Inka-dinka-do

As the late, great Jimmy Durante used to say, "Everybody wants to get into the act!"

The act we're talking about is the opening of the Renaissance City Chamber Players this coming Tuesday, Oct. 9, when the group will feature the scores of six famous artists: Telemann, Mozart, Bartok, Grosse Pointe's own Jim Hartway, Tchaikovsky and the Detroit Tigers.

That's right, the Bengal boys score will be performed, sort of. Misha Rachlevsky, artistic director of the players, said that since the concert falls on the first day of the World Series, periodic announcements of the game's progress will be relayed to the audience.

The Divertimento of the evening's entertainment was composed by our own Jim Hartway, and includes a Russian melody, a Motown hit and a patriotic song. Hartway was asked to write the piece to be premiered at the concert, and was asked to provide a piece that would be fun to perform and accessible to a wide spectrum of audiences.

I'd say he succeeded. Now this is where you get to become part of the act. The Divertimento was deliberately left untitled, and members of the audience will be allowed to submit title ideas on special forms included with the program.

The author of the winning entry will be invited to join composer Hartway and Misha at a celebration dinner at the Golden Mushroom.

Trivia time

If trivia and history are your thing, have I got a book for you. It's called "Mich-Again's Day" and it contains every living thing you'd ever want to know about what's happened in this great state of ours over the years.

It's all here. This book has it all, right? Wrong. Buffalo Breath, but it does come close. The book is a third in a series of Michigan books put out by Gary Barfknecht, of Davison. The others were "Michillaneous" and "Murder, Michigan," which I found to be pretty interesting.

In this latest tome, Barfknecht lists the major events that have happened in this state day by day over the years, from about the early 1600s to almost last week. Since it covers a lot of ground, the book is fun to read.

There are two references to Grosse Pointe specifically. The first states that the first woman to fly in the state was Mrs. Russel A. Alger, who flew with aviator Frank Coffyn when he gave flying demonstrations from the Grosse Pointe Country Club golf course on June 19, 1932.

Aha! I thought. I caught Mr. Barfknecht in an error. There never was any Grosse Pointe Country Club. Wrong, Mr. Greenwood. Apparently there was a club that stretched from Mack to Lakeshore along Fisher Road at that time, so I hereby formally apologize.

At 265 pages, the book lists for $7.95. Now if we could just do something about Gary's last name. Barfknecht?

Mourners gather

Hundreds of mourners turned out at Christ Memorial Church Monday morning to pay their last respects to John Stroh, 91, of the Farms. Mr. Stroh was the grandson of Bernard Stroh, the founder of the Stroh Brewery Co., Detroit's oldest and largest brewery. Mr. Stroh died Friday, Sept. 28. Story on Page 16A.

Educator Hoeh is suicide victim

By Pat Paholsky

James A. Hoeh Jr. was buried in Sebawaing Saturday, 32 years after he graduated from the town's local high school. The 50-year-old deputy superintendent of the Grosse Pointe School System died Sept. 26 after shooting himself in the chest with his shotgun.

Dr. Hoeh has been the district's top official since Kenneth Brummel left in July to assume the superintendent's post in Orange County, Calif.

Friends, who describe him as a man with a brilliant mind and a quick wit, were unable to explain the tragedy.

Bruce Kefgen, assistant to the superintendent, said Dr. Hoeh worked in his office late Sunday and left his secretary a note saying he was taking a vacation day. He told his wife he was going hunting and went to the home of a friend in Westland, Ken Pniwski, with whom he had gone through college. Pniwski and his wife were awakened by the shotgun blast at 7 a.m. Wednesday.

According to Westland police, he left his friend an error. There never was any Grosse Pointe Country Club. Wrong, Mr. Greenwood. Apparently there was a club that stretched from Mack to Lakeshore along Fisher Road at that time, so I hereby formally apologize.

"He was the most pro-kids person in the world," Kefgen said. "He loved all sorts of sports and he loved the outdoors. He was an avid reader and in excellent physical condition — a runner and swimmer."

"He was very empathetic," Kefgen added. "He performed numerous untold acts of kindness."

Susan McDonald, former editor of the Grosse Pointe News who knew Dr. Hoeh for nine years, said, "He used to call me up and read me up one side and down the other over the stories I wrote. He taught me to view education from the viewpoint of the kid sitting at the desk — how state laws, board decisions and new policies all have to be interpreted from that point of view. The only thing important about education is what the kid experiences and the rest of the politics don't really matter much."

Dr. Hoeh was born May 26, 1934 in Royal Oak. After graduating from Sebawaing High School in 1952, he served in the U.S. Army for two years.

He earned a degree from Western Michigan University and began his career in education in Birmingham, teaching math and coaching football. He was assistant principal at a middle school in Bloomfield Hills.

After earning his doctorate from the University of Michigan in 1969, he served as high school principal in Redford and later, Weston, Conn. While he was an assistant professor at University of Wisconsin, he met James Lipham, with whom he co-authored "The Principals, Foundations and Functions." The book was going into its second printing, and a second book which further expanded on the subject is due to be published soon.

Dr. Hoeh accepted the position of principal of South High in 1974.

"The book he co-authored is the most widely used graduate text on the high school principalship in the United States," said former Grosse Pointe Supt. William Coats, who selected Dr. Hoeh for a central office position in 1977 after a nationwide search for candidates.

"I picked Jim for the job because I had never seen such an effective high school principal in my life," Coats said. "He knew, personally, not by name, but personally — just about every student in that school. He knew their family situations, their brothers and sisters, their problems. I've seen a lot of high schools, but I've never seen another principal like him."

West reaches out to East

Pointers help group

By Harriet Nolan

She's a long way from home, family and familiar customs and while the black-haired, dark-eyed Korean doll doesn't speak a word of English, she's getting by quite well with the help of the internationally known language of hugging.

"The child understands by the tone of voice, sparkle in the eyes and smile," says Steve Tsangalis, M.D., Pointe resident who volunteered his surgical expertise to give 4-year-old Mi Sook the kind of medical treatment she would never get in her native land.

Tsangalis, Bon Secours Hospital and several other individuals have banded together to give help to the recently formed Heal the Children of Michigan, a non-profit organization based in Spokane that has branches in 32 states.

Through its program, poor children, like Mi, are referred state-side for medical treatment from countries that include Guatemala, El Salvador, Korea and Mexico. They are given help cutting through their country's red tape to obtain visas, and volunteer escorts bring them to America and then return home with them.

In Mi's case, medical and social service reports indicate she fell into a kettle of hot water as an infant and sustained extensive burns to her right lower extremities. Not thoroughly treated, the scar tissue constricted and caused the knee, leg and ankle to contract and her foot to become deformed.

Her father is dead, and her mother, a peddler, took Mi to an adoption agency thinking it was the only way the girl would get medical attention. However, a social worker's interest in the case led to a referral to the Michigan-based group after another Korean child had just returned home from having open heart surgery at Children's Hospital.

Tsangalis and Bon Secours Hospital became involved when Carol Long, executive board member from Heal the Children and a patient herself of Tsangalis asked for help.

"It was a worthwhile cause that is in line with the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club's international arm.

whereby we provide assistance to reach across the nation to promote international understanding," says Tsangalis, a past president and member. "We have one million members in 160 countries through which we are essentially trying to make the whole world one, if at all possible."

Several people from the Pointes offered help, including Geravolo (Continued on Page 16A)

Spagnoli is interim superintendent

By Mike Andrzejczyk

South High School Principal Dr. Joseph Spagnoli was appointed interim superintendent of Grosse Pointe schools Monday night by the board of education.

The appointment, effective immediately, fills the void created by the departure in July of Supt. Kenneth Brummel and the death last Wednesday of Deputy Supt. James Hoeh of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, according to the school administration.

Dr. Spagnoli, a native of Illinois, is a 1948 graduate of Southern Illinois University where he majored in physical education and health. Married and the father of two children, he came to the Grosse Pointe district in 1962 after serving as superintendent of the Hurst-Bush school district in Illinois.

During his tenure with Grosse Pointe schools, Spagnoli has served as curriculum coordinator, secondary planning director, assistant superintendent for administrative services and assistant superintendent-instruction. He was named South principal in 1979.

His experience was the deciding factor for the board, according to President Joan Hanpeter, who added Spagnoli has experience in almost all central office functions, has worked in curriculum and personnel matters and knows the finances of the district. He is also administrator of the district's most populous building, she added.

Spagnoli said he hoped to complete his move to the superintendent's office by Oct. 3.

The board acted unanimously on the motion by trustee Jon Gandelot and second by Dorothy Kennel to make the appointment. Gandelot said Spagnoli would fill the position until a new superintendent is named.

The board will meet in closed session Wednesday, Oct. 10, to continue its reviewing process of candidates. The 125 applicants have been cut to seven, according to Mrs. Kennel, search committee chairman.

Hoeh's death will not speed the board's naming a new superintendent, according to Mrs. Hanpeter.

Spagnoli said he will be more than a caretaker because of many issues facing the district.

"It would be a disservice to assume one will only be a caretaker when there are a number of issues that have surfaced this evening (Monday) that will have to be addressed," he added.

Spagnoli also said he was sorry to be leaving South temporarily.

Acting on a motion by trustee Vincent LoCicero and seconded by trustee Catherine Brierley, the board unanimously appointed South assistant principal Frances French acting principal at the school.

Miss French began her career with the school district in 1952. When North was opened, she became assistant principal at South with major responsibility for curriculum and instruction.

Miss French received her master's degree from the University of Michigan and spent a year on the staff at Michigan State University doing post-master's work.

"I'm really dedicated to South," Miss French said, adding she had developed a loyalty for the community and the school as well as enjoying her career with the district, which she called marvelous.

Farms tables ordinance

By Tom Greenwood

Before an audience of about 40 spectators, the Farms City Council voted 6-1 Monday evening to table a "first floor retail only" zoning ordinance until their meeting on Feb. 1, 1985.

The motion to table was proposed by Councilwoman Nancy Waugaman. Councilman Joseph Fromm cast the only negative vote. In taking the vote, the council members said they wished to see the effect the new parking lot being developed on the Hill would have on Hill retailers.

The "first floor retail only" ordinance has been studied by the council for the past four years and is patterned after a similar ordinance passed by the City affecting businesses in the Village.

If passed, the ordinance would limit new businesses coming to the Hill to retail only on the first floor upon change of use of the present buildings, but not change of occupancy.

"If, say, a Realtor sold out to another Realtor, the building would not be limited to a retail-only business," said Farms Clerk Richard Solak, in an earlier interview. "However, if a Realtor sold to anyone other than another Realtor, this would constitute a change of use of the building and the new business would have to be of a retail nature and not a service nature."

In addition, service businesses seeking a first-floor location would be restricted to the rear 50 percent of the ground floor, and a separate entrance from Kercheval would need to be constructed to reach those businesses.

The vote to table was taken after delegates from the property owners, Realtors and retail business owners presented their feelings before the council.

Speaking on behalf of the property owners, Peter Thurber, an attorney for Higbie-Maxon Inc. Realtors, said the ordinance would eliminate the "use" type of businesses on the Hill, would not provide full benefits to all businesses in the area and wouldn't cause the problems of the Hill to "go away."

He said, "You can't get most businesses into the rear 50 percent of a first floor area. The walkway alone would waste perhaps 10 to 12 percent of the viable area. The idea of whether this ordinance will work or not is thrown upon the shoulders of the property owners and Realtors. It will affect property values and some won't want to buy into that type of situation."

Thurber also presented a petition protesting the ordinance to the council.

Sandy Gillespie, co-owner of the Something Special shop on the Hill, spoke on behalf of the retail businesses telling the council that the Hill could "become another Plymouth if everyone would pull together"

City tables satellite dish bid

By Harriet Nolan

A request for a satellite dish to be placed on the roof of the Curtis-Mathes store in the Village was tabled at the Grosse Pointe City Council's Sept. 17 meeting until an ordinance proposed by city planner Brandon M. Rogers can be reviewed by legal counsel and a public hearing held on the matter.

Ernest Aita, president of Aita Inc., the Curtis-Mathes area franchise holder, wanted to install a 10-foot satellite dish on his building to help demonstrate the various products the company sells.

Aita agreed to Rogers' additional recommendations to paint the dish a beige color and comply with a roof structural test. And while Rogers said the proposed dish would probably be unobtrusive, he feared what others who wanted one might do.

"A very strict sign ordinance is already in place," Rogers said. "We don't want to see the roof of buildings cluttered with support bars, satellite dishes and roof signs like those already seen on Harper and Gratiot avenues."

"We're a residential community and vitally concerned with aesthetics and attractiveness. We want commercial offices, but want them to blend in with the architectural character and low profile of the city to keep property values stabilized and the Pointes viable," he added.

Aita said he needed the satellite to comply with his franchise agreement that requires he offer all the company's products.

"We could lose revenue restricting our trade and we've been told by our headquarters that if they were to restrict us from selling it, our consultant would take the city to court."

"According to previous cases, it's been proven quite easily that it's unconstitutional to restrict that type of thing," he added.

Refusal to allow the dish might be political since the City already owns a share of the Grosse Pointe Cable Company which could be threatened by the competition, according to Aita.

"This would eliminate the cable company," he said. "The satellite dish we have is identical to the one they have and will permit consumers to directly pull from various satellites and they also receive a monthly publication of what's available."

"The dish would cost between $3,600 and $4,100 and probably initially appeal to wealthy people and those who live in areas where no television or cable reception is available, such as summer cottages up north," he added.

Richard Hinks, city attorney, said it's generally considered part of a city's zoning problem and therefore requires that a public hearing be held. Until the matter is settled, the city runs the risk of having unwanted dishes pop up all over.

Mayor Lorenzo Browning said council wants to know how the community feels. "If they can live with it, then we want to do what they want."

"But we've had a number of calls regarding this issue and having no ordinance doesn't keep anybody from putting one up."

The Park and the Woods have adopted an ordinance, while the Shores doesn't permit dishes.

NEH campaign gains ground at Wayne State

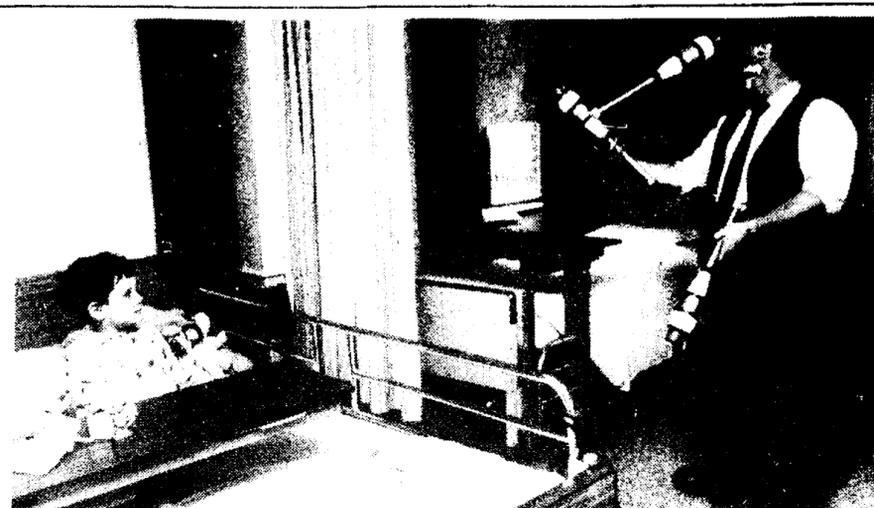

Dr. Michael F. Luck, of the Park, and senior vice president for Development of Public Affairs at Wayne State University, has reported that a great deal of progress is being made at the university in the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH).

According to Dr. Luck, the university has exceeded the matching NEH total challenge for the second year ($600,000) with $936,000 in matching gifts of cash or property.

In turn, this sum has already earned $300,000 of the scheduled $500,000 award from the federal government for placement in an Endowment Humanities Fund.

According to Dr. Luck, the NEH campaign is responsible for the successful application for a prestigious Rockefeller Residency Site in the Humanities at the Reuther Library on campus. Several faculty members have received foundation awards and the campaign has triggered several new programs, including an internship in English, a German tuition scholarship fund, an India Library program and the Edward L. Cushman Endowment Fund in Labor-Management Relations.

The $500,000 NEH challenge grant requires the university to raise $1.5 million from individuals, foundations and corporations by 1987. A $2 million goal has been set to ensure a stable and continuing source of revenue for educational programs in the humanities.

Only four more days to register

Tuesday is it. Those who want to vote in this year's presidential election and have not yet registered have until Tuesday, Oct. 9.

The Ponties show a relatively high registration in proportion to population, however, the figures are misleading, since they include names of persons who have moved. Deputy Clerk Jeanne Darlington, of the City of Grosse Pointe, said a name cannot be removed from the books unless the person has not voted for four years. The person is then notified of the fact by mail and has 30 days to request reinstatement. If the clerk's office does not hear from the person, the records are put in an inactive file where, by law, they will remain for six years.

All of the clerks' offices in the Ponties will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, except for the City office, which will close at 5 p.m. Darlington said state law now allows municipalities to determine its hours for the last day of registration. The city council passed a resolution in July this year to that effect.

The City has 4,686 registered voters. Total population, which includes children and others not eligible to vote, is 5,901.

There are about 9,500 registered voters in the Park out of a population of 13,639.

Grosse Pointe Township, Wayne County, lists 2,258 registered and population at 3,012. Lake Township in Macomb County, with 110 residents, has 69 names on the voter rolls.

The Woods, with 18,886 residents, has 14,713 people registered. In a population count of 10,551.

In order to register, a person must be 18 years old, a U.S. citizen and a resident of the city, village or township for 30 days.

Besides clerks' offices, persons can now register at a local secretary of state office. Voter registration in branch offices is running 13 percent ahead of figures reported for the last presidential election in 1980, according to Secretary of State Richard Austin.

Through August, 639,000 persons registered at secretary of state offices.

37 residents are Mensa members

Mensa, one of the world's most exclusive organizations, has only one admission requirement. Candidates for membership must possess a proven I.Q. which ranks them within the upper 2 percent of the world's population.

Who supervises Mitchel Souligney, who supervises Mensa testing in the Ponties, reports that 37 residents have qualified for membership. He invites anyone (regardless of age, sex or education) who would like to join to apply now for testing.

For those prefer, Mensa offers a trial pre-test which is unsupervised and taken in the privacy of the home. This test, though not valid for membership requirements, does give a reasonable estimate of the candidate's potential for achieving the required I.Q. percentile in the proctored exam.

For further information, call Souligney at 886-3795 any weekday evening between 6 and 8 p.m.

Moody settlement made

Reaching a decision nearly two years after his death, the Michigan Worker's Disability Compensation Appeal Board last week approved a $90,000 settlement to the estate of the late Supreme Court Justice Blair Moody Jr.

The settlement was based on a claim that his fatal 1982 heart attack was brought about by overwork. Justice Moody was stricken at his Shores home on Thanksgiving Day 1982. He died in St. John Hospital the next day. He was 54.

The claim was filed by his estate on Sept. 27, 1983 and stated that "occupational stresses and long hours of work caused or contributed in a significant manner" to Justice Moody's death.

Associates of Moody said at the time he died that they believe the job stresses and demands of the 1982 re-election campaign contributed to his heart attack.

Moody had just won re-election to an eight-year term on the Supreme Court. He was a Wayne County Circuit Court judge for 11 years before his service on the high court, and had worked as a reporter for the Detroit News and the Washington Post before receiving his law degree in 1952.

The lump sum payment on behalf of Moody's estate was approved on Sept. 27 by Administrative Law Judge Gerald Peplowski of the Michigan Workers Disability Compensation Bureau. The settlement was offered by the State Accident Fund, which administers claims on behalf of the state.

Justice Moody is survived by his wife, Mary Lou, and five children, Diane, Blair, Susan, Brian and Peter.

Dr. David Jantz, Chiropractor

Chiropractic encompasses a very important aspect of health care in that it deals with the structural balance of the body. Medicine on the other hand, takes a chemical approach through drug therapy. Chiropractic restores normal mobility and biomechanics to the spinal column. Many people are aware of the benefits of chiropractic for common problems such as low back and neck pain. However, chiropractic is beneficial to other areas of the body. The reason being is that the nerves exit the spinal column between the vertebrae (bones) and either directly or indirectly affect the body's organs, joints, muscles, etc. These nerves can be irritated due to improper harmony of joint movement and cause other bizarre symptoms distant from the spine. Ex: A nerve irritation in the low back may cause low back and leg pain but also improper peristalsis of the bowel causing chronic constipation. By balancing the body structure the cause of the symptoms is removed. Taking pain-killers and laxatives (chemical approach) will only mask the symptoms and not treat the cause.

Two 14-year-olds injured in crash

Two 14-year-old Farms residents were taken to St. John Hospital where they were treated and released after their car struck a tree and flipped over.

The accident occurred at 1:47 a.m. Monday, Oct. 1. A Woods scout car saw the 1984 black Chevrolet with only its parking lights on as it approached south on Mack from Vernier. Officers in the scout car activated the overhead lights to inform the driver, but the youth stepped on the gas pedal, turned on Lochmoor traveling east and went through four stop signs. Police say the car was traveling at speeds between 50 and 60 mph.

The vehicle ran through another stop sign, fishtailed and ended up traveling between the sidewalk and curb on Lochmoor. It struck a no parking sign and then crashed into the tree. Police extricated the youths and the driver was taken to the hospital by ambulance. Police transported the passenger to the hospital in the scout car.

The driver was issued a citation for driving without a license.

Lon Grossman, weekly columnist in the Homes section of the Saturday morning Free Press, will discuss home maintenance problems and how to handle them on Wednesday, Oct 10, at the War Memorial. He is a licensed builder and a member of the American Society of Home Inspectors. Tickets are $7 each, and advance reservations are requested. For more information, call 881-7511.

Scholarship deadline is Dec. 1

Scholarship applications are being accepted for the Navy's four-year Navy Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) college scholarship program. Deadline for application is Dec. 1, 1984.

The four-year, $40,000 college scholarship competition is open to U.S. citizens 17 to 21 years of age. Students must have an ACT score of 24 math, 18 English or a SAT score of 520 math, 430 verbal as a minimum to qualify and compete.

During the competition for the 1984 scholarship program, 160 scholarships were offered to 289 qualified applicants.

The NROTC scholarship pays all tuition, books, educational fees and provides $100 per month during the school year. Students also have four to six weeks paid training each summer.

Scholarship recipients attend more than 60 of the nation's colleges and universities, including the University of Michigan. During the school year, students usually wear a uniform one day a week and spend five to seven hours a week in Naval Science activities.

Upon graduation the students are commissioned in the regular Navy and may be assigned to aviation, submarines or surface ships. About 12 percent may be commissioned as Marine Corps officers (if they desire and are qualified). The active duty requirement is four years.

Immediate application is urged in order to qualify for the early selection board. Deadline for initial applications is Dec. 1, 1984. Deadline for receipt of ACT or SAT scores is Dec. 31, 1984.

Active duty personnel and drilling reservists (a month-for-month age waiver for active duty may be applied) interested in the NROTC scholarship competition for themselves or their dependents also may apply.

The essential first step

With the presidential election only a month distant, citizens should be reminded that they must register to vote by the close of business next Tuesday, Oct. 9, if they have not been registered or if they have moved from one municipality to another without changing registration since they last voted.

Clerks offices in the Grosse Pointe municipalities will be open during their regular hours in the days prior to Tuesday and in all but the City will extend their hours from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesday to accept registrations or registration transfers from eligible voters now properly registered. The City clerk's office will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Americans have not distinguished themselves by the proportion of the total eligible population voting in even presidential elections in recent years. Some people still don't get around to register although there will be even less reason to fail to register this year than in some previous campaigns. Both political parties as well as various civic groups are promoting registrations this year, and the results indicate a substantial increase around the country.

It is true, however, that the responsibilities of citizenships go beyond merely registering to vote and then casting a ballot. The responsible citizen studies the issues and the candidates in advance. It is customary for various organizations — ranging from political parties to special interest groups — to issue recommended ballots listing their preferred candidates. Such lists are worth studying but only as part of the citizen's educational process. In the end, the responsible citizen makes up his own mind how he wishes to vote.

The Pointes always are proud of the high proportion of voters that turn out in presidential elections and this year promises to continue that record. Yet there still are some people who haven't registered or haven't changed their registrations and they will lose their chance to vote if they don't visit their respective clerk's office by next Tuesday evening.

A word to the wise should be sufficient. The essential first step is registering to vote. Those who don't take that first step lose their franchise for the 1984 election.

A threat to state services

Foes of Proposal C, the so-called Voters' Choice amendment, finally are beginning to focus on the major issues involved in the effort to enact the ill-advised amendment to the state Constitution. They are beginning to emphasize the damage that the proposal would do to essential services in the event of its adoption. The level of taxes is inescapably linked to the quality of services.

For example, the Automobile Club's board of directors has voted to recommend a "no" vote on the proposal on the grounds that its passage would almost certainly cripple the massive repair job currently underway on Michigan's freeways. Proponents of Voters' Choice have said that it is only the "special interests" who oppose it. They no doubt would label the Auto Club a "special interest." But how about the millions of Michigan motorists who use the state's freeways and highways? Aren't they equally concerned about the deteriorating roads that damage cars and increase road hazards?

Yet the passage of the amendment would eliminate the revenues voted by 1982 increases in motor fuel taxes and vehicle licenses unless their continuation were approved by a popular vote by February 1985. Michigan would lose not only such revenues but millions of dollars in federal matching grants. And also eliminated would be some of the state income tax revenues on which the state police depend for maintenance of the department.

State university presidents likewise have called attention to the damage the passage of the amendment would do to higher education in Michigan. Their strongest argument is that a cutback in state aid for higher education, which would be necessary to meet the demands of the amendment, would cost the state heavily in its professorial and technical staffs and require a further hike in tuition at Michigan's major public universities, which already charge among the highest fees in the country.

Similarly, passage of the amendment would curtail state aid for the public schools. State aid is not as important in the Grosse Pointe School District as it is in many others, but those state funds are used to try to equalize educational opportunity in this state. A reduction in such funds required under the amendment would especially penalize the poorer districts and in the long run damage opportunities for the youth of Michigan, the state's greatest resource.

Proponents say the amendment would return control of taxation to the people. But taxation is a complicated subject which requires the attention of public officials and can seldom be understood in all its complexities by laymen unless they have made a long study of the problem. There is little evidence that the sponsors of the amendment have made such a study. They simply oppose current taxes and want to return them to the 1981 level without any consideration for the effect on essential state services.

Proponents indicate that they favor the amendment to woo more business to Michigan. But businessmen base their decisions on new plant locations and expansion of existing facilities, not only on the level of taxes. This is an important factor but businessmen want to know whether the roads and bridges are maintained so that their products can move to market. They want to know whether their executives and their employees will have the opportunities to get good educations for their children. They want to know about the level of other important services.

Early polls indicate strong support for Proposal C, but the hopeful sign is that many people are still undecided. Prospective voters would do well to study the implications of the amendment and its potential impact on essential services in Michigan. Taxation is only the means by which such services are provided. Tax cuts of the extent contemplated by Proposal C could jeopardize the future of the state by the damage they could cause to the state's services.

It's not over till it's over

Like the World Series, the presidential campaign isn't over till it's over. Yet the majority of pollsters and political pundits see President Reagan's re-election as almost certain even though there still is a month left in the campaign. While Mr. Reagan's commanding lead is hailed by Republicans, it is not necessarily a good thing for the American people.

The point is that the president is so far ahead he does not feel compelled to engage in any serious discussion of the issues. His White House staff is keeping him under wraps, in regard to questions from reporters or taunts from his Democratic opponents, on the grounds that replies by the president would only be beneficial to the Democratic nominee, Walter Mondale. Here is the way James Lake, press secretary for the Reagan re-election committee, put it to the New York Times:

"It would be foolish of us to let Ronald Reagan respond to him (Mondale). If the statistics start to close and we see he's making points on nuclear energy or the lack of a treaty, then maybe we will say we ought to talk about that. But we'd be foolish to say we ought to take your questions every day because Walter Mondale said this or that."

True, that is a traditional attitude for the favorite to strike in a campaign. Yet it does not help inform the American public on specific issues. And what is notable about Lake's comment is that he pays no attention to the possible needs of the voters for more information but sees the issue only as a possible benefit to Mondale, presumably because answering the Democratic candidate's challenges would bring Mr. Reagan down to his challenger's level.

So instead of the issues, the president and his staff treat the public to campaign "themes," offering performances of the unofficial campaign song, "I'm Proud to Be an American," and the president's own basic speech on patriotism, economic expansion and a happy future for all with more jobs and lower taxes as the prizes to come with Mr. Reagan's re-election.

So far the Reagan re-election tactics have worked. Neither the press criticism of the president as being isolated and remote nor Mondale's attempts to get through to the issues appear to have damaged the Reagan popularity. A Gallup Poll last week showed President Reagan and Vice President Bush had increased their lead over their Democratic rivals to 18 percentage points, 57 percent to 39 percent with 4 percent undecided. That result was even better than the Reagan-Bush lead of 15 points, 55 percent to 40 percent, just two weeks earlier.

In fact, the big lead shown in the polls is causing some Republicans to see the possibility of a Republican sweep of Congress and, in Michigan, a Republican victory in the race for the U.S. Senate. Republican gains in congressional seats in this state and even a GOP state House of Representatives. Perhaps all or some of those results are possible.

Yet there is possible trouble in the two debates between the president and Mondale that still lie ahead, as well as in the single debate between the vice presidential candidates. The highly publicized hassle last week over whether Mr. Reagan really was trying to shift the responsibility for the latest bombings at the U.S. embassy in Beirut to former President Carter indicates how easily some Reagan campaign gaffe could revive Mondale's flagging fortunes.

Clark Clifford, a White House aide and campaign adviser to the late President Truman, has even suggested that increasing public concern with the issues and possible mistakes by the president give Mondale a chance to repeat Harry Truman's come-from-behind victory over Thomas E. Dewey in 1948. Clifford said it is "possible that this could be a repeat of 1948," and then added, "He (Mondale) is not as far behind at this point as Truman was in 1948."

It is true that Dewey was so far in front in the polls that he did not think it was necessary to discuss the issues in any depth in that 1948 campaign. On a realistic basis, it is unlikely that Mondale will "catch fire" as Truman did in 1948 but the possibility always remains. So it could be good politics, as well as good for the voting public, for President Reagan to discuss his record in detail and outline his plans for the next four years in the remaining month of the campaign.

Final exam policy should be reviewed

To the Editor:

The Grosse Pointe School System is undoubtedly one of the best in the state of Michigan. The academic load, students find, is often grueling, but they do benefit in the long run. I strongly feel, however, that a new policy regarding final examinations should be considered. I propose that a student maintaining a 3.75 or higher average for the duration of the course should be relieved of the burden of a final examination in that course.

The Grosse Pointe high schools had such a policy about 15 years ago. The system worked well. Certainly no students complained, but worried parents felt that the students were missing valuable learning experience. Was it possible, though, that they (the parents) felt their children were getting off easy? Granted, finals do offer the experience of performing under pressure, but maintaining a near perfect score for 10 months of work is enough pressure for anyone to handle. That is why I question the abolishment of the policy and desire its reinception.

This would simply reward the honest, hardworking students at the end of the school year, when summer is already intoxicating their academically bent minds. How could an "A" student not recollect the material covered that year if he had A's on all the tests during that year? Secondly, students would be able to direct more study efforts in courses in which they had not excelled, or indeed were having difficulty.

Most importantly, this new-old policy would encourage students with less determination to try for an A. Grades, overall, would be raised because many more students would strive for excellence, if such a grand reward was offered.

The benefits of this program are obvious. The rewards reaped by these honor students would offer encouragement to all students. This would make this policy almost infallible in my opinion. That is why I hope this subject can have some light shed on it in the near future.

Reread the Bill of Rights

To the Editor:

The red-baiting letters of Lee Corless, who would deny groups that do not share his political views to meet at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, should remember that a society cannot long remain free and open unless it is willing to guard the freedom of thought of all its members.

A rereading of the Bill of Rights provided in the Constitution is an excellent criteria for determining the right of public assembly in Grosse Pointe or anywhere in the United States.

United States and Russia joined our Allies in World War II to stop fascism. The fascist threat is still real.

We need more people involved in peace and freedom, the reduction of arms, the environment, full employment, equal rights and justice for all.

To the self-appointed extremists who are trying to undermine our civil liberties and constitutional rights, I simply say, "Thanks, but no thanks."

Barbara Gulevich

Ask the students

To the Editor:

I am tired of hearing about the downfall of education. Here is my point of view, a "victim's" point of view.

I am a 15-year-old high school student. It seems to me that a favorite subject of the adults is the "breakdown" of education. I can understand their concern, but I live their so-called "tragedy" every day.

There is just one problem — the student-teacher ratio. This is why I feel teachers' wages should be higher. The average percentage is one teacher to 30 students. I am aware that teachers are taught to deal with this, yet when you're up in front of a classroom with 30 uncontrollable kids staring you in the face, it can get a little nerve-wracking.

Yet I feel I am receiving the best education possible. My textbooks are new, my teachers are knowledgeable and fair to all. There has even been a seventh hour added so I could benefit from more college prep courses, and my school is equipped with the newest technology.

If you want to know education in our community, what it is like, and if we are learning — ask the people who really know, the students.

Dangerous situation

To the Editor:

Walking from the Park to the Hill on St. Paul every morning around 8 o'clock, I am witnessing with great discomfort a dangerous traffic problem. School children riding their bikes two or three abreast make it almost impossible for cars to pass them.

At times there are two bike riders on the right side of the street and one at the same level on the left side of the street, all going in the same direction. Cars slow down behind the children, unable to get their attention, unable to pass them safely. Once in a while a car driver loses his or her patience and, honking his/her horn, passes with very little room to spare.

This is a potentially dangerous situation and my letter is meant as an alert to parents, teachers and maybe the police to instruct children to use greater care and observe the proper traffic rules.

Innocent lives at risk

To the Editor:

It is miraculous that no innocent citizens were killed in the "drag race" you described in your newspaper on Sept. 20.

I was driving west on Lakeshore Drive on Sept. 4 when I found myself in the middle of a high-speed chase. One patrol car was coming toward me on the wrong side of Lakeshore, while the getaway vehicle came up from behind me. It was being chased at an extremely dangerous speed by more patrol cars.

While the police are to be commended for apprehending the suspects, surely the end does not justify the means. Chase tactics such as these where innocent lives are definitely at risk are more appropriate on the screen than on our streets.

Drunk drivers are felons

To the Editor:
I am writing in regard to the article, "21-year-old dies in auto accident." This has been the third death attributed to alcohol in the Pointes this year. There should be harsher punishments for those who drive while intoxicated.

Because of exceedingly poor drunk driving records, consequences have come more severe. Driving while under the influence of alcohol can result in suspension of a driver's license up to two years. It can also ensue in a fine up to $500 or possibly imprisonment for 90 days. Grosse Pointe has provided its cities with a form of transportation for the intoxicated and for those in need of a conveyance. It is called "Safe Ride" and will supply a ride to anyone in need of one in any alcoholic-related situation. Even while given this service, people ignore it. They insist on driving themselves.

The law considers anyone to be driving with a blood alcohol content of .10 to be a menace to society. In the future, if one is apprehended while driving drunk, the removal of a driver's license, longer, stricter confinement, and fining a large amount of money, are more suitable penalties. Drunk drivers are menaces who could become murders and should not be exempt from a sentence. This type of driver usually continues in the same behavior.

In conclusion, I can only hope that these accidents will cease. Drunk drivers are felons and should be punished for their offenses. There is no excuse for driving drunk. After three needless deaths in Grosse Pointe, isn't it time drunk driving be taken a little more seriously?

Americans are no dummies

To the Editor:
In this long drawn-out political campaign, we have the unusual, and to me, revolting spectacle of an ex-vice president who is a proven failure, raucously insulting a president who is a proven success. He repeatedly uses such words as "cynical, arrogant, scary, intolerant and dangerous" in attempting to build a completely false image of the president.

His running mate, a lawyer and prosecuting attorney, says "she did not know" she was breaking the law in her illegal campaign funding. Regarding abortion, she says she is personally against killing unborn babies but will do nothing to stop it... a poor Catholic, who then calls the president a poor Christian... two wealthy candidates who have been pretending they're poor.

Beyond this, three TV networks are practically campaigning for Ferraro-Mondale by devoting at least 4 to 1 time to their remarks. Who knows, this may all be a big plus for Reagan, as Americans are no dummies, and such obvious unfairness may cause a backlash which will occur in the voting booth on November 6th.

Was that an embrace?

To the Editor:
I'm wondering whether Grosse Pointe's own present-day spiritual descendant of the Joe McCarthy of the 1950s, Lee M. Corless, saw that picture of Ronald Reagan and his good buddy Andrei Gromyko in last Saturday's papers. It's a classic!

But it isn't clear whether our fearless president is (a) embracing the Soviet Foreign Minister or (b) frisking him. In either event, Mr. Gromyko's expression seems to be saying, "What's this dude up to?"

But I do hope that Mr. Corless won't turn Mr. Reagan over the FBI. Let's allow "Mr. Nice Guy" to remain in the White House — at most until Jan. 20, 1985.

Fall color at library Oct. 4

Photographer, lecturer and photography instructor Joseph P. Messana will present "Fall Color in Michigan" at the Grosse Pointe Library, 10 Kercheval Ave., on Thursday, Oct. 4 at 7:30 p.m.

Highlights of the 160 slides include Tahquamenon Falls in the Upper Peninsula, Mackinac Island, the Mackinac Bridge, Michigan lighthouses, historic houses and sites, nature areas and parks, waterfalls and points of interest related to fall travel.

Messana has had work published since 1964. His features in color have been seen in AAA Michigan Living, The Sunday Magazines of the Detroit News and Free Press, House Beautiful, Horizon Magazine and Architectural Record. His work appears in 10 books including "The Buildings of Detroit — A History" by W. Hawkins Ferry of Grosse Pointe.

Tigers show us the way

To the Editor:
"Bless You Boys" has been a common phrase around the Detroit Metropolitan area. The Tigers have surely been blessed. Since 1968 no one has talked about the Tigers as much as they have this year. If the Tigers continue to play as good as they have been, they should be able to win the pennant.

We should have faith in the Tigers and encourage them on to their new goal — the World Series championship. If they have faith in themselves and work as a team, they should be able to accomplish their goal.

The 1984 Tigers showed us how to persevere. For example, when they were in their slump, they continued to work as a team and kept "plugging away" on their road to victory. They displayed positive thinking and learned from their mistakes.

This group of men with different faiths, backgrounds and personalities united together for one common purpose — to work together efficiently as a unit in order to ultimately win the World Series championship. Everyone was respected as an individual and admired for his own contribution to the team.

We should take note of their teamwork and apply their winning attitude toward our own personal goals. We should be positive thinkers, never give up, and work together with a greater understanding of each other.

Barnes is open, operating

To the Editor:
Less than four months ago our school board decided to close Barnes Elementary as a means of savings tax dollars because of the reduced enrollments in the school system.

Apparently from the notices from the Department of Community Education — the Barnes Elementary School is open and operating as the headquarters for that department and is open for classes.

I believe the taxpayers of the Grosse Pointe School System have been misled by the school board.

The Barnes School has not been closed — it is in full operation. I believe the taxpayers deserve to know why the school was not closed as we were led to believe.

This is just one more action by the board that makes the taxpayers upset and less apt to support the school system in the future.

The course is designed to survey the music of great masters through the use of recordings, hand-out theme sheets and anecdotal notes, lecture, discussion and live performances by guest performers.

The first class, "Pianists are not lovers," is a survey of piano ensemble compositions, such as chamber works and duo-piano music. Guest artists will be Elizabeth Greogry, flutist; Margaret Steel, soprano; and Janet Young, pianist, performing music by Handel. The second session on Oct. 15, "(Un)Handicaped. These Music Masters," is a study of composers and performers who were not stifled by their impairments. The last two sessions, Oct. 22 and Composers whose work will be studied include Czerny, Handel, Beethoven, Gershwin, Schubert and Barber.

The fee for the four-week course is $14. Non-residents of Grosse Pointe should add $2. For information call 343-2178.

It's 50 years for Alger Post

The Frederick M. Alger Post 86 of the American Legion celebrated its 50th anniversary year on Sept. 19 with a dinner meeting for members and guests at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House on Lakeshore Road.

The Alger Post was founded by friends of Colonel Fred M. Alger, who was one of the organizers of the American Legion and retained his faith and interest in the Legion until his death in January 1934.

The roster of the Alger Post has included and presently includes the names of many members who have made significant contributions to the community, state and nation. Alton T. Roberts, the first commander of the Alger Post, served as a senator for Michigan.

Current members of the post hold their meetings at various clubs and historical facilities in Detroit and suburbs as did the original groups. Their most recent philanthropic project was the presentation of a TV set to the V.A. Hospital for use in one of the patient rooms.

The host for the Sept. 19 meeting was Pointer John Hoey. Cocktails were served on the Terrace overlooking Lake St. Clair before the tour of the house. Dinner was served in the Gallery, where pre-dinner entertainment at the piano was provided by another member from Grosse Pointe, Joe Jennings Jr.

Membership in the post is comprised of veterans from World War I, World War II, Korea and Vietnam. Several new members from the Grosse Pointe area were accepted at the meeting.

Camera club meets

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 9, at 7:45 p.m. at the Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Along with the color print and nature slide competition, a mini-program by Art Hollar on "Dust-free Slide Mounting" will be featured.

Visitors are welcome.

G.P. symphony announces season

The Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra, buoyed by the success of its terrace concert of light classics and popular standards this summer at the War Memorial, will begin its 1984-85 classical music series Sunday, Oct. 28, at 3:30 p.m., in Parcels Auditorium, Mack at Vernier.

"We were stimulated and pleased by the size of the crowd and the warmth of our reception at the War Memorial in August," said Felix Resnick, conductor. "We hope that many of the new friends we made there will join us at Parcels. We've planned some interesting music, have improved the orchestra with new players in several sections and have a line-up of outstanding soloists."

The opening concert will feature 24-year-old Mark Abbott, who was hired as assistant principal horn with the Detroit Symphony a few months before graduation from high school. The soloists for the rest of the series will be Grosse Pointe's own widely acclaimed pianist Ruth Burczyk, Jan. 27, Edward Zilberkant, winner of the Grosse Pointe Piano Competition at the War Memorial on March 10 and soprano Margaret Rees on May 4.

Season membership (four concerts) in the Grosse Pointe Symphony Society are available in the following classifications: patron, $75 or more (four season tickets); sustaining, $50 (two season tickets); active, $20 (one season ticket); student, $10 (one season ticket). As an added convenience, season tickets are good for any of the four regular concerts.

A meet-the-soloist reception immediately follows each concert.

The new president of the Grosse Pointe Symphony Society, whose board manages the business side of the orchestra, is George Coury. Other officers are George C. Vincent, first vice president, Mrs. Joseph J. Marshall, second vice president, Mrs. Ellwyn A. Gilbert, recording secretary, Mrs. John E. Young, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard M. Blatchford, treasurer.

Other directors are Paul Duker, Thaddeus Gudsen, Mrs. Joseph N.

Cottage accredited

Ralph L. Wilgarde, administrator of Cottage Hospital, announced that the hospital has received a three-year accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH).

A voluntary process, accreditation means that the hospital adheres to the high standards of the JCAH. The commendation is based on a survey of patient care, equipment, and facilities by the commission. Cottage Hospital has earned accreditation status since the current survey process began in the 1950s.

"The award of a three-year accreditation represents the combined efforts of the Cottage Hospital medical staff, its board of trustees, administration, and all of its employees in striving to provide high quality patient care in this community," Wilgarde said.

Bon Secours dinner dance is Oct. 13

The Friends of Bon Secours will present their annual Dinner Dance with music provided by the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra on Saturday, Oct. 13 at the Detroit Athletic Club.

Three Bon Secours Hospital physicians, Gennaro J. Dimaso, M.D., Donald K. Freeman, M.D., and Richard R. Royer, M.D., will be honored for more than 30 years of service to the community.

The event begins with cocktails at 7 p.m. Tickets were $75 per person and includes a gourmet dinner at 8:30 p.m.

Proceeds will go toward the purchase of an advanced fetal monitoring system for the obstetrical department's labor and delivery unit. The equipment will help the hospital decrease the risk of complications to newborns and increase the mothers' comfort during labor.

For reservations, call Glory Little in the community relations department, 823-0008.

Friends of Bon Secours who are chairing the annual dinner dance that benefits the hospital are, from left, Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Crane II, general chairpersons, and Anne Browning, chairwoman of the patron committee. The event will be held Oct. 13.

Cottage resumes youth tours

Cottage Hospital's Volunteer Services department is again taking reservations for nursery school and elementary grade school groups who want to participate in the hospital's tour program for children.

Tours are conducted at the hospital, located at 159 Kercheval Ave., only on Fridays. There is no charge for the tour, but advance reservations must be made by calling Margaret Hutchings, director of Volunteer Services, at 884-8600, extension 2455, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Youngsters from nursery school through second grade receive the "Introduction to the Hospital for Very Small People," which features a slide program, wheelchair ride, and a hands-on explanation of such things as a stethoscope and an X-ray.

Older children receive a limited tour of several non-patient areas of the hospital, including the X-ray and Nuclear Medicine sections of the Radiology Department, and are introduced to information about hospital careers.

CPR class offered

Learn how to give cardiopulmonary resuscitation in the Heart-saver CPR class at Cottage Hospital, 159 Kercheval Ave., in the Farms. The class is offered Thursday, Oct. 18, 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in Boardrooms A and B.

Research, testing, and evaluation of CPR indicates that, if performed properly and soon enough, as many as 120,000 lives can be saved each year. Deaths from heart attack, drowning, suffocation, electrocution, or other accidents that have stopped the heart and breathing often can be prevented if the victims get prompt help.

Participants in the Heartsaver CPR class will learn to recognize the signals of a heart attack and how to respond when it occurs. The class also includes some basic anatomy, rescue breathing, one-man CPR and the obstructed airway maneuver.

Instructors, certified by the American Heart Association, teach the course. Those who successfully complete the class receive a card for one year certification in Michigan.

There is no charge for the class but reservations must be made in advance by calling 884-8600, ext. 2390.

Leaf hotline

The annual changing of colors of Michigan's spectacular forests is about to begin, and the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association is again offering its Leafline service.

For up-to-date information on the best areas at any given time, call the Leafline at 585-7233, for a recorded message.

"Studies have shown that residents of the Farms want to see more retail on the Hill," she said. "We have a marvelous opportunity here with lots of new projects on the horizon. The new parking lot on the lower Hill, the walkway, the proposed Hill building and Cottage Hospital's new parking deck will all help. People are tired of malls. The Hill and the Village must complement each other. This ordinance is needed and wanted."

their spirit of cooperation and compromise.

Several other members of the audience, including Peter Bologna, a Hill property owner and proposed builder of a multi-story building to be built next to the Bronze Door Restaurant, urged the council to adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude about the ordinance, postponing their decision until retailers can access the effect the compromise and the new parking lot would have on their businesses.

Mayor James Dingeman pointed out to the audience that members of the council, the Grosse Pointe Real Estate Exchange and the Hill Merchants Association had met on Sept. 25 to try to iron out differences between the groups.

Waugaman proposed tabling the motion after council members split evenly over the idea of taking a vote on the ordinance adoption. Council members Fromm, Waugaman and Kaess were pro-vote, while members Rockwell, Ghesquire and Echlin urged a wait-and-see attitude.

Mayor Dingeman urged the retailers and Realtors to continue

The recently renovated Grosse Pointe Shores municipal building was honored for historic preservation Sept. 29 at the annual Orchids & Onions Awards.

Shores municipal building awarded

The Grosse Pointe Shores municipal building was honored for historic preservation at the 3rd Annual Orchids & Onions Awards Sept. 29.

Traditionally, historic preservation is the most popular category in the program. Nominators called the recently renovated building "a reproduction of the original Albert Kahn design and addition," and said it "maintains the integrity of the environment and existing structure." It was also commended for "sensitive restoration of a valuable historic building."

Other honors went to the Ambassador Bridge for environmental design, Chene Park for landscape design, the Kresge Foundation's Brooks Farmstead in Troy for environmental design, and WDIV-TV 4 for graphic design and signage in its "Go for It" campaign.

Onions were awarded to the A&W restaurant at Fairlane for architectural design, the Detroit Institute of Arts fountain for landscape design, and the "Do It In Detroit" campaign for graphic design and signage.

This year's presentation was held as a tribute to retired Free Press editorial writer Louis Cook who was instrumental in the launching of the program.

For the first time, the jury established a new category — the sweet onion. It was awarded to the Max Klein office building in Southfield for architectural design.

More than 200 nominations were received from the public.

Art contest winners

First place winner of the Third Annual Artistic Discovery contest is Todd Tyrrell of South High, second from the right, standing next to Congressman George W. Crockett Jr. Other winners are, from left, Jim Dinverno of South High, second place; Kathy Judge of South High, third place; Todd Bellaver of Cass Tech, fourth place; Terrance Hodge of Murray-Wright High, honorable mention; and Ricardo Hester of Northwestern High, honorable mention.

Tyrrell's charcoal drawing, "Still Life," for which he received a $200 savings bond, will be exhibited in the U.S. Capitol. Each of the other winners will have their works displayed in Crockett's Washington, D.C. and Detroit offices on a rotating basis. Dinverno received a $150 savings bond for his pencil sketch, "J.P.'s Realm," Ms. Judge won a $100 savings bond for her mixed media work, "Maise of Color."

Fatal accident in Shores

A 26-year-old northeast Detroit man was killed early Saturday morning, Sept. 29, in an auto accident at Lochmoor and Lakeshore in the Shores.

Peter M. Terrien was pronounced dead at 2:26 a.m. that day at St. John Hospital, 40 minutes after the 1975 Ford Thunderbird he was driving jumped the curb and struck a tree in the median of southbound Lakeshore at Lochmoor.

According to Shores reports, an officer on patrol on northbound Lakeshore near the northern village limits spotted a Thunderbird travelling southbound into the village at a high rate of speed. The officer pursued the vehicle, and although he reached speeds of 70 mph, was unable to catch up with the car, reports said.

The officer came to the traffic light at Vernier and Lakeshore and saw several cars stopped there, according to reports. Although he stopped behind the Ford, the officer said he was unsure which car had been speeding, reports said.

When the light changed to green, the Ford accelerated at a high rate of speed, reports said. Before the officer was able to activate his overhead lights, the car jumped the curb south of Sheldon Lane and sheared off a small tree in the median. The car returned to the roadway for a couple hundred feet, then struck a large tree at the Lochmoor turn-around. The car traveled 76 feet before coming to a stop in the roadway, the report said.

The driver, later identified as Terrien, was taken to St. John Hospital where he was pronounced dead later that morning.

Public Safety Director Joseph Vitale said Saturday's accident was the first fatal auto accident in the village in almost three years. The last was reported in December 1981.

A report from the Wayne County Medical Examiner's Office is pending, Vitale said. "Any comment on the cause of the accident would be pure speculation," he added.

Terrien is survived by his mother, Rosemary McBrearily Terrien Williams; stepfather, Gene Williams; two brothers; two sisters; two step-brothers; one step-sister; six nephews; and eight nieces.

Services were held Tuesday morning at the Roy J. Kaul Funeral Home in St. Clair Shores. Memorial tributes may be made to the Michigan Cancer Fund.

Park plans PSO final meeting

Services held for John Stroh

 Hundreds of mourners gathered Monday morning at Christ Episcopal Church to honor John W. Stroh, chairman emeritus of the Stroh Brewery Company, "the brewers of Detroit's working class favorite," according to the New York Times.

Mr. Stroh, 91, died Friday, Sept. 28, in Bon Secours Hospital.

Beginning his career with the family-owned company in 1946, Mr. Stroh learned all phases of the operations during his decades with the brewery. He began his nine-decade career while still in school, doing odd jobs that included pasting labels on bottles and addressing envelopes.

Mr. Stroh began working full-time at the company at age 19. He was a graduate of Detroit University School, attended Detroit Business University and The Virginia Military Institute.

In 1950, he succeeded his brother, Gari M., as president of Stroh's, becoming the fifth family member to head the company during its first 100 years. The company was founded in 1850 by Bernard Stroh, paternal grandfather of John W., who sold his self-brewed beer from a pushcart in Detroit.

In 1967, Mr. Stroh became chairman of the board, a position he held until 1982, when he was named chairman emeritus. He was succeeded as chairman by his nephew, Peter W. Stroh.

The first year of Mr. Stroh's presidency, the company completed a multi-million dollar expansion of its bottling plant to keep up with the increased demand by workers who, returning from World War II, bought the family brew in increasing amounts.

The expansion of storing and aging chambers, the brewhouse, new cellars and warehouse and increased packaging and shipping facilities during the 1960s turned the red-brick downtown Detroit building into one of the world's largest breweries under one roof.

During the '50s and '60s, the company expanded through improvement and acquisition in 1964 of Goebel Brewing Co. The company had its first million-barrel year in 1953 and almost tripled its sales by 1957, when 2.7 million barrels were sold.

Although the company steadily grew from local business to national status, there were lean years. Prohibition, which began in 1920 with the 18th Amendment and lasted 13 years, forced the company to produce ice cream, soft drinks, malt extract, "near beer" and ice.

The company's rank as third-largest brewery in the nation was assured with its acquisition of Jos. Schlitz brewing company in 1982, the same year Stroh's began selling Signature, which bears John W. Stroh's signature.

John W. Stroh

The key to the company's success was its original recipe which gave the beer a lighter taste than European beers and a deeper golden color, and a policy of asking workers to take care of quality and let the family worry about profits, according to the New York Times.

Mr. Stroh received a number of honors from the brewing industry. In the mid-60s, he was named honorary chairman of the 81st Anniversary Convention of the Master Brewing Association and of the 10th International Brewing Industries Exposition. He was also an honorary director of the United States Brewers Association.

Mr. Stroh, a commodore of the Grosse Pointe Club, worked hard for the erection of its concrete and steel dock built 40 years ago. A bronze plaque honoring him for his devotion to the club is displayed in a prominent place on the dock.

An avid yachtsman before World War II, he gave up powerboating during the war because of the gasoline shortage and became an enthusiastic sailor. With war's end, he returned to powerboating.

Mr. Stroh is survived by his wife, Louise; a daughter, Elizabeth Jackson; and two sons, John Jr. and Anthony.

Memorial contributions may be made to Bon Secours Hospital.

 Don Messing, principal of Brownell School, was a close friend and protege of Dr. Hoeh's.

"Not many people realize what type of man Jim was," Messing said. "Underneath that thick skin, there was a man who cared deeply about everyone he knew."

"Education, to Jim, meant helping kids," Messing said. "Jim was one of the few men I know who had a theoretical knowledge of education and a practical ability to apply it."

In addition to his administrative duties in Grosse Pointe, Dr. Hoeh served on several committees of the North Central Association of Michigan, which inspects and ac-credits all of the state's public schools.

Dr. Hoeh is survived by his wife, Julia Faye; daughter, Angela; son, Ryan; father; mother; one brother; and one sister.

He was buried in a private service at Memorial Park Cemetery in Sebewaing. Funeral arrangements were made by the Dinkel-Juengel Funeral Home. Memorial may be made to Boys Town, Nebraska, or to the American Cancer Society.

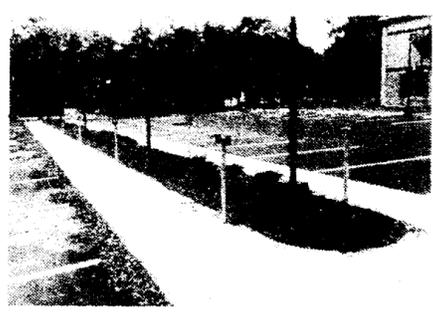

Memorial services for Dr. Hoeh will be held Sunday, Oct. 14, at 6 p.m., at South High.

Susan McDonald contributed to this report.

Construction crews have been busy at the lower end of the Hill this month and last, making progress on a nearly completed parking lot and a pedestrian walkway that will connect the upper and lower portions of the Hill. The parking lot, right, is being constructed on the former playground of Richard School that fronted Kercheval Avenue. City fathers hope the new lot will help ease the parking squeeze that has faced patrons of the lower Hill and the library for years. The new walkway will feature a large grandfather-type clock, gazebo, drinking fountain, park benches and a serpentine walkway. The new walkway will also be fully landscaped and will allow entrance to the parking lot via a one-lane entrance and exit-only driveway.

 Albert, M.D., an anesthesiologist, and David Benfer, the hospital's chief executive officer, says Tsangalis. "The three of us got together and did it."

While an operation such as Mi had is normally done in six-month stages to allow for growth, and touch-ups given as relative contracture develops, Tsangalis says "the equivalent of four stages were done all at once because of time constraints. Most of the repair is complete and she may need minor adjustments locally.

"Similar treatment is available in Korea, but it's limited based on affordability which is different than in the United States where medical treatment is available through several programs for most people," he adds.

Tsangalis pegs the cost of his and the hospital's services at $10,000. He says Mi will have to depend on social services for additional treatment when she returns home. Age is on her side since youngsters respond to skeletal improvement better than adults.

Poor babies born with medical problems are often dumped on orphanage doorsteps or left to die because the cost of medical care makes it unattainable in developing countries, says Jan DePasqualin, coordinator for the Michigan branch of Heal the Children.

Matching a candidate with available help is a long, complicated process hampered by distance and qualifying examinations by physicians who must determine if it's worthwhile to bring a child over for treatment. In all, it takes about six weeks and most of the children helped so far have been from Korea, she says.

Many of the people instrumental in getting Mi to America have ties of some sort to Korea or to children who need specialized medical attention, according to Mrs. DePasqualin. A registered nurse, she divides her 40-hour work week between hospital-related duties and Heal the Children.

As an adoptive parent of a four-and-one-half-month-old Korean girl, she says she feels "indebted to that country as a whole and wants to thank them for the love and joy her family has received."

While a request for a domestic adoption made five years ago still indicates an almost four-more-year wait before the DePasqualins will be considered, it only took 11 months to complete the adoption of their healthy daughter.

She says the problems that face kids who have special needs differ in poor countries than from those in the United States.

"I realize some people here may need treatment and don't get it. But it's not because they aren't informed, but because they choose not to use that type of system," she says.

"I feel we have situations where people are dying or left for adoption as a result. I know that's happening in the country we're serving," she adds.

The family taking care of Mi during her six-week recovery is Ruth and Steve Woloscyn, of Warren. And wasn't Mi pop-eyed when she found not one, not two, but five children to keep her company and show her the sights when she can do a bit of traveling. An added attraction is that they're all Korean adoptees.

The Woloscyns had decided to adopt Vietnamese children in 1976 but say "when Vietnam fell, everything closed down and we drifted our hopes to Korea."

They started out by adopting Joey, now 10. But wanting a brother for him they soon applied for Danny, now 7. After immigration rules allowed for four adoption visas per family, Becky, now 5 and Christie, now 4, enlarged the household. When the rules were again changed to unlimited quotas, Mandy, now 3 years old, soon followed.

All of the children are considered as having special needs which include heart defects, burn scars and visual handicaps, according to Mrs. Woloscyn. It was during Dan's stay at Children's Hospital last March that she met Carol Long, learned more about the volunteer organization and offered her services. "She called me up and said Mi needed a place to stay. We said 'why not.'"

Mrs. Long was responsible for drawing Dr. Tsangalis into the group through a series of events that began with a tragic accident seven years ago.

A head-on collision resulted in her entire face being crushed, almost to her spinal cord, she says. Dr. Tsangalis treated her. A short time later, her son walked through a plate glass window hidden by a bright sun and also needed extensive care.

"I think my accident altered my outlook," says Mrs. Long. "I was severely injured and the other party died. It made me say there is more to life than what I've been doing and I've been given another chance."

The Longs decided after raising four children and having a grandchild, they wanted another child. But both their ages, 39 and 40, worked against them, and getting a well-baby was out of their reach.

They turned their efforts toward another country and from Korea "chose a little doll nobody wanted," says Mrs. Long. "She had a severe cleft lip and palate, and the report came in that her family had no financial ability to take care of her and abandoned her at the hospital."

"I also felt that with some trauma to my face, I could better relate to the child and help her in any way," she adds.

Dr. Tsangalis operated on the little girl this summer and her nose has been formed, according to Mrs. Long. Only time will tell if she will have a hearing problem, along with a speech problem.

"We're not wealthy, but we live very well. This lets us give back a little part of it," she adds.

- ✓ A new high-efficiency gas furnace could cut your gas heating costs by over 30%!
 Based on most current natural gas rates, normal Michigan weather, and a 96% efficiency rating - a new high-efficiency gas furnace could cut your heating bills by up to three percent when compared to the cost of operating most conventional gas furnaces.
- ✓ An electric heat pump could be more than twice as expensive to operate as a high-efficiency gas furnace.
 Because an electric heat pump all alone is not enough to heat your home sufficiently in an average Michigan winter, you'll need a back-up system. A heat pump backed up by a high-efficiency gas furnace will cost about 130% more to operate than a high-efficiency gas furnace. And a heat pump backed up by a high-efficiency gas furnace could be about 35% more costly to operate than a high-efficiency gas furnace alone.
- ✓ Dollar for dollar, natural gas will save you more.
 Because natural gas holds a three-to-one price advantage over electricity, a high-efficiency gas furnace is less expensive to operate than an all-electric heating system. And because that price advantage is expected to increase in the future, those savings could increase, too.
- ✓ Start saving this winter.
 Instead of heating your home with a high-efficiency gas furnace, why not check it out now? We can help you save money this heating season. And at Mid-Con, we believe in doing a good job.

SOCK It to 'Em!

Ask metropolitan Detroiters to list the Top Ten Programs which REALLY, TANGIBLY help people in need in Detroit, and you can bet the Capuchin Soup Kitchen will be among them. Over 2,000 people daily, many young women and children, receive some form of food assistance through the Capuchin Community Center and its Soup Kitchen.

And the programs of the Capuchin Community Center are not limited to meals and food packages. The Center operates an annex to distribute clothing, furniture and basic items to families and individuals in emergency situations. It operates a therapeutic alcohol center for men. It offers counseling and referral services to community-based organizations for medical, legal and psychological assistance. It sponsors a summer youth education and recreation program.

In short, in meeting the real, tangible needs of people in need, it "socks it to 'em." And it does this while receiving no governmental funds, relying entirely on donations of money, food, clothing and household appliances.

The 12th Annual SOCK (Save Our Capuchin Kitchen) fund raising dinner, sponsored by the Capuchin Charity Guild, is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 15, at Cobo Hall. Charing it is Donald E. Peterson, president of Ford Motor Company. Advisory co-chairman is James McDonald, president of General Motors. This year, five automobiles are among the numerous prizes to be awarded ticket holders.

Last year, over 1150 Detroit area residents attended the SOCK dinner. Their contributions raised over $125,000. This year, a sell-out crowd of 1200 is expected. You're welcome to be among them. Tickets, at $150 each, are available by contacting Father Lloyd Thiel at 579-1330 or 579-2100 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

To underscore the need for Capuchin Community Center operating funds be advised that, despite a slowly improved economy, the lines at the Soup Kitchen have not shortened. Father Thiel, director of the Center, reports that, as of July 31, 445,724 meals were served to the poor in 1984. During all of 1983, 560,139 meals were served.

"Without continued financial assistance, many men, women and children will not receive the proper nutritional meals necessary to insure proper emotional, psychological and physical development," Father Thiel says. And Lewis Hickson, manager of the Soup Kitchen, adds that "59 percent of those served are between the ages of 18 and 30."

Magnify Your World

The Friends of Vision of the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology, in cooperation with the Greater Detroit Society for the Blind, will present "Magnify Your World," the third annual low-vision aids, large-print book fair, this Saturday, Oct. 6, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the J.C. Penney Court at Eastland Mall.

The fair is a public service event. There will be no sales and no admission charge. Displays of information by metropolitan Detroit service agencies will cover numerous areas of rehabilitation for the visually impaired. Qualified staff will be on hand to answer questions and demonstrate the latest in vision techs. Braille writers and computers, as well as communication and daily living skills, mobility instruction and aids for independent living.

Friends of Vision also offers a support group for visually impaired persons. Members of this group will be present at "Magnify Your World" to answer questions and offer help.

The fair is primarily for those with permanently reduced vision. That may not be you — but you may know a friend or relative experiencing difficulty in reading the daily newspaper, dialing the phone or doing any kind of handiwork. "Magnify Your World" may be just what that relative/friend is looking for.

TAU BETA FAMILIES gathered recently for some good old-fashioned fun and games — baseball, volleyball, a barbecue et al. — on the grounds of the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, where the Tau Beta Camp, located since 1934 in Columbiaville, Mich., began. A live band, a balloon man and magic show and a popcorn wagon, staffed above by JOANNE KANZLER, handing out bags of goodies to K.C. SMITH, 7, LAUREN GARGARO, 9, LISA FUGER, 10, and DAVID FUGER, 13, (left to right), added to the camp's 50th anniversary festivities. Planners of the commemorative outing were Mrs. Walter B. Ford II, honorary chairman, Mrs. William C. Ford and Mrs. William C. Finkenstaedt, co-chairmen. It was way back in 1922 that Tau Beta Association, a charitable, non-profit organization founded in 1901, realized the beneficial results camping could have for city children. So it was that children connected with the Hamtramck Community House, founded and operated by Tau Beta, were invited to spend the summer in a "rural" setting on Gaukler Point. The boys earned their board by caddying at the Country Club of Detroit. Tau Beta paid the salaries of a camp director and cook. In the late '20s, Eleanor (twice president of Tau Beta) and Edsel Ford decided to build a house on their Gaukler Point property and Tau Beta, then headed by Sally Macauley Wadsworth, began looking for a permanent campsite. In 1934, Tau Beta Camp opened in Columbiaville, on 106 acres of rolling, wooded and watered countryside. Today, the camp offers year-round residential and conference facilities for groups having self-directed programs. Large or small groups can be accommodated for meetings, training sessions, recreational outings, retreats, school or senior citizen camping. For years, Tau Beta Camp has hosted the Woodhaven Football Team for late summer practice and the annual reunion of a family of about 80 members. It continues to provide the facilities for the Michigan Diabetes Association's eight-week summer program for diabetic children, the Children's Home of Detroit and the Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, choir outings. The camp is non-profit, dedicated to making camping available to the public at the lowest possible cost. Although summer reservations are filled, there are openings in spring, winter and fall. Clubs or organizations wishing more information are invited to call Mrs. Thomas A. Garred, 885-5859, or write to Tau Beta Camp, 44 McKinley Place, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. 48236. Rental agreements and nominal fees are based upon individual requirements and needs. Guests must provide their own linens, towels, blankets, pillows and bathroom articles for all accommodations.

"Mr. Inflation" blows up a storm for Tom and Andrew Stroble, ages 6 and 11 respectively, at the Tau Beta Camp's 50th anniversary picnic on Gaukler Point in The Shores.

Flanking Tau Beta's most junior member, Sarah Dow, 14, are most senior members Esther Ford (left) and Elizabeth Wheat. They all had a wonderful time at the autumn picnic.

Fashions from yesterday/for tomorrow

The Altar Society of Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore, in celebration of the church's sesquicentennial year, will host a gala luncheon and fashion show at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club on Wednesday, Oct. 17. Walton-Pierce will present today's fall and holiday fashions. Fashions of yesteryear will be modeled by Altar Society hostesses. ## Andrea Gaw speaks vows

Dr. Stanton R. Wilson and Father Michael Ratajczak officiated at the Friday, August 3, wedding of Andrea Louise Gaw and James Frank Szewczyk in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Soloists were Carol Thousands, cousin of the bride, who sang "The Wedding Song," and Mark Scott, who sang "The Lord's Prayer." A trumpeter played the recessional.

The 5 o'clock ceremony was followed by a reception at the Detroit Yacht Club, where Cynthia Brown, another cousin of the bride, and Janna Miller attended the Guest Registry.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis L. Gaw, former Brys Drive residents who now make their home on East Jefferson Avenue in Detroit, wore a gown of white silk organza styled with a Queen Anne neckline, its high-waisted bodice fashioned of Alencon lace studded with beads and sequins.

The dress featured long sleeves of lace appliqued English net and a wide border of matching lace hemming its A-line skirt, which extended into a chapel length train. A beaded Juliet cap caught the former Miss Gaw's veil, edged in narrow Alencon lace framing her face and falling to waltz length in back. She carried a Colonial cascade of white Sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's-breath, with plumosa fern.

She was attended by honor maid Kimberly Ann Woudstra, of Apple Valley, Minn., and bridesmaids Gloria Barbaza, Laura Kiers and Diane Hentschel, the bridegroom's sister, in floor length dresses of rose organza, styled with off-the-shoulder, asymmetrical ruffles extending to their waists. Matching ruffles hemmed their skirts.

They carried cascades of deep pink Sweetheart roses and white miniature chrysanthemums, circled with lace, and wore small arrangements of matching flowers in their hair.

Flower girl Aubrie Lynn Gaw, of St. Clair, the bride's niece, wore a floor length dress of deep pink taffeta, ruffled at neckline and hem and styled with short, puffed sleeves, accented at waist and hem with ribbon and tiny bows. She carried a small, white wicker basket filled with pink and white Sweetheart roses, and wore a small arrangement of matching flowers in her hair.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Szewczyk, of Hunt Club Drive, Harper Woods, asked a Grosse Pointe North High School friend, Eric Safran, to act as best man. Groomsman were Gary Gaw, of St. Clair, the bride's brother, and two more North High School friends, Jim Ellison and Tom Berger.

Ushers were Andrew M. and David F. Szewczyk, brothers of the bridegroom, Matt Dobek, their cousin, and the bride's cousins, Doyle E. Brown II, Steven Malik and Joel Brown. Ring bearer was David A. Szewczyk, the bridegroom's nephew.

The mother of the bride selected a floor length dress of rose French silk and a corsage of white Sweetheart roses centered with one deep pink Sweetheart rose. The bridegroom's mother, in floor length rose satin and a jacket of rose and cranberry lace, chose a corsage of deep pink and white Sweetheart roses.

The wedding was videotaped by Jim Hentschel, the bridegroom's brother-in-law. The newlyweds vacationed in Toronto and at Niagara Falls, and are at home in Ann Arbor.

Special guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alexander, of St. Clair, and the bridegroom's grandmother, Amalia Dobek, of West Detroit, along with the bridegroom's godmother, Mary Ann Dobek, also of West Detroit, the bride's aunt, Mrs. Yewell Brown of Warren, the bride's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brown, of Rochester, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Malik, of Warren, and the bridegroom's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Szewczyk, of Estral Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Zigmund Kudlaczky, of Dearborn Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wieszkowick, of Inkster.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Szewczyk

Out of town guests included Elsie Bolzman, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bolzman, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bolzman and Dale Bolzman, all of Sebawaing, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Irer, of Bay City; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gudner, of Rapid City, Kathleen Woudstra, of Apple Valley, Minn.; Mrs. Charles Kettler, of Perrysburg, Ohio, and the Stanley Seldens, the Donald Seldens, the Ray Laways, the Rodney Breedings and the Leo Olsons, all of Cheboygan.

Miss Hanger wed in June

Marriage vows were spoken Saturday, June 9, at a noon ceremony in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church by Laurie Jean Hanger, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stuart T. Hanger, of Radnor Circle, and Allen Dale ("Sam") Angell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Angell, of Holland, Mich.

The rites at which Dr. David B. Antonson presided were followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, after which the newlyweds left to vacation on Paradise Island in The Bahamas. They are now making their home in Jenison, Mich.

The bride wore a gown of chiffon and Venice lace which formed a collar and the pointed cuffs of her bishop sleeves, was heavily appliqued on her bodice and hemmed her full skirt.

The gown featured a medium train. The former Miss Hanger's veil fell to slightly below her waist. She carried long stemmed, white roses, with greenery.

She was given in marriage by her brother in law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Marshall, who reside in her parents' former home on Radnor Circle. Maryleah Marshall also served as her sister's honor matron. Bridesmaids were Lisa

Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. Angell Jr.

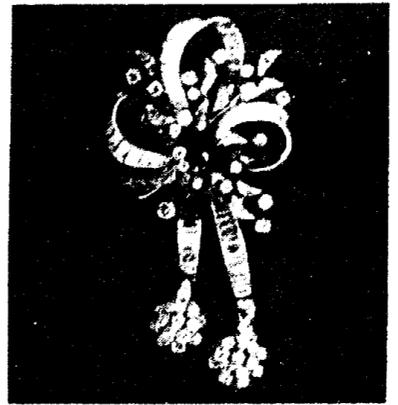

Ralph, Beth Tinsley and Maura Seidelbach.

They wore floor length dresses, lavender in color and high collared in back to form a cape effect, and carried arrangements of silk mixed flowers in spring colors, layered in pink and green, with fresh baby's breath.

Best man was Jack Murbach of Holland. Ushers were Mike Angell, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Marshall and Robert Denberdet Jr.

The mother of the bridegroom pinned a small orchid to her cocktail length dress, which was medium blue in color.

Chef Gabriel will tackle an Olympic assignment

Jeffrey M. Gabriel, Executive Chef, Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, will make his second appearance at the International Culinary Competition — often referred to as the International Culinary Olympics — in Frankfurt, Germany, this month. He won a bronze medal at the 15th International Culinary Competition in 1980.

Chef Gabriel is a member of the 1984 Regional United States Culinary Olympic Team, a veteran of 13 years in foodservice and winner of 20 awards in national and international culinary competitions. He is a 1976 graduate of the Culinary Institute of America and a member of the American Culinary Federation's Michigan Chapter.

Prior to joining the GPYC staff, he held a number of positions in foodservice including chef garde-manger for the Detroit Athletic Club where Daniel Hugelier, marking his second appearance at the International Culinary Competition as a member of the United States 1984 National Team, was Executive Chef prior to joining Schuler's Inc. in the same capacity.

In mid-September, Chefs Hugelier and Gabriel teamed up to prepare and present an invitational 1984 International Culinary Olympics Preview Dinner at Win Schuler's in West Bloomfield. Their menu ranged from Assorted Seasonal Hors d'Oeuvres through Saddle of Lamb "Wyoming" accompanied by Corn "Cheyenne" to Walnut Mousse with Bourbon. Each course was accompanied by the appropriate wine, of course.

The International Culinary Competition, held every four years, is a week-long contest during which the world's most masterful chefs offer national recipes and indigenous native ingredients, vying individually or in national teams for the gold, silver and bronze medals that symbolize culinary excellence.

The competition derives from a local cooking and food contest held on the Frankfurt fairgrounds in 1894. Today, enthusiasm for it has spread around the globe: the 1980 International Culinary Competition drew 55,000 visitors and 500 chefs from 23 countries.

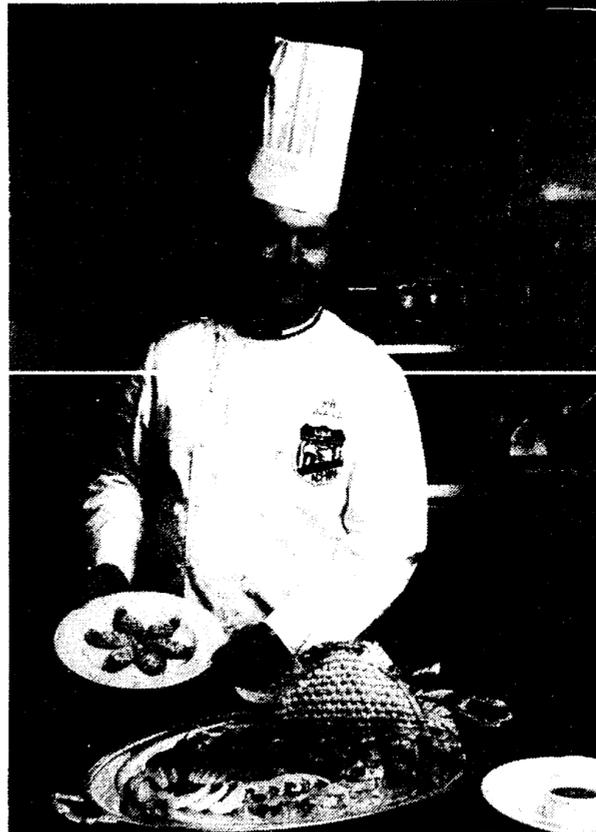

Chefs seeking a place on the United States Culinary Team must compete, under auspices of the American Culinary Federation, in one of three regional tryouts two years before the international event takes place.

They are subjected to both cold and hot food competitions. Only those who receive high marks (32 or better) in the cold food category are allowed to enter the crucial hot food competition.

Among those who received degrees from Kalamazoo College at commencement ceremonies June 9 were William N. Gigante, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gigante, of Lincoln Road; Paul L. Kratochwill, son of Dr. and Mrs. Michael J. Kratochwill, of West Doyle Place; Roxane M. Lie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kim K. Lie, of Windmill Pointe Drive; Michael F. McBrearty, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. McBrearty, of Fisher Road; Sean M. Rivard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hendrick W. Rivard, of University Place; Mary C. Cohan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Cohan, of McKinley Road, cum laude; Mary E. Hong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Haug, of Bournemouthe Circle; Thomas E. Molitor, son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Molitor, of Merriweather Road; John R. Wagner Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Wagner, of Stephens Road; Jason J. Grohbel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril A. Grohbel, of Three Mile Drive; Karen Barnes, daughter of James T. Barnes Jr., of Woods Lane; Mark E. Gabriel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gabriel, of Elford Court; and Laura Sanom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sanom, of Coventry Lane.

Julian A. Alvarez, son of Dr. and Mrs. Julian B. Alvarez, of Lakeland Avenue, has completed graduate training in anesthesia at the Mayo Graduate School of Medicine. Dr. Alvarez, who received a Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Detroit in 1976 and an M.D.

Jeffrey Gabriel, Executive Chef, Grosse Pointe Yacht Club, Member of the 1984 Regional United States Culinary Olympic Team.

In the cold food competition, the chefs prepare a series of platters (seafood, meat and hors d'oeuvre) for a minimum of eight individuals, as well as six individual plates of hot food presented cold.

During the hot food contest, each candidate is assigned a kitchen, given a box of randomly-selected food materials and directed to prepare 15 meals, each with a minimum of three courses. Candidates follow guidelines similar to those stipulated for the International Culinary Competition; they are urged to produce "the greatest effect from the simplest means" and are scored on four criteria: composition, preparation, presentation and difficulty.

Only chefs who receive the highest marks in the hot food competition are eligible for consideration for the United States Team.

Once the tryout period is over, the ACF Culinary Committee selects the team from the highest ranking finalists. Polished culinary skills alone are not enough to guarantee a place. Candidates are also judged on the neatness of their workplace, their ability to function under pressure and to make last-minute decisions — qualities that can spell the difference between success and failure in Frankfurt.

Team members are then assigned to the National or Regional Team. While all members participate in Frankfurt, involvement in the hot food competition is the exclusive responsibility of the four-member National Team chefs.

Regional Team members (there are nine of them) serve as alternates for the National Team in the hot food competition, participate in the preparation of cold food displays and can submit individual entries in other contests.

The United States is a relative newcomer to the International Culinary Olympics, for it entered the competition for the first time in 1956, but the American Culinary Team has received high marks and emerged as world champions in recent years.

In 1968 the United States earned 16 gold medals. Eight years later the team left Europe with 30 gold awards, a record high for individual achievement. In 1980 team members received 31 gold and two silver medals, and a special gold medallion for the highest possible score on a single entry.

Crowning the United States' spectacular achievements in the 1980 competition was a first place in the hot food competition, considered the most difficult to win.

Wouldn't it be nice for Our Team to repeat that feat this year, at the 16th International Culinary Competition running Oct. 12 through 18 in Frankfurt?

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth featuring, this week, a quartet of SPECIAL SALADS.

- 2 cups diagonally sliced celery

Heat water to boiling in medium-size saucepan. Add corn; cover and cook 3 to 5 minutes, or just until tender. Drain; place in large bowl.

Combine corn syrup, vinegar, oil, salt and dill in medium-size bowl. Pour over corn. Stir in onion, wax and green beans, red pepper and celery. Toss lightly. Cover; refrigerate overnight. Drain marinade. Serve in large, scooped-out tomatoes or lettuce-lined salad bowl, garnished with tomato wedges. Makes 10 servings.

Fall luncheon date for DRC

Oakland Hills Country Club will be the setting for the Tuesday, Oct. 9, luncheon sponsored by the Detroit Review Club, and drama will highlight the program as Olive Lane Horning, of Fenton, portrays Corrie ten Boom, who spent her early years in Haarlem, Holland, in her father's watchmaking shop.

During World War II Corrie, whose family hid Jews in their home during the Nazi takeover of Holland, spent 11 months in Ravensbruck Concentration Camp as a political prisoner. Her book, "The Hiding Place," details her experiences. It has been made into a feature length film.

Ms. ten Boom has since worked and taught in 64 countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain, testifying to the sustaining power of her faith in many "impossible" situations, and has written more books. Her latest is a daily devotional guide: "Each New Day."

Mrs. Horning, wife, mother and teacher of exceptional children, had heard Corrie at a retreat and was asked to talk about the Dutch woman's life to a Vacation Bible School. Preparing her presentation, she decided to "become" the woman she was attempting to explain, to use the first person and authentic costumes.

Her program is presented with her subject's consent, as Ms. ten Boom, now in her 80s and living in California, is no longer able to travel and lecture.

Official hostess for the meeting is DRC's new president, Mrs. Justin Emery. The program will be introduced by Mrs. Robert Gerisch, immediate past-president. Reservations for the day, at $11 per person, should be made by contacting Mrs. Bernard McLellan, DRC treasurer, at 383-8389 as soon as possible.

Among those planning to attend from The Pointe are the Mesdames Norman Henderson, Edward Bowman, James Mullancy, Robert Kefgen, William O. Bradley, C.P. Cantine, Frederic Beddow, James Fitzpatrick, Fred Gies, Harry Graham, Lawrence Holmes, William Howard and A. Edmond Allen.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Weekend exploits . . .

What better way to spend a cold, windy Thursday afternoon than watching the cream of the cross country crop face off at Vernier Hill? I couldn't think of one, so I fought a mini traffic jam and caught last week's matchup between the top-ranked girls' teams from North and South.

What I found when I got there was an exciting athletic event. I'd been to a boys' finals meet before, but the North-South dual contest was a first for me. There were a lot of other curious souls at the meet, and according to a North mom, that was somewhat unusual.

See, the 4 p.m. start times can make it difficult for fathers to get to the meets. And cross country has never really been a big draw, either, except to folks whose kids are running. That may be because a lot of other people don't know what they're missing.

I saw a great run, filled with strategy, close finishes and impressive times, just as cross country running should be. I saw dozens of moms and dads come out and cheer. I saw the boys' teams from North and South delay their own warm-ups because they were gathered around the course, cheering the girls on. I watched as Nancy Solterisch, one of the state's top cross country runners, lap the rest of the pack, finish with one of her best times, take a couple of deep breaths and look like she was ready to go again.

In all, it wasn't a bad way to spend an afternoon . . . even if I did take a little heat from a North parent who didn't quite understand what paper I was from and let me know how disappointed she was that my paper said rival South boasted the two best female runners in the state. (It wasn't us, honest).

That won't be decided for a couple of weeks yet, I'm happy to say, since that means I'll have a chance to spend a few more enjoyable afternoons this fall . . .

On Friday, it was over to North High. I think they should have charged admission to people to see MY athletic endeavors — I spent most of the afternoon dashing back and forth across the parking lot between the North-Roseville Brablec football game and the North-Chippewa Valley soccer game. I gave myself a 9.5 for degree of difficulty and give whoever scheduled those games in the same place at the same time a half-hearted "thanks" for the exercise I got.

I also vow never again to show up at a North soccer game when Guido Regelbrugge's Norsemen are undefeated, like they were before they played No. 9-ranked Chippewa Valley on Fridays. The Norsemen were 7-0 when I got there and 7-1 when I left. Need I say more?

On Saturday, I started the day with a trip to South to watch another unbeaten team, South, stay that way, beating Roseville, 36-0 and extending its shutout streak to three. The Devils need not worry, though, I won't be at their game this Saturday, jinxing things up and blowing the streak.

If ever I picked Prep Players of the Week, this week it would be South's Rick Waugaman and North's Will Secor and Joe Weidenbach. Can Waugaman make the transition to halfback from fullback?, folks wondered before the season. Ask Roseville. He racked up 144 yards on 17 carries, scoring three touchdowns. And against Roseville Brablec, Weidenbach tossed two touchdown passes and Secor ran for two more, amassing 110 yards.

I get the idea that last weekend was not a good one for teams from cities north of 10 Mile Road which begin with "R" . . .

Then on Saturday evening, I played chauffeur to a pair of giddy high school sophomores who were on their way to the DeLaSalle — Bishop Gallagher matchup. It also happened to be BG's homecoming game, and the BG sophomore dressed accordingly: blue shirt worn under Bishop Gallagher football jersey (class of '87), Bishop Gallagher jacket over that, two Bishop Gallagher pins on jacket, Bishop Gallagher painter's hat, blue and white earrings and blue blanket to keep warm.

Blue and White's friend (hereafter referred to as Purple Pilot), dressed in a stunning combination of purple and gold and armed herself with purple and gold pom-poms and a plethora of nasty chants about BG, compiled in her years of cheering for the purple and gold DeLaSalle Pilots. The Pilots, the Purple One assured her friend, would take home the prize: the blue, white, purple and yellow airplane propeller the two schools fight over every season.

And she was right. DeLaSalle won the game, 24-23. But I'll bet that even the double overtime contest in front of a couple thousand fans wasn't as fascinating as my ride there . . .

Blue and White: "We're going to kick their tails."

Purple Pilot: "Noooo way. DeLaSalle always wins. I just wish my brother had come home from school so I could wear his Pilots jacket."

Blue and White: "Don't sit near me, it'll start a fight."

Purple Pilot: "That's okay, I like fights."

Blue and White: ". . . so, Laura, Loretta, Katy and Nancy are going to be there."

Purple Pilot: "I mean males. Any males?"

Blue and White: "Definitely, why do you think I'm going?"

And after the game . . .

Blue and White: "We lost! It was pitiful. We should have won, we're better."

Purple Pilot: "Get out of here, two overtimes, it was great!"

Blue and White: "Yeah, she wouldn't even wear the blanket cuz it was blue . . . But the pom-poms came in handy — I used them to hide my face."

Purple Pilot: (Giggle).

Blue and White: "Well, thanks for coming. It was fun. Oh yeah, what was the score again?"

That was my weekend. Even Grosse Pointe's finest travel agency couldn't have made up an itinerary like that.

South harriers stay unbeaten

It was an impressive showing last week for South's girls' cross country team as the Blue Devils defeated Roseville on Tuesday, Grosse Pointe North on Thursday and then came back on Saturday to take first place in the Fenville Invitational.

Against Roseville, it was a chance for South's junior varsity to shine and it did exactly that by defeating Roseville's varsity by a perfect 15-50 score. Sophomores Mary Beth Hicks and Shannon Burns were the first two through the finish line, followed closely by freshman Wendy Berger.

Grosse Pointe North proved to be South's toughest opponent so far this season, as South's margin of victory was only 23-33. Junior Nancy Solterisch was the meet's overall winner, clocking the 3.1 mile course in 19:20. Senior Barb Giroux was third overall, followed by freshmen Ellen Mayer and Micha Song, who placed fourth and sixth. Juniors Kelly Riehl and Toby Ott finished ninth and 10th and senior Renuka Uthappa rounded South's varsity seven, placing 12th overall.

The win against North improved

South's dual meet record to 6-0.

South's girls' finished the week by traveling to the west side of the state to compete in the Fenville Invitational. Over 100 schools from three states competed in the event. In the girls' Class A division, South ran against 15 other schools and completely dominated the race, scoring 34 points. East Kentwood was second with 70, while Jenison placed third with 94 points.

Nancy Solterisch was again the overall winner with her time of 18:05. Giroux, Mayer and Song were each in the top 10. Other medal winners for South included Riehl, Ott and Uthappa each placing in the top 20. South's top three JV runners included Mary Beth Hicks, Kerry Bruce and Stephanie Morreale.

South's girls, currently ranked No. 6 in the state, compete in the Centerline Classic — the last major invitational before the state regionals — this Saturday, Oct. 5. The JV will run in the North Invitational.

North Fall Sports Day is Saturday

North High's fifth annual Girls' Fall Sports Day will be held this Saturday, Oct. 6. Eight of the strongest class "A" schools in Michigan will attend this year's event.

Ann Arbor Huron and Pioneer, Birmingham Marian, Dearborn and Dearborn Edsel Ford, Farmington Mercy and Grosse Pointe North and South will compete in a tennis tournament, a cross country run and a swimming relay meet.

The cross country finals will be run at Vernier Hill at 10:30 a.m., diving will begin at 10 a.m. with the swim relay finals scheduled on North's courts at 2 p.m. To add to the activity North's girls' basketball team will play South Lake with the JV game at 11 a.m. and the varsity game at 1 p.m.

Awards will be given in each sport with an All Sports trophy awarded to the school with the best overall performance in cross country swimming and tennis.

The purpose of the sports day is to showcase girls' sports. Admission to the all day event is $2 for adults and $1 for middle school students with a maximum admission of $5 per family. Admission allows entry to all of the events.

South junior Nancy Solterisch crosses the finish line ahead of the pack in last week's 23-33 victory over North.

Norsemen win easily

By Ed Comber
North High

The Norsemen racked up their second win of the 1984 football season last Friday and this time the unlucky team was Roseville Brablec. The 27-10 victory gave the Norsemen their first Bi-County victory of the year.

"We put the game away early," stated Coach Frank Sumner after the game, "I think that helped us a lot."

Statistics, for the third game in a row, recorded a one-sided battle. North outrushed Brablec 151-4, and Joe Weidenbach completed six of 10 passes for 105 yards compared to Roseville's 94. North swept Roseville Brablec in total yards, 262-98.

North took a fast and effective lead over Brablec in the first half when Will Secor scored two touch-

Pointers make college squads

Grosse Pointe high school graduates are taking their athletic talents to college again this season, with several Pointe natives listed on collegiate rosters.

Anne G. Sherer, a University Liggett School graduate, is currently in the No. 6 singles spot on the University of New Hampshire women's tennis team. The UNH sophomore had a record of 8-2 last season and hopes to better her performance this year in matches against Dartmouth and Northeastern.

Kalamazoo College boasts six Pointers playing in four sports for the Hornets this season. Soccer starters are North High graduates Mirko Mikelic, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vjouslav Mikelic, of Briarcliff Drive, Paul Bonalton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guido Regelbrugge, of Christine Court, and Mark Tirikian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tirikian, of Bournemouth Road.

Valerie Stone, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Stone, of Stephens Road, is a cross country runner at Kalamazoo and Barbara J. Haug, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Haug, of Bournemouth Road, is playing field hockey. On the Hornet football team is Mark Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Carroll, of Buckingham Road.

The University of Detroit established its very first women's cross country team this season — just in time for senior Nancy Drolshagen, of Grosse Pointe. The Our Lady Star of the Sea High School graduate is the only senior on the U of D squad, which will be led by three high school All-State runners.

Cheer Tigers, Easter Seals

The Lindell A.C., Jamie's on Seven and the Wayne County Easter Seal Society are planning parties this week to help celebrate the Detroit Tigers' successful 1984 season and benefit the Easter Seal Society.

Tonight, Thursday, Oct. 4, the Lindell A.C. on Michigan Avenue in Detroit, will host a party from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. with local celebrities and Tiger fans. Included will be drawings for prizes and a giant "congratulations" sign to be signed by all partygoers. A $10 donation at the door will include two drinks and a cheeseburger.

Then tomorrow, Oct. 5, Tiger fans can gather at Jamie's on Seven from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. to watch the Tigers in the playoffs on giant screen television, enjoy live music before and after the game, plus receive a commemorative cup and partake of popcorn, peanuts and hot dogs for a $5 donation.

In other action . . .

The boys' varsity golf team tied Dearborn in the regular play, but came out on top during the first playoff round to boost its record to 7-2.

North's girls' varsity basketball squad defeated L'Anse Creuse North, ranked No. 7 in the east area, 42-20. Paul Harms (15 points) and Celeste Sartor (12 points and 15 rebounds) led North to the win. The freshmen also beat L'Anse Creuse North. The Norsemen were led by Monique VanAssche, with 11 points, and Amy Brennan, with nine points and 11 rebounds, respectively.

North's JV football team boosted its record to 3-1 with a 38-8 win over Roseville Brablec. Bill Smith and Brad Keats combined for four touchdowns, (two each) while quarterback Jamie Wheatley connected with Joe Craparatta for a 66 yard touchdown pass. Baik Hur capped the scoring when he intercepted a Brablec pass and ran it in for a 99-yard touchdown run.

And after defeating Fraser last Tuesday and boosting their record to 7-0, North's varsity soccer team lost to Chippewa Valley, 2-1 and to Stevenson, 2-0.

ULS survives tough week

By Walter Connolly
ULS

The University Liggett varsity soccer team had a tough week, but the Knights came out of it with their undefeated record intact.

The first game of the week was Sept. 25, against Ann Arbor Greenhills. The game was played in a downpour, but the Knights managed to shut out Greenhills, 5-0. Jamie McMillan scored the first goal on a Harold Colby throw in. Dan Wood then scored his 11th goal of the season with assists from Tony Malcoun and John Birgbauer. Rookie Bob Williams tallied two goals and Rob Healy one, to finish off the scoring. The assists for these three goals went to Healy, Malcoun and Steve Eberhardt.

ULS managed to salvage a tie in a tough contest against Lutheran North on Wednesday, Sept. 26. The Knights' first goal was scored by Colby on a Birgbauer corner kick. In the second half there was a Knight jetdown, and the Lutheran North team scored two goals in less than one minute. With just moments left in the game, Frank Karabetos, who was brought up from the Knights' JV team for this contest, crossed a ball to Birgbauer in front of the net. Birgbauer passed to Mike Fozo, who scored to salvage the 2-2 tie.

On Friday, Sept. 28, the Knights traveled to Flint Carman to play the No. 5 team in Class B-C. The Knights had the long ride, a letdown in the previous game, and a highly-ranked team to contend with. Things started looking bad when the Flint Carman team opened the scoring, but Coach David Backhurst's squad prevailed scoring two spectacular goals.

The first goal was a picture perfect play as Wood sent a beautiful pass to Williams, who, making no mistake, blasted the ball into the net. The second goal was scored by Wood on a pass from Connolly. During the second half the Knights played some incredible defense. Kirk Haggarty spearheaded the Knights' defensive core of Steve Vreeken, McMillan, Colby, Steve Schmidt and Blasko Ristic. Netminder Brian David played his best game of this season.

This Friday, Oct. 5, the Knights play at home against Southfield Christian, a team they tied in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference League Championship in 1983. If the Knights are victorious in their two remaining league games, they will win the MIAC title.

JV rolls on

The ULS JV soccer team lengthened its unbroken streak to six games with a sound 5-1 win over a weak Greenhills team Sept. 25. This victory was followed by a 2-0 win over Roper School on Friday, Sept. 28.

ULS goals against Greenhills were scored by sophomore forwards Bill Reuther and Karl Meyer and freshman midfielder Frank Karabetos. After the victory, Coach Domenic Facciola commented, "This was the team's most aggressively played game so far."

The squad then traveled to Roper School, where they met a strong, determined team, winning 2-0 on goals by Karabetos, on a corner kick from Bill Reuther, and by starting goalie, Mike Africa, who that day played midfield. The victory was also made possible by the shut-out goal-keeping of rookie Mark Paul, and by the stellar defensive play of Bob Jewett, Jeff Lambrecht, Cory Hoonhout and Jeff Norris.

The Knights traveled to Southfield Christian on Friday, Oct. 5, and then come home to meet their biggest challenge of the season so far, Detroit Country Day School, on Tuesday, Oct. 9, at 4:30 p.m. (By Dave Schwab)

Netters win

The ULS girls' varsity tennis team defeated Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard on Thursday, Sept. 27, 6-1. Highlights of the match were Marcella Brane and Kathy Bianchi's stellar performance at No. 3 doubles, and Stefanie Sables and Amy Gordon's dominance at No. 4 doubles.

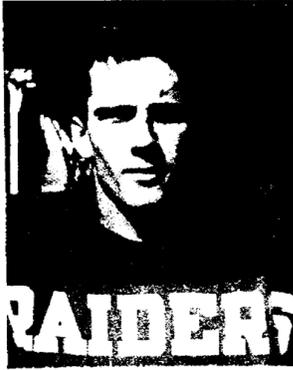

This week coach Carol von Stade's Lady Knights host Grosse Pointe South on Thursday, Oct. 4 at 4:15 p.m.

Cagers split

On Tuesday, Sept. 25, the ULS varsity basketball team beat Kingswood, 43-14. The game was closer than the score would show, but ULS definitely had the controlling hand. Chandra Oden was the high scorer with 21 points. Samantha DeSmet, with 12 points, and Susan Cleek, with 10, scored the remainder of the baskets.

On Sept. 28, ULS played a close game against Plymouth Christian, losing in the last few minutes, 37-32. With 13 points, Cleek was high scorer. DeSmet followed closely with 12.

Coach Shelley Owens' team travels to Bethesda Christian School on Friday, Oct. 5. (By Gillian Darlow)

He's a Raider

Shawn P. Whelan, who played football for South High last season, is a member of the Mount Union College football Raiders this fall. Whelan, the son of Shirley Whelan, of Wayburn Avenue, is a freshman business administration major at Mount Union. He is a 5-2, 160-pound defensive back for the Raiders.

St. Clare sports

Another Falcon win

St. Clare improved its league record to 3-0 with a 43-19 win over Detroit St. Raymond on Sept. 30. The win keeps St. Clare in the East-Side Division lead, tied with St. Matthew. The teams will face off this Sunday, Oct. 7, at noon at South High field.

Against St. Raymond, running back Chris May rushed for 159 yards, including three touchdown runs. Rob Whitty rushed for another 132 yards, which included three more scoring runs. Louis Dobbs and Paul Magielski combined for another 110 yards rushing and one touchdown.

St. Clare's girls' volleyball squad retained a perfect mark, reaching 9-0 with a 15-3, 15-2, 12-15, 15-6 victory over St. Matthew last week. Key performances were turned in by Kristen Kasprzyk, Cece Rettig, Heather Wilson and Christy Wronikowski.

The JV team, at 3-1, defeated Holy Innocents on Sept. 20, 12-15, 15-3, 15-1, 15-2. All players saw action in the win, including Beth Wronikowski, whose nine straight service points wrapped up the victory. Kathleen Melvin, Jenny Lisowski and Kelly Schock were high scorers.

The Falcon soccer team remains unbeaten with three league games to go following a 9-1 thrashing of Holy Innocents last Sunday. Jason Jacklyn scored three goals, Paul Wasinger and Darren Havern added two each and Mike Pote and Dave Birnbryer chipped in with one goal apiece.

Earning assists were Dave Kerfoot (three), Brian Havern, Mike Morandini and Mike Pote (two each) and one each for John Finucane, John Williams and Birnbryer. Dan Roarty, Jim Pote and Williams led the fine defensive effort.

St. Clare's JV team defeated St. Dunstan, 7-0, last Sunday. Goals were scored by Tim Gramling, Jeff Kerfoot and Kyle Hoyer. Kevin Dejaegh, Leif Kinning and Kevin Rauch were superior on defense.

South shutout string at three

By David Loffredo
South High

Three in a row. The Blue Devil varsity football team is 4-0 on the year and 3-0 in the EML.

But Saturday's 36-0 taming of the Roseville Wildcats was, South's third consecutive shutout, after silencing Anchor Bay, 47-0, and East Detroit, 27-0, in previous weeks.

South's first score came the same way it did in the three previous wins, on a muffed punt attempt. After the Roseville punter missed the snap, South recovered on the Roseville 10-yard line, and then had Steve Butala run around the end and put the Blue Devils up 6-0, which also ended the first quarter scoring.

In the second quarter, South recovered a Roseville fumble on the Wildcat 34-yard line. A few plays later, Rick Waugaman dove in from 2 yards out, and South led 12-0, after a missed two-point conversion.

On the ensuing drive, Trane McCloud intercepted a deflected pass and brought it to the Roseville 36, but after a series of penalties, South faced a fourth down and 43 and was forced to punt. On the punt attempt, Jeff Cunningham was roughed and had to leave the game with a knee injury.

South failed to score and on the next drive, Phil Antonson intercepted a Wildcat pass and brought it to their 30-yard line, where running back Rick Waugaman threw a 30-yard pass to Dave Arnold. This set up Waugaman's one yard dive, and the half ended with South up, 18-0.

The second half was the same story. Junior Chris Astalk bobbled the opening kick off, but then ran it 60 yards, to set up an 11-yard touchdown run by Joe Samborski, and South led, 24-0.

In the fourth quarter, South struck two more times, first on a 6-yard run by Waugaman, and then on a 16-yard run by Brian Stratton.

The victory was South's 22nd consecutive regular season win and the 14th consecutive regular season game in which the defense has allowed seven or less points.

The Blue Devils will try to improve upon these marks Friday, Oct. 5, when they travel to Port Huron Northern. Kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

JV gridders lose

The JV football team evened its record at 2-2 last week, losing to Roseville, 14-6. All of South's highlights came from the defense as Eric Nord led the way with a blocked punt and a blocked pass, and Dave Fanon had fumble recovery and a sack. Seth Lundberg also contributed in the defensive onslaught with a fumble recovery.

The team will continue its season today, Oct. 4, at 4 p.m. at home against Port Huron Northern.

Cagers are hot

South girls' varsity basketball team swept its opponents last week, upping its record to 3-3.

The team began the week with a 69-50 win over Warren Mott. Heidi Albrecht, Lisa Diehl and Ann Schwartz provided the well-balanced scoring attack with 18, 14, and 12 points, respectively. Schwartz also added 12 rebounds and Albrecht had eight assists and five steals.

The varsity cagers then beat Fraser, 51-48. Heidi Albrecht sparked the offense with 18 points.

The girls' JV team was also on a roll, sweeping opponents, Warren Mott, 38-30 and Fraser, 43-39. Against Warren, Cindy Tewes led the offense with seven points, while providing nine against Fraser. Lisa Fromm led the offense against Fraser with 11 points.

The teams will continue their season today, Oct. 4, at home. The JV tipoff is at 6 p.m., and the varsity squad will take the floor at 7:45 p.m.

The girls' freshman basketball team has gotten off to a good start, and is 2-1 on the year.

South opened its season with a 36-24 win over North High. Meg Peterson led the offense with 12 points, 10 rebounds and five steals. Carolina Gaskins and Debbie Han-neman also contributed six and five points respectively.

The girls' only loss came at the hands of East Detroit Kelly, 32-28. "We played great defense, but our offense could not score the important baskets," commented coach Al Devine. Erin Bruce led the offense with eight points followed by Megan Keller with six. Meg Peterson provided great defense, grabbing 18 boards in the loss.

L'Anse Creuse North was the unfortunate victim of the team's frustrations, as South beat the Crusaders, 34-19. Meg Peterson led the team with nine points and set a freshman record by grabbing 25 rebounds. Megan Keller contributed eight points while Carolina Gaskins had six.

The girls will continue their season at home today at 4 p.m. against Centerline.

Cross country sweep

The Blue Devil boys' cross country team increased its record to 2-2 last week, after sweeping two opponents.

South began the week with a 20-43 win over Roseville. Then came a 21-36 win over North as Jon Roberts led the way. Roberts finished first by 50 seconds, while South's Ricky Campbell took second. Kevin English, Kyle Anderson and Dan Geist also ran well for South, as the Blue Devils finished fourth, sixth and eighth.

The team will compete in the Ann Arbor Pioneer Invitational this Saturday, Oct. 5, at 9 a.m.

Golfers perfect

The golf team beat three EML opponents last week to improve their already-perfect EML record to 6-0.

The team began the week in a trimatch, where South beat Port Huron, 224-245, and Anchor Bay, 224-234. Scott Stafford led the way, shooting a 41.

A day later, the team beat Mt. Clemens, 209-218, led by Stafford who shot a 39.

The team will play again next Tuesday, Oct. 9 at 3:30 p.m. in Anchor Bay.

Barons top East Detroit

The Grosse Pointe Barons played the East Detroit Ti-Cats last weekend, coming out victorious in two games and tying the third.

The freshman squad came within three minutes of winning its game, but settled for a 6-6 tie. The first half was played pretty much at midfield with both teams failing to beat the defense. Alex Brinker had three sacks.

In the second half, the action was much the same until six minutes were left. Scott Spada mixed his plays well, relying on the running of Drew Woodruff, Adam Conlon, Mike Pitters and Mike Miller. On four occasions, the Big Red had to convert on fourth down and they did it with the great blocking of Shawn McCann, Gary Campbell, Matt Swikoski, and Harlan Camps.

Grosse Pointe finally scored on a fourth down pass play from Spada to Woodruff, but the extra point was no good. The Ti-Cats tied it on a long pass with less than three minutes to go and Paul Straske kept it that way when he batted down the extra point try.

Jack Nihem played well when he came in for the injured Spada and Brett Stebbins, Dan Henry, Jeff Thomas and Matt Carrier each played a strong game. The Baron freshmen are coached by Joe Spada and Steve Gilbert.

The JV team won its fourth game of the season, beating the Ti-Cats, 6-0. It was a wide-open game with both squads marching up and down the field, only to be stopped by fine defensive plays. The Barons were led by Steve Horn, Luke Bencie, Kevin Raymond, Matt Kaiser, John Bomier, Joe Maliszewski and Tom Dinverno. Offensively, Steve Shumerski's quick smashes into the line helped set up the winning touchdown as Steve Craparotta took the ball to the one, and Mike Koenigbauer took it in on a keeper. Jim Kutscher intercepted a Ti-Cat pass to thwart their final scoring attempt.

T & C champs are crowned

Tennis & Crumpets, the annual benefit for Children's Hospital, went into finals competition of the tennis tournament on Sunday, Sept. 16, at the Country Club of Detroit Champions in three divisions were chosen.

"A" court winners were Emily Baker and John Thompson, beating out second place finishers Toni Robinson and Roger Powers. Winning on "B" court were Gayle Gaston and Bill Dobreff, with Dr.

Margaret Douglas and Jim Adams, second. And taking first on "C" court were Cindy and Butch Hill, edging second place finishers Pat and Craig Brown.

Honorary chairman Dick and Peggy Marsh presented silver bowls to the winning pairs. According to tournament organizer Trisha Gaskins, Tennis & Crumpets participation increased by 100 in 1984 over 1983 totals. Maria Lorenzini was the event's general chairman.

Homeowners advised to lock up

Homeowners lose an average $700 each time thieves break into their homes even though a few simple steps could prevent the crime, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"The best way to reduce crime is to reduce the opportunity for the criminal to commit it," said Bob Cullen, manager of the Auto Club's home safety program. "Homeowners should follow a basic burglar-proofing plan from locks to lights to ensure the security of their homes and families."

The Auto Club paid $6.5 million dollars in home theft claims in 1983, or an average $726 for 8,974 occurrences. The number of paid losses from January through July is up 7 percent compared to the same period a year ago.

Michigan homeowners lost $65 million in belongings due to burglary in 1982. Auto Club loss records show jewelry, televisions, stereos and other electronic equipment were the most common items stolen since they can be carried away and sold easily after break-ins.

Cullen pointed out that burglars usually enter a residence through a door which is unlocked or locked with an inadequate device.

"Homeowners often have $500 or $1,000 stereos in their homes, but put a $5 lock on the door," he said.

A good protective door lock is a single cylinder deadbolt with a bolt at least one inch long. Windows also should be pinned or equipped with key locks. Extra protection can be obtained with a double-cylinder deadbolt. However, homeowners should check local ordinances to be sure double-key locks are allowed in their communities and make certain all family members have immediate access to the inside key in case of fire.

Homeowners should replace hollow-core doors with solid core or steel doors. While hollow-core doors are suitable for closet or interior doors, they usually can be easily damaged and opened by thieves and will not support heavy loads, such as deadbolts.

One of the best ways to discourage a break-in is to have household valuables engraved with serial numbers. Operation Identification engraving tools are available to AAA members at the Auto Club's 54 statewide offices. Engraved items also are easier to claim if the stolen items are found.

Homeowners also need to take extra precautions when they go on vacation.

"Do not get into habits that burglars can follow, such as keeping certain lights on when you are away from home or leaving a car in a designated spot while you are on vacation."

"Make your house look as if someone is at home at all times to prevent a burglar from making an easy hit," he said.

Cullen recommended using an electric light timer which turns lights on and off at different times on different days and occasionally turning on a radio or television set when leaving for short periods of time.

Some additional tips include trimming trees and shrubbery so a burglar trying to break in cannot use them for cover, having someone pick up the mail and cut the grass while you are on vacation and getting involved in a local Neighborhood Watch program.

New law affects investors

Investors are being hit with a barrage of new tax rules that are part of the 1984 Deficit Reduction Act (or Tax Reform Act). Whether you're a stock market player, a bond trader or a real estate investor, these rules will affect your pocketbook — sometimes favorably, sometimes diversely — according to the Michigan Association of CPAs.

One of the most important changes gives investors favorable tax treatment on a capital gain. Under the new law, you must hold an investment for six months and a day to qualify for long-term capital gain treatment and avoid tax on 60 percent of your gain. The previous time was a year and a day. This shortening of the capital gains holding period applies to assets purchased before Jan. 1, 1988.

The shortened "long-term" holding period has a double edge: It now takes half the time — six months and a day — to get a long-term loss and that's not to your advantage for tax reasons. One dollar of a long-term loss is worth 50 cents off your taxable income, but one dollar of short-term loss is worth a full dollar off your income.

Bond buyers should be aware of changes in the way market-discount bonds will be taxed. More than half of all bond market activity involves market-discount bonds; these are previously issued bonds being traded on the secondary market. Usually they are offered at discounted prices because changes in interest rates have made their annual yield less attractive.

If you buy a bond for $800 on the secondary market, but it is redeemable at maturity for $1,000, you have a market-discount bond. Under the old tax law, upon selling the bond the difference between the discounted rate and the $1,000 face value was taxed as a capital gain. Sixty percent of the $200, if it was a long-term gain, was not taxable. Under the new law, this $200 gain from the market discount is treated as fully taxable interest income when the bond is sold. Bonds issued on or before the effective date of the new tax law, July 18, 1984, are not affected by this new provision, nor are tax-exempt municipal bonds, bonds with maturities of less than a year and U.S. Savings Bonds.

Real estate investors and people who buy homes as rental properties will have to contend with smaller write-offs for depreciation. Previously, the full cost of a building could be written-off over 15 years. Now the shortest period in which it can be written-off is 18 years, resulting in smaller deductions over a longer time period.

Another provision that affects real estate investors concerns below-market interest rate loans. When a buyer and a seller agree to a below-market financing deal on a real estate purchase, the price of the real estate is higher. That's because the buyer agrees to pay a higher price in return for a lower financing rate — what is lost to the seller in interest income is offset by a higher price. The seller may desire this below-market interest financing because it provides less interest income and greater capital gain, which is more favorable for tax purposes. The buyer may seek this kind of below-market financing because the higher the price — or basis — for the real estate, the more you can deduct for depreciation.

Under the old law, the buyer could more quickly recoup his/her investment under a 15-year depreciation formula than by deducting interest on a long-term mortgage. Under the new law, the government will attribute a minimum interest rate to both the buyer and seller when the rate they agree on is lower than an IRS average rate. Currently, the IRS rates, which are based on an index of treasury bonds, would impute a minimum interest rate of about 10 percent.

Since these rules do not become fully effective until Jan. 1, 1988, CPAs say that those contemplating below-market financing deals may want to act quickly to complete the deal before the deadline. Keep in mind that these new rules do not apply to purchases of principal residences that cost under $250,000 and farms under $1 million.

Parents night at South High

Parents of South High students will go back to school tonight to meet their children's teachers and become more familiar with the high school curriculum.

Parents will follow an abbreviated version of their child's schedule with the zero hour computer classes scheduled to begin at 7:08 p.m. and the first period schedule to begin at 7:30 p.m. Each of the eight periods will last 12 minutes, with the last class ending at 9:57 p.m.

During each period, teachers will discuss the course, describe methods used to develop skills involved in the class and explain the study guides, assignments and tests, according to Dr. Joseph Spagnoli, principal.

Refreshments will be served during the evening in Cleminson Hall.

Pierce will host night for parents

Pierce Middle School will hold its annual Back-to-School Night, Thursday, Oct. 18, at 7:30 p.m. for parents of students.

During Back-to-School Night, parents attend their children's classes in six, 10-minute class periods. They will meet teachers and hear about curriculum, class procedures and expectations.

"We feel that parents can understand and participate in today's educational process much more effectively after they have visited the school and met our faculty and administrator," said Donald Bassett, Pierce principal.

Back-to-School Night has traditionally been one of the best attended evening events at Pierce.

The program will end with socialization and refreshments in the gymnasium at 9:30 p.m.

Energy service available

Wayne-Metropolitan Community Services Agency, a private, non-profit agency, has been awarded a contract by the Bureau of Community Services/Michigan Department of Labor to provide low-income weatherization services to the Wayne County communities of Grosse Pointe, Grosse Pointe Park, Grosse Pointe Shores, Grosse Pointe Farms, Grosse Pointe Woods, Harper Woods, Hamtramck and Highland Park.

Households whose annual income falls at or below 125 percent of the federal poverty level ($6,225 for a household of one, $8,400 for two, $10,575 for three, $12,750 for four) are eligible to apply for weatherization. The service is free to renters and homeowners. The work is done by licensed, private contractors who are paid through federal and state funding.

Work performed on any particular home is determined by pre-inspection and may include caulking, weatherstripping, door sweeps, insulation, attic vents, floor and crawlspace insulation, electric water heater insulation and storm windows.

Persons interested in applying for the program should contact the Wayne-Metropolitan Community Services Agency Weatherization Program at 843-2550.

Most home fires caused by stoves, chimneys

Woodburning stoves and chimneys are the top causes of home fires related to heating sources and accounted for nearly $12 million in damages in Michigan last year, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Throughout Michigan last year, 5,400 fires at one- or two-family dwellings are caused by wood stoves or chimney fires. The number of such fires has nearly doubled in five years and they have caused 67 deaths and more than 2,500 injuries in the past seven years.

A survey of Auto Club homeowners insurance claims in 1983 shows the average loss related to all home fires was $2,500 and was an estimated $3,200 for those caused by woodburning stoves. Losses from wood heating fires alone represented 11 percent of all fire losses covered by Michigan insurers last year.

"Homeowners can do something about fire prevention," said Bob Cullen, manager of the club's home safety and security program. "For example, woodburning stoves, fireplaces and chimneys all should be installed and inspected regularly by a technician certified through such organizations as the National Chimney Guild and Wood Heating Alliance."

"When having a woodburner installed, homeowners should make certain double-walled flues are used to provide adequate heat transfer and to avoid possible ignition of other combustible materials in the heating system," Cullen said. "Improperly installed woodburners will dry out wall studs to the flash point within a year and could cause a fire."

"In addition, only buy a wood-burning stove that has been safety tested by an authority, such as the Underwriters Laboratories, Inc., or a building code group," said Cullen.

The Auto Club recommends this safety list for homeowners:

- Check with local fire and building officials to ensure your heating sources meet installation and inspection codes.
- Contact your insurance company for proper homeowners coverage requirements.
- Keep combustibles, such as drapes, clothing and Christmas trees, away from a stove or fireplace.
- Protect floor and walls around heating source with noncombustible covering or hearth.
- Following removal, put ashes in a covered metal container in a safe place outside the home.
- Have chimneys regularly swept for creosote build up and inspected for cracks by a professional.

"It's essential to keep chimneys of all heating sources clean and properly maintained," Cullen advised. "Smoke condenses in the chimney, creating a flammable tar, creosote, which is the primary cause of chimney fires."

The Auto Club also suggests homeowners install at least one smoke detector on each floor, develop an emergency fire escape plan for the family and practice family fire drills on a regular basis.
