

FUTURE OF PARK EXPLORED

HEADLINES of the WEEK

As Compiled by The Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, October 5

AFTER A RAIN-soaked funeral mass attended by an estimated 50,000 people, Pope John Paul I was buried in the grotto of Saint Peter's Basilica, joining his immediate predecessors whose names he chose in their honor. In a two-hour service, the cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church paid tribute to "the smiling pontiff" whose brief reign lasted only 34 days. The crowd in Saint Peter's Square broke into extended applause as the Pope's body was carried inside the church for burial.

Friday, October 6

PRESIDENT JIMMY Carter received a major legislative victory when the House sustained his veto of the $10.2 billion public works bill he had termed inflationary and wasteful. The roll call vote fell 53 votes short of the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto. Mr. Carter vetoed the bill in the name of "fiscal responsibility." He had claimed much of the bill would be used for "pork barrel" projects that were clearly wasteful.

Saturday, October 7

A MAJOR VICTORY for the women's movement came as the Senate voted 60-36 to extend the ratification deadline for the Equal Rights Amendment to June 30, 1982. The House has already okayed the extension, and it does not need President Jimmy Carter's signature. Without the extension, the deadline for getting the three more required states to ratify the ERA would have been March 29, 1979. Thirty-five states have approved the amendment so far.

Sunday, October 8

THE NATION'S senior black Congressman, Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr. of Detroit was found guilty of all 29 charges of defrauding the government of $66,000 between October 1973 and March 1977. Diggs, who said he would return to work as usual this week pending an appeal, was found guilty of 11 counts of mail fraud and 18 counts of filing false payroll vouchers. Each of the counts carries a maximum of five years. Each mail fraud charge also carries a maximum $1,000 fine and each false vouchers count, $10,000 maximum.

Monday, October 9

A DAY-OLD cease-fire between Syrian troops and right-wing Christians in Lebanon was marred by scattered shelling and sniping in Beirut, its suburbs and nearby mountain areas. Syria declared the cease-fire on Saturday in an attempt to halt the worst fighting in the three-year long civil war. The state-run Beirut Radio said there were "limited and isolated violations of the cease-fire," but Christian leaders claimed the cease-fire was meaningless and fighting would continue.

Tuesday, October 10

THE SENATE VOTED to cut taxes by $172 billion across the board over the next five years, tying the reductions to a restraint in government spending and a balanced budget by 1982. The plan calls for a phased-in tax cut of 25 percent by 1983 if the growth in federal spending is slowed sufficiently to obtain a balanced budget by 1982 and a surplus in 1983. President Jimmy Carter is likely to veto the bill if it gets through the House, which also is doubtful.

Tenth Anniversary Celebration Awaits Jaycees

ter president 1968; JOHN CHOUINARD, current president; and WALLY HELIN, president in 1977, chairman of the event. The public is invited to attend. For further information, call Mr. Helin at 921-0888.

Program for Elementary Schools Slowed by Failure to Meet Equipment Schedules

A state-mandated lunch program that was scheduled to begin operation in Pointe elementary schools on Monday, October 9, will be delayed until mid-November, a school spokesman said last week.

The delay is due to the "failure of vendors to provide equipment according to their promised schedules," according to the school system's Director of Support Services Ben Zenn.

Will Receive Notice
"They promised we'd get the equipment in early September, then it was early October, and it's still not here," Mr. Zenn said.

"We expect it to be in by late October, but just to play it safe, we probably won't begin the program until mid-November," with parents being notified, he said.

The equipment in question is being shipped out of Florida. Mr. Zenn said most suppliers of school lunch equipment have been swamped with orders this year because of new federal and state laws that require school lunch programs across the country.

Suit Filed Against Teacher In Secret Tapes Incident

A Parcels Middle School shop teacher last week was sued by the school district for illegally eavesdropping on members of the administration when he allegedly, and secretly, made tape recordings of evaluation and grievance conferences.

Northwest Area Survey Results to Aid Woods In Grant Applications

Officials in Process of Preparing Documents for Community Development Block Grant Funds; Questionnaire Covers Variety of Areas Including Income, Seven-Mack Shopping Center

By Roger A. Waha
Results of a recent telephone survey of residents in the northwest area of The Woods should prove helpful to officials in their effort to prepare an application for Community Development Block Grant funds. The objectives of the survey, conducted by Nordhaus Research, Inc., of Farmington were to aid the municipality in determining if it qualified for funds under the program, and how the funds should be utilized.

A related goal was to determine the number of "low to moderate" income families, which is a main criteria for receiving monies.

Nordhaus reported the interviews took place in an area bounded on the east by Mack avenue, on the south by Vernier road and on the north and west by the city limits. Of a total of 444 names available, interviews were completed with 341 citizens. Of the other 103 which couldn't be completed, the greatest number, (32), refused to participate.

Thanks Residents
The survey, which included 10 questions, had to be brief, noted City Administrator Chester E. Petersen, "but I think Nordhaus did a professional service. I'm, as a whole, well pleased with the contents of the questionnaire and the information obtained."

"On behalf of the city, we appreciate the cooperation of the majority of citizens in the area. They have enabled us to possibly qualify for a program which will definitely benefit their area."

On such a survey, Mr. Petersen said he sees this form of research as being broadened for utilization in other areas of the community toward helping officials identify needs there.

Big Hurdle Passed by SH Project

Finance Commission Authorizes Board to Issue $2.15 Million in Bonds; Second Cost Analysis Proves Favorable

By Susan McDonald
Plans for a renovation of industrial arts facilities at South High School passed a major hurdle Tuesday, October 3, when the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission authorized the School Board to issue $2.15 million in bonds to finance the project.

The commission's approval came after a second, independent cost analysis of the project was completed last week by Dow Associates of Midland. The firm's report indicated the project can be built well within cost estimates prepared by project architects, William Kessler and Associates.

The bonds, which must be purchased in $5,000 increments, will go on sale Thursday, November 2, according to the school system's Director of Business Affairs Larry Rankens.

Presentation Set
With financing now assured, Kessler plans to begin advertising for bids on the construction work within a few weeks, according to a school official.

The architectural firm also has scheduled a public presentation of the plans for Tuesday, October 17, at the South High auditorium at 8 p.m. All interested citizens are invited to attend.

The renovation project includes construction of a new industrial arts building along Fisher road where several tennis courts now stand.

It will house wood, metal and auto shops that are now crowded into a wing of the main school building. That wing will be converted to house art, drafting and photography classrooms.

The new building will be mostly underground, rising just about eight feet above ground level. Tennis courts will be reconstructed on top of it.

First Concrete Issue Faces New Group in Park

Efforts Underway to Prevent Closing of City National Bank Via Petition Drive; Loss of Branch Would Hurt Immediate Area, Coordinator Says

By Susan McDonald
The brand-new coalition of residents of the western part of The Park was handed its first concrete issue last week when officials at City National Bank announced they will close down the branch at Kercheval and Alter road on Wednesday, November 1.

To the bankers the decision is a question of simple economics. "What it comes down to is that deposits have gone down so severely at that branch that we're operating in the red there," explained Diane Nelson of City National's public relations department.

Take Grim View
But members of the recently formed coalition of residents, churches and businessmen, tentatively called Grosse Pointe Park West, see the decision in a different light.

They take a grim view of the effect the bank closing will have on the commercial strip at the "gateway to Grosse Pointe Park." Instead of moving out, they'd like to see City National become active in revitalization efforts in the area.

To make their point with bank officials, the group, under the leadership of Father Thomas Krell of Saint Ambrose Church, is conducting a petition drive in The Park and the neighboring Detroit area.

"As the largest institution, the bank symbolizes stability and strength. Its loss will be one more negative step contributing to the decreasing health and viability of the neighborhood," the petition says.

As an alternative to closing, the petition proposes that City National participate "as a civic leader in the revitalization of the area."

"They could join with Grosse Pointe Park West, the city and new block clubs on Alter in Detroit and a whole host of other church and community groups to support the health of the neighborhood and revitalize the whole environment," the petition reads.

Remains Hopeful
Father Krell said the group hopes to present the petitions with several hundred signatures to a bank official late this week.

City Changes Meeting Date

The City Council will hold its regular monthly meeting on Monday, October 23, rather than on the 16th as previously scheduled.

The meeting will be held at city offices, 17147 Maumee avenue, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

'Cat' Suspect Faces Court Hearings in Detroit, GPW

Floyd Harris Jr., 27, of Dickerson, Detroit, the so-called alleged "cat" burglar who has been plaguing The Pointe and surrounding communities for several months, was arraigned on examination before Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Vernon Boewe on Saturday, September 29.

Bond was set at $15,000, two sureties, which Harris was unable to meet, and he was remanded to the Wayne County Jail until the next scheduled pre-trial conference, according to Wayne County Assistant Prosecutor Robert Horn.

New Group Makes Debut At Meeting

Stormy Session Greeted New Neighborhood Coalition, GPP West, Which Represents Part of City Bordering Detroit

By Susan McDonald
A chance to talk about the future of their city drew nearly 200 people to a lively, if unruly, first meeting of Grosse Pointe Park West, a new neighborhood coalition of businessmen, church leaders and residents, on Tuesday, October 3.

Expressions of fear and suspicion mingled with hope and support from the audience for efforts to form block clubs, fight crime and the flight of business in the western part of The Park bordering Detroit.

The area is one of The Pointe's oldest sections. Signs of decay are visible in small pockets of run-down housing, a few empty commercial buildings and the growing fear of crime among residents.

Many Concerned
"We called this meeting because we wanted to know where Grosse Pointe Park — particularly the western part — is going," said Bob Mellinger of Lakepointe road, who chaired the meeting.

"Given the turnout here tonight, I'd say it's obvious there are a lot of people concerned about the same thing."

While the concerns may be similar, the proposed solutions inspired heated, angry debate among the audience.

Some opposed the involvement of the liberal Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice in the Grosse Pointe Park West coalition. And Park City Manager John Crawford's discussion of federal programs to rehabilitate housing and business areas drew equally suspicious responses from a few citizens.

The Park is expecting a $99,000 grant from the federal government's Community Development Block Grant program to make improvements to the Kercheval Avenue Business District.

In addition, $50,000 has been received for a Demonstration House program under which the city will purchase and rehabilitate a run-down structure and then relocate a Park family into the home.

St. Paul Repair Is Progressing

By David Kramer
Work on the repair of Saint Paul On-the-Lake Church is progressing, with workmen replacing much of the roof which was damaged by fire in early June.

It's going slower than I had anticipated," said Monsignor Francis Canfield, the church's pastor. Although he has "cherished a quiet hope" that repairs would be completed in time for Christmas, he isn't letting those hopes get too high.

The monsignor said parishioners and others have been very generous toward contributing to the restoration fund. These funds will not be used for repairs as such, since those costs are covered by insurance, but rather for long-needed improvements.

Those improvements will include a new $40,000 air conditioning system, an updated heating system costing about $20,000, improved lighting, refilling the mortar in the brick walls, sidewalk repair and, of course, fire and smoke detectors.

The monsignor said the "real action" began the third week of August, after most of the summer was spent working details out with the insurance companies and the Archdiocese.

The work is under the supervision of Gerald Diehl, engineer-architect.

New Group Explores Future of Park

(Continued from Page 1) make low interest loans available for housing improvements and a planning program also have been submitted and are awaiting approval by federal officials. Many of the concerns expressed at the meeting centered on suspicions of integration "strings" that may be attached to federal grants. Mr. Crawford was interrupted several times by angry questions shouted from unidentified people in the audience.

The programs, he assured the audience, will be city-sponsored and city-run.

"The only 'strings' that will be attached will be those that we put on the program. Basically, if you borrow money, you must pay it back," Mr. Crawford explained.

Though they were pleased with the number of people who turned out for the meeting, its sponsors were somewhat distressed at its unruly nature.

"The unspoken, underlying issue on many people's minds at that meeting was race," Mr. Melling said after the meeting. "The biggest fear most of us have is if we don't do something to take care of our property and people start moving out, we'll lose control."

Big Ambitions
 "Our basic purpose is not to prevent integration — that's not right. But there are some problems looming down the line for that neighborhood. There's some very visible decay, and we've got to get together to do something about it," he said.

Grosse Pointe Park West was started by a handful of representatives from civic groups, churches and businesses in the area.

To get the group off the ground, representatives of Grace United, First Christian Reformed, Saint Ambrose and Saint Paul churches joined with leaders of the Park Business Ass'n., the Inter-Faith Center and Grosse Pointe Park Civic Ass'n. to send out 900 flyers announcing the meeting at Defer School.

The group's ambitions are big. They hope to help form block clubs, increase pride in residents and businesses in the area, fight decay, involve the community in civic affairs, prevent crime and encourage personal contact among neighbors, according to the flyer.

No One Helped
 One woman explained her reason for becoming involved with a tearful story at the meeting.

"Not long ago I was attacked by thieves on my own block. I screamed and screamed my lungs out and not one single person came out to help me — on my own block yet," she said.

"We've got to come together and start working together to save our neighborhood. I've looked around, and I see areas decaying. We're the only ones who can do anything about it."

First Issue

(Continued from Page 1) Although he's not optimistic about preventing the November 1 closing, Father Krell is hopeful the bank can be persuaded to reconsider the closing before its lease on the building expires next March.

"We see hope in that area, and we hate to see a major institution like that bank just give up," Father Krell said. "Their lease on the building doesn't expire until March of 1979. We're hoping we can convince them to renovate and reopen, and work with other businesses in that area to save the strip," he added.

Bank officials said they will transfer customers' accounts to any other bank in the area, suggesting those who wish to remain with City National move to the Warren-Somerset branch.

In addition, Ms. Nelson said the bank is trying to help building owners find a new tenant for the corner. The closing is "obviously a disappointment, especially because of the revitalization project that's going on there," Ms. Nelson added.

Must Work Together
 "But that bank is extremely outmoded; we're losing customers and we're losing money," she explained. "This was not a quick decision, it was considered for a long time by the board of directors."

The commercial strip along Kercheval avenue in both Detroit and The Park has lost several businesses in recent months and, according to Father Krell, a revitalization of the area will require efforts from both Detroit and Park residents in the future.

"Even if we can't keep the bank open here, it's a good sign for the future that groups from Detroit and The Pointe are working together on an issue that's important to both of us," he said.

Lakeshore Aid Viewed

(Continued from Page 1) use our funds to repave Lakeshore some residents are going to have to go for several years without having their own streets repaved."

Councilman Joseph Fromm made a motion, later withdrawn, to decline the commission's offer and instruct the city attorney to look into ways to get the commission to fulfill its "obligation."

Confusion Ensues
 Councilman W. James Mast also expressed opposition to the proposal.

"I don't see how we can accept the offer. The precedent is mind-boggling," he said, while suggesting the city allow the road to deteriorate further and focus the complaints on the county.

Councilman Harry Fruehauf suggested putting a disclaimer on a sign warning motorists to travel at their own risk.

There was confusion as to how much of the road would be covered under federal funding. The funds are derived from a program known as Federal Aid Urban System, (FAUS), and would lower The Farms' and Shores' disputed share to approximately 10 percent of the total repaving project, instead of the one-third prior to the funds.

(Under the FAUS program, The Shores' amount would be around $41,000.)

However, the commission was apparently unclear in its notification to the council about the federal money, not specifying how much of the road would be resurfaced.

As a result, the council took no action on the matter until it hears from Mr. Steiner.

The road commission has said it will pave Lakeshore next year provided it obtains agreements with The Farms and Shores consenting to pay their now-reduced requested share.

The Farms and The Shores have consistently maintained they have no responsibility to share in the cost of the project, since Lakeshore is designated a county road and is thus their sole responsibility.

The road commission, however, claims it has insufficient funds to cover the costs. They point out that they have been charging local governments one-third since 1975, when they instituted an emergency policy.

Commission officials say their income has remained

Wine Lines

by John Lundberg

One of the nice things about wine is the variety of foods that go well with it. Wine and cheese is one of the traditional standards. Just try to get wines and cheeses that go together rather than compete in flavor, taste and aroma. Contrast heavy wines with light cheeses, and light wines with strong tasting cheeses. Then there is wine and nuts. Any nuts, again, will do. Try something unusual like Macadamea nuts or sunflower seeds. There are also an almost infinite number of hors d'oeuvres that are perfect with wine. Try any cocktail fish, shrimp, oysters, sardines, etc. With a good wine, delicious.

Barricades in Brys Drive Set for Erection This Week

By Roger A. Waha
The installation of temporary barricades, which the Woods Council on September 11 approved for a 90-day period in the area of the intersection of East Eight Mile road and Brys drive and the intersection of Helen avenue and Brys, are scheduled to be erected this week. Public Safety Director John Darrick said last week the barricades have been painted and the city is awaiting the delivery of signage, e.g., street closed signs. "The day the signs are delivered, the barricades will go up," he said, and this is expected to be no later than sometime this week. "Before" traffic counts on nearby streets, e.g., Hampton, Roslyn, Ridgmont and each block of Helen, have already been taken, he said, and after the barricades are installed, "after" counts will be taken to obtain necessary comparisons in relation to the barricades. These counts, however, will probably not be taken until the barricades are up for a week or two to enable area residents to get the feel of the blockade. As part of the council-approved motion, additional signage is scheduled to be placed on nearby streets to forewarn citizens of the Brys barricades. At the same time, signs will be placed at the East Eight Mile-Helen intersection and the Brys-Helen intersection indicating that the thoroughfare is a "dead end" street. As a result, traffic will have to find other outlets, probably along neighboring streets. It was noted on the 11th that after the barricades are placed, the council, if any unforeseen emergency occurs necessitating their removal, can order them taken down. However, at this point, officials expect no big problem and a further assessment will then transpire after the 90-day period. The alternatives include keeping Brys a two-way street, making it a one-way street or installing a permanent cul-de-sac as is the long-range intent at this time. After some four years of efforts trying to ease the heavy volume of traffic which is plaguing citizens in the Brys area, the council approved the temporary installation of the barricades to see if this mode of action eases traffic on the street. The majority of citizens living in Brys and East Eight Mile supported this effort. However, residents living nearby expressed some concern to the solons over the possibility of extra traffic on their streets because of the installation. The barricades, officials added, also will contain reflectors and necessary warning lights.

Drops Charges In CCW Case

A pending charge of attempted carrying a concealed weapon, (CCW), against an Indianapolis, Ind., man has been dropped, according to Woods Det. Thomas Podeszwick, based upon information received by the officer after a review of the case by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office. The suspect in the late August incident, James Bailey, 29, will now not be prosecuted, Det. Podeszwick said, because of recent decisions in one gun-two defendant types of cases and because another suspect in The Woods' incident would have to be brought back from Indianapolis to testify against Bailey. Bailey was stopped along with Jeffrey Robertson, 23, for a traffic violation by Woods officers, who subsequently discovered that the pair were allegedly involved in an armed robbery and auto theft in Indianapolis. Police also found a pistol in their car. As it turned out, a pending charge of possession of a pistol in a motor vehicle against Robertson was dropped because of more severe charges awaiting the suspect in Indianapolis. Robertson faces one count of criminal confinement and two counts of armed robbery in that city. Det. Podeszwick had earlier noted that through further investigation, Indianapolis police eyed only Robertson in the incident where an Indianapolis man was held up as he left a sports arena, was taken to his home where his aunt was robbed and then left, with his aunt, bound.

'Cat' Suspect Faces Court Hearings

Sgt. LaPratt worked many hours, including on his own time, on the case, making it possible to apprehend the suspect.

Detroit assumed jurisdiction in the prosecution of Harris because of the thousands of dollars of loot, much of which was taken from homes in The Park and the other Pointes as well as from homes in Detroit, was recovered from Harris' apartment.

In a joint statement, Park Police Chief Henry O. Connce and Sgt. LaPratt said that because Harris had a large number of stolen articles, including a $2,000 Oriental rug taken from a Park residence, they have no doubt that the man is the "cat."

"There is no doubt in my mind that Harris is the wanted 'cat' burglar who has been operating in our city, the other Pointes, Detroit and surrounding communities," said Sgt. LaPratt. "Although we have no witnesses to place him in the homes that were entered and looted, not even the residents themselves, there is absolutely no doubt that he is the burglar."

It was after a Farms home was burglarized on Wednesday, September 20, resulting in an unsuccessful high speed chase of the burglar by Farms, Woods and Harper Woods police, that The Park detective pieced together all the facts he had gathered, along with remembering a burglar he had arrested in 1973, and then made his move.

He presented his data to Dets. Philip Love, Donald Kramer and James Warner of Detroit's 15th Precinct, Conner Station, with whom he had been keeping in touch on the case.

The Detroit officers, armed with a search warrant, went to Harris' apartment with Sgt. LaPratt. Among the loot found, besides the rug, were items taken from 1315 Harvard, 1330 Bishop, 1236 Three Mile drive, 716 Balfour and other burglaries committed in The Park earlier in September.

Among the loot were articles stolen from homes in The City, Farms and Detroit. The recovered items were valued in the thousands of dollars.

The Detroit detective team obtained warrants charging Harris, a Jackson prison parolee, with receiving and concealing stolen property over $100.

Meanwhile, in The Woods, Harris was arraigned Monday, October 2, on a charge of breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling with intent to commit larceny, reported Det. Charles Philip Hamel.

Bond was set at $25,000, he said, with the suspect's examination date scheduled for yesterday, October 11.

Det. Hamel obtained a set of palm prints from a stolen vehicle allegedly used by the thief after the recent burglary of a Fleetwood road home.

These prints were sent to the crime lab and, late last month, he received confirmation that the prints on the trunk belonged to Harris. With that, a warrant was sought and obtained from the prosecutor's office.

Det. Hamel also wished to thank Dets. Love and Warner for their assistance.

Secret Tapes Incident

(Continued from Page 1) those conferences. There are always at least two administrators to back each other up and just one of me — we're not allowed any union or legal representation," Mr. Creelman said.

The issue of union representation at such conferences is currently under arbitration between the School Board and the teachers' union, the Grosse Pointe Education Ass'n.

Mr. Creelman presented transcripts of the tapes to the School Board as evidence on his behalf at a grievance hearing on Monday, September 18. He said no one had listened to the tapes before that time.

Administrators named as plaintiffs in the suit are Parcels principal Morris Hanzek, assistant principal Dr. Claire Basco, North High principal G. Bruce Feighner, Defer principal Sally Bell, South High principal William Mogk and assistant superintendent for instruction Dr. Joseph Spagnoli.

The School Board adjourned the September 18 hearing without taking action. It still has at least five grievances filed by Mr. Creelman to hear and rule on this year.

One school spokesman said the Creelman tapes have had a "chilling" effect on the administration.

Pharmacy Hit By Con Man

An employe at Merit Woods Pharmacy, 19325 Mack avenue, was victimized by a quick change artist, according to a report given Woods police on Monday, October 2.

In the incident, a man purchased some candy with a $20 bill and then asked for a pair of dice. When the employe walked from the cash register to get them, the suspect then asked for another pair.

The employe told police the suspect talked all the time and, when he left the store, she noticed there were no $20 bills in the register.

Meanwhile, a check revealed $42 was missing.

He was described as black, around 5'11" tall, with short hair and of a thin build. He wore a mustard tan leather jacket and dark brown pants.

Christ Church Slates New Musical Series

Christ Church Concerts, a new series of five concerts at Christ Church, Episcopal, 61 Grosse Pointe boulevard, begins with an Organ Recital by Frederic DeHaven and chamber orchestra Sunday, October 15, at 4 p.m.

Mr. DeHaven, musical director of the series and organist at Christ Church, has planned the series to include the Organ Recital and performances of Bach's Christmas Oratorio on December 10, and his St. Matthew Passion on Good Friday, April 10, both with orchestra, choruses and soloists.

In June, the fourth event will be a Court Yard Concert in the Rose Garden at Christ Church, featuring madrigals, an operetta by Benjamin Britten and other secular music.

Christ Church welcomes, on June 24 for its fifth event, the Choir of Men and Boys from Saint John's College, Cambridge University in England, which will sing Evensong and perform a choral concert.

At Sunday's Organ Recital, Mr. DeHaven will perform the Prelude and Fugue in D minor by Dietrich Buxtehude, a choral prelude and the famous Fantasia and Fugue in G minor by J. S. Bach, an Organ Concerto in B flat by G. F. Handel and a program of French organ music by Franck, Messiaen and Jehan Alain.

The Handel Organ Concerto is an interesting work, featuring the organ as a virtuoso instrument, accompanied by a chamber orchestra of string and oboes, said Mr. DeHaven.

The organist at Christ Church in Grosse Pointe for three years, he has conducted concerts which include the Bach B minor Mass, Brahms' Requiem, the 13th century liturgical drama, The Play of Daniel and the Mozart Requiem.

He attended Oberlin Conservatory, the University of Michigan, and was graduated with a Master's degree from the Juilliard School of Music.

Post graduate programs have included several study-performing tours in England, France and, this past summer, in Germany where he played the finest 16th century instruments built by Arp Schnitger in the Hamburg area.

Tickets for all of the Christ Church Concerts are available at the Church Office, 885-4841, or may be purchased at the concert.

Motorist Dies At GPF Station

A Detroit man who was picked up by several motorists, who thought he was driving while drunk, suffered an apparent heart attack at The Farms police station and died shortly afterward.

John Mongo, 77, of Goodwin, Detroit, was pronounced dead on arrival at Cottage Hospital early Thursday morning, October 5, after efforts by Farms patrolmen and firemen to save him proved futile.

According to police, four young men brought Mr. Mongo into the station after they saw him driving the wrong way along Lakeshore road in The Shores. The motorists transported him to the station in one of their cars.

While police passed out witness statements to each of the motorists, Mr. Mongo, who was sitting in a chair, appeared to pass out. Sgt. Alfred Martin, checking the man's eyes, got no pupil response, and called for oxygen from the fire department.

The oxygen was administered by Fireman Robert Beer but to no avail. The ambulance was brought from next door and Mr. Mongo was taken to the hospital, where it was later learned he had a heart condition complicated by emphysema, police said.

Mr. Mongo had complained of feeling weak and had to be helped into the station by police.

One of the motorists who assisted him said Mr. Mongo had told him he had side-swiped a car that night. However, a check with Shores police as well as St. Clair Shores police failed to turn up any hit and run accident reports.

Kent Drug Hit Through Roof

Rooftop burglars hit Kent-Farms Drug, 1 Kercheval avenue last weekend, making off with $300 to $350 in cash plus about $1,500 in drugs, worth an estimated $5,000 to $50,000 on the street.

The culprits, who entered sometime Saturday night, October 7, got in by cutting an 18-inch square hole in the roof with a hatchet and tin snips, which they left at the scene, Farms police said.

The thieves then rifled both cash registers and drawers containing drugs. The store's entire supply of valium, seconal, percodan, quaalude, nembatal and morphine was taken.

Owner Max Jacobs said if the thieves could get $1 for each pill, the street value of the stolen drugs would be about $50,000.

A check with area residents showed no one had heard anything suspicious during the night.

Farms Det. Samuel Cardella said he is pursuing a lead in the case which may connect the latest incident with other rooftop break-ins of pharmacies throughout the Detroit area.

UPDATE '78

Pointers Robert M. Hanson of Motorists Information, Inc., Frank T. Judge Jr., Ford Motor Co., Tom Hennessey, Detroit Free Press, and J. Patrick Wright, Business Week, will be among the participants in Public Relations Update '78, a seven-evening course sponsored by Wayne State University and the Public Relations Society of America this fall at the Rackham Building, in Woodward avenue.

Colonial Federal's Bid For Sign Denied in GPW

By Roger A. Waha

A request from Colonial Federal Savings, 20599 Mack avenue, to install a ground sign incorporating an electric time and temperature sign was denied by the Woods Council because of a lack of majority support via a 2-2 vote.

This action was taken at the regular meeting Monday, October 2, at which time three councilmen were absent, E.D. Grady, John Sabol and Thomas Fahrner.

Colonial Federal requested the hearing because the proposed sign exceeded the city's sign ordinance by nine square feet, comprised of the time and temperature visual with 15" high illuminated letters which would have displayed both Fahrenheit and Celsius readings electronically as a service to the community.

Two citizens who lived in the immediate area expressed some concern over the amount of illumination given by the light. Colonial Federal representatives indicated the time and temperature portion would contain 30 watt bulbs while the main portion of the visual advertising the firm would be lit with fluorescent light, but not all night long.

A touch of confusion among the council ensued in relation to what the variance request was for — the additional nine feet or the fact that part of the sign blinked, i.e., the interchange of time and temperature information.

While both aspects were involved, the main focus was on the size of the visual. (In relation to this, it was noted that blinking or animated signs aren't permitted under local ordinance.)

Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos said he was personally against signs which went on and off from an aesthetic standpoint, while Councilman George Cueter said he was against the entire sign while adding he personally didn't care for pole signs, period.

Mr. Cueter then moved to deny the request and Mr. Pinkos joined him in the vote, while Councilmen

George S. Freeman and Robert E. Novitke voted in opposition. Mr. Freeman ultimately moved that the request be granted and the vote broke down along similar lines.

City Attorney George Catlin indicated the deadlocked vote in effect was a denial of the request. However, because of the absence of the three council members, officials indicated, if Colonial Federal requested another hearing, they could have that opportunity toward resolving the stalemate.

Building Inspector Earl Wakely said as of Friday, October 6, he has heard nothing from Colonial Federal regarding another hearing.

Aerial View Shows New SHS Facility

This drawing, provided by the architectural firm of Kessler and Associates, shows what the new South High School industrial arts facility, (center), will look like from a bird's-eye view. The firm will present details of its plan for the building as well as a renovation of a wing of the existing building at a public meeting Tuesday, October 17, at South, 11 Grosse Pointe boulevard, beginning at 8 p.m.

Big Hurdle

(Continued from Page 1) excavated, foundations for an enclosed swimming pool will be laid adjacent to the new building at a cost of $20,000 to $30,000, according to Kessler.

Board members said they have no current plans to build the pool — estimated to cost $2.3 million — but add that laying the foundation now may save a considerable amount of money if the pool is approved in the future.

The total cost of the project was estimated by Kessler to be $1,981,850. Dow Associates independently reviewed plans for the new building only, and came up with a project cost about $74,000 under Kessler's estimates, according to the school system's Director of Support Services Ben Zenn.

"We have a great deal of confidence in these estimates, but the real 'bottom line' on the costs will be when the contractors' bids come in," Mr. Zenn said.

The $2.15 million bond issue was the subject of considerable controversy last summer and one Board member, Jon Gandelot, opposed it because it had not been approved by a vote of citizens.

School officials had been working to secure Finance Commission approval of the bonds before November 7, when Michigan voters will decide on two tax-limitation proposals, Headlee and Tisch, that may outlaw bond issues without citizen votes.

The bond issue will not raise school millage tax rates but will offset a one-half mill reduction that was scheduled this year, according to school officials.

Cottage Cited for Program

Cottage Hospital was the recipient of a presidential citation from the Michigan State Medical Society for its participation, since 1969, in the American Medical Student Ass'n's program for Medical Education and Community Orientation, (AMSA-MECO), reported Ralph L. Wilgrade, hospital administrator.

The award was presented at a luncheon of the International Rotary Club of Grosse Pointe, held at the War Memorial, last month. Representing the Michigan State Medical Society, Dr. James C. Danforth Jr. presented a plaque to Mr. Wilgrade and Dr. John H. Williams of Cottage.

Speaking before 70 Rotarians, Merwyn G. Scholten, communications coordinator for the Michigan State Medical Society, cited Cottage Hospital's "unselfish" assistance in providing medical students with a summer opportunity to witness the day-to-day operations of a community service hospital, while earning wages to help them continue their medical studies.

Typically, one or two medical students spend eight weeks rotating through hospital departments and accompany physicians, who volunteer as preceptors, on their daily rounds.

"Cottage Hospital has participated in the AMSA-MECO program since its inception because we believe it helps medical students become more familiar with the important work of the community hospital and enables them to make more intelligent career choices," said Mr. Wilgrade.

"We wish more hospitals would get involved in these programs which benefit our communities so much."

The most recent medical student to participate in the AMSA-MECO program at Cottage Hospital was David Graham of Bishop road, who is a student at the Wayne State University School of Medicine.

Negotiations Come to Halt Between GPWPOA, City

By Roger A. Waha

Negotiations between the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Ass'n., (GPWPOA), and the city, which have generally been rough for both sides over the past few years, have reached an impasse at this time, with the GPWPOA now considering the mediation route.

Both sides met for over three hours on Tuesday, October 3, and again for a shorter period on Wednesday, October 4, without making any progress.

On the Tuesday date, the association submitted a counter-proposal to the city, (the GPWPOA had previously rejected a city proposal last month), but differences weren't able to be worked out.

While representatives on both sides have indicated salary questions posed no major problems, other areas have caused concern.

Officer Stephen Petrik, association president, said the union's offer was basically unacceptable to the city because of requested pension improvements, while noting that such areas as cost-of-living and shift differential pay also have caused some disagreement.

The officer felt the way the situation stands right now, the association would come out with less benefits than what it had before. "We're only banging our head against the wall, going back and forth," he stated.

Saying he wanted to confer with GPWPOA attorney

John Lyons before a final decision is reached on mediation, Officer Petrik noted, "I feel we'll call for mediation unless the city changes its stand."

He also expressed his disappointment over the fact that Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos didn't attend the Tuesday negotiation session, as the officer felt he would. Officer Petrik now understood the association was going to receive a letter exploring the council's thinking on proposed pension improvements and negotiations overall.

"We, (the union), dropped the unfair labor practices charge against the city, (in relation to two legal opinions requested by the council governing employees' pensions), to show our interest in settling and they turn around and ignore us again," he said.

Saying the men were bitter about the way negotiations have been going, while citing their low morale, Officer Petrik charged the city with "fighting the men on everything we've tried to do."

He added, "Everything they do is to hurt the employe," while accusing the city of harassment of public safety employees in also looking at the area of working conditions.

Acknowledging the request to appear on Tuesday, Mr. Pinkos told the NEWS that the council has been busy, (in fact, three members are currently away), and if he went alone he wouldn't have the authority of the full council "to determine anything at all."

He said if he had made a statement in relation to negotiations it was possible that the council would disagree with it, while feeling it was best to wait until the body was at full strength toward making any possible determination or statement of policy.

In stating he felt the city's final offer to the association was attractive, Mr. Pinkos, based on the impasse now reached in bargaining, said no letter will probably be sent unless the majority of the council wants to have one written.

The mayor noted it was his understanding that apparently negotiations have been completed at this point, while confirming the GPWPOA's intention toward mediation.

"To my knowledge, the council has gone as far as it intends on its last offer," he added.

For his part, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said, prior to the pair of sessions last week, he felt some good progress had been made in bargaining with both sides tentatively agreeing on the issue of salary.

With the stalemate, he said the city would honor the association's request for mediation and even arbitration.

"The City of Grosse Pointe Woods in the meantime stands ready to resume negotiations anytime if there's a feeling anything can be accomplished," added Mr. Petersen, who noted any further meetings would be up to the GPWPOA.

Chief Offers Fire Hints

Fire prevention in the average home is taken very lightly, says Farms Fire Chief Warren Schultz while observing National Fire Prevention Week, October 8 to 14.

The general consensus seems to be that fires always happen to the other person, he noted.

Chief Schultz, in advising residents to check their homes this week for problems they may encounter over the winter, offered a number of specific suggestions including the following:

- Use large ash trays and smoke in a chair, not in bed. Empty ash trays the next morning or in metal containers.
- Plan fire escape routes.
- Check the condition of electrical cords for wear.
- Use the recommended amperage fuses in the fuse box.
- Check your heating system, especially oil furnace blower motors. Keep the area around the furnace free from debris.
- Store flammable products outside in a garage or metal locker. Check chimney flue pipes and clean if the fireplace is used often.
- Install a UL approved smoke detector.

Chief Schultz says the fire department welcomes visitors at the station, and adds a call to 885-1000 will bring a fire inspector to your home.

"We would rather prevent a fire in your home than put it out," he said.

Center Hosts Disco Show

By popular demand, the War Memorial will again host a disco for young people, Disco Two, an extravaganza of lights, special visual effects and stereo sound with all the excitement of a first class New York disco club.

The Cat and Company Traveling Disco and Light Show will return to the Center to provide continuous music for all students in the Pointes on Friday, October 20 at 8 p.m.

The Cat has four different stereo sound systems to fit the occasion from small club to amphitheater. All his systems, from 200 watts to 2,400 watts, are stereo with 0.01 percent audio distortion. He has the best in turntables and speakers with a five channel mixer.

Along with the enormous variety of flood and spot lights, the Cat uses mirror balls, strobes, sign lights, fog, and police siren and projecting effects to make the evening visually as well as musically exciting.

The dance is open to all students and dress is casual, (no jeans or tee shirts). Admission is $3 a couple or $1.75 single. Advance tickets may be purchased at the War Memorial's office, 32 Lakeshore road, during regular business hours.

For further information, call the Center at 881-7511.

(Continued from Page 1) tained as a foundation, officials are now preparing applications for $120,000 in funds for the first of three years. (While the city's original funding application for water and sewer improvements, plus street work, was denied, the community remained qualified for further monies via a rhythm of $120,000 per year for three years.)

At this point, Mr. Petersen said, the objective is to come up with a comprehensive and coordinated program to meet specific identifiable needs in the area, along with social needs, e.g., in eying senior citizens.

Outlines Needs
The city's proposed program will take in consideration such identifiable needs as traffic congestion in the East Eight Mile road-Bryson drive area and the possibility of a traffic engineering survey of the entire area, he noted, along with the potential construction of a cul-de-sac.

Other needs cited by Mr. Petersen include environmental considerations, e.g., tree care and planting, street, water, (including the looping of mains toward better water pressure), and sewer projects, the ramping of curbs and the possibility of relocating fire hydrants too close to driveway approaches and thus being both a firefighting and safety hazard.

Plans call for the applications, (also eying $6,700 in special needs), to be ready for the council's consideration at the Monday, October 16, meeting.

The survey's results in the area of income was based upon HUD income limits, which are dependent upon family size. Using this criteria, 50.4 percent of the sample reported higher incomes while 42.8 percent reported moderate or lower incomes. The remaining 6.7 percent refused to give their income.

Nordhaus noted a second way to look at income was to focus upon those respondents who shared such information. On this basis, 54.1 percent had higher incomes and 45.9 percent had moderate or lower incomes.

This approach, Nordhaus said, assumes those who refused income information had incomes similar to those who were willing to answer.

Seven-Mack Viewed
In relation to this information, Mr. Petersen said one fact that was personally revealing to him is that larger families apparently didn't fall in the "low to moderate" income category. (In fact, the only instance when a low income dominated was in a one-family household with 21 such reports. Sixteen were in the total moderate or below category and 15 were included in the higher income category.)

As for shopping at the Seven-Mack Center, two thirds, (64.5 percent), of the sample indicated they did shop at that location. Those who did not shop there, (120 or 35.2 percent), cited various reasons.

The most prominent reason was that the citizens favored Eastland, (51), followed by their feeling that the center was in a poor condition, (42). Other reasons included the people who shop there, (23), and safety factors, (20).

The reasons given by the 120 citizens who don't shop at the center also eyed parking problems, (14), and inconvenience, (11). These reinforced in Mr. Petersen's mind the need to receive monies toward the creation of a strategy plan to develop the area.

Related to this, citizens were asked how often did they shop at Seven-Mack and of those who said they visit the center, the majority, (72), did so only once a month, while the next highest number, (71), said less than once a month. Only 15 residents said several times a week.

No Surprise
On the question, "Do you feel that traffic from the commercial district or other through traffic creates a nuisance in your neighborhood?" 197 said "yes," 138 said "no" and six didn't know or didn't answer.

Citizens in Bryson drive had a perfect record in response to this question, 36-0, "yes," while those in Eight Mile road also answered in the affirmative, 8-2. Residents living in Roslyn road answered "yes" but by a closer margin, 25-22, with one no response.

Others saying "yes" included citizens in Anita, Hawthorne and Hollywood, while residents living in Hampton, Ridgmont and Vernier said "no."
On "Would you favor closing Bryson drive at Eight Mile road," 138 citizens said "no," 92 said "yes" and 111 didn't know or didn't answer.

Much to no one's surprise, Bryson citizens were in favor being reimbursed to the city by Wayne County. No comments on the survey were shared by the councilmen in attendance, with E. D. Grady, Thomas Fahrner and John Sabol absent.

"You have to appreciate the concern of residents on adjacent streets in so closing Bryson," noted Mr. Petersen. Citing the possibility of heavier traffic on such thoroughfares, he reiterated his hope for a complete traffic engineering and safety analysis of the entire area.

"Yes" for Ramps
The great majority of citizens, (310), said they didn't favor some separation of commercial and residential districts, while 16 said they did and 15 were undecided or didn't answer.

Mr. Petersen felt many of the residents didn't understand this question as viewed by city planning consultant Brandon M. Rogers, who considered the potential looping of streets toward obtaining additional off-street parking and easing traffic flow.

Meanwhile, 280 citizens said they were in favor of a program which would provide sidewalk ramps at intersections for pedestrian traffic in the place of regular curbs. A total of 43 said they were against such a plan, while 18 were undecided or didn't answer.

On the question, "Does your house have a septic tank?" 310 said "no," 16 said "yes" and 15 didn't know or were unable to be reached.

The council at its regular meeting Monday, October 2, approved the payment of $2,200 to Nordhaus for its services, with that amount Windmill Pointe drive and Mrs. Charles Kaess of McKinley avenue. Robert Bowen of Whittier road is coordinating for GPT.

Woods Offers Extra Service

Through the efforts of The Woods and through the courtesy of Greenfield Village, the city is able to offer its citizens a special admission to both Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

Until December 31, adults will be admitted for $3, (as against the normal $3.50 charge), and children between six and 12 will be admitted for $1, (as against the normal $1.50 charge).

In each instance, residents will need a coupon with the city seal affixed on it. These coupons are part of a Greenfield Village brochure which is offered free of charge at city hall, 20025 Mack avenue.

Administrative Aide Gerard E. McNamara, who coordinated this effort, said about 5,000 brochures are available, with the city having over 6,000 families.

He noted, based upon information received from Greenfield Village, this is the first time village officials have agreed to allow a city to offer such a program for its citizens.

Mr. McNamara added this effort was made as a service to Woods residents, with the city receiving no compensation.

Saint Paul Trip Returns to 'The Roots of Our Faith'

By David Kramer
 The theme of roots permeated a recent trip by Monsignor Francis Canfield and a group of 25 people to the Holy Lands.
 The pastor of Saint Paul On-the-Rock Church called the trip "primarily a return to the roots of our faith; a following in the footsteps of Jesus and St. Paul."
 The group, of which all but four were members of the parish, toured Israel and parts of Turkey, Greece and Rome, where some of the group saw the late Pope John Paul I four times.

During the three-week trip the group toured Jerusalem, the city sacred to three faiths.
 They saw the Basilica of the Holy Sepulchre, where Christians hold that Christ died and was resurrected, the wailing wall, sacred to the Jews as the site of the Temple destroyed by the Romans in 70 A.D., and the Dome of the Mosque, sacred to Moslems as the site where Abraham offered a sacrifice.
 Although Monsignor Canfield has been to Israel once before, (in 1962), it was at a time when the land was much smaller, and the West Bank of the Jordan River was in the hands of Jordan.
 The monsignor said the trip was more pleasant this time, especially since their Jewish guide was "very sensitive to Christian values."
 "The military presence is quite visible," he said. "It became apparent to me how important the West Bank was to Israel from a political standpoint."
 The monsignor said a mass on the banks of the Jordan River, where it flows out of the Sea of Galilee. That, he said, was the most moving experience of the trip from a spiritual standpoint, since "that's where Jesus spent so much of his time."

 The group also toured parts of Turkey, including Istanbul and Ephesus, to whose citizens St. Paul aimed his epistle to the Ephesians. While in Ephesus, they visited the house where Mary was reported to have spent the last years of her life.
 Ephesus also was the site of a number of early church councils and is the location of some archaeological excavations, which Monsignor Canfield called "the most beautiful ruins I have seen."
 The group's visit to Greece he called "a return to the roots of our political structure." There they saw Athens and Corinth.
 Many of the group were struck with the awe of actually being present at the site of so many important occurrences.
 "To stand and see the real thing as it has been pictured, there's a certain unreality; you have to pinch yourself and say it's real," he said.
 Pope John Paul's "geniality and humor spoke out" when they saw him, he said.

"He was rightly called the smiling Pope."
 Trip members grew closer together as the excursion wore on, he said. "Everybody got into the spirit of it, and everybody wanted to help each other."
 Being at the place where scripture readings actually took place gave the readings more meaning, the monsignor said. One such example was in Bethlehem, where the group visited the crypt where Jesus was reputedly born.

College Night Held at ULS

This year, University Liggett School's, (ULS), Annual College Night was part of a week-long program that brought representatives of 14 colleges and universities to the school.
 Both students and parents met with admissions officers in several contexts; college representatives met prospective ULS applicants throughout the week and, on Tuesday evening, September 19, admissions directors from Vanderbilt, Yale, Notre Dame, Bucknell and Amherst spoke about application and admissions procedures to interested members of the ULS community.
 Representatives of Tulane, Bates, Colby and Middlebury visited the Upper School earlier on Tuesday. Three New England state universities—Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont — also sent admissions officers to ULS that day. Grinnell and Duke were represented at the school later in the week.
 College Night was the center of the week's events. Speakers at the evening program were Dr. William L. Campbell, director of undergraduate admissions, Vanderbilt University; David, director of admissions, Yale University; John T. Goldrick, director of admissions, University of Notre Dame; Richard C. Skelton, director of admissions, Bucknell University; and Edward B. Wall, dean of admissions, Amherst College.
 Muriel Brock, ULS college advisor, coordinated the week's meetings and planned Tuesday evening's program. College representatives visit ULS throughout the academic year, but particularly during each fall, prior to applications deadlines.

During the three-week trip the group toured Jerusalem, the city sacred to three faiths.

North High Harriers Take First, Third

By Mark Osler
North High School's cross country squad once again exhibited both strength and depth at yet another major invitational Saturday, October 7, at a meet hosted by Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.
The boys varsity romped over 14 competitors to capture another first and continue its undefeated season, and the girls ran to a third place finish in their team competition.

Ann Arbor's hilly course provided a challenging run for North's boys. Jim Schmidt responded with a first place finish in a course-record 15 minutes flat. The rest of the seven-man team complemented Schmidt's record performance with solid runs over the three-mile course.
Taking eighth place was senior Dave Shepke, who finished with a time of 15:28. In ninth was Wright Wilson at 15:29. John Bucacink finished tenth at 15:36, followed closely by senior Dave Hofmann in 11th with a time of 15:42. Seventeenth was taken by Steve Lugo at 15:54. Taking 19th was an improving Dan VanVliet at 15:56.

The junior varsity team also was impressive in its race, as six athletes placed in the top seven runners. Beating a huge field and winning the race was junior John Rosculeit, with a fine showing of 16:07.
Taking second place was Brian Kennedy, who finished at 16:16. Third went to John Kamm at 16:21. He tied sophomore Jerry Stijzel's 16:21 performance. Close behind in fifth was Mark Rolain at 16:22, finishing the line of green and gold.
The girls also turned in another fine team effort as they rolled to a third place finish on the same three-mile course. The first North runner to cross the line was sophomore Kathy Schmidt, as she finished ninth in 18:40. Heidi Fach was next across in 10th, as she finished in 18:54.

Jenny Blashill was 14th, as she turned in a time of 19:17. Following her was Patty Meehan, finishing 17th with a personal best of 19:48. Twenty-sixth was taken by Kelly Louwers, finishing at 20:13, followed by Grace Kennedy in 40th and Julianna Payne, 43rd.
Both the boys and girls teams have much to look forward to. They have four dual meets upcoming, including cross-town rival South High School at home on Thursday, October 19, at 4 p.m. Ahead is the state championship races, which promise to be exciting for North High.

Pointe Runners Prepare For October 22 Marathon

By David Kramer
"It's a discipline. There are days when it is very comfortable and then there are days when it can be very difficult. But it does become habit forming with the physical and psychological benefits from it."
What is Bob Hays talking about? Perhaps it might be a little clearer if you know that Bob is one of The Pointe's entries in the "Detroit Free Press" International Marathon coming up on Sunday, October 22.
The Free Press race course will include part of his stomping ground, as it will be run through The Park, City and Farms. Starting at 9 a.m., a field anticipated at over 1,000 will begin the 26.2 mile course beginning at the foot of the Ambassador Bridge in Windsor, Ont.
The runners will travel through the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel, through Greettown, out Jefferson and Lakeshore to Kerby road in The Farms, up Kerby, (literally, as it will be one of the few hills they will encounter), to Kercheval, down Kercheval through the On-the-Hill and Village business districts and finally end up on Belle Isle.
Other Pointers who will be participating include Mike Milliken of The Farms, Bob Keiss of The Woods and Tim Kozak, Dr. Jerry Coyle, Vic Foster and Serge and Shirley Vettorello, all of The Park.
Bob says he, Mr. Milliken and Mr. Vettorello have all completed marathons in under three hours, which means a running pace of nine mph over the course.
Those interested in watching the race should plan on being at Jefferson and Alter road at about 9:55 a.m., Lakeshore and Kerby at 10:15 and The Village at 10:25.
Of course, the times given are for the lead runners, and the runners should be well spread out by the time they reach The Pointe. The last runners should pass through about two hours later.
Runners of all abilities and ages will be participating, he says. The Detroit course should be "extremely fast" because, unlike courses such as Boston, there aren't many hills to exhaust the runners.
Bob, who just ran in the Chicago Marathon a couple of weeks ago, estimates he has put about 10,000 miles on Pointe streets. This includes about 10 miles per day, or two hours per day, or 12 to 15 hours per week.
When!
Anyway you look at it, it definitely isn't for everyone. The question a non-runner is most likely to ask is why? "There's a feeling of accomplishment. You know you can run these kinds of distances; you've achieved something you didn't think was possible," Bob explains.
There are three levels of challenge to running a marathon, Bob says. The first is to get through the course. Then the challenge is to run it faster. The final challenge is to run it competitively against members of your own age group.

Bob admits there is a problem with being a "zealot among non-runners." Some people can become very bored while listening to a runner talk about his chosen sport.
Bob will even admit that running isn't the only way to keep physically fit; and certainly it doesn't take as much effort as he puts in to maintain fitness.
But for him, it has been the only way to travel for the last 10 years, ever since he read a book on the benefits of aerobic exercise. Since then, Bob, now in his 40's, has worked himself up from a mile a day to an average of 50 per week, and has run in 12 marathons, including five times in the grandfather of them all, the Boston Marathon.
And Bob sees several distinct advantages to running over certain other forms of exercise.
"The nice thing about running is that you can do it by yourself, with a minimum of equipment, and in any weather."
He should know, having run once in 40 below temperatures.
On Saturdays, Bob gets together with a group of about 100 runners who do a seven mile loop on Belle Isle. Afterward, they all go to the Big Boy across the bridge for breakfast. The restaurant holds an entire room for their use, and they often spend more time talking over coffee than they did running.
Bob says he finds all types of people represented at Belle Isle: young and old, rich and poor, black and white. They're all brought together by their common love of running.
For those of us who would like to get into shape but aren't the all-out type like Bob, it has been pretty well established that a half hour run three or four times a week is sufficient to put you in top fitness. The running should be combined with some stretching exercise and the usual push-ups and sit-ups, Bob says.
But if you want to be a marathon runner, Bob suggests starting out slow, working your way up from a mile to about 10 over a couple of years.
"After you've done 10 miles for a year or two, it's natural to try the marathon."
Those who run should be aware that some of the Pointes, notably The Farms, try to discourage running in the street. For those who insist, Bob has two tips: run against traffic and don't challenge cars at stop signs.

MONTHLY CHECK
Tire inflation should be checked at least once a month and before long trips, according to the Tire Industry Safety Council. Use a hand gauge because automatic towers at service stations frequently are inaccurate.

South Drops Another, 12-6

By Bill Bradford
Two weeks ago it looked as though the South High School Blue Devils football team was on its way to another league championship and a possible undefeated season.
The Devils, however, will go into their homecoming game on Saturday, October 14, with a 3-2 record overall and a 2-2 mark in the Eastern Michigan League, (EML), after dropping a critical 12-6 decision to Mount Clemens Saturday, October 7.
The loss, along with a 7-6 loss to Stevenson two weeks ago, puts the Devils in third place and all but out of the race for the EML championship.
L'Anse Creuse North, upset by East Detroit for its first loss, paces the league with a 4-1 record along with Stevenson and Mount Clemens. In order for South to have a shot at first place, all the first place teams must be beaten again.
In Saturday's game, the Devil offense couldn't get rolling with the exception of junior halfback Todd Platt's 10-yard touchdown run set up on a long dash around end by senior halfback Jim Heidt.
South had four chances within the Mount Clemens 20-yard line but couldn't chalk up enough points to overcome their opponents.
A quick Mount Clemens team kept the tough Devil defense on their toes throughout the game, and for the first time in 15 league games an opponent scored twice against South.
Coach Russ Hepner commented, "We made a few mental errors against a very fine football team. They had the speed to get outside of us and control the ball through the second half."
The Devils only had three possessions in the entire second half, as Mount Clemens hit the critical pass to enable them to hold onto the ball.
"In every game we've played, it has come down to one play or one series to determine the outcome," coach Hepner said. "If it always a big word, but this year it has become even bigger. Our league has become so well-rounded that you can't win games when you fumble, miss blocks or drop passes."
Coach Hepner mentioned that the Devil offense had its best game, pumping out nearly 200 yards.
"The loss of Brian Welsh, (senior fullback), really has hurt us," he said. "We had counted on having a 195-pound fullback to carry a lot of the weight, but now we just don't have that."

North Girls Swim to Win
By Margaret Sobieski
The girls varsity swim team from North High School continued its winning streak by defeating Rochester Adams, 99-72, on Thursday, October 5.
Starting the meet off with a bang, the 200 medley relay team consisting of Chris Truhol, Cheryl Stoyka, Margaret Wittmer and Jenni Elie not only took first place but also made state cutoff time for the event.
Other first place winners included Amy Rentschler in the 200 freestyle; Frances Shook, 200 IM; Jenni Elie, 50 freestyle; Jodi Stout, diving; Margaret Wittmer, 100 butterfly; Amy Rentschler, 500 freestyle; Frances Shook, 100 backstroke; Cheryl Stoyka, 100 breaststroke; and in the 400 freestyle relay, Jeanette Metes, Frances Shook, Margaret Wittmer and Lisa Mediodia.
Senior diver Jodi Stout stated, "We have a young team this year, but we have a lot of potential which will carry us through another winning season."
In an earlier meet, held on Tuesday, October 3, against Grand Blanc, Jodi did a dynamic job, setting a new varsity record in diving by breaking her sister Lisa's record, set in 1976. Lisa's record was 186.20 and Jodi's stands at 230.95.
The final score of the Grand Blanc meet was 94-78. Excellent performances were given by all members in this meet.
Coach Fred Michalik commented, "We're looking forward to the rest of the season, especially when we swim Our Lady of Mercy and Grosse Pointe South. These two teams are our toughest competitors this year. Both of these meets will be very close and should prove to be very interesting."

Dog Dropping Measures:
A Shame But Necessary

The annoying problem of dog droppings sprinkled on both residential, commercial and city property, (i.e., between the sidewalk and the curb), is one which concerns Pointe officials and residents alike. Not only are they unsightly but they also are unhealthy.

Common sense, if not an inherent responsibility governing the ownership of a dog, or any pet for that matter, would dictate, on the owner's part, a control of where his dog defecates, i.e., hopefully on the confines of his own property.

Unfortunately, common sense or even common courtesy apparently plays no role and a growing concern remains for some type of control to make an owner do what he should actually do anyway. Hence, a proposed ordinance, which both The Park and The Farms are currently considering, would make it a misdemeanor for a citizen to allow his dog to defecate on anyone's property, unless the owner cleans up the droppings immediately afterward.

The Park Council, which first considered such a law on August 28, decided to obtain input from its residents before viewing the proposal again on Monday, October 23. According to City Manager John Crawford, the comments received so far are definitely on the plus side for such a measure.

Meanwhile, in The Farms, the council on September 18 directed City Attorney George McKean to draft a similar law and now a public hearing has been scheduled for Monday, November 6, to consider the formal adoption of the proposal.

The idea of having such a law to control and perhaps even curtail such an aggravating problem is a good one and will obviously require the complete cooperation of all citizens, dog owners notwithstanding, and police and city officials to make it work.

In relation to this, there may be problems of enforcement on the horizon without such needed cooperation. Reluctance on the part of citizens to file formal complaints, for instance, will hamper the police department's effectiveness in pursuing any given incident.

Mr. Crawford also cited another painful possibility—if such a law becomes a reality, he fears some residents could dump their dogs with the number of strays, and additional police enforcement, both increasing. (To animal lovers, in general, the idea of an owner getting rid of his pet because of such a measure is scandalizing.)

The main objective of both proposals is for owners to keep their pets on their own property and not to dirty anyone else's grounds. In lieu of that, the owner, upon walking his dog, should have a suitable container, e.g., a booper scooper, to clean up any mess which his pet may deposit.

Dog owners in total probably shudder at this inconvenience, (and in a way it certainly is that for the idea of controlling a leashed dog with one arm and carting a scooper and/or container in the other arm isn't all that pleasing), and the NEWS sympathizes with them.

But, on the other hand, there's an inherent feeling on the NEWS' part, that something must be done, if citizens out of "common sense" or "common courtesy," don't do it themselves.

While the NEWS to some degree bemoans the fact that such a law is even needed in any of the Pointes, some action must certainly be taken to stimulate the unthinking and careless who, not only walk their dogs, letting their animals defecate on another's property, but who also let their dogs run loose to "do their thing" before returning home, another related concern.

So while certain questions remain over enforcement, both communities should give their proposed ordinances a try. It will certainly be a learning process for officials and citizens alike and if a part of the respective laws proves unworkable, they can always be amended.

Shower Room Pump Okayed

The Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, October 2, unanimously agreed to the installation of a recirculating pump, costing $470, in the shower rooms of the Lake Front Park pool bathhouse.

Parks and Recreation Director Donald J. Hallmann in a memo to City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said he contacted City Engineer Larry Pate regarding the problem of having cold showers in the bathhouse.

Mr. Pate then had mechanical engineer Arthur Carmichael study the problem and make a recommendation.

What Goes On at Your Library

By William T. Peters, Director of Public Libraries

George Bernard Shaw left us with this piece of advice: "Better keep yourself clean and bright — you are the window through which you see the world."

An ever increasing number of books are being written to help the reader keep his picture window clean.

Dr. Wayne W. Dryer, a counselor and therapist, is the author of YOUR ERRONEOUS ZONES, (Funk and Wagnalls, 1976). Each chapter of his book is written like a counseling session. He uses that approach to provide as much opportunity for self help as possible.

Dr. Dryer provides a variety of easy-to-follow plans designed to eliminate your erroneous zones forever. He stresses the fact that as we're here only once, we should stop living by others' rules and start functioning according to our own desires.

THE SEARCH FOR SELF RESPECT, (Gosset and Dunlap, 1973) was written by a physician, Dr. Maxwell Maltz. Dr. Maltz is a plastic surgeon with a long list of books to his credit, all dealing with some phase of psycho-cybernetics.

Each person, according to the author, is searching for the self-respect which is essential to lead a life of fulfillment and happiness. The book is written to help the reader achieve a kind of self-respect that is real and dependable, that does not hinge on either material possessions, or the state of world affairs, that can weather the disapproval of neighbors or the anger of the boss at work.

The book is studded with anecdotes from Dr. Maltz's experience as a surgeon and lecturer. It's a rather folksy approach to the problems of life reminiscent of Norman Vincent Peale.

SELF-RESCUE, (McGraw-Hill, 1977) is another book that asks the reader to look within himself or herself for the answers to their deepest questions. The author, John Cantwell Kiley, is a self-styled clinical philosopher who believes that "The key to mental health is the timely use of the art of self-rescue."

The book is about the theory and practice of rescuing yourself immediately from anguish and unhappiness.

Twenty how-to chapters suggest ways to deal with tragedy, avoid suicide, live with remorse, cure an ulcer. It tells you how to be cheerful, brave and resourceful, how to master time and even how to zero in on reality.

You can be master of your own fate with belief in yourself and Dr. Kiley's book at your elbow.

Ralph Charell, author of HOW I TURN ORDINARY COMPLAINTS INTO THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS, now tells you HOW TO GET THE UPPER HAND, (Stein and Day, 1978).

With step-by-step advice, Mr. Charell shows how to get the upper hand in dealing with anybody from giant corporations, public utilities and computers to an uncooperative neighbor. One chapter, a short one, of course, tells how to stop doctors from keeping you waiting; another chapter deals with a way to bypass a computer and reach a human being.

Every misadventure that the author describes in this book ends with a clear cut victory for the author. The reader may find that a little hard to believe, but it's nice to know that someone knows how to beat the system.

ter at North High School, which was initiated last year, will continue to expand its services to students with the aid of computer terminals directly linked to the Michigan Occupational Information System.

In addition, a course designed to increase the career awareness of interested adults will again be offered in the Resource Center by the Department of Continuing Education.

The recently funded South High School Career Resource Center is already in operation with materials and a computer terminal linked to the Michigan Occupational Information System. The Career Resource Center is being housed in a former classroom of the South library, permitting maximum student and staff use.

In addition, offerings in vocational education will be evaluated this year with exploration into the possibilities of expanding the program to include radio and television production, law enforcement and graphic arts.

As most readers are aware, construction and renovation of the South High industrial-vocational-art education complex will begin in January with the facility scheduled to be completed during the 1979-1980 school year.

As a result of these programs and activities being implemented, our youngsters will receive earlier exposure to career and vocational concerns, enabling them to take advantage of more career and vocational opportunities.

CLARKE JOINS BOARD
James N. Clarke, RPh. of The Farms was recently installed as an executive board member of the Michigan Pharmacists Ass'n. Mr. Clarke is assistant director of pharmacy at Saratoga Hospital. A 1970 graduate of Wayne State University College of Pharmacy, he has been active with the American Cancer Society.

Miss Dossin Wed to Daniel Levine

They Will Live in Rochester, N.Y., Where He Teaches at Institute of Technology; She Is Establishing Private Press

Jennifer Dossin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell Dossin, of Maumee avenue, was married Saturday, October 7, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church to Daniel Mark Levine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Levine, of Denver, Colo. A reception followed at the Detroit Golf Club.

The Reverend Alan A. Zaun, who had baptized the bride, officiated at the noon rites in the main sanctuary.

The former Miss Dossin wore a long, ivory gown of chantilly lace, styled with a gathered skirt, Pierrot collar and ruffled cuffs trimmed with ivory bands.

Her headdress was a Juliet cap of silk roses holding a satin and illusion bow, with long streamers. She gathered her small cascade of white Sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy with her grandmother's handkerchief of Belgian lace.

Mrs. David G. Brown, who attended her cousin as matron of honor, wore an afternoon length dress of peach silk, sashed at the waist and featuring a smocked yoke and ruffled cuffs.

She carried a nosegay cascade of coral Zorina roses with ivy, and wore matching flowers in her hair.

Greeting guests as they entered the church, on behalf of the bride and bridegroom, was Lucia Greene, of New York City.

Randolph H. Levine came from Arlington, Mass., to serve as his brother's best man. Ushering were Daniel A. Dossin, of Atlanta, Ga., and Douglas P. Dossin, of Ann Arbor, cousins of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore an afternoon length, wraparound dress of ivory silk, styled with dolman sleeves and a gathered waist. A mid-calf length, knit ensemble in candlelight beige, accented with hand-loomed pinstripe cuffs, a mandarin collar and a bolero, was Mrs. Levine's choice for her son's wedding.

Both mothers pinned beige cymbidium orchids to their purses.

The newlyweds vacationed in Toronto and will make their home in Rochester, N.Y., where he teaches at Rochester Institute of Technology and she is establishing a private press for limited edition, fine book production.

Among the wedding guests were the bride's great-grandmother, Mrs. Ernest J. Dossin, of Grosse Pointe, and her grandfather, James W. Shivas, of Detroit.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Hazen Frantz, Mrs. Helen McCabe, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Reno and Mr. and Mrs. Forest Wiles, all of Bay City, and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Shivas, of New York.

Aim Concerts at The Young This Saturday

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra opens its 1978-79 Young People's Concerts with Music From Outer Space and the debut appearance of the DSO's new assistant conductor, Kenneth Jean, who will be joined by the Mime Ensemble for two performances at Ford Auditorium Saturday, October 14.

The first performance, Earlybird, is at 11 o'clock. It will be followed by a second, Lazybird, performance at 2 o'clock.

Included in the program is music from Holst's "The Planets" and Strauss' "The Sprach Zarathustra," plus the motion picture scores of "Star Wars" and "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

The Mime Ensemble, a popular local group directed by Tom Aston, will perform a "space walk" and other dramatic interpretations to the music.

DSO Young People's programs are designed to present substantial musical works in an entertaining package, aimed at listeners from tots to pre-teen age.

In addition to the opening Music From Outer Space, the series will present a Christmas Holiday special, a visit by the acclaimed Joffrey Ballet in February and a Wild West Show with the popular Pickwick Puppet Theatre in March.

Season tickets for the Saturday Young People's Concerts, (offering all four for little more than the price of three), will be available through Friday, October 13, at the Ford Auditorium box office.

Subscriptions are available for the Earlybird or Lazybird series.

Single tickets are available at the door or in advance at the Ford Auditorium box office, at $4, $3 and $2.50. Master Charge and VISA charge card customers may order tickets by phone at 962-5524.

Kenneth Jean was born in New York in 1952, grew up in Hong Kong and returned to the United States in 1967. He studied in San Francisco and held several school posts there as concertmaster and assistant conductor.

Hinderas Plays DSO Programs This Weekend

Guest artist Natalie Hinderas joins the Detroit Symphony Orchestra as Maestro Michael Gielen concludes a two-week engagement with concerts at Ford Auditorium this evening, Thursday, October 12, and Friday morning, October 13.

Tonight's concert is at 8:30 o'clock. Friday's NBD Coffee Concert at 10:45 will be preceded by a complimentary coffee hour at 9:30 and an on-stage concert interview at 10:15.

The program includes four fragments from Debussy's

"The Martyrdom of St. Sebastian," Ravel's Piano Concerto in G and Schoenberg's "Pelleas and Melisande."

Natalie Hinderas, an artist of international stature, has won praise and acclaim in Europe, Asia, Africa and North America for her music with "brilliance and spirit."

She is frequent soloist with major symphony orchestras throughout the United States. She has appeared five times before with the DSO, most recently in February of 1976.

Tickets for the Thursday evening concert at $10, $8, $7, $6 and $4, and for the Friday morning Coffee Concert at $8, $6.50 and $5, are available at the Ford Auditorium box office.

Master Charge and VISA charge card customers may order tickets by telephone at 962-5524.

Natalie Hinderas was born in Oberlin, O., into a gifted musical family. She gave her first recital at the age of eight. Four years later she performed the Grieg Piano Concerto with the Cleveland Women's Symphony.

She is a graduate of Oberlin Music Conservatory and studied with Olga Samaroff at Juilliard, has won numerous awards and scholarships and has traveled under the Laventritt banner.

She was selected for two State Department tours, traveling as a Cultural Ambassador, performing, lecturing and speaking about the artistic environment in the United States.

Miss Hinderas has several recordings to her credit. Her album of works by Black composers, has been the object of critical acclaim. Another, the George Walker Concerto with the Detroit Symphony, was released in the 1977-78 season.

Michael Gielen, born in Dresden in 1927, emigrated to Argentina as a child with his family. Son of distinguished opera producer Josef Gielen, he studied piano, composition and philosophy in Buenos Aires.

Maestro Gielen began his career as a coach and assistant conductor at the Teatro Colon in Buenos Aires where, in 1949, he performed the complete piano works of Arnold Schoenberg.

He returned to Europe in 1951. From 1960 to 1965 he served as music director of the Royal Opera in Stockholm. In 1969 he was appointed music director of the Belgian State National Orchestra, taking that orchestra on its first tour of the United States in 1972.

He made his American conducting debut with the New York Philharmonic in 1971.

In addition to conducting, Maestro Gielen is a composer of some distinction. He has written Chamber Variations on a Bach Chorale, three chamber cantatas, chamber music and concert music for piano and orchestra.

He was named intendant and music director of the Frankfurt Opera last year.

Spooky Films Set at Library

Four scary, ghostly offerings are scheduled to open the Family Film Night Series at the Central Library, 10 Kercheval avenue, today, October 12, at 7:30 p.m.

"Bluensee Ghosts" is a spine-chilling collection of stories concerning the East Coast ghosts, haunted houses, disappearing treasure and mysteries at sea. It's 22 minutes long and in color.

"Hansel and Gretel" is in color and is 18 minutes of live action. The traditional fairy tale concerning witches is enacted in an Appalachian mountain setting.

"Live Ghosts" is a 21-minute, black and white film starring those two loveable ghosts, Laurel and Hardy, and a sea captain who needs them to help him get a crew for his "ghost ship."

"Georgie" is a six-minute, color film that will be nearly over before you realize you're scared. In a turn of events, Georgie is a ghost who has something scare him!

Cottage Holds Free Lung Test

The respiratory department of Cottage hospital will hold a free pulmonary function clinic on Thursday, October 19, from 4 to 7 p.m. for the public in Board Room A in the lower level of the hospital, 159 Kercheval avenue.

Using advanced equipment and an easy breathing test, hospital technicians can detect the early signs of emphysema, bronchitis, asthma or other lung diseases.

No reservations are necessary, however participants should bring their doctor's name and address so that positive results may be forwarded to their physicians.

For more information, call the respiratory therapy department at 884-8600, extension 2160.

"A chronic cough or shortness of breath may be symptoms of lung disease or disorder," said hospital administrator Ralph Wilgarede. "While the test takes only a few minutes, it can help save your life."

The pulmonary function clinic, the third to be held at the hospital in the last year, is a community service of the hospital.

Globe Theater to Come Alive

An international symposium to lay the groundwork for the proposed construction of the world's first historically accurate, full-size replica of Shakespeare's Globe Theater has been scheduled for next May 9 to 12 at Wayne State University.

According to an announcement by Leonard Leone, director of the Wayne State University Theater, the university has initiated plans for a reconstruction of the Globe based on the most recent and widely accepted theories of C. Walter Hodges, world famous Elizabethan theater authority.

The goal of the May symposium is to arrive at an architectural outline which could be submitted to an architect to begin reconstruction designs. At this time, no site has been selected.

The conference will bring together eminent Shakespeare scholars, theater historians and architects to consider the ideas of Mr. Hodges, who is author of "The Globe Restored" and "Shakespeare's Second Globe," the latter a preliminary study for such a building.

The symposium, which will include eight or nine papers examining various aspects of the project, is being arranged by Mr. Hodges, who will act as coordinator, and Mr. Leone, symposium director and host for Wayne State.

Professor S. Schoenbaum of the Department of English, University of Maryland, who is associated with the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, will act as chairman.

Thomas N. Bonner, president of Wayne State University, will formally open the conference.

The reconstruction project is an attempt to restore what Mr. Hodges calls "the missing monument to theater history." The Elizabethan age is the only period from antiquity to the present from which no theater building survives for historic and dramatic study and research.

The proposed rebuilt Globe would fill this gap, as well as provide a unique museum and showplace for the public.

Although there are many modern theater adaptations of Shakespearean theaters, the Wayne State project will be the first attempt to rebuild Shakespeare's theater, full-scale, complete and without visible alterations.

Any practical modifications necessary to satisfy modern building codes and usage would be concealed, according to Mr. Hodges.

Mr. Hodges' preliminary design for the proposed reconstruction is based on a clearly defined and demonstrably reliable picture of the Globe Theater by the artist Wenceslaus Hollar. This was the second Globe built by Shakespeare's company to replace the original playhouse destroyed by fire.

Wayne State, which seeks to build Shakespeare's third Globe, is the home of the unique and internationally known Hilberry Repertory Company, a company of graduate students from all parts of the United States which performs a 30-week winter season of alternating repertory, as well as a six-week summer season.

Wayne also restored and operates the Bonstelle Theater, a historic landmark in the American theater.

As part of the Globe symposium, the Hilberry Company will present performances of two of the productions in its repertory, Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing" and Webster's "The Dutchess of Malfi," in a setting based on Mr. Hodges' preliminary design for the reconstructed Globe stage.

Guest observers at the conference will be limited to 100. For a brochure with additional information about the program and admission as an observer, write Mr. Leone, director, Wayne State University Theater, Detroit, Michigan 48202. The brochures will be available later in the fall.

The globe symposium is partially supported by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Teleministry Plan Underway

A training program for the new Detroit Contact Crisis Teleministry, launched Tuesday, October 3, at the Metropolitan United Methodist Church, 8000 Woodward avenue, continues through early February.

Part of a national network of 76 centers, Contact is an ecumenical program, headed by the United Methodist Union of Detroit and the six Methodist denominations of Detroit with wide participation from other denominations.

The 50-hour training program will be taught by doctors, police officers, social workers, members of the clergy and specialists on such anticipated subjects as sexual deviations, those alone in crisis, the grief-stricken and the depressed, users of alcohol and other drugs.

Chaplain Robert Hamilton, Bon Secours Hospital, led a session on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 10 and 11, on "How We Hurt and How We May Be Helped, The Helping Skills, Caring, Listening, Accepting, Supporting, Aiding."

Sister Sean Hogan, psychiatric social worker, Grosse Pointe, also will lead a discussion on The Helping Skills, Aiding Persons in Crisis and Crisis Intervention on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 24 and 25.

For further information on the program, call 875-7407.

Kids Will Dig At Helin Site

University Liggett School, (ULS), sixth graders will participate in an archaeological dig on Wednesday, October 18, at the Charles Helin property in Windmill Pointe drive which was destroyed by fire this winter.

The dig is a research project conducted annually by ULS sixth graders, whose social studies curriculum emphasizes a study of archaeology and ancient history.

The class will dig in 20 separate grid-sites on the Helin property, collecting and recording artifacts that later will be cleaned and labelled.

Ultimately, each artifact will carry an appropriate hypothesis and conclusion written by the sixth grade archaeologists.

Adults supervising the expedition are ULS Middle School faculty members Larry Griffin, Rick Del Grosso, Christine Hambright and Carole Johnson.

They'll be at the Helin site from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. on the day of the dig.

PWP to Hear Al Ackerman

Al Ackerman, sportscaster of WXYZ-TV Channel 7, will be guest speaker at the next general meeting of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Parents Without Partners, (PWP), Friday, October 13.

Mr. Ackerman's topic will be "Experiences in Sports." The coffee hour will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the meeting at 8:30 at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road.

Parents Without Partners, Inc., is a volunteer, non-profit, non-sectarian, educational organization, dedicated to the welfare and interests of single parents and their children. The organization has approximately 140,000 members in the U.S., Canada and overseas.

September was an anniversary month for the Grosse Pointe Chapter 192 as the group's semi-monthly meetings began 20 years ago.

For more information on chapter activities, call 881-5892.

MRS. WESLEY R. JOHNSON, OF RIDGE ROAD

By Janet Mueller

"I'm one of many," insists Doris Johnson, chairman of the Grosse Pointe Garden Center's 1978 Tour of Homes. "The hardest part of this job is saying you'll do it." Once committed, she's had all the help in the world, and the executive assistance of Mary Lou (Mrs. J. Crawford, Jr.) Frost: "my cohort in the whole thing; she's terrific."

Six homes, ranging from the contemporary residence of Dr. and Mrs. Douglas A. Sargent in the "Pine Woods" at the end of Lothrop road to the English Tudor residence of Mrs. David A. Wallace in Lewiston road, are featured on this year's tour.

It's set for Saturday and Sunday, October 21 and 22, from 1 to 5 o'clock both days. Keep your fingers crossed—Doris is—for super autumn weather that weekend.

Barn and Manor Also on the tour this year are Dr. and Mrs. Jan Nyboer's Winwood Manor in Cadieux road and "The Red Barn," Winwood Manor's former carriage house in Village lane, now the home of Dr. and Mrs. Peter S. King.

And the traditional home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel N. King, in Lakeland avenue. And Mr. and Mrs. John William Coe's home, Colonial in style, in Merriweather road.

Tour tickets are available now, at $4 for admission to all six homes, at the Garden Center Room in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Alger House, or from ticket chairman Mrs. L. William Moll.

They'll be available tour days at all of the homes, during tour hours.

This is Doris Johnson's second time around as Garden Center House Tour chairman. "In '71, Jean Dodds and I did it, and we had Rose Terrace, (the Anna Thompson Dodge mansion, fallen now to the wrecker's ball), and we could have sold twice the number of tickets."

Always Delighted That was a once-in-a-decade coup . . . but Doris considers it remarkable that, through the years, the tour has featured so many tremendous houses.

"We always come up with homes we are delighted with." Always, the House Tour roster has been compiled with an eye to variety, to appeal to different tastes.

Doris is from Texas where she met Wes, from Cleveland, during World War II. "And his life's never been the same since." Neither has hers. Neither would have it any other way.

Post-war, post-service, post-marriage, he finished school at Ohio State University, went on to graduate school at Northwestern and went to work for a management consulting firm in Chicago, then for Illinois Tool Works.

Business transfers took the Johnsons east, to Connecticut, then to England for almost six years. Their two youngest children, Philip and Gillian, were born there.

Four Jr. Johnsons Gillian is a senior at Grosse Pointe South High School now. Philip is a junior at the University of Michigan, just back from a summer in France. He stayed with his sister-in-law's family.

Rob (Wesley R. Johnson, Jr.) married a girl he met in France, during his junior year abroad at Aix-en-Provence. He and Babette are the parents of a two-year-old son: Nicholas.

Rob, a University of Michigan graduate and Powers Scholar who spent two years at England's Cambridge University, is at Harvard, teaching and working for his Ph.D. in History, planning to enter Harvard Law School, (he's already been accepted), a year from now.

Firstborn Beth has just become a mother. Baby Emily is six months old. Beth went to Wellesley and the University of Michigan. She lives in Toronto, where her husband, David, is a writer with the Toronto Star. Beth teaches at Ryerson Polytechnic Institute.

The Johnsons, who left for England as a quartet, returned to America six strong in 1962. Woodall Industries brought them to Detroit. Wes was executive vice-president of Woodall.

Wes Is President

He is now president of the Plastics Division of Libbey-Owens-Ford.

He serves on the boards of Children's Hospital, the YMCA, Junior Achievement and the Greater Michigan Foundation, and was recently elected president of the Detroit-Swedish Council.

A week after the House Tour, the Detroit-Swedish Council will stage its fundraiser: a smorgasbord at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Wes, says Doris, is always "really going to devote himself to golf—next year." He loves traveling. "His shoes were made for walking," Doris says, "mostly sight-seeing: he loves to walk the streets of strange places."

She does, too. She also enjoys golf and tennis and bowling. "I like to do them all. I don't do any of them well." She's a member of the Grosse Pointe Farm and Garden Club and a past-president of the Detroit Industrial School, in which she remains very interested.

Small, Dedicated

"We're a small group, involved in giving the proceeds of a trust fund to organizations working with children."

Doris and Wesley Johnson serve on Michigan Opera Theater's board of trustees. They were among guests at MOT's magnificent fundraiser at the War Memorial earlier in the fall, admiring a fabulous collection of Bulgari jewels, dining, dancing, delighting in the atmosphere, and the setting.

"I sometimes think we don't realize what a superb facility we, (the Grosse Pointe community), have in the War Memorial. That night, it was so beautiful . . . the Trial Gardens looked so lovely . . ."

And Doris was proud, for the Trial Garden is a Grosse Pointe Garden Center project, bringing beauty to all Pointers. It's one of the things House Tour proceeds help make possible.

The Grosse Pointe Garden Center maintains a horticulture reference library in its room in Alger House, for members and the community.

Stress Education

It is involved in horticulture education, via lectures and a scholarship program for graduate students. It sponsors, with the War Memorial, the annual Grosse Pointe Horticulture-Bonsai Show.

It exists to serve and benefit us all. Doris has been involved with the Garden Center for a decade or so now—she's board vice-president this year—and she continues to be impressed by what the Garden Center does, the role it plays in enhancing the community's quality of life, and by the trustees it attracts.

The Garden Center boasts almost 1,000 members. Its trustees number 45, and to a woman, says Doris, "They're terrific."

She hasn't found an uncooperative one in the bunch. "You get a different view of people when you work with them," she notes. "These women are really dedicated . . . and they know how to work!"

Proceeds from the annual House Tour, and dues, give them the money to work with. "We're working to maintain all the programs we've had in the past, and with inflation, et al., that becomes increasingly difficult.

Supports Self

"Happily, the Raymond and Eska Berry Fund supports our annual Berry Lecture. But everything else is supported by us."

Everything Else includes a Spring Lecture featuring an outstanding often nationally-known speaker, a series of Green Thumb lectures for members, periodical subscriptions for the library and Airman ANTHONY R. KALED, son of MR. and MRS. ANTHONY KALED, of Lakepointe avenue, has been graduated from the technical training course for food service specialists at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo. A 1977 graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School, he is assigned to Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D., for duty with the Strategic Air Command.

GEORGE B. CANDLER, son of MR. and MRS. J. H. CANDLER, of Beverly road, received a Masters degree in Architecture during spring commencement exercises at Rice University, Houston.

Receiving Bachelor of Science degrees during spring commencement exercises at Lawrence Institute of Technology were Pointers MICHAEL J. DAY, WILLIAM GILLIES and HENRY M. KIES.

MARCIA FARMER, of University place, and DR. and MRS. DOUGLAS SARGENT with their children HAL and LAUREN were among a 180-member class of alumni, parents and friends of Brown University, Providence, R.I., participating in the seventh annual summer college.

Named to the spring quarter Dean's List at Michigan Technological University was WILLIAM E. BRUSH, son of Pointer MRS. MARY K. BRUSH. He is a Pre-Medicine and Pre-Dentistry major.

DAVID J. FROMM, of Belanger avenue, and DOUGLAS T. McCLURE, of Cloverly road, received Master of Business Administration degrees during spring commencement exercises at Harvard University.

JOHN H. KAY, JR., son of MR. and MRS. J. HOWARD KAY, of Grand Marais boulevard, has been graduated from Northfield Mount Hermon School, East Northfield, Mass. He entered Kenyon College this September.

Anything Else that needs doing. This year, for instance, the Garden Center Room was re-decorated.

Something new has been added to the House Tour program this year: a series of prizes, made and donated by board members. The idea is not only to raise extra money, (although that idea is welcome), but to highlight the talents of the Garden Center's very talented women.

Back in 1974, when Doris Johnson was Grosse Pointe Garden Center historian, she immersed herself in scrapbooks, poured over clippings and, coming up for air, decided that she had to share the Garden Center Story she'd found.

So she put it all together, in an annual report that was also a History of the Garden Center.

Back to Beginning

She went back to the beginning, to 1949, when the "Garden and Grounds Committee" first met in the sunny, corner room Mrs. Russell Alger had designated as a Garden Room in the Alger family's gift to Grosse Pointe: their family home, re-christened the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, destined to become the focus of the community's

More are Mrs. Cargo, Mrs. William S. Palmer and Mrs. John A. Parks, all of Detroit, and Mrs. Reinhard Rottner, of Roseville, for Tuesday Musicales, with many Pointe members, remains a metropolitan group, bringing together people from all areas of Greater Detroit who enjoy performing and applauding good music.

Johanna Gilbert's executive board members for 1978-79 include Mrs. M. A. Klerx, of Mount Clemens, second vice-president, Mrs. Edward Wilson and Mrs. Catherine Goodsell, both of St. Clair Shores, recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively.

Financial secretary is a Dearbornite, Mrs. Walter N. Maroney. Treasurer is Mrs. V. Everett Kinsey, of Troy. Mrs. Walter J. Burczyk, of Littlestone road, and Mrs. James G. Ellison, of Roslyn road, are in charge of the general program.

Mrs. Roy Zimmerman, of West Bloomfield, edits "Keynotes," the Musicales's newsletter.

Directors also reflect the Musicales's metropolitan character: Mrs. Donald I. Lahti, of Southfield, Mrs. C. Edwin Smith, of Trenton, Mrs. Johnston, of Harper Woods, the orchid grower, Mrs. Robert R. Johnson, of Franklin, Mrs. Dan Frohman, of Royal Oak, and Mrs. David Steele, of Lincoln road.

Associate Member chairman Mrs. Donald E. Hansen, of Bedford road, will be on hand to receive applications for membership, entitling associates to free admission to all Tuesday Musicales concerts—10 performed by the Musicales's active members are planned semi-monthly this season, plus an Artist Concert featuring George Shirley, one of America's most versatile tenors—plus participation in area workshops and the Tuesday Musicales Choral Ensemble.

More information on membership may be obtained by calling Mrs. Hansen at 886-3867.

Musical Marathon Is This Weekend

Speaking of music . . . don't forget to tune in WJR-AM Saturday, after the Michigan football game, and start listening to Musical Marathon, a fund-raiser for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra sponsored by the Junior Women's Association for the DSO whose members, and husbands, will be manning telephones, taking pledges and requests for selections.

If you forget Saturday, tune in Sunday . . . the Marathon continues for 26 hours or so, and every hour is worth hearing.

civic and cultural activities. The War Memorial has grown, with the addition of the Fries Building and, most recently, a new Art Wing, but Alger House remains its heart.

The Garden and Grounds Committee was appointed for the purpose of supervising the maintenance of the beautiful formal gardens that were — and are — so important a part of the estate.

A year later the Grosse Pointe Garden Center was organized, assumed the functions of that committee, and the "lovely, sunny" corner room became its home.

Still Is Home It's still its home. Miss Marie Louise Anderson, the Garden Center's first president, is still actively involved in Garden Center affairs. That's typical: no one ever seems to retire from the Grosse Pointe Garden Center.

If anything, members, and especially trustees, become more dedicated, and more enthusiastic, over the years.

Like Doris Johnson. Once around as chairman of a project as big as the Grosse Pointe Garden Center's annual Tour of Homes would seem to be enough, (one's done one's duty), but here's Doris: back at it again.

She couldn't say no. Well . . . she'd done it before, and she knew that saying yes was the hardest part. Once committed, she knew she'd have all the help in the world.

"I'm one of many." And that says it all.
