Thanks, gramps

Now, let's see if I can keep this straight. John and Michelle Kelly, of Muir Road, just had a baby. They named him Jack.

Michelle has a father who lives in Hawaii and has a sense of humor. Because Mom and Dad Kelly are both in law school, they receive a lot of kidding from Granddad in Hawaii about the Kelly name being perfect for politics.

One thing grandparents love to do is send their grandchildren presents, right? Well, so does Michelle's father. Only he addressed the gifts to "Senator" Jack Kelly.

The post office, believing the gifts were intended for state Senator John Kelly, sent the gifts to his office instead of the Kelly home on Muir Road.

Confused? It gets better. The real Senator Kelly and his staff were baffled and thought perhaps it was meant for Detroit Councilman Jack Kelly and contacted his office. No, said "Red Pop" Jack and bounced the ball back to John.

Finally, big Senator Kelly's staff contacted little "Senator" Kelly's mom and asked if there was a "Senator" Jack Kelly living at their address. Well, there's a Jack Kelly here, she said, but he's only two weeks old. Meanwhile, more gifts arrived for the "senator," delivered by a thoroughly befuddled mailman.

The gift in the first package? A set of miniature golf clubs.

Obviously, there's two ways out of this mess. Either John and Jack Kelly are going to have to resign their positions, or little Jack Kelly is going to be elevated to president.

Bless you, hops

Lots of stories with the Stroh name in them this week. First, a new Detroit social tradition will be established this year at historic Trinity church, 1345 Gratiot, with the Blessing of the Hops.

That's right. Hops. One of the ingredients used in making beer. The blessing ties in with an Oktoberfest which will be held in the fellowship hall of the church on Friday evening, Oct. 5.

The fest, a black-tie affair, will feature authentic Oktoberfest food, beer by the stein, and German music and entertainers. According to information provided by promoters of the event, the blessing of hops is a longtime tradition in Europe, which celebrates the event with numerous festivals.

Detroit loves a good party, so they're going to Stroh one on Oct. 5. Hops in a cylinder will be presented at the fest and placed in the Stroh Brewery plant throughout the year.

The original party animal himself, Tom Schoenith, is helping develop the event and promises an outstanding evening.

Tickets to the bash are $100 and are tax-deductible. Proceeds will be used for outreach programs of Trinity Lutheran and to help restore and renovate the facilities. The money is not intended for "church" or "religious" purposes.

Call Mrs. Edie Miller at 567-3100 for more reservation information.

Pipe dreams

You aren't going to catch me at the MSU-UM game on Oct. 6, nosirreebob.

I'll be hunkered down in the audience at the Stroh Haus on Gratiot Avenue that Saturday Gasp! Now that's what I call chili!

By Tom Greenwood

It was a pretty chili day at the Detroit Boat Club last Sunday, but nobody was shivering.

In fact, at times, it got downright hot. But that's the way they like their chili on Belle Isle. I know, because I was one of five judges in the club's Second Annual Chili Cook-off Contest.

The invitation came from Farms residents (and DBC members) Bob and Sue Wandschneider. I had written about their exploits as chili chefs earlier this summer, and they floated an invitation my way to be a judge and I grabbed it with both hands.

The cook-off took place under a big tent situated next to the club's pool. As spectators approached, the first thing that hit was the smell of big, bubbling vats of chili fermenting beneath the big top.

Inside, nine large tables edged the sides of the tent, each with a crew of chili heads busy tending their pots, adding this, tasting that and constantly stirring their brew. Their tables were crowded with exotic ingredients, secret sauces and fire extinguishers.

I wasn't sure if they were for the cooking fires or for the chili. Probably a little of both.

And of course, everyone had exotic, descriptive names for their pots of killer chili. Sue Wandschneider was busy working over her Rock Island chili while a small electric train circled on the table next to her.

Next door, husband Bill advertised his Barn Burner chili, as a large, Texas bullwhip decorated his table. Over in a far corner, Bill Campbell hovered anxiously over his chili, which he described as Chinese Chili because he included Chinese Hunan peppers. Bill wore a bright yellow apron with slots for large, mean-looking knives.

Charles Bronson would have felt right at home eating a bowl of red with Bill Campbell. But while everyone in the tent seemed to be wearing cowboy hats or railroad caps, perhaps the most committed crew (a good choice of words here) was the chili-creating team behind No-Ah's chili. Imagine if you will, two very large men in crewcuts, dressed in bedsheets shaped as togas and sporting large oak staves.

Their wives were dressed, for some reason, as mice. Complete with Mouskateer ears and charcoal whiskers. I didn't ask why they were dressed this way. I was afraid to.

But I did ask them and a few others, what the secret to good chili was. "Without a doubt, it's Mombasa peppers," said Don Macchnee, of No-Ah's chili. "It's the hottest in the world."

"It's the spices," said Mimi Streit, of the Lakeshore Sail Club. "The spices and the color."

"The real secret is to let your wife make it," said Gerald Streit. "That's what I do."

"The secret? It's soul!" said Paul Thompson, and he should know. Thompson and his Chili-Mac crew were the hands-down winners in last year's contest. "And we're going to kick butt again this year."

Any new items in the chili this year, Paul? He admitted with a small smile that he'd made a few "refinements."

"Yeah, he bought a carp from Gaudon and threw that in," said

Bill Campbell of Chinese Chili fame.

The "ringer" in this year's contest was Al Speteri, of Big Al's

Bear Meat Chili, winner of the Ontario Chili Cook-off Contest. Everyone expected big things from Al and his crew because of their recent win and impending trip to the Tropicana Gold Mine in California for the World Cook-off Contest. We're talking serious chili here, people.

"Yeah, I'm the ringer," said Al quietly. "I was the ringer last year too, but I'll admit this myself. Paul Thompson did make the best last year. I took one taste and said he was the winner."

"The secret to good chili is in the spices. I try to brew nearly the same batch every time for consistency, then I add and refine, trying to fine-tune it. I probably make one big batch of chili a week for three or four months during the winter just trying new ingredients. I get all my ingredients in the Mexican parts of Detroit. My wife gets pretty tired of it and eats something else. I love it."

Over in the corner, John Beadle, of the Saginaw Yacht Club, was busy sticking a thermometer into his brew. "175 degrees," he said with a smile. "It makes the Department of Health happy if I don't kill anybody. The secret is in the peppers. They're like dogs. The smaller they are, the meaner they are. I make chili, not vegetable soup."

Beadle estimated he'd made 20-30 big batches of chili a year for the past few years.

The contest officially began at noon when the contestants were allowed to start their fires and began

And the winners are . . .

There were a lot of happy faces at the Detroit Boat Club last Sunday after the winners were announced in the club's Second Annual Chili Cook-off Contest. Head judge Jim Adamski (at the microphone) gave top honors to, at the left, Paul Thompson, creator of Chili-Mac chili, and a repeat champion from last year. Second place went to Mimi and Gerald Streit, of the Lakeshore Sail Club, and that old Chinese Chili chef himself, Bill Campbell, who looks like he can't quite believe he won, took third.

Film group pulls out sans notice

It could be curtains for the Punch & Judy

By Pat Paholsky

The Punch and Judy Theatre has been dark for more than a week, leaving the building's owners in the dark over the sudden closing.

Realtor Robert Edgar, who owns the building along with partner Richard Crawford, said he first learned the theater was closed when he drove past last Tuesday night and didn't see the lights on.

"Our tenants just walked on us," Edgar said. "They are many months in arrears and they haven't paid their utility bills."

The future of the 54-year-old landmark is in doubt, Edgar said he would be conferring with his partner in Denver this week.

Responding to published reports that they have subsidized the Punch by more than $100,000 over the years, Edgar said the figure was higher. He and Crawford bought the building in 1976.

It was almost three years to the date—Sept. 17, 1981—that the Ann Arbor-based group, Classic Film Theatre, opened at the Punch with the film classic, "Casablanca." It was the group's plan to become Detroit's first full-time repertory movie house, showing a different film every day, seven days a week.

They had, at the time, one successful year to their credit of running a daily schedule of films at the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor. The group ceased operations at the Michigan last month.

Tim Artist, 34, president and one of the founding members of Classic Film Theatre, could not be reached for comment.

Patrons who call the Punch for showtimes hear the following recorded message: "The Classic Film Theatre has temporarily closed at this location. We thank you for your patronage and support. Discount cards will be honored at a new location to be announced in the future. We thank you once again and look forward to a new repertory season."

Before the group leased the building, another group, the Theater Artists Guild of Metropolitan Detroit, attempted to make the Punch the focus of cultural activities in Grosse Pointe. That group's goal was to attract prominent patrons of the arts, restore the building to its original splendor and establish a cultural center for the Pointes similar to Orchestra Hall in Detroit.

The plan failed when the group was unable to muster local financial support.

The Punch has been many things to many people since it was first established by noted residents in 1930 as their movie house. The building was designed by Robert O. Derrick, the architect who designed the Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village.

Janet Mueller, Grosse Pointe News society editor, recalls that in the 1940s, '50s and '60s, it was common for children in Grosse Pointe to celebrate their birthdays by first having a party and then going to the Punch for the matinee.

With the advent of television came a decline in the number of movie-goers, and the Punch, along with other theaters, fell upon hard times. In 1977, managers of the theater discovered there was an audience for "The Rocky Horror Picture Show" and began showing the film at midnight on weekends. A video arcade was added to the lobby.

The showings, which attracted a following from a wide area, ran until 1981, earning cult status for the film. While the notoriety was not appreciated by nearby residents, the showings were a major source of revenue for the theater at the time.

The video games are gone, but the pipe organ, reminiscent of another time, remains. It's been maintained by the Motor City Organ Society in exchange for the use of the building at times.

Church seeks to rechristen street

While some Pointe residents would like to close off one end of their street, officials at Grosse Pointe Baptist Church would like the Woods City Council to rename a portion of 8 Mile Road. It seems that finding the church, located on the corner of Mack Avenue and 8 Mile, poses a problem for visitors who confuse 8 Mile Road with Vernier. Church officials have asked that the city rename 3 Mile to Yorktown between Mack and Goethe. The council referred the matter to the Planning Commission which will make a recommendation in the matter. But what about the confusion to those drivers traveling on 8 Mile Road who suddenly discover they are in Yorktown? Appears that city officials are in a no-win situation on this one.

Firefighters mourn Jim MacIntosh

By Tom Greenwood

His friends and co-workers thought of him as the original "Big Mac." And at 6 feet 5 inches and well over 250 pounds, Jim MacIntosh was all of that and more.

He was a former Farms firefighter, an outdoorsman, hunter and fisherman, the cook for his firehouse crew and a quiet, reliable friend.

"He was always a good man, a dedicated man who did his work and I hated to see him leave," said Farms Fire Chief Warren Schultz. "He was a very big guy, but kind of shy. A little bit of a loner, you might say. Mostly he talked about sports and the outdoors. He just loved it in the woods. That's why he retired to the U.P. He was also a bit of a gourmet cook."

"And that's a reputation he deserved," Sgt. Don Jiles said. "Jim didn't care about how much something would cost. He cooked the best and wanted the best ingredients. Some of his salads alone would cost more than the meal allotment. He put his heart and soul into his cooking . . . along with lots of paprika."

In fact, Jim MacIntosh was such a good cook that the Grosse Pointe News singled him out for an article on firehouse chow in April 1981. At that time Jim laughed that he always volunteered to do the cooking "because that way you don't have to clean up or do the dishes. That's why I always like to leave a big mess."

Jim MacIntosh died Tuesday, Sept. 18, in Marquette, not far from the retirement home he bought in the Copper Country. He loved so much.

He was born in Northville and was a graduate of Grosse Pointe High School. He had lived in the Farms for 18 years and in the Woods for an additional six.

Jim spent nearly eight years in the Navy and saw action in the South Pacific during World War II. After his discharge, he joined the Farms Fire Department in May 1954 and attended the fire college at the University of Michigan and other related classes at Macomb Community College.

Mr. MacIntosh is survived by his father, Donald, and three sisters. Arrangements were handled by the Verheyden Funeral Home and interment was at White Chapel Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan United Conservation Club, Lansing.

After the service, friends, family and women gathered at the headquarters of the Metropolitan Club to remember their departed buddy. It was then that many learned for the first time that Jim had served on the board of directors of the club, which is open only to members of the Pointe police and fire departments.

"That's typical of the way Jim was," said one fireman, saluting the memory of Jim MacIntosh. "A good man quietly doing a good job."

Hiring a vet can earn credits

Employers can be paid up to $10,000 to train a veteran to fill a job opening and can receive as much as a $3,000 state tax credit for hiring a Vietnam veteran or handicapper.

Employers can learn more about these programs, and can meet potential employees who are eligible for the programs at a Job/Information Fair to be held Tuesday, Oct. 2, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Arborland Mall in Ann Arbor.

The fair is sponsored by the Ann Arbor VA Medical Center, with support from the Washtenaw County Veterans Affairs Office, the Ann Arbor Mayor's Commission on Employment of the Handicapped and Michigan Rehabilitation Services in recognition of National Employ the Handicapped Week, Oct. 7-13.

Korean and Vietnam era veterans and handicapped individuals are invited to participate in the fair. They will be interviewed when they first come to the mall, to learn what benefits they are eligible for and to link them with employers who need their skills. Their benefits may include not only eligibility for these hiring programs, but also such opportunities as aptitude testing, job counseling and training and education programs.

Employers, who must sign up in advance for the fair, can receive more information about the special programs under which they can hire handicappers and veterans.

These include a cash payment of up to $10,000 in nine months for hiring and training a Vietnam- or Korean-era veteran. Under another program, the employer can receive a state tax credit of 50 percent of the first $6,000 in wages paid to a Vietnam veteran. Other programs limit the employer's workers' compensation liability and give on-site help to an employer who wishes to improve handicapped access at a work place.

Employers, veterans and handicappers who would like to participate in the fair or who wish further information should contact fair coordinators Don Daniels or Ruth Edwards at the VA Medical Center, (313) 769-7100, ext. 486; or Carl Monroe, a rehabilitation counselor at Michigan Rehabilitation Services, (313) 971-0400.

Quit smoking

Cottage Hospital will offer free, introductory sessions of the Smokeless System, a guaranteed technique for quitting smoking, on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 8 and 9, in the nurses' residence at the rear of the hospital parking lot from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The hospital is located at 159 Kercheval.

The Smokeless System was developed by the American Institute for Preventive Medicine and is taught at Cottage Hospital by Victoria J. Boyce, B.S.N. The system's approach to breaking the smoking habit consists of behavior modification, stress management, cognitive coping skills and eating management.

For more information, call the Education section at the hospital, 884-8600, ext. 2390.

Dr. Ray H. Kiely

Dr. Kiely back from Lebanon

Returning to the United States after a year as interim president of the Near East School of Theology, Dr. Ray H. Kiely will be back in the pulpit at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church on Sunday, Oct. 7.

The former Grosse Pointe resident and senior minister at the Lakeshore Road Presbyterian church for more than 13 years served as temporary head of the school of theology in war-torn Beirut, Lebanon, from the autumn of 1983 to early summer 1984.

He will address members of the congregation and friends from the community at both the 9:30 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. services.

Dr. Kiely and his wife, Martha Meister Kiely, have been traveling in the States over the summer and will be settling in Buffalo, N.Y., the first part of next year. Prior to serving as senior minister at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, Dr. Kiely was head of Westminster Church in Buffalo.

Born in New Hampshire, Dr. Kiely earned his undergraduate degree at Middlebury College in Vermont, a B.D. degree from Union Theological Seminary and an honorary doctor of divinity degree from Carroll College of Waukesha, Wis.

Martha Meister Kiely is an author, artist and lecturer. Her published works include "Devotions for Women at Home" plus articles for Presbyterian periodicals. The Kielys have traveled extensively in Europe, Africa and the Holy Land and have conducted tours abroad from time to time.

The Oct. 7 worship services at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will be punctuated by a middle hour in which several classes are available for adults and for children, with coffee and refreshments served in Fellowship Hall.

Arts Bazaar is Saturday

The Arts Bazaar this Saturday, Sept. 29, at the War Memorial, sponsored by the League of Women Voters, is the group's major fundraiser of the year.

The works of more than 65 artists from Michigan and Ohio will be featured. In addition, some 19 candidates for political office will attend the event, giving participants a chance to meet them and talk to them informally.

Funds raised from the bazaar provide the total operating cost for the League, enabling them to provide non-partisan voter information, forums and other services.

The event will be held in the Alger House and Crystal Ballroom from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Freeman ends term as M.M.L. president

By Pat Paholsky

Grosse Pointe Woods Mayor George S. Freeman wrapped up his term as president of the Michigan Municipal League recently and said it has been a busy and exciting year.

In his official capacity, he traveled to 10 regional meetings held throughout the state, including the Upper Peninsula, presided over the annual convention and attended legislative meetings in Lansing. That doesn't take into account the committee meetings and other functions he took part in.

"The time I devoted to it, I got back," he said. "It helps your city because you get an insight of what's happening outside of your community. You can't live in a box."

George S. Freeman

The Michigan Municipal League represents 486 cities and villages, or nearly all of the cities in the state, Freeman said. The goal of the 85-year-old organization is to improve municipal government and administration through cooperation. The group is also a member of the National League of Cities.

Freeman, who has been mayor of the Woods for five years, served 10 years on the city council before that. He has the distinction of being the longest-serving member of the council.

"If you have the time, I think it's very important," he said of public service, explaining that his job as a financial consultant enables him to set his own hours.

He was elected president of the League last September by the board of trustees of which he had been a member. The League took care of his traveling expenses, but other than that, he was not paid.

Some of his accomplishments during the past year included arranging for the League's headquarters in Ann Arbor to have an open house, its first in 15 years.

"The headquarters has a really fine library where municipalities can get information to help them; for instance, if they have a problem with an ordinance," he said.

The League had a national teleconference where officials gathered in Traverse City, Marquette and Troy and talked about their problems and exchanged information. The program was picked up by a satellite and beamed more than 22,000 miles, Freeman said.

Other changes he was instrumental in affecting was establishing the office of vice president and staggering terms of office of the League's standing committees.

Inter-connection not priority

Shores residents may someday be able to watch local access programs produced for Sterling Heights over their ComCast system. That someday isn't anytime soon however, according to cable company officials.

Early this month, the Sterling Heights cable commission requested that ComCast comply with a provision of the city's franchise agreement that calls for the inter-connection of local access programs between ComCast's southeast Michigan franchise.

Comcast holds four franchises covering Grosse Pointe Shores, Fraser, St. Clair Shores, Warren, Mount Clemens, Sterling Heights, Clinton Township, Macomb Township, Shelby Township and Fraser.

Currently, Sterling Heights is the only community that has pressed for the inter-connection, according to ComCast Vice President Michael Singpeil. The company is trying to work out something with the city regarding its request, he added.

"We want to do this, but we want to do it at the right time," Singpeil said, adding inter-connection is an expensive project that could affect rates.

Sterling Heights appears more interested in seeing what's being developed for local access channels in other communities. Singpeil said. Communities in the three other franchises haven't expressed an interest in the inter-connection, he added.

One of the positive benefits to inter-connection would be the exchange of educational programs between the four franchises, so one community could see what is operating in another. There are no existing plans to share that programming, he added.

There's also a lack of programming for a regional inter-connection, Singpeil said. The company would need to first inter-connect the systems and hope to generate interest and programming for the regional exchanges.

Besides the cost and lack of programming, the company may run

Freeman said his experience will help him in his own community, and added: "It proved to me in all my travels that the city of Grosse Pointe Woods is one of the best cities around. We offer so many more services to our residents than other communities."

into some unforeseen technical difficulties should it decide to inter-connect. Although the equipment is probably compatible, the company would not know for sure until it tried to inter-connect, he added.

In addition, the longer the distance the signal must travel, the greater the chance of "signal degradation," Singpeil said. Some advertising is now done regionally, so the potentially larger audience may not induce a greater amount of advertising, he added.

"The matter of doing the advertisements now is simply inserting the appropriate tape at the appropriate time," Singpeil said.

Several years from now, the company would like to have a central transmitting and receiving location that will then make inter-connection much easier, Singpeil said.

Besides technical problems, the company would have to juggle where to put the added channels for the systems, Singpeil said.

Although the added local access channels may be added on to each of the systems, existing channels may be taken over to handle the additional programs, Singpeil said.

Batter up!

The Bird is back! The Bird is back! Mark Fidrych, one of the most popular of all the Detroit Tigers (now retired), was back in Detroit last week on a promotional tour sponsored by Group W Cable touring the availability of the PASS (Pro Amateur Sports System) on Grosse Pointe Cable. The Bird put on a pitching clinic at Memorial Field at Harper Woods High School. After giving an hour-long demonstration to hundreds of enthralled children, Fidrych then pitched to a seemingly endless line of pint-size batters. Here he delivers a big, fat one to four-year-old DeAnn Donahue. She got a hit, but the return of The Bird was the biggest hit of the day.

March off map, speaker says

The executive administrator of the Presbytery of Detroit will challenge the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church congregation to "March Off the Map" on Sunday, Sept. 30.

Donald G. Lester, who is second in the fall series of guest ministers and speakers at the church, will lead the worship services at 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. The marching orders he gives reflect passages from St. Paul's letters to fledgling Christian churches in which the apostle urges these early followers of Christ to be courageous and adventuresome.

Dr. Lester, who began his four decades of service in the Presbyterian Church after three years in the U.S. Navy during World War II, has distinguished himself both in the pulpit and in people-helping projects.

He is currently involved in the Detroit Coalition on Temporary Shelter and was a founding member of the Great Lakes/Appalachian Project.

A more recent feather in his cap was recognition for having produced the largest vegetable — a 12½-pound zucchini — among the westside gardeners participating in his 1983 Helping Hands Gardens project. Helping Hands gardeners harvested fruits and vegetables from their home and church gardens to share with Detroit's hungry served by more than a dozen food pantries in the metropolitan area.

The Presbytery of Detroit encompasses 97 Presbyterian churches in southeastern Michigan, extending as far north as Port Huron and west to Ann Arbor.

Pottery theft nets burglar $56,000

Grosse Pointe Farms police are investigating a $56,000 breaking and entering that occurred at a home in the 200 block of Lakeshore Road sometime last weekend.

The homeowner said he had returned and found the house had been entered through a locked basement door. The thief apparently broke a small window and reached in to unlock the door.

Most of the items taken were porcelain art objects including three 18th century blue and white pieces valued at $10,000; two blue and white hexagonal platters valued at $6,000; four small blue and white cups valued at $4,000; four blue and white vases valued at nearly $10,000; one clay Tang horse statue 500 to 600 years old valued at $10,000; two oval platters valued at $4,000 and a 12-piece sterling silver setting valued at $6,000. Also taken was an 18 inch sterling silver bowl valued at $7,000.

Most of the items were taken from the first floor of the house. Police have no leads at this time.

Now that's what I call chili!

to chop their meats and vegetables. They were given three hours to perfect their chili before it was collected for judging.

I was the new kid on the block when it came to judging. All of the others had much more experience and included Lem Barnes, of Automotive News; Sarah Turnbull, owner of a catering company; Bill Anton, of Grosse Pointe; myself and head judge Jim Adamski.

Adamski is a real pro in chili circles. He's won numerous contests over the years and is a six-time contestant in the world championship. He knows his chili.

The five of us were locked in a room with cups of chili. The rules stated we could award only six points to three contestants. Three for first place, two for second and one for third.

Adamski had only one tip for me: Make sure it tastes like chili, the kind you'd like to eat the rest of your life.

Then we began. I'll admit it was amazing — the difference in tastes, textures, aroma and even color. Some were bright red, while others were almost a dark burgundy color. And not a kidney bean in sight.

We weren't allowed to compare notes, but general comments flew hard and fast. "I've got a bay leaf in my spoon."

"Lots of beer in this one."

"Can I have a martini, please?"

"Lots of fennel in this one."

"I can taste soy sauce over here."

"I made a mistake. Make that two martinis."

They all tasted good and they all tasted different. But they all had one thing in common. Heat. They were nicely hot, but not fire-breathers. And the heat came in after you gathered in the flavor and texture. First the flavor, then the heat would kick in like after-burners on a jet.

The judging lasted perhaps 15 minutes, then Adamski tallied the points. It was simply no contest. First place went unanimously to the Chili Mac team, headed by DBC champion Paul Thompson.

Second place went to Gerald and Mimi Streit, of the Lakeshore Sail Club, and Bob Campbell, of Chinese Chili fame, copped third.

An unofficial fourth place went to "ringer" Al Speteri, of Big Al's Bear Meat Chili.

For those desert rats out there who enjoy a good bowl of red, here's the Chili Mac's prize-winning recipe, sans carp.

- One or two large cans of stewed tomatoes
- One large can V8 juice
- Four large Spanish onions, chopped
- Three large green peppers, chopped and seeded
- One large leek bottom, chopped
- Two Jalapeno peppers, chopped and seeded
- Two mild banana peppers, chopped and seeded
- One-half cup of banana pepper juice

- One-half cup white vinegar
- One-half cup chili sauce
- Two teaspoons beef bouillon
- Two cups water
- Three cloves of garlic crushed
- Five pounds cubed beef, browned and drained
- Two pounds pork, browned and drained
- One cup chili powder
- Two tablespoons oregano
- Two tablespoons cumin powder
- Three tablespoons paprika
- One teaspoon red pepper
- One can beer

Saute fresh vegetables 10 minutes and add remaining ingredients. Simmer two hours. Correct seasonings. Simmer for one additional hour.

Call me when it's ready.

Dominican sets Memorial Mass

All sisters, priests, faculty members, alumnae and families who have ever been a part of Dominican High School are invited to attend an All Saints Day Memorial Mass on Thursday, Nov. 1, in the auditorium on Whittier just west of the I-94 freeway.

This liturgy will honor the memory of deceased alumnae as well as friends, benefactors and family members who have been enrolled in the Dominican Memorial Program.

Mass begins at 10 a.m. and will be followed by a continental breakfast in the school's media center.

Call 882-8503 to let officials know how many in your group will be in attendance.

watching the World Pipe Smoking Championship.

According to a press release that just floated in, 80 to 100 competitors are expected to light up at 2 p.m., lay back and try to keep the embers burning.

The rules are pretty simple. Each competitor receives 3.3 grams of officially approved tobacco, two stick matches and one minute to light up. After that the matches are collected and it's every man and woman for themselves.

The winning time in last year's contest, held in Chicago, was one hour and 18 minutes, established by Bob Impelletti of Mount Clemens. Not bad, but the world record is two hours, seven minutes and 39 seconds, held by William Vargo of Swartz Creek, Mich.

The top 20 will receive prizes of pipes and other items related to this gentlemanly sport.

Telecommunicating in 1984

NOW YOUR TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICES COME FROM A NEW FAMILY OF COMPANIES.

As a Michigan Bell customer, you have been affected by recent changes in the telecommunications industry. However — with few exceptions — the services previously available directly from Michigan Bell are still available to you, either from Michigan Bell or from one of our new Ameritech companies.

When federal action led to the reorganization of AT&T, Michigan Bell separated from AT&T and joined Ameritech, a new holding company headquartered in Chicago. Besides Michigan Bell, Ameritech's large family of companies includes a host of subsidiaries you may not have heard about, as well as the former Bell telephone companies in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

How we and these other Ameritech companies may be of service in meeting your telecommunications needs is described in the following:

Basic Telecommunications Services: Residence and Business.

MICHIGAN BELL provides basic telecommunications services including dial tone, flat rate or measured service, white pages telephone listings, line repair services, and disabled customer services. You can also get optional network services like Touch-Tone and Custom Calling services from Michigan Bell, and business network services such as Certifix and network transmission services for voice, data, and image. And we provide public telephone service as well as long distance service within Michigan Bell's service areas, including optional long distance calling plans.

Equipment: Business.

MICHIGAN BELL COMMUNICATIONS, INC. serves as Michigan Bell's sales arm for business network services, including Certifix. It provides complete business communications systems, offering products and equipment from a wide variety of telecommunications suppliers, including terminal equipment for The Centrix Universe.

Equipment: Residence and Small Business.

THE NEW CONSUMER PRODUCTS DIVISION OF MICHIGAN BELL COMMUNICATIONS, INC. provides telephone equipment for residence and small business customers, with ordering by phone and delivery to your home or business.

Directory Advertising.

Michigan Bell Yellow Pages advertising is now handled by AMERITECH PUBLISHING, INC., the publisher and provider of Michigan Bell Yellow Pages directory, advertising including Neighborhood, Specialty, Business-to-Business, and Travellers Directories.

Mobile Communications Services.

MICHIGAN BELL offers tone and digital display radio paging in metro Detroit, Lansing, and Grand Rapids through our Bellboy Service Agent — A Beeper Company. Michigan Bell also provides Improved Mobile Telephone Service (IMTS) in most major Michigan cities.

Facts down the line.

We suggest that you watch for further informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. Because your telephone business office is busy engaged in normal day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number for our Let's Talk Center as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. 1 800 555-5000.

Orchids, onions awards to salute Louis Cook

Louis Cook, retired Detroit Free Press editorial writer, will be honored by Neal Shine, senior managing editor of the Free Press, with WWJ's John Delle-Monache serving as emcee at the 3rd annual Orchids & Onions awards presentation Saturday, Sept. 29.

Cook was instrumental in the launching of the Orchids & Onions program, which is designed to provide the public with a vehicle to express their opinion on projects (buildings, interiors, landscaping, etc.) which grace or clutter the environment. The voting process is conducted by public ballot which the judges use to arrive at five orchid and three onion winners. The awards are presented at the luncheon.

This year's program will be held Saturday, Sept. 29, at 11:30 a.m. at the Detroit Golf Club. Cost is $22.50 per person.

For reservations, call Jullie Baba, co-chairperson, at 353-9880.

A questionable zoning plan

The Farms Council next Monday is expected to resume its consideration of a proposed new "first floor retail only" zoning ordinance to regulate new businesses on the Hill after having postponed action at an August meeting devoted to the subject.

In common with other residents of the Farms and the Pointes in general, the council is concerned about the lack of retail establishments on the Hill and has proposed the ordinance as one way that supposedly would attract more retailers to serve that shopping area. But the proposal is being strongly resisted by many property owners who contend the ordinance would treat them as second-class citizens, be in restraint of trade and damage their investments on the Hill.

Under the proposal, new offices for doctors, lawyers, realtors, stockbrokers and other service enterprises would be relegated to the rear 50 percent of the first-floor establishment unless they were moving into a building now used for the same purpose. Present establishments would not be covered, but any change in usage would require the property owners to try to sell or lease this property to a retailer first.

When the council discussed the issue in August, it postponed further consideration to Oct. 1 to see whether the opening of the parking lot at the Richard School would attract more customers to the Hill. However, the new lot is not yet completed and it is possible that the council Monday will simply put off action again in order to see whether the opening of the new lot will attract more shoppers to the area.

Yet even the opening of that lot is not expected to make a major impact on the nature of the Hill, which is long on service enterprises and short on retail establishments, especially in comparison with other shopping centers such as the Village and nearby shopping malls. So the council may go ahead Monday without waiting for an evaluation of the impact of that lot.

The rationale for the proposal, as explained by Brandon Rogers, a planner who did a land use and marketability study for the Farms council, is that it would put a "brake" on further conversion of Hill property to service enterprises and, at the same time, would promote more retail establishments needed by nearby residents and people who work in the area.

He sees the ordinance as simply requiring a waiting period before buildings currently used for service enterprises can be sold, leased or rented for those same purposes in the future. It is clear, however, that the purpose of the ordinance is to attract more retailers into buildings now used for service enterprises.

Yet many Hill businessmen and professional people are opposed to the proposal for what appears to be sound reasons. A petition is being circulated against the ordinance by owners representing upwards of 90 percent of the property that would be affected. Only a minority of retailers own their own buildings and not all of them favor the ordinance.

The major concern of the objecting property owners is that the ordinance would have a detrimental effect on Hill property values because it could limit the use of properties now housing service enterprises. They also object to further governmental regulation, point out that the federal government is reducing its regulation of business at a time when the Farms is proposing expanded official regulation of business.

The opponents of the plan contend that the first floor of some buildings could not be converted into combination retail and service uses, a factor that could require service enterprises to move to the upstairs of such buildings. In addition, some buildings are too small for joint occupancy, others would require major revamping and still others could not be converted for retail use without additional major investments.

It may be true that the Farms City Council has the power to assist in the economic development of a shopping area, but whether the proposed ordinance would be constitutional remains in question. And while a broader mix of stores on the Hill would be welcome to property owners as well as customers, we have strong doubts as to whether adopting this ordinance would attract more retailers and make the Hill a setting for more specialty shops as the sponsors hope.

Instead, it could penalize the present property owners by depressing their property values and limiting their opportunities for profitable renting, leasing or sale of their properties. For these reasons, this newspaper reiterates its opposition to the proposal which it has questioned ever since it was first discussed more than two-and-a-half years ago.

With our blessings

Editor's Note: This editorial was written by the late Robert B. Edgar, editor and publisher of the Grosse Pointe News, in 1951 when his four children were being exposed to higher education on the campuses of Dartmouth, Hillsdale, Mount Holyoke and Bennett Junior College. The editorial is being reprinted by request. Thirty-three years later, the message is still applicable.

This is the time of year when we say goodbye to you young men and women who are leaving for college. Some of you who attend institutions close by will be back with us often; others will not return until the Thanksgiving or Christmas vacation periods.

If your powers of perception were abnormally keen, you could find, tucked away in that outrageous assortment of luggage and duffle which is always affected by the college crowd, things other than the equally absurd collection of personal items which go everywhere with you. You would see a million tiny unuttered thoughts, bits of advice which we never quite got around to passing on to you. There would be a trunk full of fervent wishes and bright hopes, a generous sprinkling of prayers, and those myriad stains would be the remnants of tears, dropping mostly by the mothers of the youngsters who are leaving home for the first time.

So much of us goes with you, it is just as well you do not know. Accepted with the seriousness with which it is sent, it would constitute a burden that young people should not be called upon to carry.

It is an unchanging law of life that the younger generations grow constantly further away from their parents. And it is, for us, a sad truism that just the reverse holds with the oldsters. Our interests turn inward and focus sharper with every passing year on the events which make up the lives of our children and we would have it no other way.

Advice is easy, and there are so many things we think we could and should have told you, to make things easier. Looking back, we are so prone to think of these years through which you are now passing, a painless period of enchantment and frivolity. Time is a great eraser and most of us have forgotten that all things are relative; that the troubles of youth, though they may seem negligible to us, may be just as bitter to swallow as our own most devastating trials. If we are lacking in understanding, we ask your forgiveness.

The shyness of youth, if such a thing still exists, is surely equalled by the shyness of a parent who is afraid to bare his soul to his own children lest he appear weak, or in fear that he may embarrass the youngster with a display of maudlin sentiment. In removed repose, it appears to us that a great deal more of this interchange of inner feeling would be a healthy and highly satisfying experience.

We wish we had not hesitated to tell you how proud of you we are, and what tremendous boons you have granted us through your accomplishments. We are sorry about the beratings we felt at the time were merited, and we wonder fearfully whether they were harmful or helpful.

We are so mindful of our own first days in college, and of little incidents and soul-shaking experiences, which followed in quick succession through all those wonderful years. We are going through them again with you now, and hoping that something we have imparted is helping you, either to get the utmost enjoyment or the least sorrow out of them as they come along.

College is such an immense hodge-podge of opportunities and pitfalls, with so many doors that should be opened and entered, and so many others that should remain closed; so many roads that should be explored, and endless turns that should never be taken. Now, infinitely more than ever before, you are going to have to rely on your own judgment. But we want you to know that if you err, and if help is needed, we want to be given the first chance to provide the help.

There is so much said about our "future citizens," the "leaders of tomorrow," the "hope of the world," that we trust you will pardon us for mentioning these cliches. We like to remember the college president who told the entering freshman class: "If by the time you have been graduated from here you have learned how to educate yourselves and can use a library intelligently, we shall consider that we have done a good job."

These years are but preparatory ones for the many, many which lie ahead, each pregnant with possibilities for broadening your education. The truly wise man is the one who continues to learn every day of his life, who is always honest enough to admit he does not know the answer, but then makes a point of finding out.

Your education has to do not only with classrooms and textbooks and lecture halls, but with mixing with your fellow students and faculty members, both socially and intellectually. Understanding is an attitude to be devoutly cultivated.

Let religion be a large part of your lives and be thankful that there is a noticeable surge today in the movement back to the Greatest Teacher. There will be many times when you find yourselves in need of His instruction and you will find it helpful to be on close terms with Him.

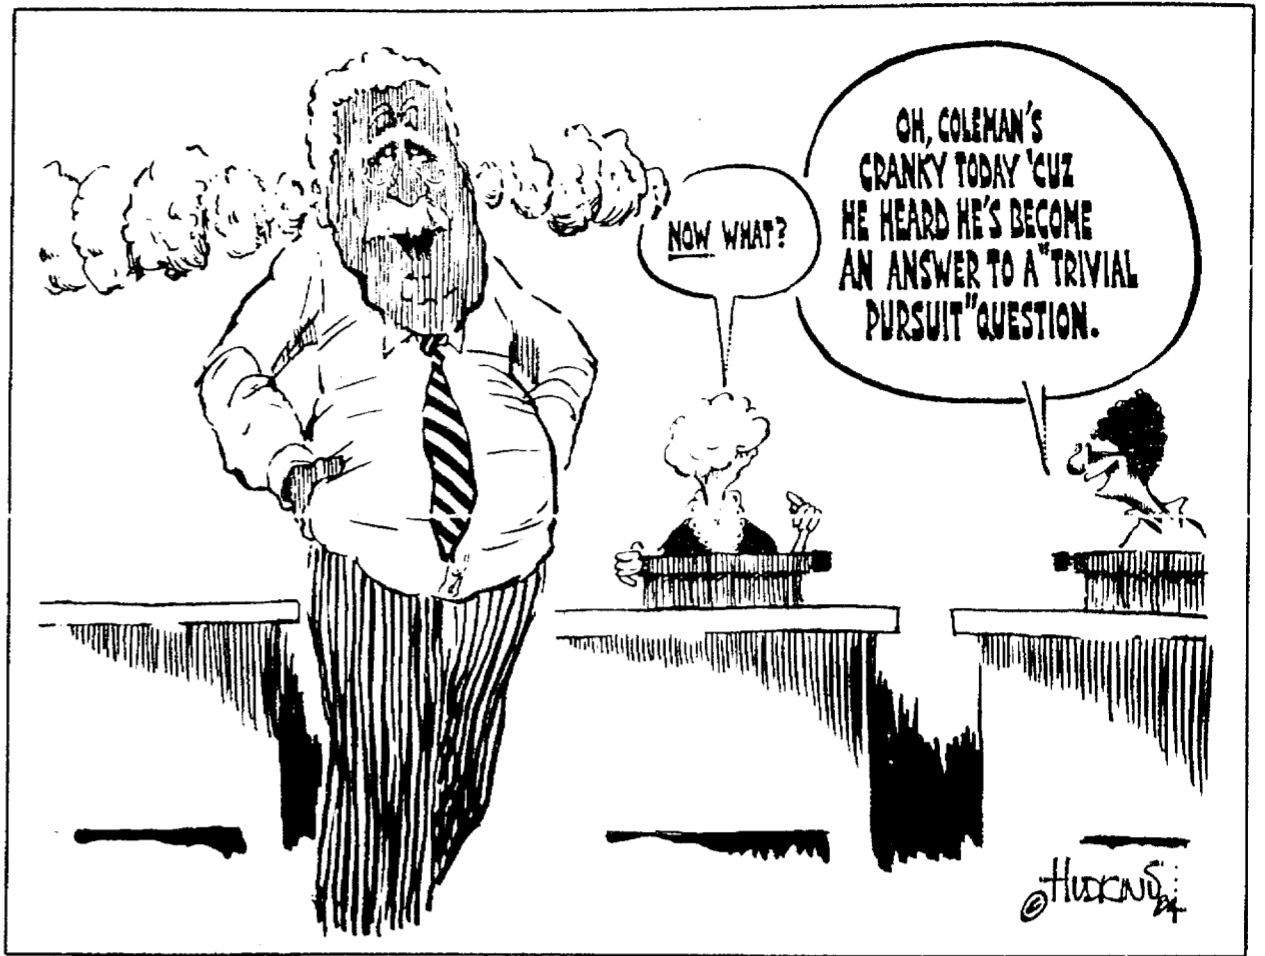

These are the golden years and yours is the privilege to make them what you will. If we have helped you walk across the threshold with confidence, we are grateful. If we have failed you, forgive us.

Callahan doesn't have full picture

To the Editor:

In the past few weeks, there have been many letters to the editor from Mr. Callahan. I feel that I must address these and clarify and correct some of his statements.

There has been a lot of discussion on the "numbers" that this system was meant to hold. Mr. Callahan believes it is a 13,000+ figure. Yes, at one time the schools did hold that many students, but not just in the buildings we have at this time. During that period of high enrollment, our present buildings could only hold around 9,500. The rest of the students had classes in "portables." These were mobile home-type structures that were parked on the playgrounds throughout our schools. Most portables held two classrooms, some held one. There was even a quonset hut at South High for classes.

Mr. Callahan has not recognized the need for extra rooms in our elementary schools. We need these extra rooms in order to keep up with the growing technology. The parents and teachers have long felt that we need to have a science lab in each elementary school. The teachers need to set up experiments and expand the time spent on the sciences.

Each elementary school either has or is in the process of setting up a computer room. This is necessary so that all students can have a growing hands-on experience with computers.

Mr. Callahan has repeatedly called for more school closings and he has stated many financial reasons for this to be done quickly. Unfortunately Mr. Callahan has not addressed the many problems that would arise. If more schools closed, we would have many students with at least a three to five mile walk to school. Transportation would have to be provided. What would it cost the community for a bus system? How much would we have to pay to buy buses, hire bus drivers and pay their insurance? What would be the costs for gasoline, oil, maintenance and storage? These questions must be addressed.

There does not seem to be a concern from Mr. Callahan on what the long-range consequence would be from the immediate closing of these schools and the selling of these properties. You are selling our community short. Without concern for attracting people to Grosse Pointe, we are jeopardizing our own community. There are many communities with fine homes and scenic settings. It is our neighborhood schools that sets us apart from the other suburbs. This is our drawing card.

Mr. Callahan should understand that the parents of school children, along with many others in this community, are very concerned about the direction that is being taken. The parents are not against school closings, but are against school closings that do not solve our problems.

The school board has not solved the problems at the junior high or high school level. There is now some overcrowding at all educational levels. We need a program that solves problems, not one that increases them.

I wish Mr. Callahan would meet with me and take a tour of our schools. Let's go through the curriculum that is offered. What programs are working? Which programs are not satisfactory. Let's study the board policies. How are they working? What costs are involved with the new program.

I am concerned, Mr. Callahan, that you have not been presented with the full picture. Surely you would be receptive to discussion on these important items.

Hill needs anchor store

To the Editor:

In reference to "Land Use and Marketability Study, Kercheval on the Hill" prepared by Brandon M. Rogers and Associates, it has been found that many people have expressed their assorted opinions on the parking lot issue at Richard School.

I, as a resident of Grosse Pointe, was for the refusal of the parking lot. Today, I still disapprove of the parking lot, but I commend the idea of the park-like walkway. It will be an added attraction to the Hill. However, the parking lot and walkway will not breathe new economic life into the old neighborhood shopping area.

In my opinion, what the Hill needs is an "anchor" store, such as an independent grocery (i.e. Salem Square) or a specialty name store (i.e. Saks, Gantos) which would be a drawing attraction for other stores, as well as people. An anchor store would help revitalize the other stores in the area and bring Kercheval on the Hill to a living specialized business district.

Streets, not racetracks

To the Editor:

This letter is in regard to the letter written by Robert Johnson, published Aug. 30.

I would like to agree with Mr. Johnson about speeding in the Pointes. People shouldn't have to listen to cars racing up and down their street at 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning.

Now that many streets are being asphalted, the roads are much smoother, therefore there is an increase in the problem. Two months ago before my street was asphalted, there were less speeders. I'm not suggesting that roads should not be repaved, but something must be done.

It is a danger to children and other drivers, not to mention the countless animals which have been slain on the roads.

I also agree with Mr. Johnson on the issue concerning how the drivers are not always students from South High, but often parents on their way to work or driving their children to school.

Let's prepare for influx of students

To the Editor:
Mr. Joe Callahan, where in the world are you coming from? Last year, you and I spoke at length on the school closing issue and, at that time, you insisted that we should all "support our hard-working school board." You said that they had special expertise, not shared or understood by the rest of the community, and you pooh-poohed Dr. Doug Zeigler's data which showed that Grosse Pointe, like the rest of the country, was experiencing an increased birth-rate.

Now, the census results are in. Lo and behold, Dr. Zeigler was right on the money with his predictions. The tabulations show: a) yes, the enrollment is down as predicted, and b) there is a marked increase in newborn and preschoolers ... also as predicted!

Still, Mr. Callahan beats the drum for more school closings. Why? What possible sense does it make to close schools when we expect a substantial increase in the numbers of students? Can it be that those who cry, "Close, close," actually believe that it is cheaper to close buildings; to stand the cost of moving children, teachers and equipment, and then, in two or three years face the need to build new schools or refurbish old ones? Don't you folks understand that it makes far better sense to maintain and upgrade our present programs, so that we can rationally prepare for the expected influx of new little faces that will begin their journey through our school system.

Something strange and rather amusing seems to be going on. I, who worked for a year to turn this board around, now say, "I support the board's present position on school closing." On the other hand, Mr. Callahan and his followers now, rather loudly, oppose the board. Perhaps victory at the polls has given them an even more "special expertise," than is possessed by the board of education! Either that, or Mr. Callahan chooses to ignore the increased numbers of new little Grosse Pointe citizens.

I have always thought that the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods were communities that respected and embraced all age groups. And I thought, and still believe, that all ages must be considered when we plan for our future.

Perhaps that is why Mr. Callahan is so upset. Maybe he sees this community as a place for senior citizens only. If it's Sun City you really want, Mr. Callahan, why don't you just come out and say so?

We are more than numbers, statistics

To the Editor:
I will be first to admit that memory sometimes plays tricks, but some memories endure beyond reason and without distortion. Mr. Callahan's citation of numbers in recent letters would have the public believe that the Grosse Pointe Public School System did not operate at capacity even during peak enrollment years. This he deduces from examining raw figures. He also asserts that, based on his mathematics, dozens of rooms and thousands of desks in the school system are empty.

This latter was packed beyond capacity from third floor to basement. I know. I taught in both locations. Gone are the third floor rooms of the main building, condemned as a fire hazard. I taught there, too. Gone, at least as a classroom (thank God), is the airless, makeshift, double room created from the balcony of the old auditorium. Also no longer in use as classrooms, the auditorium itself and Cleminson Hall (the former library) — the memory of which warms the heart of no teacher or student who had to endure them. All of these rooms were in use both before and after North opened. Does Mr. Callahan include them in this peak or "accommodation" figures?

room to call their own for the day. I vividly recall my "floating" days — from the third floor of the main building to the basement of the Annex (via the breezeway) and back again. But Mr. Callahan asserts we did not operate at "capacity" because the numbers tell him so.

Let Mr. Callahan know that I was here then, and I am still here. I remember more than facts and figures. I remember wall-to-wall students and all the inevitable behavior problems which result from overcrowding. Is it just coincidence that SAT scores took a dive during those "peak" years? Overcrowded classes and harried teachers are not conducive to efficient learning or teaching. That is our business, isn't it? Not filling empty desks.

Merchants support Hill ordinance

To the Editor:
On October 1, the City Council of Grosse Pointe Farms will be considering an ordinance which may have a significant impact upon your shopping habits in the years to come. The ordinance is the "retail frontage" ordinance which would require retail use of at least the front 50 percent of a building on the Hill unless it can be shown that there are no retail users interested in the property. Present non-retail uses would be permitted to remain.

The proposed ordinance is one of a series of positive actions the Farms' Council has taken over the last several years to strengthen the Hill, and they should be applauded, whether the ordinance passes or not. However, we strongly advocate the passage of this ordinance for the following reasons:

1. The community wishes the Hill to remain a viable shopping area. A Need Survey conducted in the surrounding neighborhoods listed this to be the highest priority by a margin of 50 percent. Residents enjoy the convenience, easy access, personalized service and quality merchandise of Hill shopping.

2. To expand viability, there must, among other things, be a variety of stores and a continuity of retail establishments. The convenience of one-stop shopping, and the economic necessity of comparison shopping, is essential to attract today's busy customers.

3. The ordinance has been thoroughly studied. It was first proposed in 1982 after a similar ordinance in Grosse Pointe City was adopted. After opposition by realtors and landowners on the Hill, it was included for review in a larger land use and marketability study to be conducted by a city planning firm, Brandon Rogers and Associates. Mr. Rodgers' professional conclusion was that an ordinance of this type was necessary to the retail survival of the Hill and offered a more strict version of the ordinance than is now under consideration. The ordinance has been reviewed and unanimously recommended by the Mayor's Advisory Planning Committee, made up of private Farms' citizens. It has been reviewed by the Council several times and by a committee of council members, retailers, and realtors/property owners. The Council has been extremely fair in seeking and considering all viewpoints.

4. The Council has a legal and moral responsibility to set policy for the community. The state legislature has permitted the city to establish land use policy through the zoning ordinance where residential property should be, where commercial property should be, and how these should develop. Thus, a property owner on Lake Shore Drive cannot build a high rise apartment building, and a property owner on the Hill cannot rent to a bump shop, even though they may be able to realize the highest profit from such a venture. We believe in property rights for we are property owners also. However, property rights are not inviolable, but are subject to the general betterment of us all. We feel the community needs and supports a strong central retail area and that this is a proper policy goal of the Council.

When he speaks of a school system "built to accommodate 13,975 students" operating at 95 percent capacity in 1970, which particular buildings does he include in his master accommodation? When he calculates the difference between then and now, does he include facilities which no longer exist? Is he conveniently neglecting to include in his analysis (among other aspects) the physical changes which have taken place, at least at South, since those peak years?

Not gone but remodeled, the I.A. building, which from the first year it opened after renovation could not house all the teachers in the math department. Replacing the Country Day Annex, the S-building with accommodations for fewer students and fewer teachers. Former classrooms have been taken over by a variety of programs introduced since the peak years: Learning Disabled, Computers, Resource Centers, etc. Are these the rooms he considers "artificially filled in some fashion?"

The people of Grosse Pointe will receive the value of what they support. If they decide they must continue to economize, then so must I. Like them, I have only a limited bank account of energy and time, and it is already dangerously overdrawn.

Of course, to the Joe Callahans of the world, the status of my bank account — monetary or otherwise — is of no account. I and my students are simply numbers to them, numbers and desks, and statistics.

The proposed ordinance is one of a series of positive actions the Farms' Council has taken over the last several years to strengthen the Hill, and they should be applauded, whether the ordinance passes or not. However, we strongly advocate the passage of this ordinance for the following reasons:

1. The community wishes the Hill to remain a viable shopping area. A Need Survey conducted in the surrounding neighborhoods listed this to be the highest priority by a margin of 50 percent. Residents enjoy the convenience, easy access, personalized service and quality merchandise of Hill shopping.

Transfer will force kids into quick maturity

To the Editor:
Cherly Cueny's Sept. 6 column, "Students will need bill of rights" was a very understandable welcome insight on the transfer of sixth graders to the middle schools.

I feel that this transfer will cause the kids to be pushed into trying to fit in with the older kids and will result in quick maturity. I also agree with Cherly on her opinion that the teachers will have an overload of students and will not be able to give the individual attention needed for a good education.

Thank you, Cherly, for bringing out some points that have gone unnoticed and for being concerned about our future.

front organization, bought and paid for by the Soviet Union; Katherine Gee did not attempt to deny that the WILPF was pro-Soviet, she did not deny that the WILPF worked closely with the World Peace Council and other pro-Soviet groups; she simply tried to fog the issue in a typical Soviet fashion by writing about other things.

The world knows that the Soviets control the United Nations and thus control UNICEF. Gee said that UNICEF was not connected to the political section of the United Nations but neglected to say with what part it is connected. Gee made a big attempt to impress us with many good things which she says the UNICEF does but offered no proof of such activities; I have never seen any factual information on any good work by UNICEF and have read numerous reports to the contrary. My wife and I quit contributing to UNICEF over 25 years ago because of published criticisms of the activity.

Let us review some of the Soviet's words and action:

Lenin — "Contempt for death must spread among the masses and thus secure victory . . . the ruthless extermination of the enemy must be their task. Members (of the party) must lie, cheat and murder if the party was to be served. Promises are like piecrust made to the broken."

Eighteen or more million people held in slave labor with millions of them having died of starvation and the extreme hardships.

The Katyn Forest Massacre — the mass murder of 12,000 Polish officers which the Soviets tried unsuccessfully to blame on the Germans.

The starving of millions of people in the Ukraine. The invasion of Afghanistan and many other weak countries.

The use of chemical warfare in Afghanistan, Iranian-Iraqi War and in Southeast Asia.

After reading the above list, can anyone still believe that the Soviets use UNICEF money to aid women and children? A group which deliberately kills millions of people is not about to waste money helping a few thousand women and children. If anyone is interested in learning more about communism and the Soviets, the following is a small sampling of what is available:

The Bridge at Landau by James A. Michener, who is probably the best known author in America today; this is a true story of the Hungarian Revolution of 1956.

Masters of Deceit by J. Edgar Hoover; this is an excellent and comprehensive history of the Soviet Communism and its infiltration of America.

The Terror Network by Claire Sterling; this is the amazing story of terrorism throughout the world.

The Gulag Archipelago by Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn; this is a book about the Soviets' inhumanity to man.

Gee said that I appeared to challenge the right of her group to meet in Grosse Pointe; I say that her group should have as much right here as a pro-American group would have in the USSR and it should be treated in the same manner.

5. The Hill is different from the Village in some respects. However, each needs the other to be a strong and prosperous retail center. How many of us, not having found what we needed in one location, have driven the short distance to the other for our purchase? With the decline in the fascination with shopping malls, a perfect opportunity is created to capitalize upon our own inherent advantages.

6. What is being advocated by this proposed ordinance is not something out of the ordinary. Offices are commonly found above retail establishments or off the mainstream of pedestrian traffic. Check any downtown area, such as Birmingham, Plymouth, etc. It is a natural situation because offices generally do not need display windows, and their customers have one specific purpose in mind, such as an appointment, and do not mind if they must traverse a hallway or climb a flight of stairs to reach their destination. Excluding offices from retail frontage does not make office users "second-class citizens" anymore than it does retail users who are excluded from an office district. These are both proper zoning prerogatives of the City Council.

This proposed ordinance is not a panacea for the retailers on the Hill. There are no guarantees in life, as there are no guarantees that this ordinance will achieve its desired objective. (We would prefer that the ordinance not permit any new office uses at all.) However, this ordinance is two things if it is nothing else: It is a policy statement, loud and clear, that the community wishes the Hill to be retail; and, it is part of a larger "recovery program" that the Farms' Council has worked on diligently and quite successfully since it sensed the downturn of the Hill area several years ago. It is not, therefore, a "quick fix."

Now we need the support of the community. Your letters to the City Council, or your attendance at the meeting could make the difference between a viable, bustling shopping district, or one that is merely hohum.

Dr. Harold F. Jarvis

Services for Dr. Jarvis, 73, of the Farms, were held Saturday, Sept. 22, at the A.H. Peters Funeral Home and St. Paul Catholic Church.

He died Tuesday, Sept. 18, in St. John Hospital.

A native Detroit, Dr. Jarvis graduated from Wayne State University Medical School in 1939. He served his internship and residency at St. Mary's Hospital, which is now Detroit Memorial Hospital. Dr. Jarvis practiced obstetrics and gynecology for 28 years, during which time he delivered nearly 13,000 babies.

Dr. Jarvis also served for three years as a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy, including service in the southwest Pacific in World War II, for which he received the Purple Heart.

He was a fellow of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology and a founding member of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology. Dr. Jarvis was chief of the Obstetrics and Gynecology Department at Detroit Memorial for 10 years and also served as the hospital's chief of staff. He was active on the staffs of St. John and Holy Cross hospitals, and after retiring from private practice in 1974, was a consultant on the medical staff at Detroit Edison.

Dr. Jarvis is survived by his wife, Marguerite A.; two sons, Donald J. and William F.; and two grandchildren.

Interment was in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Irene G. Adam

Services for Mrs. Adam, 91, of the Pointe, were held Saturday, Sept. 22, in the Verheyden Funeral Home and Our Lady Star of the Sea Church.

She died Wednesday, Sept. 19, in the Father Murray Nursing Home.

Mrs. Adam was the widow of Ray W. Adam and is survived by three sons, William, Robert and R. Warren; one daughter, Mrs. Beverly Setta; one sister; 11 grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Interment was in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Violette Hatie

Services for Mrs. Hatie, 81, of McMillan Road, were held Friday, Sept. 21, in Cleveland. Local arrangements were handled by the Verheyden Funeral Home.

She died Tuesday, Sept. 18, in the Maroun Nursing Home.

Born in Baltimore, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Randall (Suzy) Stebbins and Mrs. George (Pamela) Prybys; one sister; and five grandchildren. She was the wife of the late Gilbert J.

Hatie. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Cleveland.

Dennis J. Woods

Services for Mr. Woods, 44, of the Woods, were held Saturday, Sept. 22, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and Our Lady Star of the Sea Church.

He died Wednesday, Sept. 19, in St. John Hospital.

Mr. Woods was the principal of the L'Anse Creuse school system and had held that position for 10 years. He was a former assistant principal at Aquinas High School and taught at the Sacred Heart Seminary.

Mr. Woods was a member of the Michigan Association of Secondary Principals and was a past president of the Grosse Pointe North Athletic Boosters. He was also a member of the Star of the Sea Knights of Columbus.

Mr. Woods is survived by his wife, Bonnie; two daughters, Wendy and Nancy; and two sons, Michael and John.

Mr. Woods was interred in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Teen modeling class restructured

The teen modeling course offered at the War Memorial has been restructured to accommodate students who do not have time in their after-school schedules to fit in another weekly class.

The course will now be an all-day workshop, Saturday, Sept. 29, from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the War Memorial. Students are asked to bring a sack lunch and an afternoon snack.

Marlene Coffey, who has worked in fashion coordinating and modeling, will teach students modeling techniques, proper skin care, application of make-up, nutrition and an introduction into modeling as a possible career.

The cost of the workshop is $30 per person. Those who want to sign up that day should come to the Center by 10 a.m. to register. For further information, call 881-7511.

Las Vegas Night is Oct. 5

Bishop Gallagher High School will sponsor a Las Vegas Night Friday, Oct. 5 from 7 a.m. until 1 a.m.

Admission is $3. The school is located at 19360 Harper Ave. in Harper Woods, near I-94 and Moross Road. There is a ample free parking and the lot is well-lighted.

All proceeds benefit Bishop Gallagher's athletic program for young men and women.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marian Trainor

In our fast-moving, hello-good-bye world, catch phrases provide a line of communication with those whom we meet in our day-to-day travels. One of the most frequently heard is "Have a nice day!" It has become a favorite of clerks, business associates, friends, even family members with whom we share our lives. There's nothing wrong with the expression. It's rather pleasant to think that people wish for your day to be nice.

However, it might be even more cheering if we were left with the heartfelt wish, "Be happy."

Having a nice day is all well and good, but it could comprise just the absence of anything upsetting us. Whereas if we are told to "be happy" we are put in a frame of mind where we actively look for good things to happen. Not only that, it could serve as a reminder that it is up to us to help make our day a happy one.

Such a spoken gesture could be of particular value to older people. In spite of the fact that older people are frequently told that these are their golden years, a time when they can sit back and enjoy the fruits of their long years of labor, there are not many who would not privately admit that while later years can be satisfying, they are not the best years of their lives.

As one grows older, day dreams are not of the future but of the past. The mind and memory become suffused with warm and comforting pictures of what has been rather than the less promising prospects of what lies ahead.

We tend to draw on memories of those times when our families were around us and the happy times we shared. We think with pride about our accomplishments and successes in the world of work. We recall with amazement how we could fill our days with work and play and never get tired. It was a never-never land that would go on forever, a land where it was possible for all dreams to come true, a land of bright horizons.

But like the evening that darkens the landscape, the years drifted by. Families grew up and moved into worlds of their own. The work that filled our days and occupied our minds came to an end as we reached that arbitrary age of retirement. Death claimed the lives of those close to us. Many of the activities we once enjoyed became too strenuous.

Considering what has been lost, for someone to wish us to "have a nice day" sounds pretty good. We realize it may not be an exciting day, but it won't be a traumatic one either.

However, the wish expressed, "be happy" promises much more. It means, while we treasure the past and live the present, we can have a brighter future, if we accept that not as a platitude, but rather as a reminder that we can be happy if we actively plan and work at it.

While working at being happy may sound like a contradiction of terms, it is not. We know from past experience what contributed to happiness in our lives. More than likely it was the love and closeness of family life, friendship, the satisfaction of work well done, the buoyancy of good health. It is possible to put most of these satisfactions back into our lives.

At first it is difficult, particularly if we have sat back and watched all that makes life good slip away. We don't really want to go out into a strange world to try to make new friends, to join church groups or go to senior centers or arrange to visit a friend who has moved a way. It's comfortable sitting home. We don't need the hassle of all that effort. But we do. Otherwise our lives become dull and drab and limited. The satisfaction of being alone with memories can turn to bitterness, because no one comes to visit or calls. We can avoid this happening if we make that first big effort. After that it becomes easier. We find that if we seek them out, there are new friends waiting and new experiences to be shared.

Often these new friends become a surrogate family who become interested and concerned for us and can be called upon to share the worries, the troubles and joys we once shared with our families and former friends.

There are some older persons who are so work-oriented that without a place to go each day and hours to keep, they are lost. Nothing takes the place of the worthwhile feeling that comes from having assigned work to do. Nothing else affords the satisfaction of having done that work well and having an important place in the work world.

Unfortunately for them, physically capable and mentally alert people are arbitrarily pushed out of work that they have come to depend upon to give them worth as a person, because of age. To add to the problem, there has recently been a movement to either offer incentives for early retirement or to reassign older workers to meaningless jobs that destroy that sense of worth.

Relegated to the questionable euphoria of unlimited leisure, they wander aimlessly in a brand new, strange environment that seems to have little to offer.

To tell them to "be happy" is an empty phrase. But it need not be so, if they take it in the spirit in which it is given, for it implies exactly what they most enjoyed — work. If these displaced persons look about them, they can find endless jobs that need doing. It won't be work that pays money, but it is

Savel cited for writing

Jennifer Savel of Our Lady Star of the Sea High School was cited for outstanding performance in writing by the National Council of Teachers of English.

More than 5,000 students were nominated last March by their English teachers for the contest. One nominee for each 500 students was allowed from each school.

The 850 finalists selected each year represent high schools in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and American schools abroad.

The English Department at Star of the Sea was also recognized for the excellence of its instructional program by NCTE.

work that will pay off in the non-negotiable coin of happiness that comes from doing for others.

It comes from doing volunteer work where you are truly needed and will reap the benefits of knowing that once again you are a VIP — a very important person. There are many organizations that need workers and will be grateful for your help. If you answer their call, you will not only be helping others, you will be helping yourself. As a volunteer worker, you will meet and enjoy the company of others who are giving their time also. More than likely, you will have much in common with them because both you and they will be working at something you chose because you were interested in it. The field is wide open. Hospitals, schools, churches, crisis centers, the Red Cross, political parties are just a few of the many organizations that will welcome you to any one of the various jobs that need to be done.

"Be happy." If you don't take care of yourself, exercise, eat properly and see to minor ills before they become major ones, it's hard to do.

All of these involve work. If you live alone, it's much easier to skimp on meals and skip those foods that contain the vitamins and minerals that are essential to good health. A roll or a piece of toast tastes good in the morning and coffee provides a wake-up jolt, but they do little for the body in the way of maintaining good health. Lunch can provide an opportunity to get out, and to either renew old friendships or to get better acquainted with new ones. It is pleasanter than being alone to sit down with someone else at a meal, and it need not be expensive. Most restaurants offer reasonable prices for lunches. They feature soup and salad combinations that provide good body-building food. If you eat well at noon, dinner need not be a major production, but make it a good one. Remember you are preparing it for the most important person in the world — yourself. Be happy. You won't be if you let those limbs stiffen and those muscles turn to sagging fat. Admittedly exercise is a drag, particularly if it's cold, or wet, or hot and humid, but do it anyway. Any exercise will do just as long as you forego the easy chair and the television 'sit-com' long enough to get out and move that body. It need not be strenuous. Just a walk in the open air will limber up those bones and tighten the muscles and clean out the lungs. You will not only feel better physically, but also mentally. We are told that anger dissipates, worries vanish and our brain functions better if we exercise regularly.

Paper drive at Maire School

Maire School will conduct its fall paper drive on Saturday, Sept. 29, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Early birds may drop papers off Friday between 3:15 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Paper should be tied in bundles or placed in grocery bags and delivered to the school parking lot at 740 Cadieux. Community contributions can be taken to the parking lot beginning Friday morning, Sept. 28.

Correction

Incorrect information about the sizes of trees offered by the Grosse Pointe Woods Tree Commission was submitted to the newspaper. Prices, which start at $110, are for trees that vary in height from six to 12 feet and are 1 1/4 inches to 2 inches in diameter and 2 inches to 2 1/4 inches in diameter. Order forms for the four shade trees and two ornamentals are available at the Woods municipal building, 20025 Mack Plaza.

We are told that anger dissipates, worries vanish and our brain functions better if we exercise regularly.

It would be wonderful if we could say, "be happy" and by some magic, our wish would come true. It is not that easy. In truth, what we are really saying is that you can be happy if you make up your mind to be so. Only you can bring it about. You have a choice. You can drift into a nothing existence or you can make your life, as long as you live, a happy one. You have the will. Just don't settle for a "nice day." That's just a limbo. Resolve to have a happy day. Be willing to work at it. Choose activities you enjoy and plan ahead what you will do the next day. It is best to have an ongoing project to look forward to. Get out of the house each day. Don't ever depend on alcohol or pills to see you through difficult times. Fill each day with activity, whether it be social contacts, volunteer work, hobbies or exercise and you won't need stimulants to alleviate depression and loneliness.

Auditions Oct. 1-3

Lavinia Moyer, artistic director of the Attic Theatre, announces general auditions on Oct. 1, 2 and 3 for the remainder of the 1984-85 season, focusing on "Children of a Lesser God," "Wedding Band" and "Top Girls"

The general auditions are for all Detroit area professional actors, union and non-union. Particular casting needs for the season include deaf or hearing-impaired actors, minority actors and women. The male lead in "Children of a Lesser God" must be skilled in American Sign Language.

Those auditioning will need two memorized pieces of contrasting style, three minutes each in length, in addition to presenting a resume and head shot.

Location of the auditions will be at the Attic's New Center Theatre at third and West Grand Boulevard. Appointments can be made by phoning 963-7789 weekdays after 10 a.m.

Rummage sale is Oct. 4

The Women's Circle of the Grosse Pointe Christian Day School has scheduled their semi-annual rummage sale for Thursday, Oct. 4, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The sale is held in the school basement, located at 1444 Maryland.

The Circle uses funds raised from the sale to provide aid for the school's program.

Health, fitness center dedicated

About 125 civic leaders and guests attended the dedication ceremony of the Bon Secours Hospital Health and Fitness Center in St. Clair Shores Sept. 11. Shown at the ceremony are, from left, Dwight D. Gaal, director of the center; George Sheehan, M.D., cardiologist, author and marathon runner; David W. Benfer, executive director at Bon Secours; Ralph J. Kliber, chairman of the hospital's board of directors; Marcel Werbroeck, St. Clair Shores councilman; Ted Wahby, mayor of St. Clair Shores; Arthur Armstrong, St. Clair Shores councilman; and Sister Patricia A. Eck, CBS, associate administrator.

Programs offered at the center are aerobic exercise, nutrition, weight control, stress management, smoking cessation and others. The center also offers 13 Nautilus weight machines and various exercise bikes and equipment. For information, call 343-1435.

Weekend set for cancer patients, family

A retreat for cancer patients and their families and friends will be held again this year Oct. 20-21. The We Can Weekend, a two-day and one-night outing, is sponsored by Harper Hospital.

The central theme of the weekend focuses upon helping people communicate with each other. Harper registered nurses, clinical nurse specialists, a physician, social worker, chaplain, physical therapist and a health educator will volunteer their time to lead workshops such as "Facts and Fallacies about Cancer," "Managing Stress," "Talking Together about Health," "Relaxation through Imagery," "Ways Families Talk" and others.

The original We Can Weekend was offered by North Memorial Medical Center in Minneapolis in 1978. At Harper Hospital's first weekend last fall, 17 families attended with participants ranging in age from 2 to 77.

The retreat will be held at Waldenwoods Resort and Conference Center in Hartland, Mich. All meals and overnight lodging are provided. Each family is asked to pay a registration fee of $40, however, arrangements can be made for families who need assistance.

The cost of the weekend is kept to a minimum because of gifts from areas of medical oncology at Harper-Grace Hospitals and Wayne State University, School of Medicine. Additional funding comes from the American Cancer Society.

To pre-register, or for a brochure and more information, call the hospital at 494-8444.

Dental clinic offers free services

The Preventive Dental Clinic, a learning laboratory for dental hygiene, assisting and laboratory technology students of Wayne County Community College, is open to the public. Services include teeth cleaning, oral exams, fluoride applications, home care instructions, denture repair and denture relining.

The clinic, supervised by licensed dental professionals, is located at the Northwest Campus, 8551 Greenfield.

Hours through Dec. 17 are Monday and Wednesday, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday, 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.; and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

There is no charge through December 1984. For an appointment, call 943-4040 during clinic hours.

The program is approved by the

Allergy update at Bon Secours

The Friends of Bon Secours Hospital will present an "Allergy Update" as part of their Town Hall for Health community education series on Thursday, Sept. 27, 7 p.m. in the hospital's Science Hall.

The program includes Wayne N. Pierantoni, M.D., speaking on "The Evaluation of the Allergic Patient," Peter A. Nickles, M.D., speaking on "Newer Treatments for Hay Fever and Asthmatic Patients," and Thaddeus H. Joos, M.D., speaking on "Adverse Reaction to Medication."

Admission is by ticket only. Free tickets are available by calling Glory Little at 823-0008.

This Town Hall for Health is presented in cooperation with the Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America.

Car crashes on Lakeshore

A 28-year-old St. Clair Shores man was injured Sunday morning, Sept. 9, when the car he was driving jumped the curb on northbound Lakeshore north of Vernier and struck a fire hydrant and light pole.

The accident occurred at about 10 a.m., according to reports. The man told police he was driving northbound when he dozed off behind the wheel. The car jumped the curb, sheared off a fire hydrant, turned halfway around and struck the light pole.

The car was extensively damaged and removed by a tow truck. The driver struck his head on the windshield, causing a nose bleed and leaving him dizzy, reports said. He also complained of lower back pain but refused medical attention, according to reports.

Families of MIAs to be honored

A special presentation of bronze medals to the families of Michigan servicemen and civilians still missing or unaccounted for in Southeast Asia has been organized by Congressman Dennis Hertel (D-Harper Woods). The ceremony will be held in Hart Plaza at noon, Saturday, Sept. 29.

Specially designed bronze medals will be presented to 21 families of Michigan servicemen and personnel officially listed by the federal government as missing in action (MIA). The presentation of each medal will be made by U.S. Senator Don Riegle, U.S. Senator Carl Levin or the congressman representing the family's home district.

The bi-partisan ceremony will include remarks by Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, Governor James Blanchard, Senator Riegle, Senator Levin, Congressman John Dingell and Congressman William Broomfield, ranking Republican of the Michigan delegation. Hertel will act as the master of ceremonies for the event. The program will also include a flyover by a U.S. Air Force contingent and the presentation of the colors by the Nite Hawks of East Detroit.

The ceremony is open to the public. Hertel urged citizens from the entire metropolitan area to attend and display their gratitude to the families of "these courageous Americans."

Free Press editor to speak Sunday

David Lawrence, executive editor of the Detroit Free Press, will speak at the Grosse Pointe Unitarian Church Sunday, Sept. 30, at 11 a.m. His topic is, "Is the Press Fair?"

Guests are welcome to attend the service and the coffee hour afterward. For more information, call 881-0420.

CITY OF Grosse Pointe Woods MICHIGAN
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council will hold a public hearing in accordance with the provisions of Section 6-12-5 of the 1975 City Code in the Council-Court Room of the Municipal Building, 20025 Mack Plaza, Grosse Pointe Woods, on Monday evening, October 1, 1984, at 7:30 p.m. to hear the appeal of Paul C. Jankowski, 650 Vernier Road, who is appealing the denial of the Building Inspector to issue a circular driveway permit for such location. Mr. Jankowski proposes to construct such driveway at 650 Vernier Road. A driveway permit was denied because Section 6-12-3 of the 1975 City Code prohibits a paved parking area to exceed 30% of coverage of the front yard area for a residential lot. Therefore, a variance is requested. All interested persons are urged to attend.

On-location photography workshops conducted by Joseph P. Messana will begin Saturday, Sept. 29. The classes are sponsored by the Henry Ford Centennial Library.

The color slide course, with no dark-room or printing, is geared to persons who know how to use 35mm equipment. There will be three fall color trips, a special weekend trip to Traverse City and a visit to the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The 10-week course is $150. For information, call Messana at 773-5815.

Census-takers to revisit

Beginning Oct. 1, local representatives of the U.S. Bureau of the Census will revisit selected households in the area to conduct the Survey of Income and Program Participation, according to Robert G. McWilliam, director of the regional office in Detroit.

The survey is being conducted in response to the need for better information on the economic well-being of the U.S. population. Information collected will be used to determine how selected government programs are working, and to help policy makers consider what changes are needed to make programs more effective.

Interviewers will gather information on jobs, earnings, participation in various government programs, and population characteristics. Summary data from the survey will be published periodically.

Information supplied by people taking part in the survey will be kept confidential under provisions of Title 13 of the U.S. Code. The information will be used only to prepare statistical summaries from which no individual or household can be identified. Representatives conducting the interviews will carry credentials identifying them as Census Bureau employees.

Woodcock to speak on China

Leonard Woodcock, former U.S. Ambassador to China, will speak at the War Memorial Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m.

In a historical context, Woodcock will analyze America's changing relationship with China now that it has opened its doors to the West. He will also discuss the opportunities available to the U.S. to forge strong ties with a new ally, and the inherent dangers in that friendship.

Woodcock's address is the fourth in a series of six on U.S. foreign policy, a series created by Audrey Platt, vice chairwoman of the War Memorial's Council of Sponsors. Tickets are $6 each, and may be purchased in advance or at the door.

Focus:HOPE walk is Oct. 7

The 9th Annual Focus: HOPE Walk for Justice is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 7, at 2 p.m. The walk will begin at the state fairgrounds and continue 10 miles down Woodward Avenue to Hart Plaza.

The demonstration focuses attention on civil and human rights priorities: jobs, adequate food, good schools and decent housing. Many walkers carry sponsor forms with pledges of support for Focus:HOPE programs.

A new addition this year is The Golden Mile. Starting at the Kern block and ending at Hart Plaza, it is for those who want to show their commitment but are unable to walk the entire 10 miles.

Entertainment at both the fairgrounds and Hart Plaza includes

The Blue Pigs, Wayne State Jazz Band, Ortheia Barnes, Barbara Bredius, Ron Coden, Phil Marcus Esser and Josh White Jr.

Persons who want to join the walk can obtain sponsor forms or more information by calling 883-7440. Co-chairpersons this year are Don Haney and Neal Shine.

Calendars on sale

Students, faculty and parents at Bishop Gallagher High School in Harper Woods kick-off the school's major fund drive of the year this week.

For the second year in a row, members of the Bishop Gallagher community will be selling Lancer Experience 1985 Calendars at $20 each. Purchasers of the calendars will receive chances on drawings to be held every day during 1985.

According to development director Thomas Lutostanski, proceeds from the calendar sales will underwrite capital improvement for the school.

For more information, call 886-0855 during school hours.

Travel series date changed

The travel series of the Neighborhood Club of Grosse Pointe has changed the dates of its programs from the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month, as previously announced, to the first and third Wednesdays at 1:30 p.m., the customary time.

The two programs for October will be:

Oct. 3 — Mary Fitzpatrick — Morocco, Spanish Morocco and Senegal.

Oct. 17 — Mary Ellen Tappan — Yugoslavia.

Annual meeting, dinner set

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial will hold its annual meeting and dinner Monday, Oct. 1. Dinner is $9 per person and will be served at 6:30 p.m. A brief business meeting and election of directors will take place at 8 p.m.

Entertainment will be provided by the Center's own Grosse Pointe Children's Theatre, directed by Sally Reynolds for the past 30 years, and the Corps de Ballet, directed by Mary Ellen Cooper.

The public is welcome. For reservation information, call 881-7511.

Shining silhouette

To the steeplejacks painting the spire of St. James Lutheran Church on McMillan Road last week, it was just another job. But to those on the ground who saw them, their equipment and the steeple poised against the sun, it was a beautiful silhouette in the summer sky.

ULS debaters in first place

The University Liggett School debate team won first place at the Central Michigan University tournament, Sept. 15.

The topic that was debated and will be used throughout the year was, "Resolved: That the federal government should provide employment for all employable U.S. citizens living in poverty."

Varsity affirmatives Robert Niccolini and Carolyn Seydel and negatives Harold Colby and Norman Issa won all of their eight debates to capture the first place trophy. Winning the top negative team award (for a team that was not a part of the first place four-person unit) were David Chilingirian and Pamela Colby. ULS debaters also won three of the five speaker awards. Norman Issa took first place, Pamela Colby, second place, and Harold Colby tied for third place. Other debaters were Julie Ferris, Philip Issa, Tom and Mike Baks, Delphine Davison and Carol Ling.

Equipment damaged

A construction company, working at Ghesquire Park, found that two pieces of equipment were damaged sometime during the weekend of Sept. 14-17. The front and back lights of a backhoe were taken, radiator and gas caps from the backhoe and a tractor were missing and the tanks were filled with dirt. Damage was estimated at $600.

The Oak Park firm asked Woods police to pay special attention to their equipment when it is left unattended nights and weekends.

Nude jogger seen in City

He was wearing tennis shoes and carrying a pair of white shorts, reported two girls returning home from a football game at South High last week shortly before midnight. The nude man was running north on Washington.

He is described as 6 feet, about 170 pounds with blond hair and a mustache. Grosse Pointe City police recorded the complaint.

Open house Oct. 3

The Detroit Waldorf School is still accepting applications for enrollment in kindergarten, elementary and high school. The school is located at 2555 Burns.

To learn more about the educational programs, interested persons are invited to a morning open house, Wednesday, Oct. 3, from 10 a.m. to noon.

For more information, call 822-0300.

Camera club meets

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte.

Along with the monochrome print and pictorial slide competition, there will be a mini-program by Alice Goslow on "Tips for Entering a Photo Contest." Visitors are welcome.

Cinema League to tour Tunisia

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will present "Touring Tunisia," an 8mm movie by Ester Porter, when it meets in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium on Monday, Oct. 1, at 8 p.m.

Tunisia, situated on the Mediterranean between Algeria and Libya, is noted for its superb sandy beaches, fringing almost the entire 810 miles of coastline.

The tour begins in Tunis, the capital, along beautiful Avenue Bourguiba, which leads to the old city and the colorful bazaar or souk.

A special highlight is a trip through the ruins of ancient Carthage, located in a wealthy suburb of Tunis. Here is the huge amphitheater where Winston Churchill addressed the victorious Allied troops in 1943, before the tiers of seats had been restored.

Also filmed is the beautiful Baro National Museum, which houses the world's finest collection of mosaics. Sidi Bou Said, a town with Moorish architecture, situated on a peninsula north of Tunis, affords a wonderful view of the city. Gleaming white Hammamet on the Tunisian Riviera provides views of the Mediterranean from the old wall of the ninth century fortified monastery.

While in the port of Sousse a side trip is made to Mahdia to see a sidewalk market. Also featured is the Great Mosque of the holy city of Kairouan, famous for its fine rugs which have been hand-woven there since the Phoenicians founded Carthage. In Matmata there are subterranean dwellings of descendants of the Berbers, earliest inhabitants of Tunisia, who were driven underground by Arab invasions.

The program is open to the public. Non-members of the Cinema League will be charged $1 admission.

Three prize-winning photographs of three Grosse Pointe students is featured in a display at the Citicorp Center in New York City. The exhibit of more than 300 pictures features the winners of the 1983 Scholastic/Kodak Photography Awards.

James Wade, 18, of Fisher in the City, won a $4,000 scholarship for his portfolio showing outstanding photographic ability.

Dina Palumbo won a Kodak Medallion of Excellence and a $50 Special Merit Award for her picture, "Roller Coaster." The 14-year-old lives on Moross in the Farms.

Christa Marie Honour Leonard, 17, won a $30 Honor Award for her picture, "A Boy and His Dog." She lives on Balfour in the Park.

The competition, sponsored by Eastman Kodak and conducted by Scholastic Inc., is open to junior and senior high school students throughout the country.

Rules folders for the 1985 contest are available from Scholastic Photography Awards, 730 Broadway, New York 10003.

Alumni plan get-together

The Alumni Association of Bishop Gallagher High School is planning their Fifth Annual Homecoming Get-Together for Saturday, Sept. 29.

Coordinators Kevin Elsey, '67, and Peter Wandire, '70, have announced that the gathering will take place at the Bishop Gallagher Cafe at 9:30 p.m. immediately following this year's homecoming game against arch-rival De la Salle at Southlake High School field.

The homecoming queens and team captains from 1964 on will participate in half-time activities at the game and will gather afterward for the alumni party at the high school.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Southlake and the Alumni Get-Together will begin at Bishop Gallagher at 9:30. There is a $1 donation for the alumni party. For further information, call the alumni office at 884-5818 during the school day.

Gilbert, Sullivan performed Sunday

The Lyric Chamber Ensemble will present a program of Gilbert & Sullivan highlights on Sunday, Sept. 30 at 3:30 p.m. with the Joan Smith Singers at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House.

Tickets are $8, $6 for students and senior citizens. The price includes a tour of the Ford House, and an afterglow wine reception.

The Ford House is located at 1100 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Shores. The gate will be opened at 3 p.m.

Call 357-1111 for ticket orders and information.

Auditions for band contest coming up

Grosse Pointe's 11th annual Battle of the Bands will be held Saturday, Nov. 24, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Bands interested in auditioning must file a written request to: Jack Dotson, Youth director, Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Drive, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236.

Bands that meet the following requirements will then be auditioned by a student committee on or before Sunday, Oct. 20; have at least 50 percent of their members in grades 9 through 12; have at least 50 percent of their members Grosse Pointe residents; and, must be of a non-professional nature.

One major change in this year's "event" is the sound and light system setup. The War Memorial will hire two duplicate PA and light systems; one for the ballroom and one for the auditorium. As a result, each band will use identical systems, ensuring a more equitable competition.

Anyone with questions, or students who would like to join the audition committee, may call 881-7511.

For vets in school

The Veterans Administration said it will change the way it verifies attendance of veterans and beneficiaries in GI Bill non-college degree programs.

Gordon W. Clowney, director of the VA Regional Office in Detroit, said that effective Sept. 1, the federal agency will verify school attendance on a monthly basis instead of quarterly.

He said this change will affect veterans and beneficiaries in farm cooperative management programs, vocational technical schools and other non-college degree certificate programs.

Payments for each month that the veteran or beneficiary is in school will be made only after verification of attendance, justifying payment, has been received.

Clowney said this procedure "will significantly reduce the overpayments that the Veterans Administration has experienced in the past."

The VA director said that advance payments will continue to be processed as in the past, when such payments are requested by the veteran and the school participates in the advance payment program.

He urged students in the program who may experience payment problems to call the VA on its toll-free lines. Numbers are available from directory assistance.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

A visit from Sweden's Ambassador to the United States, community and cultural events and church services will highlight Swedish Heritage Week, running Sept. 29 through Oct. 7 throughout Michigan by proclamation of Governor James J. Blanchard, and many members of Grosse Pointe's considerable Swedish community have been/are involved in the Heritage Week celebrations.

Coming to town for them are Count Wilhelm Wachtmeister, the afore-mentioned ambassador, and his Countess, of Washington, D.C.; Ambassador Tore Tallroth and Mrs. Tallroth, of Stockholm; Consul General and Mrs. Lars Arno, of Chicago; and Sweden's leading industrialist, Peter Wallenberg.

Swedish Heritage Week begins this Saturday, Sept. 29, with an invitational reception at Ford Auditorium honoring Herbert Blomstedt, guest conductor, following his Detroit Symphony Orchestra concert. Maestro Blomstedt is (among other things) conductor of the Swedish Radio Orchestra, and his Saturday evening DSO program will include a performance of the Symphony in C Major, "Singuliere," by 19th century Swedish composer Franz Berwald.

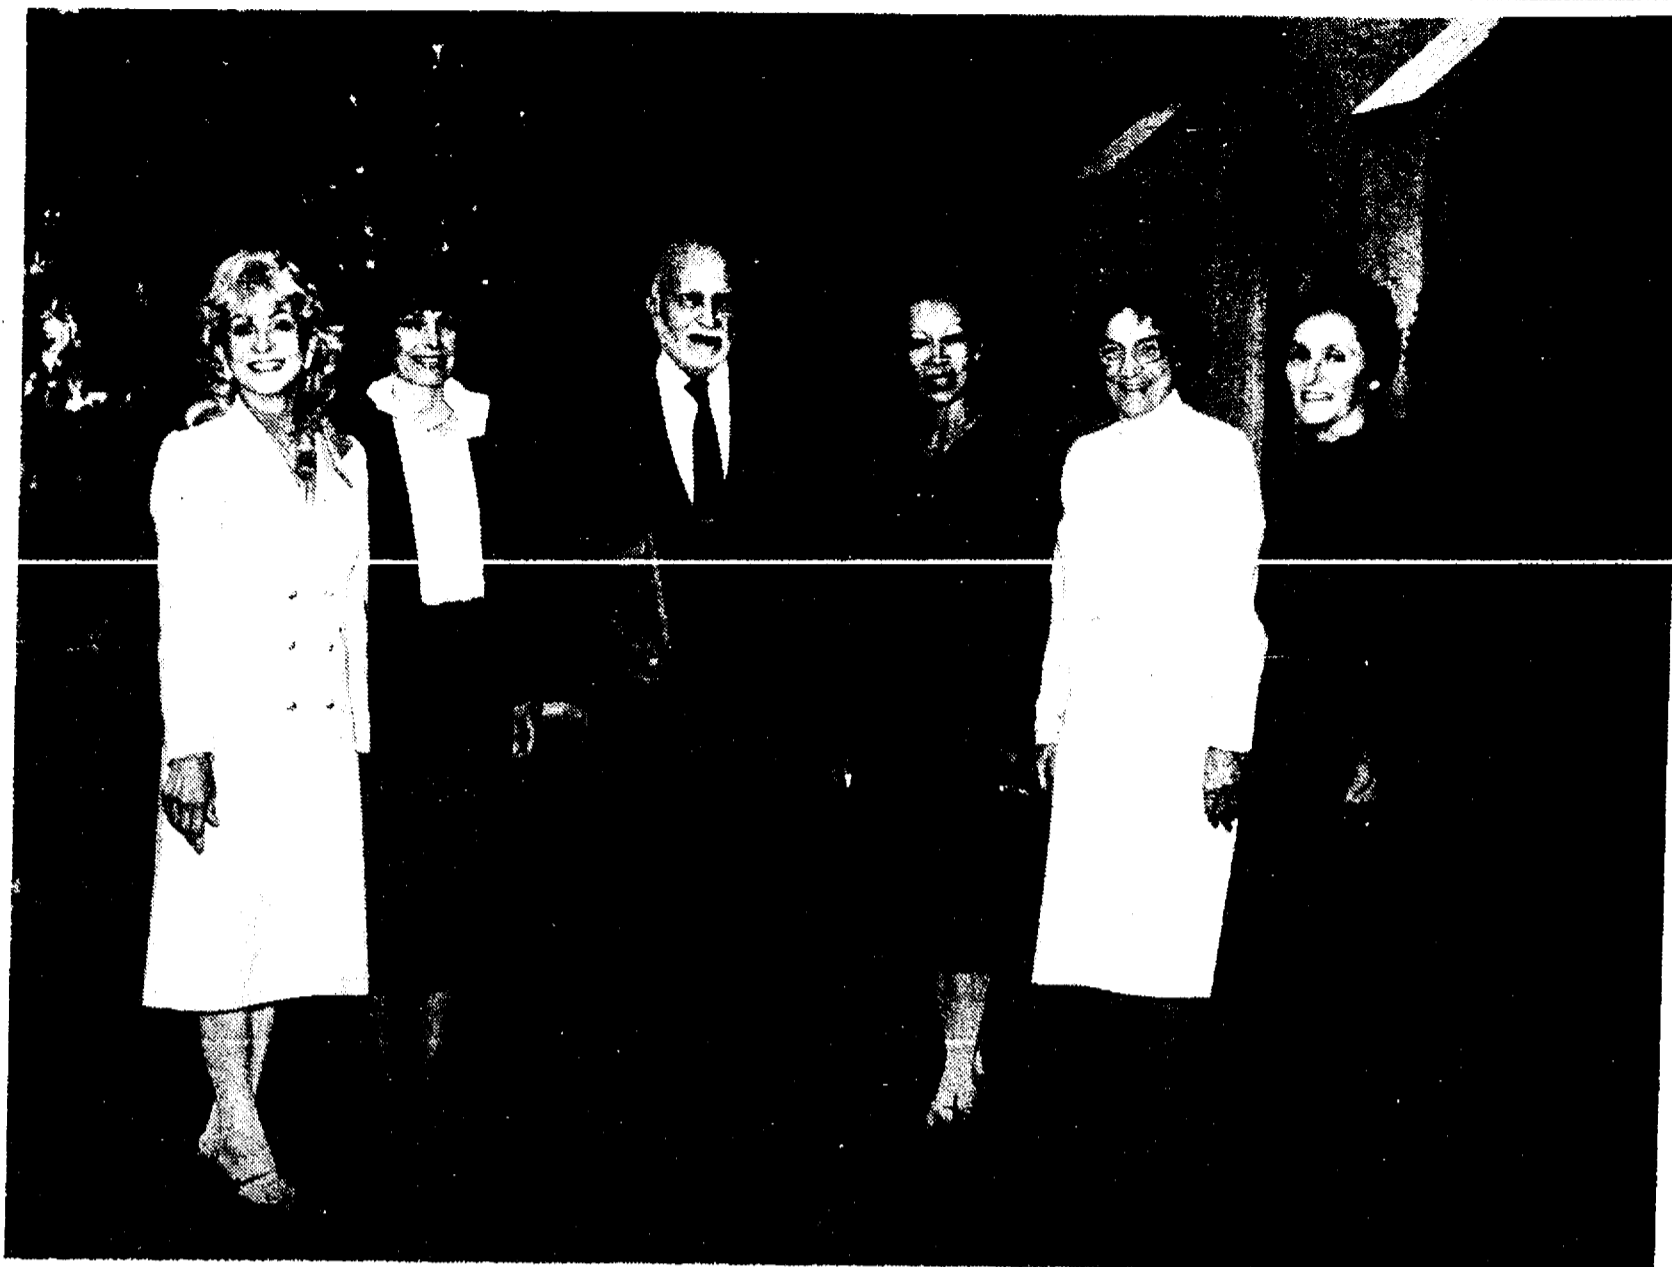

Grosse Pointers Mr. and Mrs. Wesley R. Johnson are chairing the reception. Prior to the concert, the Detroit-Swedish Council will host a membership dinner at the Detroit Club. Grosse Pointers Mr. and Mrs. James D. Tracy are in charge of hosts and hostesses, among whom will be Mrs. Charles J. Koebel, Consul and Mrs. Marvin R. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Erikson and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar L. Olson, all of The Pointe.

Immanuel Lutheran Church, located at the corner of Chandler Park Drive and Dickerson on Detroit's East Side, was founded in 1919 by Swedish immigrants and their descendants, many of whom settled in Detroit to become part of the rapidly expanding automotive and allied industries.

Many members of the original congregation subsequently moved to The Pointe, but they, and their children, remained faithful to Immanuel. Not that the church didn't move with the times: it has been an interracial congregation for 20 years, is one of the founding members of the Metropolitan Detroit Lutheran Parish (a coalition of Lutheran churches which seek to meet the special needs of urban people), sponsors an emergency food closet in cooperation with neighboring Episcopal and Roman Catholic parishes, opens its gymnasium three afternoons and evening a week to neighborhood children for an after-school program and delivers 39,000 "Meals on Wheels" each year to elderly and homebound citizens in the area.

But Immanuel still cherishes its Swedish pioneer roots, preserving them in such celebrations as the annual Lucia

To present Soiree au Casino de Monte Carlo

Committee members for the Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe "Soiree au Casino de Monte Carlo" party which will be held on Saturday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, met recently on the GPYC's front lawn to talk over prizes, plans and purpose of the evening with DR. ANTOINE NAHOUM, who has long headed the Pointe Alliance's scholarship project which the Monte Carlo Soiree will benefit. At far left and second from left, respectively, are MRS. FREDERICK M. VAN ASSCHE, party co-chairman, and MRS. NABIL TAWILE, in charge of prizes. Left to right, to Dr. Nahoum's right, are MRS. KIM K. LIE, Alliance president, MRS. ANTHONY A. VERMEULEN, Monte Carlo Night chairman, and MRS. DENISE CONTOULIS, in charge of reservations. For an admission donation of $10 ($25 patron), party-goers will receive a packet of play chips which the lucky ones may cash in at the end of the evening for a choice of boutique items including Limoges china, cooking accessories, posters, decorative plates and sets of Crystal d'Arques glassware. The Monte Carlo raffle offers an additional four prizes: a table model color television, a microwave oven, a three-piece luggage set and a woman's wrist watch. There will be complimentary cheeses and crudites for everyone to snack on. Party proceeds will send a local high school student, who excels in French, to Paris for a month's summer study; if you want to know what a wonderful scholarship THAT is, ask Katherine Hein, 1984 Grosse Pointe South High School graduate, who won this year's Alliance summer study in France award. The Monte Carlo party committee, in addition to those pictured above, includes Mr. and Mrs. Roger Van Bever, David M. Thoms, Patrick F. Carren, Mrs. Farris Sfere, Mrs. John L. Drummy, Mrs. Joseph J. Marshall, Mrs. Michel Skaff and Frank Granger. Reservations may be made by calling 885-2767. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Trip to pottery for Pettipointe

The Pettipointe Questers leave from Mrs. George Van Walleghem's home at 9 a.m. today, Thursday, Sept. 27, to visit potter Robert Diebboll's studio, kiln and antique salt-glaze crock collection in Washington, Mich., then enjoy luncheon at the Cafe Piccirilli.

Some of the Pettipointe ladies are coming for the day. Several will continue on for an antique-shopping excursion enroute to the Top of the Thumb, where they will stay overnight at Mrs. Richard Rinke's Caseville home.

The lumbertown museums at Huron City are on the overnighters' excursion agenda.

Begin Bible class Oct. 6

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church will offer a community Bible class, combining a short social period with Bible study, running from 10 to 11:30 a.m. on Saturdays starting Saturday, Oct. 6. The class will be conducted by The Reverend Dr. Stan and Maria Wilson.

The program is open to all ages, seventh grade through senior citizen. Sign-up by tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 28, will help with logistical problems, but "walk-ins" are welcome.

There is no registration fee, but the class will have a kitty to cover minor refreshment costs. Additional information may be obtained by calling 882-5330.

Mercy hosts Oktoberfest

Mercy College of Detroit Alumni Association will sponsor an open-to-the-public Oktoberfest this Saturday, Sept. 29, from 8 p.m. to midnight in the college's Conference Center.

There'll be music for dancing and entertainment by musicians from the Dakota Inn and the Carpathia Children Schupplatter. German gifts and crafts and German food will be available for sale. Unlimited beer and wine, soft drinks, potato chips and pretzels are included in the $10 ticket price.

Tickets may be purchased with VISA or MasterCard by calling 592-6114. All tickets will be held at the door.

Tea, program to open year for Musicale

Tuesday Musicale of Detroit, celebrating almost a century of music, will usher in its 99th season with its annual Presidents' Tea and Musicale for the entire membership, including new Associate Members, next Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 1 p.m.

The program will feature scholar-ship recipients Priscilla Peebles, mezzo-soprano, and Kirsten Taylor, pianist.

Ms. Peebles, winner of the Andrea Person Scholarship in Voice, is a graduate of the University of Michigan, which she attended on full scholarship in the Opera Department. She later toured Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Austria with the U. of M. School of Music Chamber Choir.

She has been a Fellowship Student at the Aspen Music Festival, Aspen, Colo., for several summers. For Tuesday Musicale, she will perform works by Purcell, Donaudy, Schubert and Gounod, accompanied by Susan Caldwell, pianist.

Ms. Taylor, winner of the 1983 Grosse Pointe Piano Competition, has studied with Eugene List. She appeared as soloist with the Pittsburgh Symphony at age 11, performing Mozart's D Minor Concerto. She is a University of Michigan School of Music scholarship winner, and has received many other awards.

She will be performing works by J.S. Bach, Brahms and Chopin for Tuesday Musicale.

Mrs. Harry Peets, the Musicale's first vice-president, is chairing the musicale portion of next Tuesday's program. Mrs. Salvatore Vermilion is chairing the tea, with assistance from Pointers Mrs. Thomas Clark, Mrs. Richard B. Johns, Mrs. Leon Kosek, Mrs. Martin Linder, Mrs. Thomas Singelyn, Mrs. Walter Segatti and Mrs. Alex Tasso.

Ushers, under Mrs. John Trute, chairman, will include Mrs. Kuno Fernholz and Mrs. Philip Dexter, of The Pointe, Mrs. Dorothy Minier Allyn, of Warren, and Mrs. Reinhard Rottner, of Roseville.

Reservations are being taken by Mrs. Rose Tyler, of The Park, assisted by Mrs. John Liston, also of The Park, and Mrs. Windsor Davies and Mrs. Lester McIntosh, of The Shores.

Past-presidents expected to attend include Mrs. Charles Bryant and Grosse Pointers Mrs. Arnold Lungershausen, Mrs. Ellwyn A. Gilbert, Mrs. Eugene T. Ignasiak, Mrs. Burt E. Taylor and Mrs. Russell H. Skitch, M.B.E., immediate past-president, with Mrs. Kenneth S. Person, of Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. Berj H. Haidostian and Mrs. Douglas P. MacIntosh, of Birmingham, Mrs. Albert Zanolli, Mrs. Harry W. Taylor, Mrs. B.H. Larsson and Mrs. Aaron Simmons.

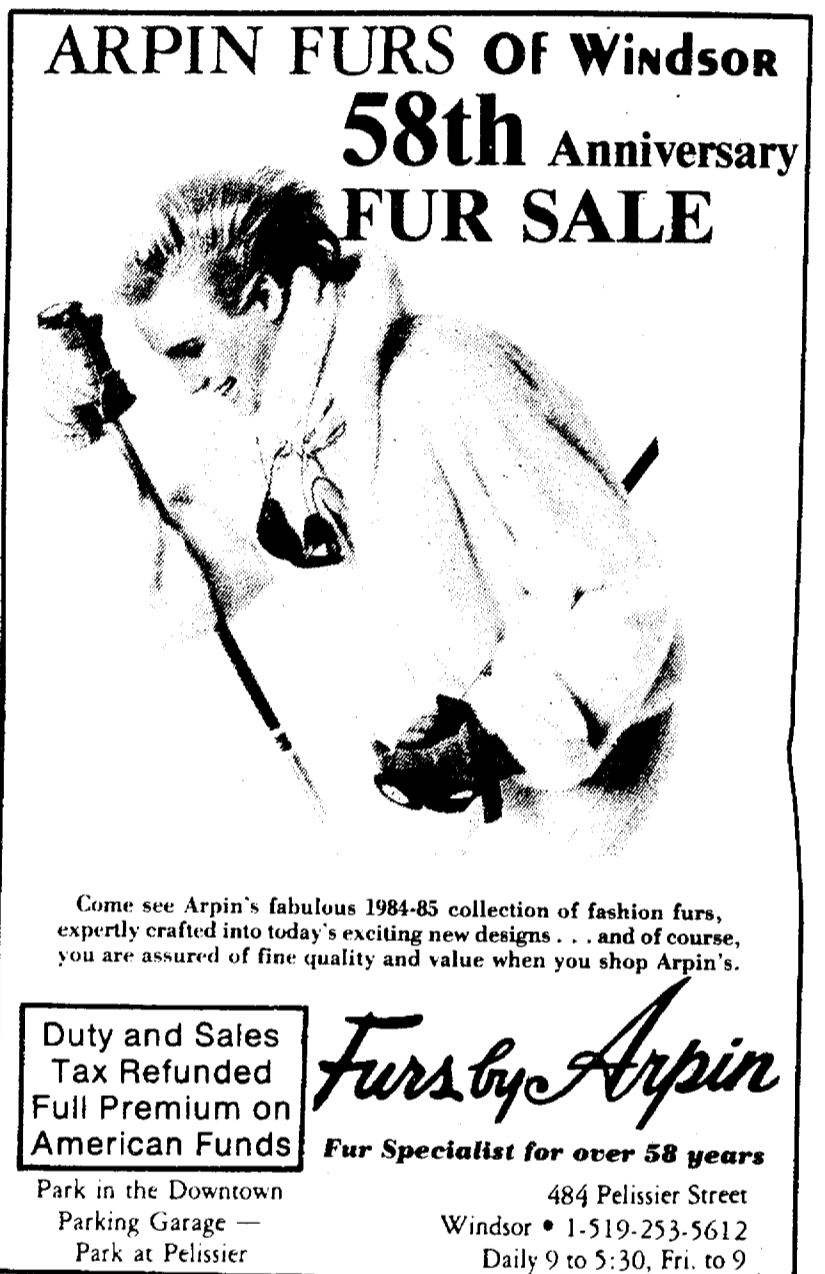

Mrs. Clark E. Pardee Jr., the current president, will greet guests as they gather in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Crystal Ballroom for the Past-President's Reception following the concert in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium.

Dona Imesch is June bride

A reception at the Harper Woods Community Center followed the wedding of Dona Marie Imesch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Imesch, of Radnor Circle, and Shawn Spry, son of Mrs. May Spry, of Clare, and the late Robert Spry, Friday evening, June 8, in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore.

The Reverend Bishop Imesch officiated at the 6 o'clock ceremony. The bride wore a traditional white gown, styled with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves of Alencon lace, its bodice, skirt and hemline appliqued with matching lace.

A pearl and lace headpiece held her cathedral length veil. She carried an arrangement of white silk roses, gardenias, ivy and Stephanotis.

Maryann Kudirka, honor matron for her sister, and bridesmaids Christine Geist, of Norioik, Va., and Maureen Crandall, in dresses of spring lime green taffeta, carried bouquets of matching silk roses and mums.

Flower girl Elizabeth Spry, the bridegroom's niece, wore a short-sleeved, full length gown of white eyelet, with a lime green belt. She carried a basket of mums with lime green silk bows holding the wedding rings.

Miss Woerfel wed in May

A matinee length dress, its molded bodice, worn off-the-shoulder, featuring a deep ruffle, was Mary Ann Woerfel's choice for her spring wedding to Peter MacDonald Jones. The gown of Schiffl lace over white silk taffeta was sashed with a wide satin ribbon, accented with a side bow.

Streamers and tulle cascaded from the back of her headpiece, a half-circle of Stephanotis, French lilies and satin. She carried a tulle-tied bouquet of long-stemmed lilies and Stephanotis.

The new Mrs. Jones is the daughter of Mrs. Russell E. Woerfel, of Harper Woods, and the late Mr. Woerfel. Mr. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Merritt Jones, of Provenal Road.

The Reverend Edward A.M. Cobden Jr. presided at the 4 o'clock ceremony Saturday, May 26, in Christ Church, Grosse Pointe. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Wayne Woerfel, of Mount Clemens.

She was attended by honor maid Kelly Warren, in a matinee length dress of white Schiffl lace, tied at the side with a hot pink sash, carrying a wand of pink lilies laced with ribbon, a pink lily and streamers in her hair.

Junior bridesmaids Elise Ann (Lisa) Jones, sister of the bridegroom, and Carrie Lynn Woerfel, the bride's niece, wore short dresses of white cotton eyelet and carried nosegays of roses and baby's-breath. Their hair was pulled back with a cluster of matching flowers.

Christopher Merritt Jones acted as his brother's best man. Ushering were Jeffrey S. Jones, another brother, who resides in Colorado, Mark Woerfel, the bride's brother,

Mr. and Mrs. Shawn Spry

Graig Spry was best man. Kurt Gersch, Ron Flannery and the bride's brothers, John (J.J.) and Patrick (P.J.) Imesch seated the guests.

The mother of the bride wore a long-sleeved, V-necked, floor length gown of chiffon. A silk orchid formed her wrist corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a long-sleeved gown of beige chiffon and a silk orchid wrist corsage.

The newlyweds, who vacationed in Traverse City, are at home in Lake Worth, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Jones and David McDonnell, of Chicago. The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of peach corded silk, and a lily in her hair. The bridegroom's mother, in a street length dress of emerald green and blue print silk chiffon, pinned lilies-of-the-valley to her purse.

After a reception at the Country Club of Detroit, the newlyweds left to vacation in Hawaii. They are at home in Houston, Tex.

Special guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Lester Woerfel, of Detroit, and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. George Fink, of The Farms.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's uncle, John Fink, of Santa Barbara, Calif., his aunt, Mrs. George Sehring, of Joliet, Ill., and his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hutchison and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sehring, also of Joliet, and the bride's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. John D. McAlpine, of Coral Gables, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Morgan, of Sarnia, Ont.

Grow-Fisher vows spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Fisher Jr., of Grosse Pointe and Palm Beach, Fla., announce the marriage of their daughter, Christine Frances, to Richard Grow, son of Mrs. Lawrence Ruby and the late J. Alfred Grow Jr., of Grosse Pointe, on Saturday, September 22, at a family ceremony at the Fisher home in Grosse Pointe.

The bride is a graduate of Norton Convent of the Sacred Heart and Mount Vernon College, Washington, D.C. She is a granddaughter of Mrs. Frances Jacobs and the late Rex C. Jacobs, and of Mrs. Alfred J. Fisher and the late Mr.

Fisher, one of the seven Fisher Brothers who founded the Fisher Body Corporation of General Motors.

The new Mrs. Grow's father is chairman of the board of General Safety Corporation of Detroit, manufacturers of automobile safety equipment.

Mr. Grow is a graduate of Michigan State University and, magna cum laude, of Wayne State University Law School. He is a partner in the law firm of Butzel, Long, Gust Klein and Van Zile.

The newlyweds will reside in Grosse Pointe.

June wedding date is made

Mr. and Mrs. Rees McFarlane, of Hillcrest Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Michelle Lee (Mindy), to Scott Assiff MacGriff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack MacGriff, of East Lansing. They plan to be married next June.

The bride elect, a Grosse Pointe South High School alumna, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics from the University of Michigan, where she affiliated with Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. She is a member of the Detroit Association of University of Michigan Women.

Her fiancé was graduated from East Lansing High School and plans to complete work for his Bachelors degree at the University of Michigan in the Spring. His fraternity is Phi Delta Theta.

First meeting for Jardinieres

La Societe des Jardinieres' first meeting for the 1984-85 season was held on Thursday, Sept. 13, at the home of Helene Muer who was assisted by co-hostess Josie MacLean. The program featured Madelyn Coe, Fashion Merchandising director for the J.L. Hudson Company for many years, who spoke on "Proper Gardening Attire."

Ms. Coe, regarded as an international fashion authority, has been cited as one of the Top Ten Women of Detroit.

Hutzel plans fashion party

Holiday fashions from the Daewood Boutique will highlight Hutzel Hospital Auxiliary's benefit Wednesday, Oct. 10, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The day begins with cocktails at 11 a.m., followed by luncheon at noon. The fashion presentation is scheduled for 1 p.m.

The event is being chaired by Patricia Colasante. Alice Johnston is honorary chairman. Tickets are $15 per person, with all proceeds going to Hutzel Hospital. Further information may be obtained by contacting the auxiliary, 494-7667.

July wedding vows are said

Exchanging marriage vows Saturday, July 21, in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church were Cheryl Anne Frederick, daughter of Mrs. Maryanne Frederick, of Berkshire Road, and the late John Frederick, and Fred E. Rogers II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Rogers, of Middlesex Boulevard.

The Reverend David Antonson presided at the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening. A reception at the Detroit Yacht Club followed. The newlyweds vacationed in South Florida and the Bahamas and will make their home on Audubon Road in Detroit.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder gown of white silk organza featuring a basque waistline and tiered ruffles at the neckline. The hemline of the dress also fell into tiered ruffles, which accented the sweeping cathedral train. Her cathedral length veil fell from a Princess Diana-style hat studded with seed pearls. She carried white silk gardenias tied with mauve ribbons and cascading from a large lace fan and clasped a pearl necklace, given to her by the bridegroom, around her neck.

The former Miss Frederick was given in marriage by Axel Anderson-Vie, of Jackson, and by her mother.

Karen Frederick was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were another sister, Patti Frederick, a sister of the bridegroom, Sharon Rogers, of New York City, Michele Church, of Plymouth, and Diane Boley, of Jackson. A cousin of the bridegroom, Sarah Marhevsky, of Wadsworth, Ohio, was junior bridesmaid and flower girls were Emily Marhevsky, the bridegroom's cousin, and Shannon Frederick, of Liverpool, N.Y., a niece of the bride.

Their floor length dresses were in various shades of mauve taffeta, featuring ruffled, off-the-shoulder necklines, hoop skirts and flounced hemlines. The flower girls' gowns featured high, ruffled necklines. Each attendant pinned baby's-breath in her upswept hair and carried a bouquet of white and mauve silk flowers and ribbons on a silk fan.

Charles "Chip" Gibson served as best man. Groomsmen were the bride's brothers, Bob Frederick, of Jackson, and Mike Frederick, and Brad Knapp and Donny Kummer. The bride's nephew, Scotty Frederick, of Liverpool, N.Y., served as ring bearer. Reading scriptures during the ceremony was Phillip Baggett, of Topeka, Kans.

The mother of the bride selected a floor length gown of pale cream silk organza printed with garden flowers and featuring puffy, sheer sleeves. The bridegroom's mother chose a gown of pale mauve silk crepe designed with a handkerchief hemline and worn with a jacket. Each mother wore a white silk gardenia corsage and received a single red rose from the bride at the conclusion of the ceremony.

An antique sword, belonging to the bride's grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bresser, of Grosse Pointe, was used to cut the tiered wedding cake, which was mounted on brightly-lighted fountains.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner under a blue and white striped tent at their home, which was also the site of a Sunday afternoon garden party — featuring Coney Island hot dogs — held for the newlyweds, relatives, friends and out-of-town guests.

Smith-Salden rites are read

St. Paul's American Lutheran Church in Dearborn was the setting Saturday, June 30, for the afternoon wedding of Dawn Ilene Salden, daughter of Philip Wesley Salden, of Dearborn, and the late Mrs. Salden, and Dr. Steven Janney Smith, son of Mrs. John Wesley Keyes, of Harvard Road, and the late Dr. Frederick Janney Smith.

The Reverend Norman Schellhase officiated at the 1 o'clock ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Detroit Boat Club. The newlyweds vacationed on Maui and will make their home in Chicago, Ill.

The bride wore a gown of ivory silk organza, which featured lace at the bodice and appliques on the front of the skirt and around the hem. She wore a long silk veil and carried a bouquet of wildflowers tied with ivory ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Martin Myers, of Denver, Colo, was honor matron for her sister. Bridesmaids were Denise Lynn Ellis and Susan Dooley. April Simms was a junior bridesmaid. They wore floor length, off-the-shoulder gowns of ivory eyelet, each sashed in a different color to match the ribbon streamers tied around the bouquets of wildflowers they carried.

Charles Sillery, of New York, served as best man. Ushers included Dr. Steven Schneider, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Dr. Stuart Simms and Michael Morgan.

The bridegroom's mother wore a street length gown of blue and turquoise silk and a corsage of white roses.

Dr. and Mrs. John W. Keyes hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Dearborn Inn.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Smith, of Middlebury, Conn.; a sister and brother-in-law of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McGowan, of Rialto, Calif.; an uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Martin, of Boise, Idaho; and a brother and sister-in-law of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Salden, of Salt Lake City, Utah.

The new Mrs. Smith holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Michigan State University. Dr. Smith is an alumnus of Grosse Pointe High School, received his Bachelor of Science from Oakland University and was graduated from the Wayne State University College of Medicine in 1979. He served his internship and residency at Henry Ford Hospital, recently completed specialized studies at Northwestern Memorial Hospital and has accepted a position in LaGrange, Ill.

Miss Wilson wed in April

Moreland Hills, Ohio, is home for Mr. and Mrs. John Terrance Lennon, who vacationed on Rose Island in the Bahamas following their spring wedding in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore.

Mrs. Lennon is the former Mary Beth Wilson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Francis M. Wilson, of Lewiston Road. Mr. Lennon is the son of Mary Kay Maxson, of Shaker Heights, Ohio, and John Phillip Lennon, of Novelty, Ohio.

The 2 o'clock ceremony Saturday, April 7, Monsignor Francis X. Canfield presiding, was followed by a reception at the Book Cadillac Hotel where the receiving line, with hors d'oeuvres and champagne, formed in the Lawyer's Room. Dinner followed in the Crystal Ballroom.

The bride wore her mother's cathedral length gown of taffeta, silk tulle and trapunto applique lace and her mother-in-law's seed pearl coronet, which caught a triple-tiered, double-layered illusion veil. She arrived at the church in a full length cape of white wool crepe trimmed with grape lace at the neckline and shoulders.

White dendrobium orchids and baby's-breath formed her bouquet. Ann Louise Wilson, of Washington, D.C., honor maid for her twin sister, and bridesmaids Lisa Wilson, of Boston, Mass., their sister-in-law, Kim Muller, of Washington, the bride's college roommate, Virginia resident Suzanne Hunt, a college friend, Kelly Ryan, of Novelty, the bridegroom's cousin, and Cyndi Singelyn, a Farms resident and high school friend, also arrived at the church in white wool capes, styled with asymmetrical closings and detachable styles.

Their polished cotton, ankle length dresses were fashioned with low, round necklines, puffed sleeves and inverted, stitched-down unpressed pleats, and featured dyed-to-match Cluny lace edging at hemline and sleeves. The honor maid carried mauve alstromeria. Blue iris, baby's-breath and galix leaves formed the bridesmaids' bouquets.

North Carolina resident Leif Roll acted as best man for his former college roommate. Ushering were Neil McTaggart, of Nassau, another roommate, Ton Cronquist, of Shaker Heights, and the bride's brothers, James Lennon, of Lake Forest, Ill., Thomas Lennon, of Denison, Ohio, and William Lennon, of Shaker Heights.

The mother of the bride, who designed and made all the attire for the wedding including the wedding gown, which she designed 31 years ago, wore a silk and cotton dressmaker suit of watercolor brocade, fashioned with a tuxedo-closed, pleated-sleeved, waist length jacket and yoke skirt.

Her flower, like that of the bridegroom's mother, who wore a two-piece dress of silk charmeuse, fashioned with bishop sleeves and a yoke skirt, was a single gardenia.

Open Lakeshore YMCA day care

Lakeshore Family YMCA, located on East Jefferson Avenue near Nine Mile Road, at the border of St. Clair Shores and Grosse Pointe Shores, has opened a Child Day Care Center, state-licensed and staffed by qualified personnel, equipped for full or half-day ses-

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Rogers II

The out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Race, and his great-aunt, Mrs. Mary Nagy, of Akron, Ohio; his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Marhevsky, of Wadsworth, Ohio; and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Boyer, of Copley, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Wojcik, of Parma, Ohio.

Also present were members of the bride's family, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Anderson-Vie of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. John Frederick Jr., of Liverpool, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frederick, of Vandercook Lake, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. James Horrigan, of Topeka, Kans., the bride's great-aunt, Mrs. Verna Clancy, of Bad Axe; and Dr. and Mrs. William Taylor, of Jackson, a family physician. Also in attendance were the bride's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Bresser, Mr. and Mrs. William Bresser and James Bresser Sr., all of Grosse Pointe.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Marcil

Marcil-Frech vows spoken

A reception at the Georgian Inn followed the 5 o'clock wedding of Nina Frech, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frech, of Long Island, N.Y., and Richard G. Marcil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marcil, of North Brys Drive, Saturday, August 11, in the Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel.

The newlyweds traveled from the chapel to the inn in a classic, black and burgundy 1937 Rolls Royce. The bride wore her mother's gown, an original designed in New York City, of embroidered peau de soie with seed pearls and flowers in cascading flows on the skirt and bodice.

Cathy Frech, honor maid for her sister, in pink taffeta, and bridesmaids Denise and Mary Kay Marcil, sisters of the bridegroom, and Peggy Fontanes and Cathy O'Brien, both of New York, in lavender taffeta, carried cascades of silk azaleas.

Best man was Robert Masi. The bridegroom's brothers, Raymond and David Marcil, their cousin, Michael Faba, and Christopher Shannon ushered. Ring bearer was Raymond Lee, the bridegroom's nephew and godchild.

The mother of the bride wore a handkerchief-hemmed gown of lavender blue, floating chiffon. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of lavender chiffon with satin trapunto trimming, styled with a three-tiered skirt. Each mother wore an orchid wrist corsage.

The newlyweds vacationed in northern Michigan, visiting Charlevoix and Mackinac Island. They are at home in Detroit, where the bridegroom, a recent graduate of Boston College, is now employed by Intra-tech and does free lance writing for many publications, including the Detroit Free Press. He is beginning Law School at the University of Detroit this fall.

Dr. and Mrs. Kurt E. Tech

Tech-Leonard rites in June

At home in Harper Woods are Dr. and Mrs. Kurt Ernest Tech, who vacationed on Bermuda following their Saturday, June 9, wedding at Kirk in the Hills, Bloomfield Hills, and a reception at the Country Club of Detroit.

Mrs. Tech is the former Paula (Polly) Joanne Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Leonard, of Birmingham. Dr. Tech is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt O. Tech, of Sunningdale Drive.

Beaded Alencon lace accented the bodice of the silk taffeta gown the former Miss Leonard chose for the 5:30 o'clock ceremony. The dress featured elbow length, puffed sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and a cummerbund waist.

A cap of matching beaded lace held her cathedral length veil, and she carried a cascade of bridal white roses, gardenias, Stephanotis and ivy.

Shelley Hunsberger came from Reston, Va., to serve as her sister's honor matron. Bridesmaids were Lisa Seymour, cousin of the bride, Barb Vacketta and Kim Conner, of Garland, Tex.

They wore Empire-waisted, scoop-necked, floor length dresses of pink taffeta, styled with short, puffed sleeves, and carried arrangements of bridal pink roses and baby's-breath.

Karl Tech acted as his brother's best man. Eric Tech, another brother, Dr. Paul Leslie and Dr. David Hennagan, of Lansing, seated the guests.

The mother of the bride wore a street length dress of pink jacquard silk, Victorian in style and trimmed with antique lace. She pinned a cymbidium orchid to her purse. The bridegroom's mother pinned a single pink rose to her street length dress of beige lace.

The new Mrs. Tech, an Albion College graduate, is currently working as a computer programmer at General Motors. Dr. Tech, a graduate of Albion and Wayne State University Medical School, is a resident at Saint John Hospital.

A spring date for Miss May

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Roy May, of Lincolnshire, Ill., formerly of Grosse Pointe and Lake Forest, Ill., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Whitney Grill, to Clarence Raymond Reilly II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelly Reilly Jr., of Granger, Ind. A spring wedding is planned, in Lake Forest.

The bride-to-be was graduated from Lake Forest Country Day School, attended Lake Forest Academy-Ferry Hall and was graduated from the College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois where she is presently studying for a Masters degree in Animal Science, in the field of Environmental Physiology.

Her fiancé, a graduate of Central High School in Champaign, Ill., holds a degree in Electrical Engineering from the University of Illinois. He is now studying for a Masters degree in Electrical Engineering, with a field of specialization in Engineering Biocoustics.

Jane McLeod to be married

Planning to be married next June are Jane Donnell McLeod and Steven Robert Krahnke whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald McLeod, of Cloverly Road.

Miss McLeod holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Advanced Statistical Methods from the University of Michigan, where she is currently pursuing a Master of Public Health degree in Biostatistics and a Ph.D. in Sociology. She is a member of the American Sociological Association.

Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Krahnke, of Midland, received his Bachelor of Arts degree in English and a State of Michigan Teaching Certificate from the University of Michigan in 1981, and his Master of Arts degree in Performing Arts Management from the U. of M. a year later.

He currently works as marketing director and group sales manager for the Professional Theatre Program in Ann Arbor.

Christmas Festival and the early Christmas morning Julotta Service. This Sunday, Sept. 30, a special service of Thanksgiving at 10:30 a.m. will commemorate the church's 65 years of ministry.

The service is very much a part of Michigan's Swedish Heritage Week festivities. Ambassador and Mrs. Tallroth and Consul General and Mrs. Arno will be there. Pastor Emeritus Constantine Trued and Pastor William Heil will join in leading the liturgy, which will be followed by a reception in the Parish Hall for friends and members of the congregation.

Reception chairman is Grosse Pointe's Mrs. Charles D.K. Brown. The Mesdames Darrel Engle, Trevor Jones, Carlton Lindell, William T. Heil Jr., Ted Nichols, Carl Ohman and Robert Williams, all of The Pointe, are serving on her committee.

And yet another Pointer, Mrs. Edward Genberg, is president of the Jenny Lind Club of Detroit, sponsor of an exhibit of 11 rarely-seen etchings by Anders Zorn which opens with a subscription luncheon Tuesday, Oct. 2, at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Ambassador and Mrs. Tallroth will be honored guests.

The Zorn exhibit, presented in cooperation with the museum, is one of several Swedish Heritage Week displays. Across the street, at Detroit's Main Public Library, the Detroit-Swedish Council is sponsoring an exhibit of Orrefors crystal, on loan from Orrefors Inc. in the USA and private metropolitan area collectors. The council also arranged for a Ford Auditorium lobby display that features portraits of the King and Queen of Sweden plus photographs of prominent Swedish and Swedish-American personalities.

"Swedes in Michigan," an exhibit of archival sources on the Swedish heritage in Michigan, will be featured Oct. 1 through 6 at the Michigan Historical Collections, Bentley Historical Library, University of Michigan North campus. A Swedish Film Festival is also scheduled at the U. of M., along with a program paying tribute to those whose efforts have resulted in funding to establish the university's Swedish Language Endowment Fund.

Many Grosse Pointers are expected to be among the guests at two cross-town Swedish Heritage Week events: a program and reception this Sunday afternoon, Sept. 30, at Cranbrook Academy of Art, and a smorgasbord next Sunday, Oct. 7, at the Finnish Cultural Center in Farmington Hills.

Under the Stars V

"Under the Stars V," the formal ball at the Detroit Institute of Arts that has become a highlight of the fall social season, will be held on Saturday, Oct. 27 — but the approximately 150 patrons who have already paid $250 to attend the dinner dance have a special treat in store for them next week: an "Under the Stars V" kickoff party Wednesday, Oct. 3, at Somerset Mall, hosted by Dr. Aldo Gucci in his first Detroit appearance.

Patricia Gucci, daughter of renowned Italian designer, will narrate a presentation featuring the entire Gucci line, from fine jewelry to sports, daytime and couturier fashions.

Dr. Gucci will be a special guest at the black tie ball, which begins with cocktails at 7 p.m. in the museum's Great Hall followed by dinner in the American and Baroque Galleries and Rivera Court. Then it's time for a return to the Great Hall for dancing to the music of Marshall Grant and his Orchestra. Those "sitting this one out" can repair to Kresge Court where popular pianist Bess Bonnier, who played in the Great Hall during cocktails, will now be holding forth.

Tickets for the fifth annual "Under the Stars" sponsored by the museum's Founders Society are $150 for the complete evening of cocktails, dinner, dancing and valet parking, $35 for "Late Night" admission covering an open bar and dancing from 10:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. The party is open to the public. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the Founders Society Development Office, 833-7969.

Chairing the benefit this year are Mrs. Wilbur Hadley Mack, of The Pointe, Mrs. Maxwell Jospey, of Franklin, and Mrs. Donald Young, of Bloomfield Hills. Pointers heading principal committees include Mrs. Gaylord Gillis, Mrs. John Emery Jr., Mrs. William Curtiss, Mrs. Thomas Schoenith and Mrs. Richard Goodyear. Other Pointe "Under the Stars V" committee members are Mrs. Andrew L. Camden, Mrs. Peter B. Spivak, Mrs. Ralph Booth III, Mrs. Kenneth Davies and Mrs. Ernest DuMouchelle.

French Feast in The Pointe

Culinary expert Charity deVicz Sucek will present an intimate "French Feast" in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Alger House on Saturday, Oct. 13. The event, beginning at 7:30 p.m., is a benefit for the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Association.

It will not only be a delicious evening — the menu offers seven courses, especially prepared and served by Mme. Sucek's cooking students and War Memorial food service personnel — but an elegant one as well, with melodious accents by the Grosse Pointe Chamber Music Players and choice wines served with each course.

Mme. Sucek has planned every detail of the exquisite dinner, from the Consomme Froid de Melon (chilled melon soup) to the piece de resistance Bombe Glacee with Sauce Melba. She is donating her expertise to the cultural center as her contribution to the War Memorial Association.

The evening is limited to 30 diners. Reservations at $50 per person (partially tax-deductible) must be made by next Wednesday, Oct. 3. Further information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

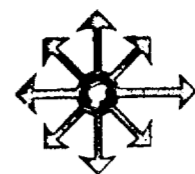

Music focus is on France

Chris Ruby will explore the rich heritage of French music in a program designed for both music novices and experienced musicians next Wednesday, Oct. 3, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The evening, which begins at 8 p.m., will include a sampling of music from the 17th century, when King Louis XIV danced the part of the Sun King in one of Lully's ballets, and the hauntingly beautiful melodies of 20th century composer Eric Satie. Slides of the Paris Opera, the most opulent in 19th century Europe, where Offenbach, Bizet and Saint-Saens presented exciting dance music and exotic story plots, will complement excerpts from their works.

Tickets to this audio visual review of the Music of France are $8 per person. Additional information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Looking ahead to Holiday Mart

Set rummage sale's days

The Women's Association of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church has scheduled its 43rd annual rummage sale for Friday, Oct. 5, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 6, from 9 a.m. to noon.

Rummage will be collected in Rauth Hall at the church, located on Mack Avenue, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday, Oct. 1, through Wednesday, Oct. 3, and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 4. Pickup service for heavy or large items is available by calling 886-4300; the truck will be available Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Log House hosts exhibit of clothing

A new exhibit, featuring children's and women's clothes and accessories from the last quarter of the 19th and early 20th centuries, will remain on view at the Selinsky-Green Log House, located behind the St. Clair Shores Public Library on 11 Mile Road just east of Jefferson Avenue, through September.

The restored farmhouse, built by Polish immigrants about 1870, is open to the public without charge on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 1 to 4 p.m. Lillia McMacken assembled the current display, which includes a baby's lined cotton coat and crocheted bonnet dating from 1878, made for Frank Meloche who was born in Erin Township (now St. Clair Shores).

Also on exhibit are a christening dress, a lady's fan, a parasol, purses, shoes, a button hook and underclothes. Group tours of the Log House may be booked by contacting the museum curator/archivist at the library, 771-9020.

Holiday Mart 1984 steering committee members include the Mesdames Milton Henkel, Charles C. Mathews, David M. Backhurst, Michael Cameron, Donald E. McKnight, Clune J. Walsh Jr., Edwin R. MacKethan, Stuart R. Schaefer, Ralph H. Booth II, Frederick B. Ford, Charles B. Begg Jr., Charles L. Matthews III, George E. Parker III, Robert Berschback, David W. Bianchi, T. Neal Combs, Charles F. Glass, Edward F. Lambrecht Jr., Leonard W. Smith, Richard Baks, Neil C. Georgi and Thomas Schwalm.

Also heading committees are the Mesdames Emory M. Ford Jr., Robert P. Lambrecht, Paul H. Wehmeier, Edsel B. Ford II, David T. Marantette III, Donald DeMeulemeester, Robert N. Dunn, Don B. Becker, Thomas H. Jeffs II, John E. Weiss Jr., Richard L. Weinberg, William F. Zoufal, A. Patton Gage, E. Michael Krieg, J. Michael Berry, Ronald K. Dalby, Henry Earle III, William E. Baubie II, Edward B. Palm, William E. Stewart, Edward J. Stroble Jr., Richard H. Turner, Robert A. Vieweg, Bruce Craig and H. Alexander McDonald.

Open Bridge Group's year

The Bridge Group of the Grosse Pointe Woman's Club has scheduled its first meeting of the fall season for next Wednesday, Oct. 3, at What's worth of a woman?

M. Jane Kay, vice-chairman of the Comparable Worth Task Force, appointed by the Michigan Civil Service Commission, will speak on the subject of equal pay for equal work at the Grosse Pointe Central Library on Wednesday, Oct. 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Her program, kickoff for a series of monthly meetings, "Economic Independence for Life, Not a Trivial Pursuit," that the Legislative Committee of the Grosse Pointe Branch of the American Association of University Women will present during the season at the library, is free and open to the public.

Equal pay is the subject of legislation in the Federal as well as in state legislatures. The Michigan Civil Service Commission has acknowledged a current 21 percent wage gap between male and female employees in this state.

Other matters to be considered during the Economic Independence series are Education, Health Care, Pensions, Social Security, Insurance, Resources for Peace and Economic Support for Women in Nurturing Roles.

Eloise Spencer is chairman of the 1984-85 AAUW Legislative Committee, The Honorable Patricia Schneider is co-chair.

The power that heals a broken spirit.

It's God. And God could never afflict, much less abandon, one of His children. He is Love, ever-present to inspire, encourage, heal, restore.

A Harvest of Talents . . .

Offer DSO 'Overtures'

Detroit Symphony audiences will have 12 opportunities this season to learn more about the music they will be hearing by attending the DSO's Overture Series of informal talks at the Renaissance Club preceding selected Thursday evening concerts.

The first evening Overture is set for Thursday, Oct. 11, with subsequent Overtures scheduled throughout the year until May 9. For $8, symphony-goers enjoy drinks and hors d'oeuvres, then hear a brief talk on that evening's concert at Ford Auditorium.

The four informative and entertaining Overture guides are John Guinn, music critic of the Detroit Free Press, Nancy Malitz, music critic of the Detroit News, Richard Hancock, the DSO's assistant manager, and Elizabeth Scott, DSO public relations manager.

Tickets for the Overture Series are on sale now at the Ford Auditorium box office. Further information and series brochures may be obtained by calling 567-1400.

Two rummage sales slated

The annual Saint Paul Lutheran Church rummage and bake sale will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 28, and from 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 29, at the church, located on Lothrop Road at the corner of Chalfonte Avenue in The Farms.

The sale features clothing (maternity, children's, men's and women's) as well as boots and shoes of all kinds and sizes, plus linens, curtains, small appliances, pots and pans, dishes, jewelry, furniture — just about anything and everything.

There's even a coin-operated pop machine. Collection has been going on for months, and all items are sorted and clearly marked.

New to the sale this year is the Saint Paul Room, stocked with new, nearly-new and collectible items, better clothes and shoes. Also new is the Little Bake Shop featuring home-baked and canned goods, jams and jellies; here, you may take a coffee-and-doughnut break while shopping.

Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church's rummage sale will run from 8:30 to 11 a.m. ONLY next Thursday, Oct. 4, at the church, located on Moross Road between Kercheval and Mack Avenues in The Farms.

Autumn program for genealogists

The first fall genealogy program at the St. Clair Shores Public Library, located on the corner of Jefferson Avenue and 11 Mile Road, starts at 7 p.m. tonight, Thursday, Sept. 27, and will focus on "Official Records: What They Tell and How to Get Them."

Examples of genealogically useful records (military, church, vital and census) will be shown and information on how to obtain them shared. Most of these records may be obtained by writing to the appropriate agency. Where to write and what fees are involved will be covered at the meeting, which is free and open to the public.

Additional information on the September program may be obtained by contacting Mary Karshner, museum curator/archivist at the St. Clair Shores Public Library, 771-9020.

Start Circle Bible study

Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Women's Association Circles begin new Bible study for 1984-85, based on the 12 Minor Prophets, next Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 9:30 a.m., 1 or 7:30 p.m. according to their regular time schedules.

Serving as hostesses are Mrs. Charles Huber, at her Lakepointe Avenue home, Mrs. William Kriedler, at her North Brys Drive home, Mrs. William Baird, at her North Renaud Road home, Mrs. Geraldine Wormer, at her Roosevelt Place home, Mrs. James Main, at her Lincoln Road home, and Mrs. Steven York, in the church lounge.

Refreshments and fellowship precede the lesson led by a circle member at each meeting. Attendance is open to anyone interested in fellowship and Bible study. Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Richard Dykstra, coordinator of circles, at 882-5330.

Call Village Garden Club

Assisting hostess Mrs. Walter J. Guler at the Village Garden Club's meeting tomorrow, Friday, Sept. 28, will be the Mesdames William Quinlan, Kenneth Stekete and Ralph Ladd. The day's program is a field trip to the Wayne County Extension and Education Center, where a picnic lunch will follow a tour of the premises.

Fort Pontchartrain season has begun

Fort Pontchartrain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, opened its fall activities with a noon luncheon at the Detroit Boat Club on Friday, Sept. 14. Regent Mrs. Bernard L. Seitz presided at a business meeting which was followed by an afternoon program, "Our Integrity and the Panama Canal Today," presented by chapter member Mrs. Clifford M. Stock.

Fort Pontchartrain members serving as delegates and alternates to the 84th DAR State Conference, running Thursday, Sept. 20, through Saturday, Sept. 22, at the Sheraton Southfield Hotel, were Mrs. Joseph H. Embury, Mrs. William I. Garrett, Mrs. David Haig, Mrs. Frederick J. McNamara and Mrs. Seitz. They hosted the publicity and sales room.

The chapter's six 50-year members, who were honored at the conference, are Mrs. James Flickinger, Mrs. Charles L. Hall, Mrs. Paul J. Meiser, Mrs. Leo P. Richardson, Mrs. Merrill F. Cross and Mrs. Embury.

Music quest for excellence

"Quest for Excellence," 14 competitions from Smiley's Concert Galleries, sponsored by WQRS-Timeless FM 105 and Maccabees Mutual and broadcast at 8 p.m. on Wednesdays before a live audience through Dec. 12, with the finals to be held at Orchestra Hall on Dec. 17, will feature Farms resident Kelly Leon, violin, on the Oct. 3 program, and Park resident Bridget McKeever, piano, on the Nov. 7 program.

The joint venture enables artists between the ages of 15 and 21 to compete for scholarships of $5,000, $3,000 and $2,000 and an opportunity to appear with the Detroit Civic Orchestra. The winning contestants will also appear as soloists in hourly programs on WQRS beginning in January. All participants will receive special merit certificates. The weekly programs are open to the general public; for admission information, contact Miriam Ciesla at 833-6105.

Planning a gem of a party

TRISHA FISHMAN has been busy this late summer and early fall, for she is chairing the Welcome Wagon Club of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods' annual fall/winter fashion show and luncheon set for Thursday, Oct. 25, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. The party begins at 11:30 a.m. and will feature prizes donated by local merchants as well as "Gems of Winter" fashions from Walton Pierce. This is Welcome Wagon's 23rd year of raising funds for scholarships for local high school graduates who are entering health-related fields. All are welcome at the benefit fashion luncheon. Tickets, at $15 per person, may be reserved by calling 885-6237 or 881-2576.

Spaghetti starts Phase I year

Phase I starts off its 14th year this Sunday, Sept. 30, with a fundraiser: an all-you-can-eat spaghetti dinner served from 6 to 8 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Members and prospective members of the group for single persons, ages 25 to 40, which meets every Sunday evening at Memorial Church are invited to attend. Admission is $4.

Phase I meetings feature speakers on vital, timely subjects. Programs on sports, music and other forms of entertainment are presented, and a dance is held monthly. The Sunday evening meetings draw single persons from all areas of metropolitan Detroit. Traditionally, Phase I programs conclude with refreshments and a social hour.

Fine football widow sport

George Duditch, Grosse Pointe South High School's retiring football coach, will teach a four-part course, "Football Unscrambled," at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial beginning Monday, Oct. 1, at 9:30 a.m.

The series is designed for those who might enjoy the game — if they knew what was happening! Coach Duditch will explain offense, defense, the punting game and special calls. At the conclusion of the course, students will have the ability to understand the language used by football announcers and coaches.

Cost is $15 for the four sessions. Participants are urged to register prior to the first meeting, so that proper accommodation may be provided. Further information may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Women's spa day is slated

Women of Wayne Alumni Association will sponsor a one-day Women's Health and Fitness Spa at the Oakland Branch YWCA, located at Crooks and Normandy Roads in Clawson, on Saturday, Oct. 20.

The program, running from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., will feature several types of exercise workouts, personal care classes and speakers on stress management and the mind-body connection. Whirlpool is available.

Cost, including continental breakfast and a low-calorie luncheon, is $30 ($25 for YWCA members). Extra services, such as massage, manicure and pedicure, can be scheduled at additional cost.

Reservations must be made by Monday, Oct. 1, through the Wayne State University Alumni Association, 577-2301.

Feature watercolor art at Scarab Club

All Michigan and Ontario watercolorists are invited to compete for honors and prizes in the Scarab Club of Detroit's 1984 Watercolor Exhibition, running Oct. 1 through 14 at the club, located on Farnsworth in Detroit.

The prizes will be awarded by Dee Knott, member of the American and National Watercolor Societies and many other art organizations. Ms. Knott, nationally-known Michigan artist, received her training at the Flint Institute of Arts, Michigan State University and the Kendall School of Design.

The show will open with a reception for exhibiting artists and their friends Sunday, Sept. 30. The public may view the exhibit between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays and Saturdays, and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Heartline to mark 20th anniversary
Heartline, the organization serving the inner city of Detroit whose telephone number (923-4200) has been the turning point for many women with problems, will celebrate its 20th anniversary with a tea and open house this Sunday, Sept. 30, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Heartline Home, located on Sylvester Street in Detroit. Heartline provides vocational, educational and personal counseling in a family-type residential setting and directs individuals toward responsibility for their own self-growth. It is a non-profit organization, available to all regardless of racial, ethnic or religious background, dedicated to helping young women who are experiencing emotional or behavioral problems.

Alpha Phi season is now underway
Detroit East Suburban Alpha Phi alumnae opened their 1984-85 season with a meeting earlier in the month at the home of their president, Janet Allen, at which new officers, including Wendy Guter-muth, vice-president, Margaret Brown, treasurer, and Denise Cotter, secretary, were introduced. Discussion centered on upcoming events: the Founder's Day Dinner at Van Dyke Charlie's with Detroit North Alpha Phis, for which reservations, which must be made by next Wednesday, Oct. 3, are limited; and Mary Ellen Tappan's Yugoslavian slide presentation.

Pi Lambda Theta Alumni to meet
The Detroit Alumni Chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, a national honorary education association, will meet for luncheon and a Stress Management Workshop, presented by Meeky Connolly, on Saturday, Oct. 13, at the Dearborn Heights home of Helen Gordon.

Pointers train to make point with BABES

Patricia Caulkins and Jacqueline Rentenbach are adding a new dimension to their lives. They are prepared to carry a message to small children to help them develop skills that will lead to wise behaviors, including actions regarding alcohol and other drugs.

Mrs. Caulkins, of Willow Lane, and Mrs. Rentenbach, of Three Mile Drive, have completed BABES (Beginning Alcohol and Addiction Basic Education Studies), an intensive, week-long training program. Mrs. Caulkins participated as an adjunct to her work as a volunteer for the Maple Grove West Hospital's Community Service Program. Mrs. Rentenbach represented the Trombly School Parent Teacher Organization.

With 70 others, including alcoholism prevention specialists from South Africa, California, Connecticut, Minnesota and Montana, they learned the theory and techniques of BABES. They now plan to present the program to children ages 3 to 8 in the Grosse Pointe area.

"We are excited about the possibilities offered by BABES. There's a lot more to it than just information about alcohol and other drugs," Mrs. Caulkins and Mrs. Rentenbach agree.

BABES has been developed during the past five years for the National Council on Alcoholism/NARCO-Greater Detroit Area by Maxine Willis, who trained as a preschool teacher before entering the alcoholism education field, and Lottie Jones, executive director of NCA/NARCO-GDA.

It is a primary education program designed to give children lifetime protection from abuse of alcohol and other drugs, and the ability to better understand how to protect themselves from chemical dependency situations among their peers and within a family structure, Ms. Jones explains.

BABES accomplishes this by assisting young people to develop positive living skills, and by providing them with accurate, non-judgmental information about the use and abuse of alcohol, she adds. "With this information presented properly at an early age, when decisions are being made, children will be better equipped to assess and deal with alcohol issues and with chemical dependency and addiction situations in the family," Ms. Willis says.

BABES presenters use a set of seven puppets to supplement, support and enliven a series of seven story-lessons. Each BABES storybook includes line drawings for coloring, and each has a two-line title: one addressed to the adult, the other to the child. These are:

- Self-Image and Feelings (I'm Looking Good and Feeling Fine).
 - Decision-Making and Peer Pressure (She Made Me Do It... Didn't She?).
 - Coping Skills (Accepting the Things I Cannot Change and Changing the Things I Can).
 - Alcohol and Other Drug Information (Let's Play Party).
 - Getting Help (Retreat Is Not Defeat and Failure Is Not Final).
 - Helping Children from Chemically-Dependent Families (When You Don't Know What to Do).
 - Review and Certificate Presentation (Wrapping Up).
- The seven hand puppets are:

- Buttons and Bows — brother and sister kittens with several average everyday-type problems.

• Myth Mary — a squirrel who repeats everything she hears without knowing if it is factual or appropriate.

• Early Bird — a parrot-like figure who "honk-honks" when he hears Myth Mary relate "myths."

• Donovan Dignity — a wise owl who corrects Myth Mary's myths and shares good information about ways to have a happy, healthy life.

• Recovering Reggie — a friendly dog representing a recovering cross-addicted alcoholic, who passes on lessons in living he has learned during his recovery.

• Rhonda Rabbit — a bewildered, abused child living in a home with two cross-addicted adults.

Ms. Willis, who has presented BABES to more than 15,000 children and trained several hundred adult BABES presenters, says, "BABES is dynamic because it is so relevant to so many children, and because it changes and grows as we see the need for development.

"Adults who present it soon learn that children know much more than they expect, and that, from the children, they will receive oceans of love."

Britain takes educational alcohol approach

by Joseph J. Serwach
(Ed. Note: This is the last of three articles written in England by Joseph J. Serwach, of Lochmoor Boulevard, Editor-in-Chief of Grosse Pointe North High School's student newspaper and yearbook in 1983, reporter for The Michigan State News during the past year. Serwach has been a member of Michigan State University's London Bureau this summer.)

While American organizations such as Mothers Against Drunk Drivers push for a national drinking age of 21, similar British groups would rather see Britain's drinking age lowered.

"A higher drinking age would not be one of our priorities at all," says Diane Hayter, director of alcoholic concerns for Great Britain's National Council on Alcoholism. "If anything, there's discussion as to whether the age should come down."

In Britain, where the drinking age is 18, there is more of an emphasis on teaching young people the pros as well as the cons of drinking instead of making alcohol more difficult to obtain, she observes.

An Anglican Pilgrimage

"Open Our Eyes" is the prayerful theme of the Episcopal Church Women of Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, this program year, and the intention of the church women's first luncheon program is to open members' eyes to the rich heritage of their Anglican faith.

Next Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 10:30 a.m. and again at 8 p.m., The Reverend Edward A.M. Cobden Jr., rector, will speak and show slides of his and his wife's trip to England.

Reservations for the luncheon and/or nursery care must be made no later than noon Monday, Oct. 1, by calling the church office, 885-4841.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth, concentrating, this week, on the EGGPLANT EXPERIENCE.

GRECIAN EGGPLANT

- 2 large eggplants
- 6 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 1 Tbsp. coriander
- 1 Tbsp. leaf sage
- 1 tsp. thyme
- 1 tsp. rosemary
- 1 tsp. cracked black pepper
- 3 cloves garlic, quartered
- 2 slices lemon
- 1 cup vinegar
- 2 cups water
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 3 medium green peppers, seeded
- 2 large onions, sliced lengthwise
- 3 large tomatoes, cut up
- 1 Tbsp. sugar
- Salt to taste

Cut stems off eggplants. Peel off a 1/2-inch wide lengthwise strip of skin, leaving next 1/2-inch skin on. Peel all around for striped effect. Cut eggplants crosswise into 1/4-inch slices. Heat vegetable oil in large, heavy skillet. Quickly saute eggplant slices in oil, then set on paper towels. Combine seasonings, garlic and lemon on a square of cheesecloth. Gather cloth into loose bag; tie at top. Place in same heavy skillet with vinegar, water and olive oil. Bring to a boil. Split peppers and cut into long, thin strips. Finely slice onions to make long shivers. Coarsely chop tomatoes. Add to skillet with sugar and salt. Mix well; reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Remove seasoning bag.

Arrange layer of eggplant slices in large, shallow casserole. Cover with sauce. Repeat layers until all ingredients are used, ending with sauce on top. Bake in preheated 350° oven 1 hour. Garnish with sliced black olives, if desired. Makes eight servings.

Calories per serving about 247. Cholesterol 0.
Grecian Eggplant makes an excellent main dish for a vegetarian meal, especially when accompanied by brown rice-raisin-nu-pilaf, a platter of crisp raw vegetables and a tart granita surrounded by chunks of fresh fruits.

EGGPLANT PARMESAN

- 2/3 cup whole-wheat bread crumbs (1 slice)
- 1 Tbsp. plus 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 1/2 tsp. thyme
- 1/2 tsp. oregano
- 1 medium eggplant (1 1/2 lb.)
- 2 1/2 cups Basic Fresh Tomato sauce
- 1/2 tsp. basil
- 4 oz. grated partially skim Mozzarella cheese

Combine bread crumbs with 1 Tbsp. Parmesan cheese, garlic, thyme and oregano. Set aside.

Peel eggplant and cut into 8 slices about 1/2-inch thick. Place in oiled 9x13-inch baking dish and sprinkle with seasoned bread crumbs. Bake in preheated 400° oven about 20 to 25 minutes, until crumbs are toasted and eggplant is tender. Remove from oven.

Combine Basic Fresh Tomato Sauce with 1/4 cup Parmesan cheese and basil. Pour sauce over eggplant, covering all edges. Sprinkle with grated Mozzarella cheese. Bake in 400° oven about 15 minutes, or until cheese is melted and browned and sauce is hot. Sprinkle with parsley and serve to four.

Calories per serving about 256. Cholesterol about 25 mgs.

INDIVIDUAL BAKED EGGPLANT PACKETS

- 1 eggplant (about 1 1/2 lbs.) cut into 1/2-inch slices, peeled if desired
- 1 large tomato, cut into 8 wedges
- 1 large onion, sliced thin
- 4 tsp. oil
- 1/2 tsp. basil, divided
- 1/2 tsp. black pepper
- 4 small cloves garlic, divided

For each serving, place on square of foil 2 wedges each of eggplant and tomato, 1/4 of onion slices, 1 tsp. oil, 1/8 tsp. basil and pepper, and 1 clove garlic. Fold edges of foil over vegetables and crimp to seal well. Place packages on baking sheet and bake in preheated 375° oven 30 minutes, or until eggplant is tender, turning occasionally. Makes four servings. Calories per serving about 85. Cholesterol 0.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

It is a 16 year-old memory that is cherished. And the 1984 Detroit Tigers' American League Eastern Division championship and push toward the playoffs and World Series makes the 1968 Tigers' World Series victory all the more vivid.

She was 11 years old in 1968. She lived in an average, Irish Catholic family with a set of parents, two brothers, one sister and another on the way. Add a trio of aunts (paternal side) and one teenaged cousin who lived in the downstairs part of the two-family flat on the east side and you had a house that bulged a bit at the seams, tempers that flared occasionally and an always impossible situation where 10 people shared two bathrooms and one family car and lived to laugh about it.

The 10 of them followed the 1968 Tiger season carefully, clustered around the radio on hot July nights, gathered in front of the television on steamy August Saturdays. It looked like the Tigers' year, which made it a perfect year for the 11 year-old who was hooked on baseball, and for her aunts and her father, who had been otherwise occupied the last time the Tigers had won anything, back in 1945. And for her mother, who had only recently confessed to the 11 year-old that her secret desire was to swing a bat a couple of times in Tiger Stadium.

Then came Sept. 17, the day the Tigers clinched the pennant. It was a day of ecstasy for the people of Detroit. There were fireworks, fans pouring out of the stands onto the field and into the streets. Horns beeping and people dancing. Their 23-year wait for a pennant had ended.

In the two-family house on the east side, they were still waiting. They waited as the 11 year-old's father underwent surgery he wouldn't survive.

In the days that followed, the city was excited with the prospect of a Detroit World Series. In the 11 year-old's house, things went on as normally as possible. The kids went back to school, the aunts to work. And none of them really thought that much about the Tigers anymore.

Then, with the Tigers down three games to one in the Series, the 11 year-old's mother brought home a gift. It was a ceramic drinking mug, emblazoned with a copy of the newspaper headlines telling of the pennant victory of a few weeks earlier. She gave it to the father's favorite sister, who also happened to be the 11 year-old's favorite aunt. The mug was placed on a shelf for visitors to admire. Most just remarked that they hadn't seen the headline before, thinking of other things as they had been.

A few days later, the nine who were left in the two-family flat gathered again around the television to watch the deciding game of the World Series. And when, late in the afternoon on a brisk October day when Tiger catcher Bill Freehan first caught the game's final out, then a deliriously happy Mickey Lolich in his arms, no sound came from those gathered in front of the TV.

As sirens blared and horns hocked in the distance, the 11 year-old's favorite aunt sent her to get the mug. "And fill it with something we can toast with," she directed. On television, the happy Tigers were crowded into the dugout, spraying each other with champagne and drinking what was left.

In the two-family house on the east-side of Detroit, the family still sat quietly, each taking a sip of Pepsi from the souvenir mug before passing it back to the aunt. "Here's to 'em," she said. "And better yet, here's to us."

The moment was over then, and the quiet turned to excited conversation and shouts of joy. The neighborhood kids came over, full of plans for decorating the block's trees and houses. The busy street out front turned busier, as the traffic jam grew and finally cars just pulled over and parked as their occupants celebrated.

The party went on into the night and the 11 year-old and her family stayed a part of it — to the dismay of one our party-pooper. "Say, aren't you kids the ones whose father just died? You shouldn't be out here like this... what would your mother say?" she scolded. They just shrugged their shoulders and told the woman to go ask her herself — she was the one sitting on the porch with a happy grin on her face.

Sixteen years later, the aunts are gone. So is the 11 year-old's mother. And the brothers and sisters have gone their own way. The Tigers are setting the stage for another Detroit celebration, but the 11 year-old is 27 now, and not quite as crazy about the home team as she was in 1968.

She wouldn't be at all surprised though, if a few weeks from now she isn't sipping something from a cracked, yellowed ceramic mug and toasting a familiar toast.

"Here's to 'em."

Pointe netters rank high

By Peggy O'Connor

Who's in first? When it comes to the Michigan High School Tennis Coaches Association's top 10 rankings, South's girls' varsity tennis team is first. And following closely behind are the girls' teams at North High and University Liggett School, as all three teams achieved top rankings for the week of Sept. 10.

North was ranked seventh in Class A, behind defending state champion South, which was also ranked No. 1 in the top 10 — all schools list. At No. 5 in Class B-C-D was ULS, which has won that group's state title for four straight seasons.

The high-ranking status was really nothing new for the three squads individually, which ranked consistently in the top 10 last season, but coming so early in the season for all three may have surprised some.

"We really haven't played the tough teams, we might have been ranked so highly because we had eight girls returning," says South coach Stephanie Prychitko. "This Saturday will be our big test, the Kingswood Invitational. Seaholm, Lahser, Portage Northern, Ann Arbor Pioneer and Marian will all be there. Lahser has played a couple of tough tournaments and won... we haven't really been tested yet."

South has won the girls' Class A title for eight consecutive seasons, so it's not surprising that with just four players lost to graduation, Prychitko's team is again favored to win.

She returns a line-up with vast tournament experience, including a No. 1 doubles pair — Noel Berry and Laura Gushee — which won the state championship in 1982. Miss Prychitko's only vulnerable spot may be at No. 3 doubles, where newcomers Anne Nicholson and Suzy Ingrao haven't been exposed to the pressure of a state tournament.

Madeline Willard is playing at No. 1 singles. Courtenay Kotas, Mary Wachter and Stephanie Prychitko are the No. 2, 3 and 4 singles seeds, in that order. Lil Petersen and Katy Turner are at No. 2 doubles this season.

Opponents have labled South their toughest spot on the schedule. "I have the experience and the girls know they have to win each time they go out," Miss Prychitko explains.

But that doesn't translate into a keep-up-the-winning-streak kind of pressure for her squad.

"I never tell them that our goal is to win a state title or anything like that. I just tell them to just play the matches and do their best. The girls realize they have a win streak going. I don't have to tell them."

NORTH COACH Beth Manojlovich wasn't too surprised that her squad gained such early recognition; she lost only No. 1 singles player Cathy Caruso to graduation from the 1983 squad which won a Bi-County title and finished second in the regionals.

"We've definitely been improving," Ms. Manojlovich says. She admits that South will pose North a most difficult challenge, but adds that a few lofty hopes are not out of reach for her squad. "We'd like to win our league and our tournament (the G.P. North Invitational on Oct. 6) and finish No. 2 in the regionals. We'd also like to get up in the state's top five," she says.

Leading the way for North this year are senior Lisa McCormick at No. 1 singles, junior Katy Ashare at No. 2 singles, sophomore Mary Garcia at No. 3 and junior Lisa Lucido at No. 4. Shirin Ariani and Barb Labadie are playing at No. 1 doubles, with sophomores Beth Keyes and Nicole Lehman at the No. 2 spot and the teams of Lynda Kayos and Andrea Thomas and Martha Nicholson and Sue Fry, playing at No. 3 and 4.

"We're going to face some tough competition, but I think we'll be ready," Manojlovich says.

AT ULS, coach Carolyn von Stade takes over a team which has won four straight titles but which lost eight of 12 players to graduation. She was an assistant to former varsity coach George Andrews two seasons ago and led the JV last year.

"This is really a brand new team. I think we'll be focusing more on putting a team together than on a win-loss record. And we've got a tough schedule with lots of Class A teams this year," she says.

von Stade admits that much of her job this season has been trying to keep the girls' morale up while facing stronger teams from bigger schools. But she also says that she's enjoying that type of coaching more than her previous efforts.

"It's fun to coach a team as young as this because you see them progress more. Their improvement is so obvious that it's sometimes only a matter of days that you see go by before they get better. I'm first and foremost a teacher... I can see the benefit of say, finishing sixth out of eight. I was there all day and I saw the effort," she says.

von Stade doesn't rule out her squad's continued success in state tournament play, however. "We definitely have an eye on the state, but it will be harder than it's been in the past." And the pressure of continuing ULS' winning tradition?

"That kind of pressure comes from within. I've tried to make it clear to the girls that it's not my desire to go for any record. I ask only that they play up to their ability."

von Stade has had the most difficulty this season at the doubles position, where she has had to take singles players and "turn them into doubles partners." Paula Rodriguez and Shefali Sharma are at No. 1 doubles, with sophomores Laura Rizzo and Karen Rahm at the No. 2 spot and Kathy Bianchi and Marcella Brane at No. 3.

"We've got some tough ones coming up — especially South — but we're still really up and I hope we can stay that way."

South returns eight of the 12 players which won the school's eighth consecutive state Class A title last fall. Amy Leverenz (front, left) and Michele Coddens (top, left) are gone, but playing for the No. 1 ranked squad this fall are (left to right, front row) Lil Petersen and Noel Berry with coach Stephanie Prychitko; (middle three) Mary Wachter, Laura Gushee and Katy Turner; and Courtenay Kotas (top right). This year's No. 1 singles player Madeline Willard, was not pictured.

St. Clare sports

Falcon gridders win

St. Clare's varsity football team improved its league record to 2-0 by defeating St. Joan of Arc, 26-12, on Sept. 23. Running back Chris May rushed for 158 yards, including two touchdown runs and Rob Crane added another score with a seven-yard touchdown run.

Louis Dobbs intercepted a St. Joan pass and returned it 58 yards for the final touchdown; Paul Mogielski added the extra points.

On defense, May, Dobbs, Mogielski and Rob Whitty produced five tackles each while Sean Moran and Kevin Vangorder each had fumble recoveries. The St. Joan quarterback was on the receiving end of six sacks by Moran, Mogielski, Whitty, May, Gil Waitkus and John Cicala.

The Falcons will be at home this Sunday, Sept. 30, at noon at South High's field.

St. Clare's girls' varsity volleyball team ran its record to 7-0 with straight set wins over St. Joan and St. Raymond last week. Against St. Raymond, Amy Wronikowski, Ann Gross and Chris Schulte combined for straight service point wins of eight, nine and six, respectively.

The Falcon JV spikers, who play in the Detroit Southeast varsity level league, won their first two games this season.

St. Clare defeated Star of the Sea on Sept. 17, 15-3, 15-4, 15-11, as Kelly Shock, Kathleen Melvin, Jenny Lisowski and Beth Wronikowski played well. Then on Sept. 23, St. Clare topped defending champion St. Barnabas after a slow start, 10-15, 15-12, 15-3, 15-8. Beth Hoye was top scorer for the Falcons.

St. Clare remains undefeated in varsity soccer action after beating St. Paul, 5-0, on Sept. 23.

Each member of the forward line — Mike Pote, Mike Morandini, Jason Jacklyn and Paul Wasinger — contributed one or more goals. Once again, it was the outstanding play of the defense which guaranteed the win. Goalkeeper Dave Birnbryer handled several tough chances while the fullback and halfback lines stopped many other drives. Mike Rentz, Ray Chesney and Keith Mitchell were defensive standouts.

St. Clare will play at home (Elworthy Field) this Sunday, Sept. 30, at 3 p.m.

The Falcon fifth and sixth grader soccer squad had a winning Sunday last week, topping the St. Paul team, 3-2. Tim Grambling, Jeff Kerfoot and Brian Shock each scored a goal. Matt Jacklyn turned in excellent goalkeeping and was assisted by the fine play of the defense.

Pointer on Hunt Race committee

Pointer Wallace Glendening is coordinating publicity for the Metamora Hunt Races' event "Horsing in the Country," set for Sunday, Oct. 7, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Walnut Grove Farm, the corner of Oakwood and Delano Roads in Oxford.

Glendening is an attorney and Grosse Pointe Hunt Club member.

Spectators at the event are invited to bring a tailgate picnic and enjoy a day of horsing in the open countryside. Admission is $50 per car for finish line parking, $35 per car for hillside parking and $10 per car for general admission.

The races are sponsored by Comerica Incorporated, the Metamora Hunt and Kingsbury School Parents Association.

South tops Shamrocks, 27-0

By David Loffredo
South High

96-7. No, that wasn't the score of the South vs. East Detroit varsity football game. That score was 27-0.

Ninety-six is the number of points scored this season by an overpowering Blue Devil offense, whose opponents have been held to only seven points.

Last Friday's 27-0 win was South's third consecutive victory running the Blue Devil's three-year mark to 21 consecutive regular season wins. It was also the 13th regular season game in a row in which the Blue Devil defense has held its opponent to seven points or less.

That's domination, and dominate is exactly what the team did to its last opponent, East Detroit. The Shamrocks were never in the game.

South started early. Rick Waugaman (12 carries for 84 yards) took their first possession into the endzone on the seven-yard run, and after George Ghazal added the extra point South led 7-0.

In the second quarter, South struck twice, both times with senior back Waugaman. The second touchdown came on a 15-yard run around the side, and with time running out in the first half Waugaman put South up 20-0 with a three-yard endzone dive.

The third quarter ended the scoring. Quarterback Terry Ayrault hit

Joe Samborski for an 18-yard scoring play; Ayrault's second of the season, and the game ended 27-0.

Another bright spot was added to the already powerful running game, as junior Chris Astfalk made his first appearance in a varsity uniform after sitting out the first two games with a leg injury. Astfalk led the JV team last year in rushing.

But the offense shouldn't be the only one spotlighted. The shutout was South's second in a row, after giving up a 14-yard touchdown in the season opener. Not bad for a defensive unit with only one returning player from last year, senior Jerry Holley.

On the night, the Blue Devil defense held the Shamrocks to 105 yards on the ground and 40 in the air, 24 of which came on one pass play.

The Blue Devils have their work cut out for them. Already 2-0 in the E.M.L. South will host one of the strongest teams in the league, Roseville, this Saturday, Sept. 29. Kick-off is 1 p.m.

Cagers split

South's girls' varsity basketball team saw its record slip to 1-3 last week, as the girls fell to North, 46-40. In the game, Lisa Diehl and Heidi Albrecht combined for 19 points to spark the Blue Devil offense.

The girls' JV team had a little better luck, evening its record to 2-2 by beating the Norsemen, 36-31. Stefanie Purdy led the offensive attack with 12 points.

The teams will host Fraser tonight, Sept. 27. The JV game will begin at 6 p.m., with the varsity tip off at 7:45.

Kickers at 2-3

South began its soccer season with a 4-1 loss to Fitzberaid. Three days later came South's first victory, a 6-1 win over Mt. Clemens. Then came their second consecutive win, a 4-1 triumph over Romeo. Ken Fine, Phil Pitters, Jerry Joliet, and Rodolfo Cruz scored for South, while goalie Mike Lawrence held the Romeo offense to only one goal, while blocking a penalty shot.

South lost a heartbreaker, a 1-0 loss North. According to coach John Case, "North scored a lucky goal from a 'mis-kick' during the second half of the game." The Devils outshot North, 30-13.

Harriers perfect

South's girls' cross country team upped its record to 4-0 with a 15-49 win over league opponent Port Huron last week. South had the first six runners through the finish line and 12 of the top 15 finishers.

Junior Nancy Solterisch, South's top runner all season, again placed first for South, followed by freshman Ellen Mayer and senior Barb Giroux. Senior Renuka Uthappa, freshman Micha Song and junior Toby Ott rounded out the top six finishers.

Others running very well included freshmen Wendy Berger and Stephanie Morraele; sophomores Mary Beth Hicks, Shannon Burns, Erika Hernquist, Linda Gaglio and Sue Sparling; juniors Heather Koldziej and Jenny Kerwin; and senior Julie Cunningham.

South will meet North a 4 p.m. today, Sept. 27, at Vernier Hill. On Friday, South will travel across the state to compete in the Fenville Invitational.

The ninth grade boys' cross country team saw its first action last week, losing to Bishop Gallagher, 20-37. Dave Nicholson salvaged the meet by beating out two Bishop Gallagher runners. Pete Hart also excelled for the Devils, running one of his best races.

Frosh reach 3-0

South's freshmen football team made it three straight with a 33-19 win over East Detroit Kelly on Sept. 19.

The Devils struck quickly as linebacker Doug Lucas picked off a Crusader pass on the first play from scrimmage and returned it 36 yards to the Kelly 19. Two plays later, fullback Peter Astfalk plunged in from the five and Lucas' kick gave South a 7-0 lead.

Later, South took over on the Kelly 14 and three plays later, Astfalk scored from the one. A recovery of a Kelly fumble by Jay Verlinden gave South a first down on the Crusader 32 and seven plays later, quarterback Rodger Hunwick passed to Lucas for the touchdown, making it 20-0.

Kelly scored on a 41-yard pass play, but Ian Thompson returned another interception for South and made it 26-6 at the half. After a scoreless third quarter, a Kelly defender scampered 92 yards with a fumble recovery to make the score 26-12. But Lucas capped the offensive display with a 24-yard scoring run and made the extra point to give South a 33-12 win.

A spirited Devil defense picked off six interceptions in all, with Hunwick and Thompson each netting two and Mike Calcaterra, one. Hunwick returned one pickoff 66 yards. Kelly was held to a minus-24 yards rushing, while picking up 102 yards in the air.

Sail now, ski later . . .

Getting in their sailing now while planning for ski trips later are, from left to right, Grosse Pointe Ski Club vice-president Bob Meacham, Bill Schroeder, secretary Barbara Hoover, activities director Betty Spencer and program director Allison Byrne. The Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 3 at the War Memorial. Following refreshments will be a film of Snow Bird, Utah, where the group will ski for the third time in late February, led by Bob Moreillon. Vice-president Meacham will also accept reservations for a January outing to Boyne Mountain and a February weekend at Collingwood, Canada, at the meeting. The Club will also discuss further plans for a possible summer trip to Chili and the slopes of the Andes. Guests and potential members are welcome to attend the meeting.

Norsemen win first

By Ed Comber
North High

Give Grosse Pointe North a passing (or rushing) grade for its first win of the season, 21-13, over Waterford Kettering last Friday.

"I feel Waterford Kettering is a much stronger team than L'Anse Creuse was," Coach Frank Sumner said after the game. L'Anse Creuse defeated North last week, 14-13.

The scoreboard showed North an eight point winner while the stat cards recorded a one-sided battle. North outrushed Waterford, 205-95, and Joe Weidenbach completed eight of 12 passes for 117 yards compared to Kettering's 86. North swept Waterford Kettering in total yards, 322-171, and had 15 first downs while Kettering settled for seven.

North got off to a slow start when Kettering quarterback Mike Grennier threw a first quarter touchdown pass. The Norsemen came back to the second quarter with a 36-yard run by Will Secor setting up their first touchdown of the game. In the third quarter Weidenbach connected with Mike Miller for a 25-yard touchdown pass. North held Waterford to six points until the fourth quarter, when with 1:30 to go Kettering's Mike Grennier lofted his second touchdown pass of the game.

Fullback Secor and teammate Miller combined for 196 of North's 322 yards and the three touchdowns. Secor had 25 carries for 151 yards, accompanied by two touchdowns while Miller had eight carries, 45 yards, one touchdown and one fumble recovery.

Coach Sumner picked out cornerback Rob Wells as one of the squad's up-and-coming players. "It was Rob's first varsity game this season and he came out of it with an interception. We (the coaching staff) were very pleased with his performance." He also noted that Chris Piche and center Bryan Ulatowski did exceptional jobs on offense, while George Kasza and Wells were outstanding on defense.

"I feel the team has improved a lot over the past two weeks," Sumner commented. "We got out of this game without any injuries and I am looking forward to our next game."

North will try for its first Bi-County League win when it faces Roseville Brablee at home this Friday, Sept. 28 at 4 p.m.

The JV football team boosted its record to 2-1 by beating Waterford Kettering, 24-0. Jamie Wheatly threw two touchdown passes of 29 and 43 yards. Brad Keats ran for one touchdown, and Mike Gates kicked a 28-yard field goal. It was North's second shutout in a row.

Cagers win

North's girls' varsity basketball squad beat Warren Woods Tower, 39-34, to improve its record to 3-2. Dawn Cartwright had 11 points and teammate Paula Harms scored 13 points and had 10 rebounds.

The JV team defeated Warren Woods-Tower, 40-35, to boost its record to 2-2. Julie Cook led the team with 16 points while Mary Beth Seagram and Amy Domienik added six and four points, respectively.

Red Barons drop two

The Grosse Pointe Red Barons played the Green Hornets last weekend, with the Hornets emerging victorious in two of the three contests.

The freshman game was a heartbreaker, with the Green Hornets winning, 6-0, on a fourth down pass play. The game was a defensive struggle, with each team repeatedly stopping an opponent's offensive drives. Leading the Barons on defense were Alex Brucker, Gary Campbell, Harlan Camps, Matt Swikowski and Dan Henry. On offense, Scott Spada, Drew Woodruff, Paul Straske and Mike Pitters ran well.

The day's most exciting game proved to be the JV contest, won by the Barons, 7-6. The Green Hornets took the opening kickoff back for their only score, but the Barons won it when Steve Craporatta scooped up a fumble and ran 35 yards for the touchdown. Luke Bencie scored the extra point for the win.

Steve Horn played brilliantly, dominating the middle of the line and preventing the Hornet offense from gaining ground. Brandon Cromer, Jim Kutscher and Mike Koenigbauer also played well; offensively, Steve Shumerski's quick drives gave the Barons valuable yardage.

The Red Baron varsity lost, 34-6. The game's only bright spot was Chris Meathe's 75-yard pass reception for a Grosse Pointe touchdown.

Against Mt. Clemens a week earlier, the Frosh won, 6-0; the JV took a 32-0 victory and the varsity lost 18-12.

Bruins win tournament

The Grosse Pointe Pee Wee AA Bruins started the season out right by clinching the Pee Wee AA championship in the Falcon Hockey Club's first annual Early Bird Tournament at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena on Sept. 23.

The Bruins breezed through their division undefeated, downing St. Clair Shores Pee Wee AAA Minors, 6-0; Little Caesar's Pee Wee AA minors, 4-3; Flint Pee Wee AA, 11-0; and Fraser Pee Wee AA, 6-3. In the championship game, the Bruins played before a large crowd, beating the Chicago Young Americans Pee Wee AAA Minors, 5-0, for the title.

The Bruins, who will be skating in the Little Caesar's Amateur Hockey League, have set their 1984-85 roster: Bobby Beltz, Donny Berninger, Adam Boyd, Anthony Buzzelli, Michael Coello, Joey DiMarco, Peter Donaldson, Mark Grebik, Archie Kadlitz, Ross Kogel, Sean Kolodge, Nicky Leone, Dickie Maly, Bradley Russell, Marc Orsini and Jason Weid.

Coaching the Bruins this year are Wayne Coatney, Tim Grebik, Dick Maly, Gary Weid and Geoffrey Donaldson. The team is managed by Stephanie Donaldson and sponsored by Pointe Dodge and Dunkin' Donuts, Harper and Nine Mile Road.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen.
Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this prayer as soon as your favor has been granted. Thank you for favors received. T.L.M.

University Liggett Knights unbeaten in soccer at 6-0

By Walter Connolly
ULS

University Liggett School varsity soccer team met Inter-City Christian — its first test — on Sept. 18. It was to be a tough game, as Inter-City was ranked No. 1 in Class D, and ULS No. 6 in Class B-C. After ULS' 4-2 victory, Coach David Buckhurst said, "We have passed our first big test of the season, but we can't rest on our laurels."

The scoring started as mid-fielder Walter Connolly put a pass from teammate John Birgbauer into the lower corner of the net, but Inter-City came back to tie 1-1. Harold Colby then made a long throw-in to rookie Bob Williams, who headed the ball over the sprawling Inter-City goalkeeper for a 2-1 halftime lead.

In the second half, John Birgbauer finished the scoring for the Knights. First he netted a penalty kick, and then sent a pass from Connolly into the lower part of the net. Inter-City was able to put in another goal late in the game, but it was too little too late. The Knights passed their first real test with flying colors, and brought their record to 5-0.

On Friday, Sept. 21, ULS had a small let-down in the quality of play, but still came out victorious with a 1-0 win. The goal was scored by Tony Malcoun on a pass from Bob Williams. The Knights were surprised by the aggressive hustle of a strong Roeper team, but the aggressive defense of Kirk Haggarty, Steve Vreeken, Harold Colby, Jamie McMillan, Steve Schmidt and Blasko Ristic kept ULS in the game. Goaltender Brian David was impressive in the shutout.

JV improves

By Dave Schwab
ULS

The University Liggett School JV soccer team has begun to come on strong after a slow start. ULS opened the season by losing 4-3 on Sept. 11, to a determined Lutheran High East team, on a penalty kick. The JV Knights then traveled to Notre Dame where they battled to a 2-2 tie on Sept. 14.

Coach Domenic Facciolla's squad then got on track by opening their home schedule with a 4-3 win over Zion Christian School on Sept. 17, followed by a strong 5-1 win over Inter-City Christian the next afternoon. The JV squad then raised its record to 3-1-1 by soundly defeating Roeper School, 5-0.

Leading goal scorers for ULS are sophomore forward Bill Reuther and freshman forward Frank Karabetsos with six goals apiece. Freshman midfielders Khal Attie and David Schwab follow with three goals each.

The Knights travel to Roeper on Friday, Sept. 28, while the next home games are on Monday, Oct. 1, against Zion Christian and Tuesday, Oct. 2, against Notre Dame.

Neffers win

By Paula Rodriguez
ULS

The ULS varsity tennis team swept through its first match with a 4-3 win over North on Tuesday, Sept. 11.

On Thursday, Sept. 20, Coach Carol von Stade's team played at Kingswood, where Charu Nautiyal, at No. 2 singles, beat her opponent 6-0, 6-1. The No. 1 doubles team of Shefali Sharma and Paula Rodriguez defeated their opponents in an exciting three set match.

On Saturday, Sept. 22, the Lady Knights participated in the East Grand Rapids Tournament. The No. 1 singles player, Pam Ali, and her sister, Amina Ali, at No. 4 singles, scored impressive victories.

ULS take on Gabriel Richard on their home courts at 4:15 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 27. On Saturday, Sept. 29, the girls travel to the all-day Kingswood Invitational.

The ULS junior varsity tennis record now stands at 2-2-0, with wins over Academy of the Sacred Heart of Ann Arbor Huron on Sept. 11 and 18, and losses to Seaholm and Kingswood on Sept. 14 and 20.

The most exciting match of the four was the 4-3 victory over Ann Arbor Huron. With only three matches finished, ULS was behind 0-3. The No. 2 doubles team of Suzannah Maycock and Cindy Fite then came through with a 6-2, 6-2 win. Playing No. 3 singles, Lynn Connor used some strong net play to bring in the second victory with a 6-4, 6-1 score.

ULS tied the match with a three set win by the No. 1 doubles team of Alicia Peck and Lori Sables. Last to finish was Lesley MacLeod at No. 2 singles, who rallied for a 3-4 third set score to win the match 6-2, 5-7, 6-4. The win marked her third three-setter of the season.

Coach Kathy Hoes' team hosts a four-school tournament on Saturday, Sept. 29, will play beginning at 9 a.m. Besides ULS, competing teams include Marian, Kingswood and Port Huron Northern.

Hockey wins

By Nancy Georgi
ULS

The University Liggett School varsity field hockey team played its first game on Sept. 19, beating Ottawa Hills, 6-0. Sophomore Laurie Khelokian scored four goals in the impressive victory.

On Saturday, Sept. 22, ULS played two Ohio teams, Laurel and Hathaway Brown. ULS defeated Laurel 2-0, with goals scored by Nancy Georgi and Khelokian. However, ULS tied a close game with Hathaway Brown, 2-2.

The team members this year include captain Georgi, Amy Ottaway, Andrea Hirt, Khelokian, Kate French, Monique Wise, Fay Howenstein, Susan Edwards, Angela Navarro, Tricia Petzold, Becky In-gall, Laura Stefanski, Barry Hamilton, Kathy Davies and Barb Roman.

By Kara Van Dellen
ULS

The ULS junior varsity field hockey team is undefeated after three games. Team members are junior co-captains Lisa Chamberlin and Kara Van Dellen; juniors Ariste Melick, Lindsey Ford and Alex Noecker; sophomores Biz Renick, Cindy Paul, Shelly Tibbitts, Susan Knight; and freshmen Cathy Petzold, Dana Christian and Beth Birgbauer.

The JV's first game this year was Sept. 19 against Ottawa Hills. Coach Melinda Reuter's team showed its ability by winning 8-0. Lisa Chamberlin, Kara Van Dellen and Dana Christian each scored two goals, while Shelly Tibbitts and Chris Knights scored one apiece.

In the ULS Invitational on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 21 and 22, ULS beat Laurel and Hathaway Brown, 2-0 and 1-0, on goals by Petzold, Van Dellen and Chamberlin.
