ACTION team top investigators

By Kathy Ryan

GROSSE POINTE PARK — Officers from the Arresting Car Thieves in Our Neighborhood team are used to collaring individuals who unlawfully drive away intact cars. Arresting individuals stealing cars one part at a time is a unique challenge.

But a tip to a hotline and solid police work led to the officers breaking up an auto parts theft ring and to those same officers being honored with the Investigator of the Year award from Help Eliminate Auto Thefts, an agency funded by the car insurance industry.

Public Safety Sgt. James Vogler, who commands the ACTION team and serves with Park public safety officer Dan Kolar, led the three-month investigation resulting in the arrest of an individual police said was responsible for the theft of nearly $3 million in original parts from the Chrysler Parts Distribution Center in Center Line.

"The parts taken were small sensors and other small electronic devices," Vogler said, "Then he would sell the items on social media sites like Craigslist for about 2 percent of their original cost. He used a soft-side cooler that he would carry in empty at the beginning of his shift, and then he would carry out several and SOC Director David Dieter.

The two buses replace other vehicles in the six-bus fleet that serves the five Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods and are equipped with wheelchair lifts and seating for 13 passengers. The buses are available Monday through Friday for use by adults and persons with disabilities.

"The PAATS programs is a critical part of the operation of Services for Older Citizens programs," said Dieter. "Providing transportation service helps keep our residents connected and involved by getting them to educational facilities, to healthcare and to various destinations throughout the metro area they would otherwise not be able to get to."

"PAATS is an important part of allowing our senior citizens to maintain their independence," Como said. "It is very important for their quality of life."

As part of the dedication, it was announced SOC received a grant from SMART to repave the parking lot at its new facility on Ridge Road.

City hall is 100

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — Not everything at next week's 100th birthday party for city hall is vintage.

"We will have a cake — not a 100-year-old cake," said Mark Wollenweber, manager of Grosse Pointe Shores.

A party at city hall 2 to 4 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 5, celebrates the building's first day of operation Nov. 1, 1915.

"We hope throughout that day residents will visit," Wollenweber said.

Municipal officials cite the centennial when proposing to create a historical commission.

City attorney Brian Renaud reported working on establishing an historic district for city hall, designed by Albert Kahn.

"One of the principle reasons is we can get grant money to replace windows in the building," said Councilman Bruce Bisballe. "If we designate the building an historical entity, we get grant money to fix the windows."

"Plus, it's pride," said Mayor Ted Kedzierski. "Albert Kahn was one of the greatest architects of the 20th century. We have to preserve it, which is good for the community."

Grosse Pointe Farms

officials passed an historic district ordinance in 1999, establishing four districts, three on city property:

- ◆ water filtration plant on lower Moross,
- ◆ adjacent Joy Bells garden and
- ◆ sewage pumping station on Chalfonte.

The fourth is Beverly Road, a block-long private street of old houses.

Designations "protects historic properties from demolition or inappropriate alliteration (and) preserves landmarks for future generations," according to information in the "about our city" section of the municipal website, grossepointefarms.org.

Owners of such properties also qualify for 25 percent state investment tax credits that aren't free of strings.

The commission must issue a Certificate of Appropriateness before owners may change historic properties in ways visible from the street, including window replacement.

Strings aren't onerous. They haven't prevented Farms officials from investing millions of dollars in the water and pumping stations, including construction of an addition at the pumping station to enclose a permanent backup electric generator.

GPYC back on course

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — The Grosse Pointe Yacht Club is back on course for harbor renovations.

Board members returned to Grosse Pointe Shores city council this month to refresh their application to modernize parts of the harbor.

Plans require municipal endorsement as a special land use.

Changes have no bearing on the harbor's outer dimensions, otherwise known as the footprint. Nor will they be noticeable from outside the facility.

If this seems familiar, it is.

"We had approval in 2013, but didn't get things going in time," said Tom Lauzan, club vice commodore. "So, we're seeking permission to move forward."

Mayor Ted Kedzierski, a club member, recused himself during Lauzan's presentation to council Tuesday, Oct. 20, to avoid a conflict of interest.

Mayor Pro Tem Bruce Bisballe handled the session.

Members of the municipal planning commission already approved the club's plans.

"The commission voted unanimously to place it on the (council) agenda," said Chairwoman Mary Matuja.

"This is akin to what was approved by the council and planning commission a few years ago for inner harbor renovations," said Mark Wollenweber, city manager.

Club representatives said at that time some of the club's slips were too narrow for modern, wider cruisers; pilings were rusted and docks at the end of their useful lives.

Grosse Pointe Shores officials corrected the same issues a few years ago when reconstructing the municipal marina, which is adjacent to the club and shares its opening to Lake St. Clair.

The club project includes replacing fuel tanks at the gas dock.

The outer breakwalls, drawbridge and entrance stay the same for now.

Future phases of reconstruction present an opportunity to reinstall culverts through park and club property to restore shoreline currents and reduce accretion above and below the neighboring harbors.

"We anticipate getting new plans and addressing the accretion issue," said Councilman Robert Gesell, liaison to the planning commission.

"We have a study going on now," said Lauzan, accompanied by Commodore Kevin Granger and a couple board members. "We're expecting in the next three or four weeks to have a final copy. The plan is to meet with the city and residents and go through the report."

In 2012, Platinum Clubs of America rated the yacht club third best of its kind nationally.

Trees, and some planting them, are culprits in outages

By Brad Lindberg
Staff Writer

GROSSE POINTE SHORES — Overgrown trees encroaching on power lines caused the most recent electrical outages in the city.

This happened despite DTE Energy's regular pruning program to keep lines clear.

"Their tree trimming process is lacking," said Grosse Pointe Shores Councilman Robert Barrette, retired from the utility. "They have a five-year program, but weren't trimming properly."

Branches grew back into the wires within two years, he added.

"The last four or five major outages have all been tree trimming, not mechanical," Barrette said.

City representatives said they photographed trouble spots and proved their case to utility representatives.

"They think, now, the problem primarily is a tree issue, which they're going to address," said Mark Wollenweber, city manager.

Many people planting trees near power lines suffer the same shortcoming for which Doc Brown chastised Marty McFly in "Back to the Future III": "You're just not thinking fourth dimensionally."

People forget trees grow upward and outward over time regardless of overhead or nearby power lines.

"By planting only low-growing trees near power lines, you can avoid the possibility of your tree interfering with overhead electrical power lines in the future," according to DTE guidelines distributed to the public.

Another safeguard against the spread of outages is rewiring the city's seven circuits to localize impacts of downed wires.

"I asked them to look at more sectionalizing, because circuits are overloaded," Barrette said.

Sectionalizing "isolates faults so the minimum number of customers is out of service," according to a DTE definition.

Wollenweber summarized it: "If a tree takes down a line, it takes out less people. That's a complex process, they indicated."

DTE's next scheduled trimming in the Shores isn't until 2018, but that's likely to change.

"They're going to walk the circuits again and bring back trimmers if they have to," Barrette said.

"We'll be working with the (Shores) tree committee for replacement of trees in the proper location, proper types and sizes," Wollenweber said.

The municipal tree trimming program, however, is ahead of schedule.

Crews completed trimming city-owned trees in Zone 1, Moorland north to the St. Clair Shores city limits, faster than expected, according to Brett Smith, public works director.

Work shifted to Zone 2, originally on tap for next year.

The zone includes the Edgewood subdivision, which takes longer to complete due to its large number of locust trees.

"There's probably been a tree truck there every day for the last two weeks," Smith said.

— Undoubtedly somewhere in Scandinavia 1,000 years ago, a Viking preparing to crew a long-boat over the horizon put down his battle axe, leaned his broad, hairy back against the shallowly-grooved trunk of a Norway maple for one long, last scratch, symbolically linking the two species by one notorious characteristic.

"They're pillagers," said Deb McCullough, a forest entomologist at Michigan State University.

They're also invasive. Norway maples are rated invasive in 20 states.

By definition, an invasive species is non-native, aggressive, propagates aggressively and takes over habitat of native species.

"Plant people get all skitty about Norway maple because it seeds so heavily," McCullough

Woods neighborhood celebrates their hero

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

Major Bart Ward has been away from home for seven long months, serving in the Middle East where he was actively combating ISIL in support of Operation Inherent Resolve.

The A-10 pilot recently was welcomed home by his wife and their five children — 4-year-old twins Teddy and Camie, 2-year-old Jamison and 3-month-old twins Lily and Thurston — as well as by neighbors in their Grosse Pointe Woods community.

In anticipation of his return, Amanda Ward sent postcards to neighbors, along with two tacks and two yellow ribbons each, asking to help show support for his return. Nearly 100 houses on Severn participated, pinning yellow ribbons to trees to honor the major. “The whole neighborhood got involved,” Amanda Ward said. “We really lucked out. Everybody wrapped their arms around us and embraced this, welcoming him home.”

Bart Ward, a native of Owosso, graduated in 2000 from the United States Air Force Academy and has flown A-10s ever since. An A-10 is a single-seat attack fighter, he said.

“Our primary job is close-air support. I work fulltime to support troops on the ground,” he said, adding in 2013 he switched from active duty to the Michigan Air National Guard.

This was his third major deployment, but his first time deployed as a parent.

Amanda Ward, who serves in the Mississippi Air National Guard, said this deployment was more bearable than others because of advances in technology. Previously, e-mail, snail mail and the occasional phone call were the only means of communication. During this deployment, they could video chat whenever they wanted. One night when their daughter had a bad dream, Amanda Ward called her husband and he helped calm down Camie.

When she experienced complications during her pregnancy, her husband went on emergency leave and was there for the birth of their second set of twins.

“We were really blessed to have him home,” she said, adding he had to go back overseas a short time later. “But we had a great support network and made (the distance) work.”

The community has been a sort of family to them, too, especially while Bart Ward was overseas. Neighbors routinely offered dinners and wellness checks during that time, Amanda Ward said.

“They really support us well,” she said.

The Air Force sets the deployment schedule and Selfridge Air National Guard Base sends out troops every three years, so it should be a while before Bart Ward is deployed again; however, he'll still make trips overseas. For now, he's just grateful to be home.

“I couldn't believe the whole neighborhood did it. They went above and beyond anything like I've ever experienced,” he said. “To come home to a (civilian) homecoming like this is very rare. Every day I make the drive and see those yellow ribbons. It's very fulfilling.”

said. “If it gets into a wooded area, a lot of times it will start out competing native trees that might have other benefits.”

Brian Colter, Grosse Pointe Park city forester, doesn't plant them anymore, but not because of the invasive tag, which many tree experts consider a technicality.

“I don't plant them because they don't seem to tolerate our heavy, clay soil,” Colter said. “They tend to get girdling roots.”

He sometimes carries out a resident's request to plant a cultivar of Norway maple, Crimson King maple, on municipal rights-of-way between sidewalks and roads.

“It's a beautiful tree with reddish, burgundy leaves all summer,” Colter said. “It seems to tolerate our soil better than Norway maple and I like the splash of color all summer.”

Still, it's a product of invasive genes.

“I don't necessarily make a big issue of that,” said Dave Roberts, a senior academic specialist in the Michigan State University College of Agriculture and Natural Resources. “I'm not necessarily opposed to planting Norway maples.”

The trees shed squadrons of seeds, called winged samaras, that twirl down and seem to root wherever they land.

During road resurfacing recently on Essex in the Park, crews dug up old asphalt and piled it temporarily in the work zone.

“In a short period of time, there were hundreds of baby Norway maples growing out of the asphalt,” Colter said.

Although Norway maples are good at usurping natural areas, they have a hard time surviving beyond a toe-hold in manicured landscapes.

Sprouts on lawns face their toughest test of longevity when someone rolls out a lawn mower.

“When you cut the grass, you kill the tree, so it's not a problem,” Colter said.

Another annoyance are tar spots.

“Norway maple is one of the prime hosts for tar spots,” Roberts said. “It causes a thick, black spot on leaves.”

“It's a fungal disorder, but isn't deadly,” Colter said.

“That disease tends to defoliate trees somewhat later in summer,” Roberts said. “A lot of people don't like that disease, but it's not all that serious to the trees.”

“I'm not concerned about tar spots in the least,” Colter said.

There's an app for that

By Kathy Ryan

GROSSE POINTE PARK — It was a solid case of high tech meeting old fashioned police work that led to the arrest of a 20-year-old Detroit resident and solved several larcenies from autos that took place during the early morning hours of Friday, Oct. 23.

Torrance Jones' one-man-crime spree came to an abrupt end later that day after police tracked his whereabouts by using a "find my iPad" app activated following the theft of the device during a home invasion in the 1000 block of Buckingham.

According to police, the stolen iPad was just part of a string of thefts that took place between 3 and 5 a.m. from unlocked vehicles parked in the 1000 and 1100 blocks of Buckingham, Berkshire and Devonshire.

But let's start with the Buckingham theft. Police classified that as a home invasion because the unlocked car Jones entered was parked in an attached garage. An attached garage is considered part of the home and raises the theft to the higher crime of home invasion. According to police, Jones entered an unlocked Grand Cherokee parked in the open attached garage and stole the iPad, a briefcase and $10 in change.

That was just one stop in a very busy night. Jones also picked through four unlocked cars on Devonshire and another unlocked car on Buckingham. Items taken included money and jackets.

But when he entered an unlocked car on Berkshire, he found more than petty cash. He found the keys and stole the car. Now, back to the iPad stolen from the garage on Buckingham.

Public Safety Officer Michael Miller interviewed the owner of the device and determined he had the "find my device" app for it, which they were able to activate. Jones was located via the app at a drive thru restaurant on Jefferson and Park detectives made the arrest there. Jones was in possession of several items taken earlier in the day. Police also recovered the car Jones had stolen.

Jones was arraigned

Monday in Grosse Pointe Park municipal court on several charges, including home invasion and car theft. He's being held on $100,000 bond. A probable cause conference has been set for Wednesday, Nov. 4.

Detective Michael Narduzzi, following the arrest, praised Miller for his work in tracking the device. Narduzzi also offered this comment.

"The operative word in all of this is 'unlocked,'" he said. "We can't stress enough how important it is that residents lock their cars. This is simply a crime of opportunity. These people just walk down the street trying car doors. If the car is locked, they move on. If it is unlocked, they take whatever they find. Just lock your cars."

Narduzzi said it was too early to link Jones with a rash of thefts from cars that have occurred the past few weeks, but the investigation continues.

Chief David Hiller praised all the officers involved.

"This was great work by both uniformed and plain clothes officers," he said. "It was modern police work at its best."

Public Safety Reports

City of Grosse Pointe

Closed out

Internet sales of stolen electronic equipment took a hit with the arrest of a Staples employee for embezzlement.

Managers of the City of Grosse Pointe outlet in the 17400 block of Mack summoned a public safety officer shortly before 1 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30, to take custody of the employee, a 26-year-old Shelby Township man.

Thefts dating back a year total approximately $30,000, divided equally between cash and merchandise, according to the complainants.

"(He) gave the managers a written statement stating he obtained cash through falsified refunds and transactions and also sold an unknown amount of Staples-owned electronics on eBay," reported the officer.

The man reportedly remained chatty after the officer read him his Miranda right to remain silent, that anything he said could be used against him in a court of law.

"(He) admitted he committed the embezzlement," said the officer. "All admissions were captured on bodycam."

Plate taken

A City of Grosse Pointe woman reported her car's license plate stolen from the vehicle while parked in the Village Kroger lot between 7:50 and 8:10 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30.

Stumble bum

It didn't matter last week that a City of Grosse Pointe woman, 55, lived within walking distance of the Village.

A public safety officer patrolling the commercial district found her at 12:11 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 28, "stumbling" near the intersection of Notre Dame and Kercheval.

"(I) stopped and asked if she was OK," reported the officer. "(She) stated she was smashed."

The woman reportedly said she lives on St. Clair, but couldn't find her residence when the officer drove her along the road.

"She became belligerent," said the officer. "(I) placed (her) under arrest for drunk and disorderly. (She) could not stand on her own."

Two officers said they activated their body cameras during the encounter.

Pest

Officers dispatched to a pharmacy in the 17100 block of Kercheval in the Village shortly before 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 25, documented the arrest of a 23-year-old Detroit man pretending to be a teenager flirting with still younger girls, including one 12 years old accompanied by her mother.

GROSSE POINTE NEWS MISSION STATEMENT

To provide the Grosse Pointes the most relevant, accurate and timely information in our print and online publications.

OUR VIEW

Giving is a lesson we all enjoy

Grosse Pointers give to help others. That's hardly a surprise. Numerous events and charities count on the generosity of Grosse Pointers to be successful and the next generation is learning from us how important it is to give back.

We want to help celebrate that and we need your help. We want to publish stories about children doing good work in the community.

Grace Mallires, a senior at Grosse Pointe South donated her long hair to Wigs for Kids, a nonprofit based in St. Clair Shores.

Wigs for Kids provides hair replacement for children who have lost their hair due to radiation, chemotherapy, and other medical issues. There is no cost to the child's family. Mallires grew her hair so she would have about 10 inches to donate, which is the minimum needed. This is the second time Mallires has donated her hair and she said she does it because she wants to help kids feel better about how they look when they lose their own hair.

What an awesome example of giving. Please share your stories at editor@grossepointenews.com. And thank you, Grace, for showing us the way.

Pure Grosse Pointe

Fall is beautiful in the Grosse Pointes - no one will argue that. Business owners along the Hill will spend the winter picking up thousands of tiny leaves tracked in by customers. It's better than fish flies. And we'd take more of this unseasonably warm weather, say through February.

Our path

How does Grosse Pointe remain a light-house school district? What do we want for our students?

We have been asking these important questions with 42 community members during the past month. They are parents and students, business owners, teachers, real estate agents, city officials, senior citizens and Grosse Pointe residents with no children in the schools. This cross section of our community has engaged in frank discussions about where we see our district in the future.

One thing we know for sure: Grosse Pointe is a premier school district. We want it to stay that way. So, primary in our discussions, is recognizing our strengths and weaknesses and creating a vision and mission for the future. This is essential strategic planning and it hasn't been done in almost 10 years.

We've plowed deeply in our thinking, reflected, and had great debates.

We discussed the need to embrace our diversity, update our technology and infrastructure, maintain our traditions and stature in the state, and reach students who learn in different ways. We like the district's new initiative (and its wonderful video) to bridge our gaps and bring us together. It's called #OneGP.

With the new superintendent, we're excited to present the final plan to the board of education and the community in December. It has been a great process to step out of our day-to-day busyness and start designing a path to the future.

At risk

As a public health professional who deeply values community safety, I am writing to express my concern regarding legislation currently before the Michigan Senate that would allow concealed carry of guns in K-12 schools and other sensitive locations.

Recently the Senate Judiciary Committee in Michigan approved Senate Bill 442 and it is moving to the full Senate for a vote. Senate Bill 442 allows CPL holders to carry concealed weapons into day care centers, schools, sports and entertainment arenas, bars, houses of worship, hospitals and college dorms and classrooms. This is essentially "guns everywhere" legislation. I could argue why guns don't belong in any of these locations; however, I will focus on K-12 schools.

Guns have no place in Michigan schools, where we send our kids to learn. Throwing open Michigan's schoolhouse doors to armed civilians puts children, educators and staff at risk. I believe that my children and all children in Michigan have the right to a learning environment that is safe. Civilians with guns threaten school safety. The only people I trust to carry a gun into my children's school (and other sensitive locations) are trained law enforcement professionals. What about you?

There is no silver bullet to end gun violence - but common sense suggests that more guns, everywhere, is not one of the solutions. If you feel like I do about "guns everywhere" I urge you to contact Gov. Rick Snyder and elected state officials to share your thoughts.

Cuts

House approves changes in Social Security benefits.

It's time our representatives in Washington take a dose of their own medicine. The House approved the elimination of options by which eligible Social Security beneficiaries may choose to collect. The proposed changes stand to cost recipients between $30,000 to $60,000, in lifetime benefits.

This proposal passed quietly during a midweek session and awaits approval by Congress. If these cuts are truly necessary, then Washington should either merge federal employee retirement benefits with Social Security, or reduce their pensions. Nobody talks about these benefits being underfunded.

To paraphrase the President, "There is no reason that every American shouldn't enjoy the same benefits as the members of Congress and myself."

A store manager sought police regarding complaints the man "made inappropriate comments to young customers," according to a patrolman.

The man reportedly approached the 12-year-old saying, "Oooh baby," then said something the manager said the complainant wouldn't repeat," an officer reported.

Witnesses reported the suspect committing similar acts at another store in the district before officers arrested him on the sidewalk.

Gift gone wrong

A 22nd birthday gift of pipes, a grinder and rolling papers contributed to a Macomb Township man's arrest for possession of narcotics paraphernalia during a traffic stop on eastbound Mack near Prestwick at 2:23 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 1.

Grosse Pointe Farms Officer Ed Wierszewski pulled him over for disregarding a red light while entering Mack from northbound Moross.

"Upon speaking with (him), I could smell the odor of marijuana coming from the vehicle," reported Wierszewski, a certified drug recognition expert. "I observed a false book — hollowed out — on the backseat. This type of book can be used to conceal drugs, drug paraphernalia or weapons."

The book contained two multi-colored glass pipes, including one coated with suspected marijuana residue; a purple grinder and two types of rolling papers.

"(The driver) said he received the items as a gift for his birthday (Oct. 29)," Wierszewski reported.

Drunk again

A woman, 47, Detroit, fresh from a drunken driving conviction, tricked herself into being treated to an arrest for the same offense Halloween night.

A patrolman pulled her over at 6:16 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 31, for making an illegal U-turn from westbound to eastbound Mack at Kerby.

"(She) slurred, had an odor of intoxicants on her breath, her eyes were bloodshot and glassy," reported the officer. "She admitted drinking."

Her criminal record shows a drunken driving conviction in another community Oct. 9, a suspended operator's license and an outstanding Wayne County warrant for an unspecified family offense.

The Chrysler Town & Country she drove contained two adult male passengers and five unrestrained children ages 1 through 12.

"She claimed she was taking the children trick-or-treating," said the officer.

Police logged her .23 percent blood alcohol level, which is nearly three times the limit to operate a motor vehicle legally in Michigan.

Officers confiscated an open can of beer found on the Chrysler's floorboards and took the woman into custody.

Charges include drunken driving, child endangerment and violating a suspended driver's license.

Drug duo

A man accused of driving a car with excessively loud exhaust was arrested on an outstanding felony warrant during a traffic stop on Mack near Opal at 1:09 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 29.

The man, 33, of St. Clair Shores, was wanted by Monroe authorities for selling marijuana.

Police also arrested a 30-year-old male passenger from Lake Orion for possessing .25 ounces of the drug.

Rental unreturned

Representatives of a car rental agency in the 18200 block of Mack reported on Tuesday, Oct. 27, the theft of a gray 2015 Toyota Camry.

They said they rented the car to a Detroit man, 30, on Sept. 9, with the understanding he'd return it one month later. He didn't.

Caretaker

Two patrolmen responding at 3:33 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30, to the burglar alarm at a house in the 200 block of Moran heard a car door slam shut in the attached garage which, upon approach, smelled of marijuana.

A man, 56, answering the front door of the residence identified himself as taking care of the property on behalf of the deceased owner's relative.

The man admitted smoking marijuana in the garage and storing more of the drug in a car parked within.

Officers confirmed his caretaking role and arrested him for possession of marijuana.

Art students selected for GM car design program

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Zora Bowens, a senior at Grosse Pointe South High School, wasn't interested in cars when her teacher, Kit Aro, told her about a car design competition at General Motors. Students in grades 7 to 12 from the Detroit area were invited to apply for selection to a 22-week automotive sketching and sculpting course at the GM Technical Center in Warren.

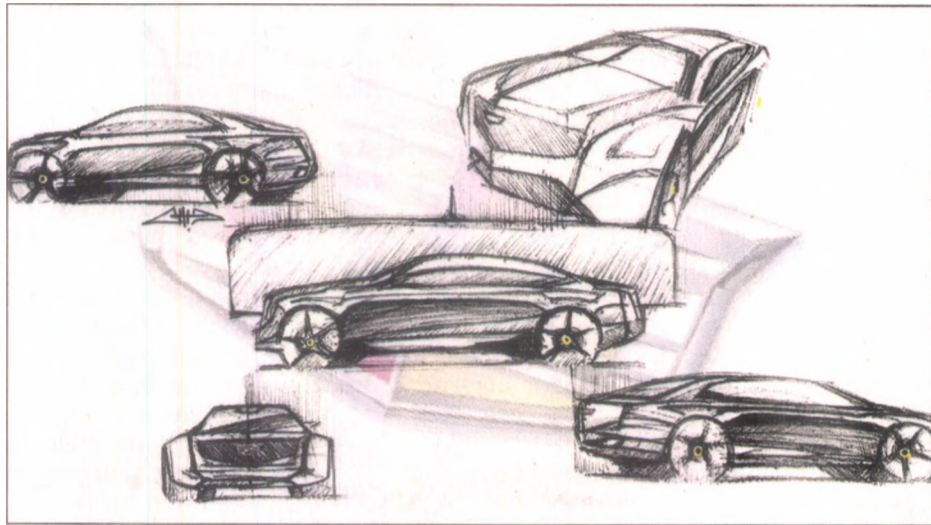

"When Mrs. Aro introduced (the competition) to me, she said it was a really good opportunity to work with designers and see how that field goes," Bowens said.

She decided to apply, submitting a portfolio consisting of award-winning photography and computer graphics along with drawing and painting.

Bowens was one of 30 students selected for the class, which meets 6 to 8 p.m. Thursdays, Oct. 22 through April 4.

For Tyler Ciecchanowski, a senior at Grosse Pointe North High School, this was his second year in the program.

"I have always liked cars," Ciecchanowski said. "I played with cars when I was little. I really didn't draw cars before the program, but ever since the first year I've been drawing cars everywhere, even on my homework."

RENDERINGS BY TYLER CIECHANOWSKI

Bowens and Ciecchanowski each will design a GM vehicle from sketch to sculpted model. Assigned a design and sculpting mentor from GM's student outreach program, You Make a Difference, or YM@D, they will learn the art and science of how to create a vehicle exterior based on their influences and ideas. The course starts with basic perspective drawing and shading on paper and progresses to tablet and computer-based full-color renderings. These drawings then are used to guide students, with help from mentors, in creating a 3D model of their design.

Participants were selected based on the quality of work submitted and their creative potential.

"Tyler is in for the second time around based on his excellent performance during last season and continued improvement over the summer," said Christos Roustemis, who leads the YM@D program. "I met Zora for the first time at last night's class and very much look forward to working with her as well."

The program, which has grown every year since its inception, gives young people an opportunity to see what possibilities exist within the world of design,

Zora Bowens won a Scholastic Gold Key award in photography.

Roustemis said. It shows "the students how to have fun from brain to paper and eventually from paper to clay model." Students benefit from a one-on-one student-to-mentor environment. The company benefits from "an energy level that's high and a broad cross-section of talent that I can draw on to keep the studio environment functioning."

Bowens, who is interested in advertising and design, believes the experience will be beneficial. "I'm really glad Mrs. Aro advised me to do it," she said. "I look at cars differently now. Obviously since I do art, I look at the design of everything, but now I really look at cars — at specific functions and shapes." Ciecchanowski, too, is glad his art teachers, Susan Forrest and Michael Lamb, told him about the program. He is interested in transportation design and has applied to Lawrence Technological University and College for Creative Studies, both of which have strong design programs.

"One of the most rewarding things is that when a student applies to an art school, they have work that is in a professional environment," Roustemis said. "We not only have professional designers and sculptors, but ... professional photographers (who) document the process. Having that in a portfolio has a lot of gravity to it."

Beautiful future Progress and planning on Belle Isle

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

The Department of Natural Resources has been running Belle Isle since February 2014. Since then, many much-needed improvements have been made to the park, which has experienced a noticeable uptick in visitors to its amenities and buildings.

"We assumed responsibility of operating Belle Isle as a state park to offer help to the city of Detroit," said DNR Chief of Parks and Recreation Ron Olson. "We can manage parks, so we developed a lease and it was adopted."

The 30-year lease kicked off with the state's promise of spending $20 million on the park in the first three years. In its first year, 12 of the park's 17 public restrooms were renovated and reopened, eight shelters were renovated and the James Scott Memorial Fountain began operating daily during summer. The beach was restored and a children's area was added to it, hazardous trees were removed, universally accessible sidewalks and parking were added, the Kids' Row Playscape was repaired and other general improvements were made.

"The real focus is fixing what exists there," Olson said. "Our big goal is to get Belle Isle restored so people can come enjoy themselves in a clean, healthy, safe park. Our goal is to have the Belle Isle gem shine again."

Looking Ahead

Olson said $2.5 million in projects have been identified for this year, including the renovation of athletic fields, through the National Park Service Land and Water Conservation Fund. Working on making sidewalks, shelters and playgrounds handicap-accessible also is in the works, according to Scott Pratt, chief of southern field operations with the DNR.

"We'll continue to improve bathrooms," Pratt said. "They're up and operable, but need to be maintained as well."

"We want elevators that work in buildings, things that work all the time," Olson said. "We want to manage refuse better; we added 250 trash barrels. We redid the way grass is mowed. We're taking care of the system, so when the public comes to use it, they have an enjoyable experience."

Heating and ventilation improvements, recreational enhancements, strategic tree plantings and trail improvements also are planned.

Olson said while the DNR is running things on the island, it didn't change the park rules; however, state police and park rangers work together to create balance, he said, and "to bolster the enforcement of rules."

Nominated once again

The State Historic Preservation Office recently announced the nomination of eight properties, including Belle Isle Park, to the National Register of Historic Places.

"I work with Michigan's historic resources every day and I continue to be impressed by the variety of historic sites in our state," said State Historic Preservation Officer Brian Conway. "The sites approved for nomination during our recent State Historic Preservation Review Board meeting are vastly different from one another."

Belle Isle Park was listed in the national register in 1974.

The revised nomination expands the nomination to include information about all features — historic and non-historic — within the 985-acre park; expands the boundary to include additional structures, including the Detroit Boat Club; and makes a case for listing the park in the register as a nationally significant site.

The State Historic Preservation Review Board considers nominations to the register three times per year. On behalf of the review board, SHPO forwards nominations to the keeper of the National Register, National Park Service, U.S. Department of the Interior, for listing.

To read the nomination forms and see photos of this round's listings, visit Michigan.gov/nrhp and click on "Michigan State Historic Preservation Review Board."

FUTURE:

Business Boom

The upgrades, additions and improved level of safety have had an effect on patronage.

"We've gotten a lot of compliments from the public," Olson said, adding attendance jumped from less than 27,000 in June 2014 to 450,000 in June of this year. The same thing happened in July and August, he said. "We know people are coming back. From June 2014 to May 2015, there were three million visitors on the island."

Not only do people feel comfortable coming to the park and enjoying themselves, but all the facilities — the Dossin Great Lakes Museum, Belle Isle Aquarium, Nature Zoo and others — have seen double-digit increases in attendance since 2013.

With the variety of offerings available, the influx of visitors is no surprise. Apart from the attraction of its facilities, the island includes bicycle and nature trails, sports fields, a 9-hole golf course, beach and more recreational avenues. The percentage of rentals — canoe, kayak and paddleboard, as well as bicycle, snowshoe and ice skates — has increased, too.

"It really has something for everybody," said Roberta Henrion, chairwoman of the park's historic preservation committee.

What's more, Olson said the DNR is working with the Detroit Department of Transportation to bring bus service back to the island.

"People will be able to take a bus and won't need a pass," Olson said.

Hope for the Future

"Our lease is for 30 years," Olson said. "We committed ourselves to have striving improvements on the island. It will take a number of years to get things up to where we want them. We have our challenges."

Among those challenges, he said, is repurposing the old zoo, solving architectural problems in the boat club, replacing glass in the conservatory and modernizing the Scott fountain's infrastructure.

"It's been great to partner with lots of people," Olson said. "The bottom line is, it's the people's park. It's the anchor of Detroit. It's a symbol of a lot of things. Our job is to see that legacy continue and improve and people continue to be part of it."

It will take money as well. The DNR's current operating budget is $2.5 million; plus, any revenue generated on the island — from shelter and other rentals, recreational passes and permits to event agreements and more — stays on the island.

"We've committed ourselves to invest," Olson said, adding that grants and other modes of funding have kept the DNR "well ahead of pace."

"And we're also looking for philanthropists to invest in the island."

Some help has come by way of the Detroit Grand Prix. The Belle Isle Conservancy's Grand Prix party alone raised $1.1 million in one night, said Michele Hodges, president of the conservancy.

"Fundraisers and raising dollars is a big part of what we do," she said. "The government alone cannot run a park."

Having Fun

"We work with MDOT, Michigan State Police, conservation officers, volunteers. We work very well with the Belle Isle Conservancy," Pratt said. "We love our partners. They're a great asset to our management of the island. We can't do this by ourselves. It's a huge island."

"Day by day, we're improving the island," he continued. "Cleanliness and safety are a priority. Hopefully we'll make improvements the community will enjoy."

Pratt noted the island's historic value and the DNR's quest to stay in compliance.

"You see some graffiti on the island," he said. "We'd like to go in there and paint over it and call it done, but we have to make sure our power washer is not taking off that brick .... We're having fun, but it's a long process. The staff takes pride in what they do. We're moving as fast as we can."

A park manager, two lead rangers and a few permanent intermittent rangers total six or seven solid people on staff in the off season; however, April to October, 30 to 40 staff are busy collecting trash, mowing lawns and maintaining the park.

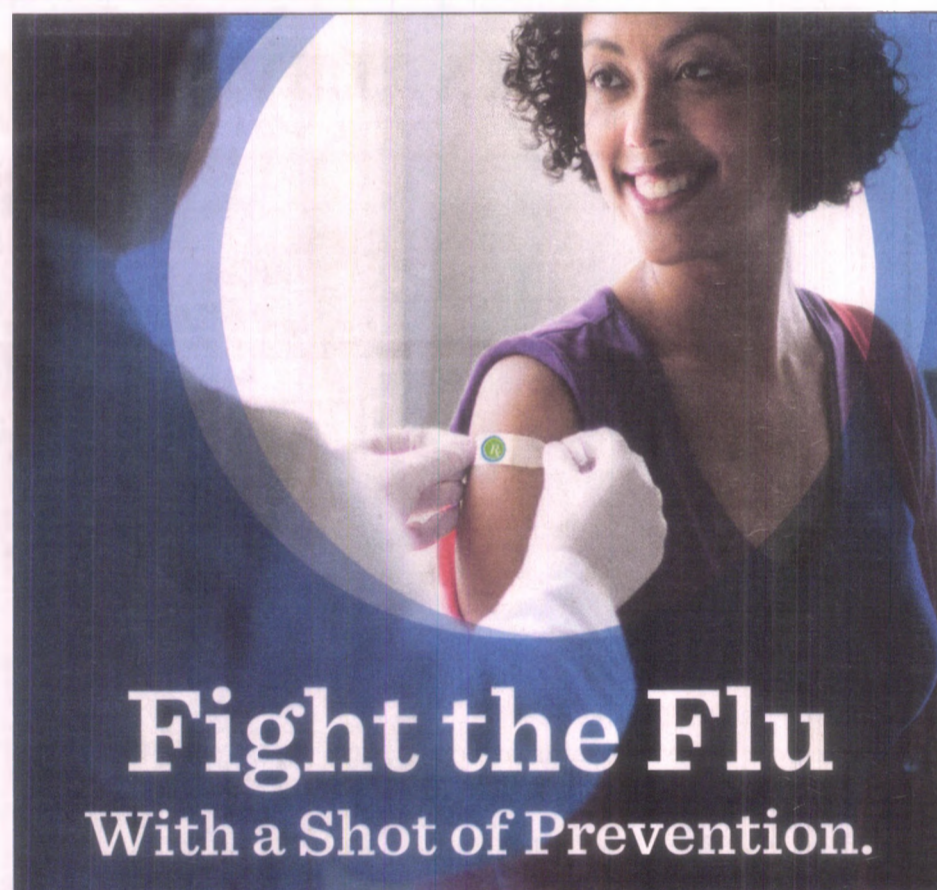

Pratt said in the next five years the island will still be working on directional signage so people are comfortable enough to know their way around, as well as upgrading facilities, working on parking and becoming more organized. He said he also thinks the park will see more community events, "Like concerts in the park, events that cater to the community, that bring them out. We're getting the management down; now it's time to start programming — the fun stuff."

In 10 years, he said, "We hope Belle Isle is a must-see on your top five bucket list of Detroit. Get out and enjoy the amenities."

Happy memories of Belle Isle

I have such happy memories of Belle Isle when I was a very young girl.

My parents would take me to my grandparents' home on Eastlawn in Detroit on Sundays if they had plans to go somewhere. I would spend the day with my grandparents and my beloved grandfather would always plan special things for me. Once in a while he would take me to Belle Isle.

In those days, we would always dress up. I would be in a nice summer dress little girls wore with my little white shoes and my white gloves and my white purse. My grandmother always insisted I have a white linen hankie she had trimmed in white lace, all neatly folded in my little purse and a package of white peppermint Chicklets. Then off my grandfather and I would go to Belle Isle in his black Pontiac all polished.

Our first stop would always be to the (James) Scott (Memorial) Fountain, where he would set up his camera to take pictures with me standing by the fountain so he could send pictures to his family in Belgium so they could see me as I was growing up each year.

The best part was when we would get back in the car and he took me to where we would get on a horse-drawn carriage to cart us around Belle Isle. How I loved that. He would always hold the reins, with me always begging to hold them. He would take me all around the island for about two hours. I remember seeing couples in canoes slowly moving along in the water waving to us. He would let me take the reins on our way back, but he always made sure he was careful letting me do this. I was so excited and happy thinking I was on top of the world being able to drive that carriage all by myself.

We would return the horse and carriage and head over to the flower conservatory he loved. He would set up his tripod and camera and take many pictures, mostly slides of all the flowers and plants and tell me what they were. Then we would head back to their home where my grandmother had prepared a wonderful Sunday dinner waiting for us in their big dining room with the sparkling crystal chandelier.

We would talk about our day at Belle Isle and how much fun it was in that horse-drawn carriage.

I will cherish those memories forever in my heart. My family have all passed away for many years now, but I will forever remember their wonderful home in Detroit, which has been long gone, and the trips to Belle Isle.

5 TIPS TO KEEP YOUR SKIN HEALTHY AND CLEAR THIS FALL

With school back in full swing, it's a perfect time to implement a consistent, reliable skin care routine for you and your kids. Good skin care habits can help delay the natural aging process and prevent various skin problems like acne. Here are 5 simple tips to keep the skin healthy and acne-free this fall season:

Dr. Katherine Ferrara

- 1. Moisturize. With the cold weather around the corner, many patients experience dry skin. This is often due to the dry heat inside our homes and schools as well as the wind outside which can chap the skin. Getting into the habit of regularly moisturizing the skin will help keep the skin hydrated during the cold winter months.
- 2. Protect yourself from the sun. Sunscreen should be worn year round including those cold, snowy months of winter. Applying a daily moisturizer with sunscreen is an easy way to achieve this. Ultraviolet radiation reaches the earth's surface even on cloudy days and can penetrate through car windows. This cumulative sun exposure can lead to wrinkles, age spots and skin cancer. Look for sunscreens that are broad spectrum, meaning they will cover both UVA and UVB rays.
- 3. Cleanse the skin. Washing your face is your first defense against the pore-clogging dirt and grime that accumulates on the skin. For more sensitive skin types, a hydrating non-fragranced cleanser can be used. For acne-prone skin, a salicylic acid or benzoyl peroxide wash can help exfoliate and prevent breakouts. This is especially important after exercise or playing sports as sweat, oil and dirt will clog pores leading to acne lesions.
- 4. Wash bed linens and other objects in contact with the skin. Skin debris, oil, and bacteria accumulate on our sheets and pillowcases, which can clog pores and lead to breakouts. Changing your sheets at least twice per month allows for a clean resting place for your skin to rejuvenate at night. Make sure to clean make-up brushes and cell phones since skin debris, oils and bacteria can cling to these objects as well, causing a potential breakout.
- 5. Don't pick! Popping pimples actually causes pus and inflammation to go deeper into the skin which can lead to permanent scarring. The best treatment is to continue to wash your face twice a day and use a topical acne medicine regularly. If over the counter products are not working, it is best to seek the advice of a dermatologist on initiating a prescription product.

If you have any questions regarding your skin, we would be happy to schedule an appointment to discuss your concerns. Visit our website at www.ferraraderm.com to check out our blog containing our latest skin care advice.

South grad sings in international competition

By Jody McVeigh
Community Editor

Emma Lee Aboukasm, whose stage name is Emmalee, has been singing her entire life, "since I was a baby in the crib." She started studying classical voice and piano in grade school, but switched to jazz and has been in love with the genre ever since. "The creativity that is evoked from jazz is unmatched against all the structure I faced as a classical singer," Aboukasm said. "Although I'm very grateful for my classical training, jazz is what pushes my limits as a musician." Inspired by the freedom given to jazz singers, Aboukasm has taken her passion to the next level. At age 19, she is the youngest finalist in the Sarah Vaughan International Jazz Vocal Competition, set for Sunday, Nov. 15, in New Jersey. "I heard about the competition from a former jazz mentor, who suggested that I apply," she said. "I decided I was going to go in the studio with a rhythm section to record my first demo, 'Rise To It,' which is a combination of jazz standards and my own compositions. In late August, we had recorded nine songs in six hours, with no previous rehearsal from the band, and two days later it was mixed and sent to a production company. I decided to use some of those recordings to enter the competition, but I wasn't expecting much out of it."

Of more than 2,000 applicants from around the world, Aboukasm was notified in October she had been selected among the top five finalists.

"It is exhilarating and terrifying in the best way," she said. "If I win, I have the opportunity to perform at the Montreal Jazz Festival and to sign a deal with Concord Records, as well as a $5,000 prize. These are all huge accomplishments for an artist and it is hard not to be overwhelmed by it. Nevertheless, I am focusing every day on my music and putting all my time and love into it; that is how I feel I will do my absolute best when I sing in Newark, N.J."

Through the competition, Aboukasm will work with pianist Mike Renzi, music director for Tony Bennett. Among the judges are bass player Christian McBride and last year's winner, Cyrille Amiee.

The competition features a social media component in which the public may vote daily for their favorite finalist until Sunday, Nov. 8, via Facebook. The top vote-getter gets an extra judge's vote in the competition. Voting takes place online at bit.ly/VOTESarahVaughan.

Aboukasm, a Grosse Pointe Park native who is working toward a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in jazz studies at the University of Michigan, said she's been most inspired by the support she received from the Grosse Pointe Public School System's music programs. She said the experience not only taught her about music, but made her feel it was an accessible career.

"The arts teach discipline for students, while allowing a huge amount of creativity and just plain fun," she said. "What could be better than that? I'm a huge advocator for the arts and being in an environment like choir is an inspiration for me as a musician and gives me hope for the generations to come."

Aboukasm has performed locally at the Dirty Dog Cafe, Onyx, Cliff Bell's and Cadieux Cafe, as well as at the Detroit Jazz Festival and Jazz @ Ford House. She won the Detroit Jazz Junior Diva competition in 2014.

"Performing allows me to express myself and constantly push my boundaries as an artist," she said. "Music is work, but work that I love."

Senior Men's Club has luncheon

The Senior Men's Club of Grosse Pointe hosts a luncheon at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 10, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore, Grosse Pointe Farms.

The scheduled guest speaker is Ashley Holmer, founder of the Red Sweater Project and founder and executive director of the Indigenous Education Foundation of Tanzania, organizations that help build secondary schools in Tanzania to provide a high school education at no cost.

Leaving her home in Portland, Ore., Holmer taught for a year in Tanzania, after which she was asked to help build a secondary school on 20 acres donated by the community. She did and a few years later built a second school, also on donated acreage. Holmer founded the Indigenous Education Foundation of Tanzania to promote and provide high school education and school buildings. The schools provide a high school education at no cost and students in the schools all wear red sweaters.

Cost for the luncheon is $10. For tickets or information, call Bob Hynes at (313) 884-2571 or visit seniormensclubofgrossepointe.com.

Safe disposal of unused prescriptions, medications

Q: I've been hearing a lot about teenagers using their parents' and grandparents' unused medications to get high. I also know many of the drugs cannot just be discarded in the trash. So what do I do with unused or expired meds in my home?

A: It is important to dispose of medications properly to help reduce harm from accidental exposure or intentional misuse. Proper disposal also protects the nation's water system.

Medications may be disposed of at a collector site (pharmacy or during law enforcement take-back days), through a mail-back program, flushed (only certain medications) or disposed of in the home using a special technique.

When you decide to take your medications to a collector site, be sure to remove all personal information from the bottle. It is best to not dispose of the original bottle in the receptacle. You should pour the contents of the bottle into the collection container and dispose of the bottle separately.

If there are no collector sites or take-back days in your area, you may:

◆ Mix medicines (do not crush tablets or capsules) with an unpalatable substance such as dirt, kitty litter or used coffee grounds;

◆ Place the mixture in a container such as a sealed plastic bag; and ◆ Throw the container into your household trash.

Certain medications that are potent and dangerous should always be flushed. This includes many pain medications. Unintentional ingestion of these medications, even in small amounts, can be lethal to children and pets. These types of drugs also pose a risk to the community if they land in the hands of people who intend to abuse or sell them illegally.

A LA ANNIE By Annie Rouleau-Scheriff

Warm salad for cool fall days

One of my autumn produce scores this year was fresh-from-the-garden beets — lots of them. They were a gift from someone's harvest. I roasted the beets and served them as a warm salad, paired with goat cheese, toasted walnuts and other goodies.

Warm Beet Salad

(serves 8)

1 cup toasted walnut halves

4 to 5 fresh beets, peeled and cut into bite-sized pieces

1 tablespoon olive oil, plus more for serving salt and pepper to taste

1 head bib lettuce

1 8-ounce log goat cheese

1 15-ounce can garbanzo beans, drained and rinsed

1 small red onion, halved and thinly sliced
½ cup red wine vinegar

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Scatter the walnuts on a baking sheet and bake for 20 minutes or so. You will know when they're done by the aroma. Meanwhile, place the cut beets in a bowl and toss with olive oil. Sprinkle with a little salt and pepper. Raise the oven temperature to 400 degrees. Scatter the beets onto a baking sheet greased with olive oil. Cook until the beets become tender, around 45 minutes or more, depending on the size of the pieces.

Remove the beets from the oven and deglaze the baking sheet with the vinegar. Save the vinegar.

To assemble the salads, place a leaf of bib lettuce on eight individual serving plates. Divide the warm beets over the lettuce leaves. Crumble the goat cheese over the beets then top with the garbanzo beans, toasted walnuts and red onion. Drizzle the vinegar from the bake sheet over the salads, followed by a drizzle of olive oil.

This is so delicious. If goat cheese isn't your thing, try feta, gorgonzola or bleu cheese.

Santa Parade set for Nov. 27

The parade route begins on Kercheval at Lewiston in Grosse Pointe Farms and ends on Kercheval at Cadieux in the City of Grosse Pointe. Devin Scillian — Grosse Pointe's own singer, songwriter, journalist and Channel 4

News anchor — serves as this year's marshal, kicking off this free event.

The parade features local award-winning high school marching bands, floats, the popular Big Heads, dozens of holiday-inspired entries, a performance by Grosse Pointe's Got Talent contest winner Mary Reinman, hundreds of Cub Scouts and Brownies, car clubs, canine organizations and more.

Santa will park his sleigh at the end of the parade and read his favorite Christmas storybook to children while they warm up with hot chocolate. Parade viewers are encouraged to shop and dine in Grosse Pointe's festive business districts after the parade.

A walk from the Park

Despite weather predictions to the contrary, Friday, Oct. 16, was cool, but dry and pleasant — just the kind of day for a walk from Grosse Pointe Park to downtown Detroit.

And back. Phyllis Osler, of Grosse Pointe Shores, and Kathy Frakes set out from Frakes's home in the Park on their annual walk, a 15-mile round-trip journey they have made at least the past dozen years. As always, the two seniors talked and observed as they walked, happily noting this year's improvements along their Jefferson Avenue route.

Rewarding themselves with a short rest, coffee and a coney dog when they reached downtown, the friends of many years reversed course for the approximate 3-hour trek home.

Their husbands, John Osler and Jack Frakes, stayed by their respective phones in case they were needed to pick up one, or both, exhausted participants. So far, they've never been called.

Thrill of victory, agony of defeat

South rips Stallions

By Sam Meads
 Special Writer

The Grosse Pointe South football team advanced to the second round of the high school playoffs after its dominating victory over the Sterling Heights Stallions Friday night.

The Blue Devils controlled the game from the opening kickoff and never let up.

"We knew we were the better team going in, but we had to execute and we did that tonight," head coach Tim Brandon said.

South took the lead on the first drive of the game. It took seven plays and 60 yards, capped off with junior quarterback Logan Mico's screen pass to senior Andrew Trost for a 10-yard touchdown.

After a Stallions' three-and-out, the Blue Devils started on their own 40-yard line again and drove another 60 yards for another score. South made it 14-0 on a 5-yard pass from Mico to senior David Burnett.

South's defense held the Stallions to another three-and-out and on the ensuing drive it scored again to make it 21-0. This time it was a screen pass from Mico to Trost for a 42-yard touchdown.

of the first half to make it 24-0.

Senior running back Sam Genna made it 31-0 on the first drive of the second half. He finished with 114 yards rushing on 11 carries.

Sterling Heights was unable to get a first down in the first half and not much in the second half.

Senior Will Poplawski played a huge role in the defense's success, finishing with nine tackles and two tackles for a loss.

The Stallions were able to get one first down the entire game and it came in the middle of the third quarter on a 13-yard run. However, the Stallions fumbled on the following play and senior Garret Hudson recovered for South.

The turnover led to another Cameron Shook field goal.

The Blue Devils added one final score on the following drive on a 6-yard run by junior Aidan Comes.

Grosse Pointe South improved to 7-3 and hosts its next playoff game at 7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 6, against Detroit East English Village Prep.

Liggett loses late

By Bob St. John

A 42-yard field goal was the difference in University Liggett football team's 30-27 loss to host Riverview Gabriel Richard last weekend.

The Pioneers took its time heading down field for the final possession of the game. Three big first downs kept the clock moving and a 5-yard gain in the final seconds set up the theatrics.

Junior kicker Zach Lowengruber's field goal barely made it over the uprights to win the game. It would have been short if the Pioneers didn't pick up the five yards in the final seconds.

"We fought hard and we left everything on the field against a very good football team tonight," head coach Dan Cimini said. "It was a great high school football team and despite the loss, I'm proud of each and every one on this team because they played with heart."

The Knights led 14-0 early in the first quarter and it was 20-13 at the half.

The game was tied at 20 at the end of the third quarter and at 27 with five minutes left in the game.

The Knights had a shot to try to win the game, but three straight incomplete passes led to a punt. However, senior Nick Gawel got off his best punt of the night to pin the Pioneers deep in their territory.

They marched 58 yards on 13 plays to set up the winning field goal.

The Knights scored on a 50-yard run by junior Tre' Caine and an 80-yard pass from junior quarterback Connor McCarron to senior Thomas Jackson.

McCarron kicked both extra points.

a TD. The PAT was short, giving the Knights the 20-13 halftime lead.

The Pioneers scored in the third quarter on a 29-yard pass play and the PAT tied it at 20.

The Knights went ahead early in the fourth quarter when McCarron hit Jackson on a 42-yard touchdown pass. The PAT was good and it was 27-20, Knights.

The Pioneers used the ensuing drive to tie it, driving 70 yards on nine plays. They had another long pass play covering 32 yards to score and the PAT tied it.

McCarron completed 5-of-15 for 146 yards on three touchdowns and kicked three extra points.

Caine rushed for 98 yards on 12 carries, while Jackson caught three balls for 130 yards and two touchdowns.

Defensively, the Knights had two quarterback sacks, blocked an extra point and blocked a field goal attempt.

Liggett finished the season 6-4 overall.

Liggett senior Nick Gawel hauls in this touchdown near the end of the first half.

South girls win regional crown

The Grosse Pointe South girls' cross country team won its 14th straight state regional title, 28th of the past 30, and advanced to the state finals for the 36th consecutive year, which extends its state record.

In a field of 19 Division 1 teams, South dominated the race, placing their first five runners in the top 15. They earned medals and each of the seven Blue Devils finished in the top 25 of the 110-runner field.

South won the meet with 45 points, followed by state qualifiers Troy with 77 and Grosse Pointe North with 110.

"Our girls did everything we asked them to do," head coach Steve Zaranek said. "They prepared extremely well, they supported each other before, during and after the race, and they fought hard. They never gave in to the pressures of the race."

South was again led by senior Anna Piccione, who ran the fastest time of her cross-country career, 18:28. Piccione placed second overall to Royal Oak standout Grace Cutler, who ran a 17:40.

"Anna has been our team focal point all season long," Zaranek said. "She has set an amazing standard for her teammates to follow."

Placing sixth was sophomore Abby Hurst, who broke the 19-minute barrier for the first time at 18:57. She was followed by junior Reanna Raymond, who equaled her personal record with a time of 19:13.

Teammates Katie Kuhr, PR of 19:32, and Kamryn Leonard, 19:36, also earned medals by placing 12th and 15th, respectively.

Senior Natasha Boelstler placed 17th at 19:51 and freshman Abbey Guevara placed 24th with a PR time of 20:25.

"We are ranked 15th among the 27 finalists," Zaranek said. "Our girls will work as hard as possible to crack the top 10. They are up to the challenge."

The boys, under head coach Mark Sonnenberg, finished seventh with 147 points.

However, the duo of Earl Allard and Ethan Sloan made the state finals.

Allard was ninth with a time of 16:45 and Sloan finished 12th at 16:49 to get the nod for the state finals.

The Blue Devils' other runners were Rockim Williamson, 17:09; Griffin Murray, 17:30; Alexander Szura, 17:38; Matt Wholihan, 18:00; and Justin Vorhees, 18:11.

Coming up for South girls' team, along with Allard and Sloan, is the Division 1 state championship meet Saturday, Nov. 7, at Michigan International Speedway.

Ladies make finals

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

Grosse Pointe North's cross country teams had a solid showing in last weekend's Division 1 regional meet at Metro Beach.

The top three teams made it to the state finals and the top individuals from non-finals squads also made it to the final race of the season.

The Norsemen's girls' squad, under head coach Scott Cooper, made the state finals with its third-place total of 110 points.

"We were ranked fifth in the region earlier this season and we knew it was going to be a struggle. Top three teams move on to states and we had several teams coming after us as well," Cooper said. "We took third, beating Sterling Heights Stevenson by one point. Stevenson is always a great team coached by a veteran coach and I was extremely proud of our girls for the way they fought. Stevenson had us beat up front, but my girls in the back end of the race came through by going after every racer they could get. We knew every point would count, and it did."

The Norsemen's varsity runners were Lauren Sickmiller, Michaela Cosgrove, Katelyn Carney, Sydney Benson, Kate Wozniak, Keri Hryciuk and Becca Flynn.

Sickmiller led the team with a seventh-place finish and a time of 18:59, while Cosgrove was 22nd at 20:17. Carney was 23rd with a time of 20:20 and Benson took 25th with a time of 20:31.

"Hryciuk was the final decision maker as our sixth runner who cannot score. She held on to barely beat Stevenson's fifth runner to give them that extra point we needed to win," Cooper said.

Wozniak was 33rd and the Norsemen's final scorer, posting a time of 20:58.

Hryciuk had a time of 21:08 and Flynn ran a 21:45.

In the JV race, Erinne Lubienski and Julia McLellan ran solid races, making them part of the top 7 going to the State Finals.

"The goal is always to have the runners racing at their prime at the end of the season, and the team pulled it out," Cooper said. "Almost every racer finished with a PR and 13 earned Breaker shirts."

The girls who earned a Breaker shirt were Carney, Lubienski, McLellan, Chloe Redeye, Lily Smith, Lauren O'Shee, Mollie Szczepanski, Victoria Alvarez, Sara Michalik, Katarina Cassar, Madison Murray, Marisa Segovia and Grace Emerick.

As for the boys, they finished fifth with 125 points, but one runner, William Hofmann, earned a spot in the finals.

Hofmann was 15th with a time of 16:49.

The Norsemen's other regional runners were Mike Ciaravino, Ryan Kolp, Connor Sickmiller, Ryan Race, Josh Fischer and Calvin Riley.

Next for North girls' squad, along with Hofmann, is the Division 1 state championship meet Saturday, Nov. 7, at Michigan International Speedway.

LIGGETT

Knights send both to finals

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

University Liggett cross-country teams are both making a trip to the Division 4 state championship meet.

Head coach Lindsey Bachman guided her boys team to a second-place finish and the girls third. The top three teams in each meet made the state finals.

The girls earned 69 points. Ugly won with 47 and Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes had 64.

Izzy Brusilow led the Knights with a sixth-place time of 20:29.27 and Annelies Ondersma was 11th with a time of 21:11.39.

Brusilow and Ondersma made All-Region.

The other scorers were Madison Jerome, 16th with a time of 21:57.16; Maddie Wu, 18th with a time of 22:17.77; and Mila Filipof, 34th with a time of 24:10.49.

Julia Zehetmair was 37th with a time of 24:46.26 and Sarah Galbanski was 41st with a time of 25:37.04.

"Based on their times this year so far, the girls remain ranked 6th in the state and look to bounce back this week as a 'team to beat' this Saturday," Bachman said.

The boys took second with 81 points.

Ugly won with 44 points.

Nick Brusilow was the Knights' top runner, taking seventh with a personal-best time of 18:08.5.

He also made All-Region.

Running in a pack were Michael Ellis, Anthony Galea and Billy Kopicki. They finished 19th, 20th and 23rd with times of 18:29.83, 18:42.32 and 19:03.82.

Alex Johnson also earned points, taking 27th with a time of 19:30.39.

Andrew Loner and Tate Kuelling also ran on the varsity and had times of 19:44.56 and 21:31.50.

"The boys are determined to go to states on Saturday ready to transcend all they've done so far this year and run as a pack to their fastest finishes ever," Bachman said.

Coming up for the teams is the Division 4 state championship meet Saturday, Nov. 7, at Michigan International Speedway.

"Both teams are stronger than they have ever been heading into a state final," Bachman said. "They are ready to capitalize on the incredible hard work they have done this season."

"On top of the varsity racers, none of this success would be possible without their other teammates and the junior varsity squad has been an amazing support crew, from their encouragement during the races to bringing back warm-up clothes from the start line, to keeping the environment positive and fun every step of the way at practice and over the weekend."

"If just one thing is for sure, it's that we are a team, a team ready to move forward, a team ready to support one another, a team ready to run beyond what we once thought possible."

"This team is ready for state." The girls race at 10 a.m. and the boys at 11 a.m. The awards ceremony is in the afternoon.

but the Norsemen were able to earn the clutch points down the stretch.

The Norsemen played well in games two and four, but couldn't sustain the momentum in game three.

Grosse Pointe North finished 5-5, tied for third place, in the Macomb Area Conference Red Division and 22-11-4 overall.

Knights fall in Elite 8

By Bob St. John

University Liggett's run to the Final Four ended one game shy.

The Knights lost 3-0 to Genesee Christian in a Division 4 regional title game at Saginaw Valley Lutheran High School.

Head coach David Dwaihy knew it would be a tall task to beat the unbeaten Soldiers.

In the regional semifinal, Liggett used a second-half penalty kick from junior Christian deRuiter to edge Marlette 1-0.

The foul in the box occurred 10 minutes into the second half.

"It was a very tough game for us (credit to Marlette and their feisty defense), but the boys hung tough and prevailed," Dwaihy said.

The Knights generated a lot of offense as Marlette senior goalkeeper Dalton McNary had 12 saves in the game.

However, as usual the Knights used good goalkeeping from sophomore Anthony George and a defensive unit.

Liggett finished 14-3-3 and lose four seniors.

Grosse Pointe South's boys' soccer team ended its season last week, losing 4-0 to defending Division 1 state champ Canton in a regional semifinal game at Dearborn High School.

The Blue Devils, coming off an emotional district title win over Warren DeLaSalle, faced an experienced, seasoned Canton squad, which had all the answers.

South head coach Francesco Cilano, despite the loss, knew his team fulfilled its goal of playing solid soccer during the second part of the season.

"This has been a good learning experience for our boys and it will continue next year," Cilano said after the win over DeLaSalle.

Grosse Pointe South finished this season 9-12-3 overall.

Blue Devils playing well

By Bob St. John

The Grosse Pointe South girls' volleyball team is starting to get the mojo after finishing its Macomb Area Conference White Division slate with a win last week.

The host Blue Devils beat Sterling Heights Stevenson 25-21, 21-25, 32-30, 25-15 to finish 5-5 in the division and improve to 13-19 overall.

"We're learning how to compete at a higher level by playing better teams," head coach Kevin Nugent said. "We finished the second half of our division schedule 4-1. We played well and now move forward."

After splitting the first two games, the squads were in an intense duel.

Offensive firepower from juniors Lexi Kohut and Kate Satterfield and sophomores Chandler Duff and Rachele Wolfe, put the home team in position to win.

However, the Titans grabbed momentum and served five times with game point on the line.

Each time the Blue Devils thwarted those attempts.

Senior Kayli Johnson

was a rock in the back row as nearly every Titan serve went to her and was returned with precision.

"Kayli was a leader tonight and boy was she tough on defense," Nugent said. "Her passing was excellent and it helped us set up our offense."

The Blue Devils were able to win the marathon game and put their game into third gear to easily capture the fourth game.

Juniors Emma Andreason and Sarah Simmet, plus sophomore Lauren Toenjes, played well in the fourth game.

Knights drop two

The University Liggett girls' volleyball team played with intensity and emotion in the first game of its home match last week against Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook-Kingswood.

Seniors Emily Kanakry and Sara Anthony were on fire on the front row, while sophomore Delaney Bandos was on her game, serving the final several points to put game one in the win column.

They were in position to win game two, up 22-17, but they couldn't sustain the momentum as the Cranes chipped away.

Liggett went on to lose the next two games 25-20, 25-22 to fall in four games to a solid Cranbrook-Kingswood squad.

Kanakry finished with a dozen kills to lead the Knights.

Two nights later,

Liggett completed its regular season with a 25-21, 25-19, 25-22 loss to Clarkston Everest Collegiate.

Liggett is 2-17 overall.

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The Grosse Pointe North girls' swimming and diving team won its final dual meet of the season last week, beating Warren Regina 115-71.

With the win, head coach Alison Scarfone finished her first season at the helm 6-4-1 overall.

The Norsemen started and finished fast.

In the 200-yard medley relay, Sam Villani, Hannah Mattes, Julia Gehlert and Angelina Cavaliere won with a time of 1:57.02.

In the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, Cavaliere, Olivia Asimakis, Gehlert and Villani won with a time of 3:47.08.

Both times were Division 2 state cuts.

Stephanie Shea was second in the 200-yard freestyle, posting a time of 2:17.05 and Bella Gallant took third in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:41.83.

The Saddlelites had a lead, but couldn't sustain the momentum as the Norsemen turned on the jets.

Mattes helped her team sweep the 50-yard freestyle by winning with a time of 27.79. Cavaliere was second with a time of 27.84 and Jill Hendra took third at 31.06.

Isabelle Nguyen was pushed in the diving competition, but held off Nicole Taoramina, 209.85-192.74.

Asimakis won the 100-yard butterfly with a state-qualifying time of 1:00.16 and in the 100-yard freestyle, Olivia Peruzzi won with a time of 1:01.11, while Kayla Gallant and Katherine Link took second and third with times of 1:05.05 and 1:09.97.

Regina swept the 500-yard freestyle, but North came back to win the 200-yard freestyle as Peruzzi, Gehlert, Asimakis and Villani turned in a time of 1:44.90.

In the 100-yard backstroke, Kayla Gallant, Grace Addy and Jill Peters placed second, third and fourth with times of 1:13.42, 1:18.22 and 1:18.34 to help the Norsemen clinch the victory.

Mattes came back to win another event, the 100-yard breaststroke, posting a time of 1:15.82, followed by Helen Michaelson and Erynn Long with times of 1:23.38 and 1:23.88.

Coming up for North is the Macomb Area Conference Red Division Championship Meet Thursday, Nov. 5, through Saturday, Nov. 7, at Romeo.

Taking second was East Grand Rapids with 61, followed by Detroit Country Day with 78. Grosse Pointe North's squad finished sixth with 110 points. In addition to the state championship, the team also placed 15th in the nation at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy two weeks ago in Hartford, Conn. # Blue Devils net split with Marian, DCDS

By Bob St. John
Sports Editor

The Grosse Pointe South girls' swimming and diving team splits its double dual meet last week, beating Detroit Country Day 139-44 and losing 94-86 to Bloomfield Hills Marian.

Head coach Eric Gunderson used the meet to get his swimmers and divers ready for the Macomb Area Conference Red Division Championship Meet this weekend.

For the first time in more than a decade, the Blue Devils will be in a nip-and-tuck battle with Utica Eisenhower for the title.

The Blue Devils won five events with senior All-Stater Claire Young earning two of those wins. She won the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:14.09 and the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 58.67.

Ava Boutrous was first in the 500-yard freestyle, posting a time of 5:12.17 and Clarice Fisher won the 100-yard butterfly with a time of 59.38.

The final first-place was turned in by Rachel Rogers, who took the top spot in diving with 166.05 points.

Each of the three relay teams finished second. The 200-yard medley relay team of Jackie DeLoof, Young, Abbey Schuetze and Brigit Jogan was second with a time of 1:54.24, and the 200-yard freestyle relay squad of Jogan, Olivia Frederickson, Kathleen Vern and Caroline Frederickson was runner-up with a time of 1:46.41.

The Blue Devils' 400-yard freestyle relay team of Caroline Frederickson, Sarah Cauvel, DeLoof and Young was also second with a time of 3:47.12.

Other runner-up finishes were turned in by Fisher in the 200-yard IM, 2:14.53; Jogan in the 50-yard freestyle, 25.43; and Kaitlin Malley in the 100-yard breaststroke, 1:15.54.

Grosse Pointe South finished its dual meet season 6-5 overall.

Coming up for the Blue Devils is the Macomb Area Conference Red Division Championship Meet Thursday, Nov. 5, through Saturday, Nov. 7, at Romeo.

South finished second in the dual meet slate.

Knights fall in semis

By Bob St. John

The University Liggett girls' field hockey team will not be making a second straight trip to the Michigan High School Field Hockey Association Division 2 championship game.

The Knights couldn't find their offense in a 1-0 loss to No. 1 seed Saline at Dearborn High School.

Detroit Country Day won the other semifinal, 2-0, over Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central.

A spot in the Final Four looked like it wouldn't happen when host Liggett trailed Hartland 1-0 midway through the second half of its quarterfinal game earlier in the week.

Hartland scored at the 24:47 mark of the first half and maintained the slim lead through a good chunk of the second stanza.

Senior Molly Murphy had a chance to tie the game at the 15:24 mark, but her penalty stroke was blocked.

Only 24 seconds later, the Knights earned another penalty stroke and junior Kara Francis scored, tying it 1-1.

The Eagles regrouped and took another lead, tallying at the 8:04 mark.

With the clock and season winding down, senior Allison Stapleton was clutch, scoring the tying goal with 2:12 left.

It went to sudden-death overtime and this time Murphy outran the Hartland defender, saved the ball before it went out-of-bounds and slid a pass to senior Megan DesMadryl.

DesMadryl calmly collected the pass and let a shot rip, which found the back of the net, winning the game just 62 seconds into the OT.

"I was thinking I was going to shoot high and I did and I saw it go by the goalie and hit the back of the goal," DesMadryl said. "It was due to Molly's great pass that I was able to get the chance to shoot and win the game."

Liggett finished its season 14-4 overall.

Several players graduate, including the top scorers.

Norsemen battle

By Bob St. John

Despite losing 2-0 to favored and host Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central in last week's Michigan High School Field Hockey Association Division 2 playoff quarterfinals, the Grosse Pointe North girls' field hockey team is headed in the right direction.

Head coach Paula Cornwall, along with assistant coaches Alexa Quinlan and Shelby Stone, brought together a struggling program and turned it into a competitive unit.

The Norsemen, the No. 6 seed, played well against No. 3 seed Forest Hills and had chances to get on the scoreboard.

However, the experienced Forest Hills squad was able to get two shots into the back of the net to win the Elite 8 game and advance.

For the Norsemen, it was the final game for seniors Olivia Kensora, Caroline Bock, Jennifer Kusch, Lora Dobbs, Elaina Emig, Audrey Ajlouni and Olivia Bloomhuff.

For these seniors, it was the first time in three years they finished near .500 as the Norsemen ended the year 6-8-2.

Author inspires teens

By Mary Anne Brush
Staff Writer

Kyle Prue is author of the critically acclaimed young adult fantasy novel, "The Sparks." He has won state and national awards for Best Book and Best Fiction for Young Adults. He started a nonprofit, Sparking Literacy Inc., to address the literacy crisis in America. An actor and comedian, he trained at Second City Comedy Club in Chicago and performed improv at LA Connection in Los Angeles.

And he's only 18 years old.

Prue has combined his writing, acting and comedic talents and taken his show on the road, addressing assemblies of middle and high school students to inspire teens to read, write and, like him, follow their dreams. In June he visited Trombly Elementary School, where he attended before moving to Naples, Fla., in fifth grade. On Friday, Oct. 30, he visited students at Parcels Middle School.

Prue is close enough in age to his audience to speak their language. He also captures their attention by making them laugh. In his presentation to Parcels students, he spoke in English, Irish and Russian accents. He did impressions of Barack Obama, Bane from Batman, Donald Trump, Miss Piggy and Scooby Doo. He also answered questions.

"Who inspired you to start writing?" one student asked.

Prue said his parents unplugged the TV, disconnected the Internet and took away his cell phone.

"For three months I had nothing else to do. So yeah, boredom had a lot to do with it."

"How did writing affect your life?" another student asked.

"I'm happier when I have the opportunity to write," Prue said.

"What was it like working at Second City?" was another question.

"It's such an amazing experience to be in a place where comedy is seen as an art form," Prue said.

Students inquired about his tastes, from music to whether he preferred DC or Marvel Comics.

What's next for the young author? Having deferred his admission to the University of Michigan for a year to finish the next two books in the trilogy and go on a national book tour, he plans to matriculate to U of M in 2016, pursuing a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in acting with a double major in English.

Eighth-graders Sydney Brumme and Henry Rozewicz served as Kyle Prue's hosts for the day.

Coming to America: A re-enactment

Ferry Elementary School fourth-graders came to school Monday, Oct. 26, dressed in clothes worn in the late 19th and early 20th centuries when they arrived at Ellis Island. Along with their usual books and supplies, students brought with them luggage and items such as scarves, fake jewelry and toys to bribe officials upon their arrival to the gateway to America.

Students went from station to station. First they received boat tags. Next they went through a medical inspection, followed by a passport inspection. Their final stop before entering New York City was to exchange money.

Social studies teacher Anne Flanagan created the simulation more than 20 years ago. The project is part of the "peopling of America" unit. Students spent four weeks in class learning about why people chose to come to America. They also wrote speeches and oaths of allegiance and naturalization, many of which were performed during the welcoming ceremony.
