HEADLINES of the WEEK

As Compiled by the Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, December 1
PRESIDENT JIMMY Carter pledged for the first time yesterday to seek substantial tax cuts in 1978, even if some of his tax reform proposals are shelved to get faster action by Congress. In his news conference, Mr. Carter gave no indication as to how large the proposed reduction may be, but a White House official indicated that it would be at least $20 billion and possibly $25 billion. Even if one-third of a $25 billion tax cut was allocated for business, that would mean a cut of about $75 a person or $300 for a family of four.

THE FIRST DRAFT of a national health insurance plan was submitted to President Jimmy Carter in an "urgent" memorandum from Joseph Califano, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. In the memo, Mr. Califano stressed urgency because he predicts that several congressional sessions will be required before final enactment of the plan. The plan outlines comprehensive and compulsory coverage for all Americans. Mr. Califano noted that the "complex and bedeviling policy initiative" will require a "sustained commitment to a massive political effort by the White House."

MOST EXPERTS can't figure it out, but the number of Americans holding jobs rose by the biggest number in 17 years last month while the unemployment rate remained very high. The Labor Department reported yesterday that employment leaped by 950,000 jobs in November. That's the biggest month since April 1960. Despite the impressive job gains, the unemployment rate in November was 6.9 percent. This is down slightly from October's seven percent level.

MORE THAN 1.3 million cars built by Chrysler Corp. since 1975 have design flaws that can lead to chronic engine stalling problems. The company reported that the problems were discovered in 1976 and a assembly line changes were made last spring to correct them. Company documents indicate that Chrysler has no plans to recall the cars because it doesn't consider stalling a safety problem. But the "Detroit Free Press" learned that the company is fixing some of the cars free under a selective and unpublished repair program.

IN TRIPOLI, LIBYA, yesterday, a militant Arab front against the peace efforts of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was dissolved when the Iraqi delegation walked out of the conference. The action apparently came on orders from Iraqi President Ahmed Hassan Bakr not to sign the agreement that delegates from Libya, Algeria, Iraq, Syria, South Yemen and the Palestine Liberation Organization had been working on. A Libyan Information Ministry spokesman said the other delegations would meet later to sign an agreement without Iraq.

A FEDERAL JUDGE in Oklahoma City, Okla., yesterday removed all federal restrictions on the import and use of the purported cancer treatment Laetrile by striking down the latest federal ban against it. U.S. District Judge Luther Bohanon accompanied his permanent injunction forbidding the Food and Drug Administration from enforcing its ban, with a strong warning against any "snake oil salesman" promotional tactics by Laetrile marketers.

Car Clings to Breakwall after Mishap

This vehicle, driven by Laverne Groat, 59, of Harcourt road, almost ended up in Lake St. Clair Monday morning, December 5. While driving along the thoroughfare around 7:45 a.m., her car skidded on ice formed by water thrust onto the street from heavy winds. It struck a tree which prevented the auto from entering the rough water, and was towed away shortly after this picture was taken. In the incident, Mrs. Groat suffered a fractured hip but was reported to be in good condition at Bon Secours Hospital.

Call after Skidding on Ice in Lakeshore road; Tree Saving Factor

Ice on Lakeshore road in front of Saint Paul-on-the-Lakeshore Church, formed by lake waters blown up by heavy winds, caused a Park resident's car to skid out of control and smash into a tree prior to the deluge of snow on Monday, December 5.

The tree was the only obstacle stopping the car from plunging into the lake.

At approximately 7:45 a.m., Farms police rescued Laverne Groat, 59, of Harcourt road, from her 1970 Camero and transported her to Bon Secours Hospital where she remains in good condition despite a fractured hip.

Loses Control
Mrs. Groat was traveling east on Lakeshore when she hit the ice and started to fishtail. In the lane next to her was another car driven by Frank Teachow, of Barington road. To avoid hitting Mr. Teachow, Mrs. Groat veered to the right, lost control and struck the tree. Mr. Teachow ended up on the median.

Wayne County Road Commission salt trucks had been notified at 7:30 a.m. that the road was icing up. A salt truck had been sent out and arrived on the scene at about 8 a.m., 15 minutes after the accident.

Pointes Report Few Minor Accidents after Big Storm

Over six inches of snow fell Monday, December 5, in the Detroit metropolitan area as a major storm swept across southern lower Michigan leaving in its wake bumper-to-bumper traffic, stalled vehicles and thousands of frustrated citizens.

In The Pointes, school officials cancelled all after school activities on Monday after the snow blanketed the area.

Ahee Jewelers Wins Special Plaque from Beautification Group

Merchant Cited for Outstanding Effort in Enhancing Property; Commission Chairman Also Honored at Third Annual Event

By Roger A. Waha
While the weather was rainy and foggy, it was sunny inside The Woods council chambers as an estimated 80 persons turned out for the third annual "Awards Night," sponsored by the city's Beautification Commission.

It was an evening of surprises as a decidedly thrilled Edmund T. Ahee of Ahee Jewelers, in Mack avenue, was announced as the winner of a special plaque, given to the business, school or church whose property reflects an exceptional display of beauty, while commission chairman Dr. Albert C. Howe was caught unaware upon receiving a plaque from the Grosse Pointe Merchant's Ass'n.

Additional Interest
All in all, 102 "certificates of appreciation" were prepared with over 50 being presented to individuals representing businesses, schools and churches for their beautification efforts. The remainder will be sent through the mail.

Using the Miss America format of announcing runners-up for the special plaque prior to the winner, an additional amount of interest was provided for all participants.

This certainly was the case for Mr. Ahee, who said receiving the award was "quite an honor." At the same time, he stressed, "The community more than goes out to take care of their places. Anybody could have won it."

Other winners of the special plaque were Lawrence Mayer Florists last year and Denton Construction Co. in 1975.

The first runner-up was

GPF Police Get Tough On Parking

Feeding Meters in Hill Area Could Result in $10 Overtime Ticket

By Wendy K. Settle
During the holiday shopping season Farms police are beefing up their patrols of metered parking in all lots in the Hill area on Kercheval avenue, Mack avenue and Fisher road.

All cars parked in a space for longer than the maximum time allowed on the meter will receive a $10 overtime parking ticket, whether the meter is expired or not.

"It's illegal to feed the meter," said Farms Police Chief Robert Ferber. "Those meters are designed to keep parking traffic flowing. If the meter is set at one hour, then you can only park there for one hour. If you're there any longer than that, you'll get a ticket."

Seek Monitoring
The chief continued to note that the law applies to all meters, from the one hour meters to the 10 hour meters. The request for closer monitoring of the parking meters was made by the Hill Merchant's Ass'n.

Ed Kiska of Kiska Jewelers, president of the Hill Ass'n, said, "Some of these people out here park right on Kercheval avenue, and every hour they come out and put money in the meter, while their customers drive around looking for a parking space."

In a recent letter to all merchants on the Hill, Mr. Kiska stated, "People are parking in the short time meters all day long by feeding the meters. This is not fair to the people who need to stop for a short time to visit the various stores or for professional people. Feeding the meters is also against parking ordinances and carries a $10 fine. Starting now these ordinances will be strictly enforced. Please cooperate. Don't park all day in the short time meter area."

"Selective" Stress
In recent months the overtime parking ordinance has not been strictly enforced. "It's almost impossible to enforce such an ordinance all the time," Chief Ferber said. "We do stress it at selective times of the year."

In order to determine if a car is in violation of the law, patrolmen will chalk a mark a tire. If, when the officer returns at a later time and the car is still there, he will issue the ticket. (Continued on Page 6)

GPF Approves Law Regulating Alarm Systems

Council Okays Measure Requiring All Businesses, Residents Having Such Systems to Have Them Licensed by The City

By Wendy K. Settle
The Farms Council at its regular meeting Monday, December 5, spent an hour and 40 minutes discussing an ordinance which had been revised and presented at three meetings over the past two months. After exploring the measure, the council approved the alarm regulation law after various amendments were okayed.

The ordinance basically requires many businesses and residents in The Farms, having security alarm systems, to have those systems licensed by the city.

Most of the amendments concerned the wording of the law with the major one viewing the time element involved in renewing the alarm operation license.

If the systems are plugged into the police and fire departments' direct dialing phone outlets, they must be licensed. If the alarm system does not dial into those lines, such as smoke and outside noise alarms, the system does not have to be licensed by the city.

No Fee Set Yet
The ordinance is designed to help the police and fire departments cut down on the number of false alarms by having some control over the quality and operation of the alarm systems.

It also is designed to give the alarm owner better response and assistance from both departments.

"Through licensing," Police Chief Robert Ferber told the council, "we'll know more about the system and the people at the residences. This will aid us in helping them."

The ordinance also makes a provision for the council to set a fee for such licensing. At this time, the council has set no such fee.

At the beginning of the discussion, the ordinance stated that licensing had to be renewed annually. The council amended the law to require licensing at the time of installation with renewal every five years or upon change of occupancy.

The other amendments were of a technical nature to (Continued on Page 1)

A deadline change for all news and society copy, along with display and classified advertising, will be instituted for both the December 22 and 29 editions as the NEWS office will be closed on two Mondays, December 26 and January 2.

All news copy must be submitted by 5 p.m. on Fridays, December 23 and 30, respectively, while society copy must be in by 5 p.m. December 22 and 29, respectively.

The display and advertising departments suggest an effort be made to submit all copy by 5 p.m. on both December 23 and 30. (Continued on Page 2)

Cul-De-Sac Plan Stories Can Create Mental Maze

By Wendy K. Settle
"It's simple, good business," says John Brink of the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. about his cul-de-sac program.

"Of course it's a publicity scheme, and we're doing this for business. But regardless of our motives, it will have a darn good result for the community."

Mr. Brink started the cul-de-sac plan this April. Since then, 2,000 questionnaires have been circulated by employees of the company which claims the public response has been 98 percent positive. Polling residents of the Pointes is just the first phase of the plan and that may take some time since Mr. Brink is not taking a random sampling. He wants

Board to Reach Decision on December 12 in Relation to Summer Payments

By Susan McDonald
The School Board will decide on Monday, December 12, whether or not to officially ask cities to begin collecting all school taxes in the summer, six months earlier than the present collection date.

It will be the first time the trustees have formally voted on the controversial issue and, based on their discussions of it, they appear to be decisively split on the question.

Superintendent Dr. William Coats said on Monday, December 5, he will recommend the Board request a move to full summer tax collection at the trustees' next regular meeting.

The earlier collection date could net the school system about $300,000 in additional revenue without any increase in millage.

Revenue Needed
Citizens would pay $19.5 million in taxes six months earlier so the Board could avoid taking out a $9.5 million loan necessary to operate the schools during the first half of the year.

The money that would be saved by the system is equivalent to the interest it pays on the $9.5 million loan. Less about $90,000 they usually make by reinvesting the $9.5 million at a higher interest rate than they pay to borrow it.

"I can assure you we need the additional revenue for some capital outlay projects that are coming up," Dr. Coats told the trustees. "We do need the money and I think this is one of the less painful ways to generate it."

But a few Board members disagreed with that contention.

"Dr. Coats and I are going to do battle on this one," declared Trustee William Huetteman. "I've looked at these figures and it's going to be expensive for our community to go to a summer tax collection, terribly expensive."

Cost Is Greater
Mr. Huetteman estimates that the first year cost to taxpayers would be at least $750,000 — more than double the potential gain to the school system.

Citizens who escrow their tax accounts through mortgage companies, (an estimated 60 percent of the community), would have to pay an additional half their tax bill into their escrow accounts the first year of the new system.

The remaining 40 percent of the taxpayers — most of them senior citizens who own their own homes and have no mortgages — would either have to borrow the money or take it from their savings six months earlier than normal.

Arson Suspects Down in GPF

Farms detectives investigating the recent arsons in the community have narrowed down the list of suspects.

The investigation started with approximately 30 suspects. "Almost everyone has been interviewed," Det. George Van Tiem said. "Some have agreed to take a polygraph, (lie detector), test."

Police had no further comments as to how the investigation was proceeding. A new revelation in the cases occurred on Saturday night, December 3, when police received reports from two residents in Merriweather road regarding threatening phone calls. The caller referred to the arsons and threatened the residents with the future possibility of fires. Officers are checking into these reports.

GPW Views Police Head

Over 80 applications for the position of Woods public safety director are currently being reviewed, "with around seven of the applicants coming from within the department," reported City Administrator Chester E. Petersen last week.

He also noted that no appointment will be announced until after the first of the year.

The department has been without a full-time director since the retirement of Henry Marchand in October. Since that time and until a new officer is appointed, the day shift commander is acting director.

Thief Leaves Note at ULS

Since the end of September, five breaking and enterings, the latest one being reported on Thursday, December 1, have occurred at University Liggett School, reported Woods Det. Thomas Podaszwick.

In the incidents, office equipment and gym clothing and equipment have been reported missing.

Police learned in the latest case, the person or persons responsible left a note which was discovered by a security guard on Saturday, November 26, on a window of the east hallway of the Briarcliff campus.

The note read to the effect, "I locked the window for you, please leave it open again. I have enjoyed your typewriters and tape recorders." Then, two days later a typewriter was discovered missing from the teachers' lounge.

All police found was the remains of the note, which someone had removed from the window. All that was left was the taped corners of the communication.

Det. Podaszwick, who is investigating the case, feels that whoever is responsible for the latest break-in could also be involved in the previous four.

Class Size Differences

(Continued from Page 1) the other hand, interprets it to mean that individual grade levels, (sixth grades, for example), should be compared.

Tells Only Part
In its arguments before the superintendent's committee last week, the administration said, "There was never an intent by the fact-finder to set a kindergarten maximum of 21.6 pupils, an unreasonably low average which happened to exist in 1975-76."

To support its stand, the administration refers to a letter it recently received in response to its inquiries from fact-finder Dr. John Simpkins.

The letter states the intent of the contract language to be to "maintain a total fixed ratio of professional personnel . . . to the number of students."

Averages at the three elementary levels exceed 1975 figures only slightly — by 1.3 students in kindergarten, .9 students at third grade and .3 students at sixth grade. But union officials say those numbers tell only part of the story.

"These figures may not look bad, but if you explore the situation further you find that 60 percent of the kindergarten classes are over the 1975 average, and 68 percent of the third grade and 64 percent of the sixth," said GPEA Vice-President Tom Whall.

Others Oversized
"It all comes down to where do we draw the line?" Mr. Whall added. The union also alleges that middle school classes, including social studies, home economics, music, art and physical education, are oversized. Department of instruction figures show 1975 averages to be 21.6 in kindergarten, 24.4 in first grade, 25.8 in second grade, 25.7 in third grade, 27.2 in fourth grade, 27.3 in fifth grade and 26.6 in sixth grade.

Besides the three grades named in the grievance, all other elementary grade averages are below or equal to the 1975 figures. There are several individual classes, however, at each grade level which exceed the 1975 figures.

The school system experienced a 4.8 percent drop in enrollment last year and reduced its teaching staff by about 12 positions.

Paper Drive Set At Saint Paul

Saint Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church will hold a paper drive on Saturday, December 17, from 9 a.m. until dark. Persons may bring papers to the church located in Lothrop road at Chalfonte. On that day, or may call the church office, at 881-6670 or 881-5014, to arrange for papers to be picked up at home.

The proceeds from the drive will help support an orphan boy in India and other charitable projects of the young people's group of the church.

School Tax Date Shift Eyed

(Continued from Page 1) the savings," Mr. Huettnerman said. "If you can show me any statistics that indicate I'm wrong, I'll vote in favor of it."

Trustee Ann Arduasi declared, "As a Board member I favor the summer collection, but as a taxpayer, I don't know how I'd be able to pay my taxes twice in the same year."

Up to Councils
Board member Joan Hanpeter said she also favored the superintendent's recommendation.

Trustee Robert Warner said he would not be in favor of the summer collection.

less the Board also gives taxpayers an equivalent reduction in the millage rate.

"We told them, (taxpayers), that we'd operate with this millage rate under certain guidelines and I think that's what we ought to do," he said.

Dr. Coats assured the trustees he has no intention of recommending a lower millage rate along with summer collection of taxes.

If the Board agrees to request the new collection date, it will then be up to the councils in each of the five cities to decide whether or not to go along with the plan.

An Alternative
The trustees agreed that it would be impossible to implement the plan unless each of the cities agreed to it.

An alternative to full summer collection is the split tax collection, wherein residents pay half the school taxes in July and the other half at the usual December date.

That plan would net the system far less money and would cost citizens with escrow accounts nothing. Only residents who do not escrow their taxes would suffer some financial loss under the split collection plan.

The Board's next regular meeting is scheduled for the 12th at Central Offices, 389 St. Clair avenue, at 8 p.m.

Both Dr. Howe and association president Paul D. McCarthy have often emphasized the need for such a combined effort.

As for the parkway fund raising drive, Dr. Howe said it will continue full tilt until the first of the year and then wind down while the commission takes stock of the overall situation.

"We will welcome all contributions, as we need funds for our spring plantings," noted Dr. Howe, who added around $3,500 has already been contributed toward his hoped-for goal of $5,000 by January 1. "The city has made the commitment and we will carry it forward."

Citizens who wish to contribute to the parkway development should make their checks payable to the "City of Grosse Pointe Woods Memorial Parkway Fund," and mail them to Veterans Memorial Parkway, c/o City of Grosse Pointe Woods, 20025 Mack avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods 48236.

Guidelines for Family Planning Eyed by Schools

By Susan McDonald
Legislation permitting school districts to teach about birth control in sex education classes was signed into law last week, but it will probably take another year for it to have any impact on course offerings in Grosse Pointe.

The new state law permits the discussion of family planning and human sexuality in school courses, but attendance must be on a voluntary basis. Teaching abortion and disseminating birth control devices is prohibited. Recognizing that birth control instruction will be a sensitive topic with many Pointe parents, local school officials plan to handle the issue carefully and get as much community input on program development as they can.

Safety Stickers Prove Popular

The "Child Locator Sticker" program, started by the Woods Public Safety Department in October 1975 to identify sleeping areas used by youngsters, thus expediting their rescue in case of fire, has proved to be a successful one.

In fact, Traffic Safety Officer Paul Crook said last week that a new supply of around 3,000 stickers, featuring two Koala bears on a chartreuse background, were recently received by the department.

Citizens may pick them up at the front desk of departmental headquarters, 20025 Mack avenue.

The first supply of stickers, around 5,500, was depleted with Officer Crook noting after the September 29 house fire which claimed the lives of a mother and her two daughters, the department was deluged with calls for the visuals.

Now, he said, officers can accommodate the expected flood of requests for the stickers.

Furnished through the courtesy of the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Ass'n. and the department's public safety auxiliary, the stickers should be used to indicate the presence of children in the home.

One sticker should be placed on a front window location readily visible to responding fire personnel, while an additional sticker can be affixed on the most visible window location of each youngster's room.

GP Mutual Aids Visit Hospital

Bon Secours Hospital played host to the November meeting of the Grosse Pointe Mutual Aid Organization, a group of representatives from all five Pointe police and fire departments which meets monthly to plan cooperative public safety measures.

The November meeting familiarized the public safety officers with Bon Secours' new building safety systems, installed during the hospital's recent expansion program.

The safety system includes an extensive network of alarms that identify the exact location and extent of any fire in the building.

Specially designed fire doors slam closed around threatened areas to contain the hazard, while patients and staff can be safely removed to other areas of the building.

"Bon Secours has one of the finest fire safety programs in the area," said Lt. Timothy Champine, of the City Fire Department. "The Mutual Aid participants found the hospital's building safety resources very impressive."

Cul-De-Sac Plan Stories Can Create Mental Maze

(Continued from Page 1) managers of all the Pointes, except The Shores, to explain his plan. But the city managers and Mr. Brink's viewpoints on those initial contacts differ greatly. In The Park, where the most action on the plan has taken place, City Manager Robert A. Stone said, "Mr. Brink explained his idea to the Planning Commission back at the beginning, period."

Park Mayor Matthew C. Patterson added, "The Planning Commission is considering sending out their own questionnaire through the newsletter. But the cul-de-sac plan has never come before the council."

Mr. Brink noted that when he approached Mr. Stone, "He was so enthusiastic that he suggested that we take the plan to the Planning Commission. When we did the commission ate it up; they thought it was the greatest thing."

"When I talked with the people at The Farms, they thought it was a great plan, too," Mr. Brink said. "In fact, the city manager, the fire chief and the police chief came down to my office and we talked about the plan for almost two hours."

Andrew Bremer, Farms city manager, disagreed with Mr. Brink's opinion of the meeting. "No, Mr. Brink is wrong. We spent about 40 minutes there and told him any ideas had to go to the planning commission," said Mr. Bremer, who added he wouldn't consider his response to the plan enthusiastic.

Thomas Kressbach, city manager in The City, said he had received no formal communication from Mr. Brink. "He stopped in unannounced with an associate of his about six months ago and talked about five minutes. But he didn't leave any information. That was the first and last time we've ever had any contact," Mr. Kressbach said.

Mr. Brink recalled that he had made an appointment with The City and the meeting lasted about an hour and a half.

In The Woods, Mr. Brink, citing traffic problems, said his plan received a positive response at Woods offices because of this.

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said, "Mr. Brink presented his tentative plan to myself, the director of public safety and a traffic safety officer. We all talked about it but that was it."

After Mr. Brink contacted the city officials he started the polling through the questionnaire. This "first phase" of the plan has been going on for seven months and Mr. Brink has no definite date as to when it all will end.

He did agree that it was beneficial to his company to keep the polling going for "good business" reasons. He added that a decision on the plan and the polling "will come to an end when the people want it to."

The questionnaire alone has received a lot of flack from various individuals and organizations. The Inter-Faith Center claims that half of the questions are about the home and not the cul-de-sac plan. Out of 16 questions, the word cul-de-sac is mentioned in only one. Six of the questions are about traffic problems in the home owner's area, four are about the family and its members' occupations, ages and sex; one concerns crime and two are about schools.

Another question is about the resident's home. That one question consists of over 30 boxes to be checked regarding the number of bedrooms, lot size, taxes, fireplaces, garage, baths, home style, et al.

The last question is about community development. "Every question pertains to the cul-de-sac plan," Mr. Brink said. "We use the traffic information to see where traffic problems are. The questions about the home owners are to determine the use of the area. The questions regarding the homes are to see what the family's needs are and if a cul-de-sac would be feasible in the area."

Mr. Brink added that the questions on occupations and other areas are for possible funding of the plan.

"When it comes time to fund the program," he said, "we can go back to the questionnaire and see how some of these people can help us with donations of materials or funds."

Mr. Brink then lamented about the pace at which the polling is proceeding. "It's going too slow as far as I'm concerned. But our staff has other business, too."

That "other business" is selling homes. The sales volume of the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. has increased since Mr. Brink's salesmen started hand delivering the questionnaires. "We've had an increase," Mr. Brink nodded, "but I don't know where it has come from. We do advertise a lot and we have a very hard working sales staff."

"The cul-de-sac plan will benefit the community," Mr. Brink continued. "That's good business. Because of the plan property values will go up and the community will be a beautiful place in which to live. It's a wonderful place now, but we can make it better."

"It's sound business to plan for the future. We've taken a lot of abuse on this plan and we're still staying with it because we're sincere," Mr. Brink concluded by noting, "I'd like to go down in history as the man who started the cul-de-sac plan."

The trend in wine these days is toward the softer wines, the sweeter and less alcoholic wines. One wine that fits this category is Reynac's Pineau des Charentes. This favorite of the Cognac region in France is made by adding young Cognac Brandy to freshly pressed native grapes. The result is a nutlike bouquet and a sweet, smooth taste. Serve it well chilled or on the rocks and you are in for a treat. It is also good for dessert when you pour a little over cantaloupe.

From soft wine to blended whiskey, PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, corner of St. Clair, 885-0626 has what you need for holiday entertaining. You can choose from an outstanding selection of fine wines, an extensive array of imported and domestic beers, and a full spectrum of liquors and party foods. May we take this opportunity to be among the first to wish you Merry Christmas and a joyous holiday season. Hours: 10-10 Mon.-Thurs.; 10-11 Fri., Sat.

GPF Approves

The renewal time amendment was proposed by Councilwoman Nancy Waugaman as a result of a presentation by Edward Hinkle Jr. of Preston place.

Mr. Hinkle, for insurance reasons, has an alarm system in his home. In his 15-minute presentation he noted a few problems that he saw in the ordinance. The main problem he cited was the unnecessary inconvenience of renewing the license every year.

"I think Mr. Hinkle's presentation was well done and well thought out," said Councilman Lloyd Semple. "He did his homework and the result was an amendment to the ordinance... a good amendment."

The ordinance was approved by a 5-2 vote. Councilmen Jack Cudlip and Harry Fruehauf voted against the motion.

Eyes Confusion
 "We voted nay because it was so confusing," Mr. Cudlip said. "I understand the desires to get something through but I think we rushed into it too fast. I just wanted to see a finished product in front of me with all the amendments included."

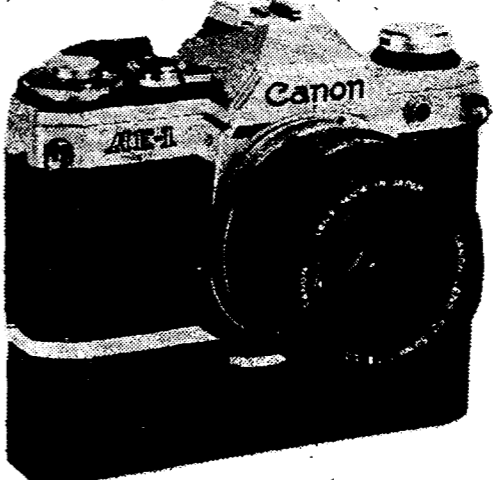

The "finished product" will be resubmitted to the council after the city attorney rewrites the ordinance as adopted.

"We won't vote on it again, because we've already approved it," Mr. Semple said. "He'll, (the attorney), rewrite it the way we approved it."

The ordinance will go into effect 20 days after enactment or upon publication. Violation of the ordinance will result in up to a $500 fine or up to 90 days in jail.

Goodfellow Paper Sale Slated for December 12

By Wendy K. Settle
For the past 47 years the men of the Grosse Pointe Lions and Woods Lions Clubs have been braving the brisk December winds in the early morning hours to sell their special Goodfellow edition newspapers.

This year, the 48th annual Goodfellow paper sale will be on Monday, December 12. Between dawn and noon members of the two clubs will be stationed at intersections throughout the Pointes vending their papers to obtain funds for the community's needs.

Co-chairmen for the GP Lions, Dick Fischer and Nick Leto, have set this year's goal at $6,500.

"The Police and Fire departments of The Park, Farms, Shores and City will be helping us," Mr. Fischer said. "Others will be helping too, like department retirees."

Frank Roland is one of the helping retirees. "Frank is 86-years-old," Mr. Fischer noted, "and he's been selling the Goodfellow papers every year for the past 47 years."

All together Mr. Fischer expects 50 to 60 people will be involved in the Goodfellow sale. He noted about 20 will be members of the GP Lions.

John Dising and Ray Grudzinski, co-chairmen for the Woods Lions Club, will have their men at intersections throughout The Woods.

Officers from the Public Safety Departments will be assisting, and the Lions have set their goal at $1,500.

"We're planning on having all 30 members on the streets by 5:30 or 6 a.m.," Mr. Grudzinski said. "We're going to cover Mack avenue from Vernier to Moross roads. The GP Lions will cover the rest of the Pointes, Detroit Lions will be on the Detroit side and the same with Harper Woods."

The GP and Woods Lions Clubs use the funds from the Goodfellow sale to contribute to many organizations like the War Memorial, CARE, the Boy Scouts, the Michigan Lions Eye Bank and the Glaucoma Clinic.

They also help fund the Leader Dogs for the Blind in Rochester, Mich., the Welcome Home for the Blind in Grand Rapids and the Penrickton Center, where preschool children with physical handicaps are taught.

Within the community the clubs also provide glasses and Christmas baskets for those in need, while local scholarship funds are another facet of funding.

Get Tough

The parking situation on-the-Hill has been a problem for some time. The merchants realize it, the Farms Council has discussed it, Hill expansion plan advocates have talked about it and presently a traffic study is being conducted.

"We're, (Hill merchants), going through a slow death because of this parking situation," Mr. Kiska lamented. "And believe me, I've seen it happen before in other places."

Thieves Take Silver Pieces

Woods police recently were informed of the value of missing articles taken after the breaking and entering of a Vernier road residence the middle of last month.

The citizens estimated the approximate value of missing items at around $2,000.

Articles reported taken included two silver stem candle holders around 12 inches high, one silver coffee pot, one silver tea pot, one sugar bowl, one creamer and a silver, round tray, 12 to 14 inches in diameter.

Several pieces of jewelry also were reported missing.

Police said no signs of forced entry were visible in the incident.

In the depression days many dreamed of earning an income they can't live within today.

It's Only Natural
by L.C. Termini N.D.
There are ways you can keep more or less your present diet but add a good deal of nutrition to it. One of the simplest ways is to stop peeling vegetables. Most of the nutrients in carrots, potatoes, turnips, and summer squash hold their nutrients in their skins. All you have to do, to save time and add health, is wash them off. You should avoid waxed vegetables — they have little nutritional value. Also, if you keep track of what vegetables are in season, you will save money and provide year round variety in your meals.

And a good way to benefit your health and improve your nutrition is to make VIM & VIGOR HEALTH FOODS, 21151 Mack, 886-9466 your natural foods headquarters. Our wide inventory includes health foods, vitamins, minerals, food supplements and special foods. Surprise the natural food buffs on your Xmas list with an assortment of natural nuts, fresh-ground peanut butter or herb tea. Our best wishes for a memorable holiday season. Park Sets Public Hearing On Flood Insurance Law

By James J. Njaim

The Park Council on Monday, November 28, approved the adoption of an ordinance keeping the community in the Flood Insurance Program, subsidized by the federal government.

A public hearing on the ordinance is scheduled for Tuesday, January 24, at 7:30 p.m.

The council authorized City Attorney Richard Rohr to draw up the provisions of the proposed law, without which, according to City Manager Robert A. Slone, the city could not participate in the program.

Mr. Slone told the solons that approximately 180 homes, of the 900 south of Jefferson avenue, are covered by flood insurance, totaling about $8 million.

The city manager said subsidized government insurance first went into effect in 1973 when the waters crested to record levels, eroding the shoreline touching the Great Lakes, including Lake St. Clair. The Park made a request to the federal government for a subsidy and received $76,000.

He said at the time flood insurance was issued to interested home owners up to $17,000, which later rose to $85,000, but since then the amount has doubled. If the insurance is passed, he pointed out, it will mean that householders can continue obtaining coverage, and if it fails enactment, then continuation is impossible.

Mr. Slone said that the level of Lake St. Clair has dropped by two and one half feet since its crest, but there is still need for flood insurance. The flooding is not from backed up sewers, but from lake waters inundating streets and the homes.

He said a recent study was completed in The Park which included flood plain maps showing the area that would be inundated by a 100-year flood.

It also included flood insurance rate maps for the use of financial institutions and insurance agents in determining who must purchase the protection and for how much, depending on the area.

Mr. Slone said the final issuance of this study will mark a change in the community's status in the Federal Flood Insurance Program from the "emergency phase" to the "regular phase."

Additional amounts of insurance will be subject to actuarial risk rates rather than the federally subsidized rates which are presently available, the city manager pointed out.

He also noted that The Park will be required to adopt and enforce a "Flood Plain Ordinance" to regulate all new construction and substantial rehabilitation in the flood hazard areas designated by the report.

This study was funded by the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, (HUD), and covers the entire shoreline from the Detroit-Park city limit to the City-Park city limit.

The people most directly affected by the issuance of this study are those living in this area. They and other interested persons are invited to attend the public hearing to be held in the council court room in the Municipal Building, 15115 East Jefferson, at Maryland, where the study results will be presented for public inspection.

Representatives of HUD, the State Department of Natural Resources and the firm which conducted the study are expected to be present January 24 to explain and answer questions about the flood insurance program.

Candlestick styles changed over the centuries along with art and architectural design. In 1700, the most common silver candlestick was 6" to 7" tall. It had a polygonal or a square base which rose to a flat disc, the main stem, and the nozzle. A removable grose pan fit into the nozzle. These candlesticks were built from flat sheet silver which was soldered together; eventually candlesticks were produced from castings. After 1740 the rococo style came into vogue. "Rococo" derives from the French word for "shell." The base of candlesticks became curved and ornate, and the stem had leaves and shells on its design.

Appeal Issued By Post Office

The Detroit Post Office has issued an appeal for early Christmas mailing, and, at the same time, announced its plans to expand certain services during the holiday season for the convenience of the mailing public and to insure the expeditious processing and delivery of the traditional heavy volume of Yule mail.

Postmaster Joseph J. Loukotka urged citizens to mail their gift packages by Saturday, December 10, and their greeting cards by Friday, December 16. He said, for the best chance of delivery by Christmas to foreign countries, all items to those points should now be sent by air-mail.

The postmaster said window service hours will be expanded on the four Saturdays preceding Christmas.

Neighborhood stations will be open from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., and the Fort Shelby Station downtown from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Weekday hours will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., except at the Fort Shelby Station where hours will be from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., and at the General Post Office where hours will be from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m., Monday through Saturday until Christmas Eve.

12-Year-Old Takes Center Stage in Opera Theater

Young Grosse Pointe Shores resident, Geoffrey Morin, will take over center stage Saturday afternoon, December 17, at 2 p.m., at the Michigan Opera Theater's production of Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at the Music Hall Center.

Geoffrey, accomplished for his 12 years, will sing the lead role in the heartwarming story of the miraculous encounter between Amahl, a crippled shepherd boy and the Three Kings.

His family, the Rudolph Morin's of Lakeshore road, moved to the area two years ago from Greenwich, Conn. In that short time Geoffrey has proven himself an extraordinary young man in many endeavors, from his status as an honor student at University Liggett, School to his numerous singing performances, says the Michigan Opera Theater in a news release.

"According to Fred DeHaven, choir master of Christ Church, where Geoffrey sings in the Boy's Choir, the youth has been one of the quickest students he's ever worked with."

"Geoffrey has been one of our soloists and has really developed very quickly, practically from scratch, to one of our finest boy sopranos in just two year's time," Mr. DeHaven said.

In addition to singing at Christ Church, Geoffrey has toured with the Boy's Choir, sung with the Detroit Symphony and performed in the Meadowbrook Festival production of Mahler's Eighth Symphony. He has also appeared in numerous school plays, including a principal role in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Geoffrey's skills are not limited to the performing arts. He also is an accomplished athlete. He is a medalist with the Grosse Pointe Shores swim team, plays on the University Liggett soccer team and is an avid skier.

His talent and his enthusiasm to do many things well have lead to his singing the principal role in a professional opera presentation.

Appearing with Geoffrey in the Michigan Opera Theater's production will be Astrig Tutelian as the Mother, David Lemelin, (also a Pointer), Thomas Parker and Larry Albert as the Three Magi and Bill Davis as the Page.

"Amahl" is being directed by Opera Theater stage director Preston Terry, and conducted by Orchestra Detroit's Steven Glenn. The production also features a chorus of 11 and a chamber ensemble drawn from Orchestra Detroit. The new sets and lighting design have been created by theater technical director, David S. Johnson, and the new costumes are by Lorenzo Mascarenas.

Tickets for the Saturday and Sunday matinees are priced at $5.50, $4.50 and $3 and for the Sunday evening performances, (6:30 p.m.), at $7.50, $6.50 and $4.50. Three performances on Thursday, December 15, (11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.), and Friday, December 16, (11 a.m.), will be special school performances.

Tickets may be purchased at the Music Hall Box Office, 350 Madison avenue, from 12 noon to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday or by calling 963-7680 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, using a Master Charge, BankAmericard or Hudson charge card number.

Group arrangements for all performances can be made with Joan Heidt at 963-7622.

Meeting Slated For YSD Board

A meeting of the Youth Service Division's (YSD) board of managers, (including all Pointe city managers and a School Board representative), will be called sometime before February 15 to make plans for the division's 1978-79 fiscal year budget, reported Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen, YSD coordinator.

At that time, a request from The Shores, discussed at a specially called board of managers meeting this June, regarding the present method utilized to determine the allocation of each local government's present contractual share of the division's budget, is scheduled to be viewed.

At the summer session, Shores officials expressed a concern over the allocation method, currently based on SEV, (state equalized valuation), in relation to an overall feeling that the Village, because of its low case load, wasn't receiving the full benefits it was paying for.

As a result, Village President Gerald C. Schroeder, speaking in behalf of the council, said the criteria should be based on population, rather than SEV.

At the same time, he made it clear he wasn't talking about the quality of service the YSD provides, which he felt was fine.

SEMCOG Vote Awaits Action

The Farms Council is still considering the pros and cons of rejoining the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, (SEMCOG), although nothing has been formally discussed since the October 3 meeting.

At that session, Michael Glusac, representative for SEMCOG, gave each council member a packet of information about the organization for them to review. The council then dedicated to vote on the issue at a later meeting, but no date was set.

"The council must take the initiative to get the SEMCOG vote on the agenda," said City Clerk Richard G. Solak.

To date, no member of the council has taken that initiative.

Rings Removed In Woods B-E

Thieves entered a Huntington road home Thursday, November 24, to take a ring with two large and five small diamonds, valued at around $1,500, and an emerald ring, $600, among other articles, reported Woods police.

Besides the pieces of jewelry, a blue steel Colt .38, six-shot revolver, $200, around $160 in cash, two sepia landscape drawings and a silver point drawing of a woman also were removed.

Then, on Friday, November 25, Det. Charles Philip Hamel reported that the citizen discovered three additional articles missing.

These included a watch with attached band, a man's diamond ring and a man's ring with one genuine tourmaline, all of unknown value.

Entry was gained through an unlocked window at the rear of the home via a pry bar. The culprit or culprits then removed an inner screen.

None of the rooms were ransacked, with the house being left in a neat manner, police added.

Pointe Lion Cub Retires After 40 Years of Service

By Wendy K. Settle

For the past 40 years, Lions football fans have delighted over the humorous antics of the team's mascots, the Lion and the Lion Cub.

At every home game, the two furry felines have raced around the field on mini-bikes, cheered until they were hoarse and kept their smiles, even when Greg Landry gets sacked.

But as all good things, and careers, come to an end... so, Blanche Verhougstrate, of Fair court, will conclude her service as the Lions Cub after the last home game of the season.

Blanche first became the Cub in 1938 when she was 10-years-old. For 40 years she attended all but one home game. But, now, at 50,

It's the season of giving or of asking for gifts and a concern over the number of requests received and approved for door-to-door fund raising permits was expressed at a recent council meeting in The Woods.

Councilman George S. Freeman said he felt The Woods was allowing more than its share of permits, while Councilman John Sabol was worried about the safety of residents and those collecting.

Although officials in the other communities have no indication of a problem in this area, all the Pointes require permits for any soliciting of funds. The Shores, like The Woods, must have all requests approved by the council.

Specific ordinances in the other cities give guidelines for issuing permits. These must be approved by the city manager in The Farms, the police chief in The City and by both in The Park. There is a move in The Farms to amend the ordinance to allow review by the city council.

Churches or religious groups, however, are not generally required to receive approval because of a Supreme Court decision based on freedom of religion. This sometimes causes a problem with deciding what groups fall in this classification.

Public safety and police departments say they do receive many calls from citizens who want to check on the validity of someone who has approached them collecting money.

Anyone the police find does not have a permit is given a warning. This generally is sufficient and there have been almost no arrests in recent years for violations.

MEASLES THREAT

Immunization against rubella, (German measles), can spare the unborn baby severe, sometimes fatal birth defects, according to the National Foundation-March of Dimes. Five million women of childbearing age in the U.S. have no immunity to this infection.

No person is tall enough to be above neighborly criticism. One car will last a man a lifetime if he's careless enough.

City Police Reject Offer; Firemen's Case Nears End

By Susan McDonald

City police officers last week voted to reject an offer from the administration to settle the dispute over their 1977-78 contract. It was the second city offer to be rejected by the men in the last month.

Local union president Patrolman Dave Teolis said the case will be taken to arbitration by business agents from Teamsters Local 214, which City police joined in 1975.

City Manager Thomas Wressbach, however, said he wants to keep all doors open for further negotiations in hopes of avoiding the costly, time-consuming process of arbitration.

"Both sides must now go back and re-evaluate their positions," Mr. Wressbach said.

The rejection vote was taken at a meeting held Wednesday, November 30. Representatives from both sides met with a state mediator the week before in an effort to iron out their differences on the package.

"The problem with their offer is with fringe benefits," said Patrolman Teolis. "While all the surrounding communities are getting 25-75 dental plans and cost of living allowances, The City won't even give us a 50-50 dental for the first year." While city officials work to avoid arbitration with their police officers, it appears that City firefighters' year-old arbitration case may finally be close to resolution.

Unofficial copies of an award to settle the 1976-77 contract dispute with firemen were distributed to city and union representatives two weeks ago. The award is not yet official and has not been made public. Neither side would comment on the document.

In the firefighters' case, the arbitrator was asked to rule on the question of a city plan to consolidate police and fire forces into one public safety department.

While policemen in The City have agreed to take training necessary for the consolidation, firemen there have opposed any agreement on the merger.

The arbitration report is expected to settle the question of the city's right to insist firemen take police training.

Inkster attorney Mario Chiesa was appointed arbitrator for the firefighters' case in August 1976. Testimony was heard from December through May 1977 and final briefs were filed early in the summer.

A Michigan Employment Relations Commission official blamed the delay on the issuance of a final decision on the arbitrator's heavy case load.

In the meantime, The City's plan to consolidate its forces and save as much as $88,000 a year in personnel costs, has been at a standstill.

The City Council passed the ordinance to consolidate in October 1976.

3 High Rate of Return!

We offer a bonus for tax-savings-minded people — Our GIANT-EIGHT, a 3-year Savings Certificate that pays you an interest rate of 7.75% per year — and we'll compound your interest daily to give you an annual yield of 8.05% per year. Guaranteed.

4 Receive 1977 Tax Credit thru Feb. 14, 1978!

1. Low minimum deposit — You may open an I.R.A. account with as little as $1 and add to it in any amount at any time.
 2. New 3-Year Term — A new 3-year term is available on 7¾% I.R.A. accounts at D&N.
 3. A record of earnings — Each participant receives a statement annually which reflects all deposits and accrued earnings.

Set Pre-School Classes at ULS

Beginning next September, a pre-kindergarten morning session at University Loring School, (ULS), 1045 Cook road, will be open to three-year-olds as well as four-year-olds. The group will be under the direction of two teachers and will be limited to 25 youngsters.

The program will introduce young children to the school environment as well as provide them with important socialization. Specific learning skills also will be stressed.

By working in small groups and using a wide variety of materials, teachers hope to develop good listening skills, ability to follow directions and sound work habits.

Other readiness skills to which children will be introduced are recognition of shapes and patterns, working with crayons, pencils and scissors and lessons in art, music and science.

A wide range of physical activity will be offered at the pre-kindergarten level. A playground, gymnasium and classroom equipment will be available to provide children with a variety of opportunities.

Two kindergarten classes also will be offered next fall at ULS. Class size will be limited to 25 and each class will be under the direction of two teachers. The program will develop students who are self-confident, secure and ready to meet the challenge of gradually learning increasingly difficult and satisfying skills.

Specific readiness skills will be offered to the children to prepare them for the more challenging academic atmosphere which exists in first grade.

The program will include a pre-reading skills program better known as PRS. The children will work on five basic pre-reading skills that have a high correlation with reading success. Three of the skills are visual, two are sound skills.

Pointer Pedals Coast to Coast

Mark Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibson, of McKinley avenue, has biked a lonely 3,700 miles from San Francisco to Miami.

He left San Francisco on September 12, bound for Miami where his journey ended on Sunday, November 20.

The 29-year-old pedaler plans to stay in Miami and work as a marine biologist, a field in which he has his Masters degree.

Mark carried 50 pounds of gear on his 30-pound, 10-speed bike during the trek that took him through almost every state in the southern United States.

In the "Tampa Tribune," Mark noted several problems that he encountered on his journey. He said black bears got into his pack in Cal., he had three flat tires in one day in Texas while riding where debris littered the side of a busy road and he was caught in some downpours.

"I stayed in a hotel for three days because of rain," Mark said, "but other than that the bike has worked real well."

Mark also said the hills in Florida were bad but the hills he encountered while crossing the Grand Canyon in Arizona were "something else."

A South High graduate, he is an accomplished photographer and writer and plans to publish an account of his travels in a magazine.

"He's a terrific athlete," Mark's mother said. "I think he did it... maybe just to get the wanderlust out of his system."

Police Arrest 2 Drag Racers

Two Pointe teenagers, one 16-years-old, were arrested by Shores police on Saturday, December 3, at 12:08 a.m. and charged with drag racing. The arresting officer locked them in on the radar screen at 62 mph along Lakeshore road, a 35-mile zone.

Public Safety Officer Harry Hamilton said he was on routine patrol south on Lakeshore, where he observed two cars traveling north on the road at an extremely high rate of speed. He zeroed the mobile MR-9 radar unit on the approaching vehicles, clocked them at 62 mph and gave chase.

Arrested with the 16-year-old, who resides in the Woods was a 17-year-old Park youth, who was issued a violation ticket at the station for the offense. He posted bond of $50 until his court hearing which is scheduled for Wednesday, January 11. The 16-year-old also was issued a violation and is scheduled for a hearing in Wayne County Juvenile Court. He was released to his parents.

Officer Hamilton said that during the chase, he witnessed the 16-year-old brake sharply and make a "turn west onto Clairview. The Park boy also braked his car, went over the island at the intersection, behind the other driver.

At Clairview and Ballantyne, the public safety officer said, the older driver made a right turn west onto Wobber. The officer radioed for assistance and gave a description of the 16-year-old's auto, and continued his pursuit of the 16-year-old who was finally stopped at Fairford and Morningside.

For ULS, the opening victory was the 10th in a row for the girls. Last season the team was undefeated.

Meanwhile, the ULS junior varsity defeated Harper Woods, 26-13.

CYO League Draws Pointers

There are approximately 360 Pointe youths participating in the Catholic Youth Organization's, (CYO), 45th consecutive basketball campaign.

Students from Saint Paul's, Grosse Pointe Academy, Our Lady Star of the Sea and Saint Clair of Montefalco have organized teams for both boys and girls in fifth through eighth grade.

Divided into four leagues, the CYO program has over 10,000 cagers registered in the Detroit metropolitan area. The current line-up includes 150 teams in the grade school boys league, 121 in the grade school girls league, 113 in the sixth grade boys league and 53 in the sixth grade girls league.

"The growth in our basketball program is very sound," says CYO athletic director Ron Read. "The teams are enthused. They are well equipped and well coached."

CYO teams will play three weeks of league basketball before competition is suspended for the holidays. They will return to action Sunday, January 8, for seven more weeks of regular season play. Then all grade school boys teams that have played .500 or better will be eligible to take part in one-defeat-knockout tournaments to crown the league champions.

Driver's Court Date Changed?

An 18-year-old St. Clair Shores motorist who battled Shores and Farms police on October 7 had his court appearance rescheduled to Wednesday, December 21, after two postponements.

The delay was authorized by Shores Municipal Judge J. Patrick Denis, who also appointed an attorney to represent the driver.

The delay was granted to Joseph James Boitos, of 22824 Newberry, who twice appeared without legal representation. Boitos is accused of driving under the influence of liquor.

Shores PSO Gary Mitchell, who was the arresting officer, was assisted by Farms

Cpl. Otto Gianert, after Boitos was chased and stopped by the Shores officer on Lakeshore road.

PSO Mitchell, using the new moving radar, (MRD), which can be trained on any moving vehicle, clocked Boitos' speed at 55 mph. The road is zoned for 35 mph. During the chase, south on the road, the officer observed the motorist moving from lane to lane passing other traffic without attempting to slow down. When the officer activated his scout car flasher and siren, Boitos failed to slow his speed or stop.

As the chase neared Ponceville, Boitos finally came to a stop. PSO Mitchell approached the vehicle and ordered two passengers out of the car. The passengers complied, but Boitos jumped out of the vehicle with clenched fists, just as Cpl. Gianert arrived to assist.

The corporal grabbed Boitos and swung him around against the man's car and began to search him for possible weapons.

Boitos resisted and the two policemen fought to handcuff him. When they succeeded, Boitos was taken to The Shores station, with the passengers taken along with the aid of Shores PSOs Daniel Healy and Michael Kotas. The passengers were released without charge after identifying themselves.

At the station, Boitos became combative and wanted to fight all the officers present. His offer was ignored, but when the officers sought to remove the handcuffs, Boitos struggled to prevent them. Four policemen were required to hold him before the cuffs could be removed and he was placed in the local cell.

Boitos agreed to take a breathalyzer test and when Shores Cpl. Daniel Fronczak was called from his home at 1:30 a.m. to administer it, the accused man again became belligerent and offered to do battle with Officer Mitchell and the corporal, taking a swing at the latter, but missing.

Boitos' bond of $150 was continued until his December 21 court date. In the meantime, he remains in the Church Hosts Art Showing

The Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church, 211 Moross road, will be hosting an exhibition of prints by Japanese artist Sadao Watanabe. The showing will open Sunday, December 11, with a 3 p.m. reception and will continue through Sunday, December 18.

The work of the Tokyo printmaker features Christian subject matter, with the show including five Advent and Christmas pieces. Others touching on the life of Christ and the Saints.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Council on Ministries of the Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church under the leadership of Dwight McGraw and Virginia Downs, and the Worship Committee, under the leadership of Mrs. John Purcell.

The Rev. Perry Thomas arranged for the show while in California on a study leave from the congregation.

Mr. Watanabe is a master of the ancient craft of Katazome, "dyeing through pattern," or stencil printing. The technique originated centuries ago on the island of Okinawa and developed into a fine art of applying designs to silk used in kimonos.

He has been awarded many prizes and his works are in collections of art galleries in Japan and America.

All of the prints at the church's exhibition will be for sale.

Europe Study Tour Planned

The public schools will again sponsor a European study tour this summer for students in grades nine through 12.

The summer 1978 trip will include tours and study of cities in Spain, Italy, Austria, France and England. The tour will leave Detroit for Spain on July 4 and return from London on August 1.

Cost of the trip, including transportation, sightseeing trips, on-site lectures and meals, will be $1,495.

Trip coordinator is Sheila T. Joyce, assistant principal at South. Interested persons should contact Mrs. Joyce, Bob Bradley or Greg Hestner at South, 884-8300; Bill Taylor at Brownell Middle School, 883-8940; or Bob Welch at the central office, 885-3000.

Library Starts Book Reviews

Fourteen weekly book reviews will be given by members of the professional staff of the Grosse Pointe Public Library in the Central Library's Exhibition Room, 10 Kercheval avenue, on Thursday afternoons from 1 to 2:30 p.m. beginning December 15. There will be no admission charge and the public is invited.

The series will include current books, as well as author-oriented programs such as "An Afternoon with Agatha Christie," "Women Authors of the 1970's" and "Star Authors" — the works of actors who have turned to writing fiction. After this month's start, the series will resume January 5 and continue through March 30 on a weekly basis.

The December 15 program will feature Gerda Bleilitz in "Celebrating Christmas Around the World." Miss Bleilitz has presented book discussions at the Park Branch Library and for many local organizations.

Slide and music selections will be featured in her program on the history and symbols of Christmas.

All of the review programs are available to local organizations by request. To arrange a date, contact Miss Bleilitz at the Central Library, 884-2200, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

Our son Ed just graduated from college and now we're anxiously awaiting his formal entrance into the family business. Right now he's traveling around the country in a last fling before settling down—but he's also checking out some land development areas which Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. may represent. We received our first report from Ed last night and frankly, I'm very impressed with his report. Not that the development is so great but in the manner in which he reported it back to us! He used words like demographics, density, product mix, words we've never heard from him before . . .

But he did say, "Dad, you should see the Cul-de-sacs down here—they're everywhere! And they are beautiful . . ."

Well, anyway, now you'll be hearing it from another Brink—maybe between the two of us, we'll be able to be heard through all the newspaper releases and T.V. reports.

One thing Ed can't figure out—"If we're the only company who has a warranty, a designer on staff, contract renovation work at cost and has electronic multi-listing nationwide, why would any customer go to any other Real Estate Co.?" "Son," says Dad, "sometimes you can't give gold bricks away!" Let him mull that one over. In the meanwhile, why not call us at 882-0087 for information regarding selling or buying. You just might be impressed with what you find.

Auto Club Offers Advice On Winter Maintenance

Nearly two million Michigan motorists whose cars failed to start last winter could have avoided cold weather, balky engine problems by properly maintaining their vehicles and learning correct starting procedures, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Since more things can go wrong with autos in cold weather, it is important that motorists prepare themselves and their vehicles before temperatures drop to zero or below," stated Robert Smith, Auto Club's emergency road service manager.

Mr. Smith offered the following suggestions to help guarantee an easy-to-start car when temperatures plunge:

- Follow maintenance recommendations in the car owner's manual.
- Learn the proper technique for starting the engine.
- Learn to use jumper cables properly.

"Following the maintenance suggestions provided in the car owner's manual is the key to successful winter starting since it is difficult for the cold weather to stop a properly maintained vehicle," Mr. Smith said.

Improperly maintained vehicles are responsible for more than 80 percent of cold weather "no starts," he added. "Knowing the proper technique for starting an engine in frigid weather also is a necessity."

With the transmission in park, turn off electrical accessories so no extra strain is put on the battery. Push the gas pedal to the floor and let it up slowly to set the automatic choke. Then, engage the starter for 10 seconds. Should the engine fail to start, repeat the process.

If the engine becomes flooded, depress the gas pedal to the floor, hold it there and try again to start the engine. The accelerator should be kept down until the engine starts.

Mr. Smith said motorists can use jumper cables to boost batteries weakened by frigid weather but warned their improper use can result in explosions causing personal injury or damage to a car's electrical system.

Remove the caps from the weak battery and place a cloth over the openings. Then, connect one end of either of the two booster cables to the positive terminal of the booster battery and attach the other end of the same cable to the positive terminal of the weak battery.

Next, connect the second cable to the negative terminal of the booster battery and ground the other end to the disabled vehicle's engine block as far from the battery as possible.

When those steps are completed, attempt to start the disabled car. The engine on the car with the good battery should be kept running throughout this process.

To remove the battery cables, reverse the procedure outlined for connecting them.

"Motorists who follow these procedures should be able to keep their cars running all winter," Mr. Smith said.

Auto Club also suggests that motorists keep a winter survival kit in their cars in case they become stranded in a blizzard or severe cold weather.

The entire kit should cost between $55 and $60 and consists of jumper cables, tire chains, flares and reflectors, tools, sand, carpeting, shovel, ice scraper-brush, flashlight, insulated blanket, boots, first aid kit, food, newspapers and a coffee can furnace.

A coffee can furnace is made by placing a lighted candle in a can and is used for heat. Newspapers make great insulation when placed next to the skin under clothing. The carpeting is for extra traction under drive wheels.

Woods Changes Meeting Date

The Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, November 21, unanimously changed the date of the body's first session this month from Monday, December 5, to Monday, December 12.

A main reason for this switch is because four members of the council were in attendance at the Annual Congress of Cities which ran from Saturday through Wednesday, December 3 to 7, in San Francisco, Cal.

Those who participated in the congress included Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos, who was previously honored by being selected a member of the committee on human resources of the National League of Cities, and Councilmen George S. Freeman, John Sabol and George Cuetter.

Councilman E. D. Grady also was out of town on the 5th.

North Plans Blood Drive

The North High School Student Ass'n. will sponsor its first blood drive of the year, working with the Wayne County Chapter of the American Red Cross, on Friday, December 9.

If the students collect 125 pints of blood, every student, faculty member and their immediate families will be covered for blood if any emergency arises next year.

Any student 17 years of age or older may participate. It is one of a series of drives sponsored by the student association in recent years.

Staff members from the Red Cross set up tables and coats in classrooms vacated temporarily for this purpose and spend the day working with the students and adults who volunteer.

Our son Ed just graduated from college and now we're anxiously awaiting his formal entrance into the family business. Right now he's traveling around the country in a last fling before settling down—but he's also checking out some land development areas which Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. may represent. We received our first report from Ed last night and frankly, I'm very impressed with his report. Not that the development is so great but in the manner in which he reported it back to us! He used words like demographics, density, product mix, words we've never heard from him before . . .

But he did say, "Dad, you should see the Cul-de-sacs down here—they're everywhere! And they are beautiful . . ."

Well, anyway, now you'll be hearing it from another Brink—maybe between the two of us, we'll be able to be heard through all the newspaper releases and T.V. reports.

One thing Ed can't figure out—"If we're the only company who has a warranty, a designer on staff, contract renovation work at cost and has electronic multi-listing nationwide, why would any customer go to any other Real Estate Co.?" "Son," says Dad, "sometimes you can't give gold bricks away!" Let him mull that one over. In the meanwhile, why not call us at 882-0087 for information regarding selling or buying. You just might be impressed with what you find.

DON'T UNDERESTIMATE BUYER

In the arena of real estate transactions — there are two parties to every transaction — a buyer and seller. Some sellers have the mistaken impression that they are at a financial advantage when negotiating directly with a prospective buyer. Unfortunately, they couldn't be more mistaken!

Never underestimate the hard financial bargaining ability of the average buyer. Spend one day in the field with any Realtor, negotiating and handling offers and counter-offers and you'll appreciate what I'm saying. Frankly, if the typical buyer knows you are not selling through a Realtor, right off the bat he'll expect you to deduct the commission for his benefit before you even START serious negotiations.

Then you're on your own, possibly at a great disadvantage. In the intricate areas of financing, negotiating, and protecting yourself from all sorts of do-it-yourself pitfalls. You've got a lot invested in your home. It makes sense to list it with a Realtor. He'll sell it for you — without hitches, for the best price and in the shortest amount of time.

Contradictory Publicity

When we first started to read copy on the story concerning cul-de-sacs in The Pointe, when it came to our desk for editing, we thought:—"Not more free publicity for the pipe-dream of this realtor who has been trying to promote the product of his imagination!" We have long been fed up with all the exposure given this proposal without any tangible evidence that such a plan would accomplish anything.

As we continued to read the story, which appears on Page One of this issue, we realized that its author, staff writer Wendy Settle, was doing a very creditable job of working through the maze of pros and cons, claims and criticism that have been aired since this proposal was first made.

We heartily recommend giving the story a good reading. It should help you find your way out of the mental cul-de-sac that could well have been created by the volume of contradictory publicity on the subject.

One View from the Capitol

By William R. Bryant Jr.

We are now in the season of the year, including Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years, when we give special thanks for what we have, celebrate the birth and meaning of Jesus and renew our dedication to do what we can to make the future brighter.

Struggles of life, crises of greater or smaller measure touch us all. Regardless of wealth, problems of health, marital problems, mental illness, aging, child rearing, career challenges and frustrations and other problems affect us directly or affect those close to us. Crises pass more easily when people around us care and show their caring. The lives of all of us are made richer and easier when we act as the small community we are and the close community we want to be.

We are fortunate to live in the Pointes which are governed by councils of our neighbors who care, run by competent professionals who care and served by police and fire professionals who stand ready to put our safety above theirs and to make sacrifices to be there when they are needed.

Perhaps I cannot make that next and so large government level, state government, respond as personally as do our local units. Size has that effect. But it is my desire, in representing you, to try to give personal service.

Many times I hear of problems people have had about which I might have been able to help, but no one asked. Whether it involves social services, mental health, special education, a state college or university or whatever to do with state government, you should not be shy about calling or writing me.

We are a community. Part of being a community is in knowing and using the help that is available to us within that community.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats, Superintendent of Schools

The fourth of our Board-approved goals for the 1977-78 school year is to "improve efforts to individualize and personalize relationships with students." This goal is very important and we are urging staff members to exert effort in a number of directions in order to realize it.

We are endeavoring to continue our efforts to improve instruction by individualizing the process as much as possible in all subjects and at all levels.

Several columns ago I commented upon our efforts along these lines in connection with the new elementary reading series which is being used throughout the district this year.

Among the other many such opportunities available to elementary pupils are the Skills/Talent program, the SCIS, (Science Curriculum Improvement Study), program, and SIMPLE, (Systematic Instruction in Mathematics, a Plan for Learning and Evaluation), which enables upper grade pupils to have their math program based on their deficiencies.

Another is ASSIST, (Advancement in Spelling Skill through Individualized Study and Teaching), which levels spelling lists on cassettes with which pupils may pace themselves.

The middle and high school curricula include an impressive number of activities designed to better meet students' individual needs. Among them are independent study programs, courses of study to meet various ability levels of students, a broad range of elective courses and an expanding career awareness program.

Readers are all well-aware that many of the more informal contacts which staff members have with students, (such as music, student government, athletics, drama, clubs and other extra-curricular activities), provide other avenues for assisting students to acquire increased self-discipline, to set personal goals, to develop individual value systems, to improve attendance patterns and to develop greater self-confidence.

In addition to providing for individualization and personal attention during instructional and extra-curricular activities, efforts to maintain and improve counseling services are expected to pay dividends in student-staff relationship.

In earlier column I reported that middle school counselors are continuing to identify problem learners and to work with teachers to plan various strategies for improving learning among them.

Other objectives in counseling at the high school level are to continue to develop and to implement instructional plans for low and under-achievers in English and mathematics and to develop a plan to implement academic guidance as it relates to career interests.

Last but far from least efforts in 1977-78 to assist teachers in understanding more completely and interpreting the test data and evaluation systems.

The main purpose of tests is to provide the information necessary to enable teachers to individualize and personalize the teaching-learning process. Better informed staff members cannot but help to achieve improved relationships with students.

Next week I will comment on plans to implement our fifth goal: To involve people affected by decisions in the decision-making process.

Slate Student Ballet Program

The War Memorial's student Corps de Ballet will present its annual Christmas program tomorrow, December 9, in the Center's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore road, under the direction of Mary Ellen Cooper.

Performing during the evening will be intermediate and senior students studying at the Center. The show begins at 8 p.m.

Three ballets will be danced. "Joplin Rhythms" danced to the toe tapping music of Scott Joplin was choreographed by Miss Cooper for the Flint Ballet and performed there for the first time last October.

Appearing in this number will be Karla Finger, Wendy Heavner, Jennifer Hueftle, Ann Kornmeier, Margaret Kryszinski, Mindy MacFarlane, Jennifer Payne, Margaret Pandy, Kim Roemer, Susan Sobson, Ann Tocco, Lisa Ward and Alison Zink.

The second ballet is designed to please the very young in the audience. It is a number portraying some of the favorite characters in Mother Goose.

The finale, "Nights in a Garden of Spain" with music by Manuel De Falla, will be danced by Miss Cooper's most advanced ballerinas.

This classical ballet incorporating Spanish dance movements will feature Janet Bristol, Cynthia Ehrlich, Kristin Finger, Julie Helm, Marie Leithauser, Anna Platt, Gretchen Reger, Martha Wenz, Ann Wilson and Melanie Yanhuck.

Tickets for the Christmas ballet program are on sale in the Center's office. Admission is $1.75 for adults, and $1 for children 12 and under.

Santa to Visit War Memorial

The War Memorial's Youth Council has invited Santa Claus, Christmas Carol and Santa's helpers to pay pre-Christmas visits to the Center's Crystal Ballroom on Saturday, December 10, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Santa will greet the children by the huge Christmas tree and his helpers will give them token gifts of candy canes.

After they have talked to Santa, and then served cocoa and cookies by the Center's Youth Council, the children will be ushered into Fries Auditorium where they will see Grosse Pointe Children's Theater production of "The Littlest Angel" under the direction of Mrs. Sally Reynolds.

All this is entirely complimentary. Free tickets must be picked up in advance at the Center's office, 32 Lakeshore road.

Nutrition Site Seniors Celebrate Anniversary

It was an exciting day for 150 seniors of the community when on Tuesday, November 19, the Out-Wayne County Nutrition Site housed in the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack avenue, celebrated its first anniversary.

Chairman of the party, Eleanor Dupuis, of The Farms, arranged for fresh flowers and decorative table settings while music was provided by Pete Cracchiala and Danny Vinci.

Because the nickname for the nutrition site is the OWLS, Garnette Zorn baked five sheet cakes iced in, "Happy Anniversary OWLS." Mrs. Zorn taught the OWLS Club a cake decorating class last May.

Honored guests of the OWLS celebration was Gerard McNamera, Woods Administrative aide, who was instrumental in getting a Wayne County Nutritional site in Grosse Pointe, and Diane Heavner, site co-director.

Other guests included Erv Steiner, Wayne County commissioner, and Diane Aspy and Lourine Baratta, who represented RSVP, (Retired Persons Volunteer Program).

One year ago, the nutritional site opened up at the American Legion Post in The Woods.

"When we first opened we just served a hot meal every noon to senior citizens. We didn't have programs, classes and speakers because we were busy just learning how to set up a center for seniors," remarked Mrs. Heavner.

Today, the program has grown into much more. There are after lunch programs consisting of speakers, musicians, entertainment, demonstrations and health and legal advice.

"We couldn't have done it without the wonderful community support," said Mary Ale, co-director. "Besides the generous use of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church facilities, other Grosse Pointe ministerial churches have provided financial help."

Ladies from Lady Star of the Sea Parish deliver daily packaged meals for seniors in our community who are homebound.

Meanwhile, volunteers from Grosse Pointe Memorial Church provide transportation to and from the center for seniors without transportation.

The Grosse Pointe Merchants Ass'n. and Kiwanis Club help to fund the OWLS phone reassurance program housed in Christ Episcopal Church.

Sweeney Florist also supplies the center with two plants each month to use for bingo prizes, while Mack avenue food markets donate coffee which is not supplied by Wayne County.

Cottage Hospital has donated blood pressure gauges and expertise, and nurses take blood pressure once a month at the center.

Helen Leonard, a librarian from the Grosse Pointe Public Library, comes twice a month to show films and dispense books. Mrs. Leonard's Library of Science degree from Wayne State University contains a minor in Gerontology. She delivers books to shut-in seniors and arranges for talking books for the blind.

Even the boy scouts joined in to help the senior citizens. Eagle Scout Bob Prince, of Fleetwood drive, presented the seniors with a beautiful book case-magazine rack he built, while Jim Lawlis, of Aline drive, and his boy scout troop raked the leaves of shut-in seniors.

Film Views New Zealand

"Spectacular New Zealand" a 90-minute color movie showing one of the most scenically beautiful countries of the world, will be presented Sunday, December 11, in the Detroit Institute of Arts at 2:30 p.m.

In the movie, award-winning photographer Kenneth Richter covers New Zealand's alpine mountains, Norwegian-like fjords, smoking volcanoes, sweeping beaches, sub-tropical forests and mud pots and spouting geysers like those in Yellowstone.

He also includes tours of the major cities of Wellington, Auckland, Scottish Dunedin, Christchurch and Queenstown.

Mr. Richter visits a Maori family, films the strange, wingless Kiwi bird and flies in a ski-plane to glaciers high in the Mt. Cook range.

Three Charities Will Share Gala Evening's Proceeds; "Something for Everyone" Is This Year's Theme

Plans for the 1978 Detroit Auto Show Charity Preview Night, set for January 13 at Cobo Hall, have been announced by chairman James Riehl. The show sponsors, Detroit Auto Dealers Association, have selected three metropolitan area charities dealing with children to participate in the benefit this year.

They are Boys' Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit, the Easter Seal Society, (crippled children), Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties, and the Northeast Guidance Center, (emotionally disturbed children).

The Boys' Clubs were formed in 1926 to provide extra-curricular activities, including cultural, educational and physical programs, for young people. Currently, there are nine operating units throughout metropolitan Detroit, with a membership of approximately 9,000.

The Easter Seal Society originated 54 years ago. It serves physically handicapped children and adults.

The organization provides legislative representation on behalf of the handicapped in such matters as housing, employment and transportation, as well as therapeutic services.

The Northeast Guidance Center is a professionally-staffed, major, comprehensive mental health center serving northeast Detroit, Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods. It provides counseling and treatment services for children, teens and adults.

The Detroit Auto Show Charity Preview Night is traditional: a $12.50 per person, black-tie benefit held the night before the grand opening of the show.

All proceeds go to the three charities. It is considered to be a very successful program for all involved, Riehl notes.

In addition to assisting local charities, those attending the charity preview have an opportunity to view the Detroit Auto Show and meet distinguished automotive industry leaders at the "social event of the year" in Detroit.

The 1978 Detroit Auto Show will be one of the largest in Detroit Auto Show history. Visitors will be able to see more than 250 new domestic and import cars and trucks under one roof.

Charity Preview Night has been a popular attraction since 1968. Co-sponsors of the '78 preview again are the presidents of General Motors, Ford Motor, Chrysler Corporation and American Motors.

For the second consecutive year, Governor William Milliken and his wife will act as honorary sponsors. (Continued on Page 28)

The Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Committee will revive the holiday tea dance Sunday, December 18, and Mrs. Lyndle R. Martin, committee president, is hoping it will become an annual Christmas season event.

Committee members and their guests will gather at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club from 5 until 8 o'clock.

Dancing will be to the music of Art Quatro. There will be a cash bar and complimentary hors d'oeuvres.

Honorary party chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Jay, of Lincoln road. General chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. William O. Bradley, Jr.

The Bradleys are being assisted by Dr. and Mrs. Michael Bucciero, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Duffy, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James DuRoss, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Flintermann and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miles.

Would you like to join the festivities? Call Mrs. Bradley, 886-0079, for further information.

A Christmas Gift of Music

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra Brass Quartet will present a short performance and demonstration of instruments next Tuesday evening, at St. Peter's Home for Boys.

The mini-concert is a "first" for St. Peter's and, the orchestra believes, also a "first" for the quartet.

Hutzel Issues Volunteer Call

Hutzel Hospital has been serving the people of metropolitan Detroit for well over 100 years. One of the secrets of its success has always been the dedication of its volunteer workers and members of the Hutzel Auxiliary.

An expanding program, however, calls for more volunteers in every area of the hospital.

For anyone who has a few hours a day, or a day or two a week to devote to volunteer work, Hutzel offers a wide variety of choices.

There is need for individuals to work in the visitors' lounge, the coffee and gift shops, the patient relations department, medical library and chaplain's office.

Other assignments include feeding newborn babies, taking the book cart to patient areas and conducting bingo, chess and checker games for ambulatory patients in a recreational therapy lounge.

Volunteer work is self-satisfying. It adds a new dimension to a person's life. It is a means of helping Hutzel give patients the best possible care. Further information may be obtained by calling 494-7013.

Miss Speer Bride of Nelson Taylor

The Very Reverend P. Douglas Keller, S.J., Officiates at His Cousin's Marriage in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore

An ivory double-faced satin gown, styled with a wedding band collar, self-fabric cummerbund and demi-bell skirt, was selected by Susan Marie Speer for her mid-October wedding to Nelson Michael Taylor.

Three-dimensional Venise lace appliques accented her bodice and formed trellises on her gently-gathered skirt and chapel train.

Her double-tiered veil fell from a banded headpiece trimmed with matching lace. The bride is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. William at home in Grosse Pointe Park.

The bride was attended by her sister, Margaret M. Speer, as maid of honor, and by bridesmaids Mary Englbrecht and Mary Taylor, the bridegroom's sister, who wore Empire frocks of crepe-back satin styled with high, cuffed collars and bishop sleeves.

Best man was James Blazer, of Marinette, Wis. Ushering were William E. Speer, Jr., Robert V. and Thomas G. Speer, brothers of the bride, and Charles Russell.

The mother of the bride wore champagne lace. The bridegroom's mother selected rust crepe. Mrs. John M. Van Loon, the bride's grandmother, wore a green and rust print.

Mrs. Caroline Denton's Oxford road home was the setting Sunday, November 20, for the wedding of her daughter, Caroline Hayes Denton, and Thomas David Crowley.

The bride, who is also the daughter of Leet E. Denton, of the Shore Club, wore a Ukrainian design gown and carried dried flowers.

She was attended by her sister, Dana Denton, at the 2:30 o'clock rites which were followed by an at-home reception.

Steven Hudson came from Philadelphia to serve as best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Morris Crowley, of Manwa Terrace, N.J.

The newlyweds vacationed in Toronto. They will make their home in Erie, Pa.

Christmas LINC's All Young People

Operation LINC, (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community), puts on its holiday hat at Christmas time to "LINC up" Grosse Pointe school children, such as Ferry students BILL MILLER, PATRICK DETINE, COLLEEN RONEY and RE-

NEE GILLERAN, (left to right, above), with needy children in Detroit. It's fitting, for Christmas is a holiday that links all children, all over the world, in a spirit of joy that best expresses itself in giving.

So... again this year, LINC is calling on the students of Grosse Pointe to share their Christmas joy with children in foster care homes. Over 1,000 children, ranging in age from one to 18 years, live in foster care homes in Wayne County.

For some, the gifts the Grosse Pointe children give will be the only ones they, (the foster care children), receive.

The young Pointers meet their objective in several ways. Some, working as individuals, at home, earn money to buy a present by shoveling snow, taking out the rubbish, et al.

Some classes take to bring gifts for foster care children in lieu of an in-classroom gift exchange. Some use the program as a class project for the Christmas season.

Parents also participate, going with their children to pick out the gifts and helping them understand their purpose in the mission. Each Pointe child selects a present for one foster care child with his own age and interests in mind.

The Foster Care Christmas Program began four years ago, when LINC received a request from the Department of Social Services, Foster Care Unit. Everyone in the Grosse Pointe School System, administrators to principals, teachers to—especially—the children has opened his/her hearts and purses each year since to help these needy children.

Last year, approximately 1,500 presents were given by Grosse Pointe students of all ages.

Mrs. M. Jackson Morris, Jr., is in charge of the project this year. Pickup date at the Pointe schools is next Wednesday, December 14.

Serving on Mrs. Morris' committee are Mrs. J. Peter Smith, Mrs. Frederick E. Metry, Mrs. Frank Henderson, Mrs. Douglas Blatt and Mrs. Kenneth N. Alexander.

AAUW Slates Christmas Tea

A Christmas tea will be the format for the Grosse Pointe Branch American Association of University Women's general meeting this month.

No reservations are necessary for the program, which begins at 1 o'clock next Thursday, December 15, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, and will feature a Christmas reading by Alice Shepard, group singing and a dissertation by Mary Lou Borech on the background of the Christmas carol.

Gladys Gies is in charge of the Christmas decor. Baby sitting is available by contacting Sandy Tenkel, 886-8832.

Josiah Harmer DAR Meets December 10

British Museum Loans Watercolors by Turner

An important selection of 73 Turner watercolors from the British Museum makes a rare American appearance at the Detroit Institute of Arts Thursday, December 15, through Sunday, February 19.

Concentrating panoramic subjects in a few inches of space, these are intimate, rapid studies: impressions of scenery and architecture, of country house scenes observed by Joseph William Mallord Turner, (1775-1851), on sketching tours in the British Isles and on the continent.

The works were selected by Andrew Wilton, curator of prints and drawings at the Yale Center for British Art. Wilton was formerly assistant keeper of prints and drawings at the British Museum, the institution to which Turner bequeathed thousands of watercolors and more than 250 sketchbooks.

Wilton's choices span the whole of Turner's career and his revolutionary achievements in bold, inventive handling of the watercolor medium.

Although Turner is best known for dramatic oil paintings of marine subjects, historical scenes and landscapes, his earliest exhibited works were watercolors. According to Wilton, the two mediums were "interlinked in his mind, and his experience of each played a vital part in the practice of the other."

The exhibition does not include the watercolors Tur-

Genealogical Research Society Meets Dec. 10

The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research has scheduled an open-to-the-public meeting for this Saturday, December 10, at 2 o'clock in the Explorer's Room of the Main Branch Detroit Public Library.

ner offered for public exhibition and sale, but those the artist intended for his private use.

In the catalog, Wilton relates comments on the watercolors to the large exhibition oils and watercolors with which Turner established his reputation, providing at the same time a general survey of his life and work.

The watercolors are presented chronologically, beginning with meticulous youthful drawings done when Turner was employed as a topographical draftsman recording country homes, churches and ruins throughout England and Wales.

Watercolors executed after 1798, when Turner also had begun to paint in oil, define shapes by color washes and finely controlled hatching rather than pencil outlines.

Turner might further manipulate the paint by blotting, scratching or smearing it with his fingers.

his fascination with the awesomeness of nature, theme of many of his grandest paintings.

A luminous study of Venice and two views of Roman landscape, dating from his first visit to Italy in 1819, show him responding with new interest to light and color.

He continues to experiment with brilliant color and lighting effects in a series of impressionistic sketches, done around 1828, of the rooms and grounds of Petworth, the country home of his friend and patron, the Earl of Egremont.

The blaze which destroyed the old Houses of Parliament in 1834 provided Turner with a most dramatic combination of color and light effects. Two on-the-spot studies are highlights of the show.

Turner Watercolors from the British Museum was organized by the International Exhibitions Foundation, Washington, D.C. It is the first exhibition of Turner watercolors to be lent by the British Museum to United States museum a decade.

It has been seen in Cleveland and, following Detroit, will go only to the Philadelphia Museum of Art, March 1 through April 30.

The exhibition is supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Support also has been received from the Federal Council on the Arts and Humanities through the Arts and Antiquities Indemnity Act of 1975.

A fully-illustrated catalog, with 17 plates in color, is available at the Museum Shop for $7.50. It was supported in part by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and a grant from the British Council.

Museum visitors may see Turner Watercolors from the British Museum from 9:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Lucia Pageant at Immanuel

The traditional Lucia Festival will be observed at 5:30 o'clock this Sunday, December 11, in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Chandler Park drive at Dickerson, Detroit.

Janet Johnson is chairman of the program, assisted by Pointer Mrs. Carl Ohman who will coordinate the selection of the Lucia Queen with the assistance of Pastor Constantine Trued, of Perrien place, who also will select the Lady of the Year.

Pointer Stephanie Logan, along with Elizabeth Sauter, of Harper Woods, Karen and Gail Gillespie, of Sterling Heights, and Princess Weems, Donna Lanier, Linda LaVerge and Linda Williams, all of Detroit, will serve as members of Lucia's Court. Star girls are Sara Peterson and Lori Cinder.

The first Lucia, a maiden of the Roman Empire for whom the day is named, lived in the city of Syracuse on the island of Sicily.

As the day approached that should have been her wedding day, she gave her dowry to poor Christians.

Her defiant fiancé informed officials that Lucia was a Christian, and the Emperor Diocletian condemned her to be burned at the stake—but though the fire was all about her, Lucia remained unharmed until finally her heart was pierced by a sword.

The people of Sweden chose to make her their heroine and, through the years, have sung her praise and honored her day.

"Lucia" and her court members are dressed in long white robes. A red or gold sash is tied around their waists, and each member of Karen Bendure, of Harper Woods, will demonstrate pretzel ornaments. Kathy Gorlik will make bread dough Christmas ornaments and the Luther Leaguers, the youth of the church, will do popcorn and cranberry stringing.

Set Medieval Music at DIA

English Christmas music of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance will be performed by the Ensemble for Early Music at 3 o'clock this Sunday, December 11, at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The concert in the museum's Recital/Lecture Hall is open to the public. Advance tickets are $5, students with ID $2.50 at the Art Institute ticket office, 832-2730.

Titled "Christemasse in Anglia," the program will include English carols from the 13th through 16th centuries, compositions by John Dunstable and Henry VIII and early 17th century Scottish Christmas airs.

Formed in 1974 after the disbanding of the New York

Pro. Musica, the Ensemble for Early Music continues the tradition of performing pre-classical music on period instruments: portative organ, hurdy-gurdy, rebec, vielle, recorder, lute and sackbut.

The Ensemble for Early Music received critical acclaim for its Detroit performance in November, 1976, of the 14th century musical play, "Le Roman de Fauvel."

Part of the Art Institute's Early Music Series, the concert is presented by the Detroit Institute of Arts' Performing Arts Department, which also sponsors Brunch with Bach, Detroit Youth Theatre, Detroit Film Theatre, Jazz at the Institute and the annual Wassail Feast.

The Michael Vianes

In Saint Joan of Arc Church Friday evening, September 23, DENISE MARIE OZARK, daughter of the Leon J. Ozarks, of Hampton road, was married to Mr. Viane, son of Gerard Viane, of Detroit.

Bride Fashions Her Own Gown, Those of Her Attendants and That of Her Mother; Pair Are at Home in Harper Woods

Denise Marie Ozark fashioned the Victorian-style gown in which she spoke her wedding vows Friday evening, September 23, in Saint Joan of Arc Church to Michael Reme Viane.

She used an antique reproduction material, simulating handloomed cotton. The dress featured long sleeves, edged in heavy cotton crocheted lace.

More lace trimmed the high neck and scooped, sheer bodice, with its seed pearl beadwork and heavy cotton appliques designed by the bride's mother. The skirt and train were edged with a ruffle and trimmed with still more lace.

The former Miss Ozark also made her veil, fingertip length and edged in crocheted lace, falling from a Camelot headpiece of crocheted lace and seed pearls.

She clasped the antique lavaliers worn by her mother and grandmother on their wedding days around her neck, and carried a white wicker basket filled with silk roses and baby's-breath, with accents of dried, pale blue forget-me-nots.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Ozark, of Hampton road, who entertained at a reception at Lakeland Manor in St. Clair Shores following the 7 o'clock rites at which Father Daniel Bogas presided.

The bridegroom is the son of Gerard Viane, of Detroit.

Honor maid was Julie Patterson. Bridesmaids were Christine and Marsha Ozark, sisters of the bride, Mrs. John Ozark, their sister-in-law, Lucy Ozark, the bride's cousin, and Nicole Viane, the bridegroom's sister. Flower girl was Suzy Roggenbach, the bride's goddaughter.

The bride also fashioned hair. She pinned an arrangement of natural silk flowers to her beaded, antique purse.

As a special surprise for the bride and bridegroom, the bride's sister, Marsha, played the organ, serenading the bridal pair with "Morning Has Broken."

The newlyweds vacationed in northern Michigan and are at home in Harper Woods.

A Toast to King Melchior

For three years, David Lemelin has been cantor at Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore, where he has gathered a large and enthusiastic following.

But he doesn't just sing hymns. Mr. Lemelin, baritone, has appeared with the opera companies of Dayton, Cleveland, Toledo and Chicago, in each case under the direction of Lester Freedman.

He's sung Danilo in "The Merry Widow." He's sung "Rigoletto." He's appeared in "The Bohemian Girl," "The Barber of Seville," "The Vagabond King" and "Carmen."

He has been soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra a number of times, as well as with the Toledo Symphony and the Grosse Pointe Symphony.

He has sung in the concert version of "Samson and Delilah" with the DSO. He has sung on WJR and WWJ radio stations. He has done some nightclub work, including specially written industrial shows and appearances in Detroit's Latin Quarter.

Now he's singing Melchior in Michigan Opera Theatre's 1977 Christmas production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors," and Anne and Red Browning are inviting the 150 Pointers who have bought a block of seats for a Sunday performance to "toast the king" at a post-performance champagne dinner at their Lakeland avenue home.

School and group performances of MOT's "Amahl" are scheduled for Thursday, December 15, at 11 and 1:30 o'clock, and Friday, December 16, at 11 o'clock.

Open-to-the-public performances at the Music Hall are scheduled for Saturday, December 17, at 2 o'clock, and Sunday, December 18, at 2 and 6:30 o'clock.

A bit more background on Mr. Lemelin: he received his education at Wayne State University and studied voice for 10 years with Anthony Marlowe at the Detroit Institute of Musical Arts. He's a mar-

RETIRING PRINCIPAL OF MONTEITH SCHOOL JOHN HAMMEL

By Susan McDonald

There must be literally thousands of former students out there who, when they think back to elementary school days in Grosse Pointe, picture John Hammel, towering at 6'4" inside the door, arms crossed over his chest, grin on his face, greeting them every morning as they scrambled into class.

It's a long-held habit of his: letting the kids know he's there, he's concerned and he's boss. Chances are at any given school, any given year, he knew most of the students' names and their parents and just how they were doing on that math.

That's part of what makes John Hammel so special to the hundreds of parents and former students he's served in more than 37 years in The Pointe, at Poupard School, the old Vernier School, Mason, Richard, Maire and, for the last 11 years at Monteith.

To Say Sad Farewell And it's just part of what they'll all be saying a sad goodbye to this Sunday, December 11, at Monteith School, from 1 to 4 o'clock, at a farewell open house in his honor.

Parents may be saddened by his choice to retire at the end of this month, but John is sure it's "right." His brother, you see, finally got to him.

Dr. Joseph Hammel, John's identical twin, took the leap a year ago and retired from his position as chief of medical services for Bay Pines Hospital in St. Petersburg, Fla.

That set John to thinking about all the things he likes to do and never has the time for. Painting, for example, is one of his most satisfying hobbies. "It's such a thrill to be able to accomplish something that I've admired so much in other people."

But, after years of hard work teaching himself the art, he hasn't been able to really sit down and work on a painting for the last two years.

Tapes Oral History Or his history projects, as another example. For years he's been catching Pointers as they retire and interviewing them on tape for an oral history collection. Now he wants to work with the Central Library to expand their program, if he can find the time and he's just the person to do it.

He majored in science in college, but when it comes to reading, history is his love — mixed in with a little science, and adventure, if possible.

Diaries are his favorite. Another pet hobby over the years has been his own family diaries, in which he keeps complete notes of the family's activity for an entire year. There's one for 1959, 1963, 1969 and 1976, for the Bicentennial, of course.

Keeps Them Mundane "I make the diaries as mundane as I possibly can, because that's what I enjoy reading in history. They give a personal experience. I think my kids and their kids will enjoy reading them in future years."

So, the more John thought about his brother taking it easy in Florida, the better retirement sounded to him, too.

"The time just feels right for retirement," he explains with a shrug. "I feel happy about it." He plans to stay right here when the job is over. "I can't really think of any other place I'd like to live. Grosse Pointe has everything I need."

He came here with no stops (except for a stint in the Air Force during WWII), from his native Buffalo, N.Y. He and his brother Joseph entered the University of New York there on full scholarships — the first in the family to attend college.

That's when the two brothers parted ways, Joseph opting for medical school, John taking a tentative step into education.

Convinced by Teaching "I always had a feeling I wanted to teach," he explains, "but I wasn't sure until my first semester at student teaching. That convinced me that a career in education was what I wanted."

He was picked by Grosse Pointe in 1940 under its old, rigorous internship program, a process of competitive exams followed by a year of work at all kinds of assignments at half pay. But he was hooked, on Grosse Pointe as well as teaching.

"I find teaching to be a very creative process. It's exciting: how to achieve the development of understanding in students."

Once in Grosse Pointe he didn't last long in the teaching job. In 1951 he was named principal at Poupard and Vernier elementary schools. As much as he loved teaching, the job of principal was just "too fascinating" to pass up.

Can Help More "As principal you're in a position to do so many things for people. You watch the students year after year from kindergarten up to sixth grade, and you can help parents and teachers both understand what they need."

"You can play a great role in creating an environment to suit each student's needs."

After Poupard he was made principal of Maire Elementary school in 1962. In 1968 came the job at Monteith. There he was able to expand his experience in education even further into the field of special education when he took over as head of the Barnard Center, serving emotionally disturbed students from the Children's Home of Detroit.

THE TRUNK... is an ideal gift for COLLEGE STUDENTS. A trunk doesn't stop performing once it's been emptied. It continues to serve a welcome purpose after they have settled in the dorm. Here it's still an ideal storage area for unused items or it can be used as a handsome coffee table. See the selection priced from $34.50 to $125 at Harvey's Compleat Traveler, 345 Fisher Road.

NHS Dance Draws Crowd

More than 250 couples danced to the music of "Warrior" at the annual Christmas Dance sponsored by the bands and orchestra of North High School Saturday, December 3.

Held in the school cafeteria, the dance is an annual tradition and opens the Christmas season at the school.

For the event, girls invite the boys and arrange the evening.

Auto Show Preview

(Continued from Page 17) Grand opening ceremonies for the '78 show will be Saturday, January 14. It will run through Sunday, January 22.

Theme this year is "Something for Everyone," and Riehl predicts the spectacular displays will reflect this idea.

Cobo Hall's Exhibit Halls A, B and C will be filled with a complete lineup of the 1978 cars and trucks.

"Automobile manufacturers are constantly introducing new vehicles, and we believe that this year's theme accurately describes the wide selection available to the consumer," Riehl, president of Roseville Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., says.

"There are more new cars and trucks to be seen this year than ever before."

"Whether the consumer is looking for something luxurious, sporty, rugged, or for recreational purposes, I'm sure he will be able to find it in the 1978 line-up."

In keeping with the "Something for Everyone" theme, the '78 Auto Show committee promises more entertainment and excitement than ever before.

The committee is composed of the following new car dealers in the metropolitan Detroit area: Leo Calhoun, (Ford); Joe Dwyer, (Imported Cars); Naiff Kelel, (American Motors); and C. M. "Bud" Shelton, (General Motors). The 1978 Detroit Auto Show is the 62nd sponsored by the Detroit Auto Dealers Association. Current DADA president is William Snethkamp. The show has been a popular Detroit attraction since 1908.

A Time to Consider Human Rights

The United States National Commission for UNESCO, (the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization), is holding its 41st annual meeting in Detroit and, as part of that meeting, will sponsor an International Human Rights Symposium tomorrow, Friday, December 9.

According to Sarah Goddard Power, chairman of the National Commission, the purpose of the symposium is to explore the various issues involved in the United States Human Rights Policy, to examine its implications and to discuss the directions United States policy should take.

The program will consist of a series of panel discussions. "Our meeting will be particularly timely in light of the attention the Carter Administration has focused on international human rights," Mrs. Power notes.

Sarah Goddard Power, daughter of Mrs. Wendell C. Goddard, of Provençal road, is a regent of the University of Michigan, a director of the United Nations Association of the USA and a member-at-large on the National Commission on the Observance of International Women's Year.

In addition, she serves as director of the Associate Alumnae of Vassar College, on the advisory board of the First National Women's Bank and Trust Company, as a director of the East Side International Community Center in New York and as a director of the University Musical Society and the Detroit Community Music School.

She was a representative to the International Women's Year Conference in Mexico City in 1975. She was a United States delegate to the 19th general conference of UNESCO in Nairobi, Kenya, in 1976.

Stern with Symphony

Istomin and cellist Leonard Rose, performing as the Istomin-Stern-Rose Trio, at DSO's Beethoven Festival last month.

Typical of the international praise which has been showered upon Mr. Stern is this statement from the London Times: "He belongs to that great company of virtuosos around whose name legends have grown in the course of history."

Tickets for the Thursday and Saturday evening performances are available at $2, $5, $7, $8, $9, $4 and $8.50.

Admission to Sunday's Krege Family Concert is $5, $8 and $4.

Tickets are available at Ford Auditorium box office, Hudson's and Ward's ticket outlets and the Detroit Tonight desk at the Plaza Hotel in Renaissance Center.

Master Charge and VISA charge card customers may order tickets by telephone at 962-5524.

Isaac Stern, often referred to as "the world's busiest violinist," has a career which has brought him, in concert, recital and via the public media, to listeners on every continent.

He was born in Kriminez, Russia, and brought to San Francisco by his parents when he was less than a year old.

He began piano studies at six but switched to the violin after the practicing of a neighbor aroused his interest in the instrument.

After studying at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, Stern made his public debut in 1934 at the age of 15. Guest performances with leading orchestras soon followed.

By the time of his New York debut in 1937, he was already a highly regarded violinist.

His Carnegie Hall debut, in January, 1943, helped focus the attention which subsequently has brought him invitations to perform annually with every major orchestra and at every major festival throughout the world.

He has recorded virtually all the significant classical and major contemporary violin literature written, and has played the sound track for numerous films including "Fiddler on the Roof."

His solo television films include the Mozart Concertos No. 1, 3 and 5 with Alexander Schneider conducting.

Isaac Stern was recently awarded the first Albert Schweitzer Music Award for a life dedicated to music and devoted to humanity.

A native of Mexico City, Eduardo Mata studied for 13 years at the Mexico City Conservatory as a student of famed Mexican composer-conductor Carlos Chavez.

He assumed leadership of the Guadalupe Symphony at the age of 22, then propelled the Philharmonic of the National University of Mexico into one of the country's best orchestras.

He was recipient of the Elias Sourasky Prize in the Arts, highest award of its kind presented by the Mexican government.

A popular podium guest around the world, he has appeared with most of the major orchestras of the United States and Europe and, in 1976, made a triumphant tour of Japan.

ULS Hockey Stands at 2-2

By Mike Merlo The changes in the new University Liggett School, (ULS), hockey program are beginning to show.

In the opening game, Saturday, November 28, against South Lake, ULS was unable to muster up enough of a drive to beat South Lake and fell to their mercy, 4-3.

The game that followed on Sunday, November 27, against Pontiac Catholic was no contest. ULS won 4-0. Against Ecorse on Wednesday, November 30, the Knights finally started showing some of their actual potential by defeating the downriver team, 7-2.

The biggest test thus far was against Cranbrook on Saturday, December 3. The game proved once again that the team seems to be inexperienced. ULS led 1-0 going into the third period.

ULS Cagers Take Maumee

By Bill Fleischmann The University Liggett School, (ULS), Knights traveled to Ohio on Tuesday, November 29, to post their first win of the young basketball season, edging Maumee Valley, 67-64.

After a weak first quarter, the Knights came back to trail by a basket at the half. In the third quarter Maumee opened up an 18-point lead. With 3:54 to go in the quarter, Maumee's top scorer fouled out and the momentum swung back to ULS.

Slowing down the tempo of the game, the Knights chipped away at Maumee's lead with hot shooting from the field and the foul line.

With half a minute left in regulation time, Kevin Wohlfield tied the game 63-63 with a free throw, and the game went into overtime. Jack Roberts and Jim Catchings both scored in the extra period to ice the victory.

The Knights had three players in double figures - Catchings with 20 points, Dave George with 18 and Roberts with 15.

Against Lutheran North Friday, December 2, the Knights were on the short end of a 69-53 score. After an even first half, Lutheran North dominated their offensive boards and outscored ULS, 24-12. Dave George scored a game-high 22 points in the losing effort.

Woods Refuses Two Requests A request for a vendor's license to sell bread to commercial establishments and a bid to solicit house-to-house in the community were denied by the Woods Council at a recent regular meeting.

In viewing the former request, Councilman George S. Freeman said granting the license could open the doors toward having individuals going up and down Mack avenue selling their wares.

On the second request, the petitioner wanted to approach residential areas by distributing leaflets concerning his service of carpet/upholstery cleaning.

SMOKE SCREEN Arguments ensue when two people try to keep the other from finding out the truth.

Change DSYO Concert Dates

Changes in the previously announced 1977-78 concert schedule of the Detroit Symphony Youth Orchestra have been announced. In the wake of the Thanksgiving-weekend snowstorm which forced postponement of the DSYO concert of November 27.

The postponed concert will be presented at Ford Auditorium Saturday afternoon, December 17, at 2 o'clock.

DSYO conductor Philip Greenberg will be on the podium and the program will be as previously announced: the overture to Weber's "Der Freischutz," the Bizet Symphony in C major and Sibelius' "Finlandia."

Tickets dated November 27 will be accepted at the December 17 concert. A second schedule change is the postponement of the DSYO's January 22 concert to a date to be chosen later in the season.

The change will free up time in mid-season for the young musicians to read extra orchestral repertory during rehearsals and to participate in sectional workshops with professional orchestral musicians.

The DSYO concert of March 5 will take place as previously announced.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE South High School students Leonard Bartoszewicz, Amy Hartmann, Catherine Williams and Mary Marnell recently participated in a Senior High Leadership conference held in Ann Arbor.

Discussion topics included conflict management, communications and social service projects.
