Tea and me

Having a nose for news I'd heard that "Mr. T" was going to be in the Pointe last week, making a rare appearance at Jacobson's in the Village.

Being an ex-muscular kind of guy myself, I thought I'd check out the situation and see if I couldn't scare up a story. I walked into Jake's looking for the original "Mr. Bicep", complete with 24 pounds of gold chains and a scowl, but he was nowhere to be found.

Instead, I discovered a friendly, funny and very approachable gentleman from Great Britain who came to the U.S. to teach Americans how to boil water.

His name is Sam Twining, O.B.E., ex-Royal Marine and a ninth generation Twining whose family has been synonymous with tea for nearly 300 years. You might say he's the original "Mr. Tea."

Standing before a display table loaded with canisters of tea, Sam energetically poured sample cups for dozens of visitors who had hundreds of questions about tea.

Although he had spent the morning in Birmingham trying to bring relief to the "tortured, twisted palates of the city's coffee drinkers," he still had time to pose for photos and autograph canisters of tea, (the most popular seller was Blackcurrant).

Among the most asked questions was: Do you have a favorite tea? "Oh my no," replied Sam. "It's like asking if one has a favorite wine. It all depends on the time of day, who you're with, what the occasion is. I will often drink up to nine cups of tea a day."

"In a typical day, I might drink English breakfast tea to perk myself up in the morning. Then for lunch, a nice darjeeling. Later, for afternoon tea, a nice Earl Gray. If it's drizzly and beastly outside a fragrant jasmine."

"If one has had an absolutely filthy day, a vintage darjeeling to lift the spirits. After dinner with a particularly cloying, sweet dessert, an Earl Gray. Earl Gray is especially good just before bedtime because it's extremely low in caffeine. We at Twinings do believe tea to be the most reasonable drink in the world after water. You can get 240 cups from a pound of tea. Try that with coffee."

A second most asked question is how to make a good pot of tea.

"Start with absolutely cold water from the tap," he said. "That assures that it's full of oxygen. Next, make sure the pot is very clean, and not with detergents. Use baking soda and don't use an aluminum pot."

"Third, don't boil the water too long," added Twining. "Just bring it to a boil then remove the pot. If it boils too long you'll lose the oxygen and end up with a flat, dead pot of tea. Americans boil it too long."

Steeping is important too. Sam recommends three minutes for small leaf, five minutes for medium and seven minutes for large leaf teas.

"And remember: it's M.I.F. (milk in first), when actually pouring," added Sam.

A third question is: What's that on your tie?

"It's the Twining family crest, actually," said Sam, flipping out the Navy blue tie with a single white emblem. "It's two lions doing something or other."

(For those who might be interested, the Greenwood family crest adorns a red ink colored tie showing two stick figures wearing barrels rampant on a field of credit cards).

I couldn't afford a canister, (see the Greenwood family crest), and instead settled for an autographed tea bag. The last I saw of Sam Twining, he was fielding a question from a woman.

Brummel is California-bound

By Susan McDonald

Supt. of Schools Kenneth Brummel announced Tuesday he will leave the Grosse Pointe system July 1 to take over the large, diverse Orange Unified School District of California.

Brummel described his new job in a telephone interview as a "fine professional opportunity." The school district covers several California cities including Anaheim, Santa Ana, Orange and Yorba Linda. Its 40 schools and 1,500 staff members serve about 30,000 students from diverse social and economic backgrounds, Brummel said.

Brummel's resignation "couldn't come at a worse time for us," local school board president Joan Hanpeter acknowledged. The board last November voted to close its first school after a steady, 10-year decline in enrollment and is now embroiled in a recall drive to remove members who favored school closings.

Mrs. Hanpeter said a nationwide search for Brummel's replacement will begin immediately. "We expect to take as much time as necessary to find the most qualified person for the job. We ask the community to support and assist us in the endeavor," she said.

"The school board is very disappointed he has chosen to leave," according to Mrs. Hanpeter. "Dr. Brummel has achieved many significant goals during his tenure. And his door has always been open to the public," she added.

Brummel, 49, came to Grosse Pointe schools in 1981 from Westport Conn. During his three-year tenure he initiated studies that led to new elementary and middle school curricula and revamped high school graduation requirements.

His most controversial program, by far, was a year-long study of the district's greater than 40 percent decline in enrollment and three subsequent proposals to close schools and consolidate programs.

Brummel was the target of attack by parents who opposed his plan to close elementary schools. At one school board meeting, which was covered by television crews from three local stations, parents held placards in front of cameras calling for his resignation.

But Brummel says it was the opportunity to advance his career, not disillusionment with the Grosse Pointe position that swayed his decision this week.

"My work in Grosse Pointe has been most satisfying," he said. "I think the district has made major strides in developing new programs and improving its services."

The school board "has recognized the difficulties of declining enrollment and is resolving those difficulties," he added.

Brummel thanked the school board staff and students for the support he's received. "The board has been open with this community during my tenure," he added.

Brummel is a Holland, Mich., native who attended Stanford University, Harvard and Columbia University, where he received his Ph.D. He was superintendent of schools in Westport, Conn. for seven years. He is married and the father of three.

Brummel is the third consecutive Grosse Pointe superintendent to resign from the more than $50,000 a year post before he spent five years on the job. His predecessors were William Coats and James Adams.

Kenneth Brummel, superintendent of schools for three years, announced Tuesday he has accepted the top job at the Orange Unified School District in California. He plans to leave on July 1.

Bill and Dorothy Ludwig carry a load of meals down the hall of Brownell to their car.

Help for homebound

Shirley Johnston is a Farms retiree who has been self-reliant most of her life. But she learned this winter just how quickly that can change.

Her troubles began with a quick fall on an icy sidewalk that shattered her hip. Weeks later her husband died. She was left alone, in pain and barely mobile.

She found help just blocks away, in a wing of Brownell Middle School where a list of volunteers topping 100 names works every business day to provide assistance to people like Mrs. Johnston and dozens of others.

The workers, organized by Services for Older Citizens (SOC), distribute 500 meals a week to homebound residents of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods.

Lynda Grippi, director of the Meals at Home program, is the only paid worker in the group. Funds for the hot and cold dinners come through the Detroit Department of Health and a grant from the Grosse Pointe Rotary Foundation for those who are not able to pay. Those who are able are charged $21.50 a week for 10 meals delivered at home.

Most of the volunteers are senior citizens who come from all over Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods. Some work every week, some once a month.

Anyone interested in volunteering or having "Meals at Home" stop at their house, should call the program, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., at 882-4699.

Newcomers share views of their new town

By Tom Greenwood

Grosse Pointe, it's time to meet the Bartel, Campbell, McShea, Rushfeldt, Shapiro and Collier families. They're all members of the Newcomers Club, having moved to the Pointe within the last two years.

While Americans seem to live in a transient society, many Grosse Pointe families never leave the community. And many others who do leave manage to return.

What have newcomers to the community heard about Grosse Pointe? What do they like and dislike? Read on and learn.

Manfred and Loretta Bartel moved to Grosse Pointe in October, 1982. They're the parents of three children and Mr. Bartel is situated with the German consulate in Detroit.

The last place they lived was in the city of Antananarivo, Madagascar, that nation's capital. "It means the 'Town of 1,000 hands,'" said Loretta Bartel, in a telephone interview. "The city supposedly was founded by 500 men, hence the 1,000 hands."

The Bartels were sent to the U.S. by their government because their daughter needed medical attention that wasn't available on Madagascar. The first U.S. opening was in Detroit.

"Our predecessor here allowed us to move into their home," said Mrs. Bartel, who's originally from Zagreb, Yugoslavia. "We were lucky we didn't have to lose any time looking around."

Mr. Bartel is from Bavaria. "What little we heard about Grosse Pointe, we heard from our predecessor. He told us it was a nice area with friendly people, close by schools and that Children's Hospital would be good for my daughter. It was all true."

Mrs. Bartel admits things were difficult when the family first moved here since she didn't speak any English.

"My husband would leave for the

Farms wrestles with retail only Hill ordinance

By Tom Greenwood

Members of the Farms council, Hill property owners and Hill retail merchants got into a head-butting contest Monday evening over a proposed zoning ordinance amendment that would limit future first floor businesses on the Hill to retail only.

Business offering services such as realtors, doctors, lawyers or engineering firms would be relegated to either the back 50 percent of a first floor establishment or the second floor of a Hill building.

The zoning ordinance would apply only to change of use and not change of occupancy of a building. A service business selling out to a similar business would not be affected by the ordinance.

Existing service business on the Hill would also be "grandfathered" in under the ordinance. The proposed ordinance, which was tabled for further study, was similar to one passed by Grosse Pointe City covering the Village business district three years ago.

Leading the charge against the proposed amendment was a group of realtors who made a strong appearance before the council.

First to speak was Peter Johnstone, of Johnstone Real Estate. Johnstone said he was against the amendment because it would have a "tremendous effect on the marketability of property on the Hill" and would "restrict the projected use of Hill property."

Johnstone also said that many Hill businesses do not have basements, forcing them to use the back 50 percent of their first floor establishments for bathrooms, heating and cooling units and storage. Johnstone also said many of the Hill businesses that would be relegated to the second floor would have to force their customers to walk through unrelated first floor retail establishments to reach their destinations.

City Manager Andrew Bremer pointed out that businesses that are forced to use the rear portions of their business as storage would not have that area considered as "usable space" under existing city ordinances.

Thomas Youngblood, a realtor located in the Woods, said he was against the ordinance because it would take opportunities away from present and future property owners on the Hill. Youngblood said he thought improvements on the Hill such as the proposed parking deck and office building destined for Kercheval and the acquisition of additional parking spaces via a land swap between the Farms and the Board of Education would do more to stimulate the growth of retail establishments on the Hill.

Robert Edgar, of R.G. Edgar Real Estate and a property owner on the Hill, pointed out to the council that the Village has traditionally been about 95 percent retail and the Hill has always been primarily professional buildings.

Edgar, who also is publisher of the Grosse Pointe News, said that some buildings on the Hill have been empty for up to two years and that it's often difficult to get retail businesses to move into the structures.

"Some businesses on the Hill rent for up to $3,000 a month," said Edgar. "If this ordinance passed and I was forced to wait, say, six months to get in a retail business when I could put in a service business right away, that would result in a loss of $18,000. To me, that's a lot of money. If this passes, you're making anyone who's not in retail a second class citizen by forcing them into the back 50 percent of a first floor building or to the second floor."

Closing foe to seek seat on board

By Susan McDonald

William Brownscombe, the 37-year-old dentist who helped organize hundreds of local parents in opposition to elementary school closings, announced this week he will seek a seat on the school board in the June election.

"I'm not strictly a single issue candidate, but I think the reorganization means enough to the community that I'm going to dwell on that," Brownscombe said Monday, after he filed his petitions of candidacy.

Brownscombe was co-chairman with his wife of the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools, the organization that demonstrated, picketed and petitioned the school board in an attempt to stop the board's plans to close Barnes Elementary School and transfer sixth graders to middle school. The reorganization plan, approved by the board in November, is designed to cut costs in the face of a greater than 40 percent decline in enrollment.

Brownscombe has also been active as a block worker in the effort to recall three school board members who voted in favor of that plan. That group is still in the process of collecting signatures to force the trio out of office.

Brownscombe and Roger Mourad, an incumbent board member who voted against reorganization, are the only candidates who have announced plans to run in June. Seats currently held by Mourad and Joan Hanpeter, a reorganization supporter, are up for election June 11. Mrs. Hanpeter has not said if she will run again. Sixteen other potential candidates have taken out nominating petitions, but only Brownscombe has filed. Deadline is April 9.

Brownscombe said he will support Mourad's bid for re-election. And Brownscombe, in turn, said he expects support from the recall group. The board's decision to close Barnes and transfer sixth graders can be reversed if enough anti-closing candidates win school board seats, Brownscombe said.

The reorganization plan approved by the board undermines

Defer Press puts students in print

By Kathy Roberts

Six-year-old Jaimie Cornwith is just beginning to read and write, but she has already published two books, with more to come. It might be tempting to characterize Jaimie as precocious or exceptional, but at Defer School these days, she is not the exception, but the rule.

Jaimie and her schoolmates are all participants in the Defer Press, a new program designed to increase pupils' creative writing ability by helping them write and illustrate their own "hardcover" books. Modeled after a program originated by Jacque Wuertenberg, a consultant in children's literature at Webster College in St. Louis, the Press began operation in the spring of 1983. Its guiding principles are to help children become good writers by giving them many opportunities to write and by valuing their writing.

Under the direction of Mary Walter, a Grosse Pointe Park resident who developed a similar writing center in St. Louis, 16 parent volunteers regularly meet with individual students to work on writing projects.

Younger children who are unable to read or write dictate their stories to a volunteer. This enables them to become familiar with the process of creating stories at an early age and allows them to make use of their larger speaking vocabularies rather than confining them to only those words they can spell. No advice or criticism about content is given. Although the volunteer may ask the child, "What happens next?" she will not make suggestions or try to influence the direction of the story.

Children who have difficulty coming up with story ideas are encouraged with questions about what they know or like — "what do you like to do best of all?" "do you play a sport?" "who is your best friend?" If this fails to elicit ideas, they are shown pictures to stimulate their imaginations. The pictures cover a wide variety of subjects and situations, ranging from reproductions of famous art works to illustrations from The New Yorker magazine.

By the end of four sessions, most students have no trouble getting started, according to Mrs. Walter.

To gain the trust and increase the confidence of the student, the volunteer records the story as faithfully as possible, including repetitions and mispronounced words. As the story progresses, the volunteer reads it back to the child a number of times, with an eye toward keeping the student focused on the story's development. Changes are made only if the child wishes them, and most children in the lower grades make very few changes. When the student declares the story finished, however abruptly, the volunteer reads it back one more time. If the child is satisfied, the story is considered complete.

The only editorial comment made by the volunteer is complimentary.

"After all, writing fiction is a risk for anyone," Mrs. Walter points out. "What we're trying to do is reduce that risk for our students with as much positive reinforcement as possible."

Younger students, who have not yet explored poetry extensively, write all their stories in prose. However, there are instances in which the child's story is clearly more poetry than prose. In these cases, the story is typed in poetic form.

In the upper grades, students write their stories independently. Editing is introduced at this level, and students work on expanding word use, eliminating repetition, and strengthening plot development. They are encouraged to improve their stories through revision, using suggestions from both teachers and volunteers.

Older students conceive and write their poems according to the poetic conventions they have been taught in the classroom. Here's an example written by fifth grader, Sarah Bardeen:

*A Deserted Palace . . .
No music comes from within,
The palace must be deserted.
Ah, no more, a ghastly roar,
From past or present times.
Roar! Were we wrong?
There's something here,
I know it now.
'Tis in the shadows.
A dragon—fierce—I'll wager.*

Fund-raiser set by 14th GOP

Republicans in the 14th Congressional District will host an auction at the Detroit Yacht Club on Friday, April 13, to raise funds to help elect Republicans this fall, according to Jack Boland.

Tickets, at $25 per person, include dinner and entertainment. For tickets mail your name, address and check to the 14th District Republican Committee, P.O. Box 36721, Grosse Pointe, 48236, or call Boland at 886-8138. Auction co-chairpersons are Prudence Cole and Tommy Tompkins.

*Look! His head's so high,
And his eyes shine of silver,
A fine line of teeth, I'm sure.
Scales that shine in the dark,
Such points that stand up.
I see his personality now,
Humph, it's a she.*

*See how she roams the land,
What a fine strut of pride!
She's nearing the palace now,
Wait! Where did she go?*

*No music comes from within,
But the palace isn't deserted.
Yet, ah, no more, a ghastly roar,
From past or present times.*

When stories are complete, they are divided into pages, typed, and sewn by hand into stiffened cloth covers or laminated covers designed by the students. All typing, binding, and laminating is done by Mrs. Walter and her staff of volunteers. The permanence given to the stories by "publishing" them in this way is designed to show the students how much their work is valued.

Sometimes a class as a whole produces a book, with each student writing and illustrating a page. With the increase in student writing volume, the Defer Press has taken on two additional responsibilities. It serves as a clearing house for writing contests and magazine submissions and each month Mrs. Walter circulates information on publishing opportunities for students. So far that aspect of the program has resulted in one first-place winner and three honorable mentions for Defer students from "Cricket," a national children's magazine.

The Press has also launched the school's first literary magazine to showcase the best stories and poems. Titled "The First Edition," the magazine is published three times a year and is sold in the school at nominal cost, making it self-supporting.

Principal Jay Flowers says there is no doubt that the Defer Press has increased student interest in writing and resulted in a dramatic increase in writing scores. More important, however, "the program has united parents, teachers, and students in a positive feeling of academic excellence within the building," Flowers says. Second-grade teacher Shirley Kirk is equally enthusiastic.

"The Defer Press is a wonderful vehicle for sharing creative writing with schoolmates, former teachers, family, proud grandparents. 'To be published' is a valuable learning experience. It's the warm fuzzy that comes from doing something well," Ms. Kirk said.

Subdivisions provide tax-bonus for cities

By Mike Andrzejczyk

A funny thing happened when the Seyburn, Shelden and Henry Ford II estates were sub-divided; they became more valuable as a lot of little pieces than they were as a single lot.

And as long as someone keeps paying the taxes, cities, school and other property tax-dependent agencies will receive more revenues from the sub-divided properties — even if they remain undeveloped.

A comparison of the assessments of the estates and the subdivisions they spawned shows the vacant subdivision property is worth as much if not more than the undivided estates. Assessments are equal to roughly half the market value of property.

Since 1981, three large estates in the Farms and City have been split into 58 separate lots. The Park planning commission at its April meeting will review drawings for sub-dividing the J.B. Ford property into 16 lots by Cox and Baker.

In 1981, the last year the Seyburn estate in Grosse Pointe City was assessed at a single unit, the home and property were valued at $411,727. The next year, when the Sycamores turned the property into an 18-lot subdivision, the vacant land was valued at $413,930. Last year, with two homes partially completed, city assessors tagged the subdivision with a $537,030 assessment.

The lots are assessed by determining the market value of similar lots in surrounding areas. City Assessor Dennis Foran said. Each of the undeveloped lots averages a $20,000 assessment, except for the two lake lots, whose assessments are $46,000 and $48,000 in 1983, according to tax records.

The records show a three-quarters completed home at Sycamores assessed at $64,560.

The Chapin home, last owned by Henry Ford II, and the surrounding property was assessed at $605,430 in 1983, according to Farms tax records. Ford, however, is appealing that figure, to the Michigan Tax Tribunal, claiming the home was uninhabitable during that period. Farms officials said.

Windemere Place, born when Ford razed the circa-1920 home and proposed an 18-lot cluster home development, is assessed at $895,430, according to the Farms' 1984 tax records. A $10,000 assessment is included for one partially completed home, records show.

The assessed values of the lots range from $44,700 to $58,400, records show. The sales prices for the developments run from $350,000 to $425,000.

Before the Shelden estate in the Farms fell to the 22-lot Briarwood Place subdivision, the home and property was assessed at $547,470, according to the 1983 tax records. The property in the subdivision now is assessed at $685,020, according to 1984 records.

Two homes in the subdivision received partial assessments of $63,980 and $45,420, bringing the total assessment to $794,400. Prices of the lots average about $29,000, with a low of $26,000 and a high of $60,000. Prices on the homes range from $280,000 to $300,000.

Correction

The annual school board election is scheduled for June 11, not June 9, as reported in last week's editorial page.

In the "Image maker takes the crown" story March 22 it was reported that Darlene Doetsch, the newly crowned Mrs. Michigan 1984, "hosted" an art auction at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House on behalf of the Grosse Pointe Jaycees when in fact she made an appearance.

Spring concert is Sunday

You know it's spring when members of the Grosse Pointe Community Chorus start tuning up their voices for their annual community sing. This year, the 32nd annual concert will begin at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 8, at Parcels Middle School, Mack at Vernier Road. Making preparations above (left to right) are director Richard Johns, pianist Fran Wilson, and soloist Carl Angellilli, who will be joined on stage by contralto Johanna Gilbert and violinist David Reed. The chorus sings for the joy of singing and membership is open to the public without audition. For information call 886-0710. Concert tickets will be sold at the door at $2, adults, 75 cents, students.

Glorious music at Memorial

Glorious music by Mendelssohn and Beethoven will be performed Sunday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. by the Festival Choir and Orchestra of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

Conducted by William De Turk, director of music at the church, the choir of 80 singers and orchestra of 30 instrumentalists will present three masterpieces: Mendelssohn's "Christus," a short oratorio on the birth and passion of Christ; Beethoven's "Hallelujah," the finale from the oratorio "Christ on the Mount of Olives;" Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise," a symphony-cantata from the Second Symphony.

The music offers a great variety in musical composition. There are solos, duets, trios, men's chorus, women's chorus, full chorus accompanied by the use of strings, woodwinds and employing the power of a large brass section and timpani. There are familiar passages which have become standard choral repertoire, including "I Waited for the Lord," "Behold, a Star from Jacob Shining" and choral-orchestral setting of "Now Thank We All Our God."

Tickets are $5 for adults, senior citizens $3, students $1 and can be purchased in the church office. For tickets and further information call 882-5330.

Anton's robbed

Anton's Restaurant, 20930 Mack in the Woods, was robbed sometime between Sunday night and Monday morning when about $2,000 in cash was taken from a floor safe in the restaurant office.

The robbery was discovered about 10 a.m. Monday when an employe opened the safe and found it empty, reports said. The woman told police she came to work at about 8:30 that morning and found the Mack door unlocked. Nothing appeared to be disturbed, reports said.

Investigators found the door to the office had been forced open. Pry marks were found around the door and wood chips were laying on the floor of the office, reports said. Except for the office safe, no other part of the restaurant appeared searched or disturbed, according to reports.

Proprietor William Anton, contacted by police, said he put envelopes containing cash and checks into the safe Sunday night to be part of the Monday bank deposit. One of the envelopes contained $1,663 in cash, a second contained $355 in cash and $660 in checks while a third contained $14 in cash and an unknown number of payroll checks, according to reports.

That musical instrument which produces the greatest volume of sound for its size is the accordion.

Second Chance helps out

Second Chance Heart Line Unit, Inc., a St. John Hospital organization for cardiac bypass surgery patients, recently donated $1,400 toward the purchase of a Tagarno Projector to be used in the hospital's new cardiac catheterization laboratory currently under construction.

A Tagarno Projector, valued at $6,400, is essential to diagnosis.

Russ Santoro is president of Second Chance. The club, organized in 1973 by Philip Feringa, M.D., cardiac surgeon at the hospital, includes people who donate their time allaying the fears of pre- and post-operative cardiac patients at St. John. They visit patients and answer their non-medical questions.

Second Chance meets bi-monthly in the hospital's Peter A. Whyte Memorial Auditorium. It raises funds through dances, picnics and award banquets.

Proceeds are used toward the purchase of equipment for educational training or other related needs for the hospital's Cardiac Care Unit and the Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory.

Membership is open to any cardiovascular patient and his or her spouse. For more information regarding the club, call 343-3300.

St. Paul parish celebrates its 150th year

As part of its 150th anniversary celebration, St. Paul Catholic Church will host a "Heritage Day" Sunday April 8, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the present St. Paul school and the Montessori school at the Grosse Pointe Academy.

The Montessori school building was the original parish school, opening in 1887 under the direction of the Religious of the Sacred Heart. Classes were transferred to the new parish school in 1927 when the Adrian Dominican Sisters came to staff grades one to 10.

In 1936, two portable classrooms were added to accommodate students in grades 11 and 12. A permanent school addition was completed in 1951 and a final addition in 1963.

Beth Burns, St. Paul school principal, is chairman of "Heritage Day." Faculty and students, having researched the history of the parish and school, are sponsoring an historic open house.

The Education Commission, under the direction of Kathleen Conway, Marcia Bonahoom and Berdean Smith, have collected old pictures and memorabilia for an historic display. Jack Wachter of the Athletic Board has put together a display of trophies and a sports history at the school. Refreshments will be served.

The Wayne State Choral Union and Orchestra will perform at 3:30 p.m. at the church under conductor Dennis J. Tini. The jubilee concert will feature the music of Johann Sebastian Bach. Dr. David Wagner, organist at the church, will also perform.

More than 160 members of the Wayne State music department will participate either as members of the chorale union or as members of the orchestra. Featured as soloists for Bach's "Missa 1733" from his Mass in B minor will be soprano Lynn Finley, mezzo-soprano Robyn Canner, alto Susan Scott, tenor Garrett Coursen and bass Michael Begian.

Above is the rectory built by The Rev. Van Antwerp between 1882 and 1885 at St. Paul church. The building was razed in the 1920s to make way for the present rectory, the church said.

Tickets for the concert are $5, $3 for students and senior citizens. To purchase tickets in advance, call the church at 885-8855. All events are open to the public. Former parishioners, students and faculty are asked to attend this, the first of a series of events to mark the 150th anniversary of the founding of St. Paul parish.

The present church building is the third to be built on the banks of Lake St. Clair and bear the name St. Paul Church. It was built in 1899.

Future events to mark the anniversary are a May 28, 9:30 a.m. mass in St. Paul Cemetery and the dedication of the grave marker of The Rev. John Elsen, builder of the present church.

A Mass of Thanksgiving will be held at 1 p.m., June 24, co-celebrated by archbishop Edmund Szoka and priests associates with St. Paul parish. A reception will follow.

Where to put the blame

Action appears to be moving as predicted with respect to the rollback in the state income tax rate. Both political parties now are doing their best to extract the maximum amount of political benefit from the issue. Such political maneuvering is understandable with another election approaching in November, even though it is not necessarily in the best interests of the state.

THE SCENARIO NOW seems to be developing this way: The Democratic House has passed its own rollback bill, in line with the governor's proposal for a rollback from the present 6.1 percent to 5.5 percent effective next Oct. 1, the start of the 1985 fiscal year. Now the House and the Republican Senate will seek a compromise based on the House bill and the Senate-approved measure that rolls back the rate to 5.5 percent July 1, 1984, and to the old rate of 4.6 percent on July 1, 1985.

Gov. James Blanchard was quick to jump all over the Republican Senate, saying it had "flunked its first test of budget discipline" and had "adopted an irresponsible plan." Well, maybe so, but look who is talking. The governor himself opened the rollback floodgates by proposing his own version of a "responsible" rollback.

He does have one point. The Republican proposal would trim funds out of the current fiscal year because it would make the rollback effective July 1. That would mean reductions in the 1984 state budget and cutbacks in state spending on fairly short notice. But the governor's own plan proposes a rollback to the same 5.5 percent rate on Oct. 1.

The Senate Republican plan would also include a second rollback to 4.6 percent July 1, 1985, which would mean a further cut in the 1985 budget. That might prove to be an "irresponsible" rate because the future of the economic recovery in Michigan is in doubt and the earlier reduction in the income tax rate might reduce state revenues.

A staff report for the Governor's Commission on the Future of Higher Education in Michigan recently said, for example, that "the forces of state and national recession have not been completely reversed," and that "Michigan's severe decline may augur a slow economic recovery."

It then made this point:

"Past unemployment has heightened the demand for basic health and welfare services and recent state tax increases are temporary in nature. These facts exert a direct effect on the funding for higher education — they signal the need for cautious planning as well."

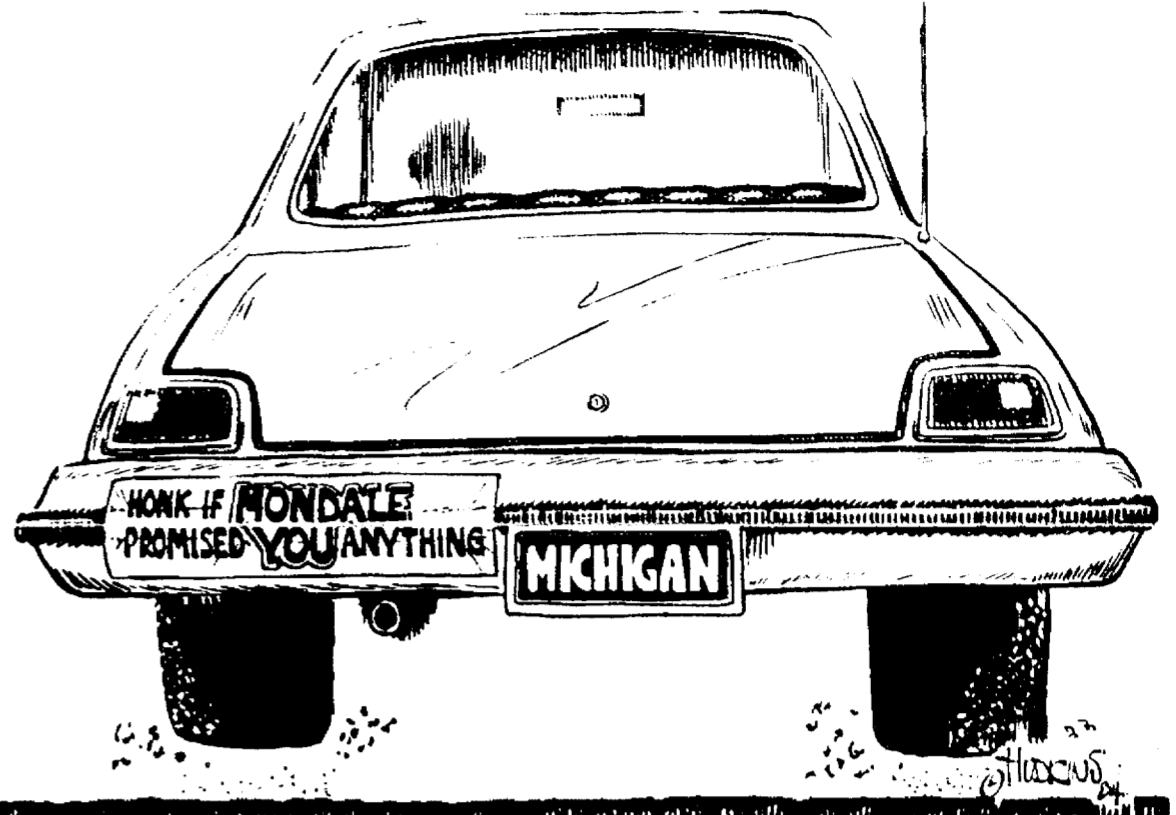

What is true of educational services is equally true of other services, as this report indicated. Nobody likes taxes at any level but they are a measure of the state's commitment to services. While there are many complaints about the quality of those services and the number of people on the state payroll, the number of employees has been reduced in recent years, which may help explain the decline in quality of services as well.

As this newspaper has indicated earlier, it is clear that there will be some rollback in the income tax rate because it has become such a controversial issue in an election year. Even though it is only the House that will face the voters in November, the tax issue will be dominant in the months ahead.

The rollback that will keep Michigan on the roller coaster so far as its income tax rates are concerned is the direct result of the recall that was carried out against two state senators and proposed against a host of others. It was responsible no doubt for persuading the four Democrats who supported the Republican bill in the Senate to vote for it, even though three of the four had backed the original 36 percent tax increase. Sen. John Kelly, whose district includes the Grosse Pointes, was one of the four.

YET IT MAY WELL be that any rollback will prove to be premature. State services could suffer. The state could fall back into the fiscal morass from which the 36 percent increase had rescued it. Public colleges and universities might have to raise tuition again, even though they now are among the highest in the nation. And the unfortunates who cannot care for themselves might be deprived of needed state services.

We hope that grim scenario isn't played out but if it is the public will know whom to blame: those who used the recall threat to force excessive tax cuts in this state.

Soviet propaganda comes to Grosse Pointe

To the Editor:

There are two kinds of people who speak, or write, in favor of Pastor Phillippe's trip to Cuba: those who are ignorant of the Soviet goal, their methods of operation and their accomplishments to date and those who favor the Soviet goal.

Now a few words about the Pastor's views as reported in the March 1 edition of the News:

"Perhaps a million people fled Cuba because they did not want to support the revolution." The reason is obvious for most of them, as they suspected or knew that revolutionary losses would be far greater than any possible gain.

"Cuba is small and presents no military threat." This is a prize misrepresentation of fact for their military strength is second only to the United States in the Western Hemisphere. The Soviets now have a strong base in the Caribbean and we have to tie up a sizeable portion of our forces, in or near the Caribbean, in order to offset the Soviet threat.

President John Kennedy, representing the United States, signed an agreement with the Soviets that America would never interfere with Cuba and Castro; this unpublishing concession was part of the payoff for the Soviets moving their missiles out of Cuba.

Pastor Phillippe can find people who need the gospel, as much or more than the Cubans do, without violating U.S. laws and policies. What kind of a pastor is it who practically brags about how he worked around U.S. laws to take material and money to Cuba? Obviously his loyalty to our country is subject to question. Residents of Russia who violate government wishes often do not live long enough to tell about it a second time.

Castro is sharp in many respects and receives good coaching from the Kremlin and the KGB or they would not trust him with the $8 billion worth of money and supplies that they give to Cuba each year. He knows enough to tease his people along to promote his goal and allowing a limited amount of church activity is all a part of his plan, particularly when it will bring in a little American money. Just remember Lenin's words, "Atheism is the fundamental portion of Marxism."

Many scores of Soviet guided organizations in this country have built up large staffs of well-trained writers and speakers to spread Soviet propaganda unceasingly. These staffs including 10,000 Marxist professors who are teaching America's youth today. (Business Week Magazine published this information in 1981) and the latest figure is 12,000. Their words sound plausible to the unthinking and to those who are not willing to face unpleasant facts.

Did you wonder why the nuclear freeze idea spread so rapidly? Major General Richard Larkin, former Director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, told the American Security Council that the KGB allocated 300 million to put on a nuclear freeze campaign in the United States. The KGB leaders have told the Kremlin that "this was their greatest dis-information success." The Soviets only promote things which further their aim in world domination.

Wake up America before it is too late. You are being brainwashed from all sides. All that is required for the Soviets to take us over is for good people to sit idly by. Only an informed American people can save America — and they can save it only if all those, to whom it is given to know, will share their knowledge with others.

A letter in the March 22 issue of the News, concerning Pastor Phillippe, said that my letter was sickening. There is a simple remedy that will quickly cure that sickness for the writer, and others. All that needs to be done is to read a few paragraphs in the writings of Karl Marx, Frederick Engels and Vladimir Ilyich Ulyanov, better known as Lenin.

Richard parking lot a winner

To the Editor:

There have been many surveys and studies of the Hill shopping area here in the Farms. The latest is a land use and marketability study done by Brandon Rogers and Associates, planning consultants, in September, 1983.

The study shows a definite need for additional parking in the area. Not to put in additional parking would only mean further deterioration of the Hill area. There is already too high a turnover of business in this area. When the business area goes down hill, the residential area nearby soon follows. A. Foust (who wrote in opposition to a proposed new lot in front of Richard Elementary School in a March 29 letter to the editor), needs only to drive three miles to Grosse Pointe Park to see what happens when there is lack of parking.

Putting in a new lot can make a lot of winners. The school system wins with more money from higher property values in the area. The library wins with more parking for its patrons. Richard school wins with needed parking. The Hill wins with more parking for the people who work and shop there.

Three cheers for the school board and the Farms city council for recognizing a problem and doing something to correct it.

Edward Kiska
President
The Hill Association

Hill does not need parking

To the Editor:

Anthony Foust's letter to the editor (March 29) provided excellent reasons why the Richard Elementary School property should not be utilized for additional metered parking. I hope that the Farms city council and the Board of Education officials follow his advice.

The Hill does not need more parking places. If any changes are made to the Richard property, they should be for the benefit of all the community and not for the convenience of a few shoppers, movie goers or library patrons who are too lazy to walk an extra half block. I suspect that a poll of your readers would show that Foust's idea of a "pocket park" being created on the Richard property is a very popular one indeed.

Medicaid change saves dollars

To the Editor:

The letter from M.A. Mason (March 22) regarding Medicaid funding for mental health treatment gives a false impression about an important change in state services. In fact, the decision by the federal government to allow Medicaid payment for treatment by non-psychiatrists at outpatient mental health centers reduces the burden on Michigan taxpayers.

What was once a hundred percent a responsibility of state funding is now covered fifty percent by federal dollars, as it has been for some time in our neighboring states.

Furthermore, there is much research that shows that treatment by qualified psychologists and clinical social workers is indeed as effective, as well as less costly, than having all services rendered by psychiatrists (an impossibility anyway, given the enormous needs in our area). The statement, and misleading headline, that insinuates that Medicaid pays for play "in checkers," is patently false.

In this instance, the Governor, legislature, and federal government are to be commended for making a change that serves us all well, both clinically and financially.

Teens need a hangout

To the Editor:

In Grosse Pointe there is no place for teens to spend their spare time. This town needs a place of interest among the teens if the serious problems of drug and alcohol abuse is to be controlled. Grosse Pointe lacks teenage hangouts.

With no place to go, kids tend to hold drinking parties when their parents are out of town, or simply out for the evening. However, when parents stay home and there is no place to go, teens hang out in the streets, doing nothing but drinking and creating trouble.

Grosse Pointe needs a place of teenage interest. Something must be done to control the serious drug and alcohol abuse among adolescents.

SEMTA's troubles mounting

SEMTA's troubles mount.

The southeastern Michigan transit agency is losing its general manager, is facing overruns estimated to be as high as $30 million in the costs of the Detroit people mover now under construction and is still losing passengers.

But those matters, serious as they are, fade into secondary roles when the financing of the agency's operating costs is taken into consideration.

The latest proposal for raising the funds to keep the system running and expand its services is an increase in the state sales tax. That would require action by the state Legislature to put the issue on the ballot as an amendment to the state Constitution because the current 4 percent rate is written into that document.

Earlier suggestions for possible increases in the income tax or automobile fees have been rejected on grounds the public is not in the mood to agree to the imposition of such revenue producers. But would the public stand still for an increase in the sales tax? That's also questionable.

SEMTA now serves only about 35,000 people on a daily basis. Its passengers and its revenues have declined as a result of a cutback in services. To reverse those trends, the SEMTA board earlier this year approved a $2.4 billion regional transit plan to expand bus service and provide commuter rail service and light-rail service in the metropolitan area.

SOME AREA TRANSIT system is obviously still required but the latest proposal should be scaled down in size and cost in order to win public support. Without such backing, SEMTA cannot win approval of the financing it needs to maintain, let alone improve, its services. Too much of the planning in recent years has been based on gradiose proposals that would cost more than the community is willing to pay. It is time to go back to the drafting board.

To err is human . . .

In common with other newspapers, the Grosse Pointe News makes its share of errors in fact and in production. Seeking to soothe the pain of a recent mistake in this column, a sympathetic colleague pointed to the following array of errors of omission and commission to which he has been subjected in recent weeks:

- His report from an employer understated the federal income tax withheld from his 1983 earnings.
- His mortgage company sent him two books of payment cards, with payments to be made in two different locations.
- His household insurance company failed to notify his mortgage company of the payment of his insurance premium.
- A plaque which his office had ordered as part of an award presentation showed up with a misspelled word.

- A computer error increased the amount he owed on a charge account.
- And his paper boy missed his home with delivery of his favorite daily newspaper.

The moral of this sad tale? It is only that to err is human, to forgive divine. The point is we have erred again in this column.

So we ask our readers' indulgence for a recent editorial which ran off the track and confused the relationships between the executives and legislative bodies in Washington and Lansing.

In both capitals, the House is controlled by Democrats and the Senate by Republicans. That means the president usually has the support of the Senate in Washington but the governor usually has the support of the House in Lansing.

The News and the editorial writer regret the error and urge our readers to recall the admonition cited above.

Grosse Pointe: It may not be perfect, but its' close

(Continued from Page 1A) consulate and I would have to meet the butcher, dentists, bakers, etc.," said Mrs. Bartel. "Now there's no problem. We're a part of the community. I teach German at Barnes School and my husband coaches a soccer team. We're also members of the Hunt Club."

Drawbacks to the Pointe are less than there were a year ago. Mrs. Bartel thought then the Pointe was a little "too clean."

"It was like the moon," she said "I would walk the street and never see anyone else. People would stop their cars and ask if I needed a ride."

One thing that does bother the Bartel family is the economic and social differences between Detroit and Grosse Pointe. "We heard bad things about Detroit, about the crime and the poor," said Mrs. Bartel. "Once we took a walk in east Detroit and couldn't believe it. Everyone thinks America is civilized, but we were shocked. I thought I was back in Africa. Not because of the blacks, but because of the poor conditions, run down homes and dirt in the street.

"There's such a difference in rich and poor in such a small space. I don't think it's fair."

Plans call for the Bartel family to move on to Brazil this coming August when their current tour ends.

Jim and Betty Campbell hail from Oklahoma. Jim is employed by United Press International, while Betty is a self employed musician.

"We think Grosse Pointe is a lovely place," said Betty. "But it sure is a long way from Oklahoma. We hadn't heard too much about it except that the Ford family and other auto people lived here. But I must admit our families were upset when they heard we were coming to Detroit."

"Nobody moves to Detroit," they said. "But Michigan is just such a great new state that it was important for Jim to re-locate."

If Grosse Pointe does have one drawback, it's seems to be an image problem.

"I usually tell people I'm from Detroit," said Betty. "When they get specific I tell them the east side of Detroit. If they get very specific I tell them it's actually Grosse Pointe. Right away, I get the same reaction. They sort of purse their lips and go 'Oh!' like we're very rich. I think Grosse Pointe is still cruising on an image of wealth and snobbery it acquired in the 1920's and 30's."

Is there anything they don't like about the area?

"Oh, when we came here two years ago in January, I thought I was in Siberia," laughed Betty. "But then I bought cross country skis and decided to have fun with winter. Now I wouldn't mind just one more dab of snow before it gets warm."

"Oh, yes, please be sure to add that Jim just loves to run along Lakeshore road. He's a marathon runner and feels he couldn't find a prettier place to run."

The move from their home town of Chicago to Grosse Pointe was a big one for Mike and Corlette McShea and their three children. It was also their first move.

Mike is the benefits manager for the Hiram Walker Distillery in Windsor. They'd heard very good things about Grosse Pointe and that it was comparable to the affluent suburbs of Chicago's North Shore. Still, they were a little surprised and disappointed when they got here.

"You've got to remember we lived in the city of Chicago all our lives," said Corlette, over the telephone. "Grosse Pointe is a small town and not really an extension of Detroit. We felt isolated at first unless we got on the freeway. We really thought there wouldn't be that much difference since Chicago is only 300 miles from Detroit and they're both in the mid-West."

One of the biggest drawbacks the McShea family finds is in the shopping.

"There aren't any good bakeries here like the type we had in Chicago," said Corlette. "They're very specialized there, plus we have lots of ethnic markets. The area just doesn't have the type of shopping I'm used to."

Something else they can't quite get used to is the yearly invasion of fish flies. "We lived near the water in Chicago, but never had anything like those bugs," laughed Corlette. "Now we live very close to Lake St. Clair and they just swarm all over. I've never seen anything like it. We get them like crazy."

Mike and Corlette find Grosse Pointers very friendly, although native Grosse Pointers can sometimes be a little "clannish."

"For them, it's like no place else exists," said Corlette. "But in a way, I think I also envy them for that a little — to have had their families live here for generations. There's a lot here to be proud of."

Husband Mike is especially happy to live in the Pointe because he likes the small town atmosphere and thinks it's good for their children.

"Grosse Pointe is a very nice place to live," said Corlette McShea, "but I guess my heart is still in Chicago."

Originally from Minnesota, Tom and Anne Rushfeldt and their two children came to the Pointe via Ottawa, Ontario. Tom is a management consultant for Touche Ross, Inc. Anne is a social worker and is also a vice-president of the Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club.

"It was a matter of where we were going to live when we came to Detroit," said Anne. "We checked out the Birmingham-Bloomfield area, then someone steered us to Grosse Pointe with a copy of the Grosse Pointe News. We took a look see and fell in love with the older homes, elm trees, friendly people and the lake. Minnesota has lots of water too, so we felt right at home."

The Rushfeldts didn't know much about the Pointe before moving here, although their friends told them all the homes were "mansions."

"We also had the concept of Detroit being nothing but crime ridden slums," added Anne. "We were very surprised. This is Detroit? It's beautiful."

Anne especially likes the services available to residents. "And although I think the grocery stores aren't exactly the greatest, the smaller stores are wonderful," she said. "Nobody delivers groceries anymore. It's unheard of."

Another plus for Anne is the preponderance of garage sales.

"They're great fun," smiled Anne. "It's my favorite thing about Grosse Pointe. That and its small town atmosphere."

Mike and Ellen Shapiro and their three children moved to the Pointe two years ago when they were transferred by Strohs after the local brewery acquired the Schlitz Brewing Co.

"We're very happy with Grosse Pointe," said Ellen. "Oh, we'd heard a little about it from our college friends. Mainly that it was supposed to be snobbish, but we found that wasn't really true. People are generally very friendly."

"It is true that there are some families that have been here for generations who may be standoffish. It's hard to break into those circles, but everyone is very nice. Grosse Pointe isn't like Florida where everything and everyone is very transient."

The Shapiros looked at the Birmingham area first, but decided on the Pointe with no reservations. If they do have any dislikes, it's of the grocery stores.

"We really dislike the large chain stores," said Ellen. "We even talked about it at our last Newcomers Meeting. Other than that, Grosse Pointe is just great. We love the small town atmosphere, parks, and it's a great place to raise our kids."

Originally from Montreal, Terry and Lynn Colfer were transferred to Detroit where Terry is a member of the Canadian consulate. Their last tour of duty was in Australia, where Mrs. Colfer said they had a "marvelous time."

"We've lived in the Pointe for nearly two years and really like the small town atmosphere the city provides."

"We researched the area before we came," said Mrs. Colfer, over the phone, "plus we had some friends who lived here and they really recommended it to us. We had a good idea of what we were coming into."

High on the Colfer's list of likes is the closeness of the schools, the closeness of Lake St. Clair and the nearness of Canada, which makes it easier to visit their families.

"There's always a bit of cultural shock when you come to a new area," continued Mrs. Colfer. "But those are mainly things like meeting new people and getting used to a new climate. One thing we have noticed is that it's sometimes hard to break into new circles when some Grosse Pointers have lived here for years. But you can run into that sort of thing anywhere."

"Other than that we're very pleased."

Woods commission elects officers

Council considers 'retail only' rule

(Continued from Page 1A) Speaking in favor of the ordinance was Shepherd Norton, of Picard-North Clothiers. Norton, said he appeared before the council as a Hill retailer, property owner, businessman and resident of Grosse Pointe.

Norton said he could see the realtors' points of view but added for retailers to be successful they needed "other retailers around them."

"Your best competition is the competition next door," said Norton.

"Make no mistake about it, we're struggling up there on the Hill. I believe many first floor businesses could be adapted to retail establishments with little difficulty."

One of the final speakers was Peter Bologna, of the 81 Kercheval Investment Co., builder of the new office building proposed for the site of the now abandoned gas station at Muir and Kercheval.

Bologna told the council that while he's trying to attract retail customers to the first floor of the building, his primary partner in the venture, Standard Federal Savings and Loan, would be a "service" type business and may be relegated to the back 50 percent of the building.

"I'm not sure they would go along with that," said Bologna. "They're my primary partner in this building which would help the Hill, yet they would be pushed to the rear of their own building."

After further discussion, the Farms Council tabled the proposed zoning amendment to allow time for Hill property owners, retail merchants, realtors and Nancy Waugaman, as a member of the council, to get together with the city's planning consultant to iron out their differences.

Brownscombe

the style of life "really unique to Grosse Pointe" which centers on neighborhood elementary schools, Brownscombe said.

"I think one of the reasons people come to Grosse Pointe is because of our school system. If you disrupt that, it's unfair to the entire area."

Brownscombe said he also opposes transfer of sixth graders to middle school because it will speed up the socialization process too much.

"It's not that they won't receive as good an education in middle school. They're just not physically or mentally able to handle that kind of situation yet," he said.

When he was asked what steps he would take to cut taxes in light of the decline in enrollment from 13,500 students in 1970 to about 7,500 this year, Brownscombe suggested closing the system's central office on St. Clair Avenue and selling it to developers. He said he'd "consider" closing a middle school but added "I'd have to have more input from the public before I supported that."

He emphasized decisions about reorganization must be made by residents. "I do think the community wants its school board to be financially responsible. It's up to voters. Do they want to pay for the standard of education we have maintained so far?"

"I think Grosse Pointers do want to pay for 10 elementary schools. I think the petitions we turned in last year (signed more than 6,000 people) proved that."

fyi

man wanting to know if his company made de-caffeinated tea?

"No, my dear, that would be unhealthy. And Twining's would never do anything to injure your health. Cream and sugar?"

Armed with my new found knowledge of tea, I walked down to the Pointe's newest (and one and only), restaurant serving tea. Le Cafe Chat, situated behind and adjacent to the Merry House, serves tea daily from 3 to 6 p.m.

Being bi-lingual, (I speak Canadian), I thought the name meant it was a nice place to talk. With a roll of her eyes and small shake of her head, our society editor Janet Mueller informed me it meant "The Cat."

Divided into three intimate rooms, the cafe is decorated in a French country kitchen style featuring dark blue walls and carpeting, accented with dark stained woods and subdued lighting. Classical music was piped softly into the room. A couple to my right was speaking French. Another table to my left spoke German.

But I didn't feel intimidated because I could talk tea! I ordered darjeeling, a dessert and waited. After a bit, it arrived. "Your tea sir" said the waiter. "Did you boil the water long?" I asked the waiter innocently.

"Oh yes sir, it bubbled furiously!" I frowned. He frowned. I considered sending it back for more oxygen, but decided against crushing the lad's feelings.

"What type of leaf do we have here?" I asked. "Dark, sir," replied the increasingly nervous waiter. "No, no! Is it small, medium or large leaf?"

"It's very dark leaf sir." Just to play it safe, I added three, five and seven minutes together and steeped the tea for 15 minutes. It poured out the color of Coca-Cola. I MIF'd it then drank it down.

Although it hadn't been a particularly "filthy" day I still felt rather relaxed. And I must admit that I'll be more careful about brewing tea in the future and to paraphrase Mr. Tea "Ah pity the poor fool who boil da water too long!"

Robb files appeal

By Susan McDonald
Disbarred Grosse Pointe attorney David Robb wants his law license back. Robb, former mayor of Grosse Pointe City, last week filed an appeal of a Wayne County attorney discipline panel decision that revoked his license.

The appeal is scheduled to be heard May 11 by the state Attorney Discipline Board.

"They have revoked my license. I think I have a right to a fair and impartial hearing," Robb said in a telephone interview. "I am just asking (the board) to take a look at the record and see what they think."

The Wayne County panel took Robb's license last month after it found him guilty of gross misconduct. The complaint stemmed from charges made against Robb last year by the Securities and Exchange Commission, (SEC), which accused the former mayor of embezzling $118,000 from a bankrupt securities firm of which he served as trustee for nine years.

The civil SEC suit was settled when Robb signed a consent judgment and agreed to repay $350,000 in allegedly embezzled funds and interest. He did not admit or deny guilt in the matter.

Robb didn't admit or deny guilt before the Wayne County attorney discipline panel, either. In his answer to those charges — which were nearly identical to the SEC allegations — Robb pled the fifth amendment. But, because he filed his answer late, the panel found him in default, and for its purposes guilty.

In his request for appeal, Robb says the panel made a legal error in not setting aside that default judgement. He also says a change in the composition of the panel between hearings was prejudicial to his case. And he argues that the list of circumstances that might be considered "mitigating" by the panel is poorly indexed and not easy to find.

Robb also filed a motion requesting his discipline be lifted until his appeal is heard.

In testimony before the Wayne County panel, Robb said his job as trustee of the bankrupt securities firm, Financial House, Inc., was tremendously complex. He said he was paid $50,000 for work completed during the first two years of his trusteeship, but after that time he was not paid for his labor. Funds that he transferred to his accounts were a "set-off" for his services, he said.

Robb represented himself before the panel and continues to do so. He could not be reached for comment on his appeal.

The state Attorney Discipline Board is composed of seven members — five attorneys and two lay people — appointed by the state Supreme Court and Michigan Bar Association.

Robb served as mayor of Grosse Pointe City from 1979 until last August, when he resigned. He also was active in many community service organizations and was president of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council and on the board of the Swedish Trade Commission.

Committee is trying to give students a healthy hang-out

By Jane Kornmeier
South High

An all-out war has been declared in Grosse Pointe against student alcohol and drug abuse. Groups such as Substance Abuse Community Counseling, (SAC2), Students Against Driving Drunk, (SADD), and Family Life Education Centers, (FLEC), have taken different approaches to the problem, hoping to ease its grip.

Many students, however, are wondering if these programs are doing enough and are expressing the need for a different kind of solution to the teenage drinking problem.

"If we shouldn't go to parties to see our friends because they reflect 'unhealthy atmospheres', then show us one place in Grosse Pointe where we can go," said sophomore Holly Huntington. This is a popular complaint among many students, who feel Grosse Pointe is "boring."

"Kids need a place to go where we can socialize without the presence of alcohol," explained sophomore Becky Steffes.

Recently, a committee called Alternate Activities for Youth Task Force, a sub-division of SAC2, was formed to help solve this problem, involving students and parents from North, South and University Liggett High Schools.

Caroline Banoni, a member of the committee from South, commented "the idea of opening a teen center has been mentioned, although nothing definite is being planned."

Taking a special interest in this idea is vice-president of the North Parent Club, Robert Roney. "We are currently looking for positive examples of successful teen centers, but cannot even begin to plan anything until we have assessed the needs of our teens."

Parents and students disagree on the type of facilities a center should offer, however. "I think that (the teen center) should be a place where young teens can go to eat and listen to music on Friday and Saturday nights," said freshman Joe Neive.

But parent Mary Meighan says, "it should offer students a place to work out, not to hang out."

Roney said only students' opinions and suggestions concerning the role of the teen center can get the project "... out of the mind and on paper."

Two Monday fires reported in Shores

A car fire and a smoke-filled house kept Shores public safety officers busy Monday night, March 19, according to reports.

Police were called to a Lakeshore home about 8:30 p.m. by an alarm company reporting a fire. When officers arrived, the homeowner said he had lighted a fire in the fireplace, but forgot to open the damper, filling the house with smoke and setting off the alarm.

A 1973 Cadillac was reported burning on Lakeshore at about 11:30 p.m. Officers responding found the engine compartment of the four-door Cadillac ablaze. The fire was put out with an extinguisher from the rear of a scout car.

No injuries were reported in either incident, according to reports.

LWV annual meeting set

The League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe will hold its annual meeting at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, on Wednesday, April 11. Cocktails will be at 5:30 p.m. and dinner will be served at 6:30. Guest speaker will be Judge Paul Teranes of the Wayne County Circuit Court. Judge and Mrs. Teranes reside in Grosse Pointe.

The League's nominating committee will present the following slate for 1984-1986 — Second Vice-President Lelia Lynch; Treasurer Elinor Giblin; Directors Judy Bartell, Betty Brilmeyer, Mary Wisgerhof and Cynthia Warner.

The officers continuing are President Ginny McCaig; First Vice-President Ardis Gardella; Secretary Jo Ann Kelly; Directors Arlene VanKirk, Peggy Eickmann and Elaine Hage.

The League is looking forward to the 1984 National Convention of the National League to be held in Detroit May 13 to 18. The Grosse Pointe chapter will be responsible for registration.

The League of women Voters is open to all citizens of the United States, 18 years of age and over. For more information call 885-7183.

GETTING MORE TIRE MILEAGE

Here are some hints on how to make your tires last longer. Most important of all is the air pressure. Check the inflation pressures of all tires, including the spare, once a week. Remember that even a healthy tire leaks air slowly. Also, each ten degrees drop in temperature causes the pressure to drop about one pound. Under-inflation causes increased wear along the edges. Also, the tire flexes more and runs hotter, increasing chances of failure. It won't hurt to add three or four pounds to recommended pressures for sustained, high-speed driving or when carrying a heavy load. Your driving habits also affect tire life. High speeds, jackrabbit starts, panic braking and hard cornering scrape away rubber fast. Tires wear five times faster at 80 mph than at 50 mph. To give the tires a chance to seat, limit your speed on new tires to 50 mph for the first 500 miles.

You're walking home from school one afternoon when you notice you're being followed by a car. When you turn the corner, it turns with you. It slows when you slow and speeds up when you do. What do you do?

Under a new program offered in the Woods, you can approach any city-owned vehicle bearing an "Eyes and Ears" logo, tell the driver you're being followed, and a police unit will be dispatched to investigate.

All city-owned vehicles in the Woods began displaying the black-on-orange "Eyes and Ears" logos last week after the completion of training for drivers, according to police. The city vehicles are connected by radio, so that the public works and building inspectors' vehicles become mobile emergency reporting stations, police said.

The Woods' program is an extension of "Eyes and Ears" that was offered recently by Michigan Bell, Detroit Edison and Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. trucks and employees to help law enforcement agencies reduce crime by providing an emergency reporting station for children, according to police.

Recently, a 30 year-old Michigan Bell Telephone employe helped police when she spotted what turned out to be an attempted pigeon drop in front of the Woods municipal building.

Comcast Cablevision of St. Clair Shores has offered its franchise cities the opportunity to use the company's trucks to supplement neighborhood crime watch programs, according to station general manager Mike Zimmer.

Under the program, Fraser, St. Clair Shores and Grosse Pointe Shores would have 60 extra pairs of eyes and ears in the community, with Comcast drivers keeping an eye out for suspicious activities. Drivers would not become directly involved, but would call to their dispatcher if they spotted something suspicious. The dispatcher in turn would contact local police with the information, Zimmer said.

The local program is part of a larger operation that ultimately could include all the cities that are served by Comcast, Zimmer said.

Area chefs exhibit

Grosse Pointe was well represented this week at the 1984 Professional Culinary Art Salon at Cobo Hall, expected to draw more than 12,000 people.

Among the chefs invited to exhibit food in the salon were the Bronze Door's Mark Dansbury, Telly's Place's Ernest Hinton, Sparky Herbert's William Wolf, Mark Kuzma and Derek Stanczyk from the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, and Cottage Hospital's Scott Cummings. Also on hand was the East Side Chef's Culinary Team including George Lackey, Ron Harton, Greg Kozowski, Al Large and Robert Wuerth.

THE CALLING SERVICE THAT'S BEST FOR YOU? JUST PUT YOUR FINGER ON IT.

That's right. You can still put your finger on the calling service you need or want just as easily as before, even though many changes have taken place in the communications industry. Michigan Bell continues to make a wide range of calling services and plans available to you.

A glance at the service options listed below will help you determine if you now have the service and calling plans that best fit your individual needs and budget. As always, reliable Michigan Bell telephone service comes with whatever option you select.

Local Service Options:

Measured Service* — allows up to 50 local calls per month for a small monthly charge. Calls above that limit would be billed to you on a per call basis. If you place few local calls per day, Measured Service could be the most economical choice for you.

Flat Rate Service — gives you unlimited local calls for a single monthly charge. Frequent telephone users may benefit from this service.

*Not available in all areas.

Long Distance Options:

Circle Calling — gives you a 30% discount on direct-dialed long distance calls placed within a 30-mile radius within your LATA† except calls placed from 8 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday. The discount applies even when regular long distance discounts are in effect.

Budget Toll Dialing — provides a 30% discount on long distance calls anywhere within your LATA between 10 p.m. and 8 a.m. Sunday

Measured Service	Call Waiting	Call Forwarding
Circle Calling	Budget Toll Dialing	Speed Calling
Local Service Options	Flat Rate Service	Touch-Tone Service
Three-Way Calling	Disabled Customer Services	Long Distance Options

evening through Friday morning and from 5 p.m. Friday through 5 p.m. Sunday. Like Circle Calling, the Budget Toll Dialing discount applies even when regular long distance discounts are in effect.

†LATA is a new term that describes a Michigan Bell calling service area. It stands for Local Access and Transport Area.

Custom Calling Services:

Call Waiting — when you're on the phone, the Call Waiting signal alerts you someone else is calling. You can alternate conversation between both parties.

Call Forwarding — lets you program your phone so that incoming calls are automatically forwarded to any other telephone you desire.

Speed Calling — allows you to program your phone to dial up to eight or 30 frequently called numbers with simple one- or two-digit entries.

Three-Way Calling — lets you add a third party to a two-party conversation, instead of making separate calls.

(Custom Calling Services are not currently available in all calling areas.)

Dialing Options:

Through Michigan Bell, you have a choice of Rotary Service or Touch-Tone Service.

Rotary Service is pulse dialing. With this service, you need a pulse dialing phone with either a rotary dial or a push-button dial.

Touch-Tone Service is tone dialing. It is the most modern form of dialing. With Touch-Tone Service, you can use either tone dialing or pulse dialing telephones. However, to get the benefits of Touch-Tone Service (such as fast, accurate dialing), be sure to use a push-button phone made for tone dialing, which you can also use to access certain long distance and at-home banking services.

(Touch-Tone Service is not available in all areas.)

Disabled Customer Services:

Special Services and Equipment for disabled customers are available through the Michigan Bell Telecommunications Center for Disabled Customers. Voice customers call 1 800 482-8254. Telecommunications Devices for the Deaf (TDD) customers call 1 800 482-3141. Customers are welcome to visit the Center at 26200 Greenfield, Room 43, Oak Park, Michigan 48237.

We hope this information is useful to you and that you will make the most of whatever Michigan Bell services are right for you.

Free tests for all at Health-O-Rama

An alliance of individuals, agencies and organizations dedicated to promoting good health will bring Health-O-Rama to the Calvary Senior Center, 4950 Gateshead (near Kerby and Mack), on Thursday, April 12.

Anyone over the age of 18 years may receive free tests of blood pressure, vision and hearing between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Blood analysis, which costs $80 in a doctor's office, will be offered for $7. (If you plan to have blood analysis, do not eat for four hours before).

The tests will be conducted by local physicians, nurses and volunteers.

Virginia Rice is site coordinator at Calvary. Volunteers assisting her are Louise Ciavola and Louise TeWalt. Health-O-Rama is sponsored by WXYZ-TV, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, United Foundation and United Health Organization.

Armchair travelers tour Panama

"Magical Mallorca," a Super 8mm movie by Derek Jenkins, and "The Panama Canal," a slide program by Esther Peters, will be viewed by Cinema League members when they meet in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Road, at 8 p.m. Monday, April 9.

The beautiful island of Mallorca, in the Mediterranean Sea, is about 150 miles off the east coast of Spain. Shown are the ruins of the Roman city of Pollentia, and the ancient Santueri Castle, which remained in use through the 15th century. There also are views of other fortifications which were used as places of refuge when the island was frequently raided by pirates. Bellver Castle, the only round fortress in Spain, is filmed.

A visit is made to the capital city of Palma and its Gothic cathedral and huge harbor. Of special interest is the Carthusian monastery of Valldemosa, where Fredric Chopin and writer George Sand spent the winter of 1838. Mallorca's famed beaches are photographed, and aged windmills still operating.

"The Panama Canal" was photographed by Ms. Peters on a cruise through the canal on the Sitmar ship "Fairsea." Stops are made at Charlotte Amalie, St. Thomas, in the United States Virgin Islands, then on to Cartagena, Columbia, one of the oldest cities in the western hemisphere.

In the San Blas Islands, the Cuna Indians, noted for their cloth panels of reverse applique called molas, still live as they did 1,000 years ago.

Ensemble plays at Ford House

The Lyric Chamber Ensemble's seventh concert in its current series at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House will take place Sunday, April 8, at 3:30 p.m. Detroit Symphony Orchestra flutist Shaul Ben-Meier and pianist Fedora Horowitz will join forces in a mostly French program.

They will start with the sonata "La Lumagne" by Blavet, a French Baroque composer, followed by "Andante and Scherzo" by Louis Ganne and "Fantasie" by Faure. Prokofiev's sonata in D major and Claude Bolling's suite for flute and jazz piano will complete the program.

A charge of $7.50 general admission, $5 for students and senior citizens, includes the concert and a visit to the Ford mansion as well as an afterglow wine reception.

The Lyric Chamber Ensemble's last concert in the spring of 1984 will take place on May 6 and will be a cello recital with Detroit Symphony Orchestra cellist David Saltzman.

For more information and reservations, please call the Lyric Chamber Ensemble at 357-1111.

Library to sell a book by its cover

The Grosse Pointe Central Library will hold a used book sale on Saturday, April 7, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The library will sell used books, magazines, records, cassettes and 8mm films. Items will sell for 10 cents to $2.

Thales to Hume
By Dr. Leonard Piekoff
A Taped 12 Lecture Course

The philosophic thinking of the 20th century is the cause of the present state of the world; but that thinking itself is the effect of men's previous philosophical ideas.

These Lectures present the ideas of the philosophers who shaped Western Civilization, the meaning and practical consequences of these ideas, and their unidentified influence on the minds of modern men.

Emphasis will be given to the arguments each philosopher offers in support of his conclusions; analysis of these arguments will provide a defense against many of today's prevalent intellectual fallacies.

Realtors name new leaders

New officers and directors of the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange obviously enjoy planning the coming year's calendar of events. They were (left to right) Cathy Dilliaman, chairman of William J. Champion & Co., secretary; Hugo S. Higbie, of Higbie Maxon Inc., director; Thomas Youngblood, of Youngblood Realty, president; Skip Baer, of Danaher, Baer, Wilson & Stroh, treasurer; Kathleen Clawson, of R.G. Edgar & Assoc., vice-president; Paris DiSanto, of Johnstone & Johnstone, director. The realtors meet monthly at the War Memorial to discuss the work of nine committees. ### Hot car leads cops to suspect

An early morning stake out on a stolen car enabled Farms police to arrest a Detroit man suspected of a breaking and entering on Merriweather Road early Saturday morning, March 24. Police received a call from a Merriweather Road resident at about 5:30 a.m. Saturday stating that someone had broken into the home while the owners were asleep upstairs. The home owner said it sounded like someone was trying to "break down the front and back doors." Responding officers found the rear door to the home standing open. A screen had been removed from the storm door and a pane of glass was knocked out. A cloth purse was reported missing from a kitchen table.

Police also found footprints in the back yard of the home and began to follow them. At about the same time, another resident told police he had heard the burglary report on his police band radio and had seen a man running down Kercheval through yards towards Ridge Road. Farms police began a yard by yard search for the suspect, while cars from the Farms and neighboring cities patrolled the streets. Police received periodic sightings of the suspect fleeing through side yards but were unable to capture him. While on patrol, Farms officers observed a 1976 Chrysler parked on Cloverly Road. While other cars on the street were covered with frost, the Chrysler was frost free and the engine was still warm. The car was unlocked and the keys were on the floor. The license plate was bent over and unreadable. Farms police staked out the vehicle and waited. At 8:05 a.m., a man answering the description of the burglary suspect entered the car and attempted to drive away. He was stopped by Farms officers who arrested him. At the station, the suspect refused to speak and answer questions, other than identifying himself as Reginald Howard. Neither Detroit nor any other Pointe police department was able to identify Howard through his name or fingerprints. Police ran a check on the Chrysler and discovered it belonged to a Detroit man living on Telegraph Road. When he came to claim his car, he identified Howard as a man living in the same apartment building with him, but said he only knew him as "Ahmed." The man, a Detroit police reserve officer, said he had not given permission for his car to be used. He also told Farms police he was dating the suspect's sister. After claiming his car, the Detroit man returned to the Farms police station and stated a black attaché case on the front seat of the vehicle did not belong to him. Farms police confiscated the case and opened it to find Social Security forms addressed to the Lafayette Clinic in the name of Floyd Harris. It was later discovered Harris had a lengthy record and had previous contact with the police departments of Detroit, Harper Woods, Oak Park, the Park and the Woods. Harris was arraigned before Farms Municipal Judge Robert H. Pytell on Sunday morning, March 25, on one count of possessing a stolen car and one count of receiving and concealing stolen property valued over $100. Bond was set at $25,000 and Harris was remanded to the Wayne County Jail. Police said they were unable to find any fingerprints on the glass, door or screen of the burglarized Merriweather Road home. They were also unable to find any fingerprints on the stolen purse, which was recovered in a nearby yard.

State, cities discuss bridge traffic trouble

By Mike Andrzejczyk

State transportation officials and representatives from the cities of Harper Woods, St. Clair Shores and Grosse Pointe Woods met Thursday, March 22, to discuss traffic problems at the Old Eight Mile overpass at I-94.

While no solutions were offered, the state said it will conduct a destination and origin study of bridge traffic as well as look at alternative on and off ramps for the area, Woods officials said.

City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen called the meeting informational, adding he was "not overly impressed" with its results. "I don't think the way they're going after the problem is going to solve it," he said.

The three cities asked the state in February to consider performing a study of the area in hopes of solving heavy use of the Woods' residential streets by bridge traffic. Studies done last year by the Woods public safety department showed most of the traffic using streets in the northwest end of the Woods exits the freeway at Old Eight Mile and works its way east to Mack along Brys.

The state held off a construction project to expand the bridge from two to four lanes after federal officials asked the state to re-evaluate the need for an environmental impact statement of the effect of the construction.

The Woods filed suit against the state highway department and the federal highway administration to block the construction, claiming the state failed to meet federal guidelines for the completion of the environmental impact study and public hearings called to discuss the findings.

Petersen said he didn't know what good the destination and origin study would do, since the problem was the amount of traffic using the bridge, not its destination.

"The volume of traffic is the problem that needs to be solved," he said. "You're funneling all the traffic on to a two-lane residential street."

The closing of the exit ramp north of Vernier and the conversion of an entrance ramp into an exit ramp in the area may alleviate the problem, Petersen added.

The completion of the I-75 to the Lodge stretch of I-696 is also going to exacerbate traffic troubles at the bridge, Petersen said. The easiest route then for east side residents working on the west side will be I-696 to exit at Old Eight Mile, he added. Traffic using the bridge could double, he added.

State transportation workers are expected to begin their study some time in May, Petersen said.

City makes a deal for parking meters

You can buy a used-anything these days.

The Park decided to buy at least 16 used parking meters from Boyne City, Mich., for its parking lot at Mack and Somerset.

Park City manager John Crawford called the purchase "an excellent opportunity to purchase the meters at a discount." The dual-head meters are normally priced at about $130, but the one-year-old meters are being offered at $65, he added.

The city will need 14 of the dual-head meters at its Mack-Somerset lot and could use the extra two as reserves, Crawford said. The city also has replacement parts for the used meters, he added.

Public Services director James

Ellison said the meters were in excellent shape. Neither he nor Crawford could say why Boyne City was looking to sell the meters.

Mayor pro-tem John Prost made the motion to purchase the used meters, seconded by councilman Mark Valente III. The funds will come from the city's capital improvement budget.

Park police teach self-protection

Grosse Pointe Park police will host a program on self-protection for women next Thursday, April 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the city council chambers, on the second floor of the municipal offices on Jefferson.

Bringing drug education to Grosse Pointe

The "Eastside Project," 16 graduates of the Henry Ford Hospital, Maple Grove chemical dependency treatment program, will offer training to local volunteers about all aspects of chemical and alcohol abuse.

Beginning in April and including a summer hiatus, volunteer classes will be offered for the first time in the Pointes. Training includes more than 60 hours of class time.

much of it handled by professional staff of Maple Grove.

Henry Ford Hospital, Maple Grove, is a chemical dependency treatment unit located in West Bloomfield. The facility has given in-depth training about alcohol and substance abuse to more than 100 volunteers over the past several years.

The training is offered as a collaborative effort between Henry

Ford and the Junior League of Birmingham and is officially called the Henry Ford Hospital, Marygrove, Junior League of Birmingham Alcohol Awareness Education Project. The goal of the training is to prepare volunteers to offer education to the community about all aspects of the use of alcohol and other drugs.

The programs are free, but the majority of volunteers live and work in the Bloomfield-Birmingham area, making class offerings to the east side difficult. Eleven of the recent graduates, soon to be joined by five more, live in Grosse Pointe and have been trying to fill requests for the programs here on the east side.

The classes offer viewing of more than 30 films which are later available to volunteers for their use as teaching aids for presentations to parents groups, civic organizations, educators, church groups and classrooms.

Volunteers must attend "update meetings" each year to be sure their information is the most current available. New films are reviewed and purchases made by the Education Project to insure volunteers have access to the most up-to-date resources.

Eastside Project volunteers have or will present programs for students in Richard, Maire, Barnes, Brownell, Pierce, Our Lady Star of the Sea, University Liggett upper and lower schools, and Grosse Pointe North. Parent programs have been presented in every public, private and parochial elementary, middle and high school in Grosse Pointe.

Volunteers have found a series of programs, usually one hour a week for anywhere from three to eight weeks, is best. We'll introduce them to the subject any way we can," said project coordinator Arlene Creech. "We take advantage of every invitation and often are invited back to present additional programs."

Although much of the volunteer time is spent in preventive work, the Eastside Project welcomes requests for presentations on problems with alcohol and substance abuse, effects of alcohol on the body and other related subjects.

The Eastside Project only owns three films and spends much time commuting to the film library at Maple Grove. The group welcomes contributions to be used to purchase additional films.

For more information about obtaining a program for your church, school or community organization, or if you would like to become a volunteer or make a contribution to the program, call Sis Wenger, community education coordinator of Henry Ford Hospital, Maple Grove, at 661-6170.

Open house at Trombly

Trombly Elementary School kindergartener Scotty Osborne and his teacher Anne Thomas (above) invite you all to come see what's happening at their school this Sunday, April 8, between 2 and 4 p.m. Visitors will get a tour of the school, its open classrooms, greenhouse and the computer room, where demonstrations are planned. Trombly's choir will sing in the auditorium and the scouts and art students will display their work. PTO President Sarah Verlinden said parents who stop in will also learn about a latchkey program being planned for next year. Trombly is located at 820 Beaconsfield Road.

Analia is glad she's back

By Wendy Honstain
South High

When she left Grosse Pointe four years ago to return to her native country, Colombia, Analia Solano never dreamed she'd be back to finish her senior year at Grosse Pointe South.

"I loved it here and always hoped I would be able to return, but I didn't think it was possible," said the 18-year-old foreign exchange student.

There is a great difference between South and Solano's own school in her hometown of Santa Marta. For example, there are no such things as elective courses. The government chooses what courses will be taught and every student takes the same classes. "In my country we stay in one classroom the entire day with the same group of kids, and the teachers come to us to teach different subjects," explained Miss Solano.

Since she has already graduated

Come to NHS's 'Cabaret Dance'

The Grosse Pointe North High School Stage Band will provide music for your listening and dancing pleasure on Friday, April 6, for their "Cabaret Dance" open to the public.

The cabaret runs from 8 to 11 p.m., and the $2 donation will be used to sponsor the North High School Bands and Orchestra. Senior citizens will be admitted free.

For tickets and information call 343-2240.

in Colombia, here Solano's classes consist mostly of electives. Sociology and English literature are two of her favorites.

On her last visit to the United States, Miss Solano attended Brownell Middle School for several months. But being 14, and staying with her aunt and uncle, freedom and social life were limited. Now, on the foreign exchange program, she lives with a student of her own age.

"The best part of my trip this time is that because I am older I'm getting a chance to meet many people and go out a great deal more with the friends I make," she concluded.

Combined choirs will entertain

In a one-hour performance of light and lively vocal music, the University Liggett Men's Choir, the University of Michigan Friars and the Grunyons, a local group, will entertain on Sunday, April 8, at 3 p.m. in the ULS auditorium.

"The music will be spirited and entertaining," said ULS music director Jim Hohmeyer, who arranged the joint concert. Hohmeyer hopes to use ticket proceeds to support a scholarship for his music students' summer European tour.

Tickets are $5, $2 for students and seniors, and may be purchased at the door or in advance from ULS music students. For further information contact the school at 884-4444.

ULS teachers learn to tell living stories

She climbs imaginary ladders and turns third graders into monkeys or kings. She asks her audience to dance or create dialogue or make sound effects. Her stories grow from what her audience suggests — and the children love it.

She is Gail N. Herman, an artist with the Traveling and Performing Artists Co. in Hartford, Conn. Her art is organic storytelling.

Ms. Herman conducted a workshop in organic storytelling last month at University Liggett School for elementary and nursery school teachers and librarians in the area.

Ms. Herman specializes in dramatizing folktales and encourages children to experiment with vocal inflection, body movement, song and the sound effects of primitive instruments. "Folktales come alive in organic storytelling," she said, "an art nearly lost in our cultural addiction to TV."

"Say YES to your child's future"

Industrial technology department chairman Dean Balcirak (above) works with an unidentified student in front of a computer terminal at North High School. The department has changed its name and is updating its curriculum and materials to keep up with the technology of the 1980s.

Industrial program struggles to keep pace with technology

The industrial education department of Grosse Pointe public schools has always kept pace with changing technology. In the 1930's, its courses were called "manual arts." In the 1960's and 70's, the name changed to "industrial education." Today, high technology brings a new name, "the industrial technology department."

No other academic area has seen more technological changes in the past 10 years than has this department. Electronics, computers and micro-computers have become a big part of our lives. Automobiles are one example. The new Chryslers talk to you, all new cars have computer-controlled ignitions and carburetors. Computer-aided drafting is replacing car designers' t-squares, triangles, and pencils.

To keep pace, the industrial technology department has revised its drafting curriculum to include computer-aided drafting and design for the 1984-85 school year. And a new course, introduction to electricity and electronics, is scheduled for the curriculum.

Honors Espagnol

Fifteen University Liggett Spanish students were received into the Spanish National Honor Society in a March 13 ceremony at the school.

Those invited into the society, based on their honor grade averages and teacher recommendations, were Michael and Thomas Baks, Robyn Burns, Thana Cherpes, Frank Crociata, Joanne Cruz, Brian David, Kate French, Lawanna Johnson, Leslie Mackey, Amy Ottaway, DeAnn Patanis, Paula Rodriguez, Stefanie Sables and Rafal Zielinski.

After the induction students, teachers and parents met for a Mexican dinner at Xochimilco's Restaurant in Detroit.

The national educational society was founded to recognize high achievement in Spanish and is sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

President of the ULS "El Cid" chapter is senior Bill McFeely, and junior Amy Ottaway is president-elect. Upper School Spanish teacher Mariela Brown is faculty sponsor for the ULS chapter.

The industrial technology departments of North and South High Schools are working together to develop a robotics curriculum for 1985-86. The course will deal with the concepts and applications as they relate to high technology and industrial applications of mechanical, thermal, electrical and fluidal systems.

New rules aimed to stop teen drinking

By Martha Keane
South High

At a recent South High pajama dance, nine students were suspended for alcohol abuse and possession. As a result, principal Joseph Spagnoli is cracking down on all drinking offenders with a new set of tough dance guidelines which he hopes will put an end to this growing problem.

The revised dance guidelines were distributed and read in every class last week.

The guidelines are as follows:

- Theme dances are eliminated;
- Ticket sales and admission to the dance are from 8 to 9 p.m. - Doors and parking lots close at 9 p.m.
- Students must enter the dance upon purchase of their ticket at the door. Tickets will be sold inside the gym area.
- Pre-sale tickets will be sold during lunch hour, final pre-sale will be Friday of the dance at 3:15 p.m.
- Students should be prepared to show their I.D. card upon request. Failure to do so will result in exclusion from the dance.
- Any student under the influence of or in possession of alcohol and/or any other illegal substance will be suspended for a minimum of 10 days and banned from school activities for the remainder of the semester;
- Student dress must conform with normal school attire.

Spagnoli does not place all the blame for the apparent problem with alcohol abuse at the dances on the students. He says many parents contribute to it also.

"We are aware that some parents have parties for their children and serve alcohol to not only their sons or daughters, but also to their friends. We don't approve of this in any way. The students end up at South so we become responsible."

Announcing the Grand Opening of

SUSAN CHARLES POTTERY

Where You Can Afford to Be Expensive

On Friday, April 6 an exciting and refreshing new concept in discount shopping will come to Grosse Pointe Park.

From crystal to dishware; cookware to ceramics; fine linens to prints; brass to stemware; glassware to baskets; terracotta to vine; herb and floral wreaths, rare Chinese porcelains to cement cast accessories for the garden and home. The Susan Charles Pottery specializes in selling only quality products and discounting them to the lowest prices in town.

Sharon Stein, Detroit News: "The savings (at the Susan Charles Pottery) range from 20 to 50 percent off suggested retail price... I found the dried flower arrangements beautiful and a real bargain to boot."

Sylvia Glover, Good Afternoon Detroit: "The Susan Charles Pottery is a real bargain hunter's store... it is a refreshing addition to discount shopping."

Marge Colburn, Detroit News: "The Susan Charles Pottery carries fine and affordable oriental porcelain. Oriental, botanical and American primitive reproductions make charming and affordable additions to a traditionally decorated interior."

Always charming, always interesting. The Susan Charles Pottery is where you will find how much more a "bargain" can really be.

Boys Scouts collect food

Last year, 10,000 Detroit are Boy Scouts collect 3 more than a quarter million pounds of food for the hungry in our community; this year they hope to collect more. The United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit has again requested the Boy Scouts of America to conduct their "Scouting For Food" program in 1984.

Club Scouts and Boy Scouts will again distribute their collection bags to private homes in designated areas on April 7. The following Saturday, April 14, they will collect the bags filled with donated non-perishable foods and deliver them to a district collection station for distribution.

Provider agencies will include The Society of St. Vincent De-Paul and local Catholic parishes, Salvation Army, Rice Bowl Projects and major Protestant denomination church pantries.

Participating scouts in the 1984 "Scouting For Food" program are from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe, Livingston, Washenaw and Lenawee counties.

The service will not only benefit the hungry people right in our own neighborhoods and communities, but will benefit the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts in learning to care for others.

Paraguay has taken the first-place spot away from Hong Kong as the cigarette-smuggling capital of the world.

High-proof gin is peculiar to the United States. Neither the British nor the Canadians prefer it.

Obituaries

Peter Oli Peterson
Memorial services for Mr. Peterson, 87, of the Woods, were held Wednesday, March 28, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

He died Sunday, March 25, in his Renaud home.

Born in Norway, Mr. Peterson was a 53-year member of the Scottish Rite of Free Masonry. He was also a member of the Detroit Athletic Club and the Woodcarvers.

Mr. Peterson worked for Buick Co. from 1916 to 1919. He then went to Studebaker, where he worked from 1919 to 1955 and earned the title of executive vice-president. In 1955, he became president of Mack Truck and served as chairman of the board for the company in 1958.

He is survived by six grandchildren and two sisters.

Memorial contributions may be made to Memorial Church.

H. Merritt Smith
Services for Mr. Smith, 91, of the Woods, were held Saturday, March 31, at the A.H. Peters Funeral Home.

He died Thursday, March 29, in St. John Hospital.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Smith served in France with the 125th Field Artillery unit. He was a member of American Legion Post no. 120 since 1919.

Mr. Smith founded and operated his own advertising agency for 35 years, retiring in 1977 at the age of 85. He was a member of Detroit Ad-Craft Club.

He is survived by his wife, Frances; one daughter, Mary Lane; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Cremation was at White Chapel.

Eleanor C. Young
Services for Mrs. Young, 66, of the Woods, were held Monday, April 2, at the A.H. Peters Funeral Home.

She died Wednesday, March 28, in Cottage Hospital.

Mrs. Young was a member of the Women's Fellowship of First Bethany United Church of Christ.

She is survived by her husband, Charles; brothers, sisters, nieces and nephews.

Memorials may be made to the First Bethany United Church of Christ.

Interment was in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Frank J. Kearney
Services for Mr. Kearney, 60, of the City, were held on Tuesday, April 3, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. Paul Lutheran Church.

He died Saturday, March 31, in Cottage Hospital.

Mr. Kearney was the husband of the late Marcia; and is survived by three sons, Thomas, Shawn and Brian; a daughter, Cathy; one brother and four grandchildren.

Interment was in Port Clinton, Ohio.

Dale J. Hodges
Services for Mr. Hodges, 89, formerly of the Farms, lately of Colorado Springs, Colo., were held Wednesday, April 4, at the Verheyden Funeral Home.

He died Friday, March 30, in Colorado Springs.

Mr. Hodges retired in 1964 as vice-president of the Michigan Mutual Liability Company. He was a member of the Senior Men's Club and Trinity Lodge no. 502 F&AM.

He is survived by four daughters, Nancy Barthlow, Mary Coddington, Helen Hammer and Jean El-dredge; nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife Nina.

Memorial contributions may be made to the America Diabetes Association.

Interment was in Brookside Cemetery, Tecumseh, Mich.

Park offers living memorials

The Grosse Pointe Park beautification commission has begun a commemorative tree program through which trees may be purchased and planted to mark a special occasion or to remember a loved one.

The commemorative trees are considered a gift to the city and so are tax-deductible to the donor — an individual, group or business.

Trees may be planted on city property with prior approval from the city and will be marked with plaques. Trees may be planted on easements and median strips along Middlesex and Windmill Pointe.

An arboretum is being installed at Patterson Park to which trees may be donated. More than 100 different species of trees can be grown in the area's climatic conditions and the commission hopes the arboretum will become a showcase for many of them. Cost of the trees will vary depending on the species.

Anyone interested in more information about the commemorative tree program for city-owned property or the arboretum may call the city's Public Service Department at 822-5020. A member of the beautification commission will call to discuss details.

Neighborhood Club visits Shangri-La
Rip and Fern Zwicky will present their 16mm film "A Shangri-La Adventure" on Wednesday, April 11, at 1:30 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo.

The film will include the four northern princely states of Pakistan, the historic Khyber Pass and Afghanistan. A highlight of the film is the state of Hunza, a 200 mile valley bounded by China and Russia on the north and overshadowed by some of the world's highest mountain peaks.

Class of 1997 must register now
Parents with prospective kindergarten students are requested to register them at Mason School either Wednesday, April 4, or Thursday, April 5, between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. in the school library.

Kindergarten roundup and registration will take place at Ferry School Monday, April 9, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Preschool children whose fifth birthday falls on or before Dec. 1, are eligible to begin kindergarten next September.

Please bring the child's birth certificate with you when registering.

Film highlights visit to India
India will be the subject of a travelogue at the Neighborhood Club on Wednesday afternoon, April 4, beginning at 1:30 p.m. The films will be shown by Mary Fitzpatrick and will take travelers to Bombay, Poona, New Delhi and Jaipur.

The audience will attend a wedding and a funeral, plus visit numerous temples and palaces.

The Neighborhood Club is located at 17150 Waterloo. Call 286-0323 for more information.

Shutterbugs meet
Visitors are welcome to join the Grosse Pointe Camera Club when it holds color print and nature slide competition on Tuesday, April 10, at 7:30 p.m. at Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte. Call 822-1944 for more information.

Breaking away is topic for South mothers
Evelyn Yeagle, director of guidance in Grand Rapids and expert on teenagers, will speak Wednesday night, April 11, in South High School's auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on "Breaking Away: How to Stay in College," sponsored by En Garde of South's Mothers' Club.

For the first 18 years of their lives, most students live in a protected, supportive system. When they go away to college and are suddenly placed in a new and different environment with a new and different peer group, their personal strength will be tested. While some can cope with the change, others will become depressed, return home or become suicidal.

Mrs. Yeagle teaches students how to make the necessary adjustments using skills they can practice before leaving home. She will also outline how parents can facilitate the breaking-away process.

The public is invited.

K of C to sell Tootsie Rolls

The Michigan State Council of the Knights of Columbus will host its annual drive to raise funds for mentally handicapped children's programs Friday to Sunday, April 13 to 15, Palm Sunday weekend.

Local council will solicit funds from motorists in exchange for Tootsie Rolls on those days. Eighty percent of the money is returned to the councils for distribution to local organizations. The balance is distributed to areas of the state that aren't covered adequately.

Almost $2,500 was distributed to four local organizations last year as a result of Our Lady Star of the Sea council's efforts at Mack and Vernier and in front of Farmer Jacks and the Pancake House, according to E.F. "Red" Scherr, grand knight of council no. 7780.

Recipients of the funds raised by council 7780 include the Grosse Pointe Neighborhood Club, the Archdiocese of Detroit Catholic Schools Division for Exceptional Children, the Foundation for Exceptional Children and the special education catechism program at St. Joan of Arc Church in St. Clair Shores.

Donate blood at St. Clare Church

Red Cross volunteers will be on hand for a blood drive from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Sunday, April 8, in the social hall of St. Clare Church, Whittier at Outer Drive.

All donors are welcome. For more information, call 884-2409 or 885-5698.

Kids can spend day with farm animals

The War Memorial will bring a little bit of country to the city when it presents "Baby Animal Day" Sunday, April 15, from noon until 4 p.m.

The animal display and special demonstrations in shearing sheep, milking a cow, and spinning and weaving, will be led by Farmer Webster of Upland Hills Farm.

The event will give children a first-hand farm experience where they can see, feel, hear, and even get a whiff of life on a farm. For children who have visited a farm before, this experience will provide the repetition necessary for greater understanding of rural life.

Children should be dressed for the outdoors since the display will be outside on the War Memorial green. In case of rain, everything will be moved indoors.

Admission is $2.50 per person, and food and refreshments will be available for a nominal cost. Tickets are limited and should be purchased in advance. For further information, call 881-7511.

'Hippo Sandwich' at local libraries

In celebration of National Library Week, April 8 to 14, the children's department is presenting a special performance of the "Hipopotamus Sandwich" by the Other Things & Co. of Oakland University.

The program is a potpourri of music, dance and mime featuring the poetry of Shel Silverstein, Judith Viorst, Edward Lear and others for ages 5 through 12.

Three programs are scheduled for Saturday, April 14, at the following times and locations: 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Park branch, 15430 Kercheval; 1 to 2 p.m. at the Woods branch, 20600 Mack and 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the Central Library, 10 Kercheval.

There is no charge and seating is on a first come, first served basis. The program is made possible through the support of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Library.

Park woman robbed while walking

A Grosse Pointe Park resident walking on Mack near Beaconsfield had her purse taken by two boys, reported Grosse Pointe Park police.

The incident occurred about 9 p.m. on Sunday, April 1. The 63-year-old woman was unharmed and her purse was recovered with all its contents after the robbers either threw or dropped it as they ran away, said Henry Counce, Park police chief.

The thieves were described to be young black males, about 11 and 14-years-old, 4 foot, 11 inches and 5 foot, 4 inches tall, respectively. They were wearing dark clothes, said police.

Woods council enacts eight new ordinances

The Woods got itself eight new ordinances Monday night, March 19, in a flurry of activity by the city council.

Measures adopted at the hour-long meeting include an attempt to regulate noise levels in the city; set up guidelines for inspections of self-service gas stations and re-inspections of homes; set procedures for resolving complaints alleging discrimination against the handicapped; codify the city's store front guidelines; and set up separate tree and beautification commissions as well as adopting specifications for repairs of concrete by utility companies.

The formation of a separate nine-member tree commission was adopted as an emergency measure that takes effect on posting. The others will become city code in about three weeks.

The passage of a noise ordinance ends a year of discussions, including the formation of a noise committee, at the committee and council level. The measure, described by City Attorney George Catlin as a two-tiered ordinance, sets maximum levels of noise throughout the city as well as levels for commercial areas during the night.

The measure also sets guidelines for the measuring of the offensive noise as well as affixing penalties of $50 for the first offense and an additional $50 for each subsequent offense.

Noise levels are also set for businesses between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. in response to adjoining residents' complaints of loud noises during loading and unloading at businesses along the strip.

Temporary permits are also available from the public safety department to give businesses a chance to work at reducing the noise level without being in violation of the ordinance. The city also adopted its storefront design guidelines, giving architects, businessmen and city officials a definition of some of the elements of the Woods' colonial theme adopted as part of its master plan.

The guidelines will be used by the builders of new buildings when deciding on the front facade as well as by those contemplating renovations. Penalty for failure to comply will be the rejection of the plans for the renovation by the city. No criminal penalties shall apply.

Under the re-inspection ordinance, should the person requesting the inspection of a home or building for a certificate of occupancy from the city not be there when the inspector shows up, the person requesting the inspection will be charged $30 for a reinspection.

The building inspector has five days to complete its inspection. If violations are noted, the city will notify the person requesting the inspection. The ordinance allows one year for the bringing of the building up to code and calling for an inspection to determine compliance. That deadline may be extended 90 days by the building inspector. Failing to meet the deadlines will require re-application and payment of inspection fees, according to the ordinance.

The passage of the city's ordinance covering openings in streets made by utility companies repairing equipment was meant to set standards to insure the concrete is replaced the way the city wants it, officials said.

The city's ordinance covering self-service gas stations calls for anyone "who intends to construct, reconstruct, convert or alter" any gas station in order to operate a self-serve facility will have to submit plans showing the location of the pumps, the control console and the fire extinguishing equipment. An inspection fee of $50 for each self-serve island will be charged.

The city's new handicapped discrimination ordinance sets up procedures for investigating complaints of discrimination involving handicapped regulations made against the city or its employees. The complaints are to be made in writing to the city administrator's office, who then has five days to investigate and respond in writing. If the person doesn't like the adjudication of the city, an appeal may be made to the city council, who then has 30 days to act on the order. If still dissatisfied, a person can ask for an arbitrator's decision, but must pay half of the expense. The arbitrator's decision is binding on both parties, according to the ordinance.

Separating the tree and beautification commissions will mean a number of positions to be filled on the new nine-member panel, city officials said. Those interested in applying for positions on that or any city commission may pick up a biographical sketch at city hall. For more information, call 343-2440.

Forum topic is jail alternatives

"Going Straight," an NBC television documentary, will be shown Thursday, April 19, at the Third Grosse Pointe Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice.

"Going Straight," narrated by actor George Kennedy, challenges the use of prison sentences for non-assaultive criminals and presents practical alternatives to prison for these offenders. The film takes a graphic look at prison life and its effects on prison inmates.

"Going Straight" demonstrates the effectiveness of alternative sentencing for non-violent offenders by documenting programs now in use in Los Angeles, Quincy, Mass. and Elkhart, Ind. "Going Straight" will be shown by William F. Hayden, of the American Friends Service Committee, who will address the topic "Criminal Justice: Alternatives for a Safer Society."

The forum will take place at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free. The public is welcome. Parking is available behind the church and in the church parking lot next to the church on Torrey Road.

$2 check-off will help kids

Michigan taxpayers will again have the opportunity to donate $2 of any state income tax refund due them to the Children's Trust Fund by checking box 33a on the state income tax form.

This check-off box on state income tax forms can make the difference in hundreds of children's lives. The Trust Fund is used to help prevent child abuse and neglect by making money available on the local level for after-school "latch key" centers, drop-in centers, prenatal and pregnancy programs, and other youth related programs aimed at deterring and preventing child abuse, sexual abuse and neglect.

Last year, the first year the check-off box was available to taxpayers, the Children's Trust Fund received $678,000 which was distributed through the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board to 23 qualifying programs, according to Grosse Pointe State Rep. William Bryant, Jr.

Learn how to cope with aging parents

Family Life Education Council (FLEC), in cooperation with Northeast Guidance Center, is offering a six-week information and support group experience titled "As Parents Grow Older." The weekly two-hour sessions will enable participants to share their concerns and experiences while learning about the physical and emotional needs of elderly people, chronic illnesses associated with aging, effective communication between family members, alternative living arrangements and availability of community resources.

Co-facilitators of the group are Carol Zielinski of Northeast Guidance Center and Bonnie Hetzel of FLEC/Center Point. Ms. Zielinski, who co-authored the "As Parents Grow Older" program manual, is a specialist in aging who holds a degree in Adult Education-Educational Gerontology from the University of Michigan. She is currently Program Supervisor of The Older Adult Mental Health and Elderly Substance Abuse Services Unit of Northeast Guidance Center.

Ms. Hetzel holds a Master's degree in social work, as well as a Specialist Certificate in aging from Wayne State University. She has experience with hospice and social work in home health care.

The group will meet every Wednesday from 2 to 4 p.m., beginning April 11 through May 16 at FLEC/Center Point, 18412 Mack, at Moran, in the Farms. Enrollment will be limited. To register, call Barbara Hoffmann at FLEC, 885-3510, by April 9. The fee for all six sessions is $30.

Log house opens for tours

The Selinsky-Green Log House, a salt-box shaped, clapboard-sided solid log house constructed by Polish immigrants about 1870, is open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

The log house, saved from destruction in 1974 by St. Clair Shores, has been restored to show what life was like in St. Clair Shores, then Erin Township, about a hundred years ago. There is no admission charge.

The Selinsky-Green Log House is located on Eleven Mile Road just east of Jefferson Avenue, behind the St. Clair Shores Public Library. Groups wishing to arrange tours are asked to make advance arrangements by calling museum curator Mary Karshner at 771-9020.

DYRs plan April dance

Detroit Young Republicans will hold a dance on Friday, April 13, at the Hoffman House in Warren, from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. The cost is $1 members and $6 non-members and proper attire is required.

PWP discusses personal goals

Parents Without Partners of Grosse Pointe will present Marjie Potter-Scott speaking on "Your Personal Goals in Life-How to Obtain Them" at the War Memorial on Friday, April 13, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Ms. Potter-Scott is a therapist in private practice and a counselor for the Displaced Homemaker Project at Macomb County Community College and workshop coordinator for the Continuum Center at Oakland University.

Parents Without Partners meets every second and fourth Friday of the month at the War Memorial beginning at 7:30 p.m. After the meetings there is an afterglow at the K of C Hall on Little Mack at 10 Mile Road.

Call 881-5892 for more information.

Alzheimer's group meets next week

"More Effective Communication with Alzheimer's Patients" is the topic of the spring meeting of the Detroit Chapter of Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association Sunday, April 8, at 2 p.m. at Harper Hospital.

Parking is adjacent to the hospital, located at 3990 John R. in Detroit. The meeting is free and open to the public as well as health care professionals.

Woods police arrest two in pigeon drop

Woods police arrested a man and woman in connection with an attempted pigeon drop Monday afternoon, March 12, in front of the city's Mack offices.

The 75-year-old resident and intended victim told police she had left Christ the King Lutheran Church and was walking along the east side of Mack in front of the city offices when she was approached by a woman who said she had found a bag, marked with a "Texas Commerce" logo.

The woman pulled what looked like a large stack of bills out of the bag, the intended victim told police, and then said she wanted to call her boss to tell him about finding the money and tried to convince the intended victim to allow her to use her home telephone.

The intended victim balked, reports said. The two were then joined by a man who asked what had happened. After the explanation, the couple tried to convince the 75-year-old woman to take them to her home where they could use her phone, according to reports. The woman again refused, and instead suggested dropping the money off with police to let them find the owner.

The man and woman then drove away, heading south on Mack in an orange Oldsmobile, reports said.

A Michigan Bell Telephone worker saw the exchange and turned her vehicle around to approach the group and observe the transaction, reports said. When the man and woman left, the Bell worker and the intended victim walked into the station and reported the incident to police.

Police in the area began checking the south end of the city for the vehicle. Officers pulling into the Pointe Plaza parking lot saw the car and stopped it, arresting a man and woman. The woman had gotten out of the car and tried to enter Kresge's through rear doors that were locked when police approached, police said.

Officers noticed a suspicious bulge in the woman's clothing and asked her to remove the object. She refused, reports said. A strip search performed at the station found $211 in the woman's various garments, reports said.

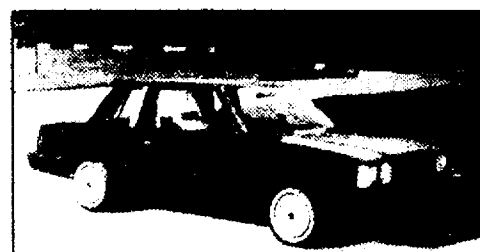

Police also searched the vehicle and found a brown leather-like briefcase containing three green cloth zipper bags.

Also found were two stacks of white paper cut to the size of dollar bills wrapped in various size stacks with rubber bands.

Rev. Hunt addresses SAC<sup>2</sup> on April 10

The Substance Abuse Community Council of Grosse Pointe has scheduled a meeting and program on Tuesday, April 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the North High School Commons.

Following a short business meeting there will be a program presented by the Rev. Meridith Hunt entitled "Drinking, Drunkenness and Alcoholism: A Focus on Attitudes."

Rev. Hunt, currently an assistant at St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Detroit, is the Protestant Chaplain and program evaluator of the Alcohol Rehabilitation Unit at the Veteran's Administration Medical Center in Allen Park.

As a certified alcoholism counselor, Rev. Hunt has been conducting alcohol education programs for 12 years and has extensive experience counseling alcohol-troubled persons and families.

The meeting and program are open to the public.

Commissioner Hertel wins Audubon Society award

John C. Hertel, who represents Wayne County on the Board of Commissioners of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, has been selected as a recipient of a Michigan Audubon Society Award for 1984.

Hertel, a former State Senator, was honored in the legislator category for his contributions to legislation which improved the environmental quality of Michigan. He was chairman of the Senate Environmental Affairs Committee for seven years. Hertel represents Grosse Pointe and part of Detroit as a county commissioner.

The award was presented at the annual banquet of the Michigan Audubon Society held at Delta College on March 31.

While in the senate, Hertel was author of key legislation aimed at protecting and enhancing the environment in Michigan. His successful efforts included passage of the PBB Clean-Up Bill which eliminated PBB from livestock, dairy, the environment and the human food chain, and legislation creating the Toxic Substance Control Commission, which was the first of its kind in the nation. He was chairman of two committees which limited the use of phosphates in detergents and approved the landmark wetlands bill.

Hertel led an unsuccessful fight to prevent drilling in the Pigeon River Forest and was one of only four senators out of 38 to vote against the drilling permit bill.

Throughout his career as a public official, Hertel has received numerous awards in recognition of his strong environmental concerns. These include "Legislative Conservationist of the Year" from the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the "Outstanding Legislator of the Year" from the Michigan Agricultural Conference.

Tom Washington, Executive Director of the MUCC, recently stated that when John Hertel and three others decided not to seek re-election to the Michigan Legislature, "... we lost the environmental conscience of state government."

Hertel is a member of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, where he represents the First District (including Harper Woods, the five Grosse Pointes and northeast Detroit). He is also a professor of Government, Environmental and Technology at Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield and Chairman of the Committee on Regional Development for the Southeast Michigan Council of Government.

He was appointed to represent Wayne County on the seven-member HCMA Board on May 19, 1983. There are 12 Metroparks serving the citizens of the counties of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw.

Special Note: The Michigan Audubon Society annually presents awards to deserving individuals, corporations, governmental units or agencies, or Michigan Audubon Society Chapters for an outstanding contribution to conservation efforts, wildlife research, environmental legislation or writing, and outstanding promotion of the Society's activities or goals.

Baptist church opens its doors

Harper Woods Baptist Church, a new congregation in northeast Wayne County, began holding services Sunday, April 1, at 19678 Lochmoor in Harper Woods.

First Church of the Brethren, Harper Woods, will share its facility with the new group. Regular Brethren services will be held on Sunday mornings.

The Baptist Sunday School will begin at 2 p.m., followed by the hour of worship at 3 p.m. A neighborhood Bible study/share group will meet every Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of pastor Charles Watson, 19960 Woodmont. Nursery services will be available at all meetings.

The new church is affiliated with the Greater Detroit Baptist Association and the Southern Baptist Convention, the largest Protestant denominations in the U.S. For more information, call Pastor Watson at 881-9113.

Blood drive set

St. Clare de Montefalco Church, 1401 Whittier Road, will host the Red Cross Bloodmobile from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, April 8.

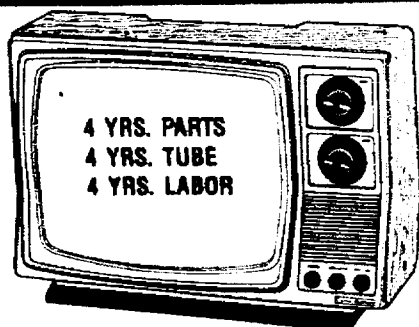

For an appointment, call Mrs. William Schroeder, 885-5698. Blood can be donated by anyone in good health between the ages of 17 and 65 years who weighs at least 100 pounds.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

Spring has sprung, for Grosse Pointe North High School Parent Club's Annual Geranium Sale has begun, and that's a sure sign the flowers will soon be blooming. It's the 14th annual sale, proceeds providing funding for scholarships and the purchase of equipment not covered by the regular school budget.

Flats of eight plants, in a choice of Irene Red, Delicate Pink or Salmon Pink, are offered at $12 per flat. All orders must be pre-sold and may be picked up at the North High gym or will be delivered to residents of the Grosse Pointe School District on Friday, May 11, or Saturday, May 12, in time for Mother's Day; Sunday, May 13. Deadline for ordering is Monday, April 30.

To order, send checks, payable to the Grosse Pointe North Parent Club, with your name, address and phone number, number of flats wanted and color choice, to Grosse Pointe North Parent Club, 707 Vernier Road, Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich. 48236. Be sure to specify if you will/will not pick up your flowers.

Marie Ducoin is chairing the sale this year. Joan Buccinna and Jean Marcaccio are in charge of collating and delivery. Mary Craparotta is responsible for advertising. Additional information may be obtained by calling 343-2187.

Another Sign of Spring

Spring has sprung, for the Grosse Pointe Symphony Women's Association is busy with plans for its annual Spring Salad Luncheon. It's a members-only affair, start to finish, with a member-prepared menu of salads and desserts. It will be held this year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Yates II.

It begins at 11:30 a.m. next Wednesday, April 11. Mrs. Robert Reisig is general chairman. Mrs. Joseph Jennings is in charge of the punch bowl. Mrs. Joseph Marshall is handling reservations. Mrs. J.C. Hurley is responsible for collecting the corps of hostesses: not a difficult job at all, for this is always a pretty, "fun" party, and there's no arm-twisting involved in getting hostesses for such a happy event.

And Yet Another Sign . . .

Spring has sprung, for Grosse Pointers' thoughts are turning toward early morning excursions to Eastern Market, to collect the freshest of the first fruits and vegetables of the season. For a touch of class this spring, consider taking them home in a hand-woven (by you) pineapple basket.

Mary Herbert will teach students how to weave a pineapple, or market, basket in an all-day workshop next Thursday, April 12, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. If, at the end of the day, you're so proud of your finished product you can't conceive of using it as a shopping bag, that's quite all right. Pineapple baskets make very pretty decorative pieces. Workshop fee is $25.

Edie's just one in a Series of Celebrities

Stage, screen and television star EDIE ADAMS (second from left), last speaker in the Grosse Pointe Celebrity Series 1983-84 season, is flanked by MRS. JOHN R. SCHNEIDER (left), season chairman, and MRS. THOMAS H. MERCIER (second from right), who will chair the 1984-85 season which, for the 31st year, courtesy of Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League, will bring outstanding personalities to Grosse Pointe to address local audiences. At far right is MRS. WILLIAM A. YOUNG, who co-chaired the just-completed season's advertising committee. Loretta Young will open the 1984-85 Celebrity Series Oct. 11. She'll be followed by defense attorney F. Lee Bailey, on Nov. 8, concert pianist and Victor Borge co-performer Leonid Hambro, on Jan. 10, and humorist/poet/author Judith Viorst, on March 11. All will speak at 11 a.m. at the Parcels School Auditorium in Grosse Pointe Woods. Mrs. Walter V. Bernard is Mrs. Mercier's co-chairman for the new season. Tickets, $25 if purchased before May 1, slightly higher after that date, may be obtained by sending checks, payable to the Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League, to Mrs. Ernest G. Moeller, 1984-85 Celebrity Series ticket chairman, 801 Lakeland Avenue, Grosse Pointe, Mich. 48230. All Celebrity Series proceeds benefit Bon Secours Hospital.

Five Pointes Club to meet

Mrs. Bruce M. Regan and Mrs. Donald N. Sweeney III will be co-hostesses for the Five Pointes Garden Club's annual luncheon and installation of officers next Thursday, April 12, at noon at the Country Club. Mrs. Elsie Rowe will serve as Five Pointes president in 1984-85. Mrs. Leslie Jones will serve as vice-president, Mrs. Harold Heffner and Mrs. Yvonne Maxon as recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, and Mrs. Jerome Seaton as treasurer.

Election today for Pettipointe

Mrs. Richard Abbott opens her home today, Thursday, April 5, to members of the Pettipointe Chapter of Questers whose brown bag luncheon will be followed by Mrs. Fred L. Carter's talk on "Old Barns." The chapter's annual business meeting, including election and installation of officers for 1984-85, will also take place.

Questers, which has several Grosse Pointe-based chapters, is a national organization devoted to the study of antiques and historic preservation.

A jazzy DRC meeting

The Edsel & Eleanor Ford House will, for the fourth year in a row, be the setting for the Detroit Review Club's annual meeting and new members' luncheon. The program next Tuesday, April 10, begins with a business session at 10:30 a.m. during which Mrs. Robert Gerisch, retiring president, will introduce the new slate of officers and turn the gavel over to the 1984-85 president, Mrs. Justin Emery, who has been in charge of DRC's last two benefit fashion shows. Post-luncheon, Mrs. Frank J. Welcenbach, the club's program chairman, and chairman of the day, will introduce the Grosse Pointe North High School Jazz Band: (back row, left to right) BARB BEAUCHAMP, alto sax, NATHAN JUDSON, conductor, DAVID JENNINGS, trumpet — and photographer, JOHN DOHN, tenor sax; (middle row, left to right) ANTHONY PAGE, drums, TINA MARCACCIO, piano, KATIE THOMPSON, bass; and (on floor) JEFF FLEMING, trombone. They promise a summary of the growth of jazz, in a variety show format.

In addition to her program responsibilities, Kay Welcenbach, who also happens to be a docent for the Ford House, will show new members and others through the residence of the late Edsel & Eleanor Ford.

Mrs. James Houlihan, who has served as president of the Detroit Women's Council of the Navy League and will be in charge of DRC's next annual benefit party, will serve as the Review Club's first vice-president in 1984-85. Mrs. Rowe Balmer, who will be in charge of the club's new year book (DRC has, incidentally, had year books since 1891!), is the second vice-president.

Recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, are Mrs. Patrick Moylan and Mrs. William O. Bradley. Treasurer is Mrs. Bernard McLellan. Directors are Mrs. Gerisch and a pair of Pointe residents, Mrs. Allyn Litchfield and Mrs. Robert Lucas, all of whom have served DRC well for the past several years.

Mrs. Eugene Cuddy, membership chairman, will present the new members, each of whom will receive a corsage at the luncheon which begins at 12:30 p.m.

New members from the Pointe area include Mrs. Albert Jacoby, Mrs. J.A. Monterosso, Mrs. John W. Murphy, Mrs. George Petersen, Mrs. Carl Nolte and Mrs. Frederick Schoettly. Others are Mrs. Frank Grady, Mrs. Richard Kuandle, Mrs. Mary Lou Masters, Mrs. Paul Nine, Mrs. William Quigley, Mrs. Vincent Russell, Mrs. Anthony Rutkowski and Peggy Speer.

Herbig, Watts concert dates

Gunther Herbig, music director designate of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, takes the Ford Auditorium podium for two weeks of subscription concerts beginning tonight, Thursday, April 5, at 8 p.m. and including an April 6 Friday morning Coffee Concert at 10:45 a.m. and an evening concert Saturday, April 7, at 8:30 p.m.

Guest artist is American pianist Andre Watts, thrust into the international spotlight 20 years ago, at the age of 16, with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic. Watts will perform Liszt's Concerto No. 2 in A major.

Shostakovich's Symphony No. 4, Op. 43 comprises the remainder of the program for which tickets, ranging in price from $9 to $18 for the evening concerts, $10 to $15 for the Coffee Concert, are on sale at the Ford Auditorium box office and all CTC outlets. MasterCard and VISA charge card customers may order by telephone at 567-1400.

Church women meet April 10

The Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Congregational and American Baptist Church's monthly meeting next Tuesday, April 10, begins at 11:15 a.m. with a business session in the church lounge.

Luncheon, for which reservations should be made in the church office by noon Monday, April 9, will be served at noon by the Naomi Group in the social hall. Program chairmen Mrs. Myron Mountz and Mrs. Edward Price have invited Mrs. Frank Seydler, a church member, to show her slides tracing the Moors through Europe. All women of the church are welcome.

Saturday Sing at Youtheatre

Barry Louis Polisar will feature "I Eat Kids" and many of his other original songs for children in hour-long Detroit Youtheatre programs at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. this Saturday, April 7, in the Detroit Institute of Arts Auditorium/Theatre.

Tickets for the concerts, designed for families with young people five years of age and older (children younger than five will not be admitted to the theatre) are $3 for children and adults, $2 per person for groups of 10 or more. They may be purchased in advance through the museum ticket office, 832-2739, and at the door.

Fort Pontchartrain marks a birthday

Fort Pontchartrain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, celebrated its 68th birthday at a party Friday, March 16, at the Detroit Boat Club, featuring a program on "Early America" by chapter member Mrs. Bernard Seitz.

Mrs. William Garrett, regent, introduced guest regents of other metropolitan area DAR chapters: Mrs. Frantz Johnson, Colonel Joshua Howard, Mrs. Frederic Heath, Elizabeth Cass, Mrs. Robert L. Henan, Ezra Parker, Mrs. Raymond H. Meyers, John Sackett, Mrs. George Edson, Louisa St. Clair, Mrs. Roger K.

Harter, Piquet Hill, Mrs. Ornes L. Henke, Quakertown, Mrs. Robert Willoughby, Sarah Ann Cockrane, Mrs. Thomas Nancarrow, Three Flags, Mrs. Bill Jones, Elizabeth Biename, and Mrs. Jack Blom, General Josiah Harmer.

Mrs. Beryl McNamara, chairman of the Fort Pontchartrain committee that selects high school seniors on the basis of leadership, dependability, service to their schools and communities and patriotism for citation as DAR Good Citizens, presented pins and certificates to those young people selected this year.

Vows spoken in January

A reception at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club followed the wedding of Mary Edna MacDonald and Timothy Andrew McCaughey Saturday, January 28, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. The Reverend David Antonson presided at the 2:30 o'clock ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne S. MacDonald, of Newberry Place, wore a high-collared gown, ivory in color and featuring a bodice covered with Schiffl-embroidered English net, a peplum waist and tapered, straight sleeves. Her skirt, styled with a scalloped, embroidered hem, extended into a pointed, chapel length train.

A Juliet cap, made of Alencon lace from her grandmother's wedding veil, held the former Miss MacDonald's fingertip veil. She carried ivory roses and baby's-breath.

Jean Sinclair MacDonald, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Nancy MacDonald, Russell, another sister, and the bridegroom's sisters, Christine E. McCaughey, Mary McCaughey Power, of North Salem, Ind., and Martha J. McCaughey, carried maroon and pink roses and carnations, interspersed with baby's-breath.

They wore long-sleeved, high-necked blouses of ivory batiste, styled with lace and satin yokes and collars, ivory satin cummerbunds and floor length skirts of maroon taffeta.

Peter C. McCaughey acted as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Dr. and Mrs. Richard S. McCaughey, of Farmington Hills. Ushering were Drew T. Homovec, Thomas A. Routsong, of Dayton, Ohio, Christopher B. Harrington and Henry C. Huth, of Chicago, Ill.

The mother of the bride wore a long-sleeved, high-necked dress of royal blue silk, cocktail length and belted at the waist. Jewel detailing accented the V-neckline and cuffs of the three-quarter length sleeves of the bridegroom's mother's floor length dress of taupe satin, styled with a sashed, gathered waistline.

The newlyweds vacationed in Jamaica, at Ocho Rios. They are at home in St. Clair Shores.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's uncles and aunts, Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm Spencer, of Veedersburg, Ind., Mr. and Mrs.

William Parker, of Clearwater, Fla., Mrs. William Getty, of Evansville, Ind., and Mrs. Samuel Schneider, of Rockville, Md., and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Laughna, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. J. Tullis Rogers, of Dublin, Ohio.

June wedding date is made

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Huzzard, of Rochester, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Lea, to Robert Matthew Trombly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Trombly, of Barclay Road. A mid-June wedding is planned.

Miss Huzzard was graduated from Rochester High School and holds both a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Master of Science degree in Speech Pathology from the University of Michigan. She is an assistant director of Speech Pathology at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, and is also employed as fitness instructor for Right Moves, Inc., of Rochester.

Her fiancé, a Grosse Pointe North High School graduate, holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Michigan and expects to receive his D.D.S. from the University of Michigan Dental School this month. He is a member of the Jonathon Taft Society and the American Dental Student Society.

Kimberly Drumney

Rites planned in December

Mr. and Mrs. George Drumney, of Harvard Road, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kimberly Ann, to David Jerome Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Hunt, of Bridgeport, Conn. A December wedding is planned.

Miss Drumney was graduated from Grosse Pointe South High School and received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Western Michigan University. Her fiancé is a Business School student at George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

Leslie Weller to say vows

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Weller, of Moran Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Leslie, to Donald Edward Schuster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edward Schuster, of Tequesta, Fla., formerly of Bloomfield Township. A late August wedding is planned.

Miss Weller was graduated cum laude from Tufts University with a Bachelor of Arts degree. Her fiancé holds a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the University of Michigan and a Juris Doctorate from Wayne State University.

Luncheon meeting for Josiah Harmar

Mrs. Warren Mills will assist Mrs. John S. Buchanan when she welcomes members of the General Josiah Harmar Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution to her Redford home for a noon luncheon meeting Saturday, April 7.

The hostess, just back from the State DAR Awards Presentations at Kellogg Center in Lansing, will report on the activities which took place there.

Mrs. Jack Blom, regent, will be the chapter's delegate to the 93rd DAR Continental Congress, to run April 16 through 20 in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Buchanan and Mrs. Harry Young will accompany her to the nation's capital.

Mercy calling alumni home

Mercy College of Detroit is inviting all former students to "come home" for the 1984 Mercy Alumni Reunion, scheduled for Saturday, April 7. Ticket price is $12.50. Additional information may be obtained through the Office of Alumni Relations, 592-6114.

May wedding date is made

Mid-May wedding plans are being made by Kimberly A. Dickey and James P. Williams Jr. whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dickey, of Grosse Ile.

Miss Dickey was graduated from Grosse Ile High School and holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from Michigan State University.

Mr. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Williams, of Mount Vernon Road, is a Grosse Pointe South High School graduate and received his Bachelor of Arts degree in Marketing from Michigan State University. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha.

Miss Frye to wed Mr. Phyfer in June

Early June wedding plans are being made by Lorie Owen Frye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Frye II, of Lake Toxaway, N.C., and granddaughter of Mrs. John Owen III, of Stephens Road, and the late Mr. Owen, and Jay Paul Phyfer, son of Mrs. Jamie Daniel, of Geneva, Ill.

Miss Frye is a graduate of Appalachian State University in North Carolina. Mr. Phyfer is professor of Art and Photography at Virginia Intermont College, Bristol, Va.

And if you can't wait for your garden to present you with fresh flowers to arrange in a spring bouquet, consider signing up for a War Memorial 1 to 3 p.m. Silk Flower Arranging class, to be led by Lenore Threm and Maryanna Olenick next Tuesday, April 10. Kits for a spring or French style bouquet may be purchased from the instructors for approximately $20.

You can get the kits on the workshop day, but you can't get into the workshop unless you register in advance. Fee is $15. Additional information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

For those who want to be able to arrange their own hand-made silk flowers by summer, the War Memorial is offering a five-week course beginning Thursday, April 19, at 9:30 a.m. Helen McKnight will give complete instruction in the designing, fashioning and coloring of flowers made of China silk.

Cost of the course is $50, plus a $10 materials fee. Class size is limited, and registration must be made by April 10 — which is the Silk Flower Arranging class day, so you can plan to come a little early for that and stop off at the War Memorial office to register for Silk Flower Making.

All About Windmills

Holland has lots of them, along with tulips. Don Quixote tilted at them, and lost. So what else do you know about windmills? If the Windmill Pointe Chapter of Questers has its way, members of other area Quester chapters will be able to discuss windmills in depth after Monday, April 16.

That's the day the Windmill Pointe Chapter celebrates its 15th birthday by throwing a party, at 9:30 a.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Invitations have been sent to all East area and Canadian Quester groups, as well as state officers of the national organization devoted to the study of antiques and historic preservation. All who are able to attend are asked to RSVP as soon as possible, by calling 882-3611.

Theme of the day will be — need you ask? — windmills. Mrs. Marc Brown, Windmill Pointe Chapter president, will give a short history of them, after which guests and members will spend the balance of the morning socializing. Refreshments will be served.

Exhibition Pointers

Ibex Club members and their guests will sip wine and savor cheese in Jacobson's Store for the Home next Wednesday, April 11, from 6 to 8 p.m. as they preview an exhibition of paintings, sculpture and crafts by Ibex members. Mrs. William J. Coyle is the club's president. Mrs. Donald G. Blain is chairing the reception for the show, to be open daily through April 20. If you find yourself in-the-Village anytime during that time — and you will! — take a few minutes to take a look.

And if you find yourself in downtown Detroit with time to spare between now and April 30, check out the work of Pointe watercolorist Mary Louise McCarroll in the group exhibit at the new W D I V Studio Gallery on Lafayette Boulevard. The show is presented by W D I V Gallery in conjunction with C.A.D.E. Gallery.

New trustees for Children's

Paul L. Broughton, president and chief executive officer, Children's Hospital of Michigan, has announced the election of three new members. Mrs. William Clay Ford, of Lakeshore Road, Donald A. Lindow, of North Brys Drive, and Ray J. Lynch, of Ballantyne Road, to the hospital's board of trustees.

Martha Firestone Ford, a graduate of Foxcroft School and Vassar College, is a member of the board of trustees of Maple Grove Treatment Center and Henry Ford Hospital. She is a past-president of the Children's Home of Detroit and a past University Liggett School and Merrill-Palmer Institute board member.

Lindow, a Wayne State University graduate, is chairman of the board of the Michigan Mutual Insurance Company and its two subsidiaries, Associated General Insurance and Associated General Life of Detroit.

His numerous civic and business affiliations include service on the Orchestra Hall Advisory Council and as vice-chairman and director of the Executive Services Corps as well as director of the United Foundation and Michigan Metro Girl Scouts, Inc. He is a member of the Advisory Council and past-president of the Detroit Historical Society, first vice-president and director of the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan and chairman of the Traffic Safety Association's board of trustees.

Lynch, a graduate of the University of Illinois Business School, is chairman of the board of American Natural Resources Pipeline Company and vice-chairman of its parent company, American Natural Resources.

He is a member of the boards of directors of the ANR Storage and Coal Companies, the Gas Research Institute, Michigan National Bank of Detroit, American Gas Association, Interstate Natural Gas Association of America and Boysville of Michigan, and serves on the Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan Advisory Council.

"If it weren't for Linda, I couldn't live at home."

Home health care workers like Linda help thousands of people who prefer to be cared for at home rather than in an institution. Sometimes home health care may help avoid someone you love.

We're the national office of a private health care services organization. We provide nurses, nurse assistants, home health aides, home makers and companions. Our services help elderly people who want to stay at home and avoid the hospital. We also help people who have long-term illnesses, those recovering from surgery, and many others.

Talk on Germans in America slated

The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research will present Pastor Frederick S. Weiser, of the Pennsylvania German Society, discussing "Germans and Pennsylvania Germans" at the genealogy session of the 26th Annual Conference on Local History. Pastor Weiser will present his program at Wayne State University's McGregor Memorial Conference Center on Saturday, April 14, at 10 a.m.

The speaker, a Lutheran clergyman, graduate of Gettysburg College and the Lutheran theological seminaries in Gettysburg and Philadelphia, is editor of the Pennsylvania German Society's publications and has translated and published many Pennsylvania German church records.

He is also an authority on Pennsylvania folk art. He will give the ground rules for genealogical research of Pennsylvania Germans and those who migrated to the United States a century later, in a program appropriate to the 300th anniversary of Germans in America.

There is a small fee for registration at the Local History Conference. Further information may be obtained by calling 833-1480 or 463-3881.

Monica Bodendistel

To say vows this summer

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bodendistel, of Roslyn Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Monica Anne, to James Francis Taubitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taubitz, of St. Clair Shores. An August wedding is planned.

The bride-elect, a Grosse Pointe North High School alumna, received her Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing from Wayne State University and is employed at Henry Ford Hospital. She is a member of Sigma Theta Tau national honor society for nurses, the Michigan Nurses Association, NAACOG and the Wayne State University Alumni Association.

Her fiancé was graduated from South Lake High School and received both Bachelor and Master of Science in Business Administration degrees from Wayne State University. He is employed at J. Walter Thompson in Detroit and is a member of the WSU Alumni Association.

Winning Winter Landscape

Pictured above with her "Winter Landscape," which won an Honorable Mention in the 38th Annual Michigan Water Color Society Exhibition, is Woods artist MARY ARO. The show, on display at the Detroit Artists Market on Randolph Street in downtown Detroit, closes tomorrow, Friday, April 6. The Market is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Chrysanthemum Society to meet

Mary D'Amico, of the Cleveland Chrysanthemum Society, will report on "Growing the Artistic Forms of Chrysanthemums" at the Greater Detroit Chrysanthemum Society's free, open-to-the-public meeting at 2 p.m. this Sunday, April 8, in the Community Room at the Tel-Twelve Mall.

She will use slides and charts to illustrate her discussion of how to grow Bonsai, Cascade and Tree Form chrysanthemums.

Mrs. D'Amico is both a National Chrysanthemum Society Master Judge and an International Judge, accredited by the Great Britain Chrysanthemum Society. She has won many national and international awards for her flower arrangements.

A variety of Bonsai and Cascade mum plants will be available at the meeting, for those interested in growing them. Mum catalogues for the society's annual plant sale, scheduled for May 19, will also be available; orders should be placed now.

A triple treat for GP Rose Society in April

"The Three P's of Spring" — Purchasing, Planting and Pruning of Roses — will be John and Deanna Stephens' topic at the Grosse Pointe Rose Society's meeting next Wednesday, April 11, at 7:45 p.m. in the library of Barnes School, Morningside Drive at Fairford Road.

The Stephenses will show slides to illustrate their discussion of what to do with roses at the start of a new growing season in Michigan, beginning with an assessment of the rose garden after winter protection has been removed.

They will talk about the preparation and planting of bare root roses purchased from mail order nurseries. They will review the various types of roses, with an eye toward varieties which grow well in this climate, differences in growth habits and ways to utilize these differences to best advantage in landscaping.

The speakers grow approximately 200 roses in their own garden, which was featured on the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council Summer Tour in 1978. Each of their children has a special bed of about 40 miniatures. Stephens' roses have won many trophies and certificates in national and local competition, and the family hobby has been the subject of articles in both the Detroit Free Press and Detroit News gardening sections.

John and Deanna are members of the American Rose Society, the Great Lakes District of the American Rose Society, the Detroit and Metropolitan Rose Societies and the Royal National Rose Society of England, as well as the Grosse Pointe Rose Society.

Hostesses for their Pointe Rose Society program next Wednesday will be Rhonda Bakewicz and Margaret Young. The meeting is open to the public. There is ample parking in the rear of the school building.

The Grosse Pointe Rose Society is co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

Seek volunteers for TV auction

More than 3,000 volunteers are needed to work in a variety of positions at the nine-day WTWS/Channel 56 Auction, airing April 6 through 14 on Detroit's only public television station.

"Volunteers are the key to the auction's success, and we have a crucial shortage of them," says Carolyn Meldrum, Channel 56 volunteer coordinator. "There are lots of different jobs to choose from — and the auction is always a lot of fun!"

Volunteers are especially needed Monday through Thursday, April 9 to 12, from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m., and Monday through Friday, April 9 to 13, from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. Groups are encouraged to consider volunteering for these shifts.

The volunteers assist in displaying merchandise, taking bids phoned in by viewers, confirming high bids and delivering items to high bidders when they come to the New Center Channel 56 studios to pick up their merchandise.

Persons or groups interested in volunteering may contact Ms. Meldrum at 873-7200, Extension 200.

Last year's sell-a-thon of donated goods and services raised $818,225, or some 17 percent of the station's annual operating budget, helping make possible the showing of such programs as "American Playhouse" and "Sesame Street" as well as locally produced programs in Detroit.

Spring South High benefit

Tickets for the Grosse Pointe South High School Mother's Club Spring Benefit, a luncheon and presentation of fashions by Walton-Pierce and Hickey's next Thursday, April 12, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, are $12 each and may be obtained by sending checks, payable to the South High Mothers Club, to Pat Palm, 282 Moran Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Short and to the Pointe

Air Force Captain Cheryl L. Nilsson, daughter of Ray and Lena Lynch, of Ballantyne Road, has been decorated with the Meritorious Service Medal at the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo. Nilsson, a law instructor, is a 1975 graduate of Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind.

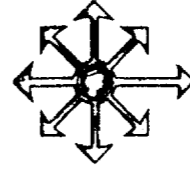

Pointer Mort Crim recently received a media achievement award from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Dr. Claud R. Young, state president and national vice-chairman of the SCLS, presented the award.

James P. Pauley, of South Oxford Road, received a Bachelor of Science degree from Northern Illinois University at December commencement ceremonies.

Airman William B. Edgar, son of William R. Edgar, of Cadieux Road, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. He is a 1980 graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School.

Among students named to the winter term Dean's List for honor students at Colby-Sawyer College, New London, N.H., is Cynthia C. Head, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Head, of Stonehurst Road. She is a junior enrolled in the Child Study Program.

Dr. Patrick Verb, of The Woods, was the guest lecturer at the Metropolitan Detroit Optometric Society's March 18 Continuing Education Program in Southfield. Dr. Verb described the optometrist's vital role as primary eye care practitioners and discussed the latest advances in cataract surgery and lens implant techniques. Dr. Verb is in private ophthalmological practice in the Woods. Following medical school at Wayne State University, he completed his residency at Kresge Eye Institute with specialization in treatment of diseases and disorders affecting the anterior portion of the eye.

Lazarus rising
 Lent has been a busy season for Les Papillons Liturgical Dancers, who have appeared in worship services and special programs at a number of area churches. They are pictured above in a performance of "The Raising of Lazarus," one of several dances they present as appropriate for the pre-Easter period. Les Papillons, sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, have performed in churches of every denomination across all of southeastern Michigan during the past five years, as well as on television. Last week, they participated in the 25th anniversary Eucharist service at Holy Family Episcopal Church in Midland. Tonight, Thursday, April 5, they will appear in an evening service at Redeemer Methodist Church in Harper Woods.

Performing this evening will be Steve Honkanen, Lizzie Bolden, Becky Engelbrecht, Jenny Eshleman, Ellen Probert, Mary Lee Strother and Eunice Whitaker, who is the troupe's director and choreographer. They will present four dances — "Yahweh Called Me," "Psalm Twenty-Three," "Spirit of God" and "The Vine and The Branches," all based on Biblical references, during the Redeemer Church service. "The Vine and The Branches" is danced to a reading of Scripture. Music for "Psalm Twenty-Three" is by Abraham Kaplan, a noted American composer of religious music.

Cottage hosts Lamaze film
 The Lamaze childbirth film "Nan's Class" will be shown at 8 p.m. Friday, April 6, in Conference Rooms A and B at Cottage Hospital. No fee or reservation is required, for the movie is presented as a public service by Childbirth Information Service, Inc., a non-profit, volunteer group which provides Lamaze, Early Pregnancy, Cesarean and Post-Partum Support

Music night for Phase I
 Music-loving members of Phase I, the organization for single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, will rendezvous this Sunday, April 8, at 7:10 p.m. in the church hallway coatroom before finding seats together in the sanctuary for a special Musica Series Concert featuring over 60 local singers and an orchestra of 33 players, performing works by Mendelssohn and Beethoven. Tickets for the concert, at $5 per person, are available from singers Jan and Barbara Dietz, 884-1661, John Schober, 884-1285, or Doris and Gust Jahnke, 884-1672. Some may be available at the door — if the program is not a sell-out.

Alpha Xi Deltas off to Plymouth

With Homeric you get that hometown feeling ... fast.

Everyone is concerned about relocation. Leaving a familiar hometown and finding a new one can create considerable worry and anxiety for a family.

Relocation doesn't just mean finding the right home.

It means finding:

- the right community
- the right neighborhood
- the right schools
- the right price ... and so much more.

But most important is how quickly you and your family sense that comfortable hometown feeling.

Homeric can make a big difference

Our family relocation counseling services are available through Homeric offices and National Relocation Centers in major metropolitan areas. You'll also find Homeric's help in smaller cities and towns across the nation.

As soon as you get in touch with us, you'll hear from one of our Relocation Counselors. All Homeric Relocation Counselors have been selected for their extremely high standards ... standards that have been refined for more than 25 years. That's why Homeric truly is "the first name in family relocation."

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, SUPER SEAFOOD CASSEROLES.

CRABMEAT-BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen broccoli spears
2 Tbsp. margarine
2 Tbsp. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup evaporated skim milk
1/2 cup skim milk
1 can (7-1/2 oz.) crabmeat, drained and flaked
1/4 cup thinly sliced green onion
2 Tbsp. coarsely chopped pimiento
2 Tbsp. slivered almonds
Thaw broccoli and cut stems into bite-size pieces, keeping flowerettes separate. Melt margarine in saucepan; stir in flour and salt. Gradually stir in milks; cook over medium heat until mixture boils and thickens. Fold in crabmeat, green onion and pimiento. Arrange broccoli flowerettes around edge of shallow baking dish or heatproof platter. Fill center with remaining broccoli pieces and spoon sauce over broccoli in center of casserole. Sprinkle with nuts. Bake in 375° oven 20 minutes, or until hot and bubbly. Serves 4.
Calories per serving about 200.
Cholesterol about 55 mgs.

SHRIMP-FISH DISH

This is one of the most flavorful seafood casseroles, a delight when entertaining. If you want more glamour, add sliced black olives and artichoke hearts.
9 lasagna noodles (about 1/2 lb.)
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach
1 large onion, chopped
2 Tbsp. margarine
1 pkg. (3 oz.) Neufchatel cheese
1 cup low-cal cottage cheese
1/4 cup Egg Beaters, beaten
1 tsp. Italian herb seasoning
Salt and pepper
1 can condensed cream of celery soup
1/3 cup skim milk
8 oz. frozen cooked shrimp
1 lb. pkg. frozen fish fillets, thawed and cubed
3 Tbsp. grated Parmesan cheese
2 Tbsp. seasoned bread crumbs
1/3 cup low-cholesterol Cheddar cheese, grated
Cook and drain noodles according to package directions. Arrange three noodles in bottom of greased, oblong, two-quart baking dish. Press thawed spinach in strainer to remove all moisture. Saute onion in 1 Tbsp. margarine until soft. Blend in spinach, Neufchatel cheese, cottage cheese, "egg" and herb seasoning; add salt and pepper to taste. Spread about one-third of mixture over noodles in dish. Combine soup, 1/3 cup skim milk, shrimp and fish; spread about one-third of mixture over cheese layer. Repeat layers. Mix Parmesan cheese with finely crushed bread crumbs; sprinkle on top and dot with remaining Tbsp. of margarine. Bake in 350° oven for 45 minutes. Top with low-cholesterol cheddar cheese and bake five minutes more. Let stand about 20 minutes before cutting into squares to serve 8 to 10.
Calories per serving about 323.
Cholesterol about 73 mgs.
The addition of ripe olives and artichokes will add about 13 calories per serving.

SHRIMP CREOLE

2 lbs. shrimp, cooked and deveined
1/4 cup margarine
2/3 cup onion, chopped
2/3 cup green pepper, diced
1 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 cup celery, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
3 Tbsp. flour
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
2 cans (8 oz.) tomato paste
2 cans (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. dried basil
Hot, cooked, parsleyed rice
Saute onion, green pepper, mushrooms, celery and garlic in melted margarine until tender. Stir in flour; bring to a boil. Add lemon juice, tomato paste, tomato sauce, salt, pepper and basil. Cook for 10 minutes. Add shrimp, and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer until thoroughly blended. Serve on platter, surrounded by hot, parsleyed rice. Serves 8.
Calories per serving without rice about 210.
Cholesterol about 161 mgs.

Time For The Easter Bunny... to visit the School Bell, 17904 Mack Avenue. Order your special baskets for the "sugar-free" child. No sweets but lots of fun!

TRESSES HAIR STUDIO... in the Village is now carrying a complete line of Nexus products, 881-4500.

CONNIE'S STEVE'S PLACE

See the hundreds of pretty Easter dresses and hundreds of handsome Easter suits for boys. It's worth the drive to Mack Avenue one block south of Nine Mile Road, 777-8020.

CAMBRIDGE COUNSELOR

Spring Is Coming... and this is the perfect time to rethink all your storage areas. PERFECT CLOSET is here to serve your needs by expanding space thru organization... 885-3587.

Apparently... I've confused a lot of our old customers who were used to getting the FINEST quality color prints in ONE HOUR at Studio Camera. You see, when Studio Camera moved out to Birmingham last month, we had no one to sell our beautiful color prints. So, we opened our own retail outlet. What does it mean to you, our valued customer? Very simple. It means better service, better prints, and lower prices. It means no lines of people fighting over a number to get waited on, while all you want to do is to pick up your pictures and some film, and get going. It means being greeted by your name, and not being ignored like you are at most stores today. It means a return to the very basics of retailing, customer service with a smile, which seems to be a lost art today. It means dealing with sales personnel who KNOW what a good print is, and who won't let you leave the store with pictures that are less than excellent, because they know the boss wouldn't want it any other way. If you haven't ever experienced how good your color prints can look when they're processed with the care that only we can give them, please give us a try today. Bring in any processing envelope from the store you're having your photos processed at with this ad. We'll deduct $3.00 from your order. If you're not happy with any of the pictures you get back, you don't have to take (or pay for) them... no questions asked. With an offer like this, you can't lose. You MAY even discover that there's really nothing wrong with your camera, and that all your pictures needed was the "tender loving care" that we give each and every order by printing them on genuine KODAK paper. Do us both a favor. Empty out the pictures that are sitting in your camera, and bring them in for some T.L.C. today. Thanks... ## Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

A baseball retrospective

My Uncle Leo never forgets.

He lives in Miami and although we've only seen each other 15 or 20 times in my life, we've corresponded enough for him to know that I like baseball. He's always sending me baseball-oriented items; never forgetting that I love the sport almost as much as he does.

Like a few years back, Rich Dempsey and several other Baltimore Oriole players visited the dog racing track where my uncle works. We all lucked out that day: the Orioles had a good time, my uncle's track was the beneficiary of all that fun and I got an autographed baseball, an Oriole T-shirt and Dempsey's old baseball cap — complete with a dirty sweatband.

This year, just as baseball season is gearing up with high school teams hitting the field April 7, and the Tigers opening at home April 10, my Uncle Leo came through again. Last week's mail brought a collection of antique baseball programs and photographs that have made my annual anticipation of a new baseball season even more fun than usual.

The collection includes an April, 1938 issue of "Baseball Magazine: a 1939 "Detroit in Baseball — A Centennial Souvenir" and a 1938 Tiger Spring Training program. Uncle Leo threw in a 1935 University of Detroit football program and some Tiger photos for good measure.

What was a popular complaint of 1938 baseball fans? "The game isn't what it used to be," moaned fans and baseball writers. The 1938-vintage fan longed for 1887 — the days of wooden stands and 5 cent admission. They marveled at the time when Opening Day meant a "crowd" of 4,000 and "there were no floral horseshoes" — undoubtedly the benchmark of a 1938-era Opening Day that the 38ers couldn't believe were missing from that 1887 opener.

The 1939 program recalled an 1887 game which was interrupted for a ceremony honoring Detroit player Charley Bennett. At the end of the ceremony, Bennett's gift, a wheelbarrow filled with 520 silver dollars, was wheeled around the stadium to the accompanying wild cheers of the crowd.

The 1939 book also pointed out that the Chicago White Sox team of the late 1800s was sold for $55,000, and added that "conceivably, a Bennett, a Twitchell, a Brouthers or a Thompson alone, would call for an investment approximating that sum today, in 1939."

Today, in 1984, $520 is just about right for one player's meal money for a week. And $55,000 seems to be the going rate for dollars per pitching win these days. I don't even want to speculate over what "a Bennett, Twitchell, Brouthers or Thompson" would be worth. Whoever they were.

Apparently, the fans of 1938 or 1939 didn't take the World Series as seriously as we do today. The fall classic is referred to in the very lower case, as in "world series." And the Tiger programs make very little of the fact that local fans suffered through 25 years without a pennant winner; although they were proud to note that Detroit had never finished last. Thank heavens for small favors.

In the old programs, team photos bear captions containing names unrecognizable to me. Only the famous Ty Cobb is familiar among the 1907 pennant winners pictured in the centennial program. Mathew McIntyre, Claud Rossman, Samuel Crawford and Edward Sievers — Cobb's teammates on that squad — sound more like partners in a law firm than members of a ball team.

Not unlike, I imagine, the names Kirk Gibson, Alan Trammell and Lance Parrish will sound to baseball fans 77 years from now. If there still are baseball fans in 2061.

In 1938 language, even the names I do recognize from Tiger championship history are distorted.

'Learning' year ahead for track teams

By Peggy O'Connor

If South High's new boys' varsity track coach is more familiar with the girls' varsity track program, he should be forgiven. The coach is Steve Zaranek and he'll lead both teams this spring, after coaching the South girls for the past five seasons.

Zaranek has taken a new approach to the South track program, one similar to that he has used in guiding the highly successful boys' and girls' track team at St. Clare School.

ULS girls run for fun

By Peggy O'Connor

In a way, University Liggett School girls' track coach Cathy Schmidt is a lot like many of her charges — new on the job. Schmidt came to ULS this year after 10 seasons as a track coach at Westtown High School in Pennsylvania. She takes over a team with few returning players, little experience and "no superstars."

But Schmidt admits that she is looking forward to what many coaches would call "a learning experience." Only 15 girls have come out for the squad this season and an 18-day spring break has prevented Schmidt and the team from working out too extensively. They're back in school now and ready to go.

"What I have seen is that we have a really wonderful group of girls. They are enthusiastic, willing to learn and a lot of fun to be with. I'm looking forward to getting out there with them and having some fun," Schmidt says.

Senior Sarah Glass was the only ULS girl to run cross country last fall and will compete in distance events for the girls this spring. Junior Ahunna Nwosu should do well in high jump and spring events, Schmidt says. Junior Rebecca Boone looks like a top threat in the discus and sophomore Carol Ling had some respectable scores in long jump last year.

"My husband Josh will be working with the shot and discus events. When he first started working with the girls, I think there were a few girls who hadn't ever seen a discus. Now I think we've got a whole discus team," Schmidt laughs.

That sort of situation seems to describe the attitude the entire ULS squad will form this season. It's at least the attitude their coach has adopted.

"I won't say we're going to be undefeated ... but I know we're

McCoy on Bucknell roster

Bucknell University men's tennis team coach Craig Reynolds has released his tentative opening day line-up, and Grosse Pointe's Todd McCoy is on it.

McCoy, a Bucknell sophomore, is in contention for the No. 1 singles spot.

"We're doing things a little differently this year, with girls and boys practicing together like we do at St. Clare. So far, the teams have responded very well. One of our goals this year is to get people more involved and this approach seems to be helping.

"It's hard to say how successful we'll be because it's early, but so far, we seem to be able to get the coaches working more with people to help them be competitive," Zaranek says.

Zaranek emphasizes that his going to have a lot of fun.

"I've made it a point not to compare this team with my teams in Westown. But I am trying to use some of the things I've done before to show the girls what they can work with in this sport," Schmidt says.

"My major goal this season is to maintain consistent improvement. It's exciting and fun to keep a record of personal bests. We want to make that a goal in every meet.

"I guess that's the tone of the season: to stay away from injuries, to learn something and to have fun."

And that's not all bad since fun is, after all, the name of the game.

NEXT WEEK: Tennis previews.

Changes for North in '84

By Rick Markel

Having undergone many changes during the off season, there are a lot of questions still to be answered by North's boys' track team. As always, this year's version will be competitive but just how competitive no one knows for sure.

The major change involves the coaching. Bob Collins will now take over. A physical education teacher from Detroit, Collins will work with new assistant coaches Dave McEvers (cross country coach), Bill Weidenbach and Mike Schomer. Another major change involves the team personnel. Having lost a lot of talent to graduation last year, the '84 team will be generally inexperienced.

Collins and his new staff will be trying to orientate themselves to the team. Besides getting the troops into shape, their job will be trying to "fit" everybody into the right main objective is to set up the atmosphere of involvement and to get the 130-plus participants to be competitive in each event. As far as setting goals for success, Zaranek feels that each team member will ultimately be responsible for his or her success.

"I would say that as far as the girls go, we'll be doing our best to win the league. Other than that, we like to set individual goals."

South's girls were second in the Eastern Michigan League last season, finishing behind EML titleholder East Detroit. The boys were in the middle of the EML pack in 1983.

Zaranek feels that East Detroit will again pose the greatest opposition to South's girls' stride towards a league title. Port Huron and Mt. Clemens look tough on the boys' side. "Those two are looking great already. They finished first and second in a spring indoor meet just recently," he says.

Zaranek sees both the girls and boys fielding solid teams which should at least be competitive in every event. The distance events look strong for South; both the boys and girls placed well in last fall's cross country state finals.

"Nancy Solterisch is looking marvelous this spring, and she's just a sophomore. Renuka Uthappa is another distance runner who looks good. For the boys, senior Andy Wise and sophomore Chris Astfalk will compete in the distance events. Astfalk set a city record at St. Clare."

Sprinters Paul Hawk and Karen Campbell are the top contenders in the sprint events. Zaranek says Al Moebus, who coaches the field events for South, is encouraged by what he's seen so far this spring.

Moving up a notch in the EML isn't going to be easy for either squad, says Zaranek. "The EML is tough, every team seems to have good depth. But then, so do we."

Both squads open their seasons with a 4 p.m. meeting Tuesday, April 10 at Highland Park.

Nancy Solterisch, South's distance event hope in the upcoming girls' track season, is pictured here as she set a freshman cross country record for South last fall.

Club crowns cage champs

Each year hundreds of Grosse Pointe men spend their winter evenings perfecting their basketball games and this year was no exception as thirty-five teams filled the gyms on weekday nights.

Fifteen of those teams were "over 30" leaguers — real dedicated roundballers. Although the leagues would not rival the N.B.A., the competition was tough. Double elimination tournaments determined the champions in the four different divisions.

The "A" tournament consisted of the top teams in the blue division and the gold division. J.B.'s Boys had the hot hand, defeating Edward V. Monahan, Inc. team in the finals. Carrera won four straight in the "B" tournament to make the finals. Anderson's, the other finalist, came from the losers' bracket. In the finals Anderson won, 61-40, forcing a second game. Again, Anderson moved in front with a 23-20 halftime lead, but Carrera fought back to squeak out a 39-36 victory.

The "Over 30" competitive league saw some stiff competition between Skalski Int. and Jim Saros Realty. In the tournament, Skalski defeated Saros in the finals of the winners' bracket, only to see them again in the finals. After a 28-26 halftime lead, Skalski pulled away in the second half to a 68-56 win. The "Over 30" non-competitive league saw Art's Tavern win four games in a row to take the title. In the finals, they easily defeated the Raiders, 64-46.

Another 14 teams played a special version of roundball in the three-man basketball, under 6 feet league. Games were played on Saturday afternoons with a double elimination tournament at the end of regular season play. Simon Says defeated the Crawdads in the "A" tournament, and the Inebriates defeated the All Stars in the "B" tournament. Three-man basketball is played on half of a regulation court with three players per team; all basketball rules apply.

Final standings for all teams follow.

Titans win league, playoff crowns

The Bantam Division Titans finished up their 1983-84 hockey season in the best way possible; with a playoff championship win over the Blues, 5-3.

Mike Irwin opened the scoring in the March 25 game, with an assist from Taras Gracey. Then Irwin added his second goal of the game. Gracey and Dominic Vitale assisting. The Titans opened a three-goal lead when Jim Ryszewski combined with Irwin and Reuben Ascencio for his goal.

But the Blues refused to quit, coming back with three unanswered goals. Pat Peplowski scored first on assists from Ted Evans and Bob Osborne. Kevin Bourke scored from Paul Sutherland before Pat Clavet converted a Mark Warezak-Evans passing play to tie the score.

Just as they had all season, the Titans fought back on a goal by Roger Romine, set up by Irwin and Carrasco. Ascencio capped the scoring when he finished off a solo, rink-long dash with the Titans' fifth goal of the game.

The Titans received outstanding goaltending during the season from Scott Flemming and Matt Frame as each recorded shutouts. Jeff Berger, Scott Adlloch and Ascencio anchored a strong defensive corps which helped the goalies attain a 2.13 goals against average.

David Hall, Tom Stephenson and Andy Gneiser each had two, two-goal games during the championship season. League scoring leader Gracey, team captain Ryszewski and Romine each recorded hat tricks.

The Titans were coached by bill Adlloch, Gary Berger and Mike Irwin.

Demons win Adray title

The Grosse Pointe Blue Demons Mite travel team had a pretty good year for a team which began the season last fall with only two players who had ever played travel hockey. The Demons won a league title this season and, on March 18, captured the Adray mite travel playoff championship with a 2-1 win over Southgate.

On their way to the title, the Demons beat a case of playoff jitters and outskated Wyandotte, 3-1, at the GPCR in late February. Sean Darke, Mike Klobuchar and Lanny Tracy were goalscorers; Brad Eickhorst had two assists.

In a game against Dearborn, the Demons played well in taking a 5-1 win. Marcel Chagnon scored twice and added two assists. Klobuchar scored once and combined with Kip Gofredson to set up another score.

On March 10, the Demons had a real scare in the semifinals from a greatly-improved Trenton team. Grosse Pointe finally prevailed, 3-2, in overtime, thanks to a concerted team effort and a tie-breaking goal from Klobuchar. The Demons' goals came from Kevin Brennan, assisted by Tracy and defenseman Cullen McMahon; and from Klobuchar, who was assisted by Chagnon.

After surviving the semis, the Demons were psyched up to go all the way — which they did with a 2-1 win over Southgate for the championship. Brennan was the hero in this game, scoring the only goal in regulation time and connecting on a breakaway for the winner in overtime as Grosse Pointe beat its rival, Southgate.

Defensemen Joey Provenzano, Steve Solaka, McMahon, Jumanee Benton and Troy Taylor played very well. The coaching staff of Chris Chagnon, John Klobuchar, Steve Keenan and Frank Taylor, as well as goalie coach Kerry Rose, helped an inexperienced mite travel team improve this season.

Goalie Mark Tapp has become a Mite travel standout and forwards Mark Primeau, Gofredson and Eickhorst have developed into excellent skaters.

The Demons were sponsored by Emmet Tracy.

And the honors keep coming . . .

Give these guys varsity hockey teams to play on and look what happens: they end up placing four players on the Class A All-State hockey teams.

South defenseman Dan Follis was picked to the first team for his fine performance on the Blue Devil blue line this season. Earning second team honors were forwards Marc Tirikian and Mark Young, who formed a part of a high-scoring line on the first-year North High hockey team; and resilient forward Phil Pitters, from South. All but Pitters are seniors.

Rentschler is All-American

Kenyon College women's swimming tricapitain Amy Rentschler of the Woods couldn't have dreamed of a more successful ending of her outstanding collegiate career than the three All-America ratings she earned as the Kenyon Ladies won the 1984 NCAA Division III national championship.

A four-year member of the ladies team, Rentschler swam on Kenyon's record-setting 200-yard and 400-yard freestyle relay teams in the 52-team national title meet.

University Liggett School's Knights didn't have the same type of year as North and South, but got an excellent effort from team members. ULS placed two players on the post-season All-State squad as defenseman Dan Bowen and forward Rob Wood received third team, honorable mention recognition.

In the Michigan High School Hockey Coaches Association final poll, South High was ranked No. 6 in Class A. South earned a 16-7-2 record enroute to a regional hockey championship.

Pointers play ball for U-D

A pair of Pointers will hit the diamond for the University of Detroit this fall. Mary Beth Bierman returns for her third season on the Lady Titan softball squad and North High product Bob Brown is back for his fourth season on the men's baseball team.

Brown, a senior left-handed outfielder, is one of U-D's tri-captains. He hit .295 with two home runs and 25 RBI last season, and made just one error in the outfield. He was North's athlete of the year in 1980, leading the Norsemen to a Class A state title. A liberal arts major at U-D, Brown was All-League and All-Metro in football, All-League and All-Suburban in basketball, and All-League, All-District, All-Region and All-State in baseball at North.

Bierman, a graduate of Our Lady Star of the Sea High, is a right-handed outfielder for the Lady Titans. She was a softball and basketball All-Leaguer at Star.

Hockey open house at SH

The South Hockey For'Em Club will host a Hockey Open House this coming Tuesday, April 10, at 7:30 p.m. at South's Cleminson Hall. Refreshments will be served.

The session is intended for all students who will be attending South High in 1984-85 and who want to know more about the intramural or varsity ice hockey programs.

Tim Zimmerman, South's varsity head coach, members of the 1983-84 team and others will be on hand to answer all questions and pass out important information.

Schools' swim sessions set

The summer and seasonal sessions of the age-group, competitive swimming program co-sponsored by the Department of Community Education and the Grosse Pointe Swim Club will begin Tuesday, May 1.

The seasonal swimmers' mini session is a group planned for the swimmer who wants to get an early start on the summer program. This group is open to all swimmers, including those with limited competitive backgrounds. Participants will receive extensive technique instruction including video taping, films, lectures and games.

The summer session will encourage swimmers at all levels to extend their ability through a strenuous training program and to prepare for competition at the Summer State Championships. Late registrations are not encouraged for the summer session because of the earlier date of the summer championships this year.

Call the Department of Community Education of The Grosse Pointe Public School System at 343-2178 if you would like to be included on the mailing list for either of these programs.

Sports Week

Who are the guys the 1939 programs calls "William Rogell, Thomas Bridges, Charles Geringer, Marvin Owen, Lynwood Rowe, Henry Greenberg, Gordon S. Cochrane, Herman E. Clifton and Leon Goslin?"

Any Tiger baseball fan who knows anything worth knowing about the Bengals is more familiar with the names Billy Rogell, Tommy Bridges, Charlie Geringer, Marvelous Marv Owen, "Schoolboy" Rowe, "Hammering" Hank Greenberg, Mickey Cochrane, "Flea" Clifton and "Goose" Goslin. C'mon 39ers, Herman E. Clifton?

And speaking of names, guess what that era's hard-working journalists were called? (Remember, now, those programs were meant for family consumption). "Mr. Salsinger, the sporting editor of the News; Mr. MacDonnell, of the Times and Mr. Ward, of the Free Press," were among the "men who furnished the dope" to Detroit baseball fans, according to the program. Dopesters, huh? And not a female reporter in the bunch.

Prices were low in 1938, too. A fan could get individual "art posters" of big leaguers for 25 cents each, six for 50 cents (now there's a deal) or 12 for $1. The program itself sold for about 15 cents. And inside, advertisers asked fans to dance at the Blue Boat Inn — featuring Ted Rice and his Orchestra — or bite into a "Juicy Steak Hamburg" for only 20 cents.

And, while times have changed a lot, some things never will. Like managers. They still argue with umpires, pull pitchers when they shouldn't and they still make reporters angry. And they still have the toughest job in baseball, if this excerpt from a 1939 poem by Ed B. Tiffany still holds true.

"Oh, the manager's job is not much fun,
For he gets the razz from everyone.
Unless the team's right at the top—he's branded as a great big flop.
And half a hundred thousand fans, would place him with the also-rans.
And tell him what he should have done—
Oh, a manager's job is not much fun.

Sparky Anderson would probably agree.

Anyway, I had so much fun reading those old programs, I think I've almost forgiven my uncle Leo for not taking me with him when he had tickets to the 1968 World Series.

That's ALMOST. You see, it runs in the family . . . I never forget either.

Changes

event. This was evident in North's first encounter at the Huron Relays.

Though North didn't place in the meet, nobody was overly concerned. The coaches were just experimenting and trying to get a line-up set for the regular season. Even so, Coach Collins was very pleased with the performance of Steve Saigh who placed 8th in the long jump and did well in the 55 meter race.

That performance was a particularly good sign for North as Collins feels the key to this team will be its sprinters. Combining Saigh with Chris Bingaman gives North a strong sprinting crew. "The team will win because of its sprinting," says Collins.

Uncharacteristically, North won't have the outstanding distance performances it has had before. The Non-women will also suffer from inexperience and a lack of depth.

1A-PERSONALS

THE HOLY SPIRIT, St. Jude and the Memorare thank you for request granted. VERA

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen.

Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your favor, after third day your favor will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this prayer as soon as your favor has been granted. Favors received. W.J.H.

ARE YOU DREAMING of doing a little flower growing and having your own yard to do it? We are both working and no longer have time for flowers. ## Center Ice in the GPHA

This column marks the conclusion of the weekly Center Ice feature for the 1983-84 season. The Grosse Pointe News thanks the column's many contributors and is especially grateful for Grosse Pointe Hockey Association publicity director Dave Cass and his wife, Cindy, for their fine efforts in coordinating the feature.

ISLANDERS-NORTH STARS
The Pee Wee Islanders came back from a two-goal deficit to beat the North Stars, 3-2, and win the Pee Wee House championship.

Jack McSorley started the scoring for the North Stars with his unassisted goal in the first period. Later in that frame, Kevin Nugent made it 2-0 when he converted a Jamie Osborne pass. But the Islanders bounced back with a goal 31 seconds later as Peter McDermott finished off a play started by Frank Lucido and John Olmsted.

The Islanders' tying goal came from Shannon Nowiecki on a pass from Lucido. Olmsted scored the game-winner in the third period, completing another pass from Lucido, who earned a playmaker award for the contest.

Earlier in the tournament, the Islanders beat the North Stars, 5-1, behind Nowiecki's hat trick. Chris Stebbins played well in goal in both playoff games.

NORTH STARS-USA OLYMPIANS

The North Stars got to the championship game with a 5-1 win over the Olympians.

Derek Smith led the scoring with a hat trick. The first goal gave the Stars a 1-0 lead and came on Smith's first shift when he converted a Scott Soule-McSorley passing play. Then with the North Stars playing short-handed, Smith took a feed from Brad Hea and Nugent to make the score 2-0.

Although they were not credited in the scoring, it was the heads-up, persistent play at both ends of the ice by Stars' forwards Kevin Boehm and Ron Sables which kept the Olympians from getting to goalie Jeff Blum.

The Stars made it 3-0 when Nugent scored on a nigh shot which beat Jim Bunn on the short side. Osborne and Aaron Groce drew assists on the play. Blake Crawford finally penetrated the Stars' defensive wall of Groce, Hea, Will Chave and Kelly Reed, to score. Nancy Alcott and John McGlone assisted.

Smith combined with Reed and Osborne for his third goal, then Jimmy Alderton put the game away for the Stars when he tipped in Osborne's shot from the point; Nugent also assisted. Osborne earned a playmaking patch for his efforts.

Mite House win is like . . . Magic!

The 1983-84 GPHA Mite House hockey season came to an exciting end March 18, when the Major Magics topped the Black Hawks, 4-0.

The two teams were in the top positions of the league during the entire season. The Major Magics were the first half season champions and the second half went to three co-champs, Major Magics, Black Hawks and Kings.

The Major Magics finished the playoffs with the best record and were designated the home team for the championship game. Both teams were excited to be given the honor to play in the championship game before a large crowd at GPCR and to have the game taped by Grosse Pointe Cable for later broadcast, and what a game it was! Excitement filled the air at GPCR and kept most of the fans on their feet for all three periods.

The Major Magics took the lead in the first period and never gave it up. Well-disciplined and well-balanced lines were the winning combination for the Major Magics. Matt Spicer opened the scoring for the Major Magics in the first period on a pass from Robbie Wiczorkowski. In the second period, C-liner Lucien Hudson (a big scorer for the season) scored his goal in the top of the second period on an assist from Ricky Gokenbach.

Later on in the same period, Kevin O'Malley blistered a shot into the net on an assist from Hudson to make it 3-0 in favor of the Major Magics at the end of the second period. In the third period Carl Rashid took a pass from Justin Braun and scored the final goal for the Major Magics.

The Major Magics defensemen played an excellent game. Joe Pierce, noted for his excellent defense playing on B-line, is one of the main reasons that line has not been scored against in 14 consecutive games. Major Magics goalie Jon Paul Sweda played brilliantly in the nets, with three shutouts in the playoffs.

A well deserved congratulations went to coach Bill Fox and his coaching staff as well as to the players and their parents.

SCS ice show a hit

More than two dozen Grosse Pointe skaters were among the 200 skaters participating in the 13th annual "Reflections on Ice" ice show at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena March 30 through April 1.

Christopher Bowman, 1983 junior World and National Champion, and 1984 Midwestern Senior Pairs champs Maria Lako and Michael Blicharski made guest appearances. The event was sanctioned by the U.S. Figure Skating Association.

Members of the senior, junior and school of skate class from Grosse Pointe who participated include junior skaters Melissa Ryan and Liz Smith, of the City; Alexis DiNatale, Elizabeth Ritter, Tiffany Tracy and Ann McDonald, of the Farms; Tanya Erickson, Sue Maury and Michele Weston, of the Park, and Kristin Buckler and Kelly Diem, of the Woods; and senior skater Karen Naturkas, of the Woods.

School of skate members included Nicole Gimpert, Kristen Gregory, Stephanie Kirtz and Tekla Warezak, of the City; Jennifer Earhardt, Ann Platt and Michelle Ritter, of the Farms; Meridith Akins and Amy Greenfield, of the Park; Laura Antonenko, Shelly Ballew, Sarah and Stacy Miller and Gretchen Szama, of the Woods; and Anthony and Michael Curis, of the Shores.

Brownell boys improve

The Brownell boys' seventh grade basketball team finished its season recently, sporting a 3-8 record.

Team managers were Brian Burns, Laura DeMercurio, Tim Golobic, Kenny Krausmann, Eric Paczkowski and Lucas Wright.

South honors athletes

South High

Ann Shulte earned the coach's award.

Some of Grosse Pointe's finest athletes were honored at the South High winter sports awards night March 15. Winter sport athletes received most valuable, most improved, sportsmanship and coach's awards.

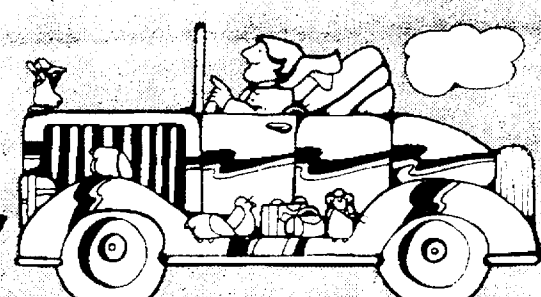

Seniors Brian Rathsburg and Cyril White received varsity basketball honors; Rathsburg as most valuable and White as best sportsmanship. Senior Tina Maher picked up most improved honors on the varsity volleyball squad. Sue LaPlae was best offensive player and Four awards went to the swim team. Ken Bachulis was named most valuable, the sportsmanship award went to Jack Nelson and the coach's award to Robert Owens. Peter Nicholson was most improved swimmer.

Gymnastics winners included juniors Karen Howe for most valuable and Patricia Leppala, for most improved. Juniors swept the cheerleading honors as Ann Vick was named most valuable, and Amy Andreou and Desiree Magness took the best jumps and coach's awards, respectively.
