Holiday decorations will have more personality and will be enjoyed more for some months than it doesn't take great skill if you have a selection of aluminum foil gift wraps with which to work.

These foil gift wraps are available in brilliant printed colors with aluminum foil on one side and paper on the other. This makes it easy to use them for beautiful, professional looking gift tags and AND the leftover pieces are turned into a myriad of joy and lovely things in ornament the home during the holidays.

Try the simple made ornaments. First of all, you need you'll be required to obtain and make more.

Tasty Christmas Treats

These Kris Kringle Tarts combine the sweet and tart flavors of cranberry and strawberries. Cut-outs of bells, and other Christmas shapes give a festive look to these succulent holiday desserts. The filling for the tarts is thickened with quick-cooking tapioca to help keep the juices clear and sparkling... and just the right consistency.

Kris Kringle Tarts
 3/4 cup quick cooking tapioca
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 teaspoon salt
 2 cup seedless raisins
 2 cups fresh cranberries
 1 1/2 cups water
 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
 1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Mix tapioca, sugar with raisins cranberries, and water in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Cool. Stir in cranberries, walnuts or pecans.

Line five or six inch tart pans with foil and cut out stars, bells, tarts, etc. or any desired designs with tooth cutters. Fill the shells with fruit mixture. Arrange pastry cutouts on top. Bake in hot oven 125 to 150 for 20 to 30 minutes or until wrap fills with heavy bubbles that do not burst. Makes 5 or 6 tarts.

Stealthy Thief Snatches Purse

Regina Kamlay, 37, of 5250 Newport, Detroit, lost her purse to a thief who entered unnoticed into the Woods Medical Clinic, 19635 Mack avenue, on Thursday, November 9.

The woman told Woods police that she had left the purse in her desk in the front office, and that the theft occurred between 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., when she left the office momentarily. She said she did not hear, or see anyone.

She said that the rear door of the building was unlocked, and the robber apparently entered and left by this door without being seen.

The purse contained $25 in cash, driver's license and identification and other papers and items.

On Friday, November 10, Mrs. Kamlay called police and stated that a young girl had found her wallet and rosary case at McCormick and Edgfield, Detroit. The money was missing from the wallet, she said.

Holiday Baking Is an Art

Of all the preparations to be made in the rushed weeks just before Christmas, perhaps the most enjoyable is holiday baking. Fragrant aromas drift from the kitchen throughout the house, adding to the anticipation and excitement in the air. Although baking at any time of the year is certainly a skill, it also becomes an art at holiday time, when feminine talents and creativity can be explored to the fullest extent. Women everywhere will be experimenting with the wonderful new recipes introduced this season, as well as their own personal collections of traditional family favorites handed down from generation to generation.

Whether it be holiday cakes, cookies, or candies, chances are that you'll be baking something this season. Keep some of these Christmas treats on hand for drop-in visitors, and send others to friends and neighbors as hospitality gifts.

To wrap baked foods for gifts, or simply to keep them fresh for use in your own home, there's nothing like transparent household saran. This clear, plastic wrap shows your handwork with real sparkle and protects it at the same time.

This season, try baking individual fruitcakes in muffin tins. After cooling, wrap the miniature cakes in plastic wrap and tie with a perky bow for clever individual gifts. For a "cookie candle," assemble a five-inch stack of large, round cookies. Wrap tightly in transparent saran, securing top and bottom with tape. A small piece of the wrap colored red with a crayon makes the candle flame. Add a few Christmas baubles or other decorations to your holiday wrapped goodies, and you have a handsome gift just begging to be given!

Yule Seal Sale Gets Underway

Frank J. Kaiser of 409 Belanger was the first person from Grosse Pointe to send in a contribution for Christmas Seals in the 1961 campaign which got underway on Monday, November 13 and will continue through December.

The contribution is part of the $325,000 goal needed to carry on the fight against tuberculosis in Wayne County.

A total of 700,000 Christmas Seal letters have been mailed to residents in Wayne County.

Postmaster Edward L. Baker, president of the TB and Health Society, Wayne County's Christmas Seal organization, and Richard J. Jacob, chairman of the 1961 campaign, urge everyone to use the colorful seals bearing the double-barred Cross of Lorraine.

"The 1961 Slogan: 'Use Christmas Seals . . . Fight TB . . . Protect The Family Circle,' tells the story succinctly," Baker said.

The Christmas Seal Campaign is a joint effort by the TB and Health Society and the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Contributions are used for health education for children and adults; X-rays and tuberculin tests to catch TB early; services to patients in local hospitals; and for medical research, locally and nationally.

Mr. Kantor Simmers Down . . . page 8

When the author of such strong reading matter as Andersonville and Spirit Lake takes a break from turning out half-million word books, what does he do to unwind and try to forget, for a few minutes, the grueling demands on his time? MacKinlay Kantor tells how he managed to drive all thoughts of the current book from his mind and finally go back to his typewriter with the new strength that makes relaxation, he says, a holy thing to him

Oh, Christmas Tree! . . . page 14

Every year, for two weeks during the Holiday Season, Mr. and Mrs. Gano Senter throw open their doors to more than 20,000 visitors from nearby Denver suburbs and other pleasant places all over the world and invite them to look at their Christmas Tree—eleven feet high, trimmed with 4,000 rare ornaments and 1,000 lights. Here it is, in color.

What Am I Going To Do All Day? . . . page 16

The answer, for close to a million boys set-adrift in the after-school and Saturday streets of our suburbs, is neither "nothing much" nor "get into trouble," but "go down and see what's doing at the Boys' Club." Here is the story of what the Boys' Clubs of America are doing to help turn out our next generation of leaders.

Ask any child in Pasadena, California, if there is a Santa Claus and even sophisticated young citizens of ten or thereabouts will insist that the jolly, bearded gentleman not only exists but will be at his or her house this Christmas Eve. It's all part of a glorious conspiracy carried on by community leaders who encourage the children to write to Santa Claus and then make sure that every letter—more than 8,000 are received—is answered personally by a battery of court judges and physicians and storekeepers who play Santa once a year.

Laura Jean Allen

One of our favorite cover artists takes her clever palette and brush behind the scenes of a Christmas pageant in a Church Hall and finds the three wise men—each aged about five or six or so—struggling into the rich and brilliant costumes their loving mothers must have worked for weeks to put together.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

WE WONDER what six-year-old Marc Bonilla, of Walnut Creek, California, has up his sleeve for Santa Claus this year. Last year, when little Marc got to the head of the line of children waiting to see Santa, he had a small, slender package in his hand. Instead of having both hands open and beginning with, "I want . . ." Marc said, "Here's a present for you, Santa." It was an amber-colored beard comb.

Norman E. Hearn, of Bethesda, Maryland, tells about Peter, age four, whose favorite food was spaghetti. Only Peter never called it anything but "getty." It wasn't till he went visiting in Italy with his grandmother that he learned to call it spaghetti. Then, one day, when he and his Italian friends were talking about battles, Peter piped up and said, "Close to where I live in the United States, there's a big battlefield with lots of guns. It's called 'Spaghettisburg.'"

In the "Signs of the Times" Department, Mrs. Mary Bertrand, who lives on Mistletoe Drive in Irving, Texas, says it's sad, but many people in her neighborhood have been getting their mail lately, addressed to Missilettoe Drive. We think so, too, Mrs. Bertrand.

From a De Kalb, Georgia, neighbor comes the story about a friend who went into a bookstore to buy a birthday gift. When she had made her selection and handed it to the clerk to be wrapped, she noticed that the book jacket was a bit soiled. "Isn't this one a little dirty?" she asked. "I don't know, lady," snapped back the clerk. "I haven't had time to read it yet."

The Albert Jacobs family, of Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin, were discussing Carla and Esther and other big storms, when Mr. Jacobs wondered out loud why they're always given women's names. "Well, that's easy," said the Jacobs' little girl Chris. "if they were given men's names, they'd be himicanes, wouldn't they?"

And, speaking of Christmas, a group of kids in Port Washington, New York, say "Merry Christmas" for months before the event—each time they finish the design of another Christmas card. This eager group of seven to sixteen-year-old friends make pen-and-ink drawings of what Christmas means to them, and their child's-eye view of the holiday season and its fun is then sold to neighbors. The proceeds go to help the North Shore Child Guidance Association.

We hear that some women around Beverly Hills, California, have formed an organization called "Charge Account Holders Anonymous," which works just like most Anonymous organizations. That is, whenever a member gets the urge to go out and buy something, she telephones another member who talks her out of doing it.

Thanks for the tip, Mrs. Kathleen McDowell, of Manhasset, New York. Mrs. McDowell saves all of her candle stubs throughout the year, from parties and festive dinners and birthdays, and melts them all down at Christmas time to make one large holiday candle with a few personal touches. She melts the stubs down in a double boiler over a very low flame and carefully removes all the old burnt wicks from the melted wax. Then, she lets it cool a little and pours the wax into an empty milk carton, although Mrs. McDowell says a mailing tube serves just as well, if you like a round shape. If you want a special color, shave in a wax crayon when you melt the old candles. For the wick, use heavy cotton cord, weighing it down with something (maybe a button) and tying it to a pencil laid across the top of the mould to hold it straight. When the wax hardens, remove the mould and let your fancy roam with whatever decorations you think are appropriate and pretty, and "Merry Christmas."

It happened near Shrewsbury, Missouri. When Thomas Draeger got a notice from the draft board to report for examination, his father put him in a buggy and wheeled him to the draft-board office, where four-month-old Thomas got a lollipop and was sent home.

A reader noticed the following sign on an Arlington, Virginia, garbage truck. It read: "If Not Completely Satisfied, Double Your Trash Back."

The man who runs the Post Office in Olympia Fields, Illinois, is named Bill Stamper.

When you get around to opening your presents this Christmas, chuckle with us over the predicament confronting a Newberg, Oregon, husband a few weeks ago. He and his wife were at home one evening when their expected baby began to come in such a big hurry there wasn't enough time to get to the hospital. The husband, a former state police officer with some experience in this sort of emergency, took over till the ambulance came and did all right, except that he couldn't find any string to tie the cord, but finally improvised with colored ribbon from his wife's gift-wrapping box. Hospital attendants claim it's the only baby that ever got there gift wrapped.

Relaxation Is A Holy Thing

BY MacKINLAY KANTOR, author of "The Voice of Bugle Ann," "Andersonville," and most recently, "Spirit Lake."

How Do You Relax?

■ It may come easy if, as MacKinlay Kantor says in his charming essay on the opposite page, you can go out on a Florida beach and chase crabs—but what of the commuter who has more (almost) than he can do to answer the alarm and climb into his business suit and get on with it? What about the cook-laundress-chauffeur-and-mother of four, who hasn't time for all the chores of the day. let alone relaxing?

The answer comes from Dr. Josephine Rathbone, an international consultant on the problem and author of "Teach Yourself To Relax" (Prentice-Hall). She has worked out some home procedures, the simplest kinds of aids for body and soul, calculated to revive the "holy" sense of power and tranquility and to make your energies soar. Read on (unhurriedly):

"To relax," says Dr. Rathbone, "I often recommend a combination of loose-swinging exercises and movements which stretch the joints. Plus sleep.

"First, the exercises to stretch tight tissues and release constricted joints. For the arms — (A) clench your fist — and swing one arm at a time in a free, loose circle. (B) Open your hands and cross your arms before you, now sweep them outward and upward, extending them loosely like wings, and let them fall through a giant circle to brush your hips as they return to their original crossed position. For the legs — (A) sit on a table with feet free and swing them alternately backward and forward, like kids on a circus bench. (B) Then swing them together from side to side, pivoting at the knee. (C) With your side close to a wall for balance, swing your free leg back and forth, loosely from the hip joint. Face the other direction and swing the other leg.

"For the trunk, with your back to the wall, lean your hips against it, feet 18 inches apart and four inches out. Bend forward at the waist, letting the head go loose, until you feel the pull on your hamstrings, back, and neck.

"Sleep is the perfect restorer. Inability to sleep is often the first sign of excessive tension. If this inability is repeated frequently, it becomes a habit, and the big problem is to break it. Here are several devices that will help.

PREPARE FOR SLEEP by cutting down on the intensity of your thinking for half an hour or more before retiring. Go to bed only when your mind has been weaned from its problem; take plenty of time to get ready.

"If you read in bed, choose nonfiction and a "hard" book. Never stimulate your mind at bedtime, but force it to grapple with cumbersome facts. Do not entertain it. Bore it into unconditional surrender to sleep.

"If your mind clings to problems, substitute for them. Your mind cannot think of two things at once. A woman can plan a new wardrobe, choosing colors and styles. A man can replant a garden or replay a good round of golf.

"Arrange for your mind to hop from one idea to another. As you float toward unconsciousness, your thoughts always become disjointed and scattered. Try thinking this way consciously.

"Make the body comfortable. Find a position in which the muscles can relax completely. Breathe deeply, imitating the slow, deep rhythms of sound sleep. Whatever trick you try, use it every night for at least ten days.

"When you live with strain, you must balance the strain with recuperation."

I needed to relax.

There were no games to play there on that sunny crest in Southern France—no people to play games with. But I could find a little chore to do, a minor challenge to resource and ingenuity. It might be an unguent for the pain of a task which often seemed unbearable: my half-million-word book requiring familiarity with a vanished language and mode of thought—the temper, speech, and attitude of outcast Dakota Indians.

... And all those other people: the hog breeder from Kentucky, the fledgling doctor, the poetess of the prairies, the little French boy who found a cave ... a few of the swarming throng in a book called "Spirit Lake."

So I set myself to gathering faggots, as others had done through millennia on those slopes above the River Lot. Early spring mornings and evenings were raw and damp. Our fireplace could be a comfort, and Lucien, the gardener, provided plenty of firewood; but always he was shy on kindling. And how to find kindling, when lawns around that chateau were picked clean, swept to the limit of their clipped greenness?

I walked for an hour at a time among acacias, among chestnuts and cedars of Lebanon. I could explore the lowest branches and filch a few twigs dry enough to burn. Each splintery discovery was in itself a triumph. ... Aha, here's one I missed this morning. ... And two more I must have missed yesterday! I'd reach up and snap them off, binding them with strands of grass, lugging my hoard back with all the excitement of securing a precious booty.

"Look!" I'd cry to my wife. "Three bundles of kindling twigs!"

"Why, where did you find them?"

"Oh, here and there"—with pride.

(There was no need to tell Irene of other treasure: she knew the whole pretty pattern. Crumbling walls held together by centuries of tough lichens; the magpie or the wren; hint of the distant town of Cahors dreaming in its evening mist. Irene didn't ask: "Are you relaxed at last?" for my face must have shown that I was.)

Then we went on to England, and the demands of the book loomed just as insistent. There was the on-the-spot research to be done in Kent, the thousand or two thousand tentative words which must be set down each day if I was to sleep at night. Reference books bulked upon adjacent tables and across wide window sills. Mr. Noel Coward used to own the house which we had taken, and often I wondered if Coward had hunted kindling as still I hunted it. The old Elizabethan place was an ecstasy of soft bricks and mullioned windows; but we had five hungry fireplaces (summer nights can be cool in England), and Mr. Slomin, the milkman, fetched plenty of wood, but circumstance decreed that there'd be no kindling in the lot.

ONCE MORE I walked forth on my childish job, and once more the cares and demands of Dakota Indian phraseology, appropriate Biblical texts, the surgical techniques of the 1840s—these were eradicated.

Stately poplars at the foot of the avenue ... yes, I had overlooked a few dry branches. Drag them home, break them into convenient bits, pile them in their box on the old stoop where wasps droned dangerously—descendants of the same wasps which had stung the Romans in their day when they were draining those Romney Marshes below our hill.

"How many words today, honey?"

"Twenty-two hundred."

"Wonderful! On what?"

"That scene where Inkpaduta remembers his boyhood, and the boys are throwing fireballs in the night. But come see the kindling I've got! Wonderful stuff—a whole boxful. It'll burn like tinder."

(And again, never a word about other benefits accruing: polished blackberries in the hedge, a green woodpecker which fought his elastic worm upon the lawn, low clouds planing in from the Channel.)

Then we were back home again, home on our Florida coast for the last long, grinding stint.

"My eyes hurt like hell. ..."

"Darling, you've been in the library all day."

"Yes, I know. But I haven't finished this section."

"Your hands are shaking. You've got to stop."

"Well ... how's the Gulf tide? Did you notice?"

"Still going out."

"Then we just might be able to find some blue crabs in the weed beds."

Slow prowling pace, with toes spread deep in submerged sand ... hands gripping the net handle ... dusky fleeting shape of a big crab ahead, sudden sweep of the net, yell of victory or snarl of defeat ... and all the Indians were slunk away. So were the pioneers, so were red Dictaphone belts, clacking of typewriter keys, tiresome push of the blunt lead pencil. Eyeache and headache vanished ... there might be another crab ahead! There. ...

It's coming Christmas now. The book is no longer a mountain of tumbled chunks of copy paper held together by huge clips, soaked with the punishing graphite of corrections and alterations. It is a grown-up adult book; it has a shiny black jacket with colored type; and it is in the stores, and my agent calls to tell me that he has just put the British contract or the Spanish contract in the mails for me.

But still I need to relax, and I have a hard time doing so. For it is difficult to be released from a five-year ordeal: a night-and-day-seven-days-a-week ordeal.

There is the dog. Petting dogs, I think, is the most rewarding relaxation of all. It is so friendly a thing for your fingers to go into the bristly brown coat and rub against warm skin; and then the big bright eyes come up to meet your own gaze; and then the snort, the doggy laugh, as if Bill were to say, "Forget all about the book now. Wait until the next one."

And the next one is a dreamy way off. ...

What would be a proper indolence for Christmas Eve? Shall I pet Bill again? I shall, if I'm with him. But if I'm far from him and he's far from me, then I shall sing softly, The Friendly Beasts, an old carol about an ox and a donkey, and a turtledove which cooed for the Christ Child so that He should not cry. ... That will be relaxing and a holy thing; for relaxation is a holy thing to begin with.

It is the small pleasures, says this famous author...the hour of amusement...that puts life back into a man after a long day's work

- ¼ cup cold water
- 1 tablespoon (1 env.) unflavored gelatin

CHOCOLATE TRUFFLES

TO PREPARE: 35 MIN.

- 6 oz. semisweet chocolate
- ½ cup butter
- 1 cup confectioners' sugar, sifted
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1 tablespoon sherry
- Dutch process cocoa

1. Melt chocolate and butter together in the top of a double boiler over hot water. Remove from water.
2. Blend in next three ingredients. Set over a bowl of ice and water; mix until firm. Remove from water.
3. Sift cocoa to a depth of about ¼ in. into a pie pan. Using about 1 tablespoon of chilled chocolate mixture for each truffle, drop several spoonfuls at a time into the cocoa. Holding butter paddles (usually available in the housewares section of a department store) upright in the pan of cocoa, spoon some cocoa over the corrugated sides. Work each truffle between cocoa-coated paddles to form uniformly round balls. Spoon cocoa onto paddles as needed and before forming each truffle. Roll truffles in the cocoa to coat heavily and evenly. (Truffles may be formed by hand, but hands must be chilled before forming each one.)

4. Remove to candy cups for bonbons. If desired, wrap several truffles in colored aluminum foil. Store in a cool place.

About 2 doz. truffles

ALMOND-FILLED CARMELS

TO PREPARE: 35 MIN.

- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ cup light molasses
- ½ cup cream
- ½ cup butter
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
- 24 whole salted almonds

1. Butter a 15½x10½x1-in. jelly roll pan. Set aside.
2. Combine first four ingredients in a heavy saucepan and stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Increase heat; cook rapidly, stirring constantly, until mixture reaches 250°F (hard ball stage—a small amount dropped in very cold water forms a ball which is pliable yet will hold its shape).
3. Remove from heat and stir in extract. Pour into jelly roll pan without scraping bottom or sides of saucepan. Cool until lukewarm.
4. Cut caramel mixture into 2½-in. squares. Place a whole almond in center of each square. Shape caramel around each almond. Wrap in waxed or glassine paper.

The $10,000 Family Tree

Above—Mr. and Mrs. Gano Senter and the tree they trim.

*Every Christmas they begin trimming at the top,
and four days later they reach the bottom*

BY AGNES M. PHARO

EVERY CHRISTMAS season for the past 31 years, Mr. and Mrs. Gano Senter of Denver, Colorado, have opened their doors to young and old and have invited them all in to look at their fabulous Christmas tree. During the two weeks set aside for the showings, more than 20,000 people from as close-by as Littleton and Cherry Hills, and from as far away as India and Japan, file through the Senters' living room, sign their guest book, and gaze in awe at the dazzling spectacle.

Exchange students from many foreign countries have called as well as senators and governors from other states. Once an East Indian rajah was among those who came to marvel and exclaim.

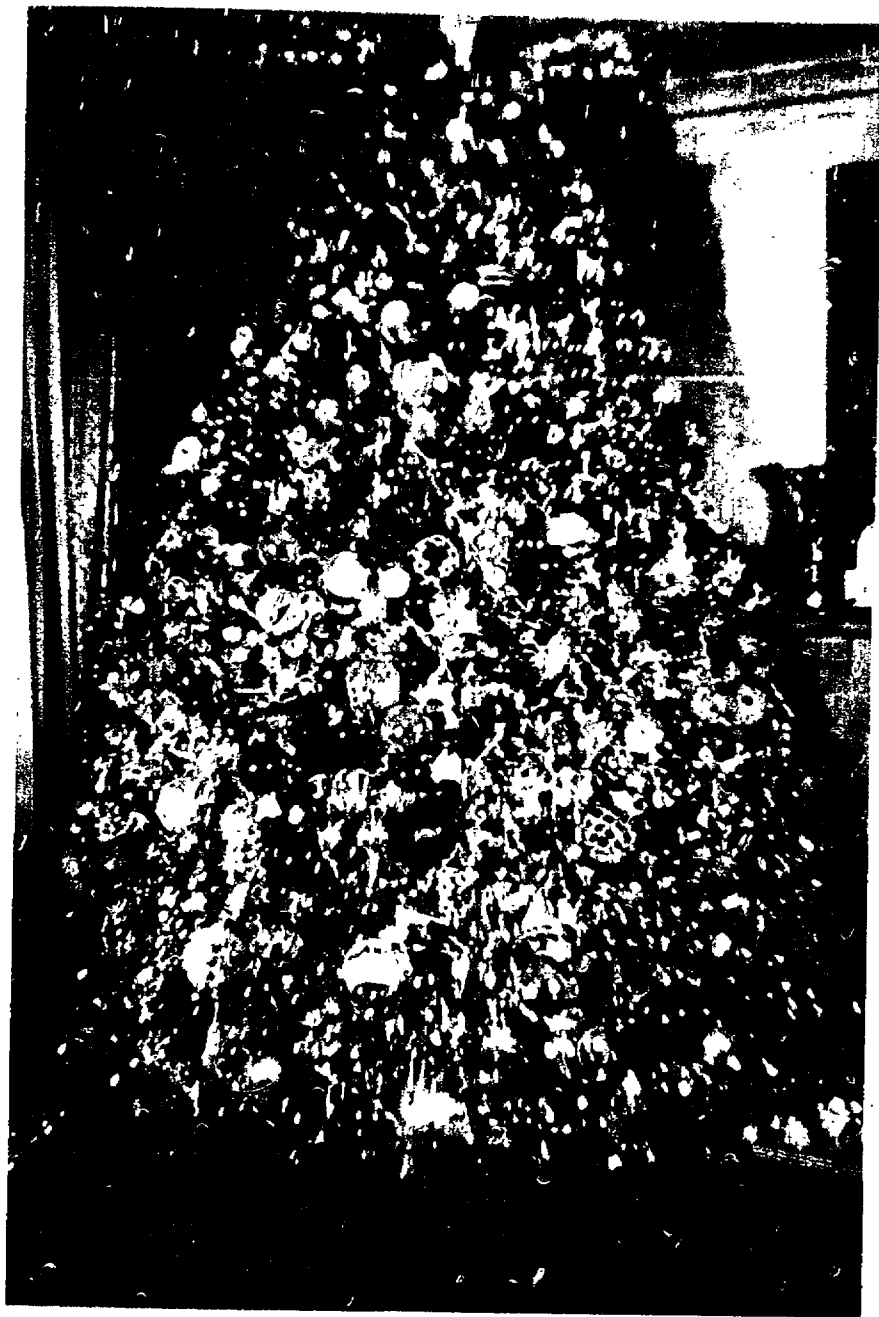

Actually, "the tree" is sixteen trees wired firmly together, covered with 4,000 beautiful decorations collected by the Senters on many world tours. There are huge glass balls from Czechoslovakia, snow stars from Sweden, spun-glass birds, and trumpets and bells. Probably the most unusual of all is the tear-vial from Lebanon, reputed to be 3,000 years old. Similar vials were once used to catch the tears of mourners at a funeral, then sealed in the tomb. The floor-to-ceiling display—eleven feet—is estimated to weigh half a ton, and is illuminated by more than 1,000 little lights powered by seven transformers. Between Christmases, the decorations are kept in a room set aside for that special purpose.

A visit to see the tree usually starts at the end of a long line outside the house. But, it's pretty out in the crisp air, too. Bright-colored lights line the wrought-iron fence. The patient throng, many of whom have been coming back year after year since the tree was first displayed in 1930, is swept up in the spirit of the season. Neighbors greet each other, and many people join in the carols that fill the air.

Inside, there's the tree itself, and a 200-piece miniature village called Puddin' Lane that has grown up around the foot of the tree. It houses such celebrities as Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, the Old Woman who lived in a shoe, and Santa and his reindeer. The Big Rock Candy Mountain overshadows a tiny church whose chimes give forth with "Silent Night."

Inside, also, there are the Senters, who have turned a hobby into a wonderful tribute to the Christmas season, waiting to say "Merry Christmas" to their thousands of callers from all over the world.

Half a ton of Christmas tree—actually, it is made up of 16 towering fir trees wired together to support the fabulous collection of ornaments lighted by a thousand tiny bulbs.

Close-up of all the wonderful excitement and confusion of the holidays—flower-encrusted ornaments, birds with silver tails, a star, a tiny creche, seen through a shimmer of tinsel.

Table Scraps Can Short-Change Your Dog

Do right by the dog
you love...balance
each meal with
GRO-PUP Ribbon

That's why thoughtful families are adding Gro-Pup Ribbon to every scrap meal they feed. Gro-Pup is an unusual kind of dog food. It contains an extra bonus of vital protein, important vitamins and minerals—far in excess of the minimum levels set by the National Research Council.

Even when fed with large amounts of "unbalanced" leftovers, the high nutrient level of Gro-Pup can safeguard against improper diet. When you feed Gro-Pup every day, you can enjoy the confidence that your dog is getting an abundance of the essentials he needs for a long and healthy life.

Why don't you start tomorrow?

When you feed your dog table scraps, you can never be sure he's getting all the nutrients he needs. And yet, to stay fit and strong, he should have a well-balanced diet every day.

WHAT GOOD IS A BOYS' CLUB?

And why are there so many of them now outside the big cities?

BY GEORGE WALTZ, JR.

BOYS WILL be boys—luckily—and that is every Boys' Club's reason for being, whether it is in a lovely little seaside town like Laguna Beach, or in a blighted Chicago slum. Every boy, no matter what his background and his home life, wants to belong to a group—call it a "gang" if you wish. He wants to have friends. He wants to be praised by his equals. He wants to be "one of the boys." And this goes for the youngster who lives in a suburb or small community as well as the boy who lives in a big-city slum.

If the "gang" has bad leadership, or no leadership at all, they find idle time on their hands and there the trouble begins. Where this is a problem, boys need a Club—boys in pleasant suburbs as much as boys cooped up in cities. They need their time gainfully employed—or else!

If they have comfortable homes and good schools and all outdoors to play in, it seems as if they might be able to keep out of harm's way by themselves. But they can't always.

All too often now we see headlines like these: "Youth Gang Goes On Robbery Spree," "Six Boys Held in Rape Case," "Teen-age Drinking On The Rise," and "Youths Rob Homes of $30,000 Just For 'Kicks'." These, and many other similar news stories are not from big-city or large-community newspapers. They are from suburban towns and small towns all over the country. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, Chairman of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee recently quoted some startling statistics. "In rural (including suburban) areas," he said, "delinquents of both sexes comprised 15 percent of all police arrests. . . . Some 5.5 percent of all murders committed in suburban communities were committed by juveniles."

Senator Dodd went into the subject even further when he told the Committee, "I would like to comment briefly on the so-called 'white-collar' delinquent—juveniles who lack the excuse of poverty, a poor home, the high confinement and compression of big-city slum life. Slum life has been an excuse, and still is, if there ever is an excuse—it is an explanation at least—and helps us to understand more completely the plight of many juvenile delinquents. But we now have a group that cannot be accounted for in this way. . . . Daily, somewhere in the United States, headlines tell the story of another serious incident involving children from backgrounds not normally associated with high juvenile crime rates."

To see what a Boys' Club can mean to a suburban boy who might be drifting into trouble, take the not-so-remarkable case of Frankie Stafford. That isn't his real name of course, and it is enough to say that he lives in a small, attractive California town near San Francisco.

Frank's mother and father both work at one of the nearby resort hotels—his father as a handyman and his mother as a maid. They leave the little

What Is A Boy?

BY HERBERT HOOVER

Together with his sister, the boy is our most precious possession. But he presents not only joys and hopes but also paradoxes. He strains our nerves, yet he is a complex of cells teeming with affection. He is a periodic nuisance yet he is a joy forever. He is a part-time incarnation of destruction, yet he radiates sunlight to all the world. He gives evidence of being the child of iniquity, yet he makes a great nation. He is filled with curiosity as to every mortal thing; he is an illuminated interrogation point, yet he is the most entertaining animal that is.

The whole world is new to him. Therefore, his should be a life of adventure, of discovery, of great undertakings. He must spend much time, if he is to expand, in the land of make-believe. One of the sad things is that he must grow up into the land of realities.

He is endowed with a dynamic energy and an impelling desire to take exercise on all occasions. His primary instinct is to hunt in a pack and that multiplies his devices. He is a complete self-starter, and therefore, wisdom in dealing with him consists mostly in what to do next. He and his pack can go on this hunt for happiness either constructively or destructively. Our first problem is to find him constructive joy, instead of destructive glee.

A Boys' Club is the answer!

Stafford home fairly early in the morning and seldom get home much before dinner. They are tired from their day at the hotel and not particularly interested in little-boy troubles.

For the most part of the day, five days a week, Frank is on his own. Without supervision and guidance at home, he is left to his own devices and for a while his own devices started to lead him into trouble.

One Saturday, without really knowing why, he tried to see if he could break a window of a closed house with his baseball. It was quite tricky—breaking the window without losing the ball—and, all told, Frank managed to shatter three. He was found out, of course, but the owners were insured and were friends of his parents, so nothing much came of it. But in Frank's case this piece of vandalism might have led on to the next one, except that at this point he discovered that there was a Boys' Club in the community. He also discovered that the dues for belonging were about a penny a day. By doing a little work for neighbors, he was able to make enough for a year's membership. Frankie is no longer a drifter looking for something to do, some place to go after school or during the summer when school is closed. He goes to the Boys' Club. The doors of his Club—and he feels it is his Club because he pays dues—are always open during the day. He can go there and find something to do and boys his own age to join him. Even if he has no one at home in the daytime, it doesn't matter so much now because he has a place of his own.

A Boys' Club can help a Frankie Stafford, obviously, but the majority of its members have no such serious problems. It would be sad and frightening to think they had, with 600 Boys' Clubs of America now in existence, and by far the largest number located in small communities!

In many of the western and mid-western Clubs—from Trenton, Michigan, on out to Santa Monica—most of the boys in town are members.

Unlike the large cities, where the sons of poor families living in crowded quarters are the typical members, only about 20% of the membership in a suburban Club is "low income," while 70% come from families of average income and 10% from families who are fairly well off. Aside from the advantage of being in a good gang, as noted earlier, what does a Club do for these "regular" boys?

A DISTINGUISHED ALUMNUS of the Boys' Club of New Britain, Conn., puts it very plainly.

"At the Boys' Club I learned athletic skills," says Abraham Ribicoff, "which are most difficult to acquire in the course of haphazard, unsupervised play. At an early age I learned valuable lessons in fair play and sportsmanship. I also give the Boys' Club a large share of credit for introducing me to the wonderful world of reading. The Club must never be considered as merely an institution devoted to sports. Its cultural program, reaching boys in their formative years, is most important."

And this comes from our present Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare!

One last word for the Boys' Clubs, this time in skimpy boy's language:

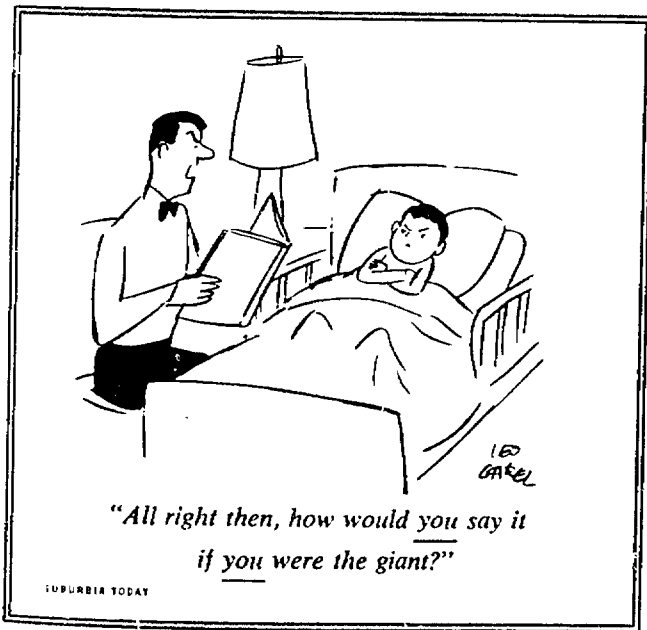

One Saturday afternoon, a new member of a mid-western Club, a little tyke of 12, wanted to know what time the clubhouse opened the next day.

"Well, tomorrow is Sunday," the director pointed out.

"Okay. But when does the Club open?" repeated the boy.

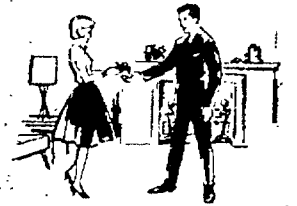

"The clubhouse is closed on Sundays," the director answered.

A glum look spread over the youngster's face. "Ah, gee," he said, "what am I going to do all day?"

The Town That Plays Santa

In Pasadena hopeful children's letters are answered in person by the jolly old elf everyone believes in have developed a unique and wonderful way of celebrating Christmas.

In that city any child, rich or poor, can mail a letter addressed simply "Santa Claus, North Pole." Postage in most cases is paid at the receiving end by a happy if slightly irregular arrangement with the post office, and on Christmas Eve the good saint positively will come ho-ho-hoing to the front door. He'll visit at least 8,000 homes this year. In make-up, costume, and deportment he's almost always perfect—curls and beard, for instance, are by Hollywood's Max Factor himself—so that even the sophisticated ten-year-olds are hard put to maintain their cynicism.

These breath-taking calls are the work of some hundred community leaders, including men of all faiths, and their plan could be used in any town of any size. All remain anonymous—but have they ever had fun!

One very rotund Rotarian, a court judge in real life, was waving and shouting goodbye to children in a fine big house when, as Santa, he carelessly leaped off the front porch into their four-foot-deep goldfish pool. His Honor was soaked but his ardor was undampened. He hurried back to the Pole, got into dry costume and went on to another home—only to have a "friendly" dog strip off his trousers. Exceptional? Not at all; each year such incidents are routine.

These men are not the sleazy "professional" Santas who clutter up the world too soon after Thanksgiving. All are busy townspeople who "try out" for the part, contribute their money as well as their time, and are carefully rehearsed for weeks before Christmas. You wouldn't think they'd be able to manage such doings on top of staging their Rose Parade and Rose Bowl game on New Year's Day, but playing Santa Claus is the project most loved by the whole town.

The rewards are beyond measuring. There are no "do-gooder" aspects; it's just that one of the great dreams of our lives is cherished. The Santas start to work on Christmas Eve at 5 o'clock, and move fast. Somewhere around midnight they straggle in, weary but exalted.

"I still can't believe it," one man muttered to his friends after a memorable experience, "but I saw it myself."

He had responded to a letter that asked in childish scrawl, "Please, please bring our daddy back from the war in Asia. It's all we want." He had of course to alibi for inability here; he knew that the daddy of these hopeful children could not come home for months. Despite his gifts of candy and toys, the yearning remained all too obvious, and the usual jolly talk for once didn't jell. Santa picked up the baby to kiss it.

And at that moment a taxi pulled up at the door.
Out stepped Daddy!

Nobody was more astonished than Santa himself. But with every year there's a new series of heart-warming stories, of surprises, of "proofs" of the Christmas miracle. Between 5 and 10 on Christmas Eve each Santa must make up to 100 house calls. Thus, his route is carefully plotted in advance, and a helper travels with him to drive and keep his pack replenished.

Many letters to be answered come from children of the rich. "All I had left one night," a Santa reported, "was a pack of chewing gum and a two-bit mouth harp. A letter took me to the home of a friend of ours, where I knew the little boy had everything from an electric merry-go-round to a Shetland pony. But you guessed it—he had eyes only for the gum and the harp. He had wondered. Now again he believed!"

Not all rich children are neglected or unloved; in fact most have as devoted an upbringing as did that rich young fellow who recently became President of the United States. Yet even the fortunate ones write Pasadena's Santa.

"They wanted to talk about my reindeer and sleigh and the elves who help me at the North Pole in one family I visited," a Santa recalls, fondly. "Then when I left they stuffed my pack so full of toys and things that I could barely lift it. I tell you, at Christmas people are good!"

Many letters come in with such poor handwriting that they can't be read, or they give no home address. Usually the postman can help there, but once a detective gave his services. The Pole people were baffled by a request that ran off the sheet of paper. "Only a blind child could have done that," the detective reasoned after studying the letter.

It was easy for him to canvass the houses where blind persons lived and locate the sightless child. The Santa who called spent a long time allowing the child to touch him, to talk, and to make friends.

Some people get desperate at the Christmas season, as at any time. One Christmas Eve a man stuck a gun in the face of a Pasadena Santa and took his wallet with about $175. On the following Friday the mail brought both wallet and money back to the well-known address, "Santa Claus, North Pole."

"Stealing from Santa Claus," said the accompanying note, "spoiled my whole Christmas. I just ain't that low."

Thousands of letters have come in after Christmas. "With so much family trouble," one woman wrote, "we had all ceased to believe in any form of Santa Claus. We had nothing at all for our four babies this year, until you brought food and toys and cheer. God bless you, Santa Claus, forevermore."

One little boy received his call, then next day wrote again: "Dear Santa hear is a dollar Bill i am a shamed because I took the candy cane I alreddy had six please give this to some other little boy that hasent got none or even a girl i mean hassent got any I love you. Jimmy."

Once in a while a call turns out to be highly unpleasant. One bell-jingling Santa was attacked by a drunken father and maimed so that he spent Christmas in a hospital. A banker in the familiar red costume arrived at a house just as flames were bursting out of the roof. He saved the family and took them into his home until after Christmas.

Keep in mind, too, that neither he nor any of his colleagues is a professional philanthropist or welfare worker. Just solid citizens, all—except on Christmas Eve!

That funny-looking word means once-a-week in French. So? Well, in France, gasoline is very expensive. This is a dismaying fact for thrifty-souled French drivers. To please them, we aimed at making cars that used a minimum of fuel. A once-a-week fill 'er up was our goal; and we made it.

Even over here, with much cheaper gasoline, that once-a-week is a wonderful filling. You can go over 300 miles on a mere eight gallons. Trips into town, countless trips to the supermarket, comfortable, happy trips all over, all week. One tankful; one small gas purchase. (Take a trip to France with all the money you save. Show off that big word that's up there. Or even go to London and take a ride in a Dauphine taxi.)

Here are some other things you might like to know about us and our cars. We've been making them since 1898. We're now number 6 in auto production in the world. With each of our cars—the Dauphine, the Dauphine Deluxe, the more powerful Dauphine Gordini, the convertible Caravelle—we give a 12 month or 12,000 mile warranty. The Dauphine's suggested P.O.E. price starts at $1395. And that's probably the best car buy of this or any other week.

We wholeheartedly suggest that you visit one of our dealers as soon as possible. Thrift and love, said a Frenchman, are best unpostponed.
