

Water now to help avoid tree loss in spring

By Ronald J. Bernas
Staff Writer

The long-reaching effects of this summer's drought may not be known for some time, but there are some steps people can take now to prevent tree and shrub loss in the spring.

"As the lakes go down, the water table goes down," said Carl Dollhopf, regional supervisor of southeastern Michigan, for the Michigan Department of Agriculture. "This drought did take a lot of the water levels down."

If the Pointes were farther inland, the water table would not have been as affected, but being on the shoreline like they are, it is imperative to water trees and shrubbery now, until the first killing frost to prevent foliage burning and even death of trees.

"It's a good idea every two or three days to water the trees, especially the evergreens and the broadleaf shrubbery like rhodedendrons and azaleas," he said.

Recent rains have helped the situation, but if, in November, there is a dry spell, watering must be continued to insure survival of the trees and shrubbery in the spring.

Jean Rice, a member of the Grosse Pointe Shade Tree Council, is urging residents, especially those with newly planted trees, to water to insure a healthy tree.

"The ability of the tree to last to March depends on how much water they have in their system at the first killing frost," which is usually in the middle of November, Rice said.

People with young and old trees should be watering trees with a slow soak for three to four hours a week until the time of a killing frost.

"Not only will it help the tree survive, it's cost effective, because it will save on the replacement cost of the trees, many of which were planted at city expense," Rice said.

If the tree survives the winter with less water than is needed, it will be under stress in the coming year, which makes it more susceptible to diseases and insect infestations.

Evergreens can also be protected for the coming winter by spraying them with an anti-desiccant — a waxy-like substance that traps moisture in the tree. "It's a very good alternative to burlap," Rice said.

But with all these warnings, it is important to not over-water. Dollhopf and Rice both say that too much water is just as bad as not watering at all.

Watch the weather reports and adjust your watering schedule to fill in when there is a dry spell and in the spring, you can have a live and healthy tree.

Grosse Pointe Farms Mayor Joseph Fromm was one of the first to ride into Cottage Hospital's new parking garage in the Holly Motorette, loaned for the occasion by Holly Carburetor. Fromm was one of many dignitaries at the "We're all decked out!" party Friday. The parking structure officially opened Tuesday. Story is on page 21A.

Detroit Strategic Plan

Implementation moving slowly, residents are told

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

With almost a year having gone by since the publication of the Detroit Strategic Plan, there is little tangible evidence of the plan's implementation, but Grosse Pointers were asked to be patient last week.

After almost a year of work, "The Report of the Detroit Strategic Planning Project" was published in November 1987. The plan was initiated by the Detroit Renaissance Foundation, with the support of Detroit Mayor Coleman A. Young.

The final report came to some controversial conclusions regarding Detroit and its suburbs, and it outlined action plans for improving Detroit and its residents.

"We're working hard, but very slowly," said Frank T. Judge, executive director of the Detroit Strategic Implementation Office. "It's going to take time. I know people are apprehensive because they don't see things happening."

Judge, a Park resident and an executive on loan from the Ford Motor Co., made the comments Oct. 26 at the War Memorial during a panel discussion concerning Detroit's Strategic Plan and its impact on Grosse Pointe. The discussion was presented by the War Memorial Council of Sponsors.

The Strategic Plan was developed by five task forces comprising some 200 members. The areas covered by each task force were race relations, education, jobs and economic development, crime and image.

age Task Force.

Each of the panelists gave a brief overview of the task force's findings and recommended action plans.

Probably the most interesting part of the evening of was a slick, well-produced video presentation of what Detroit would be like in 1997 under the plan's vision.

With comparisons to John Kennedy's "man on the moon" speech and Martin Luther

Residents on Strategic Plan Executive Committee

Many prominent Grosse Pointe residents were involved in the developing of Detroit's Strategic Plan. Those listed as members of the executive committee include:

- George N. Bashara Jr., vice president, general counsel and secretary, Federal Mogul Corp.
- Beverly Beltaire, president, PR Associates Inc.
- Charles T. Fisher III, chairman and president, National Bank of Detroit.
- Alfred R. Glancy III, chairman and chief executive officer, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.
- E. Daniel Grady, vice president of public relations and public affairs, Michigan Bell Telephone Co.
- Joseph L. Hudson Jr., president and chief executive officer, Detroit Medical Center.
- Peter W. Stroh, chairman and chief executive officer, The Stroh Brewery Co.
- William P. Vittoe, president, Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Pointer of Interest Margaret Grinvalsky

By Ronald J. Bernas

With holidays approaching, many people get set to catch up, through greeting cards, on letters they should have answered months ago.

One Farms woman recently caught up with a friend she hadn't written to in some 40 years. Actually "caught up" isn't really the correct term, because the two had never met before.

Margaret Grinvalsky was still Margaret Palker and was living in Connecticut when she began a lifelong friendship with Esther Bolitho in the early 1930s. And when they first met this August, it was like "the reunion of two sisters — we cried," she said, smiling.

As a Girl Scout in Torrington, Conn. in 1932, Grinvalsky was

Last hearing scheduled for Pointe Plaza

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

The proposed medical-professional-retail complex at Moross and Mack known as Pointe Plaza faces its last public hearing Nov. 15.

The project is being developed by St. Clair Health Corp., parent of the adjacent St. John Hospital in Detroit, and Schostak Brothers & Co., of Southfield, and has been in the process of getting municipal approvals since it was first announced in February 1987.

The 10-acre parcel lies in Detroit and Grosse Pointe Woods at the northwest corner of Mack and Moross. The public hearing is required by the city of Detroit due to rezoning requests required to develop the Detroit portion of the property and will be held at the auditorium at St. John Hospital at 7:30 p.m.

According to Detroit city planner Tyrone Miller, the Detroit Planning Commission is recommending approval of the rezoning requests. Some of the Detroit property is zoned for open parking and the rest is zoned for high-density residential (multi-family). The land has to be rezoned for a shopping center district to allow the Pointe Plaza development.

According to Woods Planning Commission President John Kennedy, all requirements for Pointe Plaza have been met and the project has been approved by the city of Grosse Pointe Woods. City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen said Friday he had no idea what was holding up the project.

Earlier this year the demolition of the 1950s vintage Pointe Plaza shopping strip was completed. Schostak had planned to begin pouring foundations for the new buildings in September. Because of the delays in getting approvals and the necessary rezonings, Schostak now hopes to build the foundations this month, if the Detroit City Council approves the zoning changes.

Earlier plans for the new Pointe Plaza complex called for a four-story parking garage for 1,188 cars, a four-story Moross Building to house doctors' offices and administrative personnel from the St. John Hospital, and a four-story Mack Building to be leased to attorneys, accountants and other non-medical professionals.

At the ground level will be a glass atrium with 20-foot walkways for upscale retail shops. Two ground-level parking lots for up to 275 cars were planned.

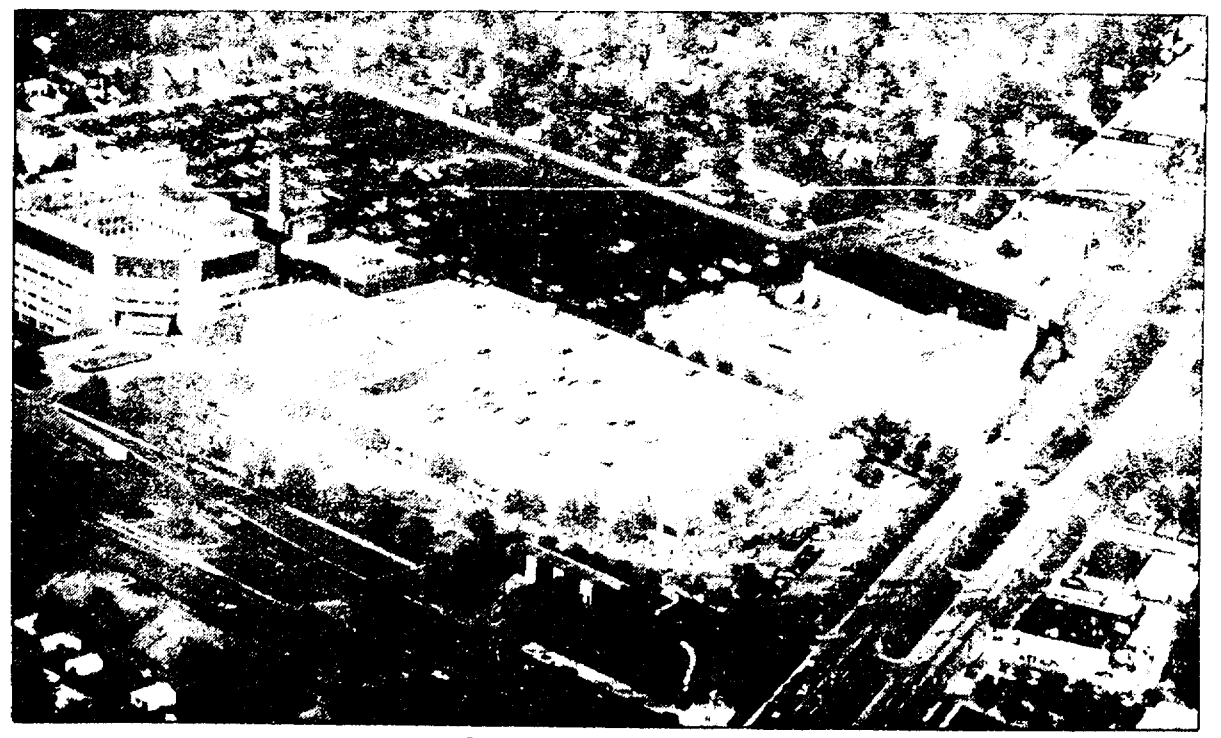

According to Miller, the plans have changed since the project was first announced. His records show a five-story medical-administrative building on Moross, a five-story office building on Mack and a two-level parking structure to accommodate 1,400 vehicles. He said 64,000 square feet of special retail space will be on the ground level.

The new buildings and St. John Hospital will be linked with covered walkways.

When the project was announced in February 1987, Schostak had hoped to open the medical-administrative building on Moross by the end of this year, and completion of the project in early 1989.

Representatives of Schostak could not be reached for comment on the final details of the project or its new completion date.

Making final plans for the St. Clare of Montecalco Colonial-Country Art Show and Sale this Saturday, Nov. 5, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the church social hall are, from left, Archconfraternity members Mar-Jo Conway, exhibition director, Evelyn Barlow, Sue Ternes, Angela Rossi, Margaret Galloway, Archconfraternity president Rose Rossi and Jessie Fenech.

Show hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $1. The entrance to the parking lot is from Mack Avenue.

The show will feature demonstrations in and sale of weaving, woodenware, tinware, samplers, quiltmaking, needlework, dried flowers, herb wreaths, dolls, basketry, boxes and more. Archconfraternity members will have a boutique featuring pantry items, holiday ornaments, jewelry, decorative wreaths and a bake sale booth. A Country kitchen will serve homemade soup, salad, coney, beverages, snacks and dessert.

For more information, call 886-2132.

Speeder ditches truck, eludes Shores police

A speeding driver on Lakeshore last week decided he could better shake a pursuing police officer in Grosse Pointe Shores by abandoning his vehicle and taking off on foot.

He was right.

On Oct. 25 Public Safety Officer G. Boudreau clocked a light green pickup truck traveling south bound on Lakeshore near Renaud at about 52 mph. The officer made a U-turn and followed the driver westbound on Vernier. When Boudreau put on his lights and siren, the truck slowed and turned onto Michaux Lane.

As he was turning, the man jumped out of the vehicle and fled on foot, going west through yards. Boudreau stopped to remove the keys from the truck's ignition.

The last the officer saw of the fleeing speeder was his heels as he crossed Vernier and disappeared into someone's backyard. A search of the area failed to turn up the man on foot.

Shores police impounded the vehicle, which had an expired license plate. The truck is registered to a Caro man, but police do not know if he was the driver. Boudreau said in his report, however, that he could identify the driver.

The Shores Public Safety Department is holding the truck, waiting for the owner to pick it up. As of Monday, no one has come to claim the truck. Public Safety Chief Dan Healy said, however, that sooner or later someone will pick up the truck, and Boudreau will be on hand to see if the claimant was the driver.

Lundy is candidate for state board

Marilyn F. Lundy, a 42-year resident of Grosse Pointe, is a candidate for the State Board of Education.

She was nominated by the Republican Party at its state convention in September, and is seeking one of the two eight-year terms vacant on the board.

She is a graduate of the University of Detroit with a bachelor of science degree (summa cum laude) with a major in philosophy.

Lundy is the mother of eight children and has long been active in educational affairs, both as a parent and as a member of boards (University of Detroit, Star of the Sea and St. Ambrose Academy).

Because of her broad experience in administration, governance and government contracts, her familiarity with both suburban and urban concerns and needs, and her long involvement in educational affairs, she believes she would offer a strong new dimension on the State Board of Education. She has been endorsed by The Detroit News and the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

Her husband, C. Bradford Lundy Jr., has been a trustee of Grosse Pointe Shores for 25 years and a member of the St. John Hospital board for 19 years.

Why my parents will vote on Tuesday, November 8

Fourth-graders at the Grosse Pointe Academy were asked to write why their parents were going to vote in this Tuesday's general election. Here are their answers:

From Barbara Markus' class

Summers

Tracy Summers: My parents are only going to vote if they think that the person is good enough for what they are running for. If they are not good, they will not vote for that person.

Murg

Bradley Murg: My parents will vote on Tuesday because it is a privilege granted in the Constitution. It is also a great thing to do because one vote could change who is president of the United States. That one vote could change the course of history.

Ireson

Bobby Ireson: My parents are going to vote because it is a privilege that is granted in the U.S. Constitution. Every vote counts. One president could change history.

Drummy

Karen Drummy: My parents are voting on Tuesday because it is a privilege. When I grow up I am going to vote, also.

From Carlitta Cabell's class

Hogue

Christie Hogue: My parents will vote on Tuesday for the following reasons: 1) they are not pleased with the way the country is being run presently; 2) they feel that a complete change is necessary for a better America; 3) they would like to see improvements in education, less crime, more concern for the elderly and the homeless; and 4) they would like to see a president who has the interest of the country at heart.

Messacar

Court Messacar: My parents feel it is their privilege to vote and so they are going to vote on Tuesday. They feel that if they don't vote and someone they don't like is elected, they are to blame. In many countries you can't vote; and that is another reason why they will vote. They think you should, too.

Meyers

Zachary Meyers: My mom will vote because it is a Constitutional right and many other countries don't have that power. She votes not as much for the political party, but for the candidates' political views. By voting, it's an indirect way of having a say in the government. She votes because she cares about the quality and ethical code of our leaders.

Stephanie Murg: My parents will vote because if they don't, the people who tally up the votes will not know if this is the president that everyone wants. I think everybody should vote and it should be a law. I see lots of television commercials for people to vote. Every single American should vote. It is a privilege; you should not take such privileges for granted. Everybody thinks their vote doesn't count, but the next president could win by a single vote if that were the case.

Murg

From Ann Fitzpatrick's class

Zewditu Asfaw: My parents will vote, because they feel it is very important for every United States citizen who is registered to vote. They want to select a candidate that will express their views, and beliefs and express the freedom and rights of this country.

Beth Teagan: My dad feels that it is his duty to vote because some countries won't let their people vote. It is his duty to vote as a U.S. citizen. My mom chooses and votes for candidates whose opinions are like hers. The government is by the people, for the people, and my mom wants to have her say.

Elementary enrollment is up; middle, high schools down

By Margie Reins Smith
Staff Writer

The annual fourth Friday count of public school students — Oct. 28 — has not turned up any surprises in Grosse Pointe.

"We're seeing the same pattern we've seen for the last few years," said Superintendent John Whritner. "The elementary boomlet is working its way through."

Enrollment of elementary students increased by 114 since the fourth Friday in October 1987. Middle school enrollment declined by 27 students. High school students declined by 197.

Grosse Pointe's total public school enrollment was 7,228, down 110 from last year.

In the next two years, Whritner said he expects a decline in the number of high school students; a plateau, then a slight increase at the middle school level; and an increase in elementary school students.

He said he did not expect the numbers to warrant changes in the numbers of elementary, middle or high schools in Grosse Pointe. "The data shows us being comfortable," he said. "Elementary schools are using every one of their rooms. It's getting crowded, but not too much so. At the high schools, teachers are getting their own home rooms and there's less movement of teachers around the buildings."

"Special education students are using more space at Brownell and the two high schools," Whritner said.

David King, director of support services for the Grosse Pointe Public Schools, said that the only surprise was about 50 or 60 more kindergartners than expected. "Kindergarten enrollment is traditionally very difficult to predict," he said.

King said that a detailed report of this year's count — and its significance — has not been completed yet.

King's projections for the 1988-89 school year were for 3,158 children at the elementary level; 1,526 at the middle schools; and 2,531 at the high school level. Actual counts were 3,162 elementary (four more); 1,483 middle school (43 less); and 2,503 high school (28 less).

Next year will be the fourth year in a row for a drop in enrollment, and the last year for a big decline, King said. "Elementary numbers are going to grow a little bit in the next two years.

Freshman float may have been misjudged

By Margie Reins Smith
Staff Writer

Grosse Pointe South's freshman float may have missed a second place award at South's Oct. 15 homecoming festivities because of the controversy surrounding the theme of the float, which made an indirect reference to alcohol.

The huge athletic shoe moved up and down, its toe crushing tiny Anchor Bay Tars' helmets, making them into a keg of 'tar whine.' The caption: "Make 'em whine."

"I personally thought it was an excellent float," said South Assistant Principal Bernie LeMieux. "I had reservations about the theme. But it was well under way when it came to my attention. I advised the freshmen that there might be a problem."

LeMieux said he told the class to make their own decision on the matter. They decided to continue with the float.

Rod Scott, South social studies teacher and faculty sponsor for the Student Association (SA) for the last 20 years, said, "The SA did its job. Its job was to select judges, instruct the judges, provide criteria for judging, and tabulate the ballots. The SA is not to be faulted in any way.

"One judge elected to give the freshman float all zeros because the theme had a message related to alcohol. The judge thought (the message) was not appropriate."

"Make 'em whine" was the theme for the homecoming float for South's freshman class. The toe of a huge athletic shoe moved up and down, stomping on Anchor Bay helmets, crushing them into whine. The float placed third.

Criteria for judging floats, Scott said, includes the design of the float, basic construction, decoration quality, color coordination, and caption related to the design.

Jack Coury, ninth grade civics teacher and faculty adviser for the freshman class, said the controversy is over. Homecoming is in the past. "There's been too much emphasis on this. I'm sure the rules (for judging) will be changed."

Coury added that he is totally opposed to alcohol consumption by anyone under 21. "But I approved the design," he said, "because the play on words — the alcohol connotation — didn't occur to me until about a week and a half before homecoming. It was too late.

"We weren't endorsing alcohol," he said.

He added that the float was perfect; "In fact, magnificent. This was built by ninth grade kids. The kids had a good experience. They produced an outstanding float. They had a tremendous amount of fun for a couple of weeks. I was proud of them.

"There was some initial grumbling (after the awards were announced.) But homecoming is ancient history now."

Scott said that a homecoming evaluation is planned for Nov. 7. A committee of parent sponsors, SA officers, class officers, student committee heads, faculty sponsors, administrators and representatives of the Mothers' Club will meet (as they do after every homecoming), discuss the event, and make recommendations for changes for the next year.

"We'll deal with this at the school," said Coury, "and this will never happen again."

Woods woman fleeced of $1,430

Three people robbed a trusting Grosse Pointe Woods woman of $1,430 last week after the woman invited them into her home in the 2200 block of Al-lard.

According to Woods public safety reports, a man came to the woman's door Oct. 27 at 1:45 p.m. and introduced himself as a new neighbor. He told the woman he noticed one of her shingles has fallen off and he offered to fix it for free. The Woods woman accepted the kind offer and invited him into the house.

After walking throughout the house, the man then proceeded to go down to the basement to apparently get tools to fix the roof. Before doing so, he asked if his daughter and her baby could come in and wait in the house instead of the car while he fixed the roof. The resident agreed and the woman and her child waited in the kitchen.

About 15 minutes later, the man said he had to take his daughter and the child home and he would return with tools to fix the roof. He gave the woman a name and two phone numbers where he could be reached. He never returned, and the name and phone numbers proved to be false.

The Woods woman later found that a strong box with $1,400 was missing, along with another $30 that was in an envelope in the same closet as the strong box.

The Woods police reports describe the three individuals as having dark skin and black hair and eyes. The man is thought to be 50 to 55 years old and about 5 feet 10 inches tall. The woman is about 30 years old, 5-foot-2 and wore a dark blue coat. The child was about 3 years old.

Girl Guides as they visited briefly in her town on their way to an international Girl Scout camp in New York.

At lunch, a girl from New Zealand mentioned that girls in her troop wanted pen pals from America (letters written to pen pals counted toward a communications badge) so addresses were exchanged, and in a few months she received a letter from Esther Bolitho, a Girl Guide (which is what Girl Scouts are called in the British-affiliated countries) in Nelson, New Zealand.

They wrote about what their scout troops were doing, and other things that young girls write about, and they sent gifts to each other. Grinvalsky received a doily embroidered by Bolitho with the map of New Zealand, an item she still keeps under glass on her dressing table.

Bolitho received a necklace from Grinvalsky, which she wore on her wedding day.

The two women continued exchanging letters about every six weeks for 20 years, writing in detail about their weddings — they were married within a year of each other; their children; and how each had stayed active in scouting. They exchanged photographs, too, and each has photos of the other's family in their photo albums.

But in 1950, when both happened to move at the same time, they lost touch and the letters they had written to each other were returned.

"It was very sad when that letter was returned," Grinvalsky said. "But I had hoped we would return to being in touch sometime."

They hadn't corresponded since then, but Bolitho was never far from Grinvalsky's thoughts, and when an opportunity presented itself for Grinvalsky and her husband Henry to go "down under" for an international convention, she started an earnest search for Bolitho, who was now Esther Rogers.

(The real reason for the trip, according to Grinvalsky's husband, a retired pathologist, was not the conference, but rather the couple was celebrating the first time in 19 years that none of their nine children were in college.)

Letters to the Girl Guides office in New Zealand, and the Voter Registration Electorate Office in Christchurch (where Rogers was last heard from) were answered quickly and the ad-resses were exchanged. The Girl Guides office called people in the area with the last name of Bolitho, hoping to find a relative, and they located Esther's brother. The addresses were exchanged and the pen pals' first letters to each other in 38 years passed in the mail.

The Grinvalskys' children bought them an early Christmas present, a video camera-recorder, to film the reunion, and in July, they set out for Australia and New Zealand. When they arrived at their hotel in New Zealand, the Rogers' phone number was waiting for them. They set up a meeting for the next day.

"It was just like meeting an old friend, or a long-lost sister. There were tears on meeting and on parting," Grinvalsky said.

They had high tea (still a big custom in New Zealand); attended a New Zealand Symphony concert because Rogers remembered Grinvalsky's love of music, and toured the area, all the while catching up on 40 years of lost correspondence.

They discovered they had both been active in scouting for close to 40 years. Grinvalsky was both troop leader, active parent, and started a Brownie Troop when her daughter wanted to join and there weren't enough troops to go around. She was a Cub Scout leader for her sons, but went back to the girls. "I just like working with the girls better," she said.

While living on Long Island, she received the Big Apple Award from the Girl Scout district in recognition of her work with scouting there.

In reflecting on their friendship, Grinvalsky said, "I think we got along because we were so interested in scouting, and because we both liked doing activities outdoors," she said.

Grinvalsky calls herself "an ordinary active mother" whose activities came because of her nine children. She helped on PTAs, played violin with the symphony in Wisconsin where the family lived for a while. She volunteers at Bon Secours, with Red Cross, and visits the home-bound parishioners at St. Paul as a eucharistic minister.

"I find it very rewarding," she said of her volunteer work. "I get more out of it than I could ever give."

Their children are scattered across the country from southern Florida to northern Wisconsin and from New York City to Boulder, Colo., and Grinvalsky has cut back on her activities so they can take trips without the bother of getting time off.

"Looking back, I don't think I would change anything, we've been very fortunate," she said. "There is one thing I'd change. I would have finished my degree in music or sociology, or both. Even if I didn't use it for a career, I think it could have helped better me."

"I've been very fortunate, I have a loving family, all of whom are very individual and successful," she said.

Margaret Grinvalsky and Esther Rogers catch up on old times while in New Zealand.

New Age thinking to be explored

Channeling, meditation, crystals and health foods are just a few of the topics Betty Matthaei will discuss during her lecture, Wednesday, Nov. 9, 8 p.m. at the War Memorial.

Matthaei is host of the radio and TV program "Health Yourself" and is former owner of Betty's Grocery Store. Through her work with natural foods and nutrition, she has been part of the development of the revolutionary New Age world view for the past 20 years.

New Age thinking questions beliefs widely held by our society and offers new understanding of issues as diverse as ecology, health, spirituality and social justice.

Her studies have taken her to shamans and herbalists in Africa, medicine men in Detroit and channelers in Santa Fe. She has also worked with Shirley MacLaine and is now studying with Jean Houston in New York.

The program is a presentation of the War Memorial Council of Sponsors. Tickets are $5 per person. Advance purchase suggested. For additional information, call 881-7511.

Will the Bush of '80 return as president?

With less than a week left in the presidential campaign, the race is all but over, according to the pollsters, the pundits and the professional politicians who are monitoring the contest. So perhaps it is not too early to consider what kind of a president George Bush will make, if he wins as expected.

Some of us liked Bush better in 1980 when he carried the Pointes as well as the state in the GOP presidential primary than we do today. Since 1980, he has shifted his positions with respect to abortion, Reaganomics and other issues. And while he was a tough campaigner in 1980, he did not exhibit the negative streak that has occasionally appeared in 1988.

Yet it is true that it is one thing to campaign against other Republican candidates, as Bush did in 1980, and quite another to seek the presidency against a candidate of the opposing party. And while Bush has been criticized for the low road he has often taken in 1988, his opponent, Michael Dukakis, has often been guilty of pursuing that same path.

In his debates with Dukakis and in later speeches, however, Bush has given hints of some of the more constructive approaches we might expect if he is elected president. He called for a kinder and gentler America, often displayed a more compassionate nature himself, seemed to break with President Reagan by recommending more federal action to deal with education and environmental issues, and even proposed a somewhat limited federal program for child care.

Unfortunately, however, his campaign still retained its dark side on occasion. One commentator referred to Bush's campaign as both "sweet and sour," and cited as evidence some of the exaggerated charges Bush made against his opponent in the same speeches in which he took the high road to a gentler America.

Bush's commercials include the claim that he is "the best qualified" candidate to have been nominated in the 20th century. On the basis of his experience in both foreign and domestic affairs, as well as head of the Central Intelligence Agency and the Republican Party, a good case can be made for that high rating for his qualifications.

It is also true, however, that presidents win high ratings on the basis of their accomplishments. Some men grow in office and others just swell, Woodrow Wilson once said. It also has been said that some men aspire to the presidency in order to be somebody, while others seek the office in order to do something. We aren't yet sure which category George Bush will fit into because he has not spelled out in detail his goals for the future.

The kind of an administration we can expect from Bush will be tipped early when he selects his Cabinet and his other top advisers. Despite his background in government, Bush did not gain much respect, even from Republicans, by his choice of his running mate. Sen. Dan Quayle obviously was not the best choice available, even though he has proved to be better than some people expected.

That was the first major decision Bush made and it was not a notable one. The kind of a campaign Bush has waged in 1988 also must be blamed in part on the vice president's choice of his campaign managers and handlers. The point is that we can hope he'll make better selections once he is in the White House.

As we've said, Bush is partly responsible for the negative sides of the campaign, although Dukakis and his campaign managers are not blameless. But looking back at 1980, we can see that Bush can follow a higher road, he can deal with his opponents without name-calling and he can be responsive to the higher aspirations of the American people.

Plenty of problems remain. The future level of defense funding, the federal deficit and the trade deficit are among the major issues that deserve more specific consideration than either Bush or Dukakis has given them during the campaign. And while the two candidates espouse different policies toward peace and prosperity, those rather abstract goals will require further implementation in the future, even though they have served Bush well in the campaign.

No vice president running for president can be completely free to campaign as he wishes because he owes so much to the man in the White House. Bush does seem to have established a comfortable rapport with the president and certainly has won Reagan's full support in his campaign. Yet we suspect we will not fully know the kind of a president Bush will be until he takes office next Jan. 20.

Our hope is that Bush will revert to the Bush we knew in 1980 once he takes that oath of office. In short, we hope that he will do a better job of running the country than he did in running his campaign. In fact, we are confident he will.

County issues merit attention

Two Wayne County issues dealing with widely differing problems will be on the Nov. 8 ballot and deserve the consideration of Grosse Pointe voters.

One will be an ordinance to ban gambling in suburban Wayne County if it is banned in Detroit. The other will be a second attempt to double the current one-mill property tax levied for the benefit of the Intermediate School District which serves more than 6,000 handicapped children in Wayne County.

The sponsor of the gambling measure, Wayne County Commissioner Arthur Blackwell, supports the idea of gambling in Detroit but wants the ordinance on the ballot to protect the city from possible suburban competition.

This newspaper opposed and still opposes casino gambling in Detroit and would oppose it in Grosse Pointe or any other suburb if it were proposed. We have not taken any polls on the issue in Grosse Pointe, but we think a large majority of Grosse Pointe residents feel the same way. So we recommend a yes vote on the proposal to ban casino gambling in suburban Wayne County.

As for the proposal to increase the financing of programs to benefit handicapped children, backers emphasize that since it was defeated in the August primary, it could not under the law be on the ballot again, if it were defeated Nov. 8, until the primary or general election of 1990. Since the intermediate district has not obtained any increase in millage since the 1970s, sponsors are strongly supporting approval this time around.

For local taxpayers, approval of the plan would boost the amount that the Grosse Pointe School District would pay to the intermediate district for this service from $1.3 million to $2.6 million a year. The district now gets back in services to its handicapped only about one-third of the tax revenues paid by the local property owners to help finance the intermediate district's programs and apparently would get back only slightly more if the proposal passes.

While only about 25 Grosse Pointe students now are enrolled in specialized services offered by the intermediate district for the handicapped, they as well as all other handicapped young people in the county program would benefit from improved services if the proposed one-mill increase is approved.

As put by Claire Hunt, director of special education services for the Grosse Pointe public schools, the question for Nov. 8 voters is whether or not to support educational programs that are beneficial to the county's severely handicapped children whether they live in Grosse Pointe or somewhere else.

The Grosse Pointe News is reluctant to support the doubling of the property levy for special education purposes for several reasons. One is that the Grosse Pointe school board has not taken a position on the issue. A second is that the local school district will be asked next spring to raise the millage to expand library services and maintain the schools' current level of excellence.

However, the best argument in favor of the additional levy is Dr. Hunt's comment that the one-mill increase would benefit severely handicapped children wherever they live in the county. What each voter will have to decide is whether he or she feels the additional one-mill levy is excessive or unfair for Grosse Pointe School District taxpayers. It is, the backers insist, needed.

'Yes' on Proposals C & D

Two proposals for bond issues to finance a $660 million environmental cleanup and protection program and a $140 million plan to improve state and local parks are winning broad approval as the Nov. 8 vote approaches. And for good reason. Both are good for Michigan and its people.

Proposal C, the ballot question on whether the state should issue $660 million in bonds for environmental and protection purposes, is supported by leaders of both parties, environmental groups, labor unions and business associations, organizations which do not always see eye to eye on environmental matters. In addition, the Detroit Free Press reports that polls show more than 70 percent of likely voters favor the proposal.

The $660 million package would finance cleanup of 300 to 400 toxic waste sites, recycling and other solid waste programs, renovation or construction of sewage treatment plants to reduce water pollution, and the state's share of a Great Lakes states' protection and research program.

Proposal D, which also has broad public support, calls for issuance of $140 million in bonds to finance state and local park improvement and public recreation projects, with the funds to be split evenly between the state parks and local parks.

With public support growing steadily for environmental and recreational projects, little organized opposition is expected to the two bond issues. However, the Detroit Audubon Society's board opposes Proposal D on the grounds it provides too little money for park land acquisition and threatens wetland and wild areas with development. It does back Proposal C, however.

The $800 million in bond issues will not increase state taxes, state officials have emphasized, because the new bonds would be issued during the next three to five years as other old bonds are paid off from current revenue.

So proposals C and D appear to be two issues on which the public has a lot to gain and little to lose.

Gullible then, gullible now

Some of us were just as gullible on Sunday, Oct. 9, when we saw a television broadcast that made us think the United States and the Soviet Union were ready to go to war as we were when we heard a radio report of a "Martian invasion" on Halloween 50 years ago.

Channel 4, which aired a 1984 film, "Countdown to Looking Glass," said it received at least 62 calls from viewers who thought the report of the U.S.-USSR showdown was real, rather than part of an old movie. The Detroit News also got some calls, including one from a viewer who asked: "Are you sure the president's not up in his airplane because of a nuclear attack?"

We confess that for a few minutes, after we came in late on the TV movie, we, too, thought that some new disaster was looming in the Persian Gulf. The movie depicted several TV news broadcasts about a USSR-U.S. confrontation and used Eric Sevareid, the former CBS commentator, and former U.S. Sen. Eugene McCarthy to add realism to the reports.

Eventually, however, we and other viewers realized that it was only a movie. One tipoff was that the film was coming from NBC while the news reports were supposedly from CNN. Finally, an NBC announcement reminded us we were viewing a movie and not the news coverage of an actual event.

The reactions, however, were not as terrifying as they were on Oct. 30, 1938, when Orson Welles' national radio broadcast about a "Martian invasion," based on H.G. Wells' novel, "War of the Worlds," was so realistic that people fled from their homes, took refuge in churches or bombarded police and U.S. Army centers for information about where the invaders were heading.

Over the Halloween weekend, both commercial and public TV networks recalled the Welles' broadcast and public radio stations, including WDET, even broadcast a remake of "War of the Worlds." It was great fun but one public TV broadcaster said, "It is unlikely we'll ever be frightened that way again." That smug view by someone too young to have heard the Welles' production already has been disproved by the Detroit area reaction to "Countdown to Looking Glass." The spectacular success of Welles' broadcast helped the actor and founder of the Mercury Theater to move to Hollywood where perhaps his outstanding accomplishment was to write, direct, produce and act in "Citizen Kane."

To this day, however, he's probably best remembered, at least among oldsters, as the perpetrator of the "Martian invasion" hoax of 1938. Some of us never learn, which means that our eyes are just as gullible now as our ears were 50 years ago.

But if moviemakers or TV producers plan any more realistic versions of war or invasions involving the United States, even on Halloween, the least they can do for the peace of mind of those of us with a high degree of gullibility is to tip us off in advance.

Letters

Yes to special education

To the Editor:

I wish to call attention to a proposal on the Nov. 8 ballot which has received little media attention and may very well be lost in that mass of issues upon which we will be voting that day.

One of the two Wayne county proposals will determine the immediate future of financing for those youngsters of the county who are in some way in need of special education programs because of their handicaps. No local millage aid has been voted for these youngsters in Wayne county since 1974. Should this proposal for an increase fail, a new proposition could not be resubmitted until 1990. The program needs are too great to wait two more years for additional help.

Some concern was indicated in August that the Grosse Pointe community would receive fewer dollars in return than the taxpayer would be paying for these improved services. That will undoubtedly be true for the 1989-90 school year, however, no one knows of the number of special education youngsters who will be residing here in 1990-91, etc.

Grosse Pointe residents also now pay more than they receive in federal, state, and county services. If we were to take that argument one step further, as a Farms resident, I would question whether my city is receiving its dollar for dollar return from the Grosse Pointe schools. Do we spend all my tax dollars on Kerby, Richard, Brownell, and South only? I doubt that.

I would hope that Grosse Pointe residents would look upon the issue of special education as a country-wide need and vote to support improved funding for handicapped youngsters regardless of whether or not they are from Grosse Pointe.

Pit bulls: Prosecute bad owners

A Grosse Pointe News reader concerned about the plight of pit bulls was kind enough to send me an article about a dog-fighting enterprise in Ohio that was busted in June by the FBI.

The story is not only sad, it makes you angry. The reader pleaded that someone had to do something to stop criminals who are training and engaging dogs in fighting. The reader wanted the Grosse Pointe News to do something about it.

As a weekly newspaper in a community where it is most unlikely such a heinous crime as dog fighting occurs, there is little I or the paper can do. I will, however, relate the tragic story and maybe some good will come of the telling of it.

The story appears in the current issue of The Humane Society News.

In June, Humane Society officials joined the FBI in a raid of an area in southwest Ohio that was suspected to be a headquarters of a national underground dog-fighting ring. What they found, surprised and outraged them.

The investigators found what looked like an endless number of pit-bull terriers staked out over acres. The dogs were tethered to stakes with heavy logging chains that were so arranged that each dog's circle missed touching another dog's by a foot. Each animal had a crude, makeshift house, which in many cases was simply an overturned 55-gallon drum. Here the dogs ate and slept all year long, through freezing winter nights and scorching summer days.

In total, 83 pit bulls were recovered, as well as several Akitas, a Doberman and a Shar Pei.

In the kitchen of an old farmhouse, the investigators found an animal-surgery table and veterinarian drugs. There was even a wanted poster for anyone suspected of promoting dog fighting. The criminals apparently found the poster humorous.

I Say

"Parting sticks" near the pit used for dog fights. The sticks are used to separate dogs whose jaws have locked during fighting. Attached to the roof of a barn was rope with an animal's fur on the end. Dogs would fasten their teeth on the fur and be suspended two stories up in the air for prolonged periods to strengthen their jaws.

According to the Humane Society official who attended the raid and wrote the article, Sandy Rowland, the most depressing sight was that of the burial mound, which was filled with dogs who fought to the death at their masters' orders.

At another farm, where 42 of the fighting dogs were found, FBI agents recovered weapons and a crop of marijuana.

Also at the farm were treadmills for running the dogs. In between the treadmills were a ferret in a maggot-infested cage and a great horned owl with its legs locked in a steel-jaw trap. These animals were used as bait for the dogs on the treadmills. The Humane Society was able to rehabilitate the caged animals.

By the end of the long day, two husband-wife couples were arrested, with three of the arrested later charged with transporting dogs in interstate commerce for the purposes of participating in an animal-fighting venture.

According to the article's author, the Ohio raid was the first time federal law enforcement officials had taken part in a dog-fighting investigation. The case revealed an international network of dog-fighting clubs and sales of dogs for fighting purposes. Fortunately, the FBI recovered lists of members and sales records. Nearly every state is represented in the evidence found. I hope those found on the list are prosecuted along with the criminals at the Ohio farms.

It is a sad story, and it makes me angry.

I don't know the answer to whether pit bulls are born killers or whether they have to be trained to be that way. I do know one thing, though: Once they are trained there's nothing we can do to make them safe for human society.

In the Ohio incident, the Humane Society had testified that the fighting dogs confiscated could not be rehabilitated for pets, nor could they be safely kept at animal shelters. All the fighting dogs had to be euthanized. At least the dogs were spared the horrors of fighting to their deaths and living in conditions worse than death.

I don't know if telling the story will do any good. But if just one person reads it and later provides law enforcement officers with information that leads to the arrest of someone fighting dogs or training them to do so, then I think it was worth the telling.

I do have one suggestion, though, which we could implement statewide or nationwide almost immediately. We should make it mandatory that veterinarians report all suspected incidents of dog fighting. In the same way that doctors must report those with bullet or stabbing wounds, vets would have to report dog owners who bring in an animal displaying dog-fighting wounds.

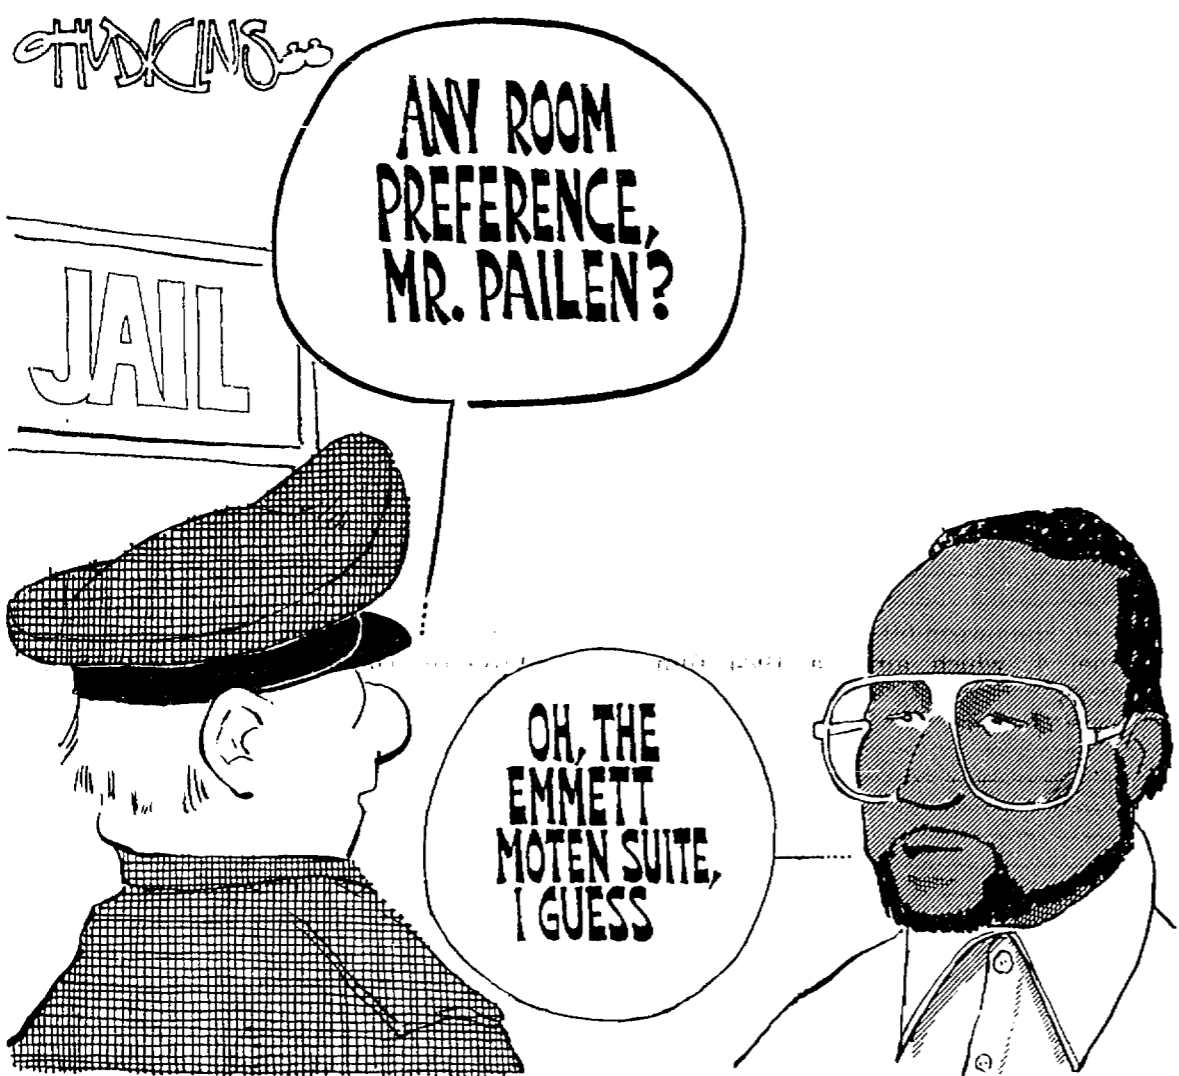

Who knows? It might get at least a few dog-fighting promoters off the street, and it might save the dogs from their pathetic masters and a horrible death.

Yesterday's Headlines

Nov. 2, 1967 —

The New York Times reported that President Johnson urged Congress to remain in session this year until it "faced up" to the nation's most compelling problems, especially the need for a tax increase.

Johnson also said anti-war demonstrators in the United States were not helping to bring peace in Vietnam. He said if they could see how the Communist propaganda machine used the protests to their advantage, they would see they "have not contributed a great deal to the solution that we so eagerly seek."

Vice President Humphrey, after completing a tour of South Vietnam, said, "I think we are winning this struggle. I don't say it has been won, I say we are winning it." He asked the American people for support and patience.

A 38-year-old blind man on trial in criminal court in New York said he had harbored 23 draft evaders and runaway soldiers. He said people all over the city were doing it.

Concerned about the safety of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the police transferred him from a suburban branch jail to a cell atop the eight-story Jefferson County Courthouse in Birmingham. He was in jail for refusing to obey a ban on civil rights demonstrations.

A drive to push Robert F. Kennedy as the next Democratic candidate was upsetting President Johnson's supporters.

A brand new movie starring George Kennedy and Paul Newman opened to rave reviews. Its name was "Cool Hand Luke."

In Grosse Pointe, a real "cool customer" shopped at the Kroger store on Kercheval and walked away with an undetermined amount of cash. Adding insult to injury, the hold-up man took Kroger's money away in an A&P bag.

It was a bad week for grocery stores because an envelope with $9,000 of receipts from the A&P on Kercheval was knocked into a wastebasket and taken out to the Clinton Township Disposal site where only about $2,000 was recovered.

Vandals, for no apparent reason, using either axes or hatchets chopped down or severely damaged more than 16 trees on the grounds of the Lochmoor Club. They also cut out approximately five feet of sod and scattered it all over the course after shredding it into small pieces.

The number of building permits in the Farms was down from the previous year. Seven permits for residential construction were issued, compared to 18 for the same time last year.

The Grosse Pointe News' lead editorial read "A pox on the imbecile whose idea of a Halloween prank was removing all the papers from the boxes in front of the office... and in the walk-through... then scattering them all over the alley and parking area in the rear of the business district." It called for an end to "senseless vandalism." It didn't say a word about vandalism that wasn't senseless.

A Kerby school student won the grand prize in The Men's Garden Club of Grosse Pointe's annual contest. She won with a 14-foot, 11-inch sunflower.

Linus wasn't around, but the Great Pumpkin was, thanks to one family who wanted to bring Halloween to everybody. A king-sized pumpkin sat on a lawn on Lennon Avenue, and at night it glowed.

The city of Grosse Pointe Woods was going to recommend that it file suit against the Michigan Highway Department in a dispute over who should pay for curbs and gutters when Vernier Road underwent its $300,000 improvement cost. The Woods wanted it completed before the new Grosse Pointe High School North opened the following fall.

No crime time

Grosse Pointe Woods had the lowest crime rate of 40 metro Detroit communities surveyed for an article in November's Detroit Monthly. According to a 1987 FBI crime report, the Woods logged in only 259 crimes per 10,000 residents; The Farms was sixth lowest; the City, seventh; the Park, 13th. The Shores wasn't included in the survey.

The five communities with the highest crime rate were Highland Park, Hamtramck, Harper Woods, Detroit itself and Hazel Park.

The five best? After the Woods: Trenton, Royal Oak, Grosse Ile and Northville Township had the lowest rates.

Woods Safety Director Jack Patterson, who was interviewed for the article, credited his 42 officers and the 19,000 Woods residents themselves for the low crime rate. Residents are watchful and aware, he said. And his 42 public safety officers do a lot of routine cop work: patrols, checking up on suspicious stuff, prevention, education of youngsters.

Feminist quote of the week

Fran Harris, Michigan's pioneer woman radio and TV broadcaster in the 1940s, the first woman newscaster in the state, first-and-only woman broadcaster in Michigan's Journalism Hall of Fame, was recently inducted into the Michigan Women's Hall of Fame.

At the fifth annual awards dinner last Thursday in Southfield, Harris said, "It's possible today for a woman to have a full-time job and a full-time family."

"In my day — it wasn't polite."

An hour-long VHS video of a fireplace fire.

Wow.

Just pop this in the ol' VCR, sit back, and enjoy the pop and hiss of a crackling holiday fire. It's even accompanied by traditional Christmas music and carols.

We want to know who the starring fireplace is. Does it do interviews? How is it handling fame and fortune? Is a sequel coming?

Surprise! Grosse Pointe kids vote Republican

Brownell Middle School students elected George Bush and Dan Quayle president and vice president for the next four years. Results were Bush/Quayle: 220; Dukakis/Bentsen: 88.

In a mock election last Friday, sixth, seventh and eighth graders got a chance to pretend they were 18 during their social studies classes and cast their votes for the next U.S. president and vice president.

Social Studies teacher Don McGaugh said he was surprised that Dukakis got as many votes as he did. "This is Grosse Pointe," he said, "a Republican bastion."

McGaugh said he asked two of his classes if they thought they had voted for the same candidate their parents would be voting for. "Approximately 80 to 90 percent raised their hands," he said.

Reconsider

To the Editor:

I am writing to you in regards to the recent issue arguing the suggestion for an outpatient program to help substance abusers in the Grosse Pointe area.

I was truly upset when I heard it had been denied. I am a junior attending Grosse Pointe South and I have seen a few of my friends become the victims of drug abuse. Some have quit on their own, while others have needed to seek outside help. Seeing as no such program is available here they must leave the Grosse Pointe area for two months or longer. Many abusers return to find the same pressures as before they left.

If we had an out-patient facility, a teenager could be treated, plus have a support group right here in the community to help him or her stay sober despite the pressures.

I have read over and over again that one reason this program has been denied is because Grosse Pointe is worried that other teenagers outside the Grosse Pointe area could use these facilities. In my opinion this is a "snobish" approach. If our community was truly concerned with this serious problem affecting our teenagers, we would be avoiding such worries and concentrate on helping our future adults to become the best they can be.

I do hope the proposal is reconsidered, because I would hate to say that my community doesn't care enough to support such a worthwhile facility.

To the Editor:

Representative William Bryant was quoted in the Grosse Pointe News of Oct. 27 as supporting Proposal A because "past studies have shown hundreds of women on state assistance have received state-funded abortions several times in a single year."

When questioned about this statement, Mr. Bryant could offer no more support than to say that he had seen a study in the '70s showing that 700 women had undergone more than one Medicaid abortion in a year.

The statistic is meaningless. Seven hundred compared to what? How many total Medicaid abortions are performed yearly? How does the rate of multiple abortions compare with that of women whose treatment was not paid by Medicaid? Even if Mr. Bryant's number was up-to-date and authenticated (it is not), no conclusion can be drawn without answers to these and other questions.

Even if the figure of multiple abortions is taken as true, Mr. Bryant's position does not make sense. In 1986 there were approximately 19,000 Medicaid abortions. Assuming that 700 of this number underwent more than one procedure, that number is still only 4 percent of the total. Should all women on Medicaid be denied assistance because four percent have arguably misused the process?

For all we know, the percentage of women not on Medicaid who have more than one abortion in a year is not different from that of welfare women. Since that statistic is unreported, there is no way to make a comparison. It is difficult enough to make an informed decision on this sensitive ballot issue. The voters deserve better than to be misled by a careless assertion of fact that cannot be supported.

Yes on C, D

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters of Michigan, following close study of Michigan's Quality of Life Bonding Proposal, endorses a yes vote on state Proposals C and D on Tuesday, Nov. 8.

This $800 million proposal will improve Michigan's land and water resources, protect the Great Lakes, expand recreational opportunities, and support environmentally sound economic development. It represents an important investment in Michigan's future without increasing the state budget or state taxes.

Proposal C devotes $425 million to clean up toxic waste sites. Together with funds from those responsible, emergency action can be taken at 600 sites and complete cleanup at another 300. An additional $150 million will be used to combat our mounting solid waste problem. Recycling, installation of air pollution control equipment and closing of unsound landfills are included in this strategy. $60 million of Proposal C will be used to build or upgrade sewage treatment facilities. If passed, $25 million will be devoted to protecting the Great Lakes.

Proposal D targets $140 million for rebuilding Michigan's state parks and other state and local recreation facilities. Fish hatcheries, wildlife nurseries, waterfront recreation and senior centers will all benefit from this proposal.

Together Proposals C and D help meet several of the natural resource goals of the League of Women Voters. They will help to clean up mistakes of the past, protect our resources from future degradation, and enhance our ability to enjoy Michigan's natural resources.

No on A

To the Editor:

I think that Proposal A is wrong, and I intend to vote against it.

It seeks to punish women who have had pregnancy forced upon them, through rape or incest. It makes no allowance for the many failures of contraceptives responsibly used.

It would create a discriminatory, two-class health system which would actually cost us more as taxpayers. It is wrong because unwanted children suffer in families who see them as the cause of their poverty.

Finally, it is wrong because its proponents in the legislature lack the courage of their own convictions: They only seek to punish the poor, but do not propose to remove abortion from other health coverages which they control, such as those for government employees, or heaven forbid, their own.

In short, it is really an attack on the legal right of all women to have control over their own bodies. It singles out the poor and the weak and it makes no exceptions for legitimate hardship, and therefore it is mean-spirited and sneaky. I don't think that is what American values are all about.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHARTER AMENDMENTS

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE PARK, MICHIGAN, please take notice that a Special Election to be held in the City of Grosse Pointe Park, County of Wayne, Michigan, on the 8th day of November, 1988, there will be submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of said City the following charter amendment propositions:

Present Charter Provisions

Change in Term of Office or Compensation:
Section 5.5. Except by procedures provided in this charter, the terms of office of the elective officers and of members of boards and commissions appointed for a definite term shall not be shortened. The terms of elective officers shall not be extended beyond the period for which any such officer was elected except that an elective officer shall, after his term has expired, continue to hold office until his successor is elected or appointed and his successor is elected or appointed and has qualified. The Council shall not grant or authorize extra compensation to any officer or employee after his service has been rendered.

The salary of any elective officer shall not be increased or decreased from the day he is elected until the end of the term of office for which he was elected.

Compensation of Presiding Officer:

Section 15.4. The presiding officer of the court shall receive such annual compensation as shall be fixed by ordinance, but not less than three thousand dollars nor more than six thousand dollars per year. The ordinance fixing his salary may not be amended less than one hundred and fifty days before the next election at which a person is to be elected to the office nor may his compensation be changed during the term of office for which he was elected. Until otherwise provided by ordinance the salary of the office shall be three thousand dollars per year.

The salary for the office provided by charter or ordinance shall be in lieu of all fees, both in civil and criminal cases, to which the presiding officer might be entitled but for the provisions of this section, except those for the performance of marriage ceremonies and for administering oaths in matters not connected with suits and processings in his court.

The compensation paid to any substitute Judge or justice under the provisions of Section 15.11 shall be deducted from the compensation of the presiding officer of the Court; provided, however, that such deductions shall not be made because of disqualification because of interest in the case or because of absence from the City on official business of the Court.

Substitute Judge or Justice:

Section 15.11. In case of the absence, disability or disqualification of the presiding officer of the court, any other justice of the peace or Municipal Judge in the County of Wayne shall be qualified to act in his place and for him in the performance of any of the duties imposed upon him by statute or this charter; and shall so act when called upon in the manner and under the condition herein set forth. The Council shall by ordinance fix the compensation to be paid justices or Judges for such services and the procedure to be followed in calling upon them so to act. The provisions of such ordinance relative to such compensation may not be amended less than one hundred and fifty days before the next election at which a Municipal Judge (justice of the peace) is to be elected nor may such compensation be changed during the term of office for which any Municipal Judge (justice of the peace) was elected. The first such ordinance shall provide that such compensation shall be twenty-five dollars per week for regular sessions of the court and other matters pertaining to the office. Unless the Council shall so provide by ordinance, no such justice or judge shall so act or be entitled to compensation therefor.

Proposed Charter Provisions

Change in Term of Office or Compensation:
Section 5.5. Except by procedures provided in this charter, the terms of office of the elective officers and of members of boards and commissions appointed for a definite term shall not be shortened. The terms of elective officers shall not be extended beyond the period for which any such officer was elected except that an elective officer shall, after his term has expired, continue to hold office until his successor is elected or appointed and has qualified. The Council shall not grant or authorize extra compensation to any officer or employee after his service has been rendered.

The salary of any elective officer other than the presiding officer of the Court shall not be increased or decreased from the day he is elected until the end of the term of office for which he was elected.

Compensation of Presiding Officer:

Section 15.4. The presiding officer of the Court shall receive such annual compensation as shall be fixed by ordinance, but not less than six thousand dollars nor more than fifteen thousand dollars per year. The annual compensation of the office may be increased but shall not be decreased during a term of office except and to the extent of a general salary reduction applicable to all salaried officers of the City. Until otherwise provided by ordinance, the salary of the office shall be six thousand dollars per year.

The salary for the office provided by charter or ordinance shall be in lieu of all fees, both in civil and criminal cases, to which the presiding officer might be entitled but for the provisions of this section, except those for the performance of marriage ceremonies and for administering oaths in matters not connected with suits and processings in this court.

Substitute Judge or Justice:

Section 15.11. In case of the absence, disability or other disqualification of the presiding officer of the Court, any other person qualified by law to act as a Municipal Judge may be appointed or designated to act as Municipal Judge in the manner provided by law or ordinance. No compensation shall be paid to such Judge except in accordance with an agreement between the City and the Judge made before appointment or designation of the Judge or as otherwise provided by law.

neighbors, which in two instances it got out of its yard. I was quite alarmed not only for my family, but also for all our neighbors in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Needless to say, I do not allow my child to walk past this house or play nearby — she is also learning a different route to school.

I ask myself, isn't this an infringement on my rights as a citizen? It does not matter how tall the owner's fence may be — this type of animal is strong enough to climb or jump its fence.

When I confronted the owner about his animal threatening the neighbors, he denied it. Herein lies the problem. I'm sure owners of these type of animals truly believe they are safe and loving, but there have been way too many instances of these "loving" family pets that have turned on people and viciously maimed them for life.

If I knew I owned any type of pet whose breed has shown the slightest indication of this manner, I would certainly do everything in my power to be cooperative in protecting my family and neighbors. I've been hearing others say that Labradors, German shepherds and Dobermans bite too, but I certainly haven't opened the paper every week to find these particular dogs ripping children apart "unprovoked."

I feel all breeds of pit bulls should be put in some type of high risk category which allows our city to force the owners to take stricter control of these animals.

When I say stricter control, I mean some type of escape-proof kennel with an enclosed top, tattooing of the animal, liability insurance and some type of muzzling. I also feel that when owners apply for licensing, they should have to prove how the animal was acquired or purchased. We need a history on these animals to make sure they have never been bred to fight or, worse, to kill.

This is not a knee-jerk reaction. It's an informed open plea to our community leaders to protect human lives, not the canine species. I certainly do not believe in the "one free bite" theory! Let's not wait for these animals to attack, maim or kill one of our own children or adults. Let's solve a potential problem (Grosse Pointe Farms hasn't so far had to face) before it exists.

Send A back to drawing board

To the Editor:

Opposition to abortion is a matter of conscience to many voters, a position that has been reached after much soul-searching. Even those who disagree must respect that position.

However, Proposal A, the proposed ban on state-funded Medicaid abortions, has nothing to do with that position. It is about taxpayers' relationship with the poor. It is very disturbing to me that the poor have been singled out to be denied abortion while Proposal A lets the taxpayers continue to pay for abortions for our legislators, judiciary, their staffs, teachers, police and fire-fighters, etc. In short, every state and local paid employee, which is no small group: It includes one out of every nine Michigan women, 11 percent of the population of the state!

It is really hard to understand how a sincere supporter of the "Right to Life" position could find Proposal A acceptable in its present form. A sensible Right to Life proposal would have to include state funding for AT LEAST the following:

1. A program of education on RESPONSIBLE sexuality.
2. Access to contraceptive services.
3. A program of expanded prenatal and postnatal care.
4. Adequate and compassionate care for unadoptable drug-addicted and AIDS-infected infants.

The poor have so little. It is a myth that they are getting rich on welfare. Why is Proposal A directed at these people, who already suffer so much, and not at the other recipient of state-funded abortions? Why is there such hostility toward the poor? Are we all so isolated, so insulated, so shallow, that we have forgotten: "There but for the grace of God go I?"

Let's send Proposal A back to the drawing board. No wonder it's unacceptable for government employees: In its present form it's really not "Right to Life," it's really just something we might call "right to birth," and the legislature knows very well that it wouldn't be a workable idea to impose on any group that had any political power!

Adoptive parents sought

All parents who have adopted children through Catholic Social Services of Wayne County are invited to an informational meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 7 p.m. at the agency's main office, 9851 Hamilton, Detroit.

The purpose of the meeting is to inform adoptive parents about changes in adoption laws and practices that have occurred in recent years. A bill that is currently pending in the Michigan legislature, which would have a strong impact on Michigan's adoptive families, will be discussed. The agency's staff also hopes to obtain input at the meeting regarding the agency's adoption and post-adoption services.

Catholic Social Services requests that adoptive parents who plan to attend call the Adoption Department at 883-2100, ext. 333.

No room at the dump

The League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe will host speaker Milton Mack, Wayne County commissioner, Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m. at Parcels Middle School auditorium.

The topic of the public meeting will be "No More Room at the Dump."

Mack, chairman of the Wayne County Solid Waste Committee, will speak on the just-released Wayne County solid waste plan. The plan, according to him, had to take into consideration the fact that landfills are beginning to close their doors to municipal trash to ensure continued room for their industrial customers.

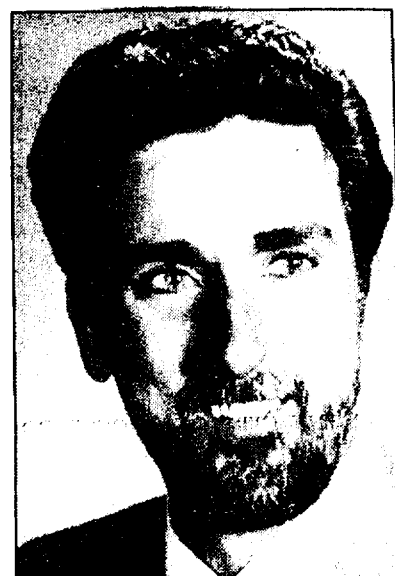

Wayne County produces 17,000 tons of garbage a day. The plan calls for reduction of this amount by combining incineration, recycling and composting.

Sponsor for the evening is the Detroit Metropolitan Area League of Women Voters. The league is a non-partisan organization established in 1920 to encourage citizen participation in government.

It never supports any political party or candidate. Following study and consensus of membership, it does take positions on issues and lobbies for those positions at local, state and national levels.

Membership is open to any citizen over 18, male or female. For more information, call Karen Opydke at 886-3078 or 881-9225.

We've got fairs . . . So you can shop till you drop

'Tis the season — if you haven't guessed by now — for harvest fairs, arts and crafts fairs, holiday marts, craft marts and just plain old fairs, fairs, fairs. Here's a list of some local fairs, by date, for you early shoppers:

Nov. 5-6 First Unitarian Universalist Church

First Unitarian-Universalist Church, 4605 Cass Ave. in Detroit, will present its first "Harvest of Arts and Crafts" from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5, and 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 6.

There is no admission charge for the event, which will feature paintings, photographs, ceramics, needlework, hand-painted shirts, wooden toys, Christmas decorations and a bake sale booth.

Proceeds go to benefit the church's continued presence in the heart of the city. For more information, call 833-9107.

Arbor Inn bazaar

The 11th annual Arbor Inn Bazaar will be held Sunday, Nov. 6, at 14030 East 14 Mile Road in Warren. The bazaar offers a variety of handicrafts by Arbor Inn residents, including photo albums, wooden decoys, coffee mugs, pillows, rugs, knitted and crocheted items, Christmas items, and more. There will be a raffle and refreshments.

Proceeds will benefit the Inn's activities department. For more information, call 296-3260.

Good Shepherd Lutheran Church

It's Christmas fair time at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, located at Regent and Bringard in Detroit. Hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9. Booths offering handmade items, baked and canned goods, plants, attic treasures and Christmas trees will be featured.

Luncheon will be served until 1:30 p.m.; a spaghetti dinner is on the agenda from 5 to 7 p.m.

Nov. 9-11 Rochester St. Paul church

The 17th annual "Antiques, Crafts and Collectibles Show and Sale," sponsored by the United Methodist Women of St. Paul United Methodist Church, 620 Romeo Street in Rochester, will run from Wednesday, Nov. 9 through Friday, Nov. 11. Hours are 6 to 9 p.m. Nov. 9; 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Nov. 10; and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Nov. 11.

Donation is $2. Proceeds go to support the mission work of the United Methodist Women.

The event will feature quality dealers and art demonstrations in chair caning, wood carving, tatting and more.

Nov. 12-13 Cranbrook Kingswood 'Giftorama'

The 18th annual Cranbrook Schools' "Giftorama" is set for Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 12 and 13, at the Kingswood campus, 885 Cranbrook Road, Bloomfield Hills. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The Giftorama features 48 shops and boutiques from Michigan and 12 other states, offering browsers a chance to buy gifts ranging from African art, jewelry and food specialties to Christmas accessories, books, antiques, wicker, housewares, wearable art, heirlooms, toys and collectibles. Wendy Jennings of Grosse Pointe will be there with her booth, "Santa's Bag," offering unusual handmade items.

Admission is $3, including parking. Snacks will be available. For more information, call 645-3134.

White Heather Club bazaar

The White Heather Club, 150 Vester near Nine Mile Road in Ferndale, will hold a crafts bazaar and rummage sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 12.

For table rental and information on this non-profit club's event, call Marion Nowak at 421-4578.

Queen of Apostles School fair

A real autumn happening will take place in Hamtramck Saturday, Nov. 12, when the Parent Booster Club of Our Lady Queen of Apostles School presents its seventh annual "Country Gift Fair and Craft Show" from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the parish hall, 11420 Conant at Harold.

Admission and parking are free. Visitors will find 50 boutiques offering everything from handmade items and decorations to wreaths, afghans, miniature crafts for autumn, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

There will be a bake sale and a snack bar which offers homemade Polish soups and other items. Proceeds from the event will benefit the children of Our Lady Queen of Apostles School.

Nov. 19 Kinder House Holiday Fair

Waldorf Kinder House, a non-profit, non-sectarian nursery and kindergarten in Southfield, will offer a Holiday Fair from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19, at the school, 25205 Code Road off 10 Mile Road between Lahser and Telegraph.

Admission is $1 for a 1 p.m. children's puppet show. The event also features handmade children's dolls and toys, books, a gingerbread cafe, baked goods and a raffle.

For more information, call 356-5510.

St. Peter's Ladies Guild

The St. Peter Ladies Guild of Harper Woods will sponsor its 15th annual arts and crafts show from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 20, in the social hall and school hallways of St. Peter Church, on Vernier Road near Beaconsfield Avenue across from Eastland Center.

Admission is free.

Convertibles are fun — and a good investment

Driving in an open car has become more delicious than ever, now that the mass media have revealed to us that the sun is not our friend and that it will kill us if we don't buy this product or that.

In much the way that bacon and eggs taste better now that we know they are deadly and playing the couch potato instead of running through sleet and smog is gaining a new respectability, the joys of driving a convertible have been enhanced by the forbidden fruit syndrome.

A decade ago, the convertible was dead and buried, after a long and slow decline from its golden age of the mid-'50s. But reports of the convertible's death were, as it turns out, exaggerated.

In fact, the 1989 lineup of new models indicates that we may be entering a new golden age as more car makers doff their roofs in respect for the surprisingly strong market demand for ragtops. Real convertibles, not sun-roofs or T-tops.

One of the first '89 convertible crop is one of the most spectacular, guaranteed to turn heads and impress your neighbors. The new Jaguar XJ-S convertible, which is smoothly and quickly moved by a V-12 engine and stopped by ABS anti-lock brakes, is the first from the British maker since it discontinued the classic E-type convertible at the end of the '74 model run.

The XJ-S has plenty of punch. It will do zero to 60 in nine seconds, will cruise on the freeway at quite illegal speeds and all ways has plenty left. But you would not describe it as a "muscle car." The word that comes to mind is "refined."

The Jaguar is powered by an aluminum 326-cubic-inch V-12 engine which is so smooth you may think it has stalled when you stop at a light. But it hasn't. It drives the rear wheels through a three-speed automatic transmission.

The top is one of the easiest to operate and was designed for Jaguar by Karmann of Germany. To put the lined and color-coordinated (the test car was white with blue leather interior and dark blue top) top down, just release two latches and push a button on the dash.

EPA fuel economy rating for the Jaguar convertible is 14 mpg city and 17 highway, but the in-dash computer claimed an 18 mpg average in a mix of city and freeway driving.

This car is one of those that is more than the sum of its parts. It is hard to match it in that esoteric quality of "class." Class, of course, doesn't come cheap and the base price of the Jaguar convertible is $56,000.

Scheduled later in the model year is a new convertible at the other end of the price spectrum, the Yugo GVC Cabrio, expected to sell for about $8,500. With its four-cylinder engine, it will be the least expensive ragtop on the market.

Closer to the Jaguar market segment, Porsche plans a 944 S2 Cabriolet to be unveiled next spring and Chrysler TC by Maserati is scheduled for introduction sometime during the 1989 model run.

One of the most unusual new convertibles is the Dodge Dakota pickup truck, which will be introduced next spring as the first ragtop pickup.

The convertible seemed to be dead, at least in America, after Cadillac built its last 200 Eldorado ragtops in 1976, killed by safety standards (not rollover, but the prospect of air bags), an erroneous belief that there were more important things to be concerned with and a general feeling that we were having too much fun.

Custom body builders cut the tops off of cars for customers who could afford such things, and the fairly wide choice of convertibles now available as part of various makers' lineups are almost all done outside. Only Chrysler builds its LeBaron convertible in house. Most American convertibles are done by Cars and Concepts, of Brighton, or ASC (American Sunroof Corp.) Inc., Southgate.

Despite the higher prices — from $3,500 to $5,000 more than comparable coupes in most car lines, compared with a price differential of a couple hundred dollars or less back in the '50s — convertibles don't sit long in dealer showrooms. Demand is such that convertibles tend to go for full list.

And despite the higher price tags, convertibles are good investments. If you feel such a car would be fun but too frivolous and not practical, consider this: Convertibles hold their value as used cars better than any other type. Convertibles of the '50s and '60s are often worth 10 times what their closed cousins are.

But don't buy a convertible because your accountant tells you to. Buy one because it's fun.

Richard A. Wright is author of "Love and Revolution: 101 Years of the Automobile," a brief history of the auto industry. It is available from Thirty-Three Publishing, Box 3333, Farmington Hills, Mich. 48333, for $9.95 plus $1.45 handling.

4 cars stolen, one attempted

Grosse Pointe Park Public Safety reported the theft of four vehicles and one attempted theft in the city last week.

Taken were:

- A 1978 Chevrolet Impala overnight on Oct. 21 in the 900 block of Beaconsfield. The car was recovered by Park officers in the 1100 block of Marlborough.

- A 1973 Pontiac Lemans was taken from the St. Paul-Beaconsfield area Oct. 25 at about 11 p.m. It was recovered by Park police on Phillip north of Jefferson.

- A 1980 Olds Cutlass was taken from in front of a home in the 1300 block of Lakepointe sometime on Oct. 24 or Oct. 25.

- A 1986 Jeep Cherokee was taken from the Fairfax-Beaconsfield area Oct. 27 between midnight and 1:30 a.m. It was recovered by Detroit police on Drexel north of Jefferson.

The attempted theft occurred sometime between Oct. 18 and Oct. 20, at Halley Place. The steering wheel of the 1982 Oldsmobile was damaged in the attempt.

Lethal 'Freddie Kruger' gloves confiscated

Two pairs of "Freddie Kruger" gloves featuring 5-inch blades on all fingers were confiscated from two teenagers by St. Paul Catholic School officials during a Halloween party Saturday night.

The youths, a 13-year-old and an 18-year-old, were attempting to enter the school with "two claw-like gloves," according to Grosse Pointe Farms Public Safety reports.

South students to perform 'Oklahoma'

Jamie Bates, professional dancer from New York, is choreographing the dream ballet in Grosse Pointe South's production of "Oklahoma."

The show opens Thursday, Nov. 17, at the Performing Arts Center, 707 Vernier Road, at 7:

30 p.m. and will run Friday and Saturday, Nov. 18-19, at 8 p.m. There will be two special performances on Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 19, at 2 p.m. for groups and younger students and seniors. Tickets are available by mail order to Grosse Pointe South High School, Mary Martin, 11 Grosse Pointe Blvd., Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236 or by calling her at 343-2130. Prices are $5 reserved seats, $4 general admission. Group rates are available.

North, South bands in cabaret concert

The bands and orchestras from North and South high schools will combine their talents to present the annual Cabaret Pops Concert on Friday, Nov. 11, at 7:30 p.m.

More than 260 instrumental music students will participate in the concert and dance, which will be held in the South High School gymnasium.

The program will begin with the Orchestra Strings and Symphonic Bands joining to perform "The Sound of Music" and Sousa's "King Cotton March," and the strings alone playing "If I Had A Hammer."

Concert Band and Symphonic Band members will then combine for the "James Bond Suite," "John Williams: The Symphonic Marches," "Evita," and the "Washington Post March."

Following a brief intermission, the North/South Jazz Band will provide their big band sound of dancing music for the remainder of the evening.

The concert will be conducted by instrumental music directors

Ann DiFiore, John Donnellon, Ralph Miller and Wayne State

Student Teachers John Cooper and Roger Stubblefield.

Middle school to present musical

The University Liggett middle school Dramatropers invite everyone to attend their fall musical production, "The Me Nobody Knows," on Friday, Nov. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Kresge Auditorium at the Briarcliff campus.

The play is based on the book, "The Me Nobody Knows," written by ghetto children between the ages of 7-18 from New York City schools in Bedford Stuyvesant, Harlem, Jamaica and Manhattan, and the Youth House in the Bronx. In their struggle lies their hope and ours; they are the voices of change.

For further information, call Bremer at 886-4220. There is no admission fee.

ULS performance

University Liggett School's fall performance by the ULS Players will be "The Coarse Acting Show" by Michael Green.

Performances will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17, 18 and 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the school's main auditorium, 1045 Cook Road.

Admission will be $1.50 for students; $2 for adults.

For more information, call 884-4444.

Historical society to talk about toys

The Grosse Pointe Historical Society will host "A Morning with Earl Krentzin — Toys, Teddy Bears and Whimsy" on Tuesday, Nov. 15. Krentzin, a noted Grosse Pointe artist, will open his home to the society and other interested persons.

Krentzin has numerous collections to share and discuss. From 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., he will welcome guests for a look at his collections of antique toys, folk art and art objects. A native Detroit and Farms resident for more than 20 years, Krentzin is a silversmith and sculptor. He creates whimsical silver objects and teddy bears.

A graduate of Wayne State University and the Cranbrook Academy of Art, he was also a Fulbright Fellow at the Royal College of Art in London. He received a Louis Comfort Tiffany grant in metalwork in 1966 and has taught design and metalwork.

Reservations are limited and must be received by Friday, Nov. 11. The cost is $5 per person. Make checks payable to the Grosse Pointe Historical Society and mail to 88 Muskoka, Grosse Pointe Farms, 48236. Tickets and directions to Krentzin's home will be mailed. Call 884-7010 for details.

Symphony to host auction

The Lake St. Clair Symphony is holding its third annual auction Sunday, Nov. 6, at the Blossom Heath Inn, 24800 Jefferson, St. Clair Shores, from 1 to 6 p.m.

There will be door prizes, refreshments and hot and cold hors d'oeuvres. BYOB. Donation is $10 a person.

For catalog and more information, call the office at 776-1012.

Pluto's discoverer to discuss planet

Dr. Clyde Tombaugh, the discoverer of the planet Pluto in 1930, will speak on "Pluto — Then and Now" tonight, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium at Mount Clemens High School, 155 Cass Ave. Admission is free.

Actual slides of the discovery photos will be presented and prospects of finding a tenth planet will be discussed. The presentation is suitable for all ages.

Following the talk, the public is invited to meet him and have him sign posters that will be available during the event. All proceeds will benefit the Clyde Tombaugh Scholars Endowment which provides funds for young scientists to do research.

Build a kiln

It's all in a day's work for potter Maxwell Davis, but the experience will be a new one for University Liggett School students when Davis hosts a kiln-building workshop on Wednesday, Nov. 9, from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Davis, the Julie Hoag Bickett ceramics artist-in-residence at ULS for the 1988-89 school year, will direct students in constructing a kiln to be used for firing Raku pottery.

Raku is a Japanese firing technique which involves removing the art work from the kiln while hot, then submerging it into a combustible material. The burning combustible leaves carbon deposits on the unglazed surface of the work. The process is quick and a great deal of exciting fun.

When completed, the Raku kiln will be available for current and future ULS students to use.

Examples of Davis' work are on display in the ULS Arts Wing Gallery through Nov. 19.

The public is invited to watch the kiln construction. No fee. For more information, call the creative and performing arts department at ULS: 884-4444.

State proposals

Nov. 8 General Election

Proposal A

Restrict use of tax funds for abortions for persons receiving public assistance

Public Act 59 of 1987 is a law that states that tax funds shall not be used to pay for an abortion for a person receiving public assistance unless necessary to save the life of the mother.

Should the law be approved? Yes  No

For: Many argue that unborn children are human beings. They should not be denied the right to life. In 1987, 18,000 Medicaid-funded abortions were performed.

Against: Prohibiting Medicaid funding for abortions would mean a two-tiered system of health care: the more affluent could afford abortions at licensed clinics and hospitals; the poor might have to resort to less safe procedures because of their lack of financial resources.

For: Our government cannot afford to pay for poor women to have free abortions on demand.

Against: Banning Medicaid funding for abortions could increase the number of children eligible for public assistance and therefore cost the state far more money.

For: Some people believe that abortion is immoral or conflicts with their beliefs. Consequently, they oppose the use of tax dollars to pay for abortion. In 1987, the state spent approximately $6 million to fund abortions for Michigan women eligible for Medicaid.

Against: Abortion is legal. The U.S. Supreme Court has guaranteed women the right to choose an abortion. Further, victims of rape and incest or women infected with AIDS who are poor would be denied access to abortions funded by Medicaid under this proposal.

For: The U.S. Supreme Court has expressly held that states are not required to fund elective abortions. Michigan is one of only 14 states that does provide this funding.

Against: In fact, those 14 states, along with a number of others that do provide abortion funding for a number of circumstances beyond threat to the mother's life, represent 53 percent of the population of the United States.

Proposal B

Proposal to include crime victims' rights in the constitution

The proposal would amend the constitution to provide:

- 1) That crime victims shall have certain rights throughout the criminal justice process.
- 2) That crime victims' rights, as provided by law, shall be the right to be treated with fairness and respect for their dignity and privacy; be reasonably protected from the accused; be notified of court proceedings and attend trials; confer with prosecution and make a statement to court at sentencing; restitution; timely disposition of the case; and information about conviction, sentence, imprisonment and release of accused.
- 3) That legislature may enact laws to enforce crime victims' rights and provide for assessments against convicted defendants to pay for crime victims' rights.

Should the proposed amendment be adopted? Yes  No

For: Articulating the rights of crime victims in the state constitution strengthens their rights by giving them constitutional stature and permanence. It also assures greater compliance by the law enforcement community with the Michigan Crime Victims' Rights Act of 1985.

Against: Because state law already recognizes the rights of victims of crime, a constitutional amendment duplicates state law and is not necessary.

For: The proposed amendment will provide crime victims parity with offenders who already have significant protection afforded them under our state and federal constitutions.

Against: The proposed constitutional amendment derives much of its language from the existing statute and therefore will have little impact.

For: The constitutional amendment will enable the legislature to authorize courts to order convicted defendants to repay the costs incurred by the criminal justice system in providing rights to crime victims.

Against: Placing a lengthy and detailed list of victims' rights in the constitution violates its basic purpose, which is to serve as a broad and general framework for the state.

Proposal C

Proposal to authorize bonds for environmental protection programs

The proposal would:

- 1) Authorize the state of Michigan to borrow a sum not to exceed $660 million dollars to finance environment protection programs that would clean up sites of toxic and other environmental contamination, contribute to a regional Great Lakes protection fund, address solid waste problems, treat sewage and other water quality problems, reuse industrial sites and preserve open space; and

- 2) Authorize the state to issue general obligation bonds pledging the full faith and credit of the state for payment of principal and interest on the bonds; and
- 3) Provide for repayment of the bonds from the general fund.

Should this proposal be approved? Yes  No

For: Michigan is in sound fiscal shape and in a good position to invest in our future. All of our current general obligation debts will be retired by the year 2000, thereby freeing up those dollars to repay the environmental protection bond. No additional tax dollars will be needed to repay this debt obligation.

Against: Traditionally, bonds are sold for long-term capital expenditures only, not for operating ongoing state programs such as environmental cleanups and solid waste disposal projects.

For: The Department of Natural Resources calculates that there will be a dollar-for-dollar match of all state cleanup dollars with private cleanup dollars. This will occur because of the state's ability to perform more investigative procedures to determine who is the responsible party, as well as alerting polluters that the state is aggressively implementing the cleanup program.

Against: Even though $660 million is a significant sum, it is not enough money to solve the state's contamination or waste problems. Therefore, it provides a false sense of security to those concerned about our environmental problems.

For: The state needs this infusion of funds to help solve several critical needs. The $450 million for environmental cleanups, although not enough to address all of the over 1,700 toxic contamination sites in this state, will accomplish many more cleanups than would be possible through annual appropriations. It will also put needed dollars into cleanup of our Great Lakes. The longer we wait to clean up these problems, the more extensive will be the environment damage and the higher the cleanup costs.

Against: Taxpayers should not be footing the bill for toxic cleanups. Polluters should be made to pay for their actions. Furthermore, we should not be indebting our children and our children's children with this long-term obligation.

For: The bond program will not only lead to a cleaner and safer environment, but it will also create jobs in the process. In addition, it will help to leverage other dollars. In the case of wastewater treatment facilities, the state's $75 million match will secure $365 million from the federal government.

Proposal D

Proposal to authorize bonds for state and local recreation projects

The proposal would:

- 1) Authorize the state of Michigan to borrow a sum not to exceed $140 million dollars to finance state and local public recreation projects; and
- 2) Authorize the state to issue general obligation bonds pledging the full faith and credit of the state for payment of principal and interest on the bonds; and
- 3) Provide for repayment of the bonds from the general fund.

Should this proposal be approved? Yes  No

For: Public parks have suffered from years of neglect due to tight yearly budget constraints. Substantial infrastructure repairs are needed now if we are to protect our already enormous investment in Michigan's parks and tourism attractions.

Against: State parks and some regional parks already require user entrance fees. If need be, these fees should be increased to provide funds to fix these facilities. Not all state taxpayers use these parks and, therefore, they should not have to pay for the improvement costs.

For: The preservation of our natural resources and our recreational facilities is a lifeline to our state's world-renowned tourism industry. Money from this bond proposal will help ensure the continued prosperity of our tourism industry.

Against: There are those who are concerned that the distribution of local recreation dollars will not be geographically balanced throughout the state.

For: Money from the bond may be used to redevelop and reuse abandoned industrial sites as recreation facilities, thereby preserving within a community open space that might otherwise have been targeted for development.

Against: There are those who feel that it is inappropriate for state dollars to fund local recreation facilities which might be inaccessible to the state's overall population. Local units of government should pay for the development of community recreational needs.

Historic iron truss bridges are a disappearing breed

By Edward J. Boucher
Special Writer

There were the Whipples, Howes, the Pratts, the bowstrings and the highs and the lows.

They were the picturesque wrought-iron truss bridges of the last half of the 19th century and the early years of the 20th.

Some, like the Pratts, Whipples and Howes, bore names of their inventors. Others, like the lows, highs and bowstrings, were names for appearances.

They carried Michigan wagon roads over rivers and streams — an indispensable role in a state boasting more than 36,000 miles of such streams and rivers.

In addition to wagon and foot traffic, they also served as fishing sites and local attractions, providing pleasant, life-long memories for many who grew up nearby. Many a child, using toy erector sets, has spent long hours fashioning truss-type bridges of miniature metal parts similar to those used in the real thing.

Once numbered in the thousands, general deterioration, obsolescence and accidents have reduced the number of truss bridges in Michigan to about 400. Most are on lesser-traveled roads and streets, and each passing year eliminates more.

The oldest, a 150-foot-long truss carrying Maple Road over the Huron River at Ann Arbor, was constructed in 1876.

Early Michigan settlers built bridges with the most available material — wood. Because of inherent weight and load-bearing qualities, however, timber could generally be used only in short span. Even when bridges were covered, wood did not stand up well in Michigan's generally wet climate.

Wrought-iron truss bridges, made of slim light beams and rods, could be built in a factory, dismantled, shipped by rail and then transported in small sections by wagon to the bridge site. Wrought iron outlasted wood.

The only serious threat to the truss structures were the old, massive steam traction engines. These were relatively few in number, however, and so obviously heavy that operators — confronted with strict legislation — pretty much kept them off old trusses.

Although the truss bridge played a vital role in bringing Michigan highway transportation into the 20th century, it was the new century, with its heavier and faster motorized vehicles, that ended the popularity of that particular design.

In 1865, a rudimentary steam car, now on exhibit in the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, made a brief appearance on Michigan roads. Although it caused scant notice at the time, it was the harbinger of times to come. The countdown was on for truss bridges on highways.

Motorized vehicles began to appear in the 1890s and by 1905, the first year of vehicle registration, a total of 2,188 were recorded by the state. By 1920 — 15 years later — a total of 416,420 were registered. Today, there are more than 7 million.

An inherent weakness of the truss, at least for modern transportation, is that all the weight is carried on beams or posts on both ends of the bridge within a few feet of passing vehicles. A wagon hitting the beams did no damage, but impacts from faster, heavier cars and trucks toppled many trusses into the river below.

In addition, many old trusses could only accommodate one lane of wagon traffic and could not be widened. To accommodate two lanes of motorized vehicles, they had to be demolished and replaced, usually by the simpler "cantilever" design, which has no superstructure and can be widened.

State, county and city engineers tried to defend the trusses with weight and speed limits. Due to the largely unknown nature of the iron in older trusses, however, accurate analysis of the capacity of many bridges was impossible. Overloads continued to be a major cause of truss bridge failure.

Today, the Michigan Department of Transportation maintains a list of all bridges in the state, including old trusses, to help procure funds for replacement and repair. In addition, the department maintains a list of bridges that are either eligible for addition to the National Historical Register for actual preservation or for maintaining a historical record of the bridge after demolition.

The news for truss bridge buffs is not all bad. On several occasions in recent years, local admirers have successfully preserved them for future generations to enjoy.

The city of Allegan in 1983 came up with $215,000 to match a federal grant of $419,000 for the reconstruction of a one-lane truss bridge that carries a local street over the Kalamazoo River. Local interests in Frankenmuth took over and preserved two truss bridges scheduled demolition.

Labor fact

Jobs in markets and sales occupations that require a college degree are expected to grow more than 75 percent in the next 12 years, the largest percentage increase for any occupation, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. College-level marketing and sales jobs are concentrated in insurance, real estate, securities and financial services and in other nonretail marketing and sales occupations.

A local government primer

The fifth-grade students from Defer Elementary School got a taste of how local government works when the Grosse Pointe Park City Council held a special meeting, discussing issues the children would find of interest.

Chief among those issues was the imposing of a 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. trick-or-treating curfew on Halloween.

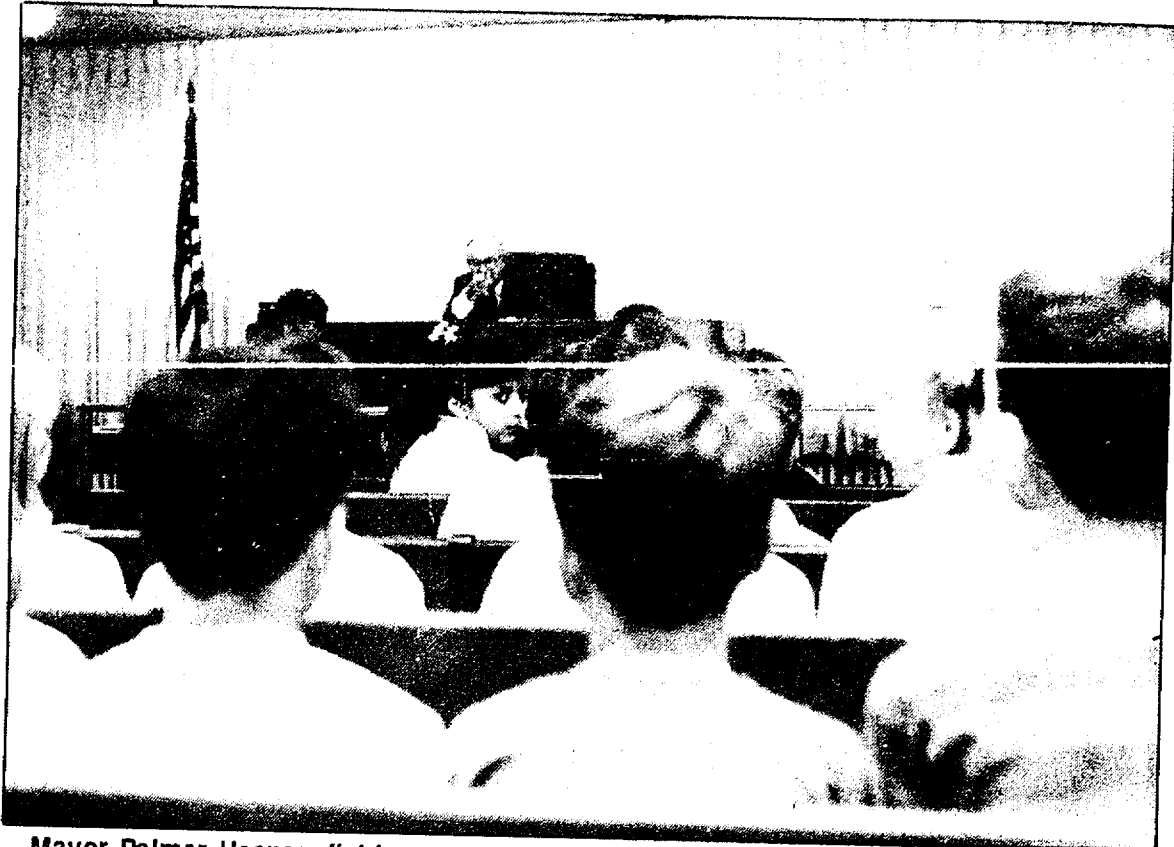

Their concerns — ranging from 5 p.m. being too early for people to rush home from work to give out candy to 8 p.m. being too early to beg at enough places — were listened to and taken into consideration when the council voted to approve that curfew.

After that, their impressive array of blunt questions ranged from what the city is going to do about all the green "allergy" in the pool to why the city is trying to condemn the Esquire. ("There's no fun cheap things you can walk to," they said.)

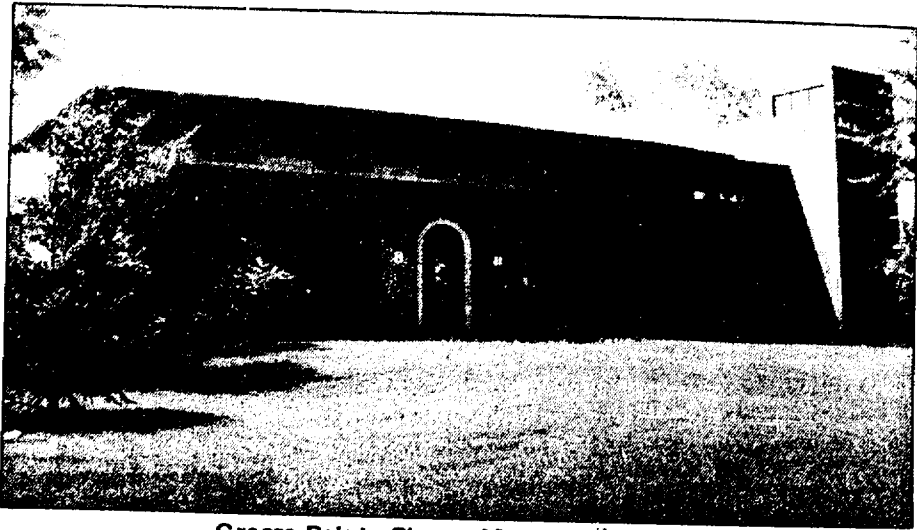

They found out who pays insurance and that high insurance premiums was the reason the city's Windmill Pointe Park couldn't have a high dive, what the city was doing to help save trees and what the new renovations to the park's pool would mean to them.

Mayor Palmer Heenan told the children that their local government is more important to them than government at the federal level because it deals with everything they see from roads to trees to the pool to Halloween curfew hours.

"It's the government you can have the most effect on," he told them, and encouraged them to come to meetings and to voice their concerns. "It is necessary that we listen to your questions."

Mayor Palmer Heenan fields questions from concerned residents, who also happen to be fifth-graders at Defer Elementary School.

The City Manager

Appointed by the city council as chief administrator, carrying out policies set by the council. Each is salaried as a full-time employee and serves the city council. He attends all council meetings and can participate in the discussion, but cannot vote; is responsible for the annual budget; oversees all city departments and makes recommendations to the council.

The city/village managers are:
Thomas W. Kressbach — City
Andrew Bremer Jr. — Farms
Dale Krajniak — Park
Chester Petersen — Woods
Michael Kenyon — Shores

The City Clerk

The city's official record keeper, including council minutes. He or she is in charge of the city seal used to authenticate documents, administers oaths of office, publishes notices of elections, hearings, meetings and bond sales and serves as the city elections officer.

The city clerks are:
Thomas W. Kressbach — City
Richard G. Solak — Farms
Pamela J. Kondziolka — Park
Chester Petersen — Woods
James T. Wright — Shores

City Council

The city councils of each of the five municipalities are elected by the people of that city. All terms are for four years. The councils make and enforce laws as empowered by the state. All regular and special council meetings are open to the public, except those which deal with labor negotiations, sales or purchase of real estate, certain litigation and personnel matters.

The councils are:

Foreign students discuss life in the United States

It's been a challenge, but the foreign students studying at University Liggett School are beginning to adjust.

This year, ULS has welcomed three foreign students sponsored by ASSIST (American Secondary Schools for International Students and Teachers) — Joella Marron, a sophomore from Australia; Teresa Parejo, a junior from Spain; and Jan Butt-Kurzer, a junior from West Germany.

Since English is the spoken language in Australia, Marron has had less trouble adjusting in that respect than Parejo or Butt-Kurzer. However, multiple differences between life in Grosse Pointe and Peppermint Grove, Western Australia, still exist. Warily examining the gray sky on a 40-degree day in Michigan, Marron said, "Summer is coming in Australia; I'll miss it. And our temperatures at home range from 74 degrees in the summer, to 55 degrees in the winter; it's much more temperate than here."

She has enjoyed adjusting to coeducation at ULS, since St. Hilda's, her school in Australia, is an Angelican girls' school.

"And St. Hilda's is a thousand times more strict," Marron said. "You can get detentions just for not wearing your beret!"

"I like being in the chorale at ULS," she continues. "Working for the yearbook is fun, too."

The academic atmosphere at ULS is unusual for Marron. "At home, the pace is a little slower," she says. "We take more subjects at a time, but learn less material about them in one year. For example, we might study biology for three or four years, instead of one or two, like they do here."

"Applying to college is also different in Australia," Marron said. "We have fewer choices, and our government makes many of the decisions for us."

Parejo describes the differences between her country and the United States.

"In Spain, we don't start school until 9:30 a.m.," she says. "After our big mid-day meal at 2 p.m., we return to school until 5 p.m. And we have more homework at Liceo Europeo, because we have more subjects; often I don't finish my homework until midnight."

Parejo likes many of the differences she has discovered in America. "In Madrid, we don't get to choose any of our subjects, and sports are not very important. At ULS, I can pick my subjects, and I'm on the field hockey team — I love it!"

At dinner time, Parejo misses the leisurely pace of dining in Spain. But she is quick to add, "There are many things about America I love, like driving a car at age 16; at home, I must wait until I'm 18. And I really like doughnuts and movies!"

Like Parejo, Butt-Kurzer admires the American driver education system. "In Germany, you must be 18 to drive a car, and it takes lots of lessons and lots of money to get a license... about $600 to $700."

And like Marron, Butt-Kurzer has been challenged by the pace of American life. "At my school, Klaus-Groth-Schule in Neumunster, we study only in the morning. We go home to a big meal by about 1 p.m., and then we have lots of time to study, to shop and to be with our friends."

"But I'm also happy that I've been given so many opportunities at ULS to try new things," Butt-Kurzer said. "I'm a staff writer for the Knightly News (ULS student newspaper) and a striker on the varsity soccer team. I plan to play tennis in the spring, too."

"I also like the good relationship between the teachers and the students — it's very relaxed," he continues. "And the very best part of coming to America is meeting so many people; everyone is so open and friendly."

Parents of juniors, seniors: college financial aid meeting

A special program for parents of juniors and seniors about financial aid for college planning, will be Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium of Grosse Pointe South.

Judy Florian, financial aid officer at Wayne State University, will be the featured speaker at the one-hour session.

Parents of juniors may meet with their students' counselors in smaller groups at 7:30 p.m. These are designed to provide up-to-date information about deadlines, college admission test dates, financial aid and scholarships, career planning, planning courses for next year and college visitation.

South's counseling and guidance department planned the program to provide the latest available information about applying for financial aid using the Financial Aid Form or the Family Financial Statement.

Conservative, liberal thought

Dr. Glenn Autschuler, associate dean and professor at Cornell University, lectured to advanced placement students from North and South Oct. 25.

His subject was "Conservative and Liberal Thought." He traced the evolution of the two philosophies from the 17th century to the 1988 presidential election. The all-day lecture was co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Foundation for Academic Enrichment and the South Mothers' Club.

North student wins award

The National Council of Teachers of English has announced Grosse Pointe North senior Todd Reimer a winner of the 1988 NCTE Achievement Award in Writing.

More than 6,000 students were nominated last January by their English teachers to compete for the NCTE Achievement Awards in Writing. Megan Abbott and Scott Schorer were also nominated to represent North.

Each nominee submitted a sample of his best writing and an impromptu essay. Reimer's sample was a modern version of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter." Later, this same short story won a Key for Excellence in the Detroit Free Press Writing Contest. These compositions were evaluated by a panel of judges consisting of both high school and college teachers.

Out of 6,000 students, 700 were chosen as winners. They represent high schools in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and American schools abroad.

The NCTE is an organization of individual and institutional members at all levels of instruction. Its goal is to increase the effectiveness of the teaching of English throughout the nation's schools and colleges.

Notre Dame open house

Seventh- and eighth-grade boys and their parents are welcome to meet with faculty and students at Notre Dame High School to tour the school facilities. The school is located at 20254 Kelly Road, Harper Woods, behind Eastland Mall.

Applications for admission are available by calling the school office. Admission is based on the following: application form; STS entrance/placement exam, Nov. 19, 8 a.m., fee $8; and personal interview, beginning Nov. 28.

The phone number at the school is 371-8965.

Debate team advances

The University Liggett School debate team earned its way to the octofinal round of competition at the Toledo St. Francis Invitational on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21 and 22.

Senior Nishu Sood and his partner, sophomore Alex Stine, worked their way to the elimination rounds by debating teams from Kentucky, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Sood also received the ninth place speaker award over 130 other competitors. This past summer, Sood spent four weeks at the University of Michigan National Debate Institute researching this year's topic: Federal Programs for Citizens over 65.

"This preparation was crucial to Sood's success," said Mickey Blashfield, coach of the ULS team.

Blashfield's team travels to the Southfield High School Invitational this weekend, Oct. 28 and 29.

Textures are key ingredient in photos

Textures play a vital role in the appearance of most photographs. Used creatively, textures will enhance the color, shape and overall composition of your work.

Our environment is rich in texture, from the rugged surface of a pebbled beach to the alternating smoothness and roughness of an old wall of peeling paint or the intimate texture of a single feather.

Late afternoon or early morning light will produce a skimming light that will produce needed texture that will give your shot important impact. An overhead sun will minimize texture making your photo appear too flat.

In landscape photography, tune in closely to how texture can relate to composition. Rivers, roads, fences, etc., will break the scene into distinct textured shapes so that the areas created build into an integrated design pattern.

In the city, textures are everywhere. The granular pattern of a street or the irregularities of a wall of bricks are both rich in texture. Even an old junkyard contains a multitude of shapes and textures that will produce exciting results. Remember that with city scenes, just as in landscapes, directional lighting is necessary to bring out strong textures.

Enjoy photographing food? If so, you know that skillful lighting is a must. A sliced cabbage, the skin of an orange, or the crust of a loaf of bread all require proper directional lighting to enhance surface textures.

When photographing your pet, always try to use side or backlighting. By doing so, you'll obtain maximum detail in the animal's fur and get separation from the background, too.

Another interesting texture to explore is human skin. Strong side or backlighting will bring out weathered wrinkles in the face of an old sailor while soft frontal lighting will show the sleek, smooth skin found on the face of a beautiful model.

Don't forget, texture itself can be made the main subject. Details of plants, rocks, and wood can make dramatic photographs in their own right. Or, on a broader scale, imagine a plowed farmland photographed to produce an abstract image of line and pattern.

Yes, textures are a key ingredient in obtaining vivid results with your camera. Without texture, pictures may appear dull and lifeless. But used correctly, textures will help you to bring home those winning shots.

A section of a painted barn tucked away near Fenton, Mich. provided Monte Nagler's wife, Mickey, an excellent opportunity to capture a picture rich in textures. A telephoto lens enabled her to "move in close" to enhance the texture in the wood for added impact.

City couple robbed by 2

A couple living in the 700 block of St. Clair were robbed in their home by two men who gained entry by kicking in the front door during the early morning hours Monday.

The man and woman were awakened by the noise. The two men said they wanted only cash, according to a Grosse Pointe City Public Safety detective. The suspects reportedly made off with just less than $300 and the man's Bulova watch.

The couple were unable to get a good description of the robbers since they refused to turn on the lights and one was believed to be wearing a nylon stocking over his face. The thieves were unarmed.

City detectives are investigating.

Cottage parking garage open for public use

By John Minnis
Staff Writer

The four-story parking structure next to Cottage Hospital on the Hill opened for business Tuesday after being under construction since March.

To celebrate the occasion, Cottage Hospital held a "We're all decked out!" party in the garage Friday for hospital administrators and employees, Grosse Pointe Farms city officials and Hill business owners, managers and employees.

Jan Duster, Cottage public relations manager, said about 350 people showed up at the celebration in the garage. All those attending were given top hats and were served champagne, surf and turf (meatballs and fish sticks) and "Cottage caviar" (egg salad on a Ritz cracker).

"For a number of years there's been a parking problem on the Hill," Duster said. "The parking garage won't solve all the problems," but it certainly should help. The garage will provide 522 additional parking spaces. Hospital employees will use the top floor and part of the third level. Leased parking spots for Hill employees will take up the remainder of the third floor. The remaining two levels will be available for public use.

The rates have been set up at 75 cents for the first hour with a maximum charge of $4.50 a day. Leased parking spots will go for $85 a month.

The city of Grosse Pointe Farms will be handling the leasing arrangements. City Clerk Richard Solak said he will use the list of those leasing lots prior to the garage construction and offer those on the list first chance for the garage lease.

Duster said other open, ground-level lots are being built near the hospital and the parking structure. She said there will be leased spaces available at one of the future open lots. Since the spaces will be open, she said they will be leased at a lower rate.

Opossum bites hand that feeds him

A Grosse Pointe Woods man found out the painful way last week that opossums don't always play dead.

According to a report filed with the Woods Public Safety Department, a resident in the 1300 block of Edmonton was taking his garbage out to the curb Oct. 26 when he discovered one of the bags was ripped. He then got a new bag and proceeded to put the strewn refuse in it.

While engaged in cleaning up the mess, a hiding opossum jumped out and bit the right hand of the man, breaking the skin.

The Wayne County Health Department said the bite was of "intermediate risk" and said the animal should be examined as soon as possible. The man's doctor said there was no need for immediate medical attention.

A Woods public safety officer impounded the opossum.

Park woman robbed during rape attempt

A would-be rapist broke off his assault attempt on a 58-year-old Grosse Pointe Park woman last week and made off with the victim's purse and $5.

The woman was walking along the south side of Jefferson in the 15200 block Oct. 22 at 10:35 p.m. when she was grabbed by a man and dragged into a nearby parking lot. The man said he had a gun and forced the woman to lie down on the pavement.

When the woman tried to get a good look at the man's face, he sprayed the woman in the face with a chemical Mace-type substance and fled with her purse, which was later found in the 1200 block of Alter.

The suspect is described as black, thin, about 6 feet tall and wearing a red baseball cap and dark clothing.

Emily looks like she'd rather be doing anything than wearing bunny ears and greeting trick-or-treaters like she had to on Monday at her home in the Woods, which is also inhabited by Reese Grobert. But don't worry Emily, Halloween only comes once a year, and it isn't rabbit season. Is it?

Learning disabilities symposium set

Eton Academy will sponsor a symposium titled "Learning Disabilities and the Bright Child" on Thursday, Jan. 26, 1989, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the University Liggett School, 1045 Cook Road.

The panel will include Dr. John Dorsey, pediatrician; Dr. Ron Friedman, psychologist; Dr. Michael Nigro, neurologist; Dr. Betty Ossman, author; and Mary Bramson Van der Tuin, headmistress of Eton Academy. A similar symposium sponsored by Eton this past year at a Birmingham high school attracted close to 500 parents and educators. Because seating space will be limited at the January event, advance reservations are suggested.

A nominal fee of $3 per person will be charged. For further information, call Mrs. Bay at 642-0319.

Program to stop smoking offered

Smokers can break the cigarette habit at the American Lung Association's Cigarette Send-Off at Saratoga Community Hospital on Wednesday, Nov. 16, 7 to 10 p.m.

The Cigarette Send-Off uses the most successful anti-smoking methods including: hypnotherapy and relaxation techniques, a film presentation of how smoking affects a person's health, medical information provided by a physician specializing in pulmonary diseases, a lifetime of freedom from smoking maintenance manual, and a cassette tape for reinforcement at home.

The fee for the session is $30. Tickets are available by calling Saratoga at 245-1589.

Saratoga Community Hospital is located at 15000 Gratiot Avenue between 7 and 8 Mile Roads.

Image-making, creativity workshop

Pat Dorsey will facilitate an all-media art workshop at the War Memorial for those interested in exploring guided imagery based on word-pictures from literature.

Experienced as well as beginning artists are invited to choose the all-day session, Friday, Nov. 11, 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. or evenings, Mondays, Nov. 21 and 28, 7 to 9:30 p.m.

This is not a class on technique but an opportunity to play with art in the medium of the artist's choice. The emphasis for the sessions is creativity, expression and originality.

Dorsey is a multi-media artist whose paintings, drawings, sculptures and performances have been seen at Detroit Focus Gallery, and the Detroit Artists

Market, in addition to other Michigan galleries and museums.

A Grosse Pointe Farms resident, she has a masters degree in social work from Smith College and has studied at the Center for Creative Studies, Pewabic Pottery and Oxbow (the Summer School of the Art Institute of Chicago).

Workshop fee is $18 for the daytime session or two evening sessions; $10, single evening session. Students should bring a variety of media, their accustomed medium or a new medium with which to experiment. Those enrolling in the all-day session should also bring a sack lunch. For more information, call 881-7511.

Park driver leads police in circles

A 30-year-old Grosse Pointe Park man led Farms police on a round-about chase during the early morning hours Monday after he was pulled over for speeding and discovered to be allegedly intoxicated.

At 2:10 a.m., Farms public safety officers observed a 1988 Pontiac traveling south bound on Kercheval at a high rate of speed. The car was pulled over and officers detected a strong odor of intoxicants on the driver's breath, according to police reports.

The driver was asked to perform four field sobriety tests: reciting the ABCs, counting from 20 to zero, balance walking along a line and touching the tip of his nose with an index finger. He failed to satisfactorily perform the last two tests, police said.

The driver agreed to take a field Breathalyzer test, but he twice failed to provide adequate samples.

He then ran for his car, jumped in and took off.

With police pursuing, he went west on Touraine from Kercheval, south on Ridge Road, west on Moran, accelerated north on Williams from Moran, west on Mount Vernon, west again on Moran, north on Mack, east on Touraine, south on Webster, south on Chalfonte, west on Mount Vernon, west on Moran, north on Mack, east on Ballantyne and east on Webber Place where he pulled into a driveway.

The driver was once again in custody by 2:15 a.m.

He was taken to Bon Secours Hospital for blood tests to determine his alcohol levels, which were not released by police.

The driver was released on $150 bond and is awaiting his court appearance.

The man told police he was a manic depressive.

Brown, Kay inducted into state Hall of Fame

M. Jane Kay, at the right, looks on in delight as District Court Judge Barbara Hackett, behind her, puts a medal on her, signifying her induction into the Michigan Women's Hall of Fame in ceremonies at the Southfield Hilton last Thursday.

Kay, vice president of administration at Detroit Edison, was one of two Grosse Pointe residents to be honored this year. The other honoree, Louise (Sally) Brown, below, looks on as her presenter Sue Marx Smock, prepares to place the medal on her.

Also in the photo are Philip Power, who accepted an award on behalf of his wife, Sarah Goddard Power, who died last year. Dr. Gladys Beckwith, executive director of the Hall of Fame, is next to Brown. At the right is Agnes Mary Mansour, who was also inducted.

Other honorees were Ethelene Crockett, M.D., Helen Mandeville Martin, Fran Harris and Marcia Federbush. It was the fifth annual awards dinner.

Brown, who has been a pioneer in day care, said in her acceptance, "The world has caught up with us and we have all the political people talking about it now. They recognize it as a national priority."

Kay, who is the first woman from the corporate community to be inducted, said, "I'm not going to be the last, I assure you. You are all potential members of the Hall of Fame. Think of obstacles as challenges... and go for it."

"I promise to be at your induction if you keep your acceptance short."

Michigan gift guide available free

Flights of fancy — from hot air balloon rides to reproductions of a 1930s biplane — along with more than 200 other Michigan-made products are featured in the fourth annual Michigan Gift Guide.

Published by the Office of Michigan Products Promotion in time for holiday gift-giving, the guide includes 73 new companies, offering such specialty items as designer log homes and elaborately styled yachts.

"The guide was designed to showcase the high level of quality and diversity of Michigan-made products," said Commerce Department Director Doug Ross. "It also promotes the fastest growing sector of Michigan's economy — the small business entrepreneur — which has been a leading force behind our success in diversifying our economy."

An armchair shopper's delight, the guide offers specialty food items, board games, artwork, clothing, sporting equipment, home accessories and toys from 61 Michigan counties.

The guide is distributed at no charge to consumers and a variety of organizations including the top 100 Michigan companies, trade associations and chambers of commerce across the state. It can be obtained by calling the Office of Michigan Products Promotion at 1-800-MIPRODS or by writing to the Michigan Department of Commerce, Office of Michigan Products Promotion, P.O. Box 30004, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

AAA Michigan is offering advice to prevent car lockouts

Redesigned car door locking systems are making late-model cars more difficult to steal, but in the process they have created a problem for motorists who lock their keys inside, reports AAA Michigan.

"Before the new sophisticated locking systems were developed, people could use items ranging from clothes hangers to credit cards to snag the lock stem and quickly open a locked door without a key," said Robert E. Tellier, AAA Michigan Emergency Road Service manager.

In addition, many late-model cars also contain door lock systems that prevent tools, such as "Slim Jims," from being pushed down between the door panels, triggering the lock into the open position.

Drivers who previously could open locked doors without assistance are unable to do so now on many late model cars, and call AAA Michigan for Emergency Road Service. As a result, lock-out calls to AAA Michigan have doubled since 1982.

"But when we get a lock-out call, there's a good chance that the road service driver won't be able to open the door either," Tellier said.

When that happens, the motorist usually has to get help from another source, usually a locksmith.

AAA Michigan now provides "AAA Plus" a membership option that provides enhanced services beyond basic AAA benefits. Among those benefits is a provision that provides up to $100 reimbursement for services when a motorist is locked out.

To avoid the trouble and expense connected with an emergency call, AAA Michigan reminds motorists to:

- Always carry a spare door key in a wallet or purse. Also, keep spare keys at home and in an office desk.

- Immediately put keys in a pocket or purse after they are removed from the ignition. Never put them on the car seat or dashboard.

- Carry a record of the key's serial number. It is usually located at the top of the key. A car dealer or locksmith can make a new key quickly if the serial number is available.

- Don't let anyone other than an experienced person open the car. Someone unfamiliar with today's door lock systems could damage the mechanism, leading to costly repairs.

Park officers save choking 9-month-old

Two Grosse Pointe Park Public Safety officers saved the life of a 9-month-old last week after they were able to dislodge a plastic object the baby had swallowed.

Officers Michael Clancy and David Loch responded to a choking-child call at 4:34 p.m. Oct. 27 and found the baby in distress and turning blue, according to police reports. While enroute to the hospital, Loch administered back blows and was able to get the baby to cough up a small plastic star the baby had swallowed.

The officers were congratulated by their superiors for a job well done.

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Zoning Board of Appeals will meet at the Pier Park Lakefront Recreation Building, 350 Lakeshore Drive, Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan on:

Monday, November 14, 1988
at 7:30 p.m. to hear the following:

1. The appeal of Mr. & Mrs. Dennis Victor, owners of the vacant property located at the southwest corner of Lakeview and Carver, from the denial of the Building Department to issue a permit for the construction of a new dwelling located on the foregoing premises. Such permit issuance was denied for reason that the new dwelling proposed to be located on the foregoing premises would not conform with the newly adopted R1 AAA requirements but would conform to the requirements of its previous zoning as R-1-AA. The proposed residence would infringe upon the required 30 foot setback on Carver and on Lakeview leaving setbacks of 25 feet on the rear setback of 40 feet leaving a setback of 30 feet and on the side setback of 15 feet leaving a setback of 10 feet 4 inches, thereby requiring variances from the provisions of Article II, Section 201, Item 51 of the Zoning Ordinance and Article XIII, Section 1300, Schedule of Regulations.
2. The appeal of Mr. Michael Bates, owner of the premises located at 3 Windward Place, from the provisions of the Zoning Ordinance requiring that paved drives placed in required from open space shall not exceed 30% in coverage of the required front yard. Provisions of such a drive as shown on the submitted plot plan results in a front yard coverage of 37%, thereby requiring that a variance be granted from Section 1400, Item 6 of the City's Zoning Ordinance.

The Hearings will be public. Interested property owner or residents of the City are invited to attend.

Campout!

The Lakeshore YWCA Indian Princess Fall Campout at Camp Ohiyesa in Holly was a success for 180 fathers and daughters. Ten tribes braved the chilly weather to enjoy a treasure hunt, horseback riding, hayrides, rowing, canoeing and archery. The weekend's fun was topped off with a '50's sock hop and the annual initiation ceremony.

Apply now for design program

High school juniors and seniors, and adults can explore their talents during two special design programs being offered on Saturdays at Lawrence Institute of Technology's School of Architecture.

The Design Discovery and Pre-College Programs will be held on LIT's campus in Southfield Jan. 14 through May 13, 1989. Students will gain preliminary exposure to the beginning course work in the fields of architecture, interior architecture/interior design and photography. In addition, there will be an Art and Architecture Awareness Seminar which will include field trips to museums, art galleries, and Lawrence Institute of Technology's Frank Lloyd Wright-designed Affleck House. Participants may take one, two or three classes. Tuition for each studio class is $180, the seminar is $60 and an estimated $150 may be needed for books and materials for a full program.

This year, there are several full-course tuition scholarships to be awarded to the pre-college applicants presenting the highest academic credentials. All students including those interested in scholarships must apply by Jan. 4, 1989. The scholarships will be awarded to only those students who apply for a full program in architecture, interior architecture, or photography. The scholarships do not include materials, transportation, or meals. College credit toward a bachelor of science degree program will be awarded to pre-college students upon successful completion of these courses.

Applicants will be accepted through Jan. 4, 1989. For further information contact your high school art, drafting, or home economics teacher, counselor, or the LIT admissions office at 356-0200, ext. 3178.

Arrangements were handled by the Chas. Verheyden Funeral Home.

Ray A. Eversole

Funeral services for Ray A. Eversole, 68, of Ypsilanti, were held at the Unity Church of Livonia, Oct. 2, 1988. Dr. Eversole died Sept. 26 in Allen Park.

He served in the U.S. Air Force during World War II.

Dr. Eversole was minister of the Grosse Pointe Unity Church, which held services at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial from 1967 until 1971. He was the author of "Ever-soul Omni Verse," and was instrumental in starting several Downriver churches.

Survivors include his wife, Georgia; three sons, Edward, Russell and David; six grandchildren; a brother, John; and his mother, Etta Clark.

The body was donated to the University of Michigan's medical school.

Donna Jean Hanna Robertson

A memorial service will be held Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church, 19950 Mack, for Donna Jean Hanna Robertson, 46. Mrs. Robertson, of Grosse Pointe Woods, died Oct. 24, 1988, of injuries suffered in an automobile accident on May 16, 1987, which left her a quadriplegic.

She was born in Ann Arbor, attended Grosse Pointe schools, and was a homemaker.

She is survived by a daughter, Jennifer; two sons, Dennis and Joseph; and her parents, Donald and Helen Hanna.

The body was cremated.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation or the American Heart Association.

Arrangements were handled by A.H. Peters Funeral Home.

Interlochen competition

Interlochen Center for the Arts announces its first Competition for Young Composers, according to Susan Hurley, chairwoman of the Interlochen Arts Academy Department of Theory and Composition.

Composition guidelines require that all compositions be scored for a chamber ensemble comprised of any standard orchestral instruments, limited to eight players; the duration must be between five and 20 minutes; applicants must not have reached their 18th birthday at the time of submission, and only works that are unpublished and that have not won any award will be considered.

Entries must be accompanied by a biography of the composer, a separate self-addressed, stamped return envelope, and a $5 entry fee. A clear copy of the score, not the original, should be submitted; a cassette tape may accompany the score, but is not required.

The biography must include the composer's date of birth, address, composition title, instrumentation, history of musical training, and a list of previous compositions.

All entries must be post-marked no later than Jan. 15, 1989, and sent to Dr. Susan Hurley, co the IAA Composition Competition, Department of Theory and Composition, Interlochen Center for the Arts, Interlochen, Mich. 49643.

One winner will be selected and a cash prize awarded March 1, 1989. The selected work will be performed by students at Interlochen Arts Academy.

Detroit Plan

King's "I have a vision" oration, the video portrayed an upscale vision and style similar to what one might see at Disney's EP-COT Center.

The 1997 vision of Detroit included:

- Detroit schools that have gained a national reputation in excellence, including a preschool program for all.
- A world center for high technology and manufacturing; Detroit known as the "technology school of the world."
- Job opportunities, training and advanced education for everyone.
- An excellent, well-used mass transit system.
- A growing middle class and a vanishing underclass.
- A safe, secure Detroit where crime is not tolerated and is the lowest of any major city; where communities, business and police work together.

• The highest concentration of minority-owned businesses in the country.

• A conscious, ongoing effort to eradicate racially motivated decisions.

• A shining Detroit image.

• A unique international waterfront development, and a cohesive international community.

The video concluded that the Strategic Plan was nothing short of a vision of transforming the entire city.

While the panel discussion was to explain the Detroit Strategic Plan's impact on Grosse Pointe, little evidence was given that the plan would have any effect on the suburbs or the Pointes.

The main belief of those working on the plan, however, is that Detroit is not an island, that whatever happens to Detroit affects the suburbs and the entire state. The suburbs will suffer the same fate as Detroit, the reports states, unless something is done to turn around a city in despair.

A large group of residents attended the discussion. One resident wanted to know what Grosse Pointe could do to help accomplish the plan.

Morton, speaking on education, encouraged Grosse Pointes to approve the school refinancing plan in Lansing. The refinancing plan calls for supporting public schools through increased sales taxes, which would be offset by lowered property taxes.

"We need financial reform for education," he said. "We need equity." He urged Pointers to take a "statewide" view of school financing.

Smith, speaking on jobs and development, said he recently was in Chicago, where the city was celebrating the opening of the prestigious Bloomingdale's department store. He said he wouldn't mind if Pointers used their influence to get a Bloomingdale's downtown. He said Detroit could also use a Sears and Red Lobster, if any of those in attendance had influence with those companies.

Judge said his group has not compiled a report on what has been accomplished in implementing Detroit's Strategic Plan. He said he may consider putting together such a report for those who would like to keep abreast of what is going on.

Calligraphy, framing workshops set

Calligrapher Pat Potter will conduct a two-session workshop on Modified Old English Script, Tuesday, Nov. 8 and 15, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the War Memorial.

The workshop is designed for those who have mastered Calligraphy I and wish to develop new skills. Modified Old English Script is also known as Gothic Hand, Black Letter, Fraktur, Textura, Grottesque and Rotund.

Workshop fee is $14. Advance enrollment suggested. Participants should bring calligraphy pens and several nibs, pen or pencil and thin typing or tracing paper.

Basic Framing, taught by Scott Lewis, will be repeated Mondays, Nov. 7-28, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Students will complete an in-class framing project during the four-week course. Fee is $20 plus $25 for supply kit payable to instructor. All materials, including artwork, are provided in the kit.

For additional information, call 881-7511.

Aging, memory topics at meeting

The Lakeshore Psychological Association will present Dr. Eli Saltz, director of Merrill-Palmer Institute, who will speak on Aging and Memory at the bi-monthly luncheon meeting Tuesday, Nov. 8, from noon to 2 p.m. at the Bon Secours Hospital cafeteria, then executive boardroom.

For more information, call Martin Wunsch at 641-5962.

Highlights of strategic action plans for Detroit

Race relations:

- Establish a Council on Race Relations to speak out against injustice.
- Develop and promote the The Detroit Principals, a set of rules for racial justice that goes beyond the law.
- Conduct a comprehensive research study on housing policies and practices, focusing on unequal distribution of mortgages, home loans and insurance rates and the practice of real estate steering in white and black neighborhoods.
- Expansion of New Detroit's Succession Planning for Leadership program.
- Course studies on race relations in all Detroit schools, and making race relations college courses required for teacher certification.
- Form Race Relations Action Groups.

Education:

- Establish citywide preschool for all students beginning at age 3 or 4.
- Citywide open enrollment at all schools, allowing students to attend the school of their choice. This would encourage quality competition among schools.
- Give each school and its principal greater autonomy over how and what is taught.
- Businesses and colleges guarantee a "certainty of opportunity" for those who successfully complete Detroit schools. Such a guarantee would include a job, training or a college education.
- Expand the Detroit schools' adult education programs.

Jobs and development:

- Create a Town Within a City from the New Center area south to the Fisher Freeway, which would be a revitalized concentration of housing, shopping offices and entertainment facilities.
- Establish a Detroit Renaissance Fund to provide minorities the opportunity to participate in job-producing investments.
- A commitment by each member of Detroit Renaissance to bring one new company or business into the city by 1990.
- Create a Detroit Local Initiative Support Corp. that would make loans and grants to finance bricks-and-mortar projects in the neighborhoods.

- Businesses join an Adopt-A-Neighborhood program.
- Establish a Community Development Credit Union to make home improvement loans.
- Join the Small Business Development System, a program to foster small businesses in the city.
- Create business incubators, low-rent locations where start-up firms can grow and mature while learning.

Crime:

- Establish a Neighborhood Partnership Program to increase support of neighborhoods.
- Create a Coordinating Council to promote existing social service programs.
- Promote Home-Based, Family-Centered programs to break the cycle of broken families and keep families together.
- Provide special police squad cars designated to cruise the city every night checking for youth curfew violators.
- Hold parents responsible for their children's actions.
- Create Spotlight Patrols aimed at identifying and shutting down drug houses.
- Confiscate convicted drug dealers' homes and use funds from sale of homes to finance drug treatment and rehabilitation programs.
- Lobby for greater national restriction on the sale, purchase and ownership of handguns.
- Set up special courts to deal with drug offenders and crimes involving handguns.
- Provide penalties for nonviolent offenders that make use of alternatives to incarceration, reserving prison for the most serious criminals.

Image:

- Establish citywide program to improve Detroit's physical appearance.
- Launch an organized public relations and advertising campaign called the Detroit Communications Program.
- Provide an orientation program at local universities to educate local opinion leaders, especially newly arrived reporters and media executives.

Places to drive, things to see in our state

Michigan put America on wheels, gave America its first mile of paved road to put the wheels on, and then — messed things up with the first traffic light.

However, it can make up for gridlock, freeways, billboards and parking lots with its little roads that are fun to drive: some leading to broad vistas, some to lighthouses, some to charming small towns, others to gourmet restaurants or cozy B & Bs.

And although Michigan is home to some of the largest industrial complexes in the world, it is also the second most diverse farming state and one of the most heavily forested (nearly 19 million acres, or half the state) in America. This makes for an almost infinite selection of pretty backroad drives, leading anywhere and nowhere. The following is a random and highly subjective listing that almost anyone can improve upon after a little exploring on his or her own.

The first is a surprise, because it is definitely not a backroad or a country lane. Start with a drive around Belle Isle, Detroit's unique 1,000-acre island park in the middle of the Detroit River, with its golf course, beaches, yacht and boat clubs, and free-ranging deer herd, then head east out of Jefferson Avenue until, in the Grosse Pointe suburbs, it becomes Lakeshore Drive, with lovely mansions and manicured lawns on the left and the sparkling waters of Lake St. Clair on the right.

Next, you can skirt the edges of Hell on a pair of country roads. North Territorial Road runs from U.S. 23, just north of Ann Arbor, west to M-52, skirting the southern edge of the lake district of Livingston and Washtenaw counties. M-36 runs parallel to it, a few miles to the north. Both are especially attractive in fall and come close to the famous, but obviously misnamed, Michigan village of Hell.

Not far away is the area of Michigan aptly named "The Irish Hills." Almost any of the roads winding through the area are worth exploring: U.S. 12 (once an Indian trail and then the chief connection between Detroit and Chicago), M-50, M-52, U.S. 223. They wind through the hills, through small towns, past tourist attractions and a major international speedway.

Motorists are beginning to discover the Lake Huron Circle Tour, even though it has not been designated yet, and finding that some of the finest views of the lake are in the Thumb, where M-25 heads north out of Port Huron through towns with names like Lakeport, Port Sanilac, Harbor Beach, Port Hope, Port Austin and Bay Port. The road often rides the top of a high bluff, providing sweeping vistas of the fifth largest lake in the world.

M-115 just happens to be part of the most direct route from Detroit to Traverse City. It runs straight as an arrow northwest out of Clare, slicing between Cadillac's two lakes, to Frankfort on Lake Michigan.

Heavily treed, it also provides one of the most attractive settings for getting where you want to go — especially on the stretch between Clare and Mesick.

One of the lower peninsula's most rewarding drives is the 89-mile stretch of M-22 between Manistee and Northport near the tip of the Leelanau Peninsula. Hugging the Lake Michigan shore most of the way, it skirts Portage, Crystal, and Platte Lakes, threads the isthmus between big and little Glen Lakes (considered two of the most beautiful in the world), passes through such typical northern Michigan villages as Empire, Glen Arbor, Leland, and Northport as well as through Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore.

It passes by the front gate of one of Michigan's premier resorts and provides sometimes a glimpse and sometimes a dramatic vista of Lake Michigan. At Northport, M-22 reverses direction and heads south along the shore of Grand Traverse Bay. With water and trees, cottages and sailboats always in sight, and with a couple of charming villages along the route, it has been described as a Hollywood movie set — until the traffic starts to build close to Traverse City.

Not far to the east is Torch Lake. One of Michigan's most popular lakes (cottages discreetly lining its shores are handed down from generation to generation), it is also one of the most beautiful. More than 15 miles long, with colors that change dramatically with the light and the weather, it has been ranked by a national magazine as one of the most beautiful lakes in the world. It is easy to circle the lake on your own, following local roads through a countryside that is dotted with other, interconnected lakes, farms, cottages, and woodlands.

This circle tour also has the advantages of taking the driver right past one of northern Michigan's fine little restaurants specializing in carefully prepared and presented regional cuisine (in Alden) and near two more (in Ellsworth) and near two of Michigan's major year-round resorts (in Bellaire and Acme).

Heading east from Charlevoix, you have a number of choices: Follow the south shores of Lake Charlevoix past one of the world's smallest car ferries at Ironton (cable-guided, it carries four cars at a time 1,000 feet across the south arm of the lake) to East Jordan, or follow the north shore through Horton Bay (and see the general store little changed since Ernest Hemingway visited it in his youth) to Boyne City with its renovated main street and upscale waterfront restaurant.

Heading north out of Potoskey, through Bay View and west along the north shore of Little Traverse Bay takes you to Harbor Springs and the start of one of the Michigan's most famous out-of-the-way drives: "The Tunnel of Trees," a 13-mile drive along Lake Michigan bluffs through a literal tunnel of trees, which is decorated with a whole hillside of trillium in spring, cool greens all summer long, and blazing colors in autumn. It leads from a fashionable resort village to a native American settlement at Cross Village.

From here it's on to the Straits of Mackinac or back south and east across from M-68 through the chain-of-lakes area, through picturesque Indian River and past one of the two waterfalls in the lower peninsula (Oqueoc Falls) to Rogers City and the Lake Huron shore, which can be followed north through Cheboygan to the straits area.

Once across the Mackinac Bridge, you can head west along the northern Lake Michigan shore on U.S. 2, a highly acclaimed scenic drive, particularly between St. Ignace and Epoufette. Or you can head east on M-134 into the Les Cheneaux Islands region, known for rocky coves and sandy beaches. Or you can dodge the freeway and head north on M-123 toward Tahquamenon Falls, one of the three largest falls east of the Mississippi, and toward Whitefish Point, known for its shipwrecks and birdwatching.

Much of travel through the Upper Peninsula is on scenic country highways with waterfalls at virtually every turn — whether the 100-mile-plus tree-lined stretch of U.S. from Iron Mountain to Wakefield, or the winding Black River Parkway Drive from Bessemer to Lake Superior.

Perhaps the epitome of Upper Peninsula backroads is the combination of M-26 and U.S. 41, as they run up the spine of the Keweenaw Peninsula, passing through small towns, Michigan's main Finnish settlement, ghost towns, abandoned mines, the last remaining wooden fort east of the Mississippi, and some of the best fall color in North America or the world (depending on which Chicago paper you read). U.S. 41, by the way, is the ultimate backroad — a 1,500-mile-plus non-freeway that begins at the Atlantic coast in Miami, Florida, and ends at the Lake Superior shore in Copper Harbor.

The list goes on: M-43 between Kalamazoo and the charming small town of Hastings, the Red Bud trail north of Niles, any number of shore roads between Pentwater and Whitehall-Montague, between Whitehall and Muskegon, from Grand Haven to Holland, and other stretches of the Lake Michigan coast down to the Indiana border.

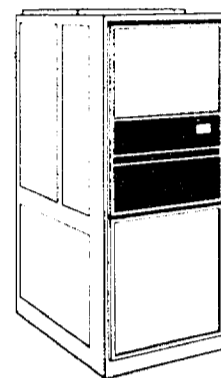

But perhaps one of the greatest surprises is I-75. A major highway of commerce stretching to Alligator Alley, Fla., it becomes a northwoods dream in Michigan. Tree-lined, lake-dotted, underpopulated on all but the most active weekends, it is a stretch of freeway that looks, feels, and drives like a well-planned and carefully planted parkway.

Farms precinct moved due to City Hall work

Grasse Pointe Farms voters who normally cast their ballots at the fire station on Kerby have been assigned a new polling place due to construction at the municipal complex.

Precinct No. 4 has been temporarily relocated from the fire station to the Lakefront Recreation Building at Pier Park, on Lakeshore at the foot of Moross.

A $760,000 renovation of the police station and the court-city complex began during the summer. The public safety offices were expected to be done around Halloween, but the municipal court and city offices will take longer to complete.

City Clerk Richard Solak said the precinct relocation is merely because of the municipal complex renovation. He said Precinct No. 4 will move back to the Kerby after the construction is finished.

See Siberia on film

Filmmaker Raphael Green will narrate his travelogue, "Siberia — The Sleeping Land," Monday, Nov. 7, 8 p.m. at the War Memorial.

This Grosse Pointe Adventure Series presentation begins with an optional 6:30 p.m. dinner in the War Memorial's Fries Ballroom. Beef stroganoff with poppy seed noodles, tomato, cucumber and yogurt salad and ice cream is on the menu.

The film offers an in-depth look at this most mysterious region of the Soviet Union. It begins in Yokohama, Japan aboard a Russian ship bound for the Siberian port city of Khabarovsk and continues with an overland adventure on the Trans-Siberian Railroad, the longest in the world.

The trek takes the audience north to the Arctic Circle, south to cities near the Chinese border and into Siberia's heartland as the train moves west toward Moscow.

Viewers will get a rare glimpse at the people who inhabit an area almost three times the size of the United States, their history and culture.

Green is an experienced filmmaker and world traveler, having spent more than 30 years exploring the globe. He has produced 15 travelogues including the first on China since 1949. He also had the honor of presenting the first travelogue lecture in China on July 3, 1986.

Adventure Series tickets are $16.85 per person for the complete evening. Dinner only tickets are $12.60; film only, $4.25. Dinner reservations must be made by Friday, Nov. 4 at noon. For further information, call the War Memorial.

Canning jar exhibit

The Metropolitan Detroit Antique Bottle Club will present its annual Canning Jar Harvest Show at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 17.

Hundreds of old fruit jars and canning devices, reflecting home life in 1890s America, will fill a lecture room at Madison Heights Lamphere High School. Displays of unusual Mason jars and obsolete jar closures will also be highlighted.

The Canning Jar exhibition hours at Lamphere High School, on East 13 Mile Road between I-75 and John R. are from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Admission is free. The club will offer free historical appraisals of items brought to the lecture.

For additional information about this event which is free, call Richard Rossen at 745-2150.

DEER/VEHICLE CRASHES ACCELERATE IN AUTUMN

BEWARE OF DEER - Of almost 40,000 deer/vehicle accidents in 1987, more than half occurred between October and December, deer mating season. The number of crashes jumped 81 percent from 1983 to 1987, with repairs averaging $1,200 per vehicle statewide. AAA Michigan urges motorists to:

- Be extra alert during autumn.
- Ease to a slow pace if you see a deer and blink headlights or sound your horn. Don't panic or try to dodge a moving deer; it may run toward you in a dash.
- Watch at night for shining eyes.
- Assume more deer may be near if one appears.
- Report all accidents to local police or the DNR and your insurance company. You may obtain a permit to keep the deer.
- Educate other drivers to take extra precautions in autumn and always wear your seatbelt.

Be wary of unsolicited credit cards

Detroit-area consumers have been deluged by offers from various credit card promotion companies.

These companies usually conduct a mass mailing, telling consumers that they have been "pre-approved" for a credit card limit of as much as $5,000. More importantly, they are informed that they will have an established line of credit with a major third party credit card issuer.

The Better Business Bureau of Detroit and Eastern Michigan urges consumers to exercise caution with any company promoting a "pre-approved" credit card.

One company in particular, Credit Card Authorization Center, one of several names used by Marketing Specialists International, Inc., of Crofton, Maryland, has been the subject of hundreds of consumer telephone calls to the bureau recently.

Consumers have informed the bureau that the company advised them through promotional literature that they have been "pre-approved" for a $2,500 credit limit. The names VISA and MASTERCARD are listed frequently and prominently throughout the literature.

Upon closer inspection, however, one learns that the card being offered is not a VISA or MASTERCARD. What is being offered, according to respondents, are two cardboard credit cards and a Marketing Specialists International catalog.

These cards can only be used to order merchandise from the catalog. The cost of these "cards" range from a one year fee of $35 to a lifetime fee of $49.95.

The BBB informs consumers that in many cases, companies which offer "guaranteed" credit cards for a fee are offering either information on how to obtain credit cards or "collateral" cards which require a savings deposit equal to the credit limit.

Consumers may contact the Better Business Bureau's consumer information department at 962-7566 to obtain a business performance record on a particular credit card promotion company.

Voters can declare party preference

Voters going to the polls on Nov. 8 will be given an opportunity to declare their political party preference as part of the Presidential Primary Law which took effect on Sept. 1.

Under Public Act 275 of 1988, Michigan will hold a closed presidential primary to allow voters to participate in the presidential nomination process. The new law requires voters to declare a political party preference to be eligible to vote in the presidential primary.

Implementation of the law began Sept. 1 when voters were given the opportunity for the first time to complete a Political Party Preference Form when registering to vote.

Voters who do not declare their political party preference at least 30 days before the presidential primary will not be allowed to vote in that primary. The presidential primary, which will be held on the third Tuesday of March in presidential election years, will be held for the first time on March 17, 1992.

Each polling location will provide voters with the Political Party Preference Form after they vote Nov. 8. Voters have several options when they receive the form which was developed by the Department of State's Bureau of Elections staff. Voters may:

- complete the form and hand it in at the polls;
- take the form with them, complete it at a later date, and return it to their city or township clerk; or,
- they can choose not to fill out the form.

The form requests the voters name, address, county and city or township of residence, and date of birth. It also requests the voter's driver license or personal identification card number, however, declaration of that number is not required in order to vote in the presidential primary.

Voters who choose not to declare their political party preference will not affect their eligibility to vote in any election other than the presidential primary.

In addition to having the opportunity to declare party preference when voting, the option will be incorporated into the voter registration form used by city and township clerks and in Secretary of State branch offices.

As part of the Presidential Primary Law, the Secretary of State will be offering voters the right to register to vote and declare their political party preference when renewing their driver license by mail beginning March 1, 1989.

They make the fur fly — quietly, elegantly

By Pat Paholsky
Editor

Buying a fur coat with little or no knowledge about the product is a gamble.

"We have no manufacturer's suggested prices," said Peter M. Petcoff, one of the owners of Sullivan-Rollins of Grosse Pointe. "You have to trust the person you are dealing with."

The price of a fur coat is determined by the cost of the skins, a cost, he said, that varies, particularly with mink where there are many classifications.

"We don't carry the $1,995 mink. We let others handle that and handle the headaches."

Petcoff, along with his partner, Douglass A. May, accepted an award from the Better Business Bureau Friday morning. The Founders Award was presented to the Grosse Pointe Woods business for promoting voluntary self-regulation and maintaining truth and accuracy in the marketplace. The Detroit News was also presented with the Founders Award this year.

Dating back to 1910, the Mack Avenue business is a family business in the sense that the owners come from a line of furriers. Petcoff's father, Frederick, was in business with his father in New York after he finished school. The elder Petcoff is still active in the business as owner of Great Lakes Fur Service, a wholesaler in Detroit. Petcoff said he began learning about furs when he was 7 years old.

May, who is a master furrier, learned his skills from his father, Alan May, and at Annis Furs. He also studied fashion design and pattern-making under Max Chatman in New York. Mays' 23-year-old son, Robert, is now learning the business.

The company deals in the medium to exclusive range of furs and is the sole distributor in Michigan of Blackglama, the finest mink coat available.

"We are not the typical 50 to 70 percent off furrier," he said. The 60 percent off sales this time of the year are due to inflated prices, he said.

"We deal with an honest mark-up. Every year we say we should join the rest and every year we don't. We probably lost business, but you get what you pay for."

The company's busiest season has begun. There are two seasons, he said — selling and service. The selling season will extend until March or "as long as the weather is cold," he said.

Then when the temperatures begin warming, sometime in April or May, customers bring their coats in for storage, cleaning, repairs or remodeling.

The biggest change in the business is the age of the average customer, Petcoff said, down to between 30 and 40 years old as opposed to 50 years old or more years ago. Furs popular today with younger women are beaver, muskrat and racoon.

Persian lamb, popular in the '50s, is coming back, in combination with other furs or leather. "It has a grandmother image," he said. "And we're trying to get the grandmother out of it."

In answer to anti-fur campaigns by animal rights groups, Petcoff answers that fur farms today are run by college-educated businessmen who know that their animals must receive excellent care and nutrition to produce a superior fur. The methods of killing them — carbon monoxide gas or electrocution or lethal injection in the case of larger animals — are humane and painless, according to information from the Fur Retailers Information Council in Washington, D.C.

The council also reports that trapping is being upgraded by trapper education courses and research into finding more humane methods. New techniques include the padded jaw trap and live traps.

Government regulated trapping controls the species and preserves them, Petcoff said. The beaver population in the area is the same today as it was in 1701 when Detroit was founded, he said.

He points to the Alaska seal, which was dwindling in numbers until the United States, Canada and Soviet Union signed a treaty regulating the killing. "Today there are more Alaska seals than there were 50 to 60 years ago," he said.

He and May do most of the buying in New York and Montreal. Every year in April, they go to a fur auction in Seattle to buy short nap natural ranch mink skins. From the skins they make their own fur coats in the back room. It accounts for about 25 percent of their business.

Mink, which Petcoff said is the most durable, all-around, long-lasting fur, can be worn for 10 to 20 years. Somebody's grandmother's fur coat, which has hung in the basement for years, will probably not be able to be rehabilitated, he said.

Mink coats that are inexpensive are probably from China, Petcoff said. "We don't go into it. I don't trust their tanning process."

The cost of labor, whether it's manufactured in the United States or Korea or Hong Kong, is basically the same, he said. "By the time you insure it and pay the duty, there's not much difference."

"We believe in U.S. mink. It's the finest in the world and it's known throughout the world."

The company takes trade-ins. Some of the furs are held and used in repairs, for instance, when a 10-year-old coat is brought in. Others are sent to New York where they are then shipped to Europe which has a market for used furs, he said.

Petcoff, who has an otter coat said sales to men are increasing every year. Coats for men in this area account for about 5 percent of the business, he said, adding that Grosse Pointe is a conservative community.

A fur coat is a work of beauty and art, Petcoff said. "It's very functional today. It can be worn every day. You can remodel it, repair it, trade it in — it has value."

Sierra Station: Mexican food, jazz, blues

By Pat Paholsky
Editor

There aren't too many places where a person can get good Mexican food and good jazz, according to Carol Fortuna, owner of Sierra Station, 15110 Mack Ave., Grosse Pointe Park.

And one weekend of each month, Sierra Station features the blues. Some of the performers include Alexander Zonjic, the Hot Club, Bugs Beddow, the Living Room Blues and the Bill Heid Trio. That's Friday and Saturday nights.

Tuesdays are caricature night, where patrons get a free drawing with dinner. The caricaturist, first featured in January during the restaurant's month-long birthday party, was such a hit that she has been a weekly regular since.

And, Fortuna says, "If a person has been here five years, he or she can get into the Five-Year Club." That's where drawings of regulars are hung on the wall behind the bar.

For the rest of the week, Monday is pitcher night at $3.50; on Wednesdays, margaritas are $1; and Thursdays, it's tequila sunrises for $1. "Sunday is siesta time — closed," Fortuna said.

Last Saturday, Sierra Station hosted its annual Halloween party. First prize for best costume was a trip to Hell, Mich.

But the fun is only part of it. Fortuna speaks with pride of her cook, Aurora Rosas, who has been with the restaurant since it opened more than seven years ago.

"I don't think you can find better Mexican food anywhere," Fortuna said. "She buys the Mexican foodstuffs, the sauces and the chili. She learned her craft in Mexico City where she cooked in a convent for 12 years."

"Aurora's food is good Mexican home cooking."

The way she was hired was unusual. Fortuna, who had worked in banks for 20 years in public relations and as a branch manager, was looking for a family business. Her son was in college, her daughter was looking for a job and her brother, who had a resort up north, was looking for something to do in the winter.

Carol Fortuna stands behind the bar at Sierra Station. The caricatures are done by an artist who comes in on Tuesdays and does complimentary drawings for patrons who have dinner. The caricatures behind the bar belong to members of the Five-Year Club — those patrons who have been customers for at least five years.

Sierra Station was then an Irish pub, Houlihan's. "I walked in and saw the straw walls and immediately thought of the southwest," Fortuna said. "It reminded me of a way station."

"And when I think of the southwest, I think of Mexican food. That's how it evolved."

Fortuna said in her search for a Mexican cook, she called the Mexican consulate which referred her to several agencies. She sponsored a cook-off and after a series of events, found Rosas, who couldn't speak English.

"We could communicate even when we couldn't communicate," Fortuna said, through hand motions and facial expressions.

Asked if she speaks Spanish, Fortuna says, "I speak only food. A whole sentence, no."

There are 19 entrees on the menu ranging from $4.25 for two tacos with rice and beans to $11.50 for a fiesta plate for two, which includes three enchiladas, tostado, tacos and rice and beans.

There are salads, appetizers, egg dishes, sandwiches and desserts. Sierra Station is a full service bar, including imported beers.

Business hours, beginning Nov. 13, will be from 4 p.m. to closing, Sunday through Saturday. And beginning Nov. 15, Sierra Station will start a delivery service limited to the Grosse Pointes.

There are about 15 employees and her son, Ted Parent II, and daughter, Debra Manning, work there. Fortuna's husband, Paul, is a retired radiologist. They live in Mount Clemens.

Sierra Station seats about 70 people and attracts all ages, Fortuna said. The business belongs to Pointes East, an organization of 19 restaurants in the area.

"If you've been here once, you're never a stranger," Fortuna said. "It's a unique, fun place."

The telephone number is 822-1270.

Women's network to meet

Cyvia Snyder of the Detroit Institute of Arts Speaker's Bureau will be the guest of the Michigan Professional Women's Network at its Monday, Nov. 14 dinner meeting at the Southfield Raddison Hotel. She will demonstrate the excitement of Oriental art through a slide presentation and will highlight the D.I.A.'s collection.

The Michigan Professional Women's Network is interested in all areas of concern to professional women. By learning from speakers, sharing information and actively networking together, the group helps career women succeed in business, industry and education.

Meetings are open to the public but advance reservations are required. The program begins at 6 p.m. with a networking hour followed by dinner and the guest speaker. Reservations must be received by Nov. 9. Call Byte-Type at 258-8822 for dinner reservation information. Cost is $18 for members and $23 for non-members.

For general information, call Diane Wilbur at 647-4480 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Institute receives two grants

The Center for Creative Studies-Institute of Music and Dance has received two major foundation grants — $75,000 from the Bundy Foundation and $30,000 from the Matilda R. Wilson Fund. Both grants will be used in support of the institute's general operating expenses.

An affiliate of the Center for Creative Studies, the Institute of Music and Dance has been providing performing arts education for more than 70 years. At locations in Detroit, Southfield and Grosse Pointe, IMD's artist/faculty of nearly 100 instructors works with over 1,600 students each week. Information on the wide range of performing arts programs that are available may be obtained by calling 831-2870.

Inventors to meet Nov. 10

The Inventors Association of Metropolitan Detroit will meet on Nov. 10 at the Grosse Pointe North High School, 707 Vernier Road, in Room 312 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The lecture this month is "Inventing... Is it Worth it?" by David Colvin, founder of Colvin Design and Manufacturing, Inc. He will be discussing the problems one encounters when licensing or manufacturing his product, and if he overcomes these obstacles, the rewards one may receive.

No registration is necessary. Meetings are free to the public; after two meetings participants are asked to join for $25 per year.

EMPIRE OF AMERICA HOME EQUITY LINE OF CREDIT

WE PAY YOUR CLOSING COSTS AND ALL FEES

You don't pay a penny! Closing costs on other Home Equity Lines of Credit can add up to hundreds of dollars. But at Empire of America, we pay your closing costs on lines up to $100,000, saving you as much as $600* or more! Plus, you pay no application fee.

Enjoy a guaranteed rate cap. Our current Home Equity Line of Credit rate is 12.00%† annual percentage rate. Plus, with our guaranteed rate cap, you'll never pay more than 5% over the rate in effect at the time you close.

And more... You can pay off your other higher cost loans and charges. Plus you may still be able to deduct 100% of your home equity interest. See your tax advisor for details. Besides that, you'll have a revolving line of credit, so as you pay off your loan, that money again becomes available to you.

Come to your local Empire of America office to receive a free estimate of how much you'll be able to borrow. And once you apply you'll have an answer on approving your credit within 24 hours. Start saving now.

Save room for these on your holiday calendar:

'Sounds of Christmas' to benefit Provencal-Weir

Christmas carols and carriage rides will combine for a unique holiday fundraiser set for Sunday, Dec. 11, as a benefit for the restoration effort at the Provencal-Weir House, 376 Kercheval Ave. in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Historical Society, the "Sounds of Christmas" will feature music of the holiday season at three historic Grosse Pointe churches. Benefactors, patrons and friends will enjoy an afterglow at the Grosse Pointe Academy, where elegant refreshments will be served and merry-makers can tour the grounds in horse-drawn carriages.

The event will begin at 2 p.m. Dec. 11 at St. Paul Church, 157 Lakeshore Road, with a presentation of "Seasonal Organ Favorites" by David O. Wagner, St. Paul's director of music.

At 3 p.m., music lovers will have a choice of attending the "Christmas Sing-along with Carillon and Organ" at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, featuring William DeTurk, director of music and carillonneur; or "Christmas Carols by the Men's and Boys' Choir" at Christ Church. D. Frederic DeHaven is musical director at Christ Church.

Members of the Grosse Pointe North High School choirs, directed by Ben Walker, will be caroling at each church and at the Academy afterglow.

General admission for the day of Christmas music is $10 per person, $20 for reserved seating. Friend, patron and benefactor tickets are $100, $250 and $500 each, respectively, and include the afterglow. Those who attend the afterglow party will receive the "Doors of Grosse Pointe" poster, courtesy of Gryphon Gallery owner Cynthia Ruffner.

Hosts and hostesses for "Sounds of Christmas" are Mr. and Mrs. Randolph J. Agle, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Alandt, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Baer, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Boll, Leonard C. Jacques, Mr. and Mrs. D.J. Kennedy Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Lamparter and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Meade.

The hosts and hostesses, who will travel between the churches in horse-drawn carriages, have underwritten the cost of the afternoon so that all contributions will go directly to the restoration of Provencal-Weir House.

General chairmen of the event are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Jon B. Gandelot, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Malecek.

The Provencal-Weir House, purchased by the Grosse Pointe Historical Society in January for its future headquarters, is one of Grosse Pointe's oldest residences. It was originally built in 1819 by Pierre Provencal at what is now the corner of Provencal and Lakeshore roads. The house was moved to its present site at 376 Kercheval Ave. in 1889.

For ticket information on the "Sounds of Christmas," call 886-7124.

Martha Popovich, chairman Billie Clinton, Christine Burt and chairperson Lynne Haggart are looking for gifts and personal care items to share with those in need for Operation LINC's holiday programs.

LINC needs help with its holiday giving projects

Operation LINC volunteers are gearing up for LINC's annual holiday giving programs — The Foster Care Program and Holiday Gift and Toy Chest — which last year resulted in the distribution of 16,000 gifts to metro Detroit children and adults.

The Foster Care Program, in its 15th year, is chaired this season by Lynne Haggart. Gifts will be collected from children in Grosse Pointe area schools and churches for distribution to foster care children through Wayne County social services. There are approximately 3,000 children in family foster care and another 1,000 in residential care at any one time, all of whom have been either neglected, abandoned or abused.

Haggart says the program hopes to generate donations of 4,000 gifts this year so that all children can enjoy a happy holiday. Her committee has been busy distributing flyers and asking for help. Donations of items such as stuffed animals, toys, cars and trucks, books, puzzles, mittens and hats are requested. Each item will be holiday wrapped and tagged to identify the contents and age for which it is best suited.

Haggart asks that anyone who knows of a nursery school, public or private school or church which may be interested in participating in the Foster Care Program call the LINC office at 882-6100.

The Holiday Gift and Toy Chest has grown tremendously since it began eight years ago in response to numerous gift requests the LINC office receives at Christmas from the agencies it serves. Last year, 12,000 gifts were received and distributed to 26 agencies, all of which meet the requirements of need as determined by LINC's review board.

Chairman Billie Clinton and assistants Martha Popovich, Christine Burt and Erica Lindow are looking for donations of clothes, toys, candy, books, puzzles, games, bedding and personal care items.

"Monetary donations are also gratefully accepted," Clinton says. All donations are tax-deductible.

To support Operation LINC's holiday projects, LINC has arranged for volunteers to take pictures of children with Santa Claus during the month of November. LINC will be taking photos Mondays through Saturdays at Jacobson's.

Operation LINC is a non-profit volunteer organization started in 1971. LINC operates throughout the year linking donors of new and used goods/services to metro Detroit charitable agencies.

If you'd like to help LINC with its holiday projects, call the office at 882-6100 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Grab your fruitcakes, there's a mad moon on the rise

By Ellen Probert
Special Writer

The American Indian definition of November is "The Month of the Mad Moon," which seems apt, coming as it does on the heels of Halloween. But November is also the month of crisp days, golden sunshine, falling leaves, cider mills and looking ahead to holiday excitement.

Part of that is the planning of holiday food and at this time of year, spices, candied fruits and flowers and herbs play a large part.

Take fruitcake for instance. When you think of the ingredients it has and of its tradition, you find yourself suddenly viewing a whole world of exotic times and places.

Fruitcake originated in the Middle Ages when fruits and flowers were dried and candied for winter use in a society that had never imagined refrigerators or freezers. Many of these things were processed in still-rooms or kitchens, but the more exotic things were imported and were very expensive.

Dates and figs were also used. Carried by caravan across the desert and brought to Europe in sailing ships, they were in high demand. The date palm was one of the most ancient symbolic forms of the Tree of Life in the Near East. Among the Egyptians, it was symbolic of the Tree of the Year because it produced a new branch every month.

It was the sacred emblem of Judea after the exodus from Egypt. In 538 B.C., the Romans took the palm leaf as their emblem of triumph over Judea, but in 29 A.D., the Christians adopted it as the symbol of the triumph of Christ. In the time of the catacombs, the palm became the emblem of martyrs and in the Middle East to this day, the date palm is a principal source of wealth.

Figs are native to Asia Minor and were the most widely revered trees of antiquity. The ancient Hebrews used the fig as the symbol of peace and abundance. The Moslems called the fig tree the Tree of Heaven and it was considered to have intelligence. In central Africa, many people believe that the spirits of their ancestors inhabit fig trees. In China, the tree is associated with Buddha. Medicinal uses for the fig are listed in the Bible.

Hazelnuts figure in Greek mythology and are used today to represent communication and commerce. It was used in marriage customs by the ancient Romans and in Celtic legend, it is the Tree of Wisdom. In Nordic legend, it represents Thor, God of War and Thunder and was used in medieval times as a wand carried by heralds-at-arms to indicate knowledge and wisdom. Dowsing rods, or forked branches of hazel, are used to this day to locate water and minerals under the earth. Hazelnuts are still prized for their flavor and used in baking fruitcakes.

Citron, the first citrus fruit grown in Europe, was introduced there by Alexander the Great at around 300 B.C. Modern methods of candying, or crystallizing citron are essentially the same as those used in the Middle Ages and it is still an important fruitcake ingredient.

When explorers began to venture beyond Europe during the Renaissance, the now-familiar pineapple was one of the oddities discovered in the new world and it quickly became popular in Europe, especially in the crystallized form.

Pineapples also began at that time to be exported from Africa, Madagascar, China, Java and the Philippines. They were not grown in Europe until the 17th century, when they became the symbol of hospitality and were represented on signs and in the decorative arts.

Spices are important in making fruitcake and have long had an exotic reputation. Ginger originated in Asia and by 300 B.C. was well-established in China. Malaya, Indonesia and India. Arab traders carried this spice westward and it was known by the Greeks and Romans. It reached England before William the Conqueror. At that time, the price of one pound of ginger was one sheep. A Canton merchant is credited with inventing the method of candying or crystallizing, ginger that is still used today. Its oldest use was in medicine and in some places in China it is still used in many remedies, as are cloves and nutmeg.

Cloves are the unopened flower buds of a tree grown only in the Molucca Islands and in Zanzibar. Nutmeg is the fruit of the same tree and Allspice is made from the bark of the tree, grown in this area known appropriately as the "Spice Islands."

Wines, rum and brandy are often used in flavoring fruitcakes and these, too, have their own glamorous history. It's no wonder that fruitcakes are served at holiday parties and that we connect them with festive moments.

A very festive moment is in store for the audience which will gather in the Fries Auditorium at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Thursday, Nov. 10, at 10 a.m. Russ Marchand, world traveler, photographer and lecturer, will present a three-screen, multi-media sight and sound experience of English gardens and countrysides, and the four seasons of Dumbarton Oaks. Sound effects include bird songs recorded in the gardens, as well as beautiful music and a compelling and lively narration.

The program is co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Garden Center's Berry Memorial Lecture, the Grosse Pointe Farm and Garden Club, the Garden Club of Michigan and the Garden Society. Tickets are $5 and are available at the Garden Center. For more information, call 881-4594.

Junior League plans holiday preview benefit at Jacobson's

Fashion shows, caricatures and exhibits by local artists, horse-drawn carriage rides, music and much more await guests at the Junior League of Detroit's holiday preview benefit set for Jacobson's of Grosse Pointe on Tuesday, Nov. 15, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Tickets are $20, with all proceeds going to the Junior League of Detroit to help the group in its philanthropic efforts.

Ernie Harwell, Mitch Albom and Tony Spina will be on hand to sign autographs. Santa Claus will make a special appearance. Guests will have a chance to get their holiday shopping done while enjoying delicacies from the Rattlesnake Club, Bobby Moore's Blind Fish, Josef's Pastry Shop, the Van Dyke Place, Antonio's, Clairpointe, the Blue Pointe, the Cheesecake Shop, DaEdoardo, Mama Pasta, the Park Place Cafe, Tom's Oyster Bar, Telly's Place and others.

There will be a special culinary demonstration by former Grosse Pointe Yacht Club chef Jeff Gabriel, currently an instructor at Schoolcraft College.

For reservations or more information, call the Junior League at 885-0774 or 885-2133. Tickets will be held at the door on the evening of the benefit for those with reservations.

'Friends' are on the 'move': The Friends of Wayne State University School of Medicine have added a special twist to their general meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 15 at the Detroit Club. They'll gather at the club, 712 Cass Ave., at 10:15 a.m. then take a guided tour of the Detroit People Mover, taking a long look at the luscious art offered up at the Mover stations. Luncheon and a meeting will follow.

Cost is $20. Checks, made payable to the Friends of Wayne State University School of Medicine, should be mailed by Nov. 7 to Mary Ellen Mooney, 96 Handy Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., 48236.

Another preview of the holidays . . . is set for Thursday, Nov. 17, at the Detroit Artists Market on Randolph in downtown Detroit. It's a holiday preview party where, from 5:30 to 8 p.m., guests can enjoy a fabulous collection of hand-crafted items such as antique lace pillows, hand-painted clothing and accessories for women, knit dolls and clothing, metal and vertigris copper bowls, quilted items, silver, brass and bronze jewelry and much more.

Cost is $35 per person. Proceeds from ticket sales and 30 percent of that evening's exhibit sales will go toward the Detroit Artists Market's 1989 scholarship fund. The Market annually awards, on a rotating basis, scholarships to students from three area institutions: Cranbrook Academy of Arts, The Center for Creative Studies and Wayne State University. This year's party proceeds will go to Cranbrook Academy of Arts students.

For reservation information, call 962-0337.

The Detroit Historical Society's "Traditional Holiday Party" will have, naturally, a traditional holiday theme when it takes place Wednesday, Nov. 30, at the Detroit Historical Museum.

Mrs. Roger B. Smith and Grosse Pointe's Bill Zoufal are co-chairing the black-tie event. Cocktails and shopping in the museum gift shops and in shops of the Streets of Old Detroit begin at 6:30 p.m. that evening, followed by dinner at 8 p.m.

Also on the DHS Holiday Party committee are local folks Mrs. Ernest J. DuMouchelle, Mrs. Charles Kessler, Mrs. John Lambrecht, and Mrs. William P. Vittoe.

Ticket prices are $400 per couple for benefactors, $150 per person. For more information, call Beatrice Jobagy at 833-7937.

Home for the Holidays:

NBC's Dawnn Lewis and WDIV celebrities will ring in the holiday season with a live television show to benefit the Ronald McDonald House of Detroit.

The 90 minute special airs Saturday, Dec. 10, from the Southfield Ice Arena and will be hosted by WDIV news personalities Carmen Harlan and Grosse Pointe's Mort Crim. Chuck

Gaidica of Grosse Pointe, WDIV weathercaster, will also participate, as will local and national ice skaters, Tigers' manager Sparky Anderson, and Pistons' star Isiah Thomas.

In conjunction with the show, a gala evening is planned in the Southfield Pavilion, featuring food from 26 area restaurants, an auction and a live floor show.

Joining Crim and Harlan as honorary chairs are Mr. and Mrs. William Clay Ford.

Tickets for the gala are $125 for supporters and $150 for patrons. Ice show tickets are $20. For more information, call the Ronald McDonald House at 745-5911.

Book signing: More than 300 well-wishers and friends of Detroit psychiatrist Dr. Reuven Bar-Levav were present Oct. 7 when Bar-Levav honored the successful publication of his book, "Thinking in the Shadow of Feelings," with a party at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn.

Among those in attendance at the event, which included cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and the music of ABZ Orchestra, were Sen. Jack Faxon and Grosse Pointe Woods residents Jocelyn Ciokajlo and Mary Ellen and Patrick Reid.

Celebration . . . was the word of the day Oct. 8 in Traverse City as former Detroiters Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Baetz of Little Traverse Lake were honored at an afternoon reception in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary.

The party was hosted by their children and their families: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Baetz Jr. of Grosse Pointe Farms; Dr. and Mrs. Richard Lodholz of Sterling Heights; and Mr. and Mrs. John Jagosz of Sterling Heights.

Dear Grosse Pointe:

Three years ago, Grosse Pointer Melinda Manos left her mom and her friends behind and set out to find her fortune in southern California. She wrote home recently to let folks know that she's doing fine and misses everything . . . except the weather.

For the past 18 months, Manos has worked as a personal assistant to Bob Hope. She's in charge of the 85-year-old comedian's daily and yearly schedule, which, she says, already extends in 1991. The job requires close coordination with Mrs. Hope, NBC programming and media relations executives, agents, business managers, comedy writers and even golfers, Manos says. But she also says the job is "exciting and challenging."

Among some of the highlights, Manos adds in her letter, is that actor Don Johnson lunched with Hope on Manos' first day on the job. She also got to attend the 29th annual Bob Hope Chrysler Classic Golf Tournament last January in Palm Springs, the 1988 Super Bowl XXII in San Diego and a three-hour taping of "Happy Birthday Bob," a star-studded salute to Hope which became a TV program.

"The most exciting part of working with Mr. Hope is his constant energy," Manos writes. "He doesn't hesitate to call me into the office on a Sunday . . . but I'm not complaining. Besides, I know a few hundred jokes."

The Pastor's Corner

To do justice

By Rev. Bryant W. Dennison Jr.
Associate Rector, Christ Church, Grosse Pointe

Proposal A, the most controversial measure on our ballot Nov. 8, would eliminate Medicaid funding for abortion.

Over the last several years, some Christian groups have been energetically promoting the notion that there is only one, true Christian attitude toward abortion. They say that the Christian point of view is that abortion is always wrong and that it should be illegal.

In fact, however, many sincere, faithful Christians disagree about abortion, as they disagree about many issues. Many Christians believe that a woman should be able to make her own decision about giving birth to a child or having an abortion, and that the law should continue to respect the right of women to make this decision.

Further, many Christians believe that it is wrong to deny this choice to a woman simply because she is poor.

Proposal A is a punitive measure aimed at the poor. It would deny coverage even for medically-necessary abortions. It makes no exception for rape. It makes no exception for incest. It makes no exception for fetal deformity.

Many religious leaders and several organizations in Michigan have endorsed the following statement in support of continued funding of abortion services under Medicaid:

- Proposal A is an unjust, discriminatory law. It establishes a narrow religious view about abortion at the expense of poor women.
- A woman's ability to exercise her conscience about childbirth or abortion must not be unfairly restricted simply because she is poor.
- The November referendum vote is not about the rightness or wrongness of abortion. It is about the justice or injustice of denying a targeted, vulnerable group equity in reproductive health care.

Passage of Proposal A will not end abortions in Michigan. Abortions will only cease to be an option for the poor and the powerless.

The matter of abortion is a complex moral and ethical issue. Churches have the right and have the responsibility to guide their own members on questions of morality. In a pluralistic society, however, it is inappropriate for any single religious point of view to determine state policy on reproductive choice.

Discussion of Proposal A involves a variety of issues, including abortion, tax policy and health care.

But the central issue is justice.

St. Ambrose prepares for church merger

By Peggy O'Connor Andrzejczyk
Assistant Editor/Feature Editor

One month after the Archdiocese of Detroit announced that its reorganization plan would cause eastside churches St. Philip Neri and St. Martin of Tours to merge with Grosse Pointe's St. Ambrose, the staff and parishioners at St. Ambrose are waiting for the other shoe to drop.

That would be in the form of a major — and highly unlikely — change in the reorganization plan through appeals. The appeal process began at the archdiocese on Tuesday.

The two churches are expected to be among the parishes to appeal the controversial decision which calls for closing 43 churches. The appeals are to be completed by the end of the year and a definitive statement has been promised by Jan. 1, 1989.

"Our position right now is to remain open and supportive in awaiting the outcome of the appeals," said St. Ambrose pastor the Rev. Timothy Pelc.

The situations at St. Martin and St. Philip are very different, Pelc explained, and St. Ambrose is treating them as such.

St. Martin, located at Drexel and Averhill Court, is the only church south of Jefferson on the east side of Detroit. "St. Martin is not in a desperate situation. It's more a sort of mothballing because of anticipated growth in the area. It's the only portion of the city where any sort of new housing development is occurring and where the area is repopulating rapidly.

"Because of the magnetic attraction of the river, St. Martin has more of a chance to come back than most other churches. I'm sure they'd be asking the archdiocese if it makes sense to close them permanently in light of the area's growth and changes," Pelc said.

But St. Martin's parishioners are philosophical about the decision and the forthcoming appeal, Pelc said, because they've been on the brink of closing down for some time.

"In fact, I've been pastor of St. Martin's for 18 months. The bishop asked me to take over because St. Martin's couldn't get the administration necessary to keep going. So our administration, office staff, bookkeeping, etc., have already undergone a quiet merger of sorts.

"And with St. Martin's, we've already shared the difficult period of transition and we've built up a certain amount of trust between our parish communities," Pelc said.

The St. Philip Neri story is a different one.

The 51-year-old parish is located on Dickerson Avenue amidst a more desperate situation. It is a neighborhood in decline, suffering from high infant mortality and joblessness rates, drug abuse and crime.

"The parishioners want to maintain the parish because they feel that no one will serve them if the archdiocese pulls out," Pelc explained.

St. Ambrose has maintained its stance of openness and availability, communicating with St. Philip's staff and sending a giant greeting card to the parishioners.

"We are ready to extend a welcome if it comes to that," Pelc said. "My job is to keep an open mind and be ready to be of service. Our official position is that we're open to the archdiocese's recommendation.

"We at St. Ambrose have always straddled that line between suburbs and city. Our philosophy of spanning the gap between Detroit and Grosse Pointe has been in place since 1918, when the first building was built which crossed both borders."

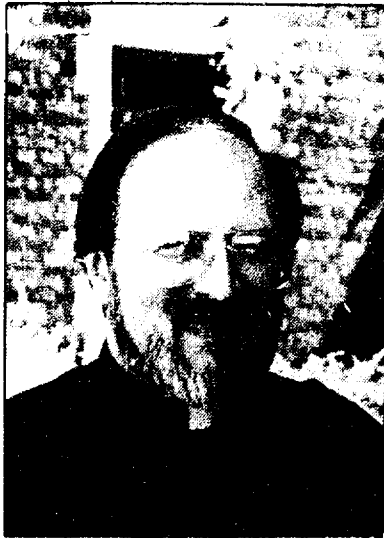

The parishioners of St. Ambrose have reacted positively to the possibility of the merger. "In fact, they've told me that I may not have been as sympathetic as I could have been to the obvious grief these people feel at the closing of their churches," Pelc said.

"I guess I'm just at the next level, looking at the task ahead. The amount of territory we'd inherit is tremendous ... and the problems we'd take on are overwhelming. We need more resources and more people. This can't be done on a volunteer basis and we've made the archdiocese aware of that," he added.

Right now, for St. Ambrose, it's wait-and-see how the appeals turn out before taking on the task ahead.

"We can do the programming of a change like this quickly. But you can't program people. You have to allow them time to accept change. The art of this is to work with people," Pelc said.

"We just have to let them know we care, we're here and that we can't do everything their churches have been doing for them, but we can try."

The Rev. Timothy Pelc

Planyavsky to present Christ Church recital

Internationally-known organist Peter Planyavsky, organist at St. Stephan's Cathedral since 1969, will give a recital at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 6, on the Holtkamp organ at Christ Church Grosse Pointe.

The recital is the first event of the 1988-89 concert series at Christ Church. It is Planyavsky's only recital in the midwest this year.

His recital at Christ Church will include music by Buxtehude, Hummel, Heiller, Mendelssohn and Bach and will end with an improvisation on a submitted theme. Planyavsky carries on a full concertizing schedule in Europe and has toured in Japan, Australia, South Africa, Scandinavia and the United States. He is the recipient of many awards, including international competitions in organ improvisation.

Tickets are $8 for adults, $3 for students and may be obtained by calling the church office at 885-4841. A reception will follow in the church Undercroft.

Memorial Church will install Rigdon as senior minister Sunday

As Grosse Pointe Memorial Church prepares to enter its 125th year, the 2,700-member congregation will install the Rev. V. Bruce Rigdon, B.D., Ph.D., as the church's new senior minister this Sunday, Nov. 6, at 3 p.m. in Memorial's sanctuary. The ceremony will be ecumenical and community-wide.

The day's activities will begin with the Rev. Dr. Aurie Brouwer delivering the sermon at Memorial's 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. services. Brouwer is the General Secretary of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. His message will be titled, "Propositions for Pastor and Parish."

The installation service message will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Lewis S. Mudge, dean of the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Ecumenical greetings will be given by Monsignor Francis X. Canfield, pastor of St. Paul Roman Catholic Church; the Rev. Dr. Charles Perry, provost of The National Cathedral in Washington D.C.; and the Rev. Leonid Kishlovsky, ecumenical officer of the Orthodox Church in America (Syosset, NY) and president-elect of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

Old and New Testament readings will be given by Memorial Pastor Emeritus, the Rev. Dr. Ray H. Kiely. Dr. David Noel Freedman, professor of religious studies, University of Michigan (Ann Arbor) and the Rev. Mary Paik, associate pastor Southfield Korean Presbyterian Church.

The installation will be conducted by the Rev. C. Robert Jansen, moderator, Presytery of Detroit and pastor of Southminster Church in Taylor. Charge to the pastor will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Eileen Lindner, associate general secretary of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. Charge to the congregation will be given by Memorial Pastor

Emeritus, the Rev. Dr. Ray H. Kiely.

For over 23 years, Rigdon was an internationally-recognized instructor at Chicago's McCormick Theological Seminary. Throughout his ministry, Rigdon sought to expand the Church's understanding of issues, both theological and social, through dialogue and study.

Exemplifying this leadership, he has helped hundreds of American and world-wide Christians enter the Soviet Union to worship with Christians there. This past summer he represented the Presbyterian Church - U.S.A. at the 1,000th anniversary of the

V. Bruce Rigdon
Russian Orthodox Church. He is the current chairperson of the committee on United States-Soviet Church Relations for the National Council of Churches.

Ordained in 1968, Rigdon has baccalaureate degrees from the College of Wooster and Yale Divinity School. His doctorate in philosophy is also from Yale. He has studied at Mansfield College, Oxford University and King's College, University of London. Recently he completed a six-month appointment as a fellow at the Washington National Cathedral.

Rigdon and his wife Mary are natives of Pennsylvania. Prior to relocating to Grosse Pointe Farms, Mrs. Rigdon was an assistant U.S. attorney. The Rigdons have two sons and a daughter.

If you suffer from the pain and disability caused by blocked arteries to the leg and in the leg . . .

. . . our new treatment can brighten your prospects.

Peripheral vascular disease—blocked arteries to the leg and in the leg—can cause nearly crippling pain. And the traditional treatment can take hours of major surgery, a long hospital stay and weeks of recovery—when it can be performed at all.

First in Macomb County With a Better Solution.
Now Mount Clemens General Hospital has a superior alternative: Laser vascular surgery.

Traditional treatment for blocked arteries involves a surgical bypass of the blockage with artificial grafts. But laser vascular surgery is performed with an advanced medical laser that actually melts plaque deposits that block the arteries to the leg and in the leg. With the artery cleared, circulation is restored. And pain is relieved.

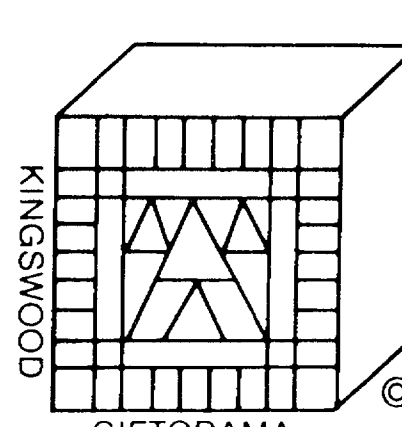

The advantages of laser vascular surgery are significant. The procedure requires only a tiny incision. The surgery itself takes far less time than traditional vascular surgery. The patient's hospital stay is reduced to as little as one to two days. And recovery time is far shorter and less painful.

Call for a Referral. And Get Back on Your Feet.
If you suffer from the pain of blocked arteries to the leg and in the leg, we'd like to help you. Laser vascular surgery at Mount Clemens General could get you on your feet faster—and we can use laser surgery in many cases where a traditional surgical solution is ruled out.

Don't take the pain sitting down. Talk to your physician about laser vascular surgery at Mount Clemens General. Or call for a referral to one of our doctors, at 1-800-LASER98. And brighten your prospects of a full recovery.

What are Christian Science Lectures all about?

They are not a religious service. There is no attempt to change anyone's religious views. Rather, it is a talk by an experienced Christian Scientist on a topic of concern to the general public. This lecture will address the questions people often ask: Are Christian Scientists opposed to doctors? Doesn't God work through doctors? How does Christian Science differ from faith cures?

Tisdale at 454

The works of Grosse Pointe artist Greg Tisdale will be presented at Grosse Pointe Park's Gallerie 454 Nov. 5 through 23. Among the sketches and paintings to be displayed is his preliminary work on the commemorative portrait of the SS Regina, the Canadian ship which sank in 1913. A wine and cheese reception will take place from 5 to 8 p.m. Nov. 5 at the gallery. For more information, call 822-4454.

Wanted: Christmas stockings and stocking stuffers

For the second year in a row, a pair of Grosse Pointe residents are collecting Christmas stockings to distribute to abused and homeless children. And this year, they want your help.

Last year, Kim Eugenides and Nancy Werneken collected and filled handmade stockings with the help of some friends. The gifts were donated to Turning Point, a shelter for abused children and their mothers, located in Mount Clemens.

This year, Eugenides and Wer-neken are appealing to the community for support in this project.

"My friends enjoyed this project so much I got many more stockings than anticipated," Eugenides said. After filling the quota for Turning Point, the stockings will be dispersed to other shelters and homeless in the area.

"If anyone is slightly creative or has a little money to spare, we would love their help," Werneken says.

A fifth grade teacher in Grosse Pointe is having her students earn money to fill and make one stocking each as a class project. "I'd love to see other teachers and parents take this initiative," Eugenides said.

Food, clothes and toys are also needed for the project. Those interested in assisting with this effort should call Eugenides at 884-8266 or Werneken at 882-5067 for more information.

The Lyric Chamber Ensemble will perform piano quintets at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, 1100 Lakeshore Road, Grosse Pointe Shores on Sunday, Nov. 20.

The program, starting at 3:30 p.m., features LCE's founder and artistic director, Fedora Horowitz at the piano; Stacey Woolley and Marguerite Deslippe, violins; Darryl Jeffers, viola; and Marcy Chanteaux, cello.

The group will perform two masterpieces of chamber music: the romantic Piano quintet in E flat major by Schumann, followed by Dvorak's moving Piano quintet in A opus 81.

Fedora Horowitz has appeared at New York's Lincoln Center and Merkin Hall. Horowitz has taught at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, Eastern Michigan University and the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Marcy Chanteaux, a resident of Grosse Pointe, exhibited great talent at the piano as well as the cello at the Cleveland Institute of Music. She succeeded Michael Kottler as pianist for the DSO and four years later joined the cello section. Two years later, Chanteaux became its assistant principal.

Tickets are $12, discounts for students, seniors and groups of 10 or more. Call 357-1111 to order or for more information.

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT PLASTIC SURGERY.

FACT 1: FREE CONSULTATION WITH A SURGEON IS IMPORTANT.

When it comes to cosmetic surgery, we operate a little differently at Cottage Hospital. For example, our physicians offer a free consultation. A time to discuss your private questions in a private setting. Call 881-1800 for details.

FACT 2: EXPERIENCE AND TRAINING MAKE A DIFFERENCE.

In Michigan, any licensed physician can put "cosmetic surgeon" on a business card. But at Cottage Hospital, your doctor has completed extensive post-graduate training, including a residency in plastic surgery or otolaryngology (ENT). All cosmetic surgeons don't meet these strict standards.

But your surgeon at Cottage Hospital does.

FACT 3: COSMETIC SURGERY HAS MANY FACES.

That's why besides face lifts (rhytidectomy), we perform breast contouring, liposuction (removing fatty deposits) and more. Often without an overnight hospital stay.

FACT 4: A HOSPITAL ENVIRONMENT IS REASSURING.

Whether or not your surgery requires a hospital stay, it's important to know that you have the care of Cottage's expert staff, including highly trained nurses. If you do need an overnight stay, at Cottage you'll enjoy all the services you expect from a quality hospital...and more.

FACT 5: THE LUXURY OF A HOTEL IS YOURS.

At Cottage, you'll stay in a hospital that's actually hospitable. Our optional "Five Pointe Service" includes a special suite for cosmetic surgery patients and a VIP menu. You can even invite a guest for dinner.

Cosmetic surgery at Cottage Hospital. At a cost that compares favorably with other programs. Call us at 881-1800.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker B. Condie Jr.

Mayer-Condie

Margaret Ann Mayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Mayer of Grosse Pointe Park, married Parker Busch Condie Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Parker B. Condie of St. Louis, Mo., on Aug. 6, 1988, in St. Clare of Montefalco Church.

The Rev. Walter McNicholas, O.S.A., officiated at the 10:30 a.m. ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The bride wore a white taffeta gown styled with a portrait neckline and a bodice of Alencon lace. An Alencon lace cap held the bride's illusion lace veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses and orchids.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mary Beth Vander Schaaf of Grosse Pointe Farms. Bridesmaids included two other sisters, Ellen Mayer and Sarah Mayer of Grosse Pointe Park; the bridegroom's sister, Margot Condie of St. Louis; and Dede Zeluck of New York City, Kirsten Loft of Los Angeles, Calif., Christine Bourget of New York; and Elizabeth Cosgrove of Washington, D.C. The bridegroom's sister, Jodie Condie of St. Louis, was a junior bridesmaid and another sister, Catherine Condie of St. Louis, was a flowergirl.

The attendants wore sky blue gowns.

The groom's brother, Andrew Condie of St. Louis, was best man. Groomsmen included Charles Wittenberg of New York, Harry Caulfield of San Antonio, Texas, Edward Mannion of St. Louis, Clark Wolfberger of St. Louis, Craig Richardson of Atlanta, Ga., Andrew Baldwin of Arlington, Va., and John H. Griesedieck of St. Louis.

Scripture readers included the bride's brother-in-law, Donald J. Vander Schaaf, and Heidi Timken and Julie Levering.

The bride holds a bachelor's degree from Duke University and is employed in the marketing department of the Philadelphia Child Guidance Clinic of the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

The bridegroom holds a bachelor of science degree from Brown University and is a second-year graduate student at the Wharton School of Business at the University of Pennsylvania.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Hawaii. They live in Philadelphia, Pa.

Hays-Mitchell

Maureen Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Hays of Buffalo, N.Y., married Richard Flannery Mitchell, son of W. Ledyard Mitchell of Grosse Pointe Farms and the late Mrs. Mitchell, on Aug. 27, 1988, in Our Lady of Angels Catholic Church, Cuba, N.Y.

The Rev. William H. Meegan officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Cuba Lake summer home of the bride's parents.

The bride wore a tea length dress of Irish linen, styled with a square neckline and three-quarter length sleeves and trimmed with silk crewel embroidery on the sleeves and full skirt. The gown was tied with a satin cummerbund ending in a bow and ribbon streamers at the waistline. The bride wore the crown of pearlized orange blossoms which had been worn by her mother at her wedding. She carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses, peach lilies, freesia and gypsophila.

The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Dr. Judith Ann Hays of Pittsburgh, Pa. She wore a tea length dress of mint green, ivory and peach silk. She placed ivory and peach silk flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of peach alstroemeria, daisies and gypsophila.

The bride's niece, Rhiannon

Quinn Hays of Cambridge, was the flowergirl.

The best man was the bridegroom's brother, William Ledyard Mitchell III of Scottsdale, Ariz. Ushers were the bride's brothers, Joseph Crowley Hays Jr., Michael Dineen Hays and Robert Thomas Hays.

The bride's nephew, Matthew Joseph Hays, was ringbearer.

Vocalist for the ceremony was the bride's cousin, Mary Margaret Quinlan.

The newlyweds live in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Ellis

Ford-Ellis

Jane Elizabeth Ford, daughter of Jack and Lesley Ford of Grosse Pointe Woods, married Dale Richard Ellis, son of Sam and Joyce Ellis of Grosse Pointe Woods, on Aug. 12, 1988, in the Martha-Mary Chapel at Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

The Rev. Jack Mannschreck of Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church officiated at the 6 p.m. ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Eagle Tavern in Greenfield Village.

The bride wore a Victorian-style gown of white dotted Swiss and a fingertip length veil and blusher. She carried a loose, hand-tied bouquet of pink roses, yellow freesia, blue iris, pink alstroemeria, babies'-breath and English ivy. She carried a laced Irish linen handkerchief which was an heirloom from her grandmother, Francis K. Ford.

The maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Karen Ellis of Grosse Pointe Woods. Bridesmaids included another sister, Kathleen Ellis of Grosse Pointe Woods, and the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Denise Ellis of Troy. The attendants wore waltz length gowns, one in pink, one in slate blue and one in yellow. Each carried a hand-tied bouquet of mixed garden flowers.

The best man was Mike Belloli of St. Clair Shores. Groomsmen included the bride's brother, Captain Brian Ford of Okinawa, Japan, and the bridegroom's brother, Dan Ellis of Troy.

Scripture readers were the bridegroom's brother, Dave Ellis of Redmond, Wash., Mark Rheinhard of Chandler, Ariz., and Mark Kramer of Warrenton, Mo.

The mother of the bride wore a seafoam green cocktail length dress, styled with a neck-to-waist sash in back and a pearl broach in front. Her corsage was off-white Sweetheart roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a waltz length dress of light melon chiffon and carried a corsage of pink roses.

The bridegroom's grandparents, Burr and Grace Phillips, came from Houghton Lake. His uncle, Christopher Linford, traveled from England for the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School and Michigan State University. She received an elementary teaching certificate and a master's degree from Eastern Michigan University. She is a third grade teacher at Ferry Elementary School in Grosse Pointe Woods.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School and Wayne State University, where he received a bachelor's degree in business administration. He is an engineering representative for W.C. Ducomb Company in Detroit.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Canada and northern Michigan. They live in St. Clair Shores.

Carion-Fielitz

Catherine Marie Carion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Carion of Grosse Pointe Woods, married Robert Carl Fielitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fielitz of Sterling Heights, on Oct. 1, 1988, in Franklin Community Church, Franklin.

The Rev. George Ward officiated at the 11 a.m. ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Barton House in St. Clair Shores.

The bride wore a tea length gown of eggshell-colored silk, its tunic top bordered at the boat neckline, hip and sleeves with Chantilly lace. A silk flower wreath headpiece held the bride's shoulder length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, carnations, stephanotis, babies'-breath and ivy.

The maid of honor was Dr. Martha Lane Gray, a former Grosse Pointe who now lives in Boston, Mass. She wore a tea length dress of dark turquoise silk, styled with a dropped waist and lace inserts across the bodice. She carried an arrangement of red roses, carnations, stephanotis and greens tied with turquoise.

Joseph C. Umloff of Adair was the best man. Ushers included the bride's brother, Joseph R. Carion of Grosse Pointe Woods, and the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Louis A. Teran of Mount Clemens.

The mother of the bride wore a tea length gown of pale pink chiffon, styled with a tiered skirt and a mantle of matching lace. Blush-colored tea roses and carnations formed her wrist corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a tea length dress of pale blue chiffon, styled with a draped cowl neckline and satin belt fastened with a rhinestone clip. Tea roses and blue carnations formed her wrist corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Grosse Pointe South High School and Michigan State University, where she received a degree in business, majoring in hotel, restaurant and institutional management. She is employed in retailing.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Denby High School. He received an associate's degree in electronic engineering from Macomb Community College and is currently pursuing his bachelor's degree at Wayne State University.

The newlyweds honeymooned in northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula. They live in St. Clair Shores.

Therapist deals with society's myths in helping older adults with relationships

By Peggy O'Connor Andrzejczyk
Assistant Editor/Feature Editor

One problem with today's society, says Sean Hogan-Downey, A.C.S.W., is that we've forgotten how important it is to touch.

"I fear for kids growing up today. We are in a phase — because our children have to be so safety-conscious — where we misinterpret touching. We do so much with technology in terms of healing, but there's so much more we can do with a healing touch."

As a clinical social worker who does individual, marital and family therapy, Hogan-Downey is aware of the importance of the physical aspects of human relationships. But it wasn't until she lived for three days in a nursing home that she was convinced that there was a whole portion of the population whose physical, sexual and emotional needs were not being addressed. "It struck me — as I was being whistled at by the 80-year-old men in that nursing facility — that sexuality doesn't disappear with youth. The experience encouraged me to further my studies in gerontology. And to put together a workshop which might address some of the needs of these people," Hogan-Downey explains.

Because of this summer's hot weather, Hogan-Downey's workshop on seniors and intimacy was rescheduled for later this fall. That gave her an opportunity to rework the focus of the seminar. "I'd been thinking of gearing it toward couples, but I'd gotten several calls from single people.

"Hey, there's a lot going on out there with single people over 55. It's just as scary for them, going back into the dating world, as it was when they were younger. They're finding out all over again about learning to say 'no' when they feel like saying it. And about how to fight the myths and misconceptions associated with sex and aging," Hogan-Downey says.

PART OF THE problem facing older adults today is that society teaches them to suppress sexuality as they get older. And age itself is treated — in a Madison Avenue-way — as an undesirable thing. "So right away, you've got a 'No Talk Rule' in effect. Older adults get 'Don't talk about it because it's dirty or disgusting.' Older men who express their sexuality openly get called dirty old men. And older women get told to act their ages.

"So right off the bat, the prevailing attitude is one of pessimism and the older adult not only has suppressed those feelings, he's now feeling shame for having them in the first place," Hogan-Downey explains.

"And shame is much harder to cure than plain guilt."

What most of us don't realize, she adds, is that there is a difference between sex and intimacy. It is possible to be intimate without having sex, Hogan-Downey explains.

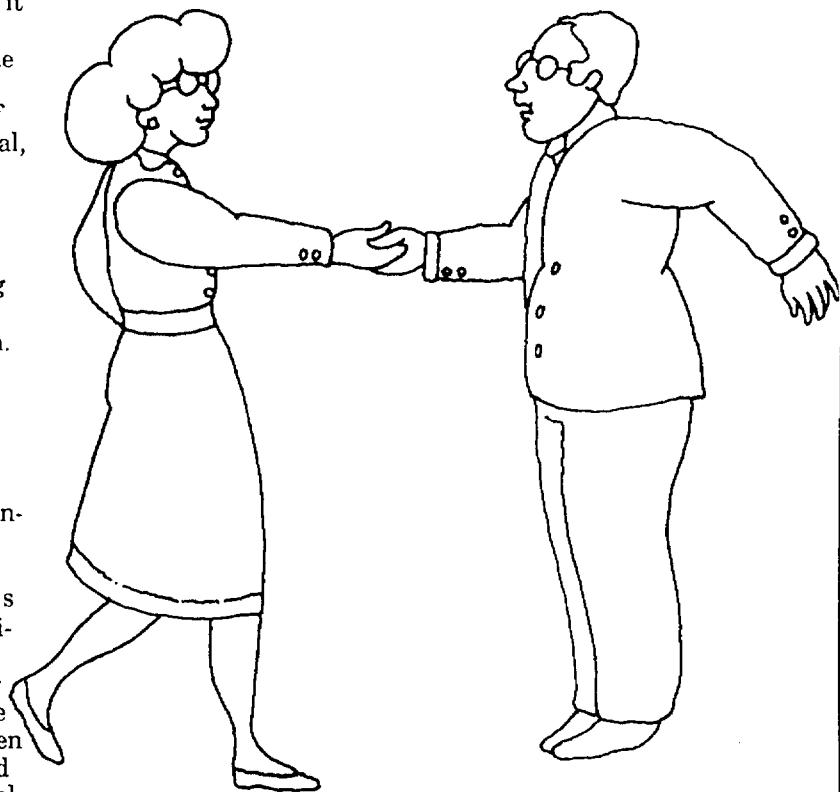

"Intimacy is about how we connect and with what authority we connect. Unfortunately, a lot of marriage isn't about being intimate. It's just being together for jobs, families, sex. Time goes by and the kids grow up and there's nothing to connect with between the husband and wife. They never learned how to be intimate."

"I had one of my clients — she's 89 — tell me that sometimes, sitting on a park bench holding hands is the greatest orgasm in the world. That's just marvelous, I think," she says.

That addresses the idea of "skin hunger," which all of us are born with and which increases with age, Hogan-Downey says.

"When we get older, we go back to that tremendous skin hunger we had as babies. It's a feeling of 'Touch me, so I know I'm alive.'"

She counsels her clients to satisfy that need by working on connecting physically

In her practice, Hogan-Downey seeks to answer some of the many questions posed by older adults about their changing relationships.

She begins by finding out about their sexual beliefs and about how they view themselves. She helps them deal with the myths and misconceptions society has heaped upon them by telling them to learn to take a stand for themselves.

"Intimacy starts by improving communication. Break those no talk rules. Learn to talk about what you want rather than just hope that your partner guesses. Share time together and find a common interest.

"One of the problems with aging is that you can't go out and get what you want the way you did at 30. In your 30s, you didn't need connecting skills, everybody just went out and had a drink and went from there. Well, it ain't the same when you're 60... but it can be better."

HOGAN-DOWNEY SAYS she's learned a lot from her clients and hopes to pass along what she's discovered in a workshop on intimacy later this fall.

whenever they can. "I tell them to hug their grandchildren, hug a friend, get into the hospital bed with a spouse who is ill. And I encourage the aging to talk about it with younger people because they need to learn."

Hogan-Downey uses a lot of humor with her clients and in her workshops. When couples tell her that it hurts to have sex because of arthritis, she asks them which hurts more, not being touched or being touched and putting up with a little arthritic twinge.

"I tell them, driving a car hurts a lot and you still drive. Sex hurts a little, so go for it," she says with a laugh.

Some 90 percent of the counseling Hogan-Downey does is with clients in midlife.

"I certainly have learned that we put a priority on sexual functioning and not on intimacy skills. And I've learned not to let myself get teased out of showing affection and intimacy openly. It's what I tell my clients: 'Intimacy is OK. People are allowed to see you kiss and hold hands. And you don't have to apologize for it.'"

The Music Makers

Music Makers will lead 'Turkey Trot' merry-making Nov. 17.

The Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe, will hold its annual "Turkey-Trot" Dinner Dance on Thursday, Nov. 17, in the Crystal Ballroom of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

The members and their ladies will dine at the gourmet dinner served by the War Memorial, after which they will dance to the music of the Grosse Pointe Music Makers with their rendition of the big band music of the '20s, '30s, and '40s.

The Grosse Pointe Music Makers are directed by Ben Grycan, a long-time member of the Senior Men's Club.

Grycan taught music for 42 years, retired from the U.S. Army as a major and continues his lifelong interest in music with the Grosse Pointe Music Makers.

Other featured members of the Grosse Pointe Music Makers are Frank Seydler, ex-officio, the founder and organizer of the original Music Makers; Gene Beno, bass, formerly with various local bands and the U.S. Army band; Andy Blaine, trumpet and vocalist, formerly with Tommy Dorsey, Isham Jones, and Sam Donahue orchestras; and Mike Bentz, saxophone, played in his own bands in the '30s and '40s.

Others are Ray Brennan, trumpet formerly with Claude Thornhill and various other big bands; John Christopher, trumpet, formerly with Ralph Bowen, Del Delbridge, and Lowrey Clark orchestras; Louie Dobos, trombone, played with various local bands; Bob Dondero, saxophone, played in the Wayne State University and University of Michigan bands and various other executive dance orchestras; Dave Mirku, piano, studied under Mischa Kottler, played violin in the Grosse Pointe Symphony for 11 years and organist for various churches and Meadow Brook Hall.

More are Milo Nankovitch, trombone, a Detroitier since 1946, who played in various big bands locally and in Cincinnati, Ohio; Gerald Smith, saxophone, formerly with George Olsen, Wayne King, Marvin Frederick, Art Mooney, and Herbie Holmes orchestras; Gordon Webb, drum and other instruments, who played with various Midwest big bands; and Don Webber, saxophone, who played with various professional dance bands locally and in the U.S. Army.

For information on the Music Makers, call 884-4521. For Turkey Trot reservations, call Gene Honderich at 821-7244.

Grosse Pointe A Unique Community

Architectural Diversity As the great variety of home sizes and styles suggests, growth has continued slowly over many years. It continues even today. Old estates are subdivided for building contemporary homes, making the mansions that still survive (and many do) all the more treasured by their owners and tradition-minded residents. At the same time, the area includes homes of just about every style and size—from townhouses, two-family units and other small homes to gracious English Tudors, colonials, executive mansions, contemporary ranch styles and a variety of modern designs, including condominiums.

This diversity has helped make Grosse Pointe attractive to all who value well-maintained quality which far exceeds its price.

Thoughts of fall

- Do you think we could get a commissioner, former President, or even Orel Hershisers' parents to throw out the first football at the Super Bowl this year?
- It's nice to see the high school basketball teams preparing for the season. They started practice Monday.
- Think the North/South hockey games will be crowded?
- Why can't you get a decent cup of hot chocolate at concession stands?
- Is it me, or is it getting cold in here?
- I miss summer. I don't like the winter, but I do enjoy the fall season.
- Have all the powerboats, sailboats, shells and wind surfing boards been roped to shore for the winter?
- When is the Port Huron to Mackinac Race?
- Did you hear Ken Stabler's comment during the Lions' game against Kansas City two weeks ago? He made reference to the game being a two-bag affair.
- This city deserves a football winner.

Money, money

- My uncle has been kind hearted enough to always ask his family members if they'd like to use one of his tickets to see a Lions' game. We've been kind enough to refuse it. My one cousin even said he'd pay $3 — for my uncle to keep it.
- I wonder what Bobby Layne would do in this situation.
- I'll miss watching Piston basketball games in the Silverdome.
- I was cleaning out a drawer the other day and found a Cherry Bowl pen. Would anyone want this souvenir?
- On Nov. 6, the Detroit River Yachting Association (DRYA) will honor its selections for Boats of the Year.
- The biggest upset of the fall season in local sports was North's 1-0 win over No. 4 ranked DeLaSalle in soccer.
- Do you think Thomas Hearn vs. Sugar Ray Leonard is worth $30 million?
- Confession time. When North's girls' cross country team beat South, I ran a photo of the Lady Norsemen in the paper. I receive compliments on my pictures — sometimes — but on this occasion I was not responsible for organizing the photo. Dick Cooper's eye for photography was taken advantage of. Coop set the girls up for the group shot, but I inconspicuously sneaked behind him and took a picture for my purposes. Thanks, Coop, for making my job easier.
- North and South have let me down. Before the state Class A tennis finals two weeks ago, South and North were in the top three of the rankings. But, the noose got too tight as they tied for eighth in the finals.
- Even if I get free tickets to a Red Wings' game, it still costs me $25-30 to enjoy the evening. I know it happens to you, too.

North vs. South

- I understand that North and South have powderpuff football teams. However, it was disappointing to hear that they don't compete against one another. Their games pit the juniors against the seniors.

Norsemen burn Devils in season finale

Both teams came prepared to stop the opponent's bread and butter players, but instead North sat at the table longer to enjoy the feast.

In the football game that would dictate this year's owner of bragging rights, Grosse Pointe North defeated Grosse Pointe South, 27-6, on a beautiful autumn football day.

From the onset, North (5-4) proved to be the better team that day as the Blue Devils (6-3) weren't given many chances to prosper off the talented running of tailback Steve Rice. Rice, who rushed for more than 600 yards entering the game and has 20 career touchdowns, was not very effective for the Devils because of the relentless Norsemen defense.

"We had great penetration from our defensive people," said North coach Frank Sumbera. "We wanted to get into the backfield and get to Steve Rice before he could get going."

Rice rushed for 59 yards, and caught three passes for 55 yards.

Despite chewing up 265 yards of total offense, the Devils found themselves stuck, almost literally, inside their own 10-yard line three times in the third quarter.

"Those three occasions wound up killing us," said South coach Jon Rice. "We had the wind at our backs, but we couldn't get the ball out."

Scott Schorer, who has averaged 36 yards a punt all season, was responsible for putting the ball inside the Devils' 10-yard line.

"Scott really did the job, but he also had excellent coverage," said Sumbera. "He punted five times and three of them were downed inside the 10. You can't ask for more than that."

While North concentrated on shutting down South's running game, South planned to shut down the highly proficient Norsemen passing game. However, South couldn't get to North quarterback Scott Bernhardt.

"We just couldn't get to him," Rice said. "We gave him too many opportunities to throw the ball. He's a good quarterback."

Bernhardt, who holds single-game records for passes attempted (36) and passes completed (20), compiled 176 yards to now hold the single-season mark of 1,626 total yards.

"We knew going in that the ball was going to go up," Rice said. "We were prepared, but we didn't execute the pass defense."

Going in, Sumbera was going to live and die with what has worked for him in his last three wins.

"When you're averaging almost 200 yards a game through the air, you can't steer away from that," Sumbera said. "Scott was averaging 186 yards a game, but he hasn't done it alone. He received great protection from the front line."

Bernhardt's arm has been the nemesis of many opponents. However, the arm of Ed Barbieri was efficient as well.

From inside the Blue Devil 30-yard line, Barbieri lofted the ball 29 yards on a reverse pass play that eventually wound up in the hands of tight end Charlie Stumb. Scott Schorer added the point after touchdown (PAT) and North was up 7-0 after its first possession.

"We set the early tone I think," said Sumbera. "We came ready physically, mentally and spiritually. We basically took the game. We dictated on offense and on defense."

South took over after the kickoff and worked its way to the Norsemen seven, but Matt Prady picked off his fifth interception of the year to stop the Devils' threat.

"After that interception we started to wonder how we were going to get the ball in the end zone," said Rice. "We thought we could still run it, but we had to start executing the offense."

North's offense churned out more than 250 yards, and 37 of those came when Bernhardt hit Kevin McCarron, who rushed for 49 yards, with his 14th touchdown pass of the season. Schorer's PAT gave North a 14-0 lead at the half.

"We had moved the ball and almost scored in the first half," Rice said. "so in the second half we just wanted to try and establish our running game."

Chris Stebbins, who replaced the injured Brian Letscher at quarterback for South, tried to put his team back in it by throwing for 149 yards and rushing for 34, but when he did try to put the ball up, the Norsemen pressure forced him to rush a few tosses.

"We were putting the heat on them," Sumbera said. "I think their offensive blocking schemes were a little confused because of our pressure."

In control with a 14-0 lead, Sumbera was not content with playing a more passive game in the second half.

"I wasn't going to sit on this one," he said. "We went out to play a strong second half and aimed to keep the pressure on."

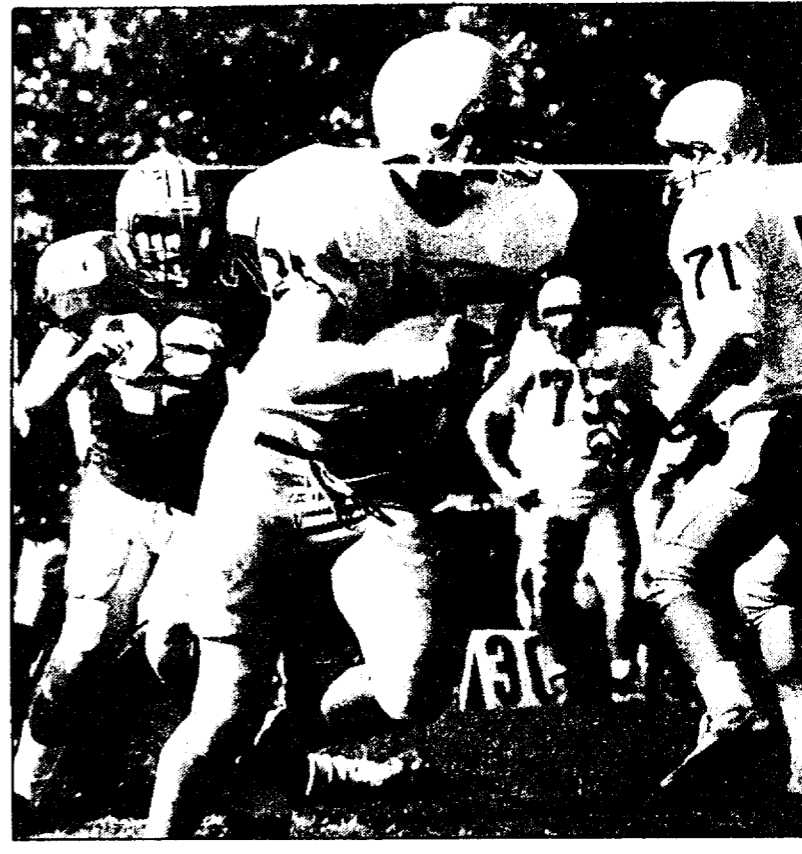

After a scoreless third quarter, Bernhardt went back up top and hit Stumb from 11 yards out to give North a solid 21-0 lead.

"When things started going bad, we couldn't turn them around," Rice said.

Bad turned to worse for South when Stebbins' pass in the fourth quarter was picked off by Frank Lucido. Lucido, who had a previous interception, ran it back 42 yards for the score. Schorer's PAT was wide, but North was still up 27-0.

Late in the fourth quarter, however, Stebbins rejuvenated himself as he launched a 38-yard touchdown pass to Josh Winkquist for South's only score.

"Since we lost Mike Montagne three weeks ago (to an eye injury), we've had difficulty moving the football," said Rice. "In all three of our losses this year we have struggled."

Defensively, Sumbera thought his team played the best game of the season. Stumb led all tacklers with 16 tackles, while Jason DeYonker and Schorer had 11 and nine, respectively. Bryan Ford, Brad Bartos, and Barbieri had five each, and Eric D'Hondt added eight.

"The kids came ready to play," Sumbera said. "All week long in practice all they wanted to do was hit. They came prepared for the South game and definitely hit, and did the job."

South, which won five straight games before the loss at North and finished second in the Eastern Michigan League, has plenty to be proud of despite taking its worst beating of the season.

"We told the kids earlier in the week, that regardless of the outcome we were proud of them," said Rice. "We reached our goal of winning five ball games. We (Bob Schroeder, Hank Lewandowski and Dan Wyers) have really enjoyed the season with these kids."

In his eighth season, Sumbera thinks this could have been one of the best performances he's seen.

"This was a gutsy performance by everyone," he said. "I haven't been coaching as much as some people, but I'm as proud of these kids as I am of anyone I've coached. They really played to my expectations and improved throughout the season."

South improved also and that's what makes both coaches wonder if there is an envious eye out there.

"There's a whole lot of teams in this state that would love to be 5-4 or 6-3," Rice said.

"I'd like to see a better 5-4 team in the state," Sumbera said. "Both of these teams have come a long way and I'm sure that Jon is as pleased with his season, as I am with mine. It has been a good year."

ULS sports

Soccer team rolls to district title

The University Liggett School boys' soccer team defeated three opponents last week to clinch the district championship in the Class C-D tournament.

On Oct. 24, ULS, ranked No. 3, hosted No. 9 ranked Hamtramck Immaculate Conception in the first round of district play. ULS controlled the tempo of the game by outshooting Conception, 54-19. Jonathon Davis led the charge for ULS with two goals, and Doug Wood tallied once in the 3-1 win.

In round two, ULS shelled Warren Bethesda Christian, 4-0.

The Knights took a quick first-half lead with three goals. The fourth was notched in the second half.

Goals were scored by Bill Lucken, Paul Lanzon, Larry Ayuyu and Anthony Ayuyu. Keeper Brian Schmidt recorded the shutout.

In the district finals at Keyworth Stadium in Hamtramck, ULS met Lutheran East and scooted to victory, 7-0.

The ULS offense was unstoppable as they drilled shots on goal at a 4-to-1 ratio. Wood led the Knights with the hat trick, and Mark Sullivan, Anthony Ayuyu, Lucken and Larry Ayuyu contributed goals as well.

With the help of goaltenders Schmidt and Kamran Jafri, ULS collected its ninth shutout of the season.

ULS now advances to the regional finals at home against 10th ranked Dearborn Heights Fairlane Christian on Nov. 5 at 2:30 p.m.

Basketball

By Martina Jerant
Special Writer

In two highly contested games, the Lady Knights played some fine basketball, but couldn't come up with a win.

On Oct. 25, the Lady Knights took on Southfield Christian and lost 41-33. Martina Jerant led ULS with 16 points.

Two days later, Coach Ann Belloli's squad challenged undefeated Warren Bethesda Christian and bowed to defeat, 39-36. The three-point margin was much slimmer than ULS' previous 40-point loss to Bethesda.

Jerant hooped in 16 points, and Linda Morreale grabbed 14 rebounds and had eight steals.

ULS will host MIAC rival Oakland Christian on Nov. 3 at 4:30 p.m.

Cross country

Senior Paul Brigolin has advanced to the state finals in Class C-D for the second straight time.

Brigolin led the Knights to an impressive ninth-place finish at the regional tourney. Brigolin, who was named the MVP in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference last week, placed 14th at regionals with a time of 17:31. He will now run in the state meet at Bath on Nov. 5.

Freshman John Sieber took 30th (18:12) and senior Tony Hill (18:55) took 57th.

Other runners who did well were Wilson Wehmeier (19:14), Chris Frederickson (19:29), Matt Moroun (19:52) and DeDan Milton (20:10).

Raiders 4, Devils 0

The Ram's Horn Raiders topped the Devils with two goals from John Staniszewski, and one each from Michael Curis and Mike Getz.

Devils' goalie Tom Smith made some spectacular saves in goal. Matt Farr recorded the win in net for the Raiders.

Arrows 0, Sabres 0

Clint Carpenter made several nice saves in earning his end of the shutout. Ryan Durant, Andy Shelden and Joey Versical led the Arrows' defense.

Rush Zimmerman and Sarah Fox had some solid shots on goal for the Arrows' C line.

Stallions 4, Red Wings 1

Led by Troy Bergman and K.C. Anderson, the Stallions won their first game of the year.

Bergman scored the hat trick with assists going to Casey Crain (2), Jim Simon (2) and Devon Allard. Michael Andreas added an unassisted goal and Anderson was brilliant between the pipes for the Stallions.

Pat Manion opened the scoring for the Wings with a pretty goal assisted by Elizabeth Auty and Steve Sevier. Chris Auty (Red Wings) and Anderson (Stallions) performed very well in net.

Flames 12, Bruins 1

Aaron Schumaker, Eric Przepiora and Robby Starrs all scored hat tricks for the winners. Patrick White scored two unassisted goals and dished a fine assist to Byron Brewer for his first goal of the season.

Nathan Ascencio did an outstanding job of goaltending and limited the Bruins to one goal.

That goal was scored by Francis Rodriguez and assisted by Jordan Damm and Alex Rust.

Defensive standouts for the Flames were Brandon Prezpiora, Jim Peterka, Tim French and Matt Beardsley. Adam Fishman, Brett Fletcher and Matt

Kenney skated well for the Flames, as did Matt Descamps and Patrick Ryan for the Bruins.

Leafs 3, Canadians 3

C.T. Terry, Kevin Kasiborski and Joey Lucido scored for the Leafs, but G. Kimmel, Ricci and Salvaggio scored to tie it for the Canadians.

The Falcons swept to No. 1 with the offensive efforts of Michael Carroll, Andrew Vlasak and Adam Hess. Outstanding defense was provided by Stuart Yingst, Reilly O'Toole and Thomas McShea. Andrew Mellos scored for the Kickers.

Brad Drummy handled the midfield and Alex Lentine and Nick Rotundo held up the defense.

U-10 House

Stingers 2, Nightmares 0

Tony Tocco and Don Sigler provided all the scoring. Jan Kuczynski, Charles Westropp and Luke Patrick were outstanding on defense.

For the Nightmares, Steve Owens and Joe Varami supported the offensive attack, with Steve Davis, Drew Harris, Joe Culik and Justin Wynne supporting the defense.

Green Machine 4, Strikers 3

The margin of victory for the Machine was provided by Walter Belenky, Justin Downs and Brian Lorey. Tough performers on defense were Mario Viviani, David McCann and Ted Neesley.

Thunder-Bolts 3, Strikers 0

The Bolts finished the season in first place. Fritz Schippert, J.R. Hiller and Steve Champine scored for the winners.

Scott Gregory kept his scoreless season intact by not allowing the Strikers to score. John Choike, Brian Selenski, Jasen and Randy Thomsen, and Sean Friedlund played well defensively.

For the Stingers, Jan Kuczynski, Robert Taylor and Logan Oney played very well.

Nightmares 2, Panthers 0

Martin Krall and Shaun Dillon shared the shutout for the Nightmares. John Kurap, Phillip Williams, Drew Harris and Mark Zurschmiede contributed to the tough defense.

Cadillacs 2, Strikers 1

The Cadillacs' Paul Yeskey, with assists by John Berschback, made the difference with his goals.

Jim VanDyke and Colin Morawski held up for the win on defense.

Eagles 2, Green Machine 0

Brandon and Robert Euashka scored for the Eagles. Dan Vertalka was strong in the midfield.

Justin Downs, Brian Lorey and Walter Belenky kept the heat on for the Machine. Ted Neesley and Mario Viviani played well defensively.

Canes 5, Raiders 1

Brad Scalon, Steve Hartman, Chris D'Angelo and Pat Howe (2) tallied for the Hurricanes. Brad Cenko recorded several assists. On defense, Tim Lindow, Jacob Montgomery and Ryan Durant played well.

Stingers 4, Strikers 1

Lady Devils retain regional cross country title

By Rob Fulton
Sports Editor

For the second consecutive year Grosse Pointe South's girls' cross country team won the regional championship, but this year it was a bit tighter.

South, the Eastern Michigan League champion, and Cass Tech tied with 57 points each, but a tie-breaker gave South the title and recognizes them as one of the favorites entering this weekend's state Class A finals.

Grosse Pointe North will also advance to the finals after finishing third (59).

"Our girls ran extremely well at the regional," said South coach Steve Zarenek. "Our primary goal was to qualify to the finals and we were ready to do that. Only one meet in the season has more significance than the regional and that's the state championship meet."

"You're not going to get there unless you get the job done at the regional and our girls got the job done."

Senior Julie Nichols led the way with a second place (20:10), behind North's Liz Bolden. Elizabeth Kraft followed in eighth place (21:08), with Emily Burkett and Toni Tedesco right behind. South's fifth runner Debbie Solterisch came in 18th, with Jenny Williams and Larisa Lindsay finishing 22nd and 23rd.

"A meet like this makes it crystal clear on how important the team concept really is," Zarenek said. "It took all seven to finish on top."

In addition to its third regional title in five years, South captured two invitational wins, the league championship, and had a dual-meet record of 19-1.

Also running in the finals will be the top jayvee runners. They include Susannah McAndrew, Ann Llewellyn, Erica Mondro, Jenny Barber and Katy Neumann.

The finals will be held at I.M.A. Golf Course in Flint on Nov. 5 at 11 a.m.

Basketball

After getting one game over .500 in the league, the Lady Devils dipped back under and now stand at 4-5.

South (6-9) couldn't find the hoop against East Detroit as they were drilled 37-17. Liz Liebold rimmed seven points and grabbed six rebounds for South. Darcy Jones and Kathleen Monaghan each had three steals.

In a game at Port Huron, South's Sarah Heck scored six points and pulled down nine boards, but South lost 53-26. Monaghan had eight rebounds and Jones had three steals.

After two straight losses, the Devils beat the Bathers of Mount Clemens, 44-29.

Lorrie Geist led South with 10 points and nine rebounds. Jones added nine points, while Becky Wysocki and Liebold controlled the boards with 11 rebounds each. Katie Kolp added seven steals.

Even at 4-4 in the E.M.L., South fell 35-58 to Anchor Bay. Kolp paced South with nine points, six rebounds, two assists and three steals. Jones and Karen Ehresman combined for 14 points.

Boys' cross country

East Detroit won the regional with 69 points, but South's third-place total of 89 gives them a berth in the state finals this weekend.

Mark Sonnenberg (16:41) and Phil Orton (16:42) finished second and third, respectively, and as far as coach Tom Wise is concerned, that was the difference.

"The key was getting them to finish that high," he said.

Dave Kerfoot (17:33), Paul Heymes (17:45) and Marty Kraft (17:54) rounded out the Devils' scorecard.

"We're just thrilled about our finish," Wise said. "We had been in a slump for 10 days, but we came out of it Saturday to finish third."

Also contributing were Billy Wilson (18:11) and John Nichols (18:59). Both runners will also participate in the state finals.

Soccer

The Blue Devils won two vital games in district play, but then lost to North, 2-1, in the district finals.

South (16-6-1) beat Warren Woods-Tower (7-4) and East Detroit (1-0) to advance to the finals.

Chad Schomaker and Anthony DeLuca booted two goals each in the win over Woods-Tower. Adam Procop, Brink Cawley and Rick Reggio also tallied.

Matt Smucker drew an assist from Jason Dritser to beat the Shamrocks, but DeLuca's goal against North wasn't enough.

"I knew this would be a good team when the season started," said Coach John Case. "We had a good season."

Norsemen win district

By James Moore
Special Writer

Last week was, putting it lightly, an explosive one for Guido Regelbrugge's soccer team at Grosse Pointe North.

North's unstoppable defense and aggressive offense created enough havoc for formidable opponents to fold as North went on to win the District No. 7 soccer title.

In a beautiful display of footwork and offense, the team beat South, 2-1, to take the trophy. Following a South goal in the first half, North scored on a Paul Walker penalty kick with just 20 minutes to play. John Ferguson scored the game-winner during Regelbrugge's "full blast attack."

North played Birmingham Groves Wednesday, Nov. 2 at 4 p.m. in the regional semifinals.

On Oct. 24, North destroyed Roseville, 8-0, to advance to the second round. Hat tricks were scored by Ignacio Salla and Glenn Nadeau.

In round two, North took on No. 4 ranked DeLaSalle and knocked off the Pilots, 1-0, on Salla's goal. Goalie Don Rosati made an incredible save on a penalty shot with just minutes left.

Basketball

In a game for the strong-hearted, North slipped past Roseville Brablec, 45-44 in overtime.

Despite three players fouling out, North's Noelle Cormier assisted Katie Loeher's basket with just seven seconds left in overtime to give North the win.

Melissa Champine dished out six assists to help the Lady Norsemen, and Heather Mergos added 10 points to go with four steals and four assists.

Earlier in the week, the team traveled to Romeo to take on the first-place Bulldogs. North was within four points with two minutes to play, but they finished 10 points back, 44-34, when the buzzer sounded.

Kelli Gianunzio, according to Coach Gary Bennett, "set a great example for the rest of the team... outstanding job of executing the fundamentals of our offense."

Kim Reiter's 12 points led North.

Swimming

The tankers recently put the Sterling Heights team on ice, 124-47.

Heidi Mader broke her own pool record in the 100 backstroke and Karen Ellis turned in an excellent time in the 100 butterfly. Ellis, off crutches for the first time in three weeks, is only two seconds shy of qualifying for the state championships.

Jennifer Paloucci continued to improve in the 500 freestyle, and other personal-bests were turned in by Julie Ricci (100, 200 free), and Michelle Meier (200 IM).

On Oct. 25, North was up-ended 98-74 by Birmingham Seaholm despite taking eight of the 11 events.

Seaholm continually scored in places two through four and overcame North's super effort.

Karen Dundon recorded a personal-best in the 200 individual medley (2:16.55) and she won the 100 free. Wendy Mader took both the 200 and 500 free, and Dundon and Wendy Mader swam in the winning 400-free relay. Heidi Mader (100 fly and 100 backstroke), and Katie Young (50 free, 400 free) were other Norsemen winners.

Cross country

Liz Bolden ran to a season-best time of 19:39 as the Lady Norsemen qualified for the state meet after finishing third in the regionals last Saturday.

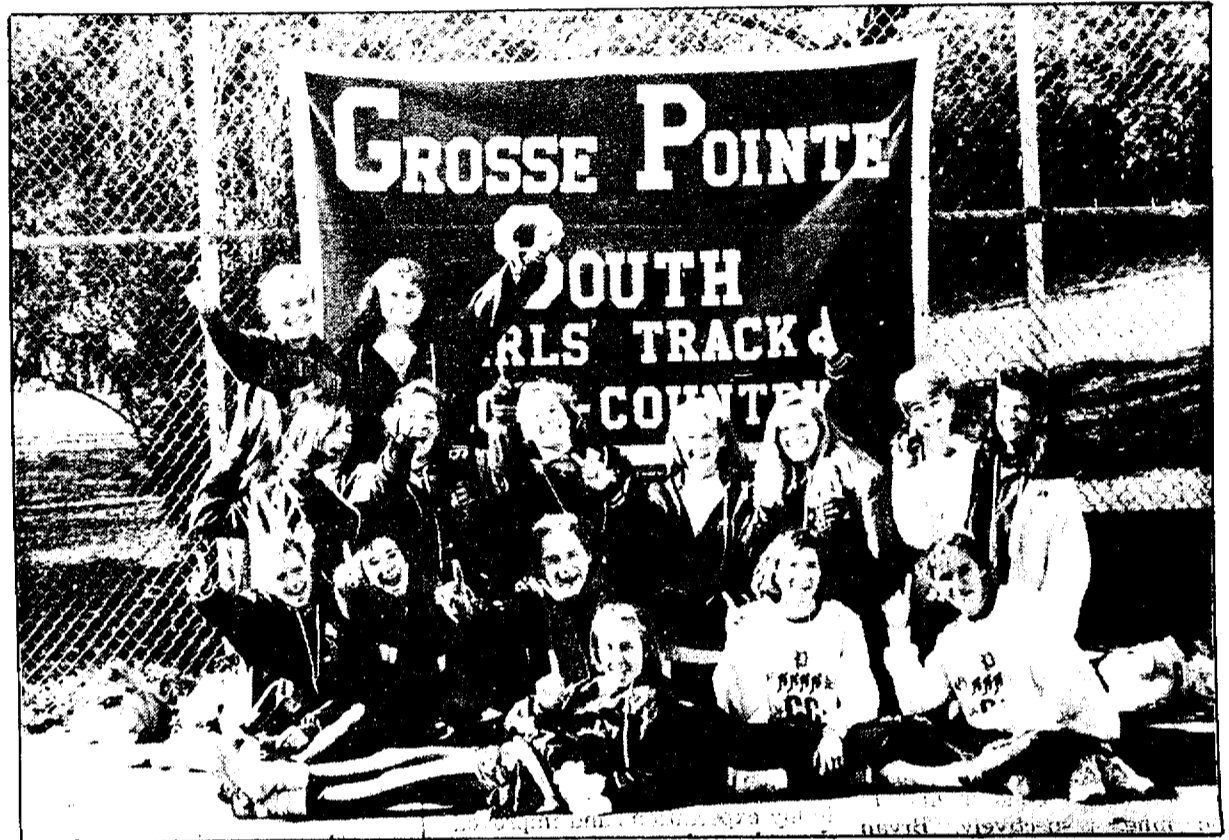

Bolden was the first girl to cross the line.

Other girls adding to North's total of 59 were Laurin Schultz (7th), Nikki VanOppens (10th), Alison Liebold (13th).

The boys' team competed in the regional meet and finished fifth (142), but did qualify two runners for the state meet.

Bob Straske finished ninth (16:59) overall and Tim Ballew (17:31) was 20th overall. Those two will run in the individual state meet this weekend.

Sophomore Tom Gauerke, who according to Collins is the odds-on-favorite to be the No. 1 runner in 1989, finished third (17:40) for North.

The Grosse Pointe South Lady Devils' cross country team can issue the No. 1 signal after recording its second straight regional championship.

Two costly turnovers in the first quarter gave Pittsford a 28-14 win over the University Liggett School football team last Friday.

ULS traveled to Pittsford and tried to escape with its fifth win of the season, but instead settled for a 4-5 record.

ULS fumbled the ball early in the game and Pittsford graciously turned them into 14 points.

"We put ourselves in a big hole very early," said ULS coach Bob Newvine.

The Knights battled back to cut the deficit to 14-6 on Chris Carroll's 5-yard jaunt, but things should have been different heading into halftime.

"We should have been tied, at least," said Newvine. "We had a touchdown called back because of an illegal procedure call."

"Again, it was a mental mistake that took points off the board for us," Newvine continued. "That's the fifth time this year that a Chris Carroll touchdown has been called back."

It was Carroll's 12th touchdown of the year.

Late in the third quarter, senior fullback Dike Ajiri plunged 4-yards and added the two-point conversion, but the 28-14 lead was too much to overcome.

"We were working hard to get back into it, but didn't get that far," said Newvine. "We drove the ball in the final minute to their 10-yard line, but time ran out."

Overall, the Knights have enjoyed their 4-5 record; the best since 1985.

"I was very happy with the season, but very unhappy with the mental mistakes," Newvine said. "We are now more competitive at the Class C level. The kids have worked hard and the program is definitely on the upswing."

Fall and winter fitness emergencies

As we proceed into fall and early winter, the environmental emergencies we associated with summer, especially this last one with its heat stroke and bee stings, are fading from our memories in the Emergency Center.

The problems we know we shall see in the depths of our Michigan winter, the hypothermia cases, patients with frostbite, snow-blower injuries, and so on, still seem a long way off. Although many of the patients we see have conditions which are not specific to any one particular time of the year, each season will bring us its own individual problems — many related to physical fitness pursuits.

Neck injuries

Fall is the time for football, which like any activity is associated with its own risks and injuries, mainly resulting from the fact that it is a contact sport. Fortunately we see very few head injuries these days due to the wearing of helmets; however, this can create a problem in itself, especially to an incompletely developed adolescent neck, should the helmeted head function as a battering ram.

The incidence of serious neck injuries is not high, and overall is far less than that caused by automobile accidents, but the long-term results from possible spinal cord damage are potentially catastrophic. This means that any player with a suspected neck injury, or who is unconscious, must be handled with great care.

The helmet should not be removed, neither the player nor the neck should be moved, and the head should be firmly held to prevent any such movement. The EMS technicians will apply a special immobilizing collar and transport the patient to an Emergency Center, where

Limb injuries

Leg injuries are not uncommon in football, especially knee injuries involving the ligaments and cartilages caused by sudden forceful twisting, and again should be assessed by a physician. As an interim measure, the knee can be strapped with an Ace bandage which will act as a temporary splint and give some relief.

Broken bones are sometimes a result of direct trauma and it is useful to splint a limb for both pain relief and to prevent further damage by the bone ends. In the absence of EMS personnel, a temporary splint can often be fashioned, using any adequately long piece of wood or even rolled-up newspapers secured to the limb.

Hockey injuries

Hockey is extremely popular at this time of the year and this brings us the same type of injuries we see in football and which should be managed in the same way.

One hockey-related condition we see in the Emergency Center is a separation of the joint at the top of the shoulder where the clavicle or collar bone joins with the scapula. This is caused by a player hitting the boards hard with his shoulder and may range from a simple strain, which is treated by rest and a shoulder immobilizer, to a complete disruption of the joint which may require surgery. As a temporary first-aid measure, an arm sling will be of use.

Skiing injuries

Many people's thoughts are turning to skiing at this time. The injuries associated with skiing often involve the legs and especially the knees. Good technique is important in prevention and the neophyte skier should invest in adequate professional instruction to minimize the chances of these problems.

Dislocated shoulders are not uncommon on the ski slopes and are often caused by a fall on the outstretched arm when the ski hits some form of an obstruction which stops its progress. Because of possible underlying nerve and bone damage, dislocated shoulders must be treated as soon as possible by a physician experienced in their management.

One condition which we occasionally see in skiers is called

"ski boot compression syndrome." It is caused by the ski boot tongue pushing on the front of the ankle, causing an inflammation of the nerves and tendons and severe pain in the top of the foot. Most of these cases can be treated by rest and anti-inflammatory medicines, but occasionally a therapeutic steroid injection into the area is necessary.

Equipment can make a difference

It is very important that the athlete or player has equipment that has been checked and is in good condition and state of repair, and has been fitted correctly. Many problems are caused by failure to adhere to this rule. It is also important to use the correct equipment for each particular sport — tennis shoes are not designed for five-mile jogging sessions.

Preparing for winter exercise

erance and amount of exercise performed gradually. Otherwise, one runs the risk of developing aches, pains and strains from overuse.

The beginning athlete should take care not to progress too rapidly. He or she should work at it systematically and slowly. The 30-year-old sedentary worker who was a good athlete in high school, but has done little exercise since, has to realize that he cannot start to work out and immediately be the track star he was 12 years previously; he needs to recondition himself if he is to avoid overuse problems.

Running outside in winter can pose special problems as a person tends to run flat-footed on slippery surfaces to prevent falling over. That may set up stresses in the legs and cause problems that would occur running normally on a dry surface. The benefits of playing sports and enjoying regular exercise program are well-known. With common sense, both the prevention and management of injuries can add a lot to the athlete's enjoyment.

Achieving self-control

Have you ever heard the statement, "Life is a do-it yourself project, I take the responsibility for my performance?" It is a fact that to succeed we must assume 100 percent responsibility for our actions. We have the power to take control of every aspect of our lives, both mental and physical.

Self-control is the key to both mental and physical health, barring only organic damage or congenital faults. We cannot allow outside forces to govern our lives. We must take credit for determining, creating and making our own place in the world. If we stop for a moment and realize that we are in the driver's seat, and not computers, not horoscopes, not some sinister "outside" force, we can be in charge of our lives. Nearly everything in life is the result of a deliberate decision and each of us has the choice to be a winner — right now — if we choose to.

Each of our actions begin as thoughts and then, if repeated often enough, become habits. It takes a minimum of 30 days of repetition of an action to become a habit. No matter what some people may promise you, there are no "quick fixes!" Just desiring, or having the right abilities is not enough. To be successful we must practice techniques, first in our minds, and then applying those actions on a day-to-day basis, one day at a time.

Building blocks

No matter what your goal may be — whether you would like to go to college, change jobs, improve your eating habits, exercise more, you will be more likely to succeed if you start with four basic "building blocks" to see you through to your goal. The building blocks are desire, information, assimilation, repetition.

Desire

You have to want to make a change in your life. Your spouse, your friend, your parent; any one of these people may think you could use a change in some area of your life, but if you do not have the personal desire, you will never accomplish that change.

Information

By gathering as much information and background as you can, you will have a clearer understanding of your goal. For instance, if you desire to return to college, you would seek information from more than one college, you would compare study programs and classes that would be best suited for your particular course of action. It is the same with any other goal. Gathering information supports the first building block — desire.

Assimilation

This is the stage of your "game plan" where the plan becomes an action. You have made the project come to life by doing it, one day, plus one day, and so on. The act of doing it is assimilated into your daily life style. Again, using a college class as an example, you show up for class, you complete assignments or projects. All of these actions are building blocks to reach your goal. The expectations of your teacher can help to support your commitment. If you have chosen to make a change in your life that seems too elusive, don't hesitate to seek support to help you stay on course.

For instance, some people may decide that they will incorporate a daily exercise regimen, and they are able to do this on their own.

The only "right" way is the one that will best help you to stay on track. Just because you have sought support does not mean that you are weak or lazy. This change in your life is for you, and you alone can decide what is best for you.

Also, it is important to remember, that during the assimilation stage, you will go through a phase of re-evaluating your goal. We all experience "down time," a period that may bring with it disappointment and discontent. Be kind to yourself. Give yourself some private time to sit and think, and with pen and paper list all the reasons you may have wanted to just quit, forget it, or not bother.

Then make a list why this accomplishment is important to you. Write down every detail you can think of.

No matter what road you choose, there will be obstacles along the way, and there will be set-backs and disappointments. But they are temporary. Like a flat tire, they can be fixed, and you can again be on your way to your goal. There is not one successful person in this world who did not experience failure along the way. What sets a true winner apart from the loser is that they got back up and tried again.

Repetition

There is not one habit of ours that just "happened." All of our habits became just that, through repetition and repeating. Whether the habit is a positive one, or a negative one, they developed over a period of time. There is a lot of truth to the old adage, "practice makes perfect," and to the much maligned, "take it one day at a time."

If you are just starting out, and all you can think about is how far you have yet to go, you may be setting yourself up for failure. Instead, think about your goal in short-term increments. For instance, if you are losing weight, concentrate on the next pound, not on the 20 or 30 pounds or more you may have to lose.

Activate your own instant replay system. You put your goal into practice yesterday, you can do it again today! Imagine your goal for the day as if it already happened, and you will see it come true. Winning is a learned habit. Through practice, you will learn your habit well. Practice this little quote every day. "Everyday, in every way, I am getting better and better."

Help your heart: The facts about fat

Americans are flooded with information about diet and health these days, and it's easy to understand the public frustration when forced to learn the difference between fats — saturated, polyunsaturated and monounsaturated.

Fat is fat, right? Wrong.

The American Heart Association recommends reducing total fat intake to less than 30 percent of calories per day. In a 2,000 calorie per-day diet, calories from fat should make up less than 600 calories — or be equal to 67 grams. One gram of fat equals approximately 10 calories.

Fatty acids are the basic chemical units in fat. They may be saturated, monounsaturated, or polyunsaturated. All dietary fats are made up of mixtures of these fatty-acid types.

Saturated fats, found mostly in animal products, have a hard quality such as the visible fat on beef. Saturated fats tend to raise the cholesterol level in the blood. A high blood cholesterol level is considered to be one of the three major risk factors contributing to cardiovascular disease — the leading cause of death in the United States.

Because of the effect on the blood cholesterol, the American Heart Association recommends reducing saturated fat in the diet.

Saturated fats are found primarily in whole milk, cream, cheese made from cream or whole milk, butter, beef, veal, lamb, pork and ham along with palm kernel and coconut oil.

Monounsaturated fatty acids, found in fats of both plant and animal origin, appear to have a slight lowering effect on blood cholesterol. Monounsaturated fats are contained in peanuts and peanut oil, olives and olive oil, and avocados.

Polyunsaturated fats lower blood cholesterol levels, helping reduce a major risk factor for heart disease. These fatty acids are found in fats of plant origin. Sunflower, corn, soybean, cottonseed, sesame seed and safflower oils are examples of fats high in polyunsaturated fatty acids.

Total fat in the diet should be limited to less than 30 percent of daily calories, limiting saturated fats to less than 10 percent of calories and substituting polyunsaturated fats at a level less than 10 percent of calories.

Americans currently eat about 40 percent of their total calories as fat. The AHA recommends limiting intake of meat, seafood and poultry to no more than 5-7 ounces per day to help control the amount of fat in the diet.

Include chicken or turkey (without skin) or fish in most main meals, or substitute "meatless" main dishes. Choose lean cuts of meat, trim the visible fat and throw away the fat that cooks out of the meat.

Use low-fat dairy products, and limit use of fats and oils to no more than 5-8 teaspoons per day for cooking, baking and salads.

T'ai Chi at War Memorial

The War Memorial will be offering two sessions of T'ai Chi now through Dec. 15.

The classes meet at 11 a.m. for beginners, and noon for continuing students. David Mason will provide instruction in this ancient system of exercise which originated in China some 700 years ago.

T'ai Chi consists of slow, graceful movements that bring the body into proper alignment and balance so that tension may be detected and released. It is designed to exercise the internal organs and to improve the circulation of air, blood and energy.

It is unique because proficiency depends not on strength and speed, but on consciousness and internal energy. This development of consciousness permits students to continue to improve as they age.

Mason has studied T'ai Chi with Carol Yamasaki for seven years and has taught in association with her throughout the metropolitan area.

Diet changes should be made slowly and steadily. The AHA wants people to know that virtually all foods properly selected, properly prepared and served in appropriate portions can be incorporated into an AHA-approved diet.

Bulldogs start 1-2

The Century 21 East Bulldogs, a hockey team in the 30-and-over league, began its 10th year together.

The Bulldogs were sluggish in the first two games as they dropped those contests, but they battled back to earn that elusive first win, 7-0, over Sherwood Realty.

In the Oct. 20 issue of the Grosse Pointe News, a swimming photo should have identified the swimmer as Michele Evans of South.

University Liggett School's football team is enjoying its best season since 1985, not the best in the school's history as reported in last week's paper.

'The Accused' examines legal process following rape

By Marian Trainor
Special Writer

Truth, if not stranger than fiction, can be just as intriguing. Recently there have been films based on true stories that have both mesmerized and shocked audiences — among them the "Patty Hearst Story," "Gorillas in the Mist," "Dead Ringers," "Bird," and yet to come, "A Cry in the Night," the tragic story of a woman in Australia who is accused of murder after a wild dog carries off her baby. In all of them, every gruesome detail is brutally portrayed. So it is with "The Accused." Based on a barroom incident in New Bedford, Mass. in 1985 when three men raped a young woman while their friends cheered them on, it is deeply disturbing. In the film, Jodie Foster as Sarah Tobias goes to a bar after a fight with her boyfriend to talk to a friend who works there. All this comes later in the film. In the opening scenes, she is running down a road, holding her torn clothes together, hysterically trying to flag down a ride. A truck driver picks her up and takes her to a hospital. She is scratched, bruised and in shock. Before treating her or listening to her story, she is subjected to the following questions: "Have you ever had venereal disease?" "Did you dress provocatively?" "Did you encourage the action?" This attitude and treatment is indicative of the attitude that will prevail during the arrest and prosecution of her attackers. The suspicion that she asked for it hovers over the proceedings. Her case is referred to Kathryn Murphy (Kelly McGillis), an ambitious D.A., and a cool, controlled young woman who hears Sarah out. She leads her to believe she will present her case as

Sarah has told it to her, and then, when confronted by the lawyers for the accused, settles for a lesser charge. But she has not reckoned with Sarah who is determined that her attackers pay for her pain and humiliation. Determined to do something about it, Kathryn searches her law books and comes up with a ruling that "onlookers or hecklers can be prosecuted for criminal solicitation." The case is reopened and those who cheered the rapists on are brought to trial. "The Accused" digs into the story of two women from different backgrounds and experiences reacting with each other and in the process changing, growing and becoming different persons. The rape scene and the legal quagmire that follows holds the viewers' attention. But the brilliant performance by Jodie Foster is what makes the film stand out.

'South Pacific' next dinner-theatre offering

"South Pacific," Rodgers and Hammerstein's classic musical comedy, opens at the Golden Lion Dinner Theatre Friday, Nov. 4 and runs every Friday and Saturday evening (except Christmas Eve) through Friday, Dec. 30. There will be a special New Year's Eve performance Saturday, Dec. 31. Price for the special New Year's Eve performance is $75 per couple (or $37.50 per person) and includes dinner, show, tax, gratuity, party hats, noisemakers and a champagne toast. The musical features "Younger Than Springtime," "Some Enchanted Evening," "Happy Talk," "Bali H'ai," and "This Nearly Was Mine." "South Pacific" tells the story of Emile DeBecque, a French planter on an American-held island, and his relationship with Ensign Nellie Forbush, an American nurse. It also relates the story of Lt. Joe Cable, an

'Pumpkinhead' is cliché-ridden movie

By Michael Chapp
Special Writer
Look at the title, "Pumpkinhead." Now think of every cliché and every preconception possible about a film with a title like that.

If there's anything redeemable here, it's the first 20 minutes, in which a nice relationship is explored between a simple, country father and his pre-school-aged son. It's a tender piece of movie-making, and viewers will hon-

And to hell with anyone who gets in his way. Know that there are no new methods of wasting teenagers in this picture, nothing so revolting that it's almost funny or so phony that it's humorous. Most of the material is warmed-over from other pictures in the same genre. Even Pumpkinhead himself, whom we see much too early (thus denying viewers even the slightest morsel of suspense) looks like a leperous E.T.

Film

estly begin to feel something for the two characters. But the Evil starts. Some teenagers (who else, in a horror movie?) come to the country and proceed to kill the little boy. It's an accident, the result of some careless motorcycling. But that doesn't matter to the father, who's so upset he conjures up the spirit of the Pumpkinhead, a demonic beast who, if you ask him nicely, will kill the bad guys. Indeed, he's kind of like a cross between Jason from "Friday the 13th" fame, and the character Charles Bronson played in the "Death Wish" films; he's a vigilante out to right all wrongs.

Film

The production values here are at least acceptable. Nothing looks so hokey that we're constantly reminded this is a movie. But there are continuity and editing problems galore. And most of the time, we're either yawning because of the lack of fresh material, or we're snarling because of the filmmaker's assumption that audiences are so unsophisticated they will actually enjoy this tripe. Judging from the ending, someone has a sequel in mind. That truly would be scary.

101 PRAYERS

THANK you to the Holy Spirit for a favor granted. M.M.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen.

Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer three consecutive days without asking your wish, after third day you wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this prayer as soon as you favor has been granted. Thank you for favors received. K.G.V.D.

The Missing LINC
Linking individuals to Needs in the Community

Linking individuals to Needs in the Community is a non-profit organization whose purpose is to coordinate needs with resources. This is accomplished by placing goods no longer needed by individuals and businesses into the hands of Metropolitan Detroit charitable agencies. Operating since 1971, LINC is proud of the accomplishments it has made and strives to increase its resource base. If you have recyclable items, no longer of use to you, Operation LINC knows who can and will use them. Please call LINC at 882-6100 with your donation. KEEP IT MOVING!

The CYSTIC FIBROSIS FOUNDATION is in need of a portable, self-threading 16mm movie projector, a portable (preferably) Kodak carousel model slide projector, a portable screen and a 13" TV set that is new enough to be VCR compatible and four electric typewriters. Cystic Fibrosis is the #1 killer of children in this country and the foundation exists first and foremost to raise funds for research efforts which are working toward eliminating this killer.

A REFRIGERATOR, and a STEAM TABLE have been requested by the United Sisters of Charity.

PACT (Parents and Children Together) have needs that include a crib, 2 washers (that work), a space heater, hot plate or electric skillet, a hot water tank, two dressers.

NORTHVILLE REGIONAL PSYCHIATRIC HOSPITAL needs an APPLE II personal computer for their deaf program to aid in the instruction of sign language. The software required: American Sign Language Instruction.

Many groups are still in need of folding conference tables and chairs and LINC is always in need of baby cribs, high chairs, and blankets.

Aerobics offered

Fitness Firm, formerly Dance Slimnastics, will be offering a seven-week series of low-impact aerobics, starting Nov. 7.

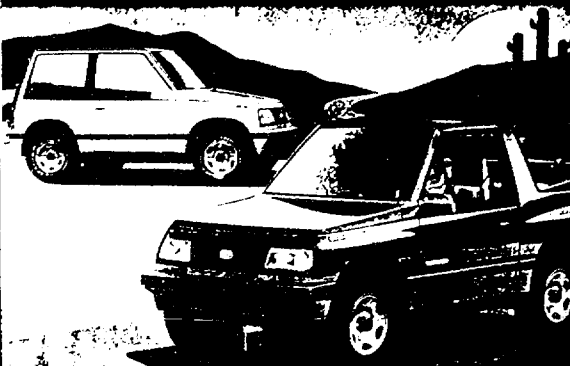

The classes will be held at Christ the King Church in the Woods, on Monday and Wednesday from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m., and Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

There will also be evening classes at the church on Monday and Wednesday from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m., and Tuesday and Thursday from 6:45 to 7:45 p.m. at the J.F. Kennedy Library in Harper Woods. Fitness Firm will hold classes from 7 to 8 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday.

This new session, titled Stars, is designed to give students the opportunity to work out aerobically as many times per week as desired. The freshly choreographed dance routines, set to a variety of upbeat, popular and classical music are easy to learn. Students need no previous dance or athletic experience to partake in these sessions.

For further information, call 885-8246 or 886-7534.

DRIVE IN ELEGANCE

The English revere tradition. That's why Jaguars have always been swift and surefooted, and as elegant as a 400 year-old manor house.

The British have an affection for art and tradition and a motorcar that embodies both. The 1989 Jaguar XJ6.
