Name dropper

Perhaps opposites do attract. At least in the music business. The first somewhat interesting combination was John Denver running to keep up with Placido Domingo with their record "Some Say Love."

Next came a winner from Michael Jackson accompanied by "Old Creepy" Vincent Price with his "Thriller" record. I thought I'd heard it all 'til last Friday when I tuned in a country western station and caught Willie Nelson singing with Spanish heart throb Julio Inglesa. Amazingly enough, it was a nice record.

Then to top it all off, I heard a record sung by T.G. Shepherd with, are you ready for this? Clint Eastwood. Now don't get me wrong. I like Clint Eastwood. I really enjoy his movies, but after hearing him sing "I Talk to the Trees" in "Paint your Wagon," well...

Actually, ol' Clint doesn't sing on this record. He comes in on the chorus. The song is all about Eastwood's most famous portrayal, that of "Dirty" Harry Calahan of .44-caliber fame.

Shepherd sings about "Harry" wiping out the bad guys and standing up for law'n' order, then Clint kicks in with his best Calahan lines like "Go ahead punk. Make my day." "Feel lucky punk?" and my personal favorite "A man's just got to know his limitations."

Clint's lines are complete with the sound of .44 Magnum's hammer being pulled back. You can almost see him sighting down the barrel all squinty-eyed atop clenched jaws.

Sort of makes you wish you lived in San Francisco. Personally, I can't wait for the next "Odd Couple" record to come out. Something involving Ernest Borgnine and "Sam and Dave" would be nice.

No? How about Burgess Meredith and "Earth, Wind and Fire?" Better yet, I'm holding out for John Houseman with "Sha Na Na."

No laughs here

This story was tough to write and will probably be tough to read. That's why I asked it to be placed last in my column. I usually try to make you laugh with some funny story or give someone a well deserved pat on the back. But this story doesn't fall in either of those categories.

I was reading the newspaper while glancing at the TV news the other day and was stopped cold in my tracks. There, on the screen, was a film clip of Jimmy, the boy who fell into an icy lake while trying to recover his sled.

They showed, once again, that four-year-old being pulled from the lake after spending nearly half an hour on its icy bottom. I saw a fireman reach down and grab that kid with one hand and haul him out of the water like you and I might grab a puppy by the scruff of the neck.

Only this puppy was dead. He looked dead, pale and lifeless in the fireman's arms like a little doll. Then they showed him two months later, laughing and talking on television. He was slow, true, (apparently there has been some brain damage) but he was alive. The TV showed him swinging a toy bat at a beach ball as part of his physical therapy. It was hard to believe he was the same child pulled from the ice.

In my hands, the newspaper told of the death of David, the "Bubble Boy" at age 12. A photo of David accompanied the story. A small, dark boy stared out at

... And "no" to an early spring. After a short hiatus, winter returned with a vengeance Monday and Tuesday, dumping snow across southern Michigan, forcing the closing of schools and cancellation of some bus services.

Pointes fare well in storm

After a couple weeks of vacation, winter returned to work in earnest Monday and Tuesday, dumping a blanket of snow across southeastern Michigan in the worst storm of the season. Heavy snow and high winds closed schools throughout the area, including those in Grosse Pointe.

At least six inches of snow driven by winds gusting to more than 30 miles an hour paralyzed traffic late Monday night, dotting major streets with abandoned cars. By Tuesday morning, most major streets in the Pointes were passable, a testament to the various public works departments who worked during the night to keep them clear.

The snow arrived in time for the afternoon rush hour Monday, causing a rash of fender-benders as drivers struggled along the slick streets. One Woods public safety officer suffered a case of whip-lash when his scout car was rear-ended, public safety director Jack Patterson said. Except for the few minor accidents, no serious emergency runs or fires were caused by the storm, he added. Patterson said he was worried the heavy snow may result in a number of heart attacks as residents attacked the white stuff.

Farms police reported no serious incidents caused by the winter weather. City public safety director Bruce Kennedy said his department had a near-perfect evening despite the storm, with three minor accidents reported at various spots in the city. Kennedy added he checked with his department during the evening and found things running smoothly.

Park police chief Henry Cooce said there was no overload of accidents caused by the snow, noting there was "nothing unique" reported in Monday's nights storm. There were no reports of flooding or ice damage from residents near the lake, where water and drift ice were pushed to shore by the winds, Cooce added.

Shores police were unavailable for comment.

The storm was to continue Tuesday, adding two to five inches of snow to the six inches that had fallen, an additional inch was expected Wednesday as the tail-end of the system drifted by, according to various weather services.

EDC board picked in Park

By Harriet Nolan

All systems are go for the $5 million project planned by Bon Secours Hospital and the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology (DIO) in Grosse Pointe Park.

Council approved Mayor Palmer Heenan's list of appointees to the city's recently formed Economic Development Corporation (EDC) at its Feb. 27 meeting after he agreed to add two of its nominees and shift the responsibilities of two others. Heenan accused some members of council of trying to emasculate him and usurp his powers.

Opposition to Heenan's appointees to the EDC came at the Feb. 13 council meeting. At that time he had submitted a list of nine residents, including himself, his running-mate Vernon Ausherman, a councilman; and three of his campaign workers, Dan Schaitberger, Maria Parol and Hendricks C. Zuidwijk (Dutch Hendricks). The majority of council felt that some of the people were qualified, but not the best qualified.

Councilmembers Patricia Forster, Carroll Evola, John Prost, Mark Valente II, and David Gaskin moved to table the matter until the next meeting. It was opposed by the mayor and Vernon Ausherman.

The EDC is essential to Bon Secours and the DIO, which want to jointly build a medical complex at the corner of Nottingham and Jefferson. The EDC will have the power to sell bonds, buy property, secure loans, enter into leases and mortgages and transfer funds for this and all future projects involving the EDC.

At the Feb. 27 meeting, Heenan accused the council of being envious of his position. "You're trying to grab me by the ... behind. You're trying to take me down and I'm not going to be maneuvered by the bloc of four (councilmembers Evola, Prost, Forster and Valente)," said Heenan.

He said he wasn't going to withdraw the names of any of his appointees because he felt they were qualified, to do so was an indignity

Cuban trip an "eye opener" . . .

By Tom Greenwood

William Phillippe recently returned from a 10-day trip to the Caribbean. But he didn't come back with a tan. He didn't have time to acquire one.

William Phillippe is the Reverend Phillippe, senior pastor of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, and the trip took him to Havana, Cuba to attend a workshop/seminar in conjunction with his work with the World Alliance of Reformed Churches.

The organization represents 145 denominations and 70 million people in 76 countries. And why would a minister of an affluent church situated in one of the wealthiest cities in the world go to Cuba?

"Because regardless of our political viewpoints, it is absolutely essential that we realize that the Church of Jesus Christ is a transnational society and that we are indeed required to be available to stand with our brothers and sisters regardless of what economic, political or social system they live under," said Rev. Phillippe, in his office facing Lakeshore Drive. "John Calvin had a rather revolutionary motto 'Reformed, but always reforming.' That means we as Christians must always be open to new experiences, to new understandings and that I appreciated my opportunity to be in this land of Cuba to listen and to learn."

The trip to Cuba, which began Jan. 28 from Miami, was the second for Rev. Phillippe, who previously visited the island in 1982. The group he headed numbered 60, including 38 Americans and a number of citizens of other countries.

Before leaving Miami, the group heard from three Cuban expatriates, including a sociology professor, a pastor and a member of the editorial board of the Miami Herald newspaper, who told the group the "other side of the Cuban Revolution."

"You must realize their revolution is different from those in (Continued on Page 15A)

Help at hand for area seniors

By Harriet Nolan

Mary suffered a stroke several years ago which left her partially paralyzed. She now has to depend on her husband for all medical, physical and emotional support. One day he pushed her down the stairs and she broke her arm.

Norman found himself bitterly depressed. While his retirement was spent free of financial worry, the days were long and lonely since his wife died. He didn't know where to turn for support.

Ethel had lived alone for many years. Her only son was living in another state pursuing his career. Through the years, Ethel's health and home had deteriorated because she could no longer take care of herself. Neighbors and police were her only contacts when she would periodically leave home and wander the streets. However, she violently resisted her son's efforts to move her into a nursing home.

Edward was in charge of his invalid father's business affairs. Like a good son he put his dad in a nursing home where all his needs were met. Like a thief, he stole his money. When the loss was discovered, the assets taken had systematically grown into thousands of dollars.

Betty lived alone. The nest egg her husband left her had been hatched by the golden goose, many said. But her health was bad and she needed help walking up and down the stairs. The cancelled trips to the beauty salon, because of this, was a blow to her personal image. But missing doctors appointments could prove to be a blow to her existence.

These people have two things in common. They belong to the growing number of people, over age 60, known as senior citizens and they need help.

According to the 1980 Michigan Census report, they make up 22 percent of the total Pointe population and 3.5 percent are classified as having incomes below the poverty level.

While the names used aren't real, the situations are, says Mary Sengstock, Ph.D., professor in Wayne State University's College of Social Work. A study she co-researched included using seniors with low incomes and those who had incomes over $20,000. Her group also drew people from affluent areas including the Pointes.

Mrs. Sengstock, of the Woods, unearthed some alarming facts concerning their lives. About 60 percent suffered some form of psychological abuse. This included expecting seniors to do things they weren't capable of doing and yelling, teasing and making fun of them because they were incompetent.

Some types of abuse seemed to reoccur in several categories. Financial and psychological abuse often went hand in hand. "This could involve frightening people or tricking them into signing over their homes," says Mrs. Sengstock. "Stealing or misusing money or property comprised 55 percent of the cases."

Outright physical abuse such as not feeding or changing their clothes, or bedding for long periods of time, or burning them proved evident about 20 percent of the time, she says. "One husband was abused by his wife who refused to bathe and feed him. She even prepared food for him but would tease him by holding it out of his reach.

"If people like this, who need assistance don't get it, they'll die of starvation," she adds.

A law that requires social service providers, medical personnel and educators (excluding physicians) to report cases of elderly abuse to adult protective services was passed April 1, 1983, says Mrs. Sengstock. Measurement guidelines, similar to those used in child abuse cases, are being developed.

Not all the problems affecting the elderly take the form of abuse. Often it's just not knowing what (Continued on Page 7A)

Area crime falls in '83

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Serious crime in the Pointes dropped by better than 11 percent last year, compared to 1982, according to year-end reports from the five departments.

Part One crimes, defined by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as murder, rape, robbery, assault, burglary, larceny, auto theft and arson, totalled 2,182 incidents in the five municipalities last year, compared to 2,479 tallied the year before, reports showed.

Pushing the total down was a 26 percent decrease in the Woods and an 11 percent decrease in the Park, where 62.5 percent of the residents of the Pointes live. The Shores recorded a decrease, while the Farms and City showed modest increases.

State and federal criminal statistics are still being calculated, the various agencies said.

The Park reported 780 Part One crimes in 1983 compared to 873 the year before, the department said. While robberies, assaults and auto thefts showed increases in 1983

Beware of sugar-and-spice syndrome

By Nancy Galik

In 1963 Free Press columnist Nickie McWhirter set out to kick her addiction to dangerous, mind-bending drugs which had been given to her liberally since birth. The drugs were sugar and spice, administered by misguided, if loving, people.

In her address to more than 200 women last Wednesday evening at the War Memorial's Woman to Woman forum, McWhirter said to beware of the sweet medicine's lethal side effects, side effects which eventually cripple women from realizing their full, human capacity.

"All women in our society are hooked, more or less, and our addiction begins in our babyhood," she said.

It begins with little girls being told they are made of sugar 'n spice and everything nice, and boys being told they are made of snips and snails and puppy dog tails.

"The not so hidden message in that," McWhirter explained, "is that there is a major difference between girls and boys. One is assertive and adventurous, and the other is passive, quiet and sweet. We know which is which."

The message has tremendous impact, particularly since it is reinforced repeatedly. For example:

- Girls are taught to be quiet, patient and undemanding. Boys are taught to be outspoken, assertive, to speak their mind, and to ask for what they want . . . politely.

- Girls are cautioned over and over again, "Be a lady, don't make a scene, don't make waves." Boys are told "Be a man, my son. Stand up for your rights, stand up for what you believe in, go for it."

- Girls are taught to be dependent, to wait for someone to help them. "Your bicycle is broken, wait till dad comes home." Boys are taught to be independent. "Your bicycle is broken, go out in the garage and see what you can do. Get dirty. That's okay, you're fixing your bicycle, and we'll praise you when you've fixed it."

- Girls are asked to be helpers around the house. Boys are taught to be the boss, given tasks to do on their own.

- In high school, girls are cheerleaders and the boys are the main event.

"The message drilled into our psyches all of our growing up years, is that the woman is the follower and the man is the leader. It's no wonder then, that an ideal grown-up woman is patient, cheerful, contented and an underachiever, whereas the man is assertive, ambitious, self-reliant, and a go-getter. The woman is to be a comfort, the man is to be important.

"We are taught incompetence as a lifestyle. . . . We are taught fear of trying, fear of failing. We are taught, to be otherwise, is unlady-like, unfeminine. To be feminine demands that we become a kind of semi-cripple."

"Just as bad, our boys, who become our men, are taught that this is what femininity is all about, too. They are taught not only to settle for such inept women, but that this very ineptitude, timidity and dependence is what makes women desirable and good to have around the house."

When McWhirter read Betty Frieden's book, "The Feminine Mystique" back in 1963, she began thinking about the different messages given to children, depending upon their gender. Even though she had meticulously followed all of the rules according to Cinderella, in her words, starting out as a Shirley Temple clone, who grew into an Annette Funicello, who had become a Doris Day and was well on her way to becoming Mrs. Cunningham of TV's "Happy Days," she was discontented and not very happy.

Consequently, McWhirter set out to cure herself of her childhood handicaps, and with her husband's blessing, tested her full capacity as a self-determining, grown-up human being who just happened to be female.

Her magic carpet, which was to take her out of her dependent role, became the newspaper. "For no good reason that I can imagine," she laughed, "the Free Press hired me."

The newspaper business has not knocked the sugar and spice out of her, however. Instead, it has added important ingredients: grit, courage, self-confidence, and adult competence.

In the newspaper business, there isn't a whole lot of time for non-performance, she said. The clock and newspaper editors are no respecters of gender.

She went on to describe some of her more demanding assignments, one of which led to the regulation of marriage counselors in Michigan; another in which she had to learn to be a race car driver — a self-described "ace" in the classroom and on the road, yet a yielding driver when it came to actual racing. Other assignments weren't as fun, like getting to know Gary Addison Taylor, a convicted rapist and psychopath who hated women.

The result of her magic carpet ride out of the Cinderella complex was that she experienced, with every success, an increase in self-esteem, confidence and more courage, she said. Every failure, fostered more determination to succeed the next time, and yielded greater wisdom for the next try.

Contrary to childhood lessons of weakness, McWhirter asserted, "women do belong in tough spots, tight scrapes, difficult occupations, and high stakes games. We do belong, and have always belonged, but we have been misinformed, which is polite jargon for being brain-washed."

McWhirter views the decade of the 60s as the time when women's awareness was raised. The 70s provided the legal tools necessary for equal access. The 80s, she says, is the "era of performance." Now that all of the shouting has been heard, women have to show they really can do anything, "with a few, minor, physical exceptions," she added.

The bottom line is that Nickie

McWhirter did not follow the prescribed text to its completion. She did not turn into Mrs. Cunningham, she did not give up her femininity, and she cured her addiction to sugar 'n spice.

The next Woman to Woman forum will feature Joan Israel, M.S.W., a psychotherapist in private practice, and popularly known for her work as a panelist on Mort Crim's "Free 4 All" on WDIV Channel 4.

She will speak on "How to Value Yourself While Supporting Others," on Monday, April 23, at 8 p.m. and on Tuesday, April 24, at 10 a.m. Tickets are available at the Center's office. For more information call 881-7511.

Heroes come under attack in War Memorial lectures

Sherwin Wine, director of the Center for New Thinking, will launch a new series of lectures at the War Memorial Tuesdays, March 6, 13, 20 and 27, and examine four contemporary books which attempt to dismantle the findings and philosophies of four famous heroes.

"Heroes Under Attack" will begin March 6 when Margaret Mead's "Coming of Age in Samoa" will be challenged through an examination of author Derek Freeman's findings.

In 1928, Mead announced her discovery of a culture in which the storm and stress of adolescence does not exist. "Coming of Age in Samoa" has since become a classic and the best-selling anthropology book of all time. Mead saw this book as proof of the sovereignty of culture over biology.

Freeman presents startling evidence that Mead's proof is false. Freeman seeks to correct a towering scientific error. His aim is not to diame Mead, but to understand now her error could have occurred.

Succeeding lectures will challenge the findings of Sigmund Freud, Charles Darwin and Mao Tse-tung. All four lectures are at 8 p.m. The cost is $6 per lecture, or $20 for the series.

For ticket information call 881-7511.

Lose weight at Cottage

Free introductory sessions of the "Weight No More System" for permanent weight loss will be held Tuesday and Thursday, March 6 and 8, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval in the Farms.

The sessions will be held in the Nurses' residence at the rear of the parking lot. The system is a total lifestyle approach to weight that views eating behavior from psychological, behavioral, social and physiological perspectives and is designed to be effective in preventing and eliminating overeating.

The "Weight No More System" consists of three stages, all of which are important to permanent weight loss. The preparatory stage recognized the physical and mental components which are crucial to success in weight control.

In the skill development stage, the system teaches copyrighted techniques to reduce the amount of food you eat. The maintenance stage is designed to help maintain the weight loss goal once achieved.

For more information, attend one of the sessions or call the hospital Education department at 884-8600, extension 2390.

More than just a job for Mr. Riley

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Some people are as they appear to be and Wallace Riley is one of those people. He looks the part of successful attorney and current president of the American Bar Association.

Riley, of the Farms, ascended to the presidency last August after a year as president-elect of the 315,000-member association. Halfway through his year in office Riley took time off to talk about heading the association, some of the issues facing the bar and some it will have to face.

He is only the third Michigan attorney to head the ABA, which represents half of the nation's 600,000 practicing attorneys. The first was Thomas Cooley in 1859.

Riley, 56, ran for the presidency of the national association after serving in both its house of delegates, the general policy-making arm, and board of governors. He also served as president of the Michigan Bar Association in 1972-73.

Because of the demands of the office, Riley said he has very little time for his own law practice as a partner in the downtown firm of Riley & Roumell. The position has allowed him to talk with members of the profession and find out what they are interested in, he added.

The ABA recently finished its annual convention in Las Vegas, where Chief Justice Warren Burger and Attorney General William French Smith spoke, Riley said. Burger in particular chided the association for allowing its members to advertise, its lack of discipline of members and the inability to resolve disputes outside of the courts.

Only about 10 percent of lawyers advertise, Riley said, either because they don't want to or because they find it isn't cost-effective. "A lawyer doesn't get business because he advertises, but because he does good work," he added.

The ABA has been working to do something about discipline among members by helping to set up centers for professional discipline as well as spending one-third of bar association dues on aiding disciplinary matters, he said. An ABA committee has been working for five years on alternatives for dispute resolution and is expected to make its report this year, Riley said. The matter would be discussed at a New York meeting of attorneys from corporations across the nation, he added.

While the profession is crowded, the number of lawyers has little to do with the number of lawsuits being filed, Riley said. Lawyers don't make cases, people do, he said. Because of rights enjoyed by Americans, they feel it's "a matter of principle" to sue each other, he added.

"People in this country have more rights than any other nation in the world... and it just follows that those rights will rub together more often," he said. "Lawyers don't generate claims."

The idea of alternative dispute resolution has gained little opposition, Riley said, adding he was surprised the idea had not raised hackles in the profession whose bread-and-butter is dispute resolution.

"It's a matter of taking the business lawyers are best at and finding another way to do it," he said, pointing out that some traditional functions of lawyers have already been taken over by other professions or been eroded by do-it-yourselfers.

Attorney General Smith outlined the Reagan administration objectives for the coming year, including the passage of a revised criminal code, changes to the national immigration laws and a revision of the federal bankruptcy system, Riley said. The ABA supports in part all three measures.

The Senate-passed version of the criminal code revision contains changes in the "exclusionary rule" which the ABA opposes. The Senate bill would allow the admission of evidence illegally obtained were the investigator acting in good faith.

The ABA supports the current exclusionary rule, which says any evidence illegally obtained is inadmissible in court. The "good faith" provision in the Senate bill would be almost unassailable, he added. Conceding illegal aliens would affect the labor market, Riley said immigration legislation needed to be passed. The ABA supports current efforts, but chafes against employer sanctions which would put the burden on employers to check legal status, Riley said. The sanctions put employers "almost in the position of the Gestapo" to make sure they are hiring only citizens, he added.

While there needs to be revamping of the federal bankruptcy system, it won't be soon coming, Riley said. The whole matter needs to be settled, however, he added.

Other matters that need to be settled include the availability of legal services for the poor, Riley said. Legal Services, Inc., the federal agency that provides counseling and representation to those unable to pay, has this year been slated for a $0 budget allocation, but will ultimately receive funding, he added.

The proposed budget allocation is part of the administration's battle against federal programs in trying to keep down the costs of government, Riley said. The ABA has been asking its membership to provide services on a pro-bono basis, or in the public good without pay, in order to pick up some of the slack, he added.

Because of sheer numbers, the government can't provide legal services to all the poor, Riley said. With the help of the private sector as well as changes in operation, services can be provided, he added.

This year was Smith's last as attorney general. The man nominated to succeed him, Edwin Meese, is a good man who is tough on crime, Riley said.

The fear Meese will carry administration policy into the Justice Department and influence national policy from the position are a bit overblown, Riley said. In terms of affecting policy, he will be less effective as head of the nation's justice department, where he will serve as chief legal officer, Riley added.

The law profession itself faces some problems, Riley said. The profession has become saturated, but enrollment at law schools has only dropped about a tenth of a percent, he added.

"The law profession is not all that lucrative, but it can always use one more good lawyer," Riley said. Starting salaries for lawyers have not kept pace with other professions, he added.

Reasons for the glut of lawyers could include the idea of past graduates looking to change the system through a law degree, Riley said. While many of today's graduates are looking for good jobs, graduates of the 70s were looking to change society.

At the same time, other professions are often controlled by market pressures. If more engineers are needed, incentives are developed for more students to take up engineering, he said. Law schools don't feel that kind of pressure, however.

Law schools and the businesses that provide jobs don't talk to each other, so a fresh batch of graduates is turned out yearly to hunt for remaining positions.

Matching the professional training to the job can also help make finding a job easier, Riley said. Specialization in certain fields like environmental law or libel law could give a student the edge in finding the few jobs available.

At the same time, law school is good training for other fields such as business, Riley said. He holds degrees in business administration from the University of Michigan along with his doctor of jurisprudence from the U. of M. law school along with a Masters of law from the George Washington University.

The presidency has been fun but frustrating, Riley said. While he has had a chance to meet with and talk to a number of other attorneys and find out what they think, he said he's been frustrated by not being able to make a lasting impression his year in office.

The presidency was a progression through the various offices available in the state and federal bar association, he said. He plans to stay away from elected political office, he added.

His wife and partner in Riley and Roemell, Dorothy Comstock Riley, will announce next week she will seek a seat on the state Supreme Court, the court which last year voted along party lines to remove her after a political flap over the power of appointment.

His wife would have been running this year for a Court of Appeals seat had the high court appointment not come down, Riley said.

Mrs. Riley most likely would have been unopposed and, when he finished his year as ABA president, Mrs. Riley could have come back to a quiet political campaign. It probably won't work out like that, he noted.

"When the court made its decision, you remember she said, 'There's no reason to pursue it at this time,'" Riley said. "When she announces, she's going to say, 'Now is the time.'"

At the end of August, Riley will return to private practice with the firm he, his wife and high school classmate and friend George Roumell, Jr. founded in 1968. Noting he's had almost no time to devote to his practice, Riley added "You've got to have a lot of good partners who are willing to work hard."

Family duet will speak at North High

The family team of John M. and Dorothy J. Danielson will speak at the General Membership Meeting of the Junior League of Detroit Wednesday, March 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe North Performing Arts building.

Danielson, a member of the Junior League of Detroit's Community Advisory Board, is president of the Detroit Medical Center Corporation. Danielson's degrees in hospital administration have led him to various positions throughout the country from Connecticut, executive-director of the Capital Area Health Consortium, to North Carolina where he was associate dean of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine and general director of the North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Danielson is presently special assistant to the director of nursing at Detroit Receiving Hospital and University Health Center. She has been a special assistant and consultant to the Directors of Nursing and Nursing Departments at a number of major hospitals throughout the country.

The public is welcomed to join the membership of the Junior League of Detroit to hear this informed family pair speak on Wednesday, March 7, 1984 at 7:30 p.m.

Ride ends in rape of Park woman

By Harriet Nolan

A Grosse Pointe Park woman who accepted a ride home from a stranger ended up being raped before escaping from her assailant, reported Park police.

The incident occurred around 1 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 22, according to Henry Coonce, Park police chief. The 21-year-old woman had reportedly left a home in the 15000 block of Windmill Pointe after having a fight with her boyfriend and was approached by a man who asked if she wanted a ride.

She accepted, said Coonce, only to find herself being driven to Detroit where the rape took place. She then talked the man into driving her home by suggesting she liked him. However, when they got out of Detroit, she jumped from the car and screamed for help. At that point the man drove away.

According to the woman's description, the rapist is described as a white male, around 21 years old, with brown hair and a full beard. He was wearing a black jacket and blue jeans. Coonce said his department is investigating the case.

Car buyers can deduct expenses

Michiganians who bought a new car last year can claim significant 1983 federal tax deductions, including deducting the registration fee as personal property tax for 1984 cars bought after Oct. 1, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Motorists who itemize deductions on their 1983 federal income tax forms can claim state sales tax on car purchases plus interest paid on auto loans," said Stan O'Connor, Auto Club tax manager.

For example, a person who bought a $9,000 car at the beginning of last year and financed $7,000 for the purchase price for 48 months at 12 percent annual interest can deduct $1,120. That total includes a $360 deduction for Michigan's 4 percent sales tax and $760 for interest paid during 12 months.

Last October, Michigan changed to a new registration system, switching from plate fees based on vehicle weight to a tax on the vehicle's base price. Persons who bought a 1984 vehicle after Oct. 1 will pay more for plates, but that cost will be deductible from their federal income taxes.

For instance, a 1984 Ford LTD 4-door sedan has a base price of $8,605 and weighs 2,804 pounds. Under the old weight system, the plates would cost $23. Under the new value system, the plates for the first year would cost $43 and qualify for a deduction.

Motorists who itemize also can deduct casualty or theft losses not covered by insurance. These losses are limited to the excess over 10 percent of their adjusted gross income minus $100 per accident.

Certain moving expenses, medical or charitable travel are deductible at 9 cents per mile.

Persons who used their cars for business can deduct such expenses as Auto Club dues, insurance premiums, license and title fees, gas, parking, tolls, repair costs, depreciation and monthly lease payments.

In lieu of itemizing business expenses, motorists can deduct 20.5 cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 11 cents per mile thereafter, plus parking fees and tolls.

"Taxpayers who choose to take personal or business deductions should keep detailed expense records and receipts," O'Connor suggested.

Questions about auto-related tax deductions may be phoned to the Internal Revenue Service. The toll-free taxpayer assistance number is included in the telephone directory's U.S. Government listings.

Kristin tries for beauty title

Pre-pageant activities are underway for the 1984 Miss Michigan USA pageant, and Kristin Kennedy, 19, of the Shores, is one of the contestants.

This year's pageant will be held at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts this Saturday, March 3.

Ms. Kennedy attended North High and looks forward to a career in special education and dance therapy. Should she be crowned Miss Michigan USA, Ms. Kennedy will represent the state in the nationally televised pageant in May in Lakeland, Fla.

Contestants for the pageant will be judged by a panel for poise, personality and appearance. The panel will be made up of top model agents from New York, an international fashion photographer as well as

Earning reports due in April

Annual earnings reports are due by April 15 from Social Security beneficiaries who worked last year and earned over the annual earnings limits. The limits were $6,600 for people 65 and over and $4,920 for people under 65, said James T. Moslener, district manager of the office located at 17420 Mack Avenue, Detroit.

The use of the report as a planning aid as well as a reporting document is stressed. Examining how close actual earnings for 1983 were to the estimate made last year should help in estimating 1984 earnings, Moslener said.

People 70 and over all of last year do not have to file a report of their earnings. The earnings test does not apply to them.

People who have questions regarding earnings reports should contact the Social Security Administration office located at 17420 Mack Avenue or by calling 493-1111, the general information number.

Beneficiaries are required to indicate how much money they earned last year to enable Social Security to determine if benefits were paid in the right amount. Beneficiaries must also report how much they expect to earn this year. Benefits are reduced by $1 for each $2 in earnings over the exempt amount.

Failure to properly estimate the amount of earnings one expects is a major cause of overpayments, officials note. If earnings are higher than the level estimated, a person could receive more benefits than he or she is entitled to — an overpayment.

The law requires overpayments to be paid back to the trust funds. Most often this involves reductions in future checks until the overpayment is repaid, Moslener said.

To insure that benefits paid are in the right amount, any change in earnings — higher or lower than the estimate given to Social Se-

Datavision shows 1st quarter losses

Datavision, Inc., the company that conducted the first tests of two-way cable television systems on city-owned water meters in Grosse Pointe, announced its revenues for the first quarter of 1984 were up more than 10-fold over the prior year, but its losses also grew compared to last year.

Datavision officials said in a press release that first quarter revenues totalled $968,035, compared to the prior year's $93,927. Net loss amounted to $521,780 in 1984 compared to the prior year's loss of $609,351. Loss per share was the same for both years, at 7 cents.

Pointer Richard S. Crawford, chairman and chief executive officer of the firm, attributed increased revenues to the increase in new multiple housing units installed with the Datavision Security System.

County reform still gaining

SLOWLY BUT SURELY Wayne County Executive William Lucas is winning his long battle to wrest control of the county's chaotic government from the old guard and bring it back to at least a semblance of order.

After the state Supreme Court upheld his authority, Lucas last week moved quickly to oust the three members of the old Wayne County Road Commission and to replace them with an interim commission of his own choice. Appointing the interim commissioners became necessary when the board of county commissioners failed to confirm Lucas' choices for the commission on a permanent basis.

Continuing Lucas' reforms, the new road commissioners appointed a new managing director, hired a private law firm to challenge the controversial contract the old commission had signed with management employees to guarantee them their jobs and high salaries for five years, and expressed their support for Lucas' proposal to abolish the road commission and integrate it into the other county agencies under the executive's direction.

But Lucas' battles to get firm control of county government are not yet over. A group of Detroit area union leaders whose organizations represent most county workers attacked the county executive as "power mad" with "an insatiable urge to become Wayne County dictator." Their statement was just the opening of a new offensive against Lucas because of his hard-line approach to bargaining with county employees.

NOR IS THAT group the only foe of reorganized county government. The county board, containing a majority of hold-over members, still is dragging its feet on implementing the county charter. Fortunately, a minority, including John Hertel, who represents the Pointes on the board, is giving Lucas more support than opposition. The hold-over members still have failed to recognize that the charter makes the county board strictly a legislative body and taxes away the administrative duties it formerly was authorized to undertake.

Lucas lost his attempt to fill vacancies in county constitutional offices when the Supreme Court rejected his contention he had the power to appoint a new sheriff to fill the position he vacated to become county executive. But this loss was expected because most observers felt that the charter did not deal in any substantial way with the constitutional officers.

The county executive still faces a tough fight to convince the state Legislature to adopt the five amendments he has proposed to further consolidate his power and authority. Yet it is clear from the way in which Lucas has operated so far that he is seriously attempting to bring county government into the twentieth century and reorganize it so that it serves the public interest rather than the interests of the employees and those who do business with the county.

It is true, as the critics charge, that Lucas is concentrating more power in his own hands as the county executive. But that was one of the aims of the county charter. The idea is that by putting authority in the hands of one person, the charter makes it possible for the public to hold the county executive responsible for the consequences of his actions. And when he comes up for reelection, the people can exercise their control mechanism.

IF HE HAS done a good job, which Lucas appears to have done to date, the public can elect him. If he has failed, or has misused his power, the public can reject him. Whatever happens, however, most county citizens know they now have someone acting in their interests and trying to mind the store, as Lucas promised to do when he first sought the office.

Let the voters decide recall

To the Editor

It is apparent from your anti-recall editorials and several letters to the editor that you and the others view the recall process as unfair and un-American. Let us forget, our nation is founded upon a system of checks and balances to ensure that, in the last resort, it is the electorate who shall have the final word, and not some elected official.

The recall remedy is one of the basic rights reserved to the electorate by our state constitution. Recall is not the equivalent of a new election; a recall election must involve the course of conduct of an official subsequent to his entering upon his elected term of office.

The principle of recall, as quoted from a leading case by our own supreme court in Wallace v. Trepp, 358 Michigan 668 (1960), is as follows:

"We understand that the principle underlying the recall of public officers means that the people may have an effective and speedy remedy to remove an official who is not giving satisfaction — one who they do not want to continue in office, regardless of whether or not he is discharging his full duty to the best of his ability and as his conscience dictates. If the policies pursued do not meet the approval of a majority of the people, it is the underlying principle of the recall doctrine to permit them to expeditiously recall the official, without form or ceremony, except as provided for in the charter."

Our court also quoted with approval, a much cited Nebraska case which addresses the fears about the use of the process by an irresponsible electorate:

"It has been argued that absurd reasons may be stated in the petition, and that an officer may be called upon to defend his position against frivolous attacks. Doubtless the provision requiring 30% of the electors to sign the petition before the council are compelled to act was designed to avoid such a contingency. The legislature apparently assumed that nearly 30% of the electorate would not entail upon the taxpayers the cost of an election, unless the charges made approved themselves to their understanding and they were seriously dissatisfied with the services of the incumbent of the office."

"The idea of removing public officers at the discretion of the appointing power, as we have seen, is not a novel one. The concept that this may be done at the direct instance and upon the motion of the electors, the ultimate source of power in a republic, only carries back the power of removal one step farther. If it is not bonoxious to the constitution to allow an elected officer to remove an appointed one, how can it be a violation of that law to allow it to be done by the people themselves.

"They are no doubt better qualified to determine the capability and efficiency of their administrative agent after giving him an opportunity to perform the duties of the office than they were when they first selected him to fill the position. The officer takes the position for a fixed term, with the condition attached that he is subject to removal whenever his services are not desired by the number of his fellow citizens named in the statute."

The policy of the recall may be wise or it may be vicious in its results. We express no opinion as to its wisdom with respect to the removal of administrative officers. If the people of the State find, after a trial of the experiment, that the provisions of the statute lead to capable officials being vexed with petitions for their recall, based upon mere insinuations or upon frivolous grounds, or because they are performing their duty and enforcing the law, as they are bound to do by their oath of office, or lead without good an sufficient reason to frequent, costly, and unnecessary elections, they have the power through their legislature to amend the statute so as to protect honest and courageous officials." State, ex rel. Topping, v. Houston, 94 Neb 445.

The issue cannot be decided in the newspapers, it can only be resolved in the polling place, where it properly belongs.

Child abuse must stop

To the Editor

As I recall my past, I smile and see a very happy childhood. I have never been physically or mentally abused, unlike many unhappy children in this world. Unfortunately, very few concerned citizens will actually report child abuse to the authorities or even bother to look into the situation.

I once did a report on child abuse and found that many people don't like to "stick their noses" into other people's business. There is even a law now that prosecutes physicians for overlooking signs of abused children.

I thank you for concerning yourself with this problem. I don't know what it will take to stop this cruel punishment of innocent children. Certainly not one article. Perhaps a deeper look into the situation through a series of articles might change the attitude of some disinterested persons. Must more criminal behavior provide additional evidence that child abuse is "cruel and unusual punishment?"

Beyond the call of duty

To the Editor

In our world of complaints and people ready to criticize, both my mother and I would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to Sgt. Bill Taylor of the Grosse Pointe City Public Safety department.

My father passed away Feb. 7 at the dentist's office on Mack near Cadieux. Sgt. Taylor was called to the scene. He went to inform my mother but she was not at home. And, finally through a neighbor, he came to my home and gently told me the sad news.

He then accompanied me first to make initial arrangements at the funeral home and then he drove me all the way downtown to be with me when I told mother of Dad's death. I drove mother's car home, but Sgt. Taylor stayed with us all the way on the expressway leading us back to the funeral home. When there, he stayed with us as we viewed Dad's body and after that, only at our telling him we no longer needed him, did he leave.

We realize that this was his assignment, but to have a strong, caring person near meant a great deal to us as we struggled to accept our loss. We feel Sgt. Taylor went beyond the call of duty and you can be justly proud of him.

We wish to extend our thanks to him and the fine department.

No compassion for fire victim

To the Editor:

Eighteen-year-old Heather is dead from a fire. What a shock for her family. How sad for her friends. What a shame your story contained no eulogy, no tribute and no compassion.

Innuendoes and rumors belong in gossip columns, not lead news items. Tragic events should be reported with sensitivity and respect shown for the bereaved. Sensationalism at the expense of the victims has no place in responsible journalism.

More state aid for Detroit?

Republican control of the State Senate is expected to create new problems for Gov. Blanchard and the Democratic House as Lansing begins to tackle some of the state's tough problems.

One of the areas for conflict could very well be the governor's proposal for changes and a $1 million increase in the special $39.4 million state aid package for Detroit, as Rep. William R. Bryant, Jr. of Grosse Pointe said in his column in the Grosse Pointe News last week.

Funding for such regional and state assets as the Detroit Institute of Arts and the Detroit Public Library would remain the same in Detroit's so-called "equity package." Funds for the historical museum would be increased from $2.4 million to $2.5 million and for the first time a grant, of $1.5 million, would go to the Detroit Zoo as well. Neither Bryant nor this newspaper questions such grants.

But in lieu of the $9.2 million the state formerly allocated to Detroit to retire Department of Transportation pension debts, the governor now is proposing to grant the city state funds for development of Detroit's tourism and convention industries. The theory is that these expenditures are justified as part of the governor's commitment to economic development.

It is true that Detroit's cultural institutions represent state and regional assets and that state support therefore can be justified, but it is difficult to see why citizens outside of Detroit should be taxed to finance tourism and convention activities in the central city.

City Budget Director Walter Stecher told the Detroit News the money would go toward maintaining Cobo Hall, police protection for downtown activities such as sporting events, concerts and festivals, and operating costs for the downtown trolley. While outstate and suburban residents as well as Detroit citizens presumably would benefit from such services, those costs hardly seem appropriate for the state government to assume.

It is clear that the Republican Senate will be less likely than the Democratic House to agree with Blanchard on financing operations in Detroit that appear to be strictly city obligations. As Bryant points out, many Republicans who have supported the state grants to the arts and culture in Detroit will question broadening and increasing the equity package for the new purposes cited in the governor's budget.

A Republican Senate will tend to improve the checks and balances in our state government, although a divided Legislature also could lead to stalemate. But the Republicans no doubt will hear complaints from residents outside of Detroit about the governor's efforts to expand the state aid "equity package" for Detroit in new directions. In fact, it will be disappointing if the governor is not required to revise his requests for these specific items.

There is another point to consider. Is there any limit to the kinds of aid that the state should contribute to Detroit? The economic viability of the central city is essential to the economic well-being of the entire community. But when economic support from the state goes beyond the help given to cultural institutions and services for the people of the area, it becomes questionable state policy, especially when it appears to benefit private enterprises operating in the city.

A one-house legislature?

Still another petition drive, this time to put on the ballot a proposal to replace the current 148-member, two-house Legislature with a one-house 108-member legislature, is now under way in Michigan. We have strong doubts, however, about its prospects for success.

The theory is that a one-house legislature would increase the strength of the checks and balances in state government by enabling the legislature to deal more effectively with the executive and judicial branches of government.

It would, presumably, reduce costs, wasteful duplication and the power of lobbyists to exploit the many "check" points in the current 47-committee Legislature where one or two key members of committees can thwart the will of the majority. Overall, the sponsors believe the unicameral legislature could save taxpayers up to $11 million in legislators' salaries and staff and office expenses.

State senators currently represent larger constituencies than state representatives do, and thus presumably also represent a wider view, but the sponsors say there really is no separation of interests to justify two houses since both now are based on population. In contrast, they argue, two houses are needed in Congress because the U.S. Senate represents the states and the U.S. House of the people.

Only two states have used the unicameral system. Vermont kept a one-house legislature from 1777 to 1836 after adoption of the U.S. Constitution and Nebraska still has its unicameral legislature adopted in 1934. Ten other states proposed unicameral legislatures between 1912 and 1933 but all proposals were defeated.

The sponsors point out that bicameral councils were often elected in many U.S. cities in the early years. Before 1905, for example, 10 of the largest cities in the United States operated with bicameral councils and Detroit had one until the 1920s. The movement began to die out, however, and today only three cities still have bicameral councils. The sponsors of the proposal in Michigan would like to see the same thing happen in the states.

The idea is obviously worth study but the suspicion is that the current proposal is an offset to the campaign already under way to get signatures on a proposal to create a part-time legislature. But sponsors of the unicameral plan believe it would save more money and do more to improve efficiency than the part-time legislature would do.

That may be true but with a divided Legislature in Michigan at the present time it is unlikely the idea of a unicameral legislature will get much support from either political party. While the checks and balances inherent in the current situation in the Legislature may result in stalemate, neither party is likely to risk the loss of power it might face with election of a unicameral legislature.

Yet the sponsors of the proposal are Perry and Willis Bullard, Jr., a liberal Democrat from the Ann Arbor university community and a conservative Republican from a rural area. They say they are united in an effort "to bring an efficient, modern and accountable state legislature to Michigan." They are talking of a two-year campaign to collect the 304,001 signatures needed to put the issue on the ballot and win public support.

To date we're unconvinced a unicameral legislature would solve all of the problems in Lansing, but we're still receptive to any idea aimed at improving legislative efficiency and accountability.

Agencies offer aid to seniors

help is available and where to get it. Also, some agencies have eligibility criteria based on a person's income, that does not include home and personal property, which disqualifies many from getting help.

Gary Grzymkowski, adult service worker with the Michigan Department of Social Services, recalls one woman who, because of her finances, was not eligible for help.

She was 80 years old, didn't have any money problems, but a variety of physical ones. Still mourning her husband's death for four years, she isolated herself from others.

"She had the financial resources to do a lot more with her life," says Grzymkowski, "but was so fearful of losing financial independence she let the opportunity to experience many of life's pleasures pass her by. All I could do was refer her for counseling."

"Seniors deserve to know what help is available for them," says Francis Schoenberg, president of Services for Older Citizens Inc. (SOC). "There are some people in the Pointes who are poor and hungry and others who don't know how to help themselves. One of SOC's main efforts is to meet their needs by helping to solve their problems."

The non-profit organization is almost entirely run by volunteers who help seniors living in the Pointes and Harper Woods, says Mrs. Schoenberg. Financial support comes from federal funds from the Michigan Office of Services for the Aging, Detroit Area Agency on Aging, Detroit Department of Health; Rotary and individual and institutional donations from the community.

SOC offers a Meals at Home program and delivers hot lunches and cold dinners Monday through Friday to house-bound seniors who qualify, says Mrs. Schoenberg.

A Food and Friendship Program is offered at Brownell Middle School. There, seniors can meet to enjoy each other's company and participate in planned social, educational and recreational programs. A hot lunch is also available for those who want it.

A Senior Information Office, based at Ferry School, offers referral information and a Minor Home Repair Program is also available.

"Not all the people we deal with need money help," says Mrs. Schoenberg, "many are seeking a place to start."

"Sometimes it isn't as simple as calling a taxi. They may need escort service to and from appointments. Others may need a younger pair of eyes to help balance their checkbooks or someone to come into their home and give them a haircut."

"If a son wants to know what he can do for his parents, we can give him that information and a list of various agencies to call," she adds.

Calvary Senior Center, on Gateshead in Detroit, offers similar programs for seniors in the Pointes and Harper Woods, according to Ron Hill, director. Seniors who qualify can have their prescriptions filled, free of charge, at the center.

Bon Secours Hospital recently developed an Adult Day Care Program at Calvary. It's an alternative for patients who require a good amount of attention, but don't have to be institutionalized, says Patricia Sikora, director of social work.

Working families can drop their elderly off at Calvary in the morning and pick them up at night. During the day they are fed and cared for by hospital employees trained in nursing, social work and physical and occupational therapy, she adds.

Because 55 percent of Bon Secours patients are over 65, Ms. Sikora says the hospital has taken an active role in meeting their needs. A Meals on Wheels Program is offered and a volunteer staff keeps in regular touch with seniors in the community through a telephone reassurance program.

"Seniors need basic supportive services in the home," says Ms. Sikora. "If someone calls them routinely and gives them help with light housekeeping, it helps keep them healthy."

Another agency that helps the elderly is the Visiting Nurses Association (VNA). It received 300 referrals from the five Pointes last year, according to Joan Mitchell, director of community relations and Park resident.

"A large number of the elderly are isolated," she says. "It's important they know they can call us in."

We follow physician's orders and explain our treatment and diet plan to both the patient and their family so they can help manage the care."

VNA nurses provide services for problems that range from rheumatoid arthritis, stroke, circulatory problems and cancer.

Social workers help with problems caused by economic and personal stress, while Home Helper Programs supply reliable trained companions who help the housebound by running errands, writing letters and doing light housekeeping.

While tending to physical and medical needs are important, developing a positive and realistic mental attitude toward aging are also essential for survival.

"Adjusting to the aging process can bring related depression," says Carol Zielinski, program supervisor at Northeast Guidance Center. "What many see as being 'something wrong' is normal."

"People say to me 'when I get senile.'" "But it's, if I get senile, and that's a big if. Mental disorders and memory loss are not normal parts of aging. It doesn't mean it will happen to you just because you grow old," she adds.

That same type of thinking is reflected by other family members, according to Ms. Zielinski. Often children will say "dad's ok now, but when this thing happens..."

"I tell them 'this thing' is not associated with age and if their parents have gotten to 80 and they're alright there is a 99 percent chance nothing is going to happen to their mind."

More than 100 seniors are seen annually at the Northeast Guidance Center and about 40 percent hail from the Pointes. One of the major complaints, says Ms. Zielinski is that they're neglected by their children.

"But often, families are busy with their own children or working. However, they see it as neglect, think they're being treated differently and say the kids don't call."

With her client's permission, she will invite family members to join a group called "As Parents Grow Older," where participants are educated to the general physical problems that accompany aging.

Empathy training is part of the class. Members learn to recognize that normal hearing loss, coupled with a parent too proud to wear a hearing aid, can result in having someone who seems to be blocking out the outside world.

However, many older adults are fiercely protective of their independence and frankly, have no desire to reverse their status quo by moving into their children's home.

For them, finding low-cost, minimum maintenance housing in their own neighborhoods is a problem.

Art Jamiesen of Harper Woods is a board member on the Detroit Area Agency for Aging and a long-time advocate for housing for senior citizens.

As early as the 1970s, application for federal funds for senior housing in Harper Woods was sought. But because it was HUD money the community was reluctant to accept it, says Jamiesen.

A $6.5 million bond issue was defeated in 1978 when residents feared it would cause an increase in taxes.

But Jamiesen didn't give up. A parcel of the land the city bought, formerly the Eastside Drive-in, had been promised as a site for senior housing and he worked with the community for its acceptance.

A special election held later won approval for the venture by a 1,941 to 1,465 vote, he says. The groundbreaking ceremony was held last September on land near the Harper Avenue service drive, near Moross.

Jamiesen says as soon as the money from HUD is secured, the 136 unit, eight story development named "Park Place of Harper Woods" will be started.

"We have a country that glorifies youth," says Mary Sengstock, Ph.D., from Wayne State University. "But we have a growing aged population who are exerting a lot of political influence."

"More attention will be paid to them as more people realize we are all getting there," she adds.

Additional information on services for the aged can be obtained by calling the following numbers: VNA, 875-7736, Northeast Guidance Center, 824-8888; SOC, 882-5899; Calvary Senior Center, 881-3274; Bon Secours Hospital, 343-1000; Michigan Department of Social Work, 823-7354 and Detroit Area Agency on Aging, 222-8358.

Senator's View of Lansing Majority change means new job

By John Kelly

The only thing that stays the same in a democratic society is the propensity for change.

As a result of the recent transition of majority party status in the Michigan state senate, a variety of changes have taken place. Some are relatively minor, such as office changes and staff reassignment. Other changes are of greater significance such as the Senate calendar agenda and the new committee assignment for myself and my Senate colleagues.

Over the past five years I have worked extensively in the area of Economic Development and Trade. Appropriately I was named Minority Vice Chair to the newly created Senate Committee on Economic Development, Foreign Trade and Tourism. There is perhaps no more important task before us in the state than reconstructing our state's economy based on international competitions.

The revitalization of our state's businesses and the development of new business ventures and capital is a top priority if we, as a state, are to recover totally from the national recession of the past several years that has so adversely affected Michigan. While our economy shows signs of mending, and the automotive industry is showing record profits, most economists are predicting that 1985-1986 will be lean years for a variety of reasons. It is therefore imperative that we develop an international marketing strategy in this state to retain those businesses that currently reside in our state and work to improve the state's attractiveness as a place for other companies to do business. Additionally, we must recognize the fact that Michigan is in the unique position to become a power in foreign trade, not only because of our skilled work force and international port, but also because Michigan has the potential to inject massive new investments through foreign banking.

By including the expansion of our state's tourism economy as a part of the committee's agenda, the Senate Committee on Economic Development, Foreign Trade and Tourism will be exclusively charged with developing the direction our state will take if it is to become a national leader in commerce and take control of its own future.

Integral to the development of our state's economy is the banking agenda I developed during my tenure as the chairman of the Senate committee which was charged with banking concerns. My Republican colleagues in the Senate have met with me and have made a commitment to continue that work.

I have also been named to the Senate Labor Committee as well as the Minority Chair of the Senate Committee on Local Government. Being a member of the Senate Labor Committee perfectly complements my assignment on the Senate Committee on Economic Development, Foreign Trade and Tourism. Most of my work on the latter committee will involve working with the business community in the state, while the Senate Labor Committee deals primarily with labor organizations and associations throughout the state. By serving on both of these committees, I will be in the unique position to bring both sides of business, white collar and blue collar, management and labor, together to work out a viable future for our state.

As a member of the Senate Committee on local government, I will be charged with those parts of our state law that deal with the smaller communities and their local concerns. This will naturally include the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods and such potential agenda items as a Grosse Pointe District Court and the resolution of the Detroit-Grosse Pointe Park boundary dispute.

I look forward with great enthusiasm to my work on these new committees. Not only will I continue to work within the areas of my own expertise; I will be able to more closely monitor and rewrite those laws that most concern my constituents in Grosse Pointe.

If you have questions or comments, please write or stop in at my district office, 16723 East Warren between Cadieux and Outer Drive.

Immunity reform bill is fair

By William R. Bryant, Jr.

On the 1982 general election ballot, voters approved Proposal A which allowed the Legislature to amend the State Constitution to change "existing constitutional exemptions for legislators from civil arrest and process during legislative sessions."

Last week, the Michigan House of Representatives adopted the changes mandated by the voters so that they are no longer immune from such civil infractions as traffic violations, subpoenas and other administrative cases and service of process unless they are actually in legislative session or committee meetings.

The three-bill reform package was approved earlier this year by the Michigan Senate, but the package was returned following the House action because changes were made from the Senate version. After the changes are agreed to, the Governor is expected to sign the bills into law.

Lawmakers will no longer be able to avoid traffic violations by claiming immunity. Legal papers can be served on them and they can be subpoenaed at any time when they are not in actual session, or in committee, or in a way preventing their attendance. Under the old immunity laws, state lawmakers could only be served during the few days in late December and early January when the Legislature was not formally "in session."

The changes in the immunity law are fair and healthy. Lawmakers will still be insulated from legal action which would prevent them from performing their essential duties. They will also remain as they must from liability for what they may say in the heat of debate.

Also, constituent letters, tapes and other communications will be exempt from the new subpoena powers, preserving the trust between legislator and constituent, that a whistle-blowing constituent could not be identified and harassed by subpoena of information from a legislator's file.

This immunity for information you may give me serves the long-range public policy interest giving citizens someone they can tell or someone to whom they can express a fear or suspicion or request for investigation pertaining to the public interest.

As legislators we do have a major ombudsman responsibility, not that different from the responsibility of the press and our sources, like those of the press, I believe, are deserving of a degree of protection. The protection provided by these bills is not so broad as to create privileged, confidential communication like that of doctor-patient and attorney-client but it is some real and legitimate protection.

South goes to Washington, D.C.

By Kelly Johnson
South High

Six South students and three faculty members were in Washington last Thursday and Friday to receive a dedicatory plaque commemorating the school as an exemplary secondary school in the 1982-83 recognition program.

"The students were elected to the leadership positions as presidents of their classes to receive the award," said Dr. Joseph Spagnoli, principal. Andy Stefanovich represented the senior class, Steve Butala, junior class, Richard Clarke, sophomore class, and Linda Gaglio, freshman class. Senior Christina Nihem represented the Student Association and Eric Nicholson, the Tower.

The teachers were Carl Justice, faculty adviser of the senior class, Loujane Beynon, chairperson of the North Central Study Committee, and Rennie LeMieux, assistant principal, in charge of the activities at South.

"I'm very excited and honored South has received such an award. This is also a good opportunity for us," Nihem commented.

"My parents think the whole trip is great and think I'm very honored to take such a trip and represent South; so do I," Stefanovich said.

South's Mothers' Club, Student Association, and each class sponsored the trip.

While in Washington, the group met with Sen. Donald Riegle for pictures and discussions. They were also Riegle's guest at Congress Friday. Education Secretary Terrell Bell took the group for a tour through the White House, followed by lunch.

The rest of the day was spent visiting the Smithsonian Institute and seeing the sights of Washington.

Although many people were excited about the trip, some teachers weren't too happy about it. A student said, "I found out I had a test in one of my classes Friday. When I told my teacher about the trip, he said he wasn't too pleased about me missing the test for the trip."

"When I'm back home I'll remember Washington in general and I'll always have something to look back on after school is out. The trip shows how South is... unique from the other schools," added Stefanovich.

Brownell bands earn high marks

Twenty-seven Brownell Middle School band and orchestra members participated in the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Solo and Ensemble Festival recently at L'Anse Creuse High School.

Performing a prepared solo or ensemble selection before a judge who is a specialist in that instrument, students were rated from First Division (superior) to Fifth Division (unsatisfactory). Brownell students received only first and second division ratings.

First division solo winners were Tom Champion, trumpet; Cris Anderson, flute; Esther Cho, piano; Mary O'Connor, violin; Jennifer Dahlstrom, piano; Erika Soby; cello; Dan Etschmann, flute; Kristin Johnson, violin; Ben Etschmann, violin; and John Wack, trombone.

First division ensemble winners were Mary O'Connor, Esther Cho and Ben Etschmann, violin trio; Chrissy Miller, and Shaina Tanner, flute duet; George Snow and John Applegate, violin duet; Joe Reynolds and Dan Etschmann, woodwind duet; Krystin Dohn and Erin Duffy, flute duet; Tom Champion and Laura Strong, trumpet duet; and Melissa Grow and Kristin Zangrilli, flute duet.

Second division (excellent) solo ratings went to Ross Decker, tuba; Jennifer Van Horn, piano; and Patty Roustemis, piano.

Second division ensemble ratings went to John Wack, Mike Hagen, Laura Strong, Scott Klein and Jim Hardwick, brass quintet; and Kristin Dohn, Erin Duffy, Chrissy Miller and Shaina Tanner, flute quartet.

The Brownell band and orchestra are directed by Christina Judson.

Journey to the past

Trombly School students Jack McSorley, left, and Stephan Fine, right, examine plant and animal fossils with the help of Cameron Oglesbee, an amateur paleobotanist who recently visited each Grosse Pointe elementary school with his collection of fossils and pre-Columbian artifacts, some of which date back more than 250 million years. The display was brought to Grosse Pointe through the efforts of elementary PTOs and the Grosse Pointe Foundation of Academic Enrichment.

North and South offer joint dance

By Laurie Smith
South High

Student government officers and class sponsors from North and South held a meeting Feb. 16 at North to work on relations between the two cross-town rivals.

Most of the activities North and South collaborate on are athletic games, which sometimes cause tension and problems ranging from fights to insulting chants and general bad sportmanship. The meeting was to discuss things that could be planned between the schools which would not promote this rivalry.

Upperclass officers have planned a dance for juniors and seniors to be held at the War Memorial Saturday, March 3.

"We chose the War Memorial because it is a neutral place. There would be more room if it was at one of the schools but the best solution was someplace where there would be no favoritism," explained Carey Fitzgibbon, senior class representative at South.

Each of the junior and senior classes will have 125 tickets to sell because of a 500 person limit in the Fries Ballroom. The dance will run from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. and music will be provided by a DJ.

"I think it's a great idea to plan things for us to do with people at North," said Anne Hoey, a junior at South.

Other things planned at the meeting include a freshmen Mixer and future meetings between the two student governments.

North will hold concert

Grosse Pointe North bands and orchestra will present a pre-festival March 17 the same location, at 8 p.m. in the Community Performing Arts Center at North High School.

The Orchestra will play Moussorgsky's "Night on Bald Mountain," a Concerto Grosso by Handel, and the opening movement of Beethoven's Symphony No. 1, the same program they will play at Warren Lincoln High School, March 10.

Symphony and Concert Bands will combine forces for the district festival March 17 at the same location. Their program will consist of "The Corcoran Cadets March" by Sousa, "Armenian Dances" by Reed and "Chorale and Shaker Dance" by Zdechlik.

Grosse Pointe North Conductor Nathan C. Judson will lead both groups. Tickets are available from any number, and at the door. Call 343-2200 for further information.

ULS students win forensics honors

University Liggett School forensics students have begun collecting points in area forensics competition, recently underway.

Senior Mike Brozowski took second place in radio speaking and freshman Pamela Colby took second in oratory in Detroit Catholic Forensics League competition at Mercy High School.

In the year's first major tournament at Wayne State University, senior Charles Colby won first place in extempore, and sophomore Robert Niccolini took third in the same category. Pamela Colby placed four in oratory.

Local juniors can apply for LIT summer science program

Applications are now being accepted for Lawrence Institute of Technology's 16th annual Summer Science Institute scheduled for June 18 through July 27, 1984.

The six-week program is open to current high school juniors who are interested in science, computer science, mathematics, or engineering, have maintained at least a "B" average, and have received no grades lower than a "B" in math and science.

Applicants should have completed one year of both chemistry and geometry, and two years of algebra by the end of the 1983-84 academic year. LIT's program is limited to 60 students who have demonstrated superior achievement and who have been recommended by their counselor or principal and science or math teacher.

Participants receive tuition-free instruction by full-time faculty members of LIT's School of Arts and Science in topics ranging from chemical kinetics to computer techniques on LIT's campus in Southfield. In addition to classroom instruction, participants will use the College's digital computer, visit research laboratories, and attend lectures by some of the nation's leading corporation executives, researchers, and engineers who are brought to LIT for special interaction.

The program is funded each year by LIT and grants from local corporations and foundations. The only cost to the student is a $50 non-refundable registration fee. All materials will be furnished.

Applications must be postmarked by April 13, 1984. Admitted applicants will be notified by May 4 and must accept by May 18, 1984. For applications or further information students should contact their high school mathematics or science chairperson, guidance counselor, or Dean Zaven Margosian, School of Arts and Science, Lawrence Institute of Technology, 21000 West Ten Mile Road, Southfield, MI 48075.

Pierce holds spelling bee

Pierce Middle School held the annual spelling contest Wednesday, Feb. 22. Sixteen homeroom champions participated in the contest.

The school champion is Sara McCabe, grade 8. Finishing second was Jason Parol, grade 7. The third place winner was Clay Musgrave, grade 8.

Prizes included a Gold Print Heritage Dictionary, donated by the Detroit News, a thesaurus, and two word games.

The winning word was "chute."

School News & Notes

South High physical education instructors Stephanie Prychitko, Russ Hepner and George Petrouleas practice CPR techniques at a recent workshop conducted by the American Red Cross. The program was designed to certify high school phys. ed. instructors for work in system swimming classes. Coordination for the project was done by North High's physical education department head Tom Teetart.

Just call them rhythm masters

South's instrumental music department recently sent 41 events to the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association District Solo and Ensemble Festival held at L'Anse Creuse High School on Feb. 18. Students were judged on tone, intonation, rhythm, technique, and interpretation.

Rated on a scale of I through V, with I the highest possible rating, South students received 21 1st Division ratings, 18 2nd Division ratings, and a 3rd Division rating. South students receiving 1's were Richard Stephens, Steve King,

The students are eligible to participate at the State M.S.B.O.A. Solo and Ensemble Festival on March 31.

Mrs. Elizabeth Grattan Youngjohn

Services for Mrs. Youngjohn, 84, a former resident of Grosse Pointe Park, will be tomorrow, Friday, March 2, at 10 a.m. at the Verheyden Funeral Home. Visitation is tonight, Thursday, March 1, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the funeral home.

She died Monday, Feb. 27, at the Cottage-Belmont Nursing Home.

Mrs. Youngjohn received her A.B. degree from the University of Michigan in 1920 and her Master of Arts degree in 1927. She was a teacher of speech and English at Detroit Teachers' College from 1923 to 1931 and headed the English department there from 1923 through 1936. Mrs. Youngjohn was an associate professor of speech at Wayne State University from September, 1931 until her retirement in June, 1969.

At Wayne, she was Director of First Course of Speech from 1937 through 1968 and coached women's debate from 1931 to 1945. Outside the university, she largely developed and directed the women's division of the debate and public speaking program for the Detroit Chapter of the American Institute of Banking, which had numerous successes in both team and individual efforts.

Throughout her career, Mrs. Youngjohn was also wide counselor to Dr. Rupert Cortright and Professor George Bohman while they chaired the department of speech at WSU. Her loyalty, wisdom and concern for the field of speech, and her fine teaching, were major contributions to the speech department and the university in its period of major growth, according to her associates.

The widow of attorney Chris Youngjohn, Mrs. Youngjohn is survived by one niece and three nephews.

Interment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Alfred T. Wilson

Services for Mr. Wilson, 85, of Lochmoor Road, were held Monday, Feb. 27, at the A.H. Peters Funeral Home and St. James Lutheran Church.

He died Wednesday, Feb. 22, in Roston Beach Fla.

Born in Utica, Michigan, he was a retired banking executive.

Mr. Wilson is survived by his wife, Vera; a son, Thomas A.; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Mathews; two sisters and four grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. James Lutheran or to Valparaiso University.

Interment was in Glen Eden Cemetery, Livonia.

Edith Silloway

Services for Mrs. Silloway, 86, of the City, were held Tuesday, Feb. 21, at St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church.

She died Saturday, Feb. 18, in Hutzel Hospital.

Mrs. Silloway is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Aurale (Mary Lou) L'ceyer and Mrs. William C. (Patricia) Osborn, Jr.; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. She is preceded in death by her husband, Lee K., and her son Kent L.

Memorial tributes may be made to St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Interment was in Grand Lawn Cemetery.

Arrangements were handled by the A.H. Peters Funeral Home.

Alfred J. Mayer Jr.

Services for Mr. Mayer, 75, of the City, were held Tuesday, Feb. 28, at the Verheyden Funeral Home.

He died Friday, Feb. 24, in his home on Cadieux Road.

Mr. Mayer was president of Gregory, Mayer and Thom Co., a Detroit office equipment and stationary firm, from 1945 to 1960, a firm his father founded. From 1960 until his retirement in 1962, he was a sales executive with the Geory and Leonard Co., in Ferndale.

Mr. Mayer was a graduate of Detroit University School, Phillips

Exeter Academy and Cornell University where he was president of his Chi Psi Fraternity chapter. During World War II he was a major in the Air Corps and received the Distinguished Service Medal.

Mr. Mayer was the husband of the late Margaret and is survived by three daughters: Miss Margaret Van Dyke Mayer, Mrs. Christine Lindsay and Mrs. Annette Knoll; one son, Alfred J. III and two grandsons.

Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Arthur C. Dannecker

Services for Mr. Dannecker, 91, of the Park, were held Monday, Feb. 27, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

He died Friday, Feb. 24, in the St. Mary's Nursing Home, St. Clair Shores.

A native Detroit, he was a member of the Senior Men's Club. Mr. Dannecker is survived by his wife, Fern; three sons, Henry, Arthur C. Jr. and Donald E.; a daughter, Mrs. Joyce Swart; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Christ Church girls choir will tour Italy this summer

The Christ Church Girls Choir will be Grosse Pointe's Ecumenical ambassadors to Italy this summer, performing for three weeks in that country's great cathedrals, churches and chapels, according to the church.

The 20 girls and a complement of six professional male singers leave for Rome June 14 and return July 5. This is the first concert tour in Europe for the girls choir, which is directed by Frederic DeHaven.

Their tentative itinerary includes singing at a Papal Audience, at a service in the Cistine Chapel, and in the cathedrals of Florence, Siena and Venice. While in Rome, they also will sing a service in the Episcopal Cathedral.

The choir will be guests for eight days at Spannocchia, near Siena, the family castle of Count Ferdinand Cinelli, of Edgemere Road. In addition to using the castle as home base for their concert tours of Tuesday, the choir will explore the famous Etruscan archeological dig on the Cinelli estate.

From Venice the choir will go to Lake Como, Switzerland, and then to Wengen, a quaint town halfway up the Jungfrau. They will sing at the Episcopal Church in Wengen. Sightseeing on the Italian Riviera and in Stresa, Portofino, Pisa and Orvieto completes the itinerary.

Because each girl is expected to earn at least $200 toward her trip, the group has formed an "employment service." Choir members are willing to do a variety of jobs, including helping with parties, baby-sitting, caring for pets and plants, running errands, and polishing silver, brass or furniture. To enlist a chorister's help, call Robin Albrecht at 882-4968.

A number of fundraisers also will be held, since none of the tour's expenses come out of the parish budget. The first event is a pasta supper on Shrove Tuesday, March 6, which this year replaces the traditional pancake supper. Also planned are an auction on May 8 and a rummage sale on May 17 and 18.

The Christ Church girls' choir will represent the church on a tour of Italy, including a performance in Rome.

Optimist officers

War Memorial starts spring fitness classes

Four fitness and relaxation classes are scheduled to begin new sessions in March at the War Memorial.

Yoga instruction, under the leadership of Betty Locke, will meet for an hour on Thursday evenings beginning March 1. Students are asked to dress in loose-fitting clothes and to bring their own mats.

The eight-week program fee is $30.

Ted and Lillian Forrest will return to teach ballroom dancing Monday evenings starting March 5. Beginners will meet at 7:30 and advanced students will meet at 8:30. It is not necessary for students to come in pairs, and previous dance experience is not required. Class fee is $25.

Ballet for adults will be offered in an 11-week course which meets from 8:15 to 9:15 p.m. Registration is by interview with the instructor, Mary Ellen Cooper, who will help students decide on a weeknight evening which is both compatible with their schedules and their dancing ability. The cost is $36.

Tae Kwan Do Karate will begin its new session Friday, March 9, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The eight sessions cost $28.

Registration for classes may be made by mail or in person. For more information, call 881-7511.

James Hartway will perform 'Cityscapes'

Dr. James Hartway will perform his "Cityscapes" at the Macomb Symphony Orchestra's annual Cabaret Concert, Friday, March 2, at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts, at M-59 and Garfield Road in Mt. Clemens.

WDIV meteorologist and fellow Pointer Mal Sillars will act as host and master of ceremonies for the concert of American and Soviet music.

Featured works include Prokofiev's humorous "Lieutenant Kije" and Schostakovich's tongue-in-cheek "Age of Gold" ballet representing Soviet works. American music is represented by the "Candide Overture" by Bernstein and the featured work, "Cityscapes" by Park resident Hartway.

The Larry Nozero Quartet, with Dr. Hartway at the piano, will be heard as soloists in the jazz and symphonic work.

Tickets for the event are available by calling the Performing Arts box office at 1-286-2222. The concert is being presented with the aid of the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Overeaters will explain program

The film "One Day at a Time, One Pound at a Time," which explains the Overeaters Anonymous program of recovery from compulsive overeating, will be shown at Christ Church of Detroit, 960 East Jefferson and I-75.

Narrated by William Rader, the film will be shown free of charge Sunday, March 4, at 3 p.m. Following the showing of the film, three members of Overeaters Anonymous will share their experience with the program and answer audience questions.

Court offers divorce clinic

A series of four group sessions designed to help people cope with divorce is being offered by the Third Judicial Circuit of the State of Michigan, Friend of the Court, Family Counseling and Mediation Division. The sessions are for those exploring divorce, in the divorce process, or who have already divorced.

George Schrauder, a staff member of the Family Counseling and Mediation Division will lead the educational group meetings at Cannon Community Center, Cadieux and Warren.

The meetings will be from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday evenings beginning March 7. The cost is $3 a night or $10 for the series. A person is still welcome if unable to pay.

Discussions will focus on the following: March 7, "Coping with Personal and Emotional Turmoil"; March 14, "Dealing with Attorneys and the Court System" (an attorney will be present); March 21, "Helping Your Children Cope"; and March 28, "Developing New Social and Interpersonal Relationships."

For additional information, call 224-5266.

South African will lecture

"Freedom from Fear; A Divine Command" will be the topic of a lecture by South African Jean Louis Monday, March 5, at 8 p.m. at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 282 Chalfonte in the Farms.

Mrs. Louis will examine how Biblical characters including Christ's disciples and Paul, overcame fear. She also will give contemporary examples of individuals who have surmounted similar fears of injustice, violence and disease.

Mrs. Louis has been active in the full-time healing ministry of Christian Science for more than a decade. Prior to that, she taught ballet and, for a number of years, helped run a family manufacturing business in South Africa's Transvaal Province while active in her local church.

Child care and parking will be provided at the church.

Shutterbugs meet

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet on Tuesday, March 6, at 7:30 p.m. at Brownell Middle School for a monochrome and pictorial slide competition.

The assignment is "Special Effects." A short program by Richard Parenteau on "An Evaluation of Photographic Publications" will also be presented.

Visitors are welcome. Call 331-3303 for more information.

to the whole slate.

"You're trying to run the city like a private club that excludes people who, because of their circumstances or choice, lead a low profile in the community," Heenan told council. "They all pay taxes and want to participate. I've tried the best I could to be decent in dealing with you and it's been interpreted as weakness. But today I've come of age and I won't give up my authority directly or indirectly," he added.

He said he's 60 years old, on the fast-track of life and serious about his job as mayor. With his voice cracking, Heenan asked the audience, filled with his supporters, to talk to council to get on with the business of the city. They responded throughout the evening by voicing threats of recall and peppering the debate with catcalls and boos for the "bloc of four" and clapping for the mayor and councilman Ausherman.

After several recesses, called by councilmember Forster, council approved the appointees with the addition of Garland Whitney, a CPA, and councilmember Evola. Another concession included having Ms. Parol and Hendricks assume positions of project representatives, which are appointments only for the term of a specified project as opposed to board of directors who serve one to six-year terms.

Council members who opposed Heenan seemed satisfied with the concessions and all said they had based their decisions on matters of principal.

The Park was the real winner, according to Heenan. He said he accomplished his objectives by getting all his appointees approved and the project underway.

"I was trying to do something for the Park and some members of council tried to attack my power to appoint. But I've run so many meetings and the chair has so much leeway, it can put the opposition in difficult circumstances. They didn't know what to do in a time of crisis and leadership prevailed.

"It's a lesson to all of us. Council will now negotiate more willingly in private," he added.

Crime rate drops in '83

compared to the year before, burglaries and larcenies showed decreases. The number of actual and attempted rapes remain the same in the two years at three, reports said.

The number of incidents per 10,000 population also showed decreases in the Park, Shores and Woods. Rate per 10,000 in the Park for 1983 was 571, down from 640 the year before. The Woods dropped from 322 in 1982 to 236 last year. The Shores decreased from 175 the year before to 159 last year, based on incidents per 10,000 population.

The Farms showed an increase 555.3 incidents per 10,000 last year, compared to 550.6 the year before. The City showed an increase from 528 per 10,000 in 1982 to 543 per 10,000 last year.

The figures were derived by adding the number of Part One crimes reported in the two years, including attempts in the cases of burglaries, and dividing the total by the population given in the 1980 U.S. Census report. Populations given in that report are: the Park, 13,639; the Woods, 19,886; the Farms, 10,551; the City, 5,901; and the Shores 3,012.

Using the same statistics, figures were calculated comparing the various cities in each category based on 10,000 population.

The Park, as the only Pointe to report three rapes last year, showed a rate of 2.31 per 10,000.

The Park also showed the most robberies, both armed and unarmed, in 1983 per 10,000 people, followed by the City, Farms and Woods. The Shores reported no robberies last year. The rate per 10,000 last year in the Park was 35.1. The City showed 11.8, the Farms 7.5 and the Woods 3.1.

Assaults based on 10,000 population showed the City with the highest rate, followed by the Shores, Park, Farms and Woods. The City had an assault rate of 11.8 per 10,000 last year, with seven reported in the city of 5,901. The Shores, with three assaults for its 3,012 residents, showed 9.9 per 10,000. The Park rate was 9.5; the Farms 9.4 and the Woods 2.1.

Burglaries including businesses, schools and homes, along with attempts were also compared. The Park in 1983 showed a rate of 61.5 per 10,000, while the Farms showed a rate of 79.6, with 84 burglaries and attempts reported last year for its 10,551 people. The City shows a rate of 45.7 burglaries per 10,000, followed by the Shores at 36.5 and the Woods at 28 for last year.

Larcenies per 10,000 last year showed the City with a rate of 443.9, followed by the Farms with 409.4; the Park at 362.9, the Woods at 176.8 and the Shores at 99.6.

Motor vehicle thefts per 10,000 population showed the Park with a rate last year of 71.1; the Farms, 50.2, the City and Woods, 25.4 and the Shores 13.2.

Arson reports were not compared in the rates per 10,000 because of incomplete data. Also, because of the variety of report forms used by the five departments, Part Two crimes were not compared based on population.

Tour Europe this summer

Students in grades 11 through college are eligible to join the War Memorial's 16-day tour of Europe August 3 through 18. An informational meeting about the trip will be held Wednesday, March 7, at 8 p.m. at the War Memorial.

Dr. Michael F. Luck, senior vice-president for Development and Public Affairs at Wayne State University, and an educational anthropologist, will chaperone the tour. Last year he escorted the WSU Symphonic Band through China.

Luck's wife, Barbara C. Wilson, will assist him. She is a doctoral student in educational gerontology, has lived and traveled extensively in Europe, and speaks Spanish, German and French.

Students will visit London, Canterbury, Calais, Paris, Lausanne, Berne, Lucerne, Florence, Lugano, Rome, Pisa, Venice, Innsbruck, Munich, Frankfurt, Cologne, Amsterdam and Brussels.

The trip costs of $1,254 includes round-trip air fare, two meals a day, escorts, guides, all land transportation, and sightseeing and entrance fees. Rooms in superior class hotels with private baths have been reserved throughout the tour.

Parents and students are invited to attend the informational meeting March 7. For more information call 881-7511.

Cuba is 'eye-opener'

Europe," said Rev. Philippe. "Their's came from the top down. They consider it just a part of a 100-year-still-ongoing process. First they fought against Spanish oppression, then against U.S. oppression. But as one Cuban citizen pointed out to me, they still have the same flag. They don't change it after Castro took over.

"The people are well fed and happy," continued Rev. Philippe. "It is very crowded and they have problems with a lack of housing and a high divorce rate. But before the revolution, one third of the people were illiterate. Now everyone goes to school. And before, most of the physicians were located in Havana. Now they're throughout the country side.

"I returned from Cuba with a tremendous feeling of vitality. They're doing something new and they're tilted with hope. I didn't have that feeling come back here. I felt like we were 209 years old and lacking that vitality.

If things are so great in Cuba, then why did so many Cubans flee to the U.S.?

"It's true many Cubans fled after Castro came into power," said Rev. Philippe. "Some have put the number as high as a million, although I doubt it's that large. Quite simply, those who left did so because they were unwilling to share in the revolution. And that included many of the wealthy."

What about the recent defections when 250,000 Cubans came to the U.S. after Castro opened the doors during the Carter administration?

"Again, they were unwilling to share in the revolution," said Rev. Philippe. "plus Castro pulled a fast one on us and emptied his jails and mental asylums. Please don't get me wrong. I'm not naive and I'm not blind. I know there are problems there and I certainly wouldn't want to live there, but for too long Cuba has been our whipping boy.

"They're so convenient," continued Rev. Philippe. "They're close, small and present no military threat to us. So we dump on them. Why is it we dump on Cuba but still sell our wheat to the Soviet Union? Someone more our own size. People here say the 'Cubans can't do this and they can't do that,' but we as Americans couldn't even spend one U.S. dollar in Cuba because of the economic blockade. What about that?"

The U.S. citizens in the group got around the money problem by funneling their funds through a Canadian group member, who then paid for it with Canadian currency.

The group also breached the spirit of the economic blockade by presenting 200 books to a seminary by dividing the volumes into their luggage as they left Miami for Cuba.

When the books were presented to the seminary at a special service of communion, the Vice-President of the seminary thanked the U.S. citizens for this "act of civil disobedience as you broke the U.S. economic blockade and did it in good Reformed tradition."

While in Cuba, Rev. Philippe spoke with the Minister of Culture and Education and negotiated for the right to send a carton of books a month for the seminary. They also discussed the problems facing the Cuban people including the lack of housing, agricultural problems and consumer goods.

"He knew a great deal about the Alliance of Reformed Churches and our work with oppressors around the world," said Rev. Philippe, who in the past has traveled on a fact-finding tour of the Middle East and to Belgrade, Yugoslavia as part of an inter-religious task force to review the Helsinki Accord.

"We also believe the church is growing again in Cuba," said Rev. Philippe. "I preached to a full house down there and at least one quarter of the members were 20 or younger. It's growing because the church supports the goals of the revolution. Better housing, better education and health care. Who wouldn't support such things?"

"However, there are some problems," he added. "The church can't utilize any of the public media such as radio, television or newspapers. We also can't conduct outdoor meetings, which I've never felt good about anyway. I don't believe people should be converted publicly. It's more meaningful if it's on a one-to-one basis."

"There are also problems in everyday life for the average Cuban," said Rev. Philippe. "We heard complaints about standing in long lines for goods and the unavailability of certain items. We ourselves found the food to be staple, but not very exotic. While there our hot water broke down and we had to take five days of cold showers. The officials said it would take months to repair because of supply problems.

"However, the people of Cuba are still very enamored of the U.S. and its people," added Rev. Philippe. "But not our government. Why one person even stopped me in the street to ask how Michael Jackson was after his hair caught fire! It was the first I'd heard of it."

The group left 10 days later after adopting a report concerning the on-going talks between their church and the Lutheran Reformed Church and extending the dialogue with members of the Presbyterian Church of Cuba.

The group also unanimously asked the U.S. administration to lift the economic blockade on relations with Cuba. "We saw a joyful people, passionately involved in the creative reconstruction of a society," said Rev. Philippe, "and a lively church, yeast in the social loaf, committed to the task of helping to build and shape a new Cuban society and active in the world mission of the Church universal."

Census-takers come knocking

Beginning today, local representatives of the U.S. Bureau of the Census will visit selected households in the area to conduct the Survey of Income and Program Participation, according to Robert G. McWilliam, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Detroit.

This survey is being conducted in response to the need for better information on the economic well-being of the U.S. population, the department said. Information collected will be used to determine how selected government programs are working, and to help policy-makers consider what changes are needed to make programs more effective.

Area households are among 18,000 nationwide taking part in the survey. Interviewers will gather information on jobs, earnings, participation in various government programs, and population characteristics. Summary data from the survey will be published periodically, according to the bureau.

Information supplied by people taking part in the survey will be kept confidential under provisions

Children's Theater plans anniversary

The Grosse Pointe Children's Theater is inviting all its alumnae to a 30th Anniversary Party on Friday, Aug. 3 at the War Memorial.

Those interested in attending should call Mrs. Sally Reynolds at 885-6219 or Mrs. Cindy R. Connors at 261-4995 evenings.

Library studies lake shipwrecks

The Grosse Pointe Central Library will host David Tanner, diver and member of the Great Lakes Marine History Society, who will narrate two multi-slide shipwreck shows Monday, March 5, in the Exhibition Room.

"Schooner Rocket: Mystery Ship of the Deep" will explore the collision of the Rocket, from Buffalo, with the bark Ocean Wave in August, 1860. The second program, titled "Beyond 12 O'Clock Point," will tell of the Kamloops, built in 1924, which sank with all hands in 1927.

The public is invited. For more information, call 343-2074.

O'Brien is cool and creative

By Tom Greenwood

Kevin O'Brien thinks ice is nice. Kevin, 24, is the head chef of the Park Place Cafe, on Mack Avenue, and he usually spends at least two hours every Saturday creating "art" pleasing to the eye as well as foods pleasing to the palate:

The tools he uses include a chain saw, hand saw, chisels and a 400 lb. block of crystal clear ice. "Ice carving is getting to be more and more a part of cheffing," said O'Brien, standing back from the half finished form of an ice sword fish. "And it usually attracts a lot of people. Sometimes there's almost been accidents from people slowing down to gawk."

Kevin's studio is the sidewalk in front of the cafe, where the ice block slowly takes shape. "I do it all free hand," said Kevin, who learned cooking and carving at the Culinary Institute of Arts in New York. "Many people use templates, or patterns. I think free hand is more creative."

Where does he get his ideas? "Oh, sometimes I'll ask the owner if he has something special in mind, or something I see in a book will strike my fancy. I don't usually have a design in mind."

Slowly, the sword fish begins to take shape. Soon the sidewalk is littered with piles of shaved and chipped ice. Two boys on bikes whip by, then circle back to stand and watch. Next, a police car with two officers cruises to the curb. Kevin walks over to talk, then waves as they drive away laughing.

"They just wanted to know if I had a fishing license for the sword fish," joked O'Brien. "I have regulars that come by every Saturday to see what I'm working on, including a nun who usually watches, then gives me a 'thumbs up' sign if she likes it."

O'Brien reports that some people will actually walk up and touch the sculpture, then recoil when they find out it's nice. "For some reason, they're really surprised," smiled Kevin.

For Kevin, carving an ice sculpture in the winter is much easier than in the summer. "During hot weather, you really have to work fast," he said. "Although there's problems in the winter too. If it's really cold out, the ice becomes very brittle and can crack very easily. However, on the rare occasions the sculpture might break, I can usually 'weld' the piece back on using rock salt or hot water."

When the carving is completed, the sculpture is moved indoors where it sits with colored lights playing over it. As the evening progresses, the ice melts a bit and the surface smooths out. It also becomes crystal clear, as the marks of the cutting tools soften and disappear.

Just because the sculpture is finished, that doesn't mean Kevin can sit back and relax. Then it's time to head indoors to prepare for that evening's customers.

Which does he like better, carving or cooking? "Well, to tell you the truth," he smiled with a slow smile. "I like the carving better. I meet lots of people and it gets me out of that hot kitchen."

O'Brien and the finished product.

Village garage sale coming

For the third straight year, Grosse Pointe's Greatest Garage Sale will take place over Memorial Day weekend in the Carriage House Parking Garage behind Jacobson's in the Village.

Held from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday and Monday, May 27 and 28, the Garage Sale features individuals selling household white elephants and treasures, craftsmen displaying their specialties, antiques, T-shirts, flea market fancies, and miscellany new and old in every imaginable variety.

In the past two years church groups, hospital auxiliaries, neighborhood groups, community service clubs and individuals from all over Grosse Pointe and the eastern suburbs have gathered household goodies to display and sell. Last year, approximately 30,000 people attended the sale.

The sale, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Village Association, has a special aim: to raise enough money to sponsor Grosse Pointe's own

Santa Claus Parade, held the day after Thanksgiving each year to welcome the Christmas season to Grosse Pointe. In its first year, the Garage sale raised enough to pay for half the parade; last year, almost 80 percent of the parade was covered by profits from sale of display space.

All profits come from rental of the 9x18 foot spaces. Rental fee for the two days of Grosse Pointe's Greatest Garage Sale is $50, with an additional refundable $10 cleanup fee. There is no fee for public admission to the Garage Sale.

Any individual or group wishing to rent space should call 885-1900, leaving name and telephone number. A member of the Village Association will call back with detailed information.

All food service for Grosse Pointe's Greatest Garage Sale will be provided by non-profit community organizations, with arrangements already concluded.

me with big eyes that showed a steady intelligence.

Born without the natural immunity that protects us all from the most common germs, David spent most of his life in a sterile, protective bubble in his parents' home. He knew why he was there and seemed to accept it. He looked like a good kid.

The story told how the doctors took a chance and brought David from his protective shell for a bone marrow transplant from his sister, in hopes of stirring life into his own immunity system. It didn't work, and two weeks later, David was dead. Weakened by infections he had never before been exposed to, his heart gave out.

What I'm getting at here is the inequalities of the two stories. A dead child brought back to life from the bottom of an icy lake, and an otherwise healthy child dead after being removed from the warmth of his home.

For one, the icy waters of a lake meant life. For the other, the warmth of his first ever human contact meant death. It's crazy, illogical, troubling, disturbing and unfair. Some will say it's fate, others will say it was God's will, and "Hey, Greenwood, who ever told you life was fair?"

I guess the only thing you can do is what I did. Turn off the TV, put down the newspaper and sit back in silent wonder and watch your kids playing together on the floor of the den.

Because you just never know.

CAR TALK

From RAY LAETHEM
Pontiac, GMC, Truck

BY RAY LAETHEM
SPEED MYTHS

Have you always believed it was legal to drive 5 to 10 miles over the speed limit because most police allow that much tolerance before stopping you? This is pure fiction. Speeds over limit are not legal. In the past, because of inaccurate speed-measuring devices, police found that courts would not convict unless the speed violation was clear-cut. However, with today's accurate electronic devices, speed violations can be uncontestably detected.

There is another common myth concerning speed. Like the deceased pilot who thought it was safer to fly low and slow, there are those who believe that driving well under the posted speed limit will make you a safer driver on the turnpike. Actually, driving too slowly can skyrocket your chances of having an accident, especially from the poor driver behind you who may not realize the difference in speeds until he's almost on top of you.

March is Renaissance Month at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, beginning next Wednesday, March 7, at 8 p.m. with An Evening of Renaissance Music and Art conducted by Christine Ruby, currently completing a Ph.D. in Art History and teaching at Wayne State University.

Her program, which features slides of paintings, sculpture and musical instruments, plus recorded excerpts from musical selections, will be followed the next Wednesday, March 14, by An Evening of Renaissance Literature. Charles Fantazzi, Ph.D., professor of Classics and Italian at the University of Windsor, will illustrate the ideals of the Italian Renaissance through the works of five writers: Piccolanda Mirandola, Poliziano, Michelangelo, Ariosto and Ruzzante.

The following Wednesday, Michael Farrell presents the first in a series of three lectures on Renaissance Art, in Florence (March 21), Rome (March 28) and Venice (April 4). Farrell, also a University of Windsor professor, has lectured in The Pointe before — and once you've heard a Farrell lecture, you're prepared to beg, borrow or steal a seat at another one. No dry-as-dust mumbling with upside-down slides for him! Not to say he's not knowledgeable — you LEARN at a Farrell lecture — but the man's a bit of a gossip, and VERY funny.

All these programs begin at 8 p.m. Admission to each is $8, with a discount price of $18 for the three-lecture Farrell series. Reservations are not necessary . . . but if you'd like to top off your Italian Renaissance tour with a special treat, a lecture demonstration and supper, The History and Mystery of Pasta, on Thursday, March 29, at 7:30 p.m., you must reserve in advance. Charity Sucek will lead the way down the Via Emilia to Italy's gastronomic paradise, Bologna.

You'll dine at the War Memorial that night on pasta with Ragù Bolognese, salad and dessert. You'll see basic pasta prepared, learn how it is used. Fee for the evening is $18 per person. Capacity is limited. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Sunday Show House Bargain

A major part of the fun of touring a Junior League of Detroit Designers' Show House is studying and comparing the "before" photos displayed in each of the metamorphosed rooms. This year, the League is offering the public a special opportunity to actually tour the untouched house, making a return to the decorated Show House even more of a treat.

This Sunday, March 4, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., visitors may explore 111 Lakeshore Road and consider what they, given free rein and access to interior designers' resources, would do with it between now and May 5, when the "magic" will have been worked and the decorated Show House begins its three-week public run.

Cottage Auxiliary presents a cookbook

Grosse Pointe's newest cookbook, the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary's "Cottage a la Carte," made its debut in December and is available now at $7 per copy (tax deductible) at the hospital gift shop and Jacobson's Fabrics in-the-Village. Pictured above, justly proud of their efforts, are cookbook committee members MRS. RALPH E. QUINONES, MRS. WILLIAM DEBRUYNE, MRS. JAMES HOSKING and MRS. JOHN NOLAN JR. (standing, left to right), MS. NANCY Y. DAVIDSON and MRS. FRANK S. CLARK (seated, left and right).

Shores Garden Club to meet

Mrs. Stuart Cammett will open her Cloverly Road home at noon tomorrow, Friday, March 2, to members of the Grosse Pointe Shores Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. She will be assisted by Mrs. Anthony Vinci and Mrs. Richard Blatchford.

The program following luncheon will feature Mrs. Joseph Nerone, who spent a week at Higgins Lake Conservation School in 1982, under partial sponsorship of the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council.

Mrs. Nerone, a teacher in St. Clair Shores, has established a wildlife nature center at her school. The project has been well received, and she tells her story in the hope that it may inspire others to make a similar effort.

Among Hillsdale College students named to the Dean's List for the first semester of the 1983-84 school year, is Jill Morketter, daughter of Mrs. Janet L. Morketter, of St. Clair Shores, and Ronald Morketter, of Grosse Pointe. Jill, a graduate of Leelanau School, recorded a perfect 4.0 average for the semester.

Pointer Debbie Evans was recently initiated into the Alpha Gamma chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority at the University of Michigan.

Scott T. Stevenson, D.D.S., son of John and Beverly Stevenson, of Roslyn Road, has opened a family dentistry practice in Grand Ledge.

Dr. Stevenson is a 1975 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School and earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Michigan State University in 1979. He received his Doctor of Dental Surgery degree from University of Detroit Dental School in May, 1983.

Brian Degalan, of Hall Place, was named to the Dean's List at Siena Heights College for the fall semester.

Thomas Gould Whittingham Jr., a 1979 Grosse Pointe North High School graduate, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Western State College, Gunnison, Colo., in December. Whittingham, who majored in production supervision

DGC presents spring classes

Gourmet herb cooking and herb gardening are new additions to the spring craft classes planned by Dianne Popkie, chairman, to be presented on Wednesdays beginning March 21 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Detroit Garden Center, located in Historic Moross House on East Jefferson Avenue, opposite the University Club.

Pre-registration is required, at $5 for the general public, $3 for DGC members, plus payment of the class fee which is refundable up to one week before the class date. Participants are asked to bring brown bag lunches. Coffee and tea will be furnished. Registration information may be obtained by calling 259-6363.

Fee for Leona Lienau's Heart-Shaped Band Box workshop on March 21 is $5, as is the fee for Virginia Baker's March 28 Pot-pourri of Ideas which range from mini-decorating techniques to instructions on how to create an ivy wreath.

Luncheon will be served as part of Caroline Jamison's $7 Gourmet Herb Luncheon program April 4. Julie Robinson will teach Basket Making, for a $10 fee, April 11. Fernande Biglin will instruct in Fabric Stenciling, for a $6 fee, April 18.

The series closes with Susan Amejka's April 25 program on planning and cultivating an herb garden. Fee for this final class is $5.

WEIGHT NO MORE

Through the Weight No More System you will lose weight consistently and, most importantly, permanently. The system is a total state of the art lifestyle approach to weight control that consists of behavioral, psychological, sociological, and physiological components. Weight No More is based upon years of scientific research and has proven to be effective whether you need to lose 5 pounds or 155 pounds, whether this is your first attempt to lose weight or your fortieth attempt.

Weight No More was developed by Dr. Don R. Powell, a nationally acclaimed behavioral psychologist. Dr. Powell was the winner of the 1982 Governor's Physical Fitness and Health Award — the State of Michigan's highest health and fitness honor. He has presented papers on his work at the national meetings of the American Medical Association, American Public Health Association, and American Psychological Association and has appeared on hundreds of television and radio shows including "Good Morning America."

So come to a free introductory meeting to learn how the Weight No More System guarantees that it will work for you. There is no need to weight any longer.

Grand Canyon setting for rites

Relatives and friends from Michigan, Wisconsin, Florida, California, Minnesota, Illinois, Texas and Arizona gathered at Shoshone Point on the South Rim of the Grand Canyon for the double ring ceremony at which Mary Margaret Thomson and Larry Ray Johnson exchanged marriage vows.

Musical selections, vocal and flute, were given by Jamie Guyn and guitarist John Sparrow, liturgical readings by Barbara Thomson, sister, and Mary Veltama, childhood friend of the bride.

Presiding at the 11 o'clock service Saturday, September 3, was Father Raymond Kopka, formerly of the Crow Agency in Montana, where the couple met. A luncheon reception followed at the rim site. An evening reception was held at Thunderbird Lodge.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thomson, of Three Mile Drive, chose an off-the-

Pair at home in Ann Arbor

At home in Ann Arbor, where he is working toward a Masters degree in Industrial Engineering at the University of Michigan, are Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Joseph Clancy who exchanged marriage vows Saturday, August 13, in the Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel.

Mrs. Clancy, a student at Henry Ford Hospital School of Nursing, is the former Joan Marie Thomson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thomson, of Three Mile Drive. Mr. Clancy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Clancy, of Detroit.

The 5:30 o'clock double ring ceremony at which The Reverend John T. Shirley presided was followed by a reception in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Fries Ballroom, after which the newlyweds left to vacation at St. Clair and backpack for a week on the Bruce Peninsula.

The bride designed and made her cathedral length, illusion veil held by a tiara of lace and pearls, and traditional gown, styled with a keyhole neckline, Queen Anne collar and long-sleeved, fitted bodice accented with matching lace appliques and pearls. Its white satin skirt flowed into a cathedral train featuring a scalloped border repeating the bodice's lace and pearl motif.

The former Miss Thomson carried a cascade of yellow roses, with crystal pom-pom mums and ivy. She also fashioned the dresses worn by her attendants, her sister, Mary Margaret Thomson, of Santa Fe, N.M., who served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids Jill Thomson, their sister-in-law, and Cindy Ackerman, a Kalamazoo College friend.

The honor maid's gown of periwinkle blue crepe de chine and the bridesmaids' powder blue crepe de chine dresses featured triple tucks bordering short sleeves and floor length skirts. Each attendant pinned a yellow Sweetheart rose in her hair and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses and baby's-breath.

Best man was Paul Shulec, of Ann Arbor. Ushers were Paul Lange, of St. Joseph, and John Leslie. Music was provided by Francine Bruder, vocalist, the best man, pianist, and the maid of honor, guitarist.

The mother of the bride wore a full-sleeved, floor length, floral print dress. Lace accented the bodice and matching jacket of the floor length, two-tone beige crepe dress selected by the bridegroom's mother. White mini-carnations and alstromeria lilies formed both mothers' corsages.

Special guests were Marie Clancy, of Livonia, the bridegroom's grandmother, and Alma Villemure, of Newberry, the bride's grandmother.

Shanley-Bauer
betrothal told

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bauer, of Reese, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Julie, to Kevin Shanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Shanley, of Huntington Boulevard. A June wedding is planned.

Miss Bauer holds a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in Industrial Marketing from Western Michigan University. Her fiance is a senior at Wayne State University, majoring in Criminal Justice.

Melina, Margaret to attend Olympic banquet at Westin

International film star Melina Mercouri and Margaret Papan-dreou, wife of the Prime Minister of Greece, will attend a grand banquet given by the Hellenic American Olympic Cultural Committee of Michigan on Tuesday, March 6, at the Westin Hotel. It's a fund raiser, to defray expenses of cultural activities and exhibits Greece will present in Los Angeles this summer at the 1984 Olympic Games. Information on tickets at $75 per person (tax deductible) may be obtained by calling 626-6665 or 689-9565.

A Restoration comedy joins Hilberry's fare

"The Beaux' Stratagem," George Farquhar's Restoration comedy of manners, joins Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre repertory Thursday, March 22, at 8 p.m., following previews March 9 and 10 at 8 p.m., and will play there through May 4 with "Hamlet" and "The Man Who Came to Dinner," opening April 19.

The plot concerns Archer and Aimwell, two down-on-their-luck gentlemen who disguise themselves as master and servant and find themselves in the company of such colorful characters as Lady Bountiful, a country gentlewoman who cures her neighbors of distempers, and her son Sullen, a blockhead who is brutal to his wife.

The play, first performed in 1707, was an immediate success. Tickets for the Hilberry production, directed by N. Joseph Calarco with a cast including Richard Klautsch, Mark Corkins, Jodi Cooper, Cheryl Williams and Angela Yannon, are available at the WSU Theatres box office, 577-2972.

NOW YOU CAN SAY YES TO YOUR CHILD'S FUTURE!

Through Youth Enrichment Services, Inc.

a new program designed to give your child the competitive edge necessary to compete in today's society.

Four Key Questions:

- Is your child receiving enough individual attention?
- Is your child's physical growth needs being fulfilled?
- Is your child's positive self image as strong as it could be?
- Is your child's educational and personal growth extended outside of school?

Four Key Answers:

- YES! exists to help parents who want to do "something extra" for their child.
- YES! will give you information on your child's growth rate which is not available elsewhere.
- YES! helps young people grow in all ways by reinforcing positive self image concepts.
- YES! helps students relate to their environment beyond school and the home.

Your are invited to visit our YES Center to learn more about our revolutionary new program Monday through Friday 10 to 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday 1 to 3 p.m.

More detailed information will be provided at parent meetings scheduled for Monday and Wednesday afternoons and evenings - 2 to 3 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m.

Sunday escape shows offered

You can escape the late winter blahs at the Detroit Historical Museum Sunday afternoons during the month of March, and learn about local history through slide talks presented by Detroit Historical Society guest lecturers.

The first program, this Sunday, March 4, is titled "What's in a Name?" It focuses on Joseph Campau, Walter Harper, Thomas A. Palmer and other illustrious early Detroiters who gave their names to the city's streets, avenues and districts.

"Recorded History of Detroit until the Automobile" is the topic for Sunday, March 11. Drawings, prints and early photographs illustrate the city's growth from the time of the first explorers to the turn of the 20th century.

A review of changes in women's clothing from 1830 to 1930 will be presented Sunday, March 18. The gowns in "One Hundred Years of Fashion" have been selected from the museum's own costume collection, considered one of the finest in the Midwest.

"Scenes of Early Detroit," a post card tour of the city as seen by a visitor arriving by ship or rail, including famous old hotels, shops, entertainment spas and landmarks, closes the series Sunday, March 25.

All programs are free and begin at 2 p.m. in the museum's Education Hall. Pre-registration is not required, but a phone call (833-7934) the Friday preceding the slide presentation you plan to attend will assist with seating arrangements.

Chrysanthemum Society to meet

Vera Sullivan, of the Wayne County Extension Service, will present a program on "Soils, Fertilizers and Insecticides" at the Greater Detroit Chrysanthemum Society's free, open-to-the-public meeting Sunday, March 11, at 2 p.m. in the Community Room of the Tel-Twelve Mall.

Auction Unlimited smiles

Exchanging smiles, KATIE ELSILA, executive director of the Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice, thanks MICHAEL LA PORTE, manager of the St. Clair Inn, for the inn's donation of a weekend for two to Auction Unlimited, the center's fourth annual fund raiser, set for Saturday, March 10, at the Detroit Yacht Club. Tax deductible tickets at $15 if purchased before March 5, $17 thereafter, include hot and cold hors d'oeuvres and a chance to bid on items in the silent auction, beginning at 6:30 p.m., and the live auction following at 8:15 p.m. Auctioneer David Stalker, of Stalker and Boos, will present items ranging from vacation getaways at Sugarloaf and The Homestead to unique services and dinners at award winning restaurants, from the use of Mayor Coleman Young's private box at Tiger Stadium to antiques and art pieces. MasterCard and Visa will be accepted. A cash bar will be available. Tickets and/or further information may be obtained by calling 882-6464.

Honorary chairman of Auction Unlimited '84 is Wayne County Executive William Lucas. Gail Urso and Kathy McGovern co-chair the committee for the fund raiser. Committee members are Trish Buttiglieri, Susan Francis, Sheila Joyce, Bob Karle, Paul Manion, Kathy Masalanka, Michael Mengden, John Mozena, Suzan Panos, Helen Peters and Cynthia Warner.

The Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center is a non-profit organization. Its goals are to promote racial and social justice through educational and civic programs, to identify social issues and to help citizens and community organizations respond to these concerns.

Director Elsila predicts that, thanks to generous contributions from the center's membership, the business community and a host of volunteers, this year's Auction Unlimited will be the best ever.

Learn crafts at workshops

A demonstration of the craft workshops to be presented on Saturdays in March at the Detroit Historical Museum, Woodward at Kirby in Detroit's University/Cultural Center, will be presented this Saturday, March 3, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the museum. It is free, and all ages are welcome.

The series begins the following Saturday, March 10, with an American Quilting-Log Cabin (Hand Piecing) program for ages 14 and up, conducted by Emily Pryor, running from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Fee is $5.

The following Saturday, March 17, you can make your own Conestoga Wagon Bird House and learn methods of attracting nesting birds in a workshop for ages 8 and up running from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Fee is $5. Instructor is Dayton Z. Dailey.

A Porcelain Doll Course is scheduled for three Saturdays, March 17, 24 and 31, covering the total process of creating an antique reproduction baby doll, from preparation of the unfired porcelain to painting the facial features, setting the eyes and adding the cloth body. Fee is $25 for instruction, plus $25 for materials. Classes run from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and are open to ages 14 and up. Instructor is Denise Hunter.

Dayton Z. Dailey returns Saturday, March 24, to conduct a one-day workshop on constructing a Conestoga Wagon Bird Feeder. The program, for ages 8 and up, runs from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Fee is $5.

Advance reservations are required for all craft classes. Registration information may be obtained by calling 833-9721. The Historical Museum is open to the public Wednesday through Sunday, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

An Art-ful Dissection

One wonders, sometimes, if anything new will ever come up in the way of fund raisers and benefits... and then one's faith in the ingenuity of fund-raisers and benefit-planners is restored by something like "The Anatomy of a Print," a medical-minded look at the pleasures and pitfalls of collecting.

This fund raiser for the Detroit Institute of Arts' Department of Graphic Arts is sponsored by the Drawing and Print Club of the museum's Founders Society. It's scheduled for Saturday, March 17, from 2 to 5 p.m. To assure an authentic clinical atmosphere, the entire program will take place in Wayne State University School of Medicine's Scott Hall in the Detroit Medical Center.

Expert "art doctors" have been enlisted to probe the world of prints, among them Stanley Rosenthal, of WSU's Art Department. Rosenthal, with his MASH unit of graduate students, will explain conception, gestation, labor and delivery of a print. Abraham Joel and Valerie Baas, of the DIA's Conservation Department, will then report on the pathology of a print, exploring such esoteric and common diseases as foxing, flaking, mildew and fungus.

The final session, "Consultation on Prints," will be chaired by Grosse Pointe resident Draper Hill, editorial cartoonist for The Detroit News and historian of caricature. His panel of specialists in connoisseurship and diagnosis of fraudulent and suspect works of art on paper includes Marc Rosen, of Sotheby Parke Bernet, New York, Arnold Klein, of Royal Oak's Arnold Klein Gallery, and Sheldon Ross, of Birmingham's Sheldon Ross Gallery.

The entire art-ful anatomy lesson is open to the public for a donation of $25 per person ($20 of which is tax deductible), covering the three sessions and a reception following in the "Recovery Room." Tickets may be obtained through the museum's ticket office, 833-7940. Grosse Pointe's Jim Bridenstine is a member of the committee that devised the lesson plan.

Rose Rings TV Auction Bell

"We're going to have to work even harder this year to ensure a successful auction," says Rose Bell, Grosse Pointe area chairman for the 16th annual Channel 56 Auction which airs April 6 to 14 on WTVS/Detroit, "and we're going to need a lot of help!"

"Right now, I'm looking for more volunteers to help canvass area businesses for donations. These auction representatives will learn valuable business and communications skills and can make good contacts through this volunteer work. Once we have enough volunteers, I'll be coordinating the effort to encourage donations from area merchants."

Merchandise donated to the auction should be brand new and valued at $50 or more. Almost any type of item can be donated, from appliances to sports equipment, toys to jewelry to furniture. To donate or volunteer, give Auction Central a call at 873-7200.

Rose has been a Channel 56 Auction volunteer for four years. In addition to caring for her two children, she makes crafts for sale to local gift shops. She is also active in Ebenezer Baptist Church.

Artrain Is On The Way

Artrain, the nation's only travelling art museum housed in railroad cars, rolls into Detroit next Tuesday, March 6, and will be parked just east of Renaissance Center, on the SEMTA tracks at Atwater Street, through Friday, March 9.

Admission to its galleries, open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., is, as always, free. Gallery Guides will be on hand to provide information and answer questions about the exhibitions opening Artrain's 1984 touring season, "Creative Impulse" and "State of the Art," the first celebrating the diversity of artistic vision developed within the last 100 years and its sources of inspiration, the section a juried show of works by 44 Michigan artists.

Group tours are available by advance reservation, and volunteers are needed. If you're interested in either option, call Artrain, Inc., 871-2910.

Hold Jewish, Catholic Day

"Women, Custodians of Values" is the topic of the ninth annual Jewish/Catholic Day sponsored by the League of Catholic Women and the League of Jewish Women's Organizations. It begins at 12:15 p.m. today, Thursday, March 1, at Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield, with coffee and dessert.

Speakers, at 1 p.m., are Sister Monica Kostielaney, R.S.M., vice-president of Public Affairs for the Michigan Catholic Conference in Lansing and member of the Sisters of Mercy Health Corporation, and Mimi Alperin, chairperson of the National Interreligious Affairs Commission and board member of the American Jewish Committee in New York.

Look for rainbow at Regina March 8

A new Dance Slimnastics series begins

Pointe area residents have the opportunity to shape up for spring in an eight-week series of aerobic exercise classes sponsored by Dance Slimnastics Ltd. and scheduled to begin the week of March 5. Classes with sitter service available will be held at Christ the King Lutheran Church, located on Mack Avenue, Mondays and Wednesdays at 9:30 a.m. and at First Lutheran Church, located on Cadieux Road, on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 9:30 a.m.

Classes without sitter service meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6:45 p.m. at Christ the King Lutheran Church and on Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:45 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, also located on Mack Avenue, on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 p.m. at St. Michael's Episcopal Church on Sunningdale Park, and on Mondays and Wednesdays at 7 p.m. at the JFK Library on Harper Avenue in Harper Woods.

The spring session, "You Put the Beat in My Heart," gives fitness-minded men and women the chance to work out aerobically as many times per week as desired for, under the club's unique Free Class Option, the $35 class fee covers the cost of two one-hour sessions per week plus as many additional classes as a participant cares to attend.

The Dance Slimnastics program offers a series of calisthenic floor-work routines set to upbeat music, designed to give concentrated toning to waist, hips and thighs, followed by a series of simple dance routines which elevate the heart rate to improve overall cardiovascular fitness.

A cooldown and stretch segment completes the hour. Heart rates are closely monitored, and all instructors are trained in aerobic principles and CPR-certified.

Van Til, at her Stratford Place home, Mrs. John Bramby and Mrs. Andries Cole, at the latter's Lothrop Road home, and Mrs. Thomas Wilberding, in the church lounge.

Anyone who wishes to attend these monthly meetings for fellowship and Bible study is invited to contact Mrs. Richard Dykstra, circles chairman, 882-5330, for further information.

Carol weaves more than dreams

CAROL GRAY, of Lakeland Avenue, dyes her own yarns and designs her own fabrics. "I'm obsessed with it," she says of her weaving. She has taken fiber courses at the Center for Creative Studies and many workshops, including twill tapestry, clothing, color and design, through the Michigan Weavers' Guild, and has exhibited at the Birmingham Congregational Church Art Show and various Weavers' Guild shows throughout the metropolitan area. She plans to include rugs and yardage in her display at Weavers' Guild Exhibit and Sale at Somerset Mall, opening Wednesday, March 7, and running through Sunday, March 11. More than 100 weavers will participate, offering everything from art objects to functional accessories, jackets to jewelry, traditional techniques to eccentric fiber designs. Handspun and dyed yarns should prove especially attractive to knitters and other fabric artists. There'll be demonstrations, and visitors may try their hands at the loom or spinning wheel. Guild member artists will be available to answer questions throughout the event, which is admission-free and open to the public during regular mall hours: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday, noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Methodist Women meet

The Women of Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church gather at 12:30 p.m. next Tuesday, March 6, for lunch in the church's Fellowship Hall. Hostess is the Evelyn Griffith Circle, chaired by Mrs. Ester Winfield. Devotions will be given by Mrs. Griffith.

The Reverend Donald Lichtenfeld, from Harper Woods Redeemer United Methodist Church, will speak on "Gems and Minerals of the Bible." All are welcome at the program, for which reservations may be made by calling the church office.

Woods Garden Club to meet

Clara Finerty will welcome members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Garden Club to her Hayes Boulevard home at noon next Tuesday, March 6, for a sandwich luncheon and a spring program replacing the one originally planned by Dona Ireland, who has been taken ill. Mrs. Finerty's co-hostess will be Mrs. Frank Dettmer.

Two Musicales dates in March

Tuesday Musicales of Detroit presents its eighth morning concert of the current season next Tuesday, March 6, at 10:30 a.m. in the Lecture Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts, featuring pianists Ruth Burczyk, Bettejane Crossen, Carole Dolan and Gertrude Schueller, with soprano Juliana Tung-Kan and violinists Celia Marony and Ingeborg Girard, performing works of Brahms and Beethoven. Program chairman is Mary Johnson.

On the last Tuesday of the month, March 27, the Musicales will again present its Duo-Piano Recital. Performing will be Doris Eubank and Fontaine Laing, Janet Young and Virginia Shover, Frances Wilson and Harriet Gerlach and Blodwyn Stevenson and Martha Welton. They will play works by Mozart, Saint-Saens, Rachmaninoff, Riegger, Chaminade and Villa-Lobos. Virginia Shover is chairing the program.

Tuesday Musicales has been making music for nearly a century, maintaining the highest standards and presenting the finest Detroit area woman musicians. The season already has brought the Crusade for Strings, featuring works of Bach, Mozart, Haydn and Schumann performed by Anibel Lucatsky, Betty Peterson and Peruz Zeroumian, violinists, Catherine Goodsell, viola, and Marian Parkins, piano, with Barbara Woolf as program chairman.

The season's sixth concert presented Irene Kinsey, violin, Hanna Lahti, flute, and pianists Barbara MacIntosh, Mary Levack, Shirley Meunch and Martha Welton, with soprano Beverly Stief.

The seventh concert was a Tuesday Musicales tradition: the Parade of American Music. It featured soprano Mary Pardee, the Musicales' current president, contralto Johanna Gilbert, pianists Josephine Brummel, who also chaired the program, and Doris Eubank, Sylvia Starkman, oboe, Ernestine Barnes, French horn, and Catherine McGaffey, accompanist.

Composers included Perichetti, Kalmanoff and Stephen Foster. Special feature was a Trio for Oboe, French Horn and Piano written by Elaine Lebanon, one of the club's own fine composers.

The Musicales' general program chairman this season is Catherine Goodsell.

DSO features Maurice Andre

Maurice Andre, described by Time Magazine as "the reigning prince of trumpet music," debuts with Finnish conductor Paavo Berglund and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at concerts tonight, Thursday, March 1, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, March 3, at 8:30 p.m. in Ford Auditorium, and Friday, March 2, at 8 p.m. in Orchestra Hall.

Two trumpet concertos and two orchestral works are scheduled for performance. Andre will play Haydn's Concerto in E-flat major for Trumpet and Orchestra, last heard at a DSO concert in 1963, and Alessandro Marcello's Concerto in D minor for Trumpet and Orchestra, performed for the first time at a DSO concert.

The Swan of Tuonela, by Sibelius, and Beethoven's Symphony No. 6 in F major (Pastoral) complete the program for which tickets, ranging in price from $9 to $18 for the Ford Auditorium concerts, from $9 to $20 for the Orchestra Hall concert, may be obtained at the Ford Auditorium box office and all CTC outlets.

MasterCard and VISA charge card customers may order tickets by telephone (567-1400). Group rate information is available by calling 446-0909.

Phase I wants program ideas

Ideas for programs, social and athletic events will be welcome at a Phase I Council meeting this Sunday, March 4, at 6 p.m. in the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church library across from Fellowship Hall, where Roseville/East Detroit

D minor for Trumpet and Orchestra, performed for the first time at a DSO concert.

State Representative Nick Ciaramitaro will report on Consumer Legislation at Phase I's regular Sunday evening program meeting at 7:45 p.m.

Phase I is an organization for single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who are invited to both the early meeting and Rep. Ciaramitaro's lecture.

To hold Bridge Group Meeting

All Grosse Pointe Woman's Club members who enjoy an afternoon of cards are invited to join the club's Bridge Group next Wednesday, March 7, at noon in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Alger House — but reminded that reservations are required. Mrs. William Hayduk, bridge chairman, will accept them until noon this Saturday, March 3.

'Wiggle Club' at Youtheatre

Wiggle Club presentations of "The Wind in the Willows," a live musical, at Detroit Youtheatre are scheduled for 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. this Saturday, March 3, in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium.

Tickets at $3 for children and adults ($2 each in groups of 10 or more) may be purchased in advance through the museum's ticket office, 832-2730, and at the door. Like all Wiggle Club shows, the program is designed for families with younger children, ages 3 to 8.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, SUGGESTIONS for CELERY.

Nutrients: Potassium, Vitamins A and C, Calcium, Niacin, Sodium. Calories: One cup — 20. Suggested Seasonings: Thyme, Mint, Mustard Seed, Chives, Vegetable Sal.

GOURMET CELERY

Combine the delicate texture and flavor of celery with the instant crispness of chestnuts. Add a mellow touch of almonds, a bit of a bracing with sherry — and you have a company-elegant meat accompaniment in only 12 minutes.

3 Tbsp. margarine
1/2 cup slivered almonds
6 cups celery
2 cans (4 oz.) water chestnuts, thinly sliced
1/2 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. white pepper
1/8 tsp. paprika
2 Tbsp. sherry

Melt margarine in 9-inch skillet. Add almonds and heat until as brown as desired, stirring constantly. Remove almonds. Add diagonally sliced celery and water chestnuts to margarine remaining in skillet. Season with salt, pepper and paprika. Cook, covered, until crisp-tender, no more than 12 minutes. Add sherry and reserved almonds; stir and serve immediately to 8.

Calories per serving about 112. Cholesterol 0.

HOT CELERY SALAD

Serve this unusual vegetable dish with broiled hamburger patties and sliced tomatoes.

1 bunch celery
1 cup thinly sliced carrots
1 cup sliced onions
2 Tbsp. margarine
1/2 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
3/4 cup chicken broth
1 Tbsp. cornstarch
1 Tbsp. cold water
2 Tbsp. cider vinegar
2 Tbsp. Bacos

Remove leaves from celery; diagonally slice stalks. Slice carrots and onions. Melt margarine in wok or large skillet over moderate heat. Add celery, carrots and onions. Cook and stir until crisp-tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in sugar, salt, mustard, chicken broth and cornstarch which has been dissolved in the water. Cook and stir until thickened, about 3 minutes. Stir in vinegar. Transfer to serving bowl. Garnish with Bacos. Makes 4 servings.

Calories per serving about 139. Cholesterol 0.

BAKED CELERY

4 cups celery
1/3 cup skim milk
1/3 cup evaporated skim milk
2 tsp. soy sauce
2 tsp. cornstarch
1/2 cup herb-seasoned dressing mix
1 Tbsp. margarine
Paprika

Wash and trim off leaves and any blemishes from celery stalks. Slice diagonally into 1-inch pieces. Place in well-oiled casserole with tight-fitting lid. Mix skim and evaporated skim milk with soy sauce and cornstarch until well blended. Pour over celery. Sprinkle with herb-seasoned dressing mix and dot with the margarine. Sprinkle generously with paprika. Bake in preheated 350° oven about 30 minutes, or until celery is crisp-tender; remove cover last 5 to 10 minutes if a crispier crust is desired. Makes 8 servings of 1/2 cup each.

Calories per serving about 34. Cholesterol — a trace.

CELERY WITH SESAME-CHEESE TOPPING

6 cups celery
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1 1/4 cups boiling water
1/2 cup shredded, low-calorie Cheddar cheese
1 Tbsp. sesame seeds

Cut celery ribs into 4-inch by 1/4-inch lengths. In large skillet, dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water. Add celery. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, until celery is crisp-tender, about 10 minutes. Remove celery and arrange on oven-proof platter or shallow casserole. Sprinkle with sesame seeds. Bake in preheated 375° oven until cheese melts, about 5 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Calories per serving about 55. Cholesterol about 4 mgs.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Three cheers for North

Last week's fantastic spring-like weather got me thinking of warmer days and places. For example...

Winging their way to warmer places (even as we speak) are 14 of North High's (and Michigan's) best cheerleaders. They're regional champs, in fact, and on their way to Orlando, Fla., today to compete in the national competition sponsored by the Universal Cheerleading Association. Forty squads from all over the United States will gather at Sea World in Orlando for the event, with the finalists to appear on cable TV's ESPN.

"The girls are very excited," says cheerleading mom Elizabeth Minella. "They've practiced every day. This isn't a vacation for them; they really want to do well."

The 12 squad members — Kelley Brady, Dana Deacon, Chrissy Jara, Kathleen Mazey, Liz Minella, Rosemary Muelem, Tina Parmenter, Sue Roland, Lisa Ryan, Pennee Tsangalias, Karen Turnbull and Linda Valice — and two alternates, have already done well, raising much of the approximately $8,000 needed for the trip themselves. The girls had some timely help in fundraising, from the community, the Rotary and the Optimists; now the rest, including the competition, is up to them.

The girls will return — victorious, we hope — next Tuesday, March 6.

Give me a G, and an O, and an O, and a D, and an L-U-C-K...

Not the fault of your receiver...

Pro Am Sports System (PASS) and the Detroit Tigers last week released an 80-game schedule of this summer's Tiger games to be supplied to cable systems in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana. The cablecasts will be in addition to the 45 regular season games scheduled for telecast on WDIV-TV.

Cable subscribers in Grosse Pointe needn't rush to their phones to sign up for the service, at least not yet. (Continued on Page 2C)

The secret's out: North gymnasts rank with the best

By Peggy O'Connor

Gretchen Madison figures she's got the best kept secret in town.

Her North High girls' gymnastics team is 14-0, has beaten No. 5-ranked Troy, and is well on its way to much-anticipated league and possible regional honors. But because twists, tucks, vaults, parallel bars and floor exercises aren't exactly household words to most sports fans, the gymnasts have conducted their excellent season in relative anonymity.

Madison understands the reason why. "It's hard to follow gymnastics as a spectator sport. There aren't many people who understand it enough to really appreciate it." And since low turnouts for meets are just about all that hasn't gone right for North's gymnastics squad this season, Madison isn't complaining too much.

"It's just that I'd like to see the whole team get the recognition it deserves," she says. For much of the year, North's Karen McCarthy and Jill Boardman were ranked in the top five in the state; only recently slipping out of that group. Girls like freshmen Sue Haskell and Nicole Lehmann, and standouts like Amy Andris and Jill Dornbrock, just to name two, weren't getting as much recognition as they merited. Madison says that's because North has such a strong team overall this season.

"We had three basic goals at the start of the year. One was to go up against Troy and win. We did that. Another goal was to make All-American and it's pretty obvious we'll do that as a team. We also wanted to win the league, and the regionals and go undefeated. So far, that one is coming true — we're still unbeaten," Madison says.

North has already qualified for the regionals as a team, the third straight year the squad has accomplished that. In addition, Cindy Dundon, Karen Willaert, Cindi Tsangalias, Karen McCarthy and Jill Boardman have qualified as individuals.

In last year's regionals, the girls turned in their best finish ever, ending up in fifth place. Madison says that has done wonders for their confidence. As for her own confidence, the coach didn't need the fifth place finish to tell her how good her girls were.

"I had an idea they'd be good, but they've gotten better than even I had hoped. Willaert, Tsangalias and McCarthy — the seniors — have been strong all along and they've sort of pushed the others this season."

EXCEPT FOR those seniors who want to win before they graduate, North hasn't really felt the pressure of winning, Madison says.

One reason why is that North has never gone into the regionals as a high contender, like it will this year. Another is that North hasn't beaten a top-five team like Troy before.

"Troy is the team to beat, especially since the meet is sort of in their home grounds. But then again, we beat Troy, so that sort of makes us front-runners, doesn't it?" Madison jokes. "Realistically, we're still considered an underdog, so we can approach the regionals from the standpoint that we've got nothing to lose. That's what helps take the pressure off."

The league meet is Saturday, March 3, one week before the regionals. Madison isn't planning anything special for the regionals or the league. ("I don't want them to be throwing something on an apparatus for the first time at regionals," she says) but she is planning on giving her charges some much-needed rest.

"We've had 13 meets in such a short period of time. The girls need to rest and get calm and psyched-up for the regionals. And we need time for Jill Boardman (injured arm) to get well."

Tired gymnasts notwithstanding, Madison is pleased overall with their competitive condition. "Well, we scored one of our highest point totals when we had one girl out, so I think we should be strong at the regionals. And against Ann Arbor Pioneer and Troy Athens (Feb. 20) we had our cleanest bar and had only one fall in four scores that counted," she says.

"That's what's important, to pull through in the big ones."

But the North coach isn't forgetting that North will face some difficult competition in the regionals. This year's competition will feature more tough teams and talented individuals that ones in recent memory, Madison says. "We'll be facing a lot of teams that are scoring in the high 120s and low 130s that we haven't gone against yet. It'll be tough."

The top two teams in the regional competition will go on to the state finals March 17. And if North is one of those two, odds are Madison won't have to worry about lack of recognition anymore.

North closes regular season with ice win

The Grosse Pointe North High hockey club ended its regular season on a high note with a hard-fought, last-minute 4-3 win over Flint Central. The Norsemen end the season with 12 wins, seven losses and three ties, and demonstrated that they can play with the top teams in the state.

"Injuries have been a problem during the second half of the season and the lack of depth has clearly cost us several victories down the stretch," explained coach Mike Manzella. "Come the third period, we get tired with the manpower shortage, and simply run out of gas." "The upcoming state play-down will be very tough," said Manzella, "since we've drawn Fraser and possibly Brother Rice in the one-game knockout district round. We hope one or two of our injured starters can return to the lineup." (North played Fraser after press time).

The season finale against Flint Central was a chippy, penalty-plagued contest where the lead sawed until Frank Vento's unassisted blue line slap shot with 23 seconds remaining. Mike Phillips started the Norsemen attack, banging home a short rebound off a rink-long dash by defenseman Joe Cueter. The line of Tirikian, Cappas and Tisdale finally turned on the light after repeated chances, with Cappas sending a perfect pass to Tirikian for the score. The third period scoring belonged to Vento who teamed up with Jon Spitz in the early going and then put away the winner near the buzzer before 700 screaming fans.

The pre-game activities included an introduction of the mothers of the players with each boy presenting his mom with a rose and a kiss. Instead of announcing his normal starting line-up, Coach Manzella introduced his graduating seniors. The Norsemen lose nine seniors to graduating, including the top three scorers; Tirikian, Mark Young and Cappas.

Speedsters John Cueter, Mike Phillips and Mark Bierley, outstanding defensive leaders Bob Nelson and Brad Heavner, and all-star goalie, Rick Lass will also graduate.

Next years club will be a good one as juniors Greg Henchel, Vento and Dave Lester will be back to lead the offensive play. Also back with a year of experience under their belt is the junior defensive core including Jon Spitz, Bob Rogers, Joe Cueter and Don Nicol, as well as back up goaltender, John Corrado. Sophomore starters John Russell and Tisdale were among the assist leaders on this year's club, and with 16 goals between them, will be counted on for offensive fire power next fall, Manzella indicated. "There is some terrific talent now playing in the Grosse Pointe Hockey Association and many will be trying to make this club next year... we'll be competitive," Manzella added.

The News will feature photos and a complete summary of North and South action in the district playoffs, in the March 8 edition.

Winning week for GPA teams

Grosse Pointe Academy sports teams played well last week, with the volleyball teams and the basketball team winning at least once each.

The GPA boys' basketball team finished its season on a positive note by beating Southfield Christian, 26-14, Feb. 9. GPA led the entire contest and finished with a balanced scoring attack as Jim Johnson had eight points, Trent Hankins had six, Erich Schneider chipped in with five and John Ledyard and Peter O'Rourke had four and three points, respectively.

Coach Tom Kelly's squad finished the year with a 2-6 record.

On Feb. 14, the GPA girls' volleyball team played Detroit Country Day. Reba Uthappa led the girls in scoring as the "C" team bowed to Country Day, 15-8, 15-8. But against Country Day's "B" team, the Academy bounced back to take 15-8, 15-1 victories. Maureen Taylor and Danielle DeLuca provided the scoring attack for GPA.

Sports Week

Neither Grosse Pointe Cable TV (servicing the Woods, Park, Farms, City and Harper Woods) or Comcast Cablevision (Shores) has immediate plans to subscribe to the PASS package, according to spokesmen at each company.

G.P. Cable's Wally Scotten said last week the matter was "under discussion," and employees of Comcast said they didn't have any information on whether the company would be offered the games. They didn't know who would make the decision, when such a move might be made or anything else, it seems. They claim only to know what they read in the newspapers.

Oh, well. What could Pointe cable TV subscribers be missing anyway, besides a possible Tiger pennant race and potentially the most exciting summer of baseball in these parts in the last 15 years? But hey, maybe we can find out what's happening in the pennant race by waiting until they flash the boxscores on cable TV's news channel.

Or read about it in the newspaper.

ULS hopes end in OT

The University Liggett School basketball team's quest for another Michigan Independent Athletic conference championship ended Feb. 21 with a 61-60 loss at Bethesda. This marks the first time in four years that Coach Tony Gallaher's Knights have not finished on top.

"Our one-point loss in overtime to Oakland Christian and our one-point loss at Bethesda are all that kept us from finishing on top again," Gallaher said. "I am disappointed in the outcome, but not in how the team played. The boys did everything they could to win tonight and should be very proud of their effort. I know that I am," he commented.

It looked like Bethesda would win in a romp as they opened a 10-point, 25-15 margin after one quarter. The Knights slowed them down in the second quarter and had closed the margin to eight, before six turnovers in the last three minutes of the half allowed Bethesda to increase its lead to 14, 43-29, at the break.

Bethesda opened the second half a bit tentatively and the Knights' aggressive defense pulled them within eight points after three quarters. A tiring Bethesda team fought to hold its lead throughout the fourth quarter and was just able to do so. ULS tied the score with one minute to play but could never push in front. Bethesda was ahead by three when senior guard Frank Crociata hit a baseline jumper to cut it to one with seven seconds to play. The Knights immediately fouled and the free throw was missed, but a wild scramble for the ensuing rebound ran off all but one second on the clock. ULS gained possession, but it was too late to make the final basket they needed for the win.

ULS was led by senior center Brian Hunt who had 25 points and 13 rebounds in a fine effort against the Bethesda center who, at 6-8, was six inches taller than Hunt. Junior forward Harold Colby added 14 points and senior forward Kurt Schneider chipped in 9 rebounds and an inspired defensive effort.

Gallagher's team ends the regular season at home against Southfield Christian on Friday night, March 2.

Icers drop two

Despite a stellar performance by sophomore Rob Wood, the ULS varsity ice hockey team lost two games last week.

Although Wood netted a hat trick for the Knights against Fraser, it was not enough to defeat a smooth skating squad as ULS sustained an 8-4 loss.

Two days later the Knights traveled to Allen Park for a game against league champion Cabrini. Due to illness and injury, the Knights were only able to dress 12 starters. The lack of manpower was evident in the last period when Cabrini netted three goals to down the Knights, 6-2.

ULS has completed the regular season and now looks forward to the regional championship game against the winner of the Detroit Country Day School and Cranbrook game. The Knights will play this game at Southfield Civic Arena on March 3 at 8 p.m. The winner of the March 3 contest will advance to the state championship.

Spikers win

The University Liggett School girls' varsity volleyball team defeated Bethesda at home last week as Kim Wood, Gerri Ocampo and Cindy Paul gave fine serving performances. Barb Roman and Simone Early had 100 percent hitting averages.

Coach Candy Bousquet's Lady Knights are now 12-10 overall. They finished in second place in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference with an 8-4 record.

ULS ends its regular season this week, playing Academy of the Sacred Heart on Thursday, March 1. Districts start on Saturday, March 3.

ULS hosts

The University Liggett Middle School will host its 18th Annual Bantam and Pee Wee Fellowship Cup Hockey Tournament at McCann Rink, 1045 Cook Road, Grosse Pointe Woods, the week of March 5 to 10. House teams from the Grosse Pointe and St. Clair Shores Hockey Associations will compete along with the ULS Middle School teams.

The main purpose of the tournament is to present competitive play in an atmosphere of friendship and sportsmanship.

Four teams from each division (Bantam and Pee Wee) will begin play on Monday, March 5, with each team playing a total of four round-robin games. Points scored in the first three games will decide which teams will compete in the Championship and Consolation games on Saturday, March 10.

The teams involved include: Bantam Division: Grosse Pointe "Blues", Grosse Pointe "Red Wings", St. Clair Shores "Spirits", ULS "Knights", Pee Wee Division: Grosse Pointe "North Stars", Grosse Pointe "U.S.A.", St. Clair Shores "Spartans", ULS "Knights".

The times for the final games on Saturday, March 10 are: Pee Wee Division: consolation at 10 a.m.; championship at 11:30 a.m. Bantam Division: consolation at 1 p.m., championship at 2:30 p.m.

Cagers win

With one game left to play, the University Liggett Middle School varsity basketball team has posted a season mark of 9-6. The most recent victory was a stirring comeback-behind 34-33 win over Inter City Baptist in Allen Park Feb. 20.

Bowl-for-Breath in March

The 1984 Bowl-for-Breath, a bowl-a-thon designed to raise money for the fight against cystic fibrosis, is set for 23 locations in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties in March. The first is this Sunday, March 4, at Regal Lanes in Warren.

Prizes will be awarded at each bowling center based on the number of sponsors — friends, relatives, schoolmates, co-workers — who pledge a certain amount of money for each point scored. After the games are completed, players collect their pledges and turn them in on Sunday, March 25 to receive prizes.

Proceeds from the bowl-a-thon will help fund research to improve medical treatment and ultimately find a cure for this respiratory and digestive disease which affects some 30,000 children and young adults.

Further information on the events may be obtained from the Detroit Metro Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, 552-9616.

He cheers for Adrian

The Adrian College cheerleading squad has taken on a sizeable amount of spirit these days, according to the college. That's mainly due to the addition of six men to the 14-member squad.

One of those new members of the 1984 winter cheerleading squad is Greg Wicking, of the Woods. Wicking is a sophomore majoring in English at Adrian.

Danaher is No. 1

The Bowdoin College varsity women's squash team competed in the annual Howe Cup last weekend, and Grosse Pointe native Carolyn Danaher was at the No. 1 position for the Polar Bears.

Danaher, a senior, had a 4-2 record going into the meet. The Howe Cup is the national team squash championship. Twenty three teams vied for the title.

Girls' volleyball at South: thanks to strong squad, it's the best ever

By Kip Monahan
South High

The South Blue Devil varsity volleyball team is having its best season ever. After demolishing the Roseville Wildcats, 15-4 and 15-8 Feb. 23 at home, South boasted an incredible record of 15-0. Other teams that have failed to South are Mt. Clemens, Anchor Bay, East Detroit, Port Huron and Warren Woods Towers.

"We knew we would be strong right from the start of the season," commented Andrea Roesch, a key member of this year's squad. In their first two matches, the girls dominated Warren Woods Tower and East Detroit, and have ruled the Eastern Michigan League with a league record of 12-0.

South has ben led through the season by seniors Tina Maher, Sue LePlae, Carol Rosasco, Pam Pillsbury, Karen Fellows and Anne Schulte. The juniors on the team are Andrea Roesch, Ann Schwarz, Debbie Friedman, Karen Soullier, Kerry Bruce and Bev Zuech. They have provided remarkable depth for this year's team, and promise for next.

Spiking power has been steadily provided game after game by Rosasco, Rousch and Mayer, an intimidating force. Depth in the backcourt is provided by LePlae and Bruce.

The junior varsity spikers are also having an outstanding season, with an overall record of 14-1. The team's only loss was to Anchor Bay last week in a very close match 15-10, 10-15, 15-11. Recently, however, the team beat Anchor Bay in the Fraser tournament. In their most recent match, the Devils decisively beat the Roseville Wildcats.

The JV spikers have excellent talent, and have worked hard at perfecting their volleyball skills. Key players on the squad are Mary Ann Montagne, Kristy Beers, Kris Rettig, Cindy Bowman, Charlyn Carrier and Kirstie Lahey. Other players crucial to the success of the team are Carrie Rantz, Noel Berry, Claire and Busse and Theresa Shulte.

The spikers have done remarkably well with brilliant backcourt work by Montagne, Schulte and Bowman. Spiking and blocking duties are handled well by Bowman and Rettig.

The freshman volleyball crew is overshadowed by the varsity and JV records, but nonetheless they have a very respectable 10-4 mark. Plagued by inexperience, they are starting to come into their potential and winning tough games.

The frosh play different teams than the varsity and JV teams. They have beaten the likes of Chipewawa Valley, Richmond and L'Anse Creuse North. The team's success is because of players with the skill of much older and seasoned athletes.

The varsity and junior varsity spikers will play their last game against Eastern Michigan League rival L'Anse Creuse North, March 2. The JV team starts at 4 p.m. and the varsity team directly after at about 5 p.m. in the South High gymnasium. If the varsity wins, it will end regular season play with a 17-0 mark.

The JV's possible victory would insure them a 16-1 record.

Next the varsity spikers will advance to districts and regionals. If South does well at these tournaments, it will advance to the state meet.

North High spikers are league champs

By Julie Emerick

There's a new addition to North High's showcase of trophies — it reads: "Bi-County League Championship 1983-84." The trophy was won by North's varsity girls' volleyball team.

North hosted the annual Bi-County Tournament Feb. 25. Each of the Bi-county volleyball teams, (Brablec, Clintondale, North, Lake Shore, Lakeview, L'Anse Creuse and Southlake), were to play two games against each other team.

North's first team to play against was Brablec, to whom they had repeatedly lost to in season play. In the first game an ace spike by Dawn Cartwright awarded North the serve, with which Michelle Witt scored four points. A spike by Witt later regained the serve for North and three more points were scored by Tricia Weber. Brablec's offense took a 13-11 lead. Celeste Sartor gained back the serve for North and Colleen Jaeger served the last four points to win the game, 15-13.

In game two, Brablec was determined to seek revenge. North's team started off with a 2-0 lead by Dawn Cartwright's serving, but lost the serve to Brablec, who racked up seven points. Bad serving by North gave Brablec the chance to expand its lead, but a spike by Paula Harms enabled North to gain some points with the serve. Cartwright's six points provided little help as Brablec won, 15-12.

North then faced Lake Shore. In both games blocking, spiking, and excellent serving were key factors leading to North's victories. In the first game Sartor and Marsden earned six points each serving for a score of 15-11.

In the second game Julie Emerick and Paula Harms each had three points serving and Dawn Cartwright and Donna Marsden each served for four points apiece for a 15-9 win.

The girls played Lakeview next as ace spikes by Sartor and Harms as well, helped earn points for North. Marlene Preisz served four points, Sartor, five, and Marsden, six. The result was a 15-8 victory for the girls. Fantastic teamwork as well as careless mistakes by Lakeview prompted a 15-1 victory for North in the second game.

With a 5-1 record in the tourney, North encountered Clintondale. In the first game, one could hardly believe this was the same team which just won 15-1. North's play was mediocre in a 15-9 loss.

In game two, the girls looked more alive, took command of the ball and dominated with the serving as Harms served 10 consecutive points for 15-12 victory.

In a repeat of the second game against Lakeview, North took a 15-1 victory over Southlake. Tricia Weber served five points and Sartor had six points. Ace spikes were achieved by both Sartor and Harms.

Game two against Southlake was a little more exciting as rallies between the two teams were more intense and prolonged. However,

North was again victorious. Ace spikes and blocks as well as serves by Michelle Witt gained points for North for a final score of 15-8.

In the final game before the play-offs, Brablec had already secured a spot as the first place team with 10 wins. North was scheduled to play L'Anse Creuse next as both teams were tied for second place with eight wins each. A double win for North would secure a play-off spot.

The first game, the girls gave it their best shot with an extended effort but beat themselves as numerous serves were missed at key points. Ace spikes by Witt, Weber, Harms and Marsden helped gain control of the serve. Dawn Cartwright served seven points, but North's slow start at the beginning gave L'Anse Creuse a 16-14 victory.

Knowing they had to win the second game to even be considered for the championship volleyball match, the team played its game. Six points served by Weber gave North a 15-5 victory.

After splitting the games, and tying records with L'Anse Creuse, the teams had to wait and see who won the playoff berth. Points scored against each team were tallied and the team which gave up the least amount of points scored would be in the play-offs. With considerably less points scored against them, North was ranked in second place and qualified for the playoff match.

With the team's parents and friends cheering in the stands, the first game of the final match against Brablec started off with a two-point lead for North from serves by Julie Emerick. On a side-out by North, Brablec was given the chance to serve and used it to gain four points. A spike by Sartor gained back the serve for North and Marsden served four points. A side-out again gave Brablec the serve earning points for a 9-6 lead.

A dink by Sartor returned the serve to North which, on Cartwright's serving, earned a one-point lead. A net serve by her and then by Brablec allowed North to increase its lead to two points with a serve by Harms. Brablec received the chance to serve again but North's defense stopped them from gaining points. Donna Marsden and Marlene Preisz each scored two points to end the game at a 15-9, victory for the Norsemen.

Halfway to a Bi-County championship, game two of the match started off again with a two point lead for North with Cartwright's serves. Brablec earned five points by serving and play by a center-attack spiking offense. It was a spike by Harms that gained back the serve for North. Sartor's serve and an ace spike by Marsden earned the third point.

Marsden served the 14th point with a spike by Sartor. With the fate of the match in Marsden's hands she served beautifully, producing a lengthy rally. Sartor's dink just dropped over the net onto Brablec's side, and won the game and the Bi-County Championship for North.

Tirikian: All-American

By Rick Markel
North High

There can certainly be no higher honor bestowed on a high school athlete than being named as a Parade All-American. When North Senior Marc Tirikian received that award, it meant that he was one of the best nationwide.

Marc achieved a distinction for his soccer excellence which had eluded him last year. "It meant a lot to me," Tirikian says. Admittedly pleased with the selection, Marc was very satisfied and a little surprised. As talented as he is, there was no question that he was deserving of the honor, but Tirikian was injured for most of the season and played in only six games.

In the games that he played, he scored an amazing 21 goals. An all-state athlete for two years in a row, add to his experience (he's been playing soccer since he was five) and leadership, and you have the necessary ingredients for the honors.

College definitely is the next step for Tirikian. Being a highly sought after player, he has sorted through many college brochures. At this time, Tirikian says he's narrowed down his college list to Connecticut, Bowling Green, Navy and Kalamazoo. He also has aspirations for someday playing in professional or World Cup soccer competition.

Soccer is his main sport even though he greatly enjoys playing hockey, but the two sports take up a lot of his time. "It does interfere. Sometimes I have to stay up late at night to finish my homework," Tirikian says.

Credit also goes out to Coach Guido Regelbrugge who provided inspiration, and to his father, Ray Tirikian, "who got me hooked on soccer," Marc says. Summing up his athletic years at North, Marc says, "I love the publicity and all the rah-rah that goes along with high school sports."

What makes Tirikian so good? According to Regelbrugge it's his "uncanny instinct to put the ball in the goal. He's a born goal scorer." Regelbrugge says. In general Marc relies on quickness and a hard strong shot to score goals. And score goals he does, for Tirikian averages over two goals a game for every game played in the last four years. North's record over that span is an unbelievable 58-10-4.

Spikers get revenge

Revenge is sweet, just ask North varsity volleyball Coach Ann Anderson whose team came back and won the Bi-County league tournament. After finishing third in the league this year, North got on a mini hot streak and rode the crest to a title in the league tourney. Anderson said this championship was "more indicative of our season." The team didn't start off the year well due to injuries and a difficult schedule as the season progressed so did the team. By the time the tournament rolled around, the "new" Norsemen were much stronger.

Action in the finals happened to be very exciting as North was in a three-way battle with Brablec and L'Anse Creuse for the top spot. At the end of the round-robin stage, North found itself tied for second with L'Anse Creuse, but it gained entrance into the finals by winning a tiebreaker. In the finals, the Norsemen spikers defeated Brablec, a team which had beaten them twice during the regular season.

Posting an 8-4 record, the trademark of the squad was its consistency and complete team effort. The Norsemen volleyball team was able to stay on top of things despite the hardships of a grueling season.

North has to be on its toes as the competition, featuring South, Regina and Bishop Gallagher, looks tough. The districts, however, will be just one more step for the Norsemen who have turned in one of their best seasons ever.

North JV volleyball team squeaked out a close victory over Lake Shore. The Norsemen had to come back after a weak beginning in the match, to win, 15-10 and 15-12.

The freshmen volleyball squad lost a tight, 17-15, 15-13 decision to Lapeer West, before downing Lapeer East 15-9, 15-10. Julie Cook was the team leader in both contests as the Norsemen ran their record to 13-5.

Gymnasts win

Nothing new about North's gymnastics team, it just keeps on winning. In a tri-meet against Ann Arbor Pioneer and Troy Athens, North was superb, turning in a score of 143.05 compared to Pioneer's 129 and Troy Athens' 123. Ann Arbor Pioneer was ranked fourth in the state. Karen McCarthy and Jill Boardman dominated for North in the competition. McCarthy had two first place finishes and a second in the meet while Boardman took a first, second, and third in various events. Cindy Dudson also had two third place efforts for North. The girls also outpointed Warren Lincoln 128.25 74.65.

Cagers drop two

It was one of those weeks for North's varsity basketball team. First, the Norsemen ran into the very tall River Rouge Panthers and were never able to get on track. The Norsemen just couldn't penetrate the Panthers' big defense, losing 51-39. Lakeview beat North, 56-44.

St. Clare wins district title

St. Clare's boys' varsity basketball team improved its record to 20-0 by winning the district round of C.Y.O. playoff competition last weekend. The Falcons now advance to regional competition this weekend at Bishop Gallagher High School.

In the districts, the Falcons defeated St. Juliana, 32-26, and topped St. Raymond, 49-23. Against St. Juliana, Mike Paul led all scorers with 12 points while Pete Astfalk and Jeff Fikany added another 16. The three also combined for 28 rebounds. Keith McQuerry, Derald Penn and Derek Schafran accounted for the rest of St. Clare's offense.

Against St. Raymond, the Falcons outscored their opponent in every quarter as eight players contributed to the scoring, including Mike Peplowski, Chris Rivers and Jason Whelan.

Eight teams — four each from the east and west side — remain in the C.Y.O. Detroit Metro Area playoffs. After Sunday's action, the two surviving east side teams will meet in the semi-finals at St. Paul on Thursday, March 8. The winner will advance to the championship game at Bishop Borgess High School Sunday, March 11.

Park's Ruth sign-up set

Registration of players for the Grosse Pointe Park Babe Ruth League will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 6 and 7, at Pierce Middle School. Registration will be from 7 to 9 p.m.

All boys between the ages of 13 and 18 are eligible. There is one division for boys 13 to 15, plus a Senior Babe Ruth team for boys 16 to 18.

The league fee is $40 per player, or $60 per family, and must be paid at the time of registration. In addition, boys registering for the first time are required to bring a birth certificate.

Times of tryouts for new players will be announced at the time of registration.

This year's officers are: John Bruce, president; Ronald Lucas, vice-president; Dean Valente, treasurer; Guido Sabella, secretary.

Further information may be obtained on registration nights or by calling 822-5997.

Center Ice in the G.P. Hockey Association

Mite Division

The Black Hawks topped the Bruins, 8-0, in Mite Division play last week. Jimmy Andary scored the only goal of the first period, but the Hawks exploded in the second frame on goals by Ryan Meir, Andary, Brad Merten and David Pulis. Andy Baskel had three goals — his third hat trick of the season — to account for third period scoring. Nate Weid, Nate Cook, Baskel, Merten, Pulis and Mark Waterman drew assists.

KINGS-RANGERS

The Art Van Kings ended regular season play in high gear with a 7-1 victory over the Rangers. After a scoreless first period, the Kings got goals from Agustin Yofre, Mike Ugval and Jamie Brock. Assists were earned by Sebastian Yofre, Pete Morgan, Eric Kisskalt, Matt VanElslander and Ali Barasani.

In the third period, the Rangers broke through with a goal by Adam MacDonald, assisted by Sam Hartson. The Kings countered with goals by Morgan and one each from Brock, Agustin Yofre and Ugval. Assists were earned by Ugval, Danny Bombich, and another each from VanElslander, Yofre and Morgan.

KINGS-SEALS

The Art Van Kings and Seals faced off for the first game of the 1983-84 Mite House division playoffs, and the Kings came out on top with a 2-0 victory. After a scoreless first period that featured wide open action at both ends of the ice, the Kings finally broke through in the second for a goal when Mike Ugval found the net after some fine passing by Eric Kisskalt and Morgan. The Kings scored again when Brock took a pass from VanElslander and flipped the puck behind the Seals' goalie. Bobby Rahaim also picked up an assist on the goal.

The third period belonged to goaltenders Paul Megler of the Kings and Tom Best of the Seals, as both goalies kept their opponents off the scoreboard.

RANGERS-BLUE DRAGONS

MacDonald scored four goals to rout the Blue Dragons, 4-2, in another well-played Mite Division game. Rangers Galen Dossin and Amy Kendall made some excellent passing, enabling both to achieve playmaker awards. The Rangers' Mike Hendrie also drew two assists. Blue Dragons Todd Dunlap and Bill Cass scored on passes from Phil Descamps and T.R. Youngblood. Goaltenders Sam Hartson and Bryan Cass both made some super saves and should be tough to beat in the playoffs.

RANGERS-BRUINS

Bruins' goalie Chuckie Schervish and the Rangers' Hartson played superbly in net to making great saves at both ends of the rink, in this 1-1 tie. The Rangers' MacDonald scored an unassisted goal while Bruin Chris Gibson scored on a nice passing play by David Gracey and Frank Zimmer. Strong defensive play by Nate Bayko kept the Rangers in the game.

Pee Wee Division

ISLANDERS-SABRES
Grosse Pointe's Pee Wee Islanders beat the Sabres, 2-1, in the last 31 seconds of a very hard-played game. The winning goal came from Shannon Nowiecki on a pass from Peter McDermott.

Frank Lucido scored the earlier Islander goal on a pass from Nowiecki. Eddie Barbieri scored the Sabres' lone goal, unassisted, in the middle of the third period. Both Chris Stebbins for the Islanders, and Sean Trainor for the Sabres performed outstanding in goal.

ISLANDERS-USA

The state tournament-bound Pee Wee Islanders scored three times in each period to overwhelm the U.S.A. Olympians, 9-2. Getting goals for the Islanders were John Olmsted, Lucido and Nowiecki with two each, while Gabe Benvenuto, Andy Vyletel and Brendan Rohan each had one. Getting assists for the Islanders were Alie Risner four, Peter Dermott, three, Nowiecki three, Vyletel, two and Bill Wilson, Olmstead and Rohan with one each. Stebbins did an outstanding job in goal for the Islanders.

NORTH STARS-ISLANDERS

The North Stars are a team unit, but Stars' goalie Jeff "Hollywood" Blum was a real magician and a big factor in his team's 2-1 victory over the Islanders. Blum stopped all but one of 29 shots on goal from a hot Islanders team.

Aaron Grose started the scoring with an assist from Brad Hea and Jack McSorley, who played in his first game since late December due to a non-hockey related injury. The third period was only 36 seconds old when Jimmy Alderton added to the Stars' lead, again with assists from Hea and McSorley. Nowiecki finally beat "Hollywood" with help from Rohan and Wilson.

USA-SABRES

The USA Olympians returned to their winning ways by skating to a 9-4 victory over the Sabres. Renato Roxas opened the scoring for the Olympians just one minute into the game as he buried a pass from Jim Pappas and Jonathan Davis behind the Sabre netminder. Mike Torrice tied the score by flipping a loose puck into the USA goal from a scramble in front of the net.

USA then scored six unanswered goals as Pappas notched the go-ahead goal with an assist from linemate Jonathan Davis to put the Olympians back into the lead. Blake Crawford then scored an unassisted goal, the first of his three goals of the game and 15 seconds later. Roxas scored his second goal of the game on the first of Raffael Elledge's three assists of the evening. Two minutes later Elledge set up defenseman John McGlone, who blasted a slapshot from the blue line which caught the Sabre's goalie completely by surprise.

The Sabres attempted to get back into the game, as Barbieri and Eric Shellum scored back-to-back goals in the third period, but Andy West and Crawford countered with two goals of their own, the last coming from Elledge. Paul Bogos scored on a breakaway opportunity for the Sabres' final tally.

USA-SABRES

In a rematch between the USA Olympians and the Sabres, USA took a 5-3 win.

After holding the USA team to only one shot on the net during the first period, the Sabres claimed an early lead when Bogos slammed home Mike Torrice's lead pass to give the Sabres a 1-0 lead at the end of the first period. Midway through the second period, Crawford tied the score with a high lofting shot that bounced off of a Sabre defenseman and into the net, eluding Trainer, the Sabres' goalie.

Ed Barbieri put the Sabres into the lead one minute into the third period with an unassisted goal from just outside of the face-off circle that Jim Bunn lost in the maze of players. The Olympians quickly countered with a goal of their own as a sharp passing play from Elledge and Jason Erbecker set up Davis, who wasted no time beating the Sabres netminder to tie the score. Less than one minute later Crawford put the Olympians ahead with a long backhander after taking Roxas' pass for his second goal of the game and he completed his second hat trick in a row 30 seconds later with a power play goal from Davis.

The Sabres managed to pull within one goal with Barbieri's second goal of the game on which Cecil Leopard assisted, but Davis iced the game for the USA team scoring an unassisted goal to give the Olympians a 5-3 victory, and second place in the Pee Wee Division.

Squirt A

Last week, the Grosse Pointe

Squirt A Bandits spent time preparing for the state championship games set for the Redford Arena (on Beech Daly Road, south of the Jeffries Freeway) this week.

As a warm-up to the tournament, the Bandits played the Fraser Art Van Squirt AA team, and came away with a 3-0 win. Bob Cass opened the scoring when he converted a beautiful pass play from Patrick O'Brien and David Auld. Mike Kuna notched the Bandits' second goal on a set-up pass from Brad Warezak and Todd Frederickson. Andrew VanDeweghe finished the scoring when he took a nice pass from Frederickson and slammed it home.

The backchecking of forwards Kevin Watson, Mark Sliwinski and Stefan Tietge, plus the excellent play of the defensive unit of Brian Crane, Auld, Brian Michalik and Scott Berger, kept the Fraser team in check and off the scoreboard. Dustin Kolodge and Jason Hall shared the goaltending duties and made several key saves to insure the shut-out.

The state tournament will feature teams from Port Huron, Birmingham, Sault Ste. Marie, Livingston, Westland, Allen Park, Lincoln Park and Wayne. The Bandits' first game was Wednesday night (after press time) against Birmingham. The Bandits will then play two games on Saturday, March 3, taking on Port Huron at 11 a.m. and facing Sault St. Marie at 6 p.m. The semi-finals and finals are set for Sunday, March 4.
