Good grub

Eenie meenie, chili beanie, the spirits are about to speak. I foresee a long trip in Bob and Sue Wandschneider's future... if their chili is half as good as I've heard it is.

The Wandschneiders, of Moross Road, along with good friends Ron and Alice Stoll, of Lincoln Road, were among 80 contestants in a chili cook off contest in Saline last weekend sponsored by the Michigan Kidney Foundation.

The two families have been cooking competitive chili for two years now and have managed to secure two first place awards for showmanship. This time, they hope to win for their cooking skills as well.

And how does one get started in chili cook offs, you might ask? Basically, Bob is a friend to a number of award winning chili-heads and decided his "bowl of red" was good enough to compete with the very best. "I just thought I'd give it a shot," said Bob. "Then you're completely hooked. I've met some great, great people at these cook offs."

Bob thinks his team has an excellent chance this time and has been going through "dry runs" this week, field testing a new recipe. He cooks a "southwestern" style of chili with no beans, no pasta and very few tomatoes. "It's a very thick chili you can almost stand a spoon up in," said Bob. "The emphasis is on the meat and sauce."

What's the secret to a really great chili? "Attention to detail and the ability to develop a style and stay with it," said Bob. "You've got to cook the meat properly, whether it's hamburger or cubed beef. Cook it down and get the grease out. You've also got to know when to add your spices. It's the blending of the proper spices brought together at their moment of peak flavor that counts."

First prize in the contest will be two round trip tickets to the world chili cook off contest in California this October, along with a number of trophies.

Delicious, but could I have some more ice water please?

Grosse Pointe, the city of staid, stuffy snobs? Not on your life! As an example may we offer Carroll Lock, city controller and assessor for the Farms who recently attended a Governmental Finances Officers seminar in San Antonio.

Flair at Maire

They're really dancing up a storm these days at Maire School after the school day is officially over. More than 30 students, including four boys, have joined an aerobics class designed by Vital Options under the direction of the Grosse Pointe Schools' continuing education program. The pilot project consists of a twice a week, hour-long aerobics program slated to run for six weeks, at a cost of $24 per student. The program is designed to shape kids up while having fun, and from the looks of things, the program is a success on both counts. Here, Kevin Sherwood, 11, of Yorkshire Road, checks his pulse after a strenuous work out. Asked why he joined the class, Kevin said it was "because it was good training for sports," and besides, "I have a good time." The program is directed by Vital Options instructor Robin Kinkopf.

A cornerstone of memories

By Tom Greenwood

Jack Fischer got in touch with his past recently. Fischer, a 17-year veteran of the Farms Fire Department, is a 1953 graduate of St. Edward's School in Detroit, as were his father, an uncle, an aunt and cousin before him.

St. Edward's, located at Crane and Charlevoix, was dedicated on November 9, 1929, just 11 days after the stock market crashed. Sold 10 years ago by the Catholic Church, the old school and church are being demolished.

Moved by the destruction of an institution that meant so much to him and his family, Fischer was able to obtain a small copper strongbox that was sealed in the cornerstone of the school on the day it was dedicated.

"My father, who 23 years later was to become caretaker for the school and the church, was in the first class to graduate from St. Edward's," said Fischer, a smiling man going gray at the temples. "He used to tell me he was present at the dedication and that our family's name was there in the strong box. And he was right."

Inside the small, but heavy copper box sealed with lead, was a copy of the Detroit Free Press dated Nov. 8, 1929; a copy of the Michigan Catholic Newspaper, of the same date; weekly parish papers for St. Edward's for the month of October, and November, 1929 and a 1913 quarter.

Also inside the box was a list of the charter pupils of St. Edward's school (313 in all), and a brief, single space description of the dedication ceremonies by the Rev. Ernest C. DePuydt and the Rev. Ambrose L. McGreevy, pastor and assistant pastor respectively.

Rev. DePuydt described the ceremonies as "simple and plain," with the singing of the hymn "Come Holy Ghost," and "the national song," "The Star Spangled Banner," by the school children.

"Father DePuydt is gone now," said Fischer, turning the copper container in his hands. "He was pastor until December, 1944 and was replaced by Father Clement Kern, who became Monsignor Kern of Holy Trinity Parish in Corktown.

Also of great interest to Fischer are the faded copies of the Free

Closings, recall and the future

Departing Brummel speaks his mind

By Susan McDonald

Kenneth Brummel says he may have been the bearer of bad tidings to Grosse Pointe. But the white-haired superintendent, who plans to leave for a new California job in less than two months, appears satisfied that he at least got Grosse Pointe thinking about making changes in its school system.

The fact is, enrollment had dropped from more than 13,000 to 8,000 students when Brummel arrived here from Westport, Conn. three years ago. And that has had a substantial impact on what happens to kids in the classroom, as well as inflating the system's overhead costs. "It's there and it has to be dealt with," he said. "I think I played a role in making people see that."

Brummel proposed closing four schools a year ago, but the school board in November approved a scaled down version of his reorganization plan that will close only one building next fall. As a result of the 6-1 decision, three trustees face a recall vote on June 11.

The superintendent expressed a wide range of views on the recall, his role here and the future of education in Grosse Pointe in an hour-long interview in the News office on May 3. Following is an edited version of his remarks.

Question: Why did you decide to leave Grosse Pointe?

After the Christmas holidays I did a lot of soul-searching about how effective I'd be here... if recall is successful or if it isn't. I think I could be effective, but it would take some time before I could provide Grosse Pointe with the kind of leadership it needs. There is a need for someone to come in here now and bring diverse groups together. I think it would be three or four years before the community would accept me in that role.

At the same time, in January, I received notice of the Orange County opening. I am one of about 500 superintendents whose name is on everyone's mailing list. I got two or three notices a week.

Orange County attracted me because of its size and the diversity of the population. (The system serves Santa Ana, Yorba Linda, Anaheim, Garden Grove and Villa Park near Los Angeles, Calif. There are 30,000 students and 40 schools.) The system is about 24 percent minority, made up largely of Mexicans and one of the largest Vietnamese settlements in the west.

My soul-searching and the Orange opening combined to tell me "go for it."

What do you consider your major accomplishments here?

Maybe I was a messenger of bad educational tidings. But I think I played a role in making people realize how much the enrollment had actually declined and face up the fact they are going to have to deal with it.

'We've been pretty isolated here, thinking we have a mecca...'

Among my accomplishments, I'd say the new graduation requirements and the seven period day at the high school are important. The high school students signed up for almost 2,000 additional courses for next year with that extra class option. I was surprised I expected about 40 percent of the kids to take another class, but 70 percent turned out. Many picked extra math, science and English classes. We are hiring eight new math teachers just to handle the increased demand.

I think the seven period day, even though it's expensive, is a good, direct way to improve education. We have a good computer education plan for K-12 ready to be implemented over the next five years. Our health education program for next year is excellent. And you're going to see some changes in physical education. We are switching the focus from sports to fitness, working out a program with some people at Cottage Hospital. It's an unusual program.

The retirement bonus (which brought 30 teacher and seven administrative retirements) was a good program that helped teachers and will help us. We will

Schools may see sweeping staff changes

By Susan McDonald

Five and a half administrative positions in the public schools would be eliminated under a sweeping reorganization proposed May 7 by Supt. Kenneth Brummel. Seventeen administrators would receive new or increased assignments under the plan and nine schools would see new principals when they reopen in September.

The reorganization was made possible by the retirement this spring of seven administrators. The combination and elimination of some jobs is designed to reflect the school system's continuing decline in enrollment, Brummel said.

"We're contracting, saying, making lots of shifts and hopefully giving the school system new life," Brummel said.

The superintendent's proposal was announced to the staff Monday afternoon. Stiff opposition to one appointment had already been mobilized by retiring public library director William Peters by the time the school board met Monday night.

Peters and several leaders of the 4,000-member Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library expressed angry opposition to the superintendent's plan to combine responsibility for public and school libraries in one position and give the job to Robert Welch, former director of South's Wicking Library who now serves as director of secondary education for the system. They said they opposed Welch's appointment because his training was in the field of education, not library science.

Doris Brucker, past-president of the Friends, told the school board that Peters had 17 years of experience in the Detroit library system when he was hired as library director. "I hope you have someone just as qualified as him as a replacement," she said. The new director should have a library science degree, experience in community libraries and be well versed in data-based library systems, she added.

The appointments will come before the school board for action at a meeting next Monday, May 14, at 8 p.m. at Monteith Elementary School. If all the superintendent's recommendations are accepted by the board, the number of administrators will be reduced from a 1980 high of 42 to 31 during the 1984-85 school year.

Brummel also recommended that all three middle schools get new principals next fall. Donald Bassett would take over at Pierce, William Christofferson at Parcels and Donald Messing at Brownell. Six elementary schools also would have new leadership. James Cooper would move to Poupart, Leo Warras to Kerby, Jack McMahon to Richard, Jay Flowers to Maire, Robert Shover to Defer and Sheila Joyce to Trombly.

Brummel's plan calls for development of a team leadership approach at elementary and middle schools which are part of the same campus, such as Defer and Pierce, Kerby and Brownell.

The superintendent also recommended appointment of Richard principal Claire Basco as the new director of special education for the system, replacing Reginald Sienkiewicz, who is retiring. The job of director of support services, from which Ben Zenn will retire this spring, will be distributed to other central administrators, primarily David King and Christian Fenton.

Welch's duties as director of secondary education would also be split between Alfreda Frost, who will handle K-8 education, and Roger McCaig, who will handle high school education in addition to his current testing and evaluation responsibilities. Dr. Frost is currently director of elementary education.

The appointments included many surprises for school staff members and Brummel said he expects some complaints.

"I'm one who firmly believes principals should move around from time to time," he said in an interview last week. "It gives them and the teachers they lead a fresh perspective and encourages them to approach problems with new concepts."

Brummel is leaving the school system in July to become superintendent of Orange Unified schools near Los Angeles.

Cinema League to host banquet and film show

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League, which for the past 30 years, has been presenting outstanding film programs for the enjoyment of the public, will hold its annual banquet and movie program on Monday, May 21, at the War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom and Fries Auditorium, 32 Lakeshore Road.

Punch will be served at 6 p.m. and dinner at 6:30, followed by a brief business meeting and election of officers. The group will adjourn at 8 to the Fries Auditorium to view "Let's Go to Southern Spain," a super-8mm movie by Pierre and El-frieda Palmentier, two of the League's founders and past presidents. The film, photographed in 1983, starts with views of the Mediterranean town of Marbella, long-time favorite resort of the "jet set." King Fahd, of Saudi Arabia, built this magnificent Rose Palace here, and his brother Prince Salman erected a picturesque white mosque near the town for the use of the many Saudi Arabians in the area. Marbella's port of Jose Puerto Banus has docks for the huge yachts and other boats which come here for the winter months from all parts of the world. The famous Rock of Gibraltar is visited, and the dramatic caves of Nerja and its Parador are shown. High in the mountains is the old fortified city of Ronda, where Spanish bullfighting was born. Sections of the old wall which surrounded the city and ancient houses, churches and squares are shown. Filmed is the charming town of Mijas, with its burro taxis, the historic Alhambra at Granada, and the important port of Malaga. Lovely flowers and beautiful areas of Spain's Canary Islands are some of the other scenes shown in the movie. The evening is open to the public. Banquet tickets are available for $12.75 per person at the War Memorial office.

Home robbed

Thieves forced their way into a Kercheval Road home in the Farms Tuesday afternoon, April 24, and took a television set, according to police.

The thieves entered and left the home through the rear door leading from the yard into the television room, where they removed a Sony Trinitron color television set in a walnut cabinet valued at $600.

Witnesses said they saw a small fire-red car, either a Volkswagen Rabbit or Alliance, back into the driveway of the home during the afternoon. A medium-height white male about 25 years old was seen driving the car, reports said.

State will trap area for gypsy moths

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The state agriculture department will double its trapping efforts this summer in the Shores in hopes of finding what the department says might be a major gypsy moth problem in the area.

The agriculture department will set 64 of its special traps per square mile throughout the Shores and parts of the Woods starting the first week of June, department regional supervisor Carl Dollhopf said. Moths have been found in the area in the last two years, but walk-through searches have yielded no signs of the possible infestation.

"It's kind of settled that the area is one of our major problems," Dollhopf said. This summer's trap density is double last year's 32 per square mile, he added.

Besides the higher trap density, the department has talked to garden clubs and tree councils in the Grosse Pointes to make them aware of the problem, Dollhopf said. Getting the word out to as many groups as possible will help find the moths, he added.

The department is in its third year of detection trapping throughout the county, Dollhopf said.

A federal quarantine requiring the search of all commercially shipped goods for gypsy moth eggs or larvae was imposed last year by Congress, Dollhopf said. The quarantine is only about 60 percent effective, he added.

Because the searches cover commercial movers and campers on either state or federal property along the eastern seaboard while exempting private movers and campgrounds, there is still some transport of the gypsy moth out of the east, where it was introduced accidentally a century ago, Dollhopf said.

The female moth, unable to fly, tends to lay its chamois-colored egg masses in dark recesses on lawn furniture, trailers and automobiles. The egg masses, which resemble felt, can contain 75 to 800 eggs, according to agriculture literature.

The caterpillar stage of the moth is the most destructive. To fuel its growth after hatching in mid-May and shedding its skin five to six times before pupating in early July, the larvae will feed on leaves during the cooler parts of the day and move into the shade during the heat.

By defoliating trees, the caterpillars force a second stunted growth of leaves that cause the tree to weaken its reserves of energy, according to the department. Successive years of defoliation can make a tree susceptible to other diseases, the department said.

The pituitary gland secretes a hormone called vasopressin. Researchers have come up with a related synthetic, DDAVP. College students scored 20 percent higher after taking it. It was given to some elderly people to treat depression, and tests showed it improved their memories remarkably.

Board wins arbitration ruling worth $370,000

By Susan McDonald

Grosse Pointe public school coffers swelled by $370,000 late last month after a state arbitrator denied a grievance brought by the teachers' union over cost-of-living adjustments.

The ruling by arbitrator Elliot I. Reitner will cost individual teachers about $700 each, according to Grosse Pointe Education Association president James Garlough.

The dispute arose when the U.S. Department of Labor changed the "market basket" it uses to compute the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, which is the basis for computing cost-of-living adjustments. Union attorneys argued the old CPI, which was higher, should be used to compute teachers' pay.

School board attorneys argued the new CPI should be used. The difference between the two was about 1.1 percent for 1983, which would have amounted to about $370,000 in teacher salaries. The funds had been placed in escrow by the board.

The arbitrator agreed with the school board and on April 25 denied the grievance.

School officials were obviously pleased with the decision. "We felt the new index better reflected the rate of inflation," a spokesman said.

But the union was just as obviously unhappy. "We thought we had a good case," said Garlough. "The staff's upset about it."

The grievance was started under Garlough's predecessor, Curt Lang, who resigned late last year from the local union presidency to take a job with a regional union agency.

The local union, which represents some 430 teachers, is completing the first year of a two-year contract which expires in August, 1985.

Shores candidates unopposed

Village president Gerald Schroeder, trustees Patricia Galvin, C. Bradford Lundy and Edmund Brady, Jr., and clerk James Wright will be re-elected when Shores voters go to the polls next Tuesday in the annual village election.

The Saturday, May 5, deadline for filing nominating petitions passed with only the five incumbents meeting the 4 p.m. time limit, village officials said. Village offices were open Saturday to accept petitions which needed to be signed by at least 15 registered voters of the village.

Each of the candidates filed their written acceptance of nomination by the Monday deadline, officials said.

In the 1982 election, Schroeder, Lundy, Brady and Mrs. Galvin also ran unopposed.

The Shores annually elects three trustees while the president and clerk face election every two years.

Mozart Society plans concert

The Mozart Society will hold its 25th annual concert Sunday, May 20, at 3 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Marguerite Chajes will introduce the program and give the audience background about the musical selections.

Well-known concert pianist Lawrence LaGore will be presented the Mozart Medal by a representative of the Austrian government. LaGore is being honored for his work with the Pro-Mozart Society since its founding.

Heading the cast of performers is local resident Roma Riddell, soprano, accompanied by LaGore; Ruth Burczyk, the "Lady of Music in Grosse Pointe" on piano; Ernestine Nimmons, soprano, who appears with Michigan Opera Theater; Detroit Symphony Orchestra cellist Mario DiFiori; Margaret Rees, soprano; and Cathy Stav, piano.

Tickets priced at $6 are available by calling 884-5113.

The Farmer comes to town

Farmer Webster of Upland Hills Farm recently brought some country to the War Memorial where he and an assistant demonstrated to more than 400 area residents some daily farm activities. Here he is feeding some baby pigs. Elsewhere in the center's art wing, turned barn for a day, lambs were hopping about, seemingly too spunky to walk, roosters were perched in the rafters, goats were kicking up their heels and a cow was tied to a doorknob.

Robbery suspect arraigned in City

A 41-year-old Detroit man stood mute at his arraignment last Friday morning in Grosse Pointe City municipal court on charges of armed robbery, assault with intent to rob and violation of the state's felony firearm law.

Robert Lee Moore pleaded the Fifth Amendment to all questions asked of him at the arraignment, City detectives said. He was ordered to stand for preliminary examination on the charges yesterday, May 9, in Grosse Pointe Park municipal court. Moore's bond was set at $500,000 cash, police said.

The charges against Moore, which police said include four counts of armed robbery, one count of assault with intent to rob and five counts of possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony, are in connection with last month's robbery at Active Realty Co. on Mack.

A preliminary examination for Moore in 40th District Court in St. Clair Shores was held Tuesday, May 8, court officials said. Moore was arraigned Saturday, April 22, in St. John Hospital by District Judge William Crouchman on charges of assault with intent to murder, carrying a concealed weapon and malicious destruction of property in connection with the shooting of a St. Clair Shores patrolman Thursday, April 19, in a St. Clair Shores restaurant.

Grosse Pointe City police allege Moore was involved in the hold-up of the realty company Thursday afternoon, April 19. Taken in the robbery of four office employees was about $100, reports said.

Grosse Pointe Shores police spotted a car driven by a man later identified as Moore shortly after the hold up. The ensuing chase through the Shore Club apartment complex involved police from the Shores, Farms and St. Clair Shores.

Moore was wounded in the chest and hip in the Blue Gables restaurant in an altercation with St. Clair Shores patrolman William Todd. St. Clair Shores police allege Moore tried to wrench Todd's service revolver away from him. Todd suffered a single gunshot wound to his upper arm, becoming the first officer in that city's history to be wounded in the line of duty.

Todd and Moore were released from St. John Hospital Wednesday, April 25, after treatment. City police did not wish to comment on reports that Moore was released recently from Jackson State Prison after serving only two years of a life sentence after being convicted under the state's habitual offender law.

Orient expert to speak here

Dr. Prescott H. Williams, Jr., a Presbyterian minister, speaks at the congregational dinner on Monday, May 14, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, 16 Lakeshore Road.

Dr. Williams' subject, "Christians in Jordan. Then and Now," will be illustrated with slides. The speaker recently returned from assignment at the American Center for Oriental Research in Amman, Jordan, and for the next several months will be a Visiting Scholar in Near Eastern Studies at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m., followed by the program at 7:30. Admission is $4.50 per person, and reservations can be made by calling the church office at 882-5330.

The event is a fund-raiser for the centers corps of volunteers, the Service League, which hopes to restore the Memorial's library.

sy moth, which can be found in the area, and received a Siberian crab-apple seedling to plant at home, commission members said.

The Woods received its sixth Tree City USA award this year. The Tree City flag was presented to representatives of the city by Tree Commission members at Monday night's council meeting.

The award was given by the National Arbor Day Association to the Woods and nearly 400 other cities in the nation that fulfilled the association's requirements for Arbor Day programs and urban forestry.

Arbor Day was first celebrated on April 10, 1872 in Nebraska through the efforts of J. Sterling Morton, a Detroit journalist who moved to the Nebraska Territory in 1854.

Finding the treeless plains a stark contrast to forested Michigan, Morton began spreading information about tree planting for shade, windbreaks and soil conservation as well as beauty when he became editor of the first newspaper in the territory.

The National Arbor Day Association carried on Morton's work, with Arbor Day or Arbor week celebrated in all 50 states.

Tree commission member Marion Englehart (center) talked recently to fifth grade students at Monteith School, telling them about trees and their pests, including the gypsy moth. The talks by commission members were part of the city's celebration of Arbor Week.

Children's Home gets $23,400

The Children's Home of Detroit recently received two grants totalling $23,400 from the Skillman Foundation. One $4,800 grant is for the summer camp program while the second is for maintenance and renovation projects.

The Skillman Foundation, located on West Fort Street in Detroit, has a long standing interest in assisting youth agencies, medical research and education institutions in the Detroit area, Children's Home trustees said.

The Children's Home is located on Cook Road near University Liggett School in the Woods. The 13-acre residential treatment center for young people offers individual and group therapy, special education, medical services, a foster home program and work with a child's family.

Check your pressure

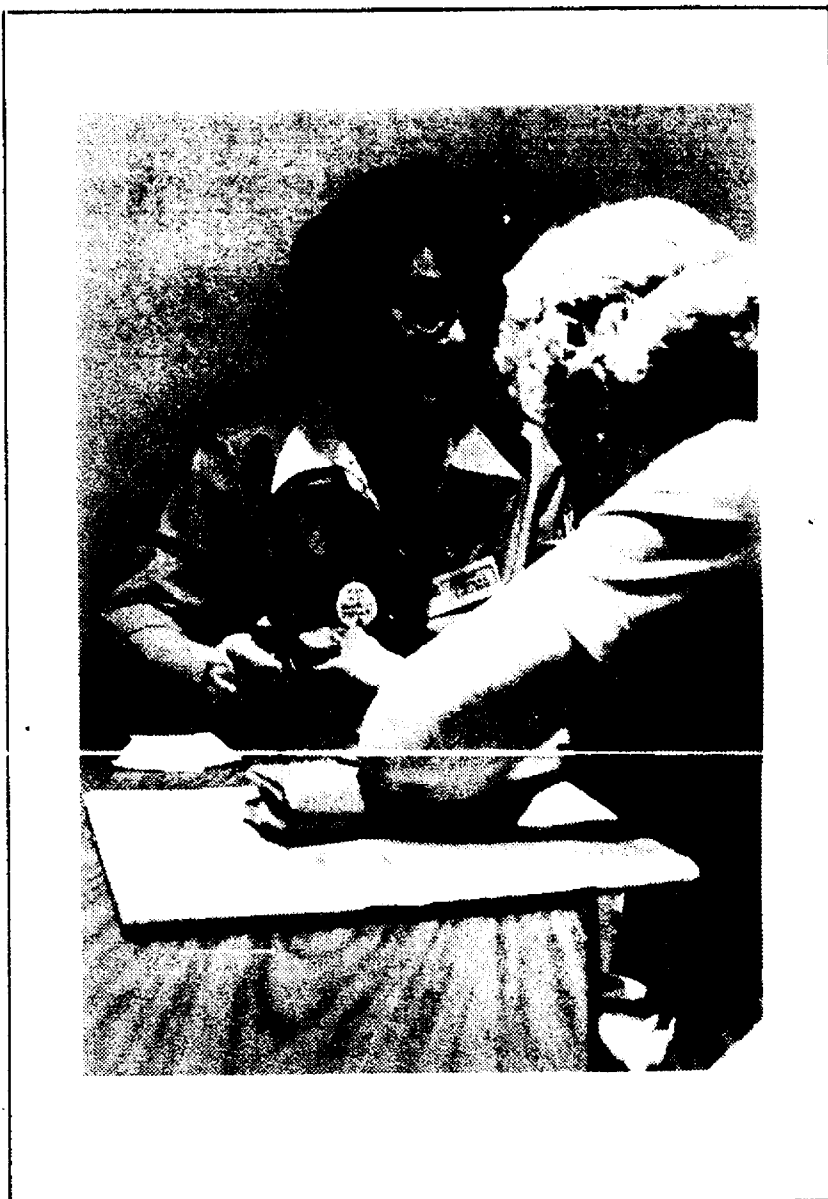

May is national high blood pressure month and also the third anniversary of Bon Secours Hospital's hypertension screening program staffed by specially trained community volunteers.

From April to December last year, 2,311 people had their blood pressure checked at stations in Bon Secours Hospital's lobby on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 2 to 4 p.m. Screenings are also available on the third Tuesday of each month at the Neighborhood Club library, 17150 Waterloo. A total of 154 screening sessions were held last year.

"By increasing people's awareness of the dangers of high blood pressure, we have probably saved some lives," said Ruth Becker, R.N., instructor in Bon Secours Hospital's education and staff development department. She also coordinates the blood pressure screening program.

Participants in local screening programs like Bon Secours are given materials explaining the dangers of untreated high blood pressure which include increased risk of heart attack, stroke and kidney failure. The screening program also encourages those taking medication to follow their physicians' orders exactly.

For more information about the program, call 343-1668. To volunteer for the program, call Maureen DuFour, director of volunteer services, at 343-1795.

Ousting the road gang

Wayne County citizens will have the opportunity to abolish the notorious Wayne County Road Commission when they go to the polls in the primary election on Aug. 7, thanks in large part to the efforts of two members of the Wayne Board of County Commissioners.

The possibility of achieving the long-sought reform in county government moved one step closer to reality last week when the county commissioners put the issue on the primary ballot as a proposed amendment to the county charter. The two commissioners credited with drafting the proposal and pushing it through the board without a dissenting vote are John Hertel of Harper Woods, who represents the First District which includes the Pointes, and Art Carter of Detroit.

HERTEL WAS ELATED by the board's vote, as he had reason to be. He has been fighting the road commission for years and now feels the end of the campaign is in sight. The road commission has epitomized the kind of government the people voted to reform when they backed the new charter. It was notable chiefly for its cronyism, nepotism and wasteful practices and the fact it was not held accountable to the public. County Executive William Lucas recently won the right after a court battle to remove the commissioners but there is always the possibility that the old practices might be revived under a new executive and a new commission.

However, the Hertel-Carter amendment differs from the one recently proposed by Lucas who threatened to seek petition support to get a series of amendments on the ballot if the commissioners didn't accept them. While Lucas had not reacted publicly to the board's proposed amendment, one of his aides was quoted as saying that he might be willing to accept it after he had a chance to review it.

(Lucas is already engaged in a controversy with the board over his appointments to the road commission. Only one of his nominees has been approved and all the others have been rejected, chiefly on the grounds of conflict of interest. Lucas is seeking to replace the commissioners he recently fired.)

Under Lucas' proposal, all of the powers and duties of the road commission would be transferred to the executive branch that Lucas heads. But under the Hertel-Carter plan, the road commission's administrative powers and duties would be transferred to the executive branch and its legislative powers to the legislative body, meaning the county board.

Hertel denies that this division of powers would really limit the executive branch. Instead, he points out, it would simply mean that the board would have the power to approve the director and other top appointees made by Lucas, would retain some control over the budget and would approve contracts awarded by the director. Hertel emphasized the intent is not to get the county board back into performing administrative duties now carried on by the road commission, but, instead, to provide for a workable system of checks and balances at the county level.

Under Hertel's plan, the road commission and the public works department would be merged into a new office of public services. Later, Hertel hopes to get county board support to put on the ballot another proposal to abolish the county drain commissioner's office and merge it into the same new public services office as well.

While Hertel has some differences with Lucas on the proposed charter amendments, he has none over the county executive's order to close deficit-ridden Wayne County General Hospital by May 31. Hertel believes the hospital is "one of the most wasteful medical facilities" in the state, in part because its attendants start at $16,000 a year, plus another $10,000 in benefits, while private hospitals in the area pay people in similar entrance positions at about $10,000 a year.

WHETHER LUCAS WILL be able to carry out this order remains to be seen. The only commissioner openly supporting him is Hertel while many of the others already have said they will reject the closing order. If they do, however, they will have to find some way to find nearly $18 million to cover the institution's deficit.

To the critics who say poor county residents will have no place to turn if the hospital is closed, Hertel responds that a number of hospitals already have signed contracts with the county to accept Wayne General's patients. And, he insists, patients will be able to find hospital care closer to home, the charges cheaper and the care better at these institutions.

Slowly, the reforms required by the county charter and the reorganized county government are being put into place. Lucas deserves much of the credit but on specific issues Hertel has been very supportive of Lucas' aims. Unfortunately, the same cannot be said of most of the other county commissioners and the labor unions being affected by county government reorganization.

Brummel's parting advice

In a wide-ranging review of his three years of service as superintendent of the Grosse Pointe public schools, Kenneth Brummel made it clear that the recall campaign against three school board members was a major consideration in his decision to seek another school post. Brummel is leaving July 1 to become superintendent of the Orange Unified School District of California.

Brummel told the Grosse Pointe News that in light of the recall campaign, he did a lot of soul searching early this year and decided that whatever the result of the recall campaign, it would take perhaps three or four more years to re-establish himself as an effective school leader here. That fact, plus the attractiveness of the California offer, because of the size and diversity of the school system, persuaded him to leave the Pointes.

That point is stressed here because some leaders in the recall movement are contending that Brummel would have left anyway, despite the recall controversy, because of the attractive offer he had received. The fact is that it was the recall controversy that helped convince the superintendent, after his "soul searching," that he should leave. Perhaps he would have left anyway for the California position or to accept another offer. But the recall movement obviously affected his decision.

Brummel was candid about both the strengths and weakness of the Grosse Pointe school system and the community. One of the major needs here, in his view, is to get the community as well as the school staff to appreciate the importance of change and the acceptance of change. As an example of past slowness to accept change, he felt that he had played an important role in getting the community to understand that the decline in school enrollment was an issue to be aware of and that had to be faced.

AND HE OBVIOUSLY FEELS that the changes he implemented — such as the new high school graduation requirements, the seven-period day at the high school, the computer education program, the health and physical education programs and even the early retirement offered to teachers and staff this year — all worked to the benefit of the system and the students in it.

There was and still is resistance to some of these changes in the community as a whole. Brummel is right. The Pointes tend to resist change. The past has been good to most of the people who reside here and many see no need for change. In part, that helps explain the resistance to Brummel's recommendation for closing some elementary schools. People like what they or their children have themselves experienced in the schools and need to be convinced of the necessity of change before they will support it.

Yet the world does not stand still. As Brummel pointed out, technology is changing the face of business and industry so rapidly that the schools tend to lag behind. Even the Grosse Pointes graduate a sizeable percentage — as large as 15 to 20 percent — who do not go on to college. So the system needs to offer more and improved vocational training, in such matters as robotics and business education, for example, for the students who will profit from such courses.

In this connection, Brummel recommended that the Pointes ought to look more often at what other school systems are doing. That paid off when a committee investigated what use other systems had made of a seventh period. The members returned with enthusiastic support based on their observation that the practice had worked elsewhere to broaden opportunities for students. Brummel probably is correct in saying that in the past the Pointes have been "insulated" against change because many of us believe we've already reached mecca.

As for his advice for his yet-to-be-named successor, Brummel stressed again the importance of getting the community and the school board to develop a process for addressing and resolving issues. He believes many people here still do not understand the impact of the decline in enrollment and ticked off four effects that are often overlooked: the groupings of elementary pupils that are broader than they should be, the limiting of program offerings, the inefficiency of sharing teachers among too many buildings and the money spent on buildings that should go for programs.

INTENTIONALLY OR NOT, Brummel's advice to the community and to his successor would appear to support the present board members against recall and against election foes who would oppose the superintendent's school closing and reorganization recommendations. With the elections coming up June 11 to fill the two regular vacancies on the board as well as to determine whether three other board members should be recalled, Grosse Pointe residents ought to ponder their departing superintendent's advice.

The fact is that the current board does recognize the changes that are occurring in the Pointes. With respect to the enrollment decline, the majority of the members did support the closing of Barnes and the shift of the sixth graders into the middle schools as sensible solutions to the problem. Those appear to be the major issues in the election campaign now under way.

Consolidation is necessary, but . . .

To the Editor:

As parents of young children, as homeowners and as business owners in Grosse Pointe, we are committed to this community and its public school system. The present turmoil that exists is very troublesome to us.

We are convinced that the present school board has handled the school consolidation issue very poorly. It is because of this mishandling that has the community angry and divided, a recall of three board members pending and the early departure of our superintendent. We believe that school consolidation is necessary, and that changes are definitely needed. However, the board has lost its credibility with the community. By the time proposal three (closing Barnes) was passed, the community was frustrated and lacked confidence in the direction the board was heading. There were too many errors in the first two proposals. We've seen an attitude develop this year with the board which is "we (the board) know what is best for this community."

We encourage the present school board members to realign themselves with the community. Eight thousand, four hundred signatures collected on recall petitions cannot be ignored. The board must restore confidence, trust, and credibility with its constituents. The school consolidation issue must be put back on the drawing board. It has been evident from three consolidation attempts that someone didn't do their homework thoroughly. (The use for Barnes school has yet to be announced, and they voted to close it in November.)

In looking for a new superintendent we hope the board will find someone who has the interest of this Grosse Pointe community at heart rather than someone who adds Grosse Pointe to his credentials and moves on.

To citizens who do not know our present seven-member board, get to know them by attending a school board meeting and informing yourself on the issues. This June school board election will be a very important one to all Grosse Pointe citizens. With over 30 administrators and teachers retiring, a school closing, a shift of sixth grade to the middle school, a pending recall, and the hiring of a new superintendent the citizens of this community cannot afford to be complacent about the leadership of their school system. Become informed and vote on June 11.

To the Editor:

Your May 3 editorial on "Ethics and fair coverage" was well written and made an important point. However, while it is easy to criticize a Detroit Free Press reporter for merely being in a position to express personal views in a news column, it also is easy for editorial positions of the paper itself to find their way to the front page.

Take the Grosse Pointe News for example. Your front page story in this same issue covered the school recall election and carried the sub-headline "If recall is successful, it means a small vocal group can dictate to the rest . . ." Whose words are these? It isn't until you get down to the fine print near the end of the article that we find out the statement was made by Ernest Buechler.

This statement is certainly a subjective opinion and deserves to be labeled as such. Why didn't you put Mr. Buechler's name next to his quote at the top of the page?

There certainly was enough space available. Maybe the News was trying to reduce its ink costs so it can lower the price of the paper.

Or maybe this was a case where editorial opinion is creeping onto the front page. I hope this was a subconscious error and not a subtle attempt to influence the public.

It seems that the Grosse Pointe News could learn a few lessons from its own editorials. Almost everyone knows where the paper stands on the recall issue, but just in case there are a few voters out there who haven't made up their minds yet, how about keeping editorial headlines on the appropriate page.

Practice what you preach

To the Editor:

I read with interest your editorial in the May 3 edition regarding ethics and fair coverage. It is indeed unfortunate that the high principles expressed on that page do not appear to have filtered through to the "news" article on the front page.

I should like to point out, in the interest of "fair and balanced" reporting, that the quote which you ran as a subhead "If recall is successful, it means a small, vocal group can dictate to the rest . . ." came from Dr. Buechler, a man who received only 314 votes in his election to the office from which he is being recalled as a result of the signatures of over 8,400 registered voters on petitions bearing his name.

The second failure of "balanced" reporting is the quote from Jon Gandelot wherein he self-servingly states "I don't think they will recall people who are trying to save the school system money . . ." This, from the individual who vigorously supported the giveaway of the Richard playground, a package worth, conservatively, $250,000 to benefit a small group of Grosse Pointe Farms merchants (including the owner of your paper) at the expense of the taxpayers of Harper Woods, Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Park, Grosse Pointe Shores and Grosse Pointe Woods.

Sir, preach if you must, but, remember the tale of the emperor and his fine set of new clothes.

Board studied, listened before acting

To the Editor:
We are writing in response to a letter that appeared in your May 3 issue. The changes that will take place in the public schools this next school year have been under consideration and study as Board goals for a full year or more. Not one of these proposed changes has been decided without major deliberation and input from parents, teachers, administration, and the general public.

We personally resent the allegation of one-sided discussions by "far from open minded officials" who are proposing changes without proper thought. Most of the decisions concerning these changes have involved compromises, evidencing a responsiveness to community opinion.

For the past few years, the elementary assistant principal has been a fragmented position, with one teacher trying to perform four jobs: TAG (Talented and Gifted), elementary resource teacher, librarian, and assistant principal. Under the new arrangement, administration will be cut, and specialists will concentrate on the TAG program, while for the first time, certified librarians will be in the elementary libraries.

We will continue to have a principal at each elementary building. These changes are certainly going to improve our program, bring even better education to our children, and be fiscally sound.

It is always easy to find fault, but we believe all of these changes planned are in the best interests of the children in our schools, and we ask community support as we move forward to improve our fine educational system.

Brownscombe was off base

To the Editor:
I would like to respond to the letter from Judy Brownscombe which you printed last week as I found it misleading and inaccurate. As an elementary and middle school parent myself, I feel that I have an obligation to clarify a few of the issues raised by Mrs. Brownscombe.

they will employ the services of trained librarians.

The third issue is the quality of the science curriculum at the elementary level. A pilot program is being instituted in science instruction for our younger students in the coming school year. It will have a science teacher working with students and their teachers in a specially equipped room.

None of the above changes indicated a "standstill" or decrease in the quality of elementary school education, rather progress as a result of lengthy and thorough study. Progress cannot occur without change, and if Mrs. Brownscombe is concerned about these changes, perhaps Mr. Brownscombe, who is running for the Board of Education, should enlighten us as to which of the above programs he would like to delay or eliminate.

Nola J. Bell
Grosse Pointe Park

The first issue is the loss of the elementary assistant principals. It would be difficult to eliminate this position as it does not technically exist at the elementary school level.

The second issue is the placement of TAG and library programs on a part-time basis. TAG means talented and gifted, and the revised program, which is the result of a two year study by administrators, teachers and parents does not necessitate a full time teacher at each school. The elementary libraries can only benefit, as for the first time

Reporting is unfair

To the Editor:

The irony inherent in last week's editorial titled "Ethics and Fair Coverage" must have been apparent to many readers. On the one hand the editorial lauds the Grosse Pointe News for "balanced and fair" reporting concerning the school board controversy and recall issue while on the other hand a framed quote appears second only in prominence to the front page headline "It's Official: Recall on June Ballot" which belies this alleged commitment to fair reporting. The quote reads "If recall is successful, it means a small vocal group can dictate to the rest . . ."

By its juxtaposition to the headline it would appear this unnecessary addendum was a clever way of placing a camouflaged editorial right on the front page. Is this ethical or fair? Those who did not take the time to read more than two thirds of the article were unaware it was an out of context quote by Ernest Buechler, who we can all agree has a very personal stake in the outcome of the recall election. Perhaps Mr. Buechler should be reminded that it was a small (six school board members to be exact), vocal group "who did dictate to the rest of the community how their schools will be run," despite tremendous community objections and in the face of numerous alternative space utilization suggestions at the public meetings.

It should also be noted that the opening statement of the headline article was in error in reporting that it required "three and a half months of door to door canvassing" to secure the required number of signatures to institute a recall election. Actually well over 2,000 more signatures than needed were obtained in less than 11 weeks. Hopefully further reporting regarding this issue will be presented accurately and without bias.

A patient says thanks

To the Editor:

I was recently released from Bon Secours Hospital after surgery and an extended recovery period and I wish to take this opportunity to express my high esteem to this fine organization.

I wish to particularly congratulate the excellent medical staff and the qualified and efficient nursing group which made every effort to make my confinement comfortable.

Their personal touch and consoling attitude made every day enjoyable as could be expected under the circumstances. Also, the efficient administration staff and the volunteer staff devoted so much of their personal time to assist whenever needed. Can the state help Consumers?

By William R. Bryant, Jr.
State Representative

The Midland nuclear power plant being built by Consumers Power may be a "problem child" to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, but it is a serious crisis for Consumers and its stockholders, the Midland area and the state.

Attorney General Frank Kelley wants the 80 percent completed plant abandoned.

The Midland plant, begun 10 years ago, is a huge complex designed to house two reactors. One was to be a steam cogeneration operation selling steam to Dow. Dow has backed out of the deal. Cogeneration work has stopped.

The construction is being done by Bechtel, the giant worldwide firm which has had as many as 10,000 workers building the plant during peak construction periods. Bechtel is being sued by Consumers but both have agreed to await the end of the project before deciding that litigation.

The most serious technical problem has been the settling of one major building, not the reactor building. Hundreds of millions of dollars and years of time and effort are going into shoring up that building.

At first blush it seems they could have torn down that building, made the foundations deeper and stronger and rebuilt the building cheaper and quicker. But that was not possible because it is connected to the reactor building by tens of thousands of miles of cable none of which cable, by Nuclear Regulatory Commission edict, can be severed without total replacement.

Since Three Mile Island, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has greatly increased requirements for nuclear plant construction and safety. Much of the huge cost overrun and construction delay is attributable to redesign mandated by the NRC.

And then there has been Frank Kelley with his populist approach to utility rate regulation and his general, although indirect, opposition to nuclear plant construction. By his intervention in Consumers Power rate increase requests, opposing those and delaying decisions on rates by the state Public Service Commission, Kelley has kept Consumers, as well as Detroit Edison, strapped for cash.

It has been a great strain on the finances of Consumers to pay the billions already expended at Midland. Kelley and anti-

Summer Photos All Wet!

As I sit here writing this column, the first really warm breezes of the year are wafting through my office window. Or sloshing, depending on your point of view. It's raining, again. A little precipitation is okay, of course. But the puddle beneath the downspout is beginning to look a little like one of the Great Lakes.

In fact, with all this water around me, I can't help but think to those hot, sultry days when the best—if not the only—escape is taking off for the lake. If you, too, are looking forward to a watery escape from this summer's heat, take a well-meant tip. Bring your camera.

Summer and water go together just about as well as lakes and sail boats. And sail boats in case you hadn't noticed, make excellent photographic subjects.

It's not important whether you can tell a sloop from a ketch or a spinnaker from a jib. What counts is that combination of grace, color, speed, and excitement—all the elements which go into making great photos.

The best part is, with just a bit of pre-planning and some common sense, you can take those photos. Here are some tips.

•Try to commandeer a boat (figuratively speaking, of course). It helps if you're on a power boat, so that you can out-manuever your subjects, getting close to the ones you want to photograph from the angle you think best.

•Since you'll be taking photos of a moving subject from a moving vessel, be aware of the possibility of motion blur. To correct the problem, choose a fast film, like 400 ASA, and try using a shutter speed of 1/500 second or faster. That should compensate for any motion in the subject or the camera as you snap the shot.

•Take your time when peering through the view-finder. Be sure you get just the angle and lighting you want. If you're not satisfied with the scene, pass up the show and wait for a better one. It's likely to come along in just a matter of seconds. The composition created by the lines and curves of the sails changes constantly as you circle the craft.

•Lighting constantly changes—no less so when you're out on the water. So be aware of what's happening. A rolling cloud passing overhead can dramatically change the feel of the scene. If you're napping behind the camera, you may not notice. And those beautifully lighted, brilliant colors could turn out to be ho-hum dull.

•Backlighting—especially strong early and late in the day—is very effective. But remember when metering facing the sun that those strong, low rays are likely to "fool" your camera's light meter into thinking there's more light reflecting off the subject than there is. Use the meter reading you get, and you'll probably end up with a silhouette shot (which, of course, can be dramatic). If you want detail in the sail boat, deliberately overexpose the backlit scene by opening up your camera's aperture one or two f/stops, by slowing down the shutter speed one or two clicks, or by lowering your camera's ASA setting.

•As with any type of photo-taking, background is very important when shooting sail boats. With all that sky and water around, you shouldn't have to worry too much about overhead power lines and lampposts. However, a second boat sneaking into the corner of the scene may prove distracting, so get in the habit of checking the entire frame before shooting. And, for heaven's sake, be sure the horizon behind your subject is horizontal. Few things ruin water shots quite so effectively as rising horizons!

Bon voyage!

AAA offers car etching

As part of a comprehensive program to deter auto theft, Automobile Club of Michigan members may take their vehicles to any Metropolitan Detroit AAA office beginning Monday, May 14, for a free glass etching.

"Etching serves as a theft deterrent because identified glass requires costly replacement before the vehicle can be sold in the illegal marketplace," explained Thomas G. Bowman, Auto Club assistant vice president-insurance.

Etching will be offered from 10:30 a.m. to closing weekdays through August. The service cannot be provided in rainy weather.

Locations include Auto Club's 27 full-service offices and claim centers in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties plus offices in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Flint.

The etching service is part of the Auto Club's ACTION (Arrest Car Thieves In Our Neighborhoods) program to help deter theft. The organization will engrave vehicle identification numbers into the windshield, rear and front side windows of cars.

The engraving takes about 10 minutes and does not harm the window, nor does it detract from the vehicle's appearance. The process also involves placing a small sticker on the corner of front side windows to alert thieves that the car has been protected.

More than 39,000 cars have been etched by the Auto Club since it began the service last July 15.

Michigan's largest auto insurer launched its ACTION program in July because the number of AAA members' cars stolen during 1982 jumped 36 percent over the previous year and cost those insured $54 million. Auto theft claims filed by AAA members totaled $56 million in 1983.

Under the ACTION program, a $1,000 reward is paid to those who provide police with information leading to the arrest and prosecution of those involved in stealing an Auto Club member's car. Up to $10,000 will be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of chop shop operators or organized car theft ring members.

Anyone with this information is urged to call police, then the ACTION hotline at 1-800-AAA-LOSS (222-5677).

Wagner to host 'Quest' series

Pointer Dave Wagner will serve as program host for the 26-week "Quest for Excellence" series next fall which will feature aspiring young concert level musicians competing for more than $11,000 in cash prizes and scholarships.

The Quest is sponsored by radio station WQRS and Maccabees Mutual, which also helps underwrite Michigan Opera Theater, the Detroit Institute of Arts and Renaissance Chamber Orchestra.

Wagner will host weekly hour-long programs during which six or seven individual musicians will perform. They will be aired over WQRS in front of live audiences and a panel of judges. Winners of the weekly competition will receive $105 honorariums and be eligible to compete for $10,000 scholarships.

Wagner, who is also organist at St. Paul Church, said "as a performing musician, I am keenly aware of the difficulties that can face an individual who attempts a career in classical music making. I'm proud to be the host."

The competition is intended to encourage young musicians who reside in southeastern Michigan. Entrants should send demonstration tapes to Quest for Excellence, 500 Temple, Detroit, 48201.

Shutterbugs meet

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet Tuesday, May 15, at 7:30 p.m. at Brownell Middle School.

A color print and nature slide competition will be held, along with a short program by Alice Goslow on "Aquarium Photography," the nature assignment is selective focus.

Visitors are welcome. For more information, call 331-3303.

The Woods Historical Commission will sell post cards picturing the city municipal building to raise funds to publish a history of the city.

The photograph for the full-color post card was taken by Woods Public Safety Sergeant William Lentz. The cards are available at the city hall cashier's window for 30 cents each or four for $1, the commission said.

The Williamsburg Colonial city hall building was erected in 1959. The public safety department annex was built in 1963.

The compilation of a history pamphlet on the city is one of the projects of the 12-member commission appointed by the mayor. Others include the obtaining of a historical designation marker for the Old Cook School and participation in the city's Memorial Day ceremonies, which are co-sponsored with the Beautification Commission.

CAR TALK

Pontiac, GMC, Truck

BATTERY CARE TIPS

Nobody really appreciates the importance of his car's battery until it goes dead. It has a tremendous job to do. But it's most important function is to provide the massive, momentary power demanded when starting the engine. No juice - no start. You can insure your battery's output by taking a few, simple maintenance steps.

At least once a month, check the fluid level in each battery cell and add water as needed. Do not overfill. Regularly wipe traces of dirt, moisture and corrosion from the battery top, tray, hold-down clamps and connectors. At least once a year, carefully clean the unit with a mild, lukewarm solution of baking soda and water. Rinse off with clear, cold water and wipe dry. Make sure that the terminal connections are tight.

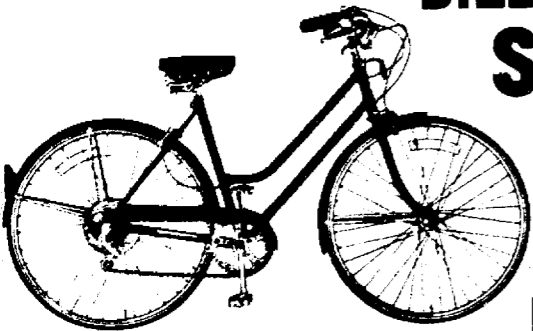

About twice a year ask your serviceman to check the battery voltage or the specific gravity of the acid-water solution. Investing a few extra minutes, on a regular basis, will mean extra miles of dependable performance.

Verheyden's Shirley Neale

To the reporters at the Grosse Pointe News, she was the lady "on the phone" who called every Monday afternoon with the week's obituaries from the Verheyden Funeral Home.

No one ever knew her last name. The word would simply go out through the newsroom that "Shirley" was on the line. She was brisk. She was efficient and a reporter quickly became familiar with her style of delivery. "No," she'd correct, "that's 'R' as in Robert and 'P' as in Peter."

But while she could be business-like, she also had her friendly side. She and a reporter would laugh at the mispronunciation of a difficult last name or wonder how one person could have "so many great-grandchildren." If you needed help digging up in-

Big thanks to shy samaritan

By Harriet Nolan

"I didn't expect it," said Dan Blake of Harper Woods, when a good samaritan returned his wallet containing $361 and numerous charge cards and left without a trace.

Blake, 28, first discovered his wallet was missing Saturday morning, April 28. Tracing his activities, he remembered placing it somewhere in Grosse Pointe where he had been bike-riding the night before.

Figuring he'd never see it again, he spent most of Saturday morning closing his charge accounts. When he returned home he found his wallet in his mailbox with his drivers license on top of it.

"I asked other people what they would do if they found a wallet and must said it would depend on how old or desperate they were," said Blake. "This sure helped me re-evaluate my values and faith in human nature."

"I owe somebody a big thanks," he said.

Why obese children tend generally to score about 10 points higher on IQ tests than extremely thin children is not known.

Project Life CPR could save your life

Project Life: CPR Day is "second to none" for Martin Buss, a 17-year veteran of the Grosse Pointe Park Fire Department, because "it's the biggest mass training effort we have in southeastern Michigan that I know of."

"It's so well organized. It's interesting to see a group of people that normally do not work together and who come from all different walks of life, get together and put on a program that is second to none," says Buss.

Buss is a certified Red Cross CPR instructor and one of 250 volunteer instructors who will teach CPR training at the sixth annual Project Life: CPR Day '84 today from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Pontiac Silverdome. For more information, call 958-1955.

As a basic emergency medical technician for the fire department, Buss knows first hand how important it is for the general public to know how to perform CPR. He sets up this scenario: Someone lives within minutes of the Grosse Pointe Park fire station. They witness someone having a heart attack and call the station for help. The EMTs arrive within three to five minutes and start CPR, but there has been that three to five minute delay.

"The chances of that patient's recovery with a four-minute delay is only 4 percent. On the other hand, if a citizen begins CPR within one minute of the onset of an attack, that patient's recovery is about 80 percent. So there's a real desperate need in our society for citizens to learn CPR," he says.

Buss enjoys teaching period, whether it's CPR or something else. "Some people can relate well to other people and some can't. The Lord has blessed me with that ability. I've taught in one form or another most of my working life," he adds.

Outside of teaching courses for Red Cross, Buss has also taught CPR and safety courses through the fire department and to groups in Warren where he lives.

He becomes very serious when he stresses the importance of learning CPR. "Any citizen who doesn't invest three hours (to learn CPR) is foolish," he says.

He also stresses with today's lifestyle, a great deal of things can happen that can cause either respiratory or cardiac arrest more so than just heart attacks. "With young people and what they're into with the drug scene and the fast way of life, boy, there's so many things that can cause a person to go into arrest," Buss says. "The likelihood of somebody being present during cardiac arrest is very good. It's a terrible, terrible thing to have to sit and watch one of your loved ones die because you didn't invest three hours of your time," he continues. Although administering CPR does not guarantee a life will be saved, it certainly increases the chance.

Project Life: CPR Day '84, sponsored by the American Red Cross and other organizations, is free and open to the public. The training course is three and one-half hours long and participants completing the course will be certified in CPR by Red Cross and will receive a participant's card from the American Heart Association.

A new training session begins every 15 minutes throughout the day. Participants will also receive a free blood pressure screening and will be given instructions on how to aid a choking victim.

CPR provides artificial circulation and breathing to a person whose heart and lungs have stopped functioning because of heart attack, shock, drowning or other cause. External cardiac compressions, given manually, are alternated with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in order to stimulate the natural functions of the heart and lungs.

The course provides thorough training by using a station-to-station teaching approach which includes lecture, audiovisual presentations, practice on manikins and written and skill-application tests.

Project Life: CPR Day '84 is made possible by a grant from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan and the Oakland County Council for Emergency Medical Services in cooperation with the Michigan Panthers, American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Chapter and the American Heart Association.

"A man's spirit leaves his body when he sleeps. If he's shaken awake suddenly, that spirit may not be able to find its way back. Such has been the belief of the native New Caledonians. So they've held it as criminal to awaken a sleeping man."

One View from the Capital

nuclear power groups have made financing all the more difficult.

One does wonder whether the management of Consumers would have the considerable guts it would take to voluntarily choose to abandon or mothball the project.

One does wonder whether Consumers management, if a major new construction error were discovered by them, would come forth with information which might doom the project and even the corporation itself.

And one does wonder how Consumers can possibly finance another $2 billion for another two to three years of construction in order to complete the project and it is hard to know to what degree the electricity that would be generated is or would be needed five, 10 or 20 years from now.

There are no easy answers to all this. Presently, I would favor Consumers not being forced to abandon Midland and, while keeping very close watch on safety aspects of construction, trying to help Consumers find financing for completion.

While I would oppose the state in any way directly bailing Consumers out, it may be possible for the state to help in a way which would not put the state in jeopardy. One suggestion is that the state could purchase one or more existing, non-nuclear power plants from Consumers and lease those back to Consumers. This would give them immediate cash and could also remove the cost of property tax on those existing facilities.

There is a provision in the 1963 state Constitution which has never been implemented. It mandates that the state legislature, by law, determine a nuclear policy.

It is a unique, but ignored, provision. I have periodically called attention to the provision for the past 13 years, but no one seems to be ready to decide the difficult policy questions. Maybe they shouldn't be answered, but I think they should.

Towerbelles end festival season

By Wendy Hestain
South High

South's Towerbelles took a Division II rating at their final appearance this year at the Vocal Solo and Ensemble State Festival. Solists Jennifer Ames and Margaret Hunt received ratings of II and I respectively.

Ratings are on a scale of I to IV with I considered the highest.

Towerbelles performed two pieces of music for an adjudicator who judged the group on tone technique, interpretation and appearance. A second division rating means the group gave a very good performance with minor flaws. Afterward, the group met with the adjudicator to discuss the performance.

Towerbelle Mardi Abell appreciated adjudicator Dr. Patrick Gardner's comments. "The verbal constructive criticism was very beneficial to our group and should help us to improve in the future," she said.

The group had received a first division rating at district festival in February, qualifying to attend states, held at the University of Michigan, Flint. Solists Ames and Hunt underwent the same competition procedures.

"It was quite an accomplishment just to be able to perform at a state festival," said Elizabeth VonNolting, accompanist.

Four ULS seniors win scholarships

Two University Liggett School seniors were named winners last week in the 1984 Merit Scholarship competition. A renewable four-year scholarship to Northwestern University was awarded to Michael Brozowski of St. Clair Shores, and a similar award for the University of Chicago was awarded to Charles Colby of Grosse Pointe.

Colby was also named a President's Scholar at Southern Methodist University. The prestigious award, offered to only 25 incoming freshmen each year, carries a stipend for full tuition for four years plus transportation and tuition for one of the university's international programs.

In an earlier announcement, Ronald Hull and Brigitte Koegler, both of Grosse Pointe, were named winners of $1,000, one-time scholarship awards to the college of their choice.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES AND ON THE PROPOSED CITY BUDGET 1984 - 1985

The City Council of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan will hold a public hearing at 8:00 p.m. on Monday, May 21, 1984 in the City Hall at 90 Kerby Road, on the proposed 1984 city tax levy and on the proposed 1984-85 City budget. The proposed Budget is on file in the Office of the City Controller for public inspection during regular office hours, 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The following is a summary of the proposed Budget:

Surplus Appropriated.....	570,942.00
Tax Levy.....	3,475,972.00
TOTAL FINANCING.....	$5,577,189.00

PROPOSED TAX RATE — 13.20 per thousand - Based on Est. State Equalized Value of $263,331,190.

Last year (1983) the City levied 13.4100 mills ($13.41 per $1,000 SEV) for City operating purposes. Because of an estimated increase in the State Equalized Value of existing property in the City, state law (Act 5 of 1982) provides that the base rate for 1984 City operating taxes be decreased to 12.7200 mills ($12.72 per $1,000 SEV). This is .6900 mills ($.69 cents per $1,000 SEV) lower than the 1983 operating tax rate.

To fund the City's proposed 1984-85 budget and to maintain the present level of City services, to provide for changes in accounting standards, and provide for certain improvements in conjunction with the improvement of parking facilities, the City finds it necessary to increase its operating tax levy. Although the City has complete authority under its charter and state law to establish the number of mills to be levied within its fully authorized millage rate, the City proposes to levy an additional millage rate of 0.48 mills ($.48 cents per $1,000 SEV) above the 1984 base operating millage rate. This will provide an estimated 3.79% increase in City operating property tax revenues. Individual property taxes may increase greater than or less than the estimated average.

NOTE: Estimated Federal Revenue Sharing Monies in the amount of $39,000 anticipated to be received by the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan during this fiscal year 1984-1985 are to be utilized to pay for public street lighting.

Public comments, oral or written, are welcome at the public hearing on the proposed additional millage rate and on the proposed City budget.

Young artists win awards in New York

Three young Grosse Pointe artists were winners in the prestigious Scholastic Art Awards program in New York City this month. Laura Lovisa, 17, Todd Tyrrell, 18, and Craig Vogt, 15, were among the winners from across the nation to join the ranks of past award winners who are prominent artists. Miss Lovisa, a student at North High School, was awarded a scholarship to Indiana University-Purdue at Fort Wayne and an Honorable Mention for her Graphic Design. Tyrrell won a scholarship to Detroit's Center for Creative Studies, College of Art and Design. Vogt's graphic design won him a medal. Both are South High students. The Scholastic Arts Awards competition has been recognizing the early talents of young painters, sculptors and designers since 1927. "Scholastic is committed to helping young people develop their talents by providing an outlet and incentive through the Scholastic Awards program," said its president, Richard Robinson, in a prepared release. "Winning a Scholastic Art Award is no small achievement," he added.

National winners must first emerge as blue ribbon finalists from among more than 150,000 entries that first get professional scrutiny at 81 sponsored regional exhibits across the country. The regional finalists — about 8,000 in all — are then judged by panels of artists and art teachers in Scholastic's New York City headquarters.

South juniors will hold prom at Ford House

By Kip Monahan
South High
South High's junior class has announced it will hold its Junior Prom at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House on Lakeshore Road this Saturday. Through hard work and perseverance, the prom committee was able to convince mansion officials that the class of 1984 would conduct themselves in such a manner as to respect the stately old home. "Our class will be the first to have a prom at the mansion. It will be something completely new and exciting," Erin Radtke, a prom organizer said. The biggest problems foreseen by the organizers is the lack of space at the mansion. The number of tickets has been restricted to 125 couples, at $8 a couple. Ticket sale is on a totally first come, first-served basis," Radtke said. "We are sorry that we had to limit the number of people, but that was one of the conditions of the contract." The Country Club of Detroit, Lochmoor Club, and the Grosse Pointe Club Little Club, were also considered but problems arose with each. The Country Club would not allow a high school prom. Lochmoor was too expensive, and the Little Club would not hold enough people, fewer than 100 couples. Because of the value of both the mansion and the articles inside, special precautions have been taken. Ford House officials have hired security guards, and certain rooms in the home will be off-limits. A special meeting has also been scheduled the night before the dance, to go over any additional rules.

South takes top DECA honors

By Wendy Honstain
South High
Twenty-one South students recently attended the Distributive Education Clubs of America State Leadership Conference held at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn. Senior Tom Vick was elected DECA state president, and George Bournias, also a senior, was elected district president of DECA. Other victories were won by Vick, first place in restaurant marketing; Michael Battles, third place employe communications; Mary Jo Kalmar, third place apparel and accessories. Three of the eight finalists in the state were Bournias, George Neme and Barb Young.

All 1,500 of the Michigan students attending had qualified at a regional conference several weeks before. The DECA national conference will be held in Kansas City. "I feel that being involved with DECA has given me a head start in the business world," said Kalmar.

ULS debates best

University Liggett School swept the district forensics tournament hosted by South High earlier this month. Of 28 students who earned tickets to the regional competition, 18 were ULS speakers. In ninth and 10th grade extemporaneous, Robert Niccolini placed first and Pamela Colby placed second. In the open extemporaneous category, John Hadjisky and Charles Colby placed first and second respectively. In radio, Mike Brozowski and Brigitte Koegler captured first and second respectively. Harold Colby took first in sales; Brian Fox and Mike Henein, first and second in impromptu speaking; David Chilingirian and Julie Ferris, first and second in informative speaking; Carolyn Seydel and Carol Ling, first and third in oratory.

Music provided by a band or disc jockey, roses handed out to all girls at the door, and floral arrangements throughout the mansion will be some of the special feature. Tickets are $8. Preferred attire is black tie.

VILLAGE OF Grosse Pointe Shores MICHIGAN

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES AND ON THE PROPOSED VILLAGE BUDGET

The Village Council of the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores will hold a public hearing at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday, May 22, 1984 in the council chambers, 795 Lakeshore Road, on the proposed 1984 Village tax levy and on the proposed 1984-85 Village budget. Copies of the proposed budget are available for public inspection during regular business hours in the office of the Village Clerk.

Last year (1983) the Village levied 12.5679 mills ($12.57 per $1,000 SEV) for Village operating purposes. Because of an estimated decrease in the State Equalized Value of existing property in the Village, state law (Act 5 of 1982) provides that the base tax rate for 1984 Village operating taxes be increased to 12.7388 mills ($12.74 per $1,000 SEV). This is .1709 mills ($.17 per $1,000 SEV) higher than the 1983 operating tax rate.

The Village finds it necessary to increase its operating levy for fiscal year 1984/85 by 2.3374 mills ($2.34 per $1,000 SEV). Two of these mills are needed to finance extensive repairs and improvements to the Village sewer systems, and .3374 mills will be required to maintain essential Village services. This will provide an estimated 18.4% increase in Village operating property tax revenues. Individual property taxes may increase greater than or less than the estimated average. The Village has complete authority under its charter and state law to establish the number of mills to be levied within its fully authorized millage rate.

Public comments, oral or written, are welcome at the hearing on the proposed additional millage rate and on the proposed Village budget.

Man charged with larceny

Grosse Pointe Park police reported a burglary from a home in the 800 block of Westchester on Thursday, May 3, at about 11:45 a.m.

The resident told police that someone had entered her home and taken her purse. Within minutes, police stopped a man for investigation and found that he matched the description of the man seen near her home and he admitted being there.

Henry Coonce, Park police chief, said the man, identified as 28-year-old Ron Hill, was arrested on charges of breaking and entering, and larceny.

Hill, who Coonce said listed several Detroit addresses as his residence, was arraigned before Judge Beverly Grobbel and is being held in the Wayne County jail pending trial. His bond was set at $2,500 cash.

Coonce said the Park resident's purse was found in a nearby backyard with the contents strewn about.

Voice recital at Memorial

The public is invited to a complimentary vocal concert featuring students of Doris Pagan's voice classes Tuesday, May 15 at 7 p.m.

The recital will be held in the Fries Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road.

corde? No way. He rode there on his 650 c.c. Yamaha Seca motorcycle.

Actually, it's the second time Carroll has attended these seminars via motorcycle. An avid biker for the past 10 years, he left on a Friday and arrived in San Antonio on Sunday, then started home the following Wednesday and arrived Saturday.

Unfortunately, about 1,500 miles of the trip was in the rain. According to Carroll, it got kind of hairy in northern Arkansas while riding in the mountains at night on a twisty, dark rain covered road, but other than that the trip was "fantastic."

Many bikers wear their "colors" while they're riding. Would Carroll's be pink and green?

Problems, problems

Altogether now! Congratulations to the Lakeshore Chorus of the Grosse Pointe Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America for their recent triumph in Ypsilanti when they were crowned the 1984 District chorus Champions following the Society's Pioneer District Contest.

Our chorus beat out 13 competitors to capture its first ever championship. But it wasn't easy folks, according to Sterling Berry, assistant director of the Grosse Pointe Lakeshore Chorus of the SPEBSQSA.

Due to a foul up in arrangements, the chorus lost its rehearsal, hospitality and motel rooms in Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor shortly before the contest.

After discovering their motel room reservations wouldn't be honored, the chorus double checked other arrangements and contacted the high school in A² where the contest was to be held and were reassured that reservations for "April, 1985" were in good order.

After some frantic tap dancing, the group obtained the use of the Ypsilanti Education Center for the contest and received a room to rehearse in thanks to the generosity of the First United Methodist Church of Ypsilanti.

Hey, if winning was easy, everyone would do it — right?

Best bet for vets

Surely, spring must be here for real if the American Legion is once again ready to sell poppies on Poppy Day.

Accordingly then, members and auxiliary members of Grosse Pointe American Legion Post 303 will be on hand selling the little flowers in the Grosse Pointe area on Thursday, May 17, just one week from today.

So be a "good guy" and buy one to remember our vets.

And don't call me Shirley.

Village settles

Goulette's car struck another vehicle on Lakeshore in the Shores, resulting in minor injuries.

Shores officers determined that Goulette had been drinking and arrested him and the passenger. Both were placed in cells. The passenger was bailed out by a friend at about 10:40 p.m. but Goulette remained in the cell.

Officers found Goulette at about 2 a.m. hanging from his shirt, which Goulette had slipped between the top of the cage and the mesh covering the bars. He was cut down and taken to St. John Hospital, where he later died.

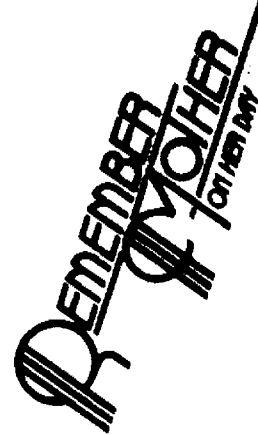

An autopsy reported Goulette had a blood alcohol level of .26 percent, better than two and a half times the legal definition of drunkenness.

The suit alleged the village should have recognized Goulette as a high-risk internee and supervised him better. The restaurant was alleged to have continued to serve Goulette although he was visibly drunk, according to the suit.

The third party was alleged to be negligent by allowing Goulette to drive although drunk.

One of the reasons for the settlement was because jail suicide cases are very difficult to try, Gilbert said. "You're fighting the convictions of the jury" to convince them the suicide was caused by facility conditions, he said, adding he had lost a similar case last November.

Goulette's death was one of five alcohol-related deaths of 18 suicides in 1982.

Mother's Day rally seeks an end to violence

By Harriet Nolan
 "Rape has nothing to do with sex or a woman being tempting, it's a crime of violence," says Marcia Cron of Grosse Pointe Park. As a member of the National Organization for Women (NOW), she is taking part in a rally on Friday, May 11, that is being endorsed by numerous organizations throughout the tri-county area that oppose violence against women.

"It's a whole change in attitude for everyone in general," says Ms. Cron. Some people still don't view rape as a crime and quite often women are treated as if they asked to be raped.

"Particularly, other women who think 'it can't happen to me, therefore she must have asked for it,'" she adds.

But it can happen to anyone. Ac-ording to recent Park police records, a woman, distraught after having a fight with her boyfriend, left his home early one morning and accepted a ride home from a stranger. Instead, he drove her to Detroit where he raped her before she escaped.

Rape and other violent crimes rose both in Detroit and throughout Michigan, according to statistics released May 3 by state and local law enforcement agencies.

Detroit police records indicate that reported rapes increased 12.3 percent for the first three months of 1984 compared to the same period last year.

State police reported that incidents of rape increased 21 percent in 1983. This was the largest increase among the eight major crime categories, to 4,930, said Lt.

Dan Ostrom, commander of the Uniform Crime Reporting Unit.

With the increase in rapes comes the evidence that insensitivity toward the victim still exists and is on the rise, says Ms. Cron.

"A lot of complaints aren't taken seriously by police. While the courts have ruled it illegal to bring out a woman's sexual history during a trial, somehow or another attorneys do and she is treated like the criminal, not the victim.

Ms. Cron points to the recent case in New Bedford, Mass., where a woman was raped in a bar by seven men while onlookers cheered. During the trial, numerous references were made to her past.

"All this was irrelevant to the case," she says.

The march is primarily designed to get people together and say "we've had enough," says Peggy Sissel, representing the Michigan Coalition Against Domestic Violence.

"Most justice personnel and judges assume wife battering is a private matter and nothing to get involved with. We're making the statement that it needs to be viewed as the crime it is," she adds.

The rally is being held on Mother's Day weekend because "we want to be viewed as special people," says Ms. Sissel. "We have the right to be honored, and to be safe on the streets and in our homes."

It's being held on Friday night because that is traditionally women's night out vs. date night on Saturday.

The rally begins at 6:30 p.m. at Kennedy Square in downtown Detroit. Participants will march to the Police Headquarters on Beaubien and call out a list of demands, such as rehiring all laid-off police, expanding the women's division and increasing counselors for rape victims, says Ms. Cron.

They will then go to the Frank

Murphy Hall of Justice and voice support for issues that include upholding the rape shield law that prohibits a woman's past sexual history to be brought up in a rape trial, more honest reporting of the number of sexual assaults in the Detroit area and creating more assistance programs for victims in the prosecuting attorney's office.

The rally will end at the City-County Building where requests will be made for better street lighting, allocating more money for wife battering shelter services and banning pornography.

It doesn't matter where people live as long as these issues are their concerns, says Ms. Cron.

Supt. Brummel speaks his mind be able to hire 10 to 12 new teachers this year and it will be a real benefit to bring people to the schools with fresh new approaches.

The objective-setting system that I brought to the Board of Education was good, too. We narrowed their focus down to four or five areas a year and set a time limit for completing the projects. In a maximum of two years, we could go back to the board and say "this happened because of the goal you set last year." There's much more evidence of things happening because of this process.

What are the weaknesses of the school system today?

One area I think needs work is getting the community as well as the staff to appreciate the importance of change and acceptance of change. I think it's rather slow here.

That's one of the positive aspects of the big staff retirements. It will bring the people with a variety of backgrounds. That's important. We'll have people with new approaches who are willing to take some risks. I haven't seen much of that here. I don't think Grosse Pointe in recent years has gone out and looked at what other educators are doing. We've been pretty isolated here, thinking we have Mecca.

Another weakness I see in the system is a great deal of apathy about what's happening in the schools, despite the recent controversy. The parent organizations have not really been involved in educational thinking.

Jeff Barry, president of the PTO Council, is really trying to determine what kind of role his group should be playing in the community. There are bake sales and pancake suppers to support programs, and that's fine. But I don't see the parent groups really looking at the big issues, instead of just individual parts. Aside from the school board, there is really no one else looking at the total system.

Another weakness I see relates to public education in general. It's technology. We're always playing catch-up to industry and business. We're looking at vocational education here now. We have 15 to 20 percent who aren't going to go to college. We're not doing anything with robotics, for instance, to train those kids for jobs. We're not using the latest business equipment. Maybe instead of teaching woodshop we should be teaching them robot repair.

The school board is in the process of hiring its fourth superintendent in 10 years. They don't seem to stay here long. It is a tough job?

No, I don't think it is a tough job, but it is challenging. Every community has its issues and expectations. A professional comes in and tries to interpret that. I probably, quite frankly, could have come to Grosse Pointe and sat on my hands for three years and everyone would be happy. But I'm not that kind of person. I'm an activist. I like to get things done.

One of the real joys of this job has been working with a school board that's terrific about doing what it said it was going to do. I've had a very good working relationship with the board. We don't always agree, but we work out problems. I don't have to deal with personalities and constituencies when we make decisions.

Which was the best school closing plan?

I think the first plan was the best (transferring programs from three elementary schools to nearby middle schools). It was least disruptive of neighborhoods and we could have developed some interesting K-8 programs. All the school closing plans are reasonable.

I would think the first plan is still a possibility. It will be as educationally sound tomorrow as it is today. But, of course, one school board candidate, William Brownscombe, has proposed closing middle schools and one high school. So maybe that's the kind of plan that will be pursued.

If you walked in tomorrow as the new superintendent here, what would you do?

I would try to get the community and the school board to develop a Community Development Program, to develop a process for addressing and resolving issues. The development activity has to get people to understand what has happened to education here

'People must understand what has happened to education here' because of the enrollment decline: the groupings at the elementary level are much more broad than they should be; we have limited offerings at the secondary schools; there's the inefficiency of sharing teachers through too many buildings; and a lot of money is going into buildings that should be spent on programs.

The community is going to have to look pretty seriously at transportation, too, at least a skeletal plan, to maintain educational standards. I don't think you're going to have to pick up every kid at every door, but some limited transportation will be necessary.

How did the public controversy over your school closing plan become so intense?

I think the process the board used was fine. But the committee we appointed to come up with the first approach... well it never presented a plan. The first plan was the one I came up with.

The other thing that happened is that the supporters didn't come out early enough. I was getting lots of calls and letters of support early on, but they never went public.

There were some scare tactics used, too. All that talk about "Brummel's mega school plan" saying I was going to close all 10 elementary schools, was baloney.

And I think the bussing controversy here in the 1960s had an effect. Everyone rallied around the "neighborhood school" idea then. Those became emotional words and they're still with people today.

Is there anything else you hope to accomplish before you leave in June?

I want to present a new early childhood education program, with an option for all-day kindergarten, an administrative reorganization and the budget.

Arbor Day winner
 Tara Devon, (above) of St. Clare of Montefalco School, received a $10 prize for herself and a tree to be planted at her school because of her prize-winning Arbor Day poster. Standing beside her poster captioned "Remember when our streets looked like this? Won't you please plant a tree?" Miss Devon receives congratulations from Nancy Pilorget, Arbor Day chairperson from the Grosse Pointe Park Beautification Commission, during ceremonies held at Patterson Park on April 27.

A cornerstone full of memories

Press and the Michigan Catholic Newspapers. Both are yellowed with age, but still flexible and soft to the touch. Reading them is a voyage into the past. The headline on the Free Press reads "Two Fliers Escape From Seaplane at Bottom of Detroit River." The front page contains 26 stories spread over eight columns. Some of the headlines read: "Navy Chief Lays Giant Zep's Keel," "W.J. Scripps Found; Gone Two Weeks," "Hoover Invites All to 1933 World Fair" and "Leon Trotsky Barred from Denmark." The price of the paper is 3 cents.

Inside, the paper advertises polo overcoats for "$60 to $125" at the E.J. Hickey Co. on Washington Boulevard. Crowley-Milner's was pushing women's sports clothes for the upcoming Michigan-Harvard game. Stout Airlines would fly you round trip to Chicago for $24.

Most stories came at the reader as short snippets jammed one atop another from top to bottom. One told that the "O'Henry Award of 1929 was presented to Dorothy Parker" for three short stories. Another advertised an upcoming meeting for the Mack Avenue Businessmen's Association while a third blared "Tame Rats are Slain by Wild Cousins."

Oddly, the paper didn't tell much about the crash on Wall Street, except for a few stories on the financial page that mostly pooh-poohed the event. One lengthy story read "Economic Depression Is a Myth-E. W. Lewis." Another read "Strong Buying Checks Downward Plunge of Stocks in Wall Street." With a New York dateline, the first paragraph read, "For the third time within a fortnight a headlong drop in stock prices was checked today, and once more powerful financial interests were inclined to the belief that the crisis was past."

There were, however, lots and lots of stories about "rum runners" intent on thwarting the prohibition laws, including the freeing of a University of Michigan student who was accused of being involved in a "rum ring" at Fletcher Hall in Ann Arbor.

Downtown, vaudeville was going strong. In Detroit that week were the Isadora Duncan Dancers "direct from Moscow" and Harold Lloyd telling jokes at the Paramount Theatre. Also performing in Detroit were Marion Davies, Joseph Schildkraut, Nancy Carroll, Helen Kane and Jack Oakie.

Performing in the comic section were "The Gumps," "Winnie Winkle," "Moon Mullins," "Gasoline Alley" and, of course, "Little Orphan Annie."

The back page of the Free Press was then, as it is now, devoted to photographs. The most interesting from Nov. 8, 1929 showed workmen putting the final touches on preparations for the opening of the then brand new Ambassador Bridge.

The Michigan Catholic of that time was filled with stories of Catholic laymen trying to win over "Southern bigots." On the back page, the obituaries held the names of many Grosse Pointers, including Mrs. Frank H. Farnum, of Lothrop Road; Mrs. Ida Adams, of Neff Road; Lena Ailor, of Reno Lane and Eugene H. Brow of University Place.

"The St. Edward's Weekly especially meant a lot to me," said Fischer. "In one of them it announces the election of my father to lieutenant on the Safety Patrol Squad. Another one lists the upcoming times he had to serve Mass as an altar boy."

Firefighter Fischer has contacted a number of local Catholic churches to tell of his discovery, and to ask them to make announcements in their parish papers about St. Edward's and it's dedication.

"Many people attended St. Edward's then moved to other parishes," explained Fischer. "They might be interested in this part of their past. It's a small world. When I took the St. Edward's Weekly in to be photocopied, it turned out that the woman doing the work had a grandfather who advertised his shoe store in the paper. There it was in black and white. You just never know."

"I'm willing to let anyone who might be interested in looking at this memorabilia come to my place and have a look see. This could be part of their past too. What I'm really hoping for is to meet someone who might have known my dad or even graduated with him from St. Edward's in 1929."

"My father passed away about five years ago," said Fischer. "I just wish he was still here to see and share in all of this."

Firefighter Fischer can be reached at 775-4796.

There are nine gardens on this year's Grosse Pointe Garden Club Council Garden Tour, and seven of them have something in common: they were designed and landscaped by Bill Whetstone, of the Greater Detroit Landscape Company.

Trees and shrubs have been carefully placed to enhance each outdoor setting. Attention has been given to groupings of azaleas, rhododendrons, evergreens, flowering crabs, varieties of maples, copper beech, shadblow and dogwoods, hedges of thuja, taxus, alpine current and boxwood.

Visitors will find a few garden sculptures, interesting patios, walls and terraces and much use of ground cover and spring flowers. They'll also find, at the Hodges Garden (272 Ridge Road), crafts from the Detroit Garden Center's Upstairs Shop. And at the Borden Garden (866 Lakeshore Road), there'll be complimentary refreshments.

The Hodges Garden is one of two not landscaped by Mr. Whetstone. Both — the other is the Micou Garden (30 Kerby Road) — were on last year's tour, and are equally inviting to view this year.

Garden Tour participants are also invited to view a display/sale of landscape, flower and garden paintings by members of the Grosse Pointe Artists Association, in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Art Gallery Studio #1, during tour hours: 1 to 5 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 18, 19 and 20, rain or shine.

Each garden on the tour will be marked with a yellow flag. Tickets will be available at all the gardens while the tour is in progress. It's a good idea, though, to get them in advance, for each $5 tour ticket comes with a brochure and map, and it's a good idea to plot your progress in advance, to check out what to look for in each garden.

Tickets are available now in the Garden Center Room at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Tuesday through Thursday, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Special rates are available for groups of 10 or more — but ONLY through tomorrow, Friday, May 11, by contacting Mrs. M.P. Wiant at 881-4173.

Besides those already mentioned, this year's tour will feature the Mertz Garden (737 Lakeshore Road), the Rankin Garden (735 Lakeshore Road), the Van Hoek Garden (531 Oxford Road), the Anderson Garden (40 Provincial Road), the Haddad Garden (42 Waverly Lane) and the Knight Garden (44 Kerby Road). The numbers to call for directions or additional information are 886-2096, 881-8574 or 886-8913.

The Navy League Ball: memories and plans

Grosse Pointer THOMAS K. FISHER (standing, right), a graduate of the Coast Guard Academy, arrived at the luncheon held recently at Lochmoor Club to finalize plans for the Navy League Ball with memories in hand. The former Coast Guard officer brought a scrapbook of pictures and press releases of his wife, Gerry Fisher, when she attended Marygrove College, when she was "Miss Navy" — and the wedding pictures (press) when she married Tom, son of the Charles T. Fishers. A World War II veteran, he has been an active supporter of the Navy and is a past-president of the Men's Council of the Metropolitan Detroit Navy League. Gerry, who founded the Detroit Women's Council of the Navy League of the United States during her "Miss Navy" days, when she traveled throughout the United States on a volunteer basis to raise funds for the Sea Services during World War II, is honorary chairman of the Navy League Ball, to be held Saturday, May 26, at Lochmoor. It's an annual affair, sponsored by the Detroit Women's Council of the Navy League, and will begin at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails. Dinner will follow the traditional Sea Cadets' Color Guard Ceremony, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Grosse Pointe's Jack Qualey and his orchestra will furnish music for the evening, including the post-dinner dancing. Mrs. Qualey, a vice-president of the Women's Council, will be hostess at a large table of guests that night. Official party hostess is Mrs. James E. Glander, of Huntington Woods, the Council's president. General ball chairman is Past-President Mrs. Anthony Kunert, of Warren. MRS. EMIL GROB (seated, right), of The Pointe, Council vice-president, is sponsoring the group at Lochmoor, and will be in charge of table decorations for the ball. The others pictured above sharing Tom Fisher's scrapbook memories are MRS. FRANK NAIR, a long-time member of the Women's Council and its current treasurer, and Captain RUDY PESCHEL, Commanding Officer of the Coast Guard Group Detroit and guest speaker at the planning luncheon. The Peschels, also Pointers, have been invited to sit at the Fisher table the night of the 26th, along with the John C. Griffins and the Victor Breidenbachs. Funds raised via the ball go to the Sea Services and the Sea Cadet program. Checks for tickets ($35 per person) or donations, made out to the Detroit Women's Council, should be sent to Mrs. Nair at the Whittier Towers, 415 Burns Drive, Detroit, Mich. 48124. She should be contacted immediately, at 823-8470, for reservations.

From Another Pointe Of View

Michigan, a member of the Garden Club of America, has planned its usual trio of delightful spring activities, beginning with an open-to-the-public flower show next Thursday, May 17, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Performing and Creative Arts Center on University Liggett School's Cook Road campus.

The Grosse Pointe Garden Club and the Junior League Gardeners have been invited to join the Garden Club of Michigan in presenting this show, which features a Sponsors Preview from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday evening.

The following week, Thursday, May 24, brings a reprise of the Garden Club of Michigan's Fox Hill Farm Herb Sale that was such a popular event last year. It will run all day, in the empty lot on-the-Hill, opposite the Grosse Pointe News Office, where the windows will be open to catch those delicious Fox Hill Farm herb fragrances.

And we "Hill Dwellers" will be thanking the Garden Club of Michigan all summer long for their third traditional spring project, planting on-the-Hill, which turns our business district into a garden. Eat your hearts out, all you cement-surrounded malls!

Mannix Is Coming

Ruth (Mrs. Joseph A.) Vance, of The Shores, has been appointed to serve as co-chairman, with Mrs. R. Jamison Williams, of the Michigan Cancer Foundation's annual dinner, which this year will feature Mike Connors, TV's "Mannix," as special celebrity guest. Neal Shine, Senior Managing Editor of the Detroit Free Press, will emcee the evening during which Dr. Vincent DeVita, director of the National Cancer Institute, will receive MCF's Meyer and Anna Prentis Award.

Fellow Grosse Pointers serving with Ruth on the committee for the dinner, set for next Thursday, May 17, at the Westin Hotel, include John T. Caldwell Jr., Mort Crim, Mrs. Frank A. Germack Jr., Mrs. Alfred R. Glancy III, Mrs. Peter W. Stroh and Mark Valente Jr. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 833-0710. Extension 224.

A Taste of Art

For a delightful spring excursion, check out the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Council of Sponsors' "Gallery Gala — A Taste of Art in Birmingham," set for Sunday, May 20. A dozen of Birmingham's most prestigious galleries, all within walking distance of one another, have agreed to open their doors from 2 to 5 p.m. that day for the Sponsors' tour.

They'll offer a variety of art, from the Earth and Me's function and artistic pottery to the Sheldon Ross Gallery's German Expressionist prints to handmade paper art by Nancy Albertson, a former Pointer who now works in South Carolina, on view at the Carol Hooberman Gallery. Howard Nordlund, whose work hangs in many Pointe homes, is opening his gallery for the tour, and 10 women photographers will be featured in a diversified show at the Pierce Street Gallery, and...

Well, I could go on and on, but having participated in a similar tour sponsored a few months ago by the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, all I can say is — "Go!" You'll have a great time.

Tickets for the "Taste of Art" are $15 per person, including a 1 p.m. fortifying brunch at the Midtown Cafe. Transportation is not included, but you can make your own way to Birmingham, right? I mean: it's not as if it were Toledo... and you'll want your own car, to be able to move on/off at will.

Reservations are limited, with a deadline of Friday, May 18: a week from tomorrow. Tickets are available at the War Memorial (881-7511) and come with a map listing the addresses and locations of the galleries and the cafe.

Schedule May 'Spring Fling' at Memorial Church Tuesday

Celebrate the season with members and friends of the Women's Association of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church next Tuesday, May 15, at a "Spring Fling" — a day offering something for everyone, from a mini-sale to a Cookbook Luncheon to a book review.

The program begins with the mini-sale, running from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on the first and third floors of the church. Garden statuary will be available, along with terrariums and Serendipity's selection of potichomania (decoupage on glass) created by local artists.

Second Chance resale promises a group of designer dresses and attractive draperies. The Variety Corner's stock includes spring candies. There'll be aprons aplenty, and a Bake Sale, and a chance to buy the "Fruits of the Harvest" cookbook at two different locations.

Among those involved in planning/presenting the mini-sale are Margery Ciavola, Joyce Edwards, Linda Gregg, Audrey Henry, Marjorie Hirt, Louise Hoyt, Caryl Kerber, Evelene Malcolm, Martha Nyboer, Lois Sheridan, Sallie Spitzley, Ann Stone, Inge Vincent and Jane Warren. They have many assistants.

Luncheon, featuring "Fruits of the Harvest" recipes, will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Cost is $4 per person. Reservations are required, and should be made by calling the church office, 882-5330, no later than noon Monday, May 14.

Patricia Brand, Jean Carter, Jean Hodges and Amy Sanders are in charge of food preparation. Alice Brown, Doris Jahnke and Virginia Main are responsible for dining room service. Sally Schueler is doing the table centerpieces.

Mrs. Wilber M. Brucker Jr. will review Gaily Sheehy's newest book "Pathfinders," at an open meeting of the Memorial Church Women's Book Review Group at 1 p.m. Her program will conclude at 2 p.m.

"Pathfinders" is the up-beat best seller that explains how the ordinary, predictable crises of adult life can be overcome and a sense of well-being maintained at every stage of life.

Doris Shover Brucker, a graduate of Wellesley College, has a deep commitment to family, church and community. She is president of Memorial Church's board of trustees and a five-year member of the Health Occupations Council of Michigan, a past-president of the Junior League of Detroit and the league's current sustainer chairman.

She has been president of the Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, a member of University Liggett School's board of trustees and president of the Understudies for Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre.

She will be introduced by Mrs. Arthur Hillegas, group chairman. Doris is a popular reviewer of long standing in the community, as well as in the group; in fact, it was the Memorial Church Women's Group that started her on her way as a book reviewer over 10 years ago.

Promotion for "Spring Fling" is being handled by Mary Grace Adams, Jessie Davies, Kristen Holm, Lucy Kenn and Jane Warren. The public is welcome at any and all of the day's activities.

Fontbonne funds...

The St. John Hospital Fontbonne Auxiliary raised more than $30,000 at its annual Spring Fashion Show held recently at the Hillcrest Country Club where over 1,000 guests viewed fashions from Dawood Boutique. Proceeds from the event will be used to purchase necessary equipment for the care of critically ill children. Instrumental in the success of the afternoon were (left to right) MRS. JAMES W (Sharon) SNYDER JR., Fontbonne president; MRS. JAMES J. (Gayle) BOUTROUS, general co-chairman of the fashion show; SISTER VERENICE MC QUADE, SSJ, vice-president, Patient-Community Services, St. John and Director of the Auxiliary; MRS. MICHAEL K. (Jan) BEIZAI, general chairman; and NEAL SHINE, senior managing editor of the Detroit Free Press and guest commentator.

Grand Marais Club to meet

After a noon luncheon Monday, May 14, in the home of Mrs. Ellsworth Allison, members of the Grand Marais Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will hold their annual meeting at 1 p.m. The afternoon program will feature Jean Wilds, a Michigan State University student, sharing her experience during six months in Belgium as a worker with the 4-H Club program. Co-hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Frank Welcenbach and Mrs. Frank Perkin.

Mr. McPharlin weds in April

James Michael McPharlin and Dianne Carduck exchanged marriage vows Saturday, April 14, in Old Saint Mary's Church in downtown Detroit. After a vacation in St. Thomas, the McPharlin's will take up residence on Oxford Road.

Father Muka and Deacon John Hubbarth, a cousin of the bridegroom, officiated at the 1:30 o'clock ceremony which was followed by a reception at Alcamo's in St. Clair Shores.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Carduck Jr., of Warren, wore an ivory Victorian-style gown which featured a cathedral length train, bishop sleeves and was accented by English ivory lace on the bodice. A band of flowers held her fingertip length veil. She carried a cascade arrangement of English ivy and white and pink roses.

Honor matron Suzanne Lieder and bridesmaids Marybeth Rudzinski, Kathryn Carduck, of Denver, Colo., sisters of the bride, Mary McPharlin, a sister of the bridegroom, and Jenny Ballew, a niece of the bridegroom, wore tea length dresses of ivory crochet knit, with rose-colored sashes. Each attendant carried an English oval nosegay of pink miniature carnations, spider mums, heather and baby's breath and wore a sprig of pink miniature carnations and English ivory in her hair.

Mr. McPharlin, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McPharlin, of Allard Road, asked James Lieder to act as best man. Ushers included the bridegroom's brothers, Thomas and Frank McPharlin, Chris Martin, and Jeremy Ballew, the bridegroom's nephew.

The mother of the bride wore a street length, cap-sleeved dress of light mauve. She accented her outfit with matching mauve shoes, white pearls and pearl earrings and wore a wrist corsage of flowers in various rose shades. The mother of the bridegroom chose a powder blue dress, mid-calf in length, which featured a full, satin skirt and a layered chiffon top and short

Sacco-Angeleri vows are said

When they return from an ocean cruise to the Virgin Islands, the Bahamas, Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic, Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Felice Sacco will make their home in Fraser, in a house built by Mr. Sacco.

Lisa Marie Angeleri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Angeleri, of Perrien Place, and Mr. Sacco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Domenico Sacco, of Detroit, exchanged marriage vows Friday, April 6, in St. Joan of Arc Church. The 5:30 o'clock ceremony, at which the Reverend Thomas G. Rice officiated and Mrs. Patrick (Mary Beth) McBride, a cousin of the bride, was lector, was followed by a reception at the Gourmet House.

The bride wore a traditionally designed gown of filmy chiffon featuring a Sweetheart neckline. Tiny faux seed pearls and sequins on imported Alencon and silk Venice lace trimmed the gown's bodice and sleeves; the scalloped hemline of the gown's cathedral length train of Alencon and Venice lace was trimmed in embroidered Brussels lace.

A Juliet cap accented with seed pearls held an extended cathedral length veil adorned with appliques and Brussels lace to match the gown. The bride wore a single diamond pendant on a gold chain, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a cascade of white silk baby mums, ivy, stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

Dressed in a rainbow array of pastel colored, full length taffeta gowns were honor maid Renee Mattiacci, a cousin of the bride, whose sky blue gown matched the color of the one worn by flower girl Loredana Volpe, a niece of the bridegroom; and bridesmaids Marie Angeleri and Dani Hanus, sisters of the bride, and Nancy Dinan, Rhonda Hoover and Sue Kunselman. Each gown featured a ruffle at one shoulder accented with a matching rosette; the flower girl's gown had a flounce ruffle extending from each shoulder and forming a V-neckline.

Each attendant carried a bouquet of silk flowers in assorted pastel colors; the maid of honor's bouquet was blue with white accents and Miss Volpe carried a flower girl's white basket with blue and white silk flowers inside.

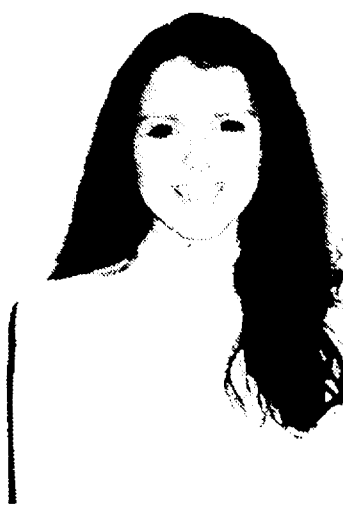

Mr. Sacco asked Sam Angeleri, a brother of the bride, to serve as best man. Ushers included the bridegroom's brother, Aldo Sacco, and Chuck DiStefano, John Duglosz, Maurice Genari and Randy Kenney. David Volpe acted as ring bearer for his uncle.

The mother of the bride wore a long sleeved jacket, trimmed with pearl and crystal buttons over her long, champagne colored moire gown. The dress featured small shoulder straps and a bodice trimmed completely with small faux seed pearls and crystal beads. She wore a wrist corsage of fresh deep pink roses and baby's breath.

The mother of the bridegroom also chose a formal length gown, her's a mauve chiffon which had a Bugle beaded bodice and long sleeves accented with the same beading at the cuffs. Her wrist corsage was fashioned of fresh light colored roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Mary Angeleri, of East Detroit, wore a formal length gown and a wrist corsage of fresh flowers for her granddaughter's wedding. The bride's other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cussigh, of Roseville, were unable to attend, but sent their best wishes.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Cussigh, of Brooklyn, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Libecki, of Hoffman Estates, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. John Lucchino, of Windsor, Ont.; and Ms. Francesca Sacco, of Bayonne, N.J.

The new Mrs. Sacco was graduated from Grosse Pointe North High School in 1982 and is currently employed at Westock Corporation. The bridegroom studied in Italy and owns Rialto Construction Company.

June wedding plans are being made by Susan Ruth Zavela and Michael Blane Bamford whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Dan Zavela, of North Renaud Road.

Miss Zavela was graduated from Our Lady Star of the Sea High School. She received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree, major in Graphic Design, and an art education certificate from the University of Michigan, where she affiliated with Zeta Tau Alpha. She also served as executive officer, public relations, for the Panhellenic Association.

Mr. Bamford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Bamford, of Kerby Road, was graduated from Grosse Pointe South High School and holds an associate degree from Macomb County Community College. He plans to graduate soon from Wayne State University, with a degree in Mechanical Engineering.

The bride-elect is employed by C & G Publishing Inc., Warren; her fiancé works for Burroughs Corporation in Detroit.

When she says 'come to the Faire,' people listen.

By Peggy O'Connor

Back in her working days, Irene Blatchford's fellow employees often teased her about her tough approach to business. "They used to say: 'Here comes Irene with her big, black whip. They were kidding but it was true: I WAS tough,'" Irene recalls.

She had to be tough. Thirty years ago, women did not make it in a male-oriented business like banking without being tough, working hard, and tackling jobs that many men couldn't or wouldn't handle. Irene Blatchford did all of that... and wound up being the first woman in this area to be made a trust officer.

Chicago native Irene married Richard Blatchford at 18. When he enlisted in the services in World War II, Irene enlisted in a career for herself. "Dick was in mortgages and lending. I wanted to keep up with things so I could keep him up to date when he got home. That's how I became an outside man."

At the time, Household Finance was looking for an outside man, someone to interview loan applicants, check up on purchases, try to collect on defaulted loans. It wasn't the kind of job women did.

"I got turned down because they wanted a man and because they didn't think I was tough enough. So I told 'em off... and they hired me. That showed them I was tough enough," Irene chuckles.

After Chicago, the Blatchfords lived briefly in Kansas and California before ending up in Detroit, where Dick's parents lived. Shortly after arriving here, Irene visited a friend and walked out with a job at Michigan Bank. There she did everything — teller, teaching tellers, you name it. The only problem was that Irene hadn't been born 10 years later; as it was, women just weren't made officers. So she moved on.

IRENE WORKED at Public Bank, then for Bank of the Commonwealth, where she attained that coveted trust officer and assistant vice-president position and put in many happy years before her retirement two years ago.

"It was a rewarding experience, even though they made it tough for women when I started out. The last 10 years I worked women were getting positions they deserved... some got them even when they didn't deserve it.

"I don't regret having had to work for what I got. I feel that if you make your mark you should be paid for it, but it shouldn't be handed to you on a silver platter," Irene says.

As a result of her hard work, things pretty much fell into place for Irene during her working years. And when she decided to retire, she made plans to make sure her non-working years would go just as smoothly.

"Before I retired, I made up my mind that I wasn't ready to just sit. I like involvement, I want to be involved. But I'm not just the usual housewife type, I don't like to sew. And I don't enjoy committee work, so I looked around."

And found plenty to do. Irene admits to being an actress at heart and she found Theatre Arts, the all-women theatre group, her "cup of tea." Several Theatre Arts members were also Docents of the War Memorial and they convinced Irene that the Docents couldn't exist another minute without her... and vice versa.

"Well, I had attended several functions at the War Memorial and found it to be a good place, very community-oriented. And I'm community-oriented. So I joined the Docents and was honored with the chairmanship.

"Actually, no one else would do it," Irene laughs. "But I'm having a great time."

The Docents are almost literally tour guides. They are walking, talking, history books chock full of information on the War Memorial and all its aspects. "We take groups around, show them the house, the furniture, give them the history. You know what I enjoy about being a Docent? I love to see people really learning about the War Memorial, the Alger House the ballroom. It's an eye-opener for people who come from other areas.

"We really have a unique community center here. And I have a great time showing it to people," Irene says.

SHE SAYS SHE learns something every day, not that Irene Blatchford hasn't already put in a lifetime full of learning. She's a graduate of the Northwestern University Trust School and spent one year studying at the University of Warsaw. Irene speaks, reads and writes Polish and makes a mini-hobby of showing up at places, introducing herself as the very British-sounding "Mrs. Blatchford" and shocking them all with her fluent Polish speech.

But if hard work is Irene's vocation, and things Polish her avocation then learning is a continuing process and the Docents a big part of that.

"It's funny, English was always my favorite subject and history was way down the list. But what we do, the tours and the War Memorial's history, that's different. We're talking about something that exists, something that's current. That kind of history I like," Irene says.

Right now though, the past is what's current for Irene. She's co-chairing the very first Renaissance Faire at the War Memorial this Sunday, May 13. That's Mother's Day, but Irene thinks the War Memorial has come up with a perfect way to show a favorite mother a good time.

"I think it's going to be a magnificent day and I don't know of a 'mom' who wouldn't love it," Irene says.

Moms, grandmoms, parents, kids and everybody else have a treat in store for them at the "Faire." It's an idea that Service League president Mrs. Carl Kasza came up with a long time ago. "She thought of it and I sold it," Irene says.

From 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. there will be wandering minstrels, jugglers, jesters, food, fun and flat out entertainment.

The program goes like this: 10:30 a.m., Elite Fencing Club; 10:30, Midwest Highland Dancers, John Goodenough, piper; 11 a.m., Dick Waskin Puppets; 11:30, The Choraliers, directed by Margaret Lindner; noon, Dick Waskin Puppets and Elite Fencing; 12:30, War Memorial Dancers directed by Mary Ellen Cooper; 1 p.m., Renaissance Brass Quintet; 1:30, The Choraliers; 2 p.m., Renaissance Brass; 2:30, Midwest Highland Dancers; 3 p.m., Dick Waskin Puppets; 3:30, Renaissance Brass; 4 p.m., GPWM Dancers; 4:30, raffle.

The Port Sanilac Players... who boast Grosse Pointe members will roam the grounds in authentic Renaissance costume.

Irene will be around to make sure things go smoothly. "Oh, yes. That's me again, the overseer with the big, black whip," and promises a fun time for all. She even plans to get tough with the weatherman in order to arrange for perfect Renaissance Faire weather. Considering Irene's past record, the weatherman would be wise to

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a bouquet of FRESH IDEAS for FRESH ASPARAGUS: the delicious vegetable that is only 66 calories per pound and loaded with healthful vitamins.

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP

1-1/2 lbs. fresh asparagus
3-1/2 cups chicken broth
1-1/2 cups evaporated skimmed milk
3 Tbsp. flour
Salt and white pepper to taste
1/2 cup cold water
2 Tbsp. unsalted margarine
1/2 tsp. onion juice

Remove scales from asparagus. Wash thoroughly. Break off tough ends from tips; trim off tough part of ends; slice trimmed ends thinly and drop into 2 cups boiling chicken broth. Cook until tender, about 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, cut tips in 1/2-inch lengths and cook in 3-quart saucepan in remaining 1-1/2 cups chicken broth 6 to 8 minutes. Add milk, and a thin paste made by blending flour, salt and pepper in 1/2 cup cold water. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Turn cooked asparagus ends into blender and puree. Add puree to soup. Reheat to boiling; add margarine and onion juice. (For an unusually delicious flavor, add 1-1/2 Tbsp. dry Vermouth and serve with a very little dusting of nutmeg.) Makes 6 servings.

Calories per serving about 125.

ROQUEFORT ASPARAGUS

1 lb. fresh asparagus
5 Tbsp. unsalted margarine
3 Tbsp. white wine vinegar
3-1/2 Tbsp. Roquefort cheese
Steam the asparagus spears. Meanwhile, heat margarine until it melts; add vinegar and crumbled Roquefort cheese. Stir constantly until cheese is thoroughly melted. Serve warm, sauce over hot asparagus. Makes 4 servings.

SPAGHETTI WITH ASPARAGUS

1 slice Italian ham, chopped
1/2 lb. asparagus, cut into slivers
1/2 cup water
1 tsp. chicken stock base
1/2 lb. vermicelli
1/2 cup evaporated skimmed milk
1/4 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese

Tomato wedges-parsley (optional)

Heat margarine and oil in saucepan over medium heat. Saute onion until golden brown. Add ham and saute briefly. Add asparagus, water and stock base. Reduce heat and simmer about 15 minutes.

Cook spaghetti in lightly salted water until al dente, about 5 to 6 minutes. Drain well and return to pot. Add asparagus mixture and evaporated skimmed milk and cook over medium heat until warmed through. Top with Parmesan cheese before serving to 4. Garnish with thin tomato wedges and parsley sprigs, if desired.

Even Irene, who when asked to describe herself once said she was a "person who appears calm and collected... but isn't!" is getting excited about the "Faire." It's typical of the type of involvement she wanted to create for herself after her "tough" working days were done. And she was successful.

"It's all been fun. And as long as I can, I hope to keep on doing what I'm doing."

Impressions

It was a spring weekend full of the nicest kind of sports impressions.

The Neighborhood Club opened its T-ball league at the Maire School diamonds last Saturday. I accompanied my favorite 5 year-old and her father to the festivities. It was our first experience with T-ball and it turned out to be a day which won't soon be forgotten.

The 5 year-old's dad bought her a Reggie Jackson model mitt. The mitt was properly prepared and oiled by dad and came complete with an as-told-by-father history of Jackson. The 5 year-old's aunt couldn't resist throwing in the part about how they call Reggie Jackson "Ballpark Frank" for his hot dog's approach to the sport. Well, the kid thought it was funny.

T-ball is a great game for little kids. Everybody bats each inning, kids hit from tees and learn how to hit while doing it and every game ends in a tie. The coaches were patient and helpful, the spirit of fun was bigger than the spirit of competition and the smiles on every face couldn't have been wider.

The 5 year-old did pretty well, in her aunt's utterly objective opinion. At bat, she made contact with the ball and seemed to never tire of running after the ball in throwing practice. (They should give some thought to calling it throw and chase practice).

It was a great morning and I don't know who was more excited and pleased with the whole thing — the 5 year-old, her father or her aunt. And I'm with her father: we don't know if we can get used to the sight of a ballplayer blowing kisses to her adoring public from the on-deck circle.

But we'll try.

It was a bitterly cold Friday afternoon and the girls' soccer teams from South High and Our Lady Star of the Sea High School were playing in the rain at Brownell Field.

South's girls don't have a lockerroom. They put up and take down their own soccer nets after every game and practice. Large enthusiastic crowds do not flock to see them play. Yet on Friday, both squads put plenty of spirit and effort into what was otherwise an ordinary high school soccer game.

It's something to see a look of disappointment on girls' faces when they leave the game for a substitute. To want to play that badly must be a great feeling. Those who were there to watch in the chill thought so too; they never ceased to shout words of encouragement.

There were pretty passing plays, nice defensive moves and a never-ending effort on the part of both teams.

Maybe next time, they'll throw in some sun.

Every time I think there's nothing left to laugh about in sports, something worth a chuckle comes along.

Like the "60 Minutes" segment last Sunday which focused on Italian baseball. Yes, Virginia, they play baseball in Italy.

Babe Ruth

Farms-City year begins

The Farms-City All-American League opened its Babe Ruth baseball season last Saturday as the Brewers beat the Angels, 8-7, with a six-run sixth inning.

Phil Orton was the winning pitcher for the Brewers in relief. Bob Osborne, Mark Nesler and Dave Grundman had three hits each. Ilya Snyder and Orton also had two hits and Brad Levitan contributed two doubles to the Brewers' attack. Tom Brusch was the losing pitcher for the Angels.

The Rangers opened the season with a 13-1 victory over the Twins. Tom Liliensiek pitched a fine game for the Rangers, striking out nine Twin batters. Liliensiek and Dave Cope had two hits each to pace the Rangers. Tim Jerome had a double and made several outstanding plays at third; Eric London completed an unassisted double play at first to stop a Twins' threat. Tom Weyhing also made a fine defensive play.

Rob Kinnard pitched for the Twins. Jonas Rodgers knocked in the lone Twin run and did a fine job in relief.

The Farms-City American League will open its season this Saturday, May 12. The Yankees will take on the Tigers at 10 a.m. and the Indians will play the Red Sox at 1 p.m.; both games are at Kerby Field.

THE PARK

The Park's Babe Ruth League will open its major league season Saturday, May 12, at South High field. Opening day contests will pit the East Area Builders Phillies against Valente's Braves at 11 a.m. followed by the defending champion Saros Real Estate Padres against the McNamara Associates Dodgers at 2 p.m.

Ninety boys aged 13 to 15 are participating this year on four major and two minor league teams. The major league schedule will feature inter-city competition against Woods-Shores and Farms-City teams for the first time. A playoff series to determine a Grosse Pointe area champion will be held at the end of the regular season. The Minor league teams compete in a league with five Farms-City squads.

The Minor league season opened last Saturday with Dietz Printing Company Cardinals defeating the Astros, 7-2. Joe Rosasco went the first five innings on the mound for the Cards and was credited with the win. Rosasco aided his own cause with two hits, including a double. Pat DeLaere hurled the final two innings.

Chris Gross went the distance for the Astros and was tagged with the loss. Gross had three hits.

South can't kick about start

By Denise Ruwart
South High

South High's girls' varsity soccer team isn't kicking over its 4-1 start this season. The Blue Devils continued their winning ways last week, coming back from spring break to beat Warren Fitzgerald and Our Lady Star of the Sea.

On May 1, facing gusty winds and a strong Fitzgerald squad, South bested both in a 2-0 victory. Sophomore Claire Busse knocked in the first goal to give the Devils a 1-0 lead at the half. Sophomore Susan Saad pounded in the second goal on a pass from sophomore Cindy Bowman to cinch the victory. Goalkeeper Denise Ruwart held Fitzgerald scoreless, with help from defensemen June and Kelly Langs.

The Devils then dominated Our Lady Star of the Sea, 6-0. Busse scored five goals, including one from 30 yards out. Bowman, with her first goal of the season, added the sixth tally for South.

This week finds South in its toughest part of the season, with four games in five days. The girls will be looking for improvement in their 4-1 record as they prepare to face Utica Stevenson, Fraser, Bishop Gallagher (tournament action) and Chippewa Valley.

In junior varsity action, South's JV team opened its season with a 3-2 victory over Detroit Country Day School on April 17. Freshman Sarah Dow and Becky Steffes led the attack for the Devils with Dow scoring two of three.

The JV was disappointed one day later, however, dropping a 2-0 contest to rival North High. There was a minor protest from the South squad, which alleged that several North varsity players were in the JV lineup. But South coach Bill Simopolous felt that his girls "played a smart game." He said, "I'm pleased with their efforts. In my eyes, it was a win."

The JV bounced back on May 1 to defeat Bloomfield Andover, 2-0, with Steffes and freshman Torrey Ollison each scoring for the Devils. On May 3, Steffes continued her fine play by scoring both goals in the Devils' 2-0 win over Regina High.

Coach Simopolous says he feels that the girls are off to a fine start and hopes that they can continue playing well. South's next game is Monday, May 14, at home against Regina.

MacDonald letters

Brown University freshman Larry MacDonald, of the Pointe, earned a varsity letter for his performance this season as a member of the Bruins' men's swim team.

An individual medley specialist, MacDonald finished the year with 6.75 points, including one first place finish and 1.75 relay points. The son of Lawrence and Kathleen MacDonald, of Harvard Road, MacDonald won four letters in swimming at South High. He took All-American honors in the 200 IM, 100 fly and 400 free relay as a senior last year.

Belle Isle bike race is May 19

The "Wolverine 200" 25th annual Belle Isle bicycle marathon sponsored by The Detroit News, Miller High Life and radio station WMJC "Magic" 95 FM, will begin Saturday May 19 at 10 a.m. with riders bicycling for up to 24 hours.

The ride began in 1960 as members of the Wolverine Sports Club dared one another to ride 200 miles in 24 hours. Today it is a personal achievement ride open to anyone 12 years or older. "This event is one of many occurring as part of Michigan Bicycling Week, May 12 to 20," said Dale Hughes, race coordinator of the Wolverine Sports Club.

The entry forms, available at Detroit area bicycle shops, must be postmarked no later than May 10 with the $10 entrance fee. Participation is limited for safety in riding. All entrants receive a "Wolverine 200" T-Shirt, a patch, a bib with their riding number, two free nights of camping on Belle Isle beginning at 6 p.m. Friday, May 18.

Riders must have a bicycle that is "street legal" which can be determined at any area bicycle shop.

North baseball team gets in swing — finally

By Rick Markel
North High

Slowly but surely, North's varsity baseball team is getting into the swing of things. Sporting a 10-5 record, the Norsemen have fought off poor play. There is still room for improvement, but the hitting and pitching is picking up. A 9-1 victory over Harper High indicated good fortunes ahead.

The big story in the Harper Woods game was Norsemen's Dennis D'Agnes's no-hitter. D'Agnes was in complete control as he dominated the Pioneer's line up. In gaining his fifth win of the year, D'Agnes struck out 13 batters. All head Coach Frank Sumbera could say was that Dennis "pitched a great game."

Another plus for North in the game was the hitting. The Norsemen displayed power with Mike Hall's three-run homer and balance with a 15-hit attack. Included in the hitting spree was a three-hit game turned in by Dave Waldeck.

On the very same day that they beat Harper Woods, North also lost a Bi-County league game. It's first league loss in two years, 8-2 to Lakeview. Lakeview, like most of the league teams, has improved. North, in first place right now, will be hard pressed to repeat as league champs. "They just hit the ball well and put it in play," Sumbera said.

Despite the Lakeview loss many things are getting better for North. Besides the hitting (which also featured a 12-run effort against Brablec), the pitching is coming around.

D'Agnes, as exemplified by his no-hitter, is pitching superb ball. Dennis isn't the only Norsemen pitching well, as Dan Kopitzke is also doing a fine job. Another important moundsmen, Mark Bilkovic, is really coming into his own.

Waldeck is knocking the cover off the ball while even the running game is getting better. "We're learning more," Sumbera says of his inexperienced team. One of the more important factors is the defense. North, which at one time would commit as many as six errors in a game, has cut that to only one or two bobbles a game.

The Norsemen are entering the most competitive part of the Bi-County league schedule. With a lot of doubleheaders coming up, this squad will be put to a test. "These next two weeks will be the tell-tale of the season," Sumbera said.

The Norsemen will host a doubleheader today, May 10, at 3:30 against L'Anse Creuse. On Wednesday, May 16, they will host South Lake at 3:30 p.m.

It's been tough going for North's J.V. baseball team. Carrying a 3-7 mark this year, the team has had some bad days.

Inexperience is probably the biggest thing going against North. Eleven of the 17 J.V. players are freshmen and the hitting, which has since picked up, wasn't too good earlier in the year. Defensively, they've suffered from the natural mental lapses that all young teams face.

Pitching has been a strength. If some of the walks could be eliminated, the team could be at .500. But like with most things, the pitchers usually get a bad break.

North recently swept a doubleheader from Anchor Bay by the scores of 11-1 and 10-3. In the 11-1 victory freshmen Pat Kiline pitched a no-hitter and struck out 14.

Tracksters split

The varsity boys' track team pulled out a split in two meets of Bi-County league action. The results left North with a 5-2 record and in pretty good shape except for the fact that its 77-59 loss against Lakeview may trouble the Norsemen in the league race for the remainder of the season.

Taking first place finishes for North were Brian Bergeron in the discus event, Joe Carroll in the two mile run, and the 440 yd relay team. Considerably more impressive results came in a key 74-54 victory over league rival L'Anse Creuse. Highlighting the meet was Chris Bingham who placed first in both the 100 and 440 dashes for North. Lloyd Marks also won the 220 dash in the big victory.

They weren't the only stars, as Brian Bergeron once again won the discus throw. Both the 880 and 440 relay teams finished in first for North.

The girls' track team continued to excel as it swept two meets from L'Anse Creuse and Lakeview last week. This could be the year for North as it dominated both meets and the win over L'Anse Creuse broke a 40-meet winning streak L.C. had held.

Victories in the 800, 1600 and 3200 yard runs, along with a sweep in the 3200 and 1600 yard relays made the wins possible for North. Stacie Williams then added wins in the 100 and 200 yard dashes to complete the 84-43 triumph.

It's hard to believe that the girls' track team did even better in a 95-33 win over Lakeview. Williams continued her brilliant performances by taking the 100, 200, and 400 yard dashes. Meanwhile, Sue Roland cap-tered the high jump and 300 yard hurdles events for North. North then sealed the meet by winning all four relays plus the one and two mile runs.

The freshmen track team won a triple dual meet as it knocked off L'Anse Creuse North and Utica Ford 64-36-48. Super times were turned in by the 880 Relay team (1:44.7), the mile relay team (4:02.17). Also, Norsemen finished in second, third, and fourth in the long jump.

Tennis win

Having a fairly easy week, North's boys' tennis team managed to post a 6-1 victory over Rochester. Leading the way were Mark Young and Joe Karle who had to come from behind to win (in three sets) the No. 1 doubles match.

Kickers are hot

Hot! That's the best way to describe the girls' varsity soccer team at North. After two key victories and seven consecutive wins, the soccer team has emerged as the hottest team on North's sport's scene.

Prior to last week, Coach Guido Regelbrugge's group compiled a perfect 5-0 record. The trouble was that they hadn't been really tested. The victories were rather easy and North was never in much trouble. Then came Bishop Gallagher and Fraser.

North beat Gallagher, 5-1, and topped No. 8-ranked Fraser, 2-1.

Little League

Park teams open 1984 baseball season

The Cardinals, the defending Park Majors World Series champs, opened the 1984 season with a win over the Yankees. Pitchers Mike Rentz, Mike Montagne and Lance Debetes performed well. The Cards' offense was led by Rentz, Craig Kostecke and Dan Cummins, who each chipped in with home runs. Brian Rauch, Bill Saylor, Jim Pote and Pat O'Donoghue led the defense.

Peter Griem hit a three-run homer for the Yankees, who were led by the pitching of Matt Wysocki, Jason Bedsworth, Tom Moehring and Chad Hawkins.

St. Paul on win track

St. Paul's track team upped its record to 2-1 last weekend with a 61-29 win over Eastside Vicarate in a meet held at South High.

Fine performances were turned in by Dan Wilson, Bill Huntington, Julian Lubitz and Lew Echlin. Wilson turned in a 5 foot, 1 inch high jump; Huntington was first in the mile and Echlin first in the half-mile. Lubitz broke the school record in the long jump and placed first in the 200 meter.

St. Paul's girls' 400 meter relay team tied the school record of 58.7. Team members are Kelly Hackathorn, Marcy Pawlowski, Theresa Molloy and Kristen Wenzler.

St. Paul's next meet is Sunday, May 13, at 4:30 p.m. at South.

St. Clare 4-0 in baseball

St. Clare of Montefalco's baseball team remained undefeated, as it registered two more decisions last weekend to run its streak to four.

Guardian Angel was a 9-3 victim May 5. Keith McQuerry was the winning pitcher, but he needed help from Doug Lucas who came on in the fifth with the score 5-3 to register the save. McQuerry fanned seven and gave up three hits, while Lucas whiffed three and yielded no hits.

Lucas also contributed a double and a single, drove in three runs and stole four bases. Marcus Wysocki also singled to drive in a run.

On Sunday, the Falcons defeated previously unbeaten St. Joan of Arc, 2-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Derek Schafran. Schafran fanned seven while issuing only three passes. Only one runner reached third base.

Pinch-hitter Jason Whelan broke a scoreless tie in the bottom of the fourth with a clutch single with two out and two on to score Chris Rivers with the go-ahead run.

St. Clare added an insurance run in the fifth, when Lucas singled to score Derald Penn, who had collected his second hit of the game.

The Falcons will be tested again on Saturday, May 12, when they meet once-beaten St. Matthew, at 11 a.m., at Balduck Park. On Sunday, they take on East Detroit St. Veronica, at noon, at South High.

Sports Week

Except what passes for baseball in Italy is oddly reminiscent of old Abbott and Costello routines. And bad ones, at that.

I'm still laughing about the film of an Italian baseball game they showed during the segment. In it, the catcher lost the ball on a bunt and still managed to tag out two runners in run-downs. He never threw the ball, he just chased one guy back to third and the second runner all the way to second. I think the catcher would have gotten the runner at first too, if he hadn't used up all his oxygen chasing down the first two.

What does a guy do on a sunny spring Sunday in Grosse Pointe Woods?

If he's like the kid I saw last Sunday, he dons his Montreal Canadiens' hockey jersey, baseball cap and hockey gloves and finds a vacant lot to practice his slapshot. If there is a more solitary image than that of that kid, alone, taking shot after shot against a brick wall, I don't know what it is.

But I'll bet he was having a great time.

Womanpower less costly than manpower

The point that is often missed about contemporary manpower is that it is also womanpower.

Over the past two decades, the female workforce participation rate grew from 24.2 to 33.7 percent in North America, from 22.7 to 28 percent in Oceania and from 29.3 to 32.2 percent in Europe.

In the OECD area, about two of every three workforce entrants between 1970 and 1981 were women; 30.3 million out of a total increase of 46.4 million.

This increased female participation in the labor force, however, has not yet been accompanied by a corresponding or equivalent move toward genuine sex equality at work.

That the world of labor is still a man's world is never more apparent than on payday. International Labor Office findings show that in some countries men earn more than twice as much as women working in the same sector. In addition, the proportion of females in the "low-paid" category is much higher than that of men — up to three or four times higher.

Women's problems at the workplace, their reasons and possible solutions are discussed in a study, recently published by the ILO, which points out that women workers are "segregated" to a small number of sectors and occupations in which they generally hold unskilled, repetitive and stressful jobs offering little stability and few career opportunities. Examples:

- A study carried out in France showed that half the assembly line workers were women, though they made up only 30 percent of the labor force in the branches concerned.
- A survey in the European Communities revealed 9.2 million part-time workers, of whom 8 million were female. Women part-timers are often the first to be laid off when business is bad. They are usually landed with dead-end jobs, and their social security coverage is full of loopholes.

• Many women do clerical work. The advent of the "electronic office" may be a mixed blessing for them. The new technology makes some jobs more interesting and challenging, while others become more boring and unrewarding. The trouble is that men usually reap the benefits; women are assigned to stressful, low-skilled posts.

Moreover, the ranks of working mothers are swelling. For instance, the employment rate of mothers with children under 3 years of age is 32 percent in the Federal Republic of Germany, 43 percent in France and 80 percent in the German Democratic Republic.

When they finish work, these women have a second shift to do at home. Even in Sweden, where it was recognized early on that family roles need to be restructured, some 51 percent of women and only 18 percent of men spend 20 hours or more a week on household tasks and child care," the study reports.

Recent years have seen many improvements in employment and working conditions of women — but a lot remains to be done, particularly with respect to equality of opportunity and treatment.

Form new ABWA chapter in area

A newly formed Lac Ste. Clare Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association, established in late April following a brief business meeting and buffet at Dawson's Clinton Tavern, Mount Clemens, plans to sponsor an educational scholarship and participate in hosting ABWA's Oct. 17 to 21 national convention in Detroit.

The chapter's next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, May 23. Virginia James, membership chairman, may be contacted at 263-0030 for further information and reservations.

CITY OF Grosse Pointe Woods MICHIGAN

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON THE PROPOSED 1984-85 BUDGET PROPOSED PROPERTY TAXES AND THE PLANNED EXPENDITURES OF FEDERAL REVENUE SHARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of Grosse Pointe Woods will be meeting on Monday, May 21, 1984, at 7:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers of the Municipal Building, 29025 Mack Plaza, for the purpose, among other things, of conducting a public hearing on the proposed 1984-85 General Fund Budget, the proposed planned expenditures of federal revenue sharing monies and the proposed property tax levy.

A copy of the proposed budget will be available for public inspection during regular business hours at the office of the City Administrator-Clerk. Public comments, oral or written, will be welcome at the public hearing on the aforesaid proposed General Fund Budget, federal revenue sharing expenditures and/or the proposed property tax.

PROPOSED 1984-85 GENERAL FUND BUDGET		Revenues
Expenditures		Debt Service Tax	$ 173,989
Debt Service	$ 173,989	EMS Tax	158,703
General Government	577,512	Operating Tax	3,406,671
Public Safety	2,546,824	Fines/Forfeitures	394,715
Public Works	1,576,784	Permits/Licenses	63,810
Parks & Recreation	413,918	Intergovernmental	1,156,369
Sundry	126,579	Miscellaneous	49,299
Total Expenditures:	$5,409,397	Total Revenues:	$5,409,397

STATEMENT OF POLICY

FOR PROPOSED EXPENDITURES OF FEDERAL REVENUE SHARING MONIES

Federal Revenue Sharing Monies in the amount of $75,752 are anticipated to be received in the City of Grosse Pointe Woods during the fiscal year 1984-85. Such monies are anticipated to be utilized for the maintenance and repair of the City's Local Street system.

TRUTH-IN-TAXATION STATEMENT

Last year (1983), the City of Grosse Pointe Woods levied 11.11 mills, $11.11 per $1,000 SEV, for general operating purposes. Because of a continuing decrease in the State Equalized Valuation of all existing real properties within the said City for the year 1984, the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, in order to maintain essential City services and programs and to continue its extensive repair and replacement program of its infrastructure system, therefore finds it necessary to increase its tax levy to 11.358 mills, $11.358 per $1,000 SEV, for general operating purposes. This results in a .248 mill per $1,000 SEV, or a 2.23% tax levy increase. Therefore, a net increase of $12.85 in actual tax dollars is anticipated for the average home having a $40,000 SEV assessment.

COMPARISON OF TAX LEVIES

	Current	Proposed
Debt Service - Electorate Approved	290 mills	348 mills
EMS Advanced Life Support - Electorate Approved	290 mills	290 mills
General Operating	10,999 mills	10,416 mills
Total Tax Rate	11.11 mills	11.358 mills

COMPUTATION OF TAX LEVY FOR AVERAGE HOME LOCALLY ASSESSED AT $40,000

Current 1983	$40,000 x .9484 SEV Factor	= 11.11 mills = 61111	= $ 421.47 tax dollars
Proposed 1984	$40,000 x 1.06 SEV Factor	= 11.358 mills = 61358	= $ 434.32 tax dollars
TOTAL TAX DOLLARS INCREASE			$ 12.85

ULS tennis team wins invitational for 10th consecutive year

The University Liggett School varsity tennis team won the 17th Annual ULS Invitational for the 10th consecutive year. The Knights scored 44 out of a possible 48 points in the May 4 tourney. Ann Arbor Pioneer finished second with 28 points, followed by North 18, Dearborn 15, South and Edsel Ford (each) 13, and South Haven 2.

ULS won seven of the eight flights and were consolation winners in the No. 4 Doubles. Individual flight winners for ULS were: Flax, 1st place at No. 1 singles; Steve Flax at No. 2 singles; Matt Ham at No. 3 singles; David Haggarty at No. 4 singles; Brian Hall and Rick Haggarty at No. 1 doubles; David Haggarty and Rick Haggarty at No. 2 doubles; and Sam Watson at No. 3 doubles. Mike Fozo and Andrew MacLeod were consolation winners at No. 4 doubles.

Winning this tournament by hand is a real credit to the outstanding players that we have had. I commend ULS Coach Bob Wood for the past 10 years of the invitational. Wood said he never finished higher than fourth." Wood added.

On Thursday, May 10, the Knights host South at 4 p.m. and then travel to Midland for the Dow Invitational on Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12. "One of our team goals this year was to finish in the top five for all high schools in Michigan," said Wood. "This weekend we will play Midland, Dow, Class A No. 1, Ann Arbor Huron, Class A No. 2, and East Grand Rapids, No. 2 Class B. This is tough competition, but we are used to it. The boys will be ready to face this stiff challenge."

The ULS JV tennis team finally won, but followed with a heart-breaking loss the very next day. The team's record is now 1-6.

After trouncing an outmanned Monroe Catholic Central 7-0 May 1, the Knights couldn't quite make it two in a row, as they lost to Detroit Country Day School (DCDS) 4-3 May 2.

Against DCDS, ULS jumped off to a 2-0 lead as Mike Fozo and Andrew MacLeod won their singles matches quite easily. Moments later the score was 1-1 for ULS, as Rob Glancy and the doubles team of Coley Connolly and Tony Malcoun lost, while Michael Baks and Fred Chang won.

That left it up to Jeff Lambrecht at No. 1 singles and the No. 2 doubles team of Paul Smith and Jeff Buhl. Smith and Buhl lost a marathon, 7-6, 3-6, 6-3, and Lambrecht was clipped 4-6, 7-5.

Coach Chuck Wright's JV plays South on the ULS courts at 5 p.m. on Thursday, May 10.

Soccer loss

It was a difficult week for the University Liggett School varsity soccer team as it lost two league games, one to Dearborn, 7-0 and another to Edsel Ford, 2-1.

Freshman Kim Wood scored two of the goals against Dearborn with an assist from Marg Barron. Her classmate Laura Kheleokian scored from an assist by Lori Huggert.

The Lady Knights led the Edsel Ford game 1-0 for the first 60 minutes of the game. Superior goal-tending by Wood kept ULS in the game. The only ULS goal was scored by Kheleokian, assisted by LaVarra Jones and Shelly Tho-bits. In the last moments of the game Edsel Ford put in a "fresh" team, and scored two quick goals to win the game.

Coach Candy Bousquet takes her team to Fordson on Thursday, May 10 for a 4:15 p.m. contest.

ULS even

The ULS varsity baseball team broke even last week losing to Bethesda 11-4, May 1, and beating Huron Valley Lutheran 11-4, May 4.

A seven Bethesda fifth inning and the incoming pitching of Joe Smith continued to stop the Knights on Tuesday. Sophomore Costa Papista had all three ULS hits on Friday, freshman pitcher Dominic Tringale picked up the win and helped his own cause with two hits.

Senior Oliver Binns had an excellent week at the plate, with a perfect sacrifice bunt, four walks, and four hits in four official at bats.

Coach Gaym Conley takes his team to Lutheran Northwest on Thursday, May 10 for a 4:30 p.m. contest.

The ULS junior varsity baseball team, coached by Al Devine, has completed a 2-3 record. The JV Knights won their April 16 opener 15-5 over Lutheran Northwest but then lost to Harper Woods, 13-1, April 19, and to Notre Dame, 15-3, April 25.

"We committed too many errors as well as mental mistakes in both losses," commented coach Devine.

After the two setbacks, the Knights bounced back on May 1, beating Southfield Christian 23-11. Mike French and Nick Noecker each had two hits, while Andrew Galsterer and Bob Williams pitched well.

Despite good pitching by Mike Swaney, the Knights lost to Lutheran East, 10-2, May 3. French again had two hits, one of them a double. John Petrilli also hit a double in the loss.

Coach Devine's team will try to bring its record up to .500 with a victory on its home field Thursday, May 10 against Lutheran North at 4:30 p.m. ed its season May 1, with a 7-5 victory over Grosse Pointe Academy. Seventh grader Bill Lucken was the winning pitcher. Second baseman Sanders Chae and shortstop Chris Adams had key hits, with catcher Rudy Stomisch turning in a steady defensive performance.

On Friday, May 4, ULS's record lapsed to 1-1 with a 17-1 whitewashing at the hands of Cranbrook. Adams started on the mound, and was relieved by Gordie Stewart after the barrage began in the second inning.

Lacrosse win

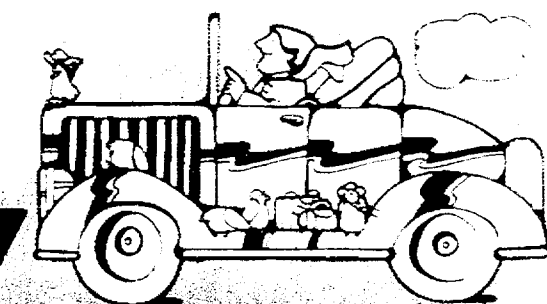

The University Liggett School varsity lacrosse team defeated Academy of the Sacred Heart, 10-0, May 4. Goals were scored by Amy Ottaway, Laurie Evans, Stacie Philbodeau, Windy White, Katie Thibodeau, Andrea Hirt, and Merrin Meade, who had a hat trick.

Coach Melinda Reuter's team faces Detroit Country Day School on their home field at 4:15 p.m. today, Thursday, May 10.
