

HEPATITIS RAMPANT IN POINTE

HEADLINES of the WEEK As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, December 18
PRESIDENT NIXON touched off a revolt in the Republican Party's powerful New York wing Wednesday when he moved to oust U.S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau, a Democrat. Morgenthau said he would not resign and New York's two Republican senators and Mayor John Lindsay rallied to his support. The White House announcement said Mr. Nixon planned to replace Morgenthau with Whitney North Seymour, Jr., a Republican.

THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT is investigating whether federal law was violated Wednesday by members of the Detroit chapter of Clergy and Laymen Concerned about Vietnam, a national anti-war organization, who handed over $1,000 to four Canadians to help American draft evaders and military deserters. The two groups met on the center span of the Ambassador Bridge, which connects Detroit and Windsor on the international border. Each group hiked the one-mile after paying the 10-cent pedestrian fee and passing through customs.

Friday, December 19
PRESIDENT NIXON told Congress he would have to veto its second largest appropriation bill funding the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare departments and the Office of Economic Opportunity because it was inflationary. The Senate approved $21.4 billion when it passed the measure Wednesday. The figure was nearly $5 billion above what the President had requested and nearly $4 billion above what the House had passed last summer.

FOES OF PAROCHIAL succeeded in tying up the $1,023-billion school-aid bill with little time remaining in the fall session of the Michigan Legislature. The stalemate was caused by $25 million tagged for parochial, a proposed system of private school subsidies. The provision stirred such sentiment and conflict that it froze action on Governor Milliken's entire 12-part education reform package.

Saturday, December 20
HOUSE AND SENATE negotiators Friday approved a compromise tax bill carefully tailored to avoid a veto. It raises the income tax personal exemption $150 over a four-year period. The exemption, now $600, would rise to $650 next July 1. The effect of this for taxpayers is the same as a $625 exemption for 1970.

THE U.S. BAN on trade with mainland China, imposed shortly after the communist take-over 19 years ago, was lifted partly Friday by the Nixon administration in an effort to open the door to improved relations with the Peking government. The most important change of this three-part relaxation of regulations will permit American-owned subsidiaries of U.S. firms in Canada, Europe, Japan and elsewhere to engage in non-strategic trade with mainland China on the same basis as their foreign competitors. Direct U.S. trade with Communist China, however, remains forbidden.

Sunday, December 21
PRESIDENT NIXON SAID today the Senate played "dirty pool" in ditching the "Philadelphia Plan" to speed integration in the construction industry. He indicated he may call a special post-Christmas session because of it. If the President follows through on his veiled threat, he could block the plans of Congress to adjourn Tuesday for a four-week between-sessions break.

SENATOR GAYLORD NELSON, D-Wis., announced today he would hold subcommittee hearings to explore allegations that many women using birth control pills "are not advised of any of the health hazards or side effects." Nelson said pharmaceutical companies are required to send druggists inserts

Astronauts To Be Feted By Students

Distinguished Group of Young People to greet Apollo 12 Crew at Ford Auditorium

Grosse Pointe High School students will be among a gathering of distinguished young people in the Detroit Metropolitan School Districts at Ford Auditorium on Friday, January 9. They'll gather to honor Apollo 12 Astronauts Charles (Pete) Conrad, Jr., Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon, Jr., all Navy captains, at a civic celebration there.

The Astronauts are making a visit to Detroit under the auspices of the Michigan Aeronautics and Space Association and the Michigan Aerospace Foundation. James V. Votta is executive vice-president.

Tickets for the event will be distributed by principals of the high schools.

During their visit here the Astronauts will make a tour of various local facilities. A reception and banquet, open to the public by advanced reservation only, will be held the evening of January 9 at Cobo Hall. Tickets can be obtained at 901 Book Building or by telephoning 981-5288.

Pointer Gertrude Engle will coordinate the details incidental to the Astronauts visit and can be reached at 821-0508 for more information.

Alert Citizen Helps Park Police To Solve Burglary

Park police were able to arrest two men for investigation of burglary, with a third suspect being sought, due to the efforts of a woman citizen who made it her business to be involved.

Det. Sgt. James LaPratt said that because the citizen was willing to be involved, warrants charging J. Harold Norris, 27, and Donald R. Carmack, 24, with breaking and entering, were approved by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office on Monday, December 22. Norris and Carmack both reside at 1293 Hillier, Detroit.

The pair, and their yet unapprehended companion, were observed by the citizen, a neighbor of Mrs. Mary Reilly of 572 Barrington, cruising up and down in front of the Reilly residence at about 5 p.m. on Saturday, December 20. The woman, name withheld, saw the truck stop in front of the house, and one man get out and go to

Drug Addict Rehabilitation Center to Serve the Pointes Is Suggested by Supervisor

Feasibility Study Urged by William Bryant, Jr.; Envisions Program for In-Patients, Care and Counseling for Out-Patients

Wayne County Supervisor and Pointer, William R. Bryant, Jr., says the Grosse Pointes have a golden opportunity to create a comprehensive drug rehabilitation program for the area.

"I have seen the proposals to Governor Milliken from the special commission studying drug abuse," Bryant reports, "and the recommendations concerning drug rehabilitation are very encouraging."

The Pointes could be the very first area ready to take advantage of the proposals.

There was a meeting last Thursday of area doctors, psychiatrists, school social workers, school administrators and personnel, members of the Child Guidance Clinic staff, Lafayette Hospital, law enforcement representatives and the staff of the local Family Life Education program (FLEC), called by FLEC, to discuss the heroin problem in Grosse Pointe. Mr. Bryant attended the meeting and urged creation of a resident facility and increased out-patient care for drug users.

Constructive Meeting
"The meeting was very constructive and everyone there indicated a willingness to meet further and make a concerted effort to find answers," Bryant said. "The discussion was exploratory in nature but there was basic agreement on many issues."

Bryant cited agreement of the need for more and better drug education of parents, school officials and children, and agreement that there must be better control over the sources of dangerous drugs as examples of issues on which there was a consensus.

There was also unanimous agreement that the process of rehabilitation is basically one of detoxification followed by intensive rehabilitation methods and counseling, both individual and through group therapy.

"The tacit conclusions of that meeting are in almost complete agreement with the conclusions of the Governor's task force," Bryant relates, "and this indicated we are on the right track and it is time to pour on the steam and implement what now appears to be the expert opinion as to the best type of program."

To Go To Legislature
The recommendations of the Governor's study will be proposed to the legislature in January and if passed, would necessitate the state finding local groups or municipalities "capable of receiving funds and implementing an intensive rehabilitation program with the help of the state."

Bryant believes if FLEC, or special committee, would immediately develop a program structure, the Pointes could be one of the first to receive state funding for such a program.

"We need intensive study by a broad-based citizens' group to work out the overall and detailed plans for such a program," Bryant insists, "and we can do it."

"FLEC has started the 'hot line' for drug help and some counseling and RAP sessions. This is a start of the development of a comprehensive identification and rehabilitation program. We must do it even if the state can't or won't help, but the interest at the state level should give added incentive."

Study Recommendations
The state study recommends a comprehensive treatment program involving local screening and intake services, withdrawal and detoxification services, inpatient diagnostic-evaluation and treatment services and primary out-patient services. The local screening and intake services would have four major responsibilities: case finding and identification, interviews and referrals, out-patient

Coin Theft Loss Set at Over $40,000

Richard Lawson Reports Collection of Pennies Disappeared from His Home in Woods

The reported theft of a coin collection valued at more than $40,000, from a private home in the Woods, was disclosed this week by Woods Detective Everett Plumb.

The theft, which allegedly took place in the early evening hours of Friday, December 5, also netted the culprit a 9mm Browning automatic pistol.

According to Woods police detectives, thieves entered the home of Richard Lawson, of 522 Aline, sometime between the hours of 7:15 and 11 p.m., while Lawson was away.

Pistol Also Missing
Lawson claimed that upon his return, he discovered that a number of chest and dresser drawers had been ransacked and found the pistol missing. Further investigation revealed the theft of the coins.

Lawson said the coin collection, which consisted of 250 rolls of 1960 Philadelphia, plain, small date pennies, had been hidden in a clothes chute and covered with a number of clothing articles.

The collection was insured for the amount of $37,000, according to Lawson, who said he had originally purchased the collection for seventy-five cents a roll.

Door Was Unlocked
Investigation at the scene of the alleged theft by Woods detectives revealed that entry into the Lawson home may have been made through an unlocked storm door and by breaking a hole in a glass door and slipping a dead-bolt to open the door.

Doctor Reports 2 Guns Missing

Park police are investigating the disappearance of two hand guns reported missing on Monday, December 15, from the home of Dr. John Reid, 15420 Windmill Pointe drive.

The doctor, who called the authorities when he discovered the weapons missing, said that the guns were in the dresser drawer in his bedroom prior to December 12, the last time he had seen them. It is not known exactly when, or how the guns disappeared.

Missing, Dr. Reid said, are a .38 caliber revolver and a Mauer automatic pistol, 7.65 caliber. The caliber of the latter gun, a German make, is equivalent to a .32 caliber size of American manufacturing.

Gunman Robs Wrigley's Store; Escapes with $187

Bandit Waited Until Checkout Area was Cleared of Customers, Then Pulls Out Revolver and Ordered Manager to Fill Bag with Money

A gunman, armed with a small caliber, snub-nosed revolver, held up Wrigley's-on-the-Hill, 107 Kercheval avenue, on Saturday, December 20, and escaped with a bag stuffed with currency, Farms police disclosed.

Fred Wolski, manager of the supermarket, told police the bandit pointed a gun at his midriff and demanded that he fill a small bag with money. Wolski complied, filling the bag with 20s, 10s, 5s and singles.

The manager said that after he put the money in the sack, the bandit turned to the cashier at the adjacent check-out counter, but he (the manager) calmly told the robber that if he tried to take any money from the cashier, someone might see him. The gunman grabbed the cash-filled bag and fled from the store.

Lets Others Through
Wolski said the robber entered the store, went to a food rack and picked up three items which he held in his hands and waited in line at a check-out counter. The culprit allowed several customers to go ahead of him.

Wolski said that he opened the express counter, and the man moved over to his side. After the purchases were rung up, the man asked Wolski if he had a small bag, to which the manager answered in the affirmative.

As he pulled out a bag from beneath the counter, Wolski said, the man looked around, saw there were no customers in the vicinity, and stepped between the manager and the view of the cashiers. He then drew a blue steel .32 caliber revolver and pointing it at Wolski's stomach, said, "Just stand right where you are. Open up the drawer and fill the bag."

The store manager said he placed approximately $187 in currency in the bag, and when it became apparent that the bandit was about to demand money from the cashier at the next counter, he talked the bandit out of it.

May Have Had Van
After grabbing the bag the gunman ran out the side door, followed two seconds later by Wolski, who said he saw no one in the municipal parking lot at the rear of the store, but did see a small van-type truck, light green in color, which had been parked at the other end of the building. Wolski said he got a view of the truck as the driver started up and left, driving toward McMillan road, at a high rate of speed.

Wolski said he did not see which way the truck turned, as the driver sped from view. He described the bandit as being a white male, about 28 years old, about five feet eight inches tall, approximately 165 pounds, with red wavy hair, pocket-marked face, fair complexion, and having a southern accent. The man was wearing rust colored trousers and a rust colored pullover sweater.

POOR SENSE OF HUMOR
A Rivard resident called City police on Friday, December 19, to report a group of 10 juveniles had come to the front door of his residence and expected to see the windows and thrown snowballs.

The officers lost sight of the vehicle, but saw two utility poles down on Lake Shore. They checked the area near Warner and Lake Shore and observed a person swimming to shore from the lake. The swimmer was Marble, who lost control of the car, overshot the embankment and was thrown free of the car and into the water.

He was taken to Bon Secours Hospital and treated for lacerations and a broken arm. He is still confined in the hospital at this writing under police guard.

Marble apparently fled because his driver's license had been revoked until January 1971. He is also wanted for violation of parole in Detroit on an assault and battery charge and for a number of outstanding traffic warrants.

He is also wanted in the Park for reckless driving and fleeing police officers.

LAWN DAMAGED
DR. JOSEPH F. SADUSK, Jr., 262 Lincoln, called City police on Saturday, December 20, to report damage to his front lawn. Sheldon Baldwin, of Michigan Moving, said the damage occurred as he was backing out of a neighboring driveway. He said he would take care of the damage.

One Doctor Has Treated 30 Patients

Same Physicians Reports Seeing 25 Heroin Users and Ex-Users During Single Week

By Pepper Whitelaw

Last week the NEWS revealed that according to Dr. Thomas Hamilton, Deputy Director of the Wayne County Department of Health, hepatitis was at epidemic proportions in The Pointe.

The Wayne County figures Dr. Hamilton quoted, excluded the City of Detroit and were representative of other Wayne County communities. Since that time a local physician sent the NEWS a current disease statistic reported by the Department of Health for the week ending November 27 in Detroit and Wayne County. Those figures revealed that last year at this time some 648 cases of hepatitis were reported during the same time period. This year 1,207 cases were reported.

Big Jump Out-County
Dr. Hamilton pointed out that Wayne County other than Detroit had a 300 percent increase in hepatitis and the City of Detroit, a 50 percent increase and the county as a whole, including Detroit, 100 percent increase.

The same local physician told the NEWS that he has personally treated 30 cases of hepatitis since September of this year and that he has seen as many as 25 heroin users or ex-users in a single week.

This same physician told the NEWS that he has heard of a number of overdose cases involving teenagers that have brought youngsters close to death's door.

"Situation Is Serious"
"The situation is serious, we must do something to help these young people before the problem becomes uncontrollable," he said.

Next week the News will report on the number of overdose cases, and cases of hepatitis reported at the three local hospitals, St. John, Bon Secours and Cottage, during a one month period.

Traffic Cases Heard in Farms

Farms Municipal Judge Robert Pylett heard testimony in eight cases of persons charged with traffic violations on Wednesday, December 17.

Stanley I. Acker of 13711 Allan, Oak Park, was found guilty of failure to stop within an assured distance and causing an accident. He was given a suspended sentence.

Edward R. Stolker of 974 Lincoln, was found guilty of going through a red traffic light and was fined $25.

James R. Evans of 20887 Lochmoor boulevard, was fined $25, after he was found guilty of hot-rodding.

Also found guilty of hot-rodding was Brian W. Schultz of 2332 Robert John, St. Clair Shores. His fine was $15.

Barry Kieren of 1635 Anita, charged with driving without ever acquiring an operator's license, was found guilty. Judge Pylett delayed sentencing until January 14.

Ralph A. Nique of 74 Stanton lane, accused of running a red traffic light, and Martha Lou-sell of 185 McKinley ticketed for overtime parking, both announced they are appealing their sentences. Each posted a bond of $50, pending a hearing date in circuit court.

L. D. Sharp of 1757 Alpine, charged with reckless driving, had his case dismissed because of lack of witnesses.

BENTHUSY BACK
City of Grosse Pointe police officer, Edmund Benthusy is back on the job after an absence of six weeks. Patrolman Benthusy sustained an injury to his groin while on the job and had to have major surgery. He is feeling great and ready to work again. Benthusy has been on the force since 1958 and this is the first time he has been off the job for any length of time.

services for juveniles, adults and the family and follow-through on planned rehabilitation activities.

The withdrawal and detoxification portion would primarily rely on hospital treatment, using medication to ease withdrawal and preparation of the patient for the rehabilitation process.

The in-patient diagnostic evaluation and treatment services would be integrated with the detoxification process to provide continuity. A complete physical, social and psychological evaluation would be made of the patient. The patient would be oriented as to the rehabilitation process to be undertaken. Individual and group counseling and commerce facility would have a professional staff and a well-structured but flexible operational format.

Out-Patient Services

The primary out-patient services would provide the intensive follow-up which is lacking in present programs. The services would have some, or all of four major components: a residential rehabilitation and re-integration to society facility, (a halfway house); juvenile-parent counseling services; juvenile out-patient counseling services and adult counseling. Various counseling and other groups would be established including voluntary self-help groups, alumni groups an out-reach program and training of staff, para-professionals and volunteers, plus structured leisure time programs for patients.

"With this type of a comprehensive program," Bryant concludes; "it will be possible to enlist and coordinate area physicians, psychiatrists and hospitals for in-patient care and get competent volunteers to aid in the counseling services part of the program."

People Must Help

"This all must start with the people and if they are ready and willing, then this kind of a program is well within reach," Bryant claims, but he indicates residents of The Pointe must show their concern and be ready to help. He says he believes unless something is done immediately there soon will be 500 to 1000 heroin addicts in The Pointes and hundreds more who are dependent on other drugs.

Supervisor Bryant suggests the place to start is to identify all present users so treatment can be started for them. "Parents, he says, "must stop ignoring the problem and start caring by examining their children's arms for evidence of hypodermic puncture marks. If the marks are there, the parent should telephone FLEEC and ask for referral to a doctor immediately.

"The challenge is here," Bryant says "but if The Pointe wants a program, they are going to have to work for it. Christmas is a pretty good time to start showing our kids we care."

gifts, miscellaneous items of jewelry and about two dollars in cash. She called police.

The neighbor called Mrs. Reilly and gave her the license number of the truck seen in the garage, and Mrs. Reilly in turn gave the information to police.

Dets. Robert Saiford and Charles Petrie, who with police officers from the Park and other Pointe departments, have been conducting surveillances on their own time because of the rash of burglaries occurring throughout the area, traced the truck license number to the Hillger address, where they spotted the vehicle parked in front of the apartment building. The officers staked out the place.

The detectives saw three men come out of the building and enter the truck. At Lycaste and Jefferson, one man got out, and the policemen waited for his return. When the man failed to come back after a reasonable time, the detectives moved in and placed Norris and Carmack under arrest and took them to the station for investigation and further questioning.

LaPratt said that at the station, Norris and Carmack were searched thoroughly, and police found several aluminum foil packages, suspected of being heroin, and needles and syringes. Each man had his own in his pockets, the detectives said.

The sergeant said that both men are drug addicts, and that Carmack admitted that he was going to sell his share of the loot from the Reilly residence to raise money for more drugs.

On Sunday, December 21, Saiford and Petrie, armed with a search warrant, went to the Lycaste address and recovered numerous items taken from burglaries in the area. They also recovered the guns, and items of jewelry except two watches taken from the Reilly residence. Still not recovered is the television set.

LaPratt said that both Carmack and Carmack admitted to using narcotics for the past two months. Carmack, the detective said, was free on bond on a Detroit murder charge.

"The type of cooperation we received from this woman neighbor of the Reilly family, is the kind of cooperation we need from our citizens," LaPratt said. "I cannot praise her enough. She was not afraid to be involved because she was concerned about her neighbor and her community.

"For the past several weeks, police officers from our city and the other Pointe cities, have been cooperating in maintaining a constant vigilance on their off-duty time, in their respective communities, and in helping each other. In spite of this, and the fact that there are constant patrols of on-duty policemen, we cannot be everywhere at one time.

"That is why we ask the help of our people. Working together, we can make our cities unsafe for burglars and other type criminals," the sergeant said. "I cannot stress strongly enough, or often enough, that if citizens see anything suspicious they should call police at once. We are glad to investigate any reports received. The Reillys' neighbor did, and we made arrests and cleared a burglary."

CAR DAMAGED BY WHEEL

Steve Wyborski, 1149 Three Mile drive, called City police on Friday, December 2, to report damage to the rear of his car, which was parked at the Village Standard Station, 16821 Kercheval on that date. He told officers that a wheel, apparently from a tractor trailer was found at the station. It appears that the wheel hit the rear end of his car. Officers searched the area but could not locate a trailer with a missing wheel.

MR. INDOOR COMFORT

Humidification, Electronic Cleaning, Heating, Air Conditioning

Humidification Required In Some Cities

by ROBERT A. "DOC" WILLIAMS

Dry indoor air is a problem in many areas of the country, and the Grosse Pointe area is no exception if the number of humidifiers we have installed recently is an indication.

The problem of dry air in the home is so acute in some areas, that many cities require that some form of humidification be provided for every new furnace installation. Chicago and Omaha require that a humidifying device be installed with every warm air furnace at the time of installation.

We have explained dry air's effect on health and comfort in several ways, but it might be useful to explain further; especially since we are going into the period of the year when winter dryness is at its worst.

Have you ever gone swimming on a terrifically hot day in summer, but felt cold when you came out of the water because a wind was blowing? Or, have you ever taken a shower when someone suddenly opened a door and you felt cold all over?

The reason for this is that moisture normally acts as a blanket of warmth on our bodies; when it is removed, you feel chilly. Here's where a humidifier comes in... by maintaining the proper amount of moisture in the air during the winter months, you can prevent this evaporation of moisture and thus feel warmer and obtain greater comfort all winter long.

Of all the things you can do to air, the least expensive is to humidify it. If you compare the equipment costs of humidification to that of heating, cooling, circulating, and dehumidifying for the same amount of air, it is the least expensive investment.

Properly humidified air not only checks the cause of Juniors' colds, but also adds to your relative comfort by preventing the dried out feeling in nose and throat. Home furnishings are saved from extreme dryness that often causes them to become brittle, and to crack and peel.

There are still several months for a humidifier to perform its health, comfort and protection benefits. Buying now will provide comfort for many weeks to come, and insure your readiness for next winter's dryness.

Christmas Thoughts Revealed By Children Through Poetry

By Pepper Whitelaw
 Christmas and children are like bread and butter; one is incomplete without the other. Here are a few Christmas thoughts from children in our school system.

Karen Prosky, fifth grader in Defer School offers this poem:

CHRISTMAS JOYS
 Christmas time is clear and bright,
 Little snowflakes soft and white,
 Children laughing having fun,
 Everybody is on the run.

Little children in their beds,
 Dreams of candy in their heads,
 Dreams of reindeer on the roofs,
 Sounds so real, those sounds of hoofs.

They wake up on Christmas day,
 Full of laughter, so very gay,
 They rush downstairs, their eyes aglow,
 To get their presents from those they know.

Spinning tops go spinning around,
 With a delightful humming sound,
 Happy faces aglow with joy,
 As they open each wonderful toy.

Fred Gerigery, a sixth grader at Pierce Middle School, tells us all about his CHRISTMAS. I'm always glad to have Christmas come,

Because that's the time I have such fun,
 I help my parents trim the tree
 With tinsel, popcorn and candy.

Then when Christmas day arrives,
 I wake up early in surprise,
 I open packages one by one,
 And that's the part that's so much fun.

Then I play with all my toys,
 Some are quiet some make noise,
 Besides the toys, I get some clothes,
 And that is how my Christmas goes!

Cindy Sicala, fifth grader at Defer, asks us if we know what CHRISTMAS MEANS.
 Do you know what Christmas means?
 The realization of many dreams.
 For instance Santa, but that's not all,
 For baby Jesus lay in his stall.

Do you know what Christmas means?
 The angel and the star supreme.
 Jesus shared his birthday with us all

Restaurant Hit By Grease Fire

Woods Public Safety Officers responding to a fire call at Blazo's Country Fair Restaurant, 19299 Mack avenue, on Tuesday, December 16, quickly extinguished the blaze, which resulted from an overheated fryer.

Sgt. Bernard Kelly reported that a thermostat on one of the establishment's automatic frying machines had overheated, causing some grease to ignite in flames.

After smothering the blaze with hand extinguishers, the firefighters advised Brian Chase, night manager, to close the establishment for the rest of the business day to allow the heavy smoke and smell to clear. The blaze took place shortly after 1 p.m.

The only damage suffered by the restaurant was minor smoke damage. Benjamin Zaglanicy, a cook, suffered minor burns to his left forearm, prior to the arrival of the firefighting officials.

It's too bad success makes failures of so many men.

Youth Problems Sermon Subject

Dr. Harry C. Meserve of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church will give the second in a series of talks on "Today's Youth and Its Problems" at the Sunday service on December 28, at 10:30 o'clock. The theme of this second talk is "Rebellion and Responsibility."

"A year or so ago," said Dr. Meserve, "many were disturbed by the uprisings, strikes, building occupations, and student challenges to university and college authority. When students demanded some part in the selection of faculty, the creation of curriculum, and the policies of institutions of higher learning, many demanded that they be quiet and obedient, at least until they had something positive to suggest."

"Now it appears that many students are finding some positive things to suggest, for example: peace in Vietnam, and elsewhere, an all-out effort to repair the ills created in our society by poverty, racial prejudice, and neglect, and a campaign in which they can share to halt the process of pollution and destruction of air, water, and the natural resources of earth. They are asking a new set of priorities for American life at home and abroad. These concerns are both positive and idealistic. Furthermore, they are essential to human survival."

Several students from major universities have been asked to comment on the theme and there will be an opportunity for discussion, both during and after the service. Young people of college age and high school seniors are invited to stay on for an informal luncheon after the service.

The Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church is located at 17150 Maudslayi avenue.

Live Yule Tree Holiday Bonus

A living Christmas tree can be an extra holiday bonus when it becomes a part of your landscape plans.

Extra cost and special care are some of the hazards of a living tree but a growing number find these trees will survive and become specimen trees in their landscape.

Nurserymen are quick to advise you about sizes to order, when to plant and to order in advance. The main factor in survival is immediate planting after 10-12 days indoors. Longer periods indoors causes new growth to develop. Once new growth begins, the trees die when exposed to winter weather.

Rather small trees are most successful. Four to five foot trees usually survive, while larger sizes are very heavy to handle and hard to bring through the winter. Advance orders is one way to insure size and availability when you are ready to decorate.

A common method of maintaining moisture indoors is placing the tree in a tub with moist sawdust. Another way is wetting the burlap, then wrapping the soil ball in plastic. Moisture in the soil will be adequate until planting. Standing water in the tub or plastic bag is sure to kill the tree before it is ever planted.

Have the planting hole dug well in advance. A holiday freezeup could prevent you from properly planting the tree. Mulch the hole with leaves to prevent freezing of the soil. After planting, use the leaves to heavily mulch the tree. Mulching of the spot where you intend to plant the tree with 4" of manure, 6" of peat, or 10" of either straw or leaves will allow you to dig the hole for the tree even though the rest of the soil is frozen.

Helen Robinson, a suburban Detroit housewife who throws simply divine holiday parties, is a pusher. "Our last party was a huge success," she'll say. "Our guests drank everything in the house. I even got old Fred to have a highball — and you know he never drinks." She doesn't stop to think that by pushing old Fred to have a drink she may have sent him on the way back to the agony of alcoholism. Some people simply cannot drink and — with the holiday party season approaching — the Greater Detroit Council on Alcoholism (GDCA), a Torch Drive service, urges hosts and hostesses to respect their guests' right not to drink. "With a recovered alcoholic one drink can lead back to addiction," warns Phyllis Tuttle, executive director of the GDCA.

"But he gets to a party, says he doesn't want a drink and the host says, 'Oh, just one won't hurt you. Come on, be a man.' I've heard people being pushed so far that they respond by saying, 'I can't drink, I'm an alcoholic.' And even then the host says something like, 'But you're too young!'"

She adds, "It isn't just the fact that if you go to a social affair booze is forced on you. It's partly emotional. Christmas is emotional, and the tensions can make you take a drink even though you shouldn't." Mrs. Tuttle emphasizes she's not trying to say no one should drink over the holidays. "In moderation, liquor enhances social activities," she says. "Most people use it for this and most people don't have any trouble."

GP Girl Scouts Have Big Hearts

No single group knows more about the spirit of giving than the Girl Scouts. Pointe troops put their hearts into the spirit of Christmas by donating some 1300 gifts to needy children at Detroit's Field School and Field School Annex.

Many of the girls made their own gifts such as tic tac toe boards and jigsaw puzzles. Others make their own colorful wrapping paper and others who purchased their gifts did so with money they earned especially for the project.

All gifts were delivered by these pixies to the Head Santa's house, Mrs. Donald Gilbert, District Chairman, and representatives from Field School picked them up. The children at both Field Schools will have Christmas parties on Friday, December 19, and distribute the gifts.

LOST OR STOLEN?
Mrs. Shirley H. Van DerKam, 522 Rivard, called City police on Wednesday, December 17, to report the loss or theft of a brown leather purse. She told officers she last saw the purse earlier on that date. It contained a black billfold, $10 in cash, a driver's license and credit cards.

"People should accept the right of others to refuse a drink without questioning it," she emphasizes. "You don't want anyone to question your right to drink, so why question their right not to drink?"

Mrs. Tuttle says the "don't push" rule applies to both the guest who doesn't want any liquor and the guest who's had several drinks but doesn't want any more. In both cases, she says, the guest is liable to be hit with questions like, "Don't you feel well?" "What's the matter?" Or, for women, "Are you pregnant?"

Mrs. Tuttle says that on occasions she'll take a drink she doesn't really want just because it's easier than saying no. No hostess should feel that, after all, there are no alcoholics in HER crowd.

According to GDCA statistics one out of every 15 people who drink is an alcoholic, a rate that indicates about 125,000 alcoholics in the Detroit area alone. Probably as many women as men are affected, although women alcoholics are much more easily hidden.

Only three per cent of these alcoholics live on Skid Row. The rest are living, working and partying right in the "normal" world. Mrs. Tuttle says one of the reasons the holiday season is especially hard for heavy drinkers or people trying to stop drinking is that it's a socially acceptable binge period.

Burglar Visits Home in City

City police received a report of a breaking and entry on Thursday December 18, from Anthony E. Wasitynski, 751 Notre Dame.

Mr. Wasitynski said he returned home on that date at 7:15 p.m. put the car in the garage and entered the house through the rear kitchen door. He found the door tampered with and both bedrooms had been ransacked.

Officers Virgil G. Beaupre and Dale Van Dale found the rear door had been pried with a 9/16-inch screwdriver. Apparently the thief was unable to enter in that manner so he then removed the wood molding and glass from around the door, then entered the house.

Beaupre and Van Dale found fresh, clear footprints in the snow and ascertained that entry must have been made prior to 8:30 p.m. when it stopped snowing.

Mr. Wasitynski checked through the house and discovered a few small items missing but is currently taking a complete inventory of the household and will report the loss to police when his wife returns.

Making mighty plans for tomorrow leaves many folks too tired to do anything today.

"You can enjoy it, and you can serve it knowing you're helping others relax and enjoy themselves. But a small percentage of people can't guarantee their behavior when they drink. And you should have something non-alcoholic for them."

For these people, Mrs. Tuttle says, even the joker who spikes the "innocent" punch is a danger. The normally controlled drinker may also have problems due to the special conditions of the holidays.

For one thing, at many parties food is served late and the guest is drinking on an empty stomach which intensifies the effect. Mrs. Tuttle suggests eating before the party or stationing yourself by the potato chip bowl.

She also warns that the adage to "make the one for the road coffee" is not foolproof.

"If you've been drinking heavily a couple of cups of coffee won't sober you up," she says. "The only thing that will sober you up is time. Which means it's wise for a hostess to start cutting off drinks an decisions decisions decisions

The decision to set up an employee retirement plan is one thing. But deciding what type of plan you should have is something else again. Should it be a straight pension, profit-sharing or a combination of each? And how should the funds be invested? Common stocks, bonds, mutual funds, savings certificates? Lots of people have a ready answer. But not Manufacturers Bank. At Manufacturers we realize that everyone's needs are different. So we consider the type of business you're in, the labor market in your area, the level of benefits that are necessary. Once we have clearly established your objectives, we can design a plan, determine the financing and make investment recommendations. The point is this. The type of retirement plan a company should have depends on the company, itself. Manufacturers Bank has no vested interest in any one type of program so we always encourage one that serves your interest best. If you are considering such a plan, why not talk it over with one of our experienced trust officers. Just contact your nearest Manufacturers Bank office or call the Main Office Trust Department, 222-4326, the Oakland Trust Office, 642-8444, or the Dearborn Trust Office, 222-4954. No obligation, of course.

Handguns Stolen In Woods Home

Woods police are still investigating the Wednesday, December 17, theft of 10 handguns from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gehlert, of 611 Shoreham road.

Gehlert reported to Woods Public Safety Officer James Davidson that his wife had left the family residence at about 1 p.m. on the day of the robbery and that the home had remained unoccupied until his son returned home at about 2:15 p.m. and discovered the guns missing.

Upon investigation of the incident, police found a path of footprints, leading from the walk on Shoreham, around the house, and leading to the rear of the home, where they trailed off.

The police found that an eight by 12-inch pane of glass in rear door had been smashed out, probably with a blunt instrument, and believe it was through that door that the culprits made their entry.

The stolen guns had been taken from a large gun cabinet, which was located in the home's family room and was visible from the outside of the house.

Farms Submits Building Report

Residential construction appears to be at almost a standstill in the Farms. A monthly report released by John A. DeFoe, director of Public Works, showed that no permits to build homes were applied for last month, and only two have been issued from January 1 through November 30.

DeFoe's report disclosed that during the same period in 1968, only five permits to construct residences were applied for and approved by the Building Department, and only one permit was granted during November 1968.

From January 1 through November 30 of this year, and during the same period last year, no permits for commercial building construction were applied for.

Throughout the 11 months of 1969, a total of 109 permits for miscellaneous building was approved, as compared to the 94 granted in 1968.

Last month, 11 miscellaneous permits were issued, as compared to eight in November 1968. The total valuation of the property for which these permits were approved, is $46,200 for 1969, and $88,400 for last year.

The total valuation of the two residential and 109 miscellaneous constructions amounted to $670,950, of which $105,000 is the value of the homes.

For the same time in 1968, the five home and 94 miscellaneous permits were for property valued at a total of $725,900, of which $231,000 was the value of the homes.

To date this year, as well as last year, no applications were received for non-assessable construction.

Thief Ransacks Smatlak Home

Mrs. Ester Smatlak of 676 Middlesex, had to buy more Christmas gifts, thanks to a burglar who broke into her house sometime between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. on Wednesday, December 17.

Mrs. Smatlak told police that when she returned home, she found the side door of the house open, and the basement and the first and second floors ransacked. The side door had been forcibly pried open, it was revealed.

In taking inventory to see what was missing, she said, she found that the intruder had taken several items she had purchased for Christmas gifts. The gifts were unwrapped and in the living room, and consisted mainly of woman's underclothing.

The burglar also took a one dollar bill and a half-dollar coin from her bedroom, Mrs. Smatlak said.

Winter Sports Maps Available

Snow fans coming to Michigan this winter can expect vast amounts of snowfall and much good, crisp skiing weather, if there is any credibility in the prognostications of the caterpillar and squirrel watchers. According to those who predictate their forecast on the thickness of the fur on caterpillars and the number of nuts squirrels put away in the fall, Michigan can expect plenty of snow and a long winter.

The Michigan Tourist Council agrees the state can expect an abundance of good skiing snow, but has a more scientific reason on which to base its estimates. Snowfall statistics, recorded over several years, show the average seasonal snowfall for the state to be from 140 inches in the north to about 30 inches in the southeast corner.

To the householder with a corner lot and long sidewalks, all this snow may be looked upon as just more hard work. To skiers, snowmobile buffs and little boys with new sleds it can mean great sport.

To help direct the Michigan winter sports fan to where the action is, the Michigan Tourist Council is ready to distribute the 1970 edition of the Michigan Winter Sports Map, which pinpoints 73 developed winter sports areas in the state. The map details specific information on locations of winter recreation areas, listing such details as the number of slopes, lifts, tows, entertainment and other features of particular interest to those looking for fun in the snow.

A new feature of the map is the alphabetical key which facilitates locating specific winter sports areas and information about them. To make the map easier to use, the state is divided into four regional areas: Upper Peninsula; West Michigan; East Michigan, and Southeast Michigan.

New to the listings on the map this year is Paradise Valley, located at Oakley off M-47. In addition to ski slopes, the newly-listed area provides a warming house, ski rental and a snack bar.

Among other changes for the upcoming season are several new slopes added to existing areas, increased capacity of the lifts and additional restaurants and accommodations. The number of quad and triple chair lifts has increased.

Several resorts have added snowmobile trails and rental vehicles to accommodate the devotees to the new family sport. For those who cling to the year-round joys of swimming, seven of the winter sports centers provide indoor and outdoor heated pools.

Chair lifts, T-bars and rope tows take the work out of the trip back up the hills. Snow-making equipment at the major ski areas provides a base to augment natural snow when nature won't cooperate. Grooming and packing machines keep the slopes in prime shape and lighted runs at more than half the areas extend the skiing fun into the dark hours.

Beginners are as welcome as the pros at most Michigan ski centers, which provide instruction especially for the novice. Rental equipment, skis, poles and boots are generally available at reasonable rates.

The Michigan Winter Sports Map, designed to help you plan your winter fun, is available free of charge by writing the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan 48926.

Purse Snatcher Is Fleet of Foot

A Farms woman called police on Tuesday, December 16, to report that her purse had been snatched from her hand as she was walking on Moran road, near Mack avenue.

Lena Estelle of 350 McMillan road, told Farms police that she was walking South on Moran from in front of 18404 Mack, when a young white male dashed out of an alley as she passed, and grabbed her purse.

She said the young thief ran across Moran and down the alley toward McKinley and disappeared. She said the purse contained some small change, a $5 check and a library card.

She was unable to give police a description of the culprit.

Charge Driver Without License

Richard D. Hughes of 14830 Myola, Warren, was stopped by Farms police for a minor infraction of a traffic law on Thursday, December 18, and found himself in big trouble.

According to Patrolmen Thomas Kelly and Charles Reichling, Hughes was observed driving on Mack avenue a little too fast, and they stopped him and requested his operator's license. When Hughes informed the officers that he did not have one on his person, they called the station for a check, and the return message disclosed that the motorist's license had been revoked.

Hughes was taken to the station where he was issued a violation ticket for driving while his license was revoked. He posted a bond of $150 pending a hearing date in court.

Become Officers In State Police

Two Pointe residents are included on a list of new Michigan State Police officers released on December 17.

Andrew W. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Baker of 365 Rivard boulevard, has been assigned to the Rockford Post. He has been living in Southfield with his wife, Sally, and one child.

Barry A. Trombly son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trombly of 532 Notre Dame avenue, has been assigned to the Jackson Post. Barry follows in his father's footsteps in choosing law enforcement as a profession. Tom served the City of Grosse Pointe for many years as the efficient Chief of Police. He is now retired.

Father and Son Burned at Home

A father and son suffered burns on Wednesday, December 17, when a deep fryer in their home kitchen burst into flames and they fought to put it out, according to information released by Park police.

The police, who were at the scene and handled the incident, said that Ulysis Saros of 1386 Somerset, was using the fryer, when it ignited. The burning oil hit Saros in the face, right arm and hand and on his right foot.

Saros' son, Paul rushed into the kitchen and helped beat out the flames, after which the father and son extinguished the fire on the stove. The son was burned on the right arm.

Both were conveyed to Bon Secours Hospital by police ambulance, where they were treated and released.

Scoring the Pointes
By Phil Loranger

A cyclonic outburst of scoring in the second quarter of their game against Bloomfield Hills Roper, led the University School Knights to their finest victory of the young season on Saturday, December 20, as they outthrust their taller opponents enroute to a 65-51 victory.

The scrappy Knights outscored Roper 23 to 9 in the second period to put the game out of doubt early and square their season's record at two wins and two losses.

McCarthy Still Hot
Led by remarkable Dale McCarthy, who continues to live up to his All-State ranking, the Cook road cagers played a vicious defensive game and controlled both the offensive and defensive boards throughout the contest.

In addition to leading all scorers with 27 points, the six-foot McCarthy also hauled down 12 rebounds and came up with six assists. Ralph Kulek netted 11 points and an equal number of rebounds, while Mike Getz and Mark Kulek scored nine points each. Mark also grabbed off 11 rebounds.

"This was the first time all season long that the team really came up with a defensive gem," claimed Bob Wood, head mentor of the Knights. "Our zone was nearly perfect and we held their 6-foot-5 star, Greg Carter, to only 18 points."

Carter, who has been averaging close to 36 points a game, had scored 49 points the night before the University School contest. Tim Teasley led the Roper squad with 19 tallies.

The Knights will now journey north to Yale, Mich., to take part in a holiday tournament meeting Capac on Friday night in the opening round.

St. Paul Streaking
For the streaking Lakers of St. Paul High School, the 1969-70 season is a sweet and familiar refrain. The Lakers sport a perfect league record in the Catholic League's Second Division East, having knocked off eight straight opponents. The Paulites' only defeat came in their first contest of the season against Bishop Gallagher.

Coach Ed Lauer's cagers added St. Hedwig, Roseville Sacred Heart and St. David to their list of victims this week, all but wrapping up the league title for another year.

Tim Bigham, the last of a quartet of brothers who have helped bring St. Paul into the statewide basketball limelight, piled up 32 points in the Lakers' narrow victory over St. Hedwig. The Detroiters put on the pressure throughout the contest, but to no avail as the Paulites pulled out a 50-49 win.

Against Sacred Heart, Terry Allard struck for 18 points and John Moran added 13 in a 57-44 Laker victory. Bigham helped toward the victory margin by plinking in another 12 points.

It was another cardiac cage contest, when the Lakers took on second-place St. David and emerged with a 48-47 win in the last 17 seconds. Leading 22-19 at the half, the Lakers saw their lead disappear in the third quarter and trailed by five points with only two and one-half minutes to play.

Lauer sent in 5-foot-10 guard Eddie Moran and it was all over for St. David. The scrappy Moran hit four quick buckets, sending St. Paul's in front again and Johnnie Moran wrapped it up by swishing two foul shots with only 17 seconds left to play.

The Lakers are relying on a Lauer-patented collapsing defense this year and are hitting at a 65 percent conversion average from the charity stripes. Bigham, a 6-foot-3 forward is a sure cinch for All-State honors this year and Terry Allard, who starred for the Lakers' grid squad, has been coming on strong in the past few contests and the Lakers look like they may go all the way this year. The NEWS wishes them the best of luck.

St. Ambrose Improves
St. Ambrose's Cavaliers remain winless, but Coach Harvey Heitman's squad is about to break loose and, when they do, they are going to score a lot of points.

"I've said it before and I'll say it again, as long as the team can learn the new system this season and get ready for next year, I don't care if we go without a win all season long," said first year coach Heitman. "I'm really proud of these fellows and I honestly believe they have made some great strides."

They may not be winning, but the Cavaliers are beginning to jell and Paul Hayner, one of the finest cagers in the area, continues to play at All-League caliber.

Austin Wins Two
The Austin Friars took to the court three times in the past week, emerging with two wins, but dropping a high-scoring contest to league-leading Catholic Central.

The Friars nipped Brother Rice by a count of 64-60 as Frank Latona led the way with 16 points. Rick Woodbury, enjoying a great season for Coach Frank "Chic" Chicowski's cagers, dumped in 19 points in the Friars' 66-48 win over rival Notre Dame High.

All five Austin starters — Woodbury, Latona, Don Deneveth, Steve Babais and Dick Rancilo — scored in double figures for the Friars in their clash with talented and tall Catholic Central, but when the final buzzer sounded, the Shamrocks had handed Austin an 87-72 setback.

"We're still very much in the running for a second-place finish," claimed Chickowski. "If we can attain that goal, we'll be assured of a playoff berth in the Catholic league championship fight. It doesn't look like anybody is going to catch Catholic Central."

The Friars currently stand 4-3 in league play and will resume their campaign on January 6, against Royal Oak Shrine, after the holiday break.

Foul Shots Hurt North
The Blue Devils of Grosse Pointe South High slipped past East Detroit, 64-63, and rolled over Border Cities League rival Monroe by a count of 56-45, before being ambushed by Wyandotte in a league battle.

Outthrusted, outshot and outplayed throughout the first half of their encounter with East Detroit, Coach Chuck Hollosy's squad turned around 180 degrees in the second half of the contest to pull out the victory, as Jim "The Mountain" Parker collected 19 points.

With Parker hitting the nets for 21 points and picking off 16 rebounds, the Blue Devils ran all over Monroe for their first league victory. Paul Shirar added 14 points to the victory total, netting four quick points in the second quarter to break the game open.

By the way, the Blue Devils' frosh quintet won two games over the past week, giving strong evidence that South's basketball future may be bright for a few years to come. South outscored tough Wyandotte 34-28 in the first quarter. (Continued on Page 8) dotte from the floor, but, once again, trouble at the charity stripes accounted for a heart-breaking 58-56 loss. Paul Shirar, having a fine year for the Devils, singled the nets for 23 points and Parker added 12, but inefficient foul shooting is a definite problem for Hollosy's cagers, who now stand at one and one in league play.

North Bounces Back

Grosse Pointe North continues to play at championship levels for coach Ray Ritter and this past week's performances served as advance notice to Bi-County League opponents that the Norsemen mean to play some basketball this season.

Minus the services of their two big men, Gary Bennett and Mike Zenn, the Norsemen dropped a close 61-54 contest to league-leading Clintondale, but the game was up for grabs down to the final wire. Both Zenn and Bennett missed the battle with ankle injuries.

Mike Kavelage and Glen Hiller led the scoring parade for the Norsemen with 13 and 12 points, respectively, but North was hampered by lack of height and weight, as the taller Dragons steadily wore them down.

It was a different story against South Lake. With the "Terrifying Twosome" — Zenn and Bennett — back in service, North ran away from South Lake by a count of 70-58 to even its league record at one and one and keep them well within range of the league crown.

Bennett, obviously feeling little pain from his swollen ankle, came up with a game-high 33 points and hit on an amazing 15 out of 16 shots from the charity stripes. Tom Paniaco, of South Lake, kept his team in the running with 20 markers, but Zenn duplicated his feat with 20 of his own, offsetting any advantage and North chalked up its second victory of the young season.

As of this date, Pointe-area cage teams carry a combined record of 18 wins and 15 losses and things should improve immensely after the Christmas break.

Hockey Squirts Launch Season

The Grosse Pointe Hockey Association Squirt Division House League opened its regular season play at the G.P.U.S. McCann Rink on December 8 after traveling for almost three months for informal practices at Port Huron and St. Clair Shores. Four teams of 8 to 10-year-old boys will be playing on Saturday morning and Sunday evening at McCann throughout the winter.

In the initial contest, the returning veterans, established themselves as the team to beat this season with a hard fought 3-0 victory over the tenacious Comets. The Comet defense, led by Chris Ahee and John Marcus, held off the Jets until halfway through the last period, when the Jets' Ken Hayden picked up two quick scores, the first on a nice assist by Bob Fraser. Kevin Moore fired home Pete Godfrey's rebound to close out the scoring in the final minutes.

Last year's champions, the Vetene Hardware Pros, then came up with a last minute victory over the Wolves, although the Wolves held the advantage throughout much of the game. The Wolves had taken a 2-0 lead on goals by Brian McCourt and Scott Santi, the first goal coming on a nice pass from Gary Farrer and the second on an equally fine play set up by George Koch.

The Pros came storming back on goals by Mike Mallard, assisted by Jack Hastings and defenseman Gard Frost, followed by an unassisted goal by Hastings. With 45 seconds remaining, Mallard, appearing three inches taller and twenty pounds heavier than last season, slammed home Hastings' pass out to complete the rally and a 3-2 victory. Clune Walsh played well in the goal for the Pros with several key saves.

On Sunday, December 8, the Comets were victorious over the Pros. Veteran Charlie Stroh surprised the crowd with an unassisted effort in the initial period. Then, in the second period, Tom Matthews took a pass from scrappy Jim Morris, the youngest boy in the league, and put the puck in the net to close out the scoring.

A contest between the Jets and the Wolves followed, with the Jets coming out on top of a 2-1 score. Jeff Oetting and Jeff Logan scored unassisted goals for the Jets while Jeff Kydd converted a beautiful solo effort for the Wolves in the first period. Mark Fraser picked up a "third line" goal for the Jets in the second period. The game was a well played contest by both teams, reflecting the great improvement of play throughout the Squirt Division this season.

The first round of play was completed on Saturday, December 13. In the early morning 8 a.m. game, known to players and parents as the "Redeye," the Jets completely overwhelmed the Pros with a 5-0 victory. Smart passing on the part of the Jets kept the puck in the Pros' end through most of the game. Steve Kidd and Ken Versichele both picked up two "third line" goals apiece while the Jets regular scoring was equally divided between Kevin Moore, Bob Fraser, Ken Hayden, Jeff Logan and Pete Godfrey. Two large newcomers, John Wardwell and Dave Buhl played well for the Pros.

In the second game of the day, the Comets came out victorious over the Wolves in a close contest 2-1. Comet goals were scored by Dave Flood and Steve Levick who also assisted on the first goal. Both goalies, Tim Hogan and Bob Fredal, made numerous fine saves.

At the end of the first round of play the Jets are in first place with 6 points, followed by the Comets with 4 points, the Pros with 2 and the Wolves have yet to pick up their first victory.

A Pox On The Destroyers

Mrs. Robert J. Grow knew exactly what she wanted for Christmas. Her most fervent wish was that this year she might be spared the annual visit of nit-witted vandals who somehow derive pleasure from the wanton destruction or outright theft of yuletide decorations. For many years the Grow's have brightened their neighborhood and provided pleasure for many by having a large evergreen tree on their property at Touraine road and Kercheval avenue, professionally trimmed with myriad blue lights. And every year the Grow's have been sickened by having many of the lights either maliciously ripped down and damaged, or just plain stolen. It has been an expensive project to have to call back the professionals for re-trimming and purchasing more lights, sometimes several times in a single season. With these disheartening experiences the Grow's have found themselves annually resolving to never decorate the tree again. But each year their friends plead with them to gamble once more, so as not to deprive the neighborhood of this gift of beauty. Mrs. Grow didn't get her Christmas wish. Once again stupid, selfish nincompoops have been around and torn many of the lights from the big tree. Once again the Grow's have had to call the trimmers back to repeat to job and replace the damaged decorations. There is no way to understand the urge which prompts such malicious mischief. We hope that if any of this brainless breed are caught, the law will deal with them with all the severity at its command.

Police Give Tips On Safe Driving

Park Director of Public Safety by William Ellenburg recommended that Pointe motorists start making it a habit to get the "feel of the road" and their cars, when they start to drive, or when conditions change. Many drivers consider this only foul weather advice," Ellenburg said, "but they are mistaken. A lot can be learned, even in good weather on dry pavement. Snow or ice-slicked roads are no place to learn a technique that should be good practice before bad weather sets in." The technique the director referred to was that of applying the brakes gently when the drivers first start driving every day to see how brakes and road surface interact. He listed the following advantages of making the technique a year 'round habit: 1. On dry surfaces, get a reading on how well the brakes are operating. Water, overnight moisture, or the need for adjustment can cause slipping and grabbing brakes that will throw the vehicle out of control. It is best to have the braking system inspected, in advance, by a professional mechanic, along with a cold weather check of the auto. 2. In addition to snow and ice, unstable traction can result from water, moist leaves, sand or gravel on the road, calling for a "feel of the road" test by braking, or by accelerating carefully to see if and when the wheels spin. The director's recommendations were one of six steps to safer winter driving developed by skid-testers of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards, all of which, he said, makes good sense. 1. Maintain ample following distance—stretch them out in any conditions less than ideal. 2. "Pump" your brakes to slow or stop, three to five times a second, to maintain steering control. 3. Always drive on good tires with good treads. Use snow tires or studded tires under winter conditions. 4. Carry re-inforced tire chains, and use them when traction problems are severe. 5. Keep windshield and ALL windows clear. When wiper blades streak, replace them. Keep your windshield washer filled with the recommended mixture of windshield antifreeze and water.

Public Schools in Focus

By Dr. Theos I. Anderson Superintendent of Schools On the brink of a new decade—where can we expect education to go? A brief article in the current EDUCATION SUMMARY calls attention to two notions that seem to be in conflict in the future of education. The first is that the teacher is a "creative, self-renewing, almost self-sufficient professional." The second is that "learning can be packaged in outside settings in a set of high quality products with validated performance characteristics, ready for installation in schools." Henry M. Brickell of the Institute for Educational Development has said that (tension between the two notions will mark educational change of the 1970's. He makes the following educational predictions for the upcoming decade. More pre-school education will become a priority item. More role differentiation for teachers is also in the future. New approaches to teacher education, especially in in-service education, is another of Brickell's predictions. "It will continue to be extraordinarily difficult to prove that any instructional method produces results that are significantly different from those produced by any other method," he writes. "There will be aggressive, even if small-scale, experiments with alternatives to existing institutional forms, as a result of prodding by dissatisfied legislators and the public," Mr. Brickell comments. What are the local implications of these predictions? We have already seen stirrings in all the directions mentioned by Mr. Brickell. Interested parents and educators are already engaged in one way or another in all of the activities outlined above. Thus, in addition to the ever-present challenge of keeping the doors of our schools open during a period of voter resistance, we shall attempt to be responsive to local requests for immunity. At the same time we promote of educational opportunity shall face the problem of updating our system's aging facilities, also recalling the enrollment projection of 16,000 in 1980—an increase of 3,000 students more than are currently enrolled in The Grosse Pointe School System. It appears to be a challenging decade ahead.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor: Our family is most disappointed that the Kroger store is open on Sundays. Our beautiful, peaceful area is being too commercialized. We wrote to the Kroger Company and asked was this really necessary. It seems that six days are adequate in which to complete our shopping needs. We have always enjoyed "window shopping" our Village on Sundays. The other merchants stay closed excepting the vital drug stores and gas stations. Do other people feel as we do? Perhaps a letter protesting this opening may benefit this situation. Sincerely The Frank McDonalds 1168 Audubon

What Goes On at Your Library By Virginia Leonard

Probably by the time you read this column you'll be completely worn out From Christmas festivities, and each of your cherished children will seem like a lout. Your sink will be full of turkey-stained dishes, And you'll yearn for that legendary genie who could grant you three wishes, One of which might be a quick trip to some tropic isle. A second might be a sound-proof room with a lock on the door, while, On the other hand, a thousand dollars from some unknown admirer might be your third. The Santa Claus bit is over, the presents are opened, the house is a shambles—and not a word From any of your loved ones about helping to straighten up the mess. The men are playing with the kids' toys, and the kids are out skating or playing chess. Some members of the group are even taking naps! (That's really what you'd like to do—until New Years perhaps?) Gad—there's all the hullabaloo over New Years to anticipate, You just wish everybody and everything would evaporate Into thin air, and then after you'd had forty winks you could curl up in a corner with one of your new Christmas books. You might get some dirty books, But think of the fun ahead of you. Perhaps your choice is something older like TURN OF THE SCREW, Or a best-seller like Adela Rogers St. Johns' HONEYCOMB. You have no desire to roam, Not when you have biography, history, travel, who-dunits—just name it—on your shelves. (How can some people say they don't know what to do with themselves?) Why not try MARY, QUEEN OF SCOTS? Lots Of people have found this new book a fine choice, Or, after a round of Christmas carols (if you're in good voice), There's the new du Maurier THE HOUSE ON THE STRAND, A funny and perceptive one is THE PETER PRINCIPLE, and let's give a hand To the old classical authors like Dickens and Tolstoy, (While everybody else is absorbed in a children's toy) How about our local author, Joyce Carol Oates' THEM? (While the kids are fighting over the last candy cane—mayhem, pure mayhem!) It might be smart to settle the little dears down with a Christmas book, We mustn't overlook Any method of restoring calm and peace. Shhh—let all noise and conversation cease, So we can wish you all good cheer— A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Grandma Moses Exhibit at Bank

An original painting by "Grandma" Moses is helping to set the holiday scene in the lobby of the Main Office of National Bank of Detroit. The painting, a winter scene evoking memories of Christmas-masses of long ago, was loaned to the bank by Mrs. Hazel Heber, of Birmingham, who bought it for $10 in 1945. It is currently valued at $20,000. Anna Mary Robertson Moses, of Eagle Bridge, New York, (Pop. 300) began painting as a hobby at the age of 74. In a short time she was famous, and she continued to turn out primitive views of long remembered scenes until she died in 1961 at the age of 101. Mrs. Heber has made a hobby of collecting articles and photos concerning the artist's career, and the NBD exhibit consists of this collection, along with numerous prints of other Grandma Moses paintings. The exhibit can be seen during regular banking hours through January 2. JEWELRY MISSING Mrs. Joseph Smith, 872 University, called City police to report that sometime between October 25 and November 27, persons unknown removed from her bedroom various items of jewelry including a white gold and diamond wedding ring, valued at $850; a white gold watch, valued at $50 and a gold pin and earring set, valued at $17.

Mrs. Edsel B. Ford Gives Traditional 'Granddaughter Reception' for Sheila Ford, Who'll Bow in '70, and Lynn Ford, Who'll Be Presented in '71

Mrs. Edsel B. Ford continued her tradition of Granddaughter Receptions, the parties she's given for the children of her children, Henry Ford, II, Dodie (Mrs. Walter E., II) Ford, Benson Ford and William Clay Ford, a Christmas season or so before their formal debuts, last Sunday, December 21, with a flowery fete honoring cousins Lynn Ford, the Benson Fords' only daughter, and Sheila Ford, second daughter of the William Clay Fords.

Medard Lange came from Wilmette, Ill., as he has done for every Ford Granddaughter Reception since the first 10 years ago for Henry, II's oldest daughter Charlotte, now Mrs. Ford Niarchos, to create a series of fresh-fruit-and-flower fantasies throughout Mrs. Edsel Ford's Cotswold manor.

A Christmas tree in the library featured traditional South American ornaments of frosted bread, angels made of straw, cranberry strings and orange-and-lemon-filled baskets.

The cousins and their grandmother received in the drawing room overlooking Lake St. Clair, standing between tall whatnots and shelves with masses of pink, coral, orange and rust flowers.

Mrs. Ford's dress was of rose pink French brocade with a floral motif.

Lynn's short, sleeveless frock was of azure blue French metallic brocade with swirls of gold and silver, its waist defined by a band of gold beads, pearls and rhinestones.

Sheila's short dress was long-sleeved, made of pink, pearl gray and silver French metallic cloth.

The gowns were designed by Walton-Pierce, as were those of tulips and irises.

Tangerines, lemons and kumquats were strung from the wall sconces in the gallery leading to the Great Hall with its garlands of smilax and myriads of inner-lighted yellow, pink and orange balloons.

A large topiary tree, fashioned of balloons, centered the Hall.

Guests arrived via an entrance banked with forsythia, white jonquills and yellow daffodils and the stairway to the upper stories was rimmed with tulips and irises.

This is a curl.

All of a sudden, it's the most avant thing a head of hair can do. It can be one Ionic curl pinned onto a sleek hair-do. Or two of them falling carelessly where two guiches used to be. Or a whole fetching head-fuel. Whichever. Whatever. If you'd like to be the charming girl with the brand new curl, see us. We have hundreds of ideas on the subject and we'll search until we find the one that's exactly perfect for you.

Miss Phillips Wed To Bruce A. Rutland

Bethany Lutheran Church is Setting for Evening Service; Newlyweds Will Make their Home in Washington, D.C.

An ivory satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, gathered skirt and long sleeves was Marilyn Helen Phillips' choice for the Saturday evening, December 20, rites at which she became the bride of Bruce Allen Rutland.

Her dress featured all-over appliques of Alencon lace and a waistline defined by blue satin ribbon tied into a bow with streamers cascading down her detachable train.

Matching lace edged her fingertip illusion veil. She carried an arrangement of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and Christmas greens.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon J. Phillips, of Young Lane. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Allen Rutland, of Newfane, N.Y.

The 6 o'clock ceremony in Bethany Lutheran Church at which The Reverend Nathan Grafath officiated was followed by a reception at Hillcrest Country Club after which the newlyweds left for a vacation in Virginia. They will make their home in Washington, D.C.

Honor maid Sharon Phillips, the bride's sister, and flower girl Arlene Haselbuhn, the bride's godchild, wore floor length frocks of pale blue satin trimmed with sapphire blue velvet cording.

In sapphire blue-trimmed ivory satin gowns were bridesmaids Cheryl Ferrari, Donna Nehil, of Midland, and the bride's Alpha Phi Delta sorority sisters Lois Rost, of Cincinnati, O., and Sue Strasburg, of Lewiston, N.Y.

Their headpieces were sapphire velvet Dior bows. The senior attendants carried white poinsettias with blue satin balls while the flower girl carried a nosegay of white miniature carnations and red Sweetheart roses.

Best man was Larry Carroll, of Blissfield, Mich. In the usher corps were Phil Tate, of Washington, John Nehil, of Midland, and the bridegroom's Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity brothers Geoff Wellert and Bob Smith, the bridegroom's cousin, of Valparaiso, Ind.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception Mrs. Phillips selected a floor length gown of toast colored satin and a green cymbidium orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother's dress and coat ensemble were of aqua lace over taffeta. She chose a pink cymbidium orchid corsage.

Betty hopes her mother will stay on for a month or so in San Francisco. (Reading that, you thought: "Just ask ME!")

Jessie and Dan Hitchens and their five children are, apparently, "settled in" in Christmas Country, Traverse City.

Same with Edna and Bill Hinds, who've watched Santa's sleigh fly over Gaylord for years now.

And you can't think of a prettier Christmas setting than Stanley and Esther Smith's Birch Bluff, set high on Star Route above Harbor Springs.

So there you were, a week ago, a little tired, a little "fed," a little envious of people whose Christmas plans include hot sun or deep snow.

Bogged down in details, preparations, wrappings, ribbons and bows, you didn't think you'd make it. You didn't think you could.

And now here you are.

Feeling happy. Feeling good.

The tree shining, the presents unwrapped—only a FEW returns this year, thank heaven!—everyone seemed to like most of what they got—the turkey reduced to bones.

You catch yourself humming, under your breath, "Good King Wenceslaus Looked Out . . ."

And smiling . . .

It's been a Merry Christmas.

You made it.

D'you Know That?

THE GALAPAGOS Islands are a world of other times. Emerging out of waters of Ecuador, their volcanic boulders contain the strangest of fauna and flora.

There are SEA-IGUANAS ungainly creatures from a prehistoric era. Giant-sized lizards, which turn into dragon-like monsters, as they eject steam from their nostrils at the slightest disturbance. The sight of one is terrorizing. Imagine the eerie view, as thousands of them, clumsily move about the volcanic shores of the Islands.

But, for the knowing visitor, they instill no fear. For the Sea-Iguana, despite his terrible looks, is quite meek. He's all bluff! — submits to all kinds of abuse, even from the smallest of animals.

Clothing Care Hints Offered

Labels don't always give you the solutions for clothing care problems. Kathleen Bufton, Home Economist with the Cooperative Extension Service in Wayne and Oakland counties, has a few remedies for some of the most bothersome clothing care problems.

To remove grease stains from wash-and-wear and synthetic fabrics use a pretreatment Mrs. Bufton suggests.

Work a full strength liquid detergent or a paste of detergent and water into the stain. Then rinse well with hot water. Sometimes more than one treatment may be needed.

Pilling on fabrics results from loose fiber ends which escape from the yarn and work their way to the surface of the fabric. The fiber ends become entangled with lint and form unsightly balls, especially in the areas that are rubbed against the body.

Permanent removal is unsatisfactory but there are a few temporary measures you can take.

A rough surface like a dry sponge, sandpaper or roller type abrasive will remove some of the pills from the surface Kathleen says. Wash clothes inside out to avoid excessive abrasion during laundering. Finally, use a fabric softener in the final rinse when laundering.

And when storing clothes, Storing soiled clothing allows Kathleen Bufton suggests, all the chemical action of the stain ways remember to store clean on the fabric and invites de-clothes in a clean, dry place. terioration.

Durable Press Mixed Blessing

This is the age of durable press clothes — much to the relief of most homemakers. Durable press finishes however require special considerations says Mrs. Kathleen Bufton, Extension Home Economist for Wayne and Oakland counties.

For instance you may find that durable press clothes are warm because the fabric is non-absorbent. They sometimes irritate the skin unless they are laundered before they are first worn. And they wear out faster than similar nondurable press clothing.

Above all, Mrs. Bufton says, soiling and staining are major concerns.

"Soil can be picked up by durable press clothing during the laundry process," she says. "Durable press items are also very susceptible to oily soiling. If this oil is not entirely removed during the laundering a build-up on the fabric can cause graying or a grimy look."

A bulletin from the Cooperative Extension Service discusses some of the laundry methods with which most housewives are familiar.

Special pre-soak detergents, the bulletin explains, sometimes work better than some regular detergents, especially on all-cotton fabrics. Repeated soaking may be necessary however and this makes laundry a much more drawn-out affair.

On the other hand regular detergent and bleach used as pre-soak agents may be just as effective.

Hot water is sometimes needed to remove heavy stains and is often used for oily stains. But hot water can actually spread and set oily stains.

It's always a good idea to sponge the oil stain with a safe cleaning fluid first.

To reduce wrinkling wash and dry smaller loads, the bulletin suggests. But this requires more time, energy and money.

The decision you make in choosing laundry methods depends on just how much time, money and energy you feel the job is worth.

The bulletin, which is available from the County Extension Office in Wayne, says that the result you want with your laundry and durable press clothes should balance with the commitment you can and should give to clothing care.

Offer Preview Of College Life

High school seniors who are "college shopping" are offered a little bit extra by the Admissions Office at Marygrove College.

They don't just tour the campus. Overnight weekend hospitality free of charge gives them a real taste of life at a private college.

College students adopt the high schoolers when they arrive on the women's college scene at West McNichols and Wyoming in Detroit. And they eat the food, sleep in a residence hall, visit classes, meet the faculty and generally are a part of the campus community for the length of their stay.

"This surely should give a clearer picture of the kind of college life a high school senior can look forward to than can thumbing through a 'college catalog,'" says Thomas K. Plofchan, admission director.

Interested high school seniors may call Admissions Office at University 2-8000 for arrangements for the overnight.

Albert Stump, of Lawrence, Kan. He is the grandson of Mrs. Albert Stump and the late Mr. Stump and the late Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gass, all of Indianapolis, Ind.

The wedding will take place January 24 at the home of the bride's parents.

Report Damage To Equipment

Officials of R. A. Cousins, Incorporated of Dearborn, whose firm is under contract to construct the new additions and alterations at Cottage Hospital, Kercheval and Muir road, notified Farms police on Monday, December 15, that vandals have caused considerable damage to equipment at the site.

Sometime during the dark hours of the night, authorities were informed, a person or persons unknown broke into the 15-ton crane being used in the construction work, and dropped the boom on the crane cab, causing damage to the boom and the cab, estimated at about $500.

Not satisfied with this, the vandals attempted to force open a door of a No. 150 compressor, doing about $50 worth of damage to the door.

Police have been asked to keep a special watch on the site and equipment on their rounds.

Motion Picture and Television Council Presents Two Performances of Parents Magazine Family
Medal Award Winner

Two performances of "My Side of the Mountain,"
a 1969 Parents Magazine Family Medal Award movie, will be presented by the Grosse Pointe Motion Picture and Television Council at the Esquire Theatre this Monday, December 29.

Show times are 12:30 and 3 o'clock. Tickets will be available at the door as long as they last or may be obtained in advance
through any Movie-TV Council member. Ticket
admission is 75c.

The film, rated "General Audience," is the Council's gift to all Pointe youngsters as part of its program to stimulate interest in the showing of better movies in the community and to uphold the standards of the community as expressed by the members of the community.

It's the story of 13-year-old Sam (Ted Eccles), who runs a way from his comfortable

Toronto home with a microscope and a survival kit in a pack on his back — and a raccoon riding on his shoulder.

He leaves a note for his family explaining that, like Thoreau, he must live with nature for a year, providing his own food and shelter.

His experiences in the deep woods of the Laurentians, alone and with a wandering folk-singer (Theodore Bikel) who spends some time teaching him the secrets of life in the wild provide the bulk of the action which culminates in an accident bringing Sam fact-to-face with the need for friendship as well as solitude.

The Sounds of Christmas

Called "Noels" in France, "le pastorale" in Italy and "Weihnachtlieder" in Germany, carols are everywhere the welcome sound of Christmas.

Groups of friends and relatives gathered around a piano as they sing Christmas carols are a 20th century tradition.
Yet few of those who hear and sing them know their surprising history — a tale well worth reading about.

When was the first carol sung? Scholars think caroling probably began in the early church when Nativity plays, accompanied by songs of joy, told the story of Christ's birth.

One of the earliest choruses of praise, Gloria in Excelsis Deo (glory to God in the highest) is still sung by chorals at Christmas time. Early Latin-speaking worshippers must have shouted it forth with a "magica vox" (also Latin, for "great voice").

Though many people don't realize it, carols were originally connected not only with song but with dance. The Old French word "carole" meant "a ring dance accompanied by song."

An English carol dating from 1350 has a refrain which refers to a round dance: "Hondd by hondd we schulle ous take and joye and blisse schulle we make."

Early carol composers didn't confine themselves to Christmas themes — a collection of "Caroles Newly Imprinted" (1550) contained more Crucifixion than Nativity carols! On the other hand, quite a few of this time were not sacred in mood, but simply light-hearted invitations to feasting and toasting.

The Boar's Head carol, a big hit in 16th century England and still sung annually by the students of Queen's College, Oxford, actually celebrates the course of a Christmas dinner, in these words: "The boar's head in hand bear I, bedeck'd with bays and rosemary. And I pray you masters, be merry..."

The custom of outdoor carol singing is many hundreds of years old. It seems to have started in the Middle Ages when groups of people went from house to house to sing by torchlight.

Yet despite these joyous beginnings, the Christmas carol eventually ran into some rough weather. As the Puritan influence grew strong, carols became gloomy and grim; finally the Puritans made it a crime even to print them or sing them publicly!

After Puritanism waned in England, carols made a comeback — but in the 17th and 18th centuries were considered a rustic, socially inferior form of song! By 1882, a writer named William Hone was predicting that carols were dying out and in a few years' time would be heard no more!

Even as he spoke, a new up-surge of interest in carols was beginning.

who, where and whatnot

by whoozit

It's time again . . . to settle back and review, at our leisure, the Christmas cards . . . and if, every year, we say this year's are the prettiest/wittiest/most charming, it's only because, every year, it's true . . .

Let's start . . . with the whimsical ones, like Helen and Al Gostow's Santa Claus-in-a-balloon, and Up, Up and away theme chosen by Charlotte and Paul Moreland for their card, too . . . and how about Shirley and Buz Smith's Santa stocking? . . . Eileen and Dick Degener's 'Tis The Season reindeer? . . . Paty and George Brooks' cotton-nosed Mr. Claus, (pull his nose and Santa says "ouch!") . . .

Simplicity's . . . the theme of Julie and Wilbur Thomas' green and gold Season's Greetings . . . Moira and Jack Hooper's Merry Christmas-Happy New Year envelope . . . Kay and Frank Burger's Holly Hello . . .

The Madonna and Child . . . appear again and again on this year's cards. Among the loveliest: Thelma and Ed Brady's cameo, ringed with gold and set in a pale blue frame against a deep blue background . . . Evelyn and Joe Schrage's rose-wreathed Mother and Son . . . Mary and Dick Wiggins' ivory figures in a Della Robbia wreath . . . Judy and Bruce Bartsch's star-circled gold-and-burnt-siena Virgin holding the Infant Christ . . . Marguerite and Joseph Kaiser's Folk Art Mary and Jesus . . . Mary Bruce's pensive Virgin and Child . . . Rita Barat Roney's haloed Holy Pair . . . Kathleen and Ralph Dissler's holly-nativity portrait in scarlet and blue, with stars . . . Serie and Luke Wigton's reproduction of a Carlo Dolcei painting . . .

The creche . . . carrying Peg and Paul Marco's Christmas Greetings is studded with forget-me-nots and draped in purple . . . while Louise and Don LaFond's Holy Family under-the-Star are all-gold . . . Kings, camels, shepherds and sheep have arrived at Eleanor and Gerald Schroeder's Stable . . . and they're joined by angels on Sally and Joe Spitzley's stylized Nativity Scene . . .

The Three Kings . . . magnificently robed, present their gifts to the Christ Child on Grace and Dick Martin's card . . . follow the Star through a stone-strewn desert on Margaret and Jimmie Kinnucan's . . . bow, bearded and gold, on Caroline and George Menold's . . . and a child, bright-faced, wide-eyed, bringing her gift of a single flower to the foot of the manger carries Heidi, Joseph and Wallace Bruce's Christmas wish for Peace, Hope and Love . . .

The Holy Family . . . in red and gold, pale green and purple, travels to Egypt on Bettie and Howard Shaw's card . . . and on Mary and George Herbert Zimmerman's gold-arched fresco . . . and journey by night on Cecilia Sheehan's . . .

Angels . . . by Esther Alethea Richards carol Bonnie and Dick Richards' wish for a Merry Christmas . . . Jake and Chris Wenzel's angel between the Star and the Manger bridges heaven and earth . . . "Sing to the Lord a new song" proclaims Charlotte Dey's greeting with its reproduction of the Archangel Gabriel by Melozzo da Forli . . .

Traditional . . . holiday motifs are the Choir Boy, sent by Cliff and Lorraine Loranger . . . the Three Ships, gold under full sail in a dark sea on the scarlet-framed greeting from Elizabeth and Roger Smith . . .

Christmas snow scenes . . . were chosen by Jane Sutherland . . . Christy and Pete Walton . . . Rhoda and Ron Parkin . . . a gift-filled sleigh by Marge and Roy Brooks . . . trumpets and garlands, beautifully executed in rose and pale blue and gold by Anne and Cal Kramer . . . birds and holly berries by Kay Benzin . . . a Christmas tree, flanked by a pair of gold-embossed deer, by Alma and Earl Fraser . . .

And OF COURSE . . . there is the Partridge in a Pear Tree . . . in gold with three gold pears on Dorothy Coolidge's card . . . gold against green velvet on Ruth and Bob Morden's . . . in scarlet on Gladys Randolph's flowering pear . . .

And the Cards That Help . . . one of the nicest of the new Christmas traditions—the Children's Hospital of Michigan card sent by, among many, Ruth and Dean Peirce, Larry Williams . . . the Grosse Pointe Foundation for Exceptional Children card sent by, among many, Ed and Helen Schoenherr, Ginny and George Hooper . . . Mary and Rex Regan's card benefitting the Michigan Cancer Foundation's Research Program . . . Fred and Loraine Hillger's benefitting the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan . . . Loretto and Harold Cross's benefitting the Clarke School for the Deaf of Northampton, Mass. . . Dorothy and Fred Hood's UNICEF greeting . . .

And the family pictures . . . of the Irving T. Winklers, Jr., and their three daughters . . . the five young McGarrys: Elisabeth, John, Kevin, Jr., Peter and Anne . . . of Carol Nolte, due to be graduated from Central Michigan University in 1970, and her twin brother George, who'll receive his degree from the University of Alabama. . .

Finally . . . what all of us wish for most this Christmas is beautifully expressed on Alice and Pat Crowley's card, with its white dove carrying an olive branch above the simple legend: Peace.

Plan Dance Concert For Children At WSU

The Wayne State University Dance Alumni Association is sponsoring a Dance Concert for Children, Saturday, January 10, at 2:30 o'clock in the Community Arts Auditorium on the WSU campus. The performance is the organization's 16th annual benefit for funding a scholarship for Dance Education students. "Do

Mr. Do It," an original composition by Linda Cleveland, a senior Dance Education student, will be featured. Admission is $1. The concert is open to the general public. Tickets are available at the Student Center Ticket Office at Wayne State and at all Detroit senior high schools.

Pointers of Interest

By Janet Mueller

Music turns them on. Not electronic gadgetry, amplifiers, ech chambers. Music. The kind pure, true voices make, singing together. The kind that doesn't need any accompaniment. The kind that pleases rather than assaults the ears.

The kind that sounds effortless, free, spontaneous—and is perhaps the most difficult music of all to make well.

They're the smallest, most elite (and how they laugh when you call them that; nonetheless, it's true, it's true) of Grosse Pointe South High School's choral groups: Nine girls, culled from a field of 30 applicants, chosen, according to director Leonard L. Riccinto, for their abilities to sing in tune, to read music . . . and for their outgoing personalities.

Catch them before a performance and it's those personalities that strike—literally STRIKE—you.

Happy and Friendly These are happy, friendly kids, kids without hang-ups. Champagne kids, bright and joyous, who bubble and froth with life.

Communicate? You can't STOP them!

Catch them now, singing. Those burgundy velvet jumpers, caught at the shoulders with silver rings: The girls made them themselves (their own idea) especially for holiday concerts.

Watch their faces. Intent, "professional," poised—and still that underlying, irrepressible gaiety.

But a gaiety-in-control. Eyes on Mr. Riccinto, waiting for his signal . . .

They begin with a 16th century madrigal. Voices soar, fall, separate, blend . . .

Hey! Those girls can really SING!

An All-New Group

This year's Towerbelles are all-new (last year's, they explain, were "mostly seniors and graduates"). The group itself is six years old. Mr. Riccinto "inherited" them, along with South High's Choraleers, a capella choir and chorus, two years ago when he joined the South High staff.

He'd taught previously for three years at Parcels.

Now, in addition to directing the four choral groups, he teaches Music Literature at South High. He earned his Bachelors and Masters degrees in Music at the University of Michigan.

"I came," he explains, "to Grosse Pointe because it offered an opportunity to teach at a quality school in a community interested in good music."

He's happy here. Professionally and, this year especially, personally. The Best Present under the Riccintos' Christmas tree is month-and-a-half-old Janalen, named for her mother, Janet, and father, Leonard.

They're All Godmothers

The Towerbelles consider themselves Janalen's nine unofficial godmothers. They've followed her pre- and post-birth progress almost as closely as Mother and Father Riccinto.

Let's pause now in our view of the group for a series of individual Towerbelle mini-portraits.

Beginning, for no particular reason except that she sat first on my right hand during the Towerbelles' interview, with Sue Spear.

Sue, a South High junior, a "Pointer all my life," is the daughter of the Richard Speers, of Moran road.

She has one brother, 11-year-old Rick, a student at Brownell, and two sisters, six-year-old Emily, at Kerby, and Lisa, 14, at South High.

She belongs to Grosse Pointe Memorial Church's Tuxis (young people's) club and played the guitar in last year's Tuxis show. She's helped her mother with decoupage for Church Fairs.

Okay Academically

Of her academic work she says, "I'm doing okay." (All the Towerbelles MUST "do okay"—they're excused from school for special concerts.)

She's been singing "forever," in plays since elementary school, tried out for Towerbelles at the beginning of the year . . . "And here I am!"

Senior Ruth Gibson describes herself as a "compulsive joiner." At South High she's a member of the Student Council and Senior Council, Varsity Swim Team timer, secretary of the capella choir and "does a lot in art," her major.

She belongs to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Youth Council.

Why Towerbelles? "I've always been interested in music and I sort of gravitate toward extra-curricular activities."

She's Middle Child

Middle child and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibson, Jr., of McKinley avenue, her older brother, Dick, 22, an Alma College graduate, has just entered the service; next brother, Mark, 21, is married and studying at Eastern Michigan University, and two younger brothers, Chipper, 10, and seven-year-old Jimmy, are both Richard students.

Susan Hirzel spent last summer in Germany as a Youth for Understanding exchange student.

A senior now, she's president of South High's German Club and a member of the School Drill Team as well as president of the Youth Club at Knox Presbyterian Church.

Daughter of the John Hirzels, of Grayton road, she has one sister, Jane, 14, also at South High.

She Likes Music

She joined Towerbelles because "I like music. I played the piano for eight years. I was in the chorus in the 10th grade and in choir last year . . ."

Christy Zampich, another senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Zampich, of Nottingham road. Her sister, Janet, 13, attends Pierce.

Christy, who loves skiing, is Drill Team treasurer and a member of the South High Blue Dolphins swimming club.

Membership in Towerbelles is the culmination of a lifelong interest in music. Like Sue Hirzel, Christy's an ex-choir member.

Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Schneider, of St. Clair avenue, they have an older brother Karl, in the Army in Germany, a sister Wendy, 18, in the WACS, and a younger sister Julie, 12, at Pierce.

A Musical Family

The whole family's musical, "all in choirs at church and school and stuff," according to Heidi who "used to" play the violin but now confines herself to singing, serving on the South High Girls' Athletic Association, Sophomore Council and Student Council and, in her private time, water skiing and camping. Val enjoys camping too. And singing, of course . . . "I tried out for Towerbelles last year and didn't make it. Second time lucky . . ."

Playing the guitar, photography and cooking are among her other hobbies. She works after school at the Camera Center—"That takes up a lot of my time"—sings in her church choir and is a former Commander of the Drill Team and an a capella choir member.

Followed Her Sister

"My sister," says junior Linda Dice, "was a Choraleer. I used to go to all the concerts. When I heard about the Towerbelle auditions, I decided to try out . . ."

Sister Mimi's 20, a student at Calvin College in Grand Rapids. The Robert Dices, of Lakepointe avenue, have a third child, a son, eight-year-old Rob, at Christian Day School.

Besides Towerbelles, Linda sings in the capella choir and her church choir. She loves to water ski. "And I CAN (if pressed, her tone of voice indicates) do decoupage."

Pam's the last of Mr. and Mrs. Heywood J. Knighton's three daughters. Sister Anna Marie, 24, is a dietician in Indianapolis. Sister Josephine, 22, is married.

A member of the South High Junior Class Council and vice-president of the Luther League at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Pam's big love is playing the guitar: "I am," she admits, "obsessed with it."

And with singing . . . "I've always sung, ever since grade school . . ."

Pam and her parents live in Lakepointe avenue.

Barb Plays Guitar

Guitar's the instrument of sophomore Barb Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Bailey, Jr., of Balfour road, too.

Barb's parents belong to Fine Arts and she's played and sung in several programs at The Players. She's "known about Towerbelles for a long time and always wanted to be one."

She made the group on her first try.

She's a member of the South High Sophomore Council, undecided as yet as to what she'll major in. "Right now, I'm thinking of art . . ." She likes to sail.

She has two brothers, Bill, 18, a student at Miami University, Oxford, O., and Tom, 16, one class ahead of her at South High.

Now, briefly, we'll put the Belles together for a final composite.

They're dedicated. They practice twice a week, after school, once with Mr. Riccinto (he's dedicated as well; it's after school for him too), and once privately, meeting in turn in each other's homes.

This Is Peak Season

In their Peak Concert Seasons, pre-Christmas and spring, they practice more often.

This December they've given eight out-of-school concerts, appearing for Rotary, Kiwanis, church groups, the South High Mothers Club, the Elizabeth Cass Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution . . . They perform at the direction of Mr. Riccinto, upon request by clubs, churches, civic and social organizations.

They perform without charge. They practice, perfect and perform because they want to, because music turns them on. They're very typical teenagers. They're doing their thing.
