Spring break?

As some of you may have noticed, my name wasn't on last week's column. That's because I didn't write it. FYI I was on a photographic safari/vacation to Colorado, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.

After browbeating my father into exchanging his big Buick for my little Toyota, I headed west in a warm Michigan rain, which was exchanged for cold Colorado snow.

Thirteen inches of western powder may be a dream if you've got a pair of skis strapped to your feet, but it can turn your hair white if you're astride four Goodyear radials.

Innately sensing that it might be warmer south of Colorado I headed into New Mexico in the direction of the Bisti Badlands, just outside the town of Farmington, where, you might be interested to know, you can get a dynamite rib dinner at a place called the "Snappy Bar-B-Q."

I spent most of one day photographing the badlands beneath a pure blue sky and in 70° weather that turned my fine translucent Michigan born winterized skin into a pretty good imitation of a tomato. I knew I was in trouble when bronzed New Mexican Indians began putting on their sunglasses and chattering to each other in Navajo as I approached.

After downing a killer cheese and chile omelette at a trading post in Mexican Hat the next morning, I spent most of the day drinking beer with four Indians beneath a bridge on the banks of the San Juan River.

For those of you in the know and on the go, Mexican Hat is just down the road a bit from Rattlesnake, New Mexico. Both are situated near Monument Valley, which is surely one of the most beautiful places on earth.

The Indians told me they knew everything about Michigan, which consisted of three facts: it had a lot of water and everyone there either made cars or trapped beaver for a living.

I confirmed the water bit, but told them we in Michigan had all sorts of occupations, just like anywhere else. Then I told them I was a lumberjack.

It was there on the banks of the red, rolling San Juan that I made the nearly fatal error of entering into a Jalapeno pepper-eating contest with a grinning native American named Calvin. Blame it on the beer, blame it on the sunburn, blame it on Michigan machismo, it doesn't really matter.

I thought I'd died and gone to hell. This was further confirmed for me the next day. At one point Calvin pulled up his shirt and showed me a long, jagged scar that ran across his chest like a lightning bolt. I nearly fainted until he told me he'd lost a kidney in a traffic accident just south of the bridge until then, I thought it had been caused by the peppers.

Needless to say, Calvin won and I bought him another beer and some more peppers.

In Kayenta, Arizona, something bit me on the right cheek while I waited to have a tire changed. The Indians must have thought I was a major loon when I started jumping around in the hot sun while smacking myself on the rear.

I never did discover what it was but I'm still waiting to see (Continued on Page 11A)

It's official: Recall on June 11 ballot

By Susan McDonald

Three and a half months of door-to-door canvassing paid off this week for the Committee for Neighborhood Elementary Schools — Recall. The Wayne County Clerk's office confirmed Monday that the group, which opposes school closings, had collected enough signatures to put recall questions against three school board members on the June 11 ballot.

In addition, county clerk James Killeen appointed Jeffery Blaine, a deputy city clerk for the city of Detroit, to oversee the election. Blaine will stand in for school board secretary Ernest Buechler, a recall target, who would normally run the election.

The neighborhood elementary school committee had collected about 8,400 signatures — almost 2,000 more than needed — on petitions calling for the removal from office of Jon Gandelot, Catherine Brierly and Buechler. The petitions stated the cause for recall was the school board's Nov. 14 vote to close Barnes Elementary School and to transfer sixth graders to middle school.

Both actions were approved by a 6-1 vote of the school board upon the recommendation of Supt. Kenneth Brummel as a way to cut costs and improve the quality of education in light of the school system's more than 40 percent decline in enrollment. Brummel, who is leaving Grosse Pointe for California in July, had earlier proposed closing four schools. That plan was trimmed after loud and angry protests from parents.

The recall questions will go to the public in the same election in which they vote to fill the regular terms of two trustees, Joan Hanpeter and Roger Mourad. Challenging them for four-year terms on the board will be candidates William Browns-combe, Fred Adams and Robert Radnick.

David Easlick, Jr., chairman of the recall group, said the recall committee will be disbanded and the $400 left over in its treasury will be donated to public libraries. He also announced he will be president of a new political Committee for Responsible School Government that hopes to raise $5,000 to support the candidacy of school closing foes Mourad and Brownscombe and to push for a "yes" vote on all three recalls.

His new committee was brought together "by a failure of democratic representation and a lack of positive leadership" in the schools, Easlick said. It also "reserves the right" to participate in other community political campaigns.

Recall targets Gandelot and Buechler said they were disappointed to hear the petition drive was successful, but they plan to fight for their jobs.

'If recall is successful, it means a small, vocal group can dictate to the rest...'

"There's a lot at stake here. Buechler said. "If the recall is successful, it means a small vocal group of people can dictate to the rest of the community how their schools will be run. We must get out the vote."

Gandelot said he "believes in the integrity of the community" come election time.

"I don't think they will recall people who are trying to save the school system money and improve education," Gandelot said.

The threatened trustees also have support from an organization called CARE (Citizens Against Recall Effort), which plans its own bumper-sticker, mass-mailing and newspaper campaign to save the trustees' unpaid jobs.

Pam Gladstone, a spokesman for CARE, called recall "a prescription for chaos that will make it nearly impossible to attract top talent to the community" to fill Supt. Brummel's position this summer.

Mrs. Gladstone said "it's about time the recall committee starts telling the community what they have in store for it in the future."

"All the committee has done so far is criticize the school board. They've had a year to come up with an alternative plan for dealing with the enrollment decline. But they haven't done it," she said.

Three separate recall questions will be placed on the June 11 ballot, according to election workers. Voters will be asked "Shall (the trustee) be recalled from the office of member of the Board of Education on the Grosse Pointe public school system? Yes or No." There will also be a paragraph on the ballot explaining the reason for recall and a paragraph explaining the reason the trustees took the action they did.

Many power lines and trees were felled by Monday's high winds, including this magnificent elm that grew in the yard of the Roland Ricard home on Westchester Road in the Park. The winds uprooted the otherwise healthy tree, scattering squares of sidewalk like so many playing cards. No one was injured in the home, although the structure itself did receive broken windows, gutter and roof damage. The winds, which whipped up a 3-foot chop of Lake St.

Clair, also knocked down numerous power lines, cutting power to North High School. The warm weather and high winds had one consolation — the weeks-long ice-jam that had paralyzed shipping through the St. Clair has eased. While some ice is reported still in the river, the heavy winds helped move the jam. For more photos of the wind storm that struck the area turn to page 9A.

Dr. Rickel plots women's gains

By Harriet Nolan

"Ripples, waves and currents," is the way Dr. Annette Rickel, a psychologist, describes moments in history that, added together, now influence the role of women in the 1980s. Because of these, the future holds new options in lifestyles that combine both feminine and masculine traits.

Mrs. Rickel, of Grosse Pointe, along with Meg Cerrard, Ph.D., and Ira Iscoe, Ph.D., wrote "Social and Psychological Problems of Women." Mrs. Rickel will be speaking at the Women to Women Forum on Monday, May 7, 7:30 p.m. at the War Memorial.

In the book's chapter titled "New Direction for Women, Moving Beyond the 1980s," she charts the first ripple beginning in the late 1860s when women won the right to own their own property and have equal protection under the law.

"In essence, this succeeded in changing women's status from that of property to that of an independent person with a legal and social identity," says Mrs. Rickel.

The second ripple occurred, according to Mrs. Rickel, when women discovered that the rights they had been given were in name only.

"Many victories are symbolic and await tangible implementation," she says. Changes require constant, continual reinforcement until the ground underneath is truly altered.

She says that time has changed some views regarding sex discrimination. Today, there is about 70 percent nation-wide agreement on the actuality and injustice of sex discrimination. Ten years ago, most individuals thought there was no discrimination.

Similarly, today rape is considered a violent crime punishable by law. Ten years ago, rape was thought of as sexual, exciting and generally the fault of women who "asked for it."

Another ripple that has turned into a wave is the fact that more women will assume the dual role of mother and head of household as they lose their status of wife through death of a spouse, separation or divorce, says Mrs. Rickel.

Also, since women have a tendency to blame themselves for their new circumstances when they no longer fit the traditional wife-at-home model or that of the media-hyped superwoman they will feel increased pressure.

Many will not seek help due to limited finances and the fear of social stigma. This situation will only add to the further deterioration of self-esteem, says Mrs. Rickel.

Because women are no longer dropping in and out of the work force, but are staying in it, careers have become an integral part of a

Woods may hike taxes by 7 percent

The average Woods homeowner may pay about $33 more in property taxes this July to help finance the city's 1984-85 budget, city officials said.

The city's finance committee wound up budget meetings with department heads Monday night by reviewing enterprise funds and capital improvement programs. Committee members were looking for ways to shift revenues from capital improvements to help cut the tax increase needed to fund the proposed $5.4 million general fund budget.

The council shifted $200,000 out of the capital improvement program by delaying the replacement of Faircroft street, eliminating the storage building for the department of public works, leasing instead of buying a computer system for the city and dropping other projects.

The council was faced at the beginning meeting with a tax increase of 14 percent or about $60 for the average homeowner. By putting the $200,000 into the general fund, the increase dropped to 7.3 percent, officials said.

City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen said last Monday night, April 23, the city would have to raise its tax rate to fund the proposed budget. The owner of a home assessed at $40,000 would pay about $36 more in city taxes, he said.

The proposed budget projects spending close to $400,000 more on four of the city's five major departments. Much of the increased spending comes from "uncontrollable" items such as utility costs, higher worker's compensation rates and contributions to pension funds, Petersen said.

Last year, the city shifted the lion's share of its state and federal revenue sharing funds out of its general fund and into its capital improvements program. The move was in response to delayed payments by the state and dwindling federal monies, officials said.

The council decided to shift some revenue sharing money back into the general fund to help trim the tax increase, Petersen said. In addition, the Woods may end fiscal 1983-84 June 30 with a surplus that can be rolled into the upcoming year's revenues to help cut the tax increase, he added.

Responding to committee chairman John Sabol's question about cutting department budgets, Petersen said cuts would damage city services.

He added the city was budgeting $20,000 to fund its own summer youth jobs program should the state not offer its program this year. The state has indicated it will probably run some jobs program, Petersen added.

The budget proposed will be adopted at a public hearing Monday night, May 21, and a tax rate will be set.

"New Directions for Women: Things Your Analyst Doesn't Tell You," will be Dr. Annette Rickel's topic at a Monday, May 7, lecture at the War Memorial. Council of Sponsors members Clair Kay (left) and Joan Woodhouse are also pictured. Dr. Rickel is author, with Meg Cerrard and Ira Iscoe of the soon to be published "Social and Psychological Problems of Women."

Another alarm — false

By Harriet Nolan

Burglary alarm systems that cry wolf when none are around are on the increase. In Grosse Pointe Park where the number of false alarms continues to rise because of owner carelessness or installation malfunction, the result is lost time and money for police.

"There were 426 false calls logged in 1982; 486 in 1983 and 163 so far this year," says Randall Cain, Park police sergeant. "Roughly, we're looking at a total cost of $50 to $75 per incident and one to two hours of time."

When a burglary alarm is received by police, a minimum of two patrol cars are sent, says Cain. They size up the situation, check out the house and write reports.

If it's a mistake and the owner or business calls to stop the run, one officer still goes to the location to verify that it's the resident and not a robber who is cancelling the call. This takes about one hour.

Cain says most alarms are set off by the owners, guests or household help who either forget or don't know where the alarms are. A number of "panic alarms" also occur by mistake.

"Malfunctions in the systems constitute quite a few calls," he says. "Since 1982 one business has had 38 false alarms and a residence 36. In all of the cases, police still respond." While Cain says honest mistakes do happen and that most reputable alarm companies give quality service, malfunctions in the system can constitute quite a few calls.

"If it goes off everytime a thunderstorm or heavy rainstorm occurs, then that's the fault of the system and should be corrected by the installer, says Cain. "I believe that technology is available to make these systems immune to outside influence."

Habitual offenders in the Park, those who log five false calls or more, are sent letters requesting that their system be checked out and the problem corrected, says Cain.

He's in favor of an alarm system that first sends the signal to the alarm company's central station. They, in turn, screen and verify the request and forward bona fide calls to police. If it were a raise alarm, the owner would send a coded message to the company.

One of the systems that gives police the most problem is the automatic tape dialer, says Cain. The alarm goes to the station via a tape recorded message. Malfunctions in this system tie up telephone lines. Another problem is that if the tape isn't used often, it could start up and break. The homeowner might not realize that until it is too late.

State law requires that alarm installers get written permission from police before hooking up tape dialers, says Cain. "Without it they can't have the direct tie-in to our station. "I've only received one request at this time and we're not allowing anymore to come into the station," he adds.

Another problem that can occur answering false alarms is the risk of injury to citizens or officers.

In the Farms where false alarms rose from 681 in 1982 to 739 in 1983, a couple of officers have already been hurt on these nuisance runs.

"Answering a call to a school during the winter, one slipped, fell and was out of work for a long time," says Ignatius Backman, Farms police lieutenant.

He says that 85 percent of false alarms are the result of human error and 15 percent because of malfunction.

Bob Barnes, vice-president of Grosse Pointe Alarm Co., says he "attributes only five to 10 percent of false alarms to mechanical problems.

He also favors installing a security system that ties in with his company. "We feel we can prevent a lot of nuisance calls to police."

Woman robbed at Park bus stop

A woman leaving her job at the White Castle Restaurant on Jefferson Avenue about 2 a. m., on Thursday, April 26, was robbed, said Grosse Pointe Park police.

Police said she told them she first noticed the men when they came to the restaurant earlier with some other men. When she got to the bus stop later, the two shoved her and took her purse. They ran toward Detroit but dropped her purse in the process.

She was taken to Bon Secours Hospital and treated for facial injuries. Police have no suspects, they said.

woman's life, says Mrs. Rickel. "They need help viewing their lives more continuously as an unfolding process over which they have much control, rather than as a checkerboard on which they are forced to jump from one life event to another, often under stress.

"Part of their training could include assertiveness training, since, for the most part, women have been socialized to be passive, dependent citizens," she adds.

She sees the 1980s as a time when the attitudes about sex roles are changing, and says, "The elimination of sex bias and sex-role stereotyping is crucial for the promotion of true mental health. The future promises a new option, a changed lifestyle that surpasses both femininity and masculinity by encompassing both."

Mrs. Rickel's lecture next Monday is titled "Things Your Analyst Doesn't Tell You." She will also give tips on new options in lifestyles to meet the demands of the future.

Lecture highlights modern thinkers

Sherwin Wine, director of the Center for New Thinking, will launch a new lecture series at the War Memorial on "Philosophers for 1984."

On Thursday, May 10 at 8 p.m. he will discuss one of the most famous and most controversial dramatists of the English-speaking world, George Bernard Shaw. Unlike most contemporary playwrights who are stuck in private psychological dramas, Shaw saw the stage as a vehicle for teaching philosophy.

While his plays are charming, amusing and grand, Wine observes that they are also preachy and didactic.

Succeeding lectures on May 17 and 24, will deal with George Orwell and Gloria Steinem. Each lecture is $6 or $14 for the series. For information on how to register, call 881-7511.

Woods loses St. John tax case

A March ruling by the Michigan Tax Tribunal is going to cost the Woods about $15,000 in city taxes by the end of the year.

The tribunal ruled in early March that assessments for the last two years on property owned by St. John Hospital have been more than the true market value and ordered the city to refund about $10,000 in property taxes to the hospital.

In addition, the board of review lowered the hospital's assessment another $400,000 this year, costing the city $4,500 in city taxes in the upcoming fiscal year.

The tribunal ruled the hospital's assessment of $314,000 and the Pointe Plaza property assessment of $1,006 million were too high by $400,000 for 1983 and 1982, city officials said. The Woods was forced to refund the back taxes with interest to the hospital.

This year, rather than losing another judgement to the tribunal, the city's board of review reduced the aggregate assessment from $1.3 million to $900,000, according to meeting minutes.

The hospital in 1982 through the law firm of Honigman, Miller, Schwartz and Cohn went to the tribunal asking a cut in the assessment from $1.3 million to $600,000, saying the property was being assessed by a higher level than true cash value.

The property involved is the hospital's north parking lot behind the Woods Theater and the shopping center property in the Woods, including J.C. Penney, Grosse Pointe Cable offices and the old Wrigley supermarket.

The city, in assessing the properties, considered the income level at the center, City Administrator Clerk Chester Petersen said. With the hospital occupying the Wrigley building as storage facilities, the income level has dropped, he added.

The city may have to consider compromising with the hospital to decide to use a professional appraisal instead of income level to decide the assessment of the property, city officials said.

The hospital employs Schostack Brothers and Co. of Southfield to operate the shopping center. The hospital will exercise its option to buy the center in 1987, according to L. Michael Smith, vice-president, corporate development at the hospital.

City officials worry the hospital's purchase of the center might bring a request to remove it from the tax rolls.

Smith said that, to his knowledge, the hospital has not considered or discussed such a move, calling the talk "just rumor."

Single-session classes meet

The spring program of classes and activities for adults scheduled by the department of community education of the Grosse Pointe public school system continues into mid-May with a number of single-session classes on a wide variety of topics of interest.

Three scheduled for May 14 are "Gifts You Can Make: Cricket Boxes," "Divorce - Its Legal Aspects" and "Candlewicking: Needles and Knot."

One slated for May 15 is "Health Care for You Dog." Four single-session classes to be held May 16 are "The Computer: Questions and Answers," "Stress: Learn How to Manage It," "Improve Your English" and "Get It Together With Color!"

Four classes are also scheduled for May 17. They are "Computers: Word Processing on the IBM-PC," "Sweatshirt Design," "Job Interviewing Workshop" and "Cheese Cake - Without Guilt."

A single activity will be held May 19. "Photography: A Field Trip." "Ribbon Embroidery" will meet May 21. "The Art of Problem-Solving" is scheduled for May 22.

Two classes are slated for May 23. They are "Improve Your Vocabulary" and "Photography: Mounting Prints."

A single class will be held May 24: "Better Breakfasts." "Give an Effective Oral Presentation" will be held May 30.

For complete information on all the offerings of the department of community education, consult the yellow spring flyer available at the office in Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte, as well as at the public library and its branches.

Cable pays its franchise fees

Grosse Pointe Cable, Inc. recently paid its 1983 cable franchise fees totalling $96,100 to the five cities it serves, the company said.

The fees paid each city were Grosse Pointe City, $9,271; Woods, $29,782; Farms, $15,884; Park, $19,517; and Harper Woods, $21,639.

Gerald DeGrazia, general manager of Grosse Pointe Cable, distributed checks to officials in each of the communities. Grosse Pointe Cable pays each city franchise fees equal to 5 percent of that city's gross basic service revenues and 5 percent of its net pay service revenues.

"Franchise fees are one of the many ways that the cities benefit from Grosse Pointe Cable. We are happy to be a strong member of the business community," DeGrazia said.

He added that as the system's revenues increase, the cities will receive larger franchise fee payments.

"With winds like that it was like taking a bellows and fanning it," said Phillip Costa, Grosse Pointe Park Fire Chief, about the incinerator fire at 623 Lakepointe Monday.

Day long steady blowing winds of about 50 miles per hour contributed to the blaze, according to Costa. "We suspect some of the contents came out of the flue and landed on the wooden shingle roof. After a number of years shingle roofs become flammable."

Evidently, the owner didn't even know he had a problem. He was out working in his backyard when a neighbor told him his roof was on fire, said Costa.

Monetary damage hasn't been estimated yet, but Costa said the upper part of the two and one-half story home has been completely destroyed and there is a tremendous amount of water damage throughout.

City and Farms firemen assisted in the three alarm blaze and off-duty Park firefighters returned to work. No one was injured, said Costa.

Piano competition a split decision

Splitting the prize in a Solomon-like decision, the jury in the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival Piano competition gave credit where it was due. Edward Zilberkant, 19, was named Concerto Award winner to perform a concerto with the Grosse Pointe Symphony in March of 1985. Anthony Pattin, 30, was named Recital Award Winner to play the piano recital in the Summer Music Festival on Wednesday, July 18, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

In addition to $200 finalists awards, Zilberkant will receive a $250 honorarium from the Grosse Pointe Symphony and Pattin will receive the $1,000 award provided by the Michigan Foundation for the Arts.

It was a decision that the jury agreed on immediately.

"Playing a recital and performing a concerto are two very different things," explained Juror Mischa Mottler. The panel agreed that both pianists were outstanding but Pattin's talent is more suited to a recital and Zilberkant's to a concerto.

Pattin is a graduate of the University of Toledo where he studied with Beatrice Erdely and Frances Renzi. He has his Master of Music degree from the University of Michigan where he is currently working on his Doctorate with Theodore Lettvin.

Zilberkant was born in Volgograd, USSR, and is a naturalized citizen of the USA. He is currently studying at the University of Michigan where his teachers have included Dr. Louis Nagel and Professor Lettvin.

Edward Zilberkant

Jurors for the competition were Janet Young, pianist, representing the Grosse Pointe Symphony, John Guinn, music critic of the Detroit Free Press, Flavio Varani, concert pianist and Professor of Music at Oakland University, Mischa Kottler, Detroit's pianist laureate, and Michael Krajewski, assistant conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Krajewski was also present to audition the four outstanding finalists.

The piano competition is presented by the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association as a special project of the Grosse Pointe Summer Music Festival which opens its 26th season this year on Monday, June 25th. The attraction that evening will be the Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band with a diverse program of Calypso, Reggae, and disco stylings as well as unique adaptations of jazz, big band and classical selections. Weather permitting, the concert will be held outdoors with room for dancing on the lakeside terrace.

Co-sponsors of the piano competition are the Grosse Pointe Symphony which will also appear in the Summer Music Festival, and the Michigan Foundation for the Arts which provides the Recital Award.

Those crucial auto talks

The New York Times made an unusual apology last week for misusing an important statistic in an editorial headed, "Make Detroit pay for the auto tax." It did not, however, apologize for some of the conclusions it drew from the current controversy over the extension of the temporary quotas under which Japan limits auto sales in this country.

What the Times had done was to claim that Detroit has raised auto prices by nearly 40 percent in three years as a result of the quota screen. What it failed to consider was that while consumers now are paying nearly 40 percent more than they did three years ago for Detroit-made cars, less than half of that increase has been caused by directly higher prices. More of it has come from buyers who are spending more for bigger models and some of it from the cost of meeting federal emission standards.

YET THE TIMES does not apologize for the point that it made: "Protected from Japanese competition, Detroit raised prices higher than it could have in a free market." And it added, "Whatever the short-term benefit of protection, it damages efficiency in the long run. With industry profits now surpassing previous records, it's time to remove the import controls and resume competition."

That is a message, however, that must be directed not only to the auto makers but to the United Auto Workers Union. If the UAW insists on pressing excessive demands in the contract renewal talks this summer and fall, and if the industry grants the demands, prices will escalate again whether the Japanese sales in this country are restricted or not.

Yet it is true that the industry's record profits and the high rewards paid to auto executives will make it extremely difficult to combat the union's demands. In the past when sales and profits have soared, the auto companies have not dragged their heels too hard in their UAW negotiations. Often, in fact, they acquiesced and passed along the higher costs to purchasers. But with full-scale Japanese competition scheduled to resume next year — or at least in the near future — that old-fashioned industry solution will not be as acceptable as in the past. In fact, it might even revive the sales of imports.

MOST PEOPLE outside of the auto industry hope that the industry learned a lesson from the recent recession. To date, however, there is little indication that either management or the UAW has done so. Until U.S. car prices stabilize and even decline, there is some doubt that the current recovery in the domestic auto business will continue on a long-range basis. So the next round of negotiations could be crucial to the industry's future prospects.

Ethics and fair coverage

In recent years, newspaper people and other journalists have begun to pay more attention to ethics and to discuss what kinds of behavior are ethically acceptable. Just the debate about such matters has tended to improve ethical conduct.

One issue that troubles many newspaper people in this election year, for example, is the endorsement of former Vice President Walter Mondale by the Newspaper Guild, the labor union that represents many of the reporters and editors on the nation's big dailies, including the two in Detroit.

MANY NEWSPAPER people object to the endorsement on the grounds it will increase public criticism of the news media, it could damage the media's reputation for fairness and balance, it might even influence some members to slant their news coverage of the election.

Professionals usually contend that they would not be influenced in their reporting by their membership in a union which took a position in a partisan political contest any more than they would be by their membership in a specific church or the American Legion or a civic organization. But even such professionals concede that point is difficult to sell to a public already suspicious of journalists and worried about their important role in delivering a fair and unbiased account of the news of the day, especially in an election campaign.

The concern about such ethical questions even reaches into the coverage of local affairs in the Grosse Pointe community, as Rob Musial, a reporter for the Detroit Free Press, learned last week. After the Grosse Pointe News published an item about the Free Press reporter signing a petition asking for the recall of three Grosse Pointe school board members at the same time he was writing about the school board's activities, he was reassigned and wrote a piece explaining why for the paper's East Section that circulates in the Pointes.

In his column, Musial said that he didn't feel any bias one way or another, that he felt his stories had been balanced and that, indeed, there had been no complaints regarding his coverage of the recall controversy. He explained he had signed the petition in order to bring the issue to a vote and settle it but that many people thought he had an ax to grind.

However, he wrote, it also had become clear to him that he had left himself and his newspaper open to criticism that he had a personal interest in the issue he was writing about. So, he said, he and his editors have decided to turn the reporting on the Grosse Pointe school board over to another staff writer.

In this newspaper's opinion, the Free Press editors and the reporter involved took the appropriate action. As Musial wrote in his column, "in a business where public perception counts a lot, journalists must not only do their best to be unbiased, they must also appear to be unbiased."

ONE POINT TO REMEMBER: There is a difference between news reporters and editorial writers. Reporters seek to present a fair and balanced report. Editorial writers often offer a point of view. Thus the Grosse Pointe News, for example, expresses opposition in its editorial column to the recall campaign but the news columns carry reports which are, so far as humanly possible, balanced and fair to both sides of the school board controversy.

So on this ethical issue, the News compliments the Free Press for taking action to assure that it will continue to provide a fair and balanced account of a community controversy here in the Pointes. The News is seeking, of course, to do the same thing.

Stalled on the freeway...

Detroit's Police Department often is bad-mouthed in the suburbs for something an officer supposedly did or didn't do for a suburban visitor but the stereotype frequently proves to be erroneous in specific cases.

Take, for example, the experience of a member of the Grosse Pointe News staff who was marooned on the Ford Freeway when his car suddenly conked out at the height of the homebound traffic one afternoon last week. He has a story to tell about the Detroit police that sharply differs from the stereotype.

THE DRIVER HAD been sitting in his stalled car for less than five minutes and was still pondering what to do next when a Detroit police car drew up behind him and a pleasant and polite officer emerged to ask whether he might be of service. And he was, from the moment the problem was explained to him.

The officer not only opened the hood and gave a preliminary diagnosis about the ailing motor but called for a tow truck and explained what he thought was causing the trouble. When the truck arrived, the driver was prepared with a replacement for the car's faulty part which apparently solved the problem.

The News staffer profusely thanked both the police officer and the driver of the tow truck and followed them off the freeway. We'd like to report that ended the experience but it didn't. As the once marooned car started up the freeway exit, the motor died again but, fortunately, the News staffer was able to nurse it along until he got home. Additional repairs later were prescribed by a garage mechanic.

Helping stalled motorists probably is all in the day's work for the average Detroit police officer patrolling the freeways but it is a service that is now truly appreciated by one News staffer. It was, of course, the kind of service that suburban residents are accustomed to getting from their own community officers but this case proves that Detroit police can be equally pleasant, polite and helpful.

Slow down — You move too fast

To the Editor:

For one solid year now, my husband and I have regularly attended school board meetings and have had our eyes opened to many flaws in our system. There is frustration at one-sided discussions, anger at the far from open-minded officials, and disappointment in the obvious short-sighted mistakes our school board is undertaking.

At our most recent school board meeting, I sat in awe at the number of changes our School Board is trying to implement for the 1984-85 school year. As a parent, educator and active school committee worker, I am most definitely for change. However, it must be for sound reasons and most importantly for the better. Granted, some of the changes our school system will undergo are good and are needed. Upon considering our three levels of education though, the pattern of change for the future definitely falls in the line of more for the senior high school, more for the middle school, and less for the elementary school.

It is to this pattern, and our most recent school board vote on the "cut" of all elementary assistant principals, that I wish to direct my comments.

With the loss of our elementary assistant principals, and the placement of the Talented and Gifted (TAG) and library programs on a part-time (traveling teacher) basis, I see "change" taking the wrong direction. With the strict guideline change set for our Talented and Gifted program, only the extreme "top" students will be candidates. As I see it, we will now reach fewer children with the special programs in TAG, and I feel this is a mistake. Should we not be reaching out to more?

As a parent of a fifth grade student, I have been receiving much information on the middle school area of education. The sixth grade middle school placement is being done under the guise of more quality. I say, indeed, our sixth graders need science and language labs. However, so do the fourth and fifth graders. Why take a section of students out of a school for better quality? Conversely, let's get the quality to that existing school. The elementary schools are at a stand still, if not on the losing end. Just as we have an excellent science and language program in our middle and upper schools, let us give it to the elementary schools as well.

With the school board vote taken on April 16, I see a traveling TAG teacher, and to me this means less. I see a traveling librarian and wonder, will she be "in house" when actually needed? I see the loss of our assistant principals and raise the question, "Will the principals be traveling from building-to-building next?"

Upon listing the major changes that will be instituted in the 1984-85 school year, I count nine. When one member of our present school board ways "wait a minute," and questions a portion of a major contract, and the others say let's go ahead anyway I see speed taking the place of good sound judgement. Our school board must ask itself: Do we do many things and do them halfway, of a few things and do them right? In the case of nine major changes, merits and faults must be weighed. Study and good judgement are definitely needed.

To our administration and school board, I plead take care, slow down, let's do things right.

Soviet dialogue is a lie

To the Editor:

There is only one kind of "dialogue" the Russians will "open up."

I have traveled over a great deal of Russia with a small group of designers and we had many contacts with arts schools. I ran a meeting in Moscow with the mayor of the city, 20 of their so-called leading architects and our small group.

Our "leader" Duren Pierce had been to Russia many times and was very familiar with all kinds of professional people. While there are only 165,000 Communist party members, they control, through the KGB and other departments, more than 250 million people. Do you think Aleksandr Solzhenitsin is dreaming what he went through?

The ministers and priests of this country are sitting ducks for Cuban-Russian propaganda along with the television media. I am preparing a group papers from several sources and am purchasing a one-year subscription for a Washington paper for you. I also have copies of papers that have come out of Grenada.

I am on the advisory board of the Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe.

Ford has a bad idea

To the Editor:

I have just learned that consideration is being given to put a large, lighted sign at "Windemere Place" on Lakeshore Road.

I would like to add my strenuous objections and opposition to this.

It is not only not necessary, but also not desirable, either for those residents or other Farms residents.

It hardly needs much elaboration to indicate how much the character and value of the Grosse Pointe properties would be adversely affected. There are many other more simple and aesthetic solutions to the need to identify the development.

It seems that it would benefit everyone, including the occupants of the Windemere Place, to consider something more desirable.

Girl Scouts say thank you

To the Editor:

Girl Scout Troop no. 843 (sixth graders) at Richard School would like to take this opportunity to thank the community for its overwhelming support of the scouts during the cookie sale.

We would especially like to thank Damman Hardware and Kroger's in the Village for allowing the troop to use the facilities to hold cookie sales on Saturdays. Not only was it a good learning experience, it also enabled the girls to earn the money for camping and day trips.

Thanks to everyone who purchased cookies.

Troop No. 843

We need Midland

To the Editor:

Please understand that for a secure energy supply, both present and future, the Midland Nuclear Plant is extremely important and necessary. Further more, it stands 85 percent complete. Please do not abandon it to buy power from a more expensive source.

Common sense tells us that building a new coal plant would be both expensive and time consuming, while fuel costs at the nuclear plant would be far cheaper in the long run, and in operation much sooner.

Consumers' problems are not unique. All new innovations face serious problems at the outset. In addition, bankruptcy for this giant utility would be "disastrous" for Michigan.

Please, support Consumers' Power Company's request for financial backing. The public stands to gain, not lose!

At South that included playing with the Symphony Orchestra, and String Quartet; the Pointe Players acting group and serving as staff artist for the student newspaper.

Todd Binkowski, 18, of Hampton Road, is North's senior class treasurer. He's been involved in athletics and the National Honor Society and plans to study engineering next fall at University of Michigan.

Amy Treader, 17, of Saddle Lane, is president of North's class of 1984 and has been involved in Student Council, National Honor Society, varsity tennis, racquetball, and powderpuff football. She's planning to attend University of Notre Dame where she'll study computer science and mathematics.

Class of 1984 Leaders give views on politics, money, bomb

By Susan McDonald

Their hair is neat, their clothes are pressed and they'd re-elect President Reagan if they were to vote today. They're active in school-sponsored events and their primary worry is how they'll conquer the job market in a few years.

They're a far cry from the rebellious teens who walked high school halls a decade ago. They're the class of 1984.

A news reporter sat down with seven senior class leaders from North and South High Schools recently for an hour-long talk. What emerged was a general picture of their views.

As several national studies have concluded, the political pendulum has swung full term. The seniors are conservative or, as South's class president Andy Stefanovich pointed out, they strongly reflect their parents' viewpoints. "And my father's Republican," he said.

Six of the seven class officers said they'd pick Ronald Reagan for president over Democratic challengers Walter Mondale, Gary Hart and Jesse Jackson. One was undecided.

"Reagan's brought down interest rates and he seems to project a real American image," said South's secretary Helen Anne D'Alessandro.

"I feel more secure with Reagan," echoed Amy Treader, North's president.

The pendulum has swung also in regards to their attitude about events sponsored by the establishment at school. Carl Justice, the South math teacher who's sponsored senior classes for the last six years, says kids have gone from shunning school-sponsored dances 10 years ago to "almost total participation" today.

"Sports, dances, everything we sponsor is popular this year," Justice said. "Spirit week was something else this fall."

On the whole, they're a practical and down-to-earth group. The seniors appreciate that they were born into the "good life" in Grosse Pointe. And they want to continue living in big houses, enjoying cars and trips and sail boats. To do that, all seven picked technical fields to study next fall at College. Miss D'Alessandro and Martin Woodrow, South's vice-president, both plan to study medicine. Miss Treader picked computer science and math and Stefanovich, business administration. Engineering is the goal of North's vice-president Sue Francis, treasurer Todd Binkowski and South treasurer Bill Kaliardos.

While they appear to be well-prepared to make a good living when they graduate from college, there's a strong undercurrent of worry that was apparent in the interview and to South's class sponsor Justice, as well.

"It's harder to get ahead today. There's more competition in college and in business," said Binkowski.

"We're upper middle class. We've been given more and because of that there's more pressure to succeed," is how Miss Treader put it. Stefanovich added, "we have a lot of pressure to follow in our parents' footsteps. And they were all pretty successful."

Justice says the kids' fear is strong and he attributes it to the recent economic recession.

"It was probably the first time in its history that money problems have really hit Grosse Pointe in the face," the math teacher said. "There are a lot of people in this community who just don't have the money to live the way they used to live. And the kids pick up on their parents' anxiety."

"When I was a kid, your goal was to top what your parents did," Justice continued. "But how are these kids going to do that? Their parents seem to have it all."

While competition for jobs worries them, they're not as concerned with the threat of nuclear war as one might expect from a group that probably learned to "bend and tuck" during school air raid drills before they learned to read.

"It's stupid to worry about all that and become a survivalist or something," and Kaliardos. Woodrow said he's not at all worried about nuclear war. "Common sense will prevent it from happening."

What do they aspire to after they pick up their diplomas in June?

Miss D'Alessandro says she hopes to combine her medical studies and broad interest in the arts to "bring a more humanistic approach to medicine."

"Doctors are too narrow, too technical. Their bedside manner is bad," she said.

Woodrow says "I want to go out, get my spot in the business world and make as much money as I can. I've been thinking about if I could change things and really have an impact. I don't really know if I can. I want to be happy."

Kaliardos is looking for something "different" to do with his days. "I want to contribute to society, invent something to help the world, as long as I make lots of money doing it," he said. "I want a

Prime Time for senior citizens

A delightful all-time favorite children's book also treasured by adults is "Spring Is A New Beginning" by Joan Walsh Anglund. Small in format, it is illustrated with pictures that look like miniature paintings. The prose, soft and musical, leads the reader on a tour of nature's signs of spring.

It reminds us that if a bare brown earth can burst forth fresh, green and bedecked with flowers; if trees, black and bare, can once again clothe themselves in verdant glory; if frozen waters, dark and ominous, can work and churn until the ice breaks, then we, if we so will, can join in the celebration of spring and like nature call forth all those resources that have lain dormant during the months of winter. Winter inactivity is a seasonal syndrome. Not many want to leave a cozy home to go out into winds that nip and bite. Slippery walks and icy roads are a real threat to the well-being of arms, legs and hips. The prospect of spending weeks in splints, casts or traction makes the welcoming arms of a favorite well-broken-in lounge chair into a haven from all harm.

Newspapers, magazines and books become silent friends that bring the outside world inside. The phone provides social contact as we entertain relatives and friends, check their doings and exchange the latest gossip. The television becomes entertainment. By twirling the dials, we can see old movies, watch concerts, symphonies, operas and soap operas. Those thrill-laden episodes that keep audiences in touch with all the pluses and perils of the rich and glamorous.

If all this sounds self-serving, it is but that's what winter is about — a time to relax and recoup one's inner resources in the quiet of the season.

Spring will not tolerate such lassitude. Seductively, it flaunts itself in our windows. It demands that you come out and examine first-hand the tender shoots of spring flowers, look at the trees and watch buds unfurl, smell the sweet fragrant air and let a soft wind show you how caressing it can be.

Spring has its own lively theme song made up of the shrill treble of scolding birds returning from southern sojourn, the staccato of misty rains and the bass thunder of exploding ice in the rivers.

In spite of its persuasive charms, there are those who refuse to be stirred by spring. There are those who have become so mesmerized by the woolly routine of winter isolation that they are reluctant to cast it aside.

There are some, tired of life, who argue there are no new beginnings for those in their late years. "Youth has the world ahead of them," they argue. "For us, the world has passed by. What is the point of arousing hopes and ambitions that may never come to fruition?"

Life is meant to be lived at any age each day should be planned as though life was going to last forever and each day should be lived as though it was the last. Nature makes no distinction between old and young. In nature life renews itself in the spring.

It is time to change from rich, delicious foods that fuel the body during winter's sparse diversion. Choose fresh lively spring-like offerings like salads, vegetables and fruits that are temptingly arrayed in local markets.

Spring is a time to clear the mind of thoughts that spawn like mushrooms in a darkened cellar during winter's dreary hours. Spring is a time to catch up on life's neglects rather than mourning them.

It's not easy to come out of the inactivity of winter into the opportunity of spring. It takes courage, but as Art Carney remarked in "A Doctor's Story", "Being old is not for sissies."

Old habits feeling and thoughts are like security blankets. They are counted on to see us through the days and nights. They are ours. They are us. It's hard to give them up.

But life changes like the season. As long as we are part of that momentum, we must accept and change. It took a lifetime to become what we are but because of added years, we can become more of what we are.

Spring is a new beginning. It comes to everyone, old and young. Do whatever you wanted to do now. Don't fall back on the old bromide; "You can't teach an old dog new tricks. Old dogs are not old people. It is doubtful that the 'old dog' in question could have been taught any tricks when he was young.

Exercise, diet and social contacts are important components in extending the lease on life. So are interests, goals and new achievements. Those who "lose" themselves in a new activity learn quicker because of past experience. They also discover that without the pressures of everyday work, what might have once been difficult comes easy and is enjoyable.

People are living longer and what was once thought of as "rocking chair" years have now become years that should not be wasted. The "rocking chair" can wait for later — much later.

Without effort, courage, determination and willingness to keep going, life collapses into a dull repetitive scenario.

Cities move toward computerized records

By Mike Andrzezyk

While some major issues have yet to be settled, local officials say they are making progress in the study of consolidating and computerizing police records for the Pointes and Harper Woods.

Public safety directors Bruce Kennedy in the City and Jack Patterson in the Woods, co-chairmen of the study committee, said that although the classification of the records to be computerized hasn't been decided, the group is looking for existing software that is convertible to the program.

The program is one of seven in Oakland and Wayne counties being funded by the Metropolitan Affairs Corporation with cooperation of the participating cities. Funding from MAC totalled $20,000 for the program, according to the organization.

"This is probably the best shape we've been in in a long time," Patterson said. The committee continues to meet to decide what records would be of the most use to the six cities involved in the study, he added.

In the coming months, the committee will begin looking for existing software that can be converted so "we have a system that can be made to do the job we want it to do," Patterson said.

Besides not having refined the classification of the computerized records, uniformity of record keeping needs to be done, Kennedy said.

The computerizing of records would put information at officers' fingertips quickly, Kennedy said. "If we made a traffic stop, we could find out if the guy had been, say, picked up in Harper Woods the day before for a (breaking and entering)," he added.

Patterson noted he had already budgeted funds for the purchase of the necessary equipment in his 1983-84 budget.

Under the agreement between the cities and MAC, the committee, formed in January, will continue data gathering until September, when reports and recommendations will be made by the committee to the city councils. From September to January, the cities which want to participate will prepare a schedule for implementation as well as budget for the program.

Metropolitan Affairs Corporation is a private non-profit corporation which has undertaken a program of supporting consolidation studies. Staff support for MAC is provided through the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, which is receiving $10,000 from MAC for its services.

Park forms foundation

By Harriet Nolan

The approval of directors and by-laws for a new Grosse Pointe Park Foundation by the city council last month, means "we can ask for anything that would make our facilities better for residents," said Palmer Heenan, Park mayor.

The goal of the foundation will be to solicit funds or gift from citizens and businesses in the Park. These in turn would be used to benefit the entire community.

"I'm trying to capture the community spirit where people want to have an even nicer community with more facilities than tax money can provide," said Heenan.

"For example, we could request trees, planter boxes and lighting to improve our highways. For our parks, we could ask for a new bathhouse, a tennis court and playground equipment. We could even establish prize money for sailing and fishing events," he added.

While the board of directors was appointed by council, that's the extent of council's influence. According to the foundation by-laws, the board will be an independent body operating as a non-profit corporation.

For a minimum annual contribution of $10, Heenan said citizens will be able to vote for directors in the future. "Council only starts it, the ongoing responsibility will be with the citizens and not the city," he added.

While a chairman hasn't been selected yet, Heenan said that since plans for the foundation were made under the previous administration of Mayor Matthew Patterson, he is likely to head the group.

"It was thought that he should be the first chairman and I am recommending that to the board," Heenan added.

Residents appointed to three-year terms were Patterson, Pierre Heftler, Josephine MacLean and former councilman C.S. Tompkins. Two-year appointments went to Leonard Smith, former councilman Roger McNeill, M.D., councilman John Prost and Heenan. One-year terms were given to Judith Keating, Marilyn Engstrom, former councilman Robert Hutton and Robert Davies.

The names of former mayor Douglas Graham, George Nicholson and Jim Waterston were also submitted and approved at the council meeting. Terms for the three have not yet been decided.

Mother's Day walk against arms

The Detroit Area Nuclear Weapons Freeze is recruiting walkers for a fundraising walk-a-thon, "Legs Against Arms." The event is to be held Mother's Day, Sunday, May 13, on Detroit's Belle Isle. The walk is being dedicated to mothers around the world and all those who wish to insure the future for generations to come.

Starting time is 1 p.m. at the Band Shell. Walkers will cover a 10 kilometer (6.2 miles) route and collect pledges for each kilometer walked. More than 1,000 walkers are expected to participate in the event. Entertainment and refreshments will be provided throughout the walk route.

Funds raised through the walk will be used to continue the campaign for a mutual and verifiable nuclear weapons freeze.

For more information and walk-a-thon pledge sheets, contact the Detroit Area Nuclear Weapons Freeze office at 577-5053, or come to 754 Student Center Building, Wayne State University.

Low Back Pain

Grosse Pointe Woods Chiropractic Clinic
881-7677

Dr. David Jantz, Chiropractor

Please give me some information concerning low back problems.

A Low back pain can not only be painful but frustrating and debilitating. Low back pain has reached epidemic proportions. The state of Wisconsin reported 75% of workmen's compensation payments are paid to back injured patients who constitute only 3% of their claims. Unfortunately in many cases conservative means of treatment for low back pain, sciatica, and disc herniations (slipped disc), have not always been tried and the patient quickly opts for surgery. Chiropractic is a conservative and highly effective treatment for all types of low back problems. Chiropractic deals with the integrity of the spine and the nervous system. The role of the spine is complex. The spine allows us to stand upright, move forward and backward, and from side to side. The spine also protects the spinal cord and nerves which emanate from it. These nerves exit the spine between the vertebrae (bones) and continue onward to every tissue and organ of the body. Due to a variety of causes subluxation (abnormal mobility and alignment of the spine) can develop and cause a whole complex of problems to arise. When subluxation exists normal nerve transmission can be altered and the body will not be in an optimum state of health. The Doctor of Chiropractic is a specialist of the spine and not only recognizes problems dealing with the mechanical structure of the body but also with other parts of the body that can be affected.

Trees, power lines, water mains wrecked by winds

A downed wire and fallen tree stopped traffic on Kerby Road.

Tow truck operator Dennis Feaquey surveys a giant fallen Elm on Westchester.

One falling tree toppled another encircling a car on Meadow Lane.

High winds throughout the day Monday caused numerous power outages, knocked down trees and caused three fires while threatening to start a fourth.

A Woods garage was in danger of burning after a tree knocked hot wires down across its roof. The wires were removed without incident, reports said.

A number of streets in the Woods reported downed wires, including Holiday, Anita, Hidden Lane, Woods Lane and South Oxford. Auxiliary officers were called in to help police at the scene of downed wires.

Power lines were reported down along Fontana Lane in the Shores, causing a power outage that was later restored. A brown-out was also reported along Faircroft and North Deeplands, according to reports.

Power was cut to the traffic light at Vernier and Lakeshore. Shores officers responded with traffic control in the area until the emergency power generator was started reports said.

Grosse Pointe City police and public works crews were kept busy with five large trees reported down and four electrical wires arcing. There were a number of miscellaneous calls of broken windows and related wind damage.

Among the more numerous reports of the day were false burglar alarms, set off either by flickers in power or the heavy winds.

A dozen were reported in the Woods and Shores, with a half-dozen coming in the City.

While high winds caused damage all over the Pointes, two of the hardest hit cities were the Park and the Farms. In the Park, 14 Edison wires were downed by the high winds resulting in two minor trash fires where the wires touched garbage cans. One of the can fires also started the bottom of a garage on fire, but all were taken care of immediately with little damage.

The Park Fire Department also reported four cases of exploding fuse boxes, with little damage. On Lakepointe Road, a three alarm fire completely destroyed a home after high winds reportedly blew embers from an incinerator onto the home's wooden shingle roof. No one was injured in the blaze.

To make matters worse, most of the south side of the Park, below Jefferson, lost power when the winds downed power lines. The Farms reported dozens of wires down, including one on Kerby Road that caused traffic to be re-routed. The Farms also reported numerous trees and limbs down and scattered throughout the city, including two on Meadow Lane that trapped a Mercedes parked on the street.

Three charged in robbery of Mack pizzeria

Three men were arraigned Tuesday, April 24, on charges of armed robbery and felony firearm violation in connection with a hold-up at a Woods pizzeria the night before. Stephen Joseph Smaller, 22, of Mt. Clemens, and Stephen David Martinez, 23, whose address was not known, stood mute at the arraignment before Municipal Judge Patricia Schneider on armed robbery charges. Bond for the pair was set at $100,000. Mark William Maison, 34, of St. Clair Shores, also stood mute to charges of armed robbery and possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony. Bond was set at $100,000.

Preliminary examinations for the three were scheduled yesterday in municipal court. Charges against the trio stem from a robbery at about 9:15 p.m. on April 23 at Dino's Pizzeria on Mack in the Woods.

A 19-year-old employe at the carry-out pizzeria told police he was putting a pizza on a shelf when he heard a loud, deep voice yell "get it kid" behind him, reports said. The youth turned around to see a man, wearing a black ski mask and a crew neck sweater, holding a sawed-off single barrel shotgun over the plastic barrier at the counter.

The masked man repeated his yell and walked along the counter, pointing the shotgun at the employe, reports said. The youth turned and ran to the cash register, where he removed about $110 in cash and gave it to the thief. The masked man fled the building, calling the employe a punk as he left, reports said. Witnesses in the area said they thought they saw the thief leave the area in a Chevrolet station wagon. Other departments were alerted. Later, St. Clair Shores police stopped a 1974 Chevrolet Vega Station wagon near Mack and Nine Mile, Woods police said. The driver and passengers, later identified as Maison, Martinez and Smaller, were arrested.

Police found a $113 in cash in the car as well as a .410-gauge shotgun shell, reports said. The three were taken to Wayne County Jail last week after failing to post bond, Woods police said.

Design exhibit honors Willeke

The Leonard B. Willeke exhibit "Excellence in Architecture and Design" will be shown May 11 through Sept. 13 at the Detroit Historical Museum.

Willeke, an internationally known architect, lived in Grosse Pointe Park until his death in 1970. A self-taught man, he "always worked alone handling every detail of a commission, from designing to contracting the building tradesmen himself," says Thomas W. Brunk, architectural historian at University of Detroit.

Brunk is writing a book about Willeke which is scheduled to be released this fall and is also involved in this exhibit.

Willeke came to Detroit in 1914 and numbered among his early commissions the Hupp Motor Car Co., and Hyatt Roller Bearing Co.

"He was influenced by Frank Lloyd Wright and used clean lines in his design," says Brunk. "The Hupp Motor Car Co., designed in 1915, had a 1960s look, cubed in shape with large expanses of glass. "The president's square which he designed in Cincinnati in 1912 is very modern," he adds.

Willeke also designed two of Eusei Ford's homes in Indian Village, the Oscar Webber house on Lake St. Clair and several mansions in the Windmill Pointe subdivision.

Grosse Pointe Park recently received a donation from the Willeke estate. Through Mrs. Leona Willeke, who died in 1982, and with the assistance of another Park resident Pierre Hettler, several groups were selected for gifts.

Soon, residents will be able to view Lake St. Clair from a vine-covered gazebo to be built at Patterson Park with the $65,000 gift.

For more information on the exhibit call the Detroit Historical Society at 833-7935.

First English will perform Bach cantata

The Senior Choir of First English Lutheran Church will perform the Bach cantata "Christ Lay in Death's Strong Bonds" as part of the Sunday, May 6, 11 a.m. service.

Bach intended the cantata to be used as part of the service and not as concert pieces. Each year, the choirs at the church present two special choral worship services. This spring, they have chosen Bach's work as their offering.

The choir will be assisted by an orchestra of area professional musicians, plus guests soloists Jeanne Heller, soprano; Elsie Inselman, contralto; Carroll Strickland, bass; and Carl Pollex of Houston, Texas, tenor. Robert Foster of Ann Arbor is the organist. The entire performance is under the direction of Werner Stuecher, senior choir director at the church.

The public is invited to attend. The church is located at 800 Vernier Road in the Woods. For more information, call the church office at 884-5040 during business hours.

CAR TALK

From RAY LAETHEM
Pontiac, GMC, Truck

BY RAY LAETHEM
ENGINE WON'T STOP RUNNING

Ever experience the annoyance of a car engine that won't stop running after you've switched it off? "Dieseling" is the technical term. It happens when a combination of heat and compression causes fuel to burn in car cylinders without a spark. This problem is more common in late model cars because of the changes designed to control emissions.

Dieseling can be prevented. High octane gas may do the trick. If the problem remains after two full tanks of high octane gas have been used up, the car should be turned over to a mechanic. He'll probably recommend readjustment of the carburetor idle and ignition settings.

When you think Pontiac — think RAY LAETHEM PONTIAC where you get a good deal plus a great deal more. We pride ourselves in offering the lowest price, maximum trade allowance, low cost financing and quality service.

fyi for your information
By Tom Greenwood

if I'm coming down with Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever.

I spent the next few days alternating between snow in Utah, and sand storms in Arizona which removed the rust from my father's Buick, along with some of the paint.

I drove back to Denver via the mountains, crossing 11,000 foot high Vail Pass at 2 a.m. in the middle of a blizzard. There was very little wind with the snow falling and swirling like one of those water filled balls entrapping a miniature skier in an eternal blizzard.

The snow was so thick I literally couldn't tell if the car was moving. However, I finally made it and descended into Denver in the midst of a fog that made me wish I was back in the blizzard.

While in the city I attended a friend's wedding and enjoyed his bachelor party at a steak house called the "Trail Dust." Get this. A 24 oz. steak was $10. A 36 oz. porterhouse was $14 and a 50 oz. number titled the "Bullshipper" was $17. That baby was brought to your table by 10 men and a liberated woman.

It was so big a Teflon bullet wouldn't go through it. Cooked over Mesquite logs, (I think that's where Mosquitos are born), the steak was delicious.

You may have noticed by now that I like to eat. My philosophy can best be summed up in a sweatshirt I had made for myself that reads "So many restaurants, so little time."

After the wedding I headed back to Motown in a charming combination of fog and snow that turned into rain when I hit Nebraska. Ever drive eight hours through Nebraska in the rain? Now I know why Charles Starkweather flipped his lid.

It rained all the way through Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. Right up to my front door in fact. Monday morning at work I faced hurricane winds, fallen power lines, Elm trees toppling like bowling pins and a big fire in the Park.

I also discovered that a mortgage payment bounced, my father blew the radiator on my car and the Buffalo steak I brought from Denver was tougher than a boiled owl.

It's nice to be back.

Chamber Players end season

Working on plans for the final concert and reception of the season for the Chamber Music Players on Sunday, May 6, at 2:30 p.m. at the War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom are, left to right, Lawrence LaGore, group president Gerda Bielitz and War Memorial director Mark Webber. The program will open with Brahms songs, Franck's "Sonata in A Major," a Smentana trio and conclude with DeFalla's "Seven Spanish Songs." A wine and cheese reception will follow the business meeting. Tickets at $3 are available at the door.

Cinema League visits Guiana

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "Trinidad Carnival" and "The Guianas," two 16mm films by Dr. Walter Theuerle, when it meets Monday, May 7, at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Fries Auditorium. "Trinidad Carnival" has a sound track from the yearly event three full days of dancing, costume exhibitions and beauty contests ending with a parade lasting from morning until night. "The Guianas," French and the former British and Dutch colonies, are on the northern coast of South America. There are views of the capital city, Kaitere Waterfall and Surinam, formerly Dutch Guiana. The public is invited. Non-League members will be charged $1 admission.

annual meeting and election of officers. The film program presented in the Fried Auditorium at 8 p.m. will be a super-8mm film by Pierre and Elfrida Palmentier, "Let's Go to Southern Spain."

Bloodmobiles will visit the Woods

Michigan Red Cross bloodmobiles will be in the Woods twice next week. Donations will be accepted Monday, May 7, from 2 to 8 p.m. at Our Lady Star of the Sea High School on Ballantyne. For an appointment, call Mary Kay Ferry at 884-5273 or 886-1979. The bloodmobile will be at First English Evangelical Lutheran Church next Thursday, May 10, from 2 to 8 p.m. Call Elaine Lugo at 445-3400 for an appointment. Blood can be donated by anyone in good health between the ages of 17 and 65 who weighs at least 110 pounds, according to the Red Cross.

The Cinema League will hold its annual banquet in the Crystal Ballroom Monday, May 21, at the War Memorial. Tickets are $12.75 and are available at the War Memorial office. Punch will be served at 6 p.m., with dinner at 6:30 followed by the Church plans Porter tribute

The Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church will present a tribute to musician Cole Porter, Friday and Saturday, May 11 and, 12 at the church. The original multi-media presentation is performed by members of the church choir, but in recent years "The GPUC Gaieties" has been a much more ambitious production. This year's show, "Cole!" will feature Bill Schwedler in the title role. Schwedler is active in many area theatrical groups. Also featured will be solos by Carroll Strickland, a well-known vocal performer, and Bess Bonnier, Detroit's foremost jazz pianist. The evening begins with a potluck supper at 7 p.m., followed by the musical revue around 8. There is no admission for the performance, but a free will offering will be requested. The performance is open to everyone. Call Barbara Anderson at 881-0420 for more information. The church is located at 17150 Maumee Avenue, two block east of Cadieux Road.

World Travel visits India

Rip and Fern Zwickey will show their 16 mm film titled "East of the Suez" featuring India at the World Travel group meeting Wednesday, May 9, at 1:30 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club. Other areas shown in the film are Sri Lanka, Darjeeling, Nepal, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan and Kashmir. The film begins in Iran, with the historic ruins of Persepolis and the city of mosques, Isfahan. Afghanistan is visited briefly. Pakistan's seaport city of Karachi is shown. Pakistan gained independent from India in 1946 and now governs Kashmir with its Shalimar Gardens and great crafts center. India's Dehli and Jaipur, the pink city, are visited, along with Banaras, the Ganges River, Calcutta, Bombay and the Taj Mahal. Sri Lanka, formerly Ceylon and currently the home of author Arthur C. Clarke, and Nepal, the kingdom at the roof of the sky are also visited. The programs are offered weekly at the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Maumee.

Georgian East passes review

The Health Care Association of Michigan (HCAM) recently announced that the Georgian East Nursing Center successfully passed a review to qualify for membership in the association.

The long-term care facility, located at 21401 Mack Avenue, is under the administration of Mary Anne Ghesquiere, a Farms city council member. It is licensed by the Michigan Department of Public Health to provide skilled nursing care to 80 patients.

HCAM peer review is a method of assuring that applicants for membership in the association provide a high standard of quality care to their patients in a safe environment. A survey team composed of professionals from member facilities systematically reviews every aspect of the facility's operation. Specific criteria by which a facility is measured were developed by the association's standards and ethics committee.

HCAM represents some 250 long term care facilities serving about 26,000 of Michigan's ill and elderly ill residents and employing approximately the same number of persons.

Park professor earns award

Dr. Bonnie F. Sloane of the Park, assistant professor of Pharmacology in the Wayne State University School of Medicine, and Dr. Ann Whall, of Farmington Hills, associate professor in the college of nursing, have been named the recipients of the 22nd annual Probus Club Awards for Academic Achievement.

The awards, granted annually to Wayne faculty in the humanities and natural sciences, offer $1,000 without restrictions and Probus Club plaques of recognition.

Presentation will be made at a 6:30 dinner tonight at the Furniture Club of Detroit in Southfield.

Dr. Sloan has conducted extensive research into the coronary aspects of heart disease and was also a member of the university team of scientists which received national attention for its research into the field of cancer.

Research included a study of the drug Nafazatrom that has stopped the growth and spread of malignant tumors in test animals.

A member of the Wayne faculty since 1980, Dr. Sloan holds Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Duke University and a Ph.D. from Rutgers University. Prior to joining Wayne, Dr. Sloan served on the faculties at the University of Pennsylvania and Michigan State University.

Dr. Whall has established a reputation — locally and nationally — for her research work in Alzheimer's Disease and other illnesses related to the mental health of the aged. She was one of only four nursing scholars in the nation to receive a Faculty Development Award from the National Institute of Mental Health for post-doctoral study and the first nurse to receive research support from the Michigan Department of Health.

The Probus Club, which is granting the awards, is an organization of Jewish professional businessmen, established in 1939.

In addition to the annual WSU awards, initiated to bring recognition to the achievements of younger faculty, the club contributes gifts and grants to individual Detroit hospitals and charities. The club has also provided financial assistance for the college education of more than 100 students.

Walton-Pierce and Kresges in the Village were honored for participating in the Grosse Pointe High Schools Co-op program for 20 years at the annual Co-op Banquet Wednesday, May 2, at the Warren Chateau.

Other employer awards were given to Cottage Hospital, Grosse Pointe Central Library and Grosse Pointe North athletic director for 15 years of participation. A 10-year award honored American Heller Corporation.

Park doctor takes association office

Dr. Emanuel Tanay, clinical professor of psychiatry at Wayne State University, assumed the presidency of the midwestern chapter of the American Academy for Law and Psychiatry recently.

Dr. Tanay, a Park resident, took office at the annual meeting held March 31 and April 1 in Chicago. Named president-elect was Dr. Helen Morrison, director of the Chicago Evaluation Center.

The American Academy of Law and Psychiatry is the professional association of forensic psychiatrists in the United States.

Fitness, aging are Town Hall topics

In conjunction with National Fitness Month, the Friends of Bon Secours Town Hall for Health will present "Health and Fitness and How it Relates to the Aging Process" on Thursday, May 10, at 7 p.m., in Bon Secours Hospital's Science Hall.

The speaker is Dwight Gaal, director of the hospital's Health and Fitness Center in St. Clair Shores. Admission is free but by ticket only. For tickets and more information, call 343-1520.

Outstanding Billie Jacoby earns Boat Club's top award

Billie Jacoby, a member of the Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club, was the recipient of the Ed Lauer Memorial Trophy, the Commodore's Award presented annually to the most outstanding member of the Boat Club. It was presented to Mrs. Jacoby at the February Commodore's Ball held at the War Memorial.

Mrs. Jacoby joined the Boat Club in 1972 and she immediately became involved. One of her specialties has always been chairing the St. Patrick's Day Party for the club. She has also served on other committees and in 1979 was elected by the membership as their treasurer and in 1981-83 was a member of the Board of Directors. In 1981-1983 she was membership chairman and currently she has accepted the assignment as chairperson for the club's 32nd annual Summer Regatta.

Mrs. Jacoby has been a resident of the Farms for 37 years. She and her late husband, Albert, owned and operated the Jacoby Bar located on Brush Street opposite the old Wayne County Building. It was a particularly favorite place for attorneys and judges. Jacoby's is now operated by their son Edmund and grandson Gary.

The Jacoby family moved to Grosse Pointe in 1947 when their daughter Susan was eight months old. By the time Susan was 9 years old she was diagnosed as having Cystic Fibrosis, a severe lung damaging disease. Mrs. Jacoby then became one of the 12 founders of the Cystic Fibrosis Society. The purpose of the group was to help families meet the medical costs of having a child with Cystic Fibrosis for medical insurance was rare at that time. She became very involved in all their activities such as bake sales, card parties and early letterheads showed the Jacoby residence as its official address.

In the 1950s, the society merged with another group in the Detroit area to raise funds for research and, hopefully, a cure. Mrs. Jacoby also worked to bring the Metropolitan Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation into existence. It was then that she began to serve on that Board of Directors and as secretary from 1965 to 1967 and treasurer in 1968 and 1978. She was delegate to the first National Cystic Fibrosis meeting held in New York City in 1968.

She also served for many years as Eastside Unit Chairman. The local Cystic Fibrosis Christmas card program was started in 1960 and Mrs. Jacoby served as chairperson for many years. State Fair time found her at the Cystic Fibrosis Information Booth. If a job in the chapter needed to be done, she would be asked to do it because she always said yes.

Along with all this, Mrs. Jacoby was a volunteer for Bon Secours Hospital. She is also interested in Eastern High alumni and is chairperson of their annual dinner dance held every October. She recently joined the Detroit Review Club.

Mrs. Jacoby is a person whose vocabulary lacks the word "no." Her radiant enthusiasm makes people feel it is a privilege to know her and be working with her, according to her friend Ray Dresden.

Kids, parents switch roles

Fourth graders in Marlene Watson's class at University Liggett School became teachers for an evening to instruct their parents in the arts of Africa.

After a potluck buffet in the school cafeteria, coordinated by room mother Viola Papas of Grosse Pointe, parents visited art "stations" where students demonstrated various styles of African dance, taught how to shape clay or play a primitive instrument.

"This type of event hasn't been explored before in the area of the arts," said Edie Novak, lower school music instructor. "Our parents are getting an insight into what the arts can offer."

Novak added that the event also gave parents and children a chance to view each other from a different perspective. Besides Novak, other teachers involved in the student-parent turnabout were Jennifer Noyer (dance), Suzanne Raymo (art) and Martha Corbin (music assistant). Creative and Performing Arts Department teachers, as well as Chairman Ed Jacomo, attended the event in authentic African costume.

"My parents thought it was great!" said 10-year-old Cara Stackpole.

Cottage Hospital offers help in speech and reading

Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe will hold a summer speech and language program for area children, from June 25 to Aug. 1. The program is designed to supplement individual speech therapy sessions which are offered for children and adults throughout the year at Cottage.

The summer speech and language program is a six-week session of group and individual work with youngsters ages 3 to 15, who are being treated for speech, lang-

Rent an artist

Have you considered the flexibility possible by decorating your home using the Grosse Pointe Public Library's collection of art prints?

The library has 135 framed reproductions of paintings, posters and lithographs available for rent on a monthly basis. The works represent a variety of styles, periods and 19th and 20th century European and American artists.

The monthly rental is renewable to three months. Charge is $1.50 a month or 75 cents for members of the Friends of the Library.

The selection can be viewed in the Central Library Exhibition Room. For more information, call 343-2074.

uage or hearing problems.

The program is designed for children with mental handicaps, cerebral palsy, stuttering, cleft palate, delayed speech and language, hearing impairment, vocal abuse and difficulty with perception. Children who have problems with spelling, reading and writing due to learning disabilities are also given special attention.

The program can help some youngsters maintain and continue progress begun in school speech therapy programs, a Cottage spokesman said. It can also help parents identify and obtain guidance in the early diagnosis and treatment of speech and learning problems.

Two weekly, hour-long sessions are held under the direction of Gary J. Cooper, Ph.D., C.C.C. Therapy is supervised by Margaret LaGrant, M.Ed., C.C.C., and conducted by the hospital staff of speech therapists, audiologists and other specialists. Cottage Hospital is a crippled children's provider under Medicaid.

Interested parents should contact the Cottage Hospital speech therapy department at 884-8600, extension 2187, for registration and information. Registration is limited to 60 children.

Farms arrests one for shoplifting

A 28-year-old St. Clair Shores man faces a June court appearance for shoplifting and possession of narcotics paraphernalia in connection with an incident Saturday afternoon in two stores on the Hill.

Farms police were called by Margaret Rice Inc. employees who said they were watching a possible shoplifter. Officers arrived to see the man leave the store, cross Kercheval and enter the Over the Rainbow Ice Cream Parlor, reports said.

The man walked through the parlor and tried to leave the building through the back door, which was locked, according to reports. Officers caught up with the man and led him out of the building through the back door, which the owner unlocked.

While trisking the man, officers said they found a red sweater under his right arm and a small syringe in his left front pocket. There was evidence of a recent injection on the man's forearm, according to reports.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES
AND ON THE PROPOSED CITY BUDGET

The City Council of the City of Grosse Pointe, Michigan will hold a public hearing at 7:30 P.M. on Monday, May 14, 1984 in the Council Chambers at the Municipal Offices, 17147 Maumee, on the proposed 1984 city tax levy and on the proposed 1984-85 City budget. Copies of the proposed budget are available for public inspection during regular business hours in the office of the City Clerk beginning May 11, 1984.

Last year (1983) the City levied 15.4700 mills ($15.47 per $1,000 SEV) for City operating purposes. Because of an estimated decrease in the State Equalized Value of existing property in the City, state law (Act 5 of 1982) provides that the base rate for 1984 City operating taxes be increased to 15.5500 mills ($15.55 per $1,000 SEV). This is 0.0800 mills ($.08 cents per $1,000 SEV) higher than the 1983 operating tax rate.

To fund the City's proposed 1984-85 budget and to maintain the present level of City services, the City finds it necessary to increase its operating tax levy. Although the City has complete authority under its charter and state law to establish the number of mills to be levied within its fully authorized millage rate, the City proposes to levy an additional millage rate of 0.69 mills ($.69 cents per $1,000 SEV) above the 1984 base operating millage rate. This will provide an estimated 3.99% increase in City operating property tax revenues. Individual property taxes may increase greater than or less than the estimated average.

Public comments, oral or written, are welcome at the public hearing on the proposed additional millage rate and on the proposed City budget.

Classic musical hits War Memorial stage

Four performances of Irving Berlin's musical "Annie Get Your Gun" Fridays and Saturdays, May 11, 12, 18 and 19, will be the highlight of the 30th season of Grosse Pointe Children's Theater.

Curtain time for Friday performances is 8 p.m. Matinees on Saturdays are at 2 p.m. All performances will be in the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The musical, including songs like "There's No Business Like Show Business," traces the careers of Annie Oakley, backwoods sharpshooter and Frank Butler, a star in Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show. This year marks the 100th anniversary of the show.

The production is under the direction of Sally Reynolds, founder of the Grosse Pointe Children's Theater. Musical director is Mrs. John Mazer.

The title role of Annie Oakley will be shared by Cori Carrier and Kristin Martin, both long-time members of Children's Theater. Frank Butler will be portrayed by Paul Corbett and Ed Stevens, also veterans of the theater. Buffalo Bill will be enacted by Greg Preston. Louis Charbonneau will be seen as Charlie Davenport, the "advance man." His sister, Dolly, will be played by Heather Cross and Cathy Obeid.

Michelle Gasperut and Margie Weitzel share the ingenue lead, Winnie, Dolly's daughter. Jonathan Hammond will portray Sitting Bull. The young, romantic song and dance man, Tommy, will be played by Tom Gebeck. Annie's sisters and brother will be shared by Michael Schoenith, Mike Heppner, Marla Kurz, Tracie Dold, Carey Crim, Stephanie Stebbins, Shana McNamee, Kim Putnam, Laura Wing and Lisa Oswald. David Bryant will be Foster Wilson, the hotel proprietor. Other members of the cast of 90 range in age from 5 through 25 and represent the Pointes, Harper Woods, Rochester, Utica, Mt. Clemens, Roseville, Birmingham, East Detroit, Detroit and St. Clair Shores.

For more information about the production and the "Before the Performance" anniversary dinner slated for Friday, May 11, call 885-6219 or 881-0966.

Admission is $2.75 for students and senior citizens and $4 for adults. Reservations may be made by calling 881-7511.

Artists present spring show

Julie Strabel (background) chairman of the Grosse Pointe Artists Association 46th annual spring show, and Nancy Proffit, program chairman, help junior Bob Wilbert prepare for the event scheduled to open at 6 p.m. Saturday, May 5, with a reception in the War Memorial's Art Wing. Works in various media will be judged by Wilbert, head of Wayne State University's art department, George Howell, president of the Grosse Pointe Artists Association, and Karl Heeden, editor of Palette Pointe. The art may be viewed at the War Memorial on weekdays between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. and Sunday, May 6, between noon and 5 p.m. The exhibit closes at 5 p.m., May 12.

Drivers ed sign-up set

Wednesday, May 16 — Students with date of birth between September, 1968 through December, 1968.

Thursday, May 17 — Students with date of birth between January, 1969 through July 2, 1969.

Priority for a place in this program is determined by the birth date of the applicant, with the oldest accepted first. Students who do not enroll on the date for which they are scheduled may still enroll the week of May 21, although the choice of class sections will be limited. Call 343-2178 for information.

The course is approved by the Michigan Department of Education. All students who will be at least age 15 by the starting date of the class and who reside in the Grosse Pointe public school district are eligible for enrollment without a fee.

MACLD elects new officers

The local chapter of the Michigan Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities held its last meeting of the season Tuesday, April 17, and elected officers for the coming year.

Shirley Shapiro, director of the Detroit and Grosse Pointe area Protection and Advocacy Service for Developmentally Disabled Citizens, Inc., spoke on "Understanding IEPs."

Individual Education Plans, IEPs, are written for each child in the special education department with the help of parents. The process is required by law to provide an appropriate education to learning disabled students who learn differently.

New officers elected were Priscilla Pettengill, president; James Wolff, vice-president; Nancy Mayer-Casaboom, vice-president membership; Sally Giacobbe, vice-president, education; Liz Hardwick, treasurer; Merrie Lynn Ruzzin, corresponding secretary; Gayle Arnold, recording secretary; Vida Keyes, publicity; Laur Huthwaite, hospitality; Julie Gallimore, newsletter editor; and Martha Mjcioli, librarian.

Bobby D. — And The Competitive Edge

This is Bobby D., he's a sixth grader who carries a B-plus grade point average. He's into Little League Baseball in the spring, Boy Scout Camp in the summer, hockey on the backyard ice rinks in the winter. At school, he has no problems with either his peers or his teachers, and he hits the books for a couple of hours after dinner. He loves his Mom and Dad, and doesn't pick too much on his sister. Bobby's a good kid. And yet... his parents are worried, for good reason.

By the time Bobby is ready for college, the best projections estimate that it will cost $10,000 a year, minimum, to go to a state college, and twice that to go out of state, or to a private school, if he can get in the school of his choice. The best schools seem to get more selective every year. Bob's parents agree that he has to have the best education they can give him to prepare him for whatever emerges from tomorrow's complex, technological society. They think Bob needs a competitive edge, just to live as well as they have, and hopefully, a little bit better.

They heard about the Youth Enrichment Services, Inc. (YES) Center on Mack Avenue in St. Clair Shores and our holistic approach to personal growth and came to us for help. The YES Program began with a series of tests that resulted in a comprehensive profile showing where Bobby was intellectually, personally, and physically. Bobby's scores were impressive (as they are for most of our students). The four-hour procedure showed us areas where Bobby has particular strengths and where he could use some help. We are able to bump those scores up by a significant amount across the board. That means that Bobby is now capable of carrying a very high GPA through high school, and can probably pick his college.

The responsibility for enriching children's academic, personal, and physical growth clearly lies with parents. To assist parents with this critical task, YES offers enriched, accelerated and individualized learning experiences for children of all ages.

We at YES believe that we can help your child just as we are helping Bobby D. Our program, designed by University of Michigan educators with extensive experience in educating school children and adults, is of the highest quality. It supplements the efforts of public and private schools, with special sections for adults who wish to enhance their own capabilities.

Our program will give your child the finely honed skills needed to compete in all aspects of today's society—the competitive edge so necessary to succeed in a society that grows more complex with each passing year.

The YES learning program combines high-tech with high-touch by extensively utilizing computer-managed instruction in conjunction with small group instruction.

Youth Enrichment Services is helping Bobby D. reach his full potential. YES can help your child, and YES can help you, too. Say YES and learn more about our revolutionary approach to personal growth and enrichment. For more information, call today for an appointment.

Students honor civil rights leader

Hospital pays tribute to people who care

More is expected of hospital employees than people in other lines of work, even if the job duties appear similar at first glance. Hospital workers must not only do their jobs with conscientious skill, they must do them with kindness because they work with people who are in need.

Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe thinks it is fortunate to have employees who exemplify an attitude of caring and kindness both in performing their hospital duties and their outside activities. So, during national hospital week 1984 (May 6 through 12), the hospital is focusing on its employees who are "the caring kind."

They are people like Sheila Mack, Cottage's director of occupational therapy. Her department may work with any patient in Cottage and that's what Ms. Mack likes best.

"I enjoy the delivery of total patient care, both emotional and physical. The way Cottage is structured, we can provide the necessary help for each individual patient's problem," Ms. Mack says.

"We've had elderly patients who are so alone — no family or close contacts. I've watched patients' surgeries so I can better understand and later explain, during therapy, why it hurts where they put a certain tube, and how to help alleviate that hurt."

Ms. Mack has training in psychiatry as well as the therapy and that helps on the job. Stroke patients, particularly, might be angry about not being able to move and take that anger out those around them. "We help the patient work through the anger, frustration and guilt and get on with living," she said.

Irene Meindt, patient financial advisor, works in the Business Office.

"I see myself as the creative force available to people when the illness of a loved one won't allow them to think clearly," Ms. Meindt said. "They have so many other concerns at this time, like who will watch their children. They don't need the extra burden of wondering if their insurance is covering everything."

If a patient's insurance won't cover something, her job is to find another source — the employer, union, social service agency or the state's new Victims' Compensation Board.

Sondra Seely is coordinator of the Hospice Program at Cottage, working with cancer patients from the oncology unit. "The Hospice Program, is different. Our patients always come back to the same place," she explains. The warmth and care given on the unit is contagious, Ms. Seely said. "When a patient dies, it's not only the immediate family who cares. Other patients' families call to comfort and support, not only at that time, but later as well.

"The whole hospice story is miraculous," Ms. Seely. "A grass roots group pulled together the Sunset Bill and now Medicare covers a person's hospice stay. It's really people in action."

Medicare premiums increase

People who postpone signing up for Medicare's medical insurance should note that the basic monthly premium increases 10 percent for each year they could have signed up for the protection but did not.

At present, the basic monthly premium is $14.60, according to James Moslener, district manager of the local office.

There's an open enrollment period for people who failed to sign up for medical insurance when they were first eligible, or who dropped out, from Jan. 1 through March 31 of each year. Coverage begins July 1. Medicare medical insurance is available to almost everyone at age 65, to disabled people under 65 who have been entitled to Social Security disability benefits for at least 24 months, and to most people with permanent kidney failure. Nine out of 10 eligible people are enrolled.

Additional information about enrollment for medical insurance can be obtained by contacting the Social Security office located at 17420 Mack Avenue or by calling 493-1111, the general information number.

DYRs hold May dance

Detroit Young Republicans will hold a dance on Friday, May 11, at Hamilton Place in Southfield, from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Admission is $4 members and $6 non-members and proper attire is required. Hamilton Place is at 30333 Southfield Rd., between 12 and 13 Mile.

Thieves love wheels

On Wednesday, April 25, a mini-bike valued at $150 was reported stolen from an unlocked garage in the 1300 block of Somerset. Also, a resident living in the 800 block of Lakepointe discovered that the hub caps had been removed from her car. Loss was reported to be about $160, said Grosse Pointe Park police.

Experts discuss vacation spots

Three unique vacation spots will be discussed by experienced travelers Anita Shagena and Michael Artman on Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., at the War Memorial in May.

On May 8, "Plantations of the South," with special emphasis on historic Natchez, Miss., will be discussed. Also featured will be Rose-down Plantation near St. Francisville, La.

The following week, May 15, "Springtime in the East" will be presented. In this class the wildflower trails of the Smoky Mountains will be explored, along with visits to the historic gardens of Charleston, S.C. and a look at the Amish people of Pennsylvania.

The final lecture, May 22, will present the "Inns of the Great Lakes." It will include such diverse places at the elegant Rittenhouse Inn on the shores of Lake Superior, to the country coziness of the National House Inn in Marshall, Mi., and the rustic charm of the Elora Mill in Ontario.

Available at each slide-illustrated lecture will be optional maps and brochures for a nominal cost. Each unit will include historical lecture, local recipes and samples of regional cuisine.

Participants may register for the lecture series for $12 or go to one for $5. For information on how to register call 881-7511.

Sap flows on Academy campus

Prime Time for seniors

Sometimes all of these qualities are needed just to keep mobile. A sequence filmed in a nursing home and recently shown on television showed people making tremendous efforts to move an arthritic arm or take tottering steps forward. Spurred on by a therapist who urged them to do a little more each day, they improved in mobility and mental attitude.

audience holding back on trying something new. There are so many opportunities to enjoy those later years here in the Pointes; the Neighborhood Club, War Memorial, Seniors Onward for Change, the local chapter of AARP, church groups, the Grosse Pointe School system, activities at the library: all sponsor stimulating activities. For the truly venturesome, a program called "Elderhostel" provides opportunities for older students to study at universities and colleges on campus, in the United States, Canada or Europe. The unique feature of the program is a chance to learn something new and at the same time to enjoy a vacation.

Just nine years old, the program has grown to the point where it offers 68,000 hosting sites. Students come from every region to enjoy the advantages of campus life, to meet new friends and to enjoy social events planned for evenings after classtime.

An example of the many offerings is one in Vermont at "The Experiment in International Living - School for International Training. This school offers week-long courses from May through September in subjects as "Conversational French or Spanish," "The Arms Race," "Risks, Costs and Sources of Hope," "Adjusting to New Cultures." Students from all over the world come to the school.

No matter where you choose to combine vacation with a week of study, you will meet older students from all parts of the country. More than 65,000 students are expected to take advantage of this unique program this summer.

If interested, you can send for the Spring/Summer "Between Classes" publication which gives complete information on courses offered and where. The address is Elderhostel, 100 Boylston St., Suite 200, Boston, Mass., 02116, check out a copy at the library. You're never too old to learn. It's the youngest age you have left.

University honors retiring residents

Three Grosse Pointe professors who are retiring from Wayne State University were honored at the university's annual Recognition Program and Reception Wednesday, April 25, in the Community Arts auditorium on campus.

The professors and their years of service are Wayne Andrews, of the City, arts and art history, 21 years; Robert Goodman, a Woods resident, geography, 35 years; and David Mitchell, of the City, art and art history, 38 years.

Park resident Howard Denison, a physical plant engineer for 32 years, will also be among those receiving recognition from Wayne president David Adamany.

Instrumentalists win top honors

All of North High School's representatives at Michigan School Band and Orchestra State Solo and Ensemble Festival earned top ratings.

Mary Kuszynski scored 90 in Viola Proficiency I; Tina Marcaccio earned a 97 in Piano Proficiency II (a step above Proficiency I); and a string quartet earned a Division I in ensemble performance. The String Ensemble members were Adrienne Geibel, Irene Pugel and Karen Berger, violins, Katherine Thompson, double bass, and Mary Kuszynski, piano accompanist.

Local kids win story contest

Two Grosse Pointe kids took first and third place in the "Cricket League" international story competition sponsored by Cricket Magazine. Star of Sea kids star at tourney

The Detroit Catholic Forensics League's Grand Tournament was held on Sunday, April 15, at Regina High school, with Our Lady Star of the Sea students capturing four places.

Junior Jennifer Savel won second place honors in radio broadcasting. Three freshmen also showed well in the season's last meet. Adrienne Houser earned sixth place merits in the category of serious interpretation.

In humorous interpretation, Valerie Owen made third place and Cheryl Casquejo placed second in declamation.

Ross Kogel, 12, of the Woods, took first place while Justin Jaworski, 11, of the City, finished third in the competition in which entrants were asked to write a story about how they would spend the day if they turned into an animal of their choice. Ross' story appears in this month's issue of Cricket.

The monthly writing and drawing competition is open to all Cricket readers aged 5 to 9 and 10 to 13. Each contest has different guidelines, with the winners being announced three issues later.

Cricket, the magazine for children, is published by Open Court Co. of La Salle, IL. The magazine, which began publishing in 1973, has a circulation of 140,000.

Overton is science fellow

Eugene Overton of Grosse Pointe Woods has been selected to attend the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Institute on High School Chemistry at Princeton University this summer.

Overton, who teaches chemistry at University Liggett School, was one of 50 fellows chosen from a field of 300 applicants for the four-week program.

In addition to their own lectures, classes, demonstrations and laboratory work, the selected teachers will also develop curricular materials for immediate use in their own high school classrooms in the '84-85 school year. Overton expects to bring back for his students new ideas in demonstrations, experiments and computer software.

OUR LIBRARIES —

Where Education is a Lifelong Affair

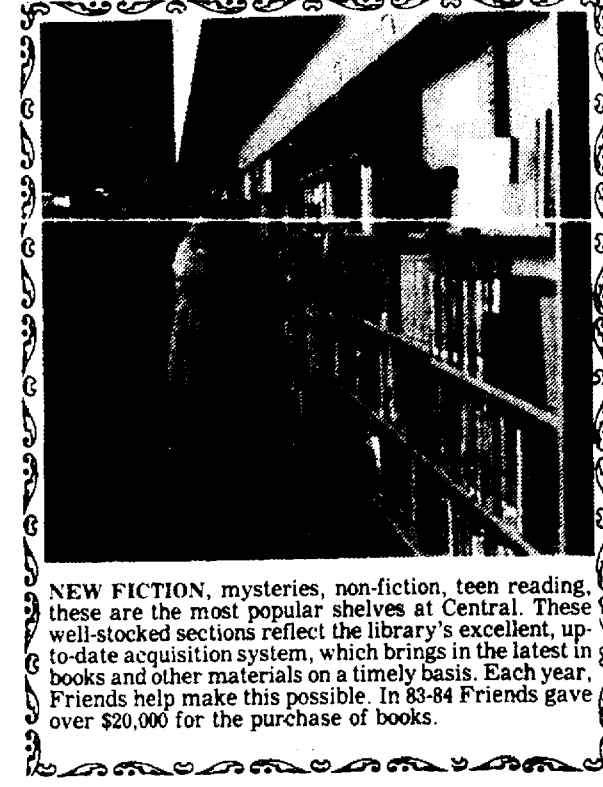

THE PARK BRANCH opened in 1939 and was the main library until Central opened in 1953. Beautifully furnished in Williamsburg style furniture, this branch has always been popular. It contains 26,822 volumes and circulation in 1983 was 85,500. Friends financed a record browser unit, an occasional table, and a cassette holder this year plus, of course, books. Park was originally financed by a Federal Grant of $395,000 plus $350,000 in local taxes.

THE CENTRAL LIBRARY opened in 1953 and became the main branch. Built entirely without public funds, it was financed by a donation of $500,000 from Dexter M. Ferry, Jr. Other contributions came from Murray Sales, Charles A. Parcels, Jr. and family, the Junior League, the Friends, GP Rotary and W. Hawkins Ferry. In 83-84 Friends financed 60 new chairs for the Exhibition Room, the computer terminal in the AV room, recently voted to acquire art prints for the Juvenile Room and add an Apple IIe Computer. Central has 59,208 volumes and 1983 circulation was 264,745.

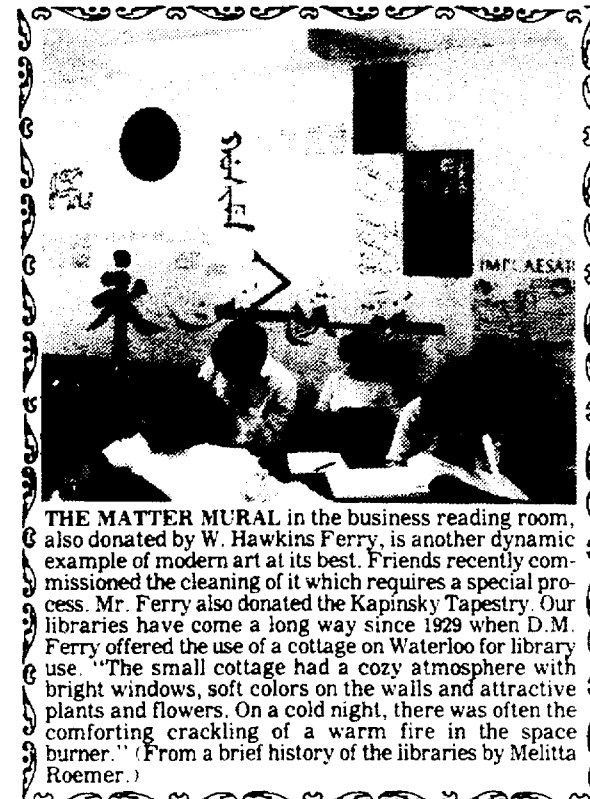

THE WOODS BRANCH in Parcels Middle School opened in 1952 and now contains 34,247 volumes. Besides offering the 17 basic services of the other two branches, it is the home of the Early Learning Materials Center. Circulation in '83 was 159,157. In '84 Friends provided a new cassette holder and computer terminal for this branch. The first library in the Woods with a very limited collection opened in the Goodrich Confectionery Store in 1922 on Mack and Lochmoor.

NEW FICTION, mysteries, non-fiction, teen reading, these are the most popular shelves at Central. These well-stocked sections reflect the library's excellent, up-to-date acquisition system, which brings in the latest in books and other materials on a timely basis. Each year, Friends help make this possible. In 83-84 Friends gave over $20,000 for the purchase of books.

THE 1983-84 FRIENDS OFFICERS AND BOARD carried on the important work begun in Grosse Pointe in 1947. Now the largest (and one of the most generous) Friends memberships in the U.S., this dedicated group, through donations and service, help make the libraries the most popular and vital of all Grosse Pointe facilities. Besides the excellent collection of books and materials the library has, through the help of Friends it is developing excellent technology, one of the most advanced systems in the area. Friends membership this year is close to 4,000.

THE MATTER MURAL in the business reading room, also donated by W. Hawkins Ferry, is another dynamic example of modern art at its best. Friends recently commissioned the cleaning of it which requires a special process. Mr. Ferry also donated the Kapinsky Tapestry. Our libraries have come a long way since 1929 when D.M. Ferry offered the use of a cottage on Waterloo for library use. "The small cottage had a cozy atmosphere with bright windows, soft colors on the walls and attractive plants and flowers. On a cold night, there was often the comforting crackling of a warm fire in the space burner." (From a brief history of the libraries by Melitta Roemer.)

THIS SMALL COMPUTER UNIT in Central is representative of the gradual technological changeover occurring in our libraries which Friends helped finance. It began with the automatic checkout system, then the circulation controls and the installation of three terminals at the Woods, two at the Park and several more at Central, all performing critical functions. Our data base consists of 121,000 books, 12,000 records, 4,000 cassettes, 170 video cassettes, 300 periodicals and 40,000 patrons. Coming soon is an on-line, computerized catalog to replace our card catalog system, which will allow library users to simply punch in their request on a CRT and availability of items will show up on the screen.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND, our unique and rare assemblage of volumes, sits contentedly on the shelves of the Friends permanent collection along with over 2,000 other titles of old, beautifully bound and valuable books given to us over the past 40 years. In '84 Friends retained a rare books expert to appraise this collection and provide guidelines for future use and development. Part of this collection includes hundreds of hours of our "Oral History of Grosse Pointe," tapes made by long-time area residents on fascinating aspects of our community.

Messages From:

• DR. EUGENIE BEALL, 1983-84 FRIENDS PRESIDENT — A Yeats poem concludes, "Think where men's glory most begins and ends/And say my glory was I had such Friends." We who are privileged to be Friends Directors agree. The friendship forged and sustained through the years between a dedicated professional library staff and thousands of Friends in Grosse Pointe has helped create a library system that enriches the quality of life in our community immeasurably. William Peters, who retires this year as Director of Libraries, embodies these qualities of professionalism and friendship. As we build upon the library system his vision and sensitivity to community needs shaped during the past decade, we are grateful that he remains a wise and caring Friend.

• W.T. PETERS, RETIRING DIRECTOR OF LIBRARIES — There is a proverb which states that there are two possessions you should prize: a friend and a book. When these possessions are combined, as they are in the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, you are fortunate indeed. As library director, I have enjoyed the support and friendship of an organization that has dedicated itself to the enrichment of our public libraries in many significant ways, such as: additions to the book collection, audio visual equipment, computer hardware and library furnishings. With a history of thirty-seven years and a current membership of more than 4,000, the spirit of the Friends exemplifies the outstanding quality of library service possible when interested citizens join with a knowledgeable staff. It's always nice to witness an old proverb come true.

• JOAN HANPETER, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION — A recent report of the Wayne-Oakland Library Federation highlights the important role our library plays in the life of our community. Grosse Pointe ranks first in books per capita and circulation per capita and second in overall circulation. These figures illustrate the high degree of use our residents make of our library resources. The Board is grateful to the Friends for their many contributions to our collection and facilities cited in this Report. Their donations represent a unique level of financial support that cannot be matched by any other library system. Our Director, William T. Peters, who will be retiring, worked for 16 years to enrich the quality and scope of our collection and services for all age groups. We join with the Friends to wish him our best in retirement.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

A great way to prepare for the Metropolitan Opera Company's 26th annual week of performances in Detroit (May 28 through June 2 this year, at the Masonic Temple) is to view the spectacular costume exhibit celebrating the Met's Centennial that opens this Saturday, May 5, at the Detroit Historical Museum.

The show, "The Metropolitan Opera in Detroit: A Celebration in Costume," is drawn primarily from the Met's own collection and supplemented by treasures from other museums and private collections around the world.

It emphasizes the Met's appearances in the Motor City over the past 25 years. Among costumes on display will be the one that Sherrill Milnes wore in Detroit's Met performance of "Don Giovanni." Also featured will be Marilyn Horne's costume from "Carmen" and Jerome Hines' "Boris Godunov" costume from Detroit Met performances.

The costumes will be displayed at the Historical Museum in tableaux settings, accompanied by photos, archival documents, programs, opera artifacts and memorabilia, through June 10. The show is sponsored in Detroit by Saks Fifth Avenue, with a joint gift from the Fairlane and Troy stores.

Local arrangements for the exhibition were coordinated by the Detroit Grand Opera Association, sponsor of the Met's annual visits to Detroit, and the Historical Museum, open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays. There is no admission fee to the museum, but a voluntary contribution is suggested.

Looking Ahead to June

Before your June calendar gets too crowded — and it does; traditionally, June and September are the busiest months of the year, from a social standpoint — circle Saturday, June 9. That's the date of the 12th Annual Indian Village House and Garden Tour, and you definitely do not want to miss that.

Ten gracious homes, representing a cross section of Detroit architecture from 1904 to 1924, will be featured, along with three gardens, the Waldorf School and the Iroquois Avenue Christ Lutheran Church.

"Restoration is the theme of this year's tour, in honor of renovation work in Indian Village," says Donna Adams, president of the Indian Village Association which, with the Indian Village Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, sponsors the spring walking tour.

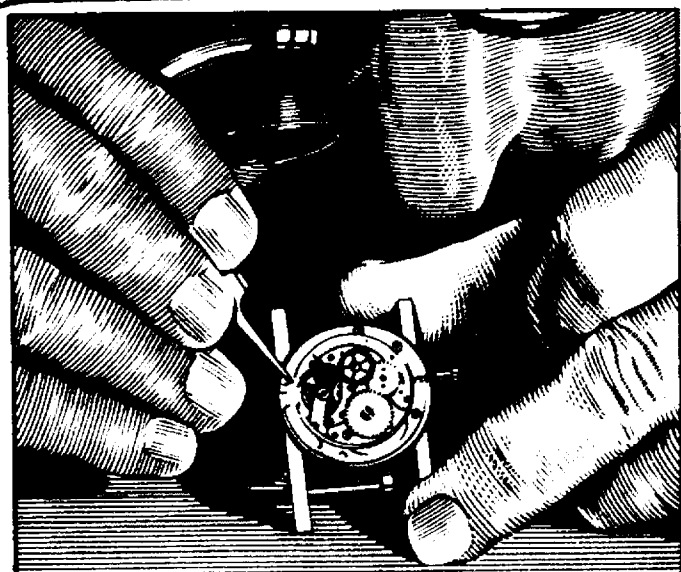

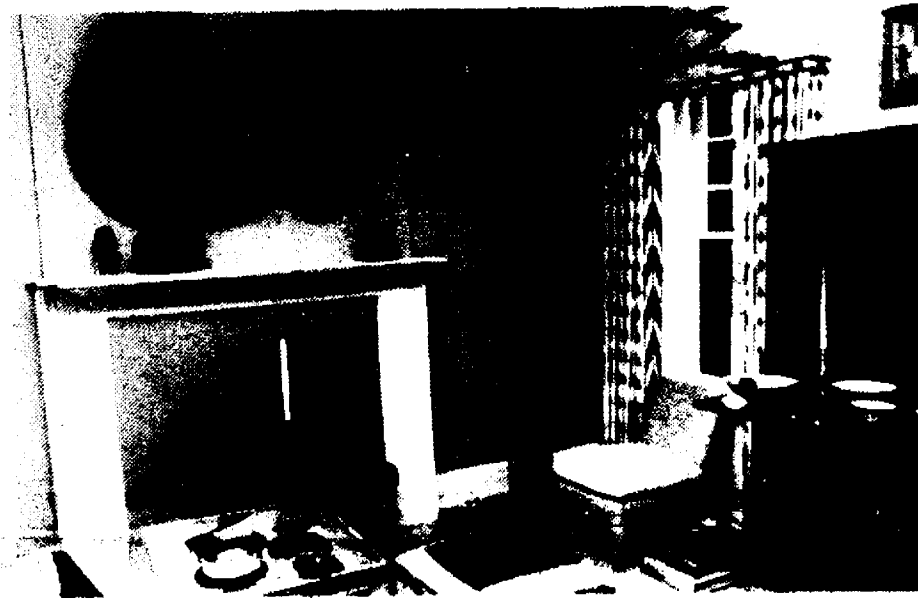

The Indian Village area is listed on the National Register

Showing off a Showhouse . . .

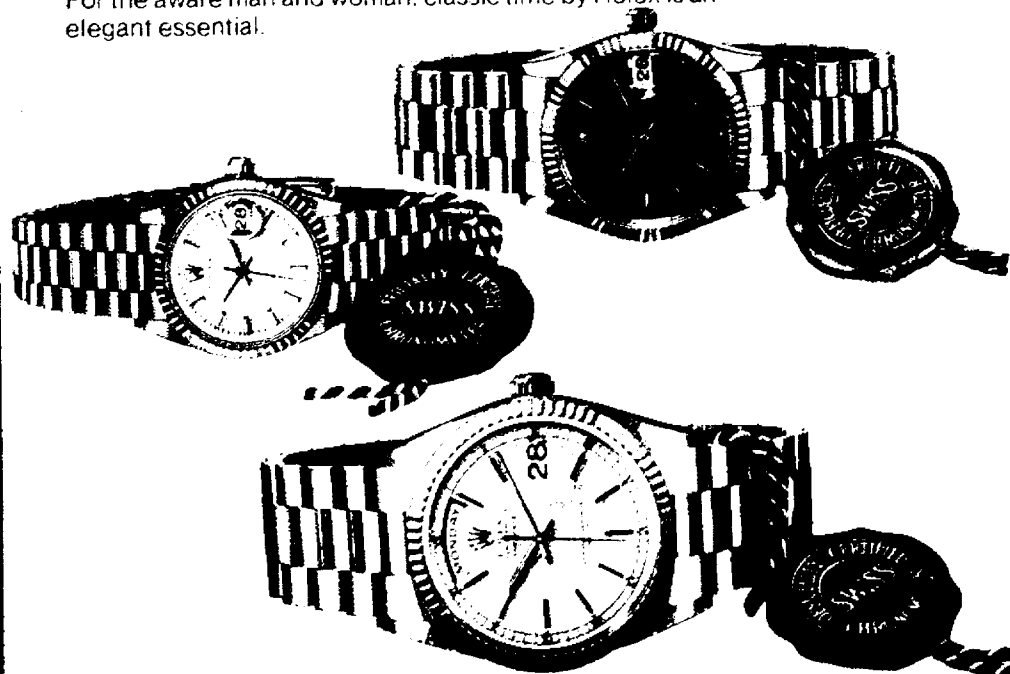

The description reads: "Standing majestically on gently sloping grounds overlooking Lake St. Clair is an impressive English Tudor mansion, the site of Designers' Show House 1984." If majestic is what you're looking for in a show house, then 111 Lakeshore (above) is it . . . and just wait until you get inside! Built in 1907 for Paul H. Deming, noted Detroit financier, the Grosse Pointe Farms home is presently owned by the James C. Graham family. The Junior League of Detroit and a group of very talented designers "took possession" of the home in late February. The result is a fabulously-designed showhouse, featuring rooms like (clockwise, from below) the upstairs sitting room by Maksout-Carmody; the first floor breakfast room by Forster's Interiors; and the dining room by W.S. Chapman & Associates, Ltd. There's much, much more and it can all be marveled at in a tour of the house, beginning Saturday, May 5 and continuing through Monday, May 28. Hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays, 1 to 6 p.m. Sundays and Memorial Day, and 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Tickets may be purchased at the Junior League office from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., 32 Lakeshore Road, 881-0040, and are $4 in advance through May 4, $5 at the door, or $3.50 for groups of 25 or more. The Junior League, now observing its 70th anniversary, is a charitable and educational organization dedicated to voluntarism. Funds raised by the Show House are returned to the community through League projects.

Rain or shine, it's Garden Tour

Set aside a few hours on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 18 through 20, from 1 to 5 p.m. each day — that's the time set by the Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council for its 11th annual Garden Tour.

Tickets are $5 and may be purchased in advance at the Garden Center Room, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road, Tuesday through Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mrs. M.P. Wiant is in charge of ticket sales, she may be reached at 881-4173. Special rates for groups of 10 or more will be available only through advance requests made to Mrs. Wiant by May 11.

Tickets may also be obtained at each one of the gardens during tour hours only. A brochure complete with a map will accompany each ticket.

Representatives from 19 garden clubs comprise the Grosse Pointe Garden Council. For the past 36 years, education, conservation and beautification have been prime concerns of the Council. The beautification allowance for 1984 will be $5,000. This will include the planting and maintenance of Lakeshore Drive. These monies were obtained from the revenue of last year's Garden Tour.

In past years, Garden Tour money has been spent on planting at Elworthy Field, on the renovation of the Fisher Road entrance of South High School and on landscaping of the new boathouse at the Grosse Pointe Farms Pier.

General Tour chairman this year is Mrs. David Lowe. She will be assisted by Mrs. Henry Ledyard, treasurer; Mrs. Urban Boresch, publicity; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ledyard and George Vincent, map for the brochure; Kenneth Carey, flags and signs; Miss Christine Edwards, advisory; Mrs. Stanley Dolega, art gallery; and Mrs. Wiant, tickets.

Others are Mrs. Kenneth Stekete, name tags; Mrs. Frances Huntington, poster design; Mrs. Samuel Pence and Mrs. William Nixon, poster distribution and coloring; Mrs. Donald Sweeney, hostess chairman. Assisting her will be Mrs. Max Gardner, Mrs. L.V. Wickson, and Mrs. Charles Begegan. More are Mrs. Horace Carpenter Jr., refreshments; and Mrs. Frank Weicenbach, senior citizens.

As an expression of gratitude, the tour committee will have a cocktail party prior to the tour for the garden owners who have so graciously allowed the Council to show their gardens. It will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Erik Erikson. Hostesses will be Mrs. A.J. Van Tiem and Mrs. Alex G. Gill; they will be assisted by Mrs. Amesberry Powell and Mrs. Gordon Sorenson.

Panhellenic planners

Gathering recently to plan the 65th annual meeting and luncheon of the Detroit Alumnae Panhellenic Association, set for Wednesday, May 9, at the Country Club of Detroit, were from left to right, (seated) SUE (MRS. WILLIAM) AUCH, Alpha Gamma Delta, and chairman JUDY (MRS. RONALD) LAUNS, Alpha Xi Delta, (standing) ANNA (MRS. EDWARD) SARKISIAN Chi Omega, and LINDA (MRS. WILLIAM) IRWIN, Alpha Delta Pi, in charge of centerpieces and program design; and publicity person PAT (MRS. WILLIAM) WILSON, Alpha Omicron Pi and PEG (MRS. FRED) LEWIS, Kappa Delta, in charge of tickets and reservations.

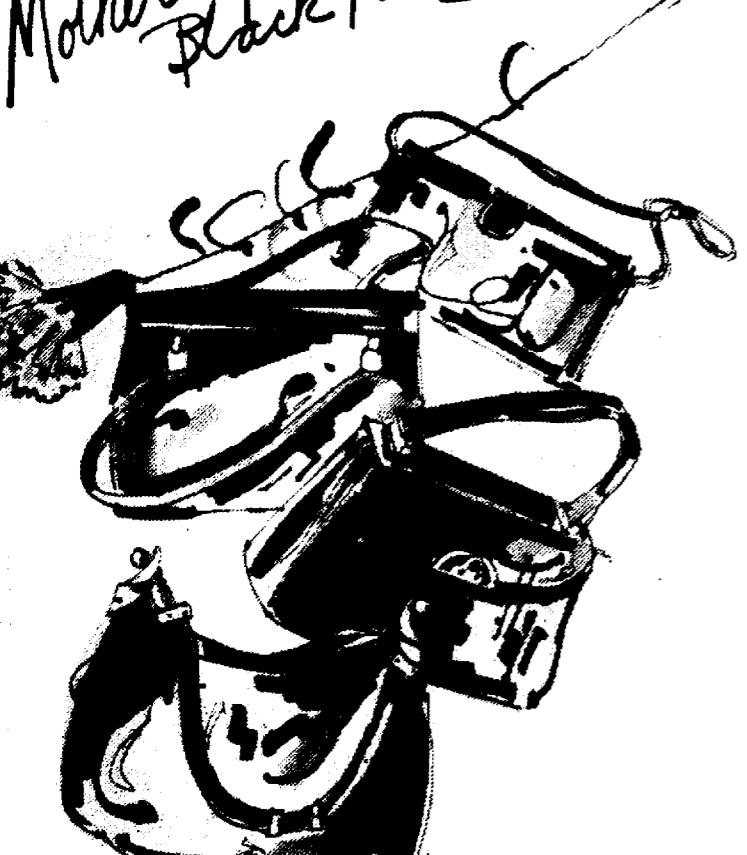

Highlighting the afternoon will be a fashion show by Miner's of Grosse Pointe. Also on the agenda are the introduction of the Panhellenic officers for the next year, the presentation of scholarship awards to two area sorority women and the announcement of the party bridge prize winners for the year. Reservations for the event may be made by contacting Mrs. Lewis at 881-9442.

Detroit Alumnae Panhellenic will award scholarships, based on grades and involvement in sorority, campus and community activities, to Chi Omega member and Michigan State University student Caroline LeVarsky, of Bloomfield Hills; and to Alysa Watanabe, a member of Pi Beta Phi at the University of Michigan and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watanabe, of Livonia. Mrs. William Kamm, chairman of the scholarship committee, will present the awards. Mrs. Joseph Colling, Alpha Delta Pi of Detroit, is chairman of the bridge committee and will award the year's prize winners of the fund-raising bridge parties held in member's homes.

Also, at the meeting, Mrs. J. Robert MacMillan will pass her gavel to incoming president Mrs. Bruce Tock, of The Park. Serving as new vice-president will be Mrs. Bruce Feighner, of The Woods; both women are Alpha Chi Omega members. Mrs. Sarkisian will serve as secretary, Mrs. Michael Welsh, Sigma Sigma Sigma, is the new treasurer; Mrs. Michael Vierk, Zeta Tau Alpha, will be catalogue-historian. Chairman of the annual meeting, Mrs. Launs, encourages all area sorority women to attend the luncheon.

Horse and buggy Derby Day

A horse and buggy shuttle for a Derby Day party?

Members of the Bon Secours Hospital Assistance League Group VI think it's a great idea and will put it into action at their 11th annual Derby Day benefit this Saturday, May 5.

The location of the party is new this year: Mrs. James T. Barnes has offered her Lakeshore Road home for the occasion. Weather-permitting, large televisions will be installed on the terraces fronting the lake.

Awaiting party guests after they have parked their cars on Lakeshore Road will be the horse and carriage booked by party chairman Marilyn Meier, who decided that Mrs. Barnes' long driveway was the perfect setting for a leisurely ride. Then from 4 until 7 p.m., guests will sip and sup while cheering for their favorite Derby entry.

Members of Group VI acting as hostesses for the benefit are the Mesdames J. Addison Bartush, Charles M. Bayer, William Carroll, Frederick K. Cody, James E. Coyle, Patrick J. Crowley, Charles T. Fisher Jr., Thomas Fitzgerald, Robert Frear, Don T. Galvin, William Griffith, John B. Hastings, E. James Howard and John L. King.

Others include Mrs. Leo Kulka, Mrs. Daniel LaFerte, Mrs. John S. Leonard, Mrs. Harry J. Mack, Mrs. Leo A. Marx, Mrs. John H. Mueller, Mrs. Robert Rousseau, Mrs. Richard A. Schrage, Mrs. Edward J. Shumaker, Mrs. Theodore J. Sweeney, Mrs. Guy Willetts and Mrs. William Young.

Lecture focus is folk art

Marilyn Burnett Ross will discuss the currently fashionable, fascinating and expensive art form, "Antique American Folk Art," in a slide-illustrated series at the War Memorial beginning Tuesday, May 8, at 1 p.m.

"True folk art," Ms. Ross says, "is created by artists who are isolated from the mainstream. Because there are few people in America today who are untouched by outside influences, the definition of folk art has been changed, and this change has created all kinds of controversy."

Also offered will be general tips on research, museums, galleries, conservation and restoration.

Ms. Ross has studied at the Society of Arts and Crafts, University of Hawaii, Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association and has studied the history of decorative arts at Henry Ford Museum. Currently she is a lecturer at Meadowbrook Hall and Oakland University.

The cost for the series of four lectures is $20, or $6 each. For more information call 881-7511.

Yachtswomen show fashions

The Yachtswomen's annual fashion show is set for Saturday, May 5, at the Roostertail in Detroit. Cocktails will be served from 11 a.m., followed by luncheon at noon.

Fashions from Marnie Anne's Fashions in Dearborn will be featured. Show proceeds will be distributed to Mariner's Church, the Lake St. Clair Advisory, (for preservation of Wetlands and the Walleye programs), the Macomb County Sheriff's Department in Mt. Clemens (the Marine Division teaches safe boating to young students), and the Great Lakes Lighthouse Keepers Association.

Yachtswomen who helped organize this year's fashion show include Bonnie Hernan, of Troy; Ruth Lowaster, of Birmingham; Roberta Jurkiewicz, of St. Clair Shores; Sharon Lee, of Clawson; Evelyn Kletzka, of Livonia; Bea Burke and Jeanne Bower, of Dearborn; Barbara Powell and Jean Krantz, of Roseville; and Nancy Reynolds, of Warren.

Get on board the 'Showboat!'

Captains and colonels should hunt up their appropriate riverboat attire, place the obligatory "ace" up their sleeves and their best Southern drawl in their voices... and prepare to board the "Showboat!" Those smiles on the faces of (seated) CHET BOGAN and (left to right, standing) SANDRA DRETTMAN, tickets sales chairman, JUDY BUCCIERO, entertainment, and honorary chairmen MR. and MRS. PIERRE PALMENTIER, are there because these folks know about the fun in store for "Showboat!" passengers. The gala fundraising dinner-dance for the Grosse Pointe Symphony begins at 6 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, May 4, with cocktails in the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club's main dining room. Dinner follows at 7:30 p.m. and features Southern specialties like shecrab shop, dirty rice, steak with bourbon sauce and Derby Pie. There'll be a gambling casino with over 100 prizes, Chet Bogan and his Wolverine Jazz Band featuring Dixiebelle will entertain from 9 until midnight, and Richard Ferrera M.D., and Evelyn Bogan will lead a floorshow beginning at 9:30 p.m. Among the raffle prizes are a trip to New Orleans for the World's Fair, a diamond and gold ring and a color television set. Reservations for this evening designed to simulate a pleasure cruise on a late 1800s Mississippi Riverboat — and from the sound of it simulating it perfectly! — may be made by calling Mrs. Joseph Scanlan at 884-1913. Mrs. John E. Young Jr. is general chairman.

Busy spring for DKG alumnae

It's been a busy spring so far for the Grosse Pointe chapter, Beta Delta, of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International, an honorary educational organization for women educators.

Dolores Littlefield was initiated, via a candlelight ceremony, into the Beta Delta chapter. And chapter vice-president Ruth Saur opened her Grosse Pointe Park home March 29 for a slide presentation "China Today," by Irene Middleton, a former Grosse Pointe educator and world traveler. Many chapter members attended the 18th annual Metropolitan Council Luncheon at the War Memorial April 7. On Tuesday, May 2, Elaine Freeman discussed "Principles of Art and the Impressionists," at her Allen Park home. Several members of the Beta Delta chapter plan to attend the of Historic Sites, and has state and city historic district designation. Many of Detroit's finest architects (Louis Kamper, George Mason, Albert Kahn, Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, et al.) designed Indian Village homes.

It was Detroit's finest "suburb," the prime residential area for Detroit's First Families in the first quarter of the century. Among its most famous residents were Edsel Ford, William Kates, Joseph Muer, Walter Jennings and Hugh Chalmers.

This year, adding to the tour's fun atmosphere, there'll be horse and buggy rides. Antique cars and shuttle buses will circulate on the picturesque Indian Village streets. A pastry shop will be open at Christ Lutheran, Iroquois Avenue at East Vernor Highway, where tickets can be purchased the day of the tour. Beer and wine will be available at the Waldorf School.

The tour runs from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. General admission is $7, with a $2 additional charge for a guided walking tour. All ticket holders receive a special souvenir tour guide book, valued at $2. Senior citizens are eligible for a 20 percent discount. Groups of 20 or more also qualify for a 20 percent discount — provided tickets are purchased by June 1.

Ticket information may be obtained by contacting the Indian Village Association, 922-1736, weekdays, between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Tour proceeds are used for a variety of civic endeavors, including scholarships, archival maintenance, plantings, beautification of the Indian Village Detroit Police Mini Station and non-developed lots, as well as for special events.

Grand Prix enthusiasts looking for a great time, and the opportunity to help future generations, should circle Tuesday, June 19, on their calendars, for that evening, at the Rivertown Dance Emporium and Eatery, a marvelous Pre-Prix Potpourri promises something for every world class sports car racing aficionado.

For a $40 donation to the March of Dimes, you get: an open bar and hors d'oeuvres . . . a bus tour of downtown Detroit, with visits to the Grand Prix track, Bricktown and the Warehouse District . . . film highlights of the 1983 Detroit Grand Prix, with commentary by David E. Davis, editor of "Car & Driver" . . . a fashion show featuring Grand Prix attire.

If you elect to come in your own Grand Prix attire, you'll be eligible for one of four prizes to be awarded for "the most ingenious Grand Prix costumes." All proceeds raised by the event will help the March of Dimes fight birth defects via medical research, educational programs and community service projects.

The Pre-Prix Potpourri is being spearheaded by the March of Dimes PROs (People Reaching Out), a volunteer group led by Elliott Trumbull. Ticket information may be obtained by contacting Georgia Olsen, March of Dimes associate executive director, at 423-3200.

A new rose is born . . . how?

Have you ever wondered how a new rose variety is created? At its Wednesday, May 9 meeting, the Grosse Pointe Rose Society will find out how by exploring the fascinating work of the rose hybridizer.

Large rose nurseries have their own hybridizing programs which are responsible for creating many of the new and different rose varieties presently available on the market. There are also many backyard rose growers who hybridize, though on a smaller scale with sometimes excellent results.

The meeting will be held at 7:45 p.m. at the John R. Barnes Elementary School, 20090 Morningside Drive at Fairford, and is open to the public. There is ample parking in the rear of the building. The Grosse Pointe Rose Society is co-sponsored by the Grosse Public School System.

Thomas McMillan will be the speaker for the evening and will explain the different traits hybridizers are trying to breed into the new species. The actual process will also be examined with emphasis on ways an amateur grower can produce a totally unique and different rose in his own yard.

McMillan has been hybridizing roses for eight years, beginning with two dozen seedlings in 1977. He now raises between 500 and 1,000 varieties each season. He was a two-term president of the Detroit area hybridizer's group and he is a Consulting Rosarian of the American Rose Society and has won numerous trophies at local and district rose shows. Tom will present color slides representing his success in hybridizing.

The hostesses for the evening will be Camille Paradzinski, Linda Brabson, and Mary Warman.

Church women meet Tuesday

The Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Congregational/American Baptist Church will use its monthly meeting for a trip to Friendship House in Hamtramck this Tuesday, May 8.

The group will meet in the church parking lot at 9:30 a.m., tour the community center, and have lunch at a Polish restaurant. Interested persons should call Mrs. Myron Mountz at 881-1684.

Reservations, at $12 per person, must be made by May 2 and should be sent to Mrs. Mary Kaufman, 5845 Golfview Drive, Dearborn Heights, 48127. Guests and prospective members are welcome. Friends' president for 1984 is Mrs. Jackson France, of The Pointe.

MCF benefit date in May

Tickets are now available for "A Tribute to MCF" (Michigan Cancer Foundation) at Penna's of Sterling Heights, an evening affair running from 6 p.m. to midnight Sunday, May 27, featuring cocktails, dinner and dancing plus entertainment by The Rhodes, a six-piece band.

Proceeds from the fund raiser will be used to aid cancer patients, their families and members of the communities of Eastern Wayne and Macomb Counties. The event, hosted by MCF's Macomb/East Wayne board of trustees, will herald the grand opening of Penna's on Van Dyke Avenue north of 16 Mile Road.

Reservation information may be obtained by calling MCF's East Regional Service Center, 294-4430, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Newcomers plan pub crawl

The Grosse Pointe Newcomers will gather Saturday, May 19, for a Pizza and Pub Crawl. The party begins at 7:30 p.m. when couples meet at Shields Pizzeria on Mack Avenue.

Cost is $22 per couple, which includes drink tickets, route information, entertainment and pizza. Party chairmen Russ and Nancy Hook are taking reservations at 881-4190.

Assisting the Hooks in planning the party are Don and Birdie Rice, Rich and Mary Pazdur, Jim and Daria Cooper, Joe and Michelle Augustyn, Allyn and Beth Brooks and Angelo and Maria Gagliano.

The Newcomers are anxious to help Pointe couples new to the area meet people. Membership information may be obtained by calling 882-9773 or 331-0087.

Children's Center Spring Conference is May 8

The Children's Center, a community-based provider of mental health services for children and their families headquartered in Detroit's Medical Center, will present its fifth annual spring conference, "Children and Families in Crisis: Targeting Human Services to Client Needs," on Tuesday, May 8, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at Cathedral Church of St. Paul, 4800 Woodward Avenue, Detroit.

The opening speaker will be psychologist John Valusek, Ph.D., of Wichita, Kan., whose subject will be "Teach Us Not to Hit." For over a decade Dr. Valusek has been engaged in a personal campaign to establish a new national ethic of nonviolence based upon the idea: "People Are Not For Hitting and Children Are People, Too." He will be introduced by Eleanor Barnwell, president of the Children's Center Board of Directors, and assistant director, School Community Relations, Detroit Board of Education. Dr. Valusek's participation in the conference is made possible in part by a grant from Junior League of Detroit.

Luncheon speaker Vernice Davis-Anthony, Assistant Wayne County Executive for Health and Community Services, will discuss "Human Services in Wayne County: Challenges for Future Directions."

The conference theme will be explored in a choice of 53 workshops, for the most part conducted by human service professionals.

Among topics to be covered are stress reduction, children's destructive behavior with peers, incest: what happens to the family; providing therapeutic foster care for throw-away children; the suicidal adolescent; high school dropout prevention; latch key children; growing up with asthma; child abuse patterns; comparison of western civilization and ancient China; treatment of rape victims; and children of violence: therapy and prevention.

Admission to the conference is $10; students, $5.

Call Dr. Paula Jorne, conference coordinator at 831-5535.

Among Grosse Pointers who will present workshops in The Children's Center's annual spring conference, "Children and Families in Crisis: Targeting Human Services to Client Needs," on Tuesday, May 8, at Cathedral Church of St. Paul on Woodward Avenue, are JULIE FOUST (left) of Junior League of Detroit, whose subject will be "Meeting Emergency Needs for Children and Families" and LYLE WARD (right) of Cottage Hospital, who will discuss "The Suicidal Adolescent." They are seen here with DR. PAULA JORNE (center), coordinator of the conference, which will feature a choice of 53 workshops in morning and afternoon sessions. Others involved include Louise TeWalt, a workshop moderator, and Lenore Marshall, public relations. Admission is $10, students $5. For reservation information call 831-5535.

It's Blossom Time . . .

"Be an Angel and Come," is the invitation extended by Friends of Stapleton Center's president Mrs. Julius Tapert to attend the Friends' annual Blossom Time Luncheon and Fashion Show at noon Thursday, May 17, in the Fries Auditorium of the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road. Stapleton Center, located on Agnes on Detroit's east side, provides gracious retirement living for 62 retirees. It occupies one square block, including a beautifully landscaped courtyard with a fountain. The Center features a "campus concept," which permits community living while still maintaining the individual independence of residents.

Tickets for the Blossom Time event are $15 and reservations must be made by May 8. They are being taken by Mrs. Lorenzo D. Browning, 243 Lakeland Drive, Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Walter B. Fisher and Mrs. Emmet E. Tracy Jr., are chairmen of the event. Fashions by Maria Dinon of Grosse Pointe will be featured. "Friends" assisting with arrangements include Pointers Mrs. C. Howard Craine, Mrs. John Rieckel, Mrs. Sarah Verlinden, Mrs. Charles T. Fisher Jr., Mrs. Robert Thibodeau, Mrs. Everett Scranton, Mrs. William Chester, Mrs. Joseph Bejin, Mary Rita Marshall and Rosemary Downey.

Birmingham and Bloomfield "Friends" greeting guests will be Mrs. Aloysius F. Power, Mrs. Joseph Flaherty, Mrs. Edmond Dilworth and Mrs. Jerry T. Flanigan.

Potters' sale at Pewabic

The Michigan Potters' Association Annual Members Sale opened Saturday, April 14, at noon at Pewabic Pottery, located on East Jefferson Avenue opposite Detroit's Waterworks Park, and will continue there through Tuesday, May 15, open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, from noon to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Approximately 2,000 pots of all shapes, sizes and prices, works of over 50 ceramists, are featured, with new shipments arriving throughout the sale. Demonstrations will be held on weekends. Cookies and punch, made by the potters, will be offered.

Take a Sunday Stroll . . .

The Detroit Historical Society starts off its sixth season with one of its most popular programs, Sunday Strolls, beginning May 6.

The opening Sunday Stroll will be through one of the oldest and most well preserved neighborhoods in the city: Indian Village. Jack Hild, president of the Indian Village Association and other area residents will serve as guides.

Registration is limited and prepared advance reservations are necessary. The cost is $3.50 for non-Society members; $2.50 for members. Comfortable shoes and casual dress are suggested. Strolls start at 2 p.m., last three hours and will go on rain or shine.

For a complete listing of all 17 Sunday Strolls, send a large, self-addressed stamped envelope to the Detroit Historical Society, 5401 Woodward, Detroit, 48202. The Society's telephone number is 833-7934.

Macomb PSI meet is Wednesday

Members of the Macomb Chapter of Professional Secretaries International (PSI) will gather for their monthly dinner meeting Wednesday, May 9, at 5:30 p.m. at The Gazebo, 31104 Mound Road in Warren. Cost of the event is $10.80.

Guest speaker will be Mary Wadsden, from the Detroit College of Business; her topic is "It's Still Skills - the Write Stuff."

Further information about the PSI or the dinner meeting may be obtained by contacting Ilse Sjogren at 754-4333 (after 6 p.m.) or 369-9100, extension 2420 (between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.)

Set School for the Deaf bazaar date

Tuesday, May 15, is the date of the Maypole Bazaar sponsored by the Lutheran Ladies Auxiliary for the Deaf. It will be held in the gym of the Lutheran School for the Deaf, 6861 E. Nevada, Detroit, near Van Dyke.

Doors open at 10:30 a.m., and a noon luncheon will be served for a donation of $3.50. No reservations are necessary for the luncheon, and admission to the bazaar is free.

Many handmade items will be offered for sale, plus baked goods, jewelry, greeting cards, house plants, attic treasures, country store, grab bag, North Pole crafts, etc.

This is the largest fundraising activity of the year for the Auxiliary, and proceeds will be used for student scholarships. The Lutheran School for the Deaf has been in existence for 111 years, and in addition to teaching deaf children, it has now expanded its classes to include other specialized areas.

A sampling of fine food and fashion

Scrumptious salads and up-to-the-minute fashions will be featured when the women of Kappa Kappa Gamma present their annual Salad Sampler Luncheon and fashion show Thursday, May 17, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. SHARON MERTZ and EMILY MOELLERING, general co-chairwomen, and MARY HARWOOD, fashion show coordinator, are pictured above (left to right) at a "Sampler" planning session. Other Kappas involved in the project include Ann Hathaway and Betsy Boynton, in charge of the kitchen corps, Mary Leigh Herdegen, commissary, Dodie Ludwig, waitress, Laurie Huettman, tickets, Kay Smith, decorations and set-up, and Marcia Winzer, in charge of clean-up — and of selling any extra salads. Kappas modeling spring and summer styles from Bayberry Hill Classics, Kercheval on-the-Hill, will be Marilyn Wood, Beverly Sellers, Lois Potter, Aletha Smith, Bobbie Snow, Fran Tanner, Candy Sweeny and Debbie Veryser. Ticket price remains a nominal $7. Tickets may be purchased by calling 881-1062 . . . but be sure to call early, because only 150 will be sold. Proceeds are earmarked for the Detroit Rehabilitation Institute.

Trade facts for fallacies

Mice love cheese, goats eat tin cans, and the sky is blue . . . right?

Wrong, said Reader's Digest in its March issue.

Mice don't really care for cheese; they often will not touch it if any other food is available. The same for goats and tin cans. Goats will lick the labels off the cans and nibble at almost anything out of curiosity, but they will not — nor can they — eat shoes or tin cans.

And the sky actually has no color of its own. It is lit by the blue contained in sunlight.

If all that isn't enough, here are some other commonly-held beliefs which The Digest said are fallacies.

- Antelopes abound in the American West. No species of the antelope exists in North America. The animal referred to in "Home on the Range" is the pronghorn, which combines features of the goat, sheep, giraffe, antelope and deer.
- Quicksand drags you under. Quicksand is buoyant, and anyone who stumbles into it can get out. The trick is to remain calm and free yourself by letting the buoyancy of the quicksand support you and by slowly swimming to firm ground.
- An electric fan cools the air. No fan makes the air temperature drop. The cooling effect is due to body perspiration evaporating more rapidly in circulating air than in stagnant. It is this increased rate of evaporation that cools you.

Steam is visible. Steam is not only invisible, it is not even wet. Look at the spout of a boiling kettle, and you will not see steam — which becomes a visible mist only when exposed to the cooler air an inch or so from the spout and is changed through condensation into water droplets.

Each of the six collegiate chapters located at the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Albion College, Central Michigan University, Western Michigan University and Northwood Institute reported on their activities for the past year. Darlene Krato of The Farms has been elected to a second term as president; Betty Frolund of The Shores will serve as treasurer for a second term. Others elected for a two-year term are Catherine Siarto, secretary, of Plymouth; Deborah Dubai, newsletter editor, of Mt. Clemens; Anne Molyneux, lyre editor, of Canton and co-rush chairmen, Marsha Livermore, of Plymouth and Carolyn Bourland, of Utica.

Continuing to serve on the Detroit Area Board are Joan Ketterman, vice-president, of The Park; Donna Wienle, membership chairperson, of The City; Judy Livingston, historian, of The City and co-newsletter publishers Donna Johnston of The Woods and Joan Armbruster of The Park.

Alpha Chi Omega's Delegates to the Detroit Panhellenic Council will be installed as president and vice-president on May 9, at the Panhellenic Annual Meeting and Spring Luncheon to be held at the Country Club of Detroit. They are Carol Tock, of The Park and Maryhelen Feighner, of The Woods.

On March 30 and 31, Mrs. Krato, Mrs. Frolund and Mrs. Ketterman attended the Alpha Chi Omega Province-District State Convention at Michigan State University in East Lansing. The theme of the meeting was "Pride Makes the Difference." Delegates attended workshops led by Marsha Livermore, district alumnae chairperson, and Jan Bancroft, province president, of Grand Ledge.

State Day Luncheon held at the Michigan State Student Center, members of the Boarshead Resident Theatre Company presented a program exploring the lives of early Michigan Settlers.

The next meeting of the Eastside Group of the Detroit Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae will be held on Wednesday, June 13, at the Muir Road Home of Barbara Finch. At that time Virginia Hutcheson of The Woods will assume the chairmanship of the group. For information concerning the meeting, local Alpha Chis can contact Mrs. Ketterman.

Alpha Chi Omega is a national social sorority whose philanthropic endeavors include the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, The Mac Dowell Colony for The Arts, The Easter Seal Society and the Alpha Chi Omega Foundation.

Pointers sing of the silver screen

Pointers Margaret Lindner, Sue Zielinski and Sally Murray will participate when the Madrigal Choral of Southfield presents its cabaret concert featuring "songs of the silver screen," Wednesday, May 9, at the Southfield Pavilion on Civic Center Drive at Evergreen.

Show time is 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $6 and are available at the pavilion or by calling 354-4717 or 821-2312. The event will be hosted by master of ceremonies D.J. Gallagher, of WDIV-TV and co-sponsored by the Southfield Arts Council and the Southfield Parks and Recreation Department.

The chorale was well-received in its recent performance at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, spokesmen say.

Bon Secours focus on Early Pregnancy

Bon Secours Hospital starts a new class on Thursday, May 24, for expectant mothers up to five months pregnant, to help them prepare for a safe and pleasant birth experience. The one-session program is free to mothers planning or considering having their babies at Bon Secours.

The Early Pregnancy Class will provide information about exercises designed to help women during pregnancy, nutritional needs of the pregnant woman and physical changes she can expect to experience.

It will also teach expectant mothers to understand their emotional changes, and will focus on recognizing health risks, development of the fetus and the father's role during pregnancy and birth.

The class, which meets at 7 p.m. in the hospital's Science Hall, can be taken in addition to other classes available at Bon Secours to prepare families for the arrival of a new baby. Registration may be made and more information obtained by calling 343-1689 between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m.

May 12 meeting for genealogists

The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research will meet Saturday, May 12 at 2 p.m. in the Explorer's Room of the Detroit Public Library. Advisors will offer suggestions on genealogical questions in the morning; books and supplies will be available in the meeting's evening portion.

"Today's Records for Tomorrow's Genealogists" is the title of the May 12 presentation planned by Dr. Francis X. Blouin, Director of the Bentley Historical Library on the University of Michigan campus. Dr. Blouin will address the problem of documenting contemporary families and current records for future genealogists.

Calling all Dominican alumnae

Dominican High School alumnae are invited to a champagne luncheon honoring Sister Mary Alice Collins, principal of Dominican from 1945 through 1951, on Saturday, May 19 at 12:30 p.m. at the school.

Reservations are necessary and must be made by May 11. Donation is $15. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 882-8503 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Chrysanthemum Society meets

The Greater Detroit Chrysanthemum Society will meet this Sunday, May 6, at 2 p.m. in the Community Room at Tel-Twelve Mall, 12 Mile and Telegraph Roads in Southfield.

Gordon Lawrence and Roy Fox, of the Toronto Chapter of the Canadian Chrysanthemum Society, will present a program on "Growing the Big Early Chrysanthemums." They have developed a new technique in growing large chrysanthemums.

The meeting is open to the public; there is no charge.

Belle-Biscayne ABWA honors bosses

Thursday, May 10, is "Boss and Business Associate Night" for the Belle-Biscayne Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

The setting is the Polish Century Club, 5181 East Outer Drive. Complimentary cocktails will be served from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., with dinner at 7:30 p.m., followed by a cash bar.

Guest speaker will be Michigan Supreme Court Justice Patricia J. Boyle. Cost is $15 per person. Further information may be obtained by calling 465-0435 or 293-3759.

Action Auction General Chairman Mary Stroble, her son Toni and Grosse Pointe Academy Headmaster Sidney I. DuPont pose with two Action Auction items — a log cabin playhouse and a sports car.

Pointers of Interest

By Peggy O'Connor

With 21 years experience in the educational field, two years as Headmaster at Grosse Pointe Academy, and one fast, furious and successful Action Auction behind him, Sidney I. DuPont, Ph.D., still can't figure out what makes the Academy tick.

"We've had educators, counselors and other visitors from around the country come here, see the school and the wonderful spirit here and ask us to explain what makes the Academy so special. I just tell them the place is blessed . . . I don't know how else to explain it," Dr. DuPont says, grinning and shrugging his shoulders.

Most Grosse Pointers know that the Academy was originally a boarding school for girls founded in 1883 and operated by the Sisters of the Sacred Heart. They also know that the school — which still operates under the same charter — became an independent, co-educational day school in 1969, providing an alternative to the traditional parochial and public school education. And they probably are aware that the Academy considers itself a pioneer in the field of individualized education.

But like Headmaster DuPont, most people can't figure out why students, staff members, parents and alumni make such strong commitments to the welfare and success of the tiny, 270-student school nestled between Lakeshore Drive and Grosse Pointe Boulevard.

DuPONT, WHO assumed the headmaster's position in July, 1982, says he hasn't observed such a spirit of commitment in his entire educational career. And that includes his stints as director of studies at Becket Academy, principal of Deerfield Valley Elementary, Superintendent of Barkhamstead, Colebrook, Norfolk, and Suffield, Conn., Schools and teaching at the college level.

"I've never seen anything like what goes on here . . . all year round and at Auction time," DuPont says. "Look at the hours these people have put in on this year's Auction. Like Mary Stroble, our general chairman. Somebody asked me how many hours she'd worked on the Auction. I said: 'How many hours are there in a month? Put her down for all of them.' he adds.

Mary and Edward Stroble are typical of the Academy parent whose dedication and commitment to the school have Dr. DuPont shaking his head. Residents of Grosse Pointe since 1965, the Strobles got their first taste of Academy life when they enrolled oldest son Teddy in the Montessori Early School in 1974. All three Stroble sons now attend the Academy and the Strobles' involvement with the school has gone far beyond just dropping the kids off at the front door and signing report cards.

Mary has been a room mother several times, is currently a GPA board member, and was the Academy representative to the Parents' League of Independent Schools from 1981 through 1983. Edward Stroble is a past Board of Trustees member and was general chairman of annual giving in 1978-79.

The Strobles have worked on the Auction advertising committee, on acquisitions, reservations and on just about every phase of the annual fund-raising affair. The Auction, which has been the Academy's major fund raising event since 1969, is one of this country's most successful charitable events. Last year's Auction raised $170,000 and this year, the Strobles have set $200,000 as their goal for the one-night event.

If the Academy succeeds in raising that much, a lot of the credit should go to people like the Strobles and the countless other parents and alumni working on the Auction.

"These are good people. Everyone of them loves to work. That's what makes the Academy so unique, that family atmosphere, that dedication," Dr. DuPont says.

THE AUCTION PROVIDES from 10 to 12 percent of the Academy's total revenue each year and allows the school to hold tuition rates at a reasonable level. And while that might explain some of the reason why parents are so willing to assist the Academy in this Auction effort, that isn't the whole story. Mary Stroble says.

"We got involved because we love the school and we feel grateful for what it's done for our kids," she says. And despite the long hours, Mary Stroble is finding that she also got involved to have a little fun.

"We have had a good time. You know, when I first got started as general chairman this year, I questioned whether I could get excited about another Auction after working on them for so many years. But I'm excited about this Auction and it's hard not to be because everybody else is so 'up' about it."

That Academy spirit that is so hard to define seems to have spread beyond the grounds of the pretty campus. Donations of Auction items have been generous, both from within the Grosse Pointe community and from places throughout the country. Dr. DuPont thinks he knows why.

"We're 99 years old and the Academy and its predecessor the Sacred Heart Academy have reached to the four corners of the earth . . . all those alumni are still supportive," DuPont says. "And that's an example of that spirit again."

The Strobles and Dr. DuPont think that this year's Action Auction will embody even more of that old Academy spirit. "And it'll be a fun party, too. People can have an enjoyable time and participate in something which does so much for a worthy cause. From the look of our items, we'll either have great bargains or lots of cash for the school," Dr. DuPont says.

"No bargains," Mary Stroble laughs. "We want full price or more. It's for a good cause."

That, as Dr. DuPont would say, is the spirit.

THE 1984 ACTION Auction begins at 5 p.m. Saturday, May 12, at the Detroit Athletic Club. The silent auction begins at 5 p.m., followed by the live auction conducted by Lawrence and Ernest DuMouchelle at 7 p.m. Tickets are $30 per person. An optional dinner after the live auction is priced at $20 per person. Reservations may be obtained by calling 886-1802.

Among the items donated by corporations, resorts, retail stores, artists, celebrities and individuals are a one-week vacation in a private castle in Italy, Alexander Caulder and Joan Miro lithographs, an Imperial of Chateau Lafite Rothschild '59, a trip through the Caribbean on a 62-foot ketch and tickets to center court at Wimbledon.

Other items are an Alaskan cruise, accommodations and meals for six on a Great Lakes steel freighter, an evening with hockey superstar Wayne Gretzky plus dinner at Pegasus Taverna, trips to Hong Kong, Vail and Acapulco, a log cabin playhouse and a ride in the Stroh jetcopter.

Among those Wayne State University alumnae honored as 1984 Women of Wayne Headliners at a May 5 luncheon was Marieke Sellenraad Allen, of The Farms. A ceramist and teacher of ceramics, Ms. Allen has been awarded for her activities with the Boy Scouts, the A.A.U.W. and the Grosse Pointe Public School System.

INDIAN BRAISED LETTUCE
2 heads lettuce, quartered
1/2 cup boiling water
1/4 tsp. salt
2 Tbsp. margarine
1/2 cup fine, soft bread crumbs
3 Tbsp. Parmesan cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
Place lettuce in saucpan with boiling water and salt. Cover and cook 2 minutes, or until wilted. Drain. Arrange in shallow baking dish. Dot with margarine. Sprinkle with bread crumbs mixed with cheese, salt and black pepper. Bake in preheated 450° oven 15 minutes. Serve hot to 8.
Calories per serving about 52.
Cholesterol about 5 mgs.

GESTAAFDA SLA
6 heads Boston lettuce
2 Tbsp. margarine
1/2 cup bouillon
1/3 cup cracker crumbs
Wash lettuce thoroughly and boil in salted water until tender. Drain thoroughly. Arrange in lightly oiled casserole and dot with margarine. Add bouillon, sprinkle with cracker crumbs. Bake in preheated 400° oven 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.
Calories per serving about 75.

BAKED LETTUCE WITH MUSHROOMS
1 large head Iceberg lettuce
2 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen peas
3 Tbsp. margarine
1 lb. fresh mushrooms, thinly sliced
1 cup sliced onions
Salt and pepper to taste
1 can (10 oz.) chicken broth
2 Tbsp. flour
1/2 tsp. basil
Wash and thinly slice mushrooms. Melt 1 Tbsp. margarine in skillet, add mushrooms and onion and saute for 5 minutes. Add salt and pepper.
Put peas into 2-quart oiled casserole and pour half the mushroom mixture over them. Top with lettuce cut into 8 wedges.
In saucpan, melt the 2 remaining Tbsp. margarine. Blend in the flour; brown slightly. Stir in the broth and basil. Cook until thickened; add remainder of the mushrooms. Pour over the peas and lettuce. Bake, covered, in preheated 350° oven 45 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

LETTUCE CASSEROLE
2 medium heads Iceberg lettuce
3 quarts water
1 tsp. salt
1 cup plain low-cal yogurt
1/4 tsp. black pepper
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
2 hard-cooked egg whites, chopped
1/2 cup hard-cooked Egg Beaters, chopped
1/2 cup thinly sliced, peeled cucumber
2 Tbsp. fine bread crumbs
4 tsp. unsalted margarine
Cut thick ribs from outside of lettuce and wash heads thoroughly. In large kettle with cover, bring water to boil with salt. When water is rapidly boiling, drop in lettuce heads, cover, and boil 8 minutes over high heat. Drain and plunge into kettle of very cold water. Then drain again, very thoroughly, pressing out all possible moisture. With a very sharp knife, cut the lettuce into very thin strips. Arrange strips in well-oiled, low casserole. Thoroughly combine yogurt, pepper, nutmeg and chopped eggs; place on top of lettuce. Arrange cucumber slices over the casserole, then sprinkle with bread crumbs and dot with margarine. Bake in preheated 400° oven until topping is browned, about 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

BRAISED LETTUCE
2 Tbsp. margarine
2 medium solid heads lettuce
1/4 tsp. Spike
Melt margarine in large skillet. Take off outside bruised leaves and cut heads in half, leaving core in place. Place lettuce, cut side down, into melted margarine. Cook until delicately browned. Turn gently so halves will keep shape. Sprinkle with small amount of Spike (season salt). Cover and turn heat very low. Simmer until crisp-tender about 10 minutes. Serve with pan juices. Makes 4 servings.

Friday is May Fellowship Day

May Fellowship Day is a special celebration sponsored and observed across the United States by Church Women United on the first Friday in May. As Christian women gather for this year's observance on Friday, May 4, the occasion will have a distinctive Hispanic flavor.

Prepared by a group of Spanish-speaking women in Church Women United, the May Fellowship Service for 1984 reflects the culture from which they come. Using the theme, "The Family, a Portrait of Change," it focuses on the family so central to Hispanic culture.

Fellowship Day will be celebrated at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19959 Mack Ave-ue, in The Woods. Registration and Fellowship is at 9 a.m., the program lasts from 10 a.m. to noon, and a Mexican Fiesta will take place at luncheon. Reservations were required by May 1, for any ticket information call your Church Women United Representative, or Mrs. Major Harry Brocksieck, at 961-2292.

Elba Santiago Berlin, Michigan Commissioner of Spanish Speaking Affairs, Director of Bilingual Education and Special Projects for the Hamtramck Public Schools, will be guest speaker. Margo Allen of Warren, who chaired World Community Day of 1983, is chairman of tomorrow's event.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

A grumpy-sounding man called me last week, complaining about how "if he wanted to read about the Tigers, he'd get the big Detroit papers." He was objecting to a mention I'd made in a recent column about Detroit Tiger overkill in the media.

He's right, I guess. Tiger news belongs in "the big Detroit papers" and news of the Norsemen, Falcons, Lakers, Blue Devils, Knights and Tunas belongs right here.

But then nobody would ever hear about Joanne Burcar and her Tiger memories.

Joanne has more Tiger memories than 100 old Tiger year-books and because I work here, I'm lucky enough to be one of the people she shares those memories with. And, just to satisfy the grumpy guy on the phone, Joanne Burcar is more "Grosse Pointe" than 200 years of Norsemen, Falcons, Lakers, Blue Devils, Knights and Tunas could ever hope to be.

You see, Joanne is part and parcel of the Grosse Pointe News. Officially she's assistant to the publisher and the News' classified advertising manager. But she also doubles as "small loan" officer for needy reporters, head cheerleader, earth mother, proofreader, and doer of just about anything else that needs to be done around our office.

She's been around Grosse Pointe and the News for... well, let's just say she remembers what Pointe sports were like before there were two public high schools. And those memories are helpful when one is working on a story and needs to know about something that happened before last week.

What does a guy do when it's spring, 75 degrees, sunny and school is out for the week? Well, if he's a member of the North or South High junior varsity baseball teams, he plays a doubleheader. North lost both ends of the doubleheader played at Elworthy Field April 26, but the Norsemen got some good cuts in, like the one pictured above.

G.P. Bantam Blues: second in U.S.

The Michigan state champion Grosse Pointe Bantam AA Blues arrived at the American Hockey Association Level II National Championship Tournament in Buffalo, N.Y., April 5... and after three days of superb tournament hockey between the best Bantam teams in the country, emerged as the No. 2 Bantam AA team in the U.S.

The Blues opened play by defeating New Hartford (New York State champions), 5-3. The line of Rob Koehler, Rob Kirsch, and Grant Patterson led the team with Kirsch scoring four goals to earn the game's gold medal. Dan Spitz scored the winning goal on assists from Scott Markiewicz and Tim Bohan. Jon Phillip's solid goaltending was recognized by his selection as the game's third star.

In their next two games, the G.P. Blues had two consecutive shutouts. Goalie Jon Phillips played against the Indianapolis Bisons (Mid-America Regional titlists). With the strong play of defense combinations Jeff Lacca, Pahl Zinn, Dave Johnston and Bob Alcott, Indianapolis was limited to only 12 shots on the Blues' net. Goalie Phillips was awarded another third star game selection for the tournament. Chris Yangouyian's determined play and goal on assists from Patterson and Johnston, earned him his selection as the game's second star. Kirsch, on assists from Koehler and Patterson, scored the Blues additional two goals for their 3-0 victory and was selected as the first star of this game.

The Atlantic Region 2 champions from Westtown, Pa., were the Blues' next foes. Matt Dennis was in the Blues' net against Pennsylvania for the second Grosse Pointe shutout. Dennis' aggressive goaltending was rewarded by his well-deserved election as first star of this 4-0 win. Kirsch, chosen the game's third star, assisted by Yangouyian and Zinn, scored the first of the Blues' four goals.

Koehler followed with the first of his two goals on assists from Patterson and Kirsch. Two minutes later with a shorthanded, unassisted goal, Koehler received the nomination as the second star of the game. Spitz, assisted by Koehler, closed the scoring with the Blues' fourth goal in this 4-0 victory. The strong forechecking of Kenny Frank, Bob Hastings, and Yangouyian, combined with the penalty killing of forwards Koehler and Patterson, plus the blue line defense patrol of Johnston and Zinn, made the third period outstanding and helped qualify the Blues for the semi-final game Sunday morning against Buffalo which they won, 4-2.

The semi-final game became a battle of goaltenders, as evidenced by the first and second game awards play by the Blues' Phillips and the Buffalo goalie.

In the final game against the Northwest Chargers, the Illinois team took a 3-0 lead. Grosse Pointe stormed back with two goals and never quit, but time ran out. The runner-up Blues were coached by Rich Lacca, Dick Bohan, Dave Kirsch and George Zinn and sponsored by Northern Group Services.

Runners' workshop set

Many athletes understand the whys and hows of preparing for an athletic event, but how much do they know about guidelines for injury prevention? Stretching exercises? Common injuries of the recreational athlete? Or choosing the right running shoe?

These topics and more will be discussed during "Everything A Runner Should Know," today, May 3, at 7 p.m. in the Cottage Hospital lower level Boardrooms. The free program is sponsored by The Cottage Hospital Athletic Medicine Program (CHAMP).

On the panel this evening will be Donald Garver, M.D., orthopedic surgeon, advisor and a consulting physician to the Cottage Hospital Athletic Medicine Program (CHAMP); Rose Snyder, M.S., A.T.C., athletic trainer, Cottage Hospital Athletic Medicine Program (CHAMP); and head athletic trainer, Henry Ford Hospital Center for Athletic Medicine; and Michael Spertl, M.D., physiatrist and medical director, Cottage Hospital Athletic Medicine Program (CHAMP).

"Everything a Runner Should Know" occurs just three days before the Cottage Hospital FUN RUN/WALK, Sunday, May 6.

To register for "Everything a Runner Should Know," contact the Cottage Hospital Education department at 884-8600, extension 2390. The program is limited to 100 guests. For more information on the Cottage Hospital FUN RUN/WALK, contact the hospital's public relations department at 884-8600, extension 2456.

GP swimmers make nationals

Four members of the Grosse Pointe Swim Club participated in the Junior National Olympic Championships in Tuscaloosa, Ala., recently. Eastern Division swimmers attended the meet to compete in an effort to make pre-Olympic swimming qualification times.

G.P. Swim Club coach Scott Teeters entered the girls in the 400 yard medley relay event. Cheryl Chase led the relay with the back stroke followed by Sandy Smith at the breast stroke, Sue Benoit with the butterfly and Nancy Vettorello with the freestyle stroke.

Smith, the youngest girl in the relay, also competed in the 100 and 200 yard breast stroke events. She finished in 16th place in the 100 yard; an impressive position for a 14 year-old.

The girls will continue their training under Teeters in the Long Course Swim Training program offered this summer by the Swim Club through the schools' Department of Community Services. All interested swimmers are welcome to participate at their own level. Contact Laurie Schulte at 343-2178 for further information.

May 20 — France, 3:30 to 5 p.m.; June 3 — Monaco, 4 to 4 p.m.;
June 17 — Montreal, 1 to 4 p.m.

Viewers are advised to check television guides on the day of each race.

Pointers earn sports awards

Bowdoin College handed out its winter sports athletic honors recently and three Pointers were among those who earned letters.

Senior Carolyn Danaher, of Cloverly Road, earned a varsity letter in squash. A graduate of University Liggett School, Carolyn became only the second Bowdoin player ever to earn a national ranking, finishing as the 18th best player in the U.S.

Senior William K. Bradfield, of Warner Road, received a varsity letter in swimming. He's a South High alumnus. And Bowdoin freshman George Zinn III, of Beacon Hill, earned his junior varsity numerals in hockey. He was graduated from ULS.

Stars shine, but Knights drop three

Three losses last week brought the University Liggett School varsity baseball team's record to 0-6.

But sophomore Brian David continues his strong hitting for ULS with a .421 average. Junior Chris Tincu also had an excellent week at the plate, hitting at a .400 pace.

On Wednesday, April 25, St. Florian scored runs in the seventh inning to top the Knights, 7-5.

At the ULS Invitational Tournament Saturday, April 28, Cranbrook coasted by Southfield Christian 13-1, and Harper Woods shut out ULS 6-0 in qualifying. The championship game saw Harper Woods take the first place trophy 4-1 over Cranbrook. In the consolation game, Southfield Christian beat ULS, 9-6.

The best individual performance against the Knights last week was turned in by Harper Woods pitcher Mike Goelan. Mike allowed only three hits in his Saturday shutout.

Coach Glynn Conley's team plays at Bethesda at home on Thursday, May 3, at 4:30 p.m.

Personal bests for ULS

The ULS girls' varsity track and field team competed in its first meet of the season on Friday, April 27. For eight of the 12 girls, it was their first ULS track and field meet ever. Host Detroit Country Day School (DCDS) had 18 points, Greenhills 48½, ULS, 28, and Kingswood, 17½.

"It was a nice bonus to beat Kingswood," said Coach Cathy Schmidt, "but, more importantly, the girls achieved 18 personal bests. DCDS coach George Prosperi was wonderful to us," continued Schmidt. "He and his team encouraged us and helped us all afternoon. Now that's what a meet should be like."

Sophomore newcomer Paula Rodriguez was high scorer (seven points) for ULS capturing third place in the 1600 meters (6:22) and second place in the 3200 meters (14:03). Junior co-captain Ahunna Nwosu picked up second place in the high jump (4 feet, two inches), while her classmates Rebecca Boone took third in both discus (68 feet, 6½ inches) and shotput (25 feet, seven inches), and Judy Go nabbed fourth in the 300 hurdles (61.3).

Sophomore veteran Carol Ling took fourth in long jump (13 feet, seven inches) and fifth in the 100 meters (14.8). Her classmate Nadia Selim scored two points for the team with fifth places in both discus (57 feet, six inches) and the 400 meters (82.7). Freshman Lydia Alexander captured fifth place in the long jump (12 feet, 10 inches). ULS' 400 meter, 800 meter and 1600 meter relay teams each finished third.

Ailing senior co-captain, Sarah Glass, juniors Linda Vaughn and Delphine Davison, and freshmen Liz Hader and Scarlet Parris contributed determination, spirit and "personal best" accomplishments to the meet.

Manager Lisa Krembel kept the statistics accurately, and applied first aid and concern to Judy Go, after Go had taken a surprising tumble in her first 100 hurdles event ever.

"What more could we ask for?" commented assistant coach Sue Frederick. "The girls were terrific!"

Both the girls' and boys' teams will travel to Southfield Christian for a 4:15 meet on Thursday, May 8.

Netters are 3rd

The University Liggett School varsity tennis team finished third in the East Grand Rapids Tournament on Saturday, April 28. East Grand Rapids won the tournament with 28 points, Okemos finished second with 25 and ULS had 22 points. Forest Hills Central had 16 points, Three Rivers, 10, Portage Northern, nine, Spring Lake, six, and Saginaw Douglas MacArthur three points to round out the field.

Kirk Haggarty, at No. 4 singles was the only flight winner for ULS. George Haggarty and Robby Wood at No. 1 doubles and Scott Watson and Henry Woodhouse at No. 3 doubles were runners-up in their flights. Frank Crociata won the consolation at No. 1 singles.

On Friday, April 27, Coach Bob Wood's Knights were defeated by Forest Hills Central, 4-3. Individual winners for ULS were Brian Hunt and Haggarty at No. 1 doubles, George Haggarty and Wood at No. 2 doubles and John Birgbaud and Woodhouse at No. 3 doubles.

On Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, ULS will host its 17th Annual Invitational. Schools participating will be Unive. city Liggett School, North High, South High, Dearborn, Edsel Ford, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Greenhills and South Lake. Play begins on Friday at 3:30 p.m. Saturday's play will be as follows: 9 a.m., consolation semi-finals; 10:30 a.m., championship semi-finals; 12:30 p.m., consolation finals; and 2 p.m. championship finals.

Slow start for JV

Stumbling to three losses last week, the ULS JV tennis team's record plummeted to 0-5. The losses were to Cranbrook, Ann Arbor Huron, and Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard's varsity by 8-0, 5-3, and 7-1 scores, respectively.

"Of course, the team is disappointed by the results," stated Coach Chuck Wright. "But personally, I am proud of the kids. They are playing superior talent, but all of them are giving their best efforts."

ULS had an especially close match with Huron. Rob Glancy won at No. 2 singles, Mike Fozzo at No. 3 singles, and Robert Niccolini and Bill Reuther at No. 4 doubles. The junior varsity Knights lost three matches in three sets. Andrew MacLeod was nipped 7-6, 3-6, 6-3 at No. 4 singles. At No. 2 doubles, Jeff Buhl and Paul Smith lost 6-0, 2-6, 6-3, while at No. 3 doubles Michael Baks and Steve Eberhardt dropped a 6-0, 3-6, 6-1 decision.

Coach Wright's team will play on its home courts against Brother Rice on Wednesday, May 9 at 4 p.m.

Softball win

The ULS varsity softball team soundly defeated Kingswood, 31-26, in extra innings April 25.

The winning pitcher was freshman Julie Ferris. The offensive attack was led by junior Samantha DeSmet's homerun, and sophomore Paige Dotson's triple. Senior captain Mary Hoyos scored six runs, while her classmate Michelle Stief tallied five.

Coach Granger's team now holds a 2-1 record. The girls play Bethesda at home at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 3, and Huron Valley Lutheran at 4:15 p.m. on Friday, May 4.

Kickers win

The ULS girls' soccer team did not have a perfect week last week, but the Thursday, April 26, victory over DCDS made up for the April 24 loss to Bishop Gallagher.

That strong Bishop Gallagher team defeated ULS, 6-0. Freshman Kim Wood, who was playing goal for the first time, made 19 saves against Bishop Gallagher's talented offense.

The Lady Knights traveled to DCDS on a perfect afternoon. The sun was shining, and so was the ULS offense. Freshman Laura Khelokian led the attack with two unassisted goals. Senior Rebecca Thomas scored once, with assists going to Karen Cavazos and Susan Judge. Once again, Wood did a fine job in net, making 13 saves and allowing only one goal in the 3-1 victory.

ULS is now 3-4 overall, and 2-2 in the Expressway Girls' Soccer League. Coach Candy Bousquet's team travels to Edsel Ford for a 4:15 p.m. contest on Thursday, May 3. The second team will play the ULS Middle School Friday, May 4.

A lacrosse win

The University Liggett School junior varsity lacrosse team opened their season on Friday, April 27, with a resounding 9-4 defeat of Kingswood.

Juniors Leah Evanski and Shelby Meade, sophomore Becky Ingall, and freshman Tricia Petzold scored two goals each, while sophomore Lindsey Ford added one. Playing outstanding defense against the Kingswood attack was sophomore Stefanie Sables.

In the "reserve" team game that followed, ULS tallied a 3-1 win with goals by sophomores Sables and Pam Hickey, and freshman Elizabeth McKnight.

Coach Karen Smith's team's next home game is Friday, May 4, at 4 p.m. against Academy of the Sacred Heart.

Teamwork key to lacrosse success

The University Liggett School girls' varsity lacrosse team will carry 17 players, all juniors and seniors who are fairly experienced. There are no outstanding stars on the team.

According to coach Melinda Reuter, "The key to our success this season will be finding the most consistent combinations on the field. Unity and teamwork will be essential. Returning seniors Merritt Meade, Windy White, Debby Lubera and Lisa Van Dellen should provide the core of the ULS team."

The JV squad will carry 22 players. Returning veterans Barry Hamilton and Shelby Meade will provide the experience for the team. Freshmen Suzannah Maycock, Tricia Petzold and Missy Ollison, and sophomores Amy Gordon and Becky Ingall look very promising in pre-season play. Coach Karen Smith feels that the team looks good. "We should have a season full of success and fun," Smith said.

Top finish

Joe Portera, of the Woods, a member of the GM Seville Ski Club of Detroit, carves his way around a gate en route to the finish line at the Grand Marnier Ski Club Challenge National Finals at Keystone, Colo., April 12 and 13. Portera's team, with a combined time of 697.39 seconds, finished third in a field of 14 of the nation's top amateur ski clubs competing at Keystone.

Falcons take baseball wins

Defending CYO League city baseball champion St. Clare of Montefalco picked up where it left off last year, winning its first two games of the season last weekend.

Coach Paul Pellerito used every player in both games, as the Falcons made short work of East Detroit St. Veronica, 11-0, on Saturday, and Queen of Heaven, 21-0, on Sunday.

Righthander Derrick Schafran yielded one hit, struck out 11, and walked five in the St. Veronica game. Mike Paull hit a grand slam homer and a single to drive in five runs. Matt Montagne, Doug Lucas and Keith McQuerry also notched two safeties apiece for the winners.

Lucas collected the decision in a "mercy rule"-shortened game against Queen of Heaven. He struck out five and walked two in a three-inning stint on the mound. At the plate, he helped his own cause with three hits, including two triples, for seven RBI. Rodger Hunwick tossed the final two scoreless innings, whiffing three and walking three.

McQuerry homered for St. Clare, while Marcus Wysocki, Jason Whelan, and Paull collected two hits each.

St. Clare meets Guardian Angel at Heilman Field Saturday, May 5, at 11 a.m., then returns to South High Sunday, May 6, at noon to meet St. Joan of Arc.

Babe Ruth year opens

The Farms-City Babe Ruth League will open its season this Saturday, May 5, with a full slate of games in the All-American League. The American League opens the weekend of May 12.

The Astros will play the Cardinals at 1 p.m. at South High; the Angels play the Brewers at 10 a.m. Kerby Field followed by the Rangers vs. the Twins at Kerby at 1 p.m.

This season's Babe Ruth schedule is greatly expanded with 16 games for each team, plus playoffs. The year will also feature a crowning of a Grosse Pointe champion after contests between the Park, Woods and Farms-City. A number of senior Babe Ruth teams will also play.

Boating safety taught in May

Stoney Creek Metropark near Rochester/Utica will offer the boating safety training course titled "Michigan Pleasure Boating" to be held in the park, with two different sessions. The first started on Wednesday, May 2 and the second is Wednesday, May 16.

Classes will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday on two successive weeks from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. (1st class - May 2, 3, 9 and 10 and second class - May 16, 17, 23 and 24). Participants must attend all four sessions of one class. There is no fee, and persons of all ages may attend.

The course is based on Michigan Dept. of Natural Resources information covering Michigan watercraft laws and regulations, required equipment, rules of the water, aids in navigation and safe small-boat handling. Persons successfully completing the four-session course will receive a Michigan Boating Safety Certificate.

With The Boating Season Almost Here, The Last Thing You Need Is A Problem With Your Boat Insurance.

Life on the water is a mariners dream.

So you don't need a water or land accident to sink those dreams.

Boat Insurance from Auto-Owners protects your boat in case of collision in the water or on land...it provides fire and theft coverage; and liability and medical protection for you and your family can also be added.

So ask your "no problem" Auto-Owners agent how their Boat Insurance can protect a great deal more than your boat to keep you merrily afloat.

Neighborhood Club youth teams end seasons; crown champs

The Neighborhood Club crowned its champions in youth floor hockey and baseball last week. Both programs featured competition for a variety of age groups, and a combined participation of over 600 youngsters. The floor hockey program consisted of three divisions, Pee Wee (second grade), Collegiate (third and fourth), and the N.H.L. (fifth-seventh).

Although playoffs were for the N.H.L. league only, the Pee Wee and Collegiate leagues each played a seven game schedule. In the Pee Wee league, the Polar Bears and the Broncos tied with 7-0 records. In the Collegiate League, the Kings, 5-0-2, took first place. The Blues ran a close second at 5-1-1.

The N.H.L. league was full of surprises in tournament play. The Black Hawks dominated play with three straight victories to reach the finals. The Red Wings, the other finalist, lost their second game of the tournament and had to fight their way back through the loser's bracket. They won three straight to meet the Black Hawks in the finals.

The opening championship game saw the Red Wings totally dominate play with a 6-1 victory, forcing a second game. The Red Wings again played strong, leading 2-0 going into the final quarter of play. The Black Hawks came storming back with two quick goals, and the game ended in a tie. The teams were declared co-champions after their great effort.

The floor hockey leagues played over 127 games in the junior high schools on Saturdays. The 350 players formed 32 teams, all of which were coached by volunteer adults. The Neighborhood Club sent a special thanks to all those coaches for the time and effort they put in this winter helping lots of kids have lots of fun.

The youth basketball leagues also finished up their league and tournament play. The Collegiate League did not have a season-ending tournament, but in the league, UCLA outplayed everyone and finished the season with a perfect 8-0 record. Ohio State finished second at 6-2 and every team won at least three games. The Pro league (fifth and sixth grade) did have a double-elimination tournament to end the season. The Lakers were too much to handle as they swept the league and tournament undefeated at 10-0.

The Celtics finished second; their only tournament losses were the Lakers. In the final game, the Celtics stayed close. They were within four points at the half, but just couldn't pull it out, losing 23-18.

The Spirits led the Midi league (seventh and eighth grade girls) with a 9-0 record, including three consecutive victories in the tournament. The tournament runner-up was a surprise, as the Passers, 0-6, played two great games in the loser's bracket to reach the finals. The bubble finally broke in the championship game as the Spirits won, 31-11.

The Giant league (seventh and eighth grade boys) also supplied some upsets. The Bruins, dominant in league play, lost two out of their first three games and the second place Hoosiers also bowed out early. With three quick victories, the Titans took a commanding advantage into the finals. Having defeated their opponent, the Spartans, earlier in the tournament, the Titans were ready to take the title after a mediocre season. The championship game displayed a nail-biting contest with the Titans clinging to a one-point lead at the half. The second half proved to be just as exciting as Todd Dessinger's nine points pulled out the victory for the Spartans, 29-28. Todd led all scorers with 19 points. Brad Wilson, whose eight first half points sparked the Titans, finished with 10 points.

Again, a special thanks to all the coaches of the 26 youth basketball teams. Their dedication and unselfish giving to the youth in our community is appreciated by all the participants and the Neighborhood Club staff.

Medically speaking, if the word ends in "itis," it suggests inflammation. If it ends in "emia," it alludes to the blood. If it ends in "ism," it indicates too much of whatever. If it ends in "osis," it means diseased or abnormal.
