HEADLINES of the WEEK

As Compiled by The Grosse Pointe News

Thursday, December 14
SECRETARY OF STATE
Cyrus Vance decided to call off his Middle East peace mission after conferring with President Jimmy Carter over "differences of view" between the U.S. and Israel. Mr. Vance will stop in Egypt to confer with President Anwar Sadat before coming home. The decision to bring him home suggested that he and the President have concluded that a peace treaty isn't possible at this point, though Mr. Vance will admit only that he has important points to discuss with Mr. Carter.

Friday, December 15
A STATE LEGISLATIVE
committee has concluded that "chronic abuse, neglect and inadequate care" are taking place in most of Michigan's mental health institutions. The committee's report, which recommends sweeping improvements, including a mental health advocate to head the system, cites the Plymouth Center for Human Development as the facility with the worst conditions. It suggests the major element lacking in the mental health care system is a lack of effective leadership.

Saturday, December 16
PRESIDENT JIMMY CAR-
TER announced that full diplomatic relations will be established with the People's Republic of China beginning January 1, while the 30-year-old defense treaty with Nationalist China on Taiwan will be dropped simultaneously. The President said the historic agreement recognizes the "simple reality" that the communist regime is the "sole legal government of China." The remaining 2,000 American military personnel on Taiwan will be withdrawn by the end of April.

Sunday, December 17
OVER 2,000 Taiwanese citizens swarmed the U.S. embassy and an American military compound to protest the normalization of relations with the communist People's Republic of China. Taiwan president Chiang Ching-kuo condemned the American decision to cut off ties with his nation, and promised Taiwan wouldn't negotiate with the mainland. Meanwhile, U.S. conservatives also denounced President Jimmy Carter's move, some saying they might challenge it in court.

Monday, December 18
THE LARGER-THAN-
expected 14.49 percent increase in oil prices announced for the next 10 months by the major petroleum exporting nations will worsen the U.S. economic outlook somewhat next year, but the impact won't be catastrophic, government and private analysts say. Although calculations still are preliminary, Energy Secretary James Schlesinger said yesterday that the increase, coupled with domestic pricing policies, will hike the pump price of gasoline by five to six cents a gallon a year from now, while others have indicated pump prices could jump anywhere from two and a half to four cents a gallon.

Tuesday, December 19
CLEVELAND MAYOR
Dennis Kucinich announced Monday that he will lay off 2,000 of the city's 10,000 employees January 2 to try to prevent the financially insolvent city from going bankrupt. Angry union leaders responded by threatening to strike. The cutbacks will hit police, fire and sanitation services hardest. Mr. Kucinich said at a news conference that 875 policemen, 450 firefighters, 250 sanitation workers, 225 recreation employees and 200 others would lose their jobs.

A Half-Century Christmas Creation Lives On

NORBERT and EDNA BARBA were two of the first people to live in Kerby road when they moved into their home 53 years ago. And every Christmas since, Mrs. Barba has been setting up her "Christmas Village" at the foot of her tree. The scene features a crib set which is one year younger than their marriage, (58 years). The fence was made by Mr. Barba from a Catalpa tree in the backyard. And the Barbabs can tell you stories about when Chalfonte road was a creek and when the people in their neighborhood all were named Beaupre. Says Mrs. Barba, "When I quit doing this I know I'm getting old." It'll be a long time yet.

Four petitions each will be filed with Wayne County Juvenile Court charging two 14-year-old Woods boys with the breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling, stemming from their alleged involvement in entering four Woods homes in November, reported Youth Service Division, (YSD), Det. John Albrecht on Monday, December 18.

The homes the youths are charged with entering are located in Van Antwerp road, two, Roslyn road and Vernier road.

Meanwhile, a 14-year-old Woods boy has been charged with burglaries of homes in Roslyn and Van Antwerp road, allegedly in connection with the aforementioned two youths.

City Laying Groundwork For Home Revitalization Program Through Grants

Park Also Has Plans for Restoring A "Demonstration House" in Target Area, And Making
Low Interest Loans Available

By Susan McDonald
The City administration this week unveiled a preliminary plan for making Home Revitalization grants available to low and moderate income residents. The program has been funded by HUD, (Housing and Urban Development), under the Community Development Block Grant Program, which The City and Park have participated in for at least four years.

New HUD rules allow local governments to establish their own guidelines for such programs, including setting eligibility requirements, the type of assistance offered and target areas in the community, according to Administrative Assistant Lee Birmingham.

The City Council reviewed a 16-page manual detailing those guidelines at its Monday, December 18, meeting.

Loan Route Rejected
The program will be aimed at helping residents make major repairs and improvements to heating, plumbing, electrical and insulation systems in their homes, according to City Manager Thomas Kressbach.

As proposed, the money will be allocated to citizens as $5,000 outright grants, rather than low-interest loans, which are used by many communities. The loan route was rejected because of the extra "red tape" involved and the imposition on citizens. Mr. Kressbach noted, "What we're trying to develop is a program that will make it easier for qualifying citizens to live in and maintain their homes," Mr. Kressbach said. The city hopes to begin the program by informing residents of its details sometime next spring, he added.

The Home Revitalization Program was recommended to City Council by planning consultant Brandon Rogers in a 1975 General Development Plan for the city. At that time, the planners determined there were about 77 homes, (4.3 percent of the city total), which appeared either "deficient" or "sub-standard."

To Form Committee
Most of those homes are located in the part of The City west of Neff road, according to the Development Plan. That is the general area toward which the Home Revitalization monies will be directed.

Mr. Birmingham told the council Monday that there are, at most, 125 residents in the area who may be eligible for grants. Most of those will likely be senior citizens who own their own homes and are on fixed incomes, he noted.

Pact Talks Subject of Discussion

School Board Wants
Quick Start in Negotiations, Teachers' Union President Responds

By Susan McDonald.
The Board of Education said last week it wants to begin the new year by sitting down at the bargaining table with teachers in order to insure a quick settlement of the next union contract.

In a resolution approved unanimously Monday, December 11, the Board directed its administration to request a January starting date for contract talks and to develop a timetable designed to bring about an agreement before school ends in June.

Referring to the lengthy, disruptive contract talks of the past decade, the Board said it "would like to negotiate a new collective bargaining agreement prior to the expiration of the current agreement, (June 30), and definitely prior to the commencement of the 1979-80 school year so the community can be insured of the continuity and stability of educational services."

Roadblock Viewed
Despite the resolution, it appears unlikely that talks will get off to such an early start.

Local teachers' union president Curt Lange said the administration was notified in November that the union will be ready to begin negotiations in May, and he doubts if the union will move that date up for a number of reasons.

The biggest roadblock may be the administration's refusal to recognize Grosse Pointe teachers' affiliation with the umbrella Local 1 unit of the Michigan Education Ass'n., according to Mr. Lange.

"I think the question of who represents the teachers must be settled before we start negotiating," Mr. Lange said. "If not, it's bound to lead to a lot of confusion down the line."

The union contends teachers legally approved the affiliation with Local 1, which includes teachers in 14 districts, in a secret ballot last spring.

Superintendent Dr. Wilham Coats has refused to recognize the affiliation, however, insisting an election

Woods Studying Reorganization Of Safety Dept.

Proposed Plan Temporarily Tabled by Woods
Council in Executive Session Meeting; Salaries for Director And Re-Created Captain's
Post Also Reviewed

By Roger A. Waha
A proposed Public Safety Department reorganization plan was temporarily tabled for further study and review by the Woods Council during an executive session meeting held Monday, December 18, which mainly reviewed proposed labor agreements with sergeants and lieutenants.

At the same time, the council viewed salaries for the public safety director and for the newly re-created position of public safety captain, with monies being allocated in the current budget for this post, a key part of the proposed plan prepared by Public Safety Director John Dankel.

(The department had a captain's position from 1964 to 1973, when Henry Marchand, then the captain, was named public safety director.)

Need More Time
Noting the reorganization proposal has been in the planning stages for months, Director Dankel expressed his disappointment over the tabling action, saying he felt the plan was necessary. "I hope the council will ultimately agree with me," he said.

On the council's action, Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos said at one time the department did have a captain, with the council receiving indications that a captain wasn't necessary and that four lieutenants would be a better system.

Saying Monday evening was the first time the council had heard about the latest proposal, the mayor stated the council wanted more information on the reorganization plan and time to digest such info.

As planned, one of the department's four lieutenants was going to be appointed to the captain's post, leaving three lieutenants in the department, while a fourth corporal's position was to be created.

Star of 'Annie' Enjoying Her Stay in Grosse Pointe

By David Kramer
What would you expect the leading actress in a Broadway musical to be like? A bit conceited perhaps, full of an exaggerated sense of self importance? Or maybe one of those who will talk your ear off trying to promote the show or their own career?

Kathy Jo Kelly, star of the play "Annie," is neither. She is what you might expect any other 12-year-old girl to be like, although she is far from average, currently enrolled at South High School a year and a half ahead of most kids her age.

Instead she is a warm, though somewhat shy girl who isn't overly anxious to talk about herself. And who,

Municipal Jurisdiction Threatened

All Pointes Naming A Representative to Serve on Committee to Study Situation

By David Kramer
Pointe councils have each appointed a member to form an ad-hoc committee aimed at getting input into an expected plan by the state legislature to replace their municipal courts with a district court.

The first meeting of the group is scheduled for Wednesday, January 10, at Park municipal offices at 7:30 p.m. Representing The Park will be Councilman Douglas Graham; The City, Councilman David Robb; The Farms, Councilman Lloyd Semple; and The Woods, Mayor Benjamin Pinkos. The Shores has yet to appoint a representative.

The Pointes and East Detroit remain the only municipalities in the state which haven't yet converted to the district court system first mandated by the 1963 Michigan Constitution, which called for a uniform system of courts.

Handwriting on Wall
House Bill 1613, introduced this year, called for the replacement of the remaining municipal courts, with a concurrent replacement of the common pleas and traffic court in Detroit by district courts. Though the bill died during the fall session, it is expected to be brought up again.

Under the dead bill, Wayne County would be carved up into a number of districts, with the Pointes being included with a section of Detroit. Higher court costs brought about by the inclusion of areas with high crime rates have been one concern of Pointe officials.

"We have good reason to feel that our days may be numbered," said Mr. Semple. "We like what we've got. It's quick justice, inexpensive and with less bureaucracy. We'd like to be able to keep it. But if we're going to lose it, we want to make sure we lose it in the most palatable way we can."

City Mayor John King also believes the district court is inevitable. "The handwriting is on the wall. It undoubtedly will be more expensive, but there appears to be no way out."

Mr. Semple said the idea of the group is to "present

Woman Missing Following Walk

As of noon Monday, December 18, St. Clair Shores police reported no information has been received as to the whereabouts of a St. Clair Shores woman who was last seen walking along Lakeshore road near Provincial late Saturday afternoon, December 2.

Freda Hoover, 73, of North Shore drive, was observed walking toward Grosse Pointe Shores around 4:45 p.m. on the 2nd by a friend, Rose Channell of Briarcliff place, who was in a car. She didn't return home that evening and was reported missing by her husband, David.

St. Clair Shores police said other police agencies have been notified, checks have been made with hospitals and her relatives have been contacted.

When last seen, the woman, described as 5'5" tall, about 150 pounds, with dark brown eyes, grey hair and wearing eyeglasses, was wearing a beige cloth coat, below the knees length, black shoes and socks, a man's hat with its brim down and carrying a black handbag.

Citizens who have any information which may aid St. Clair Shores officers are urged to call the investigation bureau at 776-2200

Public Safety Reorganization Under Study

The last phase of the proposal called for the position of Traffic Safety Officer Paul Crook to be expanded into the area of crime prevention with the ensuing new title of prevention and safety officer.

Second in Command
In exploring the reasons for the reorganization plan, Director Dankel said, "What we're doing is looking to provide more unity and continuity in the administration of the department. Now, we have four lieutenants reporting to the director and each one, in addition to having his own division responsibilities, has responsibility for administrative functions within the department."

For example, Lt. Bernard Kelly is responsible for communications, Lt. Allan Selby handles fire and ambulance service, Lt. Peter Thomas is responsible for auxiliaries and Lt. Jack Patterson works in the area of records, he noted.

Each lieutenant also is responsible for training men on his shift, while the animal protection officer, Dog Warden Jeffrey Johnson, works with the day shift lieutenant.

With the proposed adjustment, the lieutenants, with the exception of Lt. Thomas who would remain in charge of the auxiliaries, would be relieved of their administrative functions, which would fall on the shoulders of the captain, said Director Dankel. The captain would be involved in the "nitty-gritty of the day-by-day operation of the department," he continued. Under the proposal, "he'll be second in command of the Public Safety Department with departmental-wide responsibilities."

Criteria Viewed
With a captain, the director felt responsibilities within the department would be eased in a variety of areas. "The captain would relieve the lieutenants and the director of a lot of administrative problems," he said. The lieutenants could then run their shifts and supervise their men without the additional administrative responsibilities, while the director would have more time for planning.

Director Dankel said 11 applications were received for the captain's post, 10 from within the department and one from without, i.e., another city employe from outside the force.

A final decision on who would be selected to the post was near, with Director Dankel saying he considered a variety of criteria including command experience, supervisory ability, one who was competent in both police and firefighting and investigative experience.

It also would have to be someone the director could work with on an intimate and personal level — an individual with whom he would feel comfortable and vice versa.

Attends School
The second aspect of the proposed plan would be the creation of a fourth corporal's position. This officer, who would work out of the detective bureau, would handle the day-to-day supervision of the bureau and become the Youth Service Division's supervisor in the DB. He also would assist, and answer to, the captain.

With the creation of this new supervisory position, the director said a testing process would have been undertaken with original plans calling for this to begin after the first of the year.

As for the final phase, the plan called for Officer Crook's responsibilities to be expanded to encompass crime prevention. In this respect, Officer Crook last month attended the Basic Crime Prevention course at Macomb County Community College for 11 days.

But at this stage, based upon the council's action, the proposal will have to wait.

Change in Courts

(Continued from Page 1) some sort of a unified front" to the legislature, particularly to Rep. William R. Bryant Jr. He said he would like to be sure that whatever new system was created would not cost residents any more, and would continue to give speedy and prompt attention to citizens.

Emphasis on Unity
City Council members, meanwhile, have some concern as to whether they will lose revenues from tickets, including parking violations. City Manager Thomas Kressbach said he thinks parking ticket revenues will still go to the city, but nothing else will.

GPC Grants

Under the preliminary plan, only single-family detached residential buildings will be eligible for grants. The council will appoint a five-member committee, including at least two citizens, to review eligibility in extenuating circumstances, according to the draft.

The City will be the first Pointe community to conduct a federally-funded housing rehabilitation program. The Park is currently working on a similar plan, but is taking a quite different approach in developing its local guidelines.

Still Negotiating
The Park's tentative plan calls for restoring a "demonstration house" in the target area, and making low-interest loans available for residents' renovation projects.

The City and Park have received about $350,000 from HUD's Community Development program during the past four years. The Woods has received verbal confirmation that it will receive its first grant under the program this year. The Farms is still negotiating an application for funds with Wayne County, which administers the program for smaller municipalities.

The City received a total grant of more than $80,000 this year, $30,000 of which was earmarked for the Home Revitalization Program.

YSD Has Busy November; Overall Load Stays High

The Youth Service Division, (YSD), received 106 complaint reports for investigation last month, making the total for the year to date stand at 855, an increase of 172 over the same period last year.

Larceny cases, totalling 28, comprised the category of highest incidence. When considered with related categories, burglary, nine reports, unlawful driving away of an auto, seven, and auto theft, one, there were 48 identified juvenile males involved in the company of four male adults.

Twelve of the cases currently remain unsolved, while eight are suspended pending receipt of additional information.

Malicious destruction of property, meanwhile, totalled 28 cases. Six youths, in the company of one adult male, have been identified as involved. To date, 17 cases have been suspended and three remain under investigation.

Runaways, eight reports, involved five boys and three girls. Two of the boys were habitual runaways from the Childrens Home of Detroit, 900 Cook road, and have since been withdrawn from the home.

In all, four of the eight youngsters voluntarily returned to their homes, one girl was apprehended and turned over to her parents and another girl was arrested and transported to a county juvenile home.

Six violations of controlled substances cases were reported, with five of them being marijuana incidents, involving nine juvenile males. The other was a synthetic drugs case involving one juvenile female.

Assault cases, totalling eight, involved a pair of aggravated assaults which resulted in broken facial bones.

Three attempt accosting incidents also were reported. Two of them were reported as of a suspicious nature and have had to be suspended for lack of firm follow-up information. One, however, appears to have been an actual attempt to pick up a young girl. The suspect is currently being held and the investigation is continuing.

Seventeen applications for petition have been filed with Wayne County Juvenile Court, none of which have received court action to date.

In other news, YSD officers continued to contact principals and assist principals and faculty to discuss presentations which may be utilized in in-class and out-of-class instruction. The division's four detectives have devoted some 25 to 30 hours in preparation and presentation.

Subject matter viewed has included child safety, the Emergency E program, the Bill of Rights, Amendments to the Constitution and Search and Seizure.

The detectives welcome the opportunity to speak in the high schools and also in the middle and elementary schools.

GP Farms Has New Officer

The newest Farms police officer is a former paper hanger who is working on his law enforcement degree at Macomb County Community College.

Gary G. Mayer, 22, of Roseville, started his training period with The Farms department last week.

After six months he will be qualified to be on his own, after he's had instruction in administrative aspects, patrol familiarization, served a hitch with the Youth Service Division, the detective bureau and the auxiliary services, (radio and desk work).

Officer Mayer, who has just finished the eight-week academy at Macomb, applied a year ago for the job. He had to pass written, physical and oral tests for the post.

He replaces officer Ralph Hobrat, who resigned from the department this summer.

NH Boosters Make Donation

Seek Tavern Licenses

Mr. Moraco and his partner, Ronald Serba, (also known as Ron Kimberly), who own the Kimberly Korner of shops, and Mr. Barbieri, who owns the building formerly housing Little Caesar's, have been interested in obtaining a tavern license for some time.

"Since the day Kimberly opened we've endeavored to meet the needs of the community, we have maintained the exterior and interior and we have been proud of the corner visually and aesthetically," said Mr. Moraco.

"We would never do anything that's not in absolute best taste, nor anything to detract from our image."

Trying to Help
 Celebrating his 23rd year at the corner in February, Mr. Moraco stated; "We need it financially because people are literally going elsewhere," while Mr. Barbieri's son, Edward, stressed, "To operate the specialty restaurant we have here, a glass of wine is mandatory."

Citing his clientele, many who visit Le Cafe from other parts of the state and the country, Mr. Moraco noted, "With those kinds of visitors to the Grosse Pointe area, it's imperative they receive the proper kind of treatment expected in restaurants of this caliber."

Without a tavern license, Mr. Moraco felt, "We're butting our heads against the wall" in eying other area restaurants which serve wine with meals.

Earlier this month, he said an $11,300 expansion was completed at Le Cafe to provide more service to the community. This entailed opening up two additional dining areas with an emphasis upon intimacy, plus an overall comfortable atmosphere.

The response to the petition drive has been a good one, with Mr. Serba noting, "People have come forth trying to help and they're concerned."

No Class C

Petitions are available at both Le Cafe during the day and Da Edoardo's during the evening. Citizens who wish to sign them must be Woods residents, registered voters and over 18 years of age.

The restaurant owners made it clear they aren't interested in a Class C liquor license, which permits, besides the serving of beer and wine, the serving of liquor. They are only interested in obtaining a tavern license.

At this time, with the recent council approval of Gabby's as the most preferred applicant for an additional Class C license, the city will have five such licenses pending Liquor Control Commission approval.

It also could have up to 15 Class C and/or tavern licenses pending the approval of the council.

In relation to this, the majority of the council at one time or another during past liquor license hearings have verbally indicated their support for both Le Cafe and Da Edoardo's having a tavern license.

FOREIGNERS FLOCK IN

Large numbers of foreign tourists are coming to the U.S., aided by lower air fares and the higher exchange rate of their currencies. The 1978 forecast of 10.1 million may be exceeded, the government reports.

Parents Build Nature Center

The hard-working parents at Poupard Elementary School are at it again, this time constructing a new Nature Center complete with landscaping, a split rail fence and special playground equipment on school grounds.

The group, led by PTO President Dick Wright, donated a total of $2,150 for trees and other materials for the center. In addition, PTO members did most of the construction work under the leadership of Fred Schultz, Marv Rancillio and Russ Sanders.

The project has the whole school working together, says Poupard Principal Peter Wharton. Students, including those in the trainable mentally impaired program housed at Poupard, plan to build picnic tables for the Center in the school's new wood shop—another gift of the parent group.

Last year the PTO created a "paperback palace" at Poupard in an extra classroom. The group decorated the room with bright colors, stuffed animals, carpeting and installed a reading loft for the kids, as well as donating hundreds of paperbacks for the project. The special reading room is manned by parent volunteers during school days.

Henry Ford II Accepts Chairmanship of Hospital

There is once again a Henry Ford at the head of Henry Ford Hospital.

Hospital Board of Trustees President Carlton M. Higbie Jr. announced at board meeting earlier this month that Henry Ford II is the new chairman of the board of Henry Ford Hospital, the health care facility founded in 1915 by his grandfather, auto pioneer Henry Ford.

"The hospital is indeed fortunate to have Henry Ford II as its new chairman of the board," Mr. Higbie said. "I know he will provide outstanding leadership and support."

Mr. Ford will succeed his brother, Benson, as chairman. Benson Ford served as board chairman from 1974 until his death on July 27.

Mr. Ford's acceptance of the chairmanship continues the tradition of Ford family leadership and involvement in the hospital since its founding.

He joins several other family members currently on the board, including his brother, William Clay Ford, his sister, Mrs. Walter B. (Josephine) Ford II, and Benson's widow, Edith Ford.

His mother, Eleanor Clay Ford, widow of Henry I's son Edsel, was an active board member for 53 years until her death in 1976.

Ford interests also have provided financial support for the hospital. Grants from the Ford Foundation and Ford Land Development Corp. have resulted in significant improvements in the hospital.

Henry Ford Hospital is today a regional health care system integrating clinical and basic scientific research and medical education with innovative health services. Since its founding, the hospital has grown from the one hospital building Henry Ford I opened to the entire health care system his grandson and namesake will head.

The system addresses a wide range of inpatient and outpatient needs through diagnostic capabilities, acute care clinics and 24-hour emergency care.

The hospital has established three suburban health care facilities for outpatient care — the Fairlane Center in Dearborn, the Troy Center and the West Bloomfield Center — in addition to the seventeen-story Clinic Building adjacent to the main hospital on West Grand Boulevard in Detroit.

Mr. Ford, the chairman of Ford Motor Co., has an active interest not only in the hospital but in the city where it is located. He is co-chairman of the board of Detroit Renaissance and a member of New Detroit, Inc.

In the past he has served as chairman of the National Center for Voluntary Action, a non-profit, non-partisan group established to support private voluntary action to help solve problems of people and their communities.

He also is a member of the board of governors of United Nations Ass'n. - USA, and he was appointed by President Lyndon Johnson as chairman of the National Alliance of Businessmen, a group of US business leaders seeking productive jobs for hard-core unemployed and arranging jobs for disadvantaged youths.

Mr. Ford was born in Detroit on September 4, 1917, the eldest of four children born to Edsel and Eleanor Clay Ford. He has been with Ford Motor Co. since 1940 and has been its chief executive officer since his grandfather retired in 1945.

Woods Studies Rehab Program

A County-Wide Housing Rehabilitation Program was viewed by the Woods Council at a recent regular meeting, with City Administrator Chester E. Petersen being requested by the solons to see if direct assistance for the citizen in question could be obtained with county officials without the city becoming directly involved.

After contacting county officials, Mr. Petersen told the NEWS that the matter would have to be handled by the city and it would be up to the council whether or not to pursue the program.

In a memo to the solons, Mr. Petersen noted that the Community Development Block Grant Advisory Council has set aside $50,300 which may be used for a housing rehabilitation project in cities, such as The Woods, which do not have such rehabilitation programs. "This money is available on a first-come-first-serve basis, but is limited to $5,000 per rehabilitation project. The money may be offered as a loan supplement or as a 100 percent grant. Eligibility is based, primarily, upon income," he said.

He then stated that a resident has been found who could qualify for a 100 percent grant.

This person's income is considerably below the poverty level and the utility and housing costs are such that the remainder of income is approximately $1,300 per year. As a result, this person is forced to meet living expenses by drawing from a diminishing savings account, reported Mr. Petersen.

"The person's home is clearly substandard and because of advanced age, remaining in the home through a severe winter would, in our opinion, present a threat to continued good health," he said.

He recommended that the council authorize his office to proceed with an application for a rehabilitation grant. "It appears the amount of work required for total rehabilitation would exceed, by far, the $5,000 maximum grant. Nevertheless, $5,000 should provide a new roof, insulated siding and new electrical service," noted Mr. Petersen.

"This work would eliminate a potential hazard and provide some comfort during the winter. Further, when the minor home repair program commences operations, additional assistance may be provided."

He added that qualification for the program is based upon income, low-to-moderate, or poverty level. Age isn't a factor, but it's significant, he felt, that applications are processed on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Talks on Pact Discussed

If the union agrees to hold a MERC election, it could not be arranged before February, Mr. Lange said.

Dr. Coats said his stand on the affiliation is similar to that taken by several area school districts. He added that the Local 1 issue should not prevent negotiations.

"The Board just wanted to make it clear they want to get going on negotiations," Dr. Coats said. "If both sides get down to business we could settle this thing in two months."

Another problem the union has with the January starting date stems from its own by-laws, which state the union cannot begin the bargaining procedure until May, according to Mr. Lange.

"Before we start negotiating we must survey teachers, assign committees to analyze parts of the contract and take a vote on our proposals," Mr. Lange said. "That whole process will be finished in May, and that's when we'll be ready to sit down at the table."

Mr. Lange charged the administration is well aware of the provision in the union's by-laws. "They're just trying to put pressure on us and make it appear we aren't willing to cooperate," he said.

The Board's current contract with teachers was settled in April 1977, after 10 months of negotiations. Although a strike was threatened in September, teachers worked for seven months without a contract during the 1976-77 school year.

The last settlement was based upon a report by a state-appointed fact-finder. Announcement of the tentative agreement came less than a week before four millage proposals were to be voted on by residents.

Petitions

(Continued from Page 1) ents agreeing to restitution. At the same time, the detective said the trio of 14-year-olds will be charged in St. Clair Shores for the breaking and entering of a business place, stemming from their alleged involvement in entering Scarborough Square in late October.

I'm going to request that petitions be filed on the youths in St. Clair Shores, said Det. Albrecht, who indicated he will send all The Woods' petitions on the youths together in the hope a juvenile court referee will hear them in one swoop.

This case has been a time-consuming one for the officer, who estimates that he has spent some 30 hours of investigative time on it interviewing the youths, their parents, the complainants, taking inventory of items taken and recovered and in returning missing property.

I knew what we had, he said, in referring to the case as an "iceberg" but I didn't know all the details until I actually went into it.

Uncovers Goods

In one of his reports, Det. Albrecht noted while investigating Woods break-in complaints, he uncovered merchandise reported stolen from the St. Clair Shores store. Two of the 14-year-olds allegedly entered the store, while another acted as a lookout, with the goods ultimately being divided at one of the boys' homes.

The value of missing articles was placed at around $1,500 and included hash pipes, cigaret papers, roach clips, belt buckles and wallets.

In one Van Antwerp road burglary, the total value of missing items reached $1,307, with the value of articles recovered being placed at over $370. The remaining $936-plus was mainly in currency and coins, he stated.

Det. Albrecht said in another Van Antwerp road break-in, the total value of missing articles was $194, with the value of recovered items placed at $175.

Six Are Cleared

Through the arrests of the three 14-year-olds for their alleged participation in entering the Roslyn road home, the six break-ins, including the one in St. Clair Shores, were cleared.

At that time, one of the 14-year-olds was nabbed by Woods Officer Theodore Hinz. Through an ensuing investigation, two other youths who allegedly entered the home were identified and then, through them, two more boys were pinpointed.

Det. Albrecht added he also plans on filing petitions on the three 14-year-olds for violation of the controlled substances act based upon the discovery of suspected marijuana found in lockers at North High School.

Rubbish Collection System

(Continued from Page 1) will be more effective with four rubbish crews working a four-day week, two in the northern part of the city and two in the southern part.

Sixteen routes will be handled over four days in comparison to the current 15 routes over five days.

No longer will the special heavy rubbish pickup be made during a two-day period per quarter. It will now be made during the second week of each quarter on the regular rubbish pickup day, hence, over a four-day period.

Commercial rubbish, which is now collected on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, will be picked up on Tuesdays beginning at 7:30 a.m. It should be placed on the business side of the alley edge after 5 p.m. the day before scheduled pickup or before 7 a.m. of the regular day.

As for leaves, they too will be picked up on regular rubbish days. Between October 1 and December 31, leaves may be raked into the street gutter for collection, while between January through September, they must be placed in plastic bags for pickup on the regular collection day.

Brush also will be picked up on the regularly scheduled day.

During the holiday season, the city's rubbish collection schedule is as follows:

On Tuesday, December 26, both Monday and Tuesday rubbish routes will be collected, with all other routes being collected on the regularly scheduled day.

With the four-day schedule becoming effective on January 2, the city, on that day, will collect both Monday's and Tuesday's new rubbish routes, with all other routes being collected on the new scheduled day.

As for the new day, citizens are urged by officials to check their October 1978 edition of "Update," which contains a map showing the new refuse schedule on the back. Some copies of the publication are still available at city hall, 20025 Mack avenue.

Driver Injured in Park Crash

A Farmington Hills motorist suffered serious head injuries in a traffic accident in front of 15227 Jefferson, at Beaconsfield, on Saturday, December 16, when he struck a car going in the opposite direction, swerved and crashed head-on into a tree, according to Park Police Chief Henry O. Coonce.

Injured was Lionel Edward Ruby, 36, of West Twelve Mile road, who was first taken to Bon Secours Hospital by Park emergency ambulance and later transferred to Saint John Hospital for special treatment of the injury. He also suffered lacerations of both knees.

The report disclosed that Mr. Ruby was travelling east on Jefferson at about 3 a.m. when he crossed into the westbound lanes and struck the right front side of an auto driven by Jeffery Robert Morgel, 19, of Miller, Dearborn, who was not hurt. Mr. Morgel, travelling west, was stopped at Beaconsfield when the collision occurred.

Mr. Ruby's car swerved and crashed into the tree. Cpl. William Furtaw came upon the accident as he was patrolling in his scout car and immediately radioed the station for the ambulance.

Officers Gerald Kolakowski and James Smith responded to the scene and from the fire department, Sgt. Anthony LaBonty and Firefighter Michael Clancy arrived with the ambulance. The policemen and firemen found Mr. Ruby wedged in between the steering wheel and front seat with his legs jammed underneath the dashboard.

The officers and firefighters had great difficulty in attempting to open the front door to extricate the man as the door was smashed against the vehicle's frame.

Cpl. Furtaw, who wrote up the initial report, said that the windshield of Mr. Ruby's car showed visible evidence where the motorist had struck his head.

Mr. Ruby was unable to make an official statement because of his condition, it was said, but Mr. Morgel and another driver, who witnessed the accident, made identical statements.

Chief Coonce said that the officers at the scene stated they detected an odor of alcohol about the seriously injured man. The chief said that a sample of the man's blood was taken for analysis and will be held in evidence.

Pointers Get AAA Positions

Mr. Gehrke is board chairman of First Federal Savings and Loan Ass'n, of Detroit, a director of Detroit Renaissance and an Auto Club board member.

He is trustee of United Hospitals of Detroit and Detroit Medical Center Corp. and a past chairman of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce and the Detroit Central Business District Ass'n.

He is past president of the U.S. Savings and Loan League, the Michigan Savings and Loan League, Detroit Real Estate Board and Mortgage Bankers Ass'n.

Mr. Richardson is board chairman of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. He is a director of Detroit Renaissance, Detroit Symphony Orchestra, United Foundation and Detroit Edison Co.

'Annie' Lives in Pointe

KATHY-JO KELLY, better known as Annie in the musical production of the same name, is living in The Pointe and attending South High School...

To Meet Santa at Holiday Sing

Children in The Park will meet Santa Claus at the second annual Holiday Sing sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Park Civic Ass'n. on Friday, December 22, at 7:30 p.m. at Windmill Pointe Park's old bath house.

This week is particularly heavy with 16 shows. That doesn't leave too much time for homework, and one feels more than a little uncomfortable intruding on what little time Kathy-Jo has for herself.

But Kathy-Jo says she doesn't mind the publicity, the interviews and the attention she gets. She admits, though, that "some things are harder than others," like when she has to get up at 5 a.m. to tape a show like "Kelly and Co."

Whether that something else includes more theater is uncertain. "I'm not 100 percent sure if I want to stay in it," she says. "Half of me does but if it doesn't work out, I want to be a child psychologist."

She spent six months in that role before successfully auditioning for the part of Annie in the national touring group.

She'll be leaving the group at the end of the Detroit hitch, though the rest of the show will continue on to Chicago.

"I want to be back home to see my friends and family," Kathy-Jo explains, home being Manhattan. "Hopefully, I'll go on to something else bigger and better."

Ms. Carroll, who has several small roles in the show, points out that South High is the first large school Kathy-Jo has attended, having gone to a private school back home. While on the road, she's been taught by the show's own tutor.

Kathy-Jo's other interests tend to the physical, including swimming, tennis, baseball and football.

Let's Talk Real Estate

by John E. Brink

One thing about being in the Real Estate business is you never grope for conversation at cocktail parties. In fact just this last week end two or three of the gals cornered me with a remark "Don't you really feel that's an awful price to pay for that house on so and so street?" I was serious when I commented "to the contrary—it's a perfect price!" The outcome is we sold that house the same day—full price—and have a back up offer in case this one goes sour!

It's the same old story. The local people all feel our selling prices are outrageous and the out-of-towners feel we're bargain-bill!

We keep trying to explain this to Grosse Pointers who just can't realize the values of Grosse Pointe compared with other areas. Consequently we have a continual problem with our "Home town" people—trying to get them to realize that not only is inflation taking over but Grosse Pointe is beginning to recognize that we truly are an underpriced community.

But back to my beginning point—Real Estate companies very rarely purposely overprice a home. In the case of the cocktail party and the gals who chided me about the overpriced home—it's gone, gals! And the purchasers couldn't be more pleased.

Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. 882-0087 price houses competitively against what's on the market today! We can always prove the value of our listings. Why not let us show you the value of your home?

AAA Offers Suggestions for Safe Holiday Driving

Holiday party hosts can help keep their guests who overindulge in alcohol off the roads this Christmas-New Year's by testing their driving capabilities before they leave the parties, according to Automobile Club General Manager James Moffat.

"We are advising persons serving alcohol over the holidays to check their guests by a 'Detect-A-Drunk' test to see how sober they are," said Mr. Moffat.

Through its "First a Friend, Then a Host" program, the Auto Club is offering free "Detect-A-Drunk" information sheets through its 55 offices statewide. The sheets show hosts how to test for sobriety.

The sheets list eight easy-to-do activities for sober participants, including "Three Coins on The Carpet," which requires picking up coins tossed on the floor, and the "Hokey Pokey," turning in a circle three times without staggering.

"Lock Around The Clock" requires inserting a key in a door lock, while "Stagger Line" consists of walking heel to toe in a straight line. The "ABCs of Love" demands reciting the alphabet, and, to "Stand Tall," one must stand erect and unsupported without weaving.

"Imbibers should take our 'Detect-A-Drunk' test, prepared in cooperation with the Dearborn Police Department, before leaving a party so they don't end up performing the same tasks at curbside for police," Mr. Moffat explained.

"While the Auto Club stresses no drinking for drivers, we realize that eight out of 10 motorists probably will have a social drink or two and then drive during the holidays," he said. "Our aim is to make drivers aware that moderation in alcohol use can help 'Bring Them Back Alive!'"

Alcohol was a known or suspected factor in half of the 14 traffic deaths in Michigan last Christmas holiday and in nearly 70 percent of the 15 New Year's holiday fatalities.

"With the drinking age rising to 21 on Friday, December 22, it is hoped the lethal combination of drinking and driving will be greatly reduced over previous holidays for motorists under 21," Mr. Moffat said.

Auto Club statistics show that most likely candidates for fatal traffic accidents this holiday are drivers 26 or younger who will drive after drinking.

Thirty-three percent of the drivers involved in traffic deaths last Christmas were in that age group. Over the last New Year's holiday, 61 percent of the drivers involved in traffic fatalities were 26 or younger even though that group makes up less than 30 percent of the Michigan driving population.

Darkness was another common factor, with three-fourths of the Christmas fatal accidents occurring at night and all of the mishaps over New Year's. Ninety-five percent of the drivers were less than 25 miles from home during the two holiday periods.

Approximately 3.4 million cars will travel an estimated 575 million miles in Michigan over the 78-hour Christmas and New Year's holidays, which is about 20 percent below the mileage driven over normal summer holiday weekends.

The Christmas holiday begins at 6 p.m. December 22 and concludes at midnight Monday, December 25. The New Year's weekend starts at 6 p.m. Friday, December 29, and runs through midnight Monday, January 1.

Party hosts can be "First a Friend, Then a Host" this holiday season by following these simple Auto Club suggestions:

- Keep ample supplies of soft drinks, coffee or tea, non-alcoholic punch and lots of food on hand for party guests.
- As the hour becomes late, shut off all alcoholic

Chief Cites City Officers

Department citations are on the way to two City police officers who apprehended a trio of suspected purse snatchers in The Park on Wednesday, December 13.

Cpl. Ed Benthuis and patrolman Virgil Beaupre were recommended for the honor last week by City Public Safety Director Bruce Kennedy.

The two officers responded to a call for assistance from Park police at about 4:45 p.m. on Wednesday. They joined Park officers Ralph Moore and James Smith in a search on foot for two men alleged to have grabbed the purse of a 79-year-old Park woman in the 900 block of Lakepointe avenue.

The officers caught one of the suspects on foot in Pemberton road. When they spotted a van stopped at Jefferson and Lakepointe with a young woman and child in the front seat and a man crouched on the floor in the back, the officers made their second arrest.

Charged in the robbery were Tony Cole, 17, of Parker, Detroit, Michael Patton, 20, of Acacia, Detroit, and Toy Patton, 17, of Beals, Detroit.

The three were released on $5,000 bond each, and told to appear for their exams on Wednesday, December 20, said Park Police Chief Henry Coonce.

Director Kennedy stated, "I feel the officers did an exceptionally fine job in making the arrest. "It is a fine example of good police work and cooperation between neighboring communities."

IRS Establishes PRP Program

A special plan called Problem Resolution Program (PRP), office has been established by the Internal Revenue Service, (IRS), to help taxpayers with persistent problems regarding lost, stolen or delayed refunds.

The program was established especially since repeated calls to the IRS seem to be ignored or bring no explanation.

The PRP gives specialized, personal assistance to taxpayers who cannot get their problems solved by other IRS assistance means, dealing with such complaints as missing refunds, incorrect billing and the status of audits.

According to IRS, the specialized office has helped more than 50,000 taxpayers with difficult problems and complaints.

Usually, the PRP office will handle a complaint within five days. If a delay is unavoidable, the taxpayer will be given a report and a projected completion date.

PRP also is helping the IRS to prevent problems, which often results from quirks in the system. These problems, when brought to the attention of IRS management, may be remedied by procedural changes resulting with fewer problems for taxpayers in the future.

The IRS pointed out that some matters cannot be handled by PRP. These involve Freedom of Information requests, complaints against IRS hiring practices and Privacy Act inquiries. PRP also cannot overturn the decisions made during an audit.

A call to the IRS will refer the taxpayer to the proper office for these matters.

Firemen Have Busy Morning

Park firefighters were summoned to the home of the Agby family, 1342 Beaconsfield road, on Monday, December 11, at 1:09 a.m. when smoke was reported in the kitchen. An investigation disclosed that the smoke was emitting from a defective fixture and the firemen returned to the station at 1:30 a.m.

But as the firefighters were about to back their apparatus into the station house, another alarm was called in from the home of Helen St. John, 1342 Lakepointe. They arrived to find a "going" fire, according to Fire Chief Phillip Costa, in the basement of a two-family flat.

The chief said that Ms. St. John was asleep in her room when she smelled smoke seeping through the floor of her lower flat and felt the heat through the bedroom rug. She called in the alarm and then called the tenants on the second floor. Rob Whitty and Dean Swantek. All three fled the building, with the City Fire Department responding to a second alarm.

Chief Costa said firefighters entered the basement to discover that the joists above the furnace were in flames. At 2:20 a.m. the fire, which was confined to the basement was brought under control. The only damage was to the basement ceiling, plus smoke damage throughout the lower and upper floors, he said.

An asphyxiated parakeet in Ms. St. John's apartment was the only reported fatality.

The chief said that the only fireman injured was Joseph Clarke of his department, who suffered a cut on his right hand. The firefighter was taken to Bon Secours Hospital where the wound was cleaned and bandaged, after which he was released.

"If the woman had had a smoke detector in her residence," Chief Costa said, "an alarm could have been called in a little sooner and possibly minimized the fire and smoke damage."

"I personally recommend, and I know the other fire chiefs of the Pointe would concur, that every home, old and new, should have smoke alarms installed."

"They are well worth whatever price you may have to pay for them. Before buying, shop around until you are sure which brand you think is the best. They are all good, but some are better than others. It is only a matter of preference."

Food Suggested For Yule Gifts

If you're looking for a gift for the person who has everything, choose an imaginative food present this year. Food gifts are practical and cost less than many other items. Nearly 50 commercial crops are grown in Michigan, offering something for almost every taste.

For the busy hostess on your list, an assortment of Michigan cheeses, a basket of fresh Michigan apples or a party pack of fine Michigan wines would be excellent for the holiday season.

A set of soup mugs with a supply of Michigan soups like celery, tomato, mushroom and bean would be great for warming skiers and snow buffs, and especially impressive if the soups are homemade.

For the family with a fireplace, an old-fashioned corn popper filled with a bag of Michigan popcorn would be ideal.

An ice chest is welcome for spring and summer picnic outings, but fill one now, with Michigan sausages, bologna, meats or dairy products for a useful Christmas gift.

If mailing gifts to distant members of your family poses a problem, a variety of Michigan jams, jellies, preserves and apple butter can be easily packed for shipment.

Decorated cookie pins are something unusual for kids to make for grandma. Bake sugar cookies. After they completely cool, decorate and apply a decoupage coating. Glue a pin to the back and grandma will delight in such a unique handcrafted gift.

There are numerous other food gift ideas from the state where good things are growing that are both unique and practical for Christmas giving.

Liggett Hosts Confab in Cincinnati

University Liggett School, (ULS), was host for the 1978 CASE/NAIS Support of Independent Schools Conference held in Cincinnati, O., this month.

Richard Schwab, director of development at ULS, was chairman of the conference sponsored jointly by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education, (CASE), and the National Ass'n. of Independent Schools, (NAIS).

Headmaster Raymond Robbins, trustee Peter Fink, faculty member Wendy Newman and graduate John Peracchio also represented ULS at the conference.

CASE is a professional organization, headquartered in Washington, D.C., whose purpose is to provide its members with programs, services and leadership in alumni administration, educational fund raising, government relations, institutional relations and information services, periodicals and publications and management.

ULS is one of approximately 2,000 colleges, universities and independent schools associated with CASE.

NAIS is, like CASE, a non-profit organization. It serves more than 825 independent elementary and secondary schools in the U.S. and abroad, as well as some 60 local, state and regional special purpose associations of independent schools. ULS is a member school.

Mr. Fink opened the conference and, with Mr. Schwab and Mr. Robbins, conducted discussion groups of trustees, development directors and school heads from more than 400 participating independent schools.

Later in the week Mr. Peracchio, a 1978 graduate of ULS now attending Brown University, introduced former U.S. Sen. Robert Taft, who spoke on "Public Policy and The Independent School" at a luncheon meeting.

Mr. Peracchio had worked for CASE last spring as part of an independent study project during his senior year at ULS.

Other topics covered in the four-day conference included a range of issues in development and communications.

ULS art teacher Wendy Newman attended a series of workshops related to the design of school and alumni publications.

World Hunger Eyed by Group

The Salvation Army has designated Friday, December 22, as World Hunger Day at all its Christmas kettle stands.

Signs will be attached to the traditional red kettles indicating that all contributions on that particular day will be used for the Army's world-wide program of feeding the hungry.

The Salvation Army currently operates in 82 countries and territories throughout the world, especially in Bangladesh and in many parts of India. In addition to the wide range of religious, educational and social services, a large part of the Army's world-wide ministry involves feeding the millions of impoverished and malnourished peoples of the world.

In Calcutta, Major Dudley Gardiner, a retired British military officer, sometimes called the "angel with the bushy beard" has, for the past 19 years, travelled the streets of that city in a land rover bringing hot nourishing food to masses of people who subsist at the near starvation level.

From his Salvation Army Social Service Center kitchen Major Gardiner, who volunteers his services to the Army, channeling his pension into the program, works from 6 a.m. until 3 p.m., feeding as many as 5,000 people at lunch time. At 5 p.m., he goes on another food run when another 2,000 persons are fed.

Commenting on this program that goes on seven days a week, 365 days a year, he says, "People must eat every day and while there is food I must feed them every day — 7,000 people today, 7,000 tomorrow, 7,000 the day after tomorrow."

Asked what is his most frequent prayer, he replied: ". . . For a long life and money so that I can go out with my work as long as possible."

The Salvation Army continues to work in developing local programs and indigenous leadership. However, the magnitude of the problem of world hunger is of such proportion that the need for special feeding projects is not likely to diminish in the foreseeable future.

Persons not able to drop their contributions into the kettle may mail a check to "The Salvation Army World Hunger Day" and send it to the Salvation Army, 601 Bagley, Detroit 48226, or to their nearest Salvation Army Corps Community Center.

Snowballers Nabbed at News

Two juveniles were arrested by Farms police officers who caught them on the roof of the Grosse Pointe News, 99 Kercheval avenue, Thursday evening, December 7, throwing snowballs at passing cars on Kercheval.

The call was received from a merchant down the block from the NEWS. After finding the area clear, Farms Officer Dan Jensen requested fire department assistance, which was provided along with a 20-foot extension ladder.

The culprits were then nabbed climbing down the NEWS' office.

They were conveyed to the police station where they were released to their parents and the case was turned over to the Youth Service Division.

School Soccer Program Is Success, Board Told

By Susan McDonald

The soccer program that parents lobbied so hard for last winter got off to a very successful start in Grosse Pointe schools this fall, program directors told the School Board last week.

"It was a relaxed, pressure-free, fun program. Students really, truly enjoyed the game," said Morris Manzek, Parcels Middle School principal. He added that the schools had no trouble finding coaches and that "students and their parents were incredibly enthusiastic and supportive."

The School Board agreed to start up the soccer program last winter after a group called Parents for Soccer presented it with petitions signed by more than 1,000 school district residents.

The parents, led by Tom Landauer of The City, argued the sport can be enjoyed by more students of both sexes, is cheaper to operate and less dangerous than other organized sports.

The Board agreed to fund an intramural program in the middle and high schools running concurrent with the football season in fall of 1978.

Mr. Hanzek, along with Director of Secondary Education Robert Welch, North High Athletic Director Thomas Gaukerke and South Athletic Director Chuck Hollosy discussed the program at the Board's Monday, December 11, meeting.

Mr. Welch said, based on the success of the intramural program, the administration hopes to develop a varsity team soon.

Forty-six high schools in Michigan currently have competitive soccer programs and that number is expected to double or triple within the next few days, Mr. Gaukerke said. When 70 schools establish programs, the state will formally recognize the sport and will begin Michigan championship competition, he added.

At the three middle schools, the soccer teams attracted nearly equal numbers of boy and girl players, Mr. Hanzek noted. Each school was able to form four teams representing boys and girls in seventh and eighth grades. In all, about 70 kids per school were able to participate.

The intramural program ran into some problems at the high school level, especially at South, where playing fields and soccer coaches were hard to find, according to Mr. Hollosy.

While North High was fortunate to have an enthusiastic soccer fan and former professional player, Guido Regelbrugge, on its staff, South had no such luck finding a coach.

In addition to soccer teams at the public schools there are at least three other programs open to Pointe kids, including one at University Liggett School, the Neighborhood Club and one operated by the Grosse Pointe Soccer Ass'n.

South Cagers Drop A Pair

By Wallace Bruce

South High School's varsity basketball team lost two close games last week to Notre Dame and Sterling Heights Stevenson.

The Tuesday, December 12, game against the Irish of Notre Dame High was the most exciting the Blue Devils have played this season.

With no more than six points separating the teams throughout the game, Derric Thomas's basket at the final buzzer gave Notre Dame a 46-44 victory over South in the non-league contest played at Notre Dame.

The Blue Devils led by four at the half, and by six at the end of three quarters, but the Irish outscored South, 18-10, in the final period. South coach Chuck Hollosy felt the Devils played good defense, but was disappointed in their offense and poor shooting of only 26 percent.

Notre Dame's Don Wandzel was the game's high scorer with 22 points. The only other scorers in double figures were South's Glenn Piche and Kevin Connolly, with 13 and 11 points, respectively.

The Devils' second defeat was their first league loss on Friday, December 15. The Titans of Sterling Heights Stevenson took a first quarter lead of 20-11, which they held for the rest of the game.

South had an impressive 22-point surge in the fourth quarter, and came within two points of the Titans.

But Stevenson, a strong Eastern Michigan League contender this year, came out on top with a 60-54 final score.

Titans Chuck Hamden and Dave Meredith each had 18 points. High scorer for South was Bob Baker with 17, and Piche added 16.

The Devil's are now 1-1 in the league, and 1-6 overall.

South played a non-league game at Lakeview Tuesday, December 19, (after press time), and will then meet Port Huron's Big Reds at home tonight, Thursday, December 21.

Liggett Cagers Split 2 Games

By Kevin Karson

The Liggett Knights won their first home game of the young season by defeating Harper Woods, 52-46, on Tuesday, December 12.

ULS jumped off to a quick 12-4 lead, but Harper Woods soon caught up and the game was close from there on out. Jack Roberts had 16 points and John Kavadas had 14 to pace the Knights.

It was the play of Kavadas that gave Liggett a three-point lead at half-time. The senior guard was all over the court, diving after loose balls, causing turnovers, getting steals and turning them into fast break baskets at the other end.

At the end of three quarters of play the game was tied at 36, but Harper Woods jumped off to a 42-38 lead. Liggett came back and took the lead to stay, 44-42.

The biggest difference was in the free throw department, as Harper Woods hit 4 out of 14 for 28 percent while ULS put in 14 of 20 for 70 percent, including eight in a row at the end to seal the victory.

On Friday night, December 15, the Knights took on rival Detroit Country Day. Liggett came out flat in the first half and found themselves playing catch-up all night. Country Day took a 29-15 lead at half-time.

In the second half, though, the Knights looked like a different team, midway through the third quarter they closed the gap to four points, but could get no closer as DCDS won, 59-52. Liggett outscored Country Day 37-30 in the second half.

Leading scorer for Liggett was Jack Roberts who had 14 points. John Bencie added 12. The Knights' (3-3), next game is Friday, January 5 against Lutheran East.

Many a fellow thinks your opinion is absurd because it does not coincide with his own.

Pointe Tankers Slip by Waterloo

The All Pointes Swim Club clashed with the region of Waterloo Swim Club on Saturday, December 2, with All Pointes claiming a narrow victory, 512-503.

With their victory in the meet, held at South High School, the All Pointes club avenged their loss to the Ontario team last April. Coach Les Roddis is planning on taking his team back to Waterloo in the spring.

All Pointes swimmer Dickie Clarke took three firsts for the club, while Kristin Benson, Nancy Woods, Gail Stonish and Bill Luberto all had two wins.

Other winners for the club were Cheryl Chase, Andy Scott, Rudy Stonish and Scott Frame. Seconds were taken by James Ledyard, Marira Sullivan, Robert Hackman, Luberto, Anne Vanker, Gina Bartoszewicz, Frame, Mike Woods, Miss Benson, Ryndy Ditmars, Christopher Clarke, Vann Flemming and Robbie Chown.

Awards were presented at a dinner following the meet on Saturday. Among these treasured trophies, Waterloo presented All Pointes with a plaque inscribed "To our friends across the border." The Ontario team spent Friday night before the meet at the homes of the All Pointes swimmers.

History seems to repeat itself the first of every month, especially the first of this month.

North Frosh Lose, Win Big

By Tom Smith

North High School freshmen opened their basketball season with a loss to a strong Bishop Gallagher team. The final score was 68-21 and it was never close. At the half the score was 38-13.

The Norsemen were kept to only two points in the entire third quarter. High scorers for North were Craig Stafford with five and Tim Labadie and Tom Vanpelt, both with four.

On Friday, December 8, the Norsemen had their chance to even up their record and they did it with a win over Roseville Guest. North came out hot in the first quarter, getting eight points to their opponents' five. The final was 52-35 and again it was a romp.

High scorer for North was Andy Pflams with 15 and Stafford with 10.

Lil' Wings Win Back to Back

The Grosse Pointe Lil' Wings, Squirt AA travel hockey team, scored back-to-back victories on Monday, December 11, and Tuesday, December 12, to strengthen their hold on the lead in the Gold Conference of the Ad-Ray Community Hockey League.

The Wings are currently ranked fourth in the state by the "Michigan Hockey Weekly's" coaches and managers poll.

A 4-1 victory came against arch rival St. Clair Shores in a game played at the Civic Arena. The Lil' Wings scored the first two goals and gained momentum as the game went on.

When the Lakers scored to pull within one goal with less than a minute to play, the Wings poured in two quick goals before the buzzer sounded.

Lil' Wings scoring was by Brian Nettle from John Birgbauer and Mike Amore, John Russell from Nettle, Birgbauer from Russell and Russell from Birgbauer and Mike Kramer.

The Squirt AA team from Garden City was the next victim of the rampaging Lil' Wings as it fell to the home team in an 11-0 rout. Grosse Pointe completely dominated play throughout the game.

Scoring was as follows: Birgbauer, unassisted, Kevin Tisdale from David Olson, D. J. Ketelhut, unassisted, Russell from Birgbauer and Nettle, Andy Roy from Rob Marshall and Joe Sullivan, Roy from Marshall, Tisdale from Kramer and Mike Fulgenzi, Olson from Doug Avedisian, Fulgenzi from Birgbauer and Olson from Avedisian.

The Lil' Wings record in league play now stands at 7-3-4.

Wine Lines
by John Lundberg

The Chenin Blanc grape produces fresh and flowery wines in the Loire Valley of France and the wine vineyards of California. Often it is labelled as White Pinot on wines produced in California. It is probably most tasted in the United States as a major portion of the blend of wines that makes up Chablis. Chenin Blanc based wines can be considered the white wines for all seasons and are especially recommended for fish and other light dishes, particularly those with aromatic spices or smoked meats.

Pointe Women Star at Alma

Mary Jo Einheuser of the Woods and Kathy Kirsch of the Farms, both juniors at Alma College, have helped the college share in the first Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Ass'n. (MIAA) field hockey championship offered in the 90-year history of the league.

Mary Jo also runs track. She plays fullback and her speed is one of the reasons the team was fast this year, says coach Peg Ciccolella, who hopes she will be playing again next year.

A 1976 graduate of Bishop Gallagher High School, Mary Jo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon E. Einheuser, of Allard road. She is majoring in elementary education at Alma.

Coach Ciccolella had high praise for Miss Kirsch's play. "If you could classify people as natural athletes, she would fall into that category. She loves hockey and is absolutely devoted to the game. As center forward she is the gut of the offensive line and has to be the strongest offensive player.

"She has to be able to provide leadership on the forward line, coordinating the inners and the wings," the coach continued. "Mostly Kirsch's instinct is to get the ball and go."

"Kirsch is so enthusiastic and that builds the confidence of the team because she is so sure that we are going to win. She picked up the game right away as a freshman and every year she has improved. She would be all-league if we had an all-league team and is so good she would have made it as a freshman."

A 1976 graduate of South High School, Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kirsch, of Beacon Hill. She is majoring in physical education.

Polizzi Stars in Stick Final

Albion College freshman hockey standout Tomasine Polizzi was the leading scorer for the Great Lakes Sectional number two team at the United States Field Hockey Ass'n, finals at Ellensburg, Wash., over the Thanksgiving weekend.

Miss Polizzi was selected to the Great Lakes squad after participating in selection days at Kalamazoo, Richmond, Ind., and Delaware, O. She scored three goals and assisted on one other at the finals, for a total of seven points.

The Great Lakes number two team posted a 1-5 record in the tournament, its only win a 3-1 decision over the

Center's Ski Trips Planned

Following their initial twilight ski trip to Pine Knob last week, which was sold out, the War Memorial's Ski Hi Club has another Pine Knob trip scheduled for Friday, January 5 from 4 to 11:30 p.m. for which a few places still remain open.

Included in the trip package are round trip transportation, all area lift tickets and chaperonage for $9.95. Any student who is in grades 7-12 may go if he becomes a Ski Hi member, ($5 a year). Group ski lessons are available for $1.50 and skis may be rented at the area for $4. Special skiing insurance is mandatory for $1.

Ski Hi also has a trip exclusively for students in grades 9-12 scheduled for Friday, January 12 to Mount Brighton. For a cost of $13.50 group ski lessons and all area lift tickets are given out without ski patches or testing required. This is one of the top ski areas in southeastern Michigan and will appeal to the more mature student skier.

The Center's adult Grosse Pointe Ski Club has their initial ski weekend at Boyne Highlands, January 5 through 7. They will stay at the Bartley House right at the slopes. Included in the package for members, ($10 a year), are round trip highway bus transportation with snacks and refreshments served aboard, two nights lodging with meals, all area lift tickets for the weekend and a wine and cheese party.

Cost is $114. A few places still remain open for sign up at the War Memorial office, 32 Lakeshore road.

A new survey insists there has been a 50 percent increase since 1974 in the number of people under 30 seeking Alcoholic Anonymous help.

Skiers Going To Sun Valley

There is still time to join the University Liggett School, (ULS), and Grosse Pointe Academy spring skiing vacation to Sun Valley, March 16 through 24. Sun Valley has added new chairs and many new intermediate runs that will add up to a wonderful skiing vacation.

Participants will board their vacation bus at ULS and head to the airport where they will step aboard an airplane for Boise, Ida. They will then be transported by coach to Sun Valley for seven nights lodging and six days of skiing.

Sun Valley convention center is arranging for a private banquet dinner for the entire group. Ski school programs for the kiddies, private tour instruction of the mountain, sleigh rides, movies and ice skating are only a few of the many things available on this trip.

Anyone interested in joining the group may get further information by calling 882-3227.

SPENDING GROWS Over a 10-year period ending in 1976, world military spending totaled $400 billion, a 20 percent increase, accounted for largely by the industrial nations.

ROUGH GOING AT PLAY

In 1977, 187,000 people — mostly children between the ages of five and 10 — received hospital emergency room treatment for injuries on public and home playground equipment, according to an estimate by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. Swings were responsible for the most injuries — 72,000.

CAIRO CRIME LOW KEY

Although central Cairo, Egypt, has a population of 5 1/2 million, there were only 379 serious assaults recorded in that district in 1977, fewer than 100 murders, and no armed robberies.

Letters to The Editor

(It's the NEWS' policy to run all letters with name, address and city. However, a name will be withheld upon request provided the reason is a good one and the NEWS knows who the letter writer is. The NEWS also reserves the right to not run any letter submitted.)
To the Editor:

When I returned from two and a half weeks in Europe on Monday, December 11, I was somewhat relieved to find that my house in Grosse Pointe Park still existed. The last time my father was overseas, he wasn't quite so fortunate.

Upon looking through the previous week's NEWS though, I became distraught to find that there would be no prosecution in the arson that destroyed the house I grew up in and where firefighter Richard Tucker was killed. The reason allegedly being a "difference of opinion" concerning the evidence.

It appears that our criminal justice system must be in a pretty bad state if they are going to refuse to pursue crimes of this nature because they "don't feel there is enough evidence."

I should think they would first consider trying to find some more. Personally, I have heard some tidbits of the evidence and it sounded to me like they would have something to work on. I would have to agree with Sgt. Richard Brotebeck of the State Fire Marshal Investigation Division and express my enormous chagrin over the prosecutor's decision.

A decision to prosecute would not give my family a great amount of satisfaction, and probably not the Tucker family either. The damage has already been done, and cannot be undone.

The ones this decision really affects are the other 60,000 residents of our fine community, because there is still a person out there who likes to set fires, and anyone of you could be his next victim.

Rotary Explores Purpose, Its Service to Community

The Rotary Club of Grosse Pointe, through its board of directors, has undertaken a new plan to inform Pointe citizens of the club's purpose and its value to the community.

In doing this, the club believes it to be advantageous to acquaint the community with its actual history and how its historical purpose relates to everyday life in the Pointes.

On February 23, 1905, at the invitation of Paul P. Harris, an attorney, four men met in an office in the Unity Building, (now the 127 North Dearborn Building), in Chicago, Ill. The four were Mr. Harris, Silvester Schiele, a coal dealer, Gustavus E. Loehr, a mining engineer, and Hiram E. Shorey, a merchant tailor.

It was agreed that evening that these men would organize a club which would be based on the idea that Harris had been developing for the past five years—that men in business could be and should be personal friends.

The following day, Mr. Harris interested Harry Ruggles, a printer, in the proposed club. He, in turn, interested Will Jensen, a real estate dealer. Within a short time the Rotary Club organization was completed at a meeting in Mr. Schiele's office.

The aim of the first Rotary Club was encouragement of friendship, fellowship and mutual assistance. At one of the early meetings, several names were suggested for the new organization. Adopted was Mr. Harris' suggestion "Rotary" which was prompted by the original plan of club members to meet in rotation at their various places of business.

As the club's membership increased, it became inconvenient to meet in the offices of members. As a result, the club began to hold dinner meetings, which later gave way to weekly noonday luncheons.

There are 17,161 Rotary Clubs with a membership of 803,000 in 150 countries and geographical regions and new clubs since July 1 total 265. There also are 2,706 Rotaract clubs with a membership of 54,120 in 71 countries and 3,576 Interact clubs with membership of 78,672 in 71 countries.

The GP Rotary Club was finally put on the road after several previous attempts were made in the Grosse Pointe District. The credit belongs to the Hamtramck Rotary Club and past president Herbert F. Smith of that club, who acted as District Governor's Aide.

Local people who helped and became Charter Members of the club were Fintan J. Clanson, William Moir, Leonard Johnson, Ed Pongracz, Gus Miehms and Vince DePetris.

The first meeting was held at the Neighborhood Club on June 3, 1937. The Charter Presentation was held on Wednesday, July 28, in the auditorium of the Neighborhood Club.

Since that time the Grosse

Pointe Rotary Club has fostered the philosophy of "Service Above Self" through vocational service.

Vocational service is sharing with others who are not Rotarians — sharing with them the ideal of Rotary.

This concept of vocational service derives from the principle which is the very core of Rotary — the selection of members on the basis of classification. As a trustee of his classification, each Rotarian is obligated to share with others who are not Rotarians — and particularly with those others associated with him in business or profession — the realization that "service is my business."

An objective function is prescribed in vocational service for each Rotarian, i.e., to demonstrate for others the meaning of "service is my business" in all the relationships of his business or profession.

Thus conceived, vocational service is capable of demonstrations as tangible as the provision of comforts for the aged or the rehabilitation of a crippled child or any other of the obvious contributions that Rotarians make in community service. And the duties of the vocational service committee are equally clear.

In Rotary, thoughtfulness of others is regarded as the basis of service and helpfulness to others as its expression.

What Goes On at Your Library

By William T. Peters,
Director of Public Libraries

From the dawn of time, the lure of magic has been felt by people of every race. Today we are no less gullible than the people of ancient Egypt who watched in amazement as Tchatcha-emankh performed the decapitation trick 3,766 years before the birth of Christ.

In 1584 Reginald Scot published a book entitled "THE DISCOVERIE OF WITCH-CRAFT." In the book he explained many of the tricks performed by the court jesters who were the magic men of their day. Far from improving the situation, Scot's book was promptly banned by King James and all copies were burned along with the current crop of condemned witches.

A number of books about magic have recently been published that tell how you can amaze and entertain your friends by performing feats that seem to defy explanation.

MILBOURNE CHRISTOPHER'S MAGIC BOOK, (Crowell, 1977), is the ideal book for all would-be magicians, beginning magicians and even experienced practitioners of the art who wish to polish their performance.

The emphasis in this book is on presentation and performance. Anyone young or old, male or female, fumble fingered or not can, according to the author, learn how to do the 100 tricks explained in the book.

Tricks with cards, handkerchiefs, ropes, coins, cigarettes and matches are practical magic requiring little equipment. The chapter on magic for children is a good place to start as it contains the simplest tricks.

Over 100 pictures and illustrations will assist the aspiring magician who reads this book.

THE BIG BOOK OF MAGIC, (Dial Press, 1976), by Patrick Page is a how-to-book. This English author is a professional magician who has given it all away.

He tells his readers how hundreds of tricks are performed, but whether his claim that after reading his book you will be able to perform "the terrifying guillotine" successfully is open to question. This is good reading, with lots of illustrations.

Jack Delvin, a former president of the Magicians' Club in London, draws upon many years of experience to write "MAGIC OF THE MASTERS," (Arco, 1977). This book is basic. It's straightforward. It's practical. It's about the magic you can work in your own home using things like cards, coins, handkerchiefs and paper. Magic can be your key to a rewarding social life.

The book is divided into these main sections: Card Magic, Coin Magic, Handkerchief Magic, Magic with Balls, Magic with Thimbles, Paper Magic and Magic with Liquids.

Magic recreates the wonderful world of the child where everything is fresh and new. Magic is the last stronghold of the imagination. As science makes wonders recede — magic will always be there.

Sharon Wins Writing Award

"There is . . . one single effective way to combat the corruption of adult entertainment on the public morality . . ."

"If the youth of America would patronize those establishments which feature entertainment meeting a basic standard of decency, the promoters of the all-pervasive pornography we see today would realize that America is not and should not be amused by the subject matter which abuses and debases the most personal part of life itself."

Those are the sentiments of South High School sophomore Sharon Ruwart, and they won her a $100 savings bond and top prize in the recent youth writing contest sponsored by Morality in Media.

Sharon won the award with a two-page essay dealing with what youth can do about pornography in the media.

An avid writer, she is a member of the South "Tower" staff and has captured several awards in the Detroit News Scholastic Writing Contest.

"Vocational service is the challenge of Rotary" is the clarion call of one Rotarian. "It is hardly an exaggeration to say that it constitutes Rotary's main justification for existence in a world that needs the Rotary conception of service in vocation today as never before."

And no less challenging than the broad, social implications of vocational service are the results of individual self-examination.

The Grosse Pointe Rotary Club has, through the Grosse Pointe Rotary Foundation, served and supported civic and community organizations and educational programs, and has awarded various gifts in the amount of approximately $150,000 over the past 10 years.

Some of the projects supported during this period include the Health Education Council, Family Life Education Council, Library Tool Collection, Fellowship Christian Athletics, Volunteer Probation Program, Children's Home of Detroit, Grosse Pointe Park Fishing Rodeo and High School Scholarships.

More are the Grosse Pointe Ass'n. for Retarded Children, North High School President's Class, AFS-Student Expenses, South High School National Leadership Conference, High School Student Luncheon, Foundation for Exceptional Children, Police Benevolent Fund, Babe Ruth League, Little League and Foundation for Academic Enrichment.

Others include Friends of the Grosse Pointe Library, Focus Hope, Little League Football, Grosse Pointe Police Softball, Jaycees Red Ball Program, Bon Secour's Hospital Building Fund, Unitarian Church Gracie Oliver Fund and Elworthy Field.

Still more are the War Memorial, Cottage Hospital, Neighborhood Club, Emotionally Disturbed Students Summer Camp, Handicapped Children's Christmas Party, Braille Club, Roland Gray Foundation, Citizen of the Year Award and many others.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats,
Superintendent of Schools

The topic of this column, the Board of Education goal to "Negotiate Fair and Equitable Employee Contracts," is related to last week's column in which I summarized various activities planned to meet another Board goal — "To Improve Employee Relations."

Certainly one of the best ways to improve employee relations is to negotiate and implement employee contracts with are fair and equitable.

We are now in the final year of the current contracts with the four employe associations representing plant and cafeteria personnel, office employes, teachers and librarians and administrators.

Clearly the climate of the school system is more positive after negotiations have been successfully completed rather than during what often becomes a rather tense negotiations process.

Therefore, at the December Board meeting the trustees took action to begin the process necessary to achieve the goal of negotiating new contracts to replace the current ones.

The action was the unanimous adoption of a resolution directing me to appoint a negotiating team to begin bargaining with the Grosse Pointe Education Ass'n. no later than January 1979. The resolution also directed me to develop a negotiations timetable which would provide for the settlement of a new contract prior to the end of this school year.

Work on this timetable has already started and I will be submitting it to the Board at the January meeting.

By taking this action, the Board has demonstrated its concern for improving employee relations by being sensitive to the fact that early settlement of a fair and equitable contract is definitely good for staff morale.

I strongly concur with this position of the Board as I

Group Begins Smokers War

The smoke is beginning to clear for America's non-smokers these days thanks to Target 5, a bold American Cancer Society, (ACS), anti-smoking action plan, aimed at substantially reducing the number of Americans who smoke.

Since the plan was initiated the ACS has mobilized many thousands of volunteers to wage an all-out five-year battle against cigarette smoking, according to a news release from the society.

Although 30 million smokers have conquered the habit since the first anti-smoking campaigns were begun in the early 1960's, 92,000 Americans will die of lung cancer this year.

This means 280 deaths each day that are needless since 80 percent of all lung cancer could be eliminated if Americans would give up smoking.

A majority of adult smokers establish their habit between the ages of 12 and 20. It is for this reason young people are a key audience in the ACS effort to educate Americans about the dangers of smoking.

At the same time, more data is being accumulated that shows smoking is particularly hazardous for pregnant women and unborn children.

To combat these findings and to ensure the number of smokers will continue to decline, Target 5 has the following three goals:

- To reduce the number of teenage smokers by at least 50 percent.
- To reduce the number of adult smokers by at least 25 percent.
- To reduce the harmful components in cigarettes by at least 50 percent.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

Mrs. L. Murray Thomas will open her Berkshire road home for Grace Hospital Auxiliary's President's Christmas Tea — "And of course, the men can come!"

They're urged to come, in fact, for the auxiliary is no longer a Woman Only organization. Among its newest members are three Pointe gentlemen: the Doctors Thomas, Thomas Coles and Kim Lie.

Which is not to say that the Grace Auxiliary is no longer actively recruiting women. Another new member from The Pointe is Mrs. Warren Couger.

What the Grace group wants is people—men and women—interested in helping the hospital. And it wants to keep the people it's got.

And members who have not paid their 1978-79 dues by December 1 must, according to the by-laws, be dropped.

So . . . procrastinators are reminded to see that their money, ($5 annual, $100 life membership), gets to Mrs. George Tuttle, membership chairman, as soon as possible.

And anyone interested in joining the Grace Auxiliary may contact Mrs. Tuttle at 822-7153 for further information.

Pauline Thomas' President's Party is set for Wednesday, December 27, from 1 to 3 o'clock. It's open to all auxiliary members and guests who intend to become members.

The idea is to celebrate the season, to spend a few hours relaxing and visiting with friends.

June (Mrs. Paul) Somlyo is chairman of the African Art Comes To War Memorial

Pointers' Gifts Are Among Objects from Detroit Institute of Arts to Be Displayed over Christmas

"African Art from the Detroit Institute of Arts," a Show on the Road exhibition, opens Friday, December 22, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial and will remain on view through Sunday, January 7.

The 18 objects chosen for display represent varied cultures of sub-Saharan Africa, an area three times the size of the United States.

Since the art of Africa forms an integral part of daily life these objects range from the functional to the ritual, utilizing wood, metals, (including gold), clay, fibres and paint.

Accompanying photo panels show geographical sites, craftsmen at work and objects in use.

Dating is difficult because nearly all the objects are made of perishable materials subject to temperature and humidity damage, but most are no more than 100 years old.

Wood, metalcrafts and weaving usually are practiced by men in African societies; women are the potters. Some skills, such as blacksmithing, remain within a family and are handed down through the generations.

The "Firespitter" (Ivory Coast), is a composite of many animals: head of a hyena, eyes of a human, tusks of a wart hog, mouth of a crocodile. The wearer, dancing at night, blows sparks from the mask's mouth to frighten away spirits thought to enter the community under cover of darkness.

"Mancala," a game board originating in Liberia, is an example of strategy games played throughout the African continent in numerous variations. Counters are used on a 12-hole board. Both the "Firespitter" and "Mancala" were gifts of Justice and Mrs. G. Menen Williams, of Tonnancour place.

A Gabon mask made of wood painted white with kaolin to symbolize a spirit rather than a living person represents elements considered beautiful in women, but it would have been worn by a man. It was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Ford, II, of Provencal road.

An Ashanti female figure seated on a stool, (Ghana), illustrates the importance of ancestor veneration in African cultures. The figure is thought to depict a female ancestor in her prime, exhibiting the valued qualities of physical beauty.

Two gold ornamental objects which indicated position in society are a ceremonial headband worn by Baule rulers, (Ivory Coast), and a four-inch gold filigree bead, (Ghana). These denote wealth as well as power.

Among other objects in the exhibit are a carved wooden cup used for ceremonial or ritual purposes by the Kuba rulers and an ornamental wooden stool made for a person of rank in the Songye society, both from Zaire.

Other African pieces showing the fine craftsmanship of utilitarian objects are a pipe, knife, doll and vessel, each from different cultures.

A huge "Kente" cloth shows an unusual method of weaving cotton and silk in narrow strips which are joined in vertical rows to make intricate patterns. The fabric and width of the strips illustrate prestige in the clan or society. The example is from Ghana.

The range of objects in the exhibition demonstrates the varied and sophisticated craftsmanship of the diverse cultures of sub-Saharan Africa, where the craftsman was usually a valued member of his society.

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial is open Monday through Saturday from 9 to 9 o'clock and Sunday from noon to 5. During the exhibition the building will be closed Christmas Eve, Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

Thank you for our new beginning. We would like to express our appreciation to all our customers for making this a most successful year.

Kanzler Room Returns to DIA

The delicate craftsmanship, elegant fabrics and precious decorative objects characteristic of French 17th and 18th century courts and wealthy homes are displayed in eight re-installed galleries, now part of the museum's permanent collection, in the Ford Wing of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The re-installations of French decorative arts include the 18th century drawing room known as the Kanzler Room, named for benefactors Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kanzler and the fund established by the late Josephine and Ernest Kanzler.

This luxurious drawing room with Louis XV period paneling from a chateau near Amiens, France, has been re-finished in muted green with white accents.

On the Rococo-style, variegated gray marble fireplace stands a neo-classical ormolu, (a process of gold plating on bronze or brass), clock by Parisian watchmaker Jean-Baptiste-Francois Cronier.

French doors are draped in apricot silk, with all the room's colors combined in silk tassel fringe.

Among the extraordinary furniture in the Kanzler Room is a large bombe commode, (chest of drawers), veneered in Brazilian kingwood and rosewood inlaid with geometric marquetry. Elaborate bronze drawer pulls and decorations accent

At a small, family ceremony Saturday, November 4, in Aspen Chapel, Aspen, Colo., BARBARA JEAN CLABO, daughter of the John Earl Clabos, of Grand Junction, Colo., was married to CARTER SALES, III, son of Mrs. Edmund G. Jacoby, of Charlevoix avenue, and the late Carter Sales, Jr.

Miss Clabo Bride of Carter Sales, III

They Vacation in San Francisco And The Hawaiian Islands Following Rites in Early November; Are at Home in Denver

Aspen Chapel, Aspen, Colo., was the setting for the small, family ceremony at which Carter Sales, III, son of Mrs. Edmund G. Jacoby, of Charlevoix avenue, and the late Carter Sales, Jr., claimed Barbara Jean Clabo as his bride.

The late morning rites Saturday, November 4, were followed by a reception at Aspen's Pomegranate Inn.

The newlyweds vacationed in San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands, and have returned to Denver, Colo., to make their home.

For the 11:30 o'clock service at which The Reverend Gregory Anderson officiated, the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Clabo, of Grand Junction, Colo., chose a formal gown of candlelight jersey.

Alencon lace formed the Victorian neckline and yoke of her molded bodice. Her long, tapered sleeves ended in lace cuffs, and scalloped, matching lace trimmed her controlled, A-line skirt and chapel train.

Her elbow length, illusion veil fell from a crown of ivory silk flowers.

She carried a nosegay of minuet roses, stephanotis and baby's-breath, with trailing ivy, a family prayerbook and a white linen handkerchief, edged in lace.

In floor length frocks of dusty rose jersey, sheer, scalloped capes covering their shoulders, were Mrs. Robert Chastain, of Minneapolis, Minn., honor matron for her sister, Mrs. John B. Clabo, of Tulsa, Okla., and

Mary Rinkel, of Denver. Each carried a single, dusty pink rose and cream minuet rose, with green ivy. They wore matching, dusty rose silk flowers in their hair.

Flower girls were Barbara Carol and Carrie Clabo, nieces of the bride.

Best man was Jon Somes.

Guests were seated by John and Gary Clabo, brothers of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a calf length dress of dusty blue silk jersey. Pink Sweetheart roses formed her corsage. Mrs. Jacoby wore a suit of soft, oatmeal wool and pinned yellow Sweet heart roses to her purse.

the piece. Designed for comfort as well as elegance is a Regency style bergere, (arm chair), well-padded and proportioned to accommodate the wide skirts of the period. The upholstered chair back features wings to protect the sitter from drafts. Its exposed, carved walnut frame is decorated with shell and leaf motifs.

Other chairs are well-cushioned, whether styled with open or upholstered arms.

In keeping with the craftsmanship of the furnishings, decorative objects such as Chinese, (K'ang Hsi period), porcelain vases are mounted on French ormolu bases.

In galleries flanking the Kanzler Room are silver-gilt and gold goblets, urns, sculptures and decorative objects, displayed in specially designed cases.

Depicting mythological subjects are a group of Gobelin and Beauvais tapestries of wool and silk shot with gold and silver threads. They adorn the area's entrance gallery, which opens into the Dodge Music Room.

The Music Room's contents, a 1970 bequest of Anna Thomson Dodge from her Grosse Pointe Farms home, Rose Terrace, include a huge Aubusson rug in tones of rose, blue and cream which is complemented by the peach and rose walls of the gallery, a Beauvais tapestry woven from a cartoon by Boucher, more than 40 pieces of Sevres porcelain, 18 large pieces of furniture and 12 seating pieces, plus clocks, torcheres, terracotta sculptures by Clodion and paintings by Fragonard.

Many of the pieces were purchased in the 1930's by Mrs. Dodge from the former Imperial collections of Russia sold through Joseph Duveen by the Russian government.

Adjacent galleries feature a variety of French metalcraft, porcelain, sculpture and paintings from the museum's 16th through 18th century French collection.

In addition to the Art Institute's extensive collection of French paintings and sculpture, which ranks among

Museum Gets Corporate Aid

Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts corporate campaign chairman Charles R. Montgomery has announced a record figure representing pledges and contributions by Detroit business leaders exceeding by more than $20,000 the goal of $180,000 set last May.

Mr. Montgomery recently presented a check facsimile for the amount of the pledge, and more, to Mrs. Alan E. Schwartz, secretary of the Founders Society board of trustees.

The chairman said the funds represent a significant commitment on the part of the business community, reflecting an awareness of the cultural needs of the area during this period of growth.

During the campaign local businesses loaned executives who, in turn, called on other companies requesting new or increased contributions to the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts. The art institute now numbers some 375 corporate supporters.

the finest outside of Europe, a number of works are on long-term loan from the Cooper Hewitt Museum in New York City and the National Museum of History and Technology in Washington, D.C., from both Smithsonian Institutions and from anonymous European and American collections.

The installation was organized by the Department of European Art under the supervision of curator Dr. Dewey F. Mosby and assistant curator Alan P. Darr.

It was supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts and the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kanzler, of Lakeshore road, and his parents, Josephine Kanzler was the sister of Eleanor Clay (Mrs. Edsel B.) Ford.

The eight-gallery wing is on permanent exhibition and is open free to the public during regular museum hours: Tuesday through Sunday, 9:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Christmas Is Festive at Pointe's Hospitals

By Ann Wallace

"How can we help you?" is the question often asked at area hospitals during the holiday season.

This holiday spirit — wanting to give of oneself — is greatly appreciated by hospital personnel.

Pepper Whitelaw, public relations director at Saint John Hospital, notes while listing the many activities planned through the month of December for patients, that all groups have been very generous in their efforts to make the holiday season, usually a very lonely time for the patients, as comfortable and enjoyable as possible.

"It is impossible to mention all the clubs and organizations wanting to help," explains Mrs. Whitelaw, "but they all have been so anxious to be of service.

"Consider the number of choirs that have performed here. Among them have been choirs from Grosse Pointe North High School, Gesu Church, fourth and fifth graders from the Grosse Pointe Academy and the Girls and Boys Choir from Saint Bartholomew Church."

Carolers will tour all the hospital wards Friday, December 22, and sing all the favorite Christmas carols.

The choirs, their activities co-ordinated by Virginia Douglas, director of volunteers at the hospital, have performed in Saint Edward's Chapel at Saint John, with their concerts appearing on closed circuit television throughout the hospital.

Patients able to attend the concerts in the chapel are brought there by the staff. The patients also are brought to the chapel for Christmas services.

A special Cheer Group, under the direction of Mrs. Rosemary Scheid, has made special Christmas food tray favors, enhancing the special holiday menu planned for the patients by the hospital.

The nurses on staff at Saint John also are helping add cheer for the patients by decorating their stations on the hospital floors.

"Mrs. Florence Pilson, a Registered Nurse in the clinic," continues Pepper, "is helping this Christmas season, as she has done in past years, by collecting gifts that can be given to the young, and not-so-young, patients who come into the clinic.

"She says that anything, except food items, is welcome. One should call the hospital, 881-8200, Extension 281, for more information or to donate a gift."

As one might imagine, the Pediatrics Department will have many activities for the children, including a Santa Luncheon today, Thursday, December 21, under the direction of Wendy Martz, Registered Nurse in Acute Care. Santa will be Don Coster.

A Mexican pinata, filled with candy, will take center stage Friday, December 22, along with visits from students from Grosse Pointe North High School.

Mrs. Whitelaw adds that teacher-therapists Candy Macciomei and Phyllis Bergmann have co-ordinated all activities for the festivities in Pediatrics, including a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Ross Schultz Christmas Day.

They will take the part of Santa and Mrs. Claus and distribute the gifts given to the children by their parents.

Also helping to spread Christmas cheer and make the Christmas season away from home less traumatic for the children will be the Southeastern Michigan Amateur Radio Association. It will locate two "Santas" somewhere in the hospital.

The children will be able to speak to Santa by "radio" and tell him what they want for Christmas.

Saint John's Fontbonne Auxiliary has been busy making hand puppets for the pediatric patients. Under the direction of Lee Ann McCarthy, this has been a big project and a very successful one.

"The committee welcomes any donations of materials or suitable decorations," continues Mrs. Whitelaw, "that could be used in making the puppets, which are shared with three other hospitals.

"Anyone who has a donation of appropriate items should call the Fontbonne Auxiliary office at Extension 545."

The younger patients, the newborns, will be dressed in very large, red booties for their first trip home during the week of December 18.

"They are literally overwhelmed by these booties, and they look very festive," says Pepper.

"The volunteer staff at the hospital works many long hours to prepare special items and seeks to make the patient as happy as possible at the one time of the year when everyone wants to be at home.

"We appreciate their efforts," continues Mrs. Whitelaw, "and are aware of all the work they do."

A group that has assisted with festivities is Parents Without Partners. At their Christmas party held recently, the price of admission was a gift for a patient at Saint John.

Christmas services are scheduled in Saint Edward's Chapel for the patients, staff and community. Masses will be celebrated Sunday, Christmas Eve Day, December 24, at 4 o'clock, and Christmas morning at 7:30 o'clock. There will be no midnight mass.

Both of the masses will be televised on closed circuit television throughout the hospital. Those patients who are able will be taken to the chapel.

There will be no change in the visiting hours at the hospital, which are 4 to 8 o'clock daily.

Norma MacDonald, coordinator for Christmas festivities at Bon Secours Hospital, also cites the many groups and organizations that are donating their time and efforts to make the patients more comfortable during the holiday season.

"Girl Scout Troup 1197," says Norma, "has been making Christmas tray favors which the patients enjoy. The Grosse Pointe Garden Club also has been making favors, but they are for the 56 trays for 'Meals for the Homebound,' which involves many senior citizens."

Christmas carolers have been much in evidence and heard 'round the hospital.

"We appreciate the groups," continues Norma,

Saint Sophia's Church, Los Angeles, Calif., was the setting Saturday, December 2, for the wedding of Anne Ross O'Leary and George Philip Williams.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Marshall O'Leary, of Cadieux road, and the late Howard Emmet O'Leary. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Williams, of Ridgmont road.

The bride wore an eggshell satin gown and carried yellow roses. The newlyweds will make their home in Fullerton, Calif.

"The committee welcomes any donations of materials or suitable decorations," continues Mrs. Whitelaw, "that could be used in making the puppets, which are shared with three other hospitals.

"Anyone who has a donation of appropriate items should call the Fontbonne Auxiliary office at Extension 545."

The younger patients, the newborns, will be dressed in very large, red booties for their first trip home during the week of December 18.

"They are literally overwhelmed by these booties, and they look very festive," says Pepper.

"The volunteer staff at the hospital works many long hours to prepare special items and seeks to make the patient as happy as possible at the one time of the year when everyone wants to be at home.

"We appreciate their efforts," continues Mrs. Whitelaw, "and are aware of all the work they do."

A group that has assisted with festivities is Parents Without Partners. At their Christmas party held recently, the price of admission was a gift for a patient at Saint John.

Christmas services are scheduled in Saint Edward's Chapel for the patients, staff and community. Masses will be celebrated Sunday, Christmas Eve Day, December 24, at 4 o'clock, and Christmas morning at 7:30 o'clock. There will be no midnight mass.

Both of the masses will be televised on closed circuit television throughout the hospital. Those patients who are able will be taken to the chapel.

There will be no change in the visiting hours at the hospital, which are 4 to 8 o'clock daily.

Norma MacDonald, coordinator for Christmas festivities at Bon Secours Hospital, also cites the many groups and organizations that are donating their time and efforts to make the patients more comfortable during the holiday season.

"Girl Scout Troup 1197," says Norma, "has been making Christmas tray favors which the patients enjoy. The Grosse Pointe Garden Club also has been making favors, but they are for the 56 trays for 'Meals for the Homebound,' which involves many senior citizens."

Christmas carolers have been much in evidence and heard 'round the hospital.

"We appreciate the groups," continues Norma, which have included the Kris Kringle Carolers, the Christian Family Singers and the Grosse Pointe Jaycees."

Ms. MacDonald adds that Santa will be visiting the hospital during the season, spreading good cheer.

Decorations, including a 30 foot tree in the outdoor atrium and a big tree in the lobby, have added to the festivities.

Special menus have been planned for the patients, plus special dinners for those employees who have to work Christmas Day.

"In the chapel," continues Norma, "there will be a Christmas Eve morning mass, December 24, at 10 o'clock, and regular Saturday and Sunday masses at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

"Protestant services are Tuesday and Thursday of each week at 4:15 o'clock. The patients and their families and staff members are invited to attend all the services."

Visiting hours, which vary throughout the hospital, will remain the same as other times of the year.

Christmas preparations at Cottage Hospital are in full swing according to Madge Lawson, Cottage's public relations director.

Seven caroling groups, consisting of from eight to 25 people, will be touring the hospital at different times throughout the month," she reported.

They include the Saint James Lutheran Church Group, Ray Taylor, the Grosse Pointe Jaycees, Chris Van Note, Saint Edmund's Church, the Kris Kringle Carolers and a group with Sharon De Fabio.

The Cottage Hospital Auxiliary has decorated the hospital with the assistance of committee chairman Charles Collins and Mrs. Peggy Noble. Individual departments also are decorating their own areas.

The Sunshine Guild of the auxiliary, under the direction of committee chairman Mrs. Eileen Hunt, have made holiday favors that will decorate the trays of the patients for the noon meal on Christmas Day and New Year's Day, when special menus will be featured.

Patients may make arrangements to have a guest eat with them these two days.

Visiting hours at Cottage Hospital Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve and New Year's Day, will be noon to 8 o'clock. Otherwise, regular visiting hours are 4 to 8 o'clock.

Employees at the hospital will be provided a special holiday meal by the hospital while working either Christmas Eve or New Year's Day.

All the hospital staffs greatly appreciate the efforts of all those who are making the holiday season as comfortable as possible for those unable to be home.

Kanzler Room Returns to DIA

The delicate craftsmanship, elegant fabrics and precious decorative objects characteristic of French 17th and 18th century courts and wealthy homes are displayed in eight re-installed galleries, now part of the museum's permanent collection, in the Ford Wing of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The re-installations of French decorative arts include the 18th century drawing room known as the Kanzler Room, named for benefactors Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kanzler and the fund established by the late Josephine and Ernest Kanzler.

This luxurious drawing room with Louis XV period paneling from a chateau near Amiens, France, has been re-finished in muted green with white accents.

On the Rococo-style, variegated gray marble fireplace stands a neo-classical ormolu (a process of gold plating on bronze or brass), clock by Parisian watchmaker Jean-Baptiste-Francois Cronier.

French doors are draped in apricot silk, with all the room's colors combined in silk tassel fringe.

Among the extraordinary furniture in the Kanzler Room is a large bombe commode, (chest of drawers), veneered in Brazilian kingwood and rosewood inlaid with geometric marquetry. Elaborate bronze drawer pulls and decorations accent

At a small, family ceremony Saturday, November 4, in Aspen Chapel, Aspen, Colo., BARBARA JEAN CLABO, daughter of the John Earl Clabos, of Grand Junction, Colo., was married to CARTER SALES, III, son of Mrs. Edmund G. Jacoby, of Charlevoix avenue, and the late Carter Sales, Jr.

Miss Clabo Bride of Carter Sales, III

They Vacation in San Francisco And The Hawaiian Islands Following Rites in Early November; Are at Home in Denver

Aspen Chapel, Aspen, Colo., was the setting for the small, family ceremony at which Carter Sales, III, son of Mrs. Edmund G. Jacoby, of Charlevoix avenue, and the late Carter Sales, Jr., claimed Barbara Jean Clabo as his bride.

The late morning rites Saturday, November 4, were followed by a reception at Aspen's Pomegranate Inn.

The newlyweds vacationed in San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands, and have returned to Denver, Colo., to make their home.

For the 11:30 o'clock service at which The Reverend Gregory Anderson officiated, the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Clabo, of Grand Junction, Colo., chose a formal gown of candlelight jersey.

Alencon lace formed the Victorian neckline and yoke of her molded bodice. Her long, tapered sleeves ended in lace cuffs, and scalloped, matching lace trimmed her controlled, A-line skirt and chapel train.

Her elbow length, illusion veil fell from a crown of ivory silk flowers.

She carried a nosegay of minuet roses, stephanotis and baby's-breath, with trailing ivy, a family prayerbook and a white linen handkerchief, edged in lace.

In floor length frocks of dusty rose jersey, sheer, scalloped capes covering their shoulders, were Mrs. Robert Chastain, of Minneapolis, Minn., honor matron for her sister, Mrs. John B. Clabo, of Tulsa, Okla., and

Mary Rinkel, of Denver. Each carried a single, dusty pink rose and cream minuet rose, with green ivy. They wore matching, dusty rose silk flowers in their hair.

Flower girls were Barbara Carol and Carrie Clabo, nieces of the bride.

Best man was Jon Somes.

Guests were seated by John and Gary Clabo, brothers of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a calf length dress of dusty blue silk jersey. Pink Sweetheart roses formed her corsage. Mrs. Jacoby wore a suit of soft, oatmeal wool and pinned yellow Sweetheart roses to her purse.

the piece. Designed for comfort as well as elegance is a Regency style bergere, (arm chair), well-padded and proportioned to accommodate the wide skirts of the period. The upholstered chair back features wings to protect the sitter from drafts. Its exposed, carved walnut frame is decorated with shell and leaf motifs.

Other chairs are well-cushioned, whether styled

with open or upholstered arms.

In keeping with the craftsmanship of the furnishings, decorative objects such as Chinese, (K'ang Hsi period), porcelain vases are mounted on French ormolu bases.

In galleries flanking the Kanzler Room are silver-gilt and gold goblets, urns, sculptures and decorative objects, displayed in specially designed cases.

Depicting mythological subjects are a group of Gobelin and Beauvais tapestries of wool and silk shot with gold and silver threads. They adorn the area's entrance gallery, which opens into the Dodge Music Room.

The Music Room's contents, a 1970 bequest of Anna Thomson Dodge from her Grosse Pointe Farms home, Rose Terrace, include a huge Aubusson rug in tones of rose, blue and cream which is complemented by the peach and rose walls of the gallery, a Beauvais tapestry woven from a cartoon by Boucher, more than 40 pieces of Sevres porcelain, 18 large pieces of furniture and 12 seating pieces, plus clocks, torcheres, terracotta sculptures by Clodion and paintings by Fragonard.

Many of the pieces were purchased in the 1930's by Mrs. Dodge from the former Imperial collections of Russia sold through Joseph Duveen by the Russian government.

Adjacent galleries feature a variety of French metalcraft, porcelain, sculpture and paintings from the museum's 16th through 18th century French collection.

In addition to the Art Institute's extensive collection of French paintings and sculpture, which ranks among

Museum Gets Corporate Aid

Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts corporate campaign chairman Charles R. Montgomery has announced a record figure representing pledges and contributions by Detroit business leaders exceeding by more than $200,000 the goal of $180,000 set last May.

Mr. Montgomery recently presented a check facsimile for the amount of the pledge, and more, to Mrs. Alan E. Schwartz, secretary of the Founders Society board of trustees.

The chairman said the funds represent a significant commitment on the part of the business community, reflecting an awareness of the cultural needs of the area during this period of growth.

During the campaign local businesses loaned executives who, in turn, called on other companies requesting new or increased contributions to the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts. The art institute now numbers some 375 corporate supporters.

the finest outside of Europe, a number of works are on long-term loan from the Cooper Hewitt Museum in New York City and the National Museum of History and Technology in Washington, D.C., from both Smithsonian Institutions and from anonymous European and American collections.

The installation was organized by the Department of European Art under the supervision of curator Dr. Dewey F. Mosby and assistant curator Alan P. Darr.

It was supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts and the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kanzler, of Lakeshore road, and his parents, Josephine Kanzler was the sister of Eleanor Clay (Mrs. Edsel B.) Ford.

The eight-gallery wing is on permanent exhibition and is open free to the public during regular museum hours: Tuesday through Sunday, 9:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Christmas Is Festive at Pointe's Hospitals

By Ann Wallace

"How can we help you?" is the question often asked at area hospitals during the holiday season.

This holiday spirit — wanting to give of oneself — is greatly appreciated by hospital personnel.

Pepper Whitelaw, public relations director at Saint John Hospital, notes while listing the many activities planned through the month of December for patients, that all groups have been very generous in their efforts to make the holiday season, usually a very lonely time for the patients, as comfortable and enjoyable as possible.

"It is impossible to mention all the clubs and organizations wanting to help," explains Mrs. Whitelaw, "but they all have been so anxious to be of service.

"Consider the number of choirs that have performed here. Among them have been choirs from Grosse Pointe North High School, Gesu Church, fourth and fifth graders from the Grosse Pointe Academy and the Girls and Boys Choir from Saint Bartholomew Church."

Carolers will tour all the hospital wards Friday, December 22, and sing all the favorite Christmas carols.

The choirs, their activities co-ordinated by Virginia Douglas, director of volunteers at the hospital, have performed in Saint Edward's Chapel at Saint John, with their concerts appearing on closed circuit television throughout the hospital.

Patients able to attend the concerts in the chapel are brought there by the staff. The patients also are brought to the chapel for Christmas services.

A special Cheer Group, under the direction of Mrs. Rosemary Scheid, has made special Christmas food tray favors, enhancing the special holiday menu planned for the patients by the hospital.

The nurses on staff at Saint John also are helping add cheer for the patients by decorating their stations on the hospital floors.

"Mrs. Florence Pilson, a Registered Nurse in the clinic," continues Pepper, "is helping this Christmas season, as she has done in past years, by collecting gifts that can be given to the young, and not-so-young, patients who come into the clinic."

"She says that anything, except food items, is welcome. One should call the hospital, 881-8200, Extension 281, for more information or to donate a gift."

As one might imagine, the Pediatrics Department will have many activities for the children, including a Santa Luncheon today, Thursday, December 21, under the direction of Wendy Martz, Registered Nurse in Acute Care. Santa will be Don Coster.

A Mexican pinata, filled with candy, will take center stage Friday, December 22, along with visits from students from Grosse Pointe North High School.

Mrs. Whitelaw adds that teacher-therapists Sandy Maccione and Phyllis Bergmann have co-ordinated all activities for the festivities in Pediatrics, including a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Hoss Schultz Christmas Day.

They will take the part of Santa and Mrs. Claus and distribute the gifts given to the children by their parents.

Also helping to spread Christmas cheer and make the Christmas season away from home less traumatic for the children will be the Southeastern Michigan Amateur Radio Association. It will locate two "Santas" somewhere in the hospital.

The children will be able to speak to Santa by "radio" and tell him what they want for Christmas.

Saint John's Fontbonne Auxiliary has been busy making hand puppets for the pediatric patients. Under the direction of Lee Ann McCarthy, this has been a big project and a very successful one.

"The committee welcomes any donations of materials or suitable decorations," continues Mrs. Whitelaw, "that could be used in making the puppets, which are shared with three other hospitals."

"Anyone who has a donation of appropriate items should call the Fontbonne Auxiliary office at Extension 545."

The engagement of MICHAEL MAZZEI and Michael Fillingier was announced at a dinner party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Mazzei, of Webber place.

The bride elect, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumna, is completing studies at Ferris State College for a Bachelor of Science degree in Public Administration. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta.

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fillingier, of Ann Arbor, is working toward a Bachelor's degree in Manufacturing Engineering at Ferris State College.

Betrothed Rites Are Read In California

Saint Sophia's Church, Los Angeles, Calif., was the setting Saturday, December 2, for the wedding of Anne Ross O'Leary and George Philip Williams.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Marshall O'Leary, of Cadieux road, and the late Howard Emmet O'Leary. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Williams, of Ridgemont road.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Peter Velasco and Stanley Soulmotes, the bridegroom's brother-in-law.

The bride wore an eggshell satin gown and carried yellow roses. The newlyweds will make their home in Fullerton, Calif.

Set Lawyers' Wives Outing

Reservations for Grosse Pointe Lawyers' Wives first meeting of the New Year, a Thursday, January 18, excursion to the Detroit Institute of Arts, must be in by Sunday, December 31.

Luncheon will be served promptly at noon. A guided tour of the museum's most recent acquisitions is scheduled from 1 until 2 o'clock. The program is open to members, prospective members and guests. Billie Deason, 885-5507, may be contacted for further information and reservations.

Holiday Safety Tip for Kids

Following the recent death of a nine-year-old boy who accidentally inhaled a toy rubber rivet into his lung, the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan has repeated its warning about the dangers of making small, hard objects available to pre-school children. Inhalation of foreign objects is the most common cause of accidental death for children under six in the home. It is also the most preventable, according to Dr. George Polgar, of the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan.

Pearls And Lace Accent English Tulle Gown in Which She Is Wed to Thomas Witter Ballew; Hillcrest Is Reception Setting

Sterling Heights will be home for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Witter Ballew, who vacationed on St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands following their wedding Saturday, November 25, in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church.

Father Hector Saulino presided at the 5:30 o'clock rites which were followed by a reception at Hillcrest Country Club.

The bride, the former Beverly GERALYN GULA, daughter of the Edward Gulas, of Willison road, wore an A-line gown of ivory English tulle accented with pearls and Belgian lace appliques. A pearl-studded Juliet cap caught her long, lace and pearl-trimmed mantilla. Ivory ostrich feathers circled her cascade of white silk rosebuds.

Colonial arrangements of ivory pampas feathers, baby's-breath and ivory rosebuds, with seamist floral accents, were carried by Lillian M. Gula, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Patricia Steyer, Cindi Di-Cicco, Rita Udo and Lee Allen.

They wore long, Empire frocks, seamist in color, with chiffon shawls. Mr. Ballew, son of William W. Ballew, of Elford court, and the late Mrs. Ballew, asked John Gravel, of Mount Clemens, to act as best man.

In the usher corps were Gary Gula, the bride's brother, a Western Michigan University student, Rick and Patrick Ballew, the bridegroom's brothers, and Mark Schroeder.

Mrs. Gula chose a floor-length dress and jacket ensemble of beige jersey and a wrist corsage of white roses for her daughter's wedding.

Hospital of Michigan and chairman of the Lung Association's Child Lung Health committee.

The Christmas Seal organization has mounted a nationwide campaign to protect young children from this danger, which is enhanced during the holiday season as candies, nuts and a host of other small objects and toys are tempting to toddlers.

The object goes in the mouth — but sometimes it "goes down the wrong way."

Death can come from choking, sometimes cutting off the breath in the trachea, (windpipe). Other times the objects are inhaled deeper into the lung, where they can cause long-term damage. Scientists call this "aspiration."

PIANO TUNING
 Member Piano Tech Guild
 L. MARION 372-3778

Organic and inorganic objects cause different problems when they land in the lung.

Organic objects, such as bits of food, generally cause more damage. Tiny pieces of crisp bacon, apple peel, carrots, raisins and hand candies bring inflammation at the site if they lodge in the lung.

Inflamed tissues may encourage infection which is difficult to diagnose and treat.

Peanuts are a particular hazard. They contain vegetable oil, and any kind of oil in the lung elicits a virulent chemical reaction.

Small buttons, beads, pins or toy parts are common inorganic objects that can be aspirated. Sharp objects are dangerous because tender lung tissue is easily cut or penetrated.

If the object does not interfere with the child's breathing it can still land in the lung and cause trouble, maybe months or years later.

Sometimes inhaled objects, whether organic or inorganic, require surgery for removal.

No matter how young, children should be taught to chew food well, swallow carefully and not to run or play with food in their mouths. They should be warned that only food should be placed in the mouth.

Peanuts, popcorn and similar foods should be withheld until children are three years of age or older, when they should have better control of swallowing.

For more information on this subject the public is encouraged to ask for the free pamphlet "Keep Your Child From Choking," available from the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, 28 West Adams, Detroit, Michigan 48226, 961-1697.

Grosse Pointe Bluebirds, Adventurers and Discovery Club Camp Fire Girls have been busy this autumn, engaged in a variety of projects and activities, and hope to welcome new recruits in the new year.

Joan Armbruster, of Bedford road, and her group went camping and planned a Halloween party for a group of Bluebirds in their area.

Linda Brickner, of Grayton road, and her girls cooked foil dinners at a Fire Circle Cookout, studied safety and fire building skills, went on a three-mile hike and attended a Detroit Youththeatre production of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer."

Glenda Bobolts, of Balfour road, and her special group of blind children did a four-week flag study and had a songfest. Glenda's regular group began a paper making project and went camping.

Marti Miller, of Woods lane, took her girls camping. Marti's group also hosted an orientation for Camp Fire Girls at the Detroit Historical Museum.

The groups' common denominator is access to Camp Wathana, near Holly, which is now available to groups not affiliated with Camp Fire any weekend there's an opening. Brochures and further information may be obtained from the Camp Fire office, 833-2670.

Fire Is Xmas Tree Hazard

Although electrical lights have replaced candles on the Christmas tree there is still fire potential, says a Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service safety specialist.

Dr. Richard G. Pfister, from the university's Agricultural Engineering Department, suggests that tree trimmers thoroughly check strings of lights before decorating a tree.

"Some of the things to look for are damaged sockets, loose prongs in the plug, exposed wires and loose bulbs," he notes, adding that after a safety check the lights should be plugged in for 10 to 15 minutes.

Do this on a non-flammable surface and watch for smoking or melting," he advises.

The smaller the lights, the cooler they will be, Pfister explains. For that reason, tree decorators might want to use the miniature lights as long as they carry the UL approval label.

"For the most energy efficiency, miniature lights that blink rate high," he says.

Bride's Young Cousins Serve As Altar Boys And Flower Girls at Evening Rites in Early October

Don Warner gave the readings at the marriage of his sister, Pamela Ann Warner, and William George Betzing Friday evening, October 6, in Saint Martin de Porres Church, Warren.

Father John Hall presided at the 7 o'clock rites. Joseph Jones and Russell Lee, cousins of the bride, were altar boys.

After a reception at the German-American Cultural Center the newlyweds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin A. Warner, of Lake drive, St. Clair Shores, and son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Betzing, of Torrey road, left to vacation in New England. They are at home in Sterling Heights.

Italian lace trimmed the sculptured neckline of the bride's white Qiana gown. Matching lace accented her sleeves and full train and formed the headpiece holding her short, illusion veil.

She carried an arrangement of stephanotis and white, miniature roses, with English ivy.

Pat Warner, honor maid for her sister, wore a long, cowl-necked dress of Nile green Qiana. Dressed identically in emerald green Qiana were bridesmaids Mrs. David DeHaan, the bridegroom's sister, and Debbie Higgins, and flower girls

Renae Lee and Janet Jones, cousins of the bride.

They carried nosegays of can-can roses and mums, in fall shades.

James Stitzel was best man. Mr. DeHaan and David Warner, brother of the bride, ushered.

The bride's mother wore a full length gown of peacock blue chiffon. Yellow Sweetheart roses formed her wrist corsage.

The bridegroom's mother selected coral chiffon, also full length, and a corsage of coral Sweetheart roses.

MINNER'S BAGLEY

"Try to keep the bulb surface away from contact with needles. If the light sockets have clips, use them to keep the lamp away from needle contact as a further precaution against making the needles tinder dry."

To avoid knocking the tree over when plugging in lights, Pfister suggests that an extension cord be used to reach a more accessible outlet.

He also cautions against plugging too many strings of lights together. "Three strings should be the maximum," he says.

For metallic trees use lighting off the tree, the specialist advises, because most can transmit electrical shock if the insulation is faulty.

"Christmas trees can be tempting to young children and animals. Placing a tree on an elevated surface may help guard against its being accidentally pulled down," Pfister concludes.

MAUD Stars At Museum

The Exploratory Moon Probe Lunacycle MAUD, (Manually Activated Universal Deviator), headlines special exhibits at the Detroit Historical Museum this Christmas season.

Although a whimsical creation of English artist Rowland Emmett, the Lunacycle is of imposing dimensions: eight feet, six inches long; six feet wide; nearly seven feet, six inches high.

It includes many fanciful "scientific" features such as whirring gizmos and triple bicycle pumps to stir up oxygen, plus its own pilot, Professor Leo Capricorn, accompanied by his personal Astrocat!

Youngsters Do Eat Breakfast

Two Michigan State University researchers have discovered that, contrary to popular belief, the nation's children are eating breakfast — and a nutritious one.

Mary E. Zabik, professor, and Karen J. Morgan, assistant professor in MSU's Department of Food Science and Human Nutrition, obtained food intake information from approximately 650 children ages five to 12, in 48 states.

Parents recorded their children's food consumption for all meals and snacks during the third week of September, 1977.

Out of the group, selected to represent the United States' population makeup, the researchers found that only 1.5 percent of respondents were nonbreakfast eaters.

Those children eating breakfast were divided into eaters of either pre-sweetened or non-presweetened cereal, both types of cereal or non-cereal breakfasts most of the time.

More than 50 percent of those eating breakfast were in the cereal eaters' categories.

In general, the children sampled were consuming approximately 430 calories at breakfast out of a 2,322 average total day caloric intake.

The breakfast eaters were found to be receiving adequate nutrition from the foods consumed, with high concentrations of vitamin C, B-12, magnesium and protein.

Nutrients found less frequently in breakfasts were vitamin D, often obtained from sunshine, and folic acid, a nutrient that is often not measured in commercially packaged food.

Children eating cereal for breakfast were found to consume less fat and cholesterol than the non-cereal breakfast eaters, who would be more likely to eat foods like bacon and eggs.

The non-cereal group averaged more sodium and magnesium intake at breakfast. The research team looked at the sugar intake at breakfast and found it was basically the same for all groups. And during the entire day the amount of sugar consumed varied little among the sample.

Similarly, when the contribution of snacks to the day's food intake was examined the food scientists found very little difference between nutrient intakes of the cereal eaters and the non-cereal eaters.

Morgan and Zabik attribute the high nutrient consumption by young breakfast eaters in part to the popularity of nutrient supplemented cereals.

Good News!

David Miller To Claim Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert D. Federer, of Jackson, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Frances, to David K. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Miller, of Washington road. A late July wedding is planned.

The bride-elect is completing her senior year at Albion College, where she is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta.

Her fiancé, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Albion, is in his first year at Washington and Lee Law School, Lexington, Va. His fraternity is Delta Tau Delta.

National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C., the piece was purchased by the Taubman Company of Troy for display in its shopping centers.

The Lunacycle last appeared in the Detroit area in late April of this year. It will be on display at the Historical Museum until January 3.

Along with the Lunacycle, the museum is offering a potpourri of seasonal favorites. On the balcony a working model train is available for young and old conductors and three of the museum's best dollhouses have been added to the Detroit House exhibit in Dodge Hall.

Part of the doll collection of museum staff member Patience Nauta is displayed in the Collectors Corner. The final Christmas touch is an exhibit of recently-acquired historic Christmas tree ornaments in Kresge Hall.

The Detroit Historical Museum, located at Woodward and Kirby in the Cultural Center, is open Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9:30 to 5 o'clock, Wednesday from 1 to 9 and Sunday from 1 to 5 o'clock.

Open House Held at Casgrain Hall

League of Catholic Women Entertains at Traditional Holiday Party; Marilyn Lundy Cites Reason for Fund Drive

The 45 members who serve on the board of the League of Catholic Women of Detroit entertained Wednesday, December 13, from 12:30 to 2 o'clock at the league's annual Christmas Open House at Casgrain Hall.

Honored guests were the residents and staff of the hall, the eight-story league headquarters and low-cost residence for 120 single men and women of limited means, of all ages, colors and creeds, as well as board members and staff from the league's four other social service agencies plus other special friends.

Casgrain Hall, in Parsons street, is the focus of the league's current, limited direct mail fund appeal.

"Unlike the other social service agencies operated by the league, Casgrain Hall does not receive government funding," explains Marilyn (Mrs. C. Bradford, Jr.) Lundy, of Ballantyne road, "not because it is not meeting a vital need, but because it does not meet certain government guidelines and does not restrict its residents to the elderly."

Trio Named To DSO Board

Detroit Symphony Orchestra board president Robert B. Semple, of Beacon Hill, appointed three new board members at a recent DSO board meeting.

They are Robert Kanzler, of Lakeshore road, Edith Quintana, of New York, daughter of longtime DSO sponsor Mrs. Wesson Seymour, of East Jefferson avenue, and Richard Vining, of Bloomfield Hills.

Casa Maria, a community center in the Tigertown area, provides recreation, counseling, crafts, tutorial and pre-school programs. Project Transition is a total rehabilitation program for women offenders. TASC is an employment training program.

Help Open New Ohio Theater

University Liggett School (ULS), faculty members Jerry Ellsworth and Eric Linder attended Paul Newman's production of "C. C. Pyle and The Bunion Derby" marking the opening of Kenyon College's new $3 million theater in Gambier, O., last weekend.

Both teachers are graduates of the college.

Mr. Newman, a 1949 graduate of Kenyon, directed the debut of the Michael Cristofor play as a gift to the school. "C. C. Pyle and The Bunion Derby" is Mr. Cristofor's first work since his "Shadow Box" won a Pulitzer Prize.

Mr. Ellsworth, who teaches social studies and drama at the ULS Middle School, was invited back to Kenyon as a former head of the college's drama club.

During the opening ceremonies last week he performed with the Kenyon Impromptu Players.

Dental Aides Spread Word

The North and South High School Dental Aides classes, under the supervision of Jeanne Bocci, made visits to each fourth grade classroom in the school system last week to demonstrate proper oral hygiene and nutrition.

The Grosse Pointe Health Education Council provided every fourth grade student with a "Crest Kit" containing a soft bristle toothbrush, a small tube of toothpaste and two disclosing tablets to help the children concentrate on those areas that are not receiving enough attention from their toothbrush.

The Dental Aide students demonstrated the correct procedure for brushing teeth, proper dental flossing technique and discussed proper diet and nutrition.

The Dental Aides is a vocational class which combines learning and on-the-job skills.

TED AND KATIE KOLP VISIT THE SANTA HAUS

By Janet Mueller

Once upon a time there was a boy, Ted, and a girl, Katie. They lived with their parents, Karen and Jim Kolp, in Kerby road, and went to Kerby School where Ted, 10, was in the fifth grade and Katie was in the first.

In the summers, they went swimming at the Farms pier. In the winters, their father built a snow hill in their backyard for sledding (Ted and Katie loved that), and their neighbors made an ice skating rink.

If you asked Katie what season of the year she liked best, she would always say, "winter!" (Unless it was summer — when you're six, it's the present that counts).

But this once upon a time was wintertime, so Katie liked winter best. Why? "Because it's more fun. It has more sports." Like what? "Like sledding, ice skating, catching snowflakes . . ."

Not to mention Christmas. Ted was pretty big on winter, too. Not to mention Christmas.

A New Experience

One day, a few weeks before this Christmas, Ted and Katie went to the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club to visit the Santa Haus. It was a first time visit for, although the Santa Haus had been at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club last year, Ted and Katie hadn't gone.

But they knew about it. It's the sort of thing all the kids know about.

The Santa Haus is a project of the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center. It's a "happening" for kids: a trip through Santa's workshop conducted by Mrs. Claus, a visit with Saint Nick, a treat to eat, a story, a movie, a chance to go behind the curtains into a Children's Only Shop and find presents for mommy and daddy.

It opens early in December, weekdays for groups by reservation, weekends for everybody. This year, a group of blind children were the first through. Another group came in wheelchairs. And the Santa Haus embraced them all, for it's an experience for all children.

There are things to touch, taste, hear and see. Admission is $1, with all proceeds going to the Northeast Guidance Center, the community mental health agency. This week, (the Santa Haus' final week), it's open to everybody weekdays evenings, from 5 until 8 o'clock, until tomorrow, Friday, December 22.

It Closes Tomorrow

Tomorrow, at 8, it closes for good, (until next year). There are only a few days left until Christmas; Santa has to fly back to the North Pole to see that everything's ready for the Big Trip Sunday night. He's delighted, however, to have been here and to have had this chance to get to know all his little friends in Grosse Pointe.

Friends like Ted and Katie, who wandered through the Santa Haus Christmas Fantasy of Sugar Plums — and had a ball.

For one thing, things moved! There was a snow lady whose head turned first to one side, then to the other, and a reindeer who was shining one of Santa's boots.

Another reindeer was ironing Santa's pants. "Look!" said Katie. "She's ironing so hard she's wearing a hole in them!" (Sure enough, she was).

In one room, a Christmas kitchen, in front of a blazing fire, Mrs. Claus was in the midst of making Christmas cookies.

What a Transition

Turn a corner and Ted and Katie were "outdoors" in a winter wonderland of snow and ice and frosty sparkles.

And there were trees and wreaths and lights and so many toys! Dolls, and a super dollhouse and a great big takes about a half-hour because my dad takes pictures.

"Then we go to church. Then we play until around 4:30, when we go to my grandmother's for dinner. Everybody brings something. We usually bring pop and salad. We have to bring a lot of pop, because I have a whole bunch of cousins; some of my cousins are big like uncles.

"One of my uncles—last year, it was my dad—dresses up like Santa Claus. We have to stand in line to eat, because there's so many people. Everybody serves themselves.

"We get home around 9 or 10 o'clock and go to bed." Sounds like a mighty good day.

They Go Shopping

On their way out of the Santa Haus, Ted and Katie stopped at the Children's Only Shop. All the kids do.

Their mother gave them each a dollar and they disappeared.

A half-hour later Karen Kolp had exhausted the possibilities of the adult boutique, (very good possibilities and a good idea for waiting mothers, but enough is enough), so she called through the Children's Only curtains, "Aren't you ready yet?"

"In a minute."
"What's taking you so long?"
"I still, (Ted's voice), have 40 cents left."
"Well, save it!"

End of Shopping
And Ted did, (his mother

Pointers KRISTEN and LISA MARCO recently met Detroit Tigers pitching star MARK FIDRYCH, a meeting made possible when their mother, MARIE MARCO, was high bidder for it at the Channel 58 Auction this past April.

ROY BARTLETT, of Holiday road, received a Certificate in Auto Service following completion of requirements during the summer session at Ferris State College.

Among 330 high school graduates awarded Western Michigan University academic scholarships for enrollment this fall semester was MARY ROZELLE, of Oxford road.

day Her committee includes Mrs. Couger, Mrs. Reed C. Zens, Mrs. Oswald Bostic, Mrs. Florence Hanson, Mrs. Henry Kurtz, Mrs. Theodore Rykala and Mrs. Bernard Young.

It would be nice to contact one of them if you're coming.

Brooke Is Making News

Academy of the Sacred Heart, Grosse Pointe, alumna Brooke Janis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Janis, of Handy road, is a field researcher for CBS' "Sixty Minutes." She works directly for newsmen Dan Rather.

Brooke has been in and out of Michigan recently, checking on the mainstreaming of handicapped children in regular classrooms.

It's a project she conceived herself, reasoning that mainstreaming is a national concern worthy of being broadcast.

She's been on the story since summer, interviewing and filming teachers, students and parents. The show will be aired sometime this winter.

Pat's A Busy Lady

Who is the typical Girl Scout volunteer? Actually, there's no such person . . . the Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit roster of more than 5,000 adult volunteers includes homemakers, college students, businessmen, career women and senior citizens.

They come from a variety of backgrounds and have diverse interests. But they all have one thing in common: they enjoy helping and working with young people.

Consider the case of Pat (Mrs. Arthur) Spindler, Jr., of Touraine road, wife, mother, career woman AND volunteer.

Pat has three children, ages 12, 14 and 16. She's employed full time in a public contact position as a Guest Service Hostess at the Detroit Plaza Hotel in RenCen.

She is an active volunteer with the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center.

And she's somehow found time to accept the newly-created volunteer job of fund raising chairwoman for the Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit.

Pat's responsible for the coordination of all GSMD fund raising projects, including the cookie and calendar sales and financial assistance for camperships.

She also serves on the GSMD board of directors. Prior to her current commitments, she served seven years as a Girl Scout troop leader and troop organizer.

A remarkable lady, you say? Rather, a "typical" Girl Scout volunteer.

Pat IS one of the special GSMD volunteers who has accepted a very large, council-wide job . . . but there are many other volunteer positions with the Girl Scouts for adults who are able to spare only a few hours each week.

Men as well as women can share their special skills or interests. Individuals experienced in finances or management may be able to serve as troop committee members.

It's something to think about for the New Year. The GSMD Council office, 964-4475, has information on numerous volunteer opportunities. The council would love to hear from you.

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS to Pat and Brooke and Pauline and all the people who make our Grosse Pointe the interesting, interested community it is.

Karen can't see it until Christmas, but Katie absolutely had to show somebody. I know what it is. I'm not telling.

Once upon a time a boy, Ted, and a girl, Katie, had a lovely time at a lovely place called the Santa Haus. It was, they agreed, neat like most things about Christmas.

Once upon a time a boy, Ted, and a girl, Katie, thought Christmas was as much fun as there was. And they were right.
