

Lawsuit to reorganize county stalls

By Dean Brierly

A second lawsuit seeking to force use of the 1980 census as part of the plan to reorganize Wayne County collapsed Monday, when a panel of three Detroit judges handed down a ruling supporting a plan based on the 1970 census.

THE SUIT WAS filed by the Wayne County Communities for Equal Representation, with which the Shores, City and Woods are aligned.

The coalition of mostly western communities wants to force a county apportionment commission to use the 1980 data to determine districts from which charter commissioners will be elected. That same election, scheduled for August 5, will also decide whether or not voters approve the concept of a new charter to reorganize the current county structure.

The panel handed down its decision late Monday afternoon, ruling that there be only one apportionment plan per decade. Since the apportionment commission had originally been instructed by Attorney General Frank Kelley to draw the districts according to a 1972 apportionment plan, the Detroit judges, in effect, upheld that decision.

Had a ruling been made in the coalition's favor, the entire reorganization process would have been delayed indefinitely. A $20 million expected deficit this year triggered Gov. William Milliken to order the county to reorganize.

Patrick McCauley, an attorney for the western coalition, was upset with the ruling, but said the battle is far from over. The group's next step, he added, is to file another appeal with the Michigan Supreme Court, since he says the issue deals with "federal Constitutional rights."

"I am very disappointed that on issues of this complexity, the court of appeals seems to have missed the entire thrust of the case. It's definitely a setback, but certainly not the end of the game."

THE GROUP HAS based its argument for the 1980 figures on statistics compiled by a University of Michigan demographer which show a population shift to suburban communities over the past 10 years.

Should charter districts be decided on the basis of the 1970 census, the coalition states voters in its various communities would be deprived of the one-man, one-vote concept, which it claims is in violation of federal law.

McCauley said his organization had filed the latest lawsuit on June 17. Immediate consideration was granted the case, but the request for oral argument was denied.

Instead, the panel has been studying the case since June 24 based on existing testimony and evidence.

The communities originally filed a lawsuit at the county level which was heard by Circuit Court Judge Susan Borman on June 16.

At that time, she ordered the apportionment commission to draw up districts according to a 1972 apportionment plan based on the 1970 census. She also lifted a restraining order which had been placed on County Clerk James Killen's office which prevented it from completing work necessary to get the issue on the August 5 ballot.

That work entails getting all the candidates filed properly, getting certification of statewide candidates from the state and getting certification of any ballot issues sponsored by local cities.

The office also has to send a proof of the ballots to each of the candidates to check for errors and get the ballots printed up and then delivered to local municipalities.

With the order off his back, Killen says that work is now proceeding right on schedule, but warned that "any restraining order at this time and we would be in real trouble."

Revving up for the Fourth

Warming up the engine of his rare 1918 MG, Tom Mossman, wife Sue and children Scott and Katie look forward to taking part in the annual Grosse Pointe Park July 4 parade and picnic tomorrow. The car will be one of several vintage automobiles in the parade, which will feature floats, clowns and bagpipers as well.

The motorized section of the parade will kick off at Pierce school on Kercheval at 1 p.m. Children are to assemble at Trombley school on Beaconsfield at 1 p.m. where they will be picked up by the adults. From there the whole entourage will proceed to Three Mile Park, Grand Marshall of the event will be Detroit News columnist Charlie Manos. State Sen. John Kelly and State Rep. Dennis Hertel are also expected to attend.

South High teacher feared drowned in Port Huron race

By Dean Brierly

Geraldine (Jeri) Mulson's two main loves in life were teaching and sailing. Ironically, the former South High School physical education teacher's life ended last weekend when she apparently drowned during the recent Port Huron to Mackinac single-handed sailboat race.

HER FRIEND AND co-worker during her 21 years at South, Stephani Prychitko, remembers Mrs. Mulson as "a terrific person, always willing to help someone." Her passion during the summer months was sailing, something Mulson excelled in.

She competed in the Port Huron to Mackinac races for more than 15 years and in 1971 she skippered the first all-woman crew in the annual race. Her death came as a complete surprise to Prychitko.

"I just couldn't believe it. She knew so much about sailing."

Mrs. Mulson, 52, had entered her 29-foot sloop Sayanaro II just before the 10 a.m. race starting time. Her boat was found around 11:40 p.m., circling in the water north of the Blue Water bridge by the crew from another boat.

A coast guard source said she probably fell overboard during a squall that morning. The boat was towed into the Marina Yacht Club in Pointe Edward, Ont.

A MASSIVE SEARCH, including the coast guard and hundreds of private boats, was abandoned at approximately 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

One local sail club official predicted "this will be the last time this 'single-handed' race will be run. Many boating organizations and the coast guard have been against this all along—it's just too dangerous."

Mrs. Mulson was the first person ever to disappear in the history of the race.

Mrs. Mulson came to South in 1959, having received her bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan in 1950 and her master's degree from Western Maryland College in 1959.

Jeri Mulson

During her 21 years at South, she taught in the physical education department, coached the Blue Dolphins swim team, as well as varsity and junior varsity badminton and basketball teams. She also was in charge of the cheerleading squad for a time and was heavily involved in the intramurals program.

Before coming to South, she spent nine years teaching in the Redford Township school system and also taught in Maryland for one year.

South principal Joseph Spagnoli was saddened to hear of Mrs. Mulson's death.

"She was a fine teacher who did her job quietly, thoroughly and efficiently," he said. "I think the students respected her as a person and as a teacher. She will definitely be missed here."

Cindy Singelyn, class of 1979, was one of her students. Singelyn said Mrs. Mulson was one of the most loved and respected teachers at the school.

"SHE WAS LOVABLE. You had to know her to know how great she was," Singelyn said.

Russ Hepner, chairperson of the athletic department, worked with Mrs. Mulson for 12 years and remembers her total dedication to her job. He said she always gave 100 percent effort which made her fun to work with.

Outside of school, most of her time was spent sailing, according to Prychitko. Mrs. Mulson often took trips during the summer months and competed in numerous races. Prychitko remembers her as a "lovely storyteller" who loved to talk about sailing.

Photography, copper enameling, dance and music were her other interests. The St. Clair Shores resident was single and is survived by her mother, who lives in Florida and a sister in Pittsburgh.

School Board Says 'No' to Youth Bureau

By Susan McDonald

The school board went on record Monday in opposition to creation of a new police bureau to handle juvenile crime, disputing claims made by a special task force that drug and alcohol abuse is on the rise and that trouble is brewing in local high schools.

The board voted 6-1 to express its opposition to the Youth Bureau which was proposed in May by a special task force headed by school board Vice-President Jon Gandelot.

GANDELOT CAST the dissenting vote.

He and League of Women Voters President Frances Schonenberg were the only Youth Bureau supporters to speak at the school board's Monday meeting—in sharp contrast to an earlier gathering on the subject that drew more than 200 supporters.

"I guess people have short memories. We had a lot of good luck in our high schools this year, but I don't think it's going to last very long," Mrs. Schonenberg said after the vote. "I suppose the plan will have to go on a back burner for a while . . . until some disturbance occurs and people become interested again."

The 14-member task force was formed by Gandelot after concerned parents packed a special meeting on youth crime last spring. The task force report was issued in May and proposed creation of the police bureau to curb an "apparent increase" in drug use among high school and middle school students.

The task force recommended the five Grosse Pointe cities and school board join to finance the youth bureau to investigate juvenile crime and to monitor school and community activities.

The recommendations won support from only the Farms City Council this spring. Other councils either ignored the report or indicated opposition to the recommendation.

It came under particularly strong attack in the Woods last month, when Public Safety Director John Dankle told the council the task force report was prepared without meaningful consultation with police officials and contains "several serious defects." Dankle added that the proposed bureau organization "would be chaotic, at best."

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT William Coats was equally strong in his opposition to the proposal, as were several board members. The superintendent said he has a "personal bias against having armed police officers on duty" in the high schools, saying student criminal behavior is "simply not that serious."

As for the proposal that the schools share the cost of the bureau, Coats said it "is unconscionable to attempt to address this need (for more police officers) with tax monies collected for education."

Task force chairman Gandelot explained the recommendations as an attempt to work out a compromise between the need of the school administration to control activity within its buildings and the requirements of city-controlled police departments.

"I still believe there is a need for such a bureau," Gandelot said, "and so did the vast majority of the task force."

School board member Joan Hanpeter summed up her opposition to the report, by saying she thinks "there is a need in our community for an organization to deal with drug and alcohol abuse. But I tend to view it as more of a community problem than an educational problem."

More boats needed for GOP tour

To make sure Republican delegates visiting Detroit this month don't suffer from sinking spirits, local boat owners will be providing boat tours around Belle Isle throughout convention week.

But organizer Charles Tompkins, chairman of the 14th Republican District and past commodore of the Detroit Yacht Club, said he needs more skippers to volunteer their boats and services for the tour project which he began in May.

Tompkins said he expects about 2,500 visiting Republicans to take advantage of the free boat tours which begin on July 13. The problem is he has only enlisted about 100 boats to host the visitors.

About 250 boats are needed to allow each volunteer to make only one tour accommodating 10 passengers, Tompkins said. The trip will start at the Yacht Club on Belle Isle, then go to Cobo Hall, back around to the Canadian side, around Peche Island and return to the club in about one hour, Tompkins said.

Tompkins said volunteer skippers can host the delegation from the state of their choice. These are the days assigned to each group so far: Sunday, July 13—South Dakota, West Virginia, California, Pennsylvania, Maine; Tuesday, July 15—Ohio, Mississippi, Montana; Wednesday, July 16—New Hampshire, Illinois, Arizona; Thursday, July 17—North Dakota, Virginia, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Iowa.

Those wishing to volunteer their boats and services can call Charles Tompkins at 894-2222.

Sightseeing at Stroh's

GOP visitors will feel right at home in Detroit

By Joanne Gouleche

Entertaining Uncle Joe and Aunt Mary from out-of-state can be a challenging task.

Chances are you will want to wine-and-dine them at a fine restaurant, show off the Renaissance Center and maybe spend the afternoon shopping in the Village.

Wherever the tour begins, you'll want to be sure and end with a good impression.

JIM AND SHARON SNYDER of Grosse Pointe Woods think they'll make a good impression when, less than a few weeks from now, they will be entertaining some folks from Pennsylvania—all 178 of that state's delegates and alternates to the GOP Convention beginning July 14.

Add to that Pennsylvania Gov. Richard Thornburgh, state senators, representatives, their families and other dignitaries, and the Snyders will be responsible for entertaining well over 400 people.

The Snyders have recruited family and friends to help make life away from the convention floor relaxing for the Pennsylvania visitors.

The couple held a cocktail party at their home last week for their convention committee to firm up last minute details.

The goal of the host committee is to make delegates feel welcome and at home in Detroit.

Jim and Sharon think Pennsylvania will feel right at home at the Stroh Haus, where delegates will be able to tour the brewery and sip Detroit's famous beer. Plans also are for a visit to Greenfield Village and the Detroit Yacht Club.

Nine other Grosse Pointe couples will join the Snyders in hosting convention delegations.

Bob and Betty Butler of the City will head off convention week with a champagne party at their home for North Dakota's entourage.

Betty and Jacobson's also will be coordinating a shopping tour of the Village. Plans are set, too, for a trip to Greenfield Village and the Detroit Yacht Club.

In some instances, host committees have their choice of state delegations. Why North Dakota?

Diva Munro Entertains in the Fries Wednesday

The Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival presents opera's newest young diva Leigh Munro, soprano, in a recital on Wednesday, July 9, in the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, 32 Lakeshore, at 8 p.m.

The 1980 Music Festival, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association, began its season on July 2 with a recital by the renowned pianist Gary Graffman.

Leigh Munro stepped into the role of one of the greatest "show-biz" clichés — the Cinderella success story — whereby overnight she became a new shining star in the opera firmament.

The story began in Boston, 1978, when the world-famous soprano Anna Moffo was stricken with a virus and Munro, then her understudy, was called to fill in for her. The role was that of Lisa in Verdi's Stiffelio with the Opera Company of Boston, under the direction of the eminent Sarah Caldwell.

With only a few days of preparation for the difficult role, and with no rehearsal with either the orchestra or the cast, and some fast costume hemming, Munro was "ready."

The audience's disappointment over Moffo's cancellation was readily appeased. By the end of Munro's first arioso, she had won them over and by the end had won herself a standing ovation.

Leigh Munro was born in Lansdowne, Pa., and received her early training in Harrisburg. After winning the talent portion of the Miss Pennsylvania contest, she entered the musical comedy field and soon after the opera world beckoned with major roles in Puccini's La Rondine, Donizetti's Lucia di Lammermoor, Verdi's Rigoletto and others.

Miss Munro's performance as Magda in La Rondine with the San Francisco Spring Opera earned her the accolade: "Thus for La Rondine to be effective beyond its operetta aims, the part of Magda must be strongly cast, and Spring Opera boasts an outstanding singer-actress in Leigh Munro."

Her performances have brought her universal acclaim for the distinction of her singing, plus her remarkable physical beauty and convincing dramatic portrayal.

Leigh Munro's program will include operatic selections from La Bohème, La Rondine and Turandot by Puccini, Die Zauberflöte by Mozart, Lucia di Lammermoor by Donizetti and Massenet's Manon; a group of songs by Debussy, Liszt, Ravel and Poulenc; a group of traditional songs and operetta selections from The New Moon and Student Prince by Romberg, The Bohemian Girl by Balfe, Die Fledermaus by Strauss and Lehár's The Merry Widow.

The third festival date, Wednesday, July 16, will feature a trio recital in an evening of chamber music, its distinguished members being pianist Leonard Pennario, violinist Gordon Staples and cellist Marcy Chanteaux. It will be held in the Fries Auditorium of the War Memorial Center, at 8 p.m.

For the fourth concert, on July 23, Elizabeth Lesesne will take her place at the piano as the first performer to appear in the newly initiated Young Artists Debut Concert. The recital will be held in the Fries Auditorium, at 8 p.m.

The fifth and closing concert will take on a change of pace with James Dapogny's Chicago Jazz Band, an all-star group of musicians specializing in traditional jazz from ragtime to New Orleans and Chicago jazz to swing.

The concert will be staged outdoors on the Alger House Lakeside Terrace of the Memorial Center, at 8 p.m. In case of rain it will be held in the Fries Auditorium.

Curtain time for all concerts is 8 p.m. In addition to the festival, a full evening of enjoyment can start with a pre-concert 6:30 p.m. picnic date on the Memorial grounds. Guests are welcome to bring their own food or order box-suppers catered by the memorial. In the event of rain, the picnic continues in the Crystal Ballroom of the Fries Auditorium.

Tickets will be available at the box office on the concert evenings, however, chairman Mrs. Sterling S. Sandford and vice-chairman Mrs. Lyndie R. Martin urge everyone to get their tickets in advance.

Single concert admission is $8.75 per person, student is $4.50. The Young Artists Concert is $1.75 per person, Employees and labor unions representing more than 1,000 Detroit area corporations and organizations received special recognition June 26 at the 19th annual United Foundation Honor Awards Luncheon held at the Detroit Plaza Hotel.

Organizations, ranging in size from 10 employees to major automotive firms, were honored for their exceptional participation in the 1979 Torch Drive, which raised $45.3 million to support 137 health and community charities throughout Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Attending the meeting were campaign chairmen, volunteer solicitors, labor representatives and chief executives.

General Chairman for the 1979 Torch Drive, Louis R. Ross, executive vice president, Car Product Development, Ford Motor Company chaired the meeting. Addressing nearly 1,500 people, Ross thanked the award winners asking for even greater participation in this year's Torch Drive. Ross said, "The increased needs for this year stem from the fact that our agencies are facing inflationary increases in operating expenses just as any other business or non-profit organization experiences."

"Those agencies that presently are receiving government funding are looking to the possibility of substantially reduced government support for human services, due to the pressure all levels of government are receiving for reduced spending. On top of this, because of the high unemployment in the Detroit area, we expect an increased demand for existing services."

Organized labor was recognized for its participation in last year's campaign. Two hundred-sixty locals and organizations received special honors for union members who gave award winning campaigns.

Hit and Run at Moross in Farms

A Farms resident reported a hit and run incident to police last Sunday which occurred at the corner of Beaure and Moross.

The Farms man stated he had pulled to a stop at the stop sign on east bound Beaure at Moross when a young male with dark hair driving a 1972 dark blue Mercury two-door struck the rear of his car.

The police report shows that the complainant got out of his car and asked the young man what was going on. The man allegedly replied "You have insurance, don't you?" and then got back into his car, deliberately drove into the complainant's vehicle again and drove off.

No noticeable damage was done to the car, but the man's 10 year old daughter was sitting in the front passenger seat at the time. She was not injured.

The Beaujolais of 1976 have received great praise. They are supposed to be the best since 1961, the year when almost all types of wine reached extraordinary peaks. The best of the 1976 is the gold medal winning Beaujolais of the Chateau de la Chaize-Brouilly. The gold medal was especially nice for this chateau, since it came during their tricentennial. Other 1976 vintage wines have received wide acclaim as well. We will be happy to suggest a few to complement your tastes.

Summer brings out the best, and worst in some

By Gregory Jakub

To most people, the arrival of summer weather means an increase in outdoor activity. But for some Grosse Pointe Woods city officials, warm weather also brings its share of problems.

An annual problem accompanying summer is bicycle thefts and this year is no different, according to Lt. Jack Patterson of the Grosse Pointe Woods Public Safety Department.

Patterson said in the past few weeks the department has taken reports of two or three bike thefts a day in the Woods. Most of the larcenies could have been prevented if the bikes were locked, Patterson added.

UNLOCKED BIKES in front of stores and in open garages are prime targets for thieves, Patterson said. The easiest way to foil them is to keep garage doors shut and make sure bikes are locked to stationary objects—not parking meters because bikes can be lifted over them, Patterson added.

A bigger problem has appeared in the Woods where park maintenance crews sometimes have difficulty keeping up with the litter left behind by careless park-goers, according to Recreation Department Director Donald Hallmann.

"It's a very bad situation. When you get five real hot days you fall behind sometimes. We're talking about thousands of people (per day) not just hundreds, using the (park) facilities," Hallmann said.

Hallmann estimated that only about 10 percent of park users are not thoughtful enough to keep the park clean. The problems involve bathrooms, picnic areas, and the pool where some people bring food and beverage containers in spite of a state law prohibiting it, Hallmann said.

WHILE LITTER is the park's biggest problem, there have been isolated incidents of extreme abuse of the bathroom restrooms at the police station near Gresquire Park.

According to a letter to the Woods' city manager from the president of the housekeeping firm that is contracted to maintain the restrooms, this is the second year that the facilities have been abused.

"The crew is spending an extraordinary amount of time attempting to remove graffiti from the walls, rolls of toilet paper from the commodes and mud from the walls and floors (the result of mud fights). In addition, the individuals who are using the restrooms are urinating and defecating on the floors. . . . We clean buildings through the metropolitan Detroit area and have never experienced this same problem," the letter says.

In another incident at the Woods' Lakefront Park, two geese had taken up residence in the park and were befriended by some tennis players. One goose was found dead. The fowl was reportedly beaten and stuffed in a trash can.

According to some parkgoers, there were those who considered the geese a nuisance because they were messy. Park Director Hallmann confirmed that the goose was found in a trash can and speculated the incident might have been the work of a disturbed person.

The Woods Council and Recreation Commission are considering ways to deal with the vandalism problem.

Hallmann said the incidents are not indicative of increased vandalism in city parks but are isolated incidents among the usual damage that occurs each year. The city spends $800 to $900 yearly to repair that damage, Hallmann said.

Park moves ahead on 'risk venture'

By Joanne Gouleche

Grosse Pointe Park Councilman Anthony Spada has called the city's decision to correct code violations on its former demonstration house a "risk venture."

"If there is ever a drop in the market, we are going to be left holding the bag," Spada said.

The councilman made the remark last week when his colleagues voted to approve a bid of $29,685 to correct code violations in the controversial stucco home at 1094 Lakepointe.

John Pierce of the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Board said the house should sell for $50,000 or more when the violations are corrected. A U.S. District Court judge ruled in April that the house be listed with a member broker of the board.

By correcting the code violations, Spada also charged the city with participating in a business enterprise. The charter prohibits the city from doing so unless it is approved by a three-fifths vote.

RUSTPROOF = $ SAVED

(Kercheval at Beaconsfield)

City Attorney Herold McC. Deason said plans to uplift the demonstration house would not be considered a business venture because Wayne County Community Development Block Grant monies will be used to correct the violations.

Because of those federal monies, the house has been looked upon by some in the community as a way to force low-income housing into the community.

Critics of the demonstration house also say if the city proceeds to correct the violations, it will hike up the price of the house to a point where it won't be affordable to residents in the western end of the city.

The Park's Planning Commission recommended the demonstration house project seven years ago to spur citizen interest in curbing residential blight.

The council eventually dropped the plan after bids to refurbish 1094 Lakepointe, demonstrating to residents what they could do to their own homes, was said to be too costly.

Park resident Arthur Moran later filed suit in U.S. District Court challenging that the sale of the Lakepointe house did not appear on the market for 60 days.

A judge later ruled that the Park must correct the code violations and list for sale the house with the Grosse Pointe Real Estate

Board for the 60 day period. City administrators say proceeds from the sale of the house will be used to develop a master plan for the city.

Youngsters Also Take the Stage in 'Winnie' at Punch

By Dean Brierly

The musical production of A. A. Milne's classic children's tale, "Winnie the Pooh," now playing at the Punch and Judy theater, is unique in that it has not one, but two casts, both performing under the direction of the War Memorial's Sally Reynolds.

The play opened June 28 and has two more matinee performances scheduled for July 5 and 6.

In addition to the middle-to-high school age cast, there is also a grade-school cast, most of whom have worked in Children's Theater at the War Memorial.

Handling the lead role of Pooh Bear is Joey Posch. Heather Cross plays Piglet, Susan Kunert is Owl, Kathy Obeid is Rabbit, William Obeid is Christopher Robin and Fran Obeid plays Eeyore. Rounding out the cast are Donna Obeid, Georgie Charbonneau, Louis Charbonneau, Jim Kaliardos and Ellen Astolas. Mrs. John Mazer provides piano accompaniment for each group.

Most of the kids are used to working with director Reynolds, who says she always uses two casts in her plays to give more children a chance to participate.

She calls the Children's Theater group "a big family," and says it is based on constructive criticism and learning to help one another. Marla Kruz, who plays Roo in the younger cast, says acting is one of her favorite hobbies and is something she intends to pursue as she gets older.

She says Reynolds' approach to directing involves a good deal of discipline, but claims this helps her in her acting.

"I feel comfortable there (at the War Memorial). I've learned a lot, and Mrs. Reynolds has really helped me with my parts."

Liz Perkin, Piglet in the older cast, says that discipline involves learning lines and stage cues and is necessary to do one's role properly.

Reynolds admits to asking a lot from her charges, but believes they are capable of giving just as much effort as their older counterparts.

"I believe in discipline in the theater in that it affords complete freedom in a role as long as the actor or actress sustains it. Discipline is not a negative thing, but is important in any art—be it music, painting or theater."

Reynolds has been directing and has been involved with Children's Theater since its inception 27 years ago. She believes it serves the function of giving children the basic tools and confidence needed to pursue acting as a career.

As a testament to the success of the program, Reynolds cites some of the students she has worked with who have gone on to positions of importance in the profession. Actors Ed Hermann, Gwen Humble, Susanne Geha of WXYZ's Channel 7, Ann Gillis, head of the drama department at Interlochen and Grant Collins, manager of the Music Hall, are some of Mrs. Reynolds' former students.

tax which causes couples in $40,000 and above bracket who file joint tax returns to pay about $2,000 more than if they filed individually. Another recommendation was against welfare laws that require the father to leave home before the family can receive assistance, Mrs. Gattorn said.

However, she added that the Minneapolis conference definitely assumed a liberal slant.

"It was only because of the organization and commitment by the traditionalists and conservatives that the conference resolutions did not turn out to be more liberal than it did," Mrs. Gattorn said.

Because of the magnitude and the amount of federal money ($3 billion) behind WHCF, Mrs. Gattorn said she thinks its recommendations probably will have some influence on future legislation.

The final WHCF is scheduled for July in Los Angeles. The task force, which includes Detroit Councilwoman Erma Henderson, will begin analyzing recommendations in August.

Here is a summary of the top 10 recommendations from the Minneapolis conference:

- Public policies should be analyzed to make sure that they help rather than hurt families.
- Basic social policies should insure equity and social justice for all individuals regardless of race, sex, age, handicap, religions and cultural tradition and values.

- Preventive approaches to the epidemic crisis of drug and alcohol abuse must receive priority action through family commitment; church, doctor, and law enforcement agencies; federal, state and local funding; and through responsible media advertising and programing that counteracts the glamorization of alcohol and drug use.

- A rating service should be developed by the TV industry which shall include information on violence, crime and sexuality and the acceptability of programing for family viewing.

- Because alcohol abuse is a family concern, it is proposed that a two percent tax be levied on sales of alcoholic beverages and related license fees and kept in the counties for treatment and prevention programs.

- There must be assistance to families with disabled members to live productive, independent lives within the community such as employment opportunities to encourage self-support and tax credits to encourage families to care for disabled members of all ages.

- Federal government should encourage state and local governments to provide adequate housing for the rural elderly.

- Public policy should support choice among living arrangements for the elderly whether independent, familial or institutional. Federal and state government should encourage options by such fiscal measures as tax credits to households with dependent members 65 and over, low income subsidies and direct government aid.

- It is essential to promote the goal of independent living for the handicapped as adults.

- The Federal Communications Commission should require a station to evaluate its impact on the moral standards and values of the families in its viewing area as part of the consideration in the licensing process.

Banks crack down on rubber checks

By Elsa Frohman

Every now and then just about everyone gets that sinking feeling when they write a check. It's the "I wonder if I have enough money in my account to cover this," feeling. The checking account balancing blues are a common refrain in the best of times, yet, this year, the problem of bad checks is worse than usual.

Terry Carlson, assistant manager at the Mack and Brys branch of Manufacturer's Bank estimates that overdrafts have increased by 30 percent in the last four months.

The rise in bad checks has caused Manufacturer's Bank to tighten up its policies in handling overdrafts and made many local merchants change their procedures for accepting checks.

J. C. Penney Manager Walt Dishman, points out that there are two classes of bad-check-passers. On one hand there is the person who has made an honest mistake in his check-book. The other group is made up of people who are deliberately trying to defraud the bank or the store.

Dishman says there has been an increase in both groups, although the store doesn't worry too much about the first. Those people will just about always make the check good right away, he says.

It is the deliberate bad-check passer that gives merchants heart-burn.

"A lot of people think we won't take a bad check to the police," Dishman said. "They find out differently."

"We take a lot of checks to the police, but we seldom go to court."

Dishman points out that it is difficult to prosecute an individual for passing a bad check. The store must prove that the over-draft was intentional.

"Most people pay up after we turn the matter over to the police," he said. "If they make the check good we don't take any further action."

Detective Steve Petrik of the Grosse Pointe Woods police department agreed that bad checks are on the rise. His department has initiated 19 bad check investigations since January 1.

"Very few of the checks are accidental overdrafts by the time they get to us," he said. "The store has to send out a registered letter requesting payment before we take the case."

"If the over-draft is accidental, the individual will invariably pay-up at that point and the matter goes no further," he said.

Petrik's problem is to find the culprit. He says a lot of the addresses on the bad check turn out to be vacant homes and the names fictitious.

At Manufacturer's Bank Carlson explained how the deliberate bad check operator works.

"They open a checking account with a moderate amount of money, then soon after make a large deposit of a check drawn on another bank," he explained.

"Before that check can fail to clear, they write checks to merchants for the money that really doesn't exist."

Manufacturer's Bank has tightened its policy on overdrafts this year. Previously, overdrafts of up to $10 were paid routinely. Now the bank automatically returns all checks on insufficient funds, no matter how small the mistake.

Carlson explained that the bank had to take action against the rising tide of overdrafts.

"Banks are federally regulated," he said. "We are audited periodically and if we have too many overdrafts on our books the government can take action against us."

At Penney Dishman has also had to take steps to stem the tide of bad checks.

"We require more identification than we used to," he said. "We also verify checks through the Comp-U-Check service."

Comp-U-Check is a company that specializes in preventing bad checks. Company Vice-President Eddie Salem explained that Comp-U-Check offers two different services to merchants worried about bad checks.

The first service, verification, consists of supplying the merchant with information on people who have passed bad checks.

The merchant calls Comp-U-Check and presents the check writer's name and driver's license number. Comp-U-Check then scans its computer files and tells the merchant whether that person has ever passed a bad check in the past.

The second service is a check guarantee. If Comp-U-Check has no information on that name or driver's license number, the company will make the check good if it bounces.

Salem said Comp-U-Check's list of people who have passed a bad check has grown enormously this year.

The rise in bad checks has not affected all merchants equally. Hoyt Stewart, at Pointe Vacuum said bad checks were not really a problem to his business.

"About 10 or 15 years ago, a fellow down at the gas station on the corner skipped out on a check he wrote to me," Stewart said. "But in 21 years in business I wouldn't guess I have had more than five bad checks."

At the Roslyn Market, owner John Dinkel tells a different story.

"Bad checks? I get them," he said. "I'm tough about them too."

"To me it's just as if they walked out the door with a basket of groceries without paying. It's stealing. I turn them right over to the police if they don't pay up right away."

Home Mortgage Loans Continue to Decline

May home mortgage closings in the four-county Detroit region fell to the lowest point since February, 1975, at the depths of the severe 1975-76 recession.

The pallid total of 2,973 home-size loans was lower than all but two months in that troubled year, when January saw recordings of 2,733 and February 2,451. May's figure was 28 percent below the 4,247 in May, 1975, and 45 percent below the 5,383 in May, 1976, as that recession waned.

The figures, from Lawyers Title Insurance Corp.'s computer summary of all mortgage recordings in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties, provided startling evidence that, for housing at least, this recession is much worse than the 1975-76 period, often labeled the worst since the depression days of the 1930's.

Housing observers had expected April's 4,303 home loans would prove the bottom this time because mortgage interest rates had plummeted from the 17 percent level to 12-12½ percent. But the decline continued in spite of the easing of credit.

The Grosse Pointe Real Estate Board reported a 25 percent decrease over last year's sales of existing homes in May. Sales for the first six months of this year, however lag only 15 percent behind last year's totals. The average selling price for homes in May was $105,802.

Edward A. Blaty, Lawyers Title vice-president and Michigan manager, reported that the 2,973 loans under $200, 000, identified as for homes, involved $106,022,821. In May, 1979, before credit was tightened, 8,502 loans totaled $303,921,831, again illustrating the fury visited on the home seller and home buyer in 12 short months.

In the home category, Wayne recorded 1,316 loans totaling $35,322,200; Oakland 1,021 for $46,370,040; Macomb 440 for $15,208,540 and Washtenaw 196 for $9,124,041.

The National Association of Realtors reported that mortgage interest rates are expected to remain around 12 or 13 percent during the remainder of the year. These rates can be expected to increase again in 1981 as the economy recovers. Inflation also can be expected to accelerate, as the federal government continues to stimulate the economy with excessive spending and then fights inflation with tight credit policies.

Pointers Win GPT Awards

Cheryl Guttridge and Anthony R. LoVasco have been named recipients of the 1980 Bette Kinney Memorial Scholarship. The annual award of $700 each is funded by the Grosse Pointe Theater to recognize outstanding achievement in the performing arts at the high school level.

Miss Guttridge, a South High School senior, participated in several high school productions and was seen as the young girl Jill Mason in the GPT production of "Equus." She will attend

Michigan State University this fall with an intent to major in theater.

LoVasco was active in the acting, dancing and singing areas of theater for four years at North High School, receiving multiple awards for his performances. He will be pursuing further training at the Juilliard School.

The GPT scholarship program was named this year in memory of Mrs. Joseph Kinney, a long-time member and former vice-president. Mrs. Kinney was also active in the Fine Arts Society of Detroit.

"OUR SAUSAGE WILL DISAPPEAR FROM YOUR DINNER TABLE. NOT YOUR FRYING PAN."

At Bob Evans Farms, we have a philosophy. We do it right. Or we don't do it. So when we make our pork sausage, we only put in enough fat to bring out the taste of our fresh lean meat.

Other sausage companies may get heavy-handed with their fat content, but Bob Evans never will. After all, if our sausage shrank away to nothing, so would our customers.

Church Tours Planned for Convention

Conducted tours of some of Detroit's most historic and architecturally significant churches will be available to visitors during the Republican Convention.

Sponsored by the Inter-Church Committee for the Republican Convention, tour buses will depart from Ford Auditorium daily at 1 p.m., Monday through Thursday. In addition, several churches are providing special organ concerts for the visitors to enjoy. St. Aloysius, 1234 Washington boulevard, will offer one on July 17 from 2 to 3 p.m.

Second Baptist, 441 Monroe, also will offer tours 6 p.m. each day. Historic St. Mary's, St. Antoine at Monroe, will have two one-hour hour concerts Monday through Friday, beginning at 1:45 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Old Mariners Church, 170 E. Jefferson, will have noon-time organ music each day. Metropolitan United Methodist Church will provide a light luncheon preceding and following the half-hour concert which will begin at 12:15 p.m. on Monday through Thursday of the convention.

For additional information about these free tours, phone (313) 961-8340.

Lichteig's Art At Lochmoor

Patricia A. Lichteig, one of Michigan's most highly regarded artists and art teachers, will present a one-man show during the month of July at the Lochmoor Golf Club.

A resident of Grosse Pointe, Ms. Lichteig enjoys an international reputation among her peers as a painter and sculptor. She is described as an artist's artist.

Included in a long list of her honors are prizes from Michigan Artist Graphic House for Sculpture, Watercolor U.S.A. National Drawing and Graphic Show and the Scarab Club Watercolor Show.

Ms. Lichteig is currently listed in International Who's Who in Education in Cambridge, England. She is also in the Marquis Who's Who in the Midwest.

She has been a Professor of Fine Art at the Center for Creative Studies since 1957, teaching Life Drawing, Anatomy, Basic Drawing, Perspective and painting. She has also taught at Macomb Community College, Cass Tech, Verve Art Gallery, Design Technology Department, Grosse Pointe War Memorial, Brightmoor Community Center and Grosse Pointe High School.

Her works appear in many private collections.

Atlantic yacht race or promoting his successful television station, Ted Turner invariably sets a bold course. "Listen," he recently told us, "if you want to give your subscribers a super return for their money, give 'em the SuperStation." Grosse Pointe Cable TV will carry Turner's non-stop schedule of 24 hour programming on WTBS Channel 17 from Atlanta, GA.

WTBS airs over 200 live professional and college sporting events a year, covering just about every major sport. This action-packed lineup includes the Atlanta Braves, Hawks, Falcons, Flames and Chiefs.

College basketball on WTBS is highlighted by the station's coverage of both ACC and SEC Conference games. Viewers also can look forward to plenty of college gridiron excitement, culminating with no less than eight post season bowl games, including the Tangerine Bowl, Blue-Gray Game and the Hall of Fame Bowl.

They'll also enjoy plenty of professional boxing and wrestling, soccer, tennis, golf and even auto racing.

Movies? WTBS has as many as 44 a week, selected from a library of over 2700 films ranging from classics like "All Quiet on the Western Front" through "Life with Father" to "CoolHand Luke" and "Kung Fu."

Weather Still Dictates Park Attendance

While we aren't experiencing the intense heatwave of Texas, Pointers appear to be grateful to have six lakeside parks offering cool swimming and boating facilities in the summer.

Weekends bring crowds to tables and grills, pool sides, lawns and docks. This year, as usual, the parks have filled their boat wells and keep long waiting lists for rentals.

Every one of the parks is unique and residents usually boast of their own park's attributes.

The Farms, Park, Woods, and Shores all provide tennis courts, while the City offers this facility at its Elworthy Field.

Concession stands make fast food available to parkgoers in the Farms, Park and Woods. However, residents of the City and Shores can create their own feasts at park picnic tables and grills.

The beach at the Farms Pier is a special attraction, especially for sandcastle designers.

All parks include swimming pools, docks to stroll or fish from and shaded areas where frisbee and whiffle-ball lovers can plot out playing territories.

With increased gas prices inhibiting vacations, the parks may become more popular than ever this summer.

Park officials predict this will be the case, saying that weekdays during the past week were as crowded as the weekends.

Unique Course at Cottage

Twenty-four students from Grosse Pointe North and South High Schools have begun nurses' aide and orderly training at Cottage Hospital.

Developed in cooperation with the Grosse Pointe Public School System, the program is in its 12th year at Cottage Hospital.

Students will complete a five week course which includes 180 hours of classroom instruction and clinical work. Following graduation, students can qualify for work as aides and orderlies at Cottage or other area hospitals.

From Grosse Pointe North High School are James Bishop, Connie Curtis, Claudia DeTine, Kelly Holtzman, Harry Kefalonitis, Linda Lannius, Jami MacKintosh, Amy Jean Przydatek, Marian Seco, Ross Summers, Shawn

Williams and Kathy Herkel.

From Grosse Pointe South are Judi Campbell, Christine Coats, Martha Grindler, Carol Hayter, Kimberly Kirian, Kathy Krappmann, Christopher Pinko, Steve Sanford, Karen Suhrheinrich, Lawrence Tumacder, Christina Urban, and Lynda Wehrmeister.

Obituaries

Dr. Roy T. Durocher
Services for Dr. Durocher, 59, of the Woods were recently held in the Malloy Funeral Home in West Hartford, Conn.

He died on Friday, June 27, in St. John Hospital.

Dr. Durocher was the executive dean and professor of oral medicine at the University of Detroit School of Dentistry since 1977.

He came to U. of D. from the University of Pittsburgh School of Dental Medicine, where he was associate dean since 1968.

A graduate of Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass., and the University of Maryland Dental School, Dr. Durocher was regarded as one of the world's leading experts on dental health and training.

He was appointed in 1978 by the World Health Organization to serve as an advisor in the development of dental personnel training programs for developing countries.

He also served as consultant to the Federation Dentaire Internationale Commission on dental education on classification and statistics for oral conditions at the organization's world congress in Madrid.

He was awarded the Silver Medal of Honor by the city of Paris in 1976 for his professional contributions after being the first American dentist to chair a scientific session at the National Convention of the French Dental Association.

For the past 16 years, he served as consultant to the Pan American Health Organization, and was recently named consultant to the International Dental Federation.

Dr. Durocher is survived by his wife, Rita; three daughters, Anne, Ellen and Jane and one son, Thomas.

Interment was in the Mt. St. Benedict Cemetery in Bloomfield, Conn.

Interment was in Lakeview Cemetery in Clarkston.

Thief Grabs Purse on Mack

A Grosse Pointe Woods woman had her purse snatched last Saturday afternoon on Mack avenue. The thief escaped in a waiting car.

The woman was walking next to Sweeney's Flowers at 19271 Mack when she was confronted by a man who told her to hand over her purse. When she refused, he grabbed the purse and ran to a waiting maroon-colored car, police said.

According to police, the woman's purse contained about $20 and some credit cards.

Pollution Endangers Ancient Rome Monuments

The famous ancient monuments of Rome now deteriorate faster in one year than they did previously in an entire century, thanks to air pollution.

The damage already done is irreparable, says the superintendent of archeology for the city of Rome, since there is no way to reverse the process of deterioration.

The ordinarily smooth and firm marble is turning to soft plaster that crumbles at the slightest touch.

Acid rain — caused by the mixture of water with air pollutants from car exhaust and heating plants, has changed the marble to calcium sulphate, which is, chemically, plaster.

The superintendent is making several last ditch efforts to eliminate traffic near the monuments and hopes to cover the sculpture with transparent layers of chemicals that might protect against the pollutants.

At the present rate of decay, he says, virtually all of the invaluable sculpture on monuments standing between the Colosseum and the Piazza Venezia will disappear within 20 years. They have been standing for 20 centuries.

Comparative photographs of many of the sculptured figures that were intact in 1950 are now damaged beyond recognition. Many of the statues have disintegrated and fallen off the monuments.

"People have seen the pictures of the marble turning to plaster," says the superintendent, "and they are wondering what pollution is doing to their lungs."

According to the American Lung Association, the health costs of air pollution in the United States alone are now $10 billion every year. This figure does not include the damage to buildings or vegetation — and it cannot measure the physical and emotional suffering involved.

Cottage Wins Award

Since last November, Cottage Hospital has waged a relentless battle against efforts by the state to include the hospital in a statewide debedding program that proposes to contain health care costs.

Although it probably will be years before the outcome of the battle is known, Cottage Hospital last week received awards for its public relations campaign against the debedding plan. The plan was developed last year by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan (CHPC) according to a state law which says about 2,500 hospital beds should be eliminated in the Detroit area by 1984. The plan has met universal opposition from the health care profession.

Madge B. Lawson, Cottage's public relations director, received a certificate of merit in the MacEachern Awards, a nationwide contest sponsored by the Academy of Hospital Public Relations. Cottage's anti-debedding campaign, which began in November, 1979, and is still in progress, won in the category of "Reaction to Crisis."

The entry also won a first place in the Michigan Hospital Public Relations' statewide awards program and in the communication awards competition of the Southeastern Michigan Hospital Public Relations Association. Mrs. Lawson also received a first place award for the 1979 Annual Report of Cottage Hospital entitled "Managing Our Resources for Cost Containment."

Cottage Administrator Ralph Wigarde said the public relations program was developed to meet an immediate goal of public awareness of the bed reduction crisis, but broadened its base to provide an ongoing evaluation of the issues, comparison with near-similar situations in other states, while providing an alternative viewpoint to that of the CHPC plan.

Mrs. Lawson cited the efforts of employees, volunteers, and friends of the hospital who wrote letters, signed petitions, and joined the bus trips to public hearings as an integral part of the hospital's success in drawing attention to its stand. She also commended the work of department staff member Cheryl Johnides throughout the campaign.

Mrs. Lawson has been public relations director for Cottage Hospital for two years. On June 18th, she was elected president-elect of the Southeastern Michigan Hospital Public Relations Association, an affiliate organization of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council.

MDOT Prepares for July 4 Vacationing Motorists

If you haven't departed yet for your Fourth of July vacation in Michigan, the Michigan Department of Transportation has some tips to make your road trip safer and smoother.

Given good weather, motorists in Michigan are expected to drive 710 million miles over the four-day Fourth of July holiday, the Department forecasts.

To prepare state highways and freeways for the crush of holiday traffic, State Transportation Director John P. Woodford has ordered a halt to all highway construction activity from 3 p.m. Thursday, July 3, to normal starting time on Monday, July 7.

MDOT traffic and safety engineers statewide will inspect all construction areas to assure that detour and slow-down signing and lighting are in place and operating. All earth-moving equipment and other heavy construction vehicles will be banned from state highways for the holiday weekend.

"Every precaution should be taken to eliminate hazards and minimize inconvenience to motorists due to road and bridge construction activities," Woodford said in a directive to all district offices. Through cooperation of the U.S. Coast Guard and private shippers, the Transportation Department is requesting that marine traffic on the Saginaw River refrain from using the river at the Zilwaukee Bridge during peak travel periods on 1-75.

The MDOT notes several detours which will be in effect during the holiday weekend. In metro-Detroit the I-75 (Chrysler) Freeway northbound and southbound ramps to eastbound I-94 (Ford) Freeway in Detroit are closed for bridge repair.

In East Michigan northbound M-99 (Logan Street) over the Grand River in Lansing is closed for reconstruction. Traffic is diverted to the southbound bridge. Eastbound M-25 (Thomas Street) in Bay City is closed for seven-tenths of a mile between Euclid and Henry streets for sewer construction. Detour is posted.

M-36 (Ash Street) in Mason (Ingham County) is closed between Lansing and Jefferson streets for bridge and road repair. Detour is posted.

In West Michigan, westbound I-94 Business Loop (Dickman Road) in Springfield is closed for reconstruction. Traffic is diverted to eastbound lanes between 32nd Street and M-96, approximately one mile.

M-51 in Dowagiac is closed between Hastings and Lowe streets for reconstruction. Posted detour adds one mile to the normal route.

M-66, eight miles north of Lake City (Missaukee County), is closed for reconstruction. Posted detour adds less than one mile to the normal route.

In the Upper Peninsula, US-41/M-28 in Ishpeming is closed for widening and reconstruction. The detour adds one mile to the normal route.

The MDOT also cites areas of potential slowdown due to construction.

In Metropolitan Detroit the inside lane on I-96 in both directions is closed between 7275 in Farmington Hills and Novi Road in Novi.

US-24 (Telegraph Road) has intermittent lane closures in both directions between 12 Mile Road in Southfield and 15 Mile Road in Bloomfield Hills.

There will also be periodic lane closures in both directions on M-150 (Rochester Road) in Troy from Big Beaver (18 Mile) to South Boulevard.

The inside lanes on I-75 are closed, between Eight Mile Road in Detroit and 12 Mile Road in Madison Heights.

In West Michigan, US-31 Bridge over the Manistee River in Manistee is reduced from four lanes to two.

M-55 in Wexford County is reduced from two lanes to one lane for resurfacing using a recycling method for 8.6 miles from M-115 west.

Who Stole The Bunny Rabbits?

Twelve-year-old Arif Ulku says he's "pretty sure" they were stolen. It would be kind of hard for five young bunnies to disappear all by themselves.

You see, it all happened like this. Two weeks ago Arif was mowing the lawn in his backyard on Lakepointe when he discovered five new-born bunnies nestled in a ditch.

Since then, Arif says, his father once spotted the mother rabbit paying a visit to her little ones, but she didn't stay too long. So Arif kept the bunnies safe by putting a box on top of the ditch.

"They were just beginning to open their eyes," Arif says.

Last week, though, someone lifted the box and the five bunnies disappeared.

Arif, who will be a seventh grader at Pierce School this fall, strongly suspects that one of his friends may be the culprit.

"I'm watching his house everyday to make sure they aren't there," Arif says. Meanwhile, police say they have no suspects in the bunny-napping.

It's important for everyone to remember that you don't have to be worth a million to be worthwhile.

Holiday Trips to Increase

Tourism operators are hoping that lightning will strike a second time over the Fourth of July holiday and add to the current surge in Michigan vacation travel, which began with the successful Memorial Day weekend, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Michiganders drove 848 million miles to record the second best Memorial Day weekend ever while spending levels were an average seven percent over the 1979 holiday. Tourism this holiday should be at least six percent above Memorial Day.

If good weather holds, the Michigan Department of Transportation predicts motorists in Michigan should drive 710 million miles over the upcoming four-day holiday, 82 million miles more than over the Memorial Day weekend.

That mileage total still is below the 765 million miles driven in 1977, the last time a 78-hour July 4th holiday occurred. Last year's mid-week Independence Day holiday period lasted only 30 hours.

This year's holiday begins at 8 p.m. Thursday (July 3) and runs through midnight Sunday (July 6). "Current routing requests from our members show that the move away from long-distance travel and towards Michigan vacations should be a summer-long trend," stated Auto Club Touring Manager Joseph Ratke.

"While overall travel is down one percent through May and routings to popular western destinations are off as much as 13 percent, requests for Michigan vacation information are up nearly 10 percent over last year," Ratke said. "Upper Peninsula routings increased 18 percent compared with a year ago."

Ratke said that a check of clubs in Illinois and Ohio also shows total member routing requests are down 15 and three percent, respectively, but inquiries concerning Michigan vacation trips are up five percent in both states.

Many Michigan attractions which reported business rises over Memorial Day also noted increased out-of-state tourism.

Dearborn's Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum reported Memorial Day crowds 30 percent heavier than last year, with attendance from Illinois and Indiana up 10 percent.

Flint's Crossroads Village is hosting more out-of-state tourists than ever, while Holland's Windmill Island reports increased visits from Wisconsin and Pennsylvania residents.

Gasoline supplies will be adequate to meet all driving needs throughout the period. Auto Club's pre-holiday "fuel gauge" survey shows an average 81 percent of 300 stations surveyed along the state's major highways will be open daylight hours, 39 percent open after 9 p.m. and nine percent past midnight. Some stations contacted were still uncertain of their holiday hours.

Thirty-four persons died on Michigan roads during the last 78-hour July 4th holiday in 1977. Thirteen of the deaths were motorcyclists or their passengers. Seventy-one percent of the 31 were suspected of drinking.

Park Alley Dispute Is Resolved with a Fence

In a matter of minutes last week the Park Council ended a six-month long dispute of what to do with a narrow, unused alley that you could say has kept residents on both sides of the fence. "After examining the issue personally," Mayor Matthew Patterson said, "I think the right thing for the city council to do is to run a fence through the center and block it off at both ends." The council promptly concurred.

There were no cries of triumph from the residents who had come to city hall to learn the final verdict of their 10-foot wide alley between Charlevoix and Goethe and Wayburn and Maryland. Some said later the council's decision was "just perfect," but Mary Wehrwein figures she just plain lost her battle to free the alley of rats and litter.

Mary, a Wayburn resident, approached the council last fall on behalf of her Wayburn and Maryland residents to have the alley paved, which can no longer accommodate city garbage trucks. Instead, the council agreed to block off the alley at either end. But when the city began to install the fence last month, the Maryland residents raised their eyebrows and said they were never informed of the council's decision. They later presented the council with a petition protesting the move.

The Maryland neighbors said they would be in favor of the center fence, while Mary's Wayburn residents said they are too old to take care of any more property. The council's decision will add five more feet to each property owner.

Detroit has 487 women police officers, more than any other city in the nation.

Power Named to Cabinet Post

Grosse Pointe native Sarah Goddard Power, a Regent of the University of Michigan has been appointed Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Human Rights and Social Affairs. It was announced June 24 by the State Department.

Mrs. Power of Ann Arbor, Michigan begins her new assignment this week in the Bureau of International Organization Affairs at the Department of State. One of her first duties will be to serve as a United States delegate to the World Conference of the UN Decade for Women in Copenhagen during July.

The daughter of Mrs. Wendell C. Goddard and the late Mr. Goddard of Provincial road, Mrs. Power has a history of involvement in international organizations and United Nations affairs. She is the former chairman of the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO (1976-1979) and has just concluded an eight-year term as a Director of the United Nations Association of the USA.

Mrs. Power was a presidentially appointed delegate to the 19th and 20th General Conferences of UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, in 1976 and 1978. She also represented the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO at the UN International Women's Year Conference and Tribune in Mexico City in 1975.

An active democrat, Sarah Power was elected to an eight-year term on the University of Michigan Board of Regents in 1976. Mrs. Power is currently the only woman on the Board and the third in the history of the university. Other political activities include assisting with the 1976 campaign of President Carter.

Mrs. Power has been involved in numerous activities aimed at improving the status of women. She is a Director of the National Women's Education Fund, a member of the Advisory Board of the Project on Equal Education Rights of the NOW Legal Defense and Education Funds, and a member of the Commission on Women in Higher Education of the American Council on Education. Mrs. Power worked for the University of Michigan Commission for Women from 1973 to 1975.

In the sixties, Sarah Power served as Executive Director of the New York City Commission for the United Nations and for the Consular Corps, as Director of the United States/United Nations/New York City Host Country Advisory Committee, and as New York City Coordinator for the UN's World Youth Assembly and the 25th Anniversary of the UN.

Sarah Power received an M.A. in international politics from New York University and was graduated from Vassar College in 1967. In 1975, she received an honorary degree from Schoolcraft Community College.

Mrs. Power is the wife of Philip H. Power, the owner and Chairman of Suburban Communications Corporation of Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Honored with a participant award from Kenyon College for her participation in women's tennis at the Gambier, O., college, was Catherine M. Gaskin, of the Shores. A graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, Gaskin is a freshman at Kenyon.

Crisis Line Established For Convention Delegates

The Inter-Church Committee for the Republic Convention has announced the establishment of a special telephone number delegates to the convention can call to seek counseling and pastoral care should a crisis situation arise.

Called "CON/TACT: Life Line," the service will be available on an around-the-clock basis at (313) 894-5555. If the telephone worker cannot resolve the question, the caller will be referred to a clergy person of his or her faith.

With between 20 and 30 thousand visitors expected in Detroit during the convention, the committee feels it is inevitable that some persons will have a serious enough crisis that they would appreciate having someone to talk with.

Chairperson of the committee, Dr. James Bristow of Detroit's United Methodist Center, notes, "Although a Civic Host Committee was organized to reflect the fun and good times to be had in Detroit, the spiritual and faith dimensions of our past, present and future were overlooked. To fill this vacuum, the Inter-Church Committee for the Republican Convention was created." The Inter-Church committee is comprised of people from a variety of denominations including Baptist, Episcopalian, Lutheran, Roman Catholic, United Church of Christ, United Methodist and United Presbyterian.

BSH Elects New Officers

Sr. Ruth Ann Belfi, C.B.S., has been appointed president of the Bon Secours Hospital board of trustees by the Health Care Corporation of the Sisters of Bon Secours.

Sr. Belfi has been a member of the Grosse Pointe community of the Sisters of Bon Secours since 1976. She also serves as a pediatric nurse-clinician at Children's Hospital of Detroit.

The board also elected 1980-1981 officers at the meeting.

Robert L. Hannon, Jr., of the Farms, will serve his third term as chairman of the board and Ralph J. Kilber, of the Woods, will continue serving as vice-chairman.

The duties of secretary will be carried out by William Blevins of the City and Louis

A. Fisher, Sr., of the Shores, will serve as treasurer of the board.

The second term of Mrs. Hans Gehrke of the Shores was also approved, along with the first full-term appointment of John L. King, of the City.

WHERE YOU SAVE IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN EVER TODAY.

These days, there are more savings options than ever before. But not all of them guarantee their rates for any length of time. So you can wind up with high interest today. But tomorrow may tell quite a different story.

We guarantee your interest at First Federal.

All First Federal certificate interest rates are guaranteed to remain at a high level throughout a set period of time, no matter what the money market does.

Equally important, savings accounts at First Federal are insured to $100,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. And with multiple ownership of accounts, it's possible to provide insurance coverage for a whole lot more. We'll gladly show you how.

Your money—and our people—are working close to you.

When you save at First Federal, your money remains conveniently nearby. So if

Blasted out of a bunker

Out of the deep traps and stiff rough, from the lush fairways and the rolling greens of the Country Club of Detroit have come a number of remarkable golfing achievements, including the U.S. amateur championship that launched Arnold Palmer on his fabulous professional career.

But other things also have come out of that same environment. Important business deals, professional programs and other profitable and even imaginative ideas have emerged from the kind of conversations that go on during a round of golf.

ALL OF WHICH serves to introduce an idea that was blasted out of a bunker on the club's third hole along with an errant ball that had trickled into the trap. A retired

Quickly close the loophole

The Michigan legislature is about to make the wise move of closing a loophole in the state's liquor laws— if it hasn't already done so by the time this editorial appears in print—that allowed patrons to bring their own liquor into restaurants not having liquor licenses.

The loophole was disclosed by a state appeals court ruling that held Michigan's bottle club act, which prohibits the consumption of liquor in unlicensed establishments, does not apply to restaurants so long as they get nothing in return from their customers.

The remedial legislation presumably will end the controversy started when Charles Moraco, owner of Le Cafe Francois in Grosse Pointe Woods, sought clarification of the state law because he wanted his customers to be able to bring their own wine with them when they dined at his restaurant. Moraco had permitted this practice until it was halted by Woods police.

While it is possible to feel sympathy for Moraco, the Woods city council has provided a better solution to his problem than did the appellate court. The council has now granted him a tavern license which will permit him to serve wine and beer legally.

While it is also possible to feel some sympathy for those holding liquor licenses who were faced with unlicensed competition until the legislature acted, we feel more sympathy for those families that prefer to dine without liquor—and without liquor being served on the same premises. Under the loophole, they wouldn't have been able to be certain the unlicensed (for liquor) restaurant they had chosen would remain free of liquor-consuming customers.

THE APPELLATE RULING, unless upset by the state law, would also have increased the problems of law enforcement in the state. The state issues about 8,000 liquor licenses but about 20,000 restaurants would have been eligible to serve liquor under the ruling. Higher fees are charged—justifiably—for liquor licenses because bars and other places licensed to serve liquor do require more intensive policing than restaurants serving only food.

So it is wise for the legislature to act.

Correction

Because of a typographical error, one digit was dropped from a figure in an editorial in last week's issue of the Grosse Pointe News. The average annual salary paid to clerical workers by Wayne County should have been listed at $19,657, which exceeds salaries paid to City of Detroit employees in the same category by 29.2 percent and employees of private enterprise in the Detroit area by 38 percent.

businessman who had been complaining about the quality of the apparent presidential nominees of both parties (as well as the quality of his own golf game) introduced the idea this way:

"Why wouldn't it be a good idea to offer presidents of the United States the same kind of incentive for success that businesses and industries offer to their chief executives? In other words, if the president does a good job, give him a bonus, say double or triple his annual pay, or even more. Even a bonus of 85 million would be a good investment in a president if he really did a good job for the country."

Well, let's consider that thought for a moment. It's true that presidents, like most other office seekers, generally are elected on the basis of their promises. Even when presidents run for reelection, voters are more likely to listen to their new promises than to evaluate their past performance.

On the other hand, boards of directors of companies and corporations have to consider performance when they take up the question of whether to extend their chief executive's contract, to increase his pay or to vote him new benefits. It's performance that counts. And if the chief executive hasn't performed up to expectations, if business has not responded to his leadership and management, he not only does not get a pay hike but he usually gets the gate.

Well, what would be wrong with applying the same idea to the U.S. presidency? It presumably would have considerable merit in attracting more successful business and industrial leaders to get into politics and run for the presidency. In recent years, there seems to be general agreement the United States simply has not attracted its best brains into the presidential race.

BUT ONE PROBLEM, we suppose, would be selecting the criteria by which the nation would judge whether the president had done a good enough job to warrant a bonus. Relations with the Soviet Union might be one criterion. The care and improvement of our natural resources might be a third. And so on.

Even more controversial, we suspect, would be the question of who would decide whether the president had earned his bonus, even if agreement could be reached on the criteria. Would it be the U.S. Senate that would decide whether the president merited a $5 million paycheck on the basis of his performance? Or would it have to be some new kind of commercial court? And how would we eliminate political partisanship and different viewpoints about such questions as to what would constitute an improvement of relations with the Soviet Union even if we could agree on who the judges should be?

Even the question of whether we want to elect a businessman or industrialist as president is controversial. Some would argue for a broader based individual with more background in the wide variety of issues that confront a president than is possessed by the average business leader. But offsetting that criticism would be the argument that successful business and industrial leaders have demonstrated the kind of management capabilities required to run the U.S. government, the world's biggest enterprise.

Well, overall, the idea, like others uttered on the golf course, may not be practical even though it is intriguing. Yet perhaps it does serve to remind us that when we go to the polls we ought to pay more attention to each candidate's performance than to his promises, and thus as voters serve as members of the board of directors for the government of the United States.

Letters to The Editor of The NEWS

Neighbors stop long, hot summer

This past weekend several of us in the Grosse Pointe Park area experienced the first pains of what looks like is going to be "a long, hot summer."

Sunday was like a nightmare. We happen to live just two blocks from Detroit, but I hope the neighbors from Lakepointe to Harvard will read this letter and be concerned too.

Saturday was spent trying to retrieve our children's stolen bicycles. We observe youths pedaling over from Detroit (two on a bike) and when they leave Grosse Pointe each has his own bike to ride home. Our neighbor boy (age 10) was literally shoved off of his bike and it was never to be seen again, and he was in back of his own home. By the time his father was summoned the four Detroit youths went unscathed across the city limits.

The convenient Kercheval/Wayburn party stores seem to be a breeding ground for fights and disturbances all of a sudden, as evidenced by last Sunday's disturbance when a gang of youths jumped a boy. All of this is hush-hush of course, but you won't find any of the kids in our neighborhood going to the party stores alone anymore.

To end the weekend our neighbor upstairs was summoned because her brother had been attacked and the gold necklace he was wearing yanked right off of him. Food for thought. In just two days our household was upset four times by the unusual. Our neighborhood has gotten together to find out what we can do to stop this nightmare. We were given good advice and the following suggestions which we want to share with you.

- 1) Report any unusual happenings to the Police Department immediately. Do You Even Know Your Local Police Department Number? Don't hope "someone else" will report it.
 - 2) Register your children's bikes. Keep after the kids to lock their bikes and observe carefully large groups of youths who are riding double on bicycles.
 - 3) Turn your porch lights on all night. Our good police officers can't be everywhere at once. You can help. Light up our neighborhoods. Place a note by your porch light switch saying "turn me on at dark." It's very good and inexpensive safety insurance and usually the most forgotten.
 - 4) Call your local police department and get the useful tips on what to do if you are going out of town for the holiday.
- Please help us. Light up your porches at night. We can all keep it "cool" if we are willing to stop, look, and become interested in our neighbors.

What about hubcaps?

To the Editor:
 This letter is directed to Wayne County Commissioner Erv Steiner:
 A few months ago you wrote a letter (to the News) saying that those people who need front end alignments on their cars due to the condition of Lakeshore road should send the bill to the Grosse Pointe cities that are lighting over who should pay to have

Christian Tab Promotes Unification

Participating in the tabloid of the 450th anniversary of the Augsburg Confession, a Lutheran statement of faith, on June 28, were Pointers Msgr. Francis Canfield of Lakeshore and Pastor Kenneth Lentz, of Pemberton.

The purpose of the document was to promote Christian unity. All parties were invited to "put aside whatever may not have been rightly interpreted or treated by either side, to have all embrace and adhere to a single, true religion, and live together in unity in one fellowship and church, even as we are all enlisted under one Christ."

The Confession was presented to Holy Roman Emperor Charles V. The emperor, a Catholic, rejected the document and the response of the majority of Roman Catholics was negative.

The rejection of the Augsburg Confession necessitated the separate institutional existence of the Lutheran Church.

In a tabloid inset commemorating the anniversary of the Confession, leaders of the Roman Catholic and Lutheran churches in Michigan have asked members of their churches, "... Why cannot 1980 mark the beginning of a movement toward unity between Lutherans and Catholics?"

The question is asked in a letter in the tab prepared by the Michigan Catholic Newspaper of the Archdiocese of Detroit and is available through the paper.
 For more information, call 865-1100.

the paving done.

What about lost hubcaps or wheel covers?
 I lost mine off my 1980 car. Can I send the bill to the city I lost it in?
 I am eagerly waiting to read your reply Mr. Steiner.

Park geese beaters should come forward

To the Editor,
 I am writing this letter in behalf of a group of women who play tennis at the Grosse Pointe Woods Park.

We are among the many Woods residents who have enjoyed watching and feeding the pair of friendly white geese who had taken up residency in the Park, and felt that the Park would be a safe haven for them even though they had their wings clipped. How wrong we were.

Tuesday of this week, the geese were nowhere in sight. Upon searching, one was found dead in the trash can. Feathers were everywhere. It had been brutally beaten. The other was not found. We were told that a group of youngsters had been teasing and tantalizing it with a broom the day before.

Needless to say, we are all sickened and revolted. Who would commit such a savage act?

Hopefully someone who may have witnessed this act will come forth and identify the person or persons who did it, and the officials of the Woods park will revoke their park privileges.

We do not want people like that in our Park, ever.

Shirley Klauer, Of Hampton road, Grosse Pointe Woods

A thought on graduation

To the Editor:
 I wonder if anyone else noticed something missing Wednesday night, June 11, at the Grosse Pointe South High School graduation. The lawn setting, the perfect temperatures, the smiles and tears, the stars and stripes good music, well prepared clever speakers; it was all there. Where was the invocation? Where was the benediction?

I have been a resident of Grosse Pointe Park for almost 40 years. During that time, from my sister's graduation in 1942, mine in 1950, and my children's, 1975, 1976, 1978 and now 1980, never has there been a service without some message or some reminder from a man of the church.

Thanks William Coats, Laurance Harwood, Spagnoli, but maybe next year a moment can be found in the program for a word from the One who had a hand in making everything possible for us all to reach this crossroad in so many lives. I hope next year time can be found to place principle before principal and personality.

Helen Fulcher, Of Wayburn road, Grosse Pointe Park

Your Library

Why films for kids? Films present a formidable cultural treasure for today's children. Many of them are based on first rate children's books, indeed the best of the so-called "shorts" are done by dedicated film-makers who have taken no liberties with the author's original concept.

It is unfortunate that most of short films never make their way to commercial theaters, or to the television screens. The short film is ideally suited to the young child. A program made up of shorts gives variety and breadth to the entertainment. There also seems to be a much greater percentage of high quality short films than long feature films for children.

The Grosse Pointe Public Library has successfully used the film as a means of introducing books to children for years, and this summer will be no exception. We have a variety of movies good enough to entertain even the most jaded grandmother pressed into service.

There are flyers in each library giving precise dates, times, and titles for each film program. The movie program will begin July 8 and end August 8. Pre-school films will be shown at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Central Library, Wednesday at the Woods Branch, and Thursday at the Park Branch. School-age movies will be at 3 p.m. on Wednesday at the Park Branch and Thursday at Central Library. The Woods Branch will show their films at 10:30 a.m. Friday morning.

The Pre-school program is based entirely on picture books or nursery tales in our collection. No program is longer than 40 minutes and it covers such nursery favorites as the Three Little Pigs, Frederick, Country Mouse and City Mouse, Anatole, The Owl and the Pussy Cat, and the Caldecott Award Winner, Where the Wild Things are.

The films for School Age children are longer with more content. Marguerite Henry's BRIGHTY OF GRAND CANYON will begin the season. GRANNY LIVES IN GALWAY is an exciting segment of the full length thriller, The Flight of the Doves. HEADLINE HUNTERS is an adventure story, typical of the sort of thing the English do so well. Children are the heroes and invariably outsmart the adults.

Tom DePaola has done the animation for STREGA NONA. The film has all the charm and humor of his book. Strega Nona or Grandmother Witch has a magic pot which will produce pasta on her command. Big Anthony discovers the secret of starting the magic, but forgets how to stop it.

The DISAPPEARANCE OF SILVER BLAZE, a famous race horse, and the murder of his trainer bring out Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson.

WHITE MANE is the story of a boy's friendship with a wild white stallion and how together they resist the efforts of man to capture the horse and break his spirit.

Adults wishing to see these films with their children are more than welcome.

Know Your Schools

By Dr. William Coats, Superintendent of Schools

Although the regular schedule of classes has concluded for the year, during the summer months there are many programs conducted by the school system. In a series of columns between now and September, I will use this space to summarize those activities.

Two new activities this summer are being conducted by our Department of Community Services. One program for senior citizen residents provides the opportunity to use school system facilities for playing cards, chess, checkers and other games. Room B-117 of North High School is available to seniors from 1 to 3:30 p.m. every Thursday through August 28. No advance registration is required and our seniors are welcome to simply come and join in the fun and good times.

Another new activity is an A.A.U. Masters' Swim Program for adult residents. This program is also conducted at North High School with participants swimming twice a week for conditioning.

The Department of Community Services has continued the Summer Track Program which was initiated last year and has nearly 150 students of all age levels participating in two four-week sessions of track and field events under the direction of Steve Zarenek, a former runner at North High School and presently the girls' cross country and track coach at South High School.

The first session of morning practices at North High School will conclude in two weeks with a meet between the participants in which they will have the opportunity to demonstrate their running, hurdling, high and long jumping, and shot-putting skills. Although we don't expect anyone to run a four-minute mile, we expect many good performances and hope the activity generates enthusiasm among the participants to continue with the second session of practices scheduled for South High School.

Another relatively new summertime activity offered by the department is a Gymnastics Program. Students in this program are coached by Colleen Bown and Jan Mason, the coaches of South High School's Team during the school year. In this program, 205 girls and boys are receiving instruction and supervised practice in vaulting, uneven parallel bars, balance beam, floor exercise and tumbling skills.

The Summer Basketball Program, which has been conducted at both high schools for several years, is being offered again this summer. One hundred fifty-eight girls and boys from fifth grade through high school are learning basic fundamentals and increasing their skill levels by participating in various drills and scrimmages under the coaching of Ray Ritter, Bill Taylor and Scott Burns at North High and Tom Conrad at South High.

Persons interested in further information about participating in these types of programs may call the Department of Community Services at 343-2180.

South Flutist Wins Stay At MSU Music Camp

South high orchestra and wind ensemble flutist Shannon Young was recently granted a scholarship for the 1980 Michigan State University summer youth music camp program.

Young received the award on the basis of her musical talent, leadership qualities and recommendations from her teachers and the youth music staff.

A junior at South, she also received a scholarship to participate at Interlochen at the end of the summer.

Young and other students at the camp will rehearse daily and will receive small class instruction and private study with MSU staff in music theory, literature, conducting and acoustics. They will also get a chance to perform in a series of concerts and recitals.

The program features two sessions for student instrumentalists, vocalists and pianists during the period from June 16 to July 3. A newly established junior high school band camp will run from June 16-20 and June 22-July 3 has also been scheduled for a senior high school music camp.

Guest conductors for this year's major performing groups will include Stanley De Rusha, director of bands at MSU, for the band category.

WOMEN'S PAGES

From Another Pointe of View

By Janet Mueller

They were living portraits of America's fashions through the years in "Reflections of Elegance" presented by the Fox Creek Chapter of Quilters at the luncheon program of the Quilter National Convention at the Hyatt-Regency in Dearborn in mid-May.

Over 800 people from all over the United States and Canada saw the parade of authentic fashions from 1860 to 1942 modeled by predominantly Grosse Pointe-based Quilters.

The show, coordinated by Mrs. Eugene Chosy and Mrs. C. Kenneth Harle, Jr., and narrated by Mrs. Robert Reas, followed an historical commentary researched and written by Mrs. Robert Waters.

And then they came down the runway . . . Mrs. Michael Brennan, president of the convention-hosting Michigan State Quilters, in a 1900 black lace gown loaned by Mrs. Fred W. Parker . . . Mrs. Arthur Betten in pearl grey satin, the gown created in 1909 in Paris for her grandmother to wear to her mother's wedding.

Mrs. Batten's mother's lace and satin wedding dress was also shown.

Mrs. Kenneth Stekete was ready for a July, 1860, wedding—once she completed dressing. Mrs. Stekete made her initial appearance in pantaloons, lacy chemise, waist cincher and brown high-top shoes. She added hoop skirt, bustle, two petticoats, a brown satin two-piece dress and a lace headpiece in full view of the audience.

Andre and Marc Flip for The French Market

Last year they were in the army, members of the Company of 17th Century French Marines drilling under the eagle eye of their commander, who also happened to be their father: Pierre Augier, of Bishop road. This year they're in the kitchen, and CHARLENE and ELMO JOSEPH — he's in charge of concessions for the Eighth Annual French Market, to be presented this Saturday, July 5, and Sunday, July 6, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial; she's in charge of the 1980 French Market raffle—watch in fascination as MARC and ANDRE AUGIER, (left and right, under the chef hats), practice their crepe-flipping techniques in preparation for the two-day festival with a Gallic flavor.

The Augier brothers will flip thousands of crepes this weekend. Hopefully, they'll flip outdoors, on the War Memorial's lawn, but rain or shine the French Market will go on. If the clouds roll in, the Market moves in, to Fries Ballroom. Entertainment, either way, will be continuous. Admission, either way, is free.

The French Market, presented annually by the French Festival of Detroit, Inc., will run from 11 in the morning to 10 in the evening on Saturday, from noon to 8 o'clock on Sunday. Chairman and assistant chairman, respectively, are William E. Barry and Yves Carbonneau. Bill Barry also happens to be president of the sponsoring French Festival; its past-presidents are a pair of fellow Pointers: Mrs. Peter W. Stroh and Warren S. Wilkinson.

There'll be cancan dancers, of course, and bargains galore at the traditional Marche aux Puces. (Flea Market), and a French Bazaar offering art, handknits, handicrafts, et al. for sale. New this year is a pottery demonstration.

There'll be lots of good things to eat and drink, from French cheese sandwiches on French bread, (How about Brie and butter cozing together inside a thick, crusty loaf? Yum!), to gateaux to Marc and Andre's crepes to beer, wine, coffee and lemonade.

Participating organizations are the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe; Warren's Club LaSalle, Inc., the Paroisse St. Joachim de Detroit and the Societe St. Jean Baptiste de Detroit. Committee heads include Mr. Wilkinson, Ralph Mayer, Dorothea Vermeulen, Danielle Van Assche, Dorothy Newhouse, Charles Collins, Renaud Poulin, Janet Schroeder, Elizabeth Mikhail, Denise Controulis, Frances Sheridan, Lori Bertram, Eileen Barry, Vera Axson and George Skaff.

The French Marines won't be back. They've served their purpose and been disbanded. The Augier brothers — Marc is going into the 10th grade, Andre into the 12th grade at Grosse Pointe South High School—don't mind trading in their muskets for skillets, but they've learned that flipping requires as much practice as drilling. So they've been practicing . . . and when Marc, asked if he has advice for anyone who shows up at the French Market's Crepes Booth this weekend, answers, "Wear a helmet," he's saying it with tongue in cheek.

At least we think so. After all, as a French Marine at last year's French Market, he didn't shoot anybody.

Elected as president of the Steering Committee at the University of Michigan's College of Art is DONNA MARIE SCHULTE, daughter of MR. and MRS. CARL W. SCHULTE, of Hollywood avenue. A graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, Donna is a senior majoring in Advertising and Graphic Design and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Appointed by Governor WILLIAM MILLIKEN to a Special Committee on Hospital Capacity Reduction to implement the recommendations of the Task Force on Hospital Capacity was SYMOND R. V. GOTTLIEB, of Bedford road, executive director, Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council, Inc.

Among students named to the Dean's List for the winter quarter at Alma College was KATHRYN KIRSCH, daughter of MR. and MRS. JERRY KIRSCH, of Beacon Hill. Kathryn is a senior at Alma.

Mezzo-soprano MONICA WHITAKER, of The Woods, assisted Kalamazoo College senior Rollin Marquis, III, in a voice recital at the college in May. Monica is a senior at Kalamazoo.

How the Glorious Fourth of July Was Almost the Glorious Second

By Kathryn Lindeman
Smithsonian News Service
"The glorious Second?" Of course not. "The Fourth" is firm in the national mind as the synonym of independence. But July 2 could well have been the nation's birthday, and for a moment 204 years ago John Adams truly thought it would be.

It was on July 2, 1776, that the Continental Congress, meeting in a hot, humid Philadelphia, came to an inevitable but anguished decision — one that Adams told the patriots "rolls in on us like a torrent."

Although the Declaration of Independence was pending before the angered Congress, the delegates first voted on the crucial principle of separation contained in a resolution proposed by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia. It's words tell the story:

"... these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States . . . and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved."

The vote on the Lee resolution, so momentous because of its daring challenge to mighty Britain, prompted Adams to write his wife Abigail on July 3, "I am apt to believe that (July 2) will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival."

That, of course, was not to be. On July 4, after making a few minor changes, the Congress approved the Declaration of Independence, which Jefferson and four other delegates had been drafting since June 11.

Like the Lee resolution, it announced the intent of the Colonies to be "free and independent," but it was much more detailed, listing the grievances against the Crown, and it was blessed with Jefferson's ringing phrases: "We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal . . ."

And so the commitment to independence became official on July 4, and it is that date that became fixed in American history and legend as the beginning of the new nation.

For Americans interested in historical footnotes however, it should be noted that the Declaration was not read from Independence Hall until July 8. And not until July 19 did Congress vote to have the document signed by the states' delegates to the Continental Congress.

Apart from missing by two days the date when his countrymen would celebrate Independence Day, Adams' letter is significant for its confidence in the step that many members of the Continental Congress thought might fail. As Benjamin Franklin remarked at the time of the independence debate in Philadelphia, "We must all hang together, or assuredly we shall all hang separately."

But in his letter to Abigail Adams displayed no uncertainty, predicting that in years to come independence would be marked by " . . . pomp and parade, with shows, games and sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other. . ."

Yet the first anniversary would have gone without notice had it not been for a Philadelphia resident who realized that the one-year mark was approaching. Celebration plans were quickly pulled together and, according to an account by Adams, bells rang all day, bonfires and fireworks lit up the

Alpha Phi Hearts Go Out to St. John

Members of the Detroit East Suburban Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Phi fraternity, including MRS. DANIEL BROWN, (left), and MRS. URBAN BORESCH, recently presented a check for $2,000, to be used toward the purchase of a Cardiograph, to GLENN A. WESSELMANN, Saint John Hospital's executive vice-president. The CKG is an electromagnetic device which is able to record heart motion non-invasively without direct contact with the chest wall. Cardiac Aid has been Alpha Phi's national philanthropy since 1946 and, for the past nine years, Alpha Phi has conducted international lollipop sales to raise funds for cardiac aid projects. Mrs. Brown co-chaired the local alumnae chapter's 1980 lollipop sales with Mrs. James Greenfield. Peggy Cole was among their committee members. Mrs. Boresch is the Detroit East Suburban Alumnae Chapter's current president. Alpha Phi received the American Heart Association's Heart and Torch Award in 1966 in recognition of the fraternity's outstanding contributions to Cardiac Care.

night and 13-gun salutes from warships in the harbor tore the air. A mid-afternoon dinner in a local tavern was accompanied by music and toasts. That was followed by a parade of soldiers and the lighting of candles in city windows.

As the Revolutionary Army disbanded, soldiers returned home and pioneers began moving west, the idea of celebrating the Fourth spread to other areas of the new nation.

But, "by the time of the 50th anniversary in 1826, many were questioning the way of celebrating independence," according to sociologist Shirley Cherkasky, who is responsible for July Fourth research in the Smithsonian Institution's Division of Performing Arts. By then, for example, United States leaders believed there should be more meaningful observances than the custom of allotting an extra ration of rum to the soldiers.

A special celebration was planned for July 4, 1826. It would not follow the usual style of "frying chickens, firing away damaged powder or fudding our noses over tavern wine," as one newspaper put it. Instead, dignitaries who had taken part in the events of July 1776 were invited to Philadelphia for commemorative ceremonies.

Ironically, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, who had declined the honor because of ill health, both died on that July Fourth, exactly 50 years after approval of the Declaration.

A number of customs that began with the early celebrations in Philadelphia continued for a century or more.

A public reading of the Declaration of Independence, for one, was a popular event on most July Fourth schedules for years.

Oration and parades also were customary. "Oratory was an art in the early days," Harold Closter, of the Smithsonian's Performing Arts Division says. "It is said that Daniel Webster left his duties in Washington each year to go to his hometown in New Hampshire to give the two-hour July Fourth address to an audience of thousands."

The popular appeal of a number of famous orators, including Webster, who quoted from the Greek with great fervor and patriotism, emerged at this time.

Oration soon turned into political speeches, and campaign promises by the candidates followed right along. "Traditionally," Herbert Collins, Smithsonian Political History curator, says, "Fourth of July festivities have been used as a testing ground for politicians kicking off their campaigns."

Of course, fireworks of one sort or another have been popular Independence Day attractions for more than 200 years, since the time of the early bonfires and lighting of candles in Philadelphia.

But firecrackers and other explosives in the hands of children and amateurs eventually came under attack from community leaders who called for a "safe and sane Fourth." In the early 1900s, the Chicago Tribune launched a campaign for a safer holiday without deaths, injuries and fires from explosives, and 1903 saw the citizens of Springfield, Mass., ban the sale of explosive devices.

"The Victorian idea of excess," Cherkasky says, "permeated the 100-year anniversary in 1876 and helped to bring a resurgence in patriotic celebrations of the holiday." An elaborate international exposition of arts and manufacturing and products of farm and mine, including exhibits from more than 50 countries, was organized on 284 acres of Philadelphia's Fairmount Park.

There were hundreds of large and small structures at the park, with the main building alone covering 20 acres.

As this new giant grew older it slowly dropped the concept of the Fourth as a quasi-military exercise with cannon salutes and extra rum for the men in uniform. And during the 20th century, particularly after World War II, the holiday became firmly established as a family event.

But whatever way Independence Day is celebrated, John Adams, after all, was only two days off the mark when he wrote Abigail: "The Second of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America."

Fireworks for Refugee Relief

The donation, to the Michigan Refugee Relief Fund, was $25 per car, and for that the first 150 cars to show up on the rooftop of the Renaissance Center parking ramp had a grandstand view of this year's Detroit/Windsor Freedom Festival fireworks.

Proceeds from the tax deductible auto admissions will go to buy food, medicine and supplies for refugees in Thailand and Cambodia courtesy of the Michigan Refugee Relief Fund established at the request of Governor Milliken after his visit to refugee camps in Thailand last October.

Serving on the fund's rooftop benefit committee were Sheila Sloan, Clare Kay, Doris Miller, Barbara Wachler, Lois Spector, Jody Fields, Kim Lifton, Ginger Scott, Judy Wachler, Arlene Miller, Janet Stein, Vicky Barnett, Amy Fishman, Betty Ger-risch, Donna Frank, Amy Willens and Carol Fellows.

The current situation in Indochina remains extremely grave. Desperate farmers are eating their seed rice, and without the planting of seed rice there will be no winter harvest; this will prolong the already widespread famine. All indications point to a repetition of last year's catastrophic famine: the principal difference this year is that food appears to have run out even earlier than it did in 1979. Contributions to the Michigan Refugee Relief Fund are tax deductible and may be sent to the Relief Fund, Box 48255, Further information is available by contacting the Governor's Detroit office, 256-2890.

Stocking-Russell Vows Exchanged

Newlyweds Vacation at Freeport on Grand Bahama Island; Lace Accents Bride's Victorian Gown

Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore was the setting Saturday, June 7, for the late morning wedding of Rachel Ann Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Russell, of St. Clair Shores, and Patrick J. Stocking, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Stocking, of Webster road.

The 11 o'clock ceremony at which Monsignor Francis X. Canfield officiated was followed by a reception at Barrister House.

The newlyweds vacationed at Freeport on Grand Bahama Island. They will make their home in Warren.

Lace accented the bride's sheer bodiced Victorian gown. Her illusion veil fell from a headpiece of white silk roses and baby's-breath, matching her bouquet of roses, baby's-breath and stephanotis with white streamers.

Honor attendant Denise Sudz and bridesmaids Linda Carnick, Therese Marie Stocking and Mary Judith Stocking wore mimosa yellow A-line sundresses and lace blouson jackets, and carried arm bouquets of spring garden flowers.

Best man was Michael Alan Stocking. Guests were seated by Jerome R. Stocking, Chris Wilson and David Carnick.

The mother of the bride wore an A-line dress, powder blue in color. The bridegroom's mother selected a pleated, aqua dress.

Married Saturday, June 7, in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore to Mr. Stocking, son of the Jerome Stockings, of Webster road, was RACHEL ANN RUSSELL, daughter of the Robert A. Russells, of St. Clair Shores.

Engaged

Early August wedding plans are being made by LINDA SUE LAWRENCE and Randal Alan Hoke whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark R. Lawrence, of Hillcrest road.

The bride-elect, a Grosse Pointe South High School alumna who holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Urban Studies and Political Science from Northwestern University, where she affiliated with Alpha Phi sorority, will be attending graduate school, studying City and Regional Planning, at the University of North Carolina this fall.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leander H. Hoke, Jr., of Fort Wayne, Ind., was graduated from Carroll High School and received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Integrated Sciences and Chemistry from Northwestern University.

He, too, plans to attend graduate school at the University of North Carolina in the fall, studying Chemistry.

Sunset at Zoo Is June Treat

Detroit Zoological Society members and their guests, (the members were limited to four per person, due to the popularity of the annual party), gathered last Thursday evening, June 26, for Sunset at the Zoo — and, as always, everyone had a "zoo-per" time.

There were hors d'oeuvres and soft drinks, with more potent liquid refreshments available for those who wanted them. There was music. There were tractor train tours, special events and special exhibits.

The party ran from 6 to 8 o'clock and all the guests — adults only; the Zoological Society welcomes its members' children on another day — agreed that the zoo is certainly THE place to see the sun set.

Kiddie Kampus Session Will Begin in July

The YWCA has scheduled a special "Kiddie Kampus" session for three-to-five-year-old pre-schoolers. Sessions will begin Monday, July 7 and continue until Friday, August 1. Classes are scheduled Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 o'clock until noon.

Mary Bullock, a certified teacher, will provide Story Time, Arts and Crafts, creative play and gym time for the younger set. Snacks are provided.

Further information may be obtained by calling 772-4435.

Cancer Group Meets July 3

A Focus on Living (with Cancer) meeting will be held today, Thursday, July 3, at 7:30 in the evening at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church on Mack avenue.

The purpose of this self-help group is to bring together patients and family members who have questions or are experiencing problems as a result of living with cancer.

DKE, Sorosis Join in Benefit

Local members of Collegiate Sorosis and the University of Michigan's Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon traveled across town in mid-June to attend the premier of Peggy Lee's "Side by Side by Sondheim" at the Birmingham Theatre.

The event was a benefit to help both fraternal organizations reinstate active chapters on the U. of M.'s Ann Arbor campus. The DKE Chapter disbanded after fire destroyed its house on Geddes road several years ago.

Collegiate Sorosis disbanded when the anti-sorority sentiment of the 60's left the sisterhood with a large, partially vacant house and heavy expenses.

"Recolonizing" is what members call their efforts to re-establish chapters, and the two groups are helping each other. Proceeds from the benefit and its afterglow at the Birmingham Community House are being divided equally.

Among couples participating were many who met at the University of Michigan when he was a DKE and she was a Sorosis, including Grosse Pointe's Dee and Martin Oetting and Ruth and John Bradford.

Co-chairing the event were Mrs. David K. Easlick, Jr., whose mother-in-law is also a Sorosis U. of M. alumna. Mrs. Jack Bednas and Mrs. John Edman. Mrs. Tom Tierman is president of the Sorosis Club of Michigan, which plans to hold formal rush this fall and is raising funds to purchase a new sorority house.

The DKE Chapter has purchased a house once occupied by Alpha Chi Omega.

Pointers in the DKE contingent at the benefit included Susie and John Lambrecht and Stephanie and Richard Kost. Attending from the Sorosis group were Mary Lou Purdy, Ellie Shuster, Elaine Baker, Laura and Bradley Host, Char and Tom Kuzma, Sue and Fred Leydorf, Marietta and Bob Reid and Bev and Robert Straub.

League Party At Lochmoor

Members and guests of the Michigan League for Crippled Children gathered on June 28, at Lochmoor Club for luncheon preceding their annual card party.

Mrs. Edmund Bitters accepted reservations for the event, a benefit for Camp Grace Bentley. Many improvements have been made at the camp again this year to increase the health, safety and beauty features of the facility for orthopaedic and cardiac handicapped children.

A special party prize was provided by the league's Junior Auxiliary.

LINC Looking Ahead to Fall

Operation LINC (Linking Individuals to Needs in the Community) will introduce its 1980-81 executive committee and make further plans for its fall fund raiser, a mid-September Lucky LINC Casino Party, at a general meeting next Thursday, July 10, at 9:15 in the morning in LINC's offices at Saint Ambrose Church.

All current and prospective volunteers are invited to attend, according to Mrs. D. Gary Wolford, president, whose co-officers this year include Mrs. Salvatore Cipriano and Mrs. Thomas M. Coyle, first and second vice-presidents, respectively.

Secretary is Mrs. G. A. Morreale. Treasurer and assistant treasurer, respectively, are Mrs. Richard L. Miller and Mrs. Harley Russell.

The meeting will include a history of Operation LINC, a non-profit volunteer organization established to link donors of items, services or funds with agencies and social services in Wayne County.

During the past 12 months, LINC volunteers have picked up and delivered to over 100 Wayne County agencies goods valued at more than $150,000. They have provided such items as clothing for all ages, baby furniture, household appliances, books and office equipment.

Among the special needs LINC has filled in the past year are camping gear for Detroit Metro Youth for Christ and a dental chair for the Detroit Department of Public Health. LINC recently presented a used car to Hubbard-Richard, a Detroit community service organization, which uses it to get senior citizens to and from medical appointments.

LINC's fall fund raiser, set for Saturday, September 20, at Assumption Cultural Center on Marter road, will include a buffet dinner and open bar. Tickets will be $25 per person.

One of Mrs. Carson Grunewald's outfits was the uniquely American Gibson girl ensemble, highlighted by a hat, adorned with real stuffed birds, originally owned by Virginia-born Lady Nancy Astor, who became the first female member of the British Parliament—and remained one for 25 years!

Another crowd-pleaser was the earliest "reflection" in the collection: a two-piece caramel taffeta dress and cape loaned by Mrs. Jonathan Hartz, whose husband's family had preserved it since 1860. The ensemble was modeled by Mrs. L. J. Cardwell, of Questers' Ribbon Farms Chapter.

Mrs. Fred Rogers, of The Pettipointe Chapter, appeared in the wine velvet wedding gown worn by the daughter of the Chief Surgeon of the Army commanded by General Robert E. Lee, and Cathy Cornillie, daughter of Pettipointe Chapter model Mrs. Henry J. Cornillie, was exquisite in a princess style dress of green wool, decorated with red silk embroidered pointsettias on the mandarin collar and at the sides, laced from hem to throat. This Christmas finery has been beautifully preserved by Mrs. James LeDuc's family.

Sabrina Harle, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Kenneth Harle, Jr., drew applause with her 1904 blue wool challis dress and brown hightop shoes. Sabrina carried a Teddy Bear, also dating from 1904: the year Theodore Roosevelt used it as a symbol in his successful campaign for the presidency.

The Teddy Bear has been a popular child's toy ever since. Moving on, into the reality of World War I, Mrs. F. Geoffrey Welsher appeared in a Doughboy uniform, carrying a canteen and gas mask. Mrs. E. G. Evenden wore a 1917 Red Cross Worker's uniform.

And still they came, 27 models in all . . . Mrs. James Haselwood in the 1898 white satin wedding dress treasured in the family of Mrs. Thomas Miller . . . Mrs. Harle in Mrs. William Montgomery's black velvet evening dress and ostrich feather cape from the 1930's.

These last two elegant ensembles were featured in a grand finale parade of 18 models wearing black and white gowns.

Other Pointers participating in the show were Fox Creek Chapter models Mrs. Brian J. Molloy and Mrs. Donald E. Draper, and Grosse Pointe Chapter model Mrs. Donald Landers. Constant and active support was, needless to say, provided by Mrs. Fred Winfield, Fox Creek Chapter president.

"Reflections of Elegance" evolved from the program, "Roaring Twenties Rags." Mrs. Harle presented in November, 1976, for the Fox Creek Chapter, using 1920's and 30's dresses from her aunt's collection and the contents of a trunk purchased for $3—including the trunk!—at an estate sale.

Attending that meeting was Mrs. Robert Priest, Fox Creek member and chairperson of the October, 1978, Quester State Convention, to be held at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Mrs. Priest asked Mrs. Harle if a vintage fashion show could be developed for the state convention luncheon program. No reason why not . . . and Mrs. Harle and Mrs. Chosy, both of whom admit to being "hooked" on old clothes, went to work.

They collected, begged or borrowed the 57 outfits complete with hats, fans, gloves, petticoats, parasols, handkerchiefs, shoes and jewelry which became "Reflections of Elegance," a title coined by Mrs. Reas.

The parade of velvets, satins, laces, ostrich feathers and furs was such a hit at the state convention that the 1980 Quester National Convention Core Committee, attending the Michigan meeting at the War Memorial, invited Fox Creek to display "Reflections of Elegance" at the 1980 National Quester Convention in Dearborn.

The fashions-through-the-ages show was a resounding hit there, too.

Bride-Elect

Plans for a late September wedding are being made by JUDITH ANN ELLIS and Gordon Morseth, Jr., whose engagement has been announced by her uncle, Mr. Ernest Chopp, of Nottingham road.

Miss Ellis, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Ellis, of Buckingham road, is an alumna of Grosse Pointe South High School. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Metallurgical Engineering from Michigan Technological University where she affiliated with Alpha Phi Omega.

She will be employed at International Paper Company in Louisiana.

Mr. Morseth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Morseth, of Port Huron, was graduated from Port Huron Northern High School and holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemical Engineering from Michigan Technological University. He affiliated with Alpha Phi Omega and is a member of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry.

He is currently employed with International Paper Company in Louisiana.

Fourth of July Freedom Rings

Greenfield Village will celebrate the July 4 weekend with rousing speeches and exciting military music as the annual "Let Freedom Ring" and Fire and Drum Music Muster combine for a fitting Independence holiday.

Dearborn Mayor John O'Reilly is the special "Let Freedom Ring" guest speaker tomorrow, Friday, July 4, at noon in front of the Henry Ford Museum. The C.A. Palmer Fire and Drum Corps and the First Michigan Colonial Fire and Drum Corps will perform patriotic music. The event is free to the public.

A dozen colorful fire and drum units in Colonial military dress will march and perform during the three day muster June 4 through 6. The units will play at village and museum trances, on the Village Green and at Susquehanna House.

Saturday and Sunday, all units will muster at the Village Activities Field, where they will be introduced and perform separately. Parades through the village will be held at 1:30 on Friday and noon on Saturday and Sunday.

Village visitors can enjoy this exciting music at no additional charge beyond the usual village admission of $4.25 for adults, $2.25 for children six to 12. Children under six are admitted free.

CONFUSED?

Sometimes it is difficult to find your way through all the claims and counterclaims of advertising media.

But there is one non-sense report that tells it exactly like it is—not like we (or anyone else) dreams it to be.

That's the report of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, an advertiser controlled circulation fact-finding and fact-reporting organization.

Next time you question a circulation claim, just ask to see proof—the ABC report. And that's a fact, for sure.

Pounds Off For Charity

Grosse Pointe's Katherine Carrick was one of 22 Michigan Bell staffers who helped a friend lose 30 pounds — and helped two health agencies carry out their work.

She pledged a donation to the American Diabetes Association and the Michigan Cancer Foundation on the condition that co-worker Fredricka Birch, ("Fred" to her co-workers), take off the weight.

Fred did, and the two charities sent representatives to Michigan Bell's Marketing and Learning Center in Southfield, where the newly sylph-like lady works, to congratulate her and her fellow employees.

Cotton Pickers Hold Reunion

Saxophonist Benny Carter is one of three former members of the McKinney's Cotton Pickers who were reunited in a concert on Thursday, June 26, in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium.

Carter, age 72, performed with vocalist Dave Wilborn, '76, and trumpeter "Doc" Cheatham, '75, for the first time in nearly 50 years.

Drummer Louie Bellson and vocalist Ursula Walker also were featured on the program, as were the New McKinney's Cotton Pickers.

McKinney's Cotton Pickers, formed in 1927, became one of the most renowned black orchestras in the United States. The group recorded and toured extensively, using Detroit's Graystone Ballroom as its home base.

Benny Carter in the 1930s was a leading alto saxophonist. In the 1940s he led one of the most popular big bands and composed such tunes as "When Lights Are Low" and "Cow Cow Boogie."

Carter has performed and recorded with a long list of jazz artists, written numerous film and television scores and made arrangements for many other musicians.

Dave Wilborn is the only living original member.

Fashion Reflections Through the Years

"Reflections of Elegance" through the years are, (standing, left to right), MRS. C. KENNETH HARLE, JR., MRS. KENNETH STEKETEE, MRS. ROBERT WATERS, MRS. EUGENE CHOSY, MRS. JAMES HASELWOOD and, (seated), MRS. MICHAEL BRENNAN, president of the Michigan State Questers, who appeared in the 1860-1940 fashion show presented by Questers' Fox Creek Chapter at Questers National Convention in Dearborn this spring. For more on the show, and the fashions, check out this week's "From Another Pointe of View."

chairman, Shirley DeNise and Mary Ruffner, house and hospitality chairmen, Priscilla Brown, publicity, and Priscilla VanHorne, social chairman.

Still more are Doris Gardner, in charge of yearbooks, Betty Fuchs, Jolly Cheers, Helen Huber and Gerry Dice, Saint Ambrose Home, Marie Torakis, Taylor-Bodkin Home, and Kay Leonard, Brush Street sales coordinator.

Charles Gleason Directs a Blue Lake Satellite

New program director of Camp Douglass, a satellite facility of Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, is Charles E. Gleason who was recently named vocal director at Grosse Pointe South High School.

Camp Douglass on West Lake, about four miles southeast of the central camp, has facilities for a 120-voice high school choir. It opened on Tuesday, June 24, and will operate through July 6.

Gleason has been director of vocal programs at three Detroit high schools: Denby, Cooley and Cass Tech. His choirs and ensembles have earned a number of awards at state and regional festivals.

Flag Manufacturers Expect Banner Year

By Donald J. Frederick
National Geographic
News Service

Old Glory is flying high, and with the approach of the patriotic holidays flag makers are expecting their biggest year since the Bicentennial.

"International tensions and economic problems at home have motivated many people to display a symbol of faith and hope in their country," explains Daniel G. Connors, an executive with Annin & Company, a Verona, N.J., firm that has been making flags for 133 years.

"Then, too, this is an election year. Flags will be in demand for parades, rallies, and conventions," adds Connors.

But flag manufacturers are most impressed this year with the grass-roots demand for the national banner. "Our distributors tell us it sometimes starts on a single street, spreads to a neighborhood and encompasses a whole town," Connors says.

What prompts this rallying round the flag? It might be started by a prominent citizen in a community, a local organization or a newspaper campaign.

Most popular this year are the three-by-five-foot flags that homeowners display on small poles or drape from the front porch. Annin's largest flags measure 20 by 30 feet and are very big with fast food restaurants, gasoline stations and other retail businesses.

Many of these businesses are located near highways. They use the big flags to attract trade more than anything else, Connors explains.

Nothing, however, matches America's largest flag — a star-spangled extravaganza more than 21 stories high and weighing seven tons. The big banner would have kept Betsy Ross busy for a lifetime. Each of the stars on the two-acre flag measures 13 feet across. The stripes are 16 feet high and 411 feet long.

After visiting several cities, the flag will end up at its permanent location on the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge linking Brooklyn and Staten Island.

It succeeds a slightly smaller version of the Stars and Stripes that made an ill-fated appearance on the bridge during New York's 1976 Bicentennial festivities.

The wind tore it almost in half the first time it was hoisted aloft.

Steel supports will protect the new flag, which on patriotic occasions will be raised and lowered with cables powered by nine small motors.

The undisputed heavy-weight champ before the appearance of the Verrazano contenders was a flag that weighed a ton and a half and adorned the front of J. L. Hudson's downtown Detroit department store on suitable holidays. Measuring 230 by 204 feet, it took 55 men to get in into place each time.

Retired after 25 years' service, Detroit's Old Glory is folded neatly into a corner of the "Nation's Attic," an exhibit in the National Museum of History and Technology in Washington, D.C.

The original Star-Spangled Banner, hanging in the same museum, was 42 by 30 feet before decay gradually ate away about a fourth of it.

GP Artists' Gavel Passed

Grosse Pointe Artists' Association president Evelyn (Mrs. Robert) Snyder handed the gavel of office to Edna (Mrs. Frank J.) Bakewicz, president-elect, at the association's annual dinner at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club in mid-June.

The presentation ceremony was followed by the introduction of Richard Vernick, of Bloomfield Hills, well-known artist-photographer, conducted by program chairman Pat

(Mrs. William) Penoyer.

On hand to greet members and their guests were Carol (Mrs. Harold R.) Sinclair, social chairman, and Sylvia (Mrs. Richard) Mitchell, assistant social chairman.

YOU CAN'T FIND A BETTER COLONIAL UNDER $70,000

1915 VAN ANTWERP

We're absolutely serious. It doesn't exist. We've priced this beautiful 3 bedroom colonial under the market to allow the owner to retire now. Occupancy is almost immediate, and there's a good possibility a land contract can be worked out. If you desire the finest colonial value in the Woods, either make an immediate appointment or take your chances Sunday!

IF 654 PEACH TREE COULD TALK . . .

"I CAN'T BELIEVE IT!" My owners have spent over $8,000 to give me a new roof and attractive new siding plus a new thermo window and then they slash my price to a ridiculous $149,900! Am I a bargain . . . a beautiful farm colonial with 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths and family room in a fine "Woods" location . . . I hope you come see me Sunday . . . I'll be looking my best!"

TWO NEW "FIRSTS" FOR THE 4th!

$29,400 IS THE FULL PRICE of this 2 bedroom starter house with Grosse Pointe Schools, just into Harper Woods. Some T.L.C. will go a long way . . . after all what else can you buy for $29,400?

DETROIT PROPERTIES ARE ALMOST AS HOT AS OUR TIGERS, and if you want to start a winning streak of your own we suggest you make an all out effort to see this beauty before some one "steals it" from you! Maintenance free and with 3 bedrooms, family room and a finished basement, plus a 2 1/2 car garage . . . this is definitely an "all-star" candidate!

"BUY" APPOINTMENTS, PLEASE

CONDO CONNECTION! Because of its new low price this freshly carpeted and decorated 2 bedroom, 1 1/2 bath charming investment is going to return years of maintenance free living to some value-conscious investor/owner! Land contract terms and a list of extras a mile long . . . call for details!

NOW $172,000 AND A LAND BARONS DELIGHT. Looking for a spacious newer custom, ranch in the Heart of the Woods? Would you like the attached saleable lot? Would you prefer to be a land baron? Is immediate occupancy necessary? Does the exceptional fresh new decor appeal to you? For the answers to these and all your other questions, let us arrange a personal tour while this outstanding custom built residence is still available!

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — Newer and close to everything, this 3 bedroom, 2 bath split level colonial has all the conveniences you'd expect in a custom residence, including attached garage, sprinkler system, huge family room and a beautiful, modern kitchen, at $174,900, shouldn't you take a look?

OXFORD ROAD, NEAR THE LAKE. A home so gracious, yet so practical and so beautifully decorated, that once you've seen it, it will haunt you. Especially the formal garden, with its feeling of peace and contentment. And for warm weather entertaining, enjoy an exceptional screened and covered porch 36' x 16'. There's just about everything a discerning buyer could want, including library with fireplace, excellent maids suite of 4 rooms, plus 4 bedrooms and 3 1/2 baths for your family $305,000 . . . and worth it.

SPACIOUS 4 BEDROOM — DO IT YOURSELF DELIGHT! Why pay for someone else's decor, when you're going to redo it anyway? This family sized 4 bedroom all brick colonial has large rooms, family room, big lot, and small taxes. If you don't mind the working end of a paint brush, call!

IS THERE REALLY A SECRET RESORT ON PEACH TREE? Yes. Concealed to appear as a spacious custom built 4 bedroom, 3 1/2 bath colonial, it is in reality a private resort. Because of the privacy fence few have ever seen the magnificent pool or the elegant deck that surrounds it . . . and even fewer have seen the "Las Vegas Styled" games room with private wine cellar and wet bar. We suggest you immediately schedule a personal "raid" and seize the evidence for your future pleasure . . . before some one else does!

WHO WANTS A $150,000 ELEGANT ENGLISH RESIDENCE HIDDEN AWAY FOR ONLY $118,500? CALL NOW AND WE'LL TELL YOU WHERE TO FIND IT!

WHY WOULD ANYONE WANT TO OWN A DUTCH COLONIAL IN THE FARMS? (Maybe because this 3 bedroom, big roomed beauty is such a great value!)

CALIFORNIA RANCH IN ST. CLAIR SHORES. With 3 bedrooms, a ranch sized backyard and a ridiculously low price that only deserves attention if you want a below market price!

WOULD YOU LIKE A "RESIDENCE ONLY" PRIVATE LAKE FRONT PARK? Well, this extra special 3 bedroom ranch with family room has it. And a large lot and a 2 1/2 car garage. And a huge assumable mortgage too. Plus a low price!

SAVE GAS . . . WALK TO THE VILLAGE FROM THIS FRENCH MINI-MANSION! Five bedrooms, 3 1/2 baths . . . family room so attractive it's equally comfortable with either the "first family" or yours! Owner will hold $100,000 land contract . . .

DETROITS OTHER "SECRET SUPER DEALS!" Tucked away on a quiet, beautifully maintained street in Detroit near Cadieux and the X-way, there's a 2 bedroom colonial so beautifully decorated that it belongs in House and Home Magazine . . . even the central air won't "cool you off" on this charmer . . . $41,900!

AND ON THREE MILE . . . DETROITS BEST $39,900 house . . . three plus bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, big modern kitchen.

Posh Features... elegant fall and winter looks that give a woman daytime clothes she needs and wants with emphasis on fine fabrics and diversity plus evening fashions that dazzle with richness. The Posh ultrasuede group has a new dimension... the adding of matching tweeds, glens and multi-checked wools to enhance coats and suits and give excitement to new colors including jasper, Delft, grape, smoke. The ultrasuede coats are classic. The all-in-one coat of ultrasuede faced in a mini-houndstooth check is completely water-repellent. Choose a matching wool skirt or an ultrasuede skirt and a color-matched crepe de chine blouse. There is also a new ultrasuede car coat. There are open-arm dresses that can be belted, jumpsuits, pinafores, dresses and suits in the wide selection. Wool crepe dresses, challis and jerseys are great for day. Crepe de chine dresses with a silky look but actually polyester are smartly designed to match ultrasuede colors. The short cocktail and dinner dresses come in taffeta, silk satin, chiffon, point d'esprit and Qiana satin gloss. A new look features a kimono shaped bodice of silk satin-stripe chiffon decorated with flowers and obi sashed in an accent tone. You'll be able to see the Posh Fall and Winter Collection informally modeled 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Wednesday, July 9 in Somerset Mall and Thursday and Friday, July 10 and 11 in Grosse Pointe. Mr. Michael Platos, Posh representative, will help you with special orders.

Mutschler Kitchens... carries a large selection of hardware for drawers and doors, if you would like to update your present cabinets... 20227 Mack Avenue.

Limited Offer... at the Notre Dame Pharmacy, DI Borghese cologne spray, 4 oz is now $8.50.

There Is No Better... exercise for strengthening the heart than reaching down and lifting people up... Mr. Q Travel, 19517 Mack Avenue, 886-0500.

Ron Ruel Says... Before you decide to have a perm, you owe it to yourself to know what the process is all about and just what kind of effect it will have on your hair. Ron suggests a total control Pyrametric cut to start the beginning of your new look. The best time for a perm is when your hair doesn't look good, if it lacks body, will not stay in the style you desire and has become a time consuming problem. Call 886-4130 for an appointment.

Holiday Trips... can be hassle-free with some travel games from the School Bell, 17904 Mack Avenue.

KIMBERLY KORNER... A new golf skirt may not improve your score but a fresh new Lilly print will make it all more fun. Come see the new arrivals. Informal modeling every Thursday during lunch. Lilly Pulitzer, Kimberly Korner, Mack and Lochmoor.

Margaret Diamond's Big Summer Sale... starts July 5. Save 1/2 and 1/4 off dresses, suits, raincoats, pants, blouses, skirts and evening gowns. Stop in and see the new fall collection.

Cultural Center Entertains Kids

It's Children's Day today in the Detroit Cultural Center, where the Motor City's rich educational and cultural resources are highlighted by displays, entertainment and other activities for people of all ages from 10 in the morning until 4 in the afternoon. The Thursday, July 3, event, part of the 1980 Detroit-Windsor International Freedom Festival celebrations, is sponsored by 13 area cultural institutions and coordinated by the University Cultural Center Association. Most of the day's activities are free. The Junior League of Detroit is sponsoring walking tours of the Cultural Center and food and minibus transportation will be available. Hanna Barbera cartoon characters, Fred Flintstone and Scooby Doo are coming from Kings Island to greet the children. Outdoor entertainment will include hourly performances by the Detroit Recreation Department Pup-peteers and a variety of musical groups. The day-long schedule features games, crafts, films and exhibits, including a big box birthday cake workshop and patriotic paint-in at the Children's Museum. Visitors will be invited to play games from around the world at Your Heritage House, and free balloons and American flags will be given to the first 500 children who visit the Detroit Historical Museum, where they will meet living characters from the past. Other institutions are featuring displays showcasing the art and winning science projects of area youth.

Independence Days Are Here for J.D., Howard and Bob

By Janet Mueller

They're all midwestern-born, but only one is a native of our area. They all were in the service during World War II, two on the sea, one in the desert. They're all heading south, two to Florida, the one who was a meteorologist in North Africa during World War II back to the desert.

They're all retiring as members of Grosse Pointe high schools' staff, two from South, one from North, although one has taught every grade, first through junior college, during his professional career.

Bob Arrives

Now let's take them one at a time, starting with ex (as of last month) Grosse Pointe South High School Counselor Robert Hanson, who got off a bus at the corner of East Jefferson and St. Clair avenues in 1946, carrying all his worldly possessions in a suitcase and a laundry bag, and walked up to the Grosse Pointe Board of Education offices to meet the Superintendent of Schools, and stayed.

He was born in Racine, Wis., earned his Bachelors degree at the University of Wisconsin, his Masters degree at Northwestern University and his Ph.D. at Wayne State.

He's a member of the Michigan Association of College Admissions Counselors, the Guidance Association of Metropolitan Detroit and the American Personnel and Guidance Association.

His entire professional life has not been spent in Grosse Pointe. He taught for a year in Racine before joining the Air Force in 1942. He was in North Africa from El Alamein on, through the war.

He's married to an ex-teacher, Millie Hanson taught in Wisconsin, then for 10 years in Detroit. There's a son and daughter: Jim Hanson, with Western Bank Corporation in Phoenix, Ariz., and Marilyn Hanson Schottle, living now in Washington, D.C.

Assignment in Greece

Marilyn's husband, Peter, German-born, holder of a Ph.D. from Columbia, (that makes two Ph.D.'s in the family), is with the State Department. The Scotties came back to the States last year, after two years in Greece where Peter was assistant to the United States Ambassador.

Millie and Bob visited them there. The Hansons have been around, to England, e.g., "because my wife's relatives live there," and Dr. Hanson has no burning desire to collect further faraway places. Phoenix is, after all, three-quarters of the way across the country from Washington; to visit Marilyn will be quite a trip.

The Hansons are moving from Van Antwerp road to their Phoenix condominium, where they've spent part of every summer for the past six years. Dr. Hanson has activated his credentials and hopes to be working there, at a community college perhaps. He has worked summers at Michigan State, Wayne State and Eastern Michigan Universities.

But high school is what he likes best. It's a time of extraordinary physical and mental change. Bob Hanson has been in guidance counseling since 1947. In 1958 he was made administrator of the program at Grosse Pointe South (then THE) High School. By 1968 he was administrator on a district-wide basis, working with North and South Highs, the ele-

Likes Personal Contact

"I like having my own kids assigned to me. I like to watch them develop, see them change. In the great majority of cases, there's an improvement." It's a job that pays windfall dividends when "the kid you think will never make it turns out surprisingly."

Bob Hanson loves to swim. In Phoenix, he plans to do a lot of that. He plans to keep up his bowling, too, and to take up golf and tennis again. He'll continue to read voraciously; you couldn't stop him.

One of the things he'll miss about his house in Van Antwerp road is that it's right across from Parcels School, and the Woods Branch library.

He'll also miss his students. He finds, through the years, they haven't changed much—"there are always some who don't do as well as others"—but he thinks, as a former American/World History major, that today's students do less research than he recalls doing. "They seem to want things given to them, either verbally or in picturegrams, instead of reading for themselves."

One thing he will definitely NOT miss is "getting up early!"

Howard Graduates

Howard Lawrence graduated from high school in a class of 10. That was in Doon, Iowa, population 576 "counting the dogs and cats," to which the Lawrences, farmers, had moved from the metropolis of Montevideo, Minn., where Howard was born.

Then it was on to Iowa State Teachers College in Cedar Falls—until Pearl Harbor. Howard joined the Navy, and served in the Pacific through World War II.

He and Lois were married in the chapel on the naval base just before he was separated from the service, and since Lois taught violin at Central Washington College of Education, Howard decided to resume his education there while she finished her teaching year.

He and Lois went back to Iowa after that year, Howard finally got his Bachelor of Science degree from Iowa State College (now University) in Ames. By this time, he had enough credit hours for several degrees, what with switching schools and a brief flirtation with Electrical Engineering before he returned to his first love: History.

He began teaching in Grinnell, Iowa, in 1949, working summers on his Master of Arts degree at the University of Iowa. Three years later he had his M.A. He taught in Keokuk for the next six years.

Then he and Lois heard that Michigan was the Land of Opportunity.

On to Michigan. "I heard there was a vacancy at University High School in Kalamazoo. I applied for it and got it." The vacancy was for one year only, replacing a teacher who was on leave, on a fellowship, and at the end of the year there was no place for Howard in Kalamazoo, but Kalamazoo, recognizing a darn good teacher, recommended that he try a darn good system: Grosse Pointe.

He applied, was accepted and "snapped it up." He came to Grosse Pointe in 1959. He's retiring as Social Studies instructor at South High. He's always taught History-related subjects.

He served as Social Studies Department Head at South High from 1969 to 1973. He's a past president of the Grosse Pointe Education Association.

Music has been his Number One avocation. It's a family thing. There's Lois, of whom Howard is very proud. "She's an excellent violinist. In the past 10 years, she has given a number of recitals in the area." That's in addition to carrying a full teaching load of private students at Village Music on Kercheval avenue.

Howard sings. The oldest Lawrence son, Mark, is first trombonist with the San Francisco Symphony. Second son Raymond, working, is still at home.

Lois has resigned from Village Music, and the Lawrences have left Harrison Township to reside permanently at their home in Citrus Springs, Fla. At one point, for about 10 years, they lived in The Pointe, but moved to Harrison Township because they wanted "country." There were no more than three or four houses in their immediate area where they moved. "Now," says Howard, "it's all filled in."

He's not sorry to be moving south, but he is sorry to be leaving friends and colleagues behind. "I will miss a lot of these (Grosse Pointe Schools) people. I wish there were some way I could continue our relationship, without having to teach."

He's a golfer and an excellent bowler, loves to read and is frankly looking forward to retirement.

Especially if he can get in a bit of travel on the side. "I want to go to England. I want to see the land of my nationality. And I wouldn't mind seeing Austria, the Rhineland..."

He has no regrets about leaving behind "all the clerical work teachers have to go through," but he will miss the opportunity to be with young people. "They keep you young." On the positive side, he finds today's students much better informed than those of several decades ago. "I can hardly keep up with them." On the negative side, "They are much less willing to read."

J. D. Sounds Off

John D. Edwards doesn't suffer fools gladly. "I will miss the better student who took Physiology and Microbiology. I'll miss the track athletes: the unique bunch who accept discipline and give 110 percent of themselves. "The hamburgers, the ones who are looking for a hand-out—those I won't miss!"

J. D., retiring as a Science teacher at North High, was made in Detroit: born there, went to public schools there, graduated from Southeastern High there, taught there for 18 years before coming to Grosse Pointe in the fall of 1968. He's one of that unique bunch who opened North High.

He holds a Bachelor of Science degree (Natural Science) from Eastern Michigan University, a Master of Science degree (Biology) from Central Michigan University and a Master of Arts degree (Educational Administration) from the University of Michigan.

He's not through yet. J. D. and his wife, Betty, this year's Counselor of the Year at South Lake High School, are both retiring at the end of this school year, moving to Gainesville, Fla., and J. D. has been admitted to the Physiology Department of the University of Florida's College of Medicine, where he will study Chemistry and Muscle Physiology. "What it will lead to, I have no idea."

A Busy Couple

Don't get the idea Betty will be sitting around the house while J. D. bikes off to the University of Florida campus. She plans to study Gerontology as it applies to counseling.

"We're retiring early, because we need a change. You get in a rut; you know what a rut is? A coffin with the ends knocked out." No such fate for J. D. and Betty Edwards! If anything, they'll be busier in their retirement than they were when they were working.

J. D., who has assisted Coach Tom Gauerke with North High's track and cross country teams for the last 12 years, is looking forward to returning to training himself: to competing in Masters Track Meets.

He likes to play tennis. He likes to coach, and since there are a number of Olympic athletes in the Gainesville area, who knows?

Three years in the South Pacific during World War II left him with absolutely no desire to go island-in-the-sun hopping, but continents are a different matter. "We've been to Europe twice, and we want to go back. The last time we drove practically 2,000 miles. Do you know you can—could—drive into Russia? We wanted to start in Scandinavia, drive to Leningrad and Moscow and come back through Poland, but I guess the international situation has put a stop to that." For now.

China, Anyone? An acceptable alternative to motoring to Moscow would be a trip to Japan and Mainland China.

J. D. and Betty have two children, both graduates of the Grosse Pointe School System. "It's an outstanding system, and as a parent I appreciate it. By and large, my children had very fine instructors." Daughter Patricia is an attorney for Connecticut General Life Insurance Company. Son John is an administrator in the United States Department of Agriculture.

J. D. has some very definite ideas about education. He's the one who has taught at every grade level, and he thinks those who have taught elementary classes make the best teachers, "because they have to be structured."

He thinks the European system of separating students at the end of junior high, assigning them to apprentice/work or academic programs has much to offer. "The good students will always be good, regardless of where you find them. Race, color... those things don't matter."

"But the ones who just occupy the educational halls, taking up space—they should have something else to do. I don't say send them out to roam the streets; they'd have to be assigned to a structured program. I do say: what are they doing in an academic classroom, anyway?"

Historic Music At Fort Wayne

The Parade Grounds of Historic Fort Wayne will be the site of the fourth annual Independence Eve Twilight Concert this evening, Thursday, July 3, as six bands present a program spanning 200 years of American military music.

The concert, which has become a traditional part of the Detroit-Windsor International Freedom Festival, runs from 6:30 to 9 o'clock.

It features the First Michigan Colonial Fife and Drum Corps, the Fifth Michigan Regimental Band, the C.W. Dickerson Fife & Bugle Corps, the First Marine Band, the Windsor Police Pipe Band and the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps.

Featured, too, in the event, sponsored in part this year by the Sheraton-Southfield Hotel, will be a Civil War cannon firing demonstration by the Loomis Battery.

The concert is informal, with plenty of lawn seating, and the public is encouraged to come early and picnic on the grounds prior to the program.

Toledo Takes Farms Playoff

By Dave Shrake

The regular season ended with Buffalo, Richmond, Toledo and Albany facing each other in the Farms Class C playoffs, Toledo and Albany met for the championship game.

On Saturday, June 21, third-place Toledo edged first-place Buffalo, 3-1, in extra innings. Starting pitcher Bill Leonard earned the win, recording 18 strikeouts, four hits and two walks in six innings.

Andy Hoag took credit for the save in the bottom of the seventh, with three strikeouts and one hit. He allowed two walks.

Buffalo pitcher Sean Sanders was neck and neck with Leonard, totaling 18 strikeouts, four hits and two walks in six innings. At the end of six innings, Sean Cleland relieved Sanders. He struck out two and walked two, but gave up a two-run double to Leonard that ended the 1-1 score and the game.

Leonard singled twice in the game. Tom Droste and Jason White each collected a single. Buffalo's Cleland singled twice; Chris Stebbins tripled and Pat Michalik and Mike Henry doubled.

Following that game, fourth-place Albany topped third-place Richmond, 5-2, in six innings. Albany's sharp shooter Dan Monahan, earned the win with a no-hitter, striking out 18 and allowing 16 walks.

Monahan helped his own cause with a bases-loaded home run. Scott Gordon recorded a single.

Richmond sent Kevin Nugent to the mound. He did a good job of containing Albany. He recorded six strikeouts and allowed only two hits. Scott Adloch came in from the bullpen to total six strikeouts, allow no hits and walk two.

On June 24, Toledo squeaked by Albany and came away with the championship, 6-5.

Toledo's Hoag got the pitching nod and held on, striking out 13. He allowed only one hit and walked 12. Doug Wood went the distance for Albany, striking out 13 and allowing one walk.

Wood gave up 12 hits, including those by Droste, Brian Callahan, Hoag, Leonard, Jim Mello, White, Neil and James Combs, Chris Nault and Ellen Boomer. John Mozena and Sreedhar Samudrala played well defensively for Toledo.

Runs Aid Special Olympics

The Michigan Special Olympics at Central Michigan University will benefit from road runs to be held Sunday, July 13 in Ann Arbor. Sponsored by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan and Briarwood, the runs will begin at 8 a.m. at the Briarwood Mall.

Events include a 20 kilometer (12.4 miles), 10 kilometer (6.2 miles) and five kilometer (3.1 miles) run. The course consists mainly of rural roads with lightly rolling hills.

Entry fees for the race are $4 for the 20 kilometer run and $2 for the five and 10 kilometer runs. A special run T-shirt also will be available for $2. Proceeds will go to Special Olympics. Entry deadline is Monday, July 7.

Individual trophies will be awarded to the top five runners in the 20 kilometer run for the following age groups for men and women: 13 and under, 14-19 years, 20-29 years, 30-39 years, 40-49 years, and 50 and over.

Special T-shirts will be awarded the top male and female finishers in the five and 10 kilometer runs. All finishers will receive certificates.

There will also be neighborhood and corporate team awards for the 20 kilometer run. Trophies will be awarded to the top two men's teams, the first place woman's team and the first place master's team.

Entries should be sent to the Great Lakes Track Club, hosts for the event, at 2102 Fair St., Ann Arbor, MI 48103. Further information may be obtained by calling, (313) 665-7052 or (313) 769-9610.

Pledge forms for Michigan Special Olympics are available from the Track Club.

Mustangs Win Girls' Title

The Grosse Pointe Mustangs, a soccer team of 17 girls aged 10 and under, won the championship title of their age group when they defeated the Fraser Foxes 3-2, in mid-June.

The Mustangs and Foxes finished the regular season tied for first place by virtue of the Mustangs' victory over the Grosse Pointe Barracudas, 3-0, in the final game of the regular season.

The Mustangs and the Barracudas play in a division made up of teams from Roseville, Fraser and Grosse Pointe. All of the teams are part of the Michigan Youth Soccer League. The Mustangs are sponsored and are part of the G.P. Soccer Association, which sponsors numerous teams.

Coached by Stuart G. Dow and Jan Duffy, the Mustangs finished the season with a 9-0-1 record. They outscored their opposition 43-4 during the regular season and the defense did not give up more than one goal in any game until the championship match.

Members of the championship team included Sandra Millies, Laura Millies, Catherine Johnston, Jennifer Drummond, Sarah Dow, Nancy Schulte, Beth Edwards, Erin Duffy, Robin Wheatley, Amy Lindeman, Jennifer Dunn, Lynne Connor, Jessica Steffes, Amy Brennan, Elizabeth Mercier and Nicole Ruckman.

The team played its home games at the University Liggett School Middle School Campus. Jeff Kling, a varsity soccer player at U.S. served as assistant coach and Laura Dow was the team's manager.

Sailboats: From PRF-A to IOR-B

By Margie Reins Smith A clutch of sailboats headed in the same direction, flying multicolored spinnakers — a familiar sight from Lakeshore Drive, and understandably the subject of many local artist's paintings and photographs.

Club of Detroit and receive a rating, or handicap, for their particular boat. Ratings are given in seconds per nautical mile (a nautical mile is slightly longer than a statute mile).

as NA-40's (North American 40's) or Tartan 10's or Santana-38's. Smaller one-design classes include Cal-25, Ensign, Tornado, and Cal-20.

The B course is 10 nautical miles and C is a short course for the smallest one-design boats. Courses are marked by orange markers and are always the same, unless there is light wind. In light wind, all three courses are shortened.

Ratings are given at the beginning of the season each year and take into account such variations as boat length, width (beam), type and size of sails, and the year the boat was built. Ratings are an attempt to equalize different types of sailboats so that they can race against each other.

PRF stands for Performance Racing Fleet, and IOR stands for International Offshore Rule, both references to the rating system used to classify the boats.

A few days after each race, any protests or disputes are reviewed by a protest committee.

The host club holds an awards dinner on Saturday evening after the race and flags are presented to the first, second, and third place winners of each class for the races that day.

After joining the Detroit River Yachting Association (DRYA), racing skippers can participate in weekly races during the summer, hosted by a different local yacht club each Saturday.

Each class of boats then is assigned a course for the Saturday race — either A, B, or C course. A is the longest course — 15.2 nautical miles — and is for the biggest boats.

Weekly races are divided into various classes of boats. Some classes are one-design boats. That is, all the boats are exactly the same, such as NA-40's (North American 40's) or Tartan 10's or Santana-38's. Smaller one-design classes include Cal-25, Ensign, Tornado, and Cal-20.

Two classes, PRF and IOR, are groupings of boats that race as a class, using their assigned handicaps or ratings. PRF stands for Performance Racing Fleet, and IOR stands for International Offshore Rule, both references to the rating system used to classify the boats.

TAX CUTS! Yes, everybody's talking about tax cuts, as a means of relieving America's economic distress. Wacky Jack thinks tax cuts are the answer, too, and he urges you to do your patriotic duty, and help him cut Colonial's taxes by letting him give you loads of money for your unneeded, unloved belongings. After all, money spent on inventory is deductible as a business expense! So, let Wacky Jack stimulate your economy by selling him your: Hummels, Royal Doultons, cups, saucers, sets of dishes, Fiestaaware, Depression glass, old dolls, old jewelry, Roseville pottery, Blue Ridge, and knick-knacks. If you can't bring your things to him, he'll gladly call on you, and all transactions are strictly confidential. Call him Mon-Sat. 11-6 at 772-0430.

IMITATION is the sincerest form of flattery! So, when Wacky Jack sees one of his ads, copied almost word for word by another shop, it doesn't bother him a bit, really, even the cleverest ad can only lure somebody into a shop once. After all, anybody can copy Wacky's ads. But NOBODY can duplicate the vast selection of exciting modestly priced quality antiques and collectibles, that keeps his customers coming back, week after week, year after year, and, speaking of a vast collection wait till you see what the Crazy man's come up for you this week; Would you believe: a Royal Bayreuth 3 handled toothpick; a Boehm bald Eagle Plate at 1/2 its original cost, another load of Fiestaaware, a beautiful pair of Chinese Geese, a string of genuine Baltic Amber Beads, a reverse painted miniature Chinese screen, a carload of gorgeous, hand painted china, several more pieces of R. S. Prussia, a Fostoria silver mist fruit bowl, and loads more? Well, it's all waiting for you at The Colonial Shop, 25701 Jefferson near 10 Mile. Mon-Sat. 11-6. 772-0430. TAX CUTS! Yes, everybody's talking about tax cuts, as a means of relieving America's economic distress. Wacky Jack thinks tax cuts are the answer, too, and he urges you to do your patriotic duty, and help him cut Colonial's taxes by letting him give you loads of money for your unneeded, unloved belongings. After all, money spent on inventory is deductible as a business expense! So, let Wacky stimulate YOUR economy by selling him your: Hummels, Royal Doultons, cups, saucers, etc of dishes, Fiestaaware, depression glass, old dolls, old jewelry, Roseville pottery, Blue Ridge, and knick-knacks. If you can't bring your things to him, he'll gladly call on you, and all transactions are strictly confidential. Call him Mon-Sat., 11-6 at 772-0430.

Lounge Gives Proceeds to Accident Victim

"Captain" Al Bregman, proprietor of Captain II Lounge, 17441 Mack, will host a benefit on July 7 to help cover the cost of renovating a van for Ray Coppelie.

Ray, 20, was severely injured last July in a diving accident and is a quadriplegic with limited use of his arms. Within one year, Ray, a Woods resident, has come from a hospital bed to receiving his driver's license and has been accepted into Wayne State's Engineering Program. However, he will need a specially-equipped van to get to and from school.

Ray's family has incurred the expense of adding to their home as well as purchasing a van, which will become Ray's to drive as soon as the necessary equipment is added.

Because of cutbacks in the State's budget, Ray's family has been informed that Michigan's Vocational Rehabilitation Program will pay for only a small part of the conversion. That's where the Captain, his family, and friends decided to step in with their offer to donate half the proceeds on July 7.

You are invited to stop by for a dinner or a drink and help this young man. The bar will be open from 11 a.m. to 2:30 a.m. and the grill from 11 a.m. to midnight, serving everything from sandwiches to dinners.

Kiwanis Help CPR Course

The Grosse Pointe Woods Public Safety Department got a boost recently from the Kiwanis Club of Grosse Pointe which donated a $400 training manikin for use in teaching cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR). Emergency Medical Technician Sally Sullivan has taught CPR to about 60 Woods residents since the course started in January using a training manikin borrowed from the St. Clair Shores Fire Department.

With the new manikin, the CPR course can be offered once a week. Classes are offered free. For more information or to register call 886-2908.

An estimated 324,789 Detroiters or 28.8 percent of the city's population (based on 1980 estimate of 1,210,000) receives public assistance, according to the Department of Social Services.
