

ELECTION HAS BIG TURNOUT

HEADLINES of the WEEK

As Compiled by The Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, November 9
REPUBLICANS MADE modest gains in the congressional elections held Tuesday, but the makeup of both houses remains overwhelmingly Democratic. Some 20 freshmen will join the Senate, while about 71 new members will serve in the House. In many cases, younger, more modern legislators will replace the old guard, particularly in the South. Specifically, Republicans picked up three seats in the Senate, 12 in the House and six in the governors' races.

Friday, November 10
PRESIDENT JIMMY CARTER, explaining why he signed the $18.7 billion tax cut bill, said he wanted to be sure Americans wouldn't be encumbered with huge tax increases at the beginning of the next year. The bill is designed to ease the burden of the increase in social security taxes which will begin in 1979. The President also signed a weakened version of his energy program into law. The measure, which bears little resemblance to what he proposed 18 months ago, will cut foreign oil imports by 2.5 million barrels a day by 1985, only 60 percent of what he wanted.

Saturday, November 11
MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS CO. announced it would lower its working staff by 10 percent, close five customer offices and raise repair charges, blaming what it considers an inadequate rate increase it received six weeks ago. The company had sought $110 million and was granted $19.7, while a circuit court judge has since ordered the Public Service Commission to allow it the some $22.9 million more, making the total rate increase almost $43 million. The company expects the cost it cutting measures to save it $10 million a year.

Sunday, November 12
IRAN'S NEWLY INSTALLED military government arrested the 71-year-old leader of the country's major opposition party and ordered troops to work strikebound oil fields. Karim Sanjaby, chief of the National Front, which is opposed to the shah and sympathetic to Moslem traditionalists, was arrested at his home as he prepared to hold a news conference. Meanwhile, violence flared between protestors and the army in the oil-producing southern region, with reports of two dead.

Monday, November 13
PRESIDENT JIMMY CARTER, in an attempt to break the Middle East peace negotiation deadlock, telephoned both Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin. The President apparently discussed with the leaders a new formula for the treaty which had been worked out earlier in the day with representatives of both countries and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance. Mr. Carter then presented his plan to Mr. Begin at a two-hour meeting in New York, following which the Israeli commented, "We held a very serious discussion."

Tuesday, November 14
IRAN'S MILITARY government made significant steps toward ending the two-week strike by oil workers by threatening reprisals against them. Meanwhile, President Jimmy Carter made an emotional plea for compromise between Egypt and Israel on a peace treaty, saying that the issues separating them are technicalities with "absolutely no historical significance." Mr. Carter told an interviewer that such appeals from the U.S. have been made on a constant basis.

Lunch Plan Set to Begin On Nov. 20

Previously Delayed Elementary School Program Should Start Without Any Problems

By Susan McDonald
The often-delayed elementary school lunch program will finally begin in Pointe public schools on Monday, November 20, according to school officials. The state-mandated program has been delayed because equipment needed to serve the lunches was not delivered by vendors on schedule, according to Ben Zenn, director of support services. All the necessary equipment is in, Mr. Zenn said, and the program should start off without a hitch next week.

To Mail Menus
Meals for elementary students will alternate between hot and cold entrees and will cost 70 cents each. To discourage cash sales which slow down serving lines, the schools will sell five-meal tickets for $3.50. The tickets may be used at any time during the semester and parents are under no obligation to notify the school of where their children will eat on a given day. Lunch programs have been operating since September at middle and high school levels in The Pointe. All food services in the school system are now being handled by ARA Food Services, one of the largest firms of its kind, based in Philadelphia, Pa. Menus will be mailed to elementary parents monthly. In addition to a daily entree. (Continued on Page 2)

GPW to Act As Managing Municipality in Effort To Aid Seniors' Program

Council Approves Participation with SOCC, Which Will Act As Sub-Contractor, to Make Sure Special Needs Monies Are Properly Disbursed in Four Pointes

By Roger A. Waha
The Woods will act as the managing municipality and work with SOCC, (Seniors Onward for Change Committee), which will act as a sub-contractor, to make certain that $29,740 in special needs program funds for senior citizens in four Pointes is properly disbursed.

This was an outgrowth of developments at the county level and at the Woods Council's regular meeting on Monday, November 6. The community was recently notified by the Wayne County Office of Program Development and Coordination that the funds have been approved in the following amounts: The City, $9,471, The Woods, $8,526, The Shores, $5,068, with the monies being utilized in each municipality toward a home repair and maintenance program for seniors.

Get Money's Worth
On the 6th, the council agreed to the managing municipality concept and authorized the signing of a contract with the county toward administering such home repair services. "This is one way the four Pointe communities can take advantage of federal dollars for which none was geared to administer. Fortunately, we have an organization like SOCC, (an outgrowth of The Pointe's Out-Wayne County Nutrition Site for seniors, housed in the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack avenue), an already going organization, to do this," said Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen. Saying he was very pleased the program can be sub-

GP's Move To Approve Bond Issue

Flurry of Activity Incinerator Proposal Prior to Election; Park Considers Request on November 14

By The NEWS Staff

All but one of the Pointes have approved the $4.5 million bond issue requested by the Grosse Pointes-Clinton Refuse Disposal Authority for improvements needed to bring its incinerator up to air pollution standards imposed by the federal government. The Park remains the only one of eight municipalities which hasn't okayed the bonds, which are needed to finance the installation of electrostatic precipitators to clean pollutants from the smoke emitted by the incinerator, located in Clinton Township. The authority, in addition to all the Pointes, is composed of Mount Clemens, Clinton Township and Harper Woods. It was notified in August that it would be required to meet air pollution standards imposed by the federal Clean Air Act. The deadline for compliance was set for July 1, 1979.

Best Method
The Park Council was expected to consider the matter at its rescheduled regular meeting Tuesday, November 14, (after press time), after tabling the issue when it was first considered on Monday, October 30. The incinerator, which was built in 1972, is presently equipped with pollution devices known as wet scrubbers. Although the authority says they are working as they are unable to meet the standards, which haven't changed since it was built. According to the authority, the builder of the plant guaranteed the wet scrubbers would meet pollution standards. When they failed, the authority brought a $3.5 million lawsuit against the contractor, claiming he did not fulfill the terms of his contract. The state pollution agency allowed the incinerator to operate in violation of standards while the litigation was continuing until August, when the authority was notified of the next year's deadline for compliance. An engineering study by the authority determined that electrostatic precipitators, which take particles out of smoke by charging them electrically and then attracting them to plates with an opposite charge, was the best

GP City Police Break Up Bash

City police hauled 13 teenagers from The Farms Park, City and Shores into the station on Saturday, November 11, after a party at 577 Washington road spilled onto neighbors' yards. Police said they broke up the bash after receiving complaints that "lawn jobs" had been done on neighbors' property by several youths who had been asked to leave the party. Two youths also said a gun had been pulled out by an unidentified person at the party when they were questioned by police. No charges were filed against any of the youths.

Headlee Plan Viewed Warily By Officials

Concerns Remain over Passage of Tax Limitation Question in Minds of City Managers; Potential Problems Explored

By Susan McDonald

Many questions remain in the aftermath of the tax limitation victory at the polls last week. While local officials admit they're confused about Headlee, some are already predicting a rough time balancing budgets this spring, when the constitutional amendment will have its first real effects.

The amendment won by a healthy 60 percent margin in The Pointe, compared to its slim 51 percent victory statewide.

"This is obviously what voters have said they want to do," said City Manager Thomas Kressbach of Grosse Pointe City. "We'll just have to do our best to cope and remind voters that tax limitation means some sacrifice on the part of citizens."

Most local officials are delighted over one of Headlee's provisions which calls for the state to pay for the programs it mandates at the local level.

But just how far that provision will be taken and how much assistance it will provide for local units scrambling to comply with dozens of state requirements is a question the courts and legislature will have to decide.

"Does that mean the state will cover our mandatory arbitration costs for police and fire?" (which average about 10 percent salary increases per year), asked Farms City Manager Andrew Bremer. "That could have a great impact on our budget."

The officials predict another Headlee provision—a limit of state spending equivalent to about 9.4 percent of personal income in Michigan—will set off a tremendous scramble for state funds among local units of government.

"Competition will be very keen between school systems, cities and counties for more limited state funds," explained the state system's Director of Business Affairs Larry Rankens.

Kercheval-Alter Building To Become Medical Clinic

By Susan McDonald
The building at Kercheval and Alter road which was vacated last month by City National Bank won't be empty for long.

City National's landlord, John Brosnan, announced last week he has sold the building to a Bloomfield Hills doctor who plans to convert it to a medical clinic. News of the sale came as a relief to residents of The Park and Kercheval surrounding the Kercheval avenue commercial strip. Residents feared the bank closing would have a deteriorating effect on the already struggling area which includes several vacant buildings. The residents, members of The Pointe's Park West and

Absentee Vote Count High in GP

Tired Officials Review Results Wherein Each Community Reports over 60 Percent Total Response

By The NEWS Staff

Absentee voting has grown steadily since laws were liberalized several years ago, and probably because of the heavy ballot during the Tuesday, November 7, general election, it reached its peak in The Pointe.

An estimated one of three citizens who voted their choice via the absentee ballot during the Tuesday, November 7, general election, reported fine voter turnout as no community was lower than 60 percent.

And, as in the past, The Pointe went heavily Republican with both re-elected Gov. William G. Milliken and defeated Sen. Robert Griffin, for instance, winning handily in each community.

Farms Leads Way
The Farms led all the Pointes in total percentage of citizens voting, (71 percent), and those voting via absentee ballots, (40 percent).

City Clerk Richard G. Solak said the 2,385 absentee voters eclipsed the previous record of the 1976 election by about 50 percent. He noted this year's count represented about 40 percent of the total vote, or around 30 percent of all farms registered voters.

Mr. Solak said the number of absentee ballots has been increasing steadily over the years because of relaxed state requirements, including age, which has gone from 72 to 60 years.

He personally worked a 25-hour shift on election day, but said he was glad to see the good voter turnout.

In The City, which has the highest percentage of senior citizens of the five Pointes, according to the latest school census, absentees made up 38 percent of the voters which caused City Manager Thomas Kressbach to note, "It's practically election by mail." Overall, over 63 percent of the community's registered voters went to the polls.

Manpower Problems
Meanwhile, in The Park, 33 percent of the voters went the absentee route, while the municipality had an overall turnout of 68 percent.

In The Shores, 34 percent of the citizenry voted absentee, with the Village experiencing a turnout of over 67 percent. Finally, in The Woods, over 26 percent voted absentee, with the city reporting over a 68 percent turnout.

The high absentee vote posed significant manpower problems for all election officials—not to mention some headaches.

Park City Clerk Nunzio J. Ottusio, for instance, said he usually brings in about three people to handle the absentee ballots. But this year, he (Continued on Page 2)

90-Year-Old Struck by Car

A 90-year-old Park man, Thomas Boyd of Harvard road, is in a good condition at B. J. Scripps Hospital, where he's recovering from injuries sustained when he was hit by a car Monday, November 6.

Park police said the man was on foot at 5224 Wallace avenue near Harvard, at about 9 a.m. Monday, when a car, this 82-year-old man, was struck by a car.

Kercheval-Alter Building

"I hope this offsets some of the concerns over the closing of the bank," Mr. Brosnan said in a phone interview. "It will certainly be better than having another vacant building there. I feel that having a professional occupying the same building he owns will be a good thing for the area."

One of the leaders of the petition drive to keep the bank open, Father Thomas Krell of Saint Ambrose Church, agreed the clinic will have a positive impact on the neighborhood.

"I'm very pleased the building isn't going to be empty and will be used for something beneficial to the neighborhood," Father Krell said.

"I'm still disappointed the bank closed, but people at the bank are being very cooperative with us. We're working on plans to provide transportation to the elderly citizens in the area to other bank branches. I don't know if that will ever come off—but we're all trying."

The announcement that the Kercheval-Alter bank branch would close came just weeks after the Park Council announced a major revitalization effort would be made on the Kercheval commercial strip.

Councilwoman Ann MacDonald and Park City Manager John Crawford were among the people talking with bank officials in an effort to have them reconsider the move out of the area.

Neighborhood groups have taken a number of approaches toward improving the area. Members of JAK have begun sending letters to owners of vacant buildings on Kercheval—including Wayne County Commissioner Erv Steiner — demanding they clean up their property and make basic repairs to buildings.

They have organized programs to replace fallen Elm trees, and have formed "crime watch" and block beautification groups as well.

Pointers Respond on Election Day

Extra manpower and the cost of postage for the ballots raised the price of the election, but officials say firm figures are not yet available.

"It's expensive, but it's a cost well spent if you can get people to vote," noted Mr. Kressbach, while Woods City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said, "The processing of absentee ballots cost us more than the rest of the election."

For his part, Shores Village Superintendent Thomas K. Jefferis said, "I've never had anything like it before" in reviewing the work involved for this election. He added Village personnel did nothing else except give out absentee ballots for three weeks prior to the election.

"It's an arduous, time-consuming job," he noted, obviously reflecting the feelings of his municipal colleagues.

The only local issues and/or candidates were in The Woods and Grosse Pointe Township.

Voters barely approved a tax collection fee referendum question in The Woods by a 4,664 to 4,502 margin. This amendment to the city charter provides an additional tax collection fee of one-half of one percent per month beginning October 1 of each year on delinquent taxes.

In Grosse Pointe Township, citizens considered an unopposed slate of candidates for various offices. Gerald C. Schroeder received 1,344 votes for supervisor, Mr. Jefferis, 1,358, for clerk, Walter R. Frizzell, 1,346, for treasurer and Robert F. Weber, 1,336, for trustee.

Four seats for constable were open with the three candidates on the ballot receiving the following number of votes: Donald J. Haigh, 1,290, and Albert J. Klick and Frank MacWhirter, both with 1,278. The other vacancy was filled via the write-in route with Sally Wood obtaining 58 votes.

Bryant Wins Again

In locally-oriented races, incumbent State Rep. William R. Bryant defeated his Democratic opponent, Stanley M. Fisher, in the 13th District race by an unofficial count of 24,385 to 6,286. In The Pointe, Rep. Bryant won each municipality handily.

Democrat John Kelly, meanwhile, won election to the state senate in the First District, (Park, City, Farms and Shores), by an unofficial 25,593 to 17,238 margin over his Republican challenger, Joseph L. Posch Jr. However, in the four aforementioned municipalities, Mr. Posch won The Pointe vote.

In the Second District senate race, Democrat John Hertel defeated Republican Donald LaRue, 48,285 to 9,524, in unofficial results. In the section of the district located in The Woods, Sen. Hertel garnered 1,026 votes to Mr. LaRue's 789.

Republican Edwin Parkinson, however, took his Democratic opponent Gilbert J. DiNello in the 26th District race, with Woods voters supporting Mr. Parkinson according to unofficial results.

County Commissioner Ervin Steiner, (First District, encompassing all the Pointes), took his Democratic opponent Valere Huvaere by an unofficial count of 23,305 to 8,274. All Pointe voters gave their nod to Mr. Steiner.

Finally, in the 14th District congressional race, Democratic incumbent Lucien Nedzi defeated Republican challenger John E. Getz, 71,954 to 27,857, in unofficial totals, although voters in all the Pointes supported Mr. Getz. The 14th District encompasses both Wayne and Macomb Counties.

Meanwhile, voters in all the Pointes supported Proposal E, (Headlee), while uniformly defeating Proposal J, (Tisch). Proposal H, (Voucher System), also was defeated in all the municipalities.

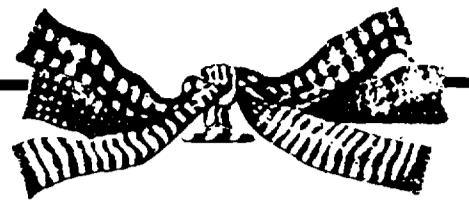

Proposal D, (on raising the drinking age to 21), squeezed by to victory in all of the Pointes, with the closest count coming in The City where it won by a 1,488 to 1,463 margin.

Unofficially, a total of 2,904,413 citizens across the state voted in the election out of 5.4 million registered voters.

It even costs twenty cents today to get a wrong number.

Freedom is part of your job — bear that in mind always.

Officer Hurt, Man Arrested

A 25-year-old Farms man was charged with assault and battery last week after he punched a Park police officer in the eye, according to police reports.

The man, David J. Griffin of Bournemouth road, was released on a $100 cash bond. The officer he punched, Patrolman David Hiller, is sporting a tremendous shiner, but otherwise is in good condition, police said.

He was hit after responding to a "family trouble" call at 1301 Nottingham road on Friday, November 10. Police first went to that home at about 6:30 p.m. Friday and, at the request of the resident, told Griffin to leave.

Police were called back to the home at about 7 p.m. and found Griffin hiding in the bushes. Again he was told to leave the area.

At about 7:30 p.m. they spotted the complaining resident driving down the street with her two sons in the car — and Griffin was close behind, according to the report. Police were told Griffin had struck the woman's car.

When the officer approached Griffin in his car, the man opened the door and socked Patrolman Hiller in the eye, police said.

Griffin's court date was scheduled for yesterday, Wednesday, November 15.

All the food will be prepared at North High School and shipped in special servers to the 10 elementary schools.

Mandated by State
The lunch program was mandated by the state legislature in 1976 to promote public health. The cost to the school system of expanding kitchens, purchasing equipment and building eating areas to comply with the law was estimated at $250,000 by Director of Business Affairs Larry Rankens. The state is expected to reimburse most of that money.

Reduced lunch prices are available for low-income students in the district.

More information on that program may be obtained by calling Mr. Zenn at 343-2047.

Farms Learns Bag of Heroin Is Plain Sand

The $15,000 worth of suspected Mexican brown heroin found by a Farms woman in her car recently turned out to be nothing more than a bag of sand.

The phony heroin, which a Farms patrolman said looks very similar to the real substance, gave positive results in a field test conducted by the police. It was later determined to be harmless by the State Police crime lab.

According to the patrolman, the testing apparatus may have been contaminated from a test done the previous day after a major cocaine bust. That may have explained why the chemical reagent turned colors when dropped on the sand, he said.

The woman found the bag in her car on Sunday, October 29, and turned it in to police. She said it was apparently placed in her car while she was visiting her mother in a downriver suburb.

It was later determined that the bag had come from a litter box which was set on the transmission hump of her car. The bag had fallen out of one of the weighted flaps used to anchor the box to the hump.

Several days later, the woman's husband brought the second bag into police, who tested it and determined it to be sand.

The original find, however, was still considered to be the real thing, since the field test was positive.

Woods Studies Adoption Of Two New Ordinances

Two proposed ordinances were unanimously approved by the Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, November 6, for a first reading, with the date of Monday, November 23, being set for their second reading and possible final adoption.

One proposal provides for the creation of a community tree commission, while the other controls the placement of driveway approaches and provides for an appeal procedure.

The tree commission proposal, if adopted, would amend the city's tree ordinance and provide for the creation of a community tree commission consisting of five persons who must be city residents.

As proposed, commission members will be appointed by the mayor from the membership of the Beautification Commission with their terms of appointment being concurrent with their service on the Beautification Commission.

A tree commission chairman will be elected, with the commission meeting once per month, or more often as required. The group will formulate and develop recommendations to assist the city in its efforts to maintain and further develop an active Community Forestry Program.

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen further explored this proposal in a memo to the council in relation to a "Tree City" designation.

Saying he has been in contact with the State Department of Natural Resources, (DNR), since February regarding an upcoming proposed urban forestry grant, Mr. Petersen stated that the municipality "is far ahead of most cities in the care and conservation of our tree inventory and that our record of achievements in the area of urban forestry will help us qualify for future DNR grants."

In the near future, he said the city expects to be notified of another opportunity to participate in a DNR grant program. "It is the opinion of this office that our chances of obtaining funds will be increased if we subscribe to the DNR's sponsored "Tree City" program."

To meet such a designation, several standards must be met including the following:

- Have a legally constituted tree body, charged by ordinance with the responsibility for developing and administering a comprehensive city tree program.
- Have an ordinance regulating tree planting and maintenance, and dead tree removal on publicly owned property, in accordance with accepted forestry principles.
- Have an active, comprehensive community forestry program, supported by a minimum of $1 per capita public funds, (exclusive of donation of labor and money).
- Have a formal proclamation by the mayor designating Arbor Day, and a public commemorative tree planting in observance of Arbor Day each year.

At this time, Mr. Petersen noted, the city lacks only a "tree body" and an Arbor Day program.

He recommended that the council enact the proposed ordinance and that Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos proclaim an Arbor Day in the city. The council then authorized the latter with Arbor

GPW Recreation Bowlers Fight Lung Disease

Jack Degriek's Grosse Pointe Woods Recreation, 20422 Mack Avenue, hosted an American Lung Ass'n. "Bowl-A-Thon" during October and November raising more than $700 for use against lung disease.

The Bowl-A-Thon was held to give young bowlers a chance to express a commitment to good health, according to Walter E. Bradley, president of the American Lung Ass'n. of Southeastern Michigan (ALASEM).

The event involved youth in three leagues who solicited pledges for each pin knocked down during regular week play in October.

During November the youngsters brought in the pledged money and received awards.

Robert Kenward, manager of Grosse Pointe Woods Recreation, said that among the awards that were given were first, second and third place trophies for the three persons in each league to turn in the largest amounts of money.

Awards received by the Boys Junior League went to Dean Miltello, first place, Dusty Cushard, second place, and Tony Thomas, third place.

Pointe Officials Discuss Headlee with Concern

Could Be Difficult

Headlee's most profound local effect will come from its limitation on property tax revenues.

Interpretations of how that limit will work vary widely among Grosse Pointe's city managers, but most understand the amendment to put a limit on property tax increases equivalent to the rate of inflation.

So far this year, inflation as measured by the Consumer Price Index, (CPI), is running a little over eight percent.

Mr. Rankens says the district would have very little problem living within that eight percent boundary.

"Of course, if the president should implement mandatory wage and price controls, the inflation rate could go way down. Then we may have to reconsider a few programs," he said.

But the cities find an eight percent limit more difficult to cope with. Mr. Kressbach points out that, while the CPI was about 6.5 percent last year, the Municipal Price Index was one to two percent higher.

Less Flexibility

"The day after the election we all received notice of the gas company's request for a $102 million rate hike. Our insurance bids are coming in 10 to 15 percent higher than last year," said Mr. Bremer. "When you start getting bills like that you realize it's going to be tough this spring."

In past years, the cities' budgets have generally increased more than eight percent annually. In The Park, for instance, the last three budgets have jumped close to 10 percent over previous years, and it's obvious some cuts will be necessary should an eight percent ceiling be imposed.

The officials predict one route many will take to raise money will be increasing service fees and charges to residents, such as charging admission to community swimming pools or fees for collecting rubbish.

"Our flexibility to make changes in programs to respond to citizens has been reduced by Headlee," Mr. Kressbach explained. "Due to our size and stringent budget, Headlee's effect will be felt much more quickly here than in other communities."

Different View

Two local officials, Chester E. Petersen, Woods city administrator, and Nunzio J. Orsini, Park city clerk, interpret Headlee in a different light. Both men maintain that because they are authorized by their city charters to levy up to 20 mills of property tax, they may raise taxes

"The Store For Christmas"

Proposal D's Passage

(Continued from Page 1) "It's a damn shame the thing went through," said Diamond Lil's owner John McElroy. He acknowledged the new law would affect him but added, "I'll survive because I can go both ways."

Mr. McElroy said that while the 18 to 21 crowd does patronize his establishment, so does the over-21 set. "Hopefully, some of the older crowd will filter back in now that they see the kids have left."

He said he's also doing some remodeling in the bar, attempting to make it more attractive for the older groups.

Mr. Addison and Mr. McElroy both can count on their daytime patrons to help them out. Both have a pretty good lunch clientele built up from workers in the area. Mr. Addison says he will hurt the worst in the summer, when the college students were filling up his place at night.

Ed Brengman, who manages the Captain II along with other members of his family, was disappointed with the outcome but said they had anticipated the change for quite some time and had attempted to "gear our business toward the older groups."

Mr. Brengman thinks the "hospitality industry" as he calls it, will be very much hurt by the measure, and the state will suffer a corresponding decline in tax revenues. The industry, he points out, has been operating for six years with the 500,000, 18- to 21-year-olds, and now that demand will be dropped.

He believes the industry should "have organized" their forces earlier, in attempting to defeat the measure, but that they were too occupied with how they were going to cope with the throwaway bottle and can ban which becomes effective on December 3.

Pointing to the fact that the measure was passed by a much smaller majority than early polls indicated it would receive, Mr. Brengman feels that, given another month, the proposal would have been defeated.

All the bar owners agree the 18- to 21-year-olds will continue to drink, legally or illegally. They agree, too, that disco bars will be very hard-hit, and they would all agree there will always be a few people who can't handle their liquor in any age group.

Pointers voting in the election approved the proposal by a total margin of 14,322 to 11,525, with the question being closely passed in all five municipalities.

Torch Drive Exceeds Goal, Raises $46 Million

The 1978 United Foundation Torch Drive ended Thursday, November 9, with the announcement that Torch Drive volunteers have raised a record of $46,173,798. This is $1,673,798 over the goal of $44,500,000.

The results of the 30th annual campaign represent an increase of 8.2 percent over last year's campaign total, and is the largest amount ever raised by the United Foundation.

The announcement was made at the traditional Torch Drive victory dinner, held in the Renaissance Ballroom of the Detroit Plaza Hotel.

Presiding over the meeting were two Pointers, 1978 Torch Drive general chairman Arthur R. Seder Jr., chairman and president of American Natural Resources Co., and Joseph L. Hudson Jr., chairman of the UF board of directors and chief executive officer of the J. L. Hudson Co.

The 1978 Torch Drive raises money to support 137 health and community service agencies serving people living in 112 communities throughout Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

In final campaign reports, Chapter Campaigns chairman Louis R. Ross, executive vice-president, Ford Diversified Products Operations, Ford Motor Co., reported that $45,093,487 was raised in the Chapter Campaigns or 103.8 percent of their quota.

In individual reports by the six Chapter Campaigns Units, the Automotive Manufacturers Unit reported $25,856,394 or 104.1 percent of its quota. The Industrial Unit reported $4,894,986 or 103.3 percent of its quota. The Commercial Unit reported $5,084,482 or 102.8 percent of its quota. The Service Unit reported $4,841,547 or 105.4 percent of its quota.

The Schools, Government and Professions Unit reported $4,056,270 or 100.7 percent of its quota, and the Metropolitan Unit reported $359,808 or 114.5 percent of its quota.

The Benson Ford Trophy, awarded to one of four competing Chapter Campaigns units, (Industrial, Service, Commercial and Schools, Government and Professions), for achieving the highest percentage increase over its quota, was presented to the Service Unit.

It was accepted by J. Roy Henry, executive vice-president-marketing of Burroughs Corp. and chairman for this unit.

In other reports, Mrs. Joseph A. Viesson, chairman for Community Campaigns, reported that her volunteers have raised a total of $1,080,311 or 102.9 percent of their quota. Reports were heard from the three major units of the Community Campaigns, Northeast, Northwest and West.

The Northeast Unit reported $387,761 or 102.8 percent of its quota. The Northwest Unit reported $468,457 or 104.4 percent of its quota. The West Unit reported $224,093 or 100 percent of its quota.

The Torch Drive Gifts Campaigns, headed by Elliott H. Phillips, an attorney with the firm Hill, Lewis, Adams, Goodrich and Tait, reported $919,432 or 108.4 percent of the Special Gifts quota.

Mr. Seder also reported that Torch Drive volunteers raised $2,376,122 in the Urban Progress Fund campaign, which raises money to support the activities of New Detroit, Inc. The UPF campaign has been conducted concurrently with the Torch Drive since 1969 and solicits only businesses, foundations and organizations in the tri-county area. No individuals are asked to give.

The 1978 UPF goal was $2,375,000.

In remarks following these reports, Mr. Seder thanked the thousands of volunteers throughout the tri-county area who worked in this year's Torch Drive.

He gave special thanks to the four Torchlighters—children representing four of the 137 Torch Drive-supported agencies—and Miss Torchy, who represented the United Foundation at campaign meetings and rallies throughout the campaign.

The 1978 Torchlighters are Charles Clark of Warren, 11, representing Big Brothers/Big Sisters; Ramon Jones of Detroit, 3, representing the Detroit Orthopaedic Clinic; Jane Simons of Taylor, 16, representing the Kidney Foundation of Michigan; and Karrie Wujcik of Troy, 7, who is enrolled at the FAR Conservatory of Performing Arts, which is funded by the Metropolitan Agency for the Retarded.

Miss Torchy this year is Diane Gene Brookins of Detroit, a corporate information specialist for Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan.

The entertainment at this victory celebration was the musical revue "Sunshine Express."

Costs for this and all Torch Drive report luncheons are met through the UF's Meeting Sponsorship Pool. Local corporations, labor unions and organizations make special contributions to this pool, in addition to their generous Torch Drive contributions, to cover expenses for official UF functions.

Thieves Enter Woods Homes

Two breaking and entering reports were received by Woods police last week, with one occurring at a Hampton road residence and the other at a Van Antwerp road home.

On Monday afternoon, November 6, Douglas Sasberg of St. Clair Shores said he received a call on the break-in from a tenant who's renting the home in Hampton road from him.

In the incident, police said the thieves removed various tools with a total value of over $500 from a basement closet, after prying the latch off.

The tenant discovered the burglary after finding a rear door window shattered.

Police noted the home was vacant from October 7 with the tenant in the initial stages of redecorating.

In the second incident, reported Thursday evening, November 9, thieves broke into the Van Antwerp road home through the front door by prying the door and tearing apart the locking mechanism.

Items reported missing included a 19" color television set, valued at around $800, $100 in rolled coins and a camera.

Mark Hayduk told police he left home at around 7:30 a.m. and returned at 9:05 p.m. to discover the break-in.

Trio Honored by Producers

Three pioneers in Detroit's communications industry, Pointers Ross Joy and J. Clifford Hanna, and Detroit resident George Pierrot, were honored by their peers in the Detroit Producers Ass'n. Wednesday, November 15, at a dinner at the St. Regis Hotel.

Mr. Roy of Sheldon road, is founder and board chairman of Ross Roy, Inc., Detroit's largest advertising agency and in the top 25 of the world's advertising agencies.

Mr. Hanna of Doyle court, is founder and president of Video Films, Inc., which he started in vacant quarters of his father's Jefferson avenue art gallery in 1947. The firm was the first in Detroit devoted exclusively to making television commercials.

Mr. Pierrot of Burns avenue in Detroit, is president of World Adventure Series, which he founded in 1933. The series is currently in its 46th year of showing at the Detroit Institute of Arts and at one time was shown simultaneously on all of Detroit's television stations.

Producers Ass'n. president Dan Nissly said, "Each honoree in his own area has made innovations that helped move the industry as it now exists. People working in every part of the industry have been touched by their contributions."

Grosse Pointe Hunt Club Elects Leaders

Frank J. Huster will head a new slate of officers and directors which will run the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club during the coming year.

At its recent annual meeting, Mr. Huster of Berkshire road was re-elected president of the club for the coming year. James B. Nicholson of Kenwood court was re-elected vice-president, John C. Frakes of Blairmoor court was re-elected secretary, and John E. Williams Jr. of Merriweather road was re-elected treasurer.

At the same time, club members named Richard J. Pryce of Meadow lane, David "Bunny" Rieser of Woodland shores, Richard J. Shenkus of Balfour road and Donald E. Yerkes of Oxford road to the board of directors.

John C. Frakes was returned to the board in the same election. Mr. Shenkus had been holding an interim post on the board.

In other action, the members heard a report from Edwin V. Larson on the club's "highly successful" membership drive which took the membership enrollment to just short of our maximum capacity."

Other reports on club activities were delivered by Mr. Huster, Mr. Nicholson, Mr. Frakes and Mr. Williams. The membership saluted two retiring directors, Robert L. Muir, of Wedgewood road, and Dr. Norman K. Carstens, of Chalfonte avenue.

Continuing on the board of directors for another year will be J. D. Owens of Devonshire road, Andrew W. Dahl of Elm court, William E. Kohr of Bishop road and Edwin V. Larson of Shoreham road, along with Mr.

Huster, Mr. Nicholson, Mr. Frakes and Mr. Williams.

Organized in 1911, the Hunt Club mounts a number of inter-club sports and entertainment programs for its membership, including indoor and outdoor riding, indoor and outdoor tennis, paddle tennis and swimming, at its 13-acre facility on Cook road.

It is the host club for the Michigan Mixed Indoor State Tennis Tournament, and will host the 1979 Hertz-Detroit Invitational Ladies Tennis Tournament. A ladies tournament will be held in conjunction with this in February.

Road Salt Hurts Trees in Winter

While some people are worrying about electrical brownouts, roadside evergreen trees are suffering chemical brownouts of their needles caused by salts used to melt snow and ice, said Dr. Harold Davidson, professor of horticulture at Michigan State University, in a news release.

Scientists have known for some time that road salts dissolved in melting snow can enter the soil and stunt or kill plants, said Dr. Davidson and his colleagues have shown that airborne salt aerosols can damage evergreen needles and kill overwintering buds on deciduous trees.

"The salty aerosols are produced by high speed car and truck tires pounding over wet, salted roads," Dr. Davidson explained, "and are moved by natural winds to the leaves and buds of roadside plants."

Salt aerosols rarely kill entire trees, though it can happen in extreme cases, Dr. Davidson said, but they do turn evergreen needles unsightly brown and cause a strange "tufted" growth pattern in deciduous trees.

"White pine, Norway spruce, crabapple, pin oak, apple and peach trees are particularly sensitive to salt aerosols," Dr. Davidson noted, "while Austrian pine, blue spruce and honey locust tend to resist salt damage."

You can't work and worry at the same time so just leave the worrying until tomorrow.

GPW As Managing Municipality

As part of minor home repairs, SOCC is viewing under the program such wide-ranging areas as leaky faucets, stopped-up drains, caulking, repair or replacement of screens, the repair of holes in floors, painting, light bulb replacement, minor roof repairs, the removal and replacement of furnace filters and the thawing of frozen pipes and gutters and leaders.

Lack of Communication
The solons, on a motion from Councilman George Cueter, approved the managing municipality concept and the contract by a 6-1 vote, with Councilman John Sabol voting "no."

During the discussion of the planned program, an apparent communication problem arose when Irene Sutton, chairman of The Woods Senior Citizens Commission, indicated she was unaware of such developments in relation to special needs monies. Inasmuch as the commission is an arm of city government and has explored such areas as home repair services in the past, Mrs. Sutton felt the group itself was slighted, while lending her support for the city-SOCC effort.

Officials admitted there was a lack of communication with Mrs. Sutton, while saying this would be rectified in the future.

While citing previous grant applications the commission has explored, Mrs. Sutton termed the special needs monies a "wonderful grant," while adding she regretted the way the situation was handled.

Happy to Assist
"While we, (the commission), aren't equipped to handle it per se we still could have backed this program," said Mrs. Sutton.

She added the group would be happy to assist Nutrition Site personnel upon contact.

In a final note, Mr. Petersen told the council that SOCC qualified as a sub-contractor because of its current efforts to become a non-profit corporation to perform such a contractual service, while noting its effort toward developing a far-reaching program, including home repairs, to serve seniors in the Pointes and Harper Woods.

MAITLAND HONORED

Dr. Gordon R. Maitland of Stephens road was honored by the Chalmers J. Lyons Academy of Oral Surgery in October at the University of Michigan Dental School and at a dinner at the Burton Hills Country Club. Dr. Maitland is a charter member and past-president of the Academy. He was on the staff of Bon Secours, Cottage and Harper Hospitals. He is now retired after practicing oral surgery for 52 years.

SOCC 'Regroups Forces' in Program

(Continued from Page 1) "We want to move within the limits of the contract signed with Grosse Pointe Woods," along with the program the Wayne County Office of Program Development and Coordination wants done.

Saying he felt the program, which is scheduled to become a reality next January 2, has a very good chance of being successful, he appreciatively cited the good will of the Woods Council, Administrative Aide Gerard E. McNamara and James Curran, director of the Office of Program Development and Coordination.

With the focus on the special needs program funds, Mr. Jamiesen indicated the committees are currently meeting to make certain everything is "go" at the first of the year.

One committee, he stated, is gathering to prepare a budget based on the smaller amount of money, which will be spent in the communities which have received special needs funds. These include The City, Farms, Woods and Shores.

A second committee, meanwhile, is working with the budget group toward developing the program to have it get underway on January 2. Yet another committee is focusing upon by-laws as part of SOCC's effort to become incorporated. Such papers have already been filed in Lansing and the group is expecting final word on this soon.

In relation to this, another committee is in the process of viewing tax-exempt status papers so SOCC will be able to pursue foundation monies.

An insurance committee also is at work, exploring the area of liability insurance toward getting the program moving.

While the focus has become narrower at this time, Mr. Jamiesen made it clear that SOCC members have their sights set on developing and expanding its overall plan until larger amounts of money is secured.

For instance, SOCC also was viewing an ombudsman program along with home repairs and this has temporarily been postponed but not forgotten. This plan would link needy seniors with agencies which can assist them, with an effort to follow up each contact until each problem is solved.

"In back of all our thinking is a larger program. There's a whole wall of indifference to senior citizens in the six communities, (the five Pointes and Harper Woods), to knock down," stressed Mr. Jamiesen, who added he would like to send out speakers and even make a film to further view this subject in the future.

He then reiterated many areas of need revolving around seniors while citing two key areas cited in SOCC's report entitled, "Toward A New Day for Seniors: Strategies for Dealing with The Depth Needs of The Elderly," which climaxes their exploration so far while providing the foundation for future directions.

These areas include the essential need of seniors to understand and accept life as it is, seeking to make that life meaningful and purposeful within its limits, and for the community to recognize the problems and needs of seniors and to join with seniors in dealing with them.

In eyeing the special needs program monies and the absence at this time of both Harper Woods and The Park, Mr. Jamiesen noted Harper Woods' special needs objective of obtaining monies for an ambulance was turned down.

He said an effort would be made to contact officials in that community toward participating in the seniors' program, while viewing an amount of around $8,000.

As for The Park, he stated the city was absent from the special needs allocation because it still has to be approached.

SOCC includes a group of citizens, participants in Nutrition Site activities, who began to meet on a regular basis since last fall to define problems affecting seniors and to seek solutions. The involved residents live in the Pointes and Harper Woods.

KNOCKS AND PINGS.

Two horribly annoying reasons to introduce Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline.

A car should be seen and not heard. That's why we're introducing new Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline with a higher octane level. Not only does it help knock the knocks and pings out of your engine, it could also give your car more power than most other gasolines. (In fact, millions of cars on the road today are being cheated of peak engine performance.)

And what's more, if your car is properly tuned, and still shakes, sputters and backfires after you turn the key off, using Mobil Super Unleaded may help eliminate all that. And that's whether your car is new or old.

And even if you've been using leaded premium gasoline you'll be glad to know that Mobil Super Unleaded's high octane level is high enough to meet anti-knock requirements of most cars today.

Mobil Super Unleaded. Because when you're driving, one of the nicest sounds in the world is the sound of absolutely nothing.

Not available yet at every Mobil Station.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

The following letter was sent to me. I thought it was worth using in our column this week:
Mr. Brink;

The grass in Grosse Pointe is green once again but thanks only to the weather in this grass-growing season of late September and October. Your point, made in one of your Grosse Pointe News ads a little while ago, that property owners were neglecting their lawns during the dry spell, was well taken. Many properties at that time were a browned-off disgrace.

Another subject you might want to assay in a similar Grosse Pointe News message:

Look down almost any Grosse Pointe street and what do you see? Well cared-for homes with neat lawns and landscaping arranged along tidy, tree-lined streets? Well, yes but to see these pleasant vistas, you'd have to ignore the automobiles stored in the streets and even worse, in the driveways between the sidewalk and the building line.

I daresay most of us are so used to looking at these eyesore parked cars that we don't even notice them. But with a little imagination, we could appreciate how much nicer our streets and our cities would look without them.

True, we are a suburb of the Motor City, where the car is king. But I submit that an automobile is a thing of beauty only on the dealer's show-room floor. After that, it is a cumbersome monstrosity, actually of no practical value, except when it is in motion, in use. When not in use, like any tool or piece of equipment, it should be stored out of sight.

Our occupancy codes, I believe, require garages. Perhaps the code should be revised to require that those garages be used for their intended purpose, to store automobiles.

Let's get cars off Grosse Pointe streets and especially out of Grosse Pointe driveways. I say that automobile clutter is one of the first signs of a deteriorating neighborhood.

Good luck in your cul-de-sac campaign (I live on one and love it) and a pox on those who see "racism" in your idea.

A Grosse Pointe resident.

Touch Football Proves Exciting

The Neighborhood Club 1978 touch football tournament was exciting and full of surprises, officials say. The league consisted of nine teams with each team playing in seven regular season games.

At the end of the season the Vikings were in first place with a perfect 7-0 record, followed closely by the Stooges and Bestsellers, both at 6-1. Eastside, (the 1977 champions), were 5-2, while the Wild and Crazy Guys finished 3-4. Martin and Bommarito Towing was 2-5, while both Ruble and Miller and Brand X were 1-6 and Wellington was 0-7.

The final league standings were no indication of the outcome of this year's tournament. Each team was invited to the post season single elimination tournament. The first round had Eastside losing to Wild and Crazy Guys and Bestsellers losing to Martin and Bommarito Towing.

In the second round of play the Wild and Crazy Guys lost to Martin and Bommarito Towing, 8-7, in a well played defensive game. In the second round, the Vikings lost to the Stooges, 7-6, in a tight defensive struggle.

The game had the Vikings scoring first with only 45 seconds left in the final half. Their extra point try failed with 45 seconds left in the game. Then the Stooges drove down to the Vikings two-yard-line with one second to go in the game.

On the next play the Stooges scored with no time left on the clock and made their extra point to win the game.

In the championship game between Martin and Bommarito Towing and the Stooges, the Stooges won 42-8. Each team was presented with trophies.

Group Eyes Celebration

Woods Councilman Thomas J. Fahrner invites his friends and past and present members to join him in this event.

The council was formed by Catholic men, to perform work of charity in the area. The Boysville of Michigan, the Mentally Retarded of Michigan and the Little League Baseball of the City of Harper Woods, are some of the programs that the Knights engage themselves in.

Tickets may be purchased at the door at $15 per person.

Today Marks '78 'Smokeout'

U.S. Surgeon General Julius B. Richmond and actor Ed Asner have joined the American Cancer Society, (ACS), in urging the nation's 50 million smokers to "get off their butts" today, November 16.

Young and old smokers alike will pledge to give up cigarettes for a day in celebration of the society's second annual Great American Smokeout, an event which has blossomed into a nationwide anti-smoking effort.

The day was established to help smokers gain the confidence to quit by starting one day at a time.

Mr. Asner, star of the "Lou Grant" television show, and a long-time smoker, has been named chairperson of this year's Smokeout.

"If we can get our friends and neighbors to stop and think about their smoking for just one day we can get them to think about stopping for good," Mr. Asner said in a news release. "It won't be easy, but we can make it fun. Fun and challenging and lighthearted and successful... a real gas!"

Smokers who want to join the 1978 Smokeout will have lots of company since 83 percent of the nation's smokers reported they had heard of last year's event, and 30 percent said they either quit smoking or at least cut cigaret consumption for the day.

Studies show the majority of smokers start establishing their smoking habit between the ages of 12 and 20. This is a primary reason for important anti-smoking programs being introduced in schools by the ACS as early as kindergarten.

Smoking has been cited as the largest single environmental cause of cancer with 92,000 lung cancer deaths annually. Nearly 80 percent of all lung cancer could be avoided if smoking were eliminated.

This year's Great American Smokeout activities in the Detroit area are aimed at youth with Students Against Smoking volunteers in nearly 20 schools distributing and collecting pledges from youthful smokers.

Members of the Respiratory Therapists Association at Detroit's Mercy College, wearing "Kiss Me, I Don't Smoke" t-shirts, will be collecting pledges at the college's student union the week of the Smokeout.

Smokers, non-smokers and ex-smokers are all invited to celebrate the Smokeout in grand style at the Kern Block, adjacent to downtown J. L. Hudson's, today from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Smokers will be pledging and putting their foot down right on their cigarettes while live entertainment highlights the rally.

JV's at North Roll to Victory

North High School's junior varsity football team recently defeated South, 19-13, to finish the season with a perfect 9-0 record. The young Norsemen, coached by Frank Sumner and Larry Aceto, extended their winning streak to 17 games.

The win was North's seventh against one loss and a tie in the series between the two schools.

In the first quarter Mike Fry recovered a South fumble and co-captain Mike Eugenio scored from eight yards to give North an early 6-0 lead.

Scott Turnbull then intercepted a Blue Devil pass and returned it 15 yards to the South 26-yard line. Quarterback John Clem passed 22 yards to Eugenio for the touchdown.

With seven seconds left in the first half, South scored on a 13-yard pass from Dean Graham to Rex Ciavola.

Early in the fourth quarter North put the game away with a 20-yard pass from Clem to tightend Jeff Roberts. Bruce Stewart kicked the conversion and the Norsemen led 19-6.

Graham and Ciavola teamed up again for the Blue Devils with less than a minute remaining in the game to make the final outcome, 19-13.

Clem rushed for 80 yards and passed for 66 and two touchdowns, leading the offense for North. Eugenio carried 25 times for 133 yards, giving him 203 carries and 1,560 yards for the season, while scoring 16 touchdowns. All of these are new JV records.

Coach Sumner stated, "We haven't had a young man carry the ball so many times and do so much with it since Duane Johnson back in 1969 and early '70's. With God's will, Mike sure will be one excellent varsity football player. I prayed every week that coach Jim Krucki would leave him with us on the JV's."

Final Approval Seen for Pact

The Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, November 6, met in executive session to review a proposed two-year labor contract with the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Officers Ass'n., (GPWPOA).

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said the council acted favorably on the proposal, which had been already ratified by GPWPOA members late last month.

While the solons gave the pact a plus reception, Mr.

Petersen stated that a written confirmation of ratification was requested from the association and this has already been delivered.

At the same time, the attorneys for both parties still have to work on the final wording on a maintenance of conditions.

Mr. Petersen added the proposal, retroactive to July 1, 1978, is now scheduled to be signed by both parties at the Monday, November 20, meeting.

All Municipalities Move to Okay $4.5 Million Incinerator Bond Issue

Other alternatives, such as direct landfill were explored, but were determined to be too costly, for the near future, as pollution control standards for landfills get tighter and as disposal sites get further away from the cities.

Could Be Higher
"The attitude in Macomb County is 'we don't want Grosse Pointe trash,'" the authority's chairman, Ledyard Mitchell, told the Farms Council before they approved the bond issue on Monday, November 6. "No longer can you find a farmer with a handy back 40."

Authority Manager Edwin Hoover said the bonds will cost an estimated $3 per person per year but adds it may be "a little higher in the more affluent areas" because of a tendency for them to generate a little more refuse. The Farms Council narrowly passed the issue by a 4-3 vote. Councilmen Jack Cudlip, Councilwoman Nancy Waugaman and Mayor James Dingeman voted against the motion of approval.

Mrs. Waugaman felt it was unnecessary for the council to approve a large bond issue the evening before an election in which several tax proposals were being voted upon, including Proposal E, (Headlee), which ultimately passed, requiring a vote of the electorate for such issues. Mr. Dingeman agreed it should be delayed until after the citizen vote.

Costs Discussed
Mr. Mitchell, however, told the council any such delay would jeopardize the schedule the authority set up in order to be in compliance with the state order. He added, however, that the earliest the precipitators could be installed would be in 1981.

City Attorney George McKean told the council the bonds would have to be issued before the December 22 effective date for the Headlee amendment or else each city would have to hold a special election to vote on the issue.

City Manager Andrew Bremer said he wasn't convinced that incineration was the best method of waste disposal. He also felt it might be wiser to wait and see if federal or state aid might be available in the future for such a project.

Mr. Hoover and Mr. Mitchell explained, using tables showing cost figures, that while the installation of the precipitators will initially cost more than one alternative, landfill via a transfer station, the fact that available landfill is getting further away will drive up trucking costs, within a short while making the incineration technique more economical.

In addition, the authority, in a report to council members, pointed out that the future of landfilling operations is uncertain due to environmental problems.

Woods Approves
In The Woods, the council at its regular meeting on November 6 approved the $4.5 million bond issue, plus an amendment to the city's contract with the refuse disposal authority. In each instance, the vote was 5-2.

The solons via a resolution gave their blessing to the bond issue with the measure saying that the state Department of Natural Resources has advised the authority that it is necessary that the incinerator meet existing state and local air pollution control requirements on or before next July 1.

It also says the authority's board had determined that to meet such standards it will be necessary to acquire additional pollution control facilities for installation at the plant, with the approximate cost being placed at $4.5 million.

As a result, it became necessary that the constituent municipalities amend their existing contracts with the authority to provide for the issuance of the necessary bonds to finance the acquisition of such pollution control facilities and to provide that the municipalities will annually pay to the authority "the amounts necessary to pay the principal and interest on such bonds and any required reserves."

Issue Needed
The second motion amends the original document which had been previously amended, with additions to existing contractual obligations in relation to the bonds and the payment of principal and interest on them.

In each case, the refuse disposal contract dated June 6, 1967, will remain in full force and effect until May 1, 2003.

Woods Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos, who represents his city on the authority's board, discussed the need for the $4.5 million bond issue with the council.

Saying the issue was needed toward having the authority comply with federal and state emission regulations, Mr. Pinkos stated it was necessary to have quick action on the request prior to the Tuesday, November 7, election because of the Headlee proposal's likely passage.

Indicating that the installation of electrostatic precipitators would ensure emission compliance and that landfills are "problematical" at this time, the mayor felt the city should continue to be a member of the authority and that it was the responsibility of the council to consider the bond issue resolution.

Questions Raised
Mr. Pinkos also said the previous $1.2 million bond issue for a new 200-foot stack and for the acquisition of a landfill site had nothing to do with the emission compliance question, which could only be solved via the use of electrostatic precipitators.

Councilman E. D. Grady, who along with Councilman John Sabol voted against both motions, questioned why the council didn't have more of an idea of the latest request, in viewing the authority-community meeting on Wednesday, October 25, at which time it was explored.

In response, the mayor indicated it was earlier felt by authority officials that it may have been possible to utilize certain types of additional controls toward passing emission control tests—but with the present system, this wasn't possible.

For his part, Councilman George S. Freeman felt the direction the city has to follow was "scary" in relation to the possibility the federal government still may not be satisfied, while Councilman George Cueter wondered if new standards ever became a reality, the effect it might have on the authority.

Mr. Grady, meanwhile, said he felt rushed into making a quick decision on a $4.5 million expense, while Mr. Sabol indicated on a long-range basis, the landfill approach might be more viable.

Special Sessions
The City Council approved the bond issue by a unanimous vote, (with Councilman David Robb absent), at a special meeting on November 6.

The bond issue will cost City residents about $20,000 a year. In addition to approving the issue, the council asked the authority to continue to pursue actions to get some financial relief from state or federal authorities.

In the flurry of considering the bond issue prior to the election, the Shores Council met at a special session the morning of November 6.

Village President Gerald C. Schroeder said the council approved the bond issue bid unanimously after considering the question of need regarding emission compliance. He assessed the council's opinion by saying it was felt it was better to make use of the facility than to disband it in relation to the July 1, 1979, deadline.

Mr. Schroeder also said the council felt, while the Village's costs would increase, it could be cheaper than utilizing a landfill site in considering accessibility, trucking costs, et al., although there was a concern over the speed needed in acting on the request.

Wine Lines

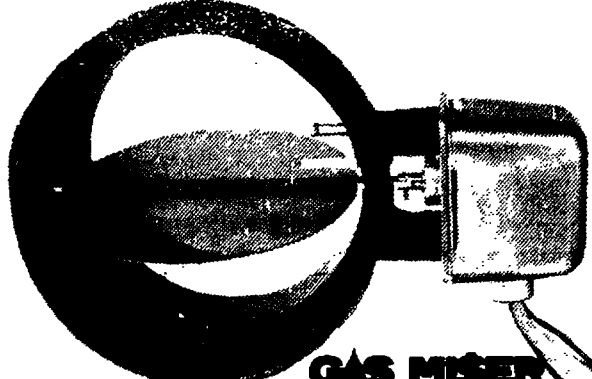

White Wines should be served chilled, but there are different degrees for different whites. Light wines and wines like dry white Portuguese should be refrigerated and served quite cold. Finer whites, like white Burgundies or good German Hocks of Moselles don't need to be served as cold. If stored at the optimum 50-55 degrees, they need to be chilled for only fifteen minutes to reach their peak of taste. Champagne also needs only fifteen minutes in the refrigerator. The bubbles should be cold but not frozen.

Players Doing Prize Winner

The Pointe Players of South High School begin their 51st season this weekend with the Pulitzer Prize winning musical "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

Performances are scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 16, 17 and 18, with curtain time for all shows at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $3 for all performances and are available at the door. The Performing Arts Center is located at 707 Vernier road.

The show follows a cute window washer with a creative mind on his rocketing progress up the corporate ladder of the mythical World Wide Wicket Co. Along the way he encounters a variety of traps and pitfalls which test both his pluck and luck.

The show was the first big hit for Frank Loesser after the immensely successful "Guys and Dolls." It first hit New York in 1961 and has remained popular since that time.

In order to update and personalize the show for Grosse Pointe, the locale has been moved entirely to Detroit. Audience members who might have seen the show previously will delight at the change, the school says.

Some enjoyable performances are to be expected, especially from Terry Gibney in the central role of Finch the climber, and his blustering boss, played by Eric Peabody. In featured roles for the show are Janine Blanchard as Rosemary, Mary Helen Berg as the secretary, and John Wise as the boss's nephew, Frump.

Additional performers include Tom Martinelli, Claire Colby, Sally Russell, Jean-Baudoin, Sally Kushner, Paul Smudski, Donna Dennis, Rick Schmidt, John Marcus and John Jones.

This play also marks the Grosse Pointe debut of transfer student Cheryl Guttridge as the curvaceous Hedy LeRue.

The entire production is directed and staged by Bruce Keegen, with assistance from Russell Reed and Craig Dietrich of South's music department, and Christine Zevan, who's in charge of choreography.

Man Arrested At Party Store

Park police charged a Detroit man with breaking and entering a business Saturday, November 11, after they found him hiding in the bathroom at Art's Party Store, 14945 Kercheval avenue, at 4 a.m.

Officers were called to Art's when the store's burglary alarm sounded. Though there was no sign of forced entry, a search inside the building turned up Edward Lee, 24, of Lennox, Detroit, hiding in the bathroom, police said.

A search of Lee also turned up $342 hidden in his pants and underwear, $19 in one sock and $59 in the other sock, according to police.

Lee was released on bond after being treated at Bon Secours Hospital for a cut apparently suffered while allegedly entering the building.

Take time out for reflection — see if you are as reasonable as you expect others to be.

Film Tours Netherlands

"The Kingdom of the Netherlands" is the title of the colorful, new George Pierron World Adventure Series travel film to be shown at the Detroit Institute of Arts Sunday, November 19, at 2:30 p.m.

The show was photographed by former NBC announcer Russ Potter, who was born in Battle Creek with Dutch ancestry. It will be narrated personally by him as the fourth program of the 1978-79 series season.

Mr. Potter's film shows all of the Netherlands and how the Dutch hold back the North Sea, turning salty marshes into fertile farms noted worldwide for their dairy products, tulips and windmills.

The film tours Rotterdam's prosperous harbor and commercial district, entirely rebuilt since the total devastation of World War II. There is a cruise through the heart of historic Amsterdam aboard a glass-topped canal boat. There are strolling tours to art galleries boasting the finest works of Rembrandt, Frans Hals, Vincent Van Gogh and other masters.

Talk to View Wills, Trusts

Widowed people aren't usually prepared to carry out their financial investments because their spouses haven't sufficiently trained them to deal with wills and trusts, reports Diane Heavner, co-director of The Pointe's Out-Wayne County Nutrition Site, housed in the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack avenue.

Robert Hackathorn, assistant vice-president of the National Bank of Detroit's trust department, will give a talk on financial planning at the Widowed Persons Service meeting on Sunday, November 19.

The group meets on the third Sunday of the month at GPW Presbyterian from 3 to 5 p.m.

No reservations are necessary but those attending are requested to enter the church through the rear door.

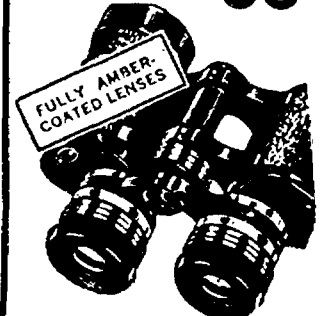

For further information about the Widowed Persons Service, call the Dialogue number at 881-8270.

Know Your Schools
 By Dr. William Coats, Superintendent of Schools

As of July 1 of this year, our central administrative staff was reorganized into two divisions — Instruction and Administrative Services. This new alignment has resulted in a clearer definition of job responsibilities and is a significant step toward achieving the Board goal of "Improving the Services of the Central Office."
 Of major importance in fulfilling this goal is the coordination of business affairs, personnel and support services — the three departments within the Division of Administrative Services.
 Already this coordination is taking place in some joint projects, one of which I will summarize as an example of activities designed to meet this goal.
 At the present time, our school system is tied into the Wayne County Intermediate School District computer. We are investigating the possibility of more fully utilizing that service or developing our own complete "in-house" computer system.
 Regardless of which alternative is chosen, an expanded computer operation will enable us to have more immediate access to important data. Administrators in the personnel department plan to start designing a system to store, maintain and retrieve data from the personnel files, including payroll, training, certification and assignment information.
 Once this information is converted to digital form, a computer terminal located in the personnel office will allow us to improve the efficiency of our personnel function.
 The business affairs and support services departments also can utilize the services of an expanded computer operation which has the potential to provide better financial management information.
 Inventory control, cost analysis, purchasing process, cash-flow analysis and investments management are all operations which can be assisted with computer technology. The timing of accounting and financial reports also can be improved with a more sophisticated operation.
 Another phase of this Board goal is to improve staff in-service training programs. The Division of Instruction has offered teacher in-service programs on a regular basis, and efforts are now underway to expand the list of offerings, providing training in more subject areas and classroom management.
 In-service programs either have already been conducted or are planned for other employee groups of the school system.
 Just before school started, our cafeteria staff participated in an in-service program, the plant personnel will soon be involved in energy conservation training and a session on how to do business with the business

Letters to The Editor

To the Editor:
 I frequently read letters in the "Grosse Pointe News" concerning the students at Grosse Pointe South. Many of these articles reprimand the students for involvement in activities which do not please the community.
 I would like to bring to the community's attention how it is failing to support these students. On Saturday evening, November 11, the Class of 1979 of Grosse Pointe South High School sponsored a "Dance for Parents" featuring disc jockey Joey Ryan and music of the '50s, '60s and '70s along with instruction for many dances.
 This was a fund raising activity in which the Senior Class had hoped not only to raise money but to sponsor something fun for their parents.
 This event was advertised in the "News," on the radio, with posters in the Village and by the students' personal efforts.
 Where were you parents? Were you too busy to devote a few hours to your children's efforts? Are you even interested in what your children are trying to accomplish at school?
 The students worked hard and spent a large amount of money, only to find that they receive only minimal support from parents and that the parents really aren't interested in "bridging the generation gap."
 My hat's off to the Class of 1979 for thinking of the parents. The next time I hope that your parents will think of you!
 Sincerely,
 Susan G. Kvale,

Future Detroit Subject of Talk

"Downtown Detroit—Hope for the Future?" will be architect Gino Rossetti's topic when he speaks at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack avenue, on Sunday, November 19.

 His firm also has been commissioned to renovate Tiger Stadium.
 His talk is sponsored by the church's Metro-Mission Group. The public is invited at 9 a.m. for coffee and for Mr. Rossetti's talk and slide show, which begins at 9:30 a.m.

What Goes On at Your Library
 By Phyllis B. Huxley, Guest Columnist

A puttering, fussy, fastidious, didactic bachelor, who was almost painfully humorous in his relations with the grown-up world around him, wrote the most popular children's story ever written, ALICE'S ADVENTURES IN WONDERLAND.
 The story grew out of a tale invented during a boating picnic on July 4, 1862. It was told by the Reverend Charles Lutwidge Dodgson, lecturer in mathematics, to three of the young daughters of Dean H. G. Liddell of Christ Church College, Oxford. The children were entranced, especially Alice, 10, who begged him to write it down.
 He made some notes that night but it was mid-November before he began actual writing, and February before he finished. He then began to illustrate it, proving that he was a fine writer but a very poor artist. It was November 26, 1864, when the complete manuscript was delivered to Alice. Its title was ALICE'S ADVENTURES UNDERGROUND.
 Dodgson had no intention of publishing the story; however, at the urging of several

 This letter is in appreciation to the Grosse Pointe Farms solons for the sample ballot found in the recent "Newsletter," which the residents received.
 Especially, we wish to thank Mr. Richard Solak, city clerk, whose idea it was to print the ballot in this issue.
 Many voters expressed their appreciation to the election workers, officials and commissioners. They used the sample ballot at home to be prepared to vote efficiently. It was convenient and helped things run more smoothly at the voting precincts.

 In Grosse Pointe Farms in 20 days it will be a misdemeanor to allow a dog to "deposit animal excretion of any type" on public or private property unless it is cleaned up immediately afterward.
 This misdemeanor is punishable by a fine of $500 and/or 90 days in jail.
 Gilbert and Sullivan wrote "Let the Punishment Fit the Crime." The old testament proclaims "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth."

'Desperate' Debut For Fine Arts Year

Three-Act Thriller Is First Offering of 1978-79 Season; Lobby Will Feature Art by Julia (Mrs. Watson) Ford

The Fine Arts Society of Detroit opens its 73rd season tomorrow evening, Friday, November 17, with "The Desperate Hours," a three-act suspense drama produced by Suzanne Adelberg, at the Players Playhouse in East Jefferson avenue.

Director is Roy Adelberg. The play concerns the Hilliard family, (Arthur Gohle, Mildred Avedisian, Mary Jane Jennings and Douglas Avedisian), whose everyday suburban life is turned into a nightmare by three escaped killers, (Tony Mattar, Ed Oldani and Al Bertel).

The trio breaks into the Hilliard home and holds the family hostage, threatening death if the police become involved.

Meanwhile the police, (Aaron Drucker, Hugh Munce, Bill Ludwig and Mike Traicoff), are closing in on the convicts, unaware of the threat to the Hilliards.

Suspense in Joseph Hayes' thriller is heightened by the curiosity of a trash collector, (Ken Kurtz), the intrusion of the Hilliard boy's teacher, (Margaret Hawksley), and the attentions of the daughter's fiance, (Jeffery Montgomery).

Set design is by Stanley Thorwaldsen. Stage manager is Bill Bailey. Chairing costumes and make-up, respectively, are Bette Kinney and Grace Blain. Lights are the responsibility of Terry Davis, and Ben and Susan Gravel are chairing properties.

Holly Mart's Arts Will Be Varied

Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice to Sponsor Annual Christmas Fair Fund Raiser

Thirty distinguished Michigan artists will display and sell their work Saturday, December 2, at a Christmas art fair, the Fourth Annual Holly Mart, to be held in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Ballroom from 10 to 3 o'clock.

Many well-known Pointe artists will be among the exhibitors.

Clare Morrison, (Studio Clare), will show hand-painted, wax Christmas ornaments and accessories cast from reproductions of antique cookie molds. The ornaments reflect the imagination and craftsmanship of a German folk art almost 500 years old.

Cherry Buhl and Phyllis Skau's Cartouche will offer unique, handmade jewelry designs incorporating beads, shells, coins, wire and other interesting materials. Cartouche recently branched out to include original belts. Cherry and Phyllis will feature them, too, at the Holly Mart.

Chloro Boehm, second prize winner in the Grosse Pointe Artists Association's Annual Art Fair, will exhibit oil paintings.

Kathy Golnik, of Balfour road, will present dough art, and Ginger Grow, of Washington road, will show a variety of her work in acrylics.

Weaver Charlene O'Neill, of Kensington road, will display pillows, wall hangings and other hand-loomed work. Bonnie Perkins, of South Deeplands road, will exhibit portraits and photos demonstrating her specialty: environmental photography.

The Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority will sponsor a booth featuring children's items.

Detroit artists represented include William Lawson, with his Earthworks pottery and jewelry, and Hilda Carson whose specialty is handmade dolls and animals. (Hilda's Happy Huggables).

Jessica Keaton will exhibit tile painting and decoupage. Paula Kiefl will display watercolors, some combined with calligraphy.

Charlotte Raymond, of Chaz, will return to the Holly Mart offering batik T-shirts.

Back, too, will be Judy J. Hunter with her popular Snoopy Christmas ornaments. Ron Scarborough is another of the exhibitors, and the holiday greeting cards designed by him for the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice will be on sale during the mart.

Special prizes include Scarborough's original pen-and-ink drawing for the card.

Holly Mart proceeds will be used to further the work of the Inter-Faith Center, a non-profit organization of members-at-large and participating member churches working in the Pointe and surrounding communities to promote racial understanding.

The center seeks to find concrete solutions to urban social problems through active task forces in crime prevention, housing, education and youth.

The Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice is located at 15233 Kercheval avenue, Grosse Pointe Park, where further information on the Holly Mart may be obtained by calling 824-0350.

Beta Sigma Phi Group Enjoys Busy Autumn

Xi Alpha Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi opened its 1978-79 season Wednesday, October 4, with a business meeting and program, "Living with Heritage" presented by Marge (Mrs. Donald) Parsons, at the Nottingham road home of Nancy (Mrs. Joel) Hughes.

The chapter's October 25 meeting, held at Mrs. Parsons' Roslyn road home, was strictly social: an early Halloween celebration in which guests from Alpha Zeta Chapter joined, wearing costumes and playing games. The evening ended at Little Caesar's Pizza Parlor.

This month's activities began Wednesday, November 1, with a business meeting and Tupperware demonstration at Mrs. Hughes' home. "Heritage for the Future," the program for the evening, was presented by Lorraine Korte.

Xi Alpha Omegas Chris Atkinson, Karen Benschback, Mary Mitts, Bonnie Roth, Mary Jo Schmaltz and the Mesdames Hughes, Korte and Parsons joined other South Macomb County Council chapters last Thursday, November 9, at Warren Chateau for the council's annual Exemplar Day Dinner.

Ms. Korte's Lorraine road home was the setting for yesterday evening's meeting. Chris (Mrs. Paul) Atkinson presented a career program.

At home in Roslyn road are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Michael Holme who vacationed in northern Michigan following their wedding Saturday, August 12, in the rose garden of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Holme is the former Renee Elizabeth Bernadette DiLuigi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duilio DiLuigi, of Westchester road. Mr. Holme is the son of the Charles Holmes, of Lochmoor boulevard.

The Reverend Gary Fulton presided at the 4:30 o'clock service during which the bride and bridegroom recited personal poems to each other, along with their rights, and Janice Franco, accompanied by Christopher Page, guitar, and Roger Fillian, flute, sang "The wedding Song" and "Evergreen."

The Christ Church carillon played as the bridal party entered and left the rose garden.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder gown of silk satin, styled with an Empire waist, A-line skirt and chapel train, and a capelet of pearl-encrusted Alencon lace.

Her headpiece was a wreath of stephanotis and baby's-breath. She carried a presentation bouquet of Rubrum lilies.

In Empire-waisted, off-the-shoulder frocks of ivory chiffon were Cherie DiLuigi and Laurice Stevens, honor attendants for their sister, and bridesmaids Kelly and Julie Holme, the bridegroom's sisters, and Ronnanita Lofton-Cassanova.

Ruffles in different colors, peach, pink, blue, mint green and lavender, rimmed their shoulders and hems and cascaded down the bustles of their dresses.

Each carried a single, long-stemmed rose and wore a single gardenia in her hair.

Jeffrey Holme was best man for his brother and gave a reading during the ceremony. Tom DiLuigi, the bride's brother, Derek Johnson, of Traverse City, Tom Cornac, of Grand Blanc, and Peter Cassanova ushered.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception at Hillcrest Country Club, Mrs. DiLuigi selected a long gown of salmon Qiana. The bridegroom's mother's gown, also formal length, was fashioned of dusty rose Qiana.

Both mothers wore cymbidium orchid wrist corsages.

Banas, executive director of the association's Southeastern Michigan branch, at their meeting Monday, November 20, in the Edmonton drive home of Mrs. Alfred Wittwer.

Co-hostesses for the meeting, open to any Alpha Xi, are Mrs. Florence Ericson and Mrs. Wendell J. Birdsall.

Among items to be discussed is the national sorority's first project with the Lung Association, a pamphlet, "Keep Your Child from Choking," dealing with the aspiration of foreign bodies in young children.

The pamphlet, financed with the help of a grant from the Alpha Xi Delta Foundation, describes objects that can be harmful if swallowed and first aid measures to use if a child is choking. It is available through the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, 28 West Adams, Detroit.

"The Lung Association reports that more than 2,000 deaths each year are attributed to aspiration accidents," notes Mrs. Michael Brogan, Grosse Pointe chapter president.

"The pamphlet reminds us to teach children to chew their food properly. It also urges adults to watch out for fragments of broken toys and to keep purse, sewing basket and tool kit away from little fingers."

Pointe Soroptimists Assist Cottage Hospital

Soroptimist International of Grosse Pointe recently presented a check for $2,500, in part proceeds of a benefit art and fashion show held at Walton-Pierce Company in September, to the Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe.

Commissions from nearly $1,000 in sales of paintings, ceramics and weaving by 10 of Grosse Pointe's leading artists helped complete the Soroptimists' $6,000 pledge to Cottage.

Nancy Y. Davidson, Soroptimist art show committee chairman, presented the check to Ralph L. Wilgarde, hospital administrator. The money will be used to purchase a room in the hospital in the club's name.

Mrs. Davidson expressed her thanks to the community, the friends of Cottage Hospital and members of the Grosse Pointe Soroptimists, who voted unanimously at a recent meeting to make a new pledge of $10,000 to the hospital, for their support.

The local Soroptimists are business and philanthropic women whose professional work benefits many Pointe organizations.

John E. Griffith Escorts Sister Down Aisle; Two Young Sisters Serve As Junior Bridesmaid And Flower Girl

A reception in the Undercroft followed the wedding of Jill Ann Zevallos and Gregory Frank Solak Saturday, August 12, in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe. Father Gary Fulton officiated at the evening rites.

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her brother, John E. Griffith, who also served as an usher, was given in marriage by her mother, Patricia Ann Zevallos, of Lakepointe avenue.

The former Miss Zevallos wore a traditional gown of peau de soie, with lace embroidery, and a matching veil. White roses, a white orchid and ivy formed her bouquet.

She was attended at the 7 o'clock ceremony by honor maid Evelyn Dichter and bridesmaids Lori Kaechele, a sister, of Ann Arbor, and Cynthia Eyres, in street length dresses of lavender flower print, and by two younger sisters, 10-year-old Lynn Zevallos, who served as junior bridesmaid, and nine-year-old Jodi Zevallos, flower girl.

Pink satin sashed and trimmed Lynn's floor length, white eyelet frock. Jodi also wore white eyelet, sashed and trimmed in pink. They carried white baskets filled with pink miniature roses.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Solak, of Detroit, asked Jon Hoaglund, of Boyne City, to serve as best man. Joining John Griffith in the usher corps was Jeffrey A. Griffith, another brother.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom both wore floor length gowns, the former's pink, the latter's yellow taffeta. Each selected a white orchid corsage.

The newlyweds, who vacationed at Virginia Beach, are at home in Roslyn road.

OPEN HOUSE SUN., NOV. 19

Rarely is one invited into a shop as unique as the Salon d'Elegance located at 20902 Mack in Grosse Pointe Woods. Mr. Vern, new owner of the former David F. David salon, and his staff is welcoming the general public, former clients of David F. David and Morris plus professional stylists in the area to view the interior of this fine establishment Sunday, November 19 from 1 to 6 p.m.

Investment in the Future
The generosity of Elizabeth Warren Sheldon has substantially increased the educational scholarship program of the Boys' Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit.

Mrs. Sheldon, widow of the late Allan Sheldon, has pledged $100,000 to the BCMD's Joseph Freedman Financial Aid Foundation, making the contribution in the name of Joseph Freedman, a close friend and financial consultant.

It's a pledge that reinforces her commitment to the young people of metropolitan Detroit: an investment in the future. Like Mr. Freedman, Mrs. Sheldon has been a consistent supporter of educational and cultural opportunities for all.

An Oriental Odyssey
Ginny Hymon, owner of the famous Dunlany's of Birmingham, Mich., and Dallas, Tex., has made six trips to Mainland China and other exotic places—Nepal, Borneo, Afghanistan, Turkey—to buy Near and Far Eastern Art.

Woodcarvings. Bronzes. Magnificent furniture. Ivorys, silks and jades. Exquisite antique jewelry and Oriental rugs, icons and Russian enamels and, of course, 19th century porcelain.

She shared her travels and insights into Oriental history and culture with IbeX members yesterday, at Noel Benjamin's Ridge road home, bringing part of her collection along. To hear her, and see her treasures, was to take an Oriental Odyssey. Lucky IbeXers!

Meet, Eat—and ENJOY!
Mary Conway and Harry Satchwell's 1979 edition of "Meet, Eat and Enjoy Greater Detroit" is hot off the presses and as much fun as their previous three editions—and that's saying something.

The first edition presented menus from 125 restaurants. Last year's featured 145. This year, there are 160... and how I'd love to eat my way through every one of them!

A New Beginning
Sister Ernestine Smith, RSCJ, admits she "used to want to draw a lot," but felt it was wishful thinking. Now the 65-year-old Religious of the Sacred Heart nun, who has spent 48 years in the order as a teacher and librarian, jokes that she is a Delayed Grandma Moses.

Sister Smith has adopted the rising sun as her artistic logo and invited all her friends to "celebrate" (Continued on Page 32)

Miss Fitch Bride of Mr. Markwick

Newlyweds Vacation in Maine, Following Early Autumn Wedding; Are at Home in Grosse Pointe Park

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Humphrey Fitch entertained at a reception in their Washington road home following the Saturday, September 2, wedding of their daughter, Constance Elizabeth Fitch, and Jeffrey Lewis Markwick.

The Reverend Gary Fulton and Dr. Donald C. Wilson, of Lancaster, Pa., presided at the 1:30 o'clock rites in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe.

The newlyweds vacationed in Maine. They are at home in Grosse Pointe Park.

Alencon lace accented the Empire bodice of the bride's ivory organza gown, styled with a skirt extending into a cathedral train bordered with ivory satin and matching lace, and an illusion yoke featuring seed pearl sprays radiating from a lace neckband.

Seed pearl embroidery studded the Juliet cap of Alencon lace that caught her lace-bordered, two-tiered, finger tip length, illusion veil. Ivory roses and baby's-breath formed her bouquet.

In floor length frocks of rosewood Qiana featuring scoop necklines and long sleeves were Mrs. William Duncan, honor matron for her cousin, and bridesmaids Shannon Fitch, another cousin, Ann Brennan, Gail Hammond, Martha Gregory and Jean Markwick, the bridegroom's sister.

They carried bouquets of dusty pink carnations and baby's-breath and wore sprays of baby's-breath in their hair.

Mr. Markwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Markwick, of Clawson, asked Alan Cantrell, also of Clawson, to act as best man.

Ushering were Patrick

Conaton, James Conaton, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, John Markwick, the bridegroom's brother, and the bride's brothers, Douglas Fitch and Roger Fitch, Jr., of Tempe, Ariz.

The mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of antique white crepe. She placed white roses in her hair. The bridegroom's mother selected a long gown of silver grey Qiana and a pink cymbidium orchid corsage.

The bride, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferris H.

Fitch, of Grosse Pointe Farms, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kines, who reside in northern Virginia, is a Music Performance major at Wayne State University.

The bridegroom, grandson of Mrs. Norman Bowen, of Clawson, attended Wayne State University and is now associated with the H.R. Black Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Kines traveled to The Pointe for the wedding. Other out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Wilson, the bride's uncle and aunt.

Set Christmas Pewabic Show

This year's Pewabic Pottery Christmas Show will be larger in exhibitors and displays, thanks to remodeled space in the Michigan State University facility in East Jefferson avenue.

Thirty invited professional potters and 20 advanced students will show their works in three newly-remodeled second floor rooms in addition to the lower gallery.

The exhibit will be open from noon to 5 o'clock Sunday, November 19, and run from noon to 4:30 o'clock Mondays, starting November 20, through Saturdays through January 6. Admission and parking are free.

Remodeling of the historic pottery, begun in 1966 when Henry Caulkins gave it to MSU, continues to develop more space for classes, exhibits and the Pewabic Museum.

The museum features Pewabic pottery and tile, some of which has the beautiful iridescent glazes developed by Mary Chase Stratton, the pottery's artistic founder.

She and Horace J. Caulkins, Henry's father and a founder of the Detroit Institute of Arts, erected Pewabic Pottery in 1907.

MSU has preserved the pottery — now one of only two arts potteries in the nation — and developed it as a Lifelong Education Program center in urban Detroit. Both afternoon and evening classes in ceramic arts are offered on college credit or avocational bases.

Since 1972, the pottery has had federal and state protection as an historic site.

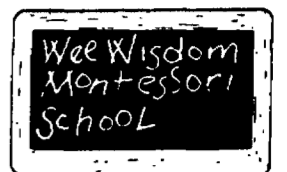

Individuals and families may tour the pottery during the public hours. Organized adult group tours may be arranged by calling 822-0954.

Vacating in Florida after their wedding Friday evening, September 1, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thomas Moran who are now at home in Warren.

The 5:30 o'clock ceremony at which Father James Cronk and Father Jerome Lemmer, S.J., uncle of the bride, officiated was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The bride, the former Mary Jo Heidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Heidt, Jr., of McKinley avenue, chose a gown of sheer white organza and lace styled with a fitted, cap-sleeved, Empire bodice, an A-line skirt and high, banded neckline.

Lace edged her chapel train and a lace cap caught her chapel length veil, scattered with lace appliques. She carried a cascade of ivy and Stephanotis.

Patricia Heidt, honor maid for her sister, bridesmaids

Kathleen Gnu, Teresa Seghi, Lindell Stover, Deborah Dowdall Deacon, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Donna Dykstra Heidt, a sister-in-law, and junior bridesmaid Mary Beth Cloutier, cousin of the bride, were in sleeveless, Empire-waisted dresses of yellow Qiana, with matching capes.

They carried bouquets of white daisies, yellow carnations and baby's-breath, with yellow and white streamers.

John Moran came from Gibsonburg, O., to serve as his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Moran, of Merriweather road.

Ushering were Alan

Chandler, George Heidt, brother of the bride, Chris Pandy, Mark Ferry, who came with his wife from Lakewood, O., for the ceremony, and James McSherry, who came with Mrs. McSherry from Peoria, Ill.

The mother of the bride wore pale blue Qiana, with a chiffon cape. The bridegroom's mother's dress of pale green Qiana featured a beaded bodice. Each had a single gardenia.

Special guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Katherine Griffin, of Pompano Beach, Fla., and the bridegroom's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Thompson, of London, Ont.

Golden Night of Music Hall

Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts celebrated its 50th anniversary Tuesday evening, November 14, with the opening of the show "4 Girls 4" and the unveiling of an historic marker on the front of the building.

Master of ceremonies was The Honorable Peter B. Spivak, first chairman of Music Hall's board following its establishment in 1973.

Among participants in the dedication ceremonies were Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin, Detroit industrialist and philanthropist Max M. Fisher and Michigan Historical Commission member Charles V. Hagler.

The unveiling and dedication took place at the building entrance during the show's intermission. The historic marker designates Music Hall's listing in the National Register of Historic Places and was authorized through the History Division of the Michigan Department of State.

The show, "4 Girls 4," stars Rosemary Clooney, Rose Marie, Helen O'Connell and former Detroiters Margaret Whiting. It will run at the Music Hall through this Sunday, November 19, with an early and late show tomorrow night, Friday, November 17.

Following the opening night performance, an invitational afterglow on-stage recognized the theater's Golden Anniversary and acknowledged financial support of contributors to the nonprofit, performing arts center.

A tribute was paid to outgoing board chairman Mrs. Alfred R. Glancy, III, and new board chairman E. Harold Rydholm was introduced. Afterglow chairman was Mrs. Jay M. Kogan.

Music Hall was built by Mrs. Alfred G. (Matilda) Wilson in 1928. It opened in December of that year with Florenz Ziegfeld's production of "Rosalia," starring Marilyn Miller, Jack Donaghy and Frank Morgan.

The Art Deco style theater was designed by architect William Kapp, of Smith, Hinchman and Grylls, and many of the same artisans and craftsmen who contributed to the beauty of Mrs. Wilson's home, Meadow Brook Hall, also executed interior embellishments of Music Hall, originally named the Wilson Theatre.

As Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts the theater is presenting its sixth season of shows, offering 142 performances of jazz, dance, pop music, mime and glee in 1978-79.

Tri-Deltas Open Year with October Meeting

Members of the Detroit-Grosse Pointe Alumnae Chapter of Delta Delta Delta gathered Tuesday, October 24, in the North Oxford road home of Mrs. Robert Schueler for their first fall meeting.

Mrs. Louis Bridenstine, Jr., of Washington road, president, welcomed new members, held a short business session and reported on highlights of the national Tri-Delta convention she attended in New Orleans this summer.

Mrs. Patrick Clark, of Raymond road, vice-president, outlined the year's program and activities. Prominent among them is support of the fraternity's national philanthropy: children's cancer research.

The evening also marked the beginning of the chapter's eighth annual Christmas card fund-raiser. Members made dates, with Mrs. A. Jack Galsterer, of Rosedale court, project chairman, to purchase cards. Sales closed November 15.

Other officers serving the chapter this year are Dorothy Dratchmidt and Linda Korver, both of Lakepointe avenue, secretary and treasurer, respectively; Mrs. Sam Minnella, of Bournemouth circle, newsletter editor; Mrs. Thomas Schulte, of Washington road, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Donald Venderbush, of Three Mile drive, in charge of fraternity education.

President Bridenstine and Mrs. Neil Georgi, of Woodland Shores drive, serve on the House Corporation board of the University of Michigan's Iota Collegiate Chapter.

Any Tri-Delta new to the area or planning an address change is asked to notify membership chairman Gail Mixa, 751-1216.

NOTICE OF HEARING ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

Notice is hereby given that the Zoning Board of Appeals will meet in the City Hall at 90 Kerby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, on MONDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1978 at 8:00 p.m. to hear the appeal of Mr. George J. Baer, II, owner of the premises located at 333 Moran Road, from the denial of the Building Department to issue a Permit for the construction of an addition to the rear of his home at the foregoing address. Such Permit issuance was denied for reason that:

1. The residence located on the foregoing premises is non-conforming for reason that it projects into the required open rear yard space in violation of the provisions of Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance, and in accordance with the provisions of Article XV, Section 1502, Item 4-A of the City's Zoning Ordinance, no such structure may be enlarged or structurally altered unless a variance is granted.
2. The proposed addition to the rear of the home located at the foregoing address further infringes upon minimum required open rear yard space of 30 feet, leaving a rear yard of 16 feet, and thereby requiring a variance from the provisions of Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance.

The Hearing will be public. Interested property owners or residents of the City are invited to attend.

RICHARD G. SOLAK,
Secretary
Zoning Board of Appeals

Thanksgiving Service Set

Members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, 282 Chalfonte avenue, have scheduled their annual Thanksgiving service for Thursday, November 23 at 10:30 a.m. The service is open to the public.

The hour-long meeting includes Scriptural readings and hymns of thanksgiving, as well as excerpts from the topic of gratitude from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

The readings this year include passages from the Psalms: "I will praise the name of God with thanksgiving . . . He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds."

And from "Science and Health": "Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech."

Following the readings, time has been set aside for Christian Scientists to share their gratitude for God's goodness and love.

Rose Lu DeWindt and Francis G. Smith, who are serving a term as the congregation's Readers, will conduct the service which also includes the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Care will be provided for young children.

MRS. THOMAS W. BAUMGARTEN, OF NORTH DEEPLANDS ROAD

By Ann Wallace

Fontbonne—a French word meaning "Doing Good"—was the name chosen by the Sisters of Saint Joseph for their Saint John Hospital auxiliary, founded in 1948, even before the hospital buildings were in existence. The Sisters, who own and operate the hospital, were founded by Mother Saint John Fontbonne following the French Revolution in the late 18th century.

"Doing Good" continues to be the purpose of Saint John Hospital Fontbonne Auxiliary as it prepares for its benefit fund raiser, the 1978 White Christmas Ball, scheduled for Saturday evening, December 9, in the Detroit Plaza Hotel in Renaissance Center.

Cathy Baumgarten, chairman of the advisory board for this year's ball, says, "It should be a beautiful evening and we expect about 500 people to attend."

"It will be a formal party, black tie requested, with decorations in Christmas decor."

Cocktails at 7

Strolling musicians will entertain guests at a cocktail hour beginning at 7 o'clock. Dinner will be served at 8:30, followed by dancing to the music of Chuck Robinette and his orchestra.

"This spring," continues Cathy, "we had a general meeting of all the committees to solidify our plans. Now we have just one more meeting—and that will be it. The committees have been meeting individually since last December following last year's party were formulated."

The proceeds from the benefit this year are designated for the implementation of a home care program, designed to provide the post-hospitalized patient with special services at home, such as nursing, medical social services, physical therapy, physicians and nutrition services so that the patient may leave the hospital sooner, thereby decreasing medical costs.

Other services would be providing medical supplies, equipment and appliances, and homemaker and home health aid.

Advisory Committee

The home care advisory committee at Saint John Hospital, a 550-bed community health care center, includes John P. Staub, director for development of non-hospital based programs, Arleen M. Roman, R.N., director of home health care nursing and Darlene Ziolkowski, R.N., staff nurse.

Input has been received from representatives of the community and the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council, Health Care Institute and United Community Services. Various departments at Saint John Hospital also have been consulted, such as Pastoral Care Social Services, volunteer services and nursing staff.

Implementation of the program is expected by the first of the year.

"Other plans for the fund realized from the ball," explains Mrs. Baumgarten, "include research and planning for a Life Care Community

Complex designed for aging couples and individuals who require nursing care but who maintain an active lifestyle. "It will be a residential community located elsewhere in the area, not in the Saint John Hospital complex in Morross road."

Reservations Needed

Advance reservations for the ball, at $150 per couple, are necessary and may be made by calling the Fontbonne Auxiliary Office at 881-8200, Extension 545.

Cathy Baumgarten, chairman of the 1984 White Christmas Ball, has served as president of Fontbonne Auxiliary and on the board of trustees of Saint John Hospital.

"I still am very much involved as a buyer with Fontbonne's gift shop," notes Mrs. Baumgarten, its former chairman for four years.

Cathy earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from the University of Michigan. She met her future husband when he was a resident on the staff of the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, where Cathy worked. They were married 28 years ago and have lived in Grosse Pointe ever since.

Dr. Baumgarten, a surgeon on the staffs of Saint John, Bon Secours, Deaconess and Cottage Hospitals, and Cathy have a son, Tom, a graduate of Alma College with a Bachelor of Science degree, who attended the University of Michigan for two years. He presently is interested in a law career.

Her Duties Are Many

Mrs. Baumgarten's volunteer duties include not only her work with the Saint John Fontbonne Auxiliary, and also in the clinic at the hospital, but also those as a board member of the Southeast District of the Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries.

A member of the Junior League of Detroit with past service on its board of directors, Cathy received the League's 1975 Community Award in recognition of her outstanding service.

Also a former board member of Sigma Gamma, she is a past president of IBEX, involved in sculpturing. "I am not very good at the art," explains Cathy, "but I enjoy it very much and have taken some classes in sculpturing through IBEX."

As an elder of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Mrs. Baumgarten has been involved in setting policies of the church and also serving communion to the congregation.

This very busy lady, who rises at 5:30 each morning, also served on the board of directors of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial for four years. "So that I am able to accomplish all that is necessary in a day," explains Cathy, "I begin my day early. My husband, Tom, also gets up at that time as he also has very busy days."

Outdoor People

"We are both avid outdoors people," notes Mrs. Baumgarten, who was born in Flint and was active as a swimmer and skier, "and we all have developed into game hunters. Now, at this time of year, we go duck hunting up at Harsen's and Walpole Islands."

They are accompanied by their dog, Bevo, an absolutely huge and beautiful Labrador Retriever who, when he returns from a very busy afternoon of retrieving, is still ready to play with his ball or other toy.

The family's hunting expeditions have included not only duck hunting locally, but trips to Wyoming for antelope, to northern Canada for black bear, and further west to British Columbia for moose and mountain goat.

"My husband does not hunt for big game now," continues Mrs. Baumgarten, "but at one time, he did travel to Point Barrow, Alaska, accompanied by an Eskimo guide, where he shot a polar bear."

"That was the week following the great Alaskan earthquake in 1964 that just about destroyed parts of Anchorage. He fortunately did not experience any problems related to the earthquake."

Two Fine Trophies

That huge bear, (its beautiful fur skin and head, that is), lies on the floor of the Baumgarten bedroom, its jaws open wide, ready to greet anyone entering the room—presenting an awesome sight, to say the least! On that same trip, Dr. Baumgarten obtained the walrus head, with white tusks about two feet long, that hangs on the fireplace wall in their family room.

"Now, travelling to Harsen's Island and our cottage on the South Channel drive is our love," continues Cathy, "and it is so close to us: just about 45 minutes away."

"Some day we hope to retire up there and just observe the birds in flight." Recently she and Dr. Baumgarten observed swans overhead that resembled bombers going by.

Another hobby is fishing, particularly at Harsen's Island and in Georgian Bay, where a fresh fish dinner is a very special treat!

The Baumgarten home in North Deeplands road is filled with collections of ship antiques and artifacts, indicating of another of their hobbies—boating.

In the collection are a butter dish, clock and brass bells from the Queen Elizabeth I, a sextant and ship's wheel as well as many paintings of ships.

Great Game Cook

Cathy also has another hobby, and a very tasty one at that. She is an expert wild game cook and won a prize for her talents a few years ago.

Short and to the Pointe

JO ANN SCHWARTZ, of Beaconsfield avenue, enrolled at Earlham College Richmond, Ind., this fall.

Named to the spring semester Dean's List at Adrian College were LISA GRUNEWALD, of Lakeland avenue, a junior, and JEANNE G. LENZ, of Ford court, a sophomore.

University Liggett School senior DAVID URBAN, son of MR. and MRS. HARRY D. URBAN, of Van Antwerp road, spent part of the summer participating in DePauw University's Project Prep, an intensive program of college instruction in the Liberal Arts.

HAROLD M. McCRACKEN, of Stephens road, participated in a meeting of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity International President's Advisory Committee in Indianapolis where the fraternity's programs were reviewed with recommendations made to the international president and board of directors.

MR. and MRS. LYLE COLLINSON, of Grand Marais boulevard, hosted a silver wedding anniversary party at the Detroit Boat Club for their daughter MRS. JAMES NORTH and MR. NORTH. In attendance were the Norths' four children, AMY.

Orchard Lake Parents Plan Christmas Festival

Members of the Moms and Dads Club of the Orchard Lake Schools will stage their annual Christmas Festival this Sunday, November 19, from noon until 9 in the evening in the "old gym" at Saint Mary's Preparatory School, part of the Orchard Lake complex at Commerce and Orchard Lake roads.

Festivities begin with mass at 10:30 o'clock. The festival will feature games, prizes, boutiques, baked goods, handicrafts, music and ethnic food.

"There used to be a program about nature on television," recalls Mrs. Baumgarten, "called Michigan Outdoors, with Mort Neff. He sponsored a contest for wild game recipes. George Pierrot was one of the judges."

"My husband submitted my recipe for charcoal broiling duck breasts and it won the prize! The next year, I was on the panel of judges that decided the next year's winner. It was lots of fun."

Back in the days of the family's big game hunting, if one were invited to the Baumgarten's for dinner one might find "Black Bear Stev" the main course.

"One evening, when that was served, one guest was very reluctant to try it," Cathy explains, "but after a pre-dinner sniff in the kitchen, he decided it was really pretty good."

"Now I prepare much duck after we hunt, or freeze them for future dinners. Believe it or not, we do enjoy beef and chicken, too."

Time Now Limited

"My time now is limited," notes Mrs. Baumgarten, "with the plans for the White Christmas Ball, and I don't get away as much as I did Mrs. James J. Humes, general chairman, Mrs. Leonard

From Another Pointe of View

She will exhibit her collection of pastels at an open house in the gallery of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, Bloomfield Hills, where she served as Elementary School librarian from 1969 until her retirement last June.

Before that, for 21 years, she was at the Academy of the Sacred Heart, Grosse Pointe. She moved to Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills when the Sacred Heart School in Lakeshore road became the Grosse Pointe Academy.

Before Grosse Pointe, her professional career took her to Sacred Heart schools in New York and Boston. She's a native Detroit, a graduate of the Academy of the Sacred Heart before it moved from Lawrence avenue to Bloomfield Hills.

She studied at Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart before receiving her degree in Library Science from Villanova University. She's an author whose "P-ems of God's Child" was published in 1945.

Officially retired, she's still "serving" as a volunteer. Each Monday she visits the elderly in Detroit. Tuesday through Friday mornings she helps out in the Bloomfield Hills Academy's Elementary School library.

And she ignores her arthritis to spend as much time as possible in her second floor studio at the Bloomfield Hills Academy, launching the new career she began preparing for three years ago by taking art courses sponsored by the Bloomfield Hills schools.

Her collection includes still lifes, people, landscapes and animals. She decided to open a studio and have an exhibit when she discovered she had a closet-full of pastels. "I thought maybe I would sell some of them," she explains. "It's silly to have them piled in a closet."

She hopes to spend more time in the future doing pastel portraits of children, and is currently completing a picture of one of the youngsters attending Sacred Heart's Primary School.

DOUG, TOM and JODY, and many friends.

RUSSELL K. DAVIS, III, son of MR. and MRS. RUSSELL K. DAVIS, JR., of Washington road, received a Doctor of Education degree during spring commencement exercises at the University of Akron where he is an assistant professor of Business Management Technology.

Among Class of 1978 University of Detroit School of Dentistry graduates were FARES ELIAS, of Rathbone place, PHILIP HARMESON, of Maryland avenue, ANTHONY MILAS, of Beaconsfield avenue, JOHN RICCI, of Touraine road, and ROBERT ELLIOT, of Rivard boulevard. More were VINCENT JOHNSON, of Lakeshore road, PAUL POKORNY, of Neff road, DENNIS SPINAZZE, of Somerset road, and JOAN LONG, of South Rosedale court, a dental hygienist.

Among those attending the annual law alumni night at Wayne State University Law School was Pointer MICHAEL T. TIMMIS, recipient of a Distinguished Service Award, a former president of the alumni association and former chairman of the Law School Fund.

Schedule Fall Festival at Saint Joseph Mercy

The Auxiliary of Saint Joseph Mercy Hospital will present its annual fall festival, featuring a bake sale, boutique items, Christmas ornaments and plants,

Friday, November 17, from 7:30 in the morning to 6 in the evening in the hospital cafeteria. Proceeds will be used for special hospital projects.

Ciaffone, general co-chairman and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cody, honorary chairman, many other people and myself are very involved in last-minute preparations for the festivities."

Mrs. James N. Mutschall, president of Fontbonne Auxiliary, and Sister Veronice McQuade, S.S.J., associate administrator and director of the auxiliary, have been working with their committee chairman and co-chairmen in preparation for the ball.

They include Mrs. Eugene Freitas, Mrs. Richard G. Rinke, Mrs. Raymond J. Kokowicz, Mrs. A. Joseph Hoski, Mrs. Michael Burke, Mrs. Thomas R. Gebek and Mrs. J. Lee Schoenith.

More are Mrs. E. Norman Giard, Mrs. Robert Jay, Mrs. John B. Renick, Mrs. James Dingeman, Jr., and Mrs. Robert A. Zink, Mrs. James J. Snyder, Jr., Mrs. Andrew Dahl and Mrs. Richard Pryce.

Mrs. Pepper Whitelaw, on staff at Saint John Hospital, is public relations chairman.

"In all," notes Cathy Baumgarten, "there are over 100 ladies on various committees, all working toward a grand evening and successful party. We invite all to come!"

SOMETHING VERY RARE!

Located in the Farms on a cul de sac. Ideal location for raising small children, close to schools and shopping. Living room has fireplace, built-in bookshelves. There is a screened porch off the living room, formal dining room, up-dated kitchen, two car garage. Second floor has four bedrooms and full bath.

THAT LITTLE BIG HOUSE is great looking from the street, but even more attractive once you step inside. What a fooler... with a total of four bedrooms, one on the first floor. So tastefully decorated and in a fine neighborhood just a couple blocks to Kerby and Brownell schools.

RENAUD ROAD IN THE SHORES and only a few doors from the lake. The center entrance plan features a spiral staircase rising out of the marble foyer. To the right off the foyer is a library with fireplace. The dining room is back toward the rear. A living room with fireplace runs the depth of the house. A family room to end all family rooms sprawls across the back of the house. This step-down room boasts a magnificent fireplace wall, an entertainment center with the best in sound equipment and apparatus to project movies and slides. Complementing this family room is a bar room complete with barbeque built-in. A total of six bedrooms and four baths comprise the second floor.

LESS THAN $20,000 and in the Pointe. All white with a picket fence and newly carpeted. Ready for immediate occupancy.

THE CENTER ENTRANCE COLONIAL is even more popular when it is offered on a wide, tree shaded lot in a fine neighborhood one block from the lake. The first floor plan has a den, formal living and dining rooms and a step-down family room with fireplace and cathedral ceiling. The master bedroom has a private bathroom and immense dressing room. A second bath serves the other three bedrooms.

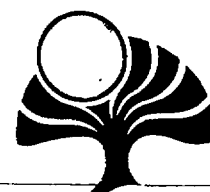

THREE BEDROOM COLONIAL with a first floor lavatory and a large, paneled room makes its brief appearance on the market. We say brief because at the price of $28,500 it won't last long.

COME ON IN, the view is breathtaking. Because almost every room offers a sweeping vista of the lake with its ever changing scene, you may not notice that almost every room has a fireplace, and the crown mouldings, dado, door panels, hardware and floor finishings are perfection in design and maintenance. The kitchen is a masterpiece with all the conveniences, yet fine wood cabinets, some with beveled glass, and a cozy fireplace make this kitchen feel like an informal living room. We could run on about the new bathrooms, the heated swimming pool and the new heating system, the separate carriage house. You may just want to run out and buy it.

COMMERCIAL PROPERTY on Kercheval in the Pointe. One story 30x40 building has plenty of rear parking plus new gas furnace. Call Mr. Krueger 886 6010.

1957 STANHOPE

"House-a-minium." It's a new word, to describe what we feel is the best that a house can offer, combined with many of the fine features you'd expect in a condominium. First, there's the comfort and convenience of a nice residential community, yet without the excess size that so many houses have. The over-all excellence like a "condo model", yet the new low, low price is far less than any comparable condo recently for sale, and a garage and beautiful, yet not too big yard is yours to enjoy... that is, unless someone beats you to it!

1559 SOUTH RENAUD

If you know a custom built home when you see one, better see this one fast as we've just reduced the price $5,000 to make it even more desirable. There's lifetime copper gutters, time saving sprinkler system, new roof, and the newly remodeled kitchen. To add to this list of extras, how about an attached two car garage, and a picturesque wooded lot 90x154? Priced to make you love it!

THANKSGIVING, CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEARS EVE!

Three of the most beautiful and festive holiday season we have will soon be here, and we have the ultimate entertainment home in which to enjoy them. With its panoramic view of Lake St. Clair, this special contemporary is well priced at $295,000, and the owner will consider a land contract. If it's time for you to step into that fine home you've worked so hard for, we suggest you do it now; while this one-of-a-kind home is still available.

HAVE IT YOUR WAY!

A fantastic contemporary home in the mid 170's should reflect your special touches, and it can, if you act now. Such personal items as floors, tile selections, tub in master bath, wall colors, to name a few, still can be yours. If you want the thrill and pride of accomplishment that is rarely available in our town, let's talk!

JUST OFF THE LAKE, IN THE SHORES

Here is a quality, one owner ranch home, with most every convenience you could desire under a roof! There's one attractive room after another... 8 in total, which includes three bedrooms. The 2½ car brick garage is attached, the lot is both spacious and well landscaped, and the lower level games room is certain to "ring your bell!" Decide for yourself—let us arrange your private tour now.

TWO FAMILIES UNDER ONE ROOF?

If you have in-laws living with you, need quarters for live-in help, or wish the guest quarters to be away from the other bedrooms, you couldn't pick a nicer ranch to consider than this close-to-everything home in the Woods. The kitchen is all new, there's an exceptionally nice family room with fireplace, attached two car garage, central air, and fine lower level games room, too! Now $149,500.

IT'S NOT THE HOLIDAY INN, HOWEVER...

At $39,900 there are 5 bedrooms, three full baths, plus a den and sitting room. There's even a fireplace in this immaculate inflation buster. So if you're on a budget, and need space put this home on the top of your "must see" list!

ATTENTION MERCHANTS AND BUSINESSMEN LOOKING FOR A COMMERCIAL BUILDING IN THE "POINTES".

On a major street in Grosse Pointe we have an excellent opportunity for anyone who understands "tax shelters"! All brick exterior, one story with approximately 800 square feet (20x40) and it's presently very well decorated. If you could purchase this investment for $30,000 with $5,000 down on a land contract, isn't it important enough to stop whatever you're doing, and let us show you through immediately!

IN NEARBY WARREN. This fine all brick three bedroom ranch, close to schools and public transportation. Hang on to your checkbook, here's the good news... full price is just $27,900 and there's a big assumable $20,079 mortgage at a rare 8½%!
