FOLLOWING AN UNPRECEDENTED 28-hour marathon debate the Israeli Knesset, (parliament), approved the first peace treaty ever between Israel and Egypt. It was the last major hurdle to the actual treaty signing in Washington, scheduled for Monday, March 26. Jubilation over the prospects of a treaty signing were dimmed somewhat by a dispute as to whether Israel will return East Jerusalem to Arab control. The final vote on treaty approval was 95-18, with seven members not voting.

A LIMITED HEALTH PLAN covering only catastrophic illnesses will be presented to Congress this year, the Carter administration announced. The plan, which wouldn't take effect until 1983, is expected to cost from $10 to $15 billion to establish. The limited nature of the health care plan drew harsh criticism from organized labor and Sen. Edward Kennedy, longtime backers of a comprehensive health care system. Mr. Kennedy said he will propose his own health care legislation to Congress.

CONSUMER PRICES ROSE 1.2 percent in February, the worst monthly inflation rate in four and a half years. The rate represents a compounded annual rate of 15.4 percent, more than double the Carter administration's goal of 7.4 percent. Local price rises were even higher than the national average, soaring 1.8 percent last month. Food, housing and energy costs led the increases, though prices rose across the board.

Sunday, March 25

THE MICHIGAN STATE SPARTANS, led by Earvin "Magic" Johnson and Gregory Kelsey, destroyed Pennsylvania in the NCAA semifinals, 101-67. They met Indiana State in the finals on Monday night, following Indiana's 76-74 victory over DePaul. Johnson scored 29, got 10 rebounds and came up with 10 assists, while Kelsey got 28 points and nine rebounds.

Monday, March 26

ISRAELI PRIME MINISTER MENACHEM BEGIN called for the immediate opening of the Israeli-Egyptian border following the formal signing of the peace treaty scheduled for today in Washington. Meanwhile, Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan said there shouldn't be a signing until differences over the sale and distribution of Sinai oil are worked out. In other news, President Jimmy Carter called for the establishment by Congress of a sunset law to eliminate federal programs which don't get Congressional approval each decade.

Tuesday, March 27

ISRAEL AND EGYPT signed a treaty of peace Monday in the soft afternoon sunshine of the north lawn of the White House, ending over 30 years of war. "Peace has come... Let us now lay aside war," said President Jimmy Carter, who signed the treaty as a formal witness. "Let us now enjoy the adventure of becoming fully human—neighbors, even brothers and sisters." In other news, Michigan State defeated Indiana State, 75-64, to take the NCAA basketball title. Earvin "Magic" Johnson led the way with 24 points, while Gregory Kelsey added 19. Indiana State's All-American Larry Bird was held to 19 points by MSU's tight zone defense.

Popular Conneys 'Doggin' It' Again

SINE, Barnes Elementary School chairman PATRICIA GIFTOS and Principal JACK MCMAHON, who prepared for suppers at their schools. More than 750 Coney Islands furnished by Woods resident James Giftos were served at the Brownell function which raised $1,200. Mr. Giftos also supplied the Barnes School supper earlier this month and will help out at Monteith's supper, on Thursday, April 5, at 5:30 p.m.

GPW Cites Concerns Over Budget

Flow of Revenues, Particularly in Relation to State, Main Point of Alarm

By Roger A. Waha
Some concern was expressed by Woods officials over what might be the status of the budget at the end of the 1978-79 fiscal year when the council viewed the monthly financial report through February at its regular meeting Monday, March 19.

A main concern cited by City Administrator Chester E. Petersen was in relation to the possibility that the state may not pay the city all of its anticipated state shared revenues "in order to balance its shortfalls."

As a result of the discussion, the council unanimously approved a motion requesting Mr. Petersen to prepare an overall analysis of the situation, including any potential alternatives the city might take for the solons' consideration at their first meeting next month, (Monday, April 2).

Bringing in Line
"All of the state shared revenues is the big concern," said Mr. Petersen, in eyeing such funds as gas tax monies (Continued on Page 2)

GPW Council to Take Next Step on Cable TV Question

By Roger A. Waha
With the passage of the advisory question on cable television at The Woods' special election on Tuesday, March 20, the council is now scheduled to explore this subject further.

Voters approved the question by a margin of 1,125 to 716. It asked should the council proceed with an investigation and possible authorization of a cable television franchise which would provide for the installation of a cable network, at no cost to the city, and a voluntary subscription fee to the individual user?

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen said last week the next step would be to see if the council desires further

Woods Approves Sewage Disposal Rate Increase; Other GP's Eye Question

GPW Reports Progress Made on Splitting Water, Sewage Costs on Bills; Officials Also Consider Changing Billing Period to Monthly Or Bi-Monthly Cycle

A sewage disposal rate increase which becomes effective June 1 was unanimously approved by the Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, March 19. The community becomes the first Pointe to approve a hike which stems from the Environmental Protection Agency, (EPA), suit against Detroit, whose system serves over 70 suburbs, two years ago.

The Woods was recently notified by the Wayne County Board of Public Works, operator of the Northeast District System, of a rate increase for sewage disposal services by 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for sewage disposal and 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for excess flow, i.e., water developing from rain and snow above the amount received through the water lines.

As a result, City Comptroller-Assessor Frederick G. Hornfisher recommended to the council that the $1 increase be passed on to residents changing the present rate of $9.90 per 1,000 cubic feet to $10.90.

Differentiating Cost
"This change would reflect a net increase of $1 per 1,000 cubic feet of sewer consumption, increasing the minimum bill, (1,500 cubic feet), from $14.85 to $16.35 for a three-month bill or a 50-cent per month increase," he stated.

School Filing Date Is Near

The final date for filing petitions to run for the Board of Education in the annual June 11 election is Monday, April 9.

In June, two board seats will be filled. Incumbents William Huettelman and Robert Warner have indicated they do not plan to run for re-election.

Petitions must be signed by 35 registered Grosse Pointe voters. So far, no one has filed petitions, according to Director of Business Affairs Larry Rankens.

Only three potential candidates have picked up the forms at Mr. Rankens' office, located at 389 St. Clair avenue.

Fund Drive For Addition Continues

Neighborhood Club Officials Seek Support from Community As Construction Work Nears Start

By Susan McDonald
Construction of a senior citizen addition to the Neighborhood Club is scheduled to begin within weeks—just in time to boost community support of a fund drive to raise the remaining $100,000 needed to finance the project.

So far, the club has received about $13,000 from about 250 residents for the building fund since the drive was launched last month with a mailing to 8,000 Grosse Pointe homes.

The project has already received support from the prestigious Kresge Foundation, which awarded a $75,000 challenge grant, and the McGregor Foundation, which allocated $25,000 to the project. Another $25,000 came from Grosse Pointe's Rotary Club, which noted that the building addition would do much to help senior citizens in the Pointe area.

On Getting Involved
About $400,000 has been raised through such large gifts. Club officials hope to receive the remaining $100,000 through small gifts from Pointe families.

"We've still got a long way to go with the fund raising," noted Joan Hanpeter, chairman of the Neighborhood Club fund raising committee.

"So many of the public buildings out here—such as the War Memorial and library—have been given to the community by one or two families. This is a chance for the whole community to get involved in a building," she explained.

Mrs. Hanpeter added that the club will dip into its small reserve to get construction started in the first part of April. "The sooner we start, the more money we can save on construction costs," she explained.

Council Hears Plans for New Medical Office Building, Which Involves Several Actions Including Relocation of Standard Station to Site of Sunoco Block Away

By David Kramer
Plans for a new medical office building to be built On-the-Hill were revealed by a Farms investment company at the Farms Council's Tuesday, March 20, meeting.

The proposal, calling for a 50,000 square-foot building, also involves the relocation of the Standard On-the-Hill service station to the site of the old Sunoco station down the block; the purchase and demolition of the two remaining homes on the corner of Muir road and Kercheval avenue; and the city's abandonment or lease of the alleyway adjacent to the existing Standard station.

The firm planning the development, known as the 81 Investment Company, located at 81 Kercheval, currently owns the property formerly occupied by Sunoco and has been negotiating with Amoco Oil Company and Tom Pitlock, proprietor of the Standard station, for the transfer of properties.

Gives Its Support
The investment company also has acquired options to purchase 151 and 153 Muir road, said Peter V. Bologna of the firm.

Mr. Bologna said he hoped to begin construction of the office building by September, although the council made it clear that a number of conditions would first have to be met while indicating its support for the general idea.

As planned, it would be located on land stretching from Muir south to the current site of Charlie Pappas' restaurant.

Because of the current shortage of parking in the Hill area, the go-ahead for the project will be dependent upon the erection of a parking structure proposed by Richard C. Rich and Associates.

Rich has submitted a proposal to The Farms calling for a deck to be built if the (Continued on Page 4)

Correction

In last week's issue of the NFWs, in regard to the story of the Pointes seeking changes in the Michigan EMT Laws, it was reported that William Dahling, who was present at the meeting in The Woods, was a member of the staff of State Rep. William R. Bryant Jr.

Mr. Dahling, an attorney, is on the staff of State Sen. John Kelly.

There also is a correction in the spelling of another member of the senator's staff, attorney Michael Hatty, whose last name was incorrectly spelled Hatti.

Eight NIS Students Hurt After Basketball Game

By David Kramer and Susan McDonald
Apologies flowed from basketball powerhouse Highland Park High last week following an assault on a number of North High School students after a state tournament game in which North upset the school on its home court.

Eight North students reported injuries to school officials following the game on Friday, March 16. Two had cracked ribs and one required stitches to close a wound on his head.

All the students were back in school the following week. School and athletic officials agreed the incident was caused by a very small group, and that the majority made many overtures to apologize (Continued on Page 6)

POP Hears 'Harassing' Accusation

Council Under Pressure to Keep Out of All Federal Financing Proposals

By Susan McDonald
The Park Council delayed action on two controversial federal programs after a tedious, four-hour meeting Monday, March 26, that often seemed to run out of its control.

In fact, the council tabled or deferred votes on almost all of the items on the agenda Monday night as the officials were peppered with questions and critical remarks from a few regular council watchers and members of POP, (Proud Of The Park), who are pressuring the council to drop out of all federal programs.

Two programs were scheduled for a vote but action on both was delayed until a later meeting. The first, called the 312 Rehabilitation program, would allow Park businessmen to borrow money from the department of Housing and Urban Development, (HUD), to bring their buildings up to city code.

Limited Role
The loans would be directly transferred from HUD to the businessmen through Advance Mortgage Co. without city involvement, according to City Manager John Crawford. The Park's role in the program is limited to assisting businessmen with the applications and making inspections, he said.

Councilman George Verdonck, who operates a business in The Park, said he would disqualify himself from voting on the 312 plan because of a conflict of interest.

Although he has spoken in favor of the 312 program in the past, Mr. Verdonck urged his fellow councilmen to delay action Monday so they could thoroughly investigate any "strings" that may be attached by HUD.

"This is urban renewal, you know," Mr. Verdonck said. Mr. Verdonck's stand won approval from several members of the audience who had raised questions about a possible HUD takeover of property in case of default on a loan.

Body of SCS Woman Found

The body of a 73-year-old St. Clair Shores woman, who had been the subject of a search since her disappearance last December, was found on Wednesday afternoon, March 21, in a canal between Clairwood and Dorcenus streets by some children.

St. Clair Shores Police Sgt. William Hannah said the half submerged body of Freda Hoover of North Shore drive was discovered, fully clothed, encased in some ice around a half mile from her home.

The sergeant stated the youngsters, who were playing in the area, saw the body earlier that day. The first time they thought it was some object and the second time they believed it was a mannequin. But upon a closer inspection, the children found it was actually a body.

Mrs. Hoover was last seen walking along Lakeshore road near Provençal during the afternoon of December 2. She was observed walking toward Grosse Pointe Shores by a friend, Rose Channell of Briarcliff place, who was in a car. When she didn't return home that evening, her husband, David, 60, reported her missing.

Police surmise that Mrs. Hoover fell into a waterway in the immediate area. Mrs. Channell said she talked with Mr. Hoover on Thursday, March 22, indicating that he's doing pretty well under the circumstances and was thankful it was all over.

Wins Honor

The Grosse Pointe Jaycees presented their 1978 Distinguished Service Award, (DSA), to JON AUSTIN, 31, director of senior citizens activities at the Neighborhood Club, at their annual banquet Wednesday, March 21, at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

Mr. Austin of Nottingham road became the ninth recipient of the honor given for outstanding service to the community. The award is always presented to a young man, between 18 and 36, who either lives or works in the Grosse Pointe community.

He was nominated for the award by Carl Schoessel, the 1977 DSA recipient. In the nomination submitted to the Senior Selection Committee, Mr. Schoessel noted several accomplishments made by Mr. Austin in his position as director of senior activities at the club.

"A Real Asset"
Among these were the development of a monthly newsletter for senior adults, increasing participation in adult recreational activities and providing seniors with opportunities to utilize their skills and talents.

Currently, Mr. Austin is in the process of forming an association of senior adult learners from the Northeast Recreation and Parks Association to promote senior programs.

Mr. Schoessel also labeled Mr. Austin as "a dynamic young man working to meet important needs in this community."

Mr. Austin wasn't the only Neighborhood Club official delighted over the award. John Bruce, club director, said, "I'm very pleased for (Continued on Page 6)

Pair of Programs Tabled in Park

(Continued from Page 1) agreed to postpone the vote and to invite a 312 program administrator to speak at a public meeting.

Lashes Out
Julian Shoreck, a retired Park businessman and former president of the Kercheval Businessmen's Association, said he was disappointed that the council succumbed to what he called "continuous harassment from the POP organization" by shelving the 312 program.

"I think any positive steps the council can take in the Kercheval area are better than none at all," Mr. Shoreck explained. "I commend the council for its progressive attitude toward these problems."

Councilman Douglas Graham also became obviously weary of criticism from the audience Monday after a lengthy presentation by Daniel Schaitberger in which he accused the council of "misleading the public" and violating the open meetings act.

The councilman lashed out at Mr. Schaitberger. "What you're doing here is creating fear by presenting half-truths," Mr. Graham said. "You continuously make statements that imply we've done things dishonestly or without thought. I resent it."

A Focal Point

The other federal program scheduled to be considered was the controversial Demonstration House. On that, the council delayed action because of the late hour.

The council has proposed using Community Development Block Grant funds to finance the renovation of a Demonstration House in Lakepointe avenue.

Once it is completed, the house would serve as the focal point for a home renovation effort throughout the western part of The Park, according to city officials.

The POP organization has spoken out strongly against the program and is expected to try to prevent its approval by the council.

Resident Hits GP City's Current Docking System

By Susan McDonald

The ice is beginning to break up on Lake St. Clair and the boating season is near. It's time for The City's oldest controversy to rise up: just who deserves a slip in the city's cheap, convenient marina?

The system used to allot dock space in The City, as well as The Farms, is straight seniority, according to city officials. Once a citizen has a space, it's his for life.

But with the energy crisis looming again, and space harder than ever to find, the youngsters in The Pointe are beginning to stir.

Robert Youk of Notre Dame avenue appeared before the City Council Monday, March 19, to express his complaints about the present system. Mr. Youk, owner of a 28-foot motor boat, has been on The City's waiting list for three years, and he's getting impatient. He told the council that he feels the seniority policy is unfair because it "discriminates" against young homeowners in The City. Younger residents "also are paying taxes and would like to use the public marinas," Mr. Youk said.

"Older residents participate in a greater percentage of the city's resources than can the younger residents who are paying the same taxes," he continued.

The City Council turned down Mr. Youk's request for a "bumping system" that would insure that boat wells are offered to new residents each year. To take his point even further, Mr. Youk said he will consider mounting a petition drive.

Mr. Youk said he feels there is a great deal of support among young City residents to overturn the "seniority system" which extends benefits primarily to older residents.

He said he would prefer a "bumping system" similar to The Park's where a new resident can remain on the waiting list for 24 months before they bump out a well occupant with the highest seniority.

"I pay $800 a season for a boat well that I could get in The City for a little over $200," Mr. Youk explained. "Under this seniority system we're subsidizing older boat owners."

"I'd like to see the whole question put on the ballot during the next election. This policy seems to leave a lot of room for hankey pankey. The whole thing sounds fishy to me," Mr. Youk said.

Mr. Youk said he is consulting with city attorneys to determine the proper procedure for placing the "seniority system" on the ballot. The controversy has arisen several times in past years, and continues to be a problem in other communities, such as The Woods, where a bumping system already exists.

Farms Rejects Schools' Offer

The Farms Council turned down an offer to purchase the building known as the Old Kerby School, located adjacent to city offices, as council members felt the asking price was too high.

At its Tuesday, March 20, meeting, the council was offered by letter from Dr. William Coats, superintendent of schools, the sale of the old structure for $120,000. The figure was based on an appraisal, which the schools had done by Richard E. Borland.

In his letter, Dr. Coats said he wished to give The Farms a chance to purchase the property before placing it on the open market.

The building, however, is zoned community service, which makes it usable only for school, church, community and cultural center or hospital uses, without a zoning change.

City Manager Andrew Bremer has indicated the only possible use the city would have for the property is additional parking, which would necessitate demolition of the structure, presently used for storage and maintenance.

Mr. Borland's appraisal did not include the cost of demolition.

Concerns over Budget Cited

Other concerns which he cited include violation fines, which are falling short of anticipated revenues by an estimated $30,000 at this time, along with the inclusion of around $20,000 in inspection fees via a property maintenance code in the 1978-79 budget. However, at this stage, the code remains under study by the Planning Commission and it's anticipated it will be adopted in the near future.

While the revenue side is causing some alarm, Mr. Petersen told the council, in viewing expenditures, that by astute budgeting during the last four months of the fiscal year it's anticipated that most of the operating expenses will be brought in line.

In looking at the total picture,

Mr. Petersen said his main concern is in relation to the totals of each department and divisions of government, rather than any isolated area, e.g., elections under the city clerk classification, which is currently over budget.

Up And Over
Through the February report, the annual budget for elections, placed at $14,766, reaches $22,681.17 — for a total of $7,915.17 over budget.

This figure doesn't even include costs for the Tuesday, March 20, special election which incorporates the time of many employees and printing and postage costs. According to preliminary computations, this election cost an estimated $2,000 to $3,000.

But, at this point, Mr. Petersen is mainly concerned with how revenues will fare as the end of the fiscal year approaches and the potential flexibility, (or lack of), to make inter-departmental transfers.

GPW Officials Review Proposed Subdivision

By Roger A. Waha
The consideration of the final plat for the Grosse Pointe Greens Subdivision, located at the northeast corner of Vernier road and Morningside drive, transpired at the regular meeting of the Woods Council on Monday, March 19. As proposed, the subdivision from Hillard J. Green of Stanhope road would contain nine lots for homes on 1.93 acres of land, along with a cul-de-sac. Some members of the council had some questions they wished answered on the proposal so a motion to refer this matter to Building Inspector Earl Wakely for follow-up and a report back to the solons was unanimously approved. The council particularly wanted Mr. Wakely to check and see if the configuration of homes as planned meet all necessary zoning restrictions. At the same time, both Councilman George Cueter and E. D. Grady expressed some concern over the number of lots on less than two acres of property. Mr. Cueter felt such a proposal would cause problems in the future, particularly in relation to potential congestion factors regarding the nine homes, plus autos. While the proposal was believed to have fallen under ordinance requirements, Mr. Grady said it seemed "like an impractical use of the land." City Administrator Chester E. Petersen reminded the council that it approved a motion last July authorizing the developer and the city engineer to proceed to forward the design data of water and sewer mains to the Michigan Department of Health, the Wayne County Water and Sewage Authority and the City of Detroit. Meanwhile, City Attorney George Catlin reported the council had approved the preliminary plat for the nine lots, while eyeing the looping of water mains, and that the subdivider has gone forward with further detailed drawings. Saying it was now ready for council approval, he advised it would be improper to refer this proposal in relation to all the lots back to the Planning Commission if the plat meets the minimum requirements of the ordinance. Mayor Benjamin W. Pinkos questioned if one lot met all the specifications required in viewing necessary restrictions and wanted this aspect explored further. As a result, the motion was ultimately made to make certain the plan meets all requirements.

Center Drive Needs $60,000

The War Memorial's 1979 Annual Family Participation Campaign needs $60,000 to reach its goal of $155,000. While comparisons between last year's drive figures and this year's on a day-to-day basis show 1978 receipts $14,000 and 700 family donors behind 1978, this does not take into consideration that this year's drive started a month ahead of last year, officials point out. But on a date-to-date basis the 1979 campaign is well ahead of 1978. The target date to reach the goal necessary to operate the War Memorial from August 1, 1979, through July 31, 1980, is the same as it has always been — Memorial Day. With follow-up letters already mailed and many Pointers returning from their winter homes and vacations, John Rickel, campaign chairman, is confident that tax deductible gifts will continue to be received in quantity daily. To act as reminders, telephone calls will be made by Memorial Center staff and volunteers after Easter. While inflation is running close to nine percent, the Center's appeal for funds to assist with operating costs has risen three percent. No tax monies are used by the Memorial which year after year manages to be three-quarters self-supporting. It is hoped all citizens will help to contribute the remaining one-quarter by giving to whatever extent they can and feel the Center merits, officials add.

CHINA TRADE EXISTS

There is already U.S. trade with China. Exports to the People's Republic in 1978 included 2.26 million tons of wheat, 1.26 million tons of corn, 57,000 tons of soybean oil and 550,000 bales of cotton.

GPW Approves Dues for MML

The Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, March 19, approved payment of its membership dues to the Michigan Municipal League (MML), for the period from April 1, 1979, through March 31, 1980. Some officials expressed concern over the increase over last year but the motion of approval was unanimous. This year's fee was $3,222, while last year's was $2,746.

Hill Development

(Continued from Page 1) firm determines the project feasible. The feasibility study should begin soon, after lawyers for the city and Rich reach final terms on the agreement.

Mr. Bologna told the council he has already begun selecting an architect for the building.

To Remodel Station "If we are to break ground in 1979, which we are still hopeful of doing, we would beseech the council to act with some alacrity on this question," he said, adding that "financial arrangements could be adversely affected" if construction doesn't begin this season.

He said it was hoped to have the building ready for occupancy by September 1980.

Rich, however, has said work on the parking deck would not begin until March 1980.

Meanwhile, Mike Haddad, an attorney representing Amoco Oil, told council members that the transfer of service station properties is "a fairly simple proposition," and could be completed shortly.

Plans call for the remodeling of the old Sunoco station to the appearance of a Standard station. Changes include a brick facade, a mansard roof and new signage. A new row of pumps would be built for self-serve use, and one of the stalls would be modified for use as a car wash.

The council, which was asked to abandon the alley adjacent to the Standard station, took no action on the matter pending review by the city attorney of the commitments involved between 81 Investment and Amoco.

City Manager Andrew Bremer, who was absent from the meeting, suggested to the council "the possibility of leasing the alley instead. Mr. Bologna indicated that alternative would be acceptable to him.

Remaining to be worked out between 81 Investment and Cottage Hospital is an alternate access to the present municipal lot. The Farms for years has been proceeding with a plan to re-route access from the municipal lot to Muir road, with a right turn only toward Kercheval.

Cottage Hospital and The Farms entered into an agreement several years ago for the acquisition of the homes on the south side of Muir road. Since then Cottage has acquired several of the lots, and has options to purchase several more.

Under the agreement, The Farms will institute condemnation proceedings against those properties Cottage is unable to acquire.

Prior to the parking deck proposal, plans called for utilizing most of the acquired land for additional parking, putting a curve in Muir road near Ridge so it would not meet the stretch of Muir between Ridge and Charlevoix.

Need Cooperation The parking deck, however, would likely alter plans as less space would be needed for stacked parking.

Due to the closeness of the office proposal to the parking structure offer, Mr. Bremer said the Rich proposal wasn't solicited by the city. Stressing the jigsaw puzzle nature of the Hill picture, Mr. Bremer noted the need for cooperation between the hospital, city and developers.

"If one of the aspects of these plans falls apart, the whole thing falls apart," he said.

LWV Pamphlet Now Available

Copies are now available at the three public libraries and at all city municipal buildings in the Pointes.

The publication lists national, state, county and local officials for the Grosse Pointes. Included are sections on how to communicate with public officials, plus voting information on how to register, how to vote absentee and a 1979 election calendar for the Pointes.

Fund Drive

She's quick to emphasize that the building addition—although billed as a senior citizens' center—also will benefit other age groups using the club.

"The addition will open up a great deal of room for the other groups as well as the elderly," Mr. Hooper explained. "The club is being used every day and every night of the week. We really need the extra space for a number of programs."

Main Concentration She said the club plans to concentrate its fund raising effort on the 6,500 people who patronize the self-supporting club each year for sports, recreation, clubs, crafts and a variety of other programs.

The Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo avenue, is 68-years-old, making it one of the oldest, community-wide organizations in the Pointe.

It began in 1911 in a rented house in Rivard boulevard and throughout the years served as a depression-era welfare center, Civil Defense office and USO headquarters, while continuing to provide social and recreational programs to residents.

The one-story addition will include a large multi-purpose room, small meeting areas and a kitchen facility geared to the needs of senior citizens in the area.

Club directors decided to gear the addition to seniors after conducting an extensive survey of the area which indicated that more than 18 percent of The Pointe population is 60 years or older, and that there are about 11,000 seniors in the area.

Park Recipient of Law Library

By James J. Njaim
The Park Council on Monday, March 12, acknowledged receipt of more than 400 law books donated to the city by Mrs. Patricia Potter, widow of John L. Potter, The Park's first municipal judge, or justice of the peace, when the city was still a village.

The collection of books is one of the most comprehensive, some dating back to 1841, up to the time Judge Potter died on January 20. Having been Park residents for many years before moving to Detroit, Mrs. Potter thought it would be appropriate to present her husband's law library to the city that had been their home for so many years.

Mayor Matthew C. Patterson, with the approval of the council, authorized that a letter be sent to Mrs. Potter, thanking her for the generous gift.

The only remark the mayor had to make was where the city was going to find enough shelves to place the tomes, and where the shelves should be located.

Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel will inspect and go through the volumes to determine which would be more appropriate in application to the updated interpretation to today's laws.

It is believed that the earlier books, which contain decisions made by the U.S. and Michigan Supreme Courts will be retained, as will the books pertaining to current laws. It also is possible that books not kept will be donated to the school system to be used for students interested in studying pre-law.

In other business, the council accepted with regret the resignation of Oswald W. Ziedler from the board of review and appointed Diamond Phillips of East Jefferson avenue to fill the unexpired term ending December 31, 1980.

The council also approved the reappointment of Gilbert T. Walkus of Three Mile drive to another three-year

GPW Protests Hauler's Fee

New statute requirements in relation to the Solid Waste Management Act, which changes to some degree the licensing of refuse transporting units, was considered by the Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, March 19.

The requirements, which became effective this January 11, include a hauler license fee of $20 per unit which irked some officials.

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen informed the council, prior to the new requirements, rubbish vehicles hauling, for instance, limbs and leaves were licensed by the state but no fee was attached.

With the requirements, he felt the spirit of the Headlee Tax Limitation amendment was violated regarding state mandated cost provisions. (In relation to Headlee, what constitutes a state mandated cost, i.e., one which is passed on by the state to a local unit, still remains unclear on the interpretation front.)

The council approved the payment of the fee under protest, while seeking a legal opinion from the attorney general's office on the fee in relation to Headlee.

WON'T WORK
A jury is about the only thing known to man that won't work properly after it has been fixed.

term on the board. The term will run to December 31, 1981.

In other business, the council agreed to purchase around 4,000 gallons of methoxycel at a cost of $5.22 a gallon from the Michelin Chemical Company for the spraying of private-owned elm trees.

It also was pointed out spraying will depend on the weather. If the weather permits, dormant spraying will be applied full strength, but if spraying cannot be done because of bad weather and foliage appears, then the chemical will have to be diluted. This would entail using less of the chemical.

At Monday night's meeting, the council also approved an appropriation of $1,000, which had already been budgeted, to help carry on the program of the Babe Ruth League of Grosse Pointe Park, Incorporated.

By a majority vote, the council approved the transfer of an SDD-SDM license from the Village Wine Shop, Incorporated, to Richard Esse and William Solomon, and the transfer of a Class C license at 15410-12 Mack avenue from Charles H. LeFevre to Dennis T. Brown.

Woods Okays New Carpeting

The bid of Sherwin Williams in the amount of $6,863 for new carpeting at The Woods Municipal Building was unanimously accepted by the council at a recent regular meeting.

Two lower bids in the amounts of $5,720 and $5,927 were rejected because they didn't meet specifications outlined by the municipality.

City Administrator Chester E. Petersen told the council that the entire administration building and the council room and foyer would be carpeted toward cutting down on maintenance costs.

Moneys for the project will come from the municipal improvement fund.

Mr. Ritter said the team was completely uninvolved in the incident, and security was well provided for them.

Austin Wins DSA Honor

Jon. In the short time he has been in the community, he has been a real asset."

Stating Mr. Austin is tremendously sensitive to the area, Mr. Bruce felt Mr. Austin has contributed greatly to the community.

He joined the club staff three years ago as recreation program director, handling all male adult and male youth programs. About two years ago, Mr. Austin began part-time work in the area of senior citizens activities before becoming full-time seniors director.

Serves in Vietnam

In this respect, Mr. Bruce felt the "major undertaking" of Mr. Austin's career at the club was far in the senior adult newsletter.

After receiving his Bachelor of Science degree in business administration from Lake Superior State in 1970, Mr. Austin, after active duty in Vietnam, received his Masters in recreation administration from Central Michigan University in 1976.

He was in the ROTC program while at Lake Superior State and served in the U.S. Army for around five years. Mr. Austin served one year in Vietnam and was head of a helicopter unit, while receiving 11 commendations. He also achieved the rank of captain.

The banquet, which was attended by about 40 members of the Jaycees and their guests, also was center stage for John Chouinard, current chapter president, who made his "State of The Chapter Address" which has become traditional prior to the presentation of the award.

Mr. Chouinard cited major accomplishments by the chapter over the past year and called for strong community support in the upcoming "Jelly Week" sale to raise funds for the mentally retarded.

Wally Helin, past president of the Jaycees and DSA chairman, made the award presentation.

Police to Lecture School Kids on Lurking Dangers

The Michigan Fraternal Order of Police, with the cooperation of local lodges, will begin its annual campaign of warning young children not to accept rides or to go with strangers. The slogan, as in the past years, will be "Kids, Don't Go With Strangers."

The campaign will start Tuesday, April 10, with lectures presented in elementary schools in every community in the state. After the lectures, youngsters will be given a coloring booklet for themselves and a car bumper sticker for their parents, with the legend, "Fraternal Order of Police Says 'Kids Don't Go With Strangers.'"

Park Cpl. William Furtaw, supervisor of the Park School Safety program, said that the reason the annual lecture is given is because children tend to forget and should be constantly reminded of the dangers involved when, and if they are enticed by strangers.

He said all of the Pointe police departments will cooperate in the program. The purpose of the coloring book is to impress on the youngsters' mind the everpresent danger of deviates who prey on small children.

"Of course, we do not mind giving lectures because this is part of the work we do," the corporal said, "but the burden should not rest directly on the police. Parents should constantly warn their children about what could happen by going with someone they do not know. Parents should make a special effort to find out where their children are at all times."

The booklets to be passed out to the school youngsters will contain messages in rhyme such as "Remember Kids that a friendly stranger could turn out to be a terrible danger," or "He may seem like a friend and know your name, but if your folks don't know him, he is a stranger just the same." Then there's "Never go for a ride in an automobile when there is a stranger behind the wheel."

After hearing the lectures, children should talk over what they have learned with their parents, who in turn should ask questions to make sure the kids know what was talked about so that warnings will be firmly etched in the children's minds, Cpl. Furtaw added.

Orchestras Set For Big Concert

Grosse Pointe Public Schools will again present the "Orchestras in Review" concert on Tuesday, April 3, in the North High School Gymnasium, 707 Vernier road, at 8 p.m.

The concert will include performances by the outstanding orchestras of North and South High Schools and Parcels, Brownell and Pierce Middle Schools, and will feature a massed orchestra of some 211 students under the direction of Gabriel Villaurda.

Mr. Villaurda has been an orchestra director in the public schools of Ann Arbor for 12 years. In 1976 Mr. Villaurda was cited "String Teacher of the Year" by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association and in 1977 he was declared "Teacher of the Year" by the Michigan Chapter of the American String Teachers Association.

The massed orchestra, under Mr. Villaurda's direction, will perform selections from Handel's "Water Music," Offenbach's "Ballet Parisien" and "Great Gate of Kiev" by Grieg.

Tickets for the concert are available at the door. The admission price is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

wanted to let North know that the school doesn't condone such activity.

North's athletic director Thomas Gauerke said the incident "probably could have happened anywhere," and that he's not sure who was responsible for not providing enough security in the parking lot: the school or city police.

"We think it was a very unfortunate situation," he said. "The administration at Highland Park had done an outstanding job of providing security inside the building. I'm certain some parents had second thoughts about allowing their children to go to the Mackenzie game," he said, but estimated there were more in attendance at the Mackenzie than the Highland Park game.

"We had assurances from both the U-D and Detroit Police that there would be adequate security — and there was," he continued, noting there wasn't a single reported incident at that contest.

Two school-sponsored buses were taken to the Mackenzie game, he said. In previous games, a single charter bus had to be canceled for lack of interest.

Mr. Feighner and Mr. Gauerke hope the school will never get into such a situation again in playoffs, with Mr. Feighner saying he thought it was a mistake to hold a playoff game on one of the contenders' home courts.

"No, I would not go back to Highland Park if we were playing a championship game against them on their home court," the principal said.

But Mr. Gauerke pointed out that the playoffs are a function of the state athletic association which chooses the sites for the games. The school thus has no choice in the matter.

Mr. Feighner, who said he had noted his concern for the lack of police presence after the game to Highland Park police, felt kids from North High "aren't used to this kind of treatment."

"I think our kids understand that it wasn't the majority of Highland Park kids taking part in this, but I don't think that did anything about their fear that it will happen again," Mr. Feighner said.

But coach Ritter doesn't feel the incident had much of an effect on his team, in general or specifically, at the Mackenzie contest.

"I don't think there was an intimidation factor, he said. "We've played a lot of black teams this year."

March Is Red Cross Month

President Jimmy Carter, honorary chairman of the American Red Cross, has proclaimed March as Red Cross Month. March has traditionally been set aside to recognize the organization's responsiveness to human needs.

In the proclamation, dated February 1, the President said, "Since its founding in 1861, the American Red Cross has had one basic purpose: the concern for others in distress."

Throughout Southeastern Michigan, the Red Cross is involved in assisting in disaster relief, participating in community service programs, providing instruction about health and safety procedures and serving members of the armed forces, veterans and their families through financial assistance, counseling and emergency communications.

In addition, the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of Red Cross is the sole supplier of blood in a five-county area including Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and St. Clair.

"Red Cross volunteers may be found each day performing compassionate, personal tasks to aid the elderly, the handicapped and the homebound," Mr. Carter said. "Young people develop leadership skills as they assist in Red Cross programs in their schools and communities."

March is a good time to discover how your time and talents can help Red Cross serve the residents of Michigan and to find out how Red Cross can serve you, officials say.

Concert Funds Scholarships

Twelve students performed a benefit concert for the University Liggett School, (ULS). Music Camp Scholarship program on Sunday, March 11.

The classical program included music for violin, cello, flute and piano by Beethoven, Massenet, Bizet, Mozart, Chopin, Viotti, Godard and Lalo.

Among the performers at the afternoon concert were Upper School students Frank Corliss, Sylvia Davis, Andreas Drath, Charles Gagliardi, Curtis Doty and Roger Wu. Middle School students who performed were David Wu, Hadley Fink, Suzy Carly, Susan Parkinson, Stacey Ritchie and Jeff Sweet.

Mrs. Clyde E. Wu, mother of Roger and David, who is a pianist, performed the Mozart "Sonata in C Major, K. 296" with David.

Many of the student performers in Sunday's concert have benefited in past summers from programs at music camps such as the National Music Camp at Interlochen and the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp.

The ULS music department has established a scholarship fund to help send to music camp promising students who otherwise might not be able to attend. The concert benefited this fund.

Friends of ULS who would like to make contributions to this fund may make their checks payable to University Liggett School.

Bryant Named To GOP Panel

House Republican Leader William R. Bryant Jr., (R.—Grosse Pointe Farms), has been named to a committee of high ranking Republicans who will examine the organization and program priorities for the Michigan GOP.

Rep. Bryant is one of 31 people serving at the request of Republican State Chairman Mel Larsen. U. S. Congressman Dave Stockman, from Michigan's Fourth District, heads the blue ribbon committee, which will advise Mr. Larsen on party goals and operations during the next two years.

"Selection of the new executive director is one of the most important tasks on hand," Rep. Bryant said. "and I'm pleased to be a part of the process."

He explained that several sub-committees, including an executive search sub-committee, will make recommendations to the full committee for final action.

"We will actually be the policy-making body and our strength lies in the fact that we represent diverse areas and divergent philosophies," Rep. Bryant said.

Law Governing Businesses In Woods Under Study

An ordinance amending the city code and governing the number and types of businesses in The Woods was unanimously referred back to the Planning Commission for its review by the council at its regular meeting Monday, March 19.

In his motion of referral, Councilman E. D. Grady cited several stipulations of the commission to explore based upon the council's discussion, with all revolving around a clarification of establishments selling or serving alcoholic beverages.

This proposal was approved for a first reading by the council on February 26 after the Planning Commission at its January meeting approved several changes in the maximum number of business, commercial, professional and service establishments in the community. A few classifications also were deleted and new ones added.

Councilman John Sabol felt parts of the ordinance were misleading in relation to the total number of permitted businesses. No bars or lounges were specifically listed, he said, only a sub-classification of restaurants serving alcoholic beverages.

He indicated the latter should be spelled out, i.e., showing which is more bar or lounge oriented with minimal food service and which emphasizes the serving of meals rather than alcoholic beverages.

Mr. Sabol also stated the maximum numbers of establishments should not be exceeded and if one type of business goes beyond a specific number, its representative should appeal to the council for a variance.

He added, in the past, when maximum numbers were exceeded, the ordinance was brought up to meet the newly established total per classification by the administration. (It was said this was permissible under the law before but such an approach wouldn't be with the new proposal.)

For his part, Councilman George Cueter raised a "what if" question in relation to overall control, using as an example a drug store proprietor, who may be suffering profit-wise, deciding to sell his stock and just keep package liquor for sale — thus turning the business into a party store.

Saying, in such an example, that the city cannot take away his livelihood, Mr. Cueter felt the measure should contain some teeth in this respect as the proposal only permits a maximum of two beer, wine, liquor and party stores.

If such a situation ever occurred, it was noted, the proprietor would have to appear before the council to request another occupancy, i.e., a party store.

However, the related but main focus was the need to have a clarification in certain classifications in relation to alcoholic beverages.

Eight drug stores are permitted under the proposal and the council wanted to know how many have SDM (permitting the package sale of beer and wine for consumption off the premises), and SDD licenses, (permitting the package sale of spirits for consumption off the premises), and those which have neither.

Based on Mr. Sabol's expression of concern, another stipulation in the motion views a similar division between restaurants and bars on the serving of alcoholic beverages.

Finally, a breakdown of food establishments in the community which sell, or don't sell, alcoholic beverages, also was requested.

In a final note, City Attorney George Catlin cited a potential conflict regarding maximum numbers in relation to carry out licenses issued by the Liquor Control Commission of which the city has no control.

Through, for example, the license transfer process, a maximum number in a specific category as listed in the proposal could be exceeded with an ensuing conflict revolving around the matter of control.

Mr. Cueter suggested a change in occupancy could be prohibited to prevent any undesirable uses, while Mr. Catlin noted, if there's a change in use, the businessman would have to take out a new certificate or appear before the council. If not, the individual could be prosecuted as being in violation of the ordinance.

ULS Students Explore Music

Several prominent Detroit-area musicians and two mime artists will visit University Liggett School, (ULS), this spring to perform special programs for Lower School students.

The programs are part of a series, arranged by Mildred Avedisian of the Lower School Parents Board, that has included a morning of readings by former Grosse Pointe University School teacher William Harris and a portrait painting demonstration by artist Joe Maniscalco.

In a recent program Alice Ellison and Laurie Lindemulder introduced the Lower School children to the piano duet and how it has been used through the centuries.

Included in their program were compositions from the earliest duet music still extant to experimental duets by contemporary composers, with some amusing musical excursions in the years between.

They met in 1963 while both were faculty members at the Detroit Institute of Musical Art. Since 1970, they have been playing throughout the state as a one piano, four hand ensemble.

They are included in the Roster of Touring Artists for the Michigan Council of the Arts. Both are actively engaged in teaching, and in performing in recital and chamber music programs.

Upcoming programs in the series include a performance by soprano Roma Riddell on Monday, April 9, and an afternoon with the Pastiche Wind Quintet on May 9. Two mime performers will join the quintet to translate the music into dance.

ATTEND CONFAB

Four North High School students, accompanied by science department chairman Gordon Morlan, attended the Junior Science and Humanities Symposium sponsored by Wayne State University in March. The students, Mary Schmid, Richard Taylor, James Mertens and Gregory Prokopowicz, attended presentations by noted scholars from across the country on topics including the "Psychiatric Aspects of Terrorism" and "Science, Technology And The Quality of Life."

GPT Staging Famous Comedy by Oscar Wilde

The Grosse Pointe Theater, (GPT), continues its production of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" Thursday through Sunday, March 29 to April 1, and Wednesday through Saturday, April 4 to 7, in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore road.

Performances are at 8:30, except for Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

The show is a brilliant comedy considered to be the author's masterpiece and facetiously tabbed by him as "a trivial comedy for serious people."

Ciro Vitale of Mount Clemens will be in one of the principal roles as Jack Worthing, a rich and idle country dweller who has invented a city brother named Earnest in order to have excuses for excursions to London when a country life palls.

L. "Aden" Russell of Sunningdale drive will appear as his fiancee who knows him only as Earnest and declares that, since it is his name as well as himself that she is in love with, she couldn't possibly marry him if he had a different name.

In the role of the self-styled Earnest's friend will be Jon Hart of Detroit, who also has a part in the play, a non-existent friend named Bunbury, whose ill-health requires his visits whenever he wants to escape boring invitations.

On one of his Bunburying expeditions, as he calls them, he impersonates the non-existent Earnest to meet a pretty girl, (played by Jane Mary Lucido of Somerset road), who also has longed to know a man named Earnest.

From this trivial situation many of the play's complications develop. Soon both young women think they are engaged to the same man, and both Worthing and his friend are trying to get themselves re-christened Earnest in order to succeed in their romances.

This explains the title of the play, which is highly paradoxical, since nothing serious is involved in the play whatever.

It is famous for being one of the most frothy, artificial and wittily trivial plays in the English language. Each of its disdainful characters is perfectly scornful of anything really earnest or serious—not the least of these being a sharp-witted and shrewd dowager who is played by Carol Purdon of Village Lane. Others in the cast will be Bill Schwedler of St. Clair Shores, Bob McKenna of Nottingham road, Marilyn Wise of Whittier road and Manus Nemeth of Warren. "The Importance of Being Earnest" first set the world laughing in 1895 at its piquant comedy situations and delicate conversational counterpoint.

Its plot of bright nonsense, along which Oscar Wilde strung his most celebrated epigrams, verbal fencing exhibitions, rare puns, satiric thrusts, hilarious wisecracks and gay humor, have kept it one of the favorite comedies of the English-speaking theater ever since.

The play has been revived eight times by top-ranking professional companies on Broadway, (once as a musical comedy called "Oh Earnest"), and even more often produced in London.

Guenn Samuel of Moran road, a theatrical veteran in GPT, is staging her first show as a director. She has worked on every aspect of theater from backstage to acting, the latter most recently in "The Devil's Disciple" as one of the meek aunts.

Over her 10 year association with GPT she has held several board positions, currently treasurer, and has won five Clarence awards for outstanding work in the technical aspects of theater.

The producer of "The Importance of Being Earnest" is Toni Moore of Detroit. Toni is the gal who makes things work. She has been a member of GPT for over 10 years and has won a Clarence for her outstanding job with props.

Stage manager for the show is Al Lombardini of Brys drive. This is his first time at the reigns of running the show backstage.

The technical director, Duncan Erley of Three Mile drive, is making his first appearance in this position.

Other staff positions are handled by Kathleen Grabruck of Outer drive, set design; Chuck Chrisman of Vernier road and David Hertzberg of Detroit, lighting; Mary Anne Gustafson of Detroit, make-up; Diane Peters of Hollywood avenue, sound; Ciro Vitale of Mount Clemens, costumes; Mac Gallagher of Hampton road, props; and Mike Evans of Detroit and Katy Grabruck of Outer drive, set dressing.

For ticket information, call the GPT box office at 881-4004.

FLEC Appoints New Director

Rebecca Johannsen has been appointed executive director of FLEC, (Family Life Education Council, Inc.), according to Joseph M. Beals, MD, president of the east side non-profit charitable and educational organization.

Before assuming her new post at FLEC, Ms. Johannsen was executive director of Planned Parenthood of Northeast Iowa, Inc. She attended the University of Northern Iowa where she was graduated in 1977 with a BA in social work and majors in counseling and juvenile education.

FLEC is located in Brownell Middle School, 280 Chalofonte avenue. It sponsors the Center Point Crisis Center, Dialogue, Medical Clinic for Young Adults, Alcohol Education and Family Life Education programs in the Pointes and Harper Woods.

An active volunteer community worker, Ms. Johannsen makes her home in Pontiac.

Farms Requires Tree Planting

An action by the Farms Council will require any new housing development in the city to place sufficient amounts of money in escrow to provide for planting of trees on city property adjacent to the development.

The action, taken on Tuesday, March 20, came on the recommendation of Director of Public Services John DeFoe, who said he was principally concerned with any potential new subdivisions along Lakeshore road.

The council voted unanimously to amend the city's platting ordinance to include the requirement, leaving open to the determination of the city how much money would be required to be put in escrow, plus what types and what number of trees would be required.

(Continued from Page 1) fisher to make a formal proposal to the council to change the bill to either a monthly or bi-monthly cycle.

Councilman George Cueter suggested that a public hearing should be held on this and Mr. Petersen suggested that before one is scheduled his report should be explored by the solons.

On the advantages of this proposed cycle, Mr. Petersen felt it was easier for citizens to pay their bills on a monthly or bi-monthly basis as against accumulating a larger bill over a three-month period from the budgeting standpoint.

A monthly or bi-monthly system also would increase the city's cash flow from the water and sewer operation and decrease accounts receivable.

However, he noted, a disadvantage to the monthly or bi-monthly proposal would be that residents would have to write more checks, plus additional postage considerations.

There also would be additional labor and equipment costs.

Park Takes Look
At a regular session of the Park Council earlier this month, City Clerk Nunzio Ortesi read a letter to the

Police Charge Pair in Shooting

Park police arrested and charged two adults with malicious destruction of property over $100 and the shooting of a firearm, a felony, when they fired several blasts from a shotgun at a home in Kensington road.

The blasts peppered the house with holes and shattered a storm door window in front of the building, it was revealed by Park Police Chief Henry O. Coonce.

Arrested on Wednesday, March 21, before Park Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel on the charges were Anthony Burnette, 17, of Wayburn road and Michael Fountaine, 18, of Alter road, Detroit. Judge Grobbel fixed bond at $7,500 each and remanded the pair to the Wayne County Jail to await examination, set for yesterday, March 28.

Chief Coonce said Burnette and Fountaine and a 21-year-old man and a juvenile were in a car when they were arrested by Park police about two blocks from the scene at 3:32 a.m. on the Wednesday date.

The older man was charged with violation of probation. His name was withheld pending disposition of his case in a Pointe court. The chief said the man was on probation with the Pointe Probation Department. The juvenile, meanwhile, was released to detectives of the Youth Service Division for questioning and investigation.

Chief Coonce said malicious destruction of property over $100 constitutes a felony under Michigan Law, and the use of a firearm, whether it is a handgun or a long gun, (rifle, shotgun, et al.), brings the same penalty on conviction, a two-year mandatory prison sentence for using a gun in the commission of a felony.

The chief said an investigation revealed that both Burnette and Fountaine were involved in the shooting.

solons from the Detroit Water and Sewage Department. It gave notice that Detroit will have reached its third stage in the increasing of sewage rates, from $2 to $2.50, effective July 1.

The new rate will remain in effect until January 1, 1980, when the city will receive another three stage rate hike over a period of time from Detroit.

Mr. Ortesi told the council that he will have to study the new rate increase, and proposed future increases, before he can recommend how much property owners will be assessed to cover the costs of the rate hikes.

The basic rate charged by Detroit to The Park, City and Farms for processing sewage will increase from $2 to $2.50 per 1,000 cubic feet effective this July 1. That means the higher rate will be in effect for customers during the high water usage months of the summer, although they won't be billed until next fall.

Will Figure Out
While the cities will get a straight 25 percent increase in sewage, individual customers' water bills will probably increase more than 25 percent to make up for the extra charge on what is called "unaccounted" for water used by the city system.

In most communities of the Pointe's age, the "unaccounted" for water adds up to about 15 percent of total usage. The water is "lost" through small leaks in the joints and valves, the unregistered, through customers' meters.

Water used by the fire departments also is considered "unaccounted" for. Officials will figure out how to bill customers for the extra charge on "unaccounted" for water—and may tack on an increase to cover hikes in their own water system costs—as they compute budgets for the coming year this spring.

Up They Go
The current wave of increases in sewage prices is the third phase of a plan to finance improvements at the Detroit sewage treatment facility in West Jefferson avenue.

The facility, which serves Detroit and 74 suburbs, was charged by the EPA in 1977 with failing to comply with pollution standards. In an out-of-court settlement with the EPA, Detroit agreed to make $587 million in improvements to the plant.

The five Pointes have increased their customers' water and sewage bills from 19 to 40 percent a year during the last two years to cover the EPA-ordered improvements as well as their own increased costs.

Meanwhile, The Shores also is reviewing possible rate increases.

Woods Studies Historical Bid

The idea of having a historical commission in The Woods is currently being considered by the council, based upon the suggestion of one of its residents.

Arthur J. Kuehnel of Manchester boulevard felt "our great city" should have such a commission inasmuch as some other cities do.

The council, in accepting the letter, unanimously referred this request to the Committee of The Whole for further study.

Woods Okays Emergency Law

An ordinance amending the city code by adding a chapter on emergency preparedness policy and organization was unanimously approved by the Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, March 19.

Considered for its first reading on February 26, the measure defines the duties and responsibilities of the emergency services coordinator and other personnel, authorizes the use of the material resources and manpower of the city in emergency operations and prevents, minimizes and relieves damage to persons and property resulting from any form of disaster.

The object of the law, which becomes effective 20 days after its enactment date, is to establish an organization that will insure the complete and efficient utilization of all of the city's resources during periods of emergency.

City Attorney George Catlin told the council when the ordinance was considered for a first reading it gives authorization for a preparedness plan via the city administrator, (the emergency services coordinator), in the event a state of emergency is issued by the governor. "It allows for a smooth mobilization in the event of an emergency," he said.

Saying it was patterned after a suggested ordinance via the state police, City Administrator Chester E. Petersen noted if officials, for instance, feel there's a need for another warning siren, this type of ordinance would be helpful.

The law contains several sections including organization for emergency services, emergency services assistant coordinators, the powers and duties of the emergency services coordinator and the mayor and the appointment of volunteers, among others.

As emergency services coordinator, the city administrator shall be responsible for the Office of Emergency Services.

Under organization for emergency services, the measure says the mayor, as executive head of the city government, shall be the director of the emergency services forces of the city and shall be responsible for their organization, administration and operation working through the city administrator as coordinator.

Meanwhile, the city administrator, with the council's approval, is authorized and directed to create an organization to prepare for community disasters utilizing to the fullest extent existing agencies within the city.

Hospital Sets CPR Workshop

The Friends of Bon Secours Hospital will sponsor a course in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, (CPR), at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road, on Tuesday and Wednesday, on April 10 and 11.

CPR is an easy-to-learn, life-saving skill used to provide emergency care to cardiac victims or those suffering respiratory failure.

The course begins both nights at 7:20 p.m., and will include instruction in the Heimlich maneuver, a simple skill which often saves choking victims.

Both skills will be taught according to Michigan Heart Association standards. Those who satisfactorily complete the course will be eligible to receive Michigan Heart Association certification.

Those who have been certified at previous programs may renew their certificates between 7:15 and 8:30 p.m. both nights.

Individuals trained at programs sponsored by the Friends of Bon Secours Hospital have saved both personal friends and strangers in cardiac and respiratory emergencies, and the hospital has received numerous letters of appreciation from friends and relatives of individuals saved by CPR.

There is no charge to attend the program, but admission is reserved by ticket only. Tickets may be obtained by calling 343-1520. Those wishing to be re-certified do not need tickets to attend.

GPW Hearing Set for April 6

A Wayne County Circuit Court hearing, originally scheduled for Friday, March 23, in relation to The Woods' suit against the Grosse Pointe Woods Sergeants Association and the American Arbitration Association, has now been scheduled for Friday, April 6.

Legal action was instituted by City Attorney George Catlin after the council on February 28 gave its authorization in the dispute revolving around the position of public safety executive lieutenant as part of a departmental reorganization plan announced in January.

Among several other objectives, the city is asking the court to issue a permanent injunctive order restraining the sergeants association and American Arbitration Association from conducting an arbitration hearing or issuing an arbitration decision or award concerning the demand for arbitration via the sergeants association.

In the case, the sergeants association followed the grievance procedure route and claimed that the position was a newly created one. (the city disagrees), while the city feels the alleged grievance concerning departmental General Order No. 129, eying the designation of the executive lieutenant's post, wasn't a proper subject for grievance proceedings.

HUD Releases Results of Small Cities' Study

Officials of America's small cities believe federal programs would be more useful to them if requirements could be standardized and reduced, and if similar programs were grouped under a single federal agency, according to a recent report by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, (HUD).

"Developmental Needs of Small Cities," a Congressionally-mandated study conducted by HUD, is primarily a report of the views of local elected officials on their communities' needs and priorities.

Their concerns also focused on a need for more information on available federal funding, reduced application approval time and more equitable allocation of federal funds.

"Our small cities defy generalizations," said Secretary Patricia Roberts Harris. "They have the same tremendous diversity that characterizes all of America's cities. Averages portraying small cities as a category tend to mask the individuality of the communities, their needs and characteristics."

Small cities — defined as those under 50,000 population which are not central cities of metropolitan areas — are home to almost one-third of the U.S. population. Population figures for 1975 show 71,323,000 persons living in large cities, 77,811,000 living in rural areas outside of incorporated places and 64,701,000 living in small cities.

Small city characteristics, such as size, geography, economic base, poverty level, tax effort and population makeup, that impact developmental needs and fund allocations vary significantly.

Almost three-quarters of the small cities are in the category of very small, meaning less than 2,500 population. At the same time, these very small cities account for only 16.6 percent of the total population of small cities.

Information on small city developmental needs was compiled for this study through a mail survey directed to chief executives of 1,962 randomly selected small cities, to which more than 1,000 responded; intensive cases studies of 48 small cities with populations ranging from 154 to 43,262; and 17 group meetings with city officials held in every part of the country.

Attitudes toward growth, particularly rapid growth, are less than unanimous. Some of the smallest cities see growth outside their limits as an asset, with others viewing it as inevitable.

Larger non-metropolitan communities perceive a negative impact on their municipal finances, as expansion draws off middle income and industrial taxpayers. And still others hold the view that rapid growth will lead to an increase in the cost of housing and burdensome municipal costs associated with expanding demands on facilities.

The single economy small town is a condition of the past. Most small cities have combined economic bases. In the case where cities do identify a predominant economic base, residential cities are the fastest growing and manufacturing cities the slowest.

The poverty rate for small cities in metropolitan areas is lower than the metropolitan central cities. Until recently, non-metropolitan areas had higher poverty rates than large cities but the two rates are now about equal.

Community problems related to development cited most frequently by the small cities respondents were lack of jobs, lack of adequate housing for low- and moderate-income persons and condition of streets.

Ranked as top funding priorities were infrastructure needs—water and sewer facilities, streets, solid waste disposal, parks and recreation and public buildings.

Housing, cited consistently as a severe or moderate community problem, was generally considered a priority for funding in only the larger—over 25,000 population—of the small communities.

Existing housing facilities received ratings as poor or less than adequate more often than any other community facility. Housing conditions were rated poor more often by non-metropolitan cities than by their metropolitan counterparts.

The question of how community development funds for small cities should be allocated is addressed in one section of the study.

Combinations of variables, such as poverty, age of housing, overcrowded housing, lack of plumbing, population and population lag, are discussed as possible elements in alternative formulas.

"The role of these variable funds to the nation's small communities is one that remains unresolved," Secretary Harris said.

"In presenting a range of alternatives, and the relative strengths and weakness of each, we offer a basis which will encourage discussion and consideration by the Congress and the Administration."

County Seeks Grant Monies

A total of $5.6 million is the amount this year Wayne County is asking for in the annual federally-funded Community Development Block Grant program which includes two more communities than in 1978, according to a county news release.

A grant application for that amount from HUD, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, (HUD), was approved by the Board of Commissioners' Public Works Committee Tuesday, March 13. Subsequent approval is expected today, March 29, according to committee chairman Thomas Presnell.

"Last year the county asked for $4.2 million and was given more than $5 million, so naturally we're hoping for another bonus allocation this year," he said.

The two communities new in the 1979 program are Westland and Inkster, bringing to 32 the number of communities participating. In the first year of the grant five years ago, HUD allocated only $637,000 for just 17 communities. Since then the program has provided a total of more than $16 million income for Wayne County.

Under the block grant program, the county organizes willing communities with less than 50,000 population and asks HUD for funds for the entire group. Communities with more than 50,000 population apply directly to HUD.

Administration of the program, including distribution of the grant funds, is carried out by the county Office of Program Development and Coordination, but the money goes toward projects decided at local levels. Public hearings in separate local communities as well as county-wide hearings have been held to determine project priorities.

Approved projects range from land acquisition for public programs, water and sewer improvement, housing development, recreation activity and demolition of sub-standard structures.

Fundamental policy of the block grant program is governed by a 19-member advisory council comprising four county commissioners and 14 other elected officials from communities receiving funds.

Pointe communities participating include The Woods, City and Park.

Center Offers Dinner Theater

Preceding Grosse Pointe Theater's performances of "The Importance of Being Earnest" on Wednesday, April 7, Thursdays, March 29 and April 5, Fridays, March 30 and April 6, and Saturday, March 31, the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore road, is offering patrons an opportunity of dinner theater.

Candlelight buffets will be served on these dates in the Crystal Ballroom immediately above the theater beginning at 6:30 p.m. at $8, (with tax and service).

This includes punch, assorted hors d'oeuvres and salads, prime roast beef plus either a fish or fowl entree, potatoes and vegetables, bread and hot rolls and a table of many kinds of desserts.

Dinners may be reserved only by those holding performance tickets which must be ordered through Grosse Pointe Theater at 881-4004. Buffets should be ordered by check made out to the Grosse Pointe War Memorial indicating date desired. Tables may be reserved for parties of any size.

North Parents Sell Flowers

The North High School Parent Club has begun taking orders for its ninth annual geranium sale.

The flower sale is the

We have always been of the opinion that any house (within reason) can be improved and upgraded into the next price range. Sadly enough this is a condition that cannot be understood or believed or comprehended by a large segment of home buyers. As our homes continue to appreciate and prices go up many buyers find they must change their buying plans. If they were looking in the $70,000 they must change to the $80 to $90,000 bracket.

In some instances this has caused home buying prospects to back off and consider staying where they are. With their equity at about 50% they find they can actually re-mortgage and add to their present home to accomplish everything they desire. This eliminates the necessity of moving! But there are dangers in this philosophy and that is in overdoing your improvements. Too much invested usually results in a poor return on your investment. There is a way to find out exactly how wise and how far you should go in home improvement.

Grosse Pointe Real Estate Co. 882-0087 has its own staff designer. The associates are "tuned in" on improvements and their relative value. If you would call now, 852-0087, the people at Grosse Pointe Real Estate So. will gladly and appreciatively discuss with you the advantages of purchasing and improving or simply improve your present home. It's fun to plan and sometimes even profitable to consider. Call us now.

Steelheaders See Big Year

Steelheaders skunked last fall should have a spring-time bonanza with a near-record run of the silvery fish returning to riverbed spawning grounds, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Last fall steelhead runs were virtually non-existent even on usually productive streams, meaning most fish probably wintered in the Great Lakes," stated Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

But this spring's snowmelt and expected rains should send nearly two million fish averaging 10 pounds into rivers listed on Auto Club's guide. This season could rival the 1976 record.

Because of the expected heavy runs across the state, the current state steelhead record of 26 pounds, eight ounces set in 1975 could be topped.

Fishermen can start the season in southwest Michigan and move north along the Lake Michigan coastline until runs peak, usually in late April.

Lake Huron's tributaries usually offer best steelheading from mid-April to mid-May, while Upper Peninsula anglers can concentrate on streams between mid-April and early June.

Southeast Michigan residents can count on best fishing in the St. Clair River from now until mid-April.

Auto Club advises anglers to learn regulations applying to rivers listed in its guide, as parts of some are restricted to fly fishing only. Other streams open after Sunday, April 1, or on Saturday, April 28, the general trout season opener.

The State Public Health Department has extended its warning that Lake Michigan steelhead may contain hazardous amounts of polychlorinated biphenyls, (PCBs). It advises children and nursing mothers not to eat Lake Michigan steelhead. All others should consume no more than one-half-pound per week.

Further information on fishing rules and pollution dangers can be found in the DNR's 1979 Michigan Fishing Guide.

Lochmoor Pro Wins Award

Jimmy Picard of the Lochmoor Club has been selected sectional winner in the private category in the first PGA "Sports Illustrated" Merchandiser of the Year competition.

The award was inaugurated to recognize "excellence, innovation and outstanding performance as a professional businessman of golf" among pros at three kinds of facilities — resort, public golf course and private club.

Nominations of PGA members throughout the country were submitted by "Sports Illustrated" readers, then screened by 39 PGA section officials who sent one section winner in each category to a national awards committee for final judging.

North's Best Cage Year Ended by Mackenzie, 52-36

By David Kramer
North High's basketball team reached the end of the line Wednesday, March 21, when it lost control of the pace in a state championship quarterfinal game against Detroit Mackenzie.

The game's final 52-36 score reflected the Norsemen's inability to get the ball off the boards and its poor percentage shooting.

At one point in the second after that, Mackenzie was just too quick.

Coach Ritter is pleased with the season, though, attributing the team's most successful year to the attitudes of team members plus some fortunate breaks.

"It was a great year for me because I had such great kids to work with. They were very team oriented and unselfish," he said.

North Knocked Out

North High School's JOHN LONG goes for a layup against Mackenzie High's KEVIN ROUNDFIELD in the first period of the quarterfinals of state Class A championship play. Although North was soundly beaten, 52-36, in the game played on Wednesday, March 21, it marked the end of the school's most successful basketball season ever. Mackenzie went on to win the state title.

half, North was outscored 12-2 in about two minutes time. And the team was able to hit on only 38 percent of its shots, compared to a season average of 48 percent.

"We were outrebounded badly," said coach Ray Ritter. "They had two really good big people; both were tall and good jumpers."

Despite having gone farther than any team in the school's history, coach Ritter didn't think the jitters were a factor in the loss, but felt he might have worked his players a little too hard in the two practices immediately before the game.

Mainly, though, the coach feels it was a matter of letting the pace of the contest get away.

"We controlled the tempo of the game pretty well in the first quarter," he said, noting the Norsemen would have had the first seven points if they had hit on all of their free throws. But season will depend on how hard the junior members work this summer, the coach said, since his two top scorers and rebounders are seniors. They include 6'9" Glenn Williams and Mike Lefever, rebounders, and Williams and Rich Zenn, scorers.

North ended its season as "cinderella team" with a 17-7 record, surprising many with its upset victory over Highland Park, 39-37, in a game played on the Parkers' court on Friday, March 16.

GP Lil' Wings Close Season

The Grosse Pointe Lil' Wings, Squirt AA travel hockey team, closed the 1978-1979 season on Thursday, March 22, when they were eliminated in the semi-final round of the Adray League playoffs by Lansing, the top-rated team in Michigan.

The playoff loss does not diminish the Wings' achievements during the campaign as the club racked up an overall record of 31-17-12, were 14-6 in league play and went to the semi-finals in the playoffs. They were ranked fifth in the state in the final poll.

Just prior to the end of the season the Wings played some of their finest hockey, going undefeated in nine games against some tough competition. During this streak they tied only once against rival Fraser.

The team improved as the season progressed under head coach Joe Amore. His many hours of practice and instruction were rewarded as the players grew in individual and team skills.

The Lil' Wings were successful in other, even more important ways. The boys, 10-years-old, enjoyed the competition, having fun and experiencing joy and disappointment. They learned about themselves and their teammates.

Gordon Haigh Sparks Team

Oakland University sophomore Gordon H. Haigh, a graduate of North High School, helped his swim team take second in the recent NCAA Division II championship meet held at Northern Michigan University.

Haigh made All-American in the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 54.83, missing that designation in the 200-yard event by 12/100 of a second.

He holds North High's 100-yard backstroke record with a time of 57.1.

Haigh of The Shores is majoring in business administration and economics.

GPW Eyes Audit

Comments and recommendations from Coopers and Lybrand on The Woods' 1978 audit, (for the year which ended June 30, 1978), were reviewed by the council with auditing firm representatives at its regular meeting Monday, March 19.

This matter originally came up at the council's November 20 session last year and, at that time, the solons agreed that a meeting should be arranged at a January session to review the recommendations for changes and improvements in accounting procedures and internal controls.

However, this session didn't materialize until the 19th.

In its report, Coopers and Lybrand said as part of its examination of the financial statements of the city, the organization made a study and evaluation of the city's system of internal accounting control to the extent it considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards.

"Under these standards, the purposes of such an evaluation are to establish a basis for reliance on the system of internal accounting control in determining the nature, timing and extent of other auditing procedures that are necessary for expressing an opinion on the financial statements," according to the report.

Coopers and Lybrand also made it clear that nothing came to its attention during its examination to indicate any improper or illegal factors.

Five comments and recommendations were shared for improvements in overall procedures as a help to officials, and each was reviewed by City Comptroller-Assessor Frederick G. Horfisher in a memo.

The one which received the most attention viewed complying with expenditure limits, with Coopers and Lybrand saying, under the city charter, all expenditures over $1,000 must be approved by the council. (Mr. Horfisher noted the firm found five purchase orders in excess of $1,000 which the council didn't approve.)

"While we understand that in certain situations, (emergencies), it is not practical to wait until council meets for the necessary approval and also the $1,000 limit was imposed 30 years ago, we do recommend that council make provisions for approval of all invoices in excess of $1,000 even if such approval occurs subsequent to the disbursement date," the firm said.

Robert Woods of Coopers and Lybrand indicated he saw no problem in certain cases when checks had to be issued by a specific time, with the council then approving them after payment. General agreement regarding this approach was reached.

(In this respect, Mr. Horfisher, on a monthly basis, has been presenting a list of checks written for the council's review and approval.)

Other recommendations from the firm eyed a comment on the Motor Vehicle Highway Debt Service Fund, that Federal Revenue Sharing reports should summarize all revenues, internal accounting control over cash should be strengthened and machine tapes for daily tax receipts should be retained, (for documentation purposes).

After the discussion ended, Councilman E. D. Brady, in noting there has been no violation of integrity or any wrong doing, only procedural adjustments, moved that a reply be sent to the state Treasury Department with information regarding the action taken to implement the firm's recommendations.

The motion also stipulated that the city seek a waiver, in viewing the Motor Vehicle Highway Debt Fund, on the time required to pay bond and interest.

SH Publishes New Magazine

South High School's award-winning weekly student newspaper is breaking new boundaries to mark the publication of its first magazine issue in six years.

"The Tower," four-time winner of the Pacemaker award as best weekly in the nation, will make its innovative 40-page magazine issue available to The Pointe community at several local drug stores beginning tomorrow, Friday, March 30.

Included in the special issue are stories of interest to a wide range of community readers.

"This issue should have two advantages," explained "Tower" adviser Robert Button. "First, to expand the journalistic background of the staff members by experimenting with story development and format that is not possible in a weekly newspaper, and second, to reach a broader audience with stories that reflect the diversity of interests of Grosse Pointe youth."

"The Tower" magazine has been in planning since the school year began in September. Hard work by "The Tower" staff and Mr. Button, coupled with support from community and school advertisers, expanded the issue to its final form.

Individual copies of "The Tower's" special magazine issue will be available at Kent Drugs, Park Pharmacy and Library Bookshop at a cost of 25 cents per copy.

This year's "Tower" staff members involved in production of the special magazine issue are Nedy Baril, Barb Bell, Sandy Boettcher, Bill Bradford, Ace Dickson, Eric Hanpeter, John Hogan, Paula Kukučka, Jean MacDonald and Rick Mayday.

Plans for the evening include entertainment, dancing refreshments and a buffet dinner. Door prizes, old photos and other surprises also are being planned.

A committee of Southeastern graduates of 1954 have been planning details of the reunion and are now contacting all alumni whose addresses are known.

Graduates are asked to contact Sharon Amluxen, 22811 Mack avenue, St. Clair Shores at 771-3170. Others on the committee are Class President Jerry Hummel, John C. Prost, Lyle Heavner and Bill Grierson.

FOR CHRISTIANITY

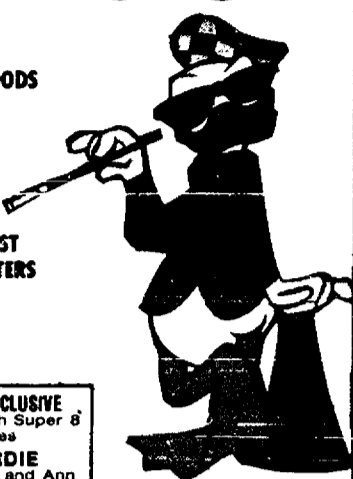

Mission experts in the United States predict that by the year 2000, Africa will have more than 350 million Christians, more than in any other continent, reports the "Christian Herald." The religion boom, the magazine points out, is occurring at a time when less money and fewer missionaries are going to Africa from abroad. The Africans themselves, claim observers, are taking up the evangelism.

JC Jelly Sale Slated to Begin

"We're number one" is the cry of the Grosse Pointe Jaycees who hope to retain their title with this year's Jelly Sale, scheduled from March 30 through April 15, at locations throughout the community.

A goal of selling 675 or more cases has been set. There are 12 jars per case and the cost is $1 per jar.

Proceeds from the sale will be donated to the Foundation for Exceptional Children and the Grosse Pointe Association for Retarded Citizens.

Jaycee officials point out that the local chapter holds all state records for the most jelly sold during jelly week, with members hoping the response to the sixth annual event will be high in the community.

Main selling days have been geared for Friday, March 30, Saturday, March 31 and Sunday, April 1, at locations along Mack avenue between Vernier road and Cadieux, and also In-the-Village.

Jaycees Dave Grunewald and Jon Lechner are coordinating the sale.

Rex Ciavola of Cloverly road took a bronze medal in slalom competition for Elite racers of the Central Division of the United States Ski Association held at Iron Mountain, Mich.

In events on the weekend of March 3 to 4, Ciavola first placed seventh out of 112 racers on Saturday, then took a third on Sunday for his medal.

Because of his performances, Ciavola has been invited to participate in the Spring Series with the national team at Mount Cranmore, N.H.

Bid for Tennis Courts Okayed

A request to use the four tennis courts at Ghesquiere Park and the 10 courts at the Lake Front Park on the part of Tennis and Crumpets, Inc., was unanimously approved by the Woods Council at its regular meeting Monday, March 19.

The bid was for the Annual Tennis and Crumpets Tournament for the benefit of Children's Hospital on Saturday, September 15, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on all courts. The rain date is scheduled for Sunday, September 16.

Tennis and Crumpets officials indicated an attempt will be made as much as possible to schedule Woods residents to play on their own courts.

Parks and Recreation Director Donald J. Hallmann also told the council there have been no problems with the group in the past.

Here's how UniBank/Cash Management works:

If you have both checking and savings accounts at various financial institutions with a total average balance of $2,000 — or if you have an average balance of $2,000 in a single account — it makes good sense to shift your money to a Cash Management Account at National Bank of Detroit.

Here are two reasons why. First, as long as you average a $2,000 balance in your savings account, the plan has no service charges. Notice that the $2,000 is an average balance. Not a minimum balance.

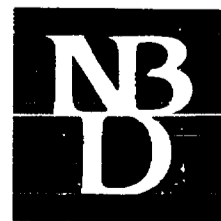

That means the balance in your account could drop well below $2,000 during some parts of the month, provided you make it up with a higher balance during other parts of the month.

Second, the funds in your savings account earn the highest bank interest allowed by law. When funds are needed in your checking account to cover checks, only the exact amount is transferred — not increments of $50 as is the case with some banks.

This allows you to keep a zero balance in your checking account at all times while earning a maximum 5% annual interest compounded continuously on funds in your savings account. That's an effective annual yield of 5.20%.

So, if your objective is to keep all of your funds earning maximum interest all the time they're not actually needed to pay bills and cover checks, stop in at any nearby National Bank of Detroit office. One of our representatives will gladly answer any questions you may have about NBD's UniBank/Cash Management Account.

WOMEN IN RELIGION
There are 10,470 women ministers in the United States. The United Church of Christ, which has 1.8 million members, has 400 women ministers. The Southern Baptist Convention, with nearly 13 million members, has only 20. A great number of the female religious leaders in this country belong to Pentecostal or paramilitary religious organizations, such as the Salvation Army.

City Condemns Mack Building

Owners of a condemned building in Mack avenue said last week they may take the City to Wayne County Circuit Court over a council order that they demolish the structure, which they say was first condemned by the city more than 20 years ago.

The building, at 17268 Mack, is owned by Mrs. Mitchell Simon. It's used for parking and storage of equipment for the family's two construction companies, according to a family spokesman.

Neighbors of the building in Notre Dame avenue have complained about the structure for years and charge that it currently harbors a large number of rats.

City inspectors determined it to be a "dangerous structure" in a recent inspection based upon a list of 11 violations including holes in the roof, dry rotted walls, loose chimney bricks and the absence of rat walls.

The City Council condemned the building Monday, March 19, and ordered the owners to tear it down within 60 days.

But Mark Simon, represented his mother before the council, says he may take the city to court over that decision. He argued that he needs more time to make a decision to repair or tear down the structure.

His father Mitchell Simon, died a month ago after he suffered a coronary arrest at a council hearing on the condemnation. Mark argued that he needs more than 30 days to get his father's business affairs in order and asked the council to delay the condemnation for an unspecified time.

The property in question is currently zoned for parking, making the condemned structure a non-conforming use, according to city law. The code states that money spent on improvements of a non-conforming use cannot exceed 50 percent of the assessed valuation of the property.

Because the Simon's building is assessed at only $1,000, the owners could not receive permits for more than $500 of improvements.

Firemen Finish Police School

Two City firefighters were graduated Friday, March 9, from the police academy at Macomb County Community College, announced Public Safety Director Bruce Kennedy.

Sgt. John Rea and Donald Prystup finished the course recently and will be prepared to take on police duties when a consolidation of police and fire departments is completed this July.

Cinema League Eyes Black Sea

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "Let's Cruise to the Black Sea", a 16mm color movie by Pierre and Elfrida Palmentier, when it meets in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore road, on Monday, April 2, at 8 p.m.

Made on a cruise from Florida through the Mediterranean to Russia, the film is open to the public without charge.

After a brief stop at New York City, the first port of call is Madeira, Portugal, with colorful native dancers and a basket ride down a 1,000 foot mountainside. Pictured are views of Monaco and the spectacular Grand Corniche.

In Naples, a walk is made inside the crater of a steaming volcano, and the ruins of Herculaneum, more perfectly preserved and less publicized than Pompeii, are photographed.

The camera travels on to charming Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia, and the delightful Adriatic resort city of Cavtat. Highlights in Turkey are the fabulous jewels in Istanbul's Topkapi Palace, and fantastic ruins of the ancient city of Ephesus.

The viewer is taken to the house on the Mount of Nightingales, said to be where St. John brought Mary after the Crucifixion and where she spent her remaining years.

There are views of Odessa, Russia, with its magnificent gold-and-white Opera House and historic Potemkin Steps, where 2,000 lives were lost in the early days of the Russian Revolution. Photographed is the impressive changing of the guard at the Memorial to the Unknown Sailor, performed ceremoniously by goose-stepping teenagers.

The camera visits the important Black Sea seaport of Varna, Bulgaria, and the former summer palace and exotic gardens of Queen Marie of Romania at Balchik.

Featured are the charming Greek islands of Rhodes, Patmos and Mykonos. Of special interest are the ruins of the best preserved ancient 14,000-seat theater at Epidaurus, on the site of the sanctuary of the god Asclepius.

From primitive treatments of patients with licking by tongues of sacred serpents, this "Mayo Clinic" of the ancients developed into a center of science and learning. The viewer sees the ruins of Corinth, the most opulent, luxurious and lascivious city in ancient Greece. There are views of Agamemnon's royal city of Mycenae, where Dr. Henry Schliemann discovered magnificent gold masks, and the unique beehive tomb of Atrous.

The Spanish portion of the movie covers Malaga and the famous Alhambra at Granada, last stronghold of Moorish occupation in Spain.

A tour is made of the little-visited island of Malta, as well as a drive around Gibraltar and the exotic city of Tangier, Morocco.

There also are lovely views of the Azores, visited by only five cruise ships a year.

A reception limited to Cinema League members follows the presentation.

Siegel to Open Pointe Store

The B. Siegel Company, operators of seven women's specialty shops in the Detroit area, announced plans last week to take over the store in The Village that was vacated by Hillmech Bros. when the company folded earlier this year.

According to Siegel executive vice-president and general manager David Yankey, the company plans to open the new branch by this July 1.

"We're quite excited about opening a Grosse Pointe store," Mr. Yankey said. "We feel there has been a void in that trading area. We hope to cater to a different kind of customer in Grosse Pointe."

Siegel executives said the firm hopes to portray a more modern, updated image in the new shop, geared toward the 19- to 35-year-old age group. The firm plans to spend about $35,000 on the facade of the store and will bring it into line with the Village's Williamsburg Colonial theme with brown painted brick, beige wood awnings and carriage lamps.

The renovation is being designed by Jon Greenburg Associates of Southfield. The firm's original plans for the storefront were turned down by the City Council on Monday, March 19, because they did not correspond with the officials' view of Williamsburg architecture. Store officials agreed to revise their plans in line with the colonial theme.

The new store will employ about 75 full- and part-time employees, according to Mr. Yankey.

NH Concert Set At Old Christ

The Concert Choir of North High School will sing the Mozart "Requiem Mass" on Sunday, April 1, at Old Christ Church, in Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, at 4 p.m.

This will mark the second appearance of the choir at Christ Church.

The concert continues a long tradition in the teaching career of Herman A. Clein, musical director at North High School, of presenting a major choral work each year at Easter. In the past, works of Bach, Vivaldi, Brahms and Beethoven, as well as Mozart, have been performed.

The Mass, which will be sung in concert form and in the original Latin, is written for choir and solo quartet. Eight students of the choir have been selected to sing the solos including Jeanne Heller and Nancy Ambrosio-sopranos; Diane Hagg and Cathy Gaskin, contraltos; Brian Vier and Robert Quinn, tenors; and Rich Zenn and David O'Berski, bass.

The 117-voice Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. Clein, will be accompanied by organist Dalos Grobe.

A free will donation to help defray the cost will be accepted at the concert.

Center Slates Evening Out

As part of its Around Detroit Dinner and Theater Series, the War Memorial is planning a charter bus trip on Thursday, April 26, at 6 p.m.

The first stop will be for dinner at 6:30 in the colorful Bouzouki Taverna in Greektown. Then it's on to the Music Hall where a block of orchestra seats have been reserved for the 8:30 p.m. performance of singer Cleo Laine and her husband, John Dankworth, with his orchestral ensemble.

Participants park free at the Center, 32 Lakeshore road, and are chauffeured first to dinner and then to the theater where they are picked up at the conclusion of the performance.

All transportation, dinner, (with tax and service), and orchestra seats are included for $29.50. Only 20 places are available.

For further information call 881-7511.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats, Superintendent of Schools

A youngster being scolded for bringing home a less than satisfactory report card asked, "What do you think the problem with me is, Dad—heredity or environment?"

Undoubtedly, the father had a hard time answering that question, but there might have been another problem to consider—a misinterpretation of the report card.

Report cards contain important information which has to be correctly interpreted if it is to be of any value. Many times there is confusion as to whether the card is reporting a student's progress or achievement. It's impossible for a report card to contain everything that would be useful, so there is a problem of deciding what to report.

A reporting to Elementary Parents Committee has been grappling with that problem for the last two years. Committee members Jane Avery, Frances Bassett, Diane De Vries, Michael Johnson, Dick Kay, Frances Morris and Kay Mullaney have been working with Director of Elementary Education Alfreda Frost on providing comprehensive information.

In particular they have focused upon the development of a format which is not too complex but still is sufficient to interpret and recognize individual differences.

The committee decided to use written reports to summarize progress in relation to ability and to use parent conferences to report actual achievement levels, interpret test data and communicate learning problems. Beginning with this school year, two parent conferences were scheduled for those purposes—the first in the fall and the second in the spring. However, when necessary, more parent conferences than the scheduled two are arranged.

With the belief that progress reports should emphasize growth and development consistent with meaningful educational goals, the committee has spent this past year revising the reports presently used. Scheduled to be introduced next year, the revised progress reports summarize ability in major skills taught in each area of the elementary curriculum and indicate progress in sub-skills.

Reports for first and second graders will contain information about progress in social studies, science, art, music and physical education in addition to reading, language arts and mathematics which are listed on the present forms.

Parents of students in grades three through six will be given more information on progress in art, music and physical education than they currently receive, and a new form for kindergarten students also is being prepared. All of the new forms will have sections to summarize parent conferences and include teacher comments.

Elementary teachers and principals have reviewed the new forms, as has a parent group with representatives from each elementary school. While not everyone is in complete agreement on the new format, suggestions from these important reference groups have been incorporated as much as possible.

When the new report forms are printed, orientation sessions for staff members and parents will be conducted prior to their use and distribution.

We believe that a reporting system combining the revised forms and parent conferences will provide more complete and meaningful information to parents than a single mark, letter or percentage.

Groups Get Top Ratings

Division I ratings, the highest possible, were won by instrumental musical groups from North and South High Schools competing at different locations during the Michigan School and Band Orchestra District 12 Festival during March.

The North Symphony Band and the Wind Ensemble and Symphony Band at South travelled to Roosevelt High School in Wyandotte on Saturday, March 3.

Comments from the adjudicators included, "What a pleasure to hear you today," "Some great band sonorities" and "Enjoyed this musical performance!"

Parcells Middle School, 20600 Mack avenue, was the setting for the District 12 Orchestra Festival, with South as host, on Saturday, March 10.

Equally enthusiastic comments from the adjudicators were received by both symphony orchestras at North and South high schools.

Nathan Judson is the conductor of all groups at North. Russell Reed directs the South ensembles.

The musicians are now eligible to compete in the State Band and Orchestra Festival in Lansing on Saturday, April 28.

WASTED EFFORT

Time is money, but it requires a great deal of time to convince some folks of that.

B-E Hearing Is Adjourned

A pre-trial hearing for three Detroit men who are charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny stemming from their alleged involvement in the break-in of Lochmoor Jewelers, 20926 Mack avenue, on February 25, has been adjourned.

Originally scheduled for Thursday, March 22, the date was changed to coincide with the pre-trial date of one of the suspects, who also is charged with receiving and concealing stolen property over $100 stemming from the burglary of the Alaska Fur Factory, 19525 Mack, on February 21, reported Woods Det. Charles Phillip Hamel.

The suspect, Michael Dennis Hudson, 19, was bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court for trial at his Woods Municipal Court examination Wednesday, March 21, on the receiving and concealing charge. Bond was continued in the amount of $5,000 and the suspect is currently being held in the Wayne County Jail in lieu of bond.

Det. Hamel reported that Hudson wore a fur coat allegedly taken from Alaska during his Woods hearing on the break-in charge and was subsequently charged with receiving and concealing.

The other suspects in the Lochmoor burglary are Raymond Ivey, 25, of Tuller street and Keith Garette, 24, of Wildemere street and they, too, were bound over to circuit court for trial in the incident.

Shortly after the Lochmoor break-in, the trio were apprehended after Woods, Shores, Farms and Harper Woods officers assisted in a high speed chase. They were nabbed after their car went out of control and struck a tree in St. Clair Shores.

Many articles of jewelry were recovered including 16 pieces in the auto, plus 13 bracelets and a watch from Ivey's person, according to the report.

Friendly advice should never be given to a good friend.

Everyone agrees that love cannot really be defined but that does not stop people from trying. The same thing applies to wines. The various tastes of wines cannot really be described, but a whole wine taste vocabulary has been developed. Following are a few of the common terms and what they are supposed to mean. Balance; a well balanced wine has all of its qualities in equilibrium with none dominating. Rounded; a mature wine in which all the elements are balanced. Soft; a wine in which the sweet and light taste dominates the sharp, acid taste. For a well balanced, rounded and memorable get together add a little sparkle with a superb wine or other fine beverage from PARKIE'S PARTY SHOPPE, 17255 Mack, Corner of St. Clair. Letters to The Editor

To The Editor:
After reading the article on the EMT, (Emergency Medical Technician), laws in your March 22 issue I felt I must write you. There were a lot of negative aspects of the law brought up, but none of the benefits.

The two main reasons for objecting to the EMT laws was the added expense in training and the uselessness of medical skills on the scene since there are many hospitals in the area.

One point brought up was that "ambulances can reach, (hospitals), in a matter of minutes." This is true, but do we want to substitute speed for proper medical care?

If it takes two minutes to get to a scene, one minute to load the victim and two more minutes to transport to the hospital that is five minutes at the least before a person gets medical attention.

Five minutes may not seem like a very long time but when you consider a person who has stopped breathing will have permanent brain damage in four to six minutes, and that a person can bleed to death in one minute, immediate medical service is essential.

Another part of the law deals with equipment and vehicle size. That is why The City does not have an "ambulance" service anymore. They were cited many times for not having oxygen. Also a station wagon is in no way a vehicle you can provide basic medical services in.

The other main point is training. The paper quotes a cost of 240 hours of training for personnel needed to meet the law. I do not know their pay scale, but at $10 an hour that is $2,400 for professional medical care. I would imagine the Grosse Pointes can afford $2,400 to provide basic emergency medical services to its citizens.

The article says the classes do not fit regular work shifts for fire personnel. This is not the case. Most of the EMT students are fire personnel. The classes are usually staggered and are offered in the morning and evening allowing students to shift class times.

Distance to classes also was voiced as a concern. Detroit General, (soon to be Detroit Receiving), Cass Outreach, (right off I-94 and Chene), and Macomb Community College all provide EMT classes within 10 miles.

Refresher courses for the EMTs was brought up. Every two years EMTs are required to take refresher courses to learn of new developments. In the past two years MAST trousers, (shock pants), have been introduced and the precordial thump has been abandoned in CPR. (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation). Without refresher courses new information like the above would not be available.

The American Red Cross lack of availability need not limit the fire and police forces skills. The ARC just ran an instructor program in Multi-Media first aid, (which I took), and is offering training of instructors in advanced first aid.

All that is needed to become an instructor is to have a valid card and take the above classes. If that is not possible and direct contact to the ARC is not successful, I will personally offer the fire departments classes in Multi-Media first aid and CPR, as I am sure many other instructors in the area will.

Highly - trained medical personnel are a must on our ambulances. Having EMTs on our streets are a basic necessity. After all, is a little savings in expense worth risking your own life or the life of your child?

Sincerely,
Michael R. Echlin,
Instructor, CPR and Multi-Media First Aid, Michigan State-licensed EMT,

St. James Play Ends April 4

What Goes On at Your Library

By William T. Peters,
Director of Public Libraries

Jailhouse authors have played an important part in the literature of all countries and during all historical periods.

St. Paul continued to dictate his epistles from his Roman prison in the first century A.D. Marco Polo wrote DESCRIPTION OF THE WORLD while imprisoned in a dungeon in Genoa. James I of Scotland wrote a love poem of 197 stanzas while a political prisoner. Before he went to the stake and burned as a heretic in 1415, John Huss wrote a series of moving letters to his friends from his prison cell.

Henry VIII's prisoner, Sir Thomas More, wrote THE DIALOGUE OF COMFORT while imprisoned in the Tower of London. John Bunyan spent part of his 12-year imprisonment writing PILGRIM'S PROGRESS.

Robert Emmet led the ill-fated Irish rebellion of 1803 and paid with his life, but in the prisoner's dock before the presiding judge, Lord Norbury, he uttered one of the most remarkable pieces of English oratory.

Winston Churchill's famous, "We shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds..." speech of World War II seems to be a paraphrase of Emmet's last speech. The great Russian author, Fyodor Dostoevsky's literary art and religion were nourished in prison.

Oscar Wilde's literary career was interrupted by two years imprisonment, (1895-97). But even while in prison, Wilde wrote a number of letters which reveal much about the man.

William Sydney Porter, while serving a three-year, three-month, term in the federal penitentiary at Columbus, O., wrote and published several stories under the pseudonym of O. Henry. Before his death in 1910 he became one of America's most popular authors.

More than five decades ago MEIN KAMPF was put down on paper in the Bavarian fortress of Landsberg. The author, Adolf Hitler, was then a 32-year-old leader of a small band of political reactionaries who were unsuccessful in their efforts to seize control of the government.

Unfortunately for the whole world, Hitler's short imprisonment only reinforced his dream of avenging Germany's defeat in World War I and destroying the Jewish race.

A young man who met Hitler in the 1930's and later became his personal architect, confidant and protege, as well as a Reich Minister for Armaments and war production in World War II, was Albert Speer.

Speer joined the ranks of jailhouse authors during his 20 years imprisonment, 1946-66. His book SPANDAUF THE SECRET DIARIES, (MacMillan, 1976), is "an attempt to give form to the time that seemed to be pouring away so meaninglessly, to give substance to years empty of content."

Speer writes at length about Hitler from a very personal point of view. He also furnishes his readers with an account of the psychological effects of long imprisonment.

Daniel Berrigan, a Jesuit priest and self-designated "peace criminal" drew a three and a half year jail sentence for his part in destroying Selective Service records. While serving his sentence in the Federal Penitentiary at Danbury, Ct., (1970-71), Berrigan kept a journal of his daily experiences and of his thoughts about freedom of action and expression in America.

Berrigan was released after serving 18 months. His book LIGHTS ON IN THE HOUSE OF THE DEAD, A PRISON DIARY, (Doubleday, 1974), reveals not a martyr but a man bitterly opposed to established authority who is seeking a way to bring about change.

Jawaharlal Nehru, a political prisoner for three years wrote in his autobiography, "I recommend prison, where all my major works have been written, not only to aspiring writers but to aspiring politicians, too."

The first United States performance in over a decade of Richard Strauss' "Die Aegyptische Helena" — and its first-ever performance outside New York City—will take place Wednesday evening, April 25, when Antal Dorati lifts his baton at 7:30 o'clock to conduct the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in a concert presentation of the operatic masterpiece.

Maestro Dorati, the orchestra and a stellar cast headed by Gwyneth Jones in the title role will repeat the work later that week at two prestigious concert houses outside Detroit: Carnegie Hall in New York and Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., on Friday, April 27, and Sunday, April 29, respectively.

These will be Maestro Dorati's first East Coast appearances with the DSO.

In Detroit's Ford Auditorium, the premier of "Die Aegyptische Helena" will be gala. It's a special, benefit performance to support the orchestra. (Continued on Page 22)

Symphony Juniors Celebrate Program

Breakfast at Brennen's Afterglow Marks Official Debut of Souvenir Book at Saturday Night Concert

The Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's 1978-79 Season Symphony Souvenir Program Book is officially "out," thanks to volunteers who put in 8,000 hours, 300 advertisers to whom the Juniors are very grateful and innumerable, if unsung, contributions of talent and dedication as well as time.

The Souvenir Program debuted Saturday evening, March 24, at a DSO concert in Ford Auditorium.

Maestro Antal Dorati was on the podium and his wife, pianist Ilse Von Alpenheim, was the guest artist.

Post-performance, the Doratis joined Symphony Juniors and their friends at "Breakfast at Brennen's," a Souvenir Program celebration at the Bishop road home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brennen, III, where the menu featured crepes by Jeff Wolf with a choice of fillings, a dessert of Bananas Foster, champagne, wine and coffee.

Another special guest was Richard Strauss' great-nephew—who happens to live in Rosedale Park. The Souvenir Program Book is an annual, major Juniors' fund raiser for the symphony. This year's program netted nearly $35,000.

A large part of its success goes to a committee headed by Mrs. John Y. Keffer, of Birmingham, as general chairman, with Mrs. Timothy Dinan, of Troy, and Mrs. John Edgar, of Brys drive, in charge of sales.

The editorial section was the province of Mrs. Joel Piteoff. Printing and layout were handled by Mrs. Raymond P. Marcell, of North Brys drive. Nancy Denome, of Norwood drive, took care of billing.

Patrons chairman was Mrs. Hugh Rollocks. The "Breakfast at Brennen's" afterglow was chaired by Mrs. Brennen and Mrs. John T. Beuker.

Alliances Join for A Brunch

A buffet brunch at Loomer Club will be co-sponsored Sunday, April 1, by the Alliance Francaises of Detroit and Grosse Pointe.

The program will feature a lecture in French, "L'Ecivain et la Cite," (The Writer and The City), by Yves Rey-Herme, a grege directeur, Ecole d'Ete de l'Alliance

Reservations for the day, which begins at 1 o'clock, at $8 per person should be sent by check to Denise Controulis, 284 Moran road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan 48236. They must be received by Saturday, March 31. For further information, call 885-2767.

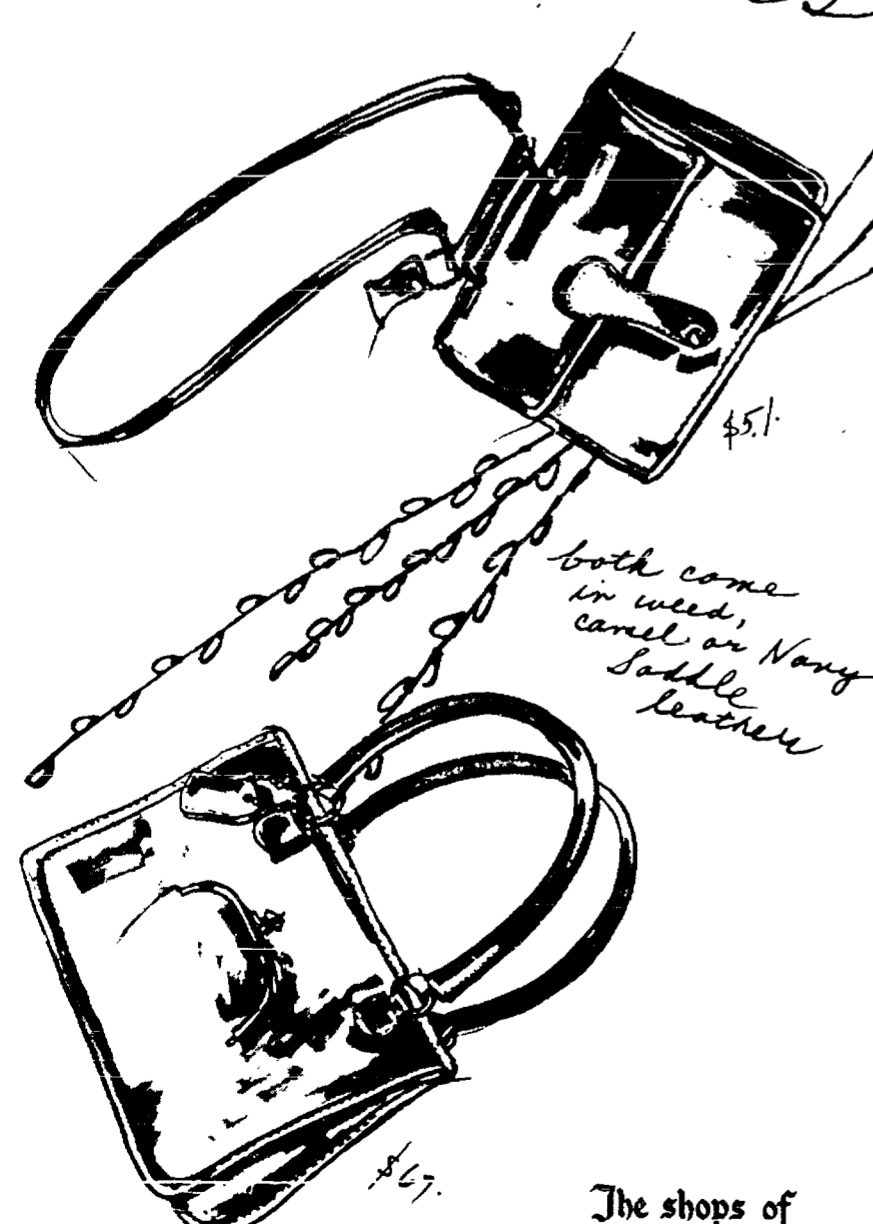

THIS IS CLONING HAIR STYLING

It's exactly what we're not. We see every head of hair differently. The cut for one isn't the cut for another. One's curly, another short. Another longs to be long. The point is a busy home-maker works with a different rhythm than a stewardess or model. What I'm saying is "that people are unique human beings, not a make-believe of someone else" . . . And there is fun and excitement in looking your BEST.

Kalosomatics Keeps Them in Shape

How do five women keep over 400 local residents on their toes? Some would say by sheer example. Who wouldn't want to emulate the svelte shapes, glowing skin and exuberance obvious in Assumption Cultural Center's Kalosomatics instructors, (left to right), BARBARA OTULAKOWSKI, of St. Clair Shores, and Pointers SUSAN GHAZAL, DOLORES LAVINS, JEANNE MILLIKEN and program originator CHARLENE VETTORELLO. To a woman, they say Kalosomatics' popularity is due to the structure of the program itself.

It began less than two years ago with 12 students, one instructor and an ideal. The ideal was Assumption's: to offer a unique fitness program to Grosse Pointe and the neighboring suburbs.

The instructor was Registered Nurse and Boston Marathon runner Charlene Vetto retello whose own personal exercise routine has evolved over the years into a total body conditioning and cardiovascular program.

She and Assumption packaged the idea, called it Kalosomatics and offered it to the general public in the fall of 1977.

It didn't take long before demand resulted in a supply of additional sessions of the nine-week program.

Today there are day and evening classes for women, (beginners and advanced), an evening all-men's class, a Kalosomatics in Moderation for seniors and those who must take their exercise more easily and a new, Saturday morning coed class.

The classes are set up on either a two- or three-times-a-week, one-hour workout basis. They combine aspects of yoga, calisthenics, aerobic dance, jogging and isometrics, and are done to music. All body parts are exercised and a new level of fitness is presented every three weeks.

Charlene, who designed the program, personally trains her instructors in a rigorous, 18-hour course. Three of the four now teaching with her at Assumption have been with Kalosomatics since its first class. They came to fitness training from various backgrounds.

Jeanne and Mike Milliken are the parents of Ryan, three, and Erin, two. Jeanne received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Social Work and Psychology from Marygrove and worked as a Social Worker for eight years prior to having children.

She has been a vegetarian for four years, has taken several nutrition and health related classes and has worked as a swimming instructor.

Jeanne runs from five to eight miles a day. She says she has lost nearly 15 pounds since she has been involved in the Kalosomatics program and that she became an instructor because she believes it is "the best all-around fitness program in this area."

Sue (Mrs. George) Ghazal studied Home Management and Child Development at Michigan State University, has been a synchronized swimmer and runs daily to stay fit.

She comes from a physically active family. Sue and her husband encourage their two children to consider nutrition and fitness as a means of attaining physical and mental well being. She enjoys helping others make fitness a way of life through her Kalosomatics instructing.

Exhibit Focus Will Be on Watercolor

The Michigan Water Color Society will show the work of the state's best watercolor painters for the 33rd consecutive year May 4 through June 1, at the Detroit Artists Market. Jay Belloli, curator of Modern Art at the Detroit Institute of Arts, will be juror.

Mr. Belloli, who came to the museum staff in 1978 from the directorship of the Fort Worth Art Museum, holds a Bachelors degree in Studio Art from Stanford University and a Masters degree in Art History from Stanford University.

He has taught and published widely in the field of modern art, was on the teaching staff of the Walker Art Center of Minneapolis and has organized numerous contemporary exhibitions both in Fort Worth and Detroit.

He will lecture on "Watercolor in the Twentieth Century" at the Artists Market on Saturday, May 26, at 2 o'clock.

Besides selecting the paintings in the exhibition, Mr. Belloli will award six prizes of $200 each.

The competition is open to all present and former Michigan artists. Two paintings may be submitted by each artist, and must be in an aqueous media executed on paper.

The entry fee is $8 for Water Color Society members for two paintings, $8 per painting for non-members. Society membership is $12 annually, with a special rate of $6 for full-time students.

Entries must be delivered to the Artists Market between 10 and 5 o'clock on Saturday, April 7. At the opening reception Friday, May 4, from 4 to 7 o'clock, prize awards will be made and a catalogue of the exhibition will be available.

The show will be open to the public during regular Artists Market hours, 10 to 5 o'clock Monday through Saturday.

Entry forms have gone into the mail for the 200 members of the Michigan Water Color Society. Non-members may secure copies as well as membership applications by writing to the corresponding secretary, Nancy Hawkins, 4672 Turner, Trenton, Michigan 48183.

The Michigan Water Color Society is a statewide organization of painters and patrons of watercolor who support the exhibition and educational program of the society.

with tickets priced from $12 to $25, (students, $5), and a portion of each "Helena" ticket tax deductible.

To celebrate this special occasion, the DSO board of directors, the Women's and Junior Women's Associations for the Symphony have planned their own special gala.

The celebration begins with a pre-performance champagne reception in the Ford Auditorium foyer at 7 o'clock. Post-performance, there will be cocktails and a buffet supper.

Those interested in attending may select from several categories ranging from $50 to $500 per couple. Single reservations, at half the price of couples, are welcome, and all contributions are tax deductible.

Proceeds will benefit the orchestra and help mount the cost of the New York and Washington productions. Mr. and Mrs. R. Jamison Williams and Mr. and Mrs. R. Alexander Wrigley are general chairmen of the evening. Ticket information may be obtained by calling Mrs. John A. Courson, 645-5439.

The DSO will return home to Detroit immediately after its East Coast tour to record "Die Aegyptische Helena" for London Records. This will be the first complete recording of the work, and the last major Strauss opera to be put on disc.

The cast is spectacular. World-famous Welsh soprano Gwyneth Jones is renowned for her performances with the Metropolitan Opera; and in other opera capitols of the world. Tenor Matti Kastu, who will sing Menelaus, is a native of Finland who has appeared with great success in opera productions both in Europe and the United States.

Soprano Barbara Hendricks, (Aithra, a sorceress), and baritone Willard White, (Altair, a Nomad chieftain), are both highly acclaimed young American artists.

Tenor Curtis Rayam, critically acclaimed as Alfonso in the DSO's production of Schubert's "Alfonso and Estrella" last November, will sing the role of Da-Ud, Altair's son. Swedish-born contralto Birgit Finnilae will be the voice of the Omniscent Sea-Shell.

And among the featured Elves are two artists who have performed with the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra.

Lyric soprano Maria Cimarelli, educated at Wayne State University, has been awarded three consecutive grants by the Music Study Club of Detroit. She sang a featured role in the Music Hall's production of Leonard Bernstein's "Mass," and was heard at last year's DSO Schubert/Vienna Festival with the Interlochen Orchestra and Choir and as a participant in the Soiree Musicale.

"Seats are available for the other five operas, but all ticket sales have been extraordinarily brisk this year and choice seats for any of the other productions will, shortly, be hard to come by. We suggest that anyone interested in ordering opera tickets act at once.

"The Met is the nation's oldest and the world's largest musical traveling company," Mr. Ledyard continues. "Each year, more than 300 singers, dancers, designers and support personnel come to Detroit, bringing a week of artistry and enchantment unmatched anywhere for its splendor and beauty.

"The Met features the best singers of our time, the most professional staging, superb choral work, beautiful ballet, exquisite set designs and costuming and a great orchestra led by renowned conductors. "Detroit is one of only seven cities to be included in

Artists Market Sculpture Idea Show to Open

The sites were suggested by a group of architectural firms who are contributing over $1,000 in incentive fees for sculpture ideas. Jurors the Metropolitan's annual tour: this is significant privilege and an irreplaceable cultural resource for our city.

"This is the 21st year that the DGOA has brought the Met to Detroit."

All ticket ordering must be done by mail. Anyone not possessing a Met Week ticket order form should contact the Detroit Grand Opera Association office at Ford Auditorium, 20 East Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226, or call 965-2940 between 9 and 4 o'clock Monday through Friday.

Bidders will have thousands of items to choose from during the 11th annual Channel 56 TV Auction which opens tomorrow, Friday, March 30, and will run through Saturday, April 7.

To bid, viewers should keep in mind these steps: Keep paper, pencil and phone close to television set. Spot a desired item and jot down its board and item numbers.

Grab the phone and dial the number shown on the television screen as quickly as possible. Bid high and fast.

Once you've placed your bid, keep watching—and try to keep cool.

If you see you've been outbid, call in again with a new, higher bid.

The highest bid will be announced on the air and the highest bidder will receive a confirming telephone call. Instructions for pick-up are given at the time of call-back.

The public is also reminded that the auction needs additional donations to keep running even while on-the-air. Brand new merchandise worth $50 or more is urgently requested, and should be brought directly to the station in Second avenue, a block north of the Fisher Building.

During the sophisticated era of Hollywood in the Forties, movie actresses were at the zenith of their popularity and screen stars like Joan Crawford and Rosalind Russell claimed the adoration of millions. Today, nearly forty years later, the cyclical nature of fashion and beauty has returned us to the marvelous ambience of that period. Retro Hair, is the perfect distillation of the subtle, elegant qualities of that earlier time, re-interpreted for the chic woman of 1979.

Pointe area NMI Boosters and Mr. and Mrs. Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Grob, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Howe and Mrs. Paul Grubbs.

The NMI is a center providing comprehensive evaluation, diagnosis, therapy and consultation services for multi-handicapped children. Dr. Castle, chief orthopedic surgeon at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital, has donated his surgical skills every Wednesday for over 11 years to help children with cerebral palsy to walk.

His team is made up of clinical psychologists, physical therapists, occupational therapists, speech and language pathologists, audiologists, social workers and medical specialists in orthopedic surgery, psychiatry and pediatrics.

The Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children and Adults and Mount Carmel Hospital have pooled their resources to create this unique center to meet the needs of handicapped children and their families, but there are special needs that are not covered by basic funding.

NMI's Boosters, organized last year, are helping to raise funds to meet these needs, such as the special services of a social worker to help families cope with problems related to a handicapped child.

This year, through donations and funds raised via the $130-a-couple May dinner dance, the Boosters hope to surpass the funds they raised in 1978.

Introduced at the 1979 party as "Miss Inspirations" will be 15-year-old twin girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Yauch, who have been helped by the NMI year later, he was improvising fluently and had learned to read musical notation.

As a child, Firkušny studied with composer Leos Janacek. At 10 he made his debut playing a Mozart concerto in Prague with the Prague Philharmonic Orchestra.

After a period in Vienna he played for Alfred Cortot who listened carefully, then announced, "You don't need a teacher, you need a public."

However, Firkušny continued his studies, this time with Arthur Schnabel, and in 1958 made his first United States tour.

"I was not very good," he insisted. "I still needed seasoning."

By 1941 Firkušny had acquired the seasoning and made a second appearance in Manhattan's Town Hall where he was acclaimed for his strength and assured playing. That same year, he re-introduced to American audiences Dvorak's Piano Concerto in G minor.

It was the first performance in this country in 65 years and the first of a brilliant succession of unfamiliar Czech compositions which the pianist has brought to concert halls in America.

This is Firkušny's 10th appearance with the DSO. He debuted with the orchestra in November, 1946, and last appeared with the DSO in February of 1977 at Carnegie Hall.

James De Preist, born in Philadelphia in 1936, studied Musicology at the University of Pennsylvania and Theory and Orchestration at the Philadelphia Conservatory.

since their fourth birthday. Dr. Castle has operated on both girls many times during the years. At the dinner dance, Mrs. Castle will present them with flowers.

A plaque with the names of 800 children Dr. Castle has helped was presented to him at the NMI Boosters' first annual dinner dance. In all, over 1,000 children have been serviced by the NMI since its conception in 1968.

Many of these children might have been institutionalized if NMI's expert medical help had not been available.

Meeting Held By Pack 39

Cub Scout Pack 39 met recently at Barnes School, with Cubmaster Don Young presenting the uniform inspection award to Den Two, and Bobcat awards to Dom Cavato, Chris Johnstone and Marco Moreale.

A skit also was given by Den One and Bobcat awards were presented to Chris Malley and Charles Tasso.

Webelos scouts received awards, too. Randy Arndt took the engineer award and Kim Bassett the sportsman award. Colin McNeill received both the Wolf Badge and the artist award, while Jeff Bodanski was awarded the sportsman and scientist award. Den Three gave a skit, "The Good Turn."

After the regular meeting, the pack was surprised by special refreshments, a huge blue and gold decorated cake made by den mother Jan Sansoterra. This was to celebrate the 69th birthday of scouting in America.

Mason School Prepares For 50th Anniversary

The Stevens T. Mason Elementary School, 1640 Vernier road, will celebrate its 50th Birthday Anniversary the week of April 2 to 8.

The school was named in honor of Stevens T. Mason, the first official governor of the State of Michigan. Gov. Mason, born in 1811, was known as the "Boy Governor" as he was appointed to his office at the age of 23 years. His political career was most active but rather short in length as he passed away in 1843.

Our state's first governor was famous for his efforts toward the civic improvement of this state, particularly his efforts to provide public education for the people of this great commonwealth.

Mason School was dedicated in 1928 with the doors officially opening for its students and staff in early 1929. In that year the Grosse Pointe Public School System and the Woods had a different title—Rural Agricultural School District Number One, Lochmoor Village, Grosse Pointe Township, Wayne County, State of Michigan.

As one of Mason School's first teachers related, "In 1929 I felt I was teaching out in the country for there were no sidewalks from the bus to the school and as I walked down the roadway I would have to give way to a cow."

"It was necessary to carry a lunch as there were no eating places in Lochmoor Village. On PTA nights when we felt it was too far to go home and back we shopped for groceries in the morning, brought them to school and then after school cooked our dinner."

Back in the early years the school was surrounded by open fields, woods and hunters in season. During the pheasant season the following note appeared on the bulletin board in the school office: Please Postpone Walking Excursions, The Hunting Season Is On!

When the school doors opened in 1929 its total enrollment was 99 students and a teaching staff of six. Dr. Samuel Brownell was superintendent of schools and Ethel Tucker was principal.

After an addition was placed on the building in 1942, its enrollment rose to 970 students, in 1951 during the peak of the residential building boom.

In its 50-year history, Mason School has had only four principals, Ethel Tucker, 1929 to 1958, John Brubacher, 1958 to 1961, Larry Gagnon, 1961 to 1966, and William A. Mestdagh, 1966 to the present.

Ms. Tucker, the school's first principal, had served

Curtail Travel To Save on Gas

Cutting unnecessary near-home car travel is the key to eliminating the need for gasoline rationing and weekend service station closings proposed in a standby federal plan, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Any rationing plan would cripple state tourism, Michigan's number two industry, and would not achieve any appreciable fuel savings since vacation travel accounts for only 2.5 percent of all auto trips," stated Auto Club Touring Manager Joseph Ratke.

"Earning a living, social visits and family business trips account for 96 percent of all auto trips. Seventy-five percent of those trips are under 10 miles each," he said.

"An added incentive to motorists now driving 10,000 miles yearly would be the $135 savings in fuel, tire and maintenance costs realized by reducing mileage 20 percent."

Auto Club outlined seven steps motorists can take to dramatically cut near-home gasoline consumption:

- Form car pools. Commuting is the largest single category of auto use. Two persons car pooling to work daily can save 25 percent of the fuel used weekly by each.

• Combine near-home trips. Fifty-four percent of all trips by car are under five miles. Make one trip for all errands in the same area. Travel during non-rush hours. Share shopping trips with neighbors.

• Drive conservatively. An Auto Club economy driving demonstration proved that a motorist accelerating smoothly and driving at a steady pace with minimal braking over a 10-mile urban course can increase gasoline mileage 60 percent, while finishing only 25 seconds behind a car driven with jackrabbit techniques.

• Drive at moderate speeds. Most cars get about 21 percent more miles per gallon at 55 mph than at 70 mph.

• Keep a daily mileage log. Denote the length and number of all trips to find which can be eliminated or combined.

• Maintain cars. Tests show that routine maintenance improves mileage 10 percent. Just keeping tires properly inflated can add one mile per gallon.

• Do not idle a car's motor more than a minute. It takes less gas to restart than to idle the engine more than a minute.

Walton-Pierce . . . presented a fashion show at the Village Club in Bloomfield Hills last week and featured interchangeable fashions from our separates collection. We sent out two models at a time and illustrated how the interchangeables can coordinate and extend your wardrobe. They are a traveler's delight! Betty Hanson's tuxedo style, linen-look black jacket was put together with a black, slit skirt and a silky white blouse. It really has a dressed up look and could go to dinner and the theater. The jacket was then shown with a softly pleated black print skirt and a soft greige blouse. Another group of coordinated separates is called the Wilroy Traveler. We showed a pink striped double breasted blazer and skirt. Our model carried the matching pants. She exchanged her jacket with another model who was wearing Wilroy's solid deep rose shirt-jacket that was put together with a matching shirt, knit vest and skirt. From Tudor Square we chose a golden print blouse and skirt in a silky soft look. Our model carried solid color brown pants from the group. Another model was dressed in the Tudor Square solid brown jacket, skirt and golden print blouse. She gave her jacket to shelter the print outfit. The fourth group was from Austin Hill. A daisy print blazer was worn with a solid green T shirt and a daisy print skirt. Our model carried a solid color pant. She exchanged her jacket with her counterpart in a daisy print shirt-jacket and solid color coordinating skirt. Some see for yourself!

MRS. WILLIAM R. SHELBY, OF GROSSE POINTE BOULEVARD

By Ann Wallace

Volunteers — that segment of our society that helps make possible the success of so many organizations both financially and culturally—are diminishing in numbers these days.

Jobs, less people available, for example, are some of the possible reasons for this decrease.

Their need is not any less great, however, as the present volunteers retire from their positions, move away or pass away. They need to be replaced.

The League of Catholic Women has placed Bargain Counters for the sale of secondary clothing and household items to citizens with limited means at several locations throughout metropolitan Detroit.

These counters have been staffed by chairmen, managers and hosts of volunteers throughout the years since their inception in the 1920's. The eastside counter, the first one, now with Mary Shelby as chairman, moved to its present site at 14929 Kercheval avenue at Wayburn about 10 years ago.

Need Help Badly
"We need people to help us," stresses Mrs. Shelby. "Our shop is a big one with much merchandise that needs to be marked, sorted and placed out for sale. This requires a sizeable group of people."

"We serve a great need in the community. However, we need more volunteers to enable us to continue our work."

The hours for working at the Bargain Counter are flexible, but with a minimum of about three hours a day Tuesday through Friday, from 11 to 4 o'clock, and Saturday, from 11 to 2 o'clock.

"We are closed Sundays and Mondays," continues Mary, "and we are never open evenings."

The League of Catholic Women is an organization of some 6,500 volunteers and professionals operating five social service agencies and four bargain counters throughout the Detroit area.

It also participates with other civic, church and community groups toward the rebuilding of lives and neighborhoods.

Other bargain counters are located in Berkley, Dearborn and St. Clair Shores. Funds raised by the sale of merchandise at these boutique type resale shops and Bargain Counter East help fund many League services.

Seeks Energy Outlet
"When I took an early retirement in 1974 as a secretary in the Sales division at Chrysler Corporation," says Mary, "I started to search for an outlet for my energy. I wanted to do something to help disadvantaged people."

While still working, Mrs. Shelby says, a parish director sent a parish membership card to a co-worker. On the back of the card, the Bargain Counter was mentioned.

"Later, when driving on Kercheval avenue," explains Mrs. Shelby, "I spotted the Bargain Counter East. Out of curiosity, I went into the shop, browsed and asked if volunteers were needed."

Mrs. Frank Lynch, then manager at the counter, replied, "We certainly do!"

So began Mrs. Shelby's tour of duty with the League of Catholic Women as a Bargain Counter worker, becoming a manager, and eventually a chairman who controls the shop, working with the manager and other volunteers.

Have Many Items
Each counter, a continuing source of income for the League, sells women's, men's and children's clothing, accessories, books and small household items.

"We receive requests for large appliances," notes Mrs. Shelby, "such as refrigerators and stoves, but we just don't have the space for them. I really wish we did."

"Items which are sold almost before they are put on the counter are linens of all kinds, such as sheets and towels. They are in great demand. The League gives a tax deduction slip for all items that are received."

The counter also handles estates that are being liquidated, Mary continues, with items sold being a tax deduction for the estate.

"Anything we receive," advises Mrs. Shelby, "must be saleable and clean as we cannot sell anything that is soiled."

All this activity requires a number of volunteers — those who mark the merchandise, sort and sell — and those generally involved with the public.

Soprano Catherine Grimshaw received her formal training at the Eastman School of Music and the University of Michigan, and studied privately under Julius Huehn of the Metropolitan Opera and Eva Likova of the New York City Opera. She has had roles in several University of Michigan operas, has performed in nightclubs, on radio and television, and sang with the DSO in the American premier of "Alfonso and Estrella."

Take A Look at Detroit

There's a fascinating exhibit on view through Sunday, June 3, in the Detroit Historical Museum's Urban History Hall: a collection of 12 lithographs drawn by William Bostick who, until his retirement two years ago, was administrator and secretary of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

"The Wood, Bricks and Stones of Detroit" captures the rich variety of the city's historic architecture and preserves for future generations a record of Old City Hall and Fort Street's Union Station, both of which have been lost through hasty demolition.

The 10 other drawings are of presently standing structures. They range from the Old Wayne County Building, (now Traffic Court), to the Detroit Institute of Arts. Each is accompanied by a pertinent commentary by noted local architectural historian W. Hawkins Ferry, of Lakeshore road.

Casgrain Hall also provides meeting rooms and activities for the community. It features a cafeteria, which is open to the public, and a chapel, celebrating daily mass.

The hall ballroom will be the setting for the second "Collectables Sale" scheduled for mid-May.

"This was a tremendous success last year," notes Mrs. Shelby, "and we are looking forward to a repeat. A victory luncheon at the hall on the 19th will honor membership workers with awards."

"On Sunday, May 20, the sale will be open to the public from 10 o'clock in the morning to 4 o'clock. Clothing, furniture, dishes, rugs, carpeting, bric-a-brac, art objects and much more will be for sale at bargain prices."

The League will give tax deduction receipts for the amount of the sale of the donated items.

"While I was at Chrysler and a member of the Chrysler Girls Club — Car and Truck Division" continues Mary, who is a member of the bargain counter board of directors which with League president Marilyn Lundy and other officers oversees the counters, solves mutual problems and sets policy, "I began to think about what I would do in my retirement years."

Impressed by Gratitude
"I attended a party at the Casa Maria community center and was impressed by the gratitude expressed to the League workers by the people there who had been given some dolls."

"Since that time," continues Mrs. Shelby, "I have visited nursing homes with other volunteers, bringing along cakes for a birthday party. We even provided some clowns!"

Mrs. Shelby, with the concept in mind of helping others, is a native of Wall Lake, Iowa. After going through the school system there and St. Angela's Academy, she enrolled in a business course in Sioux City.

She found employment as a Girl Friday at the Sioux City Tribune, taking ads and fulfilling other duties of a newspaper.

She joined United Airlines in Chicago and was the third woman ever hired in the reservations and space control office.

"That was quite a feat in itself," explains Mrs. Shelby, "as at that time, men dominated the field. I then went to work in Denver and eventually found my way to Detroit, when United opened a new route from Detroit to Philadelphia and New York."

Helped Train Women
Mrs. Shelby was in charge of training women to become reservations and space control employees.

"My husband also worked for United," Mary adds, "where he was supervisor, and then for American Airlines. I also switched to American, as a reservations agent, which was difficult as there had been no women there either."

Mrs. Shelby spent a few years at home but returned to the working world as a secretary at Chrysler.

Mr. Shelby, who retired as a buying manager from J.L. Hudson Co., is a native of Watoke, Calif., near Fresno. He has some family heritage, however, in Grand Rapids.

His father was the son of the president of the Grand Rapids Fort Wayne Railroad.

Two Family Homes
To this day, there are two family homes — one called the Shelby House, the other, the Booth House — which still stand on Heritage Hill in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Shelby, a lady much involved with her work in the League of Catholic Women, would like to encourage anyone to call the Bargain Counter to offer their help.

"We are so grateful to those volunteers," says Mrs. Shelby, "who, through the years have made our bargain counter such a key support of the League of Catholic Women, and also to those who have donated goods and to the buyers of the merchandise."

"We are indeed grateful."
