(Continued from Page 1) Lt. Vern Sylvester, of the Farms police department, said his unit has no formal anti-shoplifting program, but that Detective George Van Tien maintains a direct liaison with Farms merchants, advising them throughout the year. "We do our best, but the merchants themselves are more aware of the problems and the shoplifting techniques than we are because they are directly involved in the crime," said Sylvester. Shoplifting is a crime. It is stealing and falls under the category of "felony." A shoplifter can receive up to five years in the State Prison, if he is caught and convicted. The Pointe merchants will help see to it this year.

150 Voices Sing Dvorak Classic

At both services of worship—9:30 and 11:15 a.m.—next Sunday at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Dvorak's "Te Deum" will be sung by a combined choir of one hundred fifty voices, including the Senior High, Chancel, and Adult Choirs, with accompaniment by the Wayne State University Orchestra, Malcolm Johns conducting.

The "Te Deum," dating in its earliest form from the Fifth Century is more probably of gradual growth, or, at least, of composite authorship. It is a "lorious old hymn of the church, majestically gathering up much of the Christian heritage from the Apostles' Creed, the "Sanctus," and the "Gloria In Excelsis." It is not strange that Martin Luther placed it third, putting only The Apostles' Creed and the Nicene Creed before it as the great confession of faith.

This later example of the "Te Deum" by Anton Dvorak (1841-1904) was written in Prague in 1896 which was only one year after his return from a three-year sojourn in New York City as head of the National Conservatory. From this experience came the inspiration for Dvorak's most famous work, his last symphony No. 9, known as "From the New World" completed in 1893.

Everyone is invited.

Newsboy Lays Down on Job

Woods Patrolman Ted Hinz received an urgent call on Thanksgiving morning from a concerned resident, who reported a young boy lying on the sidewalk in front of 885 N. Renaud. After rushing to the scene, Hinz found the youngster reclining on the walk.

It was far from an emergency. "I'm a paper boy," said the young man. "These papers were so heavy this morning and I'm so tired, I just decided to lie down here and rest a bit."

School Heads Hold Panel Discussion

Robert Welch, Assistant Principal of Grosse Pointe North High School, recently was a member of a panel discussing curriculum directions in the high school.

Also participating in the panel discussion were Fred Schreiber, Principal of Edsel Ford High School (Dearborn); Joseph Dulin, Principal of De Porres High School; Halli H. Giessler, Headmaster, Friends School; and Samuel Milan, Principal, Henry Ford High School (Detroit).

The panel was held at Mercy College on November 24, 1969 as a part of a Curriculum Development Program sponsored by the faculty of the College.

Discussions

The first and third Sunday in January, Dr. Meserve will put forward for discussion "Manners, Ritual and Reality." At this time members of the congregation will discuss how every generation has had its own way of expressing its distinctiveness from other generations. "This generation has chosen the long hair route to be its own individual style," says Dr. Meserve. The final session will deal with "Where to Look for Wisdom." Here the congregation will look into the problem of education in a world where knowledge is doubling every five years. Dr. Meserve suggested that maybe the best that can be done is to teach youth how to think and how to meet what life has in store for him.

Dr. Meserve's idea for a head-on confrontation of the problems today, with participation from all age groups of the church, is a step in the right direction . . . a step toward finding the answers in a perfect setting, the house of God.

pollution and because he is, he interested his science students in the problem by taking them to a "pollution picnic" and seminar recently.

The "pollution picnic" was a revelation to the students. Water samples were taken of the Detroit River and Lake Erie. The first stop was Belle Isle, where they found very little bacteria; then to Zug Island, at the mouth of the River Rouge. Here in this industrial area, the water is only partially treated so students found a high concentration of bacteria.

The students who attended the Anti-Pollution seminar at MacArthur High School with Mr. Wigglesworth, Pat Smith and Peggy Lynch, listened to student-led discussion as well as experts in the area. The group at MacArthur High received national recognition for their fight against pollution, by such well known personalities as Arthur Godfrey. Grosse Pointe South High School was one of five schools from the Metropolitan Detroit area who attended the seminar.

As a result of the information they received at the seminar and the "pollution picnic," which over 20 students attended, SCOPE (Students Committee on Pollution Eradication), was organized.

Student chairman, Cliff Crockett, told the NEWS that the group will meet once a week on Thursdays after school. They plan to inform adult groups about the hazards of pollution. They are currently studying the Grosse Pointe sewage systems. The group's interests will cover conservation of land and wild life as well as air and water pollution.

Mr. Wigglesworth hopes to step out of the picture entirely once the group gets going full force. He said, "This should be a student controlled activity and with the interest these

Award Grant To Symphony

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra has been awarded a grant of $50,000 by the National Endowment for the Arts, Washington, D. C., in support of a two-week Inner City music project planned for next spring.

The Symphony announced November 28 that the grant will enable the Orchestra to present approximately 24 concerts in various Inner City public schools in May and June. All of the programs including two for parents of students will include music by black composers.

For the student concerts the Symphony will divide its normal player complement into two orchestras of approximately 50 members each, each with its own conductor and a separate itinerary of schools to visit.

The programs will include informal talks by the conductors and demonstrations of instruments by orchestra members.

The project will be administered in conjunction with the Music Department of the Detroit public schools.

"We wanted very much to implement this program and the grant gives us the means to move ahead with our plans," commented Symphony General Manager Howard Harrington.

The grant will cover about two-thirds of the Symphony's costs, he said.

Harrington also pointed out that while the program will introduce some innovative techniques for communicating with audiences the Symphony also will be enlarging on the success of earlier programs conducted in the schools.

"The Symphony presented concerts in the schools in 1966 and 1967 with Federal funding—under Title I of the National Elementary and Secondary Education Act," he said.

"The funds were subsequently re-allocated to brick and mortar projects, which was a disappointment to us, but the Symphony continued the in-school program at its own expense in 1968.

"However the program posed a serious financial burden for the Symphony, and frankly its continuance became totally dependant on our ability to find new assistance. So we are most pleased to obtain this new grant."

Award grants of $50,000 each for four other major U. S. orchestras also were announced recently by the National Foundation for the Arts, all of the grants to assist "innovative programs."

The other orchestras and their grant programs are: The Atlanta Symphony—for chamber music and ensemble tours; the Boston Symphony—for experimental videotaped programs; the Minnesota Orchestra—for a regional audience development project; and the New York Philharmonic—for concerts for AFL-CIO members and their families.

The National Endowment for the Arts is a Federal Agency created by Act of Congress in 1965.

BLACKS COMING TOO FAST?

"... I had also hoped that the white moderate would reject the myth of time... It is a strangely irrational notion that there is something in the very flow of time that will inevitably cure all ills. Actually time is neutral. It can be used either destructively or constructively. I am coming to feel that the people of ill will have used time much more effectively than the people of good will. We will have to repent in this generation not merely for the vitriolic words and actions of the bad people, but for the appalling silence of the good people. We must use time creatively and forever realize that the time is always ripe to do right."

At the Woods, a test drive is a taste drive. When you get behind the wheel of a new Volkswagen or Mercedes-Benz, you know it's going to ride smoothly, effortlessly...because you already know the reputation of these fine imported automobiles for quality, engineering and craftsmanship. But what you feel when you first drive one is that flush of pride that goes with knowing that you're driving a "classic"...a car created to reflect your own good taste. And after you taste drive one, you'll never want to even test drive anything less.

D'you Know That?

by Paul Schweitzer

Everyone knows about the SEVEN WONDERS OF THE WORLD. But it's a safe bet most people can't name more than two or three... How many can you name?

- (1) The Pyramid of Khufu,
- (2) The Lighthouse at Alexandria,
- (3) The Walls of Babylon,
- (4) The Statue of Zeus,
- (5) The Temple of Diana,
- (6) The Mausoleum at Halicarnassus,
- (7) The Colossus of Rhodes.

The amazing fact about these great monuments is that they were built without machines. No animals. Only muscle power!...

By today's standards muscle-power is a very unpopular way to do work — even horses turn their backs to it.

Thanksgiving Scare Teaches Lesson About Holiday Safety

By Phil Loranger

Santa Claus arrived with the first official snowfall of the year last week and the Christmas season was launched in true fashion, but a personal experience might as well be shared here to help make sure that all Pointers use a little bit of caution during their holiday celebrations to guarantee a really happy holiday.

It is indeed that time of the year, when all are inclined to "make merry" and "let the good times roll," but it is the wise man who makes sure that his house is in order and that all safety precautions have been taken, who has the best time of all.

The holiday season serves as the catalyst for family gatherings, parties, a greater intake of alcoholic beverages and a "hail hearty fellow" attitude.

Corks are popped, children are bundled in warm clothes for trips to friends' and relatives' homes and fires are built in the fireplace while groups lose themselves in warm and happy conversation. But it often happens that, while persons are engrossed in having and sharing good times and doing those things which they do only once a year, that the normal precautions they take during the rest of the year are sometimes overlooked.

The consequences of these safety oversights can be frightening, if not tragic. My wife and I had such a "scare" on Thanksgiving Day.

The family had gathered for our annual Thanksgiving dinner and to share a bit of "cheer" and, with the newly-fallen snow adding just the right touch, a real holiday atmosphere was created.

After a few hours of reminiscing and story-telling, appetites were primed and the call to dinner was sounded. The family gathered at the table for grace and the babies, one of which was ours and the other my sister's and both new members of the family, were bundled up and laid in their small cribs in front of a warm fire in the family hearth.

Although babies generally whimper as they please and such noises become rather common-place, it was at mid-meal that my wife, Joanie, left the table to check on our child and to see just why she insisted on crying. What she found would have been enough to sober up W. C. Fields.

Evidently, a spark from the low fire had jumped the protective screen and alighted in the baby's crib on the blanket. Another spark had landed on the mattress and both were still burning when Joanie arrived. The small fires were quickly extinguished, hearts dropped from the throats to where they normally belong and the meal went on, but a lesson had been learned.

That fireplace hadn't seen a fire in over a year. It was more of a novelty than a practical convenience. Most holiday practices are novelties and the need to stress common sense safety is urgent.

The NEWS hopes everybody will have a happy holiday season, but we urge all to bear in mind the need for foresight in planning good times. Be safety-minded and really enjoy your holidays.

We were lucky. The devil jumped up out of what appeared to be a "pat" hand, but we snuffed him out. We urge you not to gamble that things will go right by themselves. Check them out and make sure they do. Make this a happy and safe season. We guarantee you that we will.

North Students To Study Abroad

The Humanities Club at North High School is sponsoring a summer study program abroad for all students, ages 15-19, under the auspices of the Foreign Study League. This six-week comparative cultures program will take the students to Paris, Madrid, Rome, London and Salzburg, Austria for an eight to nine day study period at the universities in each of these cities.

Fee for the program is $1,025 and includes round-trip jet transportation from Chicago, food and lodging, field trips, classroom instruction and materials, medical care and insurance plus full-time supervision.

The students will leave July 2, 1970, and return on August 11. Participation in this program is noted on the student's transcript. Leading universities have been assigning college credit to high school students who have been a part of this enriching program.

Parents desiring to have their sons or daughters enroll in the program can get more information from Humanities Club sponsor, Jane Wayne, by contacting her at North after 3:30.

Weather Can Be Quite A Chore

By Phil Loranger

With the recent scolding rendered to network TV newscasters by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, extra precautions have been in force by newsmen, attempting to "de-editorialize" their broadcasts.

Even the weather-casters have gone out of their way in an attempt not to step on the toes of their viewers or to hold forth with any personal opinions.

The NEWS prints this version of a forecast by one of the local weathermen, which was observed recently:

"Good morning, viewers... that is, morning viewers, I'm sure for some of you it is a good morning, but then for some of you others, it may not be. Anyway, Morning. This is Happy Al with all the weather for all the people in our happy community. Strike that from the record. Just call it community and I'm sorry if I indicated that I was happy. I'm just neutral. This is Neutral Al and this is the weather.

"Well we had a nice day yesterday, with highs in the balmy 50's and lows in the 30's and plenty of sun for you sun-lovers. I'm sorry. It was just a day with highs and lows and some sun. Whether you like it or not, there was sunshine and there'll be more tomorrow. Take it or leave it.

"Looking here at our weather map, one can easily see that the northwestern states got more than their fill of snow over the weekend and I'll bet the ski enthusiasts are pleased. NO, I'M NOT. I won't bet anything and I don't know whether they are pleased or not. And maybe you cannot easily see this map... come to think of it, it is a pretty crummy map, but that is only a personal opinion and I'm sorry I've got one. I'll see what I can do about getting rid of it.

"Heavy rains fell in the Rocky Mountain regions today and are moving our way at a slow, but sure pace. Wait a minute before you call! I am not sure if the rain was heavy, maybe the rains were light and I'm not sure if the pace is sure or not sure and surely there is nothing wrong with that. Matter of fact, the weather is simply high 50, low 30, rain and winds prevailing or not prevailing from west. MORNING!!

Tarzan Films
Review Dec. 7

The fantastic durability of Tarzan films, which have been produced with varying degrees of regularity over the last 50 years, will be examined by the Famous Early Movies Series at the Henry Ford Museum next Sunday, December 7.

In a program called Tarzan Compared, they are presenting the first Tarzan epic, "Tarzan of the Apes," produced in 1918 and "The Further Adventures of Tarzan," made in 1935. Unlike most of the others, these films were both based on the original Edgar Rice Burroughs books.

Since critics rate these two as the best of all the Tarzan pictures, Sunday's program is billed as one featuring suspense, action and beautiful scenery. Tarzan, representing innocence and goodness, overcomes corruption and evil in many forms. Excitement and nostalgia go hand in hand as the famous characters reassert their magic effect on adventure lovers of all ages.

Elmo Lincoln was the first in a long line of actors to play the ape man, the most popular of whom was probably Johnny Wessmuller, who made more films in the series than any of the others. Maureen O'Sullivan was the most famous Jane, but she soon graduated to more serious roles. Most of the later Tarzan movies, including the recent TV series, did away with the character.

Bruce Bennett and Ula Holt play the roles in the 1935 version. It was produced by Edgar Rice Burroughs himself on location in the lush jungles of Guatemala.

Famous Early Movies are shown each Sunday at 2 and 4 p.m. in the Museum Theater. There is no additional charge beyond the regular Museum admission.

Appearing in Western Michigan University's production of Oedipus Rex which opens Monday evening, December 10, in Shaw Theatre on the WMU campus is senior JOHN A. TALLERICO, Jr., son of MR. and MRS. JOHN TALLERICO, of Hollywood avenue.

Standard Federal Savings!

5 1/4%

What's your idea of the good life. A new home? An extended vacation? Financial security? A comfortable retirement? Whatever it is, it probably costs money... and that's where a Standard Federal 5 1/4% certificate savings account can help you.

To open a certificate savings account, you simply start with a deposit of $5,000.00 or more, and keep your money on deposit for at least six months. Should you have to make a withdrawal before the six month maturity date, no advance notice is required, but the interest paid on the money withdrawn will be 4%... figured on a daily basis. The amount left on deposit, provided it is more than $5,000.00, will continue to earn at the 5 1/4% rate. Senator Hart To Speak Here

What is in store for youth? And what does youth have in store for us? These are questions Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) proposes to grapple with in a speech entitled "Youth After Viet Nam — What Social Changes Next." The program is being sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council.

Senator Hart will appear at the Fries Auditorium on Wednesday, December 10, at 8 p.m. and will be introduced by Dr. William L. Craig, principal of Grosse Pointe High School North. Dr. Craig received his Masters Degree in Education from Ohio State University, and his Doctorate in Curriculum Administration from the University of Portland.

Senator Hart and Dr. Craig share a number of common interests.

In 1965 Senator Hart was working in civil rights legislation as floor manager and chief strategist of the voting rights act, which passed the Senate after six weeks of intensive constitutional debate.

Two years later, he undertook the same leadership role for an omnibus Civil Rights Bill.

During these same two years of 1965-1967, Dr. Craig was accomplishing the same ends by different means. In Nigerian Biafra, sponsored by the State Department and also under UCLA, he was in charge of an experimental educational project there.

Concerning his philosophy of education, Dr. Craig commented, "What concerns me is that our high school students reflect the peer group directly above them. Obviously, today the college situation is in such a state of flux it tends to have disturbing influences on the high school students. Our greatest challenge is helping them to establish a proper perspective in all they are exposed to by the media today."

Asked what opportunities his students were given to voice their opinions on the Moratorium, Dr. Craig explained that the entire student body was free to pursue demonstration activities as long as they did not conflict with the school program.

On Wednesday, December 10, at the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, the public will have an opportunity to hear some of Senator Hart's views on the timely topic of youth and its quest for the long-sought-after and not-yet-attained Camelot.

Tickets will be available at the door, and also by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to 32 Lake Shore Road. Donations are $2, and student tickets are $1. Make checks payable to the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council.

Dean Richardson Bank President

The promotion of Dean E. Richardson, of 332 Cloverly road, to president of the Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit was recently announced by Roland A. Mewhort, chairman of the Board of Directors. Richardson, 41, who previously held the position of executive vice-president and who has been a bank director since 1968, succeeds Mewhort in the presidential post. Mewhort will continue to serve as the bank's chief executive officer, a position he has held since 1967.

A graduate of Michigan State University, Richardson, who also holds a law degree from the University of Michigan, is one of the youngest bank presidents in the country, according to officials of Manufacturers National Bank.

Richardson began his banking career in 1953, when he joined the Industrial National Bank of Detroit and took over the Commercial Lending Department of Manufacturers, when the banks consolidated in 1955.

He currently is in charge of all loan functions and the expanding international activities of the bank.

In addition, he is first vice-president of the Detroit Clearing House, a director of the Metropolitan Trust Company and a trustee of Crittendon Hospital of Detroit.

South High Choir Concert Dec. 16

The Christmas season will be ushered in by the Grosse Pointe South A Cappella Choir and Chorus in their annual Christmas Concert, Tuesday, December 16, at 8:00 p.m. in the Gymnasium.

Under the direction of Leonard I. Riccinto, the singers will present such works as "Christmas Day" from "Promises, Promises," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach, and "Psalm 100," a double choir motet sung in German. Other numbers include "The Sixty-Seventh Psalm" by Charles Ives (sung in two keys at the same time), "Silver Bells," "Glory to God in the Highest," and the "Hallelujah Chorus" accompanied by the high school orchestra.

Lighter music and folk songs by the Choraleers and by the Towerbellies will also be provided.

Admission is free of charge and 300 student musicians are anxiously awaiting to wish the community the merriest of Christmases, according to Mr. Riccinto.

MR. and MRS. EDWARD J. RUSSELL, of Sunningdale drive, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Friday night, November 21, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. Their family including daughter MRS. GEORGE KNOPF and two sons, EDWARD J. RUSSELL, JR., and RICHARD RUSSELL, all of Grosse Pointe, entertained 250 guests at dinner.

Thief Ransacks Woods Residence

Donald C. Kilgus reported to Woods police early Sunday morning, November 30, that a thief had entered his home at 1288 Fairholme road and taken an unknown amount of jewelry.

Cpl. Peter Thomas and Patrolman Patrick Fagan found a set of footprints in the snow, leading in from South to the Kilgus residence.

The investigating officers found that the culprit had first attempted to enter the home by cutting a hole in the screen door of the back porch, but was thwarted in gaining entry by a locked sliding glass door. The unknown person then attempted to break in by prying open the garage door, but discovered that there was no entry-way from the garage to the house.

The persistent burglar finally succeeded in getting into the house by prying open the front door, evidently with a tire-iron. Once inside, the thief ransacked the front bedroom, den and a hallway desk. He allegedly exited by sliding open the glass door, which earlier had frustrated his break-in attempts.

Woods police believe the thief made his entry between the hours of 4:45 p.m. on Saturday, November 29, and 1:09 a.m. Sunday, November 30.

Although an unknown quantity of jewelry was known to be taken, Kilgus said further inventory had yet to be made. Woods officers are continuing their investigation.

Speed Chase

Secours Hospital, where he was treated for minor lacerations and bruises on his right leg, and released.

The driver of the stolen car is still being sought.

The car, a 1969 Dodge Charger Daytona, is a bright orange color, with a white stripe from the front to the rear on both sides.

According to Det. Sgt. James LaPratt, the vehicle was seen parked at various locations in the Park. It is believed that at least in one instance, someone had inspected the car and possibly talked with the driver.

In parking in these areas, it could be that the escaped driver might either be a resident of the Park, or visiting in that city.

Any one with information pertaining to the driver, or the car, is urged to call Park police. The phone number is VALley 2-7400. Names of informants will be kept confidential.

Robert M. Merline In Marine Air Wing

Marine Corporal Robert M. Merline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Merline of 1622 Bournemouth road, is serving with Headquarters and Headquarters Squadron, a unit of the Second Marine Aircraft Wing at the Marine Corps Air Station in Cherry Point, N.C.

The air station is the home of the Second Marine Wing and other Marine aviation units. It provides air support for infantrymen of the Second Marine Division.

Air Birthdays Being Observed

Three significant Michigan aviation anniversaries are being observed this year, the Michigan Department of Commerce (MDC) reports.

It was 60 years ago—on December 16, 1909—that a meeting was held in Detroit to organize Michigan's first Aero Club.

Both Orville and Wilbur Wright attended the meeting at the old Pontchartrain Hotel and the following day they made Detroit's first airport survey—by automobile.

The same year, the Brooks Aeroplane Co. of Saginaw began operation and manufactured 11 airplanes. It was the first of more than two dozen Michigan firms that manufactured airplanes.

And 1969 also marks the 40th anniversary of the creation of the State Aeronautics Commission, now a division of the MDC.

Among the early members of the Detroit Aero Club was William B. Stout, who in 1924 interested Henry Ford in helping to finance production of an all-metal plane he had designed.

A year later, Ford established his own airline, the first in the world to make scheduled air cargo flights. The first flight on April 13, 1925, carried a cargo of automobile parts from Dearborn to Chicago.

Ford Airways logged 223,026 miles and carried more than one million pounds of freight during its first year.

Stout also built the first all-metal, multi-engine transport in the U.S. Dubbed the "Tin Goose," it was standard equipment for most of the young airlines during the late 1920's.

The Stout Air Service, organized by Stout at the request of Ford, began the world's first regularly-scheduled passenger service on August 1, 1926. Alex Groesbeck and Detroit Mayor John W. Smith were among the passengers on the first flight from Detroit to Grand Rapids. Three months later, Stout made the first scheduled flight to Chicago.

In 1928, National Air Transport purchased Stout Air Service which in later years, after merging with three other airlines, became the world's largest airline—United Air Lines.

Henry Ford believed commercial aviation had a bright future and he used advertising and promotional campaigns in an effort to convince the public that airplanes, like automobiles, could be built safely,

Tigers Enlarge Lakeland Plant

Construction has started on a $425,000 de luxe dormitory for the Tigers' minor league Tigertown training base at Lakeland, Fla., it was announced Tuesday by Jim Campbell, executive vice-president and general manager.

The three-story U-shaped building, designed to accommodate 200 minor league players and Tigertown officials, will replace two wooden structures which were built during World War II and which have been used to house players since the 1953 opening of Tigertown.

"This new building is the last word in construction, with comfort and safety foremost in mind," Campbell said. "It is part of our continuing program of modernization and improvement of our training facilities, already among the best in baseball."

A major improvement item was construction of Marchant Stadium, where the Tiger major league club trains, adjacent to Tigertown. Opened in 1966, that facility cost $500,000.

Campbell said it is hoped to complete the new Tigertown dormitory by March 1 but other facilities are available in case the deadline is not met.

The fireproof building will be air conditioned with controlled heating. It will include a recreation lounge on each floor, with all rooms carpeted and new furnishings installed before opening.

The Decker Construction Co., of Lakeland, is building the new facility. It is the same firm which built Marchant Stadium four years ago.

The dormitory project is being financed jointly by the Tigers and the City of Lakeland, with the city to be repaid for its contributions within 10 years, Campbell said.

Child, Officer Bitten by Cat

A Lincoln road mother called City police on Tuesday, November 25, to report that her daughter was playing in a neighboring yard when she was bitten by a gray and black cat.

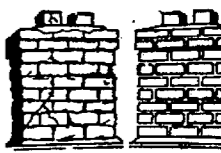

Police talked to neighbors who said the cat had been in the area for a few weeks. The child was taken to her family doctor for a tetanus shot. Residents were asked to contact police if the cat reappeared.

The next day a resident saw the cat and contacted police, who captured it and took it to Harvey's Animal Hospital where it will be kept for 10 days of observation. While the officer was placing the cat in the cage, it bit the officer on the hand.

cheaply and in large numbers. But the loss of more than $6 million in aviation, the death of several of his pilots in accidents and the stock market crash in the Fall of 1929 ended Ford's aviation program.

Scoring the Pointes

By Phil Loranger

Among the hottest selling sports items in The Pointe currently are ice skates—from the hightop hockey blades to figure skates with pink piping.

Longing eyes look out over the reaches of Lake St. Clair in anticipation of seeing the first crystals of winter's ice forming along the shoreline. Hockey sticks have long been taped and eager men and boys of all ages are looking forward to putting blade on ice, imitating a Gordie Howe. When the ice forms, there'll be more neophyte Peggy Flemings than one can count on the Lake ice.

What most Pointers probably don't realize is that the first ice probably will not start forming until the second week of January and that an appreciable extension of the ice will come even later.

That's what the Ice and Snow Project of the Lake Survey Team for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers told the NEWS this week. The Ice and Snow Project, headed by Dr. E. W. Marshall, is studying the formation of ice in an attempt to see if the Great Lakes shipping season can be extended, according to Project member, Don Rondy. "We have based our conclusions on seven years of observation of the ice in Lake St. Clair and the weather conditions of the past 20 years," said Rondy. "Although our dates of ice formation may be off about 10 days because of the weather conditions, they are as accurate as possible."

The Lake St. Clair ice initially forms in the shallower regions of the Lake, around Anchor Bay, Mitchell's Bay, Canada, and along the St. Clair Shores shoreline and slowly begins to move down into The Pointe. The entire lake usually freezes over in the last week of January.

"The dates of freezing are really dependent on what type of a summer we experience in the area," said Rondy. "If we have a hot summer, it will take the water longer to cool down and vice versa. This, by the way, was not an especially hot summer."

Although the lake does freeze over, Rondy claimed that the thickness of the ice varies from one locale to the next and that the shipping channels are rarely frozen thick.

"Along the shore the ice can reach a thickness of 24 inches," he said. "The mid-lake measurements would be quite a bit less, but windrows can reach a depth of as much as four or five feet and this troubles the freighters."

In January of 1968, a late-steaming freighter became "hung up" on a high windrow and had to call upon a United States Coast Guard cutter before freeing itself from the huge hunk of ice off The Pointe shoreline.

Pointe-area skaters may not be forced to enlist the help of the Coast Guard, if they get stuck in the ice, but common sense would warn them to keep away from the ice until mid-January, when it is sure to be safe. You'd never catch Gordie Howe skating on "thin ice."

MR. INDOOR COMFORT

Drafts, Dust, Dry Air

COMMON WINTER PROBLEM IN YOUR HOME?

by ROBERT A. "Doc" WILLIAMS

It's amazing what can be done to correct the problems of indoor air in the modern home. Problems such as drafts and cold spots, dust and dirt, and excessively dry air can be eliminated with Williams total comfort system for your home.

In essence, it's a combination of different products that can be installed on your home's furnace system to heat and cool the air, dehumidify or humidify it, and cleanse it of airborne dirt, dust, and pollen.

The heart of the system is a new furnace... the Carrier furnace... installed by us at Williams. The Carrier furnace is known for its long life, outstanding performance, and lower fuel bills.

Carrier furnaces come in a size and style that is just right for your home and can be custom fitted by us at Williams. A free survey of your home is available, at no obligation, by simply calling us at Carrier today at 372-5500. Summer cooling, or air conditioning, can be added to take care of the summer temperature and humidity problems.

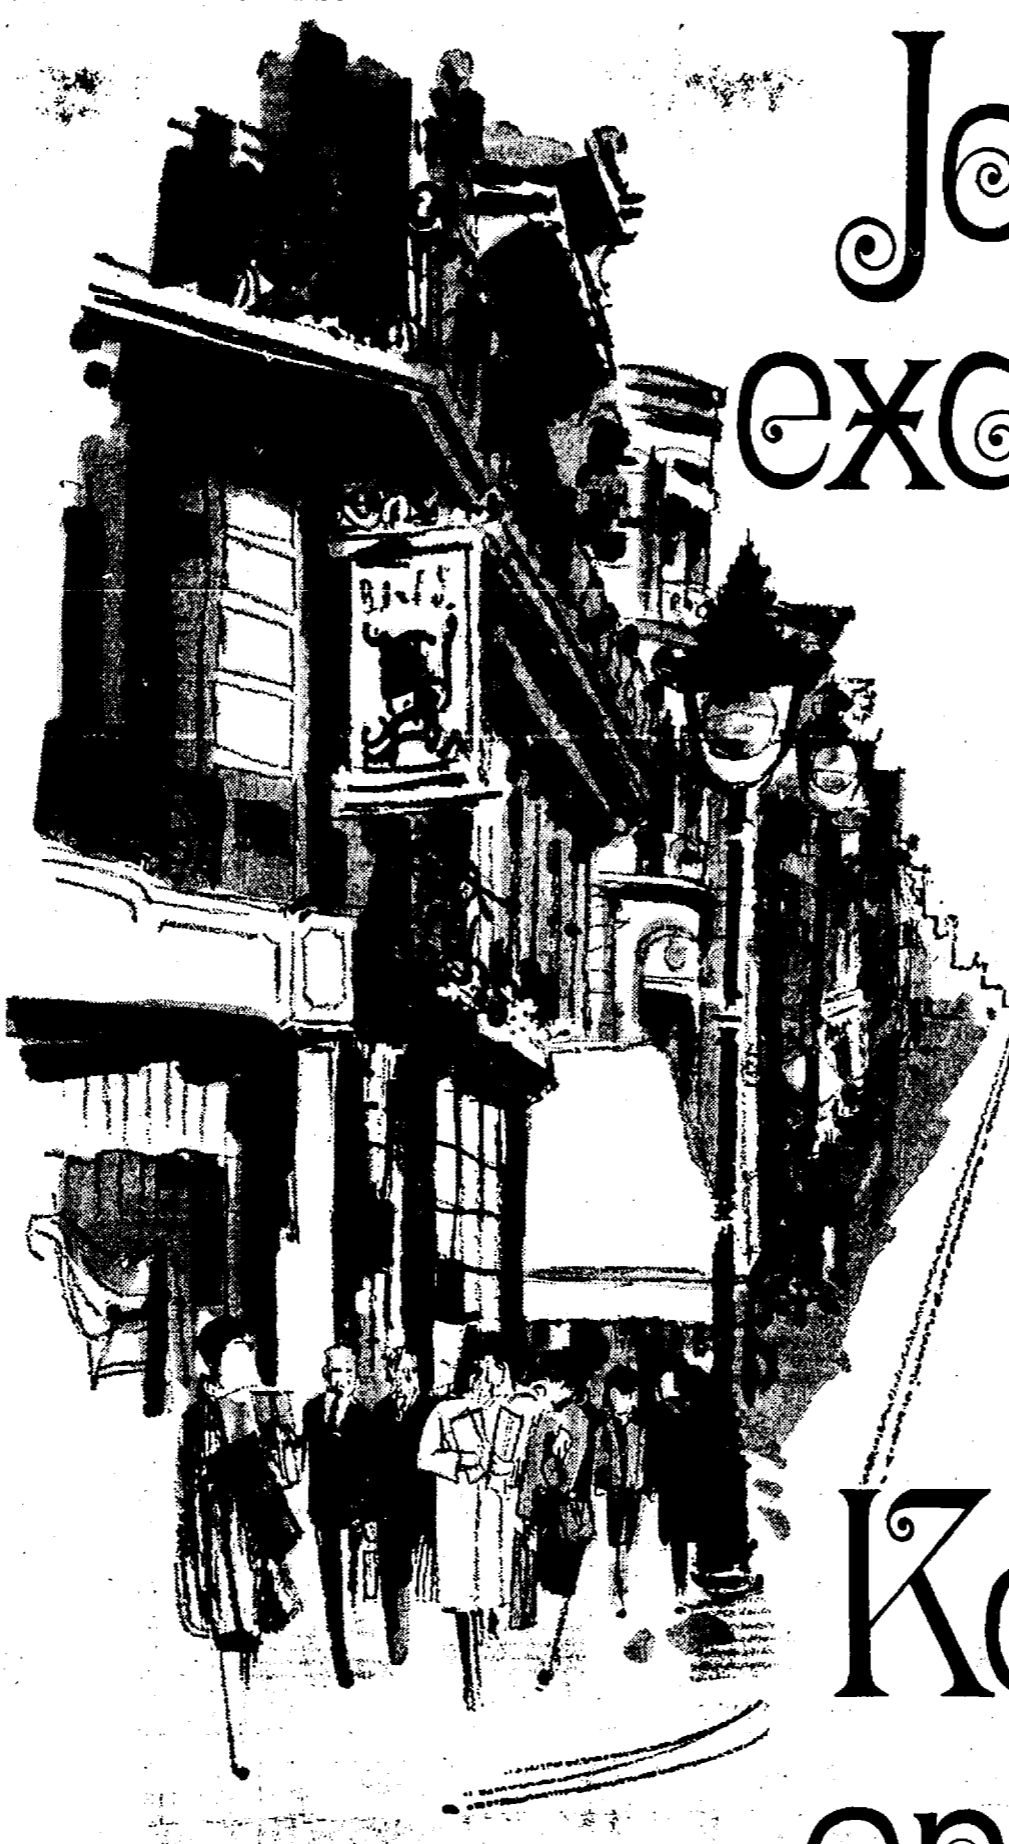

The problem of dirt, dust, and pollen in indoor air can be solved by an electronic air cleaner, a device that is installed right on your furnace system. It cleanses indoor air of more than 90% of the dust, dirt, and pollen with just one pass through the cleaner. A series of charged plates attract airborne contaminants in much the same way a magnet attracts iron filings. Thank of what this means to daily dusting, cleaning, wall washing; not to mention the bills for cleaning rugs, drapes, and slipcovers.

The Carrier humidifier takes care of the problem of excessively dry air caused by the artificial heating process that causes damage to your furnishings and possibly to your health. The Carrier also installed on the furnace, adds moisture to the air that is controlled by a humidistat in your living quarters. A drain takes care of the mineral deposits in water that can form dust in the air. The moisture can help to prevent colds and respiratory infection.

Why not look into any or all of these products in one total comfort system by calling Williams today at 372-5500.

Stop in at our showroom or for a FREE SURVEY of your home or more information on a total comfort system, call "Doc" Williams at Williams Refrigeration and Heating, Inc., 14711 Harper. Serving Grosse Pointe since 1937.

Park Safety Director Talks About Youth and Parents

By Pepper White
 Verbal artists find pleasure in painting all kinds of word pictures about police today, and many times the picture is an ugly one. Park Public Safety Director William P. Ellenburg, has some thoughts on the youth of today and their parents, that illustrate the kind of thinking, caring, people many police are.

"I believe 87 percent of our children are good kids, going about normal teenage pursuits," says Director Ellenburg. "But we must keep that 13 percent, who are having problems, from infecting the straight teenagers."

"I guess the best way to do this is for parents to take a continuing interest in what their children are doing... become involved with them, and give up the permissiveness that is so common in our society today. The kids don't want it! They function better and more happily with rules to live by as all of us do," Director Ellenburg continued. "I really believe that teenagers have a better chance of avoiding delinquency if their parents are interested in them and restrict their activities in a reasonable manner."

Director Ellenburg said that parents must not overlook the effect the 13 percent has on its peer group. It is important that parents know their youngsters' friends and keep abreast of what their children are doing and with whom they are doing it.

"The third factor to consider is what the teenagers want to do for themselves. If they expect to face the world outside they must know in what direction they are headed and why they are headed there."

"The crutchwords bandied about by those 'anti' type kids such as 'establishment... pushbutton world' are phony as far as I'm concerned. Teenagers throughout all periods of history have faced a changing world; this generation just has a different set of concerns."

"A word of advice to parents who notice any behavioral changes in their youngsters, or any physical ones, such as loss of weight, or any items of value missing from the home as (record players, musical instruments and the like, are often pawned and money used for drugs) sit down and talk with your youngster. If you find he is involved with drugs, contact your doctor and your local police and ask for help. Remember it is no time for recriminations, it is a time for constructive action. If you are fortunate enough to have your teenagers tell you he has a drug problem, don't damn him... help him."

Music Students To Tour Abroad

Students who are selected as performing musicians as well as students who are interested in learning more about music and musicians will have a unique opportunity to combine education and travel this summer in a 35-day concert tour of Europe offered by International Cultural Exchange School, Inc.

The tour which is being organized and directed by Mrs. Nora Kelley, director of music at University-Liggett School is available to any students in the Grosse Pointe area who is 15 years old or over. Acceptance will be based on audition or interview and recommendations of band directors or teachers.

Participants will visit Vienna and Salzburg, Austria; Florence and Venice, Italy; Lucerne, Switzerland; Paris, France, and London, England. The performing musicians will have an opportunity to perform for European audiences in several of these cities.

The study-travel program for which 4 1/2 quarter hours college credit can be obtained will combine study and pleasure in an unusual formula to provide the best from both activities. In each city they visit, students will see historic landmarks, visit museums, hear lectures matched to the area's musical contributions and attend operas, ballets, and concerts.

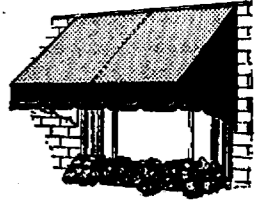

More information and descriptive literature will be available to both students and parents at a general meeting to be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, December 9 in the university campus auditorium of the University-Liggett School, 1945 Cook Road, Grosse Pointe Woods.

It's a proven fact that a fact-finding commission is a fault-finding commission. The world isn't suffering for want of pre-crying—more practice is what it needs.

Burglars Visit Farms Homes

Two homes in the Farms were visited by burglars on Sunday, November 30, and in both incidents, only a bedroom in each house was ransacked, according to information released by police.

At the home of the Jerome E. Fruesemas, 438 Colonial court, the breakin occurred sometime between 10 a.m. and 4:45 p.m., at which time the burglary was discovered.

The thieves entered the house by breaking the glass of the rear storm door and the inner rear door of the house, reaching in and unlocking the latch. Police said the culprits possibly used a hammer to smash the glass.

The robbers entered the master bedroom and completely ransacked it, emptying dresser drawers and dumping the contents. All that could be determined missing, was 25 silver dollars and $55 in currency, taken from one of the drawers. Nothing else, at the time, appeared to have been taken.

The other home entered was that of Robert W. Baker, 164 Moran road, who told police that he returned home at about 10 p.m. to find the glass of the rear door broken, and the master bedroom ransacked.

CAR WINDOW BROKEN

Joseph Wencel Thomas, 833 Rivard, called City police on Thursday, November 27, to report persons unknown had broken the front window of his 1967 Dodge, which was parked in front of his residence on that date.

When a man starts yawning in your presence it's time for you to change the subject.

Baker said that he apparently frightened away the burglar, who was still in the house. The thief took a portable color television set, valued at $300, with him as he fled.

Both breakins were referred to officers of the Detective Bureau for further investigation.

Police Ask Citizens' Help To Curb Home Burglaries

Twelve home burglaries were reported to police in the Pointe-Harper Woods area during the week of November 23 through 29. With the days before Christmas being spent in buying sprees, and residents storing gifts in hiding places throughout the house, the burglaries are expected to increase this month, according to statistics released by police.

However, it was pointed out, break-ins can be stopped, or at least discouraged, with the help of residents and their neighbors. Time and time again police have issued pleas to residents to call authorities if they see anything unusual in their neighborhoods, such as suspicious acting people, or hear any noises, such as breaking glass. Don't try to investigate the matter yourself, but call the police immediately. They would rather investigate an incident and find nothing wrong, than not receive a call and have a crime committed.

Public Schools in Focus

By Dr. Theos I. Anderson, Superintendent of Schools

How has the Board of Education calculated the need for 25.45 mills to operate the public schools for the two-year period beginning July 1, 1970? Five criteria have been used in estimating financial requirements for the years 1970-71 and 1971-72. They are enrollment, salary increments, additional personnel, salary improvements, and other costs.

Enrollment

The Grosse Pointe Public School System is experiencing its own unique population explosion, according to latest school census figures. While the general population of the school district increased by 63 percent since 1950, the school enrollment jumped 233 percent.

School enrollment figures, (September 1969), indicate that the high schools currently are bearing the larger increases. Of 2,800 additional students this year, 265 of them are attending the two high schools.

During recent years the public schools have been adding 300 to 400 students each year. Outside experts have estimated that by 1980, the public schools of our community will be serving 16,000 youngsters.

Salary Increments

We have estimated the need to earmark approximately $125,000 each year for salary increments, the semi-automatic raises which personnel in various categories receive as they advance on the salary schedules.

Additional Personnel

With an increase of 300 to 400 in the student body, it is necessary to provide the staff members to accommodate them. We have calculated that we shall need 20 people more (including teachers, custodians, librarians, etc.) each year to meet the anticipated growth needs. This does not include personnel needed for program improvement.

Salary Improvements

The Board of Education is estimating improvements at 8 percent each year for the next two years to stay competitive with comparable school districts throughout Michigan.

Other Costs

In spite of various readjustments predicted in the nation's economic condition, we are not hopeful that the costs of goods and services will be any lower during the next two years than they are today. Unfortunately, the schools are caught in the same inflationary spiral that each housewife faces when she goes to the grocery store. Therefore, we are estimating an increase of 8 percent each year for other costs.

On the revenues side of the picture, we must take two factors into consideration: the district's state equalized valuation and the amount of financial aid we receive from the State of Michigan.

State Equalized Valuation

The State Equalized Valuation of real estate in the school district is currently pegged at $394,558,399, about half its potential sale value. We have calculated that there will be an approximate increase of 5 percent in the State Equalized Valuation of the property during each of the next two years. We have estimated the SEV for 1970-71 to be $414,410,578 and for 1971-72 to be $435,131,107. These factors have been included in the projected budget calculations.

State Aid
Under the current formula for financial aid from the State of Michigan, in 1969-70 we are receiving $141.81 per child, a decrease of $2.38 from last year. With the increase in State Equalized Valuation, we may expect a further decrease over the next two years, with the possibility of receiving $135 per child in 1970-71 and $123 in 1971-72.

These figures are calculated on the current formula. Present deliberations in Lansing could seriously curtail the amount of money we would receive and place a ceiling on instructional expenditures in Grosse Pointe and elsewhere. But that is another story.

JANET GARDNER, daughter of MR. and MRS. JOSEPH GARDNER, of Bishop road, has pledged Pi Beta Phi sorority at Michigan State University. Jan, a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate, is majoring in home economics at MSU where she was joined November 15 by her father Joe for the Minnesota-MSU football game and Dads' Day at the Pi Phi House, where lunch and dinner were served.

Discusses Ways To Help Retarded

Mrs. Lynn Adams, social worker for the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, spoke at the November 19 meeting of the Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Children. Her message carried the plea to help your child develop a good self-image, whether he be retarded or normal.

She encouraged the parents to capitalize on their child's successes and to praise all progress, however minimal, and to offer broadening experiences that will open new doors to your retarded child's horizons. An example was cited of a mother who arranged for her retarded son to obtain a library card and bring home his own books.

Mrs. Adams' services are available for families encountering problems in family relations because of the retarded child living at home. She may be contacted through the Board of Education.

Also present at the meeting was Miss Diane Steffes, faculty sponsor of the Student-Special Education Volunteer Program at Grosse Pointe North High School. This volunteer group offers their services at the Neighborhood Club bowling program for the retarded on Thursday afternoons, tutors the retarded in the home, and eagerly awaits requests from parents who have need of their help in any area.

The next meeting of the Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Children will be held on January 21 at the Central Library on Kercheval. Forrest A. Hainline, noted attorney, will be the featured speaker. All interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Four Grosse Pointe properties were included in the sale of all of the holdings of the Buhl Land Company on Monday.

President of the company is Pointer Lawrence D. Buhl, Jr., of Grosse Pointe boulevard. The purchasers are five Detroit-area lawyers and businessmen headed by Jerry D. Luptak, partner in the law firm of Evans, Boyer, Luptak and Briggs.

The $20-million-deal is said to be the highest-priced real estate purchase in the city of Detroit's history.

Properties involved in the sale were the Buhl Building, Griswold at Congress, Detroit, several downtown parking lots, about a dozen other improved real estate parcels in Detroit and suburbs and a portfolio of securities.

The Pointe properties include the sale of only the land and buildings, not the businesses located there. They include Neil Shoes, 16844 Kercheval, Country Squire, 16900 Kercheval and Himelhoch's 17131 Kercheval.

Italian Cities Star in Movie

A new full-length color movie of "Rome-Florence-Venice Adriatic Italy" will be shown for the first time in Detroit at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, December 7, on the World Adventure Series at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The movie, which shows the Italian people, their everyday life, cities, villages and traditions, was produced by Alfred Wolf, Chicago world traveler and professional photographer who narrates the film in person.

Wolf's movie tour starts in the great city of Rome showing St. Peter's Square and Church and such famous landmarks as the Colosseum, Forum, Trajan's Column, Hadrian's Tomb, the Spanish Steps, plus the Roman people today, the modern Sports Palace, theaters, restaurants, buildings, and a visit to the Home of opera singer Anna Moffo.

Wolf's film then follows the Apian Way to Brindisi on the Adriatic Sea and heads north along the coast past dream-like beaches, quaint villages, and gay resorts. He shows, among others, Bari, Barletta, the Gargano Peninsula. He cruises by swift hydrofoil to the little-visited Trimiti Islands. He pictures Pescara, a popular resort, Chieti's dancing girls, a wedding at Ancona, a typical Italian family dinner, and tiny but intriguing San Marino. He makes major tours of Florence with its arts treasures, Trieste with its fine harbor and Miramar Castle, and Venice's canals, Doges Palace, and St. Mark's Cathedral.

For ticket information, phone World Adventure Series, TEmple 2-7676 between 1 and 5 p.m. any day except Mondays.

City Police Stop Reckless Driver

City police arrested Frederick W. Lorkowski, 302 South Huron, Harbor Beach, Mich., on Tuesday, November 25, after a high speed chase.

On that date, Lorkowski was spotted by City police officers traveling east on Jefferson at a high rate of speed. They followed him to Rivard where he swerved from the left lane into the right lane without signaling. At Washington he once again swerved from the left to right lane, tailgating the car in front of him. He drove in the right lane until Elka court where he once again swerved back into the left lane without signaling. He then accelerated to speeds of from 65-70 mph. Officers finally stopped Lorkowski who was unable to find the car registration. He was placed under arrest and taken to the station where he was charged with reckless driving. He posted an AAA membership card in lieu of $200 pending his court appearance on Tuesday, December 9.

Farms Lets Skaters Down

Kerby Field, long an area of contention because of its lack of decent maintenance, will not be available, even in its normally pitiful condition, to Farms children for skating this winter. The old warming shed has been torn down and bids received on a new building, according to City Manager Andrew Bremer, were much higher than the city could reasonably justify to its taxpayers.

In the meantime, there will be no ice skating at Kerby this year. It comes to the mind of this writer that years ago we skated without the benefit of warming sheds; when we got cold, we went home. No child in the Farms lives further than 10 minutes from Kerby Field. The NEWS believes that since the City has not been able to come up with a warming shed in time for the skating season it should at least give the youngsters the option to use the area for skating and hockey if they desire with or without a shed.

It is unfortunate that a recreational area, which should be available to youngsters for year-around pleasure, will lie useless this winter, forcing youngsters to crowd at the Farms Pier. The land is there, winter weather is upon us, and our youngsters are chomping at the bit for the first long freeze so they can begin skating and playing hockey.

Last year Kerby Field was in terrible shape. It was not maintained and skaters practically took their lives in their hands skating there. But it was nearby and the youngsters wanted to skate and play hockey badly enough, and they did. Any cold, wintry afternoon or evening you could see crowds of youngsters there.

At this writing it appears that any improvements, or for that matter, downright necessities (such as a leaf collecting machine) just aren't to be had in the Farms unless the city fathers are forced into action. We suggest that the residents make their wishes known.

Give Some Thought To This

Although most Pointers are busy checking and re-checking their Christmas shopping list, hoping not to overlook anybody, the NEWS would like to remind you of one group, which may never have crossed your mind. It is the Anti-Cruelty Association. The Association depends to a great extent on private donations to help care for the many animals in its charge and it could use a few Christmas gifts to help it weather the coming year.

This past year was a critical one at the Association because it handled almost twice as many animals as it did in 1968 and inflation hit it from almost every direction, according to Dorothy Dyce, Anti-Cruelty Association president. Dorothy pointed out that additional employees had to be hired, repairs had to be made to the shelter and the equipment, and uniforms for drivers had to be bought. A 24-hour emergency service, the only such service for animals in this area, was established and the total expenditures for animal care in 1969 ran as high as $55,000. There will be more animals this year and costs are sure to increase.

If it wasn't for the kind contributions sent in each year, more than 18,000 animals would starve to death, get hit by cars or suffer in countless other ways. The NEWS asks that you give some consideration to these helpless animals this Christmas and make an effort to send some token of your appreciation along to the Anti-Cruelty Association, at 13569 Joseph Campau, Detroit, Michigan, 48212. It will surely be appreciated.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Edgar: Concerning Mr. Norman Dodge's letter in your November 27, 1969 issue makes me believe we are suffering from a problem of semantics. I wish to reiterate that in the conclusions drawn by me I am considering the gross cost operation of our system as equated to our student attendance. Schools are operated for the education of our children primarily. This is not a pipe dream spun out of my imagination. There are available good technical publications on this issue. One is FINANCING MICHIGAN SCHOOLS professional series Bulletin No. 25. This is a publication of the Bureau of Education Research of Michigan State University. Sometimes in solving problems we can become too earnest in our first solution and later find out we did not get a good general knowledge of the subject from all angles before concluding. Sincerely, Louis J. De Perro Jr. DDS 831 N. Renaud

Dear Sir: John Grylls' comments as reported in the November 20th issue of the News require further clarification. As Chairman of the Millage Study Committee, I find no evidence that the Board of Education or the Millage Steering Committee made any false representations as to the recommendations of the Millage Study Committee. Reports of the Millage Study Committee given to the Board contained general agreements that the present level of education be continued and additionally, specific areas of improvement were recommended. To my knowledge, the Millage Study Committee was never represented to have done more than this. The Study Committee did not attempt to "price out" or set the millage needed to support these recommendations. Again, we were not represented as having done so. Personally, I felt the need to support all three proposals. Not only was I convinced that Grosse Pointe needed to keep its educational programs at their present level; 2) provide certain areas with additional strength; 3) repair and rebuild South High, but I also agreed that the millage requirement as established by the Board were reasonable. To satisfy myself as to the reasonableness of the millage proposal, I asked for and was given a detailed explanation of each proposal by a Board member and staff personnel. Subsequent millage action taken by the Board on November 24th leaves me less than satisfied. I will again support the proposal to levy 25.45 mills for operating funds. It is regrettable however, that the Board was not unanimous in its decision to return this proposition to the voters. Further, without the proposition for improvement (.75 mills), the Grosse Pointe system will remain, I fear, unable to provide needed services such as qualified personnel in the fields of employee relations, negotiations, remedial reading and mathematics. I find it incredible that some would choose to voice their disagreement with the Board by voting "No" to operating millage. In the past and probably in the future, I will find myself in general and some time specific disagreement with the Board of Education. Voting down operating improvement and building issues is indeed, a curious route to the heart of the matter. It occurs to me that there are other, more direct and effective ways of expressing our disagreement aside from frustrating the Board and pre-occupying their time with the already long and tedious task of raising operating funds. Very truly yours, WILLIAM C. PORTER 661 Hampton Road

To The Editor: On behalf of the class of 1972 of Grosse Pointe South High School, I would like to thank the Grosse Pointe News very much for purchasing the North-South Football Trophy for the two high schools. This was a wonderful gesture, and helped to create spirit and a friendly atmosphere between the members of the two schools after the game. Hopefully, the presentation of the trophy will continue to be as meaningful in the years to come as it was this year. Also, the articles which the NEWS has printed concerning our school activities have been accurate, and well-written and have served well in unifying South and giving recognition to the students and sportsmen who deserve it. Again, thank you very much for your kindness. Sincerely, Ruth Maxon Secretary, Class of '72 South High School

I wish to make the following comments on statements contained in a letter to the editor written by Mr. John Dyle in the November 20th issue of the Grosse Pointe News concerning conditions at Grosse Pointe South High School and his reference to surplus funds which he apparently believes could or should be expended on this facility. I, too have read the South High study committee report on conditions at Grosse Pointe South High School. According to my interpretation, I can find no reference in this study to the affect that this facility is "almost too hazardous for our students to occupy." In my judgment such a statement by Mr. Dyle is completely misleading. As I read the report, the committee addressed itself primarily to the "Charge" of the Board of Education to inform itself of the building inadequacies and to present findings, or make suggestions in the following areas: (a) What alterations and improvements should be made in the physical plant in order to meet the educational needs of the school system for the present as well as foreseeable future? (b) What is the suggested timetable for accomplishing this objective? (c) What is the suggested solution to financing any recommended alterations?

This report does make reference to unsafe conditions but it is my opinion that to claim the building is too hazardous to occupy is very much exaggerated by Mr. Dyle. To infer that school officials are guilty of malfeasance in the maintenance of this building is a serious charge when it is apparent that Mr. Dyle has no factual knowledge of the finances which have been expended on South High School since 1955 for capital improvements and maintenance of the grounds, the buildings, or the repair and replacement of equipment. I have a detailed report obtained from the school system which shows a total of $3,362,000.00 expended between 1955 and 1968 for the purposes outlined above. In my opinion, Mr. Dyle speaks with knowledge of our school system's finances when he intimates that the current reserve of $950,000.00 could be, or should be used toward the renovation of South High School. Even a superficial study of the school system's 1969-70 budget reveals that the $950,000.00 mentioned by Mr. Dyle was a planned reserve intended for use as general school operating funds in the 1969-70 budget. By "General Operation," I am talking about expenditures for salaries, utilities, instructional supplies and daily maintenance of approximately 15 buildings operated within the school system. When an operational budget is prepared for a two-year program, the total monies required is the sum of the money needs for year #1 plus year #2. Due to increasing enrollment and inflationary pressures the money required for year #2 is greater than for year #1. The required millage therefore is an average of that required for year #1 and year #2. After the first year the money left over, $950,000. will be used for the second year, which will be short money. At the end of the second year all money will be used up. Therefore Mr. Dyle's suggestion to take this $950,000.00 of operational funds and use it for capital improvements at South High is illegal and is not permitted by the State. I suggest that in the future, Mr. Dyle should stop by the board of education offices and review questions such as the above with the staff. They are competent people who can provide factual answers. Sincerely, Charles F. Kalvelage 1535 Fairholme

What Goes On at Your Library

By Virginia Leonard An anonymous clipping came my way the other day, labeled "World's Largest University." I rather liked it and so will quote it to you in its entirety. "Through its halls have passed more Nobel and Pulitzer prize winners, more successful poets, playwrights, generals, senators, scientists, even football coaches, than through any other school. Despite such talented alumni, it has never knowingly turned away a single applicant who wanted to attend. Although it has no Old Grad's Day, everyone seems eager to return, often how did it become so popular? It was built on two premises: 1) The printed page is the key to all learning. So it established the largest collection of books in the world. 2) An education is never really complete. So it attracts a lifelong student body. And it is always on the lookout for new students. Its name? THE PUBLIC LIBRARY. The Public Library Association, a division of the American Library Association, publishes for its members a small bulletin entitled "Just Between Ourselves." We are proud to note that the Editor Pro Tem is our own Director, Robert M. Orr and that he has written, in the October issue, a very fine salute to Eleanor Ferguson who has resigned as Executive Secretary. Another interesting article in this issue is one written by President June E. Bayless and entitled: "Subject: Libraries—Resources for Human Understanding the Prime Resource." It contains some excellent ideas and thoughts. "While we are convinced that we will not be replaced by computers and that people will always need librarians, we must not forget that we, as librarians, need the people we serve. As we recognize our own need for people, we are in a better position to understand the needs of the people who use our resources. We are the ones who provide the human link in introducing the patron to the particular information he seeks." June Bayless continues with the idea that we buy nautical books for sailors, books on mathematics for students, and books on horticulture for orchardists, without remembering or realizing that perhaps the sailor might want to read books on palm trees and that the student of mathematics may not be able to read at all. We must assume nothing. Until we have talked to our patron, gotten to know him, have listened to him, we cannot know what his needs and limitations may be. Have we become book lovers or book dealers? Do we try to introduce classics or some dearly beloved book of our own to our patron, once we have gotten to know him well enough to feel he would enjoy them, or do we thrust a best-seller—a saucy or superficial book—into his hands because he—and you—have seen it advertised in every media? Are we trying to run a dry-goods store? Is our interest more tightly focused on displaying the book or on having our patron read the book—enjoy it and understand it as we have already done? "When we can match our particular patrons with compatible authors, and when we can satisfy their essential and quite individual needs for information, when we are, in short, attentive, interested and helpful, we establish friendly relations between ourselves and the people we serve. This friendly relation is personally gratifying, and it is good business for the library. In addition, it helps to bridge the distance that separates the institution from its supporters." In this computer age where people are being replaced by machines, it is heartening to have a librarian speak up in defense of the human element. The librarian is a link—and a very important one—between the knowledge that is contained in the pages of each and every book and the person or patron who is being served. Facts, we grant, can be tabulated, computerized, itemized. The human element may not always be necessary. But when it comes to taste, book selection, style, writing ability, beauty of language, imagination and sheer artistry—you will always need that middleman—he it book seller, librarian or teacher, who must and should serve as interpreter and guide to the student, patron, client. When everything becomes computerized (God forbid!) the world will be a poorer, less colorful place to live in. Like the moon, it will be in shades of greys and browns—no color, no style, no life. So let us accent the librarian, as we accent the teacher, as an interpreter—the person who brings the right book—the right bit of information—to the right patron.

Julie Fisher Speaks Vows To Mr. Taylor

Home in St. Clair Shores Awaits Newlyweds Upon Their Return from Bahamas; Country Club Reception Follows Evening Rites

Julie Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Fisher, of Lothrop road, and Stephen Taylor, son of Mrs. Douglas Taylor, of Bedford road, and the late Mr. Taylor, were married Friday evening, November 28, at a candlelight ceremony in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore.

The bride wore a Medieval court dress of deep lustre satin fashioned with a dirndl skirt, long sleeves and a slightly rolled collar and featuring a mock bolero jacket outlined with hand-embroidered gold braid, jewels and baroque pearls.

A Cathedral train fell from her slightly lifted waist and a jewel-encrusted Juliet cap caught her long illusion veil.

She carried a mother-of-pearl prayerbook covered with pabla-enopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Her eight attendants chose snow white velvet frocks fashioned with Empire waists accented with brocade ribbon in shades of green and gold. Their headpieces were matching velvet Juliet caps and they carried old-fashioned bouquets of gold chrysanthemums.

Honor matron was Mrs. Rene Coudert, sister of the bride. Honor maid was Ellen Hickey. Bridesmaids were Sarah Drummy and Mrs. Kurt B.

Lagerfeldt, cousins of the bride, Margaret O'Brien, Denise Cassidy, Sandra Martin and Germaine La Berge.

David Scott Taylor served as his brother's best man. In the usher corps were Randy Watterman, James Conway, Jr., Robert Larson, Eric Latos, Thomas K. Fisher, Jr., the bride's brother, Rene Coudert, Kurt B. Lagerfeldt and John Fisher, the bride's cousin.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Fisher selected a white and silver shell design dress and coat ensemble. The bridegroom's mother chose a Princess coattress of white French lace. Both mothers pinned yellow cymbidium orchids to their purses.

After a dinner reception at the Country Club of Detroit the newlyweds flew to Golden Beach, Fla., to visit Julie's grandmother, Mrs. Charles T. Fisher, then continued on to the Bahamas.

They will return to make their home in St. Clair Shores.

This winter he will be skating first line on St. George's varsity hockey team.

The Little Club was the scene of the black tie party honoring

CHARLES T. FISHER, III, of Lothrop road, on his 40th birthday recently. Hosts were MRS. FISHER and MR. and MRS. JANUARIUS A. MULLEN, of Lake court, (Mrs. Mullen's Mr. Fisher's mother). Among the 100 guests who dined and danced to Jack Qualey's music was Chick's brother, FRED, here from San Francisco for the festivities.

KATHLEEN M. WRIGHT, of Kenwood court, has been named a class agent for the Annual Marquette University Fund. Kathleen was graduated from Marquette's College of Journalism in 1968.

CASEY, of Rathbone place, and CATHERINE ZIMMERMAN, daughter of MR. and MRS. ROBERT J. VLASIC, of South Deeplands road, who recently completed a highly successful year as president of The Culver Legion, the winter school alumni association. During his term of office the Legion constitution was revised and the entire organization revitalized. Mr. Vlasic, who also has served as president of the Detroit Culver Club, is a graduate of the University of Michigan where he was a member of Tau Beta Pi and Phi Kappa Phi, a Navy World War II veteran and is currently serving as president of the national Young Presidents Organization. He and his wife Nancy, who were honor guests with other winners and their wives preceding the Service Awards presentation, are the parents of four children including JAMES, a 1969 Culver graduate.

MR. and MRS. JAMES C. FINNEY, of Chalfonte avenue, celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary November 29 with a dinner and reception for family and friends at the Detroit Yacht Club given by their six children and 32 grandchildren, climax of a busy day which began with a commemorative Mass in St. Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore. The Finneys have been Pointe residents for 19 years, moving here from Northwest Detroit where they lived for 23 years. The anniversary couple, in turn, honored their married children Friday, November 28, at a dinner at the Detroit Athletic Club. The children are RITA MARIE (Mrs. Frank) VARGO, JAMES C. (Continued from Page 17)

Turning now from formal adults-only festivities to a fun-for-all-the-family program: Tomorrow's the date of that delightful—the 11th annual—Christmas Workshop and Family Potluck Supper at Grosse Pointe Congregational Church.

Mothers and fathers, boys and girls, grandparents, uncles and aunts and cousins walk together down "Candy Cane Lane" for a served-promptly-at-6-o'clock picnic feast after which tables are cleared and quickly rearranged as work areas for projects designed to interest participants of all ages.

One of the traditionally popular departments is the construction of a Nativity creche with figures. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Choate will again provide expert instruction here.

Mr. and Mrs. John Winters and their group will be making Yule Logs decorated with greens to start Christmas blazes in home fireplaces and, for the youngest set, there'll be a Children's Corner under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Robert McCullough and Mrs. James Mackintosh where tiny hands may fashion such objects as reindeer, angels and mosaic tree ornaments and sequin candles.

Decorating Christmas cookies is always a project that attracts the smallest children. Mrs. C. Frank Turpin will oversee the preparation of dough and frosting.

A pair of "repeats," Stained Glass Ornaments directed by Mrs. B. B. Bates and Advent Wreaths with Mrs. George Ielm instructing, are among last year's handicrafts specifically requested this year. A new group, led by Mrs. Howard Wright, will create beautiful gold poinsettia swags.

A showcase of all Workshop projects has been arranged by Mrs. Ernest Bauer and is on display at the Church.

Mrs. Ralph Cross is chairman of the Workshop with Mrs. Harold Westcott as her assistant. Mrs. Jerry Huvaere is handling reservations. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dentz serve as treasurers. Mrs. Thomas Rockwell is responsible for decorations and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Potter are making name tags.

Other committee members include Miss Ella Tesser, Mr. and Mrs. John Marschner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Billiu and the Mesdames Martin Hawley, Richard Harvey, Robert Lake, Louis Charvat, Kenneth Bergmann, David Johnson, Lewis Slater, Howard Poppen, Arthur Erickson, Jack Wheeler, Graham Dick, Allan Neff and William Reid.

The bride's gown of ivory satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tight sleeves and a lace yoke, was first worn by her grandmother, the late Mrs. Morrill Dunn, of Chicago, Ill., at her wedding in 1898.

Her short tulle veil fell from a small lace headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white roses, lilies-of-the-valley and ivy.

Deborah Ann Dunn, who served as her sister's honor maid, and bridesmaids Linda Ann Clifford, the bridegroom's sister, Alice Lathrop Brooks, of Cambridge, Mass., and Kathleen O'Brien, of Winnetka, wore floor length frocks of azalea pink silk and carried arrangements of bright flowers in shades of pink, orange, burgundy and lavender, with trail-

The newlyweds are vacationing in Mexico City and Cuernavaca and will be at home in Southfield after December 15.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, George Cook Tilley, and attended by

FLOWERS THAT BLOOM IN THE FALL

A FREE-WHEELING DESIGN OF GIANT MUMS that take to the bed with a flourish teams with Piping Rock Draperies in matching colors and a matching table fashion. It's the Maxi Mum spread with minimum effort. Designed in colors nature never knew—like nutmeg and black, parrot green and turquoise, and patriotic red, white and blue, this bedspread only requires machine washing and drying. No ironing needed to keep spanking-new look.

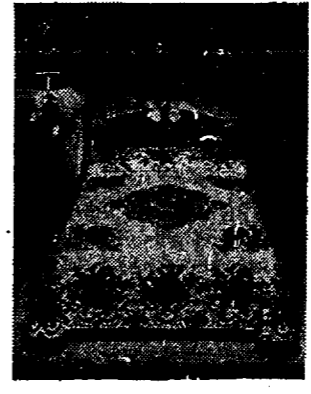

A DREAM OF SUMMER ALL YEAR LONG is captured in Bates' Paraphernalia bedspread. Chock full of giant posies and cool green leaves, this spread would make a perfect match with lemon cafe curtains and table fashion for the young lady of the house.

NEW YORK (ED) — Fall perennials are going to have hardy competition this year — inside the house — with a bunch of blooming home fashions all set to make the bedroom a bower of flowers. Harsh fall winds have already started to make us forget the balmy breezes of summer. Yet, when it comes to home decor, there's no need to live in an atmosphere that's as bleak as all outdoors. Instead, try these new floral arrangements.

Teamed with color-coordinated Piping Rock draperies or cafe curtains, and matching table fashions, flowered bedspreads make every day Arbor Day in your bedroom. Best of all, these Bates bedspreads are as easily cared for as the lilies of the field. Just toss them into the washing machine and dry. No ironing needed here.

With these gloriously flowered home fashions, spring is sprung all over the house and in the bedroom. It all goes to prove the truth of the old saying: "If winter comes can spring be far behind..."

FOR A STATELY KIND OF BEDROOM, Somerset is an elegant hand screened print that recalls the beautiful symmetry of English gardens. The print ranges from a bigger-than-life-size center bouquet to tiny nosegays over pillows and skirt.
