Thursday, December 29

MICHIGAN GOV. William Milliken has ordered a 16-hour-a-day ban on tandem tankers carrying gasoline in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties. The governor acted under public and legislative pressure brought about by a tandem tanker accident on Tuesday, December 27, in Oak Park in which a pedestrian was killed. It was the fifth fatal tandem tanker accident this year in the tri-county area. The ban will keep the tankers off the streets from 6 a.m. until 10 p.m. each day.

PRESIDENT JIMMY Carter arrived in Warsaw, Poland, yesterday, beginning his six-nation foreign trip. Upon his arrival in the communist country, the President declared that Poland is America's "common partner against war and deprivation." To a backdrop of signs reading, "Long live lasting and victorious peace," and "A cordial welcome to American President Jimmy Carter," he and Polish Communist leader Edward Gierek exchanged warm and friendly words to start the President's two-day state visit. "I'm proud to begin this journey in Poland," the President said.

SOUTH KOREAN rice dealer Tongsun Park will return to the United States and testify in court about his alleged influence-buying operations in Congress. The announcement was made yesterday by U.S. and South Korean officials. Under the agreement, the Justice Department will drop its criminal bribery and influence-buying indictment against Mr. Park once he testifies truthfully in court. He will then be allowed to return to South Korea and will be immune from further U.S. prosecution.

Sunday, January 1

PRESIDENT JIMMY Carter announced on New Year's Eve that he will meet in Egypt Wednesday with President Anwar Sadat to try and persuade moderate Arab nations to join the thrust for peace in 1978. It has been rumored that the President would meet with Mr. Sadat since the beginning of his nine-day foreign trip. The meeting will take place at Aswan on the Nile River. Mr. Carter said he would meet with Mr. Sadat in an attempt to placate his anger over Mr. Carter's opposition to a separate Palestinian homeland.

AN AIR INDIA jumbo jet carrying 213 persons exploded and crashed into the Arabian Sea shortly after takeoff from Bombay's airport last night. No survivors had been found by dawn this morning, according to the national news agency Samachar. The death of the 190 passengers and 23 crew members made the crash the third worst disaster in aviation history. The Boeing 747 was carrying about half of its passenger capacity.

Tuesday, January 3

PRESIDENT JIMMY Carter, unaware that his voice was being taped by an NBC radio technician, told Secretary of State Cyrus Vance yesterday that a "cold and very blunt" letter should be sent to Indian leaders as a result of a sharp disagreement over nuclear safeguards. But in a speech to the Indian Parliament later in the day, he said the U.S. will sell India more enriched uranium. Spokesmen for India and Mr. Carter tried to gloss over the clash between the two leaders and requested that newsmen not use the tape.

Pointers Receive Spirit of Detroit Awards

Arson Eyed As Cause of GPW Fire

Building-Fire Inspector
Finds Lighter Which May Have Been Used by Suspect

The cause of the fire which completely destroyed a home at 1994 Roslyn road early Monday morning, December 26, was arson, according to a report from Woods Building-Fire Inspector Earl J. Wakely. In the incident, eight members of the Hugh Davis family escaped unharmed thanks to a smoke detector alarm which alerted the Davis' 18-year-old son, who woke up the rest of the family.

In his report, Mr. Wakely said it was his opinion and that of Det. Sgt. Lawrence Rodriguez of the State Fire Marshal Division, Michigan State Police, that arson was the cause, with the possibility of an accelerant being used.

Await Results
"More conclusive evidence of an accelerant being used may be available when the results of evidence gathered at the scene is analyzed by the State Police Lab," said Mr. Wakely.

In noting the investigation was continuing, Woods Det. Thomas Podeszwick said he has several suspects in mind and plans to run some polygraph tests in this regard.

The interior of the first floor living/dining area and kitchen area showed a heavy burnout with the dropped ceiling in the kitchen completely consumed and fallen.

'Rotary Vial of Life' Program Off to Slow Start in Community

Majority of Pointes Report Slim Response at This Time But Importance of Plan on Continuing Basis Emphasized by Officials

By Roger A. Waha

It has been a slow start for the "Rotary Vial of Life" program, which is geared toward senior citizens and those who are continually under medication which might render them unconscious. A total of 1,000 kits including vials, stickers and information sheets were distributed to local police and/or fire departments in early December and the majority of communities have indicated a so-so response.

Woods Det. Lt. Jack Patterson, who's coordinating the program, said last week 1,200 kits are "on the street," 800 are in reserve and plans call for ordering 3,500 for The Park and another 500 in The Woods.

Upon learning of the slow response, the lieutenant said he wasn't as happy as he could be regarding the distribution of the kits, while attributing the rhythm to the preoccupation of citizens with the Christmas holiday season.

Publicity Will Help
For his part, Rotary Club project chairman Ralph A. Basile said there was good interest in the program based upon the club's determination but expressed some disappointment and surprise over the response.

In The Farms, Police Chief Robert Ferber said an estimated 20 vials have been picked up by citizens, while City Fire Sgt. John Rea said only two residents came to obtain the vial.

Meanwhile, Shores Public Safety Director Joseph Vitale said to his knowledge no citizen has come to departmental headquarters to pick up a vial. But, he added, some of his officers have personally

Memos Aid Farms in Traffic Area

Completed Study to Be Ready in Spring But Interim Reports Provide Assistance

By Wendy K. Settle
Many decisions and resolutions to the traffic and parking problems in The Farms hinge on the traffic study presently being conducted by the firm of Goodell-Grivas, Inc.

The complete study will not be presented to the Farms Council until spring. But during the course of the study, "technical memorandums" from the firm are being sent to Police Chief Robert Ferber regarding individual facets of the study.

"When Goodell-Grivas completes a particular area where a problem has been expressed they send me a memo noting the problem and giving recommendations on how to alleviate it," Chief Ferber said.

Memos Viewed
No action by the council or any other agency will be taken on these recommendations until the complete study is presented.

Chief Ferber has received three memos to date. The first concerns the intersection of Lakeshore and Moross roads. The second is on traffic patterns and control devices for the Rose Terrace Development. And the third is about the possible addition of stop signs at the intersection of Moran and Beaure.

The longest memo is on the intersection of Lakeshore and Moross. The city had expressed concern over the southbound traffic on Lakeshore, turning westbound on to Moross.

To determine the extent of the problem, Goodell-Grivas collected accident data over a 21-month period, (January 1976 through September 1977). During that time 18 accidents occurred, but only one of those was related to southbound Lakeshore traffic turning right onto westbound Moross.

The firm recommended that the turning radius for the intersection be modified. It further stated, "If funds are unavailable at this time, the intersection should be placed as a high priority until such time as funds may be available to eliminate this potential accident hazard for motorists."

Signs Unwarranted
Another memo approached the suggestion of adding stop signs to the intersection of Moran and Beaure. Residents in that area had presented a petition to the city requesting the stop signs in

Pointes-Clinton Incinerator Bond Issue Proposed

Must Raise $1.2 Million to Construct 200-Foot
Emission Stack to Comply with Standards;
Set by Department of Natural Resources;
Expect to Finish Project This Summer

By James J. Njaim

The Grosse Pointes-Clinton Refuse Disposal Authority has informed its community members that the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, (DNR), has ordered the authority to construct a new incinerator exhaust stack. The request was made because neighboring communities in the area have registered numerous complaints regarding odors and ashes emitting from the incinerator.

The cost of the new stack and a site for disposal of a similar landfill for ash, and other state-ordered improvements in ash handling, is expected to reach an estimated $1.2 million—$900,000 for the construction of a 200-foot stack, and $300,000 for the landfill site, based on a recent study made by engineers.

This information was disclosed this week by Edwin T. Hoover, general manager of the plant, located at Lipke road, between Fourteen and Quinn roads, Clinton Township.

Rising Costs
Mr. Hoover said the new stack should be completed sometime this summer, after which the two 100-foot stacks now in use will be inactivated and used only in times of emergency.

According to the study and tests made by the State Department of Health, the new stack should conform to the standards set by the Environmental Protection Agency, (EPA).

Mr. Hoover also said that the cost of refuse burning to the eight members of the authority will rise to $14.25 a ton for fiscal year 1977-78, as compared to the $13.67 a ton during the 1976-77 fiscal year.

The authority is a non-profit organization and any savings through the reclamation of salvageable metals, after the ashes have been sifted, is used for the operation of the incinerator plant. At the end of a fiscal year, the savings is passed on to member communities through reduced costs of refuse burning, the manager said.

Based on Population
Mr. Hoover said after the ashes have been removed

Afternoon Set With Agatha

The public is invited, free of charge, to attend "An Afternoon with Agatha Christie" at the Central Branch of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, 10 Kercheval avenue, on Thursday, January 12, at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Phyllis Huxley of the professional staff will present a biographical sketch of the beloved author, some Christie comments on the art of writing and a discussion of the highlights of some of her landmark novels.

The investigation into two child accosting incidents which were reported last month to Woods police is continuing, said Youth Service Division Det. John Albrecht this week.

The first case involved two Woods boys, one six and the other seven years of age, on Friday, December 16, when they were approached by a man while walking home from Monteith School, 1275 Cook road.

Det. Albrecht, who has contacted the Oakland County Task Force for further information, said they are sending him a photograph of a potential suspect but he feels the description of the man doesn't appear close to the suspect in the incident.

GP Woods To Consider Final 'Recs'

Planners Approve Revised Goals, Objectives at December Meeting

By Roger A. Waha

Another step was taken toward the final development of a land use plan for The Woods as the Planning Commission at its regular meeting Tuesday, December 27, approved a revised draft of goals and objectives, based upon input at its November 22 session, toward the formulation of such a plan.

At the same time, Commissioner George Rinaldi's motion, approved by a 7-2 vote, specified that planning consultant Brandon M. Rogers include specific recommendations at the commission's Tuesday, January 24, meeting pertaining to land use and an estimated 10 priority areas referred to Mr. Rogers by city officials.

Prior to the final motion, the commissioners unanimously reconsidered a previous motion to defer the entire matter until January. In conjunction with this, the possibility of setting up a joint meeting with the council and Mr. Rogers to discuss some changes in the goals and objectives was considered.

Top Priority
Mr. Rogers, who was unable to attend the meeting, said at the January session he will offer specific recommendations on land use, being guided by the goals and objectives agreed upon along with their input from city officials.

On the various priority areas, Mr. Rogers said the parking of recreational vehicles in residential neighborhoods was a top priority, along with the formulation of a housing inspection law when homes are sold in relation to an overall maintenance code. He wants to meet with City Attorney George Catlin on the latter to explore various legal questions.

Other areas being studied by Mr. Rogers include the storage of vehicles on service station property, long range plans toward alleviating the increased volume of traffic in the Brys drive-Eight Mile road area and senior citizens housing.

Move It Along
At the meeting, the need for specific recommendations and "to get on with it" on the part of some commissioners set the tone.

Commission chairman Peter Glezian noted, "We're striving to achieve a planning base for the consultant to move on toward the development of a land use plan" with input from the commission and the council constituting the base for such development.

However, in reviewing the revised goals and objectives Commissioner Raymond Lynch said they were just general statements, while questioning what specific recommendations does Mr. Rogers make?

Visitor Robbed By Purse Thief

An out-of-town visitor to Detroit was the victim of a purse snatcher on Wednesday, December 28, as she was walking on Kercheval, at Wasburn, according to information released by Park Police Chief Henry O. Coonce.

Sally Wyatt of Highland, Ill., told police that she was taking a stroll on Kercheval at 5:30 p.m. Upon reaching Wasburn, a black male ran up behind her, pushed her to the ground, grabbed her purse containing a large sum of money, besides personal items, and escaped.

The man was described as between 23 and 24 years of age, about 5'8" tall, dark complexioned, stockily built and wearing dark clothing.

Schools Aim to Please Residents with Classes

The Department of Community Services of the Grosse Pointe Public School System invites all residents to beat the winter doldrums by participating in one of the many enrichment activities it is offering.

The Pointe has always been proud of its diversified program, and the potpourri of possibilities announced by coordinator Carl Schoessel is bigger than ever.

Activities range from arts and crafts to sports and exercise, and from self-improvement to music and dance.

There are 10 new offerings during the winter session, including "Chinese Cooking," "Disco Dancing," "American Government," "Speech for the Businessperson" and

Tax Collection Forum Slated

The question of the summer collection of school taxes will be discussed in an Open Forum on Monday, January 9, in the auditorium at South High School, 11 Grosse Pointe boulevard, at 2 p.m.

The three-member discussion panel will consist of John Bruce, president of the Board of Education, Farms Mayor James Dingeman and Paul McCarthy of the "Pointer" newspaper.

The public is invited to attend the formal presentation, to be followed by a question and answer period.

Residential Greenhouse Permits Year 'Round Gardening

Manufactured in Detroit this new greenhouse with aluminum frame and glass in colorful dark-bronze enamel finish is now being displayed at the Kaufmann Window & Door Corporation on Mt. Elliott in Detroit.

Brasco has learned that greenhouses in Michigan require little heating due to our use of the sun. Only approximately two months of the year do we require heating support from the house or gas heaters installed in the greenhouse.

The greenhouse range in price from $510 to $1500 for the 10' x 20' free standing model. This, of course, does not include benches and shelf brackets, which are available in the same dark-bronze finish.

The other dealers active in selling residential greenhouses in the Detroit Metropolitan area include Union A.C., Mount Clemens; Glass House, Mount Clemens; Harmony Farms, Warren. These dealers provide sales and installation service if needed. Each greenhouse comes with easy to understand erection instructions. Each of the dealers have sales personnel available to discuss their models and any question you may have.

Woods Views Land Use Plan

Mr. Gilezan replied that the consultant wasn't getting specific at this point but only setting forth guidelines to be used toward precise recommendations. "In essence, he's asking if we concur with the general scope and tenor of the goals and objectives," he said.

Commissioner George Couillard then said the goals and objectives should be approved at the meeting, while indicating his feeling that officials would be procrastinating if such action wasn't taken.

"Lots of Rhetoric"

But Commissioner John Kennedy, who, along with Commissioner Paul Rothenburg, nixed the motion to approve, questioned the accelerated approach, feeling that some minor modifications should be made in the language of a few goals.

"I felt that certain areas within the document had not reflected fully our original discussion," stated Mr. Kennedy after the session. He declined to cite specific examples in this respect.

Meanwhile, Mr. Rothenburg, who sat at his first commission meeting, (as did Commissioner Robert W. Sabo), said he didn't feel it was necessary to either approve or disapprove the goals and objectives.

He said the commissioners could have moved ahead to the next phase, using the document as a foundation, without voicing a vote one way or the other.

Councilman George Custer, who attended the session with Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos, told the commissioners that so far there has been "lots of rhetoric" but no proposed solutions to problems, mainly in regards to the priority areas referred to the consultant.

Varied Housing

As the commission mulled over whether to reconsider the motion to defer or not, Mr. Pinkos said the council also has asked Mr. Rogers to recommend amendments to the zoning ordinance.

The mayor indicated a joint meeting between the commission and the council might be held in the future toward reaching an agreement that any recommendations are in the best interests of Woods citizens before the council takes action.

The revised goals and objectives viewed the areas of residential, commercial and office, public and semi-public land uses and off-street parking.

Residential goals included the following:

- * Based upon planned residential densities, consistent with the established character of the city, varied housing types and sizes should be encouraged to meet the different needs of city residents.
- * The older, stable residential neighborhoods of the city should be carefully considered so that they can be strengthened and not be adversely affected by through traffic or impact from non-residential land uses.

Eyes Considerations

- * Portions of residential neighborhoods near commercial districts and major thoroughfares, which are subjected to garish lighting, noise, dust and traffic hazards from commercial establishments, must be especially examined and their environment improved through traffic control, zoning, thorough site plan review, including off-street parking design and analysis of all building elevations, screening, sign, waste receptacle and lighting controls, and curb parking regulations.

Commercial and office goals include the following:

- * The Mack avenue shopping and office area accommodates nearly all the city's business establishments and serves as a trade area far beyond the city's limits for such uses as entertainment establishments, medical offices and financial institutions.

Accordingly, commercial planning needs require consideration of adequate parking, lighting, signage and other street furniture, aesthetics, diversified and progressive establishments and store mix, and efficient, safe handling of vehicular and pedestrian traffic movements.

- * The I-94, (Harper avenue), commercial area, (one block), should be carefully analyzed as to the future use of the vacant land, improved hopes of curbing speeding on the roads.

After the firm reviewed the problem, it reported that only one accident had occurred at the intersection in an 18-month period and "the accident that did occur in the area was not intersection related," the memo said.

The memo concluded by recommending that "additional stop signs on Moran road at Beaupre are not warranted at present." It also cited the "Michigan Manual of Uniform Traffic Control Devices" by stating, "Stop signs should not be used for speed control."

Chief Ferber sent a copy of the firm's memo to all the residents in the concerned area who had signed the petition requesting the stop signs.

The last memo is a rather short and simple discussion on the traffic patterns for the Rose Terrace Development.

The report noted there will be 25 homes built on the property, thereby creating a traffic flow of approximately 285 trips exiting from the subdivision onto Lakeshore road per day.

"It is recommended that a stop sign be installed," the memo concluded, "as per standards for westbound, (exiting), Rose Terrace traffic at Lakeshore road."

As Goodell-Grivas, Inc., continues its traffic study of The Farms, more "technical memorandums" will arrive at Chief Ferber's office. These excerpts from the study will continue to aid the city and police in realizing and hopefully solving some of the area's major traffic problems.

GPW City Attorney Eyes Question of Cul-De-Sac

In relation to a potential long-range solution toward solving the heavy traffic flow in the Brys drive-East Eight Mile road area, some citizens cited the possibility of constructing a cul-de-sac.

Woods Councilman John Sabol recently asked City Attorney George Catlin whether or not the city has the legal authority to cul-de-sac Eight Mile road within city boundaries.

Mr. Catlin's letter to the council viewing this subject was unanimously received, placed on file and retained for future consideration and reference at the regular meeting Monday, December 19.

A copy of the letter also was forwarded to planning consultant Brandon M. Rogers, the Planning Commission, (where it was received and placed on file on Tuesday, December 27), and the Brys drive citizens' committee.

In viewing this question, Mr. Catlin said the city charter provides that the municipality has the power and may provide for "use, regulation, improvement and control of the surface of its streets, alleys, public ways and other public places."

He noted this type of language has been held to include the authority to abandon streets and alleys. However, there are constraints upon such authority.

"There are a number of Michigan Court cases that have asserted that municipal action vacating an alley or highway is legislative in nature and judicially reviewable only for fraud, collusion or abuse of discretion," said Mr. Catlin.

"In addition, cases have held that such action may also be constitutionally objectionable as a taking of private property without due process or just compensation."

After citing two court cases, he felt that the courts would uphold a council decision to cul-de-sac Eight Mile road as not an abuse of discretion if such decision was based upon the nature and volume of traffic, the street's character and the complaints of the citizens.

"Such a decision most certainly would be related to the public welfare of the citizens of the area," he said.

But, he noted, depending on the cul-de-sac's location, the city "might well have to respond by paying damages on a case-by-case basis to the property owners whose land abuts Eight Mile road, (not just those properties abutting the cul-de-sac itself)."

Another problem also exists, he added, inasmuch as Eight Mile road is the borderline with the City of St. Clair Shores.

"Therefore, joint action between the communities would be required and the City of St. Clair Shores would also have to be prepared to respond to any damages incurred by the abutting property owners," he said.

Driver Hurt In Accident

A 19-year-old Park resident, whose operator's license was restored by the Secretary of State's Office in Lansing last October, after an evaluation examination, is in Bon Secours Hospital with a badly injured right leg and several cuts about the face.

Policemen and firemen from both The City and The Park labored for about 20 minutes to free him from a badly smashed automobile on Jefferson and Notre Dame Wednesday, December 28.

Injured is Douglas Leo Greenup of Bedford road, who, according to a City police report, was traveling south on Notre Dame at a high rate of speed, failed to stop at Jefferson, and sideswiped a car driven by Laura Jeannine Jodway of Eastborne, Harper Woods.

Police said the impact caused Greenup to lose control of his auto, which veered and ran off the roadway, smashing broadside against a tree 12 feet inside the curb on Jefferson leaving him pinned inside the vehicle.

Because the leg looked as though it had been broken, the hospital, a block away, was called. Two doctors responded and supervised the removal of the young man from the wreck.

Greenup suffered shredded flesh below the right knee, plus bruises and an abrasion on the left leg. He was taken into surgery for the more serious injury.

The woman driver and her two passengers were not injured in the mishap.

Greenup was issued a violation ticket for reckless driving, with a court hearing pending. His car, which was a total loss, was towed from the scene.

To Face Trial On B-E Charge

A 19-year-old Woods youth, who's charged with breaking and entering, is scheduled to face a Wayne County Circuit Court trial on Thursday, January 26, reported Woods Det. Charles Philip Hamel.

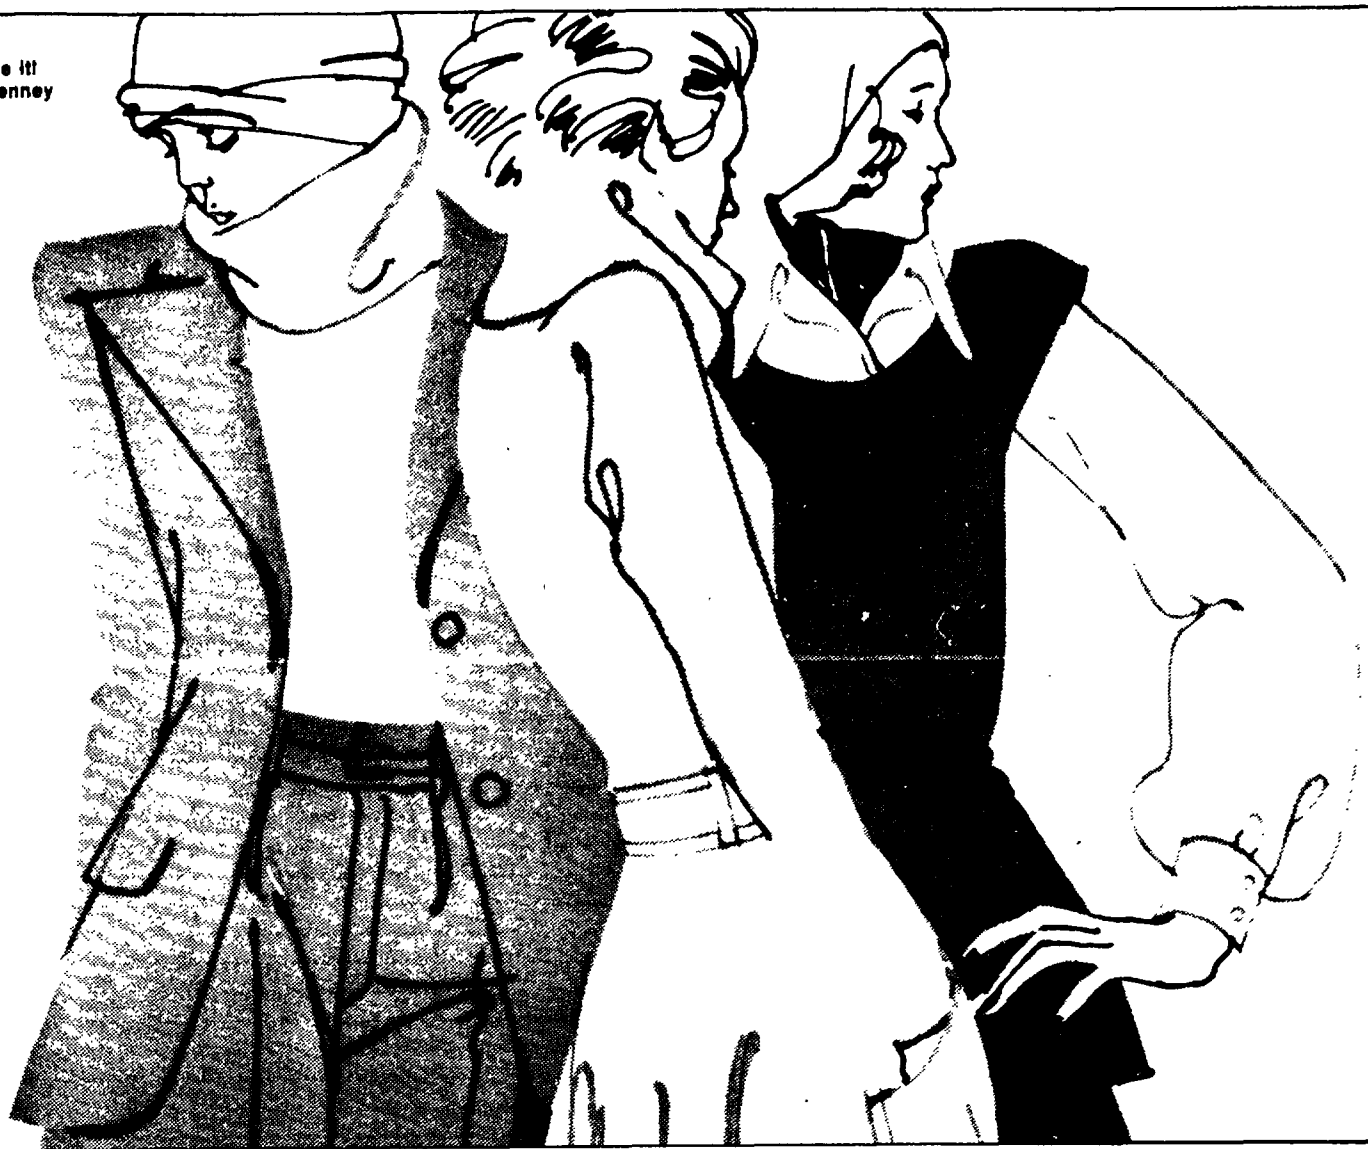

Anthony Schohl is charged with the break-in of a Vernier road residence on November 15 in which he allegedly took over $600 worth of articles including a stereo set, television set and a radio.

All the items were recovered by police after Schohl was spotted at the front door of another Vernier home and subsequently apprehended at the residence where the articles were found.

'Rotary Vial of Life'

(Continued from Page 1) Public Library will be receiving some kits after the first of the year. They were to be included in the original distribution but he said no kits were delivered because of the Christmas holidays. (The libraries were closed much of the time over the yuletide season.)

Along with Chief Costa and Mr. Basile, Lt. Patterson emphasized that the program is geared not only to senior citizens but to all residents, including children, who might be taking medication which could render them unconscious.

They also feel the program should be continued on a regular basis as against a one-shot effort. For his part, Mr. Basile said if changes occur in a citizen's medication, such adjustments should be made on the information sheet or a resident may obtain a new one if necessary. It's important to keep the sheet updated with citizens passing the news on, he said.

With the arrival of the new year, a further effort will be made to keep the program in the public's eye, said Lt. Patterson, who added he will be happy to speak to local groups on the plan. Those interested should call him at Woods public safety headquarters, 886-2700.

Ironically, while the overall response in obtaining the kits has been slow in The Pointe, the lieutenant noted that former residents of the area receiving the NEWS have expressed an interest in the plan.

In one case, a citizen now living in Illinois saw a NEWS story and contacted Lt. Patterson for guidance in starting a similar program in his community.

And for the record, some Romeo senior citizens took exception to an earlier NEWS story which reported that the lieutenant provided the original impetus for the local program after reading a daily newspaper article on the plan as administered by Romeo State Police in October.

Pertinent Info

Lt. Patterson indicated the seniors wanted the Greater Romeo Senior Citizens Council to receive their fair share of credit for helping get the plan started in their community.

Under the local program, the Rotary Club has spent over $1,000 for the kits. The vial has an easy-off cap, and the information sheet containing pertinent personal and medical information is placed inside the refrigerator.

At the same time, a "Rotary Vial of Life" sticker is placed outside the refrigerator door and on the citizen's front door.

In case of an emergency, responding personnel will then have all necessary information in the event an individual is found unconscious, or a relative or friend is unable to assist with needed facts.

The information sheet, which will be included with the vial and two stickers, says, "If you are, (or know), someone who is continually under medication which might render you unconscious, (i.e., diabetic or epileptic), please take this Vial of Life."

Mothers Set Fund Raiser

Five mothers, one from each Pointe, have been chosen to head the March of Dimes Mother's March to be held this month.

Mrs. Stella Craig of The Woods, Mrs. Ethel Zolad of The Shores, Mrs. Judy Luahwa of The Park, Mrs. Jane Soloman of The Farms and Mrs. Diana Egan of The City will be coordinating the march in their respective communities.

The annual neighborhood campaign will begin on Tuesday, January 24, and run through Tuesday, January 31. During that week, area mothers will band together and go door-to-door collecting funds for the March of Dimes.

"January, which is the start of a new year, is a good time to sit back and assess how lucky we are," the women said. "We urge all residents of the Pointe to add one more resolution to their New Year's list... help protect the unborn and new born baby."

"That's the aim of the March of Dimes," they continued. "They support programs of medical services, research, community service and public health education to help accomplish their goal. "Prevention of birth defects is a giant task and one that requires neighbors to pitch in and help."

Interested persons can volunteer their time to the Mother's March by calling 863-3600.

At 3 p.m. on Friday, December 23, Steven Pruitt of the Kercheval Health Foods Store, 17119 Kercheval, reported the loss of a large sum of money to City police and was informed that an envelope containing a big sum was found in the commercial district.

The money would be his, if he could identify the type of envelope, the denomination of the bills enclosed and the total amount.

Mr. Pruitt went to the station and without hesitation identified the envelope, the denomination of its contents and the total amount enclosed. He gratefully accepted his money after signing a receipt.

IMPROVEMENT CAN BE COSTLY
 You can make a million mistakes trying to sell your own home. And one of them is making the wrong improvements. Many times, an expensive addition or repair can be the kind of thing that'll cost you far more than you get back.

True, the house should present a favorable appearance—mowed lawn, trimmed shrubs, and no obvious indications of neglect, but it's rare when a large financial undertaking will bring more than its cost in the final selling price. There is always the financial risk of miscalculation too. Home repair costs frequently end up a lot higher than originally anticipated. You may end up with a faster sale and less inconvenience if you lower the selling price to an equivalent amount.

Instead of guessing as to how much, if any, repair work is undertaken, see a Realtor. He can tell you what to do to make your home more salable and what not to do so you won't lose money.

Cite Pointer For Project

The Detroit Cornice and Slate Building, an historic downtown landmark restored and renovated by Pointer architect William Kessler, of Cadieux road, is among 50 jury-selected winning projects in "Urban Design" magazine's second annual awards program.

The projects are featured in "Urban Design Case Studies," a 112-page hard-cover book by Edward K. Carpenter.

The winners were chosen for promising new life for cities and offering proof that urban design has played a significant role in rebuilding North American cities in the last two years.

Each is a case study showing how urban design provides the framework for more humane and liveable cities. The projects range over areas not covered in conventional architectural journals.

Categories include urban design, urban open space enhancement, conservation of natural landscape, preservation and renovation.

The Cornice and Slate Building is included in the renovation category. Located at 733 St. Antoine and formerly a factory, the structure was recycled for contemporary use by Kessler and Associates for J. A. Citric Sons Co., the present owners.

The structure, built in 1897 and featuring a front facade of ornate galvanized steel, now houses a restaurant and the architectural firm's offices.

The award winners and the new book were saluted at a holiday party given by "Urban Design" magazine in New York Tuesday, December 20.

Need for Strict Code Stressed

A letter citing the need for a home maintenance code in the city was referred to planning consultant Brandon M. Rogers by the Woods Planning Commission at its regular meeting Tuesday, December 27.

Citing their interest and concern they have for the preservation and enhancement of attractive neighborhoods, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis L. Choate, of Bournemouth road, wanted to stress to the commission the importance and need for adopting a forceful maintenance code for the community.

"Our residential area serves as an excellent example of a neighborhood near commercial districts which requires consistent examination," they said. "These properties are extremely vulnerable, and therefore, can deteriorate rapidly without constant maintenance."

The Choates then cited areas of concern including the alleys behind the commercial districts as well as the exterior conditions of such establishments.

"Litter is a ubiquitous nuisance. Exteriors of these commercial buildings are in many instances covered with graffiti while windows are boarded up and left unpainted. Buildings, walls, signs, etc., are continually being defaced and remain as blatant symbols of needless blight," they said.

Over Thanksgiving, they noted, the cement wall adjacent to the entrance to the parking lot off of Bournemouth road and behind Mack avenue was damaged by "thoughtless individuals" with blue paint.

The Choates felt Mayor Benjamin W. Pirkos' suggestion, made at a recent meeting of the Planning Commission, that refuse containers be placed out of sight "is certainly a worthwhile consideration if one was only to examine the two large containers found conspicuously behind Gabby's Restaurant."

They felt those containers serve as "a continual source of litter, and combined with the spillage of garbage, definitely do not enhance the area."

Adding there's a need for a strict code, the Choates said, "Inasmuch as the investment in our neighborhoods is of paramount importance, a call for action is essential."

GPW Officials View Meeting

The Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, December 19, authorized any councilman, the mayor and appointed officials to attend the "Silver Anniversary" annual regional meeting for all municipal officials in Region III on Thursday, January 26, with the reimbursement of all necessary expenses.

Dearborn Heights will be the host city for the event, for which a special effort is being made toward "an enjoyable and educational program to recognize 25 years of regional meetings," according to John M. Patriarcho, director, Michigan Municipal League.

Rehearsal time for resolutions is over, now comes the real test.

Detroit Council Cites Pointers

Preceding the regularly scheduled Thursday, December 15, meeting of the Detroit City Council, in special session, the council presented two Grosse Pointers with Spirit of Detroit awards.

Those honored were John R. Seymour of Sunningdale drive, owner of Seymour Cadillac, and Willard S. Smith of Colonial road, president of Smith Paklaian Bell, Inc., advertising. Both firms are Detroit based.

The award was "in recognition of exceptional achievement, outstanding leadership, and dedication to improving the quality of life in Detroit" was given at the suggestion of Council President Carl Levin with unanimous approval of the council.

In remarks before the presentation Mr. Levin spoke of the pair's continuing faith in the revitalization of Detroit, and made particular note of a Seymour sponsored publication "The Renaissance News."

He called it "the best, most positive promotion of our new city" that he has yet seen.

Woods Okays Two Classes

A request from Woods senior citizens regarding the continuation of both bridge and sewing classes was unanimously approved by the Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, December 19.

Both were renewed for eight classes, two hours per class, with the cost being $7.50 per hour for each instructor, making a total of $120 per class.

Wine Lines
by John Lundberg

You may have hesitated to cook with wine when you are on a diet, fearing that the calories from the wine would be too much. Well, relax, alcohol isn't the only thing that is burned off when wine is cooked, the calories are too. Not much wine is needed to add a unique taste and flavor to any marinade, cooking liquid, or sauce. The evaporation of the alcohol sharpens the wine flavor. So, cooking with wine is one of the good things in life that is not illegal, immoral, or fattening.

From cooking wines to table wines to sparkling wines. PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, corner of St. Clair, 885-0626 has a full selection of wines to fill every need, taste and budget. Our wide inventory also includes a complete selection of imported and domestic beers and a fine array of party goods. Hours: 10-10 Mon.-thurs.; 10-11 Fri., Sat.

Snyder Views Heating Plan

The recent signing into law of the state's new home heating assistance program will help get 1978 off to a good start for thousands of Michigan residents, said State Sen. Joseph M. Snyder in a news release from his office.

"The new law goes into effect immediately so there will be no delay in making the benefits of this program available to the many Michigan residents who can be helped by home heating assistance during the long winter ahead," said Sen. Snyder, who is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee and the chairman of its Mental Health Subcommittee.

The $38 million program, which will be financed mainly with federal funds, is expected to help approximately 300,000 low income and senior citizen households pay their heating bills this winter.

The amount of assistance available through the program will be based on family size and household income. The plan also includes a separate provision for seniors.

According to the legislation, a low income person could receive up to $200 to help pay home heating costs. Single persons earning $2,000 a year or less would be eligible to receive up to $130 with the possibility of receiving another $70 under a consumption formula.

A family of four with an annual income of $7,300 or less could qualify for a $120 subsidy.

Sen. Snyder, who also is the chairman of the Senate House Special Committee on Aging, said senior citizens with an income between $3,700 and $7,000 would be eligible to receive $100 under the program.

The program also provides for a 90/10 split between electric companies and other utilities. If the electric company does not provide a household's heat, it would receive 10 percent of the individual recipient's initial allocation of heating assistance funds.

"We know that many persons throughout the state lived in cold homes last winter because they could not afford to pay their heating bills," he said.

"Because of legislative approval of this new program, however, no one should have to live in a cold house and endanger their health and that of their family's this winter."

The senator also said he will keep his constituents informed of the details regarding the administration of the new program.

Cinema League to Open Series

Fern and Rip Zwickey will open the 1978 Grosse Pointe Cinema League with their latest 16mm film, "The Aleutians and Bering Sea Expedition," on Monday, January 9, at 8 p.m. in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore road.

The film starts with a visit to Prince Rupert on Kaien Island, British Columbia, 950 miles north of Vancouver. It is here that the Zwickeyes boarded the Lindblad "Explorer" for a four week cruise of Alaska's glaciated coastline, islands and one of the last remaining wilderness frontiers on our planet.

After sailing along the impressive Inside Passage, the "Explorer" entered awesome

Glacier Bay with its great glacial walls of ice, whose occasional cleaving emits thunderous roars.

The movie shows the passengers taking to their Zodiacs, (rubber boats), to move in to the brash ice flows, many with harbor seals and their newborn calves. The Zodiacs enabled the adventurers to cruise almost daily through Alaska's icy coastal waters, which are among the richest marine areas of the world.

Closeups of humpback whales, sea lions, seals, walrus and sea otters are featured. The latter two are year-round residents. Ten million migratory water fowl nest along the coastal cliffs.

Inland, along the rivers, there are views of brown bears as well as Eskimos waiting for the salmon run. The individual islands seemed to specialize in their own mammals, such as the seal rookeries of the Pribilof Islands.

There are herds of musk oxen on Nunavak Island, and the Barren Islands proved to be excellent for bird watching and viewing sea lion rookeries.

There are exciting and photogenic shots as the ship broke through the pack ice of the Bering Sea and headed for Nome, Alaska.

The travelers disembarked in life boats for some last camera sightseeing in the early gold rush town of Nome before leaving for Anchorage and Detroit.

The Zwickeyes specialize in photographing remote areas of the world and they declare that the expedition with its scientists, bird watchers, ecologists, flora culturists and fishermen were enthusiastic in their praise of this rugged and enlightening expedition.

The public is invited to attend this program without charge. A reception for Cinema League members and their invited guests follows the presentation.

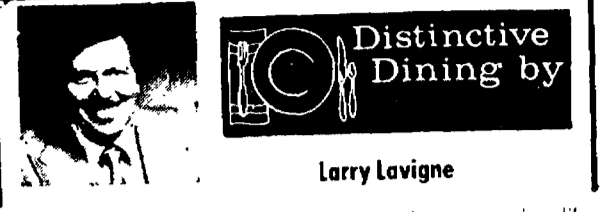

Accosting Investigation

Based upon the description of the suspects in each case, Det. Albrecht had earlier said he doesn't feel either incident is related.

In each instance, the youngsters, who were not hurt, ultimately backed away from the suspects and left the scene.

Larry Lavigne

Someone once said that "all people are made alike. They are made of bones, flesh and dinners. Only the dinners are different." For a truly different dinner or lunch this year, why not try a poached salmon steak? Prepared with white wine and a very few ingredients, it makes a tasty, light, and elegant meal when served with marinated asparagus topped with finely chopped hard-boiled eggs, sliced tomatoes, a small lemon cup of green mayonnaise placed in the center, and garnished with dill sprigs or watercress.

(Continued from Page 1) from the furnaces, they are sifted through with a powerful magnet, which separates any metal which in turn is sold for recycling. As much as 600 tons a year is salvaged in this manner. After the sifting, the ashes are removed to the landfill.

The bond issue to raise money to construct the 200-foot stack will be redeemed by assessing each community according to the size of its population, and will amount to about one dollar per person.

For example, the manager said, a family of four will be assessed four dollars a year which will go toward payment of the bond issue.

Mr. Hoover said the incinerator plant, which was constructed at a cost of $3.5 million dollars, began operation in 1972 with a 600-ton a day burning capacity. This is said to be very economical, considering that many plants burn 5,800 tons and more a day and at a much higher cost than is charged by the authority.

Comply with Standards

He did not have the actual breakdown of the total daily tonnage burned by each of the member communities, but did say that the five Pointes burn less than half of the tonnage of refuse, with the balance burned by Clinton Township, Mount Clemens and Harper Woods.

The eight cities comprise the authority, and each is assessed their fair share of cost according to population.

"When we were informed by the DNR that we would have to build a new and higher stack to comply with the EPA standards, we moved immediately to comply with the order," said Mr. Hoover.

"We wanted to cooperate with the state, and to keep good public relations with the people in the surrounding communities."

"According to the studies by our engineers, the new stack, which will have a 12-foot square diameter base, will be in compliance with the EPA standards."

Church Holds Hunger Forums

A program focusing on world and local hunger and simplified life style will be the topics for a four Sunday series at the 9:30 a.m. education hour beginning on January 8 at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack avenue.

Initiating the forums on the 8th will be David Bower, regional director of CROP in Michigan. Mr. Bower will present the scope and depth of the problem with graphic personal slides from Indonesia, Bangladesh and India.

On January 15, a group from the American Friends Service Committee's Detroit Anti-Hunger Program, under the direction of Margaret Bursie and George Covintree, will develop a comprehensive program throughout the Church School for children through adults.

Films, games and discussion will provide the means to create awareness, and to inform and educate.

Speakers on January 22 will be Bonnie Briedenbach Lyton, who will discuss good nutrition and alternative diets, and Dr. Robert C. Linthicum, who will view "The Christian Response to Hunger."

At the final meeting January 29, Eleanor Josiatis, associate director of Focus: Hope, and Diane Heavner, co-director of the Wayne County Senior Citizens Nutrition Site housed at the church, will speak on local hunger, its implications and available responses.

Any interested persons are invited to attend any or all of the sessions.

Youth Injured In Auto Mishap

A freak automobile accident on Tuesday, December 27, resulted in the hospitalization of one Farms youth.

Francis Jensen, 17, was smashed between a car door and a tree, when his friend was backing down a driveway at 205 Lakeshore road, said Farms police. Jensen was transported to Cottage Hospital where he remains in serious condition.

The accident occurred at approximately 11 p.m. when Jensen and two other friends in one car met with three other youths in another car at the residence on Lakeshore. None of the boys live at that home.

Reports from the youths, as to what actually happened, were conflicting but police said both cars were parked in the driveway. One was facing north, the other south.

As Jensen exited the car he was in, he grabbed the rear door of the opposite car. The driver of the second car started to back out of the driveway as Jensen clung to the open door.

The youth's body was crushed against the tree by the force of the moving car. Police, responding to a call from neighbors, arrived at the scene and took the injured boy to the hospital, where the youth underwent surgery.

Planners Okay Doctor's Plea

The Woods Planning Commission at its regular meeting Tuesday, December 27, unanimously approved a request to construct a porch and entranceway addition to a doctor's office at 20050 Mack avenue.

Dr. William L. Bates, DDS, said the proposed addition will not only provide a more convenient, safer and weather-protected entrance but also will improve the overall appearance of the building and commercial frontage.

He stated he will continue to maintain the Fairholme road residential frontage so there would be no commercialization of that property.

Dr. Bates added that the proposed addition would conform to the beauty and aesthetics of both usages, with no appreciable change occurring in the building's appearance.

In a memo to the commissioners, Building Inspector Earl J. Wakely said no Board of Appeals hearing is required because the doctor wasn't enlarging or expanding the office floor area, as the entrance foyer is separated from the office area by a door.

Tax Packages Show Changes

Approximately three and a half million federal tax packages are on their way to Michigan taxpayers, says the Internal Revenue Service, (IRS). Taxpayers will note that the forms, together with tax instructions, reflect a number of important changes in the laws affecting 1977 returns.

One change that should be quite noticeable, according to the IRS, is the restyling of Forms 1040 and 1040A, especially the 1040 A which is now a full size sheet print on one side. Both forms should be more legible and provide more space for the taxpayer, says the IRS.

As a result of new tax tables which some 96 percent of taxpayers can use, the IRS notes it has been possible to eliminate several lines on both the 1040 and 1040A, making these forms easier to prepare because of fewer entries required.

This year's tax tables incorporate the new zero bracket amount, ($2,200 for singles and $3,200 for married couples filing jointly), personal exemptions and the general tax credit. The zero bracket amount replaces the old standard deduction and is based on filing status, not income.

While the forms have been restyled, the IRS points out that both the 1040 and 1040A provide the taxpayer with an opportunity to designate $1 of his or her tax liability to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund. The forms also accommodate use of the pre-addressed label and coded envelope that come with the tax package. Along with the restyling of the forms, taxpayers will note that the forms reflect various changes in the law relating to, for example, the treatment of capital gains and losses, sale of a house by a taxpayer age 65 and older, moving expenses, individual retirement arrangements, alimony payments and child support.

The IRS urges taxpayers to carefully read their tax instructions and to take advantage of the coupon in the rear of the tax package for ordering free IRS publications and forms.

As in previous years, the IRS says, taxpayers who file early will receive their refunds in a shorter period of time than those who wait until the last minute.

About 40,000 taxpayers will find a questionnaire included in the 1977 tax packages asking if they had difficulty understanding their tax return, the IRS reports.

The questionnaire asks which part of the forms, schedules and instructions taxpayers had trouble understanding, whether the taxpayer filled out his or her own return and asks for specific suggestions about how to make the forms, schedules and instructions easier to read or understand.

Taxpayers receiving the questionnaires, who were randomly selected by the IRS, should fill out the one page survey after they have completed their 1977 tax return, and mail the survey, postage free, to the IRS.

Reception Set for Newcomers

The War Memorial's new residents reception is set for Saturday, January 14, at 2 p.m.

All individuals and families, including infants to senior members, who moved into any of the five Pointes in 1977, are invited to tour one of The Pointe's most active institutions, enjoy a party and become acquainted with the many activities in the community.

In addition to the Center's board of directors, representatives of groups and organizations will be present to welcome and explain their programs to the newcomers.

Those scheduled to be represented are Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club, Welcome Wagon, Grosse Pointe Garden Center, Senior Ladies Club, Chamber Music Players of Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe League of Women Voters and Grosse Pointe Public Libraries.

Others include the Womens Republican Club, Northeast Guidance Assistance League, Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe, Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe, Soroptimist Club, Pointe Campers, Grosse Pointe Symphony, Parents Without Partners, Grosse Pointe Numismatic Club and Mid-Century Toastmistress Club.

More are Family Life Education Council, Neighborhood Club, Grosse Pointe Public Schools, University Liggett School, Department of Community Services, Grosse Pointe Guild for Children's Hospital, the War Memorial Nursery School and the Wayne State College of Life Long Learning.

Still others are Grosse Pointe Ski Club, Saint Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, Saint Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, Grosse Pointe Congregational and American Baptist Church and Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Others are Grace United Church of Christ, Saint Clair de Montefalco Parish, First Church of Understanding and Transcendental Meditation.

Jewelry Maker Notes Increase

In its seven and a half years of business in The Pointe, Anthony "Tony" Cuetler of Bijouterie, Inc., 19500 Mack avenue, has reported the best year ever in the manufacture of their jewelry.

The largest volume of business involved designing and making special rings to order such as the resetting of a solitaire diamond into a setting of many smaller stones. Cocktail rings set with rubies, diamonds and emeralds also were in great demand, followed closely by customized stick pins fashioned with diamonds or opals.

Don't overdo anything -- too much gratitude often leaves an impression of expectation.

plus other groups. The mayors of the five Pointes also will be there.

An infant room with care is provided by the Center's Youth Council, who also will take new residents on tours of Fries Auditorium, Alger House and the new art wing.

Invitations have been sent to all newcomers for whom the Center has addresses. There are many more new residents the Center doesn't know about and it issues a warm invitation to them to come to the event.

If anyone knows of newcomers they are requested to phone their names and addresses in to the Center at 881-7311.

Bid of Sinbads Gets Approval

A request from a representative of Sinbads Hair Studios, 20795 Mack avenue, to remodel the store front, previously denied by the Woods Planning Commission at its November 22 meeting, was unanimously approved at the group's regular meeting Tuesday, December 27, provided certain changes were included in the plans.

In relation to the lack of architectural seal on the drawing which was before the commission in November, (another reason why the request was denied at that time), Mr. Wakely questioned the necessity of an architect's seal on plans of remodeling building fronts where there is no structural change.

VILLAGE OF Grosse Pointe Shores NOTICE OF HEARING BEFORE ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

At the regular Council meeting of the Village Council of the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores, held Tuesday, December 20, 1977, the Council accepted a petition for a hearing before the Zoning Board of Appeals for a variance in lot sizes in the proposed subdivision. The variance involves Article III, Section 304 of Ordinance 80, The Zoning Ordinance.

The petition presented is relative to the platting of lands within the Village, encompassing the following:

Bounded on the north by the southerly line of Hawthorne Park Subdivision, on the east by lands owned by the Village, Private Claim 249E1b, and the westerly line of Michaux Lane; on the south by the northerly line of Vernier Road; and on the west by the boundary line between the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores and Grosse Pointe Woods, excluding lots 38, 39, 40 and 41 of Assessors Grosse Pointe Shores Plat No. 2.

The hearing before the Zoning Board of Appeals will be held Tuesday, January 24, 1978 at 8:00 PM Eastern Standard Time at the Village Hall, 795 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Shores.

A copy of the proposed platting is on file for inspection at the office of the Village Clerk, 795 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Shores, Michigan 48236, during regular business hours, 8 AM to 5 PM, Mondays through Fridays.

 Untreated venereal disease in a pregnant woman can kill or cause severe birth defects in her unborn baby, reports the National Foundation-March of Dimes. Regular medical attention and early prenatal care provide for detection of VD and help prevent this threat to the unborn.

Fire Damages Home in Park

Park and City firefighters doused a kitchen fire in the home of Lawrence Trombly of Nottingham road, the lower of a two-family flat building, within five minutes on Wednesday, December 28, but not before nearly everything in the kitchen was damaged by heat and smoke.

Park Fire Chief Phillip Costa said the alarm was sounded at 5:50 p.m., and the City Fire Department answered automatically under terms of the Mutual Fire Aid Pact. They arrived at the Trombly residence to find a "going fire," the chief said. Chief Costa said that there was at least a one to three minute delay before the alarm was sounded in The Park fire station, simply because whoever turned in the alarm dialed the Detroit 911 emergency number.

Fortunately, the operator who answered was familiar with the area and relayed the message to The Park.

The chief said the fire started when grease on the stove in the kitchen ignited. The blaze then spread to the window curtains, cabinets and the walls.

There was extensive smoke damage throughout the lower flat, but no smoke seeped to the second floor, Chief Costa said.

After expressing his thanks to City firefighters, Chief Costa said there would not have been as much damage, if the alarm had been called directly to his department.

"In a going fire, even one minute can mean a lot in putting out a blaze," he said. "In this case, it was at least three minutes before we got the alarm, and that is a long time as far as fires go."

"Every householder should keep police, fire and other emergency numbers near their telephone, or telephones, so that they can call any number immediately."

"In the Nottingham house fire, we were lucky that the 911 emergency operator was familiar with the area, or there would have been further delay and damage might have been much greater."

Police Arrest Errant Driver

A Shores public safety officer arrested Drew Sinclair Brophy, 21, of Hampton road, on Saturday, December 24, and charged him with careless driving. Brophy posted a bond of $75 and faces court on Wednesday, January 11.

PSO John Frasad, while patrolling on Lochmoor boulevard, observed a car traveling at a high rate of speed, westbound on the boulevard and gave chase.

The driver, identified as Brophy, was seen making a right turn onto Sunningdale. Officer Frasad drove west on Lochmoor to Morningside, and saw the car had already passed the intersection and was going west on Sunningdale.

The driver failed to heed the siren and flasher of the pursuing police car, applied his brakes at Wedgewood, but didn't come to a stop. His speed was clocked at 65 mph, with the pavement wet from pouring rain.

The officer said Brophy made a left turn onto Fairway and pulled into a driveway and started to exit. PSO Frasad exited his police car and told the man he was under arrest and not to move away from the site.

Brophy offered the information that he was on his way home and that he was not traveling more than 25 mph, the posted speed limit in residential streets.

He said he had been to a party and was on his way to another, admitting he had had a few drinks. He saw the police car with its flasher activated, and pulled into the driveway to allow it to pass.

The motorist was advised that he was under arrest for reckless driving. With the assistance of Shores Sgt. James Jurcak, Brophy was taken to the station, where his car was impounded and he was issued a violation ticket for the offense.

The authorities said that Brophy had had too much to drink and as a result his driving ability was impaired. He was released to two friends who brought his bond.

Real Estate Class Stated

The Adult Education Division of Austin Catholic Prep School announces that a primer course in Real Estate Law and Sales will be meeting for eight weeks from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at 18300 East Warren, Detroit.

It will have its first meeting on Wednesday, February 1.

Enrollment may be made by calling instructor William C. Ghesquiere, a Harper Woods attorney, at 371-8180, or Thomas Bailey, acting principal, at 881-5531. Enrollment also will be held on the night of the first meeting. The fee is $12.

The basic study material in the course will be the Red Book published by the Detroit Real Estate Board and a Real Estate Form Book provided by a local title insurance company.

The Red Book includes the real estate license law and rules and regulations as administered by the Department of Licensing and Regulations, Division of the State of Michigan.

Subjects of study include mortgages, land contracts, appraisals, deeds, leases, options, listing agreements, landlord and tenant and generally all contracts relating to real estate transactions.

the award, presented annually by the National Association of Life Underwriters (NALU), for outstanding production during the preceding calendar year. NALU is the nation's largest professional organization for insurance agents.

Jewels & gems
 by Jerry-Valante
 Amethyst is the striking purple birthstone associated with the month of February. This quartz stone ranges in color from delicate violet to rich eggplant. Its sentiment is sincerity. Roman women thought the amethyst would keep their husbands' love constant. Its name comes from the Greek word meaning "not to be drunken."—the ancients thought the amethyst would prevent intoxication. One myth tells how Diana, the Goddess of Maidens, turned an innocent nymph into a white stone statue in order to protect her from Bacchus, the God of Wine. He repented and poured purple wine over the statue, and said that whoever wore the amethyst would not become drunk.

The only promises we make with the jewelry that we sell, here at VALENTE JEWELRY, 16601 East Warren at Kensington, is that they be of the finest quality available. We take the time with our customers to make sure that they know what they are buying and will be happy with their selection. If you don't know diamonds—know your jeweler! Do feel free to come in and browse anytime—we're open daily from 9 'til 5:30 and Fri. 'til 7:30.

GEM TIP:

It's Only Natural
 by L.C. Termini, N.D.
 I don't think anybody would argue with the proposition that our sight is one of our most precious gifts. It has an effect on our whole body and personality, as well as being of vital importance in the development of our intellect. Experts estimate that up to 80% of all learning is done by sight. More than just another feature on our face, eyes are the window of the brain out into the world. It is a personal sense. No one else sees exactly what you see. It is important to remember that our eyes though fairly resistant and hardy as far as diseases go, do require care and attention.

Center Series Eye Antiques

An antique lecture series is being offered by J. Jordan Humberstone, a member of the acquisitions committee of the Detroit Historical Society and an appraiser for the Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village, at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road, on Thursday mornings, January 12 to February 23, from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

The series will feature American clocks on January 19, Oriental rugs on January 26, lighting devices on February 2 and quilts and coverlets on February 9.

Thomas W. Brunk, architect of Michigan State University, will be a special guest lecturer on February 16 when he will discuss pewabic pottery. The series will end on February 23 with a lecture on antique folk art.

All lectures include slide presentations with time allowed for open discussion and consideration of pieces brought in by participants for identification. The series of six lectures is $30. Individual lectures are $5.50.

Suspect's Trial Date Scheduled

A Wayne County Circuit Court trial date of Tuesday, January 31, has been scheduled for a 19-year-old Detroit man, who was allegedly involved in holding up Little Caesar's, 19619 Mack avenue, reported Woods Dt. Charles Philip Hamel.

The suspect, Patrick S. Roelans, who allegedly took an estimated $210 in cash, was apprehended shortly after the robbery by Harper Woods police and turned over to Woods officers for investigation.

Peace of mind comes to the average guy after he decides to quit making good resolutions.

Center Hosts Singing Group

Princeton University's Nassau will sing of old Nassau and other things in the War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom Monday, January 23.

The informal concert will be preceded by coffee and dessert at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at $3.50.

For further information, call the Center, 32 Lakeshore road, at 881-7511.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats, Superintendent of Schools

The seventh in our list of Board-approved goals for the 1977-78 year is to "complete the reorganization of central office departments for the more efficient and productive operation of the school system."

Major steps in this direction were made during the early part of the 1976-77 year with the reassignment of some administrators to new directorships. These include a director of elementary education, a director of secondary education and a director of research and development.

It was imperative that the department of instruction contain staff members with definite responsibilities in the areas of elementary and secondary education. Until this occurred there had been no clearly defined line of responsibility for staff and program evaluation, curriculum or program development such as we have enjoyed with the reassignment of staff.

The more complete long-term pattern of reorganization which will be recommended to the Board of Education in the near future includes modifications in the roles for the chief administrator of several departments including pupil personnel, business affairs, support services, community services and personnel.

As an example, the position of director of pupil personnel will be changed to director of special education and become a part of the division of instruction.

Child accounting and school census activities, formerly handled by the pupil personnel department, will be shifted to the department of support services.

The department of personnel will be headed by a director as will be the department of business affairs. The three departments of business affairs, personnel and support services will be coordinated and directed by an assistant superintendent for administrative services.

Boat Owners Offered Tips

With the arrival of severe winter weather, the Coast Guard, in a U.S. Department of Transportation news release warned boat owners about the danger of ice damage to craft left in the water, and offered precautionary tips.

Several preventive measures the Coast Guard recommends include the following: To prevent ice from forming around the hull, install bubble devices that keep the water moving — in the area where the boat is moored.

To prevent damage to the hull from drifting ice or debris, suspend old tires or pieces of wood over the sides of the vessel to serve as buffers at the level of the waterline.

To guard against the danger of water entering through the exhaust pipe and sinking the boat, install a plug in any exhaust pipe located near the waterline. The problem is that the added weight of accumulated snow and water could cause a boat to settle enough to bring the exhaust pipe under water.

To keep mooring lines from parting, double all mooring lines. The extra weight of snow and water could cause single lines to part.

Boats should be inspected often. Watch out for holes in the hull, excess water in the bilges, loose caulking, broken seams and ruptured through-hull fittings.

'Exercise' Set By Unitarians

The Production Company will present Mel Mrochinski and Anne Gillis in "The Exercise" by Lewis John Carlino on Sunday, January 15, at 8 p.m.

This dramatic, full-length play by one of America's foremost modern playwrights will be given at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, 17150 Maumee avenue for one night only.

Mr. Mrochinski and Miss Gillis have both appeared on and off-Broadway and have been active in repertory theater throughout the country.

He is director of the drama department at the Interlochen Arts Academy and Miss Gillis is assistant director.

In the past two years Mr. Mrochinski has made the drama department at the academy one of the critically acclaimed in the country.

"The Exercise" will go on tour, and Detroit is the first stop. Admission is $3.50 and refreshments will be served at intermission. For ticket information, call 881-0420.

Center's Winter Classes Offer Activities for All

A new winter term of classes, both adult courses and children's studies, begin at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road, this month.

Jewelry making and Enameling is offered on a semi-individual student basis by Renee Adams Schulte on Tuesday afternoons, January 17 to March 21, from 1 to 4 p.m. and on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, January 18 and 19 and March 22 and 23, from 7 to 10 p.m.

Those interested may choose the time which best fits their schedule. The fee is $45 for 10 weeks plus $5 for certain materials, not the incorrect amount of $45 as listed in the Center's Activity Card.

Water Color classes taught by Louise Janssen Nobill, head of Wayne State University's painting department, and Ingrid Hofer, who received her training at the University of Hamburg, West Germany, will be held in the new art wing.

Mrs. Nobill's water color classes, "A Creative Approach," for both beginning and advanced students will be held Tuesday mornings, January 10 to March 21, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The fee is $74. Only two more openings are available in this class.

Mrs. Hofer's Water Color classes are offered in morning sessions from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and in the evenings from 7 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursdays, January 12 to February 16. These six-week courses for a fee of $30 are the last classes Mrs. Hofer will teach at the Memorial since she is moving out of town from her Tonnancour place residence.

Weaving will be taught at the Center by Urbin R. Jupena, head of the textile department at Wayne State. He will teach weaving on the new four harness Macomber looms purchased by the Center.

Classes will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Wednesdays, January 11 to March 22, at a fee of $65. He will also teach frame weaving on the same days from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. for a fee of $45.

Students in the frame weaving class are asked to pick up instruction sheets for loom construction prior to class where they will learn basic weaves and how to set up continuous warp on these portable looms.

Picture Framing will be taught in a series of classes and workshops on Mondays by Mrs. Patricia Lindheim for a fee of $30. Classes will be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on January 16 and 23 and February 13 and 20.

All day workshops are scheduled from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on January 30 and February 6. Students are asked to bring sack lunches to the all day sessions.

Noted Pointe artist Virginia Durbin Thibodeau will teach Drawing and Pastels at the Memorial Monday afternoons, January 9 to February 13, from 1 to 3 p.m. The fee is $40.

Painting Composition in Oil and Acrylics will be taught Friday afternoons, January 13 to March 3, from 1 to 4 p.m. by Daniel Rosbury, protégé of Robert Wilbert. Mr. Rosbury has taught at both Wayne State and Eastern Michigan Universities. The fee is $40 for eight weeks.

Needlepoint and Bargello will be taught Wednesday mornings, January 18 to March 15, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. by Cynthia Carson. Thirteen patterns for pillow samplers will be worked on and students may have their choice of colors. The fee is $36 for eight weeks. Materials kits cost $12.50.

Folk Guitar with Alexander Sucek, founder of the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival, Harvard graduate and master of nine languages, is taught on Monday evenings, January 23 to April 13.

A class for beginners is held at 6:45 and Folk Guitar II for intermediate students is at 8 p.m. All learn ever more difficult strums and chords and folk songs in many languages either to sing themselves or to accompany others. The fee is $22 for 10 lessons.

London England's Ricky Dove conducts Slynastics at the Center Monday afternoons from January 23 to May 1 from 1:15 to 2:45 p.m. It's a fun filled time of exercise and dance which does wonders to eliminate the holiday bulges. The tuition is $42 for 14 weeks.

Matinee Francaise with Mme. Warren Wilkinson of Grosse Pointe is a session involving beginning and intermediate French conversation which sparkles and entertains while one learns to become proficient and at ease in the language.

Those with some background and experience meet on Thursdays from 9 to 10:30 a.m. January 26 to April 27, while beginners meet the same days and dates from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon. The fee is $36 for 12 lessons.

Woods Raps Summer Tax

The Woods has reiterated its views against a School Board proposal on a summer tax collection.

In response to a letter from Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Coats, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen in a communication dated Thursday, December 22, referred to a unanimously approved resolution mixing such a collection by the council.

The measure indicated the solons weren't in favor of a summer tax collection "unless there was a corresponding reduction in taxes, since paying the same amount of taxes in the summer would actually result in increased taxes for residents."

At the same time, the resolution notes "if a summer tax collection program is pursued by the Grosse Pointe Public School System, that they be advised to furnish the city council with tangible alternatives."

Mr. Petersen added, "Our city council is therefore of the opinion that at the present time there is no need for further discussion of this matter."

At the time the Woods Council passed its resolution, the Board was considering a proposal to collect half the school property taxes in the summer and the other half in December.

However, the Board on Monday, December 12, voted 6-1 to make a formal request to the six municipalities in the school system regarding the collection of all school taxes in the summer, a half-year earlier than the usual collection date.

The earlier tax date would save the schools about $400,000 a year, according to Board figures.

The Board is currently seeking input on this question, and contingent on the Board bid for the July 1 collection date is complete agreement of all six municipalities.

GPW Planners View Meeting

Eight members of the Woods Planning Commission indicated their interest in attending a session Thursday, January 19, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the Harper Woods Municipal Building viewing the municipal planning process.

The commissioners approved such attendance with all necessary expenses being paid by the city. This matter is now scheduled to come before the council for its consideration on Monday, January 9.

Dr. Robert B. Hotelling, author of "Michigan Local Planning Commissioner's Handbook, 1977," is the discussion moderator and the $18 fee per participant covers all handout materials including Dr. Hotelling's Handbook. The program is offered by the Michigan Municipal League.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

It's always nice to sell high and buy low. There are a number of home owners in the Pointes that have proven this can be done very effectively and profitably. And they are, in a great part, responsible for helping Grosse Pointe return its image of having so many fantastically revitalized homes.

In essence what these wonderful people are doing is buying homes that need a great deal of work, applying love and care — making it their hobby and home. They love it — and their rewards are overwhelming. It doesn't have to be done hand-dim, style either. In many instances a new kitchen, retiled bath and good paint job is most of the "hard" work. The professional services of an interior decorator if you feel the need will usually convert a "wreck" of a home into a cozy warm dream home.

Yes these homes are available. If you feel in the need for some fun and diversion call us at Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co., 882-0087. We'll show you how to make 1978 a fun profitable year. Oh yes, have a great New Year!!

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
There is going to be an anniversary soon in Brys drive. On January 29 of last year, the house at 1592 Brys was severely damaged by an extensive fire. Building openings on the first floor and basement levels were then boarded over. The house remained this way for several months.

The city inspector tried on several occasions to enter the house for a thorough evaluation of the damage, but the law dictates that a locked building can only be entered with the permission of the owner. The inspector was not able to attain this permission.

Many residents of the neighborhood called to complain about this eyesore during the subsequent weeks and months.

Eventually, the city inspector and a State Board of Health inspector returned. Noting the stagnant water in the basement of the structure, the shards of glass and mounds of fermenting grass clippings surrounding the house and the quantities of bird droppings spattered about by the flocks of tenants, the inspectors condemned the house for health reasons.

Condemnation proceedings were delayed when the house was sold. The new owner is a contractor who has detailed plans for restoration of the house, but who has done nothing other than tack a building permit to the structure, (last November).

We, the undersigned, feel that the structure at 1592 Brys drive should be demolished or refurbished, immediately. The apathy of the many city, (of Grosse Pointe Woods), officials contacted regarding this year-old blight is in sharp contrast to their well-publicized endorsement of a beautification program for the city.

(Editor's Note: The letter is signed by 23 Brys drive citizens, representing 24 individuals.)

To the Editor:
We, of The Salvation Army, would like to extend our sincere appreciation to the citizens of the metropolitan area of Detroit for their support of our annual Christmas drive. Those who contributed, those who volunteered their time and the media, radio, TV and newspapers that helped us tell our story.

The Salvation Army in the metropolitan area was able to touch the lives of nearly 70,000 individuals through our prison toy lift program, visits to 30,000 patients in 200 rest homes and hospitals, senior citizen's party for 1,200 at Cobo Hall, checks for Christmas dinners to 6,000 families, Christmas Toy Shop and neighborhood Christmas parties.

From all of those we were able to serve, please accept a very simple "thank you." May God bless you.

Sincerely,
Raymond Carroll,
Lt. Colonel,
Divisional
Commander

Stresses Fire Safety Rules

Drawing information from statistics released by the Michigan Ass'n. of Insurance Companies, (MAIC), Park Fire Chief Phillip Costa shared greater fire safety awareness data for perusal of Pointe residents.

According to the release, a fire breaks out every seven minutes in Michigan, and one person dies every day in the state as a result of a fire. Three quarters of these deaths occur in residential occupancies and more than one-third of those victims were asleep at the time of the fire.

Pointe residents should take note that many of these deaths and fire-related injuries could be eliminated if they were more aware of fire safety measures, notes the chief.

The best safety measure to prevent fire tragedies is to eliminate fires before they start, but if they should start, there are several things to remember including the following:

*Avoid smoke asphyxiation by crawling or crouching below the smoke.

*Check all doors before you open them. If a door is hot, do not open it. Intense heat or poisonous fumes can kill you instantly.

*In a frying pan fire, smother the flames with the lid or baking soda. Don't use water or flour, which may cause the fire to explode.

*Never try to put out an electrical fire with water as water is a dangerous electricity conductor.

*If your clothes catch on fire, don't run for help. Drop to the ground and roll around, or wrap yourself in a blanket or rug to smother the flames.

*Make sure that everyone is aware that there is a fire by making a lot of noise.

*Never re-enter a burning building, especially if you are trying to recover anything of value. Your life is more precious than valuables.

*Call the fire department. Keep the phone number of the department handy. If you have more than one telephone in the house, keep the fire department number near each phone, with other emergency numbers.

*Don't jump from a window unless absolutely necessary. Help is usually on the way.

*Above all, do not panic. Go to a prearranged meeting place outside and wait. That way you can tell firefighters if anybody is still trapped inside.

The MAIC report disclosed that 358 persons were killed by fires in Michigan last year. But, if everyone practices fire prevention and fire drills, that number can be reduced. Bear in mind that fire prevention is a full time job.

Chief Costa said 74 percent of all fatalities occurred in residential dwellings and nearly 34 percent of the victims were asleep at the time of the fire.

The chief stressed there are now a number of reliable smoke detector alarms on the market. Local residents should contact their respective departments for advice on the best purchase, and where the most logical place would be to install them in their houses.

Woods Changes Meeting Date

The first regular meeting of the Woods Council was changed from Monday, January 2, a New Year's holiday observed by city employees, to Monday, January 9, at 7:30 p.m.

The council approved this change at its regular meeting Monday, December 19.

Swinging Into The New Year

Swinging into the New Year are members of the Grosse Pointe Council of Square Dance Clubs, (clockwise, from top), DOROTHY and PAUL SCHMITT, of Littlestone road, GEORGE and MARGE WEBER, of Kensington road, LARRY and VIRGINIA CHADZYNSKI, of Grayton road, and STUART and ELAINE MICKLETHWAITE, of Emory court.

Many experienced square dance couples invite their friends to "give it a go" at this free dance. But a personal invitation is not required: all non-square dancing couples are invited. All one needs is a partner . . . and some comfortable shoes. Caller Wes Rea explains and teaches so thoroughly that new dancers are amazed to discover they can dance everything that is called. They quickly get caught up in the beat of the music, the caller's lingo, the fun everyone is having.

Many come back the following week to enroll in a Beginners Class in Square Dancing. The Grosse Pointe Council of Square Dance Clubs offers classes at three levels: Beginners, Intermediate and Advanced.

Promenaders and Starmakers are Council member-clubs that sponsor club dances, attracting jointly as many as 300 dancers to their monthly dances.

Couples unable to come to Monteith School January 16 are invited to come without charge the following Monday, January 23, to Poupard School, Van Antwerp and I-94 service drive, to try out square dancing.

The class is taught by the popular team of Wes and Julie Rea. Further information may be obtained by calling 884-2988.

Tuesday Musicale Continues Season

First Program for New Year Will Feature Instrumental and Vocal Music; Second Is Dedicated to Crusade for Strings

Tuesday Musicale of Detroit, under president Mrs. Ellwyn A. Gilbert, of University place, will offer concerts on the 10th and 24th of January. Both will be held at 10:30 o'clock in the Lecture Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Mrs. C. E. Exley, of Lakeshore lane, chairman of the day for the January 10 concert, has planned a program of instrumental and vocal music. Violinist Mrs. George Peterson, of Bedford road, accompanied by pianist Mrs. H. A. Howes, of Bedford lane, will open the program with "Sonata (The Tombeau)" by P. Locatelli, as arranged by Ysaye.

"Concerto in F for Descant Recorder and Piano" by Giuseppe Sammartini will be played by Mrs. John V. Deaver, of Berkshire road, on the recorder and Mrs. Exley at the piano.

Two compositions for trombone, Salzedo's "Piece Concertante, Op. 27" and Filmore's "Lassus Trombone," will be performed by Mrs. Robert J. Crossen, of Tonnacour place, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Robert Shover, of Hampton road.

Soprano Mrs. Eugene Ignasiak, of Dorthen road, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Exley, will sing three Hugo Wolf songs — "Fussreise" (Wandering), "Verborgeneit" (Secrecy) and "Mausfallen Spruchlein" (Mousetrapping Rhyme) — and four "recipies" from Leonard Bernstein's "La Bonne Cuisine."

The finale, Chopin's "Polonaise Fantaisie, Op. 61" will be performed by pianist Mrs. Edward J. Gall, of Wedgewood drive.

Mrs. Kurt R. Keydel, of Detroit, has planned the program for January 24, dedicated to the National Federation of Music Clubs' "Crusade for Strings."

The opening selection, Grieg's "Sonata No. 1 in F Major, Op. 8," will be played by Mrs. Catherine Goodsell, of St. Clair Shores, on the violin with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Edward Vaholis, of Aline drive.

Handel's "Sonata No. 8, Op. 2" will be played by violinists Mrs. Frank Zocharski, of Detroit, and Mrs. Peter J. Cubba, of Lakeshore lane, with Mrs. Crossen at the piano.

Mezzo soprano Mrs. Frank G. Murch, of Detroit, violinists Mrs. Walter N. Marony, of Dearborn, and Mrs. Walter York, of Hazel Park, guest violinist Miss Jamie Philp and cellist Mrs. N. D. Gavril, of Garden City, will perform three songs from Gretchaninov's "Dead Leaves, Op. 52."

The finale, Mozart's "Trio No. 2 in B Flat Major (K 502)," will be presented by violinist Mrs. Peterson, cellist Mrs. Paul G. Eliason, of Balfour road, and pianist Mrs. Thomas I. Young, of

The Mike Morans are coming home. They've been gone three-and-a-half years, living first, for six months, in Cologne, Germany, then, for the past three years, in Melbourne, Australia, where Mr. Moran was vice-president, Asia-Pacific for Ford Credit.

They'll be missed in Melbourne. They've been very active there in promoting American-Australian relationships through many civic functions.

Lorine Moran's paintings, sculpture and ceramics were featured at an exhibit honoring Australian and American Women of Achievement and Distinction, at the residence of United States Consul General Robert Brand and Mrs. Brand.

That figures. Lorine was very much a working artist here: member of the Detroit Society of Women Painters and the Michigan Potters Association, former president of the Grosse Pointe Artists Association.

In Melbourne, she served for two years as a volunteer instructor in ceramics and sculpture at the School for Seniors, Central Mission. As president of the American Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Children's Hospital, she was a leader in the activities of American women.

Pointe Alliance to Open Year

The new year begins for the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe with a slide lecture by Mark Stevens, of Moross road, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial next Thursday, January 12, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Stevens, who has traveled widely, will show pictures of his journeys on the Riviera in the south of France and through Normandy and Brittany in the north. The lecture, in English, is open to the public.

The old year ended with the annual soiree musicale at the Woodland place home of Pointe Alliance President Mrs. Warren S. Wilkinson.

Performing Thursday, December 15, were Mme. Fontaine Laing, piano, M. Richard Pippo, professor of Music at Oakland University, cello, and Deborah Kuick, flute.

Miss Kuick is an M.A. from the Juilliard School of Music.

Their numbers were from the works of Chopin, Poulenc, Caplet, Dutilleaux and Faure. After a champagne interlude, the evening ended with a medley of sing-along Christmas carols.

Pointe Alliance events continue through the year. They will be announced in the NEWS and by letters to members.

Maniscalco to Give Palette Club Critique

Lakeside Palette Club will present Joseph Maniscalco, portrait painter, in a critique of members' paintings Tuesday evening, January 10, at 7:30 o'clock in the Teen Room of the St. Clair Shores Recreation Center in East Jefferson avenue.

The program is open to the public, although only Palette Club members may submit paintings to be critiqued.

Mr. Maniscalco is known in this area for his classes at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. He maintains a studio in the Scarab Club and enjoys a national reputation. He recently judged the Ohio Artists Annual Exhibit at the Toledo Museum.

Top of Flame Date for DRC

The Top of the Flame restaurant will be the scene of a Tuesday, January 10, luncheon and program for members and guests of the Detroit Review Club.

Chairman of the day is DRC past-president Mrs. Marion H. Crawmer. Official hostess at the luncheon will be first vice-president Mrs. Robert W. Kefgen, of Wick Lane.

Mrs. Kefgen will conduct the business meeting following the program, featuring Kenneth Kettlewell, pastor, First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, with slides on Edgar A. Guest, Detroit's poet laureate.

In the film presentation, Mr. Kettlewell will introduce a tape recording of Edgar Guest's son, Bud, reciting several of the poet's verses. Edgar A. Guest was Detroit's own poet. His verses focus on America and the family, and the virtues of the human spirit, love and parenthood.

The Reverend Mr. Kettlewell has served at First Presbyterian Church of Detroit since 1973. His is the oldest Protestant congregation in Detroit, founded in 1816.

First pastor of First Presbyterian was John Monteith, who also served as first president of the University of Michigan.

Mr. Kettlewell is a graduate of Muskingum College in New Concord, O., and of Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. He served in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The Kettlewells have toured and led tours in the Holy Land, the British Isles, Europe and the Philippines. They are the parents of three married children.

Exchanging marriage vows Saturday, December 17, at a candlelight ceremony in United Methodist Church, Lone Rock, Iowa, were MAUREN KAY ANGLE, daughter of the Earl Angles, of Burt, Iowa, and Mr. Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel H. Hayes, of Oxford road.

Miss Angle Bride of John P. Hayes

They Travel Through Southwest en Route to Their New Home in California; Tonya and Taedra Bradley Are Flower Girls for Aunt

The candlelight ceremony in United Methodist Church, Lone Rock, Iowa, at which Maureen Kay Angle spoke her marriage vows to John Paul Hayes was followed by a reception in the church parlor.

Officiating at the 4 o'clock rites Saturday, December 17, was Pastor Paul H. Sohn.

The bride, daughter of the Earl Angles, of Burt, Iowa, wore a gown of ivory Qiana jersey, styled with wrist length sleeves, a full train and a keyhole neckline and high collar trimmed with Alencon lace and seed pearls.

Matching lace edged her fingertip veil, which fell from a Juliet cap of Alencon lace and seed pearls. Tulle and white satin streamers tied her Colonial bouquet of American Beauty and Christmas roses, with ivy and baby's-breath.

She was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Anthony Bradley, of Livermore, Iowa, as honor matron, and bridesmaid Mrs. David Jackson, of Dallas, Tex., in frocks of ivory, rose and burgundy voile, fashioned with lace-trimmed V-necks, long sleeves and tiered skirts.

They wore picture hats of burgundy ribbon straw, complementing their long gowns, and carried Colonial bouquets of burgundy carnations and Christmas roses tied with white satin ribbon.

Flower girls Tonya and Taedra Bradley, of Livermore, the bride's nieces, were in burgundy velvet. They carried white straw baskets filled with Christmas roses, burgundy carnations and baby's-breath.

Tom Bradley, their brother, lighted the candles for the ceremony. Bronze vases of American Beauty and Christmas roses decorated the altar.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel H. Hayes, of Oxford road, asked his cousin, Paul Robert Jones, IV, of Port Huron, to act as best man.

After traveling through the southwest, the newlyweds are at home in Newport Beach, Calif.

The American Women's Auxiliary raises funds through the American Independence Day Ball, held each year to raise money for research and equipment for infants with respiratory problems.

Dame Patricia Mackinnon, president of the hospital board, awarded Mrs. Moran an Honorary Life Governorship of the hospital in recognition of her work. Lorine's pastel drawing of an American Indian was presented to the hospital, for the enjoyment of all the young patients.

At this year's American Ball, Mr. and Mrs. Moran led the Grand March with the new United States Ambassador to Australia, Philip Alston, and Mrs. Alston.

Some 200 Australian and American women attended the farewell tea given for Lorine by Mrs. Brand at the United States Consulate residence. All Melbourne is sorry to see the Morans go... but all Grosse Pointe will be delighted to welcome them back at the end of January.

AMERICAN TRADITIONAL FURNITURE AND ACCESSORIES

1903 to 1978!

What a joyful year for a celebration! We're 75 years old and still growing. Harry and Ozzie Wigg opened the little "Wiggs Fair Shop" in Pontiac way back in 1903 with hopes, and hard work, and great expectations!

The past 75 years have been most fulfilling... with continuous growth, first in our Pontiac location and then, expansion to Bloomfield Hills in 1962. We have enlarged our American Traditional Furniture Galleries again and again... tripling the size to over 58,000 sq. ft. of tastefully appointed furniture groupings and gallery settings.

Our China, Crystal, Silver & Gift Shop is recognized as one of the finest in the United States, featuring American classics and European imports.

Come, browse a while at Wiggs! We've been pampering our customers since 1903, and would love to serve you. Our talented Interior Designers and professional Salespeople are here to help coordinate the interior of your home to the very last detail... including accessories, wallpapers, draperies and carpeting.

Mainland China Visit Fascinates Pointe Pair

By Ann Wallace

"We hardly had time to unpack our bags," exclaimed Mrs. Allen Neef. "When my husband and I returned from our trip around the world, which included stops in Russia, where we travelled on the Siberian Railroad, we were notified by Pan American Airlines that we had been selected to participate in the 'Pan American World Tour of China' — the very first one!"

So Mr. and Mrs. Allen Neef left their Stonehurst road home Wednesday, November 30, and returned Saturday, December 17, from a trip to China that included stops in Hong Kong, Canton, Hankow, Shanghai and Peking.

They were among 120 very fortunate people, including doctors, attorneys and engineers from all areas of the United States, chosen from Pan American's "Frequent Travelers Group." There were, however, no teachers or journalists among them.

"Our tour flew to Hong Kong," continued Mrs. Neef, "and then we took a train to Canton in Communist China. From there the China Domestic Airlines conducted the tour, which was extremely well organized."

"In March, the exact same tour will be featured again for anyone who cares to go to China. It will then be available at two-week intervals," noted Mrs. Neef. "The people there are very friendly and anxious to please, so the tours should be a great success."

The Neefs were impressed with the sense of well-being on the part of the Chinese people. "Even though all the adults wear the plain, two-piece navy blue pant and jacket outfit, with brass buttons and Mandarin collar, it doesn't reflect their personalities. They seemed to be very happy, out-going people. The children all wear colorful clothing, though."

"Everyone is well-fed and there seem to be jobs available if the people want them," continued Mrs. Neef. "In our tour group, there were some people who had been to China some years ago. At that time, they said, the people in general seemed depressed, hungry and down-trodden."

"This is not true any longer. The people in our tour were greeted everywhere by smiling faces."

"Everywhere we went, including some private homes, there were pictures of Chairman Mao who is regarded as the man who has helped China in its steps forward in the well-being of the people," observed Mrs. Neef. "It is not required to have the chairman's picture in the homes, but the people desire the picture as they are grateful to him for the advances that have been made."

"In the stores and shops, along with Chairman Mao, there also were pictures of Karl Marx, Lenin and Engels," added Mrs. Neef.

While the Neefs were in Peking, they were invited to the home of Leonard Woodcock, former president of the United Auto Workers, now head of the American Liaison Office in China.

In Peking, some American officers who were living there with their families, were also visited. "The husbands," noted Mrs. Neef, "were very happy. But their wives were not as content, as there is not too much for them to do as far as clubs and shopping are concerned."

"The shopping is quite difficult. Only a few 'Friendship Stores' were available to the officers' wives, as well as ourselves."

"But we all were able to find some real bargains in many items such as cashmere sweaters which sold for $12."

"Antiques can be bought and taken out of the country — but only if they have a special seal," emphasized Mrs. Neef. "There is beautiful handwork, jade and scrolls that are also available for purchase, but everyday household supplies are in short supply."

The tour group, now divided into six small groups of 20 people per group, necessary because of small buses and facilities in general, was taken many places, among them the operating room of a hospital.

A thyroidectomy was in progress with acupuncture the only 'anesthesia'.

"It was just unbelievable," exclaimed Mrs. Neef. "The patient, a woman, simply got up from the operating table after surgery and walked away. It was truly amazing, to say the least!"

"We also saw acupuncture being used to aid deaf children. Needles were placed in their ears. Magnets also were used in opening up the ear canals."

The food in all the cities was very good and there was plenty of it, including 15 course meals! "There was no snack food in the places we visited," noted Mrs. Neef, "but with those big meals, we had no room for snacking."

"In the large hotels, there would be fruit served in the rooms. We also could get Western food for breakfast, but as the only eating utensils served are chopsticks, it is a little difficult to eat a fried egg with them!"

Mrs. Neef was able to visit the "barber" in Peking to have her hair washed and set. She had to admit that was a little unusual, but she was grateful. For mainland China has no beauty shops as we know them.

The weather was very cold, especially at the Great Wall of China, where cold winds blowing down from Manchuria keep the temperatures frigid. The Neefs were grateful to have been cautioned about the weather before leaving their home.

The Neefs were not cautioned, about keeping journals or dairies. The one in which Mrs. Neef kept details of what she had seen and included her general impressions of the country was taken from her hotel room.

When the "loss" was reported, the hotel officials admitted taking it. They said it would be kept for "technical" reasons. She was told it would not be returned.

"I have reported this incident to the American Embassy in Hong Kong," said Mrs. Neef.

The Neefs are back now in Grosse Pointe, possibly thinking about their next trip. But as the expression goes, "Can you top this?"

To Say Vows In February

Plans for a February 18 wedding at the Lakeshore road home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Fisher, Jr., are being made by Judith Fisher Chrysler and K. Peter Knudsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Semon E. Knudsen, of Cleveland, formerly of Bloomfield Hills.

Their engagement was announced during the holidays at a dinner in Palm Beach, Fla., where both the Fisher and Knudsen families have winter homes.

Fair Planning Rites in April

The engagement of Marjorie Marie Bommarito and Steven Joseph Himmelfarb was announced at a cocktail party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Giacomo Bommarito, of St. Clair Shores, formerly of Crestwood drive.

Out-of-town guests included the prospective bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Himmelfarb, of Newington, Conn., and his grandmothers, Mrs. Alex Himmelfarb and Mrs. Joseph Rubenstein, of Newington. Miss Bommarito, who holds an Associates degree in Merchandising from Northwood Institute, plans a career in retail merchandising. Her fiancée, who holds both an Automative Associates degree and a Bachelors degree in Business from Northwood, will pursue a career in the automotive aftermarket.

They plan an April wedding.

Hunt-Hodges Vows Spoken

Duane Alan Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Hunt, of Beaconsfield avenue, claimed Margaret Noelle Hodges, daughter of Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Russell B. Hodges, of Highland, Calif., as his bride Friday, December 30.

Setting for the evening ceremony and the reception following was Sterling Heights' Eastlawn Missionary Church. The Reverend Norman Zimmerman presided at the 8 o'clock rites.

The newlyweds, who wrote their own vows, are making their home in Fort Wayne, Ind., where both are attending Fort Wayne Bible College while the bridegroom is in ministerial training.

The bride's white gown was floor length, styled with a scoop neck and medium train, edged in lace with lace flowers on the skirt, and accented with seed pearls. She carried white roses.

In burgundy double knit frocks were Nancy Hodges, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Marsha Hock, of Ortonville, Kimberly Wills, of Union City, Ind., and Mrs. Miqueas Bustos, of New Orleans, La., the bridegroom's sister.

The bridesmaids carried pink roses, the honor attendant a white rose.

Dale Hunt was his brother's best man. In the usher corps were Dennis Hylander, Alan Yerke and Samuel Schlatter, of Newton, Kans.

St. Clare Cubs 'Experience' Children's

When Jimmy had his tonsils out at Children's Hospital of Michigan a few years ago, he knew what to expect because his mother, nurse KATHY SUROWIEC, gave him a personal tour of the hospital beforehand. Now all children who have elective, (non-emergency), surgery at Children's have the same preparation to help them cope with their hospital stay, and children such as these boys from Saint Clare de Montefalco Cub Scout Pack 399, to whom Mrs. Surowiec is explaining the "mysteries" of a blood test, are encouraged to experience the hospital in groups.

"When you begin a new job or enter a new school, you learn what to expect in an orientation session — but children usually go to the hospital with no preparation," says Mrs. Surowiec, a nursing supervisor who has been at CHM for 14 years.

"Jimmy felt more comfortable about the whole experience because he knew what the hospital looked like and he'd met some of the people who would take care of him."

The unique pre-admission program which Mrs. Surowiec initiated at Children's reduces the psychological trauma that may develop from inadequate preparation.

"The program takes away the mystery of the hospital and makes coping easier," explains Dr. David Faigenbaum, director of Psychological Services at CHM and a consultant to the program. "It minimizes the psychological side effects so recovery is hastened."

Children often react to fear of the unknown by elaboration and fantasy, to the point of distorting reality, notes Dr. Faigenbaum. Sometimes, their anxiety even produces new physical or psychological symptoms which reduce their ability to deal with the major problem.

Children come to the hospital with their families, on a Saturday morning prior to surgery.

They are encouraged to bring brothers and sisters who also will learn more about the hospital and be better prepared to handle any temporary disruption of family life which may result from one family member's hospital stay.

A nurse meets the children in the Admitting Playroom, (separate from the adult visitors' lobby), where toys and brightly painted murals immediately put the children at ease.

The tour includes a visit to the admitting laboratory where blood tests are given. "We're only talking about it today," Mrs. Surowiec usually has to remind some worried youngsters.

Other unfamiliar sights and sounds of the hospital are presented in a slide show about a five-year-old's tonsillectomy. This honest and direct presentation points out: "Your throat may be sore after surgery, or it may hurt where the bandages are."

Seeing these things gives the child an opportunity to work out his or her fears and achieve a sense of mastery over the situation, says Dr. Faigenbaum.

While the children visit the master playroom for milk and cookies and see a typical patient room, the parents have their own orientation session.

"Parents, also, have fears and concerns to be allayed," says Mrs. Surowiec. "Preparing parents properly helps them to prepare the child."

Parents appreciate learning about hospital procedures ahead of time, so they can anticipate problems. They also have a chance to ask questions about their child's reactions to surgery.

"It's comforting to know his reactions are common," said one relieved parent.

The Richard Allor family accompanied son, Richard, one Saturday morning recently before he was scheduled for surgery. "I wanted to see how everything would be," said Mrs. Allor, "and Richard wasn't as scared after he came to the orientation."

Mrs. Allor learned that Children's Hospital encourages parents to become involved in caring for their child in the hospital.

The program is designed to prevent the misconceptions children have about hospitals.

The program is held each Saturday morning in the Admitting Department at 11 o'clock for patients scheduled for surgery. Groups of nursery school or elementary students may arrange to come for the orientation by calling the hospital, 494-5383.

Phase I Sets Sunday Talk

Getz-Tomkinson Vows Exchanged

Lace and Pearls Accent Bride's Candlelight Silk Organza Gown and Fingertip Veil; Pair Are at Home in Cincinnati

Elizabeth Tomkinson, of Mapleton road, and Arthur Henry Getz, Jr., exchanged marriage vows Saturday, October 22, at a 4:30 o'clock ceremony in Saint Paul's Episcopal Church, Akron, O.

The rites at which The Reverend George Ross and Father Thomas McCann presided were followed by a reception at Akron's Portage Country Club.

The newlyweds vacationed at the Greenbrier in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

The bride's gown of candlelight silk organza featured an Empire waist appliqued with Alencon lace and accented with rosettes of seed pearls. A deep border of matching lace and pearls edged her cathedral length train.

Lace and rosette motifs were scattered over her fingertip veil, falling from a small, Juliet cap. She carried ivory Sweetheart roses, with baby's-breath.

She was attended by a step-sister, Virginia Chenoweth, of Akron, as maid of honor, and by bridesmaids Jean and Christine Chenoweth, two other step-sisters, Mrs. J. Richard Tomkinson, a sister-in-law, of Fort Wayne, Ind., Mrs. J. Michael Getz, the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Donald Parfet, of Richmond, and Diane Morarec, of Denver, Colo.

They wore sheer, ivory capes over their ivory Qiana frocks, styled with spaghetti straps, Empire waists and pleated skirts. Each carried two long-stemmed rubrum lilies.

Flower girl Amy E. Tomkinson, of Fort Wayne, the bride's niece, wore a floor length, silk taffeta dress, in ivory, with a tucked bodice, and carried a small nosegay. Charles Getz was his brother's best man. In the usher corps were J. Michael Getz, J. Richard Tomkinson, Thomas Madison, Walter Cytacki, Wayne Brumbaugh, of Catonsville, Md., Cliff McFeely, of New Canaan, Conn., and Timothy Quigg, of Henderson, N.C.

The mother of the bride wore a long gown of American Beauty silk taffeta. A stand-up ruffle rimmed her scoop neckline. Her sleeves and hem were ruffle-edged. She pinned a small cymbidium orchid to her purse. The bridegroom's mother chose a long gown of jade green Qiana, long-sleeved and featuring a draped, scoop neckline. She wore a corsage of baby rosebuds at her waist.

Mrs. N. W. Tomkinson came from Arizona to attend her granddaughter's wedding.

At a late afternoon ceremony Saturday, October 22, in Saint Paul's Episcopal Church, Akron, O., ELIZABETH TOMKINSON, of Mapleton road, was married to Mr. Getz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Getz, of Buckingham road. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Richard A. Chenoweth, of Akron, and the late Richard Tomkinson.

Farm, Garden Club to Meet

Mrs. Hugh Daly's lovely home at the foot of Edgemont Park, overlooking Lake St. Clair, will be the setting next Monday, January 9, for the Grosse Pointe Farm and Garden Club's January meeting. The program, following 12:30 o'clock luncheon, will feature Thomas Brunk speaking on Pewabic Pottery — A Background for Collectors. Mrs. Daly's co-hostesses will be the Mesdames John Dodds, Frederick Hart and Orville Thompson.

Kallai Joins Orchestra Hall

As part of a continuing effort to restore Orchestra Hall to its former glory, the board of trustees has appointed an old "friend" of the hall to the newly-created position of executive director.

Sandor Kallai has joined the organization after four years as general manager of the Syracuse Symphony Orchestra in New York State. Kallai is no stranger to Detroit. He served for three seasons as general manager of the Meadow Brook Music Festival, the summer home of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

He then was retained in 1973 by the Orchestra Hall board of trustees to do an exhaustive economic feasibility study which took him all over the state.

"I never could get Orchestra Hall out of my mind and I'm glad to be back," Kallai says. "It always amazed me that the hall had been saved and restored to the extent it has with so little money and manpower."

Kallai's appointment hopefully will mark the beginning of a new era of expanded volunteer involvement in the activities of Orchestra Hall, particularly in large-scale fund raising.

"Orchestra Hall needs money that will have to be obtained from many, many resources," Kallai says. He is attempting to get national support for the project, and has already met with officials of the National Endowment for the Arts in Washington, D.C.

"National support of this kind lends an air of legitimacy to any project. Being registered on the National Trust for Historic Preservation list has helped the hall in the past, and more support will be needed."

Support from the NEA, for instance, will afford the hall a "leg up" to approach local agencies and individuals for matching grant funds, the new executive director explains.

"But this is just a first step; it is nowhere near the whole project. I want to see Orchestra Hall stop plodding along and pick up the momentum it deserves. I also want to call national attention to all that has been done so far on the project."

Louis Parenti will continue in his position of managing director of the hall. He remains responsible for the day-to-day activities of the hall, as he has been for almost two years.

"Parenti's credentials are impressive and his contribution so far has been important. But clearly there is much more to be done than one man, alone, can do," Kallai notes.

As executive director Kallai will really be serving as the professional leader for the Orchestra Hall organization, according to Paul Ganson, president of the Orchestra Hall board of trustees.

"This is something we need now more than ever," Ganson says. "I am sure Kallai will give us the help we need to keep this hall an important part of Detroit's developing cultural scene."

Kallai's previous experience also includes tenure as manager of the Kansas City Philharmonic and music critic of the Kansas City Star.

Dry Hardwoods Make The Best of All Fires

Any kind of wood will burn eventually. But if you want a long-burning, hot fire, choose seasoned hardwoods. According to Mel Koelling, Extension forester at Michigan State University, the kind of wood and its moisture content are the two big factors in firewood quality. As a general rule hardwoods, (trees that lose their leaves), burn hotter and longer than softwoods, (the cone-bearing species); therefore seasoned hardwoods such as oak, hickory, beech, hard maple and American elm are the preferred woods for fire-building. However, if you had to decide between an unseasoned or wet hardwood such as oak or a dry conifer such as pine, you might get along better with the pine. "Wet, green wood is awfully hard to get started burning," Koelling explains. "You need a hot fire going to dry it out to the point where it will burn."

"And a small fire like that in a fireplace rarely gets that hot, at least initially." Burning green wood over a long period of time can also cause a buildup of tar and creosote in your fireplace flue. A hot fire can ignite this material.

In newer homes this will probably pose no problem, but in an older home the mortar may have cracked or come loose from the bricks, and a chimney fire may grow into a home fire.

Before using a wood stove, fireplace or wood-burning furnace with an old flue, it's a good idea to have the flue inspected and cleaned or rebuilt, if necessary. Afterward, use seasoned wood. Hot fires made with dry wood will help keep the chimney clean.

Generally speaking, a home fireplace is more for esthetics than for heat, Koelling observes. Therefore, for most homeowners, it's more important to buy wood that's easy to start than to buy wood because it has a high heating value.

Conveniently, seasoned hardwoods give both ease of starting and plenty of heat. "Wood should be aged at least six months after cutting before it's used," the specialist says. "Six months of air drying outdoors should get it down to about 20 percent moisture."

"If you're cutting your own wood from live trees, you should be working six months to a year ahead of your needs."

If you're buying wood, you'll have a better chance of getting seasoned wood if you buy in the fall or early winter. By late winter, dealers may have run through their stock and be cutting fresh wood that is high in moisture.

"Whether you're buying wood or cutting your own, be sure to get a stock of small kindling and a mixture of sizes to get your fire started," Koelling suggests. "You can't expect to put several six-inch logs on a pile of newspapers and have them take off and burn. You need a good supply of kindling and smaller logs to get a fire going before you put on your larger pieces."

"Small, dry tree branches and twigs, wood scraps from a lumber yard or construction project, corn cobs and dry pine cones make good starting materials," he says. Or you can split kindling from larger logs.

Start small when building a fire, he advises. You may wish to begin with newspaper and very small kindling, adding larger and larger pieces of wood as the fire takes hold. If the fire is slow to start, add more little kindling. Under no conditions add lighter fluid, gasoline, kerosene or other flammable liquids once the fire has been started. Flames can flash up the stream of fuel and set off the can in your hands, resulting in serious injury.

"Charcoal lighter fluid can be used in small amounts on kindling to get a fire started," Koelling adds, "but it should never be put on a flame or hot coal."

When you go out to buy wood, you're likely to find it sold by either the cord or the face cord. A full cord is four feet high, eight feet long and four feet wide.

Bowling Night For Newcomers

Grosse Pointe Newcomers will gather Saturday, January 14, in the Foc'sie Room of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The evening's main activity will be bowling, with shoes and balls provided.

Chairman couple are Chuck and Laura Huebner. Assisting them are Darrel and Sandy Schuurman, Dick and Shirli Williams, Gene and Julie Francis and Dave and Carol Evans.

The committee has planned a light buffet for 10 o'clock, plus beer and nibbles throughout the evening. A cash bar will be available.

Party price is $15 per couple. Reservation deadline is Saturday, January 7. Guests will be allowed if the member quota is not filled by deadline.

Couples who have recently moved from an area not touching the boundaries of Grosse Pointe are eligible for Newcomers membership. Interested couples may contact the membership chairman at 882-8461 or 882-6992.

Grand Marais Club to Meet

Mrs. Stevie Cook will open her Lewiston road home Monday, January 9, for the monthly meeting of the Grand Marais Garden Club. Mrs. Harold Davis and Mrs. Cecil Schuert will assist as co-hostesses.

The noon luncheon will be followed by a business meeting and a "Treasury of Wildflowers" program by Mrs. Henry Kohring.

Detroit Symphony Gets Boost from Business

Early last fall, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra invited area business institutions to "take a client to the Symphony" through the DSO's Corporate Sales Campaign for season tickets.

The campaign ended recently on a note of resounding success. One hundred and forty Detroit-area business concerns reserved 7,079 seats for 83 different DSO concerts this season, representing 628 season subscriptions on 15 different series plus 284 reservations for non-subscription special concerts.

The corporate sales effort resulted in ticket sales in excess of $47,000 according to campaign chairman David Eastlick, of Balfour road, president of Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Eastlick headed the committee of 18 leading Detroit-area businessmen who encouraged firms to include an evening at the symphony in their entertainment and award programs for customers and employees.

The individual leader on the corporate sales committee was David Rogers, personnel manager of the J. L. Hudson Company, who generated sales of $3,500.

Close behind him were Gerald MacDonald, senior vice-president of Manufacturers National Bank, with sales of $3,300, and Kevin Walsh, vice-president, National Bank of Detroit, with sales of $2,700.

Other members of the Corporate Sales Campaign committee were Joseph F. Paulus, senior vice-president, Bank of the Commonwealth; Dudley Ward, vice-chairman, Budd Company; James Grathwohl, manager — civic and community affairs, Burroughs Corporation; Robert P. Feeser, executive vice-president, City National Bank; Robert L. Zartman, secretary, Cunningham Drug Stores; Leon S. CUSTOM BUILT for the present owner, this Farm Colonial has a sumptuous master suite on the main floor. Upstairs are three spacious bedrooms and two baths. The enormous living room features a cathedral ceiling with open rafters, fireplace and a wide bay window. The Early American family room also has a fireplace, wet bar and random width oak pegged floors, two lavatories are on the main floor and a large utility room contains the laundry and plenty of cupboard storage. A formal dining room and wide, brick foyer welcome you to this magnificent home. The swimming pool and walled yard are completely private.

ALL BRICK CUSTOM RANCH. Formal dining room, family room, large kitchen, two bedrooms, bath and a half. Two and one half car attached garage. We're so excited about this one which is a block from Lake Shore. In the Farms and priced at $78,000.

THE PERFECT HOUSE in the perfect location if you want a locale near transportation, schools and shopping. This ranch home has three bedrooms and an attached garage and is just a few blocks to I-94 and Eastland shopping. Priced realistically to settle an estate. $29,000.

DRIVING BY only will give you half the story about this contemporary home in the Shores, just a block from Lake Shore. Within this handsome, buff brick house are two main floor bedrooms. There are four more bedrooms on the second floor serviced by two full baths. The formal living room is complemented by a separate dining room. Of course, there is a family room. And it opens onto a patio which surrounds the swimming pool. Want a heated greenhouse? This one has one. Do you have a family situation which requires separate quarters for a relative? Our offering has a separate apartment with living room and fireplace, bedroom and private bath. This apartment has a private entrance and has access from the house.

New Law Gives Seniors Home Sale Tax Break

With the price of houses going up every day, selling a home you have lived in for several years can be a revealing experience. Its value has probably skyrocketed.

While it's nice to make a profit on the sale of your home, the thought of paying taxes on that profit probably is not so nice. But, if you are age 65 or older, sell your home in 1977 or later and meet a couple of requirements, thanks to a change in the tax law, you may be eligible for a larger tax break than in past years, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

In fact, claiming this break on the sale of your home can save you many dollars on your 1977 tax return.

If the adjusted sales price of the home you sell is $35,000 or less, you can exclude the entire gain from the sale of the home and pay no taxes on your profit.

This means that if you bought a home for $15,000 in 1957 and sold it in 1977 or later with an adjusted sales price of $35,000, you would pay no tax on your $20,000 profit.

If the adjusted sales price is more than $35,000, the tax break is prorated. In the past, the full tax break could be taken only if the adjusted sales price was $20,000 or less. Of course, as indicated, you must be age 65 to benefit from this break.

When the law speaks of adjusted sales price, it means the amount you receive after paying selling commissions and certain allowable fixing-up expenses.

For example, if you sell your home for $45,000, pay a selling commission of $1,500, and incur allowable fixing-up expenses, such as painting part of the interior of the house, of $500, your adjusted sales price is $43,000.

To report the sale of your home you use Form 2119, "Sale or Exchange of Personal Residence." After entering your sales price, selling commissions and fixing-up expenses on the proper lines of the form and calculating your adjusted sales price, you must complete the form to determine the amount your gain, if any, that is taxable.

Form 2119 should be attached to your tax Form 1040, and the amount of taxable gain, (after capital gain provisions), is ultimately added to the rest of your taxable income on Form 1040. Bear in mind you must use the 1040 form to claim this tax benefit.

Mellon Grant Goes to DSO

Receipt of a three-to-one matching grant of $300,000 from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation for application toward the orchestra's permanent endowment program was announced last month by Detroit Symphony board president Robert B. Semple, of Beacon Hill.

The Mellon grant is the second major gift to be applied toward the $1 million three-to-one matching challenge grant awarded the DSO by the National Endowment for the Arts last summer.

The first was a gift of $325,000 from the Ford Motor Company Fund for production of a nine-program national PBS television series.

"We are grateful to the Mellon Foundation for its generosity in aiding the Detroit Symphony in its quest to bring the orchestra's permanent endowment up to the level necessary to insure its continued growth and, indeed, its very existence," Mr. Semple stated.

"The three-to-one matching challenge should act as strong incentive to those prospective donors interested in the perpetuity of this vital cultural institution."

Under the terms of the Mellon grant, matching gifts in the amount of $900,000 must be obtained in order to qualify for the full $300,000 grant.

It is hoped that most matching gifts will be restricted for permanent endowment by the terms of the gift; however, gifts received without such restrictions may qualify for matching purposes if designated by the orchestra's board as permanent endowment.

Gifts received by the Detroit Symphony on or after January 1, 1977, qualify as matching grants if otherwise in conformity with the requirements. Matching must be completed by September 30, 1980.

The Mellon Foundation grant was designed to complement the National Endowment for the Arts' Challenge Grant Program. Both programs are expected to assist cultural institutions in the long-term development of a stable financial base.

Booklet Aids Handicapped

The Oakland County Easter Seal Society has updated and reprinted the "Rights and Information Handbook for Persons With Handicaps in Michigan."

The handbook is a digest of legal rights, services and useful information affecting persons with handicaps in Michigan. Parents, educators, professional people and persons with handicaps will benefit from the information it offers.

"To date," says Mrs. Herbert Fisher, president of the Oakland County Society, "over 3,000 copies have been sold throughout Michigan; however we are just scratching the surface."

"Michigan has beneficial legislation for persons with handicaps. Unfortunately, these laws are useless if they are not enforced and handicapped persons do not know what their rights are under the law."

The update contains information on the Michigan Handicappers Civil Rights Act that went into effect March 30, 1977. This law applies to an employer who has more than four employees, employment agencies, labor organizations, places of public accommodations, educational institutions and housing.

In addition, the handbook contains many chapters of useful information covering such topics as education, employment, accessibility, housing, transportation, medical affairs, social security, income taxes, auto and life insurance for persons with handicaps.

Anyone interested in obtaining a copy of this handbook may send $2.50, which includes postage and handling, to Oakland County Easter Seal Society, 1105 North Telegraph road, Pontiac, Michigan 48053.

Michael L. Weamer, executive director, hopes this booklet will help to increase public awareness and move all of us a step closer to a society of equal opportunity for all persons.

Club Offers Floor Hockey

The Neighborhood Club is offering league play in floor hockey, a safe, exciting game played with plastic sticks and a plastic puck. League play is offered for first through sixth graders.

Games are about an hour long and are tentatively scheduled for Saturdays. The club plans to have a North Division playing at Parcels Middle School and a South Division playing at Pierce Middle School.

The league begins on Saturday, January 21, and continues through the end of March.

No prior experience is necessary and all equipment is provided.

Workshop Set For January 7

Former War Memorial photography instructor Joseph Messina will feature a Colonial home in Cameron place as part of his winter on location photography workshops which begin Saturday, January 7, and continue through March 18.

The residence, which will be photographically explored on Saturday, January 21, contains notable works of art, African, Contemporary and a Chinese porcelain collection.

GOODHART, Michigan (12 Miles North of Harbor Springs). We spent most of 1977 preparing this beautiful place for ourselves but now an unexpected move forces sale. Sit back and try to visualize this charming ranch type two bedroom home (three baths) situated on the side of a hill overlooking Lake Michigan. Almost an acre of land, surrounded by 40 ft. Pine trees, fruit trees, Maple and Birch. This is a year round home with two stove fireplaces (master bedroom and living). Gas heat, new carpeting in kitchen, new disposal, excellent appliances include washer, dryer, electric range, refrigerator, 22 ft. screened porch, built in wall oven. Completely new water system installed in July 77 with 140 foot well. New combination garage and storage building (May 77) with overhang roof covering 24 ft. porch, built to match home. In addition there is a cabin (needing minor repairs) to accommodate guests or can be used for rental property. Cabin has just been re-wired and water connected. Approximately 260 ft. frontage with split rock fence (1977) and beautifully landscaped with three levels on front lawn. Life time paid membership to private Lake Michigan beach just across the road. All you need to move in is furniture with absolutely nothing to do (except cabin). All this for $59,500. Taxes just over $600. For further details you may call the owner in Grosse Pointe 882-3141 or the agent Mrs. Caroline Woods 1-616-526-5068 in Goodhart. If you hurry up there and buy this from Caroline, please remind her to reimburse me for this ad.

New Law Gives Seniors Home Sale Tax Break

With the price of houses going up every day, selling a home you have lived in for several years can be a revealing experience. Its value has probably skyrocketed.

While it's nice to make a profit on the sale of your home, the thought of paying taxes on that profit probably is not so nice. But, if you are age 65 or older, sell your home in 1977 or later and meet a couple of requirements, thanks to a change in the tax law, you may be eligible for a larger tax break than in past years, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

In fact, claiming this break on the sale of your home can save you many dollars on your 1977 tax return.

If the adjusted sales price of the home you sell is $35,000 or less, you can exclude the entire gain from the sale of the home and pay no taxes on your profit.

This means that if you bought a home for $15,000 in 1957 and sold it in 1977 or later with an adjusted sales price of $35,000, you would pay no tax on your $20,000 profit.

If the adjusted sales price is more than $35,000, the tax break is prorated. In the past, the full tax break could be taken only if the adjusted sales price was $20,000 or less. Of course, as indicated, you must be age 65 to benefit from this break.

When the law speaks of adjusted sales price, it means the amount you receive after paying selling commissions and certain allowable fixing-up expenses.

For example, if you sell your home for $45,000, pay a selling commission of $1,500, and incur allowable fixing-up expenses, such as painting part of the interior of the house, of $500, your adjusted sales price is $43,000.

To report the sale of your home you use Form 2119, "Sale or Exchange of Personal Residence." After entering your sales price, selling commissions and fixing-up expenses on the proper lines of the form and calculating your adjusted sales price, you must complete the form to determine the amount your gain, if any, that is taxable.

Form 2119 should be attached to your tax Form 1040, and the amount of taxable gain, (after capital gain provisions), is ultimately added to the rest of your taxable income on Form 1040. Bear in mind you must use the 1040 form to claim this tax benefit.

Now what are the requirements for claiming the exclusion on the sale of a personal residence by an older American?

First, you must have owned and used the property as your principal place of residence for at least five years within an eight-year period ending on the date of sale. This means that a beach or other vacation home would not qualify for the exclusion, nor would a home you purchased four years ago.

The second requirement is that you must never have used the tax exclusion before, because it may only be used once in your lifetime. If the property is jointly owned, either person may take the exclusion.

More information on the sale of a home by older Americans is available free from the Internal Revenue Service in Publication 523, "Tax Information on Selling or Purchasing Your Home," and Publication 554, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans."

The Oakland County Easter Seal Society has updated and re-printed the "Rights and Information Handbook for Persons With Handicaps in Michigan."

The handbook is a digest of legal rights, services and useful information affecting persons with handicaps in Michigan. Parents, educators, professional people and persons with handicaps will benefit from the information it offers.

"To date," says Mrs. Herbert Fisher, president of the Oakland County Society, "over 3,000 copies have been sold throughout Michigan; however we are just scratching the surface."

"Michigan has beneficial legislation for persons with handicaps. Unfortunately, these laws are useless if they are not enforced and handicapped persons do not know what their rights are under the law."

The update contains information on the Michigan Handicappers Civil Rights Act that went into effect March 30, 1977. This law applies to an employer who has more than four employees, employment agencies, labor organizations, places of public accommodations, educational institutions and housing.

In addition, the handbook contains many chapters of useful information covering such topics as education, employment, accessibility, medical affairs, social security, income taxes, auto and life insurance for persons with handicaps.

Anyone interested in obtaining a copy of this handbook may send $2.50, which includes postage and handling, to Oakland County Easter Seal Society, 1105 North Telegraph road, Pontiac, Michigan 48053.

Michael L. Weamer, executive director, hopes this booklet will help to increase public awareness and move all of us a step closer to a society of equal opportunity for all persons.

The full class, including a critique session, is $90. For further information, contact Mr. Messena at 821-6619.

Club Offers Floor Hockey

The Neighborhood Club is offering league play in floor hockey, a safe, exciting game played with plastic sticks and a plastic puck. League play is offered for first through sixth graders.

Games are about an hour long and are tentatively scheduled for Saturdays. The club plans to have a North Division playing at Parcels Middle School and a South Division playing at Pierce Middle School.

The league begins on Saturday, January 21, and continues through the end of March.

No prior experience is necessary and all equipment is provided.

The registration deadline is Saturday, January 7, at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo avenue, or at one of the following schools: Pierce, from 9 to 10:30 a.m.; Brownell, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; and the club, from 1:30 to 3 p.m. No mailed registrations are accepted, and a parent or guardian must register the child.

Adults and high school students interested in coaching and officiating can contact Betz Johnson, recreation director, at the club, 885-4600.

Mellon Grant Goes to DSO

Receipt of a three-to-one matching grant of $300,000 from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation for application toward the orchestra's permanent endowment program was announced last month by Detroit Symphony board president Robert B. Semple, of Beacon Hill.

The Mellon grant is the second major gift to be applied toward the $1 million three-to-one matching challenge grant

MICHAEL A. DONOVAN, OF ST. PAUL'S CATHOLIC CHURCH, PAUL E. CHRIST, OF ST. PAUL LUTHERAN CHURCH, AND J. GARY FULTON, OF CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, (LEFT TO RIGHT).

By Janet Mueller

They're all in the same business. And that, in essence, is what Christian Unity Week is all about. As Pastor Christ puts it: "It's 'our' church. We need to recognize that we all belong to one church, and practice different traditions within it."

Today, that sounds like simple sense. A few years back, it was a revolutionary concept.

Came Vatican II. Windows flung up. Doors thrown open. Hey, there! We're all Christians . . .

We're all people, but each person is unique. Why think of unity as squashing together? Turn that definition around. See unity as expansion: an inclusive rather than an exclusive term. A gathering—not a squashing—together.

To Change Pulpits On Sunday, January 22, Monsignor Francis X. Canfield, pastor of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, will preach at the 9:30 o'clock service at St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church. The Reverend Robert F. McGregor, rector of Christ Church, will preach at the 11 o'clock service at St. Paul Lutheran.

Monsignor Canfield will be in the Christ Church pulpit for the 5:30 o'clock service Saturday, January 21. Sunday sermons at Christ Church will be delivered by Paul Christ, St. Paul Lutheran associate pastor, (8 o'clock), Dr. Kenneth R. Lentz, senior pastor, St. Paul Lutheran, (9:15 o'clock), and Father Michael Donovan, associate pastor at St. Paul's Catholic Church, (11:15 o'clock).

Pastor Christ will preach at the two Saturday evening services at St. Paul's Catholic Church, at 5 and at the 6:15 folk music mass.

The Sunday schedule at St. Paul's Catholic Church has Mr. McGregor in the pulpit for the 8:30 o'clock mass, J. Gary Fulton, associate in Christian Education, Christ Church, speaking at the 10 o'clock high mass and again at 11:30 o'clock, and Pastor Lentz delivering the sermon at the 1 o'clock mass.

Congregations to Join Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, members of all three congregations will come together at Christ Church for Evensong. Speaker will be Dr. Fred W. Meuser, president of Lutheran Theological Seminary, Columbus, O. Coffee and conversation in the Christ Church Undercroft will conclude the program.

The weekend before the weekend of the pulpit exchange, the laity are encouraged to visit around, to attend services at each other's churches.

"This sort of thing is happening in other communities throughout the country," Father Donovan, Pastor Christ and Mr. Fulton emphasize. And not just during Christian Unity Week. "We have cooperated in celebrating baptisms, weddings and funerals."

But for most members of their three Grosse Pointe congregations, Ecumenical Week is the one time during the year when they experience a Christian tradition other than their own.

How do they accept it? "Very, very well," says Father Donovan. "I think the exchange of pulpits is exciting for a lot of people," says Mr. Fulton.

At first, the pulpit exchange was just between St. Paul's Catholic and Christ Church Episcopal. About two years ago, St. Paul Lutheran was invited to participate.

Host Church Alternates Each year, the culminating Sunday evening program is hosted by a different church. Last year, at St. Paul Lutheran, it featured a panel discussion, utilizing the clergy, on "The Meaning of the Eucharist."

It remains, so far, a program between the three liturgical churches in the community. "And that," says Mr. Fulton, "raises a question: should we invite other parishes?"

This year, a letter is being sent inviting members of all local congregations to participate in Ecumenical Week Evensong.

Mike Donovan, at 41, is the senior member of the trio pictured above. He's also senior in terms of service in Grosse Pointe. He came to St. Paul's Catholic Church 16 months ago.

He majored in Philosophy and English Literature at Sacred Heart Seminary College, receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1954. Four more years of professional theological studies culminated in the S.T.B. degree from Catholic University of America.

After studies in psychology and psychotherapy at the University of Detroit, he obtained a Master of Arts degree in cultural anthropology from the University of Michigan in 1970.

Divided His Time Since ordination to the priesthood in 1962, Father Donovan has spent eight years in full-time parish work and nearly eight years in campus ministry at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

He has taught courses in theology, pastoral counseling and anthropology at Mercy College and the University of Detroit. He is the author of three books and several technical articles in the field of psychology and religion.

He finds Grosse Pointe "a very pleasant, warm community." He finds the numbers of St. Paul's Catholic parish pretty overwhelming: on a given Sunday, 3,000 of St. Paul's 5,500 communicants turn up for services.

Paul Christ, born July 18, 1941, is the junior member of the trio. He's also junior in terms of service in Grosse Pointe. He arrived August 1, and was installed as associate pastor of St. Paul Lutheran September 11.

Cabinet Maker, Cook Pastor Christ received his Bachelor of Arts degree from California Lutheran College in 1966. He majored in Religion and Philosophy, working part time at jobs ranging from cabinet making, (his father's profession), to pizza cook.

He served as director of Youth and Education at Gustavus Adolphus Lutheran Church, St. Paul, Minn., from 1967 to 1970. He entered Lutheran Theological Seminary, St. Paul, in 1969, did student intern work with A Christian Ministry in the National Parks and completed clinical training at Methodist Hospital in Minneapolis.

After graduation from Lutheran Seminary he was ordained August 28, 1972, at his home church in Tucson, Ariz.

He served as first pastor for Christ Lutheran Church, Belfair, Wash., from 1972 to 1975. Most recently, he was the resident minister of Yellowstone National Park under the auspices of A Christian Ministry in the National Parks, serving two year-round congregations and supervising a summer ministry corps of 50 college and seminary students.

Jacque and Joshua. Gary Fulton has 10 years' business experience, most recently as a Sales Engineer for NRM Corporation, Akron, O. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in Education from the University of Akron in 1969, his M.Div. from Virginia Theological Seminary in 1972.

Served in Army He served in the United States Army from November, 1956, to November, 1959, receiving an Honorable Discharge.

His specialized training includes clinical pastoral work at Spring Grove State Mental Hospital, Catonsville, Md., a month's chaplaincy to unwed mothers at the House of Mercy, Washington, D.C., pastoral counseling with alcoholics and a month's ministry to the very sick and dying patient and his family at Sibley Memorial Hospital, Washington, D.C.

He was a member of the Diocese of Alabama Department of Christian Education, Province IV Committee on Christian Education, the Alabama Consultation Team and the Consultation on the future of the Episcopal Church-Huntsville.

He is involved in the Diocese of Michigan's Human Resources Development and is chairman of the Diocesan Task Force on Youth.

Gary, a year younger than Mike Donovan, and Marty Fulton have two children: Michele, 13, and Eric, 12. Sometimes, Gary Fulton, who describes his year at Christ Church as "the most challenging of my life," finds himself musing on how really difficult it is for the rich to get into the Kingdom.

"There is a great deal of pain here," he says, "and a great deal of privacy: people hiding their pain. It's difficult to get through."

Fragments Itself Michael Donovan and Paul Christ nod. They, too, find it difficult to get through. They feel that this community tends to fragment itself, to divide its life into boxes. Push one in. Pull another out. Don't spill over.

"They're in the box marked 'Religion.' How would you like to be opened only on Sunday? Especially when you're in the business of helping people to be whole."

For several years now, a group of parishioners of St. Paul Lutheran, St. Paul's Catholic and Christ Church have been meeting for monthly "dialogues." The idea is to get to know one another and, knowing, to understand one another, and understanding, to cooperate more and more with one another. As individuals and as congregations.

Committee Members The program committee for Ecumenical Week is drawn from these dialogues: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Firnschild and Mrs. Richard Gersch, Lutherans; Mr. and Mrs. Laurance Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. Jere Krieg and Mrs. C. E. Wade, Jr., Episcopalians; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Measelle, Roman Catholics. Mrs. Wade is committee chairman.

"I think," says Gary Fulton, "that we're at the threshold of a new thing. We're coming out of a long tradition of the laity as passive recipients. We are going to see more and more lay people moving into positions of responsibility and power within the church."

"That's a good point." "Right. But how to do it. That's the problem."

Common to them all. Recognized as such. Now, if one of them could come up with a solution; perhaps if all of them put their heads together . . .

Short and to The Pointe

MRS. ILEEN KRAUSE, formerly of Maryland avenue, is now residing in Honolulu, Hawaii, after a trip to Duluth, Minn., to visit family members. Mrs. Krause was a clerk in the credit office of the downtown J. L. Hudson store.

Receiving awards at Mount Clemens Art Center's Fibers exhibition were JEANNE ALLEN, of Rivard boulevard, who received special merit, and CHARLENE A. O'NEIL, of Kensington road. The exhibit represented a wide range of techniques in quilting, weaving, ikat, tapestry, collage, macrame and pressed fibers.

A sophomore at Olivet College majoring in Music, DANIEL SCHERER, son of DR. and MRS. ROBERT SCHERER, of Lakecrest lane, performed in the percussion section of Olivet's orchestra during the first concert of the year.

Presently studying at Michigan State University is GAIL SATTLER, daughter of the R. I. SATTLERS, of Oxford road, who recently was among 14 alumni who returned to Alma College to give present pre-medical and pre-dental students assistance in gaining acceptance to medical and dental schools.

LINDA ANN WOOTEN, of Woods lane, is among students enrolled for the 1977 to 1978 academic year at Forsyth Dental School, affiliated with Northeastern University, Boston, Mass.

MARTIN B. RICHARDS, of Blairmore court, has returned to Michigan State University this fall where he is a senior. Having maintained a 4.0 grade point average his junior year, he is interviewing for the Rhodes, Churchill and Marshall graduate scholarships.

Pointer DANFORTH P. HOLLEY has been elected to the board of trustees of Jordan College, Cedar Springs. The west Michigan-based school is known for its alternate energy engineering program and especially solar research. Four buildings are partially heated by solar energy.

THE REVEREND FRED CAMPBELL, of the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church, was recently elected to the nominating committee of the Unitarian Universalist District of Michigan.

This time it's the top of the line: a Rhodes, covering two years of study at Oxford University, England, where Eric will pursue interests in Philosophy, Politics and Economics.

The Rhodes Scholarship, one of the most prestigious collegiate awards, is granted to students who exhibit excellence in leadership, academics, citizenship and physical rigor. Eric qualifies on all counts.

Who, in his spare time (!), enjoys football, soccer and basketball, as well as playing the guitar, with a decided proclivity for country-western and blues?

Who, as a member of the Economics Department Student Advisory committee, helped plan lecture series and departmental operations? Who serves on the Inter-term committee, organized to make the most of Amherst's 4-0-4 term schedule? Who has played on the Amherst golf team, worked as a tutor and established an on-campus pizza business?

Rhodes Scholars are encouraged to travel during their stay abroad. Eric looks forward to his visit to England as "an educational and cultural opportunity."

Anyone want to bet he won't make the most of it?

From The Family Album

Hope your Christmas card from Judy and Bruce Bartsch, of Lakeland avenue, didn't arrive on a day you were feeling ugly. There they are: the Model Couple with Model Children, Kelly, Tom and Jeff—not even a slightly homely one in the bunch. It ain't, as they say, fair . . .

Hope your Christmas card from former Pointers Betty and Bob Collins didn't arrive on a day you, dressed in blue jeans and a torn shirt, were fixing the plumbing. There they are: Tara Revisited—Betty and the girls, Susan and Martha, in Southern Belle ball gowns, Bob looking pretty spiffy, too, in a red tartan jacket. And THEN they had the nerve to write, from San Antonio, "It was 89 degrees here yesterday . . ."

Anne McGarry looked awfully good in the family Christmas photo she and Kevin sent, but at least Anne had the grace to admit Chicago was buried under 10 inches of snow. The McGarrys, always were my kind of people . . . Hope they, and any, or all of their five children, (who are, by the way, looking good, too), manage a visit to the old Grosse Pointe stamping ground soon . . .

Among Harper-Grace Hospital physicians directing, co-directing or serving as panelists at the annual 1977 meeting of the Michigan State Medical Society held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel were Pointers DR. ANTHONY PETRILLI, DR. J. HOWARD BINNS, DR. RODMAN TABER and DR. MARCELLO ESPIRITU.
