Blue and gold forever

Okay, everybody out there who's a 1974 graduate of South High school, it's time to show a little of that famous "Blue Devil" school spirit.

The class of 1974 will be celebrating its 10-year reunion on July 14, at the Roostertail. While all class reunions are special, this one achieves total heaviosity because 1974 was the 50th class to graduate from South.

So far, response to the reunion has been light. Those planning the event even scheduled it on the 14th because they felt many out of town classmates would return for the hydroplane races scheduled downtown on the 15th.

Tickets to the reunion are $25 per person. For more information, contact Mary (Lee) Card at 882-0318 or Kim (Kotowski) Tocco at 792-4508.

A word to the wise, there will be a surprise quiz at the end of the evening.

Puppy love

Okay, what has 2,000 legs, lives in every state in the union plus numerous foreign countries and loves pets of all types?

That's easy. It's the "World Wide Pet Lover's Society,' founded by Farms resident Charles Tatham. Tatham said he established the society after being moved by actress Betty White's book titled "Pet Love," which chronicles the love, companionship and therapy pets provide their owners.

vide their owners. Tatham thought it might be nice to establish a sort of "pen pal" club for animal lovers, and started including flyers in the outgoing mail for his "Satellite Soap Company." The response was gratifying. According to Tatham, the non-profit society has 1,000 members so far and hopes to add an additional 4,000 members by the end of the year. He's been interviewed by seven radio stations and had stories published in the Chicago Sun Times and the Voters handed the Board of Education a decisive pat on the back in the June 11 election by defeating recall proposals against three members, returning the incumbent president to office and removing the one board member who voted against the majority.

The vote was 2-1 against the recall of trustees Jon Gandelot, Catherine Brierly and Ernest Buechler. Board president Joan Hanpeter won her fourth term in office with endorsements from 7,599 voters. Newcomer Fred Adams, who had opposed the recall, won the seat formerly held by Roger Mourad with 5,951 votes.

Incumbent board member Mourad, the only trustee who voted against Supt. Ken Brummel's plan to reorganize the school system, "I'm glad it was decisive. It will lost his seat on the board, receiving 4,807 votes. A close fourth was William Brownscombe, the young dentist who helped organize the fight against school closings, with 4,420 votes. Robert Radnick, of the Woods, who also opposed closing schools, won only 520 votes.

The recall vote was roughly 8,100-4,200 in all the districts. But the recall was successful in two elementary areas – Barnes, the school scheduled to close this fall, and Mason

Supt. Kenneth Brummel, wearing a t-shirt saying "Smile if you're opposed to the recall," said the vote "says something about the be good for the community," he added. The recall targets and Mrs. Hanpeter were delighted and anxious to begin what they described as a "healing process."

"I think the vote was decisive enough that, hopefully, it will put the issue (of closing Barnes school) to rest," Gandelot said. "The community had a good chance to look at the issues and it said to its officials 'you're doing a good job.' Now we must begin to heal the wounds. There has been so much bitterness.

Mrs. Hanpeter added the school system desperately needs the young people who made up much of the pro-recall forces.

But the winners Monday night Mrs.Brierly said did not interpret the vote as overwhelming support for school closings and reiterated their intentions to leave the issue alone for at least two more years.

"It's a mandate." said recall sur-vivor Buechler. "The voters said they believed that the board, after careful study of the declining enrollment problem, made a reasonable attempt to deal with it. It tells us we have to continue to look and reassess the situation," Buechler said. "But, I don't think it will be necessary to do anything for several years.

Mrs. Brierly, who also was targeted, said she saw the vote as 'essentially anti-recall.

"The message that came out is that people do support the board."

David Easlick. Jr., the man who organized the petition drive that put the recall on the ballot said his forces lost "because the school board allied itself with the forces that traditionally vote against the millage in Grosse Pointe.

In the process they have offended the parent groups that get out the 'yes' vote on millage cam-paigns," Easlick said.

'The school system may suffer. he added. "The end result of all this is we have a politically active group who will probably remain active.

Asked about his group's plans to use another method to halt the closing of Barnes school, Easlick said "we'll continue to work within the electoral process to reverse the decision.'

The regular terms of both Mrs. Brierly and Buechler end next June. Neither candidate has said yet if he or she will run again.

Election officials said 12,754 of the Pointes' more than 37,000 registered voters turned out in the Monday election. That number is more than double the turn out in recent contested school board elections but far below the 34,000 who voted in the last presidential race or 23,700 who voted in the 1982 state elections.

Unofficial total votes from each elementary voting precinct follow: • TROMBLY: Adams 509; Brownscombe 261; Hanpeter 630; Mourad 281; Radnick 29; recall, roughly, 622 no. 252 yes.

• DEFER: Adams 442; Brownscombe 397; Hanpeter 619; Mourad 406; Radnick 50; recall, roughly, 636 no. 382 yes.

• MAIRE : Adams Brownscombe 445; Hanpeter 586; Mourad 431; Radnick 35; recall, roughly, 606 no, 393 yes.

In one exchange, a woman from Birmingham was able to contact a man in Canada to find out more about her tortoise. Since he'd owned the same one for 50 years, she figured he could help. The society also appeals to persons owning birds, monkeys, bob-cats and other more or less exotic pets.

It costs nothing to join the society. Anyone interested in more information should send a self addressed, stamped envelope to the "World Wide Pet Lover's Society," Box 36351, Detroit 48236.

Guess what the kicker to this story is? Tatham doesn't even own a pet. 'It's true.'' he said over the phone with a sheepish laugh. "I just don't have the time to devote to a pet. But if I did have a pet, it would probably be a dog." Maybe there's a mailing list out there somewhere for would-be dog owners.

And the race is on!

To some people, heaven is a fast boat, a big lake, a good breeze and sunny blue skies. It's not hard to see why. When spinnakers are unfurled at the beginning of a race, as they were recently during the Detroit Yacht Club's 68th annual Memorial Day Week End Regatta, sailors and "landlubbers" alike can be captivated by the streamlined racers that swoop above the lake like multi-colored gulls. Yacht Club, in an effort to collect points to qualify for end of the season standings of the Detroit River Yachting Association (DRYA). "Tinker Toy" finished sixth in the race, but Alcott hopes to do better in the upcoming Windsor Yacht Club Race which begins tomorrow. It's a long distance race covering 60 miles, beginning just off Peche Island. Racers will finish sometime Saturday afternoon, June 16, after sailing throughout the night. Boats qualifying for the DRYA standings must compete in eight or nine of the 11 races scheduled for the season.

Woods adds $4 charge to water bills

By Mike Andrzejczyk

After several years of steady increases, Detroit's water and sewage department has dropped the rates it charges Grosse Pointe communities (except the Shores) for its services. But one city council decided last week not to pass that savings along to its customers

The Woods Council voted 6-1 to increase rates to homeowners by about 20 percent in order to finance improvements in the local water and sewage system. The rate the Woods is charged by the Detroit system for water and sewage treatment dropped 73 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The Woods council agreed to pass on just 24 cents of

Robb guilty, may face prison

By Susan McDonald

Grosse Pointe attorney David Robb Tuesday pled guilty in federal court to criminal violations of the Securities Investor Protection Act. He faces up to 30 months in prison under the terms of a plea agreement reached in the courtroom of the Honorable Horace Gilmore, judge in the Eastern District of Michigan.

No sentencing date was set for Robb. Judge Gilmore referred him to the U.S. Probation Department for preparation of a pre-sentence report.

Criminal charges were filed June 5 by the federal government against Robb, according to U.S. Attorney Leonard R. Gilman, They are similar to allegations contained in a civil suit brought last summer by the Securities Exchange Commission. The SEC alleged Robb embezzled $196,000 from the bankrupt investment company, Financial House, while Robb served as trustee of the firm from 1974 to 1983

Robb, 54, was the handsome, wellliked mayor of Grosse Pointe City from 1979 until his resignation last August. He had served on the council from 1973 and worked with a number of other community agencies including the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council and Swedish Trade Council

A life-long Grosse Pointer, Robb was socially prominent and member of several exclusive clubs. The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) charges were made public last July. It was believed to be the first time such charges had been brought against a courtappointed trustee by the commission

The firm Financial House failed in 1974 and its customers' claims were protected by the Securities Investor Protection Corp., a quasicubic feet to $16.54. But the council also agreed to tack on a $4-a-month service charged to some 7,000 households and businesses that use city water the system. By the end of the current fiscal year, the city will have depleted the reserves for improvements that it maintains in a separate enterprise fund for the system

The city also will change its billing schedule and will issue notices bi-monthly instead of quarterly to improve the system's cash flow, encourage the use of water and reduce residents' complaints about bills, Petersen said.

Under the new rates, an average resident will pay $186.94 a year in 1984-85, compared to last year's $140.95

Petersen acknowledged that while the rate increase may seem high, the city may be able to recoup some of it for homeowners in the future. Continued improvements in the system may result in lower fire. insurance rates in a couple of years, he said.

Councilman Paul Beaupre said he thought the city's rate was exorbitant. Money could be found in other funds to finance the improvements, he said, pointing out the Woods projected receiving $100,000 more in fines and violations than the budgeted amount.

Beaupre asked to defer the matter until the council had time to gather information about rates in adjoining cities but the motion died for lack of support.

Some 450 Grosse Pointe public school teachers are scheduled to vote today on a proposal to extend their current contract with the Board of Education through the 1986-87 school year.

The extension would give teachers the same two percent increase in base salaries and Cost of Living Adjustments (COLA) capped at three percent. In the last year of the contract COLA could reach four percent if the rate of inflation rises, according to Ronald Tonks, the school system's director of personnel.

The teachers' current pact with the school board extends through the 1984-85 school year

The contract extension was proposed as a means of providing stability to the school system in light of recent controversies and the impending departure of Supt. Kenneth Brummel, according to school board spokesman Bruce Kefgen. The school board recently completed contract negotiations with other employe groups, including secretaries and maintenance workers, so at least two years of "labor peace" could be provided if teachers agree to the extension, Kefgen said

James Garlough, president of the teacher's union, which is affiliated with the Michigan and National Education Association, said he is "not overly optimistic" about getting approval for the proposal

It is a chance for members to vote their heads on a contract without feeling it they vote 'no' they are going on strike tomorrow," Garlough said

Surprise

For the first time in its 45-year history, the Grosse Pointe News has used four color process printing on the front and back pages of this section.

In order to print the photo of sailboats above, four separate negative plates of the picture were developed. The page was then run through four separate units of the press, first picking up yellow, then red, then blue, then black colored inks. Those four inks make up all the shades you see in the photo above. We hope you like it.

Drifter charged in Pongrace murder

By Tom Greenwood

Police authorities hope the recent arrest of an Idaho man will clear up the mysterious death of Grosse Pointer Frederick Pongrace. Pongrace died in a fall in Glacier National Park last summer while allegedly in the company of the arrested man who Pongrace had picked up hitchhiking. Pongrace, 31, was the son of Otto and Elizabeth Pongrace, of the City.

Police officials in St. George, Utah confirmed the May 31 arrest of Scott David Steel, 23, who was visiting relatives in the area. Steel, who turned himself in to the police, was indicted on charges of firstdegree murder, theft on government property, and interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle.

Steel was transported to Montana where his trial is expected to begin in about two months. He will be held on $100,000 bond, according to Utahbased U.S. Attorney Richard Lambert.

Steel has been the subject of an intense manhunt by the FBI and police in the western states since the death of Mr. Pongrace on July 14. 1983.

It was then that Mr. Pongrace's body was spotted by tourists at the federal park in Montana, at the base of a 180-foot cliff. An autopsy established that Pongrace was killed by the fall. Keys to his 1968 Volkswagon van, money and travelers checks were not on his body when it was discovered.

According to reports, Mr. Pon-grace, who had been recently honorably discharged from the Coast Guard, was on his way to the Pacific Northwest to visit friends, when he picked up Steel and his dog while they hitchhiked in an area about 60 miles east of Glacier Park.

Mr. Pongrace and Steel reportedly stayed over in a camp-ground that night. Mr. Pongrace's body was discovered the next day. His van and possessions were missing. Police believe Steel took the vehicle after Mr. Pongrace died and slept in it overnight. A tow truck operator in Pablo, Mont. told authorities he pulled the van out of the mud along a roadway the next day, and was paid for the job with an expensive camera that proved to belong to Mr. Pongrace.

At that time police believed Steel was driving the van south to California where he reportedly had $100 worth of tools.

relatives. According to FBI Agent in Charge Bill Fallin, of Butte, Mont., several possessions belonging to Mr. Pongrace were recovered at the home of Steel's sister in Los Angeles. Mr. Pongrace's van was also recovered in that city.

Police were unable to arrest Steel at that time, who was last seen reportedly hitchhiking to Florida to visit a girl friend. Police had been on the look out for him for the last 10 months, when he was finally arrested in Utah.

Steel was arrested without incident in St. George, Utah by Detective Sgt. Mike Dawson, who was a friend of Steel's family. According to Sgt. Dawson, Steel had hitchhiked into town and spent two days visiting an uncle. "The uncle, who is a friend of mine, was aware of the warrants out against Steel and told him he was going to call us,' said Sgt. Dawson.

"Steel reportedly told his uncle he didn't want him to get involved and said he would turn himself into us. He was hitchhiking out of town when he gave me a call. I'd been on the look out for him since last August. He surrendered without any trouble.

According to reports, Steel was equipped with the same backpack he was wearing when picked up by Mr. Pongrace, but was without the dog.

In Grosse Pointe, Mr. and Mrs. Pongrace expressed relief at Steel's arrest.

'My wife has finally stopped crying," said Otto Pongrace. "We don't want him to repeat this sort of thing. He belongs in jail."

"It would seem to me that this would be a federal offense since it occurred on federal property," continued Pongrace. "Because of this I think the death penalty could be enacted. And that wouldn't bother me one little bit."

Woods adds cameras to its lock-up

Detainees in the Woods lock-up will soon find themselves on television. The council last week approved the purchase of a closed-circuit television monitoring system for the two cells.

The system, to be purchased from Camtronics Communications Co. for $1,155, will include two cameras equipped with 51-degree angle lenses, two, nine-inch monitors for the police desk, and wall mounts, The system will be purchased with this fiscal year's capital improvement funds.

Public Safety Director Jack Patterson said the system could be expanded to include a third camera and monitor for the department's holding room. No video recording will be done, however, since the system is a suicide prevention measure, he added.

The city is currently involved in litigation stemming from the death of a 25-year-old man who attempted to hang himself in the Woods lock-up two years ago. Jeffrey M. Kowalczyk of Detroit died Jan. 5. 1983, six months' after lapsing into a coma after he tried to hang himself with his jacket in the cell.

The system will give officers audio and visual monitoring of the facility, Patterson said. Currently, the department has a two-way speaker system in the lock-up.

The Camtronics system was chosen although the company was not the low bidder. Another company proposed installing a single camera to scan the two cells and a monitor for $1,065.

One-camera scanning would give prisoners a chance to time the cycle to determine when they would not be observed, police said. The two-camera system would keep each cell under observation constantly, making it a better method of monitoring the cells, according to Det. Lt. Pete Thomas.

Other bidders submitted prices of $2,400, $1,400 and $1,500 for a twocamera system, according to police records.

By Mike Andrzeyczyk If there's one word to describe this year's primary and general elections, it's "return.

The Tuesday, June 5 passing of the August primary filing deadline left some Democratic and Republican candidates with "byes" for the August primary.

Making his bid to return to county politics this November will be Ervin Steiner, Jr., a Grosse Pointe Farms businessman who represented the First District from 1970 to 1982, when the county board of commissioners was a 27-member legislative and administrative body.

Steiner was defeated in the 1982 primary by Barbara Gattorn, now a member of the county civil service commission. Mrs. Gattorn was defeated that November by former state senator John Hertel for the First District seat.

Both Hertel, who plans to seek a second term, and Steiner are unopposed in their primaries.

Steiner said he decided to run again for office after being urged by civic organizations and GOP officials.

Hit and run thefts in Park

Two homeowners fell victim to crooks who cruised the area on May 26 looking for valuables, said Grosse Pointe Park police.

Witnesses reported seeing two males, driving a large orange vehicle, remove a power lawnmower from the backyard of a home in the 900 block of Nottingham at 4 p.m.

Almost three hours later, a man gardening in his front yard in the 800 block of Barrington heard his

"I am a man of my word," Steiner said. He had supported Guardian Angel Curtis Sliwa publicly and said if Sliwa were arrested for trying to organize the Angels in Detroit, Steiner would get him out. "I promised I would get him out of jail and I did," he said.

As a commissioner, Steiner said he worked for the maintenance of a level of health care service as mandated by the county charter.

"I, for six years, said the hospital was running a deficit, and now Mr. Lucas has brought it to the forefront," Steiner said. "Now the commissioners want to administer the hospital. The administration should be left up to Mr. Lucas and it's time people like Hertel find that "I agree with Mr. Lucas that the hospital should be closed," he added.

His 12 years of experience in county politics give him "an insight and expertise that will definitely help the people of the dis-trict," Steiner said.

Hertel said that although he is unopposed in the August primary, he will still be campaigning to turn out voters to decide a proposal to abolish the Wayne County Road Commission that will be on the ballot.

"I haven't really turned to the November election yet," he said. "You're really not thinking ahead to November yet. If I had an opponent in the primary it would be different.

The November race will boil down to one "between someone who opposed the charter and reorganization and someone who has worked for it," Hertel said.

"I am absolutely opposed to the continued operation of the hospi-tal," Hertel said. "I'm the only county employes to balance the remain open.

Hertel said he didn't attend the briefing because of a wedding in his family. In addition, no new information was expected at the meeting, he said.

Also making a return to elective politics this year is Woods resident John Lauve who will seek to be the party choice for 14th U.S. representative in November.

Lauve, who organized a recall campaign against Gov. James J. Blanchard, will face fellow Woods resident Joan Rashid in the August GOP primary. Ms. Rashid was appointed by President Ronald Reagan in 1982 to the Agency for International Development in the Foreign Aid department of the Department of State.

Ms. Rashid left the State Department in September, and said she plans of use "all resources avail-able to us," including door-to-door campaigning and direct mailings. A graduate of the University of Detroit, Ms. Rashid said she commuted weekly from Washington to her Woods home. One of the many reasons she is running for the seat is her commitment to community service, she added.

Lauve, whose recall campaign against Blanchard remains short of its goal, said the new 14th District takes in portions of tax revolt country, districts where state Sens. David Serotkin and Phillip Mastin were recalled from office last year for their support of the Blanchard income tax increase.

As well as being tax revolt country, the new district is slightly county budget should the hospital more white-collar than before, and probably more Republican than it formerly was, Lauve noted.

His campaign has already gotten underway with one mailing, and others are planned, Lauve said. He added he expects to receive help from some of the Recall Blanchard committees throughout the district.

In the Democratic half of the 14th U.S. Rep. primary, incumbent Dennis Hertel faces Park resident Howard Shorr in seeking the position.

Another candidate returning after a primary defeat is James Friesema of Harper Woods, who will face incumbent State Rep. William R. Bryant in the November general, since both are unopposed in their primaries.

Friesema ran in the Democratic primary in 1982, looking to be the candidate to unseat Bryant, who is seeking his eighth term, but was defeated by Jane Stephens, who subsequently lost to the Grosse Pointe Farms Republican.

Four of the five candidates for the Wayne County Community College board of trustees are from the Pointes. Under a new state law, the board was reorganized from its present seven to nine members who will serve four-year terms.

The two top vote-getters will face off for the November balloting. Incumbent trustee John Grylls didn't file for reelection.

The candidates are Dennis Mongoven, Gregory Solak and Thomas Steel of the Woods, L. Renee Ross of the City, and Anthony Ambrigio of Detroit.

A rousing endorsement

The decisive victory from the supporters of the Grosse Pointe school board and its controversial school reorganization plan in Monday's voting ought to have a number of constructive effects in the Grosse Pointe community.

It ought to settle at long last the most controversial issues - the closing of Barnes Elementary School and the shifting of all sixth graders into the middle schools - and enable the board of education to get on with some of its other pressing problems.

It ought to ease the recruitment of a new superintendent to succeed Kenneth Brummel because it now is clear that the voters of the district have spoken out loud and clear in support of reorganization.

It ought to make it easier for parents, school board members, teachers and other residents of the community to plan for the future now that they know the district's course of action for at least the next two years has been endorsed in what amounted to a public referendum.

THOSE WHO WANTED TO keep all of the elementary schools open did win important conces-sions from the school board. Early on they persuaded the board to drop the first two reorganimation plans proposed by Brummel and adopt a third and more limited plan.

But they also won another concession. During the election campaign, the board majority said it would not close any other schools for at least two years. The rationale is that this moratorium on closing will give the board and the community time to assess the effects of the closing of Barnes and the shift of the sixth graders into the middle schools.

But the moratorium also will have other beneficial results. It will give the district more time to heal the wounds of the controversial cam-paign, to study population trends which still indi-cate a continuing decline in school enrollment and to consider how to handle any future school closings should they be required.

With the defeat of Roger Mourad, the only member to vote against the reorganization plan, the board also should be able to go ahead with the closing of Barnes and the shift of the sixth graders into middle schools this fall. Opponents had pledged during the campaign that if their candidates won and the recall succeeded, they would reverse the board's earlier vote and keep Barnes open and the sixth graders in the elementary schools. Now those moves can be carried out as planned.

But even during the campaign the community was agreed on the need to maintain and even improve quality education in the Pointes. The disagreements during the campaign were really over how that aim should be accomplished. Now that the voters have spoken, the board should feel reassured about its past actions in the interests of quality education. Yet it still must be challenged to seek the best ways of achieving that goal in the future.

The vote, while decisive, still was not as large as it is in presidential campaigns. But it was about double the turnout even in contested board elections. So the size of the vote did indicate widespread support for the winning candidates and strong opposition to the recall of the three board members. It also showed that despite the efforts of a militant minority, the majority would not be deterred from expressing its endorsement of school board policies.

THE NEWS CONGRATULATES Joan Hanpeter and Fred Adams on their election. The election returns to the board its most experienced member, Mrs. Hanpeter, and adds a newcomer, Fred Adams, a long-time Grosse Pointe resident with a long record of interest in education. The three members targeted for recall - Catherine Brierly, Jon Gandelot and Ernest Buechler deserve congratulations for having also weathered the recall storm which has taken so many other political lives in Michigan this year.

Overall, the controversial campaign produced an important dividend for the schools and the community. It aroused widespread interest in school issues which ought to be helpful as the board and the community wrestle with other school problems in the future.

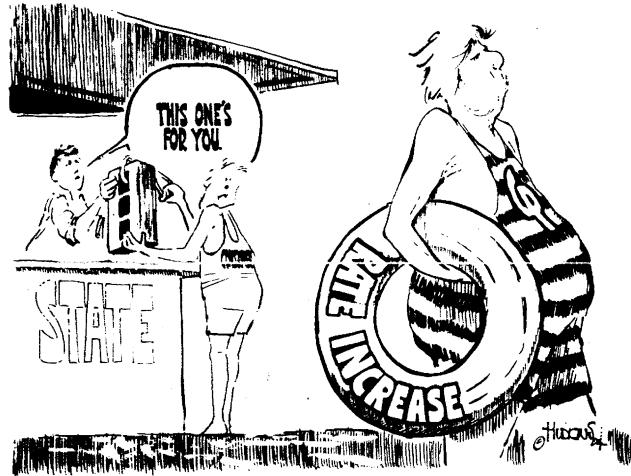

Regulating the automobile

-no Two regulatory measures involving the automobile have aroused new controversies in the Legislature but there are good reasons for passage of both in the state that first gave the nation massproduced cars.

One bill would require annual auto emissions inspections in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties in order to fulfill provisions of the federal Clean Water Act under which states must meet air quality standards or face economic sanctions. The second calls for a November vote on a proposed mandatory seat belt law. Both bills now have been passed by the state Senate.

Senate. It is an inspections program passed in 1980 but never implemented for lack of rules and funds to carry it out. Members of the Joint Administrative Rules Committee are considering implementing the rules rather than trying to get the House to pass the Senate-approved inspection program.

The second regulatory bill is more bizarre. After voting down a proposal to require mandatory seat belt usage for three years and to let the people decide then whether they approved, the state Senate decided to leave the issue of seat belts up to the voters in November. In this newspaper's opinion, it makes more sense to have a three-year test of a mandatory seat belt law and then have a referendum than it does to have a vote on whether to adopt the mandatory buckling-up requirement. But the fear of recall still permeates the Legislature and the senators aren't about to take a stand on any controversial piece of legislation if they can avoid it. And so they simply voted to put the issue on the ballot

Election balances board

To the Editor

Now that sanity, reason and common sense prevail and the smoke of emotion has cleared away, we find that Grosse Pointe citizens truly come out the winners. We now have one of the best balanced Boards of Education in memory.

Four of the board members have educational expertise from four different points of view: Dorothy Kennel with eleclassroom mentary experience, Ernest Buechler as administrator, Fred Adams as a college trustee and Joan Hanpeter with an overview from the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

The Board is as evenly divided between men and women as one can get without Solomon's help. 0 0 and Vincent LoCicero and business by Adams, Mrs. Brierly and Mrs. Hanpeter. Adams brings a fresh point of view and Mrs. Hanpeter gives the continuity of 12 years experience.

Five of the members are parents of children now in elementary or secondary Grosse Pointe schools. Adams and Mrs. Kennel had children who previously went through our school system, giving them a comparative viewpoint. Senior citizens also have representation from their group in Adams and Mrs. Kennel.

All of the members have shown by their willingness to endure the past six months that they are truly dedicated servants. May they all enjoy a restful summer!

Let's set differences aside

To the Editor

Thank you, Grosse Pointe voters!

During the last year, your Board of Education has faced difficult problems, trying our best to be open, honest, and responsive. We often have felt misunderstood, lonely, and sometimes abused. Monday's election was a resounding vote of confidence.

I am especially grateful to the wonderful team, representing a wide range of interests and ages, who worked so enthusiastically for mv re-election.

The community is tired of controversy. I hope we can set aside differences, forget past grievances, and bind our school system together with a new dedication.

As I have in the past, I will work to maintain and improve the quality of our schools and libraries for the benefit of all residents. Joan Hanpeter Grosse Pointe Park

Gandelots say

UNDER THE AUTO inspection bill, vehicle owners in the three metropolitan counties would pay a mandatory $10 fee for an emissions inspection. The measure also would provide a maximum of 30 days in jail and a $500 fine for people convicted of removing or adjusting an emission-control device in order to make it ineffective. There would be a $50 limit on repairs that could be required of a motorist whose vehicle does not pass the emissions test.

While there is a good deal of grumbling in Lansing and elsewhere over the proposal, the Environmental Protection Agency has ruled that metropolitan Detroit has not met the EPA emission standards and has ordered the state to adopt a testing program this summer. If the state fails to do so, the EPA threatens economic sanctions which could include a prohibition on permits for new construction or expansion of facilities that might contribute to further pollution of the region. The federal authorities also would have authority to withhold federal aid for highway construction and air pollution control projects in the state. Such actions would, of course, sharply curtail industrial expansion as well as new highway construction in the metropolitan area.

HOUSE MEMBERS, WHO FACE elections this year, many go along with the Senate rather than showing independent judgment of their own on the issue. The buckle up requirement is sought as a safety measure which in European countries and Canadian provinces saves motorists' lives, prevents the injury of thousands more and saves medical care costs for the injured.

Both regulatory measures deserve passage by the Legislature. Few people like regulations but emission control inspections can further improve the environment while requiring the use of seatbelts can save lives and private and public costs resulting from auto accidents. We would prefer adoption of the buckle-up test for three years, but even a referendum on the issue would be better than no action at all.

June 11, the heat MOROA wave and the heat and pressure of school politics in our community seemed to be over and it was time for the people to exercise the precious right of all our fellow countrymen and vote in a free election.

By 7:30 a.m., I was in high spirits and on my way to vote. But a funny thing happened as I started to enter Richard School. Instead of campaign leaflets, I was greeted with 'Can I give you a nice, shiny apple?"

I replied, "No, there has al-ready been too much applepolishing. All I want to do is vote before I go to work."

At Kerby School, the apple people were on hand. "Can I give you an apple?'

I replied, "Absolutely not! What makes you think I can be had for an apple?"

I don't know whose side the apple polishers were on, and it really doesn't matter. All I wanted to do was vote my conscience and my choice. However, I wonder if the educational genius responsible for the idea has read the first chapter of Genesis lately. It is a good place to begin and remember.

thank you To the Editor

There is no way we can possibly thank everyone personally for their help and support the past few months. Therefore, we would like to publicly express our heartfelt thanks to the hundreds of people who worked on our behalf to defeat the recall effort.

We have stated repeatedly that we believe in the integrity and intelligence of our community, and we were not disappointed. We thank you, the voters, for this.

May we all move forward in a positive manner, to work for what is best for our children and our community.

Grosse Pointe Farms Supt. Brummel responds to to 'inaccuracies'

Marie Bird

In the wake of one of the most bitter election campaigns in recent history, Supt. Kenneth Brummel last week said he was greatly disturbed by several "allegations, charges and questions raised about the Grosse Pointe school system." In a half-hour speech before the school board June 4, the superintendent said he felt "obliged to my successor and to the board of education to set these matters straight.

An organization can be seriously damaged if misinformation is not corrected and allegations left to become fact," Brummel said.

The allegations (in bold face) and an edited version of Brummel's comments about them, follow

Allegation No. 1: There has been a defection of Grosse Pointe students to private and parochial schools.

Students attending private and parochial schools in Grosse Pointe in the last 10 to 15 years have attended at a 24% rate. Our anticipation is that that rate will continue unless our attempts at recruiting students into the public school situation are successful. With the approval of an all day kindergarten pilot program for next year, we believe that the possibility is there for the school systern to gain students who have opted for private school all day programs and then have continued there.

It is our understanding from discussions with principals of private and parochial schools in Grosse Pointe that increased enrollments, where they are occurring, are resulting primarily from students coming from outside the Grosse Pointes and not from the public schools. The Grosse Pointe public school system has many advantages. We regularly review and upgrade programs, we have maintained class sizes on an average between 22 and 24, we pay competitive salaries to our teachers, we have high student achievement, and our buildings are safe and well equipped.

When parents decide to send their children to private and parochial schools, those decisions are most frequently made for religious reasons or family tradition, neither of which it is likely that the Grosse Pointe school system will change no matter what we do.

Allegation No. 2: There are no hard facts to substantiate that the school population will continue to decline.

Obviously projections are not facts and no superintendent, board member or candidate can make them facts. Our record of enrollment projection has been outstanding with a variance of less than 1 percent for the past few years. Last year the variance was only 31 students. Next year we project as additional enrollment decline of 332 students, right on target with our previous long range projections.

Individuals in the community may not like these enrollment trends but they are inescapable and musi be faced because of the educational and financial problems that they present to the Grosse Pointe Schools. These is no escaping the fact that our enrollment has declined nearly 50 percent in the past 12 years and that all expert projections suggest that decline will continue.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marion Trainer

A new interest in China was fanned when President Reagan and his wife, Nancy stepped off Air Force One in Peking. Millions of American citizens followed Reagan's trip on television to get an unusually close look at a nation that has changed since Gerald Ford, the last U.S. President to visit China, landed in Peking in 1975. In that brief time, we are told, Western influence is apparent in the way people there live and think.

A golf course stretches out from a posh country club where there once was a sleepy fishing village. High-rise apartments and a new 48-story center rise above such foreign-owned operations as Pepsi-Cola, Citibank and Faygo. Peasant families have stereos, refrigerators and color televisions.

Bicycles, once the main source of transportation, now share the newly created avenues with Mercedes sedans and tourist buses.

Mao's quotations have been replaced by advertisements for cameras, calculators and computers.

These changes have come about under Deng Xiaoping, China's leader.

Based on the theory that people produce more if offered incentives, Deng and his colleagues have brought about sweeping reforms. They have transformed the nation's agricultural system, awakened its cultural life and boosted the incomes of millions of peasants. But much remains to be done. It will take years for such far-reaching reforms to filter down to the farms, villages and provinces that are part of China's 3.69 million square miles.

Television coverage of Reagan's trip to Xian, an archeological wonder featuring the 2,000-year-old tomb of China's first Emperor, and their visit to the Great Wall will arouse interest in Americans to visit China. Those who have done so already count it as one of their most memorial experiences.

A Chinese tour, they say, offers beautiful scenery and an opportunity to become acquainted with the world's oldest civilization. They declare China a photographer's paradise, whether you're travel-ling in the countryside, villages or large cities.

Most of the tourists are older Americans, so if you decide to make the trip you will be travelling with people your own age. You families accept this. A mother in won't be expected to engage in the more strenuous sight-seeing that younger groups would prefer.

Chinese people are cordial and are happy to meet and talk with Americans. They welcome the opportunity to practice English. English is the most popular second language there.

Half the fun of travelling is collecting gifts and mementos to take home. China has many attractive buys in jade in any form (statues, beads, bracelets), scrolls, silks and brocades, porcelain jeweiry and antiques.

The best times to go to China are in May, June, September and October.

While the sights and sounds of China will enthrall travelers, questions about social and economic changes, and their effect on the people's philosophy of life, will also be interesting. Again, we are told that in many ways the young people of that country have become Americanized in their thinking. They have latched on to the "me" generation that swept through this country. Women are having their eyes enlarged, men are having permanent waves. They even have an Oriental Jane Fonda, former star gymnast. QI Yufange, who leads disco aerobics classes. Cosmetic sales are soaring, men's western suits sell out and women's attire is the same as that shown in fashion magazines in the U.S.

One ideal that has remained unchanged in the midst of shifting ideals in China's reverence for its elders. They are regarded as persons of experience and wisdom and as such entitled to respect.

Although the elderly do not hold supreme power over the family as they once did, concern for the old in China is still a priority.

The retirement system is excellent. Men retire at 60, women at 50 to 55. Pensions are 60 to 90 percent of wages depending on years on the job, work performance and service to the country. Medical care is free.

A perk that a generous pension affords old citizens is the ability to help out children who live with them - an advantage that raises their self-esteem.

Although the young are no longer ruled by their elders, they do defer to them. They consult their parents and seek their approval. Heads of Peking explains, "It's up to my son to decide; my role is to advise."

China is one of the few countries where sons and daughters are legally responsible for their parents. It is written into the constitution which provides for "the rights to material assistance in old age." A family law protects the lawful rights and interests of the aged, prohibits maltreatment and desertion within the family and specifies the duty of children (or grandchildren if children are deceased) to support and assist their parents. Failure to obey the law risk penalties ranging up to seven years imprisonment. The law rarely has to be enforced.

Children are indoctrinated in their duty to their elders in school. They read about heroic deeds and sacrifices to help older people and they are urged to do the same.

With better social and economic conditions and improved health services, life expectancy has risen to 68-plus, almost double since 1949.

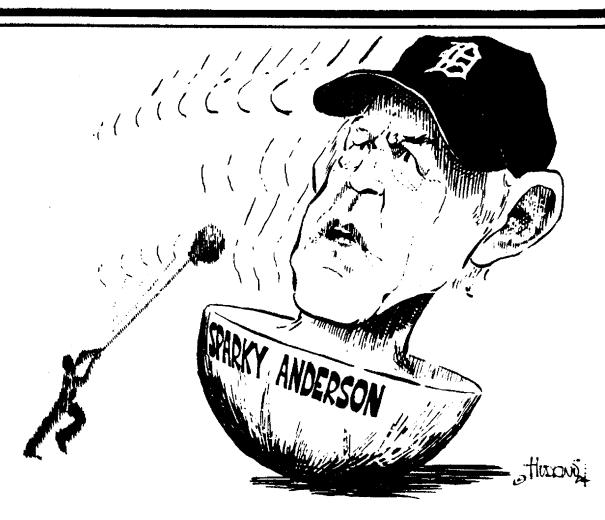

Because of housing short-ages, many Chinese live in three generation households where older people have increased status because they not only provide financial assistance but do household chores and take care of children. Nurseries and day-centers are scarce so multigeneration living provides working parents who work with caring, nurturing babysitters.

As for the grandparents, they are delighted with sharing their lives with grandchildren and living with children who will take care of them as they get older.

As in America, the number of China's elderly is increasing. In the next century, it is estimated that one in every five Chinese may be OVER 60.

Looking ahead to this growth in the elderly population, the Chinese Society of Geriatrics was founded in 1981. Some of its research is benefitting older Chinese now. Herbal medicine and acupuncture are reported helpful with certain geriatric diseases. It has been found calesthentics slows down aging. Elderly Chinese are enthusiastic over taiji, in which people in unison go through intricate slow motion movements. Hundreds of older men and women participate in the exercise singly or in small or large groups.

If there is one impression that people who visit China come away with, it is the people's affection for the Lao (the old). To the Chinese, the Lao have value.

Supt. Brummel responds

We have explained many times that "fund equity" means excess of assets over liabilities. It does not mean surplus or "slush funds" or suggest improper budgeting or money sitting idly in a bank. Any unneeded money, even for a short duration, is carefully invested in order for the system to earn the highest possible income. Having a fund equity protects our bond rating and in so doing, reduces the cost of borrowing to the school system.

Having less of a fund equity could result in the same high borrowing costs experienced by many school systems who are in less desirable financial situations. Just this year, the Grosse Pointe School System has been awarded top honors for its financial accounting and business practices. This award, made by the American School Business Officials, is presented only to a few systems each year.

Allegation No. 4: Shifting 6th graders into middle schools was attempted in 1967 and failed, students. Our yearly goals have been met and great strides forward have been made to improve programs, to secure the financial condition of the school system, and to plan for major dramatic changes which are ahead. Having an activist superintendent for a short duration is not necessarily a negative, particulary if he or she gets a dormant school district moving and then sets a course of study movement forward toward its short and long range goals. I believe this system has done that in the past three years.

The previous move of grade 6

If this allegation is made to relate my leaving to the idea that there is something amiss with the members of the current board, let me assure you all that nothing could be further from the truth. In the 13 years I have been a school superintendent, I have worked with nearly 30 different board members, an average of more than two new bosses each year. The individuals serving the Grosse Pointe Board today are among the finest with whom I have served. They are conscientious, dedicated and hard-working volunteers that are challenging, but supportive, and have the courage of their convictions when convinced that the need for change or improvement is essential.

Allegation No. 6: The plans to close schools were ill conceived and the board was not decisive.

I almost find humor in this allegation. On the one hand the board was asked to be responsive to the community and yet, after having altered two school closing plans in order to be responsive, it is now suggested that the board is indecisive. Is one to assume that if the board had chosen to close four schools, those who opposed any school closings would have applauded them for their decisiveness? Each school closing plan has its strengths and weaknesses and future school claoing plans (and I am certain there will be some) will also have strengths and weaknesses.

This Board of Education and school administration, with transendous community involvement, has studied and researched the problem of declining enrollment and any of the plans that have been put forward would all deal effectively with the issue

Perhaps this regard for the wisdom and experience of older people is a lesson learned through centuries of China's history. America is a young country. While America is making progress in caring for the elderly, it is an impersonal care. Nursing homes, retirement villages and subsidized housing provide adequate but lonely living for older citizens. They are cared for but they are not made to feel important. No one needs them. They are without family status. What they lack is someone who once was part of their lives to share memories, thoughts and feelings with.

And those are the lucky ones. There are others whose only means is a monthly social security check or even less, an old age pension. They must settle for a precarious existence in a second-rate neighborhood where they live in fear of crime, often go without enough to eat and cannot afford medical attention.

The gains that have been made have come about through the efforts of old people themselves, working as groups - a sad com-mentary - older people fighting for rights they have earned through a lifetime of work and service to others.

But the ranks are swelling. Sheer numbers are making them a force to be reckoned with among lawmakers who need their votes. What tradition withholds, political action will seize. The longevity revolution will help reduce the long standing devaluation of age.

students into the middle schools was made to accommodate numbers. The move of 6th graders which the board approved this year is based on our belief that 6th graders will have an improved educational program in the middle schools. The Board had the luxury of choosing to place 6th graders either in the elementary schools or the middle schools because of available space at both levels. After careful study, the board on a vote of 6 to 1, felt that the program improvements were significant enough to support the change. To compare the 1967 6th grade move with the current plan simply invites erroneous comparisons, since the two situations and rationale are completely different.

Woods approves sewer project

The Woods council last week approved spending $160,000 to install a new sewer on Lochmoor from Wedgewood to the eastern city limits.

The low bidder, Allied Consultants, could begin work as early as the end of the month, according to City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen. Contracts are prepared and ready for signing, he added.

The current sewer runs down the boulevard and connects with the Grosse Pointe Shores system at the boundary to flow into the Lakeshore Interceptor. The Woods project will take Lochmoor off the Shores' system and will eventually connect it with the Milk River Drain, Petersen said.

Allied Consultants is new to the underground construction business, according to the city's engineering firm of Pate, Hirn and Bogue. But Allied's manager is a registered professional engineer with much experience in underground piping systems, according to the city engineers, who recommended the acceptance of the low bid.

Off to Europe Christ Church choirs will perform for the Pope

It's almost time to say "arrivederci" to the Christ Church Choir of Girls and Men, who soon will represent their church, their community and their country as "ecumenical ambassadors" to Italy and Switzerland. The choir leaves for Rome on June 14, and returns on July 5.

Traveling with the choir's 24 girls and seven men are choirmaster D. Frederic DeHaven, assistant choirmaster Jeff Fowler, head choir mother Robin Albrecht. former head choir mother Sarah Hill, and nurse Moonyeen Fitch - who trusts that her professional services will not be needed. The itinerary is packed with ser-historic places.

On June 17, their first Sunday in Rome, the choir will sing the 10:30 a.m. High Mass in St. Peter's Basilica. That afternoon they go to Spannochia, Count Ferdinand Cinelli's castle near Siena, which will be their base for the next eight days. The group will make motorcoach excursions to the Italian

Riviera, Pisa, the Cinellis' Etruscan archeological dig, Florence and Siena. The choir will sing both a concert and a mass at the Cathedral in Siena, and perform an Italian Mass in the "Duomo," Florence's famed cathedral.

On June 25, the group will travel to Venice, performing a concert the next day in the Basilica San Giovanni et Paoli.

The choir will enjoy mountain tours and sing a concert in Wengen before going on July 2 to Stresa, on Italy's lovely Lake Maggiore. They return to Rome on July 3, stopping en route in Milan to view Leonardo da Vinci's "Last Supper" in the cathedral. Headquarters in Rome will be a convent in the Vatican City.

Finally, on what should be the most memorable Fourth of July in their lifetimes, the choir will sing for Pope John Paul II at his audience in St. Peter's Square.

Off to Europe is where this group of men and girls is headed. They are all members of Christ Church choirs.

She is only one of over 1,800 GM people who make more than 6,000 safety inspections on GM cars built in America.

Checks are made on many things from seat belt retractors to anchor bolts. Latch buckles. Warning lights and buzzers. Every seat belt in every car gets checked.

We do this because it's all part

We believe in taking the extra time, giving the extra effort and paying attention to every detail. That's what it takes to provide the quality that leads more people to buy GM cars and trucks than any

North students cited

Fifty-five students from North High School qualified for this year's Presidential Academic Fitness Award under a program sponsored by President Reagan to recognize outstanding students.

Those honored must have a good grade point average, a high score on standardized tests and at least 12 units in the "new basics" including English, mathematics, science, social studies, foreign language and computer science.

Those students recognized at North High's annual awards night on May 21 include Barbara Adams, Deborah Allemeersch, Kathleen Bakeman, Mark Brierly, Todd Binkowski, Gregory Browning and Craig Cappas.

More are Catherine Caruso, Peter Cubba, Christina Cramer, John Dohn, Annette Domienik, Julie Emerick, Domenic Ferrante, Suzanne Francis, Michelle Grawlewski, Kurt Halsey and Leslie Hamel.

Other fitness award winners were Bradley Heavner, Roy Holmes, Colleen Jaeger, Jonathan Jerrard, Andrew Johnson, Lynley Jones, Eric Kratochwill, April Kormminga, and Kristine Kuntzman.

More award winners were Kristen Lehman, Robert Lillich, Laura Lovisa, Donna Marsden, Frank Martilotti, Allison McNeil, Paul Merlo, Charles Moore, Cheryl Nott, Daniel Norey, Julie Parise, Dianne Plath, Marlene Preisz, Raoul Rayos and Scott Reimer.

Still more were Maria Sagaert, Paul Smith, Thomas Spezia, Steven Spillan, Peter Strek, Eric Toennies, Amy Treder, David Waldeck, Michael Walkowaik, Patricia Weber, Janet Wesselmann, Stacie Williams and Roberta Willison.

The winners received an inscribed label lapel pin, a certificate and brochure describing the Academic Fitness Award program.

Margaret sings to the top

By Wendy Honstain South High

South senior Margaret Hunt was recently honored as being one of the top 10 high school vocalists in Michigan.

After receiving a first division rating at the district level, Miss Hunt went on to state competition, once again receiving the highest possible rating. Professor Melvin Larimer of Albion College was her adjudicator.

"It was just plain beautiful singing, the best voice I've heard all day," he told her. Afterwards all the judges met and chose who they thought were the 10 best soloists at the entire festival. As one of the top 10, Miss Hunt will perform at the Michigan Arts Festival.

Her most recent performance was as a featured soloist at South's spring concert at Orchestra Hall.

Oddly enough, Miss Hunt has had very little formal training. "I've just never had the time to fit it in," she explained. She is active in her church choir and South's Pointe Singers. Miss Hunt plans to major in music in college.

Grosse Pointe Academy students visit Washington

Grosse Pointe Acaemy students in grades four and five experienced Washington, D.C. as a living classroom by attending the "Washington Focus" program conducted by the National 4-H Council, from Wednesday, May 30 through Friday, June 1. The students were hosted at the National 4-H Center, a 12 acre campus facility in Chevy

Penny for their thoughts

The track at South High School temporarily became "Penny Lane" on an early June Saturday morning as members of the school's Foreign Exchange Club attempted to establish a "Guinness Book of World Records" entry for themselves. Club members laid out over one and a half miles of pennies, all in the name of charity. The club conducted a penny drive and gathered 130,000 of the copper coins, which were donated to the National Kidney Foundation after the club laid out what seemed to be an endless line. Club Advisor Charles Stephens said they hit on the idea of a penny drive because "people always seem to have a pocketful, and don't mind parting with them." Below, kneeling next to the pennies are Don Lorentz, president of the Macomb County chapter of the National Kidney Foundation, and Kristen Allen. Standing, (left to right) are Tarina Mali, Finnish exchange student, Jenny Bardeen, Audra Allen, Sally vanDeventer, parent supervisor, Beth Knight, club secretary, Heather Porterfield, club president, Charles Stephens, Sarah vanDeventer, Jennifer Powell and Ted Kolosa, treasurer, Macomb chapter of the National Kidney Foundation.

Tea honors top English students at South

South High

Oustanding South High English students were recently honored at the 10th annual English Honors Tea. Awards in speech, reading, writing and journalism, as well as special awards and scholarships, were announced at the ceremony.

Two special awards were presented at the beginning of the ceremony. The Grosse Pointe Faculty Wives' Award for Scholarship was given to Christopher Morlan, for the student with the highest grade point average whose parents work for the school system. The other award was the Detroit Magazine 1984 Michigan Academic All-State Team that went to Katherine Hein.

The award for the outstanding senior English student went to Jeff Bosley, and the Brown Book Award for the top junior went to Renuka Uthappa.

South writers captured a number of the Detroit Free Press Writing Awards. Awards of Excellence went to Erik Nicholson (two) and Phoebe Wall, Honorable Mentions were received by James Agley, Megan Bonanni, Nicole DuPont, Elizabeth Knight, Julie Parker and Christina Maher. Certificates of Commendation went to Amy Andreou (two), Stephen Antonson, Chris Brown, Karen Emery, Katherine Hein, Carolyn Huebner, Kevin Monahan, Eric Nicolson (two), Renuka Uthappa and Phoebe Wall (two).

The Wayne County Intermediate School District fourth annual Student Writing Competition was again flooded with many talented South students. Karen Fellows won first prize for her entry in the essay category. Also in the essay section, David Brooks, Renuka Uthappa and George Charbonneau all took certificates of merit. Christopher Brown won a short story certificate of merit, and Kelly Champion a certificate of merit in poetry.

Kenneth Harris, Leslie Jeffs and Renuka Uthappa were all nomin-ated for the National Council of Teachers of English Award.

Anna Wuerfel, Stephen Antonson and Katherine Hein all won honorable mentions at the Michigan Youth Arts Festival. South's literary magazine "Imprints" also captured a certificate of merit at the festival.

Freshman David Bryant was awarded an honorable mention at the Michigan Young Playwrights Festival, and Kelly Champion was awarded a scholarship for creative

The varsity debate team had another successful year and its members were Dover Bell, Chris Bollinger, Brian Kearney and Chris Morlan. The Novice team included Katherine Birnbryer, Jay Bonneil, Marjorie Jacobson, Sharon Lee and Anne Young. Among the debate students in the state, some were chosen to be Student Congress Delegates in Lansing; they were Chris Bollinger, Jeffrey Bosley, Brian Kearney and Martha Young.

On May 19 and 20, the University of Detroit Law School held a mock trial. South students who took first place in that event were Katherine Birnbryer, Jeffrey Bosley, Barbara Cho, Laura Jones, Brian Sharon Lee, Erik Kearney, Nicholson and Anne Young. The winners of the trial were Dover Bell, Chris Bollinger, Jay Bonnell. Julie Bosley, Marjorie Jacobson, Flizabeth Meagher, Chris Morlan and Martha Young.

The dramatic duo of Wendy Flynn and Jim Kaliardos dominated forensics at South. The pair took second place at the Wayne State University Tournament, first place at the District Tournament, and fourth at the Regional competition. Also at Wayne State, Kathleen Conneil took sixth in original oratory competition. At the District Tournament, Heather Cross and Sharon Lee both captured third place ribbons, and Joel Palombo took fourth place.

The Optimist Club also held an oratory competition, and Michele Mecha took first place in the local and second place in the District competition.

The South High Mothers' Club, which sponsored many of the English programs throughout the year, also presented a reading award. First place was won by Kathy Gay, second went to Chris Bardeen and Heather Cross, and third place went to Sharon Lee.

Journalism was a category that had much interest and enthusiasm. Nine of the South newspaper staff members gained admittance to the memoers gained admittance to the international high school jour-nalists club sponsored by Quill and Scroll. They are Megan Bonanni, Kelly Clark, Anne Hunt, Kathy Oldham, Kevin Roberts, Phoebe Wall and Rick Whitney. This year was the first year for the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Gold Circle Awards. George Krappman and Chris Brown took third place for advertising, Greg Gersch took second place for art and illustra-tion, and Kathy Oldham was awarded an Honorable Mention for her photo story. The "Tower" newspaper staff also faired well at the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association awards ceremony. Taking first places were Kevin Roberts, David Loffredo and Kathy Okham. Second place finishers were David Loffredo, Phoebe Wall, Mike Santo, and the entire staff. A third place went to Stuart Whitney. Honorable mentions were given to Erik Nicholson, Chris Brown, Rick Whitney, Dave Loffredo and Mike Santo. The entire staff of the "Tower" was first runner-up for the best Class-A paper in the state.

The Detroit Free Press, in another writing contest during Newspapers in Education Week, had a letter to the Editor contest. Freshmen Linda Gaglio and Katherine Hardwick both had their letters printed in the Detroit Free Press.

The Quill and Scroll writing awards winch acknowledge significant achievement in journalism, honored Kevin Roberts with a Gold Key, its highest award. Kea McKinney won first place in the Michigan Press Women writing contest, for best news story. Beyond the high school newspaper, there are the professional newspapers and magazines. Erik Nicholson, Kathy Oldham and Rick Whitney all were published in "Teenage Magazine," as well as Phoebe Wall who was printed in the Detroit Free Press. Many journalism students try to better their skills through summer journalism workshops, one of the best in the country is at Ball State University. Mary Beall and Kathy Oldham each received awards of excellence while attending the camp. Also at the honors tea, the Pointe Players announced their new members. The new thespians are Gunther Brinkman, Joe Carion, Jeff Drabant, Ann Esckilsen, Ruth Finger, Dawn Gallagher, Katie Gracey, Libby Irwin, Molly Irwin, Laura Linn, Lisa Manthe, Kate Roberts, Paul Burgoyne and Lydia Pallas. This year's Thespian stars were those who earned more than 100 points through service in 1963-64. They were Jeff Bosley, Paul Corbett, Mary Beth Dietz, Karen Emery, Wendy Flynn, Amy Gaskin, Jenny Hoeting, Jim Kaliardos, Martha Kolojeski, Tyson McNamara, Allyson Neily, Greg Roach, Pat Selby and Halli Villegas.

The Thespian Gold Bar is awarded to those who have accumulated more than 500 points in four years. Julia Johnson was recipient this year. The Grosse Pointe Theater College Scholarship went to Wendy Flynn and Mark Fikany won the Drama Festival Best Actor award. The 1983 National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Award in Writing was given to Eliz-abeth Dobie and John Bruch.

The South High Mothers' Club also awarded cash prizes to students published in South's literary magazine "Imprints." For art, Scott Evans placed first, Paul Vismara second, and Tyson Mc-Namara took third. Short story was was runner-up, and third went to R.J. Gagnon. Photography was captured by Kathy Oldham, second to Kristin Linn, and third to Jim Kaliardos. Kelly Champion placed first in poetry, second place was Nicole DuPont, and third went to Erik Nicholson. The final category was the sketch. Carolyn Huebner placed first, Chris Tindall placed second, and Sarah Morrison took third place.

Computer, science clubs grow at Trombly

A steady stream of parents were a familiar sight at Trombly Elementary School in the Park this year. They were stopping off at the Science and Computer Rooms where the talents and skills of several parents were being used to provide experiences for Trombly students that reach beyond the prescribed curriculum.

More than 50 parents and about 150 students were involved in the programs organized by principal Robert Shover. The Computer Club was managed by Karen Millikin and Bob Lytle and Helen Ownby worked with the Science Club.

Dr. Ownby used her day off work to meet with Science Club members during lunch recess to provide them with "hands on" science experiences. During the fall semester, 10 students in kindergarten, first and second grades investigated food and nutrition by examining different grains, making bread with and without yeasts and sprouting seeds. The session finished when students made their own lunch.

During winter session, fifth and sixth graders investigated the microbial world. Their first assignment was to obtain a soil and water sample from the locale they visited during Christmas holidays. The samples came from as near as Pat-terson Park and as far as Arizona. Students prepared enrichment cultures for algae and bacteria and compared them to sample organ-isms provided by Michigan State University's Dr. Harold Sadoff. The youngsters learned to work with pipettes, triple-beam baiances, wet mounts, stained slides and simple and compound microscopes to examine hairs, frog eggs and blood. Third and fourth graders studied solar energy and flight.

Other Trombly parents who vol-unteered to work with the club were Julie Gallimore, Janet Gentile and Mary York.

"It was very rewarding to see the children's response," said Mrs. York. "You can almost see the gears turning in their heads.'

Trombly's Computer Club also met during lunch hours and during

After Chris Beck was tried 35 times for unlawfully taking an automobile belonging to Marty Fenster, the verdict handed down by the judges was that South High School was the winner of the 1984 Michigan High School Mock Trial Tournament sponsored by the University of Detroit School of Law and the Michigan Law Related Education Program.

Thirty-two teams, sent by 24 Michigan high schools and other organizations as far away as Hastings, competed in the tournament held May 19 and 20, in the courtrooms of the Detroit Recorder's Court at the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice.

Judged by three actual trial judges or practicing lawyers, the competition consisted of each team trying the same case on May 19, once representing the prosecution and once representing the prosecution The four best teams from Saturday's preceedings competed again in the semi-final rounds on May 20.

Each of the teams has an adult sponsor and an attorney coach who had helped them prepare for the trial. Once the trials began, however, the students were on their own. The rules of procedure which

Jennifer is outstanding state soloist

A Grosse Pointe Farms high school senior was named one of the six Outstanding Soloists for 1984 by the Music Committee of the Youth Arts Festival of Michigan Week.

Jennifer Marshall, the daughter of Mrs. Jane Marshall of Radnor Circle and a student of Robert Johnson, was chosen from 60 finalists from across the state.

Miss Marshall, a soprano, performed the Widmung by Schumann, and the Chanson Triste by DuParc. She was also soloist with the Michigan Youth Symphony, conducted by Zuo-Huang Chen on Friday, May 18, in the Warriner Auditorium at Central Michigan University.

Miss Marshall, a senior at Interlochen Arts Academy, recently received a grant that will enable her to attend Northwestern University in Illinois this fall.

Students win BOAC awards

Three students from South's Business Office Education Club and their advisor Andrea Becker, attended the 18th annual National Leadership Conference, April 28 to May 1, in Indianapolis, Ind.

For the second consecutive year, South had a national winner. Senior Olga Athanasiou won 5th place in Job Interview II. Tina Albers, re-cently elected BOEC state parlimentarian, and Stephanie Siero, a member of South's winning spelling team, attended as voting delegates from Michigan.

In addition to participating in competitive events, students attended various mini-sessions designed to improve their job-seeking skills, were present at state meetings, participated in an open-ing parade and went to general sessions to vote for the 1984-85 national BOEC officers. Various tours were also available for those interested, including a tour of the 500 Mile Race Track.

Fifteen states were represented at this year's conference. The conference culminated with an awards session Tuesday, May 1, where Olga learned she had won a plaque to bring back to Michigan.

Each year's National Leadership Conference provides opportunities for students to become familiar with the "real world" of business as well as exchange ideas with members of BOEC across the Unit-ed States. The BOEC students from South are looking forward to participating in next year's conference which will be held in Houston, Texas.

The costs of attending the 1984 National Leadership Conference were partially defrayed by contributions of money from the South High School Mothers' Club and Dads' Club as well as a contribution of a 9-passenger station wag-on by Gene Vyletel of Bishop Road, owner of Vyletel Buick, for transportation to and from Indiana.

Homes robbed in the Shores

Shores police are investigating two Wednesday afternoon breakins in the village that occurred on Lochmoor and Lakeshore.

Police were called June 6 to the Lakeshore home by a florist's delivery man who reported a broken window at the home.

When officers arrived, they found a small pane on the southwest service door broken out. The doorknob also had twist-marks on it, made possibly by a pair of vicegrip pliers, reports said.

Since the family dog was making a great deal of noise inside the home, officers believed they had trapped the thief inside. After back-up units from the Shores and Woods arrived, officers entered the home but found the burglar gone, reports said.

It appeared all the rooms of the house had been searched, but a list of missing items is being compiled, reports said.

Later that afternoon, a woman was returning to her Lochmoor home when she noticed the front door open. The woman went to a neighbor's house, where she summoned police.

Once inside, the thief searched the living room, dining room and master bedroom. Sets of gold tableware and silverware were rifled but nothing was taken, reports said.

In the master bedroom, all the drawers were removed from the bedroom furniture and the room was ransacked, reports said. A .25 caliber handgun was taken from the drawer of a night stand. The owner told police the weapon was unregistered, according to reports.

A complete list of lost items is being compiled. Police continue their

The Northeastern Wayne County Child Guidance Clinic opened in December, 1963, with one full-time professional, a few part-time workers and a secretary working out of a Grosse Pointe psychiatrist's donated office.

Today, the Northeast Guidance Center (a name adopted in 1969) has 41 professionals and four offices: one in Grosse Pointe, one in Warren, two in Detroit. The NEGC serves between 1,200 and 1,300 clients annually, each for an average of five to 10 sessions. It offers individual, group, family and marriage counseling, psychological evaluation and testing, management training, employe assistance programs, older adult services, aftercare and alcohol and chemical dependency treatment.

One program, Divorce Mediation, is designed to help divorcing couples dissolve their marriages, to assist them in negotiating mutually beneficial agreements regarding property division, child support, visitation rights and other issues. The idea is to eliminate the win/lose atmosphere surrounding many conventional divorces.

Currently on exhibit in the Detroit Artists" Market show Architecture - Other Ideas is "731 Feet," a metal, plastic and wood construction by architect William Kessler, a Pointe resident, pictured at right above with his wife, Margo, and John Milacca, a member of William Kessler and Associates, Inc., and the "Feet," at the exhibit's opening. At right is another Pointe resident, Draper Hill, political cartoonist for the Detroit News, with his two Architecture — Other Ideas drawings: "Enjoy the Detroit River" (top) and "Don't Just Stand There...Fall." Work by 28 ar-chitects and 40 non-architects is featured in the show, which deals with relationships basic to architecture. It will continue at the Artists Market Galleries on Randolph Street through June 22. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. The Artists Market, founded in 1932, in the depths of the Great Depression, is the oldest continuously operating art gallery in the Ci-ty of Detroit. It has always been non-profit, charging only enough commission from sales to maintain itself, and has always depended heavily on volunteer help. It showcases the finest work of local artists and has, through the years, received consistent praise for the excellence of its exhibits, and its innovative programming.

Meier-Redei rites in May

Agnes Redei, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tibor Redei, of San Anselmo, Calif., and John Paul Meier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meier, of Lochmoor Boulevard, exchanged marriage vows Saturday, May 5, in San Francisco Theo-logical Seminary's Stewart Chapel.

The bride wore a traditional gown of white chiffon, styled with a sweetheart neckline and a bodice of English net accented with Alencon lace and pearls, its skirt featuring a chapel length train trimmed in Schiffli lace. Alencon lace trimmed the headpiece that held her full length veil.

She was attended by Susan Rovito, of Mountain View, Calif., as honor matron, and by bridesmaids Marisa Quarante, of Boston, Mass., and Susan Young, of Kalamazoo, the bridegroom's sister.

Best man was Thomas Monaghan, of Denver, Colo. Dr. Carl Meier Jr., of Cadillac, the bridegroom's brother, and James Pro-rok, of Cleveland, Ohio, seated the guests.

After a reception at Deer Park Villa, Fairfax, Calif., the newlyweds left to vacation in Hawaii, on Maui. They are at home in San Francisco where the bride, who holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from the University of California at Berkeley, is employed by Standard Oil Company of Ohio as a budget planning analyst.

The bridegroom, grandson of Mrs. Paul J. Keller, of Detroit, is also employed by Standard Oil Company of Ohio in San Francisco, as a senior development engineer.

He is a Grosse Pointe North High School alumnus who was graduated with high honors from Michigan State University, with a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemical Engineering.

Spend a summer evening with Cleo Laine

To benefit the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Family participation Campaign, board members JOAN (Mrs. David A.) STAFSETH, left, and SANDY (Mrs. Walter B.) FISHER, right, along with DR. MARK R. WEBER, the Memorial Center's executive director, have planned a special Evening with Cleo Laine, in concert at Meadowbrook. Participants will enjoy champagne, a picnic dinner prepared by Cafe Le Chat, served in a private tent on the music festival grounds, and pavilion seating on Saturday, June 30. Round trip transportation from the Center is included in the cost of $150 per couple ($70 tax deductible), $75 for a single ticket ($35 tax deductible). Deadline for purchase of tickets, in person at the War Memorial's office or by mail, is next Wednesday, June 20. Additional information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Phase I ready for ice cream

Phase I, the organization for single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meet-ings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, brings its 1983-84 season to a traditional close this Sunday, June 17, with an ice cream social.

The fun begins at 7 p.m., on the church's front lawn or, if it's cool and rainy, indoors in Fellowship Hall. Old-fashioned prices of $1 per serving cover ice cream, strawberries, a variety of toppings and beverage.

Phase I will suspend regular Sunday meetings after the 13th Annual Ice Cream Social, until mid-September, but will sponsor a number of activities and events during the summer. They will be listed in monthly newsletters mailed to members in July and August.

Detroit Area Council Camp Fire's Camp Wathana, situated in 370 acres of rolling hills and meadows near Holly, is accepting applications now for summer sessions running July 1 to Aug. 4. "About 80 campers visit Wathana during each of the eight summer sessions," says Elizabeth Podgorny, the council's camp specialist.

The sessions are open to nonmembers as well as Camp Fire members, and are designed for specific age levels and interests, including biking, canoeing, sailing and backpacking. There's even an opportunity to bring along a grand-parent in a program called "Grandma and Me.

In addition to traditional resident camping for children this summer, Wathana provides programs for family and senior citizen and han-dicapped campers. Year-round camping opportunities are available to community groups, such as bands, churches and schools.

The Guidance Center is private and non-profit, financed through state, county and federal funds, private fees and contributions. No person is refused service due to inability to pay: that's basic.

And that's where fund raisers sponsored by the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center, like Art on the Pointe, come in. Because the NEGC cannot possibly operate, let alone innovate, without considerable monetary assistance.

The Assistance League, founded in 1964, is now 200 members' strong. Its volunteers have, over the years, raised nearly one-half million dollars for the NEGC, through projects ranging from special receptions to cookbook publications, from theatrical revues to the annual Northeast Guidance Center supplement to the Grosse Pointe NEWS.

Now comes Art on the Pointe, co-chaired by Jani Pooley and Linda Shaalan who promise, along with all the arts and crafts, refreshment tents, special events and musical entertainment. Sounds like Sunday and Monday will be Very Special Days at the Ford Estate.

South High Art Stars

Congressman George W. Crockett Jr. has announced winners of the Third Annual Artistic Discovery Contest in Michigan's 13th Congressional District — and, this year, the Grand, Second and Third Prize winners are all Grosse Pointe South High School students!

Top prize went to Todd Tyrrell for his "Still Life," done in charcoal. Todd received a $200 savings bond. His drawing will be exhibited in the United States Capitol during the coming year, as part of the National Artistic Discovery Exhibition.

Second prize winner Jim Diverno received a $150 savings bond for his pencil sketch, "J.P.'s Realm." Third prize winner Kathy Judge received a $100 savings bond for her mixed media work, "Maize of Color." Their entries will be exhibited, with those of other winners, in Congressman Crockett's Washington, D.C., and Detroit offices, on a rotating basis.

All students who entered the contest were honored early in the month at a reception hosted by Crockett, during which he praised the prize winners for "the unique characteristics of individual talents and potential that exemplify true artistic expression."

Sunset at the Zoo

When the Detroit Zoological Society held its first "Sunset at the Zoo" party in June, 1965, Society membership stood at 358. Today, membership is just under 2,700 and "Sunset at the Zoo," offered to members as a thank-you for their interest and support, is a MUST on most of those members' June calendars.

Special exhibits and a Birds of Prey show, tractor train tours, Scottish bagpipes and a Dixieland Band will highlight this year's Sunset at the Zoo next Tuesday, June 19. It's open only to members of the Society, a non-profit, charitable organization, governed by a board of 21 directors and an advisory board of six, existing for the sole purpose of promoting and helping the Detroit Zoo.

Through membership dues and contributions, the Society is able to build new and renovate existing exhibits, to purchase animals, labor-saving devices and certain types of equipment. Society contributions have averaged $182,000 annually over the past 10 years, enabling the zoo, built early in this century by the Society and given to the City of Detroit in 1928, to accomplish much that would have been impossible on itslimited budget from city taxes.

New members are very welcome. Interested persons are urged to call the Society office, 399-1310, for information. One of the benefits of membership is free, unlimited admission to the zoo for members and their families.

"Passion and Precision: The Photographer and Grand Prix Racing, 1894-1984," on view now through Aug. 26 at the Detroit Institute of Arts, documents the sport in 100 images by professional photographers who have devoted a major portion of their careers to the subject of motor racing. This exhibit, co-sponsored by the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts and the Long Beach, Calif., Museum of Art, is the first over-view of its scale to be presented in a fine arts context. A major theme is the continuing parallel between race drivers and photographers using complex machines as extensions of themselves.

The photos on display, selected from more than 8,000 in the ar-chives of Daimler-Benz, Renault and public and private collections in Europe, Japan and the United States, document historic moments, heroic feats and the role of the photographer in Grand Prix racing.

The show is open to the public without charge in the DIA's Albert and Peggy de Salle Gallery of Photography during regular museum hours: 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

Greenfield Village to greet summer in bang-up style

Summer at Greenfield Village begins with a bang, followed by several booms, drumbeats, toots and cheers, as the 30th Annual Muzzle Loaders Festival this Saturday and Sunday, June 16 and 17, provides a wonderful commotion from America's past.

Hundreds of costumed blackpowder enthusiasts assemble annually at the festival, for team and individual shooting matches with 19th century pistols, muskets and rifles. Demonstrations of cannon and gatling gun firing add to the din.

Each day begins with soldiers, trappers and camp followers parading through the village, to music by Civil War era bands. Throughout the weekend, there'll be individual concerts featuring instruments, tunes and martial airs familiar to military bands of the mid-19th century.

The 17th Michigan will demonstrate Union Army infantry drills on the Village Green. The 6th Ohio Cavalry will demonstrate expercises in horsemanship and equestrian troop maneuvers.

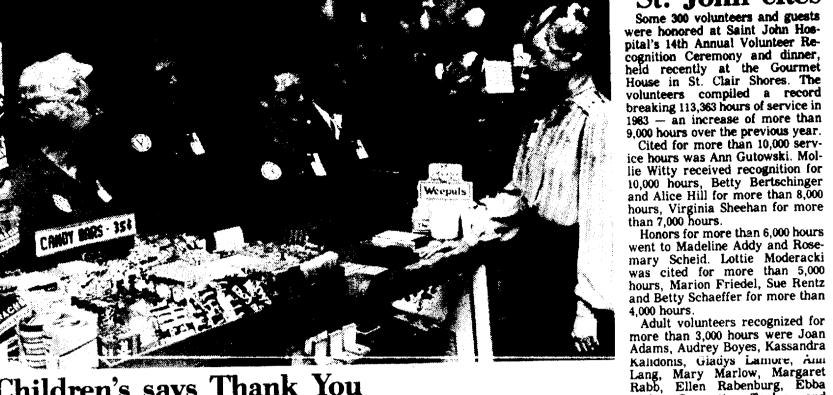

A Civil War encampment and military field hospital will enable visitors to see the equipment and daily routine of the soldiers, and adventuresome guests may even be "recruited" (temporarily) into the ranks, given a medical before shouldering arms in some funda-mental field drills.

The Ladies Soldier Aid Society will be there, knitting mittens and scarves, sewing havlocks, drying fruit and churning butter for the troops. A nearby sutler's tent will offer tin whistles, clay pipes, hard tack and other items that were not government issue for Civil War soldiers.

There'll be shooting matches, tomahawk throwing and tepee construction in the fur traders' camp. There'll be demonstrations of musket construction and flintlock rifle work

The festival is open to the public at no charge beyond the regular village admission of $8 for adults, $4 for children 6 to 12. Children under six are admitted free.

Children's says Thank You

Children's Hospital of Michigan staff members turned the tables at the hospital's 34th Annual Volunteer Appreciation Day, serving the hospital's volunteers at a reception-tea. With a "Strike Up the Band for Hospital Volunteers" theme, the party honored the more than 450 men and women who gave over 49,000 hours of service to Children's during the past year, helping in 34 patient care areas. Volunteers like the Pointe quartet pictured above (left to right) LIZ VINEYARD, ADELE SEGERLUND, TRUDEE MUNRO and CLARA MILLER, receiving congratulations on a job welldone from NANCY FIFE-GIBSON (far right), Children's director of volunteers, in the Hospital Gift Shop, are very much appreciated, and develop a very special relationship with the hospital's staff and its young patients.

Pointer of Interest

By Janet Mueller

Theirs would be, they determined, the antithesis of the stuffy party. The proceeds would go to a local charity: something they, and their guests, would recognize and identify with. As to the theme "We chose bartenders, because of all the people in the restaurant business, bartenders have the greatest following."

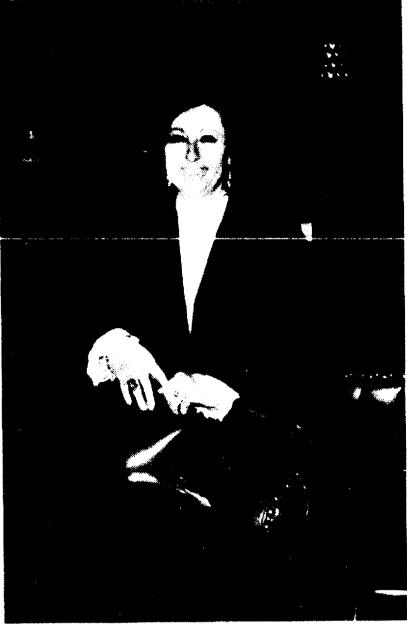

And so, last June, Gail Phillips Jodway and William Ulrich Couzens joined forces to present the First Annual Bartenders Ball, a benefit for the Capuchin Soup Kit-chen, at The Old Place.

They asked bartenders from the metropolitan area's finest restaurants and private clubs to donate their services. They asked popular musicians and entertainers to donate theirs. And everybody said, "Yes!" Everybody said, "It's a great idea!" But the proof of the pudding is in the eating, right?

Gail Jodway and Bill Couzens blew up 1500 balloons. Every stick of furniture was cleared out of the restaurant on East Jefferson Avenue at Beaconsfield, "The Old Place" to several generations of Grosse Pointers, to make room for the bodies. And were there bodies! The party was a sell-out, and more. for between 300 and 400 people had to be turned away at the door. The Old Place simply couldn't hold any more bodies.

Which is why Gail and Bill advise you, to avoid disappointment, to get your tickets in advance for the Second Annual Bartenders Ball, to run from 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. this Monday, June 18, at The Old Place. The ticket donation of $15 per person covers dancing and hors d'oeuvres, and a guaranteed evening of just plain fun. Tickets are available at The Old Place (VAlley 2-4118), The Golden Lion and Little Harry's.

OF COURSE, YOU can take your chances and show up at the door Monday night. More West will be there to great you. If she says, "Sorry: I'd love to have you come up and see me sometime, but tonight is impossible," you can al-ways watch the break dancers performing on the sidewalk in front of the restaurant for a while, then stop for Chinese take-out on your way home. And you just might get in: it's worth a spur-of-the-moment try.

GAIL PHILLIPS JODWAY, CO-CHAIRMAN OF THE SECOND ANNUAL BARTENDERS BALL

THE CLASS SIZE was good --emotionally disturbed children need very special, very per-sonalized attention; state law mandates a class size of no more than 10 - but Gail found the idea that only boys could be emotionally disturbed a trifle archaic.

Then she heard that Bloomfield Hills was going to start a co-ed pro-gram. She applied for the job of setting it up. "I could start on the ground floor, write my own ticket. It was exciting, a challenge . .

The same day she received her contract for the Bloomfield Hills program in the mail, she found out she was pregnant.

"I couldn't do both." Kirk Jodway is 17 now, a student at

But this year there will be 15 valet parkers, instead of seven, and this year figures from the Golden Age of Hollywood (Clark Gable, Betty Grable, et al.) will mingle with the guests. Last year, there were quite a few Extra Terrestrials present.

And this year the Capuchin Soup Kitchen will share Bartenders Ball proceeds with Crossroads.

When Bill Couzens and I first decided we should do something fun for a charity group in Detroit, we looked for a charity that provides practical, tangible assistance to the community. The Capuchins are, I think, well-loved by almost everybody. They rely completely upon private donations, and all the money they receive goes right back into the city." The Capuchin Soup

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol - and penny-wise - cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a sampling of TOMATO TREATS.

The tomato, a member of the Nightshade Family, was cultivated in Peru before Columbus' fleet sailed into the Western Hemisphere. Thomas Jefferson grew tomatoes, as delicacies, but they were not commonly produced until close to 1999. Today they are among the most popular of vegetables, widely used in cooking, flavorings, condiments, salads and as a main course vegetable.

Nutrients: Vitamin A, B-Complex, Potassium, Calcium, Iron, Magnesium, Selenium, Zinc, Copper.

Calories: Raw, one medium 33; canned, one cup — 51. Suggested Seasonings: Tarragon, Basil, Dillweed, Oregano, Dry Mustard, Caraway Or Celery Seeds, Garden Garni Herbs, Chives, Onion, Garlic.

TOMATOES STUFFED WITH CHICK-PEAS AND

- MOZZARELLA
- 4 large, ripe tomatoes (2 lbs.) 1/4 tsp. ground pepper
- 1/4 tsp salt
- 2/3 cup quick-cooking farina
- 1/2 cup chicken broth
- 2 Tbsp. red wine vinegar
- 1 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1 tsp. dried basil leaves
- 3/4 cup chopped; green pepper
- 1 cup drained, canned chickpeas
- ounces part-skim mozzarella cheese, cut into 1/2-inch cubes.

Using small, sharp knife, remove and discard cores from tomatoes. Scoop pulp and seeds out of tomatoes, being careful not to break through outer skin; put pulp in blender. Add pepper and salt; cover and blend 30 seconds at medium speed, until pureed. Heat oven to 350°. Mix farina, chicken broth and 3/4 cup of the tomato puree. Spoon evenly into four 5 to 6-inch diameter baking dishes. To remaining tomato puree, add vinegar, oil, basil and another dash of salt (optional). Blend 5 seconds. Put this puree, peppers, chick-peas and cheese into a bowl; toss to mix and spoon evenly into tomato

Thomas James Streicher, of Deming Lane, was named to the Dean's List for the first semester, 1983-84, at Indiana University-Bloomington.

This year, Diamond Phillips won't be there to take your car. "Last year, we didn't know how many people would show up. We had seven valet parkers, and the cars just kept coming! And it was the hottest night of the year - the parkers were running like mad, streaming with sweat.

'My father and mother live in an apartment above the restaurant, and the noise got to them; my father came down to look over the situation." And, sizing it up, Gail's father immediately went to work where it would do most good. He began parking cars.

Diamond Phillips owns The Old Place. The Golden Lion and Little Harry's. Gail and her brother, Doug, were brought up in the res-taurant business. "Dad made us go behind the soda bar, sweep the floors, learn cashiering." Some-thing out of Dickens, right? Wrong! The idea was that Gail and Doug should know the family business because it was the family business - but they always knew that what they chose to do with their lives was their own business.

Gail wanted to teach emotionally disturbed children. And that's exactly what she did, after earning her Bachelor of Science degree in Special Education from Eastern Michigan University. "I loved it when I did it." That was when she was first married, to a graduate student at Cranbrook. She taught in Walled Lake. "I had a class of six, all boys, because the Walled Lake program was limited to boys."

Summer dates for chamber music series

Village Records and Tapes' second season of Summer Chamber Music Concerts begins this Sunday, June 17, with Tony Cross and Robert Spano performing a program of violin and piano pieces by Mozart, Franck, Bartok and Kreisler at 3:30 p.m.

Cross is the talented young Grosse Pointer who debuted with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra last year at the age of 13. He and Spano are both students at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music. The Steinway grand piano is provided by Hammell Music of Livonia.

Assumption in Windsor. He has two brothers: Keith, 14, a Grosse Pointe South High School student, and Jason, 8, at Defer. Gail, after moving about a bit (Birmingham to New York to Ohio) is back where she started. She was brought up in The Pointe, and is a graduate of St. Paul's Grade and High Schools.

She enjoys tennis, loves to ski and to "escape to the cottage up north," and is president of "the youngest garden club in Michi-gan," La Societe des Jardiniers. She manages The Old Place for her father. Her brother, Doug Phillips, runs The Golden Lion.

"The restaurant keeps me pretty busy," she says. "I'm there every day, working lunch hour, and Friday and Saturday nights." She ask-ed for it; Diamond Phillips, after his daughter pointed out a few things to him, made a few suggestions, observed that she'd "like to see The Old Place a little more lively," had a suggestion of his own: "Why don't you stop talking about it and start doing it?'

GAIL'S AIM HAS been to make The Old Place more youth-oriented. "We gambled that we'd attract a younger crowd but we wouldn't lose our older customers. We didn't, because basically people like to have a good time.

Having a good time, for a good cause, is basically what the Bartenders Ball is all about. Cash bars will be set up at strategic locations in The Old Place, as they were last year. The Phillips family is contributing the use of the restaurant and the hors d'oeuvres, as they did the same thing.' And, of course, we last year.

Graduation week . . .

This is my least favorite week of the year.

It's graduation week and while I'm happy for all the seniors who are now on their way into "the real world," I've never been too choked up over graduation. This year it's no different.

That's because graduation means that many of the excellent athletes whose progress I've followed for four years are not going to be around any more. And I don't like to think about that.

Four years ago, the Class of 1984 was just a bunch of shy, skinny little freshmen, all pumped up with their own ideas about their athletic ability. They were junior high school heroes and nobody could tell them they weren't going to be starting for the varsity teams at North, University Liggett School, South and Our Lady Star of the Sea. And some of them did.

Others played freshman sports, moved up to the junior var-sity and then worked hard to get a spot on the varsity team. Or maybe they never played interscholastic sports at all at first, relying on intermurals for their fun. And when senior year loomed on the horizon, they took a shot at a varsity squad, and made it.

Some of them were All-League or All-Conference or All-American or All-State selections, year in and year out. Others may have sat on the bench, playing an inning or a quarter here, a few seconds there.

But they all had one thing in common: sports. One senior athlete summed up his high school sports experience by say-ing that he always felt as though he "belonged" when he was playing. And that's a feeling everybody should experience at least once.

Among other things, that Class of 1984 (along with teammates from the Classes of 1983 and 1985) have combined to give Grosse Pointe sports fans a lot to cheer about in the past two seasons.

A regional hockey championship at South. Girls' tennis state titles from South and ULS. A ULS boys' soccer crown.

They've brought us league championships in tennis, track, baseball, girls' basketball, football, and soccer. We've gotten to watch a pair of talented hockey teams reach the playoffs and turn the town on in just their first year in existence.

The seniors have played on undefeated football teams, girls' basketball and softball teams that were the class of the Catholic league, 30-7 baseball teams and state-ranked soccer, hockey, baseball and football teams. In each sport, the seniors helped show other teams and other leagues that when it came to sports, Grosse Pointe "belonged," too.

And for four years, I've gotten to watch and write about

Waldeck MVP; North and South reap honors

Between them, the baseball teams at North and South High School won 45 games this spring, while losing just 19. They also managed to win one league title, finish second in a district playoff and place eight players on All-League teams.

Frank Sumbera's Norsemen won their sixth Bi-County Championship under Sumbera, finishing 11-1 in league action, 28-7 overall and earning a No. 4 ranking in state Class A baseball polls. In the six championship years, Sumbera's teams have won 163 games while losing only 33, for a .832 winning percentage.

North senior outfielder Dave Waldeck was also named the 1984 winner of the "Dan Clem Memorial Award" as the most valuable player in the Bi-County league this season.

Waldeck led the Norsemen with 109 at-bats, tied the school record with 54 hits and finished with a hefty .495 average. He had 11 doubles, three triples and one home run for 43 RBI.

has pitched.

For the second straight year, St. Clare of Montefalco's baseball team was to play in the CYO city championship game, as the Falcons were to meet West Side titlist Redford St. Hilary on June 12, (after press time).

St. Clare gained the finals by defeating Warren St. Anne, 6-0, in a June 5 quarterfinal contest, and Madison Heights St. Vincent, 8-5, in last Thursday's East Side championship game.

Doug Lucas tossed a three-hitter, fanning 10 while passing four, against St. Anne. He also aided his own cause with a single and an RBI. Mike Paull, Jason Whelan and Keith McQuerry collected two hits a piece for St. Clare; Paull's blows drove in two runs. Matt Montagne and Rodger Hunwick accounted for the winners' other two hits. St. Clare scored in five of the seven innings and was in command all the way.

The East Side championship game against St. Vincent was a little closer. The Falcons scored in the top of the first on a double by Lucas, followed by Paull's single. Two walks, a hit batsman, an er-

Bryan Ulatowski. Gaining honorable mention status for the Norsemen were Steve Walker, Shawn Dowden and John Matouk.

In his three varsity seasons, Waldeck, who won the North High scholar-athlete award with a 3.8 grade point average, finished with a lifetime batting average of .441, with 127 hits in 288 at-bats.

"He's one of the finest hitters to ever play here at North," said coach Sumbera "David has a great eve for the strike zone: he struck out only three times in 109 at-bats this year ... that's really swinging it!

SOUTH HIGH turned in an 11-3 Eastern Michigan League record, good for a second-place finish in coach Dan Griesbaum's first season as the Blue Devils' mentor. The Devils were 17-12 overall, finishing as runners-up in the district.

South's team batting average was a steady .293, with five regulars hit-ting over .300. Pitching, which many thought would be the Devils' undoing this season, improved. South moundsmen collected a team earned run average of 2.85. Rob Bigham led the team in innings pitched with

Seniors John Williamson (.386) and Steve Carrier (.357) were also accorded first team All-League honors. Rico Cordova, John Tavery, Tony Tocco and Rick Waugaman earned honorable mention. Named to the academic All-

League squad were Brian Raths-burg (3.5 grade point), Williamson, (3.4), Rich Suhrheinrich and John Tavery (3.3).

Griesbaum said that he was "very pleased" with the way South's season progressed. "I'm trying to instill a winning attitude here and I think that's what the players got out of this season — that they can play with anybody."

Chris Stebbins pitched no-hit ball for three innings in leading the Astros to a 10-2 win over the Dodgers. The Astros spread seven hits among seven players. Eric Mathews, Fred Matvias and Bob Khoenle turned in some stellar fielding. The Dodgers' Malloy and Crane made excellent catches.

Astros-White Sox

The Astros produced 21 hits to support the four-hit pitching of Paul Chase in this 15-2 win over the White Sox. John Roberts batted in both of the Sox' runs when his single scored Jim Campagna and Mark Robert, but the Astros scored 13 times in three innings to take the win Chase doubled twice and Jim Bunn collected four hits. Stebbins and Khoenle had three each and Kevin Nesler, Michelle Kovalcik and Kelly Reed had two each to pace the attack.

Farms-City Class C

Led by the hitting of Kenny Prather, Chad Hepner, Nate Cook and Bill Palazzolo, Richmond beat the Park's Army team, 18-3. Prather hit a home run and a double; Hepner, Palazzolo and Cook had three hits each. Dave Cusmano (homer), Chris Pote and Chris Dobranski had hits for Army.

Columbus-Navy

Lanny Tracy, Eric Lindsay, Damon Smith, Paul Gentile, Billy Gehrke, Brian Clute and Neal Hatton powered Columbus past Navy, 15-2. Lindsay had a homer and a single; Smith, Gentile and Clute had three hits each. Brian Sampson, Joe Michael, John Rutherford and Lisa Stevens paced the Navy offense.

Miami-Syracuse

Homers by Tim Kolojiski and Tim Kazul led Miami to a 13-0 victory over Syracuse. Kolojiski and Brennan combined for a one-hitter; Matt Renolds and Matt Hix each had two RBI. Mike Miller doubled for Syracuse.

Columbus-Rochester

Key hits by Chris Johnson and Jeremy Church triggered Rochester's 7-5 win over Columbus. Church drove in the winning run. Mike Gandelot, Casey Ho and Aaron Letscher also contributed to the Rochester attack. Pat McCormick rapped a two-run homer for Columbus; Eric Lindsay had two RBI.

Buffalo-Richmond

Kelly Sander's two-run double in the sixth helped Buffalo to a 5-3 victory, Peter Gracey had a two-run homer in the fourth; Michael Owens went two-for-two at the plate. Clutch pitching by Britt Stebbins preserved the win. Prather had a one-hit pitching performance for Richmond; Hepner collected two including a double. Jeff Huntington pitched, striking out two fo the last three Louisville batters. Ted Watts and Mike Barnes contributed key hits along with Pat Labadie's double for Portland.

Bats are booming

San Antonio-Denver

San Antonio got back on track with an 11-9 win over Denver, Jeff Wolf pitched a fine game for Denver including seven strikeouts. Denver's hitting was powerful with R.J. Albrect, Jay and Dave Auld and Matt Snyder hitting extra base hits including a home run for Matt. Jamie Mertz also had a hit for San Antonio. Steve Bednarchik pitched well, striking out six batters in three innings. He was assisted by Mike Bell who struck out three batters. San Antonio's slugging was led by home runs from Billy Staats who also had a single. Jay Stroble, Joel Peterson, Dan Lefabvre and Aarron Romine went two for two including a triple and a double. Jake Lewis, Mike Bell and Jim Bellanca contributed key singles.

Hawaii-San Antonio

Hawaii handed San Antonio their first loss of the season, 5-3. John Bednarchik and Dan Lefabvre pitched for San Antonio. Knowles kept San Antonio scoreless during his pitching stint for Hawaii. Joe and Jenny Hubbarth, Romine and Skye Ho contributed singles. In the sixth inning San Antonio loaded the bases with two outs on singles by Steve and John Bednarchik and a double by Mike Bell but Hawaii pitcher Kinnard was able to get the third out. Hawaii's pitchers were helped out by a fine defensive play from the entire team including force outs at the plate. Hawaii had jumped out to the lead on the hitting of Davis and Kinnard. Sims and Pinney hit safely for Hawaii. Ed Kinnard went two for two along with Baer with both of his hits being doubles.

Louisville-Hawaii

Louisville defeated Hawaii, 6-4. Louisville's Jay VandeWyngearde held Hawaii hitless for the first three innings while Hawaii's Ed Kinnard was doing the same to Louisville for the first four innings. Chris McCormick came in in the fourth inning for Louisville and struck out seven while allowing only two runs.

Louisville scored its six runs in the fifth inning, led by Chris Mc-Cormick's double and a three-run homerun by Matt Hunt.

Park Majors

It was a hitter's game as George Petersmark (homer) and Tom Moellering (homer) led the Yanks to a 22-19 win. Andy Shaffer led the Yankee defense, making three putouts. Steve Stang (grand slam) paced the Orioles with a fine hitting support from Tim Gramlin, Kelly Graves, Aaron McNally and Dane

Ohio State-Notre Dame

Kyle Hoye, Kevin Rauch and Brendan Shaw shared the pitching duties for Notre Dame in a 12-2 win over Ohio State. Tom Murphy had a triple and an RBI and Hove doubled for Notre Dame's extra base hits. Brendan Shaw and Shane Aubuchon each scored twice; Aubuchon and John Daudlin made fine catches in the outfield. Pat Jarvis pitched four innings for Ohio State and John Haise finished the game in relief. OSU's two runs were scored in the fifth inning by Jeff Bockhurst and Kevin Bookvich when Brian Brenner singled and John Haise doubled. Haise went three-for-three, singling in the first inning and doubling in the fourth. Brian Wilson also doubled for OSU.

Ohio State-Michigan State

Michigan State continued to lead the league by defeating OSU, 9-2, after chalking up another win earlier in the week against Michigan. Against OSU, Danny Minadeo, Donny DeSerrano, Jason Bailey and Fritz Coyro shared the pitching duties. Chip Peterson, Darren Havern and Minadeo were the power hitters for MSU and Bailey and Jim Griem contributed to the win with good defensive plays. Jonathon Haise pitched for OSU. Wilson doubled. Both OSU runs were scored in the six inning.

Notre Dame-Michigan Michigan beat Notre Dame, 6-5. Matt Recht pitched four innings and Danny Commer got the win with impresive pitching for Michigan. Commer allowed only one run to score in his two innings, striking out the last batter and leaving the tying run on base. Notre Dame left 11 runners on base and had the bases loaded in two consecutive innings. Runs were scored twice by Aubuchon and David Ownby. Matt Bentley scored the other run for Notre Dame.

Hoye pitched three innings, striking out five and allowing four runs. Rauch took over on the mound for the fourth and fifth innings. Playing shortstop, Hoye made a double play, tagging the runner and throwing to Wortman at first base. OSU's pitchers, Recht and Commer each went two-for-two, scoring six runs. Kris Hogland and Jamie Loffredo also scored. Catcher Loffredo tagged two runners out at home.

Farms-City AAA

Hawaii Denver

After three tough losses, Hawaii broke into the win column with an 11-5 win over a rallying Denver team. Keith Baer, Steve Keating and Chris Sims had extra base hits for Hawaii while Ed and Keith Kinnard and Peter Flanagan added key singles. The trio of Baer, Kinnard and Tom Davis all had impressive stints on the mound. Barfield, Mc-Laughin, Conway and Bonnani Con tributed hits for Denver.

Bocci, Wood and Kraft were awarded presentation bouquets and State TAC medals for their achievements. A laurel wreath was presented to Mrs. Bocci as the Women's Michigan Walk Champion for 1984. Most of the racewalk partic-ipants originally learned their walking skills in classes and clinics conducted in St. Clair Shores and Grosse Pointe. Denver-Portland

Denver beat Portland, 13-7, Portland's James Combs went two for three, Chris Oliver had a double. Brian Nattoli and Jeff Huntington were the pitchers. Ken Barfield made an unassisted triple play for Denver, Denver's Dave Auld pitched the entire game recording 10 strikeouts. Denver's hitting was lead by Jay Auld who went three for three including a home run. Ken Barfield also went three for three, Matt Snyder and R.J. Albert both went two for three. Shortstop Jamie Mertz and first baseman Jeff Wolf put in fine fielding performances for Denver.

Portland-Louisville

Portland beat Louisville, 7-2. Louisville pitcher Jay VandeWyngearde started the first inning by striking out the side before the hitting attack began. He was joined in the pitching duties by Chris McCor-mick. Carlin Wiegner led the Louisville hitting, going two for two. Brandon Farmer and Dennis Egan each singled during Louisville's fifth inning comeback attempt. Portland's James Combs pitched three scoreless innings and allowed only one hit; he also went two for

Lupo.

Cards-Phillies

Mike Montagne hit his third homer in two games to lead the Cards to a 7-2 win. Lance Debets pitched a complete game for the Cards, who were paced by Mike Rentz (triple) and Jim Pote. Craig Kostecke, Brian Rauch, Mark Schoenegge, Eddie Dorda, Danny Cummins and Bill Saylor led the defense.

Indians-Yankees

Mark Jungwerth and Joe Caldwell pitched the Indians to an 11-3 win. Matt Wysocki and Petersmark pitched for the Yanks. Chad Hawkins, Mike Johnson, Shaffer and Peter Griem led the Yankee offense.

Cards-White Sox

Montagne continued his home run rampage with a first inning grand slam as the Cardinals beat the Sox, 10-6. Rentz continued his hitting, with help from Pat O'Donoghue, Dorda, Rauch, Pote, Kostecke and Schoenegge. DeBets, Rauch and Taylor combined on a game-ending double play. Mike Fairmouth pitched all the way for the Sox. Josh Cummings played a terrific game for the Sox, with a bases-loaded double; he also starred as catcher. Jason Benevidez, Al Turner, Fred Turner, Peter Moran and Mike O'Leary played well for the Sox.

Phils-Yanks

Griem and Petersmark pitched for the Yanks in their 13-12 loss to the Farms-City Phils. Moellering had two doubles; othe hitters were Hawkins (double), and Fast Eddie Safadi (triple). Shaffer, Griem, Johnson, Wysocki and Hawkins all played well.

Park Minors

She had three straight strikeouts in the third and fifth innings. Mary Meeker homered for Wisconsin in the fifth inning.

Hawaii-Denver

Hawaii gained its second win of the regular season by defeating Denver 12-3 on May 31. Rob Knowles got the win for Hawaii in his regular season pitching debut. Steve Keat-ing highlighted the Hawaii offense with two doubles, a single, two RBI and one run. Jason Hanawalt, Tom Davis and Mark Pinney also had Hawaii hits. Matt Snyder and J. Wolf shared the pitching duties for Denver. Matt and Jay Auld contributed hits for Denver.

San Antonio-Portland

San Antonio beat Portland, 10-8. Mike Bell, Danny Lefabvre and Steve Bednarchik pitched for San Antonio. San Antonio's hitting was led by Joel Peterson who went three for three including two doubles. John Bednarchik, Bell, Lefabvre, Joe Hubbarth, Aarron Romine and Skye Ho contributed key hits. For Potland, Mike Barnes and James Combs pitched. Portland's infield was tough making some fine defensive plays. John Combs and Ted Watts contributed singles.

San Antonio-Louisville

San Antonio remained undefeated after a 17-5 win over Louisville. Bednarchik and Lafabyre were outstanding in their pitching performances. San Antonio's Bednarchik went three for three including two triples and a double. Jenny Hubbarth, Jason Chevalier and Ho contributed singles. Ho alsy put in a fine defensive game. Bednarchik stretched a double into a home run on good base running. Romine and Peterson each had a double and a triple. Chris McCormick started the game for Louisville. Don Henry and Jason Andrews went two for three. D. Grundman hit a double, Matt Hunt, Carlin Wiegner and D. Egan contributed singles.

Farms-City Class C

Home runs by Beth Weyhing and Chad Hepner triggered Richmond to a 20-14 win over Miami. Kenny Prather led the Richmond "hit parade" with four, while Weyhing, Hepner and Andy Cutrell each con-tributed three. Miami's Davenport rapped four hits, while Brennan smacked a home run and a triple. Matt Reynolds and Tim Kuzul chipped in three hits.

Bruins beat Art Van

For the second year in a row, the Pee Wee AA Grosse Pointe Bruins have defeated the Art Van AAA major team to win the Pee Wee travel team spring playoff championship at Fraser Hockeyland.

The Bruins came into the final game unbeaten and after a scoreless first period, took the lead. Bobby Beltz passed to Mark Grebik, who caught the Art Van goalie off guard and scored at the :32 second mark.

At 8:01 of the third period, Peter Donaldson and Beltz combined to set up Grebik; he gave the Bruins a 2-0 lead. With nine seconds left in the game, Nicky Leone handed the puck to Beltz, who put the game out of reach by scoring into the empty net.

Sharing the Bruins' second shutout of the tournament were goalies Joey Condino and Marc Orsini. The Bruins gave up just one goal in playing the minimum three games and beating the Avon Stallions, 5-1; and topping Art Van in two games, 3-0.

Defensemen Coello, Jason Erbecker, Ray Jewell, Leone and Jason Weid were responsible for the low scores; the Bruins' 11 goals came on the forechecking pressure of forwards Bobby Beltz, Don Berninger, Anthony Buzzelli, Joey DiMarco, Donaldson, Grebik and Russell Jewell.

The Bruins are interested in playing weekly hockey games for fun. Further information on the games may be obtained from team manager Stephanie Donaldson at 343-0537 or coach Gary Weid at 885-6429.

The team will be playing in the Little Caesar's Amateur Hockey League this coming season; Mrs. Donaldson and Weid may be contacted for tryout schedules.

Babe Ruth First half is history

The Dodgers captured the first half championship in the Park Babe Ruth League with a 7-2 record. The leaders capped off the first half with an 8-6 verdict over the Woods Expos.

Mike Coffey went six innings giving up only one earned run, to gain the decision. He struck out two and didn't walk a man, while scattering five hits. He also aided his own cause with two hits and two RBI. Dave Salkowski garnered a single and a double and drove in one run, while Miek Paull doubled to knock in another tally.

Salkowski scattered seven hits, fanned eight and collected two hits himself, as the Dodgers downed the Phillies, 8-5.

ł

Jim Morris had two hits for the winners, while Joe Page tripled to drive in three runs. Paull and Lucas doubled, while losing pitcher Brian Aardema was three-for-four at the plate, including two doubles

Cubs will have something to say about the league championship. Manager Phil Hage is confident about his team and attributes the Cubs' success to the hitting of Brian David, Scott Reiter and Josh Abbottt and the pitching of Eddie Wood and David.

The Cubs also include David Kopitzke, Mike Isip, John Jaboro, Nick Maiorana, Ted Stephens, Dan Wood, Chris Adams, Chris Mazey, Paul Wilson and Craig Heisner.

With their 6-6 record, the Montreal Expos have the hitting power to win their share. Mike Gates, Matt Mourad and Jay Tobias have provided the offense. Anthony Meir, John Hielscher, Chuck Thomas, Jim DeYonker, David Harris, Paul Altobelli, Matt Stephens, Kris Kurtz, James Acord, Eric Zenow and Stephen Stander

Names like Dave Waldeck, Mark Young, Karen McCarthy, Marc Tirikian, Cindi Tsangalias, Chris Bingaman, Tim Sheridan, Tim Monahan, Mark Kreuter, Fred Schultz, Geoff Tischbein, Rick Lass, Cathy Caruso, Marlene Priesz, Megan Bonnani, Denise Ruwart, Kelly Langs, Brian Rathsburg, Eric Loudermilk, Dan Follis, John Mikesell, Rick Suhrheinrich, Tony Tocco, John Williamson, Jim Arnold, Paul Hawk, Madeleine Willard, Oscar Alcantara, Dan Bowen, Steve Georgi, Frank Crociata, Steve Pack, Jim Valice, Dain French, Brian Hunt, Paula Mighion, Leslie Mackey, Windy White, Jenny Peck, Amy Rasimas, Sarah Glass.

There are, of course, too many seniors to name here. I hope they each know that they are included in my memories of the Class of 1984. What they should be sure of is that they've given their parents, coaches and teachers a lot to be proud of, and enabled the rest of us to escape from the "real world" for a while and enjoy their endeavors. For that, we are grateful.

St. Clare sets record

The St. Clare girls' track team scored an unbeatable 57 points to win the 16th annual Metro-Detroit CYO Track and Field Championships last week. The championship is the fifth straight for St. Clare setting an all-time record for consecutive CYO city titles. The previous record of four was held by the St. Clare volleyball team.

Runner-up to St. Clare was St. Mary, Redford with 39 points, followed by Birmingham Holy Name with 16 points and Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows with 15 points. The other schools scored 12 points or less.

The Falcon girls were city champs in four of the 11 events. Shot-putter Rosanne Salomone set a new city record of 34 feet, 412 inches in her event while Cece Rettig took the 50 meter dash in 7.2. Megan Keller came on to win the 800⁻run and the 400 meter relay team of Sarina Winston, Jeanne Purrenhage, Rettig and Bridget Sullivan won that event in 55.0.

Other top five performances included Winston and Heather Adragnas in the shot put, Purrenhage and Rettig in the long jump, Sullivan in the high jump, Megan Nelson in the 400 and Kim LaBranch in the 200, Others were Christy Wronikowski and Mari-Jane Garling in the 800, Ellen Mayer and Kristen Lenhard in the 1600 and the 800 meter relay team of LaBranch, Purrenhage, Nelson and Sullivan.

St. Clare's boys' team, city champs in 1980, 1981 and 1983, took runner-up honors to St. Mary's in last week's championship, just as it did in 1982.

Mike Peplowski gave St. Clare a first place in the shot put; finishing second were Peter Astfalk in the 800 and Jad Pablo in the 500. Pablo also teamed up with Winston Capalong to place in the long jump and later, the pair joined Derald Penn and Dave Dixon to take second in the 400 meter relay.

Also placing was the 800 meter relay team of Capalong, Dixon, Pat O'Brien and Frank Zielinski.

At St. Clare's Awards Night June 6, Jeanne Purrenhage was named most valuable athlete for the girls' track team while Mari-Jane Garling was tapped as most improved. For the boys, Dave Dixon was most valuable and Jad Pablo, most improved.

The Dodgers started off the second half with a 7-1 decision over the Padres. Dave Arnold went the first six innings, giving up only two hits while registering five strikeouts for the win. He also collected one hit. Jay Henze had three hits and two RBI, while Lucas and Pauli had two hits and one RBI each for the Dodgers. The Padres' Al Shaheen registered 16 strikeouts in going the distance, but yielded eight hits and nine passes.

contests, trimming the Braves, 11-2, and the Phillies, 9-5.

Dave Feys went the distance against the Braves, scattering two hits while fanning five. He also singled, tripled, and drove in two runs.

Scott Fischer went the first five innings against the Phillies to gain the win. He struck out six while giving up four hits. Feys again notched two hits and two RBI.

Phillies downed the Braves, 9-4, with Sean Bruce tossing the first five innings for the win. Steve Addy doubled for the winners; Marcus Wysocki, Mark Sabella, and Dan O'Grady each collected doubles for the Braves.

The Cardinals split their two games, but still remained in first place in the All-American League.

Steve Berg was the winning pitcher, as Athletics were beaten, 12-2. Joe Rosasco was the loser, as Woods Tigers downed the Cards, 13-10. Rosasco banged out three hits, including a triple. The Astros defeated Brewers.

4-0, and gained a 9-0 forfeit decision over the Woods Orioles, to hang onto third place in the standings.

Woods-Shores

With eight games left in the regular season, the Woods-Shores Houston Astros were in first place with a 9-3 record. Strong pitching has been the key to the Astros success, says manager Bob Kutscher, especially the relief performances of Dino Vento and Russel Rice. Rob Marshall, Colin McNeil, Doug Hagen, Jerry Wholihan, C.J. Anderson and Jack Williams have provided the offensive punch.

Other Astros are Rob Rochon, Mike Monette, Jim Poulitz, Scott Leach, Robert Straske and Mike Hagen

Jim Applegate, Dan Rashid, Chris Gordon, Mike Farrelly and Brian Metry have hit well; Tom Boni has been solid in relief. Mike Miller, Kris Kubalak, Sean Lee, Frank Markey, Mike Inman, Domenic Martilotti and Allen Holmes round out the lineup.

In inter-league competition, the Woods-Shores Babe Ruth league is The Padres won their other two 9-7 overall. "Our league is very competitive in inner-league play and we look forward to playing teams from the Park and Farms-City,'' said Astros' manager Kutscher.

Farms-City

The Tigers beat the Yankees, 11-1, on June 7, as Rick Leonard pitched well and tripled. Tim Fellows and Tim Nugent paced the hitting attack, Steve Gedman pit-ched for the Yankees. The Tigers finished the first half on top, running their record to 10-0.

The Red Sox bounced the Indians, 19-1, in a June 8 contest. Mark Belanger was the winning pitcher in a game highlighted by a grand slam by Jason Colegrove. Colegrove had four RBI, Ted Kolp doubled and collected three RBI, Dale Wilson had two RBI, Bellanger tripled and Andrew Bielski had two singles. Dan Monahan pitched for the Indians.

In the All-American League, the Rangers beat the Angels, 18-2, June 9. Tom Liliensiek was the winning pitcher, striking out the side three times and throwing a two-hitter. John Radke had two singles for the Rangers and Pahl Zinn and Liliensiek each had three RBI. Tim Golabic had two RBI, Marc Tucker and Eric London each had one. Tom Bruetsch pitched for the Angels.
